2019-20	060	Avery County Schools	We employee two full-time psychologists to serve the entire county.	Counselors are allocated based on the percentage of ADM at each school. The county employees one at-risk counselor shared between the High School and two Middle Schools.

We have not been able to follow this recommendation due to lack of candidates and funding.	One Counselor per school site, more at some due to size or student need. This projection is based on an average of the previous three years.	Each school is assigned 1 full time counseleor. Additional counselors are assigned based on ADM and current need.
2019-20	130	Cabarrus County Schools	A. We do not have a sufficient number of psychologists to allocate at the school level so we operate within an itinerant model where one psychologist will serve multiple schools. This method, unfortunately, limits the availability of a school psychologist at each school to only being present at a school just 1-2 days per week, on average. In our district, EACH school is staffed with a counselor or a counseling team, a nurse, and a resource officer. But the psychologists and social workers are still not working under equitable conditions as their mental health counterparts because there have not been enough positions created for this "1 multi-disciplinary mental health staff member to 1 school" ratio concept to reach the psychologists and social workers yet so they continue to have to share schools. We try to add more psychologist and social worker positions each year; however, our district has not been able to meet the need for this "1:1" concept and our	A. The number of allotted school counselors for the district are presented to the Director of Student Services annually in the Spring. The distribution of allotted students incorporate enrollment numbers, discipline data, standards for school assignments, and other factors. n the event that no growth or reduction in the allotted number of counselors has occurred and school needs have not significantly changed the number of counselors at each school remains fixed. Allotment decisions have focused on: (1) Ensuring that all school campuses (other than the Opportunity School) have at least one full-time counselor (2) Working to “round out” half-time counselors to become full-time counselors
2019-20	130	Cabarrus County Schools	however, some of that work would, ideally, be balanced among ALL of the mental health staff at a school. So the counselors may get 'overloaded' with addressing mental health needs when their psychologist and social worker mental health peers aren't present because they are serving their other schools. To demonstrate this "fractured framework" issue, if a teacher, for instance, were asked to only be present at their school for 1-2 days per week, the students and their needs would still exist, but there wouldn't be enough people to share that workload over an extended period of time until the remaining people in the buiding would start needing	(6) Working in tandem with the Associate Superintendent for Administrative Services, the Director of School Safety and Well-Being (supervisor of school psychologists), the School Social Work and Mental Health Coordinator (supervisor of school social work) to determine which disciplines receive expanded allotments across the SISP disciplines The Director of Student Services advances a recommendation for school counselor assignments to the Associate Superintendent of Administrative Services. We have a really difficult time trying to fill open psychologist positions because of higher salaries/supplements in neighboring public school units. I cannot offer them more money because there is severely restricted additional funding available. D. We have difficulty retaining school psychologists because of higher salaries elsewhere or high work loads that accumulate due to long term open positions	C. Allotment decisions have focused on: --Ensuring that all school campuses (other than the Opportunity School) have at least one full-time counselor --Working to “round out” half-time counselors to become full-time counselors --Ensuring that all high school campuses with school sizes over 1,000 students are served by at least four school counselors --Continuing assignment(s) of DPI grant funded counselors at their schools (most recently in schools serving lower socio-economic status students) --Examining relevant discipline and mental health data to determine allotments --Working in tandem with the Associate Superintendent for Administrative Services, the Director of School Safety and Well-Being (supervisor of school psychologists), the School Social Work and Mental Health Coordinator (supervisor of school social
2019-20	130	Cabarrus County Schools	F. There are unnecessarily constrained job duties of school psychologists in our district because of difficulties in recruitment and retention of school psychologists in our public school unit. If more school psychologists were hired, then more students could be served much more comprehensively; rather than mere compliance	--It is worth noting that the needs far exceed the amount of counselors allotted. Most schools are over the national recommendation of 1 counselor to 250 students. Some schools are over the 1:400 recommendation for the state of North Carolina. The specific allotment of a greater number of counselors at the state level would
2019-20	132	Kannapolis City Schools	Our school psychologists are shared throughout the district. Every school has access to their expertise weekly	Minimum of one counselor per school with additional positions added based on enrollment.
2019-20	140	Caldwell County Schools	The Lead School Psychologist assigns the team of five total psychologists to schools based on historical need. As we are far below the recommended School Psychologist to student ratio recommended by the National School Psychology Association, School Psychologists typically maintain a more dedicated presence at elementary and middle school levels, while high schools, preschool and alternative schools are covered through case by case assignment as needed.	Our district uses the state allotment ratio of 1 instructional support person per every 218 students, which includes counselors. We are currently funding additional positions using our local fund balance and CFST funds. Instructional support budget 007 includes counselors, social workers, nurses and media specialists--our school psychologists are funded through the Exceptional Children's Dept.

