Grimaud*, 220 U. S. 506, 31 S. Ct. 480, 55 L. Ed. 563; State v. Sou. R. Co., 141 N. C. 486, 54 S. E. 294.

Id.

The third clause of this section confers power upon the commissioner to make regulations prohibiting the transportation of cattle. State v. Southern R. Co., 141 N. C. 846, 54 S. E. 294.

The provision to get rid of the ticks on cattle and prevent infection is a reasonable and valid regulation. State v. Hodges, 180 N. C. 751, 105 S. E. 417.

(b) The grade of any brand of mixed fertilizer shall not be changed during the registration period, but the guaranteed analysis may be changed in other respects and the sources of materials may be changed: Provided, prompt notification of such change is given to the commissioner and the change is noted on the container or tag: Provided, further, that the guaranteed analysis shall not be changed if it, in any way, lowers the quality of the fertilizer.

(c) The person offering for sale or selling any brand of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shall not be required to register the same if it has already been registered under this article by a person entitled to do so and such registration is then outstanding.

(d) In the case of bone, tankage and other organic materials in which the phosphoric acid content is not shown by laboratory methods to be available but eventually becomes available in the soil, the phosphoric acid may be guaranteed as total phosphoric acid: Provided, that unacidulated mineral phosphatic materials and basic slag shall be guaranteed as to both total and available phosphoric acid.

(e) In no case, except in the case of unacidulated mineral phosphates and basic slag, shall the term total phosphoric acid and available phosphoric acid be used in the same statement of analysis.

(f) For the privilege of such registrations, the person engaged in the manufacture and sale of fertilizers and fertilizer materials shall pay to the commissioner of agriculture of the state of North Carolina at the time of offering the same for registration the sum of two dollars ($2.00) for each grade and brand name registered by each person shipping into or manufacturing fertilizer or fertilizer materials in this state and no grade and brand name shall be registered without the payment of said sum. The brand name registered by a person shall not be entitled to registration by another person and the person having first registered and used said brand name shall be entitled to it even should said brand name not be offered for current registration. The registration of all grades and brands of fertilizers or fertilizer materials shall expire on November thirtieth of the year for which they are registered. Brands that were registered during a previous year shall be required to be registered before they are again offered for sale in North Carolina: Provided that all persons heretofore registering fertilizer or fertilizer material with the commissioner of agriculture and having paid the registration fee required by chapter three hundred and twenty-four, Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, shall be given credit on future registration fees required under this article for the unearned or unused portion of the fees so paid on a pro rata basis of the period covered by said fee.

(g) Every person proposing to manufacture or deal in mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials shall, after filing the statement above provided for with the commissioner of agriculture, receive from the said commissioner a certificate stating that he has complied with the foregoing sections, which certificate shall be furnished by the commissioner without any charge therefor. The said certificate when furnished shall authorize the party receiving the same to manufacture for sale in this state, or to sell in this state, directly or through dealers or agents, the brands and grades named in said certificate. No person who has failed to pay the fee, to file the statement, and to receive the certificate of authority shall be authorized to manufacture or offer for sale in this state mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials; and any person so manufacturing for sale in this state, or so dealing or selling without having paid the fee, filed the statement, and received the certificate, except dealers and agents selling, or offering for sale, fertilizers on which the fee has been paid by, and certificate issued to, the manufacturers as provided for in the preceding sections of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor for each violation and shall be subject to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00). (1933, c. 324, s. 4; 1937, c. 430, s. 2; 1941, c. 368; 1943, c. 652, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted the present for the former section.

The 1943 amendment inserted the proviso beginning in line twenty-eight.

§ 106-31. Marking.—(a) Each person who sells or offers for sale mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials in this state shall associate with each shipment the information required by items (1) to (4), both inclusive, of paragraph (a) and by paragraph (d) of § 106-30. If shipped in bags, barrels or other containers commonly used, the brand name and either the grade or guaranteed analysis (total nitrogen, available phosphoric acid and available potash) shall be printed on the package. If more than one grade is sold under one brand name, the grade shall be printed on the package. Additional information required by this section shall appear either on the package or on a tag, affixed at the end of the package and in the case of bags with ears, the tag, if used, shall be affixed between the ears.

(b) If shipped in bulk by rail, said information shall be printed on a suitable label which shall be fastened on the inside wall of the car near the door.

(c) If shipped in bulk by boat, truck, wagon, or other vehicle, said information shall be attached to the copy of the invoice delivered to the purchaser or other receiver.

(d) If shipped in packages weighing less than fifty pounds, said information shall be printed on the tag or container in which the material is delivered to the purchaser.

(e) If the fertilizer is registered for sale with an open formula it is required that a separate tag be attached to the container, which tag shall state only the formula, the brand name and the name and address of the person guaranteeing the registration.

(f) The statement on the open formula tag shall constitute a guarantee of the kinds, amounts, and analysis of fertilizer materials in the container to which the tag is attached.

(g) If the analysis of any brand of fertilizer sold or offered for sale with an open formula shall show that this statement is false, the commissioner may revoke the right to sell or offer for sale such brand with an open formula for a period of two years.

(h) Any manufacturer or other producer who shall have suffered three such revocations in any two year period shall not be permitted to register any brand with an open formula for two years following the last revocation.

(i) The tags, labels or certificates, when required by this section, shall be furnished by the manufacturer.

(j) Magnesium oxide (MgO), calcium oxide (CaO), and sulphur (S) may be claimed as ingredients in all mixed fertilizers, but when so claimed the minimum percentages of total magnesium oxide (MgO), total calcium oxide (CaO) and total sulphur (S) shall be guaranteed; excepting that the sulphur guarantees for fertilizers branded for tobacco shall be both the maximum and the minimum percentages.

(k) Additional plant food, elements, compounds, or classes of compounds determinable by chemical control methods, may be guaranteed only by permission of the commissioner by and with the advice of the director of the North Carolina Experiment Station. When any such additional plant food, elements, compounds, or classes of compounds are included in the guarantee, they shall be subject to inspection, and analysis in accordance with the methods and regulations that may be prescribed by the commissioner. The commissioner shall also fix penalties for failure to fulfill such guarantees. (1933, c. 324, s. 5; 1937, c. 430, s. 3; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted the present for the former section.

The cases annotated below were decided under the prior law.

Warranty of Contents.—Manufacturers and vendors of commercial fertilizers impliedly warrant that they contain the ingredients specified on the tags placed on the bags, according to the requirements of the statute. Swift & Company v. Ayddlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

Compliance with Statute Warranted.—When plaintiffs' as manufacturers, dealers or agents sold to defendant commercial fertilizers, they must be held to have warranted that they had complied with the statute, and that the articles delivered, as commercial fertilizers were truthfully branded as required by the statute. Swift v. Etheridge, 190 N. C. 162, 167, 129 S. E. 453.

The rule of caveat emptor, as applied at common law in the sale of articles of personal property, is not applicable to the sale of commercial fertilizers in this State. Swift v. Etheridge, 190 N. C. 162, 164, 129 S. E. 453; Swift & Co. v. Ayddlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

The burden of proof is upon the manufacturer to show, in his action against the purchaser for the purchase price, that the goods were at least merchantable, and that the ingredients used in their manufacture were in accordance with the specifications upon the tags placed on the bags under the requirements of this section. Swift & Company v. Ayddlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

A waiver by the purchaser of any demand for damages on account of any deficiencies in the ingredients of fertilizers, except such as may be ascertained in the manner specified in the statute, is valid and enforceable under the present law. Armour Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175 N. C. 399, 95 S. E. 657.

Application.—If the contents of the bags or packages delivered to defendant by plaintiffs were not, in fact commercial fertilizers, of the analysis guaranteed on each bag or package, as required, there was no consideration for the note given for the purchase price of the articles bought by defendant, and plaintiffs are not entitled to recover on said note. Swift v. Etheridge, 190 N. C. 162, 167, 129 S. E. 453.

§ 106-32. Use of the term "high grade".—The words "high grade" shall not appear upon any tag, bag, or other container of any mixed fertilizer which contains, by the guaranteed analysis, a total of less than twenty per cent of available plant food (total nitrogen—available phosphoric acid—available potash). (1933, c. 324, s. 6; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the word "tag" in this section and added the words in parentheses.

§ 106-33. Tonnage tax.—(a) Inspection Tax of Fertilizer; Tax Tags.—For the purpose of defraying expenses of the inspection and of otherwise determining the value of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials in this state, there shall be paid to the department of agriculture a charge of twenty-five cents per ton or one cent for each individual package containing fifty pounds net or less and more than five pounds on such mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials, which charge shall be paid before a delivery is made to agents, dealers, or consumers in this state. On individual packages of five pounds or less, there shall be paid in lieu of the tonnage tax an annual registration fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each brand or grade offered for sale in packages of five pounds or less. Each bag, barrel, or other container of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have attached thereto a tag to be furnished by the department of agriculture stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid, and the commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board of agriculture is hereby empowered to prescribe a form for such tags, and to adopt such regulations as will insure the enforcement of this article. Whenever any manufacturer of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials shall have paid the charges required by this section, his goods shall not be liable to further tax, whether by city, town, or county: Provided, this shall not exempt the mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials from an ad valorem tax.

(b) Issuance and Exchange of Tax Tags.—

The tax tags required under this section shall be issued each year by the commissioner and be sold to persons applying for the same at the tax rate provided in paragraph (a) of this section. Undetached tags left in the possession of persons registering mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials at the end of any calendar year may be exchanged for tags of the succeeding year, on or before March first.

(c) Tax Tags on Shipments in Bulk.—If any manufacturer, dealer, agent or other seller of fertilizer shall desire to ship in bulk any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials, the said manufacturer or seller of fertilizer shall send with the bill of lading sufficient cancelled tax tags to pay the tax on the amount of goods shipped, and the agent of the railroad or other transportation company shall deliver the tags to the consignee when the goods are delivered. (1933, c. 324, s. 7; 1941, c. 368.)

The cases annotated below were decided under a prior law, old § 4702.

Action to Secure Tax Wrongfully Collected.—The Board of Agriculture is a department of the State Government, and an action against it to recover money alleged to have been wrongfully collected by it as a license tax cannot be maintained, the State not having given its consent to be sued in that respect. Lord, etc., Chemical Co. v. Board, 111 N. C. 135, 15 S. E. 1032.

Property Tax.—This section will not be so construed as to relieve manufacturers of fertilizers or fertilizing material, paying this inspection tax, from the payment of property tax required by the Constitution. Pocomoke Guano Co. v. Biddle, 158 N. C. 212, 73 S. E. 996.

§ 106-34. Inspection.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner, personally or by agents, duly authorized in writing, to make such inspection of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material in this state, to have such samples taken, and to have such analyses made as in his judgment may be necessary to ascertain whether or not persons offering, selling or distributing mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials are complying with the provisions of this article. (1933, c. 324, s. 8; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted the word "materials" for the word "material" near the end of the section.

§ 106-35. Official sample, liability for deficiency or damage.—(a) Samples of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material complying with the definition set forth in paragraph (i) of § 106-29 and taken as hereafter prescribed in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of this section shall constitute official samples.

(b) For the purposes of analysis by the commissioner or his duly authorized chemists and for comparison with the guarantee supplied to the commissioner in accordance with §§ 106-30 and 106-31, the commissioner, or an official inspector duly appointed by him, shall take an official sample of not less than one pound from containers of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material. No sample shall be taken from less than five containers. If the lot comprises five (5) or more containers, portions shall be taken from each one up to a total of ten (10) containers. If the lot comprises from ten (10) to one hundred (100) containers, portions shall be taken from ten (10) containers. Of lots comprising more than one hundred (100) containers, portions shall be taken from ten (10) per cent of the total number of containers.

(c) In sampling mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials, in bulk, either in a factory or a car, at least ten portions shall be drawn and these from different places so as fairly to represent the pile or car lot.

(d) In sampling, a core sampler shall be used that removes a core from the bag or other package from top to bottom, and the cores taken shall be mixed on clean oil cloth or paper, and if necessary shall be reduced after thoroughly mixing, by quartering, to the quantity of sample required. The composite sample taken from any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material under the provision of this paragraph shall be placed in a tight container and shall be forwarded to the commissioner with proper identification marks.

(e) The commissioner may modify the provisions of this section to bring them into conformity with any changes that may hereafter be made in the official methods of and recommendations for sampling mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials which shall have been adopted by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists. Thereafter, such methods and recommendations shall be used in all sampling done in connection with the administration of this article in lieu of those prescribed in paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this section.

(f) All samples taken under the provisions of this section shall be taken from original unbroken bags or containers, the contents of which have not been damaged by exposure, water or otherwise.

(g) The commissioner shall refuse to analyze all samples except such as are taken under the provisions of this section and of § 106-36.

(h) No suit for damages claimed to result from the use of any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material may be brought unless it shall be shown by an analysis of a sample taken and analyzed in accordance with the provisions of this article, that the said lot of fertilizer as represented by a sample or samples taken in accordance with the provisions of this section and § 106-36 do not conform to the provisions of this article with respect to the composition of the mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, unless it shall appear to the commissioner that the manufacturer of the fertilizer in question has, in the manufacture of other goods offered in this state during such season, employed such ingredients as are outlawed by the provisions of this article, or unless it shall appear to the commissioner that the manufacturer of such fertilizer has offered for sale during that season any kind of dishonest or fraudulent goods.

(i) In the trial of any suit or action wherein there is called in question the value or composition of any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, a certificate signed by the fertilizer chemist and attested with the seal of the department of agriculture, setting forth the analysis made by the chemists of the department of agriculture, of any sample of said mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, drawn under the provisions of this section or § 106-36 and analyzed by them under the provisions of the same, shall be prima facie proof that the fertilizer was of the value and constituency shown by said analysis. And the said certificate of the chemist shall be admissible in evidence to the same extent as if it were his deposition taken in said action in the manner prescribed by law for the taking of depositions. (1933, c. 324, s. 9; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted the present for the former section.

§ 106-36. Samples by purchaser or consumer.

—Any purchaser or consumer may take and have a sample of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material analyzed if taken in accordance with the following rules and regulations:

(a) At least five days before taking a sample, the purchaser or consumer shall notify the manufacturer or seller of the brand in writing, at his permanent address, of his intention to take such a sample and shall request the manufacturer or seller to designate a representative to be present when the sample is taken.

(b) The sample shall be drawn in the presence of the manufacturer, seller or a representative designated by either party together with two disinterested freeholders; or in case the manufacturer, seller, or representative of either refuses or is unable to witness the drawing of such a sample, a sample may be drawn in the presence of three disinterested freeholders; Provided, any such sample shall be taken with the same type of sampler as used by the inspector of the department of agriculture in taking samples and shall be drawn, mixed and divided as directed in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of § 106-35, except that the sample shall be divided into two parts each to consist of at least one pound. Each of these is to be placed in a separate, tight container, securely sealed, properly labeled, and one sent to the commissioner for analysis and the other to the manufacturer. A certified statement in a form which will be prescribed and supplied by the commissioner must be signed by the parties taking and witnessing the taking of the sample. Such certificate is to be made and signed in duplicate and one copy sent to the commissioner and the other to the manufacturer or seller of the brand sampled. The witnesses of the taking of any sample, as provided for in this section, shall be required to certify that such sample has been continuously under the observation from the taking of the sample up to and including the delivery of it to an express agency, a post office or to the office of the commissioner. No sample may be taken under the provisions of this section except within thirty days after the actual delivery to the consumer.

(c) Samples drawn in conformity with the requirements of this section shall have the same legal status in the courts of the state as those drawn by an official inspector of the department as provided for in § 106-35. (1933, c. 324, s. 10; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted the present for the former section.

§ 106-37. Chemical analyses.—(a) The commissioner shall have the power at all times and in all places to have collected by an authorized inspector, samples of any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material offered for sale in the state and to have the same analyzed.

(b) The official methods of analysis prescribed by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists shall be followed in making the chemical analyses provided for in this section.

(c) If the state chemist is required by law to make analyses or determinations for any ingredients before the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists shall have adopted an official, or tentative, method for such determination, then the state chemist shall prescribe a method of analysis to be used and he shall send a copy of such methods to every manufacturer, whose brands are registered in this state, at least six months before such provisions of the law become effective. (1933, c. 324, s. 11; 1937, c. 430, s. 4; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1937 amendment added paragraph (c) to the section.

The 1941 amendment re-enacted this section practically without change.

§ 106-38. Plant food deficiency.—(a) The commissioner, in determining for administrative purposes whether or not any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material is deficient in plant food, shall be guided solely by the official sample as defined in § 106-29, and as provided for in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of § 106-35 and the samples taken under the provisions of § 106-36.

(b) If the analysis shall show that any mixed fertilizer falls as much as five per cent and not more than ten per cent below the guaranteed analysis in the total value of the guaranteed nitrogen, available phosphoric acid and available potash, twice the value of such deficiency shall be assessed against the manufacturer, dealer, or agent who sold such fertilizer. If the fertilizer shall fall over ten per cent below the guaranteed analysis in the total value of the guaranteed nitrogen, available phosphoric acid and available potash, the penalty assessed shall be four times the value of the deficiency: Provided, that in no case shall the total assessed penalties exceed the value of the goods to which it applies.

If the analysis shall show that any fertilizer or fertilizer material falls short of the guaranteed analysis in any one ingredient, a penalty shall be assessed in accordance with the following tolerances and penalties:

(c) Total Nitrogen and/or Total Available Nitrogen.—A penalty of three times the value of the deficiency, if such deficiency is in excess of twenty points (which shall mean 0.20 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed two per cent nitrogen; twenty-five points (which shall mean 0.25 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed three per cent nitrogen; thirty-five points (which shall mean 0.35 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed four per cent; forty points (which shall mean 0.40 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed five per cent up to and including eight per cent; and fifty points (which shall mean 0.50 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed over eight per cent.

(d) Available Phosphoric Acid.—A penalty of three times the value of the deficiency, if such deficiency exceeds forty points (which shall mean 0.40 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed up to and including ten per cent; and fifty points (which shall mean 0.50 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed over ten per cent available phosphoric acid.

(e) Available Potash.—A penalty of three times the value of the deficiency, if such deficiency is in excess of twenty points (which shall mean 0.20 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed two per cent potash; thirty points (which shall mean 0.30 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed three per cent of potash; forty points (which shall mean 0.40 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed four per cent; fifty points (which shall mean 0.50 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed four per cent up to and including eight per cent; and sixty points (which shall mean 0.60 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed from nine per cent to twenty per cent; and one hundred points (which shall mean 1.00 per cent) on goods guaranteed over twenty per cent.

(f) Chlorine.—If the chlorine content of any lot of fertilizer branded for tobacco shall exceed the maximum amount guaranteed by more than five-tenths (0.5) per cent, a penalty shall be assessed equal to ten per cent of the value of the fertilizer for each additional five-tenths (0.5) per cent of excess or fraction thereof.

(g) Should the basicity or acidity as equivalent of calcium carbonate of any sample of fertilizer be found upon analysis to differ more than five per cent (or one hundred pounds calcium carbonate equivalent per ton) from the guarantee, then a penalty of fifty cents per ton for each fifty pounds calcium carbonate equivalent, or fraction thereof in excess of the one hundred pounds allowed, may be assessed and paid as under paragraph (a) of this section.

(h) Calcium Oxide.—If the calcium oxide content guaranteed falls as much as one per cent below the minimum amount guaranteed, a penalty of fifty cents per ton for each additional one-half unit or fraction thereof shall be assessed.

(i) Magnesium Oxide.—If the magnesium oxide content falls as much as five-tenths (0.5) per cent below the minimum amount guaranteed, a penalty of fifty cents per ton shall be assessed for each additional one-fourth per cent deficiency or fraction thereof.

(j) Sulphur.—If the sulphur content is found to be as much as one and one-half per cent below the minimum amount guaranteed in the case of all mixed fertilizers, including mixed fertilizers branded for tobacco, a penalty of fifty cents per ton for each additional one-half unit or fraction thereof, shall be assessed; and in the case of mixed fertilizers branded for tobacco, if the maximum sulphur content shall exceed the guarantee by more than one and one-half per cent, a penalty of fifty cents per ton for each additional one-half unit or fraction there, shall be assessed.

(k) Water Insoluble Nitrogen.—A penalty of three times the value of the deficiency shall be assessed, if the deficiency shall exceed ten points (which shall mean 0.10 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed up to and including fifty-hundredths per cent (0.50%); twenty points (which shall mean 0.20 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed from five-tenths per cent to one per cent; thirty points (which shall mean 0.30 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed from one per cent to two per cent; and fifty points (which shall mean 0.50 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed above two per cent and up to and including five per cent and 100 points (which shall mean 1.00 per cent) tolerance above five per cent.

(l) Nitrate Nitrogen.—A penalty of three times the value of the deficiency shall be assessed if the deficiency shall exceed ten points (0.10 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed up to and including five-tenths (0.50 per cent); fifteen points (0.15 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed from five-tenths (0.50 per cent) to one (1) per cent; twenty-five points (0.25 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed from one (1) per cent to two (2) per cent and thirty-five points (0.35 of one per cent) for goods guaranteed above two (2) per cent.

(m) Additional Plant Foods.—If any additional plant foods, elements or compounds are guaranteed, tolerances and penalties for same shall be set up by the commissioner.

(n) All penalties assessed under this section shall be paid to the consumer of the lot of fertilizer represented by the sample analyzed within three months from date of notice by the commissioner to the manufacturer, dealer or agent, receipts taken therefor, and promptly forwarded to the commissioner of agriculture: Provided, that penalties shall not be assessed for both deficiency in total value and deficiencies in individual ingredients, but whichever shall be determined to be the greater shall be assessed. If said consumers can not be found, the amount of penalty assessed shall be paid to the commissioner of agriculture who shall deposit the same into the department of agriculture fund, of which the state treasurer is custodian. Such sums as shall thereafter be found to be payable to consumers on lots of fertilizer against which said penalties were assessed shall be paid from said fund on order of the commissioner of agriculture, and may be used by the commissioner of agriculture as he may see fit for the purposes of promoting the agricultural program of the state. (1933; c. 324, s. 12; 1937, c. 430, s. 5; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted the present for the former section.

§ 106-39. Commercial value.—The approximate retail value per pound and per unit of the various ingredients of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials, namely: Nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, may be computed by the commissioner and be used to establish the relative value of the mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials sold or offered for sale in this state. The commissioner is authorized to furnish such relative values to any persons engaged in the manufacture or sale of mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials in this state upon application and to publish the same under the provisions of § 106-46. (1933, c. 324, s. 14; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—This section as inserted by the 1941 amendment is the same as former § 4689(14) with the exception that the reference at the end was changed from § 4689(21) to § 4689(20), now G. S. § 106-46.

§ 106-40. Minimum plant food content; branding of low grade fertilizers.—No superphosphate, no fertilizer with a guarantee of two plant food ingredients, or no complete mixed fertilizer shall be sold or offered for sale for fertilizer purposes within this state which contains less than fourteen per cent of plant food (total nitrogen—available phosphoric acid—potash). This shall not apply to natural animal or vegetable products not mixed with other materials.

Any mixed fertilizer containing two plant food ingredients, or any mixed fertilizer containing less than sixteen units of plant food (total nitrogen—available phosphoric acid—potash) shall be branded "low grade" and shall carry a "red tag" reading as follows:

"THIS IS A LOW GRADE FERTILIZER."

It costs too much per unit of nitrogen—available phosphoric acid and potash because it contains only fourteen or fifteen units (whichever the case may be) of these plant foods. You are paying too much for bagging, freight, labor, etc., on too much inert material." (1933, c. 324, s. 15; 1937, c. 430, s. 6; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted this section for former § 4689(15).

§ 106-41. Injurious fillers.—It shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture, offer for sale or sell in this state any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material containing any substance used as a filler that is injurious to crop growth or deleterious to the soil, or to use in such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials as a filler any substance that contains inert plant food material or any other substance for the purpose or with the effect of deceiving or defrauding the purchaser. (1933, c. 324, s. 16; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—This section as inserted by the 1941 amendment is the same as former § 4689(16).

§ 106-42. Materials containing unavailable plant food.—(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to offer for sale or to sell in this state for fertilizer purposes any raw or untreated leather, hair, wool waste, hoof, horn, rubber or similar nitrogenous materials, the plant food content of which is largely unavailable, either as such or mixed with other fertilizer materials.

(b) This section shall not apply to the substances mentioned in paragraph (a) when they have been treated or processed in such manner as to make available the plant food constituents contained therein. (1933, c. 324, s. 17; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(17) and omitted a former provision that the section should not apply to substances sold to manufacturers of fertilizers.

§ 106-43. Deception and fraud.—It shall be unlawful for any person to make any false or misleading representation in regard to any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shipped, sold or offered for sale by him in this state, or to use any misleading or deceptive trade mark or brand name in connection therewith. The commissioner is hereby authorized to refuse registration for any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material with respect to which this section is violated. The sale or offer for sale of any mixture of nitrogenous fertilizer materials under a name or other designation descriptive of only one of the components of the mixture shall be considered deceptive or fraudulent. (1933, c. 324, s. 18; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(18).

§ 106-44. Sales of materials to consumers.—Nothing in this article shall abridge the right of a consumer of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials to buy materials from any manufacturer or dealer for his own use and not for resale, provided the tonnage tax has been paid thereon, if subject thereto, and that the provisions of this article otherwise in respect to such materials have been complied with. (1933, c. 324, s. 19; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(19).

§ 106-45. Reports of shipments.—It is required of each person registering mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials under this article that he furnish the commissioner with a written statement of the tonnage of each grade of fertilizer sold by him in this state. Said statement shall include all sales for the periods of January first to and including June thirtieth and of July first to and including December thirty-first of each year. The commissioner may, in his discretion, either invoke a penalty on, or cancel the registration of, any person failing to comply with this section if the above statement is not made within thirty days from date of notification. The commissioner, however, in his discretion, may grant a reasonable extension of time. (1933, c. 324, s. 20; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(20).

§ 106-46. Publications.—The commissioner is authorized to publish at such time and in such form as he may deem proper information concerning the production and use of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials, and shall publish an annual report which shall contain a statement of money received and expended from the sale of tax tags and appropriately classified statistics of fertilizer sales in this state. Reports of the department chemists' findings based on official samples of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material sold within the state as compared with the guaranteed analyses registered under §§ 106-30 and 106-31 shall be published by the commissioner as promptly as possible after the completion of analyses, or at least annually. (1933, c. 324, s. 21; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(21).

§ 106-47. Regulations.—The board of agriculture, by and with the agreement of the director of the North Carolina Experiment Station, is empowered to adopt from time to time grades of mixed fertilizers which shall be sold in this state and to issue such rules and regulations and to set such standards as may be necessary for the enforcement of this article. The grades so adopted shall not be less than twenty-two nor more than thirty-five in number: Provided, that in case the United States government regulations restrict the number of grades outside these limits, the number of grades shall be that provided in such regulations. (1933, c. 324, s. 22; 1941, c. 368; 1943, c. 652, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(22).

Prior to the 1943 amendment the number of grades were not to be less than thirty-five or in excess of fifty. The amendment added the provision relating to United States government regulations.

§ 106-48. Misdemeanors.—Each of the following offenses shall be a misdemeanor and any person upon conviction thereof shall be punished as provided by law for the punishment of misdemeanors:

(a) The violation of any of the provisions of §§ 106-41, 106-42, or 106-43.

(b) The filing with the commissioner of any false statement of fact in connection with the registration under § 106-30 of any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material.

(c) Forcibly obstructing the commissioner or any official inspector authorized by the commissioner in the lawful performance by him of his duties in the administration of this article.

(d) Knowingly taking a false sample of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material for use under any provision of this article; or knowingly submitting to the commissioner for analysis a false sample thereof; or making to any person any false representation with regard to any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material sold or offered for sale in this state for the purpose of deceiving or defrauding such other person.

(e) The fraudulent tampering with any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material so that as a result thereof any sample of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material taken and submitted for analysis under this article may not correctly represent the lot; or tampering with any sample taken or submitted for analysis under this article, if done prior to such analysis and disposition of the sample under the direction of the commissioner.

(f) The delivery to any person by the fertilizer chemist or his assistants or other employees of the commissioner of a report that is wilfully false and misleading on any analysis of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material made by the department in connection with the administration of this article.

(g) Selling or offering for sale in this state mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material without marking the same as required by § 106-31.

(h) Selling or offering for sale in this state mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material containing less than the minimum content required by § 106-40. (1933, c. 324, s. 23; 1941, c. 368.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(23).

§ 106-49. Penalties for unauthorized sale, sale without tax tags, and misuse of tax tags.—(a) Forfeiture for Unauthorized Sale, Release from Forfeiture.—All fertilizers and fertilizer materials sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions of this article as stated in paragraphs (a), (b), and (e) of § 106-30, and (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) and (g) of § 106-31 and § 106-32 shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner. The net proceeds of such sale shall be placed to the credit of the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. The commissioner, however, may, in his discretion, release the fertilizers so seized and condemned upon payment of the required tax or charge, a fine of ten dollars ($10.00), and all costs and expenses incurred by the department in any proceedings connected with such seizure and condemnation, and upon compliance with all other requirements of this article.

(b) Method of Seizure and Sale of Forfeiture.—Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner by any officer or agent of the department. The sale shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in such county, or if no newspaper is published in such county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the brand name or name of the goods, the quantity, and why seized and offered for sale.

(c) Sale without Tag; Misuse of Tag; Penalty; Forfeiture.—Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, broker, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material without having attached thereto such tags as are required by paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 106-33, or who shall use the required tags a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any such fertilizer, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, or offered for sale, or removed, said penalty to be recovered by the commissioner by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid, one-half to the informer and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such fertilizer shall be condemned as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to have an analysis made of the same and cause printed tags or labels expressing the true chemical ingredients thereof to be put upon each bag, barrel, or package, and fix the commercial value at which it may be sold. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale or remove any such fertilizer, or for agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such fertilizer in violation of this section. Any person who shall sell or offer for sale or remove any fertilizer in violation of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(d) Deficiencies of Weight Made Good.—Any fertilizer which is found by an inspector of the department of agriculture to be short in weight, the manufacturer of said fertilizer shall within five days of official notice from the department of agriculture make good such deficiency and pay to the consumer a penalty equal to four times the value of the actual shortage. The commissioner in his discretion may allow reasonable tolerances for short weight due to loss through handling and transporting. (1933, c. 324, s. 24; 1941, c. 368; 1943, c. 652, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted this section in place of former § 4689(24).

The 1943 amendment struck out the word "not" formerly appearing in line ten of subsection (d) between the word "weight" and the word "due."

The cases annotated below were decided under the provisions of former C. S. § 4703, which section, with slight changes, is incorporated in this section as paragraph (c).

Constitutionality.—This section is not in conflict with the constitution. Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 119 N. C. 120, 25 S. E. 795.

The penalty is restricted to those who "shall sell or offer for sale" without complying with the terms of the statute. It has no application against the purchaser who buys for his own use. Johnson v. Carson, 161 N. C. 371, 77 S. E. 307.

Party Plaintiff.—Under this section the persons suing for the penalty, and not the Department of Agriculture or the State, is the proper party plaintiff. Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 119 N. C. 120, 25 S. E. 795.

Judicial Notice of Violation of Section.—Courts will take judicial notice of the violation of the provisions of this article and upon allegation and proof thereof permit recovery, though not specially pleaded. Carson v. Bunting, 154 N. C. 530, 70 S. E. 923.

For sufficiency of indictment for the violation of this section, see State v. Oil Co., 154 N. C. 635, 70 S. E. 741.

§ 106-50. Sales and exchanges between manufacturers, etc.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to restrict or avoid sales or exchanges of fertilizer or fertilizer materials to each other by importers, manufacturers or manipulators who mix fertilizer materials for sale, or as preventing the free and unrestricted shipments of fertilizers or fertilizer materials to manufacturers or manipulators who have registered their brands as required by the provisions of this article. (1941, c. 368.)

Art. 3. Fertilizer Laboratories.

§ 106-51. Certification of fertilizer laboratories.—The commissioner of agriculture, or his authorized agent, shall, upon the application of any commercial laboratory that analyzes fertilizer or fertilizer materials, make such examination as he shall consider fit of the work of said laboratory, and when, in his opinion, the examination shall show the work of the said laboratory to be accurate and reliable, he shall certify said laboratory to that effect.

To those manufacturers requesting names of certified laboratories, the commissioner of agriculture shall supply such information. (1933, c. 551.)

Art. 4. Insecticides and Fungicides.

§ 106-52. Rules and standards.—The department of agriculture shall have power to make rules, regulations and adopt standards to carry out the designs and purposes of this article. (1927, c. 53, s. 1.)

§ 106-53. Registration.—Before any manufacturer or dealer shall sell, offer or expose for sale in this State any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide he shall register with the Department of Agriculture the name of each brand of said preparation, the name and address of the manufacturer or dealer, the minimum per cent of each and every toxic chemical or compound present, and the specific name of each active ingredient used in its manufacture and the weight of the packages in which the material is packed. The words "paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and all other insecticides and fungicides" mentioned and used in this article, shall apply only to insecticides and fungicides used on cotton, tobacco, all field crops, gardens, orchards, fruits, etc., for the control or destruction of insect life and fungus diseases. (1927, c. 53, s. 2.)

§ 106-54. Labels to be affixed.—Every lot, package or parcel of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, offered or exposed for sale within this State, shall have affixed thereto a tag or label, in a conspicuous place on the outside thereof containing a legible and plainly printed statement in the English language clearly and truly certifying

- (a) the net weight of the lot, package or parcel;
- (b) the name, brand or trademark;
- (c) the name and address of the manufacturer, importer, jobber, firm, association, corporation, dealer or person, etc., responsible for placing the commodity on the market;
- (d) the minimum per cent of each and every toxic chemical or compound present.
- (e) the specific name of each active ingredient used in its manufacture. (1927, c. 53, s. 3.)

§ 106-55. Refusal and cancellation of registration.—The Commissioner shall have the power to refuse to register any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide under a name, brand or trademark, which would be misleading or deceptive. Should any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide be registered in the State and it is afterward discovered that such registration is in violation of any of the provisions of this article, the Commissioner shall cancel such registration. (1927, c. 53, s. 4.)

§ 106-56. Registration fee; expiration of registration certificate; renewal.—All manufacturers or distributors, for the purpose of defraying the expenses connected with the enforcement of this article, before selling, offering or exposing for sale in this state any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticides and fungicides, shall pay annually to the department of agriculture a registration fee of ten dollars ($10.00) for each and every brand of the aforementioned insecticides and fungicides registered as required under § 106-53. All certificates of registration shall expire on the thirty-first day of December next following the date of issuance and shall be subject to renewal upon receipt of annual registration fees. (1927, c. 53, s. 5; 1939, c. 284, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—This section was so changed by the 1939 amendment that a comparison here is not practical.

§ 106-57. Certificates entitling manufacturers or distributors to sell; unlawful sale, etc.—To manufacturers or distributors who have duly registered their brands and have paid registration fees on paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or other insecticides and fungicides in compliance with the requirements of this article, there shall be issued by the department of agriculture certificates which shall entitle said manufacturers or distributors to sell all duly registered brands until the expiration of such certificates as provided under § 106-56. When any manufacturer or distributor shall have duly complied with the provisions of this article, no other agency representing such manufacturer or distributor shall be required to register or pay registration fees on such brands as have been duly registered. It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer or distributor, or their agents to sell, offer or expose for sale in this state any of the aforementioned insecticides or fungicides which have not been duly registered and for which annual registration fees have not been paid. (1927, c. 53, s. 6; 1939, c. 284, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1939 amendment this section provided for tax stamps.

§ 106-58. Requirement of identifying color or medium.—For the purpose of safeguarding the legitimate uses of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and all other insecticides and fungicides and to prevent the poisoning of man or animal by confusion with or mixing with foods and feeds, either by accident or intent, it shall be required as a qualification for registration that all such aforesaid insecticides and fungicides which are likely to be confused with or which are not readily apparent when mixed with such foods or feeds, shall bear or contain some identifying added color or medium to differentiate them from, or to show their presence when contained in such foods or feeds; provided that no commodity intended for insecticidal, fungicidal or similar purposes which is already developed, or new products for these purposes which may appear from time to time shall be excluded from registration where there is not available or has not been developed a suitable identifying color or medium; and, provided that in the absence of a suitable identifying color or medium, the commissioner shall have authority himself or through representatives designated by him to co-operate with manufacturers and distributors in the development of suitable safe guards; final decision, with due right of appeal, resting in the discretion of the board of agriculture. (1927, c. 53, s. 7; 1929, c. 196, s. 1; 1939, c. 284, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1939 amendment this section exempted sales in small packages from the requirement of tax stamps. Section 4 of the amendatory act repealed the 1929 act.

§ 106-59. Statement mailed; what shown.—Every manufacturer and dealer who has registered paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide for sale within the state of North Carolina shall mail to the commissioner on forms provided by the commissioner, within forty-eight hours of each sale, shipment or delivery into or within North Carolina, a statement showing the official name of the insecticide or fungicide, the guaranteed analysis, the quantity and the name and address of the purchaser to whom sold, and the initials and numbers of the car, if sold in car lots. (1927, c. 53, s. 8; 1933, c. 233; 1939, c. 284, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, chapter 233, which substituted the word "poisonous" for the word "other" between the words "any" and "insecticide", was repealed by the 1939 amendment.

§ 106-60. Entrance for inspection or sampling; analysis.—The Commissioner in person, or by deputy, shall have the power to enter into any car, warehouse, store, building, boat, vessel or place supposed to contain insecticides or fungicides, for the purpose of inspection or sampling, and shall have the power to take samples for analysis from any lot, package or parcel of insecticides or fungicides. It shall be unlawful for any person to oppose entrance of said Commissioner or deputy or in any way interfere with the discharge of his duty. All analyses shall be made by the official methods of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of the United States, and shall be made by chemists of the Department of Agriculture. Where a method of analysis is required before the association of official agricultural chemists has adopted an official or tentative one, and pending appearance of an official method by the association of official agricultural chemists, such methods as may be available or may be developed, subject to approval by the board of agriculture, may be used; provided that such method upon being used shall be immediately available for use and checking to all persons, firms or corporations concerned, and results from such methods shall be subject to a reasonable period of consideration and hearings before any proceedings based upon them are instituted. (1927, c. 53, s. 9; 1939, c. 284, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added the last sentence.

§ 106-61. Use of stamp a second time; adulterated and misbranded articles; injunction.—It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer or distributor to sell, offer or expose for sale in this state any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticides or fungicides which are adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this article. Any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and any other insecticide or fungicide shall be deemed to be adulterated if its strength or purity fall below the professed standard or quality under which it is sold; or if any substance has been substituted wholly or in part for the article; or if any valuable constituent of the article has been wholly or in part abstracted; or if it be in any way depreciated or be in departure from the true and honest value represented. Paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and all other insecticides and fungicides shall be deemed to be misbranded if it carries any false or misleading statement upon or attached to the lot, package or parcel, or, if any false or misleading statements concerning its value are made on the lot, package or parcel, or in any printed advertising matter issued by the manufacturer or dealer that registered paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, or if the number of net pounds set forth upon the package, lot, or parcel is not correct. It shall be the duty of the Attorney-General when requested by the Commissioner, to institute suit to enjoin any manufacturer, or dealer, resident or non-resident, from manufacturing or selling or soliciting orders for the sale of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, for use in this State without complying with all the provisions in this article, which injunction may be issued without bond or advance cost. (1927, c. 53, s. 10; 1939, c. 284, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment substituted the first two sentences above in lieu of the former first sentence.

§ 106-62. Seizure of articles.—Any paris green, calcium arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide sold, offered or exposed for sale within this State in violation of any provisions of the article shall be liable to seizure at the instance of the Commissioner. Upon complaint being filed by the Commissioner in person or by duly authorized deputy, with any district judge or a justice of the peace, describing the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide and the place where it is believed paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide is sold, offered or exposed for sale in violation of the law, such district judge or justice of the peace shall issue his warrant directing the sheriff or any of his deputies to search such place, and if the law is being violated to seize the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, and it shall be the duty of the officer to whom such warrant is delivered to search the place described in the warrant and to seize all paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide found there in violation of the law, and if the admission into such place is refused, the officer executing said warrant is hereby authorized to force open the same. If it shall appear at the hearing before the district judge or a justice of the peace, who issued said writ, that the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide was sold, exposed or offered for sale in violation of any provisions of this article, said paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide shall be condemned and delivered to an officer or agent of the Commissioner, to be destroyed or to be sold at his discretion. The sale shall be made at the court-house in the county in which the seizure is made. Said paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide shall be sampled and subjected to analysis if necessary or tagged, or branded and otherwise brought into compliance with the requirements of this article, before being sold. The Commissioner, however, may, in his discretion, release the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide seized or condemned upon the payment of the required tax or charge and all costs and expenses incurred in any proceedings connected with such seizure and condemnation, and upon compliance with all other requirements of this article. (1927, c. 53, s. 11.)

§ 106-63. Copy of analysis in evidence.—A copy of the analysis made by any chemist of the Department of Agriculture of any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide certified to by him shall be admissible as evidence in any court of the State on trial of any issue involving the merits of the insecticides and fungicides covered by this article. (1927, c. 53, s. 12.)

§ 106-64. Articles in transit. — Nothing contained in this article shall interfere with paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide passing through the State in transit, nor shall it apply to the delivery of materials to manufacture paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide for manufacturing purposes. (1927, c. 53, s. 13.)

§ 106-65. Violation of article.—Any manufacturer or dealer violating any provision or section in this article, or any rule, regulation or standard of the Department of Agriculture promulgated under this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars for each offense. (1927, c. 53, s. 14.)

Art. 5. Seed Cotton and Peanuts.

§ 106-66. Sale of seed-cotton or peanuts.—If any person shall buy, sell, deliver or receive for a price, or for any reward whatever, any cotton in the seed where the quantity is less than what is usually baled, or any peanuts, and shall fail to enter upon a book to be kept by him for such purpose, and to be open to inspection by the public at all business hours, the date of such buying or receiving, the number of pounds in each lot, the true name of the person or persons from whom bought or received and that he is the owner thereof, the name of the owner of the land on which such cotton is raised, and the price paid for the same per pound, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. In all prosecutions under this section it shall only be necessary for the state to allege and prove that the defendant bought or received the seed-cotton or peanuts as charged, and the burden shall be upon the defendant to show that the provisions of this section have been complied with. (Rev., s. 3812; 1887, c. 199; 1905, cc. 201, 523; 1929, c. 281, s. 1; C. S. 5083.)

Editor's Note.—As to constitutionality of statute similar to this section, see State v. Moore, 104 N. C. 714, 10 S. E. 143.

§ 106-67. Traveling seed-cotton buyers must report; failure a misdemeanor.—Any person engaged in traveling from house to house or from place to place buying or trading for seed-cotton shall keep a correct record of the name and post-office address of each person from whom he buys or with whom he trades for seed-cotton, together with the number of pounds he buys or trades for from each person and the amount paid in each case.

On or before the third day of each month such person shall file a sworn statement with the clerk of the superior court of the county in which he made such purchases or trades for seed-cotton, showing the name and postoffice address of each person from whom he bought or with whom he traded during the next preceding month, together with the amount paid and the number of pounds of such cotton received from each person.

Any person failing or refusing to comply with this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor for each offense, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1919, c. 43; C. S. 5084.)

Art. 6. Cotton-Seed Meal.

§ 106-68. Cotton-seed meal defined; inspection tax.—Cotton-seed meal is a product of the cotton seed only, composed principally of the kernel with such portion of the fiber or hull and oil as may be left in the course of manufacture of cotton-seed oil, and when sold for use as fertilizer or feed shall be subject to an inspection tax of twenty-five cents per ton and be subject to inspection as other fertilizers or fertilizing materials, unless sold to manufacturers for use in manufacturing fertilizers or feed. (1917, c. 242, s. 1; 1939, c. 286; C. S. 4704.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment substituted "twenty-five" for "twenty" in regard to amount of tax.

§ 106-69. Bags to be branded with specified particulars.—All cotton-seed meal offered for sale, unless sold to manufacturers for use in manufacturing fertilizers or feed, shall have plainly branded on the bag containing it, or on the tag attached thereto, the following data:

1. Cotton-seed meal (with brand and grade).
2. Weight of package.
3. Ammonia and protein.
4. Name and address of manufacturer. (1917, c. 242, s. 2; C. S. 4705.)

§ 106-70. Grades and standards established.—No person, firm, or corporation shall offer for sale any cotton-seed meal except as provided in § 106-69, graded and classed as follows:

1. Prime cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least seven and one-half per cent of ammonia or thirty-eight and fifty-six one-hundredths per cent of protein.

2. Good cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least seven per cent of ammonia, or thirty-six and no one-hundredths per cent of protein.

3. Ordinary cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least six and one-half per cent of ammonia, or thirty-three and forty-four hundredths per cent of protein. (1917, c. 242, s. 3; C. S. 4706.)

The purpose of these sections is to promote agriculture by insuring the sale of fertilizers containing plant food in certain proportions and of sufficient quality and quantity and to protect those who cultivate the soil from imposition and fraud. State v. Faulkner, 175 N. C. 787, 789, 95 S. E. 171.

§ 106-71. Rules to enforce statute; misdemeanor.—The board of agriculture is empowered and directed to make such rules and regulations as are necessary to a proper carrying into effect of the provisions of this article, and to provide for all such tags as manufacturers may demand, upon paying the tax therefor. Any person wilfully violating any of the regulations made by the board of agriculture in connection with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1917, c. 242, s. 4; C. S. 4707.)

§ 106-72. Sales without tag; misuse of tag; penalty; forfeiture.—Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any cotton-seed meal without having attached thereto such labels, stamps, and tags as are required by law, or who shall use the required tag a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any cotton-seed meal, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, offered for sale, or removed, to be recovered by the commissioner of agriculture by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid one-half to the informant and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such cotton-seed meal shall be condemned, as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the department to have an analysis made of the same; cause printed tags or labels expressing the proper grade to be put upon each bag, barrel, or package, and shall fix the commercial value at which it may be sold; and it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or remove any such cotton-seed meal, or for any agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such cotton-seed meal in violation of this section. (1917, c. 242, s. 4; C. S. 4708.)

What Constitutes "Unlawful Removal."—Unlawful removal relates to those who "sell or offer for sale any cotton-seed meal without having the proper tags attached," and not the farmer, for whose protection the statutes were enacted, so as to make him liable for removing from the depot bags of cotton-seed meal, to be used under his crops, and which had been bought by and shipped him for that purpose. Johnson v. Carson, 161 N. C. 372, 77 S. E. 307.

§ 106-73. Sales contrary to article a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm, or corporation who shall sell or offer for sale or shall act as agent of or broker for the manufacturer of or dealer in any cotton-seed meal contrary to the provisions above set forth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3811; 1917, c. 242, s. 5; 1919, c. 13, s. 2; C. S. 4709.)

In General.—The fact that neither knowledge of the defect nor an intent to defraud is made an element in the criminal offense is strong reason for confining the statute to the manufacturer, who should be held to have knowledge of the composition of the fertilizer he offers for sale, and to the owner, not a manufacturer, and his agent with authority to sell, who have the opportunity to test the fertilizer before they sell it. State v. Faulkner, 175 N. C. 787, 790, 95 S. E. 171.

For violation of this section, see State v. Oil Co., 154 N. C. 635, 70 S. E. 741.

§ 106-74. Forfeiture for unauthorized sale; release from forfeiture.—All cotton-seed meal sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions above set forth shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner of agriculture. The net proceeds from such sale shall be placed in the general fund of the department and accounted for upon its books. The commissioner, however, shall have the discretion to release the meal so seized and condemned upon compliance with the law as set forth above and the payment of all costs and expenses incurred by the department in any proceedings connected therewith. (1917, c. 242, s. 5; C. S. 4710.)

§ 106-75. Method of seizure and sale on forfeiture.—Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner of agriculture by an officer or agent of the department; the sale to be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in said county, or if no newspaper is published in said county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the grade of the meal, the quantity, why seized and offered for sale. (1917, c. 242, s. 5; C. S. 4711.)

§ 106-76. Collection and analysis of samples.—The department of agriculture shall have the same authority and powers for taking and analyzing samples of cotton-seed meal as are provided in case of commercial fertilizers and fertilizer materials; and the same procedure as to law and regulations shall be followed in taking such samples of cotton-seed meal as are prescribed and followed for taking samples of fertilizer and fertilizer materials. (1919, c. 271; C. S. 4712.)

§ 106-77. Sales below guaranteed quality; duties of commissioner.—When the commissioner of agriculture shall be satisfied that any cotton-seed meal is five per cent below the guaranteed analysis, it shall be his duty to assess twice the value of said deficiency against the manufacturer, and if said cotton-seed meal shall fall as much as ten per cent below the guaranteed analysis it shall be his duty to assess three times the value of said meal and require that his findings of said deficiency be made good to all persons who, in the opinion of the commissioner, have purchased the said meal; and the commissioner may seize any meal belonging to said company, to the value of the deficiency, if the deficiency shall not be paid within thirty days after notice to the company. If the commissioner shall be satisfied that the deficiency in analysis was due to intention or fraud of the manufacturer, then the commissioner shall assess and collect from the manufacturer twice the amount above provided for and pay over the same to parties who purchased said meal. If any manufacturer shall resist such collection or payment, the commissioner shall immediately publish the analysis and the facts in the bulletin and in such newspapers in the state as he may deem necessary. (1917, c. 242, s. 7; C. S. 4713.)

§ 106-78. Adulteration prohibited.—It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer to adulterate cotton-seed meal in the process of manufacture or otherwise. (1917, c. 242, s. 8; C. S. 4714.)

Art. 7. Pulverized Limestone and Marl.

§ 106-79. Board of agriculture authorized to make and sell lime to farmers.—The North Carolina board of agriculture is authorized and directed, for the purpose of furnishing marl or limestone to the farmers of the state, to make such arrangements as they deem advisable for this purpose, and to this end may lease or purchase oyster shells in large quantities and beds of limestone, and erect machinery suitable for the preparation of the material for use by the farmers; and any lime so prepared and any by-products shall be sold for agricultural purposes to the citizens of the state at a reasonable cost which shall produce an amount of money sufficient to maintain and operate the plant. (1919, c. 182, s. 1; C. S. 4715.)

§ 106-80. Convict labor authorized.—With the approval of the governor, when requested by the board of agriculture, the chairman of state highway and public works commission may furnish a superintendent with a squad of able-bodied convicts, not to exceed fifty, to do such work as the commissioner, with the authority of the board, may deem necessary to mine, prepare, load and dispose of the material. The board shall pay the state quarterly such amount as shall be agreed upon by the chairman of state highway and public works commission and the board of agriculture for their work, out of the proceeds of the sales, and the state shall guard, feed, clothe, and work such convicts: Provided, that after the first year's operations the expenses of the work shall not exceed the amount of the sales. (1919, c. 182, s. 2; 1933, c. 172, s. 18; C. S. 4716.)

Art. 8. Sale, etc., of Agricultural Liming Material, etc.

§ 106-81. Regulation of sale, etc., of agricultural liming material, etc.—All agricultural liming material, agricultural liming material with potash, and land plaster, hereinafter named either as the aforesaid separate items, or collectively as "materials coming under this article," or as "said materials", to be sold, offered, or exposed for sale in this state, shall be subject to regulation as provided by the following sections of this article. (1941, c. 275, s. 1.)

§ 106-82. Registration of brands by manufacturers and vendors.—Every manufacturer or vendor proposing to sell, offer or expose for sale in this state, the materials coming under this article shall, annually on or before the first day of January of each year, or before offering said materials for sale in this state, register with the commissioner of agriculture, on forms to be furnished by said commissioner, each brand of the said materials that he proposes to offer for sale during the next ensuing calendar year, or remainder thereof, giving for each brand the information prescribed in the following subsections:

(a) Net weight when sold in packages.

(b) A brand or trade name truly descriptive of the product.

(c) The guaranteed analysis showing:

(1) In case of agricultural liming materials; the minimum per cent of calcium expressed as calcium carbonate (CaCO_3) and of magnesium expressed as magnesium carbonate (MgCO_3) if the product be unburned or a mixture of both burned and unburned material; or as calcium oxide (CaO) and magnesium oxide (MgO) if the product be in the burned state and, in either case, the total neutralizing value expressed as calcium carbonate equivalent or neutralizing equivalent, and the fineness of the material, excepting that guarantee of screen analysis shall not be required for the products from completely burned limestone or shells. (The terms "Calcium Carbonate Equivalent" and "Neutralizing Equivalent," for the purpose of this article, shall mean one and the same thing. Fineness shall be determined by screens complying with the specifications of the United States Bureau of Standards.)

(2) In case of agricultural liming material with potash, the same requirement as for agricultural liming material, subsection (c) (1) of this section, but including also the minimum per cent of available potash as the oxide (K_2O). (The potash content of agricultural liming material with potash shall not be below four percent, and the guarantee for said potash content shall be in whole numbers only.)

(3) In case of land plaster, the minimum per cent of calcium sulfate (CaSO_4).

(d) The name and address of the manufacturer or vendor guaranteeing the registration.

(e) In case of combinations of materials from different sources, the source, chemical form, and minimum per cent of each material in truly descriptive terms. (1941, c. 275, s. 2.)

§ 106-83. Labelling.—All of the said materials sold, offered, or exposed for sale in this state shall have attached thereto, or be accompanied by a plainly printed statement giving the information as required under § 106-82, subsections (a), (b), (c), (d) and (e). In case of materials sold in packages, the said information shall be plainly printed upon the package, or upon a tag or label attached thereto, of such quality and in such manner that it shall withstand normal handling, and, in case of material sold in bulk, the said statement shall be delivered to the purchaser either with the material, or with the invoice therefor. (1941, c. 275, s. 3.)

§ 106-84. Registration and tonnage fees; tags showing payment; license certificates.—(a) For the purpose of defraying expenses connected with the registration, inspection and analysis of the materials coming under this article, there shall be paid, by the manufacturers or vendors, to the department of agriculture, for each brand or grade of said materials registered as required under § 106-82, an annual registration fee of five dollars ($5.00) for each calendar year or part thereof, said fee to be paid at the time of registration.

(b) Likewise, in addition to the above stated registration fee there shall be paid upon said materials sold in this state, in the manner specified under subsection (c) of this section, tonnage fees as follows: For agricultural liming material, five cents per ton; for agricultural liming material with potash, twenty-five cents per ton; and for land plaster, five cents per ton; excepting that these fees shall not apply to materials which are sold to fertilizer manufacturers for the sole purpose of use in the manufacture of fertilizer.

(c) Each bag, parcel, or shipment of said materials shall have attached thereto a tag, or label, to be furnished by the department of agriculture, stating that all charges specified in this article have been paid, and the commissioner of agriculture, with the advice and consent of the board of agriculture is hereby empowered to prescribe a form for such tags, or labels, and to adopt such regulations as will insure enforcement of this article. Whenever any manufacturer or vendor shall have paid the required charges, his goods shall not be liable to any further tax, whether by city, town or county. Tax tags or labels shall be issued each year by the commissioner of agriculture, and sold to persons applying for same at the tax rate provided herein. Tags or labels left in the possession of persons registering the materials coming under this article, at the end of a calendar year, may be exchanged for tags or labels for the next succeeding year.

(d) To manufacturers or vendors of the materials covered in this article, who have registered their brands of the said materials and paid registration fees as required herein, shall be issued by the commissioner of agriculture, without further charge, certificates licensing said manufacturers or vendors, themselves or through their agents, to sell in this state the brands of materials named in said certificate, for the period of time designated therein. (1941, c. 275, s. 4.)

§ 106-85. Report of sales.—In addition to the statement required under § 106-82, each manufacturer or vendor of the materials covered in this article shall, on or before the first day of February of each year, file with the department of agriculture a written report showing the total number of net tons of each brand and grade of the said materials sold by him, or his representatives or agents in this state, during the last preceding year. License for the sale of said materials within this state shall not be issued for a succeeding year to any manufacturer or vendor for the continued sale of his product unless and until said report has been made. (1941, c. 275, s. 5.)

§ 106-86. Administration; inspections, sampling and analysis.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of agriculture to institute the necessary proceedings and have prepared the necessary equipment to put into effect the provisions of this article, and to authorize the collecting of official samples of the materials covered by it, to have them analyzed, and to have results published for the information of the public. For this purpose such inspectors or representatives as he may duly authorize shall have full access, ingress and egress to and from all places of business, manufacture, storage, transportation, handling or sale of any of the said materials. They shall also have power to open any container or package containing or supposed to contain any of the said materials, and to take therefrom samples for analysis. The official methods and recommendations of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists as to sampling and analyzing shall be used in administering this article. (1941, c. 275, s. 6.)

§ 106-87. Deficiencies; refunds to consumers.—Should any of the materials coming under this article be found, by procedures authorized thereunder, to be deficient in the constituents as claimed by the manufacturer or vendor thereof, said manufacturer or vendor, upon being officially notified of such deficiency by the commissioner of agriculture, shall, within ninety days following such notification, make refunds to the consumers of the deficient materials as follows: In case of "agricultural liming material" or "agricultural liming material with potash", excepting potash deficiency; of the latter, if the deficiency be five per cent or more, there shall be refunded an amount equal to three times the value of such deficiency. In case of "potash" deficiency in "agricultural liming material with potash," there shall be refunded an amount equal to three times the value of the deficiency, if such deficiency is in excess of forty points (which shall mean 0.40 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed four per cent; fifty points (which shall mean 0.50 of one per cent) on goods that are guaranteed five per cent up to and including eight per cent; and sixty points (which shall mean 0.60 of one per cent) on goods guaranteed nine per cent and up to and including twenty per cent; and one hundred points (which shall mean 1.00 per cent) on goods guaranteed over twenty per cent; and in case of land plaster, for deficiencies in excess of one per cent, there shall be refunded an amount equal to three times the value of the deficiency. Values shall be based on the selling price of said materials. When said consumers cannot be found within the above specified time, refunds shall be forwarded to the commissioner of agriculture for deposit with the state treasurer to the credit of the department of agriculture, where said refund shall be held for payment to the proper consumer upon order of said commissioner. Where the consumer to whom the refund is due cannot be found within a period of two years, such refund shall, after said period, revert to the department of agriculture for expenditure by said commissioner in promoting the agricultural program of the state. (1941, c. 275, s. 7.)

§ 106-88. Violations and penalties.—Any person or persons selling, offering or exposing for sale in this state any of the materials covered in this article, without first having registered said materials, paid the fees required, secured the required license, and otherwise complied with the requirements of this article; or who shall have caused to be submitted, or to be associated with said registrations or materials, false, fraudulent, or misleading statements; or who shall have caused to be incorporated into said materials any substances which shall be harmful to plants or plant growth; shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00) for the first offense and not less than one hundred dollars for each subsequent offense. (1941, c. 275, s. 8.)

§ 106-89. Certified analysis as evidence.—In the trial of any suit or action wherein there is called in question the value of composition of any of the materials covered by this article, a certified statement of the analysis made by the chemists of the department of agriculture shall be admissible as prima facie evidence of the content, value, or composition of said materials. (1941, c. 275, s. 9.)

§ 106-90. Revocation of licenses; seizure of materials.—The commissioner of agriculture is hereby authorized to revoke any license and require forfeit of fees paid under such license when it is ascertained that the registration upon which said license was issued has given false information in its statement relative to the kind, quality, composition or fineness of the materials sold, or offered for sale, under the provisions of this article; and to seize and withhold from sale or distribution any such materials where it is shown that they are being dispensed in violation of said article. (1941, c. 275, s. 10.)

§ 106-91. Regulations and standards.—The commissioner of agriculture, under the authority of the board of agriculture, is further empowered to prescribe and enforce such reasonable rules and regulations relating to the sale of the materials covered in this article as are consistent with the purpose of the article and are deemed necessary to carry into effect its full intent and meaning; and, conjointly with the state board of agriculture and the director of the North Carolina Experiment Station, to formulate and prescribe such definitions and standards as may be required for said purpose. (1941, c. 275, s. 11.)

§ 106-92. Construction of article.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to restrict or avoid sales or exchanges of the materials coming under this article to each other by importers, manufacturers or manipulators who mix said materials for sale, or as preventing the free and unrestricted shipments of said materials to manufacturers or manipulators who have registered their brands as required by the provisions of this article. (1941, c. 275, s. 12.)

Art. 9. Commercial Feeding Stuffs.

§ 106-93. Packages to be marked with statement of specified particulars.—Every lot or parcel of concentrated commercial feeding stuff sold, offered or exposed for sale within this state shall have affixed thereto or printed thereon, in a conspicuous place on the outside thereof, a legible and plainly printed statement in the English language clearly and truly certifying the weight of the package; the name, brand, or trade-mark under which the article is sold; the name and address of the manufacturer, jobber, or importer; the names of each and all ingredients of which the article is composed; a guarantee that the contents are pure and unadulterated, and a statement of the maximum percentage it contains of crude fiber, and the percentage of crude fat, and the percentage of crude protein, and the percentage of carbohydrates, allowing one per cent of nitrogen to equal six and one-fourth per cent of protein, all four constituents to be determined by the methods in use at the time by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of the United States. (1909, c. 149, s. 1; C. S. 4724.)

Implied Warranty.—Under the provisions of this section and sections 106-95 and 106-100, there is an implied warranty that foodstuff sold for cattle is reasonably fit for the purpose intended, and that it is not composed of harmful or deleterious substances that will produce injury or death to the cattle fed therewith. Poovy v. International Sugar Co., 191 N. C. 722, 133 S. E. 12.

§ 106-94. Weight of packages prescribed.—All concentrated commercial feeding stuffs, except that in bags or packages of five pounds or less, shall be in standard weight bags or packages of ten, twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five, one hundred, one hundred and twenty-five, one hundred and fifty, one hundred and seventy-five, and two hundred pounds. (1909, c. 149, s. 1; 1943, c. 225, s. 1; C. S. 4725.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment inserted the exception clause and added "ten" to the list of weights. Section 6 of the amendatory act, which also amended §§ 106-96, 106-102 and 106-106 and inserted §§ 106-97.1 and 106-102.1, provides that the act shall not repeal or nullify any of the provisions of the Uniform Weights and Measures Act [§§ 81-1 et seq.], or any rules and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

§ 106-95. "Concentrated commercial feeding stuffs" defined.—The term "concentrated commercial feeding stuffs" shall be held to include all feeds used for live stock, poultry and other animals, except hays, straws, and corn stover, when the same are not mixed with other materials, nor shall it apply to the whole seeds or grains of cereals when not mixed with other materials. (1909, c. 149, s. 2; 1939, c. 354, s. 1; C. S. 4726.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment made this section applicable to "other animals".

§ 106-96. Copy of statement and sample filed for registration.—Each and every manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or seller, before selling, offering or exposing for sale in this state any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, shall, for each and every feeding stuff bearing a distinguishing name or trade-mark, file for registration with the commissioner of agriculture a copy of the statement required in § 106-93, and accompany said statement, on request, by a sealed glass jar or bottle containing at least one pound of such feeding stuff to be sold, exposed or offered for sale, which sample shall correspond within reasonable limits to the feeding stuff which it represents in the percentages of crude protein, crude fat, crude fiber, and carbohydrates which it contains. For each and every statement so filed, there shall be paid to the commissioner of agriculture an annual registration fee of one dollar ($1.00), payable at the time of registration: Provided, that for each brand of commercial feeding stuff marketed in packages of five pounds or less, there shall be paid to the commissioner of agriculture an annual registration fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00): Provided, further, that manufacturers, importers, jobbers, agents, or sellers who pay the twenty-five dollars ($25.00) registration fee prescribed by the above provision on any feeding stuff, shall not be liable for the tonnage fee, prescribed by § 106-99, on the feeding stuff on which said twenty-five dollar ($25.00) fee is paid.

All registration fees are payable at the time of registration, and shall be payment in full of registration fees through December thirty-first of the year in which paid. All such feeds must be registered anew each year. (1909, c. 149, s. 3; 1939, c. 354, s. 2; 1943, c. 225, s. 2; C. S. 4727.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added the second sentence as it appeared prior to the 1943 amendment, which added the provisos thereto. The latter amendment also added the second paragraph. See note to § 106-94.

§ 106-97. Agent released by statement of manufacturer.—When a manufacturer, importer, or jobber of any concentrated commercial feeding stuffs files a statement, as required by § 106-96, no agent or seller of such manufacturer, importer, or jobber, shall be required to file such statement. (1909, c. 149, s. 4; C. S. 4728.)

§ 106-97.1. Registrants required to furnish commissioner with statement of tonnage sold in this state.—Each person registering feeding stuff under this article shall furnish the commissioner of agriculture with a written statement of the tonnage of each grade or brand of feed sold by him in this state. This statement shall include all sales for the periods from January first to and including December thirty-first of each year. If the above statement is not made within thirty days from the date of notification by the commissioner, he may, in his discretion, invoke a penalty of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) on, or cancel the registration of, any person failing to so comply. The commissioner, however, in his discretion, may grant a reasonable extension of time. (1943, c. 225, s. 3.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 106-94.

§ 106-98. Power to refuse or to cancel registration.—The commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to refuse the registration of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff under a name which would be misleading as to the materials of which it is composed, or when the names of each and all ingredients of which it is composed are not stated, or where it does not comply with the standards and rulings adopted by the board of agriculture. Should any concentrated commercial feeding stuffs be registered and it is afterwards discovered that they are in violation of any of the provisions of this article, the commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to cancel such registration. (1909, c. 149, s. 5; C. S. 4729.)

§ 106-99. Inspection tax on feeding stuffs; tax tags.—Each and every manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or seller of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, as defined in this article, shall pay to the commissioner of agriculture an inspection tax of twenty-five cents per ton for each ton of such commercial feeding stuff sold, offered or exposed for sale or distributed in this state, and shall affix to or accompany each car shipped in bulk, and to each bag, barrel, or other package of such concentrated commercial feeding stuff, a tag or stamp to be furnished by the commissioner of agriculture stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid: Provided, whenever any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, as herein above defined, is kept for sale in bulk, stored in bins or otherwise, the manufacturer, dealer, jobber, or importer keeping the same for sale shall keep on hand cards of proper size, upon which the statement required in § 106-93 is plainly printed; and if the feeding stuff is sold at retail in bulk, or if it is put up in packages belonging to the purchaser, the manufacturer, dealer, jobber, or importer shall furnish the purchaser with one of said cards upon which is or are printed the statement or statements described in this section, together with sufficient tax tags or stamps to cover same: Provided, that the inspection tax of twenty-five cents per ton shall not apply to whole seeds and grains when not mixed with other materials. It is further provided that, upon demand, said inspection tags or stamps shall be redeemed by the department issuing said tags or stamps, upon surrender of same, accompanied by an affidavit that the same have not been used: Provided, said tags or stamps shall be returned for redemption within the time fixed by the board of agriculture: Provided further, that nothing in this article shall be construed to restrict or prohibit the sale of concentrated commercial feeding stuff in bulk to each other by importers, manufacturers, or manipulators who mix concentrated commercial feeding stuff for sale. The commissioner of agriculture is hereby empowered to prescribe the form of such tax tags or stamps. (1909, c. 149, s. 6; 1939, c. 286; C. S. 4730.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment substituted "twenty-five" for "twenty" in two places, with reference to amount of tax.

Feeding Stuff below Grade and without Tags.—Upon a purchase of feeding stuff, below grade and without tags it is the duty of the purchaser to do what he reasonably can to lessen his loss, and the measure of his damages is the difference in value of the goods as it actually is and which it should have been under his contract, and such other expenses as were actually incurred by him in handling it. Jennette & Co. v. Hay, etc., Co., 158 N. C. 156, 157, 73 S. E. 884.

§ 106-100. Sale unauthorized by article or below grade; forfeiture; release from forfeiture.—Any manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or dealer who shall sell, offer or expose for sale or distribution in this state, any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, as defined above in this article, without complying with the requirements of the preceding sections of this article, or who shall sell or offer or expose for sale or distribution any concentrated commercial feeding stuff which contains substantially a smaller percentage of crude protein or crude fat or carbohydrates or a larger percentage of crude fiber than certified to be contained, or who shall adulterate any feeding stuff with foreign, mineral, or other substance or substances, such as rice chaff or hulls, peanut shells, corn cobs, oat hulls, or similar materials of little or no feeding value, or with substances injurious to the health of domestic animals, shall be guilty of a violation of this article, and the lot of feeding stuff in question shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner of agriculture, and the proceeds from said sales shall be covered into the state treasury for the use of the department executing the provisions of this article. The commissioner of agriculture, however, may in his discretion release the feeding stuff so withdrawn when the requirements of the provisions of this article have been complied with, and upon payment of all costs and expenses incurred by the department of agriculture in any proceedings connected with such seizure and withdrawal. (1909, c. 149, s. 7; C. S. 4731.)

§ 106-101. Method of seizure and sale on forfeiture.—Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner of agriculture or an officer of the department of agriculture. The sale shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in such county, or if no newspaper is published in such county, then by like advertisement published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the name or brand of the goods, the quantity, and why seized and offered for sale. (1909, c. 149, s. 7; C. S. 4732.)

§ 106-102. Collection and analysis of sample.—The commissioner of agriculture, together with his deputies, agents, and assistants, shall have free access to all places of business, mills, buildings, carriages, cars, vessels, and packages of whatsoever kind used in the manufacture, importation, or sale of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, and shall have power and authority to open any package containing or supposed to contain any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, and, upon tender and full payment of the selling price of said samples, to take therefrom, in the manner herein-after prescribed, samples for analysis; and he shall annually cause to be analyzed at least one sample so taken of every concentrated commercial feeding stuff that is found, sold, or offered or exposed for sale in this state under the provisions of this article. Said sample, not less than one pound in weight, shall be taken from not less than ten bags or packages, or if there be less than ten bags or packages, then the sample shall be taken from each bag or package, if it be in bag or package form, or if such feeding stuff be in bulk, then it shall be taken from ten different places of the lot. The sample or samples taken shall be kept a reasonable length of time by the department of agriculture, and on demand a portion of such sample or samples shall be furnished to the manufacturer, importer, or jobber of his feeds for examination by the chemists or other experts of said manufacturer, importer, or jobber. The department of agriculture is hereby authorized to publish from time to time in reports or bulletins the results of the analysis of such sample or samples, together with such additional information as circumstances advise: Provided, however, that if such sample or samples as analyzed differ from the statement prescribed in § 106-93, then, at least thirty days before publishing the results of such analysis, written notice shall be given of such results to the manufacturer, importer, agent, or jobber of such stock, if the name and address of such manufacturer, jobber, or importer be known: Provided further, that if the analysis of any such sample differs within reasonable limits only from the statement (prescribed in § 106-93) appearing upon the goods, the manufacturer shall be considered as having complied with the requirements of this article. (Rev., s. 3808; 1909, c. 149, s. 9; 1943, c. 225, s. 4; C. S. 4733.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment rewrote the last proviso. See note to § 106-94.

§ 106-102.1. Misbranding; penalty; payable to purchaser; value of feed; deficiencies of weight.—If the analysis shall show that any feed bearing a guaranteed analysis of twenty-four per cent protein or less falls as much as five per cent (five per cent of the guarantee) and not more than ten per cent (ten per cent of the guarantee) below the guaranteed analysis in protein, twice the value of such deficiency shall be assessed against the manufacturer or guarantor. If the feed shall fall over ten per cent below the guaranteed analysis in protein, the penalty assessed shall be three times the value of the deficiency.

If the analysis shall show that any feed bearing a guaranteed analysis of more than twenty-four per cent protein falls as much as two per cent (two per cent of the guarantee) and not more than four per cent (four per cent of the guarantee) below the guaranteed analysis in protein, twice the value of such deficiency shall be assessed against the manufacturer or guarantor. If the feed shall fall over four per cent below the guaranteed analysis in protein, the penalty assessed shall be three times the value of the deficiency. If the analysis shall show that any feed is deficient in fat by more than fifty hundredths per cent (one half unit), the penalty shall be twice the value of the deficiency.

If the fiber content of any lot of feed shall exceed the maximum guarantee by more than two per cent (two units), a penalty shall be assessed equal to ten per cent of the value of the feed.

If the microscopic analysis reveals that the feed is mislabeled, the commissioner may, in his discretion, assess a penalty equal to ten per cent of the value of the feed.

The minimum penalty under any of the foregoing provisions shall in no case be less than three dollars ($3.00), regardless of the value of the deficiency.

Within sixty days from the date of notice by the commissioner to the manufacturer, guarantor, dealer, or agent, all penalties assessed and collected under this section shall be paid to the purchaser of the lot of feed represented by the sample analyzed. When such penalties are paid, receipts shall be taken and promptly forwarded to the commissioner of agriculture. If said consumers cannot be found, the amount of the penalty assessed shall be paid to the commissioner of agriculture who shall deposit the same in the department of agriculture fund, of which the state treasurer is custodian. Such sums as shall thereafter be found to be payable to consumers on lots of feed against which penalties were assessed shall be paid from said fund on order of the commissioner of agriculture. After a twelve months' period such sums as have not been paid to consumers on lots of feed against which said penalties were assessed may be used by the commissioner of agriculture as he may see fit for the purpose of promoting the agricultural program of the state.

The approximate retail value per pound and per unit of the various guarantees shall be computed by the commissioner and be used to establish the relative value of the feed sold or offered for sale in this state. The commissioner is authorized to furnish, upon application, such relative values to any persons engaged in the manufacture or sale of feed in this state.

If any feed is found by an inspector of the department of agriculture to be short in weight, the manufacturer or guarantor of said feed shall, within ten days of official notice from the department of agriculture, make good such deficiency and pay to the consumer a penalty equal to four times the value of the actual shortage. (f) If any word, statement, or other information required by or under authority of this article to appear on the label or labeling is not prominently placed thereon with such conspicuousness (as compared with other words, statements, designs, or devices, in the labeling) and in such terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by the ordinary individual under customary conditions of purchase and use.

(g) If it purports to be or is represented as a food for which a definition and standard of identity has been prescribed by regulations as provided by § 106-128, unless (1) it conforms to such definition and standard, and (2) its label bears the name of the food specified in the definition and standard, and, in so far as may be required by such regulations, the common names of optional ingredients (other than spices, flavoring, and coloring) present in such food.

(h) If it purports to be or is represented as (1) a food for which a standard of quality has been prescribed by regulations as provided by § 106-128 and its quality falls below such standard unless its label bears, in such manner and form as such regulations specify, a statement that it falls below such standard; or (2) a food for which a standard or standards of fill of container have been prescribed by regulation as provided by § 106-128, and it falls below the standard of fill of container applicable thereto, unless its label bears, in such manner and form as such regulations specify, a statement that it falls below such standard.

(i) If it is not subject to the provisions of paragraph (g) of this section, unless its label bears (1) the common or usual name of the food, if any there be, and (2) in case it is fabricated from two or more ingredients, the common or usual name of each such ingredient; except that spices, flavorings, and colorings, other than those sold as such, may be designated as spices, flavorings, and colorings without naming each: Provided, that, to the extent that compliance with the requirements of clause (2) of this paragraph is impracticable or results in deception or unfair competition, exemptions shall be established by regulations promulgated by the board of agriculture.

(j) If it purports to be or is represented for special dietary uses, unless its label bears such information concerning its vitamin, mineral, and other dietary properties as the board of agriculture determines to be, and by regulations prescribes as, necessary in order to fully inform purchasers as to its value for such uses.

(k) If it bears or contains any artificial flavoring, artificial coloring, or chemical preservative, unless it bears a label stating that fact: Provided, that to the extent that compliance with the requirements of this paragraph is impracticable, exemptions shall be established by regulations promulgated by the board of agriculture: Provided, further, that for the purpose of complying with the provisions of this article, as it pertains to bottled soft drinks, either the bottle crown or the crown together with the blown-in-the-bottle or annealed-to-the-bottle statements, now in usual and common use in this state, shall be deemed sufficient labeling and no paper label shall be necessary. (1939, c. 320, s. 11.)

§ 106-131. Permits governing manufacture of foods subject to contamination with micro-organisms.—(a) Whenever the commissioner of agriculture finds after investigation by himself or his duly authorized agents, that the distribution in North Carolina of any class of food may, by reason of contamination with micro-organisms during manufacture, processing, or packing thereof in any locality in this state, be injurious to health, and that such injurious nature cannot be adequately determined after such articles have entered commerce, the commissioner, then, and in such case only, shall promulgate regulations providing for the issuance, to manufacturers, processors, or packers of such class of food in such locality, of permits to which shall be attached such conditions governing the manufacture, processing, or packing of such class of food, for such temporary period of time, as may be necessary to protect the public health; and after the effective date of such regulations, and during such temporary period, no person shall introduce or deliver for introduction into commerce any such food manufactured, processed, or packed by any such manufacturer, processor, or packer unless such manufacturer, processor, or packer holds a permit issued by the commissioner as provided by such regulations.

(b) The commissioner of agriculture is authorized to suspend immediately upon notice any permit issued under authority of this section if it is found that any of the conditions of the permit have been violated. The holder of a permit so suspended shall be privileged at any time to apply for the reinstatement of such permit, and the commissioner shall immediately after prompt hearing and an inspection of the establishment, reinstate such permit if it is found that adequate measures have been taken to comply with and maintain the conditions of the permit, as originally issued, or as amended.

(c) Any officer or employee duly designated by the commissioner of agriculture shall have access to any factory or establishment, the operator of which holds a permit from the commissioner of agriculture for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the conditions of the permit are being complied with, and denial of access for such inspection shall be ground for suspension of the permit until such access is freely given by the operator. (1939, c. 320, s. 12.)

§ 106-132. Regulations by board of agriculture as to use of deleterious substances.—Any poisonous or deleterious substance added to any food, except where such substance is required in the production thereof or cannot be avoided by good manufacturing practice, shall be deemed to be unsafe for purposes of the application of clause (2) of § 106-129, subsection (a); but when such substance is so required or cannot be so avoided, the board of agriculture shall promulgate regulations limiting the quantity therein or thereon to such extent as the board finds necessary for the protection of public health, and any quantity exceeding the limits so fixed shall also be deemed to be unsafe for the purposes of the application of clause (2) of § 106-129, subsection (a). While such a regulation is in effect limiting the quantity of any such substance in the case of any food, such food shall not, by reason of bearing or containing any added amount of such substance, be considered to be adulterated within the meaning of clause (1) § 106-129, subsection (a). In determining the quantity of such added substance to be tolerated in or on different articles of food, the board shall take into account the extent to which the use of such substance is required or cannot be avoided in the production of each such article, and the other ways in which the consumer may be affected by the same or other poisonous or deleterious substances. (1939, c. 320, s. 13.)

§ 106-133. Drugs deemed to be adulterated.—A drug or device shall be deemed to be adulterated—

(a) (1) If it consists in whole or in part of any filthy, putrid or decomposed substance; or (2) if it has been produced, prepared, packed, or held under insanitary conditions whereby it may have been contaminated with filth, or whereby it may have been rendered injurious to health, or (3) if it is a drug and its container is composed, in whole or in part, of any poisonous or deleterious substance which may render the contents injurious to health; or (4) if it is a drug and it bears or contains, for purposes of coloring only, a coal-tar color other than one from a batch certified by the United States department of agriculture.

(b) If it purports to be or is represented as a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium, and its strength differs from, or its quality or purity falls below, the standard set forth in such compendium. Such determination as to strength, quality, or purity shall be made in accordance with the tests or methods of assay set forth in such compendium, or in the absence of or inadequacy of such tests or methods of assay, those so prescribed by the United States department of agriculture. No drug defined in an official compendium shall be deemed to be adulterated under this paragraph because it differs from the standard of strength, quality, or purity thereof set forth in such compendium, if its difference in strength, quality, or purity from such standard is plainly stated on its label. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States Pharmacopoeia and the Homoeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States it shall be subject to the requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homoeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the Homoeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States and not to those of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

(c) If it is not subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section and its strength differs from, or its purity or quality falls below, that which it purports or is represented to possess.

(d) If it is a drug and any substance has been (1) mixed or packed therewith so as to reduce its quality or strength; or (2) substituted wholly or in part therefor. (1939, c. 320, s. 14.)

§ 106-134. Drugs deemed misbranded.—A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded—

(a) If its labeling is false or misleading in any particular.

(b) If in package form unless it bears a label containing (1) the name and place of business of the manufacturer, packer, or distributor; and (2) an accurate statement of the quantity of the contents in terms of weight, measure, or numerical count: Provided, that under clause (2) of this paragraph reasonable variations shall be permitted, and exemptions as to small packages shall be established, by regulations prescribed by the board of agriculture.

(c) If any word, statement, or other information required by or under authority of this article to appear on the label or labeling is not prominently placed thereon with such conspicuousness (as compared with other words, statements, designs or devices, in the labeling) and in such terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by the ordinary individual under customary conditions of purchase and use.

(d) If it is for use by man and contains any quantity of the narcotic or hypnotic substance alphaeucaeine, barbituric acid, betaeucaeine, bromal, cannabis, carbomal, chloral, coca, cocaine, codeine, heroin, marihuana, morphine, opium, paraldehyde, peyote, of sulphonmethane; or any chemical derivative of such substances, which derivative has been by the board after investigation, found to be, and by regulations under this article, designated as, habit forming; unless its label bears the name and quantity or proportion of such substance or derivative and in juxtaposition therewith the statement "Warning—May be habit forming."

(e) If it is a drug and is not designated solely by a name recognized in an official compendium unless its label bears (1) the common or usual name of the drug, if such there be; and (2) in case it is fabricated from two or more ingredients, the common or usual name of each active ingredient, including the kind and quantity or proportion of any alcohol, and also including, whether active or not, the name and quantity or proportion of any bromides, ether, chloroform, acetanilid, acetphenetidid, amidopyrine, antipyrine atropine, hyoscine, hyoscyamine, arsenic, digitalis, digitalis glucosides, mercury, ouabain, strophanthin, strychnine, thyroid, or any derivative or preparation of any such substances, contained therein: Provided, that to the extent that compliance with the requirements of clause (2) of this paragraph is impracticable, exemptions shall be established by regulations promulgated by the board of agriculture.

(f) Unless its labeling bears (1) adequate directions for use; and (2) such adequate warnings against use in those pathological conditions or by children where its use may be dangerous to health, or against unsafe dosage or methods or duration of administration or application, in such manner and form, as are necessary for the protection of users: Provided, that where any requirement of clause (1) of this paragraph, as applied to any drug or device, is not necessary for the protection of the public health, the board of agriculture shall promulgate regulations exempting such drug or device from such requirements.

(g) If it purports to be a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium, unless it is packaged and labeled as prescribed therein: Provided, that the method of packing may be modified with the consent of the board of agriculture. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States Pharmacopoeia and the Homoeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, it shall be subject to the requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia with respect to packaging and labeling unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homoeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the Homoeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States and not to those of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

(h) If it has been found by the department of agriculture to be a drug liable to deterioration, unless it is packaged in such form and manner, and its label bears a statement of such precautions, as the board of agriculture shall by regulations require as necessary for the protection of public health. No such regulation shall be established for any drug recognized in an official compendium until the commissioner of agriculture shall have informed the appropriate body charged with the revision of such compendium of the need for such packaging or labeling requirements and such body shall have failed within a reasonable time to prescribe such requirements.

(i) (1) If it is a drug and its container is so made, formed, or filled as to be misleading; or (2) if it is an imitation of another drug; or (3) if it is offered for sale under the name of another drug.

(j) If it is dangerous to health when used in the dosage, or with the frequency or duration prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling thereof.

(k) If it is a drug sold at retail for use by man and contains any quantity of aminopyrine, barbituric acid, cinchophen, dinitrophenol, or sulfanilamide; unless it is sold on a written prescription signed by a member of the medical, dental or veterinary profession who is licensed by law to administer such drug, and its label bears the name and place of business of the seller, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of such member of the medical, dental or veterinary profession.

(l) A drug sold on a written prescription signed by a member of the medical, dental or veterinary profession (except a drug sold in the course of the conduct of a business of selling drugs pursuant to a diagnosis by mail) shall be exempt from the requirements of this section if—(1) such member of the medical, dental or veterinary profession is licensed by law to administer such drug, and (2) such drug bears a label containing the name and place of business of the seller, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of such member of the medical, dental or veterinary profession. (1939, c. 320, s. 15.)

§ 106-135. Regulations for sale of new drugs.—(a) No person shall sell, deliver, offer for sale, hold for sale or give away any new drug unless (1) an application with respect thereto has become effective under section five hundred and five of the Federal Act, or (2) when not subject to the Federal Act unless such drug has been tested and has not been found to be unsafe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended or suggested in the labeling thereof, and prior to selling or offering for sale such drug, there has been filed with the commissioner of agriculture an application setting forth (a) full reports of investigations which have been made to show whether or not such drug is safe for use; (b) a full list of the articles used as components of such drug; (c) a full statement of the composition of such drug; (d) a full description of the methods used in, and the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing, and packing of such drug; (e) such samples of such drug and of the articles used as components thereof as the commissioner may require; and (f) specimens of the labeling proposed to be used for such drug.

(b) An application provided for in subsection (a) (2) of this section shall become effective on the sixtieth day after the filing thereof, except that if the commissioner of agriculture finds after due notice to the applicant and giving him an opportunity for a hearing, that the drug is not safe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended or suggested in the proposed labeling thereof, he shall, prior to the effective date of the application, issue an order refusing to permit the application to become effective.

(c) This section shall not apply—(1) to a drug intended solely for investigational use by experts qualified by scientific training and experience to investigate the safety of drugs provided the drug is plainly labeled "For investigational use only"; or (2) to a drug sold in this state at any time prior to the enactment of this article or introduced into interstate commerce at any time prior to the enactment of the Federal Act; or (3) to any drug which is licensed under the virus, serum, and toxin Act of July first, one thousand nine hundred and two (U. S. C. one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four ed. title forty-two, chapter four).

(d) A drug dispensed on a written prescription signed by a physician, dentist, or veterinarian (except a drug dispensed in the course of the conduct of a business of dispensing drugs pursuant to diagnosis by mail), shall be exempt from the requirements of this section if (1) such physician, dentist, or veterinarian is licensed by law to administer such drug, and (2) such drug bears a label containing the name and place of business of the dispenser, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of such physician, dentist, or veterinarian.

(e) An order refusing to permit an application under this section to become effective may be revoked by the commissioner of agriculture. (1939, c. 320, s. 16.)

(1939, c. 307, s. 1; 1941, c. 290, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment made provision for cans of one-half pound. Prior to the amendment the percentage of moisture was one of the constituents of the required statement.

sealed can containing at least one pound of said dog food. (1939, c. 307, s. 3; 1941, c. 290, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the provision relating to percentage of moisture.

§ 106-149. Power of commissioner of agriculture to refuse or revoke registration upon failure to comply with regulations.—The commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to refuse the registration of any canned dog food under a name which would be misleading as to the materials of which it is composed, or when the names of each and all ingredients of which it is composed are not stated, or where it does not comply with the standards and rulings adopted by the board of agriculture. Should any canned dog foods be registered and it is afterwards discovered that they are in violation of any of the provisions of this article, the commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to cancel such registration. Furthermore, each such manufacturer, agent or distributor shall pay to the commissioner of agriculture an inspection tax at the rate of two cents for each carton of forty-eight cans and shall affix to each such carton a stamp to be furnished by the commissioner of agriculture stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid. The department of agriculture is hereby authorized to publish from time to time in reports or bulletins the results of the analysis of such samples. (1939, c. 307, s. 6.)

§ 106-152. Adoption of standards, etc.—The board of agriculture is empowered to adopt standards for canned dog foods and such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this article. (1939, c. 307, s. 7.)

The notice shall be written and mailed to the usual or known address, or left at the ordinary place of business of the owner or his agent. No damages shall be awarded the owner of such premises for entering thereon and destroying or otherwise treating any infested plant or crop, when done by the order of the board of agriculture. (Rev., s. 3981; 1897, c. 264, s. 3; 1909, c. 90, s. 1; C. S. 4898.)

§ 106-422. Right to enter and inspect premises.—Whenever the board of agriculture has reason to suspect that any pest, listed as dangerous, exists in any portion of the state, it shall cause an investigation to be made by some person capable of determining the specific identity of such pest, and, if it be found to exist, the board of agriculture shall further appoint a competent person as its agent to inspect such infested premises, and to take such measures for treating the same as the board may direct. Any duly authorized agent of the board of agriculture shall have authority to enter upon and inspect any premises between the hours of sunrise and sunset during every working day of the year. (Rev., s. 3982; 1897, c. 264, s. 4; 1909, c. 90, s. 1; C. S. 4899.)

§ 106-423. Preventing inspection or hindering execution of article a misdemeanor.—If any one shall seek to prevent inspection of his premises as provided in § 106-422, or shall otherwise interfere with any agent of the commission, or board of agriculture while in performance of his duties under § 106-422, he shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than five nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, or may be imprisoned for not less than ten nor more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3713; 1907, c. 876; C. S. 4900.)

Art. 37. Cotton Grading.

§ 106-424. Federal standards recognized.—The standards or grades of cotton established or which may be hereafter established by the secretary of agriculture by virtue of acts of congress shall be recognized as the standards in transactions by and between citizens of this state in transactions relating to cotton. (1915, c. 23, s. 1; C. S. 4901.)

