REPORT RELEASE ONLY: Inmate Health Report 4: Modifying Criteria for North Carolina's Medical Release Program Could Reduce Costs of Inmate Healthcare

This report makes no recommendations and is therefore being released for information only, without a PED presentation to JLPEOC. DPS noted the report was timely and broadly agrees with the conclusions and specifically agrees that releasing more inmates through Medical Release will reduce related correctional healthcare costs but that savings to the State as a whole are more difficult to determine because some inmates may continue to need other governmental healthcare services.