2019-20	190	Chatham County Schools	We determine the amount of school psychologists we need by the following issues: 1. The number of schools and EC enrollment we have (17 schools/1200 EC students) 2. Looking at the number of required student evaluations we potentially have based on the cycle of evaluations, including students being referred from MTSS. (Mult-Tiered Support Systems) 3.The number of preschool student referrals that lead to eligibility of EC services. 4. The level of direct service that require a school psychologist may render in for students in a school building. 5. Level of MTSS implementation and problem-solving in a school building.	All schools are given an additional allotment of 1 counselor. Schools' enrollment will be monitored and additional counselors are allotted in an effort to reach the student and counselor ratios aligned to the National Association of School Counselors ratio of 1:250. We also utilize the North Carolina average for counselor ratio of 1:400 as a guide. Each year the enrollment numbers and ratios are evaluated and some schools are given additional counseling allotments as warranted.
2019-20	200	Cherokee County Schools	We do allocate to the school level. We use them on an as needed basis at the individual schools.	With exception of the (1) school with a lower ADM that we have placed a part time position and an exception of our largest high school in the county with (2) positions, we have placed a full time counselor at each of our schools.
2019-20	210	Edenton-Chowan County Schools	They are stationed at the elementary school but serve the entire district as needed. The base is the elementary because that is where the referrals tend to occur.	Counselors are allocated based on ADM and job responsibilities

2019-20	230	Cleveland County Schools	CCS strives to meet the NASP recommended ratio of 1: 500-700 for school psychologists based on the National Association for School Psychologists' Model for Comprehensive and Integrative School Psychological Services. Factors that impact this ratio include recruitment and retention issues in the field of school psychology and budgeting constraints.	At a minimum, CCS allocates one full-time equivalent school counselor per school. Middle and high schools are staffed with at least two counselors. District wide, the counselor to student ratio is 1:361. Budget constraints prohibit the American School Counselor Association's recommended 1:250 ratio.
2019-20	240	Columbus County Schools	We do not have any school-level psychologists. Our psychologist is based at district-level.	We allocate all instructional support, including counselors, at 1 per 219 ADM.
2019-20	241	Whiteville City Schools	We contract with one School Psychologist to provide services to all of our schools.	We allocate one counselor at each school. The exceptions are: we split an additional position between our middle school and our alternative school to add extra assistance in middle school (60%) and so our alternative school has a counselor (40%). In addition, we allocate 2 counselors to our high school to accommodate the additional needs in grades 9-12.
2019-20	250	Craven County Schools	We review trends in annual evaluations number and compare to the numbers of special education referrals. We also take into account the number of SWDs.	Counselors are allocated based on the size of the school.
2019-20	260	Cumberland County Schools	Psychologist assignments are largely by District at this time with each psychologist serving 2-3 schools, 3 of the psychologists serving 1-2 schools and the EC Preschool Team. At the present time the Alternative Schools are served based on the student's home school as are the specialty High Schools and Early Colleges. The average ratio is roughly 1:2000	At this point in time elementary school counselors operate on average at a 1:400 ratio and secondary school counselors operate on average at 1:350 ratio. We also consider the needs of the school regarding title 1 and EC needs. We try to stick as close as we can to these ratios but there are times when school needs trump.

2019-20	290	Davidson County Schools	5 School Psychologists (on staff) currently are shared across the district. School levels (high, middle, and elementary) are evenly distributed. School assignments are made using student enrollment numbers. We try to be equitable in the distribution of elementary, middle, and high schools. Elementary is where the bulk of referrals are made so this method doesn't overwhelm anyone with a large number of initials which are pretty labor intensive. In middle and high school, the majority of students tested are re-evaluations which do not necessarily require the complete battery of tests. At the secondary level, it is more dependent on what the IEP team requests to continue eligibility as opposed to the full battery to determine if a student is initially eligible.	Traditional High Schools - ADM > 700 - 3 Counselors ADM < 500 - 1.5 Counselors Middle Schools - ADM > 600 - 2 Counselors ADM < 400 - 1 Counselor Elementary - ADM > 500 - 1.5 Counselors ADM < 500 - 1 Counselor *Also look at Free/Reduced percentage and DSS cases to consider additional assistance.
2019-20	291	Lexington City Schools	School Psychologist is allocated across the district as needed and located in one of our elementary schools based on available space.	Counselors are allocated based on experience to work successfully at the appropriate grade level for each school. As a district, we look at School Counseling as an educational program in and of itself. Just like Math, Reading, or Science. It is a specialized curriculum that should help students take charge and plan for their future. the school counselor's overall goal should be to assist in the developmental needs of the students: it would be measurable in terms of its benefit to the student or student outcomes. They should provide a confidential relationship and support students with social, and educational needs while working with staff and parents. Counselors must know the community in which they serve.

2019-20	360	Gaston County Schools	Currently, we take into account several pieces of data. 1. Total school population: This is typically how the National Association of School Psychologists makes their ratio recommendations - the total number of students enrolled in each school the psychologist serves. 2. The percentages of students at each school who are EC. 3. The number of initial referrals/re-evaluations historically conducted each year. 4. A balance of elementary and secondary. 5. Proximity.	Each school is allotted at least one school counselor. Additional counselors are allotted based on the size of the school and/or the specific needs of the students at each school.

