2019 Calendar Year Report

The Economic Development Partnership of North Carolina

February 1, 2020
The Honorable Anthony M. Copeland
Secretary
North Carolina Department of Commerce
301 North Wilmington St.
Raleigh, N.C. 27699

Dear Secretary Copeland,

The Economic Development Partnership of North Carolina (EDPNC) submits herewith its annual report for 2019.

Under its contract with the N.C. Department of Commerce, the EDPNC performs key economic development responsibilities on the state's behalf. They include recruiting new industry; supporting the growth of existing businesses; helping the state's manufacturers sell more exports; counseling startups; and promoting North Carolina as a premier destination for tourists, retirees and film productions.

In 2019, the EDPNC and our state and local partners closed deals on 154 new corporate facility and expansion projects expected to create 21,675 new jobs, the highest annual tally of jobs connected to state-supported project wins over the past decade. The previous decade-topping record was 19,999 jobs announced in 2017.

Companies involved in the state's 2019 project wins announced $4.4 billion in capital investment, the largest investment total of any year since the EDPNC opened its doors in late 2014.

In 2019, projects within the state's generally rural Tier 1 and 2 counties accounted for 67% of all wins and nearly half of announced new jobs. Those projects are expected to create 10,072 jobs and $2.13 billion in capital investment. The employment and investment results in Tier 1 and 2 counties well exceed the year before, when companies announced 7,411 jobs and $1.7 billion in investment in those communities.

Because we do more than simply wait for companies to reach out to us, the EDPNC business development team is a critical part of our efforts. The team generates leads for international and domestic business recruitment projects by identifying businesses poised for a U.S. expansion and building relationships with their executive leadership. Once the team converts a lead into a qualified project, it's turned over to an EDPNC business recruiter to present site options.

In 2019, the team identified 369 leads overall; 76 of those developed into qualified recruitment or expansion projects actively pursued by the state.

Members of our existing industry team focus on supporting the needs and growth of businesses already operating in North Carolina. Each manager works within one of eight multicounty Prosperity Zones and routinely visits the businesses within them to find ways to help these companies overcome barriers to growth.

They connect businesses to workforce development, lean manufacturing, and other resources. The existing industry team also supports these typically small- to mid-size businesses when they expand. Existing industry managers supported 1,276 businesses in 2019, including 74 expansion and recruitment projects creating 3,862 new jobs.

The export of goods and services is also an important pillar of North Carolina's economy. So in May 2019, we were thrilled to receive the nation's highest recognition for organizations contributing significantly to increasing U.S. exports – a U.S. President's "E" Award for Export Service.

By year's end, our international trade team – which helps North Carolina businesses develop new exporting opportunities and increase sales – was celebrating more good news. Despite a challenging global trade landscape in 2019, our team supported 614 businesses that ultimately reported a record $1.078 billion in export sales during the year. This was the first time our clients broke the $1 billion threshold.

Also, our tourism promotion efforts, which include paid advertising campaigns as well as cooperative marketing with local tourism offices, continued to help increase visitation to the state. The latest annual figures were released in 2019, and they show visitor spending increased in all 100 North Carolina counties in 2018. Statewide, domestic visitors spent a record $25.3 billion in 2018, a 5.6% increase over the prior year. Additionally, tourism industry-supported employment reached 230,560 jobs, to set another state record.

Other 2019 highlights include our Business Link North Carolina team. Primarily through its toll-free line, the team handled over 22,000 cases of counseling individuals on the permitting and licensing requirements of starting or operating a business in North Carolina. To be sure, 2019 was a banner year in economic development for our state.

The EDPNC is honored to be a member of our state's economic development team, led by Governor Cooper and including the North Carolina Department of Commerce, the General Assembly and regional and local economic development organizations. We are setting our goals even higher in 2020.

Sincerely,

Frank E. Emory, Jr.
Board Chairman, Economic Development Partnership of N.C.

INVESTMENT

- $1,972,232,128 resulted from new facilities and $2,429,082,396 from expansions.
- $610,193,852 resulted from FDI.

In 2019, the EDPNC, working jointly with its local and state economic development partners, helped close deals on 154 corporate relocation and expansion projects resulting in the announcement of 21,675 new jobs. That's the highest tally of state-supported job announcements over the past decade.

The 2019 project wins are also expected to create $4.4 billion in new capital investment in the state.

The EDPNC divisions that help win new and expanded corporate facilities for North Carolina include:

- Statewide business recruiters who recruit new companies to North Carolina while also courting larger-scale expansions by companies already operating here.
- The business development team, which generates leads by connecting to companies poised to expand in the U.S.
- The existing industry team comprising eight regional industry managers who support the growth of existing companies across the state, including many small businesses.