§ 106-425. Duplicates of federal samples may be used.—The commissioner of agriculture shall obtain from the secretary of agriculture a duplicate of each of these samples as represent cotton produced in this state for the use of the citizens of the state who may desire to use them in settlement of any disputed transaction. (1915, c. 23, s. 2; C. S. 4902.)

§ 106-426. Expert graders to be employed; cooperation with United States Department of Agriculture.—The North Carolina department of agriculture shall have authority to employ expert cotton graders to grade cotton in this state under such rules and regulations as they may adopt. The above institutions may seek the aid of the United States department of agriculture in the prosecution of this work, and shall have authority to enter into such contracts or arrangements as shall be mutually agreeable in furtherance of the object and purpose of this article. (1915, c. 175, s. 1; C. S. 4903.)

§ 106-427. County commissioners to cooperate.—Any board of commissioners of any county in North Carolina is authorized and empowered to cooperate with either, or both, of the above-named institutions in aid of the purposes of this article; and shall have authority to appropriate such sums of money as the said board shall deem wise and expedient. (1915, c. 175, s. 2; C. S. 4904.)

§ 106-428. Grading done at owner's request; grades as evidence.—The expert graders employed by either of the above-named institutions, or by the United States government, shall have full right, power, and authority to grade any cotton in North Carolina upon the request of the owner of said cotton; and said graders shall grade and classify, agreeable to and in accordance with the standards or grades of cotton which are now or may hereafter be established by the secretary of agriculture by virtue of any act of congress. The grade, or classification, pronounced by said expert graders of all cotton graded by them shall be prima facie proof of the true grade or classification of said cotton, and shall be the basis of all cotton sales in this state. (1915, c. 175, s. 3; C. S. 4905.)

§ 106-429. Grader's certificate admissible as evidence.—In the event of any dispute or trial pending in any of the courts of this state, the certificate of any expert grader, employed as above provided, and acknowledged or proven before any clerk of the superior court of any county in the state, shall be admissible in evidence as to the grade or classification of cotton graded or classified by said expert. (1915, c. 175, s. 4; C. S. 4906.)

Art. 38. Marketing Cotton and Other Agricultural Commodities.

§ 106-430. Purpose of law.—In order to protect the financial interests of North Carolina by stimulating the development of an adequate warehouse system for cotton and other agricultural commodities, in order to enable growers of cotton and other agricultural commodities more successfully to withstand and remedy periods of depressed prices, in order to provide a modern system whereby cotton and other agricultural commodities may be more profitably and more scientifically marketed, and in order to give these products the standing to which they are justly entitled as collateral in the commercial world, a warehouse system for cotton and other agricultural products in the state of North Carolina is hereby established as hereinafter provided. (1919, c. 168, s. 1; 1921, c. 137, s. 1; 1941, c. 337, s. 1; C. S. 4925(a).)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1941 amendment this section applied only to cotton.

The 1941 act, amending several sections of this article and inserting § 106-431, provides that its provisions shall not apply to the storage of tobacco in any form.

Proper Parties in Action to Enforce Section. — The governor of the state, the State Board of Agriculture, and the state warehouse superintendent are proper parties plaintiff in action against the members of the State Tax Commission to require them to provide and enforce the machinery for the collection of the tax provided by this article. Bickett v. Tax Commission, 177 N. C. 433, 99 S. E. 415.

For a full discussion of the purpose and application of the former sections, see Bickett v. Tax Commissions, 177 N. C. 433, 99 S. E. 415.

§ 106-431. Definition of "other agricultural commodities." — The term "other agricultural commodities" as used in this article shall mean such agricultural commodities other than cotton as shall be designated by the board of agriculture, through rules and regulations adopted pursuant to this article, as suitable to be stored in the warehouses operating under this article. (1941, c. 337, s. 1½.)

§ 106-432. Board of agriculture administers law, makes rules, appoints superintendent. — The provisions of this article shall be administered by the state board of agriculture, through a suitable person to be selected by said board, and known as the state warehouse superintendent. In administering the provisions of this article the board of agriculture is empowered to make and enforce such rules and regulations as may be necessary to make effective the purposes and provisions of this article, and to fix and prescribe reasonable charges for storing cotton and other agricultural commodities in the local warehouses and publish the same from time to time as it may deem necessary. (1919, c. 168, s. 2; 1921, c. 137, s. 2; 1941, c. 337, s. 2; C. S. 4925(b).)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1941 amendment this section applied only to cotton.

§ 106-433. Employment of officers and assistants. — The board of agriculture shall have authority to employ a warehouse superintendent and necessary assistants, local managers, examiners, inspectors, expert cotton classers, and such other employees as may be necessary in carrying out the provisions of this article, and fix and regulate their duties. (1919, c. 168, s. 3; 1921, c. 137, s. 3; C. S. 4925(c).)

§ 106-434. Bonds of superintendent and employees.—The person named as state warehouse superintendent shall give bond to the state of North Carolina in the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) to guarantee the faithful performance of his duties, the expense of said bond to be paid by the state, to be approved as other bonds for state officers. The superintendent shall, to safeguard the interests of the state, require bonds from other employees authorized in § 106-433 in amounts as large at least as he may find ordinary business experience in such matters would suggest as ample. (1919, c. 168, s. 4; 1921, c. 137, s. 4; C. S. 4925(d).)

Liability for Loss as Affected by Negligence.—The larceny or loss of the cotton from a warehouse through no fault of the warehouseman does not relieve the warehouseman's bond of liability for a warehouseman as an insurer. Lacy v. Hartford Acci., etc., Co., 193 N. C. 179, 181, 136 S. E. 359.

Fraudulent Negotiation of Warehouse Receipt. — Where the superintendent of a warehouse delivers cotton, takes the endorsed receipts and instead of cancelling them negotiates a loan for his own benefit pledging the receipts as collateral, this is a clear breach of his duty for which an action on his bond will lie. Lacy v. Globe Indemnity Co., 189 N. C. 24, 126 S. E. 316.

§ 106-435. Fund for support of system; collection and investment.—In order to provide a sufficient indemnifying or guarantee fund to cover any loss not covered by the bonds hereinbefore mentioned, in order to provide the financial backing which is essential to make the warehouse receipt universally acceptable as collateral, and in order to provide that a state warehouse system intended to benefit all cotton growers in North Carolina shall be supported by the class it is designed to benefit, it is hereby declared: That on each bale of cotton ginned in North Carolina during the period from the ratification of this bill until June thirty, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, twenty-five (25) cents shall be collected through the ginner of the bale and paid into the state treasury, to be held there as a special guarantee or indemnifying fund to safeguard the state warehouse system against any loss not otherwise covered. The state tax commission shall provide and enforce the machinery for the collection of this tax, which shall be held in the state treasury to the credit of the state warehouse system. Not less than ten per centum of the entire amount collected from the per bale tax shall be invested in United States government or farm loan bonds or North Carolina bonds, and the remainder may be invested in amply secured first mortgages to aid and encourage the establishment of warehouses operating under this system, such investments to be made by the board of agriculture with the approval of the governor and attorney-general: Provided, such first mortgages shall be for not more than one-half the actual value of the warehouse property covered by such mortgages, and run not more than ten years: Provided further, that the interest received from all investments shall be available for the administrative expense of carrying into effect the provisions of this law, including the employment of such persons and such means as the state board of agriculture in its discretion may deem necessary: Provided further, that the guarantee fund, raised under the provisions of §§ 4907 to 4925 of the Consolidated Statutes of 1919, shall become to all intents and purposes a part of guarantee fund to be raised under this law and subject to all the provisions hereof. (1919, c. 168, s. 5; 1921, c. 137, s. 5; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 28; C. S. 4925(e).)

Constitutionality of Taxation under Section. — The tax, contemplated under this section, being uniform upon those of the class designated, and being laid upon a trade, whether that of cotton ginning or farming, is within the authority conferred on the Legislature to further "tax trades," etc., and is constitutional. Bickett v. Tax Commissions, 177 N. C. 433, 99 S. E. 415.

Loss Due to Failure to Issue Receipt Not Recoverable from State Treasurer.—A recovery may not be had against the State Treasurer out of the fund accumulated under this section, for a loss resulting to plaintiff by failure of a warehouse to issue official receipts for cotton to plaintiff as agreed, the receipts having been issued to the holder of a lien against the cotton and the warehouse having refused delivery of the cotton to plaintiff upon his demand, since the purpose of the act is to make warehouse receipts acceptable as collateral, and plaintiff is not the holder of the receipts. Northcutt v. People's Bonded Warehouse Co., 206 N. C. 842, 175 S. E. 165. [This case construes this section as it stood before the 1921 revision, but is applicable in its present form.]

Recovery on Bond.—Where a warehouse superintendent fraudulently negotiates spent warehouse receipts and the bona fide holder thereof recovers from the indemnifying fund provided by this section, the state may recover on the bond of the superintendent. The bond is the fund primarily liable. Lacy v. Globe Indemnity Co., 189 N. C. 24, 126 S. E. 316.

§ 106-436. Registration of gins; gin records and reports; payment of tax.—If the special levy authorized by § 106-446 is made, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of agriculture to require the registration of all gins operating within the state, and to furnish the certificates of registration, numbered serially, free upon application; and each person, firm, partnership, or corporation receiving the said certificate of registration shall post it conspicuously in the gin to which it applies. For failure to make application and secure such certificate of registration, and to post same as required in this section, before beginning operation, each person, firm, partnership, or corporation shall be subject to a penalty of five dollars ($5) for each and every day such gin shall be operated prior to securing and posting such certificate of registration. The penalty herein provided for shall be recovered by the state in a civil action to be brought by the state commissioner of agriculture in any court of competent jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to prosecute all such actions. Each person, firm, partnership, or corporation operating a gin shall keep a record, on forms furnished or approved by the commissioner of agriculture, showing the names and addresses of the owners of the cotton ginned, the number of bales ginned, and the date of each ginning; and each such operator of a gin shall report the number of bales ginned, and pay the tax levied in § 106-435 to the state at least once every thirty days after beginning operation, and shall send a true copy of the report to the commissioner of agriculture. (1921, c. 137, s. 6; C. S. 4925(f).)

§ 106-437. Qualifications of warehouse manager.—No man shall be employed as manager of a warehouse unless the members of the board of county commissioners and the president of some bank in the county in which the warehouse is operated shall certify to the state warehouse superintendent that the person desiring to be warehouse manager is in their opinion a man of good character, competent, and of good reputation, deserving the confidence of the people. (1919, c. 168, s. 6; 1921, c. 137, s. 7; C. S. 4925(g).)

lished by the federal government. (1919, c. 168, s. 9; 1921, c. 137, s. 8; C. S. 4925(h).)

§ 106-439. Duties of superintendent; manner of operating warehouse system.—The state warehouse superintendent shall have the power to lease for stated terms property for the warehousing of cotton and other agricultural commodities; Provided, no rent shall be paid until the operating expenses of each such warehouse so leased shall have been paid from the income of the warehouse so leased, and in no case shall the state be responsible for any rent except from the income of such warehouse so leased in excess of operating expenses; and said superintendent shall fix the terms upon which private or corporate warehouses may obtain the benefits of state supervision and operation. It shall be his special duty to foster and encourage the erection of warehouses in the various cotton-growing and agricultural counties of the state for operation under the terms of this article, and to provide an adequate system of inspection, and of rules, forms, and reports to insure the security of the system, such matters to be approved by the state board of agriculture. The violation of such rules by any officer of the system shall be a misdemeanor. Cotton and other agricultural products may be stored in such warehouses by any person owning them, and receive all of the benefits accruing from such state management; and any person permitted to store cotton or other products in any such warehouse shall pay to the manager of the warehouse such sum or sums for rent or storage as may be agreed upon, subject to § 106-432, by the manager, and such person desiring storage therein. (1919, c. 168, s. 10; 1921, c. 137, s. 9; 1941, c. 337, s. 3; C. S. 4925(i).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 act amended this section to read as set out above.

§ 106-440. Power of superintendent to sue or to be sued; liability for tort.—The said superintendent shall also have the power to sue, or to be sued, in the courts of this state in his official capacity, but not as an individual, except in case of tort or neglect of duty, when the action shall be upon his bond. Suits may be brought in the county of Wake or in the county in which the cause of action arose. (1919, c. 168, s. 11; 1921, c. 137, s. 10; C. S. 4925(j).)

§ 106-441. Grading and weighing of products; negotiable receipts; authentication of receipts.—When agricultural commodities other than cotton have been stored in warehouses operated under this article and have been graded and standardized in conformity with the grades and standards heretofore or hereafter promulgated by the board of agriculture, acting under the provisions of §§ 106-185 to 106-196, negotiable warehouse receipts of form and design approved by the board of agriculture may be issued. As soon as possible after any lint cotton, properly baled, is received for storage, the local manager shall, if it has not been done previously, have it graded and stapled by a federal or state classifier and legally weighed. Official negotiable receipts of the form and design approved by the board of agriculture shall be issued for such cotton under the seal and in the name of the state of North Carolina, stating the location of the warehouse, the name of the manager, the mark on said bale, the weight, the grade, and the length of the staple, so as to be able to deliver on surrender of the receipt the identical cotton for which it was given. On request of the depositor, negotiable receipts may be issued under this section omitting the statement of grade or staple, such receipt to be stamped on its face, "Not graded or stamped on request of the depositor." The warehouse manager shall fill in receipts issued under this section and they shall be signed by him or by the state warehouse superintendent or his duly authorized agent. If the local manager cannot issue a negotiable receipt complete for cotton or other agricultural commodities, he shall issue nonnegotiable memorandum receipts therefor, said memorandum receipts to be taken up and marked "canceled" by the local manager upon the delivery of negotiable receipts for such commodities. If the official negotiable receipt is issued for cotton or other agricultural commodities of which the manager is the owner, either solely or jointly or in common with others, the fact of such ownership must appear on the face of the receipt. No responsibility is assumed by the state warehouse system for fluctuations in weight due to natural causes; but in other respects the receipts issued under this section for cotton and other agricultural commodities shall be supported and guaranteed by the indemnifying fund provided in § 106-435. (1919, c. 168, s. 12; 1921, c. 137, s. 11; 1925, c. 225; 1941, c. 337, s. 4; C. S. 4925(k).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 act amended this section to read as set out above.

C. S. § 4918, superseded by this section, specifically stated that official receipts would carry "absolute title to the cotton." It may thus be doubted whether official receipts could be issued in the name of the owner, when the cotton was encumbered by a lien. Northcutt v. People's Bonded Warehouse Co., 206 N. C. 842, 175 S. E. 165.

The cases annotated below were decided under the law as formerly written.

Warehouseman as Insurer.—Where under a contract of bailment the bailee receives certain bales of cotton and stores them in his warehouse, under agreement to return the identical bales upon return of the warehouse receipts in the manner provided in the contract, the liability of the bailee is that of insurer, and it is liable in damages when it is prevented by theft from performing its contract, though without negligence on its part. Lacy v. Hartford Acci., etc., Co., 193 N. C. 179, 136 S. E. 359.

Same—Liability to State.—Under the provisions of the statute to provide improved marketing facilities for cotton, and the rules and regulations made by the State Board of Agriculture under section 106-432, and the warehouse receipts, made negotiable by this section, the warehouseman's liability to the State after it has paid the bailor for his stolen cotton, or the one entitled by the proper transfer of the certificate, is not dependent upon the exercise of due care by the warehouseman, or the absence of negligence by its employees or agents, for within the intent and meaning of the statute the liability of the warehouseman is that of insurer. Lacy v. Hartford Acci., etc., Co., 193 N. C. 179, 136 S. E. 359.

§ 106-442. Transfer of receipt; issuance and effect of receipt.—The official negotiable receipt issued under § 106-441 for cotton or other agricultural commodity so stored is to be transferable by written assignment and actual delivery, and the cotton or other agricultural commodity which it represents is to be deliverable only upon a physical presentation of the receipt, which is to be marked "Canceled," with date of cancellation, when the cotton or other agricultural commodity is taken from the warehouse. The said official negotiable receipt carries absolute title to the cotton or other agricultural commodity, it being the duty of the local manager accepting same for storage to satisfy himself as to the title to the same by requiring the depositor of the cotton or other agricultural commodity to sign a statement appearing on the face of the official receipt to the effect that there is no lien, mortgage, or other valid claim outstanding against such cotton or other agricultural commodity, and any person falsely signing such a statement shall be punished as provided for false pretenses in § 14-100. (1921, c. 137, s. 12; 1941, c. 337, s. 5; C. S. 4925(l).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment made this section applicable to "other agricultural commodity."

§ 106-443. Issuance of false receipt a felony; punishment.—The manager of any warehouse, or any agent, employee, or servant, who issues or aids in issuing a receipt for cotton or other agricultural commodity without knowing that such cotton or other agricultural commodity has actually been placed in the warehouse under the control of the manager thereof shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction be punished for each offense by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period of not less than one or more than five years, or by a fine not exceeding ten times the market value of the cotton or other agricultural commodity thus represented as having been stored. (1919, c. 168, s. 13; 1921, c. 137, s. 13; 1941, c. 337, s. 6; C. S. 4925(m).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment made this section applicable to "other agricultural commodity."

§ 106-444. Delivery of cotton without receipt or failure to cancel receipt.—Any manager, employee, agent, or servant who shall deliver cotton or other agricultural commodity from a warehouse under this article without the production of the receipt therefor, or who fails to mark such receipt "Canceled" on the delivery of the cotton or other agricultural commodity, shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or imprisonment not more than five years, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (1919, c. 168, s. 14; 1921, c. 137, s. 14; 1941, c. 337, s. 7; C. S. 4925(n).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment made this section applicable to "other agricultural commodity."

§ 106-445. Rules for issuance of duplicate receipts.—The state warehouse superintendent, or his duly authorized agent, and the manager of the local warehouse are authorized to issue a duplicate receipt for a lost or destroyed receipt, due record of the original receipt being found upon the books of the warehouse, only upon affidavit of the owner of the original that the original receipt has been lost or destroyed, and upon the owner's giving the state warehouse superintendent bond with approved security in an amount equal to the double value of the cotton or other agricultural commodity represented by the original receipt to indemnify the state warehouse superintendent and the local manager from loss or damage and the cost of any litigation. In determining the amount of the bond required under this section, the value of cotton shall be estimated at the highest market price of middling cotton during the preceding two years. The value of other agricultural commodities shall be estimated for this purpose in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the board of agriculture. (1919, c. 168, s. 15; 1921, c. 137, s. 15; 1941, c. 337, s. 8; C. S. 4925(o).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the words "or other agricultural commodity" and made other changes.

§ 106-446. State not liable on warehouse debts; tax on cotton continued if losses sustained.—No debt or other liability shall be created against the state by reason of the lease or operation of the warehouse system created by this article or the storage of cotton or other agricultural commodities therein, it being the purpose of this article to establish a self-sustaining system to operate as nearly as practicable at cost, without profit or loss to the state, except that expenses of supervision may be paid by the board of agriculture. While it is believed that the provisions and safeguards mentioned in this article, including the bonds required of all officers and supplemental indemnifying or guarantee fund mentioned in § 106-435, will insure the security of the system beyond any reasonable possibility of loss, nevertheless, in order to establish the principle that this system should be supported by those for whose especial financial benefit it is established, it is hereby provided that in the eventuality that the system should suffer at any time any loss not fully covered by the aforementioned bonds and indemnifying fund, such losses shall be made good by having the State Board of Assessment repeat for another twelve months selected by it the special levy on ginned cotton, as prescribed in § 106-435, for the two years ending June thirtieth of the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three. (1919, c. 168, s. 16; 1921, c. 137, s. 16; 1941, c. 337, s. 9; C. S. 4925(p).)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the words "or other agricultural commodities" in the first sentence of this section.

§ 106-447. Insurance of cotton; premiums; lien for insurance and storage charges.—The superintendent shall insure, or shall require the local manager to insure and keep insured for its full value, upon the best terms obtainable, by individual or blanket policy, all cotton and other agricultural commodities on storage against loss by fire and lightning. In case of loss, the superintendent shall collect the insurance due and pay the same, ratably, to those lawfully entitled to it, insurance policies to be in the name of the state and the premium collected from the owners of the cotton and other agricultural commodities, the state to have a lien on cotton and other agricultural commodities for insurance and storage charges as in the case of other public warehouses in the state. (1919, c. 168, s. 17; 1921, c. 137, s. 17; 1941, c. 337, s. 10; 1943, c. 474; C. S. 4925(q).)

The 1943 amendment added at the end of the first sentence the words "against loss by fire and lightning."

§ 106-448. Superintendent to negotiate loans on receipts and sell cotton for owners.—The state warehouse superintendent, in addition to the duties hereinbefore vested in him, is also permitted and empowered, upon the request of the owner or owners of the warehouse receipts and cotton or other agricultural commodities stored in such warehouses to aid, assist, and cooperate, or as the duly authorized agent of such owner or owners (which authorization shall be in writing), to secure and negotiate loans upon the warehouse receipts. And upon like written request or authorization of said owner or owners, and his or their duly authorized agent, he may sell and dispose of such warehoused cotton or other agricultural commodities for such owner or owners, either in the home or foreign markets, as may be agreed upon between such owner or owners and the said superintendent, in writing. And for said loan or sales the said superintendent shall charge reasonable and just commissions, without discrimination, all of which shall be accounted for and held as part of the fund for the maintenance and operation of the state warehouse system; Provided however, that the state incurs no liability whatever for any act or representation of the superintendent in exercising any of the permissions or powers vested in him in this section: Provided, further, that the bond of the superintendent will be liable for any unfaithful or negligent act of his by reason of which the owner or owners of such warehoused cotton or other agricultural commodities suffers damage or loss. (1919, c. 168, s. 18; 1921, c. 137, s. 18; 1941, c. 337, s. 11; C. S. 4925(r).)

§ 106-449. Construction of the 1941 amendment.—The provisions of Chapter 337 of the Public Laws of 1941, amending this article, shall not apply to the storage of tobacco in any form. (1941, c. 337, s. 11½.)

§ 106-450. Compliance with United States warehouse law.—The state warehouse superintendent may, upon approval of the board of agriculture, operate or cause to be operated, subject to the United States warehouse act, any or all of the warehouses leased by him under the provisions of this article, and he is authorized to comply with said United States warehouse act and the regulations thereunder. (1921, c. 137, s. 19; C. S. 4925(s).)

§ 106-451. Numbering of cotton bales by public ginneries; public gin defined.—Any person, firm or corporation operating any public cotton gin; that is, any cotton gin other than one ginning solely for the individual owner, owners, or operators thereof, shall hereafter be required to distinctly and clearly number, serially, each and every bale of cotton ginned, in one of the following ways: (1) mark in color upon the bagging of the bale, in figures; (2) attach a metal strip carrying the serial number to one of the ties of the bale and ahead of the tie lock, and so secure it that ordinary handling will not remove or disfigure the number; (3) impress the serial number upon one of the bands or ties around the bale. Any person, firm or corporation failing or refusing to comply with this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor for each and every offense, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1923, c. 167.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment directed that a colon be substituted for the period at the end of the section and the above proviso added.

A warehouse system to aid in the marketing of leaf tobacco is authorized by this section et seq. Champion Shoe Machinery Co. v. Sellers, 197 N. C. 30, 32, 147 S. E. 674.

Cited in Townsend v. Yeomans, 301 U. S. 441, 57 S. Ct. 842, 81 L. Ed. 1265.

Cross Reference.—As to provisions requiring accounts of sales and reports to commissioner, see §§ 106-456 et seq.

§ 106-454. Warehouse proprietor to render bill of charges; penalty.—The proprietor of each and every warehouse shall render to each seller of tobacco at his warehouse a bill plainly stating the amount charged for weighing and handling, the amount charged for auction fees, and the commission charged on such sale, and it shall be unlawful for any other charges or fees to be made or accepted. For each and every violation of the provisions of this article a penalty of ten dollars may be recovered by any one injured thereby. (Rev., s. 3044; 1895, c. 81, ss. 3, 4; C. S. 5126.)

§ 106-455. Tobacco purchases to be paid for by cash or check to order.—The proprietor of each and every warehouse shall pay for all tobacco sold in said warehouse either in cash or by giving to the seller a check payable to his order in his full name or in his surname and initials and it shall be unlawful to use any other method. Every person, firm or corporation violating the provisions hereof shall, in addition to any and all civil liability which may arise by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1931, c. 101, s. 1; 1939, c. 318.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added the second sentence. For discussion of section prior to amendment, see 9 N. C. Law Rev. 387.

Art. 40. Leaf Tobacco Sales.

§ 106-456. Accounts of warehouse sales required.—On and after the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and seven, the proprietor of each and every leaf tobacco warehouse doing business in this state shall keep a correct account of the number of pounds of leaf tobacco sold upon the floor of his warehouse daily. (1907, c. 97, s. 1; C. S. 4926.)

As to effective period of lien upon leaf tobacco sold in auction warehouse, see § 44-69.

§ 106-457. Monthly reports to commissioner; results classified.—On or before the tenth day of each succeeding month the said warehouse proprietors shall make a statement, under oath, of all the tobacco so sold upon the floor of his warehouse during the past month and shall transmit the said statement, at once, to the commissioner of agriculture at Raleigh, North Carolina. The report so made to the commissioner of agriculture shall be so arranged and classified as to show the number of pounds of tobacco sold for the producers of tobacco from first hand; the number of pounds sold for dealers; and the number of pounds resold by the proprietor of the warehouse for his own account or for the account of some other warehouse. (1907, c. 97, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 76; C. S. 4927.)

Editor's Note.—Formerly under this section, the date set for making the required statement was "on or before the fifth day of each succeeding month," instead of the tenth as changed by Public Laws 1921, Ex. Sess., ch. 76.

§ 106-458. Commissioner to keep record and publish in bulletin.—The commissioner of agriculture shall cause said statements to be accurately copied into a book to be kept for this purpose, and shall keep separate and apart the statements returned to him from each leaf tobacco market in the state, so as to show the number of pounds of tobacco sold by each market for the sale of leaf tobacco; the number of pounds sold by producers, and the number of pounds resold upon each market. The commissioner of agriculture shall keep said books open to the inspection of the public, and shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, after the receipt of the reports above required to be made to him on or before the tenth day of each month, cause the said reports to be published in the bulletin issued by the agricultural department and in one or more journals published in the interest of the growth, sale, and manufacture of tobacco in the state, or having a large circulation therein. (1907, c. 97, s. 3; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 76; C. S. 4928.)

Editor's Note.—Formerly, the two dates set under this section for the publication and receipt of reports were the tenth and fifth day of each month, respectively, instead of the fifteenth and tenth under the section as it now stands, the change having been effected by Public Law 1921, Ex. Sess., ch. 76.

§ 106-459. Penalty for failure to report sales.—Any warehouse failing to make the report as required by § 106-457 shall be subject to a penalty of twenty-five dollars and the costs in the case, to be recovered by any person suing for same in any court of a justice of the peace; and the magistrate in whose court the matter is adjudicated shall include in the cost of each case where the penalty is allowed one dollar, to be paid to the department of agriculture for expense of advertising. (1915, c. 31, s. 1; C. S. 4929.)

§ 106-460. Commissioner to publish failure; certificate as evidence.—The commissioner shall, on the 14th day of each month, publish in some newspaper the names of the tobacco warehouses that have failed to comply with this article.

The certificate of the commissioner under seal of the department shall be admissible as evidence the same as if it were deposition taken in form as provided by law. (1915, c. 31, ss. 2, 3; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 76; C. S. 4930.)

Editor's Note.—Formerly, the date set under this section for the publication of the names of delinquent tobacco warehouses was on the 12th day of each month, instead of the 14th under the section as it now stands, the change having been effected by Public Laws 1921, Ex. Sess., ch. 76.

§ 106-461. Nested, shingled or overhung tobacco.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell or offer for sale, upon any leaf tobacco warehouse floor, any pile or piles of tobacco, which are nested, or shingled, or overhung, or either as hereinafter defined:

1st. Nesting tobacco: That is, so arranging tobacco in the pile offered for sale that it is impossible for the buyer thereof to pull leaves from the bottom of such pile for the purpose of inspection;

2nd. Shingling tobacco: That is, so arranging a pile of tobacco that a better quality of tobacco appears upon the outside and tobacco of inferior quality appears on the inside of such pile; and

3rd. Overhanging tobacco: That is, so arranging a pile of tobacco that there are alternate bundles of good and sorry tobacco. (1933, c. 467, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Alamance, Person, Rockingham, Surry, Vance and Warren: 1933, c. 467, s. 5.

§ 106-462. Sale under name other than that of true owner prohibited.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell or offer for sale or cause to be sold, or offered for sale, any leaf tobacco upon the floors of any leaf tobacco warehouse, in the name of any person, firm or corporation, other than that of the true owner or owners thereof, which true owner's name shall be registered upon the warehouse sales book in which it is being offered for sale. (1933, c. 467, s. 2.)

Local Modification.—Alamance, Person, Rockingham, Surry, Vance and Warren: 1933, c. 467, s. 5.

§ 106-463. Allowance for weight of baskets and trucks.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation in weighing tobacco for sale to permit or allow the basket and truck upon which such tobacco is placed for the purpose of obtaining such weight to vary more than two pounds from the standard or uniform weight of such basket and truck. (1933, c. 467, s. 3.)

Local Modification.—Alamance, Person, Rockingham, Surry, Vance and Warren: 1933, c. 467, s. 5.

§ 106-464. Violation made misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of §§ 106-461 to 106-463 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1933, c. 467, s. 4.)

§ 106-465. Organization and membership of tobacco boards of trade; rules and regulations; price fixing prohibited.—Tobacco warehousemen and the purchasers of leaf tobacco, at auction, on warehouse floors, are hereby authorized to organize, either as non-stock corporations, or voluntary associations, tobacco boards of trade in the several towns and cities in North Carolina in which leaf tobacco is sold on warehouse floors, at auction.

Such tobacco boards of trade as may now exist, or which may hereafter be organized, are authorized to make reasonable rules and regulations for the economical and efficient handling of the sale of leaf tobacco at auction on the warehouse floors in the several towns and cities in North Carolina in which an auction market is situated.

The tobacco boards of trade in the several towns and cities in North Carolina are authorized to require as a condition to membership therein the applicants to pay a reasonable membership fee and the following schedule of maximum fees shall be deemed reasonable, to-wit:

A membership fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) in those towns in which less than three million pounds of tobacco was sold at auction between the dates of August 20, 1931, and May 1, 1932; A fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) in those towns in which during said period of time more than three million and less than ten million pounds of tobacco was sold; A fee of one hundred fifty dollars ($150.00) in those towns in which during said period of time more than ten million and less than twenty-five million pounds of tobacco was sold; A fee of three hundred dollars ($300.00) in those towns in which during said period of time more than twenty-five million pounds of tobacco was sold.

Membership, in good standing, in a local board of trade shall be deemed a reasonable requirement by such board of trade as a condition to participating in the business of operating a tobacco warehouse or the purchase of tobacco at auction therein.

It shall be unlawful and punishable as of a misdemeanor for any bidder or purchaser of tobacco upon warehouse floors to refuse to take and pay for any basket or baskets so bid off from the seller when the seller has or has not accepted the price offered by the purchaser or bidder of other baskets. That any person suspended or expelled from a tobacco board of trade under the provisions of this section may appeal from such suspension to the superior court of the county in which said board of trade is located.

Nothing in this section shall authorize the organization of any association having for its purpose the control of prices or the making of rules and regulations in restraint of trade. (1933, c. 268.)

Art. 41. Dealers in Scrap Tobacco.

§ 106-466. Application for license; amount of tax; exceptions.—Every person, firm or corporation desiring to engage in the business of buying and/or selling scrap or untied tobacco in the state of North Carolina shall first procure from the commissioner of revenue of North Carolina a license so to do, and for that purpose shall file with the said commissioner of revenue an application setting forth the name of the county or counties in which such applicant proposes to engage in the said business and the place or places where his, their or its principal office (if any) shall be situated; and shall pay to the said commissioner of revenue of North Carolina, to be placed in the general fund for the use of the state, an annual license tax of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each and every county in North Carolina in which the applicant proposes to engage in such business. Every such license issued hereunder shall run from the date thereof and shall expire on the thirty-first day of May of the next year following its issue. No license shall be issued for less than the full amount of tax prescribed. Any lot of parts of leaves of tobacco, or any lot in which parts of leaves of tobacco are commingled with whole leaves of tobacco, or any other leaf or leaves of tobacco, or parts of leaves of tobacco not permitted, under the rules and regulations of tobacco warehouses, to be offered for sale at auction on tobacco warehouse floors, shall be deemed to be "scrap or untied" tobacco within the meaning and purview of this article: Provided, that the tax herein levied shall not apply in cases where the producer delivers his "scrap or untied tobacco to a tobacco warehouse or tobacco redrying plant. (1935, c. 360, s. 1; 1937, c. 414, s. 1; 1939, c. 389, s. 1; 1941, c. 246.)

Editor's Note. — The 1939 amendment decreased the license tax from $1000 to $250. The 1941 amendment increased the tax to $500.00 and added the proviso.

The former law (P. L. 1935, c. 360) was void for uncertainty, the statute failing to stipulate the time when the license prescribed should be paid and failing to prescribe for how long a time the license should run. State v. Morrison, 210 N. C. 117, 185 S. E. 674.

The former law was not a criminal statute, and a person refusing to comply with its provisions could not be charged with crime. Id.

Validity.—This and following sections imposing a license tax on dealers in scrap tobacco, is held not vague or uncertain, and is uniform and equal in its application. Ficklen Tobacco Co. v. Maxwell, 214 N. C. 367, 199 S. E. 404, holding that the former tax of $1,000 was not excessive as a matter of law.

§ 106-467. Report to commissioner of agriculture each month.—On or before the tenth day of each month every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business set forth in § 106-466 shall make a report to the commissioner of agriculture of North Carolina, setting forth the number of pounds of scrap or untied tobacco purchased and the price paid therefor during the preceding month in each of the counties in which the said person, firm or corporation is doing business and also the purposes for which such scrap tobacco is bought or sold. (1935, c. 360, s. 2; 1937, c. 414, s. 2.)

§ 106-468. Display of license; no fixed place of business; agents, etc.; licensing of processors, redriers, etc.—(a) If any person, firm or corporation licensed to engage in the business aforesaid has a warehouse, office or fixed place of business, the license issued by the commissioner of revenue as herein provided shall be displayed in a conspicuous place in said warehouse, office or place of business. Such license so obtained shall not be transferable and shall authorize such person, firm or corporation to engage in the business described in this article only on the premises described in the license. Only one original license shall be issued to any person, firm or corporation, which will authorize such person, firm or corporation to engage in such business in the county for which such license is issued. If such person, firm or corporation shall have no warehouse, office, or fixed place of business in the county where such business is carried on, if the original license is to be issued to a firm, partnership or copartnership, there shall be designated on such license the name of the individual who is to exercise the privilege granted on behalf of such firm, partnership or copartnership. If such license is to be issued to a corporation, there shall be designated on such license the name of the individual who is to exercise the privilege granted on behalf of such corporation and the license so issued will authorize only the individual designated thereon to engage in such business for or on behalf of such person, firm, partnership, copartnership or corporation, and none other. If such person, firm or corporation carries on the business herein described through agents, representatives, solicitors, or peddlers other than those named on the original license issued, as herein provided, additional and like licenses, for which there shall be paid the sum of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00), shall be obtained for such additional agents, representatives, solicitors, or peddlers for each county in which such business is carried on, in the manner hereinafter set out, and all original and additional licenses issued to persons, firms or corporations which have no warehouse, office or fixed place of business shall be carried on the person of such licensee and shall be exhibited when requested or demanded by any law enforcement officer of North Carolina, or any person from whom such tobacco is bought, or to whom the same may be sold.

Any person, firm or corporation applying for and obtaining a license under this article may employ traveling representatives, agents, peddlers, or solicitors for the purpose of buying and/or selling scrap tobacco, but such traveling representatives, agents or peddlers shall apply for and obtain from the commissioner of revenue a separate additional license on behalf of such person, firm or corporation whom or which he represents and shall pay for such license a tax of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) for each additional license so issued. Every such additional license issued hereunder shall run from the date thereof and shall expire on the thirty-first day of May of the next year following its issue. No license shall be issued for less than the full amount of tax prescribed. Such traveling representative, agent or peddler engaged in such business shall carry on his person the license so obtained, which shall be exhibited when requested or demanded by any law enforcement officer of North Carolina or any person from whom such tobacco is bought or to whom the same may be sold.

(b) Any such person, firm or corporation described in subsection (a) of this section, who is engaged in the business of buying and/or selling scrap tobacco within the meaning of this article, and who maintains and operates in connection therewith a plant or factory where such scrap tobacco is processed, manufactured, or redried, shall apply for and obtain from the commissioner of revenue a license to engage in such business and for that purpose shall file with the commissioner of revenue an application setting forth the name of the county or counties in which such applicant proposes to engage in such business, and the place or places where his, their, or its principal office is situated, and shall pay for such license a tax of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each county in this state in which the applicant proposes to engage in such business. The license so issued shall authorize the person, firm or corporation to whom it is issued to engage in such business only on the premises designated in the license. Persons, firms or corporations taxed under this subsection shall not be required to pay the license tax provided for in subsection (a) of this section. Every such license issued hereunder shall run from the date thereof and shall expire on the thirty-first day of May of the next year following its issue and no license shall be issued for less than the full amount of the tax prescribed. (1935, c. 360, s. 3; 1937, c. 414, s. 3; 1939, c. 389, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—This section was so changed by the 1939 amendment that a comparison here is not practicable.

§ 106-469. Violation made misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined and/or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1937, c. 414, s. 4.)

§ 106-470. Exemptions.—Nothing in this article shall have any effect upon or apply to any stocks of leaf and scrap tobacco grown prior to the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, or to purchases or sales of scrap or untied tobacco which has been processed, redried or manufactured. (1937, c. 414, s. 4½; 1939, c. 389, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added the part of this section beginning with the word "or" in line four.

Editor's Note.—This article, known as the Tobacco Compact Act, depended upon similar action in other tobacco-producing states, which failed to materialize, and consequently is of no avail until other tobacco-producing states co-operate. 15 N. C. Law Rev. 323.

§ 106-472. North Carolina tobacco commission created; members; county and district committeemen; vacancies; compensation.—There is hereby created a commission to be known as the North Carolina tobacco commission (hereinafter referred to as the "commission"). The commission shall consist of seven (7) members, and each of the four (4) tobacco belts, viz: eastern belt, middle belt, old belt and border belt, shall have one or more representatives selected as follows: When this article becomes effective, the director of the state agricultural extension service shall arrange for a meeting of tobacco producers in each county (any county in which there are less than one hundred tobacco producers shall be grouped with another adjoining county), at which three (3) tobacco producers shall be elected, by the producers attending the meeting, to serve as county committeemen for one crop year. The director of the state agricultural extension service shall divide the state into six (6) districts and arrange for a meeting of the county committeemen elected in each district, at which meeting the county committeemen in each district shall nominate from among their number three (3) producers to serve as district committeemen. From the three (3) district committeemen nominated in each district the governor shall appoint one producer to serve for a period of one crop year as a member of the commission. The director of the state agricultural extension service shall serve, or shall appoint one member of his staff to serve, as a member of the commission. Vacancies on the commission during any crop year shall be filled by the governor by the appointment of another district committeeman for the remainder of such year from the district in which the vacancy occurs: Provided, that the director of the state agricultural extension service shall fill the vacancy in the case of the member of the commission appointed by him. At the end of each crop year the tobacco commission shall be selected for the succeeding crop year in the manner provided above. Each member of the commission not already in the employment of the state shall be paid the sum of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day actually spent in the performance of his duties, and shall be reimbursed for subsistence, not exceeding five dollars ($5.00) per day, and for necessary travel expenses. (1937, c. 22, s. 2.)

§ 106-473. Compacts with governors of other states; referendum on question of enforcement.—

The governor is authorized and directed to negotiate and enter into a compact with respect to each kind of tobacco with the governor of each of the states producing such kind of tobacco: Provided, (1) that any compact shall not become effective until it has been entered into by the states of North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia, and any compact with respect to burley tobacco shall not become effective until it has been entered into by the states of North Carolina, Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee; (2) that a compact with respect to any kind of tobacco shall not become effective during any crop year unless entered into prior to the first day of such crop year, and (3) that any provisions in such compact or compacts which relate to the establishment of tobacco acreage quotas as provided herein shall not become effective unless and until the consent of the congress of the United States shall be given to a compact or compacts providing for the establishment of tobacco acreage quotas. This article shall be enforced with respect to any kind of tobacco upon the establishment of a compact with respect to such kind of tobacco, and its enforcement with respect to such kind of tobacco shall be suspended upon the withdrawal from such compact by any state required as a party thereto. If an injunction issued by a court of competent jurisdiction against the enforcement of a similar act of any state is made permanent so as to stop the administration of said act in such state during any crop year, the enforcement of this article may be suspended by the commission with respect to the kind of tobacco covered by such compact until such time as the compact is again made effective or the injunction dissolved, as the case may be. Upon the filing with the commission of a petition or petitions by fifteen per cent or more of the producers of any kind of tobacco in this state requesting that the enforcement of this article be suspended with respect to such kind of tobacco, the commission shall conduct a referendum within sixty days after the receipt of such petition or petitions to determine whether the producers of such kind of tobacco in the state are in favor of the enforcement of this article, and if the commission finds that one-third or more of the producers who vote in the referendum are not in favor of the enforcement of the article, such findings of the commission shall be certified to the governor, who shall proclaim the article inoperative for the crop year next succeeding the crop year in which the referendum is conducted. (1937, c. 22, s. 3.)

§ 106-474. Cooperation with other states and secretary of agriculture in making determinations.—

The commission shall meet and co-operate with the tobacco commissions of other states that are parties to a compact, and any persons designated by the secretary of agriculture of the United States to serve in an advisory capacity, for the purposes of making certain determinations enumerated in this section, and when such determinations are agreed upon by a majority of the members of the commission for this state, and a majority of the members of the commissions for other states, such determinations shall be accepted and followed in the administration of this article.

(a) Determine from statistics of the United States department of agriculture a marketing quota, which for any kind of tobacco shall be that quantity of such kind of tobacco produced in the United States which is estimated to be required for world consumption during any crop year, increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the amount by which the world stocks of such kind of tobacco at the beginning of such crop year are less than or greater than the normal world stocks of such kind of tobacco.

(b) Determine a tobacco marketing quota for each state, for each kind of tobacco, for each crop year for which this article is in effect with respect to such kind of tobacco. The marketing quota for each state for each kind of tobacco shall be that percentage of the quantity determined under sub-section (a) of this section which is equal to the percentage that the total production of such kind of tobacco in the state for the year or years set forth below is of the total production of such kind of tobacco in the United States for such year or years:

Flue-cured tobacco, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five, and burley tobacco, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

(c) Determine a base tobacco yield for each state for each kind of tobacco. The base tobacco yield for each kind of tobacco for each state shall be the total production of such kind of tobacco in such state in the year or years named in sub-section (b) of this section, divided by the total harvested acreage of such kind of tobacco in such state in such year or years.

(d) Determine and make such adjustments from year to year in the percentage of the marketing quota to be assigned to each state, or in the base yield for each state, or both (as determined pursuant to sub-sections (b) and (c) of this section and as adjusted in any preceding year pursuant to this sub-section), not exceeding two per cent (2%) decrease or five per cent (5%) increase in any crop year of the percentage of the said marketing quota assigned to each state, or five per cent (5%) decrease or increase of the base yield for each state in any crop year, as are determined to be necessary to correct for any abnormal conditions of production during the year or years specified in subsection (b) of this section, and trends in production during or since such year or years in any state as compared with other states: Provided, that the percentages of the marketing quota for any kind of tobacco for all states producing such kind of tobacco, as adjusted pursuant to this sub-section, for any year shall equal one hundred per cent (100%).

(e) Determine and make adjustments in the marketing quota established pursuant to sub-sections (b) and (d) of this section for any kind of tobacco for any crop year, not exceeding ten per cent (10%) of said quota, from time to time during that period from August first to December fifteenth of such year if, upon the study of supply and demand conditions for such kind of tobacco, the commission finds that such adjustments are required to effectuate the purpose of this article and of similar acts of other states: Provided, that any such adjustment shall apply uniformly to all states and only during the crop year in which such adjustment is made.

(f) Determine regulations with respect to the transfer of marketing certificates among producers of any kind of tobacco within the states which are parties to a compact with respect to such kind of tobacco, and such other regulations as may be deemed appropriate to the uniform administration and enforcement of this article and of similar acts of other states. (1937, c. 22, s. 4.)

§ 106-475. Tobacco acreage and marketing quotas for each farm.—The commission shall establish tobacco acreage and tobacco marketing quotas for each crop year for any farm on which tobacco is grown, such quotas to be determined as follows:

(a) For any farm for which a base tobacco acreage and a base tobacco production have previously been determined by the agricultural adjustment administration of the United States department of agriculture, as shown by the available records and statistics of that department, the base tobacco acreage and base tobacco production so last determined shall constitute the tobacco acreage and tobacco marketing quotas, subject to such adjustments as are recommended by the county committee of the county in which the farm is located and approved by the commission as being in conformity with the provisions of sub-sections (c) and (d) of this section.

(b) For any farm for which a base tobacco acreage and base tobacco production have not been previously determined by the agricultural adjustment administration of the United States department of agriculture, the tobacco acreage and tobacco marketing quotas shall be established in conformity with the provisions of sub-sections (c) and (d) of this section: Provided, that the total of the tobacco acreage and of the tobacco marketing quotas established for such farms in any crop year shall not exceed two per cent (2%) of the total tobacco acreage and tobacco marketing quotas, respectively, established pursuant to sub-section (a) of this section, plus the tobacco acreage and the tobacco marketing quotas established for farms in preceding years pursuant to this sub-section.

(c) The tobacco acreage and the tobacco marketing quotas established for each farm shall be fair and reasonable as compared with the tobacco acreage and the tobacco marketing quotas for other farms which are similar with respect to the following: The past production of tobacco on the farm and by the operator thereof; the percentage of total cultivated land in tobacco and in other cash crops; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; the crop rotation practices and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco. The acreage quota for farms in a county shall not exceed such maximum percentage of the cultivated acreage as shall be fixed by the county committee, and the maximum so set by the county committee shall not exceed a percentage which will insure the adjustment of the inequalities existing in such county.

(d) The total of the tobacco acreage quotas for any kind of tobacco established for all farms in the state in any crop year shall not exceed a tobacco acreage quota for the state determined by dividing the marketing quota for such kind of tobacco for the state by the base tobacco yield for such kind of tobacco for the state, determined in accordance with sub-sections (c) and (d) of § 106-474.

The tobacco acreage and the tobacco marketing quotas for any kind of tobacco established for each farm in any crop year pursuant to sub-sections (a) and (b) of this section shall be adjusted so that the aggregate of the tobacco acreage quotas and the aggregate of the tobacco marketing quotas for all farms in the state does not exceed the tobacco acreage and the tobacco marketing quotas, respectively, for such kind of tobacco established for the state for such year; and the commission shall prescribe such regulations with respect to such adjustments as will tend to protect the interests of small producers.

(e) If, after marketing quotas are established for farms for any kind of tobacco in any crop year, there is an adjustment, pursuant to sub-section (c) of § 106-474, in the marketing quota for such kind of tobacco for the state for such year, the marketing quotas for all farms in the state shall be adjusted accordingly.

(f) If a base tobacco yield is not determined by the several state commissions the commission for this state shall determine a base yield for the state in accordance with the procedure specified in sub-sections (c) and (d) of § 106-474.

(g) In each county there shall either be published in one local newspaper the following information for each township of the county: (1) the name of each tobacco grower in that township; (2) the number of his tobacco tenants; (3) his total cultivated acres; (4) his total tobacco acreage and tobacco marketing quota; (5) the per cent of his cultivated land represented by his tobacco acreage quota, or else there shall be posted in at least five public places in each township a report for that township showing this information. One copy of such information shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the county.

(h) No reduction shall be required in the flue-cured tobacco acreage quota established for any farm if such quota is three and two-tenth acres or less: Provided, that if the operator of the farm reduces the acreage of tobacco grown on the farm in any year below the acreage quota, a proportionate reduction may be required in the marketing quota for the farm.

(i) The terms of this article, relating to the fixing of acreage or marketing quotas, shall not apply to any grower of burley tobacco, with or without an established acreage base, whose acreage is two acres or less. (1937, c. 22, s. 5; c. 24, ss. 1-3.)

§ 106-476. Notification of quotas established and adjustments; marketing and resale certificates; charge for surplus tobacco; administrative committees, agents and employees; hearings and investigations; collection of information; regulations.—The commission is authorized and directed:

(a) To notify as promptly as possible the operator of each farm, for which acreage and marketing quotas are established, of the amount of such quotas for the farm and of any adjustment thereof which may be made from time to time pursuant to this article.

(b) Upon application therefor by the operator of the farm, or by the person marketing the tobacco grown thereon, to issue to the buyer or handler who purchases or handles such tobacco, marketing certificates for an amount of tobacco not in excess of the marketing quota for the farm (as adjusted pursuant to subsection (d) of § 106-475, on which such tobacco is produced, or not in excess of the quantity of tobacco harvested from the crop produced on such farm, whichever is smaller: Provided, that the commission (in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commission) may provide for the issuance and transfer of marketing certificates for an amount of tobacco equal to the amount by which the said quantity marketed falls below the said marketing quota for any farm: Provided further, that any regulations pertaining to such issuance and transfer shall be uniform as to the same kind of tobacco in all states entering into a compact with respect to such kind of tobacco.

(c) Upon application therefor by any buyer or handler to issue marketing certificates for surplus tobacco produced on the farm upon payment of a charge of twenty-five per cent (25%) of the gross value, or of one and one-half cents (1½c) per pound, whichever is larger, of the tobacco covered by such certificates. The buyer or handler, in settling with the grower, shall deduct from the proceeds of sale of such surplus tobacco or, if not sold, from any advance or loan thereon, the amount of such charge, which charge shall be deemed an assessment upon the producer for the purposes of paying the costs, charges, and expenditures provided for by this article.

(d) Upon application therefor by any tobacco dealer to issue, under such terms and conditions as the commission shall by regulations prescribe, resale certificates for such tobacco purchased by any dealer during any day as such dealer specified will be resold prior to the redrying or processing thereof, where marketing certificates or resale certificates have been issued for such tobacco pursuant to the provisions of this article.

(e) To establish or provide for the establishment of such committees of tobacco producers, and to appoint such agents and employees as the commission finds necessary for the administration of this article, and to fix the compensation of the members of the county committees referred to in § 106-472, and of such agents and employees: Provided, that the rates of compensation for such committeemen, agents and employees shall be comparable with rates of compensation to persons employed in similar capacities in connection with the administration of the agricultural conservation program, and acceptable to the federal authority.

(f) To provide for the making of such investigations and the holding of such hearings as the commission finds necessary in connection with the establishment of acreage and marketing quotas for farms and to designate persons to conduct such investigations and hold such hearings in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commission.

(g) To provide for collection of such information pertaining to the acreage of tobacco grown for harvest on each farm as the commission may consider necessary for the purpose of checking such acreage with the acreage quota for the farm and to prescribe any such regulations as may be necessary in connection therewith.

(h) To prescribe such other regulations as the commission finds necessary to the exercise of the powers and the performance of the duties vested in it by the provisions of this article. (1937, c. 22, s. 6.)

§ 106-477. Board of adjustment and review for each county.—The county committee of each county shall be and it is hereby constituted the board of adjustment and review for its county, whose duty it shall be to adjust and distribute the total base acreage and marketing quotas allocated to the several farms in the county by the commission so as to effectuate the provisions of this article.

(a) The county board of adjustment and review may designate a clerk for such board.

(b) The board of adjustment and review shall meet on the first Monday in January of each and every year, after giving ten days' notice (by publication in a newspaper published in the county) of the time, place and purpose of the meeting, and may adjourn from day to day while engaged in the adjustment and review of the acreage and marketing quotas of the county, but shall complete their duties on or before the first Monday in February of each and every year: Provided, however, that the commission shall designate the time within which the said adjustment and review shall be made for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven.

(c) The board of adjustment and review, on request, shall hear any and all producers, operators, and applicants in the county in respect to their acreage or marketing quotas, or the quotas of others; and after due notice to the person or persons affected, shall allow, increase, or reduce such acreage or marketing quotas as in their opinion will make a fair and equitable allotment within the meaning of this article; and shall cause to be done whatever else may be necessary to make the distribution of county acreage and marketing quotas comply with the provisions of this article; and after the completion of the adjustment and review, a list showing the details thereof shall be prepared, and a majority of the board shall endorse thereon and sign the statement to the effect that the same is the fixed list of quotas for the current year, and said list, or a certified copy thereof, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court within three days after the completion of the adjustment and review.

(d) Any producer, operator, or person claiming or challenging an allotment quota may except to the decision of the board of adjustment and review and appeal therefrom to the commission by filing in duplicate a written notice of such appeal with the county committee within ten days after the filing of the list of quotas in the office of the clerk of the superior court. At the time of filing such notice of appeal the appellant shall file with the county committee a statement in duplicate of the grounds of appeal; and within three days after the filing thereof the county committee shall forward or cause to be forwarded to the commission one copy each of the notice of appeal and statement of grounds of appeal. The commission shall, on or before the first Monday in March thereafter, hear and determine such appeal, after first giving due notice of the time and place of such hearing to the appellant and to the chairman of the county committee. At the hearing the commission shall hear relevant and pertinent testimony or affidavits offered by the appellant or county committee; and thereafter, by order, shall modify or confirm the decision of the county board of adjustment and review, and shall deliver to the county committee a certified copy of such order, which shall be binding upon all parties concerned for the current year. (1937, c. 24, s. 4.)

§ 106-478. Handling of funds and receiving payments.—The commission is authorized:

(a) To accept, deposit with the state treasurer and provide for the expenditure of such funds as the congress of the United States may advance or grant to the state for the purpose of administering this article. Such expenditures shall be in accordance with the act of congress authorizing or making such advance or grant.

(b) To receive, through such agents as it may designate, all payments covering the sale of marketing certificates pursuant to sub-section (c) of § 106-476; to provide for the fixing of an adequate bond for any person responsible for receiving and disbursing any funds of or administered by the commission; and to provide for the expenditure of such funds in the manner prescribed in § 106-480. (1937, c. 22, s. 7.)

§ 106-480. Purposes for which funds expended; reserve necessary.—Funds of or administered by the commission shall be expended, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commission, for the following purposes: First, to repay to the treasurer of the United States any funds advanced by the United States to the commission for the purpose of administering this article: Provided, the United States requires such repayment. Second, to pay any expenses lawfully incurred in the administration of this article, including expenses of any agency of the state incurred at the request of the commission. Third, to make payment to tobacco producers whose sales of tobacco, because of loss by fire or weather, or diseases affecting their tobacco crops adversely during any crop year, are less than the marketing quotas for their farms for such year. Such payments shall be at a rate per pound of such deficit determined by dividing the funds available for such payments by the total number of pounds by which the sales of tobacco by all producers fell below the marketing quotas for their farms: Provided, that such deficit is due to loss by fire or weather, or disease affecting their crops adversely; and Provided further, that such rate of payment shall in no event exceed five cents (5c) per pound, and that no such payments shall be made until there is established as a reserve an amount necessary to pay the expenses which the commission estimates will be incurred in the administration of this article for a period of one crop year. (1937, c. 22, s. 9.)

§ 106-481. Unlawful to sell, buy, etc., without marketing certificate; restrictions upon dealers.—Upon the establishment of marketing quotas for any kind of tobacco for individual farms for any crop year, pursuant to the provisions of this article, it shall be unlawful:

§ 106-482. be recoverable in a civil suit brought in the name of the state. (1937, c. 22, s. 12.)

§ 106-484. Violation of article a misdemeanor.—

Any person violating any provisions of this article, or of any regulation of the commission issued pursuant thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum of not more than fifty dollars ($50.00) for the first offense and not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each subsequent offense. producers, warehousemen, buyers, dealers, and other persons having information with respect to the planting, harvesting, marketing, or redrying or conditioning or processing of tobacco in this state for sale or resale to manufacturers, domestic or foreign, shall from time to time, upon the written request of the commission or its duly authorized representative, furnish such information and file such returns as the commission may find necessary or appropriate to the enforcement of this article. Any person wilfully failing or refusing to furnish such information or to file such return, or wilfully furnishing any false information or wilfully filing any false return, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum of not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each such offense. (1937, c. 22, s. 14.)

§ 106-486. Courts may punish or enjoin violations.—All courts of this state of competent jurisdiction are hereby vested with jurisdiction

specifically to punish violations of this article, and the superior courts of the state are vested with jurisdiction, upon application of the commission, to enjoin and restrain any person from violating the provisions of this article or of any regulations issued pursuant to this article. (1937, c. 22, s. 16.)

§ 106-488. Receipts from surplus produced in other states, paid to commission of such states; co-operation with other commissions.—In order to assure the proper co-ordination of the administration of this article with the administration of similar acts of other states, marketing certificates and resale certificates shall be issued by the commission, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commission, with respect to tobacco marketed in this state, or redried, conditioned, or processed in this state prior to the first sale thereof, or resold, even though such tobacco was produced in another state, and the receipts from sales of marketing certificates for surplus tobacco produced in such other state shall be paid to the commission of the state in which such tobacco was produced, and the commission shall co-operate with and assist the commission of any other state in obtaining such records as may be necessary to the administration of any similar act of such state. (1937, c. 22, s. 18.)

§ 106-489. Form and provisions of compact.—

§ 106-492. Records and reports of threshers, violation made misdemeanor.—It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation, who shall engage in threshing for others or themselves, in any county of the State, to keep a complete and accurate record of the acreages harvested and amounts threshed for each farm, and to promptly make, upon blanks to be furnished by the register of deeds of the county, reports showing the acreages and the amounts threshed by said person, firm or corporation, in said county during the preceding season. A violation of the provisions of this section shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding twenty-five dollars: Provided, the register of deeds shall give thirty days' notice to the licensee before indictment is made, and if the licensee makes said report within said time no indictment shall be made. (1935, c. 329, s. 3.)

§ 106-493. Public notice of requirements; prosecution for noncompliance.—It shall be the duty of the register of deeds of each of the several counties of the State to give public notice of these requirements before the threshing seasons and to make diligent inquiry as to whether the provisions of § 106-492 have been complied with, and upon failure of any person, firm or corporation to comply with same, to swear out a warrant before some justice of the peace of the county and the procedure thereon shall be as in other criminal cases. (1935, c. 329, s. 4.)

§ 106-494. Report of register of deeds to commissioner of agriculture.—It shall be the duty of the register of deeds of each of the several counties in the State to promptly submit, upon blanks to be furnished by the commissioner of agriculture, a report to the commissioner of agriculture showing the crop acreages harvested and amounts that have been threshed in the said county in the preceding crop season. Art. 44. Unfair Practices by Handlers of Farm Products.

§ 106-496. Protection of producers of farm products against unfair trade practices.—The board of agriculture is hereby authorized to make rules and regulations necessary to protect producers of farm products from loss through financial irresponsibility and unfair, harmful and unethical trade practices of persons, firms and corporations (hereinafter referred to as "handlers") and their agents, who incur financial liability for farm products. (1941, c. 359, s. 1.)

§ 106-498. Establishment of financial responsibility before permit issued; bond.—No such permit shall be issued to any handler who is not operating on a strictly cash basis and who is incurring or may incur financial liability to any grower, until such person, firm, or corporation shall furnish to the commissioner of agriculture sufficient and satisfactory evidence of their ability to carry out their contract or furnish a satisfactory bond in an amount not to exceed ten thousand ($10,000) dollars. The commissioner of agriculture may require a new bond or additional bonds up to the ten thousand dollar ($10,000.00) limit when he finds it necessary for the protection of the producer. Such bonds shall be payable to the state in favor of every contract producer or consignor of farm products, and shall be continued upon compliance with all the provisions of this article, and the faithful fulfilment of all contracts, and for the faithful accounting for and handling of produce by such handler, and for payment to the producer of the net proceeds of all consignments and sales. Any producer claiming to be injured by the fraud, deceit or wilful negligence of any commission merchant or contractor, or by his failure to comply with this article or with the terms of a written contract between such parties, may bring action on the bond against both principal and surety in any court of competent jurisdiction and may recover the damages found by the court to be caused by such acts complained of. The commissioner may withhold his approval in his discretion if he is of the opinion that the contract is illegal or unfair to the producer, or that the contractor is insolvent or financially irresponsible, or if for any other cause it reasonably appears to him that the contract in question might defeat the purpose of this article. (1941, c. 359, s. 4.)

§ 106-522. Application for assistance.—Any person or persons, corporation or concern, engaged in the cultivation of a farm or farms in this State may apply to the county commissioners for assistance under this article, stating in the said application as nearly as may be the size or area of the cultivated lands, its condition, the kind of soil, the amount of erosion, if any, the topography of the farm, its present manner of drainage and the kinds of crops usually cultivated thereon. It shall also state what means have been used heretofore, if any, to prevent soil erosion, and specifically the extent to which erosion now exists upon the premises. At any time subsequent to the said application, if relief is extended to him, he shall, when so requested by the said county commissioners or any other person delegated by them to receive the information, make detailed reports as to the condition of his said cultivated lands, the extent to which provision has been made thereon to prevent soil erosion, with the results of same. There shall also be stated in the said application the kind and quantity of equipment which, in the judgment of the applicant, is necessary for use upon his farm. (1935, c. 172, s. 2.)

§ 106-523. Investigation and extending relief.—Upon the filing of such application the county commissioners shall cause due investigation to be made with reference thereto, and for their guidance; shall fully consider the same and if, in their opinion, the relief asked for should be extended, they shall thereupon proceed to supply or have supplied such equipment as in their judgment may be necessary under the circumstances, as provided in this article. (1935, c. 172, s. 3.)

§ 106-524. Purchase of equipment and furnishing to farmers; notes and security from applicants; rental contracts; guarantee of payment.—The county commissioners are authorized and empowered to purchase the equipment by them deemed to be necessary and supply the applicant therewith, upon such terms and conditions of purchase, rental or repayment as may be deemed by them just and proper, and which will save the county from loss in the matter. To that end, they are authorized to accept from the applicant such notes and security, if any by them are deemed necessary, or shall make with them such rental contracts as may be reasonably prudent and safe in the premises. They are further authorized and empowered, when in their judgment it may be deemed advisable, to guarantee the payment to the seller, for such equipment as may be directly purchased by the applicant for the use aforesaid: Provided, however, that the purchase of the said equipment has been previously approved by the county commissioners. (1935, c. 172, s. 4.)

§ 106-525. Guarantee of payment where equipment purchased by federal agencies.—Where the said equipment may be purchased by any federal agency and by it furnished to any person, persons, firm or corporation engaged in the actual cultivation of the soil, the county commissioners are authorized, under such terms and conditions as to them may seem advisable, and as shall conserve the public interest and be just and proper to the county, to guarantee the payment of the purchase price of such equipment in full or the interest upon the obligations made in their purchase, and may do so in full or in part. (1935, c. 172, s. 5.)

§ 106-526. Expense of counties extending relief made lien on premises of applicant.—In the event the county commissioners shall extend any relief under this article, to the extent of the money furnished or the obligation of the county with respect thereto, the same shall be a lien upon the premises, lands and tenements of the owner and applicant for such relief, securing the repayment of the funds furnished by the county and securing the county against any loss by reason of its obligation in any respect, the said lien to be foreclosed in all respects as provided in the law for deeds of trust or real estate mortgages: Provided, however, that in case the county itself has entered into an obligation in order to extend to any persons herein named the relief provided in this article, the county shall not be postponed in its relief until loss is actually incurred by it, but may proceed in accordance with the contract and agreement made with the applicant for relief, and when the obligations of the county in any respect are due: Provided, further, that the lien created by this section shall not be effective as against innocent purchasers for value unless and until notice of such lien shall be docketed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the land lies in the manner and form provided by law for perfecting laborer's or mechanic's liens against real property. (1935, c. 172, s. 6.)

§ 106-527. Counties excepted.—This article shall not apply to the counties of Alleghany, Alexander, Ashe, Avery, Bladen, Buncombe, Camden, Columbus, Cumberland, Davie, Gates, Haywood, Hyde, Jackson, Lincoln, Macon, Madison, Moore, New Hanover, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Rutherford, Sampson, Transylvania, Washington, Watauga, Wilkes, and Yadkin. Art. 47. State Marketing Authority.

§ 106-528. State policy and purpose of article.—It is declared to be the policy of the state of North Carolina and the purpose of this article to promote, encourage and develop the orderly and efficient marketing of products of the home, farm, sea and forest; to establish, maintain, supervise and control, with the coöperation of counties, cities and towns, centrally located markets for the sale and distribution of such products, so as to promote a steady flow of commodities, properly graded and labelled, into the channels of trade at the time and place to enable the producer to get the market price and the consumer to get a product in keeping with the price paid. (1941, c. 39, s. 1.)

§ 106-529. State marketing authority created; members and officers; commodity advisers; meetings and expenses.—To secure these aims, there is hereby created an incorporated public agency of the state, to be known as the state marketing authority, hereinafter referred to as the "authority." It shall consist of the members of the state board of agriculture, and the commissioner of agriculture shall be the chairman. They shall perform the duties and exercise the powers herein set out as a part of their official duties as members of the board of agriculture. The governor shall appoint from time to time commodity advisers to plan with the authority the programs undertaken in their respective communities. The authority shall elect and prescribe the duties of a secretary-treasurer, who shall not be a member of the authority. He shall give bond in such amount as the authority shall determine in some reliable surety company doing business in North Carolina, and the authority shall pay the premiums. The authority shall meet in regular session annually at a fixed place and date, and shall meet in special session at such other times and places as the chairman may request. The members shall receive no salary, but shall receive actual expenses plus seven dollars per day for actual time spent in performing their duties. (1941, c. 39, s. 2.)

§ 106-530. Powers of authority.—The authority shall have the following powers:

(1) To sue and be sued in its corporate name in any court or before any administrative agency of the state or of the United States, and to enter into agreements with the United States department of agriculture or any other legally constituted state or federal agency, or with any county, city or town in the furtherance of the purposes of this article.

(2) To plan, build, construct, or cause to be built or constructed, or to purchase, lease or acquire the use of any warehouses or other facilities that may be necessary for the successful operation by the authority of wholesale markets for products of the home, farm, sea and forest at chosen points in North Carolina. The authority may make such contracts as may be needed for these purposes. In no case shall the authority be responsible for any rent except from the income of the market in excess of other operating expenses. The authority may select and employ for each market capable managers, who shall be familiar with the problems of the grower and the distributor, and of the marketing of farm products, and who shall have the business ability and training to operate a market and to plan for its proper development and growth in order best to serve the interests of producers, distributors, consumers in the area, and the general public. The managers may employ assistants and agents with the approval of the authority. The authority may make such regulations as will promote the policy of this article, as to the manner in which the markets shall be operated, the business conducted, and stalls sublet to dealers.

(3) To fix the terms upon which individual, coöperative or corporate wholesale merchants, warehouses or warehousemen may place their facilities or services under the supervision and regulation of the authority. The authority may extend to any such wholesale merchants, warehouses or warehousemen marketing benefits in the form of inspection, market informational and news service and may make regulations as to the operation of such facilities or services and as to forms, reports, handling, grades, weights, packages, labels, and other standards for the products handled by such merchants, warehouses or warehousemen.

(4) To fix rentals and charges for each type of service or facility in the markets under its control, taking into consideration the cost of such facility or service, the interest and amortization period required, a proper relationship between types of operators in the market, cost of operation, and the need for reasonable reserves for repairs, depreciation, expansion, and similar items. These rentals and charges shall not bring any profit to any agency over and above the costs of operation, necessary reserves, and debt service.

(5) To issue permits to itinerant dealers in intrastate commerce, who express a willingness to come under the program of the state marketing authority. Such permits shall enable the holders to solicit orders and to buy and sell produce under the rules and regulations of the authority and in conformance with §§ 106-185 to 106-196 and not inconsistent with the United States Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act, one thousand nine hundred and thirty (46 Stat. 531).

(6) To issue bonds and other securities to obtain funds to acquire, construct, and equip warehouses to be used in carrying out the purposes of this article. The bonds shall be entitled "North Carolina Marketing Authority Bonds" and shall be issued in such form and denominations and shall mature at such time or times, not exceeding thirty years after their date, and shall bear such interest, not exceeding five per cent per annum, payable either annually or semi-annually, as the authority shall determine. They shall be signed by the chairman of the authority, and the corporate seal affixed or impressed upon each bond and attested by the secretary-treasurer of the authority. The coupons shall bear the facsimile signature of the chairman officiating when the bonds are issued. Any issue of these bonds and notes may be sold publicly, or at private sale for not less than par to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or other state or federal agency, or may be given in exchange to any county, city, town or individual for the lease or purchase of property to be used by the authority. To secure such indebtedness, the authority may give mortgages or deeds of trust, executed in the same manner as the bonds, on the property purchased or acquired, and may pledge the revenues from the markets in excess of operating expenses, interest and insurance: Provided, that each market shall be operated on a separate financial basis, and only such revenues and properties of each separate market shall be liable for the obligations of that market. No obligations incurred by the authority shall be obligations of the state of North Carolina or any of its political subdivisions, or a burden on the taxpayers of the state or any political subdivision. This does not prevent the state or any of its agencies, departments or institutions, or any private or public agency from making a contribution to the authority, in money or services or otherwise.

Bonds and notes issued under this article shall be exempt from all state, county or municipal taxes or assessments of any kind; the interest shall not be taxable as income, nor shall the notes, bonds, nor coupons be taxable as part of the surplus of any bank, trust company or other corporation.

Any resolution or resolutions authorizing any bonds shall contain provisions which shall be a part of the contract with the holders of the bonds, as to:

(a) Pledging the fees, rentals, charges, dues, tolls, and inspection and sales fees, and other revenues to secure payment of the bonds;

(b) the rates of the fees or tolls to be charged for the use of the facilities of the warehouse or warehouses, and the use and disposition of the revenues from its operation;

(c) the setting aside of reserves or working funds, and the regulation and disposition thereof;

(d) limitations on the purposes to which the proceeds of sale of any issue of bonds may be applied;

(e) limitations on the issuance of additional bonds; and

(f) the procedure, if any, by which the terms of any contract with bondholders may be amended or abrogated, the amount of bonds the holders of which must consent thereto, and the manner in which such consent may be given.

(7) To accept grants in aid or free work.

(8) To adopt, use and alter a corporate seal.

(9) To dispossess tenants for nonpayment of rent and for failure to abide by the regulations of the authority.

(10) To hire necessary agents, engineers, and attorneys, and to do all things necessary to carry out the powers granted by this article. (1941, c. 39, s. 3.)

§ 106-531. Discrimination prohibited; restriction on use of funds.—The authority shall not permit:

(1) Any discrimination against the sale, on any of the markets under their control, of any farm product because of type of operator or area of production.

(2) The use of any of its funds for any purpose other than for the support, necessary expansion, and operation of this state marketing system, or the use of any of its funds to establish any retail market or to build or furnish more than one market in any town. (1941, c. 39, s. 4.)

§ 106-532. Fiscal year; annual report to governor.—The authority shall operate on a fiscal year, which shall be from July first to June thirtieth. The commissioner of agriculture shall file an annual report with the governor containing a statement of receipts and disbursements and the purposes of such disbursements, and a complete statement of the financial condition of the authority, and an account of its activities for the year. (1941, c. 39, s. 5.)

§ 106-533. Application of revenues from operation of warehouses.—All rentals and charges, fees, tolls, storage and sales commissions and revenues of any sort from operation of each warehouse shall be applied to the payment of the cost of operating and administering the warehouse and market facilities including interest on bonds and other evidences of indebtedness issued therefor, and the cost of insurance against loss by injury to persons or property, and the balance shall be paid to the secretary-treasurer of the authority and be used to provide a sinking fund to pay at or before maturity all bonds and notes and other evidences of indebtedness incurred for and on behalf of the building, constructing, maintaining and operating of each warehouse. A separate sinking fund account shall be kept for each market, and no market shall be liable for the obligations of any other market. (1941, c. 39, s. 6.)

§ 106-534. Exemption from taxes and assessments.—The authority shall be regarded as performing an essential governmental function in constructing, operating or maintaining these markets, and shall be required to pay no taxes or assessments on any property acquired or used by it for the purposes herein set out. (1941, c. 39, s. 7.)

§ 106-536. Additional net profits due grower not affected.—The minimum amount to be paid the grower by those furnishing said supplies under the terms of this article shall in no wise affect any additional net profit due the grower, should any such additional profits be shown. (1941, c. 354, s. 2.)

§ 106-537. Minimum payments only compensation for labor and use of equipment, land, etc.—The payment of the stipulated ten dollars ($10.00) per bag of said seed potatoes furnished said grower or growers by any firm, person, association or corporation shall be compensation only for labor and work done and for the use of any animal or machine and equipment used or furnished by said grower or growers, and also use of land in growing said potato crop, and this amount shall be paid to said grower from returns from said crops so produced; and the said ten dollars ($10.00) shall not be computed as any part of any other expenses furnished by said person, firm, association or corporation furnishing other materials or supplies for the purpose of said share planting. (1941, c. 354, s. 3.)

§ 107-5. Plan submitted to department of conservation and development. — If the viewers report that the project is practicable, and that it will be for the public welfare and conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then all of the data and reports of the proceedings shall be submitted to the department of conservation and development, which shall designate:

1. An engineer to survey and approve of the boundaries and drainage and road plans.

2. An attorney of reputation to examine and approve of the chains of title submitted.

3. A forester to make an estimate of the cost of clearing.

4. A soil expert to report on the availability of the land for agricultural purposes. (1917, c. 131, s. 3; C. S. 4963.)

§ 107-6. District established, if department approves. — The department of conservation and development shall consider these reports, data, and plans, and, if he approves the same, shall so certify to the clerk of the court, who shall then declare the district established. (1917, c. 131, s. 3; C. S. 4964.)

§ 107-7. Board of agricultural development commissioners appointed. — After the said district shall have been declared established as aforesaid, and the complete plans therefor approved, the clerk shall appoint two persons, one of whom shall be a landowner of the district, the other a practical agriculturist of good character, not a landowner of the district, and these two shall choose a third, who may or may not be a landowner of the district, and the three so appointed and chosen shall be designated as the Board of Agricultural Development Commissioners of District. (1917, c. 131, s. 4; C. S. 4965.)

§ 107-8. Commissioners incorporated; powers; officers; superintendent's bond. — Such commissioners when so appointed and chosen shall be immediately created a body corporate under the name and style of the Board of Agricultural Development Commissioners of District (hereinafter called "the commissioners" or "the board of commissioners"), with the right to hold property and convey the same, to sue and be sued, and shall possess such other powers as usually pertain to corporations. They shall organize by electing from among their number a chairman and vice-chairman. They shall also elect a secretary, within or without their body, and shall adopt by-laws for the government of their proceedings. The treasurer of the county in which the proceedings are instituted shall be ex officio treasurer of such board of commissioners. Such board of commissioners shall adopt a seal, which it may alter at pleasure. They shall have and possess such powers as are herein granted. The name of such district shall constitute a part of its corporate name. The commissioners shall appoint a competent person as superintendent of construction; such person shall furnish a bond, to be approved by the commissioners, in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned upon the honest and faithful performance of his duties. Such bond shall be in favor of the board of commissioners. In the event of any vacancy in the membership of the board of commissioners the remaining members shall fill such vacancy, subject to the approval of the court. (1917, c. 131, s. 4; C. S. 4966.)

§ 107-9. Classification of lands according to benefits. — It shall be the further duty of the viewers to personally examine the lands in the district and classify them with reference to the benefits they will receive from the improvements to be made. The land benefits shall be separated into five classes. The land receiving the highest benefit shall be marked Class A; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class B; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class C; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class D; and that receiving the smallest benefit, Class E. The holdings of any one landowner need not necessarily be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though its boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on the map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined, and the total number of acres in each class in the entire district shall be ascertained and presented in tabulated form. The scale of assessment upon the several classes of land returned by the viewers shall be in the ratio of five, four, three, two, and one; that is to say, as often as five cents per acre is assessed against the land in Class A, four cents per acre shall be assessed against the land in Class B, and three cents per acre in Class C, and two cents per acre in Class D, and one cent per acre in Class E. This shall form the basis of assessment for benefits to the lands of the district. (1917, c. 131, s. 5; C. S. 4967.)

§ 107-10. Appeal from viewers' report. — Any party aggrieved may, within ten days after the confirmation of the viewers' report, appeal to the superior court in term-time. Such an appeal shall be taken and prosecuted as now provided in special proceedings. Such an appeal shall be based and heard only upon such exceptions theretofore filed by the complaining party, either as to issue of law or fact, and no additional exceptions shall be considered by the court upon the hearing of the appeal. (1917, c. 131, s. 6; C. S. 4968.)

§ 107-11. Letting contract for construction. — The commissioners shall cause notice to be given for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein said district is located, and such additional publication elsewhere as they deem expedient, of time and place of letting the work of construction, and in such notice they shall specify the approximate amount of work to be done, the time fixed for the completion thereof, and the date appointed for the letting. They, together with the superintendent of the district, shall convene and let to the lowest responsible bidder, either as a whole or in part, or in sections, as they deem most advantageous for the district, the proposed work. The landowners may bid on the work, and in the event of their securing the contract, the work shall be done at actual cost, it being distinctly understood that the landowners are to receive no profit from said contract, and any saving effected shall inure to the benefit of the district. No bids shall be entertained that exceed the estimated cost, except for good and satisfactory reasons it shall be shown that the original estimate was erroneous. The commissioners shall have the right to reject all bids and advertise again the work, if in their judgment the interest of the district will be subserved by so doing. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the board of commissioners, and to execute a bond for the faithful performance of such contract, with sufficient surety, in favor of the board of commissioners for the use and benefit of the district, in an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the estimated cost of the work awarded to him. In canvassing bids and letting the contract the superintendent of construction shall act only in an advisory capacity to the board of commissioners. The contract shall be based on the plans and specifications submitted by the commissioners in a report, and confirmed by the court, the original of which shall remain on file in the office of the clerk and shall be open to the inspection of all prospective bidders. All bids shall be sealed and shall not be opened except under authority of the commissioners, and on the date therefor appointed for the opening of bids. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for three per centum of the amount of the bid. (1917, c. 131, s. 7; C. S. 4969.)

§ 107-12. Payment for work done. — The superintendent of construction shall make monthly estimates of the amount of work done and shall furnish one copy to the contractor and file the other with the secretary of the board of commissioners, and the commissioners shall within five days after filing of such estimate meet and direct the secretary to draw a warrant in favor of the contractor for ninety per centum of the work done according to the specifications and contract; and upon the presentation of such, properly signed by the chairman or vice-chairman and secretary, to the treasurer of the district, he shall pay the amount due thereon. When the work is fully completed and accepted by the superintendent, he shall make an estimate for the whole amount due, including the amounts withheld on the previous monthly estimates, which shall be paid from the fund as before provided. In the event that the landowners receive the contract, the monthly payments shall cover only the actual cost of the work, as certified by the superintendent of construction, to whose certificates shall be attached all payrolls and vouchers. If any contractor to whom said work shall have been let shall fail to perform the same according to the terms specified in his contract, action may be had in behalf of the commissioners against such contractor and his bond in the superior court, for damages sustained in the district, and recovery made against such contractor and his sureties. In such an event the work shall be advertised and relet in the same manner as the original letting. (1917, c. 131, s. 8; C. S. 4970.)

§ 107-13. Record book kept by clerk. — The clerk shall provide a suitable book to be known as the Record Book of the Agricultural Development Commissioners of District, in which he shall cause to be recorded every petition, motion, order, record, judgment, or finding of the board of commissioners in every transaction which may come before it, in such a way as to make a complete and continuous record of the case; copies of all the maps and plans are to be furnished by the commissioners, and marked by the clerk "Official Copy," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one of the copies shall be pasted or otherwise attached to his record. (1917, c. 131, s. 9; C. S. 4971.)

tents; execution.—After the classification of the land and ratios of assessment of the different classes to be made thereon has been confirmed by the court, the commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of improvement, including all incidental expenses, and shall certify under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board of commissioners to the clerk the said total cost, and said certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the record book and open to the inspection of any landowner in the district. The commissioners shall immediately prepare in duplicate the assessment rolls or agricultural improvement tax lists, giving therein the names of the owners of the land in the district as ascertained from the public records, a brief description of the several tracts of land assessed, and the assessment against each tract of land. The first of these assessment rolls shall provide assessments sufficient for the payment of interest on the bond issue to accrue the third year after their issue and the installment of principal to fall due at the expiration of the third year after the date of issue, together with such amounts as shall have to be paid for the collection and handling of the same. The second assessment roll shall make like provision for the fourth year, and in like manner assessment rolls shall make provision for each succeeding year during the life of the bonds. Each of the said assessment rolls shall specify the time when collectible, and shall be numbered in their order, and the amounts assessed against the several tracts of land shall be in accordance with the benefits received, as shown by the classification and ratio of the assessment made by the viewers. These assessment rolls shall be signed by the clerk and by the secretary of the board of commissioners. (1917, c. 131, s. 10; C. S. 4972.)

§ 107-15. Filing and collection of assessment rolls; to be lien on land.—One copy of each of said assessment rolls shall be filed in the record book and one copy shall be delivered to the sheriff or other county tax collector, after the clerk has appended thereto an order directing the collection of said assessment, and the said assessment shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of state and county taxes. These assessments shall constitute a first and paramount lien, second only to state and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner, by the same officers, as the state and county taxes are collected. (1917, c. 131, s. 10; C. S. 4973.)

§ 107-16. When assessments due; sale of delinquent lands.—The said assessments shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September each year, and if the same shall not be paid in full by the thirty-first day of December following, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to sell the land or lands so delinquent. The sale of lands for failure to pay such assessments shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the lands are located, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon, on the first Monday of February of each year; and if for any necessary cause the sale cannot be made on that date, the sale may be continued from day to day for not exceeding four days, or the land may be readvertised and sold on the first Monday in March succeeding, during the same hours, without any order therefor. In all other respects, except as to the time of the sale of the land, the existing laws as to the collection of state and county taxes shall have application to the collection of assessments under this article. (1917, c. 131, s. 10; C. S. 4974.)

§ 107-17. Settlement by tax collector.—It shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to pay over to the county treasurer promptly the moneys so collected by him upon said tax assessments, to the end that the said treasurer may have funds in hand to meet the payment of interest and principal due upon outstanding bonds as they mature. (1917, c. 131, s. 10; C. S. 4975.)

§ 107-18. Payment of interest and installments on bonds; county treasurer's liability.—It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, and without any previous order from the commissioners, to provide and pay the installments of interest at the time and place as evidenced by the coupons attached to said bonds, and also to pay the annual installments of principal due on said bonds at the time and place as evidenced by said bonds; and the said county treasurer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject, on conviction, to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, if he shall neglect or fail to make prompt payment of said interest and principal of said bonds, and shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue to the board of commissioners or holders of said bonds, to either or both of which a right of action is hereby given. (1917, c. 131, s. 10; C. S. 4976.)

§ 107-19. New assessment on sale of land.—When any land in the district is sold, as provided in § 107-16, the court shall assess the new owner thereof, and deduct the amount of the new assessment from the assessment of the former owner, and correct the assessment rolls accordingly. (1917, c. 131, s. 10; C. S. 4977.)

§ 107-20. Advertisement of intention to issue bonds.—The commissioners shall give notice for three weeks, by publication in some newspaper published in the county in which the district or a part of the district is situated, and shall also post a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of improvement, giving the amount of the bonds to be issued, the rate of interest they are to bear, and the time when payable. Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may within fifteen days after the publication of said notice pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, to be assessed from the classification sheet and certificate of the board of commissioners, showing the total cost of improvements, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for such improvements. (1917, c. 131, s. 11; C. S. 4978.)

§ 107-21. Landowner's waiver.—Each and every person owning land in the district who shall fail to pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable as aforesaid, within the time above specified, shall be deemed as consenting to the issuance of the bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his proportion in installments, he hereby waives his right of defense to the payment of any assessment which may be levied for the payment of the bonds because of any irregularity or defect in the proceedings prior to this time, except in the case of an appeal as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver. (1917, c. 131, s. 12; C. S. 4979.)

§ 107-22. Bond issue.—At the expiration of fifteen days after the expiration of the notice of the bond issue, the board of commissioners may issue bonds of the district for an amount equal to the total estimated cost of the improvements, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer, plus an amount sufficient to pay interest on the bond issue for the three years next following the date of the issue: Provided, that the total principal amount of the bonds to be issued shall not exceed fifty dollars per acre for the land to be improved.

These bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum, payable semiannually, and shall be paid in twenty equal installments. The first installment of the principal shall mature at the expiration of three years from the date of issue, and one installment for each succeeding year for nineteen additional years. The commissioners shall sell these bonds at not less than par and apply the proceeds to the payment of interest on said bonds for the three years next following the date of issue, and the payment of other expenses of the district provided for in this chapter. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the district specified on their face. The bonds shall be numbered by the board of commissioners and recorded in the record book, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereinbefore provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by said bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall be due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months, the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made shall have a right of action against said district, or the board of commissioners of said district, wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against said district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or specific assessment as herein provided and the collection of the same in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installment of principal and interest and the cost of said action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this chapter. The official bonds of the tax collector and the county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned them. Such official bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners. (1917, c. 131, s. 13; C. S. 4980.)

§ 107-23. Fees allowed sheriff and treasurer.—The fee allowed the sheriff or the tax collector for collecting the tax as prescribed in this chapter shall be two per centum of the amount collected, and the fee allowed the county treasurer for disbursing the revenue obtained from the sale of the bonds shall be one per centum of the amount disbursed: Provided, no fee shall be allowed to the sheriff or other tax collector, or to the county treasurer, for collecting or receiving the revenue obtained from the sale of said bonds, nor for disbursing the revenue raised for paying off said bonds: Provided further, that in those counties where the sheriff, tax collector, and treasurer are on a salary basis, no fee whatever shall be allowed for collecting or disbursing the funds of the district. (1917, c. 131, s. 13, (2d): C. S. 4981.)

§ 107-24. Fees and expenses under chapter.—Any engineer employed under the provisions of this chapter shall receive such compensation for his services as shall be fixed and determined by the commissioners. The viewers, other than the engineer, shall receive five dollars per day; the rodman, axeman, chainman, and other laborers shall receive not to exceed two dollars per day. All other fees and costs incurred under the provisions of this chapter shall be the same as are usual for like services in other cases. Said costs and expenses shall be paid, by order of the court, out of the funds provided for that purpose, and the board of commissioners shall issue warrants therefor when funds shall be in the hands of the treasurer. Any engineer, viewer, superintendent of construction, or other person appointed under this chapter may be removed by the court, upon petition, for corruption, neglect of duty, or other good and satisfactory cause shown. (1917, c. 131, s. 14; C. S. 4982.)

§ 107-25. Liberal construction; defects in proceeding.—The provisions of this chapter shall be liberally construed to promote the objects herein declared and for the general welfare of the state. The collection of assessments shall not be defeated, whether proper notices have been given, by reason of any defect in the proceedings occurring prior to the order of the court confirming the final report of the commissioners; but such orders shall be conclusive and final that all prior proceedings were regular and according to law, unless they were appealed from. If on appeal the court shall deem it just and proper to release any person, or modify his assessment or liability, it shall in no manner affect the rights and legality of any other person than the appellant, and the failure to appeal from the order of the court within the time specified shall be a waiver of any illegality in the proceedings, and the remedies provided for in this chapter shall exclude all other remedies. (1917, c. 131, s. 15; C. S. 4983.)

§ 108-1. Appointment, term of office, and compensation.—There shall be appointed by the governor seven members who shall be styled "The State Board of Charities and Public Welfare," and at least one of such persons shall be a woman. The terms of office of the members of the board shall be six years. Upon the expiration of the terms of office of the present members of the board, the governor shall appoint their successors as follows: three members to be appointed on April first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three and every six years thereafter; two members to be appointed on April first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five and every six years thereafter; and two members to be appointed on April first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven and every six years thereafter. Any vacancy in the board at present or which may hereafter arise from any cause whatsoever shall be filled for the residue of the term by appointment by the governor. The governor shall designate the chairman of the board so selected, which chairmanship so designated may be changed as the governor may deem best to promote the efficiency of the service. The members of the board shall serve without pay, except that they shall receive their necessary expenses: Provided, however, that the chairman of the said board, when acting as a member of the state board of allotments and appeal shall receive a per diem to be fixed by the director of the budget, together with actual expenses incurred in attending meetings. Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1943 amendment the members of the board were elected by the general assembly.

For act validating prior appointments of members of the state board of charities and public welfare and all prior acts of the board, see Session Laws 1943, c. 775, s. 2.

§ 108-2. § 108-3. Powers and duties of board.—The board shall have the following powers and duties, to-wit:

1. To investigate and supervise, through and by its own members or its agents or employees, the whole system of the charitable and penal institutions of the state, and to recommend such changes and additional provisions as it may deem needful for their economical and efficient administration.

2. To study the subjects of nonemployment, poverty, vagrancy, housing conditions, crime, public amusement, care and treatment of prisoners, divorce and wife desertion, the social evil

5. To grant license for one year to such persons or agencies to carry on such work as it believes is needed and is for the public good, and is conducted by reputable persons or organizations, and to revoke such license when in its opinion the public welfare or the good of the children therein is not being properly subserved; Provided, subsection five shall not apply to any orphanage chartered by the laws of the State of North Carolina, owned by a religious denomination or a fraternal order, and having a plant and assets not less than sixty thousand dollars ($60,000), nor shall it apply to orphanages operated by fraternal orders, under charters of other states, which have complied with the corporation laws of North Carolina and have that amount of property.