2019-20	410	Guilford County Schools	We attempt to allocate School Psychologists based on mulptiple factors. For Elementary schools, we examine: (1) The size of the school (2) The current needs of the school and student population (3) The average combination of referrals the schools have generated over a 3-year period. For a majority of our Elementary Schools, there will be an assignment of 40-50% of a FTE depending depending on the previous 3 factors. For Middle Schools, 30-40% of a FTE and for traditional High Schools, 20-30% of a FTE. For non-traditioanl High Schools, many of them are assigned support on an as-needed basis. These percentages are not ideal, but given the amount of school psychologist FTE's currently employed, is the best we can support. Our current ratios are approximately 1650 students per School Psychologist and 2.8 Schools per School Psychologist. 2019-20	440	Haywood County Schools	HCS uses the following method to allocate Psychologists to the School level. (1) School Psychologist per 1,000 students. (1) School Psychologist per 185 EC students. If the School Pyschologist has significant involvement in MTSS they will be given a lower student ratio. Allocations are also based on current and projected workload at the end of the previous school year.	HCS uses the total student enrollment for the District divided by the number of School Counselors to determine the student average per School Counselor. The average is usually 350 students per School Counselor. This number is used to allot School Counselors to the schools. Adjustments may be made according to the specific needs of the schools.
2019-20	450	Henderson County Schools	Psychologists are allocated to schools based on their total student population and also the number of EC students at the school, including EC preschool students in schools that have these classrooms. Elementary Schools: ADMs range from 319 to 582. One school counselor per school. Middle Schools: ADM range from 580 to 956. One counselor at smallest, two counselors at two larger middle schools. 2019-20	491	Mooreville City Schools	We use ADM at each of our schools & number of EC students to help determine number of school psychologists. We also look at state trends & local LEA's to assist with this process. Each school psych completes about 50-60 assessments each year along with providing support to our EC teachers & general education teachers regarding interventions & eligibility for students as needed. As our numbers of students with mental health issues increases, our school psychologists collaborate more with school counselors & outside providers to meet our students' needs.	Currently we provide at least one counselor per school. We have additional at middle and high school.

2019-20	510	Johnston County Schools	All School Psychologists are based at the central level and sent to individual schools to serve students as necessary. The methodology utilized to assign school psychologists to serve students at school levels includes a thorough data review and collaboration with the school psychologist team. This data review takes into consideration the last three years worth of evaluations requested data from each school as well as school MTSS intensive intervention data. The Director of Exceptional Children Programs and the School Psychologists review the Tier III, Initial Evaluation, and re-evaluation data over the past three years per school to determine average numbers of evaluations. The Director works with the team to limit the number of evaluations to no more than 80 per school psychologist caseload. Most of the school psychologists caseloads average 70 evaluations, however there are times that these caseloads exceed this number and we utilize contracted school psychologists to assist when needed. Lastly, the school psychologists provide input on assignments based on feeder pattern as well as amount of time assigned to their individual school. This data is taken into consideration, however the caseload numbers are the primary factor reviewed in determining allocations to each school.	School Counselor allotments given to schools are based on projected ADM. The formula used is as follows: Elementary Up to 749 = 1, 750 - 999 =1.5, 1000 -1249 = 2, 1250-1499 = 2.5; Middle and High Up to 499 =1, 500-749= 1.5, 750 - 999 =2, 1000-1249 = 2.5, 1250-1499=3, 1500-1749=3.5,1750=4
2019-20	520	Jones County Schools	Due to low enrollment numbers in our district we created one position on staff to serve our students versus part-time contract.	Based on the size (ADM) of the schools and needs it was reasonable that one counselor serve two schools at the elementary level with the exception of one elementary school that had a higher ADM. The high school (7-12) has one and half counselors. Based on ADM and grade span of the consolidation of JMS and JSHS (7-12), the district will look to have two full time counselors moving forward. This determination is based upon (ADM) and overall needs.
2019-20	530	Lee County Schools	North Carolina School Psychology Workforce Report 2016-2017 Background and Relevance: School psychologists in the North Carolina workforce have decreased over time, while the population of public school students continues to increase. Of specialized instructional support personnel (SISP) in NC public schools, the discipline of school psychology has less employed than other SISP professions, such as school counseling, school nursing and school social work. During the 2016-2017 academic year, the average school psychologist to student ratio in NC was estimated to be 1:2092, nearly three times the recommended staffing ratio for the provision of comprehensive school psychological services. The National Association of School Psychologists' (NASP) recommended staffing ratio1 is one school psychologist for every 500-700 students for provision of comprehensive services. Comprehensive service delivery is defined through the ten domains of practice outlined in the NASP Practice Model. The NC State Board of Education approved NC Professional School Psychology Standards and School Psychologist Evaluation Process are based on a model of comprehensive service delivery derived from the NASP Practice Model. In North Carolina, there are currently no Local Education Agencies (LEAs) that staff school psychologists in alignment with this model. We do the best we can when looking at the number of referrals and evaluations that are needed across the district. We have been short for many years. Since we are never really fully staffed in that area, we are limited in the services we can provide. Our psychologists are not able to intervene with regular education and MTSS like we would prefer.	Each of our elementary schools has only one counselor. The student population within our elementary schools range from 479 to 681. Our middle schools have two counselors each. Counselor to student ratio for our middle schools are: East Lee Middle School 1:329; SanLee Middle School 1:463; and West Lee Middle School 1:347. Southern Lee High School has 4.4 counselors with a counselor to student ratio of 1:294. Lee County High School has 3.6 counselors with a counselor to student ratio of 1:479. Lee Early College has one counselor with 293 students. Bragg Street Academy has 67 students with one counselor.

School counselors are allocated to schools based on student enrollment and grades served. In addition, significant consideration is given to the student population that is served at the school. Schools serving populations that are at a higher risk of failing to thrive in school may receive a higher FTE when possible than other schools.

