§ 58-247. Membership as a prerequisite for writing insurance; governing committee; rules and regulations; expenses; Commissioner of Insurance ex officio chairman.—(a) Before the Commissioner of Insurance shall grant permission to any stock, nonstock, or reciprocal insurance company or any other insurance organization to write automobile bodily injury and property damage insurance in this State, it shall be a requisite that they shall subscribe to and become members of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office.

(b) Each member of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office writing the above classes of insurance in North Carolina shall, as a requisite thereto, be represented in the aforesaid bureau and shall be entitled to one representative and one vote in the administration of the affairs of the bureau. They shall, upon organization, elect a governing committee which governing committee shall be composed of equal representation by stock and nonstock members.

(c) The bureau, when created, shall adopt such rules and regulations for its orderly procedure as shall be necessary for its maintenance and operation. No such rules and regulations shall discriminate against any type of insurer because of its plan of operation, nor shall any insurer be prevented from returning any unused or unabsorbed premium, deposit, savings or earnings to its policyholders or subscribers. The expense of such bureau shall be borne by its members by quarterly contributions to be made in advance, such contributions to be made in advance by prorating such expense among the members in accordance with the amount of gross premiums derived from automobile bodily injury and property damage insurance in North Carolina during the preceding year ending December 31, 1938, and members entering such bureau since that date to advance an amount to be fixed by the governing committee. After the first fiscal year of operation of the bureau the necessary expense of the bureau shall be advanced by the members in accordance with rules and regulations to be established and adopted by the governing committee.

(d) The Commissioner of Insurance of the State of North Carolina, or such deputy as he may appoint, shall be ex officio chairman of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office and shall preside over all meetings of the governing committee or other meetings of the bureau and it shall be his duty to determine any controversy that may arise by reason of a tie vote between the members of the governing committee. (1939, c. 394, s. 2; 1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment inserted the word "and" in subsection (a) and struck out the words "and collision" formerly appearing after the word "dam-

§ 58-248. Personnel and assistants; general manager; authority of Commissioner of Insurance.—In order to carry into effect the objects of §§ 58-246 to 58-248, the bureau members shall immediately elect its governing committee who shall employ and fix the salaries of such personnel and assistants as are necessary, but the general manager of the Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau of North Carolina shall be the general manager also of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office and the Commissioner of Insurance is hereby authorized to compel the production of all books, data, papers and records and any other data necessary to compile statistics for the purpose of determining the pure cost and expense loading of automobile bodily injury and property damage insurance in North Carolina and this information shall be available and for the use of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office for the capitulation and promulgation of rates on automobile bodily injury and property damage insurance. All such rates compiled and promulgated by such bureau shall be submitted to the Commissioner of Insurance for approval and no such rates shall be put into effect in this State until approved by the Commissioner of Insurance and not subsequently disapproved: Provided §§ 58-246 to 58-248 shall not apply to publicly owned vehicles. (1939, c. 394, s. 3; 1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment deleted former references to collision insurance.

§ 58-248.1. Order of Commissioner revising improper rates, classifications and classification assignments. — Whenever the Commissioner, upon his own motion or upon petition of any aggrieved party, shall determine, after notice and a hearing, that the rates charged or filed on any class of risks are excessive, inadequate, unreasonable, unfairly discriminatory, or otherwise not in the public interest, or that a classification or classification assignment is unwarranted, unreasonable, improper or unfairly discriminatory he shall issue an order to the bureau directing that such rates, classifications or classification assignments be altered or revised in the manner and to the extent stated in such order to produce rates, classifications or classification assignments which are reasonable, adequate, not unfairly discriminatory, and in the public interest. (1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

Applied in In re Blue Bird Taxi Co., 377 N. C. 373, 75 S. E. (2d) 156 (1953).

§ 58-248.2. Insurance policy must conform to rates, etc., filed by rating bureau; when deviation allowed.—No insurer, officer, agent or representative thereof shall knowingly issue or deliver or knowingly permit the issuance or delivery of any policy of insurance in this State which does not conform to the rates, rating plans, classifications, schedules, rules and standards made and filed by the rating bureau. However, an insurer may deviate from the rates promulgated by the rating bureau provided the insurer has filed the deviation to be applied both with the rating bureau and the Commissioner, and provided the said deviation is uniform in its application to all risks in the State of the class to which such deviation is to apply; and provided such deviation is approved by the Commissioner. If approved the deviation shall remain in force for a period of one year from the date of approval by the Commissioner. Such deviation may be renewed annually subject to all of the foregoing provisions. A rate in excess of that promulgated by the rating bureau may be charged on any specific risk provided such higher rate is charged with the knowledge and written consent of both the insured and the Commissioner. (1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

§ 58-248.3. Revocation or suspension of license for violation of article.—If the Commissioner shall find, after due notice and hearing that any insurer, officer, agent or representative thereof has violated any of the provisions of this article, he may issue an order revoking or suspending the license of any such insurer, agent, broker or representative thereof. (1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

§ 58-248.4. Punishment for violation of article.—Any insurer, officer, agent or representative thereof failing to comply with, or otherwise violating any of the provisions of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00). (1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

§ 58-248.5. Review of order of Commissioner.—A review of any order made by the Commissioner in accordance with the provisions of this article shall be by appeal to the Superior Court of Wake County in accordance with the provisions of § 58-9.3. (1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

Applied in In re Blue Bird Taxi Co., 237 N. C. 373, 75 S. E. (2d) 156 (1953).

§ 58-248.6. Appeal to Commissioner from decision of bureau. — Any member of the bureau may appeal to the Commissioner from any decision of such bureau and the Commissioner shall, after a hearing held on not less than ten days' written notice to the appellant and to the bureau, issue an order approving the decision of the bureau or directing it to give further consideration to such proposal. In the event the bureau fails to take satisfactory action, the Commissioner shall make such order as he may see fit. (1945, c. 381, s. 2.)

§ 58-248.7. Validation of experience rating plans in use prior to April 7, 1953.—All acts of the Commissioner of Insurance, prior to April 7, 1953, in authorizing and approving systems of experience rating or other forms of merit rating for use in connection with automobile liability insurance and workmen's compensation insurance, are hereby ratified, confirmed and validated.

All acts of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office and of the Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau of North Carolina, prior to April 7, 1953, in the application of such systems of experience rating or other forms of merit rating and in the promulgation of premium rates and modifications thereof applicable to such kinds of insurance, pursuant to such authorizations and approvals, are hereby ratified, confirmed, and validated.

All acts of insurers and insureds, prior to April 7, 1953, in the issuance and acceptance of contracts of insurance and the premium charges made or collected therefor at rates and modifications thereof pursuant to such authorizations and approvals by the Commissioner of Insurance and in accordance with such promulgations of the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office, and the Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau of North Carolina, are hereby ratified, confirmed and validated.

This section shall not affect pending litigation, and shall not apply to or affect the rights of any person which have been judicially determined. (1953, c. 980.)

§ 58-248.8. Rates to distinguish between safe and nonsafe drivers.—The Commissioner of Insurance, in the manner prescribed by article 25 of subchapter V of chapter 58 of the General Statutes, is directed to establish rates which adequately and factually distinguish between classes of drivers having safe-driving records and those having a record of accidents, so that those drivers with a record of no accidents shall not be subject to unreasonable, unfair and discriminatory rates. (1957, c. 1393, s. 11.)

SUBCHAPTER VI. ACCIDENT AND HEALTH INSURANCE.

ARTICLE 26.

Nature of Policies.

§ 58-249. Form, classification and rates to be approved by Commissioner of Insurance.—No policy of insurance against loss or damage from the sickness or the bodily injury or death of the insured by accident shall be issued or delivered to any person in this State until a copy of the form thereof and of the classification of risks and the premium rates pertaining thereto have been filed with, and the forms approved by, the Commissioner of Insurance. If the Commissioner shall notify, in writing, the company or other insurer which has filed such form that it does not comply with the requirements of law, specifying the reasons for his opinion, it shall be unlawful thereafter for any such insurer to issue any policy in such form. The action of the Commissioner in this regard shall be subject to review by any court of competent jurisdiction; but nothing in this article shall be construed to give jurisdiction to any court not already having jurisdiction. (1911, c. 209, s. 1; 1913, c. 91, s. 1; C. S., s. 6477; 1945, c. 385.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment inserted near the end of the first sentence the words "and the forms approved by," and struck out the word "society" formerly appearing after the word "company" near the beginning of the second sentence. It also struck out from the end of the first sentence the words "nor shall it be so issued or delivered until the expiration of thirty days after it has been so filed unless the Commissioner shall sooner give his written approval thereto."

§ 58-250. Form of policy.—(a) No policy of accident and health insurance shall be delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State unless:

- (1) The entire money and other considerations therefor are expressed therein; and
- (2) The time at which the insurance takes effect and terminates is expressed therein; and
- (3) It purports to insure only one person, except that a policy may insure, originally or by subsequent amendment, upon the application of an adult member of a family who shall be deemed the policyholder, any two or more eligible members of that family, including husband, wife, dependent children or any children under a specified age which shall not exceed nineteen years and any other persons dependent upon the policyholder; and
- (4) The style, arrangement and over-all appearance of the policy give no undue prominence to any portion of the text, and unless every printed portion of the text of the policy and of any endorsements or attached papers is plainly printed in light-faced type of a style in general use, the size of which shall be uniform and not less than ten-point with a lower-case unspaced alphabet length not less than one hundred and twenty-point (the "text" shall include all printed matter except the name and address of the insurer, name or title of the policy, the brief description if any, and captions and subcaptions); and
- (5) The exceptions and reductions of indemnity are set forth in the policy and, except those which are set forth in § 58-251.1, are printed, at the insurer's option, either included with the benefit provision to which they apply, or under an appropriate caption such as "EXCEPTIONS", or "EXCEPTIONS AND REDUCTIONS", provided that if an exception or reduction specifically applies only to a particular benefit of the policy, a statement of such exception or reduction shall be included with the benefit provision to which it applies; and
- (6) Each such form, including riders and endorsements, shall be identified by a form number in the lower left-hand corner of the first page thereof; and

- (7) It contains no provision purporting to make any portion of the charter, rules, constitution, or bylaws of the insurer a part of the policy unless such portion is set forth in full in the policy, except in the case of the incorporation of, or reference to, a statement of rates or classification of risks, or short-rate table filed with the Commissioner.

(b) If any policy is issued by an insurer domiciled in this State for delivery to a person residing in another state, and if the official having responsibility for the administration of the insurance laws of such other state shall have advised the Commissioner that any such policy is not subject to approval or disapproval by such official, the Commissioner may by ruling require that such policy meet the standards set forth in subsection (a) of this section and in § 58-251.1. (1913, c. 91, s. 2; C. S., s. 6478; 1945, c. 385; 1953, c. 1095, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment rewrote this section as changed by the 1945 amendment. Section 13 of the 1953 amendatory act provided: "This act shall be in full force and effect from and after January 1, 1954. A policy, rider or endorsement which could have been lawfully used or delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State immediately before the effective date of this act may be used or delivered or issued for delivery to any such person during three years after the effective date of this act without being subject to the provisions of sections 58-250, 58-251.1 or 58-258, General Statutes, as rewritten by this act."

Every individual or family hospitalization policy, certificate, contract or plan issued for delivery in the State of North Carolina on and after January 1, 1956, must have printed thereon or attached thereto a notice stating in substance that the person to whom the policy is issued is permitted to return the policy within ten (10) days of its receipt by him and have the premium paid refunded, if, after examination of the policy, he is not satisfied with it for any reason. If a policyholder or certificate holder or purchaser of a contract or plan returns same pursuant to such notice, coverage under such policy, certificate, contract or plan shall become void immediately upon the mailing or delivery of the contract, certificate, policy or plan to the insurance company at its home or branch office or to the agent through whom it was purchased. Coverage shall exist under such policy, certificate, contract or plan within said ten-day period until said mailing or delivery of the contract. (1955, c. 850, s. 10.)

Editor's Note. — Section 12 of the act which inserted this section made it applicable to hospital and medical service corporations under chapter 57 to the same extent as to insurers under this chapter.

Editor's Note.—The repealing act is effective as of January 1, 1954. See note to § 58-250.

§ 58-251.1. Accident and health policy provisions.—(a) Required Provisions.—Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section each such policy delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State shall contain the provisions specified in this subsection in the words in which the same appear in this section; provided, however, that the insurer may, at its option, substitute for one or more of such provisions corresponding provisions of different wording approved by the Commissioner which are in each instance not less favorable in any respect to the insured or the beneficiary. Such provisions shall be preceded individually by the caption appearing in this subsection or, at the option of the insurer, by such appropriate individual or group captions or subcaptions as the Commissioner may approve.

- (1) A provision as follows:

ENTIRE CONTRACT; CHANGES: This policy, including the endorsements and the attached papers, if any, constitutes the entire contract of insurance. No change in this policy shall be valid until approved by an executive officer of the insurer and unless such approval be endorsed hereon or attached hereto. No agent has authority to change this policy or waive any of its provisions.

(2) A provision as follows:

TIME LIMIT ON CERTAIN DEFENSES:

- a. After two years from the date of issue of this policy no misstatements, except fraudulent misstatements, made by the applicant in the application for such policy shall be used to void the policy or to deny a claim for loss incurred or disability (as defined in the policy) commencing after the expiration of such two-year period.

(The foregoing policy provision shall not be so construed as to affect any legal requirement for avoidance of a policy or denial of a claim during such initial two-year period, nor to limit the application of § 58-251.1 (b), (1), (2), (3), (4) and (5) in the event of misstatement with respect to age or occupation or other insurance.)

(A policy which the insured has the right to continue in force subject to its terms by the timely payment of premium:

1. Until at least age 50 or,
2. In the case of a policy issued after age 44, for at least five years from its date of issue, may contain in lieu of the foregoing the following provisions (from which the clause in parentheses may be omitted at the insurer's option) under the caption "INCONTESTABLE".

After this policy has been in force for a period of two years during the lifetime of the insured (excluding any period during which the insured is disabled), it shall become incontestable as to the statements contained in the application.)

- b. No claim for loss incurred or disability (as defined in the policy) commencing after two years from the date of issue of this policy shall be reduced or denied on the ground that a disease or physical condition not excluded from coverage by name or specific description effective on the date of loss had existed prior to the effective date of coverage of this policy.

(3) A provision as follows:

GRACE PERIOD: A grace period of (insert a number not less than "7" for weekly premium policies, "10" for monthly premium policies and "31" for all other policies) days will be granted for the payment of each premium falling due after the first premium, during which grace period the policy shall continue in force.

(A policy which contains a cancellation provision may add, at the end of the above provision, subject to the right of the insurer to cancel in accordance with the cancellation provision hereof.

A policy in which the insurer reserves the right to refuse any renewal shall have, at the beginning of the above provision,

Unless not less than five days prior to the premium due date the insurer has delivered to the insured or has mailed to his last address as shown by the record of the insurer written notice of its intention not to renew this policy beyond the period for which the premium has been accepted.)

(4) A provision as follows:

REINSTATEMENT: If any renewal premium be not paid within the time granted the insured for payment, a subsequent acceptance of premium by the insurer or by any agent duly authorized by the insurer to accept such premium, without requiring in connection therewith an application for reinstatement, shall reinstate the policy; provided, however, that if the insurer or such agent requires an application for reinstatement and issues a conditional receipt for the premium tendered, the policy will be reinstated upon approval of such application by the insurer, or, lacking such approval, upon the forty-fifth day following the date of such conditional receipt unless the insurer has previously notified the insured in writing of its disapproval of such application. The reinstated policy shall cover only loss resulting from such accidental injury as may be sustained after the date of reinstatement and loss due to such sickness as may begin more than ten days after such date. In all other respects the insured and insurer shall have the same rights thereunder as they had under the policy immediately before the due date of the defaulted premium, subject to any provisions endorsed hereon or attached hereto in connection with the reinstatement. Any premium accepted in connection with a reinstatement shall be applied to a period for which premium has not been previously paid, but not to any period more than sixty days prior to the date of reinstatement.

(The last sentence of the above provision may be omitted from any policy which the insured has the right to continue in force subject to its terms by the timely payment of premiums:

a. Until at least age 50 or,

b. In the case of a policy issued after age 44, for at least five years from its date of issue.)

(5) A provision as follows:

NOTICE OF CLAIM: Written notice of claim must be given to the insurer within twenty days after the occurrence or commencement of any loss covered by the policy, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably possible. Notice given by or on behalf of the insured or the beneficiary to the insurer at (insert the location of such office as the insurer may designate for the purpose), or to any authorized agent of the insurer, with information sufficient to identify the insured, shall be deemed notice to the insurer.

(In a policy providing a loss-of-time benefit which may be payable for at least two years, an insurer may at its option insert the following between the first and second sentences of the above provision:

Subject to the qualifications set forth below, if the insured suffers loss of time on account of disability for which indemnity may be payable for at least two years, he shall, at least once in every six months after having given notice of claim, give to the insurer notice of continuance of said disability, except in the event of legal incapacity. The period of six months following any filing of proof by the insured or any payment by the insurer on account of such claim or any denial of liability in whole or in part by the insurer shall be excluded in applying this provision. Delay in the giving of such notice shall not impair the insured's right to any indemnity which would otherwise have accrued during the period of six months preceding the date on which such notice is actually given.)

CLAIM FORMS: The insurer, upon receipt of a notice of claim, will furnish to the claimant such forms as are usually furnished by it for filing proofs of loss. If such forms are not furnished within fifteen days after the giving of such notice the claimant shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this policy as to proof of loss upon submitting, within the time fixed in the policy for filing proofs of loss, written proof covering the occurrence, the character and the extent of the loss for which claim is made.

- (7) A provision as follows:

PROOFS OF LOSS: Written proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer at its said office in case of claim for loss for which this policy provides any periodic payment contingent upon continuing loss within ninety days after the termination of the period for which the insurer is liable and in case of claim for any other loss within ninety days after the date of such loss. Failure to furnish such proof within the time required shall not invalidate nor reduce any claim if it was not reasonably possible to give proof within such time, provided such proof is furnished as soon as reasonably possible and in no event, except in the absence of legal capacity, later than one year from the time proof is otherwise required.

- (8) A provision as follows:

TIME OF PAYMENT OF CLAIMS: Indemnities payable under this policy for any loss other than loss for which this policy provides any period payment will be paid immediately upon receipt of due written proof of such loss. Subject to due written proof of loss, all accrued indemnities for loss for which this policy provides periodic payment will be paid (insert period for payment which must not be less frequently than monthly) and any balance remaining unpaid upon the termination of liability will be paid immediately upon receipt of due written proof.

- (9) A provision as follows:

PAYMENT OF CLAIMS: Indemnity for loss of life will be payable in accordance with the beneficiary designation and the provisions respecting such payment which may be prescribed herein and effective at the time of payment. If no such designation or provision is then effective, such indemnity shall be payable to the estate of the insured. Any other accrued indemnities unpaid at the insured's death may, at the option of the insurer, be paid either to such beneficiary or to such estate. All other indemnities will be payable to the insured.

If any indemnity of this policy shall be payable to the estate of the insured, or to an insured or beneficiary who is a minor or otherwise not competent to give a valid release, the insurer may pay such indemnity, up to an amount not exceeding $. (insert an amount which shall not exceed $1000), to any relative by blood or connection by marriage of the insured or beneficiary who is deemed by the insurer to be equitably entitled thereto. Any payment made by the insurer in good faith pursuant to this provision shall fully discharge the insurer to the extent of such payment.

Subject to any written direction of the insured in the application or otherwise all or a portion of any indemnities provided by this policy on account of hospital, nursing, medical, or surgical services, may at the insurer's option and unless the insured requests otherwise in writing not later than the time of filing proofs of such loss, be paid directly to the hospital or person rendering such services; but it is not required that the service be rendered by a particular hospital or person.)

- (10) A provision as follows:

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS AND AUTOPSY: The insurer

at its own expense shall have the right and opportunity to examine the person of the insured when and as often as it may reasonably require during the pendency of a claim hereunder and to make an autopsy in case of death where it is not forbidden by law.

(11) A provision as follows:

LEGAL ACTIONS: No action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on this policy prior to the expiration of sixty days after written proof of loss has been furnished in accordance with the requirements of this policy. No such action shall be brought after the expiration of three years after the time written proof of loss is required to be furnished.

(12) A provision as follows:

CHANGE OF BENEFICIARY: Unless the insured makes an irrevocable designation of beneficiary, the right to change of beneficiary is reserved to the insured and the consent of the beneficiary or beneficiaries shall not be requisite to surrender or assignment of this policy or to any change of beneficiary or beneficiaries, or to any other changes in this policy.

(The first clause of this provision, relating to the irrevocable designation of beneficiary, may be omitted at the insurer's option.)

(b) Other Provisions.—Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, no such policy delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State shall contain provisions respecting the matters set forth below unless such provisions are in the words in which the same appear in this section; provided, however, that the insurer may, at its option, use in lieu of any such provision a corresponding provision of different wording, approved by the Commissioner which is not less favorable in any respect to the insured or the beneficiary. Any such provision contained in the policy shall be preceded individually by the appropriate caption appearing in this subsection or, at the option of the insurer, by such appropriate individual or group captions or subcaptions as the Commissioner may approve.

(1) A provision as follows:

CHANGE OF OCCUPATION: If the insured be injured or contract sickness after having changed his occupation to one classified by the insurer as more hazardous than that stated in this policy or while doing for compensation anything pertaining to an occupation so classified, the insurer will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in this policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rates and within the limits fixed by the insurer for such more hazardous occupation. If the insured changes his occupation to one classified by the insurer as less hazardous than that stated in this policy, the insurer, upon receipt of proof of such change of occupation, will reduce the premium rate accordingly, and will return the excess pro rata unearned premium from the date of change of occupation or from the policy anniversary date immediately preceding receipt of such proof, whichever is the more recent. In applying this provision, the classification of occupational risk and the premium rates shall be such as have been last filed by the insurer prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the insurer is liable or prior to date of proof of change in occupation with the state official having supervision of insurance in the state where the insured resided at the time this policy was issued; but if such filing was not required, then the classification of occupational risk and the premium rates shall be those last made effective by the insurer in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss or prior to the date of proof of change in occupation.

(2) A provision as follows:

MISSTATEMENT OF AGE: If the age of the insured has been misstated, all amounts payable under this policy shall be such as the premium paid would have purchased at the correct age.

(3) A provision as follows:

OTHER INSURANCE IN THIS INSURER: If an accident or health or accident and health policy or policies previously issued by the insurer to the insured be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity for (insert type of coverage or coverages) in excess of $...... (insert maximum limit of indemnity or indemnities) the excess insurance shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured or to his estate.

Or, in lieu thereof:

Insurance effective at any one time on the insured under a like policy or policies in this insurer is limited to the one such policy elected by the insured, his beneficiary or his estate, as the case may be, and the insurer will return all premiums paid for all other such policies.

(4) A provision as follows:

INSURANCE WITH OTHER INSURERS: If there be other valid coverage, not with this insurer, providing benefits for the same loss on a provision of service basis or on an expense incurred basis and of which this insurer has not been given written notice prior to the occurrence or commencement of loss, the only liability under any expense incurred coverage of this policy shall be for such proportion of the loss as the amount which would otherwise have been payable hereunder plus the total of the like amounts under all such other valid coverages for the same loss of which this insurer had notice bears to the total like amounts under all valid coverages for such loss, and for the return of such portion of the premiums paid as shall exceed the pro rata portion for the amount so determined. For the purpose of applying this provision when other coverage is on a provision of service basis, the "like amount" of such other coverage shall be taken as the amount which the services rendered would have cost in the absence of such coverage.

(If the foregoing policy provision is included in a policy which also contains the next following policy provision there shall be added to the caption of the foregoing provision the phrase "... EXPENSE INCURRED BENEFITS". The insurer may, at its option, include in this provision a definition of "other valid coverage", approved as to form by the Commissioner, which definition shall be limited in subject matter to coverage provided by organizations subject to regulation by insurance law or by insurance authorities of this or any other state of the United States or any province of Canada, and by hospital or medical service organizations, and to any other coverage the inclusion of which may be approved by the Commissioner. In the absence of such definition such term shall not include group insurance, automobile medical payments insurance, or coverage provided by hospital or medical service organizations or by union welfare plans or employer or employee benefit organizations. For the purpose of applying the foregoing policy provision with respect to any insured, any amount of benefit provided for such insured pursuant to any compulsory benefit statute (including any workmen's compensation or employer's liability statute) whether provided by a governmental agency or otherwise shall in all cases be deemed to be "other valid coverage" of which the insurer has had notice. In applying the foregoing policy provisions no third party liability coverage shall be included as "other valid coverage".)

- (5) A provision as follows:

INSURANCE WITH OTHER INSURERS: If there be other valid coverage, not with this insurer, providing benefits for the same loss on other than an expense incurred basis and of which this insurer has not been given written notice prior to the occurrence or commencement of loss, the only liability for such benefits under this policy shall be for such proportion of the indemnities otherwise provided hereunder for such loss as the like indemnities of which the insurer had notice (including the indemnities under this policy) bear to the total amount of all like indemnities for such loss, and for the return of such portion of the premium paid as shall exceed the pro rata portion for the indemnities thus determined.

(If the foregoing policy provision is included in a policy which also contains the next preceding policy provision there shall be added to the caption of the foregoing provision the phrase "... OTHER BENEFITS". The insurer may, at its option, include in this provision a definition of "other valid coverage", approved as to form by the Commissioner, which definition shall be limited in subject matter to coverage provided by organizations subject to regulation by insurance law or by insurance authorities of this or any other state of the United States or any province of Canada, and to any other coverage the inclusion of which may be approved by the Commissioner. In the absence of such definition such term shall not include group insurance, or benefits provided by union welfare plans or by employer or employee benefit organizations. For the purpose of applying the foregoing policy provision with respect to any insured, any amount of benefit provided for such insured pursuant to any compulsory benefit statute (including any workmen's compensation or employer's liability statute) whether provided by a governmental agency or otherwise shall in all cases be deemed to be "other valid coverage" of which the insurer has had notice. In applying the foregoing policy provision no third party liability coverage shall be included as "other valid coverage".)

- (6) A provision as follows:

RELATION OF EARNINGS TO INSURANCE: If the total monthly amount of loss of time benefits promised for the same loss under all valid loss of time coverage upon the insured, whether payable on a weekly or monthly basis, shall exceed the monthly earnings of the insured at the time disability commenced or his average monthly earnings for the period of two years immediately preceding a disability for which claim is made, whichever is the greater, the insurer will be liable only for such proportionate amount of such benefits under this policy as the amount of such monthly earnings or such average monthly earnings of the insured bears to the total amount of monthly benefits for the same loss under all such coverage upon the insured at the time such disability commences and for the return of such part of the premiums paid during such two years as shall exceed the pro rata amount of the premiums for the benefits actually paid hereunder; but this shall not operate to reduce the total monthly amount of benefits payable under all such coverage upon the insured below the sum of two hundred dollars ($200) or the sum of the monthly benefits specified in such coverages, whichever is the lesser, nor shall it operate to reduce benefits other than those payable for loss of time.

(The foregoing policy provision may be inserted only in a policy which the insured has the right to continue in force subject to its terms by the timely payment of premiums:

a. Until at least age 50 or,

b. In the case of a policy issued after age 44, for at least five years from its date of issue.

The insurer may, at its option, include in this provision a definition of "valid loss of time coverage", approved as to form by the Commissioner, which definition shall be limited in subject matter to coverage provided by governmental agencies or by organizations subject to regulation by insurance law or by insurance authorities of this or any other state of the United States or any province of Canada, or to any other coverage the inclusion of which may be approved by the Commissioner or any combination of such coverages. In the absence of such definition such term shall not include any coverage provided for such insured pursuant to any compulsory benefit statute (including any workmen's compensation or employer's liability statute), or benefits provided by union welfare plans or by employer or employee benefit organizations.)

(7) A provision as follows:

UNPAID PREMIUM: Upon the payment of a claim under this policy, any premium then due and unpaid or covered by any note or written order may be deducted therefrom.

(8) Repealed by Session Laws 1955, c. 886, s. 1, effective Jan. 1, 1956.

(9) A provision as follows:

CONFORMITY WITH STATE STATUTES: Any provision of this policy which, on its effective date, is in conflict with the statutes of the state in which the insured resides on such date is hereby amended to conform to the minimum requirements of such statutes.

(10) A provision as follows:

ILLEGAL OCCUPATION: The insurer shall not be liable for any loss to which a contributing cause was the insured's commission of or attempt to commit a felony or to which a contributing cause was the insured's being engaged in an illegal occupation.

(11) A provision as follows:

INTOXICANTS AND NARCOTICS: The insurer shall not be liable for any loss sustained or contracted in consequence of the insured's being intoxicated or under the influence of any narcotic unless administered on the advice of a physician.

(c) Inapplicable or Inconsistent Provisions.—If any provision of this section is in whole or in part inapplicable to or inconsistent with the coverage provided by a particular form of policy the insurer, with the approval of the Commissioner, shall omit from such policy any inapplicable provision or part of a provision, and shall modify any inconsistent provision or part of the provision in such manner as to make the provision as contained in the policy consistent with the coverage provided by the policy.

(d) Order of Certain Policy Provisions.—The provisions which are the subject of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, or any corresponding provisions which are used in lieu thereof in accordance with such subsections, shall be printed in the consecutive order of the provisions in such subsections or, at the option of the insurer, any such provision may appear as a unit in any part of the policy, with other provisions to which it may be logically related, provided the resulting policy shall not be in whole or in part unintelligible, uncertain, ambiguous, abstruse, or likely to mislead a person to whom the policy is offered, delivered or issued.

(e) Third Party Ownership.—The word "insured", as used in this subchapter shall not be construed as preventing a person other than the insured with a proper insurable interest from making application for and owning a policy covering the insured or from being entitled under such a policy to any indemnities, benefits and rights provided therein.

(f) Requirements of Other Jurisdictions.—

- (1) Any policy of a foreign or alien insurer, when delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State, may contain any provision which is not less favorable to the insured or the beneficiary than the provisions of this subchapter and which is prescribed or required by the law of the state under which the insurer is organized.
- (2) Any policy of a domestic insurer may, when issued for delivery in any other state or country, contain any provision permitted or required by the laws of such other state or country.

(g) Filing Procedure.—The Commissioner may make such reasonable rules and regulations concerning the procedure for the filing or submission of policies subject to this subchapter as are necessary, proper or advisable to the administration of this subchapter. This provision shall not abridge any other authority granted the Commissioner by law. (1953, c. 1095, s. 2; 1955, c. 850, s. 8; c. 886, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The first 1955 amendment reduced the time limit provided in subdivision (2) of subsection (a) from three to two years. And the second 1955 amendment repealed subdivision (8) of subsection (b).

For comment on the 1955 amendments, see 33 N. C. Law Rev. 555.

As to clause excluding from coverage death caused by intentional act of any person, see Patrick v. Pilot Life Ins. Co., 241 N. C. 614, 86 S. E. (2d) 201 (1955), citing repealed § 58-253 (6).

§ 58-251.2. Renewability of individual and blanket hospitalization and accident and health insurance policies.—(a) Every individual or blanket family hospitalization policy and accident and health policy, other than noncancellable or nonrenewable policies but including group, blanket and franchise policies, as defined in this chapter, covering less than ten persons, issued in North Carolina after January 1, 1956, shall include the following provision:

Renewability: This policy is renewable at the option of the policyholder unless sufficient notice of nonrenewal is given the policyholder in writing by the insurer.

Sufficient notice shall be, during the first year of any policy, or during the first year following any lapse and reinstatement, a period of thirty days prior to the premium due date. After one continuous year of coverage and acceptance of premium for any portion of the second or subsequent year sufficient notice shall be a number of full months most nearly equivalent to one-fourth the number of months of continuous coverage from the first anniversary of the date of issue or reinstatement, to the date of mailing of such notice: Provided no period of required notice shall exceed two years.

The insurer upon a showing of inadequacy of the rates chargeable on such policies upon which notice of nonrenewal has been given, and a finding as to the same by the Commissioner of Insurance, may increase such rates with the approval of the Commissioner. Thereafter, such rates shall be applicable to all policies of the same type, the holders of which receive notice of nonrenewal. The policyholder thereafter must pay the increased rate in order to continue the policy in force. The requirements of this provision shall not apply to refusal of renewal because of change of occupation of the insured to one classified by the company as uninsurable nor to increase in rate due to change of occupation of the insured to a more hazardous occupation.

(b) No insurance company issuing individual or blanket family hospitalization or accident and health policies of insurance shall have the right to unilaterally restrict coverage, reduce benefits or increase rates upon any contract of hospitalization or accident and health insurance which is subject to the provisions of this section except as provided herein.

(c) Any hospitalization or accident and health policy reissued or renewed in the name of the insured during the grace period shall be construed to be a continuation of the policy first issued. (1955, c. 886, s. 2; 1957, c. 1085, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment blanket and franchise policies, as defined inserted in the first paragraph of subsection (a) the words "but including group, persons.

§ 58-252. Meaning of term "pre-existing conditions" in certain policies.—At the time of issuing any new policy of individual or family hospitalization or individual accident and health insurance to insureds over age sixty-five (65), the term "pre-existing conditions," or its equivalent in said policy shall include only conditions specifically eliminated by rider. (1955, c. 850, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—Former § 58-252 was repealed by Session Laws 1953, c. 1095, § 3. The above section was designated § 58-252 by the 1955 act which inserted it. Section 12 of the 1955 act made this section applicable to hospital and medical service corporations under chapter 57 to the same extent as to insurers under this chapter.

Editor's Note.—The repealing act is effective as of January 1, 1954. See note to § 58-250.

§ 58-254.1. Industrial sick benefit insurance defined. — Industrial sick benefit insurance is hereby defined as that form of insurance for which premiums are payable weekly and which provides for the payment of a weekly indemnity on account of sickness or accident in addition to a benefit in case of death. Such death benefit shall not exceed one hundred and fifty dollars ($150.00). There shall be a provision for the payment of weekly premium, 80% of which shall be allocated for the purchase of sick and accident coverages and 20% thereof for the purchase of death benefits. (1945, c. 385.)

§ 58-254.2. Industrial sick benefit insurance; provisions. — Policies issued under the industrial sick benefit plan shall contain the provisions contained in § 58-251.1 and in addition shall contain the following:

- (1) A provision for grace for the payment of the additional premium or assessment or proportion thereof for such death benefits of not less than four weeks during which period the death benefit shall continue in force;
- (2) A provision for incontestability of the death benefit coverage after not more than two years except for
 - a. Nonpayment of premiums, and
 - b. Misstatement of age;
- (3) A provision that the death benefit is noncancellable by the company except for nonpayment of premium.

The Commissioner may approve any form of certificate to be issued under the industrial sick benefit plan which omits or modifies any of the provisions hereinbefore required, if he deems such omission or modification suitable for the character of such insurance and not unjust to the persons insured thereunder. (1945, c. 385; 1953, c. 1095, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 58-254.3. Blanket accident and health insurance defined.—(a) Any policy or contract of insurance against death or injury resulting from accident or from accidental means which insures a group of persons conforming to the requirements of one of the following subdivisions (1) to (6), inclusive, shall be deemed a blanket accident policy. Any policy or contract which insures a group of persons conforming to the requirements of one of the following subdivisions (3), (5) or (6) against total or partial disability, excluding such disability from accident or from accidental means, shall be deemed a blanket health insurance policy. Any policy or contract of insurance which combines the coverage of blanket accident insurance and of blanket health insurance on such a group of persons shall be deemed a blanket accident and health insurance policy:

- (1) Under a policy or contract issued to any railroad, steamship, motorbus or airplane carrier of passengers, which shall be deemed the policyholder, a group defined as all persons who may become such passengers may be insured against death or bodily injury either while, or as a result of, being such passengers.
- (2) Under a policy or contract issued to an employer, or the trustee of a fund established by the employer, who shall be deemed the policyholder, covering any group of employees defined by reference to exceptional hazards incident to such employment, insuring such employee against death or bodily injury resulting while, or from, being exposed to such exceptional hazard.
- (3) Under a policy or contract issued to a college, school or other institution of learning or to the head or principal thereof, who or which shall be deemed the policyholder.
- (4) Under a policy or contract issued in the name of any volunteer fire department, which shall be deemed the policyholder, covering all of the members of such department.
- (5) Under a policy or contract issued to and in the name of an incorporated or unincorporated association of persons having a common interest or calling, which association shall be deemed the policyholder, having not less than twenty-five members, and formed for purposes other than obtaining insurance, covering all of the members of such association.
- (6) Under a policy or contract issued to the head of a family, who shall be deemed the policyholder, whereunder the benefits thereof shall provide for the payment by the insurer of amounts for expenses incurred by the policyholder on account of hospitalization or medical or surgical aid for himself, his spouse, his child or children, or other persons chiefly dependent on him for support and maintenance.

(b) All benefits under any blanket accident, blanket health or blanket accident and health insurance policy shall be payable to the person insured, or to his designated beneficiary or beneficiaries, or to his estate, except that if the person insured be a minor, such benefits may be made payable to his parent, guardian, or other person actually supporting him, or to a person or persons chiefly dependent upon him for support and maintenance.

(c) Nothing contained in this section shall be deemed to affect the legal liability of policyholders for the death of or injury to, any such member of such group. (1945, c. 385; 1947, c. 721; 1953, c. 1095, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — The 1947 amendment made several changes in subsection (a). It inserted in subdivision (2) the words "or the trustee of a fund established by the employer;" substituted "twenty-five" for

"fifty" in subdivision (5), inserted "provide for" in lieu of "be limited to" in subdivision (6). See 25 N. C. Law Rev. 437. The 1953 amendment rewrote subdivision (6) of subsection (a).

§ 58-254.4. Group accident and health insurance defined.—(a) Any policy or contract of insurance against death or injury resulting from accident or from accidental means which covers more than one person except blanket accident policies as defined in § 58-254.3, shall be deemed a group accident insurance policy. Any policy or contract which insures against disablement, disease or sickness of the insured (excluding disablement which results from accident or from accidental means) and which covers more than one person, except blanket health insurance policies as defined in § 58-254.3, shall be deemed a group health insurance policy or contract. Any policy or contract of insurance which combines the coverage of group accident insurance and of group health insurance shall be deemed a group accident and health insurance policy. No policy or contract of group accident, group health or group accident and health insurance, and no certificates thereunder, shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this State unless it conforms to the requirements of subsection (b).

(b) No policy or contract of group accident, group health or group accident and health insurance shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this State unless the group of persons thereby insured conforms to the requirements of the following paragraph:

Under a policy issued to an employer, principal, or to the trustee of a fund established by an employer or two or more employers in the same industry or kind of business, or by a principal or two or more principals in the same industry or kind of business, which employer, principal, or trustee shall be deemed the policyholder, covering, except as hereinafter provided, only employees, or agents, of any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to employment, or agency, for amounts of insurance based upon some plan which will preclude individual selection. The premium may be paid by the employer, by the employer and the employees jointly, or by the employee; and where the relationship of principal and agent exists, the premium may be paid by the principal, by the principal and agents, jointly, or by the agents. If the premium is paid by the employer and the employees jointly, or by the principal and agents jointly, or by the employees, or by the agents, the group shall comprise not less than seventy-five per cent (75%) of all persons eligible of any class or classes of employees, or agents, determined by conditions pertaining to the employment or agency.

(c) The term "employees" as used in this section shall be deemed to include, for the purposes of insurance hereunder, employees of a single employer, the officers, managers, and employees of the employer and of subsidiary or affiliated corporations of a corporation employer, and the individual proprietors, partners, and employees of individuals and firms of which the business is controlled by the insured employer through stock ownership, contract or otherwise. The term "employer" as used herein may be deemed to include the State of North Carolina, any county, municipality or corporation, or the proper officers, as such, of any unincorporated municipality or any department or subdivision of the State, county, such corporation, or municipality determined by conditions pertaining to the employment.

(d) The term "agents" as used in this section shall be deemed to include, for the purposes of insurance hereunder, agents of a single principal who are under contract to devote all, or substantially all, of their time in rendering personal services for such principal, for a commission or other fixed or ascertainable compensation.

(e) The benefits payable under any policy or contract of group accident, group health and group accident and health insurance shall be payable to the employees, or agents, or to some beneficiary or beneficiaries designated by the employee or agent, other than the employer or principal, but if there is no designated beneficiary as to all or any part of the insurance at the death of the employee or agent, then the amount of insurance payable for which there is no designated beneficiary shall be payable to the estate of the employee or agent, except that the insurer may in such case, at its option, pay such insurance to any one or more of the following surviving relatives of the employee or agent: Wife, husband, mother, father, child, or children, brothers or sisters; and except that payment of benefits for expenses incurred on account of hospitalization or medical or surgical aid, as provided in subsection (f), may be made by the insurer to the hospital or other person or persons furnishing such aid. Payment so made shall discharge the insurer's obligation with respect to the amount of insurance so paid.

(f) Any policy or contract of group accident, group health or group accident and health insurance may include provisions for the payment by the insurer of benefits to the employee or agent of the insured group, on account of hospitalization or medical or surgical aid for himself, his spouse, his child or children, or other persons chiefly dependent upon him for support and maintenance.

(g) Any policy or contract of group accident, group health or group accident and health insurance may provide for readjustment of the rate of premium based on the experience thereunder at the end of the first year, or of any subsequent year of insurance thereunder, and such readjustment may be made retroactive only for such policy year. Any refund under any plan for readjustment of the rate of premium based on the experience under group policies and any dividend paid under such policies may be used to reduce the employer's or principal's contribution to group insurance for the employees of the employer, or the agents of the principal, and the excess over such contribution by the employer, or principal, shall be applied by the employer, or principal, for the sole benefit of the employees or agents.

(h) Nothing contained in this section shall be deemed applicable to any contract issued by any corporation defined in chapter 57 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. (1945, c. 385; 1947, c. 721; 1951, c. 282; 1953, c. 1095, ss. 6, 7.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1947 amendment the first part of the second paragraph of subsection (b) read as follows: "Under a policy issued to an employer which employer shall be deemed the policyholder covering not less than 50 employees of such employer." See 25 N. C. Law Rev. 437.

The 1951 amendment struck out former subsections (b)-(g) and inserted in lieu thereof present subsections (b)-(h).

The 1953 amendment deleted the words "covering not less than 25 employees of such employer or not less than 25 agents of such principal, and" formerly appearing after the word "policyholder" in the first sentence of the second paragraph of subsection (b). The amendment also rewrote the second sentence of subsection (c).

§ 58-254.5. Group or blanket accident and health insurance; approval of forms and filing of rates.—No policy or group or blanket accident, health or accident and health insurance shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this State unless the form of the policy contracts including the master policy contract, the individual certificates thereunder, the applications for the contract, and a schedule of the premium rates pertaining to such form or forms, have been filed with and the forms approved by the Commissioner. (1945, c. 385.)

§ 58-254.6. Definition of franchise accident and health insurance.—Accident and health insurance on a franchise plan is hereby declared to be that form of accident and health insurance issued to five or more employees of any corporation, copartnership or individual employer or any governmental corporation, agency or department thereof, or ten or more members of any trade or professional association or of a labor union or of any other association having had an active existence for at least two years where such association or union has a constitution or bylaws and is formed in good faith for purposes other than that of obtaining insurance, where such persons, with or without their dependents, are issued the same form of an individual policy varying only as to amounts and kinds of coverage applied for by such persons, under an arrangement whereby the premiums on such policies may be paid to the insurer periodically by the employer, with or without payroll deductions, or by the association for its members, or by some designated person acting on behalf of such employer or association. The provisions of this section shall not be construed so as to repeal §§ 58-254.3 and 58-254.4 or any parts thereof. (1947, c. 721.)

Editor's Note.—For brief comment on this section, see 25 N. C. Law Rev. 438.

§ 58-254.7. Approval by Commissioner of forms, classification and rates; hearing; exceptions.—No policy of insurance against loss or expense from the sickness, or from the bodily injury or death by accident of the insured shall be issued or delivered to any person in this State nor shall any application, rider or endorsement be used in connection therewith until a copy of the form thereof and of the classification of risks and the premium rates, or, in the case of co-operatives or assessment companies the estimated cost pertaining thereto, have been filed with the Commissioner of Insurance.

No such policy shall be issued, nor shall any application, rider or endorsement be used in connection therewith, until the expiration of 30 days after it has been so filed unless the Commissioner shall sooner give his written approval thereto.

The Commissioner may within 30 days after the filing of any such form, disapprove such form

- (1) If the benefits provided therein are unreasonable in relation to the premium charged, or
- (2) If it contains a provision or provisions which are unjust, unfair, inequitable, misleading, deceptive or encourage misrepresentation of such policy.

If the Commissioner shall notify the insurer which has filed any such form that it does not comply with the provisions of this section or sections, it shall be unlawful thereafter for such insurer to issue such form or use it in connection with any policy. In such notice the Commissioner shall specify the reasons for his disapproval and state that a hearing will be granted within 20 days after request in writing by the insurer.

The Commissioner may at any time, after a hearing of which not less than 20 days' written notice shall have been given to the insurer, withdraw his approval of any such form on any of the grounds stated in this section. It shall be unlawful for the insurer to issue such form or use it in connection with any policy after the effective date of such withdrawal of approval. The notice of any hearing called under this paragraph shall specify the matters to be considered at such hearing and any decision affirming disapproval or directing withdrawal of approval under this section shall be in writing and shall specify the reasons therefor: Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to workmen's compensation insurance, accidental death or disability benefits issued supplementary to life insurance or annuity contracts, medical expense benefits under liability policies or to group accident and health insurance. (1951, c. 784.)

Editor's Note.—For brief comment on this section, see 29 N. C. Law Rev. 398.

§ 58-254.8. Credit accident and health insurance.—Credit accident and health insurance is declared to be insurance against death or personal injury by accident or by any specified kind or kinds of accident, and insurance against sickness, ailment, or bodily injury of a debtor who may be indebted to any person, firm, or corporation extending credit to such debtor. (1953, c. 1096, s. 2.)

§ 58-254.9. Hospitalization insurance defined.—Hospitalization insurance is declared to be any form of accident and health insurance which provides indemnity or payment for expenses incurred due to or in connection with hospitalization of the insured, or his dependents. (1953, c. 1096, s. 3.)

ARTICLE 27.

General Regulations.

§ 58-256. Waiver by insurer.—The acknowledgment by any insurer of the receipt of notice given under any policy covered by this subchapter, or the furnishing of forms for filing proofs of loss, or the acceptance of such proofs, or the investigation of any claim thereunder, shall not operate as a waiver of any of the rights of the insurer in defense of any claim arising under such policy. (1913, c. 91, s. 7; C. S., s. 6484.)

§ 58-257. Application.—(a) On and after January 1, 1956, each individual or family accident, health, hospitalization policy, certificate or service plan of hospitalization and medical service corporations shall be issued only on application in writing signed by the insured or the head of the household or guardian. Each application shall also contain the certificate of the agent that he has truly and accurately recorded on the application the information supplied by the insured. Every policy subject to the provisions of this section shall contain as a part of such policy the original or a reproduction of the application required by this section. This section shall not apply to travel or dread disease policies or to policies issued pursuant to a group insurance conversion privilege. If any such policy delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State shall be reinstated or renewed, and the insured or the beneficiary or assignee of such policy shall make written request to the insurer for a copy of the application, if any, for such reinstatement or renewal, the insurer shall within fifteen days after the receipt of such request at its home office or any branch office of the insurer, deliver or mail to the person making such request, a copy of such application. If such copy shall not be so delivered or mailed, the insurer shall be precluded from introducing such application as evidence in any action or proceeding based upon or involving such policy or its reinstatement or renewal.

(b) No alteration of any written application for any such policy shall be made by any person other than the applicant without his written consent, except that insertions may be made by the insurer, for administrative purposes only, in such manner as to indicate clearly that such insertions are not to be ascribed to the applicant.

(c) The falsity of any statement in the application for any policy covered by this subchapter may not bar the right to recovery thereunder unless such false statement materially affected either the acceptance of the risk or the hazard assumed by the insurer. (1913, c. 91, s. 8; C. S., s. 6485; 1953, c. 1095, s. 9; 1955, c. 850, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment rewrote this section.

The 1955 amendment substituted, in subsection (a), the present first, second, third and fourth sentences for the former first sentence, which provided that the insured should not be bound by any statement made in the application unless a copy of the application was attached to or endorsed on the policy. Section 12 of the amendatory act made it applicable to hospital and medical service corporations under chapter 57 to the same extent as to insurers under this chapter.

§ 58-257.1. Claim forms.—All forms used by policyholders, beneficiaries, hospitals and physicians to report information relative to the nature and extent of loss or disability for which claim is being made under any type of accident or health policy must conform to certain standard language approved by the Commissioner of Insurance. (1955, c. 850, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—Section 12 of the act inserting this section, as amended by Session Laws 1955, c. 1261, made this section applicable to hospital and medical service corporations under chapter 57 to the same extent as it applies to insurers under this chapter.

§ 58-258. Conforming to statute.—(a) Other Policy Provisions.—No policy provision which is not subject to § 58-251.1 shall make a policy, or any portion thereof, less favorable in any respect to the insured or the beneficiary than the provisions thereof which are subject to this subchapter.

(b) Policy Conflicting with Subchapter.—A policy delivered or issued for delivery to any person in this State in violation of this subchapter shall be held valid but shall be construed as provided in this subchapter. When any provision in a policy subject to this subchapter is in conflict with any provision of this subchapter, the rights, duties and obligations of the insurer, the insured and the beneficiary shall be governed by the provisions of this subchapter. (1913, c. 91, s. 9; C. S., s. 6486; 1953, c. 1095, s. 10.)

§ 58-259.1. Age limit.—If any such policy contains a provision establishing, as an age limit or otherwise, a date after which the coverage provided by the policy will not be effective, and if such date falls within a period for which premium is accepted by the insurer or if the insurer accepts a premium after such date, the coverage provided by the policy will continue in force subject to any right of cancellation until the end of the period for which premium has been accepted. In the event the age of the insured has been misstated and if, according to the correct age of the insured, the coverage provided by the policy would not have become effective, or would have ceased prior to the acceptance of such premium or premiums, then the liability of the insurer shall be limited to the refund, upon request, of all premiums paid for the period not covered by the policy. (1953, c. 1095, s. 11.)

§ 58-260. Discrimination forbidden.—Discrimination between individuals of the same class in the amount of premiums or rates charged for any policy of insurance covered by this subchapter, or in the benefits payable thereon, or in any of the terms or conditions of such policy, or in any other manner whatsoever, is prohibited. (1913, c. 91, s. 11; C. S., s. 6488.)

§ 58-260.1. Notice of nonpayment of premium required before forfeiture.—No insurance company doing business in this State and issuing health and/or accident insurance policies, other than contracts of group insurance or disability and/or accidental death benefits in connection with policies of life insurance, the premium for which is to be collected in weekly, monthly, or other periodical installments by authority of a payroll deduction order executed by the assured and delivered to such insurance company or the assured's employer authorizing the deduction of such premium installments from the assured's salary or wages, shall, during the period for which such policy is issued, declare forfeited or lapsed any such policy hereafter issued or renewed until and unless a written or printed notice of the failure of the employer to remit said premium or installment thereof stating the amount or portion thereof due on such policy and to whom it must be paid, has been duly addressed and mailed to the person who is insured under such policy at least fifteen days before said policy is canceled or lapsed. (1909, c. 884; C. S., s. 6465; 1929, c. 308, s. 1; 1931, c. 317; 1945, c. 379.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1945 amendment this section was a part of § 58-207.

§ 58-260.2. Premium rates on credit accident and health insurance.—The maximum premium rates that may be charged on credit accident and health insurance as defined in G. S. 58-254.8 shall be established from time to time by the Commissioner of Insurance on the basis of experience of companies writing this type of credit insurance after due notice and hearing and with full rights of appeal as provided in G. S. 58-9.2 and 58.9.3. (1955, c. 1341, s. 1½.)

§ 58-261. Certain policies of insurance not affected.—(a) Nothing in this subchapter shall apply to or affect any policy of liability or workmen's compensation insurance.

(b) Nothing in this subchapter shall apply to or in any way affect contracts supplemental to contracts of life or endowment insurance where such supplemental contracts contain no provisions except such as operate to safeguard such insurance against lapse or to provide special benefits therefor in the event that the insured shall be totally, or totally and permanently disabled by reason of accidental bodily injury or by sickness, nor to contracts issued as supplements to life insurance contracts or contracts of endowment insurance, and intended to increase the amount insured by such life or endowment contracts in the event that the death or disability of the insured shall result from accidental bodily injuries: Provided, that no such supplemental contracts shall be issued or delivered to any person in this State unless and until a copy of the form thereof has been submitted to and approved by the Commissioner of Insurance under such reasonable rules and regulations as he shall make concerning the provisions in such contracts, and their submission to and approval by him.

(c) Nothing in this subchapter shall apply to or in any way affect fraternal benefit societies.

(d) The provisions of this subchapter contained in clause (5) of § 58-250, and clauses two, three, eight, and twelve of § 58-251, may be omitted from railroad ticket policies sold only at railroad stations or at railroad ticket offices by railroad employees. (1911, c. 209, s. 5; 1913, c. 91, s. 12; C. S., s. 6489; 1921, c. 136, s. 5; 1945, c. 385; 1947, c. 721.)

Editor's Note.—The 1945 amendment substituted near the beginning of subsection (b) the words "special benefits" for the words "a special surrender value." It also inserted in subsequent parts of the subsection the words "or totally" and "or disability." The 1947 amendment struck from subsection (a) the former provision relating to general or blanket policy of insurance.

Section 58-251, referred to in subsection (d), was repealed by Session Laws 1953, c. 1095, s. 2.

§ 58-262. Punishment for violation.—Any company, association, society, or other insurer or any officer or agent thereof, which or who issues or delivers to any person in this State any policy in willful violation of the provisions of this subchapter, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars for each offense, and the Commissioner of Insurance may revoke the license of any company, corporation, association, society, or other insurer of another state or country, or of the agent thereof, which or who willfully violates any provision of this subchapter. (1911, c. 209, s. 6; 1913, c. 91, s. 13; C. S., s. 6490.)

SUBCHAPTER VII. FRATERNAL ORDERS AND SOCIETIES.

Fraternal Orders.

§ 58-263. General insurance law not applicable.—Nothing in the general insurance laws, except such as apply to fraternal orders or fraternal societies, shall be construed to extend to benevolent associations, incorporated under the laws of this State that only levy an assessment on the members to create a fund to pay the family of a deceased member and make no profit therefrom, and do not solicit business through agents. Such benevolent associations providing death benefits in excess of three hundred dollars to any one person, or disability benefits not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year to any one person, or both, shall be known as "fraternal benefit societies;" and those providing benefits of three hundred dollars or less shall be known as "fraternal orders." (1899, c. 54, s. 87; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; Rev., s. 4794; 1913, c. 46; C. S., s. 6491.)

Cross Reference.—As to other assessment insurance, see § 58-105 et seq.

Editor's Note.—See 12 N. C. Law Rev. 374.

Williams v. Supreme Conclave, 172 N. C. 787, 90 S. E. 888 (1916), and Wilson v. Supreme Conclave, 174 N. C. 628, 94 S. E. 443 (1917), were decided in regard to policies issued before the enactment of this statute, which makes it clear that fraternal and assessment orders shall be governed by their own rules and regulations as authorized by the state of their origin. Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175 N. C. 615, 96 S. E. 81 (1918), discussing the application of the statute and altering the rule as applied in former cases.

Fraternal Benefit Associations and Orders.—This section groups benevolent associations incorporated under the laws of this State into "fraternal benefit associations" and "fraternal orders." Gay v. Woodmen of the World, 179 N. C. 210, 102 S. E. 195 (1920).

Representations in Application or Policy.—Section 58-30, providing that statements in an application for a policy of insurance shall be deemed representations which will not prevent a recovery on the policy unless material or fraudulent, is not applicable to a fraternal order as defined in § 58-264, but does apply to a fraternal benefit association incorporated under the laws of another state. Gay v. Woodmen of the World, 179 N. C. 210, 102 S. E. 195 (1920).

§ 58-264. Fraternal orders defined.—Every incorporated association, order, or society doing business in this State on the lodge system, with ritualistic form of work and representative form of government, for the purpose of making provision for the payment of benefits of three hundred dollars or less in case of death, sickness, temporary or permanent physical disability, either as the result of disease, accident, or old age, formed and organized for the sole benefit of its members and their beneficiaries, and not for profit, is hereby declared to be a "fraternal order." Societies and orders which do not make insurance contracts or collect dues or assessments therefor, but simply pay burial or other benefits out of the treasury of their orders, and use their funds for the purpose of building homes or asylums for the purpose of caring for and educating orphan children and aged and infirm people in this State, shall not be considered as "fraternal orders" or "fraternal benefit societies" under this subchapter; and such order or association paying death or disability benefits may also create, maintain, apply, or disburse among its membership a reserve or emergency fund as may be provided in its constitution or bylaws; but no profit or gain may be added to the payments made by a member. (1899, c. 54, s. 88; 1901, c. 706, s. 3; Rev., s. 4795; 1907, c. 936; 1913, c. 46; C. S., s. 6492.)

Cited in Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141 N. C. 409, 53 S. E. 835 (1906).

§ 58-265. Funds derived from assessments and dues.—The fund from which the payment of benefits, as provided for in § 58-264, shall be made, and the fund from which the expenses of such association, order or society shall be defrayed, shall be derived from assessments or dues collected from its members. Such societies or associations shall be governed by the laws of the state governing fraternal orders or societies, and are exempt from the provisions of all general insurance laws of this State, and no law hereafter passed shall apply to such societies unless fraternal orders or societies are designated therein. (1899, c. 54, s. 89; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; Rev., s. 4796; 1913, c. 46; C. S., s. 6493.)

Assessments Governed by Charter and Bylaws.—A fraternal society or association is governed by its own charter and bylaws and an assessment in accordance with its own laws is valid. Hollingsworth v. Su- preme Council, 175 N. C. 615, 96 S. E. 81 (1918).

The funds received from assessment are trust funds for orphans and widows and are not subject to use for any other purpose, therefore attachment will not lie. Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141 N. C. 409, 53 S. E. 835 (1906).

Where the constitution of a foreign fraternal insurance society provided for the creation of a fund to be raised from assessments upon its members for the benefit of widows and orphans of deceased members, any money paid to such fund is impressed with the qualities of a trust for the special purposes expressed, and such fund in the hands of a local collector, which he was bound to pay over to the society's treasurer, is not subject to an attachment by a creditor of the society. Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141 N. C. 409, 53 S. E. 835 (1906).

§ 58-266. Appointment of member as receiver or collector; appointee as agent for order or society; rights of members.—Assessments and dues referred to in §§ 58-264 and 58-265 may be collected, receipted, and remitted by a member or officer of any local or subordinate lodge of any fraternal order or society when so appointed or designated by any grand, district, or subordinate lodge or officer, deputy, or representative of the same, there being no regular licensed agent or deputy of said grand lodge charged with said duties; but any person so collecting said dues or assessments shall be the agent or representative of such fraternal order or society, or any department thereof, and shall bind them by their acts in collecting and remitting said amounts so collected. Under no circumstances, regardless of any agreement, bylaws, contract, or notice, shall said officer or collector be the agent or representative of the individual member from whom any such collection is made; nor shall said member be responsible for the failure of such officer or collector to safely keep, handle, or remit said dues or assessments so collected, in accordance with the rules, regulations, or bylaws of said society; nor shall said member, regardless of any rules, regulations, or bylaws to the contrary, forfeit any rights under his certificate of membership in said fraternal benefit society by reason of any default or misconduct of any said officer or member so acting. (1921, c. 139; C. S., s. 6493(a).)

Waiver of Provisions of Certificate and Bylaws. — Where plaintiff's evidence showed that it had been the custom of defendant mutual benefit association's collecting agents to collect dues within thirty days after the due date, that defendant's home office knew of this custom, and that insured made payment of the dues for the preceding month within thirty days of the due date and died prior to the customary time for the collection of dues for the following month, it was held that the evidence was sufficient to be submitted to the jury on the question of defendant's waiver of the provisions of its certificate and bylaws, requiring certificate of good health before reinstating a policy upon payment of premium after the due date, and upon the verdict of the jury plaintiff was entitled to judgment for the amount of the policy, less the dues for the month not paid. Shackelford v. Sovereign Camp, W. O. W., 209 N. C. 633, 184 S. E. 691 (1936).

§ 58-267. Meetings of governing body; principal office; separation of races.—Any such society or order incorporated and organized under the laws of this State may provide for the meeting of its supreme legislative or governing body in any other state, province, or territory wherein such society has subordinate lodges, and all business transacted at such meetings is as valid in all respects as if the meetings were held in this State; but the principal business office of such society shall always be kept in this State. No fraternal order or society or beneficiary association shall be authorized to do business in this State under the provisions of this article, whether incorporated under the laws of this or any other state, province, or territory, which associates with, or seeks in this State to associate with, as members of the same lodge, fraternity, society, association, the white and colored races with the objects and purposes provided in this article. (1899, c. 54, s. 91; Rev., s. 4797; 1913, c. 46; C. S., s. 6494.)

§ 58-268. Conditions precedent to doing business.—Any such fraternal, beneficiary order, society, or association as defined by this chapter, chartered and organized in this State or organized and doing business under the laws of any other state, district, province, or territory, having the qualifications required of domestic societies of like character, upon satisfying the Commissioner of Insurance that its business is proper and legitimate and so conducted, may be admitted to transact business in this State upon the same conditions as are prescribed by this chapter for admitting and authorizing foreign insurance companies to do business in this State, except that such fraternal orders shall not be required to have the capital required of such insurance companies. Organizers or agents shall be licensed without requiring an examination. (1899, c. 54, s. 92; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; 1903, c. 438, s. 9; Rev., s. 4798; 1913, c. 46; C. S., s. 6495; 1959, c. 1190.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment added the second sentence.

§ 58-269. Certain lodge systems exempt.—The following beneficial orders or societies shall be exempt from the requirements of this chapter, and shall not be required to pay any license tax or fees nor make any report to the Commissioner of Insurance, unless the assessments collected for death benefits by the supreme lodge amount to at least three hundred dollars in one year: Beneficial fraternal orders, or societies incorporated under the laws of this State, which are conducted under the lodge system which have the supreme lodge or governing body located in this State, and which are so organized that the membership consists of members of subordinate lodges; that the subordinate lodges accept for membership only residents of the county in which such subordinate lodge is located; that each subordinate lodge issues certificates, makes assessments, and collects a fund to pay benefits to the widows and orphans of its own deceased members and their families, each lodge independently of the others, for itself and independently of the supreme lodge; that each lodge controls the fund for this purpose; that in addition to the benefits paid by each subordinate lodge to its own members, the supreme lodge provides for an additional benefit for such of the members of the subordinate lodges as are qualified, at the option of the subordinate lodge members; that such organization is not conducted for profit, has no capital stock, and has been in operation for ten years in this State.

The Commissioner of Insurance may require the chief or presiding officer, or the secretary, to file annually an affidavit that such organization is entitled to this exemption. (1911, c. 199; C. S., s. 6496.)

§ 58-270. Fraternal benefit society defined.—Any corporation, society, order, or voluntary association, without capital stock, organized and carried on solely for the mutual benefit of its members and their beneficiaries, and not for profit, and having a lodge system with ritualistic form of work and representative form of government, and which makes provision for the payment of benefits as hereafter prescribed in this article, is declared to be a fraternal benefit society. (1913, c. 89, s. 1; C. S., s. 6497.)

Applied in Equitable Trust Co. v. Widows' Fund of Oasis, etc., Temples, 207 N. C. 534, 177 S. E. 799 (1935).

§ 58-271. Lodge system defined.—A society having a supreme governing or legislative body and subordinate lodges or branches, by whatever name known, into which members are elected, initiated, and admitted in accordance with its constitution, laws, rules, regulations, and prescribed ritualistic ceremonies, which subordinate lodges or branches are required by the laws of such society to hold regular or stated meetings at least once in each month, is deemed to be operating on the lodge system. (1913, c. 89, s. 2; C. S., s. 6498.)

§ 58-272. Representative form of government defined.—A society is deemed to have a representative form of government when it provides in its constitution and laws for a supreme legislative or governing body, composed of representatives elected either by the members or by delegates elected directly or indirectly by the members, together with such other members as may be prescribed by its constitution and laws: Provided that the elective members constitute a majority in number and have not less than two-thirds of the votes, nor less than the votes required to amend its constitution and laws; and provided further, that the meetings of the supreme or governing body, and the election of officers, representatives, or delegates, are held as often as once in four years. The members, officers, representatives, or delegates of a fraternal benefit society shall not vote by proxy. (1913, c. 89, s. 3; C. S., s. 6499.)

§ 58-273. Organization.—(a) Application.—Ten or more persons, citizens of the United States, and a majority of whom are citizens of this State, who desire to form a fraternal benefit society, as defined by this article, may make and sign (giving their addresses) and acknowledge before some officer competent to take acknowledgment of deeds, articles of incorporation in which shall be stated:

- (1) The proposed corporate name of the society, which shall not so closely resemble the name of any society or insurance company already transacting business in this State as to mislead the public or lead to confusion.
- (2) The purpose for which it is formed—which shall not include more liberal powers than are granted by this article: Provided, that any lawful social, intellectual, educational, charitable, benevolent, moral, or religious advantages may be set forth among the purposes of the society—and the mode in which its corporate powers are to be exercised.
- (3) The names, residences, and official titles of all the officers, trustees, directors, or other persons who are to have and exercise the general control and management of the affairs and funds of the society for the first year or until the ensuing election at which all such officers shall be elected by the supreme legislative or governing body, which election shall be held not later than one year from the date of the issuance of the permanent certificate.

(b) Papers and Bond Filed.—Such articles of incorporation and duly certified copies of the constitution and laws, rules and regulations, and copies of all proposed forms of benefit certificates, applications therefor, and circulars to be issued by such society, and a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, with sureties approved by the Commissioner of Insurance, conditioned upon the return of the advance payments, as provided in this section, to applicants, if the organization is not completed within one year, shall be filed with the Commissioner of Insurance, who may require such further information as he deems necessary.

(c) Preliminary License.—If the purposes of the society conform to the requirements of this article, and all provisions of law have been complied with, the Commissioner of Insurance shall so certify to the Secretary of State and upon his issuing the articles of incorporation shall furnish the incorporators a preliminary license authorizing the society to solicit members as hereinafter provided.

(d) Completion of Organization.—Upon receipt of such license from the Commissioner of Insurance the society may solicit members for the purpose of completing its organization, and shall collect from each applicant the amount of not less than one regular monthly payment, in accordance with its table of rates as provided by its constitution and laws, and shall issue to each applicant a receipt for the amount so collected. But no such society shall incur any liability other than for such advanced payments, nor issue any benefit certificate nor pay or allow, or offer or promise to pay or allow, to any person any death or disability benefit until actual bona fide applications for death benefit certificates have been secured upon at least five hundred lives for at least one thousand dollars each, or the largest amount written on any one person, and all such applicants for death benefits shall have been regularly examined by legally qualified practicing physicians, and certificates of such examinations have been duly filed and approved by the chief medical examiner of such society; nor until there shall be established ten subordinate lodges or branches into which said five hundred applicants have been initiated; nor until there has been submitted to the Commissioner of Insurance under oath of the president and secretary, or corresponding officers of such society, a list of such applicants, giving their names, addresses, date examined, date approved, date initiated, name and number of the subordinate branch of which each applicant is a member, amount of benefits to be granted, rate of stated periodical contributions, which shall be sufficient to provide for meeting the mortuary obligation contracted, when valued for death benefits upon the basis of the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality, as adopted by the National Fraternal Congress, August twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or any higher standard, at the option of the society, and for disability benefits by tables based upon reliable experience, and for combined death and permanent total disability benefits by tables based upon reliable experience, with an interest assumption not higher than four per cent per annum; nor until it shall be shown to the Commissioner of Insurance by the sworn statement of the treasurer, or corresponding officer of such society, that at least five hundred applicants have each paid in cash at least one regular monthly payment as herein provided per one thousand dollars of indemnity to be effected, which payments in the aggregate shall amount to at least twenty-five hundred dollars. Such advanced payments shall be credited to the mortuary or disability fund on account of such applicants, and no part thereof may be used for expenses, but such payments shall be held in trust and returned to the applicants if the organization is not completed within one year as hereinafter provided.

(e) License Issued.—The Commissioner of Insurance may make such examination and require such further information as he deems advisable, and, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence that the society has complied with all the provisions of law, he shall issue to such society a certificate or license to that effect. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such society at the date of such certificate.

(f) One-Year Limit.—No preliminary certificate or license granted under the provisions of this section shall be valid after one year from its date, or after such further period, not exceeding one year, as may be authorized by the Commissioner of Insurance, upon cause shown unless the five hundred applicants herein required have been secured and the organization has been completed as herein provided; and the articles of incorporation and all proceedings thereunder shall become null and void in one year from the date of such preliminary certificate, or at the expiration of such extended period, unless the society shall have completed its organization and commenced business as herein provided.

(g) Discontinuance.—When any domestic society shall have discontinued business for the period of one year, or has less than four hundred members, its charter shall become null and void. (1913, c. 89, s. 11; C. S., s. 6500.)

§ 58-274. Constitution and bylaws.—Each society shall have power to make a constitution and bylaws for the government of the society, the admission of its members, the management of its affairs, and the fixing and readjusting of the rates of contribution of its members from time to time; it shall have the power to change or amend such constitution and bylaws, and it shall have such other powers as are necessary and incidental to carrying into effect the objects and purposes of the society. (1913, c. 89, s. 11; C. S., s. 6501.)

§ 58-275. Amendments to constitution and bylaws. — Every society transacting business under this article shall file with the Commissioner of Insurance a duly certified copy of all amendments of or additions to its constitution and laws within ninety days after the enactment of the same. Printed copies of the constitution and laws as amended, changed or added to, certified by the secretary or corresponding officer of the society, shall be prima facie evidence of the legal adoption thereof. (1913, c. 89, s. 19; C. S., s. 6502.)

Failure to File Copy of Amendments.—preme Conclave, 174 N. C. 628, 94 S. E. 443 (1917).
As to suspension of member where copy of amendments not filed, see Wilson v. Su-

§ 58-276. Waiver of the provisions of the laws.—The constitution and laws of the society may provide that no subordinate body, nor any of its subordinate officers or members, shall have the power or authority to waive any of the provisions of the laws and constitution of the society, and the same shall be binding on the society and each and every member thereof, and on all beneficiaries of members. (1913, c. 89, s. 17; C. S., s. 6503.)

Editor's Note.—See Shackelford v. Sovereign Camp, W. O. W., 209 N. C. 633, 184 S. E. 691 (1936), where a distinction is made between waiver by local agents, prohibited by this section, and a custom of dealing established over a period of years to the knowledge of the home office.

§ 58-277. Place of meeting; location of office.—Any domestic society may provide that the meetings of its legislative or governing body may be held in any state, district, province, or territory wherein such society has subordinate branches, and all business transacted at such meetings shall be as valid in all respects as if such meetings were held in this State; but its principal office shall be located in this State. (1913, c. 89, s. 15; C. S., s. 6504.)

§ 58-278. No personal liability for benefits.—Officers and members of the supreme, grand, or any subordinate body of any such incorporated society shall not be individually liable for the payment of any disability or death benefit provided for in the laws and agreements of such society; but the same shall be payable only out of the funds of such society and in the manner provided by its laws. (1913, c. 89, s. 16; C. S., s. 6505.)

§ 58-279. Qualifications for membership.—Any society may admit to beneficial membership any person not less than sixteen and not more than sixty years of age, who has been examined by a legally qualified physician, and whose examination has been supervised and approved in accordance with the laws of the society: Provided, that any beneficiary member of such society who shall apply for a certificate providing for disability benefits need not be required to pass an additional medical examination therefor. Nothing herein contained shall prevent such society from accepting general or social members. (1913, c. 89, s. 6; C. S., s. 6506.)

Construction of Word "Year."—The word "year" in this section should be construed as a calendar year, as set forth in § 12-3 (3). The word "year" in a funeral benefit association bylaw relative to membership in the association should be likewise construed. Green v. Patriotic Order Sons of America, 242 N. C. 78, 87 S. E. (2d) 14 (1955).

§ 58-280. Benefits.—(a) Every society transacting business under this article shall provide for the payment of death benefits, and may provide for the payment of benefits in case of temporary or permanent physical disability, either as the result of disease, accident, or old age, and for monuments or tombstones to the memory of its deceased members, and for the payment of funeral benefits: Provided, the period of life at which the payment of benefits for disability on account of old age shall commence shall not be under seventy years. Such society shall have the power to give a member, when permanently disabled or on attaining the age of seventy, all or such portion of the face value of his certificate as the laws of the society may provide; but nothing contained in this article shall be so construed as to prevent the issuing of benefit certificates for a term of years less than the whole of life, which are payable upon the death or disability of the member occurring within the term for which the benefit certificate may be issued. Such society shall, upon written application of the member, have the power to accept a part of the periodical contributions in cash, and charge the remainder, not exceeding one-half of the periodical contribution, against the certificate, with interest payable or compounded annually at a rate not lower than four per cent per annum; but this privilege shall not be granted except to societies which have readjusted or may hereafter readjust their rates of contributions, and to contracts affected by such readjustment.

(b) Any society which shall show by the annual valuation hereinafter provided for that it is accumulating and maintaining the reserve not lower than the usual reserve computed by the American Experience Table and four per cent interest, may grant to its members extended and paid-up protection, or such withdrawal equities as its constitution and laws may provide; but such grants shall in no case exceed in value the portion of the reserve to the credit of such members to whom they are made. (1913, c. 89, s. 4; C. S., s. 6507.)

§ 58-281. Beneficiaries.—The payment of death benefits shall be confined to wife, husband, relative by blood to the fourth degree, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, stepchildren, children by legal adoption, or to a person or persons dependent upon the member, or, with the consent of the society, any charitable institution maintained by the society; and if after the issuance of the original certificate the member shall become dependent upon an incorporated charitable institution, he shall have the privilege, with the consent of the society, to make such institution his beneficiary. Within the above restrictions each member shall have the right to designate his beneficiary, and, from time to time, have the same changed in accordance with the laws, rules and regulations of the society, and no beneficiary shall have or obtain any vested interest in such benefit until the same has become due and payable upon the death of the member. Any society may, by its laws, limit the scope of beneficiaries within the above classes.

Provided, however, that any member or insured named in any contract or certificate of insurance issued by any beneficial fraternal order, lodge, society, or other insurance association, who has neither lawful spouse nor offspring, shall have the right, without regard to the amount payable thereunder, to have the death benefit provided for in any such contract or certificate of insurance made payable, or to have the named beneficiary changed, to the estate of such member or insured, or to his or her executors or administrators, and to make a testamentary disposition of the proceeds thereof, or to have such death benefit made payable, or to have the named beneficiary changed, to a trustee to be named by such member or insured, and to impress the proceeds in the hands of such trustee with a trust, the terms and provisions of the charter, rules, bylaws and regulations of any such beneficial fraternal order, lodge, society, or other insurance association, to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided further, that in case a husband or wife is designated as beneficiary and subsequently becomes absolutely divorced from the member or insured, such divorce shall automatically annul the designation. (1913, c. 89, s. 5; C. S., s. 6508; 1931, c. 161; 1937, c. 178.)

Editor's Note.—See 13 N. C. Law Rev. 95.

The 1931 amendment inserted in the first sentence the words "or, with the consent of the society, any charitable institution maintained by the society."

The 1937 amendment added the second paragraph. In permitting the insured to designate his estate as beneficiary, the amendment brings fraternal insurance more closely in line with old line insurance. It perhaps renders the proceeds of such a policy available to creditors of a deceased insured and permits wider use of fraternal insurance for investment purposes. In rare instances it will allow a member of an order, who has no near relatives or dependents, to take out such insurance where he heretofore has been prevented from so doing. In destroying the rights of a divorced wife as beneficiary, this section does for an insured what he might unintentionally have neglected to do. The provision permitting the naming of a trustee as beneficiary seems designed to counteract the effects of the recent case of Equitable Trust Co. v. Widows' Fund of Oasis, etc., Temples, 207 N. C. 534, 177 S. E. 799 (1935), holding invalid an attempt to name as beneficiary a corporate trustee. As amended, however, the section does not make it clear whether the trustee may be a corporation, or whether he must be a natural person. And it leaves unclear whether the beneficiaries of the trust must be relatives or dependents of the insured. If not, the amendment gives the insured carte blanche, by the device of a trust, to name any beneficiary he desires. Such is not in keeping with the usual purpose of fraternal benefit insurance. 15 N. C. Law Rev. 357.

This section expressly grants to the insurer the right to circumscribe the statutory permissive class. Having the right to circumscribe, the insurer of course has the right to make its limitation absolute or it can fix a permissive class of beneficiaries. Widows Fund of Sudan Temple v. Umphlett, 246 N. C. 555, 99 S. E. (2d) 791 (1957).

Legal dependent means something more than one who is deriving support from another. It imports one who has the right to invoke the aid of the law to require support. And the status of a wife living with her husband as being his legal dependent, entitled in law to his support, is recognized by our statutes. Junior Order United American Mechanics v. Tate, 212 N. C. 305, 193 S. E. 397, 113 A. L. R. 1514 (1937).

Payment of Dues Does Not Create Lien against Certificate.—Where insured's wife was named beneficiary, and after her death insured's brother, who became the beneficiary under the terms of the certificate as insured's nearest blood relation, kept the certificate in force until the death of the insured a short time thereafter, it was held that under the terms of the certificate the insured's brother was entitled to the proceeds thereof, to the exclusion of the wife's nephew who claimed under the will of the wife, the payment of dues or premiums alone being insufficient to create a lien against the certificate, or the proceeds thereof, and the wife at no time having any vested interest as the named beneficiary which she could bequeath by will. Sorrell v. Sovereign Camp, W. O. W., 209 N. C. 226, 183 S. E. 400 (1936).

A contract in the form of a life insurance policy with a mutual benefit society, which contract stipulates that insured agrees that the society is a fraternal benefit society as defined by § 58-270, is a fraternal benefit contract, not an insurance policy, and governed by this section. Equitable Trust Co. v. Widows' Fund of Oasis, etc., Temples, 207 N. C. 534, 177 S. E. 799 (1935).

Right to Change Beneficiary.—Within the restrictions of this section, the beneficiary may be changed by the mere will of the member and without the beneficiary's consent. In such case the right of the beneficiary is not property, but a mere expectancy, dependent on the will of the member to whom the certificate is issued. For this reason the beneficiary's interest in the certificate and contract evidenced thereby differs totally from the interest of a beneficiary named in an ordinary life insurance policy containing no provision for the designation of a new beneficiary. Pollock v. Hardy, 150 N. C. 211, 63 S. E. 940 (1909).

The right of the insured to change the beneficiary is declared and guaranteed by this section. Hence anyone named as beneficiary has, during the life of the insured, no vested right in the certificate. It is a mere expectancy. Widows Fund of Sudan Temple v. Umphlett, 246 N. C. 555, 99 S. E. (2d) 791 (1957).

Same — One Disqualified to Take.—Where the assured has named his wife as beneficiary and afterwards substitutes the name of another, disqualified to take under the statute, such attempted change is not a revocation of the provisions of the policy first issued and leaves it in force. Andrews v. Most Worshipful Grand Lodge, 189 N. C. 697, 128 S. E. 4 (1925).

This section defines the class who may be beneficiaries in a certificate issued by a fraternal benefit society. An attempt to name a beneficiary outside of the class therein limited confers no right on the person so designated. Widows Fund of Sudan Temple v. Umphlett, 246 N. C. 555, 99 S. E. (2d) 791 (1957).

Bigamous Wife's Right to Recover.—A fraternal assessment benefit association having a representative form of government may, by its contract and constitution, confine the beneficiaries to certain blood relatives, wife, affianced wife, persons dependent upon the member, etc., in conformity with the laws of the state wherein it has its head organization; and where such beneficiary sues upon a policy, claiming as the wife of the deceased member, and it appears that in fact the marriage was bigamous, she may not recover, though the certificate states she was his wife. Applebaum v. United Commercial Travelers, 171 N. C. 435, 88 S. E. 722 (1916).

Trustee as Beneficiary.—Prior to the 1937 amendment, an incorporated trust company, authorized by a trust agreement to collect the proceeds of life insurance policies on the life of the trustor upon his death, could not be named beneficiary in a fraternal benefit contract on the trustor's life. Equitable Trust Co. v. Widows' Fund of Oasis, etc., Temples, 207 N. C. 534, 177 S. E. 799 (1935). See Editor's Note, supra.

§ 58-282. Benefit certificates.—Every certificate issued by any such society shall specify the amount of benefit provided thereby, and shall provide that the certificate, the charter, or articles of incorporation or, if a voluntary association, the articles of association, the constitution and laws of the society, and the application for membership and medical examination, signed by the applicant, and all amendments to each thereof, shall constitute the agreement between the society and the member; and copies of the same certified by the secretary of the society, or corresponding officer, shall be received in evidence of the terms and conditions thereof. Any changes, additions, or amendments to the charter or articles of incorporation, or articles of association if a voluntary association, constitution or laws duly made or enacted subsequent to the issuance of the benefit certificate, shall bind the member and his beneficiaries, and shall govern and control the agreement in all respects the same as though such changes, additions, or amendments had been made prior to and were in force at the time of the application for membership. (1913, c. 89, s. 7; C. S., s. 6509.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 58-263.

Alteration of Constitution or Bylaws Impairing Vested Rights.—A general consent of a policyholder in an assessment fraternal benefit society that the society may thereafter alter or amend its constitution or bylaws does not authorize the society to make such changes therein as will impair the vested right of its members and policyholders arising under their contract of insurance with the society. Wilson v. Supreme Conclave, 174 N. C. 628, 94 S. E. 443 (1917).

Same—Recovery on Canceled Policy. — Where a fraternal benefit society has issued a policy to a member, and has changed its plan of business so as to impair the vested rights of the insured under his contract, and refuses to accept the proper premium, and declares the policy void, the insured may maintain his action to recover of the insurer the principal sum of money he has paid on his policy, and simple interest thereon. Wilson v. Supreme Conclave, 174 N. C. 628, 94 S. E. 443 (1917).

Suspension of Members Where Changes in Bylaws Not Filed. — Where a fraternal benefit insurance society is required to file a certified copy of changes made in its constitution and bylaws with the Insurance Commissioner within 90 days (see § 58-275) and fails to do so, it may not, while thus in default, suspend a member for non-compliance therewith. Wilson v. Supreme Conclave, 174 N. C. 628, 94 S. E. 443 (1917).

Proof of Forfeiture of Benefits. — A stipulation in an endowment policy in a fraternal order requiring the member to be in good standing at the time of his death must be construed in reference to provisions in the charter and bylaws of the order, that the member can only be suspended for failure to pay his dues for six months of which notice shall be given him; and an order of suspension made in his absence will not have the effect of suspending him from benefits when there is no evidence that he had failed to pay his dues for the stated period or that notice had been given in accordance with the constitution and bylaws. Lyons v. Knights of Pythias, 172 N. C. 408, 90 S. E. 423 (1916), distinguishing Wilkie v. National Council J. O. U. A. M., 151 N. C. 527, 66 S. E. 579 (1909).

False Representations of Insured. — Where an insurance policy in a fraternal order is issued in violation of certain restrictions contained in its constitution and bylaws, and there is evidence tending to show that this fact was known at the time to the applicant, and the policy was issued by reason of false and material statements on the part of the applicant, the order is not estopped, as a conclusion of law, from resisting payment of the policy because of the fact that its agent also knew that the applicant's statements were false. Robinson v. Brotherhood, 170 N. C. 545, 87 S. E. 537 (1916).

Nonpayment of Dues. — In an action upon a life insurance certificate in a fraternal order the burden of proof is upon the defendant to show nonpayment of dues or other matters to avoid the certificate, when the certificate has been put in evidence and the death has been shown. Wilkie v. National Council, J. O. U. A. M., 147

N. C. 637, 61 S. E. 580 (1908); Harris v. National Council, J. O. U. A. M., 168 N. C. 357, 84 S. E. 405 (1915).

Waiver of Defects in Policy.—A policy in the insurance department of a fraternal order cannot be recovered on when issued by a local agent contrary to its rules and regulations as contained in its constitution and bylaws, unless the defect has been waived by the order or it is in some way estopped from insisting on the forfeiture. Robinson v. Brotherhood, 170 N. C. 545, 87 S. E. 537 (1916).

§ 58-283. Benefits not subject to debts.—No money or other benefit, charity or relief or aid to be paid provided, or rendered by any such society or association for the relief of employees including railroad and other relief associations shall be liable to attachment, garnishment, or other process, or be seized, taken, appropriated, or applied by any legal or equitable process or operation of law to pay any debt or liability of a member or beneficiary or any other person who may have a right thereunder, either before or after payment. (1913, c. 89, s. 18; C. S., s. 6510; 1925, c. 83.)

Editor's Note. — See 3 N. C. Law Rev. 130.

§ 58-284. Certificates of insurance to members.—Any fraternal benefit society authorized to do business in this State which shall accumulate and maintain the reserves, on all certificates hereafter issued, required by the American Experience Table of Mortality, with Craig's or Buttolph's Extension thereof, or the Standard Industrial Table of Mortality, with an interest assumption of not more than three and one-half per centum per annum, or the American Men Ultimate Table of Mortality, with Bowerman's Extension thereof, with an interest assumption of not more than three and one-half per centum per annum, or some higher standard, may accept members in such manner and upon such showing of eligibility, and issue to its members such forms of certificates in such amounts and payable to such beneficiaries as may be authorized by the society; and such society may issue benefit certificates of insurance to any such members in an amount or amounts not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) on the aggregate without medical examination, upon health and character information satisfactory to the society. The provisions of this section shall apply to children under sixteen years of age of members of such society.

This section shall not affect or apply to any organization or society which limit their membership to persons engaged in one or more hazardous occupations in the same or similar lines of business, or in any way affect or repeal any law that now applies to such organizations or societies. (1941, c. 74.)

Editor's Note. — For comment on this enactment, see 19 N. C. Law Rev. 491.

§ 58-285. Funds provided.—(a) Any society may create, maintain, invest, disburse, and apply an emergency, surplus, or other similar fund in accordance with its laws. Unless otherwise provided in the contract, such funds shall be held, invested and disbursed for the use and benefit of the society, and no member or beneficiary shall have or acquire individual rights therein or become entitled to any apportionment or the surrender of any part thereof, except as provided in subsection (b) of § 58-280. The funds from which benefits shall be paid and the funds from which the expenses of the society shall be defrayed shall be derived from periodical or other payments by the members of the society and accretions of said funds. But no society, domestic or foreign, shall hereafter be incorporated or admitted to transact business in this State which does not provide for stated periodical contributions sufficient to provide for meeting the mortuary obligations contracted, when valued upon the basis of the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality as adopted by the National Fraternal Congress, August twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or any higher standard, with interest assumption not more than four per cent per annum, nor write or accept members for temporary or permanent disability benefits except upon tables based upon reliable experience, with an interest assumption not higher than four per cent per annum.

(b) Deferred payments or installments of claims shall be considered as fixed liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or installments are thereafter to be paid. Such liability shall be the present value of such future payments or installments upon the rate of interest and mortality assumed by the society for valuation, and every society shall maintain a fund sufficient to meet such liability regardless of proposed future collections to meet any such liabilities. (1913, c. 89, s. 8; C. S., s. 6511.)

§ 58-286. Investment of funds. — Every society shall invest its funds only in securities permitted by the laws of this State for the investment of the assets of life insurance companies: Provided, that any foreign society permitted or seeking to do business in this State, which invests its funds in accordance with the laws of the state in which it is incorporated where it has such laws, shall be held to meet the requirements of this article for the investment of funds. (1913, c. 89, s. 9; C. S., s. 6512.)

Cross References.—As to investment in bonds guaranteed by the United States, see § 53-44. As to investment in bonds or notes secured by mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration, see §

53-45. See also § 53-60 as to investments in federal farm loan bonds, and § 142-29 as to investment in refunding bonds of North Carolina.

§ 58-287. Application of funds. — Every provision of the laws of the society for payment by its members, in whatever form made, shall distinctly state the purpose of the same and the proportion thereof which may be used for expenses, and no part of the money collected for mortuary or disability purposes or the net accretions of either or any of said funds shall be used for expenses. (1913, c. 89, s. 10; C. S., s. 6513.)

§ 58-288. Powers of existing societies retained; reincorporation. — Any society now engaged in transacting business in this State may exercise all of the rights conferred by this article, and all the rights, powers, and privileges now exercised or possessed by it under its charter or articles of incorporation not inconsistent with this article, if incorporated; or, if it be a voluntary association, it may incorporate hereunder. But no society already organized shall be required to reincorporate hereunder, and any such society may amend its articles of incorporation from time to time in the manner provided by law. (1913, c. 89, s. 12; C. S., s. 6514.)

§ 58-289. Mergers and transfers. — No domestic society shall merge with or accept the transfer of the membership or funds of any other society unless such merger or transfer is evidenced by a contract in writing, setting out in full the terms and conditions of such merger or transfer, and is filed with the Commissioner of Insurance of this State, together with a sworn statement of the financial condition of each of the societies, by its president and secretary or corresponding officers, and a certificate duly verified under oath of said officers of each of the contracting societies that such merger or transfer has been approved by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the supreme legislative or governing body of each of the societies.

Upon the submission of such contract, financial statements, and certificates, the Commissioner of Insurance shall examine the same, and if he shall find such financial statements to be correct and the contract to be in conformity with the provisions of this section, and that such merger or transfer is just and equitable to the members of each of the societies, he shall approve the merger or transfer, issue his certificate to that effect, and thereupon the contract of merger or transfer shall be of full force and effect.

In case such contract is not approved, the fact of its submission and its contents shall not be disclosed by the Commissioner of Insurance. (1913, c. 89, s. 13; C. S., s. 6515.)

As to partial repeal of section, see note under § 58-303.

§ 58-290. Accident societies may be licensed. — Any fraternal benefit society heretofore organized and incorporated, and operating within the definition set forth in this article, providing for benefits in case of death or disability resulting solely from accidents, but which does not obligate itself to pay death or sick benefits, may be licensed under the provisions of this article, and shall have all the privileges and be subject to all the provisions and regulations of this article, except the provisions requiring medical examinations, valuations of benefit certificates, and that the certificate shall specify the amount of benefits. (1913, c. 89, s. 27; C. S., s. 6517.)

§ 58-291. Certain societies not included. — Nothing contained in this article shall be construed to affect or apply to societies which limit their membership to any one hazardous occupation, nor to an association of local lodges of a society now doing business in this State which provides death benefits not exceeding five hundred dollars to any one person or disability benefits not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year to any one person, or both, nor to any contracts of reinsurance business on such plan in this State, nor to domestic societies which limit their membership to the employees of a particular city or town, designated firm, business house, or corporation, nor to domestic lodges, orders, or associations of a purely religious, charitable, and benevolent description, which do not provide for a death benefit of more than one hundred dollars, or for disability benefits of more than one hundred and fifty dollars to any one person in any one year. The Commissioner of Insurance may require from any society such information as will enable him to determine whether such society is exempt from the provisions of this article. (1913, c. 89, s. 26; C. S., s. 6518; 1925, c. 70, s. 2.)

Service on Resident Secretary Valid. — Personal service on resident secretary of fraternal insurance association allowed to do business in the State without a license under this section and §§ 58-15, and 58-251, held valid service on the association in action on policy. Winchester v. Grand Lodge of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, 203 N. C. 735, 167 S. E. 49 (1932).

§ 58-292. Reports to Commissioner of Insurance.—(a) Annual Report.—Every society transacting business in this State shall annually, on or before the first day of March, file with the Commissioner of Insurance, in such form as he may require, a statement, under oath of its president and secretary of corresponding officers, of its condition and standing on the thirty-first day of December next preceding, and of its transactions for the year ending on that date, and also shall furnish such other information as the Commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The Commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society.

(b) Valuation of Certificates.—In addition to the annual report herein required, each society shall annually report to the Commissioner a valuation of its certificates in force on December thirty-first, last preceding, excluding those issued within the year for which the report is filed, in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current mortality and expenses. Such report of valuation shall show, as contingent liabilities, the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation; and as contingent assets, the present mid-year value of the future net contributions provided in the constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected. At the option of any society, in lieu of the above, the valuation may show the net value of the certificates subject to valuation hereinbefore provided, and the net value, when computed in case of monthly contributions, may be the mean of the terminal values for the end of the preceding and of the current insurance years.

(c) Valuation Ascertained.—Such valuation shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary, or, at the request and expense of the society, verified by the actuary of the Department of Insurance of the home state of the society, and shall be filed with the Commissioner within ninety days after the submission of the last preceding annual report. The legal minimum standard of valuation for all certificates, except for disability benefits, shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality as adopted by the National Fraternal Congress, August twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or, at the option of the society, any higher table; or, at its option, it may use a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with interest assumption not more than four per centum per annum. Each such valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation. Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep the net contributions for such benefits in a fund separate and apart from all other benefit and expense funds and the valuation of all other business of the society: Provided, that where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent total disability benefits, the valuation shall be according to tables of reliable experience, and in such case a separation of the funds shall not be required.

(d) Test of Solvency.—The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society, but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities.

(e) Report Mailed to Members.—A report of such valuation and an explanation of the facts concerning the condition of the society thereby disclosed shall be printed and mailed to each beneficiary member of the society not later than June first of each year; or, in lieu thereof, such report of valuation and showing of the society's condition as thereby disclosed may be published in the society's official paper, and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficiary member of the society. (1913, c. 89, s. 20; C. S., s. 6519.)

§ 58-293. Additional or increased rates.—The laws of such society shall provide that if the stated periodical contributions of the members are insufficient to pay all matured death and disability claims in full, and to provide for the creation and maintenance of the funds required by its laws, additional, increased, or extra rates of contribution shall be collected from the members to meet such deficiency; and such laws may provide that, upon the written application or consent of the member, his certificate may be charged with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by valuation, with interest not exceeding five per cent per annum. (1913, c. 89, s. 20; C. S., s. 6520.)

§ 58-294. Provisions to insure future security.—If the valuation of the certificates, as hereinbefore provided, on December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, shall show that the present value of future net contributions, together with the admitted assets, is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities, such society shall thereafter maintain said financial condition at each succeeding triennial valuation in respect of the degree of efficiency as shown in the valuation as of December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen. If at any succeeding triennial valuation such society does not show at least the same condition, the Commissioner shall direct that it thereafter comply with the requirements herein specified. If the next succeeding triennial valuation after the receipt of such notice shall show that the society has failed to maintain the condition required herein, the Commissioner may, in the absence of good cause shown for such failure, institute proceedings for the dissolution of such society, in accordance with the provisions of this article, or in the case of a foreign society, its license may be canceled in the manner provided in this article.

Any such society, shown by any triennial valuation, subsequent to December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, not to have maintained the condition herein required, shall, within two years thereafter, make such improvement as to show a percentage of deficiency not greater than as of December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, or thereafter, as to all new members admitted, to be subject, so far as stated rates of contributions are concerned, to the provisions of this article, applicable in the organization of new societies: Provided, that the net mortuary or beneficiary contributions and funds of such new members shall be kept separate and apart from the other funds of the society. If such required improvement is not shown by the succeeding triennial valuation, then the new members may be placed in a separate class and their certificates valued as an independent society in respect of contributions and funds. (1913, c. 89, s. 20(a); C. S., s. 6521.)

§ 58-295. Valuation on accumulation basis; tabular basis.—In lieu of the requirements of the two preceding sections, any society accepting in its laws the provisions of this section may value its certificates on a basis herein designated “accumulation basis,” by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year, and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his shares of the losses for each year, herein designated “cost of insurance,” and carrying the balance, if any, to his credit. The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this State, and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year, which shall be the amount payable at death, less the credit to the member. Except as specifically provided in its articles or laws or contracts, no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member of any past share of losses exceeding the contributions and credit. If, after the first valuation, any member’s share of losses for any year exceeds his credit, including the contribution for the year, the contribution shall be increased to cover his share of the losses. Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contribution especially created or required for such purpose.

Any member may transfer to any plan adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained, and on such transfer shall be entitled to make such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society.

Certificates issued, rerated, or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this State, shall be valued on such basis, herein designated the “Tabular Basis”: Provided, that if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate, the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis.

Whenever, in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis, the total of all costs of insurance provided for any year shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year, the deficiency shall be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve; or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied to the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws. Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws.

If the laws of the society so provide, the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separately for such class as if in an independent society, and the required reserve accumulation of such class so set apart shall not thereafter be mingled with the assets of other classes of the society.

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credit the tabular reserve required on the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract, according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this State and adopted by the society shall be filed by the society with each annual report, and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year.

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for a transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract. No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis.

For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required, and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis pursuant to its laws; nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in the manner as expressed in the contract and its laws; nor as making any such reserve or credits a liability in determining the legal solvency of the society. (1913, c. 89, s. 20(b); C. S., s. 6522.)

§ 58-296. Examination of domestic societies.—The Commissioner of Insurance, or any person he may appoint, shall have power of visitation and examination into the affairs of any domestic society. He may employ assistants for the purpose of such examination, and he, or any person he may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers, and documents that relate to the business of the society, and may summon and qualify as a witness under oath and examine its officers, agents, and employees or other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions, and condition of the society.

The expense of such examination shall be paid by the society examined upon statement furnished by the Commissioner of Insurance, and the examination shall be made at least once in three years. (1913, c. 89, s. 21; C. S., s. 6523.)

§ 58-297. Proceedings for dissolution.—When after examination the Commissioner of Insurance is satisfied that any domestic society has failed to comply with any provision of this article, or is exceeding its powers, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, or is transacting business fraudulently; or whenever any domestic society, after the existence of one year or more, shall have a membership of less than four hundred (or shall determine to discontinue business), the Commissioner of Insurance may present the facts relating thereto to the Attorney General who shall, if he deem the circumstances warrant, commence an action in quo warranto in a court of competent jurisdiction, and such court shall thereupon notify the officers of such society of a hearing, and if it shall then appear that such society should be closed, it shall be enjoined from carrying on any further business, and a receiver shall be appointed to take possession of its books, papers, moneys, and other assets and immediately, under the direction of the court, proceed to close its affairs and distribute its funds to those entitled thereto.

No such proceedings shall be commenced by the Attorney General against any such society until after notice has been duly served on its chief executive officers and a reasonable opportunity given to it, on a date to be named in the notice, to show cause why such proceedings should not be commenced. (1913, c. 89, s. 21; C. S., s. 6524.)

§ 58-298. Proceedings only by Attorney General.—No application for injunction against or proceedings for the dissolution of or the appointment of a receiver for any such domestic society or branch thereof shall be entertained by any court in this State unless the same is made by the Attorney General. (1913, c. 89, s. 22; C. S., s. 6525.)

transacting or applying for admission to transact business in this State. The Commissioner may employ assistants, and he, or any person he may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers, and documents that relate to the business of the society, and may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers, agents, and employees and other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions, and condition of the society. He may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of such examination the examination of the insurance department of the state, territory, district, province, or country where such society is organized. The actual expenses of examiners making any such examination shall be paid by the society upon statement furnished by the Commissioner of Insurance.

If any such society or its officers refuse to submit to such examination or to comply with the provisions of the section relative thereto, its authority to write new business in this State shall be suspended or license refused until satisfactory evidence is furnished the Commissioner relating to its condition and affairs, and during such suspension the society shall not write new business in this State. (1913, c. 89, s. 23; C. S., s. 6526.)

§ 58-300. No adverse publications.—Pending, during, or after an examination or investigation of any such society, either domestic or foreign, the Commissioner of Insurance shall make public no financial statement, report, or finding, nor shall he knowingly permit to become public any financial statement, report, or finding affecting the status, standing, or rights of any such society, until a copy thereof has been served upon the society, at its home office, nor until the society has been afforded a reasonable opportunity to answer any such financial statement, report, or finding, and to make such showing in connection therewith as it may desire. (1913, c. 89, s. 24; C. S., s. 6527.)

§ 58-301. Revocation of license.—When the Commissioner of Insurance on investigation is satisfied that any foreign society transacting business under this article has exceeded its powers, or has failed to comply with any provisions of this article, or is conducting business fraudulently, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, he shall notify the society of his findings, and state in writing the grounds of his dissatisfaction, and after reasonable notice require the society, on a date named, to show cause why its license should not be revoked. If on the date named in the notice such objections have not been removed to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, or the society does not present good and sufficient reasons why its authority to transact business in this State should not at that time be revoked, he may revoke the authority to continue business in this State. All decisions and findings of the Commissioner made under the provisions of this section may be reviewed by proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, as provided in this article. (1913, c. 89, s. 25; C. S., s. 6528.)

§ 58-302. Criminal offenses.—Any person, officer, member, or examining physician of any society authorized to do business under this article who shall knowingly or willfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any application for membership, or for the purpose of obtaining money from or benefit in any society transacting business under this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Any person who shall solicit membership for, or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not licensed to do business in this State, or who shall solicit membership for, or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any such society not authorized as herein provided, to do business as herein defined in this State, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars.

Any society, or any officer, agent, or employee thereof, neglecting or refusing to comply with, or violating, any of the provisions of this article, the penalty for which neglect, refusal, or violation is not specified in this section, shall be fined not exceeding two hundred dollars upon conviction thereof. (1913, c. 89, s. 28; C. S., s. 6529.)

Cross Reference. — As to penalties for using funds of insurance companies for political purposes, see § 163-206.

§ 58-303. Merger, consolidation or reinsurance of fraternal risks with licensed life insurance companies or with other fraternal orders or benefit societies.—No fraternal order or society organized under the laws of this State to do the business of life, accident, or health insurance shall consolidate or merge with any other fraternal order or society, or with a life insurance company, or reinsure its risks, or any part thereof with any other fraternal order or society, or with a life insurance company, or assume or reinsure the whole or any portion of the risks of any other fraternal order or society, except with a fraternal order or society, or a life insurance company, licensed to transact business in North Carolina and subject to the provisions of G. S. § 58-304. (1921, c. 60, s. 1; C. S., s. 6529(a); 1949, c. 1080, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1949 amendment rewrote this section. The amendatory act, which rewrote § 58-304 and inserted § 53-304.1, provides in s. 4 thereof: "All laws and clauses of laws, and in particular the provisions of G. S. § 58-289, in conflict with this act are repealed to the extent of such conflict."