Top job-generating announcements in 2019 included retailer Lowe's choice of Charlotte for its new $153-million global technology center, expected to house up to 2,000 technology professionals. Other big IT-related announcements included Microsoft Corp.'s launching a 500-job expansion in Morrisville and a 430-job expansion in Charlotte.

Meanwhile, internationally based advanced manufacturers located major operations in more-rural Tier 1 and 2 counties. For example, India-based global enterprise Bharat Forge announced a $170-million, 460-job plant in Sanford that will make lightweight aluminum automotive components. And Lincolnton, N.C.-based Cataler North America Corporation, a Japanese subsidiary that produces automotive catalysts for some of the world's largest automakers, is planning a new $42-million, 151-job plant in Hickory. Overall, there were 103 EDPNC-supported project wins in Tier 1 and 2 counties in 2019. They called for 10,072 new jobs and $2.13 billion in new capital investment.

2019 also saw biotech manufacturing continue to boom in North Carolina, notably in our life-saving gene-therapy and gene-editing cluster. French firm Cellectis, which is developing cancer treatments based on gene-edited T-cells, selected Raleigh for its first U.S. commercial manufacturing facility – a $70-million, 200-job plant. Illinois-based AveXis, a gene-therapy company developing treatments for neurological diseases, announced a 200-job expansion of the manufacturing center it located in Durham County less than a year before. That $60 million expansion will double the plant's original headcount. And Pfizer is building a $500-million gene-therapy manufacturing plant at its Sanford facility, adding about 300 new jobs to the 650 already there.

GLOBAL BUSINESS SERVICES

The Global Business Services division supports business success and job growth by connecting existing North Carolina businesses to resources that help them reduce operating costs, increase exports and expand their facilities.

The division also houses a team of small-business counselors who help entrepreneurs and startups navigate the permitting and regulatory requirements of starting a new business in the state.

The division's three teams include: existing industry expansions managers who live and work within eight Prosperity Zones covering the entire state; international trade managers who help the state's small- to mid-sized businesses sell more exports in markets around the world; and Business Link North Carolina counselors who answer thousands of calls a year from individuals seeking guidance on how to start a small business in North Carolina.

Existing Industry Managers

The EDPNC's existing industry expansions team of eight regional managers build strong relationships with companies already operating in the state by conducting onsite visits and identifying barriers to growth. Then the managers follow up with resources to clear those hurdles.

The managers help coordinate a wide variety of assistance for existing North Carolina businesses. For example, they connect businesses with state programs that can help them find qualified workers, money to buy new manufacturing equipment or renovate buildings, and ways to implement more cost- and energy-efficient manufacturing practices.

The team also supports these businesses when they are ready to launch a formal expansion.

The team assisted 1,276 businesses overall (including supporting expansion projects) in 2019. Many were small- to mid-size businesses in the state's rural communities. In Tier 1 and Tier 2 counties, the EDPNC's regional industry managers supported 908 businesses last year.

Of the 1,276 businesses the existing industry team supported in 2019, 69 projects involved expansions expected to create 3,487 jobs and $1.06 billion in investment. The team supported an additional five projects involving newly recruited businesses creating 375 jobs and $104.8 million in investment.

One of the team's 2019 expansion projects included the Greenheck Group, an international manufacturer of commercial and industrial ventilation equipment, which is expanding its Shelby operations in Cleveland County and creating more than 400 new jobs. The company expects to invest nearly $60 million in the project.

International Trade Managers

Despite a year with global trade agreements in flux and a strong dollar pushing up the price of U.S. goods overseas, North Carolina businesses supported by the EDPNC's international trade team reported $1.078 billion in export sales during 2019.

2019 was the first year that EDPNC-supported businesses reported breaking $1 billion in international sales.

It was also the first year the EDPNC received the nation's highest recognition for organizations contributing significantly to increasing U.S. exports – a President's "E" Award for Export Service.

U.S. Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross presented the annual "E" Awards to businesses and organizations in a ceremony at the nation's capital in May. In a letter congratulating the partnership, Ross said the EDPNC's "achievements have undoubtedly contributed to national export expansion efforts that support the U.S. economy and create American jobs."

The EDPNC international trade team helps North Carolina businesses identify and develop international sales opportunities. It includes international trade managers based in North Carolina – each of whom specializes in specific industry sectors.

The EDPNC also has trade offices based in Canada, Mexico, Europe, Japan, China (Hong Kong) and the United Arab Emirates. In late 2019, the team expanded its international trade presence by contracting with a Singapore-based representative to help businesses that want to sell in Southeast Asia markets including Singapore, Indonesia, Malaysia, Vietnam, the Philippines and Thailand.