6. To issue bulletins and have same printed and in other ways to inform the public as to social conditions and the proper treatment and remedies for social evils.

In the event the two members thus appointed are unable to agree upon the selection of the third member, such third member shall be appointed by the resident judge of the superior court of the district in which the county is situated.

The county welfare boards of the several counties shall have the duty of selecting the county superintendent of public welfare, shall act in advisory capacity to county and municipal authorities in developing policies and plans in dealing with problems of dependency and delinquency, distribution of the poor funds, and with bettering social conditions generally, including cooperation with other agencies in placing indigent persons in gainful enterprises, shall prepare the administrative budget for the county welfare department for submission to and approval by the board of county commissioners, and shall have such other powers and duties as may be prescribed by law, particularly those set forth in the laws pertaining to old age assistance and aid to dependent children. The superintendent so appointed shall assume his duties on the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one. All subsequent vacancies in the position of superintendent of public welfare shall be filled by the county board from an open competitive or promotional register.

Such director, under the authority and supervision of the commissioner of welfare, shall have charge of the administration of the division herein created, and shall actively direct its affairs; and shall perform such other duties as may be required of him by the rules and regulations adopted by the state board. Part 1. Old Age Assistance.

§ 108-17. Short title.—This title may be cited as the "Old Age Assistance Act." (1937, c. 288, s. 30.)

§ 108-18. Establishment of relief.—The care and relief of aged persons who are in need and who are unable to provide for themselves is a legitimate obligation of government which cannot be ignored or avoided without injustice to such persons and serious detriment to the purposes of organized society. Such care and relief is hereby declared to be a matter of state concern and necessary to promote the public health and welfare. In order to provide such care and relief at public expense, to the extent that the same may be proper, with due regard to the revenues which the state may equitably enjoy, and with due regard for other necessary objects of public expenditure, a state-wide system of old age relief is hereby established, to operate uniformly throughout the state and in every county thereof, and with due regard to the varying living conditions and the financial, physical, and other conditions of the recipient of such relief, more particularly dealt with in this article. The provisions of this article are mandatory on the state, and each and every county thereof, and, whenever the levy of any tax is required or directed herein, it shall be understood that the said tax is levied for a special purpose; and full authority is hereby given to the boards of county commissioners of the several counties to levy, impose, and collect the taxes herein required for the special purpose of old age assistance, as defined and provided for in this article. (1937, c. 288, s. 3.)

"Assistance" as used under this title means the money payments to needy aged persons.

"Deputies" and "supervisors" shall mean such persons as may be designated and appointed by the state board to exercise its power and duty of supervision under this article.

Acceptance of federal grants.—The provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, relating to grants in aid to the state for old age assistance and the benefits thereunder, are hereby accepted and adopted, and the provisions of this article shall be liberally construed in relation to the said Federal Social Security Act, so that the intent to comply therewith shall be made effectual. (1937, c. 288, s. 5.)

§ 108-21. Eligibility.—Assistance shall be granted under this article to any person who:

Eligibility of applicants to receive benefits under this title, and the amount of assistance given, and such other conditions of award as it may be necessary to determine shall be determined in the manner hereinafter set out.

The amount of assistance which any person shall receive shall be determined with due regard to the resources and necessary expenditures of the individual and the conditions existing in each case, and in accordance with the rules and regulations made by the state board; and shall be sufficient when added to all other income and support of recipients to provide such person with a reasonable subsistence compatible with decency and health, but not exceeding thirty dollars ($30.00) per month or three hundred sixty dollars ($360.00) during one year; and of this not more than fifteen dollars ($15.00) per month nor more than one hundred eighty dollars ($180.00) in one year shall be paid out of state and county funds. This fund shall be created by appropriations made by the state from its ordinary revenues and such grants as may be made for old age assistance under the Federal Social Security Act. Said fund shall be used exclusively for the relief of aged persons coming within the eligibility provisions of this title and the cost of administration of the same. The appropriations to be made by the state for such purpose shall be supplemented by the amount provided under the Federal Social Security Act for old age assistance and such further amount as the state may appropriate for the administration of this article. From said fund there shall be paid as hereinafter provided three-fourths of the benefit payments to aged persons in accordance with the provisions hereof, and the other one-fourth of said payments shall, subject to the provisions of § 108-73, be provided by the several counties of the state as hereinafter required. (1937, c. 288, s. 7; 1943, c. 505, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "73" for "74" in line twenty-one. It also struck out the former last sentence which read as follows: "The cost of administering the provisions of this title shall be, in part, paid from said fund in accordance with § 108-39."

§ 108-23. State appropriation.—At its present session, and biennially thereafter, the general assembly shall appropriate out of its ordinary revenues, for the use of such fund, such amount as shall be reasonably necessary to carry out the provisions of this article, and provide relief to the aged persons coming within the eligibility provisions herein set out, to such an extent as may be proper upon due consideration of the ability of the state to produce sufficient revenues, and with due regard to other necessary objects of public expenditure. Any proceeds of county taxation for the purposes of this article remaining unexpended shall be taken into account in determining the amount to be raised by taxation during the ensuing year, but shall not be used for any purpose not authorized by this article. (1937, c. 288, s. 10.)

§ 108-26. Custody and receipt of funds.—The treasurer of the state of North Carolina is hereby made ex officio treasurer of the State Old Age Assistance Fund herein established, including therein such grants in aid for old age assistance as may be received from the federal government for administration and distribution in this state; and the said treasurer is hereby designated as the proper officer to receive grants in aid from the federal government. The treasurer shall keep the funds in a separate account, to be known as the "State Old Age Assistance Fund," and shall be responsible therefor on his official bond; and the said funds shall be protected by proper depository security as other state funds. The said fund shall be drawn upon and disbursed as hereinafter provided. (1937, c. 288, s. 11.)

ities and public welfare, to be used in carrying out the provisions of this article. (1937, c. 288, s. 13; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1943, c. 505, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added subsections (g) and (h).

The 1943 amendment struck out the words "an annual report and such interim" formerly appearing after the word "Publish" in subsection (f).

§ 108-29. Certain powers and duties of local boards—county welfare boards. — The county boards of welfare shall perform the duties herein required of them with relation to the administration of this article in the several counties, under the supervision and direction of the state board, and in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by said state board.

The county boards of welfare shall:

(a) Report to the state board at such times and in such manner and form as the state board may from time to time direct;

(b) Submit to the state board the information required in this article preliminary to determination of the county's quota of funds and the determination of the amount required to be raised by taxation, together with its estimate and supporting data, setting forth the amount of money needed to carry out the provisions of this article; also submit to the board of county commissioners a duplicate of the estimate and supporting data furnished by it to the state board. Make and report to the state board and to the county board of commissioners such investigation as may be required in order that said state board and boards of county commissioners may be fully informed as to the assistance required by aged persons coming within the eligibility provisions of this article, and may have such other information as may be required for proper determination upon any matter coming before the said boards;

(c) Perform any other duties required of them under this article or by proper rules and regulations made by the state board under authority thereof. (1937, c. 288, s. 14.)

§ 108-30. Application for assistance; determination therein.—Applications for assistance under this article shall be made to the county welfare board of the county in which the applicant resides. Such application shall be in writing and in duplicate, in compliance with the rules and regulations established by the state board, which is required to furnish forms for such applications. Where the applicant is unable to present his application in writing by reason of illiteracy or other cause, the application shall be reduced to writing and filed in duplicate, on such forms as may be supplied by the state board, or substantially in agreement therewith. The county board of welfare, and the county welfare officer, shall render to applicants for assistance under this article such aid and assistance in the preparation of applications as may be necessary. The application shall contain a statement of the amount of property, both real and personal, in which the applicant has an interest, and of all income which he may have at the time of filing the application, and shall contain such other information as may be required by the rules and regulations of the state board. One copy of the application shall be forwarded to the state board.

Whenever a county board of welfare receives an application for assistance under this article, an investigation and record shall promptly be made of the circumstances of the applicant, in order to ascertain the facts supporting the application, and in order to obtain such other information as may be required by the rules of the state board. In the making of such investigation, the county welfare board and the county welfare officer shall make diligent investigation and record promptly all the information which it is reasonably possible to obtain with respect to such application.

Upon the completion of the investigation, the county board of welfare shall, upon due consideration, determine whether the applicant is eligible for assistance under the provisions of this article, and shall determine the amount of such assistance and the date on which it shall begin, but such award shall in no case exceed thirty dollars ($30.00) per month or three hundred sixty dollars ($360.00) in one year, and there shall not be paid thereupon out of state and county funds more than fifteen dollars ($15.00) per month or more than one hundred eighty dollars ($180.00) in one year. Such award so made when effective shall thereafter be paid in advance monthly to the applicant, disbursement being made in the same manner and under the same procedure as in case of other county funds.

The county board of welfare shall promptly notify by mail each applicant of its action disallowing the application or granting assistance, stating, in case award is made, the amount of the award and when assistance shall be paid. A copy of such notice shall be immediately forwarded to the board of county commissioners and a duplicate copy forwarded to the state board of allotments and appeal. The state board is hereby authorized and empowered to establish and enforce reasonable rules and regulations governing the custody, use and preservation of the records, papers, files and communications relating to applicants and recipients. It shall be unlawful, except for purposes directly connected with the administration of old age assistance and in accordance with the rules and regulations of the state board for any person or persons to solicit, disclose, receive, make use of, or to authorize, knowingly permit, participate in, or acquiesce in the use of, any list of or names of, or any information concerning, persons applying for or receiving old age assistance, directly or indirectly derived from the records, papers, files, or communications of the state board or the county welfare board or acquired in the course of the performance of official duties. (1937, c. 288, s. 15; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1941, c. 232.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1939 amendment the application was required to be verified by the oath of the applicant. The 1941 amendment substituted the last two sentences above in lieu of the former last sentence of the last paragraph.

§ 108-31. Action by county commissioners.—The board of county commissioners, in the event that they shall be of the opinion that any award made by the county board of welfare should be reconsidered and reviewed by them, shall have the right to review such award. In case of such action by the board of county commissioners, notice shall be given to the applicant fixing the time and place at which such reconsideration will be held. In the event the board of county commissioners deems that any award should be in any respect changed, an order shall be made thereon accordingly and notice thereof given to the applicant and a copy sent to the county board of welfare and the state board of allotments and appeal. (1937, c. 288, s. 16.)

§ 108-32. Assistance not assignable.—The assistance granted under this article shall not be transferable or assignable at law or in equity; and none of the money paid or payable under this article shall be subject to execution, levy, attachment, garnishment, or other legal process, or to the operation of any bankruptcy or insolvency law. (1937, c. 288, s. 17.)

§ 108-33. State board of allotments and appeal. — For the purpose of making allotment of state and federal funds to the several counties, and of giving to applicants appealing from the county boards a fair hearing and determination upon such applications and appeal, there shall be created within the state board of charities and public welfare and as an agency of said board, subject to its supervision and control by rules and regulations adopted by it, a body to be known as "The State Board of Allotments and Appeal," consisting of three members as follows:

The chairman of the state board of charities and public welfare;

The commissioner of welfare;

The director of public assistance, established by this article; all of whom shall be ex officio members of the state board of allotments and appeal. The chairman of the state board of charities and public welfare shall be the chairman of the board of allotments and appeal.

If an application is not acted upon by the county welfare board within a reasonable time, or is denied in whole or in part, or if any award of assistance is modified or canceled under any provisions of this article, the applicant or recipient may appeal to the board of allotments and appeal in the manner and form prescribed by the said board of allotments and appeal. The board of allotments and appeal shall, upon receipt of such an appeal, give the applicant or recipient, the board of county commissioners and the county board of welfare reasonable notice and opportunity for a fair hearing. Upon such hearing the applicant or recipient shall have an opportunity of presenting his claim in full to the board upon such evidence as may be pertinent or proper; and the board of allotments and appeal shall diligently inquire into the matter, and shall approve or disapprove or modify the action of the county board of welfare or the board of county commissioners, as in the judgment of the board of allotments and appeal may be just and proper.

Upon any appeal from the board of county commissioners or county board of welfare, it shall be the duty of such board to forward to the board of allotments and appeal a certified copy of the order refusing assistance or granting the same, with such information, in brief, as may bear upon the application and the action of the board of commissioners or county board of welfare, and such papers and documents or other matter as may be required under the rules of the state board of allotments and appeal, or under its order in the particular matter.

When the state board of allotments and appeal shall have made its final decision upon the matter, notice thereof shall be given to the applicant or recipient and to the board of county commissioners and county board of welfare. The decision of the state board of allotments and appeal shall be final.

The state board of allotments and appeal may also, on notice to the board of county commissioners and county board of welfare, upon its own motion, review any decision of the board of county commissioners or county board of welfare, and may consider any application upon which a decision has not been made within thirty days. The state board of allotments and appeal may make such additional investigation as it may deem necessary in all cases, and make such decision thereupon as in its opinion is justified and in conformity with the provisions of this article. Applicants, or recipients, affected by such decision of the state board of allotments and appeal shall, upon request, be given reasonable notice and opportunity for a fair hearing by the state board of allotments and appeal. All decisions of the state board of allotments and appeal shall be final and shall be binding upon the county involved, and shall be complied with by the board of county commissioners and county board of welfare.

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment substituted "a reasonable time" for "thirty days" formerly appearing in line twenty-two.

§ 108-34. Periodic reconsideration and changes in amount of assistance. — All assistance grants made under this article shall be reconsidered as frequently as may be required by the rules of the state board. It shall be the duty of the county welfare board, with the assistance of the county welfare officer, to keep fully advised as to questions concerning old age assistance and the propriety and necessity of the continuance thereof to recipients and as to such changed conditions relating to recipients as may affect the necessity for such assistance or the amount thereof.

Where changes have occurred in the condition of any recipient requiring a modification or cancellation of an award, the county board of welfare is authorized and empowered to make such changes as the facts and circumstances may justify and in accordance with the provisions of this law. Prompt notice of such action shall be given to the recipient, and a copy of such notice shall be sent to the state board and board of county commissioners. Such action on the part of the county board shall be subject to review by the state board as provided in cases of original awards, and the recipient shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the state board of allotments and appeal as in cases of original awards. (1937, c. 288, s. 19.)

§ 108-35. Removal to another county. — Any recipient who moves to another county in this state shall be entitled to receive assistance in the county to which he has moved, and the county welfare superintendent of the county from which he has moved shall transfer all necessary records relating to the recipient to the county welfare superintendent of the county to which he has moved. The county from which the recipient moves shall pay the assistance for a period of three months following such removal, not in excess of amount paid before removal, and thereafter assistance shall be paid by the county to which such recipient has moved. (1937, c. 288, s. 20; 1943, c. 505, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted the words "county welfare superintendent" for the former words referring to the board of county commissioners. It also struck out the former second paragraph.

§ 108-36. Procedure preliminary to allotments and county taxation; investigation and report.—It shall be the duty of the county welfare boards to make diligent investigation within the county and obtain and record statistical and other information concerning aged persons in the county entitled to assistance under this article, and to keep such information compiled in convenient accessible form. Therefrom they shall, annually, on or before the first day of May, compile and make a report to the board of county commissioners, for their better information and guidance, which report shall contain a concise statement or estimate of the total amount necessary to be expended within the county to carry out the provisions of this article for the next ensuing fiscal year, accompanied by such supporting data as the state board of allotments and appeal may require. Such reports shall be made on forms furnished by the state board, or in compliance with the rules and regulations of said state board. A copy thereof shall be immediately forwarded to the state board.

Upon the information so furnished, and such other information as may be available, or may be obtained upon such further investigation as the board of commissioners may see proper to make, the board of commissioners shall make a careful estimate of the amount necessary to be expended within the county for the purposes of this article for the ensuing fiscal year, and, separately stated, the amount necessary to be raised by county taxation. The board of county commissioners shall, annually, on or before the first day of May, make a report to the state board of allotments and appeal, which report shall contain the said estimates, with supporting data, in such form and detail as the board of allotments and appeal may require. (1937, c. 288, s. 21.)

§ 108-37. Allocation of funds.—As soon as may be practicable after receiving the said reports, and before the time for the annual levy of taxes in the respective counties, the state board of allotments and appeal shall proceed to ascertain and determine the amount of state and federal funds available for disbursement in the counties for the purposes of this article for the next ensuing fiscal year. The board shall, at the same time, determine the amount to be raised in each of the respective counties by taxation to supplement the state and federal funds allotted to such county. The allotment of state and federal funds to any county shall not exceed three times the amount to be raised in said county by local taxation, except as provided in § 108-73.

The determination of such amount by the board of allotments and appeal shall be final and binding upon the several counties respectively, and shall be a part of the county budget. The county commissioners shall, at the time of levying other taxes, levy and impose upon all the taxable subjects within the county a tax sufficient to produce such amount; and the same shall be collected as other taxes.

The proceeds of such taxes shall be kept in a separate fund in the county treasury, and shall be subject to the provisions of the Local Government Act with respect to depository security and control, and shall be used only for the purposes of this article. It shall be the duty of the board of allotments and appeal to inquire into the condition of the said fund from time to time and to require that such protection be afforded the funds as occasion may demand. The funds shall be disbursed for the purposes of this article on warrants drawn on the county treasurer or other designated county officials where there is no county treasurer, signed by the secretary of the county welfare board, countersigned by the county auditor and chairman of the welfare board, for both payments of grants to recipients and for administrative purposes: Provided, that in the event any temporary vacancy should exist in the office of county welfare superintendent, or in the office of chairman of the county welfare board, the signature of either remaining officer together with that of the county auditor shall be sufficient for the disbursement of such funds. (1937, c. 288, s. 22; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1943, c. 505, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment changed the last sentence, and the 1943 amendment added the proviso thereto.

§ 108-38. Administration expenses.—The state board of allotments and appeal shall annually allocate to the several counties of the state, in accordance with the total amount of benefit payments to be paid in each county for old age assistance therein, the sum provided by the federal government under the Social Security Act for payment of administrative expenses. Any amounts in excess of said allotments to the several counties, which are necessary to the proper administration of this article by the several counties, shall be determined by the state board of allotments and appeal upon budgets submitted to said board by the county welfare boards in each county. Said determination shall be made on or before the first day of June in each year.

After being so determined, one-half of such costs shall be allocated and paid to the respective counties by the state board of allotments and appeal from the appropriation made by the state for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article. The other half of said county administrative expenses shall be paid by the respective counties. The state board of allotments and appeal shall, on or before the first day of June in each year, notify the board of county commissioners in each county as to the amount of administrative expenses such county is required to provide, and upon receipt of such notice it shall be mandatory upon each county that taxes shall be levied within said county to provide for the payment of such part of such county's administrative expenses.

The county board of commissioners and the county board of welfare, in joint session, shall determine the number and salary of employees of the county board of welfare, having been advised by the county superintendent of welfare and the state board of charities and public welfare. (1937, c. 288, s. 23; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1941, c. 232.)

graph. The 1941 amendment struck out the former first paragraph of this section.

§ 108-39. Transfer of state and federal funds to the counties.—The state old age assistance fund shall be drawn out on the warrant of the state auditor, issued upon order of the state board, evidenced by the signature of the commissioner of welfare. Quarterly, and oftener, if in the sound judgment of the state board it may be necessary, the state board shall transfer to the several counties such part of the county allotment as may be necessary for disbursement in such county, in connection with county-raised funds, for a reasonable period. Before transferring said funds the state board may, in its discretion, require that the county shall certify, through its auditor or fiscal agent, that sufficient county funds are on hand to pay the county quota of disbursement corresponding to the amount of state funds to be so transferred. The state board of allotments and appeal is authorized, in its discretion, to transfer to any county for the first quarter in any fiscal year an amount sufficient to pay in full the awards approved in such county, one-fourth of said amount being advanced to the county in anticipation of the collection of taxes. Such amount so advanced shall be deducted from allotments thereafter to be made to such county within the fiscal year.

The funds so transferred shall go into the county old age assistance fund, and be subject to all the provisions of the Local Government Act as to custody and depository protection; and the state board may require such additional protection to such funds as they may deem proper.

When in the judgment of the state board the disbursement of funds in the counties to recipients entitled to assistance is being unduly delayed, or the payments to such recipients jeopardized, the state board may require, as a condition for the allotment or transmission of any funds to the county for disbursement, that such awards shall be promptly paid, and may withhold the funds from such counties until satisfied that the awards are being paid with promptness and certainty. When in its judgment the public interest may require and the funds collected in the county for disbursement hereunder may be better protected, and greater promptness and certainty may be secured in payment of awards to recipients entitled to receive same, the state board may demand and require that the funds raised by taxation in any county be transmitted to the treasurer of the state, subject to disbursement under such rules and regulations as the state board may adopt. Immediately upon notice to the board of county commissioners of the county affected, and to the officials of the said county having any such funds in custody, such board of county commissioners and officials shall immediately transfer all of such funds and pay over the same to the state treasurer for disbursement, under the rules and regulations aforesaid. (1937, c. 288, s. 24.)

§ 108-40. Accounts and reports from county officers.—The boards of county commissioners shall cause proper accounts to be kept of the receipts and disbursements under this article, and shall make a quarterly report to the state board in detail, showing such receipts and the persons to whom disbursements have been made, and the amount thereof. Such reports may be required by the state board as often as may be deemed necessary. The accounts shall at all times be open to inspection by the state board and its authorized auditors, supervisors and deputies. (1937, c. 288, s. 25.)

§ 108-41. Further powers and duties of state board.—The state board is authorized and directed to make such reports as may be required by the federal government under the Social Security Act; to keep the funds received from the federal government in such manner and in such account, and cause the same to be disbursed as may be required by such federal administrative authority, notwithstanding any provisions hereof; and the provisions of this article with respect to the handling, disbursement of federal funds, where contrary to the rules and regulations of federal authority, shall be deemed directory only, so that such rules and regulations shall prevail; but otherwise they shall be mandatory. (1937, c. 288, s. 26.)

§ 108-42. Fraudulent acts made misdemeanor.—Whoever knowingly obtains, or attempts to obtain, or aids or abets any person to obtain, by means of a wilfully false statement or representation or by impersonation, or other fraudulent device, assistance to which he is not entitled, or assistance greater than that to which he is justly entitled; and whoever aids or abets in buying or in any way disposing of the property, either real or personal, of a recipient of assistance with the intent to defeat the purposes of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1937, c. 288, s. 27.)

§ 108-43. Limitations of article.—All assistance granted under this article shall be deemed to be granted and to be held subject to the provisions of any amending or repealing act that may hereafter be passed, and no recipient shall have any claim for compensation, or otherwise, by reason of his assistance being affected in any way by any amending or repealing act. (1937, c. 288, s. 28.)

Part 2. Aid to Dependent Children.

§ 108-44. Short title.—This title may be cited as the "Aid to Dependent Children Act." (1937, c. 288, s. 60.)

§ 108-45. Establishment of relief.—The care and relief of dependent children who are in need and who are unable to provide for themselves is a legitimate obligation of government which cannot be ignored or avoided without injustice to such persons and serious detriment to the purposes of organized society. Such care and relief is hereby declared to be a matter of state concern and necessary to promote the public health and welfare. In order to provide such care and relief at public expense, to the extent that the same may be proper, with due regard to the revenues which the state may equitably enjoy, and with due regard for other necessary objects of public expenditure, a statewide system of aid to dependent children is hereby established, to operate uniformly throughout the state and in every county thereof, and with due regard to the varying living conditions and the financial, physical, and other conditions of the recipient of such relief, more particularly dealt with in this article. The provisions of this article are mandatory on the state, and each and every county thereof, and whenever the levy of any tax is required or directed herein, it shall be understood that the said tax is levied for a special purpose; and full authority is hereby given to the boards of county commissioners of the several counties to levy, impose, and collect the taxes herein required for the special purpose of aid to dependent children as defined and provided for in this article. (1937, c. 288, s. 31.)

§ 108-46. Definitions.—As used in this article, “state board” shall mean the state board of charities and public welfare, established by this chapter.

“The county board of welfare” shall mean the county board of charities and public welfare of each of the several counties, as now established by law, subject to such modifications as may be made by law.

“Applicant” shall mean any person who has applied for relief for dependent children under this title.

“Recipient” shall mean any person who has received assistance for dependent children under the provisions of this title.

“Assistance” as used under this title means the money payments for aid to dependent children.

“Social security board” shall be interpreted to include any agency or agencies of the federal government which may be substituted therefor by law. (1937, c. 288, s. 32; 1939, c. 395, s. 1.)

Editor’s Note.—The 1939 amendment defined “social security board.”

§ 108-47. Acceptance of federal grants.—The provisions of the Federal Social Security Act, relating to grants in aid to the state for aid to dependent children, and the benefits thereunder, are hereby accepted and adopted, and the provisions of this article shall be liberally construed in relation to the said Federal Social Security Act, so that the intent to comply therewith shall be made effectual. (1937, c. 288, s. 33.)

§ 108-48. Amount of relief.—The maximum amount to be allowed per month under this article shall not exceed eighteen dollars ($18.00) for one child and twelve dollars ($12.00) additional per month for each of the other dependent children in the home eligible to assistance under this article: Provided, the total amount shall not exceed sixty-five dollars ($65.00), except in extraordinary circumstances in which it appears to the satisfaction of the state board that a total of sixty-five dollars ($65.00) per month would be insufficient to secure the purpose above set forth. (1937, c. 288, s. 34.)

§ 108-49. Dependent children defined.—The term “dependent child” as used in this article shall mean a child under sixteen years of age, or under eighteen years of age if regularly attending school, who is living with his or her father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, brother, sister, stepfather, stepmother, stepbrother, stepsister, uncle or aunt, adoptive father, adoptive mother, grandfather-in-law, great grandfather, grandmother-in-law, great-grandmother, brother of the half-blood, brother-in-law, adoptive brother, sister of the half-blood, sister-in-law, adoptive sister, uncle-in-law, aunt-in-law, great-uncle, and great-aunt, in a place of residence maintained by one or more of such relatives as his or their own home; who has resided in the state of North Carolina for one year immediately preceding the application for aid; or who was born within the state within one year immediately preceding the application if the mother has resided in the state for one year immediately preceding the birth, and who has been deprived of parental support or care by reason of the death, physical or mental incapacity or continued absence from the home of a parent, and who has no adequate means of support: Provided, that in all cases of desertion every effort shall be made in compliance with the provisions of §§ 14-322 to 14-335 inclusive, to apprehend the parent and charge him with the support of the said child, but this provision shall in no wise affect the eligibility of a dependent child, or children, for aid to dependent children, or the right of the county board of welfare to make awards therefor. (1937, c. 288, s. 35; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1941, c. 232.)

Editor’s Note.—The 1939 amendment added the part of the proviso beginning with the word “but”. The 1941 amendment made this section applicable to school children under eighteen. It also added to the list of relatives, beginning with “adoptive father.”

§ 108-50. Eligibility.—To be eligible to receive aid for a dependent child or children as hereinbefore defined in § 108-49, the said father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, brother, sister, stepfather, stepmother, stepbrother, stepsister, uncle, or aunt, adoptive father, adoptive mother, grandfather-in-law, great-grandfather, grandmother-in-law, great-grandmother, brother of the half-blood, brother-in-law, adoptive brother, sister of the half-blood, sister-in-law, adoptive sister, uncle-in-law, aunt-in-law, great-uncle, and great-aunt, in whose own home the said dependent child resides shall maintain a safe and proper home for himself, or themselves, and said dependent child or children. (1937, c. 288, s. 36; 1941, c. 232.)

Editor’s Note.—The 1941 amendment added to the list of relatives, beginning with “adoptive father.” The amendment also corrected an error of reference appearing in the original act but which had been corrected in the section as codified.

§ 108-51. State aid to dependent children fund.—A fund shall be created to be known as “The State Aid to Dependent Children Fund.” This fund shall be created by appropriations made by the state from its ordinary revenues and such grants as may be made for aid to dependent children under the Federal Social Security Act. Said fund shall be used exclusively for the relief of dependent children coming within the eligibility provisions of this title and the cost of administration of the same. The appropriations to be made by the state for such purpose shall be supplemented by the amount provided under the Federal Social Security Act for aid to dependent children and such further amount as the state may appropriate for the administration of this article. From said fund there shall be paid as hereinafter provided three-fourths of the benefit payments to dependent children in accordance with the provisions hereof, the other one-fourth of said payments shall, subject to the provisions of § 108-73, be provided by the several counties of the state as hereinafter required.

In the event that the Federal Social Security Act is amended by providing for a larger percentage of contributions to said fund, the provisions herein made shall be construed to accept such additional grants, and the amounts to be provided for aid to dependent children by state and counties shall be adjusted proportionately. (1937, c. 288, s. 37; 1941, c. 232; 1943, c. 505, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment substituted in the fifth sentence of the first paragraph "three-fourths" for "two-thirds" and "one-fourth" for "one-third."

The 1943 amendment substituted "§ 108-73" for "§ 108-74" in the last sentence of the first paragraph. It also struck out the former last sentence of the first paragraph which read: "The cost of administering the provisions of this title shall be, in part, paid from said funds in accordance with § 108-68."

§ 108-52. State appropriation.—At its present session, and biennially thereafter, the general assembly shall appropriate out of its ordinary revenues, for the use of such fund, such amount as shall be reasonably necessary to carry out the provisions of this article, and provide relief to the dependent children coming within the eligibility provisions herein set out, to such an extent as may be proper upon due consideration of the ability of the state to produce sufficient revenues, and with due regard to other necessary objects of public expenditure. (1937, c. 288, s. 38.)

§ 108-53. County fund.—Annually, at the time other taxes are levied in each of the several counties of the state, there shall be levied and imposed a tax sufficient to raise such an amount as shall be found necessary, in the manner herein-after provided, to supplement the state and federal funds available for expenditure in said county for aid to dependent children. The amount so ascertained shall be an obligation of the county, and the taxes imposed shall be collectible as other taxes. (1937, c. 288, s. 39.)

§ 108-54. Appropriations not to lapse.—No appropriation made for the purpose of this article shall lapse or revert; but the unexpended balances may be considered in the making of further appropriations. Any proceeds of county taxation for the purposes of this article remaining unexpended shall be taken into account in determining the amount to be raised by taxation during the ensuing year, but shall not be used for any purpose not authorized by this article. (1937, c. 288, s. 40.)

§ 108-55. Custody and receipt of funds.—The treasurer of the state of North Carolina is hereby made ex officio treasurer of the state aid to dependent children fund herein established, including therein such grants in aid to dependent children as may be received from the federal government for administration and distribution in this state; and the said treasurer is hereby designated as the proper officer to receive grants in aid from the federal government. The treasurer shall keep the funds in a separate account, to be known as the state aid to dependent children fund, and shall be responsible therefor on his official bond; and the said funds shall be protected by proper depository security as other state funds. The said fund shall be drawn upon and disbursed as hereinafter provided. (1937, c. 288, s. 41.)

§ 108-56. General powers and duties of department of charities and public welfare.—The powers and duties of the state board of charities and public welfare established under Article XI, section seven, of the Constitution of North Carolina, and this chapter, and of the office of commissioner of welfare established thereunder, are not hereby abridged. The powers and duties herein given shall be in addition to those heretofore exercised under existing law; and the state board of charities and public welfare, through the commissioner of welfare as the executive head of the department, is hereby empowered to organize the department into such bureaus and divisions as may be deemed advisable, not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, in order that the work of the entire department shall be co-ordinated on an efficiency basis and duplication of effort may be avoided. (1937, c. 288, s. 42.)

§ 108-57. Certain powers and duties of state board of charities and public welfare.—The state board shall:

(a) Supervise the administration of assistance to dependent children under this article by the county boards;

(b) Make such rules and regulations and take such action as may be necessary or desirable for carrying out the provisions of this article. All rules and regulations made by the state board shall be binding on the counties and shall be complied with by the respective boards of county commissioners and county boards of welfare;

(c) Prescribe the form of and print and supply to the county boards and agencies such forms as it may deem necessary and advisable;

(d) Co-operate with the federal government in matters of mutual concern pertaining to assistance to dependent children, including the adoption of such methods of administration as are found by the federal government to be necessary for the efficient operation of the plan for such assistance;

(e) Make such reports, in such form and containing such information, as the federal government may from time to time require, and comply with such provisions as the federal government may from time to time find necessary to assure the correctness and verification of such reports;

(f) Publish reports as may be necessary.

(g) Enter into reciprocal agreements with public welfare agencies in other states relative to providing for assistance and services to residents, non-residents or transients, and co-operate with other agencies of the state and federal governments in providing such assistance and services and in the study of the problems involved.

(h) The North Carolina state board of charities and public welfare is hereby authorized and empowered to receive grants in aid from the federal government or any state or federal agency for general relief or for any other relief purposes; and all such grants so made and received shall be paid to the state treasurer and credited to the account of the North Carolina state board of charities and public welfare, to be used in carrying out the provisions of this article. (1937, c. 288, s. 43; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1943, c. 505, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added subsections (g) and (h).

The 1943 amendment struck out the words "an annual report and such interim" formerly appearing after the word "Publish" in subsection (f).

§ 108-58. Certain powers and duties of local boards—county welfare boards.—The county boards of welfare shall perform the duties herein required of them with relation to the administration of this article in the several counties, under the supervision and direction of the state board, and in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by said state board.

County boards of welfare shall:

(a) Report to the state board at such times and in such manner and form as the state board may from time to time direct;

(b) Submit to the state board the information required in this article preliminary to determination of the county's quota of funds and the determination of the amount required to be raised by taxation, together with its estimate and supporting data, setting forth the amount of money needed to carry out the provisions of this article; also submit to the board of county commissioners a duplicate of the estimate and supporting data furnished by it to the state board. Make and report to the state board and to the county board of commissioners such investigation as may be required in order that the said state board and boards of county commissioners may be fully informed as to the assistance required by dependent children coming within the eligibility provisions of this article; and may have such other information as may be required for proper determination upon any matter coming before the said boards;

§ 108-59. Application for assistance; determination thereon.—Applications for assistance under this article shall be made to the county welfare board of the county in which the applicant resides. Such application shall be in writing and in duplicate, in compliance with the rules and regulations established by the state board, which is required to furnish forms for such applications. Where the applicant is unable to present his application in writing by reason of illiteracy or other cause, the application shall be reduced to writing and filed in duplicate, on such forms as may be supplied by the state board, or substantially in agreement therewith. The county board of welfare, and the county welfare officer, shall render to applicants for assistance under this article such aid and assistance in the preparation of the applications as may be necessary. One copy of the application shall be forwarded to the state board.

Whenever a county board of welfare receives an application for assistance under this article, an investigation and record shall promptly be made of the circumstances of the children for whom application is made, in order to ascertain the facts supporting the application, and in order to obtain such other information as may be required by the rules of the state board. In the making of such investigation, the county welfare board and the county welfare officer shall make diligent investigation, and record promptly all the information which it is reasonably possible to obtain with respect to such application.

Upon the completion of the investigation the county board of welfare shall, upon due consideration, determine whether the applicant is eligible for assistance under the provisions of this article, and shall determine the amount of such assistance and the date on which it shall begin, but such award shall in no case exceed eighteen dollars ($18.00) for one child and twelve dollars ($12.00) additional per month for each of the other dependent children in the home eligible to assistance under this article: Provided, the total amount shall not exceed sixty-five dollars ($65.00) except in extraordinary circumstances in which it appears to the satisfaction of the state board that a total of sixty-five dollars ($65.00) per month would be insufficient to secure the purposes above set forth. Such award so made when effective shall thereafter be paid in advance monthly to the applicant, disbursement being made in the same manner and under the same procedure as in the case of other county funds.

The county board of welfare shall promptly notify by mail each applicant of its action disallowing the application for granting assistance, stating, in case award is made, the amount of the award and when assistance shall be paid. A copy of such notice shall be immediately forwarded to the board of county commissioners and a duplicate copy forwarded to the state board of allotments and appeal.

The state board is hereby authorized and empowered to establish and enforce reasonable rules and regulations governing the custody, use and preservation of the records, papers, files and communications relating to applicants and recipients. It shall be unlawful, except for purposes directly connected with the administration of aid to dependent children and in accordance with the rules and regulations of the state board for any person or persons to solicit, disclose, receive, or make use of, or to authorize, knowingly permit, participate in, or acquiesce in the use of, any list of or names of, or any information concerning, persons applying for or receiving aid to dependent children, directly or indirectly derived from the records, papers, files, or communications of the state board or the county welfare board or acquired in the course of the performance of official duties. (1937, c. 288, s. 45; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1941, c. 232.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1939 amendment the application was required to be verified by the oath of the applicant. The 1941 amendment added the paragraph at the end of this section.

§ 108-60. Action by county commissioners.—The board of county commissioners, in the event that they shall be of the opinion that any award made by the county board of welfare should be reconsidered and reviewed by them, shall have the right to review such award. In case of such action by the board of county commissioners, notice shall be given to the applicant fixing the time and place at which such reconsideration will be held. In the event the board of county commissioners deem that any award should be in any respect changed, an order shall be made thereon accordingly and notice thereof given to the applicant and a copy sent to the county board of welfare and the state board of allotments and appeal. (1937, c. 288, s. 46.)

§ 108-61. Assistance not assignable.—The assistance granted under this article shall not be transferable or assignable at law or in equity; and none of the money paid or payable under this article shall be subject to execution, levy, attachment, garnishment, or other legal process, or to the operation of any bankruptcy or insolvency law. (1937, c. 288, s. 47.)

§ 108-62. State board of allotments and appeal.—For the purpose of making allotment of state and federal funds to the several counties, and of giving to applicants appealing from the county boards a fair hearing and determination upon such applications and appeal, the state board of allotments and appeal, created under § 108-33 shall as an agency of the state board have complete and final jurisdiction. If an application is not acted upon by the county welfare board within thirty days or is denied in whole or in part, or if any award of assistance is modified or canceled under any provisions of this article, the applicant or recipient may appeal to the board of allotments and appeal in the manner and form prescribed by the said board of allotments and appeal. The board of allotments and appeal shall, upon receipt of such an appeal, give the applicant or recipient and the board of county commissioners and county board of welfare reasonable notice and opportunity for a fair hearing. Upon such hearing the applicant or recipient shall have an opportunity of presenting his claim in full to the board upon such evidence as may be pertinent or proper; and the board of allotments and appeal shall diligently inquire into the matter, and shall approve or disapprove or modify the action of the county board of welfare and the board of county commissioners, as in the judgment of the board of allotments and appeal may be just and proper.

Upon any appeal from the board of county commissioners, it shall be the duty of such board to forward to the state board of allotments and appeal a certified copy of the order refusing assistance or granting the same, with such information, in brief, as may bear upon the application and the action of the board of commissioners, and such papers and documents or other matter as may be required under the rules of the board of allotments and appeal, or under its order in the particular matter.

When the state board of allotments and appeal shall have made its final decision upon the matter, notice thereof shall be given to the applicant or recipient and to the board of county commissioners and the county board of welfare. The decision of the state board of allotments and appeal shall be final.

The state board of allotments and appeal may also on notice to the board of county commissioners and county board of welfare, upon its own motion, review any decision of the board of county commissioners or county board of welfare and may consider any application upon which a decision has not been made within thirty days. The state board of allotments and appeal may make such additional investigation as it may deem necessary in all cases and make such decision thereupon as in its opinion is justified and in conformity with the provisions of this article. Applicants, or recipients, affected by such decision of the state board of allotments and appeal shall, upon request, be given reasonable notice and opportunity for a fair hearing by the board of allotments and appeal. All decisions of the state board of allotments and appeal shall be final and shall be binding upon the county involved, and shall be complied with by the board of county commissioners and the county board of welfare.

The state board may authorize hearings of appeals in any county by other representatives selected by said boards, subject to final determination by the state board of allotments and appeal. (1937, c. 288, s. 48.)

§ 108-63. Periodic reconsideration and changes in amount of assistance.—All assistance grants made under this article shall be reconsidered as frequently as may be required by the rules of the state board. It shall be the duty of the county welfare board, with the assistance of the county welfare officer, to keep fully advised as to questions concerning aid to dependent children and the propriety and necessity of the continuance thereof to recipients and as to such changed conditions relating to recipients as may affect the necessity for such assistance or the amount thereof.

Where changes have occurred in the condition of any recipient requiring a modification or cancellation of an award, the county board of welfare is authorized and empowered to make such changes as the facts and circumstances may justify and in accordance with the provisions of this law. Prompt notice of such action shall be given to the recipient and a copy of such notice shall be sent to the state board and board of county commissioners. Such action on the part of the county board shall be subject to review by the state board as provided in cases of original awards, and the recipient shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the state board of allotments and appeal as in cases of original awards. (1937, c. 288, s. 49.)

§ 108-64. Removal to another county.—Any resident who moves to another county and continues to have such dependent children in custody in this state shall be entitled to receive assistance in the county to which he has moved, and the county welfare superintendent of the county from which he has moved shall transfer all necessary records relating to the recipient to the county welfare superintendent of the county to which he has moved. The county from which the recipient moves shall pay the assistance for a period of three months following such removal, and thereafter assistance shall be paid by the county to which such recipient has moved. (1937, c. 288, s. 50; 1943, c. 505, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted the words "county welfare superintendent" for the former words referring to the board of county commissioners. It also struck out the former second paragraph.

§ 108-65. Procedure preliminary to allotments and county taxation; investigation and report.—It shall be the duty of the county welfare boards to make diligent investigation within the county and obtain and record statistical and other information concerning dependent children in the county entitled to assistance under this article, and to keep such information compiled in convenient accessible form. Therefrom they shall, annually, on or before the first day of May, compile and make a report to the board of county commissioners, for their better information and guidance, which report shall contain a concise statement or estimate of the total amount necessary to be expended within the county to carry out the provisions of this article for the next ensuing fiscal year, accompanied by such supporting data as the state board of allotments and appeal may require. Such reports shall be made on forms furnished by the state board or in compliance with the rules and regulations of said state board. A copy thereof shall be immediately forwarded to the state board.

Upon the information so furnished, and such other information as may be available, or may be obtained upon such further investigation as the board of commissioners may see proper to make, the board of commissioners shall make a careful estimate of the amount necessary to be expended within the county for the purpose of this article for the ensuing fiscal year, and, separately stated, the amount necessary to be raised by county taxation. The board of county commissioners shall, on or before the first day of May, make a report to the state board of allotments and appeal, which report shall contain the said estimates, with supporting data, in such form and detail as the board of allotments and appeal may require. (1937, c. 288, s. 51; 1943, c. 505, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "May" for "April" in the second sentence of the second paragraph.

§ 108-66. Allocation of funds.—As soon as may be practicable after receiving the said reports, and before the time for the annual levy of taxes in the respective counties, the state board of allotments and appeal shall proceed to ascertain and determine the amount of state and federal funds available for disbursement in the counties for the purposes of this article for the next ensuing fiscal year. The board shall, at the same time, determine the amounts to be raised in each of the respective counties by taxation to supplement the state and federal funds allotted to such county. The allotment of state and federal funds to any county shall not exceed three times the amount to be raised in said county by local taxation, except as provided in § 108-73.

The determination of such amount by the board of allotments and appeal shall be final and binding upon the several counties respectively, and shall be a part of the county budget. The county commissioners shall, at the time of levying other taxes, levy and impose upon all the taxable subjects within the county a tax sufficient to produce such amount; and the same shall be collected as other taxes.

The proceeds of such taxes shall be kept in a separate fund in the county treasury, and shall be subject to the provisions of the Local Government Act with respect to depository security and control, and shall be used only for the purposes of this article. It shall be the duty of the board of allotments and appeal to inquire into the condition of the said fund from time to time and to require that such protection be afforded the funds as occasion may demand. The funds shall be disbursed for the purposes of this article on warrants drawn on the county treasurer or other designated county officials where there is no county treasurer, signed by the secretary of the county welfare board, countersigned by the county auditor and chairman of the welfare board, for both payments of grants to recipients and for administrative purposes. (1937, c. 288, s. 52; 1939, c. 395, s. 1; 1941, c. 232.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment changed the last sentence.

The 1941 amendment substituted the words "three times" for the word "twice" formerly appearing in the last sentence of the first paragraph.

§ 108-67. Administration expenses.—The state board of allotments and appeal shall annually allocate to the several counties of the state the sum provided by the federal government under the Social Security Act for payment of administrative expenses. Any amounts in excess of said allotments to the several counties, which are necessary to the proper administration of this article by the several counties, shall be determined by the state board of allotments and appeal upon budgets submitted to said board by the county welfare boards in each county. Said determination shall be made on or before the first day of June in each year.

After being so determined, one-half of such costs shall be allocated and paid to the respective counties by the state board of allotments and appeal from the appropriation made by the state for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article. The other half of said county administrative expenses shall be paid by the respective counties. The state board of allotments and appeal shall, on or before the first day of June in each year, notify the board of county commissioners in each county as to the amount of administrative expenses such county is required to provide, and upon receipt of such notice, it shall be mandatory upon each county that taxes shall be levied within said county to provide for the payments of such part of such county's administrative expenses. (1937, c. 288, s. 53; 1941, c. 232; 1943, c. 505, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment struck out the former first paragraph of this section. It also substituted the words "aid to dependent children" for the words "old age assistance" as appearing in the original act. However, this correction had already been made in the section as codified.

The 1943 amendment struck out the words "in accordance with the total amount of benefit payments to be paid in each county for aid to dependent children therein," formerly appearing after the word "state" in line three of the first paragraph.

§ 108-68. Transfer of state and federal funds to the counties.—The aid to dependent children fund shall be drawn out on the warrant of the state auditor, issued upon order of the state board, evidenced by the signature of the commissioner of welfare. Quarterly, and oftener, if in the sound judgment of the state board it may be necessary, the state board shall transfer to the several counties such part of the county allotment as may be necessary for disbursement in such county, in connection with county-raised funds for a reasonable period. Before transferring said funds the state board may, in its discretion, require that the county shall certify, through its auditor or fiscal agent, that sufficient county funds are on hand to pay the county quota of disbursement corresponding to the amount of state funds to be so transferred. The state board of allotments and appeal is authorized, in its discretion, to transfer to any county for the first quarter in any fiscal year an amount sufficient to pay in full the awards approved in such county, one-fourth of said amount being advanced to the county in anticipation of the collection of taxes. Such amount so advanced shall be deducted from allotments thereafter to be made to such county within the fiscal year.

The funds so transferred shall go into the county aid to dependent children fund, and be subject to all the provisions of the Local Government Act as to custody and depository protection; and the state board may require such additional protection to such funds as they may deem proper.

When in the judgment of the state board the disbursement of funds in the counties to recipients entitled to assistance is being unduly delayed, or the payments to such recipients jeopardized, the state board may require, as a condition for the allotment or transmission of any funds to the county for disbursement, that such awards shall be promptly paid, and may withhold the funds from such counties until satisfied that the awards are being paid with promptness and certainty. When in its judgment the public interest may require and the funds collected in the county for disbursement hereunder may be better protected, and greater promptness and certainty may be secured in payment of awards to recipients entitled to receive same, the state board may demand and require that the funds raised by taxation in any county be transmitted to the treasurer of the state, subject to disbursement under such rules and regulations as the state board may adopt. Immediately upon notice to the board of county commissioners of the county affected, and to the officials of the said county having any such funds in custody, such board of county commissioners and officials shall immediately transfer all of such funds and pay over the same to the state treasurer for disbursement, under the rules and regulations aforesaid. (1937, c. 288, s. 54; 1937, c. 405; 1943, c. 505, s. 10.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "one-fourth" for "one-third" in the fifth line from the end of the first paragraph.

§ 108-69. Accounts and reports from county officers. — The boards of county commissioners shall cause proper accounts to be kept of the receipts and disbursements under this article, and shall make a quarterly report to the state board in detail, showing such receipts and the persons to whom disbursements have been made, and the amount thereof. Such reports may be required by the state board as often as may be deemed necessary. The accounts shall at all times be open to inspection by the state board and its authorized auditors, supervisors, and deputies. (1937, c. 288, s. 55.)

§ 108-70. Further powers and duties of state board.—The state board is authorized and directed to make such reports as may be required by the federal government under the Social Security Act; to keep the funds received from the federal government in such manner and in such account, and cause the same to be disbursed as may be required by such federal administrative authority, notwithstanding any provisions hereof; and the provisions of this article with respect to the handling, disbursement of federal funds, where contrary to the rules and regulations of federal authority, shall be deemed directory only, so that such rules and regulations shall prevail; but otherwise they shall be mandatory. (1937, c. 288, s. 56.)

means of wilfully false statement or representation or by impersonation, or other fraudulent device, assistance to which he is not entitled, or assistance greater than that to which he is justly entitled, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1937, c. 288, s. 57.)

§ 108-72. Limitations of article.—All assistance granted under this article shall be deemed to be granted and to be held subject to the provisions of any amending or repealing act that may hereafter be passed, and no recipient shall have any claim for compensation, or otherwise, by reason of his assistance being affected in any way by any amending or repealing act. (1937, c. 288, s. 58.)

§ 108-73. Equalizing fund.—The state board of allotments and appeal is authorized and directed to set apart and reserve out of the appropriation authorized to be made by the state under § 108-23, relating to old age assistance, and under § 108-52, relating to aid to dependent children, such an amount of said funds appropriated by the state to the respective funds as shall be found by the state board of allotments and appeal to be necessary for the purpose of equalizing the burden of taxation in the several counties of the state, and the benefits received by the recipients of awards under this article, and such amount shall be expended and disbursed solely for the use and benefit of needy aged persons and dependent children coming within the eligibility provisions of this article. Said amount shall be distributed to the counties according to the needs therein in conformity with the rules and regulations adopted by the state board of allotments and appeal, producing, as far as practicable, a just and fair distribution thereof: Provided, however, that no county shall be entitled to share in such equalizing fund unless the rate of tax necessary to be levied in such county for the purposes of this article is in excess of ten cents on the one hundred dollar valuation of taxable property therein: Provided further, the state board of allotments and appeal shall not allot to any county from such equalizing fund more than three-fourths of the cost to such county in excess of the amount produced in such county by a levy and collection of a tax rate of ten cents on the one hundred dollar valuation of taxable property therein.

After determining the amount to be allotted to any county from such equalizing fund, the state board of allotments and appeal shall determine the amount to be raised in such county by taxation to supplement the state and federal funds allotted to said county as in this article otherwise provided, and it shall be mandatory upon the boards of county commissioners in the several counties to annually levy taxes in accordance therewith. (1937, c. 288, s. 62; 1943, c. 505, s. 11.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment called for a change in the number referred to in line six which had already been made upon codification.

General Provisions.

§ 108-74. Organization; appointment of agencies; employment.—The state board shall have opportunity to set up such organization as may in its judgment be deemed proper to secure the economic and efficient administration of this article, not inconsistent with other provisions hereof. It may delegate such powers as may be lawfully delegated to such persons and agencies as will expedite the prompt execution of the duties of the board in ministerial matters; may appoint auditors, accountants, supervisors, and deputies, and other agents to aid it in its supervisory powers and to secure the proper care of the funds and administration of the law; and may employ clerical and other assistance. Except as herein otherwise provided, the salaries and compensation paid to the personnel shall be fixed by the budget commission, and the number of salaried persons and employees shall be subject to the approval of the budget commission. The organization shall likewise be such as to meet the approval of the Federal Social Security Authority in charge of the old age assistance.

The board is further authorized to pay ordinary expenses incident to administration, and to fix and pay per diem compensation to members of boards to whom new duties have been given and of whom additional service is required under this article. Such compensation shall be subject to the approval of the director of the budget. (1937, c. 288, s. 63.)

§ 108-75. County funds; how provided.—Wherever in this article provisions are made requiring the several counties to annually levy or annually levy and collect taxes to provide for such amounts as such counties are required to pay for old age assistance, or for aid to dependent children, or for the cost of administration, such provisions shall be construed to mean that such counties may provide the sums to be raised by them from any sources of county income or revenue (including borrowing in anticipation of collection of taxes) which may be available for use for such purposes by such counties. (1937, c. 288, s. 63½.)

§ 108-76. Termination of federal aid.—If for any reason there should be a termination of federal aid as anticipated in this article, then and in that event this article shall be ipso facto repealed and rendered null and void: Provided, however, such repeal shall not become or be in force unless and until the governor of the state of North Carolina has issued a proclamation, duly attested by the secretary of state of the state of North Carolina, to the effect that there has been a termination of such federal aid. In the event that this article should be ipso facto repealed as herein provided, the state funds on hand shall be converted into the general fund of the state for such use as may be authorized by the director of the budget, and the county funds accumulated by the provisions of this article in the respective counties of the state shall be converted into the general fund of such counties for such use as may be authorized by the county commissioners. (1937, c. 288, s. 63½-A.)

Art. 4. Home Boarding Fund.

§ 108-77. State boarding home fund created.—The general assembly of North Carolina shall make appropriations to the state board of charities and public welfare for the purpose of providing aid for needy and dependent children and paying their necessary subsistence in boarding homes. The state board of charities and public welfare, from said appropriations, shall maintain a fund to be known and designated as the state boarding home fund, from which said fund there shall be paid, in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the state board of charities and public welfare, the amount necessary to provide homes for the needy and dependent children coming within the eligibility provisions of this article. (1937, c. 135, s. 1.)

§ 108-78. No benefits to children otherwise provided for.—No needy or dependent child shall be eligible for the benefits provided in this article if such child is eligible for benefits provided by Part 2 of Article 3 entitled "Aid to Dependent Children." (1937, c. 135, s. 2.)

§ 108-79. Administration of fund by state board of charities and public welfare.—From the fund so provided, the state board of charities and public welfare may provide for payment of the necessary costs of keeping needy and dependent children in suitable boarding homes, including the children committed to the state board of charities and public welfare under the provisions of § 110-29, provided such children so committed to such state board of charities and public welfare are ineligible for assistance under the "Aid to Dependent Children Act" hereinbefore referred to. Said fund shall be expended under the rules and regulations adopted by the state board of charities and public welfare. (1937, c. 135, s. 3.)

Art. 5. Regulation of Organizations and Individuals Soliciting Public Alms.

§ 108-80. Regulation of organizations, institutions, etc., soliciting public aid for charitable purposes.—All organizations, institutions or associations formed outside the state of North Carolina for charitable purposes, who through agents or representatives or by mail publicly solicit and receive public donations or sell memberships in this state, and all individuals, firms, or organizations selling merchandise, periodicals, books for advertising space of any kind, upon the representation or under the pretense that the whole or any part of the profit derived from the sale or barter of such merchandise, periodicals, books or advertising space, shall be used for charitable purposes, shall be required to file with the state board of charities and public welfare a statement setting forth the name and location of such organization, institution or association, the purposes for which said organization, institution or association exists, the names of its principal officers and soliciting agents, the purposes for which the money solicited is to be expended and the terms under which solicitors are employed. In the case of the selling of merchandise, periodicals, books for advertising space of any kind for charitable purposes, such statement shall set forth the full name of the individual, firm or organization conducting the same, the location at which the sale is to be conducted, the names of all organizations, institutions or associations for whose benefit the sale is conducted, the purposes for which the proceeds thereof are to be expended and the terms, including salaries and commissions, under which all employees are employed. (1939, c. 144, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—For comment on this enactment, see 17 N. C. Law Rev. 333.

§ 108-81. License required for soliciting alms, etc.—It shall be unlawful for an individual to engage in the business of soliciting alms or begging charity for his or her own livelihood upon the streets or highways of this state or through door to door solicitation without first securing a license from the proper licensing agency hereinafter provided for. Any person desiring to engage in the business of begging or soliciting alms shall file with the proper licensing agency hereinafter provided for a written application for a license, stating in the application the name of the person desiring the license, his or her address for the past five years, the purpose for which he or she desires to solicit alms, the manner in which said funds shall be disbursed, and any other reasonable information which may be requested on the license form. The carrying of merchandise by the individual soliciting alms or begging charity shall not exempt the individual so begging from the provisions of this article. (1939, c. 144, s. 1.)

§ 108-82. Issuance of license for blind persons by state commission for blind.—If the individual soliciting alms is blind or visually handicapped, or if the organization, institution or association is soliciting public aid in behalf of the blind or visually handicapped, the application for license shall be referred to the North Carolina state commission for the blind, which application shall be approved or disapproved, giving reasons therefor. If the said application is approved, the license shall be issued by the North Carolina state commission for the blind to said individual, organization, institution or association, its agents and representatives, without expense, authorizing said individual, organization, institution or association to publicly solicit alms or to publicly solicit and receive public donations or sell memberships in any county, city or township in the state. (1939, c. 144, s. 1.)

§ 108-83. Issuance by state department of vocational rehabilitation for crippled, etc., persons.—If the individual soliciting alms is handicapped, or if the organization, institution or association is soliciting public aid in behalf of the crippled, the application for license shall be referred to the North Carolina state department of vocational rehabilitation, which application shall be approved or disapproved, giving reasons therefor. If the said application is approved, the North Carolina state department of vocational rehabilitation shall issue to said individual, organization, institution or association, its agents and representatives, a license, without expense, authorizing said individual, organization, institution or association to publicly solicit alms or to publicly solicit and receive public donations or sell memberships in any county, city or township in the state. (1939, c. 144, s. 1.)

§ 108-84. License for deaf persons issued by bureau of labor for the deaf.—If the individual publicly soliciting alms has impaired hearing, or if the organization, institution or association is soliciting public aid in behalf of the deaf or hard of hearing, the application for license shall be referred to the bureau of labor for the deaf, which application shall be approved or disapproved, giving reasons therefor. If the said application is approved, the bureau of labor for the deaf shall issue to said individual or to said organization, institution or association, its agents and representatives, a license, without expense, authorizing said individual or said organization, institution or association to publicly solicit alms or to publicly solicit and receive public donations or sell memberships in any county, city, or township in the state. (1939, c. 144, s. 1.)

§ 108-85. Other licenses issued by state board of charities and public welfare.—All other applicants desiring to solicit alms publicly, and all other organizations, institutions or associations desiring to solicit public aid for charitable purposes shall make application to the state board of charities and public welfare, and the application for license shall be approved or disapproved, with the reasons therefor. If said application is approved, the state board of charities and public welfare shall issue to the said individual or to the said organization, institution or association, its agents and representatives, a license, without expense, authorizing said individual or said organization, institution or association to publicly solicit alms or to publicly solicit and receive public donations, or sell memberships in any county, city or township in the state. Such license shall be valid for one year from and after the date of its issuance, and may be renewed from time to time in the same manner as is herein provided for the original granting thereof. Any license issued to an individual or to an organization, institution or association, under the provisions of this article, may be revoked by the issuing agency for cause shown, and after reasonable notice to said individual or to said organization, institution or association and after due opportunity to be heard. Nothing in this article, however, shall be construed to prohibit any local organization, institution or association from publicly soliciting funds or donations within the county in which such organization, institution or association is located. (1939, c. 144, s. 1.)

§ 108-86. Solicitors required to have on person copy of license with photograph attached.—It shall be unlawful for any agent or representative of any organization, institution or association formed for charitable purposes, which is licensed under the provisions of this article, to publicly solicit and receive donations in this state, unless such agent or representative is provided with a copy of the license of the organization, institution or association which he represents, or by whom he is employed. Attached to such copy of said license, there shall be a photograph of the individual soliciting made within the past twelve months, which photograph must be attested and countersigned by the president, secretary or treasurer of said organization, institution or association by which such agent or representative is employed, or which he represents, certifying that such agent or representative is authorized by such organization, institution or association, to publicly solicit and receive donations for the same. (1939, c. 144, s. 2.)

§ 108-87. Exemptions.—The provisions of this article shall not apply to any appeal or solicitation made in a public religious or charitable or educational service or in a meeting of any lodge or church or Sunday school or charitable organization, or through the public press, American Legion and other patriotic organizations. (1939, c. 144, s. 2a.)

§ 108-88. Violations made misdemeanor.—Any person who shall violate any provisions of this article or who shall solicit alms without first applying for and obtaining a license as herein provided, or who shall solicit funds under any such license and thereafter divert the same to purposes other than that for which they were contributed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not to exceed six months. (1939, c. 144, s. 3.)

§ 108-89. Repeal of laws.—Sections 14-336, 14-337 and 14-338 are hereby repealed only in so far as they are in direct conflict with the provisions of this article. (1939, c. 144, s. 5.)

§ 108-90. Application of article.—Nothing in this article shall apply to any church, religious denomination, civic club, or lodge, which is either located in, resident in, or has communicants or members resident in this state, or their officers, employees or representatives, or to institutions or agencies fostered or promoted by the same (1939, c. 144, s. 5a.)

irregularity or invalidity in the conferring of the office or making of the appointment, or any variance in the penalty or condition of the instrument from the provision prescribed by law, shall be valid and may be put in suit in the name of the state for the benefit of the person injured by a breach of the condition thereof, in the same manner as if the office had been duly conferred on the appointment duly made, and as if the penalty and condition of the instrument had conformed to the provisions of law: Provided, that no action shall be sustained thereon because of a breach of any condition thereof or any part of the condition thereof which is contrary to law. (Rev., s. 279; Code, s. 1891; R. C., c. 78, s. 9; 1842, c. 61; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 16; C. S. 324.)

Editor's Note.—For act requiring sureties on official bonds in Currituck county to be surety, indemnity or guaranty companies, see Session Laws 1943, c. 244.

For an interesting article concerning the law of contracts, and referring generally to the instant section, see 13 N. C. Law Rev. 65, 76.

In General.—This section does not have the effect of introducing into an official bond provisions which are not, but ought to have been inserted in the conditions, so as to extend the liabilities of the obligors; but the purpose is to cure certain defects and irregularities in conferring the office and accepting the instrument, and to maintain its validity as an official undertaking, as far as it goes, notwithstanding the penalty or condition may vary from those prescribed by law. State v. Pool, 27 N. C. 105; State v. McMin, 29 N. C. 344; State v. Jones, 29 N. C. 359; Commissioners v. Magnin, 86 N. C. 286, 289. See also, Midgett v. Nelson, 214 N. C. 396, 397, 199 S. E. 393.

The section had a retroactive operation. State v. Jones, 29 N. C. 359; State v. Pool, 27 N. C. 105.

Official bonds should be liberally construed and any variance in the condition of such an instrument from the provisions prescribed by the law will usually be treated as an irregularity, in view of this section, but this principle does not abrogate the freedom of contract. Washington v. Trust Co., 205 N. C. 382, 385, 171 S. E. 438.

Nor does this rule preclude the parties from contracting in the bond for liability for a shorter period than the official term of office of the principal. Id.

Validity as Common-Law or Voluntary Bonds.—A statutory bond, not duly executed, or not conditioned as required by statute, may be sustained as a common-law or voluntary bond. Chambers v. Witherspoon, 10 N. C. 42; Justices v. Armstrong, 14 N. C. 284; Justice v. Dozier, 14 N. C. 287; Williams v. Ehringhaus, 14 N. C. 297; Vanhook v. Barnett, 15 N. C. 268; Davis v. Somerville, 15 N. C. 382; State v. McAlpin, 26 N. C. 140; Reid v. Humphreys, 52 N. C. 258.

Name of Constable Omitted.—Where a constable's official bond was signed by the obligors but a blank was left for the name of the constable, the omission was not cured by this section. Grier v. Hill, 51 N. C. 572, distinguishing this section.

Failure to Register Constables' Bond.—An irregularity, such as want of registration, will not, under this section, invalidate a constable's bond. Warren v. Boyd, 120 N. C. 56, 26 S. E. 700.

Failure to Name Conditions in Sheriff's Bond.—Failure to name conditions required by section 162-8, relating to sheriff's bonds, will not, under this section, invalidate the bond given. Commissioners v. Sutton, 120 N. C. 298, 26 S. E. 920.

Mistake in Name of Ward in Guardian's Bond.—Where, in the order of a County Court appointing a guardian, the name Margaret is by mistake inserted as that of the ward instead of Miranda, a bond taken according to the proper requisitions, with the right name recited, will, under the operation of this section, be sustained as an official bond. Shuster v. Perkins, 46 N. C. 325.

No Penalty Named in Guardian's Bond.—Where defendants signed a bond intending to make it the guardian bond of their principal, but there was no penalty named in the bond the same being filled in subsequent to the signatures, it was held that this section does not apply, as it is confined to bonds wherein the amount of penalty varies from that fixed by law, being either more or less than the amount. Rollins v. Ebbs, 137 N. C. 355, 49 S. E. 341; Rollins v. Ebbs, 138 N. C. 140, 161, 50 S. E. 577. See dissenting opinion by Clarke, C. J., in the first report of the case.

Who May Sue.—The chairman of a board of fence commissioners, although not named in the tax collector's (sheriff's) bond, may bring suit on the same under this section, when the latter fails to pay the money collected for the erection of fences. Speight v. Staton, 104 N. C. 44, 10 S. E. 86.

Where a register of deeds issued a license for the marriage of a girl under eighteen without the consent of her father, the father is the person injured within the meaning of this section. Joyner v. Roberts, 112 N. C. 111, 114, 16 S. E. 917.

Cited in Barnes v. Lewis, 73 N. C. 138.

§ 109-2. Penalty for officer acting without bond.—Every person or officer of whom an official bond is required, who presumes to discharge any duty of his office before executing such bond in the manner prescribed by law, is liable to a forfeiture of five hundred dollars to the use of the state for each attempt so to exercise his office. (Rev., s. 278; Code, s. 1882; R. C., c. 78, s. 8; C. S. 325.)

Stated in Moffitt v. Davis, 205 N. C. 565, 172 S. E. 317.

§ 109-3. Condition and terms of official bonds.—Every clerk, treasurer, sheriff, coroner, register of deeds, surveyor, and every other officer of the several counties who is required by law to give a bond for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, shall give a bond for the term of the office to which such officer is chosen. (Rev., s. 308; Code, s. 1874; 1869-70, c. 169; 1876-7, c. 275, s. 5; 1895, c. 207, s. 4; 1899, c. 54, s. 54; C. S. 326.)

Stated in Moffitt v. Davis, 205 N. C. 565, 172 S. E. 317.

§ 109-4. When county may pay premiums on bonds.—In all cases where the officers or any of them named in § 109-3 are required to give a bond, and the said officer or officers are paid by a set or fixed salary, the county commissioners of the county in which said officer or officers are elected are authorized and empowered to pay the premiums on the bonds of any and all such officer or officers. (1937, c. 440.)

Local Modification.—Currituck: 1943, c. 269.

Editor's Note.—For act permitting board of commissioners of Guilford county to pay premiums on bonds of deputy sheriffs and constables, see Session Laws 1943, c. 65. For act requiring board of commissioners of Rockingham county to pay premiums on bonds of clerk of superior court, deputy clerks and other employees, see Session Laws 1943, c. 153.

§ 109-5. Annual examination of bonds; security strengthened.—The bonds of the officers named in § 109-3 shall be carefully examined on the first Monday in December of every year, and if it appears that the security has been impaired, or for any cause become insufficient to cover the amount of money or property or to secure the faithful performance of the duties of the office, then the bond shall be renewed or strengthened, the insufficient security increased within the limits prescribed by law, and the impaired security shall be made good; but no renewal, or strengthening, or additional security shall increase the penalty of said bond beyond the limits prescribed for the term of office. (Rev., s. 308; Code, s. 1874; 1869-70, c. 169; 1876-7, c. 275, s. 5; 1895, c. 207, s. 4; 1899, c. 54, s. 54; C. S. 327.)

Cross References.—As to amount of bonds of clerks of the superior courts, see § 2-3; as to amount of bond of county treasurers, see § 155-2; as to amount of bond of sheriffs, see § 162-8; as to amount of bond of coroners, see § 152-3; as to amount of bond of constables, see § 151-3; as to amount of bond of county surveyors, see § 154-2; as to amount of bond of entry-takers, see § 146-17; as to amount of bond of registers of deeds, see § 161-4.

§ 109-6. Effect of failure to renew bond.—Upon the failure of any such officer to make such renewal of his bond, it is the duty of the board of commissioners, by an order to be entered of record, to declare his office vacant, and to proceed forthwith to appoint a successor, if the power of filling the vacancy in the particular case is vested in the board of commissioners; but if otherwise, the said board shall immediately inform the proper person having the power of appointment of the fact of such vacancy. (Rev., s. 309; Code, s. 1875; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 2; C. S. 328.)

§ 109-7. Justification of sureties.—Every surety on an official bond required by law to be taken or renewed and approved by the board of commissioners shall take and subscribe an oath before the chairman of the board or some person authorized by law to administer an oath, that he is worth a certain sum (which shall be not less than one thousand dollars) over and above all his debts and liabilities and his homestead and personal property exemptions, and the sum thus sworn to shall in no case be less in the aggregate than the penalty of the bond. But nothing herein shall be construed to abridge the power of the said board of commissioners to require the personal presence of any such surety before the board when the bond is offered, or at such subsequent time as the board may fix, for examination as to his financial condition or other qualifications as surety. (Rev., s. 310; Code, s. 1876; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 3; 1879, c. 207; 1889, c. 7; 1891, c. 385; 1901, c. 32; C. S. 329.)

Purpose.—Contribution.—The intentment of this section was to provide a statement under oath to show the solvency of the sureties and afford information to the county commissioners under like sanction that the aggregate amount of the bond equaled the penalty required, and does not affect the doctrine of contribution as it relates to the rights of the sureties to contribution between themselves. Commissioners v. Dorsett, 151 N. C. 307, 66 S. E. 132.

Cited in State v. Patterson, 97 N. C. 360, 2 S. E. 262.

§ 109-8. Compelling justification before judge; effect of failure.—When oath is made before any judge of the superior court by five respectable citizens of any county within his district that after diligent inquiry made they verily believe that the bond of any officer of such county, which has been accepted by the board of commissioners, is insufficient either in the amount of the penalty or in the ability of the sureties, it is the duty of such judge to cause a notice to be served upon such officer requiring him to appear at some stated time and place and justify his bond by evidence other than that of himself or his sureties. If this evidence so produced fails to satisfy the judge that the bond is sufficient, both in amount and the ability of the sureties, he shall give time to the officer, not exceeding twenty days, to give another bond, fixing the amount of the new bond, when there is a deficiency in that particular. And upon failure of the said officer to give a good bond to the satisfaction of the judge within the twenty days, the judge shall declare the office vacant, and if the appointment be with himself, he shall immediately proceed to fill the vacancy; and if not, he shall notify the persons having the appointing power that they may proceed as aforesaid. (Rev., s. 316; Code, s. 1885; 1874-5, c. 120; C. S. 330.)

Editor's Note.—In Mitchell v. Kilburn, 74 N. C. 483, Mitchell v. Hubbs, 74 N. C. 484, and Mitchell v. West, 74 N. C. 485, 486, the court refused to consider the constitutionality and construction of this section, because the appeal was improvidently awarded from a motion to dismiss.

§ 109-9. Successor bonded; official bonds considered liabilities.—The person so appointed shall give bond before the judge, and the bond so given shall in all respects be subject to the requirements of the law in relation to official bonds; and all official bonds shall be considered debts and liabilities within the meaning of § 109-7. (Rev., s. 317; Code, s. 1886; 1874-5, c. 120, s. 2; C. S. 331.)

§ 109-10. Judge to file statement of proceedings with commissioners.—When a vacancy is declared by the judge, he shall file a written statement of all his proceedings with the clerk of the board of commissioners, to be recorded by him. (Rev., s. 318; Code, s. 1887; 1874-5, c. 120, s. 3; C. S. 332.)

§ 109-11. Approval, acknowledgment and custody of bonds.—The approval of all official bonds taken or renewed by the board of commissioners shall be recorded by their clerk. Every such bond shall be acknowledged by the parties thereto or proved by a subscribing witness, before the chairman of the board of commissioners, or before the clerk of the superior court, registered in the register's office in a separate book to be kept for the registration of official bonds, and the original bond, with the approval of the commissioners endorsed thereon and certified by their chairman, shall be deposited with the clerk of the superior court, except the bond of said clerk, which shall be deposited with the register of deeds, for safe keeping. (Rev., s. 311; Code, s. 1877; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 4; 1879, c. 207, s. 2; C. S. 333.)

§ 109-12. Clerk records vote approving bond; penalty for neglect.—It is the duty of the clerk of the board of commissioners to record in the proceedings of the board the names of those commissioners who are present at the time of the approval of any official bond, and who vote for such approval. Every clerk neglecting to make such record, besides other punishment, shall forfeit his office. Any commissioner may cause his written dissent to be entered on the records of the board. (Rev., s. 312; Code, ss. 1878, 1881; 1869-70, c. 169, ss. 5, 8; R. C., c. 78, s. 7; 1790, c. 327; 1809, c. 777; C. S. 334.)

Editor's Note.—This section, passed in 1790, serves to show the light in which individual responsibility is regarded by the legislature. See Rawls v. Deans, 11 N. C. 299, 304.

§ 109-13. When commissioner liable as surety.—Every commissioner who approves an official bond, which he knows to be, or which by reasonable diligence he could have discovered to have been, insufficient in the penal sum, or in the security thereof, shall be liable as if he were a surety thereto, and may be sued accordingly by any person having a cause of action on said bond. (Rev., s. 313; Code, s. 1879; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 6; C. S. 335.)

Construed with Section 162-12.—This section supplements and somewhat extends the provision of section 162-12, relating to the liability of sureties on a sheriff's bond. Hudson v. McArthur, 152 N. C. 445, 449, 67 S. E. 995.

Liable to All Injured Persons.—Public officials entrusted in so important a matter as this mandatory statute, are held individually liable to any one injured by their wilful failure or neglect of duty. To hold otherwise would put a premium on inefficiency and neglect. Moffitt v. Davis, 205 N. C. 565, 570, 172 S. E. 317.

Construing this section and § 153-9 together, it is held that the county commissioners may be held individually liable by a person sustaining loss by reason of their failure to perform their ministerial duty of requiring bond of a clerk of the Supreme Court. Id.

Cited in State v. Patterson, 97 N. C. 360, 2 S. E. 362, to show how stringently the obligation of seeing to the sufficiency of the bond is enforced.

§ 109-14. Record of board conclusive as to facts stated.—In all actions under § 109-13 a copy of the proceedings of the board of commissioners in the particular case, certified by their clerk under his hand and the seal of the county, is conclusive evidence of the facts in such record alleged and set forth. (Rev., s. 314; Code, s. 1881; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 8; C. S. 336.)

§ 109-15. Person required to approve bond not to be surety.—No member of the board of commissioners, or any other person authorized to take official bonds, shall sign as surety on any official bond upon the sufficiency of which the board of which he is a member may have to pass. (Rev., s. 315; Code, s. 1887; 1874-5, c. 120, s. 3; C. S. 337.)

Art. 2. Bonds in Surety Company.

§ 109-16. State officers may be bonded in surety company.—All persons who are required to give bond to the state of North Carolina to be received by the governor or by any department of the state government, in lieu of personal security, may give as security for said bond and for the performance of the duties named in the said bond any indemnity or guaranty company authorized to do business in the state of North Carolina, subject to such regulations as the governor or department may prescribe, and with power in them to demand additional security at any time. Any person presenting any indemnity or guaranty company as surety shall accompany his bond with a statement of the insurance commissioner as to the condition of such company as required by law. (Rev., s. 272; 1901, c. 754; C. S. 338.)

Construed against Company.—A surety bond shall be construed most strongly against the company and most favorably to its general intent and essential purpose. Bank v. Fidelity Co., 128 N. C. 366, 38 S. E. 908. See the case as to compliance with requirement of notice of default.

§ 109-17. When surety company sufficient surety on bonds and undertakings.—A bond or undertaking by the laws of North Carolina required or permitted to be given by a public official, fiduciary, or a party to an action or proceeding, conditioned for the doing or not doing of an act specified therein, shall be sufficient when it is executed or guaranteed by a corporation authorized in this state to act as guardian or trustee, or to guarantee the fidelity of persons holding places of public or private trust, or to guarantee the performance of contracts, other than insurance policies, or to give or guarantee bonds and undertakings in actions or proceedings.

The bond or undertaking of a corporation having such power shall be sufficient, although the law or regulation in accordance with which it is given requires two or more sureties, or requires the sureties to be residents or freeholders. But the clerk of the superior court may exercise his discretion as to accepting such a corporation's surety on the bonds of fiduciaries or parties to actions or proceedings. (Rev., s. 273; 1895, c. 270; 1899, c. 54, s. 45; 1901, c. 706; C. S. 339.)

lowed by this section to give guardian bonds, is held to the same liability on a bond given by it as an individual would be, and is responsible to the ward when the guardian's failure to properly perform his duties causes loss to the ward's estate. Roebuck v. National Surety Co., 200 N. C. 196, 156 S. E. 531.

Cited in Pierce v. Pierce, 197 N. C. 348, 349, 148 S. E. 438.

§ 109-18. Clerk to notify county commissioners of condition of company.—Each clerk of the superior court shall furnish the chairman of the board of county commissioners of his county with notice of each surety company licensed in this state, and of each surety company whose license has been revoked, in which any officer of the county has been bonded. (Rev., ss. 295, 4803; C. S. 340.)

§ 109-19. Release of company from liability.—A company executing such bond, obligation or undertaking, may be released from its liability or security on the same terms as are or may be by law prescribed for the release of individuals upon any such bonds, obligations or undertakings. (Rev., s. 274; 1899, c. 54, s. 48; C. S. 341.)

Getting Off Bond.—Under this section a surety company can be released from its liability on a bond only by getting off the bond. Bank v. Fidelity Co., 128 N. C. 366, 38 S. E. 908.

After Expiration.—A surety company is not liable for defalcations committed after the expiration of the term of office to which the bond refers. Blades v. Dewey, 136 N. C. 176, 48 S. E. 627.

§ 109-20. Company not to plead ultra vires.—Any company which executes any bond, obligation or undertaking under the provisions of this article is estopped, in any proceeding to enforce the liability which it assumes to incur, to deny its corporate power to execute such instrument or assume such liability. (Rev., s. 275; 1899, c. 54, s. 49; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5; C. S. 342.)

§ 109-21. Failure to pay judgment is forfeiture.—If a surety company against which a judgment is recovered fails to discharge the same within sixty days from the time such final judgment is rendered, it shall forfeit its right to do business in this state, and the insurance commissioner shall cancel its license. (Rev., s. 275; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5; C. S. 343.)

§ 109-22. On presentation of proper bond officer to be inducted.—Upon presentation to the person authorized by law to take, accept and file official bonds, of any bond duly executed in the penal sum required by law by the officer chosen to any such office, as principal, and by any surety company, as security thereto, whose insurance or guaranty is accepted as security upon the bonds of United States bonded officials (such insurance company having complied with the insurance laws of the state of North Carolina), or by any other good and sufficient security thereto, such bond shall be received and accepted as sufficient, and the principal thereon shall be inducted into office. (Rev., s. 276; 1899, c. 54, s. 53; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5; C. S. 344.)

Estoppel to Deny Validity of Bond.—Although the failure of the treasurer to sign a bond was an irregularity under this section, both the treasurer and the surety recognized their liability thereon by offering a second bond in substitution, and both were estopped to deny the validity of the first bond on the ground of such irregularity. State v. Inman, 203 N. C. 542, 166 S. E. 519.

§ 109-23. Expense of fiduciary bond charged to fund.—A receiver, assignee, trustee, committee, guardian, executor or administrator, or other fiduciary required by law to give a bond as such, may include as part of his lawful expenses such sums paid to such companies for such suretyship to the extent of bond premiums actually paid per annum on the account of such bonds as the clerk, judge or court may allow. (Rev., s. 277; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5; 1939, c. 382; C. S. 345.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment substituted the words "to the extent of bond premiums actually paid" for the words "not exceeding one-half of one per cent."

Art. 3. Mortgage in Lieu of Bond.

§ 109-24. Mortgage in lieu of bond required to be given.—An administrator, executor, guardian, collector or receiver, or an officer required to give an official bond, or the agent or surety of such person or officer, may execute a mortgage on real estate, of the value of the bond required to be given by him to the state of North Carolina, conditioned to the same effect as the bond should be, were the same given, with a power of sale, which power of sale may be executed by the clerk of the superior court, with whom said mortgage shall be deposited, upon a breach of any of the conditions of said mortgage, after advertisement for thirty days. (Rev., s. 265; Code, s. 118; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 2; C. S. 346.)

Mortgage of Intestate's Property.—A mortgage by an administrator on property of his intestate to which the administrator is heir does not comply with an order to increase the bond as such a mortgage does not increase the penalty. Sellers v. Faulk, 118 N. C. 573, 24 S. E. 430.

Failure to Record.—The mortgage or deed in trust permitted by this section, to be given in lieu of an official bond, is, as to proper registration, to be regarded as a mortgage, or deed in trust, and accordingly registered as the law requires, construing the statute strictly, as required; and its entry upon the records in the clerk's office as a bond, alone, without recording it in its proper place as a mortgage is insufficient to give notice to, or priority of lien, over a deed of a subsequent purchaser of the land. Hooper v. Tallassee Power Co., 180 N. C. 651, 105 S. E. 327.

§ 109-25. Mortgage in lieu of security for appearance, costs, or fine.—Any person required to give a bond or undertaking, or required to enter into a recognizance for his appearance at any court, in any criminal proceeding, or for the security of any costs or fine in any criminal action, may also execute a mortgage on real or personal property of the value of such bond or recognizance, payable to the state of North Carolina, conditioned as such bond or recognizance would be required, with power of sale, which power shall be executed by the clerk or justice of the peace in whose court said mortgage is executed, upon a breach of any of the conditions of said mortgage.

Where such mortgage upon real property is executed before a justice of the peace the power of sale shall be enforced by the clerk of the court of the county in which the criminal proceeding is had.

No such mortgage on real property executed for the security for costs or fine shall allow a longer time for payment of said costs or fine than six months from the execution thereof, and no mortgage on personal property a longer time than three months, except in cases of appeal, when the time allowed shall be counted from the date of the final decision in the cause.

All legitimate expenses of sale, which shall only be made after due advertisement according to law, shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged property, as shall also the following fees, to wit: For each sale of real property mortgaged under this section the clerk shall receive two dollars, and for each sale of personal property mortgaged under this section the clerk or justice of the peace who enforces the power of sale shall receive one dollar. (Rev., s. 266; Code, s. 120; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 3; 1891, c. 425, ss. 1, 2, 3; C. S. 347.)

Applicability to Justice's Court.—This section, as it read in the code of 1883, had no application in courts of justices of the peace. Comron v. Standland, 103 N. C. 207, 9 S. E. 317. Since the decision in this case, however, the section has been amended and the words "or justice of the peace" have been inserted near the end of the first paragraph. Ed. Note.

Foreclosure and Sale.—The clerk of the Superior Court may foreclose a mortgage on land given by plaintiff to secure costs of his action when the costs are awarded against him, or the clerk may report the matter to the court for a decree of sale by himself, the latter being the better practice to insure a safer title and prevent a needless sacrifice. Clark v. Fairly, 175 N. C. 342, 95 S. E. 550.

Where the Superior Court, in term, acting through the presiding judge, has duly acquired jurisdiction to decree foreclosure, it is his duty to supervise the sale and see that the land brings a fair price; and when such sale has not been made accordingly, he may set aside the sale, and permit the plaintiff to pay the costs properly chargeable against him. Clark v. Fairly, 175 N. C. 342, 95 S. E. 550.

It is proper for the court to confirm the sale, and possibly it is necessary for him to do so. Clark v. Fairly, 175 N. C. 342, 95 S. E. 550.

A decree of confirmation of the sale of lands to pay the cost of an action under a mortgage given to secure them, under this section, may be set aside by the judge during the term of the Superior Court at which it was entered. Clark v. Fairly, 175 N. C. 342, 95 S. E. 550.

§ 109-26. Cancellation of mortgage in such proceedings.—Any mortgage given by any person in lieu of bond as administrator, executor, guardian, collector, receiver or as an officer required to give an official bond, or as agent or surety of such person or officer, or in lieu of bond or undertaking or recognizance for his appearance at any court in any criminal proceeding, or for the security of any cost or fine in a criminal action which has been registered, when such party as administrator, executor, guardian, collector, or receiver has filed his final account and when the time required by statute for the bond given by any administrator, executor, guardian, collector, or receiver to remain in force for the purpose of action thereon has expired, or when the officer required to give an official bond has fully complied with the conditions of such bond and the time within which suit is allowed by law to be brought thereon has expired, or when the person giving such mortgage in lieu of bond has made his appearance at the court to which he was bound and did not depart the court without leave, or paid the cost or fine required, may be canceled or discharged by the clerk of the Superior Court of the county where such action was pending or where the mortgage in lieu of bond is recorded by entry of 'satisfaction' upon the margin of the record where such mortgage is recorded in the presence of the register of deeds, or his deputy, who shall subscribe his name as a witness thereto, and such cancellation shall have the effect to discharge and release all the right, title and interest of the State of North Carolina in and to the property described in such mortgage. (Rev., s. 267; 1905, c.

Editor's Note.—By the Public Laws of 1925 this section was amended, and the provision relating to cancellation after certain acts of the party "as administrator, executor, guardian, collector, or receiver" was added. The validating clause was omitted from this section, and will now be found as § 109-27.

§ 109-27. Validating statute.—All acts heretofore done by the several Superior Court clerks, canceling or satisfying any mortgage, or other instruments, herein mentioned and specified are hereby validated. (1925, c. 252, s. 2.)

§ 109-28. Clerk of court may give surety by mortgage deposited with register.—In all cases where the clerk of the superior court may be required to give surety, he may deposit a mortgage with the register of deeds, payable to the state, and conditioned, as the bond would have been required, with power of sale. The power of sale shall be executed by the register of deeds, upon a breach of any of the conditions of said mortgage; and the register of deeds shall in all cases immediately register the same, at the expense of the said clerk. (Rev., s. 268; Code, s. 122; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 6; C. S. 349.)

§ 109-29. Mortgage in lieu of bond to prosecute or defend in civil case.—It is lawful for any person desiring to commence any civil action or special proceeding, or to defend the same, his agent or surety, to execute a mortgage on real estate of the value of the bond or undertaking required to be given, at the beginning of said action, or at any stage thereof, to the party to whom the bond or undertaking would be required to be made, conditioned to the same effect as such bond or undertaking, with power of sale, which power of sale may be executed upon a breach of any of the conditions of the said mortgage after advertisement for thirty days. (Rev., s. 269; Code, s. 117; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 1; C. S. 350.)

Strictly Construed.—This section is exceptional in its provisions, and must be strictly observed. Eshon v. Commissioners, 95 N. C. 75, 77. It does not apply where the mortgage was not made to the appellee. Id. This case contains a discussion as to whether section applies in lieu of appeal bond.

Not Applicable to Justice's Court.—This section has no application in courts of justices of the peace. Comron v. Standland, 103 N. C. 207, 99 S. E. 317.

Section Does not Require Mortgage.—This section does not authorize the court to require a party to execute a mortgage of real estate in the case therein provided for. It simply allows the party of whom an undertaking may be required in such cases to give such mortgage instead of it, and the former must be for the same amount as the latter. Wilson v. Fowler, 104 N. C. 471, 472, 10 S. E. 566.

Third Person Executing Mortgage for Defendant.—Where a mortgage is given by a third person for the defendant in an action, as is permitted by this section, and the mortgagor subsequently purchases a part of the mortgaged property, it was held, upon the plaintiff's recovering from the defendant, that the mortgagor has no such interest as will allow him to interfere with the plaintiff's rights under his judgment. Ryan v. Martin, 104 N. C. 176, 10 S. E. 169.

§ 109-30. Affidavit of value of property required.—In all cases where a mortgage is executed, as hereinbefore permitted, it is the duty of the clerk of the court in which it is executed, or of the justice, to require an affidavit of the value of the property mortgaged to be made by at least one witness not interested in the matter, action or proceeding in which the mortgage is given.

(Rev., s. 270; Code, s. 121; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 4; C. S. 351.)

§ 109-31. When additional security required.—If, from any cause, the property mortgaged in lieu of a bond becomes of less value than the amount of the bond in lieu of which the mortgage is given, and it so appears upon affidavit of any person having any interest in the matter as a security for which the mortgage was given, it is the duty of the mortgagor to give additional security by a deposit of money, or the execution of a mortgage on more property, or justify as required in cases where bond or undertaking is given. (Rev., s. 271; Code, s. 119; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 5; C. S. 352.)

Art. 4. Cash Deposit in Lieu of Bond.

§ 109-32. Cash deposit in lieu of bond; conditions and requirements.—In lieu of any written undertaking or bond required by law in any action pending in any court of the state, the party required to make such undertaking or bond may make a cash deposit of the amount required by law in lieu of the said undertaking or bond, and such cash deposit shall be subject to all of the same conditions and requirements as are provided for in written undertakings or bonds, in lieu of which such deposit is made. (1923, c. 58; C. S. 352(a).)

When Applicable.—While this section by its terms applies to pending actions, as suggested in 1 N. C. L. Rev. 283, it is "probably not intended to be limited to pending actions but to apply to all cases in which such undertakings or bonds are required to be given. This extends to all cases the same requirements for making cash deposit as is now required in the plaintiff's undertaking for costs in a civil action, just as a mortgage on real or personal property may be given in lieu of bond or undertaking."

Art. 5. Actions on Bonds.

§ 109-33. Bonds in actions payable to court officer may be sued on in name of state.—Bonds and other obligations taken in the course of any proceeding at law, under the direction of the court, and payable to any clerk, commissioner, or officer of the court, for the benefit of the suitors in the cause, or others having an interest in such obligation, may be put in suit in the name of the state. (Rev., s. 280; Code, s. 51; R. C., c. 13, s. 11; C. S. 353.)