§ 58-304. Contracts approved by boards of directors or governing bodies of parties to same; approval by Commissioner of Insurance.—When any fraternal order or society shall propose to consolidate or merge its business or to enter into a contract of reinsurance with any other fraternal order or society or with a life insurance company, or to assume or reinsure the whole or any portion of the risks of any other fraternal order or society, the proposed contract in writing setting forth the terms and conditions of the proposed consolidation, merger, or reinsurance shall be submitted to the boards of directors or to the governing bodies of each of said parties to said contract at a meeting called for that purpose by notice given in writing ten days prior thereto, and if approved by a majority vote of the said boards of directors, or governing bodies, said contract as so approved shall be submitted to the Commissioner of Insurance of this State for his approval, and the parties to said contract shall at the same time submit a sworn statement showing their financial condition as of the 31st day of December next preceding the date of such contract. Provided, that the Commissioner of Insurance may, within his discretion, require such financial statement to be submitted as of the last day of the month next preceding the date of such contract. The Commissioner of Insurance shall thereupon consider such contract of consolidation, merger, or reinsurance, and if satisfied that the interests of the certificate and policyholders of each of the parties are properly protected and that the contract will be in the public interest, and that such contract is just and equitable to the certificate and policyholders of each of the parties, and that no reasonable objection exists thereto, he shall approve said contract as submitted. In case the parties corporate to such contract shall have been incorporated in separate states, or territories, such contract shall be submitted as herein provided to the Commissioner of Insurance of each of such incorporating states, or territories, to be considered and approved separately by each of said Commissioners of Insurance. If the Commissioner of Insurance approves such contract of consolidation, merger, or reinsurance, he shall issue a certificate to that effect, and thereupon the said contract of consolidation, merger, or reinsurance shall be in full force and effect. In case such contract is not approved it shall be inoperative, and the fact of the submission and its contents shall not be disclosed by the Commissioner of Insurance. (1921, c. 60, s. 2; C. S., s. 6529(b); 1949, c. 1080, s. 2.)

§ 58-304.1. Application of §§ 58-155.1 to 58-155.35, inclusive.—The provisions of G. S. 58-155.1 to 58-155.35, inclusive, shall apply, where pertinent, to all fraternal orders and societies doing business in this State. (1949, c. 1080, s. 3.)

§ 58-305. Expenses; compensation to officers or employees of contracting parties and State employees.—All necessary and actual expenses and compensation incident to the proceedings provided in this law shall be paid as provided by such contract of consolidation, merger, or reinsurance: Provided, however, that no brokerage or commission shall be included in such expenses and compensation or shall be paid to any person by either of the parties to any such contract in connection with the negotiation therefor or execution thereof, nor shall any compensation be paid to any officer or employee of either of the parties to such contract for directly or indirectly aiding in effecting such contract of consolidation, merger, or reinsurance. An itemized statement of all such expenses shall be filed with the Commissioner of Insurance, subject to approval, and when approved the same shall be binding on the parties thereto. Except as fully expressed in the contract of consolidation, merger or reinsurance, or itemized statement of expenses, as approved by the Commissioner of Insurance, or commissioners, as the case may be, no compensation shall be paid to any person or persons, and no officer or employee of the State shall receive any compensation, directly or indirectly, for in any manner aiding, promoting, or assisting any such consolidation, merger, or reinsurance. (1921, c. 60, s. 3; C. S., s. 6529(c).)

§ 58-306. Violation of law a felony.—Any person violating the provisions of §§ 58-303, 58-304, 58-305 shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be liable to a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or to imprisonment for not more than five years, or to both fine and imprisonment. (1921, c. 60, s. 4; C. S., s. 6529(d).)

§ 58-307. Appointment of Commissioner of Insurance as process agent.—Every foreign fraternal benefit society except labor organizations which limit their admission to membership to persons engaged in one or more hazardous occupations in the same or similar lines of business now transacting business in this State shall, within thirty days after the passage of this section, and every such society hereafter applying for admission shall, before being licensed, appoint in writing the Commissioner of Insurance and his successors in office to be its true and lawful attorney upon whom all legal process in any action or proceeding against it shall be served, and in such writing shall agree that any lawful process against it which is served upon such attorney shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served upon the society, and that the authority shall continue in force so long as any liability remains outstanding in this State. Copies of such appointment, certified by said Commissioner of Insurance, shall be deemed sufficient evidence thereof and shall be admitted in evidence with the same force and effect as the original thereof might be admitted. Service shall be made in duplicate upon the Commissioner of Insurance, or in his absence upon the person in charge of his office, and shall be deemed sufficient service upon said society. When legal service against any such society is served upon said Commissioner of Insurance he shall forthwith forward by registered mail one of the duplicate copies, prepaid and directed to its secretary or corresponding officer. No such service shall be valid or binding against any such society when it is required thereunder to file its answer, pleading or defense in less than thirty days from the date of mailing the copy of such service to such society. Legal process shall not be served upon any such society except in the manner provided therein. As a condition precedent to a valid service of process and to the duty of the Commissioner in the premises, the plaintiff shall pay to the Commissioner of Insurance at the time of service the sum of one ($1.00) dollar, which the plaintiff shall recover as taxable costs if he prevails in his action. (1939, c. 130.)

Cross Reference.—As to other ways in which a foreign insurance company may be served with a copy of process, see §§ 1-97, 55-143, 55-144, 55-146.

ARTICLE 29.

Whole Family Protection.

§ 58-308. Insurance on children.—Any fraternal order or fraternal benefit society authorized to do business in this State and operating on the lodge plan may provide in its constitution and bylaws, in addition to other benefits provided for therein, for the payment of death or annuity benefits upon the lives of children between the ages of one and sixteen years at next birthday, for whose support and maintenance a member of such society is responsible. The society may at its option organize and operate branches for such children and membership in local lodges, and initiation therein shall not be required of such children, nor shall they have any voice in the management of the society. The total benefits payable as above provided shall in no case exceed the following amounts at ages at next birthday at time of death, respectively, as follows: one year, twenty dollars; two years, fifty dollars; three years, seventy-five dollars; four years, one hundred dollars; five years, one hundred twenty-five dollars; six years, one hundred fifty dollars; seven years, two hundred dollars; eight years, two hundred fifty dollars; nine years, three hundred dollars; ten years, four hundred dollars; eleven years, five hundred dollars; twelve years, six hundred dollars; thirteen years, seven hundred dollars; fourteen years, eight hundred dollars; fifteen years, nine hundred dollars; sixteen years, one thousand dollars.

Provided, any fraternal benefit society which shall accumulate and maintain the reserves required by a table of mortality not lower than the American Experience Table of Mortality, with an interest assumption of not more than four per cent, may accept members at such ages, and children under sixteen years of age, in such manner and upon such showing of eligibility, and issue to its members, and children under sixteen years of age, such forms of certificates, payable to such beneficiaries, and for such amounts, as its constitution and laws may provide. Children under sixteen years of age shall have no voice or vote. (1917, c. 239, s. 1; C. S., s. 6530; 1931, c. 38; 1937, c. 208.)

Editor's Note. — Prior to the 1931 amendment the ages were set at from two to eighteen and the amounts from $34 to $600. The 1937 amendment added the proviso and the last sentence.

§ 58-309. Medical examination; certificates and contributions.—No benefit certificate as to any child shall take effect until after medical examination or inspection by a licensed medical practitioner, in accordance with the laws of the society, nor shall any such benefit certificate be issued unless the society shall simultaneously put in force at least five hundred such certificates, on each of which at least one assessment has been paid, nor where the number of lives represented by such certificate falls below five hundred. The death benefit contributions to be made upon such certificate shall be based upon the "Standard Mortality Table" or the "English Life Table Number Six," and a rate of interest not greater than four per cent per annum, or upon a higher standard; but contributions may be waived or returns may be made from any surplus held in excess of reserve and other liabilities, as provided in the bylaws; and extra contributions shall be made if the reserves hereafter provided for become impaired. (1917, c. 239, s. 2; C. S., s. 6531.)

§ 58-310. Reserve fund; exchange of certificates.—Any society entering into such insurance agreements shall maintain on all such contracts the reserve required by the standard of mortality and interest adopted by the society for computing contributions as provided in § 58-309, and the funds representing the benefit contributions and all accretions thereon shall be kept as separate and distinct funds, independent of the other funds of the society, and shall not be liable for nor used for the payment of the debts and obligations of the society other than the benefits herein authorized. A society may provide that when a child reaches the minimum age for initiation into membership in such society, any benefit certificate issued hereunder may be surrendered for cancellation and exchanged for any other form of certificate issued by the society: Provided, that such surrender will not reduce the number of lives insured in the branch below five hundred; and upon the issuance of such new certificate any reserve upon the original certificate herein provided for shall be transferred to the credit of the new certificate. Neither the person who originally made application for benefits on account of such child, nor the beneficiary named in such original certificate, nor the person who paid the contributions, shall have any vested right in such new certificate, the free nomination of a beneficiary under the new certificate being left to the child so admitted to benefit membership. (1917, c. 239, s. 3; C. S., s. 6532.)

§ 58-311. Separation of funds.—An entirely separate financial statement of the business transactions and of assets and liabilities arising therefrom shall be made in its annual report to the Commissioner of Insurance by any society availing itself of the provisions hereof. The separation of assets, funds, and liabilities required hereby shall not be terminated, rescinded, or modified, nor shall the funds be diverted for any use other than as specified in the preceding section, as long as any certificates issued hereunder remain in force, and this requirement shall be recognized and enforced in any liquidation, reinsurance, merger, or other change in the condition or the status of the society. (1917, c. 239, s. 4; C. S., s. 6533.)

§ 58-312. Payments to expense or general fund.—Any society shall have the right to provide in its laws and the certificate issued hereunder for specified payments on account of the expense or general fund, which payments shall or shall not be mingled with the general fund of the society, as its constitution and bylaws may provide. (1917, c. 239, s. 5; C. S., s. 6534.)

§ 58-313. Continuation of certificates.—In the event of the termination of membership in the society by the person responsible for the support of any child on whose account a certificate may have been issued as provided herein, the certificate may be continued for the benefit of the estate of the child, provided the contributions are continued, or for the benefit of any other person responsible for the support and maintenance of such child who shall assume the payment of the required contributions. (1917, c. 239, s. 6; C. S., s. 6535.)

ARTICLE 30.

General Provisions for Societies.

trust for such society or body. The trustees shall have power, when instructed so to do by resolution adopted by the society or body which they represent, to mortgage or sell and convey in fee simple any real or personal property owned by the society or body; and the conveyances so made by the trustees shall be effective to pass the property in fee simple to the purchaser or to the mortgagee or trustee for the purposes in such conveyance or mortgage expressed. If there shall be no trustee, then any real or personal property which could be held by such trustees shall vest in and be held by such charitable, benevolent, religious, or fraternal orders and societies, respectively, according to such intent. (1907, c. 22; 1915, cc. 149, 186; C. S., s. 6536; 1923, c. 257.)

Wrongfully Suspended Members Enjoining Sale of Lodge Property.—Where a local lodge existed under the constitution and bylaws of the supreme lodge requiring written notice to be given to its members before suspension, and certain members were suspended without such notice being given, a resolution passed at a subsequent meeting of the local lodge authorizing a sale of its property by trustees was invalid, and the sale was enjoined at the suit of such wrongfully suspended members. Tyler v. Howell, 192 N. C. 433, 135 S. E. 133 (1926).

§ 58-315. Unauthorized wearing of badges, etc.—Any person who fraudulently and willfully wears the badge or button of any secret or fraternal organization or society, either in the identical form or in such near resemblance thereto as to be colorable imitation thereof, or who fraudulently and willfully uses the name of any such order or organization, the titles of its officers, or its insignia, ritual, or ceremonies, unless entitled to wear or use the same under the constitution and bylaws, rules and regulations of such secret or fraternal organization or society, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for thirty days, in the discretion of the court. ARTICLE 1.Uniform Limited Partnership Act.

§ 59-1. Limited partnership defined.—A limited partnership is a partnership formed by two or more persons under the provisions of § 59-2, having as members one or more general partners and one or more limited partners. The limited partners as such shall not be bound by the obligations of the partnership. (1941, c. 251, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — For comment on this article, see 19 N. C. Law Rev. 503.

§ 59-2. Formation.—(a) Two or more persons desiring to form a limited partnership shall

(1) Sign and swear to a certificate, which shall state

- a. The name of the partnership,
- b. The character of the business,
- c. The location of the principal place of business,
- d. The name and place of residence of each member; general and limited partners being respectively designated,
- e. The term for which the partnership is to exist,
- f. The amount of cash and a description of and the agreed value of the other property contributed by each limited partner,
- g. The additional contributions, if any, agreed to be made by each limited partner and the times at which or events on the happening of which they shall be made,
- h. The time, if agreed upon, when the contribution of each limited partner is to be returned,
- i. The share of the profits or the other compensation by way of income which each limited partner shall receive by reason of his contribution,

- j. The right, if given, of a limited partner to substitute an assignee as contributor in his place, and the terms and conditions of the substitution,
- k. The right, if given, of the partners to admit additional limited partners,
- l. The right, if given, of one or more of the limited partners to priority over other limited partners, as to contributions or as to compensation by way of income, and the nature of such priority,
- m. The right, if given, of the remaining general partner or partners to continue the business on the death, retirement or insanity of a general partner, and
- n. The right, if given, of a limited partner to demand and receive property other than cash in return for his contribution.

(2) File for record the certificate in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the principal place of business is located according to the statement in such certificate.

(b) A limited partnership is formed if there has been substantial compliance in good faith with the requirements of subsection (a). (1941, c. 251, s. 2; 1953, c. 1190, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment added the part of subdivision (2) of subsection (a) appearing after the word "court."

For brief comment on the 1953 amendment, see 31 N. C. Law Rev. 429.

§ 59-3. Business which may be carried on.—A limited partnership may carry on any business which a partnership without limited partners may carry on. (1941, c. 251, s. 3.)

§ 59-4. Character of limited partner's contribution.—The contributions of a limited partner may be cash or other property, but not services. (1941, c. 251, s. 4.)

§ 59-5. A name not to contain surname of limited partner; exceptions.—(a) The surname of a limited partner shall not appear in the partnership name, unless

- (1) It is also the surname of a general partner, or
- (2) Prior to the time when the limited partner became such the business had been carried on under a name in which his surname appeared.

(b) A limited partner whose name appears in a partnership name contrary to the provisions of subsection (a) is liable as a general partner to partnership creditors who extend credit to the partnership without actual knowledge that he is not a general partner. (1941, c. 251, s. 5.)

§ 59-6. Liability for false statements in certificate.—If the certificate contains a false statement, one who suffers loss by reliance on such statement may hold liable any party to the certificate who knew the statement to be false

- (1) At the time he signed the certificate, or
- (2) Subsequently, but within a sufficient time before the statement was relied upon to enable him to cancel or amend the certificate, or to file a petition for its cancellation or amendment as provided in § 59-25, subsection (c). (1941, c. 251, s. 6.)

§ 59-7. Limited partner not liable to creditors.—A limited partner shall not become liable as a general partner unless, in addition to the exercise of his rights and powers as a limited partner, he takes part in the control of the business. (1941, c. 251, s. 7.)

Cross Reference. — As to nature of liability of general partner, see § 59-45.

§ 59-8. Admission of additional limited partners.—After the formation of a limited partnership, additional limited partners may be admitted upon filing an amendment to the original certificate in accordance with the requirements of § 59-25. (1941, c. 251, s. 8.)

§ 59-9. Rights, powers and liabilities of a general partner.—A general partner shall have all the rights and powers and be subject to all the restrictions and liabilities of a partner in a partnership without limited partners, except that without the written consent or ratification of the specific act by all the limited partners, a general partner or all of the general partners have no authority to

- (1) Do any act in contravention of the certificate,
- (2) Do any act which would make it impossible to carry on the ordinary business of the partnership,
- (3) Confess a judgment against the partnership,
- (4) Possess partnership property, or assign their rights in specific partnership property, for other than a partnership purpose,
- (5) Admit a person as a general partner,
- (6) Admit a person as a limited partner, unless the right so to do is given in the certificate,
- (7) Continue the business with partnership property on the death, retirement or insanity of a general partner, unless the right so to do is given in the certificate. (1941, c. 251, s. 9.)

§ 59-10. Rights of a limited partner.—(a) A limited partner shall have the same rights as a general partner to

- (1) Have the partnership books kept at the principal place of business of the partnership, and at all times to inspect and copy any of them,
- (2) Have on demand true and full information of all things affecting the partnership, and a formal account of partnership affairs whenever circumstances render it just and reasonable, and
- (3) Have dissolution and winding up by decree of court.

(b) A limited partner shall have the right to receive a share of the profits or other compensation by way of income, and to the return of his contribution as provided in §§ 59-15 and 59-16. (1941, c. 251, s. 10.)

§ 59-11. Status of person erroneously believing himself a limited partner.—A person who has contributed to the capital of a business conducted by a person or partnership erroneously believing that he has become a limited partner in a limited partnership, is not, by reason of his exercise of the rights of a limited partner, a general partner with the person or in the partnership carrying on the business, or bound by the obligations of such person or partnership; provided that on ascertaining the mistake he promptly renounces his interest in the profits of the business, or other compensation by way of income. (1941, c. 251, s. 11.)

§ 59-12. One person both general and limited partner.—(a) A person may be a general partner and a limited partner in the same partnership at the same time.

(b) A person who is a general, and also at the same time a limited partner, shall have all the rights and powers and be subject to all restrictions of a general partner; except that, in respect to his contribution, he shall have the rights against the other members which he would have had if he were not also a general partner. (1941, c. 251, s. 12.)

§ 59-13. Loans and other business transactions with limited partner.—(a) A limited partner also may loan money to and transact other business with the partnership, and, unless he is also a general partner, receive on account of resulting claims against the partnership, with general creditors, a pro rata share of the assets. No limited partner shall in respect to any such claim

- (1) Receive or hold as collateral security any partnership property, or
- (2) Receive from a general partner or the partnership any payment, conveyance, or release from liability, if at the time the assets of the partnership are not sufficient to discharge partnership liabilities to persons not claiming as general or limited partners.

(b) The receiving of collateral security, or a payment, conveyance, or release in violation of the provisions of subsection (a) is a fraud on the creditors of the partnership. (1941, c. 251, s. 13.)

§ 59-14. Relation of limited partners inter se.—Where there are several limited partners the members may agree that one or more of the limited partners shall have a priority over other limited partners as to the return of their contributions, as to their compensation by way of income, or as to any other matter. If such an agreement is made it shall be stated in the certificate, and in the absence of such a statement all the limited partners shall stand upon equal footing. (1941, c. 251, s. 14.)

§ 59-15. Compensation of limited partner.—A limited partner may receive from the partnership the share of the profits or the compensation by way of income stipulated for in the certificate; provided, that after such payment is made, whether from the property of the partnership or that of a general partner, the partnership assets are in excess of all liabilities of the partnership except liabilities to limited partners on account of their contributions and to general partners. (1941, c. 251, s. 15.)

§ 59-16. Withdrawal or reduction of limited partner's contribution.—(a) A limited partner shall not receive from a general partner or out of partnership property any part of his contribution until

- (1) All liabilities of the partnership, except liabilities to general partners and to limited partners on account of their contributions, have been paid or there remains property of the partnership sufficient to pay them,
- (2) The consent of all members is had, unless the return of the contribution may be rightfully demanded under the provisions of subsection (b), and
- (3) The certificate is canceled or so amended as to set forth the withdrawal or reduction.

(b) Subject to the provisions of subsection (a) a limited partner may rightfully demand the return of his contribution

- (1) On the dissolution of a partnership, or
- (2) When the date specified in the certificate for its return has arrived, or
- (3) After he has given six months' notice in writing to all other members, if no time is specified in the certificate either for the return of the contribution or for the dissolution of the partnership.

(c) In the absence of any statement in the certificate to the contrary or the consent of all members, a limited partner, irrespective of the nature of his contribution, has only the right to demand and receive cash in return for his contribution.

(d) A limited partner may have the partnership dissolved and its affairs wound up when

- (1) He rightfully but unsuccessfully demands the return of his contribution, or
- (2) The other liabilities of the partnership have not been paid, or the partnership property is insufficient for their payment as required by subdivision (a) (1) and the limited partner would otherwise be entitled to the return of his contribution. (1941, c. 251, s. 16.)

§ 59-17. Liability of limited partner to partnership.—(a) A limited partner is liable to the partnership

- (1) For the difference between his contribution as actually made and that stated in the certificate as having been made, and
 - (2) For any unpaid contribution which he agreed in the certificate to make in the future at the time and on the condition stated in the certificate.
- (b) A limited partner holds as trustee for the partnership
- (1) Specific property stated in the certificate as contributed by him, but which was not contributed or which has been wrongfully returned, and
 - (2) Money or other property wrongfully paid or conveyed to him on account of his contribution.

(c) The liabilities of a limited partner as set forth in this section can be waived or compromised only by the consent of all members; but a waiver of compromise shall not affect the right of a creditor of a partnership, who extended credit or whose claim arose after the filing and before a cancellation or amendment of the certificate, to enforce such liabilities.

(d) When a contributor has rightfully received the return in whole or in part of the capital of his contribution, he is nevertheless liable to the partnership for any sum, not in excess of such return with interest, necessary to discharge its liabilities to all creditors who extended credit or whose claims arose before such return. (1941, c. 251, s. 17.)

§ 59-18. Nature of limited partner's interest in the partnership.—A limited partner's interest in the partnership is personal property. (1941, c. 251, s. 18.)

§ 59-19. Assignment of limited partner's interest.—(a) A limited partner's interest is assignable.

(b) A substituted limited partner is a person admitted to all the rights of a limited partner who has died or has assigned his interest in a partnership.

(c) An assignee, who does not become a substituted limited partner, has no right to require any information or account of the partnership transactions or to inspect the partnership books; he is only entitled to receive the share of the profits or other compensation by way of income, or the return of his contribution, to which his assignor would otherwise be entitled.

(d) An assignee shall have the right to become a substituted limited partner if all the members (except the assignor) consent thereto or if the assignor, being thereunto empowered by the certificate, gives the assignee that right.

(e) An assignee becomes a substituted limited partner when the certificate is approximately amended in accordance with § 59-25.

(f) The substituted limited partner has all the rights and powers, and is subject to all the restrictions and liabilities of his assignor, except those liabilities of which he was ignorant at the time he became a limited partner and which could not be ascertained from the certificate.

(g) The substitution of the assignee as a limited partner does not release the assignor from liability to the partnership under §§ 59-6 and 59-17. (1941, c. 251, s. 19.)

Cross Reference. — As to assignment of general partner's interest, see § 59-57.

§ 59-20. Effect of retirement, death or insanity of a general partner.—The retirement, death or insanity of a general partner dissolves the partnership, unless the business is continued by the remaining general partners

- (1) Under a right so to do stated in the certificate, or
- (2) With the consent of all members. (1941, c. 251, s. 20.)

§ 59-21. Death of limited partner.—(a) On the death of a limited partner his executor or administrator shall have all the rights of a limited partner for the purpose of settling his estate, and such power as the deceased had to constitute his assignee a substituted limited partner.

(b) The estate of a deceased limited partner shall be liable for all his liabilities as a limited partner. (1941, c. 251, s. 21.)

§ 59-22. Rights of creditors of limited partner.—(a) On due application to a court of competent jurisdiction by any judgment creditor of a limited partner, the court may charge the interest of the indebted limited partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of the judgment debt; and may appoint a receiver, and make all other orders, directions, and inquiries which the circumstances of the case may require.

(b) The interest may be redeemed with the separate property of any general partner, but may not be redeemed with partnership property.

(c) The remedies conferred by subsection (a) shall not be deemed exclusive of others which may exist.

(d) Nothing in this article shall be held to deprive a limited partner of his statutory exemption. (1941, c. 251, s. 22.)

§ 59-23. Distribution of assets.—(a) In settling accounts after dissolution the liabilities of the partnership shall be entitled to payment in the following order:

- (1) Those to creditors, in the order of priority as provided by law, except those to limited partners on account of their contributions, and to general partners,
- (2) Those to limited partners in respect to their share of the profits and other compensation by way of income on their contributions,
- (3) Those to limited partners in respect to the capital of their contributions,
- (4) Those to general partners other than for capital and profits,
- (5) Those to general partners in respect to profits,
- (6) Those to general partners in respect to capital.

(b) Subject to any statement in the certificate or to subsequent agreement, limited partners share in the partnership assets in respect to their claims for capital, and in respect to their claims for profits or for compensation by way of income on their contributions respectively, in proportion to the respective amounts of such claims. (1941, c. 251, s. 23.)

§ 59-24. When certificate shall be canceled or amended.—(a) The certificate shall be canceled when the partnership is dissolved or all limited partners cease to be such.

(b) A certificate shall be amended when

- (1) There is a change in the name of the partnership or in the amount or character of the contribution of any limited partner,
- (2) A person is substituted as a limited partner,
- (3) An additional limited partner is admitted,
- (4) A person is admitted as a general partner,
- (5) A general partner retires, dies or becomes insane, and the business is continued under § 59-20,
- (6) There is a change in the character of the business of the partnership,
- (7) There is a false or erroneous statement in the certificate,
- (8) There is a change in the time as stated in the certificate for the dissolution of the partnership or for the return of a contribution,
- (9) A time is fixed for the dissolution of the partnership, or the return of a contribution, no time having been specified in the certificate, or
- (10) The members desire to make a change in any other statement in the certificate in order that it shall accurately represent the agreement between them. (1941, c. 251, s. 24.)

§ 59-25. Requirements for amendment and for cancellation of certificate.—(a) The writing to amend a certificate shall

- (1) Conform to the requirements of § 59-2, subdivision (a) (1) as far as necessary to set forth clearly the change in the certificate which it is desired to make, and
- (2) Be signed and sworn to by all members, and an amendment substituting a limited partner or adding a limited or general partner shall be signed also by the member to be substituted or added, and when a limited partner is to be substituted, the amendment shall also be signed by the assigning limited partner.

(b) The writing to cancel a certificate shall be signed by all members.

(c) A person desiring the cancellation or amendment of a certificate, if any person designated in subsections (a) and (b) as a person who must execute the writing refuses to do so, may petition the superior court to direct a cancellation or amendment thereof.

(d) If the court finds that the petitioner has a right to have the writing executed by a person who refuses to do so, it shall order the clerk of the superior court in the office where the certificate is recorded to record the cancellation or amendment of the certificate; and where the certificate is to be amended, the court shall also cause to be filed for record in said office a certified copy of its decree setting forth the amendment.

(e) A certificate is amended or canceled when there is filed for record in the office of the clerk of the superior court where the certificate is recorded

- (1) A writing in accordance with the provisions of subsection (a), or (b) or
- (2) A certified copy of the order of court in accordance with the provisions of subsection (d).

(f) After the certificate is duly amended in accordance with this section, the amended certificate shall thereafter be for all purposes the certificate provided for by this article. (1941, c. 251, s. 25.)

§ 59-26. Parties to actions.—A contributor, unless he is a general partner, is not a proper party to proceedings by or against a partnership, except where the object is to enforce a limited partner's right against or liability to the partnership. (1941, c. 251, s. 26.)

§ 59-27. Name of article.—This article may be cited as the Uniform Limited Partnership Act. (1941, c. 251, s. 27.)

§ 59-28. Rules of construction.—(a) The rule that statutes in derogation of the common law are to be strictly construed shall have no application to this article.

(b) This article shall be so interpreted and construed as to effect its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

(c) This article shall not be so construed as to impair the obligations of any contract existing when the article goes into effect, nor to affect any action on proceedings begun or right accrued before this article takes effect. (1941, c. 251, s. 28.)

§ 59-29. Rules for cases not provided for in this article.—In any case not provided for in this article the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, shall govern. (1941, c. 251, s. 29.)

§ 59-30. Provisions for existing limited partnerships.—(a) A limited partnership formed under any statute of this State prior to March 15, 1941, may become a limited partnership under this article by complying with the provisions of § 59-2; provided the certificate sets forth

- (1) The amount of the original contribution of each limited partner, and the time when the contribution was made, and
- (2) That the property of the partnership exceeds the amount sufficient to discharge its liabilities to persons not claiming as general or limited partners by an amount greater than the sum of the contributions of its limited partners.

(b) A limited partnership formed under any statute of this State prior to the adoption of this article, until or unless it becomes a limited partnership under this article, shall continue to be governed by the provisions of existing law, except that such partnership shall not be renewed unless so provided in the original agreement. (1941, c. 251, s. 30.)

Editor's Note.—Section 31 of act from which this article was codified repealed §§ 3258-3276 of the Consolidated Statutes, as amended, except in so far as said sections affected limited partnerships existing on March 15, 1941, when the act became effective.

ARTICLE 2.

Uniform Partnership Act.

Part 1. Preliminary Provisions.

§ 59-31. Name of article.—This article may be cited as Uniform Partnership Act. (1941, c. 374, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The Uniform Partnership Act became effective March 15, 1941. For comment on the enactment, see 19 N. C. Law Rev. 499.

For note on partnerships in bankruptcy, see 31 N. C. Law Rev. 457.

§ 59-32. Definition of terms.—In this article:

- (1) "Bankrupt" includes bankrupt under the Federal Bankruptcy Act or insolvent under any State insolvent act.
- (2) "Business" includes every trade, occupation, or profession.
- (3) "Conveyance" includes every assignment, lease, mortgage, or encumbrance.
- (4) "Court" includes every court and judge having jurisdiction in the case.
- (5) "Person" includes individuals, partnerships, corporations, and other associations.
- (6) "Real property" includes land and any interest or estate in land. (1941, c. 374, s. 2.)

§ 59-33. Interpretation of knowledge and notice.—(a) A person has "knowledge" of a fact within the meaning of this article not only when he has actual knowledge thereof, but also when he has knowledge of such other facts as in the circumstances show bad faith.

(b) A person has "notice" of a fact within the meaning of this article when the person who claims the benefit of the notice:

- (1) States the fact to such person, or
- (2) Delivers through the mail, or by other means of communication a written statement of the fact to such person or to a proper person at his place of business, or residence. (1941, c. 374, s. 3.)

§ 59-34. Rules of construction.—(a) The rule that statutes in derogation of the common law are to be strictly construed shall have no application to this article.

- (b) The law of estoppel shall apply under this article.
- (c) The law of agency shall apply under this article.
- (d) This article shall be so interpreted and construed as to effect its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.
- (e) This article shall not be construed so as to impair the obligations of any contract existing when the article goes into effect, nor to affect any action or proceedings begun or right accrued before this article takes effect. (1941, c. 374, s. 4.)

§ 59-35. Rules for cases not provided for in this article.—In any case not provided for in this article the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant, shall govern. (1941, c. 374, s. 5.)

Part 2. Nature of a Partnership.

§ 59-36. Partnership defined.—(a) A partnership is an association of two or more persons to carry on as co-owners a business for profit.

(b) But any association formed under any other statute of this State, or any statute adopted by authority, other than the authority of this State, is not a partnership under this article, unless such association would have been a partnership in this State prior to the adoption of this article; but this article shall apply to limited partnerships except in so far as the statutes relating to such partnerships are inconsistent herewith. (1941, c. 374, s. 6.)

Cross Reference.—As to limited partnerships, see §§ 59-1 to 59-30.

To make a partnership, two or more persons should combine their property, effects, labor, or skill in a common business or venture, and under an agreement to share the profits and losses in equal or specified proportions, and constituting each member an agent of the others in matters appertaining to the partnership and within the scope of its business. Johnson v. Gill, 235 N. C. 40, 68 S. E. (2d) 788 (1952).

Co-ownership of the business is an indispensable requisite for a partnership, under this section, and where this element is lacking there can be no partnership. McGurk v. Moore, 234 N. C. 248, 67 S. E. (2d) 53 (1951).

§ 59-37. Rules for determining the existence of a partnership.—In determining whether a partnership exists, these rules shall apply:

- (1) Except as provided by § 59-46 persons who are not partners as to each other are not partners as to third persons.
- (2) Joint tenancy, tenancy in common, tenancy by the entireties, joint property, common property, or part ownership does not of itself establish a partnership, whether such co-owners do or do not share any profits made by the use of the property.
- (3) The sharing of gross returns does not of itself establish a partnership, whether or not the persons sharing them have a joint or common right or interest in any property from which the returns are derived.
- (4) The receipt by a person of a share of the profits of a business is prima facie evidence that he is a partner in the business, but no such inference shall be drawn if such profits were received in payment:
 - a. As a debt by installments or otherwise,
 - b. As wages of an employee or rent to a landlord,
 - c. As an annuity to a widow or representative of a deceased partner,
 - d. As interest on a loan, though the amount of payment vary with the profits of the business,
 - e. As the consideration for the sale of a goodwill of a business or other property by installments or otherwise. (1941, c. 374, s. 7.)

Cross Reference. — For provisions that a lessor and lessee are not partners, see §§ 42-1 and 74-1.

Agreement to Share Profits Does Not Create Partnership.—While an agreement to share profits, as such, is one of the tests of a partnership, an agreement to receive part of the profits for his services and attention, as a means only of ascertaining the compensation, does not create a partnership. Johnson v. Gill, 235 N. C. 40, 68 S. E. (2d) 788 (1952).

Sale or Lease of Property to Partnership.—Where a tractor was either sold by an individual to a partnership for "ten hundred dollars," payable one hundred dollars per week, or was leased to the partnership on a rental basis of one hundred dollars per week, even though it appears that the money paid for the tractor was money received from the partnership business, no inference arises therefrom that the individual was a partner in the business. Johnson v. Gill, 235 N. C. 40, 68 S. E. (2d) 788 (1952).

Applied in Eggleston v. Eggleston, 228 N. C. 668, 47 S. E. (2d) 243 (1948); McGurk v. Moore, 234 N. C. 248, 67 S. E. (2d) 53 (1951).

§ 59-38. Partnership property.—(a) All property originally brought into the partnership stock or subsequently acquired by purchase or otherwise, on account of the partnership, is partnership property.

(b) Unless the contrary intention appears, property acquired with partnership funds is partnership property.

(c) Any estate in real property may be acquired in the partnership name. Title so acquired can be conveyed only in the partnership name.

(d) A conveyance to a partnership in the partnership name, though without words of inheritance, passes the entire estate of the grantor unless a contrary intent appears. (1941, c. 374, s. 8.)

Part 3. Relations of Partners to Persons Dealing with the Partnership.

§ 59-39. Partner agent of partnership as to partnership business.—(a) Every partner is an agent of the partnership for the purpose of its business, and the act of every partner, including the execution in the partnership name of any instrument, for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership of which he is a member binds the partnership, unless the partner so acting has in fact no authority to act for the partnership in the particular matter, and the person with whom he is dealing has knowledge of the fact that he has no such authority.

(b) An act of a partner which is not apparently for the carrying on of the business of the partnership in the usual way does not bind the partnership unless authorized by the other partners.

(c) Unless authorized by the other partners or unless they have abandoned the business, one or more but less than all the partners have no authority to:

- (1) Assign the partnership property in trust for creditors, or on the assignee's promise to pay the debts of the partnership,
- (2) Dispose of the goodwill of the business,
- (3) Do any other act which would make it impossible to carry on the ordinary business of a partnership,
- (4) Confess a judgment,
- (5) Submit a partnership claim or liability to arbitration or reference.

(d) No act of a partner in contravention of a restriction on authority shall bind the partnership to persons having knowledge of the restriction. (1941, c. 374, s. 9.)

Service of Summons on One Partner.—Under the Uniform Partnership Act it is not necessary that all members of an alleged partnership should be served with summons. A partnership is represented by the partner who is served, and as to him a judgment in the action in which he is served would be binding on him individually, and as to the partnership property. But as to a partner not served with summons, the judgment would not be binding on him individually. Nevertheless even after judgment such partner could be brought in and made a party. The court may, before or after judgment, direct the bringing in of new parties to the end that substantial justice may be done. See § 1-73. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N. C. 234, 52 S. E. (2d) 892 (1949).

Attempt by Partner to Relieve Himself of Liability by Notice to Third Person.—Where there is a general partnership of two persons, without restrictions on the authority of either partner to act within the scope of the partnership business, one of the partners cannot, by notice to a third person that he would not be personally liable for goods thereafter sold the partnership in the ordinary course of the partnership business, relieve himself of liability for such goods thereafter ordered by the other partner while the partnership is a going concern under this section and §§ 59-45 and 59-48 of the Uniform Partnership Act. National Biscuit Co. v. Stroud, 249 N. C. 467, 106 S. E. (2d) 692 (1959).

Cited in Pappas v. Crist, 223 N. C. 265, 25 S. E. (2d) 850 (1943).

§ 59-39.1. Act, admission or acknowledgment by partner.—After a cause of action has accrued on any obligation of a partnership, any act, admission or acknowledgment by any partner acting in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his copartners which removes the bar of the statute of limitations or causes the statutes to begin running anew with respect to the partner doing such act or making such admission or acknowledgment has a like effect with respect to all of the partners and with respect to partnership liability, but when any partner is not so acting and does not have the authority of his copartners, any act, admission or acknowledgment by such partner which removes the bar of the statute of limitations or causes the statute to begin running anew has such effect only as to the partner doing such act or making such admission or acknowledgment, and shall not renew, extend or in any manner impose liability of any kind against any partner who has not authorized or ratified the same nor against the partnership. (1953, c. 1076, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—For brief comment on this section, see 31 N. C. Law Rev. 397.

§ 59-40. Conveyance of real property of the partnership.—(a) Where title to real property is in the partnership name, any partner may convey title to such property by a conveyance executed in the partnership name; but the partnership may recover such property unless the partner's act binds the partnership under the provisions of subsection (a) of § 59-39, or unless such property has been conveyed by the grantee or a person claiming through such grantee to holder for value without knowledge that the partner, in making the conveyance, has exceeded his authority.

(b) Where title to real property is in the name of the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner, in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of subsection (a) of § 59-39.

(c) Where title to real property is in the name of one or more, but not all the partners, and the record does not disclose the right of the partnership, the partners in whose name the title stands may convey title to such property, but the partnership may recover such property if the partners' act does not bind the partnership under the provisions of subsection (a) of § 59-39, unless the purchaser or his assignee, is a holder for value, without knowledge.

(d) Where the title to real property is in the name of one or more or all the partners, or in a third person in trust for the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner in the partnership name, or in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of subsection (a) of § 59-39.

(e) Where the title to real property is in the names of all the partners a conveyance executed by all the partners passes all their rights in such property. (1941, c. 374, s. 10; 1959, c. 1161, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment substituted "or" for "of" in line six of subsection (a).

§ 59-41. Partnership bound by admission of partner.—An admission or representation made by any partner concerning partnership affairs within the scope of his authority as conferred by this article is evidence against the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 11.)

Cross Reference.—As to admission after the statute of limitations has run, see § 1-27.

§ 59-42. Partnership charged with knowledge of or notice to partner.—Notice to any partner of any matter relating to partnership affairs, and the knowledge of the partner acting in the particular matter, acquired while a partner or then present to his mind, and the knowledge of any other partner who reasonably could and should have communicated it to the acting partner, operate as notice to or knowledge of the partnership, except in the case of a fraud on the partnership committed by or with the consent of that partner. (1941, c. 374, s. 12.)

§ 59-43. Partnership bound by partner's wrongful act.—Where, by any wrongful act or omission of any partner acting in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his copartners, loss or injury is caused to any person, not being a partner in the partnership, or any penalty is incurred, the partnership is liable therefor to the same extent as the partner so acting or omitting to act. (1941, c. 374, s. 13.)

Action Against Individual Partners. — In an action by the federal government to recover from individual partners for alleged violation of the False Claims Act, this section did not impose liability upon one of the partners for a false claim filed by the other, since the action was against the individual partners and not against the partnership. United States v. Toepelman, 141 F. Supp. 677 (1956).

Where one partner is sued individually for a tort committed by him in the course of the partnership business, a judgment would be binding upon him individually, and as to the partnership property, but not as against the other partner individually, though the court even after judgment may direct that such other partner be brought in and made a party. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N. C. 234, 52 S. E. (2d) 892 (1949). See § 59-45 and note.

Cited in Keith v. Wilder, 241 N. C. 672, 86 S. E. (2d) 444 (1955).

§ 59-44. Partnership bound by partner's breach of trust.—The partnership is bound to make good the loss:

- (1) Where one partner acting within the scope of his apparent authority receives money or property of a third person and misapplies it; and
- (2) Where the partnership in the course of its business receives money or property of a third person and the money or property so received is misapplied by any partner while it is in the custody of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 14.)

§ 59-45. Nature of partner's liability.—All partners are jointly and severally liable for the acts and obligations of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 15; 1953, c. 881.)

Cross References.—See note to § 59-39. As to liability of limited partner, see §§ 59-6 and 59-7. As to procedure in action against partners, see §§ 1-72 and 1-113.

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment rewrote this section.

Section States Common Law. — The common-law rule of joint and several liability of partners for a tort committed by one of the members of the partnership is incorporated in the Uniform Partnership Act, embraced in this article. Dwig- gins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N. C. 234, 52 S. E. (2d) 892 (1949); Johnson v. Gill, 235 N. C. 40, 68 S. E. (2d) 788 (1952).

Each partner is jointly and severally liable for a tort committed by one partner in the course of the partnership business, and the injured person may sue all members of the partnership or any one of them at his election. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N. C. 234, 52 S. E. (2d) 892 (1949); Johnson v. Gill, 235 N. C. 40, 68 S. E. (2d) 788 (1952). See note to § 59-43.

§ 59-46. Partner by estoppel. — (a) When a person, by words spoken or written or by conduct, represents himself, or consents to another representing him to anyone, as a partner in an existing partnership or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is liable to any such person to whom such representation has been made, who has, on the faith of such representation, given credit to the actual or apparent partnership, and if he has made such representation or consented to its being made in a public manner, he is liable to such person, whether the representation has or has not been made or communicated to such person so giving credit by or with the knowledge of the apparent partner making the representation or consenting to its being made.

- (1) When a partnership liability results, he is liable as though he were an actual member of the partnership.
- (2) When no partnership liability results, he is liable jointly with the other persons, if any, so consenting to the contract or representation as to incur liability, otherwise separately.

(b) When a person has been thus represented to be a partner in an existing partnership, or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is an agent of the persons consenting to such representation to bind them to the same extent and in the same manner as though he were a partner in fact, with respect to persons who rely upon the representation. Where all the members of the existing partnership consent to the representation, a partnership act or obligation results; but in all other cases it is the joint act or obligation of the person acting and the persons consenting to the representation. (1941, c. 374, s. 16.)

§ 59-47. Liability of incoming partner.—A person admitted as a partner into an existing partnership is liable for all the obligations of the partnership arising before his admission as though he had been a partner when such obligations were incurred, except that this liability shall be satisfied only out of partnership property. (1941, c. 374, s. 17.)

Part. 4. Relations of Partners to One Another.

§ 59-48. Rules determining rights and duties of partners.—The rights and duties of the partners in relation to the partnership shall be determined, subject to any agreement between them, by the following rules:

- (1) Each partner shall be repaid his contributions, whether by way of capital or advances to the partnership property and share equally in the profits and surplus remaining after all liabilities, including those to partners, are satisfied; and must contribute towards the losses, whether of capital or otherwise, sustained by the partnership according to his share in the profits.
- (2) The partnership must indemnify every partner in respect of payments made and personal liabilities reasonably incurred by him in the ordinary and proper conduct of its business, or for the preservation of its business or property.
- (3) A partner, who in aid of the partnership makes any payment or advance beyond the amount of capital which he agreed to contribute, shall be paid interest from the date of the payment or advance.
- (4) A partner shall receive interest on the capital contributed by him only from the date when repayment should be made.
- (5) All partners have equal rights in the management and conduct of the partnership business.
- (6) No partner is entitled to remuneration for acting in the partnership business, except that a surviving partner is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services in winding up the partnership affairs.
- (7) No person can become a member of a partnership without the consent of all the partners.
- (8) Any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the partnership business may be decided by a majority of the partners; but no act in contravention of any agreement between the partners may be done rightfully without the consent of all the partners. (1941, c. 374, s. 18.)

Cross References.—See note to § 59-39.

As to rights and liabilities of limited partners, see §§ 59-10 to 59-17.

§ 59-49. Partnership books.—The partnership books shall be kept, subject to any agreement between the partners, at the principal place of business of the partnership, and every partner shall at all times have access to and may inspect and copy any of them. (1941, c. 374, s. 19.)

§ 59-50. Duty of partners to render information.—Partners shall render on demand true and full information of all things affecting the partnership to any partner or the legal representative of any deceased partner or partner under legal disability. (1941, c. 374, s. 20.)

§ 59-51. Partner accountable as a fiduciary.—(a) Every partner must account to the partnership for any benefit, and hold as trustee for it any profits derived by him without the consent of the other partners from any transaction connected with the formation, conduct or liquidation of the partnership or from any use by him of its property.

(b) This section applies also to the representatives of a deceased partner engaged in the liquidation of the affairs of the partnership as the personal representatives of the last surviving partner. (1941, c. 374, s. 21.)

Cross Reference.—As to criminal liability for appropriation of partnership funds by partner, see §§ 14-97 and 14-98.

When one partner wrongfully takes partnership funds and uses them to buy or improve property, his copartners may charge the property with a constructive trust in favor of the partnership to the extent of the partnership funds used in its purchase or improvement. McGurk v. Moore, 234 N. C. 248, 67 S. E. (2d) 53 (1951).

§ 59-52. Right to an account.—Any partner shall have the right to a formal account as to partnership affairs:

- (1) If he is wrongfully excluded from the partnership business or possession of its property by his copartners,
- (2) If the right exists under the terms of any agreement,
- (3) As provided by § 59-51,
- (4) Whenever other circumstances render it just and reasonable. (1941, c. 374, s. 22.)

Equitable jurisdiction is practically exclusive in proceedings for an account and settlement of partnership affairs, including suits for an accounting and settlement of the firm's affairs between the copartners themselves. Casey v. Grantham, 239 N. C. 121, 79 S. E. (2d) 735 (1954).

Pleading.—Allegations of a partner that the other partner had usurped complete control and exclusive possession of the books, records and entire assets of the partnership and was squandering its earnings and assets, and had refused, after demand, to account to plaintiff for any share of the profits or earnings of the business, were held to state a cause of action for an accounting between the partners. Casey v. Grantham, 239 N. C. 121, 79 S. E. (2d) 735 (1954).

§ 59-53. Continuation of partnership beyond fixed term.—(a) When a partnership for a fixed term or particular undertaking is continued after the termination of such term or particular undertaking without any express agreement, the rights and duties of the partners remain the same as they were at such termination, so far as is consistent with a partnership at will.

(b) A continuation of the business by the partners or such of them as habitually acted therein during the term, without any settlement or liquidation of the partnership affairs, is prima facie evidence of a continuation of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 23.)

Part 5. Property Rights of a Partner.

§ 59-54. Extent of property rights of a partner.—The property rights of a partner are:

- (1) His right in specific partnership property,
- (2) His interest in the partnership, and
- (3) His right to participate in the management. (1941, c. 374, s. 24.)

Cited in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-55. Nature of a partner's right in specific partnership property.—(a) A partner is co-owner with his partners of specific partnership property holding as a tenant in partnership.

(b) The incidents of this tenancy are such that:

- (1) A partner, subject to the provisions of this article and to any agreement between the partners, has an equal right with his partners to possess specific partnership property for partnership purposes; but he has no right to possess such property for any other purpose without the consent of his partners.
- (2) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not assignable except in connection with the assignment of rights of all the partners in the same property.
- (3) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to attachment or execution, except on a claim against the partnership. When partnership property is attached for a partnership debt the partners, or any of them, or the representatives of a deceased partner, cannot claim any right under the homestead or exemption laws.
- (4) On the death of a partner his right in specific partnership property vests in the surviving partner or partners, except where the deceased was the last surviving partner, when his right in such property vests in his legal representative. Such surviving partner, or partners, or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, has no right to possess the partnership property for any but a partnership purpose.
- (5) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to dower, curtesy, or allowances to widows, heirs, or next of kin. (1941, c. 374, s. 25.)

Cross Reference. — As to survivor in joint tenancy for partnership purposes, see § 41-2.

Cited in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-56. Nature of partner's interest in the partnership.—A partner's interest in the partnership is his share of the profits and surplus, and the same is personal property. (1941, c. 374, s. 26.)

The interest of partners in the partnership is personal property, even though part of the partnership assets is real estate. Hence upon the death of the partners, their respective personal representatives were properly made parties to prosecute and defend an action for an accounting and proper application of partnership property on behalf of their intestates. Bright v. Williams, 245 N. C. 648, 97 S. E. (2d) 247 (1957).

Cited in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-57. Assignment of partner's interest.—(a) A conveyance by a partner of his interest in the partnership does not of itself dissolve the partnership, nor, as against the other partners in the absence of agreement, entitle the assignee, during the continuance of the partnership, to interfere in the management or administration of the partnership business or affairs, or to require any information or account of partnership transactions, or to inspect the partnership books; but it merely entitles the assignee to receive in accordance with his contract the profits to which the assigning partner would otherwise be entitled.

(b) In case of a dissolution of the partnership, the assignee is entitled to receive his assignor's interest and may require an account from the date only of the last account agreed to by all the partners. (1941, c. 374, s. 27.)

Cross Reference.—As to assignment of a limited partner's interest, see § 59-19.

§ 59-58. Partner's interest subject to charging order.—(a) On due application to a competent court by any judgment creditor of a partner, the court which entered the judgment, order or decree, or any other court, may charge the interest of the debtor partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of such judgment debt with interest thereon; and may then or later appoint a receiver of his share of the profits, and of any other money due or to fall due to him in respect of the partnership, and make all other orders, directions, accounts and inquiries which the debtor partner might have made, or which the circumstances of the case may require.

(b) The interest charged may be redeemed at any time before foreclosure, or in case of a sale being directed by the court may be purchased without thereby causing a dissolution:

- (1) With separate property, by any one or more of the partners, or
- (2) With partnership property, by any one or more of the partners with the consent of all the partners whose interests are not so charged or sold.

(c) Nothing in this article shall be held to deprive a partner of his right, if any, under the exemption laws, as regards his interest in the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 28.)

Cross Reference.—As to right of creditors of limited partner, see § 59-22.

Part 6. Dissolution and Winding Up.

§ 59-59. Dissolution defined.—The dissolution of a partnership is the change in the relation of the partners caused by any partner ceasing to be associated in the carrying on as distinguished from the winding up of the business. (1941, c. 374, s. 29.)

§ 59-60. Partnership not terminated by dissolution.—On dissolution the partnership is not terminated, but continues until the winding up of partnership affairs is completed. (1941, c. 374, s. 30.)

§ 59-61. Causes of dissolution.—Dissolution is caused:

- (1) Without violation of the agreement between the partners,
 - a. By the termination of the definite term or particular undertaking specified in the agreement,
 - b. By the express will of any partner when no definite term or particular undertaking is specified,
 - c. By the express will of all partners who have not assigned their interests or suffered them to be charged for their separate debts, either before or after the termination of any specific term or particular undertaking,
 - d. By the expulsion of any partner from the business bona fide in accordance with such a power conferred by the agreement between the partners;
- (2) In contravention of the agreement between the partners, where the circumstances do not permit a dissolution under any other provision of this section, by the express will of any partner at any time;
- (3) By any event which makes it unlawful for the business of the partnership to be carried on or for the members to carry it on in partnership;
- (4) By the death of any partner, unless the partnership agreement provides otherwise;

(5) By the bankruptcy of any partner or the partnership;

(6) By decree of court under § 59-62. (1941, c. 374, s. 31; 1943, c. 384.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment added to subdivision (4) the words "unless the partnership agreement provides otherwise."

Death of Partner.—Even prior to the statute it was held that the death of a partner worked a dissolution of the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N. C. 556, 47

S. E. 618 (1904); Walker v. Miller, 139 N. C. 448, 52 S. E. 125 (1905).

The death of a partner ordinarily dissolves the partnership as of that date. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N. C. 59, 59 S. E. (2d) 223 (1950); Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-62. Dissolution by decree of court.—(a) On application by or for a partner the court shall decree a dissolution whenever:

- (1) A partner has been declared a lunatic in any judicial proceeding or is shown to be of unsound mind,
- (2) A partner becomes in any other way incapable of performing his part of the partnership contract,
- (3) A partner has been guilty of such conduct as tends to affect prejudicially the carrying on of the business,
- (4) A partner wilfully or persistently commits a breach of the partnership agreement, or otherwise so conducts himself in matters relating to the partnership business that it is not reasonably practicable to carry on the business in partnership with him,
- (5) The business of the partnership can only be carried on at a loss,
- (6) Other circumstances render a dissolution equitable.

(b) On the application of the purchaser of a partner's interest under §§ 59-57 and 59-58:

- (1) After the termination of the specified term or particular undertaking,
- (2) At any time if the partnership was a partnership at will when the interest was assigned or when the charging order was issued. (1941, c. 374, s. 32.)

Allegations Held Sufficient Predicate for Dissolution.—Where a complaint alleges the existence of a partnership, a conspiracy to deprive plaintiff partner of possession and control of the partnership assets pursuant to which defendant partner transferred all the partnership property to defendant transferee, and seeks a settlement and an accounting of the partnership affairs, the allegations are sufficient predicate for the dissolution of the partnership entitling plaintiff to an accounting and proper application of all the partnership property. Bright v. Williams, 245 N. C. 648, 97 S. E. (2d) 247 (1957).

§ 59-63. General effect of dissolution on authority of partner.—Except so far as may be necessary to wind up partnership affairs or to complete transactions begun but not then finished, dissolution terminates all authority of any partner to act for the partnership,

- (1) With respect to the partners,
 - a. When the dissolution is not by the act, bankruptcy or death of a partner; or
 - b. When the dissolution is by such act, bankruptcy or death of a partner, in cases where § 59-64 so requires,
- (2) With respect to persons not partners, as declared in § 59-65. (1941, c. 374, s. 33.)

§ 59-64. Right of partner to contribution from copartners after dissolution.—Where the dissolution is caused by the act, death or bankruptcy of a partner, each partner is liable to his copartners for his share of any liability created by any partner acting for the partnership as if the partnership had not been dissolved unless

- (1) The dissolution being by act of any partner, the partner acting for the partnership had knowledge of the dissolution, or

- (2) The dissolution being by the death or bankruptcy of a partner, the partner acting for the partnership had knowledge or notice of the death or bankruptcy. (1941, c. 374, s. 34.)

§ 59-65. Power of partner to bind partnership to third persons after dissolution; publication of notice of dissolution.—(a) After dissolution a partner can bind the partnership except as provided in subsection (c)

- (1) By any act appropriate for winding up partnership affairs or completing transactions unfinished at dissolution;
 - (2) By any transaction which would bind the partnership if dissolution had not taken place, provided the other party to the transaction
 - a. Had extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and had no knowledge or notice of the dissolution; or
 - b. Though he had not so extended credit, had nevertheless known of the partnership prior to dissolution, and, having no knowledge or notice of dissolution, the fact of dissolution had not been published at least once a week for four successive weeks in some newspaper qualified for legal advertising in each county in which the partnership business was regularly carried on, or if no such newspaper is published in the county, posted for thirty days at the courthouse and three other public places in the county.
- (b) The liability of a partner under subdivision (a) (2) shall be satisfied out of partnership assets alone when such partner had been prior to dissolution
- (1) Unknown as a partner to the person with whom the contract is made; and
 - (2) So far unknown and inactive in partnership affairs that the business reputation of the partnership could not be said to have been in any degree due to his connection with it.
- (c) The partnership is in no case bound by any act of a partner after dissolution
- (1) Where the partnership is dissolved because it is unlawful to carry on the business, unless the act is appropriate for winding up partnership affairs; or
 - (2) Where the partner has become bankrupt; or
 - (3) Where the partner has no authority to wind up partnership affairs; except by a transaction with one who
 - a. Had extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and had no knowledge or notice of his want of authority; or
 - b. Had not extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution, and, having no knowledge or notice of his want of authority, the fact of his want of authority has not been advertised in the manner provided for advertising the fact of dissolution in subdivision (a) (2) b.
- (d) Nothing in this section shall affect the liability under § 59-46 of any person who after dissolution represents himself or consents to another representing him as a partner in a partnership engaged in carrying on business. (1941, c. 374, s. 35; 1951, c. 381, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment substituted in paragraph (a) (2) b the present requirement of weekly publication or posting of notice for the former requirement of advertisement in a newspaper of general circulation.

For brief comment on the 1951 amendment, see 29 N. C. Law Rev. 409.

§ 59-66. Effect of dissolution on partner's existing liability.—(a) The dissolution of the partnership does not of itself discharge the existing liability of any partner.

- (b) A partner is discharged from any existing liability upon dissolution of the partnership by an agreement to that effect between himself, the partnership creditor and the person or partnership continuing the business; and such agreement may be inferred from the course of dealing between the creditor having knowledge of the dissolution and the person or partnership continuing the business.

(c) Where a person agrees to assume the existing obligations of a dissolved partnership, the partners whose obligations have been assumed shall be discharged from any liability to any creditor of the partnership who, knowing of the agreement, consents to a material alteration in the nature or time of payment of such obligations.

(d) The individual property of a deceased partner shall be liable for all obligations of the partnership incurred while he was a partner but subject to the prior payment of his separate debts. (1941, c. 374, s. 36.)

§ 59-67. Right to wind up.—Unless otherwise agreed the partners who have not wrongfully dissolved the partnership or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, not bankrupt, has the right to wind up the partnership affairs; provided, however, that any partner, his legal representative or his assignee, upon cause shown, may obtain winding up by the court. (1941, c. 374, s. 37.)

Stated in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-68. Rights of partners to application of partnership property.—(a) When dissolution is caused in any way, except in contravention of the partnership agreement, each partner, as against his copartners and all persons claiming through them in respect of their interest in the partnership, unless otherwise agreed, may have the partnership property applied to discharge its liabilities, and the surplus applied to pay in cash the net amount owing to the respective partners. But if dissolution is caused by expulsion of a partner, bona fide under the partnership agreement, and if the expelled partner is discharged from all partnership liabilities, either by payment or agreement under § 59-66, subsection (b), he shall receive in cash only the net amount due him from the partnership.

(b) When dissolution is caused in contravention of the partnership agreement the rights of the partners shall be as follows:

- (1) Each partner who has not caused dissolution wrongfully shall have:
 - a. All the rights specified in subsection (a) of this section, and
 - b. The right, as against each partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, to damages for breach of the agreement.
- (2) The partners who have not caused the dissolution wrongfully, if they all desire to continue the business in the same name, either by themselves or jointly with others, may do so, during the agreed term for the partnership and for that purpose may possess the partnership property, provided they secure the payment by bond approved by the court, or pay to any partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, the value of his interest in the partnership at the dissolution, less any damages recoverable under clause (b) (1) b of this section, and in like manner indemnify him against all present or future partnership liabilities.
- (3) A partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully shall have:
 - a. If the business is not continued under the provisions of subdivision (b) (2) all the rights of a partner under subsection (a), subject to clause (b) (1) b, of this section,
 - b. If the business is continued under subdivision (b) (2) of this section, the right as against his copartners and all claiming through them in respect of their interests in the partnership, to have the value of his interest in the partnership, less any damages caused to his copartners by the dissolution, ascertained and paid to him in cash, or the payment secured by bond approved by the court, and to be released from all existing liabilities of the partnership; but in ascertaining the value of the partner's interest the value of the goodwill of the business shall not be considered. (1941, c. 374, s. 38.)

Under the principle of marshaling of assets each partner has the right to have the partnership property applied to the payment or security of partnership debts in order to relieve him from personal liability. Casey v. Grantham, 239 N. C. 121, 79 S. E. (2d) 735 (1945). Stated in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-69. Rights where partnership is dissolved for fraud or misrepresentation.—Where partnership contract is rescinded on the ground of the fraud or misrepresentation of one of the parties thereto, the party entitled to rescind is, without prejudice to any other right, entitled,

- (1) To a lien on, or right of retention of, the surplus of the partnership property after satisfying the partnership liabilities to third persons for any sum of money by him for the purchase of an interest in the partnership and for any capital or advances contributed by him; and
- (2) To stand, after all liabilities to third persons have been satisfied, in the place of the creditors of the partnership for any payments made by him in respect of the partnership liabilities; and
- (3) To be indemnified by the person guilty of the fraud or making the representation against all debts and liabilities of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 39.)

§ 59-70. Rules for distribution.—In settling accounts between the partners after dissolution, the following rules shall be observed, subject to any agreement to the contrary:

- (1) The assets of the partnership are
 - a. The partnership property,
 - b. The contributions of the partners necessary for the payment of all the liabilities specified in subdivision (2) of this section.
- (2) The liabilities of the partnership shall rank in order of payment, as follows:
 - a. Those owing to creditors other than partners,
 - b. Those owing to partners other than for capital and profits,
 - c. Those owing to partners in respect of capital,
 - d. Those owing to partners in respect of profits.
- (3) The assets shall be applied in the order of their declaration in subdivision (1) of this section to the satisfaction of the liabilities.
- (4) The partners shall contribute, as provided by § 59-48, subdivision (1) the amount necessary to satisfy the liabilities; but if any, but not all, of the partners are insolvent, or, not being subject to process, refuse to contribute, the other partners shall contribute their share of the liabilities, and, in the relative proportions in which they share the profits, the additional amount necessary to pay the liabilities.
- (5) An assignee for the benefit of creditors or any person appointed by the court shall have the right to enforce the contributions specified in subdivision (4) of this section.
- (6) Any partner or his legal representative shall have the right to enforce the contributions specified in subdivision (4) of this section, to the extent of the amount which he has paid in excess of his share of the liability.
- (7) The individual property of a deceased partner shall be liable for the contributions specified in subdivision (4) of this section.
- (8) When partnership property and the individual properties of the partners are in possession of a court for distribution, partnership creditors shall have priority on partnership property and separate creditors on individual property, saving the rights of lien or secured creditors as heretofore.

- (9) Where a partner has become bankrupt or his estate is insolvent the claims against the separate property shall rank in the following order:
- a. Those owing to separate creditors,
 - b. Those owing to partnership creditors,
 - c. Those owing to partners by way of contribution. (1941, c. 374, s. 40.)

§ 59-71. Liability of persons continuing the business in certain cases.—(a) When any new partner is admitted into an existing partnership, or when any partner retires and assigns (or the representative of the deceased partner assigns) his rights in partnership property to two or more of the partners, or to one or more of the partners and one or more third persons, if the business is continued without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the first or dissolved partnership are also creditors of the partnership so continuing the business.

(b) When all but one partner retire and assign (or the representative of a deceased partner assigns) their rights in partnership property to the remaining partner, who continues the business without liquidation of partnership affairs, either alone or with others, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership so continuing the business.

(c) When any partner retires or dies and the business of the dissolved partnership is continued as set forth in subsections (a) and (b) of this section, with the consent of the retired partners or the representative of the deceased partner, but without any assignment of his right in partnership property, rights of creditors of the dissolved partnership and of the creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business shall be as if such assignment had been made.

(d) When all the partners or their representatives assign their rights in partnership property to one or more third persons who promise to pay the debts and who continue the business of the dissolved partnership, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

(e) When any partner wrongfully causes a dissolution and the remaining partners continue the business under the provisions of § 59-68, subdivision (b) (2), either alone or with others, and without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

(f) When a partner is expelled and the remaining partners continue the business either alone or with others, without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

(g) The liability of a third person becoming a partner in the partnership continuing the business, under this section, to the creditors of the dissolved partnership shall be satisfied out of the partnership property only.

(h) When the business of a partnership after dissolution is continued under any conditions set forth in this section the creditors of the dissolved partnership, as against the separate creditors of the retiring or deceased partner or the representative of the deceased partner, have a prior right to any claim of the retired partner or the representative of the deceased partner against the person or partnership continuing the business on account of the retired or deceased partner's interest in the dissolved partnership or on account of any consideration promised for such interest or for his right in partnership property.

(i) Nothing in this section shall be held to modify any right of creditors to set aside any assignment on the ground of fraud.

(j) The use by the person or partnership continuing the business of the partnership name, or the name of a deceased partner as part thereof, shall not of itself make the individual property of the deceased partner liable for any debts contracted by such person or partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 41.)

§ 59-72. Rights of retiring partner or estate of deceased partner when the business is continued.—When any partner retires or dies, and the business is continued under any of the conditions set forth in § 59-71, subsections (a), (b), (c), (e), (f), or § 59-68, subdivision (b) (2), without any settlement of accounts as between him or his estate and the person or partnership continuing the business, unless otherwise agreed, he or his legal representative as against such persons or partnership may have the value of his interest at the date of dissolution ascertained, and shall receive as an ordinary creditor an amount equal to the value of his interest in the dissolved partnership with interest, or, at his option or at the option of his legal representative, in lieu of interest, the profits attributable to the use of his right in the property of the dissolved partnership; provided that the creditors of the dissolved partnership as against the separate creditors, or the representative of the retired or deceased partner, shall have priority on any claim arising under this section, as provided by § 59-71, subsection (h). (1941, c. 374, s. 42.)

§ 59-73. Accrual of actions.—The right to an account of his interest shall accrue to any partner, or his legal representative, as against the winding up partners or the surviving partners or the person or partnership continuing the business, at the date of dissolution, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary. (1941, c. 374, s. 43.)

Surviving Partners.

§ 59-74. Surviving partner to give bond.—Upon the death of any member of a partnership, the surviving partner shall, within thirty days, execute before the clerk of the superior court of the county where the partnership business was conducted, a bond payable to the State of North Carolina, with sufficient surety conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties in the settlement of the partnership affairs. The amount of such bond shall be fixed by the clerk of the court; and the settlement of the estate and the liability of the bond shall be the same as under the law governing administrators and their bonds. (1915, c. 227, ss. 1, 2, 3; C. S., s. 3277.)

Cross Reference.—As to death of partner working dissolution of partnership, see § 59-61 and note.

The purpose of this section is limited to the protection of those who are interested in the property or estate administered by the surviving partner, who is required to account to them and pay over their interest in case there is a surplus after paying the partnership debts. It is a trust relationship in which only they have a legal interest. Therefore, the objection that the surviving partner has not filed the bond is not available to one who is merely a debtor of the estate. Coppersmith v. Up- ton, 228 N. C. 545, 46 S. E. (2d) 565 (1948).

The giving of a bond cannot be regarded as a condition precedent to the maintenance of an action by a surviving partner, for the following section provides an alternative remedy upon failure of the surviving partner to give bond. Coppersmith v. Up-ton, 228 N. C. 545, 46 S. E. (2d) 565 (1948).

Purpose and Scope of Bond.—The bond required by this section of surviving partners is primarily for the protection of those interested in the deceased partner's interest in the surplus after the partnership has been wound up, and such bond has no retroactive effect and does not become liable for any maladministration prior to its filing. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N. C. 59, 59 S. E. (2d) 223 (1950).

Appeal from Order of Clerk Requiring Filing of Bond and Inventory.—Upon the failure or refusal of surviving partners to file the bond required by this section or the inventory required by § 59-76, the clerk of the superior court may not properly issue an order requiring the filing of bond and inventory, but upon appeal from such orders the superior court acquires jurisdiction of the entire proceeding and the appeal is erroneously dismissed in the superior court on the ground of want of jurisdiction. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N. C. 59, 59 S. E. (2d) 223 (1950).

Cited in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-75. Effect of failure to give bond.—Upon the failure of the surviving partner to execute the bond provided for in § 59-74, the clerk of the superior court shall, upon application of any person interested in the estate of the deceased partner, appoint a collector of the partnership, who shall be governed by the same law governing an administrator of a deceased person. (1915, c. 227, s. 4; C. S., s. 3278.)

Cross Reference.—As to the law governing an administrator of a deceased person, see chapter 28.

Quoted in Coppersmith v. Upton, 228 N. C. 545, 46 S. E. (2d) 565 (1948); In re

§ 59-76. Surviving partner and personal representative to make inventory. — When a member of any partnership dies the surviving partner, within sixty days after the death of the deceased partner, together with the personal representative of the deceased partner, shall make out a full and complete inventory of the assets of the partnership, including real estate, if there be any, together with a schedule of the debts and liabilities thereof, a copy of which inventory and schedule shall be retained by the surviving partner, and a copy thereof shall be furnished to the personal representative of the deceased partner. (1901, c. 640; Rev., s. 2540; C. S., s. 3279.)

Cross References.—As to appeal from order of clerk requiring filing of inventory, see note under § 59-74. As to jurisdiction to appoint receiver for failure to file inventory, see note under § 59-77.

Property Vests in Surviving Partner.—The surviving partner has the closing up of partnership affairs, the reduction of personal property to cash and the settlement of partnership affairs, and, under Revisal § 1579 (now § 41-2), the title to personal property vests at once in the surviving partner and not in the personal representative of the deceased partner. Sherrod v. Mayo, 156 N. C. 144, 72 S. E. 216 (1911). As to joint tenancy in partnership property, see § 41-2.

Impressed with a Trust.—The death of a partner, in the absence of any stipulation in the articles of partnership to the contrary, works an immediate dissolution, and the title to the assets vests in the surviving partner, impressed with a trust to close up the partnership business, pay the debts and turn over to his personal representative the share of the deceased partner. Walker

v. Miller, 139 N. C. 448, 52 S. E. 125 (1905).

After the dissolution of a firm by the death of one of the partners, it is the duty of the surviving partner to settle up the joint estate in the manner most conducive to the interest of all persons interested. Calvert v. Miller, 94 N. C. 600 (1886).

Upon the death of a partner, his interest in the partnership property vests in the surviving partner for administration in winding up the partnership, and the surviving partner stands as a trustee charged with the duty of faithful management and accounting to those entitled to the deceased partner's interest after the settlement of the debts of the partnership. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N. C. 59, 59 S. E. (2d) 223 (1950).

It is the right and duty of a surviving partner to close up the affairs of the firm. He has the right, therefore, to receive and to collect the debts and assets of the partnership, and apply the same toward the payment of the debts and liabilities of the firm. Weisel v. Cobb, 114 N. C. 22, 18 S.

E. 943 (1894); Hodgin v. Peoples' Nat. Bank, 124 N. C. 540, 32 S. E. 887 (1899); Hodgin v. Bank, 128 N. C. 110, 111, 38 S. E. 294 (1901).

Creation of New Debts.—A surviving partner has no right to create or contract new debts binding upon the partnership, except to the extent of purchasing new material and making new debts so far as may be necessary to work up unfinished material and sell the same. Howell v. Boyd Mfg. Co., 116 N. C. 806, 22 S. E. 5 (1895).

Power to Renew or Indorse Note.—A surviving partner has no power after dissolution to renew or indorse a firm note in the name of the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N. C. 556, 47 S. E. 618 (1904).

A surviving partner who, more than two years after dissolution of the firm, indorsed a note in the firm name for the renewal of notes outstanding similarly indorsed, was individually liable on such indorsement, though it did not bind the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N. C. 556, 47 S. E. 618 (1904).

Injunction When There Is Danger of Misapplication of Funds.—In case of danger of misapplication by the surviving partner of partnership funds, the court would certainly, in behalf of the representatives of a deceased partner interfere and restrain by injunction the surviving partner from such acts, or grant other proper relief; and there is no reason why they should not interfere in behalf of a creditor in such a case. Hodgin v. Bank, 128 N. C. 110, 38 S. E. 294 (1901).

When Surviving Partner Is Agent of Executor.—Where one of the members of a firm was constituted its general managing agent by the articles of partnership, and upon the death of one partner his executor consented to a continuance of the business, it was held that the manager became the agent of the executor as well as of the other surviving member, and a demand and refusal to account are necessary to terminate the agency and put the statute of limitations in operation. Patterson v. Lilly, 90 N. C. 82 (1884).

When Property Held in Common.—An arrangement between distributees and legatees to permit their property with the consent and co-operation of the representatives of the deceased partners to remain in common and to be used for their joint benefit, adopting the name of the old firm, constitutes a partnership. Walker v. Miller, 139 N. C. 448, 52 S. E. 125 (1905).

Personal Property Exemptions.—A surviving partner of an insolvent firm is not entitled to have his personal property exemptions paid out of the partnership assets. Southern Commission Co. v. Porter, 122 N. C. 692, 30 S. E. 119 (1898).

Competency of Witness.—In an action for goods sold to a firm, the testimony of one partner, who admitted his liability by failing to answer, that the goods were furnished by the plaintiff on the order of the firm, is not competent as against the executor of the deceased partner or against the firm. Fertilizer Co. v. Rippey, 124 N. C. 643, 32 S. E. 980 (1899); Moore v. Palmer, 132 N. C. 969, 44 S. E. 673 (1903).

A surviving partner, who assigns partnership property of an insolvent firm to pay his own debts pro rata with those of the firm, cannot be allowed to testify that he did not thereby intend to defraud the firm creditors. Southern Commission Co. v. Porter, 122 N. C. 692, 30 S. E. 119 (1898).

When Representative Not Subject to Suit.—The representative of a deceased partner cannot be sued while there is a surviving partner. Burgwin v. Hostler, 1 N. C. 167 (1799).

Cited in Bank v. Hodgin, 129 N. C. 247, 39 S. E. 959 (1901).

§ 59-77. When personal representative may take inventory; receiver.—If the surviving partner neglect or refuse to have such inventory made, the personal representative of the deceased partner may have the same made in accordance with the provisions of § 59-76. Should any surviving partner fail to take such an inventory or refuse to allow the personal representative of the deceased partner's estate to do so, such personal representative of the deceased partner's estate may forthwith apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver for such partnership, who shall thereupon proceed to wind up the same and dispose of the assets thereof in accordance with law. (1901, c. 640, s. 2; Rev., s. 2541; C. S., s. 3280.)

Where the surviving partner of a firm is appointed receiver of the firm, he cannot maintain an action against one who, as surety for the accommodation of the deceased partner indorsed the latter's note, which was discounted by the firm, if it appears that the assets of the partnership are sufficient to pay its debts and leave a surplus against the deceased partner's share of which the note can be charged. Patton v. Carr, 117 N. C. 176, 23 S. E. 182 (1895).

Jurisdiction to Appoint Receiver.—While the clerk of the superior court has no jurisdiction to appoint a receiver for a partnership under this section when the surviving partners have failed or refused to file the inventory required by § 59-76, the superior court on appeal from an order of the clerk in the proceeding does acquire jurisdiction to appoint such receiver. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N. C. 59, 59 S. E. (2d) 223 (1950).

Receiver Appointed When Assignee of Surviving Partner Holds for Indefinite Term.—Where an assignment was made by a surviving partner of an insolvent firm, and the assignee was empowered to continue the business for an indefinite term, a receiver might be appointed to administer the partnership fund among the creditors though the deed of assignment was not set aside. Southern Commission

Co. v. Porter, 122 N. C. 692, 30 S. E. 119 (1898). As to fraudulent assignment, see note to § 59-79.

Duty of Assignee to Charge Interest.—Where the surviving partner of a firm conveyed the assets to an assignee to settle the estate, it was the duty of the assignee, notwithstanding a contrary custom existing in the town where the business has been conducted, to charge and collect interest on all good overdue accounts from the end of a year after dissolution of the partnership, and he is liable to the surviving partner for his failure to do so. Weisel v. Cobb, 118 N. C. 11, 24 S. E. 782 (1896).

Assignee Liable for Interest.—The assignee of a surviving partner is chargeable with interest on the partnership moneys kept by him after twelve months from the time he assumed the trust until he disbursed it. Weisel v. Cobb, 118 N. C. 11, 24 S. E. 782 (1896).

Stated in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

§ 59-78. Notice to creditors.—Every surviving partner, within thirty days after the death of the deceased partner, shall notify all persons having claims against the partnership which were in existence at the time of the death of the deceased partner, to exhibit the same to the surviving partner within twelve months from the date of first publication of such notice. The notice shall be published once a week for four weeks in a newspaper (if there be any) published in the county where the partnership existed. If there should be no newspaper published in the county, then the notice shall be posted at the courthouse and three other public places in the county. (1901, c. 640, s. 3; Rev., s. 2542; C. S., s. 3281; 1951, c. 381, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1951 amendment substituted "three" for "four" near the end of the section.

Where a dissolution of a firm occurs by the death of one of the partners, the giving of notice of such dissolution is not necessary to prevent liability from attaching to the estate of the deceased partner or of the surviving partners for any future contracts made in the name of the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N. C. 556, 47 S. E. 618 (1904).

§ 59-79. Debts paid pro rata; liens.—All debts and demands against a copartnership, where one partner has died, shall be paid pro rata, except debts which are a specific lien on property belonging to the partnership. (1901, c. 640, s. 4; Rev., s. 2543; C. S., s. 3282.)

Debts Created by Surviving Partner.—While a surviving partner cannot enter into contracts, or create liabilities which will bind the estate of his deceased partner, yet he is not bound to sacrifice the interests of the firm, and if he contracts debts, bona fide, for the interest of the common property, he may pay them out of the common fund. Calvert v. Miller, 94 N. C. 600 (1886).

Creditors Advancing Funds to Market Product.—Where a surviving partner has purchased materials and contracted new debts to complete unfinished products and placed the finished article on the market, the creditors advancing the necessary funds are entitled to pay out of assets of the partnership. Howell v. Boyd Manufacturing Co., 116 N. C. 806, 22 S. E. 5 (1895).

Personal Debt as Set-Off.—In an action brought by a surviving partner for a debt, a debt due from him may be pleaded as a set-off. Hogg v. Ashe, 2 N. C. 471 (1797).

But a defendant cannot avail herself of a debt due to her by a deceased member of the firm, though the contract between the latter and the defendant was that the debt, being for the board of his partner, should be paid out of the assets of the store in which the plaintiff and the defendant were partners. Norment v. Johnston, 32 N. C. 89 (1849).

Prior Encumbrance of Surviving Partner.—The claims of a surviving partner upon the proceeds of sale of the deceased partner's half of the real estate (here mill property), to reimburse him to the amount of half the expenditures incurred in the conduct of the joint business and improvements put upon the property, constitute a prior encumbrance and must be paid, to the postponement of creditors of the deceased partner. Mendenhall v. Benbow, 84 N. C. 646 (1881).

Assignment Fraudulent as to Creditors.—An assignment by a surviving partner of an insolvent firm for an indefinite term, the assignee to have the right to employ servants and to replenish the stock, and out of the proceeds to pay firm debts, and also the individual debts of the survivor pro rata, is fraudulent as against creditors. Southern Commission Co. v. Porter, 122 N. C. 692, 30 S. E. 119 (1898).

When Bank May Not Apply Deposits to Debts.—When a bank knew that the plaintiff was the only surviving partner of a firm, and that he was making deposits as such, it had no right to apply them to the payment of a debt created by the partnership before its dissolution, without the consent of the depositor. Hodgin v. National Bank, 125 N. C. 503, 34 S. E. 709 (1899).

Accommodation Indorser of Note for Member of Firm.—A note executed by a member of a partnership to a third party who, as surety for the accommodation of the maker, indorses it and receives no benefit from it, cannot be subject to an action at law against the indorser by the firm, nor in case of the death of the maker of the note can the surviving partner maintain an action on the note against the accommodation indorsers unless the firm is insolvent. Patton v. Carr, 117 N. C. 176 28 S. E. 182 (1895).

§ 59-80. Effect of failure to present claim in twelve months.—In an action brought on a claim which was not presented within twelve months from the first publication of the general notice to creditors, the surviving partner shall not be chargeable for any assets that he may have paid in satisfaction of any debts before such action was commenced, nor shall any costs be recovered in such action against the surviving partner. (1901, c. 640, s. 5; Rev., s. 2544; C. S., s. 3283.)

§ 59-81. Procedure for purchase by surviving partner.—(a) Appraisal of Property.—The surviving partner may, if he so desire, make application to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the partnership existed, after first giving notice to the executor or administrator of the time of the hearing of such application, for the appointment of three judicious, disinterested appraisers, one of whom may be named by the surviving partner, one by the representative of the deceased partner's estate, and the third named by the two appraisers selected, whose duty it shall be to make out under oath a full and complete inventory and appraisal of the entire assets of the partnership, including real estate if there be any, together with a schedule of the debts and liabilities thereof, and to deliver the same to the surviving partner; they shall also deliver a copy to the executor or administrator, and file a copy with the clerk of the court.

(b) Surviving Partner May Purchase.—The surviving partner may, with the consent of the executor or administrator of the deceased partner and the approval of the clerk of the superior court by whom such executor or administrator was appointed, purchase the interest of such deceased partner in the partnership assets at the appraised value thereof, including the good will of the business, first deducting therefrom the debts and liabilities of the partnership, for cash or upon giving to the executor or administrator his promissory note or notes, with good approved security, and satisfactory to the executor or administrator, for the payment of the interest of such deceased partner in the partnership assets.

(c) Surviving Partner to Give Bond.—In case the surviving partner shall avail himself of the privilege of purchasing such interest as provided for in this section, he shall give bond to the executor or administrator with surety for the payment of the debts and liabilities of the partnership, and for the performance of all contracts for which the partnership is liable.

(d) Sale of Real Estate.—In case of such sale of the real estate belonging to the partnership, the title to the real estate so purchased shall not pass until the sale thereof has been reported to and confirmed by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the partnership was located, in a special proceeding to which the widow and heirs at law or devisees of the deceased partner are duly made parties. (1901, c. 640, s. 6; Rev., s. 2545; 1911, c. 12; C. S., s. 3284.)

§ 59-82. Surviving partner to account and settle.—In case the surviving partner shall not avail himself of the privilege of purchasing the interest of the deceased partner, he shall, within twelve months from the date of the first publication of notice to creditors, file with the clerk of the superior court of the county where the partnership was located, an account, under oath, stating his action as surviving partner, and shall come to a settlement with the executor or administrator of the deceased partner: Provided, that the clerk of the superior court shall have power, upon good cause shown, to extend the time within which said final settlement shall be made. The surviving partner for his services in settling the partnership estate shall receive commissions to be allowed by the court. (1901, c. 640, s. 7; Rev., s. 2546; C. S., s. 3285; 1947, c. 781; 1957, c. 783, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The 1947 amendment struck out the words "death of the deceased partner" and inserted in lieu thereof the words "date of the first publication of notice to creditors."

The 1957 amendment deleted the words "and in no case to exceed five per cent out of the share of the deceased partner" formerly ending the last sentence.

There can be no division of partnership property until all the accounts have been taken and the clear interest of each partner ascertained. Baird v. Baird, 21 N. C. 524 (1837); Mendenhall v. Benbow, 84 N. C. 646 (1881).

Presumption of Equal Interest.—In the absence of evidence to the contrary, each partner is presumed to be equally interested in the joint business. State v. Brower, 93 N. C. 344 (1885).

If an agreement for a common or special partnership appears to have existed between parties for the purchase of property, with intent to sell the same for the profit of the parties, and no express agreement be proved adjusting the division or share of the profits, the law extends the concern to all the goods purchased by either of the parties; and the parties are entitled to share the profits, without regard to the payments or advances made by either for the purpose of effecting the purchase, if there be no contract as to the amount of the advances to be made by them respectively. Taylor v. Taylor, 6 N. C. 70 (1811).

Note Arising Out of Partnership Business.—In stating an account between an executor and the surviving partner of the testator, it is not error to charge the surviving partner with the value of a note due the testator of the plaintiff individually, if such note arose from or grew out of the business of the partnership business. Royster v. Johnson, 73 N. C. 474 (1875).

Surviving Partner Is Required to Make Settlement with Personal Representative of Deceased Partner.—The deceased partner's interest being personal property, this section requires the surviving partner to make settlement with the personal representative of the deceased partner; and there is placed upon the personal representative of deceased partner the duty to require that a true accounting be made either by the surviving partner or by a receiver under court supervision in accordance with § 28-172. Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

And Right to Sue for Accounting Vests Exclusively in Such Personal Representative.—The right to sue for an accounting of the partnership assets and affairs upon the death of one of the partners vests exclusively in the personal representative of the deceased partner. Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N. C. 18, 89 S. E. (2d) 774 (1955).

Compensation.—Within the limitation of this section, a surviving partner is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services in settling up the partnership business. Royster v. Johnson, 73 N. C. 474 (1875).

In Weisel v. Cobb, 118 N. C. 11, 24 S. E. 782 (1896), two and one-half per cent commissions on receipts and disbursements were allowed under the circumstances of the case.

Liability for Loss.—Where the surviving partner has acted in good faith in a fiduciary character he is not chargeable with loss. Thompson v. Rogers, 69 N. C. 361 (1873).

§ 59-83. Accounting compelled.—In case any surviving partner fails to come to a settlement with the executor or administrator of the deceased partner within the time prescribed by law, the clerk of the superior court may, at the instance of such executor, administrator or other person interested in such deceased partnership estate, cite the surviving partners to a final settlement as provided for by law in the case of executors and administrators. (1901, c. 640, s. 8; Rev., s. 2547; C. S., s. 3286.)

Cross Reference.—As to compelling account by executors and administrators, see §§ 28-118 and 28-122.

§ 59-84. Settlement otherwise provided for.—When the original articles of partnership in force at the death of any partner or the will of a deceased partner make provision for the settlement of the deceased partner's interest in the partnership, and for a disposition thereof different from that provided for in this chapter, the interest of such deceased partner in the partnership shall be settled and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of such articles of partnership or of such will. (1901, c. 640, s. 6; Rev., s. 2545; C. S., s. 3287.)

§ 59-84.1. Partnership to comply with "assumed name" statute.—Every partnership other than a limited partnership shall comply with, and be subject to, the provisions of articles 14 and 15 of chapter 66 of the General Statutes in all cases in which the same are applicable. (1951, c. 381, s. 9.)

ARTICLE 1.General Provisions.

§ 60-1. Application to existing railroads; special charters. — All existing railroad corporations within this State shall respectively have and possess all the powers and privileges contained in this chapter; and they shall be subject to all the duties, liabilities and provisions of this chapter not inconsistent with their charters. This chapter shall govern and control, anything in any special act of Assembly creating a railroad corporation to the contrary notwithstanding, unless in the act of the General Assembly creating the corporation the section or sections of this chapter intended to be repealed shall be specially referred to by number and, as such, specially repealed. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 45; Code, ss. 701, 1982; Rev., s. 2566; C. S., s. 3412.)

To What Charters Applicable. — This section governs and controls all charters granted after its enactment. Durham, etc., R. Co. v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 106 N. C. 16, 10 S. E. 1041 (1890).

This section is subject to any subsequent legislation, and is only useful in construing the meaning of subsequent legislation when it is doubtful. It cannot have the effect of preventing antagonistic legislation at a subsequent date. Watauga, etc., R. Co. v. Ferguson, 169 N. C. 70, 85 S. E. 156 (1915).

No Repeal of General Railroad Act by Implication. — "This provision very plainly shows that it was the intention of the legislature that the general railroad act should apply, and that its important provisions should not be repealed, either by implication or by hasty legislation. It is but an affirmation of the principle that the repeal by implication of a general law by a private statute is not favored. But the statute goes a step further, and prescribes a rule of construction under which the private act, even if it be inconsistent with the provisions of the general law, shall not repeal them 'unless they are specially referred to by number, and, as such, specially repealed.'" Durham, etc., R. Co. v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 106 N. C. 16, 27, 10 S. E. 1041 (1890).

Consequently a provision of a charter that the railroad shall have the power to condemn land under the "same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the North Carolina Railroad Company," is invalid. Durham, etc., R. Co. v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 106 N. C. 16, 10 S. E. 1041 (1890), cited as conclusive in Livermon v. Roanoke, etc., R. R. Co., 109 N. C. 52, 13 S. E. 734 (1891).

Cited in Land v. Wilmington & Weldon R. Co., 107 N. C. 72, 12 S. E. 125 (1890); Rumbough v. Southern Improvement Co., 106 N. C. 461, 11 S. E. 528 (1890).

§ 60-2. Roads not to be established unless authorized by law. — If any person or corporation, not being expressly authorized thereto, shall make or establish any canal, turnpike, tramroad, railroad or plankroad, with the intent that the same shall be used to transport passengers other than such persons, or the members of such corporation, or to transport any productions, fabrics or manufactures other than their own, the person or corporation so offending, and using the same for any such purpose, shall forfeit and pay fifty dollars for every person and article of produce so transported.

This section shall not apply to any narrow-gauge railroad, tramroad or toll road made and established and maintained solely by the owner of the lands upon which said road may be, the principal business of which is the transportation of logs, lumber and articles for the owners of such railroad or tramroad: Provided, that the Utilities Commission shall have power to authorize lumber companies, having logging roads, to transport all kinds of commodities other than their own and passengers and to charge therefor reasonable rates to be approved by said Commission. (R. C., c. 61, s. 37; 1874-5, c. 83; Code, s. 1717; 1901, c. 282; Rev., s. 2598; 1907, c. 531; 1911, c. 160; 1915, c. 6; C. S., s. 3413; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Setting Up Statutory Prohibition as Defense against Damages for Failure to Build Railroad. — A lumber company having purchased timber at a price less than its value, in consideration of the benefits to be derived by the vendors from a standard-gauge railroad it contracted to build, is liable in damages to the vendors for the difference between the price paid and the actual value of the timber, upon its failure to build the railroad. And in an action for such damages the lumber company cannot avail itself of the defense that it was prohibited by this section from building a standard-gauge railroad; for if the stipulation to construct the railroad is invalid, the plaintiffs, though they should delicto. Herring v. Cumberland Lumber Co., 159 N. C. 382, 74 S. E. 1011 (1912).

Every conductor, baggage-master, engineer, brakeman or other servant of any railroad corporation employed on a passenger train, or at stations for passengers, shall wear upon his hat or cap a badge which shall indicate his office and the initial letters of the title of the corporation by which he is employed. No conductor or collector without such badge shall be entitled to demand or receive from any passenger any fare or ticket, or to exercise any of the powers of his office; and no officer or servant without such badge shall have authority to meddle or interfere with any passenger, his baggage or property. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 30; Code, s. 1958; Rev., s. 2604; C. S., s. 3414.)

Cross Reference. — As to badge of railroad police, see § 60-85.

§ 60-4. Actions for penalties to be in name of State.—All penalties imposed by this chapter may, unless otherwise provided, be sued for in the name of the State. (Code, s. 1976; 1885, c. 221; Rev., s. 2647; C. S., s. 3415.)

Cross Reference. — As to venue of actions against railroads, see § 1-81.

The penalty prescribed by § 60-112 for failure to transport within a reasonable time is given directly to the party aggrieved, and an action therefor is not required to be brought in the name of the state. Robertson v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 148 N. C. 323, 62 S. E. 413 (1908).

§ 60-5. Discrimination in charges misdemeanor. — If any common carrier shall directly or indirectly by special rate, rebate, drawback, or other device, charge, demand, collect or receive from any person a greater or less compensation for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of passengers or property subject to the provisions of law than it charges, demands or collects or receives from any other person or persons for doing for him or them a like and contemporaneous service in the transportation of a like kind of traffic under substantially similar circumstances and conditions; or shall make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular description of traffic in any respect whatsoever; or shall subject any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality or any particular description of traffic to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever, such common carrier shall be upon conviction thereof fined not less than one thousand nor more than five thousand dollars for each and every offense. (1899, c. 164, s. 13; Rev., s. 3749; C. S., s. 3416; 1947, c. 781.)

Cross References. — As to failure to receive and forward freight, see §§ 60-111 and 60-112. As to rules of Utilities Commission to prevent discrimination, see § 62-56. As to discrimination between connecting lines, see § 62-143.

Editor's Note. — The 1947 amendment struck out the words "person or corporation" formerly appearing in the last clause of this section and inserted in lieu thereof the words "common carrier."

Section Is Remedial. — "The statutes enacted for the enforcement of the duties of common carriers, imposing penalties, are not intended to simply penalize railroads, but to secure prompt, efficient service to all and not a favored few."

Garrison v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 575, 585, 64 S. E. 578 (1909).

Declaratory of Common Law. — This section is declaratory of the common law and secures to every person the right to participate in the use of the facilities furnished, or which it is its duty to furnish, by a common carrier upon terms of equality, in regard to price, and otherwise, and free from unlawful discrimination. Lumber Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 141 N. C. 171, 53 S. E. 823 (1906).

Recovery of Excess Charges. — Where a higher freight charge was paid than that charged other shippers, the payment is not to be considered voluntary, and the excess may be recovered back upon account for money had and received, and it is not necessary that at the time of payment there should have been any protest. Lumber Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 141 N. C. 171, 53 S. E. 823 (1906).

What Constitutes Unlawful Discrimination.—A common carrier is guilty of unlawful discrimination by the principles of the common law, and the terms of this section when it charges one person for service rendered a larger sum than is charged another person for like service under substantially similar conditions. Lumber Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 141 N. C. 171, 53 S. E. 823 (1906).

A carrier cannot rightfully charge one shipper $2.50 per 1,000 feet for hauling his logs if it, at the same time, for the same service, under substantially similar circumstances, carried logs for other persons at $2.10 per 1,000 feet in consideration of the shipment of the manufactured products over its railroad. Lumber Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 141 N. C. 171, 53 S. E. 823 (1906).

§ 60-6. Discrimination by rebate or reduced charges, misdemeanor.—Any railroad company doing business in the State, or officer or agent thereof, who shall give to any person or shipper any advantage over another person or shipper under like circumstances, by way of any rebate or reduced rate not authorized by law or by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, or which shall make charges for shipments of freight in violation of the law as to railroad freight rates, contained in article 8 of the chapter Utilities Commission, or shall willfully discriminate in the matter of service in favor of one person or corporation against another in like circumstances, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and such railroad company shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than one hundred dollars and such officer or agent shall be fined or imprisoned or both, in the discretion of the court; and any shipper or consignee of any freight in the State of North Carolina who shall knowingly accept any rebate or other consideration or services from any railroad company which is not allowed or given other shippers or consignees under like or similar circumstances, and which is not allowed by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1907, c. 217, s. 2; C. S., s. 3417; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5; 1947, c. 781.)

Cross Reference.—As to person allowing or accepting rebate, see § 60-116.

Editor's Note.—The 1947 amendment substituted the words "railroad company" for the word "corporation" formerly appearing near the middle of the section.

Discriminatory Embargoes Prohibited.—A common carrier cannot place an embargo on its customer or patron so as to discriminate against him or those dealing with him, and for such unjust discrimination the carrier is indictable under this section. Garrison v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 575, 64 S. E. 578 (1909).

Allegations.—There are discriminations which require more explicit allegations, as for instance, illegal rebates upon freight charges and the like, but as the common carrier for hire, the allegation that it gave a person named undue preference by transporting him free ex vi termini alleges discrimination. State v. Southern Ry. Co., 125 N. C. 666, 34 S. E. 527 (1899).

Cited in Candler v. Asheville, 247 N. C. 398, 101 S. E. (2d) 470 (1958).

§ 60-7. Discrimination against connecting lines and violation of certain rules of the Utilities Commission misdemeanor.—If any common carrier shall not afford all reasonable, proper and equal facilities for the interchange of traffic between its respective lines and for the forwarding and delivering of passengers and freights to and from its several lines and those connecting therewith, or shall discriminate in its rates and charges against such connecting lines, or if any connecting line shall not make as close connection as practicable for the convenience of the traveling public, or shall not obey all rules and regulations made by the Utilities Commission relating to trackage, it shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor exceeding five thousand dollars for each and every offense. (1899, c. 164, s. 21; Rev., s. 3751; C. S., s. 3418; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Cross Reference.—See § 62-143.

§ 60-8. Discrimination against the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad misdemeanor; venue.—If any railroad in North Carolina shall discriminate against the freights received from the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, or shall make rates by which, either directly or indirectly, by rebates or otherwise, freights may be delivered at less rates when received from other points than from points along the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad in proportion to distance hauled, it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars for each and every violation thereof. An indictment for the misdemeanor may be found and tried in the courts where the goods were either shipped or delivered, but the court in which the indictment for the offense is first found shall have exclusive jurisdiction. (1889, c. 358; Rev., s. 3750; C. S., s. 3419.)

ARTICLE 2.

Incorporation, Officers, and Stock of Railroad.

§ 60-9. Articles of association; contents; signature; filing. — Any number of persons, not less than six, at least one of whom shall be a citizen and resident of this State, may form a company for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating a railroad for public use in the conveyance of persons and property, or for the purpose of maintaining and operating any unincorporated railroad already constructed for the like public use; and for that purpose may make and sign articles of association, in which shall be stated the name of the company, the number of years the same is to continue, the places from and to which the road is to be constructed or maintained and operated, the length of such road as near as may be, and the name of each county in this State through or into which it is made or intended to be made, the amount of the capital stock of the company, which shall not be less than five thousand dollars for every mile of road constructed or proposed to be constructed, and the number of shares of which the capital stock shall consist, and the names and places of residence of six directors of the company, at least one of whom shall be a citizen and resident of this State, upon whom legal process may be served, who shall manage its affairs for the first year, or until others are chosen in their places. Each subscriber to such articles of association shall subscribe thereto his name, place of residence, and the number of shares of stock he agrees to take in the company. On compliance with the provisions of § 60-10, such articles of association may be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall indorse thereon the day they are filed, and record the same in a book to be provided by him for that purpose; and thereupon the persons who have so subscribed such articles of association, and all persons who shall become stockholders in such company, shall be a corporation by the name specified in such articles of association, and shall possess the powers and privileges granted to railroad corporations by this chapter. The articles of association of any company formed under the provisions of this chapter, or the charter of any railroad company formed under a special act, may be amended as provided in §§ 55-30 and 55-31 and said §§ 55-30 and 55-31 are hereby made to apply to railroad companies: Provided, no amendment may be made changing the nature of the company's business, extending its corporate existence or authorizing any powers other than those authorized by this chapter. Provided further, that the capital stock provision or provisions of this section shall not apply to any railroad corporation chartered for the purpose of leasing a railroad already in existence and in operation, and such railroad company so chartered shall have a paid-in capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00). (1871-2, c. 138; Code, s. 1932; 1905, c. 187; Rev., s. 2548; 1907, c. 472, ss. 1, 2; C. S., s. 3420; 1921, c. 117; 1939, c. 60.)

Cross References. — As to requirement of certificate of convenience and necessity for construction and operation of utilities, see § 62-101. As to amendments of charter of railroad, see also § 60-11.

Editor's Note. — The 1921 amendment added the last sentence with the proviso thereto relative to amendments of articles of association. And the 1939 amendment added the second proviso.

This section refers to former §§ 55-30 and 55-31 as they stood prior to the 1955 revision. They are cited in the historical references to present §§ 55-99 and 55-100.

Sections Providing Method of Creation—Continuing Franchise.—In referring to §§ 1932-1934 of the Code of 1883, from which §§ 60-9, 60-10 and 60-12 were derived, the federal court held that the legislature has manifested a clear and positive intention that railroad corporations shall not be created by the action of associated persons otherwise than as provided in such sections. These sections refer only to the mode and manner of creating railroad corporations, and not to the methods of continuing the existence and operation of railroad franchises in the hands of purchasers at judicial sales. Bradley v. Ohio R., etc., Ry. Co., 78 F. 387 (1896); 119 N. C., Appx., 918 (1897).

Effect of Noncompliance. — The filing and recording by the Secretary of State of articles of association of a proposed railroad company, if not such as required by law, is a nullity. Kinston, etc., R. Co. v. Stroud, 132 N. C. 413, 43 S. E. 913 (1903).

Articles of Incorporation May Be Declared Void in Condemnation Proceeding. —Where the articles of incorporation of a railroad company are upon their face void, though not subject to collateral attack, the trial court will so declare in a proceeding to condemn land by right of eminent domain claimed thereunder. Kinston, etc., R. Co. v. Stroud, 132 N. C. 413, 43 S. E. 913 (1903).

§ 60-10. Prerequisites of filing; stock subscription; affidavit of directors; payment of fees.—Such articles of association shall not be filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State until at least one thousand dollars of stock for every mile of railroad proposed to be made is subscribed thereto, and five per cent paid thereon in good faith, and in cash, to the directors named in the articles of association; nor until there is indorsed thereon or annexed thereto an affidavit made by at least three of the directors named in such articles, that the amount of stock required by this section has been in good faith subscribed and five per cent paid in cash thereon as aforesaid, and that it is intended in good faith to construct or to maintain and operate the road mentioned in such articles of association, which affidavit shall be recorded with the articles of association, as aforesaid; nor until said directors shall pay the taxes and fees provided for under the chapter Corporations, article 14, entitled Taxes and Fees. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 2; Code, s. 1933; 1905, c. 168; Rev., s. 2549; C. S., s. 3421.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 60-9.

Editor's Note. — This section refers to the article entitled taxes and fees in the former chapter Corporations as it stood prior to the 1955 revision. For the present statutes relating to Fees and Taxes, see §§ 55-155, 55-156, 55A-77 and 55A-78.

§ 60-11. Amendment of charter by railroad; changing value of and issuing stock without par value.—Any railroad company heretofore or hereafter organized under the laws of this State, whether under a special act, or otherwise, may, in the manner provided by § 55-31, as heretofore amended, amend its certificate of incorporation, articles of association or charter, for the purpose of increasing or decreasing its capital stock, changing its name, changing the par value of the shares of its capital stock, creating one or more classes of common or preferred stock, creating shares of stock with or without nominal or par value, or for any purpose authorized by statutes now in force relating to the amendment of certificates of incorporation, articles of association or charters of corporations: Provided, however, that in case of a consolidated railroad company, heretofore or hereafter organized under a special act or general laws of this State and of any other state or states, a new class or classes of stock may be created upon authorization by vote of such amount of the outstanding capital stock, in no case less than a majority thereof, as may be prescribed by the provisions of the agreement of consolidation in pursuance of which such consolidated company was formed. (1929, c. 261.)

Editor's Note. — This section refers to former § 55-31 as it stood prior to the 1955 revision. It is cited in the historical references to present §§ 55-99 and 55-100.

§ 60-12. Copy of articles evidence of incorporation.—A copy of any articles of association filed and recorded in pursuance of this article and of the record thereof, with a copy of the affidavit aforesaid indorsed thereon or annexed thereto, and certified to be a copy by the Secretary of State, shall be presumptive evidence of the incorporation of such company, and of the facts therein stated. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 3; Code, s. 1934; Rev., s. 2550; C. S., s. 3422.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 60-9.