All told, in 2019 EDPNC's international trade managers and foreign offices assisted 614 North Carolina companies in 89 counties.

The trade team's services include helping North Carolina businesses find and vet new distributors or agents, referring companies to resources for export financing, and providing export education seminars addressing topics such as export documentation and licensing requirements.

In addition, the EDPNC team leads delegations of North Carolina companies to international trade shows and helps them arrange meetings there with potential buyers and distributors.

During 2019, the EDPNC trade team organized and supported the participation of 212 North Carolina companies in 34 major trade events around the world.

Business Link North Carolina

The Business Link North Carolina (BLNC) team provides one-on-one counseling to would-be entrepreneurs and startups through its toll-free number and online inquiry form.

The counselors answer questions about licensing and permit requirements and provide access to forms for business structures, tax ID numbers and more. They also make referrals to local, federal and state agencies, state occupational licensing boards and programs that can help new businesses find grants, alternative lending institutions, mentoring and other resources.

BLNC's team of five counselors handled 23,638 cases in 2019. Nearly half of those inquiries originated from Tier 1 and 2 counties.

The team also sponsors or participates in educational outreach activities to support entrepreneurship, including activities that particularly target rural areas and minority-, women-, and veteran-owned startups.

VISIT NORTH CAROLINA

Record-breaking spending by visitors to the state attests to the success of tourism marketing efforts spearheaded by the EDPNC's Visit North Carolina team.

In May 2019, the U.S. Travel Association released its latest available study of annual tourism spending in the state. In 2018, domestic visitors spent a record $25.3 billion in the state, an increase of 5.6 percent from 2017, the study says. All 100 North Carolina counties experienced growth in visitor spending.

The 2018 spending directly supported 230,560 jobs in North Carolina setting another state record and generated $3.95 billion in federal, state and local tax receipts (an increase of 4.8 percent from 2017).

Unfolding monthly hotel and motel lodging figures over the past year indicate the state will see another visitor-spending high when the 2019 study is released.

The Visit NC team executes marketing programs that promote North Carolina as a top tourism destination, as well as a great location for film productions and retirees. Most of Visit NC's marketing focuses on the state's tourism industry.

Visit NC's diverse tourism marketing activities include participating in trade shows and conferences; leading travel-writer tours of the state's attractions; and executing varied print, digital and TV advertising campaigns. In addition, Visit NC broadly engages primarily rural counties throughout North Carolina in cooperative marketing events and programs that help them affordably highlight their local attractions in statewide marketing initiatives.

In 2019, Visit NC continued its most successful tourism advertising campaign ever – "Firsts That Last."

Launched in spring 2018, the ongoing campaign has won numerous awards and generated strong results. The documentary-style TV, print and digital campaign features video of people visiting North Carolina for the first time, each to experience something they have never done before.

The campaign has won 11 tourism industry awards, including a prestigious Mercury Award from the U.S. Travel Association's National Council of State Tourism Directors for best branding and integrated marketing campaign among states with marketing budgets over $10 million; a Gold Adrian Award for integrated marketing from Hospitality Sales and Marketing Association International; and nine ADDY Awards from the American Advertising Federation.

EDPNC SALARIES AND COMPENSATION

The Economic Development Partnership of North Carolina considers several factors in determining employee salaries, including the level of knowledge, experience, years in industry and supervisory skills of the employee (or candidate), as well as market conditions for the position.

To remain competitive, the EDPNC generally monitors what other states and peer organizations pay for economic development and tourism positions. In addition, the EDPNC board of directors has sole discretionary authority to determine compensation for the organization's chief executive officer, based on performance.

In addition to their salaries, EDPNC staffers can receive performance-based compensation based on divisional and individual performance during a full calendar year. The plan enables the EDPNC to pay an employee performance-based compensation ranging from zero up to 18.75 percent of his or her gross annual salary.

The EDPNC's executive leadership and board of directors crafted the plan to increase employee accountability and reward strong performance, particularly for achievements that increase economic development in the state's rural and low-income areas. The compensation plan is meant to create a culture of employees who are focused on organization-wide performance metrics and managers who can drive and reward individual performance.

All full-time employees and regular part-time employees are eligible to participate in the plan, which is funded by EDPNC's private investments.

Under the performance compensation plan, each EDPNC business unit is allotted a portion of an organization-wide compensation pool, based on the unit's overall performance relative to certain key performance indicators (KPIs). Business unit employees are eligible for performance-based compensation out of the department's allotment.

Wherever applicable, the performance metrics determining an employee's performance-based compensation assign a weight to work that creates announced jobs and capital investment in Tier 1 and Tier 2 counties.

The following table lists EDPNC positions and salaries as of Dec. 31, 2019.