Quoted in Lackey v. Pearson, 101 N. C. 651, 654, 8 S. E. 121.

§ 109-34. Liability and right of action on official bonds.—Every person injured by the neglect, misconduct, or misbehavior in office of any clerk of the superior court, register, entry-taker, surveyor, sheriff, coroner, constable, county treasurer, or other officer, may institute a suit or suits against said officer or any of them and their sureties upon their respective bonds for the due performance of their duties in office in the name of the state, without any assignment thereof; and no such bond shall become void upon the first recovery, or if judgment is given for the defendant, but may be put in suit and prosecuted from time to time until the whole penalty is recovered; and every such officer and the sureties on his official bond shall be liable to the person injured for all acts done by said officer by virtue or under color of his office. (Rev., s. 281; Code, s. 1883; R. C., c. 78, s. 1; 1793,

c. 384, s. 1; 1833, c. 17; 1825, c. 9; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 10; C. S. 354.)

Cross Reference.—As to surety waiving his rights under this section and §§ 109-33, 109-35 by appearing and answering in a summary proceeding, see § 109-36 and the note thereto.

Leave of Court Unnecessary.—The section gives in express terms the right to bring one or more suits upon one or more of the bonds to “every injured person,” not on leave from the Court, but absolutely and unconditionally so soon as the breach occurs, except that it is to be instituted in the name of the state. Boothe v. Upchurch, 110 N. C. 62, 66, 14 S. E. 642.

Constitutes Additional Remedy.—This section is not repugnant to the provisions of section 2-22, which requires that each successive clerk shall receive from his predecessor all the records, moneys, and property of his office, but only gives an additional remedy for the benefit of individuals who have cause of complaint against an unfaithful clerk of the Superior Court. Peebles v. Boone, 116 N. C. 57, 21 S. E. 187.

The failure of a register of deeds to properly index the registry of a mortgage renders him liable on his official bond to one injured by such neglect. State v. Grizzard, 117 N. C. 106, 23 S. E. 93.

Person Injured.—Where H. places a note for collection in a constable's hands, and the constable sues out a warrant, obtains a judgment and receives the amount (even though there is no execution) and fails to pay the same to H., as the person injured is entitled to have the suit brought to his use under this section. Holcomb v. Franklin, 11 N. C. 274, 277.

The father of a girl under eighteen, to whom a marriage license has been issued without the father's consent, is the person injured within the meaning of this section. Joyner v. Roberts, 112 N. C. 111, 114, 16 S. E. 917.

Under this section, claimants of a fund arising from a partition sale are the proper parties to sue on bond of the clerk for failure of clerk to pay funds by the commissioners in partition. Smith v. Patton, 131 N. C. 396, 42 S. E. 849.

An action can be maintained by the clerk of a superior court in his own name upon the official bond of the sheriff, for the recovery of costs accrued in such court and collected by the sheriff, and due and payable to said clerk and others. Jackson v. Maultsby, 78 N. C. 174.

By Virtue or Color of Office.—The last clause of this section is very comprehensive in its terms, scope and purpose. It, on purpose, enlarges the compass of the conditions of official bonds and their purpose, and the Legislature intended by it, it seems, to prevent an evil pointed out in two or three of the cases. There were no adequate reasons why the conditions of official bonds should not extend to and embrace all the official duties of the office, and there were serious ones of justice and policy why they should. All persons interested are bound to accept the official services of such officers, as occasion may require, and they should be made secure in their rights, and have adequate remedy for wrongs done by them. Besides, such officers, indeed all public officers, should be held to a faithful discharge of their duties as such. It is singular that the clause last recited, notwithstanding a well known evil to be remedied, was not enacted until 1883. It first appears as part of The Code. So that now official bonds and the conditions of them embrace and extend to all acts done by virtue or under color of office of the officer giving the bond. Kivett v. Young, 106 N. C. 567, 569, 10 S. E. 1019; Thomas v. Connelly, 104 N. C. 342, 10 S. E. 520.

In State v. Leonard, 68 F. (2d) 228 a sheriff's bond contained a condition limiting the faithful execution of the office to specific duties such as execution of process and in view of this, and the wording of this section, the bond was held to afford no basis for a recovery by a person whom the sheriff wounded while acting in his official capacity.

This section extends the liability on the sheriff's general official bond and imposes liability for wrongful arrest and the use of excessive force in making an arrest under color of office. Price v. Honeycutt, 216 N. C. 270, 4 S. E. (2d) 611.

The surety on a bond of a delinquent tax collector is not liable for an arrest made by the collector in order to force the payment of a delinquent tax, since such act of the tax collector is not done under color of his office and does not come within the condition of the bond that he should “well and truly perform all the duties of his said office.” Henry v. Wall, 217 N. C. 365, 8 S. E. (2d) 223, 127 A. L. R. 854.

Same—Acts Which Should Have Been Performed.—It is true that the clause seems in terms to provide only for acts done by the officer, and not for those which he should do but does not. But it would be putting a very narrow construction on the statute to say that he and his sureties are liable for what he did, but not for what he should have done and did not do, although the damage to the party was equally as great. State v. Grizzard, 117 N. C. 106, 108, 23 S. E. 93.

Same—Illustration of Acts.—Where a clerk appointed the commissioner to make the sale, without bond, and on approving his report received and receipted the proceeds as clerk, took out his costs and entered the amount due each heir at law on his docket, and disbursed a portion of said fund to the parties entitled, this would seem to be a receipt of the fund by the clerk “by virtue of his office.” Cox v. Blair, 76 N. C. 78; McNeill v. Morrison, 63 N. C. 508; Judges v. Deans, 9 N. C. 93.

But if this were otherwise the clerk received it “as clerk,” and so receipted for it. This was certainly a receipt of the money “under color of his office,” and, indeed, this is admitted in the answer. The older decisions were made when these words were not in the statute. The clause embraces all cases where the officer received the money in his official capacity, but when he may not be authorized or required to receive the same. In such case the bond is responsible for the safe custody of the fund so paid in. Presson v. Boone, supra; Sharpe v. Connelly, 105 N. C. 87, 11 S. E. 177; Thomas v. Connelly, 104 N. C. 342, 10 S. E. 520; Ex parte Cassidey, 95 N. C. 225; Brown v. Coble, 76 N. C. 391; Greenlee v. Sudderth, 65 N. C. 470; Broughton v. Haywood, 61 N. C. 380; Smith v. Patton, 131 N. C. 396, 397, 42 S. E. 849.

Under this section of the Code the official bond of a constable is liable for the false imprisonment of a person by a constable, as such, without process or color thereof. Warren v. Boyd, 120 N. C. 56, 26 S. E. 700.

When the Clerk of the Superior Court is appointed receiver of a minor's estate, he takes and holds the funds by virtue of his office of Clerk, and his sureties upon his official bond as such officer are liable for any failure of duty on his part in that respect. Boothe v. Upchurch, 110 N. C. 62, 14 S. E. 642.

Bonds Cumulative.—Official bonds given by an officer during any one term of office are cumulative, and the new bond does not discharge the old one. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Fleming, 132 N. C. 332, 43 S. E. 899; Poole v. Cox, 31 N. C. 69, 71, 49 Am. Dec. 410; Oats v. Bryan, 14 N. C. 451; Bell v. Jasper, 37 N. C. 597; Pickens v. Miller, 83 N. C. 544; Moore v. Boudinot, 64 N. C. 190.

Where the surety has renewed the bond of a clerk of the court upon his election to that office a second time, acknowledged its liability and received premiums thereon, its liability is cumulative for all defalcations thereunder, whether for the second term its principal was continuing to act de facto or de jure. Lee v. Martin, 186 N. C. 127, 118 S. E. 914.

The first bonds continue to be a security for the discharge of the duties during the whole term, and the new bonds become additional security for the discharge of such of the duties as have not been performed at the time they are given. Poole v. Cox, 31 N. C. 69, 49 Am. Dec. 410, cited in note in 23 L. R. A., N. S. 132. See also, Bell v. Jasper, 37 N. C. 597; Oats v. Bryan, 14 N. C. 451.

Action on Bond and on Case.—An action of debt on a sheriff's bond for money collected, and a nonsuit therein, is a sufficient demand to enable the plaintiff to sustain an action on the case for the same cause of action. Fagan v. Williamson, 53 N. C. 433.

Negligent Conduct of Jailer Imputed to Sheriff.—Under this section the sheriff and the surety on his official bond are liable for the wrongful death of a prisoner resulting from the negligence of the jailer in locking the prisoner, in the weakened condition, in a cell with a person whom the sheriff and the jailer knew to be violently insane, and who assaulted the prisoner during the night, inflicting the fatal injury. Dunn v. Swanson, 217 N. C. 279, 7 S. E. (2d) 563. For note on this case, see 19 N. C. Law Rev. 101.

Applied in Bank of Spruce Pine v. McKinney, 209 N. C. 668, 184 S. E. 506.

§ 109-35. Complaint must show party in interest; election to sue officer individually.—Any person who brings suit in manner aforesaid shall state in his complaint on whose relation and in whose behalf the suit is brought, and he shall be entitled to receive to his own use the money recovered; but nothing herein contained shall prevent such person from bringing at his election an action against the officer to recover special damages for his injury. (Rev., s. 282; Code, s. 1884; R. C., c. 78, s. 2; 1793, c. 384, ss. 2, 3; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 11; C. S. 355.)

Cited in Western Carolina Power Co. v. Yount, 208 N. C. 182, 179 S. E. 804.

§ 109-36. Summary remedy on official bond.—When a sheriff, coroner, constable, clerk, county or town treasurer, or other officer, collects or receives any money by virtue or under color of his office, and on demand fails to pay the same to the person entitled to require the payment thereof, the person thereby aggrieved may move for judgment in the superior court against such officer and his sureties for any sum demanded; and the court shall try the same and render judgment at the term when the motion shall be made, but ten days notice in writing of the motion must have been previously given. (Rev., s. 283; Code, s. 1889; R. C., c. 78, s. 5; 1819, c. 1002; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 14; 1876-7, c. 41, s. 2; C. S. 356.)

Cumulative Remedy.—It has never been understood that this cumulative and optional remedy obstructed the bringing of a regular action on the bond, when the injured party preferred to have recourse to it. Lackey v. Pearson, 101 N. C. 651, 654, 8 S. E. 121.

There is no provision in the statute giving a preference to the party or parties who first seek such summary remedy. And, withal, before any claim, preferential or otherwise, can be established under this statute, notice must be given, the court must try the cause, and judgment must be obtained. Western Carolina Power Co. v. Yount, 208 N. C. 182, 184, 179 S. E. 804.

It was never intended that the mere lodging of a motion under this section, established a preference, or right to establish a preference, over other creditors when such other creditors had been guilty of no laches in asserting their claims. Id.

To What Officers Applicable.—In Smith v. Moore, 79 N. C. 86, it was held that the power conferred by this section as it read in the Revised Code of 1856, was confined to the officers named therein, and that there was no way to hold a commissioner appointed to make a judicial sale liable for the proceeds thereof, except by an action instituted by the parties entitled to the money. Subsequently to this decision the words "or other public officer," have been inserted in the section; but applying the ejusdem generis rule it would seem that these words would not include a master in chancery and that the Smith case declares the law as it still stands. See however Ex parte Curtis, 82 N. C. 435, where the court states that a remedy against executrix and clerk and master should have been by summary motion under this section.

Actions by Persons Entitled to Money.—This section gives a summary remedy against public officers only to those entitled to the money, so that a new clerk cannot proceed under it against a former clerk, for not paying office money over to him as his successor. O'Leary v. Harrison, 51 N. C. 338.

Proceedings May Be Consolidated with General Creditors' Suit.—Plaintiff instituted summary proceedings under this section against the clerk of the Superior Court and the surety on his bond to recover for the clerk's default in failing to return to plaintiff, as ordered by the Superior Court, moneys deposited with the clerk. Notice and complaint in the proceeding were served on defendants. Thereafter another creditor of the clerk instituted suit in her own behalf and in behalf of all persons similarly situated, and decree was entered appointing a permanent receiver for the clerk, authorizing the receiver to bring suit on the clerk's bonds, and enjoining all creditors of the clerk from instituting any other suit or action against him or on his bonds. In the summary proceeding under this section, the surety on the clerk's bond pleaded the decree affirming receiver in bar to plaintiff's right to judgment, and the trial court dismissed the summary proceeding. Held, the summary proceeding should have been consolidated with the suit in the nature of a general creditor's bill. Western Carolina Power Co. v. Yount, 205 N. C. 321, 171 S. E. 321.

Justice's Jurisdiction.—Since the repeal of sec. 13 of c. 80 of Battle's Revision it has been decided by repeated adjudication of this Court that a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction of an action on a constable's bond. Coggins v. Harrell, 86 N. C. 317, 319.

Judgment.—Under this practice, judgment was entered for the amount of the bond, the execution to be satisfied on payment of the sum collected and costs. Fell v. Porter, 69 N. C. 140, 142. From the language of the opinion in this case, it would seem that at the time of decision the operation of this section had been suspended.—Ed. Note.

Where A. obtained a judgment against B., Clerk of the Superior Court, for a sum of money in his hands by virtue of his office, and B died, and his administrator, upon demand, failed to pay the money, it was held that the court below erred in overruling a motion by the plaintiff for a judgment upon the official bond of the clerk under the provisions of this section. Cooper v. Williams, 75 N. C. 94.

Notice.—As this section read in Battle's Revision the proceedings were "without other notice than is given by the delinquency of the officer." See Prairie v. Jenkins, 75 N. C. 545, 548.

Demand Not Necessary.—In a proceeding by the state, against a clerk of the Superior Court and the surety on his bond to recover sums embezzled by the clerk, the plaintiffs have the right to pursue the summary remedy under this section, upon their motion after due notice, and demand upon the clerk is not necessary. State v. Gant, 201 N. C. 211, 159 S. E. 427.

Waiver of Appearance.—Where a summary proceeding under this section has been instituted against a clerk of the superior court and the surety on his bonds to recover sums embezzled by the clerk, and the surety has entered a general appearance and filed answer, etc., the surety has waived its rights, if any it had, under §§ 109-33 to 109-35, to object that the plaintiffs could not maintain a summary proceeding under this section. State v. Gant, 201 N. C. 211, 159 S. E. 427.

§ 109-37. Officer unlawfully detaining money liable for damages.—When money received as aforesaid is unlawfully detained by any of said officers, and the same is sued for in any mode whatever, the plaintiff is entitled to recover, besides the sum detained, damages at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the time of detention until payment. (Rev., s. 284; Code, s. 1890; R. C., c. 78, s. 9; 1819, c. 1002, s. 2; 1868-9, c. 169; C. S. 357.)

This section must be considered in connection with the preceding section. Pasquotank County v. Hood, 209 N. C. 552, 554, 184 S. E. 5.

This and Preceding Section Are Not Applicable to Liquidation of Banks by Commissioner of Banks.—This and the preceding section are inapplicable to impose liability for damages in a case where the Commissioner of Banks took over the affairs of a bank which had been theretofore constituted the financial agent of the county and which had county funds on deposit and in its possession. Pasquotank County v. Hood, 209 N. C. 552, 555, 184 S. E. 5.

The Commissioner of Banks holding a portion of the fund, subject to the orders of the court and for the purpose of liquidation, could not be said to constitute an "unlawful detention," nor should he in his representative capacity be liable in damages as a penalty for so doing. The punishment would not fall upon a defaulting or delinquent public officer, as intended by the statute, but would penalize funds held in trust for all the creditors and stockholders whose stock assessments have helped to contribute. Id.

Default of Officer Must Be Shown.—In an action to recover the 12 per cent allowed under this section, it is necessary that the plaintiff show some adequate default. Hannah v. Hyatt, 170 N. C. 634, 87 S. E. 517.

Liability of Surety.—While, as against the principal on the bond of a clerk of the Superior Court, interest under our statute at the rate of 12 per cent is collectible from the time of defalcation, the amount of the penalty on his bond determines the liability of the surety thereon. State v. Martin, 188 N. C. 119, 123 S. E. 631.

Effect of Waiver of Interest from Date of Defalcation.—Where, in an action against a clerk of the superior court and his surety to recover sums embezzled by the clerk, the state waives the interest from the date of the actual defalcations, but does demand the 12 per cent from the date of the expiration of each term of office; a judgment awarding damages at 12 per cent, under the provisions of this section, on the sums defaulted from the expiration of each term is not error, the amount being within the penalty of the bond. State v. Gant, 201 N. C. 211, 213, 159 S. E. 427.

Applied in Windley v. Lupton, 212 N. C. 167, 193 S. E. 213.

§ 109-38. Evidence against principal admissible against sureties.—In actions brought upon the official bonds of clerks of courts, sheriffs, coroners, constables, or other public officers, and also upon the bonds of executors, administrators, collectors or guardians, when it may be necessary for the plaintiff to prove any default of the principal obligors, any receipt or acknowledgment of such obligors, or any other matter or thing which by law would be admissible and competent for or toward proving the same as against him, shall in like manner be admissible and competent as presumptive evidence only against all or any of his sureties who may be defendants with or without him in said actions. (Rev., s. 285; Code, s. 1345; R. C., c. 44, s. 10; 1844, c. 38; 1881, c. 8; C. S. 358.)

Judgments as Evidence.—In an action against an officer and one of the sureties on his official bond, the record of a judgment against the officer, and others of his sureties, in a previous action against them for the same demand, and on the same bond, but in which action the surety in the present action was not a party, is competent evidence to fix the amount due by the officer. Morgan v. Smith, 95 N. C. 396.

In a learned note to the case of Charles v. Hoskins, 83 Am. Dec. 380, the annotator, Judge Freeman, says: "The question how far a judgment or decree is conclusive against a surety of a defendant, or against one who is liable over to a defendant, and who was not a party to the action, is involved in the greatest confusion. Between the intimate relations which exist between such a person and the defendant in the suit, on the one side, and the fundamental principle that no one ought to be bound by proceedings to which he was a stranger, on the other, the court has found it difficult to steer." Insurance Co. v. Bonding Co., 162 N. C. 384, 391, 78 S. E. 430.

The cases are numerous in which it has been decided that a judgment rendered against a guardian is not, unaided by the statute, admissible as evidence against the surety to his bond. McKellar v. Powell, 11 N. C. 34.

The same rulings have been made in regard to the sureties to an administration bond. Chairman v. Clark, 11 N. C. 43; Vanhook v. Barnett, 15 N. C. 268; Governor v. Carter, 25 N. C. 338; Governor v. Montford, 23 N. C. 155. So in reference to the liability of his surety to an amercement against the sheriff.

The act of 1844, (this section) however, changed the rule of law, and rendered competent against the sureties to official bonds, and those given by executors, administrators and guardians, whatever evidence would be competent against the principals, and this was declared to be conclusive, where the evidence was a judgment against him, in Brown v. Pike, 74 N. C. 531; and in Badger v. Daniel, 79 N. C. 386.

The act of 1881 amends the previous enactment by making the evidence "presumptive only" against the sureties. Moore v. Alexander, 96 N. C. 34, 36, 1 S. E. 536.

"It seems that our predecessors in office upon this Bench have intimated, and in one case held, that such judgments, unaided by the statute, are inadmissible in evidence against the surety. Moore v. Alexander, 96 N. C. 34, 36, 1 S. E. 536. But an examination of the question has convinced us that the decided trend of modern authority is to the effect that such a judgment against the principal prima facie only establishes the sum or amount of the liability against the sureties, although not parties to the action, but the sureties may impeach the judgment for fraud, collusion, or mistake, as well as set up an independent defense. Charles v. Hoskins, 83 Am. Dec. 379, and notes. In the notes to this case all the authorities are carefully reviewed." Insurance Co. v. Bonding Co., 162 N. C. 384, 392, 78 S. E. 430.

While this section fixed the rule as to actions brought upon the official bonds of clerks of courts, sheriffs, coroners, constables, or other public officers, and also upon the bonds of executors, administrators, collectors, or guardians, the precedents were in hopeless discord as to bonds not covered by the statute, until Associate Justice Brown laid down the rule in Dixie Fire Ins. Co. v. American Bonding Co., 162 N. C. 384, 392, 78 S. E. 430: "But an examination of the question has convinced us that the decided trend of modern authority is to the effect that such a judgment against the principal prima facie only establishes the sum or amount of the liability against the sureties, although not parties to the action, but the sureties may impeach the judgment for fraud, collusion, or mistake, as well as set up an independent defense." Charleston, etc., Ry. Co. v. Lassiter & Co., 208 N. C. 209, 212, 179 S. E. 789.

Debts and Assets.—In the construction of this section, it is decided that the judgment against the principal upon such official bonds as the section mentions, is not only conclusive of the debt, as it was without the aid of the enactment, but of assets also, and this effect is given to a judgment against a guardian, upon his official bond, in Badger v. Daniel, 79 N. C. 386; Morgan v. Smith, 95 N. C. 396, 399; Brown v. Pike, 74 N. C. 531.

In Armistead v. Harramond, 11 N. C. 339, Hall, J., said that a "judgment against an administrator is evidence against him of a debt due by the intestate, and is evidence also of assets in his hands to discharge it; and although, for the reason before given, it is also evidence of a debt due, as far as it relates to his sureties," etc. Morgan v. Smith, 95 N. C. 396, 399. Since the passage of the act of 1844, the judgment is also evidence of the assets against the surety. Brown v. Pike, 74 N. C. 531, and cases cited.

Admissibility of Admissions of Administrator of Principal against Surety When Their Interests at Variance.—A judgment upon the admissions in the answer of the administrator bank of a deceased county treasurer is not competent in an action by the county commissioners as evidence against the surety on the official bond of the deceased when the bank has been made a party defendant and the surety at once raises the issue as to whether a part of the defalcation was moneys defaulted from the bank when the deceased was acting as its assistant cashier, the interest of the bank and the surety being in conflict, and this section not applying in such cases. Commissioners of Chowan v. Citizens Bank, 197 N. C. 410, 149 S. E. 380.

For case recognizing the principle adopted in Commissioner of Chowan County v. Citizens' Bank, 197 N. C. 410, 149 S. E. 380, but holding the rule inapplicable under peculiar facts of case, see Charleston, etc., Ry. Co. v. Lassiter & Co., 208 N. C. 209, 179 S. E. 879.

Not Applicable to Tort Action.—The rule that the judgment against the principal in an official or fiduciary bond is presumptive evidence against the sureties under this section does not apply, as this is not an action on the bond, but in tort. Martin v. Buffalo, 128 N. C. 305, 309, 38 S. E. 902.

Annual account of guardian competent evidence against him, and presumptive evidence against his sureties. Loftin v. Cobb, 126 N. C. 58, 35 S. E. 230.

Joinder of Administrator and Sureties.—Under this section the sureties on an administrator's bond are properly joined with the administrator, where it is shown that the administrator received a benefit from a falsified final account by reason of which the plaintiffs' judgment against the administrators remained unpaid. State v. McCannless, 193 N. C. 200, 136 S. E. 371.

Cited in Pullen v. Mining Co., 71 N. C. 563; Gurganus v. McLawhorn, 212 N. C. 397, 193 S. E. 844.

§ 109-39. Officer liable for negligence in collecting debt.—When a claim is placed in the hands of any sheriff, coroner or constable for collection, and he does not use due diligence in collecting the same, he shall be liable for the full amount of the claim notwithstanding the debtor may have been at all times and is then able to pay the amount thereof. (Rev., s. 286; Code, s. 1888; R. C., c. 78, s. 3; 1844, c. 64; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 12; C. S. 359.)

Applicable to Claims, Not Executions.—This section applies only to claims placed in the hands of the sheriff or other officer for collection—such claims as are within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, and may be collected by judgment and process of execution granted by that magistrate. It does not apply to executions issuing from the Superior or other courts of record. The reason for the distinction is clearly and certainly pointed out in McLaurin v. Buchanan, 60 N. C. 91. The statute, in effect, now is just as it was when that decision was made. Brunhild v. Potter, 107 N. C. 415, 419, 12 S. E. 55.

What Constitutes Negligence.—The degree of diligence required is that which a prudent man would ordinarily exercise in the management of his own affairs. A constable is not bound to such strict accountability as when process is delivered to him as an officer. Morgan v. Horne, 44 N. C. 25; Lipscomb v. Cheek, 61 N. C. 332. Therefore, what constitutes negligence must depend upon the facts in each particular case; five months delay was held negligence in Nixon v. Bagby, 52 N. C. 4.

A constable is not bound to sue out a warrant on a claim put in his hands for collection, when the issuing of such process would be entirely fruitless. State v. Holcombe, 24 N. C. 211.

Editor's Note.—The cases cited below were decided under the former law.

Employment before 1903 Act.—As to employment of children before the child labor act of 1903, and the liability for damages resulting therefrom, see Ward v. Allen, 126 N. C. 948, 36 S. E. 194; Fitzgerald v. Furniture Co., 131 N. C. 636, 645, 42 S. E. 946; Hendrix v. Cotton Mills, 138 N. C. 169, 170, 50 S. E. 561.

Employment Since the 1903 Act.—As to employment of children since the child labor act of 1903, see Rolin v. Tobacco Co., 141 N. C. 300, 310, 53 S. E. 891; Leathers v. Tobacco Co., 144 N. C. 330, 342, 57 S. E. 11; Starnes v. Mfg. Co., 147 N. C. 556, 61 S. E. 525.

Employment Since the 1907 Act.—As to employment of children since the child labor act of 1907, see McGowan v. Mfg. Co., 167 N. C. 192, 82 S. E. 1028; Evans v. Lumber Co., 174 N. C. 31, 93 S. E. 430.

Effect of Decisions on Acts of 1903 and 1907.

1. The statute is constitutional.
 2. It applies to employment of factories and manufacturing establishments, and to no other.
 3. The employment of a child under twelve years of age in a factory or manufacturing establishment is negligence per se.
 4. Such negligence is proximate, if the child is injured as the result of his employment.
 5. There is no assumption of risk by the child.
 6. The negligence of the parent, if any, in permitting the employment, cannot be imputed to the child.
 7. In addition to the usual presumption against contributory negligence, there is a presumption that the child has not the capacity to appreciate the danger of his employment.
 8. This presumption may be rebutted. Pettit v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 156 N. C. 119, 127, 72 S. E. 195.
- Messenger or Delivery Service Included.—This section does prohibit the employment of "any one under 14 years of age" in messenger or delivery service. Pettitt v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 186 N. C. 9, 16, 118 S. E. 840.
- Does Not Apply to Volunteer Workman.—Where the plaintiff, a boy under fourteen, is a mere volunteer injured in the performance of a simple and ordinary task, this section has no application. Reaves v. Catawba Mfg., etc., Co., 206 N. C. 523, 174 S. E. 413.

§ 110-2. Hours of labor.—No minor under sixteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or allowed to work in, about or in connection with any gainful occupation more than six consecutive days in any one week, or more than forty hours in any one week, or more than eight hours in any one day, nor shall any minor under sixteen years of age be so employed, permitted or allowed to work before seven o'clock in the morning or after six o'clock in the evening of any day. No minor over sixteen years of age and under eighteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or allowed to work in or about or in connection with any gainful occupation for more than six consecutive days in any one week, or more than forty-eight hours in any one week, or more than nine hours in any one day, nor shall any minor between sixteen and eighteen years of age be so employed, permitted or allowed to work before six o'clock in the morning or after twelve o'clock midnight of any day, except boys between the ages of sixteen and eighteen may be permitted to work until one o'clock in the morning as messengers where the offices of the company for which they work do not close before that hour: Provided, that no girl between sixteen and eighteen years of age shall be so employed, permitted, or allowed to work before six o'clock in the morning or after nine o'clock in the evening of any day; and Provided further, that boys twelve years of age and over, employed in the sale or distribution of newspapers, magazines or periodicals outside school hours shall be subject to the provisions of § 110-8 relating to employment of minors in street trades, and to such rules and regulations as may be provided under § 95-11: Provided further, that minors under eighteen years of age may be employed in a concert or a theatrical performance, under such rules and regulations as the state commissioner of labor may prescribe, up to twelve o'clock midnight; and provided further, that telegraph messenger boys in towns where a full-time service is not maintained on Sundays may work seven days per week, but not for more than two hours on Sunday. The combined hours of work and hours in school of children under sixteen employed outside school hours shall not exceed a total of eight per day. (1937, c. 317, s. 2.)

Violation of Section Must Be Shown to Be Proximate Cause of Injury.—In order to make an employer liable in damages for an injury sustained by an employee between 14 and 16 years of age being required to work more than 8 hours a day in violation of this section, it must be shown that the violation of the statute was a proximate cause of injury complained of. Williamson v. Old Dominion Box Co., 205 N. C. 350, 171 S. E. 335.

§ 110-3. Lunch period.—No minor under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work for more than five hours continuously without an interval of at least thirty minutes for a lunch period, and no period of less than thirty minutes shall be deemed to interrupt a continuous period of work. (1937, c. 317, s. 3.)

§ 110-4. Posting of hours.—Every employer shall post and keep conspicuously posted in the establishment wherein any minor under eighteen is employed, permitted, or allowed to work, a printed abstract of this article and a list of the occupations prohibited to such minors, to be furnished by the state department of labor. (1937, c. 317, s. 4.)

§ 110-5. Time records.—Every employer shall keep a time-book and/or record, which shall state the name of each minor employed, and which shall indicate the number of hours worked by said minor on each day of the week, and the amount of wages paid during each pay period. Such time record shall be kept on file for at least one year after the entry of the record, and shall be open to the inspection of the state department of labor. (1937, c. 317, s. 5.)

§ 110-6. Hazardous occupations prohibited for minors under sixteen.—No minor under sixteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or allowed to work on or in connection with power-driven machinery. No minor under sixteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or allowed to work in or about or in connection with: Construction work of any kind, ship building, mines or quarries, stone cutting or polishing, the manufacture, transportation or use of explosives or highly inflammable substances, ore-reduction works, smelters, hot rolling mills, furnaces, foundries, forging shops or any other place in which the heating, melting or heat treatment of metals is carried on; lumbering or logging operations, saw or planing mills, pulp or paper mills, or in operating or assisting in operating punch presses or stamping machines, if the clearance between the ram and the die or the stripper exceeds one-fourth inch; power-driven wood-working machinery, cutting machines having a guillotine action, openers, pickers, cards or lappers, power shears, machinery having a heavy rolling or crush-action, corrugating, crimping, or embossing machines, meat grinding machines, dough brakes or mixing machines in bakeries or cracker making machinery, grinding, abrasive, polishing or buffing machines: Provided, that apprentices operating under conditions of bona fide apprenticeship may grind their own tools; machinery used in the cold rolling of heavy metal stock, metal plate bending machines, power-driven metal planing machines, circular saws, power-driven laundry or dry cleaning machinery, oiling, cleaning or wiping machinery or shafting or applying belts to pulleys; or in the operation or repair of elevators or other hoisting apparatus, or as drivers of trucks or other motor vehicles, or in the operation of any unguarded machinery. (1937, c. 317, s. 6.)

In or About or in Connection with Quarry.—In Campbell Contracting Co. v. Maryland Casualty Co., 21 Fed. (2d) 909, 910, it is said: "We cannot agree with the contention that a boy operating a hoist, that by means of a cable pulls cars loaded with stone out of a quarry 150 to 175 feet distant, and whose duty it was upon signal to have the whistle blown, warning of a blast, and whose further duty it was to warn passersby, was not working 'in or about or in connection with a quarry.'"

§ 110-7. Hazardous occupations prohibited for minors under eighteen.—No minor under the age of eighteen years shall be employed, permitted, or allowed to work at any processes where quartz or any other form of silicon dioxide or an asbestos silicate is present in powdered form, or at work involving exposure to lead or any of its compounds in any form, or at work involving exposure to benzol or any benzol compound which is volatile or which can penetrate the skin, or at work in spray painting, or in the handling of unsterilized hides or animal or human hair. Nor shall any minor under eighteen be employed or permitted to work in, about or in connection with any establishment where alcoholic liquors are distilled, rectified, compounded, brewed, manufactured, bottled, sold, or dispensed, or in a pool or billiard room: Provided, however, that this section shall not prohibit a minor under the age of eighteen years from working in any establishment where beer is sold and not consumed on the premises, and to which has been issued only an "off premises" license for the sale of beer. Nor shall any girl under the age of eighteen years be employed, permitted or allowed to work as a messenger in the distribution or delivery of goods or messages for any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of transmitting or delivering goods or messages.

Nor shall any minor under eighteen years of age be employed, permitted, or allowed to work in any place of employment, or at any occupation hazardous or injurious to the life, health, safety or welfare of such minor. It shall be the duty of the state department of labor and the said state department of labor shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority, after due notice and after hearings duly held, to issue general or special orders, which shall have the force of law, prohibiting the employment of such minors in any place of employment or at any occupation hazardous or injurious to the life, health, safety or welfare of such minors. (1937, c. 317, s. 7; 1943, c. 670.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment added the proviso to the second sentence.

§ 110-8. Employment of minors in street trades; sale or distribution of newspapers, etc.—No boy under fourteen years of age and no girl under eighteen years of age shall distribute, sell, expose or offer for sale newspapers, magazines, periodicals, candies, drinks, peanuts, or other merchandise in any street or public place, or exercise the trade of bootblack in any street or public place. No boy under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted or allowed to work at any of the trades or occupations mentioned in this section after seven p. m. or before 6 a. m., or unless he has an employment certificate issued in accordance with § 110-9. The state commissioner of labor shall have authority to make, promulgate and enforce such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the enforcement of this section, not inconsistent with this article or existing law.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent male persons over fourteen years of age from distributing newspapers, magazines and periodicals on fixed routes, seven days per week: Provided, that such persons shall not be employed nor allowed to work after eight o'clock p. m. and before five o'clock a. m., and that the hours of work and the hours in school do not exceed eight in any one day, except boys twelve years of age and over who have secured a certificate from the department of labor for the sale or distribution of newspapers, magazines or periodicals: Provided further, that such person shall not be permitted or allowed to work more than four hours per day nor more than twenty-four hours per week: Provided further, that nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent boys twelve years of age and over, upon securing a proper certificate from the department of labor, from being employed outside school hours in the sale or distribution of newspapers, magazines and periodicals (where not more than seventy-five customers are served in one day): Provided, that such boys shall not be employed between the hours of seven o'clock p. m. and six o'clock a. m., nor for more than ten hours in any one week. (1937, c. 317, s. 8.)

§ 110-9. Employment certificate required.—Before any minor under eighteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or allowed to work in, about or in connection with any gainful occupation, the person employing such minor shall procure and keep on file an employment certificate for such minor, issued as hereinafter prescribed. In case of a minor engaged in street trade where the relationship of employer and employee does not exist between such minor and the supplier of the merchandise which the minor sells, the parent or guardian of such minor shall be deemed the employer of such minor and shall procure and keep on file the employment certificate herein required. (1937, c. 317, s. 9.)

Newsboy Not Employee.—A newsboy engaged in selling papers is not an employee of the newspaper within the meaning of that term as used in the workmen's compensation act, the newsboy not being on the newspaper's payroll and being without authority to solicit subscriptions and being free to select his own methods of affecting sales, although some degree of supervision was exercised by the newspaper. Creswell v. Charlotte News Pub. Co., 204 N. C. 380, 168 S. E. 408.

§ 110-10. Officers authorized to issue certificates.—The employment certificate required by this article shall be issued only by county or city superintendents of public welfare in such form and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the state department of labor. (1937, c. 317, s. 10.)

§ 110-11. Refusal and revocation of employment certificate.—The person designated to issue employment certificates may refuse to grant such certificate, or may revoke such certificate after issuance if, in his judgment, the best interests of the minor would be served by such refusal or revocation. Employer, parent or guardian of the minor whose employment certificate has been refused or revoked may appeal to the commissioner of labor. (1937, c. 317, s. 11.)

§ 110-12. Method of issuing employment certificates.—The person designated to issue employment certificates shall issue such certificates only upon the application in person of the minor desiring employment, and after having approved and filed the following papers:

(1) A promise of employment signed by the prospective employer or by some one duly authorized by him, setting forth the specific nature of the occupation in which he intends to employ such minor, and the number of hours per day and days per week which said minor shall be employed.

(2) Evidence of age showing that minor is of the age required by this article, which evidence shall consist of one of the following proofs of age and shall be required in the order herein designated, as follows:

(a) A duly attested transcript of the birth certificate filed according to law with a registrar of vital statistics, or other officer charged with the duty of recording births; or

(b) A baptismal certificate or transcript of the record of baptism, duly certified, and showing the date and place of birth; or

(c) Other documentary record of age (other than a school record or an affidavit of age) such as a Bible record, passport or transcript thereof, duly certified, or life insurance policy which shall appear to the satisfaction of the issuing officer to be good and sufficient evidence of age; or

(d) In the case none of the aforesaid proofs of age shall be obtainable, and only in such case, the issuing officer may accept the signed statement of the physician authorized to make the physical examinations required by this section, stating that, after examination, it is his opinion that the minor has attained the age required by law for the occupation in which he expects to engage. Such statement shall be accompanied by an affidavit, signed by the minor's parents or guardian, certifying to the name, date and place of birth of the minor and that the proofs of age specified in the preceding sub-divisions of this section cannot be produced.

(3) A statement of physical fitness, signed by a public health, public school or other physician assigned to this duty by the issuing officer with the approval of the state department of labor, setting forth that such minor has been thoroughly examined by such physician and that he is either physically fit to be employed in any legal occupation, or that he is physically fit to be employed under certain limitations, specified in the statement. If the statement of physical fitness is limited, the employment certificate issued thereon shall state clearly the limitations upon its use, and shall be valid only when used under the limitations so stated. The minor shall not be charged a fee for such examination or statement of physical fitness. The method of making such examinations shall be prescribed by the state department of labor.

(4) A school record signed by the principal of the school which the minor has last attended or by some one duly authorized by him, giving the full name, date of birth, grade last completed, and residence of the minor.

The employment certificate shall be delivered to the prospective employer of the minor for whom the employment certificate is issued, and such certificate shall be valid only for the employer named therein and for the occupation designated in the promise of employment. (1937, c. 317, s. 12.)

Editor's Note.—For decisions under former law, see Rolin v. Tobacco Co., 141 N. C. 300, 53 S. E. 891; Williamson v. Old Dominion Box Co., 205 N. C. 350, 171 S. E. 335.

§ 110-13. Employment certificate as evidence.—Said employment certificate duly issued shall be conclusive evidence of the age of the minor for whom issued in any proceeding involving the employment of the minor under the child labor or workmen's compensation law or any other labor law of the state, as to any act occurring subsequent to its issuance. (1937, c. 317, s. 13.)

§ 110-14. Regular and vacation employment certificates.—Employment certificates shall be of two kinds, regular certificates permitting employment during school hours, and vacation certificates, permitting employment during the school vacation and during the school term at such time as the public schools are not in session. (1937, c. 317, s. 14.)

§ 110-15. Duties of employers in regard to employment certificates.—Every employer receiving an employment certificate shall, during the period of the minor's employment, keep such certificate on file at the place of employment and accessible to any certificate-issuing officer, attendance officer, inspector, or other person authorized to enforce this article. The failure of any employer to produce for inspection such employment certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the unlawful employment of the minor. (1937, c. 317, s. 15.)

§ 110-16. Certificates of age.—Upon request, it shall be the duty of the officer authorized to issue employment certificates to issue to any person between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one desiring to enter employment a certificate of age upon presentation of the same proof of age as is required for the issuance of employment certificates under this article, and such certificate duly issued shall be conclusive evidence of the age of the minor for whom issued in any proceeding involving the employment of the minor under the child labor or workmen's compensation law or any other labor law of the state, as to any act occurring subsequent to its issuance. (1937, c. 317, s. 16.)

§ 110-17. State supervision of the issuance of employment certificates.—The state department of labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations for the issuance of employment certificates and age certificates as will promote uniformity and efficiency in the administration of this article. It also shall supply to local issuing officers all blank forms to be used in connection with the issuance of such certificates. Duplicates of each employment or age certificate shall be mailed by the issuing officer to the state department of labor within one week after issuance. The state department of labor may revoke any such certificate if in its judgment it was improperly issued or if the minor is illegally employed. If the certificate be revoked, the issuing officer and the employer shall be notified of such action in writing, and such minor shall not thereafter be employed or permitted to work until a new certificate has been legally obtained. (1937, c. 317, s. 17.)

§ 110-18. Rules and regulations.—The commissioner of labor of North Carolina shall have the power to make such rules and regulations for enforcing and carrying out the provisions of this article as may be deemed necessary by said commissioner. (1937, c. 317, s. 18.)

§ 110-19. Inspection and prosecutions.—It shall be the duty of the state department of labor and of the inspectors and agents of said state department of labor to enforce the provisions of this article, to make complaints against persons violating its provisions, and to prosecute violations of the same. The said state department of labor, its inspectors and agents shall have authority to enter and inspect at any time any place or establishment covered by the article, and to have access to employment certificates kept on file by the employer and such other records as may aid in the enforcement of this article. School attendance officers are likewise empowered to visit and inspect places where minors may be employed.

Any person authorized to enforce this article may require an employer of a minor for whom an employment certificate is not on file to either furnish him within ten days the evidence required for an employment certificate showing that the minor is at least eighteen years of age, or to cease to employ or permit or allow such minor to work. (1937, c. 317, s. 19.)

§ 110-20. Penalties.—Whoever employs or permits or allows any minor to be employed or to work in violation of this article, or of any order or ruling issued under the provisions of this article, or obstructs the state department of labor, its officers or agents, or any other persons authorized to inspect places of employment under this article, and whoever having under his control or custody any minor, permits or allows him to be employed or to work in violation of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00), or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment. Each day during which any violation of this article continues after notice from the state department of labor to the proprietor, manager, or other officer of the partnership, firm or corporation, shall constitute a separate and distinct offense, and the employment of any minor in violation of the article shall, with respect to each minor so employed, constitute a separate and distinct offense. The penalties specified in this article may be recovered by the state in an action for debt brought before any court of competent jurisdiction, or through criminal proceedings, as may be deemed proper. (1937, c. 317, s. 20.)

Art. 2. Juvenile Courts.

§ 110-21. Exclusive original jurisdiction over children.—The superior courts shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of any case of a child less than sixteen years of age residing in or being at the time within their respective districts:

1. Who is delinquent or who violates any municipal or state law or ordinance or who is truant, unruly, wayward, or misdirected, or who is disobedient to parents or beyond their control, or who is in danger of becoming so; or

2. Who is neglected, or who engages in any occupation, calling, or exhibition, or is found in any place where a child is forbidden by law to be and for permitting which an adult may be punished by law, or who is in such condition or surroundings or is under such improper or insufficient guardianship or control as to endanger the morals, health, or general welfare of such child; or

3. Who is dependent upon public support or who is destitute, homeless, or abandoned, or whose custody is subject to controversy.

When jurisdiction has been obtained in the case of any child, unless a court order shall be issued to the contrary, or unless the child be committed to an institution supported and controlled by the state, it shall continue for the purposes of this article during the minority of the child. The duty shall be constant upon the court to give each child subject to its jurisdiction such oversight and control in the premises as will conduce to the welfare of such child and to the best interest of the state. (1919, c. 97, s. 1; C. S. 5039.)

Editor's Note.—The Apprentice Law, Revisal, ch. 4, and the Juvenile Delinquent Law, Public Laws 1915, ch. 222, and all other laws inconsistent with this act are repealed and substituted by this article.

Constitutionality.—This section and the section following in this article are held to be a constitutional and valid enactment. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711; In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

The statute creating juvenile courts in the several counties of this state is valid, and the statute confers jurisdiction on the courts to place children under its jurisdiction in public and private institutions in proper instances. Winner v. Brice, 212 N. C. 294, 193 S. E. 400.

Purpose.—This section does not deal with delinquent children as criminals, but as wards of the state, and undertakes to give the control and environment that may lead to their reformation and enable them to become law-abiding and useful citizens, and a support and not a hindrance to the commonwealth and the objection that the statute ignores or unlawfully withholds the right to a trial by jury can not be sustained. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Sections Interdependent.—The child's welfare act, Public Laws of 1919, ch. 97, and this and the following sections thereof, establishing the juvenile courts were enacted as a whole, and the sections are interrelated and interdependent, and the intent thereof is so to be interpreted. State v. Ferguson, 191 N. C. 668, 132 S. E. 644.

Repeal of Ch. 122, Laws of 1915.—This section and the following section of this article establishing a juvenile court, repeal ch. 122, Laws of 1915, and State v. Newell, 172 N. C. 933, 90 S. E. 594, has no application. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Capability of Committing Crimes—Duration of Jurisdiction.—Where the jurisdiction of the juvenile court has once attached it remains during the minority of the youthful offender, for the purpose of his correction and reformation. State v. Coble, 181 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132; In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

Exclusive Criminal Jurisdiction.—The juvenile court, as a separate part of the Superior Court, is given by this section, among other things, the sole power to investigate charges of misdemeanors, and of felonies with punishment not exceeding a ten-year imprisonment, made against children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years at the time of the offense committed, and excludes the jurisdiction of the justice of the peace to bind them over to the Superior Court in such instances. State v. Coble, 191 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132.

This section gives exclusive original jurisdiction to the Superior Court where the custody of a child less than sixteen years of age is in question and establishes the juvenile courts as separate, though not necessarily independent, part of the Superior Courts for the administration of the act, and makes the clerks of the Superior Courts judge of the juvenile courts. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

Allegations Showing Jurisdiction.—Allegations of a petition, admitted by demurrer, that the children in question were each under sixteen years of age, resided in the county, and were subject to such conditions and improper guardianship and control as to endanger their morals, health, and welfare, and that petitioner was entitled to their custody as their guardian under a deed executed by their father, for the purpose of placing them in a private institution in accordance with the wishes of their father, are sufficient to show exclusive original jurisdiction of the children, for the purposes of the statute, in the juvenile court of the county. Winner v. Brice, 212 N. C. 294, 193 S. E. 400.

Same—Assault with Deadly Weapon.—The juvenile court has exclusive jurisdiction over investigation of a charge of an assault with a deadly weapon, inflicting a serious injury, made by a child within sixteen years of age, and where a justice of the peace has assumed jurisdiction and bound the defendant over to the Superior Court, the case will, on motion, be removed to the juvenile Court, to be proceeded with as the statute directs, though at the latter date the offender's age may be more than sixteen years. State v. Coble, 181 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132.

Resume of Result.—By this section and the following section of this article in case of children under the age of sixteen years charged with being delinquent by reason of the violation of the criminal laws of the state, it is provided and intended to be provided in effect: (a) That children under fourteen years of age are no longer indictable as criminals, but must be dealt with as wards of the state, to be cared for, controlled and disciplined with a view to their reformation. (b) That in case of children between fourteen and sixteen years of age, and as to felonies, whenever the punishment can not exceed ten years, they may if the instance requires it, be bound over to the Superior Court to be prosecuted under the criminal law appertaining to the charge. (c) That in case of children from fourteen to sixteen years of age as to felonies, whenever the punishment is ten years and over they are amenable to prosecution for crime as in case of adults. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Where the father of a minor child brings a writ of habeas corpus in the Superior Court for the custody of the child, the respondent being the maternal grandmother of the child in whose care the child was left by its mother, the Superior Court has original jurisdiction, and the respondent's motion to transfer the hearing from the Superior Court to the juvenile court is properly overruled. In re Ten Hoopen, 202 N. C. 223, 162 S. E. 619.

Not Amendment to Adoption Law.—The Juvenile Court Act was in no respect an amendment to the former Adoption Law, and did not affect the procedure therein prescribed for the adoption of minors. Ward v. Howard, 217 N. C. 201, 7 S. E. (2d) 625.

Applied in McEachern v. McEachern, 210 N. C. 98, 185 S. E. 684.

§ 110-22. Juvenile courts created; part of superior court; joint county and city courts.—There shall be established in each county of the state a separate part of the superior court of the district for the hearing of cases coming within the provisions of this article. Such part of the superior court shall be called the juvenile court of county.

The clerk of the superior court of each county in the state shall act as judge of the juvenile court in the hearing of cases coming within the provisions of this article, in which cases the child or children concerned therein reside in or are at the time within such county. Proceedings in such cases may be initiated before such judge, and in hearing such cases such judge shall comply with all the requirements and conform to the procedure provided in this article: Provided, that in counties, where the county seat is a city containing twenty-five thousand inhabitants, or more, the board of commissioners of such counties shall have the right in their discretion to coöperate with the governing body of such city in the election of a judge of a juvenile court provided for in § 110-44, which judge when so elected shall perform all the duties, and possess all the powers and jurisdiction conferred by this article upon the clerk of superior court, as well as that conferred upon the judge of the juvenile court of such cities by this article; such judge to be so elected by the joint action of the governing bodies of such city and county shall hold office for the term of one year, and until his successor shall be duly elected, and the county availing itself of the provisions of this section shall pay said judge for services rendered the county (outside of city) such sum as the county commissioners of said county shall deem just and proper. (1919, c. 97, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 85; C. S. 5040.)

Local Modification.—Buncombe: 1935, c. 220; 1941, c. 208, s. 3; Forsyth: 1935, c. 385; 1941, c. 110; Mecklenburg: 1937, c. 251.

Editor's Note.—The provisional clause, in the second paragraph under this section, with regard to the election of a juvenile court judge in a city containing twenty-five thousand inhabitants, or more, is new with Public Laws, Ex. Sess. 1920, ch. 85.

§ 110-23. Definitions of terms.—The term "court" when used in this article without modification shall refer to the juvenile courts to be established as herein provided. The term "judge" when used in this article shall refer to the clerk of the superior court acting as judge of the juvenile court, or to the judge of the joint city and county juvenile court elected as provided in § 110-22. The term "child" shall mean any minor less than sixteen years of age. The term "adult" shall mean any person sixteen years of age or over. (1919, c. 97, s. 3; C. S. 5041.)

The Word "Child."—The provision of sec. 3, ch. 97, Public Laws 1919, that the meaning of the word "child" shall be one "less than eighteen years of age," and the term "adult" shall mean any person eighteen years old or over, intended, from the interpretation of the entire chapter, that to come within the provision of the act the child should be a minor under the age of sixteen years. The discrepancy is cured by the enactment of this section in its present form in the Consolidated Statutes of 1919. State v. Coble, 181 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132.

§ 110-24. Sessions of court; records; general provisions.—Sessions of the court shall be held at such times and in such places within the county as the judge shall from time to time determine. In the hearing of any case coming within the provisions of this article the general public may be excluded and only such persons admitted thereto as have a direct interest in the case. Sessions of the court shall not be held in conjunction with any other business of the superior court, and children's cases shall not be heard at the same time as those against adults.

The court shall maintain a full and complete record of all cases brought before it, to be known as the juvenile record. All records may be withheld from indiscriminate public inspection in the discretion of the judge of the court, but such record shall be open to inspection by the parents, guardians, or other authorized representatives of the child concerned. No adjudication under the provisions of this article shall operate as a disqualification of any child for any public office, and no child shall be denominated a criminal by reason of such adjudication, nor shall such adjudication be denominated a conviction.

This article shall be construed liberally and as remedial in character. The powers hereby conferred are intended to be general and for the purpose of effecting the beneficial purposes herein set forth. It is the intention of this article that in all proceedings under its provisions the court shall proceed upon the theory that a child under its jurisdiction is the ward of the state and is subject to the discipline and entitled to the protection which the court should give such child under the circumstances disclosed in the case. (1919, c. 97, s. 4; C. S. 5042.)

§ 110-25. Petition to bring child before court.—Any person having knowledge or information that a child is within the provisions of this article and subject to the jurisdiction of the court, may file with the court a petition verified by affidavit, stating the alleged facts which bring such child within such provisions. The petition shall set forth the name and residence of the child and of the parents, or the name and residence of the person having the guardianship, custody, or supervision of such child, if the same be known or ascertained by the petitioner, or the petition shall state that they are unknown, if that be the fact. (1919, c. 97, s. 5; C. S. 5043.)

§ 110-26. Issuance of summons; traveling expenses allowed.—Upon the filing of the petition or upon the taking of a child into custody, the court may forthwith, or after an investigation by a probation officer or other person, cause to be issued a summons signed by the judge or the clerk of the court directed to the child, unless such child has been taken into custody, and to the parent, or, in case there is no parent, to the person having the guardianship, custody, or supervision of the child, or the person with whom the child may be, requiring them to appear with the child at the place and time stated in the summons to show cause why the child should not be dealt with according to the provisions of this article.

The judge may in his discretion authorize the payment of necessary traveling expenses incurred by any witness or person summoned or otherwise required to appear at the hearing of any case coming within the provisions of this article. Such expenses shall be a charge upon the county in which the petition is filed. (1919, c. 97, s. 6; 1939, c. 50; C. S. 5044.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment struck out of the last sentence the words "when approved by the judge of the superior court."

§ 110-27. Custody of child may be immediate; release; bail.—If it appears from the petition that the child is embraced within subdivision one of the first section of this article, or is in such condition or surroundings that the welfare of the child requires that its custody be immediately assumed, the court may endorse or cause to be endorsed upon the summons a direction that the officer serving the same shall at once take such child into his custody.

In the case of any child who has been taken into custody or pending the final disposition of any case, the child may be released in the custody of a parent or other person having charge of the child or in the custody of a probation officer or other person appointed by the court, to be brought before the court at the time designated. Any child embraced in this article may be admitted to bail as provided by law. When not released as herein provided, such child, pending the hearing of the case, shall be detained in such place of detention as hereinafter provided for. (1919, c. 97, s. 7; C. S. 5045.)

§ 110-28. Service of summons.—Service of summons shall be made personally by reading to and leaving with the persons summoned a true copy thereof: Provided, that if the court is satisfied that reasonable but unsuccessful effort has been made to serve the summons personally upon any of the parties named therein, or if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that it is impracticable to serve a summons personally upon any of them, the court may make an order providing for service of the summons by registered mail or by publication or otherwise in such manner as the judge shall determine. It shall be sufficient to confer jurisdiction if service is effected at any time before the time fixed in the summons for the return thereof; but the court, if requested by the child or a parent, or, in case there is no parent, by the person having the guardianship, custody or supervision of the child, shall not proceed with the hearing earlier than three days after the service. Failure to serve a summons upon any person other than said child shall not impair the jurisdiction of the court to proceed in cases arising under subdivision one of the first section of this article, provided that for good cause shown the court shall have made an order dispensing with such service.

If the person summoned as herein provided shall fail without reasonable cause to appear and abide the order of the court or bring the child, he may be proceeded against as for contempt of court. In case the summons cannot be served or the party served fails to obey the same, and in any case when it shall be made to appear to the court that such summons will be ineffectual, or that the welfare of the child requires that he shall be brought forthwith into the custody of the court, a warrant may be issued on the order of the court either against the parent or guardian or other person having custody of the child or with whom the child may be, or against the child himself.

The sheriff or other lawful officer of the county in which the action is taken shall serve all papers as directed by the court, but the papers may be served by any person delegated by the court for that purpose. (1919, c. 97, s. 8; C. S. 5046.)

When Summons to Parents Unnecessary.—Where the juvenile court has examined into the condition of a child and has adjudged that the child is of wandering or dissolute parents, and living with its poor and dependent grandparents, who had acquiesced in the investigation and its results, it is unnecessary to the valid adjudication fixing the child as a ward of the State and taking its custody accordingly, that the parents should have been notified to be present at the investigation, though such course is to be commended when the child is living with its parents or under their control, or they are living at the time within the jurisdiction of the court. In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

§ 110-29. Hearing; disposition of child.—Upon the return of the summons or other process or after any child has been taken into custody, at the time set for the hearing, the court shall proceed to hear and determine the case in a summary manner. The court may adjourn the hearing from time to time and inquire into the habits, surroundings, condition and tendencies of the child so as to enable the court to render such order or judgment as shall best conserve the welfare of the child and carry out the objects of this article. In all cases the nature of the proceedings shall be explained to the child and to the parents or the guardian or person having the custody or the supervision of the child. At any stage of the case the court may, in its discretion, appoint any suitable person to be the guardian ad litem of the child for the purposes of the proceeding.

The court, if satisfied that the child is in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state, may so adjudicate, and may find the child to be delinquent, neglected, or in need of more suitable guardianship. Thereupon the court may—

1. Place the child on probation subject to the conditions provided hereinafter; or

2. Commit the child to the custody of a relative or other fit person of good moral character, subject, in the discretion of the court, to the supervision of a probation officer and the further orders of the court; or

3. Commit the child to the custody of the state board of charities and public welfare, to be placed by such board in a suitable institution, society or association as described in subsection four of this section, or in a suitable family home and supervised therein; or

4. Commit the child to a suitable institution maintained by the state or any subdivision thereof, or to any suitable private institution, society or association incorporated under the laws of the state and approved by the state board of charities and public welfare authorized to care for children, or to place them in suitable family homes; or

5. Render such further judgment or make such further order of commitment as the court may be authorized by law to make in any given case.

6. If a child of fourteen years of age be charged with a felony for which the punishment as now fixed by law cannot be more than ten years in prison his case shall be investigated by the probation officer and the judge of the juvenile court as provided for in this article, unless it appears to the judge of the juvenile court that the case should be brought to the attention of the judge of the superior court, in which case the child shall be held in custody or bound to the next term of the superior court as now provided by law. (1919, c. 97, s. 9; 1929, c. 84; C. S. 5047.)

Cross Reference.—As to authority of courts to commit offenders to reformatory, see § 134-10.

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1929 added the words "in a suitable institution, society or association as described in subsection 4 of this section" which appears in subsection 3.

Jurisdiction in Felonies.—And, in reference to the disposition of children charged as delinquents by reason of having violated a state or municipal law, and that alone, it is provided in § 110-29 that a child of 14 years, charged with a felony in which the punishment, as now fixed by law, cannot exceed 10 years, the judge of the juvenile court may, if the case be of a nature to require it, bind such child over to the next term of the superior court, it being the clear and necessary inference that, as to children of 14 years and upward, and in case of felonies when the punishment may exceed 10 years, the juvenile department of the superior court is without jurisdiction of the offense. As to children of 14 years and over, and in case of felonies in which the punishment may be more than 10 years, they shall, in all instances, be subject to prosecution for crime as in case of adults. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Legislation Justified.—The Legislature has no unlimited and arbitrary power over minors in respect to detaining them in reformatories, and enactments relating thereto are justified only upon the idea that the child is without parental care, and that his environments are such that he may reach manhood without restraint or training under corrupting influences, unless the State, as parens patriae, performs the duty which devolves primarily upon the parent. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

Trial by Jury.—The constitutional right of trial by jury does not extend to an investigation into the status and needs of a child upon the question as to whether he should be sent to a reformatory for his own good as well as the good of the community in the interest of good citizenship, nor does the restraint therein put upon the child amount to a deprivation of his liberty without due process of law, nor is it a punishment for crime. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

Habeas Corpus.—When a child is placed and detained in a reformatory under order of court, without notice to the parent or giving him an opportunity to be heard, the parent may have the legality of the detention inquired into upon his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

Sentence—Order of Detention Only.—An act creating a reformatory is "for the training and moral development of the criminally delinquent children of the State," and in its general scheme and purposes is for the benefit of a child therein detained. Hence, the provisions in the act that the child committed thereto must be "convicted" and "sentenced" by the court, does not mean that detention therein is an imprisonment as a punishment for a crime, but that the "conviction" is merely evidence that the child needs the care and nurture of the State, and that the sentence is an order of detention. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

The juvenile court had no power to place a child anywhere for adoption, and when it ordered a child committed to an asylum upon its finding that the child was a neglected child, the further provision of the order that the asylum should have power to place the child in a home for adoption is void. Ward v. Howard, 217 N. C. 201, 7 S. E. (2d) 625.

Applied in Winner v. Brice, 212 N. C. 294, 193 S. E. 400.

§ 110-30. Child to be kept apart from adult criminals; detention homes.—No child coming within the provisions of this article shall be placed in any penal institution, jail, lockup, or other place where such child can come in contact at any time or in any manner with any adult convicted of crime and committed or under arrest and charged with crime. Provisions shall be made for the temporary detention of such children in a detention home to be conducted as an agency of the court for the purposes of this article, or the judge may arrange for the boarding of such children temporarily in a private home or homes in the custody of some fit person or persons subject to the supervision of the court, or the judge may arrange with any incorporated institution, society or association maintaining a suitable place of detention for children for the use thereof as a temporary detention home.

In case a detention home is established as an agency of the court it shall be furnished and carried on as far as possible as a family home in charge of a superintendent or matron who shall reside therein. The judge of the juvenile court may, with the approval of the state board of charities and public welfare, appoint a matron or superintendent or both and other necessary employees for such home in the same manner as probation officers are appointed under this article, their salaries to be fixed and paid in the same manner as the salaries of probation officers. The necessary expense incurred in maintaining such detention home shall be a public charge.

In case the judge shall arrange for the boarding of children temporarily detained in private homes, a reasonable sum for the board of such children while temporarily detained in such homes shall be paid by the county in which such child shall reside or may be found.

In case the judge shall arrange with any incorporated institution, society or association, for the use of a detention home maintained by such institution, society or association, he shall enter an order which shall be effectual for that purpose and a reasonable sum shall be appropriated by the county commissioners for the compensation of such institution, society or association for the care of children residing or found within the county who may be detained therein. (1919, c. 97, s. 10; C. S. 5048.)

§ 110-31. Probation officers; appointment and discharge; compensation.—The judge of the juvenile court in each county shall appoint one or more suitable persons as probation officers who shall serve under his direction. The appointment of such probation officers shall be approved by the state board of charities and public welfare.

The county superintendent of public welfare shall be the chief probation officer of every juvenile court in his county and shall have supervision over the work of any additional probation officer which may be appointed.

The judge appointing any probation officer may discharge such officer for cause after serving such officer with a written notice, but no probation officer shall be discharged without the approval of the state board of charities and public welfare.

The judge appointing any probation officer may in his discretion determine that a suitable salary be paid and may, with the approval of the judge of the superior court, fix the amount thereof. Such salary so determined and so approved shall be paid by the board of county commissioners; but no person shall be paid a salary as probation officer without a certificate of qualification from the state board of charities and public welfare.

The state board of charities and public welfare shall establish rules and regulations pursuant to which appointments under this article shall be made, to the end that such appointments shall be based upon merit only.

The appointment of a probation officer shall be in writing and one copy of the order of appointment shall be delivered to the officer so appointed and another filed in the office of the state board of charities and public welfare. (1919, c. 97, s. 11; C. S. 5049.)

§ 110-32. Probation; conditions; revocation. — When the court places any child or adult on probation as provided in this article it shall determine the conditions of probation, which may be modified by the court at any time. A child shall remain on probation for such period as the court shall determine during the minority of such child. An adult shall remain on probation for such period as the court shall determine, not to exceed five years. The conditions of probation shall be such as the court shall prescribe, and may include among other conditions any or several of the following: That the probationer shall indulge in no unlawful or injurious habits; shall avoid places or persons of disreputable or harmful character; shall report to the probation officer as directed by the court or probation officers; shall permit the probation officer to visit him in a reasonable manner at his place of abode or elsewhere; shall answer any reasonable inquiries on the part of the probation officer concerning his conduct or condition; shall, if a child of compulsory school age, attend school regularly; shall, if an adult or a child who does not attend school, work faithfully at suitable employment; shall remain or reside within a specified place or locality; shall pay a fine in one or several sums; shall make restitution or reparation to the aggrieved parties for actual damages or losses caused by an offense upon such conditions as the court shall determine; and shall make payment for the support of any lawful dependents as required by the court.

Any person on probation may at any time be required to appear before the court, and in case of his failure to do so when properly notified by the probation officer, the court may issue a warrant for his arrest. In the case of a child on probation, if the court believes that the welfare of such child will thereby be promoted, the probation may be revoked at any time and the court may make such other disposition of the child as it might have made at the time the child was placed on probation. An adult on probation who violates any of the conditions thereof may be arrested upon a warrant issued by the court and the court may impose any penalties which it might have imposed at the time the defendant was placed on probation. (1919, c. 97, s. 12; C. S. 5050.)

§ 110-33. Duties and powers of probation officers.—It shall be the duty of a probation officer to make such investigations before, during or after the trial or hearing of any case coming before the court as the court shall direct, and to report thereon in writing. The probation officer shall take charge of any child before or after the trial or hearing when so directed by the court. The probation officer shall furnish to each person released on probation under his supervision a written statement of the conditions of probation and shall instruct the probationer and other persons responsible for the welfare of the probationer regarding same, and shall enforce all the conditions of probation. Such officer shall keep informed concerning the conduct and condition of each person on probation under his supervision by visiting, requiring of reports, and in other ways, and shall report upon the progress of each case under his supervision at least monthly to the court. Such officer shall use all suitable methods not inconsistent with the conditions imposed by the court to aid and encourage persons on probation and to bring about improvement in their conduct and condition. Such officer shall keep detailed record of his work. He shall keep accurate and complete accounts of all moneys collected from persons under his supervision; he shall give receipts therefor and shall make at least monthly returns thereof; such officer shall make such report to the state board of charities and public welfare as it may from time to time require, and shall perform such other duties as the court under whose direction such officer is serving shall direct. Every probation officer shall have all the powers of a peace officer within the jurisdiction of the court which he serves. With the approval or under the direction of the judge of the court in which a probation officer is serving, such officer is authorized and empowered to act as probation officer over any person on probation transferred to his supervision from any other court and may act as parole officer over any person released from a correctional institution when requested to do so by the authorities thereof and when authorized so to act by the judge of the court in which such probation officer is serving. (1919, c. 97, s. 13; C. S. 5051.)

§ 110-34. Support of child committed to custodial agency.—Whenever any child is committed by the court to the custody of an institution, association, society or person other than its parent or guardian, compensation for the care of such child, when approved by the order of the court, shall be a charge upon the county, but the court may at the issuance and service of an order to show cause on the parent or other person having the duty under the law to support such child adjudge that such parent or other person shall pay in such manner as the court may direct such sum as will cover in whole or in part the support of such child, and wilful failure to pay such sum may be punished as a contempt of court. (1919, c. 97, s. 11; C. S. 5052.)

§ 110-35. Selection of custodial agency. — In committing any child to any institution or other custodial agency other than one supported and controlled by the state or in placing the child under any guardianship other than that of its natural guardians, the court shall as far as practicable select as the custodial agency an institution, society or association governed by persons of like religious faith as the parents of such child or an individual holding the same religious belief. (1919, c. 97, s. 15; C. S. 5053.)

§ 110-36. Modification of judgment; return of child to parents.—Any order or judgment made by the court in the case of any child shall be subject to such modification from time to time as the court may consider to be for the welfare of such child, except that a child committed to an institution supported and controlled by the state may be released or discharged only by the governing board or officer of such institution.

Any parent or guardian, or, if there be no parent or guardian, the next friend of any child who has been or shall hereafter be committed by the court to the custody of an institution other than an institution supported and controlled by the state, or to the custody of any association, society or person, may at any time file with the court a petition verified by affidavit setting forth under what conditions such child is living, and that application for the release of the child has been made to and denied by such institution, association, society or person, or that the said institution, association, society or person has failed to act upon such application within a reasonable time. A copy of such petition shall at once be served by the court upon such institution, association, society or person, whose duty it shall be to file a reply to the same within five days. If, upon examination of the petition and reply, the court is of the opinion that an investigation should be had, it may, upon due notice to all concerned, proceed to hear the facts and determine the question at issue, and may return such child to the custody of its parents or guardian or direct such institution, association, society or person to make such other arrangements for the child's care and welfare as the circumstances of the case may require.

Any child while under the jurisdiction of the court shall be subject to the visitation of the probation officer or other agent of the court authorized to visit such child. (1919, c. 97, s. 16; C. S. 5054.)

Cross Reference.—As to appeals, see § 110-40.

Rights of Parents.—Parents, guardian, etc., must be notified and given an opportunity to be heard in proceedings in the juvenile courts under this section, with the right to review in the Superior Court upon adverse judgment; and if the child is taken over by the state, they are allowed, on proper application at any time, to have their child brought before the court, its condition inquired into and further orders made concerning it except where committed to a state institution and then they may apply directly to the Superior Court, thus giving full consideration to the family relation and parental rights. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Same—Child in State Institution.—The exception in this section, that a case may not be investigated on the petition of the parent, etc., when the child is committed to the custody of an institution controlled by the state, applies to the action of the juvenile court, and does not limit the Superior Court in its general jurisdiction over matters of law and equity, in making upon proper application and appropriate writs, inquiry and investigation into the status and condition of children disposed of under the statute, or in rendering such orders and decrees therein as the rights and justice of the case or the welfare of the child may require. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

§ 110-37. Guardian appointed if welfare of child promoted.—Whenever in the course of a proceeding instituted under this article it shall appear to the court that the welfare of any child within the jurisdiction of the court will be promoted by the appointment of an individual as general guardian of its person, when such child is not committed to an institution or to an incorporated society or association, or by the appointment of an individual or corporation as general guardian of its property, the court shall have jurisdiction to make such appointment, either upon the application of the child or of some relative or friend, or upon the court's own motion, and in that event an order to show cause may be made by the court to be served upon the parent or parents of such child in such manner and for such time, prior to the hearing, as the court may deem reasonable. In any case arising under this article the court may determine as between parents or others whether the father or mother or what person shall have the custody and direction of said child, subject to the provisions of the preceding section. (1919, c. 97, s. 17; C. S. 5055.)

§ 110-38. Medical examination of child; disposition if mentally defective.—The court, in its discretion, either before or after a hearing, may cause any child within its jurisdiction to be examined by one or more duly licensed physicians, who shall submit a written report thereon to the court. If it shall appear to the court that any child within the jurisdiction of the court is mentally defective he may cause the child to be examined by two licensed physicians, and on the written statement of the two examining physicians that it is their opinion that the child is mentally defective, feeble-minded, or epileptic the court may commit such child to an institution authorized by law to receive and care for mentally defective, feeble-minded or epileptic children, as the case may be. No child shall be committed to such institution unless the parent or parents or the guardian or custodian of such child, if such there be, are given an opportunity for a hearing.

Whenever a child within the jurisdiction of the court and under the provisions of this article appears to the court to be in need of medical or surgical care a suitable order may be made for the treatment of such child in a hospital or otherwise, and the expense thereof, when approved by the court, shall be a charge upon the county or the appropriate subdivision thereof; but the court may adjudge that the person or persons having the duty under the law to support such child shall pay a part or all of the expenses of such treatment as provided in § 110-34 of this article. (1919, c. 97, s. 18; C. S. 5056.)

§ 110-39. Neglect by parents; encouraging delinquency by others; penalty.—A parent, guardian or other person having the custody of a child who omits to exercise reasonable diligence in the care, protection or control of such child, causing it to be adjudged delinquent, neglected, or in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state as provided in this article, or who permits such child to associate with vicious, immoral or criminal persons, or to beg or solicit alms, or to be an habitual truant from school, or to enter any house of prostitution or assignation or any place where gambling is carried on, or to enter any place which may be injurious to the morals, health, or general welfare of such child, and any such person or any other person who knowingly or wilfully is responsible for, encourages, aids, causes or connives at or who knowingly or wilfully does any act to produce, promote or contribute to the condition which caused such child to be adjudged delinquent, neglected, or in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1919, c. 97, s. 19; C. S. 5057.)

Jurisdiction.—The juvenile courts of the State are now given by statute exclusive original jurisdiction of delinquent children under sixteen years of age, with prescribed procedure by which an adjudication may be therein determined. State v. Ferguson, 191 N. C. 668, 132 S. E. 664.

§ 110-40. Appeals.—An appeal may be taken from any judgment or order of the juvenile court to the superior court having jurisdiction in the county by the parent or, in case there is no parent, by the guardian, custodian or next friend of any child, or by any adult described in §§ 110-38 and 110-39 of this article whose case has been heard by the juvenile court. Such appeal shall be taken in the manner provided for appeals to the superior court; and written notice of such appeal shall be filed with the juvenile court within five days after the issuance of the judgment or order of such court. (1919, c. 97, s. 20; C. S. 5058.)

Authority of Superior Court Judge.—Where the proceedings for the custody of a child under sixteen years had been transferred to the juvenile court, and comes again to the Superior Court judge on appeal, the judge of the latter court has authority to review the findings of fact and the judgment of the former court, under the supervision and control given him by the statute, this section, and his findings upon competent evidence are conclusive on appeal to the Supreme Court. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

Where the Superior Court judge has referred a proceeding brought by a husband in that court for the custody of his child, less than sixteen years of age, and the matter comes on appeal to the Superior Court again, the validity of the order sending or transferring the petition to the juvenile court for original investigation does not present a controlling question, or affect the jurisdiction of the Superior Court on the appeal, for thereon the judge thereof has ample authority to hear the case, either because it was properly instituted in the first instance or by virtue of the appeal. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

Application First Made to Juvenile Court.—Where the parent of a child that has been adjudicated a ward of the State under the statute relating to juvenile courts afterwards claims the possession of the child, the procedure requires that she make application to the juvenile court that had adjudicated the matter in order to avoid conflict and uncertainty as to status or condition of the child, to the end that an investigation be made of the circumstances in the course and practice of the courts. In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

Writ of Habeas Corpus.—The statutory remedy by appeal being provided from the determination of the juvenile court from its judgment that a certain child comes within the statutory provisions, and the status of the child has been ascertained by the juvenile court as being that of a ward of the State, the writ of habeas corpus is not available to the parent or other claiming the child, unless in rare and exceptional cases wherein the welfare of the child has not been properly provided for. In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

While prima facie the parent has the right to the custody of his child in preference to others, this right is not an absolute one and must yield when the best interest of the child requires it; and when the father has filed his petition in habeas corpus proceedings for the custody of his child in the possession of his deceased wife's parents, the award of the Superior Court Judge for the respondents upon findings, sustained by the evidence, that the father was an unsuitable person, and that the best interest of the child required that she should remain with her grandparents, will not be disturbed in the Supreme Court on appeal. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

§ 110-41. Compensation of judge.—The judge of the juvenile court shall be paid a reasonable compensation for his services, the amount to be determined by the county commissioners, and the amount thus determined by the county commissioners shall be charged against the public funds of the county. And such compensation shall be independent of any compensation which may come to him as clerk of the superior court. (1919, c. 97, s. 21; C. S. 5059.)

Cross Reference.—As to salaries of city and joint city and county juvenile courts, see §§ 110-22 and 110-44.

§ 110-42. Public officers and institutions to aid.—It is hereby made the duty of every state, county or municipal official or department to render such assistance and coöperation within his or its jurisdiction or power as shall further the objects of this article. All institutions or other agencies to which any person coming within the provisions of this article may be sent are hereby required to give such information concerning such child to the court or to any other officer appointed by it as said court or official may require for the purposes of this article. The court is authorized to seek the coöperation of all societies, organizations or individuals to the end that the court may be assisted in every way in the discharge of its duties. (1919, c. 97, s. 22; C. S. 5060.)

§ 110-43. Rules of procedure devised by court.

—The court shall have power to devise and publish rules to regulate the procedure in cases coming within the provisions of this article and for the conduct of all probation and other officers of the court in such cases. The court shall devise and cause to be printed for public use such forms for records and for various petitions, orders, processes, and other papers in the cases coming within this article as shall meet the requirements thereof, and all expenses incurred in complying with the provisions of this article shall be a public charge. (1919, c. 97, s. 23; C. S. 5061.)

§ 110-44. City juvenile courts and probation officers.—Every city in North Carolina where the population was, by the census of one thousand nine hundred and twenty, ten thousand or more shall maintain a juvenile court, to which is hereby given the powers, duties and obligations of this article to be exercised within their territorial boundaries. Such city juvenile courts shall conduct their business in accordance with the procedure set forth in this article as applying to the county juvenile court. It is hereby made the duty of governing bodies of such cities to make provision for such courts and bear the expense thereof, either by requiring the recorder to act as a juvenile judge or by the appointment of a separate judge. The governing bodies of such cities shall also appoint one or more assistant probation officers who shall serve within its jurisdiction under the general supervision of the chief probation officer of the county, which chief probation officer of the county is hereby made the chief probation officer of the city court herein provided for. The salary of the juvenile court judge shall be fixed and paid by the governing body of the city, and such governing bodies are hereby given authority to expend such sums from the public funds of the city as may be required to carry this article into effect.

In case it may appear to the governing bodies of such cities herein described that it would be best to allow the county juvenile court to transact the business of the city, they may make such provisions and agreements with the county commissioners for the expense of the joint court as may be agreed upon, and in such event such a city is hereby permitted to make such arrangement in lieu of establishing a city juvenile court. But in case the county commissioners will not agree to such arrangement, then the city must establish a juvenile court, as provided in this section. Provided, that in the event the governing bodies of such cities reach an agreement with the county commissioners, whereby the county juvenile court shall also transact the business of the city juvenile court, the governing bodies of such city and county, by joint resolution, may elect a judge and an assistant judge of the combined court, who may be persons other than the clerk of the superior court, and who shall hold such office for the term of one year, and until their successors shall be duly elected. Such judge and assistant judge, when so elected, shall perform all the duties and possess all the powers and jurisdiction conferred by this article upon the clerk of the superior court, as well as that conferred upon the judge of the juvenile court of such cities by this article. The assistant judge provided for by this section shall only perform the functions of judge of the combined juvenile court when the regular judge is unavoidably absent, or sick, and no orders shall be entered by him except in such cases. The compensation of the judge and of the assistant judge provided for by this section shall be determined by the county commissioners and paid by such county. The part of said salary that shall be paid by such city shall be determined by agreement between the governing bodies of the two units, as hereinbefore provided for. The authority is also hereby given by this section for the election of an assistant judge of the juvenile court in cases where counties elect to combine with a city juvenile court and let such court transact the joint business of both county and city.

Any town of five thousand population which is not a county seat, and in which there is a recorder's court, may, if deemed advisable and necessary by the governing body, provide for the conduct of a juvenile court within the territorial jurisdiction of such recorder's court: Provided, that the provisions and procedure of this article are fully followed as in case for towns of ten thousand inhabitants. (1919, c. 97, s. 24; 1923, c. 193; 1943, c. 594; C. S. 5062.)

Editor's Note.—This section formerly provided for the maintenance of a juvenile court in every city, where the population was, by the census of 1910, ten thousand, instead of the present provision, estimating the population by the census of 1920, as changed by Public Laws, 1923, ch. 193.

The 1943 amendment, which added that part of the second paragraph beginning with the proviso, provided: "The provisions of this act shall be an additional procedure, and shall not affect or repeal any other amendatory acts now in effect."

Art. 3. Control over Indigent Children.

§ 110-45. Institution has authority of parent or guardian.—Every indigent child which may be placed in any orphanage, children's home, or child-placing institution in this state, which shall be an institution existing under and by virtue of the laws of this state, shall be under the control of the authorities of such institution so long as, under the rules and regulations of such institution, the child is entitled to remain in the same. The authority of the institution shall be the same as that of a parent or guardian before the child was placed in the institution; but such authority shall extend only to the person of the child. (1917, c. 133, s. 1; C. S. 5063.)

§ 110-46. Regulations of institution not abrogated.—Nothing in this article shall be construed in any way to abrogate any of the rules and regulations of such institutions in so far as the rules and regulations have for their purpose the welfare and protection of the institutions. (1917, c. 133, s. 2; C. S. 5064.)

§ 110-47. Enticing a child from institution.—It is unlawful for any person to entice or attempt to entice, persuade, harbor, or conceal, or in any manner induce any indigent child to leave any of the institutions hereinbefore mentioned without the knowledge or consent of the authorities of such institutions. But this article shall not interfere with a mother's right to her child in case she becomes able to sustain her child; and the county commissioners in the county in which she resides shall in case of doubt have authority to recommend to the institution concerning the child. (1917, c. 133, s. 3; C. S. 5065.)

§ 110-48. Violation a misdemeanor.—Any person violating any of the provisions of §§ 110-45, 110-46 and 110-47 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1917, c. 133, s. 4; C. S. 5066.)

§ 110-49. Permits and licenses must be had by institutions caring for children.—No individual, agency, voluntary association, or corporation seeking to establish and carry on any kind of business or organization in this state for the purpose of caring for and placing dependent, neglected, abandoned, destitute, orphaned or delinquent children, or children separated temporarily from their parents, shall be permitted to organize and carry on such work without first having secured a written permit from the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. The said board shall issue such permit recommending such business or organization only after it has made due investigation of the purpose, character, nature, methods and assets of the proposed business or organization.

Upon establishment as provided above, every such organization, except those exempted in § 108-3, subsection 5, shall annually procure a license from the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, and it shall be unlawful to carry on said work or business without having such license.

Any individual, corporation, institution, or association, violating any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment of not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (1919, c. 46; 1931, c. 226, s. 6; C. S. 5067.)

Art. 4. Placing or Adoption of Juvenile Delinquents or Dependents.

§ 110-50. Bringing child into State for adoption without consent of State Board of Charities and Public Welfare.—No person, agency, association, institution or corporation shall bring or send into the State any child for the purpose of placing him out or procuring his adoption without first obtaining the consent of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. Such person, agency, association or corporation shall conform to the rules of the board and shall enter into a written agreement with the board to remove such child from the State, when requested so to do by the said board; that it will place the child under written contract approved by the board; that the person with whom the child is placed shall be responsible for his proper care and training; that the board and its agents shall have the same right of visitation and supervision of the child and the home in which it is placed as in the case of a child placed out by the board and its agents. Before the child shall be brought or sent into the State for the purpose of placing him in a home, the person, agency, association, institution or corporation so bringing or sending such child shall first notify the State board of its intention, shall certify to the State board that such child does not have a contagious or incurable disease, is not deformed, feeble-minded or of vicious character, and shall obtain from the State board a certificate stating such home is, in the opinion of the said board, a suitable home for the child. The person, agency, association, institution or corporation bringing or sending the child into the State shall report once a year or when the child is placed in another home, or at such other times as the board may direct as to the location and well-being of the child, so long as he shall remain within the State and until he shall have reached the age of eighteen years or shall have been legally adopted. (1931, c. 226, s. 1.)

§ 110-51. Bond required.—No child shall be brought into the State under § 110-50 until a justifiable and continuous bond not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) be furnished and maintained by the said person, agency, association, institution or corporation for the proper fulfillment of the requirements of § 110-50. Said bond shall be made in favor of and filed with the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare with the premium prepaid by the said person, agency, association, institution or corporation desiring to place such child in the State. (1931, c. 226, s. 2.)

§ 110-52. Consent of board before sending child out of State.—No child shall be taken or sent out of the State for the purpose of placing him in a home, otherwise than by a parent, grandparent or guardian, unless the person, agency, association, institution or corporation so taking or sending him shall give the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare notice of its intention and furnish such information as the board may require. Such person, agency, association, institution or corporation shall place the child under written contract, approved by the board, that the person with whom the child is placed shall be responsible for his proper care and training and thereafter shall report to the board once a year and at such other times as the board may direct as to the location and well-being of such child until he shall have reached the age of eighteen years, or shall have been legally adopted. (1931, c. 226, s. 3.)

§ 110-53. Consent of board where parents of child have not established legal settlement.—No person, agency, association, institution or corporation shall accept for the purpose of placing him out or procuring his adoption any child either legitimate or illegitimate born in this State of parents who have not established legal settlement in the State without first obtaining the written consent of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. (1931, c. 226, s. 4.)

§ 110-55. Violation of article a misdemeanor.—Every person acting for himself or for an agency who violates any of the provisions of this article or who shall intentionally make any false statements to the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (1931, c. 226, s. 7.)

§ 111-4. Register of state's blind.—It shall be the duty of this commission to cause to be maintained a complete register of the blind in the State of North Carolina, which shall describe the condition, cause of blindness, capacity for education and industrial training of each, with such other facts as may seem to the commission to be of value. (1935, c. 53, s. 3.)

§ 111-8. The commission may arrange for the examination of the eyes of the individual blind and partially blind persons and may secure and pay for medical and surgical treatment for such persons whenever in the judgment of a qualified ophthalmologist the eyes of such person may be benefited thereby. (1935, c. 53, s. 7.)

§ 111-9. Officers and agents; annual report.—The commission may appoint such officers and agents as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter and their compensation shall be fixed within the limits of the annual appropriation by the director of personnel, but no person employed by the commission shall be a member thereof. (1935, c. 53, s. 9.)

Art. 2. Aid to the Needy Blind.

§ 111-13. Administration of assistance; objective standards for personnel; rules and regulations.—The North Carolina state commission for the blind shall be charged with the supervision of the administration of assistance to the needy blind under this article, and said commission shall establish objective standards for personnel to be qualified for employment in the administration of this article, and said commission shall make all rules and regulations as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this article, which rules and regulations shall be binding on the boards of county commissioners and all agencies charged with the duties of administering this article. (1937, c. 124, s. 2.)

§ 111-14. Application for benefits under article; investigation and award by county commissioners.—Any person claiming benefit under this article, shall file with the commissioners of the county in which he or she has a legal settlement an application in writing, in duplicate, upon forms prescribed by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, which application shall be accompanied by a certificate signed by a reputable physician licensed to practice medicine in the state of North Carolina and who is actively engaged in the treatment of diseases of the human eye, to the effect that the applicant is blind or that his or her vision with glasses is so defective as to prevent the performance of ordinary activities for which eyesight is essential. Such application may be made on the behalf of any such blind person by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, or by any other person. The board of county commissioners shall cause an investigation to be made by a qualified person, or persons, designated as their agents for this purpose and shall pass upon the said application without delay, determine the eligibility of the applicant, and allow or disallow the relief sought. In passing upon the application, they may take into consideration the facts set forth in the said application, and any other facts that are deemed necessary, and may at any time, within their discretion, require an additional examination of the applicant's eyes by an ophthalmologist designated by the North Carolina state commission for the blind. When satisfied with the merits of the application, the board of county commissioners shall allow the same and grant to the applicant such relief as may be suitable and proper, according to the rules and standards established by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, not inconsistent with this article and in accordance with the further provisions hereof. (1937, c. 124, s. 3; 1939, c. 124.)

Editor's Note.—For comment on the enactment of this and the following sections and their application, see 15 N. C. L. Rev. 369.

§ 111-15. Eligibility for relief.—Blind persons having the following qualifications shall be eligible for relief under the provisions of this article:

(1) Whose vision with glasses is insufficient for use in ordinary occupations for which sight is essential; and

(2) Who are unable to provide for themselves the necessities of life and who have insufficient means for their own support and who have no relative or relatives or other persons in this state able to provide for them who are legally responsible for their maintenance; and

(3) Who have been residents of the state of North Carolina one year immediately preceding the application; and

(4) Who are not inmates of any charitable or correctional institution of this state or of any county or city thereof: Provided, that an inmate of such charitable institution may be granted a benefit in order to enable such person to maintain himself or herself outside of an institution; and

(5) Who are not publicly soliciting alms in any part of the state, and who are not, because of physical or mental condition, in need of continuing institutional care. (1937, c. 124, s. 4.)

§ 111-16. Application transmitted to commission; notice of award; review by commission.—Promptly after an application for aid is made to the board of county commissioners under this article the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall be notified thereof by mail, by said county commissioners, and one of the duplicate applications for aid made before the board of county commissioners shall be transmitted with said notice.

As soon as any award has been made by the board of county commissioners, or any application declined, prompt notice thereof in writing shall be forwarded by mail to the North Carolina state commission for the blind and to the applicant, in which shall be fully stated the particulars of the award or the facts of denial.

Within a reasonable time, in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, after action by the board of county commissioners, the applicant, if dissatisfied therewith, may appeal directly to the North Carolina state commission for the blind. Notice of such appeal must be given in writing to the board of county commissioners, and within thirty days after the receipt of such notice the board of county commissioners shall transmit to the North Carolina state commission for the blind copies of all proceedings and documents, including the award or denial, which may be necessary for the hearing of the said appeal, together with the grounds upon which the action was based.

As soon as may be practicable after the receipt of the said notice of appeal, the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall notify the applicant of the time and place where the hearing of such appeal will be had. The members of the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall hear the said appeal under such rules and regulations not inconsistent with this article as it may establish, and shall provide for granting an individual whose claim for aid is denied an opportunity for fair hearing before said commission, and their decision shall be final. Any notice required to be given herein may be given by mail or by personally delivering in writing such notice to the clerk of the board of county commissioners or the executive secretary of the North Carolina state commission for the blind, except that notice of the time and place where the hearings of such appeals will be had shall be given by mail or by personal delivery of such notice in writing direct to the applicant.

In all cases, whether or not any appeal shall be taken by the applicant, the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall carefully examine such award or decision, as the case may be, and shall, in their discretion, approve, increase, allow or disallow any award so made. Immediately thereafter they shall notify the board of county commissioners and the applicant of such action, and if the award made by the board of county commissioners is changed, notice thereof shall be given by mail to the applicant and the board of county commissioners, giving the extent and manner in which any award has been changed.

If, in the absence of any appeal by the applicant, the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall make any order increasing or decreasing the award allowing or disallowing the same, the applicant or the board of county commissioners shall have the right, within ten days from notice thereof, to have such order reviewed by the members of the North Carolina state commission for the blind. The procedure in such cases shall be as provided in this section on appeals to the commission by the applicant. (1937, c. 124, s. 5.)

§ 111-17. Amount and payment of assistance; source of funds.—When the board of county commissioners is satisfied that the applicant is entitled to relief under the provisions of this article, as provided in § 111-14, they shall order necessary relief to be granted under the rules and regulations prescribed by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, but in no case in an amount to exceed thirty dollars per month to be paid from county, state and federal funds available, said relief to be paid in monthly payments from funds hereinafter mentioned.