2019-20	630	Moore County Schools	We track the amount of testing, counseling, and consultation that occurs in each school each year and begin our assignments with that information. Schools that have the highest numbers of appropriate EC referrals requiring testing would get the higher number of days per week, with counseling and consultation numbers also factored in. We also consider our higher needs schools in terms of low performing, poverty, behavior referrals, and mental health referrals. Finally, the geographic distance between schools is considered because we have a large county. Our student to psychologist ratio is a barrier to comprehensive and integrated School Psychology Services for Moore County Schools. If we had a more favorable ratio, School Psychologists would be more available to address the growing amount of mental health needs in schools rather than just testing students for Exceptional Child Services. School Psychologists are also experts in data analysis, problem solving, and consulting around a multi-tiered system of support. School Psychologists are the most highly trained of the Specialized Instruction Support Personnel and bring a wealth of skills that are underused because we don't have enough of them.	Counselors are allocated by at least one per school, then additional FTEs depending on population. Our low performing middle school pays for an extra counselor with Title 1 funds. We also have one counselor who is a member of our Behavioral Health team, she provides intensive mental health services for 7 schools. Not having enough counselors is a true barrier to creating safe and healthy schools where children can thrive and learn. Improving our ratio of counselors would have an enormous impact on school climate and on our ability to prevent and be responsive to student mental health needs.

Those schools are selected based on the number of evaluations requested and conducted at the school is previous years along with the type of specialized programming being offered at the school. The intention is to create an even workload amongst staff to the greatest extent possible. As we build of the amount and type of services our psychological team will provide, our goal is to increase the number of school psychologist every year and work toward implementing the NASP Comprehensive Safe Schools model.	Each school has a minimum of one school counselor with the exception of our very small early college which as .5. All schools with 900 or more students have a minimum of 2 counselors. High schools over 1000 students have 3 counselors. We have also added a significant number of school social worker positions to support school counselors. Each high school has one school social worker, and all other schools have access to a shared school social worker.

Data from the American School Counselor Association (ASCA) recommended ratios are used and compare to school ADM. When additional positions are earned, the schools with highest differential are allotted additional staff
2019-20	750	Polk County Schools	It is based on the ADM at the district level, the demand for assessments and support as well as the availability of qualified staff.	It is based on the ADM at the school site and our available financial resources to provide as many counselors as possible in our district.
2019-20	760	Randolph County Schools	We divide the total number of schools by the total number of psychologists currently employed.	Every school is allotted 1 counselor. Additional counselors are allotted based on ADM. Schools with at least 600 ADM are allotted 1 additional counselor. Schools with at least 1200 ADM are allotted 2 additional counselors. In some special situations, schools are allowed to hire an additional counselor for a temporary period of time.
2019-20	761	Asheboro City Schools	As needed based on school requests and/or IEP or Testing Needs	One per school with the exception of the high school
2019-20	770	Richmond County Schools	At this time, RCS has a need for more psychologists, as a large majority of their time is devoted to attending IEP meetings and completing evaluations. Therefore, with 15 schools in the district, the schools have been divided for each psychologist based on the number of students with disabilities at each school, the needs of the students, and the average number of initial referrals each year. There is no designated amount of time	With the exception of Mineral Springs Elementary School and Ellerbe Middle School, all Richmond County Schools are provided at least (1) School Counselor. Ellerbe Middle School (ADM=226) has the smallest ADM and is also in close proximity to Mineral Springs Elementary School
2019-20	780	Robeson County Schools	Reviews student to staff ratio, student population, school administrators, IEP/504 reports, school referrals, and the certifications help by each psychologists. 2019-20	790	Rockingham County Schools	School psychologists are allocated in collaboration with our Exceptional Children's department to assist with a ratio balancing of student needs within the district. Psychs are allocated proportionally to schools with focus on needs and student ratio. (1:1411)	Each traditional/ year-round school (21) is allocated one counselor with the larger 6 -12 schools (secondary > 700), an additional counselor is allotted. (1:387) Drop-out Prevention (counseling) positions are allocated 1 per traditional high school, 0.5 per traditional middle school.
2019-20	800	Rowan-Salisbury County Schools	At the beginning of this year, we looked at average referral numbers from the three previous school years and assigned 5-6 schools per psych so that referral numbers were similar for each psych. We also tried to consider "neediness" of schools as well as travel time.	Typically our high schools are assigned 3, our middle schools are assigned 2 and our elementary schools are assigned 1 counselor.
2019-20	810	Rutherford County Schools	The number of student referrals from each school determines the amount of PSY service time allocated to each school	ADM at each school determines allocation of school counselors as well as unique school needs
2019-20	820	Sampson County Schools	No Allocation and no psychologists FTE	Based on ADM
2019-20	821	Clinton City Schools	No Allocation and no psychologists FTE	We provide an additional school counselor once the enrollment reaches 700.
2019-20	830	Scotland County Schools	Allocations are based on the Exceptional Children's Headcount and Referrals.	Allocations are based on the ADM per school.
2019-20	840	Stanly County Schools	Assignments are designed to deliver systems level services to address the needs of schools and students. Alternative School 1 FTE; Early College High School, 1 FTE
2019-20	860	Surry County Schools	The load is split as evenly as possible between our three Psychologists based on ADM and needs at each school in any given year.	Two counselors per each traditional high school. One counselor at each middle school and the Early College. With the additional counselor positions allotted in PRC 007 plus a grant to cover one counselor salary and benefits, we now have one counselor at each elementary school. Previously, the smaller elementary schools were splitting counselor positions.
2019-20	861	Elkin City Schools	The School Psychologist is strictly on an as needed basis. They work only when called to do so.	Elementary - is based on number of students enrolled. Middle School - mental, social, and emotional needs at this level warranted a higher ratio. High School- assists with master scheduling; course & career advisement; and counseling.
2019-20	862	Mount Airy City Schools	We have four schools and she serves the entire district	Our elementary guidance counselor serves at both schools since one is a primary school serving grades K-2 and the other is an intermediate school serving grades 3-5. 2019-20	910	Vance County Schools	No Allocation and no psychologists FTE	Elementary schools who have less than 200 students receive a 1/2 time counselor, more than 200 students receive 1 full-time counselor. Middle school has 2 counselors based on 700 ADM; High school has 3 counselors based on 1,000 ADM; Specialty or choice schools receive a full-time counselor.

