

2019 Legislative Report

2019 Legislative Report

The North Carolina Arts Council launched its work in 1967 as awareness of the importance of arts to all citizens was becoming a national movement. In the ensuing 50 years the arts in North Carolina have come to be valued as one of our state’s most durable and productive assets.

After decades of vigorous work, experimentation, and refinement, the state’s arts infrastructure reaches into all 100 counties through one of the most highly developed and effective networks of local arts councils in our nation. An abundance of outstanding artists and arts organizations continues to enrich our communities. Artists and institutions improve quality of life, educate and inspire our youth, and stimulate an extraordinary amount of economic activity.

Grants totaling $7.5 million are distributed annually to more than 800 arts organizations and artists to ensure that citizens in all 100 counties have access to a wide variety of quality arts experiences. Arts Council grants leverage $18 in private and public funds for every dollar invested, an extraordinary return on investment. A list of grants awarded in FY 18 and FY 19 are included with this report.

In addition to its grants program, the North Carolina Arts Council creates Statewide Initiatives, which are programs and projects that utilize the arts to address challenges faced by communities or to realize the potential of the arts to make North Carolina a better, more productive state. These initiatives include:

The A+ Schools of North Carolina has become the most successful model for arts-based whole school reform in the nation. There are currently 64 A+ Schools in 37 counties, and we recruit and train an additional five to seven schools each year.

N.C. Arts Trails showcase our distinctive cultural assets including Appalachian music, Cherokee arts and culture, literary heritage, traditional and contemporary crafts, and African American music. Guidebooks, CDs, websites, and brochures promote the trails to visitors and residents.

SmART Communities, an arts-driven economic development program, showcases the central role the arts play in downtown revitalization. Towns and cities work with local resource teams, Arts Council staff, and expert consultants to create large-scale transformative projects that are generating new private investment and increased visitation.

The N.C. Folklife Program documents and presents North Carolina's nationally-recognized cultural traditions in music, craft, dance, and narrative, among others.

The North Carolina Heritage Awards recognize and honor the lifetime achievement of the state's master traditional artists in a public ceremony held in downtown Raleigh every two years.

Training and Professional Development is provided to organizations to build capacity and for artists to build their careers.

Creative Economy Research measures the economic impact of the state's arts industry, which according to our most recent study, generates $1.24 billion in direct economic activity, supports more than 43,600 full-time jobs, and provides $119 million in local and state government revenue.

The Poet Laureate Program supports the Governor's appointed Poet Laureate to provide readings and workshops and to promote literature in communities across the state.

The Military and Veterans Arts Program ensures that North Carolina's military personnel, veterans, and their families have access to cultural programming as a way to connect with the community and for self-expression.