At the time of fixing the annual budget for the fiscal year beginning July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, and annually thereafter, the board of county commissioners in each county shall, based upon such information as they are able to secure and with such information as may be furnished to them by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, estimate the number of needy blind persons in such county who shall be entitled to aid under the provisions of this article and the total amount of such county's one-fourth part thereof required to be paid by such county. All such counties shall make an appropriation in their budgets which shall be found to be ample to pay their part of such payments and, at the time of levying other taxes, shall levy sufficient taxes for the payment of the same. This provision shall be mandatory on all of the counties in the state. Such taxes so levied shall be and hereby are declared to be for this special purpose and levied with the consent of the general assembly. Any court of competent jurisdiction is authorized by mandamus to enforce the foregoing provisions. No funds shall be allocated to any county by the North Carolina state commission for the blind until the provisions hereof have been fully complied with by such county.

In case such appropriation is exhausted within the year and is found to be insufficient to meet the county's one-fourth part of the amount required for aid to the needy blind, such deficiency may be borrowed, if within constitutional limitations, at the lowest rate of interest obtainable, not exceeding six per cent, and provision for payment thereof shall be made in the next annual budget and tax levy.

The board of county commissioners in the several counties of the state shall cause to be transmitted to the state treasurer one-fourth of the total amount of relief granted to the blind applicants. Such remittances shall be made by the several counties in equal monthly installments on the first day of each month, beginning July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven. The state treasurer shall deposit said funds and credit same to the account of the North Carolina state commission for the blind to be employed in carrying out the provisions of this article. (1937, c. 124, s. 6.)

§ 111-18. Payment of awards.—After an award to a blind person has been made by the board of county commissioners, and approved by the North Carolina state commission for the blind, the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall thereafter pay to such person to whom such award is made the amount of said award in monthly payments, or in such manner and under such terms as the North Carolina state commission for the blind shall determine. Such payment shall be made by warrant of the state auditor, drawn upon such funds in the hands of the state treasurer, at the instance and request and upon a proper voucher signed by the executive secretary of the North Carolina state commission for the blind, and shall not be subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act as to approval of said expenditure. (1937, c. 124, s. 7.)

§ 111-19. When applications for relief made directly to state commission.—If any person, otherwise entitled to relief under this article, shall have the residence requirements in the state of North Carolina, but no legal settlement in any one of the counties therein, his or her application for relief under this article shall be made directly to the North Carolina state commission for the blind, in writing, in which shall be contained all the facts and information sufficient to enable the said commission to pass upon the merits of the application. Blank forms for such application shall be furnished by the North Carolina state commission for the blind. If the said commission finds the applicant entitled to assistance within the rules and regulations prescribed by it, and consonant with the provisions of this article, relief shall be given to such person coming under the rules of eligibility to such extent as the North Carolina state commission for the blind may consider just and proper, but not in excess of the amounts specified in § 111-17. Payment of the benefits thus awarded, however, shall be made entirely out of the funds provided by the state, together with such funds which may be added thereto as federal grants in aid, and shall not be a charge upon the funds locally raised by taxation in the counties until such person shall have resided in some county for sufficient time to acquire a settlement therein; thereafter payments shall be made as in other cases. (1937, c. 124, s. 8.)

§ 111-20. Awards subject to reopening upon change in condition.—All awards to needy blind persons made under the provisions of this article shall be made subject to reopening and reconsideration at any time when there has been any change in the circumstances of any needy blind person or for any other reason. The North Carolina state commission for the blind and the board of county commissioners of each of the counties in which awards have been made shall at all times keep properly informed as to the circumstances and conditions of the persons to whom the awards are made, making reinvestigations bi-annually, or more often, as may be found necessary. The North Carolina state commission for the blind may at any time present to the proper board of county commissioners any case in which, in their opinion, the changed circumstances of the case should be reconsidered. The board of county commissioners shall reconsider such cases and any and all other cases which, in the opinion of the board of county commissioners, deserve reconsideration. In all such cases notice of the hearing thereon shall be given to the person to whom the award has been made. Any person to whom an award has been made may apply for a reopening and reconsideration thereof. Upon such hearing, the board of county commissioners may make a new award increasing or decreasing the former award or leaving the same unchanged, or discontinuing the same, as it may find the circumstances of the case to warrant, such changes always to be within the limitations provided by this article and in accordance with the terms hereof.

Any changes made in such award shall be reported to the North Carolina state commission for the blind, and shall be subject to the right of appeal and review, as provided in § 111-16. (1937, c. 124, s. 9.)

§ 111-21. Disqualifications for relief.—No aid to needy blind persons shall be given under the provisions of this article to any individual for any period with respect to which he is receiving aid under the laws of North Carolina providing aid for dependent children and/or relief for the aged. (1937, c. 124, s. 10.)

§ 111-22. Beneficiaries not deemed paupers.—No blind person shall be deemed a pauper by reason of receiving relief under this article. (1937, c. 124, s. 11.)

§ 111-23. Misrepresentation or fraud in obtaining assistance.—Any person who shall obtain, or attempt to obtain, by means of a wilful, false statement, or representation, or impersonation, or other fraudulent devices, assistance to which he is not entitled shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred ($500.00) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The superior court and the recorders' courts shall have concurrent jurisdiction in all prosecutions arising under this article. (1937, c. 124, s. 12.)

§ 111-24. Cooperation with federal social security board; grants from federal government.—The North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby empowered and authorized and directed to co-operate with the federal social security board, created under Title X of the Social Security Act, approved August fourteenth, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five, in any reasonable manner as may be necessary to qualify for federal aid for assistance to the needy blind and in conformity with the provisions of this article, including the making of such reports in such form and containing such information as the federal social security board may from time to time require, and comply with such regulations as said board may from time to time find necessary to assure the correctness and verification of such reports.

The North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby further empowered and authorized to receive grants in aid from the United States government for assistance to the blind and grants made for payment of cost of administering the state plan for aid to the blind, and all such grants so received hereunder shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the account of the North Carolina state commission for the blind in carrying out the provisions of the article. (1937, c. 124, s. 13.)

§ 111-25. Acceptance and use of federal aid.—The commission for the blind may expend, under the provisions of the Executive Budget Act, such grants as shall be made for paying the cost of administering this chapter by the federal government under Title X of the Social Security Act. (1937, c. 124, s. 14.)

§ 111-26. Termination of federal aid.—If for any reason there should be a termination of federal aid as anticipated in this article, then and in that event this article shall be ipso facto repealed and rendered null and void: Provided, however, such repeal shall not become effective or be in force unless and until the governor of the state of North Carolina has issued a proclamation duly attested by the secretary of the state of North Carolina to the effect that there has been a termination of such federal aid. In the event that this article should be ipso facto repealed as herein provided, the state funds on hand shall be converted into the general fund of the state for such use as may be authorized by the director of the budget, and the county funds accumulated by the provisions of this article in the respective counties of the state shall be converted into the general fund of such counties for such use as may be authorized by the county commissioners. (1937, c. 124, s. 15½.) •

§ 111-27. Commission to promote employment of needy blind persons; vending stands on public property.—For the purpose of assisting blind persons to become self-supporting, the North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby authorized to carry on activities to promote the employment of needy blind persons, including the licensing and establishment of such persons as operators of vending stands in public buildings. The said commission may cooperate with the federal government in the furtherance of the provisions of the act of congress known as the Randolph-Sheppard Bill (H. R. 4688) providing for the licensing of blind persons to operate vending stands in federal buildings, or any other acts of congress which may be hereafter enacted.

The board of county commissioners of each county and the commissions or officials in charge of various state and municipal buildings are hereby authorized and empowered to permit the operation of vending stands by needy blind persons on the premises of any state, county or municipal property under their respective jurisdictions: Provided, that such operators shall be first licensed by the North Carolina state commission for the blind: Provided further, that in the opinion of the commissions or officials having control and custody of such property, such vending stands may be properly and satisfactorily operated on such premises without undue interference with the use and needs thereof for public purposes. (1939, c. 123.)

§ 111-28. Commission authorized to receive federal, etc., grants for benefit of needy blind.—The North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby authorized and empowered to receive grants in aid from the federal government or any state or federal agency for the purpose of rendering other services to the needy blind and those in danger of becoming blind; and all such grants so made and received shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the account of the North Carolina state commission for the blind, to be used in carrying out the provisions of this law.

The North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby further authorized and empowered to make such rules and regulations as may be required by the federal government or state or federal agency as a condition for receiving such federal funds, not inconsistent with the laws of this state.

Whenever the words "Social Security Board" appear in §§ 111-6, 111-13 to 111-26 the same shall be interpreted to include any agency of the federal government which may be substituted therefor by law.

The North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby authorized and empowered to enter into reciprocal agreements with public welfare agencies in other states relative to the provision of assistance and services to residents, non-residents, or transients, and co-operate with other agencies of the state and federal governments in the provision of such assistance and services and in the study of the problems involved.

The North Carolina state commission for the blind is hereby authorized and empowered to establish and enforce reasonable rules and regulations governing the custody, use and preservation of the records, papers, files, and communications of the department.

(1921, c. 189, s. 9; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 89; Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 111; 1927, c. 96, s. 2; 1929, c. 300, s. 1; 1935, c. 46; 1937, c. 318; C. S. 5168(j).)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1929 added the proviso to the last paragraph of this section.

The 1935 and 1937 amendments changed the paragraph entitled "Class A" under "Widows" in this section.

§ 112-19. Certain widows of Confederate soldiers placed on Class B pension roll.—All widows of Confederate soldiers who have lived with such soldiers for a period of ten years prior to the death of such soldier, and where the death of the soldier occurred since the year one thousand eight hundred ninety-nine, shall, upon proper proof of such facts, be placed upon the pension list in Class B, and paid from the pension fund such pensions as are allowed to other widows of Confederate soldiers in Class B: Provided, that no payments shall be made to any widows of Confederate soldiers as hereinbefore referred to, except and until they shall have qualified for said benefits under and pursuant to the general state pension laws as modified hereby. (1937, cc. 181, 454.)

§ 112-20. Persons not entitled to pensions.—No person shall be entitled to receive the benefits of this article—

1. Who is an inmate of the soldiers' home at Raleigh;

2. Who is confined in an asylum or county home;

3. Who receives a pension from any other state or from the United States;

4. Who holds a national, state, or county office, which pays annually in salary or fees the sum of three hundred dollars ($300);

5. Who was a deserter, or the widow of such deserter; but no soldier who has been honorably discharged, or who was in service at the surrender shall be considered a deserter in the meaning of this section;

6. Who is receiving aid from the state under any act providing for the relief of soldiers who are blind or maimed;

7. Who owns in his own right, or in the right of his wife, property whose tax valuation exceeds two thousand dollars ($2,000), or who, having owned property in excess of two thousand dollars ($2,000), has disposed of the same by gift or voluntary conveyance to his wife, child, next of kin, or to any other person since the eleventh day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five: Provided, that the county board of pensions may place upon the pension roll, in the classes to which they would otherwise belong, any Confederate soldier, sailor, or widow disqualified by the provisions of this section, who may appear to be unable to earn a living from property valued as much as two thousand dollars ($2,000) or more for taxation, and who may appear to the board from special circumstances worthy to be placed upon the pension roll. (1921, c. 189, s. 10; C. S. 5168(k).)

§ 112-21. Removal from pension lists of persons eligible for old age assistance.—All widows of Confederate veterans and all colored servants of Confederate soldiers who are eligible for old age assistance under the provisions of §§ 108-15 to 108-76, from and after the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, shall not be entitled to any pension provided by the provisions of chapter 112, entitled "Confederate Homes and Pensions," and any acts of the general assembly amendatory thereof, or by virtue of any special or general law relating to pensions for widows of Confederate veterans or colored servants of Confederate soldiers.

Before the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, the county board of welfare in every county in this state shall make a complete and thorough examination and investigation of all widows of Confederate veterans and all colored servants of Confederate soldiers whose names are on the pension roll in each county, and shall determine the eligibility of such pensioners for old age assistance under the provisions of §§ 108-15 to 108-76 without any applications being made by such persons for old age assistance as required by said law, and after making such investigation, shall determine the eligibility of such persons for old age assistance and the amount of assistance which any such person is entitled to receive in accordance with the provisions of the Old Age Assistance Act. After such investigations and determinations have been made, the county board of welfare shall notify the county pension board in the county of such county board of welfare of the persons who are found to be eligible for old age assistance under the provisions of said law. Upon such certification to the county pension board, the county pension board shall revise the list of pensioners in said county and shall exclude from said list all the widows of Confederate veterans and all colored servants of Confederate soldiers who are certified as being eligible for old age assistance. The county pension board shall, upon receipt of such certification from the county board of welfare, and revision of the pension list as aforesaid, notify the state board of pensions of the revision of the pension list for said county and the names eliminated therefrom. The county board of welfare, in making the aforesaid certification to the county pension board, shall also send a copy thereof to the state board of pensions, and such certification from the county board of welfare to the state board of pensions shall be sufficient authority for removal of such names from the pension list by the state board of pensions. If it should thereafter be determined that such person so removed from the pension list was not eligible for old age assistance by the authority administering said law, the award for old age assistance to such person is revoked, the name of such person, if otherwise eligible, shall be restored to the said pension list by the county pension board, and the full pension to which such person would be entitled, if the name had not been withdrawn from said list, shall be paid.

As to all persons found eligible for old age assistance whose names are removed from the pension list as herein required, the amounts necessary for payment of awards for old age assistance shall be paid entirely out of state and federal funds.

In the event it is determined by the county board of welfare that the awards which such eligible persons are entitled to receive shall be less than the amount paid such persons as pensions, such names shall not be withdrawn from the said pension list, and the county board of welfare shall not make any award of old age benefits to such persons.

After the county pension board has revised the list of pensions in each county as herein provided, and after having certified the same to the state board of pensions, the state board of pensions shall certify the revised list of pensioners to the state auditor and the state auditor shall transmit to the clerks of the superior court in the several counties a correct revised list of pensioners, with their post offices, as allowed by the state board of pensions. (1937, c. 227; 1939, c. 102.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 act repealed the former section and inserted the above in lieu thereof.

Such application shall be verified by the oath of the applicant made before any one empowered to administer oaths, and shall be accompanied by the affidavit of one or more credible witnesses, stating that he or they verily believe the applicant to be the identical person named in the application, and that the facts stated in the application are true; and when the county board of pensions is satisfied with the justice of the claim made by the applicant they shall so certify the same to the auditor of the state under their hands and the seal of the superior court of their county, which shall be impressed by the clerk of the superior court of the county; and there shall accompany the certificate so sent to the auditor the application, affidavit, and proofs taken by them, which papers shall be kept on file in the auditor's office. issue his warrant on the state treasurer for the same. (1921, c. 189, s. 14; C. S. 5168(o).)

§ 112-26. Subsequent certificate; suggestion of fraud.—After an application has once been passed upon and allowed by the county and state boards, it shall be necessary only for the applicant to file with the auditor of state a certificate from the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the application was originally filed, setting forth that the applicant is the identical person named in the original application which is on file in the auditor's office, and that the applicant is alive, but still disabled, and a citizen of this state, and still entitled to the benefits of this article, which certificate may be passed upon by the state board, upon suggestions of fraud, before the auditor draws his warrant upon such certificate. (1921, c. 189, s. 15; C. S. 5168(p).)

Part 4. Payment of Pensions; Warrants.

§ 112-27. Payment of pensions in advance; acknowledgment of receipt of warrants.—Pensions are payable monthly in advance, and the state auditor shall divide into twelve equal installments the yearly amount due each pensioner and shall transmit to the clerks of the superior court of the various counties warrants for the same on or before the first day of each calendar month, the installment then due. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to acknowledge to the auditor the receipt of such warrants by the next mail after their receipt, to deliver or mail forthwith to each pensioner in his county his warrant, and to post in the courthouse a list of the pensioners to whom he has mailed or delivered warrants. Part 5. Funds Provided for Pensions.

§ 112-29. Limit and distribution of appropriation.—The State Auditor is authorized, empowered and directed to apportion, distribute and divide the money appropriated by the State for pensions, and to issue warrants to the several pensioners pro rata in their respective grades: Provided, that if the money appropriated by the General Assembly for the Confederate soldiers, widows and servants is more than enough to pay them the amounts mentioned in this chapter, or if for any other cause, after paying the Confederate soldiers, widows and servants the amount stipulated in their respective grades as set out in this chapter, there should be an excess of the money appropriated for the first year, then the balance in the fund so appropriated for the first year shall revert and supplement the fund appropriated for the second year of the biennium: Provided, further, that if any moneys herein appropriated for the purposes aforesaid, shall not be needed to pay the Confederate soldiers, widows and servants the amounts stipulated in their respective grades, then such moneys shall be paid by the State Board of Pensions into the treasury and become a part of the general fund appropriated by the State for other purposes: Provided, that no greater amount shall be paid out under this chapter than is appropriated under the general appropriation maintenance act. Such tax shall be collected and accounted for by the sheriff or other tax collector in the same manner and under the same penalties as other taxes levied for the county, and the net proceeds thereof shall be applied each year to increase pro rata the pensions of such persons as stand upon the Confederate pension roll of the county for the year in which the tax is levied.

The amount collected under this section shall be disbursed by the county commissioners pro rata to the various pensioners in such county as shown by the state pension list for that county. (1921, c. 189, s. 21; C. S. 5168(v).)

Constitutionality.—Whether this section be regarded as general or special, it meets the requirements of Article V, section 6, and its efficacy is not impaired by this section of the Constitution. It is a familiar principle that existing statutes not expressly or impliedly repealed by an amendment to the Constitution remain in full force and effect, and that a statute will not be declared void unless the breach of the Constitution is so manifest as to leave no room for reasonable doubt. Brown v. Jennings, 188 N. C. 155, 124 S. E. 159.

a. The extension of the forest fire prevention organization to all counties in the state needing such protection.

b. To coöperate with federal and other public agencies in the restoration of forest growth on land unwisely cleared and subsequently neglected.

c. To furnish trained and experienced experts in forest management, to inspect private forest lands and to advise with forest landowners with a view to the general observance of recognized and practical rules of growing, cutting and marketing timber. The services of such trained experts of the department must naturally be restricted to those landowners who agree to carry out so far as possible the recommendations of said department.

d. To prepare and distribute printed and other material for the use of teachers and club leaders and to provide instruction to schools and clubs and other groups of citizens in order to train the younger generation in the principles of wise use of our forest resources.

e. To acquire small areas of suitable land in the different regions of the state on which to establish small, model forests which shall be developed and used by the said department of conservation and development as state demonstration forests for experiment and demonstration in forest management. (1939, c. 317, s. 1.)

Use of lands acquired by counties through tax foreclosures as demonstration forests.—The boards of county commissioners of the various counties of North Carolina are herewith authorized to turn over to the said department of conservation and development title to such tax delinquent lands as may have been acquired by said counties under tax sale and as in the judgment of the state forester may be suitable for the purposes named in § 113-29, paragraph "e". (1939, c. 317, s. 2.)

§ 113-31. Procedure for acquisition of delinquent tax lands from counties.—In the carrying out of the provisions of § 113-30, the several boards of county commissioners shall furnish forthwith on written request of the department of conservation and development a complete list of all properties acquired by the county under tax sale and which have remained unredeemed for a period of two years or more. On receipt of this list the state forester of the department of conservation and development shall have the lands examined and if any one or more of these properties is in his judgment suitable for the purposes set forth in § 113-30, request shall be made through the director of said department to the county commissioners for the acquisition of such land by the department at a price not to exceed the actual amount of taxes due without penalties. On receipt of this request the county commissioners shall make permanent transfer of such tract or tracts of land to the department through fee simple deed or other legal transfer, said deed to be approved by the attorney general of North Carolina, and shall then receive payment from the department as above outlined. (1939, c. 317, s. 3.)

§ 113-32. Purchase of lands for use as demonstration forests.—Where no suitable tax-delinquent lands are available and in the judgment of the department of conservation and development the establishment of a demonstration forest is advisable, the department may purchase sufficient land for the establishment of such a demonstration forest at a fair and agreed-upon price, the deed for such land to be subject to approval of the attorney general, but nothing in §§ 113-29 to 113-33 shall allow the department of conservation and development to acquire land under the right of eminent domain. § 113-34. Power to acquire lands as State forests, parks, etc.; donations or leases by United States.—The governor of the state is authorized upon recommendation of the Board of Conservation and Development to accept gifts of land to the state, the same to be held, protected, and administered by said board as state forests, and to be used so as to demonstrate the practical utility of timber culture and water conservation, and as refuges for game. Such gifts must be absolute except in such cases as where the mineral interest on the land has previously been sold. The State Board of Conservation and Development shall have the power to purchase lands in the name of the state, suitable chiefly for the production of timber, as state forests, for experimental, demonstration, educational, park, and protection purposes, using for such purposes any special appropriations or funds available. The State Board of Conservation and Development shall also have the power to acquire by condemnation under the provisions of chapter forty, such areas of land in different sections of the State as may in the opinion of the Department of Conservation and Development be necessary for the purpose of establishing and/or developing State forests, State parks and other areas and developments essential to the effective operation of the State forestry and State Park activities with which the Department of Conservation and Development has been or may be entrusted. Such condemnation proceedings shall be instituted and prosecuted in the name of the State of North Carolina, and any property so acquired shall be administered, developed and used for experiment and demonstration in forest management, for public recreation and for such other purposes authorized or required by law: Provided, that before any action or proceeding under this sentence can be exercised, the approval of the Governor and Council of State shall be obtained and filed with the Clerk of the Superior Court in the county or counties where such property may be situate, and until such approval is obtained, the rights and powers conferred by this sentence shall not be exercised. The attorney-general of the state is directed to see that all deeds to the state for land mentioned in this section are properly executed before the gift is accepted or payment of the purchase money is made. Such state forests shall be subject to county taxes assessed on the same basis as are private lands, to be paid out of money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

The board of conservation and development is further authorized and empowered to accept as gifts to the State of North Carolina such forest and submarginal farm land acquired by said federal government as may be suitable for the purpose of creating and maintaining state-controlled forests, game refuges, public shooting grounds, state parks, state lakes, and other recreational areas or to enter into long-time leases with the federal government for such areas and administer them with such funds as may be secured from their administration in the best interest of long-time public use, supplemented by such necessary appropriations as may be made by the general assembly. The department of conservation and development is further empowered to segregate state hunting and fishing licenses, use permits, and concessions and other proper revenue secured through the administration of such forests, game refuges, public shooting grounds, state parks, state lakes, and other recreational areas to be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the department to be used for the administration of these areas. (1915, c. 253, s. 1; 1925, c. 122, s. 22; 1935, c. 226; 1941, c. 118, s. 1; C. S. 6124.)

Such planting stock as is not required in the State forests may be sold at not less than cost to landowners within the State for planting purposes, but all such planting shall be done under plans approved by the Department. The Department shall make reasonable rules for the regulation of the use by the public of such and all State forests, State parks, State lakes, game refuges and public shooting grounds under its charge, which regulations, after having been posted in conspicuous places on and adjacent to such State properties and at the courthouse of the county or counties in which such properties are situated, shall have the force and effect of law and any violation of such regulations shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or by imprisonment for not exceeding thirty days. All funds which may hereafter come into the hands of the state treasurer from like sources shall be likewise distributed. (Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 6; 1921, c. 179, s. 17; 1933, c. 537, s. 1; 1939, c. 152; 1943, c. 527; C. S. 6126 (a).)

They shall safeguard against trespass, and notably against fire, in the state forest for which they have been appointed; and, as far as the enforcement of the provisions of this article is concerned, the state forest warden shall have all the powers, privileges, and protection otherwise had by sheriffs under any law now in force. § 113-52. State forester and forest wardens.—The forester of the Department of Conservation and Development, who shall be called state forester, and shall be ex officio state forest warden, may appoint, with the approval of the Board of Conservation and Development, one county forest warden and one or more deputy forest wardens in each county of the state in which after careful investigation the amount of forest land and the risks from forest fires shall, in his judgment, warrant the establishment of a forest fire organization. (1915, c. 243, s. 2; 1925, c. 106, s. 1, c. 122, s. 22; 1927, c. 150, s. 1; 1935, c. 178, s. 1; C. S. 6134.)

Cross Reference.—For section making game protectors, deputy game protectors, and refuge keepers ex-officio forest wardens, see § 113-93.

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 inserted the words "after careful investigation" and substituted the words "warrant the establishment of a forest fire organization" for the words "make it advisable and necessary."

§ 113-53. Duties of state forester.—The state forester, as the state forest warden, shall have supervision of forest wardens, shall instruct them in their duties, issue such regulations and instructions to all forest wardens as he may deem necessary for the purposes of this article, and cause violations of the laws regarding forest fires to be prosecuted. (1915, c. 243, s. 3; 1925, c. 106, s. 1; 1927, c. 150, s. 2; C. S. 6135.)

Upon approval by the state forester such accounts shall be sent by the state forester to the board of county commissioners of the county in which such expenses have been incurred, and upon approval by the board of the correctness of such accounts, the county commissioners shall issue or cause to have issued a warrant on the county treasury for the payment of one-half of such account, said payments of counties' share of such expenditures to be made within one month after receipt of such statements from the state forester, provided that the total payments by the county shall not exceed five (5) mills per acre of total woodland area in said county in any one calendar year, unless specifically authorized by the county commissioners; appropriations for meeting the counties' share of the fire control costs to be set up annually by the commissioners in the county budget. (1915, c. 243, s. 4; 1925, c. 106, s. 1; 1927, c. 150, s. 3; 1935, c. 178, s. 2; 1943, c. 660; C. S. 6136.)

Local Modification.—Cumberland: 1943, c. 660.

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 made many changes in this section including the provision for manning lookout towers and other points. It also added the latter part of the section relating to payment of expenses.

The 1943 amendment struck out the words "to meet an emergency" formerly appearing after the word "commissioners" in the fourth line from the end of the section.

Any forest warden may arrest, without a warrant, any person or persons taken by him in the act of violating any of the laws for the protection of forests and woodlands, and bring such person or persons forthwith before a justice of the peace or other officer having jurisdiction, who shall proceed without delay to hear, try, and determine the matter. During a season of drouth the state forester may establish a fire patrol in any district, and in case of fire in or threatening any forest or woodland the forest warden shall attend forthwith and use all necessary means to confine and extinguish such fire. The forest warden or his deputies may summon any male resident between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years to assist in extinguishing fires, and may require the use of horses and other property needed for such purpose; any person so summoned, and who is physically able, who refuses or neglects to assist or to allow the use of horses, wagons, or other material required, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars. Traveling and other expenses incurred by him in the discharge of the duties imposed upon him by this article shall be charged to, and paid by, the particular corporation or corporations on account of which such expenses are incurred. His general expenses incurred in the discharge of such duties, which cannot be fairly charged to any particular corporation or corporations, shall be charged to and paid by, all the corporations then organized and existing under this article pro-rata according to their respective stock capitalizations. (c) Enforce the provisions of this article and his orders, rules and regulations thereunder by filing a petition for a writ of mandamus or application for an injunction in the superior court of the county in which the respondent corporation has its principal place of business. The final judgment in any such proceeding shall either dismiss the proceeding or direct that a writ of mandamus or an injunction, or both, issue as prayed for in the petition or in such modified or other form as the court may determine will afford appropriate relief. (1933, c. 178, s. 5.)

§ 113-66. Provision for appeal by corporations to governor.—If any corporation organized under this article is dissatisfied with or aggrieved at any regulation, rule or order imposed upon it by the director of the department of conservation and development, or any valuation or appraisal of any of its property made by the director of the department of conservation and development, or any failure of or refusal by the director of the department of conservation and development to approve of or consent to any action which it can take only with such approval or consent, it may appeal to the governor by filing with him a claim of appeal upon which the decision of the governor shall be final. Such determination, if other than a dismissal of the appeal, shall be set forth by the governor in a written mandate to the director of the department of conservation and development, who shall abide thereby and take such action as the same may direct. (1933, c. 178, s. 6.)

In determining such earnings unrealized appreciation or depreciation of real estate or other fixed assets shall not be considered. (1933, c. 178, s. 10.)

§ 113-72. Cutting and sale of timber.—Any such corporation may cut and sell the timber on its lands or permit the cutting thereof, but all such cuttings shall be in accordance with the regulations, restrictions and limitations imposed by the director of the department of conservation and development, who shall impose such regulations, restrictions and limitations with respect thereto as may reasonably conform to the accepted custom and usage of good forestry and forest economy, taking into consideration the situation, nature and condition of the tract so cut or to be cut, and the financial needs of such corporation from time to time. (1933, c. 178, s. 12.)

(4) The corporation proposing such project shall agree that the project shall at all times be subject to the supervision and inspection of the director of the department of conservation and development, and that it will at all times comply with such rules and regulations concerning the project as the director of the department of conservation and development shall from time to time impose. (1941, c. 377, s. 1.)

§ 113-79. Meeting of committee; executive committee; duties of executive secretary.—The members of said committee shall meet within thirty days after their appointment and shall elect or appoint an executive committee, from their membership, of not less than three nor more than five

SUBCHAPTER III. GAME LAWS.

Art. 7. North Carolina Game Law of 1935.

§ 113-82. Title of article.—This article shall be known by the short title of "The North Carolina Game Law." (1935, c. 486, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Currituck: 1935, c. 160.

Historical Note.—The administration of the game laws was placed in the state game commission by Public Laws 1927, c. 51 (the 1927 game Law). Public Laws 1927, c. 250, purported to abolish the state game commission and transfer its powers and duties to the department of conservation and development. (However, see Public Laws 1927, c. 253). Under the 1935 Game Law (§§ 113-82 to 113-109), administration is placed in the board of conservation and development. See § 113-84.

Under the 1927 Game Laws, the principal administrative officer was the state game warden. The office of state game warden and the office of commissioner of inland fisheries were abolished by Public Laws 1933, c. 357; and said act authorized the board of conservation and development to appoint "a person of scientific training and experience in the propagation and preservation of fish and game" to administer the duties prescribed for the state game warden and commissioner of inland fisheries. Under the 1935 Game Law, the principal administrative officer is the commissioner of game and inland fisheries. See §§ 113-83, 113-90.

§ 113-83. Definitions.—For the purpose of this article the following shall be construed, respectively, to mean:

Board.—Board of conservation and development.

Commissioner.—Commissioner of game and inland fisheries.

Person.—The plural or singular as the case demands, including individuals, associations, partnerships, and corporations, unless the context otherwise requires.

Take—Whenever it is made lawful to “take” birds or animals, or parts thereof, or birds’ nests or eggs, it shall mean the pursuit, hunting, capture or killing of birds or animals, or collecting of birds’ nests or eggs in the manner, at the time, and by means specifically permitted. Whenever it is made unlawful to “take” birds or animals or parts thereof, or birds’ nests or eggs, the word “take” shall include pursuing, shooting, hunting, killing, capturing, trapping, snaring, and netting birds or animals, collecting birds’ nests or eggs, and all lesser acts, such as disturbing or annoying birds or animals, or placing or using any net or other device for the purpose of taking birds or animals, whether or not they result in the taking of such birds or animals.

Open Season—The time during which birds or animals may be lawfully taken. Each period of time prescribed as an open season shall be construed to include the first and last days thereof.

Closed Season—The time during which birds or animals may not be taken.

Common Carrier — Railroad companies, boat lines, express companies, bus lines, and any person transporting persons or property for hire.

Game Animals—Deer, bear, fox, squirrels and rabbits.

§ 113-84. Powers and duties of the board of conservation and development.—It shall be unlawful to take or pursue any of the wild life of the State at any time or in any manner, except at such times and in such manner as the supply of said wild life may justify, and the said board is hereby directed to make adequate investigations as to the said supply and thereupon shall, by appropriate rules and regulations:

1. Fix seasons and bag limits or close seasons on any species of game, bird, or fur-bearing animal, in any specified locality or localities, or the entire State, when it shall find, after said investigation, that such action is necessary to assure the maintenance of an adequate supply thereof. The statutes now governing such subjects shall continue in full force and effect, except as altered or modified by rules and regulations promulgated by the board.

2. Establish and close to hunting or trapping game or bird refuges on public lands and, with the consent of the owner, on private lands; and close streams and lakes, or parts thereof to hunting or trapping.

5. Enter into coöperative agreements with federal agencies, municipalities, corporations, organized groups of landowners, associations and individuals, for the development of game, bird or fur-bearing animal management and demonstration projects. (1935, c. 486, s. 4.)

§ 113-85. Limitations on powers.—Nothing in this article, however, shall be construed to authorize the board to change any penalty prescribed by law for a violation of its provisions, or to change the amount of license fees or the authority conferred by licenses prescribed by law. (1935, c. 486, s. 4.)

§ 113-86. Organization of work. — The board shall establish such departmental bureaus or divisions and shall authorize the commissioner to employ such experts, clerks, or other employees as it may deem necessary for the conduct of the work of the board, and it shall fix their salaries or other compensation, which shall be paid out of the game and fish fund. The board shall authorize such scientific and other studies as may be deemed necessary to its work, and shall collect, classify and disseminate such statistics, data and information as in its discretion will tend to promote the objects of this article. (1935, c. 486, s. 4.)

§ 113-87. Permits to kill game injurious to agriculture.—The board shall have power to issue permits to kill any species of birds or animals which may become seriously injurious to agriculture or other interests in any particular community, or such birds or animals may be captured alive by it or under its discretion and planted in other sections of the State for re-stocking, or may be disposed of in such other manner as it may determine: Provided, that birds and animals committing depredations may be taken at any time without a permit while committing, or about to commit, such depredations. Any permit issued pursuant to this section shall expire within four (4) months after the date of issuance. (1935, c. 486, s. 4.)

§ 113-88. Publication of rules and regulations of board.—Rules, regulations and orders of the board shall be published in the following manner: Those having general application throughout the State shall be published at least once in some newspaper published in and having general circulation throughout the State and at each county court house door; those of special character having local application only shall be published at least once in some newspaper published in and having general circulation in the locality wherein such rules, regulations and orders are applicable and at the county court house door; but, if no such newspaper is so published and circulated, copies of such rules, regulations and orders shall be posted in at least three conspicuous places in the locality in which they are applicable and at the county court house door. Such rules, regulations and orders may also be given such other publicity as the board may deem desirable. (1935, c. 486, s. 5.)

§ 113-89. County game commissions. — This article shall not be construed to dissolve any game commissions now existing in the several counties, nor to prohibit the creation of game commissions in the several counties and such commissions now existing and such as may be created shall exist, but supervision of the provisions of this article and the direction of the policies and administration of this article and other laws which may exist for the same purpose as this shall be vested in and abide with the board and the powers of such county commissions as may exist or may be created shall be of a nature advisory and recommendatory to the board and the exercise of any powers by them shall require the approval of the board of conservation and development. (1935, c. 486, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The case of State v. Sizemore, 199 N. C. 687, 155 S. E. 724, decided under the provisions of C. S. §§ 2079 to 2086, held that the effect of the North Carolina Game Law is to make county game commissions subordinate to the state commission, the powers of the former being merely advisory or recommendatory until approved by the state commission.

§ 113-90. Appointment of commissioner; salary; expenses; bond; office.—The director with the approval of the board shall appoint a commissioner, who shall receive a salary fixed by the board, not exceeding five thousand dollars per annum, payable monthly upon his own requisition. The commissioner shall be reimbursed for his actual and necessary traveling expenses, not to exceed one thousand five hundred dollars per annum, incurred in the discharge of his official business when he is away from the place where his office is located, to be paid by proper voucher. The commissioner shall give bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, to be approved by the state treasurer, conditioned upon his faithful performance of the duties imposed upon him by the provisions of this article. The bond shall be filed with the state treasurer and the premiums paid from the state game fund. The commissioner shall have his office in the offices of the board at the capital. (1935, c. 486, s. 7.)

§ 113-91. Powers of commissioner.—In accordance with, and subject to, such rules and regulations as may from time to time be adopted by the board relating thereto, the commissioner shall have the following powers:

(a) To Issue Permits. The commissioner may issue a permit, revocable for cause, to any person, authorizing the holder to collect and possess wild animals or wild birds or birds' nests or eggs for scientific, propagation, or exhibition purposes. Before such a permit to take for scientific purposes is issued, the applicant must file written testimonials from two well known ornithologists or zoologists and pay the sum of two dollars ($2.00) for the permit, but duly accredited representatives of public educational or scientific institutions, or governmental departments of the United States engaged in the scientific study of birds and animals, may be granted such a permit without endorsements or charge or without being required to obtain a hunting license. If the commissioner is satisfied of the good faith of the applicant, he shall issue to him a permit, which shall fix the date of its expiration, and may fix a restriction upon the number and kinds of animals, birds, or birds' nests or eggs to be taken thereunder, but no such permit shall be valid after the last day of the calendar year in which it is issued. Permits to take game animals or game birds during the closed season shall not be issued except to a duly accredited representative of a school, college, university, public museum or other institution of learning, or a representative of the federal government engaged in the scientific study of birds and animals or to a duly accredited representative of a state game department or commission to re-stock the covers of the State which he represents. Specimens of birds or animals legally taken and birds and animals reared in domestication pursuant to the provisions of this article and to the regulations of the board may be bought, sold, and transported at any time by any person holding a valid permit issued in accordance with the provisions of this section. When transported by common carrier or contained in a package, said specimens of any package in which the same are transported shall have clearly and conspicuously marked on the outside the name and address of the consignor and consignee, and an accurate statement of the numbers and kinds of birds and animals, specimens or parts thereof, or birds' nests or eggs contained therein, and that such specimens are for scientific or propagation purposes. Each person receiving a permit under this section must file, at the expiration of his permit, with the commissioner a report of his operations under the permit, which report shall set forth the name and address of the permittee, the number of his permit, the number of, each species of birds, animals or birds' nests or eggs taken thereunder or otherwise acquired, disposition of the same, names and addresses of persons acquiring the same from the permittee, and number of each species on hand for propagation purposes at the expiration of the permit. The board is hereby authorized to prescribe from time to time rules and regulations governing the possession, purchase, sale and transportation of birds and animals raised in domestication pursuant to the provisions of this article.

(b) To Employ Deputies. The commissioner may employ such game protectors, deputy game protectors, refuge keepers, employees, and agents as shall be necessary for the proper carrying out of the provisions of this article, and with the approval of the board shall arrange the compensation for such protectors, deputy protectors, refuge keepers, employees and agents. Qualifications for the office of game protector shall be considered in the appointment of all game and fish protectors who shall be required to pass an examination showing their knowledge of provisions of the game and fish laws, the purposes of the protection of wild life, and essential matters of administration of these statutes. Said examination shall be prepared under the supervision of the commissioner and given in the county or district in which the said protector will serve and shall be conducted under the direction of the commissioner or some suitable person designated by him. The commissioner shall have general supervision and control over all such protectors, deputy protectors, refuge keepers, and employees, and shall enforce all the provisions of this article and any other laws now in force or hereafter enacted for the protection of wild birds and animals, and shall exercise all necessary powers incident thereto. It shall be the duty of the protectors, deputy protectors, refuge keepers, and employees to obey and carry out the instructions and directions of the commissioner for the enforcement of this article.

(c) To Prepare Form of License. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to prepare forms of licenses and other forms necessary for use in the administration of the provisions of this article and to properly distribute them to the officers and persons required to issue licenses or use such forms. Each license shall be issued in the name of the commissioner and countersigned by the officer or person issuing it. Each licensee shall sign his name in ink on the license issued him. The commissioner shall cause the license accounts of officers and persons issuing licenses to be examined and audited at least once during each year, and shall require such officers and persons promptly to pay him, in accordance with the provisions of this article, all monies received by them from the sales of licenses.

(d) To Execute Warrants. The commissioner and each of his deputies shall have power to execute all warrants issued for violation of this article, and to serve subpoenas issued for examination, investigation, or trial of offenders against any of the provisions of this article; to make search, after having first obtained proper warrant therefor, of any place or thing which such deputies have cause to believe contains wild birds or animals, or any part thereof, or the nest or eggs of birds possessed in violation of law; to seize wild birds or animals, or parts thereof, or nests, or eggs of birds killed, captured, or possessed in violation of law or showing evidence of illegal killing; to seize and confiscate all instruments or devices illegally used in taking wild birds or animals, and to hold the same to be disposed of as provided in this article; to arrest without warrant any persons committing a violation of this article in his presence, and to take such person immediately before a court having jurisdiction for trial or hearing; and to exercise such other powers of peace officers in the enforcement of the provisions of this article, or of judgments obtained for violation thereof, as are not herein specifically conferred.

(e) To Dispose of Seized Game and Devices. All game birds and the edible portions of game animals seized under the provisions of this article shall be disposed of by the commissioner, or under his direction, by gift to hospitals, charitable institutions or almshouses in the county taken within the State. Non-game birds or parts thereof and the plumes or skins of wild birds or birds of foreign species shall be disposed of by the commissioner by gift to scientific educational institutions within the State, or may be retained by him for use of the board, or in his discretion they may be destroyed. The commissioner shall take a receipt from the donee for any such gift, and file such receipt in his office, and he shall keep a permanent record of such gifts. The heads, antlers, horns, hides, skins, or feet, or parts of any game or fur-bearing animal, seized under the provisions of this article, if the person from whom the same were seized, is convicted of violating any of the provisions of this article, or if the owner thereof is unknown, may be sold for cash by the commissioner, or under his direction, at public auction to the highest bidder. Notice of the time and place of such sale, together with a description of the articles to be sold, shall be given by the commissioner or under his direction in such manner as he may determine to be best calculated to bring the best price therefor: Provided, that if the property seized is perishable, that same may be disposed of by the commissioner immediately. The commissioner or his deputies authorized to make the sale shall issue to the purchaser a certificate stating that the purchaser has the legal right to be in possession of the articles bought, and anyone so acquiring said article or articles from the State, other than the person from whom they were seized, shall have the right to possess the same. If the person from whom any of said articles were seized be acquitted of the charge of violating any of the provisions of this article, the article so seized, unless it be an instrument or device, the use of which is prohibited by this article, or money derived from the sale thereof if it was perishable property, shall be returned to him. It shall be, and is hereby made, the duty of each deputy to make a full and complete report to the commissioner of all property by him confiscated because of a violation of the game laws of this State, showing in detail a description of the property, the person from whom it was confiscated, the price received therefor upon public sale, and the disposition of the money. The commissioner shall keep in his office a permanent record showing all property confiscated by him or any of his deputies, and the disposition made thereof under the provisions of this article. (1935, c. 486, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—It was held in Birchfield v. Department of Conservation, etc., 204 N. C. 217, 167 S. E. 855, decided under a prior law (1927, c. 51), that, although a man may have been appointed deputy game warden, he is not an employee of the state before he has received word of his appointment and accepted it.

§ 113-92. Officers constituted deputy game protectors. — All sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, police officers, forest wardens, park patrolmen, refuge keepers, constables and all other peace officers are hereby made deputy game protectors, and it shall be made their duty to aid in the enforcement of this law. The arrest fee taxed in bills of cost in criminal actions growing out of the violation of this article or violation of laws regulating fishing, except commercial fishing, when the arrest is made by a game protector or a deputy game protector, shall be paid by the Justice of the Peace or other Criminal Court taxing same into the general school fund of the county where the violation took place. No fee shall be taxed in bills of cost for the use and benefit of a game protector or deputy game protector, who appears as a witness at the trial of such case. Any game protector or deputy game protector, who takes arrest fees or witness fees in violation of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined or imprisoned or both in the discretion of the court, and in addition thereto, upon conviction, he shall forfeit his office. This article shall not apply to sheriffs or deputy sheriffs, who are on fee basis and who make arrests and appear as witnesses in such cases. In no event shall the cost of an action involving the violation of the game and fish laws be taxed against the county or state. (1935, c. 486, s. 9; 1939, c. 119.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment so changed this section that a comparison is not practicable.

The applicant for a license shall fill out a blank application in the form prescribed and furnished by the commissioner. Said application shall be subscribed and sworn to by the applicant before an officer authorized to administer oaths in this State, and the persons hereby authorized to issue licenses are hereby authorized to administer oaths to applicants for such licenses. Licenses may be issued by the clerk of the superior court for each county, the commissioner, game protectors and such other persons as the commissioner may authorize in writing:

It shall also be unlawful to shoot any such birds while such birds are sitting on the ground. (1935, c. 486, s. 20; 1939, c. 235, s. 1; C. S. 2124.)

License to engage in business of game propagation; sale and transportation regulated.—Any person desiring to engage in the business of propagating in captivity upland game birds, ducks and geese, or any of them on land of which he is the owner or lessee and selling same pursuant to the provisions of this section, may make application in writing to the commissioner for a license to do so. The commissioner, when it shall appear that such application is made in good faith, shall upon the payment of a fee of two dollars ($2.00), issue to each applicant a license permitting such licensee to propagate such game birds on land of which he is the owner or lessee, the location of which shall be stated in such application and such license; to sell and ship such propagated game birds in the State from the State alive at any time for breeding or stocking purposes and take such propagated game birds except quail and wild turkey in any manner and at any time and sell the carcasses for food as hereinafter prescribed: Provided, that propagated upland game birds may be killed by shooting only during the open season as established by the board; and, provided further, that propagated migratory game birds may be killed by shooting only during the open season for migratory game birds. Each such license shall expire on the thirty-first day of December of the year in which it is issued. Each holder of a game bird propagating license shall keep such license prominently displayed at the place of business specified therein.

Every person holding a game bird propagating license issued by the commissioner shall keep accurate, written records, showing the number of game birds of each species propagated, bought, or sold, and the disposition thereof. These records shall be kept permanently on the premises stated in such license and shall be open for inspection by any duly authorized representative of the commissioner at all reasonable times.

Migratory game birds propagated in accordance with this section shall not be bought or sold for food, unless each bird before attaining the age of four weeks, shall have had removed from the web of one foot a portion thereof in the form of a "V" large enough to make a well defined mark, which shall be sufficient to identify it as a bird propagated in accordance with this section of the North Carolina Game Law. Migratory game birds propagated in accordance with this section may be bought, sold or offered for sale for food only after being tagged with an indestructible metal tag which shall be supplied by the board.

Common carriers shall receive and transport game birds tagged as aforesaid but to every package containing such propagated game birds shall be affixed a tag or label upon which shall plainly be printed or written the name, address and license number of the person by whom such propagated game birds are shipped and the name and address of the person to whom such propagated game birds are to be transported and number of each kind contained therein. The board shall be entitled to receive and shall collect for each tag to be affixed to the carcass of each game bird propagated, in accordance with this section, the sum of five cents. The said tags shall remain affixed as aforesaid until the carcasses of such propagated game birds shall be finally prepared for consumption: Provided, that the owner or proprietor of a hotel, restaurant, boarding house, or the manager of a club, may sell a portion of a tagged game bird to a guest, customer, or member, for consumption on the premises.

The proprietor or keeper of a hotel, restaurant or café, boarding house or club, desiring to serve game to his patrons, may make application to the department of conservation and development for a license to do so. The department, when it shall appear that such application is made in good faith, shall upon the payment of a fee of ten dollars ($10.00) issue to each such applicant a license permitting the holder thereof to buy and possess game birds lawfully tagged, and to serve such game to his patrons for consumption at any time, but only on the premises, the location of which shall be definitely stated in such license and the application therefor. Each such license to serve game birds shall expire on the thirty-first day of December in the year in which it is issued. Each person holding a license to serve game birds shall keep such license prominently displayed at the place of business specified therein. The holder of a license to serve game birds may purchase only game birds tagged in accordance with law. Each holder of a license to serve game birds shall keep accurate written records of each and every purchase, which records shall contain the name and address of the person or corporation from whom such game birds were purchased, the date of each transaction and the number and kind of game birds included in each purchase. These records shall be kept permanently at the place of business specified in the license and shall be open for inspection by any duly authorized representative of the department at all reasonable times. Each holder of a license to serve game birds shall send a certified copy of these records for the previous calendar year to the department not later than January fifteenth. The department shall furnish the forms on which these records are to be kept. The board is hereby authorized to prescribe from time to time rules and regulations governing the possession, purchase, sale and transportation of birds raised in domestication pursuant to the provisions of this article. (1935, c. 486, §. 29.)

§ 113-106. Unlawful transportation.—No common carrier or employee of such carrier shall, while engaged in such business, transport for the owner any wild animals or birds or any part thereof, or nest or eggs of any bird, nor shall any such carrier or employee knowingly receive or possess the same for shipment for another, unless the person offering the same for shipment is in possession of valid hunting license or collecting permit. A person who is a resident of this State may transport within the State during the open season therefor, game birds and game animals lawfully taken. A person who is a nonresident of the State and a holder of a valid nonresident hunting license, may, under a permit issued by the commissioner, transport within this State, or from a point within to a point without, during the open season therefor, game birds and game animals or parts thereof lawfully taken by him, but he shall not transport out of the State during any one open season more than two male deer and two wild turkeys, or during one calendar week more than two days' bag limit of other game animals and game birds. A person may transport, buy, or sell at any time or in any manner, non-game animals and the fur of fur-bearing animals lawfully taken and tagged. A person may transport, and possess at any time and in any manner the head, antlers, hides, feet or skin of game animals or game birds lawfully taken. A person may buy and sell at any time the mounted specimens of heads, antlers, hides and feet of game animals, and the skins of game birds lawfully taken and possessed: Provided, the person selling such specimens has a written permit issued by the commissioner, authorizing him to do so. (1935, c. 486, s. 22; 1941, c. 231, s. 1.)

§ 113-108. North Carolina, the owner shall be permitted to charge hunters such fees and rates as are approved by the board of conservation and development;

(7) No hunter is allowed to quit the hunting grounds at the end of the day's or part of a day's hunting without seeing the authority who gave him permission to hunt on said hunting grounds and paying all accounts due said authority;

(8) No construction or interpretation shall be put on this section or any part thereof as to permit the sale of dead game killed in accordance with this article, abrogate the bag limits, time of hunting, open and closed seasons as prescribed elsewhere in the North Carolina Game Law;

(9) No person shall hunt or discharge firearms upon any public hunting grounds organized under this section without being accompanied by one of the landowners or a personal representative of one landowner, or after securing, on the day of the hunt, or day preceding the hunt, written permission to hunt under the authority of this article, said written permission to bear the name in full, age, and address of the hunter, under the penalty of being fined in the courts, upon conviction, not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each and every offense;

Editor's Note.—In applying this section, the following matters should be noted:

(1) The Uniform Game Law (1935, c. 486) repealed all "acts, whether general, local, special, or private, or parts of such acts" in conflict therewith, but left to "county regulations" the seasons during which foxes could be hunted.

(2) The above section appeared in the Consolidated Statutes of 1919, and was a collection of various public-local laws. Since 1919, a great number of public-local laws have been enacted relating to the hunting of foxes, which do not specifically amend or modify the section by its Consolidated Statutes number (Sec. 2110). This section has been brought forward from the Consolidated Statutes, but should be considered in connection with the various local laws relating to the same subject matter.

§ 113-111. No closed season in certain counties.

—It shall be lawful to hunt, take or kill foxes at any time in Ashe, Avery, Iredell, Lenoir, Henderson, Pitt, Haywood, Harnett and Watauga counties. (1931, c. 143, s. 5; 1933, c. 428; 1939, c. 319; 1943, c. 615.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws 1933, c. 428, added Henderson to the list of the counties.

The 1939 amendment added Pitt and Haywood to the list.

The 1943 amendment made this section applicable to Harnett county.

§ 113-112. Police power of protectors in enforcing county laws relative to foxes.—All game protectors duly appointed by the Department of Conservation and Development and all ex officio game protectors named in the North Carolina Game Law shall be authorized and empowered as fully as is the sheriff and other local officers to enforce local and county laws relating to the open and closed seasons to hunt or protect red and grey foxes. (1931, c. 143, s. 5.)

Art. 9. Federal Regulations on Federal Lands.

§ 113-113. Legislative consent; violation made a misdemeanor.—The consent of the general assembly of North Carolina in hereby given to the making by the congress of the United States, or under its authority, of all such rules and regulations as the federal government shall determine to be needful in respect to game animals, game and non-game birds, and fish on such lands in the western part of North Carolina as shall have been, or may hereafter be, purchased by the United States under the terms of the act of congress of March first, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, entitled "An act to enable any state to cooperate with any other state or states, or with the United States, for the protection of the watersheds of navigable streams, and to appoint a commission for the acquisition of lands for the purposes of conserving the navigability of navigable rivers" (36 U. S. Stat. at Large, p. 961), and acts of congress supplementary thereto and amendatory thereof, and in or on the waters thereon.

Nothing in this section shall be construed as conveying the ownership of wild life from the State of North Carolina or permit the trapping, hunting or transportation of any game animals, game or non-game birds and fish, by any person, firm or corporation, including any agency, department or instrumentality of the United States Government or agents thereof, on the lands in North Carolina, as shall have been or may hereafter be purchased by the United States under the terms of any Act of Congress, except in accordance with the provisions of article 7 of this subchapter.

Any person, firm or corporation, including employees or agents of any department or instrumentality of the United States Government, violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1915, c. 205; 1939, c. 79, ss. 1, 2; C. S. 2099.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment added the second and third paragraphs to this section.

For comment on the 1939 amendatory act, see 17 N. C. Law Rev. 364.

Acceptance May Be Presumed.—Acceptance of such a grant as is made by this section may be presumed. Chalk v. United States, 114 F. (2d) 207, 209.

Acceptance of Jurisdiction over Pisgah National Forest and Pisgah National Game Preserve.—Federal statute authorizing the president of the United States to designate areas set aside for protection of game and fish on lands purchased by the United States, and punishing the unlawful taking of game or fish, constituted an acceptance by the United States of the cession to it of jurisdiction over the Pisgah National Forest and the Pisgah National Game Preserve by a prior act of the legislature of North Carolina. Chalk v. United States, 114 F. (2d) 207.

Limitation of Number of Deer Therein.—Where the United States acquired land by grant from North Carolina for the Pisgah National Forest and the Pisgah National Game Preserve, and legislature of North Carolina enacted an act consenting that congress should make rules and regulations with respect to animals, birds, and fish, and it was established that deer herd on the preserve was so large as to damage the preserve, the United States could, without regard to state laws, limit the number of deer thereon. Chalk v. United States, 114 F. (2d) 207.

Art. 10. Regulation of Fur Dealers; Licenses.

§ 113-114. Fur dealer's license; fees. — Every person, firm or corporation who engages in the business of buying and selling raw furs, pelts or skins of fur-bearing animals shall before beginning such business, and annually thereafter, obtain a license from the Department of Conservation and Development. The fees for such licenses shall be as follows:

1. For a resident state-wide license, the sum of twenty-five dollars.

This license will entitle the holder to buy and sell furs in any or all of the counties in North Carolina.

2. For a resident county license, the sum of ten dollars. This license will entitle the holder to buy and sell furs only in the county designated in the license. The fee for each additional county shall be ten dollars.

3. For a resident county license which entitles the dealer to buy or sell only at a fixed place of business in the county of his residence, the sum of five dollars.

4. For a nonresident of the state, the sum of one hundred dollars for a state-wide license.

These licenses shall be issued through the game protectors or agents of the Department of Conservation and Development as a part of their official duties. The funds so received from the sale of the above licenses shall be deposited with the state treasurer to the credit of the Department of Conservation and Development and they shall be expended for the protection and promotion of the fur-bearing industry in North Carolina and for the administration and enforcement of this article and for no other purpose. (1929, c. 333, ss. 1, 2; 1933, c. 337, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to Public Laws 1933, c. 337, the state-wide license for a resident was $75, instead of $25. The license for a non-resident was $400, instead of $100, and counties were permitted to collect an additional $50 from such nonresident. The section formerly provided for an annual local license of $1, instead of $5, with the limitation that the buying should not exceed $500 worth of furs per annum.

§ 113-115. Annual report of furs bought.—Every person, firm or corporation who takes out a fur dealer's license shall report to the Department of Conservation and Development on April first of each year and every year the total amount of furs bought by such dealer, including the species of fur bearing animals and the number of each, and such other information as required by the Department of Conservation and Development. (1929, c. 333, s. 3.)

§ 113-116. What counties may levy tax.—No county, city or town shall have the right to levy any license on resident fur dealers except that the county in which such dealers or buyers maintain a place of business or residence may charge and collect from such dealers a license tax of not more than five dollars per annum. (1929, c. 333, s. 4; 1933, c. 337, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—Ten dollars, instead of five dollars, was the amount permitted to be collected prior to Public Laws 1933, c. 337.

§ 113-117. Permits may be issued to non-resident dealers.—It shall be lawful for the department of conservation and development to issue permits to nonresident dealers for the purchase of raw furs from only statewide licensed fur dealers in North Carolina. (1929, c. 333, s. 5; 1933, c. 337, s. 3; 1935, c. 471, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to Public Laws 1933, c. 337, this section contained the proviso limiting permits to the purchase of furs from dealers who had taken out the $75 license.

The amendment of 1935 inserted the word "statewide" preceding the word "licensed," near the end of this section.

§ 113-118. Licenses for each employee of dealer; fees; residence requirement.—All bona fide members of a resident firm or corporation and their bona fide regular employees, all such members and employees being residents of North Carolina, shall be required to take out a license showing their employment and shall pay therefor the sum of twenty-five dollars each. Provided that the employees of a resident firm or corporation operating under a county resident fur dealer's license shall be required to pay only the sum of ten dollars ($10.00). Applicants for resident fur dealers license must have actually resided in the state for six months next before making application for such license. (1929, c. 333, s. 6; 1933, c. 337, s. 4; 1935, c. 471, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—In the first sentence of this section, Public Laws of 1933, c. 337, struck out the word "duplicate" before the word "license." It also increased the sum from $10 to $25.

The amendment of 1935 added the proviso.

§ 113-119. Nonresident buying furs personally or through agent classed as nonresident fur dealer.

—Any nonresident person, firm or corporation or any agent or person acting as agent therefor, who in any manner purchases or solicits to purchase furs in North Carolina, except as provided in § 113-117, shall be subject to and shall procure from the department of conservation and development a nonresident fur dealer's license before he shall be entitled to purchase or solicit to purchase furs as above set out in this section. (1929, c. 333, s. 7; 1935, c. 471, s. 2.)

§ 113-120. Violation a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than sixty days for the first offense, and on conviction of second violation of this article such person, firm or corporation shall pay not less than two hundred dollars or be imprisoned not more than six months or both in the discretion of the court. (1929, c. 333, s. 8.)

Art. 11. Miscellaneous Provisions.

§ 113-121. Possession of firearm silencer, while hunting game, made unlawful.—It shall be unlawful for any person while hunting game in this state to have in his possession a shotgun, pistol, rifle, or any firearm equipped with a silencer of any type or kind or any device or mechanism designed to silence, muffle, or minimize the report of such firearm, whether such silencer or device or mechanism is separate from or attached to such firearm.

If any person shall be convicted of a violation of this section he shall be fined not less than one hundred ($100.00) dollars or imprisoned not less than sixty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1937, c. 152.)

§ 113-122. Sanctuary on Grandfather Mountain; molestation of game a misdemeanor.—Part of Grandfather Mountain situate in the counties of Avery, Caldwell and above the Yonahlossee Road on one side, and above the elevation of four thousand feet on the other side, is established as a sanctuary for the preservation and protection of deer, squirrels and other wild animals (except wildcats), and wild turkey, pheasants, eagles, hawks, ravens and all other bird life.

It shall be unlawful to trap, hunt, shoot, or otherwise kill, within the sanctuary established by the preceding paragraph, any deer, squirrels, or other wild animals (except wild-cats), any wild turkeys, pheasants, eagles, hawks, ravens, or any kind of bird life. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1923, c. 191; 1925, c. 212; C. S. 2105(a), 2105(b).)

providing for aid in wild life restoration projects.

—The State of North Carolina hereby assents to the provisions of the Act of Congress entitled "An Act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in wild life restoration projects, and for other purposes," approved September second, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Public, number four hundred fifteen, seventy-fifth Congress), and the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to perform such acts as may be necessary to the conduct and establishment of cooperative wild life restoration projects, as defined in said Act of Congress, in compliance with said Act and rules and regulations promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture thereunder; and no funds accruing to the State of North Carolina from license fees paid by hunters shall be diverted for any other purpose than the protection and propagation of game and wild life in North Carolina and administration of the laws enacted for such purposes, which laws are and shall be administered by the Division of Game and Inland Fisheries under the direction of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development. (1939, c. 271.)

§ 113-124. Birds kept as pets or for breeding.

It shall be lawful to keep any wild bird in a cage as a domestic pet, or for the purposes of breeding, raising and domesticating. (Rev., s. 1876; 1903 (Pr.), c. 337, ss. 6, 7; C. S. 2103.)

§ 113-125. Local by counties: Bird-dogs running at large.—It shall be unlawful for the owner or any person having the care of any pointer or setter dog to permit the same to run at large unmuzzled during the breeding season of quail, namely, from April the first to September first of any year. When any pointer or setter dog shall be found ranging unmuzzled in the field or woods it shall be prima facie evidence that the owner of such pointer or setter dog has violated the provisions of this section, and upon conviction such owner or his agent shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not longer than thirty days.

This section shall apply only to the counties of Davidson, Durham, Greene, Guilford, Forsyth, Iredell, Johnston, Moore, Transylvania and Yancey. (1909, c. 775; C. S. 2132.)

§ 113-126. Deer; fire-hunting; compelling testimony.

When more persons than one are engaged in committing the offense of fire-hunting, anyone may be compelled to give evidence against all others concerned; and the witness, upon giving such information, shall be acquitted and held discharged from all penalties and pains to which he was subject by his participation in the offense. (Rev., s. 3462; Code, ss. 1058, 1059; R. C., c. 34, ss. 95, 96; 1774, c. 103; 1784, c. 212, ss. 1, 3; 1801, c. 595; 1856-7, c. 24; 1879, c. 92; 1905, c. 388; 1925, c. 194; C. S. 2125.)

Local Modification.—Currituck: C. S. 2125.

SUBCHAPTER IV. FISH AND FISHERIES.Art. 12. General Provisions for Administration.

§ 113-127. Definitions.—When used in this subchapter,

(1) "Fish" or "fishes" includes porpoises and other marine mammals, fishes, mollusca, and crustaceans, and "fishing" or "fisheries" includes all operations involved in using, setting or operating apparatus employed in killing or taking such animals or in transporting and preparing them for market.

(2) "Board" means the Board of Conservation and Development. (1915, c. 84, s. 24; C. S. 1865.)

§ 113-128. Administrative machinery for enforcing laws relating to fish.—The state of North Carolina shall have exclusive jurisdiction and control over all the fisheries of the state, wherever located. The laws relating to fish shall be enforced by the Board of Conservation and Development through the Commissioner of Game and Inland Fisheries, appointed pursuant to § 113-90, and through the Commissioner of Commercial Fisheries appointed pursuant to § 113-129. (1915, c. 84, ss. 1, 18; 1917, c. 290, ss. 1, 9; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 42, s. 1; 1923, c. 168, s. 1; C. S. 1867, 1869.)

§ 113-129. Commissioner of commercial fisheries.

—The Board of Conservation and Development shall appoint a commercial fisheries commissioner, who shall be responsible to the Board and shall make semiannual reports to them at such time as they may require. His term of office shall be four years or until his successor is appointed and qualified, and in case of a vacancy in the office the appointment shall be to fill the vacancy. By and with the consent of the Board, the commissioner may appoint assistants or may remove them and appoint their successors. Their duties shall be prescribed by the commissioner. The salary of the commissioner and his assistants shall be fixed by the Board with the approval of the Budget Bureau, and if the commissioner is absent or unable to act, the Board shall appoint one of the assistant commissioners to have and to exercise all his powers. The commissioner and his assistants shall each execute and file with the secretary of state a bond, payable to the state of North Carolina, in the sum of five thousand dollars for the commissioner and twenty-five hundred dollars for each assistant, with sureties to be approved by the secretary of state, the condition being that they will faithfully perform their duties and will account for and pay over, pursuant to law, all moneys received by them in their office. (1915, c. 84, s. 1; 1917, c. 290, s. 1; 1925, c. 310; C. S. 1870.)

Editor's Note.—By the amendment of 1925 three assistants were allowed the commissioner, where prior to this he was allowed only two.

An indemnity contract or bond, which was neither in the amount nor "conditioned" as required by this section, did not cover a claim of damages for false imprisonment committed by an assistant fisheries commissioner under color of his office, and the surety is not liable thereunder to plaintiff. Midgett v. Nelson, 214 N. C. 396, 199 S. E. 393.

§ 113-130. Fish inspectors.—The commercial fisheries commissioner may appoint, with the approval of the board, inspectors in each county having fisheries under his jurisdiction. These inspectors shall serve under the direction of the commissioner and assist him at such times as he may require. (1915, c. 84, s. 2; C. S. 1871.)

§ 113-131. Commissioner of commercial fisheries and assistants not to be financially interested in fisheries.—The Commercial fisheries commissioner, assistant fisheries commissioners and inspectors shall not be financially interested in any fishing industry in North Carolina. (1915, c. 84, s. 8; 1921, c. 194, s. 1; C. S. 1872.)

Editor's Note.—By the amendment of 1921 the provision that "The members of the fisheries commission board" shall not be interested was omitted.

§ 113-132. Clerical force and office for commercial fisheries commissioner.—The commissioner of commercial fisheries shall rent and equip an office, which will be adequate for his business, in some town conveniently located to the maritime fisheries, and he is authorized with the consent of the board to employ such clerks and other employees as may be necessary for the proper carrying on of the work of his office. (1915, c. 84, s. 3; C. S. 1873.)

§ 113-133. Boats and equipment for commercial fisheries commissioner.—The commercial fisheries commissioner is authorized, with the consent of the board, to purchase or rent such boats, nets, and other equipment as may be necessary to enable him and his assistants to fulfill the duties specified in this chapter. (1915, c. 84, s. 4; C. S. 1874.)

§ 113-134. "Commercial fisheries fund" derived from imposts.—All license fees, taxes, rentals, of bottoms for oyster or clam cultivation and other imposts upon the fisheries, in whatever manner collected, shall, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, be deposited with the state treasurer to the credit of the commercial fisheries fund, to be drawn upon as directed by the board. (1915, c. 84, s. 9; C. S. 1875.)

Art. 13. Powers and Duties of Board and Commissioners.

§ 113-135. Duties of the Board.—It is the duty of the board of conservation and development, through its agents, the commissioner of game and inland fishing and the commissioner of commercial fishing and their assistants:

To enforce all acts relating to the fish and fisheries of North Carolina.

To make regulations that will keep open for the passage of fishes all inlets and not less than one-third of the width of all sounds and streams, or such greater proportions of their width as may be necessary.

To make such rules and regulations as they think proper to procure statistics as to the annual products of the fisheries of the state.

To collect and compile statistics showing the annual product of the fisheries of the state, the capital invested, and the apparatus employed, and any fisherman refusing to give these statistics shall be refused a license for the next year. Provided, however, the board may extend the time of his operations if any fisherman fail or refuse to give statistics as required in this section.

To prepare and have on file maps based on the charts of the United States coast and geodetic survey, of the largest scale published, showing as closely as may be the location of all fixed apparatus employed during each fishing season.

To have surveyed and marked in a prominent manner those areas of waters of the state in which the use of any or all fishing appliances are prohibited by law or regulation, and those areas of waters in the state in which oyster tonging or dredging is prohibited by law.

To prosecute all violations of the fish laws, and whenever necessary, to employ counsel for this purpose.

To remove pending trial nets or other appliances found being fished or used in violation of the fisheries laws of the state.

To carry on investigations relating to the migrations and habits of the fish in the waters of the state, also investigations relating to the cultivation of the oyster, clam, and other mollusca, and of the terrapin and crab, and for this purpose to employ scientific assistance.

To collect all license fees, rentals, or other imposts, and to pay them into the state treasury to the credit of the proper fisheries fund. On or before the twenty-fifth day of each month there shall be mailed to the treasurer of the state a consolidated statement showing the amount of taxes and license fees collected during the preceding month, and by and from whom collected.

To administer oaths and to send for and examine persons and papers; the commissioners also shall have this power. (1915, c. 84, s. 5; 1917, c. 290, s. 10; C. S. 1883.)

§ 113-136. Regulations as to fish, fishing, and fisheries made by board.—The Board of Conservation and Development is hereby authorized to regulate, prohibit, or restrict in time, place, character, or dimensions, the use of nets, appliances, apparatus, or means employed in taking or killing fish; to regulate the seasons at which the various species of fish may be taken in the several waters of the State, and to prescribe the minimum sizes of fish which may be taken in the said several waters of the State, or which may be bought, sold, or held in possession by any person, firm, or corporation in the State; and to make such rules regulating the shipment and transportation of fish, oysters, clams, crabs, escallops, and other water products as it may deem necessary; and all regulations, prohibitions, restrictions and prescriptions, after due publication, which shall be construed to be once a week for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in North Carolina, shall be of equal force and effect with the provisions of this section; and any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, at the discretion of the court. (1915, c. 84, s. 21; 1917, c. 290, s. 7; 1925, c. 168, s. 2; 1935, c. 35; C. S. 1878.)

Local Modification.—Beaufort, Buncombe, Gaston, Granville, Lincoln, Mecklenburg: 1937, c. 352.

Editor's Note.—The provision for regulation and transportation of fish, etc., is new with Public Laws of 1925.

Jurisdiction.—The jurisdiction of the board extends to all the public waters of the State or over which it has control. "The several waters of the State" is the precise language of the section referred to, and the numerous portions of the law in which places are expressly mentioned are not in restriction of the general words of the principal section, but these places are only mentioned because special provision is made as being desirable or necessary for those places. State v. Dudley, 182 N. C. 822, 825, 109 S. E. 63.

The Taking of Escallops.—Under the powers so conferred and in promotion of the general purposes of the statute, the Fisheries Commission Board [now the Board of Conservation and Development] may establish a formal rule or regulation, which prohibited the taking of escallops with drags or scrapes in certain waters, and a violation of this rule will warrant conviction. State v. Dudley, 182 N. C. 822, 824, 109 S. E. 63.

§ 113-137. Regulations affecting existing interests not effective for two years.—In making regulations the board shall give due weight and consideration to all factors which will affect the value of the present investment in the fisheries, and no changes in the existing laws which, if they should go into effect immediately, would tend to cause fishermen to lose their property shall go into effect until two years from the date that the change has been made by the board. (1915, c. 84, s. 21; 1917, c. 290, s. 7; C. S. 1879.)

§ 113-138. Hearing before changes as to certain regulations.—If, however, a petition signed by five or more voters of the district or community which will be affected by the proposed changes is filed with the board through the commissioners, their assistants or deputies, asking that they have a hearing before any proposed change in the territory, size of mesh, length of net, or time of fishing shall go into effect, petitioning that they be heard regarding such change, the board shall in that event designate by advertisement for a period of thirty days at the courthouse and three other public places in the county affected, and also by publication in a newspaper of the county, if such is published in said county, once a week for two consecutive weeks, a place at which said board will meet and hear argument for and against said change, and may ratify, rescind, or alter this previous order of change as may seem just in the premises. (1915, c. 84, s. 21; 1917, c. 290, s. 7; C. S. 1880.)

§ 113-139. Reports of board to legislature; publication.—The board shall cause to be prepared and submitted to each legislature a report showing the operations, collections and expenditures of the board; and it shall also cause to be prepared for publication such other reports, with necessary illustrations and maps, as will adequately set forth the results of the work and the investigations of the board, all such reports, illustrations, and maps to be printed and distributed at the expense of the state, as are other public documents, as the board may direct. (1915, c. 84, s. 15; C. S. 1882.)

§ 113-140. Violations investigated; nets seized and sold; bond of commissioner liable.—It is the duty of the commissioner of game and inland fisheries and the commissioner of commercial fisheries, or any of their assistants or deputies, upon a complaint made either orally or in writing, stating that any of the laws relating to fish or fisheries are being violated at any particular place, to go to such place and investigate same. They shall seize and remove all nets or other appliances set or being used or that have been used in violation of the fisheries laws of the state, sell them at public auction after advertisement for twenty days at the courthouse and three other public places in the county in which the seizure was made, and apply the proceeds of sale to the payment of costs and expenses of such removal, and pay any balance to the school fund of the county nearest to where the offense is committed. The failure of the commissioners or their deputies to perform the above prescribed duty shall render their bonds liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, one half to go to the informant and the other one half to be paid to the school fund of the county in which the action is brought. (1911, c. 18; 1941, c. 113; C. S. 1884.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted after the word "used" in the second sentence the words "or that have been used."

In General.—In Lawton v. Steele, 152 U. S. 133, 14 S. Ct. 499, 38 L. Ed. 385, the court holding that the authority to summarily destroy nets used in violation of the law for the protection of fish, "is a lawful exercise of the police power of the State and does not deprive the citizen of his property without due process of law." Daniels v. Homer, 139 N. C. 219, 224, 51 S. E. 992.

§ 113-141. Arrests without warrant; investigation of unlawful transportation of seafood.—The commissioner of game and inland fisheries and the commissioner of commercial fisheries, their assistants and deputies, shall have power, without warrant, to arrest any person or persons violating any of the fishery laws in their presence, who shall be carried before a magistrate for trial as is required by law in case of persons arrested without warrant. Any boat or vessel used in catching oysters without having complied with the provisions of this section may be seized, forfeited, advertised for twenty days at the courthouse and two other public places in the county where seized, and sold at some public place designated in the advertisement, and the proceeds, less the cost of the proceedings, shall be paid into the school fund. The licenses to fish with nets shall all terminate on December thirty-first. Any person who shall willfully use for fishing purposes any kind of net whatever, without having first complied with the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined twenty-five dollars for each and every offense. (1915, c. 84, s. 10; 1917, c. 290, s. 9; C. S. 1887.)

In General.—Fishing in waters when prohibited by law is a public nuisance, and the general assembly has the power to authorize a prompt abatement of the nuisance by seizure and sale of the nets subject to the right of their owner to contest the fact of his violation of the law by a proceeding of claim and delivery, or by injunction to prevent sale, or by action to recover the proceeds of sale and damages. Daniels v. Homer, 139 N. C. 219, 51 S. E. 992.

Any person, firm, or corporation operating such boat or vessel in violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court.

This license fee shall be for one year from January first of each year and shall not be issued for any period of less than one year. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court.

(d) All operators of boats or vessels of any kind used in operating purse seines or shirred nets shall apply for and obtain a license for each such purse seine or shirred net, and shall pay for such license a tax in the amount of five dollars ($5.00): Provided, that the tax herein levied on purse seines or shirred nets shall be in lieu of all other taxes levied by law against such seines or nets.

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 repealed paragraphs taxing non-resident motor boats chartered by residents, used in taking shrimp and nonresidents taking shrimp.

§ 113-163. Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 106, reduced the fees on oysters, scallops and clams, from $5 to $2.50. The amendment also omitted the former provision requiring a license of fifty cents a year for shucking or selling oysters and clams on local market by retail.

§ 113-164. Purchase tax on dealers; schedule; collection.—All dealers in and all persons who purchase, catch, or take for canning, packing, shucking, or shipping the sea products enumerated

Such suit shall be in the name of the state of North Carolina on relation of the commissioner or inspector at whose instance such suit is instituted, and the recovery shall be for the benefit and for the use of the commercial fisheries fund. Any person failing or refusing to pay said tax shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1915, c. 84, s. 13; 1917, c. 290, s. 4; 1919, c. 333, s. 1; 1921, c. 194, s. 2; Ex. Editor's Note.—The Act of 1929 struck out the line of this section relating to the tax on crab meat, it being the intention of the act to repeal all laws providing for a tax on crab meat.

Public Laws 1933, c. 106, changed the fees and added the three provisos appearing at the end of the first paragraph.

§ 113-172. Discharge of deleterious matter into waters prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to discharge or to cause or permit to be discharged into the waters of the state any deleterious or poisonous substance or substances inimical to the fishes inhabiting the said water; and any person, persons or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court: Provided, this section shall not apply to corporations chartered either by general law or special act before the 4th day of March, 1915. (1915, c. 84, s. 20; C. S. 1899.)

§ 113-173. Operation of boats in violation of rules and laws forfeits boats and apparatus.—If any person, firm, or corporation shall use or operate any boat or vessel of any kind, in violation of any rule of the board, or any of the fish laws, it shall be the duty of the board to revoke any license issued and seize such boat or vessel and any apparatus or appliance so used or operated; but the board shall have authority to compromise by agreement with the owner of such boat or appliance for any such violation, and may return such boat or appliance so seized to the owner and reinstate license. (1919, c. 333, s. 5; C. S. 1900.)

Cross Reference.—See also, §§ 113-158 and 113-140.

§ 113-174. Violations of fisheries law misdemeanor; licenses forfeited.—Upon failure of any person, firm or corporation to comply with any of the provisions of this article, or any of the fisheries laws, any license issued to any such person, firm or corporation may be revoked by the board, and upon satisfactory settlement may be reinstated, with the consent of the board. All such persons violating the provisions of this article or of the fisheries law shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1917, c. 290, s. 11; 1919, c. 333, s. 4; C. S. 1901.)

Art. 16. Shellfish; General Laws.

§ 113-175. Oyster bed defined.—A natural oyster or clam bed, as distinguished from an artificial oyster or clam bed, shall be one not planted by man, and is any shoal, reef or bottom where oysters are to be found growing in sufficient quantities to be valuable to the public. (Rev., s. 2371; 1893, c. 287, s. 1; C. S. 1902.)

§ 113-176. Board to lease.—The board shall have power to lease to any duly qualified person, firm or corporation, for purposes of oyster or clam culture, any bottom of the waters of the state not a natural oyster bed, as defined in this article, nor a clam reservation, as defined in this article, in accordance with the provisions of this article. (1909, c. 871, ss. 1, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1903.)

§ 113-177. Lessee to be citizen.—Any citizen of North Carolina, or firm or corporation organized under the laws of the state and doing business within its limits, shall be granted the privilege of taking up bottoms for purposes of oyster or clam culture, under the provisions of this article. (1909, c. 871, ss. 2, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1904.)

§ 113-178. Areas leased in different waters.—The area which may be taken up for purposes of oyster or clam culture shall be not less than one acre nor more than fifty acres, with the exception of the open waters of Pamlico sound (and for the purposes of this article open waters of Pamlico sound shall mean the waters that are outside of two miles of the shore line), in which the minimum limit shall be five acres and the maximum shall be two hundred acres: Provided that the limit of entry in Core sound, North river, Newport river, Bogue sound, and all bays and creeks bordering on these waters, and in Jones bay, Rose bay, Abels bay, Swan Quarter bay, Middle bay, Bay river, Deep bay, Juniper bay, West and

East Bluff bays, Wysocking bay, Fire creek, Stumpy Point bay, Mouse Harbor bay, Maw bay and Broad creek, tributaries of Pamlico sound, shall be one acre as a minimum and ten acres as a maximum: Provided further, however, that after March 9, 1910, the minimum area in Core sound, North river, Newport river, Bogue sound, and all bays and creeks bordering on these waters, and in Jones bay, Rose bay, Abels bay, Swan Quarter bay, Middle bay, Bay river, Deep bay, Juniper bay, West and East Bluff bays, Wysocking bay, Fire creek, Stumpy Point bay, Mouse Harbor bay, Maw bay and Broad creek, tributaries of Pamlico sound, shall be one acre and the maximum fifty acres; but no person, firm, corporation or association shall severally or collectively hold any interest in any lease or leases aggregating an area of greater than fifty acres, except in the open waters of Pamlico sound, where the aggregate area shall be two hundred acres. (1909, c. 871, ss. 2, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 46, s. 1; C. S. 1905.)

Local Modification.—Brunswick, New Hanover, Pender: C. S. 1905.

§ 113-179. Prerequisites for lease; application; deposit; survey; location.—Such persons, firms or corporations desiring to avail themselves of the privileges of this article shall make written application, on a form to be prepared by the board, setting forth the name and address of the applicant, describing as definitely as may be the location and extent of the bottom for which application is made, and requesting the survey and leasing to the applicant of said bottom. As soon as possible after the application is received, the commissioner of commercial fisheries shall cause to be made a survey and map of said bottom at the expense of the applicant. The commissioner shall also thoroughly examine said bottoms by sounding and by dragging thereover a chain to detect the presence of natural oysters. Should any natural oysters be found, the commissioner shall cause examination to be made to ascertain the area and density of oysters on said bottom or bed, to determine whether the same is a natural bed, under the definition contained in this article. He shall be assisted in this examination on tonging ground by an expert tonger, to be appointed by the board of county commissioners of the county in which said bottom or the greater portion thereof is located, and the question as to whether the oyster growth is sufficiently dense to fall within the definition of the natural bed shall be determined by the quantity of oysters which the said expert tonger may be able to take in a specified time; and on dredging ground the commissioner shall be assisted by an expert dredger, appointed by the board of county commissioners of the county in which said bottom or the greater portion thereof is located, and the question as to whether the oyster growth is sufficiently dense to fall within the definition of the natural bed shall be determined by the quantity of oysters which the said expert dredger may be able to take in a specified time. The commissioner shall require the bodies of bottoms applied for to be as compact as possible, taking into consideration the shape of the body of water and the consistency of the bottom. No application shall be entertained nor lease granted for a piece of bottom within two hundred yards of a known natural bottom, bed or reef. A deposit of ten dollars will be required of each applicant at the time of making his application, said sum to be credited to the cost of the survey of the bottom applied for. (1909, c. 871, ss. 3, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1906.)

§ 113-180. Execution of lease; notice and filing; marking and planting.—Immediately upon the completion of the survey and the mapping thereof, and the payment by the applicant of the cost of said survey and map, the commissioner of commercial fisheries shall execute to the applicant, upon a form approved by the attorney-general of the state, a lease for the bottoms applied for. A copy of the lease, map of the survey and a description of the bottom, defining its position, shall be filed in the office of the commissioner. After the execution of said lease, the lessee shall have the sole right and use of said bottoms, and all shells, oysters and culls thereon or placed thereon shall be his exclusive property so long as he complies with the provisions of this law. The lessee shall stake off and mark the bottoms leased in the manner prescribed by the commissioner, and failure to do so within a period of thirty days of an order so to do issued by the commissioner shall subject said lessee to a fine of five dollars per acre for each sixty days default in compliance with said order. The corner stakes, at least, of each lease shall be marked with signs plainly displaying the number of the lease and the name of the lessee. The lessee shall, within two years of the commencement of his lease, have planted upon his holdings a quantity of shells equal to an average of fifty bushels of seed oysters or shells per acre of holdings, and within four years from the commencement of his lease a quantity of oysters or shells equal to an average of not less than one hundred and twenty-five bushels per acre. The commissioner shall, upon granting any lease, publish a notice of the granting of same in a newspaper of general circulation in the county wherein the bottom leased is located. (1909, c. 871, ss. 4, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1907.)

§ 113-181. Term and rental.—All leases made under the provisions of this article shall begin upon the issuance of the lease, and shall expire on the first day of April of the twentieth year thereafter. The rental shall be at the rate of fifty cents per acre per year for the first ten years and one dollar per acre per year for the next ten years of the lease, payable annually in advance on the first day of April of each year: Provided, that in the open waters of Pamlico Sound (and for the purposes of this article the open waters of Pamlico Sound shall mean the waters that are outside the four miles of the shore line) the rental shall be at the rate of fifty cents per acre per year for the first three years, one dollar per acre per year for the next seven years, and two dollars per acre per year for the next ten years, of the lease. This rental shall be in lieu of all other taxes and imposts whatever, and shall be considered as all and the only taxation which can be imposed by the state, counties, municipalities or other subordinate political bodies. The rental for the first year shall be paid in advance, to an amount proportional to the unexpired part of the year to the first of April next succeeding. (1909, c. 871, ss. 5, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; 1933, c. 346; C. S. 1908.)

Editor's Note.—The rental fees were reduced, by Public

Laws 1933, c. 346, from $1 and $2, to $.50 and $1, respectively.

§ 113-182. Nature of lessee's rights; assignment and inheritance.—The said lease shall be heritable and transferable, in whole or in part, provided the qualifications of the heirs and transferees are such as are described by this article. Nonresidents, acquiring by inheritance or process sale, or persons already holding the maximum area permitted by this article, shall within a period of twelve months from the time of acquisition dispose of said prohibited or excess of holding to some qualified person, firm or corporation, under penalty of forfeiture. The lease shall be subject to mortgage, pledge, seizure for debt and the same other transactions as are other property rights in North Carolina. No transfer shall be of effect unless of court record, until entered on the books of the commissioner of commercial fisheries. (1909, c. 871, ss. 6, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1909.)

§ 113-183. Renewal of lease.—The term of each lease granted under the provisions of this article shall be for a period of twenty years from the first day of April preceding the date of granting of said lease. At the expiration of the first lease, the lessee, upon making written application on the prescribed form, shall be entitled to successive leases on the same terms as applied to the last ten years of the first lease, for a period not exceeding ten years each. (1909, c. 871, ss. 7, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1910.)

§ 113-184. Forfeiture of lease for nonpayment.—The failure to pay the rental of bottoms leased for each year in advance on or before the first day of April, or within thirty days thereafter, shall ipso facto cancel said lease and shall forfeit to the state the said leased bottoms and all oysters thereon, and upon said forfeiture the commissioner of commercial fisheries is hereby authorized to lease the said bottoms to any qualified applicant therefor: Provided, that no forfeiture shall be valid, however, under the provisions of this section, unless there shall have been mailed by the commissioner to the last address of the lessee upon the books of the commissioner a thirty days' notice of the maturity of said rental. (1909, c. 871, ss. 8, 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6; C. S. 1911.)

§ 113-185. Contest over grant of lease; time for contest; decision; appeal.—If any person, within four months of the publication of the notice of granting of any lease, make claim that a natural oyster bottom, bed or reef exists within the boundaries of said lease, he shall, under oath, state his claim, and request the commissioner of commercial fisheries to cancel the said lease: Provided, however, that each such claim and petition shall be accompanied by a deposit of twenty-five dollars. No petition unaccompanied by said deposit shall be considered by the commissioner. The commissioner shall, in person, examine into said claim, and, if the decision should be against the claimant, the deposit of twenty-five dollars shall be forfeited to the state and deposited to the credit of the commercial fisheries fund. Should, however, the claim be sustained and a natural bed be found within the boundary of the lease, the said natural bed shall be surveyed and marked with stakes or buoys, at the expense of the lessee, and the said natural bed be thrown open to the public fishery. If no such claim be presented within a period of four months, or if when so presented it fail of substantiation, as provided, the lessee shall thereafter be secure from attack on such account, and his lease shall be incontestable so long as he complies with the other provisions of this article. In each and every such case the decision of the commissioner shall be subject to review and appeal before a judge of the superior court, who shall render a decision without the aid of a jury, and his decision shall be final. (1909, c. 871, s. 9; 1919, c. 333, s. 6.)

§ 113-186. License to catch oysters; oath of applicant.—Any person desiring to catch oysters from the public grounds and natural oyster beds shall make and subscribe to the following oath, before some officer qualified to administer oaths:

I, (state if owner, lessee, master, captain, mate, foreman, or agent of any boat used, or that may be used, in dredging oysters from the public grounds of the state), being an applicant for oyster license, do solemnly swear that I am a citizen of North Carolina, and have been a resident of the state for the two years next preceding this day; that my place of residence is now in County; that I will not, if granted license, employ any nonresident or unlicensed person as an assistant or serve as an assistant to any nonresident who is owner, lessee, master, captain, mate or foreman, or who has any interest in, or in the profits derived from, any boat that is used or that may be used in dredging oysters from the public grounds of the state, or unlicensed person, nor will I transfer, assign, or otherwise dispose of my license to any person, firm or corporation; that I will not knowingly or wilfully violate or evade any of the laws or regulations of the state relating to oyster industry: so help me, God.

He shall then present to and file said oath with the commissioner, assistant commissioner or inspector, who, if satisfied with the truth of the statement made in the oath of application, shall issue to him an oysterman's license in the following form:

State of North Carolina, County.
....., a resident of County, having this day made application to me for an oysterman's license, and having filed with me the oath prescribed by law, I do hereby grant to him license to catch oysters from the public grounds of this state from the fifteenth day of October,, until the first day of next April.
Witness my hand and official seal, this the day of, 19....

Commissioner of Commercial Fisheries.
Assistant Commissioner, or Inspector
(as the case may be).

(Rev., s. 2409; 1903, c. 516, s. 7; 1905, c. 525, ss. 4, 6; C. S. 1913.)

§ 113-187. Filing oath; recording license; fees.—The oath and a record of the license shall be kept by the commissioner, assistant commissioner or inspector, and for issuing and recording the same he shall receive from the applicant a fee of twenty-five cents, which, together with all other license fees collected under this chapter, shall be paid over to the state treasurer and constitute part of the commercial fisheries fund. No fee shall be charged by the clerk for administering the oath. (Rev., s. 2409; 1903, c. 516, s. 7; 1905, c. 525, ss. 4, 6; C. S. 1914.)

§ 113-188. Nonresidents not to be licensed or hired as oystermen.—No person shall be licensed to catch oysters from the public grounds of the state who is owner, lessee, master, captain, mate or foreman, or who owns an interest in or who is an agent for any boat that is used or that may be used in dredging oysters from the public grounds of the state, who is not a bona fide resident of this state and who has not continuously resided therein for two years next preceding the date of his application for license, and no non-resident shall be employed as a laborer on any boat licensed to dredge oysters under this subchapter who has an interest in or who receives any profit from the oysters caught by any boat permitted to dredge oysters on the public grounds of the state. Any person, firm or corporation employing any nonresident laborer forbidden by this section, upon conviction shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. (Rev., s. 2408; 1903, c. 516, s. 6; 1905, c. 525, s. 3; C. S. 1915.)