School Year	LEA Number	LEA Name	Describe the methodology to allocate Psychologists to the School level	Describe the methodology to allocate Counselors to the School level
2019-20	920	Wake County Schools	Every school has a part-time school psychologist to create a 1 psych to two school ratio for 1 full-time position district-wide.	Counselors are allotted based on a student enrollment formula at the elementary, middle, and high school level. Year round allotments are calculated at 85% of the traditional formulas.
2019-20	930	Warren County Schools	If hired, we plan to allocate based on ADM.	We currently hire one counselor per school. In the future, we plan to allocate based on ADM.
2019-20	940	Washington County Schools	We contract with an individual to provide services for our district on an 'as needed' basis.	Each school is assigned a school counselor. We have received grant funding for one of our schools (largest) to have an additional counselor.
2019-20	950	Watauga County Schools	Based on estimated number of evaluations at each school (average of 100 per psychologist)	Each school gets one counselor as a base; the larger ADM schools are evaluated by need to determine additional counseling positions
2019-20	960	Wayne County Schools	Psychologist are located in central office and assigned students based on caseload determined by Director of Exceptional Children with input from individual Principals.	School counselor allotments are reviewed periodically to ensure that student-to-counselor ratios are consistent across the district. Efforts are made to support schools with higher at-risk student populations by providing counselors at rates below the district average ratio. Counselors assigned to Restart Schools and/or schools with SIG (school improvement grants) receive stipends based on location specific criteria.
2019-20	970	Wilkes County Schools	The biggest challenge is finding school psychologist to apply for vacant positions. Wilkes County Schools has 5 school psychologist and one vacancy that serve a total of 22 schools. Hired personnel are determined by district budget and state/federal allotments. Psychologist serve a group of schools from the district level based on school ADM and student caseloads. Current funding allotments do not allow the district to expand school psychologist personnel to match the needs of the district.	Wilkes County Schools reviews state funding allotments each year as the fiscal budget is prepared. Funding allotments have not allowed the district to expand student services personnel as student needs have increased. The district allots 1 school counselor per elementary school, 1 per middle school, 2 per high school, and 1 per early college high school. Any additional counselors allotted or reduced is school specific based on ADM/counselor ratios and student needs.
2019-20	980	Wilson County Schools	School Psychologist: i) One for every 2,000 ADM or at least one per county. ii) Certification that the local board was unable to employ certified school psychologists. iii) Contracted services are limited to initial evaluations, revaluations for exceptional children, assessments, consultations, and counseling.	The methodology is to have at least one counselor at each school site with our high schools having at least three counselors each.
2019-20	990	Yadkin County Schools	The school psychs are assigned based on ADM, skill set of the personnel, as well as school level (ie. elementary, middle, high)	School counselors are allocated based on ADM, skill set, student needs. and school level (elem, middle, high)
2019-20	995	Yancey County Schools	Psychologist creates own individual school schedules based on needs	One per school except our two smallest schools share one counselor based on small ADM

Data Collection:School Psychology Job Descriptions

Job descriptions were collected from traditional school districts. The following was noted through a review of the submissions:

- Approximately 25% of submissions reflected, verbatim, the (2009) State Board of Education approved job description, while many other submissions utilize some variation of the items included in this job description
 - Of submissions that utilize a locally produced school psychology job description, the majority include information from NC Professional School Psychology Standards approved by the State Board of Education
- Many descriptions included statements such as, “other duties as assigned”
- Many descriptions did not include an accurate minimum training requirement (advanced degree) to practice school psychology in North Carolina
 - One description listed “Educational Bachelor’s Degree” as the minimum degree requirement

School Psychology Duties

An online survey was created for the purposes of acquiring input from practicing school psychologists in North Carolina traditional public schools on the duties they are performing in their schools. The survey included items from the North Carolina Professional School Psychology Standards which are aligned with the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP) Practice Model. The survey was targeted to school psychologists practicing in traditional public schools since contracted psychologists are not required to be licensed by the NC Department of Public Instruction/State Board of Education (NCDPI/SBE) to practice school psychology or to receive performance evaluations derived from the NCDPI/SBE Professional School Psychology Standards.

All survey participants were required to respond to all questions, with the exception of the question identifying which individual school administrative unit they work and the final open-ended item allowing for additional relevant comments, if applicable. The item asking for identification of the individual school administrative unit was optional to safeguard the anonymity of respondents who wished to remain anonymous and were concerned that other questions would disclose their identity, especially those in smaller districts.

- An estimated 70% (n=563) of the NC school psychology workforce completed the survey, suggesting a very strong sample size.
- Current staffing ratios require school psychologists to serve multiple schools within the local school system. Respondents represented experiences in serving elementary (39%), middle (21%) and high school (34%).
- Regional distribution of respondents was generally in alignment with traditional student population data for each of the eight regional educational districts designated by the NC State Board of Education:

Region	% Respondents	~% of total student population
Northeast	3.90%	4%
Southeast	9.75%	9%
North Central	25.71%	23%
Sandhills	6.91%	9%
Piedmont-Triad	16.67%	16%
Southwest	23.58%	22%
Northwest	4.79%	5%
Western	8.69%	5%

459 (81.5%) of respondents indicated their individual employing school administrative unit. Of 116 total school administrative units, 78 had at least one respondent indicate it was their district of employment. However, it is important to note that, according to the current data collected on school psychology positions across traditional school systems, 18 school administrative units reported 0 FTE licensed school psychologists employed. Of the remaining districts that have reported having at least 1 school psychologist employed, those not identified in the survey responses included: Anson, Asheboro, Bertie, Camden, Caswell, Cherokee, Edenton-Chowan, Clay, Columbus, Lexington, Thomasville, Graham, Madison, Northampton, Pamlico, Elizabeth-City Pasquotank, Perquimans, Stanly, Stokes, Swain, Washington, Wayne, Wilkes and Yancy.