§ 60-13. Opening of subscription books.—When such articles of association and affidavit are filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, the directors named in such articles of association may, in case the whole of the capital stock is not before subscribed, open books of subscription to fill up the capital stock of the company in such places and after giving such notice as they may deem expedient, and may continue to receive subscriptions until the whole of the capital stock is subscribed. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 4; Code, s. 1935; Rev., s. 2551; C. S., s. 3423.)

§ 60-14. How stock paid for; forfeiture for nonpayment. — The directors may require the subscribers to the capital stock of the company to pay the amounts by them respectively subscribed in such manner and in such installments as they may deem proper. If any stockholder shall neglect to pay any installment as required by a resolution of the board of directors, the said board shall be authorized to declare his stock and all previous payments thereon forfeited for the use of the company, but they shall not declare it so forfeited until they shall have caused a notice in writing to be served on him personally, or the same to be deposited in the post office, properly directed to him at the post office nearest his usual place of residence, stating that he is required to make such payment at the time and place specified in such notice, and that if he fails to make the same, his stock and all previous payments thereon will be forfeited for the use of the company, which notice shall be served as aforesaid at least sixty days previous to the day on which payment is required to be made. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 7; Code, s. 1938; Rev., s. 2554; C. S., s. 3424.)

§ 60-16. Stockholders' liability for unpaid stock and to laborers; notice.—Each stockholder of any such company shall be individually liable to the creditors of such company to an amount equal to the amount unpaid on the stock held by him, for all the debts and liabilities of such company until the whole amount of the capital stock so held by him shall have been paid to the company, and all the stockholders of any such company shall be jointly and severally liable for the debts due or owing to any of its laborers and servants, other than contractors, for personal services for thirty days' service performed for such company, but shall not be liable to an action therefor before an execution shall be returned unsatisfied in whole or in part against the corporation, and the amount due on such execution shall be the amount recoverable with costs against such stockholder. Before such laborer or servant shall charge such stockholders for such thirty days' service he shall give them notice in writing within twenty days after the performance of such service that he intends to hold them liable, and shall commence such action therefor within thirty days after the return of such execution unsatisfied as above mentioned; and every such stockholder, against whom any such recovery by such laborer or servant shall have been had, shall have a right to recover the same of the other stockholders in such corporation in ratable proportion to the amount of the stock they shall respectively hold with himself. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 10; Code, s. 1940; Rev., s. 2556; C. S., s. 3426.)

§ 60-17. Liability of trustees and other fiduciaries holding stock.—No person holding stock in any such company as executor, administrator, guardian or trustee, and no person holding such stock as collateral security, shall be personally subject to any liability as stockholder of such company. The estates in the hands of such executor, administrator, guardian or trustee shall be liable in like manner and to the same extent as the testator or intestate or the ward or person interested in such trust fund would have been if he had been living and competent to act and hold the same stock in his own name, and a person pledging such stock shall be considered as holding the same, and shall be liable as a stockholder accordingly. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 11; Code, s. 1941; Rev., s. 2557; C. S., s. 3427.)

§ 60-18. Directors and presidents.—There shall be a board of six directors, one of whom shall be elected president, of every corporation formed under this article, to manage its affairs. The directors shall be chosen annually by a majority of the votes of the stockholders voting at such election, in such manner as may be prescribed in the bylaws of the corporation, and they may and shall continue in office until others are elected in their places. In the election of directors each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote personally or by proxy on every share held by him thirty days previous to any such election, and vacancies in the board of directors shall be filled in such manner as shall be prescribed by the bylaws of the corporation. The inspectors of the first election of directors shall be appointed by the board of directors named in the articles of association. No person shall be a director or president unless he shall be a stockholder owning stock absolutely in his own right and qualified to vote for directors at the election at which he shall be chosen; and at every election of directors the books and papers of such company shall be exhibited to the meeting, if a majority of the stockholders present shall require it. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 5; Code, s. 1936; Rev., s. 2552; C. S., s. 3428.)

§ 60-19. Appointment of officers and agents.—The president and directors shall appoint a treasurer and secretary and such other officers and agents as shall be prescribed by the bylaws. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 6; Code, s. 1937; Rev., s. 2553; C. S., s. 3429.)

§ 60-20. Officials to account to successors.—The president and directors of the several railroads, and all persons acting under them, are hereby required upon demand to account with the president and directors elected or appointed to succeed them, and shall transfer to them forthwith all the money, books, papers, choses in action, property and effects of every kind and description belonging to such company. (1870-1, c. 72, ss. 1, 3; Code, s. 2001; Rev., s. 2648; C. S., s. 3430.)

Cross References.—As to criminal liability for failure to account to successors, see § 14-253. As to embezzlement by officers of a railroad, see §§ 14-94 and 14-95.

ARTICLE 3.

County Subscriptions in Aid of Railroads.

§ 60-21. Counties may subscribe stock.—The boards of commissioners of the several counties shall have power to subscribe stock to any railroad company when necessary to aid in the construction of any railroad in which the citizens of the county may have an interest. (1868-9, c. 171, s. 1; Code, s. 1996; Rev., s. 2558; C. S., s. 3431.)

Cross References. — As to incorporated town encouraging building of railroads, see § 158-1. As to township subscriptions, see § 60-26 and note.

Editor's Note. — As this section appeared in the Code of 1883 it permitted subscription when necessary to aid in the completion of any railroad. This phraseology was the cause of some litigation as it was doubtful whether the section was applicable only to those railroads which were partially completed or whether it extended to all such companies. The Supreme Court of North Carolina adhered consistently to the former view, while the federal courts adopted the latter. The decisions of the federal courts were made statutory by the substitution in the Revisal of 1905, of the word "construction" for the word "completion." For the North Carolina cases prior to this substitution see Com'r's v. Snuggs, 121 N. C. 394, 28 S. E. 539 (1897); Com'r's v. Payne, 123 N. C. 432, 31 S. E. 711 (1898); Graves v. Commissioners, 135 N. C. 49, 47 S. E. 134 (1904). For the controlling federal cases see Com'r's v. Coler, 113 F. 705 (1902); Wilkes County v. Coler, 190 U. S. 107, 47 L. Ed. 971, 23 S. Ct. 738 (1903); Stanly County v. Coler, 190 U. S. 437, 23 S. Ct. 811, 47 L. Ed. 1126 (1903).

Interest of Citizens of County. — The same state and federal cases which were in conflict upon the question of whether this section referred to all railroads or only those partially completed (see Editor's Note above) were also at variance upon the sufficiency of interest requisite to authorize the subscription. The State cases maintained the position that the interest must be direct and in and of the county subscribing, while the federal cases were decided on the theory that a public interest would suffice. The best statement of this rule is found in Coler v. Commissioners, 89 F. 257 (1898) where it is said: "The section does not require the citizens to have a direct pecuniary interest in the road, but a public interest, such as is created by the building of a railroad into the county, and the fixing of one of the termini therein, is sufficient to fulfill the condition and authorize a subscription to its stock by the county, and the issuance of bonds and levying of taxes to carry out the same."

Burden of Proving Validity. — Where the recitals in railroad bonds are that they were issued under a particular act of the legislature, the burden of validating them, as made under this section, is on the party alleging their validity. Graves v. Commissioners, 135 N. C. 49, 47 S. E. 134 (1904).

§ 60-22. Election on question of county aid.—The board of commissioners of any county proposing to take stock in any railroad company shall meet and agree upon the amount to be subscribed, and if a majority of the board shall vote for the proposition, this shall be entered of record, which record shall show the amount proposed to be subscribed, to what company, and whether in bonds, money or other property, and thereupon the board shall order an election, to be held on a notice of not less than thirty days, for the purpose of voting for or against the proposition to subscribe the amount of stock agreed on by the board of county commissioners. If a majority of the qualified voters of the county shall vote in favor of the proposition, the board of county commissioners, through their chairman, shall have power to subscribe the amount of stock proposed by them and submitted to the people, subject to all the rules, regulations and restrictions of other stockholders in such company: Provided, that the counties, in the manner aforesaid, shall subscribe from time to time such amounts, either in bonds or money, as they may think proper. (1868-9, c. 171, s. 2; Code, s. 1997; Rev., s. 2559; C. S., s. 3432.)

Editor's Note. — Section 160-62 and article VII, § 7 of the Constitution require a popular vote for the contraction of debts by cities and towns except in the case of necessary expenses.

Submission of Two Subscriptions as Single Proposition. — Where the question of subscription to two different railway corporations is to be submitted to a vote, it is improper and irregular to submit them as a single proposition, at the same election and on the same ballot. Goforth v. Rutherford Ry. Constr. Co., 96 N. C. 535, 2 S. E. 361 (1887).

§ 60-23. Conduct of election. — All elections ordered under General Statutes § 60-22 shall be conducted by the county board of elections under the laws and regulations provided for the election of members of the General Assembly.

The results of such elections shall be canvassed and declared by the county board of elections. (1868-9, c. 171, s. 3; Code, s. 1998; Rev., s. 2560; C. S., s. 3433; 1947, c. 781.)

Editor's Note. — The 1947 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 60-24. Interest on bonds. — In case the county shall subscribe the amount proposed in bonds, the board of commissioners shall have power to fix the rate of interest, not to exceed the rate of six per cent, when the principal on said bonds shall be payable and at what place, and shall also fix the time and places of paying the interest, and shall also determine the mode and manner of paying the same; and also to raise by taxation, from year to year, the amount necessary to meet the interest on such bonds. (1868-9, c. 171, s. 4; Code, s. 1999; Rev., s. 2561; C. S., s. 3434.)

No Estoppel by Payment of Interest. — not validate them. Commissioners v. Payne, 123 N. C. 432, 31 S. E. 711 (1898). The payment of interest from year to year on the bonds is not an estoppel and does

§ 60-25. Collection and disposition of taxes authorized. — The taxes authorized by this article to be raised for the payment of interest or principal shall be collected by the sheriff or tax collector in like manner as ad valorem taxes, and be paid into the hands of the county treasurer, to be used by the chairman of the board of county commissioners as directed by this article. (1868-9, c. 171, s. 5; Code, s. 2000; Rev., s. 2562; C. S., s. 3435; 1943, c. 543.)

Cross Reference. — As to collection of taxes generally, see § 105-372 et seq. inserted the words "or tax collector" and substituted the words "ad valorem" for

Editor's Note. — The 1943 amendment the words "other state."

ARTICLE 4.

Township Subscriptions in Aid of Railroads.

§ 60-26. Townships may subscribe stock. — The board of commissioners of the several counties of the State shall have power to subscribe stock for the use and benefit of any township in their several counties, when necessary to aid in the construction of any railroad, which is now or may be hereafter incorporated under the laws of this State, in which the citizens of such county may have an interest. (1917, c. 64, s. 1; C. S., s. 3436.)

Editor's Note. — In Graves v. Com'rs, 135 N. C. 49, 47 S. E. 134 (1904), it was held that § 60-21 did not apply to townships and that there existed no provision authorizing the aid from townships similar to that which might be afforded by counties under § 60-21. The Supreme Court, however, has held in several cases, that, despite the absence of express statutory provisions townships may by observing the constitutional requirements, issue bonds to aid in the construction of railroads. Wood v. Oxford, 97 N. C. 227, 2 S. E. 653 (1887); Brown v. Commissioners, 100 N. C. 92, 5 S. E. 178 (1888); Jones v. Commissioners, 107 N. C. 248, 12 S. E. 69 (1890); Wittkowsky v. Com'rs, 150 N. C. 90, 63 S. E. 275 (1908). See also, McCracken v. Greensboro, etc., R. Co., 168 N. C. 62, 84 S. E. 30 (1915). It would seem that these latter cases are made statutory by the enactment of this article in 1917.

§ 60-27. Election on question of township aid. — The board of commissioners of any county proposing to take stock, for the use and benefit of any township, as mentioned in § 60-26, shall meet and agree upon the amount to be subscribed for such township, and if a majority of the board shall vote for the proposition, this shall be entered of record, which record shall show the amount proposed to be subscribed, and for what township, to what company, and whether in bonds, money or other property; and thereupon the board shall order an election, to be held upon a notice of not less than thirty days, in each and every township for whose use and benefit such subscription is proposed to be made for the purpose of voting for or against the proposition to subscribe the amount agreed on by the board of commissioners. If a majority of the qualified voters of the township for whose use and benefit such subscription is proposed to be made shall vote in favor of the proposition, the board of county commissioners through their chairman shall have power to subscribe the amount of stock proposed by them, and submitted to the voters, for the use and benefit of such township, subject to all the rules, regulations, and restrictions of other stockholders in such railroad company: Provided, that the township, in the manner aforesaid, shall subscribe from time to time such amounts, either in bonds or money, as it may think proper. (1917, c. 64, s. 2; C. S., s. 3437.)

Editor's Note.—The 1947 amendment wrote the latter part of the second sentence substituted in the first sentence "county" for "county" and "board of elections" for "sheriff" and re-

§ 60-29. Bond issue; special tax.—In case the township shall authorize, at the election herein provided for, a subscription of the amount proposed in bonds, the board of commissioners shall have power to fix the rate of interest, not to exceed the rate of six per cent, when the principal of such bonds shall be payable, and at what place, and shall also fix the time and place for paying interest, and shall also determine the mode and manner of paying the same. The board of commissioners shall, in order to provide for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon authorized to be issued by this article, compute and levy each year at the time of levying the county taxes a sufficient tax upon the property in any township authorizing the issuing of bonds under this article to pay the interest on the bonds issued on account of and for the use and benefit of such township, and shall also levy a sufficient tax to create a sinking fund to provide for the payment of such bonds at maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected annually and under the same laws and regulations as shall be in force for levying and collecting other county taxes. (1917, c. 64, s. 4; C. S., s. 3439; 1943, c. 543.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment appearing between the words "county" and struck out the words "and state" formerly "taxes" in the second sentence.

§ 60-30. Levy, collection, and disposition of tax.—The tax authorized by this article to be raised for the payment of interest and principal shall be levied by the board of commissioners of the county in which such township is located, at such times as is now or hereafter may be fixed for levying ad valorem county taxes, against the taxable property located in such township, in addition to the regular ad valorem county taxes assessable against such property. The tax shall be collected by the sheriff or tax collector or other collecting officer of the county in which such township is located in like manner as ad valorem taxes are collected, and shall be paid into the hands of the county treasurer, to be used by the chairman of the board of commissioners as directed by this article. (1917, c. 64, s. 5; C. S., s. 3440; 1943, c. 543.)

Cross Reference.—As to collection of taxes generally, see § 105-372 et seq. substituted the words "ad valorem" for former references to state and other taxes.

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment

§ 60-31. Tax to be kept separate.—The taxes levied and collected under the provisions of this article shall be kept separate and apart from all other ad valorem taxes levied and collected in the county in which such township shall be located. (1917, c. 64, s. 6; C. S., s. 3441; 1943, c. 543.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment substituted the words "ad valorem" for the words "state and county."

§ 60-32. Townships may subscribe to purchase of railroad corporations.—The board of commissioners of the several counties of the State shall have power to make subscriptions, for the use and benefit of any township in their several counties, for the purpose of purchasing or aiding in the purchase of any railroad corporation now or hereafter incorporated under the laws of this State which shall be dissolved or whose property and franchises are proposed to be sold privately or under execution, judicial decree, deed in trust, mortgage, or other conveyance, and all the provisions of this article shall apply as fully and as well to such subscriptions as they do to subscriptions to stock to aid in the construction of railroads. (1917, c. 64, s. 1; 1919, c. 130, s. 1; C. S., s. 3442.)

§ 60-33. Election on question of purchase; proxies to represent stock.—The county commissioners shall, upon the petition of one-fourth of the qualified voters of any township mentioned in § 60-32, order an election and submit the question of such subscription according to the terms of the petition. At such election five persons shall be chosen as proxies to represent such stock, if the vote shall be in favor of the subscription, in all respects as fully as if private promoters, corporators or holders of such stock. They shall be eligible to the position of director or other office in the corporation. They shall hold office until the first Monday in December following the next general election and until their successors chosen at such general election shall qualify. Such proxies shall be chosen at the general election every two years as township officers are. They shall have authority, alone, if sole purchasers, and with the proxies from other townships and others participating in the purchase, if not acting alone, to purchase such railroad property and franchise, and shall constitute a new corporation upon compliance with law as in other cases of a dissolution and sale of railroad property and franchise. (1917, c. 64, s. 2; 1919, c. 130, s. 2; C. S., s. 3443.)

§ 60-34. Increase of interest; procedure.—Whenever the board of county commissioners of any county has subscribed for the use and benefit of any township to any interest in any railroad or railroad corporation, as provided in this article, and the majority of the proxies chosen to represent the stock or interest of the township in such railroad shall certify to the board of commissioners that in their opinion the interest of the township in said railroad or railroad corporation should be increased, the board of county commissioners shall order an election to be held in such township, upon the petition of one-fourth of the qualified voters of such township, in the same manner as provided in this article, and if the majority of the qualified voters of such township shall vote in favor of the proposition contained in the petition, the county commissioners shall execute and deliver the bonds authorized, levy and collect in the township and dispose of the tax, as authorized in this article. (Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 117, s. 1.)

§ 60-35. Execution and sale of bonds for increase of interest.—Said bonds shall be executed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners of such county, attested by the clerk of said board, who shall affix the seal of the board, and deliver the same to the board of proxies representing said township.

The board of proxies shall advertise said bonds as provided by law, and faithfully apply the same to the purposes set forth in the petition for the election. (Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 117, ss. 2, 3.)

§ 60-36. Organization of proxies; report; vacancies.—The proxies chosen at each general election shall qualify and organize on the first Monday in December, elect a chairman, vice-chairman and secretary, and they shall annually in each year file with the board of county commissioners a copy of the report required by law to be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Any vacancy occurring in the board of proxies shall be filled by the board of proxies until the next general election. (Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 117, ss. 4, 5.)

ARTICLE 5.

Powers and Liabilities.

§ 60-37. Powers of railroad corporations enumerated.—Every railroad corporation shall have power:

- (1) To Survey and Enter on Land.—To cause such examination and surveys for its proposed railroad to be made as may be necessary to the selection of the most advantageous route; and for such purpose, by its officers or agents and servants, to enter upon the lands or waters of any person, but subject to responsibility for all damages which shall be done thereto.

Cross Reference.—As to right of entry on land, see § 40-3.

Conflicting Locations.—As between two railroad companies the first location belongs to that company which first defines and marks its route and adopts the same for its permanent location by authoritative corporate action. Fayetteville Street Ry. v. Aberdeen & R. R. Co., 142 N. C. 423, 55 S. E. 345 (1906).

- (2) To Condemn Land under Eminent Domain.—To appropriate land and rights therein by condemnation, as provided in the chapter Eminent Domain.

Cross References.—As to condemnation by right of eminent domain, see § 40-2 et seq. As to amount of land which may be condemned, see § 40-29.

Editor's Note.—Since railroads are quasi-public corporations they are given by the State the power to take, by proper proceedings the necessary lands upon which to build their roads. Nor will the courts enjoin a railroad corporation from condemning land for a public purpose on the ground that the corporation was irregularly organized. In Powers v. Hazelton, etc., R. Co., 33 Ohio St. 429 (1878), it was held that a landowner could not be permitted to prove, as a defense to condemnation proceedings instituted by a regularly organized railroad corporation, that the company was incorporated not for a public use, but for the private purposes of the corporators only, and that there was no public necessity for the road. See Wellington, etc., R. Co. v. Cashie, etc., R. Co., 114 N. C. 690, 19 S. E. 646 (1894).

Land May Be Taken from Another Railroad.—Land acquired by one railroad company under a legislative grant of the right of eminent domain, and not necessary for the exercise of its franchise or the discharge of its duties, is liable to be taken under the law of eminent domain for the use of another railroad company. North Carolina, etc., R. Co. v. Carolina, etc., R. Co., 83 N. C. 489 (1880).

Cited in Thompson v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 248 N. C. 577, 104 S. E. (2d) 181 (1958).

- (3) To Take Property by Grant.—To take and hold such voluntary grants of real estate and other property as shall be made to it to aid in the construction, maintenance and accommodation of its railroad; but the real estate received by voluntary grant shall be held and used for the purposes of such grant only.

Editor's Note.—Railroads can acquire real estate only by statutory authority. In 1 Elliott on Rys., sec. 390, the general principle is stated as follows: "The rule is well established that a railroad corporation cannot acquire and hold lands for any purposes except such as are authorized by statute. The authority must be conferred by legislation or it does not exist. It is, however, not necessary that the authority should be expressly conferred. It may be implied." See Wallace v. Moore, 178 N. C. 114, 100 S. E. 237 (1919).

Extending User of Right of Way.—

While a railroad can use only the part of its right of way actually occupied, whenever the necessities of the company require it, it can extend its user of the right of way to the extent of the statutory right for additional tracks or other railroad purposes. R. R. v. Olive, 142 N. C. 257, 264, 55 S. E. 263 (1906); Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Bunting, 168 N. C. 579, 84 S. E. 1009 (1915); Tighe v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 176 N. C. 239, 97 S. E. 164 (1918).

- (4) To Purchase and Hold Property.—To purchase and hold and use all such real estate and other property as may be necessary for the construction and maintenance of its railroad and the stations and other accommodations necessary to accomplish the object of its incorporation.

Cross Reference.—As to adverse possession of property owned by a railroad, see § 1-44.

A conveyance of land for use as a railroad right of way by deed in regular form of bargain and sale, reciting a valuable consideration, is presumptively a deed of purchase within the meaning of this section and must be interpreted as an ordinary deed, so that when the granting clause is sufficient in form to convey the fee simple and the habendum and warranties are in harmony therewith, it conveys the fee and not a mere easement. McCoster v. Barnes, 247 N. C. 480, 101 S. E. (2d) 330 (1958).

- (5) To Grade and Construct Road. — To lay out its road, not exceeding one hundred feet in width, and to construct the same; to take, for the purpose of cuttings and embankments, as much more land as may be necessary for the proper construction and security of the road; and to cut down any standing trees that may be in danger of falling on the road, making compensation therefor as provided in the chapter Eminent Domain.

Cross Reference.—See § 40-29.

Change of Grade.—A railroad company has a right to change the grade of its roadbed or to remove it to any point on its right of way. Brinkley v. Southern R. Co., 135 N. C. 654, 47 S. E. 791 (1904).

- (6) To Intersect with Highways and Waterways.—To construct its road across, along or upon any stream of water, watercourse, street, highway, plankroad, turnpike, railroad or canal which the route of its road shall intersect or touch; but the company shall restore the stream or watercourse, street, highway, plankroad or turnpike road, thus intersected or touched, to its former state or to such state as not unnecessarily to have impaired its usefulness. Nothing in this chapter contained shall be construed to authorize the erection of any bridge or any other obstruction across, in or over any stream or lake navigated by motor boats, commensurate in size to sailboat, or sailboats or vessels, at the place where any bridge or other obstructions may be proposed to be placed, nor to authorize the construction of any railroad not already located in, upon or across any streets in any city without the assent of the corporation of such city.

Cross References.—As to the power of the Utilities Commission to regulate crossings, see § 63-50. As to the duty of railroads to construct and maintain bridges which it has necessitated building, see §§ 136-75 and 136-78; as to duty to provide cattle guards, see § 60-48.

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment inserted the words "motor boats, commensurate in size to sailboat, or sailboats or vessels" in lieu of "steam or sailboats" formerly appearing in lines eight and nine of subdivision (6).

For note on misuse of railroad right of way, see 29 N. C. Law Rev. 312.

Duty to Public.—While railroad corporations are given the right and power to construct their roads across streets, highways, etc., they must maintain a safe and convenient crossing there, making it, as far as they can, as safe and convenient to the public as it would have been had the railroad not been built. Raper v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 563, 36 S. E. 115 (1900).

Duty When Railroad Changes Grade of Street.—Where a railroad accepts the benefits or statutory authorization and changes the grade of a street or highway it must assume and comply with the burden imposed and restore the street to a useful condition. If, to meet the burden so imposed, it becomes necessary to go beyond the railroad right of way and change the grade of a street, thereby impairing access of an abutting property owner, compensation must be paid for the diminution in value resulting from the denial of access. Thompson v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 248 N. C. 577, 104 S. E. (2d) 181 (1958).

Whole Street Cannot Be Appropriated.—In Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Raleigh, 219 F. 573, 581 (1914), in construing this section it is said: "It is doubtful whether the language of the section can be construed to authorize the exclusive appropriation of the street. The sidewalk is a portion of the street appropriated to the use of pedestrians. To construe the grant of the right to construct its road 'across, along, or upon' a street, always of much greater width than a railroad track and the cross-ties, as a grant of the right to occupy the entire street or sidewalk, is not permissible in the light of the recognized rule of construction of such grants of power."

Assent of City an Essential Power.—The assent to the use of the street by a railroad company is often a most essential power, necessary to be used for the benefit of the people of the city. Griffin v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 312, 64 S. E. 16 (1909).

When Court Cannot Review Grant.—The action of the board of aldermen in authorizing a railroad company to use a certain street for legitimate railroad purposes, the laying and use of tracks, etc., when the statutory power is given, is not reviewable by the courts at the instance of an owner of land on the street, claiming that some other street should have been so used. Griffin v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 312, 64 S. E. 16 (1909).

(7) To Intersect with Other Railroads.—To cross, intersect, join and unite its railroad with any other railroad before constructed, at any point on its route, and upon the grounds of such other company, with the necessary turnouts, sidings and switches and other conveniences in furtherance of the object of its connections. Every company whose railroad is or shall be hereafter intersected by any new railroad shall unite with the owners of such new railroad in forming such intersections and connections and grant the facilities aforesaid, and if the two corporations cannot agree upon the amount of compensation to be made therefor, or the points and manner of such crossings and connections, the same shall be ascertained and determined by commissioners to be appointed by the court as is provided in the chapter Eminent Domain.

Cross Reference.—As to appointment of commissioners, see § 40-11 et seq.

Railroad Decides Necessity of Intersection.—Where a railroad company has a right to condemn a way across the track of another company to manufacturing plants for a spur track to which the other company also has its siding, in competition for freight, the question whether it is necessary for the plaintiff company to build its spur is one in its discretion; and controversies as to whether the defendant could and would shift the plaintiff's cars on its own track advantageously to the plaintiff, and for a reasonable charge, are immaterial. Virginia, etc., R. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 161 N. C. 531, 78 S. E. 68 (1913).

another company should exercise this right with regard to the convenience of both parties and with as little interference with the use of the other party of its own track as can be obtained without a great increase in its cost and inconvenience. But the courts cannot restrict this right to be exercised by a railroad to cases in which the courts may approve its reasonableness or expediency. Virginia, etc., R. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 165 N. C. 425, 81 S. E. 617 (1914).

Agreement or Condemnation Necessary for Entry.—Under this section one road cannot enter on the right of way of another for the purpose of connecting therewith without previous agreement, or condemnation proceedings. Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Durham, etc., Ry. Co., 104 N. C. 658, 10 S. E. 659 (1889).

Parol Agreement Ineffectual.—A parol agreement to allow one railroad company to extend its track on the right of way of another, for the purpose of connecting therewith, is a mere license, revocable at the will of the licensor, and will not operate as an estoppel although the licensee has entered and made valuable improvements. Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Durham, etc., Ry. Co., 104 N. C. 658, 10 S. E. 659 (1889).

One railroad company will not be allowed to preclude competition by another in a particular area by arbitrarily refusing such other railroad reasonable use of its right of way and trackage. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

Use of Common Trackage.—The right of each of two railroads to equal use of common trackage does not mean identical use, and where one of them constructs a spur from its independent line to serve a certain area adjacent to such line, but the common trackage is used by it in its operation serving such spur, the other has the right to construct and use a spur from the common trackage when this is the sole feasible means it has to serve industries in the same area, provided such operations will not impair the use of the common trackage by the other. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

Railroad companies forming corporation to provide common trackage held entitled to equal use of such trackage. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

Turnouts, Sidings and Switches.—In the absence of express statutory or charter authorization, the power to construct a railroad includes authority to construct such spur, industrial, switching and other auxiliary tracks as may be necessary to serve the public needs along or near the main line. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

Railroads have authority under this section to provide "turnouts, sidings, and switches" to serve industrial plants along or near their main lines. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

- (8) To Transport Persons and Property. — To take and convey persons and property on its railroad or by water by the power or force of stream, electricity or animals or by any mechanical power, and to receive compensation therefor.

Cross References.—As to railroad's duty to transport, see § 60-75. As to power of Utilities Commission to prevent discrimination in service, see § 62-56. As to discrimination in charges, see §§ 60-5, 60-6, and 62-56.

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment inserted the words "or by water" in line two of subdivision (8).

Charter May Confer Right to Lease.—

The charter of a railroad company conferring the right to transport passengers and freight, and giving the power to "farm out" the right of transportation, authorizes the company to execute a valid lease of its property and franchises to another railroad company. Hill v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 143 N. C. 539, 55 S. E. 854 (1906).

- (9) To Erect Stations and Other Buildings.—To erect and maintain all necessary and convenient buildings, stations, fixtures and machinery for the accommodation and use of its passengers, freight and business.

Cross References.—As to power of Utilities Commission to regulate establishment of stations, see § 62-41 et seq. As to power of railroad companies to condemn land for union depots, see § 40-4. As to abandonment or relocation of station, see § 62-53.

- (10) To Borrow Money, Issue Bonds and Execute Mortgages.—From time to time to borrow such sums of money as may be necessary for completing and finishing or operating its railroad, and to issue and dispose of its bonds for any amount so borrowed, and to mortgage its corporate property and franchises and to secure the payment of any debt contracted by the company for the purposes aforesaid, and the directors of the company may confer on any holder of any bond issued for money borrowed, as aforesaid, the right to convert the principal due or owing thereon into stock of such company at any time under such regulations as the directors may see fit to adopt.

Cross Reference.—As to control of Utilities Commission over pledge of assets, issuing securities, etc., see § 62-81 et seq.

Corporation Has Power to Issue Bonds. —A railroad corporation has power to contract debts, and every corporation possessing such power must also have power to acknowledge its indebtedness under its corporate seal, i. e., to make and issue its bonds. Commissioners v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 77 N. C. 289 (1877).

(11) To Lease Rails.—To lease iron rails to any person or corporation for such time and upon such terms as may be agreed on by the contracting parties, and upon the termination of the lease by expiration, forfeiture or surrender, to take possession of and remove the rails so leased as if they had never been laid.

(12) To Establish Hotels and Eating Houses. — To purchase, lease, hold, operate or maintain eating houses, hotels and restaurants for the accommodation of the traveling public along the line of its road. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 29; Code, s. 1957; 1887, c. 341; 1889, c. 518; Rev., ss. 2567, 2575; C. S., s. 3444; 1953, c. 675, ss. 6, 7.)

§ 60-38. Engaging in unauthorized business.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad company incorporated under the laws of this State, or any railroad company incorporated under the laws of any other state and operating one or more railroads in this State, to engage in any business other than the business authorized by its or their charter.

Any railroad company violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in the discretion of the court. (Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 80.)

§ 60-39. Power to aid in construction of connecting and branch lines.—Any railroad or other transportation company shall have the right to aid in the construction of any railroad or branch railroad in this or an adjoining state connected with it directly or indirectly, if the construction of such railroad or branch railroad is authorized by law. (1885, c. 108, s. 1; Rev., s. 2567, subsec. 12; C. S., s. 3445.)

§ 60-40. Power to seize fuel. — If any railroad or other transportation company finds it necessary, in order to prevent delays in the transportation of freight or passengers, to take possession of coal, wood, or other fuel not its own property and convert it to its own use without an agreement with the owner thereof, it shall notify such owner within three days of such taking that his property has been appropriated, giving the date thereof, and shall, within a period of thirty days, pay for such coal, wood or other fuel at the invoice price at place of shipment, plus twenty-five per cent. Should the transportation company fail to notify the consignee or owner within such three days or pay for the coal, wood or other fuel at the invoice price at place of shipment, plus twenty-five per cent as above provided, within thirty days after converting the same to its own use, it shall in addition forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of twenty-five dollars for the first day of failure to notify such consignee of the appropriation of the fuel, or its failure to pay for the same, and five dollars for each day thereafter in which it shall fail to notify such consignee or pay for the same. (1903, c. 590, s. 4; Rev., s. 2617; 1907, c. 467; C. S., s. 3446.)

§ 60-41. Agreements for through freight and travel.—The directors representing the stock held in the various railroad corporations are hereby authorized and empowered to enter into such agreements and terms with each other as to secure through freight and travel without the expense of transfer of freight, or breaking the bulk thereof, at different points along the lines, and for this purpose may use the road or roads and the rolling stock of such corporations or companies on such terms as may be agreed upon by them. (1866-7, c. 105; Code, s. 1995; Rev., s. 2640; C. S., s. 3447.)

§ 60-42. Intersection with highways. — Whenever the track of a railroad shall cross a highway, turnpike or plankroad, such highway, turnpike or plankroad may be carried under or over the track, as may be found most expedient; and in cases where an embankment or cutting shall make a change in the line of such highway, turnpike or plankroad desirable, then such corporation may take such additional lands for the construction of the road, highway, turnpike or plankroad on such new line as may be deemed requisite by the directors. Unless the land so taken shall be purchased for the purposes aforesaid, compensation therefor shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the chapter Eminent Domain, and duly made by such corporation to the owners and persons interested in such land. The same when so taken shall become a part of such intersecting highway, turnpike or plankroad in such manner and by such tenure as the adjacent parts of the same highway, turnpike or plankroad may be held for highway purposes. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 26; Code, s. 1954; Rev., s. 2568; C. S., s. 3448.)

Cross References. — See § 60-37, subdivision (6), and § 60-43. As to the power of Utilities Commission to regulate crossings, see § 62-50. As to ascertaining the compensation for land taken, see § 40-11 et seq.

§ 60-43. Obstructing highways; defective crossings; failure to repair after notice misdemeanor.—Whenever, in their construction, the works of any railroad corporation shall cross established roads or ways, the corporation shall so construct its works as not to impede the passage or transportation of persons or property along the same. If any railroad corporation shall so construct its crossings with public streets, thoroughfares or highways, or keep, allow or permit the same at any time to remain in such condition as to impede, obstruct or endanger the passage or transportation of persons or property along, over or across the same, the governing body of the county, city or town, or other public road authority having charge, control or oversight of such roads, streets or thoroughfares may give to such railroad notice, in writing, directing it to place any such crossing in good condition, so that persons may cross and property be safely transported across the same. If the railroad corporation shall fail to put such crossing in a safe condition for the passage of persons and property within thirty days from and after the service of the notice, it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished in the discretion of the court. Each calendar month which shall elapse after the giving of the notice and before the placing of such crossing in repair shall be a separate offense. This section shall in nowise be construed to abrogate, repeal or otherwise affect any existing law now applicable to railroad corporations with respect to highway and street crossings; but the duty imposed and the remedy given by this section shall be in addition to other duties and remedies now prescribed by law. (R. C., c. 61, s. 30; 1874-5, c. 83; Code, s. 1710; Rev., s. 2569; 1915, c. 250, ss. 1, 2; C. S., s. 3449.)

Cross References.—As to the power of Utilities Commission to regulate crossings, see § 62-50. As to duty of railroad to maintain bridges, see § 136-75. As to duty of railroad to provide drawbridge, see § 136-78. As to venue in action against railroad, see § 1-81.

Duty to Maintain Safe and Convenient Crossing.—While railroad corporations are given the right and power to construct their roads across streets, highways, etc., they must maintain a safe and convenient crossing there, making it, as far as they can, as safe and convenient to the public as it would have been had the railroad not been built. Raper v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 563, 36 S. E. 115 (1900).

Duty Not Restricted to Public Highway.

—This section does not restrict the railroad's duty to crossings of "public highways," but uses the broader and generic term "highways," which might include any road used by the public as a mill and church road and in going to town. Gofforth v. Southern R. Co., 144 N. C. 569, 57 S. E. 209 (1907).

Same—Applies to Private Crossings.—An "established road or way" which a railroad company may not obstruct in crossing it with its tracks extends to those whose use is of a private nature, and not necessarily those dedicated to a public use, and in such instances, where the rights of a railroad and the rights of the public to the use of their roads or ways conflict, the former must give place to the latter. Tate v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 168 N. C. 523, 84 S. E. 808 (1915).

Duty When Railroad Changes Grade of Street.—Where a railroad accepts the benefits of statutory authorization and changes the grade of a street or highway it must assume and comply with the burden imposed and restore the street to a useful condition. If, to meet the burden so imposed, it becomes necessary to go beyond the railroad right of way and change the grade of a street, thereby impairing access of an abutting property owner, compensation must be paid for the diminution in value resulting from the denial of access. Thompson v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 248 N. C. 577, 104 S. E. (2d) 181 (1958).

"Negligent Construction" Defined.—By "negligent construction" is meant such an improper construction of the crossing, whether arising from negligence, indifference, or motives of economy, as unnecessarily increases the danger of using the public highway. Raper v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 563, 36 S. E. 115 (1900). But the mere fact that a crossing is dangerous does not necessarily impute negligence to the railroad company. Edwards v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 129 N. C. 78, 39 S. E. 730 (1901).

Right to Assume That Crossing Is Safe.—One has the right to assume that a railroad company has discharged its duty to the public by keeping the crossing in safe condition. Tankard v. Roanoke R., etc., Co., 117 N. C. 558, 23 S. E. 46 (1895).

Indictment.—An indictment charging a railroad company with obstructing a public road by the use of plank at a crossing is fatally defective if it does not charge the manner of the misuse of the plank. State v. Roanoke R., etc., Co., 109 N. C. 860, 13 S. E. 719 (1891).

It is a fatal variance in an indictment for obstructing a highway at a railroad crossing, to prove that the defendant permitted for some time a dangerous hole to remain in the crossing. State v. Roanoke R., etc., Co., 109 N. C. 860, 13 S. E. 719 (1891).

When Injury Might Have Been Caused by Defective Crossing.—Under this section it is error for the trial court to sustain a motion of nonsuit on competent evidence from which the jury could have found that if defendant's crossing over a neighborhood road had not been negligently left in a dangerous condition, plaintiff would not have been injured by the slipping and falling thereon of the mule upon which he was riding. Gofforth v. Southern R. Co., 144 N. C. 569, 57 S. E. 209 (1907).

§ 60-44. Service of notice of defective crossings.—The notice required by § 60-43 may be served upon the agent of the offending railroad located nearest to the defective or dangerous crossing about which the notice is given, or it may be served upon the section master whose section includes such crossing. Such notice may be served by delivering a copy to such agent or section master, or by letter properly stamped, registered and addressed to either of such persons. (1915, c. 250, s. 1; C. S., s. 3450.)

§ 60-45. Change in location of highways.—In order to prevent the frequent crossing of such road or ways, or in cases where it may be necessary to occupy the same, the corporation may change the roads and ways so as to avoid such crossing and occupation, and to such points as may be deemed expedient. (R. C., c. 61, s. 31; 1874-5, c. 83; Code, s. 1711; Rev., s. 2570; C. S., s. 3451.)

A railroad company may make a change in a county road that does not necessarily impair its usefulness. Brinkley v. Southern R. Co., 135 N. C. 654, 47 S. E. 791 (1904).

§ 60-46. Damages due to change in location.—For any injury done to the lands of persons by taking them under § 60-45, the value thereof shall be assessed in like manner as is provided for assessing damages to real estate for taking lands under the chapter Eminent Domain. (R. C., c. 61, s. 32; 1874-5, c. 83; Code, s. 1712; Rev., s. 2571; C. S., s. 3452.)

Cross Reference.—As to manner of assessing damages when parties cannot agree, see § 40-11 et seq.

§ 60-47. Old road not to be impeded until new road is made.—Before any part of an established road or way shall be impeded by any railroad corporation, the new road or way shall be prepared and made equally good with the portion proposed to be discontinued; and then the same shall be deemed a part of the original road or way, and shall be kept up and repaired as before the change. (R. C., c. 61, s. 33; 1874-5, c. 83; Code, s. 1713; Rev., s. 2572; C. S., s. 3453.)

§ 60-48. Cattle guards and private crossings; failure to erect and maintain misdemeanor.—Every incorporated company owning, operating or constructing, or which shall hereafter own, operate or construct, or any company which shall hereafter be incorporated and shall own, operate or construct any railroad passing through and over the land of any person now enclosed, or which may hereafter become enclosed, shall, at its own expense, construct and constantly maintain, in good and safe condition, good and sufficient cattle guards at the points of entrance upon and exit from such enclosed land, and shall also make and keep in constant repair crossings to any plantation road thereupon. Every railroad corporation which shall fail to erect and constantly maintain the cattle guards and crossings provided for by this section shall be liable to an action for damages to any party aggrieved, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined in the discretion of the court.

So far as this section relates to cattle guards, the Utilities Commission is hereby authorized, directed and empowered to adopt such good and sufficient make of cattle guard now upon the market as is best suited for turning stock. When such guard is selected, approved and authorized by the Commission any company operating in this State which shall procure, install and maintain and keep in good and safe condition on its line of road such guard so selected by the Commission shall be deemed and held in all suits, actions or proceedings in all the courts of this State to have complied with the conditions of this section in installing a good and sufficient cattle guard: Provided, that any railroad company operating in this State may make application to the Commission to adopt for its road any particular brand or make of cattle guard, and if the Commission shall approve and authorize the use of such guard, it shall, if kept and maintained in good and sufficient condition at all times by such railroad company, be deemed and held in all actions, suits or proceedings in any court of this State a good and sufficient cattle guard. (1883, c. 394, ss. 1, 2, 3; Code, s. 1975; Rev., ss. 2601, 3753; 1915, c. 127; C. S., s. 3454; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Applies to Town Lot.—This section which requires railroads to construct cattle-guards at the point of entrance upon and exit from enclosed lands, applies to a town lot as well as in the county. Shepard v. Suffolk & C. R. Co., 140 N. C. 391, 53 S. E. 137 (1906).

Adoption of Stock Law.—The adoption of the stock law does not abrogate this section in a locality. Shepard v. Suffolk & C. R. Co., 140 N. C. 391, 53 S. E. 137 (1906).

Joinder of Actions.—Where plaintiff's complaint contained two causes of action, one to recover damages alleged to have been caused by defendant's ponding water back on plaintiff's land; the other to recover damages for a breach of duty on the part of defendant in not putting up sufficient cattle-guards as required by this section, this was an improper joinder of causes of action, the first being for injury to property, a tort, while the second arose "upon contract" for the breach of an implied contract to perform a statutory duty. Hodges v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 105 N. C. 170, 10 S. E. 917 (1890).

§ 60-49. Change of route of railroad.—The directors of any railroad corporation may by a vote of two-thirds of their whole number at any time alter or change the route, or any part of the route, of their road, if it shall appear to them that the line can be improved thereby, and they shall have the same right and power to acquire title to any lands required for the purposes of the company in such altered or changed route, as if the road had been located there in the first instance; but no such alteration shall be made in any city or town after the road shall have been constructed, unless the same is sanctioned by a vote of two-thirds of the corporate authorities of such city or town. In case of any alteration made in the route of any railroad after the company has commenced grading, compensation shall be made to all persons for injury so done to any lands that may have been donated to the company. When any route or line is abandoned in the exercise of the power herein granted, full compensation shall be made by the company for all money, labor, bonds or material contributed to the construction of the roadbed or its superstructure by those so interested by their contributions in the abandoned route or line. All the provisions of this chapter relative to the first location and to acquiring title to land shall apply to every such new or altered portion of the route. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 25; Code, s. 1953; 1889, c. 391; 1893, c. 396, s. 3; Rev., s. 2573; C. S., s. 3455.)

Cross Reference.—As to duty of Utilities Commission to require railroads to enter towns, see § 62-52.

Authority Necessary to Change Route.—While a railroad company has no power to change its route without legislative authority, it is not necessary that this power should be given in the charter or a direct amendment thereto, but it may be given by charter or by special enactment or by the general railroad laws of the State. Dewey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 142 N. C. 392, 55 S. E. 292 (1906).

Original Rights May Be Retained.—Variations in a route over which a railroad may run do not affect the identity of a corporate body that builds it, where subsequent acts are amendatory of the original charter and give permission for a deflection from the line first projected; and the right to exemption of property from tax granted in the original charter is retained unimpaired. Cheraw, etc., R. Co. v. Commissioners, 88 N. C. 519 (1883).

When Commission Orders Change.—This section requiring that a contemplated change in the route of a railroad in a city can only be made when sanctioned by a two-thirds vote of the aldermen, only applies where the railroad of its own volition, and for its own convenience, contemplates a change of route, and not to a case where the Corporation Commission (now Utilities Commission), acting under express legislative authority and direction, requires the railroad to make the change for the convenience of the general public. Dewey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 142 N. C. 392, 55 S. E. 292 (1906).

Right to Change Grade.—A railroad company has a right to change the grade of its roadbed or to remove it to any point on its right of way. Brinkley v. Southern R. Co., 135 N. C. 654, 47 S. E. 791 (1904).

Cited in North Carolina, etc., R. Co. v. Central, etc., R. Co., 83 N. C. 489 (1880).

§ 60-50. Forfeiture for failure to begin or complete railroad.—If any railroad corporation shall not within three years after its articles of association are filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, or the passage of its charter, begin the construction of its road and expend thereon ten per cent of the amount of its capital, or shall not finish the road and put it in operation in ten years from the time of filing its articles of association or passage of its charter as aforesaid, its corporate existence and powers shall cease. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 43; Code, s. 1980; Rev., s. 2564; Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 142; C. S., s. 3456.)

State Must Institute Forfeiture Proceedings.—The State alone, acting through the Attorney General, may institute a proceeding against a railroad company to forfeit its charter under the provisions of this section for failure to begin construction of the railroad and complete the same within the two separate periods therein prescribed. Brummitt v. Snow Hill Ry. Co., 197 N. C. 381, 148 S. E. 444 (1929).

The failure of a railroad company to organize under an act of incorporation within the time prescribed, does not prevent a valid organization thereafter, unless forfeiture has been declared in proceedings instituted by the State. Railroad v. Olive, 142 N. C. 257, 55 S. E. 263 (1906).

Waiver of Forfeiture.—If the legislature knowing the ground of forfeiture deals with the corporation as if it were lawfully existing it thereby waives its right of forfeiture. Attorney General v. Petersburg, etc., R. Co., 28 N. C. 456 (1846).

Where a railroad company has not commenced the construction of its road within three years after its charter has been granted as required by this section, and thereafter by statute the legislature declares that certain bonds issued by a township to aid in the construction of the railroad shall be valid, and the county has acted in recognition of the existence of the corporation, the State by its acquiescence in the delay and by its recognizing the railroad company as an existing corporation has waived its right to insist on a forfeiture. Brummitt v. Snow Hill Ry. Co., 197 N. C. 381, 148 S. E. 444 (1929).

Existence of Corporation Cannot Be Attacked in Condemnation Proceedings.—The existence of a railroad corporation cannot be attacked or questioned in an action brought by it to condemn land for its purposes. Wellington, etc., R. Co. v. Cashie, etc., R. Co., 114 N. C. 690, 19 S. E. 646 (1894).

Forfeiture for Failure to Comply with either of Time Limits.—Construing this section as to the forfeiture of the charter of a railroad company when construction of the proposed road is not commenced within three years or completed and put into operation within ten years after its charter has been granted, to make the two provisions consistent it is held that they are not alternative, and upon the failure of a railroad to comply with either one of the provisions, the suit of the Attorney General will be maintained in the absence of acts or conduct upon the part of the sovereign that amount to a waiver of the default. Brummitt v. Snow Hill Ry. Co., 197 N. C. 381, 148 S. E. 444 (1929).

§ 60-51. Secretary of State may extend time to begin railroad in certain cases.—In all cases where railroad companies have been chartered by the act of the General Assembly or the charter of any railroad company has been amended by act of the General Assembly, during or subsequent to the session of one thousand nine hundred and eleven, but where construction work has not begun in accordance with the provisions of § 60-50 or having been begun such construction work has not been completed, the Secretary of State may, in the exercise of his sound discretion, upon application of any such railroad company and the payment to the State of the same fees as provided in § 55-158, extend from time to time for periods of two years the time within which to begin or renew construction work as required by § 60-50; and the fact of extending the time by the Secretary of State, as herein provided, shall, for the period of such extension, fully and to all intents and purposes, renew corporate existence and corporate powers as fully as the same are conferred in the original charter. (1919, c. 19; C. S., s. 3457; 1921, c. 184; 1923, c. 245.)

Editor's Note.—The 1921 amendment changed this section so as to include railroads whose charters had been amended since 1911, and inserted the provision regarding construction work begun but not completed. The 1923 amendment made the granting of any extension of time for beginning, renewing or completing work on railroads within the State discretionary with the Secretary of State.

This section refers to former § 55-158 as it stood prior to the 1955 revision. For present section as to fees, see § 55-155.

§ 60-52. Forfeiture for preferences to shippers.—In the event of any contract having been entered into by any railroad company in this State with any person or company, whereby preferences or exclusive rights of transportation, either in priority or in arrangements, are given to such person or company, the Attorney General is hereby instructed to institute proceedings against such railroad company for a forfeiture of its charter. (1865-6, resolution ratified December 14, 1865; Code, s. 1969; Rev., s. 2563; C. S., s. 3458.)

Applied in Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. West Paving Co., 228 N. C. 94, 44 S. E. (2d) 523 (1947).

§ 60-53. Obtaining temporary track across railroad.—Wherever any railroad line track and right of way shall lie between any body of merchantable timber or quarry or other kind or class of heavy property requiring machinery for transportation and any body of navigable water over which such property could be floated or shipped, and the owner of such timber or property shall desire to transport such property to water for purposes of floating or shipping, such property owner shall have the right to file petition before the Utilities Commission for a right to cross such railroad with any other railroad track or tramway. The procedure for the hearing of the petition shall be same as other proceedings of the Commission. The Commission shall hear the facts and if it be found reasonably necessary that the railroad track and right of way shall be crossed by a temporary railroad track the Commission shall so order and prescribe the payment of the expense and the cost. (1931, c. 448; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 60-54. Shelter at railroad division points required; failure to provide, a misdemeanor.—It shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation that may now or hereafter own, control, or operate any line of railroad in the State of North Carolina, to erect and maintain at every division point where cars are regularly taken out of trains for repairs or construction work, or where other railroad equipment is regularly made, repaired, or constructed, a building or shed with a suitable and sufficient roof over the repair and construction track or tracks so as to provide that all men or employees permanently employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, or other railroad equipment of whatever description shall be under shelter and protected during snows, rains, sleet, hot sunshine, and other inclement weather: Provided, the Utilities Commission shall have the power to direct the points at which sheds shall be erected, and the character of the sheds: Provided further, that such order shall only be made after a hearing of which public notice shall have been given.

Any person, firm, or corporation failing to comply with the requirements of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each offense shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. Each day of such failure shall constitute a separate offense. (1913, cc. 65, 117; C. S., s. 6557; 1933, c. 134; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 60-55. Railroad employees to be paid twice a month.—All persons, firms, companies, corporations, or associations owning, leasing, or operating any railroad or railroads, wholly or partially within this State, shall pay and settle with their employees engaged or employed in shops, roundhouses, or repair shops within this State at least twice in each month, which settlements shall not be less than two weeks nor more than three weeks apart, and shall, in such settlements, pay such employees the full amounts due them for their work and services up to the date of the preceding settlement, and such payment shall be made in lawful money of the United States, or by check or cash order redeemable by the maker thereof for its face value in lawful money of the United States upon demand of or presentation by the lawful holder thereof: Provided, this section shall not apply to repair shops where less than ten employees are engaged. (1915, c. 92; C. S., s. 6558.)

Hours of Service for Employees of Carriers.

§ 60-56. Maximum continuous service.—It shall be unlawful for any common carrier, its officers or agents, subject to this article, to require or permit any employee, subject to this article, to be or remain on duty for a longer period than sixteen consecutive hours, and whenever any such employee of such common carrier shall have been continuously on duty for sixteen hours he shall be relieved and not required or permitted again to go on duty until he has had at least ten consecutive hours off duty; and no such employee who has been on duty sixteen hours in the aggregate in any twenty-four-hour period shall be required or permitted to continue or again go on duty without having had at least eight consecutive hours off duty: Provided, that no operator, train dispatcher, or other employee who by the use of the telegraph or telephone dispatches, reports, transmits, receives, or delivers orders pertaining to or affecting train movements shall be required or permitted to be or remain on duty for a period longer than nine hours in any twenty-four-hour period in all towers, offices, places, and stations continuously operated night and day, nor for a longer period than thirteen hours in all towers, offices, places, and stations operated only during the daytime, except in case of emergency, when the employees named in this proviso may be permitted to be and remain on duty for four additional hours in a twenty-four-hour period on not exceeding three days in any week: Provided further, the Utilities Commission may, after a full hearing in a particular case and for good cause shown, extend the period within which a common carrier shall comply with the provisions of this proviso as to such case. (1911, c. 112, s. 2; C. S., s. 6565; 1933, c. 134; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 60-57. Penalty for violation.—Any such common carrier, or any officer or agent thereof, requiring or permitting any employee to go, be or remain on duty in violation of § 60-56 shall be liable to a penalty of not to exceed five hundred dollars for each and every violation, to be recovered in suit or suits to be brought in the name of the State of North Carolina on relation of the Utilities Commission in the Superior Court of Wake County or of the county in which the violation of this article occurred; and it shall be the duty of the said Utilities Commission to bring such suits upon satisfactory information lodged with it; but no such suit shall be brought after the expiration of one year from date of such violation; and it shall be the duty of said Utilities Commission to lodge with the proper solicitors information of any such violations as may come to its knowledge. In all prosecutions under this article the common carrier shall be deemed to have had knowledge of all acts of all its officers and agents: Provided, that the provisions of this article shall not apply to any case of casualty or unavoidable accident or the act of God; nor where the delay was the result of a cause not known to the carrier or its officer or agent in charge of such employee at the time the said employee left a terminal, and which could not have been foreseen: Provided further, that the provisions of this article shall not apply to the crews of wrecking or relief trains: Provided further, this article shall not be construed to impose a penalty upon any common carrier for any act done in violation of the act of Congress, ratified March the fourth, one thousand nine hundred and seven, and entitled "An act to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by limiting the hours of service of employees thereon," or any acts amendatory thereof. (1911, c. 112, s. 3; C. S., s. 6566.)

§ 60-58. Utilities Commission to enforce article.—It shall be the duty of the Utilities Commission to execute and enforce the provisions of this article, and all powers granted to the Utilities Commission are extended to it in the execution thereof. (1911, c. 112, s. 4; C. S., s. 6567; 1933, c. 134, ss. 7, 8; 1941, c. 97.)

ARTICLE 7.

Lease, Sale, and Reorganization.

§ 60-59. Lessee of noncompeting railroad may acquire its stock; merger of lessor.—Any railroad corporation or its successors, being the lessee of the road of any other noncompeting railroad corporation, may take a surrender or transfer of the capital stock of the stockholders, or any of them, in the corporation whose road is held under lease, and issue in exchange therefor the like additional amount of its own capital stock at par, or on such other terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the two corporations; and whenever the greater part of the capital stock of any such corporation shall have been so surrendered or transferred, the directors of the corporation taking such surrender or transfer shall thereafter, on a resolution electing so to do, to be entered on their minutes, become ex officio the directors of the corporation whose road is so held under lease, and shall manage and conduct the affairs thereof as provided by law; and whenever the whole of such capital stock shall have been so surrendered or transferred, and a certificate thereof filed in the office of the Secretary of State under the common seal of the corporation to whom such surrender or transfer shall have been made, the estate, property, rights, privileges and franchises of the corporation whose stock shall have been so surrendered or transferred shall thereupon vest in and be held and enjoyed by the corporation to whom such surrender or transfer shall have been made, and as fully and entirely, without charge or diminution, as the same were before held and enjoyed, and be managed and controlled by the board of directors of the corporation to whom the surrender or transfer of such stock shall have been made in the corporate name of such corporation. But the property, rights, franchises and profits of every corporation so surrendered, transferred or leased shall hereafter always be liable to taxation, and shall never be exempt therefrom. The rights of any stockholder not so surrendering or transferring his stock shall not be in any way affected thereby, nor shall existing liabilities or the rights of creditors of the corporation where stock shall have been so surrendered or transferred be in any way affected or impaired by this section. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 57; Code, s. 1994; Rev., s. 2574; Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 119, s. 2; C. S., s. 3459.)

Cross References.—As to conditional sales or leases of railroad property, see § 47-24. As to taxation of leased railroad, see § 105-367.

Where a new corporation is formed out of two existing corporations, these latter ceasing thereafter to exist, the law forming the new corporation governs and controls its corporate functions and rights. Cheraw & Salisbury R. Co. v. Commissioners, 88 N. C. 519 (1883).

An act authorizing the consolidation of certain railroad corporations upon a vote of a majority of the stockholders, and allowing a stockholder actual value for his stock in lieu of taking stock in the consolidated company, is valid. Spencer v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 137 N. C. 107, 49 S. E. 96 (1904).

§ 60-60. Lease or merger of competing carrier declared a misdemeanor.—No railroad or other transportation company or its officers, now or hereafter doing business in this State, shall purchase, lease, absorb, take over, buy stock in, merge with or in any way secure an interest in a competing line of railroad or other transportation company, nor shall any railroad or other transportation company or its officers enter into any contract, agreement or understanding with a competing line of railroad or other transportation company calculated to defeat or which may defeat or lessen competition in this State. All such contracts, purchases or sales shall be void. Any violation of this section shall make the corporation or person so offending guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction

tion the offender shall be fined in the discretion of the court. This section shall not prevent railroads independently owned and operated in this State, and not exceeding one hundred miles in length, from selling their roads and property. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 119, ss. 2, 3; C. S., s. 3460.)

The State encourages competition among common carriers, as a matter of public policy, so that the public may have the resulting benefits. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

§ 60-61. Acquisition of interest in or lease of noncompeting branch or connecting lines.—Any railroad or other transportation company may acquire and hold or guarantee, or endorse the bonds or stocks of, or may lease any railroad or branch railroad, or other transportation line in this or adjoining state connecting with it directly or indirectly. But no railroad or other transportation company or its officers shall acquire, hold or guarantee the bonds or stock of, or lease or be leased to, or purchase or buy or consolidate with or be merged into, any parallel or competing railroad or other transportation company, nor shall any railroad or other transportation company or its officers sell any of its stock or bonds to any holding or voting company or its officers, whereby such consolidation or merger may be effected, and any such purchase, contract, merger or sale shall be void. This provision shall not prevent railroads independently owned and operated in this State, and not exceeding one hundred miles in length, from selling their roads and property. (1885, c. 108, s. 2; Rev., s. 2567, subsec. 13; 1908, c. 119, ss. 1, 3; C. S., s. 3461.)

Lease Beyond Time Granted for Corporate Existence.—Where the term of a lease of property of a railroad company extends beyond the time fixed by its charter for the corporate existence of the lessor, such a lease is valid for the period of the corporate life of the lessor, and will extend beyond that period if the charter is renewed, and the lessor's corporate existence is thereby extended, and by this process it may endure for the full term. Hill v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 143 N. C. 539, 55 S. E. 854 (1906).

Lessor Responsible for Torts.—The lessor of a railroad is responsible for the torts committed by the lessee in the operation of the leased road, and in the exercise of its franchise. Mitchell v. Southern R.

Co., 176 N. C. 645, 97 S. E. 628 (1918); Hill v. Director-General, 178 N. C. 607, 101 S. E. 376 (1919).

Same—Granting New Trial to Lessee Railroad.—When the lessor railroad company is sued jointly with its lessee company for damages caused by the alleged negligence of the lessee, and after the verdict the lessor moves for judgment upon the verdict, but makes no motion for a new trial, while the lessee company moves for a new trial, and both motions are refused and both defendants appeal from the judgment rendered against them, the granting a new trial to the lessee vacates the judgment as to both defendants. Tillett v. Lynchburg, etc., R. Co., 115 N. C. 662, 20 S. E. 480 (1894).

§ 60-62. Purchaser at mortgage or execution sale of railroads may incorporate.—Whenever the purchaser of the real estate, track and fixtures of any railroad corporation which has heretofore been sold, or may hereafter be sold, by virtue of any mortgage executed by such corporation or execution issued upon any judgment or decree of any court, shall acquire title to the same in the manner prescribed by law, such purchaser may associate with him any number of persons, and make and acknowledge and file articles of association as prescribed in this chapter. Such purchaser and his associates shall thereupon be a new corporation, with all the powers, privileges and franchises and subject to all of the provisions of this chapter. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 5; Code, s. 1936; Rev., s. 2552; C. S., s. 3462.)

Cross Reference.—As to contents of articles of association, prerequisites for filing, etc., see § 60-9 et seq.

Railroad May Be Sold.—A railroad is the subject of private property, and in that character is liable to be sold, unless the sale be forbidden by the legislature; not the franchise, but the land itself constituting the road. State v. Rives, 27 N. C. 297 (1844).

Corporation Not Dissolved by Sale.—A railroad corporation is not dissolved by the sale of its road. State v. Rives, 27 N. C. 297 (1844).

Purchaser Takes Rights of Old Company.—On the foreclosure of a mortgage given by a railroad company, the purchaser takes the rights that the company had acquired in relation to its right of way under its charter. Barker v. Southern R. Co., 137 N. C. 214, 49 S. E. 115 (1904).

Cited in Saluda v. Polk County, 207 N. C. 180, 176 S. E. 298 (1934).

§ 60-63. On dissolution or sale of railroads purchaser becomes a corporation.—When any railroad corporation shall be dissolved, or its property sold and conveyed under any execution, deed of trust, mortgage or other conveyance, the owner or purchaser shall constitute a new corporation upon compliance with law. (Code, s. 2005; Rev., s. 2565; C. S., s. 3463.)

Purpose of Section—Property Associated with Franchises.—The legislative purpose, as clearly manifested in this section, is that the property of railroads must be kept in association with their franchises, to preserve value, to give credit to such corporations, to secure creditors, and keep railroads in operation for the benefit of the public, which was the primary object of the legislature in bestowing such corporate franchises. Bradley v. Ohio R., etc., Ry. Co., 78 F. 387 (1896); 119 N. C., Appx., 918 (1897).

When Sale Effects Dissolution.—In order that the sale of the franchise and property of a railroad corporation under mortgage shall have the effect of a dissolution of such corporation, another corporation must be provided to take its place and assume and discharge the obligations to the public growing out of the grant of the franchise, and until that is done the old corporation continues to exist, and when it is done the new corporation will be a domestic corporation. James v. Western North Carolina R. Co., 121 N. C. 523, 28 S. E. 537 (1897).

Corporate Existence Not Extinguished by Sale under Second Mortgage.—The sale of a railroad under a second mortgage and a conveyance thereunder, subject to the first mortgage upon its franchise and corporate property, did not extinguish the corporate existence of the company nor release it from liability to the public for the manner in which it is operated. James v. Western North Carolina R. Co., 121 N. C. 523, 28 S. E. 537 (1897).

Same—Rights of Purchaser—Liability of Old Corporation for Damages.—The effect of the sale of a railroad company's franchises and property under a second mortgage, subject to a first mortgage which was assumed by the purchaser, is to place the purchaser in the place of the mortgagor in its relation to the trustee of the first mortgage, with the right to run and operate the road as agent of the mortgagor, but the old corporation was not extinguished, but is still in existence and liable for damages caused by the maladministration of its agent which liability can be enforced against the property which it allows the purchaser to use. James v. Western North Carolina R. Co., 121 N. C. 523, 28 S. E. 537 (1897).

Liability of Railroads for Injuries to Employees.

§ 60-64. Common carrier defined; employee defined.—The term "common carrier" as used in this article, shall include the receiver or receivers, or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management of the business of a common carrier. The term "employee" or "servant" as used in this article shall include any person carried on the payroll of such railroad company and required to be on its property regardless whether such person is receiving compensation at the time or not. (1913, c. 6, s. 5; C. S., s. 3464; 1947, c. 916.)

Editor's Note.—The 1947 amendment added the definition of "employee" or "servant."

This article, regulating the liability of railroads for injuries to employees, was enacted prior to the adoption of the Workmen's Compensation Act, §§ 97-1 to 97-122. Section 97-13 expressly provides that the Workmen's Compensation Act is not applicable to railroads or railroad employees and that this article is not repealed. According to that section, however, the exemption as to railroads does not apply to electric street railroads and their employees.

§ 60-65. Fellow-servant rule abrogated; defective machinery.—Any servant or employee of any railroad company operating in this State who shall suffer injury to his person, or the personal representative of any such servant or employee who shall have suffered death in the course of his services or employment with such company, by the negligence, carelessness or incompetence of any other servant, employee or agent of the company, or by any defect in the machinery, ways or appliances of the company, shall be entitled to maintain an action against such company. Any contract or agreement, expressed or implied, made by any employee of such company to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void. (1897 (Pr.), c. 56; Rev., s. 2646; 1915, c. 256; C. S., s. 3465.)

I. EDITOR'S NOTE.

In Hobbs v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 107 N. C. 1, 12 S. E. 124 (1890), it was held that a railroad company was not liable for injury to its servants, resulting from the negligence of a fellow servant. In that case the attention of the legislature was called to the fact that many of the states had by legislative enactment abrogated the fellow-servant rule in so far as it applied to railroad employees. In 1897 such a statute was passed, and its constitutionality was sustained in Hancock v. Norfolk, etc., Railway, 124 N. C. 222, 32 S. E. 679 (1899).

In Mott v. Southern R. Co., 131 N. C. 234, 237, 42 S. E. 601 (1902), it was sought to curtail and restrict this section so that it should apply only to employees engaged in operating trains, but the court held the contrary and said: "The language of the statute is both comprehensive and explicit. It embraces injuries sustained by 'any servant or employee of any railway company . . . in the course of his services or employment with said company.' The plaintiff was an employee and was injured in the course of his employment."

However, to come within the provisions of this section a railroad must be "operating" and not "under construction." See Nicholson v. Railroad, 138 N. C. 516, 51 S. E. 40 (1905); Bailey v. Meadows Co., 152 N. C. 603, 68 S. E. 11 (1910).

Section 60-66 was passed after Congress had passed a similar statute applicable to employees engaged in interstate commerce. It is not as broad as this section, for it applies only to common carriers by railroad. See Editor's Note under that section. See also § 60-70 and note.

The act applies only to employees who are engaged in duties connected with or incidental to the operation of railroads, logging roads or tramroads. Gurganous v. Camp Mfg. Co., 204 N. C. 525, 168 S. E. 833 (1933).

Cited in Stewart v. Blackwood Lumber Co., 193 N. C. 138, 136 S. E. 385 (1927); Stamey v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 197 N. C. 391, 148 S. E. 436 (1929); Hawkins v. Rowland Lumber Co., 198 N. C. 475, 152 S. E. 169 (1930).

II. FELLOW-SERVANT RULE.

Abrogation of Fellow-Servant Rule.

This section is an unconditional abrogation of the kindred doctrines of fellow servant and assumption of risk as applied to railroad companies. Coley v. North Carolina R. Co., 129 N. C. 407, 40 S. E. 195 (1901).

The law relating to the doctrine of fellow servants has been abrogated in regard to its application to those employed by railroad companies operating in this State. Robinson v. Ivey & Co., 193 N. C. 805, 138 S. E. 173 (1927).

Section Applies to Any Department of Railroad.—The provisions of this section apply to an injury negligently inflicted by a fellow servant in any department of a railroad being operated. Buckner v. Madison County R. Co., 164 N. C. 201, 80 S. E. 225 (1913).

Street Railways.—This section applies to street railways. Hemphill v. Buck Creek Lumber Co., 141 N. C. 487, 54 S. E. 420 (1906); Brookshire v. Asheville Elect. Co., 152 N. C. 669, 68 S. E. 215 (1910). But see § 97-13 and Editor's Note to § 60-64.

Applicable to Logging Roads.—This section has been held to apply to logging roads. Moore v. Rawls, 196 N. C. 125, 144 S. E. 552 (1928). See § 60-70.

Applies to Manufacturing Company Operating Spur Track.—This section applies to a manufacturing corporation which owns and operates a spur track on its grounds as incidental to its main business, with respect to servants employed in such service. Hairston v. United States Leather Co., 143 N. C. 512, 55 S. E. 847 (1906); United States Leather Co. v. Howell, 151 F. 444 (1907).

Does Not Apply to Railroad under Construction.—This section does not apply to an employee engaged in building a trestle for the extension of a railroad, at a point some miles from the track on which trains are being operated. Nicholson v. Railroad, 138 N. C. 516, 51 S. E. 40 (1905); Bailey v. Meadows Co., 152 N. C. 603, 68 S. E. 11 (1910).

Kind of Employment.—The provisions of this section do not require that the servant, at the time of the injury, should be engaged in the running or operation of a train, but apply to any other kind of service, whether more or less dangerous. Mincey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 161 N. C. 467, 77 S. E. 673 (1913).

Applies to All Employees.—This section operates on all employees of the company, whether in superior, equal, or subordinate positions. Fitzgerald v. Southern R. Co., 141 N. C. 530, 54 S. E. 391 (1906); Bloxham v. Stave, etc., Corp., 172 N. C. 37, 89 S. E. 1013 (1916).

Section Read into Contract.—Where a contract of service with the defendant railroad was made in this State, the provisions of this section must be read into the contract, and there being no evidence that the service was to be performed altogether in another state, it would seem that the relative rights and liabilities of the parties are fixed by the terms of the contract. Miller v. Railroad, 141 N. C. 45, 53 S. E. 726 (1906).

Injury When Duty Delegated to Another.—Where a railroad company delegated its duty of loading a car to a lumber company making a shipment, it is liable for any injury to its own employee caused by negligence of the employees of the lumber company in loading the car. Britt v. Carolina, etc., R. Co., 144 N. C. 242, 56 S. E. 910 (1907).

Injury in Loading Logs.—Where a tram railroad was engaged in loading logs and a fellow servant of the plaintiff, acting in the scope of his employment in loading the logs, negligently caused one of the logs to drop upon the plaintiff and injure him, the employer was liable in damages for the negligent injury proximately caused. Lilley v. Interstate Co-opera Co., 194 N. C. 250, 139 S. E. 369 (1927).

Injury by Falling Tree.—This section applies where an employee was injured by a tree falling upon him as he was riding on the car of defendant's logging road in the performance of his duties, a change of wind having deflected the tree from its expected course, so that it struck the tops of smaller trees and thence fell upon the plaintiff, for the engineer should reasonably have seen the danger in time to have stopped the train and avoided the injury, after the course of the falling tree had been unexpectedly deflected. Bloxham v. Stave, etc., Corp., 172 N. C. 37, 89 S. E. 1013 (1916).

Defective Ladder.—Where two employees of a railroad company were instructed to do certain work requiring the use of a ladder, and a discarded ladder, which proved defective, was selected from several supplied by the company, the others being sound, and one of the employees sustained a fall because of the defect and sued for damages therefor, this section applied. Mincey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 161 N. C. 467, 77 S. E. 673 (1913).

Flagman at Crossing.—Where the plaintiff was employed by a railroad to warn pedestrians of approaching trains at a public crossing and to signal the engineer, and the plaintiff was injured by the defendant's negligence when he had crossed the platform on a train and was on the lowest step of the car for the performance of his duty on the other side, the evidence was sufficient upon the question of employment to sustain a verdict in plaintiff's favor. West v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 174 N. C. 125, 93 S. E. 479 (1917).

Engineer Injured by Assistant's Negligence.—It is the duty of a railroad company to furnish its engineer a competent person to assist him in fixing his locomotive, when such assistance is necessary from the character of the work being done; and the company is liable in damages when the assistant fails to exercise ordinary care to prevent an injury, such failure being the proximate cause of the injury. Horton v. Seaboard Air Line Railway, 145 N. C. 132, 58 S. E. 993 (1907).

Employee Negligently Shot by Fellow Servant.—Where a baggage agent of a railroad company, in the course of his employment in getting some baggage checks from a drawer to a desk in the baggage room, removed a pistol which he knew to be loaded, took it in his hand, and in a careless manner opened another drawer to the desk, and in doing so caused the pistol to fire, and killed his assistant, his negligent acts were attributable to the company employing him. Moore v. Southern R. Co., 165 N. C. 439, 81 S. E. 603 (1914).

Accident in Doing Work of a Simple Nature.—The plaintiff was employed by a railroad to replace the cross-ties under the rails of the road. While a tie was being depressed into position by his fellow servant his hand was caught between the end of the tie and the rail and injured. The plaintiff had no explanation to make of the occurrence, except "he had his hand on the tie to bear it down, and it went over and the end flew up and caught his hand." It was held that the injury was the result of an accident in doing work of a simple nature, and a recovery should have been denied as a matter of law. Lloyd v. Southern R. Co., 168 N. C. 646, 85 S. E. 10 (1915).

III. ASSUMPTION OF RISK.

Editor's Note.—After the passage of a similar federal statute applying to employees engaged in interstate commerce the North Carolina legislature enacted § 60-68. It is not as broad as this section for it applies only to common carriers.

General Consideration.—The doctrine of assumption of risk is that an employee assumes the risk of accidents and injuries incident to the business properly operated. He does not assume the risk caused by the negligence of the company, in not furnishing proper appliances or in any other respect. Horton v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 175 N. C. 472, 95 S. E. 883 (1918).

The employee assumes no risk in the proper use of defective appliances after notifying the employer, who promises to remedy the defect; but the employee must use the appliances with proper regard to their known condition, and, failing in this, he would be guilty of contributory negligence, which would bar his recovery. Britt v. Carolina, etc., R. Co., 144 N. C. 242, 56 S. E. 910 (1907).

It is not the mere working in the presence of an obvious defect in an appliance furnished by the master that will constitute contributory negligence on the part of the servant; and assurances on the part of the former that needed repairs will be made will frequently relieve the latter of this charge, which might otherwise bar his recovery of damages for an injury thereby sustained by him. Bissell v. Greenleaf-Johnson Lumber Co., 152 N. C. 123, 67 S. E. 259 (1910).

Defense of Assumption of Risk Eliminated.—In an action for negligence against a railroad company operating in this State, the defense of working on in the presence of a defective appliance or machine, usually dealt with under the head of assumption of risk, has been eliminated by this section; but if, apart from the element of assumption of risk, the plaintiff in his own conduct has been careless in a manner which amounts to contributory negligence, his action fails, except in extraordinary cases. Biles v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 143 N. C. 78, 55 S. E. 512 (1906). But see § 60-67.

Under the construction of this section the defense of assumption of risk is not available. Moore v. Rawls, 195 N. C. 125, 144 S. E. 552 (1928). See Coley v. North Carolina R. Co., 129 N. C. 407, 40 S. E. 195 (1901).

Duty of Employer to Furnish Safe Tools.—It is the master's duty to furnish the servant such tools as are reasonably safe and suitable for the work in which he is engaged, and in general use. Bissell v. Greenleaf-Johnson Lumber Co., 152 N. C. 123, 67 S. E. 259 (1910); Eplee v. Southern R. Co., 155 N. C. 293, 71 S. E. 325 (1911). If he fails to do so he exposes the servant to extraordinary risks. Moore v. Railroad, 141 N. C. 111, 53 S. E. 745.

Acquiescence in Use of Inappropriate Appliance.—The master's acquiescence in the use of an appliance for some purpose other than that for which it was intended puts him in the same position as if the appliance had been originally furnished for that purpose. Wallace v. Railroad, 141 N. C. 646, 54 S. E. 399 (1906).

Obviously Defective Machinery.—The use of machinery obviously defective will not prevent a person from a recovery for an injury resulting therefrom, unless the apparent danger is so great that its assumption would amount to a reckless indifference to probable consequences. Coley v. North Carolina R. Co., 129 N. C. 407, 40 S. E. 195 (1901).

When Plaintiff Causes Own Injury.—When under instructions from his superior officer the plaintiff, in repairing a piece of machinery, with knowledge of its defects, negligently caused an injury to himself in such manner as it was his duty in repairing to prevent, he cannot recover, and this section has no application. Mathis v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 144 N. C. 162, 56 S. E. 864 (1907).

Liability Not Affected by Act of Shipper.—The duty of the railroad company to have a crosspiece used to keep steady lumber on flat cars secured in a reasonably safe manner for the use to which its servants customarily put it is not affected by the fact that the shipper puts it on in loading the car. Wallace v. Railroad, 141 N. C. 646, 54 S. E. 399 (1906).

Failure to Equip Car with Automatic Couplers.—Where the jury found that the plaintiff was injured by the negligence of the defendant in failing to have its cars equipped with automatic couplers, the only defense open to the defendant, in the absence of any evidence of recklessness, was whether plaintiff was injured in the course of his service and employment. Hairston v. United States Leather Co., 143 N. C. 512, 55 S. E. 847 (1906).

Defective Coupler.—In an action for an injury alleged to have been sustained from a defective coupler, the use of a defective coupler was a violation of a positive duty, and, in connection with an express order of the superintendent to make the coupling, was continuing negligence, and the causa causans of the injury. Liles v. Fosburg Lumber Co., 142 N. C. 39, 54 S. E. 795 (1906); Sears v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 169 N. C. 446, 86 S. E. 176 (1915).

Engine without Handhold Along Pilot Beam.—Where the plaintiff's evidence showed that he was at the time of the injury at the usual position provided for the purpose on the pilot of the engine by order of his superiors and in the necessary performance of his duties, and that he was thrown and injured because the engine did not have the usual handhold along the pilot beam, and that he did not know the handhold was lacking when he got on, and was guilty of no carelessness, his right of action was established. Biles v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 143 N. C. 78, 55 S. E. 512 (1906).

Exposed Screw on Power Drill.—A power drill furnished by a master to a servant for boring holes in iron plates, having an exposed set-screw thereon dangerous in operating the drill and which is usually covered or countersunk, is not a proper tool for the purpose, and the master is liable in damages proximately caused by the defect. Eplee v. Southern R. Co., 155 N. C. 293, 71 S. E. 325 (1911).

Improper Ladder.—Where it was the custom of a railroad company to furnish ladders to its painters, and the plaintiff, a painter, had not been furnished with a proper ladder, but with an ordinary ladder that extended beyond the steep roof of the building upon which he was at work, and the ladder fell over and struck the plaintiff, causing him to fall, and the injury would not have occurred if a proper ladder or appliance had been furnished, the evidence was sufficient to take the case to the jury upon the issue of the company's actionable negligence. Jones v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 194 N. C. 227, 139 S. E. 242 (1927).

Defective Handcar.—Where plaintiff was injured in consequence of using a defective handcar, which he had theretofore repeatedly reported to his employer as defective, and for which a replacement had been promised, the employer was liable. Boney v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 145 N. C. 248, 58 S. E. 1082 (1907).

Evidence.—Direct evidence of negligence is not required, but the same may be inferred from acts and attendant circumstances, and if the facts proved establish the more reasonable probability that the defendant has been guilty of actionable negligence, the case cannot be withdrawn from the jury, though the possibility of accident may arise on the evidence. Fitzgerald v. Southern R. Co., 141 N. C. 530, 54 S. E. 391 (1906).

Question for Jury.—Where the employee of a railroad company, in intrastate commerce, was ruptured while handling heavy baggage at the station by the unaided use of his personal strength, when the company had promised to furnish him a truck proper for the service, the use of which would have avoided the injury, it is for the jury to determine whether the defendant was negligent in failing to supply the truck, or whether the plaintiff assumed the risk in attempting to lift the trunk. Hines v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 185 N. C. 72, 116 S. E. 175 (1923). See also, Horton v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 175 N. C. 472, 95 S. E. 883 (1918); Wallace v. Tallahassee Power Co., 176 N. C. 558, 97 S. E. 611 (1918).

§ 60-66. Injuries through fellow servants or defective appliances.—Every common carrier by railroad shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier, or in the case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engine, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment. (1913, c. 6, s. 1; C. S., s. 3466.)

Cross References.—See § 60-65 and note. As to action for death by wrongful act generally, see § 28-173. As to venue of an action against a railroad, see § 1-81.

Editor's Note.—This section applies only to employees engaged exclusively in intrastate commerce. There is a federal statute similar in its provisions which applies to employees engaged in interstate commerce. See 45 U. S. C. § 51. Rights accruing under the latter statute may be enforced in the state courts as well as the federal courts.

There is a distinction between the State and federal statute as to the basis of the damages assessed. Under the State statute the damages are based upon the present worth of the net pecuniary value of the life of the deceased. Ward v. North Carolina R. Co., 161 N. C. 179, 176 S. E. 717 (1912). Under the United States statute the damages are based upon the pecuniary loss sustained by the beneficiary. North Carolina R. Co. v. Zachary, 232 U. S. 248, 34 S. Ct. 305, 58 L. Ed. 591 (1914).

There is also a distinction as to the beneficiary. Under the State statute the jury assesses the value of the life of the decedent in solido, which is disbursed under the statute of distributions. Under the United States statute, the jury must find as to each plaintiff what pecuniary benefit each plaintiff had reason to expect from the continued life of the deceased, and the recovery must be limited to compensation of those relatives in the proper class who are shown to have sustained such pecuniary loss. The personal representatives sue for the benefit of the next of kin. See Horton v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 175 N. C. 472, 95 S. E. 883 (1918).

Under § 28-173 none of the amount recovered in action for death by wrongful act belongs to the estate of the deceased and none of it is liable for the payment of his debts.

The difference between § 60-65 and this section is very marked. The former applies to all railroads, while this section applies only to a common carrier by railroad. See Williams v. Kinston Mfg. Co., 175 N. C. 226, 95 S. E. 366 (1918). But see § 60-70 and note.

"Common Carrier" Defined.—A common carrier is one who, by virtue of his calling, undertakes for compensation to transfer personal property from one place to another for all persons who choose to employ him. Williams v. Kinston Mfg. Co., 175 N. C. 226, 95 S. E. 366 (1918).

Statute Applicable.—The federal and state courts have concurrent jurisdiction and the question of which statute will apply depends upon whether or not the employee was engaged in interstate commerce. Renn v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 170 N. C. 128, 86 S. E. 964 (1915); West v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 174 N. C. 125, 93 S. E. 479 (1917). See also Capps v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 178 N. C. 558, 101 S. E. 216 (1919).

When Interstate Question Immaterial.—In an action brought by a switchman of the defendant's train crew to recover damages for alleged negligence of the defendant in providing an improper coupler on a train made up and ready to start for a destination beyond the State, the question whether the train was an interstate one, or the plaintiff was at the time engaged in interstate commerce, is not material, since the enactment of this section, which, in this respect, is substantially identical with the federal statute. Sears v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 169 N. C. 446, 86 S. E. 176 (1915).

As to the time within which the action must be brought, under the federal act, see Belch v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 176 N. C. 22, 96 S. E. 640 (1918); King v. Norfolk-Southern R. Co., 176 N. C. 301, 97 S. E. 29 (1918).

Effect of Nonsuit in Action under Federal Act.—A judgment as of nonsuit upon the merits of an action brought by the administratrix of an injured employee of a railroad company under the Federal Employers' Liability Act will not operate as a bar to the same cause brought under the laws of this State, §§ 60-66, 60-67, the law and facts applicable to the first not being identical with those applicable to the second. Fuquay v. A. & W. Ry. Co., 199 N. C. 499, 155 S. E. 167 (1930).

Cited in Stamey v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 197 N. C. 391, 148 S. E. 436 (1929).

§ 60-67. Contributory negligence no bar, but mitigates damages.—In all actions hereafter brought against any common carrier by railroad to recover damages for personal injury to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, however, that no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee. (1913, c. 6, s. 2; C. S., s. 3467.)

Cross Reference.—See § 60-70 and note.

Editor's Note.—The provisions of this section apply only to employees engaged exclusively in intrastate commerce. There is a similar federal statute which applies to employees engaged in interstate commerce. See 45 U. S. C. § 53.

See 13 N. C. Law Rev. 256.

In General.—The doctrine of comparative negligence is only recognized by our courts in instances coming within the meaning of the Federal Employers' Liability Act, and this section, and then only for the purpose of mitigating the damages or as a partial defense. Moore v. Chicago Bridge, etc., Works, 183 N. C. 438, 111 S. E. 776 (1922).

To What Employees Section Applies.—The section applies only to employees who are engaged in duties connected with or incidental to the operation of railroads, logging roads or tramroads. Gurganous v. Camp Mfg. Co., 204 N. C. 525, 168 S. E. 833 (1933).

Contributory Negligence and Assumption of Risk.—Under this section, the plaintiff was entitled to have his cause submitted to the jury, for, as herein provided, contributory negligence is no longer a bar to an action by an employee against a railroad for injuries sustained during his employment, and the question of assumption of risk was for the jury, the burden of proof being upon the defendant. Hines v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 185 N. C. 72, 116 S. E. 175 (1923).

In Hines v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 185 N. C. 72, 75, 116 S. E. 175 (1923), it is said: "Assumption of risk is also a matter of defense analogous to contributory negligence to be passed upon by the jury who are to say whether the employee voluntarily assumed the risk; it is not enough to show merely that he worked on, knowing the danger." See Lloyd v. Hines, 126 N. C. 359, 35 S. E. 611 (1900); West v. Fontana Mining Corporation, 198 N. C. 150, 150 S. E. 884 (1929).

There is a vital difference between contributory negligence and assumption of risk, which is thus stated, 1 Labatt on Master and Servant, secs. 305 and 306, as follows: "Assumed risk is founded upon the knowledge of the employee, either actual or constructive, of the risks to be encountered, and his consent to take the chance of injury therefrom. Contributory negligence implies misconduct, the doing of an imprudent act by the injured party, or his dereliction in failing to take proper precaution for his personal safety. The doctrine of assumed risk is founded upon contract, while contributory negligence is solely matter of conduct." This distinction has often been approved by the United States Supreme Court in cases under the Employers' Liability Act. Seaboard Air Line Railway v. Horton, 233 U. S. 492, 34 S. Ct. 635, 58 L. Ed. 1062 (1914).

When Jury Fails to Allow for Contributory Negligence.—Where the plaintiff's complaint demands damages in a certain amount in his action involving the issues of negligence and contributory negligence, and the application of the rule of comparative negligence under the provisions of this section, the fact that the jury has rendered a verdict for damages to the full amount demanded in the complaint under a proper instruction does not alone show that the jury had failed to follow the rule of damages prescribed in such instances, and the verdict will not on that ground be disturbed on appeal. Brooks v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 194 N. C. 141, 138 S. E. 532 (1927).

Evidence Raising Issue for Jury.—In an action for a deceased employee's negligent death, the fact that it was caused by a head-on collision on defendant railroad company's trestle, in broad daylight, with another of its cars, is some evidence that the defendant's negligence proximately caused the employee's death, and raises the issue for the determination of the jury though the intestate might have been guilty of contributory negligence. Hinnant v. Tidewater Power Co., 187 N. C. 288, 121 S. E. 540 (1924).

Negligence in Obtaining Improper Ladder.—The failure of a railroad company to furnish to an employee engaged in the scope of his employment in painting a station house, a proper ladder or appliance, which failure caused the injury in suit, comes within the provisions of this section, and the contributory negligence of the plaintiff is not a complete bar to his recovery, but is only to be considered by the jury in diminution of the damages. Jones v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 194 N. C. 227, 139 S. E. 242 (1927).

Motion to Nonsuit.—Where plaintiff, while performing his duty, coupled a car attached to defendant's locomotive, while not in motion, and the injury was caused by the sudden movement of the locomotive by the engineer, without a signal from the plaintiff, contrary to practice, though there was evidence of contributory negligence, its establishment would not be a complete defense, under this section, and upon a motion to nonsuit, evidence that the engineer properly acted on the signal of another employee will not be considered. Lamm v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 183 N. C. 74, 110 S. E. 659 (1922).

Federal Statute. — The rule under the federal statute is substantially the same as that prescribed by this section. Contributory negligence is not a complete bar to the recovery of damages by an employee of a railroad company in an action brought under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, the admeasurement being that of comparative negligence by which the jury, under conflicting evidence, reduces the recovery in accordance with the relative negligence of the employee. Moore v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 185 N. C. 189, 116 S. E. 409 (1923); Ballew v. Asheville, etc., R. Co., 186 N. C. 704, 120 S. E. 334 (1923); Hinnant v. Tidewater Power Co., 187 N. C. 288, 121 S. E. 540 (1924); Cobia v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 188 N. C. 487, 125 S. E. 18 (1924).

Applied in Byers v. Boice Hardwood Co., 201 N. C. 75, 159 S. E. 3 (1931); Bateman v. Brooks, 204 N. C. 176, 167 S. E. 627 (1933).

Cited in Ingle v. Southern R. Co., 167 N. C. 636, 83 S. E. 744 (1914); Stamey v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 197 N. C. 391, 148 S. E. 436 (1929); Hawkins v. Rowland Lumber Co., 198 N. C. 475, 152 S. E. 169 (1930).

§ 60-68. Assumption of risk as defense.—In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this article to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee, or the death or injury was caused by negligence. (1913, c. 6, s. 3; C. S., s. 3468.)

Editor's Note.—Section 60-65 is an earlier section similar in its import. It applies to all railroads in North Carolina, while this section applies only to common carriers. See also § 60-70 and note.

§ 60-69. Contracts and rules exempting from liability void; set-off.—Any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose and intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier by railroad to exempt itself from any liability created by this article, shall to that extent be void: Provided, that in any action brought against such common carrier, under and by virtue of any of the provisions of this article, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance or relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or the person entitled thereto, on account of the injury or death for which such action was brought. (1913, c. 6, s. 4; C. S., s. 3469.)

Accepting Benefit from Relief Department. — A relief department for providing hospital care for employees, contributed to by the employees and the company and under the control and management of the company, is but an agency of the company; and a stipulation in the contract with its employee that in the case of accident he must accept the benefit of the contract and release the company from liability, is prohibited by the provisions of this section. Barden v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 152 N. C. 318, 67 S. E. 971 (1910); Herring v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 168 N. C. 555, 84 S. E. 863 (1915).

§ 60-70. Provisions of this article applicable to logging roads and tramroads.—The provisions in this article relating to liability for damages shall also apply to logging roads and tramroads. (1919, c. 275; C. S., s. 3470.)

Editor's Note. — Before the enactment of this section provisions of § 60-65 were held, by judicial construction, to apply to logging roads and tramroads. See Roberson v. Greenleaf-Johnson Lumber Co., 154 N. C. 328, 70 S. E. 630 (1911); Buckner v. Madison County R. Co., 164 N. C. 201, 80 S. E. 225 (1913).

However, in Williams v. Kinston Mfg. Co., 175 N. C. 226, 95 S. E. 366 (1918), it was held that a logging road was not a common carrier within the meaning of § 60-67, and that the doctrine of comparative negligence was not applicable to actions for injuries sustained by employees of such roads. This decision seems to have engendered the legislative enactment enunciated by this section, which was passed in 1919.

The provisions of §§ 60-65 and 60-67 are applicable to tram or logging roads under the provisions of this section. Sampson v. Jackson Bros. Co., 203 N. C. 413, 166 S. E. 181 (1932).

In Lilley v. Interstate Cooperage Co., 194 N. C. 250, 139 S. E. 369 (1927), the rule of this section as to tram railroads was applied, and it was held that § 60-67 is operative as to such railroads.

Comparative Negligence Rule Applies.—Under this section contributory negligence is no longer a bar to injuries received in the operation of a logging road, but such negligence mitigates damages. In other words, comparative negligence is now, under the law, applicable to logging roads. Moore v. Rawls, 196 N. C. 125, 144 S. E. 552 (1928), citing McKinish v. Lumber Co., 191 N. C. 836, 133 S. E. 163 (1926).

The employee must be engaged in duties connected with or incidental to the operation of such roads. Gurganous v. Camp Mfg. Co., 204 N. C. 525, 168 S. E. 833 (1933).

Narrow-Gauge Logging Road.—A small narrow-gauge road running through the woods and used for the purpose only of transporting logs to the defendant's saw-mill, with the cars loaded with logs pulled up a grade by means of a steam skidder, the wire cables operating around a drum upon the skidder, is a logging road within the intent and meaning of this section and an employee negligently injured by such company is not barred of his right to recover damages when caused by a fellow servant; and contributory negligence is only considered in determination of the amount of damages the injured employee has sustained. Stewart v. Blackwood Lumber Co., 193 N. C. 138, 136 S. E. 385 (1927); Brooks v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 194 N. C. 141, 138 S. E. 532 (1927).

Cited in Stamey v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 197 N. C. 391, 148 S. E. 436 (1929); Hawkins v. Rowland Lumber Co., 198 N. C. 475, 152 S. E. 169 (1930).

ARTICLE 9.

Construction and Operation of Railroads.

§ 60-71. Map of route to be served with summons for condemnation.—Whenever it shall become necessary to condemn any land for the purposes of a railroad, at the time that the summons for such condemnation is served there shall also be served by the railroad company a map showing how the line of the road is located on the land sought to be condemned, and a profile showing the depth of the cuts and the height of the embankments on the land so sought to be condemned, and at what points on such land such cuts and embankments are located. This section shall not apply to street railways. (1871-2 c. 138, s. 24; Code, s. 1952; 1893, c. 396, s. 2; 1901, c. 6, s. 3; Rev., s. 2599; C. S., s. 3471.)

Section Mandatory.—The conditions of this section must be complied with before any company can construct any part of its road. Durham, etc., R. Co. v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 106 N. C. 16, 10 S. E. 1041 (1890).

Same — Defect May Be Cured by Amendment.—The failure to serve a map and profile with the summons in condemnation proceedings as required by this section may be cured by amendment. State v. Wells, 142 N. C. 590, 55 S. E. 210 (1906).

Cited in Gastonia v. Glenn, 218 N. C. 510, 11 S. E. (2d) 459 (1940).

§ 60-72. Map of railroad to be made and filed.—Every railroad corporation shall, within a reasonable time after its road shall be constructed, cause to be made a map and profile thereof, and of the land taken or obtained for the use thereof, and shall file the same in the office of the Utilities Commission. Every such map shall be drawn on a scale and on paper to be designated by the Utilities Commission, and shall be certified and signed by the president or engineer of such corporation. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 41; Code, s. 1977; Rev., s. 2600; C. S., s. 3472; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Purpose of Section. — By this section railroad corporations are required, within a reasonable time after their road is constructed, to file a map and profile of their route and of land condemned for its use with the Corporation Commission (now the Utilities Commission). But this is for the information of that body and is not required as a part of a correct and completed location. Fayetteville Street Railway v. Railroad, 142 N. C. 423, 55 S. E. 345 (1906).

Survey Unnecessary When Old Road-bed Adopted. — Where the line of a railroad is clearly defined by the existence of an old roadbed which is entered on and staked out by the agents of the company, and the route so marked is approved and adopted by the directors as its permanent location, in such case a survey by engineers is not essential. Fayetteville Street Railway v. Railroad, 142 N. C. 423, 55 S. E. 345 (1906).

Profile Must Show "Fills" and "Cuts." —The profile required to be filed must show whether there will be any "fills" or "cuts" on the land sought to be condemned. Kinston, etc., R. Co. v. Stroud, 132 N. C. 413, 43 S. E. 913 (1903).

Railroad Completed before Section Passed. — Where the railroad was completed through the locus in quo prior to the passage of this section, it was not necessary to the validity of the location that a map of the route should be filed. Purifoy v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 100, 12 S. E. 741 (1891).

§ 60-73. Joint construction by railroads having same location. — Whenever two railroad companies shall, for a portion of their respective lines, embrace the same location of line, they may by agreement provide for the construction of so much of said line as is common to both of them, by one of the companies, and for the manner and terms upon which the business thereon shall be performed. Upon the making of such an agreement, the company that is not to construct the part of the line which is common to both may terminate its line at the point of intersection, and may reduce its capital to a sum of not less than five thousand dollars for each mile of the road proposed to be constructed. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 46; Code, s. 1983; Rev., s. 2602; C. S., s. 3473.)

§ 60-74. Construction of part of line in another state. — Whenever after due examination it shall be ascertained by the directors of any railroad company that a part of the line of railroad proposed to be made between any two points in this State ought to be located and constructed in an adjoining state, it may be so located and constructed by a vote of two-thirds of all the directors. The sections of such railroad within this State shall be considered a connected line, and the directors may reduce the capital specified to such amount as may be deemed proper, but not less than the amount required by law for the number of miles of railroad to be actually constructed in this State. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 47; Code, s. 1984; Rev., s. 2603; C. S., s. 3474.)

Cross Reference. — As to amount of capital required by law, see § 60-9.

§ 60-75. Carriage must be according to public schedule.—Every railroad corporation shall start and run its cars for the transportation of passengers and property at regular times to be fixed by public notice, and shall furnish sufficient accommodation for the transportation of all such passengers and property as shall, within a reasonable time previous thereto, be offered for transportation at the place of starting and the junction of other railroads and at usual stopping places established for receiving and discharging way passengers and freights for that train, and shall take, transport and discharge such passengers and property at, from and to such places, on the due payment of the freight or fare legally authorized therefor, and shall be liable to the party aggrieved, in an action for damages, for any neglect or refusal in the premises. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 35; Code, s. 1963; Rev., s. 2611; C. S., s. 3475.)

Cross References. — As to powers of Utilities Commission to prevent discrimination in transportation facilities, see § 62-56. As to rate regulation, see § 62-122 et seq. As to ejection of passenger refusing to pay fare or violating rules, see § 60-103.

Reaffirmance of Common-Law Rule. — The requirement to furnish accommodations within a reasonable time is but a reaffirmance of the common law, leaving the courts to say what time is reasonable. Alsop v. Southern Exp. Co., 104 N. C. 278, 10 S. E. 297 (1889).

Duty to Provide Transportation. — It is the duty of a common carrier to provide sufficient means of transportation for all freight and passengers which its business naturally brings to it, and an unusual occasion by which a greater demand upon it is temporarily made will not relieve it of the obligation if, by the use of reasonable foresight, it could have been provided for. Purcell v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 414, 12 S. E. 954 (1891).

Trains Need Not Stop at All Stations. — It is a reasonable regulation of a railroad that certain trains shall not stop at all stations, provided there are enough to serve the purposes of local travel. Hutchinson v. Railroad, 140 N. C. 123, 52 S. E. 263 (1905).

Schedule Is Offer. — Under this section, the printed schedule of trains is an offer, which is accepted by a person when he asks for a ticket, and he has the right to be transported by the first train stopping at his destination. Coleman v. Southern R. Co., 138 N. C. 351, 50 S. E. 690 (1905).

When Contract of Carriage Begins. — The contract of carriage by a common carrier begins when a passenger comes upon the carrier's premises or conveyance with the purpose of buying a ticket within a reasonable time or after having purchased a ticket; and the relation, once constituted, continues until the journey contracted for is concluded and the passenger has left or has had reasonable time to leave such premises. Hansley v. Jamesville, etc., R. Co., 115 N. C. 602, 20 S. E. 528 (1894).

Carrier May Demand Prepayment of Freight. — A common carrier has a right to demand the prepayment of charges for transportation before receiving freight for shipment to one individual, although it may have an established custom to accept shipments to its other patrons without such prepayment. Allen v. Cape Fear, etc., R. Co., 100 N. C. 397, 6 S. E. 105 (1888).

A common carrier may demand prepayment of freight charges before shipment to any station, and from one shipper, though this is not required of others. It should appear, however, that a plaintiff had notice of such regulation. Randall v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 612, 13 S. E. 137 (1891).

Failure to Take Passenger Aboard. — Where plaintiff purchased a ticket from defendant's agent at a regular station before the time advertised for the arrival and departure of its train at that place, and was in readiness to get aboard, but the train ran by, making no effort to stop, although it had room in its cars for plaintiff, plaintiff was entitled to punitive damages, in the absence of sufficient excuse shown by defendant. Purcell v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 414, 12 S. E. 954 (1891).

Carrier under No Duty to Delay Trains. — A common carrier of passengers is under no obligation to delay the departure of its trains, or to look after the safety of persons who attempt to enter them, when they have been stopped long enough to allow passengers to embark and disembark; but it may be liable for injuries incurred by one who, by the invitation or command of persons in charge of the trains, attempts to get on or off while the cars are in motion. Browne v. Raleigh, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 34, 12 S. E. 958 (1891).

Duty to Stop Train at Passenger's Station. — A passenger on a railway train is entitled, as a matter of right, to have the train stop at a station to which he has purchased his ticket; and where his destination is a flag station at which the train fails to stop owing to the neglect of the conductor in failing to take up the passenger's ticket in time, the railroad company is answerable for the consequent damages. Elliott v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 166 N. C. 481, 82 S. E. 853 (1914).

Allowing Passenger to Board Train Which Does Not Stop at His Destination. — It is the duty of the railroad to have an agent at the gate to examine the tickets and allow no one to get upon a train which does not stop at his destination. Not having done this, but having received the plaintiff into the train, without objection, with a ticket calling for a regular station as her destination, and nothing on its face to show it was not good on that train, and she not knowing that that train did not stop there, it was the duty of the defendant to stop the train at that point for her. Hutchinson v. Railroad, 140 N. C. 123, 52 S. E. 263 (1905).

Stepping Off Moving Train at Conductor's Suggestion. — Where a train on which plaintiff was a passenger did not stop at the station to which he had paid his fare, and the conductor agreed that he would slow up the train at a safe place for plaintiff to alight, and the plaintiff consented to jump off and went upon the platform as the train slowed up, but seeing a "go ahead" signal from the rear, did not step for that reason; and then, feeling the increased motion of the train, he stepped off believing he was at a safe place and relying upon the conductor's promise to put him off at a safe place, and was injured, the evidence of the defendant's negligence was sufficient to be submitted to the jury. Cable v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 892, 29 S. E. 377 (1898).

Failure to Stop at Flag Station.—Where plaintiff went to a flag station on a railroad a reasonable time before the arrival of a train on which he intended to take passage and, by reason of absence of the agent and the failure of the engineer to see his signal, the train did not stop for him, the railroad is liable for the actual damages sustained by the plaintiff. Thomas v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 1005, 30 S. E. 343 (1898).

Same — When Punitive Damages Allowed. — It is only when the railway engineer actually sees the signal of an intended passenger at a flag station and willfully passes him by that punitive damages will be allowed in an action for damages, and the burden of showing the reckless disregard of plaintiff's rights is upon the latter. Thomas v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 1005, 30 S. E. 343 (1898).