§ 113-189. Tax on oysters exported from state.—All oysters going out of the state in any boat or vessel shall be taxed at the rate of two cents per tub. (1907, c. 969, s. 11; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 42, s. 3; C. S. 1916.)

Constitutionality.—An act levying a tax upon all clams and oysters shipped out of a county is constitutional. Brooks v. Tripp, 135 N. C. 159, 47 S. E. 401.

In General.—It is fully established that fish, including oysters and other shellfish, as well as game, being a valued source of food supply, come well within the police power of the State and are subject to rules and regulations reasonably designed to protect them and promote their increase and growth, and that such rules and regulations may not be set aside or ignored because they indirectly affect or trench upon some private rights that are, or would be, ordinarily recognized. Daniels v. Homer, 139 N. C. 219, 51 S. E. 992; Rea v. Hampton, 101 N. C. 51, 7 S. E. 649; Patson v. Commonwealth, 232 U. S. 138, 34 S. Ct. 281, 58 L. Ed. 539; New York v. Hesterberg, 211 U. S. 31, 29 S. Ct. 10, 53 L. Ed. 75; Lawton v. Steele, 152 U. S. 133, 14 S. Ct. 499, 38 L. Ed. 385; State v. Sermons, 169 N. C. 285, 84 S. E. 337.

§ 113-190. Monthly report of licenses to be filed.—The commissioner of commercial fisheries, assistant commissioner or inspector who are authorized to issue license or to collect a license tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, mail to the board a statement, showing all licenses issued during the preceding month, to whom issued and for what purpose, and the amount of tax collected by them from all sources under the oyster laws, and shall at the same time remit said amount direct to the state treasurer. They shall at the same time mail to each inspector asking for the same a list of all persons to whom license has been issued and of all boats or vessels licensed, and for what purpose. (Rev., s. 2412; 1903, c. 516, s. 4; 1905, c. 525, s. 6; C. S. 1918.)

§ 113-191. Certain shellfish beds real property for taxation, etc.—All grounds taken up or held under authority of chapter 119 of the Public Laws of 1887 or previous acts for the purpose of cultivating shellfish shall be subject to taxation as real estate, and shall be so considered in the settlement of the estates of deceased or insolvent persons. (Rev., s. 2380; 1887, c. 119, s. 9; C. S. 1919.)

§ 113-192. Close season for oysters; exceptions.—If any person shall buy or sell oysters in the shell which have been taken from the public grounds or natural oyster beds of this state between the fifteenth day of April and the fifteenth day of October in any year, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days: Provided, that oysters may be taken with hand-tongs from March fifteenth to May first and with dredges from March fifteenth to April fifth, in any year, to be used for planting on private grounds entered and held under the laws of this state, upon the condition further that they shall not be removed from said private grounds within a period of three months from time of planting: Provided further, that oysters may be taken with hand-tongs only for home consumption. (Rev., s. 2383; 1907, c. 969, ss. 4, 13; 1913, c. 85; 1915, c. 120; C. S. 1920.)

Local Modification.—Carteret, New Hanover, Onslow, Pender: C. S. 1920.

In General.—This section and section 113-205 cannot be construed together with the effect that the license is not required when oysters are shown to have been procured from private owners, there being no necessary or essential connection between the two, the first applying to all citizens of the State, and forbidding them to buy or sell oysters taken from public grounds or natural beds during a closed season, etc., and the other being a law referring only to regular dealers, requiring that they shall be licensed, and designed to render more effective the legislation in protection of the fish and oyster industries of the State. State v. Sermons, 169 N. C. 285, 84 S. E. 337.

§ 113-193. Oyster dealers to keep records.—All persons engaged in buying, packing, canning, shucking or shipping oysters shall keep a permanent record of all oysters either bought or caught by them, or by persons for them, when and from whom bought, the number of bushels and the price paid therefor. All these records shall at all times be open to the examination and inspection of the commissioner of commercial fisheries, assistant commissioner and inspector, and upon request shall be verified by the parties making them. If any person engaged in buying, packing, canning, shucking or shipping oysters taken or caught from the public grounds or natural oyster beds of the state shall fail to keep a permanent record of all oysters bought by him or caught by him, or by persons for him, when and from whom bought, the number of bushels and the price paid therefor, or shall fail upon demand to exhibit such record as required by law, or shall fail to verify the same, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Rev., ss. 2396, 2418; 1903, c. 516, s. 5; 1915, c. 136, s. 2; C. S. 1921.)

Cross Reference.—As to provision that dealers in oysters, clams, crabs, fish, etc., keep and furnish statistics, see § 113-167.

§ 113-194. Oyster measure.—All oysters measured in the shell shall be measured in a circular tub with straight sides and straight, solid bottom, with holes in the bottom not more than one-half inch in diameter. The said measures shall have the following dimensions: A bushel tub shall measure eighteen inches from inside to inside across the top, sixteen inches from inside to inside chimb to the bottom and twenty-one inches diagonal from inside chimb to top. All measures found in the possession of any dealer not meeting the requirements of this section shall be destroyed by the commissioner of commercial fisheries, assistant commissioner or inspector. (Rev., s. 2417; 1903, c. 510, s. 12; 1907, c. 969, s. 10; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 42, s. 2; C. S. 1922.)

Local Modification.—New Hanover, Onslow, Pender: C. S. 1923.

§ 113-195. Illegal measures prohibited.—If any person shall in buying or selling oysters use any measure other than that prescribed by law for the measurement of oysters, or if any dealer in oysters shall have in his possession any measure for measuring oysters other than that prescribed by law, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Rev., s. 2399; 1903, c. 516, s. 12; C. S. 1924.)

§ 113-196. Dredging regulated as to territory and season.—Any bona fide resident of the state duly licensed according to law and using a licensed boat or vessel may use scoops, scrapes or dredges in catching or taking oysters from the fifteenth day of November in each year to the first day in April following, from the public grounds and natural oyster beds in the broad open waters of Pamlico sound, Pamlico river, Neuse river and Shoal river, except in those portions of said sound and rivers in which the use of such instruments and implements is prohibited as herein provided. No person shall use any implement or instrument except hand-tongs in catching oysters in any bay, river, creek, strait, or any tributary of such, which borders upon or empties into Pamlico sound, Pamlico river, or Long Shoal river, except as hereinafter provided; and any point inside of a line drawn from the farthest or extreme outward point of land or marsh on the one side to the farthest or extreme outward point of land or marsh on the opposite side of any creek, strait or bay shall be construed to be within the said creek, strait or bay for the purpose of this section. Nor shall any person use any implement or instrument except hand-tongs in the waters of Pamlico sound from what is known as the reef or reefs in the eastern portion of said sound to the line of banks bordering its eastern shores; nor along the shores of Pamlico county inside of a line beginning at Maw point and running to the west end of Brant island, thence to Pamlico point; nor in the waters of Pamlico sound north of a line running from Long Shoal light to Gull Shoal life-saving station, from the first day of February of each year to the fifteenth day of November, nor in any of the waters of Carteret county. And for the purpose of this section, the northern boundary of said county shall be a line extending from Swan point to Harbor island light, thence a line to Southwest Straddle light, thence a line to Northwest point light, thence a line to the middle of Ocracoke inlet; nor in the waters of Neuse river above a line in said river running from Carbacon buoy to the western point of land at Pierce's creek. (Rev., 2413; 1903, c. 516, ss. 13, 14, 15; 1905, c. 507, s. 2; C. S. 1925.)

§ 113-197. Illegal dredging prohibited; evidence.—If any person shall use any scoops, scrapes or dredges for catching oysters except at the times and in the places in this chapter expressly authorized, or shall between the fifth day of April and the fifteenth day of November of any year carry on any boat or vessel any scoops, scrapes, dredges or winders, such as are usually or can be used for taking oysters, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

If any boat or vessel shall be seen sailing on any of the waters of this state during the season when the dredging of oysters is prohibited by law in the same manner in which they sail to take or catch oysters with scoops, scrapes or dredges, the said boat or vessel shall be pursued by any officer authorized to make arrests, and if said boat or vessel apprehended by said officer shall be found to have on board any wet oysters or the scoops, scrapes, dredges or lines, or deck wet, indicating the taking or catching of oysters at said time, and properly equipped for catching or taking oysters with scoops, scrapes or dredges, such facts shall be prima facie evidence that said boat or vessel has been used in violation of the provisions of the law prohibiting the taking or catching of oysters with scoops, scrapes or dredges in prohibited territory or at a season when the taking or catching of oysters with scoops, scrapes or dredges is prohibited by law, as the case may be. (Rev., ss. 2385, 2397; 1903, c. 516, ss. 13, 14, 15, 28; C. S. 1926.)

§ 113-198. Dredging prohibited in certain waters of Pamlico sound.—It shall be unlawful for any person to use any rakes, scrapes, scoops or dredges, or any other instrument or implement other than ordinary hand-tongs, for the purpose of taking or catching oysters from the public oyster grounds or natural oyster beds in any of the waters of Pamlico sound or its tributaries north of a line running from West Bluff bay to the center of Ocracoke inlet; any person found guilty of the violation of this prohibition shall be punished by a fine not less than twenty-five dollars or imprisoned not less than thirty days. (1909, c. 559; C. S. 1927.)

§ 113-199. Culling required; size limit.—All oysters taken from the public grounds of this state, with whatsoever instrument or implement, shall be culled, and all oysters whose shells measure less than two and one-half inches in longest diameter, except such as are attached to a large oyster and cannot be removed without destroying the small oyster, and all shells taken with the said oysters shall be returned to the public ground when and where taken, and no oysters shall be allowed by the inspectors to be marketed which shall consist of more than ten per cent of such small oysters and shells, except "coon" oysters and oysters largely covered with mussels: Provided, these musselled oysters must not contain more than five per cent of shells or small oysters under regulation size. (Rev., s. 2415; 1903, c. 516, s. 11; 1905, c. 525; 1907, c. 969, s. 8; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 42, s. 1; C. S. 1928.)

Local Modification.—New Hanover, Onslow, Pender: C. S. 1929.

§ 113-200. Taking uncultured oysters for planting permitted to residents.—Residents of the state of North Carolina shall be permitted to take oysters without culling from natural rocks at any time during the year for planting purposes only, in the waters of North Carolina. (1917, c. 153; C. S. 1930.)

§ 113-201. Unculled oysters seized and scattered on public grounds.—Whenever oysters are offered for sale or loaded upon any vessel, car or train, without having been properly culled according to law, the commissioner of commercial fisheries, assistant commissioner, or inspector shall seize the boat, vessel, car or train containing the same and shall cause the said oysters to be scattered upon the public grounds, and the costs and expenses of said seizure and transportation shall be a prior lien to all liens on said boat, vessel, car or train, and if not paid on demand the officers making the seizure shall, after advertisement for twenty days, sell the same and make title to the purchaser, and after paying expenses as aforesaid pay the balance, if any, into the commercial fisheries experimental and oyster demonstration fund. § 113-233. Right of fishing in grantee of land under water.—Whenever any person acquires title to lands covered by navigable water under the subchapter Entries and Grants of the chapter entitled State Lands, the owner or person so acquiring title has the right to establish fisheries upon said lands; and whenever the owner of such lands improves the same by clearing off and cutting therefrom logs, roots, stumps or other obstructions, so that the said land may be used for the purpose of drawing or hauling nets or seines thereon for the purpose of taking or catching fish, the person who makes or causes to be made the said improvements, his heirs and assigns, shall have prior right to the use of the land so improved, in drawing, hauling, drifting or setting nets or seines thereon, and it shall be unlawful for any person, without the consent of such owner, to draw or haul nets or seines upon the land so improved by the owner thereof for the purpose of drawing or hauling nets or seines thereon. This section shall apply where the owner of such lands shall erect platforms or structures of any kind thereon to be used in fishing with nets and seines. Every person who shall willfully destroy or injure the said platforms or structures, or shall interfere with or molest the owner in the use of such lands as aforesaid, or in any other manner shall violate this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. This section shall not relieve any person from punishment for the obstruction of navigation. (Rev., s. 2460; Code, s. 3384; 1874-5, c. 183, ss. 1-6; C. S. 1964.)

Cross References.—See § 146-1 under which lands covered by navigable waters are made not subject to entries for the purpose of obtaining grants. As to injuries to nets by boats, see § 113-249.

In General.—Where the owner of a beach has used the adjoining navigable waters to fish with a seine for many years but it was not contended that the owner had improved the land under the water by removing logs, roots, stumps, and other obstructions, no exclusive right to fish in the adjoining waters was acquired by user. Under Reversal § 1693 (now § 146-1) an express grant of the land covered by navigable water would have been void under the circumstances. Bell v. Smith, 171 N. C. 116, 87 S. E. 987.

The right of fishing in a navigable river is subordinate to the right of navigation. Lewis v. Keeling, 46 N. C. 299.

§ 113-234. Seines prohibited to nonresidents; exceptions.—If any person who has not resided in the state continuously for at least twelve months next preceding the day on which he shall begin to take fish shall use, or cause to be used, in any of the waters of the state, any weir, hedge, net, or seine, for the purpose of taking fish for sale or exportation, or if any person shall assist in using, or be interested in using or causing to be used, in any such waters for the purpose aforesaid, any weir, hedge, net, seine or tongs in the use of which any such nonresident person may have an interest, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Nothing herein shall prevent any person from fishing with seines hauled to the shore at any fishery, the title to which fishery or any interest therein having been acquired by such person by lease, purchase or inheritance. This section shall not extend to servants employed to fish by any persons allowed to fish in the navigable waters of the state. No nonresident of the state shall make any sale, assignment or transfer of any fishery, weir, or other fishing apparatus, or privilege mentioned in this section, to any citizen of the state for the purpose of operating and working said fishery, weir, or other fishing apparatus as aforesaid, under the name and ownership of such citizen, or as the servant or employee of any citizen; and any sale, transfer or assignment not made bona fide and for a full consideration shall be null and void.

Upon affidavit founded upon information and belief that any nonresident of the state is operating any such fishery, weir, or other fishing apparatus as aforesaid in the waters of the state, under such sale, assignment or transfer, as the pretended servant or employee of any citizen of the state, it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace before whom said affidavit is made to issue a warrant against the said nonresident and citizen under whose name said fishery is operated, and upon conviction the said offenders shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, for every offense, be fined not more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days. Upon the said trial, the burden of proof shall be on the defendants to prove the bona fides and full consideration of said sale or transfer. (Rev., s. 2467; Code, ss. 3379, 3380; R. C., c. 81, s. 5; 1844, c.

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 inserted the word "lease" in the second sentence of this section.

In General.—The defendants were indicted for unlawfully taking oysters. It was proved that they were residents of the State of Virginia, but were in the employment of one W., who was a resident of North Carolina. It was held that the defendants were not guilty if they, in good faith, were acting as servants of W. State v. Conner, 107 N. C. 931, 11 S. E. 992.

§ 113-235. Fishing with nets, etc., by non-residents prohibited.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, which has not been a bona fide resident of the state for twelve months continuously, next preceding the date on which the fishing shall commence, to use or cause to be used in the waters of the state, which shall include the distance of three nautical miles, measured from the outer beaches or shores of the state of North Carolina out and into the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, any seines, trawls or nets of any kind for the purpose of taking fish for sale or exportation. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, for the first offense shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), or imprisoned for not less than six months nor more than twelve months, or both in the discretion of the court. And for any subsequent conviction for a violation of this section such defendant shall be fined not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) nor more than two thousand dollars ($2,000.00), or imprisoned for not less than twelve months nor more than two years in the discretion of the court.

The finding by the commissioner of commercial fisheries, or any of his duly authorized agents, of any vessel, boat, or other craft within the distance of three nautical miles, as defined in this section, having any seines, trawls, or nets of any kind or a similar device aboard with fresh or live fish on deck or in the hold thereof or in any portion of the said vessel, boat, or craft, shall be prima facie evidence that the operator or operators and masters and members of the crew of said vessel, boat, or other craft are guilty of a violation of this section.

It shall be the duty of the commissioner whenever he has reasonable grounds to believe that this section is being violated in any particular place, to go himself or send a duly authorized deputy to such place and such officer finding that the provisions of this section are being violated is hereby authorized and empowered to seize and remove all nets, machinery, or other appliances or paraphernalia being used in violation of this section, and to sell the same at public auction, after advertisement for ten days at the court house door in the county in which the seizure was made, or in which the seized property is taken under the provisions of this section, and apply the proceeds from said sale, first to payment of costs and expenses of such sale and removal, and pay the balance of said proceeds remaining, if any, to the school fund of the county in which or nearest to where the offense is committed.

Such commissioner, or his authorized deputy, is further authorized and empowered to seize any boat, vessel or ship of any kind or nature, used in thus violating the law, and to bring the same into the nearest port in said state having sufficient depth of water to properly accommodate such boat, vessel or ship so seized. Such boat, vessel or ship so found being used contrary to the provisions of this statute, shall be forfeited to the state and the said commissioner is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to institute proceedings for the purpose of condemning and selling such boat, vessel or ship, in the name of the state, in the superior court in the county in which such seized boat, vessel or ship is taken under the provisions of this section. The owner of such boat may execute and deliver to the commissioner a bond, with adequate security, not less than the value of such boat, conditioned to return said boat to the custody of said commissioner, if upon the trial of the cause in the superior court as aforesaid it should be determined that the said boat was forfeited.

This authority to seize the said boat, under the circumstances hereinbefore detailed, shall in no way affect the liability of the owners and those operating the boat and thus using it in fishing, to be prosecuted for the misdemeanor hereinbefore defined. Provided, nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prevent any person, firm or corporation, which has been a bona fide resident of the state of North Carolina for twelve months continuously next preceding the date on which the fishing shall commence from employing non-resident employees in connection with fishing as authorized by law. (1931, c. 36, s. 1; 1937, c. 261.)

Editor's Note.—This section empowers the Fisheries Commissioner [now the commissioner of commercial fisheries] or his deputies to seize nets and appliances used in violation of law and sell the same at public auction, after advertisement for ten days, or to seize any boat engaged in violation of the law and institute proceedings for condemnation in the name of the state. Such power in administrative agencies is held to be due process (Daniels v. Homer, 139 N. C. 219, 51 S. E. 992. See 3 N. C. L. Rev. 27), since the owner has recourse to the courts to recover his property before condemnation by injunction or by claim and delivery proceedings and may maintain an action for damages for the value of the property against the officials who seized it, if such taking prove to be wrongful. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 389.

The 1937 amendment struck out the last sentence of the first paragraph and inserted the present last two sentences in place thereof. It also inserted the second paragraph, and omitted a provision as to compromise with boat, etc., owner for violation of section formerly appearing in the present fourth paragraph.

§ 113-236. Fishing within three-mile limit permitted with pound nets.—It shall be lawful to set pound nets of not less than one and one-quarter inch bar, when fished, in the Atlantic ocean within the three-mile limit and between Cape Hatteras and the Virginia line, but not nearer to any inlet than three miles nor nearer the beach or ocean shore than four hundred yards. (1931, c. 118, s. 1.)

§ 113-237. Permission to set up apparatus to be granted by department of conservation and development and federal government; license fee.—Application for entry for the purpose of constructing permanent and semi-permanent, or stationary fishing apparatus within the three-mile limit under the provisions of this and the preceding section shall be made to the department of conservation and development. Permits for the erection of such fishing apparatus, nets, wires or devices, may be granted by the department of conservation and development if such construction is deemed not to be a menace to public safety or navigation. Editor's Note.—The act from which this and the succeeding section were taken was amended by Public Laws 1931, c. 331, which made its provisions, regulating the taking of shrimp in the public waters of the State, subject to the approval and supervision of the department of conservation and development under the general law theretofore existing.

Such restrictions against non-residents taking shrimp and fish are justified under the police power which may be exercised in favor of residents as to the state's natural resources. Corfield v. Coryell, Fed. Cas. No. 3230, 4 Wash. C. C. 371. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 389.

§ 113-242. Menhaden fishing forbidden to non-residents.—It is unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, not a citizen or resident of the state of North Carolina, to catch, capture, or otherwise take any menhaden or fatbacks within the waters of the state of North Carolina to the extreme limits of the state's jurisdiction in and over said waters; and for the purpose of this section the following boundaries are hereby declared to be the boundaries to which the waters of the said state extend, to wit: a distance of three nautical miles, measured from the outer beach or shores of the state of North Carolina out and into the waters of the Atlantic ocean; and any portions or portion of any water within a distance of three nautical miles from said waters of the Atlantic ocean to any beach or shore of said state shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, within the waters of said state: Provided, that any citizen or resident of the state of North Carolina, whether person, firm, or corporation, may take, capture, or catch any menhaden or fatbacks at any time, subject to existing laws; provided, it shall be lawful for non-residents of the State to catch, or capture menhaden (fat-backs) from the waters of North Carolina, North of Cape Hatteras, on the payment to the commissioner of commercial fisheries of seventy-five cents per ton on gross tonnage of such boats as they may operate, licenses issued under this proviso to expire December thirty-first of each year.

It is unlawful for any nonresident person, persons, firm, or corporation knowingly to buy, cook, or manufacture into fertilizer any menhaden or fatbacks caught, taken, or captured contrary to the provisions of the above.

Any person, persons, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in any county opposite the place at which said act is done, shall be fined not less than twenty-five hundred dollars or imprisoned for two years, or both, in the discretion of the court: Provided, that each catch, or taking, or purchase, or act of manufacture, shall constitute a distinct and separate offense.

It is the duty of the commissioner or assistant commissioner, whenever an affidavit is delivered to him stating that the affiant is informed and believes that this section is being violated at any particular place, to go himself or send a duly authorized deputy to such place, to investigate the same, and such officer shall seize and remove all, nets, machinery, or other appliances and paraphernalia setting or being used in violation of this section, sell same at public auction and apply the proceeds of such sale to the payment of costs and expenses of such removal, and pay any balance remaining into the school fund of the county nearest to the place where the offense is committed. (1911, c. 102; 1921, c. 234; 1923, c. 154, ss. 2, 3; 1927, c. 59, s. 4; C. S. 1966.)

§ 113-243. Menhaden fishing with nets regulated.—If any person shall catch any menhaden or fatbacks within the waters of the state of North Carolina, to the extreme limits of the state's jurisdiction as defined in the preceding section, in any purse net or purse seine with a bar of less than one inch and with a mesh of less than two inches, or shall knowingly cook or manufacture for fertilizer any menhaden or fatbacks caught in any net or seine having bars of less than one inch or having meshes of less than two inches, at any place within the state of North Carolina, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each and every offense shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars or imprisoned for one year, or both, in the discretion of the court. Every person found fishing with such illegal nets for menhaden or fatbacks within three miles of the shore of any county shall be presumed to have violated this

§ 113-245. Putting explosives in waters forbidden.—No person, firm or corporation shall put or place in any waters within or on the boundaries of this State any electricity, explosives or poisonous substances whatsoever for the purpose of catching, injuring or killing fish. No person, firm or corporation shall allow substances, poisonous to fish to be turned into or allowed to run, flow, wash or be emptied into any waters within this commonwealth, designated by the board as fish producing waters, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the board or to the proper court that every reasonable and practicable means has been used to abate and prevent the pollution of waters in question by emptying into same any deleterious or poisonous substances: Provided this section shall not apply to dyestuffs or sewage discharged from cotton mills.

In prosecutions under this section for pollution of water by substances known to be injurious to fish or fish food, it shall not be necessary to prove that such substances have actually caused the death of any particular fish.

No person shall fish or trespass with intent to fish in or upon any waters or bed or banks of any water, or any land controlled or owned, or occupied by the Board. No person shall wilfully or maliciously destroy or damage any ponds, property or appliance whatsoever of the board, nor interfere, obstruct, pollute or diminish the natural flow of water into or through any State fish hatchery.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall, on conviction, be fined not less than one hundred dollars for each and every offense: Provided, further, that this section shall apply only to such fish producing streams designated as such by the board, and that no prosecution under this section shall be instituted except by said board. (1927, c. 107.)

§ 113-246. Fish offal in navigable waters.—If any person shall throw, or cause to be thrown, into the channel of any of the navigable waters of the state, any fish offal, in any quantity that shall be likely to hinder or prevent the passage of fish along such channel, or if any person shall throw or cause to be thrown into the waters known as the Frying Pan, tributary to the Great Alligator river, in Tyrrell county, any fish offal in any quantities whatsoever, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 2444; Code, ss. 3386, 3389, 3407; C. S. 1969.)

In General.—The right of navigation is paramount but not exclusive. If nets are across the channel of a river, or are in any other way a bar to navigation, they may be run over with impunity by any vessels that may find it reasonably necessary to do so. Lewis v. Keeling, 46 N. C. 299, 62 Am. Dec. 188; State v. Baum, 128 N. C. 600, 38 S. E. 900. But there must be some such necessity. As was said by the court in Lewis v. Keeling, supra, "There must be no wantonness or malice, no unnecessary damage, but a bona fide exercise of the paramount right of navigation." Hopkins v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 131 N. C. 463, 465, 42 S. E. 902.

(Rev., ss. 3414, 3415; Code, s. 2753; 1874-5, c. 183, ss. 2-4; C. S. 1973.)

Local Modification.—Onslow: C. S. 1974.

plaint: Provided further, this section shall not apply to Pigeon river in Haywood county: Provided also, it shall be lawful for any person to remove any obstruction in the main channel of the Cape Fear river to the width of one hundred feet, for the free passage of fish in the county of Harnett. school shall be as authorized by the provisions of the School Machinery Act; however, unless the term is suspended as provided by § 115-351 the term shall not be less than nine months or one hundred and eighty days.

Cross References.—As to age requirement at time of enrollment, see § 115-371. As to extension of school term under provisions of the School Machinery Act, see § 115-351.

Editor's Note.—By enacting the School Machinery Act of 1933, which was re-enacted each biennium thereafter until 1939 when it was made permanent (G. S. §§ 115-347 to 115-382), a policy of state support for public schools was adopted so that such schools would be operated under a uniform system throughout the entire state. Thus, much of the old law was annulled or subordinated to the new. The notes, therefore, in this chapter to the several sections, which have been revised to reflect the changes made by the 1939 School Law, should be read with this in mind as the majority of cases cited were decided prior to the present scheme of public school administration.

The 1943 amendment changed the term from eight to nine months. The amendatory act provided that wherever the state supported school term is described or limited by the words "eight months" or "one hundred and sixty days" in the sections codified under this chapter, or in any other law, the same shall be construed to refer to the state supported nine months or one hundred and eighty days school term.

The provision in regard to Croatan Indians does not embrace only those residing in Robeson, Sampson and Richmond counties, but Croatan Indians who put themselves within the limits of the schools, although they may come from other territory. See Goins v. Trustees Indian Training School, 169 N. C. 736, 86 S. E. 629.

Cross References.—As to the organization statement, see § 115-355.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission." The amendatory act provided that "any reference to the said school commission shall be deemed a reference to the state board of education."

s. 1; 1925, c. 300, s. 1; 1937, c. 399, s. 1; C. S. 4931.)

Editor's Note.—The duty imposed upon the state board of education by this section was formerly placed on the board of agriculture. This provision is new with Public Laws 1925 ch. 300.

Prior to the 1937 amendment, this section applied only to boys who attended rural public schools.

§ 115-33. Duties of patrol.—The duties of such patrol shall be to look after the maintenance of the road lying near the home of each member of the patrol, to drag and ditch same by the use of machinery placed in the care of the patrol by the state and county in such manner as the state board of education shall direct, to prevent forest fires by extinguishing fire along the public highway, to study safety rules and methods, and to practice research along safety lines to the end of removing hazards from the highways. Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1925, ch. 300, the State Board of Education has the supervisory power over the boy's road patrol instead of the board of agriculture as formerly provided for, and the duty of preventing forest fires is also new.

The 1937 amendment added the latter part of this section relating to study of safety rules, etc.

§ 115-34. Regulations for patrol; prizes authorized.—The State Board of Education is specially empowered and directed to devise, organize, and adopt all such rules and regulations as may be necessary for effectually carrying out the purposes of this article; may award suitable prizes and pay all expenses of successful competitors and others engaged in such work in attendance upon meetings and for other purposes. (1915, c. 239, s. 3; 1925, c. 300, s. 3; C. S. 4933.)

Editor's Note.—The authority delegated to the State Board of Education under this section was formerly given to the board of agriculture, the change taking effect by Public Laws 1925, ch. 300.

§ 115-35. Funds for support.—All moneys for the carrying out of this article shall be provided by the counties themselves in coöperation with the State of North Carolina. The commissioners of the counties of North Carolina are empowered to make annual donations out of the county funds for the purposes of this article. (1915, c. 239, ss. 4, 6; 1925, c. 300, s. 4; C. S. 4934.)

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1925, ch. 300, the State of North Carolina is substituted for the board of agriculture, to co-operate with the counties, in raising the funds necessary to carry out the provisions of this article.

§ 115-36. Minimum preliminary appropriation by county.—Said brigade shall not be organized in any county until the commissioners of said county set apart and appropriate not less than one hundred dollars for the purposes of this article, to be spent in said county by the State Board of Education. (1915, c. 239, s. 5; 1925, c. 300, s. 5; C. S. 4935.)

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1925, ch. 300, the one hundred dollars set apart under this section is to be spent by the State Board of Education and not by the board of agriculture as formerly provided for.

SUBCHAPTER III. DUTIES, POWERS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF COUNTY BOARDS OF EDUCATION.

Art. 5. The Board: Its Corporate Powers.

§ 115-37. How constituted.—The county board of education in each county shall consist of the number of members which have been or may be appointed by the General Assembly in its biennial act or acts appointing members of boards of education. The term of office shall be for two years, except as may be otherwise provided in the said act or acts.

The members appointed under said act or acts shall qualify by taking the oath of office on or before the first Monday in April. (1923, c. 136, ss. 10, 11, c. 175, ss. 1, 3; Pub. Loc., Ex. Sess., 1924, cc. 63, 189; 1925, c. 104; Pub. Loc. 1925, c. 153; Pub. Loc. 1927, cc. 579, 583; 1929, cc. 202, 215; Pub. Loc. 1929, c. 335; 1931, cc. 39, 278, 313, 363; 1933, c. 208; 1935, c. 485; 1937, cc. 38, 79, 395; 1939, c. 392; 1941, c. 380; 1943, c. 511; C. S. 5410.)

Effect of Failure to Qualify on Day Prescribed.—A county board of education is a body politic and corporate, and is authorized to prosecute and defend suits in its own name, and to discharge certain duties imposed by statute, § 115-45, and where the members of the board appointed by the General Assembly fail to take the oath of office on the date prescribed by this section, but take the oath on the next succeeding day, their failure to qualify on the day prescribed does not impair the existence of the corporate body, and where they have discharged the statutory duties imposed upon them, and no vacancy has been declared by the State Board of Education, and no proceedings in the nature of quo warranto have been instituted to determine their right to office, the acts of the appointees as members of the board cannot be annulled by a proceeding to restrain the board from purchasing a school site in discharge of its statutory duties. Crabtree v. Board of Education, 199 N. C. 645, 155 S. E. 550.

Cited in Board of Education v. Walter, 198 N. C. 325, 328, 151 S. E. 718.

§ 115-38. How nominated and elected.—In all the counties of the state there shall be nominated in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, and biennially thereafter, at the party primaries or conventions, at the same time and in the same manner as that in which other county officers are nominated, a candidate or candidates, by each political party of the state, for member or members of the county board of education to take the place of the member or members of said board whose term next expires. The names of the persons so nominated in such counties shall be duly certified by the chairman of the county board of elections, within ten days after their nomination is declared by said county board of elections, to the superintendent of public instruction, who shall transmit the names of all persons so nominated, together with the name of the political party nominating them, to the chairman of the committee on education in the next session of the general assembly within ten days after it convenes. The general assembly shall elect or appoint one or more, from the candidates so nominated, members of the county board of education for such county. Upon failure of the general assembly to elect or appoint members as herein provided, such failure shall constitute a vacancy, which shall be filled by the state board of education. The term of office of each member shall begin on the first Monday of April of the year in which he is elected, and shall continue until his successor is elected and qualified. (1923, c. 136, s. 12; C. S. 5412.)

Local Modification.—Jackson: 1943, c. 740.

§ 115-39. County board of elections to provide for nominations.—The county board of elections, under the direction of the state board of elections, shall make all necessary provisions for such nominations as are herein provided for. (1923, c. 136, s. 13; C. S. 5413.)

§ 115-40. Members to qualify.—Those persons who shall be elected members of the county board of education by the general assembly must qualify by taking the oath of office on or before the first Monday in April next succeeding their election. A failure to qualify within that time shall constitute a vacancy. Those persons elected or appointed to fill a vacancy must qualify within thirty days after notification thereof. A failure to qualify within that time shall constitute a vacancy. (1923, c. 136, s. 14; C. S. 5414.)

Vacancies in nominations.—If any candidate shall die, resign, or for any reason become ineligible or disqualified between the date of his nomination and the time for the election by the general assembly of the member or members of the county board of education for the county of such candidate, the vacancy caused thereby may be filled by the action of the county executive committee of the political party of such candidate. (1923, c. 136, s. 15; C. S. 5415.)

§ 115-42. Vacancies in office.—All vacancies in the membership of the board of education in such counties by death, resignation, or otherwise shall be filled by the action of the county executive committee of the political party of the member causing such vacancy until the meeting of the next regular session of the general assembly, and then for the residue of the unexpired term by that body. If the vacancy to be filled by the general assembly in such cases shall have occurred before the primary or convention held in such county, then in that event nominations for such vacancies shall be made in the manner hereinbefore set out, and such vacancy shall be filled from the candidates nominated to fill such vacancy by the party primaries or convention of such county. All vacancies that are not filled by the county executive committee under the authority herein contained within thirty days from the occurrence of such vacancies shall be filled by appointment by the state board of education. (1923, c. 136, s. 16; 1931, c. 380; C. S. 5416.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 struck out the words "remaining members of said county board of education" formerly appearing in lines four and five of this section and inserted in lieu thereof the words "action of the county executive committee of the political party of the member causing such vacancy."

The Act also repealed paragraph two of this section which had been added by Public Laws 1923, c. 136, s. 16 and was as follows: "In the event that all or a majority of the members of the board die, resign or are removed from office, the vacancies shall be filled at once by the State board of education."

§ 115-50. Power to subpoena and to punish for contempt.—The board shall have power to issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses. Subpoenas may be issued in any and all matters which may lawfully come within the powers of the board, and which in the discretion of the board require investigation; and it shall be the duty of the sheriffs, coroners and constables to serve such subpoenas upon payment of their lawful fees.

The county board of education of each county shall have power to punish for contempt for any disorderly conduct or disturbance tending to disrupt it in the transaction of official business. (1923, c. 136, s. 24; C. S. 5424.)

§ 115-51. Witness failing to testify, misdemeanor.—Any witness who shall willfully and without legal excuse fail to appear before the county board of education to testify in any matter under investigation by the board shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1923, c. 136, s. 25; C. S. 5425.)

§ 115-52. Appeals to board from county officers.

—An appeal shall lie from all county school officers to the county board of education, and such appeals shall be regulated by rules to be adopted by the county board of education. (1923, c. 136, s. 26; C. S. 5426.)

§ 115-53. Superior court to review board's action.—The superior courts of the state may review any action of the county board of education affecting one's character or right to teach. (1923, c. 136, s. 27; C. S. 5427.)

Where the county board of education orders the removal of school committeemen, § 115-74, who appeal under the provisions of this section, the judgment of the Superior Court judge holding the act of the board of education in removing the committeemen invalid and dismissing the appeal for want of jurisdiction is inconsistent and erroneous. Board of Education v. Anderson, 200 N. C. 57, 156 S. E. 153.

Art. 6. The Direction and Supervision of the School System.

§ 115-54. To provide for all the children of the county.—It is the duty of the county board of education to provide an adequate school system for the benefit of all the children of the county, as directed by law. (1923, c. 136, s. 28; C. S. 5428.)

Cross Reference.—As to school organization generally, see § 115-352.

When Court Will Interfere.—The county board of education is given discretionary powers to direct and supervise the county school system for the benefit of all the children therein, including the duty, among others, of selecting a school site, with which the courts will not interfere in the absence of its abuse. McInnish v. Board, 187 N. C. 494, 122 S. E. 182.

Discretion of Boards.—In the absence of statutory limitations upon the power to perform this duty, discretion is vested in said boards to locate, discontinue, transfer and establish high schools in the districts of their several counties. In the absence of abuse, this discretion cannot be set aside or controlled by the courts. The principle stated and applied in deciding the question presented by the appeal in Newton v. School Committee, 158 N. C. 186, 187, 73 S. E. 886, is well settled. Clark v. McQueen, 195 N. C. 714, 716, 143 S. E. 528.

This section and section 115-61 vest in the sound discretion of the board of education of a county the right to transfer an existing school in one district to an adjoining district for the advantage of the residents of the county, and with the fair exercise of this discretion, or in the absence of manifest abuse, the courts will not interfere, or give injunctive relief. Clark v. McQueen, 195 N. C. 714, 143 S. E. 528. But see § 115-352.

§ 115-55. General powers.—All powers and duties conferred and imposed by law respecting public schools, which are not expressly conferred and imposed upon some other officials, are conferred and imposed upon the county board of education. (1923, c. 136, s. 29; C. S. 5429.)

Authority to Employ Janitors.—Under the provisions of this section the county board of education is authorized to select and employ janitors for a school building in a local tax district in preference to one appointed by the district school committee for the same position. Wiggins v. Board of Education, 198 N. C. 301, 151 S. E. 730.

Where the county purchasing agent purchases equipment for a school and gives a note for the same signed by him in the name of the school the county is not liable on the note, the purchasing agent having no connection with the county board of education. Keith v. Henderson County, 204 N. C. 21, 167 S. E. 481.

Cited in Wilkinson v. Board of Education, 199 N. C. 669, 155 S. E. 562.

§ 115-56. General control.—The county board of education, subject to any paramount powers vested by law in the state board of education or any other authorized agency, shall have general control and supervision of all matters pertaining to the public schools in their respective counties, and they shall execute the school laws in their respective counties. But whenever duties are assigned to the county board of education in this subchapter, they shall not be construed so as to take away from the board of trustees of any city administrative unit any duties or other powers assigned to said board of trustees by the general assembly. (1923, c. 136, s. 30; 1943, c. 721; C. S. 5430.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Power Discretionary.—The courts may compel the county board of education to act upon discretionary powers conferred on them by the legislature, but cannot tell them how they must act. Key v. Board, 170 N. C. 123, 86 S. E. 1002.

§ 115-57. Fixing time of opening and closing schools.—The time of opening and closing the public schools in the several public school districts of the state, except in city administrative units, shall be fixed and determined by the county board of education in their respective counties. The board may fix different dates for opening the schools in different townships, but all the schools of each township must open on the same date, as nearly as practicable. (1923, c. 136, s. 32; C. S. 5432.)

§ 115-58. Determination of length of school day.—The length of the school day shall be determined by the county board of education for all public schools under its jurisdiction and by the board of trustees of all other schools: Provided, the minimum time for which teachers shall be employed in the schoolroom or on the school grounds supervising the activities of children shall not be less than six hours. But county boards of education may authorize rural schools in certain seasons of the year, when the agricultural needs of the farm demand it, to be conducted for less than six hours a day: Provided further, it shall be the duty of the county boards of education and boards of trustees, wherever needs are presented, to provide part-time classes for pupils above the compulsory school age and for such other pupils as are unable because of physical defects to attend school for the full time designated for the classes in which they may be enrolled. (1923, c. 136, s. 33; C. S. 5433.)

Cross Reference.—As to authority to suspend the operation of schools for a limited time when low attendance or necessity demands it, see § 115-351.

§ 115-59. Duty to enforce the compulsory school law.—It shall be the duty of teachers, principals, county or city superintendents of public instruction and attendance officers to enforce the compulsory school law in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the state board of education; and if they shall fail to perform their duties in this respect, it shall be the duty of the county board of education or board of trustees of the city administrative unit to withhold the salary of such a person or to remove such a one from office. Any school official failing to obey the law in regard to compulsory attendance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 34; C. S. 5434.)

§ 115-60. Continuous school census.—The state board of education shall adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary for taking a complete census of the school population and for installing and keeping in the office of the county superintendent in each county of the state a continuous census of the school population. The cost of taking and keeping the census shall be a legitimate item in the budget and shall be paid out of the incidental fund. If any parent, guardian, or other person having the custody of a child, refuses to give any properly authorized census taker, teacher, school principal, or other school official charged with the duty of obtaining the census of the school population of any district, the necessary information to enable such person to obtain an accurate and correct census, or shall knowingly and willfully make any false statement to any person duly authorized to take the school census of any district relative to the age or the mental or physical condition of any child, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not to exceed twenty-five dollars or imprisoned not to exceed thirty days in the discretion of the court. (1921, c. 179, s. 16; 1925, c. 95; C. S. 5435.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment, Public Laws 1925, c. 95, the last sentence of this section was added.

§ 115-61. The location of high schools.—Since the cost of good high school instruction is too great to permit the location of small high schools close together, it shall be the duty of the county board, wherever the needs demand it, to locate not more than one standard high school in each township or its equivalent: Provided, it shall be discretionary with county boards of education to continue standard high schools in existence in 1923 contrary to the provisions of this section, and to establish such high schools in townships in which city schools are already located. (1923, c. 136, s. 36; C. S. 5437.)

Cross Reference.—As to requirements which must be met in establishing high schools and as to school organization in general, see § 115-352.

§ 115-62. Subjects taught in the elementary schools.—The county board of education shall provide for the teaching of the following subjects in all elementary schools: Spelling, reading, writing, grammar, language and composition, English, arithmetic, drawing, geography, the history and geography of North Carolina, history of the United States, elements of agriculture, health education, including the nature and effect of alcoholic drinks and narcotics, and fire prevention.

It shall be the duty of the state superintendent of public instruction to prepare a course of study outlining these and other subjects that may be taught in the elementary schools, arranging the subjects by grades and classes, giving directions as to the best methods of teaching them, and including type lessons for the guidance of the teachers. The board of education shall require these subjects in both public and private schools to be taught in the English language, and any teacher or principal who shall refuse to conduct his recitations in the English language shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and may be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 39; C. S. 5440.)

cotism.—In addition to health education, which is now required by law to be given in all schools supported in whole or in part by public money, thorough and scientific instruction shall be given in the subject of alcoholism and narcotism.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is hereby authorized and directed to prepare, or cause to be prepared, for the use of all teachers who are required by this section to give instruction in the subjects of alcoholism and narcotism, a course of study on health education, which shall embrace suggestions as to methods of instruction, outlines of lesson plans, lists of accurate and scientific source material, suggested adaptations of the work to the needs of the children in the several grades, and shall specify the kind of work to be done in each grade, and the amount of time to be devoted to such instruction. The state board of education shall be authorized, directed and empowered to select, approve, and adopt a simple, scientific textbook, which textbook shall be free from political propaganda, and approved by the state board of health and the faculty of the Medical School of the University of North Carolina, on the effects of alcoholism and narcotism on the human system, and/or a different or revised text on "health" which shall contain chapters giving complete, detailed, and scientific information on the subjects, to be taught as a unit of work every year in the appropriate elementary grade, or grades, of the public schools of North Carolina. Adequate time shall be given to teach the subject efficiently. The work in the subject of alcoholism and narcotism shall be a part of the work required for promotion from one grade to another: Provided also, that provision shall be made in the course of study prepared by the state department of public instruction for teachers, aids and devices for the assistance of teachers in teaching the effects of alcoholism and narcotism on the human system.

In all normal schools, teacher training classes, summer schools for teachers, and other institutions giving instruction preparatory to teaching or to teachers actually in service, adequate time and attention shall be given to the best methods in teaching health education, with special reference to the nature of alcoholism and narcotism.

It shall be the duty of all officers and teachers, principals and superintendents in charge of any school or schools, comprehended within the meaning of this section, to comply with its provisions; and any such officer or teacher who shall fail or refuse to comply with the requirements of this section shall be subject to dismissal by the proper authorities. (1929, c. 96, ss. 1-3; 1935, c. 404; 1943, c. 721, s. 9.)

Cross Reference.—As to instruction in the prevention of forest fires, see § 113-60.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment of 1935 the latter part of the second paragraph of this section specified the number of lessons on alcoholism and narcotism. The section now goes into the subject in much more detail.

The 1943 amendment struck out the words "The State Textbook Commission and" formerly appearing at the beginning of the second sentence of the second paragraph.

§ 115-64. Instruction in Americanism.—There shall be taught in the public schools of North Carolina a course of instruction which shall be known as Americanism.

There shall be included in the term "Americanism" the following general items of instruction:

- (a) Respect for law and order.
- (b) Character and ideals of the founders of our country.
- (c) Duties of good citizenship.
- (d) Respect for the national anthem and the flag.
- (e) A standard of good government.
- (f) Constitution of North Carolina.
- (g) Constitution of the United States.

The course of instruction in Americanism shall be taught not less than thirty hours during each and every school year and shall not be optional in the grade or grades in which said course is taught. The state board of education shall, as soon as convenient, adopt some suitable and proper textbook which will conform as near as possible and practicable to the carrying out of the general items of instruction as herein contained, and the state superintendent shall prepare or have prepared such outline courses of study, and shall distribute the same among the teachers of the state, as will give them proper direction in carrying out the provisions of this law.

The state board of education shall, before the beginning of the next school year, adopt such suitable rules and regulations as may be necessary as to the time, manner, grade or grades in which said course of Americanism shall be taught. (1923, c. 49; C. S. 5441, 5442.)

§ 115-65. Kindergartens may be established. — Upon a petition by the board of directors or trustees or school committee of any school district, endorsed by the county board of education, the board of county commissioners, after thirty days notice at the courthouse door and three other public places in the district named, shall order an election to ascertain the will of the people within said district whether there shall be levied in such a district a special annual tax of not more than fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property and forty-five cents on the poll for the purpose of establishing kindergarten departments in the schools of said district. The election so ordered shall be conducted under the rules and regulations for holding special tax elections in special school districts, as provided in article 23 of this chapter.

The ballots to be used in said election shall have written or printed thereon the words, "For Kindergartens" and "Against Kindergartens."

If a majority of the qualified voters shall vote in favor of the tax, then it shall be the duty of the board of trustees or directors or school committee of said district to establish and provide for kindergartens for the education of the children in said district of not more than six years of age, and the county commissioners shall annually levy a tax for the support of said kindergarten departments not exceeding the amount specified in the order of election. Said tax shall be collected as all other taxes in the county are collected and shall be paid by the sheriff or tax collector to the treasurer of the said school district to be used exclusively for providing adequate quarters and for equipment and for the maintenance of said kindergarten department. (1923, c. 136, s. 40; C. S. 5443.)

§ 115-66. Board shall provide schools for Indians in certain counties.—It shall be the duty of the county board of education to provide separate schools for Indians as follows:

The persons residing in Robeson and Richmond counties, supposed to be descendants of a friendly tribe once residing in the eastern portion of the state, known as Croatan Indians, and who have heretofore been known as "Croatan Indians," or "Indians of Robeson County," and their descendants, shall be known and designated as the "Cherokee Indians of Robeson County"; and the persons residing in Person county supposed to be descendants of a friendly tribe of Indians and "White's Lost Colony," once residing in the eastern portion of this state, and known as "Cubans," and their descendants, shall be known and designated as the "Indians of Person County."

The Indians mentioned above and their descendants shall have separate schools for their children, school committees of their own race and color, and shall be allowed to select teachers of their own choice, subject to the same rules and regulations as are applicable to all teachers in the general school law, and there shall be excluded from such separate schools all children of the negro race to the fourth generation. The County Superintendent in and for Robeson County shall keep in his office a record of schools for the Cherokee Indians of Robeson County, which said record shall disclose the operation of such schools, separate and apart from the record of the operation of schools for the other races. (1923, c. 136, s. 42; 1931, c. 141; C. S. 5445.)

Art. 7. Children at Orphanages.

§ 115-67. Permitted to attend public schools. — Children living in and cared for and supported by any institution established or incorporated for the purpose of rearing and caring for orphan children shall be considered legal residents of the unit or district in which the institution is located, and a part or all of said orphan children shall be permitted to attend the public school or schools of the unit or district.

Provided, that the provisions of this section shall be permissive only, and shall not be mandatory. (1919, c. 301, s. 1; 1927, c. 163, s. 1; C. S. 5446.)

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1927, ch. 163, the provision for payment from an "equalizing fund" replaced a provision for payment from the state "public school fund." The last sentence making the section permissive and not mandatory was also added at this time. The section was revised in the General Statutes of North Carolina adopted by the General Assembly of 1943.

Failure of Purpose of Trust.—A trust fund created by will for the purpose of educating through high school a girl inmate of an orphan asylum to be chosen by the board of trustees from time to time does not fall into the residuary clause for failure of the purpose of the trust on the ground that the State educated orphan children through high school without charge under the provisions of this section; since this section makes the payment for the education of the children in orphan asylums permissive only. Humphrey v. Board of Trustees, 203 N. C. 201, 165 S. E. 547.

§ 115-68. After nine months, tuition fees may be charged.—The board of trustees in special tax districts or city administrative units may charge such tuition fees as may be agreed upon between the authorities of said institution and the board of trustees for the attendance of such orphan children for the remainder of the school term, after the provision for nine months school has been complied with. (1919, c. 301, s. 3; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5448.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "nine" for "eight" in the next to the last line.

Art. 8. Instruction of Illiterates—Adult Education.

§ 115-69. Program of adult education provided.—The state board of education is authorized to provide rules and regulations for establishing and conducting schools to teach adults, and the said schools when provided for shall become a part of the public school system of the state, and shall be conducted under the supervision of the state superintendent of public instruction. Appropriations made in the budget appropriations act for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this section shall be disbursed on vouchers issued by the state superintendent of public instruction. (1937, c. 198, ss. 2, 3.)

Art. 9. Miscellaneous Provisions Regarding School Officials.

§ 115-70. Limitations of the board in selecting a county superintendent.—If any board shall elect a person to serve as superintendent of public instruction in a county or city administrative unit who does not qualify, or cannot qualify according to the provisions of the School Machinery Act, before taking the oath of office, the election is null and void, and it shall be the duty of the board of education to elect only a person that can qualify. (1923, c. 136, s. 44; C. S. 5453.)

Cross Reference.—As to qualifications superintendents of schools must meet, see § 115-353.

§ 115-71. Office and assistance for superintendent.—The county board of education shall provide an office for the county superintendent, at the county seat in the courthouse if possible. It shall provide office supplies for the superintendent, such as stationery, stamps and other necessary supplies in the conduct of his business. The county board of education may employ clerical assistance to aid the county superintendent. (1923, c. 136, s. 45; C. S. 5454.)

§ 115-72. Removal of superintendent for cause.—The county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit is authorized to remove a superintendent who is guilty of immoral or disreputable conduct, or shall fail or refuse to perform the duties required of him by law.

In case the state superintendent shall have sufficient evidence at any time that any superintendent of public instruction is not capable of discharging or is not discharging the duties of his office as required by law, or is guilty of immoral or disreputable conduct, he shall report the matter to the county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit which shall hear the evidence in the case; and, if, after careful investigation, it shall find the charges true, it shall declare the office vacant at once and proceed to elect his successor. This section shall not deprive any superintendent of the right to try his title to office in the courts of the state. (1923, c. 136, s. 46; C. S. 5455.)

§ 115-73. Prescribing duties of superintendent not in conflict with law and constitution.—All acts of the county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit not in conflict with state law shall be binding on the superintendent, and it shall be his duty to carry out all rules and regulations of the board. (1923, c. 136, s. 47; C. S. 5456.)

§ 115-74. Removal of committeemen for cause.—In case the county superintendent or any member of the county board of education shall have sufficient evidence at any time that any member of any school committee is not capable of discharging, or is not discharging, the duties of his office, or is guilty of immoral or disreputable conduct, he shall bring the matter to the attention of the county board of education, which shall thoroughly investigate the charges, and shall remove such committeeman and appoint his successor if sufficient evidence shall be produced to warrant his removal and the best interests of the schools demand it. (1923, c. 136, s. 49; C. S. 5458.)

Where county board of education orders the removal of school committeemen under this section, judgment of superior court holding the act of the board invalid and also dismissing the appeal for want of jurisdiction is inconsistent and erroneous. Board of Education v. Anderson, 200 N. C. 57, 156 S. E. 153.

§ 115-75. Advising with the committee in regard to needs of district.—The county board of education shall advise with the committee of each district before the school budget is prepared, and seek such information as may be helpful in planning the work for the ensuing year, in providing the number and grade of teachers needed, and the amount needed to thoroughly equip the school building or buildings of the district. The county board of education shall keep the committeemen informed as to the plans and purposes of the board and shall seek in every way possible to secure their coöperation in providing adequate educational opportunities for all the children of the district, for the enforcement of the compulsory school law, for teaching adult illiterates, and for the encouragement of vocational education in the county. (1923, c. 136, s. 50; C. S. 5459.)

§ 115-76. Supervisors or assistant county superintendent.—The county board of education shall have authority to employ an assistant county superintendent or to employ a supervisor or supervisors to aid the county superintendent in supervising the instruction in the elementary and high schools of the county: Provided, that the salary for the same is provided in the budget and approved by the county commissioners. The duties of the supervisor or the assistant county superintendent shall be outlined by the county superintendent of public instruction: Provided further, the supervisor or assistant county superintendent shall not be assigned to regular clerical work in the office of the county superintendent.

ent. And no part of the salary of any supervisor or assistant county superintendent shall be paid out of the state public school fund, unless the duties assigned to the same are first approved by the state superintendent of public instruction. (1923, c. 136, s. 51; C. S. 5460.)

§ 115-77. Authority of board over teachers, supervisors and principals.—The county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit upon the recommendation of the superintendent, shall have full power to make all just and needful rules and regulations governing the conduct of teachers, principals and supervisors, under jurisdiction of the county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit, the kind of reports they shall make and their duties in the care of school property.

The county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit shall have power to investigate and pass upon the moral character of any teacher or school official in the public schools of the unit, and to dismiss such teacher or school official, if found of bad moral character; also to investigate and pass upon the moral character of any applicant for employment in any public school in the unit. Such investigation shall be made after written notice of not less than ten days to the person whose character is to be investigated.

If the superintendent reports to the board that the work of any teacher, principal or supervisor is unsatisfactory, or that either is not observing the rules and regulations of the board, the board has full authority at any time during the year, upon notice of ten days, to investigate the charges and, if sustained, to reduce the salary of the teacher, supervisor or principal to the next lower salary in the salary schedule, and finally to discharge the same for failure to perform the duties as prescribed by the board. (1923, c. 136, s. 53; C. S. 5461.)

§ 115-78. Providing for training of teachers.—The county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit is authorized to provide for the professional growth of the teachers while in service, and to pass rules and regulations requiring teachers to cooperate with the superintendent for the improvement of instruction in the classroom and for promoting community improvement. (1923, c. 136, s. 54; C. S. 5462.)

§ 115-79. Pay of teachers.—The board of education or the board of trustees shall not authorize the payment of the salary of any teacher or school official for a shorter term than one month, unless he or she is providentially hindered from completing the term.

It is the duty of the board of education or the board of trustees to provide monthly for the prompt payment of all salaries due teachers and other school officials, and to meet other necessary operating expense. (1923, c. 136, s. 55; C. S. 5463.)

§ 115-80. Authority to borrow.—If the taxes for the current year are not collected when the salaries and other necessary operating expenses come due, and the money is not available for meeting the necessary expenses, it shall be the duty of the county board of commissioners to borrow against the amount approved in the budget and to issue short-term notes for the amounts so borrowed in accordance with the provisions of the county finance act and the local government act. The interest on all such notes shall be provided by the commissioners in addition to the amount approved in the budget unless this item is specifically taken care of in the budget. But if the county board of education shall willfully create a debt that shall in any other way cause the expenses for the year to exceed the amount authorized in the budget, without the approval of the county commissioners, the indebtedness shall not be a valid obligation of the county, and the members of the board responsible for making the debt may be held liable for the same. (1923, c. 136, s. 56; 1927, c. 239, s. 18; C. S. 5464.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment, Public Laws 1927, ch. 239, sec. 18, the authority to borrow was changed from the board of education to the board of commissioners.

See Hampton v. Board of Education, 195 N. C. 213, 141 S. E. 744, where it was held, under the facts and circumstances, that county commissioners were liable for a debt created under this section. See notes to § 115-19.

§ 115-81. Salary schedule for teachers.—Every county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit may adopt, as to teachers and school officials not paid out of state funds, a salary schedule similar to the standard salary schedule authorized by the School Machinery Act, but it likewise shall recognize a difference in salaries based on different duties, training, experience, professional fitness, and continued service in the same school system; but if any county board of education or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit shall fail to adopt such a schedule, the state salary schedule shall automatically be in force, and the difference in salaries suggested shall be maintained. From other than state funds, no teacher shall receive a salary higher than that provided in the salary schedule, unless by action of the county board of education or of the board of trustees of the city administrative unit a higher salary is allowed for special fitness, special duties or under extraordinary circumstances. Whenever a higher salary is thus allowed, the minutes of the board shall show what salary is allowed and the reason for the same: Provided, the county board of education, upon the recommendation of the committee of a district may authorize the committee and the superintendent to supplement the salaries of all teachers of the district from funds derived from taxes within such district, and the minutes of the board shall show what increase is allowed each teacher in each such district. (1923, c. 136, s. 57; C. S. 5465.)

Cross Reference.—As to the state standard salary schedule, see § 115-359.

§ 115-82. Salary warrants.—All salary warrants for teachers, principals and other regular employees of county administrative units shall be issued only on the basis of written monthly certifications signed by the chairman and secretary of the district committee and filed with the County Board of Education; or in city administrative units, such certifications shall be signed by the chairman and Secretary of the Board of Trustees. Such certification shall specify the length of service rendered by each person and the amount due and payable therefor, and shall specify that part of the total amount to be charged to state funds and that part to be charged to county, unit or district funds: Provided, that the County Board of Education or Board of Trustees of a city administrative unit, in case of dispute as to any claim, in regular or called session finally determine the validity of said claim and order settlement thereof in accordance with their findings. Each warrant drawn in payment of any claim, including salaries or for any other purpose, shall specify the fund to which the warrant is chargeable. If any part of any warrant drawn is chargeable against district funds, the amount so charged and the district to which said amount is charged shall be specified. In the payment of salary warrants, the County Board of Education or Board of Trustees of a city administrative unit may require the teacher's report at the end of each month to be properly attested by the chairman and secretary of the local committee or of the Board of Trustees before issuing salary warrants: Provided, that the final report of membership and attendance from any district, whether by a teacher, principal, or superintendent, shall be subscribed and sworn to before an officer authorized to administer oaths by such teacher, principal or superintendent making said report, before the last warrant for salary or salaries in said district may be issued; and provided further, that the county superintendent or city superintendent of schools shall be authorized and directed to attest such signature and oath without fee or charge when so requested. (1923, c. 136, ss. 58, 197; 1927, c. 239, ss. 17, 20; 1931, c. 430, s. 17; 1939, c. 358, s. 20; C. S. 5466.)

Cross References.—As to how school funds shall be paid out in general, see § 115-368. As to state standard salary schedule, see § 115-359.

Editor's Note.—The act of 1927 changed this section to conform with the budget act then in effect. The act of 1931 rewrote this section; and again it was completely revised in the General Statutes of North Carolina adopted by the 1943 General Assembly. See note to § 115-1.

Art. 10. Erection, Repair and Equipment of School Buildings.

§ 115-83. Provision for school buildings and equipment.—School buildings, properly lighted, and equipped with suitable desks for children and tables and chairs for teachers, are necessary in the maintenance of a nine months school term.

It shall be the duty of the county boards of education, with respect to county administrative units, and the Boards of Trustees, with respect to city administrative units, to present these needs and the cost thereof each year to the county commissioners. The county commissioners shall be given a reasonable time to provide the funds which they, upon investigation, shall find to be necessary for providing the respective units with buildings suitably equipped, and it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to provide the funds for the same. (1923, c. 136, s. 59; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5467.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted the words "a nine" for the words "an eight" in line four.

Expense a County-Wide Charge.—In accordance with the provisions of this section, it is the duty of the county commissioners, upon information being furnished by the county boards of education, to provide the funds necessary for suitable buildings and proper equipment, and such expenses are a county-wide charge. Reeves v. Board of Education, 204 N. C. 74, 167 S. E. 454.

Cited in Mears v. Board of Education, 214 N. C. 89, 197 S. E. 752.

§ 115-84. Erection or repair of schoolhouses.—The building of all new schoolhouses and the repairing of all old schoolhouses over which the county board of education has jurisdiction shall be under the control and direction of and by contract with the county board of education, provided, however, that in the building of all new schoolhouses and the repairing of all old schoolhouses which may be located in a city administrative unit, the building of such new schoolhouses and the repairing of such old schoolhouses shall be under the control and direction of and by contract with the board of education or the board of trustees having jurisdiction over said city administrative unit. But the board shall not be authorized to invest any money in any new house that is not built in accordance with plans approved by the state superintendent, nor for more money than is made available for its erection. All contracts for buildings shall be in writing, and all buildings shall be inspected, received, and approved by the county superintendent of public instruction, or by the superintendent of schools where such school buildings are located in a city administrative unit, before full payment is made therefor: Provided, this section shall not prohibit county boards of education and boards of trustees from having the janitor or any other regular employee to repair the buildings. From any moneys loaned by the state to any one of the several counties for the erection, repair or equipment of school buildings, teacherages and dormitories, the state board of education, under such rules as it may deem advisable, not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, may retain an amount not to exceed fifteen per cent of said loan until such completed buildings, erected or repaired, in whole or in part, from such loan funds, shall have been approved by such agent as the state board of education may designate: Provided, that upon the proper approval of the completed building, the state treasurer, upon requisition of the state superintendent of public instruction, authorized and directed by the state board of education, shall pay to the treasurer of the county the remaining part of said loan, together with interest from the date of the loan at a rate not less than three per cent on monthly balances. (1923, c. 136, s. 60; 1925, c. 221; 1937, c. 353; C. S. 5468.)

Cross Reference.—As to penalty for school officials to have pecuniary interest in school supplies, see §§ 14-236, 14-237.

Editor's Note.—By amendment, Public Laws 1925 c. 221, the last part of this section providing for holding and paying money loaned to counties for repair of school buildings, teacherages and dormitories, was added.

The 1937 amendment inserted the proviso to the first sentence of this section. It also amended the third sentence by inserting the clause relating to superintendent of schools.

Power Discretionary.—The building of a school is a matter vested by the statute in the sound discretion of the county board of education and not to be restrained by the courts, unless in violation of some provision of law, see Pickler v. County Board, 149 N. C. 221, 62 S. E. 902, or unless the committee is influenced by improper motives, or there is misconduct on their part. See Smith v. School Trustees, 141 N. C. 160, 53 S. E. 524. Venable v. School Committee, 149 N. C. 120, 62 S. E. 902, 903.

Providing Electric Lights.—Under the general statutory authority of this article the erection of electric transmission lines to supply school buildings with electric lighting is given to the board of education of a county. Conrad v. Board, 190 N. C. 389, 130 S. E. 53. But contracts for such work are not within the meaning of this section and need not be in writing. Id. Nor need they be approved by the State Superintendent. Id.

§ 115-85. Acquisition of sites. — The county board of education or board of trustees of any city administrative unit may receive by gift or by purchase suitable sites for schoolhouses or other school buildings. But whenever any such board is unable to obtain a suitable site for a school or school building by gift or purchase, the board shall report to the county or city superintendent of public instruction, who shall, upon five days notice to the owner or owners of the land, apply to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the land is situated for the appointment of three appraisers, who shall lay off by metes and bounds not more than ten acres, and shall assess the value thereof. They shall make a written report of their proceedings, to be signed by them, or by a majority of them, to the clerk, within five days of their appointment, who shall enter the same upon the records of the court. The appraisers and officers shall serve without compensation. If the report is confirmed by the clerk, the chairman and the secretary of the board shall issue an order on the treasurer of the county school fund or, if a city administrative unit, upon the treasurer of such unit, in favor of the owner of the land thus laid off, and upon the payment, or offer of payment, of this order, the title to such land shall vest in fee simple in the corporation. Any person aggrieved by the action of the appraisers, including the county board of education or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit, may appeal to the superior court in term, upon giving bond to secure the board against such costs as may be incurred on account of the appeal not being prosecuted with effect. If the lands sought to be condemned hereunder, or any part of said lands, shall be owned by a nonresident of the state, before the clerk shall appoint appraisers therefor, notice to such nonresident owner shall be given of such proceedings to condemn, by publication for thirty days in some newspaper published in the county, and if no newspaper is published in the county, then by posting such notice at the courthouse door and three other public places in the county for the period of thirty days: Provided, where sites have already been acquired and additional adjacent lands are necessary such additional lands may be acquired as in this section provided, which lands, together with the old site, shall not exceed ten acres. (1923, c. 136, s. 61; 1924, c. 121, s. 1; 1929, c. 309, ss. 1, 2; C. S. 5469.)

Cross Reference.—As to exercising the power of eminent domain, see § 40-2.

Editor's Note.—By amendment, Public Laws Ex. Sess. 1924, this section was made applicable to "board of trustees of any special charter district" where formerly it applied only to the county board of education. References to "special charter districts" in this section were changed to "city administrative units" to reflect the school plan as set forth in § 115-352. See note to § 115-1.

The General Assembly amended this section, in March, 1929, by providing that "where sites have already been acquired and additional adjacent lands are necessary, such additional lands may be acquired as in this section provided, which lands, together with the old site, shall not exceed ten acres." Whether the act of 1929 was merely declaratory of the law then existing, or whether it was intended to confer an additional power of condemnation is now wholly immaterial and academic. Board of Education v. Pegram, 197 N. C. 33, 35, 147 S. E. 622.

Construing this section in connection with the former statutes giving the county board of education the power to condemn lands necessary for public school purposes within the limitation of ten acres, it is held, the fact that one of these schools had already acquired a less amount of land did not preclude the county board of education from acquiring by another proceeding sufficient lands to meet the enlarged and necessary requirements of the school for additional lands within the limitation imposed by statute. Board of Education v. Pegram, 197 N. C. 33, 147 S. E. 622.

The meaning of the word "site" as used in the statute is broad enough to embrace such land, not exceeding the statutory limit, as may reasonably be required for the suitable and convenient use of the particular building; and land taken for a playground in conjunction with a school may be as essential as land taken for the schoolhouse itself. 24 R. C. L., 582. See Board v. Forrest, 190 N. C. 753, 756, 130 S. E. 621, which presents an able review of the history of this section.

§ 115-86. Sale of school property. — When in the opinion of the board, any schoolhouse, schoolhouse site or other public school property has become unnecessary for public school purposes, it may sell the same at public auction after advertising the said property for the period of time and in like manner as to places and publication in newspapers as now prescribed for sales of real estate under deeds of trust: Provided further, that the sale shall be reported to the office of the clerk of the superior court and remain open for ten (10) days for an increase bid, and if the said bid is increased the property shall be re-advertised in the manner as re-sales under deeds of trust, and if there is no raised or increased bid within ten (10) days, the chairman and secretary of the board shall execute a deed to the purchaser, and the proceeds shall be paid to the treasurer of the county school fund. After the sale of school property, as herein provided for, has been had and in the opinion of the board the amount offered for the property, either at the first or any subsequent sale, is inadequate, then, upon a finding of such fact by the board, the said board is authorized to reject such bid and to sell the property at private sale: Provided, the price offered is in excess of that offered at such public sale. (1933, c. 494, s. 2; 1937, c. 117.)

Where a chartered school district acquired property by foreclosure of a loan made from its sinking fund, the property thus acquired being in no way connected with the operation of its schools, and the trustees of the district instructed the property committee to consider any offers for the property in excess of a stipulated sum, and delegated "power to act" in the matter, and where the chairman thereafter entered into a contract for the sale of the property for a price in excess of the minimum amount stipulated by the trustees, upon a suit by a taxpayer of the district to restrain conveyance to the purchaser in the contract, it was held that the trustees of the district were without power to delegate authority to sell the school property, and the district was not bound by the contract entered into and a decree restraining the execution of the contract was proper. Bowles v. Fayetteville Graded Schools, 211 N. C. 36, 188 S. E. 615.

§ 115-87. Deeds to property.—All deeds to the county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit shall be registered and delivered to the clerk of the superior court for safe-keeping, and the secretary of the said board shall keep an index, by townships and school districts, of all such deeds in a book for that purpose. (1923, c. 136, s. 63; C. S. 5471.)

§ 115-88. Board cannot erect or repair building unless site is owned by board.—The county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit shall make no contract for the erection or repair of any school building unless the site on which it is located is owned by the said board, and the deed for the same is properly registered and deposited with the clerk of the court. Provided, it shall be lawful for the county board of education to borrow from the State Literary or Special Building Funds for the benefit of city administrative units and to allocate the proceeds of the county school building bonds between city and county administrative unit schools in proportion to the respective needs of the city unit schools and the county unit schools at the time when such county bonds are authorized: Provided further, that the title to the site in any city administrative units so aided shall be vested in the board of trustees of the unit. (1923, c. 136, s. 64; 1925, c. 180, s. 1; 1933, c. 299; 1939, c. 358, s. 5; C. S. 5472.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment, Public Laws, 1925, the last two sentences were added to this section. This section was revised in the General Statutes of North Carolina adopted by the General Assembly of 1943 so as to reflect the school plan as set out in § 115-352. See note to § 115-1.

Not Applicable to Electric Light Wires. — This section does not apply to the erection of electric light wires. It applies only to sites for school buildings; it does not extend to or include the rights of way. Conrad v. Board, 190 N. C. 389, 395, 130 S. E. 53.

Cited in Hickory v. Catawba County, 206 N. C. 165, 173, 173 S. E. 56.

§ 115-89. Loans for building schoolhouses. — The county board of education may make loans for the erection of schoolhouses to local tax districts or city administrative units, but all such loans shall be made upon written petition of a majority of the committee of the local tax district or board of trustees of the city administrative unit, and said petition shall authorize the county board of education to deduct a sufficient amount from the local taxes or the county fund due said district or unit to meet the payments as they come due. If the loan is made without a written petition from the committee or the board of trustees, the county board of education shall have no lien upon the local taxes for the repayment of the loan. (1922, c. 136, s. 156; C. S. 5554.)

§ 115-90. Duty of board to keep buildings in repair.—It is the duty of the county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit to keep all school buildings in good repair, and to that end it should appoint a member of the committee or some other responsible person to care for the property during vacation. Such repairs shall be paid for as authorized by the School Machinery Act. All principals and teachers shall be held responsible for the safekeeping of buildings during the school session, and all breakage and damage shall be repaired by those responsible for the same, and if at the end of the session the building or buildings have not been properly cared for by the principal and teachers, the board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit, upon the recommendation of the superintendent, may reserve enough of the salary belonging to the principal and teachers to repair the damage permitted through the carelessness of the principal and teachers: Provided, principal and teachers shall not be held responsible for damages that they could not have prevented by reasonable supervision in the performance of their duties. (1923, c. 136, s. 65; C. S. 5473.)

§ 115-91. Duty of board to provide equipment for school buildings.—It is the duty of the county board of education or the board of trustees of a city administrative unit to provide suitable supplies for school buildings under its jurisdiction, such as window shades, fuel, chalk, erasers, blackboards, and other necessary supplies, and to provide standard high schools with reference books, library, maps and equipment for teaching science, and the teachers and principal shall be held responsible for the proper care of the same during the school term. (1923, c. 136, s. 66; C. S. 5474.)

Cross Reference.—As to penalty for school officials to have pecuniary interest in school supplies, see §§ 14-236, 14-237.

Cited in Board of Education v. Walter, 198 N. C. 325, 328, 151 S. E. 718.

§ 115-92. Sanitary school privies.—The county board of education shall provide upon recommendation of the state board of health, two sanitary privies at each public school not having adequate water-carried sewerage facilities, one for boys and one for girls. Sanitary privies shall be considered an essential and necessary part of the equipment of each public school, and may be paid for in the same manner as desks and other essential equipment of the school are paid for, and a failure on the part of the county board of education and county superintendent to make provision for sanitary privies, or a failure on the part of the county commissioners to provide the funds, shall be considered a misdemeanor, and either the county board, the county superintendent, or the county commissioners may be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 68; C. S. 5475.)

Specific or special legislative authority is given the county by this section to issue without a vote bonds for sanitary improvements for its schoolhouses necessary for it to maintain, as an administrative unit of the State, the constitutional school term in the county. Taylor v. Board of Education, 206 N. C. 263, 173 S. E. 608.

§ 115-93. Type of privies to be installed.—The less expensive pit-type as recommended by the state board of health may be installed in rural districts in connection with the smaller school buildings. But the kind of privy in all buildings shall be sufficient to protect the health and sanitation of the children and the community. (1923, c. 136, s. 69; C. S. 5476.)

§ 115-94. Privies to be kept sanitary. — The county board of education shall require of the district committee that the privies shall be kept in a sanitary condition. They shall be governed in this particular by rules and regulations of the state board of health. And the county board of education shall provide a reasonable expense fund wherever necessary to keep the privies in a sanitary condition. Failure of the committeemen to keep privies at public schoolhouses in proper sanitary condition or a failure to notify the county board of education of their unsanitary condition shall be considered a misdemeanor and shall subject them severally and personally to fine and imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court.

It shall be the duty of the teachers and principals to report the unsanitary condition of the privies to the committee of the district, or the county superintendent. (1923, c. 136, ss. 70, 141; C. S. 5477.)

§ 115-95. Use of school property.—It shall be the duty of the county boards of education, as to county administrative units, and the Boards of Trustees, as to city administrative units, to encourage the use of the school buildings for civic or community meetings of all kinds that may be beneficial to the members of the community. The state board of education, and the county boards of education for county administrative units and boards of trustees for city administrative units, shall have power and authority to promulgate rules by which school buildings may be used for other than school purposes. (1923, c. 136, s. 71; 1939, c. 358, s. 9; 1943, c. 721, s. 8; C. S. 5478.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-96. Providing good water supply.—It is the duty of the school committeemen to see that the schools have good water supply, and wherever a school is without a good water supply it is the duty of the committee to report the condition to the county superintendent before and even after the opening of school, and it shall be the duty of the county superintendent to present the need to the county board of education, and it shall be the duty of the county board of education to make such provision as will give the teachers and children a good supply of wholesome water. (1923, c. 136, s. 142; C. S. 5544.)

Art. 11. Creating and Consolidating School Districts.

§ 115-97. School districts.—The state board of education, with the advice of the county board of education shall maintain in each county a convenient number of school districts.

There may be one district and one school committee for both races, or the races may have separate districts and separate school committees. The state board of education, with the advice of the county board of education shall consult the convenience and necessities of each race in fixing the boundary lines of school districts for each race, and it shall be the duty of the county board of education to record, in a book kept for the purpose, the location of each school district and the boundary lines of each. (1923, c. 136, s. 73; 1943, c. 721, s. 8; C. S. 5480.)

Cross Reference.—As to limitation on power of legislature to change lines of school districts, see Art. II, sec. 29 of the Constitution.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

This Article Is Constitutional.—Sparkman v. Board, 187 N. C. 241, 121 S. E. 531, cited and approved in Blue v. Board, 187 N. C. 431, 122 S. E. 19.

When Court Will Intervene.—The courts will not interfere with the control and supervision of the county board of education in the exercise of its statutory discretion given in the formation of school district and their consolidation, or intervene in behalf of any one who supposes himself to be aggrieved by their action therein, except upon a clear showing that it was acting contrary to law, and then they will only restrain its action to the extent necessary to keep it within the law and the rightful exercise of its powers. Davenport v. Board, 183 N. C. 570, 112 S. E. 246.

§ 115-98. Districts formed of portions of contiguous counties.—School districts may be formed out of portions of contiguous counties by agreement of the county boards of education of the respective counties subject to the approval of the state board of education. In case of the formation of such district, the pro rata part of the public school money due for teaching the children residing in one county shall be apportioned by the county board of education of that county, and paid to the treasurer of the other county in which the schoolhouse is located, to be placed to the credit of the school district so formed.

In case of a disagreement between the two county boards as to the pro rata part due the county in which the school is located, the evidence shall be laid before the state board of education, which shall determine from the evidence submitted and from the approved budget for that school, on file in its office, the amount due, and the pro rata part of each county shall be certified to the county board of education of each county, and the county board of education of the county in which the joint school is located may recover by due process of law from the county board of education in the other county the amount due the joint school for the school term from that county. (1923, c. 136, s. 74; 1943, c. 721, s. 8; C. S. 5482.)

Cross Reference.—As to the general control of school districting, see § 115-352.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-99. Consolidation of schools or school districts.—The county board of education is hereby authorized and empowered to consolidate schools located in the same district, and, with the approval of the state board of education, to consolidate school districts, over which the board has full control, whenever and wherever in its judgment the consolidation will better serve the educational interests of the county or any part of it: Provided, existing schools having suitable buildings shall not be abolished until the county board of education has made ample provisions for transferring all children of said school to some other school in the consolidated district. (1923, c. 136, s. 75; 1943, c. 721, s. 8; C. S. 5483.)

Cross References.—See note to § 115-1. As to the general control of locating schools and school districts, see § 115-352. See also, § 115-192.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Consolidation of Tax and Nontax Districts.—It is not necessary to the valid consolidation of nonspecial school tax districts with special school tax districts that it be approved by the voters of the nonspecial school tax districts, when the questions of taxation and bond issues are not involved, and especially so when the consolidation has been made according to the provisions of a Public-Local Law applicable to the county wherein the consolidation has been made. Board v. Bray Bros. Co., 184 N. C. 484, 115 S. E. 47.

Special school-tax districts, organized and exercising governmental functions in the administration of the school laws, are quasi-public corporations subject to the constitutional provisions in restraint of contracting debts for other than necessary purposes, except by the vote of the people of a given district, Const. Art. VII, § 7; and semble, that where an existent tax and nontax district are thereunder consolidated, it would require the submission of the question to those living within the district thus formed, but outside of the district that has theretofore voted the tax as provided in § 115-192 for enlargement of local tax districts. Paschal v. Johnson, 183 N. C. 129, 110 S. E. 841; Barnes v. Leonard, 184 N. C. 325, 114 S. E. 393.

The authority given the county board of education to re-district the entire county or part thereof, and to consolidate school districts, etc., was amended by Public Laws of 1921, ch. 179, providing, among other things, for such consolidation of existing districts under a uniform rate of taxation not exceeding the lowest in any one district, meets the requirements of our Constitution, Art. VII, § 7, but to the extent the amendatory statute permits consolidation of local school tax districts with adjacent territory or local schools that have never voted any tax, the provisions of § 115-192, must apply so as to permit those living in such proposed new territory to vote separately upon the question of taxing themselves for the purpose. Perry v. Commissioners, 183 N. C. 387, 112 S. E. 6.

Issuance of Bonds.—Where there has been a valid consolidation of local-tax school districts, having an equal tax rate for the purpose, by proper proceedings under the statute the new district may then approve the question of an additional special tax, and where this has been done under the authority of a valid statute, and an issue of bonds properly approved by the voters, such bonds are constitutional and valid. Paschal v. Johnson, 183 N. C. 129, 110 S. E. 841.

§ 115-100. Transferring families from non-local tax to local tax or city administrative units.—The county board of education, with the approval of the state board of education, may transfer from non-local tax territory to local tax districts or city administrative units, an individual family or individual families who reside on real property contiguous to said local tax districts or city administrative units, upon written petition of the taxpayers of said family or families, and there shall be levied upon the property and poll of each individual so transferred the same tax as is levied upon other property and polls of said district or unit: Provided, however, that any transfer to a city administrative unit shall be subject to the approval of the board of trustees. (1923, c. 136, s. 78; 1943, c. 721, s. 8; C. S. 5486.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-101. School trucks and automobiles exempt from taxation; registration.—All trucks or automobiles owned or controlled by the county board of education and used for transporting pupils to school or used by school nurses or home and farm demonstration agents, or county superintendents and supervisors, in the prosecution of their work, shall be exempt from taxation, but all such vehicles shall be duly registered in the Department of Motor Vehicles: Provided, that the Department of Motor Vehicles, upon proper proof being filed with it that any motor vehicle for which license is herein required is owned by the state or any department thereof or by any county, township, city or town, or by any board of education, may collect not exceeding one dollar for the registration and numbering of such motor vehicle. (1923, c. 136, s. 82; C. S. 5490.)

SUBCHAPTER IV. COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS' POWERS, DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES.

Art. 12. General Duties.

§ 115-102. Not to teach; to reside in county.—Every county superintendent shall reside in the county of which he is superintendent. It shall not be lawful for him to teach a school while the public schools of his county are in session, nor shall he be regularly employed in any other capacity that may limit or interfere with his duties as superintendent except as authorized by § 115-353. (1923, c. 136, s. 86; C. S. 5494.)

Cross Reference.—As to salary, election and qualification of county superintendent, see § 115-353.

§ 115-103. Oath of office.—The county superintendent of public instruction, before entering upon the duties of office, shall take oath for the faithful performance thereof. (1923, c. 136, s. 87; C. S. 5495.)

§ 115-104. Vacancies.—In case of vacancy by death, resignation, or otherwise, in the office of county superintendent, such vacancy shall be filled by the county board of education. (1923, c. 136, s. 88; C. S. 5496.)

§ 115-105. Secretary to county board.—The county superintendent shall be ex officio the secretary of the county board of education. He shall record all proceedings of the board, issue all notices and orders that may be made by the board pertaining to the public schools, school-houses, sites, or districts (which notices or orders it shall be the duty of the secretary to serve by mail or by personal delivery, without cost). He shall also record all school statistics. The records of the board and the county superintendent shall be kept in the office provided for that purpose by the board. (1923, c. 136, s. 89; C. S. 5497.)

§ 115-106. Report on condition of school buildings.—It shall be the duty of the county superintendent to inspect all school buildings or have them thoroughly inspected before the opening of school, and report their condition to the committee and to the county board of education, with such recommendations as will make them comfortable and sanitary. (1923, c. 136, s. 93; C. S. 5500.)

§ 115-107. Attending meetings of state and district associations of superintendents.—Unless providentially hindered, the county superintendent shall attend continuously during its session the annual meeting of the state association of county superintendents and the annual meeting of the district association of county superintendents, and the county board of education of his county shall pay out of the county school fund his traveling expenses including board while in attendance upon such meeting. (1923, c. 136, s. 94; C. S. 5501.)

§ 115-108. Reports to state superintendent.—The county superintendent shall make such reports to the state superintendent as are required by law. The state superintendent of public instruction shall have authority to call on the county superintendent for school statistics and for reports on any phase of the school work or school conditions of the county, and it shall be the duty of the county superintendent to supply the information promptly and accurately. (1923, c. 136, s. 95; C. S. 5502.)

Art. 13. Duty of County Superintendent Toward Committeemen, Teachers and Principals.

§ 115-109. Notifying committeemen of their duties.—The county superintendent shall notify committees of the rules and regulations of the county board of education and their duties in the school district. He shall notify the committees, before the opening of the school, of the appropriation for teachers' salaries, incidental and building funds, the amount of any local tax supplement funds due each district, the salary schedule in force in the county, the law governing the payment of all district funds, the duties of the committeemen in the care and use of school buildings, and all other duties that may be helpful in conducting the school in each district. (1923, c. 136, s. 97; C. S. 5503.)

§ 115-110. Distributing blanks and books.—It shall be the duty of the county superintendent to distribute to the various school committees and to teachers of his county all blanks, registers, report cards, record books, bulletins, and all other supplies and information furnished by the state superintendent of public instruction, who shall give instruction for proper use of same. (1923, c. 136, s. 98; C. S. 5504.)

§ 115-111. Keeping record of all teachers.—The county superintendent shall keep a record of all teachers employed in the county, the kind of certificate held by each teacher, the length of service, success as a teacher, and the salary allowed. (1923, c. 136, s. 100; C. S. 5506.)

§ 115-112. Approving selection of all teachers.—No election of a principal, supervisor, teacher, assistant, or supply teacher shall be deemed valid until such election has been approved by the county superintendent and county board of education. No teacher shall be employed by a committee or approved by a county superintendent who is under eighteen years of age. And no superintendent shall approve the selection of any teacher or principal for a given school year who has willfully broken his or her written contract with some other superintendent for that year: Provided, a teacher shall have the right to resign her position after giving thirty days' notice: Provided further, the superintendent shall not approve the selection of a teacher holding a second or third grade certificate unless it is impracticable to secure a resident teacher who holds a higher certificate. (1923, c. 136, s. 101; 1939, c. 358, s. 7; C. S. 5507.)

Cross References.—As to the election of teachers, see § 115-354. As to notice of resignation, see also, § 115-359. As to notice given teacher whose application is rejected, see § 115-359.

§ 115-113. Administering oaths to teachers.—The county superintendent shall have authority to administer oaths to teachers and all subordinate school officials when an oath is required of the same. (1923, c. 136, s. 103; C. S. 5509.)

§ 115-114. Advising with teachers, principals and supervisors.—The county superintendent shall advise with teachers, principals, and supervisors as to the best methods of instruction, school organization and school government, and to that end he shall keep himself informed as to the progress of education, both in his own county and in other counties, cities, and states. And teachers, principals, and supervisors shall coöperate with him in putting into use the best methods of instruction, school organization and school government. (1923, c. 136, s. 104; C. S. 5510.)

§ 115-115. Visiting schools.—The county superintendent shall be required to visit each public school of his county at least twice while the schools are in session. He shall inspect school buildings and grounds in order to advise committeemen and the county board of education as to the physical needs of the school, and he shall inform himself of the condition and needs of the several districts of his county. (1923, c. 136, s. 105; C. S. 5511.)

§ 115-116. Holding teachers' meetings.—The county superintendent shall hold each year such teachers' meetings as in his judgment will improve the efficiency of the instruction in school. He may, with the coöperation of the supervisors or principals, outline reading courses for teachers and organize the teachers into special study groups, and, if necessary, not exceeding three school days may be set apart for this purpose.

If a superintendent shall fail to advise with his teachers and to provide for the professional growth of his teachers while in service, the state superintendent shall notify the county board of education, and, after due notice, if he shall fail to perform his duties in this respect, either the county board of education may remove him from office or the state board of education may revoke his certificate. (1923, c. 136, s. 106; C. S. 5512.)

§ 115-117. May suspend teachers.—The county superintendent shall have authority to suspend any teacher who shall fail, or who may be incompetent, to give instruction in accordance with the directions of the superintendent, or who shall willfully refuse to coöperate in teachers' meetings: Provided, any teacher who may be suspended by the superintendent may have the right to appeal either to the county board of education or to the courts. (1923, c. 136, s. 107; C. S. 5513.)

§ 115-118. Illegal to keep teacher in service without a certificate.—It shall be unlawful for any board of trustees or school committee that receives any public school money from the county, state, or district, to keep in service any teacher, superintendent, principal, supervisor, or assistant superintendent who does not hold a certificate in compliance with law.

The county or city school superintendent or other officials are forbidden to approve any voucher for salary of any person kept in service in violation of the provisions of this section, and the treasurer of the county, or city schools is hereby forbidden to pay out of school funds the salary of any such person: Provided, that nothing herein shall prevent the employment of temporary substitutes or emergency teachers under such rules as the county board of education may prescribe. (1923, c. 136, s. 110; C. S. 5515.)

§ 115-119. Contracts with teachers.—No contract entered into between a school committee or board of trustees and a teacher shall be valid until the contract is approved and signed by the superintendent. The contract shall show the salary allowed and such rules and regulations governing teachers in school as the county board of education or board of trustees may direct. No voucher for the salary of a teacher shall be signed by the superintendent unless a copy of the contract has been filed with him. (1923, c. 136, s. 111; C. S. 5516.)

Cross Reference.—As to the state standard salary schedule, see § 115-359.

When Contract Binding.—When the board of trustees of a school district recommends public school teachers for the ensuing term of schools to the county superintendent of education, his contracts with teachers so recommended, made in accordance with the provisions of the statute relating thereto, become a binding obligation upon the county commissioners when approved by them, and are in conformity with the budget of the county board of education, or when they are later approved by the county board of commissioners under the provisions of the statute. Hampton v. Board of Education, 195 N. C. 213, 141 S. E. 744.

When there is one month for which the teachers of a school district have not been paid in accordance with their contracts of employment, and from the sum total of the approved budget of the board of education there remains a sufficiency to pay them, the board of county commissioners is liable for its payment, the statute not requiring the approval of the county commissioners for each separate item of the school budget. Hampton v. Board of Education, 195 N. C. 213, 141 S. E. 744.

§ 115-120. How teachers shall be paid.—When a teacher is properly elected and the contract has been properly signed and deposited as required by law, vouchers shall be written each school month by the superintendent, signed in accordance with law, and delivered to teachers, principals, and other employees. It shall be the duty of the board of education or the board of trustees to provide the funds for the prompt payment of teachers' salaries.

In all union schools the principal of the school may present monthly pay rolls in duplicate of all teachers, signed by two members of the committee. The superintendent may use this pay roll as his authority for issuing vouchers for the salary of each teacher: Provided, the county superintendent shall keep in his office a duplicate of the pay roll approved by him. (1923, c. 136, s. 112; C. S. 5517.)

Approval of Vouchers.—Mandamus is the proper action to compel a superintendent to approve a teacher's voucher. The claim is not a money demand. If there are any reasons why the vouchers should not be signed they are matters to be heard by the court, but the signing by the superintendent is a mere ministerial duty. Ducker v. Venable, 126 N. C. 447, 35 S. E. 818.