Summary of Results:

TABLE 1 reflects a summary of sample position descriptors (submitted by LEAs) that are aligned with the selected NC Professional School Psychology Standards included in the survey conducted.

The percentages of time allocated (by distribution of respondents) to each standards-aligned duty descriptor is then listed to reflect practitioner time spent in each duty descriptor.

- Although time allocation to descriptors is expected to vary slightly across practitioners, responses falling in the range of 0-10% are indicative of less than expected time dedicated to the implementation of the standard associated with the job descriptor:

Position Description Area (via LEA submission):	Standards-Aligned Duty Descriptor (included in survey):	% of Survey Respondents' Time Allocated to Each Standards-Aligned Duty Descriptor:

School Psychology Job Descriptions Compared to Actual Duties

Position Description Area (via LEA submission):	Standards-Aligned Duty Descriptor (included in survey):	% of Survey Respondents' Time Allocated to Each Standards-Aligned Duty Descriptor:

Provide direct services to individuals or groups of students (e.g., counseling, crisis interventions, mentoring, and individual safety plans, when appropriate).	(Standard 4) Provide counseling and/or other direct services that support the development of students' critical thinking and problem-solving skills	64.12%	20.96%	8.17%	3.20%	2.31%	0.89%	0.36%

Analysis of the above responses indicates that, across the majority (80%) of the selected professional standards included in the survey and also evident in many school psychology job descriptions, higher percentages of school psychologists reported spending only 0-10% of their time involved in essential duties that are both posted in job descriptions and required to effectively implement the State Board of Education adopted NC Professional School Psychology Standards.

Areas of professional practice where the majority of respondents (63.94%, 64.12% and 81.53%) reported spending less than the expected amount of time in actual practice, included the following:

- Participation in school crisis preventions and response teams
- Provision of counseling and/or other direct services that support the development of students' critical thinking and problem-solving skills
- Provision of professional development opportunities on diversity for parents, teachers, administrators, and the community

TABLE 2 summarizes other duties not included in the NC Professional School Psychology Standards, the NASP National Model of Practice for School Psychology, and, do not require the license of a school psychologist to perform. (expected responses are 0-10% for all respondents):

ADDITIONAL DUTY:	Time Allocated to Non-Essential Duty:
	0-10%	11-25%	26-40%	41-55%	56-70%	71-85%	>85%
Compliance-related tasks (assisting with/reviewing/monitoring special education paperwork completion)	19.54%	24.69%	18.83%	11.90%	8.70%	8.35%	7.99%
Serve as assistant in specialized (special education) classrooms	96.98%	1.95%	0.71%	0.36%	0.00%	0.00%	0.00%
Cafeteria, bus, or car duties	94.14%	4.44%	0.36%	0.71%	0.36%	0.00%	0.00%

Based on the survey responses, most school psychologists are not asked to dedicate time to the above non-essential duties that do not require the license of a school psychologist to perform (e.g., such as serving as an assistant in specialized special education classroom and serving cafeteria/bus/car duties). However, nearly 44% did report spending 11-40% of their time assisting with/reviewing/monitoring special education paperwork completion.

TABLE 3 summarizes the extent to which the following items pose barriers to implementation of a comprehensive school psychological program of services:

ISSUE:	Not a barrier	Somewhat of a Barrier	Moderate Barrier	Significant Barrier
Additional duties, such as those described in the previous section of this survey	56.31%	29.84%	8.70%	5.15%
Disproportionate time spent in some required duties due to workforce shortages/high psychologist-to-student ratio	7.99%	17.23%	21.49%	53.29%
Lack of understanding by administrators and other staff the intended role and function of school psychologists	17.23%	31.62%	27.53%	23.62%
Over-reliance of position funding through special education funding sources; therefore, duties tied solely to special education related activities	23.98%	26.29%	21.49%	28.24%

(TABLE 3, cont'd) ISSUE:	Not a barrier	Somewhat of a Barrier	Moderate Barrier	Significant Barrier
Lack of sufficient access to effective teaming structures with similar role types (school counselors, school social workers, school nurses)	31.97%	32.33%	23.27%	12.43%
Service provision required across multiple buildings	12.08%	20.60%	22.20%	45.12%
Lack of sufficient funding and support for discipline specific professional learning	26.82%	31.26%	25.04%	16.87%
Lack of supervision and/or mentoring from trained school psychologists	69.09%	19.36%	7.46%	4.09%

Although at least 35% or more of respondents reported moderate to significant barriers related to most of the above issues, the highest percentages of respondents (53.29% and 45.12%, respectively) reported that disproportionate time spent in some required duties due to workforce shortages and the requirement to provide services across multiple buildings pose significant barriers to implementation of a comprehensive program of school psychological services.

Summary of Additional Comments:

Respondents were also provided the opportunity to share any additional comments that they felt relevant in assessing the actual duties of school psychologists that may not have been sufficiently addressed in the questions included in the survey.