Damages Where Passenger Carried by Station.—Under this section when a passenger is carried by his station, he is entitled to damages, and this, though there is no bodily harm, or actual damages. If it is done recklessly or willfully he is entitled to punitive damages. Hutchison v. Railroad, 140 N. C. 123, 52 S. E. 263 (1905), overruling Smith v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 130 N. C. 304, 41 S. E. 481 (1902).

Under the well settled rules of law, and plainly under this section, a railroad company is liable for nominal damages for its negligence in failing to stop its train and conveying a passenger beyond the destination to which he had paid his fare, it being a regular station on the line. Cable v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 892, 29 S. E. 377 (1898).

Ejected Passenger Has Right of Action. — Under this section a passenger, ejected from a train for failure to pay again fare which he had paid once upon purchasing a ticket, has a right of action. Sawyer v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 171 N. C. 13, 86 S. E. 166 (1915).

Same — Passenger Need Not Pay Additional Fare to Prevent Ejection. — Under this section where a passenger is about to be wrongfully ejected from a train, having paid his fare thereon, but being unable to produce his ticket, it is not incumbent on him, by paying money which the conductor has no right to exact, to avoid ejection from the train, as he is not required to buy again his right to remain on the train to his destination. Sawyer v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 171 N. C. 13, 86 S. E. 166 (1915).

Where Conductor Fails to Return Ticket.—Where plaintiff purchased through transportation to a destination to reach which it was necessary to change, and the conductor on the first train neglected to return plaintiff's ticket, and, when the conductor of the second train asked for his fare, plaintiff, having no money, vainly attempted to borrow from men who had been on the first train with him, it was negligence on the conductor's part not to have satisfied himself by inquiring of such men whether plaintiff had been on the train with them prior to reaching the changing point, before ejecting plaintiff. Sawyer v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 171 N. C. 13, 86 S. E. 166 (1915).

Passenger on Baggage Car. — A person who gets on a blind baggage car, having a ticket, but not having told the conductor that he had it, and the conductor not having seen it, is not entitled to recover as a passenger for injuries received by being pulled off the train by the conductor. McGraw v. Southern R. Co., 135 N. C. 264, 47 S. E. 758 (1904).

Injury Caused by Misdirection of Agent. —The plaintiff, who missed his train by misdirection of the defendant's agent and his refusal to sell him a ticket, could recover for any injury proximately caused by being put out of the station into the cold weather while waiting for the next train. Coleman v. Southern R. Co., 138 N. C. 351, 50 S. E. 690 (1905).

Action May Be Brought in Tort or Contract.—A person who has sustained injuries by reason of the failure of a railroad company to provide proper means of transportation or operate its trains as required by this section may bring an action on contract, or in tort, independent of the statute. Purcell v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 414, 12 S. E. 954 (1891).

Same—Damages. — If the tort is the result of simple negligence, damages will be restricted to such as are compensatory; but if it was willful, or committed with such circumstances as show gross negligence, punitive damages may be given. Purcell v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N. C. 414, 12 S. E. 954 (1891).

Where a railroad company, negligently and by reason of defective and inadequate equipment, failed to carry a passenger to whom it had sold an excursion ticket back to its starting point, but no personal injury or indignity was inflicted upon him, the passenger's right of action is ex contractu and not in tort, and hence exemplary or punitive damages cannot be recovered. Purcell v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 108 N.

C. 414, 12 S. E. 954 (1891), which was overruled in Hansley v. Jamesville, etc., R. Co., 115 N. C. 602, 20 S. E. 528 (1894), is reinstated, but the ground of the judgment is changed. Hansley v. Jamesville, etc., R. Co., 117 N. C. 565, 23 S. E. 443, 53 Am. St. Rep. 600, 32 L. R. A. 551 (1895).

If a train arrives after its schedule time, or misses connection, or delays a passenger at his destination after the schedule time, unless the delay is caused by no fault of the carrier, the passenger has a right to recover compensation for the loss of time and actual expenses. Coleman v. Southern R. Co., 138 N. C. 351, 50 S. E. 690 (1905).

Basis of Exemplary Damages. — The true ground for allowing exemplary damages in an action against a railroad company for damages on account of its negligence is personal injury, or (in the absence of personal injury) insult, indignity, contempt, etc., to which the law imputes bad motive towards the plaintiff. Hansley v. Jamesville, etc., R. Co., 117 N. C. 565, 23 S. E. 443, 53 Am. St. Rep. 600, 32 L. R. A. 551 (1895).

§ 60-76. Arrangement of cars in passenger trains. — In forming a passenger train, baggage, freight, merchandise or lumber cars shall not be placed in rear of the passenger cars, except in case of accident, or when the cars are provided with automatic couplers or brakes. If any officer or agent of a railroad company, in forming a passenger train, shall direct or knowingly suffer an arrangement of the cars different from the one herein provided for, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, the criminal liability hereby imposed shall not apply to officers and agents of the Wilmington Seacoast Railroad Company. (1871-2, c. 138; Code, s. 1971; 1893, c. 331; 1895, c. 212; Rev., ss. 2612, 3747; C. S., s. 3476.)

§ 60-77. Unauthorized manufacture or sale of switch-lock keys misdemeanor.—It shall be unlawful for any person to make, manufacture, sell or give away to any other person any duplicate key to any lock used by any railroad company in this State on its switches or switch tracks, except upon the written order of that officer of such railroad company whose duty it is to distribute and issue switch-lock keys to the employees of such railroad company. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1909, c. 795; C. S., s. 3477.)

§ 60-78. Willful injury to railroad property misdemeanor. — If any person shall willfully do or cause to be done any act or acts whatever whereby any building, construction or work of any railroad corporation, or any engine, machine or structure or any matter or thing appertaining to the same shall be stopped, obstructed, impaired, weakened, injured or destroyed, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 39; Code, s. 1974; Rev., s. 3756; C. S., s. 3478.)

§ 60-79. Headlights on locomotives on main lines.—Every company, corporation, lessee, manager or receiver owning or operating a railroad in this State is hereby required to equip and maintain and use upon every locomotive in operation in railroad service on main lines in this State an electric or power headlight of at least one thousand five hundred candlepower, measured without the aid of a reflector. This section shall not apply to locomotive engines regularly used in switching cars or trains, to locomotive engines used exclusively between sunup and sundown, and to locomotive engines going to and returning from repair shops when ordered in for repairs; neither shall this section apply to independently owned and operated railroad companies in this State whose mileage of road in this State is one hundred and twenty-five miles or less, nor to railroad companies having only lines extending into this State, no one of which is one hundred miles in length in this State. The Utilities Commission may relieve from the operation of this section such locomotives and roads, or parts or sections or branches of roads, upon which the said Utilities Commission may deem electric or power headlights not advisable. Should an engine start on a trip with the headlight in good working condition, and from some unavoidable cause such headlight becomes disabled and cannot be repaired on the line of the road on which such run is being made, there shall be nothing in this section to prevent such engine from continuing on its trip, and the railroad company shall not be liable for prosecution on account of such failure to repair. Any company, corporation, lessee, manager or receiver violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1909, c. 446; C. S., s. 3479; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Violation as Proximate Cause of Death.—Evidence failing to show how deceased was killed, whether walking along railroad tracks or at platform, and showing that he was intoxicated at the time, does not show that the violation of this section was the proximate cause of death. Owens v. Southern Ry. Co., 33 F. (2d) 870 (1929).

Burden of Proof.—It is negligence for a railroad company not to equip its locomotives with electric headlights, with the burden on the company to plead and prove that it had one in use at the time complained of or that its use was excepted by the statute, when relevant to the inquiry. Barnes v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 168 N. C. 512, 84 S. E. 805 (1915), citing Powers v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 166 N. C. 599, 82 S. E. 972 (1914). But see McNeill v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 167 N. C. 390, 83 S. E. 704 (1914).

§ 60-81. Negligence presumed from killing livestock.—When any cattle or other livestock shall be killed or injured by the engine or cars running upon any railroad, it shall be prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of the railroad company in any action for damages against such company: Provided, that no person shall be allowed the benefit of this section unless he shall bring his action within six months after his cause of action shall have accrued. (1856-7, c. 7; Code, s. 2326; Rev., s. 2645; C. S., s. 3482.)

Cross Reference.—As to venue of an action against railroad, see § 1-81.

Editor's Note.—Several of the earlier cases, notably Doggett v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 81 N. C. 459 (1879), and Durham v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 82 N. C. 352 (1880), stated that, where the facts are known and show there was no negligence on the part of the railroad, the presumption created by this section does not apply. But it would have been more accurate to say that the prima facie case here created is rebutted where the undisputed facts show there was no negligence on the part of the defendant, than to say the statute did not apply to such a case. There is no exception in the statute. It is in terms general and applies alike to all cases of killing stock by a railroad. The rule is thus stated in the later cases. See Hardison v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 120 N. C. 492, 26 S. E. 630 (1897).

In some of the early decisions it was said that when livestock were injured by the engine or cars of a railroad company and an action thereon was brought within six months, this section raised a presumption of negligence and cast upon the defendant the burden of rebutting such presumption. Carlton v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 104 N. C. 365, 10 S. E. 516 (1889); Bethea v. Raleigh, etc., R. Co., 106 N. C. 279, 10 S. E. 1045 (1890). But it is now the established rule, as settled by the later and prevailing cases, that "prima facie evidence of negligence" means no more than evidence sufficient to carry the case to the jury, and to justify, but not compel, a verdict as for a negligent wrong. See Ferrell v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 190 N. C. 126, 129 S. E. 155 (1925).

Section Applies When Facts Known. — The presumption of negligence in killing livestock, when the action is brought within six months, applies where the facts are known. Hanford v. Southern R. Co., 167 N. C. 277, 83 S. E. 470 (1914).

Applies When Stock under Control of Person. — The statutory presumption of negligence for killing livestock, when the action is brought within six months, is not rebutted by showing that the livestock were under the control of a person at the time. Randall v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 104 N. C. 410, 10 S. E. 691 (1889).

Same — When Animal Hitched to Vehicle. — The statutory presumption of negligence of a railroad company in killing livestock, when the action is brought within six months, applies whether a horse, the subject of the action, was hitched to a buggy at the time or running at large. Hanford v. Southern R. Co., 167 N. C. 277, 83 S. E. 470 (1914).

Where it is proven or admitted that cattle have been killed by the train of a railroad company within six months before the action was brought, there is a presumption that the killing was caused by the negligence of such company, and this presumption arises from the fact of killing, where the animal is hitched to a wagon or cart, as well as where it is straying at large when killed. Randall v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 107 N. C. 748, 12 S. E. 605 (1890).

Does Not Apply to Fowl. — No presumption of negligence against a railroad company is raised by the mere fact of killing fowls, etc., upon its track in the operation of its trains. This section makes it prima facie evidence of negligence in respect only to "cattle or other livestock," which does not include geese or other fowl within its terms. James v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 166 N. C. 572, 82 S. E. 1026 (1914).

Does Not Apply to Dogs. — The killing of a dog by a street railway is not prima facie evidence of negligence. Moore v. Charlotte Elect. R., etc., Co., 136 N. C. 554, 48 S. E. 822 (1904).

When Horses Run into Trestle. — In an action against a railroad company for damages for injuries to horses, where the evidence showed that the horses were injured by running into a trestle, and that the train was 100 yards from the trestle when they were injured, and stopped 100 feet from the trestle, this section does not apply. Ramsbottom v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 138 N. C. 38, 50 S. E. 448 (1905).

Plaintiff Must Prove Case. — Where a railroad train runs into, kills or injures livestock, and the owner brings his action for damages within the statutory six months, the prima facie case of negligence raised by the statute is sufficient to take the case to the jury, but does not change the burden of proving the issue of negligence from the plaintiff. Ferrell v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 190 N. C. 126, 129 S. E. 155 (1925).

How Presumption Rebutted. — In an action against a railroad company for killing certain mules of the plaintiff, where negligence is established by force of this section, it can only be rebutted by showing that by the exercise of due diligence the stock could not have been seen in time to save them. Pippen v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 75 N. C. 54 (1876).

This rule can only be rebutted by showing that the agents of the railroad company used all proper precautions to guard against damage. It is not sufficient to prove that there was probably no negligence. Battle v. W. & W. Railroad, 66 N. C. 343 (1872).

Same — Presumption Not Repelled. — Where plaintiff's horse had been injured on a railroad by the running of a train against it, and it was doubtful from defendant's testimony whether the brakes had been applied to the wheels of the train after the animal was discovered to be on track, the prima facie case of negligence made by this section was not repelled. Clark v. Western North Carolina Railroad, 60 N. C. 109 (1863).

Same — Instructions. — Where the killing of stock by a railroad is admitted or proven, the trial judge may instruct the jury that a certain state of facts, if believed by them, would rebut the presumption of negligence, but not that certain evidence, though uncontradicted, would do so. Baker v. Roanoke, etc., R. Co., 133 N. C. 31, 45 S. E. 347 (1903).

When Owner Permits Cattle to Stray on Railroad Track. — If the owner of cattle permits them to stray off and get upon the track of a railroad and they are killed or hurt, the railroad company is not liable unless the train was being carelessly run, or by the exercise of proper care after the animals were discovered the injury could have been avoided or prevented. Doggett v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 81 N. C. 459 (1879).

Effect of Local Stock Law. — The prima

facie evidence of negligence on the part of a railroad company in a suit for damages for killing stock is not impaired by a local act requiring stock to be fenced in, but the defendant must repel the presumption by satisfactory proof to the jury. Roberts v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 88 N. C. 560 (1883).

No Duty to Cut Down Weeds.—A railroad company is not negligent in failing to cut down bushes or weeds on the right of way beyond the portion over which it is exercising actual control for corporate purposes, though a horse is killed as a result of the engineer's inability to see him on account of the weeds. Ward v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 109 N. C. 358, 13 S. E. 926 (1891).

Measure of Damages.—The measure of damages when a cow is killed by a train is the difference in the value of the cow and that of the beef. Roberts v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 88 N. C. 560 (1883).

When Judge May Direct Verdict.—This section applies to all cases of killing stock by a railroad, and while the presumption of negligence arising from the killing may be rebutted, it is only where the undisputed facts show there was no negligence that the trial judge should direct a verdict for the defendant. Hardison v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 120 N. C. 492, 26 S. E. 630 (1897).

Defendant Not Entitled to Nonsuit.—Where a plaintiff makes a prima facie case by suing for the killing of a cow within six months, the defendant is not entitled to nonsuit on the ground that such prima facie case is rebutted by the evidence of the defendant. Davis v. Railroad Co., 134 N. C. 300, 46 S. E. 515 (1904).

Applied in Aycock v. W. & W. R. Road Co., 51 N. C. 231 (1858); Wilson v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 90 N. C. 69 (1884); Snowden v. Norfolk, etc., Railroad, 95 N. C. 93 (1886); Carlton v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 104 N. C. 365, 10 S. E. 516 (1889); Coburn v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 227 N. C. 695, 44 S. E. (2d) 200 (1947).

Railroad and Other Company Police.

§ 60-82. Railway conductors and station agents declared special police.—All passenger conductors of railroad trains and station or depot agents are hereby declared to be special police of the State of North Carolina, with full power and authority to make arrests for offenses committed in their presence or view, or for felony, or on sworn complaint for misdemeanor, except that the conductors shall have such power only on board of their respective trains or their railroad right of way, and the agents at their respective stations; and such conductors and agents may cause any person so arrested by them to be detained and delivered to the proper authority for trial as soon as possible. Nothing contained in the provisions of this section shall have the effect to relieve any such railroad company from any civil liability now existing by statute or under the common law for the act or acts of such conductors, station or depot agents, in unlawfully exercising or attempting to exercise the powers herein conferred. (1907, c. 470, ss. 3, 4; C. S., s. 3483.)

Editor's Note.—For article discussing arrest without a warrant, see 15 N. C. Law Rev. 101.

Conductor Has Power of Peace Officer.—A conductor on a railroad passenger train is held to a high degree of care in looking after and protecting passengers on his train, and he is clothed, to some extent, with the powers of a peace officer. Brown v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 161 N. C. 573, 77 S. E. 777 (1913).

§ 60-83. Governor may appoint and commission police for railroad, etc., companies; civil liability of companies.—Any corporation operating a railroad on which steam or electricity is used as the motive power or any electric or water-power company or construction company or manufacturing company or motor vehicle carrier or railway express agencies may apply to the Governor to commission such persons as the corporation or company may designate to act as policemen for it. The Governor upon such application may appoint such persons or so many of them as he may deem proper to be such policemen, and shall issue to the persons so appointed a commission to act as such policemen. Nothing contained in the provisions of this section shall have the effect to relieve any such company from any civil liability now existing by statute or under the common law for the act or acts of such policemen, in exercising or attempting to exercise the powers conferred by this section. (1871-2, c. 138, ss. 51, 52; Code, ss. 1988, 1989; Rev., ss. 2605, 2606; 1907, c. 128, s. 1; C. S., s. 3484; 1923, c. 23; 1933, c. 61; 1943, c. 676, ss. 1, 4; 1947, c. 390.)

Cross Reference. — As to venue of action against railroad, see § 1-81.

Editor's Note. — The 1923 amendment extended this section to manufacturing companies.

The 1933 amendment added the last sentence of the section.

The 1943 amendment made this section applicable to motor vehicle carriers. It also struck out the word "railroad" before the word "company" in the third sentence. For comment on the 1943 amendment, see 21 N. C. Law Rev. 330.

The 1947 amendment made this section applicable to railway express agencies.

A railroad policeman appointed pursuant to this section, is prima facie a public officer, but the question of whether a particular act is done as an employee of the railroad company or as a public officer is a question to be determined from the nature of the act, whether it relates to vindication and enforcement of public justice or whether it is in the scope of duties owed to the company by reason of employment. Tate v. Southern Ry. Co., 205 N. C. 51, 169 S. E. 816 (1933).

Cited in Stanley v. Southern R. Co., 160 N. C. 323, 76 S. E. 221 (1912).

§ 60-84. Oath, bond, and powers of company police.—Every policeman so appointed shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe the usual oath. Such policemen shall severally possess, within the limits of each county in which the railroad or motor vehicle carrier for which such policemen are appointed may run or in which the company may be engaged in work or business, all the powers of policemen in the several towns, cities and villages in any such county: Provided, that every policeman appointed under this and § 60-83 shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, file in the Governor's office a bond in the sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), payable to the State of North Carolina, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office. This bond may be in cash, or it may be executed by a surety company duly authorized to transact business in this State, or it may have at least two individual sureties each owning real estate in this State, and together having equities in such real estate over and above any encumbrances thereon equal in value to at least twice the amount of such bond: Provided, that where individual sureties are used, the sufficiency of each such surety must be passed upon and approved by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the surety resides. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 53; Code, s. 1990; Rev., s. 2607; 1907, c. 128, s. 2; c. 462; C. S., s. 3485; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5; 1943, c. 676, s. 2; 1959, c. 124, s. 1.)

Cross Reference. — As to oath required, see § 11-11.

Editor's Note. — The 1943 amendment rewrote portions of this section appearing before the first proviso.

For comment on the 1943 amendment, see 21 N. C. Law Rev. 330.

The 1959 amendment rewrote the second sentence with proviso and added the third sentence with proviso.

§ 60-85. Company police to wear badges.—Such railroad police shall, when on duty, severally wear a metallic shield with the words "Railway Police" and the name of the corporation for which appointed inscribed thereon, and this shield shall always be worn in plain view except when such police are employed as detectives. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 54; Code, s. 1991; Rev., s. 2608; C. S., s. 3486.)

Cross Reference. — As to badges of conductor and certain other railroad employees, see § 60-3.

§ 60-86. Compensation of company police.—The compensation of such police shall be paid by the companies for which the policemen are respectively appointed, as may be agreed on between them. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 55; Code, s. 1992; Rev., s. 2609; C. S., s. 3487.)

§ 60-87. Police powers cease on company's filing notice.—Whenever any company shall no longer require the services of any policeman so appointed as aforesaid, it may file a notice to that effect in the office of the Governor and thereupon the power of such officer shall cease and determine. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 56; Code, s. 1993; Rev., s. 2610; C. S., s. 3488; 1943, c. 676, s. 3; 1959, c. 124, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1943 amendment substituted the words "office of the Governor and the office of the Utilities Commission" for the words "several offices in which notice of such appointment was originally filed."

For comment on the 1943 amendment, see 21 N. C. Law Rev. 330.

The 1959 amendment struck out the words "and the office of the Utilities Commission" formerly appearing after "Governor" in line three.

Joint Rates.

§ 60-88. Carriers permitted to establish joint rates.—Any operating railroad company is authorized and directed to enter into arrangements for the establishment of joint rates and through routes with common carriers by water and with other such railroad companies for the transportation of persons and/or property transported wholly within the State of North Carolina by such carrier by water and such railroad company. (1931, c. 195.)

ARTICLE 12.

Carriage of Passengers.

§ 60-89. Railroad passenger fares.—The North Carolina Utilities Commission shall make reasonable and just rates and charges covering the carriage of passengers by railroad within North Carolina, and regulate the same. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 1; C. S., s. 3489; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 51, s. 1; 1953, c. 170.)

Cross References. — As to free carriage, see § 62-134. As to rate regulation in general, see § 62-122 et seq. As to passenger's baggage, see § 60-119. As to duty of the railroad to file rates with Utilities Commission, see § 62-68.

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment rewrote this section, which formerly established the fares.

Right to Put Off Child on Train with Parent. — Where a conductor has taken up the ticket of a person traveling with his child, for whom a half ticket is required, but has not been purchased, and the parent is unable to pay the fare of the child with the extra fare allowed when a ticket has not been regularly purchased, the conductor's right to put the child off the train is dependent upon the return of the ticket he has collected from the parent, or its equivalent. Landford v. Southern R. Co., 165 N. C. 653, 81 S. E. 998 (1914).

§ 60-90. Rates on leased or controlled lines.—In the case that any railroad company operating as a common carrier of passengers in the State of North Carolina is owned, controlled or operated by lease or other agreement by any other railroad company doing business in the State, the rate for carrying passengers thereon shall be determined for such railroad company by the rate prescribed by § 60-89 for the railroad company which owns, controls or operates the same. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 2; C. S., s. 3490.)

§ 60-91. Violations of passenger rates misdemeanor.—Any railroad company violating any of the provisions of §§ 60-89 and 60-90, or counseling, ordering or directing any employee, agent or servant to violate any of such provisions, by charging, demanding or receiving any rate greater than that fixed by such sections, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars; and any agent, servant or employee of any railroad company who shall violate either § 60-89 or § 60-90 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 3; C. S., s. 3491.)

Cross Reference.—As to charging unreasonable freight rates, see § 60-115.

§ 60-92. Accepting or giving free transportation illegally misdemeanor.—Any persons, except those permitted by law, who accept free transportation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court; and any railroad, or its employees or agents, giving free transportation of any kind whatsoever, except that permitted by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than two thousand dollars for each offense. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 4; C. S., s. 3492.)

Cross Reference.—As to persons entitled to free carriage, see §§ 62-133, 62-134.

Editor's Note.—For cases arising prior to the enactment of this section, see State

v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 1052, 30 S. E. 133 (1898); McNeill v. Railroad Co., 135 N. C. 682, 47 S. E. 765 (1904).

§ 60-93. Powers of Utilities Commission over rates limited.—The Utilities Commission shall have no power to change, alter, modify or in any way affect the enforcement or operation of any of the provisions of the preceding sections of this article, except as the same shall be therein specifically authorized, or the enforcement of any penalties for violating the provisions thereof. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 7; C. S., s. 3493; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Cross Reference.—As to regulation of rates by Utilities Commission, see § 62-122 et seq.

§ 60-94. Separate accommodations for different races.—All railroad and steamboat companies engaged as common carriers in the transportation of passengers for hire, other than street railways, shall provide separate but equal accommodations for the white and colored races at passenger stations or waiting rooms, and also on all trains and steamboats carrying passengers. Such accommodations may be furnished by railroad companies either by separate passenger cars or by compartments in passenger cars, which shall be provided by the railroads under the supervision and direction of the Utilities Commission: Provided, that this shall not apply to relief trains in cases of accident, to Pullman or sleeping cars, or through express trains that do not stop at all stations and are not used ordinarily for traveling from station to station, to negro servants in attendance on their employers, to officers or guards transporting prisoners, nor to prisoners so transported. (1899, c. 384; 1901, c. 213; Rev., s. 2619; C. S., s. 3494; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Cross References.—As to duty of Utilities Commission to require separate waiting rooms, see § 62-44. As to separation of races by motor carriers, see § 62-121.71; by street and interurban railways, see § 60-135.

Conductor Directing White Passengers to Colored Coach.—When a railroad company has furnished equal and separate accommodations on its train for the white and colored races, no penalties may be recovered by reason of the conductor merely directing a few white passengers to take the coach set apart for the colored people. Merritt v. Atlantic Coast Line R., 152 N. C. 281, 67 S. E. 579 (1910).

Sheriff with Colored Prisoner.—Where the conductor of a train required a white sheriff to go into the coach provided for colored people with a colored prisoner in his custody, traveling with him on the train, and there is no evidence that the conductor did so in a harsh or abusive manner, or that the accommodations furnished were unequal to those of the other coach, damages sought by the sheriff will be denied as a matter of law. Huff v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 171 N. C. 203, 88 S. E. 344 (1916).

Cited in Corporation Commission v. Transportation Committee, 198 N. C. 317, 151 S. E. 648 (1930).

§ 60-95. Certain carriers may be exempted from requirement.—The Utilities Commission is hereby authorized to exempt from the provisions of § 60-94 steamboats, branch lines and narrow-gauge railroads and mixed trains carrying both freight and passengers, if in its judgment the enforcement of the same be unnecessary to secure the comfort of passengers by reason of the light volume of passenger traffic, or the small number of colored passenger travelers on such steamboats, narrow-gauge railroads, branch lines or mixed trains. (1899, c. 384, s. 2; 1901, c. 213; Rev., s. 2620; C. S., s. 3495; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

§ 60-96. Use of same coach in emergencies. — When any coach or compartment car for either race shall be completely filled at a station where no extra coach or car can be had, and the increased number of passengers could not be foreseen, the conductor in charge of such train may assign and set apart a portion of a car or compartment assigned for passengers of one race to passengers of the other race. (1899, c. 384, s. 3; Rev., s. 2621; C. S., s. 3496.)

§ 60-97. Penalty for failing to provide separate coaches.—Any railroad or steamboat company failing to comply in good faith with the provisions of §§ 60-94 to 60-96 shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars per day, to be recovered in an action brought against such company by any passenger on any train or boat of any railroad or steamboat company which is required by this chapter to furnish separate accommodations to the races, who has been furnished accommodations on such railroad train or steamboat only in a car or compartment with a person of a different race in violation of law. (1899, c. 384, s. 5; Rev., s. 2622; C. S., s. 3497.)

§ 60-98. Exceptions to requirement of separate coaches and toilets.—As to trains consisting of not more than one passenger car unit, operated principally for the accommodation of local travel, although operated both intrastate and interstate and irrespective of the motive power used, the Utilities Commission is authorized to make such rules and regulations for the separation of the races and with regard to toilet facilities as in its best judgment may be feasible and reasonable in the circumstances, and the rules and regulations established pursuant to this authority shall be exceptions to the provisions of §§ 60-94 and 60-107. (1935, c. 270; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

§ 60-99. Unused tickets to be redeemed.—When any round-trip ticket is sold by a railroad or other transportation company, it shall be the duty of such company to redeem the unused portion of said ticket by allowing to the holder thereof the difference between the cost thereof and the price of a one-way ticket between the stations for which such round-trip ticket was sold. Whenever any one-way or regular ticket is sold by a railroad or other transportation company, and not used by the purchaser, it shall be the duty of the company selling the ticket to redeem it at the price paid for it. All railroad and other transportation companies shall redeem in money all mileage tickets known as five-hundred, thousand and two-thousand mile tickets, sold by them, if presented within a year from the date of the sale, when as much as fifty per centum of such ticket has been used by the purchaser, by paying the same price per mile paid for it, or shall allow the original holder to ride it out. (1891, c. 290; 1893, c. 249; 1895, c. 83, ss. 2, 3; 1897, c. 418; Rev., s. 2627; C. S., s. 3503.)

§ 60-100. Ticket may be refused intoxicated person; prohibited entry misdemeanor.—The ticket agent of any railroad, steamboat or other transportation company shall at all times have power to refuse to sell a ticket to any person applying for the same who may at the time be intoxicated. The conductor, captain or other person in charge of any railroad car, steamboat or other conveyance for the use of the traveling public shall at all times have power to prevent any intoxicated person from entering such car, boat or other conveyance. If any intoxicated person, after being forbidden by the conductor, captain or other person having charge of any such railroad train, steamboat or other conveyance for the use of the traveling public, shall enter such train, boat or other conveyance, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1885, c. 358, ss. 1, 2, 3; Rev., ss. 2625, 2626, 3757; C. S., s. 3504.)

Cross References.—As to public drinking on railway passenger cars, see § 14-333. As to sale of whiskey on railroad cars, see § 18-70.

When Exemplary Damages Allowed.—In an action for damages for refusal to allow a person with a ticket to board a train because he was intoxicated, exemplary damages will be allowed if such refusal was made with malice, undue force, or insult. Story v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 133 N. C. 59, 45 S. E. 349 (1903).

§ 60-101. Entering cars after being forbidden misdemeanor. — No person shall enter any railroad passenger car, baggage car, mail car or caboose car, or go upon the platform of such cars, after being forbidden so to do by the conductor, his assistants, the baggagemaster or other person in charge of such cars, unless the person enter such cars or go upon such platforms as a passenger or in some official capacity authorized by law, or on business with a passenger or some official or employee of the railroad, or for some other like purpose. Any person violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding ten dollars. (1883, c. 351; Code, s. 1979; Rev., s. 3752; C. S., s. 3505.)

Cross References.—As to breaking in to or entering railroad cars with felonious intent, see § 14-56. As to train robbery, see §§ 14-88 and 14-89.

§ 60-102. Riding in first-class cabin with second-class ticket misdemeanor.—If any passenger purchasing or holding a second-class ticket, after being requested or directed by any captain or other officer in charge of any steamboat in this State, riding in any first-class cabin, refuses to pay the difference between a first-class and a second-class fare or rate, or refuses to go into the second-class cabin, when there shall be a comfortable second-class cabin on such steamboat, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Any justice of the peace in the county where such offense is committed shall have jurisdiction of the offense, upon sworn complaint of any officer of such steamboat company. (1903, c. 795; Rev., s. 3761; C. S., s. 3506.)

§ 60-103. Passenger refusing to pay fare and violating rules may be ejected.—If any passenger shall refuse to pay his fare, or violate the rules of a railroad corporation, it shall be lawful for the conductor of the train and servants of the corporation to put him and his baggage out of the cars, using no unnecessary force, at any usual stopping place or near any dwelling house, as the conductor shall elect, on stopping the train. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 34; Code, s. 1962; Rev., s. 2629; C. S., s. 3507.)

Cross Reference. — As to action for damages for wrongful ejection, see also note to § 60-75.

Permission to Ride in Express Car.—Where a party shipped horses by express with an agreement that he should ride in the same car he cannot ride in the passenger coach without paying his fare. Teeter v. Southern Exp. Co., 172 N. C. 616, 90 S. E. 761 (1916).

Ejecting Person from Baggage Car.—A person who gets on a blind baggage car, though he has a ticket, and does not tell the conductor that he has it, and the conductor does not see it, is not entitled to recover as a passenger for injuries received by being pulled off the train by the conductor. McGraw v. Southern R. Co., 135 N. C. 264, 47 S. E. 758 (1904).

Mileage Book Holder Must Comply with Terms.—The holder of a mileage book must comply with its terms if reasonable opportunity is given, or he may be ejected. Mason v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 183, 75 S. E. 25 (1912); McNairy v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 172 N. C. 505, 90 S. E. 497 (1916).

Ejection of Party Refusing to Show Mileage Book.—When a purchaser of a mileage book from a railroad company is riding on an exchange ticket and refuses, without excuse, to show his mileage book, in connection with the ticket, to the conductor on the train, he is not regarded as a passenger, and the conductor has the right to eject him from the train. Mason v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 183, 75 S. E. 25 (1912).

Evidence of Drunkenness Inadmissible.—In an action for wrongful ejection from a train, evidence of drunkenness of plaintiff is not admissible, where the answer simply denies the wrongful ejection alleged in the complaint. Raynor v. Wilmington Seacoast R. Co., 129 N. C. 195, 39 S. E. 821 (1901).

Ejection Caused by Failure of Conductor to Return Ticket.—Where the conductor failed to return a ticket to a passenger to be used on another train, and the passenger was ejected therefrom for lack of the ticket, the railroad is liable for all damages attending the ejection. Sawyer v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 171 N. C. 13, 86 S. E. 166 (1915).

Reliance on Agent's Statements.—The purchaser of a ticket may rely upon the statements of the railroad agent as to trains, connection, validity of ticket, etc., and if the passenger is ejected as a result of the agent's mistake the railroad is liable. Hallman v. Southern R. Co., 169 N. C. 127, 85 S. E. 298 (1915); Creech v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 174 N. C. 61, 93 S. E. 453 (1917).

§ 60-104. Beating way on trains misdemeanor; venue.—If any person, other than a railroad employee in the discharge of his duty, without authority from the conductor of the train or by permission of the engineer, and with the intention of being transported free and without paying the usual fare for such transportation, rides or attempts to ride on top of any car, coach, engine or tender, on any railroad in this State, or on the drawheads between cars, or under cars, on truss rods, or trucks, or in any freight car, or on a platform of any baggage car, express car or mail car on any train, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor,

How Conductor May Eject Passenger.

—The conductor of a railroad train is authorized to expel without using unnecessary force one who refuses to pay regular fare, at any point where he may safely get off provided it be "at any usual stopping place or near any dwelling house, as the conductor shall elect, on stopping the train;" and provided further that the ejected person is not willfully and wantonly exposed to danger of life or limb. Roseman v. Carolina Cent. R. Co., 112 N. C. 709, 16 S. E. 766 (1893).

Passenger Must Be Ejected Near Station or House.—The railroad company owed a duty to plaintiff ejected from its train to put her off the train at a suitable and proper place, either at a station or near a house, even though she had not been rightfully a passenger. Bullock v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 152 N. C. 66, 67 S. E. 60 (1910).

Flag Station Not a Usual Stopping Place.—A place along a railroad company's track is not a usual stopping place within the meaning of this section when it is merely a flag station without shelter, and the nearest dwelling is three-quarters of a mile away; and where one traveling on the train was put off at such place at 9 o'clock in the night for failure to exchange his mileage for a ticket, and was informed by the conductor that it was "a rather poor place to spend the night," it does not preclude his recovery for the company's violation of the statute, that he again boarded the train and complied with the conductor's demand in paying the additional charge required of those who have no tickets. McNairy v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 172 N. C. 505, 90 S. E. 497 (1916).

Carrier Not Liable for Unusual Results.—A conductor requiring an intoxicated man to leave the train for nonpayment of fare did not render the carrier liable for the death of the man from exposure, where the conductor did not have reasonable ground to believe that the man was unable to find his way or walk to the nearest house or to the railroad station, or even to his own father's house, which was not far away. Roseman v. Carolina Cent. R. Co., 112 N. C. 709, 16 S. E. 766 (1893).

and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. Any person charged with a violation of this section may be tried in any county in this State through which such train may pass carrying such person, or in any county in which such violation may have occurred or may be discovered. (1899, c. 625; 1905, c. 32; Rev., s. 3748; C. S., s. 3508.)

Effect on Liability of Insurance Company.—A policy of accident insurance that excepts from the company's full liability "sickness due to immorality or the violation of law," does not of itself exclude such liability for an injury caused by the plaintiff's stealing a ride on a railway train, made a misdemeanor by this section, unless the plaintiff's act was so reckless as to withdraw it from the class of accidents covered by the policy. Poole v. Imperial Mut. Life, etc., Co., 188 N. C. 463, 125 S. E. 8 (1924).

§ 60-105. Injury while on platform or in other prohibited places.—

In case any passenger on any railroad shall be injured while on the platform of a car or on any baggage, wood or freight car, in violation of the printed regulations of the company posted up at the time in a conspicuous place inside its passenger cars then in the train, such company shall not be liable for the injury: Provided, such company at the time furnish room inside its passenger cars sufficient for the proper accommodation of its passengers. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 42; Code, s. 1978; Rev., s. 2628; C. S., s. 3509.)

Cross Reference. — As to injury while riding on platform of streetcar, see § 60-140.

Effect of Posting Notice. — When this section has been complied with, a rule of a railroad company prohibiting passengers from going on the platform while the train is in motion is given the force and effect of a State law, barring a recovery for injuries sustained under such circumstances. Shaw v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 143 N. C. 312, 55 S. E. 713 (1906).

Notice Need Be Only in English.—This section requires only that the notice to be placed by a railroad company in its coach, relieving the company from liability to a passenger injured while riding on the platform, etc., shall be in English, and the fact that such passenger cannot read that language is immaterial. Bane v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 176 N. C. 247, 97 S. E. 11 (1918).

Riding on Platform Prima Facie Negligence.—It is prima facie negligence for a passenger to voluntarily ride on the platform of a rapidly moving train. Wagner v.

Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 147 N. C. 315, 61 S. E. 171 (1908).

Section Not Applicable When Passenger Alighting.—This section is for the protection of passengers and should be reasonably construed, and has no application when the injury complained of was received as the passenger was alighting at a regular station after the train had stopped for that purpose, though he may have ridden in violation of the statute before the train had stopped. Kearney v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 158 N. C. 521, 74 S. E. 593 (1912).

Person on Passenger Platform at Station.—One who is on the passenger platform of railroad company at its station with the purpose of becoming a passenger on its expected train is entitled to the protection due a passenger from dangerous conditions and usage there. Thomas v. Southern R. Co., 173 N. C. 494, 92 S. E. 321 (1917).

Cited in Roberson v. Carolina Taxi Service, 214 N. C. 624, 200 S. E. 363 (1939).

§ 60-106. Checking baggage; liability for loss.—A check shall be affixed to every parcel of baggage when taken for transportation by the agent or servant of any railroad corporation, if there is a handle, loop or fixture so that the same can be attached upon the parcel or baggage so offered for transportation, and a duplicate thereof given to the passenger or person delivering the same on his behalf. If such check be refused on demand, the corporation shall pay to such passenger the sum of ten dollars, to be recovered in a civil action; and further, no fare or toll shall be collected or received from such passenger, and if such passenger shall have paid his fare the same shall be refunded by the conductor in charge of the train.

If a passenger, whose bag has been checked, shall produce the check and his baggage shall not be delivered to him, he may by an action recover the value of such baggage. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 36; Code, s. 1970; Rev., s. 2623; C. S., s. 3510; 1947, c. 781.)

Editor's Note.—The section consisted of one sentence prior to the 1947 amendment, which rewrote the part now constituting the third sentence.

§ 60-107. Cars and toilets to be kept clean.—Every person or railroad company, whether incorporated or not, engaged in the regular business of carrying passengers on his or its railroad cars in this State, shall have such cars cleaned, brushed, dusted and the windows washed, if needed, at least once each day, and shall in each car, in which male and female passengers are carried, have therein a toilet room for each sex, and have the same kept clean and decent. Any person or corporation engaged in the business aforesaid who shall willfully or negligently fail or refuse to give orders to his or its agent in charge of such cars to comply with the requirements of this section, shall forfeit twenty dollars for each day of such failure or refusal, to be recovered by any person suing therefor. (1907, c. 474, ss. 1, 2; C. S., s. 3511.)

Cross Reference. — As to exception to this section, see § 60-98.

§ 60-108. Evidence of failure to order cleaning of cars; violation of orders misdemeanor.—The willful or negligent refusal or the failure on the part of the conductor or manager of any passenger car named in § 60-107 to comply with such section shall be received as evidence of failure or refusal of such person or railroad company to give the orders therein provided for. Moreover, such conductor or manager shall be guilty of a misdemeanor if he fail or refuse to carry out such orders of the persons or company mentioned in the said section. (1907, c. 474, s. 3; C. S., s. 3512.)

§ 60-109. Surcharge on Pullman car transportation.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad or Pullman car company doing business in North Carolina to collect from any person within the boundaries of North Carolina any surtax or surcharge for Pullman car transportation from one point to any other point within the bounds of the State of North Carolina; but nothing in this section shall be construed to affect in any way the charge which any railroad or Pullman car company may require for transportation on interstate travel. (1923, c. 147; C. S., s. 3512(a).)

Editor's Note.—It was said in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 305, that the power exercised in this section is clearly within the power of the State, and has been observed by carriers since its passage.

ARTICLE 13.

Carriage of Freight.

§ 60-110. No charge in excess of printed tariffs; refunding overcharge; penalty.—No railroad, steamboat, express or other transportation company engaged in the carriage of freight and no telegraph company or telephone company shall demand, collect or receive for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of property or transmission of messages more than the rates appearing in the printed tariff of such company in force at the time such service is rendered, or more than is allowed by law. In case of any overcharge, contrary to the provisions of this section, the person aggrieved may file with any agent of the company collecting or receiving greater compensation than the amount allowed a written demand, supported by a paid freight bill and an original bill of lading or duplicate thereof for refund of overcharge, and a maximum period of sixty days shall be allowed such company to pay claims filed under this section. Any company failing to refund such overcharge within the time allowed shall forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of twenty-five dollars for the first day and five dollars per day for each day's delay thereafter until said overcharge is paid, together with all costs incurred by the party aggrieved: Provided, the total forfeiture shall not exceed one hundred dollars. (1903, c. 590, ss. 1, 2; Rev., ss. 2642, 2643, 2644; C. S., s. 3514.)

Cross References.—As to power of Utilities Commission to fix rates generally, see § 62-122. As to railroad freight rates, see § 62-135 et seq. As to action for double the overcharge in railroad freight rates, see § 62-138. As to venue of action against railroad, see § 1-81. As to schedule of rates as evidence, see § 62-132. As to long and short hauls, see § 62-128. As to contract relating to rates, see § 62-129. As to duty to file schedule of rates with Utilities Commission, see § 62-68.

Constitutionality of Section.—This section is not unconstitutional as in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the federal Constitution, or the commerce clause of said Constitution, and the acts passed in pursuance thereof. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 135, 59 S. E. 355 (1907); Iron Works v. Southern R. Co., 148 N. C. 469, 62 S. E. 595 (1908). But see Hardware Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 170 N. C. 395, 86 S. E. 1025 (1915).

Section Not Applicable to Interstate Shipment.—Under the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, Congress, in the exercise of the constitutional powers conferred on it, has taken entire control of rates upon interstate shipments of goods, and this section is inoperative as to such shipments. Hdw. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 170 N. C. 395, 86 S. E. 1025 (1915).

For earlier cases holding contra, see Thurston v. Southern R. Co., 165 N. C. 598, 81 S. E. 785 (1914); Macon County Supply Co. v. Tallulah Falls R. Co., 166 N. C. 82, 82 S. E. 13 (1914).

Penalty Enforceable though Charges Small.—The penalty fixed by this section to enforce the duty of the carrier in regard to proper charges for transporting freight and refund of overcharges, which cannot in any event exceed $100, is enforceable for a default established against defendant, though the particular transportation charges may appear disproportionately small. It is on failure to return small amounts wrongfully overcharged that penalties are especially required. In large matters the claimant can better afford the cost of litigation. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 129, 59 S. E. 359 (1907).

Recovery of Excess Caused by Error in Tariff Distance Table.—Where carriers charged rates in accordance with the published tariffs on file but because of error in the tariff distance table the charges are excessive, the shippers may recover the excess charged by petition before the Utilities Commission, the remedy by civil action under this section and §§ 62-138 and 62-139 to recover overcharges and penalties being the proper remedy only when the charges are collected in excess of the published tariffs. State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 249 N. C. 477, 106 S. E. (2d) 681 (1959).

Burden of Proving Overcharge.—The burden is upon the plaintiff to show that a freight rate charged and collected by a carrier was in excess of its tariff required of the carrier to be published, when he seeks to recover this excess and the statutory penalty; and where the shipment has been routed over one line of connecting carriers and the tariff filed by the carrier over another route is shown, it affords no evidence as to the rate of the actual route of the shipment, and, in the absence of further evidence, a judgment as of nonsuit should be granted. Hdw. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 170 N. C. 395, 86 S. E. 1025 (1915).

Rates Need Not Be Same for Both Directions.—In shipments to a great distance, special circumstances, such as flow of traffic, may justify a higher rate between two points in one direction than in the opposite; and in an action for the recovery of the penalty under this section, it is error for the judgment below in effect to charge the jury that such tariff rate published between the two points for freight moving in an opposite direction to that of the shipment in question was conclusive, and that they should be governed in their verdict as to the overcharge accordingly. Scull & Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 144 N. C. 180, 56 S. E. 876 (1907).

Freight Charge on Undelivered Shipment.—Where the defendant collected freight charges for an entire shipment, as invoiced and originally billed, and the sum of 96 cents was paid as freight on that part of the shipment which was "short" and not delivered, this was an overcharge, and failure to refund such overcharge after the sixty days allowed for investigation rendered the defendant liable for the penalty denounced by this section. Cottrell v. Carolina, etc., R. Co., 141 N. C. 383, 54 S. E. 288 (1906).

Agent as Party Aggrieved.—Where under agreement with his principal the agent of a manufacturer is obligated to pay the freight charges on shipments made to him, and upon demand of the carrier he has paid its unlawful charges on a shipment, he is the party aggrieved, and may maintain his action to recover the excess, and also the penalty when settlement has not been made within sixty days, when he has filed written demand supported by the original freight bill and the original or duplicate bill of lading, etc. Tilley v. Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 363, 90 S. E. 309 (1916).

What Demand Must Specify.—Where the carrier has demanded and received an unlawful freight charge for a shipment, and the party aggrieved has made written demand of the carrier for payment of the overcharge, as required by the statute, it is not necessary, in order to maintain an action for the penalty imposed upon the carrier failing to settle in sixty days, that the written demand specify the penalty, or that demand therefor be made in the justice's court or alleged in the complaint filed on appeal therefrom. Tilley v. Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 363, 90 S. E. 309 (1916).

Same — Separate Demands in Same Envelope.—The mere fact that the plaintiff inclosed separate written demands in the same envelope, and gave an aggregate amount thereof, in a letter accompanying them, does not affect the demands being specific, when the overcharges were separate and distinct, the demand made specifically as to each, accompanied separately with the paid freight bill and duplicate bill of lading, and each demand was complete in itself; and such is a compliance with the provisions of this section. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 129, 59 S. E. 359 (1907).

§ 60-111. Penalty for failure to receive and forward freight tendered.—Agents or other officers of railroad and other transportation companies whose duty it is to receive freights shall receive all articles of the nature and kind received by such company for transportation whenever tendered at a regular depot, station, wharf or boat landing, and every loaded car tendered at a sidetrack, or any warehouse connected with the railroad by a siding, and shall forward the same by the route selected by the person tendering the freight under existing laws; and the transportation company represented by any person refusing to receive such freight shall forfeit and pay to the party aggrieved the sum of fifty dollars for each day such company refuses to receive such shipment of freight, and all damages actually sustained by reason of the refusal to receive freight. If such loaded car be tendered at any siding or warehouse at which there is no agent, notice shall be given to an agent at the nearest regular station at which there is an agent that such car is loaded and ready for shipment. (Code, s. 1964; 1903, cc. 444, 693; Rev., s. 2631; C. S., s. 3515.)

Cross References.—As to power of Utilities Commission to prevent discrimination, see § 62-56. As to venue of action against railroad, see § 1-81. As to regulation of shipment of inflammable substances and explosives, see § 62-58.

This section is constitutional as applied to intrastate shipments. Corbett v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 205 N. C. 85, 170 S. E. 129 (1953).

Intrastate Shipments.—The penalty imposed by this section is not a burden upon interstate commerce when shipments are intrastate. Wampum Cotton Mills v. Carolina, etc., R. Co., 150 N. C. 612, 64 S. E. 588 (1909).

Interstate Shipments.—In Reid v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 753, 64 S. E. 874 (1909), it was held that the penalty provided for by the provisions of this section would apply to interstate shipments, the same not being a burden on interstate commerce. In reviewing the same case the United States Supreme Court reversed this decision and held that the section could not apply to interstate shipments. Southern Ry. Co. v. Reid, 222 U. S. 424, 32 S. Ct. 140, 56 L. Ed. 257 (1912).

Section Strictly Construed.—This is a penal statute and must be strictly construed. Cox v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 148 N. C. 459, 62 S. E. 556 (1908).

Requisites of Valid Tender.—This section provides that the tender be made at a regular station and that the articles tendered be of the nature and kind received by the carrier for transportation, and it is necessary in an action for the penalty to show that the character of the shipment and place of tender are such as fall within its provisions. Olive v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 152 N. C. 279, 67 S. E. 583 (1910).

Same—Sufficiency of Allegations.—A complaint alleging that plaintiff tendered to a carrier at a certain station a certain quantity of loose lumber for shipment, etc., which the defendant wrongfully and unlawfully refused to receive, states a good cause of action, since it would be inferred, to be thereafter shown by proof, that this station referred to was a regular station, and that loose lumber was an article usually received by the carrier. Olive v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 152 N. C. 279, 67 S. E. 583 (1910).

Meaning of "Whenever Tendered."—The words "whenever tendered" can only be qualified by supplying the ellipsis "within the usual hours adopted by the public for the transaction of such business at the place where the tender is made." Alsop v. Southern Express Co., 104 N. C. 278, 10 S. E. 297 (1889).

Effect of Carrier's Regulation as to Time of Tender.—Where money was tendered to the agent of an express company at a regular station for shipment at 2 o'clock P. M., and the trains carrying express freight in the direction of the place to which it was to be consigned passed only at 12:55 o'clock P. M. each day, a regulation of the company that money would be received for shipment only on the morning before the train on which it was to be transported passed, would not protect the company in an action brought to recover a penalty incurred by violation of this section. Alsop v. Southern Express Co., 104 N. C. 278, 10 S. E. 297 (1889).

Tender of Freight Eight Minutes before Train.—Where the plaintiff tendered to the defendant thirty crates of strawberries at a small station requiring only one agent to attend to the various duties of express, telegraph, and railroad agent, and the tender was made at the time the train for which the shipment was intended was seen approaching the depot, about eight minutes before its arrival, a charge of the court that it was for the jury to determine whether, under the circumstances, the tender of the shipment for that train was in time was not open to plaintiff's objection. Shaw v. Southern Express Co., 171 N. C. 216, 88 S. E. 222 (1916).

Requisites for Daily Penalty.—In order for the daily penalty to attach to the carrier for continually refusing to accept freight for shipment under the provisions of this section, it is necessary for actual or constructive tender of the freight to be made to the carrier each day; and where cattle are the subject of shipment, evidence that the shipment had been refused and that the shipper kept the cattle near the depot and told the defendant's agent thereof, and that he would deliver them when notified that the company would receive them is insufficient except as to the first penalty. Bane v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 171 N. C. 328, 88 S. E. 477 (1916).

When the common carrier permits a shipper to load a car with his goods and refuses to receive it for shipment or to issue a bill of lading, it is a refusal to receive the goods for shipment, under this section; and when the shipper leaves the goods in the car, with request for shipment, and by his conduct, understood by the railroad, makes his tender continuous, each day's delay is a separate refusal, within the meaning of the statute, to which the penalty will apply. Garrison v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 575, 64 S. E. 578 (1909).

Same—Placing Goods in Depot.—Placing a shipment of goods in the depot of the carrier, prepared for and with request for shipment, and thus leaving them there, makes each day's delay by the carrier "a refusal to ship," under this section, and the carrier, thus refusing, is responsible for the penalty. Burlington Lumber Co. v. Southern R. Co., 152 N. C. 70, 67 S. E. 167 (1910).

Meaning of "Under Existing Laws."—The words "Under existing laws," in this section, qualify the word "forward," and are used in reference to the rules governing the legal relations of consignor, consignee and the connecting lines. Alsop v. Southern Express Co., 104 N. C. 278, 10 S. E. 297 (1889).

Who Is the "Party Aggrieved."—The shipper of the goods is the "party aggrieved," and is the one entitled to sue for the penalty prescribed in this section which arises from the wrongful refusal of the carrier's agent to accept the goods for transportation. Reid v. Southern R. Co., 149 N. C. 423, 63 S. E. 112 (1908).

Same—Consignee of Goods Shipped on Approval.—A consignee to whom goods are shipped on approval owes a duty to the consignor to return them if they are unsatisfactory, and he must do so to relieve himself of liability to the consignor; and he is the party aggrieved, under this section, and may maintain his action thereunder for the penalty prescribed upon the refusal of the carrier to accept the goods for shipment. Burlington Lumber Co. v. Southern R. Co., 152 N. C. 70, 67 S. E. 167 (1910).

Same—Agent of Attaching Creditor.—The penalty prescribed by this section is for the person who is interested in having the goods shipped, and whose legal right in respect thereto is denied; and a person may not maintain an action for the penalty, as the party aggrieved, who has no right or interest in the goods tendered by him for shipment, except as agent or attorney for an attaching creditor and surety on his attachment bond, after the debt has been paid and the goods released. McRackan v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 150 N. C. 331, 63 S. E. 1042 (1909).

Goods Not Delivered to Carrier.—When the plaintiff did not deliver the goods to the carrier, because they could not be transported by a train then getting ready to leave the station, but carried them back and shipped them the next day, a nonsuit should be allowed. Cox v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 148 N. C. 459, 62 S. E. 556 (1908).

Tender of Perishable Goods for Train Not Carrying Accommodations Therefor.

—An express company is not liable for damages and the statutory penalties of this section for refusing to receive a shipment of thirty crates of strawberries for a certain train not carrying accommodations for shipments of this character, though it had taken, on occasion, a few berries thereon for the shipper, where the lack of accommodations was known to the public, and to the shipper, and accommodations on other daily trains were specially provided. Shaw v. Southern Express Co., 171 N. C. 216, 88 S. E. 222 (1916).

Refusal to Accept Loose Hay.—Where the Corporation Commission had authorized and fixed and approved the charges for the transportation of baled hay, without expressly requiring its acceptance by the carrier when unbaled or loose, and by express provision it did not require the carrier to receive "cotton or other merchandise and warehouse the same unless the articles offered are in good shipping condition, etc.," the carrier was not liable, for the penalty prescribed by this section, for refusing to receive for shipment a carload of loose hay, such shipments evidently being of such a character as to endanger not only the property of the carrier, but that of others received by the carrier for shipment. Tilley v. Norfolk & Western R. Co., 162 N. C. 37, 77 S. E. 994 (1913).

Embargo on Consignee's Freight.—A railroad company may show, in defense to an action for refusal to receive goods for shipment when tendered, such matters as would excuse its failure to do so at common law, unavoidable conditions then existing, over which it had no control; when a carrier has refused a shipment of the nature and kind it was its business to receive, and which it could have received at the point tendered without working a hardship or oppression, it is no defense for it to show that, for the reason of the consignee's blocking the freight yards at destination, an embargo had been placed by the railroad on shipments tendered to be forwarded to him there. Garrison v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 575, 64 S. E. 578 (1909).

Embargo by Connecting Carrier.—The penalty imposed by this section is enforceable against a railroad company refusing to receive freight when tendered, though to reach the destination it was necessary for another road to receive and transport the freight beyond the junctional point; and it is no valid excuse that the connecting line had laid an embargo on the consignee, for it was the duty of the initial carrier to transport the goods and make a tender to the connecting line to be relieved of the penalty. Wampum Cotton Mills v. Carolina & Northwestern R. Co., 150 N. C. 612, 64 S. E. 588 (1909).

When Rate Unknown to Carrier.—Where the defendant carrier refused to receive for shipment goods tendered to it, basing its right to refuse upon the ground that it was necessary for the shipment to go over lines of connecting carriers in order to reach its destination and that no joint rate had been made, and the plaintiff offered to prepay the freight, and asked for a bill of lading, it was the duty of the defendant to accept the shipment, forward it to its connecting line; and to use reasonable means of ascertaining the rate of freight, by wire if necessary, for the issuance of a through bill of lading. Reid v. Southern R. Co., 153 N. C. 490, 69 S. E. 618 (1910).

In an action to recover the penalties alleged to have been incurred under this section, for refusing to receive freight for transportation, where the plaintiff delivered freight for shipment at the defendant's station and tendered the charges, and an agent received the freight for storage, but refused to give a bill of lading because he did not know the freight rates, and kept the freight twelve days, there was a refusal "to receive for transportation," and the action is brought under the proper statute. Twitty v. Southern R. Co., 141 N. C. 355, 53 S. E. 957 (1906).

Mismarking of Part of Shipment.—In an action to recover a penalty against a carrier for failing to ship one of four packages consigned for shipment under a single bill of lading, the defendant is estopped to claim as a defense that the mismarking of three of the packages was a sufficient excuse for failing to ship the fourth. Grocery Co. v. Sou. R. Co., 136 N. C. 396, 48 S. E. 801 (1904).

Freight Not Consigned to Regular Station.—A refusal of the carrier's agent to receive, at its depot, freight, and transportation charges therefor, destined for a point on the carrier's road which was only a siding, and was not a regular station, is wrongful, and subjects the carrier to the penalty prescribed by this section, when the refusal is on the ground that the agent did not know where the given destination was, but it appears that he could have ascertained that freight was ordinarily shipped there on way bills made out to a regular station on the carrier's road some two miles distant therefrom. Reid v. Southern R. Co., 149 N. C. 423, 63 S. E. 112 (1908).

Conclusiveness of Referee's Findings.—Where in an action to recover the prescribed penalties under this section the referee finds upon ample evidence, in a hearing in which no error of law is committed, that the shipment came within a certain classification, and that the shipper tendered the correct amount for such classification, and the finding is approved by the trial court, such finding is conclusive on appeal, and the carrier may not successfully contend that the shipment came within another classification for which higher freight charges were prescribed, and where a higher tariff has been charged on one shipment the shipper is entitled to recover the excess paid. Corbett v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 205 N. C. 85, 170 S. E. 129 (1933).

Sufficiency of Evidence.—Evidence that the shipper's contract to deliver certain merchandise was canceled because of the carrier's wrongful refusal to accept the merchandise for shipment is sufficient to support the referee's finding or actual damages, profits which would have been certainly realized but for the carrier's wrongful refusal of the shipment being recoverable under this section. Corbett v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 205 N. C. 85, 170 S. E. 129 (1933).

It shall be unlawful for any railroad company, steamboat company, express company or other transportation company doing business in this State to omit or neglect to transport within a reasonable time any goods, merchandise or other articles of value received by it for shipment and billed to or from any place in the State of North Carolina, unless otherwise agreed upon between the company and the shipper, or unless the same be burned, stolen or otherwise destroyed, or unless otherwise provided by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

Any company violating any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of fifteen dollars for the first day and two dollars for each succeeding day of such unlawful detention or neglect where such shipment is made in carload lots, and in less quantities there shall be a forfeiture in like manner of ten dollars for the first day and one dollar for each succeeding day, but the forfeiture shall not be collected for a period exceeding thirty days.

In reckoning what is a reasonable time for such transportation, it shall be considered that such transportation company has transported freight within a reasonable time if it has done so in the ordinary time required for transporting such articles of freight between the receiving and shipping stations. A delay of two days at the initial point and forty-eight hours at one intermediate point for each hundred miles of distance or fraction thereof over which such freight is to be transported shall not be charged against the transportation company as unreasonable and shall be held to be prima facie reasonable, and a failure to transport within such time shall be held prima facie unreasonable. This section shall be construed to refer not only to delay in starting the freight from the station where it is received, but to require the delivery at its destination within the time specified: Provided, that if such delay shall be due to causes which could not in the exercise of ordinary care have been foreseen, and which were unavoidable, then upon the establishment of these facts to the satisfaction of the justice of the peace or jury trying the cause, the defendant transportation company shall be relieved from any penalty for delay in the transportation of freight, but it shall not be relieved from the costs of such action. In all actions to recover penalties against a transportation company under this section, the burden of proof shall be upon the transportation company to show where the delay, if any, occurred. (1903, c. 590, s. 3; 1905, c. 545; Rev., s. 2632; 1907, cc. 217, 461; C. S., s. 3516; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Cross Reference.—As to venue of action against railroad, see § 1-81.

Editor's Note.—Under this section as it formerly stood, a penalty was imposed for unreasonable delay in the transportation of goods. Construing the statute in Alexander v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 144 N. C. 93, 56 S. E. 697 (1907), the court held that the term "transportation" did not include a delivery to consignee at the point of destination, and if goods shipped by a carrier had been properly placed at the point of destination, no penalty was incurred under this section for a negligent delay in delivery from the car or warehouse of the carrier. Subsequently the legislature amended the statute so as to include delays in delivery after transportation had ceased.

For a review of the history of legislative penalties for the refusal of railroads to transport freight, see Grocery Co. v. Southern R. Co., 136 N. C. 396, 48 S. E. 801 (1904).

Constitutionality of Section.—This section is in the nature of a police regulation and is constitutional and valid. Davis v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 68, 60 S. E. 722 (1908); Owens v. Hines, 178 N. C. 325, 100 S. E. 617 (1919).

It does not deny to the carrier the equal protection of the laws. Grocery Co. v. Southern R. Co., 136 N. C. 396, 48 S. E. 801 (1904); Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Railway, 146 N. C. 153, 59 S. E. 671 (1907).

Does Not Apply to Interstate Shipments.—A penalty may not be recovered of the carrier of an interstate shipment for negligent delay in transportation under this section. Bivens Bros. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 176 N. C. 414, 97 S. E. 215 (1918). See also Hickory Marble Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 53, 60 S. E. 719 (1908).

Same—Although Both Terminal Points in State.—A penalty under this section cannot be recovered for the failure of a railroad company to transport freight within a reasonable time, when the initial and terminal points are within the State, but the shipment necessarily passes into another state in transitu. Such is interstate commerce and cannot be interfered with by the State. Shelby Ice, etc., Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 66, 60 S. E. 721 (1908).

Carrier's Common-Law Duty Unaltered.—This section does not supersede or alter the duty of carrier at common law, but merely enforces an admitted duty and superadds a penalty. Meredith v. Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 137 N. C. 478, 50 S. E. 1 (1905).

Section Strictly Construed.—This is a penal statute, and must be strictly construed. Alexander v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 144 N. C. 93, 56 S. E. 697 (1907).

"Ordinary Time" a Question for Jury.—The question of "ordinary time" for the transportation of freight by the carrier, in a suit for a penalty for failure to transport, under this section, is a question of fact for the jury. Shelby Ice, etc., Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 66, 60 S. E. 721 (1908); Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 407, 61 S. E. 277 (1908).

In an action for the recovery of a penalty under this section, it was for the jury to find what was "ordinary" time, under the surrounding circumstances, and whether the defendant transported freight within such time; also, the amount of recovery after allowing for the "lay days," etc., provided by this section. It is error for the trial court to instruct the jury, if they believe the evidence, to answer the issue in a certain way or in a sum certain. Davis v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 68, 60 S. E. 722 (1908).

Same—No Fixed Rule.—This section does not fix a "hard and fast" rule in defining reasonable time. The two days at the initial point and forty-eight hours at each intermediate point are not the standards by which "reasonable time" is measured, but are not to be charged as "unreasonable," or to this extent the standard of the common-law duty is lowered. Jenkins v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 178, 59 S. E. 663 (1907).

Same—Burden of Proof.—When the evidence discloses that the time taken by the railroad company for transporting goods, etc., was prima facie reasonable as fixed by the statute, the question of reasonable time is one for the jury to measure by the statutory standard, the burden of proof being upon the plaintiff. Alexander v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 144 N. C. 93, 56 S. E. 697 (1907).

Same—Evidence.—In an action to recover the penalty given by this section, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff to show that the carrier failed to transport and deliver the goods within a reasonable time, which is defined to be the "ordinary time" required to transport and deliver. This may be shown by proving the distance over which the goods are to be transported and the time consumed therein. From this evidence the jury may, as a matter of common knowledge and observation, draw the conclusion whether, in view of the usual speed of freight trains, the time consumed, the distance, and other conditions, the carrier has failed to transport and deliver within a reasonable time. Jenkins v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 178, 59 S. E. 663 (1907).

Same—Illustrations.—When there was evidence that the time in transporting a certain shipment from one station to another only 25 miles away, on the same railroad, was twelve days, the jury would be permitted, from their common observation and experience, to consider and determine the question of ordinary time between the two points, and, in the absence of explanation by defendant, fix the amount of wrongful delay. Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Railway, 146 N. C. 153, 59 S. E. 671 (1907).

When it was admitted that certain articles were received by defendant, to be transported and delivered to plaintiff, the party aggrieved, the place of shipment and destination both being in the State, 58 miles apart, with but one intermediate point between them, and that the articles were not delivered to plaintiff within twenty-one days, the delay was unreasonable. Watson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 N. C. 236, 59 S. E. 55 (1907).

Two Days Allowed at Initial Point.—Under this section, the carrier is allowed two days at the initial point for the transportation of freight instead of the one day allowed by § 1-593. Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 407, 61 S. E. 277 (1908).

Day of Receipt and Day of Delivery Not Deducted.—Under this section the two days at the initial point are allowed for the purpose of giving a reasonable time to begin the transportation; the forty-eight hours at each intermediate point are allowed for the necessary change of cars or unloading and loading; and it is not a reasonable construction of the statute to deduct the day of the receipt and the day of delivery from the time thus fixed. Watson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 N. C. 236, 59 S. E. 55 (1907).

Deductible Time Allowed Applies to Actions for Penalty.—The deductible time allowed by this section in computing "reasonable time," to wit, "two days at the initial point and forty-eight hours at one intermediate point for each hundred miles distance or fraction thereof," applies to actions brought to recover the penalty given by said section and fixing the amount thereof, and not to actions for damages only. Talley v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 198 N. C. 492, 152 S. E. 390 (1930).

"Intermediate Points" Defined.—An "intermediate point," for which time is allowed under this section, in transporting freight is only where the freight is transferred to another road. Davis v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 N. C. 207, 59 S. E. 53 (1907).

In shipment of less than carload lots, a point where they are ordinarily transferred from one car to another in transit, at a junctional point on the same road, is an intermediate point, within the meaning of this section. Blue Ridge Collection Agency v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 593, 61 S. E. 462 (1908).

Same—Transfer at Carrier's Distributing Point.—When a carload intrastate shipment necessarily is transferred without breaking bulk from one road of the carrier's system to another thereof at a general distributing point in the carrier's system in order to reach destination, the carrier is allowed thereat the statutory time for transportation at such point as an intermediate point. Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 407, 61 S. E. 277 (1908).

No Absolute Right to Hold Freight Full Time Limit.—This section, providing that a carrier shall not allow any freight to remain at any "intermediate point" for more than forty-eight hours, does not authorize the carrier to hold it at each of such points the extreme limit, without any necessity for detaining it at all. Meredith v. Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 137 N. C. 478, 50 S. E. 1 (1905).

Computation of Time.—From the time consumed in transportation must be deducted the "ordinary time" within which the goods should have been transported and delivered, and two days at the "initial point" and forty-eight hours at each "intermediate point;" the remainder is the number of days for which the carrier is liable for the penalty. Jenkins v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 178, 59 S. E. 663 (1907).

Same—Sundays.—The time in which railroads shall transport freight shall be computed by excluding the first day and including the last, except when the last day falls on Sunday. Davis v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 N. C. 207, 59 S. E. 53 (1907).

When the carrier was allowed two days' time for a shipment at an intermediate point, and therefore could not deliver it before Sunday, delivery on the next succeeding day was a compliance with the law. Blue Ridge Collection Agency v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 593, 61 S. E. 462 (1908).

In a suit for the statutory penalty against a carrier for failure to transport freight, under this section, the defense that the last day, being Sunday, should not be counted is unavailable when it is made to appear that the delay chargeable began to run and to be counted from the Saturday preceding; for the charge for delay having once begun to run, it continues to run without deduction for Sundays or holidays. Watson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 N. C. 236, 59 S. E. 55 (1907); Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 407, 61 S. E. 277 (1908).

When Transportation Ceases. — Transportation ceases when the duty of the carrier as a warehouseman commences, and in respect to freight transported in carload lots, when the car reaches destination and is placed for unloading. What particular parts of the carrier's tracks and freight yards may be used for such purposes must of necessity be left to its discretion, but the car must be reasonably accessible and placed for delivery before transportation is fully ended. Brooks Mfg. Co. v. Southern R. Co., 152 N. C. 665, 68 S. E. 243 (1910).

Transportation does not cease when a carload is placed by the carrier within the yard limits of the point of destination. Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 407, 61 S. E. 277 (1908).

Negligent Default in Delivery. — This section extends the penalty to cases of negligent default in the carrier's making delivery of the freight to the consignee. Mitchell v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 183 N. C. 162, 110 S. E. 859 (1922).

Delivery Does Not Have to Be on Private Tracks. — This section does not apply to a delivery on the private tracks of a consignee, but to avoid the penalty it is required of the carrier to place for delivery a carload shipment on its track at destination at a place reasonably accessible. Brooks Mfg. Co. v. Southern R. Co., 152 N. C. 665, 68 S. E. 243 (1910).

Duty to Notify Consignee. — Where a shipment of goods is delivered to a railroad company for transportation, the title vests in the consignee, with the duty resting upon the carrier on the arrival of the goods at destination to notify the consignee and make delivery. This principle applies to a side-station when notification of arrival should have been given from a nearby station, and the inquiring consignee was there misinformed as to the arrival, and the car in the meanwhile was broken into and the shipment stolen. Acme Mfg. Co. v. Tucker, 183 N. C. 303, 111 S. E. 525 (1922).

When Goods Travel Over Several Lines. — When the initial carrier delivers goods to its connecting carrier, necessary for them to be by it further transported to their destination, and an unreasonable delay occurs, without evidence as to which carrier was responsible for the delay, the defendant, the initial carrier, is liable for the entire delay, the burden of proof being upon it as the party having the evidence peculiarly within its own knowledge or possession. Watson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 N. C. 236, 59 S. E. 55 (1907).

Same—Parties to Action. — Where an intrastate shipment of goods is transported over connecting lines to its destination, it is proper for the trial court to make both roads parties to an action to recover the penalty for the failure to transport safely and within a reasonable time, the burden being upon each defendant to show that it had not failed in its duty. Sellers Hosiery Mills v. Southern R. Co., 174 N. C. 449, 93 S. E. 952 (1917).

Who Is "Party Aggrieved." — The plaintiff is entitled to recover the penalty as the "party aggrieved," under this section, for the defendant's wrongfully failing to transport freight within a reasonable time, where the facts show that, from the attendant circumstances or terms of the agreement, he is the one whose legal right is denied and who is alone interested in having the transportation properly made. Cardwell v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 218, 59 S. E. 673 (1907).

Same—Where Goods to Be Sold for Consignor's Benefit. — The plaintiff may maintain his action against the defendant railroad company, under this section, for wrongful failure to transport certain goods received by the latter, and bill of lading issued by it to plaintiff, when it appears that plaintiff shipped the goods to be for his benefit sold by the consignee, and that he (the plaintiff) was the one who alone acquired the right to demand the service to be rendered by the defendant, and was the party aggrieved. Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Railway, 146 N. C. 153, 59 S. E. 671 (1907).

When the consignor ships goods to be sold for his own benefit, he is the "party aggrieved," under this section, and the proper party plaintiff. Robertson v. At- lantic Coast Line R. Co., 148 N. C. 323, 62 S. E. 413 (1908).

Same—Goods Not to Be Paid for until Delivery.—When the consignor had agreed with the consignee that the latter was only required to pay for the intrastate shipment when it reached its destination, the consignor may maintain his action for delay in transitu, as the party aggrieved. Davis v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 68, 60 S. E. 722 (1908).

When, by the contract or agreement between a vendor and vendee of goods, the goods are to be "received, inspected and weighed" by the vendee before any part of the purchase price is payable, the title does not vest in the vendee, and the vendor is the "party aggrieved" within the meaning of this section. Elliott v. Southern R. Co., 155 N. C. 235, 71 S. E. 339 (1911).

Same—Notice Immaterial.—When it is shown that the plaintiff is the "party aggrieved," under this section, it is of no importance and bears in no way on the justice of plaintiff's demand or of defendant's obligation, whether defendant knew who was the party aggrieved, either at the inception of the matter or at any other time. Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Railway, 146 N. C. 153, 59 S. E. 671 (1907).

The real "party aggrieved" is entitled to recover the penalty, under this section, irrespective of the question of knowledge of or notice to the defendant. Cardwell v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 218, 59 S. E. 673 (1907).

Action Not Brought "on Relation of State."—Under this section, the action for penalty is given directly to the party aggrieved, and is not required to be brought "on relation of the State." If it were, failure to bring the action in such form would be a mere informality, which could be remedied by amendment. Robertson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 148 N. C. 323, 62 S. E. 413 (1908).

Joinder of Actions.—An action for damages against a carrier for a lost shipment, and one for the penalty for unreasonable delay given by this section, do not merge into each other. They arise on contract and may be joined in the same action. Robertson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 148 N. C. 323, 62 S. E. 413 (1908).

Burden of Proof as to Destruction of Goods.—The burden of proof is on the carrier to show that it is relieved of the penalty prescribed by this section, under the provision thereof, because the goods were "burned, stolen or destroyed." That the goods were placed in defendant's car by the initial carrier, that search had been made therefor, without stating how thorough, and the absence of evidence that the goods had since been seen, is no evidence that they were "burnt, stolen or destroyed." Robertson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 148 N. C. 323, 62 S. E. 413 (1908).

When Bill of Lading Not Presumptive Evidence.—When it was the consignor's duty to load a car for shipment, which had been placed at its mill by the carrier, and the carrier's agent gave a bill of lading upon the statement of the consignor that the car had been loaded, without being required to verify the statement, the bill of lading is not presumptive evidence of the receipt of the contents of the car, and the question is an open one for the jury in a suit by the consignee for the penalty for failure to deliver under this section. Peele v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 149 N. C. 390, 63 S. E. 66 (1908).

Sufficiency of Evidence on Motion for Nonsuit.—Where a shipment of various articles was transported by the carrier to destination, and all were received by the consignee, except one of them, which was missing, and remained in the carrier's warehouse beyond the statutory reasonable time, a motion for nonsuit was properly denied. Mitchell v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 183 N. C. 162, 110 S. E. 859 (1922).

Issues.—An issue which presupposes a failure on defendant's part in its duty to transport freight, in an action for penalty under this section, is objectionable. Davis v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 68, 60 S. E. 722 (1908).

Verdict Incomplete.—Where it is established by the jury that a consignment of goods was carried to the delivering point by the carrier, which failed to deliver to the consignee, or to notify him, and the goods were lost while in its possession, the verdict is incomplete where there was no issue submitted as to whether the carrier, who is a party to the action, was in default in not delivering the goods to the consignee. Acme Mfg. Co. v. Tucker, 183 N. C. 303, 111 S. E. 525 (1922).

§ 60-113. Flume companies exercising right of eminent domain become common carriers.—All flume companies availing themselves of the right of eminent domain under the provisions of the chapter Eminent Domain shall become public carriers of freight, for the purposes for which they are adapted, and shall be under the direction, control and supervision of the Utilities Commission in the same manner and for the same purposes as is by law provided for other public carriers of freight. (1907, c. 39, s. 4; C. S., s. 3517; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Local Modification. — Duplin: 1911, c. 214.

§ 60-114. Freight charges to be at legal rates; penalty for failure to deliver to consignee on tender of same.—All common carriers doing business in this State shall settle their freight charges according to the rate stipulated in the bill of lading, provided the rate therein stipulated be in conformity with the classifications and rates made and filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission in case of shipments from without the State and with those of the Utilities Commission of this State in case of shipments wholly within this State, by which classifications and rates all consignees shall in all cases be entitled to settle freight charges with such carriers; and it shall be the duty of such common carriers to inform any consignee of the correct amount due for freight according to such classification and rates. Upon payment or tender of the amount due on any shipment which has arrived at its destination according to such classification and rates, such common carrier shall deliver the freight in question to the consignee. Any failure or refusal to comply with the provisions hereof shall subject such carrier so failing or refusing to a penalty of fifty dollars for each such failure or refusal, to be recovered by any consignee aggrieved by any suit in any court of competent jurisdiction. (1905, c. 330, s. 1; Rev., s. 2633; C. S., s. 3518; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Constitutionality of Section. — The penalty for failure of a common carrier to deliver freight, as prescribed by this section, shipped from beyond the State, after it has been unloaded from its cars and while in the depot, is constitutional and not a burden upon interstate commerce. Hockfield v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 419, 64 S. E. 181 (1909); Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 164 N. C. 224, 80 S. E. 242 (1913).

A railroad company owes it as a common-law duty to deliver freight upon tender of lawful charges by the consignee, and, in the absence of a conflicting regulation by Congress, this section, imposing a penalty upon default of the railroad company therein, is constitutional and valid, and is an aid to, rather than a burden upon, interstate commerce. Harrill Bros. v. Southern R. Co., 144 N. C. 532, 57 S. E. 383 (1907).

Foreign Corporation Bound to Obey State Laws.—Where a railroad corporation chartered by another state, leases a railroad chartered by this State, it is bound to observe and obey all laws of this State regulating the business of transportation. Hines v. Wilmington, etc., R., 95 N. C. 434 (1886).

Intrastate Rebilling of Interstate Shipment.—An interstate shipment of goods which was mislabeled, bill of lading lost, and rebilled from one point in the State to another therein, is an intrastate shipment, and upon the carrier's violating the provisions of this section, the penalty therein accrues. Hockfield v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 419, 64 S. E. 181 (1909).

Section Not Cumulative. — This section imposes only one penalty for the refusal of the railroad company to deliver freight upon demand and tender of charges, and it is not cumulative upon more than one demand for the same offense. Harrill Bros. v. Southern R. Co., 144 N. C. 532, 57 S. E. 383 (1907).

Consignee Must Produce Bill of Lading.—A consignee must produce, upon the carrier's demand, a bill of lading for a prepaid shipment of goods in the carrier's possession. Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 164 N. C. 224, 80 S. E. 242 (1913).

Insufficient Notice to Consignee. — Notice given by a carrier of the arrival of goods to a transfer company in the habit of hauling consignor's goods from the depot is not of itself sufficient notice to the consignee. Hockfield v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 419, 64 S. E. 181 (1909).

Burden of Proving Reason for Refusal to Deliver. — Where the consignee brings his action to recover the value of a shipment of goods from the carrier, shows that the shipment was addressed to him, was prepaid, in the carrier's possession at destination, and a demand for delivery, the burden is on the carrier to show a valid reason for its refusal to deliver the shipment. Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 164 N. C. 224, 80 S. E. 242 (1913).

No Liability for Unlawful Shipment. — A druggist who has not received a valid license to sell intoxicating liquors for the purposes and in the manner indicated, may not recover of the carrier the penalty provided by this section, for the failure to deliver such liquors to him for the purposes of sale, for such are unlawful and prohibited. Smith v. Southern Express Co., 166 N. C. 155, 82 S. E. 15 (1914).

Carrier Cannot Collect Storage for Illegal Detention.—A carrier cannot enforce collection of storage charges arising from its wrongful refusal to deliver goods to consignee. Hockfield v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 419, 64 S. E. 181 (1909).

Agent Ignorant of Amount of Charges. —It is no defense to an action to recover a penalty for refusing to deliver shipment upon tender of freight charges by the consignee, for the defendant company to show its agents did not know the correct amount of the charges because of the defendant's failure to file its schedule of rates. Harrill Bros. v. Southern R. Co., 144 N. C. 532, 57 S. E. 383 (1907).

Rate When Smaller Cars Furnished. — Where a consignor requested two cars of a certain standard size and the carrier furnished four cars of a smaller size the rate for the shipment must be the same. Yorke Furniture Co. v. Railroad, 162 N. C. 138, 78 S. E. 67 (1913).

Applied in Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. West Paving Co., 228 N. C. 94, 44 S. E. (2d) 523 (1947).

§ 60-115. Charging unreasonable freight rates misdemeanor. — If any railroad company doing business in this State shall charge, collect, demand or receive more than a fair and reasonable rate of toll or compensation for the transportation of freight of any description, or for the use and transportation of any railroad car upon its track or any of the branches thereof or upon any railroad in this State which has the right, license or permission to use, operate or control the same, it shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars. (1899, c. 164, s. 12; Rev., s. 3768; C. S., s. 3519.)

Cross References.—See § 62-135. As to action for double amount of overcharge, see § 62-138. As to penalty for willful overcharge, see § 62-139. As to violation of statutes regulating passenger rates, see § 60-91.

§ 60-116. Allowing or accepting rebates or pooling freights misdemeanor.—If any person shall be concerned in pooling freights or shall directly or indirectly allow or accept rebates on freights he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one thousand dollars or imprisoned not less than twelve months. (1879, c. 237, s. 2; Code, s. 1968; Rev., s. 3762; C. S., s. 3520.)

Cross Reference. — As to discrimination by rebate as misdemeanor, see § 60-6.

Cited in McGwigan v. Wilmington & W. R. R., 95 N. C. 428 (1886).

§ 60-117. Partial charges for partial deliveries. — Whenever any freight of any kind shall be received by any common carrier in this State to be delivered to any consignee in this State, and a portion of the same shall not have been received at the place of destination, it shall not be lawful for the carrier to demand any part of the charges for freight or transportation due for such portion of the shipment as shall not have reached the place of destination. The carrier shall be required to deliver to the consignee such portion of the consignment as shall have been received upon the payment or tender of the freight charges due upon such portion. But nothing in this section shall be construed as interfering with, or depriving a consignor, or other person having authority, of his rights of stoppage in transitu. (1893, c. 495; Rev., s. 2641; C. S., s. 3521.)

Editor's Note.—The repealed section related to placing railroad cars for loading. As to power of Utilities Commission to make rules for loading cars, see § 62-59.

§ 60-119. Baggage and freight to be carefully handled. — All railroad and steamboat companies shall handle with care all baggage and freights placed with them for transportation, and they shall be liable in damages for any and all injuries to the baggage or freight of persons from whom they have collected fare or charged freight, while the same is under their control. Upon proof of injury to baggage or freight in the possession or under the control of any such company it shall be presumed that the injury was caused by the negligence of the company. (1897, c. 46; Rev., s. 2624; C. S., s. 3523.)

Cross References. — As to power of Utilities Commission to regulate the delivery of baggage, see § 62-55. As to conveying livestock in a cruel manner, see § 14-363. As to carrier's liability for misdelivery, see § 21-11.

Delivery to Carrier Necessary to Fix Responsibility. — To fix the responsibility for lost baggage upon a railroad company, either as a common carrier or warehouseman, a delivery, actual or constructive, including an acceptance by the company, is necessary; and in order to a valid delivery the general rule is that when baggage is taken by others to the station, and to places where baggage is usually received, some kind of notice must be given to the agent authorized to receive it. Williams v. Southern R. Co., 155 N. C. 260, 71 S. E. 346 (1911).

Same—Estoppel. — The requisites of the general rule to affect delivery of baggage of a passenger to a railroad company in order to hold the company liable may become modified by a custom of the latter to consider and treat baggage as received when left at a given place, without further notice. Williams v. Southern R. Co., 155 N. C. 260, 71 S. E. 346 (1911).

Stipulations Limiting Liability. — Stipulations upon a railroad ticket, limiting the liability of the carrier in a specified sum "unless a greater value has been declared by the owner and excess charges paid thereon at the time of taking passage," and similar provisions in a bill of lading for the transportation of freight, are void as an attempt on the part of the carrier to contract against its own negligence. Cooper v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 161 N. C. 400, 77 S. E. 339 (1913).

A common carrier cannot contract with a passenger against the loss of baggage by its negligence. Thomas v. Southern R. Co., 131 N. C. 590, 42 S. E. 964 (1902).

Liability for Articles Not Properly Baggage.—While the obligation of a carrier of passengers is limited to ordinary baggage, yet if it knowingly permits a passenger, either with or without payment of an extra charge, to take articles as baggage which are not properly such, it will be liable for their loss or for damage to them, though it may have been without any fault. Trouser Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 382, 51 S. E. 973 (1905).

When Liability as Carrier Ceases. — When the baggage has arrived at its destination and has been deposited at the usual or customary place of delivery and kept there a sufficient time for the passenger to claim and remove the same, the company's liability as a common carrier ceases, and it is thereafter liable only as a warehouseman, and bound to the use of ordinary care. Trouser Co. v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 382, 51 S. E. 973 (1905).

Liability When Passenger Not Carried. — When there is no partnership arrangements between connecting lines of railroads, and a passenger buys a through ticket from a carrier to his destination on a connecting line, checks his trunk through to his destination and voluntarily returns to the starting point without going upon the road of the connecting lines, the latter carrier is not liable as insurer of the contents of the trunk from larceny by reason of taking the trunk to its destination, storing it there in its baggage room until its return was requested and then forwarding it to the junction point, without compensation. Kindley v. Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 151 N. C. 207, 65 S. E. 897 (1909).

Baggage Not on Same Train.—The passenger's right to a limited amount of baggage as a part of the consideration for the price of his ticket is upon the condition that the baggage accompany the passenger on the same train; and where without any default on the part of the carrier, its agent, without further charge, has the baggage forwarded on a later train, the carrier's liability is not that of an insurer, but of a gratuitous bailee, under the rule of the prudent man, and attaches only in instances of gross negligence. Perry v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 171 N. C. 158, 88 S. E. 156 (1916).

§ 60-120. Claims for loss of or damage to goods; filing and adjustment.—Every claim for loss of or damage to property while in possession of a common carrier, including every express company, firm or corporation doing an express business within the State, shall be adjusted and paid within ninety days in case of shipments wholly within the State and within four months in case of shipments from without the State, after the filing of such claim with the agent of such carrier at the point of destination of such shipment, or point of delivery to another common carrier, by the consignee, or at the point of origin by the consignor, when it shall appear that the consignee was the owner of the shipment: Provided, that no such claim shall be filed until after the arrival of the shipment, or some part thereof, at the point of destination, or until after the lapse of a reasonable time for the arrival thereof.

In every case such common carrier shall be liable for the amount of such loss or damage, together with interest thereon from the date of the filing of the claim therefor until the payment thereof. Failure to adjust and pay such claim within the periods respectively herein prescribed shall subject each common carrier so failing to a penalty of fifty dollars for each and every such failure, to be recovered by any consignee aggrieved (or consignor, when it shall appear that the consignor was the owner of the property at the time of shipment and at the time of suit, and is, therefore, the party aggrieved), in any court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, that unless such consignee or consignor recover in such action the full amount claimed, no penalty shall be recovered, but only the actual amount of the loss or damage, with interest as aforesaid; and that no penalty shall be recoverable under the provisions of this section where claims have been filed by both the consignor and consignee, unless the time herein provided has elapsed after the withdrawal of one of the claims.

Causes of action for the recovery of the possession of the property shipped, for loss or damage thereto, and for the penalties herein provided for, may be united in the same complaint. (1905, c. 330, ss. 2, 4, 5; Rev., s. 2634; 1907, c. 983; 1911, c. 139; C. S., s. 3524.)

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Connecting Carriers.
- III. Claim against Carriers.
- IV. Actions.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Section Must Be Strictly Construed and Followed.—This is a penal statute, and in order to recover, the plaintiff must bring his case strictly within its terms. Watkins v. American Ry. Express Co., 190 N. C. 605, 130 S. E. 305 (1925).

The penalty imposed by this section is to enforce obedience to the mandate of the law by punishment of the carrier, and the statute must be strictly construed, requiring the consignee to bring his case clearly within its language and meaning. Eagles Co. v. East Carolina Ry., 184 N. C. 66, 113 S. E. 512 (1922).

Parol Agreement to Ship Sufficient.

When a carrier has received goods for transportation over its own and a connecting line which were not delivered, and upon consignor's parol request it has them reshipped to the initial or starting point, the latter agreement for reshipment, though resting in parol, is sufficient in an action for damages to the goods occurring while in the carrier's possession. Lyon v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 165 N. C. 143, 81 S. E. 1 (1914).

Carrier Cannot Contract against Own Negligence.

A common carrier may relieve itself from liability as an insurer upon a contract reasonable in its terms and founded upon a valuable consideration, but it cannot so limit its responsibility for loss or damage resulting from its negligence. Mitchell v. Carolina Cent. R. Co., 124 N. C. 236, 32 S. E. 671 (1899); Everett v.

Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 138 N. C. 68, 50 S. E. 557 (1905).

Owner Cannot Refuse Damaged Goods. — Damages to a shipment of goods by a railroad company, caused by the carrier's negligence, does not justify the owner in refusing to accept them on that account, unless the damages are sufficient to render the goods practically worthless. He must accept the goods and sue for the damages upon the refusal of the carrier to pay them. Whittington v. Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 501, 90 S. E. 505 (1916).

II. CONNECTING CARRIERS.

Duty Assumed by Carrier. — Where a carrier accepts goods for transportation, in the absence of a special contract, it assumes the duty of safely carrying, within a reasonable time, the goods to the end of its line, and delivering them in like condition to the connecting carrier. Meredith v. Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 137 N. C. 478, 50 S. E. 1 (1905).

Duration of Duty of Safe Carriage. — The duty of safe carriage attaches as the goods pass into the custody of each company and ceases only when they are safely delivered to its successor. Lindley v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 88 N. C. 547 (1883).

Burden of Proof as to Safe Delivery. — On proof that a carrier received goods in good condition, the burden of proof rests upon such carrier to show delivery in the same condition to the next carrier or to the consignee, such proof being peculiarly within its power. Meredith v. Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 137 N. C. 478, 50 S. E. 1 (1905).

Admissibility of Evidence. — To show that the freight was in good condition when it was delivered by the defendant to a connecting line, evidence that it is the custom of agents of such lines to examine freights before receiving them, and if found in good condition to forward them, and that such examination was made and forwarding was done, is admissible. Knott v. Raleigh, etc., R. Co., 98 N. C. 73, 3 S. E. 735 (1887).

Prima Facie Case. — Where a shipment of goods is received by the consignee from the final carrier in bad condition, and there is evidence that this carrier received the goods from its connecting carrier in good condition, a prima facie case of negligence is made out against the delivering carrier, and presents sufficient evidence thereof to be submitted to the jury, with the burden of proof on it. Lyon v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 165 N. C. 143, 81 S. E. 1 (1914).

Presumption of Damage. — Among connecting lines of railway, that one in whose hands goods are found damaged is presumed to have caused the damage and the burden is upon it to rebut the presumption. Morganton Mfg. Co. v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 121 N. C. 514, 28 S. E. 474 (1897); Mitchell v. Carolina Central R. Co., 124 N. C. 236, 32 S. E. 671 (1899); Gwyn Harper Mfg. Co. v. Carolina Central R., 128 N. C. 280, 38 S. E. 894 (1901).

Same—Goods Found Damaged at Destination. — When goods are shipped over several connecting lines of carriers and are found in a damaged condition at destination, there is a rebuttable presumption that the injury was negligently inflicted by the last carrier. Boss v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 156 N. C. 70, 72 S. E. 93 (1911). This is on the principle that as the carrier is peculiarly in a position to know the facts, the burden of proof should rest on it. Beville v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 227, 74 S. E. 349 (1912).

Liability for Negligence of Connecting Carrier. — A railroad company whose line is one of several connecting roads between places from and to which freight is shipped, in the absence of a special contract, or proof of copartnership by which each of the connecting lines will become liable for the contracts of the others, is not responsible for damages for negligence occurring beyond its terminus. Knott v. Raleigh, etc., R. Co., 98 N. C. 73, 3 S. E. 735 (1887).

But where two or more common carriers unite in forming an association creating a through line for the transportation of freight, payment of tariff charges to be made at the beginning or end of the transportation, with through bills of lading, the freight charges to be divided according to the respective mileage of the companies, they become a copartnership and each line is liable for any damage resulting from delay or otherwise on any part of the through line, notwithstanding a provision in the bill of lading that each company shall be liable only for loss or damage occurring on its own line. Rocky Mount Mills v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 119 N. C. 693, 25 S. E. 854 (1896).

Interstate Shipments. — The entire regulation of interstate commerce is under federal control, and the penalty provided for by this section for failure of a carrier to pay a claim in the time prescribed does not apply to interstate shipments. See Morphis v. Express Co., 167 N. C. 139, 83 S. E. 1 (1914). The federal laws make the initial carrier liable for damages to a shipment over connecting lines. However, this does not relieve the intermediate or delivering carrier of responsibility for its own negligence, or prevent the State court from requiring the carriers to show which is responsible for the damage. See Aydlett v. Norfolk Sou. R. Co., 172 N. C. 47, 89 S. E. 100 (1916). And notice to damages to the initial carrier of an interstate shipment of goods is sufficient notice to the connecting carrier. Gilikin v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 174 N. C. 137, 93 S. E. 469 (1917).

Effect of Court Order Relieving Initial Carrier.—While the initial carrier may also be held liable for damages to a shipment made over connecting lines, a direction of the court relieving it from liability does not necessarily relieve the carrier whose negligence caused the damages. Gilikin v. Railroad, 174 N. C. 137, 93 S. E. 469 (1917).

III. CLAIM AGAINST CARRIERS.

Filing of Claim Prerequisite to Penalty.

—A consignor of a shipment of goods is required by this section to file his claim with the agent of the common carrier at the point of its origin, and this he must have done to maintain his action against the carrier for the penalty prescribed for its failure to settle for its loss, or damage thereto, within ninety days, etc. Hamlet Grocery Co. v. Southern R. Co., 170 N. C. 241, 87 S. E. 57 (1915).

In order to recover the penalty, the consignee must file his claim with the agent as the statute directs, and the filing thereof with another of the carrier's agents is insufficient. Eagles Co. v. East Carolina Ry., 184 N. C. 66, 113 S. E. 512 (1922).

Carrier May Regulate Time of Filing.—A stipulation in a bill of lading denying the carrier's liability for damages unless written notice of such claim be filed within a specified period is in derogation of the common law, and while it will be upheld if reasonable, the burden of proof is on the carrier to show that it is. Phillips v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 172 N. C. 86, 89 S. E. 1057 (1916).

A stipulation that claims must be filed in four months is reasonable. Culbreth v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 169 N. C. 723, 86 S. E. 624 (1915). An allowance of sixty days is reasonable, but an allowance of thirty days is unreasonable. Gwyn-Harper Mfg. Co. v. Carolina Central R., 128 N. C. 280, 38 S. E. 894 (1901).

Filing Claim by Mail.—The essential things for the proper filing of the claim against the common carrier for damages, and for the penalty under the provisions of this section, being its delivery to and acceptance by the carrier's designated agent, such filing is not restricted to its manual delivery, but the same may be done through the agency of the United States mail. The delivery of the mail will be presumed. Eagles Co. v. East Carolina Railway, 184 N. C. 66, 113 S. E. 512 (1922).

Omission of Amount of Loss.—It is not required that a claimant state the amount of his loss in his claim for damages against a carrier. McRary v. Southern Ry. Co., 174 N. C. 563, 94 S. E. 107 (1917).

Necessity of Written Demand.—A penal statute is to be strictly construed, and the provisions of this section are not complied with when oral demand is made, as such cannot be filed under the ordinary acceptance of the word and does not afford the carrier the protection that a written demand would give. Thompson v. Southern Express Co., 147 N. C. 343, 61 S. E. 182 (1908). But failure to file a formal written demand is no bar to a recovery from the carrier of actual damages sustained. Hinkle v. Southern Ry. Co., 126 N. C. 932, 36 S. E. 348 (1900); Kime v. Sou. R. Co., 153 N. C. 398, 69 S. E. 264 (1910).

Stipulations May Be Waived.—The stipulation in a livestock bill of lading requiring that notice in writing be given the carrier's agent at destination, of claim for damages to the animals shipped, before they are removed or mingled with other animals, may be waived by the carrier's agent at the delivering point. Newborn v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 205, 87 S. E. 37 (1915).

Connecting Carriers.—Where the second carrier in the connected line of shipment causes damages to the shipment by improperly loading it, it may not defeat an action to recover such damages, when the required notice within four months has been filed with and accepted without comment by it, on the ground that such notice had not been filed with the initial or final carrier under the terms of the contract of carriage. The doctrine of notice to the agent is applicable here. Aydlett v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 47, 89 S. E. 1000 (1916).

Interstate Shipments.—The federal statutes, while recognizing the right of the carrier to stipulate for the filing of claims within a reasonable period, provide that if the loss or damage is due to a delay in transit by negligence no notice shall be required as a condition precedent to recovery. Mann v. Transportation Co., 176 N. C. 104, 96 S. E. 731 (1918).

IV. ACTIONS.

Who May Bring Action.—Ordinarily the title to a shipment of goods by common carrier passes to the consignee upon their acceptance by the carrier, and he may sue for damages thereto in transit; but when it is shown that the consignee refused to accept the damaged goods, and that the sale has been cancelled by consent, the consignor may maintain his action against the carrier for damages. Aydlett v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 47, 89 S. E. 1000 (1916).

Joinder of Causes of Action.—A recovery of the value of a shipment of goods and the penalties for the refusal of the carrier to deliver and for the failure to settle the claim within the statutory period, may be united in the same action. Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 164 N. C. 224, 80 S. E. 242 (1913).

Same—Issues Separate and Distinct.—In an action against a railroad company to recover damages to a shipment of goods and the penalty for the failure of defendant to pay the same within ninety days, as allowed by this section, the issues raised are entirely separate and distinct from each other, and the trial judge may set aside the verdict on the second issue, and retain that on the first one, for a retrial. Hussey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 183 N. C. 7, 110 S. E. 599 (1922).

As to venue of action against railroad, see § 1-81.

Prima Facie Case.—In an action against the carrier for damages for the destruction of a shipment of freight by fire, a prima facie case is made out when the plaintiff shows the receipt of the freight for transportation and its nondelivery. Everett v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 138 N. C. 68, 50 S. E. 557 (1905); Osborne v. Southern Ry. Co., 175 N. C. 594, 96 S. E. 34 (1918).

Same—Limited Liability.—In cases of limited liability, proof of shipment and loss or injury makes a prima facie case for the shipper, and then the burden is upon the carrier to show that the circumstances of the loss bring it within the excepted causes, and when this is shown, the burden still rests upon the carrier of showing that the loss or injury was not due to its own negligence. Mitchell v. Carolina Cent. R. Co., 124 N. C. 236, 32 S. E. 671 (1899).

Plaintiff Must Prove Failure to Settle.—The burden is on plaintiff to show that the common carrier has failed to settle his claim in ninety days, etc., after written demand under the provisions of this section, applying to intrastate shipments, and the prima facie case made out by showing the unreasonable delay in the delivery of the shipment is not sufficient. Watkins v. American Ry. Express Co., 190 N. C. 605, 130 S. E. 305 (1925).

Recovery Must Equal Claim.—In order to recover the penalty for failure to settle a claim for damages within ninety days, etc., the burden is on plaintiff to show that the amount of his recovery be at least equal to the amount of his written demand. Watkins v. American Railway Express Co., 190 N. C. 605, 130 S. E. 305 (1925).

Settlement after Penalty Accrues.—The proviso that consignee must first recover the full amount claimed is only to protect the carrier against excessive demands and not to discourage settlements for losses, and the plaintiff's right to recover the penalty in such suits is not lost by accepting settlement for damages for full amount claimed after the penalty had accrued. Rabon v. Atlantic Coast Line R., 149 N. C. 59, 62 S. E. 743 (1908).

Measure of Damages for Delay.—In the trial of an action against a railroad company for loss occasioned by its delay in transporting machinery shipped over its line by plaintiff which was engaged in equipping a cotton factory, where it appeared that workmen employed by the plaintiff were forced to remain idle, though under pay of plaintiff, the measure of plaintiff's damages was the interest on the unemployed capital, the wages paid to workmen and such other costs and expenses incurred by plaintiff in consequence of the delay. Rocky Mount Mills v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 119 N. C. 693, 25 S. E. 854 (1896).

§ 60-121. Existing remedies to continue.—Section 60-120 shall not deprive any consignee of any rights or remedies now existing against common carriers in regard to freight charges or claims for loss or damage to freight, but shall be deemed and held as creating an additional liability upon such common carriers. (1905, c. 330, s. 5; Rev., s. 2635; C. S., s. 3525.)

Common-Law Remedies.—The common-law remedies of shippers and passengers are not taken away by the provisions of this chapter. Bell v. Norfolk Sou. R. Co., 163 N. C. 180, 79 S. E. 42 (1913), and cases there cited.

Action May Be Brought in Contract or Tort.—A person who has sustained injuries by reason of the failure of a railroad company to provide proper means of transportation or operate its trains may bring an action on contract, or in tort, independent of the statute. Purcell v. Richmond & Dan- ville R. Co., 108 N. C. 414, 12 S. E. 954 (1891); Va.-Carolina Peanut Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 155 N. C. 148, 71 S. E. 71 (1911).

§ 60-122. Carrier's right against prior carrier.—Any common carrier, upon complying with the provisions of §§ 60-114 and 60-120, shall have all the rights and remedies herein provided for against a common carrier from which it receives the freight in question. (1905, c. 330, s. 3; Rev., s. 2636; C. S., s. 3526.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of Utilities Commission to act as arbitrator in disputes between carriers, see § 62-61.

§ 60-123. Regulation of demurrage.—No railroad or other transportation company doing business in the State shall make any charge on account of demurrage while a car, whether the same be a refrigerator car or not, is being loaded for shipment, until it has remained at the place of loading for forty-eight hours from the time it has been so placed; but the Utilities Commission may change this provision, if it considers it unreasonable, under the power vested in it under the chapter Utilities Commission, to make regulations as to demurrage and the loading of cars. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 55; C. S., s. 3527; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of Utilities Commission to regulate demurrage, see § 62-59.

§ 60-124. Shipment of livestock on Scuppernong River regulated; violation of regulations misdemeanor.—If any transportation company or common carrier shall receive livestock for shipment at any of the landings or shipping points on Scuppernong River, Columbia excepted, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, or shall during the time any livestock may be held for shipment at any landing or shipping point on such river, Columbia excepted, fail to keep the same in a covered pound or inclosure, supplied with necessary food and drinking water, and at all times in full view of the public, such transportation company, common carrier, or the agent of either, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1903, c. 283; Rev., s. 3675; C. S., s. 3528.)

§ 60-125. Carload shipments of watermelons regulated; violation of regulations misdemeanor.—It shall be the duty of all common carriers to furnish the weights of all carload shipments of watermelons originating within the State to the shippers thereof within forty-eight hours after receipt of the same. Any common carrier violating the provisions of this section shall upon conviction be fined ten dollars for each offense. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 68; C. S., s. 3529.)

