

The College Board and Florida

A multi-dimensional approach that includes the state, districts, and schools

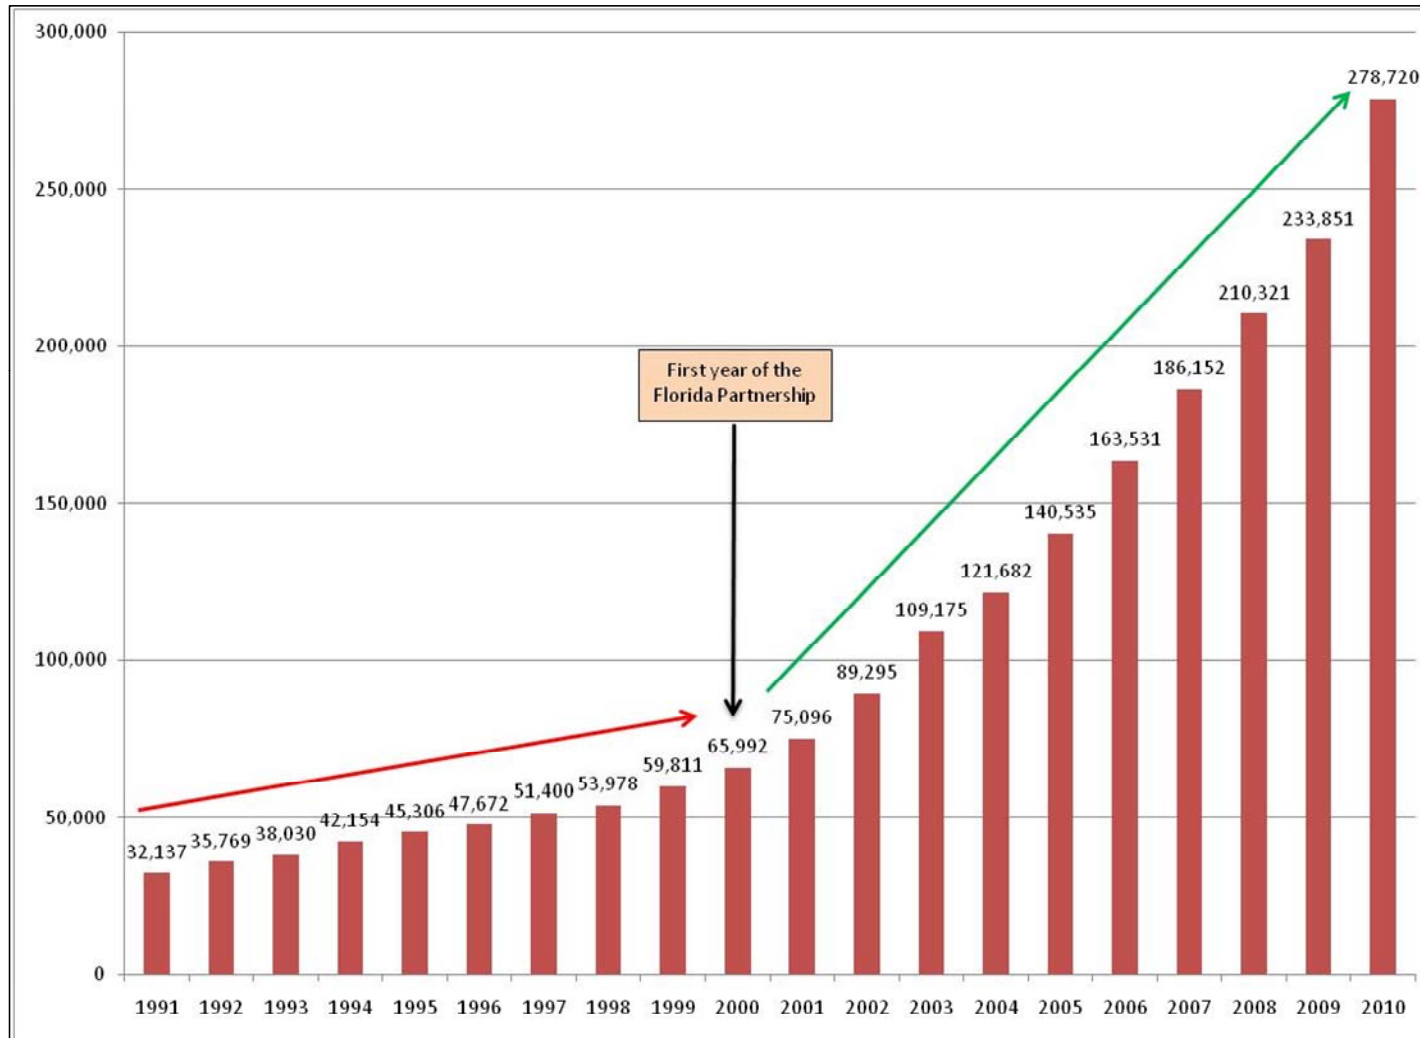

Florida's Advanced Placement Incentive Program

- In 1984, Florida began funding Advanced Placement (AP) Programs by providing a direct incentive within the state funding formula.
- For every AP exam score of 3 or above, the school district receives a bonus (currently .16 FTE – approximately $600).
- From these funds, districts pay for the cost of implementing an AP Program, including AP exams, AP and Pre-AP professional development, and AP instructional materials.
- AP teachers receive $50 for every AP exam score of 3 or above, up to $2,000.

The College Board's Florida Partnership

- In 2000, to address the need for school and district support, the State established and funded the Florida Partnership.
- Deliverables include:
 - AP and Pre-AP professional development
 - PSAT/NMSQT and AP Potential for all 10th grade students
 - SAT exam readiness
 - AP on-line instruction and support
 - Test preparation and study skills strategies
 - Staff to support the implementation, which includes monthly visits to each of the 25 participating districts' schools
 - 3rd party annual evaluation