202 additional comments were provided by respondents. The majority of which were related to a disproportionate time spent in conducting student evaluations, writing reports and participating in meetings due to insufficient appropriately trained/licensed staff available/employed to conduct them. Special education evaluations are tied to compliance with federal legislation for students with, or suspected of, having disabilities. There is no question that the license of a school psychologist is the required license to conduct evaluations of students, and this is an essential part of the work of school psychologists. However, significant shortages leave most school psychologists having to spend the majority of their time in special education evaluation related activities as it is a priority that requires the license and qualifications of a school psychologist.

Key points mentioned in the open-ended comments related to disproportionate time spent in essential duties due to insufficient staffing included:

- Staffing ratios ranging from 1:1500 to 1:4500
- Serving multiple buildings/administrators/teams that vary in organization and management
- Requirements to complete 100+ evaluations of students annually
- High numbers of evaluations result in disproportionate time also spent in evaluation-related activities (report writing, meetings, completing special education paperwork)
- Vacancies unable to be filled due to lack of competitive salaries and desirable work conditions

Many additional comments noted were related to dissatisfaction with their role and lack of desire to continue due to feeling overworked, underpaid and unable to practice their skill set. Comment themes related to job dissatisfaction included:

- Lack of support and understanding by directors and administrators of the intended role of school psychologists
- Lack of ability to support prevention and intervention efforts and make a meaningful impact on student mental health and well-being
- Continuous operating in “crisis mode; student mental health needs left unaddressed due to insufficient staffing create a “bottleneck” of intensive needs
- Salary incommensurate to level of training required for the license
- Extensive level of paperwork involved in special education process; requirements to support special education staff with compliance-related issues
- Viewed as “testers” and not utilized to deliver other essential services to students
- Failure to invest in recruitment and retention results in continuous turnover and longstanding vacancies

(7) Job Descriptions compared to Actual Duties

SCHOOL COUNSELING JOB DESCRIPTIONS

Upon review of the school counselor job descriptions submitted by traditional public school administrative units, the following was determined:

- Nearly half utilize the NC School Counselor Job Description approved by the State Board of Education which is aligned with G.S. 115C-316.1.
 - A few of these are older versions prior to 2006, a couple being the school counselor job description from the 1980s.
- Slightly more than half utilize a locally produced school counselor job description
 - The majority include information from NC Professional Standards for School Counseling approved by the State Board of Education.
 - About half of the locally produced job descriptions still utilize the title “Guidance Counselor;” however, it is unclear as to whether this was due to a lack of understanding of the difference, not having updated the job description in a very long time, or other reasons. An isolated few were actual Guidance Counselor job descriptions, thus, primarily career guidance without inclusion of addressing the social emotional or mental health needs of students.
 - Reference in several to an “NC Comprehensive School Counseling Standard Course of Study” which does not exist may be indicative of a lack of understanding of the difference between the NC Professional School Counseling Standards (professional standards for school counseling practice) and the NC Guidance Essential Standards (school student standards for learning).
 - Nearly all included “Other Duties as Assigned”
 - Inappropriate duties listed in some local job descriptions:
 - Maintenance of Student records
 - 504 coordinator
 - Homebound services coordinator
 - PBIS coordinator
 - ADHD Coordinator
 - Testing assistant and/or administrator with isolated instances of testing coordination
 - Coordinator of student awards ceremonies
 - DSS reporter (although it is appropriate for the school counselor to report to DSS Child Protective Services, it is inappropriate for one staff member to be designated to be the only staff member to do this since North Carolina law requires any individual aware of abuse or neglect to report to DSS CPS.)

- One job description stated under Qualifications “NC Certification as a School Counselor, Social Worker or School Psychologist;” however, these licenses are not interchangeable and only licensure in school counseling meets the requirement for employment as a licensed school counselor.

SCHOOL COUNSELING DUTIES

An online survey was created for the purposes of acquiring input from practicing North Carolina traditional public school counselors on the duties they are performing in their schools. The survey included items from the North Carolina Professional School Counseling Standards which are aligned with G.S. 115C-316.1 Duties of School Counselors. It was requested that only traditional public school counselors participate since charter school counselors are not required to follow these professional standards or G.S. 115C-316.1.

All survey participants were required to respond to all questions except for the question identifying which individual school administrative unit they work and the final open-ended item allowing for additional relevant comments if applicable. The item asking for identification of the individual school administrative unit was optional to safeguard the anonymity of respondents who wished to remain anonymous and were concerned that other questions would disclose their identity, especially those in smaller districts.

Data analysis shows that 1148 respondents completed the whole survey while 981 additional respondents accessed this survey without completing it. Thus, over one-third of the school counselors in North Carolina completed the survey.

Implementation of Professional School Counseling Standards

For this section of the survey, respondents were asked to estimate the percentage of time they spent in duties related to each of the five professional standards of their North Carolina Professional School Counseling Standards. Total percentages will exceed 100% because a strategy or duty implemented within one standard may also be an example of a strategy or duty within another standard. Based on the expectations of these professional standards and G.S. 115C-316.1, we would expect to see the percentages indicated for standards 1 through 5 to be similar to a bell curve in that the least amount of time should be spent in Standard 1 and Standard 5 and the larger amounts of time spent in Standard 2, Standard 3 and Standard 4 where most delivery of services occurs.