§ 60-126. Express companies to settle promptly for cash-on-delivery shipments; penalty.—Every express company which shall fail to make settlement with the consignor of a cash-on-delivery shipment, either by payment of the moneys stipulated to be collected upon the delivery of the articles so shipped or by the return to such consignor of the article so shipped, within twenty days after demand made by the consignor and payment or tender of payment by him of the lawful charges for transportation, shall forfeit and pay to such consignor a penalty of twenty-five dollars, where the value of the shipment is twenty-five dollars or less; and, where the value of the shipment is over twenty-five dollars, a penalty equal to the value of the shipment; the penalty not to exceed fifty dollars in any case: Provided, no penalty shall be collectible where the shipment, through no act of negligence of the company, is burned, stolen or otherwise destroyed: Provided further, that the penalties here named shall not be in derogation of any right the consignor may now have to recover of the company damages for the loss of any cash-on-delivery shipment or for negligent delay in handling the same. (1909, c. 866; C. S., s. 3530.)

§ 60-127. Failure to place name on produce shipped misdemeanor.

—Any person, firm or corporation selling or offering for sale or consignment any barrel, crate, box, case, package or other receptacle containing any berries, fruit, melons, potatoes, vegetables, truck or other produce of any kind whatsoever, to be shipped to any point within or without the State of North Carolina, without the true name of the grower or packer either written, printed, stamped or otherwise placed thereon in distinct and legible characters, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days: Provided, that this section shall not apply to railroads, express companies and other transportation companies selling or offering for sale, for transportation or storage charges or any other charges accruing to such railroads, express companies or other transportation companies, any barrel, crate, box, case, package, or other receptacle containing berries, fruit, melons, potatoes, vegetables, truck or other produce. (1915, c. 193; C. S., s. 3531.)

§ 60-130. Funds from unclaimed freight to be paid to State University.—Such railroad, steamboat, express or other transportation company shall make an entry of the balance of the proceeds of the sale, if any, of each parcel of freight owned by or consigned to the same person, as near as can be ascertained, and at any time within five years thereafter shall refund any surplus so retained to the owner of such freight, his heirs or assigns, on satisfactory proof of such ownership; if no person shall claim the surplus within five years, such surplus shall be paid to the State University. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 50; Code, s. 1987; Rev., s. 2639; C. S., s. 3534.)

Cross Reference.—As to unclaimed personalty escheating to the University of North Carolina, see § 116-23.

§ 60-131. Sale of unclaimed baggage or freight; notice; sale of rejected property.—Any common carrier which has had in its possession on hand at any destination in this State any article whether baggage or freight, for a period of sixty days from its arrival at destination, which said carrier cannot deliver because unclaimed, may at the expiration of said sixty days sell the same at public auction at any point where in the opinion of the carrier the best price can be obtained: Provided, however, that notice of such sale shall be mailed to the consignor and consignee, by registered mail, if known to such carrier, not less than fifteen days before such sale shall be made; or notice of the sale shall be published once a week for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published at the point of sale: Provided, that if there is no such paper published at such point, the publication may be made in any paper having a general circulation in the State: Provided further, however, that if the nondelivery of said article is due to the consignee's and consignor's rejection of it, then such article may be sold by the carrier at public or private sale, and at such time and place as will in the carrier's judgment net the best price, and this without further notice to either consignee or consignor, and without the necessity of publication. (1921, c. 124, s. 1; C. S., s. 3534(a).)

Editor's Note. — For decisions under former statute relating to sale of unclaimed freight, see Norfolk Southern R. Co. v. New Bern Iron Works, 172 N. C. 188, 90 S. E. 149 (1916); Holloman v. Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 372, 90 S. E. 292 (1916).

§ 60-132. Sale of live or perishable or cheap freight.—Where the article referred to in § 60-131 is live freight, or perishable freight, or freight of such low value as would not bring the accrued transportation and other charges if held for sixty days as provided in said section, the common carrier may, with or without advertisement, sell the same in such manner and at such time and in such place as will best in its judgment protect the interests of the carrier, the consignor and the consignee, and whenever practicable the consignor and consignee shall be notified of the proposed sale of such live or perishable freight, or freight of such low value. (1921, c. 124, s. 2; C. S., s. 3534(b).)

Editor's Note.—For decisions under former statute relating to sale of unclaimed perishable freight, see Norfolk Southern R. Co. v. New Bern Iron Works, 172 N. C. 188, 90 S. E. 149 (1916); Holloman v. Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 372, 90 S. E. 292 (1916).

§ 60-133. Record of articles and prices; deduction of expenses; payment of balance.—The carrier shall keep a record of the articles sold, and of the prices obtained therefor, and shall, after deducting all charges and expenses of the sale, including advertisement, if advertised, pay the balance to the owner of such articles on demand therefor made at any time within two years from the date of the sale. (1921, c. 124, s. 3; C. S., s. 3534(c).)

ARTICLE 14.

Street and Interurban Railways.

§ 60-134. May build and maintain water-power plants.—Where any street or interurban railway company owns lands on one or both sides of a stream which can be used in developing a water power, and desires to erect and maintain a water-power plant for the purpose of generating electricity to be used in operating such railway, then such railway company shall have the power to erect, maintain and operate such water-power plant for such purpose, and may build, maintain and operate any and all dams, ponds, canals, bridges, ferries, aqueducts, flumes, waterways, wasteways, reservoirs, and all works, machinery, houses, shops and buildings necessary for the use and operation of a water-power plant for generating electricity. Whenever such company shall not own the entire water front, or all of the lands, water rights, or other easements necessary to be used in fully developing such water power, it shall have the power to acquire any other lands, water rights or easements which may be needed to fully develop such water power; and if the company cannot agree with the owners for the purchase of such lands, water rights or other easements, the same may be condemned by the railway company for that purpose, and the procedure shall be the same as that provided for the condemnation of lands for railroads: Provided, that no dwelling house, yard, garden, orchard or burial ground shall be condemned for such purpose: Provided further, that such company shall not have the power to condemn any water power, right or property of any person, firm or corporation engaged in the actual service of the general public, where such power, right or property is being used or held to be used or to be developed for use in connection with or in addition to any power actually used by such person, firm or corporation serving the general public. Any surplus electric power generated by any plant erected under the provisions of this section may be sold by such company upon reasonable terms. (1907, c. 302; 1913, c. 94; C. S., s. 3535.)

Burden of Proof.—Where a quasi-public corporation brings action for condemnation, and the defendant resists upon the ground that the lands or water power sought to be taken are protected by the statute, the burden of proof is upon the defendant to bring the lands or water power within the provisions of the statutes excepting them. Blue Ridge Interurban R. Co. v. Hendersonville Light, etc., Co., 171 N. C. 314, 88 S. E. 245 (1916).

Land Used in Developing Power.—A public service corporation, owning lands on one bank of stream, cannot condemn across the stream and take the water rights held in the stream by another public service corporation, when it appears that the defendant holds its lands across the stream to supply power to operate its electric light and power plant, with which it is supplying such light and power to its patrons. Blue Ridge Interurban R. Co. v. Oates, 164 N. C. 167, 80 S. E. 398 (1913); Blue Ridge Interurban R. Co. v. Hendersonville Light, etc., Co., 169 N. C. 471, 86 S. E. 296 (1915).

§ 60-135. Separate accommodations for different races; failure to provide misdemeanor.—All street, interurban and suburban railway companies, engaged as common carriers in the transportation of passengers for hire in the State of North Carolina, shall provide and set apart so much of the front portion of each car operated by them as shall be necessary, for occupation by the white passengers therein, and shall likewise provide and set apart so much of the rear part of such car as shall be necessary for occupation by the colored passengers therein, and shall require as far as practicable the white and colored passengers to occupy the respective parts of such car so set apart for each of them. The provisions of this section shall not apply to nurses or attendants of children or of the sick or infirm of a different race, while in attendance upon such children or such sick or infirm persons. Any officer, agent or other employee of any street railway company who shall willfully violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1907, c. 850, ss. 1, 5, 7; 1909, c. 851; C. S., s. 3536.)

Cross References.—See note to § 60-136. As to railroads providing separate accommodations, see § 60-94.

“Willful,” as used in a criminal statute, means something more than an intention to do a thing; it implies the doing of an act purposely and deliberately, without authority or careless whether one has the right to do the act or not, in violation of law. State v. Harris, 213 N. C. 758, 197 S. E. 594 (1938).

§ 60-136. Passengers to take certain seats; violation of requirement misdemeanor.—Any white person entering a streetcar or other passenger vehicle or motor bus for the purpose of becoming a passenger therein shall, in order to carry out the purposes of § 60-135, occupy the first vacant seat or unoccupied space nearest the front thereof, and any colored person entering a street car or other passenger vehicle or motor bus for a like purpose shall occupy the first vacant seat or unoccupied space nearest the rear end thereof, provided, however, that no contiguous seat on the same bench shall be occupied by white and colored passengers at the same time, unless and until all the other seats in the car have been occupied. Upon request of the person in charge of the streetcar or other passenger vehicle or motor bus, and when necessary in order to carry out the purpose of providing separate seats for white and colored passengers, it shall be the duty of any white person to move to any unoccupied seat toward or in the front of the car, vehicle or bus, and the duty of any colored person to move to any unoccupied seat toward or in the rear thereof, and the failure of any such person to so move shall constitute prima facie evidence of an intent to violate this section. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Any such person may also be ejected from the car, vehicle or bus by the person charged with the operation thereof. Each person now or hereafter charged with the operation of any such streetcar, passenger vehicle or motor bus is hereby invested with police powers and authority to carry out the provisions of this section. (1907, c. 850, ss. 2, 6; C. S., s. 3537; 1939, c. 147.)

Editor's Note.—The 1939 amendment inserted the words “or other passenger vehicle or motor bus” in the first sentence. It also inserted the second sentence and made other changes in the section.

Effect of § 60-139.—The contention that this section and § 60-135 do not apply to motor vehicles transporting passengers for hire except on busses used in transporting passengers within a city or town was held without merit as the provisions of such sections were extended by § 60-139, to include "motor busses operated in the urban, interurban or suburban transportation of passengers for hire, and to the operator or operators thereof, and the agents, servants, and employees of such operators." State v. Johnson, 229 N. C. 701, 51 S. E. (2d) 186 (1949).

Segregation of Interstate Passengers. — While it is held in Morgan v. Virginia, 328 U. S. 373, 66 S. Ct. 1050, 90 L. Ed. 1317, 165 A. L. R. 574 (1946), that a State statute which requires segregation of interstate passengers is beyond the State's power to make, the decision does not purport to invalidate reasonable rules and regulations of interstate carriers, which require segregation of the white and negro races. Pridgen v. Carolina Coach Co., 229 N. C. 46, 47 S. E. (2d) 609 (1948).

Burden of Proving Intentional Violation. — While this section does not require the State to prove willfulness, the burden rests upon the State to show beyond a reasonable doubt that defendant intentionally violated the statute. State v. Brown, 225 N. C. 22, 33 S. E. (2d) 121 (1945).

§ 60-137. No liability for mistake in assigning passengers to wrong seat. — No street, suburban or interurban railway company, its agents, servants or employees, shall be liable to any person on account of any mistake in the designation of any passenger to a seat or part of a car set apart for passengers of the other race. (1907, c. 850, s. 8; C. S., s. 3538.)

§ 60-138. Misconduct on car; riding on front platform misdemeanor. — It shall be unlawful for any passenger to expectorate upon the floor or any other part of any streetcar, or to use, while thereon, any loud, profane or indecent language, or to make any insulting or disparaging remark to or about any other passenger or person thereon within his or her hearing. It shall likewise be unlawful for any passenger to stand willfully upon the front platform, fender, bumper, running board or steps of such car while the same is in motion, whether such passenger has or has not paid the usual fare for riding on such car. Any person willfully violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. He may also be ejected from the car by the conductor and other agent or agents charged with the operation of such car, who are hereby invested with police powers to carry out the provisions of this section. (1907, c. 850, ss. 3, 6; C. S., s. 3539.)

§ 60-139. Sections 60-135 to 60-138 extended to motor busses used as common carriers. — The provisions of §§ 60-135 to 60-138 are hereby extended to motor busses operated in the urban, interurban or suburban transportation of passengers for hire, and to the operator or operators thereof, and the agents, servants, and employees of such operators. (1933, c. 489.)

Cross Reference. — See note to § 60-136. 197 S. E. 594 (1938); State v. Johnson, 229 N. C. 701, 51 S. E. (2d) 186 (1949).

§ 60-140. Passenger riding on rear platform assumes risk; copies of section to be posted. — Any passenger who shall ride upon the rear platform of any streetcar in motion, when there is room for such passenger either

State Need Not Show That Defendant Was Intrastate Passenger. — In a prosecution under § 60-135 and this section, evidence that a white and a colored defendant occupied the same seat on a bus and refused to move to unoccupied seats in the front and rear of the bus as required by statute, makes out a prima facie case of intent to violate the statute and is sufficient to withstand defendants' motion for judgment as of nonsuit even in the absence of evidence by the State that defendants were intrastate passengers, since the burden of going forward with the evidence to show that defendants were interstate passengers rests upon defendants. State v. Johnson, 229 N. C. 701, 51 S. E. (2d) 186 (1949).

Evidence Sufficient for Jury. — Where State's evidence tended to show that defendant, when called upon by bus driver, refused to move her seat, compelling the driver to call upon officers of the law to remove her, there was sufficient evidence for the jury, and motion for nonsuit was properly denied. State v. Brown, 225 N. C. 22, 33 S. E. (2d) 121 (1945).

Stated in State v. Jackson, 135 F. Supp. 682 (1955).

to sit or stand inside the car, shall be deemed to have assumed all the risks of being injured while so riding, as the result of any act of the street car company: Provided, that such company shall make it appear that such passenger would not have been injured had he been on the inside of said car: Provided further, that before any street, interurban or suburban railway shall be allowed to invoke the provisions of this section it shall have copies thereof printed and framed and one copy hung in each end of all cars operated on its lines, and shall further have a placard hung in a conspicuous place on the rear of such cars, which shall read as follows: "Passengers are warned not to ride on this platform," and a placard hung on each side of open cars in a conspicuous place, which shall read as follows: "Passengers are warned not to ride on the running board." (1907, c. 850, s. 4; C. S., s. 3540.)

Cross Reference.—As to injury while on train platform, see § 60-105.

§ 60-141. Streetcars to have vestibule fronts; failure to provide them misdemeanor.—All street passenger railway companies shall use vestibule fronts, of frontage not less than four feet, on all passenger cars run by them on their lines during the latter half of the month of November and during the months of December, January, February and March of each year: Provided, that such companies shall not be required to close the sides of the vestibules: Provided further, that such companies may use cars without vestibule fronts in cases of temporary emergency in suitable weather, not to exceed four days in any one month within the period herein prescribed for the use of vestibule fronts. The Utilities Commission is hereby authorized to make exemptions from the provisions of this section in cases where in their judgment the enforcement of this section is unnecessary. Any such company that shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each day of such refusal or failure. (1901, c. 743; Rev., ss. 2615, 3800; C. S., s. 3541; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Duty of Streetcar Company. — A streetcar company owes the duty to its passengers to use a high degree of care to see that they safely alight from its cars. Woods v. North Carolina Public-Service Corporation, 174 N. C. 697, 94 S. E. 459 (1917).

Causal Connection between Violation and Injury. — The plaintiff must show a causal connection between the violation by defendant of this section and the injury sustained. Rich v. Asheville Electric Co., 152 N. C. 689, 68 S. E. 232 (1910).

§ 60-142. Streetcars to have fenders; failure to provide them misdemeanor.—All street passenger railway companies shall use practical fenders in front of all passenger cars run by them. The Utilities Commission is hereby authorized to make exemptions from the provisions of this section in cases where in their judgment the enforcement of this section is unnecessary. Any such company that shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each day of such refusal or failure. (1901, c. 743, s. 2; Rev., ss. 2616, 3801; C. S., s. 3542; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

"Practical Fenders" Defined. — The "practical fenders" required for streetcars by this section are those which are efficient for the purpose of protecting human life, etc., or the most approved appliance in general use, and a violation of this statute is negligence per se. Smith v. Charlotte Elec. Ry. Co., 173 N. C. 489, 92 S. E. 382 (1917).

Violation of this section by a streetcar company, in failing to provide a "practical fender" for its car, causing an injury, is evidence of actionable negligence per se. Ingle v. Asheville Power, etc., Co., 172 N. C. 751, 90 S. E. 953 (1916); Hanes v. Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 191 N. C. 13, 131 S. E. 402 (1926).

Violation Negligence Per Se.—The vio-

Travelers by Vehicles Protected. — The requirement of "practical fenders" on streetcars applies to the protection of those traveling by vehicles, automobiles, etc. Hanes v. Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 191 N. C. 13, 131 S. E. 402 (1926).

Burden of Proof as to Exemption.—The burden of proof is on a street railway company to show that the Commission, in its judgment, had found it unnecessary to enforce the provisions of this section, requiring the use of "practical fenders" on their streetcars, in an action to recover damages caused by its negligence in not using them. Smith v. Charlotte Elec. Ry. Co., 173 N. C. 489, 92 S. E. 382 (1917).

Exemption of All Companies Unauthorized.—This section does not authorize an exemption of all the street railway companies by the Commission, as this would amount to a suspension of the statute. Henderson v. Durham Traction Co., 132 N. C. 779, 44 S. E. 598 (1903).

Evidence. — In an action for the killing of a dog by a streetcar, it is not competent to show the condition of the fenders on particular cars other than the one by which the dog was killed, it being shown that the fenders were different on different cars. Moore v. Electric Ry., etc., Co., 136 N. C. 554, 48 S. E. 822 (1904).

ARTICLE 15.

Electric Interurban Railways.

§ 60-143. Organization. — Any electric interurban railway company, whether organized under the laws of this or any other State, may construct, maintain and operate electric interurban railways and engage in business in this State. (1927, c. 33, s. 1.)

§ 60-144. Right of eminent domain.—Any such company may exercise the right of eminent domain under the provisions of chapter forty and acts amendatory thereof, and for the purpose of constructing its roads and other works shall have the powers given railroad corporations by this chapter, and acts amendatory thereof, provided, that no such company shall operate over the streets of any municipality by means of steam motive power, except with the consent of the municipal authorities. (1927, c. 33, s. 2; 1949, c. 496.)

Editor's Note.—The 1949 amendment rewrote the last few lines of this section relating to steam motive power.

§ 60-145. Status defined. — All such companies shall be deemed public service corporations and shall be subject to the laws of this State regulating such corporations. (1927, c. 33, s. 3.)

ARTICLE 16.

Pipe Line Companies.

§ 60-146. Right of eminent domain conferred upon pipe line companies; other rights.—Any pipe line company transporting or conveying natural gas, gasoline, crude oil, coal in suspension, or other fluid substances by pipe line for the public for compensation, and incorporated under the laws of the State of North Carolina, or foreign corporations domesticated under the laws of North Carolina, may exercise the right of eminent domain under the provisions of chapter forty and acts amendatory thereof, and for the purpose of constructing and maintaining its pipe lines and other works shall have all the rights and powers given railroads and other corporations by chapters fifty-six and sixty and acts amendatory thereof, provided the pipe lines of such companies transporting or conveying natural gas, gasoline, crude oil, coal in suspension, or other fluid substances shall originate within this State. Nothing herein shall prohibit any such pipe line company granted the right of eminent domain under the laws of this State from extending its pipe lines from within this State into another state for the purpose of transporting natural gas or coal in suspension into this State, nor to prohibit any such pipe line company from conveying or transporting natural gas, gasoline, crude oil, coal in suspension, or other fluid substances from within this State into another state. All such pipe line companies shall be deemed public service companies and shall be subject to the laws of this State regulating such corporations. (1937, c. 280; 1951, c. 1002, s. 3; 1957, c. 1045, s. 2.)

Cross Reference.—As to supervision by Utilities Commission, see § 62-30.

Editor's Note.—The 1951 amendment inserted in the fourth and fifth lines the words "or foreign corporations domesticated under the laws of North Carolina".

The 1957 amendment inserted the words

"coal in suspension" in the first and second sentences. It also inserted "or coal in suspension" in the second sentence.

Both this section and § 40-2 apply only to pipe lines originating in North Carolina. See 15 N. C. Law Rev. 364.

Chapter 61.

Religious Societies.

Sec.

61-1. Trustees may be appointed and removed.

61-2. Trustees may hold property.

61-3. Title to lands vested in trustees, or in societies.

Sec.

61-4. Trustees may convey property.

61-5. Authority of bishops, ministers, etc., to acquire, hold and transfer property; prior transfers validated.

61-6. House on vacant land vests title.

§ 61-1. Trustees may be appointed and removed.—The conference, synod, convention or other ecclesiastical body representing any church or religious denomination within the State, as also the religious societies and congregations within the State, may from time to time and at any time appoint in such manner as such body, society or congregation may deem proper, a suitable number of persons as trustees for such church, denomination, religious society, or congregation. The body appointing may remove such trustees or any of them, and fill all vacancies caused by death or otherwise. (1796, c. 457, ss. 1, 2; 1844, c. 47; 1848, c. 76; R. C., c. 97; Code, ss. 3667, 3668; Rev., ss. 2670, 2671; C. S., s. 3568.)

Editor's Note.—Session Laws 1945, c. 90, provides for the appointment of trustees for certain Primitive Baptist churches to dispose of abandoned church property and distribute the proceeds thereof.

This section applies only to religious societies and not to educational institutions. Allen v. Baskerville, 123 N. C. 126, 31 S. E. 383 (1898); Thornton v. Harris, 140 N. C. 498, 53 S. E. 341 (1906).

Hence, upon the death of the last survivor of a board of trustees named in a deed for property to be used as a "Baptist church and for the education of the youths of the colored race," it was held that their successors should be appointed under § 45-9 by the clerk of the superior court. Thornton v. Harris, 140 N. C. 498, 53 S. E. 341 (1906).

That religious bodies must act through and appoint trustees is recognized by this section. Pressly v. Walker, 238 N. C. 732, 78 S. E. (2d) 920 (1953).

Society May Remove Trustees at Will.—Under the provisions of this section, a religious society may remove a trustee of church property who proves faithless to his trust, and may fill any vacancy thus created. Nash v. Sutton, 117 N. C. 231, 23 S. E. 178 (1895). Faithlessness is not required, however, and it may remove trustees at will. Conference v. Allen, 156 N. C. 524, 72 S. E. 617 (1911).

Section Not Affected by Church Regulations.—A church has authority to appoint a "suitable number" of its own trustees for the purpose of acquiring and holding church property, and remove them at will; and where the discipline of the denomination with which a church is affiliated has provided a note to be given for the trial of "offenses," this regulation refers to infractions of church discipline and does not apply to the election or removal of trustees. Conference v. Allen, 156 N. C. 524, 72 S. E. 617 (1911).

Trustee May Maintain Action for Removal of Trustees, etc.—A duly appointed trustee of a religious society may maintain an action for the removal of faithless or incompetent trustees, and compel them to convey the property held by them to the purposes for which it was designed, and such trustee may also maintain an action to set up a lost deed executed for the benefit of the cestui que trust. Nash v. Sutton, 109 N. C. 550, 14 S. E. 77 (1891).

And Member May Maintain Action.—In the absence of competent trustee and a governing body authorized to appoint trustees, any member of a religious society has such a beneficial interest as will enable him, in behalf of fellow members, to maintain such action as may be necessary to protect their common interest. Nash v. Sutton, 109 N. C. 550, 14 S. E. 77 (1891).

Cited in Bridges v. Pleasants, 39 N. C. 26 (1845); King v. Richardson, 136 F. (2d) 849 (1943).

§ 61-2. Trustees may hold property.—The trustees and their successors have power to receive donations, and to purchase, take and hold property, real and personal, in trust for such church or denomination, religious society or congregation; and they may sue or be sued in all proper actions, for or on account of the donations and property so held or claimed by them, and for and on account of any matters relating thereto. They shall be accountable to the churches, denominations, societies and congregations for the use and management of such property, and shall surrender it to any person authorized to demand it. (1796, c. 457, ss. 1, 3; 1844, c. 47; 1848, c. 76; R. C., c. 97; Code, ss. 3667, 3668; Rev., ss. 2670, 2671; C. S., s. 3569.)

Cross References.—See note to § 61-3. As to trusts and trustees generally, see § 36-19 et seq.

This section applies only to property held for religious purposes and not to property held in trust for a "Baptist church and for the education of the youths of the colored race." Thornton v. Harris, 140 N. C. 498, 53 S. E. 341 (1906).

No General Capacity of Acquisition.—Religious societies or their trustees have no general capacity of acquisition; they can only take for the use of the society. And by a conveyance to trustees, for purposes forbidden by the policy of the law, nothing passes. Trustees v. Dickenson, 12 N. C. 189 (1827).

Church Has Right to Use of Property.

—A church of the congregational system having elected certain trustees to supersede several theretofore elected, holds the church property through those trustees later elected, and has the right to the use of the church for religious services without molestation from the trustees removed, or from its conference. Conference v. Allen, 156 N. C. 524, 72 S. E. 617 (1911).

Levy on Communion Service.—A communion service of a church is not liable to seizure and sale under an execution by a pastor for salary due him. Lord v. Hardie, 82 N. C. 241 (1880).

An individual member of a religious society has an equitable interest in the property held by the society. Nash v. Sutton, 117 N. C. 231, 23 S. E. 178 (1895).

Trusts for Special Purposes.—There is nothing in this section which precludes trustees of a certain North Carolina church from accepting trusts for special purposes; and, even if there were, a trust for a special purpose would not fail because they were named as trustees but equity would appoint other trustees to administer it in application of the maxim that a trust will not be allowed to fail for lack of a trustee. King v. Richardson, 136 F. (2d) 849 (1943).

Trustees Are Agents.—The trustees of a church are merely agents and have no property interest as against the governing body of the church. Conference v. Allen, 156 N. C. 524, 72 S. E. 617 (1911).

Same — May Mortgage Property. — A congregation taking possession of a church cannot contest the validity of a mortgage given by the trustees for the purchase money on the ground that it was ultra vires. Rountree v. Blount, 129 N. C. 25, 39 S. E. 631 (1901).

Same—May Enforce Bequest.—Where a testator provides for building a fence around a certain chapel cemetery, the trustees of the chapel are the proper parties to require the executor to perform this provision. Cabe v. Vanhook, 127 N. C. 424, 37 S. E. 464 (1900).

Same—May Recover Property. — The title to church property is vested in the trustees individually and they may recover at law, though in the writ and declaration they style themselves "trustees." Walker v. Fawcett, 29 N. C. 44 (1846).

Title Not in Controversy in Contest between Trustees. — In a contest between two committees, each claiming to be the rightful board of trustees, to hold the same title in trust for the same beneficial owner, the title does not come in controversy. Thornton v. Harris, 140 N. C. 498, 53 S. E. 341 (1906).

Original Trustees May Sue though Not Legally Appointed.—Where a conveyance is made to three persons for a certain tract of land, as trustees for a church, a suit of trespass may be brought by them against the wrongdoers, though they may not have been appointed trustees according to law. Walker v. Fawcett, 29 N. C. 44 (1846).

It is only when a suit is brought by persons, who claim as "successors," that the question arises, whether the original bargainees were duly chosen the trustees of a religious congregation, and whether the persons suing were also duly chosen trustees, so as to give them legally the character of "successors" to the former, and thereby vest in them the title to the property, which is necessary to support an action. Walker v. Fawcett, 29 N. C. 44 (1846).

Trustees Cannot Recover for Physical Suffering of Pastor, etc.—In suit by the trustees of a church against a railroad company for the improper use of its terminal or depot at or near the manse of the church, no recovery can be had for any physical suffering upon the part of their pastor, his family, or the individuals composing the congregation. Taylor v. Sea- board Air Line Ry., 145 N. C. 400, 59 S. E. 129 (1907).

Liability of Trustees.—The trustees of a church are liable for material ordered by one of their number and used in building the church although the order was not authorized. Tull v. Trustees, 75 N. C. 424

(1876). But the building committee of a church is not liable for injuries received by a workman. Wilson v. Clark, 110 N. C. 364, 14 S. E. 962 (1892).

Cited in Bridges v. Pleasants, 39 N. C. 26 (1845).

§ 61-3. Title to lands vested in trustees, or in societies.—All glebes, lands and tenements, heretofore purchased, given, or devised for the support of any particular ministry, or mode of worship, and all churches and other houses built for the purpose of public worship, and all lands and donations of any kind of property or estate that have been or may be given, granted or devised to any church or religious denomination, religious society or congregation within the State for their respective use, shall be and remain forever to the use and occupancy of that church or denomination, society or congregation for which the glebes, lands, tenements, property and estate were so purchased, given, granted or devised, or for which such churches, chapels or other houses of public worship were built; and the estate therein shall be deemed and held to be absolutely vested, as between the parties thereto, in the trustees respectively of such churches, denominations, societies and congregations, for their several use, according to the intent expressed in the conveyance, gift, grant or will; and in case there shall be no trustees, then in such churches, denominations, societies and congregations, respectively, according to such intent. (1776, c. 107; 1796, c. 457, s. 4; R. C., c. 97, s. 1; Code, s. 3665; Rev., s. 2672; C. S., s. 3570.)

This section applies only to religious societies and not to educational institutions. Allen v. Baskerville, 123 N. C. 126, 31 S. E. 383 (1898).

Congregational and Connectional Systems.—The rights of an individual member of a congregation under the congregational system is discussed in Conference v. Allen, 156 N. C. 524, 72 S. E. 617 (1911); and the connectional system is discussed in Simmons v. Allison, 118 N. C. 763, 24 S. E. 716 (1896); Tilley v. Ellis, 119 N. C. 233, 26 S. E. 29 (1896); Kerr v. Hicks, 154 N. C. 265, 70 S. E. 468 (1911); Gold v. Cozart, 173 N. C. 612, 92 S. E. 600 (1917).

Where a diocese receiving a devise of land was afterwards divided into two dioceses, the land becomes the property of both and not that of the diocese in which the land happens to be and in which the testator resided. Trustees v. Trustees, 102 N. C. 442, 9 S. E. 310 (1889).

Title by Adverse Possession.—A church holding real property for a hundred years, and using it for religious purposes, acquires a fee simple title by adverse possession, independent of the validity of its deed. Gold v. Cozart, 173 N. C. 612, 92 S. E. 600 (1917).

A bequest for a religious charity must be to some definite purpose, and to some body or association of persons having a legal existence and with capacity to take.

There is no provision for donations to be employed in any general system of diffusing the knowledge of Christianity throughout the earth. Bridges v. Pleasants, 39 N. C. 26 (1845).

Bequest to Build Church Where Amount Insufficient.—A provision in a will that a church is to be built from certain funds will not fail because there is not a sufficient amount of the funds to build a church as large as directed by the testator. Paine v. Forney, 128 N. C. 237, 38 S. E. 885 (1901).

Specific Trust Must Be Imperative.—A specific trust will not be superimposed upon a title conveyed to a religious congregation, authorizing the courts to interfere and control the management and disposition of the property, unless this is the clear intent of the grantor expressed in language which should be construed as imperative. Hayes v. Franklin, 141 N. C. 599, 54 S. E. 432 (1906).

No Trust Created.—The recital in a deed conveying land to the vestry and wardens of a church that it was made "for the purpose of aiding in the establishment of a Home for Indigent Widows or Orphans, or in the promotion of any other charitable or religious objects to which the property may be appropriated" by the grantee, creates no trust, and the grantee can convey a perfect title. St. James v. Bagley, 138 N. C. 384, 50 S. E. 841 (1905).

Trustees May Hold Property as against Majority of Members. — Where land is conveyed to the officers and trustees of a nondenominational religious organization for the purposes of the organization, its officers and trustees have title to the property in trust and are entitled to hold it for the use and occupancy of the organization as against members of the organization, even though they are in the large majority, who seek possession of the property for use and occupancy by a denominational church. Wheless v. Barrett, 229 N. C. 282, 49 S. E. (2d) 629 (1948).

Rights of Majority of Congregation Withdrawing from Denomination. — A conveyance of land to trustees for the erection of a church to belong to a denomination gives the title in trust for the use of the denomination, and therefore members of the congregation of the church so erected who withdraw affiliation from the denomination, even though they be a majority of the congregation, are not entitled to the control and use of the property as against the denomination, irrespective of whether the particular church is congregational or connectional. Western North Carolina Conference v. Talley, 229 N. C. 1, 47 S. E. (2d) 467 (1948).

Applied in Pressly v. Walker, 238 N. C. 732, 78 S. E. (2d) 920 (1953).

§ 61-4. Trustees may convey property.—The trustees of any religious body may mortgage or sell and convey in fee simple any land owned by such body, when directed so to do by such church, congregation, society or denomination, or its committee, board or body having charge of its finances, and all such conveyances so made or heretofore made, or hereafter to be made, shall be effective to pass the land in fee simple to the purchaser or to the mortgagee for the purposes in such conveyances or mortgage expressed; and they may sell or mortgage its personal property. (1855, c. 384; 1889, c. 484; Rev., s. 2673; C. S., s. 3571.)

Sale to Promote Testator's Purpose.—Where a testator devised lands to the trustees of a certain church, "to be held by them as a rectory or residence for the ministers of said church; that the same shall not be disposed of, sold, or used in any other way or for any other purpose than the one designated," the trustees might sell the property if the purpose declared would be promoted thereby; or the court might order a sale under its general equity power. Church v. Ange, 161 N. C. 314, 77 S. E. 239 (1912).

Lease of Part of Property.—Where land was conveyed to a church for the purpose of maintaining a church for worship, the court will not restrain the officers of the church from leasing a small portion of the lot for erecting a store. Hayes v. Franklin, 141 N. C. 599, 54 S. E. 432 (1906).

Cited in Bond v. Tarboro, 217 N. C. 289, 7 S. E. (2d) 617, 127 A. L. R. 695 (1940).

§ 61-5. Authority of bishops, ministers, etc., to acquire, hold and transfer property; prior transfers validated.—Whenever the laws, rules, or ecclesiastic polity of any church or religious sect, society or denomination, commits to its duly elected or appointed bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer, authority to administer its affairs, such duly elected or appointed bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer shall have power to acquire by gift, purchase or otherwise, and to hold, improve, mortgage, sell and convey the property, real or personal, of any such church or religious sect, society or denomination, for the purposes, in the manner and otherwise as authorized and permitted by its laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity; and in the event of the transfer, removal, resignation or death of any such bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer, the title and all rights with respect to any such property shall pass to and become vested in his duly elected or appointed successor immediately upon appointment or election, and pending appointment or election of such successor, such title and rights shall be vested in such person or persons as shall be designated by the laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity of such church or religious sect, society or denomination.

All deeds, deeds of trust, mortgages, wills or other instruments made prior to March 24, 1939, to or by a duly elected or appointed bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer, who, at the time of the making of any such deed, deed of trust, mortgage, will or other instrument, or thereafter, had authority to administer the affairs of any church, religious sect, society or denomination under its laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity, transferring property, real or personal, of any such church or religious sect, society or denomination, are hereby ratified and declared valid; and all transfers of title and rights with respect to property, prior to March 24, 1939, from a predecessor bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer who has resigned or died, or has been transferred or removed, to his duly elected or appointed successor, by the laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity of any such church, or religious sect, society or denomination, either by written instruments or solely by virtue of the election or appointment of such successor, are also hereby ratified and declared valid.

This section shall not affect vested rights, or repeal any of the provisions of §§ 61-1 to 61-4, or of §§ 36-21 to 36-23. (1939, c. 177.)

§ 61-6. House on vacant land vests title.—All houses and edifices erected for public religious worship on vacant lands, or on lands of the State not for other purposes intended or appropriated, together with two acres adjoining the same, shall hereafter be held and kept sacred for divine worship, to and for the use of the society by which the same was originally established. (1778, c. 132, s. 6; R. C., c. 97, s. 2; Code, s. 3666; Rev., s. 2674; C. S., s. 3572.)

ARTICLE 1.

Organization of the Commission.

§ 62-1. Number and appointment of commissioners; terms. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission shall consist of five commissioners who shall be appointed by the Governor. The terms of the commissioners now serving shall expire on the first day of July next after the expiration of the term for which they have been appointed and their successors shall be appointed for terms of six years commencing on the first day of July of the year of expiration of the present terms; provided, however, the appointment to fill the existing vacancy in a four-year term shall be for a full six-year term expiring on July 1, 1965. The salary of each commissioner shall be the sum of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00) per year, except that the commissioner designated as chairman shall receive five hundred dollars ($500.00) additional compensation per annum. The prohibition of the practice of law by judges provided in G. S. 7-59 shall also apply to members of the Utilities Commission. (1941, c. 97, s. 2; 1949, c. 1009, s. 1; 1959, c. 1319.)

Editor's Note.—The Railroad Commission, established in 1891, became the Corporation Commission in 1899. See Consolidated Statutes, §§ 1023-1034; Abbott v. Beddingfield, 125 N. C. 256, 34 S. E. 412 (1899); Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191 (1904); 2 N. C. Law Rev. 70. The above-mentioned sections were repealed by Public Laws 1933, c. 134, which created the office of Utilities Commissioner and vested in the Commissioner all of the existing powers, duties, etc., of the former Corporation Commission. The act also provided for two Associate Commissioners to act with the Commissioner in certain instances for the purpose of hearing and determining matters or issues of fact. The office of Utilities

Commissioner was abolished by Public Laws 1941, c. 97, which created the North Carolina Utilities Commission and vested said Commission with all the powers, duties, etc., of the Utilities Commissioner, or the Utilities Commissioner and the Associate Commissioners, prescribed in Public Laws 1933, c. 134, and other laws. The 1941 act further provided that the words "North Carolina Utilities Commission" should be substituted for "Utilities Commissioner," etc., throughout said chapter 134 or other act amendatory thereof.

The 1949 amendment rewrote this section. For brief comment on amendment, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 489.

The 1959 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 62-2. Organization of Commission; adoption of rules and regulations.—To facilitate the work of the Commission and for administrative purposes, the chairman of the Commission, with the consent and approval of the Commission, may organize the work of the Commission in several divisions and may designate a member of the Commission as the head of any division or divisions and assign to members of the Commission various duties in connection therewith. Subject to the provisions of the State Personnel Act (article 2 of chapter 143 of the General Statutes) the Commission shall prepare and adopt rules and regulations governing the personnel, departments or divisions and all internal affairs and business of the Commission. (1941, c. 97, s. 3; 1949, c. 1009, s. 2; 1957, c. 1062, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1949 amendment rewrote this section, which formerly related to salaries of commissioners. For brief comment on amendment, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 489.

The 1957 amendment added the second sentence.

§ 62-3. Oath of office.—Each Utilities Commissioner before entering upon the duties of his office shall file with the Secretary of State his oath of office to support the Constitution and laws of the United States and the Constitution and laws of the State of North Carolina, and to well and truly perform the duties of his said office as Utilities Commissioner, and that he is not the agent or attorney of any utility company or public service corporation, or an employee thereof, and that he has no interest in any such company or corporation. (1933, c. 134, s. 5; 1935, c. 280; 1939, c. 404; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-4. Present Utilities Commissioner appointed to new Commission; chairman to administer and execute rules and regulations.—The present Utilities Commissioner is hereby named a commissioner of the North Carolina Utilities Commission for a term of six years, beginning with February first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, and is hereby designated chairman of said Commission, to hold such office during his term. Thereafter the Governor of the State of North Carolina is hereby vested with the right to designate the chairman of the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

In order to carry out the administrative purposes and objectives necessary for the efficient operation of the internal affairs and activities of the Commission, the chairman shall be the chief executive and administrative officer of the Commission and shall execute, administer and carry out the rules and regulations prepared and adopted by the Commission governing the personnel, departments or divisions and the internal affairs and business of the Commission. The chairman shall be solely responsible and charged with the duty of authorizing and approving all maintenance, subsistence and travel expense of all members of the Commission and its employees, and such expense should be certified by the persons who incur same; the chairman shall not approve any such expense unless he is satisfied that it was incurred for necessary business of the Commission, and the chairman may delegate to the department or division heads the duty of approval of such expense for employees in their departments or divisions. (1941, c. 97, s. 4; 1957, c. 1062, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment added the second paragraph.

§ 62-5. Clerical assistance.—The Utilities Commission shall be allowed such stenographic and other clerical assistance as it may require for the performance of the duties and functions of the said office, to be established and fixed by such department, bureau, or other State agency as may be charged by law with the duty of determining the extent of such assistance in said departments; all such stenographers, clerks, and assistants and special investigators so provided for to be appointed by the Utilities Commission and subject to removal or discharge by it. The salaries and compensation of such clerical assistants, special investigators, or other office force as may be allowed in the office of the Utilities Commission shall be fixed in the manner as now provided by law for fixing and regulating the salaries and compensation by other State departments. (1933, c. 134, s. 14; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to determination of extent of assistance and regulation of salaries of stenographers, see §§ 143-36 and 143-37.

§ 62-6. Biennial report to Governor.—It shall be the duty of the Commission to make to the Governor biennial reports of its transactions and recommend from time to time such legislation as it may deem advisable under the provisions of this chapter. The Governor may in his discretion cause an annual report to be made by the Commission if he shall deem such annual report to be advisable. The Commission shall cause to be printed for distribution such number of copies of such biennial report as may be prescribed by the Governor and the Attorney General under the provisions of G. S. 143-169. (1899, c. 164, s. 27; Rev., s. 1117; 1911, c. 211, s. 9; 1913, c. 10, s. 1; C. S., s. 1065; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1955, c. 981; 1957, c. 1152, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment reduced the number of copies to be printed of the former annual report. mission's duty to report annually to the Governor.

The 1957 amendment rewrote this section which formerly related to the Commission's duty to report annually to the Governor. Matters of Public Record.—Reports of the Corporation Commission (now Utilities Commission) of North Carolina are matters of public record, of which the courts therein will take judicial notice. Staton v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 144 N. C. 135, 56 S. E. 794 (1907).

§ 62-7. To keep record of receipts and disbursements.—The Commission shall keep a record showing in detail all receipts and disbursements. (1899, c. 164, s. 34; Rev., s. 1115; C. S., s. 1063; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-8. To pay fees and money into treasury.—All license fees and seal tax and all other fees paid into the office of the Utilities Commission shall be turned into the State treasury; also all moneys received from fines and penalties. (1899, c. 164, ss. 26, 33; Rev., s. 1114; C. S., s. 1064; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-9. Adoption and use of seal; certificate. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission shall adopt a seal; and in all cases where a seal is required on any document, such seal so adopted by the Utilities Commission shall be sufficient; and whenever any record, paper, or document is required to be certified or evidenced by the certificate of the Utilities Commission or its chief clerk or wherever any act or thing is required or permitted to be evidenced by such certificate, the certificate shall be made by the Utilities Commission. (1933, c. 134, s. 15; 1941, c. 97, s. 7.)

§ 62-10. Public record of proceedings; chief clerk. — The Utilities Commission shall keep in its office at all times a record of its official acts, rulings, and transactions, which shall be public records of the State of North Carolina, and all rulings and determinations of said Commission upon matters and things authorized to be passed upon by this chapter, and shall have and appoint a chief clerk, who shall be experienced in railroad and other public utilities statistics, transportation and public service charges, and whose term of office shall be for a period of two years, and he shall file with the Secretary of State the oath of office similar to that prescribed for the Utilities Commission. The Utilities Commission shall have power to remove such clerk for cause at any time. (1933, c. 134, s. 13; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-10.1. Authority of Utilities Commission to employ technically qualified personnel.—The Utilities Commission is authorized and empowered to employ technically qualified personnel to serve as members of its staff and under its direction and supervision, including a communications engineer, an electrical engineer, a director of accounting, a transportation expert, and such other experts as the Commission may determine to be necessary in the proper discharge of the Commission's duties as prescribed by law. (1949, c. 1009, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—For brief comment on section, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 489.

§ 62-10.2. Appointment of assistant attorney general assigned to Utilities Commission.—The Attorney General shall assign an assistant attorney general and such staff attorneys as may be necessary to the Utilities Commission and shall be under the direction of the Attorney General and perform such legal services as may be necessary in connection with the duties of said Commission, including the drafting of such orders, tentative orders, findings of fact and conclusions of law as any member of the Commission may require, and such other legal research, advice and appearances on behalf of the Commission as the Commission may direct. The Attorney General may require this assistant attorney general and such staff counsel to perform such other legal duties as may be determined by him. In any case in which the Attorney General shall file a complaint or shall intervene in any proceeding and the Commission determines that there may be a conflict in the position of the Commission and the Attorney General, the Commission shall have the right, with the approval of the Governor, to employ an attorney to represent it in said proceeding.

and the compensation of said attorney shall be paid from the Contingency and Emergency Fund. (1949, c. 1029, s. 3; 1959, c. 400.)

Editor's Note.—For brief comment on The 1959 amendment rewrote this section, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 489. tion.

§ 62-10.3. Utilities Commission and State Board of Assessment to coordinate facilities and personnel for mutual assistance for rate making and taxation purposes.—The Utilities Commission, at the request of the State Board of Assessment, shall make available to the State Board of Assessment the services of such of the personnel of the Utilities Commission as may be desired and required for the purpose of furnishing to the State Board of Assessment advice and information as to the value of properties of public utilities, the valuations of which for ad valorem taxation are required by law to be determined by the State Board of Assessment. It shall be the duty of the Utilities Commission and the State Board of Assessment, with regard to the assessment and valuation of properties of public utilities doing business in North Carolina, to coordinate the activities of said departments so that each of said boards shall receive the benefit of the exchange of information gathered by them with respect to the valuations of public utilities property for rate making and taxation purposes, and the facilities of each of said State agencies shall be made fully available to both of them. (1949, c. 1029, s. 3.)

ARTICLE 2.

Procedure before the Commission.

§ 62-11. Short title.—This article shall be known and may be cited as the North Carolina Utilities Commission Procedure Act of 1949. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For present provision corresponding to § 62-11 as it read prior to the 1949 revision of this article, see § 62-12.

Editor's Note.—The 1949 act repealed the former sixteen sections of this article and inserted in lieu thereof present §§ 62-11 to 62-26.15. Section 3 of the act provides: "This act shall not apply to any proceeding pending on appeal to the superior court or to the Supreme Court from an order or decision of the Utilities Commission made prior to the effective date of this act. Any party to any proceeding, which is pending before the Commission at the time of the effective date of this act, who has theretofore filed exceptions within the time and in the manner provided theretofore by law, shall be allowed sixty days after the effective date hereof to file application for rehearing as provided in G. S. § 62-26.6 and shall have the right to appeal therefrom as provided in said section."

For a summary and discussion of the 1949 revision of this article, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 490.

§ 62-12. Commission constituted a court of record.—For the purpose of making investigations, conducting hearings, making decisions and issuing orders, the Commission is hereby constituted a court of record and shall have all the powers and jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction as to all subjects over which the Commission has or may hereafter be given jurisdiction by law. The commissioners, their clerks, and members of the Commission's staff designated and assigned as examiners shall have full power to administer oaths and to hear and take evidence. The Commission shall render its decisions upon questions of law and of fact as other courts of similar jurisdiction. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum, and any act or decision of a majority of the commissioners shall constitute the act or decision of the Commission. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—For cases decided under this section as it stood prior to the 1949 revision of this article, see note to § 62-26. The cases cited below were decided under former § 62-11, to which the present § 62-12 corresponds.

Commission Is an Administrative Agency.—The Utilities Commission, a creature of the General Assembly, is an administrative agency of the State, with such powers and duties as are given it by this chapter. These powers and duties are of a dual nature—supervisory or regulatory, and judicial. State v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 293, 29 S. E. (2d) 909 (1944); Utilities Comm. v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 672, 32 S. E. (2d) 23 (1944).

Commission Has Powers of Court of General Jurisdiction as to Certain Matters.

—For the purpose of making investigations and conducting hearings, the legislature has constituted the Utilities Commission a court of record, with all the powers of a court of general jurisdiction as to all subjects embraced within the purview of the statute, for which procedure is prescribed, with the right in any party affected thereby to appeal to the courts. State v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 293, 29 S. E. (2d) 909 (1944); Utilities Comm. v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 672, 32 S. E. (2d) 23 (1944).

Deferring Use of Increased Rates Pending Investigation.—After rates for certain intrastate shipments had been duly established by the Utilities Commission, defendant sought to increase such rates by filing tariff schedules to that effect. The Commission, in a proceeding to which defendant was a party, by order of postponement, which was not objected to, deferred use of the new increased rates pending investigation, and also directed that the rates previously fixed should not be changed by subsequent tariffs or schedules until this investigation and suspension proceeding had been disposed of, continuing the investigation from time to time at the request of defendant. It was held that such action of the Commission was binding on defendant. However, defendant should be given a reasonable time to comply with the order before penalties might be invoked. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

Commission Is Without Inherent Powers of Appellate Court.—The North Carolina Utilities Commission is a court of general jurisdiction only as to subjects embraced within this chapter. It is a court of original jurisdiction and does not possess the inherent powers of an appellate court. State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 224 N. C. 762, 32 S. E. (2d) 346 (1944).

Former Statute.—For cases construing § 1023 of the Consolidated Statutes, containing similar provisions, see Caldwell v. Wilson, 121 N. C. 425, 28 S. E. 554 (1897); State v. Southern R. Co., 151 N. C. 447, 66 S. E. 427 (1909); North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1917); State v. Southern R. Co., 185 N. C. 435, 117 S. E. 563 (1923).

§ 62-13. Witnesses; production of papers; contempt.—The Utilities Commission shall have the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses, require the examination of persons and parties, and compel the production of books and papers, and punish for contempt, as by law is conferred upon the superior courts. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross References.—As to attendance of witnesses, see §§ 8-59 to 8-64. As to contempt, see § 5-1 et seq.

§ 62-14. Refusal of witnesses to testify. — If any person duly summoned to appear and testify before the Utilities Commission, or an examiner of said Commission, shall fail or refuse to testify without lawful excuse, or shall refuse to answer any proper question propounded him by a commissioner or examiner in the discharge of duty, or shall conduct himself in a rude, disrespectful or disorderly manner before a commissioner or examiner engaged in the conduct of any hearing or investigation, such persons shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00). (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

§ 62-15. Subpoenas, issuance and service. — All subpoenas for witnesses to appear before the Commission or an examiner and notice to persons or corporations, shall be issued by the Commission or its clerk and be directed to any sheriff, constable or other officer authorized by law to serve process issued out of the superior courts, who shall execute the same and make due return thereof as directed therein, under the penalties prescribed by law for a failure to execute and return the process of any court. The Commission shall have the authority to require the applicant for a subpoena for persons and documents to make a reasonable showing that the evidence of such persons or documents will be material and relevant to the issue in the proceeding. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

now covered by § 62-18. As to depositions, see § 62-19. As to burden of proof, see § 62-26.

§ 62-16. Service of process and notices.—The clerk of the Commission may serve any notice issued by it and his return thereof shall be evidence of said service; and it shall be the duty of the sheriffs and all officers authorized by law to serve process issuing out of the superior courts, to serve any process, subpoenas and notices issued by the Commission, and such officers shall be entitled to the same fees as are prescribed by law for serving similar papers issuing from the superior court. Service of notice of all hearings, investigations and proceedings by the Commission may be made upon any person upon whom a summons may be served in accordance with the provisions governing civil actions in the superior courts of this State, and may be made personally by an authorized agent of the Commission or by mailing in a sealed envelope, registered, with postage prepaid, or by certified mail. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 2.)

Cross References.—As to fees of officers, see § 162-6. As to penalty upon sheriff for failing to execute and return process, see § 162-14.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, the subject matter of this section was covered by § 62-17, and this section related to the issuance and service of subpoenas, now covered by § 62-15.

The 1957 amendment added the words "or by certified mail" at the end of the section.

§ 62-17. Bonds.—All bonds or undertakings required to be given by any of the provisions of this chapter shall be payable to the State of North Carolina, and may be sued on as are other undertakings which are payable to the State. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section dealt with service of process and notices and corresponded to present § 62-16, and bonds were covered by § 62-18.

§ 62-18. Rules of evidence. — In hearings and investigations conducted under the provisions of this chapter, the Commission shall apply the rules of evidence applicable in civil actions in the superior court, in so far as practicable, but no decision or order of the Commission shall be made or entered in any such proceeding unless the same is supported by competent, material and substantial evidence upon consideration of the whole record. Oral evidence shall be taken only on oath or affirmation. The rules of privilege shall be effective to the same extent that they are now or hereafter recognized in civil actions in the superior court. The Commission may exclude incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and unduly repetitious or cumulative evidence. All evidence, including records and documents in the possession of the Commission of which it desires to avail itself, shall be made a part of the record in the case by definite reference thereto at the hearing. Any party introducing any document or record in evidence by reference shall bear the expense of all copies required for the record in the event of an appeal from the Commission's order. Every party to a proceeding shall have the right to call and examine witnesses, to introduce exhibits, to cross-examine opposing witnesses on any matter relevant to the issues, to impeach any witnesses regardless of which party first called such witnesses to testify and to rebut the evidence against him. If a respondent does not testify in his own behalf, he may be called and examined as if under cross-examination. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 2.)

Cross Reference.—As to rules of evidence generally, see § 8-1 et seq.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section dealt with bonds or undertakings and corresponded to present § 62-17, and rules of evidence were covered by § 62-15.

The 1959 amendment inserted the sixth sentence.

Admissibility of Annual Reports of Municipalities.—In a proceeding by a utility for an increase in rates, wherein municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy purchased from the utility protested against the proposed schedules of the utility, copies of annual reports of the municipality to the Commission pursuant to the requirements of § 62-98, which showed profits made by the municipalities from resale of electrical energy, were admissible in evidence on the question of whether the proposed schedules were fair and equitable as between groups or classifications to be served under such schedules. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

§ 62-19. Depositions. — The Commission or any party to a proceeding may take and use depositions of witnesses in the same manner as provided by law for the taking and use of depositions in civil actions in the superior court. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For cases decided under this section as it stood prior to the 1949 revision of this article, see notes to §§ 62-26.6, 62-26.8.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section related to Admissibility of Evidence of Rates Charged by Another Utility.—In a proceeding by a utility for a rate increase the Commission properly excluded evidence of rates charged by another utility in the same area as that involved in the proceeding in the absence of evidence as to the relative cost conditions of the two utilities. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

Burden of Proof.—In the hearing before the Utilities Commission, the burden was on the applicant to offer competent, material and substantial evidence in support of his application for modification of his existing franchise. Utilities Comm. v. Great Southern Trucking Co., 223 N. C. 687, 28 S. E. (2d) 201 (1943); State v. Ray, 236 N. C. 692, 73 S. E. (2d) 870 (1953).

judgments of the Utilities Commission and appeals therefrom. For present provisions as to final orders of Commission and appeals, see § 62-26.3 et seq.

§ 62-20. Use of affidavits.—At any time, ten or more days prior to a hearing or a continued hearing, any party or the Commission may send by registered or certified mail or deliver to the opposing parties a copy of any affidavit proposed to be used in evidence, together with the notice as herein provided. Unless an opposing party or the Commission at least five days prior to the hearing if the affidavit and notice are received at least twenty days prior to such hearing, otherwise at any time prior to or during such hearing sends by registered or certified mail or delivers to the proponent a request to cross-examine the affiant at the hearing, the right to cross-examine such affiant is waived and the affidavit, if introduced in evidence, shall be given the same effect as if the affiant had testified orally. If an opportunity to cross-examine an affiant at the hearing is not afforded after request therefor is made as herein provided, the affidavit shall not be received in evidence. The notice accompanying the affidavit shall set forth the name and address of the affiant and shall contain a statement that the affiant will not be called to testify orally and will not be subject to cross-examination unless the opposing parties or the Commission demand the right of cross-examination by notice mailed or delivered to the proponent at least five days prior to the hearing if the notice and affidavit are received at least twenty days prior to such hearing otherwise at any time prior to or during such hearing. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section related to appeals from judgments of the Utilities Commission. For present provisions as to appeals, see § 62-26.6 et seq.

The 1957 amendment inserted the words "or certified" in the first and second sentences.

§ 62-21. Attorney General may intervene in certain cases. — The Attorney General shall, in cases in which in his opinion the public interest so requires, or upon the request of the Governor or of the Commission, attend or assign an assistant to attend any hearing before the Commission or an examiner and conduct the examination of witnesses and otherwise participate in said hearing on behalf of the State. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For cases decided under this section as it stood prior to the 1949 revision of this article, see notes to §§ 62-26.8, 62-26.10.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section related to the docketing of appeals and priority of trial, matters now covered by § 62-26.7, and the manner of trying appeals, which is now governed by §§ 62-26.6, 62-26.9 and 62-26.10.

§ 62-22. Stipulations and agreements.—In all contested proceedings the Commission, by prehearing conferences and in such other manner as it may deem expedient and in the public interest, shall encourage the parties and their counsel to make and enter stipulations of record for the purpose of eliminating the necessity of proof of all facts which may be admitted, the authenticity of documentary evidence, the use of exhibits, and the clarification of the issues of fact and law. The Commission may make informal disposition of any contested proceeding by stipulation, agreed settlement, consent order or default. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section provided for hearing an appeal from a decision of the Utilities Commission at chambers. Procedure on appeal is now covered by § 62-26.6 et seq.

§ 62-23. Hearings to be public; record of proceedings.—All hearings before the Commission or its examiners shall be public, and shall be conducted in accordance with such general rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe. A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before the Commission or its examiners, on any formal hearing, and all testimony shall be taken by a reporter appointed by the Commission. Any party to a proceeding shall be entitled to a copy of the record upon the payment of the reasonable cost thereof as determined by the Commission. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For cases construing this section as it stood prior to the 1949 revision of this article, see note to § 62-26.12.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section related to appeals to the Supreme Court, a subject now covered by § 62-26.12.

Formal Hearing.—An informal conference between members of the Commission and representatives of the utility involved in a rate proceeding, which was called at the suggestion of the Commission, and which involved only a single question as to whether the protesting municipalities having industrial users could secure an industrial rate, and at which conference no testimony and no record was taken, was not a formal hearing within the meaning of this section. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

§ 62-24. Complaints against public utilities.—Complaints may be made by the Commission on its own motion or by any corporation or person, chamber of commerce, board of trade, labor organization, or any civic, commercial, mercantile, traffic, agricultural, or manufacturing association or organization, or any body politic or municipal corporation or any agency of the State of North Carolina or any electric membership corporation organized under chapter 291 of the Public Laws of 1935, as amended, having an interest in the subject matter of such complaint by petition or complaint in writing setting forth any act or thing done or omitted to be done by any public utility, including any rule, regulation or charge heretofore established or fixed by or for any public utility in violation of any provision of law or of any order or rule of the Commission, or that any rate, charge, schedule, classification, rule, regulation or practice is unjust and unreasonable. Upon good cause shown and in compliance with the rules of the Commission, the Commission shall also allow any interested person or organization, having an interest in the subject matter of such complaint and authorized to file a complaint, to intervene in any pending proceeding. The Commission, by regulation, may prescribe the form of complaints filed under this section, and may in its discretion order two or more complaints dealing with the same subject matter to be joined in one hearing and thereafter no motion shall be allowed for the misjoinder of causes of action or misjoinder or nonjoinder of parties. Unless the Commission shall determine, upon consideration of the complaint or otherwise, and after notice to the complainant and after opportunity to be heard that no reasonable ground exists for an investigation of such complaint, the Commission shall fix a time and place for hearing, after reasonable notice to the complainant and the utility complained of, which notice shall be not less than ten days before the time set for such hearing. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Chapter 291 of Public Laws 1935, referred to in this section, was codified as §§ 117-6 to 117-27.

Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section provided that a judgment of the superior court approving or confirming freight or passenger rates fixed by the Commission should not be vacated upon appeal to the Supreme Court.

§ 62-25. Complaints by public utilities.—Any public utility shall have the right to complain on any of the grounds upon which complaints are allowed to be filed by other parties, and the same procedure shall be adopted and followed as in other cases, except that the complaint and notice of hearing shall be served by the Commission upon such interested parties as it may designate. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For cases construing this section as it stood prior to the 1949 revision of this article, see note to § 62-26.13.

§ 62-26. Burden of proof; Commission may make rules of practice.—In all proceedings instituted by the Commission for the purpose of investigating any rate, charge, schedule, classification, rule, regulation or practice, the burden of proof shall be upon the carrier or public utility whose rate, charge, schedule, classification, rule, regulation or practice is under investigation to show that the same is just and reasonable. In all other proceedings the burden of proof shall be upon the complainant. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the Utilities Commission is authorized to formulate and promulgate rules of practice. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross Reference. — For cases construing this section as it stood before the 1949 revision of this article, see note to § 62-26.14.

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, this section related to peremptory mandamus to enforce orders of the Commission, a subject now covered by § 62-26.14. Rules of practice were formerly covered by § 62-12. See also § 62-26.3.

Rules Must Not Be Contrary to Statutes.—It was held under former § 62-12, to which this section corresponds, that while the power of the legislature to delegate authority to an administrative agency of the State to prescribe rules and regulations for the due and orderly performance of its public functions is unquestioned, this did not authorize the formulation of rules contrary to the statute. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

Challenging Validity of Rules by Appeal.

—No procedure for appeals to the courts, from rules and regulations of the Utilities Commission, was prescribed by this article as it stood prior to the revision of 1949, hence it was held that the validity of such rules could not be challenged by appeal. State v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 293, 29 S. E. (2d) 909 (1944); Utilities Comm. v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 672, 32 S. E. (2d) 23 (1944). See § 62-26.10.

§ 62-26.1. Hearings by the Commission, a commissioner or examiner. — Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, any matter requiring a hearing shall be heard and decided by the Commission or shall be referred to one of the commissioners or a qualified member of the Commission staff as examiner for hearing, report and recommendation of an appropriate order or decision thereon. Subject to the limitations prescribed in this article, a commissioner or examiner, to whom a hearing has been referred by order of the Commission, shall have all the rights, duties, powers and jurisdiction conferred by this chapter upon the Commission. The Commission, in its discretion, may direct any hearing by the Commission or any commissioner or examiner to be held in such place or places within the State of North Carolina as it may determine to be in the public interest and as will best serve the convenience of interested parties. Before any member of the Commission staff enters upon the performance of duties as an examiner, he shall first take, subscribe to and file with the Commission an oath similar to the oath required of members of the Commission. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment directly following the word "shall" the second struck out "by written order of the Commission" which formerly appeared immediately following the word "shall" the second time such word appears in the first sentence.

§ 62-26.2. Recommended decision of a commissioner or examiner. —Any report made or order or decision recommended by a commissioner or examiner with respect to any matter referred to him for hearing shall be in writing and shall set forth separately his findings of fact and conclusions of law and shall be filed with the Commission. Copy of such recommended order, report and findings shall be served upon the parties in interest who have appeared in the proceeding. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

§ 62-26.3. Rules of practice.—Prior to each decision or order by the Commission in a proceeding initially heard by it and prior to any recommended decision or order of a commissioner or examiner, the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to submit, within the time prescribed by order entered in the cause, unless further extended by order of the Commission for the consideration of the Commission, commissioner, or examiner, as the case may be, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law and brief. Within the time prescribed by the commissioner or examiner the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions to his recommended decision or order and brief in support thereof, provided the time so fixed shall be not less than fifteen days from the date of such recommended decision or order. The record shall show the ruling upon each requested finding and conclusion or exception. All final orders and decisions of the Commission shall be sufficient in detail to enable the court on appeal to determine the controverted questions presented in the proceedings and shall include

- (1) Findings and conclusions and the reasons or basis therefor upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented in the record, and
- (2) The appropriate rule, order, sanction, relief, or statement of denial thereof.

In all contested proceedings in which a commissioner or examiner has filed a report, recommended decision or order to which exceptions have been filed by one or more parties to the proceeding, the Commission, before making its final decision or order, shall afford the parties an opportunity for oral arguments. When no exceptions are filed within the time specified to a recommended decision or order, such recommended decision or order shall become the order of the Commission and shall immediately become effective unless the order is stayed or postponed by the Commission, provided, the Commission may, on its own motion, review any such matter and take action thereon as if exceptions thereto had been filed. When exceptions are filed, as herein provided, it shall be the duty of the Commission to consider the same and if sufficient reason appears therefor, to grant such review or make such order or hold or authorize such further hearing or proceeding in the premises as may be necessary or proper to carry out the purposes of this chapter. The Commission, after review, upon the whole record, or as supplemented by a further hearing, shall decide the matter in controversy and make appropriate order or decision thereon. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment lieu of “ten days from the receipt by inserted “fifteen days from the date” in such party” in the second sentence.

§ 62-26.4. Final orders and decisions; service; compliance.—A copy of every final order or decision under the seal of the Commission, shall be served by registered or certified mail upon the person, corporation, or municipal corporation against whom it runs or his attorney and notice thereof shall be given to the other parties to the proceeding or their attorney. Such order shall take effect and become operative as designated therein and shall continue in force either for a period which may be designated therein, or until changed or revoked by the Commission. If an order cannot, in the judgment of the Commission, be complied with within the time designated therein, the Commission may grant and prescribe such additional time as in its judgment is reasonably necessary to comply with the order, and may, on application and for good cause shown, extend the time for compliance fixed in its order. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—The 1957 amendment inserted the words “or certified” in line three.

§ 62-26.5. Powers of Commission to rescind, alter or amend a prior order or decision.—The Commission may at any time upon notice to the public utility affected, and after opportunity to be heard as provided in the case of complaints, rescind, alter or amend any order or decision made by it. Any order rescinding, altering or amending a prior order or decision shall, when served upon the public utility affected, have the same effect as is herein provided for original orders or decisions. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

§ 62-26.6. Right of appeal; filing of exceptions.—No party to a proceeding before the Commission may appeal from any final order or decision of the Commission unless within thirty (30) days after the entry of such final order or decision, or within such time thereafter as may be fixed by the Commission, by order made within thirty (30) days, the party aggrieved by such decision or order shall file with the Commission notice of appeal which shall set forth specifically the ground or grounds on which the aggrieved party considers said decision or order to be unlawful, unjust, unreasonable or unwarranted, and including errors alleged to have been committed by the Commission. The Commission shall within thirty (30) days after the filing of notice of appeal and exceptions to the final order or within thirty (30) days after any order which may be issued finally determining the exceptions to the final order, whichever is later, transmit the entire record in the proceeding, or a copy thereof, certified under the seal of the Commission, to the superior court of the county agreed upon by the parties, or in the absence of such agreement, to the superior court of any county in which the business involved in the proceeding is conducted, or is proposed to be conducted, or in which the remedy or relief sought is to be applied or enforced, together with the notice of appeal; provided, however, the Commission may, on motion of any party to the proceeding or on its own motion, set the exceptions to the final order upon which such appeal is based for further hearing before the Commission. Any party may appeal from all or any portion of any final order or decision of the Commission in the manner herein provided. Copy of the notice of appeal shall be mailed by the appealing party at the time of filing with the Commission, to each party to the proceeding to the addresses as they appear in the files of the Commission in the proceeding. The failure of any party, other than the Commission, to be served with or to receive a copy of the notice of appeal shall not affect the validity or regularity of the appeal. The judge holding the court for the county to which the record is sent or the resident judge of the judicial district embracing said county shall hear and determine all matters arising on such appeal, as in this article provided, and may, in the exercise of discretion, remove the case to any other county. After final determination of the appeal, the clerk of the superior court shall return to the Commission such records as were transmitted by it to such court, together with a certified copy of the decision of the court. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1955, c. 1207, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 1.)

I. General Consideration.

II. Note to Former §§ 62-19 and 62-20.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment eliminated the necessity of filing petition for rehearing on appeal to the superior court.

The 1959 amendment inserted "after the filing of notice of appeal and exceptions to the final order or within thirty (30) days after any order which may be issued finally determining the exceptions to the final order, whichever is later," beginning in line ten.

An affected party must file exceptions to the determination or decision within ten days after notice of the determination or decision. And on appeal from the Utilities Commission is limited to parties to the proceeding, and a party is not affected by a ruling of the Utilities Commission unless the decision affects or purports to affect some right or interest of a party to the controversy and is in some way determinative of some material question involved. In re Housing Authority, 233 N. C. 649, 65 S. E. (2d) 761 (1951).

Service of Notice of Appeal.—Where an interested party intervenes and contests an application filed by a utility for authority to amend its rate schedule and the application is granted, notice of appeal of such interested party from the order of the Commission must be served upon the utility and where such interested party merely mails a copy of such notice to the utility the attempted appeal is ineffectual. State v. Martel Mills Corp., 232 N. C. 690, 62 S. E. (2d) 80 (1950).

The requirement that notice of appeal from an order of the Commission shall be served on the original complainant connotes service by some officer authorized by law to make service of process, notices, and the like. State v. Martel Mills Corp., 232 N. C. 690, 62 S. E. (2d) 80 (1950).

II. NOTE TO FORMER §§ 62-19 AND 62-20.

Editor's Note.—All of the cases in the following note were decided before the 1949 revision of this article, and construe former §§ 62-19 and 62-20, to which this section corresponds.

Powers and Jurisdiction of Commission.

—Under this article as it stood prior to the revision of 1949, it was held that, for the purpose of making investigations and conducting hearings, the legislature had constituted the North Carolina Utilities Commission a court of record, with all the powers and jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction as to all subjects embraced within the purview of the statute, for which procedure was prescribed and authorized, with the right in "any party affected thereby" to appeal "from all decisions or determinations made by the Utilities Commission." State v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 293, 29 S. E. (2d) 909 (1944); Utilities Comm. v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N. C. 672, 32 S. E. (2d) 23 (1944). See § 62-12.

Orders of Commission Need No Confirmation.—The Utilities Commission is a State administrative agency of original and final jurisdiction, and its orders require no confirmation by any court to be effective. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

Rehearing upon Exceptions.—Under this article as it stood prior to the 1949 revision, it was held that the Utilities Commission was not authorized to grant rehearings except in the manner prescribed by former § 62-20, to which this section corresponds. State v. Norfolk Southern

Ry. Co., 224 N. C. 762, 32 S. E. (2d) 346 (1944).

Appeal to Superior Court.—Under former § 62-20 appeal from the Commission must be to the superior court. Pate v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 122 N. C. 877, 29 S. E. 334 (1898).

Jurisdiction of Superior Court — Dismissal.—The jurisdiction of the superior court with respect to the trial of law and fact on appeal under former § 62-20 was derivative and not original, and therefore if the Commission was without jurisdiction of the proceeding in which the order was made, from which the appeal was taken, because of the absence of a necessary party, or upon any other ground, the superior court was likewise without jurisdiction, and the proceeding pending therein, upon appeal, should be dismissed by said court. State v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928).

Independent Action to Restrain Exercise of Rights Granted by Commission.—Plaintiffs instituted action against a competing carrier to restrain it from exercising rights given it by orders of the Utilities Commission amending its franchise. The orders were entered in proceedings to which plaintiffs were parties. It was held that plaintiffs had adequate remedy for the protection of their rights by appeal under former §§ 62-19 and 62-20, and judgment sustaining defendant's demurrer in the independent action was proper. Atlantic Greyhound Corp. v. North Carolina Utilities Comm., 229 N. C. 31, 47 S. E. (2d) 473 (1948).

Right of Appeal Confined to Parties.—Former § 62-20 distinctly confined the right of appeal to a party to the proceeding. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1916).

The right of appeal conferred by former § 62-20 was limited to a party to the proceeding. For purposes of appeal, those who had no property or proprietary rights which were or might be affected by orders of the Commission were not such parties. An appeal by persons who were not parties to the proceeding would be dismissed by the superior court, for the reason that said court acquired no jurisdiction by such appeal. State v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928); State v. Kinston, 221 N. C. 359, 20 S. E. (2d) 322 (1942).

"Any Party Affected".—Under the provisions of former § 62-20, "any party affected" by the order of the Commission as to rates or charges for passengers by a street railway company, etc., was given the right of appeal to the court from such order. In re Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619 (1919). This section refers to "any party aggrieved."

The former statute, providing that "from all decisions or determinations made by the Corporation [now Utilities] Commission any party affected thereby shall be entitled to an appeal," must necessarily mean from a decision which affects or purports to affect some right or interest of a party to the controversy and is in some way determinative of some material question involved. State v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 483, 61 S. E. 271 (1908).

It is the duty of a municipality granting a charter to a corporation to operate a streetcar system therein which, by contract, has limited the fares to be charged passengers within a certain amount, to represent the public in proceedings upon a petition filed by the railway company before the Commission requesting that it be permitted to raise the fares beyond those limited in the contract, and thus the municipality might appeal through the courts as former § 62-20 prescribed, when the order was adverse to it or the interest it represented, as a "party affected by the decision and determination of the Commission," expressly provided for by the statute. In re Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619 (1919).

Who Were Not Parties under Former § 62-20.—Citizens seeking to have a railway station moved could not appeal from the Commission's decision, under former § 62-20, because they were not parties. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1916).

Notice Mandatory.—Under former § 62-20, it was held that the statutory notice of an appeal by a railroad company from an order of the Commission was mandatory, and could not be extended by the consent of the parties of record. State v. Southern R. Co., 185 N. C. 435, 117 S. E. 563 (1923); State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 224 N. C. 762, 32 S. E. (2d) 346 (1944).

Notice to Complaining Party under Former § 62-20.—When notice of appeal to the superior court was given to the Commission by a railroad company, and other requirements of former § 62-20 relating thereto were met by the company, it was sufficient without giving notice of the appeal to the complaining party in the proceedings had before the Commission, as upon this appeal the statute made the Commission the party plaintiff. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Southern R. Co., 151 N. C. 447, 66 S. E. 427 (1909).

Removal to Federal Courts.—Assuming that an order of the Commission made to compel a carrier to change the location and conditions of its depot to promote the convenience, security and accommodation of the public would be an invasion of interstate commerce, this does not transform the proceedings in which the order is made into “a suit at law or in equity,” as such removable from the superior court of the State to an inferior federal tribunal, upon the ground of diverse citizenship. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Southern R. Co., 151 N. C. 447, 66 S. E. 427 (1909).

In proceedings for the removal of a cause from the State to the federal courts upon the question of diversity of citizenship under the federal statute applicable, the State court is not bound to surrender its jurisdiction until a case has been made which, on the face of the petition, shows the petitioner has a right to the transfer of the cause to the federal courts. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Southern R. Co., 151 N. C. 447, 66 S. E. 427 (1909).

Final Process.—Under this article as it stood before the 1949 revision, it was held that the Commission had no power to enforce its orders and decrees by final process issuing directly therefrom, and for such purpose resort must be had to ordinary courts, either by independent proceedings or in proper instances by process issued in cases carried before such courts on appeal. State v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 483, 61 S. E. 271 (1908). See §§ 62-26.13, 62-26.14.

Removal of Franchise Restriction as to Carriage of Passengers by Motor Carrier.—Former § 62-20 authorized a petitioner to appeal to the superior court from an adverse ruling of the Utilities Commission on its petition for the removal from its franchise of a restriction in regard to the carriage of passengers, and the contention that no appeal would lie from such order because the right of appeal was governed by the motor carrier laws authorizing an appeal from an order affecting franchise only when entered for violation of law, was untenable. Utilities Comm. v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 216 N. C. 325, 4 S. E. (2d) 897 (1939). See §§ 62-121.43 to 62-121.79.

Petitioner had the right to appeal to the superior court from the denial of its petition for the removal from its franchise of a restriction prohibiting it from transporting passengers between two cities along its route in purely local traffic between the said cities. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

§ 62-26.7. Appeal docketed; priority of trial.—The cause shall be entitled “State of North Carolina on relation of the Utilities Commission against (here insert name of appellant)”. It shall be placed on the civil issue docket of such court and shall have precedence over other civil actions. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor’s Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, the subject matter of this section was covered by § 62-21.

Utilities Commission as Party.—When the Utilities Commission sits as a court of record to determine the rights of rival claimants to a valuable franchise, it is somewhat anomalous to find it appearing in the Supreme Court to uphold its order from which one or the other party had appealed. However, this procedure seems to have been authorized by the General Assembly in this section and § 62-26.12. State v. City Coach Co., 234 N. C. 489, 67 S. E. (2d) 629 (1951).

§ 62-26.8. Parties on appeal.—In any appeal to the superior court, the complainant in the original complaint before the Commission shall be a party to the record and each of the parties to the proceeding before the Commission shall have a right to appear and participate in said appeal. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Former Law.—Under this article as it stood before the 1949 revision, in case of an appeal to the courts, the only authorized parties were the State of North Carolina on relation of the Commission as plaintiff and the railroad or other corporation as defendant. No one else could appeal, because there were, and under the statute could be, no other parties, and the right to appeal was confined to the parties to the proceeding. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1916).

The Utilities Commission is a party of record in a proceeding before it, and upon appeal the Commission becomes the party plaintiff. State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 224 N. C. 762, 32 S. E. (2d) 346 (1944).

Quoted in State v. City Coach Co., 234

N. C. 489, 67 S. E. (2d) 629 (1951) (con. op.).

Cited in State v. Martel Mills Corp., 232 N. C. 690, 62 S. E. (2d) 80 (1950).

§ 62-26.9. No evidence admitted on appeal; remission for further evidence.—No evidence shall be received at the hearing on appeal but if any party shall satisfy the court that evidence has been discovered since the hearing before the Commission that could not have been obtained for use at that hearing by the exercise of reasonable diligence, and will materially affect the merits of the case, the court may, in its discretion, remand the record and proceedings to the Commission with directions to take such subsequently discovered evidence, and after consideration thereof, to make such order as the Commission may deem proper, from which order an appeal shall lie as in the case of any other final order, from which order an appeal may be taken as provided in G. S. § 62-26.6. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1955, c. 1207, s. 2.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 62-26.10.

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment struck out the words "except that no additional petition for rehearing shall be required" formerly appearing at the end of the section.

§ 62-26.10. Record on appeal; extent of review. — On appeal the court shall review the proceeding without a jury in chambers or at term time and such review shall be confined to the record as certified by the Commission to the court, except that in cases of alleged irregularities in procedure before the Commission, not shown in the record, testimony thereon may be taken in the court. So far as necessary to the decision and where presented, the court shall decide all relevant questions of law, interpret constitutional and statutory provisions, and determine the meaning and applicability of the terms of any Commission action. The court may affirm or reverse the decision of the Commission, declare the same null and void, or remand the case for further proceedings; or it may reverse or modify the decision if the substantial rights of the appellants have been prejudiced because the Commission's findings, inferences, conclusions or decisions are:

- (1) In violation of constitutional provisions, or
- (2) In excess of statutory authority or jurisdiction of the Commission, or
- (3) Made upon unlawful proceedings, or
- (4) Affected by other errors of law, or
- (5) Unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record as submitted, or
- (6) Arbitrary or capricious.

The court shall also compel action of the Commission unlawfully withheld or unlawfully or unreasonably delayed. In making the foregoing determinations, the court shall review the whole record or such portions thereof as may be cited by any party and due account shall be taken of the rule of prejudicial error. The appellant shall not be permitted to rely upon any grounds for relief on appeal which were not set forth specifically in his notice of appeal filed with the Commission. Upon any appeal to the superior court, the rates fixed, or any rule, regulation, finding, determination, or order made by the Commission under the provisions of this chapter, shall be prima facie just and reasonable. If on any appeal the court may determine that an issue is presented which, for constitutional reasons, must be submitted to a jury, the court may order a jury trial as to such issue. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1955, c. 1207, s. 3.)

I. General Consideration.

II. Note to Former §§ 62-20 and 62-21.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment deleted the words "in his petition for rehearing by the Commission" formerly appearing at the end of the third sentence of the last paragraph and substituted in place thereof the words "in his notice of appeal filed with the Commission."

Appeals from the Utilities Commission are confined to questions of law upon grounds specifically set forth in appellant's petition for rehearing by the Commission. State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951). See State

v. Mead Corp., 238 N. C. 451, 78 S. E. (2d) 290 (1953).

In an application for a certificate under § 62-121.11 the Utilities Commission must act within the authority conferred by the statute, yet the findings from the evidence and the exercise of judgment thereon within the scope of its powers are matters for the Commission, and its order will not be disturbed when sustained by the findings upon competent, material and substantial evidence. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 180, 59 S. E. (2d) 582 (1950).

Determination by Commission Is Prima Facie Just and Reasonable.—A determination by the Commission is made by statute, not simply prima facie evidence of its validity, but prima facie just and reasonable. State v. Ray, 236 N. C. 692, 73 S. E. (2d) 870 (1953); State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955); State v. Casey, 245 N. C. 297, 96 S. E. (2d) 8 (1957).

But Appellant May Show That Order Was Unsupported by Evidence.—By this section, upon appeal the orders made by the Utilities Commission “shall be prima facie just and reasonable,” but this does not preclude the appellant from showing that the evidence offered rebuts the prima facie effect of the order, and that the order was unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 235 N. C. 273, 69 S. E. (2d) 502 (1952).

Additional Findings of Fact by Superior Court Not Authorized.—When an appeal to the superior court is taken from an order entered by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, the review is limited to the record as certified and to the questions of law presented therein. There is no provision for additional findings of fact by the judge for the purpose of determining the validity of the order entered by the Commission. State v. Fox, 236 N. C. 553, 73 S. E. (2d) 464 (1952); State v. Ray, 236 N. C. 692, 73 S. E. (2d) 870 (1953). See State v. Mead Corp., 238 N. C. 451, 78 S. E. (2d) 290 (1953).

And where the trial judge made findings of fact and upon the findings so made rendered judgment that the order of the Commission was null and void, the Supreme Court will remand the case to the superior court for judgment on the questions of law presented by the record as certified, or for remand to the Utilities Commission for additional findings if any may be deemed necessary. State v. Fox, 236 N. C. 553, 73 S. E. (2d) 464 (1952).

Stated in State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 238 N. C. 701, 78 S. E. (2d) 780 (1953).

Cited in State v. City Coach Co., 234 N. C. 489, 67 S. E. (2d) 629 (1951); State v. New Hope Road Water Co., 248 N. C. 27, 102 S. E. (2d) 377 (1958).

II. NOTE TO FORMER §§ 62-20 AND 62-21.

Editor's Note.—All of the cases in the following note were decided before the 1949 revision of this article, and construe former §§ 62-20 and 62-21, corresponding to § 62-26.6 and this section. It should be noted that the 1949 revision made many changes in procedure, and especially in the extent of review.

Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, on appeal to the superior court the trial was under the same rules and regulations applicable in other civil causes, save and except the prima facie effect to be given the decision or determination of the Commission. State v. Great Southern Trucking Co., 223 N. C. 687, 28 S. E. (2d) 201 (1943).

Appeal under Former Law Was Trial de Novo.—Upon appeal under the former statute by a party to a proceeding before the Corporation [now Utilities] Commission from an order made therein under §§ 62-42 and 62-43, the superior court had jurisdiction to try and determine both issues of law and issues of fact, duly presented by assignments of error based upon exceptions duly taken by the appellant during the hearing before the Commission. The trial of such issues by the superior court was de novo. State v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928), citing S. v. R. R., 161 N. C. 270, 76 S. E. 554 (1912).

Under this article as it stood before the 1949 revision, the trial was de novo, and from thence only would a further appeal lie to the Supreme Court, governed by the rule that such an appeal must not be fragmentary, but shall be from a final judgment or one final in its nature. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

A provision of former § 62-21, to which this section corresponds, that on appeal the trial should be “under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the trial of other civil causes,” was interpreted to mean that the trial should be de novo. State v. Great Southern Trucking Co., 223 N. C. 687, 28 S. E. (2d) 201 (1943), citing

North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem Southbound R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1916).

Appeals from the Utilities Commissioner were analogous to appeals from a justice of the peace rather than appeals from a referee, and since the trial in the superior court was de novo upon issues of fact raised by the exceptions, the superior court properly refused to pass upon appellant's exceptions to the findings of fact seriatim. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

Decision of Commission Was "Prima Facie Just and Reasonable." — While on appeal from the Utilities Commission to the superior court the provision of former § 62-21 was interpreted to mean that the trial should be de novo, the section also provided that the decision or determination of the Commission "shall be prima facie just and reasonable." State v. Great Southern Trucking Co., 223 N. C. 687, 28 S. E. (2d) 201 (1943).

Findings of Fact Not Conclusive.—Former §§ 62-20 and 62-21 did not contain any provision that the findings of fact by the Utilities Commission should be conclusive on appeal. State v. Willis Barber, etc., Shop, 219 N. C. 709, 15 S. E. (2d) 4 (1941).

Presumptions.—The provision of the former statute that the decision of the Utilities Commissioner should be deemed prima facie just and reasonable, merely raised a presumption of law, and placed the burden of going forward with the proof upon the party appealing from the decision, but even if the section had been construed to raise a presumption of fact, an instruction that the findings and decision of the Commissioner were prima facie just and reasonable gave appellee the benefit of a presumption of fact when the evidence fully apprised the jury of the substance and purport of the order. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

Issues of Fact.—While on appeal under the former law from the denial of a petition to remove certain restrictions from petitioner's franchise, the point at issue was the reasonableness of the Commissioner's order, which was a question of law, nevertheless the reasonableness of the order depended upon the attendant facts, and exceptions to the Commissioner's findings upon which his order was predicated, raised issues of fact for the determination of the jury. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

Petitioner filed a petition requesting the removal from its franchise of a restriction prohibiting it from transporting passengers between two cities along its route in purely local traffic between the said cities. The Utilities Commissioner denied the petition upon his findings, among others, that the service between the two cities furnished by another carrier was ample, that there was no necessity for permitting petitioner to furnish service between the two cities, and that the removal of the restriction was not demanded by the public interest. Upon appeal, under the former law, it was held that the exceptions raised issues of fact to be determined by a jury, a high degree of formality in separating findings and conclusions of fact from conclusions of law not being required, and the appeal was properly transferred to the civil issue docket and tried before a jury. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

Question for Decision on Appeal. — Petitioner filed a petition requesting the removal from its franchise of a restriction prohibiting it from transporting passengers between two cities along its route in purely local traffic between said cities. Upon appeal to the superior court under the former law from the denial of the petition, the carrier intervening and opposing the granting of the petition objected to the refusal of the court to submit an issue as to whether the public interest demanded additional transportation facilities between the two cities and objected to the submission of the issue as to whether the public convenience and necessity required the removal of the restriction from the petitioner's franchise, contending that the sole question within the superior court's jurisdiction was whether the public convenience and necessity required additional service, and that upon an affirmative finding to this issue in the superior court the matter should be remanded to the Commissioner in order that he might select the person or corporation to which he would award the franchise for such additional service. It was held that the question for the decision in the superior court upon appeal was whether petitioner should be given the relief prayed, and not whether the Commissioner should be sustained in his ruling, and the superior court had jurisdiction to determine the matter and grant the relief prayed for upon an affirmative finding by the jury upon the issue submitted. State v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N. C. 233, 10 S. E. (2d) 824 (1940).

Evidence.—On appeal from an order of the Commission, under former § 62-21 the trial was de novo tried under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the trial of other civil causes; and any relevant evidence could be there introduced, whether it had theretofore been introduced before the Commission or not. State v. Seaboard Air Line, etc., R. Co., 161 N. C. 270, 76 S. E. 554 (1912). See § 62-26.9.

In case wherein a union passenger depot had been ordered by the Commission it was reversible error in the superior court, on appeal from the Commission, for the trial judge to admit evidence as to the effect the relocation would have on property values in a near-by town, where the present station of one of the roads is located. State v. Seaboard Air Line, etc., R. Co., 161 N. C. 270, 76 S. E. 554 (1912).

Affirmance of Decision of Commission.

—Under former § 62-21, in the absence of a showing that the decision of the Utilities Commission was clearly unreasonable and unjust, appellee, on appeal to the superior court, was entitled to an affirmance of the decision of the Commission. State v. Carolina Coach Co., 224 N. C. 390, 30 S. E. (2d) 328 (1944).

§ 62-26.11. Relief pending review on appeal. — Pending judicial review, the Commission is authorized, where it finds that justice so requires, to postpone the effective date of any action taken by it. Upon such conditions as may be required and to the extent necessary to prevent irreparable injury, except as provided in G. S. § 62-136, the judge of the superior court is authorized to issue all necessary and appropriate process to postpone the effective date of any action by the Commission or take such action as may be necessary to preserve status or rights of any of the parties pending conclusion of the proceedings on appeal. The court may require the applicant for such stay to post adequate bond as required by the court. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

§ 62-26.12. Appeal to Supreme Court. — Any party may appeal to the Supreme Court from the judgment of the superior court under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed by law for appeals, except that the Utilities Commission, if it shall appeal, shall not be required to give any undertaking or make any deposit to assure the cost of such appeal, and such court may advance the cause on its docket so as to give the same a speedy hearing. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Cross References.—As to appeal generally, see § 1-268 et seq. As to Commission appearing before Supreme Court to uphold its own order, see note to § 62-26.7.

Editor's Note. — Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, appeals to the Supreme Court were provided for in § 62-23.

An appeal does not lie directly from the Commission to the Supreme Court. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 568, 87 S. E.

785 (1916), citing Pate v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 122 N. C. 877, 29 S. E. 334 (1898).

Right Formerly Confined to State and Corporation.—Former § 62-23, which, before the 1949 revision of this article, corresponded to this section, confined the right of appeal to the State and the corporation whose legal rights were affected by the Commission's order. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1916).

§ 62-26.13. Judgment on appeal enforced by mandamus. — In all cases in which, upon appeal, a judgment of the Utilities Commission is affirmed, in whole or in part, the appellate court shall embrace in its decree a mandamus to the appellant to put said order in force, or so much thereof as shall be affirmed, or the appellate court may make such other order as it deems appropriate. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1949 revision of this article, § 62-25 provided for enforcement of judgments on appeal by mandamus.

Performance Compelled by Mandamus. —Under former § 62-25, corresponding to this section, it was said that the State court could compel performance only by resort to the high prerogative writ of mandamus, and that by authority of the statute. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Southern R. Co., 151 N. C. 447, 66 S. E. 427 (1909).

Under former § 62-25, the right to a mandamus to enforce a valid order was given in causes which had been carried to the superior court by appeal. State v.

Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 483, 61 S. E. 271 (1908).

§ 62-26.14. Peremptory mandamus to enforce order, when no appeal.—If no appeal is taken from an order, decision or judgment of the Utilities Commission within the time prescribed by law and the utility, corporation, firm or person to which the order, decision or judgment is directed, fails to put the same in operation, as therein required, the Utilities Commission may apply to the judge riding the superior court district which embraces Wake County or to the resident judge of said district at chambers, or to the judge holding the superior court in any judicial district in which the business is conducted upon ten days' notice, for a peremptory mandamus upon said utility, corporation, firm or person for the putting in force of said order, decision or judgment; and if said judge shall find that the order of said Commission was valid and within the scope of its powers, he shall issue such peremptory mandamus. An appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court in behalf of the Utilities Commission, or the defendant utility, corporation, firm or person, from the refusal or the granting of such peremptory mandamus. The remedy herein prescribed for enforcement of orders of the Commission is in addition to other remedies prescribed by law. (1949, c. 989, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—All of the cases in the following note were decided before the 1949 revision of this article, and construe former § 62-26, to which this section corresponds.

Orders of Commission Are Not Judgments.—The Commission makes such orders as the circumstances of the case justify, but these orders are not judgments of a court. The Commission cannot issue execution to enforce them, they simply serve as the basis for judicial action in the superior court to enforce them or to punish their violation. 2 N. C. Law Rev. 74. See Mayo v. Western Union Tel. Co., 112 N. C. 343, 16 S. E. 1006 (1893).

Mandamus to Enforce Final Order.—Where the Commission had ordered two railroad companies to erect a union depot at a junction after a hearing upon the petition of the citizens of the town, and the railroads had lost or waived their statutory right to appeal, such order was regarded, under this article as it stood before the 1949 revision, as a final judgment, and mandamus proceedings to compel the enforcement of the final order upon failure of the railroads to except and appeal therefrom was the remedy authorized by former § 62-26, corresponding to this section. State v. Southern R. Co., 185 N. C. 435, 117 S. E. 563 (1923).

Independent Proceedings for Mandamus.—Under former § 62-26 an appeal might be had by independent proceedings for mandamus to enforce a valid order from which no appeal had been taken. State v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 483, 61 S. E. 271 (1908).

Former § 62-26 referred to the corporation "affected" by the order instead of the corporation "to which the order * * * is directed." It was held that the language of the former section indicated that the right of appeal from an order of the Commission was limited to the State and the corporation whose legal rights were affected by the order, under former § 62-20, which conferred the right of appeal on "any party affected." North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Winston-Salem, etc., R. Co., 170 N. C. 560, 87 S. E. 785 (1916). See § 62-26.6 and note.

§ 62-26.15. Procedural provisions not repealed.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to repeal any of the procedural provisions of article 6B and article 7 of chapter 62 of G. S. (1949, c. 989, s. 4.)

ARTICLE 2A.

Fees and Charges.

§ 62-26.16. Particular fees and charges fixed; payment.—The North Carolina Utilities Commission shall receive and collect the following fees and charges, and no other:

- (1) $25.00 with each notice of appeal to the superior court, and with each notice of application for a writ of certiorari.
- (2) $15.00 with each application for a certificate or permit for motor carrier operating rights, and with each application to amend such certificate or permit so as to extend or enlarge the scope of operations thereunder, or as filing fee for each broker who applies for a brokerage license under the provision of G. S. 62-121.55, Volume 2B.
- (3) $15.00 with each application for a general increase in rates, fares or charges. This fee shall not apply to applications for adjustments in particular rates, fares or charges for the purpose of eliminating inequities, preferences or discriminations.
- (4) $15.00 with each application for discontinuance of train service, or for a change in or discontinuance of station facilities.
- (5) $15.00 with each application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, or for any amendment thereto so as to extend or enlarge the scope of operations thereunder.
- (6) $10.00 with each application for approval of the issuance of securities, or for approval of any sale, lease, hypothecation, lien, or other transfer of any property or operating rights of any carrier or public utility over which the Commission has jurisdiction.
- (7) $10.00 with each application, petition, or complaint not embraced in (2) through (6) of this section, wherein such application, petition, or complaint seeks affirmative relief against a carrier or public utility over which the Commission has jurisdiction. This fee shall not apply to applications for adjustments in particular rates, fares or charges for the purpose of eliminating inequities, preferences or discriminations; nor shall this fee apply to applications, petitions or complaints made by any county, city or town.
- (8) $1.00 for the registration with the Commission of each motor vehicle to be put in operation by a motor carrier operating under the jurisdiction of the Commission, and a fee of twenty-five cents (25¢) for the annual re-registration of each such motor vehicle.
- (9) Thirty cents (30¢) for each page (8½ inches x 11 inches) of transcript of testimony, but not less than $5.00 for any such transcript.
- (10) Fifteen cents (15¢) for each one hundred words of copies of papers, orders, certificates or other records, but not less than $1.00 for any such record, plus $1.00 for certifying any such paper, order or record.

All witness fees, officers' fees for serving papers, and cost of serving notice by publication shall be paid by the party at whose instance or for whose benefit such fees and costs are incurred.

No application, petition, complaint, notice of appeal, notice of application for writ of certiorari, or other document or paper the filing of which requires the payment of a fee under this article, shall be deemed filed until the fees herein required shall have been paid to the Commission.

The fees and charges as set forth in subdivisions (1), (7), (9) and (10) of this section shall not apply to the State of North Carolina or to any board, department, commission, institution or other agency of the State; and all applications, petitions or complaints submitted by the State of North Carolina or any board, department, commission, institution or other agency of the State shall be filed without the payment of the fees required by this section. All transcripts, papers, orders, certificates, or other records necessary to perfect an appeal, or to determine whether an appeal is to be taken, shall be furnished without charge to the Attorney General upon his request in cases in which the Attorney General appears in the public interest or as representing any board, department, commission, institution or other agency of the State. (1953, c. 825, s. 1; 1955, c. 64; 1957, c. 1152, s. 15.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment deleted from the end of subdivision (7) the former reference to "any board, department, commission, institution or other agency of the State of North Carolina." It also added the last paragraph to the section.

The 1957 amendment added at the end of subdivision (2) the words "or as filing fee for each broker who applies for a brokerage license under the provision of G. S. 62-121.55, Volume 2B."

§ 62-26.17. Fees and charges supplemental; disposition.—All fees and charges received by the Commission under § 62-26.16 shall be in addition to any other tax or fee provided by law and shall be paid by the Commission to the State Treasurer to be credited to the Commission as an allotment deposit. (1953, c. 825, s. 2.)

ARTICLE 3.

Powers and Duties of the Commission.

§ 62-27. General powers of Commission.—The Utilities Commission shall have general power and control over the public utilities and public service corporations of the State, and such supervision as may be necessary to carry into full force and effect the laws regulating the companies, corporations, partnerships, and individuals hereinafter referred to, and to fix and regulate the rates charged the public for service, and to require such efficient service to be given as may be reasonably necessary. (1933, c. 134, s. 2; 1941, c. 97.)

Editor's Note.—The Railroad Commission, established in 1891, became the Corporation Commission in 1899. See Consolidated Statutes, §§ 1023-1034; Abbott v. Beddingfield, 125 N. C. 256, 34 S. E. 412 (1899); Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191 (1904); 2 N. C. Law Rev. 70. The above-mentioned sections were repealed by Public Laws 1933, c. 134, which created the office of Utilities Commissioner and vested in the Commissioner all of the existing powers, duties, etc., of the former Corporation Commission. The act also provided for two Associate Commissioners to act with the Commissioner in certain instances for the purpose of hearing and determining matters or issues of fact. The office of Utilities Commissioner was abolished by Public Laws 1941, c. 97, which created the North Carolina Utilities Commission and vested said Commission with all the powers, duties, etc., of the Utilities Commissioner, or the Utilities Commissioner and the Associate Commissioners, prescribed in Public Laws 1933, c. 134, and other laws.

For comment on this and subsequent section, see 12 N. C. Law Rev. 292.

The Commission has no jurisdiction over parties unless they are public utilities within the meaning of § 62-65. State v. New Hope Road Water Co., 248 N. C. 27, 102 S. E. (2d) 377 (1958).

Commission Can Authorize Sale of Failities of Power Company to Municipality.—A power company, with the consent and approval of the Commission, has the right to sell its facilities to a city, and thereby permit the city to assume the obligation for meeting the public convenience and necessity for the service theretofore rendered by the power company. The Commission has not only the authority but the duty to pass upon such a contract and to determine whether or not it is in the public interest to permit its consummation. State v. Casey, 245 N. C. 297, 96 S. E. (2d) 8 (1957).

Legislative Power to Regulate.—The general power of the legislature to provide reasonable rules and regulations, directly or through a commission, has been upheld in Atlantic Exp. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., Railroad, 111 N. C. 463, 16 S. E. 393, 32 Am. St. Rep. 805 (1892); Corporation Comm. v. Seaboard Air Line System, 127 N. C. 283, 37 S. E. 266 (1900). See Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191 (1904).

The power of the legislature, either directly or through appropriate governmental agencies, to establish reasonable regulations for public service corporations in matters affecting the public interests is now universally recognized, and the principle has been approved in well considered decisions dealing directly with the question. Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191 (1904); Corporation Comm. v. Seaboard Air Line Railroad, 140 N. C. 239, 52 S. E. 941 (1905); Atlantic Coast Line Railroad v. Goldsboro, 155 N. C. 356, 71 S. E. 314 (1911), affirmed in 232 U. S. 548, 34 S. Ct. 364, 58 L. Ed. 721 (1914); In re Southern Public Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619 (1919).

No Interference with Interstate Commerce.—The former Railroad Commission, being concerned solely in domestic affairs and trade, did not interfere with interstate commerce. Caldwell v. Wilson, 121 N. C. 425, 28 S. E. 554 (1897).

Applied in City Coach Co. v. Gastonia Transit Co., 227 N. C. 391, 42 S. E. (2d) 398 (1947).

§ 62-28. To make and enforce rules for public service corporations.

—The Utilities Commission has power to make any necessary and proper rules, orders and regulations for the safety, comfort and convenience of passengers, shippers or patrons of any public service corporation, and to require the observance of and to enforce the same by the company and its employees, such power being the same as that provided in this chapter in respect to railroads and other transportation companies. (1907, c. 469, s. 1a; 1913, c. 127, s. 2; C. S., s. 1037; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to duty of the Utilities Commission to enforce laws relative to the hours of service for employees of carriers, see § 60-58.

Legislative Intent.—There was no intention to give a schedule of the thousands of appliances used in handling the business of common carriers, nor to enumerate the countless dealings between them and their patrons, which the former Corporation Commission should supervise. The clearly declared purpose was to put the control and supervision of the whole matter in the hands of an impartial commission, with power to make reasonable rules and orders, subject to the right of appeal by either party, the shipper or the carrier, to the courts, instead of leaving such dealing to the unrestricted will of the carrier. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905).

Power to Make Orders and Regulations.—The former Corporation Commission was given the power to make orders and regulations for the safety, etc., of shippers or patrons of any public service corporation. Tilley v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 162 N. C. 37, 77 S. E. 994 (1913).

§ 69-29. Express and implied powers.—The Utilities Commission shall also have, exercise, and perform all the functions, powers, and duties and have all the responsibilities conferred by this article, and all such other powers and duties as may be necessary or incident to the proper discharge of the duties of its office. (1933, c. 134, s. 6; 1941, c. 97.)

Quoted in State v. Casey, 245 N. C. 297, 96 S. E. (2d) 8 (1957).

§ 62-30. Supervisory powers.—Under the rules and regulations herein prescribed and subject to the limitations hereinafter set forth, the said Utilities Commission shall have general supervision over the rates charged and the service given, as follows, to wit:

- (1) By railroads, street railways, steamboats, canals, express and sleeping-car companies, and all persons, firms or corporations engaged in the carrying of freight or passengers or otherwise engaged as common carriers;
- (2) By telephone and telegraph companies and all other companies engaged in the transmission of messages, and by all firms and individuals owning or operating telephone or telegraph lines in the State;
- (3) By electric light, power, water, and gas companies, pipe lines originating in North Carolina for the transportation of petroleum products, and corporations, other than such as are municipally owned or conducted, and all other companies, corporations, or individuals engaged in furnishing electricity, electric light current, power, or in transmitting or selling the same or producing the same from the watercourses of this State: Provided, that the exemption given to municipally owned or conducted electric light, power, water and gas companies from supervision by the Utilities Commission shall not apply to municipally owned electric light or power systems which are leased to and operated by private individuals, firms, or corporations. The Commission shall not have jurisdiction over water companies whose sole operation consists of selling water to less than twenty-five (25) residential customers;

- (4) By all water power and hydroelectric companies or corporations now doing business in this State or which may hereafter engage in doing business in this State, whether organized under the laws of this State or under the laws of any other state or country, and such companies and corporations are deemed to be public service companies and subject to the laws of this State regulating the same;
- (5) By flume companies, corporations, other than municipal corporations, or individuals owning or operating public sewerage systems in the State of North Carolina;

And the said Utilities Commission is hereby vested under this section with all power necessary to require and compel any public utility or public service corporation of the kinds herein designated or any other class of public utility to provide and furnish to the citizens of this State reasonable service of the kind it undertakes to furnish and fix and regulate the reasonable rates and charges to be made to the citizens of the State who may be entitled to use the same under such rules and regulations as may be lawfully prescribed.

