From January through September, the division completed 68 federal compliance reviews and 59 drug and alcohol reviews of rural transit systems. Vehicle maintenance reviews were conducted of these local systems in 2009. However, the deficiencies and advisories resulting from the interviews indicate the systems are in need of more comprehensive training and targeted technical assistance to ensure continued compliance in all areas. A Rural Transit Assistance Program that will provide the system specific technical assistance has been developed and will be implemented by one of several consulting firms under contract to the division. This position will manage the contract. The division's 2011 work plan addresses reducing the number of transit accidents and incidents and expanding training opportunities.