Standard 1: Demonstrate Leadership, Advocacy, and Collaboration (Professional standards and G.S. 115-3176.1 expected responses – up to 25%)

Non-Counseling Duties

An additional survey item asked school counselors to indicate the approximate average amount of time they spend on listed non-counseling duties and provided an “Other” option for adding items that may be missing from the list. Since G.S. 115C-316.1 and best practices require school counselors to spend 80% of their time in counseling services, the percent options included for these non-counseling items do not exceed 20%. Per professional standards and G.S. 115-3176.1, expected responses should be N/A or lowest percentiles.

	N/A	0%- 5%	6%- 10%	11%- 15%	16%- 20%	>20%

 - Academically and Intellectually Gifted program (AIG)

Barriers to Implementation of Professional School Counseling Standards

In this section of the survey, school counselor survey participants were asked to indicate to what extent items listed may be barriers to their implementation of a comprehensive school counseling program aligned with the NC Professional School Counselor Standards and ASCA National Model. Also included is a Not-Applicable (N/A) column for any items they felt did not apply to their school duties.

	N/A	Not a barrier	Sometimes a barrier	Often a barrier	Very much a barrier
Non-counseling duties such as those in the previous section of this survey	3%	13%	41%	20%	23%
A fixed schedule of classes/classroom guidance	29%	33%	15%	7%	16%
A large school counselor-to-student ratio	4%	14%	21%	19%	43%
Lack of sufficient awareness by administrators and others of appropriate school counselor roles	3%	24%	33%	17%	23%
Lack of sufficient availability of other specialized instructional support personnel with whom to collaborate for support services (school social workers, school psychologists, school nurses.)	2%	23%	33%	20%	22%
Required participation in professional development not related to counseling	5%	36%	37%	11%	11%
Lack of sufficient funding and support for school counselor-specific professional development	3%	23%	32%	19%	23%
Other	76%	1%	4%	6%	13%

Other:

The most frequently stated barriers indicated in the “Other” option were reiterations of some of the barriers listed in the survey and were reflective of the following categories, from most prevalent to least prevalent:

- Non-counseling duties, such as
 - Testing administration

- Records and other paperwork
- 504 coordination
- Teaching
 - Filling in for teachers when they are out (non-counseling duty)
 - Being on the enhancement rotation (inappropriate scheduling)
- Coordinator of special events and programs
- Lack of support and understanding of appropriate, effective school counselor roles
- Ratios – large numbers of students per school counselor
- Lack of school social workers and other specialized instructional support personnel resulting in a combination of the school counselor having to take on social work and medical roles and needed services not being provided.
- Insufficient mental health resources for students with needs beyond the capacity of school personnel
- Insufficient funding for materials and professional development

Several school counselor survey participants also noted insufficient time to provide services which is reflective of the other barriers listed here. Several North Carolina universities, such as the East Carolina University administrator preparation program and the UNC at Chapel Hill and the UNC at Pembroke school counselor preparation programs have done studies related to school counselor efficacy.

Additional Comments

The final item on the school counselor survey gave respondents the opportunity to share any additional comments that they felt are relevant in assessing the actual duties of school counselors but were not captured in the questions included in the survey. Three hundred and forty-eight respondents entered additional comments. Most of these comments reiterated previously mentioned barriers with additional related details.

In general summation, the open-ended comments described a trend of insufficient numbers of school counselors (ratios) to implement effective prevention and early intervention for escalating mental health needs while much of their time is being monopolized by non-counseling duties. Most respondents contributed the inappropriate use of their time to lack of support and understanding of appropriate school counselor roles by administrators and others and to general lack of sufficient numbers of school personnel to handle all of the duties within a school. Some duties were appropriate for school counselors to have some involvement such as Career and College Promise (CCP), 504 and addressing attendance, but were delegated inappropriately for the school counselors to be the sole coordinators, demanding excessive amounts of time. The following are key points mentioned in the open-ended comments:

- Non-counseling duties

- 504 coordination and MTSS coordination were the most prevalently mentioned non-counseling duties taking inordinate amounts of time
- Testing
 - High school counselors continue to coordinate some testing such as AP testing
 - Many school counselors report significant testing administration
 - Some school counselors are indirectly serving as testing coordinators
- Teaching - Being on the enhancement rotation to provide teachers a planning period was one of the most prevalent concerns mentioned by respondents, especially by elementary school counselors. This issue has increased with the loss of funding for teacher assistants and enhancement teachers. This teaching rotation scheduling is different from appropriate classroom guidance which is to be determined by identified student needs, scheduled based on those needs, does not monopolize excessive amounts of the school counselor's schedule, and allows for flexibility to prioritize students in crisis over schedule needs.
- School social work and medical – due to most schools either not having school social workers employed at all or having them available part-time, school counselors reported sometimes being given school social work duties in addition to their school counseling duties. Concerns were expressed about lack of understanding of the different roles of school counselors and school social workers and lack of full-time nurses leading to basic medical needs being delegated inappropriately to school counselors.
- Coordinator of various special events and programs
- Lack of support and understanding of appropriate, effective school counselor roles
- Ratios – large numbers of students per school counselor and some school counselors who were part-time to two schools was reported by a significant number of respondents (some ratio examples shared: 2:1150, 1:661, 1:585, 1:448, 1:672, 1:450, 1:515).
- Mental health needs – respondents expressed concerns regarding student mental health needs significantly increasing while numbers of school counselors, school social workers, school nurses and school psychologists for effective teaming and providing a continuum of services to address needs have not. Additionally, more needs are escalating beyond the capacity of school personnel roles, warranting a need for more clinical service providers to which to refer students.
- Insufficient funding for materials and professional development
- Insufficient pay grade

Several school counselors also included invitations to visit their schools and expressions of appreciation for supportive school administrators who help make the success of their services possible.