§ 115-121. When superintendent may withhold pay of teachers.—The chairman and secretary of the county board of education, or of the board of trustees of a city administrative unit may refuse to sign the salary voucher for the pay of any teacher, supervisor or principal who delays or refuses to render such reports as are required by law. But whenever the reports are delivered in accordance with law the vouchers shall be signed and the teachers paid. (1923, c. 136, s. 113; C. S. 5518.)

§ 115-122. Schools required to report.—All teachers and principals shall be required to make to the superintendent of the administrative unit in which employed such reports as the governing board of the unit may direct: Provided that when such reports are for the state superintendent of public instruction a copy of each shall be made for the county or city superintendent, as the case may be. All superintendents of county and city administrative units shall make such reports to the State superintendent of public instruction as are required by him. (1923, c. 136, s. 114; C. S. 5519.)

§ 115-123. Reporting defective children.—It shall be the duty of the superintendent to report through proper legal channels the names and addresses of parents, guardians or custodians of deaf, dumb, blind, and feeble-minded children to the principal of the institution provided for each, and upon the failure of the county superintendent to make such reports he shall be fined five dollars for each child of the class mentioned above not so reported. (1923, c. 136, s. 117; C. S. 5520.)

Art. 14. Duty of County Superintendent in Regard to School Funds.

§ 115-124. Duty in preparing school budgets.—The county superintendent shall keep the records of his office in such detail and in such an orderly way that the information for the budgets required by law may be prepared promptly, and he shall see that the budgets are prepared promptly and accurately, and he shall keep the records in his office so that any county official or citizen of the county may, upon request, see what the school in each district is costing, and what the total cost is to the county. It shall be his duty to sign all budgets and to take oath that the information contained therein is correct. (1923, c. 136, s. 118; C. S. 5521.)

Cross Reference.—As to local budgets generally, see § 115-363.

§ 115-125. Duty to keep complete record of finances.—The county superintendent shall keep in his office a complete record of the school finances of the county, what is appropriated to each district, and the division of the funds between the county and the city administrative units, the amount of loans from state and dates of payment, the amount of bond issues in each district, the rate of interest, date of payment, and he shall so keep his records that the school accounts may be audited with the least expense to insure a complete audit in accordance with law, and if he shall fail to keep the records of the acts of the county board of education so that they may be audited in accordance with law, the county board of education may remove him from office. (1923, c. 136, s. 119; C. S. 5522.)

§ 115-126. Record of local taxes.—The county superintendent shall keep in his office a record of all taxing districts in his county, the boundaries of each, the number of taxable polls, and the valuation of the taxable property and the special tax rate voted and levied for schools. On or before September first of each year he shall supply the county treasurer with a complete list of all such districts, and the estimated amount of tax to be collected in each district.

The treasurer shall keep a separate account of each such district, and no part of any funds belonging to one district shall be used for any other district, or for any other purpose than to meet the lawful expenses of such district to which the funds collected belong. And no funds derived from local or special taxes shall be paid out by the treasurer except as provided in § 115-368, and if the treasurer shall fail to perform his duties as outlined in this section, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 120; C. S. 5523.)

§ 115-127. Record of fines, forfeitures, and penalties.—It shall be the duty of the county superintendent to keep a record of all fines, forfeitures and penalties due the school fund, and to this end all county officials that in any way handle such funds shall on demand report the same to the county superintendent; and he shall see that these funds are deposited with the treasurer and placed to the credit of the school fund. (1923, c. 136, s. 121; C. S. 5524.)

§ 115-128. Disbursement of funds.—It is the duty of the county superintendent to approve and sign all vouchers for the disbursement of all district funds except the funds belonging to city administrative units. And the treasurer shall honor no voucher that is not first approved and signed by the county superintendent or the secretary of the board of education. And no order shall be signed by the county superintendent or the secretary of the board for more money than is apportioned to and raised by local or special taxes in that district for the fiscal year. Nor shall he endorse the order of any teacher who does not produce a certificate as required by law, nor for more money than the salary schedule in force in the county would entitle the teacher to receive.

It shall be the duty of the county superintendent or the secretary of the board to sign all vouchers issued by order of the county board of education and signed by the chairman of the board, and no voucher shall be paid by the treasurer that is not properly signed. (1923, c. 136, s. 122; C. S. 5525.)

Cross Reference.—As to how school funds shall be paid out, see § 115-368.

When Treasurer's Duty to Honor.—The treasurer of the school fund can not pay out any of the money coming into his hands as such except upon the order of the secretary of the county board of education and approved by the county superintendent. See County Board v. County of Wake, 167 N. C. 114, 116, 83 S. E. 257.

§ 115-129. City superintendent, powers, duties and responsibilities.—All the powers, duties and responsibilities imposed by this subchapter upon the superintendents of county administrative units shall, with respect to city administrative units, be imposed upon, and exercised by, the superintendents of city administrative units, in the same manner and to the same extent, insofar as applicable thereto, as such powers and duties are exercised and performed by superintendents of county administrative units with reference to said county administrative units.

SUBCHAPTER V. SCHOOL COMMITTEES —THEIR DUTIES AND POWERS.

Art. 15. In Non-Local Tax Districts.

§ 115-130. Eligibility.—Each school committeeman shall be a person of intelligence, of good moral character, and of good business qualifications, and known to be in favor of public education.

In all Indian schools authorized by law the committeemen may be selected from Indians residing in the district. (1923, c. 136, s. 125; C. S. 5528.)

Cross Reference.—As to the election of school committeemen, their number, term of office, and certain duties, see § 115-354.

§ 115-131. Oath of office.—Each school committeeman before entering on the duties of office shall take oath for the faithful performance thereof, and this oath may be taken before the county superintendent. (1923, c. 136, s. 126; C. S. 5529.)

§ 115-132. Committeemen cannot teach.—No person while serving as a member of any district committee shall be eligible to be elected as a teacher of any public school, or as a member of the county board of education, and should such person be elected to teach in any public school or private school receiving public funds or as a member of the county board of education before resigning as a member of the district committee, said election is hereby declared null and void. (1923, c. 136, s. 128; C. S. 5531.)

§ 115-133. Organization of committee.—The school committee, at their first meeting after the membership has been completed by the county board of education, shall elect from their number a chairman and secretary, and shall keep a record of their proceedings in a book to be kept for that purpose. The name and address of the chairman and secretary shall be reported to the county superintendent and recorded by him. (1923, c. 136, s. 129; C. S. 5532.)

§ 115-134. How to employ teachers.—The school committee shall meet at a convenient time and place for the purpose of electing teachers and no teacher shall be employed by any committee except at regularly called meetings of such committee. No election of any teacher or assistant teacher shall be deemed valid until such election has been approved by the county superintendent and county board of education, and no contract for teachers' salaries shall be made during any year to extend beyond the term of a majority of the committee, nor for more money than accrues to the credit of the district for the fiscal year during which the contract is made. (1923, c. 136, s. 130; 1939, c. 358, s. 7; C. S. 5533.)

Cross Reference.—As to election of teachers by school committeemen, see also, § 115-354.

Personal Liability of Committeeman.—In Robinson v. Howard, 84 N. C. 152, it was held that a school committeeman was not liable personally on a contract by which he employed a teacher, and that the remedy was by mandamus to compel the payment of the money by the proper officer in the way provided by law. If, though, the act is wrongful and malicious, an action will lie against the officer in his personal capacity to recover damages for the wrong committed by him. Spruill v. Davenport, 178 N. C. 364, 365, 100 S. E. 527.

Evidence.—Under the provisions of this section, refusal of the county superintendent to approve the election of a teacher on the ground that he did not have sufficiently high certificates as a teacher and that his election as a teacher would not be for the best interests of the school will not sustain the finding of the trial judge that the refusal of the county superintendent of schools to approve the election was arbitrary, capricious and without just cause, and a mandamus to cause his approval is improvidently issued by the lower court. Cody v. Barrett, 200 N. C. 43, 156 S. E. 146.

Cited in Hampton v. Board of Education, 195 N. C. 213, 215, 141 S. E. 744.

§ 115-135. Power to contract with private schools.—In any school district where there may be a private school regularly conducted for at least six months in the year, unless it is a sectarian or denominational school, the school committee with the approval of the county superintendent may contract with the teacher of such private school to give instruction to all pupils of the district between the ages of six and twenty-one years in the branches of learning taught in the public schools, as prescribed by law, without charge to pupils and free of tuition. The amount paid such private school for each pupil in the public school branches, based on the average daily attendance, shall not exceed the regular tuition rates in such school for branches of study. (1923, c. 136, s. 135; C. S. 5537.)

§ 115-136. Powers as to school property.—The school committee shall be entrusted with the care and custody of all schoolhouses, schoolhouse sites, grounds, books, apparatus, or other school property in the district, with full power to control same, as they may deem best for the interest of the public schools and the cause of education, not in conflict with the rules and regulations governing school property adopted by the county board of education: Provided, if the committee is unable or shall fail to take due care of the schoolhouse and to protect all property belonging to it, the county board of education may designate some responsible citizen of the district to have special charge of the property during vacation. (1923, c. 136, s. 136; C. S. 5538.)

Cited in Wiggins v. Board of Education, 198 N. C. 301, 302, 151 S. E. 730.

§ 115-137. Reports to board.—The school committee shall make such reports to the county board of education as the board may deem necessary. (1923, c. 136, s. 138; C. S. 5540.)

§ 115-138. Superintendent and committee to keep records of receipts, expenditures and contracts.—The county superintendent shall keep by districts an itemized statement of all moneys apportioned to such district, the amount received and expended by each committee for each school, and a copy of all contracts made by them with teachers. It is the duty also of the committee to keep up with the funds of the district. It should know what the budget for the district contains, in order to know how much money is available and how it is spent. It is their duty to know the salary schedule and the limitations placed on committeemen in making contracts with teachers. It is illegal for committeemen to employ teachers at a salary higher than that contained in the authorized salary schedule; therefore, when the school budget is submitted it is the duty of each committeeman to examine it carefully to see how much money is allowed for teachers' salaries, and how many and what grade of teachers may be employed with the money allowed in the budget. (1923, c. 136, s. 139; C. S. 5541.)

Cross References.—As to local budgets, see § 115-363. As to state standard salary schedule, see § 115-359.

§ 115-139. Obeying orders of sanitary committee or board of health.—It shall be the duty of teachers, principals, superintendent, committee, and all other governing boards having authority over the maintenance, support, and conduct of a public school to obey the rules and regulations of the sanitary committee or board of health for the protection of health in the district. (1923, c. 136, s. 143; C. S. 5545.)

SUBCHAPTER VI. TEACHERS AND PRINCIPALS.

Art. 16. Their Powers, Duties and Responsibilities.

§ 115-140. Health certificate required for teachers.—Any person serving as county superintendent, city superintendent, teacher, janitor, or any employee in the public schools of the state shall file in the office of superintendent each year, before assuming his or her duties, a certificate from the county physician, or other reputable physician of the county, certifying that the said person has not an open or active infectious state of tuberculosis, or any other contagious disease.

The county physician shall make the aforesaid certificate on a form supplied by the state superintendent of public instruction, and without charge to the person applying for the certification. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine or imprisonment in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 159; C. S. 5556.)

§ 115-141. How to apply for a position.—It is the duty of teachers, in making application for a position to teach, first to file the application with the superintendent, stating the kind and the number of the certificate held, when the certificate expires, experience in teaching, the position last held, and a statement that the applicant has no contagious disease. The application should also state that the applicant, if elected, will not break the contract, without the approval of the superintendent who approved the contract, without giving at least thirty days notice, and that he or she will observe the rules and regulations adopted by the board of trustees or the county board of education under whose jurisdiction he or she is employed to teach. (1923, c. 136, s. 160; C. S. 5557.)

§ 115-142. When teacher may annul contract.—The teacher may, after entering into a written contract, annul the contract by giving the superintendent a written notice of at least thirty days, and the superintendent shall pay for the full time the teacher has taught: Provided, the teacher has taught as much as twenty days. But if the teacher breaks the contract without giving thirty days notice, it shall be the duty of the superintendent to report the name of the teacher to the state superintendent, and the certificate held may either be revoked or reduced to the next lower grade. And no other superintendent shall employ or recommend for employment in any year a teacher who has broken his or her contract for that year; and no teacher who has willfully broken his or her written contract can again legally be elected for that year. This section shall also apply alike to principals and supervisors. (1923, c. 136, ss. 161, 162; C. S. 5558.)

Cross Reference.—As to penalty for failing to give proper notice of resignation, see also, § 115-359.

§ 115-143. How teachers may be dismissed.—The school committee of a district or board of trustees of a city administrative unit, with the approval of the superintendent, may dismiss a teacher for immoral or disreputable conduct in the community or for failure to comply with the provisions of the contract. The superintendent, with the approval of the committee or the board of trustees, has authority, and it is his duty, to dismiss a teacher who may prove himself or herself incompetent or may willfully refuse to discharge the duties of a public school teacher, or who may be persistently neglectful of such duties.

But no teacher shall be dismissed until charges have been filed in writing in the office of the superintendent. The superintendent shall give the teacher at least five days notice, in which time he or she shall have the opportunity to appear before the committee or board of trustees of the district or unit in which the teacher is teaching. And after a full and fair hearing, the action of the committee or board of trustees shall be final: Provided, the teacher shall be given the right to appeal to the county board of education or to the courts.

Every teacher dismissed for cause shall be reported by the superintendent to the state superintendent, who shall have authority to revoke the certificate and debar the teacher from teaching in any other county. (1923, c. 136, ss. 131, 163; C. S. 5534, 5560.)

Liability of Committee.—It is the duty of the committee of a school district, under the statute, to dismiss a teacher of the public schools therein who has not been legally appointed, according to the statute, and no damages are recoverable against the individual members when in the exercise of this rightful power they act accordingly, whether their motives were bad or otherwise. Spruill v. Davenport, 178 N. C. 364, 100 S. E. 527.

§ 115-144. Duties of teachers.—It shall be the duty of all teachers to maintain good order and discipline in their respective schools; to encourage temperance, morality, industry, and neatness; to promote the health of all pupils, especially of the children in the first three grades, by providing frequent periods of recreation, to supervise the play activities during recess, and to encourage wholesome exercise for all children; to teach as thoroughly as they are able all branches which they are required to teach; to provide for singing in the school, and so far as possible to give instruction in public school music; to ascertain the cause for non-attendance of pupils, and report all violators of the compulsory school law to the attendance officer in accordance with the rule governing attendance and reports; and to enter actively into the plans of the superintendent for the professional growth of the teachers. (1923, c. 136, s. 165; C. S. 5562.)

§ 115-145. Power to suspend or dismiss pupils.—A teacher in a school having no principal, or the principal of a school, shall have authority to suspend any pupil who willfully and persistently violates the rules of the school or who may be guilty of immoral or disreputable conduct, or who may be a menace to the school. But every suspension for cause shall be reported at once to the attendance officer, who shall investigate the cause and shall deal with the offender in accordance with rules governing the attendance of children in school. (1923, c. 136, s. 166; C. S. 5563.)

§ 115-146. Duty to make reports to superintendent.—Every teacher or principal of a school under the jurisdiction of the county board receiving aid from the public school fund shall be required to make such reports as are required by the county board of education, and the county superintendent shall not approve the voucher for the pay of teachers at the end of each month until the monthly reports required are made, and at the end of the year until the final reports are made: Provided, the county superintendent

This shall be a separate item in the budget, and the commissioners shall levy annually a tax sufficient, clear of all fees, commissions, rebates, delinquents and the cost of collection, to repay the same; and if the taxes are not collected when the repayments fall due, the commissioners shall borrow the money and place the amount to the credit of the county board of education.

The county board of education, with the approval of the board of commissioners may include in the debt service fund in the budget the indebtedness of all districts, including city administrative units, and districts formerly known as special charter districts, lawfully incurred in erecting and equipping school buildings necessary for the school term, and when such indebtedness is taken over for payment by the county as a whole and the local districts are relieved of their annual payments, then the county funds provided for such purpose shall be deducted from the debt service fund prior to the division of this fund among the schools of the county as provided in this section. § 115-159. Commissioners to levy tax.—The commissioners are required to levy annually a tax sufficient to repay interest and installments on all loans from the state, and interest and installments on bonds and notes falling due according to the debt service fund as set forth in the approved school budget. And this shall be a separate tax, and, after all interest and installments are paid each year, any balance that may remain shall be accounted for by the treasurer, and it shall be applied the following year to the repayment of interest and installment on loans. But if the amount secured from this tax is not sufficient for these needs it shall be the duty of the commissioners to borrow any amount needed to meet these payments. (1923, c. 136, s. 185; 1927, c. 239, s. 11; C. S. 5606.)

§ 115-160. Procedure in cases of disagreement or refusal of county commissioners to levy school taxes.—In the event of a disagreement between the county board of education and the board of county commissioners as to the amount of the current expense fund, the capital outlay fund, and the debt service fund, the county board of education and the board of county commissioners shall sit in joint session, and each board shall have one vote on the question of the adoption of these amounts in the budget. A majority of the members of each board shall cast the vote for each board. In the event of a tie, the clerk of the superior court shall act as arbitrator upon the issues arising between said two boards, and shall render his decision thereon within ten days. But either the county board of education or the board of county commissioners shall have the right to appeal to the superior court within thirty days from the date of the decision of the clerk of the superior court, and it shall be the duty of the judge hearing the case on appeal to find the facts as to the amount of the current expense fund, the capital outlay fund, and the debt service fund, which findings shall be conclusive, and shall give judgment requiring the county commissioners to levy the tax which will provide the amount of the current expense fund, the capital outlay fund and the debt service fund, which he finds necessary to maintain the schools in every school district in the county. Any board of county commissioners failing to obey such order and to levy the tax ordered by the court shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of court. In case of an appeal to the superior court, all papers and records relating to the case shall be considered a part of the record for consideration by the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 187; 1925, c. 180, s. 4; 1927, c. 239, ss. 12, 13; 1933, c. 299; C. S. 5608.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment Public Laws 1925, ch. 180, sec. 4, there was included in this section "the operation and equipment fund." This was repealed by Public Laws 1927, ch. 239, sec. 13. By amendment Public Laws 1927, ch. 239, sec. 12, the words "the current expense fund, the capital outlay fund, and the debt service fund," as used replaced the words, "salary fund or the fund necessary to pay interest and installments on bonds, notes and loans."

In General.—This section confers upon the courts duties of a judicial nature, not requiring a trial by jury to determine the disputed matter upon an issue of fact, and the provisions of this section are not void as being repugnant to Art. I, sec. 19, of the State Constitution. Board v. Board, 174 N. C. 469, 93 S. E. 1001, cited and applied. Board v. Board, 182 N. C. 571, 109 S. E. 630; In re Board of Education, 187 N. C. 710, 712, 122 S. E. 766.

Meeting Must Be Held.—Where the commissioners have refused to levy a tax to provide an additional salary for the county superintendent and the meeting called for in this section has not been held nor the clerk called upon to arbitrate the matter it is erroneous to grant a writ of mandamus to the superintendent to compel the commissioners to levy the tax. Rollins v. Rogers, 204 N. C. 308, 168 S. E. 206.

§ 115-161. Commissioners may demand a jury trial.—The county commissioners shall have the right to have the issues tried by a jury, as to the amount of the current expense fund and the capital outlay fund, which jury trial shall be set at the first succeeding term of the superior court, and shall have precedence over all other business of the court: Provided, that if the judge holding the court shall certify to the governor, either before or during such term, that on account of the accumulation of other business, the public interest will be best served by not trying such action at said term, the governor shall immediately call a special term of the superior court for said county, to convene as early as possible, and assign a judge of the superior court or an emergency judge to hold the same, and the said action shall be tried at such term. There shall be submitted to the jury for its determination the issue as to what amount is needed to maintain the schools, and they shall take into consideration the amount needed and the amount available from all sources as provided by law. The final judgment rendered in such action shall be conclusive, and the county commissioners shall forthwith levy taxes in accordance with such judgment; otherwise those who refuse so to do shall be in contempt, and may be punishable accordingly: Provided, that in case of a mistrial or an appeal to the supreme court which would result in a delay beyond a reasonable limit for levying the taxes for the year, the judge shall order the commissioners to levy for the ensuing year a rate sufficient to pay the debt service fund, to produce, together with what may be received from the state public school fund and from other sources, an amount for the current expense fund equal to the amount of this fund for the previous year. (1923, c. 136, s. 188; 1927, c. 239, s. 14; C. S. 5609.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment Public Laws 1927, ch. 239, sec. 14, the words "current expense fund, and the capital outlay fund," as used in the first sentence replaced the words "teachers' salary fund and the operating and equipment fund"; the words "the debt service fund" as used in the proviso at the end of the section replaced the words "interest and installment on notes, loans and bonds"; the words "current expense funds" used in the same proviso replaced the words "teachers' salary fund."

Cross Reference.—As to the duty of the county treasurer to remit school funds monthly to proper administrative units, see § 115-363.

Editor's Note.—The change of the name of the funds was the only change by Public Laws 1927, ch. 239, sec. 15.

§ 115-164. Duty of sheriff or tax collector.—It shall be the duty of the sheriff or the tax collector in collecting the taxes of local tax districts to keep the funds of each district separate from all other funds, and when public school funds are deposited with the treasurer, the sheriff or tax collector shall specify which funds belong to local tax districts and to what district the local tax funds belong. (1923, c. 136, s. 148; C. S. 5550.)

§ 115-175. Treasurer of city administrative unit bonded.—The treasurer of every city administrative unit shall be required by the board of trustees of said unit to execute a justified bond, with security, in an amount to be fixed by the board of trustees, not less than one-half the total amount of money received by him or his predecessor during the previous year, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as treasurer of the funds of the unit, and for the payment over to his successor in office of any balance of school moneys that may be in his hands unexpended. This bond shall be a separate bond, not including liabilities for other funds, and shall be approved by the board of trustees of said unit; and that board may from time to time, if necessary, require him to strengthen his bond. (1923, c. 136, s. 206; C. S. 5626.)

§ 115-176. Speculating in teachers' salary vouchers.—If any clerk, sheriff, register of deeds, county treasurer or other county, city, town or state officer shall engage in the purchasing of any teacher's salary voucher at a less price than its full and true value or at any rate of discount thereon, or be interested in any speculation thereon, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, and shall be liable to removal from office at the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 208; C. S. 5627.)

Art. 21. Fines, Forfeitures and Penalties

§ 115-177. Constitutional provisions.—All moneys, stocks, bonds and other property belonging to a county school fund, also the net proceeds from the sale of estrays, also the clear proceeds of all penalties and forfeitures and of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal or military laws of the state, and all moneys which shall be paid by persons as an equivalent for exemption from military duty, shall belong to and remain in the several counties and shall be faithfully appropriated for establishing and maintaining free public schools in the several counties in this state. (Sec. 5, Art. IX, Constitution.) (1923, c. 136, s. 209; C. S. 5628.)

Cross Reference.—As to duty of county superintendent to see that funds are properly accounted for, see § 115-382.

Cited in State v. Welborn, 205 N. C. 601, 602, 172 S. E. 174.

§ 115-178. Statement of fines kept by clerk.—It is the duty of the clerks of the several courts and of the several justices of the peace to enter in a book, to be supplied by the county, an itemized detailed statement of the respective amounts received by them in the way of fines, penalties, amercements and forfeitures, and said books shall at all times be open to the inspection of the public. (1923, c. 136, s. 210; C. S. 5629.)

§ 115-179. Fines paid to treasurer for schools; annual report.—All fines, forfeitures, penalties and amercements collected in the several counties by any court or otherwise shall be accounted for and paid to the county treasurer by the officials receiving them within sixty days after receipt thereof, and shall be faithfully appropriated by the county board of education for the establishment and maintenance of free public schools; and the amounts collected in each county shall be annually reported to the superintendent of public instruction on or before the first Monday in January, by the board of commissioners. (1923, c. 136, s. 211; C. S. 5630.)

§ 115-180. Failure to file report of fines.—If any officer who is by law required to file any report or statement of fines or penalties with the county board of education shall fail so to do at or before the time fixed by law for the filing of such report, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1923, c. 136, s. 212; C. S. 5631.)

§ 115-181. Fines and penalties to be paid to school fund.—Whenever any officer, including justices of the peace, receives or collects a fine, penalty, or forfeiture in behalf of the state he shall, within thirty days after such reception or collection, pay over and account for the same to the treasurer of the county board of education for the benefit of the fund for maintaining the free public schools in such county. Whenever any fine or penalty is imposed by any officer the said fine or penalty shall be at once docketed, and shall not be remitted except for good and sufficient reasons, which shall be stated on the docket. (1923, c. 136, s. 213; C. S. 5632.)

§ 115-182. Misappropriation of fines a misdemeanor.—Any officer, including justices of the peace, violating § 115-181, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 136, s. 214; C. S. 5633.)

§ 115-183. Unclaimed fees of jurors and witnesses paid to school fund.—All moneys due jurors and witnesses which remain in the hands of any clerk of the superior court on the first day of January after the publication of a third annual report of the said clerk showing the same, shall be turned over to the county treasurer for the use of the school fund of the county, and it is the duty of said clerk to indicate in his report any moneys so held by him for a period embracing the two annual reports. (1923, c. 136, s. 215; C. S. 5634.)

§ 115-184. Use by public until claimed.—The money aforesaid, while held by the clerks, shall be paid, on application, to the person entitled thereto; and after it ceases to be so held, it may be used as other revenue, subject, however, to the claim of the rightful owner. (1923, c. 136, s. 216; C. S. 5635.)

SUBCHAPTER VIII. LOCAL TAX ELECTIONS FOR SCHOOLS.

Art. 22. School Districts Authorized to Vote Local Taxes.

§ 115-185. Purpose of re-enactment.—The re-enactment in this code of the several sections in this article shall not have the effect of re-enacting any of said sections which have been repealed by the School Machinery Acts of 1933, 1935, 1937 and 1939, and said sections are re-enacted in this code only to the extent and for the purposes required by the several School Machinery Acts above referred to.

§ 115-186. How elections may be called.—The citizens of any duly created school district are hereby authorized to petition for a local tax election for schools, as follows: A written petition signed by twenty-five qualified voters who have resided at least twelve months within the district, or if fewer than seventy-five of such qualified voters, reside in the territory, then by one-third of such qualified voters, shall be presented to the county board of education asking for an election in the district to ascertain whether there shall be levied in said district a local annual tax not to exceed fifty cents (50c) on the one hundred dollar ($100.00) valuation of all property, real and personal, to supplement the funds for the nine months public school term for that district: Provided, that the petition for an election to be held in any city administrative unit shall be presented to the board of trustees of said district. (1923, c. 136, s. 219; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5639.)

Cross References.—See note to § 115-1. As to local supplements generally, see § 115-361. See also, § 115-202. As to constitutional provision requiring election, see Art. VII, § 7.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted the word "nine" for the word "eight" in line sixteen.

In General.—For an able discussion of this subject by Mr. Justice Hoke in which the various statutes pertaining to the subject are considered, see Sparkman v. Board, 187 N. C. 241, 121 S. E. 531.

Approval of Voters of Each District Unnecessary.—Sparkman v. Board, 187 N. C. 241, 121 S. E. 531.

Who May Sign Petition.—The prior law in regard to authorizing local taxes was that the petition be signed by freeholders. In Gill v. Board, 160 N. C. 176, 76 S. E. 203 it was held that women were not freeholders. The Public Laws 1915, c. 22, section 1746 changed this rule and made it possible for women to sign petitions as required in forming tax districts. See Chitty v. Parker, 172 N. C. 126, 90 S. E. 17.

Cited in Platt v. Board, 187 N. C. 125, 133, 121 S. E. 190; Forester v. North Wilkesboro, 206 N. C. 347, 350, 174 S. E. 112.

§ 115-187. The board to consider petition.—The county board of education or the board of trustees, as the case may be, shall receive the petition and give it due consideration. If the board shall approve the petition for an election, it shall be endorsed by the chairman and secretary of the board and a record of the endorsement shall be made in the minutes of the board. The petition shall then be presented to the board of county commissioners or the governing body authorized to order the election, and it shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners or said governing body to call an election and fix the date for the same: Provided, the county board of education or board of trustees, as the case may be, may, for any good and sufficient reason, withdraw the petition before the close of the registration books, and if the petition be so withdrawn, the election shall not be held. In the case of a city administrative unit coterminous with or situated entirely within an incorporated city or town, said petition shall be presented to the governing body of said city or town, and the election shall be ordered by said governing body. (1923, c. 136, s. 220; 1925, c. 143, s. 1; C. S. 5640.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment Public Laws 1925 the last sentence to this section was added.

The duty of the board of education under this section in connection with section 115-191 is discretionary and can not be enforced by mandamus. Board v. Board, 189 N. C. 650, 127 S. E. 692.

Same—Duty of Commissioners Ministerial.—But this section does not rest in the county commissioners discretion to order or not order an election. After the board of education has approved the petition, the duty of the commissioners is ministerial only and may be enforced by mandamus. Board v. Board, 189 N. C. 650, 127 S. E. 692.

§ 115-188. Rules governing election for local taxes.—In all elections held under this law the board of county commissioners, or the body authorized to order said election, shall designate the polling place or places, appoint the registrars and judges, and canvass and judicially determine the results of said election when the returns have been filed with them by the officers holding the election, and shall record such determination on their records. The notice of the election shall be given by publication at least three times in some newspaper published or circulated in the territory. It shall set forth the boundary lines of the district, the maximum rate of tax to be levied, which shall not exceed fifty cents (50c) on the one hundred dollar ($100.00) valuation of property, real and personal, and the purpose of the tax. The first publication shall be at least thirty days before the election. A new registration of the qualified voters of the territory shall be ordered, and notice of said new registration shall be deemed to be sufficiently given by publication once in some newspaper published or circulating in said district at least twenty days before the close of the registration books. This notice of registration may be considered one of the three notices required of the election. Such published notice of registration shall state the days on which the books will be open for registration of voters and the place or places at which they will be open on Saturdays. The books of such new registration shall close on the second Saturday before the election. The Saturday before the election shall be challenge day, and except as otherwise provided in this article such election shall be held in accordance with the law governing general elections. The ballots to be used in said election shall have written or printed thereon the words "For local tax," and "Against local tax." All other details of said election shall be fixed by the board or other governing body ordering the election, and the expenses of holding and conducting the election in all districts other than in city administrative units shall be provided by the county board of education out of the current expense fund of the county. But the expenses of conducting the election in all city administrative units shall be paid by the board of trustees of said unit out of the local tax funds of the unit. (1923, c. 136, s. 221; C. S. 5641.)

Cross Reference.—As to time registration books must be kept open see section 163-31.

Notice in Newspaper.—It is not necessary that the newspaper, in which the notice of election is given be published in the district, it is sufficient if the paper is circulated in the district where the election is to be held. See Miller v. Duke School Dist., 184 N. C. 197, 113 S. E. 786.

And failure to give the notice has been held immaterial where such failure did not affect the result of the election. See Younts v. Com., 151 N. C. 582, 66 S. E. 575; Gregg v. Board, 162 N. C. 479, 78 S. E. 301.

What Constitutes a Majority Vote.—The requirement that the measure shall be carried by a "majority of the qualified voters," by correct interpretation, signifies a majority of the qualified voters of the district appearing upon the registration book, and not a majority of those voting in the election. Williams v. County Com., 176 N. C. 554, 97 S. E. 478.

Cited in Young v. Commissioners, 194 N. C. 771, 774, 140 S. E. 740.

§ 115-189. Levy and collection of taxes.—In case a majority of the qualified voters in the district or unit referred to above shall vote at an election in favor of the tax, it shall be annually levied and collected in the manner prescribed for the levy and collection of other taxes, and the maximum rate so voted shall be levied, unless the county board of education or board of trustees shall request a levy at a lower rate, in which event the rate requested, shall be levied and collected; and the superintendent of schools and the officer in charge of tax records shall keep records in their respective offices showing the valuation of the property, real and personal, in the district or unit, the rate of tax authorized annually to be levied, and the amount annually derived from the local tax, and it shall be illegal for any part of the local tax fund to be used for any purpose other than to supplement the funds for a nine months school term in the district or unit. (1923, c. 136, s. 222; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5642.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted the words "a nine" for the words "an eight" in the next to last line.

§ 115-190. Increasing levy in districts having less than fifty cent rate.—Authority is hereby given any local tax district or special bond tax unit having voted a maximum rate less than fifty cents (50c) to increase the levy to a maximum of fifty cents (50c) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of property, real and personal. Such increase shall be made after an election has been held as provided for in this article. (1923, c. 136, s. 223; 1925, c. 143, s. 2; C. S. 5643.)

§ 115-191. Frequency of election.—In the event that a majority of the qualified voters of a district or unit do not at the election cast their votes for the local tax, another election or elections under the provisions of this article may be held after the lapse of six months in the same district or unit. (1923, c. 136, s. 225; C. S. 5645.)

§ 115-192. Enlargement of local tax districts.

—Upon a written petition of a majority of the governing board of any district, the county board of education, after approving the petition, shall present the same to the board of county commissioners and ask for an election on the question of the enlargement of the boundary lines of any such district so as to include any contiguous territory, and an election in such new territory may be ordered and held under rules governing elections for local taxes as provided in this article: Provided, the local tax rate specified in the petition and submitted to the qualified voters shall be a local tax of the same rate as that voted in the said district to which the territory is to be added. If a majority of the qualified voters in such new territory shall vote in favor of such tax, the new territory shall become a part of said district, and the term "local tax of the same rate" herein used shall include, in addition to the usual local tax, any tax levied to meet the interest and sinking fund of any bonds heretofore issued by the district proposed to be enlarged. In case a majority of the qualified voters at the election shall vote in favor of the tax, the district shall be deemed enlarged as so proposed. (1923, c. 136, s. 226; 1925, c. 151; 1927, c. 88; C. S. 5646.)

Cross References.—As to consolidation of school districts, see §§ 115-99, 115-352. As to what constitutes a majority vote, see note to § 115-188. See also, § 115-361 which makes a similar provision for the enlargement of districts.

Editor's Note.—The cases which follow in this note are in the majority of instances constructions of section 5530 of the Consolidated Statutes of 1919 (renumbered § 5646 in Vol. 3 of the Consolidated Statutes published in 1924). The School Machinery Act, codified as G. S. §§ 115-347 to 115-382, changed in many particulars the school system of North Carolina and this should be borne in mind when reading these cases.

In General.—Laws of 1921, ch. 179, providing for the consolidation and adjustment of rates of taxation and authorizing the voters of a district so consolidated to vote special tax rates for the schools in the entire district, etc., should be construed to harmonize with C. S., 5530, (this section) and the provisions of the former statute do not affect or impair the requirement of the latter one, that for an extension of the boundaries of an existing local school tax district or districts, the approval of the tax proposed must first be given by the voters in the proposed new and contiguous territory. Hicks v. Board, 183 N. C. 394, 112 S. E. 1.

Construed with Art. 23.—C. S. 5526, (incorporated in Art. 23, providing for the creation of new local school tax districts, and section 5530 (this section) requiring the question of an enlargement of an existing special school tax district to be submitted separately to the voters of the proposed new territory are to be construed in pari materia, and the provisions of each are held reconcilable with those of the other. Hicks v. Board, 183 N. C. 394, 112 S. E. 1.

C. S. 5526 (incorporated in Art. 23.) applies primarily to the consolidation of nonspecial-school-tax territory; and in order to consolidate existent school-tax districts having rates, by extending the limits of some of them to include others, section 5530 (this section) requires that a majority of the committee or trustees of either of these districts sought to be enlarged file a written request with the county board of education to thus enlarge its boundaries, and an election must be held before consolidation, and the other material requirements of the statute complied with; and where this course has not been followed, the tax attempted to be levied in the consolidated district, and bonds ordered to be issued in pursuance thereof, are invalid. Jones v. Board, 187 N. C. 557, 122 S. E. 290. Attention is directed to the fact that the majority now required is not of the "committee or trustees" but of the "governing board." In other respects this decision seems to be still applicable.—Ed. Note.

C. S. 5526 (incorporated in Art. 23.) providing for the creation of a special school tax district by the county board of education without regard to township lines, upon an election to be held within the proposed district, after notice, etc., refers to territory having no special school tax and has no application to the enlargement of such district under the provisions of this section, wherein one or more school tax districts having already been established and there is other contiguous territory sought to be included which has not voted any special school tax. Hicks v. Board, 183 N. C. 394, 112 S. E. 1.

Where special school tax districts have been consolidated with non-school tax territory, it is, in effect, an enlargement of the special tax territory, and coming within the provisions of C. S., 5530 (this section) it is required for the validity of a special tax to be levied for school purposes in the enlarged territory that it be approved by the voters outside of the special tax districts included in the consolidated territory, at an election to be held according to law. Barnes v. Board, 184 N. C. 325, 114 S. E. 398.

Where special school tax districts and nonspecial school tax districts have been consolidated, and the district as a whole has voted, but separately as to each district, approving the question of special taxation for school purposes, and the election as to each, inclusive of the nontax territory, is upheld, counting the votes separately therein, the result of the election will be declared valid. Board v. Bray Bros. Co, 184 N. C. 484, 115 S. E. 47.

Collateral Attack on Special Tax.—Where nonspecial school tax territory is included in a consolidated school tax district with a school tax district that has theretofore voted and continued to levy a special tax, the question of the validity of the tax so levied by the existing district cannot be attacked collaterally in a suit to enjoin the levy of a special tax on the entire consolidated district, later attempted to be formed. Barnes v. Board, 184 N. C. 325, 114 S. E. 398.

Same—Separate Vote in Nontax Territory.—Where one or more special tax districts have been established under the provisions of our statutes applicable, such districts may not extend their territory to include other districts and adjacent territory that have not voted a special tax, without the question having first been submitted to and approved separately by the voters of the outlying territory, and giving them the right to independently determine for themselves whether they shall be specially taxed, in the amount proposed. Hicks v. Board, 183 N. C. 394, 112 S. E. 1. See Plott v. Board, 187 N. C. 125, 132, 121 S. E. 190.

The uniting of an existing special school tax district with other districts not having such tax is in effect the enlarging of the boundaries of the tax district to take in outlying nontax territory under the provisions of C. S., 5530 (this section), and it is only required for the establishment of the enlarged district and the levying of a special tax therein that the district to be enlarged and the outlying territory should each cast a majority vote in favor of the propositions submitted to them, and it is unnecessary that each of the nontax districts included in the enlarged territory should have separately cast a majority vote in favor of the special tax proposed, nor is it material that one of them was separated from the others by the original special tax district so enlarged. Vann v. Board, 185 N. C. 168, 116 S. E. 421.

The authority given the county board of education to re-district the entire county or part thereof, and to consolidate school districts under a uniform rate of taxation not exceeding the lowest in any one district, meets the requirements of our Constitution, Art. VII, sec. 7, but to the extent it permits consolidation of local school tax districts with adjacent territory or local schools that have never voted any tax, the provisions of C. S., 5530 (this section) must apply so as to permit those living in such proposed new territory to vote separately upon the question of taxing themselves for the purpose. Perry v. Commissioners, 183 N. C. 387, 112 S. E. 6.

The combination or consolidation of local school tax districts with territory that has not voted a special tax for the purposes of schools must fall within the provisions of C. S., 5530, (this section) whereby the proposed new territory is required to vote separately upon the question of taxation, in conformity with our Constitution, Art. VII, § 7, Perry v. Commissioners, 183 N. C. 387, 112 S. E. 6.

A district may be enlarged and a taxing district established therein on petition of the governing board of the principal district, and on taking the vote of the outside territory to be added, as indicated in this section. Blue v. Board, 187 N. C. 431, 434, 122 S. E. 19.

Enlargement without Required Vote.—When a school district authorizes a local tax and later enlarges the district without the election required being held in the new territory, and a tax is levied for four years without objections from the taxpayers, although the annexation was unconstitutional the taxpayers will be estopped to deny the validity of the annexation. Carr v. Little, 188 N. C. 100, 123 S. E. 625.

§ 115-193. Abolition of district upon election.—Upon petition of one-half of the qualified voters residing in any local tax district established under this article, the same shall be indorsed and approved by the county board of education, and the board of county commissioners shall order another election in the district for submitting the question of revoking the tax and abolishing the district, to be held under the provisions prescribed in this act for holding other elections. It shall be the duty of the board of education to indorse the petition when presented, containing the proper number of names of qualified voters, and this provision is made mandatory, and the board is allowed no discretion to refuse to indorse the same when so presented. If at the election a majority of the qualified voters in the district shall vote "Against Local Tax," the tax shall be deemed revoked and shall not be levied, and the district shall be discontinued: Provided, that in Alexander, Anson, Beaufort, Buncombe, Carteret, Catawba, Chatham, Chowan, Cleveland, Craven, Currituck, Davidson, Duplin, Franklin, Gates, Greene, Henderson, Hoke, Hyde, Iredell, Jackson, Johnston, Lenoir, Martin, Mecklenburg, Moore, Nash, Onslow, Pamlico, Pitt, Randolph, Richmond, Robeson, Rockingham, Transylvania, Vance, Wake, Warren and Wilkes counties, petition of twenty-five per cent (25%) of the number of registered voters in the election creating said special tax district, said petition to be signed by qualified voters residing in such special tax district, shall be sufficient: Provided, further, that in said counties, this section shall not apply to that part of such tax, if any, in said district as may be necessary to pay the interest on or amortization of any bonded or other indebtedness, incurred in consequence of the voting of said special tax district but to that extent, and to that extent only, shall said special tax district be maintained. (1923, c. 136, s. 227; 1931, c. 372; C. S. 5647.)

Editor's Note.—It was the rule prior to this section that the approval of the board of education was necessary before a vote to abolish the district could be had, and the exercise of the power to approve was discretionary, there being no way to force the approval. Key v. Board, 170 N. C. 123, 86 S. E. 1002. By the express terms of the section now approval is mandatory.

The Act of 1931 added the provisos to this section.

In General.—Under the provisions of § 115-192 a local tax school district may be abolished by the act of creating a new one of which it is a component part, while this section is restricted simply and singly to the abolition of an existing district, and so construed, it was held that these sections are in harmony with each other. Hicks v. Board, 183 N. C. 394, 112 S. E. 1.

Abolition Unnecessary to Valid Consolidation.—Where, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 136, Laws of 1923, an existent special charter tax district has been enlarged to take in added and adjoining territory, it is not required that such district should have first been abolished to make the consolidation valid according to sections 115-193, 115-194, the requirements of these sections being intended to provide for the abolition of local-tax districts when that was the single question presented. Blue v. Board, 187 N. C. 431, 122 S. E. 19.

Effect of Abolition on Taxes Already Levied.—Where a school district has been established under the provisions of the Revisal, sec. 4115, and in the exercise of the powers therein conferred have annually levied a tax for school purposes, and, accordingly, a tax was levied for the current year, but subsequently and in pursuance of chapter 135, Laws 1911, an election was ordered on the question of revoking the special tax, which was held and carried in favor of the repeal: Held, the repeal of the former tax was prospective in its operation, and especially when the authorities had theretofore contracted with teachers and for other necessary expenses to carry on the school work authorized by the former act. Mann v. Allen, 171 N. C. 219, 88 S. E. 235.

Cited in Young v. Commissioners, 194 N. C. 771, 774, 140 S. E. 740.

§ 115-194. Local tax district in debt may not be abolished.—The provisions of this article as to abolishing local tax districts shall not apply when such local tax district is in debt in any sum whatever. (1923, c. 136, s. 228; C. S. 5648.)

§ 115-195. Election for abolition not oftener than once a year.—No election for revoking a local tax in any local tax district shall be ordered and held in the district within less than one year from the date of the election at which the tax was voted and the district established, nor at any time within less than one year after the date of the last election on the question of revoking the tax in the district; and no petition revoking such tax shall be approved by the county board of education oftener than once a year: Provided, this section shall not apply to any indirect abolition or reduction of taxes as may be elsewhere provided. (1923, c. 136, s. 229; C. S. 5649.)

In General.—This section requiring that "no election for revoking a special [now local] tax in any special [now local] tax district shall be ordered and held," within less than two [now one] years from the date at which the tax was voted and the district established, "nor at any time within less than two [now one] years after the date of the last election on the question [of revoking the tax] in the district," invalidates any election on the question of taxation held within two years [now one] after the last election, the second proposition being independent from the first as to "revoking" a special tax in the district, otherwise the second provision would be identical with the first, and meaningless. Weesner v. Davidson County, 182 N. C. 604, 109 S. E. 863. The insertions in brackets by the editor indicate the changes in this section effected by the Laws of 1923.—Ed. Note.

Computing the Time.—Computing the two [now one] years period in which an election may be had with regard to taxation in a special [now local] school district under the provisions of this section, the time should be computed from the last valid election on the subject. Weesner v. Davidson County, 182 N. C. 604, 109 S. E. 863. Cited and approved in Adcock v. Fuquay Springs, 194 N. C. 423, 140 S. E. 24.

§ 115-196. Enlarging boundaries of district within incorporated city or town.—The boundaries of a district situated entirely within the corporate limits of a city or town, but not coterminous with such city or town, may be enlarged so as to make the district coterminous with such city or town either in the manner prescribed by this section or in the manner prescribed by § 115-192. Provided, however, that no district shall be enlarged under this section if the new territory necessary to be added to such district, in order to make it coterminous with such city or town, has any bonded debt incurred for school purposes, other than debt payable by taxation of all taxable property in such district and such new territory. In cases where the local annual tax voted to supplement the funds of the nine months public school term is of the same rate in such district and in the new territory necessary to be added to such district in order to make the district coterminous with such city or town, the county board of education shall have power to enlarge the boundaries of the district as aforesaid. In cases where such tax rates are not the same, the boundaries of the district shall become so enlarged upon the adoption of a proposition for such enlargement by a majority of the qualified voters of such new territory. The governing body of such city or town may at any time, upon petition of the board of education or other governing body of such district, or upon its own initiative if the governing body of the city or town is also the governing body of the district, submit the question of enlarging the district as aforesaid to the qualified voters of such new territory proposed to be added to such district at any general or municipal election or at a special election called for said purpose. Such an election may be ordered and held and a new registration for said election provided under the rules governing elections for local taxes as provided under the article, except that the election and registration shall be ordered by and held under the supervision of and the result of the election determined by the governing body of such city or town. The ballots to be used in said election shall have printed or written thereon the words: "For the enlargement of . . . school district, pursuant to section two hundred and thirty of chapter one hundred and thirty-six of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, as amended," and "Against the enlargement of . . . school district, pursuant to section two hundred and thirty of chapter one hundred and thirty-six of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, as amended." If a majority of the qualified voters of such new territory proposed to be added to such district shall vote in favor of such enlargement, said district shall thereupon become coterminous with said city or town, and there shall be levied annually in such new territory all taxes previously voted in said district for the purpose of supplementing the funds for the nine months public school term for said district and for the purpose of paying the principal or interest of any bonds or other indebtedness previously issued or incurred by said district; and a vote in favor of such enlargement shall be deemed and held to be a vote in favor of the levying of such taxes. The validity of the said election and of the registration for said election and of the correctness of the determination of the result of said election shall not be open to question except in an action or proceeding commenced within thirty days after the determination of the result of said election. At the same time that said election is held, it shall be lawful to hold an election in the entire territory of said city or town on the question of issuing bonds of said city or town or of said school district as so enlarged, for school purposes, and levying sufficient tax for the payment of said bonds, or on the question of levying a local annual tax on all taxable property in said city or town or in said school district as so enlarged, to supplement the funds for the nine months public school term for said district, in addition to taxes for the payment of bonds, in the same manner that would be lawful if said district had been so enlarged prior to the submission of said questions. One registration may be provided for all of said simultaneous elections. (1923, c. 136, s. 230; 1925, c. 143, s. 3; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5650.)

Editor's Note. — By Public Laws 1925 this section was amended and re-enacted. Prior to this time the section provided that school districts situated within and coterminous with the boundary line of a town or city which after the district was created was not coterminous with such city or town because of change of boundaries, might be made coterminous, and the board of education had power to consolidate the newly incorporated territory with the school district provided the tax rate was the same.

The 1943 amendment changed the term from eight to nine months.

§ 115-197. Local tax districts from portions of contiguous counties.—a. Local tax districts may be formed as provided in this section out of contiguous portions of two or more counties.

The petition for such a district must be initiated as petitions for local tax elections are initiated under the provisions of this article, must be endorsed by the county boards of education of such contiguous counties and each county board of education shall certify to the board of county commissioners of its county that the metes and bounds of the proposed joint local tax district are in accordance with and are an integral part of the lawfully adopted plan of organization in so far as they pertain to said county.

The board of commissioners of each county, in compliance with the provisions of this article relating to the conduct of local tax elections, shall then call and hold an election in that portion of the proposed district lying in its county. Election returns shall be made from each portion of the proposed district to the board of commissioners ordering the election in that portion and the returns canvassed and recorded as required in this article for local tax districts.

b. In case the election carries in each portion of the proposed district, the several county boards of education concerned shall each pass a formal order consolidating the territory into one joint local tax district; which shall be and become a body corporate by the name and style of '..... Joint Local Tax School District of Counties.' The county board of education having the largest school census and the largest area in the part of the joint local tax districts lying in its county shall determine the location of the schoolhouse; but if the largest census and area do not both lie in the same county, then the county boards shall jointly select the site for the building, and in case of a disagreement they shall submit the question to the board of arbitration, consisting of three members, one member to be named by each board of education if three counties are concerned, or if there are but two counties, then each board shall choose one member and the two so named shall select the third member. The decision of the board of arbitration shall be binding upon all county boards of education concerned.

c. The school committee shall consist of five members, three of whom shall be appointed by the board of education of the county in which the building is to be situated and two to be appointed by the other county or counties, but the terms of office shall be so arranged that not more than two members will retire in any one year. The committee shall officially exercise such corporate powers as are conferred in this section. This said committee shall have all the powers and duties of committee of local tax districts, and in addition thereto it shall adopt a corporate seal and have the power to sue and be sued. The committee shall have the power to determine the rate of local taxes to be levied in said joint district, not exceeding the rate authorized by the voters of the district, and when the committee shall have so determined the rate of local taxes to be levied in said joint district and shall have certified same to the boards of commissioners of the several counties from which said joint district is created, the said boards of county commissioners, and each of them, shall levy said rate of local taxes within the portion of said joint district lying within their respective counties; and the taxes so levied shall be collected in the several counties as other taxes are collected therein, and shall be paid over by the officers collecting the same to the treasurer or other fiscal agent of the county in which the schoolhouse is located, or is to be located, to be by him placed to the credit of the joint district.

d. The committee shall have as full authority to call and hold elections for the voting of bonds of the district as is conferred upon boards of education and boards of commissioners. In calling the election for a bond issue no petition of the county board of education shall be necessary; but the election shall be called and held by the school committee of the incorporated local tax school district under as ample authority as is conferred upon both county boards of education and boards of commissioners. When bonds of the district have been voted under authority of this section, they shall be issued subject to the limitations of the Local Government Act and County Fiscal Control Act in the corporate name of the district, signed by the chairman and secretary of the school committee, sold by the school committee, and the proceeds thereof deposited with the treasurer of the county board of education of the county in which the school building is, or is to be, located, to be placed to the credit of the joint district, and the taxes for interest and principal shall be levied and collected as provided in subsection c above for the levy and collection of local taxes.

e. The committee shall have the same power to call and hold elections to ascertain the will of the voters of the district upon the question of increasing the local tax levy to a maximum rate of fifty cents on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of taxable property as it has in the case of bond elections. But local tax elections called and held in such joint districts shall be held under the general provisions of this article governing local tax elections, except that the district committee is hereby granted the powers of county boards of education and boards of commissioners as to local tax elections.

f. The building of all schoolhouses in such joint local tax districts shall be effected by the county board of education of the county in which the building is to be located under authority of law governing the erection of school buildings by county boards of education. It shall be lawful for the boards of education in the other county or counties to contribute to the cost of the building in proportion to the number of children shown by the official census to be resident within that part of the joint district lying within each county respectively. If the building is to be erected from moneys borrowed from the State Building Funds or from county taxation, then each county board of education shall contribute to its construction in the proportion set out above and pay over its contribution to the treasurer of the county board having control of the erection of the building: Provided, it shall be lawful for the county board that controls the erection of the building to borrow from the State and lend to the district the full amount of the cost of the building in cases where the entire amount is to be repaid by the district from district funds.

g. All district funds of a joint local tax district shall be kept distinct from all other funds, placed to the credit of the district, and expended as other local tax or district bond funds are lawfully disbursed.

h. The county board of education and county superintendent of public instruction of the county in which the schoolhouse is located shall have as full and ample control over the joint school and the district as it has in the case of other local tax districts subject only to the limitations of this section.

i. It shall be the duty of the committee of the joint school district to prepare a budget in accordance with the law requiring budgets. The said budget, which shall show the proportionate part of the expenses to be contributed by each county, the several parts to be ascertained on the basis of the proportions of the total district school census living in each respective county, shall be filed by the committee with the county board of education of each county, and it shall be the duty of each board, if it approves the district budget, to incorporate it in the county budget to be submitted to the commissioners each year. Each of the several county boards of education is hereby directed to pay over its proportionate part of the district budget, when and as collected, to the treasurer of the board of education of the county in which the school plant is located for the purposes for which it has been levied and collected.

j. All districts formed before the ratification of this amendment under the provisions of section two hundred and thirty-two, chapter one hundred and thirty-six, Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and all districts incorporated before the ratification of this amendment, under the provisions of section two hundred and thirty-three of said chapter, are hereby authorized and empowered to exercise all the powers and privileges conferred by this section as amended. (1923, c. 136, s. 232; 1924, c. 32; C. S. 5651.)

Editor's Note.—By Ex. Sess. 1924 this section was changed and re-enacted. For the changes made a comparison of the two acts is necessary.

§ 115-198. District already created out of portion of two or more counties.—Districts that have already been created out of portions of two or more counties may be incorporated in the following manner: Upon petition of the county board of education of each county, calling for an election the commissioners of each county shall call an election which shall be conducted in all respects as an election for voting local taxes. The ballots to be used in said election shall have written or printed thereon the words, "For Incorporation," and, "Against Incorporation." If a majority of the qualified voters in the portion in each county shall cast their ballots for incorporation, the district is thereby incorporated and shall possess all the authority of incorporated districts as provided in this article. (1923, c. 136, s. 233; C. S. 5652.)

Art. 23. Special School Taxing Districts.

§ 115-199. Purpose of re-enactment.—The re-enactment in this code of the several sections in this article shall not have the effect of re-enacting any of said sections which have been repealed by the School Machinery Acts of 1933, 1935, 1937 and 1939, and said sections are re-enacted in this code only to the extent and for the purposes required by the several School Machinery Acts above referred to.

Cross References.—See §§ 115-192 and 115-204. For definition of district, see § 115-9.

§ 115-200. School taxing districts created.—The following territorial divisions of a county are hereby declared to be special school taxing districts in which special school taxes may be voted as hereinafter provided: (1) A township; (2) two or more contiguous or consecutive districts, all of which may be embraced within one common boundary; (3) two or more contiguous or consecutive townships, all of which may be embraced within one common boundary; (4) one or more districts and one or more townships contiguous, all of which may be embraced within one common boundary, and (5) the entire county excluding one or more townships or one or more special charter districts. (1923, c. 136, s. 234; C. S. 5655.)

Editor's Note.—The cases which follow in this note, in the majority of instances, are constructions of § 5526 of Volume II of the Consolidated Statutes, the substance of which is scattered throughout this article. It must be borne in mind, however, that the School Machinery Act, G. S. §§ 115-347 to 115-382, has in many particulars revised the school system which was in effect at the time this article was enacted.

Applicability to Existing Tax Districts.—The application of the provisions of C. S., 5526, [incorporated throughout the various sections of this article] to the formation of new local school tax districts without regard to township lines, etc., refers primarily to instances where new districts are created or formed, as therein prescribed, out of territory exclusive of special tax districts, or out of territory having the same status throughout its entirety, in relation to the then existing school tax or taxes, so as to give every voter a fair chance, uninfluenced by other considerations, to declare with his ballot whether or not he wishes to be taxed for the creation and maintenance of the district proposed. Perry v. Commissioners, 183 N. C. 387, 112 S. E. 6.

Separate Vote in Nontax Territory.—See Hicks v. Board, 183 N. C. 394, 112 S. E. 1; Sparkman v. Board, 187 N. C. 241, 242, 121 S. E. 531.

Form of Ballot Directory.—Under a statute which sets out a form of ballot to be used at an election, the use of such form is directory and not mandatory, unless the statute so declares, this matter being within the discretionary power of the Legislature. Riddle v. Cumberland County, 180 N. C. 321, 104 S. E. 662.

The failure to use forms prescribed by this section will not render the election invalid when a free and fair opportunity has been afforded the voters therein to express their will at the polls. Riddle v. Cumberland County, 180 N. C. 321, 104 S. E. 662.

Cited in Plott v. Board, 187 N. C. 125, 133, 121 S. E. 190; Forester v. North Wilkesboro, 206 N. C. 347, 350, 174 S. E. 112.

§ 115-201. Boundary lines.—The county board of education, after ascertaining in what special school taxing district it is desirable to levy a special local tax, to supplement the nine months school term, shall define or describe the boundary lines so as to include the territorial divisions embracing only the special school taxing district in which a special school tax election for schools is to be called, and to exclude all other territory. The boundary lines of the special school taxing district, having been defined and recorded on the minutes of the board of education, a special school tax election may be held as hereinafter provided to equalize school advantages within

§ 115-202. Petition for an election.—The petition for an election in a special school taxing district shall be made as follows: The governing school boards of at least a majority of the school districts within the special school taxing district shall indorse the petition, and it shall be approved by the county board of education. Said petition shall state the maximum rate of tax to be voted on, which rate shall not exceed fifty cents (50c) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of all property, real and personal: Provided, however, that when a special school taxing district created in accordance with the provision of this article includes or embraces two or more school districts having indebtedness incurred for the erection of school buildings, the maximum rate of fifty cents (50c) specified in this section may be exceeded by an additional rate necessary to take care of the combined aforesaid indebtedness of the several districts incurred for the erection of such school buildings. (1923, c. 136, s. 236; 1927, c. 37; C. S. 5657.)

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1927 the proviso in the last part of the section providing for exceeding the specified rate, was added.

Form of Petition. — The character of the petition is not specifically set forth in this article, but the same is manifestly provided for and controlled by section 115-186. Sparkman v. Board, 187 N. C. 241; 245, 121 S. E. 531.

§ 115-203. The election.—Whenever a petition properly indorsed and approved is presented to the board of county commissioners, said board shall call an election in said special school taxing district and fix a date for holding the same. The rules governing the election, the levy and collection of taxes, and the frequency of elections in a special school taxing district shall be the same as rules governing elections, the levy and collection of taxes, and the frequency of elections as provided in article 22. (1923, c. 136, s. 237; C. S. 5658.)

Notice of Election.—The requirements of this section as to the first publication in a newspaper, etc., provided in sec. 115-188, Art. 22, and the giving of the specified time are mandatory if they affect the merits of the election, and directory if they do not. Flake v. Board, 192 N. C. 590, 135 S. E. 467. This case presents splendid illustrations of variations from the terms of the statute which do not affect the merits.—Ed. Note.

Restriction of Boundaries.—In holding an election under this article, the authorities are restricted to districts having established or recognized boundaries, such as a school district or township, or contiguous school districts or townships. Blue v. Board, 187 N. C. 431, 434, 122 S. E. 19. But see note to sec. 115-192.

§ 115-204. Special school taxing districts.—If a majority of the qualified electors in the special school taxing district shall vote in favor of the special school tax, then it shall operate to repeal all school taxes theretofore voted in any local tax district located within said special school taxing district, except such taxes as may have been voted in said local tax district to pay the interest on bonds and to retire bonds outstanding. But the county board of education shall have the authority to assume all indebtedness, bonded and otherwise, of said local tax district and pay all or a part of the interest and installments out of the revenue derived from the rate voted in the special school taxing district: Provided, the revenue is sufficient to equalize educational advantages and pay all or a part of the interest and installments on said bonds. (1923, c. 136, s. 238; C. S. 5659.)

Right of Each District to Vote Separately.—See Sparkman v. Board, 187 N. C. 241, 242, 121 S. E. 531.

Cited in Flake v. Board, 192 N. C. 590, 135 S. E. 467.

§ 115-205. Organization of the schools in special school taxing districts.—The county board of education is hereby authorized to organize the schools in a special school taxing district after a special school tax has been voted, in such a way as to equalize educational opportunities within said district. (1923, c. 136, s. 239; C. S. 5660.)

Art. 24. County Tax for Supplement in Which Part of Local Taxes May Be Retained.

§ 115-206. Purpose of re-enactment.—The re-enactment in this code of the several sections in this article shall not have the effect of re-enacting any of said sections which have been repealed by the School Machinery Acts of 1933, 1935, 1937 and 1939, and said sections are re-enacted in this code only to the extent and for the purposes required by the several School Machinery Acts above referred to.

§ 115-207. Election upon petition of county board of education.—Upon the petition of the county board of education of any county, the county commissioners shall order an election to be held in the county to ascertain the will of the people whether there shall be levied on all taxable property and polls in the county a special county tax, not to exceed fifty cents (50c) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of property, to supplement the nine months school fund. (1923, c. 136, s. 242; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5663.)

Cited in Young v. Commissioners, 194 N. C. 771, 774, 140 S. E. 740; Forester v. North Wilkesboro, 206 N. C. 347, 350, 174 S. E. 112.

§ 115-208. Rules governing election.—The election shall be conducted for the county as nearly as may be under the "Rules Governing Elections for Local Taxes" as provided in this subchapter. (1923, c. 136, s. 243; C. S. 5664.)

§ 115-209. Maximum tax levy.—In the event that a majority of the qualified voters at said election shall vote in favor of a special county tax, said tax shall be in addition to all taxes theretofore voted in any local tax district except as provided in § 115-210. The maximum rate voted shall be annually levied and collected each year in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes of the county are levied and collected, unless the county board of education shall petition for a lower rate. In that event the county commissioners shall levy the rate requested. (1923, c. 136, s. 244; C. S. 5665.)

§ 115-210. The rate in local tax districts. — Whenever the maximum special county tax rate levied or to be levied under the provisions of this article is less than fifty cents (50c), each local tax or special school taxing district shall have the authority to levy an additional rate, not in excess of the local tax rated voted in the district.

All indebtedness, bonded or otherwise, of said district or districts may be assumed by the county board of education; and such indebtedness, if assumed by the county board of education, shall be paid out of the special county tax levied under the provisions of this article. (1923, c. 136, s. 245; 1925, c. 180, s. 2; 1933, c. 299; C. S. 5666.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment Public Laws 1925, a former provision at the end of the first paragraph limiting the total special tax to not exceeding fifty cents on the hundred dollars, except in case where the tax was for bonds or other such indebtedness which remained an obligation against the district, was omitted.

§ 115-211. Subsequent elections upon failure of first.—In case a majority of qualified voters of said election in any county shall fail to vote for said special county tax, on petition of a majority of the members of the county board of education of the county, the county commissioners may, after six months, order another election in the same manner and under the same rules governing elections for local taxes. (1923, c. 136, s. 246; C. S. 5667.)

§ 115-212. Payment of election expenses.—The expenses of holding said election shall be paid out of the school fund of the county. (1923, c. 136, s. 247; C. S. 5668.)

Art. 25. Legal Attendance of Pupils in School Districts.

§ 115-213. Children residing in a school district shall have the advantage of the public school.—The following persons residing in local tax or special school taxing districts shall be entitled to all the privileges and advantages of the public schools of said district or districts unless removed from school for cause:

(a) All residents of the district who have not completed the prescribed course for graduation in the high school.

(b) All children whose parents have recently moved into the district for the purpose of making their legal residence in the same.

(c) Any child or children living with either the father or the mother or guardian who has made his or her permanent home within the district.

(d) Any child received into the home of any person residing in the district as a member of the family, who receives board and other support free of cost. (1923, c. 136, s. 240; C. S. 5661.)

§ 115-214. Credits on tuition to nonresidents whose children attend in district.—Any parent or person in loco parentis residing outside of any local tax or special school taxing district, and owning property within said district, whose child, children, or wards shall attend school in said district, shall be entitled to receive as a credit on the tuition of said child, children, or wards the amount of special school taxes paid on said property. The county board of education may arrange with any such district to send any child or children residing in the county to the school in such district, if they are without adequate educational advantages, for the nine months term, and to pay the actual cost of the instruction of the children, including the appropriations from the nine months school fund. (1923, c. 136, s. 241; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; C. S. 5662.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of the state board of education (successor to the state school commission, 1943, c.

721) to transfer children from one district to another without the payment of tuition, see § 115-352.

SUBCHAPTER IX. BONDS AND LOANS FOR BUILDING SCHOOLHOUSES.

Art. 26. Funding or Refunding Loans from State Literary and Special Building Funds.

§ 115-215. State board of education authorized to accept funding or refunding bonds of counties for loans; approval by local government commission.—In any case where a loan has heretofore been made from the state literary fund or from any special building fund of the State to the county board of education of a county and such county has heretofore or shall hereafter authorize the issuance of bonds for the purpose of funding or refunding interest on or the principal of all or a part of the notes evidencing such loan, the state board of education be and the same is hereby authorized to accept funding or refunding bonds or notes of such county in payment of interest on or the principal of the notes evidencing such loan: Provided, however, that the issuance of such funding or refunding bonds shall have been approved by the local government commission. (1935, c. 399, s. 1.)

§ 115-216. Issuance of bonds as part of general refunding plan.—In any case where the funding or refunding of interest on or the principal of such notes shall constitute a part of a refunding plan or program of the county, and the terms of such funding or refunding shall be accepted by a sufficient number of the holders of the county's obligations to put same into effect, the state board of education may authorize the acceptance of such funding or refunding bonds or notes upon the same terms and conditions, both as to principal and interest, as have been agreed upon by a sufficient number of the other holders of the county's obligations to put same into effect. (1935, c. 399, s. 2.)

Art. 27. Collection of Amounts Due State Literary and Revolving Funds.

§ 115-217. Collecting delinquent amounts due by counties; offsetting amounts due counties on account of road contracts.—In all instances where any sum or amount is due from any county or board of education or school unit therein to the state or to the literary fund or to the revolving fund set up by the general assembly providing loans for the construction of school buildings, and where any sum or amount is payable to such county by reason of any contract made on behalf of the state highway commission or its successor, the state highway and public works commission, for loans made to such commission by such county in behalf of roads, it shall be competent and lawful to offset the amount due such county on account of any contract made with the state highway commission or its successor, the state highway and public works commission, not assigned prior to the passage of this article, by the amount due by such county or board of education or school unit in said county to the State or to the literary fund or the revolving fund set up by the general assembly providing loans for construction of school buildings. (1935, c. 411, s. 1.)

§ 115-218. Crediting sums due counties for road loans.—If the amount due such county on account of loans made to the state highway commission or its successor, the state highway and public works commission, and not assigned prior to the passage of this article, is insufficient to pay the amount due the State or the literary fund or to the revolving fund by such county, then the amount due such county on account of loans to the highway commission shall be credited on the amount due by such county to the State or literary fund or revolving fund. (1935, c. 411, s. 2.)

§ 115-219. Provisions of article to be observed by state officers.—The treasurer and other officers of the State charged with the duty of disbursing any funds by reason of such contract between the state highway commission or the state highway and public works commission already made or hereafter to be made are required to observe the provisions of § 115-218 and shall not issue or authorize issuance of any voucher contrary thereto. (1923, c. 136, s. 273; C. S. 5683.)

§ 115-221. Terms of loans.—Loans made under the provisions of this article shall be payable in ten installments, shall bear interest at four per centum, payable annually, and shall be evidenced by the note of the county board of education, executed by the chairman and secretary thereof, and deposited with the state treasurer. The first installment of such loan, together with the interest on the whole amount then due, shall be paid by the county board on the tenth day of February after the tenth day of August subsequent to the making of such loan and the remaining installments, together with the interest, shall be paid, one each year, on the tenth day of February of each subsequent year till all shall have been paid. (1923, c. 136, s. 274; C. S. 5684.)

§ 115-222. How secured and paid.—At the January meeting of the county board of education, before any installment shall be due on the next tenth day of February, the county board shall set apart out of the school funds an amount sufficient to pay such installments and interest to be due, and shall issue its order upon the treasurer of the county school fund therefor, who, prior to the tenth day of February, shall pay over to the state treasurer the amount then due. And any amount loaned under the provisions of this law shall be a lien upon the total school funds of such county, in whatsoever hands such funds may be; and upon failure to pay any installment or interest, or part of either, when due, the state treasurer may deduct a sufficient amount for the payment of the same out of any fund due any county from any state appropriation for public schools, or he may bring action against the county board of education of such county, any person in whose possession may be any part of the school funds of the county, and the tax collector of such county; and if the amount of school funds then on hand be insufficient to pay in full the sum so due, then the state treasurer shall be entitled to an order directing the tax collector of such county to pay over to the state treasurer all moneys collected for school purposes until such debt and interest shall have been paid: Provided, this lien shall not lie against taxes collected or hereafter levied to pay interest and principal on bonds issued by the authorities of any county or any district. § 115-223. Loans by county boards to school districts.—The county board of education, from any sum borrowed under the provisions of this article, may make loans only to districts that have already levied a local tax sufficient to repay the installments and interest on said loan for the purpose of building schoolhouses in the district, and the amount so loaned to any district shall be payable in ten annual installments, with interest thereon at four per centum, payable annually. Any amount loaned under the provisions of this law shall be a lien upon the total local tax funds produced in the district. Whenever the local taxes may not be sufficient to pay the installments and the interest, the county board of education must supply the remainder out of the current expense fund, and shall make provision for the same when the county budget is made and presented to the commissioners.

All loans hereafter made to such districts shall be made upon the written petition of a majority of the committee of the district asking for the loan and authorizing the county board to deduct a sufficient amount from the local taxes to meet the indebtedness to the county board of education. Otherwise, the county board of education shall have no lien upon the local taxes for the repayment of this loan: Provided, this lien shall not lie against taxes collected or hereafter levied to pay interest and principal on bonds issued by the authorities of the district. (1923, c. 136, s. 276; C. S. 5686.)

§ 115-224. Appropriation from loan fund for free plans and inspection of school buildings.—The state board of education may annually set aside and use out of the funds accruing to the interest of said state loan fund a sum not exceeding twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00), to be used for providing plans for modern school buildings to be furnished free of charge to districts, for providing proper inspection of school buildings and the use of state funds, and for such other purposes as said board may determine, to secure the erection of a better type of school building and better administration of said state loan fund. The state board of education may, at any time it finds a book unsatisfactory, call for a new report from the textbook commission on the subject adopted for an indefinite length of time. Moreover, the textbook commission at any time, with the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction, may recommend to the state board of education that a given book adopted indefinitely is unsatisfactory or may be greatly improved by the adoption of a new book or books.

In the event that a change of textbooks contracted for for an indefinite length of time is deemed necessary by the state board of education or by the textbook commission, the publisher shall be given at least three months notice prior to the first day of May, and at the expiration of which time the state board of education is authorized to adopt from a list submitted by the textbook commission a new book or books on said subject. Moreover, the publisher of any textbook desiring to end a contract that has been extended indefinitely shall give the state board of education at least three months notice prior to the first day of May. In either event, when it becomes necessary to substitute a new book for an old one on the adopted list, the state board of education shall call for new recommendations from the textbook commission on that book, and proceed as in the first instance. (1923, c. 136, s. 321; C. S. 5731.)

§ 115-260. Classification of textbooks. — The textbooks in use in the public schools are hereby divided into two classes: (1) major subjects, which include readers, arithmetics, language and grammar, history and geography; and (2) all other books on all other subjects shall be considered as minor subjects. (1923, c. 136, s. 322; C. S. 5732.)

§ 115-261. Basal and supplementary books.—All textbooks to be adopted by the state board of education shall be basal books or supplementary books necessary to complete the course of study. (1923, c. 136, s. 322; 1933, c. 464, s. 2; C. S. 5733.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the Amendment of 1933, the section read: "All subjects on which text-books are to be adopted by the state board of education shall be the basal books, and all other books necessary to complete the course of study shall be supplementary books."

§ 115-262. Basal books not to be displaced by supplementary.—The state board of education is hereby authorized to select and adopt all supplementary books and instructional material necessary to complete the course of study for all schools. Such supplementary books shall neither displace nor be used to the exclusion of basal books. (1923, c. 136, s. 324; 1933, c. 464, s. 3; C. S. 5734.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to Public Laws of 1933, c. 464, county boards of education selected the supplementary books.

§ 115-263. The textbook commission.—The governor and the superintendent of public instruction shall appoint on April first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three and annually thereafter a textbook commission composed of seven members to be selected from among the teachers, supervisors, principals, and superintendents actually engaged in school work in the state, to serve for one year or until their successors are appointed and qualified, and the governor and superintendent of public instruction shall have authority to fill any vacancy that may occur in the textbook commission, or to remove for sufficient cause any member of the commission. The members of the commission shall be subject to the call of the state board of education at any time during their term of service. (1923, c. 136, s. 325; 1943, c. 627, s. 1; C. S. 5735.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment inserted the date, substituted "one year" for "five years" and added the second sentence.

§ 115-264. Organization of commission.—Immediately after the appointment of the textbook commission the superintendent of public instruction shall cause said textbook commission to meet in his office and organize by electing a chairman and secretary, and shall adopt such rules and regulations to govern their work as may be deemed necessary, subject to the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction. The work of the textbook commission shall then be apportioned among the members, and the rules and regulations governing its work shall be published in the daily papers, and a copy shall be sent to all publishers that may submit bids and samples of books for adoption.

The several members of the textbook commission may work independently, seeking information from every legitimate source, but if the members of the textbook commission receive information from representatives of book companies they shall keep a record of each such visit and the purpose of the visit. (1923, c. 136, s. 326; C. S. 5736.)

§ 115-265. Compensation of commission.—Each member of the textbook commission shall be paid five dollars ($5.00) a day for actual attendance upon meetings of the commission and actual expenses incurred by such attendance. (1923, c. 136, s. 327; 1927, c. 249; 1943, c. 627, s. 2; C. S. 5737.)

§ 115-266. Duties of commission.—The textbook commission shall first prepare, subject to the approval of the superintendent of public instruction, and publish at the expense of the state, an outline course of study setting forth what subjects shall be taught in each of the elementary grades. It shall give in outline the number of basal and supplementary books on each subject to be used in each grade in accordance with the law.

After the outline course of study has been prepared and published, the textbook commission shall then prepare a multiple list of basal books to be submitted to the state board of education. The multiple list shall contain not less than four nor more than eight books or series of books on all subjects for each grade. No book shall be included in the multiple list that a majority of the textbook commission deems unsuitable, or that does not conform to the outline course of study.

The textbook commission shall report whether any of the major subjects containing a series of books may be divided, taking one part from one series and another part from another series of books on the same subject, and the commission's report in this respect shall be binding on the state board of education. (1923, c. 136, s. 328; 1933, c. 464, s. 4; C. S. 5738.)

§ 115-267. State board of education makes all contracts.—(a) The state board of education shall make all needful rules and regulations governing the advertisement for bids, when and how prices shall be submitted, when and how sample books for adoption shall be submitted, the nature of the contract to be entered into between the state board of education and the publishers, the nature and kind of bond, if any is necessary, and all other needful rules and regulations governing the adoption of books for all public schools not otherwise specified in this article. After a contract has been entered into between the state board of education and the publisher, if the publisher shall fail to keep its contract as to prices, distribution of books, etc., the attorney-general shall bring suit against said company, when requested by the state board of education, for such amount as may be sufficient to enforce the contract or to compensate the state because of the loss sustained by a failure to keep this contract. (b) It shall be unlawful for any local distributing agency distributing State-adopted textbooks to charge, or to make any deduction from, the purchase price of such textbooks when returned by the purchaser without having been subjected to use or damage. Any person violating any of the provisions of this subsection shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction fined not less than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1923, c. 136, s. 329; 1925, c. 69; 1933, c. 464, s. 5; C. S. 5739.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to Public Laws 1933, c. 464, this section applied to rules and regulations for elementary schools only. It now applies to all public schools.

§ 115-268. Not more than one major subject to be changed in any one year.—Not more than one major and two minor subjects shall be changed in any one year: Provided, satisfactory arrangements as to prices and distribution may be made. (1923, c. 136, s. 330; C. S. 5740.)

§ 115-269. Publishers to register all agents or employees.—Publishers submitting books for adoption shall register in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction all agents or other employees of any kind authorized to represent said company in the state, and this registration list shall be open to the public for inspection. (1923, c. 136, s. 331; C. S. 5741.)

§ 115-270. Acquisition of manuscripts for textbooks permitted; publication thereof by state board of education.—The said board of education is hereby authorized and empowered in its discretion to purchase and/or acquire a manuscript or manuscripts for school textbooks or supplementary books used or to be used in any or all grades of the public schools of North Carolina and to procure the printing and publishing of such books under contract through competitive bids or otherwise as it may in its discretion determine to be for the best interest of the public schools of the state; and if said board of education finds that by the acquisition of any such manuscript or manuscripts, and that by the making of any such contract for any such school books, either basal or supplementary, such books can be furnished to the public schools of the state at a price less than the same may be acquired from publishers, then it shall be the duty of said board of education to acquire such manuscripts and cause the same to be published and said books to be distributed in accordance with such rules and regulations and under such terms and conditions as it may deem advisable, having due regard to the standard of the school books so published, after taking into consideration the substance of such books and their adaptability for use in the schools of the state. (1933, c. 464, s. 6.)

§ 115-271. Contracts for distribution of textbooks through depositories or a state agency. — The state board of education is authorized and empowered to make and enter into all such contracts as may be necessary to provide for the proper distribution of textbooks either through a depository or depositories, or through the state division of purchase and contract or other state agency, utilizing county boards of education or city boards of trustees, if found feasible, for local distribution, as to it may seem advisable; and is further authorized and empowered to make all needed rules, regulations, and contracts governing the disposition, sale, and return of school books as are not disposed of to the patrons of the schools, and to determine the nature of the contract or contracts to be entered into between the state board of education and the publisher or publishers, for the distribution of school textbooks adopted by it or in use in any of the public schools of the state. It may also determine the nature and kind of bond, if necessary, to be given by any depository or other agency carrying out the terms of this article, to the end that school textbooks shall be delivered to the patrons of the schools at the lowest possible net cost. (1933, c. 464, s. 7.)

Art. 38. Textbooks for High Schools.

§ 115-272. State Board of Education may adopt textbooks.—The State Board of Education is hereby authorized to adopt textbooks for the use in all public high schools of the State, supported in whole or in part out of public funds, and the high school textbooks adopted by the State Board of Education in accordance with the provisions of this article shall be used by all the public high schools of the State. (1931, c. 359, s. 1.)

§ 115-273. State committee on high school textbooks.—The governor and state superintendent of public instruction, at the expiration of the terms of office of the members of the state committee on high school textbooks, and annually thereafter, shall appoint a state committee on high school textbooks, consisting of five members, five of whom are actively engaged in school work, who shall serve for a term of one year. Members of the committee shall be paid five dollars ($5.00) a day for actual attendance upon meetings of the committee called by or under the direction of the superintendent of public instruction, and actual expenses incurred by such attendance. (1931, c. 359, s. 2; 1943, c. 627, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1943 amendment members of the committee served without compensation and the term of office was five years.

§ 115-274. Grouping of high school instruction; examination of books; submission of multiple list and annual reports. — It shall be the duty of the State Committee on high school textbooks to list all the high school fields of instruction in five separate groups as nearly equal as possible in the cost of textbooks. The Committee on high school textbooks shall further arrange these groups in the order in which they will be considered, and notify the State Board of Education in its first report of this arrangement. During the first year of its term of office, it shall be the further duty of the State Committee on high school textbooks to make a thorough examination of any and all books submitted by any publisher in the first group of fields of instruction as arranged by said State Committee on high school textbooks, with a view of determining whether the contents, quality and price of said books are such as to make them suitable and desirable for use in the public high schools of the State, and submit, not later than the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, a multiple list not exceeding three books in each field of instruction in the first group. Not later than January first in each succeeding year, the State Committee on high school textbooks shall make a similar report on the fields of instruction in the order fixed by it, unless it receives a notice from the State Board of Education prior to May first in said year that such report is not desired. (1931, c. 359, s. 3.)

§ 115-275. Selection of one book per subject by State Board of Education; indefinite contract with publishers; annual report by publishers. — It shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to select one book in each field of instruction from the multiple list submitted by the State Committee on high school textbooks for exclusive use in the public high schools of the State for a period not less than five years. In case the State Board of Education finds it impossible to make a satisfactory contract for any one of the books on the multiple list, then it shall notify the State Committee on high school textbooks that it cannot make a satisfactory contract for any book on the multiple list in that field of instruction. The State Committee on high school textbooks shall then submit another multiple list in that field of instruction from which the State Board of Education shall make an adoption. It shall be the further duty of the State Board of Education to make an indefinite contract with all the publishers having books in groups two, three, four and five for a period not less than one year nor more than five years, and these books shall continue in use until the State Board of Education, in accordance with the provisions of this article, shall adopt a book for State-wide use in any given field of instruction: Provided, that the contract shall require each publisher to report annually to the State Board of Education the total sales of each book in the State of North Carolina. (1931, c. 359, s. 4.)

§ 115-276. Attorney General to bring suit on publishers' contracts in event of failure to execute. —After a contract has been entered into between the State Board of Education and the publisher, if the publisher shall fail to keep its contract as to prices, distribution of books, an adequate supply of the edition of books as adopted, etc., the Attorney General shall bring suit against said company when requested by the State Board of Education, for such an amount as may be sufficient to enforce the contract or to compensate the State because of the loss sustained by failure to keep this contract. (1931, c. 359, s. 5.)

§ 115-277. Sale of books at lower price elsewhere reduces price to State.—If the publishers of any high school textbook on the adopted list in this State shall contract with another state, or with any county, city or town or other municipality, or shall place its books on sale anywhere in the United States, for or at a less price than that in its contract with the State of North Carolina, it shall be, and is hereby, made a part of the contract of that company to furnish that book to the high schools of this State at a price not to exceed that for which the book is furnished, sold, or placed on sale in any other state, or in any such other county, city, town or other municipality. (1931, c. 359, s. 6.)

§ 115-278. Adoption made exclusive.—The textbooks for high school instruction adopted under the provisions of this article shall be for the exclusive use of the high schools of this State when so adopted and placed upon the approved list in the manner as set out in this article. (1931, c. 359, s. 7.)

Art. 39. Furnishing Textbooks.

§ 115-279. Free textbooks.—Any county board of education, the committee of any local tax district, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit in the state is authorized to purchase books for the use of pupils in said county or district to be loaned to said pupils, without charge for the same, under such needful rules and regulations governing the loan of said textbooks as the said board may prescribe.

If instruction is given in the manual and domestic arts, the county board of education, the committee or board of trustees may, in its discretion, purchase and lend the necessary implements and materials to the pupils. And it shall also in a similar manner procure such apparatus, reference books, and other means of illustration as may be needed in the school.

1. The board of county commissioners, in addition to levying taxes for the current expense fund, the capital outlay fund, and the debt service fund, is hereby authorized to levy an additional tax to be known as the "tax for supplying free textbooks," which shall be sufficient to pay the cost of purchasing and loaning textbooks after an estimate has been submitted and approved by the commissioners. Any committee of a local tax district, or any board of trustees of a city administrative unit in a county not supplying free textbooks, is hereby authorized to use any part of the local tax funds, not otherwise appropriated in the district, to carry out the provisions of this section.

2. In the event that the county board of education, or the board of county commissioners, or both, shall fail to provide in the budget a sum sufficient to supply free textbooks in accordance with this section, or in the event that the sum derived from the local taxes in any local tax district is insufficient to provide free textbooks in such district or unit after other necessary expenses are met, the question of supplying free textbooks may be submitted to the qualified voters in the following manner:

Whenever the written petition of one-fourth of the qualified voters of a county, or of a local tax district or city administrative unit, setting forth the tax rate to be levied and calling for an election to be held upon the question of levying an additional special annual tax with which to purchase and supply free textbooks, is presented to the governing board, said board shall present the petition to the tax levying authority of said county, district or unit, which body shall order an election and conduct the same as near as may be under the rules governing the election for local taxes. If a majority of the qualified voters in said county, district or unit, shall cast their ballots "for free textbooks," the tax shall be levied and collected as all other county or local taxes for schools are levied and collected. It shall be the duty of the governing body of the school to purchase books for the use of the pupils in said county, district or unit, and loan the same to pupils without charge in accordance with this section. (1923, c. 136, s. 340; C. S. 5750.)

§ 115-280. Rental of textbooks.—The county board of education or the board of trustees of any local tax district or city administrative unit is hereby authorized to rent such books to the children of any school district at a rental price not to exceed that set by the state board of education; and wherever books are rented that have not been contracted for by the state, the rental price shall not exceed that set by the state board of education. (1923, c. 136, s. 341; 1943, c. 721, s. 9; C. S. 5751.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state commission." The amendatory act provided that wherever reference is made in any statute relating to any such commissions as "state commission," "state textbook commission" and "state textbook purchase and rental commission," with reference to state textbooks, the reference shall be deemed to be to the state board of education.

§ 115-281. County and local boards to make rules; to use incidental expense fund.—The county board of education or the board of trustees of any local tax district or city administrative unit is hereby authorized to make all needful rules and regulations governing the rental of public school textbooks, and to apply any funds of the current expense fund remaining to the credit of the county or the city administrative unit to the purposes of this article: Provided, that before any amount is appropriated from this fund for these purposes, provisions shall be made for all needful expenses of said schools. (1923, c. 136, s. 342; C. S. 5752.)

§ 115-282. Books for indigent children.—County boards of education or the board of trustees of any local district or city administrative unit may set aside an amount not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00) from the incidental expense fund to be used in purchasing public school textbooks, to be used in the manner designated, namely, that when it shall appear that the education of any child is limited because of the inability of said child to purchase necessary textbooks or to pay the rental price, said board or boards may loan free of cost all necessary books to any such child during the term of the school, subject to rules and regulations by the county board of education or the board of

§ 115-283. State superintendent to inform local school authorities.—The state superintendent of public instruction is hereby requested to inform all superintendents of schools of the provisions of this article. (1923, c. 136, s. 344; C. S. 5754.)

It shall be the duty of the state board of education to prepare rules and regulations governing the establishment of rental depositories in accordance with the provisions of §§ 115-284 to 115-291. It shall be the duty of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to acquaint the public school officials with the rules and regulations of the state board of education and to present to said board for its approval or rejection all applications for such permission. (1931, c. 210, s. 1; 1933, c. 562, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-285. Computation of amount of fund.—The necessary amount of such capital fund shall be determined by the board of county commissioners upon the basis of a comprehensive budget estimate prepared by the county board of education, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit making such request, not exceeding, however, the extent and amount thereof approved by the state board of education. (1931, c. 210, s. 2; 1933, c. 562, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-286. Budget estimate to be made up; repayments to fund out of rental fees.—Before the board of commissioners of any county shall establish such capital fund it shall be the duty of the county board of education, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit making request therefor to prepare a budget estimate covering a definite and specified period showing the estimated income from rentals for each year, the estimated cost of textbooks and supplies for each year and a balanced budget at the end of a specified and definite period. Such budget shall be prepared in accordance with rules and regulations to be adopted and promulgated by the state board of education. It shall be the duty of the county board of education, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit requesting and securing the establishment of any such capital fund for its benefit to make provision for the payment out of rental fees of the principal fund of the capital fund and the interest arising thereon in the manner and within the term provided for in the certificate of approval granted by the state board of education, and it shall be the duty of the state board of education in granting the approval to any such request to specify in its order granting said approval the time within which said repayments shall be made and the amount of such repayment to be made during each year of such time. (1931, c. 210, s. 3; 1933, c. 562, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-287. Details of administration of fund; record of receipts and disbursements; annual audit.—Any capital fund established under the provisions of §§ 115-284 to 115-291 shall be placed to the credit of the county board of education, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit making request therefor, which board shall administer the fund under such rules and regulations as the said board may prescribe, with the approval of the state board of education, not in conflict, however, with the provisions of §§ 115-284 to 115-291. It shall be the duty of the county board of education, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit for whose benefit such capital fund is established, to keep accurate record of receipts and disbursements made from this fund and to cause such records and the accounts thereof to be audited in July of each and every year and a copy of said audit shall be kept as a part of the permanent records of the office of said state board of education and one copy thereof shall be filed with the board of county commissioners of the county, one copy with the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and one copy with the state board of education. It shall be unlawful for the county board of education, or the board of trustees of any city administrative unit to use any part of the funds so provided for any purpose, even temporarily, other than the purposes for which said fund is established and in accordance with the provisions of §§ 115-284 to 115-291. (1931, c. 210, s. 4; 1933, c. 562, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-288. to and approved by the state board of education: Provided, further, that any patron of the public schools may purchase textbooks at net cost from any rental depository. (1931, c. 210, s. 5; 1933, c. 562, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

(8) Provide for the use of said textbooks without charge to the indigent children of the state.

(9) Cause an annual audit to be made of the affairs of the said board and a certified copy of same to be furnished the governor and council of state.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the purchase of textbooks needed for any child in the public schools of the state from said board by any parent, guardian, or person in loco parentis.