The power of control and supervision vested in the Commission under this section with respect to the various classes of public service corporations and individuals engaged in furnishing the public utilities mentioned shall be the same as that vested in it in respect to railroads and other transportation companies. (1913, c. 127, s. 7; C. S., s. 1112(b); 1933, c. 134, s. 3; 1937, c. 108, s. 2; 1941, cc. 59, 97; 1959, c. 639, s. 12.)

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Cross References.—As to municipal control of public utilities, see §§ 160-282 to 160-285. As to report from municipality operating own utilities, see § 62-98.

Editor's Note.—The 1937 amendment inserted the reference to pipe lines in subdivision (3).

The first 1941 amendment added the proviso to the first sentence of subdivision (3).

The second 1941 amendment, referred to in the Editor's Note under § 62-1, directed that "Commission" should be substituted for "Commissioner." In bringing this section forward in the General Statutes in 1943, through error "Commissioner" was retained in the first line of the next to last paragraph. In view of the above mentioned directive, and the 1949 amendments to this chapter, which indicate that the present meaning is "Commission," the word "Commissioner," formerly retained, has been changed to read "Commission."

The 1959 amendment added the last sentence of subdivision (3).

This section is similar to former § 1035 of the Consolidated Statutes. Most of the following cases were decided under that section and are given as an aid in construing the present law, but should be considered in the light of the former law.

Right of State to Regulate.—The right of the State to establish regulations for public service corporations, and over business enterprises in which the owners, corporate or individual, have devoted their property to a public use, and to enforce these regulations by appropriate penalties, is firmly established. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 135, 59 S. E. 355 (1907). See Whiting Mfg. Co. v. Carolina Aluminum Co., 207 N. C. 52, 175 S. E. 698 (1934).

Classification Must Not Be Arbitrary.—As to intrastate or domestic matters, the General Assembly has the right to establish regulations for public service corporations and for business enterprises in which the owners have devoted their property to public use, and to apply these regulations to certain classes of pursuits and occupations, imposing these requirements equally on all members of a given class, the limitation of this right of classification being that the same must be on some reasonable ground that bears a just and proper relation to the attempted classification and is not a mere arbitrary selection. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 135, 59 S. E. 355 (1907).

Not a Federal Question.—Whether a regulation of a state railroad commission otherwise legal is arbitrary and unreasonable because beyond the scope of the power delegated to the commission is not a federal question. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm., 206 U. S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

Fees and Charges Made by Municipality.—The North Carolina Utilities Commission has no jurisdiction to fix or supervise the fees and charges to be made by a municipality for connections with a city sewerage system, either within or without its corporate limits. Atlantic Constr. Co. v. Raleigh, 230 N. C. 365, 53 S. E. (2d) 165 (1949).

A rider approved by the Commission, which provided that the utility involved in a rate hearing would meter the protesting municipalities separately for purchases by the municipalities for normal resale and purchases by the municipalities for resale to industrial users, but which contained a provision that the municipalities were free to contract in respect to the price they would require the industrial users to pay, did not fix the rate at which the municipalities would be required to sell to industrial users in violation of this section. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

Municipal Corporations Left Free from Supervision.—This section gives the Commission general supervision over rates and service by electric light, power, water and gas companies, other than such as are municipally owned or conducted; thus expressing legislative purpose to leave municipal corporations free from the supervision of the Commission. Grimesland v. Washington, 234 N. C. 117, 66 S. E. (2d) 794 (1951).

A sanitary district which, as a part of its functions, furnishes drinking water to the public and also filtered water for industrial consumers is a quasi-municipal corporation, and is not under the control and supervision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission as to services or rates. Halifax Paper Co. v. Roanoke Rapids Sanitary Dist., 232 N. C. 421, 61 S. E. (2d) 378 (1950).

Applied in City Coach Co. v. Gastonia Transit Co., 227 N. C. 391, 42 S. E. (2d) 398 (1947); Fulghum v. Selma, 238 N. C. 100, 76 S. E. (2d) 368 (1953).

II. RAILROADS AND OTHER COMMON CARRIERS.

Legislature May Regulate Directly or Indirectly.—Railroad companies from the public nature of the business by them carried on, and the interest which the public has in their operation, are subject as to their State business to State regulation, which may be exerted either directly by the legislative authority or by administrative bodies endowed with power to that end. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm., 206 U. S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

Rate Fixing Power May Be Delegated.—The General Assembly has the power to establish a commission to supervise and regulate the rates of common carriers. Atlantic Exp. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., Railroad, 111 N. C. 463, 16 S. E. 393 (1892); Corporation Comm. v. Seaboard Air Line System (Rate Case), 127 N. C. 283, 37 S. E. 266 (1900); Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 137 N. C. 114, 49 S. E. 191 (1904); Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. ("Track Scales Case"), 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905); Corporation Comm. v. Seaboard Air Line Railroad, 140 N. C. 239, 52 S. E. 941 (1905).

When State May Regulate Interstate Commerce.—The power of Congress over commerce between the states is, a general rule, exclusive, and its inaction is equivalent to a declaration that it shall be free from any restraint which it has the right to impose, except by such statutes as are passed by the states for the purpose of facilitating the safe transmission of goods and carriage of passengers, and are not in conflict with any valid federal legislation. Morris, etc., Co. v. Southern Exp. Co., 146 N. C. 167, 59 S. E. 667 (1907).

Power of Commission over Railroads.—The former Corporation Commission had general control and supervision of all railroad corporations. Tilley v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 162 N. C. 37, 77 S. E. 994 (1913).

Power to Appraise and Assess.—The former Corporation Commission was not clothed with the power of appraising and assessing railroad property. Southern R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm., 97 F. 513 (1899).

When Power to Regulate Arbitrarily Exercised.—The public power to regulate railroads and the private right of ownership of such property coexist, and the one does not destroy the other; and where the power to regulate is so arbitrarily exercised as to infringe the rights of ownership the exertion is void because repugnant to the due process and equal protection clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm., 206 U. S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

When Duty of Railroad Entails Pecuniary Loss.—The State has power to compel a railroad company to perform a particular and specified duty necessary for the convenience of the public even though it may entail some pecuniary loss. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm., 206 U. S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

III. TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.

Telephone Company Subject to State Control.—A telephone company, acting under a quasi-public franchise, is properly classified among the public service corporations, and as such is subject to public regulation and reasonable control. Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N. C. 211, 21 S. E. 391 (1895); Godwin v. Carolina Tel. Co., 136 N. C. 258, 48 S. E. 813 (1904); Clinton-Dunn Tel. Co. v. Carolina Tel., etc., Co., 159 N. C. 9, 74 S. E. 636 (1912).

A local telephone company having an arrangement for the transmission of long distance messages over the lines of another company for pay, is a public service corporation and comes within the provisions of this section. Horton v. Interstate Tel., etc., Co., 202 N. C. 610, 163 S. E. 694 (1932).

Jurisdiction of Court Not Ousted.—The section giving general control of telephone companies to the former Corporation Commission does not oust the court of its jurisdiction to compel the company to perform a public duty it owes to an individual. Walls v. Strickland, 174 N. C. 298, 93 S. E. 857 (1917).

When Telegram Not Interstate Commerce.—See State v. Western Union Tel. Co., 113 N. C. 213, 18 S. E. 389 (1893); Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N. C. 211, 21 S. E. 391 (1895).

§ 62-31. Commission to keep itself informed as to utilities; reduction of rates.—The said Utilities Commission shall at all times be required to keep itself informed as to the public service corporations hereinbefore specified and enumerated, their rates and charges for service, and the service supplied to the citizens of the State and purposes therefor; and it shall at all times be empowered and required to inquire into such service and rates charged therefor, and to fix and determine as herein provided the reasonableness thereof, and upon petition or otherwise to make full inquiry into such rates and charges in behalf of the citizens of the State, and compel and require compliance with the regulations and charges, and final determination fixed therefor under the provisions of this article, and no corporation, association, partnership, or individual, other than carriers of passengers and property by rail, express, highway and/or water, doing business in the State of North Carolina as a public service corporation, or any other corporation herein designated, shall be allowed to increase its rate and charge for service, or change its classification in any manner whatsoever except upon petition duly filed with the Utilities Commission and inquiry held thereon and final determination of the reasonableness and the necessity of any such increase or change in classification or service: Provided, however, that nothing herein shall be construed to prevent any public service corporation under the jurisdiction of the Commission from reducing its rates, either directly or by change in classification. (1933, c. 134, s. 16; 1937, c. 165; 1939, c. 365, ss. 1, 2; 1941, c. 97.)

Editor's Note. — The 1939 amendment changed the latter part of this section and repealed the 1937 amendment which had added a provision as to approval of rate increases in certain cases without a hearing. For a discussion of 1937 amendment, see 15 N. C. Law Rev. 365. For comment on the 1939 amendment, see 17 N. C. Law Rev. 374.

Reduction of Rates. — The proviso to this section deprived the Utilities Commission of jurisdiction over reductions in rates. This means that any railroad acting lawfully, that is, individually and with proper intent, may reduce its own rates free of the control of the Utilities Commission, but it does not mean that it can, acting unlawfully or as a result of a conspiracy with other railroads, use this uncontrolled power to injure a competitor and it does not follow that conspiracies in violation of chapter 75 of the General Statutes are made legal by the proviso. Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

Where certain carriers by truck sought injunctive relief against railroad carriers for reduction in rates as to certain commodities and as between certain localities, it was held that they had no legal right to have their contract price protected against lawful competition from rail carriers, who could, under this section, reduce rates at will. Carolina Motor Service v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 210 N. C. 36, 185 S. E. 479, 104 A. L. R. 1165 (1936).

§ 62-32. To investigate companies and businesses under its control.—The Commission shall from time to time visit the places of business, and investigate the books and papers of all corporations, firms or individuals engaged in the transportation of freight or passengers, the transmission of messages either by telegraph or telephone, or in the furnishing of other public utilities the supervision and control of which is vested in the Utilities Commission to ascertain if all the orders, rules and regulations of the Utilities Commission have been complied with, and shall have full power and authority to examine all officers, agents and employees of such companies, individuals, firms or corporations, and all other persons, under oath or otherwise, and to compel the production of papers and the attendance of witnesses to obtain the information necessary for carrying into effect and otherwise enforcing the provisions of this chapter. (1899, c. 164, s. 1; Rev., s. 1064; 1913, c. 127, ss. 1, 2, 7; 1917, c. 194; C. S., s. 1060; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-33. System of accounts.—The Utilities Commission may establish a system of accounts to be kept by the public utilities, under its jurisdiction, or may classify said public utilities and establish a system of accounts for each class, and prescribe the manner in which such accounts shall be kept. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference. — As to the power of Commission to require separate accounts for interstate and intrastate business of public service companies see § 62-140.

§ 62-34. Reports; cancelling certificates for failure to file report.—The Utilities Commission shall at least once every twelve months require any public utility to file annual reports in such form and of such content as the Commission may require and special reports concerning any matter about which the Commission is authorized to inquire or to keep itself informed, or which it is authorized to enforce. All reports shall be under oath when required by the Commission. The Commission may issue an order, without notice or hearing, cancelling or suspending any certificate of convenience and necessity thirty (30) days after the date of service of such order for failing to file the required annual report at the time it was due. In the event the report is filed during the thirty (30)-day period, the order of cancellation or suspension shall be null and void. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1959, c. 639, s. 7.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment added the third and fourth sentences.

§ 62-35. Investigations.—The Utilities Commission may, on its own motion and whenever it may be necessary in the performance of its duties, investigate and examine the condition and management of public utilities or any particular utility. In conducting such investigation the Commission may proceed either with or without a hearing as it may deem best, but shall make no order without affording the parties affected thereby a hearing.

If after such an investigation, or investigation and hearing, the Commission, in its discretion, is of the opinion that the public interest shall be more greatly conserved by an appraisal of any properties in question, the investigation of any particular construction, the audit of any accounts or books, the investigation of any contracts, or the practices, contracts or other relations between the utility in question and any holding or finance agency with which such public utility may be affiliated, it shall be the duty of the Commission to report its findings and recommendation to the Governor and Council of State with request for an allotment from the emergency and contingency fund to defray such expense which may be granted as provided by law for expenditures from such fund or may be denied. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-36. To fix rates for public utilities in cities.—The Utilities Commission shall have full power and authority to fix and establish any and all rates which any public service or quasi public service corporation other than railroads using steam as a motive power shall charge or exact from any person, firm or corporation in any city for the services rendered or commodity furnished. (1917, c. 136, subch. 3, s. 1; C. S., s. 2783; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Municipal Charter Subject to State Powers.—The power conferred by a city charter “to provide water and lights and to contract for same” is subject to the police power of the State, with respect to rates to be charged by a public service corporation under such contract as the city may make under its charter. Corporation Comm. v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N. C. 70, 128 S. E. 465 (1925).

And Contract Rate May Be Changed.—Although the rate to be charged for water is stipulated by contract between a city and a water company, this may be changed by the Commission if it appears that the rate contracted for is too low, and the one fixed by the Commission is just. The burden of proof is on the one alleging that the rate fixed by the Commission is unreasonable.

able. Corporation Comm. v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N. C. 70, 128 S. E. 465 (1925).

Right to Injunction against Commission.—A public service corporation, having a contract with a city, applying to the Commission for the increase of the rate contracted for with the city and obtaining partial relief, will not be granted an injunction by the federal court against the Commission on the grounds that the rate is confiscatory, for such increase as is allowed by the Commission is that much more than could have been received under the contract with the city had the Commission refused to act. Henderson Water Co. v. Corporation Comm., 269 U. S. 278, 46 S. Ct. 112, 70 L. Ed. 273 (1925).

§ 62-37. Manner of enforcing above regulations.—The North Carolina Utilities Commission shall have the power to require such improvements and extensions to the service of public service corporations mentioned in § 62-36 as it may deem necessary after the investigation of any complaint of any person, corporation, or municipality as to the inadequacy of such service. Upon application being made, the Utilities Commission shall proceed to hear, pass on, and determine, in the manner prescribed by law, a just or reasonable rate or charge for the service or other commodity rendered or furnished; the hearing before the Utilities Commission shall be governed by the law as to the Commission relating to the fixing of rates and rules and orders of the Commission as to the enforcement thereof by the Commission. The Utilities Commission shall have the same power and authority in hearing and passing on any matter or case under § 62-36, enforcing or fixing of rates, supervising and regulating said corporation or otherwise as they now have under the general law. The failure or refusal to conform to or obey any decision, rule, regulation, or order made in such cases by the Utilities Commission shall subject said public utility corporation or quasi public utility corporation refusing or failing to comply herewith to the penalties provided in this chapter. (1917, c. 136, subch. 3, s. 2; C. S., s. 2784; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cited in Sinclair v. Moore Cent. R. Co., 228 N. C. 389, 45 S. E. (2d) 555 (1947).

§ 62-38. Sections 62-36 and 62-37 not to affect existing power.—Nothing contained in §§ 62-36 and 62-37 shall be construed to deprive the Utilities Commission of the authority and power which it now has under the laws of North Carolina to supervise and regulate and fix the rates for public utility corporations or quasi public utility corporations operating or doing business in such city. (1917, c. 136, subch. 3, s. 3; C. S., s. 2785; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-39. To require transportation and transmission companies to maintain facilities.—The Utilities Commission has power to require all transportation and transmission companies to establish and maintain all such public service facilities and conveniences as may be reasonable and just. It may require steamboat companies to provide such wharf and warehouse facilities as may be reasonable and just. (1907, c. 469, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 52, s. 1; C. S., s. 1038; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Questions of convenience to individuals and to the public find their limitations in the criterion of reasonableness and justice. No absolute rule can be set up and applied to all cases. The facts in each case must be considered to determine whether public convenience and necessity require the service to be maintained or permit its discontinuance. The benefit to the one of the abandonment must be weighed against the inconvenience to which the other may be subjected. The question to be decided is whether the loss resulting from the agency is out of proportion to any benefit to an individual or the public. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 233 N. C. 365, 64 S. E. (2d) 272 (1951). See State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 235 N. C. 273, 69 S. E. (2d) 502 (1952); State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 238 N. C. 701, 78 S. E. (2d) 780 (1953).

The maintaining of an uneconomic service resulting in an economic waste cannot be justified or excused by the showing that the service has been in the convenience and necessity of some individual. The convenience and necessity required are those of the public and not of an individual or individuals. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 233 N. C. 365, 64 S. E. (2d) 272 (1951).

But Loss Must Be Viewed in Relation to Over-All Operations.—The power conferred by this section upon the Utilities Commission to require transportation companies to maintain substantial service to the public in the performance of an absolute duty will not be denied even though the service may be unremunerative when singled out and related only to a particular instance or locality, if the loss be viewed in relation to and as a part of the over-all operations of transportation, rather than as incidental and collateral thereto. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 233 N. C. 365, 64 S. E. (2d) 272 (1951). See State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 235 N. C. 273, 69 S. E. (2d) 502 (1952).

Discontinuance of Agency Service.—A railroad company will not be required to continue agency service at one of its stations at an annual loss, where the remaining service would provide for the needs and convenience of the public, simply because to discontinue such service would inconvenience the principal shipper at that station. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 233 N. C. 365, 64 S. E. (2d) 272 (1951).

Evidence held insufficient to justify discontinuance of agency service. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 235 N. C. 273, 69 S. E. (2d) 502 (1952).

An order of the Commission requiring a transportation company to maintain public service facilities must be considered prima facie reasonable and just, but this does not preclude the transportation company affected from showing that the order was unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 238 N. C. 701, 78 S. E. (2d) 780 (1953).

§ 62-40. To authorize lumber companies to transport commodities.—The Utilities Commission has power to authorize lumber companies, having logging roads, to transport all kinds of commodities other than their own and passengers, and to charge therefor reasonable rates to be approved by the Commission. (1911, c. 160; 1915, c. 6; C. S., s. 1039; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Establishing Joint Rate of Transportation.—A lumber company, chartered and organized for the purpose of transporting its own products, may be created a limited public carrier by the order of the Commission, under the provisions of this section. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 187 N. C. 424, 121 S. E. 767 (1924).

§ 62-41. To establish and regulate stations for freight and passengers.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require, where the public necessity demands, and it is demonstrated that the revenue received will be sufficient to justify it, the establishment of stations by any company or corporation engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers in this State, and to require the erection of depot accommodations commensurate with such business and revenue, and to require the erection of accommodations for loading and unloading livestock and for feeding, sheltering and protecting the same in transportation. The Commission shall not require any company or corporation to establish any station nearer to another station than five miles. (1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 12; Rev., s. 1097; 1913, c. 155; C. S., s. 1040; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of Utilities Commission to regulate building of shelters at railroad division points, see § 60-54.

Power to Require and Regulate Depots.—The Commission can order new depots established wherever they are needed, and has the lesser power to require proper facilities at those already established. Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905).

May Require Track Scales.—The Commission is empowered under this section, to require "depot accommodations commensurate with such business and revenue," which justifies the Commission in requiring "track scales" at points along the line. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905).

The court, or the jury upon proper instructions, as the case may be, should pass upon the reasonableness and necessity of an order of the Commission requiring track scales to be put in. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905).

Railroad Not Released from Private Contract.—The limitation on the powers of the Commission to require common carriers to establish stations within five miles of each other does not release the carriers from a contract, with an individual, to maintain a flag stop within the bounds of his plantation. Parrott v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 165 N. C. 295, 81 S. E. 348 (1914).

Orders Subject to Review by the Courts.—The power of the Commission, under this section, cannot be unreasonably exercised, and its orders are subject to review by the superior court and the Supreme Court. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905).

§ 62-42. To require change, repair, and additions to stations.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require a change of any station or the repairing, addition to, or change of any station house by any railroad or other transportation company in order to promote the security, convenience and accommodation of the public, and to require the raising or lowering of the track at any crossing when deemed necessary. (1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 13; Rev., s. 1097; C. S., s. 1041; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—See note under § 62-43.

Liberal Construction.—This section and § 62-43 are of a remedial nature, and will be liberally construed by the courts in favor of the exercise of the authority conferred. State v. Southern R. Co., 185 N. C. 435, 117 S. E. 563 (1923). See State v. Southern R. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928).

Section Supplementary to Police Powers.—This section, authorizing the Commission to require railroads to raise or lower their tracks at a crossing, is supplementary to and not in derogation of the exercise by the State, or an incorporated town authorized by it, of such police powers. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad v. Goldsboro, 155 N. C. 356, 71 S. E. 514 (1911).

Entire Expense on Railroad.—In New York, etc., R. Co. v. Bristol, 151 U. S. 556, 14 S. Ct. 437, 38 L. Ed. 269 (1894), it was held that the imposition upon a railroad company of the entire expense of a change of grade at a railroad crossing is not a violation of any constitutional right. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad v. Goldsboro, 155 N. C. 356, 71 S. E. 514 (1911).

In Cleveland v. Augusta, 102 Ga. 233, 29 S. E. 584, 43 L. R. A. 638 (1897), the court held that the railroad company was liable for the expense of raising its roadbed to conform to the city grade, and said that it must yield to the reasonable burden imposed by the growth and development of the county or the city, and where the public welfare demands a change of grade of the highway or street, the railroad company must, at its own expense, make such alterations in the grade of its crossings as will conform to the new grade. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad v. Goldsboro, 155 N. C. 356, 71 S. E. 514 (1911).

§ 62-43. To provide for union depots.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require, when practicable, and when the necessities of the case, in its judgment, require, any two or more railroads which now or hereafter may enter any city or town to have one common or union passenger depot for the security, accommodation and convenience of the traveling public, and to unite in the joint undertaking and expense of erecting, constructing and maintaining such union passenger depot, commensurate with the business and revenue of such railroad companies or corporations, on such terms, regulations, provisions and conditions as the Commission shall prescribe. The railroads so ordered to construct a union depot shall have power to condemn land for such purpose, as in case of locating and constructing a line of railroad: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the Commission to require the construction of such union depot should the railroad companies at the time of application for said order have separate depots, which, in the opinion of the Commission, are adequate and convenient and offer suitable accommodations for the traveling public. (1903, c. 126; Rev., s. 1097; C. S., s. 1042; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of railroads to condemn land for union station, see § 40-4.

Liberal Construction.—The statute in its principal purpose may be considered as remedial in its nature, and as to that feature will receive a liberal construction. Dewey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 142 N. C. 392, 55 S. E. 292 (1906). See note under § 62-42.

Section Valid Exercise of Legislative Power.—The power of the legislature to enact a statute of this character has been established by numerous and well-considered decisions, and is no longer open to question. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 139 N. C. 126, 51 S. E. 793 (1905); Corporation Comm. v. Railroad, 140 N. C. 239, 52 S. E. 941 (1905); Dewey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 142 N. C. 392, 55 S. E. 292 (1906).

Powers Given by Necessary Implication.—The statute authorizing the Commission to order union stations to be built and maintained carries with it the power to do what is reasonably necessary to execute such order, including the use of the streets of a town for legitimate railroad purposes, the laying of tracks, etc., necessary to that end. Griffin v. Southern R. Co., 150 N. C. 312, 64 S. E. 16 (1909).

When Union Stations May Be Required.—Under this section the Commission is empowered to direct the establishment of union stations under certain conditions. When these conditions are found to exist, then the two railroads may be compelled to unite in the erecting, constructing, and maintaining such union passenger depot commensurate with the business and revenues of such railroad companies on such terms, regulations, provisions and conditions as the Commission shall prescribe. State v. Seaboard Air Line, etc., R. Co., 161 N. C. 270, 76 S. E. 554 (1912).

The remedy was intended to apply to all the towns and cities in the State where, in the legal discretion of the Commission, the move is practicable, the convenience of the traveling public requires it, and the existing facilities, in the judgment of the Commission, are inadequate. Dewey v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 142 N. C. 392, 55 S. E. 292 (1906).

Same—Must Be Practicable.—Whenever the Commission requires and orders a union station to be built, the only restriction in the statute is when "practicable." The other matters as to the security, accommodation, and convenience of the public are simply reasons addressed to the judgment of the Commission. When there is an appeal from its order, the sole query for a jury, under the statute, is whether the execution of the order is "practicable." The finding of the Commission that it is practicable is prima facie correct; and the burden is upon the defendant to show evidence to the contrary. State v. Seaboard Air Line, etc., R. Co., 161 N. C. 270, 76 S. E. 554 (1912).

New Union Station.—Under the provisions of this section and § 62-42, the Commission has the power to require railroad companies subject to its jurisdiction, which have constructed or maintained a union passenger station in a city or town of the State, to construct or equip a new union passenger station in such city or town upon its finding that the present station is inadequate. State v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928).

Jurisdiction Original — Exercised upon Own Motion or Petition of Interested Parties.—The jurisdiction of the Commission with respect to the construction of passenger stations is original, and may be exercised either upon its own motion or upon petition of interested parties. State v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928).

Parties.—Under this section, the Commission is not without jurisdiction of a proceeding with respect to the erection, construction, and maintenance of a new union passenger station in city or town, because one or more railroad companies entering such city or town are not made parties in the proceeding. The presence of two or more railroad companies as parties is sufficient. Corporation Commission v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928).

Same—Lessor—Appeal. — Where three railroad companies use a union station in a city in connection with the operation of their railroads, two as owners, and the other as lessee of a fourth road, it is not jurisdictional before the Commission or the superior court on appeal under § 62-20 that in the proceedings before the Commission under this section and § 62-42 to compel them to build and maintain an adequate station, that the lessor railroad be a party, but it is not error for the trial judge to order that the lessor road be made a party and the cause proceeded with therein. State

v. Southern Ry. Co., 196 N. C. 190, 145 S. E. 19 (1928).

Interstate and Intrastate Carriers.—The order of the Commission for the joint erection by an intrastate carrier and an interstate carrier of a union station at a junction cannot be regarded as objectionable so far as it relates to the intrastate carrier, as a burden on interstate commerce, when it appears that the Commission was passing upon the petition of only a few cities or towns in the State separately and not as a part of a State-wide scheme, and the expenditures required were in amount too small to affect such commerce. State v. Southern R. Co., 185 N. C. 435, 117 S. E. 563 (1923).

Same—Federal Transportation Act Prospective.—The Federal Transportation Act was held prospective in its enforcement, and did not relate back to a final order of the Commission, not appealed from, for the erection of a union station where the lines of an intrastate and interstate carrier crossed each other, the execution of which had been stayed by the Commission until after the passage of the federal statute solely for the advantage of the carriers at their request. State v. Southern R. Co., 185 N. C. 435, 117 S. E. 563 (1923).

§ 62-44. To provide for separate waiting rooms for races.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require the establishment of separate waiting rooms at all stations for the white and colored races. (1899, c. 64, s. 2, subsec. 14; Rev., s. 1097; C. S., s. 1043; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross References.—As to separate accommodations for different races on train or steamboat, see § 60-94; on street railways, see § 60-135; on motor carriers, see § 62-121.71.

§ 62-45. To require construction of sidetracks.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require the construction of sidetracks by any railroad company to industries already established or to be established: Provided, it is shown that the proportion of such revenue accruing to such sidetrack is sufficient within five years to pay the expenses of its construction. This shall not be construed to give the Commission authority to require railroad companies to construct sidetracks more than five hundred feet in length. (1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 15; Rev., s. 1097; C. S., s. 1044; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to condemnation of land for industrial siding, see § 40-5.

Purpose of Section.—The General Assembly, while not prohibiting the carrier from continuing to establish sidings at its pleasure, deemed it wise to take the power of refusing to grant or continue such sidings out of the arbitrary will of the common carrier by authorizing the Commission to require the establishment of such sidings in proper cases. Corporation Comm.

v. Seaboard Air Line Railroad, 140 N. C. 239, 52 S. E. 941 (1905).

Not Interference with Interstate Commerce.—The establishment of an industrial siding under the authority of the Commission is not an interference with interstate commerce. State v. Southern R. Co., 153 N. C. 559, 69 S. E. 621 (1910); Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. State, 216 U. S. 262, 30 S. Ct. 330, 54 L. Ed. 472 (1910).

Restriction upon Power.—The Commission can require a railroad company to build a sidetrack to an industrial plant only upon the company's right of way or when the right of way is tendered. State v. Southern R. Co., 153 N. C. 559, 69 S. E. 621 (1910).

Restriction as to Revenue.—The power conferred upon the Commission to order a railroad company to build a sidetrack, is with the restriction that the revenue from such sidetrack shall be "sufficient within five years to pay the expenses of construction;" and the lower court having denied the authority of the Commission in this action, the presumption is in favor of its judgment, and it will be affirmed in the absence of evidence tending to show that the revenue will be sufficient according to the terms of the statute. State v. Southern R. Co., 153 N. C. 559, 69 S. E. 621 (1910).

Restriction as to Length.—The section confers upon the Commission the power to establish sidings under certain conditions, and restricts the exercise of such a right to 500 feet in length. Hales v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 172 N. C. 104, 90 S. E. 11 (1916).

Rights of Intervening Owners.—A railroad company, of its own initiative or by virtue of a contract with private persons, can acquire no right to construct and use sidetracks to private industries off their right of way and over the lands of intervening owners against the will of such owners. When they have once permanently located their line, they are, as a rule, restricted to that and the right of way incident to it. Hales v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 172 N. C. 104, 90 S. E. 11 (1916).

Nonresident Railroad without Power of Eminent Domain.—The Commission cannot confer the power of eminent domain, and when the legislature has not conferred such power upon a nonresident railroad company respecting the construction of a sidetrack over the lands of others, an order of the Commission for the railroad to build such a track is void. Butler v. Penn Tobacco Co., 152 N. C. 416, 68 S. E. 12 (1910); State v. Southern R. Co., 153 N. C. 559, 69 S. E. 621 (1910).

Cited in Aileen Mills v. Norfolk-So. R. Co., 194 N. C. 647, 140 S. E. 306 (1927); Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 240 N. C. 495, 82 S. E. (2d) 771 (1954).

§ 62-46. To require trains to be run over railroads and connections at intersections.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require, when practicable and when the necessities of the traveling public, in the judgment of the Commission, demand, that any railroad in this State shall install and operate one or more passenger or freight trains over its road, and also require any two or more railroads having intersecting points to make close connection at such points: Provided, that no order under this section shall be made unless the business of the railroad justifies it. (1907, c. 469, s. 3; C. S., s. 1045; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Connection Contemplated One of Trains as Well as Tracks.—The connection required is one of trains as well as of tracks. The public cannot travel upon a track alone, nor upon a train without a track. Both are required to furnish facilities for traveling at all, and close connection of both to secure the convenience of the traveling public. North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191 (1904).

Running Additional Trains.—It is within the power of the Commission to compel a railroad company to make reasonable connections with other roads so as to promote the convenience of the traveling public, and an order requiring the running of an additional train for that purpose, if otherwise just and reasonable, is not inherently unjust and unreasonable because the running of such train will impose some pecuniary loss on the company. Atlantic Coast Line

R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm., 206 U. S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

Private Persons May Not Maintain Action to Force Continuing Operation.—Persons asserting unliquidated damages past and prospective resulting to them as consignees and consignors from the abandonment of the operation of a railroad may not in their individual capacities maintain an action to force continuing operation of the railroad by the appointment of a permanent operating receiver, since such damages, though possibly different in degree, are not different in kind from those sustained by the public generally, and since the power to require continuous operation in the public interest of the State is vested exclusively by statute in the Utilities Commission. Sinclair v. Moore Cent. R. Co., 228 N. C. 389, 45 S. E. (2d) 555 (1947).

§ 62-47. May authorize operation of fast mail trains; discontinuance of passenger service.—The Utilities Commission is hereby empowered, whenever it shall appear wise and proper to do so, to authorize any railroad company to run one or more fast mail trains over its road, which shall stop only at such stations on the line of the road as may be designated by the company: Provided, that in addition to such fast mail train such railroad company shall run at least one passenger train in each direction over its road on every day except Sunday, which shall stop at every station on the road at which passengers may wish to be taken up or put off: Provided further, that nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing the running of local passenger trains on Sunday. The Utilities Commission, or its successor, however, shall have and it is hereby vested with the power in any case in which the convenience and necessity of the traveling public do not require the running of passenger trains upon its railroad to authorize such railroad company to cease the operation of passenger trains as long as the convenience and necessity of the traveling public shall not require such operation: Provided that this section and any ruling hereafter made by the Utilities Commission, or its successors, shall not be construed as abrogating or repealing the provisions of any charter or franchise requiring such common carrier to furnish daily freight service over its lines, nor cause the discontinuance of daily freight service where now maintained. (1893, c. 97; Rev., s. 2614; C. S., s. 3481; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 528; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—The 1933 amendment added the provision relating to discontinuance of passenger service.

For note on abandonments and partial discontinuances of passenger service by railroads, see 31 N. C. Law Rev. 137.

§ 62-48. To inspect railroads as to equipment and facilities, and to require repair.—The Commission is empowered and directed, from time to time, to carefully examine into and inspect the condition of each railroad, its equipment and facilities, in regard to the public's safety and convenience; and if any are found by it to be unsafe, it shall at once notify and require the railroad company to put the same in repair. (1907, c. 469, s. 3; C. S., s. 1046; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cited in Sinclair v. Moore Cent. R. Co., 228 N. C. 389, 45 S. E. (2d) 555 (1947).

§ 62-49. To require installation and maintenance of block system and safety devices.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require any railroad company to install and put in operation and maintain upon the whole or any part of its road a block system or telegraphy or any other reasonable safety device, but no railroad company shall be required to install a block system upon any part of its road unless at least eight trains each way per day are operated on that part. (1907, c. 469, s. 1b; C. S., s. 1047; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Lack of "Block System" as Negligence.—The lack of a "block system", when required, is held to be negligence per se. Gerringer v. North Carolina R. Co., 146 N.

C. 32, 59 S. E. 152 (1907), citing Stewart v. Raleigh, etc., R. Co., 137 N. C. 687, 50 S. E. 312 (1905); Stewart v. Railroad, 141 N. C. 253, 53 S. E. 877 (1906).

§ 62-50. To regulate crossings and to abolish grade crossings.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require the raising or lowering of any tracks or highway at any highway or railroad crossing, and to designate who shall pay for the same; and, when it thinks proper, partition the cost of abolishing grade crossings and the raising or lowering of said track or highway among the railroads and municipalities interested. (1907, c. 469, s. 1c; 1911, c. 197, s. 1; C. S., s. 1048; 1933, c. 34, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross References.—See § 62-42 and note. As to municipal authority, see § 160-54 and note. As to intersection with highways, see § 60-42. As to obstructing highways and maintaining defective crossings, see § 60-43. As to cattleguards and private crossings, see § 60-48. As to the power of the State Highway Commission to require the installation of signals and other safety devices, see § 136-20.

Editor's Note.—The General Assembly can make the abolition of grade crossings by railroads imperative instead of leaving it, as now, unexercised in the discretion of the Corporation (now Utilities) Commission, and can place the cost of doing so upon the corporations, whose duty it is to remove them. Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Minnesota, 208 U. S. 583, 28 S. Ct. 341, 52 L. Ed. 630 (1908), cited in Atlantic Coast Line Railroad v. Goldsboro, 155 N. C. 356, 71 S. E. 514 (1911). In the meantime, like any collision, or a derailment, the act itself is prima facie negligence on the part of the railroad company. Marcom v. Raleigh, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 200, 35 S. E. 423 (1900). This matter has heretofore been called to the public attention in Cooper v. Railroad, 140 N. C. 209, 52 S. E. 932 (1905); Gerringer v. Railroad, 146 N. C. 32, 59 S. E. 152 (1907); Wilson v. Railroad, 152 N. C. 333, 55 S. E. 257 (1910); Atlantic Coast Line Railroad v. Goldsboro, 155 N. C. 356, 71 S.

E. 514 (1911), affirmed in 232 U. S. 548, 34 S. Ct. 364, 58 L. Ed. 721 (1914); McMillian v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 172 N. C. 853, 90 S. E. 683 (1916); Borden v. Southern R. Co., 175 N. C. 179, 95 S. E. 146 (1918); Goff v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 179 N. C. 216, 102 S. E. 320 (1920).

Commission Vested with Full Power.—The Corporation (now Utilities) Commission is vested with full and complete power to compel the raising or lowering of the track, to remove all danger to those using the public roads. Gerringer v. North Carolina R. Co., 146 N. C. 32, 59 S. E. 152 (1907).

Authority is conferred by statute upon the Corporation (now Utilities) Commission to abolish grade crossings by a railroad company when by the operation of the railroad they become dangerous or inconvenient to the public traveling along the highways or private ways. Tate v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 168 N. C. 523, 84 S. E. 808 (1915).

§ 62-51. To require installation and maintenance of automatic signals at railroad intersections, etc.—The Commission is empowered and directed to require, when public safety demands, when and in case two or more railroads now cross or may hereafter cross each other at a common grade, or any railroad crosses any stream or harbor by means of a bridge, to install and maintain such a system of interlocking or automatic signals as will render it safe for engines and trains to pass over such crossings or bridge without stopping, and to apportion the cost of installation and maintenance between said railroads as may be just and proper. (1911, c. 197, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 63, s. 1; C. S., s. 1049; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-52. To require railroads to enter towns and maintain depots in certain cases.—Where two or more railroads may maintain freight depots and a union passenger depot within one mile of a town of two thousand population for the convenience of the inhabitants thereof, and do not enter the corporate limits of the town, it is the duty of the Utilities Commission, upon the petition of a majority of the qualified voters of the said town, which petition shall be properly sworn to by the signers thereof, to require and compel, where practicable, the said railroads to run their lines into or through the corporate limits of the said town, and construct, equip, and maintain suitable passenger and freight depots at some convenient place or places therein, and the passenger depot shall be a union station and be built and maintained by the several railroads according to a plan and in such a manner as shall be approved by the Commission.

When a petition is filed with the Utilities Commission as aforesaid, the Commission shall set a day for the hearing thereof, which day shall be not more than twenty days from the filing of said petition, and shall immediately cause a notice to issue to the railroads interested in the matter set out in the petition, and after the hearing of the matter on the day named in the notice, the Commission, if it deem it practicable, shall thereupon cause an order to be made requiring the said railroads to build, equip, and maintain in a suitable manner roadbeds, yards and depots, and any other necessary buildings or equipment, at convenient places within the limits of said town, as to it seems proper for the needs and growth of the business and inhabitants of the said town.

The order of the Utilities Commission to the railroads shall name a time within which all the necessary work of entering the said town and construction of depots and other buildings shall be completed and opened to the public for the transaction of business, and the said railroads, for every day beyond the said time that they shall not be in operation according to the said order, shall pay the sum of fifty dollars for each and every day of such failure and neglect, to the board of commissioners or aldermen of said town, which shall be for the benefit of the said town, this amount to be recovered as in other actions.

This section shall also apply to any railroad that may hereafter enter into or run within one mile of the corporate limits of said town, and the Utilities Commission shall have the power to require such railroads to unite with the other railroads in maintaining the depots, tracks, and other structures, and also pay such part of the cost thereof as to the said Utilities Commission may seem proper.

The railroads have the power to condemn such quantity of lands, including gardens, yards, residences and the premises pertaining thereto, as are necessary for the purposes of this section, the condemnation proceedings to be had in the same manner as now provided by law. (1907, c. 465; C. S., s. 1050; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-53. To consent to abandonment or relocation of depots.—A railroad corporation which has established and maintained for a year a passenger station or freight depot at a point upon its road shall not abandon such station or depot, nor substantially diminish the accommodation furnished by the stopping of trains, except by consent of the Commission. Freight or passenger depots may be relocated upon the written approval of the Commission. (1899, c. 164, ss. 19, 20; Rev., s. 1098; C. S., s. 1051; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-54. To regulate crossings of telephone, telegraph, electric power lines and crossings of rights of way of railroads and other utilities by another utility.—The Utilities Commission upon its own motion or upon petition of any utility operating in this State and subject to regulation by the Utilities Commission under the provisions of this chapter or upon petition of the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority on behalf of any electric membership corporation organized under chapter 291 of the Public Laws of 1935, as amended, or church or other place of public worship shall have the power and authority, after notice and hearing, to order the lines and right of way of any utility, railroad or electric membership corporation or church or other place of public worship to be crossed by any other utility or electric membership corporation, or church or other place of public worship. The Commission, in all such cases, may require any telephone, telegraph or electric power lines making such crossings to be constructed and maintained in a safe manner and in accord with accepted and approved standards of safety so that the wires of one line will not fall upon the other or that the wires of any telephone, telegraph or electric power lines shall not fall upon the track and right of way of any railroad, and to prescribe the manner in which such construction shall be done. The Commission shall also have the power and authority to discontinue and prohibit such crossings where they are unnecessary and can reasonably be avoided and to order changes in existing crossings when deemed necessary. In all cases in which the Commission orders such crossings to be made or changed and when the parties affected cannot agree upon the cost of the construction of such crossings or the damages to be paid to one of the parties for the privilege of crossing the lines of such party, it shall be the duty of the Commission to apportion the cost of such construction and to fix the damage if any to be paid and to apportion the damages, if any, among the parties in such manner as may be just and equitable. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the right and power of the Utilities Commission in all cases in which it shall determine that any crossing of the lines of one utility over the lines of another has been rendered dangerous by the presence of high tension wire or wires of any electric power or light company to require the utility owning such high tension wire or wires to pay the entire cost of constructing and maintaining such crossing in a safe manner. This section shall not be construed to limit the right of eminent domain conferred upon railroads, utilities, electric membership corporations, churches and other places of public worship by the laws of this State or to limit the right and duty conferred by law with respect to crossing of railroads and highways or railroads crossing railroads, but the duty imposed and the remedy given by this section shall be in addition to other duties and remedies now prescribed by law. Any party shall have the right of appeal from any final order or decision or determination of the Commission as provided by law for appeals from orders or decisions or final determinations of the Utilities Commission. (1913, c. 130, s. 1; C. S., s. 1052; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1949, c. 1029, s. 1.)

For brief comment on the 1949 amendment, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 493.

- (1) For the handling of freight and baggage at stations.
- (2) As to charges by any company or corporation engaged in the carriage of freight or express for the necessary handling and delivery of the same at all stations. (1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsecs. 2, 7; Rev., s. 1094; C. S., s. 1053; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to penalty for failure to deliver freight upon tender of payment for carriage, see § 60-114.

§ 62-56. To prevent discriminations.—The Utilities Commission shall make reasonable and just rules and regulations—

- (1) To prevent discrimination in the transportation of freight or passengers, or in furnishing electricity, electric light, current, power or gas.
- (2) To prevent the giving, paying or receiving of any rebate or bonus, directly or indirectly, or the misleading or deceiving the public in any manner as to real rates charged for freight, express or passengers, or in furnishing electricity, electric light, current, power or gas. (1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsecs. 3, 5; Rev., s. 1095; 1913, c. 127, s. 6; C. S., s. 1054; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to discrimination in railroad rates, see §§ 60-5 to 60-8, 60-92 and 62-143.

Discrimination Defined.—Discrimination in freight tariffs by railroad companies, means to charge shippers of freight unequal sums for carrying the same quantity of freight equal distances; that is, more in proportion for a short than for a long distance. Hines v. Wilmington, etc., Railroad, 95 N. C. 434 (1886).

A railroad carrying logs to a sawmill cannot charge a shipper agreeing to ship the manufactured products by the same line less for the same service than it charges a shipper who makes no such agreement. Lumber Co. v. Railroad, 136 N. C. 479, 48 S. E. 813 (1904).

§ 62-56.1. To require extension or contraction of railroad switching limits.—(a) Powers of Utilities Commission.—In addition to the powers and duties conferred upon the North Carolina Utilities Commission by chapter 62 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, the said North Carolina Utilities Commission is hereby authorized and empowered to require the extension or contraction of the boundaries of the switching limits of any railroad company at any point where the Commission has information that a shipper or a prospective shipper is being discriminated against or subjected to unreasonable practices, or where it would be to the best interest of the shipper or prospective shipper to be included in the switching limits or excluded from the switching limits.

(b) Application to Be Included within Switching Limits; Notice; Hearing and Order.—Upon the application of any shipper or prospective shipper to be included within the switching limits of a terminal or junction which is served by more than one railroad, the North Carolina Utilities Commission may cause notice to be given to the carrier or carriers serving such terminal. If upon investigation and hearing based upon such application the Commission finds that such shipper or prospective shipper should be within or without the switching limits of the terminal or junction, then the Commission is authorized and empowered to order the switching limits extended or contracted as the facts may warrant in each case.

(c) Switching Limits to Be Observed Regardless of Character of Traffic.—The boundaries of switching limits which have been or may be established hereunder shall be the boundaries to be observed by the railroad company, carrier or carriers whether or not the traffic moving into said boundaries or out of said boundaries is either interstate or intrastate in character.

(d) Penalties for Failure to Comply with Commission Orders, etc.—The failure or refusal of any railroad company, carrier or carriers to conform to or obey any decision, rule, regulation or order made by the Commission under the provisions of this section shall subject said railroad company, carrier or carriers refusing or failing to comply herewith to a penalty of five hundred dollars ($500.00); and each day that such failure or refusal to conform to or obey any decision, rule, regulation or order of the Commission shall subject said railroad company, carrier or carriers to a separate and distinct penalty of five hundred dollars ($500.00), the same to be certified to and prosecuted by the Attorney General as provided in chapter 62 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. (1947, c. 1075, ss. 1-4.)

§ 62-57. To fix a standard for gas.—The Utilities Commission shall fix, establish and promulgate a standard of quality for gas and prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of and obedience to the same. (1919, c. 32; C. S., s. 1055; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-58. To regulate shipment of inflammable substances.—The Utilities Commission is authorized and empowered to adopt and promulgate rules for the shipment of inflammable and explosive articles; cotton which has been partially consumed by fire, and such other like articles as in its opinion may be apt to render transportation dangerous. And after the promulgation of such rules, no common carrier shall be required to receive or transport any such articles except when tendered in accordance with the said rules; nor shall such common carrier be liable for any penalty for refusal to receive such article for shipment until all the rules prescribed by the Utilities Commission in regard to the shipments of the same shall be complied with. (1907, c. 471, s. 1; C. S., s. 1056; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

The Commission is particularly authorized to regulate the carriage of inflammable articles as freight. Tilley v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 162 N. C. 37, 77 S. E. 994 (1913).

§ 62-59. To regulate demurrage, storage, placing, and loading of cars.—The Commission shall make rules, regulations and rates governing demurrage and storage charges by railroad companies and other transportation companies; and shall make rules governing railroad companies in the placing of cars for loading and unloading and in fixing time limit for delivery of freights after the same have been received by the transportation companies for shipment. (1903, c. 342; Rev., s. 1100; C. S., s. 1057; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross References.—As to time before charge for demurrage may be made, see § 60-123. As to reasonable time for transporting freight, see § 60-112.

Editor's Note.—For cases decided under the former statute which related to the duty of railroad companies to place cars for loading, see note to § 60-118.

§ 62-60. To fix rate of speed through towns; procedure.—If a railroad company is of the opinion that an ordinance of a city or town through which a line of its railroad passes regulating the speed at which trains may run while passing through said city or town, is unreasonable or oppressive, such railroad company may file its petition before the Utilities Commission, setting forth all the facts, and asking relief against such ordinance, and that the Utilities Commission prescribe the rate of speed at which trains may run through said municipality. Upon the filing of the petition a copy thereof shall be mailed, in a registered letter, or by certified mail, to the mayor or chief officer of the town or municipality, together with a notice from the Utilities Commission, setting forth that on a day named in the notice the petition of the railroad company will be heard, and that the city or town named in the petition will be heard at that time in opposition to the prayer of the petition. And upon the return day of the notice the Utilities Commission shall hear the petition, but any hearing granted by the Utilities Commission shall be had at the town, city or locality where the conditions complained of are alleged to exist, or some member of the said Commission shall take evidence, both for the petition and against it, at such city, town or locality, and report to the full Commission before any decision is made by the Commission.

Either party, petitioner or respondent, has the right to introduce testimony and to be heard by counsel; and the Utilities Commission, after hearing the petition, answer, evidence and argument, shall render judgment thereon. If the Commission finds that such ordinance is reasonable and just the petition shall be dismissed, and the petitioner shall pay all the cost, to be taxed by the clerk to the Utilities Commission. If the Commission is of the opinion that the ordinance is unreasonable, it shall so adjudge; and in addition thereto it shall prescribe the maximum rates of speed for passing through such town. And thereafter the railroad company may run its trains through such town or city at speeds not greater than those prescribed by the Utilities Commission, and the ordinance adjudged to be unreasonable shall not be enforced against such railroad company.

If the judgment of the Utilities Commission is in favor of the petitioner, it shall be lawful for the Utilities Commission to make such order as to the payment of the costs as shall seem just. It may require either party to pay the same or it may divide the same. The costs in such proceeding shall be the same as are fixed by law for similar services in the superior court. (1903, c. 552; Rev., ss. 1101, 1102, 1103; C. S., s. 1058; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1957, c. 1152, s. 5.)

Local Modification.—Cumberland, Rockingham, Union, Wayne: C. S. § 1058.

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment inserted in line nine of the first paragraph the words "or by certified mail."

Regulation within Police Power of State.—In Gladson v. Minnesota, 166 U. S. 427, 17 S. Ct. 628, 41 L. Ed. 1064 (1897), the court said: "The state which created the corporation may make all needful regulations of a police character for the government of the company while operating its road within the jurisdiction. It may prescribe the rate of speed at which the trains shall run, and the places at which they shall stop, and may make any other reasonable regulations for their management in order to secure the object of its incorporation, and the safety, good order, convenience and comfort of its passengers and of the public." North Carolina Corp. Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191, 197 (1904).

§ 62-61. To hear and determine controversies submitted.—When a company or corporation embraced in this chapter has a controversy with another corporation or person, and all the parties to such controversy agree in writing to submit such controversy to the Commission as arbitrator, the Commission shall act as such, and after due notice to all parties interested shall proceed to hear the same, and its award shall be final. Such award in cases where land or an interest in land is concerned shall immediately be certified to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which said land is situated, and shall by such clerk be docketed in the judgment docket for such county, and from such docketing shall be a judgment of the superior court for such county. Parties may appear in person or by attorney before such arbitrator. (1899, c. 164, s. 25; Rev., s. 1073; C. S., s. 1059; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of Utilities Commission to settle dispute between railroad and drainage district, see § 156-91.

§ 62-62. To investigate accidents. — The Commission may investigate the causes of any accident on a railroad or steamboat which it may deem to require investigation, and any evidence taken upon such investigation shall be reduced to writing, filed in the office of the Commission, and be subject to public inspection. (1899, c. 164, s. 24; Rev., s. 1065; C. S., s. 1061; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-63. To notify of violation of rules and institute suit.—The Commission, whenever in its judgment any public utility has violated any law, shall give notice thereof in writing to such corporation, and, if the violation or neglect is continued after such notice, shall forthwith present the facts to the Attorney General, who shall take such proceedings thereon as he may deem expedient. (1899, c. 164, s. 8; Rev., s. 1113; C. S., s. 1062; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

This section must be construed as being mandatory. The statute makes it clearly the duty of the Attorney General, when called upon, to prosecute any suit or action which may be deemed necessary to secure the enforcement of the laws of the State, in regard to the fixing of maximum rates. Southern R. Co. v. McNeill, 155 F. 756 (1907).

Private Persons May Not Maintain Action to Force Continuing Operation of Railroad.—See note to § 62-46.

§ 62-64. Utilities Commission authorized to enter agreement of indemnity as to oyster beds in New River. — The Utilities Commission is authorized and empowered to enter into a contract with the United States or the Secretary of War on behalf of the State of North Carolina, by the terms of which it shall be agreed that the State of North Carolina will save the United States free from liability for damages to oyster beds in New River arising from the dredging and maintenance of a channel ten feet deep and ninety feet wide therein, between the Inland Waterway and Jacksonville: Provided, the liability of the State of North Carolina under such contract shall not exceed the total sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

The enactment of this statute shall not be treated or considered as any admission on the part of the State that the owner of such oyster beds who have not executed waivers or releases prior to February 24, 1939, shall be entitled to any damages by reason of the dredging and maintenance of the said channel, and no payment shall be made on account of such claims unless and until the owners of such oyster beds shall show that there has been sustained actual damages to such oyster beds on account of the dredging and maintenance of said channel. (1939, c. 51; 1941, c. 97.)

Public Utilities Act of 1933.

§ 62-65. Definitions.—(a) The term "Commission" shall mean the Utilities Commission.

(b) The term "corporation," when used in this article, includes a private corporation, an association, a joint stock association or a business trust.

(c) The term "municipality," when used in this article, includes a city, a county, a village, a town, and any other public corporation existing, created or organized as a governmental unit under the Constitution or laws of the State.

(d) The term "person," when used in this article, includes a natural person, a partnership or two or more persons having a joint or common interest, and a corporation as hereinbefore defined.

(e) The term "public utility," when used in this article, includes persons and corporations, or their lessees, trustees and receivers now or hereafter owning or operating in this State equipment or facilities for:

- (1) Producing, generating, transmitting, delivering or furnishing gas, electricity, steam or any other agency for the production of light, heat or power to or for the public for compensation;
- (2) Diverting, developing, pumping, impounding, distributing or furnishing water to or for the public for compensation; provided, however, that the term "public utility" shall not include any person or company whose sole operation consists of selling water to less than twenty-five (25) residential customers;
- (3) Transporting persons or property by street, suburban or interurban railways for the public for compensation;
- (4) Transporting persons or property by motor vehicles for the public for compensation, but not including taxicab, operating on call, or truck transfer service in cities or towns;
- (5) Transporting or conveying gas, crude oil or other fluid substance by pipeline for the public for compensation;
- (6) Conveying or transmitting messages or communications by telephone or telegraph, where such service is offered to the public for compensation;
- (7) The term "public utility" shall for rate making purposes only include any person producing, generating or furnishing any of the foregoing services to another person for distribution to or for the public for compensation.

The term "public utility" shall not include any person not otherwise a public utility, who furnishes the services or commodity only to himself, his employees or tenants when such service or commodity is not resold to or used by others. The business of any public utility other than of the character defined in subdivisions (1) to (7), inclusive, of subsection (e) of this section is not subject to the provisions of this article.

(f) The term "rate," when used in this article, means and includes every compensation, charge, fare, toll, rental and classification, or any of them, demanded, observed, charged or collected by any public utility, for any service, product or commodity offered by it to the public, and any rules, regulations, practices or contracts affecting any such compensation, charge, fare, toll, rental or classification. (1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 1; 1941, c. 97; 1959, c. 639, s. 13.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment added the proviso to subdivision (2) of subsection (e).

Article Not in Conflict with Chapter 75. — The provisions of this article as to rate regulation are not in conflict with chapter 75. Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

Where parties constructed water mains from end of municipal lines to their properties, permitting others to tap into the mains, and the municipality installed meters and furnished water to the others directly, parties were not public utilities within subsection (e) (2) of this section so as to give the Utilities Commission jurisdiction. State v. New Hope Road Water Co., 248 N. C. 27, 102 S. E. (2d) 377 (1958).

§ 62-66. Rates must be just and reasonable. — Every rate made, demanded or received by any public utility, or by any two or more public utilities jointly, shall be just and reasonable. (1933, c. 307, s. 2.)

§ 62-67. Service. — Every public utility shall furnish adequate, efficient and reasonable service. (1933, c. 307, s. 3.)

§ 62-68. To file rate schedules with Commission.—Under such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe, every public utility shall file with the Commission, within such time and in such form as the Commission may designate, schedules showing all rates established by it and collected or enforced, or to be collected or enforced within the jurisdiction of the Commission. The utility shall keep copies of such schedules open to public inspection under such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe. (1933, c. 307, s. 4.)

§ 62-69. Rates varying from schedule prohibited.—No public utility shall directly or indirectly, by any device whatsoever, or in anywise charge, demand, collect or receive from any person a greater or less compensation for any service rendered or to be rendered by such public utility than that prescribed in the schedules of such public utility applicable thereto then filed in the manner provided in this article, nor shall any person receive or accept any service from a public utility for a compensation greater or less than that prescribed in such schedules. (1933, c. 307, s. 5.)

At termination of contract between city and electric company, city officials were doubtful whether it would be advantageous to adopt new schedule of electric company and elected to take current on basis from month to month. It was held that the electric company was not exacting an unlawful rate by billing the city for current on rates contained in the old contract rather than under the new schedule. High Point v. Duke Power Co., 34 F. Supp. 339 (1940).

Cited in Russ v. Western Union Tel. Co., 222 N. C. 504, 23 S. E. (2d) 681 (1943).

§ 62-70. Discrimination prohibited.—No public utility shall, as to rates or services, make or grant any unreasonable preference or advantage to any corporation or person or subject any corporation or person to any unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage. No public utility shall establish or maintain any unreasonable difference as to rates or services either as between localities or as between classes of service. The Commission may determine any questions of fact arising under this section. (1933, c. 307, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—For discussion of this and related sections, see 11 N. C. Law Rev. 246.

Different Rate Schedules for Municipalities and Industrial Users of Electrical Energy.—The Commission in determining whether there is a justifiable basis for establishment of different rate schedules for municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy and industrial users must consider the use characteristics and the load factors as well as the amount of electrical energy purchased under the respective schedules. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

The Commission was justified in placing municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy, and industrial users, under different schedules based upon a difference in the load factor. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

Rates charged REA cooperatives were not available to municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy due to the following factors: (1) The cooperatives were required to extend their lines through sparsely settled rural areas with resulting line losses, and (2) the cooperatives were created and operated on a nonprofit basis pursuant to the established public policy of State and federal government. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

The obligation of a public service corporation to serve impartially and without unjust discrimination is fundamental. It is not essential that consumers who are charged different rates for service should be competitors in order to invoke this principle. There must be substantial differences in service or conditions to justify difference in rates. There must be no unreasonable discrimination between those receiving the same kind and degree of service. State v. Mead Corp., 238 N. C. 451, 78 S. E. (2d) 290 (1953); State v.

Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

Giving Preference to Parent Corporation.—A power company which is a subsidiary of one of its commercial customers may not give a preference to its parent corporation, but must give equal treatment to all its customers similarly situated. State v. Mead Corp., 238 N. C. 451, 78 S. E. (2d) 290 (1953).

Evidence.—An attempted justification of rate differentials by a classification of power furnished as "secondary" and "primary" was held insupportable on the facts. State v. Mead Corp., 238 N. C. 451, 78 S. E. (2d) 290 (1953).

Question for Decision of Court.—Where the Utilities Commission concluded upon undisputed facts that there was no unlawful discrimination by a power company in the rates charged its commercial customers, whether the conclusion was supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record, was held to present a question of law for the decision of the court. State v. Mead Corp., 238 N. C. 451, 78 S. E. (2d) 290 (1953).

Party Entitled to Injunctive Relief.—Where certain carriers by truck sought injunctive relief against railroad carriers for discrimination in rates against certain cities and against certain commodities, it was held that the basis for injunctive relief must be an interference or threatened interference with a legal right of the petitioner, not of a third party and that the shippers would be the real parties in interest, not the contract truck carriers. Carolina Motor Service v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 210 N. C. 36, 185 S. E. 479, 104 A. L. R. 1165 (1936).

§ 62-71. Change of rates.—Unless the Commission otherwise orders, no public utility shall make any changes in any rate which has been duly established under this article, except after thirty days' notice to the Commission, which notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the rates then in force, and the time when the changed rates will go into effect. The utility shall also give such notice of the proposed changes to other interested persons as the Commission in its discretion may direct. All proposed changes shall be shown by filing new schedules, or shall be plainly indicated upon schedules filed and in force at the time and kept open to public inspection. The Commission, for good cause shown, may allow changes in rates, without requiring the thirty days' notice, under such conditions as it may prescribe. All such changes shall be immediately indicated upon its schedules by such public utility.

Whenever there is filed with the Commission by any public utility any schedule stating a new rate or rates, the Commission may, either upon complaint or upon its own initiative, upon reasonable notice, enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such rate or rates; and pending such hearing and the decision thereon the Commission, upon filing with such schedule and delivering to the utility affected thereby a statement in writing of its reasons therefor, may, at any time before they become effective, suspend the operation of such rate or rates, but not for a longer period than ninety (90) days beyond the time when such rate or rates would otherwise go into effect unless the Commission shall find that a longer time will be required, in which case the Commission may extend the period for not to exceed six (6) months: Provided, and notwithstanding any such order of suspension, the public utility may put such suspended rate or rates into effect on the date when it or they would have become effective, if not so suspended, by filing with the Commission a bond in a reasonable amount approved by the Commission, with sureties approved by the Commission, conditioned upon the refund, in a manner to be prescribed by order of the Commission to the persons entitled thereto of the amount of the excess and interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from the date that such rates were put into effect, if the rate or rates so put into effect are finally determined to be excessive; or there may be substituted for such bond, other arrangements satisfactory to the Commission for the protection of the parties interested. If the public utility fails to make refund within thirty (30) days after such final determination any person entitled to such refund may sue therefor, in any court of this State of competent jurisdiction and be entitled to recover, in addition to the amount of the refund due, all court costs, but no suit may be maintained for that purpose unless instituted within two years after such final determination. Any number of persons entitled to such refund may join as plaintiffs and recover their several claims in a single action; in which action the court shall render a judgment severally for each plaintiff as his interest may appear. During any such period of suspension the Commission may, in its discretion, require that the public utility involved shall furnish to its consumers or patrons a certificate or other evidence of payments made by them. (1933, c. 307, s. 7; 1959, c. 422.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment inserted, near the middle of the second paragraph, the words "and interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from the date that such rates were put into effect."

Optional Schedules.—A public service corporation has a right to maintain optional schedules. High Point v. Duke Power Co., 34 F. Supp. 339 (1940).

§ 62-72. Changing unreasonable rates after hearing.—Whenever the Commission, after a hearing had after reasonable notice upon its own motion or upon complaint, finds that the existing rates in effect and collected by any public utility for any service, product, or commodity, are unjust, unreasonable, insufficient or discriminatory, or in anywise in violation of any provision of law, the Commission shall determine the just, reasonable and sufficient rates to be thereafter observed and in force, and shall fix the same by order as hereinafter provided. (1933, c. 307, s. 8.)

§ 62-73. Compelling telephone and telegraph companies to form continuous lines to certain points.—The Commission may upon complaint, in writing, by any person, or on its own initiative after a hearing on reasonable notice, by order require any two or more telephone or telegraph companies whose lines or wires form a continuous line of communication, or could be made to do so by the construction and maintenance of suitable connections or the joint use of equipment, or the transfer of messages at common points, between different localities which cannot be communicated with or reached by the lines of either company alone, where such service is not already established or provided, to establish and maintain through lines within the State between two or more such localities. The rate for such service shall be just and reasonable and the Commission shall have power to establish the same, and declare the portion thereof to which each company affected thereby is entitled and the manner in which the same must be secured and paid. All necessary construction, maintenance and equipment in order to establish such service shall be constructed and maintained in such manner and under such rules, with such division of expense and labor as may be required by the Commission. (1933, c. 307, s. 9.)

§ 62-74. Compelling efficient service, extension of services and facilities, additions and improvements. — Whenever the Commission, after reasonable notice and a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, finds that the service of any public utility is inadequate, insufficient or unreasonably discriminatory, or that persons are not served who may reasonably be served, or that additions, extensions, repairs or improvements to, or changes in, the existing plant, equipment, apparatus, facilities or other physical property of any public utility, or of any two or more public utilities ought reasonably to be made or that it is reasonable and proper that new structures should be erected to promote the security or convenience or safety of its patrons, employees and the public or to do any other act necessary to secure reasonably adequate service or facilities and to reasonably and adequately serve the public convenience and necessity, the Commission shall enter and serve an order directing that such additions, extensions, repairs, improvements, or additional services or changes shall be made or effected within a reasonable time prescribed in the order; and if such order is directed to two or more public utilities, the utilities so designated shall be given such reasonable time as the Commission may grant within which to agree upon the portion or division of the cost of such additions, extensions, repairs, improvements or changes which each shall bear. If at the expiration of the time limited in the order of the Commission, the utility or utilities named in the order shall fail to file with the Commission a statement that an agreement has been made for a division or apportionment of the cost or expense, the Commission shall have the authority, after further hearing in the same proceedings, to make an order fixing the portion of such cost or expense to be borne by each public utility affected and the manner in which the same shall be paid or secured. (1933, c. 307, s. 10; 1949, c. 1029, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment rewrote this section. For brief comment on amendment, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 493.

Protest Is Not Notice.—A protest filed by a city in a proceeding by a power company for an increased cash fare on its city busses was not sufficient to constitute such notice as is required by this section so as to authorize the Commission to consider whether or not the service rendered by the power company was adequate or inadequate. State v. Greensboro, 244 N. C. 247, 93 S. E. (2d) 151 (1956).

§ 62-75. Fixing standards, classifications, etc.; testing service. — The Commission may, after hearing upon reasonable notice had upon its own motion or upon complaint, ascertain and fix just and reasonable standards, classifications, regulations, practices or service to be furnished, imposed, observed and followed by any or all public utilities; ascertain and fix adequate and reasonable standards for the measurement of quantity, quality, pressure, initial voltage or other condition pertaining to the supply of the product, commodity or service furnished or rendered by any and all public utilities; prescribe reasonable regulations for the examination and testing of such product, commodity or service and for the measurement thereof; establish or approve reasonable rules, regulations, specifications and standards to secure the accuracy of all meters and appliances for measurement; and provide for the examination and testing of any and all appliances used for the measurement of any product, commodity or service of any public utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 11.)

§ 62-76. Valuing and revaluing utility property. — The Commission may, on hearing after reasonable notice, ascertain and fix the value of the whole or any part of the property of any public utility insofar as the same is material to the exercise of the jurisdiction of the Commission, and may make revaluations from time to time and ascertain the value of all new construction, extension and additions to the property of every public utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 12.)

§ 62-77. Establishment of accounting system.—The Commission may establish a system of accounts to be kept by the public utilities, subject to its jurisdiction, or may classify said public utilities and establish a system of accounts for each class, and prescribe the manner in which such accounts shall be kept. (1933, c. 307, s. 13.)

§ 62-78. Visitorial and inspection powers of Commission.—The commissioners and the officers and employees of the Commission may during all reasonable hours enter upon any premises occupied by any public utility, for the purpose of making the examinations and tests and exercising any power provided for in this article, and may set up and use on such premises any apparatus and appliances necessary therefor. Such public utility shall have the right to be represented at the making of such examination, tests and inspections. (1933, c. 307, s. 14.)

§ 62-79. Annual reports; cancelling certificates for failure to file report.—The Commission may require any public utility to file annual reports in such form and of such content as the Commission may require and special reports concerning any matter about which the Commission is authorized to inquire or to keep itself informed, or which it is required to enforce. All reports shall be under oath when required by the Commission. The Commission may issue an order, without notice or hearing, cancelling or suspending any certificate of convenience and necessity thirty (30) days after the date of service of order for failing to file the required annual report at the time it was due. In the event the report is filed during the thirty (30)-day period, the order of cancellation or suspension shall be null and void. (1933, c. 307, s. 15; 1959, c. 639, s. 8.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment added the third and fourth sentences.

§ 62-80. Investigation into management of utilities. — The Commission may, on its own motion and whenever it may be necessary in the performance of its duties, investigate and examine the condition and management of public utilities or any particular utility. In conducting such investigations the Commission may proceed either with or without a hearing as it may deem best, but it shall make no order without affording the parties affected thereby a hearing. (1933, c. 307, s. 16.)

§ 62-81. Permission to pledge assets or pay fees.—No public utility shall pledge its faith, credit, moneys or property for the benefit of any holder of its preferred or common stocks or bonds, nor for any other business interest with which it may be affiliated through agents or holding companies or otherwise by the authority of the action of its stockholders, directors, or contract or other agents, the compliance or result of which would in any manner deplete, reduce, conceal, abstract or dissipate the earnings or assets thereof, decrease or increase its liabilities or assets, without first making application to the Commission and by order obtain its permission so to do; nor shall any such utility pay any fees, commissions or compensation of any description whatsoever to any holding, managing, operating, constructing, engineering, financing, or purchasing company or agency including subsidiary or affiliated companies, for services rendered or to be rendered without first filing copies of all proposed agreements and contracts with the Commission and obtaining its approval. (1933, c. 307, s. 17.)

§ 62-82. Assumption of certain liabilities and obligations to be approved by Commission; refinancing of utility securities.—No utility shall issue any securities, or assume any liability or obligation as lessor, lessee, guarantor, indorser, surety, or otherwise, in respect to the securities of any other person unless and until, and then only to the extent that, upon application by the utility, and after investigation by the Commission of the purposes and uses of the proposed issue, and the proceeds thereof, or of the proposed assumption of obligation or liability in respect of the securities of any other person, the Commission by order authorizes such issue or assumption. The Commission shall make such order only if it finds that such issue or assumption

- (1) Is for some lawful object within the corporate purposes of the utility,
- (2) Is compatible with the public interest,
- (3) Is necessary or appropriate for or consistent with the proper performance by the utility of its service to the public as such utility and will not impair its ability to perform that service, and,
- (4) Is reasonably necessary and appropriate for such purpose.

Any such order of the Commission shall specify the purposes for which any such securities or the proceeds thereof may be used by the utility making such application. Furthermore, in the event of an application by a utility for the refinancing of its outstanding shares of stock by exchanging or redeeming such outstanding shares, the exchange or redemption of such shares of any dividend rate or rates, class or classes, may be made, in whole or in part, in the manner and to the extent approved by the Commission, notwithstanding any provisions of law applicable to corporations in general: Provided, that the proposed transactions are found by the Commission to be in the public interest and in the interest of consumers and investors, and provided that any redemption shall be at a price or prices, not less than par, and at a time or times, stated or provided for in the utility's charter or stock certificates. (1933, c. 307, s. 18; 1945, c. 656.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment added the last sentence and proviso thereto.

Common Capital Stock of Corporation Is Security.—The common capital stock of a corporation is a security within the meaning of that term as used in this section and § 62-83. State v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 243 N. C. 46, 89 S. E. (2d) 802 (1955).

§ 62-83. Commission may approve in whole or in part or refuse approval.—The Commission, by its order, may grant or deny the application provided for in the preceding section as made, or may grant it in part or deny it in part or may grant it with such modification and upon such terms and conditions as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate in the premises and may, from time to time, for good cause shown, make such supplemental orders in the premises as it may deem necessary or appropriate and may, by any such supplemental order, modify the provisions of any previous order as to the particular purposes, uses, and extent to which or the conditions under which any securities so theretofore authorized or the proceeds thereof may be applied; subject always to the requirements of the foregoing section. (1933, c. 307, s. 19.)

Common Capital Stock as Security.—See note to § 62-82.

Commission Has Authority to Control Issuance and Sale of Capital Stock.—In view of the language used by the legislature in conferring power of the Utilities Commission to supervise and control the issue and sale of securities by a public utility, the Commission had the authority not only to veto the sale of unissued common stock of a utility as par but also to impose the condition that such stock should be sold at a price not less than $125 per share. State v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 243 N. C. 46, 89 S. E. (2d) 802 (1955).

§ 62-84. Contents of application for permission. — Every application for authority for such issue or assumption shall be made in such form and contain such matters as the Commission may prescribe. Every such application and every certificate of notification hereinafter provided for shall be made under oath, signed and filed on behalf of the utility by its president, a vice-president, auditor, comptroller, or other executive officer having knowledge of the matters therein set forth and duly designated for that purpose by the utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 20.)

§ 62-85. Applications to receive immediate attention; continuances.—All applications for the issuance of securities or assumption of liability or obligation shall be placed at the head of the Commission's docket and disposed of promptly, and all such applications shall be disposed of in thirty (30) days after the same are filed with the Commission, unless it is necessary for good cause to continue the same for a longer period for consideration. Whenever such application is continued beyond thirty (30) days after the time it is filed, the order making such continuance must state fully the facts necessitating such continuance. (1933, c. 307, s. 21.)

§ 62-86. Notifying Commission as to disposition of securities. — Whenever any securities set forth and described in any such application for authority or certificate of notification as pledged or held unincumbered in the treasury of the utility shall, subsequent to the filing of such application or certificate, be sold, pledged, repledged, or otherwise disposed of, by the utility, such utility shall, within ten days after such sale, pledge, repledge, or other disposition, file with the Commission a certificate of notification to that effect, setting forth therein all such facts as may be required by the Commission. (1933, c. 307, s. 22.)

§ 62-87. No guarantee on part of State.—Nothing herein shall be construed to imply any guarantee or obligation as to such securities on the part of the State of North Carolina. (1933, c. 307, s. 23.)

§ 62-88. Article not applicable to note issues; renewals likewise excepted.—The provisions of the foregoing sections shall not apply to notes issued by a utility for the proper purposes and not in violation of law, payable at a period of not more than two (2) years from the date thereof, and shall not apply to like notes issued by a utility payable at a period of not more than two (2) years from date thereof, to pay, retire, discharge, or refund in whole or in part any such note or notes and shall not apply to renewals thereof from time to time not exceeding in the aggregate six (6) years from the date of the issue of the original note or notes so renewed or refunded. No such notes payable at a period of not more than two (2) years from the date thereof, shall, however, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, be paid, retired, discharged or refunded by any issue of securities of another kind of any term or character or from the proceeds thereof without the approval of the Commission. (1933, c. 307, s. 24.)

§ 62-89. Not applicable to debentures of court receivers; notice to Commission. — Nothing contained in this article shall limit the power of any court having jurisdiction to authorize or cause receiver's certificates or debentures to be issued according to the rules and practice obtaining in receivership proceedings in courts of equity. Within ten (10) days after the making of any such notes, so payable at periods of not more than two (2) years from the date thereof, the utility issuing the same shall file with the Commission a certificate of notification, in such form as may from time to time be determined and prescribed by the Commission. (1933, c. 307, s. 25.)

Receiver's Certificates Maturing More than Two Years after Date.—Under this section it would seem that the legislature has withdrawn from the courts the right to authorize the issuance of receiver's certificates maturing more than two years after date of issue. Sinclair v. Moore Cent. R. Co., 228 N. C. 389, 45 S. E. (2d) 555 (1947).

§ 62-90. Periodical or special reports.—The Commission shall require periodical or special reports from each utility hereafter issuing any security including such notes payable at periods of not more than two (2) years from the date thereof, which shall show, in such detail as the Commission may require, the disposition made of such securities and the application of the proceeds thereof. (1933, c. 307, s. 26.)

§ 62-91. Failure to obtain approval not to invalidate securities or obligations.—(a) Securities issued and obligations and liabilities assumed by a utility, for which under the provisions of this article the authorization of the Commission is required, shall not be invalidated because issued or assumed without such authorization therefor having first been obtained or because issued or assumed contrary to any term or condition of such order of authorization as modified by any order supplemental thereto entered prior to such issuance or assumption.

(b) Securities issued or obligations or liabilities assumed in accordance with all the terms and conditions of the order of authorization therefor shall not be affected by a failure to comply with any provision of this article or rule or regulation of the Commission relating to procedure and other matters preceding the entry of such order of authorization or order supplemental thereto.

(c) A copy of any order made and entered by the Commission as in this article provided (duly certified by the clerk of the Commission) approving the issuance of any securities or the assumption of any obligation or liability by a utility shall, in and of itself, be sufficient evidence, for all purposes, of full and complete compliance by the applicant for such approval with all procedural and other matters required precedent to the entry of such order.

(d) Any utility which willfully issues any such securities, or assumes any such obligation or liability, or makes any sale or other disposition of securities, or applies any securities or the proceeds thereof to purposes other than the purposes specified in an order of the Commission with respect thereto, contrary to the provisions of this article, shall be liable to a penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars, but such utility is only required to specify in general terms the purpose for which any securities are to be issued, or for which any obligation or liability is to be assumed, and the order of the Commission with respect thereto shall likewise be in general terms. (1933, c. 307, s. 27.)

§ 62-92. Commission may act jointly with agency of another state where utility operates.—If a commission or other agency or agencies is empowered by another state to regulate and control the amount and character of securities to be issued by any public utility within such other state, then the Utilities Commission of the State of North Carolina shall have the power to agree with such commission or other agency or agencies of such other state on the issue of stocks, bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness by a public utility owning or operating a public utility both in such state and in this State, and shall have the power to approve such issue jointly with such commission or other agency or agencies and to issue joint certificate of such approval: Provided, however, that no such joint approval shall be required in order to express the consent to an approval of such issue by the State of North Carolina if said issue is separately approved by the Utilities Commission of the State of North Carolina. (1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 28; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-93. Willful acts of employees deemed those of utility. — The willful act of any officer, agent, or employee of a utility, acting within the scope of his official duties of employment, shall, for the purpose of this article be deemed to be the willful act of the utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 29.)

§ 62-94. Actions to recover penalties. — Actions to recover penalties under this article shall be brought in the name of the State of North Carolina, in the county in which the offense was committed. Whenever any utility is subject to a penalty under this article, the Commission shall certify the facts to the Attorney General, who shall institute and prosecute an action for the recovery of such penalty: Provided, the Commission may compromise such action and dismiss the same on such terms as the court will approve. (1933, c. 307, s. 30.)

§ 62-95. Penalties to school fund.—All penalties recovered by the State in such action shall be paid into the State treasury to the credit of the school fund. (1933, c. 307, s. 31.)

§ 62-96. Abandonment and reduction of service.—Upon finding that public convenience and necessity are no longer served, or that there is no reasonable probability of a utility realizing sufficient revenue from the service to meet its expenses, the Commission shall have power, after petition, notice and hearing, to authorize by order any utility to abandon or reduce its service or facilities. (1933, c. 307, s. 32.)

Order Must Be Obtained. — Where a power company discontinued its service for nonpayment of charges, the customer, upon payment of the charges, is entitled to restoration of the service where the company did not obtain an order under this section. Sweetheart Lake v. Carolina Power, etc., Co., 211 N. C. 269, 189 S. E. 785 (1937).

§ 62-97. Water gauging stations.—The Commission may require the location, establishment, maintenance and operation of water gauging stations, and the Commission and the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development may co-operate with each other as to such locations, construction and reports and upon the results of operation. (1933, c. 307, s. 33.)

§ 62-98. Reports from municipalities operating own utilities. — Every municipality engaged in operating any works or systems for the manufacture and supplying of gas or electricity, or purchasing same for distribution and resale, or operating telephone exchanges, shall make an annual report to the Commission, verified by the oath of the general manager or superintendent thereof, on the same blanks as now provided for reports of privately owned utilities, giving the same information as required of such utilities. (1933, c. 307, s. 34.)

Cross Reference.—As to admissibility of records in utility rate hearing, see § 62-18.

§ 62-99. Refusal to permit Commission to inspect records made misdemeanor.—Any public utility, its officers or agents in charge thereof, that fails or refuses upon the written demand of the Commission, or a majority of said Commission, and under the seal of the Commission, to permit the Commission, its authorized representatives or employees to examine and inspect its books, records, accounts and documents, or its plant, property, or facilities, as provided for by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Each day of such failure or refusal shall constitute a separate offense and each such offense shall be punishable by a fine of not less than five hundred and not more than five thousand dollars. (1933, c. 307, s. 35.)

§ 62-100. Willful disobedience to orders of Commission incurs forfeiture.—Every public utility and the officers, agents and employees thereof shall obey, observe and comply with every order made by the Commission under authority of this article so long as the same shall be and remain in force. Any such person or corporation, or any officer, agent or employee thereof, who knowingly fails or neglects to obey or comply with such order, or any provision of this article, shall forfeit to the State of North Carolina not to exceed the sum of one thousand dollars for each offense. Every distinct violation of any such order or of this article shall be a separate and distinct offense, and in case of a continuing violation each day shall be deemed a separate and distinct offense.

No present provision of law shall be deemed to be repealed by this article except such as are directly in conflict therewith. (1933, c. 307, ss. 36, 37.)

ARTICLE 5.

Miscellaneous Provisions as to Public Utilities.

§ 62-101. Certificate of convenience and necessity. — No person, or corporation, their lessees, trustees or receivers shall hereafter begin the construction or operation of any public utility plant or system or acquire ownership or control of, either directly or indirectly, without first obtaining from the Utilities Commission a certificate that public convenience and necessity requires, or will require, such construction, acquisition, or operation: Provided, that this section shall not apply to new construction in progress on May 27, 1931, nor to construction into territory contiguous to that already occupied and not receiving similar service from another utility, nor to construction in the ordinary conduct of business.

The Utilities Commission is hereby empowered to make rules governing the application for, and the issuance of such certificates of public convenience and necessity. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to necessity for certificate of convenience and necessity for housing projects, see § 157-28.

Editor's Note.—See article in 16 N. C. Law Rev. 46.

This section does not apply to municipal corporations. Grimesland v. Washington, 234 N. C. 117, 66 S. E. (2d) 794 (1951).

A municipal corporation in the operation of a municipally owned electric power plant with transmission lines extended to supply consumers beyond its corporate limits is not required under this section to obtain from the Utilities Commission a certificate of public convenience and necessity before it can lawfully operate. Grimesland v. Washington, 234 N. C. 117, 66 S. E. (2d) 794 (1951).

This section is not applicable to an electric membership corporation organized under the provisions of §§ 117-6 to 117-27. And by reason of the provisions of § 117-27 there was no error in holding that the defendant electric membership corporation was not required to obtain from the Utilities Commissioner (now Utilities Commission) of North Carolina a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Carolina Power, etc., Co. v. Johnston County Elec. Membership Corp., 211 N. C. 717, 192 S. E. 105 (1937).

§ 62-102. Contracts of public service corporations.—All public service corporations when requested by the Utilities Commission shall submit copies of contracts made with any person, firm or corporation classed as a holding, managing or operating company or selling service of any kind, and the Utilities Commission shall have the right to disapprove any such contract, after hearing, if in its judgment it is found to be unjust or unreasonable, and designed, or entered into for the purpose of concealing, abstracting, or dissipating the net earnings of the public service corporation receiving such services. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

ARTICLE 5A.

Reorganization.

§ 62-102.1. Corporations whose property and franchises sold under order of court or execution.—When the property and franchises of a public service corporation are sold under a judgment or decree of a court of this State, or of the district court of the United States, or under execution, to satisfy a mortgage debt or other encumbrance thereon, such sale vests in the purchaser all the right, title, interest and property of the parties to the action in which such judgment or decree was made, to said property and franchise, subject to all the conditions, limitations and restrictions of the corporation; and the purchaser and his associates, not less than three in number, thereupon become a new corporation, by such name as they select, and they are the stockholders in the ratio of the purchase money by them contributed; and are entitled to all the rights and franchises and subject to all the conditions, limitations and penalties of the corporation whose property and franchises have been so sold. In the event of the sale of a railroad in foreclosure of a mortgage or deed of trust, whether under a decree of court or otherwise, the corporation created by or in consequence of the sale succeeds to all the franchises, rights and privileges of the original corporation only when the sale is of all the railroad owned by the company and described in the mortgage or deed of trust, and when the railroad is sold as an entirety. If a purchaser at any such sale is a corporation, such purchasing corporation shall succeed to all the properties, franchises, powers, rights, and privileges of the original corporation: Provided, that this shall not affect vested rights and shall not be construed to alter in any manner the public policy of the State now or hereafter established with reference to trusts and contracts in restraint of trade. (Code, ss. 697, 698; 1897, c. 305; 1901, c. 2, s. 99; Rev., s. 1238; 1913, c. 25, s. 1; 1919, c. 75; C. S., s. 1221; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2.)

§ 62-102.2. New owners to meet and organize. — The persons for whom the property and franchises have been purchased shall meet within thirty days after the delivery of the conveyance made by virtue of said process or decree, and organize the new corporation, ten days' written notice of the time and place of the meeting having been given to each of the said persons. At this meeting they shall adopt a corporate name and seal, determine the amount of the capital stock of the corporation, and shall have power and authority to make and issue certificates of stock in shares of such amounts as they see fit. The corporation may then, or at any time thereafter, create and issue preferred stock to such an amount, and at such time, as they may deem necessary. (1901, c. 2, ss. 100, 101, 102; Rev., ss. 1239, 1240; C. S., s. 1222; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2.)

§ 62-102.3. Certificate to be filed with Secretary of State.—It is the duty of the new corporation, within one month after its organization to make certificate thereof, under its common seal, attested by the signature of its president, specifying the date of the organization, the name adopted, the amount of capital stock, and the names of its president and directors, and transmit the certificate to the Secretary of State, to be filed and recorded in his office, and there remain of record. A certified copy of this certificate so filed shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which is located the principal office of the corporation, and is the charter and evidence of the corporate existence of the new corporation. (1901, c. 2, s. 103; Rev., s. 1241; C. S., s. 1223; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2.)

§ 62-102.4. Effect on liens and other rights.—Nothing contained in this article in any manner impairs the lien of a prior mortgage, or other encumbrance, upon the property or franchises conveyed under the sale, when by the terms of the process or decree under which the sale was made, or by operation of law, the sale was made subject to the lien of any such prior mortgage or other encumbrance. No such sale and conveyance or organization of such new corporation in any way affects the rights of any person, body politic, or corporate, not a party to the action in which the decree was made, nor of the said party except as determined by the decree. When a trustee has been made a party to such action and his cestui que trust, for reason satisfactory to the court, has not been made a party thereto, the rights and interest of the cestui que trust are concluded by the decree. (1901, c. 2, s. 103; Rev., s. 1241; C. S., s. 1224; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2.)

Motor Carriers Generally.

§§ 62-103 to 62-121: Repealed by Session Laws 1949, c. 1132, s. 38.

Editor's Note.—The repealing section is persons or property. Such carriers are now codified as § 62-121.79. The repealed sections related to motor vehicle carriers of covered by §§ 62-121.1 through 62-121.79.

ARTICLE 6A.

Insurance and Safety Regulations for Motor Vehicles Carrying Passengers for Hire.

§§ 62-121.1 to 62-121.4: Repealed by Session Laws 1957, c. 1152, s. 14.

Editor's Note.—For brief discussion of this article, see 25 N. C. Law Rev. 384.

ARTICLE 6B.

Motor Carriers of Property.

§ 62-121.5. Declaration of policy.—Upon investigation, it has been determined that the transportation of property by motor carriers for compensation over the public highways of the State is a business affected with the public interest; that there has been shown a definite public need for the continuation and preservation of all existing motor carrier service, and to that end, it is hereby declared to be the policy of the State of North Carolina to preserve and continue all motor carrier transportation services now afforded this State, and to provide fair and impartial regulations of motor carriers of property in the use of the public highways in such a manner as to promote, in the interest of the public, the inherent advantages of highway transportation; to promote adequate, economical and efficient service to all of the communities of the State by motor carriers engaged in the transportation of property over the public highways for compensation; to encourage the establishment and maintenance of reasonable charges for transportation services without unjust discriminations, undue preferences or advantages, or unfair or destructive competitive practices; to encourage and promote harmony among motor carriers of property, between such carriers and carriers of property by rail or water, and between all carriers of property and the shipping public; to foster a co-ordinated State-wide motor carrier service; to conform with the national transportation policy and the federal motor carrier acts insofar as the same may be found practical and adequate for application to intrastate commerce; and to co-operate with other states and with the federal government in promoting and co-ordinating intrastate and interstate commerce by motor carriers. (1947, c. 1008, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The act from which this article was codified became effective on October 1, 1947. Its title purported to amend and restate the provisions of article 6 of this chapter insofar as the same applied to motor carriers of property. See § 62-121.79.

As to purpose of former article 6, see State v. Andrews, 191 N. C. 545, 132 S. E. 568 (1926).

Purpose of Article. — This article was enacted to preserve and continue motor carrier transportation services. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 178, 59 S. E. (2d) 580 (1950).

§ 62-121.6. Delegation of jurisdiction. — Full power and authority to administer and enforce the provisions of this article, and to make and enforce reasonable and necessary rules and regulations to that end, are hereby vested in the North Carolina Utilities Commission. (1947, c. 1008, s. 2.)

Rule Denying Rights under Grandfather Clause.—The Utilities Commission does not have the power to promulgate a rule, pursuant to the provisions of this section, and then to interpret or enforce the rule in such manner as to deny the exercise of rights which the legislature in clear and express terms preserved to all motor vehicle carriers of property who were in bona fide operation on January 1, 1947, and who have met the additional requirements contained in G. S. 62-121.11. State v. Fox, 239 N. C. 253, 79 S. E. (2d) 391 (1954).

§ 62-121.7. Definitions.—When used in this article, unless the language or context clearly indicate that different meanings are intended:

- (1) "Certificate" means a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued by the Commission pursuant to the provisions of this article to a common carrier by motor vehicle.
- (2) "Commission" means the North Carolina Utilities Commission.
- (3) "Common carrier by motor vehicle" means any person which holds itself out to the general public to engage in the transportation by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce of property or any class or classes thereof for compensation, whether over regular or irregular routes.
- (4) "Contract carrier by motor vehicle" means any person which, under individual contracts or agreements, engages in the transportation, other than transportation referred to in subdivision (3), by motor vehicle of property in intrastate commerce for compensation.
- (5) The term "foreign commerce" means commerce between any place in the United States and any place in a foreign country, or between places in the United States through any foreign country, whether such commerce moves wholly by motor vehicle or partly by motor vehicle and partly by rail, express, or water.

- (6) "Highway" means any road or street in this State used by the public or dedicated or appropriated to public use.
- (7) The term "interstate commerce" means commerce between any place in a state and any place in another state or between places in the same state through another state, whether such commerce moves wholly by motor vehicle or partly by motor vehicle and partly by rail, express, or water.
- (8) "Intrastate commerce" means the transportation of property by motor vehicle for compensation between points and over a route or within a territory wholly within the State, which transportation is not a part of a prior or subsequent movement to or from points outside of the State in interstate or foreign commerce, and includes all transportation of property by motor vehicles within the State for compensation in interstate or foreign commerce which has been exempted from regulation under the Interstate Commerce Act.
- (9) "Intrastate operations" means the transportation of property by motor vehicle for compensation in intrastate commerce.
- (10) "Motor carrier" includes both a common carrier by motor vehicle and a contract carrier by motor vehicle.
- (11) "Motor vehicle," "vehicle," or "truck" mean any vehicle, machine, tractor, semitrailer, or any combination thereof determined by the Commission, which is propelled or drawn by mechanical power and used upon the highways within the State in the transportation of property for compensation in intrastate commerce, but does not include vehicles designed for and used in the transportation of passengers by certificated passenger carriers in which baggage, mail, newspapers, and light express are transported at the same time with passengers.
- (12) "Permit" means a permit issued by the Commission pursuant to the provisions of this article to a contract carrier by motor vehicle.
- (13) "Person" means a corporation, individual, copartnership, company, association, or any combination of individuals or organizations doing business as a unit, and includes any trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative thereof.
- (14) "Private carrier" means any person not included in definitions of common carrier or contract carrier, which transports in intrastate commerce in its own vehicle or vehicles property of which such person is the owner, lessee, or bailee, when such transportation is for the purpose of sale, lease, rent, or bailment, or when such transportation is purely an incidental adjunct to some other established private business owned and operated by such person other than the transportation of property for compensation.
- (15) "Service," "transportation," and "operations" means the transportation of property by a motor carrier over the highways of the State in intrastate commerce for compensation, and includes all services, vehicles, equipment, and facilities used in connection therewith.
- (16) "State" means the State of North Carolina. (1947, c. 1008, s. 3.)

Lessor of Vehicles Held Not Contract Carrier. — Where the owner of trucks leased them to another corporation under an agreement requiring lessor to carry insurance and maintain the vehicles and giving lessee control over the operation of the trucks with right to use same exclusively for the transportation and delivery of lessee's goods, the lessor was not a contract carrier within the meaning of §§ 20-38 and 62-121.9 as they stood in 1949, since the lessor merely leased its vehicles and was not a carrier of any kind, and lessee was solely a private carrier, and therefore lessor was not liable for additional assessment at the "for hire" rates under the statute. Equipment Fi- nance Corp. v. Schedt, 249 N. C. 334, 106 S. E. (2d) 555 (1959).

§ 62-121.8. Exemption from regulations.—(a) Nothing in this article shall be construed to include persons and vehicles engaged in one or more of the following services if not engaged at the time or at other times in the transportation of other property by motor vehicle for compensation:

- (1) Transportation of property for or under the control of the United States government, or the State of North Carolina, or any political subdivision thereof, or any board, department or commission of the State, or any institution owned and supported by the State;
- (2) Transportation in bulk of sand, gravel, dirt, debris, and other aggregates, or ready-mixed paving materials for use in street or highway construction or repair;
- (3) Transportation of newspapers;
- (4) Transportation of insecticides, fungicides and the ingredients thereof; transportation of farm, dairy or orchard products from farm, dairy or orchard to warehouse, creamery, or other original storage or market;
- (5) Transportation for and under the control of co-operative associations organized and operating under the Federal Agricultural Marketing Act, U. S. C. A. Title 12, § 1141(j), or under the State Co-operative Marketing Act, chapter 54, subchapter 5, General Statutes of North Carolina of 1943, as amended, or for any federation of such co-operative associations; provided, such federation possesses no greater powers or purposes than such co-operative associations;
- (6) Transportation of livestock, or fish, including shellfish and shrimp, but not including manufactured products thereof;
- (7) Transportation of raw products of the forest, including firewood, logs, crossties, stavebolts, pulpwood, and rough lumber, but not including manufactured products therefrom;
- (8) Pickup, delivery, and transfer service for railroads, express companies, water carriers and motor carriers in connection with their respective line-haul services within the commercial zone of any city or town, as defined by the Commission between their terminals and places of collection or delivery of freight;
- (9) Transportation by a bona fide private carrier, as defined in this article;
- (10) Transportation of any commodity anywhere of a character not hauled in the ordinary course of business by a common carrier by motor vehicle.

Provided that none of the provisions of this section nor any of the provisions of this article shall be construed so as to prohibit or regulate the transportation of property by any motor carrier when the movement is within a municipality or within contiguous municipalities and within a zone adjacent to and commercially a part of such municipality or contiguous municipalities, as defined by the Commission; provided further that the Commission shall have the power in its discretion, in any particular case, to fix the limits of any such zone and that nothing herein shall be construed as an abridgment of the police powers of any municipality over such operation wholly within any such municipality. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prohibit or regulate the transportation of household effects of families from one residence to another by persons who do not hold themselves out as being, and are not generally engaged in the business of transporting such property for compensation.

(b) Nothing in this section or in this article shall be so construed as to deny the Commission the right at any time to require of any person or carrier purporting to operate under the provisions of this section satisfactory proof that such person or carrier is, in fact, so operating, and to that end the Commission may conduct such investigations and make such orders as it deems necessary to enforce compliance with this section. (1947, c. 1008, s. 4; 1951, c. 987, s. 1; 1955, c. 1194, ss. 1, 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment inserted the words "transportation of insecticides, fungicides and the ingredients thereof" at the beginning of subdivision (4) in subsection (a).

The 1955 amendment changed subsection (a) by deleting former subdivisions relating to transportation of household effects of a family from one residence to another, or to or from a place of storage, and to transportation of property within a municipality, etc., and by renumbering the remaining subdivisions. It also added the last paragraph of subsection (a).

As to motor vehicles carrying mail under former statute, see Winborne v. Browning, 206 N. C. 557, 174 S. E. 579 (1934).

§ 62-121.9. General powers and duties of the Commission. — The Commission is hereby vested with power and it shall be its duty:

- (1) To supervise and regulate common carriers by motor vehicle as provided in this article, and to that end the Commission may establish reasonable requirements with respect to continuous and adequate service, uniform systems of accounts, records, reports and the preservation of records.
- (2) To supervise and regulate contract carriers as provided in this article, and to that end the Commission may establish reasonable requirements with respect to uniform systems of accounts, records, reports and the preservation of records, but shall not require, and nothing in this article shall be construed to require, contract carriers to become common carriers.
- (3) To supervise and regulate motor carriers, as defined in this article, in all matters affecting the relationship between such carriers, or the relationship between such carriers and the shipping public, in any manner necessary to promote harmony among such carriers, safety and efficiency of service to the public.
- (4) To determine, upon its own motion, or upon motion by a motor carrier, or any other party in interest, whether the transportation in intrastate commerce performed by any motor carrier or class of motor carriers lawfully engaged in operation in this State is in fact of such nature, character, or quantity as not substantially to affect or impair uniform regulation by the Commission of transportation by motor carriers engaged in intrastate commerce in effectuating the transportation policy declared in this article. Upon so finding, the Commission shall issue a certificate of exemption to such motor carrier or class of motor carriers which, during the period such certificate shall remain effective and unrevoked, shall exempt such carrier or class of motor carriers from compliance with the provisions of this article, and shall attach to such certificate such reasonable terms and conditions as the public interest may require. At any time after the issuance of any such certificate of exemption, the Commission may by order revoke all or any part thereof, if it shall find that the transportation in intrastate commerce performed by the carrier or class of carriers designated in such certificate will be, or shall have become, or is reasonably likely to become, of such nature, character, or quantity as in fact substantially to affect or impair uniform regulation by the Commission of intrastate transportation by motor carriers in effectuating the transportation policy declared in this article. Upon revocation of any such certificate, the Commission shall restore to the carrier or carriers affected thereby, without further proceedings, the authority, if any, to operate in intrastate commerce held by such carrier or carriers at the time the certificate of exemption pertaining to such carrier or carriers became effective. No certificate of exemption shall be denied, and no order of revocation shall be issued, under this paragraph, except after reasonable opportunity for hearing to interested parties.

- (5) To administer, execute, and enforce all the provisions of this article, to make and enforce all necessary orders in connection therewith, and to prescribe rules, regulations, and procedure for such administration.
- (6) For the purpose of the administration of the provisions of this article, to inquire into the management of the business of motor carriers and into the management of the business of persons controlling, controlled by, or under common control with, motor carriers to the extent that such persons have a pecuniary interest in the business of one or more motor carriers, and the Commission shall keep itself informed as to the manner and method in which the same are conducted, and may obtain from such carriers and persons such information as the Commission deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this article.
- (7) To prescribe qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees of carriers, and safety of operation and equipment, and in the interest of uniformity of intrastate and interstate rules and regulations applicable within the State of North Carolina with respect to maximum hours of service of truck drivers and/or their helpers, and safety of operation and equipment, the Commission may adopt and enforce the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the Interstate Commerce Commission with respect thereto, insofar as the Commission finds the same to be practical and advantageous for application in this State, and to that end the Commission may avail itself of the assistance of any other agency of the State having special knowledge of such matters, to make such investigations and tests as may be deemed necessary to promote safety of equipment and operation of trucks upon the highways.
- (8) To relieve the highways of all undue burdens and safeguard traffic thereon by promulgating and enforcing reasonable rules, regulations and orders designed and calculated to minimize the dangers attending transportation on the highways of all commodities including explosives or highly inflammable or combustible liquids, substances or gases.
- (9) The Commission may from time to time establish such just and reasonable classifications of groups of carriers included in the term "common carrier by motor vehicle" or contract carrier by motor vehicle as the special nature of the service performed by such carriers shall require; and such just and reasonable rules, regulations, and requirements, consistent with the provisions of this article, to be observed by such carriers so classified or grouped, as the Commission deems necessary or desirable in the public interest.
- (10) Upon complaint in writing to the Commission by any person, organization, or body politic, or upon its own initiative without complaint, the Commission may investigate whether any motor carrier has failed to comply with any provision of this article, or with any requirement pursuant thereto; and if the Commission finds upon such investigation, after due notice and hearing, that the motor carrier has failed to comply with any such provision or requirement, the Commission shall issue an appropriate order to compel the carrier to comply therewith. The Commission may dismiss such complaint without investigation when it is of the opinion that the complainant does not state reasonable grounds for investigation and action on its part. (1947, c. 1008, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—As to revocation of license plates for violation of article, see § 20-64.1.

The interchange of freight between an intrastate and an interstate carrier, even though the property is being moved in interstate commerce, is left to the state commissions. State v. Fox, 239 N. C. 253, 79 S. E. (2d) 391 (1954).

§ 62-121.10. Issuance of certificates in lieu of outstanding certificates.—It shall be the duty of the Commission under this article to issue a certificate, as a matter of course and without further proceedings, to each carrier operating on the effective date of this article under a certificate heretofore issued by the Commission, granting to each such carrier the same operating rights held and exercised by it under its outstanding certificate, including amendments thereto which have heretofore been or may hereafter be authorized by the Commission on applications heard before the effective date of this article, and such certificate shall be deemed issued until prepared and actually issued by the Commission, and in the issuance of such certificate to a regular route common carrier of general commodities, the Commission may, in its discretion, delete therefrom any or all so-called "closed door operations;" that is to say, any or all restrictions appearing in such carrier's outstanding certificate which prohibit such carrier from receiving and/or delivering freight at certain points, or between certain points, along the highways over which such carrier is authorized to perform regular route operations; provided, that nothing herein shall relieve any common carrier by motor vehicle from compliance with the provisions of §§ 62-121.18, 62-121.19 and 62-121.20 within such reasonable time as the Commission may require. (1947, c. 1008, s. 6.)

§ 62-121.11. Issuance of certificates to qualified common carriers by motor vehicle operating on and continuously since January 1st, 1947.—(a) Generally.—Subject to § 62-121.20, if any carrier or predecessor in interest was in bona fide operation as a common carrier by motor vehicle on January 1st, 1947, over the route or routes or within the territory for which application is made under this section, and has so operated since that time, or if engaged in furnishing seasonal service only, was in bona fide operation on January 1st, 1947, during the season ordinarily covered by its operation and has so operated since that time, except in either instance as to interruptions of service over which the applicant or its predecessor in interest had no control, the Commission shall issue a certificate to such carrier without requiring further proof that public convenience and necessity will be served by such operation, if such carrier qualifies itself in the following manner.