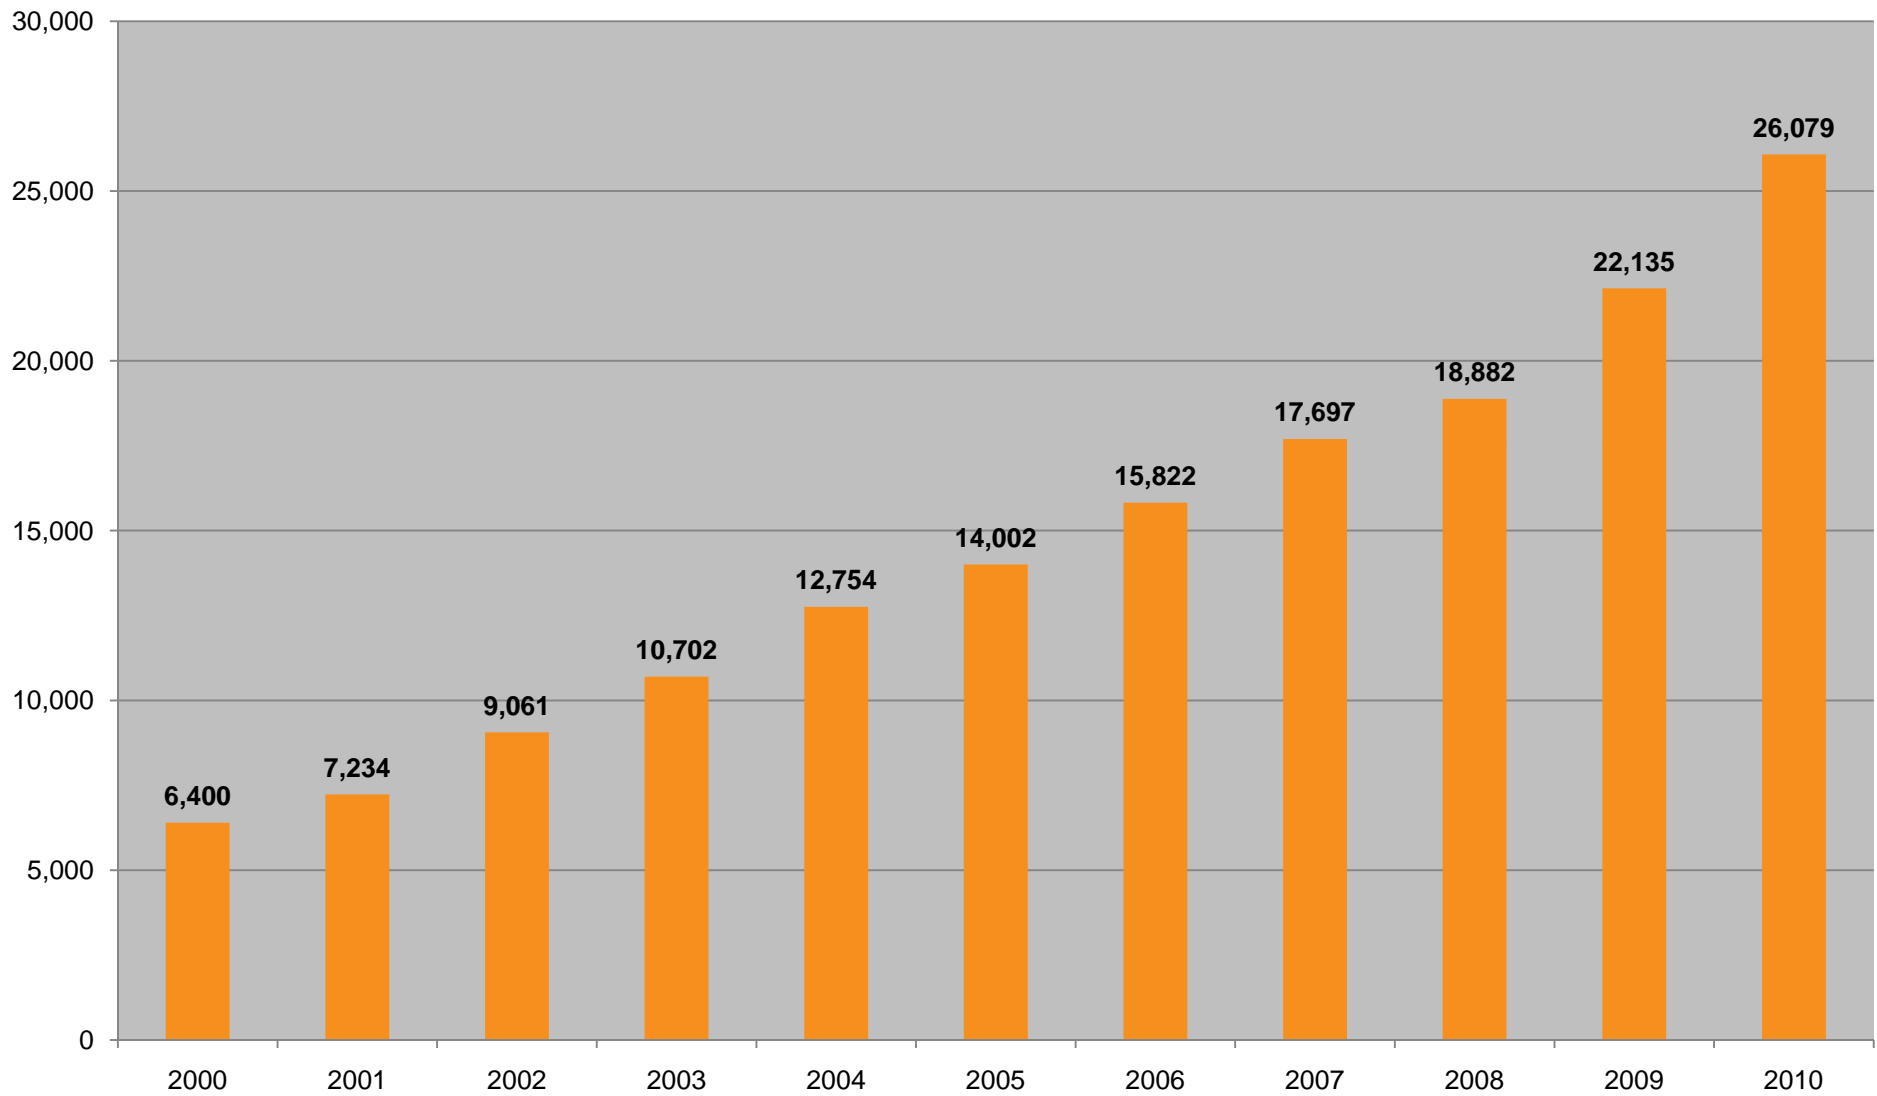

During the first ten years of the Florida Partnership, AP exam volume increased exponentially from 66K to 279K (15.5% CAGR).