Whenever any county or city administrative unit has paid over to the state board of education, in rentals, a sum equal to the price fixed by said board for the sale of rental textbooks, said county or city administrative unit may, at its option, with the approval of the board, withdraw from the textbook rental system set up under rules and regulations adopted by the board, and upon such withdrawal, shall become the absolute owner of all such textbooks for which the purchase price has been paid in full to the said board. (1935, c. 422, s. 2; 1937, c. 169, s. 2; 1939, c. 90; 1941, c. 301; 1943, c. 721, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state textbook commission" and "state textbook purchase and rental commission."

§ 115-294. Books not interchangeable between white and colored schools.—Books shall not be interchangeable between the white and colored schools, but shall continued to be used by the race first using them. (1935, c. 422, s. 2.)

§ 115-295. Purchases through division of purchase and contract.—The purchase of all textbooks and supplies under the provisions of this article adopted as now provided by law shall be made through the division of purchase and contract. (1935, c. 422, s. 3.)

§ 115-296. Rentals paid to state treasury; disinfected books.—All sums of money collected as rentals under the provisions of this article shall be paid monthly as collected into the state treasury, to be entered as a separate item known as the "state textbook rental fund." Disbursement of said funds shall only be had by order of the council of State: Provided, that the state board of education in conjunction with the state board of health shall adopt rules and regulations governing the use and fumigation for the regular disinfection of all textbooks used in the public schools of the State.

The governor, with the approval of the council of state, may, upon request and certification of the state board of education that surplus funds in the state textbook rental fund herein provided for are not needed for the purchase of rental textbooks, transfer so much of said surplus to the general fund of the State to be used for the purchase of free textbooks as, in their judgment, may be necessary for the operation of the free textbook system now provided by law. (1935, c. 422, s. 4; 1937, c. 169, s. 1; 1943, cc. 391, 721, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—The first 1943 amendment added the second paragraph, and the second 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state textbook commission" in the first paragraph.

§ 115-297. Local rental systems unaffected; rental fees limited; purchases from state board of education allowed.—Any county or city board of education now operating a textbook rental system shall be permitted to continue such local rental system without interference from the state board of education: Provided, that the rental fees charged by such local rental authority shall not exceed the rental charges set by the state board of education: Provided, further, that such local textbook rental authority may purchase from the state board of education textbooks for its local use. (1935, c. 422, s. 5; 1943, c. 721, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state commission."

§ 115-298. Legal custodians of books furnished by state.—The county board of education in each county administrative unit and the school governing board in each city administrative unit shall be designated the legal custodians of all books furnished by the state, either for free use or on a rental basis. It shall be the duty of the said boards to provide adequate and safe storage facilities for the proper care of said books. (1937, c. 169, s. 3.)

§ 115-299. Duties and authority of superintendents of local administrative units; withholding salary for failure to comply with section.—It shall be the duty of the superintendent of each administrative unit as ex officio agent of the commission to administer the provisions of this article and the rules and regulations of the state board of education, in so far as said article and said rules and regulations may apply to said unit. He shall also have authority to require the co-operation of principals and teachers to the end that the children may receive the highest possible service, and that all books and moneys may be properly accounted for. In the event any teacher or principal shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of the superintendent to withhold the salary checks of said principal or teacher until the duties imposed hereby have been performed.

In the event any superintendent shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section it shall be the duty of the state board of education and the state superintendent of public instruction to withhold salary checks of said superintendent and the state treasurer shall not pay same until the duties imposed hereby have been performed, and it shall be the duty of the secretary of the state board of education to notify the state board of education, the state superintendent of public instruction, and the state treasurer in the event any superintendent shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section, and no payments shall be made until notice has been received from the secretary of the state board of education that the provisions of this section have been complied with. (1937, c. 169, s. 4; 1941, c. 190; 1943, c. 721, ss. 8, 9.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment added the last sentence of this section.

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state textbook commission" and "state school commission."

Art. 41. Public Libraries.

§ 115-300. Rules and regulations governing their establishment.—The state board of education is hereby authorized to adopt such rules and regulations governing the establishment of public libraries receiving state aid as will best serve the educational interest of the people. It shall have authority to use all of the state appropriation for rural libraries, to encourage the establishment of county circulating libraries, or to cooperate with the state library commission in providing circulating libraries for schools. (1923, c. 136, s. 345; C. S. 5755.)

§ 115-301. Aid in establishing local libraries.—The state board of education may use such portion of the state appropriation to rural libraries as it may deem necessary to aid the public schools in establishing local libraries as provided herein.

When the patrons and friends of any union school in which a standard high school is or is to be maintained shall raise by private subscription and tender to the treasurer of the county school fund for the establishment of a library to be connected with the school the sum of fifty dollars, the county board of education shall appropriate from the current expense fund the sum of fifty dollars for this purpose.

As soon as the county board shall have made an appropriation for a library in the manner prescribed, the county superintendent shall inform the secretary of the state board of education of the fact, whereupon the state board, if the funds on hand are sufficient, shall remit to the treasurer of the county school fund the sum of fifty dollars additional for the purchase of books. (1923, c. 136, s. 346; C. S. 5756.)

SUBCHAPTER XV. COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE IN SCHOOLS.

Art. 42. General Compulsory Attendance Law.

§ 115-302. Parent or guardian required to keep child in school; exceptions.—Every parent, guardian or other person in the state having charge or control of a child between the ages of seven and fourteen years shall cause such child to attend school continuously for a period equal to the time which the public school in the district in which the child resides shall be in session. The principal, superintendent, or teacher who is in charge of such school shall have the right to excuse the child temporarily from attendance on account of sickness or distance of residence from the school, or other unavoidable cause which does not constitute truancy as defined by the state board of education. The term "school" as used in this section is defined to embrace all public schools and such private schools as have tutors or teachers and curricula that are approved by the county superintendent of public instruction or the State Board of Education.

All private schools receiving and instructing children of compulsory school age shall be required to keep such records of attendance and render such reports of the attendance of such children as are required of public schools; and attendance upon such schools, if the school or tutor refuses or neglects to keep such records or to render such reports, shall not be accepted in lieu of attendance upon the public school of the district, town or city which the child shall be entitled to attend: Provided, instruction in a private school or by private tutor shall not be regarded as meeting the requirements of the law unless the courses of instruction run concurrently with the term of the public school in the district and extend for at least as long a term. (1923, c. 136, s. 347; 1925, c. 226, s. 1; C. S. 5757.)

Editor's Note.—The last sentence of the first paragraph and all of the last paragraph of this section was added by the amendment, Public Laws 1925.

In 3 N. C. Law Rev. 149, in discussing this amendment, it is said: "Ch. 226 is a step in making more effective the compulsory school attendance law by regulating the attendance of children of compulsory school age in private schools. The statute requires that private schools keep such records of attendance and render such reports as are required of public schools. If this is not done, attendance at a private school shall not be accepted in lieu of attendance upon a public school, and teachers and principals of private schools who violate this statute may be punished as for a misdemeanor. Authorized private schools must have courses of instruction which run concurrently with the term of the public school."

Failure to Charge as to Other Than District School.—For a conviction under the provision of this section it is necessary for the indictment to allege, and the State offer evidence tending to show not only that the parent or guardian of the children within the described age had failed or refused to send them to the public school within the district, but also that such child or children had not been sent to attend school periodically for a period equal to the time which the public school in the district in which they reside shall be in session. State v. Johnson, 188 N. C. 591, 125 S. E. 183.

Same—Burden Not on Parent.—Where the indictment is defective in failing to charge that a parent or guardian had also failed to send the child or children to another than the district school, etc., under the provisions of this section and the State offers no evidence in respect to it, it is not required that the parent or guardian offer evidence to show that he had complied with the proviso of the statute; and an instruction of the court to the jury placing the burden upon the defendant to so show, is reversible error. State v. Johnson, 188 N. C. 591, 125 S. E. 183.

Validity of Expenditure for School Houses Emphasized.—See Lacy v. Fidelity Bank, 183 N. C. 373, 11 S. E. 612.

Applied in Hayes v. Benton, 193 N. C. 379, 384, 137 S. E. 169.

§ 115-303. State board of education to make rules and regulations; method of enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the state board of education to formulate such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper enforcement of the provisions of this article. The board shall prescribe what shall constitute truancy, what causes may constitute legitimate excuses for temporary non-attendance due to physical or mental inability to attend, and under what circumstances teachers, principals, or superintendents may excuse pupils for nonattendance due to immediate demands of the farm or the home in certain seasons of the year in the several sections of the state. It shall be the duty of all school officials to carry out such instructions from the state board of education, and any school official failing to carry out such instructions shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that § 115-302 shall not be in force in any city or county that has a higher compulsory attendance law now in force than that provided herein; but in any such case it shall be the duty of the state board of education to investigate the same and decide that any such law now in force has a higher compulsory attendance feature than that provided by this article.

Mental incapacity shall be an excuse for non-attendance, and is interpreted to mean feeble-mindedness or such nervous disorder as to make it either impossible for such child to profit by instruction given in the school or impracticable for the teacher properly to instruct the normal pupils of the school. In the case of feeble-minded children the teacher shall designate the same in her reports to the County Superintendent of Public Welfare, and it shall be his duty to report all such cases to the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. Whereupon said Board shall make, or cause to be made, an examination to ascertain the mental incapacity of said child and report the same to the county or city superintendent involved. Upon receipt of said report the local school authorities are hereby authorized, under such limitations and rules as the State Board of Education may adopt, to exclude said child from the public school when it is ascertained that the child can not benefit by said instruction and his presence becomes a source of disturbance to the rest of the children. In all such cases in which a child is excluded from school a complete record of the whole transaction shall be filed in the office of the county or city superintendent and kept as a public record. (1923, c. 136, s. 348; 1931, c. 453; C. S. 5758.)

Private Schools.—An indictment under the provisions of this section, charging a parent with unlawfully and wilfully failing to cause his children, between the ages of 8 and 14 years, to attend the public schools of the district of his and the children's residence, as required by the statute, is defective in not observing the distinction that the parent, having the custody of his children, may have them attend private schools for the required period, and no conviction may be had under the charge set out in the indictment. State v. Lewis, 194 N. C. 620, 140 S. E. 434.

§ 115-304. Attendance officers; reports; prosecutions.—The state superintendent of public instruction shall prepare such rules and procedure and furnish such blanks for teachers and other school officials as may be necessary for reporting each case of truancy or lack of attendance to the chief attendance officer referred to in this article. Such rules shall provide, among other things, for a notification in writing to the person responsible for the nonattendance of any child, that the case is to be reported to the chief attendance officer of the county unless the law is immediately complied with. The county board of education in a county administrative unit and the board of trustees in a city administrative unit may employ special attendance officers to be paid from funds derived from fines, forfeitures and penalties, or other local funds, and said officers shall have full authority to prosecute for violations of this article: Provided that in any unit where a special attendance officer is employed, the duties of chief attendance officer or truant officer as provided by law shall, in so far as they relate to such unit, be transferred from the county superintendent of public welfare to the special attendance officer of said unit. (1923, c. 136, s. 349; 1939, c. 270; C. S. 5759.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment changed the latter half of this section.

§ 115-305. Violation of law; penalty.—Any parent, guardian, or other person violating the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be liable to a fine not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, and upon failure or refusal to pay such fine, the said parent, guardian or other person shall be imprisoned not exceeding thirty days in the county jail. (1923, c. 136, s. 350; C. S. 5760.)

§ 115-306. Investigation and prosecution by county superintendent or attendance officer.—The county superintendent of public welfare or chief school attendance officer or truant officer provided for by law shall investigate and prosecute all violators of the provisions of this article. The reports of unlawful absence required to be made by teachers and principals to the chief attendance officer shall, in his hands, in case of any prosecution, constitute prima facie evidence of the violation of this article and the burden of proof shall be upon the defendant to show the lawful attendance of the child or children upon an authorized school. (1923, c. 136, s. 351; 1925, c. 226, s. 2; C. S. 5761.)

Editor's Note.—The last sentence to this section was added by Public Laws 1925.

§ 115-307. Investigation as to indigency of child.—If affidavit shall be made by the parent of a child or by any other person that any child between the ages of seven and fourteen years is not able to attend school by reason of necessity to work or labor for the support of itself or the support of the family, then the attendance officer shall diligently inquire into the matter and bring it to the attention of some court allowed by law to act as a juvenile court, and said court shall proceed to find whether as a matter of fact such parents, or persons standing in loco parentis are unable to send said child to school for the term of compulsory attendance for the reasons given. If the court shall find, after careful investigation, that the parents have made or are making a bona fide effort to comply with the compulsory attendance act, and by reason of illness, lack of earning capacity, or any other cause which the court may deem valid and sufficient, are unable to send said child to school, then the court shall find and state what help is needed for the family to enable the attendance law to be complied with. The court shall transmit its findings to the county board of education of the county or, in city administrative units, to the board of trustees in which the case may arise. (1923, c. 136, s. 352; C. S. 5762.)

§ 115-308. Aid to indigent child.—The county board of education shall in its discretion order aid to be given the family from the current expense fund of the county school budget to an extent not to exceed ten dollars per month for such child during the continuance of the compulsory term; and shall at the same time require said officer to see that the money is used for the purpose for which it is appropriated and to report from time to time whether it shall be continued or withdrawn. And the county board of education is hereby authorized in making out the county budget to provide a sum to meet the provisions of this article. (1923, c. 136, s. 353; C. S. 5763.)

Art. 43. Compulsory Attendance of Deaf and Blind Children.

§ 115-309. Deaf and blind children to attend school; age limits; minimum attendance.—Every deaf and every blind child of sound mind in North Carolina who shall be qualified for admission into a state school for the deaf or the blind shall attend a school for the deaf or the blind for a term of nine months each year between the ages of seven and eighteen years. Parents, guardians, or custodians of every such blind or deaf child between the ages of seven and eighteen years shall send, or cause to be sent, such child to some school for the instruction of the blind or deaf as is herein provided: Provided, that the board of directors of any school for the deaf or blind may exempt any such child from attendance at any session or during any year, and may discharge from their custody any such blind or deaf child whenever such discharge seems necessary or proper. Whenever a deaf or blind child shall reach the age of eighteen and is still unable to become self-supporting because of its defects, such a child shall continue in said school until it reaches the age of twenty-one, unless it becomes self-supporting sooner. (1923, c. 136, s. 354; C. S. 5764.)

§ 115-310. Parents, etc., failing to send deaf child to school guilty of misdemeanor; provisos.—The parents, guardians, or custodians of any deaf children between the ages of seven and eighteen years failing to send such deaf child or children to some school for instruction, as provided in this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, at the discretion of the court, for each year said deaf child is kept out of school, between the ages herein provided: Provided, (1) that parents, guardians, or custodians may elect two years between the ages of seven and eighteen years that a deaf child or children may remain out of school, and (2) that this section shall not apply to or be enforced against the parent, guardian, or custodian of any deaf child until such time as the superintendent of any school for the instruction of the deaf, by and with the approval of the executive committee of such institution, shall in his and their discretion serve written notice on such parent, guardian, or custodian, directing that such child be sent to the institution whereof they have charge. (1923, c. 136, s. 355; C. S. 5765.)

The parents, guardians, or custodians of any blind child or children between the ages of seven and eighteen years failing to send such child or children to some school for the instruction of the blind shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, at the discretion of the court, for each year that such child or children shall be kept out of school between the ages specified: Provided, (1) that this section shall not be enforced against the parents, guardians, or custodians of any blind child until such time as the authorities of some school for the instruction of the blind shall serve written notice on such parents, guardians, or custodians, directing that such child be sent to the school whereof they have charge; and (2) that the authorities of the state school for the blind and the deaf shall not be compelled to retain in their custody or under their instruction any incorrigible person or persons of confirmed immoral habits. (1923, c. 136, s. 356; C. S. 5766.)

§ 115-312. County superintendent to report defective children.—It shall be the duty of the county superintendent to report through proper legal channels, the names and addresses of parents, guardians, or custodians of deaf, dumb, blind, and feeble-minded children to the principal of the institution provided for each, and upon the failure of the county superintendent to make such reports, he shall be fined five dollars for each child of the class mentioned above not so reported. (1923, c. 136, s. 357; C. S. 5767.)

SUBCHAPTER XVI. RURAL RECREATION.

Art. 44. School Extension Work.

§ 115-313. Moving pictures for rural communities; cost.—It shall be the duty of the state superintendent of public instruction to provide for a series of rural entertainments, varying in number and cost and consisting of moving pictures selected for their entertaining and educational value, which entertainments may be given in the rural schoolhouses of the state as herein provided. The cost of such entertainment shall be borne one-third by the state and two-thirds by the county board of education or the rural school community desiring said entertainment. (1917, c. 186, ss. 1, 2; C. S. 5776.)

§ 115-315. Health and agricultural authorities to coöperate.—The state board of health and the commissioner of agriculture are hereby authorized and directed to coöperate with the state superintendent of public instruction in arranging for the entertainments provided for by this article, to the end that the entertainment may, if it is deemed advisable, include the subjects of public health and agriculture. (1917, c. 186, s. 4; C. S. 5778.)

The examination shall be made at the time directed by the state board of health and the state superintendent of public instruction, but every child shall be examined at least once every three years. The state board of health and the state superintendent of public instruction shall so arrange the work as to cover the entire state once every three years. (1919, c. 192, s. 2; C. S. 5780.)

§ 115-328. Application for permit; investigation; fees.—Application for such permit to open and conduct a business or correspondence school shall state specifically the name of such person, partnership or corporation, and said application shall be filed with the state board of education at Raleigh. If, after due investigation on the part of said board, it is shown to the satisfaction of said board that said applicant is professionally qualified to conduct said school and possesses good moral character for fair and honest dealings, then said board shall approve said application and issue permit to said applicant. Before such permit shall be issued, the applicant shall pay to the state board of education a fee of ten ($10) dollars as a minimum, and twenty-five ($25) dollars as a maximum, the amount needed being left to the discretion of the board of education, which fee shall be paid annually on the first day of July to the said board so long as said school shall continue to operate. Said fees shall be used for office and traveling expenses by said board or its authorized representatives for investigating applications for conducting commercial schools and also complaints against such schools, and the secretary of the board shall keep an account of all moneys received and disbursed which account shall be open at all times to inspection by all persons operating commercial schools and licensed by said board. (1935, c. 255, s. 3; 1937, c. 184; 1943, c. 721, s. 6.)

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state board of commercial education."

§ 115-329. Execution of bond required; filing and recording. — Before the state board of education shall issue such permit, the person, partnership, association of persons, or corporation shall execute a bond in the sum of one thousand ($1,000) dollars, signed by a solvent guaranty company authorized to do business in the state of North Carolina, or by two solvent sureties, payable to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such college, branch college, or school will be located and conduct its business, conditioned that the principal in said bond will carry out and comply with each and all contracts, made and entered into by said college or branch college or school, acting by and through its officers and agents, with any student who desires to enter such college and to take any course in commercial training, and will pay back to such student all amounts collected for tuition and fees in case of failure on the part of the parties obtaining a permit from the state board of education to open and conduct a commercial college, or branch college or school, to comply with its contracts to give the instructions contracted for, and for the full period evidenced by such contract. Such bond shall be filed with the clerk of superior court of the county in which the college or branch or school executing the bond is located, and recorded by such clerk in a book provided for that purpose.

The requirement herein specified for giving the aforesaid bond of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) shall apply to all commercial colleges, business schools and correspondence schools and branches thereof operating in North Carolina, and the said state board of education shall not issue any permit or license to any person, firm, or corporation to operate any of the aforesaid schools until said bond has been given and notice of the approval of same by the clerk of superior court has been filed with said board of education. Operators' bonds of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) each shall be required for each branch of such commercial colleges, business schools, or correspondence schools operated within the state by any person, partnership, or corporation. (1935, c. 255, s. 4; 1937, c. 184; 1943, c. 721, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Prior to the 1937 amendment, which added the second paragraph, bond of guaranty company was required.

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "board of commercial education."

§ 115-330. Right of action upon bond in event of breach; revocation of permit; board generally to supervise schools.—In any and all cases where the party receiving the permit from the state board of education fails to comply with any contract made and entered into with any student, or with the parents or guardian of said student, then said student, parent or guardian entering into the contract shall have a cause of action against the sureties on the bond as herein provided for the full amount of the payments made to such person, with six (6) per cent interest from the date of payment of said amount. For a proven violation of its contracts with its students, the state board of education is authorized to revoke the license issued to the offending school. Through periodic reports required of licensed commercial schools and by inspections made by members of the state board of education or its authorized representatives, the board of education shall have general supervision over commercial schools of the State, the object of said supervision being to protect the public welfare by having the licensed commercial schools to maintain proper school quarters, equipment and teaching forces and of having the school carry out its advertised promises and its contracts made with its students and patrons. (1935, c. 255, s. 5; 1943, c. 721, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "board of commercial education."

§ 115-331. Operating school without permit made misdemeanor.—Any person, or each member of any partnership, or each member of any association of persons, or each officer of any corporation who opens and conducts a commercial college or branch college or school without first having obtained the permit required in § 115-326, and without first having executed the bond required in § 115-329, shall be guilty of misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not less than one hundred ($100.00) dollars, nor more than five hundred ($500.00) dollars, and each day said college continues to be open and operated shall constitute a separate offense. (1935, c. 255, s. 6.)

§ 115-332. Institutions exempted.—The provision of this article shall not apply to any established university, professional, or liberal arts college, regular high school or any state institution which has heretofore adopted or which may hereafter adopt one or more commercial courses, provided the tuition fees and charges, if any, made by such university, college, high school or state institution shall be collected by their regular officers in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by the board of trustees or governing body of such university, college, or high school; but the provisions of this article shall apply to all commercial colleges, business schools and correspondence schools operated within the state of

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1937 amendment established commercial colleges having one or more commercial courses were also exempted.

§ 115-333. Application of article to non-residents, etc.—All persons, partnerships, associations of persons, which are non-residents of North Carolina, or corporations organized and chartered under the laws of any other state, must comply with the provisions of this article before such can open and conduct a commercial college or branch college, or school in the State of North Carolina. (1935, c. 255, s. 8.)

§ 115-334. Solicitors.—All persons soliciting students within the state of North Carolina for commercial colleges, business schools or correspondence schools located within or without the state of North Carolina, shall be required to secure on July first of each year an annual license from the state board of education, such license to cost two dollars ($2.00). When application is made for such license by a solicitor he shall submit to said board for its approval a copy of the contract offered prospective students and used by his said school, together with advertising material and other representations made by said school to its students or prospective students. When a license is issued to such solicitor he shall receive a license card permitting him to solicit students for his school, but such license shall be issued only on an annual basis expiring June thirtieth of each year and must be renewed to entitle such solicitor to solicit students thereafter. Every commercial college, business school, or correspondence school employing such solicitors shall be responsible for the acts, representations and contracts made by its solicitors. Any person soliciting students for any such schools without first having secured a license from the state board of education shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punishable by a fine of fifty dollars ($50.00) or thirty days imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1937, c. 184; 1943, c. 721, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "board of commercial education."

SUBCHAPTER XX. OBSERVANCE OF SPECIAL DAYS.

Art. 48. Special Days to Be Observed in Public Schools.

§ 115-335. North Carolina Day.—The twelfth day of October in each and every year, to be called "North Carolina Day," may be devoted, by appropriate exercises in the public schools of the state, to the consideration of some topic or topics of our state history, to be selected by the superintendent of public instruction: Provided, that if the said day shall fall on Saturday or Sunday, then the celebration shall occur on the Monday next following: Provided, further, that if the said day shall fall at a time when any such schools may not be in session, the celebration may be held within one month from the beginning of the term, unless the superintendent of public instruction shall designate some other time. (1923, c. 136, s. 367; C. S. 5780(n).)

§ 115-336. Temperance or Law and Order Day.

—There shall be one day in each scholastic year of the public and high schools of the state of North Carolina, to be known as Temperance or Law and Order Day, and the fourth Friday in January in each year, or some other day to be set by the superintendent of public instruction to suit local conditions, is hereby designated as Temperance or Law and Order Day. This day shall be observed as such in each public and high school of the state, or if preferred, in each subdivision thereof. The state superintendent of public instruction shall have prepared and furnished in due time to every teacher of said public and high school for the state a suitable program to be used on said Temperance or Law and Order Day.

The state superintendent of public instruction may have prepared and furnished to the teachers in the public and high schools placards printed in large type which shall set forth in attractive style statistics, epigrams, mottoes and up-to-date scientific truths showing the evils of intemperance and lawlessness.

When placards are distributed it shall be the duty of every teacher in the state, paid entirely or in part out of the public funds, to keep posted in a conspicuous place in the schoolroom occupied by said teacher one of said placards. (1923, c. 136, s. 368; C. S. 5780(o).)

The superintendent of public instruction shall issue each year a program for its observance by the school children of the state in order that they may be taught to appreciate the true value of trees and forests to their State. The superintendent of public instruction is authorized to provide a suitable program and plan of instruction to county school officials under his charge for the appropriate observance of this day. (1923, c. 136, s. 369; 1927, c. 73; C. S. 5780(p).)

§ 115-338. Other Days.—The superintendent of public instruction is hereby authorized to provide suitable material for the proper observance in schools of the birthdays of Washington, Lee, Jackson, of Armistice Day, Memorial Day, and such other days as may be deemed of educational and patriotic value not only to the children but to the citizens of the state. All literature necessary for the proper observance of the days specified in this article shall be prepared by the superintendent of public instruction and printed at the expense of the state. (1923, c. 136, s. 370; C. S. 5780(q).)

Cross Reference.—As to observance of "Indian Day" in the public schools, see § 147-18.

§ 115-339. Combined programs.—The state superintendent of public instruction may fix a later or an earlier date for the observance of any special day the observance of which is required for a specific date if it shall appear to him to be more convenient; and he may combine the programs required to be issued in the foregoing sections so as to require the observance of any two or more of the special days at the same time. (1923, c. 136, s. 371; C. S. 5780(r).)

SUBCHAPTER XXI. COMPENSATION TO CHILDREN INJURED IN SCHOOL BUSES.

Art. 49. Certain Injuries to School Children Compensable.

§ 115-340. State board of education authorized to pay claims.—The state board of education of North Carolina is hereby authorized and directed to set up in its budget for the operation of the public schools of the State a sum of money which it deems sufficient to pay the claims hereinafter authorized and provided for. (1935, c. 245, s. 1; 1943, c. 721, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-341. Payment of medical or funeral expenses to parents or custodians of children.—The state board of education is hereby authorized and directed to pay out of said sum provided for this purpose to the parent, guardian, executor, or administrator of any school child, who may be injured and/or whose death results from injuries received while such child is riding on a school bus to and from the public schools of the State, medical, surgical, hospital, and funeral expenses incurred on account of such injuries and/or death of such child in an amount not to exceed the sum of six hundred and no one-hundredths dollars ($600.00). (1935, c. 245, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 7.)

Local Modification.—Surry: 1935, c. 458.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-342. Claim must be filed within one year.—The right to compensation as authorized under § 115-341 shall be forever barred, unless a claim be filed with the state board of education within one year after the accident, and if death results from the accident, unless a claim be filed with the said board within one year thereafter. (1935, c. 245, s. 3; 1943, c. 721, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-343. Approval of claims by state board of education final.—The state board of education is hereby authorized and empowered, under rules and regulations to be promulgated by said state board of education to approve any claim authorized by this subchapter, and when such claim is so approved, such action shall be final; any payment made by the state board of education for hospital and medical treatment shall be deducted from the benefits provided in § 115-341, and said board is hereby authorized to pay medical and hospital and funeral bills provided for in this subchapter, not to exceed, however, the benefits herein provided for. (1935, c. 245, s. 4; 1943, c. 721, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-344. Claims paid without regard to negligence of driver; amounts paid out declared lien upon civil recoveries for child.—The claims authorized in § 115-341 shall be paid by the said state board of education, regardless of whether or not the injury received by said school child shall have been due to the negligence of the driver of the said school bus: Provided that whenever there is recovery on account of said accident by the father, mother, guardian, or administrator of such child, against any person, firm, or corporation, the amount expended by the state board of education hereunder shall constitute a paramount lien on any judgment recovered by said parent, guardian, or administrator, and shall be discharged before any money is paid to said parent, guardian, or administrator, on account of said judgment. (1935, c. 245, s. 5; 1943, c. 721, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-345. Disease and injuries incurred while not riding on bus not compensable.—Nothing in this subchapter shall be construed to mean that the State shall be liable for sickness, disease, and for personal injuries sustained while not actually riding on the bus to and from the school, and for personal injuries received otherwise than by reason of the operation of such bus. (1935, c. 245, s. 6.)

§ 115-346. Application to terms additional to nine months term.—The provisions of this subchapter shall be applicable to any school child, who may be injured and/or whose death results from injuries received while such child is riding on a school bus to and from the public schools of the state during any term of public school additional to the regular school term paid for by the state: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as imposing any obligation upon the state board of education to provide funds for this purpose. The tax levying authorities of any school district which provides a supplement for the maintenance of an additional school term are hereby authorized and directed to set up in their respective budgets a sum of money which is deemed sufficient to pay the claims authorized by this subchapter, and to pay out of such sum the expenses authorized to be paid in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter. No person, firm, or corporation making voluntary contributions for an extended term shall be liable on account of any accident or injury. (1939, c. 267; 1943, c. 255, 1943, c. 721, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—Formerly, the words "the ninth month, or" appeared between the word "during" and the word "any," and the words "eight months" appeared between the word "regular" and the word "school" in the first sentence. The words "a ninth month or" appeared between the word "of" and the word "additional" in the second sentence. These words were omitted and the words "paid for by the state" were inserted just before the proviso to reflect the first 1943 amendment as authorized by Session Laws 1943, c. 15, s. 3. The second 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

SUBCHAPTER XXII. SCHOOL LAW OF 1939.

Art. 50. The School Machinery Act.

§ 115-347. Purpose of the law.—The purpose of this subchapter is to provide for the administration and operation of a uniform system of public schools of the state for the term of nine months without the levy of an ad valorem tax therefor, and it is the purpose of this general assembly to change the policy heretofore followed by previous general assemblies of re-enacting biennially the School Machinery Act, and this subchapter shall remain in force until repealed or amended by subsequent acts of the general assembly. (1939, c. 358, s. 1(a); 1943, c. 255, s. 2.)

Local Modification.—Hyde, Ocracoke Island: 1937, c. 303.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "nine" for "eight" in line four.

The following cases were decided under similar or identical provisions of the former law.

The purpose of this act is to promote efficiency in the organization and economy in the administration of the public schools, and to provide for the operation of a uniform system of schools for the entire state. This signifies that the state has adopted a policy of supporting its public schools and has consequently in part modified and in part abolished the former system. Evans v. Mecklenburg County, 205 N. C. 560, 563, 172 S. E. 323.

Other Statutes Are Subordinate to Act.—This act indicates a legislative intent to annul or to subordinate to the new law all statutes relating to the public schools which were in effect at the time of its enactment and to establish a uniform system under which all the public schools of the state shall be conducted. Evans v. Mecklenburg County, 205 N. C. 560, 563, 172 S. E. 323.

The authority of a county to issue without a vote bonds for sanitary improvements of its schoolhouses necessary to maintain the constitutional school term is not affected by the school law. See §§ 153-77, 115-92. Taylor v. Board of Education, 206 N. C. 263, 173 S. E. 608.

Abolition of Special School Districts.—For cases construing former statute abolishing special school districts, see Board of Education v. Burgin, 206 N. C. 421, 174 S. E. 286 (use of unexpended fund by new district); Hickory v. Catawba County, 206 N. C. 165, 173 S. E. 56, holding that statute did not alter the policy that under the provisions of § 115-158 a county may include in its debt service fund in its budget the indebtedness lawfully incurred by any of its school districts.

Special Statute Not Repealed.—Chapter 279, Public-Local Laws of 1937, providing for the establishment of special tax school districts in Buncombe county, was not repealed by implication by the School Machinery Act of 1937, since the special statute prevailed as an exception to the general statute. Fletcher v. Collins, 218 N. C. 1, 9 S. E. (2d) 606.

Cited in Mears v. Board of Education, 214 N. C. 89, 197 S. E. 752.

§ 115-348. Appropriation. — The appropriation made under Title nine "(IX-1)-Support of Eight Months' Term Public Schools," of "an act to make appropriations for the maintenance of the state's departments, bureaus, institutions, and agencies, and for other purposes," and such funds as may be made available by acts of the Congress of the United States for public schools, and such other funds as may be made available from all other sources for the support of the eight months' term public schools, for the year ending June thirtieth, one thousand nine hundred forty, and annually thereafter, shall be apportioned for the operation of an nine months school term as hereinafter provided. (1939, c. 358, s. 1(b); 1943, c. 255, s. 2.)

§ 115-349: Repealed by Session Laws 1943, c. 721, s. 8.

§ 115-350. Administration of funds for nine months' term; executive committee.—In addition to the duties and powers vested in the state board of education as set out in § 115-349, together with such powers as may be conferred by law, it shall be the duty of the said board in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter, to administer funds for the operation of the schools of the state for one hundred eighty days on standards to be determined by said board and within the total funds set out in § 115-348. The state board of education may designate from its membership an executive committee, which executive committee shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by the state board of education. The secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of any meetings of the executive committee in the same manner as proceedings of the full board are kept and recorded. The comptroller appointed by the state board of education shall approve such employees as work under his direction in the administration of the fiscal affairs of the state board of education. (1939, c. 358, s. 3; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, ss. 7, 8.)

Editor's Note.—The first 1943 amendment substituted in the first sentence the words "one hundred eighty" for the words "one hundred sixty." Section 7 of the second 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission," and section 8 rewrote the last three sentences.

§ 115-351. Length of school term; school month defined; payment of salaries.—The minimum six months' school term required by article IX of the Constitution is hereby extended to embrace a total of one hundred and eighty days of school in order that there shall be operated in every county and district in the state, which shall request the same, a uniform term of nine months: Provided, that the state board of education or the governing body of any administrative unit, with the approval of the state board of education, may suspend the operation of any school or schools in such units, not to exceed a period of sixty days of said term of one hundred and eighty days, when in the sound judgment of the state board of education or the governing body of any administrative unit, with the approval of the state board of education, the low average of daily attendance in any school justified such suspension, or when the state board of education or the governing body of any administrative unit, with the approval of the state board of education, shall find that the needs of agriculture, or any other condition, may make such suspension necessary within such unit or any district thereof: Provided, that all schools served by the same school bus or busses shall have the same opening date.

Provided that for the one thousand nine hundred and forty-three—one thousand nine hundred and forty-four and one thousand nine hundred and forty-four—one thousand nine hundred and forty-five school terms the one hundred and eighty days (180) may be reduced to one hundred and seventy days (170) by the governor as director of the budget if in his opinion the revenues decrease to such an extent that such action would be justified.

A school month shall consist of twenty teaching days. Schools shall not be taught on Saturdays unless the needs of agriculture, or other conditions, in the unit or district make it desirable that schools be taught on such days. In order that the total term of one hundred and eighty days might be completed in a shorter time than nine calendar months, when the needs of agriculture require it, the governing body of any administrative unit may require that schools shall be taught on legal holidays, except Sundays, but nothing herein contained shall prevent the inclusion of teaching on any legal holiday in a school month in accordance with the custom and practice of any such district, or as may be otherwise ordered by the governing body of such administrative unit.

Salary warrants for the payment of all state teachers, principals, and others employed for the school term shall be issued each month to such persons as are entitled to same. The salaries of superintendents and others employed on an annual basis shall be paid per calendar month: Provided, that teachers may be paid in twelve equal monthly installments in such administrative units as shall request the same of the state board of education on or before October first of each school year. Before such request shall be filed, it shall be approved by the governing board, the superintendent, and a majority of the teachers in said administrative unit. The payment of the annual salary in twelve installments instead of nine shall not increase or decrease said annual salary nor in any other way alter the contract made between the teacher and the said administrative unit; nor shall such payment apply to any teacher who is employed for a period less than nine months.

Full authority is hereby given to the State Board of Education during any period of emergency to order general and, if necessary, extended recess or adjournment of the public schools in any section of the state where the planting or harvesting of crops or any other emergency conditions make such action necessary. (1939, c. 358, s. 4; 1943, c. 255, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Watauga: 1941, c. 27.

Cross References.—For definition of school day, see § 115-12. As to power of local school authorities to determine the length of a school day, see § 115-58.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission," increased the school term from eight to nine months and rewrote the section generally.

§ 115-352. School organization.—All school districts, special tax, special charter, or otherwise, as constituted on May 15, 1933, are hereby declared non-existent as of that date; and it shall be unlawful for any taxes to be levied in said district for school operating purposes except as provided in this article. The state board of education, in making provision for the operation of the schools, shall classify each county as an administrative unit, and shall, with the advice of the county boards of education, make a careful study of the district organization as the same was constituted under the authority of § 4 of chapter 562 of the Public Laws of 1933, and as modified by subsequent school machinery act. The state board of education may modify such district organization when it is deemed necessary for the economical administration and operation of the state school system, and it shall determine whether there shall be operated in such district an elementary or a union school. Provisions shall not be made for a high school with an average daily attendance of less than sixty pupils, nor an elementary school with an average daily attendance of less than twenty-five pupils, unless a careful survey by the state superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education reveals that geographic or other conditions make it impracticable to provide for them otherwise. Funds shall not be made available for such schools until the said survey has been completed and such schools have been set up by the said board.

It shall be within the discretion of the state board of education, wherever it shall appear to be more economical for the efficient operation of the schools, to transfer children living in one administrative unit or district to another administrative unit or district for the full term of such school without the payment of tuition: Provided, that sufficient space is available in the buildings of such unit or district to which the said children are transferred: Provided further, the provision as to the nonpayment of tuition shall not apply to children who have not been transferred as set out in this section.

City administrative units as now constituted shall be dealt with by the state school authorities in all matters of school administration in the same way and manner as are county administrative units: Provided, that in all city administrative units as now constituted the trustees of the said special charter districts, included in said city administrative unit, and their duly elected successors, shall be retained as the governing body of such district; and the title to all property of the said special charter district shall remain with such trustees, or their duly chosen successors; and the title to all school property hereafter acquired or constructed within the said city administrative unit, shall be taken and held in the name of the trustees of said city administrative unit; and the county board of commissioners of any county shall provide funds for the erection or repair of necessary school buildings on property, the title to which is held by the board of trustees as aforesaid, and the provisions of § 115-88, to the extent in conflict herewith, is hereby repealed: Provided, that nothing in this subchapter shall prevent city administrative units, as now established, from consolidating with the county administrative unit in which such city administrative unit is located, upon petition of the trustees of the said city administrative unit and the approval of the county board of education and the county board of commissioners in said county: Provided, further, that nothing in this subchapter shall affect the right of any special charter district, or special tax district which now exists for the purpose of retiring debt service, to have the indebtedness of such district taken over by the county as provided by existing law, and nothing herein shall be construed to restrict the county board of education and/or the board of county commissioners in causing such indebtedness to be assumed by the county as provided by existing law.

The board of trustees for any special charter district in any city administrative unit shall be appointed as now provided by law. If no provision is now made by law for the filling of vacancies in the membership of such board of trustees, such vacancy may be filled by the governing body of the city or town embraced by said administrative unit.

In all cases where title to property has been vested in the trustees of a special charter district which has been abolished and has not been reorganized, title to such property shall be vested in the county board of education of the county embracing such special charter district. (1939, c. 358, s. 5; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—As to tuition of children in certain tax districts, see § 115-214.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Assumption of Payment as County-Wide Obligation.—Where bonds to provide funds for buildings and equipment have been voted by special school districts and by a city constituting a special charter district which has since become a part of the general county schools, the county may assume the payment of such bonds as a county-wide obligation, and it is not necessary that payment therefor be made from taxes levied only in such special districts. Reeves v. Board of Education, 204 N. C. 74, 167 S. E. 454.

Since under § 115-83 it is the duty of the county commissioners of each county to provide for the construction and equipment of schools in each district necessary to the maintenance of the constitutional school term, where some of the school districts of the county provide the necessary buildings and equipment upon failure of the county to do so, by issuing school bonds or otherwise, the county may assume such indebtedness upon the request of its board of education. Marshburn v. Brown, 210 N. C. 331, 186 S. E. 265.

§ 115-353. Administrative officers. — The administrative officer in each of the units now designated shall be a county superintendent of schools for a county administrative unit and a city superintendent of schools for a city administrative unit.

The salaries of county superintendents and city superintendents shall be in accordance with a state standard salary schedule to be fixed and determined by the state board of education as provided for in § 115-359; and such salary schedule for superintendents shall be determined on the same basis for both county and city superintendents and shall take into consideration the amount of work inherent to the office of both county and city superintendents; and such schedule shall be published in the same way and manner as the schedules for teachers' and principals' salaries are now published: Provided, that it shall be lawful for the county superintendent of schools in any county, with the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction, to serve as principal of a high school of said county; and the sum of not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300.00), to be paid from state instructional service funds, may be added to his salary and shall be included in the budget approved by the state board of education: Provided, further, that a county superintendent may also be elected and serve as a city superintendent in any city administrative unit in the county which he serves as county superintendent: Provided, further, that a county superintendent may serve as welfare officer and have such additional compensation as may be allowed by the county commissioners of such county, to be paid from county funds, subject to the approval of the state board of education.

At a meeting to be held the first Monday in April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and biennially thereafter during the month of April, the various county boards of education shall meet and elect a county superintendent of schools, subject to the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education, who shall take office July first and shall serve for a period of two years, or until his successor is elected and qualified. The county board of education shall give public notice of the date of the election in a paper published or circulating in the county and shall post a notice of the same at the courthouse door at least fifteen days before the date of the election. A certification to the county board of education by the state superintendent of public instruction showing that the person proposed for the office of county superintendent of schools is a graduate of a four year standard college, or at the present time holds a superintendent's certificate, and has had three years' experience in school work in the past ten years, together with a doctor's certificate showing the person to be free from any contagious disease, shall make any citizen of the state eligible for this office. Immediately after the election, the chairman of the county board of education shall report the name and address of the person elected to the state superintendent of public instruction.

In all city administrative units, the superintendent of schools shall be elected by the board of trustees, or other school governing agency of such unit, to serve for a period of two years; and the qualifications, approval, and date of election shall be the same as for county superintendents. The city superintendent is hereby ex officio secretary to the governing body of said city administrative unit.

At its first regular meeting in April or as soon thereafter as practicable, the board of trustees, or other governing board of a city administrative unit, shall elect principals, teachers, and other necessary employees of the schools within said unit on the recommendation of the city superintendent. (1923, c. 136, s. 43; 1939, c. 358, s. 6; 1943, c. 721, s. 8; C. S. 5452.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Constitutional Office.—The office of superintendent of public instruction is such an office as comes within the provision of Art. XIV, sec. 7, of the Constitution, which prohibits the holding of more than one office by any person. Whitehead v. Pittman, 165 N. C. 89, 80 S. E. 976.

§ 115-354. School committees. — At the first regular meeting during the month of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and biennially thereafter, the county boards of education shall elect and appoint school committees for each of the several districts in their counties, consisting of not less than three nor more than five persons for each school district, whose term of office shall be for two years: Provided, that in the event of death or resignation of any member of said school committee, the county board of education shall be empowered to select and appoint his or her successor to serve the remainder of the term: Provided, that in units desiring the same, by action of the county board of education and subject to the approval of the state board of education, one-third of the members may be selected for a term of one year, one-third of the members for a term of two years, and one-third of the members for a term of three years, and thereafter all members for a term of three years from the expiration of said terms.

The district committees shall elect the principals for the schools of the districts, subject to the approval of the county superintendent of schools and the county board of education. The principals of the districts shall nominate and the district committees shall elect the teachers for all the schools of the districts, subject to the approval of the county superintendent of schools and the county board of education. The distribution of the teachers between the several schools of the district shall be subject to the approval of the county board of education. In the event the local school authorities herein provided for are unable to agree upon the nomination and election of teachers, the county board of education shall select the teacher or teachers, which selection shall be final for the ensuing school term. All principals and teachers shall enter into a written contract upon forms to be furnished by the state superintendent of public instruction before becoming eligible to receive any payment from state funds. It shall be the duty of the county board of education in a county administrative unit, and of the governing body of a city administrative unit, to cause written contracts on forms to be furnished by the state to be executed by all teachers and principals elected under the provisions of this subchapter before any salary vouchers shall be paid: Provided that such contract shall continue from year to year until said teacher or principal is notified as provided in § 115-359: Provided, further, that such teacher or principal shall give notice to the superintendent of schools of the administrative unit in which said teacher or principal is employed, within ten days after the close of school, of his or her acceptance of employment for the following year: Provided, further, that the county board of education may appoint an advisory committee of three members for each school building in the said school district, who shall care for the school property and perform such other duties as may be defined by the county board of education. (1939, c. 358, s. 7; 1941, c. 267, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Local Modification.—Onslow: 1941, c. 149.

Cross References.—As to the duties and powers of school committees in general, see §§ 115-130 et seq. As to election of teachers, see also, § 115-134. As to power to dismiss, see § 115-143.

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the first and second provisos in the second paragraph of this section.

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Jurisdiction of County Board of Education to Elect Principal.—The county board of education is not authorized to elect a principal of a school unless it appears that the local school authorities are in disagreement as to such election, and therefore, in a suit to compel the county board to approve an election made by the local school authorities, a plea in abatement on the ground that the county board had already elected another to the position is properly overruled in the absence of a showing of disagreement by the local school authorities. Harris v. Board of Education, 216 N. C. 147, 4 S. E. (2d) 328.

§ 115-355. Organization statement and allotment of teachers.—On or before the twentieth day of May in each year, the several administrative officers shall present to the state board of education a certified statement showing the organization of the schools in their respective units, together with such other information as said board may require. The organization statement as filed for each administrative unit shall indicate the length of term the state is requested to operate the various schools for the following school year, and the state shall base its allotment of funds upon such request. On the basis of such organization statement, together with all other available information, and under such rules and regulations as the state board of education may promulgate, the state board of education shall determine for each administrative unit, by districts and races, the number of elementary and high school teachers to be included in the state budget on the basis of the average daily attendance figures of the continuous six months period of the preceding year during which continuous six months' period the average daily attendance was highest, provided that loss in attendance due to epidemics or apparent increase in attendance due to the establishment of army camps or other national defense activities shall be taken into consideration in the initial allotment of teachers: Provided, further, that the superintendent of an administrative unit shall not be included in the number of teachers and principals allotted on the basis of average daily attendance: Provided, further, that for the duration of the present war and for the first school term thereafter, it shall be the duty of the state board of education to provide any union school, that is, a school embracing both elementary and high school grades, in the state of North Carolina, having four high school teachers or less, not less than the same number of teachers as were allotted to said school for the school year of one thousand nine hundred and forty-two—one thousand nine hundred and forty-three. The provisions of this section as to the allotment of teachers shall apply only to those schools where the reduction in enrollment is shown to be temporary as determined by the state board of education.

It shall be the duty of the governing body in each administrative unit, after the opening of the schools in said unit, to make a careful check of the school organization and to request the state board of education to make changes in the allocation of teachers to meet requirements of the said unit. (1939, c. 358, s. 8; 1941, c. 267, s. 3; 1943, c. 255, s. 23½; 1943, c. 720, s. 1; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment made changes in the third sentence of the first paragraph and added the first proviso.

The first 1943 amendment inserted in the third sentence the provision as to average daily attendance. The second 1943 amendment added the last proviso and the last sentence to the first paragraph. The third 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

In allotting funds for the items of expenditures hereinbefore enumerated, provision shall be made for a school term of only one hundred eighty days.

The state board of education shall effect all economies possible in providing state funds for the objects of general control, operation of plant, and auxiliary agencies, and after such action shall have authority to increase or decrease on a uniform percentage basis the salary schedule of teachers, principals, and superintendents in order that the appropriation of state funds for the public schools may insure their operation for the length of term provided in this subchapter: Provided, however, that the state board of education and county boards of education for county administrative units and boards of trustees for city administrative units, shall have power and authority to promulgate rules by which school buildings may be used for other purposes.

The objects of expenditure designated as maintenance of plant and fixed charges shall be supplied from funds required by law to be placed to the credit of the public school funds of the county and derived from fines, forfeitures, penalties, dog taxes, and poll taxes, and from all other sources except state funds: Provided, that when necessity shall be shown, and upon the approval of the county board of education or the trustees of any city administrative unit, the state board of education may approve the use of such funds in any administrative unit to supplement any object or item of the current expense budget, including the supplementing of the teaching of vocational subjects; and in such cases the tax levying authorities of the county administrative unit shall make a sufficient tax levy to provide the necessary funds for maintenance of plant, fixed charges, and capital outlay: Provided, further, that the tax levying authorities in any county administrative unit, with the approval of the state board of education, may levy taxes to provide necessary funds for teaching vocational agriculture and home economics and trades and industrial vocational subjects supported in part from federal vocational educational funds: Provided, further, that nothing in this subchapter shall prevent the use of federal and/or privately donated funds which may be made available for the operation of the public schools under such regulations as the state board of education may provide. (1939, c. 358, s. 9; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—As to procedure where county commissioner refuse to levy school tax, see § 115-160.

days. The second 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-357. State budget estimate.—The state budget estimate shall be determined by the state board of education for each county and city administrative unit by ascertaining the sum of the objects of expenditure according to and within the limits fixed by this subchapter, and within the meaning of the rules and regulations promulgated by the state board of education; and the certification of same shall be made to each county superintendent, city superintendent, and the state superintendent of public instruction on or before June first of each year. (1939, c. 358, s. 10; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-358. Salary costs.—Upon receipt of notice from the state board of education of the total number of teachers, by races and for county and city administrative units separately, the state superintendent of public instruction shall then determine, in accordance with the schedule of salaries established, the total salary cost in each and every administrative unit for teachers, principals, and superintendents to be included in the state budget for the next succeeding fiscal year for the consolidated school term as herein defined. This amount as determined from a check of the costs for the preceding year with adjustments resulting from changes in the allotment of teachers, shall be certified to the comptroller appointed by the state board of education; together with the number of elementary and high school teachers and principals employed in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter, separately by races, and for city and county administrative units. (1939, c. 358, s. 11; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted in line two the words "board of education" for the words "state school commission." It also substituted in lines fifteen and sixteen the words "comptroller appointed by the state board of education" for the words "state school commission."

§ 115-359. State standard salary schedule.—The state board of education shall fix and determine a state standard salary schedule for teachers, principals, and superintendents, which shall be the maximum standard state salaries to be paid from state funds to the teachers, principals, and superintendents; and all contracts with teachers and principals shall be made locally by the county board of education and/or the governing authorities of city administrative units, giving due consideration to the peculiar conditions surrounding each employment, the competency and experience of the teacher or principal, the amount and character of work to be done, and any and all other things which might enter into the contract of employment: Provided, however, that the compensation contracted to be paid out of state funds to any teacher, principal, or superintendent shall be within the maximum salary limit to be fixed by the state board of education, as above provided, and within the allotment of funds as made to the administrative unit for the item of instructional salaries: Provided, further, that no teacher or principal shall be required to attend summer school during the years one thousand nine hundred forty-three and one thousand nine hundred forty-four, and the certificate of such teacher or principal as may have been required to attend such school shall not lapse but shall remain in full force and effect, and all credits earned by summer school and/or completing extension course or courses shall not be impaired, but shall continue in full force and effect.

Any teacher or principal desiring election as teacher or principal in a particular administrative unit who was not employed by said unit during a current year shall file his or her application in writing, with the county or city superintendent of schools.

It shall be the duty of such county superintendent or administrative head of a city administrative unit to notify all teachers and/or principals now or hereafter employed, by registered letter, of his or her rejection prior to the close of the school term subject to the allotment of teachers made by the state board of education: Provided, further, that principals and teachers desiring to resign must give not less than thirty days' notice prior to opening of school in which the teacher or principal is employed to the official head of the administrative unit in writing. Any principal or teacher violating this provision may be denied the right to further service in the public schools of the state for a period of one year unless the county board of education or the board of trustees of the administrative unit where this provision was violated waives this penalty by appropriate resolution.

In the employment of teachers, no rule shall be made or enforced which discriminates with respect to the sex, marriage, or nonmarriage of the applicant.

In the event a teacher is rejected under the provisions of this section, such rejection shall be subject to the approval or disapproval of the governing authorities of the administrative unit in which said teacher is employed. (1939, c. 358, s. 12; 1941, c. 267, ss. 4, 5; 1943, c. 720, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment made changes in the proviso at the end of the first paragraph, inserted the provision relative to administrative unit in the second paragraph, and changed the first sentence of the third paragraph.

The first 1943 amendment changed the years in the proviso at the end of the first paragraph from 1941-1942 to 1943-1944. It also added the last paragraph. The second 1943 amendment struck out the words "and the state school commission" formerly appearing after the words "state board of education" in the first paragraph, and substituted "board of education" for "school commission" in the third paragraph.

§ 115-360. Principals allowed.—In all schools with fewer than fifty teachers allowed under the provisions of this subchapter, the principals shall be included in the number of teachers allowed. In schools with fifty or more teachers, one whole time principal shall be allowed; that for each forty teachers in addition to the first fifty, one additional whole time principal, when and if actually employed, shall be allowed: Provided, that in the allocation of state funds for principals, the salary of white principals shall be determined by the number of white teachers employed in the white schools, and the salary of colored principals shall be determined by the number of colored teachers employed in the colored schools: Provided, further, that where the schools of a district are under the control of the same district committee, the district principal shall have general supervision of all the schools in the district: Provided, further, that where a white school and a colored school are both under the control of the same district committee, and where the principal of the white school is called upon by the district committee to perform certain duties in connection with the operation of the colored school such as aiding in the employment of teachers and in the general supervision of the colored school, the state board of education may in their discretion take such service into consideration in the fixing of the principal's salary and may make a reasonable allowance for same. (1939, c. 358, s. 13; 1941, c. 267, s. 6; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

The 1943 amendment deleted the words "the state school commission and" formerly appearing in the last proviso.

§ 115-361. Local supplements. — The county board of education in any county administrative unit and the school governing board in any city administrative unit, with the approval of the tax levying authorities in said county or city administrative unit and the state board of education, in order to operate schools of a higher standard than that provided by state support in said administrative unit having a school population of one thousand (1,000) or more, but in no event to provide for a term of more than one hundred eighty (180) days, may supplement the funds from state or county allotments available to said administrative unit: Provided, that before making any levy for supplementing said allotments, an election shall be held in said administrative unit or district to determine whether there shall be levied a tax to provide said supplemental funds, and to determine the maximum rate which may be levied therefor. Upon the request of the county board of education in a county administrative unit and/or the school governing authorities in a city administrative unit, the tax levying authorities of such unit shall provide for an election to be held under laws governing such elections as set forth in articles 22, 23 and 24 of this chapter: Provided, that the rate voted shall remain the maximum until revoked or changed by another election: Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to abolish any city administrative unit heretofore established under § 142-20 et seq.

Upon a written petition of a majority of the governing board of any district which has voted a supplementary tax, the county board of education, after approving the petition, shall present the same to the board of county commissioners and ask for an election on the question of the enlargement of the boundary lines of any such district so as to include any contiguous territory, and an election in such new territory may be ordered and held under rules governing elections for local taxes as provided in this section: Provided, the local tax rate specified in the petition and submitted to the qualified voters shall be a local tax of the same rate as that voted in the said district to which the territory is to be added. If a majority of the qualified voters in such new territory shall vote in favor of such tax, the new territory shall be and become a part of said district, and the term "local tax of the same rate" herein used shall include, in addition to the usual local tax, any tax levied to meet the interest and sinking fund of any bonds heretofore issued by the district proposed to be enlarged. In case a majority of the qualified voters at the election shall vote in favor of the tax, the district shall be deemed enlarged as so proposed. (1939, c. 358, s. 14; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—See also, § 115-192 and note thereto. Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

The following cases were decided under similar provisions of the former law: Forester v. North Wilkesboro, 206 N. C. 347, 174 S. E. 112 (enjoining collection of special tax); Freeman v. Charlotte, 206 N. C. 913, 174 S. E. 453 (applying law); Evans v. Mecklenburg County, 205 N. C. 560, 172 S. E. 323 (citing law).

§ 115-362. County boards may supplement funds of any district for special purposes.—The county board of education in any county administrative unit, with the approval of the tax levying authorities in said unit and the state board of education, in order to operate schools of a higher standard than that provided by state support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both, in any district in said county administrative unit having a school population of one thousand (1,000) or more, but in no event to provide for a term of more than one hundred and eighty days, may supplement the funds now available to said district: Provided, that before making any levy for supplementing said allotments, an election shall be held in said district to determine whether there shall be levied a tax to provide said supplemental funds and to determine the maximum rate which may be levied therefor. Before said election can be held in such district, a petition of the district committee setting out the purposes for which said election is to be had and the maximum rate of tax which may be levied shall be approved by the county board of education, the tax levying authorities of said county, and the state board of education. When such approval is had, then upon the request of the county board of education, the tax levying authorities of such unit shall provide for an election under the laws governing such elections as are set forth for county and city administrative unit supplementary elections in § 115-361. (1939, c. 358, s. 14½; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The first 1943 amendment rewrote the part of the first sentence preceding the proviso. The second 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission" in the next to the last sentence.

Contribution to Retirement Fund.—The provision of this section under which a local unit desiring to supplement state support for the schools is required to submit the question to a popular vote is not in deference to Art. VII, § 7, or the Constitution. It is simply the legislative adoption of a similar method of control over extravagant expenditure pro hac vice. It does not affect the status of the administrative unit as an agency of the state, and when the burden is assumed § 135-8 not only confers authority, but is mandatory in its provisions that the local administrative unit make its contribution to the state retirement fund, and that the taxing authorities therein provide the necessary funds. Bridges v. Charlotte, 221 N. C. 472, 481, 20 S. E. (2d) 825.

§ 115-363. Local budgets. — (a) The request for funds to supplement state school funds, as permitted under the above conditions, shall be filed with the tax levying authorities in each county and city administrative unit on or before the fifteenth day of June on forms provided by the state board of education. The tax levying authorities in such units may approve or disapprove this supplemental budget in whole or in part, and upon approval being given, the same shall be submitted to the state board of education, which shall have authority to approve or disapprove any object or item contained therein. In the event of approval by the state board of education, the same shall be shown in detail upon the minutes of said tax levying body, and a special levy shall be made therefor, and the tax receipt shall show upon the face thereof the purpose of said levy.

(b) In the same manner and at the same time, each county and/or city administrative unit may file a capital outlay budget, subject only to the approval of the tax levying authorities and the state board of education.

(c) In the same manner and at the same time, each county and/or city administrative unit shall file a debt service budget, which shall include debt service budgets of special bond tax districts, as set forth in § 115-364, and which shall be subject to the approval of the tax levying authorities in each such unit and the state board of education: Provided, that nothing in this subchapter shall prevent counties, local taxing districts and/or special charter districts from levying taxes to provide for debt service requirements.

The tax levying authorities in each of the above named units filing budgets from local funds shall report their action on said budgets on or before the tenth day of July, and the same shall be reported to the state board of education on or before the twentieth day of July. The action of the state board of education on all requests for local funds budgets shall be reported to boards of education and/or school governing authorities of city administrative units and the tax levying authorities in such units on or before the twentieth day of August.

All county-wide current expense school funds shall be apportioned to county and city administrative units monthly, and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to remit such funds monthly as collected to each administrative unit located in said county on a per capita enrollment basis. County-wide expense funds shall include all funds for current expenses levied by the board of county commissioners in any county to cover items for current expense purposes, and including also all fines, forfeitures, penalties, poll and dog taxes and funds for vocational subjects.

All county-wide capital outlay school funds shall be apportioned to county and city administrative units on the basis of budgets submitted by said units to the county commissioners and for the amounts and purposes approved by said commissioners. Capital outlay funds so provided for expenditure by the county administrative unit shall be paid out upon warrants drawn by the county board of education, and those provided for expenditure by a city administrative unit shall be paid out upon warrants drawn by the governing board of the city administrative unit: Provided, that funds derived from payments on insurance losses shall be used in the replacement of buildings destroyed, or in the event the buildings are not replaced, said funds shall be used to reduce the indebtedness of the special bond taxing unit to which said payment has been made, or for other capital outlay purposes within said unit. All county-wide debt service funds shall be apportioned to county and city administrative units and distributed at the time of collection and when available shall be expended in the same manner as are county-wide current expense school funds: Provided, that the payments to any administrative unit shall not exceed the actual needs of said units, including sinking fund requirements. The per capita enrollment basis shall be determined by the state board of education and certified to each administrative unit: Provided, further, that the debt service apportionment between county and city administrative units shall apply only to debt service for capital outlay obligations incurred by counties and cities prior to July 1, 1937, except in those counties where special legislation has been enacted providing for the issuance of school building bonds in behalf of school districts, and special bond tax units. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to refunding bonds issued for school capital outlay obligations. (1939, c. 358, s. 15; 1941, c. 200, c. 267, s. 7; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross References.—As to contents of school budgets, see § 115-157. As to deposit of school taxes collected with the county treasurer, see § 115-163.

Editor's Note.—The first 1941 amendment made changes in the third paragraph of subsection (c). The second 1941 amendment, which added the proviso at the end of this section, provided that its provisions "shall not apply to refunding bonds issued for school capital outlay obligations."

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Apportionment of County-Wide Taxes.—The principle upon which county-wide taxes were apportioned under the earlier law is fundamentally just and is preserved in the current School Machinery Act. Board of School Trustees v. Benner, 222 N. C. 566, 571, 24 S. E. (2d) 259.

§ 115-364. School indebtedness.—If a boundary, territorial district, or unit in which a special bond tax has heretofore been voted or in anyway assumed prior to July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, has been or may be divided or consolidated, and the whole or a portion of which has been or may be otherwise integrated with a new district so established under any reorganization and/or redistricting, such territorial unit, boundary, or district, special taxing or special charter, which has been abolished for school operating purposes, shall remain as a district for the purpose of the levy and collection of the special taxes theretofore voted in any unit, boundary, or district, special taxing or special charter, for the payment of bonds issued and/or other obligations so assumed, the said territorial boundary, district, or unit shall be maintained until all necessary taxes have been levied and collected therein for the payment of such bonds and/or other indebtedness so assumed. Such boundary, unit, or district shall be known and designated as the "..... Special Bond Tax Unit" of County.

All uncollected taxes which have been levied in the respective school districts for the purposes of meeting the operating costs of the schools shall remain as a lien against the property as originally assessed and shall be collectible as are other taxes so levied and, upon collection, shall be made a part of the debt service fund of the special bond tax unit, along with such other funds as may accrue to the credit of said unit; and in the event there is no debt service requirement upon such district, all amounts so collected for whatever purpose shall be covered into the county treasury to be used as a part of the county debt service for schools: Provided, that unpaid teacher's vouchers for the year in which the tax was levied shall be a prior lien: Provided, further, that nothing in this subchapter shall be construed as abolishing special taxes voted in any city administrative unit since July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three. (1939, c. 358, s. 16.)

§ 115-365. The operating budget.—It shall be the duty of the county board of education in each county and the school governing authorities in each city administrative unit, upon receipt of the tentative allotment of state funds for operating the schools and the approval of all local funds budgets, including supplements to state funds for operating schools of a higher standard, funds for debt service, and funds for capital outlay, to prepare an operating budget on forms provided by the state and file the same with the state superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education on or before the first day of October. Each operating budget shall be checked by the state school authorities to ascertain if it is in accordance with the allotment of state funds and the approval of local funds; and when found to be in accordance with same, shall be the total school budget for said county or city administrative unit. (1939, c. 358, s. 17; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The first 1943 amendment struck out the words "funds for extending the term" formerly appearing before the word "funds" in line nine. The second 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Cited in Bridges v. Charlotte, 221 N. C. 472, 485, 20 S. E. (2d) 825 (con. op.).

§ 115-366. Bonds.—The state board of education, subject to the approval of the local government commission, shall determine and provide all bonds necessary for the protection of the state school funds.

The tax levying authorities in each county and city administrative unit, subject to the approval of the local government commission, shall provide such bonds as the state board of education may require for the protection of county and district school funds. (1939, c. 358, s. 18; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-367. Provision for the disbursement of state funds.—The deposits of state funds in the state treasury to the credit of the county and city administrative units may be made in monthly installments, at such time and in such amounts as may be practicable to meet the needs and necessities of the nine months' school term in the various county and city administrative units: Provided, that prior to the crediting of any monthly installment, it shall be the duty of the county board of education or the board of trustees to file with the comptroller of the state board of education a certified statement of all expenditures and of all salaries and other obligations that may be due and payable in the succeeding month, said statement to be filed on or before the first day of each month.

When it shall appear to the comptroller from said certified statement that any amounts are due and necessary to be paid, he shall draw a requisition on the state auditor covering the same; and upon receipt of notice from the state treasurer showing the amount placed to their credit, the duly constituted authorities may issue state warrants in the amount so certified: Provided, that no funds shall be released for payment of salaries of administrative officers of county or city units if any reports required to be filed with the state school authorities are more than thirty days overdue. (1939, c. 358, s. 19; 1943, c. 769.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 115-368. How school funds shall be paid out.—The school funds shall be paid out as follows:

1. State School Funds.—School funds shall be released only on warrants drawn on the state treasurer signed by the chairman and the secretary of the county board of education for county administrative units, and by the chairman and the secretary of the board of trustees for city administrative units, and countersigned by such officer as the county government laws may require.

2. County and District Funds.—All county and district funds, from whatever source provided, shall be paid out only on warrants signed by the chairman and secretary of the board of education for counties and the chairman and the secretary of the board of trustees for city administrative units and countersigned by such officer as the county government laws may require: Provided, the countersigning officer shall countersign warrants drawn as herein specified when such warrants are within the funds set up to the credit of and are within the budget amounts appropriated for the particular administrative unit. Upon the basis of budget approval and upon receiving the certificate of per capita enrollment as set out in § 115-363, the county auditor or accountant shall ascertain and determine the proportion of all taxes levied by the county which shall be apportionable to the county administrative unit and any city administrative unit therein. As taxes are collected within said county, the proportion thereof allocable to the county administrative unit and any city administrative unit in said county shall be set up to the credit of such administrative unit by the county accountant or auditor. All funds due to the county administrative unit set up and ascertained as aforesaid shall be paid out as hereinbefore provided, and all funds due any city administrative unit therein shall be paid out as hereinbefore provided.

3. Records and Reports.—The state superintendent of public instruction and state board of education shall have full power and authority to make rules and regulations to prescribe the manner in which records shall be kept by all county and city administrative units as to the expenditure of current expense funds, capital outlay funds, and debt service funds, derived from local sources, and to prescribe for making reports thereof to the state superintendent of public instruction. (1939, c. 358, s. 20; 1941, c. 267, s. 8; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Cited in Bridges v. Charlotte, 221 N. C. 472, 20 S. E. (2d) 825 (con. op.).

§ 115-369. Audit.—The state board of education, in co-operation with the state auditor, shall cause to be made an audit of all school funds, state, county, and district; and the cost of said audit shall be borne by each fund audited in proportion to the total funds audited, as determined by the state board of education. The tax levying authorities for county and city administrative units shall make provision for meeting their proportionate part of the cost of making said audit, as provided in this subchapter.

Copies of said audits shall be filed with the state board of education, the state auditor and the state superintendent of public instruction not later than October first after the close of the fiscal year. (1939, c. 358, s. 21; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—See also § 115-168.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-370. Workmen's compensation and sick leave.—The provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act shall be applicable to all school employees, and the state board of education shall make such arrangements as are necessary to carry out the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act as are applicable to such employees as are paid from state school funds. Liability of the state for compensation shall be confined to school employees paid by the state from state school funds for injuries or death caused by accident arising out of and in the course of their employment in connection with the state operated nine months school term. The state shall be liable for said compensation on the basis of the average weekly wage of such employees as defined in the Workmen's Compensation Act, whether all of said compensation for the nine months school term is paid from state funds or in part supplemented by local funds. The county and city administrative units shall be liable for workmen's compensation for school employees whose salaries or wages are paid by such local units from local funds, and such local units shall likewise be liable for workmen's compensation of school employees employed in connection with teaching vocational agriculture, home economics, trades and industrial vocational subjects, supported in part by state and federal funds, which liability shall cover the entire period of service of such employees. Such local units are authorized and empowered to provide insurance to cover such compensation liability and to include the cost of such insurance in their annual budgets.

The state board of education is hereby authorized and empowered, in its discretion, to make provision for sick leave with pay for any teacher or principal not exceeding five days and to promulgate rules and regulations providing for necessary substitutes on account of said sick leave. The pay for a substitute shall not be less than three dollars per day.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to any person, firm or corporation making voluntary contributions to schools for any purpose, and such person, firm or corporation shall not be liable for the payment of any sum of money under this subchapter. (1939, c. 358, s. 22; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; 1943, c. 720, s. 3; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The first 1943 amendment changed the school term from eight to nine months. The second 1943 amendment substituted the words "be less than" for the word "exceed" in the second sentence of the second paragraph. The third 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

Vocational Instruction.—This section purports to make the local county board of education liable "for workmen's compensation of school employees employed in connection with teaching vocational agriculture, home economics, trades and industrial vocational subjects, supported in part by state and federal funds, which liability shall cover the entire period of service of such employees." The law is based on the equitable principle that the fund, provided for state-wide support of the public schools, most of which do not enjoy the privilege of vocational instruction as part of the curriculum, should not bear a burden more appropriate to a local enterprise, to which the state has given its aid. Callihan v. Board of Education, 222 N. C. 381, 385, 23 S. E. (2d) 297.

Maintenance Work Paid for by Municipal Board.—The findings of fact of the industrial commission, supported by evidence, were to the effect that claimant employee was employed as janitor of a school for 8 months out of the year, his salary for this work being paid in part by the state school commission, and was also employed in school maintenance work outside of his regular working hours as janitor and during the remaining four months of the year, his compensation for maintenance work being paid exclusively by the municipal board of education, and that he was injured in the course of his employment in maintenance work after regular hours in a school of which he was not custodian. It was held that the findings support the conclusion of law that he was injured during his employment by the municipal board of education and that the municipal board and its carrier are solely liable for compensation for his injury. Casey v. Board of Education, 219 N. C. 739, 14 S. E. (2d) 853.

§ 115-371. Age requirement and time of enrollment.—Children to be entitled to enrollment in the public schools for the school year one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine-forty, and each year thereafter, must be six years of age on or before October first of the year in which they enroll, and must enroll during the first month of the school year. (1939, c. 358, s. 22½.)

§ 115-372. Purchase of equipment and supplies.—It shall be the duty of the county boards of education and/or the governing bodies of city administrative units to purchase all supplies, equipment and materials in accordance with contracts and/or with the approval of the state division of purchase and contract: Provided, that no contracts shall be made by any county or city administrative unit for purchases unless provision has been made in the budget of such unit to provide payment therefor, or unless surplus funds are on hand to pay for same, and in order to protect the state purchase contracts, it is hereby made the mandatory duty upon the part of the governing authorities of such local units to pay for such purchases promptly in accordance with the terms of the contract of purchase. (1939, c. 358, s. 23.)

§ 115-373. Determination of manner of heating school buildings.—For the purpose of determining the most economical manner and method of heating school buildings, including type of insulation, the state board of education in co-operation with state department of public instruction is hereby authorized to conduct experiments in the different types of heating. (1939, c. 358, s. 23½; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "school commission."

§ 115-374. School transportation; use of school busses by state guard or national guard.—The control and management of all facilities for the transportation of public school children shall be vested in the state of North Carolina under the direction and supervision of the state board of education, which shall have authority to promulgate rules and regulations governing the organization, maintenance, and operation of the school transportation facilities. The tax levying authorities in the various counties of the state are authorized and empowered to provide in the capital outlay budget adequate buildings and equipment for the storage and maintenance of all school busses. Provision shall be made for adequate inspection each thirty days of each vehicle used in the transportation of school children, and a record of such inspection shall be filed in the office of the superintendent of the administrative unit. It shall be the duty of the administrative officer of each administrative unit to require an adequate inspection of each bus at least once each thirty days, the report or reports of which inspection shall be filed with the administrative officers. Every principal, upon being advised of any defect by the bus driver, shall cause a report of such defect to be made to this administrative officer immediately, whose duty it shall be to cause such defect to be remedied before such bus can be further operated. The use of school busses shall be limited to the transportation of children to and from school for the regularly organized school day: Provided, in cases of sudden illness or injury requiring immediate medical attention of any child or children while attending the public schools, the principal of the school may send the child or children by school bus, if no other vehicle is available, to the nearest doctor or hospital for medical treatment; provided the expense of such transportation shall be paid from county funds.

The state board of education is authorized and empowered, under rules and regulations to be adopted by said state board of education, to permit the use and operation of school busses for the transportation of school children on necessary field trips while pursuing the courses of vocational agriculture, home economics, trade and industrial vocational subjects, to and from demonstration projects carried on in connection therewith; provided that under no circumstances shall the total round trip mileage for any one trip exceed twenty-five miles nor on any such trip shall a State owned school bus be taken out of the State of North Carolina. The costs of operating such school busses for said purpose, including the liability for workmen's compensation therewith and the employment of drivers of such busses, shall be paid for out of State funds, and the drivers of such busses shall be selected and employed as is provided for the operation of busses for the regularly organized school day under § 115-378: Provided, further, that the state board of education shall approve and designate any busses used for the purposes herein set forth.

When ordered to do so by the governor, the state board of education is authorized and empowered, and it shall be its duty, to furnish a sufficient number of school busses to the North Carolina state guard or the national guard, and to permit the use of such school busses by the state guard or the national guard for the purpose of transporting members of the state guard or national guard to and from authorized places of encampment, or for the purpose of transporting members of the state guard or national guard to places where they are needed and authorized to go for the purpose of suppressing riots or insurrections or repelling invasions. Such busses, when used for the transportation of members of the state guard or national guard, shall be operated by members or employees of these organizations and the expenses of such operation and of repairs occasioned by such operation shall be paid from the appropriations available for the use of the state guard or the national guard. (1939, c. 358, s. 24; 1941, cc. 214, 267, s. 9; c. 315; 1943, c. 197; 1943, c. 255, s. 2; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

The first 1943 amendment added the last paragraph. The second 1943 amendment struck out the former second and third paragraphs of this section which had been changed by the second and third 1941 amendments. The third 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-375. Operation of school busses one day prior to opening of term.—The state board of education is hereby empowered, in order to properly organize the public schools of the State, to operate the school busses one day prior to the opening of the regular school term for the purpose of registration of students, organizing classes, distributing textbooks, and such other purposes as will promote the efficient organization and operation of the public schools of the State. The costs of operating the same for said purpose, including the liability for workmen's compensation therewith, shall be paid out of State funds. (1941, c. 101; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-376. Bus routes. — In establishing the route to be followed by each school bus operated as a part of the state school transportation system, in all schools where transportation is now or may hereafter be provided, the state board of education shall, in co-operation with the district principal, unless road or other conditions make it inadvisable, route the busses so as to get within one mile of all children who live more than one and one-half miles from the school to which they are assigned: Provided, that all routes so established shall be subject to the approval of the county board of education and with a view to the needs of the students to the end that the necessity of students waiting on the road for busses in inclement weather be eliminated. The state shall not be required to provide transportation for children living within one and one-half miles of the school in which provision for their instruction has been made. All bus routes thus established shall be filed with the county board of education prior to the opening of school; and in the event any of said routes are disapproved by the county board of education, notice of same shall be filed with the state board of education, and a hearing on such appeal shall be had by said board within thirty days. (1939, c. 358, s. 25; 1941, c. 267, s. 10½; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-377. Purchase of new equipment. — It shall be the duty of the tax levying authorities in the various counties, and they are hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to make provision in the capital outlay budget for the purchase under state contract of new busses needed to relieve overcrowding and to provide for the transportation of children not transported during the school year one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine. It shall be the duty of the state board of education to determine the rated capacity of each public school bus transporting children to or from school, and it shall be the duty of the local school authorities to see that no bus is loaded more than twenty-five per cent (25%) above its rated capacity. The county boards of education shall determine when the busses are overcrowded as specified in this section, and the state shall provide for the operation of all new busses purchased by the counties. It shall be the duty of the state of North Carolina to purchase all school busses used as replacements for old publicly owned busses which were operated by the state during the school year one thousand nine hundred forty, forty-one. It shall be the duty of the state board of education to promulgate rules and regulations that will insure for the children the greatest possible safety, including a standard signaling device for giving the public due notice that the bus is making a stop. Before purchasing new school busses, the state board of education shall cause to be made a thorough study of the most modern materials and construction for insuring the safest equipment possible within the funds available. The state board of education, in its discretion, may effect fire insurance coverage on the school busses, or act as a self-insurer. (1939, c. 358, s. 26; 1941, c. 267, ss. 8½, 10; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—As to maximum speed school busses allowed to travel, see § 20-218.

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the second and third sentences of this section. It also substituted "forty, forty-one" for "thirty-eight, thirty-nine" in the fifth sentence.

The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-378. Bus drivers.—The authority for selecting and employing the drivers of school busses shall be vested in the principal or superintendent of the school at the termination of the route, subject to the approval of the school committeemen or trustees of said school and the county or city superintendent of schools: Provided, that each driver shall be selected with a view to having him located as near the beginning of the truck route as possible; and it shall be lawful to employ student drivers wherever such is deemed advisable. The salary paid each employee in the operation of the school transportation system shall be in accordance with a salary schedule adopted by the state board of education for that particular type of employee. (1939, c. 358, s. 27; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—As to standard qualifications of school bus drivers, see § 20-218.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-379. Contract transportation. — In counties where school transportation is provided by contract with private operators, the state shall provide funds for operating costs on the standards adopted for publicly owned busses, and it shall be the duty of the tax levying authorities in the various counties to provide in the capital outlay budget the additional funds necessary to pay contracts. (1939, c. 358, s. 28.)

§ 115-380. Co-operation with highway and public works commission in maintenance of equipment.—The state board of education is hereby authorized to negotiate with the highway and public works commission in co-ordinating all facilities for the repair, maintenance, and upkeep of equipment to be used by the state board of education in the school transportation system. In all cases where this is done, the state highway and public works commission shall be reimbursed in the amount of the actual cost involved for labor and parts to be determined by an itemized statement filed with the state board of education. (1939, c. 358, s. 29; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted "state board of education" for "state school commission."

§ 115-381. Lunch rooms may be provided.—In such cases as may be deemed advisable by the trustees or school committee in any school, and where the same may be deemed necessary because of the distance of the said school from places where meals may be easily obtained, it shall be permissible for the said trustees and the said school committees, as a part of the functions of the said public schools, to provide cafeterias and places where meals may be sold, and operate or cause the same to be operated for the convenience of teachers, school officers, and pupils of the said schools. There shall be no personal liability upon the said trustees and school committees, or members thereof, arising out of the operation of the said eating places, and it is understood and declared that the same are carried on and conducted in connection with the public schools, and because of the necessities arising out of the consolidation of the said schools and the inconvenience and interruption of the school day caused by seeking meals elsewhere: Provided, that no part of the appropriation made by the state for the public schools shall be expended for the operation of said cafeterias or eating places, nor shall the provisions of § 115-370 apply to the employees of the cafeterias or eating places, except such persons as are regularly employed otherwise in the schools. (1939, c. 358, s. 30.)

§ 115-382. Miscellaneous funds. — It shall be the duty of the county superintendent of public instruction to examine the records of the county to see that the proceeds from the poll taxes and the dog taxes are correctly accounted for to the school fund each year, and to examine the records of the several courts of the county, including courts of justices of the peace, at least once every three months to see that all fines, forfeitures, and penalties, and any other special funds accruing to the county school fund, are correctly and promptly accounted for to the school fund; and if the superintendent shall find that any such taxes or fines are not correctly and promptly accounted for to the school fund, it shall be his duty to make prompt report thereof to the state board of education and also to the solicitor of the superior court in the district.

It shall be unlawful for any of the proceeds of poll taxes, dog taxes, fines, forfeitures, and penalties to be used for other than school purposes, and the official responsible for any diversion of such funds to other purposes shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punishable by fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, however, that this section shall not be construed as making unlawful the use of such portions of said funds for other purposes as may be provided by the provisions of this subchapter. The clear proceeds of poll taxes, dog taxes, fines, forfeitures and penalties shall be accounted for by the officers collecting the same, and no deductions shall be made therefrom for fees or commissions. Any court officer, including justices of the peace, who shall wilfully fail or refuse to account for all poll taxes, dog taxes, fines, forfeitures or penalties coming into the hands of such officer, shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a felony and imprisoned in the state's prison in the discretion of the court, or fined in the discretion of the court, or both. (1939, c. 358, s. 31; 1943, c. 721, s. 8.)

SUBCHAPTER XXIII. NORTH CAROLINA STATE THRIFT SOCIETY.

Art. 51. North Carolina State Thrift Society.

§ 115-383. North Carolina state thrift society incorporated.—In order the better to provide for the education of the school children of the state in the principles and practice of thrift and saving and in order to aid them in making better provision for their future advanced education, there is hereby created under the patronage and control of the state a non-stock corporation to be known as the North Carolina state thrift society. (1933, c. 385, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Session Laws 1943, c. 543, directed that former sections 55-14 to 55-25, inclusive, be transferred to follow immediately after § 115-382 and that they be appropriately renumbered.

§ 115-384. Charter perpetual.—The charter of the society shall be perpetual. (1933, c. 385, s. 2.)

§ 115-385. Membership and directors.—The membership of the society shall be identical with the membership of the governing board, which shall consist of sixteen directors. The state treasurer, the superintendent of public instruction, the president of the North Carolina bankers association and the president of the University of North Carolina shall throughout their terms of office be ex officio members of the board. The remaining twelve members of the board shall be appointed by the governor for successive terms of four years each, and shall be equally divided between the business and financial and the educational interests of the state, six members to each of the named groups: Provided that at least four of those representing business must be experienced bankers. (1933, c. 385, s. 3.)

§ 115-386. Vacancies.—In the event of a vacancy occurring before the expiration of the terms of office of any director, the board by a majority vote of its full membership, including ex officio members, shall have power to elect persons to fill out the unexpired terms. (1933, c. 385, s. 4.)

§ 115-387. Officers of society.—The officers of the society shall be elected by the board, and shall include a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and auditor. The treasurer of the society shall be responsible for the funds of the society, and shall furnish good and sufficient surety in such amount as may be fixed from time to time by the board of directors. (1933, c. 385, s. 5; 1935, c. 489, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment of 1935 the state treasurer was ex officio treasurer and depository of the fund of the society. The last sentence as it now reads is entirely new.

§ 115-388. Powers of purchase and sale.—The society shall have power and authority to purchase, lease and otherwise acquire such real and personal property as may be deemed useful to the prosecution of the objects for which it is created. It may sell and dispose of the same and may hold or may sell and convey such property also as may be taken in whole or partial satisfaction of any debt due to it. It may also receive gifts of money and property to be applied to its corporate purposes. (1933, c. 385, s. 6.)

§ 115-389. Deposits of school children.—The society may receive deposits of the funds of children and others attending any of the public schools or colleges of North Carolina, as provided in § 55-25, and subject to repayment on terms established by the board, provided that no individual account may exceed $1,000. (1933, c. 385, s. 7.)

§ 115-390. Depositories.—The funds in the treasurer's hands may be deposited by him, to his credit, with banks which are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. In no case may the amount in any one bank exceed the amount covered by insurance. The interest accruing and paid on such deposits shall be added to the funds of the society. (1933, c. 385, s. 8; 1935, c. 489, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—By the amendment of 1935 this section was changed to conform to the changes effected in section 115-387. As the state treasurer is no longer ex officio treasurer of the society this change is necessary.

deposits in the society nor its property, investments and assets shall at any time be subject to taxation by the state of North Carolina or any of its sub-divisions, except that gift, inheritance or estate taxes may be levied on the transfer of private deposits in the society. (1933, c. 385, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment of 1923, this section specified pupils and their ages, who could be admitted to this institution. The former section had also required that the person making an application for admission of pupils should first obtain written approval of the board of county commissioners of the pupil's legal residence. In lieu of this provision the last sentence of this section was substituted.

§ 116-130. Persons authorized to make application for minors.—The application for the admission of a child below the age of twenty-one years shall be made, first, by the father, if the father and mother are living together; second, by the one having custody of the child, if the father and mother are not living together; third, by a guardian duly appointed; fourth, by the superintendent of any county home, or by the person having the management of any orphanage, association, charity, society, children's home workers, ministers, teachers, or physicians, or other institutions where children are cared for. Under items third and fourth, consent of parents, if living, is not required. (1915, c. 266, s. 3; C. S. 5899.)

1. Affidavit. In case of mentally defective persons who are twenty-one years or over, any responsible person residing in the county may file in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county an affidavit stating that some person of the county is not being properly maintained or cared for by those having such person in charge; that such person is feeble-minded, and is over twenty-one and is in good bodily health, and is not helpless, is not afflicted with any chronic or contagious disease; that said person is a legal resident of the state and county where the application is filed, together with such other statements as may be necessary to show that he or she is a proper person to be admitted to such institution, and that his or her admission thereto would be in conformity to the rules and regulations established by the board of directors for the admission and care of such person.

2. Summons upon affidavit. Upon the filing of the affidavit in the office of the clerk of the superior court by the proper person, the clerk shall issue a summons to such person named in the application or petition, requiring him or her to be and appear before said court, or the judge thereof, at some time to be fixed by the clerk, not more than ten days thereafter.

3. Action upon affidavit. The judge or clerk shall, as soon as convenient, pass upon said application or petition, and it shall be the duty of said court to examine such witnesses as may be necessary, among whom shall be at least one physician, to prove the truth or falsity of the statements in said application or petition.

4. Order of commitment. If the court finds that each and all of the allegations contained in said application or petition are true, and that said person is a proper person to be cared for in said institution, it shall be its duty to make an order committing the care and custody of said person to said institution.

5. Transcript to superintendent; costs paid by county. It shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to make a certified copy of said application or petition and the finding and judgment of said court, and transmit the same, together with a statement of such facts as can be ascertained concerning the personal and family history of such person, to the superintendent of the institution at Kinston, North Carolina. The costs of said proceedings shall be allowed and paid by the board of county commissioners of the county. (1915, c. 266, s. 4; C. S. 5900.)

§ 116-132. Decision by superintendent and notice to clerk.—Upon receipt of such order of commitment, it shall be the duty of the superintendent of the institution at once to consider the application and to determine whether or not said person shall be admitted to the institution, and to notify the clerk of the court of his decision, and if there is room for any more inmates, or as soon thereafter as there shall be room in the institution, to notify the clerk that such person will be received in the institution. With such notice the superintendent shall send a list of such clothing as shall be prescribed by the board of trustees of the institution, and a blank form of certificate of health and freedom of exposure to contagious disease at such time. In case the parents or custodian of such person shall be financially unable to furnish the clothing as required, the clerk shall procure the clothing at a cost not to exceed twenty dollars, and the payment for same shall be made out of the county treasury by the board of county commissioners upon the certificate of the clerk of the court. (1915, c. 266, s. 5; C. S. 5901.)

§ 116-133. Conveyance to and from school upon discharge.—Upon receiving notice that such person can be admitted to the institution, the clerk shall order the parents, custodian, or applicant to convey such person to the institution without expense to the institution or the county. In case such parents, custodian, or applicant is financially unable to bear such expense, the clerk shall cause the person to be conveyed to the institution in the same manner and in accordance with the same forms as are now provided by law for the transfer of patients to insane hospitals, so far as they are applicable. And when any child or person, who is or has been an inmate of the institution, is dismissed or discharged from said institution in accordance with the rules and regulations of said institution, the parent or guardian of such child or person shall come, or send some responsible person, to receive said child or person and convey same to his or her legal residence, without cost to the institution; and in case the parent or guardian of said child or person is wholly unable to bear such expense, then the commissioners of said county shall allow such expense. (1915, c. 266, s. 6; C. S. 5902.)

§ 116-134. Clothing and conveyance of children at cost of county.—In case the parents of a child below the age of twenty-one are wholly unable to bear the expense of furnishing the clothing of said child as required by the rules and regulations of the board of directors of said school, or of furnishing the money for transportation of such child to the school, it shall be the duty of the county from which the child is sent to bear such cost, in the manner provided for adults in the other sections of this article. (1915, c. 266, s. 7.)

§ 116-135. Expenditure of sums by superintendent of Caswell Training School for student work authorized.—The superintendent of Caswell Training School is hereby authorized and empowered in his discretion, when funds are available, to pay children of the school for work done at the Caswell Training School: Provided, that the amount of money so expended shall not exceed fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500.00) in any one fiscal year. (1939, c. 278.)

§ 116-136. Discharge of pupils.—Any pupil of said school may be discharged or returned to his or her parents or guardian when in the judgment of the directors it will not be beneficial to such pupil, or will not be for the best interests of said school, to retain the pupil therein. (1915, c. 266, s. 9; C. S. 5904.)

(a) For any person to advise, or solicit, or to offer to advise, or solicit, any inmate of said school to escape therefrom;

(b) For any person to transport, or to offer to transport, in automobile or other conveyance any inmate of said school to or from any place: Provided, this shall not apply to the superintendent and teachers of said school, or to employees or any other person acting under the superintendent and teachers thereof;

(c) For any person to engage in, or to offer to engage in, prostitution with any inmate of said school;

(d) For any person to receive, or to offer to receive, any inmate of said school into any place, structure, building or conveyance for the purpose of prostitution, or to solicit any inmate of said school to engage in prostitution;

(e) For any person to conceal an escaped inmate of said school, or to furnish clothing to an escaped inmate thereof to enable him or her to conceal his or her identity.