(b) Duty of Carrier.—This section shall not apply to a carrier unless the carrier on or before the effective date of this article files with the Commission on forms furnished by it an application under oath for a certificate under this section, giving such information and in such detail as the Commission may require, including the following:

- (1) The full name and address of each person owning an interest in the transportation business of the carrier, the date when each such interest was acquired if subsequent to January 1st, 1946, and the name and address of the carrier's predecessor in interest, if any.
- (2) A full and complete report of the operations of the carrier or its predecessor for one or more full calendar months during the year 1946 chosen by the carrier as being representative of the nature, extent, and frequency of its continuous operations from January 1st, 1947, to the date the application is filed, which report for the month or months covered shall give the date of each intrastate shipment, the waybill number, or other identification number, if any, the point of origin, point of destination, a general description of the commodity transported, its weight and the transportation charges received.

- (3) An accurate description of the highways over which and the termini between which the carrier, during the month or months covered by its report, performed regular route operations.
- (4) An accurate description of the territory within which the carrier, during the month or months covered by its report, performed irregular route operations.
- (5) The make, type, and carrying capacity of each truck or other units of equipment owned, operated by, or licensed in name of the carrier or predecessor in interest, for the years 1946 and 1947, respectively.
- (6) A current balance sheet showing the assets, liabilities, and net worth of the carrier.

(c) Duty of Commission.—The Commission shall issue a certificate to such carrier authorizing the regular route operations and the irregular route operations for which application is made, as provided in this section, but only to the extent that the Commission finds from the application that the operations of such carrier were reasonably frequent and continuous throughout the period covered by the report of operations filed with and made a part of the application, and to that end the application so filed shall be received in evidence by the Commission; provided, however, the Commission may require such supporting or additional evidence as it may desire as to the verity of the facts stated in the application; provided, further, that the Commission may deny such certificate upon a finding from competent evidence that the applicant is unfit, or otherwise disqualified, to perform the service for which application is made. In the event no protest is filed within such time as may be prescribed by the rules of the Commission, the necessary findings may be made and certificate issued without a hearing.

- (d) (1) Any person holding an exemption permit and engaged in the transportation of household effects on and prior to February 15, 1955, shall be eligible to apply to the North Carolina Utilities Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the transportation of household goods as defined by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, between all points and places within the State of North Carolina. Applications under this subsection shall be made on or before October 1, 1955, to the Commission in writing on forms furnished by the Commission, shall be verified under oath by the applicant and shall be accompanied by a full and complete report of the operations of the applicant, or its predecessor, during one or more calendar months of the year 1954 or the year 1955, chosen by the applicant as showing bona fide operation for the handling of household goods prior to and since February 15, 1955, the equipment owned or used in the operation of the applicant, and a current balance sheet showing assets and liabilities and the net worth of the applicant.
- (2) The Commission, upon findings that the applicant was engaged in bona fide operation under an exemption permit and engaged in the transportation of household effects on and prior to February 15, 1955; that the applicant has so operated continuously since that date, and that the applicant is fit, willing and able to perform the service for which application is made, shall issue a certificate to such applicant authorizing the irregular route operation for which application is made.

- (3) It shall be the duty of the Commission under this section, to issue a certificate as a matter of course and without further proceedings, to each carrier engaged in the transportation of household goods on October 1, 1955, under a certificate heretofore issued by the Commission to each such carrier authorizing the handling of household goods as defined by the North Carolina Utilities Commission throughout the State of North Carolina. (1947, c. 1008, s. 7; 1955, c. 1194, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment added subsection (d).

The effect of the grandfather clause in this section is to preserve substantial parity between future and prior operations and to preserve to carriers, upon proper application, their rights existing at the time of the effective date of the statute. State v. Fox, 239 N. C. 253, 79 S. E. (2d) 391 (1954).

Commission Cannot Enforce Rule Denying Carrier Rights under Grandfather Clause. — On the effective date of this article, plaintiff intrastate carrier was interchanging freight with interstate carriers, and was authorized to continue its operations under the grandfather clause. Thereafter, under the provisions of § 62-121.6, the Utilities Commission promulgated a rule prohibiting the interchange of freight between carriers except upon its approval. The Interstate Commerce Commission advised plaintiff that he could conduct operations in interstate commerce only to the extent permitted him in intrastate commerce, and thereafter plaintiff's application to the Utilities Commission for authority to exchange freight in intrastate commerce was denied on the ground that applicant did not intend to exercise such right. It was held that the Utilities Commission was without power to promulgate a rule denying plaintiff the exercise of rights conferred on him under the grandfather clause, and plaintiff is entitled as a matter of right under the grandfather clause to permission to interchange freight with intrastate carriers whether he intends to exercise such right or not, if such permission is necessary in order for him to retain his right to interchange freight with interstate carriers, without being required to show public convenience and necessity. State v. Fox, 239 N. C. 253, 79 S. E. (2d) 391 (1954).

The phrase "in bona fide operation as a common carrier" as used in this section would seem to carry the implication that applicant was one who was rendering substantial service as such in good faith, actively, openly, honestly. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 174, 59 S. E. (2d) 578 (1950).

The fact that an applicant for a certicate under this section, which had been conducting trucking operations extending over a radius of 150 miles held a previously issued franchise certificate authorizing transportation within a radius of seven miles only, does not preclude a finding that its operations were bona fide within the meaning of this section there having been no effort made by the State to exclude or curtail its operations and there being no evasion, deceit, or defiance of authority. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 178, 59 S. E. (2d) 580 (1950).

Authorizing Exchange of Freight between Irregular and Regular Carrier. — The Utilities Commission has no jurisdiction to determine a petition of an irregular truck carrier to be authorized to exchange freight with a regular truck carrier when the regular truck carrier does not join in the petition, and the petition nowhere alleges that the regular truck carrier had made or is desirous of making an agreement with the petitioner for interchange of freight. State v. Youngblood Truck Lines, Inc., 243 N. C. 442, 91 S. E. (2d) 212 (1956).

An irregular route common carrier has no legal right to compel a regular route common carrier to interchange intrastate freight. Interchange between such carriers must be based on an agreement and, in the absence of such interchange agreement, voluntarily made by such carriers and submitted by them to the Commission, the Commission has no jurisdiction of the subject matter. State v. Youngblood Truck Lines, Inc., 248 N. C. 625, 104 S. E. (2d) 199 (1958).

Petition and Exhibits Considered as Evidence in Passing upon Application. — While the burden of proof is upon applicant under this section, its verified petition and exhibits attached thereto showing that applicant was a common carrier of property by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce on 1 January, 1947, with map outlining territory, list of motor vehicles owned by it, financial statement, and report of operations for typical months prior to 1 January, 1947, and showing continuous operations since that date, may be considered by the Utilities Commission as evidence, and there being no evidence contra, and no evidence that applicant was unfit or otherwise disqualified, was sufficient to support the Commission's findings that applicant had operated continuously and with reasonable frequency during the period in question, and sustained the issuance of franchise irrespective of the question of public convenience and necessity. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 174, 59 S. E. (2d) 578 (1950).

Considering Operations for Other Months than One Selected as Typical.—Where application for a certificate is filed within the time allowed under this section and in the report of operations for a month prior to 1 January, 1947, selected by applicant as typical, applicant asks opportunity, if necessary, to offer proof of operations for other months, the Commission has power to permit an amendment to show operations for other months and to consider the addenda thus filed in passing upon the application. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 180, 59 S. E. (2d) 582 (1950).

Where Order of Commission Not Disturbed.—In an application for a certificate under this section the Utilities Commission must act within the authority conferred by the statute, yet the findings from the evidence and the exercise of judgment thereon within the scope of its powers are matters for the Commission, and its order will not be disturbed when sustained by its findings upon competent, material and substantial evidence. State v. Fredrickson Motor Exp., 232 N. C. 180, 59 S. E. (2d) 582 (1950).

§ 62-121.12. Issuance of permits to qualified contract carriers operating on and continuously since January 1st, 1947.—(a) Generally.—Subject to § 62-121.20, if any carrier or predecessor in interest was in bona fide operation as a contract carrier by motor vehicle on January 1st, 1947, over the route or routes, or within the territory for which application is made under this section, and has so operated since that time, or, if engaged in furnishing seasonal service only, was in bona fide operation on January 1st, 1947, during the season ordinarily covered by its operations, except in either instance as to interruptions of service over which the applicant or its predecessor in interest had no control, the Commission shall issue a permit to such carrier, if such carrier qualifies itself in the following manner.

(b) Duty of Carrier.—This section shall not apply to a carrier unless the carrier on or before the effective date of this article files with the Commission on forms furnished by it an application under oath for a permit under this section, giving such information and in such detail as the Commission may require, including the following:

- (1) The full name and address of each person owning an interest in the transportation business of the carrier.
- (2) The number of consignors served as a contract carrier during the month of January, 1947, and the points of origin and points of destination from and to which the carrier operated during said month.
- (3) The make, type and carrying capacity of each truck, or other unit of equipment, owned, operated by, or licensed in the name of the carrier during the month of January, 1947, and for each month thereafter up to the filing of said application.
- (4) A true copy of each contract between the carrier and a shipper in force on the date of such application. (No such contract shall be open to inspection by other carriers or by the public, except by order of court or by order of the Commission in a proceeding involving the violation of some law or valid regulation of the Commission in which such contract becomes material.)
- (5) A current balance sheet showing the assets, liabilities, and net worth of the carrier.

(c) Duty of Commission.—The Commission shall issue a permit to such carrier, authorizing operations for which application is made under this section, but only to the extent that the Commission finds from the application that the applicant was a bona fide contract carrier on January 1st, 1947, and has continued to so operate since that time, seasonal service and unavoidable interruptions considered; and to that end, the application so filed shall be received in evidence by the Commission; provided, however, the Commission may require such supporting or additional evidence as it may desire as to the verity of the facts stated in the application; provided further, that the Commission may deny such permit upon a finding from competent evidence that the applicant is unfit or otherwise disqualified to perform the service for which application is made. In the event no protest is filed within such time as may be prescribed by the rules of the Commission, the necessary findings may be made and permit issued without a hearing. (1947, c. 1008, s. 8.)

§ 62-121.13. Issuance of certificates to persons whose operations were abandoned because of service with the armed forces.—(a) Any person who was regularly engaged in the transportation business as a common carrier by motor vehicle subsequent to January 1st, 1940, of which such person was a principal owner, and who abandoned such transportation business because of entry into the armed forces of the United States, shall be entitled to a certificate, as provided in this section, authorizing the operations so abandoned; provided, however, that such person on or before the effective date of this article files with the Commission on forms furnished by it an application under oath for a certificate under this section, giving such information and in such detail as the Commission may require, including the following:

- (1) The full name and address of each person owning an interest in such transportation business at the time the same was abandoned and the interest owned by each.
- (2) The date when such business was abandoned, the date when the applicant entered the armed forces, and the date when he was discharged therefrom.
- (3) The names and addresses of the shippers served by the applicant during one or more full calendar months of the last year of regular operations chosen by the applicant as being fairly representative of the nature, extent, and frequency of his operations at the time the same were abandoned, and the points to and from which shipments were made by the applicant for the month or months so chosen.
- (4) An accurate description of the highways over which, and the termini between which, such person performed regular route operations during the calendar month or months chosen, as herein provided.
- (5) An accurate description of the territory within which such person performed irregular route operations during the calendar month or months chosen, as herein provided.
- (6) The make, type, and carrying capacity of each truck or other unit of equipment owned, operated by, or licensed in the name of the applicant during the last month of regular operations.
- (7) A current balance sheet showing the assets, liabilities and net worth of the applicant.

(b) If the Commission finds from the application that the applicant abandoned a bona fide operation as a common carrier by motor vehicle under the conditions set out in this section, it shall issue a certificate to such applicant authorizing the regular route operations and the irregular route operations for which application is made, as provided in this section, but only to the extent that it finds from the application that the operations of such person were reasonably frequent and continuous throughout the period covered by its application, seasonal service and unavoidable interruptions considered, and to that end, the application so filed shall be received in evidence by the Commission; provided, however, the Commission may require such supporting or additional evidence as it may desire as to verity of the facts stated in the application; provided further, the Commission may deny such certificate upon a finding from competent evidence that the applicant is unfit or otherwise disqualified to perform the service for which application is made. In the event no protest is filed within such time as may be prescribed by the rules of the Commission, the necessary findings may be made and certificate issued without a hearing. § 62-121.14. Issuance of temporary authority.—Upon the filing of an application in good faith for a certificate, or permit, as provided in §§ 62-121.11, 62-121.12 and 62-121.13, respectively, the Commission shall, pending its final decision on the application, issue to the applicant appropriate temporary authority to operate as a common carrier by motor vehicle, or as a contract carrier by motor vehicle, as the case may be, under such just and reasonable conditions and limitations as the Commission deems necessary or desirable to impose in the public interest; provided, however, that pending such final decision on the application, the applicant shall comply with all the provisions of this article, and with the lawful orders, rules and regulations of the Commission promulgated thereunder, applicable to holders of certificates or permits, and upon failure of an applicant so to do, after reasonable notice from the Commission requiring compliance therewith in the particulars set out in the notice, and after hearing, the application may be dismissed by the Commission without further proceedings, and temporary authority issued to such applicant revoked. (1947, c. 1008, s. 10.)

§ 62-121.15. Applications and hearings.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in §§ 62-121.8, 62-121.10 to 62-121.14 and 62-121.21, no person, after the effective date of this article, shall engage in the transportation of property in intrastate commerce or continue in any such operations until and unless such person shall have applied to and obtained from the Commission a certificate or permit authorizing such operations, and it shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly or willfully operate in intrastate commerce in any manner contrary to the provisions of this article, or of the rules and regulations of the Commission made pursuant thereto.

(b) Applications for certificates or permits shall be made to the Commission in writing on forms furnished by the Commission, shall be verified under oath by the applicant, and shall contain such information and in such form and detail as the Commission may require.

(c) Upon filing of an application for a certificate or a permit, the Commission shall, within a reasonable time, fix a time and place for hearing such application not less than thirty (30) days after such filing. The Commission shall prepare a calendar from time to time containing notice of such hearings. This calendar shall be mailed to the applicant. It shall also be mailed to any other carrier, organization of carriers or other persons who desire to receive notice of such hearings upon payment of an annual fee of five dollars ($5.00). The person or group who pays this fee shall receive all calendars of hearings for a period of one (1) year beginning on July 1st.

(d) The notice herein required shall be given at least twenty (20) days prior to the date fixed for the hearing and shall be deemed given on the date the same is mailed, but failure of any such person, other than the applicant, to receive any such notice shall not, for that reason, invalidate the action of the Commission in granting or denying such application.

(e) The Commission may, by general regulation, require parties desiring to protest the granting an application for a certificate or permit, in whole or in part, to mail or deliver to the Commission and to the applicant, within such reasonable time prior to the date fixed for the hearing as the Commission may by regulation require, written protests under oath specifying the grounds for such protests and the particular way and manner in which the protestant will be adversely affected by the granting of the application. If no such protest is filed within the time required, the Commission may make the necessary findings and issue the certificate or permit without a hearing; otherwise, except as provided in §§ 62-121.10 to 62-121.13, no certificate or permit shall be issued, or amended so as to enlarge the scope of operations, without a hearing on an application therefor, as provided in this section.

(f) If the application is for a certificate, the burden of proof shall be upon the applicant to show to the satisfaction of the Commission,

- (1) That a public demand and need exists for the proposed service in addition to existing authorized transportation service, and
- (2) That the applicant is fit, willing and able to properly perform the proposed service, consideration being given to the financial ability of the applicant to furnish adequate service and to the probability of its continuation.

(g) If the application is for a permit, the Commission shall give due consideration to

- (1) Whether the proposed operations conform with the definition in this article of a contract carrier,
- (2) Whether the proposed operations will unreasonably impair the efficient public service of carriers operating under certificates and/or rail carriers,
- (3) Whether the proposed service will unreasonably impair the use of the highways by the general public,
- (4) Whether the applicant is fit, willing and able to properly perform the service proposed as a contract carrier,
- (5) Whether the proposed operations will be consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this article, and
- (6) Other matters tending to qualify or disqualify the applicant for a permit. (1947, c. 1008, s. 11; 1959, c. 639, s. 11.)

§ 62-121.16. Terms and conditions of certificate.—Any certificate issued under this article shall specify the service to be rendered and the routes over which, the fixed termini, if any, between which, and the intermediate and off-route points, if any, at which, and in case of operations not over specified routes or between fixed termini, the territory within which, the motor carrier is authorized to operate; and there shall, at the time of issuance and from time to time thereafter, be attached to the privileges granted by the certificate such reasonable terms, conditions, and limitations as the public convenience and necessity may from time to time require, including terms, conditions, and limitations as to the extension of the route or routes of the carrier, and such terms and conditions as are necessary to carry out, with respect to the operations of the carrier, the requirements established by the Commission under § 62-121.9; provided, however, that no terms, conditions, or limitations shall restrict the right of the carrier to add to his or its equipment and facilities over the routes, between the termini, or within the territory specified in the certificate, as the development of the business and the demands of the public shall require. (1947, c. 1008, s. 12.)

Obligations Inherent in Acceptance of Certificate.—Inherent in the acceptance of a certificate and the exercise of the rights and privileges evidenced thereby, is the correlative obligation to serve the shipping public faithfully in accordance with reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by the Utilities Commission and in conformity with the requirements of provisions of the Truck Act prescribing duties to be performed by the carrier for the protection of the shipping public. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N. C. 90, 72 S. E. (2d) 11 (1952).

§ 62-121.17. Issuance of permits, terms and conditions.—The Commission shall specify in the permit, or amendment thereto, the business of the contract carrier covered thereby and the scope thereof and shall attach to it, at the time of issuance, and from time to time thereafter, such reasonable terms, conditions, and limitations consistent with the character of the holder as a contract carrier as are necessary to carry out, with respect to the operations of such carrier, the requirements established by the Commission under § 62-121.9; provided, that no terms, conditions, or limitations shall restrict the right of the carrier to substitute or add contracts within the scope of the permit, as the development of the business and the demands of the public may require. (1947, c. 1008, s. 13.)

§ 62-121.18. Issuance of partnership certificates or permits.—No certificate or permit shall be issued under this article to two or more individuals until such individuals shall have executed a partnership agreement and recorded the same in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the county in which the principal office of the partnership is located, a certified copy of which agreement shall be filed with the Commission. (1947, c. 1008, s. 14.)

§ 62-121.19. The same or similar trade names prohibited.—No carrier holding or operating under a certificate or permit issued under this article shall adopt or use the same trade name used by any other such carrier, or the name of any corporation holding or operating under a certificate or permit, or any name so similar to the trade or corporate name of another carrier as to mislead or confuse the public, and the Commission may, upon complaint, or upon its own initiative, in any such case require the carrier to discontinue the use of such trade name, preference being given to the carrier first adopting and using such trade name. (1947, c. 1008, s. 15.)

§ 62-121.20. Dual operations.—Unless, for good cause shown, the Commission shall find, or shall have found, that both a certificate and a permit may be so held consistently with the public interest and with the transportation policy declared in this article:

- (1) No person, or any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such person, shall hold a certificate as a common carrier authorizing operation for the transportation of property by motor vehicle over a route or within a territory, if such person, or any such controlling person, controlled person, or person under common control, holds a permit as a contract carrier authorizing operation for the transportation of property by motor vehicle over the same route or within the same territory; and
- (2) No person, or any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such person, shall hold a permit as a contract carrier authorizing operation for the transportation of property by motor vehicle over a route or within a territory, if such person, or any such controlling person, controlled person, or person under common control, holds a certificate as a common carrier authorizing operation for the transportation of property by motor vehicle over the same route or within the same territory. (1947, c. 1008, s. 16.)

§ 62-121.21. Emergency operating authority.—To meet unforeseen emergencies, the Commission may, upon its own initiative, or upon written request by any shipper, group or organization of shippers, department or agency of the State, or of any county, city or town, with or without a hearing, grant appropriate authority to any owner of a duly licensed truck or trucks, whether such owner holds a certificate or permit or not, to transport such commodities between such points, or within such area, during the period of the emergency and to the extent necessary to relieve the same, as the Commission may fix in its order granting such authority: Provided, the Commission finds from such request, or from its own knowledge of conditions, that a real emergency exists and that relief to the extent authorized in its order is immediate, pressing and necessary in the public interest, and that the carrier so authorized has the necessary equipment and is willing to perform the emergency service as prescribed by the order. (1947, c. 1008, s. 17.)

§ 62-121.22. Deviation from regular route operations.—Any common carrier by motor vehicle, now or hereafter holding a certificate issued by the Commission authorizing the transportation of general commodities over regular routes between fixed termini, may, under such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe,

- (1) Transport from origin to destination, over any convenient highway or highways, shipments in truckloads originating at or destined to points on the regular routes of such carrier, and
- (2) Move shipments in truckloads from any point on its regular routes to any other points on its regular routes over any convenient highway or highways between such points, whether over the routes of another carrier or not, where such movement over the carrier's own routes would otherwise be unnecessarily circuitous.

In no event shall the operation of empty equipment by any carrier over any route or highway be construed as a violation of the rights of any carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 18.)

§ 62-121.23. Security for protection of the public.—No certificate or permit shall be issued to any motor carrier, or remain in force until such carrier shall have procured and filed with the Commission such security for the protection of the public as the Commission shall by regulation determine and require. (1947, c. 1008, s. 19.)

250 N. C. 1, 108 S. E. (2d) 36 (1959).

§ 62-121.24. Joinder of causes of action.—To expedite the settlement of claims between shippers and motor carriers, a shipper may join in the same complaint against a motor carrier any number of claims for overcharges, or a motor carrier may join in the same complaint any number of claims against a shipper for undercharges, whether such claims arose at the same time or in the course of shipments at different times; provided, that each such claim shall be so identified that the same and the allegations with respect thereto may be distinguished from other claims so joined in the complaint, and in cases in which the right of subrogation may be invoked the judgment shall specify the amount of recovery, if any, on each such claim. For the purpose of jurisdiction under this section the aggregate amount set out in the complaint shall be deemed the sum in controversy. (1947, c. 1008, s. 20.)

§ 62-121.25. Notice of claims and limitations for loss, damage or injury to goods.—Any claim for loss, damage, or injury to goods while in the possession of a carrier shall be filed by the claimant with the adverse party in writing within nine (9) months after the same occurred, and the cause of action with respect thereto shall be deemed to have accrued at the expiration of thirty (30) days after the date of such notice, and action for the recovery thereon may be commenced immediately thereafter or at any time within two (2) years after notice in writing shall have been given to the claimant by the adverse party that the claim or any part thereof specified in such notice has been disallowed, and neither party shall by any rule, regulation, contract, or otherwise, provide for a shorter time for filing such claims, or for commencing actions thereon than the periods set out in this section. (1947, c. 1008, s. 21.)

§ 62-121.26. Transfers of certificates and permits.—No certificate or permit issued under the provisions of this article shall be sold, assigned, pledged, transferred, or any rights thereunder leased, nor shall any merger or combination affecting any motor carrier be made through acquisition of control by stock purchases or otherwise, except after application to and written approval by the Commission, and no sale of a certificate or permit shall be approved by the Commission until the seller shall have filed with the Commission a statement under oath of all debts and claims against the seller, of which such seller has any knowledge or notice, (i) for gross receipt taxes, use or privilege taxes, due or to become due the State, as provided in the current Revenue Act, (ii) for wages due employees of the seller, other than salaries of officers, (iii) for unremitted C. O. D. collections due shippers, (iv) for loss or damages of goods transported, or received for transportation, (v) for overcharges on property transported, and (vi) for interline accounts due other carriers, together with a bond payable to the State, executed by a surety company authorized to do business in the State, in an amount double the aggregate of all such debts and claims, conditioned upon the payment of the same within the amount of such bond as the amounts and validity of such debts and claims are established by agreement of the parties, or by judgment; provided, that it shall be considered against the policy declared in § 62-121.5 for any person to obtain a certificate or permit for the purpose of transferring the same to another, and an offer of such transfer within one year after the same was obtained shall be prima facie evidence that such certificate or permit was obtained for the purpose of sale. (1947, c. 1008, s. 22.)

Certificate Holder Not Released from Liability for Nonperformance of Duties.—

This section does not confer upon the Utilities Commission the power to release the holder of a certificate of convenience and necessity from liability for the nonperformance of public duties incident to the certificate. And the Commission possesses no such power in the absence of a delegation thereof by the legislature. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N. C. 90, 72 S. E. (2d) 11 (1952).

A lease of intrastate motor vehicle common-carrier operating rights, approved by the Utilities Commission, does not release lessor, the holder of the certificate of convenience and necessity, from liability for nonperformance of franchise duties or torts incident to operation, and a shipper may hold lessor liable for lessee's failure to make prompt remittance of C. O. D. collections as required by G. S. 62-121.37. In the instant case the Utilities Commission, in approving the lease, did not attempt to relieve lessors of such obligations, nor would it have the power to do so. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N. C. 90, 72 S. E. (2d) 11 (1952).

§ 62-121.27. Suspension or revocation of certificates and permits.—(a) Certificates and permits issued under the provisions of this article shall be effective from the date issued unless otherwise specified therein, and shall remain in effect until terminated under the terms thereof, or until suspended or revoked as herein provided.

(b) Any certificate or permit may be suspended or revoked, in whole or in part, in the discretion of the Commission, upon application of the holder thereof; or may be suspended or revoked, in whole or in part, upon complaint, or upon the Commission's own initiative, after notice and hearing, for willful failure to comply with any provision of this article, or with any lawful order, rule, or regulation of the Commission promulgated thereunder, or with any term, condition, or limitation of such certificate or permit; provided, however, that any such certificate or permit may be suspended by the Commission upon notice to the holder or lessee thereof without a hearing for any one or more of the following causes:

- (1) For failure to provide and keep in force at all times security for the protection of the public as required in § 62-121.23.
- (2) For failure to file and keep on file with the Commission applicable tariffs or schedules of charges as required in §§ 62-121.29 and 62-121.30.

- (3) For failure to pay any gross receipt taxes, use or privilege taxes, due the State of North Carolina within thirty (30) days after demand in writing from the agency of the State authorized by law to collect the same; provided, that this subdivision shall not apply to instances in which there is a bona fide controversy as to tax liability.
- (4) For failure for a period of sixty (60) days after execution to pay any final judgment rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction against any holder or lessee of a certificate or permit for any debt or claim specified in (i) to (vi), inclusive, in § 62-121.26.
- (5) For failure to begin operations as authorized by the Commission within the time specified by order of the Commission, or for suspension of authorized operations for a period of thirty (30) days without the written consent of the Commission. (1947, c. 1008, s. 23.)

§ 62-121.28. Rates and charges of common carriers.—(a) It shall be the duty of every common carrier by motor vehicle to provide safe and adequate service, equipment, and facilities for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce; to establish, observe, and enforce just and reasonable regulations and practices relating thereto, and to the manner and method of presenting, marking, packing and delivering property for transportation in intrastate commerce, the facilities for such transportation, and all other matters relating to or connected with the transportation of property in intrastate commerce.

(b) Except under special conditions and for good cause shown every common carrier by motor vehicle authorized to transport general commodities over regular routes shall establish reasonable through routes and joint rates, charges, and classifications with other such common carriers by motor vehicle, and with the approval of the Commission, may do so with irregular route common carriers by motor vehicle, common carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water. In case of joint rates and charges between common carriers of any class or kind whatsoever, it shall be the duty of the carriers parties thereto to establish just and reasonable regulations and practices in connection therewith, and just, reasonable, and equitable divisions thereof as between the carriers participating therein, which shall not unduly prefer or prejudice any of such participating carriers. Upon investigation and for good cause, the Commission may, in its discretion, prohibit the establishment of joint rates or service.

(c) All charges made for services rendered or to be rendered by any common carrier by motor vehicle in the transportation of property in intrastate commerce or in connection therewith, shall be just and reasonable, and every unjust and unreasonable charge for such service, or any part thereof, is prohibited and declared to be unlawful. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier by motor vehicle engaged in intrastate commerce to make, give, or cause any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, place, locality, territory, or description of traffic, in any respect whatsoever, or to subject any particular person, place, locality, territory, or description of traffic, to any unjust discrimination or any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever; provided, however, that this subsection shall not be construed to apply to discriminations, prejudices, or disadvantage to the traffic of any other carrier of whatever description.

(d) Any person, organization, or body politic may make complaint in writing to the Commission that any such rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice in effect or proposed to be put into effect, is or will be in violation of this section or of § 62-121.29. Whenever, after hearing, upon complaint or in an investigation on its own initiative, the Commission shall be of the opinion that any individual or joint rate or charge, demanded, charged, or collected by any common carrier or carriers by motor vehicle, or by any such common carrier or carriers in conjunction with any common carrier or carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water, for transportation of property in intrastate commerce, or any classification, rule, regulation, or practice whatsoever of such carrier or carriers affecting such rate or charge or the value of the service thereunder, is or will be unjust and unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory or unduly preferential or unduly prejudicial, it shall determine and prescribe the lawful rate or charge, or the minimum or maximum, or the minimum and maximum rate or charge thereafter to be observed, or the lawful classification, rule, regulation, or practice thereafter to be made effective.

(e) Whenever, after hearing, upon complaint or upon its own initiative the Commission is of the opinion that the divisions of joint rates or charges applicable to the transportation of property in intrastate commerce by common carriers by motor vehicle or by such carriers in conjunction with common carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water, are or will be unjust, unreasonable, inequitable, or unduly preferential or prejudicial as between the carriers parties thereto (whether agreed upon by such carriers or any of them or otherwise established), the Commission shall by order prescribe the just, reasonable, and equitable division thereof to be received by the several carriers; and in cases where the joint rate or charge was established pursuant to a finding or order of the Commission and the divisions thereof are found by it to have been unjust, unreasonable, or inequitable or unduly preferential or prejudicial, the Commission may also by order determine what would have been the just, reasonable, and equitable divisions thereof to be received by the several carriers and require adjustment to be made in accordance therewith. The order of the Commission may require the adjustment of divisions between the carriers in accordance with the order from the date of filing the complaint or entry of order of investigation or such other dates subsequent as the Commission finds justified, and in the case of joint rates prescribed by the Commission, the order as to divisions may be made effective as a part of the original order.

(f) Whenever there shall be filed with the Commission any schedule stating a new individual or joint rate, charge, or classification for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce by any common carrier or carriers by motor vehicle or by any such carrier or carriers in conjunction with the common carrier or carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water, or any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rate or charge or the value of the service thereunder, the Commission is hereby authorized and empowered upon complaint of any interested party or upon its own initiative at once, and, if it so orders, without answer or other formal pleading by the interested carrier or carriers, but upon reasonable notice, to enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, and pending such hearing and the decision thereon, the Commission, by filing such schedule and delivering to the carrier or carriers affected thereby a statement in writing of its reason for such suspension, may from time to time suspend the operation of such schedule and defer the use of such rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, but not for a longer period in the aggregate than 180 days beyond the time when it would otherwise go into effect; and after hearing, whether completed before or after the rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice goes into effect, the Commission may make such order with respect thereto as would be proper in a proceeding instituted after it had become effective. If the proceeding has not been concluded and an order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change of rate or charge or classification, rule, regulation, or practice shall go into effect at the end of such period. At any hearing involving a change in the rate, charge, or classification, or any rule, regulation, or practice, the burden of proof shall be upon the carrier to show that the proposed changed rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice is just and reasonable.

(g) In the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates and charges for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce by common carriers by motor vehicle, and classifications, regulations, and practices relating thereto, the Commission shall give due consideration, among other factors, to the inherent advantages of transportation by such carriers; to the effect of rates upon movement of traffic by the carrier or carriers for which rates are prescribed; to the need in the public interest of adequate and efficient transportation service by such carriers at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service; to the need of revenues sufficient to enable such carriers under honest, economical, and efficient management to provide such service.

(h) Nothing in this section shall be held to extinguish any remedy or right of action not inconsistent herewith. (1947, c. 1008, s. 24.)

Duty to Establish Joint Rates and Divide Revenues.—Motor carriers of freight in intrastate commerce who exchange freight in the course of delivery are not only given authority but are required to establish joint rates, and provide for the division of revenues derived from such shipments by contract, subject only to the limitation that the contract shall not unduly prefer or prejudice any of the participating carriers. State v. Thurston Motor Lines, Inc., 240 N. C. 166, 81 S. E. (2d) 404 (1954).

Authority of Commission to Interfere with Division of Revenue from Interchanged Freight.—The Utilities Commission is given authority to intervene and vacate a contract for division of revenue from interchanged freight between two intrastate motor carriers only upon its finding after hearing the contractual agreement between the carriers for the division of revenue from such shipments is, or will be unjust, unreasonable and inequitable, or unduly preferential or prejudicial as between the contracting carriers, and when an order is entered by the Commission without such jurisdictional finding, the cause must be remanded. A finding merely that the Commission does not accept the contractual practice of the carriers as being equitable is insufficient. And the provision of subsection (b), giving the Commission discretionary power to prohibit the establishment of joint rates, is inapplicable. State v. Thurston Motor Lines, Inc., 240 N. C. 166, 81 S. E. (2d) 404 (1954).

§ 62-121.29. Tariffs of common carriers.—(a) Every regular route common carrier of general commodities by motor vehicle shall file with the Commission, and print, and keep open for public inspection tariffs showing all rates and charges for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce, and all services in connection therewith between points on its own routes and between points on its own routes and points on the routes of other such common carriers, and if it establishes joint rates and charges with common carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water, then in that event it shall include in its tariffs so filed such joint rates and charges.

(b) Every irregular route common carrier by motor vehicle shall file with the Commission, and print, and keep open for public inspection tariffs showing all rates and charges for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce between points within the area of its authorized operations, and if it establishes joint rates and charges with common carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water, then in that event it shall include in its tariffs so filed such joint rates and charges between points within the area of its own authorized operation and points on the line or route of such carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water.

(c) The tariffs required by this section or permitted thereunder with respect to joint rates and charges with common carriers by railroad and/or express and/or water shall be stated in lawful money of the United States and shall be published, filed, and posted in such form and manner and shall contain such information as the Commission by regulation may prescribe; and the Commission is authorized to reject any tariff filed with it which is not in consonance with this section and with such regulations. Any tariff so rejected by the Commission shall be void and its use shall be unlawful.

(d) No common carrier by motor vehicle shall charge or demand or collect or receive a greater or less or different compensation for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce or for any service in connection therewith between points enumerated in such tariff than the rates, and charges, specified in the tariffs in effect at the time; and no such carrier shall refund or remit in any manner or by any device, directly or indirectly, or through any agent or otherwise, any portion of the rates or charges so specified, or extend to any person any privilege or facilities for transportation of property in intrastate commerce except such as are specified in its tariffs.

(e) No change shall be made in any rate, charge, or classification, or any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rate, charge or classification, or the value of the service thereunder, specified in any effective tariff of a common carrier by motor vehicle except after 30 days' notice of the proposed change filed and posted in accordance with this section. Such notice shall plainly state the change proposed to be made and the time when such change will take effect. The Commission may, in its discretion and for good cause shown, allow such change upon notice less than that herein specified or modify the requirements of this section with respect to the posting and filing of tariffs, either in specific instances or by general order applicable to special or peculiar circumstances or conditions.

(f) No common carrier by motor vehicle, unless otherwise provided by this article, shall engage in the transportation of property in intrastate commerce, unless the rates and charges upon which the same are transported by such carrier have been filed and published in accordance with the provisions of this article.

(g) In any proceeding to determine the justness or reasonableness of any rate or charge of any such carrier, there shall not be taken into consideration or allowed as evidence any elements of value or the earning power of the property of such carrier, good will, or the certificate under which such carrier is operating; and in applying for and receiving a certificate under this article any such carrier shall be deemed to have agreed to the provisions of this subsection, on its own behalf and on behalf of all transferees on such certificate. The Commission is specifically authorized to consider, among other things, evidence of the relationship of operating expenses to operating revenues in any such proceeding. (1947, c. 1008, s. 25; 1959, c. 209.)

§ 62-121.30. Schedules of contract carriers.—(a) It shall be the duty of every contract carrier to establish and observe reasonable minimum rates and charges for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of property or in connection therewith, and to establish and observe reasonable regulations and practices to be applied in connection with said reasonable minimum rates and charges. It shall be the duty of every contract carrier to file with the Commission, publish, and keep open for public inspection, in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission, schedules containing the minimum rates or charges of such carrier actually maintained and charged for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce, and any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rates or charges and the value of the service thereunder. No such contract carrier, unless otherwise provided by this article, shall engage in the transportation of property in intrastate commerce unless the minimum charges for such transportation by said carrier have been published, filed, and posted in accordance with the provisions of this article. No reduction shall be made in any such charge either directly or by means of any change in any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such charge or the value of the service thereunder, except after 30 days' notice of the proposed change filed in the aforesaid form and manner, but the Commission may, in its discretion and for good cause shown, allow such change upon less notice, or modify the requirements of this subsection with respect to posting and filing of such schedules, either in particular instances or by general order applicable to special or peculiar circumstances or conditions. Such notice shall plainly state the change proposed to be made and the time when such change will take effect. No such carrier shall demand, charge, or collect a less compensation for such transportation than the charges filed in accordance with this subsection, as affected by any rule, regulation, or practice so filed, or as may be prescribed by the Commission from time to time, and it shall be unlawful for any such carrier, by the furnishing of special services, facilities, or privileges, or by any other device whatsoever, to charge, accept, or receive less than the minimum charges so filed or prescribed; provided, that any such carrier or carriers, or any class or group thereof, may apply to the Commission for relief from the provisions of this subsection, and the Commission may, after hearing, grant such relief to such extent and for such time, and in such manner as in its judgment is consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this article.

(b) Whenever, after hearing, upon complaint or upon its own initiative, the Commission finds that any minimum rate or charge of any contract carrier by motor vehicle, or any rule, regulation, or practice of any such carrier affecting such minimum rate or charge, or the value of the service thereunder, for the transportation of property or in connection therewith, contravenes the transportation policy declared in this article, or is in contravention of any provision of this article, the Commission may prescribe such just and reasonable minimum rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice as in its judgment may be necessary or desirable in the public interest and to promote such policy and will not be in contravention of any provision of this article. Such minimum rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, so prescribed by the Commission, shall give no advantage or preference to any such carrier in competition with any common carrier by motor vehicle subject to this article, which the Commission may find to be undue or inconsistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this article, and the Commission shall give due consideration to the cost of the services rendered by such carriers, and to the effect of such minimum rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, upon the movement of traffic by such carriers. All complaints shall state fully the facts complained of and the reasons for such complaint and shall be made under oath.

(c) Whenever there shall be filed with the Commission by any such contract carrier any schedule stating a charge for a new service or a reduced charge, directly or by means of any rule, regulation, or practice, for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce, the Commission is hereby authorized and empowered upon complaint of interested parties or upon its own initiative at once and, if it so orders, without answer or other formal pleading by the interested party, but upon reasonable notice, to enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, and pending such hearing and the decision thereon the Commission, by filing with such schedule and delivering to the carrier affected thereby a statement in writing of its reasons for such suspension, may from time to time suspend the operation of such schedule and defer the use of such charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, but not for a longer period in the aggregate than 180 days beyond the time when it would otherwise go into effect; and after hearing, whether completed before or after the charge, or rule, regulation, or practice goes into effect, the Commission may make such order with reference thereto as would be proper in a proceeding instituted after it had become effective. If the proceeding has not been concluded and an order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change in any charge or rule, regulation, or practice shall go into effect at the end of such period. The rule as to burden of proof specified in § 62-121.28, (f) shall apply to this subsection. (1947, c. 1008, s. 26.)

§ 62-121.31. Liability for damage to property in transit.—Every common carrier by motor vehicle receiving property for transportation in intrastate commerce shall issue a bill of lading therefor, and shall be liable to the lawful holder thereof for any loss, damage, or injury to such property caused by it, or by any carrier participating in the haul when transported on a through bill of lading, and any such carrier delivering said property so received and transported shall be liable to the lawful holder of said bill of lading or to any party entitled to recover thereon for such loss, damage, or injury, notwithstanding any contract or agreement to the contrary; provided, however, the Commission may, by regulation or order, authorize or require any such common carrier, to establish and maintain rates related to the value of shipments declared in writing by the shipper, or agreed upon as the release value of such shipments; such declaration or agreement to have no effect other than to limit liability and recovery to an amount not exceeding the value so declared or released, in which case, any tariff filed pursuant to such regulation or order shall specifically refer thereto; provided further, that nothing in this section shall deprive any lawful holder of such bill of lading of any remedy or right of action which such holder as under existing law; provided further, that the carrier issuing such bill of lading, or delivering such property so received and transported, shall be entitled to recover from the carrier on whose route the loss, damage, or injury shall have been sustained, the amount it may be required to pay to the owners of such property. (1947, c. 1008, s. 27.)

§ 62-121.32. Accounts, records and reports.—(a) The Commission is hereby authorized to require annual, periodical, or special reports from all motor carriers, and lessors (as defined in this section), to prescribe the manner and form in which such reports shall be made, and to require from such carriers, and lessors, specific and full, true, and correct answers to all questions upon which the Commission may deem information to be necessary. Such annual reports shall give an account of the affairs of the carrier, or lessor, in such form and detail as may be prescribed by the Commission. The Commission may also require any motor carrier to file with it a true copy of any contract, agreement, or arrangement between such carrier and any other carrier or person in relation to any traffic affected by the provisions of this article. The Commission shall not, however, make public any contract, agreement, or arrangement between a contract carrier and a shipper, or any of the terms or conditions thereof, except as a part of the record in a formal proceeding where it considers such action consistent with the public interest; provided, that if it appears from an examination of any such contract that it fails to conform to the published schedule of the contract carrier as required by § 62-121.30, the Commission may, in its discretion, make public such of the provisions of the contract as the Commission considers necessary to disclose such failure and the extent thereof.

(b) Said annual reports shall contain all the required information for the period of twelve months ending on the thirty-first day of December in each year, unless the Commission shall specify a different date, and shall be made out under oath and filed with the Commission at its office in Raleigh within four months after the close of the year for which the report is made, unless additional time be granted in any case by the Commission. Such periodical or special reports as may be required by the Commission under subsection (a) hereof shall also be under oath, whenever the Commission so requires. The Commission may issue an order, without notice or hearing, cancelling or suspending any certificate of convenience and necessity thirty (30) days after the date of service of such order for failing to file the required annual report at the time it was due. In the event the report is filed during the thirty (30)-day period, the order of cancellation or suspension shall be null and void.

(c) The Commission may prescribe for motor carriers the classes of property for which depreciation charges may properly be included under operating expenses, and the rate or rates of depreciation which shall be charged with respect to each of such classes of property, classifying the carriers as it may deem proper for this purpose. The Commission may, when it deems necessary, modify the classes and rates so prescribed. When the Commission shall have exercised its authority under the foregoing provisions of this subsection, motor carriers shall not charge to operating expenses any depreciation charges on classes of property other than those prescribed by the Commission, or charge with respect to any class of property a rate of depreciation other than that prescribed therefor by the Commission, and no such carrier shall include under operating expenses any depreciation charge in any form whatsoever other than as prescribed by the Commission.

(d) The Commission may, in its discretion, prescribe the forms of any and all accounts, records, and memoranda to be kept by motor carriers, and lessors, including the accounts, records, and memoranda of the movement of traffic, as well as of the receipts and expenditures of moneys; and it shall be unlawful for such carriers, and lessors, to keep any accounts, records, and memoranda contrary to any rules, regulations, or orders of the Commission with respect thereto. The Commission may issue orders specifying such operating, accounting, or financial papers, records, books, blanks, stubs, correspondence, or documents of motor carriers, or lessors, as may after a reasonable time be destroyed, and prescribing the length of time they shall be preserved. The Commission or its duly authorized special agents, accountants, or examiners shall at all times have access to and authority, under its order, to inspect and examine any and all lands, buildings, or equipment of motor carriers, and lessors; and shall have authority to inspect and copy any and all accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents of such carriers, and lessors, and such accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents of any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with any such carrier, as the Commission deems relevant to such person's relation to or transactions with such carrier. Motor carriers, lessors, and persons shall submit their accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents for the inspection and copying authorized by this subsection, and motor carriers, and lessors shall submit their lands, buildings, and equipment for examination and inspection, to any duly authorized special agent, accountant, auditor, inspector, or examiner of the Commission upon demand and the display of proper credentials.

(e) As used in this section, the words "keep" and "kept" shall be construed to mean made, prepared, or compiled, as well as retained; the term "lessor" means a lessor of any right to operate as a motor carrier; and the term "motor carrier," or "lessor," includes a receiver or trustee of any such motor carrier, or lessor. (1947, c. 1008, s. 28; 1959, c. 639, ss. 5, 9.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment extended the time for filing annual reports provided for in subsection (b) from three months to four months after the close of the year and added the third and fourth sentences thereof.

§ 62-121.33. Orders, notices and service of process. — (a) It shall be the duty of every motor carrier operating under a certificate or permit issued under the provisions of this article to file with the Commission a designation in writing of the name and post-office address of a person upon whom or which service of notices or orders may be made under this article. Such designation may from time to time be changed by like writing similarly filed. Service of notices or orders in proceedings under this article may be made upon a motor carrier by personal service upon it or upon the person so designated by it, or by registered mail, return receipt requested, or by certified mail with return receipt requested, addressed to it or to such person at the address filed. In proceedings before the Commission involving the lawfulness of rates, charges, classifications, or practices, service of notice upon the person or agent who has filed a tariff or schedule in behalf of such carrier shall be deemed to be due and sufficient service upon the carrier.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this article, all orders of the Commission shall take effect within such reasonable time as the Commission may prescribe and shall continue in force until its further order, or for a specified period of time, according as shall be prescribed in the order, unless the same shall be suspended or modified or set aside by the Commission, or be suspended or set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction. (1947, c. 1008, s. 29; 1957, c. 1152, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment by certified mail with return receipt requested in subsection (a) the words "or requested."

§ 62-121.34. Unlawful operation.—(a) Any person, whether carrier, or any officer, employee, agent or representative thereof, knowingly and willfully violating any provisions of this article or any rule, regulation, requirement, or order thereunder, or any term or condition of any certificate or permit, for which a penalty is not otherwise herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be fined not more than $100.00 for the first offense and not more than $500.00 for any subsequent offense.

(b) If any motor carrier operates in violation of any provision of this article (except as to the reasonableness of rates or charges and the discriminatory character thereof), or of any rule, regulation, requirement, or order thereunder, or of any term or condition of any certificate or permit, the Commission or its duly authorized agent may apply to the resident superior court judge of any judicial district where such motor carrier operates, or to any superior court judge holding court in any such judicial district, for the enforcement of such provision of this article, or of such rule, regulation, requirement, order, term, or condition; and such court shall have jurisdiction to enforce obedience thereto by a writ of injunction or by other process, mandatory or otherwise, restraining such carrier or its officers, agents, employees, and representatives from further violation of such provision of this article or of such rule, regulation, requirement, order, term, or condition and enjoining upon it or them obedience thereto.

(c) Any person, whether carrier, shipper, consignee, or any officer, employee, agent, or representative thereof, who shall knowingly offer, grant, or give or solicit, accept, or receive any rebate, concession, or discrimination in violation of any provision of this article, or who by means of any false statement or representation, or by the use of any false or fictitious bill, bill of lading, receipt, voucher, roll, account, claim, certificate, affidavit, deposition, lease, or bill of sale, or by any other means or device, shall knowingly and willfully assist, suffer or permit any person or persons, natural or artificial, to obtain transportation of property subject to this article for less than the applicable rate, or charge, or who shall knowingly and willfully by any such means or otherwise fraudulently seek to evade or defeat regulation as in this article provided for motor carriers, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be fined not more than $500.00 for the first offense and not more than $2,000.00 for any subsequent offense.

(d) It shall be unlawful for any special agent, accountant, auditor, inspector, or examiner to knowingly and willfully divulge any fact or information which may come to his knowledge during the course of any examination or inspection made under authority of § 62-121.32, except as he may be directed by the Commission or by a court or judge thereof.

(e) It shall be unlawful for any motor carrier engaged in intrastate commerce or any officer, receiver, trustee, lessee, agent, or employee of such carrier, or for any other person authorized by such carrier, to receive information, knowingly to disclose to, or permit to be acquired by any person other than the shipper or consignee without the consent of such shipper or consignee, any information concerning the nature, kind, quantity, destination, consignee, or routing of any property tendered or delivered to such motor carrier for such transportation, which information may be used to the detriment or prejudice of such shipper or consignee, or which may improperly disclose his business transactions to a competitor; and it shall also be unlawful for any person to solicit or knowingly receive any such information which may be so used.

(f) Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the giving of such information in response to any legal process issued under the authority of any court, or to any officer or agent of the State or of the government of the United States, in the exercise of his power, or to any officer or other duly authorized person seeking such information for the prosecution of persons charged with or suspected of crimes or to another carrier, or its duly authorized agent, for the purpose of adjusting mutual traffic accounts in the ordinary course of business of such carriers.

(g) Any motor carrier, or other person, or any officer, agent, employee, or representative thereof, who shall willfully fail or refuse to make a report to the Commission as required by this article, or to make specific and full, true, and correct answer to any question within thirty days from the time it is lawfully required by the Commission so to do, or to keep accounts, records, and memoranda in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission, or shall knowingly and willfully falsify, destroy, mutilate, or alter any such report, account, record, or memorandum, or shall knowingly and willfully neglect or fail to make full, true, and correct entries in such accounts, records, or memoranda of all facts and transactions appertaining to the business of the carrier, or person required under this article to keep the same, or shall knowingly and willfully keep any accounts, records, or memoranda contrary to the rules, regulations, or orders of the Commission with respect thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be subject for each offense to a fine of not more than $5,000.00. As used in this subsection the words "kept" and "keep" shall be construed to mean made, prepared, or compiled, as well as retained. (1947, c. 1008, s. 30.)

§ 62-121.35. Collection of rates and charges.—No common carrier by motor vehicle shall deliver or relinquish possession at destination of any freight transported by it in intrastate commerce until all tariff rates and charges thereon have been paid, except under such rules and regulations as the Commission may from time to time prescribe to govern the settlement of all such rates and charges, including rules and regulations for weekly or monthly settlement, and to prevent unjust discrimination or undue preference or prejudice; provided, that the provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit any such carrier from extending credit in connection with rates and charges on freight transported for the United States, for any department, bureau, or agency thereof, or for the State, or political subdivision thereof. Where any common carrier by motor vehicle is instructed by a shipper or consignor to deliver property transported by such carrier to a consignee other than the shipper or consignor, such consignee shall not be legally liable for transportation charges in respect of the transportation of such property (beyond those billed against him at the time of delivery for which he is otherwise liable) which may be found to be due after the property has been delivered to him, if the consignee (i) is an agent only and had no beneficial title in the property, and (ii) prior to delivery of the property has notified the delivering carrier in writing of the fact of such agency and absence of beneficial title, and, in the case of shipment reconsigned or diverted to a point other than that specified in the original bill of lading, has also notified the delivering carrier in writing of the name and address of the beneficial owner of the property. In such cases the shipper and consignor, or, in the case of a shipment so reconsigned or diverted, the beneficial owner shall be liable for such additional charges, irrespective of any provisions to the contrary in the bill of lading or in the contract under which the shipment was made. If the consignee has given to the carrier erroneous information as to who is the beneficial owner, such consignee shall himself be liable for such additional charges, notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section. On shipments reconsigned or diverted by an agent who has furnished the carrier with a notice of agency and the proper name and address of the beneficial owner, and where such shipments are refused or abandoned at ultimate destination, the said beneficial owner shall be liable for all legally applicable charges in connection therewith. (1947, c. 1008, s. 31.)

§ 62-121.36. Allowance to shippers for transportation services.—If the owner of property transported under the provisions of this article directly or indirectly renders any service connected with such transportation, or furnishes any instrumentality used therein, the charge and allowance therefor shall be published in the tariffs or schedules filed in the manner provided in this article and shall be no more than is just and reasonable; and the Commission may, after hearing on a complaint or on its own initiative, determine what is a reasonable charge as the maximum to be paid by the carrier or carriers for the services so rendered or for the use of the instrumentality so furnished, and fix the same by appropriate order. (1947, c. 1008, s. 32.)

§ 62-121.37. Embezzlement of C. O. D. shipments.—Property received by any motor carrier to be transported in intrastate commerce and delivered upon collection on such delivery and remittance to the shipper of the sum of money stated in the shipping instructions to be collected and remitted to the shipper, and the money collected upon delivery of such party, is hereby declared to be held in trust by any carrier having possession thereof or the carrier making the delivery or collection, and upon failure of any such carrier to account for the property so received, either to the shipper to whom the collection is payable or the carrier making delivery to any carrier handling the property or making the collection, within fifteen (15) days after demand in writing by the shipper, or carrier, or upon failure of the delivering carrier to remit the sum so directed to be collected and remitted to the shipper, within fifteen (15) days after collection is made, shall be prima facie evidence that the property so received, or the funds so received, has been willfully converted by such carrier to its own use, and the carrier so offending shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, and such carrier may be indicted, tried, and punished in the county in which such shipment was delivered to the carrier or in any other county into or through which such shipment was transported by such carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 33.)

The lessor-holders of a certificate of convenience and necessity are liable and answerable jointly with the lessee-operator to the shipper for losses sustained by reason of wrongful conversion of C. O. D. moneys collected by the lessee-operator company. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N. C. 90, 72 S. E. (2d) 11 (1952).

§ 62-121.38. Evidence; joinder of surety.—No report by any carrier of any accident arising in the course of the operations of such carrier, made pursuant to any requirement of the Commission, and no report by the Commission of any investigation of any such accident, shall be admitted as evidence, or used for any other purpose in any suit or action for damages growing out of any matter mentioned in such report or investigation; nor shall the discharge by any carrier of any truck driver or other employee after any such accident be offered or admitted in evidence for any purpose in any suit or action against such carrier for damages arising out of any such accident; nor shall any insurance company or surety executing any insurance policy, bond, or other security for the protection of the public, as provided in § 62-121.23, or as provided in § 62-121.26, be joined with the assured carrier in any action or suit for damages, debt, or claim thereby secured; nor shall evidence of any such policy, bond, or other security be offered or received in any such action or suit against the carrier, but the surety or insurer shall be obligated within the amount of such policy, bond or other security to pay any final judgment against the carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 34.)

§ 62-121.39. Interstate carriers.—(a) This article shall apply to persons and vehicles engaged in interstate commerce over the highways of this State, and the Commission may, in its discretion, require such carriers to file with it copies of their respective interstate authority, registration of their vehicles operated in this State, and the observance of such reasonable rules and regulations as the Commission may deem advisable in the administration of this article and for the protection of persons and property upon the highways of the State, except insofar as the provisions of this article may be inconsistent with, or shall contravene, the Constitution and laws of the United States.

(b) The Commission or its authorized representative is authorized to confer with and hold joint hearings with the authorities of other states or with the Interstate Commerce Commission or its representatives in connection with any matter arising under this article, or under the Federal Motor Carrier Act, which may directly or indirectly affect the interests of the people of this State or the transportation policy declared by this article or by the Interstate Commerce Act. (1947, c. 1008, s. 35.)

§ 62-121.41. Allocation of funds.—Sufficient funds shall be provided in the budget and allocated to the Commission to be disbursed under the supervision of the Director of the Budget for the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this article, including the employment of such additional personnel as may be required for that purpose. (1947, c. 1008, s. 37.)

§ 62-121.42. Title.—This article shall be known and may be cited as the North Carolina Truck Act. (1947, c. 1008, s. 38.)

ARTICLE 6C.

Bus Act of 1949.

§ 62-121.43. Short title.—This article shall be known and may be cited as the Bus Act of 1949. (1949, c. 1132, s. 1.)

Local Modification.—Cabarrus: 1947, c. 532; 1949, c. 1132, s. 39.

Effective Date.—Section 40 of the act inserting this article made it effective on October 1, 1949, except that subdivision (13) of § 62-121.48 became effective as of April 22, 1949.

Editor's Note.—For a discussion of this article, see 27 N. C. Law Rev. 467. As to application of former article of similar import, see City Coach Co. v. Gastonia Transit Co., 227 N. C. 391, 42 S. E. (2d) 398 (1947).

Applied in Bryant v. Barber, 237 N. C. 480, 75 S. E. (2d) 410 (1953).

§ 62-121.44. Declaration of policy.—Upon investigation, it has been determined that the transportation of passengers by motor carriers for compensation over the public highways of the State is a business affected with a public interest, and is hereby declared to be the policy of the State of North Carolina among other things, to provide fair and impartial regulation of motor carriers of passengers in the use of the public highways in such a manner as to promote, in the interest of the public, the inherent advantages of highway transportation; to promote adequate economical and efficient service to all of the communities of the State by motor carriers engaged in the transportation of passengers over the public highways for compensation; to encourage the establishment and maintenance of reasonable charges for transportation services without unjust discriminations, undue preferences or advantages, or unfair or destructive competitive practices; to encourage and promote harmony among motor carriers of passengers, between such carriers and carriers of passengers by rail or water, and between all carriers of passengers and the traveling public; to foster a coordinated State-wide motor carrier service; to conform with the national transportation policy and the Federal Motor Carrier Act insofar as the same may be found practical and adequate for application to intrastate commerce; and to co-operate with other states and with the federal government in promoting and coordinating intrastate and interstate commerce by motor carriers. (1949, c. 1132, s. 2.)

Policy of the Law Stated.—The policy of the law controlling the granting of bus franchises is to provide adequate, economical and efficient bus service at reasonable cost to all communities of the State, without discrimination, undue privileges or advantages or unfair or destructive competitive practices, all to the end of promoting the public interest. State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951).

Quoted in State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

Stated in State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952); Bryant v. Barber, 237 N. C. 480, 75 S. E. (2d) 410 (1953).

§ 62-121.46. Definitions.—When used in this article, unless the language or context clearly indicate that different meanings are intended:

- (1) "Broker" means any person not included in the term "motor carrier" and not a bona fide employee or agent of any such carriers, who or which as principal or agent engages in the business of selling or offering for sale any transportation by motor carrier, or negotiates for or holds himself, or itself, out by solicitation, advertisement, or otherwise, as one who sells, provides, furnishes, contracts, or arranges for such transportation for compensation, either directly or indirectly.
- (2) "Certificate" means a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued by the Commission pursuant to the provisions of this article to a common carrier by motor vehicle.
- (3) "Charter party" means a group of persons who, pursuant to a common purpose and under a single contract, and at a fixed charge for the vehicle in accordance with the carrier's tariff, lawfully on file with the Commission, have acquired the exclusive use of a passenger carrying motor vehicle to travel together as a group from a point of origin to a specified destination or for a particular itinerary, either agreed upon in advance or modified by the chartering group after having left the place of origin.
- (4) "Commission" means the North Carolina Utilities Commission.
- (5) "Common carrier by motor vehicle" means any person which holds itself out to the general public to engage in the transportation by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce of passengers for compensation over regular routes and between fixed termini.
- (6) "Contract carrier by motor vehicle" means any person not included in the definition of "common carrier by motor vehicle" which, under individual contracts or agreements, engages in the transportation by motor vehicle of passengers in intrastate commerce for compensation. Such contracts
 - a. Must be in writing,
 - b. Must provide for the transportation of particular persons or group of persons,

- c. Must be bilateral and impose specific obligations upon both the carrier and the other contracting parties,
 - d. Must cover a series of trips in contrast to a single trip, and
 - e. A copy of which must be preserved by the carrier until terminated by its terms and at least one year thereafter.
- (7) "Highway" means any road or street in this State used by the public or dedicated or appropriated to public use.
 - (8) "Industrial plant" means any plant, mill, or factory engaged in the business of manufacturing.
 - (9) "Interstate commerce" means commerce between any place in this State and any place in another state or between places in this State through another state, whether such commerce moves wholly by motor vehicle or partly by motor vehicle and partly by rail, express, or water.
 - (10) "Intrastate commerce" means commerce between points and over a route or within a territory wholly within this State, which commerce is not a part of a prior or subsequent movement to or from points outside of this State in interstate or foreign commerce, and includes all transportation of passengers by motor vehicle within this State for compensation in interstate or foreign commerce which has been exempted from regulation under Part II, the Interstate Commerce Act, regulating motor carriers.
 - (11) "Intrastate operations" means the transportation of passengers by motor vehicle for compensation in intrastate commerce.
 - (12) "Motor carrier" includes a common carrier by motor vehicle and a contract carrier by motor vehicle.
 - (13) "Motor vehicle," "vehicle," or "bus" means any vehicle, machine, tractor, semitrailer, or any combination thereof determined by the Commission, which is propelled or drawn by mechanical power and used upon the highways within this State in the transportation of passengers for compensation in intrastate commerce.
 - (14) "Municipality" means any collection of people incorporated pursuant to the provisions of section 4, article 8, of the Constitution of North Carolina.
 - (15) "Permit" means a permit issued by the Commission pursuant to the provisions of this article to a contract carrier by motor vehicle.
 - (16) "Person" means a corporation, individual, copartnership, company, association, or any combination of individuals or organizations doing business as a unit, and includes any trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative thereof.
 - (17) "Route" means the course of way which is traveled; the road or highway over which motor vehicles operate.
 - (18) "Service," "transportation," and "operations" mean the transportation of passengers by a motor carrier over the highways of this State in intrastate commerce for compensation, and includes all services, vehicles, equipment and facilities used in connection therewith.
 - (19) "State" means the State of North Carolina.
 - (20) "Town" means any unincorporated community, or collection of people having a geographical name by which it may be generally known and is so generally designated. (1949, c. 1132, s. 4; 1953, c. 1140, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 13.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment inserted subdivisions (8) and (17). And the 1957 amendment deleted the words "or air" formerly appearing at the end of subdivision (9).

Comparison of Definitions in Federal Motor Carrier Act.—See State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

Subdivision (6) Is Not Retroactive.—The provisions contained in subdivision (6) are definitive or regulatory and intended to be applied prospectively with respect to applications for permits as contract carriers under the general provisions of the Bus Act of 1949, and have no bearing on or relation to the grandfather rights confirmed in the act. To make these definitive and regulatory provisions retroactive so as to place a limitation on the rights of a carrier under the grandfather clause contained in the act, would be in contravention of his constitutional rights and contrary to due process of law. Moreover, such a construction would completely nullify the grandfather clause and make it feckless. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

The definition contained in subdivision (6) includes charter service. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

Service.—As to “service” rendered in contemplation of former statute, see State v. Andrews, 191 N. C. 545, 132 S. E. 568 (1926).

§ 62-121.47. Exemptions from regulations.—(a) Nothing in this article shall be construed to include persons and vehicles engaged in one or more of the following services if not engaged at the time or other times in the transportation of other passengers by motor vehicle for compensation:

- (1) Transportation of passengers for or under the control of the United States government, or the State of North Carolina, or any political subdivision thereof, or any board, department or commission of the State, or any institution owned and supported by the State;
- (2) Transportation of passengers by taxicabs when not carrying more than six (6) passengers or transportation by other motor vehicle performing bona fide taxicab service and not carrying more than six (6) passengers in a single vehicle at the same time when such taxicab or other vehicle performing bona fide taxicab service is not operated on a regular route or between fixed termini; provided, no taxicab while operating over the regular route of a common carrier outside of a town or a municipality and a residential and commercial zone adjacent thereto, as such zone may be determined by the Commission as provided in (8) of this subsection, shall solicit passengers along such route, but nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit a taxicab operator from picking up passengers along such route upon call, sign or signal from prospective passengers;
- (3) Transportation by motor vehicles owned or operated by or on behalf of hotels while used exclusively for the transportation of hotel patronage between hotels and local railroad or other common carrier stations;
- (4) Transportation of passengers to and from airports and passenger airline terminals when such transportation is incidental to transportation by aircraft;
- (5) Transportation of passengers by trolley buses operated by electric power derived from a fixed overhead wire, furnishing local passenger transportation similar to street railway service;
- (6) Transportation by motor vehicles used exclusively for the transportation of passengers to or from religious services;
- (7) Transportation of bona fide employees of an industrial plant to and from their regular employment;
- (8) Transportation of passengers when the movement is within a town or municipality exclusively, or within contiguous towns or municipalities and within a residential and commercial zone adjacent to and a part of such town or municipality or contiguous towns or municipalities; provided, the Commission shall have power in its discretion, in any particular case, to fix the limits of any such zone.

The Commission shall have and retain jurisdiction to fix rates and charges of carriers operating under (5) and (8) of this subsection in the manner provided in this article, and shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine controversies with respect to extensions and services, and the Commission's rules of practice shall include appropriate provisions for bringing such controversies before the Commission and for the hearing and determination of the same, provided nothing in this paragraph shall include taxicabs.

(b) The Commission may conduct investigations to determine whether any person or carrier purporting to operate under the exemption provisions of this section is, in fact, so operating, and make such orders as it deems necessary to enforce compliance with this section.

(c) None of the provisions of this section nor any of the other provisions of this article shall apply to motor vehicles used solely for the transportation of passengers to or from religious services and/or in the transportation of bona fide employees of an industrial plant to and from places of their regular employment.

(d) Provided, that venue for any action commenced to enforce compliance with the terms of this article against any person, firm or corporation purporting to operate under any of the exemptions provided in this section shall be in one of the counties of the judicial district wherein the violation is alleged to have taken place and such person, firm or corporation shall be entitled to trial by jury. (1949, c. 1132, s. 5; 1953, c. 1140, s. 2; 1959, c. 102; c. 639, s. 14.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment inserted "solely" in line two of subsection (c). The first 1959 amendment inserted in the second paragraph of subsection (a) the words "in the manner provided in this article." The second 1959 amendment rewrote the provisions of subdivision (2) of subsection (a) preceding the proviso.

The Utilities Commission is not vested with power to require the operators of services enumerated in this section to obtain a franchise from it and does not have any supervision or jurisdiction over such operation, except the operations set forth in subdivisions (5) and (8) of subsection (a), and as to them it retains "jurisdiction to fix rates and charges," and "to hear and determine controversies with respect to extensions and services." Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, Inc., 245 N. C. 179, 95 S. E. (2d) 510 (1956).

Jurisdiction of Commission over City Bus Lines. — The Commission has been given specific authority to fix city bus fares. State v. Greensboro, 244 N. C. 247, 93 S. E. (2d) 151 (1956).

Any provisions with respect to rates and services contained in a franchise contract between a utilities company and a municipal corporation, authorizing the utilities company to transport passengers over its streets, are subject to the orders of the Utilities Commission in respect thereto. Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, Inc., 245 N. C. 179, 95 S. E. (2d) 510 (1956).

Same—Dispute as to Curtailment of Services by Bus Carrier.—Where a municipality has granted a franchise to a utilities company to operate passenger buses over its streets, the parties may mutually agree upon extensions and services, changes in routes, or curtailment of services, when in the opinion of the governing board of the municipality such changes, are, under the existing conditions, for the best interest of all concerned, including the public. However, when the parties are unable to agree to a proposed curtailment of existing services, the matter is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission and the municipality may not enjoin the utility from the proposed curtailment of services, although the utility may not change its schedules or curtail its services unless given authority to do so by the Utilities Commission. Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, Inc., 245 N. C. 179, 95 S. E. (2d) 510 (1956).

Subsection (c) an Exception to Subsection (a).—The particular provision of subsection (c) of this section must be regarded as an exception to the general provision of subsection (a). State v. Carolina Coach Co., 236 N. C. 583, 73 S. E. (2d) 562 (1952).

Operations Devoted Exclusively to Transportation of Employees to and from Work. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission does not have regulatory supervision of operations devoted exclusively to the transportation by motor vehicle of the bona fide employees of industrial plants to and from the places of their employment even in cases where the persons conducting such operations are engaged at the same time or at other times in carrying on the callings of common carriers by motor vehicle. State v. Carolina Coach Co., 236 N. C. 583, 73 S. E. (2d) 562 (1952).

Transportation to and from Federal Military Reservation. — This section exempts from the regulation of the Utilities Commission carriers in intrastate commerce transporting passengers for hire to and from federal military reservations or bases only if such carriers have been procured by the United States government to carry passengers for it, or the transportation of such passengers is under the control of the United States. Bryant

v. Barber, 237 N. C. 480, 75 S. E. (2d) 410 (1953).

Quoted in part in State v. Johnson, 233 N. C. 588, 64 S. E. (2d) 829 (1951).

§ 62-121.48. General powers and duties of the Commission.—The Commission is hereby vested with power and it shall be its duty:

- (1) To supervise and regulate common carriers by motor vehicle and to that end the Commission may establish reasonable requirements with respect to continuous and adequate service, transportation of baggage, newspapers, mail, and light express, uniform system of accounts, records and reports and preservation of records.
- (2) To supervise and regulate contract carriers by motor vehicle, and to that end the Commission may establish reasonable requirements with respect to uniform systems of accounts, records and reports and preservation of records.
- (3) To supervise and regulate motor carriers, as defined in this article, in all matters affecting the relationship between such carriers, or the relationship between such carriers and the public, in any manner necessary to promote harmony among such carriers, safety and efficiency of service to the public.
- (4) To supervise the operation of passenger bus stations in any manner necessary to promote harmony among the carriers using such stations and efficiency of service to the traveling public.
- (5) To transmit to the legislature, from time to time, such recommendations as to additional legislation relating to such carrier as the Commission may deem necessary.
- (6) To prescribe qualifications and maximum hours of service of drivers and their helpers, and rules regulating safety of operation and equipment; and in the interest of uniformity of intrastate and interstate rules and regulations applicable within the State of North Carolina with respect to maximum hours of service of vehicle drivers and their helpers, and safety of operation and equipment, the Commission may adopt and enforce the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the Interstate Commerce Commission with respect thereto, insofar as the Commission finds the same to be practical and advantageous for application in this State and not in conflict with this article. In order to promote safety of operation of motor carriers, the Commission may avail itself of the assistance of any other agency of the State having special knowledge of such matters and it may make such investigations and tests as may be deemed necessary to promote safety of equipment and operation of vehicles upon the highways.
- (7) For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article, the Commission may avail itself of the special information of the State Highway Commission in promulgating safety requirements and in considering applications for certificates or permits with particular reference to conditions of the public highway or highways involved, and the ability of the said public highway or highways to carry added traffic; and the State Highway Commission, upon request of the Commission, shall furnish such information.
- (8) The Commission shall maintain in its offices a docket of pending proceedings under this article, separate from dockets of other proceedings, which docket shall at all times be open for public inspection and for the information of all persons having an interest therein. The Commission shall cause to be filed and recorded in said docket of pending proceedings, immediately upon the institution thereof, the title of the proceedings, the names of the parties thereto, a brief description of the purpose thereof and any other information deemed to be material to the identification of any official file containing all the original pleadings, petitions and other official records pertaining thereto. The Commission shall also maintain an official register in its offices, in which shall be recorded all general orders, rules, regulations and requirements made and entered by the Commission under the provisions of this article, which register shall at all times be open for inspection by the public and any person having an interest therein. The Commission may from time to time, and in its discretion, cause all of its general orders, rules, regulations and requirements promulgated under the provisions of this article to be printed either separately or in conjunction with other official orders, rules, regulations and requirements of the Commission promulgated by it as authorized by law, and to distribute the same for the information of the public and the guidance of all persons affected thereby.

- (9) Before the Commission shall prescribe or fix any rate, charge, or classification of traffic, and before it shall make any order, rule, regulation or requirement directed against any one or more motor carriers, the motor carrier or carriers to be affected by such rate, charge, classification, order, rule, regulation or requirement, shall first be given, by the Commission, at least twenty days' notice of the time and place when and where the contemplated action in the premises will be considered and disposed of, and such carrier shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity to introduce evidence and to be heard thereon, and shall have process to enforce the attendance of witnesses, to the end that justice may be done. Every such general order, rule, regulation or requirement made and entered by the Commission shall be forthwith recorded verbatim in its official register, showing thereon the effective date of such general order, rule, regulation or requirement which shall be not less than ten days subsequent to the entry thereof in said official register and shall also file a copy of same with the Secretary of State as required by chapter 143, article 18, General Statutes of North Carolina of 1943. The Commission may, without prior notice and hearing, make and enter any order, rule, regulation, or requirement, not affecting rates, charges, or tariffs, upon an unanimous finding by the Commission of the existence of an emergency and order such order, rule, regulation or requirement in effect upon notice given to each affected motor carrier by registered mail, or by certified mail, pending a hearing thereon as provided in this subdivision. Any such emergency order, rule, regulation or requirement shall be subject to continuation, modification, change, or revocation after notice and hearing as in this section provided and all such emergency orders, rules, regulations, and requirements shall be supplanted and superseded by any final order, rule, regulation or requirement entered by the Commission after such notice and hearing.
- (10) The Commission shall also regulate brokers and make and enforce reasonable requirements respecting their licenses, financial responsibility, accounts, records, reports, operations and practices.
- (11) Upon complaint in writing to the Commission by any person, organization, or body politic, or upon its own initiative without complaint, the Commission may investigate whether any motor carrier has failed to comply with any provisions of this article, or with any rate, charge, classification, order, rule, regulation or requirement prescribed or fixed by the Commission pursuant thereto; and if the Commission finds upon such investigation, after due notice and hearing that the motor carrier has failed to comply with any such provision of this article, or with any such rate, charge, classification, order, rule, regulation or requirement prescribed or fixed by the Commission pursuant thereto, the Commission shall issue an appropriate order to compel the carrier to comply therewith. The Commission may dismiss such complaint without investigation when it is of the opinion that the complainant does not state reasonable grounds for investigation and action on its part.

- (12) The Commission and its duly authorized inspectors and agents shall have authority at any time to enter upon the premises of any motor carrier, subject to the provisions of this article, for the purpose of inspecting any motor vehicles and equipment used by such motor carriers in the transportation of passengers, and to prohibit the use by any motor carrier of any motor vehicle or parts thereof or equipment thereon adjudged by such agents and inspectors to be unsafe for use in the transportation of passengers upon the public highways of this State; and when such agents or inspectors shall discover any motor vehicle of such motor carrier in actual use upon the highways in the transportation of passengers to be unsafe or any parts thereof or any equipment thereon to be unsafe, such agents or inspectors may, if they are of the opinion that further use of such vehicle, parts or equipment are imminently dangerous, stop such vehicle and require the operator thereof to discontinue its use and to substitute therefor a safe vehicle, parts or equipment at the earliest possible time and place, having regard for both the convenience and the safety of the passengers. When an inspector or agent stops a motor vehicle on the highway, under authority of this section, and the motor vehicle is in operative condition and its further movement is not dangerous to the passengers and to the users of the highways, it shall be the duty of the inspector or agent to guide the vehicle to the nearest point for substitution or correction of the defect. Such agents or inspectors shall also have the right to stop any motor vehicle which is being used upon the public highways for the transportation of passengers by a motor carrier subject to the provisions of this article and to eject therefrom any driver or operator who shall be operating or be in charge of such motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. It shall be the duty of all inspectors and agents of the Commission to make a written report, upon a form prescribed by the Commission, of inspections of all motor equipment and a copy of each such written report, disclosing defects in such equipment, shall be served promptly upon the motor carrier operating the same, either in person by the inspector or agent or by mail. Such agents and inspectors shall also make and serve a similar written report in cases where a motor vehicle is operated in violation of the laws of this State or of the orders, rules and regulations of the Commission. Except as provided in this subdivision safety rules and regulations shall be enforced as provided in subdivision (11).
- (13) All general orders, rules, regulations and requirements promulgated by the Commission prior to the enactment of this article affecting motor carriers shall remain in full force and effect until revoked, modified, or changed as provided in this subdivision. Prior to October 1, 1949, the Commission shall mail notice to all motor carriers subject to regulation under this article and shall publish notice of time and place of hearing in one or more newspapers of general circulation published in the city of Raleigh, that the Commission will at the time and place fixed in said notice consider and decide what revisions, modifications and changes in said general orders, rules, regulations and requirements are necessary to make the same comply with the provisions of the article, or deemed reasonably necessary in the administration of this article. Said orders, rules, regulations and requirements as amended, modified, changed or readopted shall then become effective on October 1, 1949. The Commission may at the same time and place also consider and adopt such new general orders, rules, regulations and requirements as it may find necessary for the effective administration of this article, but notice and hearing shall be provided with respect to any such new orders, rules, regulations or requirements, as provided in subdivision (9) of this section. (1949, c. 1132, s. 6; 1953, c. 1140, s. 5; 1957, c. 65, s. 11; c. 1152, s. 7.)

Cross Reference.—As to revocation of license plates for violation of article, see § 20-64.1.

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment struck out the words "by name" formerly appearing after the word "carriers" appearing in line three of subdivision (9). It also struck out the former second sentence.

The first 1957 amendment changed "State Highway and Public Works Commission" to "State Highway Commission". The second 1957 amendment inserted in line twenty-three of subdivision (9) the words "or by certified mail."

Rules and Regulations.—The Commission may impose upon the holder of a permit any reasonable rules and regulations with respect to the operations thereunder which are now in effect or which may be adopted hereafter for the regulation of motor vehicle carriers performing similar service. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

§ 62-121.49. Issuance of certificates in lieu of outstanding certificates.—Notwithstanding any exemptions contained in § 62-121.47 of this article, it shall be the duty of the Commission to issue a certificate, as a matter of course and without further proceedings, to any person holding a certificate issued by the Commission prior to the effective date of this article and in force on such date, granting to each such person the same operating rights held and exercised by it, under its outstanding certificate, including amendments thereto which have heretofore been or may hereafter be authorized by the Commission on applications heard before the effective date of this article, and such certificate shall be deemed issued until prepared and actually issued by the Commission. Nothing in this section shall relieve any common carrier from compliance with the provisions of §§ 62-121.56, 62-121.57 and 62-121.58 within such reasonable time as the Commission may require. (1949, c. 1132, s. 7.)

An appellant who did not hold a franchise certificate as a common carrier to operate over designated highways and between fixed termini, as provided in former §§ 62-105 and 62-106, now repealed but in effect at the time of the passage of the 1949 act from which this article is codified, is not entitled to a certificate of public convenience and necessity under the terms of the grandfather clause granted in this section. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

§ 62-121.50. Issuance of permits to qualified contract carriers operating on and continuously since October 1, 1948. — (a) Generally. — Subject to §§ 62-121.56, 62-121.57 and 62-121.58, if any carrier or predecessor in interest was in bona fide operation as a contract carrier by motor vehicle on October 1st, 1948, over the route or routes, or within the territory for which application is made under this section, and has so operated since that time except for interruptions of service over which the applicant or its predecessor in interest had no control, the Commission shall issue a permit to such carrier, if such carrier qualifies itself in the following manner:

(b) Duty of Carrier.—This section shall not apply to a carrier unless the carrier shall before October 1, 1949, file with the Commission on forms furnished by it an application under oath for a permit under this section, giving such information and in such detail as the Commission may require, including the following:

- (1) The full name and address of each person owning an interest in the transportation business of the carrier.
- (2) The make, type and carrying capacity of each vehicle, or other unit of equipment, owned, operated by, or licensed in the name of the carrier during the month of October, 1948, and at the time of filing application.
- (3) A true copy of each contract in force on the date of such application between the carrier and the other contracting party or parties whom the carrier is serving. No such contract shall be open to inspection by other carriers or by the public, except by order of court, or by order of the Commission in a proceeding involving the violation of some law or valid regulation of the Commission in which such contract becomes material or in a proceeding conducted under this section.
- (4) A current balance sheet showing the assets, liabilities, and net worth of the carrier.

(c) Duty of Commission. — The burden shall be upon each applicant for a permit as a contract carrier under this section to satisfy the Commission that the applicant was operating as a contract carrier, as defined in this article, on October 1, 1948, and has continued to so operate since that time, seasonal service and unavoidable interruptions considered; and to that end the Commission may require the applicant to furnish further supporting evidence in addition to that set forth in the application. The Commission may deny such permit upon a finding from substantial evidence that the applicant is unfit or otherwise disqualified to perform the service for which the application is made. Any motor carrier subject to the provisions of this article may file protest to the issuance of a permit under this section and in such event the application shall be set for hearing at a time and in a manner prescribed by the rules of the Commission. When no protest is filed within the time as may be prescribed by the rules of the Commission, the Commission may proceed to issue or decline to issue the permit without a hearing. (1949, c. 1132, s. 8; c. 1283.)

What Applicant Must Show.—The only burden resting on a contract carrier seeking authorization to continue his charter business is to show that he was a bona fide operator engaged in charter service and in the transportation by motor vehicle of passengers in intrastate commerce for compensation, at the time of and prior to the passage of this article, and that he had continued to render such service since its passage; that he had the necessary equipment; was financially responsible and otherwise qualified to perform the service he seeks to render on a continuing basis. An applicant seeking to preserve rights confirmed to him in a grandfather clause, is required to show neither public convenience and necessity, nor public need. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

Carrier Entitled to Permit as Charter and Contract Carrier. — A carrier entitled, as a matter of law, to a permit under this section that will permit him to continue operating his business as a charter and contract carrier if he was engaged in bona fide operations rendering such service prior to the passage of the Bus Act of 1949 and is continuing to render such service since the passage of the Act. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

The purpose of a grandfather clause is to protect and preserve bona fide rights existing at the time of the passage of the legislation which contains such clause. Other provisions in this article intended to apply to applicants seeking rights thereunder, separate and apart from any grandfather rights confirmed therein, will not be permitted to impinge upon or defeat such rights as are intended to be protected by the grandfather clause. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952). See note to § 62-121.46.

Applied in Bryant v. Barber, 237 N. C. 480, 75 S. E. (2d) 410 (1953).

§ 62-121.51. Issuance of temporary authority.—Upon the filing of an application in good faith for a permit, as provided in § 62-121.50, the Commission shall, pending its final decision on the application, issue to the applicant appropriate temporary authority to operate as a contract carrier by motor vehicle, under such just and reasonable conditions and limitations as the Commission deems necessary or desirable to impose in the public interest; provided, however, that pending such final decision on the application, the applicant shall comply with all the provisions of this article, and with the lawful orders, rules and regulations of the Commission promulgated thereunder, applicable to holders of permits, and upon failure of an applicant so to do, after reasonable notice from the Commission requiring compliance therewith in the particulars set out in the notice, and after hearing, the application may be dismissed by the Commission without further proceedings, and the temporary authority issued to such applicant revoked. (1949, c. 1132, s. 9.)

§ 62-121.52. Applications and hearings. — (a) Except as otherwise provided in §§ 62-121.47, 62-121.49 to 62-121.51, and 62-121.59, no person, after the effective date of this article, shall engage in the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce or continue in any such operations until and unless such person shall have applied to and obtained from the Commission a certificate or permit authorizing such operations, and it shall be unlawful for any person knowingly or willfully to operate in intrastate commerce in any manner contrary to the provisions of this article, or of the rules and regulations of the Commission made pursuant thereto.

(b) Applications for certificates or permits shall be made to the Commission in writing on forms furnished by the Commission, shall be verified under oath by the applicant, and shall contain such information and in such form and detail as the Commission may require.

(c) Upon filing of an application for a certificate or a permit, the Commission shall, within a reasonable time fix a time and place for hearing such application. The Commission shall cause notice of the time and place of hearing to be given by mail to the applicant, to other motor carriers holding certificates or permits to operate in the territory proposed to be served by the applicant, and to other motor carriers who have pending applications to so operate. The notice herein required shall be given at least twenty (20) days prior to the date fixed for such hearing, but the failure of any such person, other than applicant, to receive any such mailed notice shall not, for that reason, invalidate the action of the Commission in granting or denying the application.

(d) The Commission may in its discretion require the applicant to give notice of the time and place of such hearing, together with a brief description of the purpose of said hearing and the exact route or routes and authority applied for, to be published not less than once each week for two successive weeks in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the territory proposed to be served. The Commission may in its discretion require the applicant to give such other and further notice in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission to the end that all interested parties and the general public may have full knowledge of such hearing and its purpose. If the Commission in its discretion requires the applicant to give notice by publication, as required by this subsection, then a copy of the published notice shall be immediately mailed by the applicant to the Commission, and upon receipt of same the chief clerk shall cause the said copy of notice to be forthwith entered in the Commission's docket of pending proceedings. The applicant shall, prior to any hearing upon his application, be required to satisfy the Commission that such notice by publication has been duly made, and in addition to any other fees or costs required to be paid by the applicant, the applicant shall pay into the office of the Commission the cost of the notices herein required to be mailed by the Commission.

(e) Any motor carrier desiring to protest the granting of an application for a certificate or permit, in whole or in part, may become a party to such proceedings by filing with the Commission, not less than ten (10) days prior to the date fixed for the hearing, unless the time be extended by order of the Commission, its protest in writing under oath, containing a general statement of the grounds for such protest and the manner in which the protestant will be adversely affected by the granting of the application, in whole or in part. Such protestant may also set forth in his protest its proposal, if any, to render, either alone or in conjunction with other motor carriers, the service proposed by the applicant, either in whole or in part. Upon the filing of such protest it shall be the duty of the protestant to file three copies with the Commission, and the applicant shall certify that a copy of said protest has been delivered or mailed to the applicant or applicant's attorney. When no protest is filed with the Commission within the time herein limited, or as extended by order of the Commission, the Commission may proceed to hear the application and make the necessary findings of fact and issue or decline to issue the certificate or permit applied for without further notice. Persons other than motor carriers shall have the right to appear before the Commission and give evidence in favor of or against the granting of any application, and with permission of the Commission may be accorded the right to examine and cross-examine witnesses. No certificate or permit shall be amended so as to enlarge or in any manner extend the scope of operations of a motor carrier without complying with the provisions of this section.

(f) If the application is for a certificate, the burden of proof shall be upon the applicant to show to the satisfaction of the Commission,

- (1) That public convenience and necessity requires the proposed service in addition to existing authorized transportation service, and
- (2) That the applicant is fit, willing and able to properly perform the proposed service, and
- (3) That the applicant is solvent and financially able to furnish adequate service on a continuing basis.

(g) No certificate shall be granted to an applicant proposing to serve a route already served by a previously authorized motor carrier unless and until the Commission shall find from the evidence that the service rendered by such previously authorized motor carrier or carriers on said routes is inadequate to meet the requirements of public convenience and necessity; and if the Commission shall find that the service being rendered by such certificate holder or holders on said routes is inadequate to meet the requirements of public convenience and necessity, such certificate holder or holders who have protested the application as provided in subsection (c) of this section, shall be given reasonable time to remedy such inadequacy before any certificate shall be granted to an applicant proposing to operate on such routes, unless the Commission finds that the previously authorized carrier, filing such protest, is either financially unable, or otherwise unqualified, or is unwilling to render, on a continuing basis, the service applied for or the service found by the Commission to meet the requirements of public convenience and necessity. In all cases in which applications affect local intracity bus service the Commission shall give consideration to all interests involved and make appropriate provision for the protection thereof, and to that end local intracity operators shall have the right to be heard as protestants, or intervenors, under such rules of practice as the Commission may provide.

(h) A certificate for the transportation of passengers may include authority to transport in the same vehicle with passengers the baggage of such passengers, newspapers, express parcels or United States mail when authorized so to do by the government of the United States of America; or to transport baggage of passengers in a separate vehicle. The Commission, in its discretion, may require through joint routes and rates for the transportation of newspapers and express parcels.

(i) Common carriers by motor vehicle transporting passengers under a certificate issued by the Commission may operate to any place in this State, pursuant to charter party or parties, trips originating on such common carrier's authorized routes or in the territory served by its routes under such reasonable rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe.

(j) If the application is for a permit, the Commission shall give due consideration to

- (1) Whether the proposed operations conform with the definition in this article of a contract carrier,
- (2) Whether the proposed operations will unreasonably impair the efficient public service of carriers operating under certificates,
- (3) Whether the proposed service will unreasonably impair the use of the highways by the general public,
- (4) Whether the applicant is fit, willing and able to properly perform the service proposed as a contract carrier,
- (5) Whether the proposed operations will be consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this article, and
- (6) Other matters tending to qualify or disqualify the applicant for a permit.

(k) After the issuance of a certificate or permit as provided in this section, such certificate or permit may thereafter be amended, changed or modified, by requiring the holder to furnish more or less transportation service, or by changing the routes over which service has been authorized, or by imposing other reasonable terms, conditions, restrictions, and limitations as public convenience and necessity or reasonable regulation of bus traffic upon the highways may require; provided, that the procedure in all such cases as to notice and hearing shall be the same as provided in this section for the issuance of a certificate or permit.

(l) The Commission shall by general order, or rule, having regard for the public convenience and necessity, provide for the abandonment or permanent or temporary discontinuance of transportation service previously authorized in a certificate. (1949, c. 1132, s. 10; 1953, c. 825, s. 3; 1957, c. 1152, ss. 8, 9.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment deleted the former fourth sentence of subsection (e) which read: "The protestant shall be required, at the time of filing such protest, to pay into the office of the Commission a filing fee of five dollars ($5.00)."

The 1957 amendment rewrote subsection (d). It also rewrote the third sentence of subsection (e) which formerly required the filing of four copies, one of which the Commission was required to mail to the applicant.

Duplication of Service.—Under a former article of similar import, it was held that the Commission might, in its discretion, grant a franchise which would duplicate in whole or in part a previously authorized similar class of service; and, when it was shown to the satisfaction of the Commission that the existing operations were not providing sufficient service reasonably to meet the public convenience and necessity and the existing operators, after thirty days' notice, failed to provide the service required by the Commission, it would be the duty of the Commission to do so. State v. Carolina Coach Co., 224 N. C. 390, 30 S. E. (2d) 328 (1944); State v. City Coach Co., 234 N. C. 489, 67 S. E. (2d) 629 (1951).

The question of duplication of service must be determined under the provisions of the statute which was in effect at the time the order of the Commission was entered. State v. City Coach Co., 234 N. C. 489, 67 S. E. (2d) 629 (1951).

"Route" Not Synonymous with "Territory." — "Route" as used in this article means the highway or road traveled in serving communities, districts, or territories adjacent to it, and is not synonymous with "territory." State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951); State v. Ray, 236 N. C. 692, 73 S. E. (2d) 870 (1953).

This section does not purport to protect against all competition but is designed to protect authorized carriers against ruinous competition, and the statute does not prohibit service of the same points by different carriers over separate routes when such duplicate service is in the public interest. State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951); State v. Ray, 236 N. C. 692, 73 S. E. (2d) 370 (1953).

Application by carrier to serve communities being served by another carrier, who intervenes and protests the application, as distinguished from an application for duplication of routes, does not require the Utilities Commission to find that the existing carrier's service is inadequate and to afford such existing carrier opportunity to remedy the inadequacy. State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951).

Protection as to Duplication in Route.—

This section prohibits the granting of a franchise over any part of the route of an existing carrier except upon the prescribed conditions, and not merely a duplication of the same route from terminus to terminus, but the application to serve communities being served by the intervening carrier need not be denied in toto because there would be a duplication of routes along a short distance, since the existing carrier may be protected as to the duplication in route by proper restrictions in the certificate. State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951). See §§ 62-121.53, 62-121.54.

Charter Service.—Under the definition of a common carrier by motor vehicle in § 62-121.46, no common carrier by motor vehicle would be authorized to render charter service were it not for the permissive privilege to render such service contained in subsection (i) of this section. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

A common carrier by motor vehicle was not expressly authorized by statute to render charter service, in this State, prior to the enactment of this section. And prior to such time, contract carriers were not regulated by nor under the control of the North Carolina Utilities Commission. Even so, prior to the enactment of this article, contract carriers and common carriers engaged extensively in rendering such service. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

Amendment Held Not to Enlarge Scope of Operation within Meaning of Subsection (e).—See State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

Municipality Has No Power to Grant Franchise.—A municipality granted an exclusive franchise for the operation of a motor bus transportation service over specified streets within the city and “such other routes, with the consent and approval of the city council” as the public transportation might require. Thereafter the municipality approved a request for an additional route along a public highway from a point within the city to a point $\frac{7}{8}$ of a mile beyond the corporate limits. It was held that the “approval” of the proposed route did not amount to the granting of a franchise by the city since by former article 6 of this chapter the Utilities Commission alone had the power to grant the franchise over the route in controversy, and held further that the city had no authority to grant such a franchise either under § 160-203, or by virtue of its implied powers. City Coach Co. v. Gastonia Transit Co., 227 N. C. 391, 42 S. E. (2d) 398 (1947).

Amplied in Bryant v. Barber, 237 N. C. 480, 75 S. E. (2d) 410 (1953).

§ 62-121.53. Terms and conditions of certificate.—Any certificate issued under this article shall specify the service to be rendered and the routes over which, the fixed termini between which, and the intermediate points at which the motor carrier is authorized to operate; and there shall, at the time of issuance, be attached to the privileges granted by the certificate such reasonable terms, conditions, restrictions, and limitations as the public convenience and necessity may require. The Commission may, from time to time, rewrite a certificate previously authorized for the purpose of conforming the description of routes and services with changes which have been made resulting from changes made in the designation and location of highways or in changes made pursuant to amendments lawfully ordered by the Commission. (1949, c. 1132, s. 11.)

Cited in State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951).

§ 62-121.54. Issuance of permits, terms and conditions.—The Commission shall specify in the permit, or amendment thereto, the business of the contract carrier covered thereby and the scope thereof and shall attach to it, at the time of issuance, such reasonable terms, conditions, and limitations consistent with the service of a contract carrier as are necessary to carry out, with respect to the operations of such carrier, the requirements established by the Commission under § 62-121.48; provided, that no terms, conditions, or limitations shall restrict the right of the carrier to substitute or add contracts within the scope of the permit, as the development of the business and the demands of the public may require. (1949, c. 1132, s. 12.)

Cited in State v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N. C. 119, 63 S. E. (2d) 113 (1951).

§ 62-121.55. Application for broker's license. — (a) No person shall engage in the business of a broker in intrastate operations within this State unless such person holds a broker's license issued by the Commission.

(b) The Commission shall prescribe the form of application and such reasonable requirements and information as may in its judgment be necessary.

(c) Upon the filing of an application for license the Commission may fix a time and place for the hearing of the application and require such notices, publications, or other service as it may prescribe by the general rule or regulation.

(d) A license shall be issued to any qualified applicant therefor authorizing the whole or any part of the operations covered by the application if it is found that the applicant is fit, willing and able properly to perform the service proposed and to conform to the provisions of this article and the requirements, rules and regulations of the Commission thereunder, and that the proposed service, to the extent to be authorized by the license, is or will be consistent with the public interest and policy declared herein.

(e) The Commission shall have the same authority over persons operating under and holding a brokerage license as it has over motor carriers under this article, and shall require a broker to furnish bond or other security approved by the Commission and sufficient for the protection of travelers by motor vehicle. (1949, c. 1132, s. 13.)

§ 62-121.56. Issuance of partnership certificates or permits.—No certificate or permit shall be issued under this article to two or more individuals until such individuals shall have executed a partnership agreement and recorded the same in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the county in which the principal office of the partnership is located, and filed a certified copy of such agreement with the Commission. (1949, c. 1132, s. 14.)

§ 62-121.57. The same or similar trade names prohibited. — No carrier holding or operating under a certificate or permit issued under this article shall adopt or use the same trade name used by any other such carrier, or the name of any corporation holding or operating under a certificate or permit, or any name so similar to the trade or corporate name of another carrier as to mislead or confuse the public, and the Commission may, upon complaint, or upon its own initiative, in any such case require the carrier to discontinue the use of such trade name, preference being given to the carrier first adopting and using such trade name. (1949, c. 1132, s. 15.)

§ 62-121.58. Dual operations. — From and after the effective date of this article, unless the Commission, in its discretion, finds that the public interest so requires, no person or any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such person, shall hold both a certificate as a common carrier and permit as a contract carrier. (1949, c. 1132, s. 16.)

§ 62-121.59. Emergency operating authority. — To meet unforeseen emergencies, the Commission may, upon its own initiative, or upon written request by any person, department or agency of the State, or of any county, city or town, with or without a hearing, grant appropriate authority to any owner of a duly licensed vehicle or vehicles, whether such owner holds a certificate or permit or not, to transport passengers, baggage, mail, newspapers and light express between such points, or within such area during the period of the emergency and to the extent necessary to relieve the same, as the Commission may fix in its order granting such authority; provided, that unless the emergency is declared by the General Assembly or under its authority, the Commission shall find from such request, or from its own knowledge of conditions, that a real emergency exists and that relief to the extent authorized in its order is immediate, pressing and necessary in the public interest, and that the carrier so authorized has the necessary equipment and is willing to perform the emergency service as prescribed by the order. In all cases, under this section, the Commission shall first afford the holders of certificates or permits operating in the territory affected an opportunity to render the emergency service. Upon the termination of the emergency the operating privileges so granted shall automatically expire and the Commission shall forthwith withdraw all operating privileges granted to any person under this section. (1949, c. 1132, s. 17.)

§ 62-121.60. Deviation from regular route operations.—A common carrier by motor vehicle operating under a certificate issued by the Commission may occasionally deviate from the routes over which it is authorized to operate under the certificate, under such general or special rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe. (1949, c. 1132, s. 18.)

§ 62-121.61. Insurance or bond required.—(a) The Commission shall, in granting a certificate or permit, require the applicant to procure and file with the Commission acceptable liability and property damage insurance in a company licensed to do business in this State; or, in lieu of such insurance may accept bond with solvent surety, on such motor vehicles to be used in such service, in such amount as the Commission may determine, insuring passengers and the public receiving personal injury by reason of an act of negligence arising from the operation of any motor vehicle by the applicant upon the public highways of this State; and insuring the passengers and the public receiving personal injury by reason of any act of negligence arising from the operation of any motor vehicle by the applicant upon the route designated in the applicant's certificate or permit, whether such motor vehicle shall be specifically named, numbered or designated in the insurance policy or bond, or not, and whether such motor vehicle be in regular or temporary use by the applicant. Such policy, or bond, shall contain such other conditions, provisions and limitations as the Commission may prescribe, and shall be kept in full force and effect.

(b) Before final judgment has been rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction, in any cause arising from the operation under any certificate or permit, no attachment shall lie against motor vehicles used in such operation by any motor vehicle carrier, who has filed with the Commission such damage liability policy, or bond, so long as such policy or bond is in full force and effect.

(c) In any action in the courts arising out of damage to person or property, the assurer shall not be joined in the action against the assured; but upon final judgment against the assured, the assurer shall be liable within the limitations of the policy for the amount recovered and all court costs.

(d) The Commission may permit the filing by any licensed assurer of a uniform master insurance policy contract, the terms of which shall conform to the foregoing, and when approved and accepted by the Commission, shall be applicable to all insurance policy contracts filed by such assurer for motor vehicle carriers under this article, and thereafter, so long as the master policy contract shall remain in force, carriers under this article may be permitted to file certificates, in such form as the Commission may prescribe, evidencing fleet coverage under the term of such master policy instead of filing a separate individual policy contract in each case. The Commission, when satisfied that passengers and the public will be fully protected against damage or loss, in the exercise of its discretion, may permit a common carrier or a contract carrier to become a self-insurer upon such terms and conditions as the Commission may prescribe.

(e) Brokers shall be required to file bond to cover financial responsibility not in excess of amounts required by the Interstate Commerce Commission. (1949, c. 1132, s. 19.)

A carrier and its insurer cannot be sued in the same cause of action as subsection (c) of this section specifically provides that the insurer "shall not be joined in the action against the assured." Leppard v. Jordan's Truck Line, 116 F. Supp. 130 (1953).

§ 62-121.62. Transfers of certificates and permits. — No certificates or permits issued under the provisions of this article shall be sold, assigned, pledged, transferred, or control changed through stock transfer or otherwise, or any rights thereunder leased, nor shall any merger or combination affecting any motor carrier be made through acquisition of control by stock purchases or otherwise, except after application to and written approval by the Commission as in this section provided, provided that the above provisions shall not apply to regular trading in listed securities on recognized markets. The applicant shall give not less than ten (10) days' written notice of such application by registered mail or by certified mail to all connecting and competing carriers. When the Commission is of the opinion that the transaction is consistent with the purposes of this article, the Commission may, in the exercise of its discretion, grant its approval, provided, however, that when such transaction will result in a substantial change in the service and operations of any motor carrier party to the transaction, or will substantially affect the operations and services of any other motor carrier, the Commission shall not grant its approval except upon notice and hearing as required in § 62-121.52 upon an application for an original certificate or permit. In all cases arising under this section it shall be the duty of the Commission to require the successor carrier to satisfy the Commission that the operating debts and obligations of the seller, assignor, pledgor, lessor or transferor, including taxes due the State of North Carolina or any political subdivision thereof are paid or the payment thereof is adequately secured. The Commission may attach to its approval of any transaction arising under this section such other conditions as the Commission may determine are necessary to effectuate the purposes of this article. It shall be considered against the policy declared in § 62-121.44 for any person to obtain a certificate or permit for the purpose of transferring the same to another, and an offer of such transfer within one year after the same was obtained shall be prima facie evidence that such a certificate or permit was obtained for the purpose of sale. (1949, c. 1132, s. 20; 1953, c. 1140, s. 3; 1957, c. 1152, s. 10.)

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment inserted in line three of the first sentence the words "or control changed through stock transfer or otherwise." It also added at the end of the sentence the words "provided that the above provisions shall not apply to regular trading in listed securities on recognized markets."

The 1957 amendment inserted in lines nine and ten the words "or by certified mail."

§ 62-121.63. Suspension or revocation of certificates and permits.

—(a) The certificates and permits issued under the provisions of this article shall be effective from the date issued unless otherwise specified therein, and shall remain in effect until terminated under the terms thereof, or until suspended or revoked as herein provided.

(b) Any certificate or permit may be suspended or revoked, in whole or in part, upon complaint or upon the Commission's own initiative, after notice and hearing, for willful failure to comply with any provision of this article, or with any lawful order, rule, or regulation of the Commission promulgated thereunder, or with any term, condition, or limitation of such certificate or permit; provided, however, that any such certificate or permit may be suspended or revoked by the Commission upon notice to the holder or lessee thereof without a hearing for any one or more of the following causes:

- (1) For failure to comply with § 62-121.61.
- (2) For failure to file and keep on file with the Commission applicable tariffs or schedules of charges as required in §§ 62-121.64, 62-121.65 and 62-121.66.
- (3) For failure to pay any gross receipt taxes, use or privilege taxes, due the State of North Carolina within six months after demand in writing from the agency of the State authorized by law to collect the same; provided, that this subdivision shall not apply to instances in which there is a bona fide controversy as to tax liability.

