Adult Correction and Juvenile Justice

Pat McCrory, Governor
Frank L. Perry, Secretary

W. David Guice, Commissioner

September 11, 2013

As part of the continuing consolidation efforts, the department is integrating Juvenile Justice with Adult Correction to create the new Division of Adult Correction and Juvenile Justice.

What this means:

- Increased efficiencies in upper management and administrative support
- Combining of resources to help support field operations and services
- Streamlines upper level functions, while continuing to provide the same level or enhanced field services
- The way we deliver services and supervise juveniles/offenders in the field will not change
- There will be no mixing of juveniles and adults
- Our field experts will continue doing what they do best, and the changes will only be felt in upper administrative level
- With both juveniles and adults it is proven that a continuum of care is so important to a juvenile's and an offender's success and lessens the chance of reoffending and I want to assure everyone that we will continue to support that approach
- This new division will be a team and while we may have differing missions, we want everyone to work together, help each other meet our goals, which ultimately is to make our communities safe
- While upper management reporting relationships are changing, we will continue to reach out to each other to keep the connectivity and cohesiveness of the entire team
- We have all experienced change over the past year, but change can be good when we identify efficiencies and find better ways to work together, share new ideas
