34 "Electronic Recording of Interrogations.

35 "§ 15A-211. Electronic recording of interrogations.

36 (a) Purpose. – The purpose of this Article is to require the creation of an electronic record
 37 of an entire custodial interrogation in order to eliminate disputes about interrogations, thereby
 38 improving prosecution of the guilty while affording protection to the innocent and increasing 39 court ~~efficiency.~~ efficiency and confidence.

40 (b) Application. – The provisions of this Article shall apply to all custodial interrogations
 41 of juveniles in criminal investigations conducted at any place of detention. The provisions of this 42 Article shall also apply to any custodial interrogation of any person in a felony criminal 43 investigation conducted at any place of ~~detention if the investigation is related to any of the~~ 44 ~~following crimes: any Class A, B1, or B2 felony, and any Class C felony of rape, sex offense, or~~ 45 ~~assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury.~~ detention.

47 (1) Electronic recording. – An audio recording that is an authentic, accurate,
 48 unaltered record; or a visual recording that is an authentic, accurate, unaltered
 49 record. A visual and audio recording shall be simultaneously produced 50 whenever reasonably feasible, provided that a defendant may not raise this as 51 grounds for suppression of evidence.

1 (2) In its entirety. – An uninterrupted record that begins ~~with and includes at the~~
2 start of the custodial interrogation, including a law enforcement officer's
3 advice to the person in custody of that person's constitutional rights, and ends 4 when the ~~interview~~ custodial interrogation has completely finished, and 5 clearly shows both the interrogator and the person in custody throughout.
6 finished. If the record is a visual ~~recording, recording of a custodial~~ 7 interrogation, the camera recording the custodial interrogation must be placed 8 so that the camera films both the interrogator and the suspect. Brief periods of 9 recess, upon request by the person in custody or the law enforcement officer,
10 do not constitute an "interruption" of the record. The record will reflect all 11 starting and ending times and dates, including the starting time and date of the 12 recess and the resumption of the interrogation.

13 (3) Place of detention. – A jail, police or sheriff's station, correctional or detention
14 facility, holding facility for prisoners, or other facility where persons are held

25 which this Article applies, an oral, written, nonverbal, or sign language statement of a defendant 26 made in the course of a custodial interrogation may be presented as evidence against the 27 defendant if an electronic recording was made of the custodial interrogation in its entirety and 28 the statement is otherwise admissible. If the court finds that the defendant was subjected to a
29 custodial interrogation that was not electronically recorded in its entirety, any statements made
30 by the defendant after that non-electronically recorded custodial interrogation, even if made 31 during an interrogation that is otherwise in compliance with this section, may be questioned with 32 regard to the voluntariness and reliability of the statement. The State may establish through clear
33 and convincing evidence that the statement was both voluntary and reliable and that law 34 enforcement officers had good cause for failing to electronically record the interrogation in its 35 entirety. Good cause shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

36 (1) The accused refused to have the interrogation electronically recorded, and the 37 refusal itself was electronically recorded.

38 (2) The failure to electronically record an interrogation in its entirety was the 39 result of unforeseeable equipment failure, and obtaining replacement
40 equipment was not feasible.

46 (1) Failure to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall be 47 considered by the court in adjudicating motions to suppress a statement of the 48 defendant made during or after a custodial interrogation.

49 (2) Failure to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall be
50 admissible in support of claims that the defendant's statement was involuntary
51 or is unreliable, provided the evidence is otherwise admissible.

(3) When evidence of compliance or noncompliance with the requirements of this section has been presented at trial, the jury shall be instructed that it may consider credible evidence of compliance or noncompliance to determine whether the defendant's statement was voluntary and reliable.

(g) Article Does Not Preclude Admission of Certain Statements. – Nothing in this Article precludes the admission of any of the following:

- (1) A statement made by the accused in open court during trial, before a grand jury, or at a preliminary hearing.
- (2) A spontaneous statement that is not made in response to a question.