- (4) For failure to begin operations as authorized by the Commission within the time specified by order of the Commission, or for suspension of authorized operations for a period of thirty (30) days without the written consent of the Commission. (1949, c. 1132, s. 21.)

§ 62-121.64. Rates and charges of common carriers.—(a) It shall be the duty of every common carrier of passengers by motor vehicle to establish reasonable through routes with other such common carriers and to provide safe and adequate service, equipment, and facilities for the transportation of passengers; to establish, observe, and enforce just and reasonable individual and joint rates, fares, and charges and just and reasonable regulations and practices relating thereto, and to the issuance, form, and substance of tickets, the carrying of personal, sample and excess baggage, the facilities for transportation, and all other matters relating to or connected with the transportation of passengers; and in case of such joint rates, fares, and charges, to establish just, reasonable and equitable divisions thereof as between the carriers participating therein which shall not unduly prefer or prejudice any such participating carriers.

(b) All charges made for services rendered or to be rendered by any common carrier by motor vehicle in the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce or in connection therewith shall be just and reasonable, and every unjust and unreasonable charge for such service, or any part thereof, is prohibited and declared to be unlawful. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier by motor vehicle engaged in intrastate commerce to make, give, or cause any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, place, locality, territory, or description of traffic, in any respect whatsoever, or to subject any particular person, place, locality, territory, or description of traffic, to any unjust discrimination or any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever; provided, however, that this subsection shall not be construed to apply to discrimination, prejudice, or disadvantage to the traffic of any other carrier of whatever description.

(c) Any person, State board, organization, or body politic may make complaint in writing to the Commission that any such rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice, in effect or proposed to be put into effect, is or will be in violation of this section or of § 62-121.65. Whenever, after hearing upon complaint or in an investigation on its own initiative, the Commission shall be of the opinion that any individual or joint rate, fare, or charge, demanded, charged, or collected by any common carrier or carriers by motor vehicle or by any common carrier or carriers by motor vehicle in conjunction with any common carrier or carriers by railroad and/or express, and/or water, and/or air, or any classification, rule, regulation, or practice whatsoever of such carrier or carriers affecting such rate, fare, or charge or the value of the service thereunder, is or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory or unduly preferential or unduly prejudicial, it shall determine and prescribe the lawful rate, fare, or charge or the maximum or minimum, or maximum and minimum rate, fare, or charge thereafter to be observed, or the lawful classification, rule, regulation, or practice thereafter to be made effective and the Commission shall, whenever deemed by it to be necessary or desirable in the public interest, after hearing, upon complaint or upon its own initiative without a complaint, establish through routes, and joint rates, fares, charges, regulations, or practices, applicable to the transportation of passengers by common carriers by motor vehicle, or the maxima or minima, or maxima and minima, to be charged, and the terms and conditions under which such through routes shall be operated.

(d) Whenever, after hearing, upon complaint or upon its own initiative, the Commission is of opinion that the divisions of joint rates, fares, or charges, applicable to the transportation of passengers by common carriers in conjunction with common carriers by railroad and/or express, and/or water, and/or air are or will be unjust, unreasonable, inequitable, or unduly preferential or prejudicial as between the carriers parties thereto (whether agreed upon by such carriers, or any of them, or otherwise established), the Commission shall by order prescribe the just, reasonable, and equitable divisions thereof to be received by the several carriers; and in cases where the joint rate, fare, or charge was established pursuant to a finding or order of the Commission and the divisions thereof are found by it to have been unjust, unreasonable, or inequitable, or unduly preferential or prejudicial, the Commission may also by order determine what would have been the just, reasonable, and equitable divisions thereof to be received by the several carriers, and require adjustment to be made in accordance therewith. The order of the Commission may require the adjustment of divisions between the carriers, in accordance with the order, from the date of filing the complaint or entry of order of investigation or such other date subsequent as the Commission finds justified and, in the case of joint rates prescribed by the Commission, the order as to divisions may be made effective as a part of the original order.

(e) Whenever there shall be filed with the Commission any schedule stating a new individual or joint rate, fare, charge, or classification for the transportation of passengers by a common carrier or carriers by motor vehicle, or by any such carrier or carriers in conjunction with a common carrier or carriers by railroad and/or express, and/or water, and/or air or any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rate, fare, or charge, or the value of the service thereunder, the Commission is hereby authorized and empowered upon complaint of any interested party or upon its own initiative at once and, if it so orders, without answer or other formal pleading by the interested carrier or carriers, but upon reasonable notice, to enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such rate, fare, or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, and pending such hearing and the decision thereon the Commission, by filing with such schedule and delivering to the carrier or carriers affected thereby a statement in writing of its reasons for such suspension, may from time to time suspend the operation of such schedule and defer the use of such rate, fare, or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, but not for a longer period than one hundred eighty days beyond the time when it would otherwise go into effect; and after hearing, whether completed before or after the rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice goes into effect, the Commission may make such order with reference thereto as would be proper in a proceeding instituted after it had become effective. If the proceeding has not been concluded and an order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change of rate, fare, or charge, or classification, rule, regulation, or practice shall go into effect at the end of such period. At any hearing involving a change in a rate, fare, charge, or classification, or in a rule, regulation, or practice, the burden of proof shall be upon the carrier to show that the proposed changed rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice is just and reasonable.

(f) In any proceeding to determine the justness or reasonableness of any rate, fare, or charge of any such carrier, there shall not be taken into consideration or allowed as evidence any elements of value of the property of such carrier, good will, earning power, or the certificate under which such carrier is operating; and in applying for and receiving a certificate under this part any such carrier shall be deemed to have agreed to the provisions of this subsection, on its own behalf and on behalf of all transferees on such certificate.

(g) In the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates, fares, and charges for the transportation of passengers by common carriers by motor vehicle, and classifications, regulations, and practices relating thereto, the Commission shall give due consideration, among other factors, to the inherent advantages of transportation by such carriers; to the effect of rates upon the movement of traffic by the carrier or carriers for which the rates are prescribed; to the need, in the public interest, of adequate and efficient transportation service by such carriers at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service; and to the need of revenues sufficient to enable such carriers, under honest, economical, and efficient management, to provide such service.

(h) Nothing in this section shall be held to extinguish any remedy or right of action not inconsistent herewith. (1949, c. 1132, s. 22.)

§ 62-121.65. Tariffs of common carriers.—(a) Every common carrier by motor vehicle shall file with the Commission, and print, and keep open to public inspection, tariffs showing all the rates, fares, and charges for transportation, and all services in connection therewith, of passengers between points on its own route and points on the route of any such carrier, or on the route of any common carrier by railroad and/or express and/or water and/or air when a through route and joint rate shall have been established. Such rates, fares, and charges shall be stated in terms of lawful money of the United States. The tariffs required by this section shall be published, filed, and posted in such form and manner, and shall contain such information, as the Commission by regulations shall prescribe; and the Commission is authorized to reject any tariff filed with it which is not in consonance with this section and with such regulations. Any tariff so rejected by the Commission shall be void and its use shall be unlawful.

(b) No common carrier by motor vehicle shall charge or demand or collect or receive a greater or less or different compensation for transportation or for any service in connection therewith between the points enumerated in such tariff than the rates, fares, and charges specified in the tariffs in effect at the time; and no such carrier shall refund or remit in any manner or by any device, directly or indirectly, or through any agent or broker or otherwise, any portion of the rates, fares, or charges so specified, or extend to any person any privileges or facilities for transportation in intrastate commerce except such as are specified in its tariffs.

(c) No change shall be made in any rate, fare, charge, or classification, or any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rate, fare, charge, or classification, or the value of the service thereunder, specified in any effective tariff of a common carrier by motor vehicle, except after thirty days' notice of the proposed change filed and posted in accordance with subsection (a) of this section. Such notice shall plainly state the change proposed to be made and the time when such change will take effect. The Commission may, in its discretion and for good cause shown, allow such change upon notice less than that herein specified or modify the requirements of this section with respect to posting and filing of tariffs either in particular instances or by general order applicable to special or peculiar circumstances or conditions.

(d) No common carrier by motor vehicle, unless otherwise provided by this article, shall engage in the transportation of passengers unless the rates, fares, and charges upon which the same are transported by said carrier have been filed and published in accordance with the provision of this article. (1949, c. 1132, s. 23.)

§ 62-121.66. Rates and charges of contract carriers; schedules.—(a) It shall be the duty of every contract carrier to establish and observe reasonable minimum rates and charges for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of passengers or in connection therewith, and to establish and observe reasonable regulations and practices to be applied in connection with said reasonable minimum rates and charges. It shall be the duty of every contract carrier to file with the Commission, publish, and keep open for public inspection, in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission, schedules containing the minimum rates or charges of such carrier actually maintained and charged for the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce, and any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rates or charges and the value of the service thereunder. No such contract carrier, unless otherwise provided by this article, shall engage in the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce unless the minimum charges for such transportation by said carrier have been published, filed, and posted in accordance with the provisions of this article. No reduction shall be made in any such charge either directly or by means of any change in any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such charge or the value of service thereunder, except after thirty days' notice of the proposed change filed in the aforesaid form and manner, but the Commission may, in its discretion and for good cause shown, allow such change upon less notice, or modify the requirements of this subsection with respect to posting and filing of such schedules, either in particular instances or by general order applicable to special or peculiar circumstances or conditions. Such notice shall plainly state the change proposed to be made and the time when such change will take effect. No such carrier shall demand, charge, or collect a less compensation for such transportation than the charges filed in accordance with this subsection, as affected by any rule, regulation, or practice so filed, or as may be prescribed by the Commission from time to time, and it shall be unlawful for any such carrier, by the furnishing of special services, facilities, or privileges, or by any other device whatsoever, to charge, accept, or receive less than the minimum charges so filed or prescribed; provided, than any such carrier or carriers, or any class or group thereof, may apply to the Commission for relief from the provisions of this subsection, and the Commission may, after hearing, grant such relief to such extent and for such time, and in such manner as in its judgment is consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this article.

(b) Whenever, after hearing, upon complaint or upon its own initiative, the Commission finds that any minimum rate or charge of any contract carrier by motor vehicle, or any rule, regulation, or practice of any such carrier affecting such minimum rate or charge, or the value of the service thereunder, for the transportation of passengers or in connection therewith, contravenes the transportation policy declared in this article, or is in contravention of any provision of this article, the Commission may prescribe such just and reasonable minimum rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice as in its judgment may be necessary or desirable in the public interest and to promote such policy and will not be in contravention of any provision of this article. Such minimum rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, so prescribed by the Commission, shall give no advantage or preference to any such carrier in competition with any common carrier by motor vehicle subject to this article, which the Commission may find to be undue or inconsistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this article, and the Commission shall give due consideration to the cost of the services rendered by such carriers, and to the effect of such minimum rate or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, upon the movement of traffic by such carriers. All complaints shall state fully the facts complained of and the reasons for such complaint and shall be made under oath.

(c) Whenever there shall be filed with the Commission by any such contract carrier any schedule stating a charge for a new service or a reduced charge, directly or by means of any rule, regulation, or practice, for the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce, the Commission is hereby authorized and empowered upon complaint of interested parties or upon its own initiative at once and, if it so orders, without answer or other formal pleading by the interested party, but upon reasonable notice, to enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, and pending such hearing and the decision thereon the Commission, by filing with such schedule and delivering to the carrier affected thereby a statement in writing of its reasons for such suspension, may from time to time suspend the operation of such schedule and defer the use of such charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, but not for a longer period in the aggregate than one hundred eighty days beyond the time when it would otherwise go into effect; and after hearing, whether completed before or after the charge, or rule, regulation, or practice goes into effect, the Commission may make such order with reference thereto as would be proper in a proceeding instituted after it had become effective. If the proceeding has not been concluded and order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change in any charge or rule, regulation, or practice shall go into effect at the end of such period, provided, the carrier may voluntarily suspend such schedule, rule, regulation or practice for further periods beyond the one hundred eighty days and until the proceeding be concluded.

(d) At any hearing before the Commission under this subsection, the burden of proof shall be upon the carrier to show that the changed rate, fare, charge, or classification or rule, regulation or practice, or the proposed changed rate, fare, charge, or classification, or the proposed rule, regulation, or practice, is just and reasonable. (1949, c. 1132, s. 24.)

The word "tariff," used in connection with the rates of a common carrier, does not have any special legal significance that would differentiate it in effect from the word "rates," used in this section in connection with a contract carrier. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

A contract carrier issued a permit under § 62-121.50 must file his rates in compliance with the provisions of this section. State v. Fleming, 235 N. C. 660, 71 S. E. (2d) 41 (1952).

§ 62-121.67. Accounts, records and reports.—(a) The Commission is hereby authorized to require annual, periodical, or special reports from all motor carriers, brokers, and lessors (as defined in this section), to prescribe the manner and form in which such reports shall be made, and to require from such carriers, brokers and lessors, specific and full, true, and correct answers to all questions upon which the Commission may deem information to be necessary. Such annual reports shall give an account of the affairs of the carrier, broker, or lessor, in such form and detail as may be prescribed by the Commission. The Commission may also require any motor carrier or broker to file with it a true copy of any contract, agreement, or arrangement between such carrier and any other carrier or person in relation to any traffic affected by the provisions of this article. The Commission shall not, however, make public any contract, agreement, or arrangement under the terms of which a contract carrier undertakes to transport passengers, or any of the terms or conditions thereof, except as a part of the record in a formal proceeding where it considers such action consistent with the public interest; provided, that if it appears from an examination of any such contract that it fails to conform to the published schedule of the contract carrier as required by § 62-121.66, the Commission may, in its discretion, make public such of the provisions of the contract as the Commission considers necessary to disclose such failure and the extent thereof.

(b) Said annual reports shall contain all the required information for the period of twelve months ending on the thirty-first day of December in each year, unless the Commission shall specify a different date, and shall be made out under oath and file with the Commission at its office in Raleigh within four months after the close of the year for which the report is made, unless additional time be granted in any case by the Commission. Such periodical or special reports as may be required by the Commission under subsection (a) hereof shall also be under oath, whenever the Commission so requires. The Commission may issue an order, upon ten (10) days' notice by registered mail, cancelling or suspending any certificate of convenience and necessity thirty (30) days after the date of service of such order for failing to file the required annual report at the time it was due. In the event the report is filed during the thirty (30)-day period, the order of cancellation or suspension shall be null and void.

(c) The Commission may, in its discretion, prescribe the forms of any and all accounts, records, and memoranda to be kept by motor carriers, brokers, and lessors, including the accounts, records, and memoranda of the movement of traffic, as well as of the receipts and expenditures of moneys; and it shall be unlawful for such carriers, brokers, and lessors, to keep any accounts, records, and memoranda contrary to any rules, regulations, or orders of the Commission with respect thereto. The Commission may issue orders specifying such operating, accounting, or financial papers, records, books, blanks, stubs, correspondence, or documents of motor carriers, brokers, or lessors, as may after a reasonable time be destroyed, and prescribing the length of time they shall be preserved. The Commission or its duly authorized special agents, accountants, or examiners shall at all times have access to and authority, under its order, to inspect and examine any and all lands, buildings, or equipment of motor carriers, brokers, and lessors; and shall have authority to inspect and copy any and all accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents of such carriers, brokers, and lessors, and such accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents of any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with any such carrier, as the Commission deems relevant to such person's relation to or transactions with such carrier. Motor carriers, brokers, lessors, and persons shall submit their accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents for the inspection and copying authorized by this subsection, and motor carriers, brokers, and lessors, shall submit their lands, buildings, and equipment for examination and inspection, to any duly authorized special agent, accountant, auditor, inspector, or examiner of the Commission upon demand and the display of proper credentials.

(d) As used in this section, the words "keep," and "kept" shall be construed to mean made, prepared, or compiled, as well as retained; the term "lessor" means a lessor of any right to operate as a motor carrier; and the term "motor carrier," "broker," or "lessor," includes a receiver or trustee of any such motor carrier, broker, or lessor. (1949, c. 1132, s. 25; 1959, c. 639, ss. 6, 10.)

Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment extended the time for filing annual reports provided for in subsection (b) from three months to four months after the close of the year and added the third and fourth sentences thereof.

§ 62-121.68. Designation of process agent; service of notices and orders.—It shall be the duty of every motor carrier operating under a certificate or permit issued under the provisions of this article to file with the Commission a designation in writing of the name and post-office address of a person upon whom or which service of notices or orders may be made under this article. Such designation may from time to time be changed by like writing similarly filed. Service of notices or orders in proceedings under this article may be made upon a motor carrier by personal service upon it or upon the person so designated by it, or by registered mail, return receipt requested, or by certified mail with return receipt requested, addressed to it or to such person at the address filed. In proceedings before the Commission involving the lawfulness of rates, charges, classifications, or practices, service of notice upon the person or agent who has filed a tariff or schedule in behalf of such carrier shall be deemed to be due and sufficient service upon the carrier. (1949, c. 1132, s. 26; 1957, c. 1152, s. 11.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment inserted in lines eight and nine the words "or by certified mail with return receipt requested."

§ 62-121.69. Free transportation. — No carrier shall, directly or indirectly, issue, give, tender, or honor any free fares except to its bona fide officers, agents, commission agents employees, and members of their immediate families, and such persons as the Commission may designate in its employ, or the employ of the Motor Vehicle Department for the inspection of equipment and supervision of traffic upon the highways of the State: Provided, that motor carriers under this article may exchange free transportation within the limits of this section, and may accept as a passenger a totally blind person accompanied by a guide at the usual and ordinary fare charged to one person under such reasonable regulations as may have been established by the carrier. (1949, c. 1132, s. 27; 1953, c. 1279.)

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment

§ 62-121.70. Depots and stations.—Upon notice and hearing and upon a finding by the Commission that public convenience and necessity so requires, the Commission is authorized and empowered to compel any motor carrier operating under the provisions of this article and serving any municipality or town to establish and maintain a passenger depot or station for the security, accommodation and convenience of the traveling public. When two or more carriers operating under the provisions of this article shall serve any municipality or town, the Commission is authorized and empowered to require such carriers to establish and maintain a union passenger depot or station for the security, accommodation and convenience of the traveling public, and to unite in the joint undertaking and expense of securing, erecting, constructing and maintaining such union passenger depot or station, commensurate with the business and revenue of such motor carriers, on such terms, regulations, provisions and conditions as the Commission shall prescribe: Provided, that whenever the Commission shall require that a union depot or station shall be provided, it shall first allow the carriers required to provide such station an opportunity to submit to the Commission for approval any agreement between or among such carriers for the securing, construction, maintenance and operation of such station or depot. The Commission shall approve such agreement or agreements, if the same be, in the Commission's discretion, reasonable and just and in the public interest. (1949, c. 1132, s. 28.)

§ 62-121.71. Separation of races.—The Commission shall require every common carrier by motor vehicle to provide separate but substantially equal accommodations for the white and colored races at passenger stations or waiting rooms where the carrier receives passengers of both races, and on all common carriers by motor vehicles operating on a route or routes over which such carrier transports passengers of both races. Provided, that any requirement as to separate accommodation for the races shall not apply to specially chartered motor vehicles or to negro servants and attendants and their employers, or to officers or guards transporting prisoners. (1949, c. 1132, s. 29.)

Cross References.—As to separate waiting rooms for races, see § 62-44. As to provisions for equal accommodations for the races traveling by railroad, see §§ 60-94 to 60-98.

Power of Commission to Require Bus Lines to Provide Equal Separate Accommodations for Races. — The Corporation Commission (now Utilities Commission) is given plenary power by statute (former § 62-109) to require bus lines operating between points within the State in carrying passengers for hire, which are public service corporations, to provide indiscriminatory separate accommodations for the carriage of white and negro passengers, and for their separate accommodations at the bus stations, the working out of the plans or details for the purpose being vested largely within the discretion of the Commission, and where this is done without racial discrimination it is not objectionable as being in contravention of Thirteenth and Fourteenth Amendments to the federal Constitution. Corporation Commission v. Transportation Committee, 198 N. C. 317, 151 S. E. 648 (1930).

Nature of Segregation Provisions.—Former §§ 62-109 and 62-118, of similar import to this section and § 62-121.72, did not purport to deal with the enforcement of segregation, but made it mandatory on the part of the Utilities Commission to require transportation companies to provide equal accommodations for the white and colored races, in order that the settled policy of this State, which calls for the segregation of the white and colored races in the public institutions of the State, and on our intrastate transportation systems, might be enforced. State v. Johnson, 229 N. C. 701, 51 S. E. (2d) 186 (1949).

§ 62-121.72. Unlawful operation.—(a) Any person, whether carrier, or any officer, employee, agent or representative thereof, knowingly and willfully violating any provision of this article or any rule, regulation, requirement, or order thereunder, or any term of condition of any certificate or permit, for which a penalty is not otherwise herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be fined not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) for the first offense and not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) for any subsequent offense.

(b) If any motor carrier, or any other person or corporation, shall operate a motor vehicle for the transportation of passengers for compensation in violation of any provision of this article, except as to the reasonableness of rates or charges and the discriminatory character thereof, or shall operate in violation of any rule, regulation, requirement or order of the Commission, or of any term or condition of any certificate or permit, the Commission or any holder of a certificate or permit duly issued by the Commission may apply to the resident superior court judge of any judicial district where such motor carrier or other person or corporation so operates, or to any superior court judge holding court in such judicial district, for the enforcement of any provision of this article, or of any rule, regulation, requirement, order, term or condition of the Commission. Such court shall have jurisdiction to enforce obedience to this article or to any rule, order, or decision of the Commission by a writ of injunction or other process, mandatory or otherwise, restraining such carrier, person or corporation, or its officers, agents, employees and representatives from further violation of this article or of any rule, order, regulation, or decision of the Commission.

(c) Any person, whether carrier, passenger, shipper, consignee, or any officer, employee, agent, or representative thereof, who shall knowingly offer, grant, or give or solicit, accept, or receive any rebate, concession, or discrimination in violation of any provision of this article, or who by means of any false statement or representation, or by the use of any false or fictitious bill, bill of lading, receipt, voucher, roll, account, claim, certificate, affidavit, deposition, lease, or bill of sale, or by any other means or device, shall knowingly and willfully by any such means or otherwise fraudulently seek to evade or defeat regulations as in this article provided for motor carriers, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be fined not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) for the first offense and not more than two thousand dollars ($2,000.00) for any subsequent offense.

(d) It shall be unlawful for any special agent, accountant, auditor, inspector, or examiner to knowingly and willfully divulge any fact or information which may come to his knowledge during the course of any examination or inspection made under authority of § 62-121.67 of this article, except as he may be directed by the Commission or by a court or judge thereof. Nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the giving of such information in response to any legal process issued under the authority of any court, or to any officer or agent of the State or of the government of the United States, in the exercise of his power, or to any officer or other duly authorized person seeking such information for the prosecution of persons charged with or suspected of crimes or to another carrier, or its duly authorized agent, for the purpose of adjusting mutual traffic accounts in the ordinary course of business of such carriers.

(e) Any motor carrier, or other person, or any officer, agent, employee, or representative thereof, who shall willfully fail or refuse to make a report to the Commission as required by this article, or other applicable law, or to make specific and full, true, and correct answer to any question within thirty days from the time it is lawfully required by the Commission so to do, or to keep accounts, records, and memoranda in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission, or shall knowingly and willfully falsify, destroy, mutilate, or alter any such report, account, record, or memorandum, or shall knowingly and willfully neglect or fail to make true and correct entries in such accounts, records, or memoranda of all facts and transactions appertaining to the business of the carrier, or person required under this article to keep the same, or shall knowingly and willfully keep any accounts, records, or memoranda contrary to the rules, regulations, or orders of the Commission with respect thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be subject for each offense to a fine of not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00). As used in this subsection the words "kept" and "keep" shall be construed to mean made, prepared, or compiled, as well as retained. It shall be the duty of the Commission to prescribe and enforce such general rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to compel all motor carriers to keep accurate records of all revenue received by them to the end that any tax levied and assessed by the State of North Carolina upon revenues may be collected. Any agent or employee of a motor carrier who shall willfully and knowingly make a false report or record of fares, charges, or other revenue received by a carrier or collected in its behalf shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(f) Any person who, at any bus terminal, solicits or otherwise attempts to induce any person to use some form of transportation for compensation other than that lawfully using said terminal premises by contract with the terminal operator or by valid order of the Utilities Commission shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisoned not to exceed thirty (30) days, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(g) If any passenger on the motor vehicle of any motor carrier shall refuse to pay his fare or be or become intoxicated, it shall be lawful for the driver of any motor vehicle of a motor carrier and other employees of such motor carrier to put him and his baggage out of said motor vehicle or bus, using no unnecessary force, at any usual stopping place. (1949, c. 1132, s. 30; 1953, c. 1140, s. 4; 1957, c. 1152, s. 16.)

Editor's Note.—The words "term of condition" in line four of subsection (a), which are in the language of the original act, were probably intended to read "term or condition".

The 1953 amendment added subsection (f); and the 1957 amendment added subsection (g).

Restraining Illegal Operation Along Route.—Under subsection (b) a franchise carrier may maintain an action in the superior court to restrain another carrier from illegal operation along his route without a certificate or permit from the Utilities Commission when such illegal operation by such other carrier interferes with its franchise rights. Bryant v. Barber, 237 N. C. 480, 75 S. E. (2d) 410 (1953).

As to right of common carrier to apply to court for injunctive relief against wrongful acts of another carrier under former article 6 of this chapter, repealed and superseded by this article, see Burke Transit Co. v. Queen City Coach Co., 228 N. C. 768, 47 S. E. (2d) 297 (1948).

§ 62-121.73. Evidence; liability of surety or insurer.—No report by any motor carrier of any accident arising in the course of the operations of such carrier, made pursuant to this article or to any requirement of the Commission, and no report by the Commission of any investigation of any such accident, shall be admitted as evidence, or used for any other purpose in any suit or action for damages growing out of any matter mentioned in such report or investigation; nor shall the discharge by any carrier of any vehicle driver or other employee after any such accident be offered or admitted in evidence for any purpose in any suit or action against such carrier for damages arising out of any such accident. No evidence of any policy, bond or other security required under § 62-121.61 shall be offered or received in any such action or suit against a motor carrier, but the surety or insurer shall be obligated within the amount of such policy, bond or other security to pay any final judgment against the carrier. (1949, c. 1132, s. 31.)

§ 62-121.74. Interstate carriers.—(a) Except insofar as the provisions of this article may be inconsistent with, or shall contravene, the Constitution and laws of the United States, this article shall apply to persons and vehicles engaged in interstate commerce over the highways of this State; and the Commission may, in its discretion, require such carriers to file with it copies of their respective interstate authority, registration of their vehicles operated in this State, and the observance of such reasonable rules and regulations as the Commission may deem advisable in the administration of this article and for the protection of persons and property upon the highways of this State.

(b) The Commission or its authorized representative is authorized to confer with and hold joint hearings with the authorities of other states or with the Interstate Commerce Commission or its representatives in connection with any matter arising under this article, or under the Federal Motor Carrier Act, which may directly or indirectly affect the interests of the people of this State or the transportation policy declared by this article. (1949, c. 1132, s. 32.)

§ 62-121.75: Repealed by Session Laws 1953, c. 825, s. 3.

§ 62-121.76. Applicability of Utilities Commission Procedure Act of 1949; appeals.—Except as otherwise provided in this article, the Utilities Commission Procedure Act of 1949, codified as G. S. §§ 62-11 to 62-26.15, shall apply to and govern the procedure in all cases and proceedings before the Commission arising under this article, including appeals from the Commission's orders and decisions. (1949, c. 1132, s. 34.)

§ 62-121.77. Construction of article.—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to relieve any motor carrier, as herein defined, from any regulation otherwise imposed by law or lawful authority, and this article shall not be construed to relieve any such motor carrier from any obligation or duty imposed by chapter 20 of the General Statutes of North Carolina of 1943, as amended. (1949, c. 1132, s. 35.)

Applied, as to former § 62-120, in Kelly v. Hunsucker, 211 N. C. 153, 189 S. E. 664 (1937).

§ 62-121.78. Allocation of funds.—Sufficient funds shall be provided in the budget and allocated to the Commission to be disbursed under the supervision of the director of the budget for the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this article, including the employment of such additional personnel as may be required for that purpose. (1949, c. 1132, s. 36.)

§ 62-121.79. Repeal of inconsistent acts.—This article regulating motor carriers of passengers, mail and light express and chapter 1008, Public Laws of 1947, now article 6B, chapter 62, General Statutes of North Carolina of 1943, regulating motor carriers of property shall be construed as superseding article 6, chapter 62 of the General Statutes of North Carolina of 1943 and said article 6 is hereby repealed. All other acts or parts of acts relating to motor carriers as defined in this article and in conflict or inconsistent with this article are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict or inconsistency. (1949, c. 1132, s. 38.)

ARTICLE 7.

Rate Regulation.

§ 62-122. Commission to fix rates for public utilities.—Subject to the provisions as to passenger rates in the chapter Railroads and Other Carriers, and as to railroad freight rates in this chapter, the Commission shall make reasonable and just rates and charges, in intrastate traffic, and regulate the same, of and for:

Cross References.—As to railroad passenger rates, see § 60-89 et seq. As to railroad freight rates, see § 62-135 et seq. As to authority to fix rates charged by public utilities, see also § 62-36. As to penalty for overcharge, see § 60-110. As to the regulation of rates for ferries connecting links of the State highway system, see §§ 136-84 and 136-85.

Editor's Note.—See 12 N. C. Law Rev. 289, for article on "Electric Rates."

General Rate Fixing Power.—By this section the Commission is given broad and general powers to make rates for freight and passenger service. Tilley v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 162 N. C. 37, 77 S. E. 994 (1913).

Duty to Fix Rates.—When the Commission is called upon, by either a corporation or those to whom the services are rendered, under its franchise to exercise its rate fixing power and authority, it is its duty to fix and establish just and reasonable rates to be charged for such services. Corporation Comm. v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N. C. 70, 128 S. E. 465 (1925).

Power to Classify.—The legislature has absolutely no power to classify persons, natural or artificial, engaged in precisely the same occupation, laying a tax upon some of them and exempting others, or imposing a tax not operating uniformly upon all. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 135, 59 S. E. 355 (1907).

Same—Must Not Be Arbitrary.—In Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Ellis, 165 U. S. 150, 17 S. Ct. 255, 41 L. Ed. 666 (1897), it was said: "The mere fact of classification in rate regulating is not sufficient to relieve a statute from the reach of the equality clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, and in all cases it must appear, not merely that a classification has been made, but also that it is based upon some reasonable ground—something which bears a just and proper relation to the attempted classification and is not a mere arbitrary selection." Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 135, 140, 59 S. E. 355 (1907).

"Traffic" Defined.—The word "traffic," used in the section includes the transportation and also the sale and distribution of the commodities affected. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

Cited in State v. Martel Mills Corp., 232 N. C. 690, 62 S. E. (2d) 80 (1950).

- (1) Railroads, street railways, steamboats, canal and express companies or corporations, and all other transportation companies or corporations engaged in the carriage of freight, express or passengers.

"Company" Defined.—The term "company" was used and intended to include all corporations, companies, firms or individuals who were engaged as common carriers in the transportation of freight. Efland v. Southern R. Co., 146 N. C. 135, 59 S. E. 355 (1907).

Supervisory Power of Commission.—The Commission is given general supervision over railways, street railways, and the like companies of the State, and empowered to fix such notes, charges and tariffs as may be reasonable and just, having in view the value of the property, the cost of improvements and maintenance, the probable earning capacity under the proposed rates, the sums required to meet operating expenses, and other specific matters pertinent to such an inquiry, and these are police powers delegated to this Commission, governmental so far as they extend. In re Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619 (1919).

When Fares of Street Railway May Be Raised.—A public service street railway company, operating under a city charter, and under a contract with the city restricting the passenger fare authorized to be charged its patrons, may be authorized by the Commission to raise its charges to its passengers, when in the opinion of the Commission such is necessary for it to properly maintain its system, allowing a reasonable profit, to meet the requirements of the public for adequate, safe, and convenient service. In re Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619 (1919).

Cannot Fix Fares by Contract.—A public service railway corporation operating in various localities may not by contract fix its passenger fares and thus prevent the Commission, under the authority conferred by statute, from determining what rates are, under the circumstances, just and reasonable, for such would authorize such companies to discriminate, unlawfully, among its patrons. In re Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619

(1919); Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, Inc., 245 N. C. 179, 95 S. E. (2d) 510 (1956).

City Bus Fares.—The Commission has been given specific authority to fix city bus fares. State v. Greensboro, 244 N. C. 247, 93 S. E. (2d) 151 (1956). See § 62-121.47 and annotation thereto.

- (2) The transmission and delivery of messages by any telegraph company, and for the rental of telephone and furnishing telephonic communication by any telephone company or corporation.

Telephone Company Must Not Discriminate.—In Clinton-Dunn Tel. Co. v. Carolina Tel. Co., 159 N. C. 9, 74 S. E. 636 (1912), it was held that a telephone company is subject to public regulation and reasonable control, and is required to afford its service at uniform and reasonable rates and without discrimination among its subscribers and patrons for like service under the same or substantially similar conditions. See Godwin v. Telephone Co., 136 N. C. 258, 48 S. E. 636 (1904); Walls v. Strickland, 174 N. C. 298, 93 S. E. 857 (1917).

A contract whereby a telegraph company gives to a railroad company a preference of business over its line to the exclusion of others is an illegal discrimination. Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N. C. 211, 21 S. E. 391 (1895).

Mandamus to Compel Telephonic Accommodations.—In Godwin v. Telephone Co., 136 N. C. 258, 48 S. E. 636 (1904), it is held that a mandamus lies to compel a telephone company to place telephones and furnish telephonic facilities without discrimination for those who will pay for the same and abide by the reasonable regulations of the company. Walls v. Strickland, 174 N. C. 298, 93 S. E. 875 (1917).

When Telegram Transmitted over Lines of Another Company.—Where a telegraph company has a continuous line between two points in this State, the fact that, in transmitting a message, it sent the message over the lines of another company does not excuse its violation of the rate prescribed by the Railroad Commission (now Utilities Commission) for the transmission of a message sent over the lines of one company. Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N. C. 211, 21 S. E. 391 (1895).

Telegraphic Messages Traversing Another State.—Telegraphic messages transmitted by the company from and to points in this State, although traversing another state in the route, are subject to the tariff regulations of the Railroad [now Utilities] Commission. State v. Western Union Tel. Co., 113 N. C. 213, 18 S. E. 389 (1893).

Facilities to Transmit All Messages Offered.—It is the duty of a telegraph company to have sufficient facilities to transmit all the business offered to it for all points at which it has offices, since it is not a mere private duty but a public duty which its franchise authorizes it to perform. Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N. C. 211, 21 S. E. 391 (1895).

Power to Ascertain Corporation in Control.—The Commission has the incidental power (subject to the right of appeal) to ascertain what particular corporation is in the control of or operates any telegraph line in this State, in order that it may exercise its authority to fix rates, as well as to know against whom to proceed for a violation of its regulations. State v. Western Union Tel. Co., 113 N. C. 213, 18 S. E. 389 (1893).

Cited in Russ v. Western Union Tel. Co., 222 N. C. 504, 23 S. E. (2d) 681 (1943).

- (3) Persons, companies and corporations, other than municipal corporations, engaged in furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, power or gas, or owning or operating a public sewerage system in North Carolina.

Police Power of State.—The authority, conferred upon the Commission to establish reasonable and just rates of charges by a public service corporation for furnishing to its customers electrical power, comes within the police powers of the State, and contracts previously made are subordinate to the public interest that such rates be reasonable and just, and afford the corporation supplying the service a safe return upon its investments, having proper regard to the public interest that plants of this character should be properly run and maintained. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

Rates Coextensive with State's Jurisdiction. — When the Commission has finally established, under the provisions of the statute, rates to be charged by a public service corporation for furnishing electrical power, the rates are coextensive with the State's jurisdiction and territory, and conclusively bind all corporations, companies, or persons who are parties to the suit and have been afforded an opportunity to be heard. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

Sale of Electricity Generated in Another State.—While the generation of electricity in another state when transported to purchasers in this State may be regarded as interstate commerce, its distribution and sale here is local to the State, permitting the Commission to establish a just and reasonable rate of charge in conformity with the statutory powers, there being no interfering act of Congress relating to the subject. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

Discrimination Remedied by Mandamus.—Where a public service corporation has discriminated among its patrons in its charges for electricity, mandamus will lie to compel it to charge a uniform or undiscriminating rate, for the question does not require the courts to fix a rate, or pass upon its reasonableness. North Carolina Public Service Co. v. Southern Power Co., 179 N. C. 18, 101 S. E. 593 (1919).

Hydroelectric Company Authorized to Sell to Other Companies.—Where a hydroelectric company has been authorized by its charter to sell to other electric companies, power, etc., for retail or distribution among customers, it may not resist the jurisdiction of the courts upon the ground that it is not legally required to do so, though the distributing or retail company is in some sense a competitor, and has the charter right to generate or manufacture its own electricity. North Carolina Pub. Service Co. v. Southern Power Co., 179 N. C. 18, 101 S. E. 593 (1919).

Fees and Charges Made by Municipality.—The Utilities Commission has no jurisdiction under subdivision (3) of this section to fix or supervise the fees and charges to be made by a municipality for connections with a city sewerage system, either within or without its corporate limits. Atlantic Constr. Co. v. Raleigh, 230 N. C. 365, 53 S. E. (2d) 165 (1949).

- (4) The through transportation of freight, express or passengers.
- (5) The use of railway cars carrying freight or passengers.
- (6) And shall make rules and regulations as to contracts entered into by any railroad company or corporation to carry over its line or any part thereof the car or cars of any other company or corporation.
- (7) And it shall make, require or approve for intrastate shipments what is known as milling-in-transit, or warehousing-in-transit rates on grain, or lumber to be dressed, or cotton or peanuts or tobacco.

Editor's Note. — The 1925 amendment added to subdivision (7) the provision giving the Commission "authority to make, require and approve what is known as warehousing-in-transit rates on cotton." And the 1929 amendments changed the subdivision to read as set out above.

"Milling in transit" is where freight is shipped a long distance and the carrier will, at his own cost, defray the expense of its change in form en route because of the easier handling in a more compact shape, as, for example, Cowan v. Bond, 39 F. 54 (1889), where a railroad company receiving cotton in Louisiana for shipment to mills in New England had it compressed en route at Vicksburg at its own expense, charging the shipper no more than if it had carried the uncompressed cotton all the way, the same privilege being open to all shippers. Lumber Co. v. Railroad, 136 N. C. 479, 48 S. E. 813 (1904).

- (8) And, conjointly with such railroad companies, shall have authority to make special rates for the purpose of developing all manufacturing, mining, milling and internal improvements in the State.

Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit railroad or steamboat companies from making special passenger rates with excursion or other parties, also rates on such freights as are necessary for the comfort of such parties, subject to the approval of the Commission.

The powers vested in the Commission by this section over the several subjects enumerated shall be the same as that vested in it in respect to railroads and other transportation companies. (1899, c. 164, ss. 2, 14; 1903, c. 683; Rev., ss. 1096, 1099; 1907, c. 469, s. 4; 1913, c. 127, s. 2; 1917, c. 194; C. S., s. 1066; 1925, c. 37; 1929, cc. 82, 91; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-123. Rates established deemed just and reasonable.—The rates or charges established by the Commission shall be deemed just and reasonable, and any rate or charge made by any corporation, company, copartnership or individual engaged in the businesses enumerated in the preceding section other than those so established shall be deemed unjust and unreasonable. Provided, however, that upon petition filed by any shipper or receiver of freight, and a hearing thereon, if the Commission shall find the rates or charges collected to be unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory or preferential, the Commission may enter an order awarding such petitioner a sum equal to the difference between such unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory or preferential rates or charges and the rates or charges found by the Commission to be just and reasonable, nondiscriminatory and nonpreferential upon all shipments made or received by said petitioner within two years prior to the filing of such petition; provided, however, that this shall only apply to charges assessed and collected on and/or after March 19, 1929. (1913, c. 127, s. 3; C. S., s. 1067; 1929, cc. 241, 342; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Editor's Note.—The 1929 amendments added the two provisos.

Section Makes Rates Prima Facie Valid, Just and Reasonable.—This section makes the rates fixed by the Commission not only prima facie evidence of their validity, but also prima facie evidence that they are just and reasonable. State v. Municipal Corporations, 243 N. C. 193, 90 S. E. (2d) 519 (1955).

Rates Other than Those Fixed Deemed Unjust.—Under this section the rates approved by the Commission shall be deemed to be just and reasonable, and any different rate shall be deemed unjust and unreasonable. State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 249 N. C. 477, 106 S. E. (2d) 681 (1959).

Hence, in a proceeding to recover excessive freight charges collected because of an error in the tariff distance table filed with the Utilities Commission, the charges being in conformity with the tariff schedule for a greater distance than the correct distance between the termini, evidence offered by the carriers as to whether the higher rate was fair and reasonable for the shorter distance was properly excluded, since the carriers should not be permitted to change the rate by reason of a mistake in their tariff distance table, and petitioners were entitled to recover that part of the excess charged which was not barred by the limitation contained in this section. State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 249 N. C. 477, 106 S. E. (2d) 681 (1959).

Rates Deemed Reasonable Until Modified.—Rates or charges fixed by an order of the Commission are to be considered just and reasonable unless and until they shall be changed or modified on appeal or by the further action of the Commission itself. In re Southern Pub. Utilities Co., 179 N. C. 151, 101 S. E. 619 (1919), approving State v. Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 173 N. C. 413, 92 S. E. 150 (1917).

Rates Other than Those Fixed Deemed Unjust.—Including public service corporations furnishing their customers electricity for power, etc., the Commission is authorized by statute to fix just and reasonable rates or charges, and when they are so fixed, other or lower rates are to be deemed as unjust and unreasonable. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

Where Rates Re-established upon Reconsideration.—Where the Utilities Commission, after due notice and hearing, had established rates for intrastate shipments of pulpwood which it found to be just and reasonable, and thereafter upon petition of defendant and other carriers for reconsideration, the rate so established was ordered "to remain in full force and effect," it was held that by virtue of this section these rates so established must be deemed the only just and reasonable rates for this commodity over defendant's lines, rendering it unlawful for defendant to charge a greater amount. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

Burden of Proof.—One claiming that the rates or charges established by the Commission are unreasonable or excessive has the burden of proving his contention. Corporation Comm. v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N. C. 70, 123 S. E. 465 (1925).

Cited in Russ v. Western Union Tel. Co., 222 N. C. 504, 23 S. E. (2d) 681 (1943); Halifax Paper Co. v. Roanoke Rapids Sanitary Dist., 232 N. C. 421, 61 S. E. (2d) 378 (1950).

§ 62-124. How maximum rates fixed.—In fixing any maximum rate or charge, or tariff of rates or charges for any common carrier, person or corporation subject to the provisions of this chapter, the Commission shall take into consideration if proved, or may require proof of, the value of the property of such carrier, person or corporation used for the public in the consideration of such rate or charge or the fair value of the service rendered in determining the value of the property so being used for the convenience of the public. It shall furthermore consider the original cost of construction thereof and the amount expended in permanent improvements thereon and the present compared with the original cost of construction of all its property within the State; the probable earning capacity of such property under the particular rates proposed and the sum required to meet the operating expenses of such carrier, person or corporation, and all other facts that will enable it to determine what are reasonable and just rates, charges and tariffs. (1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 1; Rev., s. 1104; C. S., s. 1068; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Editor's Note.—See 12 N. C. Law Rev. 289, for comment on this section.

The language of this section is lifted almost verbatim out of the opinion in Smyth v. Ames, 169 U. S. 466, 18 S. Ct. 418, 42 L. Ed. 819 (1897). The question of a "just and reasonable" rate is there fully discussed. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Statute Is Constitutional.—The power to grant franchises to public service corporations and to fix their rates rests in the General Assembly, which power the General Assembly may delegate to an administrative agency provided the General Assembly prescribes rules and standards to guide such agency in the exercise of the delegated authority. The statute delegating to the Utilities Commission this authority is constitutional in fixing adequate rules and standards. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

A public utility corporation is entitled to a just and reasonable rate of return based upon the fair value of the properties used and useful in rendering the service for which the rate is established. State v. Greensboro, 244 N. C. 247, 93 S. E. (2d) 151 (1956).

Section Controls.—In establishing rates, the Commission is governed and controlled by the provision of this section. Southern R. Co. v. McNeill, 155 F. 756 (1907).

Manner of Arriving at Rate.—Under the provisions of this section, which is a valid statute, the Commission, in fixing a reasonable and just rate of charges for public service corporations, may make a fair estimated value of the property presently used, and in relation thereto consider the tax valuation of the plant. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

What is a "just and reasonable" rate which will produce a fair return on the investment depends on (1) the value of the investment—usually referred to in rate-making cases as the rate base—which earns the return; (2) the gross income received by the applicant from its authorized operations; (3) the amount to be deducted for operating expenses, which must include the amount of capital investment currently consumed in rendering the service; and (4) what rate constitutes a just and reasonable rate of return on the predetermined rate base. In finding these essential, ultimate facts, the Commission must consider all the factors particularized in the statute and "all other facts that will enable it to determine what are reasonable and just rates, charges and tariffs." It must then arrive at its own independent conclusion, without reference to any specific formula, as to (1) what constitutes a fair value, for rate-making purposes, of applicant's investment used in rendering intrastate service—the rate base, and (2) what rate of return on the predetermined rate base will constitute a rate that is just and reasonable both to the applicant and to the public. While both original cost and replacement value are to be considered, neither constitutes a proper rate base. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Where a public utility uses for operating capital moneys collected by it in taxes for the federal government which it is not required to pay to the federal government until a later date, the Utilities Commission should take such capital into consideration in fixing rates, which action is neither a condemnation nor condonement of the practice. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Income Produced by Increase of Facilities.—In fixing the rate for a telephone company, the Utilities Commission must take into consideration the net income to be produced by the increase in the number of telephones in service at the end of any test period adopted by the Commission.

State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Large Sum of Money on Hand for Working Capital.—When, in fixing rates which will produce a fair return on the investment of a utility, it is made to appear that it has on hand continuously a large sum of money it is using as working capital and to pay current bills for materials and supplies, that is a fact which must be taken into consideration. And if the fund on hand is sufficient, no additional sum should be allowed at the expense of the public. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Acceptance by Commission of "book value" or "cost less depreciation" as rate base is in conflict with the express terms of the standard prescribed in this section. The conclusion is inescapable that by accepting the book value as the rate base, it, ex necessitate, excluded consideration of present cost of replacement and all other factors from effective consideration. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

"Value" Does Not Mean "Market Value" as Second-Hand Property.—The term "value" in this section does not refer to the original or the replacement cost of the property or to the exchange or sales price it would command, as used or second-hand property, on the market. It has reference to the value of the property actually in use, serving its purpose as a part of a composite public utility, earning an income for its owner. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Only Properties Used and Useful in Rendering Service Considered.—In a proceeding by a power company for an increase in the cash fares on its city bus system, the Commission was correct in considering the value only of the properties used and useful in connection with the operation of the bus system without regard to the value of the electric properties of the power company. State v. Greensboro, 244 N. C. 247, 93 S. E. (2d) 151 (1956).

In fixing intrastate rates for a telephone company operating in several states, the Utilities Commission should take into consideration the net return such utility earns on its properties in such other states to the extent of not requiring customers in North Carolina, in order to maintain the utility's financial condition, to pay a substantially higher rate than permitted in other states. A substantial differential might be considered some evidence that the rates charged in this State are unreasonable and unjust to the local public.

State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Increasing Intrastate Rates to Conform with Interstate Rates Allowed by Interstate Commerce Commission.—Order of Utilities Commission increasing intrastate rates of State carriers so that such rates would conform with an increase in interstate rates allowed by Interstate Commerce Commission was invalid where order was unsupported by proof of the fair value of the properties of the carriers used and useful in conducting their intrastate business, separate and apart from their interstate business. State v. State, 243 N. C. 12, 89 S. E. (2d) 727 (1955).

The financial condition of a public utility and the demand for its bonds and securities which affect its capacity to compete, on the open market, for additional equity and debt capital are ordinarily material considerations in fixing rates. But these factors are of little moment where the applicant has available at all times a fund provided by its parent company from which it may borrow at will for needed improvements or enlargements. What it has to pay for its borrowings from this fund is of more importance. These are some of the "other facts" the statute requires the Commission to consider. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Depreciation Deductions.—For rate-making purposes a public utility is allowed to deduct annually as an operating expense so much of its capital investment as is actually consumed during the current year in rendering the service required of it. But the cost represents the amount of the investment, and it is the actual cost, not theretofore recouped by depreciation deductions, that must constitute the base for this allowance. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Broadly speaking, depreciation is the loss not restored by current maintenance which is due to all the factors causing the ultimate retirement of the property. While property remains in the plant, the estimated depreciation rate is applied to the book cost and the resulting amounts are charged currently as expenses of operation. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

In establishing rates a public utility is entitled to deduct each year as an operating expense only such depreciation as represents the investment currently consumed and not provided against by maintenance. Thus the integrity of the investment is maintained, and this is all the utility has a right to demand. The rate should be fixed, as near as may be, so that it will extend over the usable life of the property being depreciated. Otherwise the allowance will be unjust either to the utility or to the public. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Same—Current Rather than Cost Value of Capital Investment. — An instruction that the current rather than the cost value of capital investment shall be used as the basis for estimating depreciation allowances is incorrect. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

The rate of depreciation allowed by the federal government for income tax purposes is not necessarily the proper rate to be allowed for rate-making purposes. Indeed, for rate-making purposes it would ordinarily be excessive, especially in respect to buildings and like permanent improvements. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Using Property Which Has Been Fully Depreciated for Other Purposes. — It would be unfair to a utility not to take into consideration the present fair value of property now in use but which has been fully depreciated for other purposes. On the other hand, if the rate of depreciation allowed for rate-making purposes is in excess of the investment currently consumed, over and above maintenance costs, it is unfair to the public, for then the company is permitted to recover annually a part of its investment which is not currently consumed. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

The Utilities Commission is not compelled to provide a 6% rate of return to a public utility. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Nor is its former allowance of a rate of return res judicata barring the Commission from fixing a lesser rate in a subsequent proceeding. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

A schedule of rates fixed by the Commission under the standard prescribed by the legislature is binding upon the interested parties and the courts, provided it is within the bounds of reason. State v. State, 239 N. C. 333, 80 S. E. (2d) 133 (1954).

Word "Maximum" Explained. — The word "maximum," used in an order of the Commission for fixing the rates of charges allowed to a petitioning public service corporation, was not intended to mean that a descending rate therefrom was to be allowed under the contract set up by the customers or users, but to distinguish it from the word "minimum," which also was used in reference to the subject. State v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N. C. 17, 116 S. E. 178 (1923).

§ 62-125. Hearing before Utilities Commission upon request for change of rates, etc.—Whenever there shall be filed with the Utilities Commission any schedule stating a change in any new individual or joint rate, fare, charge, or classification for the transportation of passengers or property by a public carrier or carriers by railroad, or express, or highway, or water, or any rule, regulation, or practice affecting such rate, fare, or charge, or the value of the service thereunder, the Commission is hereby authorized and empowered upon complaint of any interested party or upon its own initiative at once and, if it so orders, without answer or formal pleading by the interested carrier or carriers, but upon reasonable notice, to enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such rate, fare, or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, and pending such hearing and the decision thereon the Commission, by filing with such schedule and delivering to the carrier or carriers affected thereby a statement in writing and its reasons for such suspension, may suspend the operation of such schedule and defer the use of such rate, fare, or charge, or such rule, regulation, or practice, for a period of ninety days, and if the proceeding has not been concluded and a final order made within such period, the Commission may, from time to time, extend the period of suspension by order, but not for a longer period in the aggregate than one hundred and eighty days beyond the time when it would otherwise go into effect; and after hearing, whether completed before or after the rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice goes into effect, the Commission may make such order with reference thereto as would be proper in a proceeding instituted after it had become effective. If the proceeding has not been concluded and an order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change of rate, fare, or charge, or classification, rule, regulation, or practice, may go into effect at the end of such period. At any hearing involving a rate, fare, charge, or classification, changed or sought to be changed, or involving a rule, regulation, or practice, resulting in a change, the burden of proof shall be upon the carrier to show that the changed rate, fare, charge, or classification, or rule, regulation, or practice, or the proposed changed rate, fare, charge, or classification, or the proposed rule, regulation, or practice, is just and reasonable. (1939, c. 365, s. 3; 1941, c. 97; 1945, c. 725.)

Editor's Note.—The 1945 amendment substituted near the beginning of the section the words "a change" for the words "an increase" and made similar changes in the last sentence.

Original Complainant.—A utility which files application for authority to amend its rate schedule and complains that its rates are insufficient to provide reasonable and necessary revenue is the original complainant in the proceeding. State v. Martel Mills Corp., 232 N. C. 690, 62 S. E. (2d) 80 (1950).

Deferred Use of New Rates Pending Investigation.—After rates for certain intrastate shipments have been duly established by the Utilities Commission and defendant seeks to increase such rates by filing tariff schedules to that effect, whereupon the Commission, in a proceeding to which defendant was a party, by order of postponement, which was not objected to, deferred use of the new increased rates, pending investigation, and also directed that the rates previously fixed should not be changed by subsequent tariffs or schedules until this investigation and suspension proceeding had been disposed of, continuing the investigation from time to time at the request of defendant, such action of the Commission is binding on the defendant. However, defendant should be given a reasonable time to comply with the order before penalties may be invoked. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

§ 62-126. Notice required for change in rates, etc.—No change shall be made in any rate, fare, charge, or classification, nor shall any change be made in any rule, regulation, or practice, which has been published and filed by any of the transportation companies named in the preceding section, except upon not less than thirty days' notice to the Commission and the public: Provided, that the Commission may, in its discretion, and for good cause shown, authorize the publication and filing of changed rates, fares, charges, or classification, or rules, regulations, or practices, upon less than thirty days' notice. (1939, c. 365, s. 4; 1941, c. 97; 1945, c. 725.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1945 amendment notice was required only where there was an increase in rates.

Requirement as to Notice Implemented by Rule of Commission.—The requirement of this section that the thirty days' notice of an increase in rates to be given the Utilities Commission properly may be implemented by rule of the Commission requiring that the notice be in writing in triplicate. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

The Utilities Commission's rules of practice and procedure, promulgated under legislative authority, require a defendant, if it desires the vacation or modification of a previous order, to file a written notice of intention to make changes resulting in increases, which would seem to implement the requirements of this section that thirty days' notice of an increase be given the Commission. State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

§ 62-127. Revision of rates.—The Commission shall from time to time, and as often as circumstances may require, change and revise or cause to be changed or revised any schedules of rates fixed by the Commission, or allowed to be charged by any carrier of freight, passengers, or express, or by any telegraph or telephone company. The powers of the Commission, under this section, shall be exercised with respect to railroad freight and passenger rates under the limitations prescribed by article 8 of this chapter and article 12 of the chapter entitled Railroads and Other Carriers. (1899, c. 164, s. 7; Rev., s. 1106; C. S., s. 1071; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—As to limitation of powers of Commission over railroad passenger rates, see § 60-93.

Limitation on Rate Fixing Authority.—Article 8 herein referred to limits the authority of the Commission as to increasing the maximum rate for freight carriers. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 187 N. C. 424, 121 S. E. 767 (1924).

Joint Rate between Lumber Railroad and Connecting Carrier.—When a lumber railroad is of standard gauge and of sufficient equipment and extensiveness to affect the interest of the public, the Commission may make a valid order establishing a joint rate of transportation in the same cars between it and a connecting common carrier by rail to points beyond the initial road. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 187 N. C. 424, 121 S. E. 767 (1924).

§ 62-128. Long and short hauls.—It shall be unlawful for any common carrier to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like kind of property under substantially similar circumstances and conditions for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer distance; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this chapter to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance: Provided, however, that upon application to the Commission, such common carrier may in special cases be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property; and the Commission may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carrier may be relieved from the operation of this section: Provided, that nothing in this chapter contained shall be taken as in any manner abridging or controlling the rates of freight charged by any railroad in this State for conveying freight which comes from or goes beyond the boundaries of the State and on which freight less than local rates on any railroad carrying the same are charged by such railroads. (1899, c. 164, s. 14; Rev., s. 1107; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 9; 1915, c. 17, s. 1; C. S., s. 1072; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-129. Contracts as to rates.—All contracts and agreements between railroad companies as to rates of freight and passenger tariffs shall be submitted to the Commission for inspection and correction, that it may be seen whether or not they are a violation of law or the rules and regulations of said Commission, and all arrangements and agreements whatever as to the division of earnings of any kind by competing railroad companies shall be submitted to the Commission for inspection and approval insofar as they affect the rules and regulations made by the Commission to secure to all persons doing business with such companies just and reasonable rates of freight and passenger tariffs, and the Commission may make such rules and regulations as to such contracts and agreements as may then be deemed necessary and proper, and any such agreements not approved by the Commission, or by virtue of which rates shall be charged exceeding the rates fixed for freight and passengers, shall be deemed, held and taken to be violations of this chapter and shall be illegal and void. (1899, c. 164, s. 6; Rev., s. 1108; C. S., s. 1073; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-130. Rates to be published.—All carriers shall, whenever required by the Commission, file with it a schedule of their rates of charges for freight and passengers, and the Commission is authorized and required to publish the rates, or a summary thereof, in some convenient form for the information of the public, and quarterly thereafter the changes made in such schedules, if it deems it advisable. (1899, c. 164, s. 7; Rev., s. 1109; 1907, c. 217, s. 5; C. S., s. 1074; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-131. Interstate commerce.—The Utilities Commission, or other body charged by law with the supervision and regulation of intrastate rates, is authorized and empowered upon its own investigation to bring such cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission, or other body of the national government supervising and regulating the interstate freight rates, rules and practices, as in its opinion may be necessary to secure for the receivers and shippers of freight in this State such just and reasonable schedule of freight rates as in its opinion may be necessary; and is authorized to maintain before the courts of this State, or the United States, such action as in its opinion may be necessary for the enforcement of just and reasonable schedules of freight rates. In the performance of this duty the said Commission shall receive upon application the services of the Attorney General of the State to represent it before the Interstate Commerce Commission or the courts of this State or the United States. (1899, c. 164, s. 14; Rev., s. 1110; 1907, c. 469, s. 5; C. S., s. 1075; 1929, c. 235; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Editor's Note.—The 1929 amendment rewrote this section.

Effect of Private Agreements.—The rates of transportation allowed carriers of freight are established by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the State Corporation Commission, which may not be affected by any agreement to the contrary between the carriers or their agents or employees and the shipper; and, notwithstanding such agreement, the carrier may demand and enforce the rates established by law. Southern R. Co. v. Latham, 176 N. C. 417, 97 S. E. 234 (1918).

§ 62-132. Schedule of rates to be evidence.—The schedule of rates fixed by statute or under this article shall, in suits brought against any company wherein is involved the charges of any company for the transportation of any passenger or freight or cars or unjust discrimination in relation thereto, be taken in all courts as prima facie evidence that the rates therein fixed are just and reasonable rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight and cars upon the railroads. All such schedules shall be received and held in all suits as prima facie evidence of the schedules of the Commission without further proof than the production of the schedules desired to be used as evidence, with a certificate of the clerk of the Commission that the same is a true copy of the schedule prepared or approved by it for the railroad company or corporation therein named. (1899, c. 164, s. 7; Rev., s. 1112; C. S., s. 1077; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Stated in Tilley v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 162 N. C. 37, 77 S. E. 994 (1913).

§ 62-133. Commission entitled to free carriage.—The Commission and its clerks shall be transported free of charge over all railroads and transportation lines which are under the supervision of the Commission; and when traveling on official business, they may take with them experts or other agents whose services they may deem temporarily of public importance. (Rev., s. 1105; C. S., s. 1069; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-134. Free carriage.—Nothing in this chapter shall prevent or prohibit:

- (1) The carriage, storage, or handling of property free or at reduced rates for the United States, State or municipal governments, or for charitable or educational purposes; or for any corporation or association incorporated for the preservation and adornment of any historic spot, or to the employees or officers of such company or association while traveling in the performance of their duties, provided they shall not travel further than ten miles one way on any one trip free of charge or to or from fairs or exhibitions for exhibitions thereat.
- (2) The free carriage of destitute or homeless persons transported by charitable societies, and the necessary agents employed in such transportation; or the free transportation of persons traveling in the interest of orphan asylums or homes for the aged or infirm, or any department thereof, or traveling secretaries of Railroad Young Men's Christian Associations, or ex-Confederate soldiers attending annual reunions.

- (3) The use of passes for journeys wholly within this State which have been or may be issued for interstate journeys under the authority of the United States Interstate Commerce Commission.
- (4) The issuance of mileage, excursion or commutation passenger tickets.
- (5) Common carriers from giving reduced rates to ministers of religion, or to municipal governments for the transportation of indigent persons, or to inmates of national homes or States homes for disabled volunteer soldiers, and of soldiers' and sailors' orphan homes, including those about to enter and those returning home after discharge, under arrangements with the boards of managers of said homes.
- (6) Common carriers from giving free carriage to their own officers and employees and members of their families, or furloughed, pensioned, and superannuated employees, persons who have become disabled or infirm in the service of such common carrier, and the remains of a person killed in the employment of a common carrier, and employees traveling for the purpose of entering the service of such common carrier, and the families of those persons named; also the families of persons killed, and the widows during widowhood, and minor children during minority of persons who died while in the service of such common carrier.
- (7) The principal officers of any common carrier from exchanging passes, franks or tickets with other common carriers for their officers or employees, and members of their families.
- (8) Transportation companies from contracting with newspapers for advertising space in exchange for transportation over their lines to such an extent as may be agreed upon between the parties for said consideration.
- (9) Transportation companies, if they so desire, from furnishing transportation to such agricultural extension and demonstration workers as are engaged in work in the field in efforts to increase production on the farm and to improve the farm home, when such workers are actually engaged in the performance of duties requiring travel.
- (10) Any common carrier that is operating under lease a railroad in this State, in which the State owns a majority of the capital stock, from giving free carriage, according to the contract of lease, to the officers and their families and the committees of the lessor owning such leased railroad, nor prevent such operating common carrier from issuing annually free transportation to ex-presidents of such lessor owning companies and their families in compliance with the contract of lease entered into by them or according to and for such period of time as may have been prescribed by any bylaw of the lessor which was in force at the time such lease was made. (1899, c. 164, s. 22; c. 642; 1901, c. 652; c. 679, s. 2; 1905, c. 312; Rev., s. 1105; 1911, cc. 49, 148; 1913, c. 100; 1915, c. 215; 1917, cc. 56, 160; C. S., s. 1070.)

Cross References.—As to free transportation by motor carriers, see § 62-121.69. As to accepting or giving free transportation illegally, see § 60-92.

Unlawful Transportation.—The transportation, by a common carrier, of any person except of the classes specified without charge, is unlawful, the offense being the actual free transportation and not the issuance of the free pass. State v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 1052, 30 S. E. 133 (1898).

A gratuitous passenger is not in pari delicto with the common carrier. McNeill v. Railroad Co., 135 N. C. 682, 47 S. E. 765 (1904).

Injury While Riding on Pass Illegally Issued.—The rights, privileges and protection attaching to the relation of the passenger are imposed by law upon common carriers upon consideration of the public policy, independent of contract, and arise from the nature of their public employment. Hence, one injured while riding on a pass illegally issued may recover from the railroad. McNeill v. Railroad Co., 135 N. C. 682, 47 S. E. 765 (1904).

Construction of Penal Statute.—In construing a penal statute prohibiting discrimination between passengers, the construction placed on it by common carriers generally, and by private individuals and officials, will not be considered. State v. Southern R. Co., 122 N. C. 1052, 30 S. E. 133 (1898).

ARTICLE 8.

Railroad Freight Rates.

§ 62-135. Charging or receiving greater rates forbidden.—No railroad company being engaged in the business of common carrier of property within the State of North Carolina shall charge, take, or receive any sum for carrying property entirely within the State of North Carolina between initial and terminal points which are within the State, greater than the amount specified by the Utilities Commission for the respective classes and commodities, and for the respective distances except in the manner and to the extent and on the conditions mentioned in this article. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 5; C. S., s. 1082.)

Cross References.—As to penalty for discrimination in rates, see §§ 60-5 and 60-6. As to charge in excess of printed tariffs, see § 60-110. As to charging higher rates after rates re-established upon reconsideration, see § 62-123.

§ 62-136. Application for investigation of rates; appeal; rates pending appeal.—The Utilities Commission, or such commission or body upon which jurisdiction and power may be conferred to fix rates for the transportation of property to be charged by the railroads doing business in North Carolina, may, and upon request of any person directly interested in such charge shall, under rules and regulations fixed by law or prescribed and established by such Commission, hear evidence as to the reasonableness of the maximum rates fixed by law, or by such Commission or body, and establish such rates, in the manner prescribed and allowed by law, as may, in the judgment of said Commission, be just, subject to the limitations fixed by this article; and from such an order of such Commission any shipper or railroad company directly affected by such order may, under rules and regulations prescribed by law, or under reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by such Commission, appeal to the superior court of North Carolina: Provided, that pending the appeal of any railroad company from an order of such Commission fixing maximum rates, there shall be no suspension of such order of such Commission.

All incorporated cities and towns in the State are deemed to be directly interested in the rates charged for the transportation of property by railroads and other common carriers operating into and out of such municipalities and in any discrimination in such rates and services as between municipalities; and, their welfare being thereby affected, any incorporated city or town in North Carolina is authorized and empowered to file its petition with the Utilities Commission for investigation and determination of all matters affecting rates for the transportation of property by railroads and other common carriers to or from such municipality, and also to prevent or remove any unfair or unreasonable difference or discrimination, to its prejudice or disadvantage, between the rates or the services at, in or to another such municipality within the State; and such municipality shall have the right, as a party in interest, to be represented and appear before, and to appeal from any decision which may be rendered therein by the Utilities Commission, in the manner provided by § 62-20. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 7; C. S., s. 1083; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1937, c. 401; 1941, c. 97.)

Editor's Note.—The 1937 amendment added the second paragraph of this section.

Commission to Investigate Rates upon Request.—This section expressly confers authority upon the Commission to investigate rates upon the request of any person directly interested. It permits that body to hear evidence as to the reasonableness of the maximum rates fixed by law or by the Commission, and to establish such rates as it may deem just. The authority conferred upon the Commission is plenary. Corporation Comm. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 187 N. C. 424, 121 S. E. 767 (1924).

§ 62-137. Rates between points connected by more than one route.—When there is more than one railroad route between given points in North Carolina, and freight is routed or directed by the shipper or consignee to be transported over a shorter route, and it is in fact shipped by a longer route between such points, the rate fixed by law or by such Commission for the shorter route shall be the maximum rate which may be charged, and it shall be unlawful to charge more for transporting such freight over the longer route than the lawful charge for the shorter route. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 11; C. S., s. 1085; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Under this section mileage is calculated over the shortest rail line between the point of origin and the point of delivery. State v. Norfolk Southern Ry. Co., 249 N. C. 447, 106 S. E. (2d) 681 (1959).

§ 62-138. Action for double amount of overcharge; penalty.—Any railroad company in the State of North Carolina which shall charge a rate for transporting property wholly within the State of North Carolina, between terminals within the State, in excess of that fixed by law or by the lawful order of such Commission or board, and which shall omit to refund the same within thirty days after written notice and demand of the person or corporation overcharged, shall be liable to an action for double the amount of such overcharge, and to a penalty of ten dollars per day for each day's delay after thirty days from such notice, in case of shipments of less than carload lots, and to a penalty of twenty dollars per day in the event of shipments of carload lots. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 12; C. S., s. 1086; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross References.—See note to § 60-110. As to overcharge and penalty therefor, see also §§ 60-110 and 62-148.

§ 62-139. Double penalty.—Any such railroad company so doing business in the State of North Carolina that shall knowingly charge a rate in excess of that fixed by law or by such board or Commission, for shipments wholly within the State, shall be subject to a penalty and shall pay double the penalty above prescribed. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 13; C. S., s. 1087; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 60-110.

§ 62-140. Persons to receive penalties; accounts and receipts kept separate.—The penalties herein provided for shall be payable to the person or corporation who pays the freight or against whom the freight is charged, and such person or corporation may sue such railroad company and recover such penalty and the amount of such overcharge. The Commission shall require the railroad companies, and may require all other such public service companies as are mentioned in this chapter, to keep separate the cost of doing interstate and intrastate business in North Carolina, and to keep separate receipts from the respective classes, and to direct the manner of keeping the accounts, and to enforce, by penalties, contempt, or otherwise as the law provides, obedience to its orders. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 14; C. S., s. 1088; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

ARTICLE 9.

Penalties and Actions.

§ 62-141. For violating rules.—If any railroad company doing business in this State by its agents or employees shall be guilty of the violation of the rules and regulations provided and prescribed by the Commission, and if after due notice of such violation given to the principal officer thereof, if residing in the State, or, if not, to the manager or superintendent or secretary or treasurer if residing in the State, or, if not, then to any local agent thereof, ample and full recompense for the wrong or injury done thereby to any person or corporation as may be directed by the Commission shall not be made within thirty days from the time of such notice, such company shall incur a penalty for each offense of five hundred dollars. (1899, c. 164, s. 15; Rev., s. 1086; C. S., s. 1105; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Section Is Valid.—The section giving authority to the Commissioner after notice for failure of any railroad company to make full and ample recompense for the violation of such rules and regulations to proceed in the courts, to enforce the penalties to be prescribed herein for such violation is valid without providing in detail the methods of procedure. Atlantic Exp. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., Railroad, 111 N. C. 463, 16 S. E. 393 (1892).

Duty to Enforce Rules and Orders.—While the Commission has no power to render a judgment for the payment of money, etc., it is their duty to enforce their rules and orders, and the power to do so is given by this section. State v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 483, 61 S. E. 271 (1908).

Right to Investigate Complaint.—Under this section the Commission had the undoubted right and it was eminently proper for them to institute an inquiry and inform themselves as to whether a complaint was grounded in truth. They were not required to institute an action for the penalty simply because a citizen feeling himself aggrieved had made a complaint before them. They did right to investigate the matter for themselves, but the end of such investigation was simply to afford them information and enable them to act intelligently in determining whether they would sue for the penalty of $500 given by the statute. State v. Southern R. Co., 147 N. C. 483, 61 S. E. 271 (1908).

§ 62-142. Refusing to obey orders of Commission.—Any railroad or other corporation which violates any of the provisions of this chapter or refuses to conform to or obey any rule, order or regulation of the Utilities Commission shall, in addition to the other penalties prescribed in this chapter, forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action to be instituted in the Superior Court of Wake County, in the name of the State of North Carolina on the relation of the Utilities Commission; and each day such company continues to violate any provision of this chapter or continues to refuse to obey or perform any rule, order or regulation prescribed by the Utilities Commission shall be a separate offense. (1899, c. 164, s. 23; Rev., s. 1087; C. S., s. 1106; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Cited in State v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 224 N. C. 283, 29 S. E. (2d) 912 (1944).

§ 62-143. Discrimination between connecting lines.—All common carriers subject to the provisions of this chapter shall according to their powers afford all reasonable, proper and equal facilities for the interchange of traffic between their respective lines and for the forwarding and delivering of passengers and freights to and from their several lines and those connecting therewith, and shall not discriminate in their rates, routes and charges against such connecting lines, and shall be required to make as close connection as practicable for the convenience of the traveling public. And common carriers shall obey all rules and regulations made by the Commission relating to trackage. (1899, c. 164, s. 21; Rev., s. 1088; C. S., s. 1107; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1935, c. 258; 1941, c. 97.)

Cross Reference.—See § 60-7.

Editor's Note.—The 1935 amendment inserted the word "routes" making the section applicable to discrimination as to routes.

As to the practice of specifying in published tariffs particular routes formed with connecting carriers, see 13 N. C. Law Rev. 364.

Declaratory of Common Law.—A similar section in the act creating the former Railroad Commission was held, in Atlantic Exp. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 111 N. C. 463, 16 S. E. 393 (1892), to be merely declaratory of the common law, and not to enlarge its scope.

May Require Trains to Make Connection.—The Commission has power to require a railroad company to have a train arrive at a certain station on its road at a certain schedule time, so as to connect with the train of another company. Corp. Comm. v. Railroad, 137 N. C. 1, 49 S. E. 191 (1904).

§ 62-144. Failure to make reports.—Every officer, agent or employee of any railroad company, express or telegraphic company, who shall willfully neglect or refuse to make and furnish any report required by the Commission for the purposes of this chapter, or who shall willfully or unlawfully hinder, delay or obstruct the Commission in the discharge of the duties hereby imposed upon it, shall forfeit and pay five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action in the name of the State. A delay of ten days to make and furnish such report shall raise the presumption that the same was willful. (1899, c. 164, s. 18; Rev., s. 1089; C. S., s. 1108; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

Construction of Similar Statute.—In construing a statute (Code of 1883, s. 1960) which provided a similar penalty against corporations for failure to make the returns into court, in State v. Marietta, etc., Railroad, 108 N. C. 24, 12 S. E. 1041

(1891), it was held that the penalty could only be recovered in an action brought by the State. A private relator could not maintain the action.

§ 62-145. Offenses by railroads, not otherwise provided for.—If any railroad company shall violate the provisions of this chapter not otherwise provided for, such railroad company shall incur a penalty of one hundred dollars for each violation, to be recovered by the party injured. (1899, c. 164, s. 17; Rev., s. 1090; C. S., s. 1109.)

Action Ex Contractu.—It would seem that an action for the penalty hereunder is an action ex contractu for breach of an implied contract to perform a statutory duty. State v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 437, 36 S. E. 14 (1900).

Construction of Penal Statute.—The rule that a penal statute must be strictly construed, means no more than that the court, in ascertaining the meaning of such a statute, cannot go beyond the plain meaning of the words and phraseology employed in search of an intention not certainly implied by them, and when there is reasonable doubt as to the meaning of the words used in the statute, the court will not give them such an interpretation as to impose the penalty, nor will the purpose of the statute be extended by implication, so as to embrace cases not clearly within its meaning. Hines v. Wilmington, etc., Railroad, 95 N. C. 434 (1886).

§ 62-146. Violation of rules, causing injury; damages; limitation.—If any railroad company doing business in this State shall, in violation of any rule or regulation provided by the Commission, inflict any wrong or injury on any person, such person shall have a right of action and recovery for such wrong or injury, in any court having jurisdiction thereof, and the damages to be recovered shall be the same as in an action between individuals, except that in case of willful violation of law such railroad company shall be liable to exemplary damages: Provided, that all suits under this chapter shall be brought within one year after the commission of the alleged wrong or injury. (1899, c. 164, s. 16; Rev., s. 1091; C. S., s. 1110; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-147. Action for penalty; when and how brought.—An action for the recovery of any penalty under this chapter shall be instituted in the county in which the penalty has been incurred, and shall be instituted in the name of the State of North Carolina on the relation of the Utilities Commission against the company incurring such penalty; or whenever such action is upon the complaint of any injured person or corporation, it shall be instituted in the name of the State of North Carolina on the relation of the Utilities Commission upon the complaint of such injured person or corporation against the company incurring such penalty. Such action shall be instituted and prosecuted by the Attorney General or the solicitor of the judicial district in which such penalty has been incurred. The procedure in such actions, the right of appeal and the rules regulating appeals shall be the same as are now provided by law in other civil actions. (1899, c. 164, s. 15; Rev., s. 1092; C. S., s. 1111; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97.)

§ 62-148. Remedies, cumulative.—The remedies given by this chapter to persons injured shall be regarded as cumulative to the remedies now given or which may be given by law against railroad corporations, and this chapter shall not be construed as repealing any statute giving such remedies. (1899, c. 164, s. 26; Rev., s. 1093; C. S., s. 1112.)

§ 62-149. Notice served by certified mail.—Wherever in this chapter the North Carolina Utilities Commission is required, permitted or allowed to give or serve any notice by registered mail or by registered mail with return receipt requested, or wherever in this chapter any person is required to give any notice to the North Carolina Utilities Commission or to any other person, firm or corporation by registered mail or by registered mail with return receipt requested, all such notices shall be deemed to be proper, valid and lawful if given or served by certified mail or by certified mail with return receipt requested. ARTICLE 1.

Municipal Airports.

§ 63-1. Definition.—Airport or landing field for the purposes of this article is defined as any plot of land or water formally set aside and designated as a place where aircraft may land or take off. (1929, c. 87, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For other provisions as to municipal airports, see §§ 63-48 to 63-58. Cited in Goswick v. Durham, 211 N. C. 687, 191 S. E. 728 (1937).

§ 63-2. Cities and towns authorized to establish airports.—The governing body of any city or town in this State is hereby authorized to acquire, establish, construct, own, control, lease, equip, improve, maintain, operate, and regulate airports or landing fields for the use of airplanes and other aircraft, either within or without the limits of such cities and towns and may use for such purpose or purposes any property suitable therefor that is now or may at any time hereafter be owned or controlled by such city or town. (1929, c. 87, s. 2.)

Cross References. — See §§ 63-48 to 63-58. As to power of eminent domain, see §§ 63-5 and 63-6. As to airport zoning regulations, see § 63-31 et seq. Cited in Turner v. Reidsville, 224 N. C. 42, 29 S. E. (2d) 211 (1944).

§ 63-3. Counties authorized to establish airports.—The governing body of any county in this State is hereby authorized to acquire, establish, construct, own, control, lease, equip, improve, maintain, operate, and regulate airports or landing fields for the use of airplanes and other aircraft within or without the limits of such counties, and may use for such purpose or purposes any property suitable therefor that is now or may at any time hereafter be owned or controlled by such county. (1929, c. 87, s. 3.)

§ 63-4. Joint airports established by cities and towns and counties.—The governing bodies of any city, town and county in this State are hereby authorized to jointly acquire, establish, construct, own, control, lease, equip, improve, maintain, operate, and regulate airports or landing fields for the use of airplanes and other aircraft within or without the limits of such cities, towns and counties, and may use for such purpose or purposes any property suitable therefor that is now or may at any time hereafter be jointly owned or controlled by such city, town and county. (1929, c. 87, s. 4.)

The legislature has power to create a municipal authority to construct, maintain and operate an airport, and county and cities located therein may lawfully join in the construction, maintenance and operation of an airport if each of them is benefited by it. Greensboro-High Point Airport Authority v. Johnson, 226 N. C. 1, 36 S. E. (2d) 803 (1946).

Section Not Repealed or Modified by Supplementary Acts. — This section, permitting municipalities to act jointly in the creation of an airport authority, is not repealed or modified or its authority in any way affected by the supplementary public-local and private acts under which the purpose and policy of this section are carried out in the creation of a single airport authority to serve three municipalities. Greensboro-High Point Airport Authority v. Johnson, 226 N. C. 1, 36 S. E. (2d) 803 (1946).

§ 63-5. Airport declared public purpose; eminent domain.—Any lands acquired, owned, controlled, or occupied by such cities, towns, and/or counties, for the purposes enumerated in §§ 63-2, 63-3 and 63-4, shall and are hereby declared to be acquired, owned, controlled and occupied for a public purpose, and such cities, towns and/or counties shall have the right to acquire property for such purpose or purposes under the power of eminent domain as and for a public purpose. (1929, c. 87, s. 5.)

§ 63-6. Acquisition of sites; appropriation of moneys.—Private property needed by a city, town and/or county for an airport or landing field may be acquired by gift or devise or shall be acquired by purchase if the city, town and/or county is or are able to agree with the owners on the terms thereof, and otherwise by condemnation, in the manner provided by law under which the city, town and/or county is or are authorized to acquire real property for public purposes, other than street purposes, or if there be no such law, in the manner provided for and subject to the provisions of the condemnation law. The purchase price, or award for property acquired for an airport or landing field may be paid for by appropriation of moneys available therefor, or wholly or partly from the proceeds of the sale of bonds of the city, town and/or county, as the governing body and/or bodies of such city, town and/or county shall determine. (1929, c. 87, s. 6.)

Cross References. — As to proceedings for eminent domain, see § 40-11 et seq. As to zoning regulations and acquisition of air rights, see §§ 63-31, 63-32 and 63-36. Cited in Matson v. United States, 171 F. Supp. 283 (1959).

§ 63-7. Airports already established declared public charge; regulations and fees for use of.—The governing body or bodies of a city, town and/or county which has or have established an airport or landing field, and acquired, leased, or set apart real property for such purpose, may construct, improve, equip, maintain, and operate the same. The expenses of such construction, improvement, maintenance, and operation shall be a city, town and/or county charge as the case may be. The governing body or bodies of a city, town and/or county may adopt regulations and establish fees or charges for the use of such airport or landing field. (1929, c. 87, s. 7.)

§ 63-8. Appropriations.—The governing body or bodies of a city, town and/or county to which this article is applicable, having power to appropriate, individually or jointly, money therein, are hereby authorized to annually appropriate and cause to be raised by taxation in such city, town and/or county or to use from the net proceeds derived from the operation, by such city, town or county, of any public utility a sum sufficient to carry out the provisions of this article in such proportion and upon such pro-rata basis as may be determined upon by a joint board to be appointed by and from the governing body or bodies of the city, town and/or the county or individually as the case may be. Provided, nothing herein shall be construed to permit the governing bodies of any county, city or town to issue bonds under the provisions of this article without a vote of the people. (1929, c. 87, s. 8.)

§ 63-9. Partial invalidity.—If any part or parts of this article shall be held to be unconstitutional, such unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity of the remaining parts of this article. The General Assembly expressly declares that it would have passed the remaining parts of this article, if it had known that such part or parts thereof would be declared unconstitutional. (1929, c. 87, s. 9.)

ARTICLE 2.

State Regulation.

§ 63-10. Definition of terms.—In this article “aircraft” includes balloon, airplane, hydroplane, and every other vehicle used for navigation through the air. A hydroplane while at rest on water and while being operated on or immediately above water shall be governed by the rules regarding water navigation; while being operated through the air otherwise than immediately above water, it shall be treated as an aircraft.

“Airman” and “aeronaut” includes aviator, pilot, balloonist, and every other person having any part in the operation of aircraft while in flight.

“Passenger” includes any person riding in an aircraft but having no part in its operation. (1929, c. 190, s. 1.)

§ 63-11. Sovereignty in space.—Sovereignty in space above the lands and waters of this State is declared to rest in the State, except where granted to and assumed by the United States. (1929, c. 190, s. 2.)

Stated in United States v. Causby, 328 U. S. 256, 66 S. Ct. 1062, 90 L. Ed. 1206 (1946). Cited in Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N. C. 747, 107 S. E. (2d) 757 (1959).

§ 63-12. Ownership of space.—The ownership of the space above the lands and waters of this State is declared to be vested in the several owners of the surface beneath, subject to the right of flight described in § 63-13. (1929, c. 190, s. 3.)

Flight of Planes over Property as Taking.—Holding that flights by planes at low levels over plaintiff's land deprived plaintiffs of use and enjoyment of their property and constituted "taking" entitling them to compensation was not inconsistent with this section. United States v. Causby, 328 U. S. 256, 66 S. Ct. 1062, 90 L. Ed. 1206 (1946), discussed in 25 N. C. Law Rev. 64.

Cited in Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N. C. 747, 107 S. E. (2d) 757 (1959).

§ 63-13. Lawfulness of flight.—Flight in aircraft over the lands and waters of this State is lawful, unless at such a low altitude as to interfere with the then existing use to which the land or water, or the space over the land or water, is put by the owner, or unless so conducted as to be injurious to the health and happiness, or imminently dangerous to persons or property lawfully on the land or water beneath. The landing of an aircraft on the lands or waters of another, without his consent, is unlawful, except in the case of a forced landing. For damages caused by a forced landing, however, the owner or lessee of the aircraft or the aeronaut shall be liable as provided in § 63-14. (1929, c. 190, s. 4; 1947, c. 1001, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — See 8 N. C. Law Rev. 281.

The 1947 amendment inserted in the first sentence the words "injurious to the health and happiness, or."

Section 63-14, referred to at the end of this section, has been repealed.

An aircraft can lawfully fly over the land and water of this State, unless done in violation of the provisions of this section. Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N. C. 747, 107 S. E. (2d) 757 (1959).

And flying a plane over the land or pond of another does not constitute a trespass unless the flight is at such low altitude as to interfere with the then existing use to which the land or water, or the space over the land or water, is put by the owner, or unless so conducted as to be injurious to the health and happiness, or imminently dangerous to persons or property below. Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N. C. 747, 107 S. E. (2d) 757 (1959).

The burden of proof is upon the party asserting a violation of this section, and evidence merely that the plane engaged in crop spraying operations was seen flying over the land of plaintiff at an altitude of 100 feet or more, without evidence that such flight disturbed any person on the ground or was imminently dangerous to persons or property, is insufficient to make out a cause of action for trespass. Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N. C. 747, 107 S. E. (2d) 757 (1959).

Stated in United States v. Causby, 328 U. S. 256, 66 S. Ct. 1062, 90 L. Ed. 1206 (1946).

Cited in Barrier v. Troutman, 231 N. C. 47, 55 S. E. (2d) 923 (1949).

§ 63-14: Repealed by Session Laws 1947, c. 1069, s. 3.

§ 63-15. Collision of aircraft.—The liability of the owner of one aircraft to the owner of another aircraft, or to aeronauts or passengers on either aircraft, for damages caused by collision on land or in the air shall be determined by the rules of law applicable to torts on land. (1929, c. 190, s. 6.)

§ 63-16. Jurisdiction over crimes and torts.—All crimes, torts, and other wrongs committed by or against an aeronaut or passenger while in flight over this State shall be governed by the laws of this State; and the question whether damage occasioned by or to an aircraft while in flight over this State constitutes a tort, crime or other wrong by or against the owner of such aircraft shall be determined by the laws of this State. (1929, c. 190, s. 7.)

Cross References.—See § 63-24. As to criminal jurisdiction generally, see §§ 7-63 and 7-64.

§ 63-17. Jurisdiction over contracts.—All contractual and other legal relations entered into by aeronauts or passengers while in flight over this State shall have the same effect as if entered into on the land or water beneath. (1929, c. 190, s. 8.)

§ 63-18. Dangerous flying a misdemeanor.—Any aeronaut or passenger who, while in flight over a thickly inhabited area or over a public gathering within this State, shall engage in trick or acrobatic flying, or in any acrobatic feat, or shall except while in landing or taking off, fly at such a low level as to disturb the public peace or the rights of private persons in the enjoyment of their homes, or injure the health, or endanger the persons or property on the surface beneath, or drop any object except loose water or loose sand ballast, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. (1929, c. 190, s. 9; 1947, c. 1001, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1947 amendment struck out the words "endanger the persons" formerly appearing near the middle of the section and inserted in lieu thereof the words "disturb the public peace or the rights of private persons in the enjoyment of their homes, or injure the health, or endanger the persons or property."

Cited in Barrier v. Troutman, 231 N. C. 47, 55 S. E. (2d) 923 (1949).

§ 63-19: Repealed by Session Laws 1943, c. 543.

§ 63-20. Qualifications of operator; federal license.—The public safety requiring, and the advantages of uniform regulation making it desirable, in the interest of aeronautical progress, that a person engaging within this State in operating aircraft, in any form of aerial navigation for which a license to operate aircraft issued by the United States government would then be required if such aerial navigation were interstate, should have the qualifications necessary for obtaining and holding such a license, it shall be unlawful for any person to engage in operating aircraft within the State, in any such form of aerial navigation, unless he have such federal license. (1929, c. 190, s. 11.)

§ 63-21. Possession and exhibition of license certificate.—The certificate of the license, herein required, shall be kept in the personal possession of the licensee when he is operating aircraft within this State and must be presented for inspection upon the demand of any passenger, any peace officer of this State, or any official, manager or person in charge of any airport or landing field in this State upon which he shall land. (1929, c. 190, s. 12.)

§ 63-22. Aircraft; construction, design and airworthiness; federal registration.—The public safety requiring, and the advantages of uniform regulation making it desirable, in the interest of aeronautical progress, that aircraft to be operated within this State should conform, with respect to design, construction and airworthiness, to standards then prescribed by the United States government with respect to aerial navigation of aircraft subject to its jurisdiction, it shall be unlawful for any person to operate an aircraft within this State unless it is registered pursuant to the lawful rules and regulations of the United States government then in force, if the circumstances of such aerial navigation are of a character that such registration would be required in the case of interstate aerial navigation. (1929, c. 190, s. 13.)

§ 63-23. Penalties.—A person who violates any provision of §§ 63-20, 63-21 or 63-22 of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00), or by imprisonment for not more than ninety days, or both; provided, however, that acts or omissions made unlawful by §§ 63-20, 63-21 or 63-22 of this article shall not be deemed to include any act or omission which violates the laws or lawful regulations of the United States. (1929, c. 190, s. 14.)

§ 63-24. Jurisdiction of State over crimes and torts retained.—Provided that this article shall not be construed as a waiver of jurisdiction of the courts of the State of North Carolina over any crime or tort committed within the State of North Carolina, and provided, further, that the General Assembly of North Carolina may at any time amend, regulate or control any of the powers which may be assumed by the United States Department of Commerce under this article. (1929, c. 190, s. 15.)

ARTICLE 3.

Stealing, Tampering with, or Operating Aircraft While Intoxicated.

§ 63-25. Taking of aircraft made crime of larceny.—Any person who, under circumstances not constituting larceny shall, without the consent of the owner, take, use or operate or cause to be taken, used or operated, an airplane or other aircraft or its equipment, for his own profit, purpose or pleasure, steals the same, is guilty of larceny and is punishable accordingly. (1929, c. 90, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to larceny generally, see § 14-70 et seq. As to punishment, see § 14-2.

§ 63-26. Tampering with aircraft made crime.—Any person who shall, without the consent of the owner, go upon or enter, tamper with or in any way damage or injure any airplane or other aircraft shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or imprisonment of not more than sixty days, or both, in the discretion of the court and it shall not be necessary to conviction hereunder to show willful or malicious intent. (1929, c. 90, s. 2.)

§ 63-27. Operation of aircraft while intoxicated made crime.—Any person who operates an airplane or other aircraft, whether on the ground or in the air or on water while in an intoxicated condition, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by fine not to exceed one hundred dollars or by imprisonment not to exceed sixty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1929, c. 90, s. 3; 1953, c. 675, s. 8.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment inserted the words "or on water" in line three.

§ 63-28. Infliction of serious bodily injury by operation of aircraft while intoxicated made felony.—Any person who, operating an airplane or other aircraft whether on the ground or in the air or on water while in an intoxicated condition, does serious bodily injury to another shall be guilty of a felony. (1929, c. 90, s. 4; 1953, c. 675, s. 9.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment inserted the words "or on water" in line two.

ARTICLE 4.

Model Airport Zoning Act.

§ 63-29. Definitions. — As used in this article, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Airport" means any area of land or water designed for the landing and taking off of aircraft and utilized or to be utilized by the public as a point of arrival or departure by air.

- (2) "Airport hazard" means any overhead power line, not constructed, operated and maintained according to standard engineering practices in general use, which interferes with radio communication between a publicly owned airport and aircraft approaching or leaving same, or any structure or tree which obstructs the aerial approaches of such an airport or is otherwise hazardous to its use for landing or taking off.
- (3) "Person" means any individual, firm, co-partnership, corporation, company, association, joint stock association or body politic, and includes any trustee, receiver, assignee, or other similar representative thereof.
- (4) "Political subdivision" means any municipality, city, town, county, or any municipal corporation, authority or commission created by the General Assembly of North Carolina for the purpose of owning, operating or regulating any airport or airports.
- (5) "Structure" means any object constructed or installed by man, including, but without limitation, buildings, towers, smokestacks, and overhead transmission lines.
- (6) "Tree" means any object of natural growth. (1941, c. 250, s. 1; 1945, c. 300.)

Cross Reference.—See note under § 63-31. "Political subdivision" means any municipality, city, county, or town."

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1945 amendment subdivision (4) read as follows: For comment on this article, see 19 N. C. Law Rev. 548.

§ 63-30. Airport hazards not in public interest.—It is hereby found and declared that an airport hazard endangers the lives and property of users of the airport and of occupants of land in its vicinity, and also, if of the obstruction type, in effect reduces the size of the area available for the landing, taking off and maneuvering of aircraft, thus tending to destroy or impair the utility of the airport and the public investment therein, and is therefore not in the interest of the public health, public safety, or general welfare. (1941, c. 250, s. 2.)

Cited in Barrier v. Troutman, 231 N. C. 47, 55 S. E. (2d) 923 (1949).

§ 63-31. Adoption of airport zoning regulations.—(a) Every political subdivision may adopt, administer, and enforce, under the police power and in the manner and upon the conditions hereinafter prescribed, airport zoning regulations, which regulations shall divide the area surrounding any airport within the jurisdiction of said political subdivision into zones, and, within such zones, specify the land uses permitted, and regulate and restrict the height to which structures and trees may be erected or allowed to grow. In adopting or revising any such zoning regulations, the political subdivision shall consider, among other things, the character of the flying operations expected to be conducted at the airport, the nature of the terrain, the height of existing structures and trees above the level of the airport, the possibility of lowering or removing existing obstructions, and the views of the agency of the federal government charged with the fostering of civil aeronautics, as to the aerial approaches necessary to safe flying operations at the airport.

(b) In the event that a political subdivision has adopted, or hereafter adopts, a general zoning ordinance regulating, among other things, the height of buildings, any airport zoning regulations adopted for the same area or portion thereof under this article, may be incorporated in and made a part of such general zoning regulations, and be administered and enforced in connection therewith, but such general zoning regulations shall not limit the effectiveness or scope of the regulations adopted under this article.

(c) Any two or more political subdivisions may agree, by ordinance duly adopted, to create a joint board and delegate to said board the powers herein conferred to promulgate, administer and enforce airport zoning regulations to protect the aerial approaches of any airport located within the corporate limits of any one or more of said political subdivisions. Such joint board shall have as members two representatives appointed by the chief executive officer of each political subdivision participating in the creation of said board and a chairman elected by a majority of the members so appointed.

(d) The jurisdiction of each political subdivision is hereby extended to the promulgating, adopting, administering and enforcement of airport zoning regulations to protect the approaches of any airport or landing field which is owned by said political subdivision, although the area affected by the zoning regulations may be located outside the corporate limits of said political subdivision. In case of conflict with any airport zoning or other regulations promulgated by any political subdivision, the regulations adopted pursuant to this section shall prevail.

(e) All airport zoning regulations adopted under this article shall be reasonable, and none shall require the removal, lowering, or other change or alteration of any structure or tree not conforming to the regulations when adopted or amended, or otherwise interfere with the continuance of any nonconforming use, except as provided in § 63-32, subsection (a). (1941, c. 250, s. 3; 1945, cc. 300, 635.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1945, c. 300 purported to amend only subdivision (4) of § 63-29 and then proceeded to set out the amended subdivision and an additional subdivision, which has been inserted above in place of former subdivision (4), now subsection (d), of this section. The amendatory act made no reference to this section and only by reading it in conjunction with the amended act can it be surmised that an amendment of subsection (d) of this section was intended. Therefore, there is some doubt as to whether the subdivision has been amended. The act inserted in the first sentence of subsection (d) the words "adopting" and "or landing field." It also substituted in said sentence the words "although the area affected by the zoning regulations may be located" for the words "but located."

§ 63-32. Permits, new structures, etc., and variances. — (a) Permits.—Where advisable to facilitate the enforcement of zoning regulations adopted pursuant to this article, a system may be established by any political subdivision for the granting of permits to establish or construct new structures and other uses and to replace existing structures and other uses or make substantial changes therein or substantial repairs thereof. In any event, before any nonconforming structure or tree may be replaced, substantially altered or repaired, rebuilt, allowed to grow higher, or replanted, a permit must be secured from the administrative agency authorized to administer and enforce the regulations, authorizing such replacement, change or repair. No such permit shall be granted that would allow the structure or tree in question to be made higher or become a greater hazard to air navigation than it was when the applicable regulation was adopted; and whenever the administrative agency determines that a nonconforming structure or tree has been abandoned or more than eighty per cent torn down, destroyed, deteriorated, or decayed: (i) no permit shall be granted that would allow said structure or tree to exceed the applicable height limit or otherwise deviate from the zoning regulations; and (ii) whether application is made for a permit under this paragraph or not, the said agency may by appropriate action compel the owner of the nonconforming structure or tree, at his own expense, to lower, remove, reconstruct, or equip such object as may be necessary to conform to the regulations or, if the owner of the nonconforming structure or tree shall neglect or refuse to comply with such order for ten days after notice thereof, the said agency may proceed to have the object so lowered, removed, reconstructed, or equipped. Except as indicated, all applications for permits for replacement, change or repair of nonconforming uses shall be granted.

(b) Variances.—Any person desiring to erect any structures, or increase the height of any structure, or permit the growth of any tree, or otherwise use his property, in violation of airport zoning regulations adopted under this article, may apply to the board of appeals, as provided in § 63-33, subsection (c), for a variance from the zoning regulations in question. Such variances shall be allowed where a literal application or enforcement of the regulations would result in practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship and the relief granted would not be contrary to the public interest but do substantial justice and be in accordance with the spirit of the regulations and this article.

(c) Obstruction Marking and Lighting.—In granting any permit or variance under this section, the administrative agency or board of appeals may, if it deems such action advisable to effectuate the purposes of this article and reasonable in the circumstances, so condition such permit or variance as to require the owner of the structure or tree in question to permit the political subdivision, at its own expense, to install, operate, and maintain suitable obstruction markers and obstruction lights thereon. (1941, c. 250, s. 4.)

§ 63-33. Procedure.—(a) Adoption of Zoning Regulations.—No airport zoning regulations shall be adopted, amended, or changed under this article except by action of the legislative body of the political subdivision in question, or the joint board provided for in § 63-31, subsection (c), after a public hearing in relation thereto, at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least fifteen days' notice of the hearing shall be published in an official paper, or a paper of general circulation, in the political subdivision or subdivisions in which the airport is located.

(b) Administration of Zoning Regulations—Administrative Agency.—The legislative body of any political subdivision adopting airport zoning regulations under this article may delegate the duty of administering and enforcing such regulations to any administrative agency under its jurisdiction, or may create a new administrative agency to perform such duty, but such administrative agency shall not be or include any member of the board of appeals. The duties of such administrative agency shall include that of hearing and deciding all permits under § 63-32, subsection (a), but such agency shall not have or exercise any of the powers delegated to the board of appeals.

(c) Administration of Airport Zoning Regulations—Board of Appeals.—Airport zoning regulations adopted under this article shall provide for a board of appeals to have and exercise the following powers:

- (1) To hear and decide appeals from any order, requirement, decision, or determination made by the administrative agency in the enforcement of this article or of any ordinance adopted pursuant thereto;
- (2) To hear and decide special exceptions to the terms of the ordinance upon which such board may be required to pass under such ordinance;
- (3) To hear and decide specific variances under § 63-32, subsection (b).

Where a zoning board of appeals or adjustment already exists, it may be appointed as the board of appeals. Otherwise, the board of appeals shall consist of five members, each to be appointed for a term of three years and to be removable for cause by the appointing authority upon written charges and after public hearing.

The board shall adopt rules in accordance with the provisions of any ordinance adopted under this article. Meetings of the board shall be held at the call of the chairman and at such other times as the board may determine. The chairman, or in his absence the acting chairman, may administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. All meetings of the board shall be public. The board shall keep minutes of its proceedings, showing the vote of each member upon each question, or, if absent or failing to vote, indicating such fact, and shall keep records of its examinations and other official actions, all of which shall immediately be filed in the office of the board and shall be a public record.

Appeals to the board may be taken by any person aggrieved, or by any officer, department, board, or bureau of the political subdivision affected, by any decision of the administrative agency. An appeal must be taken within a reasonable time, as provided by the rules of the board, by filing with the agency from which the appeal is taken and with the board, a notice of appeal specifying the grounds thereof. The agency from which the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the agency from which the appeal is taken certifies to the board, after the notice of appeal has been filed with it, that by reason of the facts stated in the certificate a stay would, in its opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property. In such case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may be granted by the board or by a court of record on application on notice to the agency from which the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

The board shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal, give public notice and due notice to the parties in interest, and decide the same within a reasonable time. Upon the hearing any party may appear in person or by agent or by attorney.

The board may, in conformity with the provisions of this article, reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or modify, the order, requirement, decision, or determination appealed from and may make such order, requirement, decision or determination as ought to be made, and to that end shall have all the powers of the administrative agency from which the appeal is taken.

The concurring vote of a majority of the members of the board shall be sufficient to reverse any order, requirement, decision, or determination of the administrative agency, or to decide in favor of the applicant on any matter upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance, or to effect any variation in such ordinance. (1941, c. 250, s. 5.)

§ 63-34. Judicial review.—(a) Any person aggrieved by any decision of the board of appeals, or any taxpayer, or any officer, department, board, or bureau of the political subdivision, may present to the superior court a verified petition setting forth that the decision is illegal, in whole or in part, and specifying the grounds of the illegality. Such petition shall be presented to the court within thirty days after the decision is filed in the office of the board.

(b) Upon presentation of such petition the court may allow a writ of certiorari directed to the board of appeals to review such decision of the board. The allowance of the writ shall not stay proceedings upon the decision appealed from, but the court may, on application, on notice to the board and on due cause shown, grant a restraining order.

(c) The board of appeals shall not be required to return the original papers acted upon by it, but it shall be sufficient to return certified or sworn copies thereof or of such portions thereof as may be called for by the writ. The return shall concisely set forth such other facts as may be pertinent and material to show the grounds of the decision appealed from and shall be verified.

(d) The court shall have exclusive jurisdiction to affirm, modify, or set aside the decision brought up for review, in whole or in part, and if need be, to order further proceedings by the board of appeals. The findings of fact by the board, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be accepted by the court as conclusive, and no objection to a decision of the board shall be considered by the court unless such objection shall have been urged before the board, or, if it was not so urged, unless there were reasonable grounds for failure to do so.

(e) Costs shall not be allowed against the board of appeals unless it appears to the court that it acted with gross negligence, in bad faith, or with malice, in making the decision appealed from. (1941, c. 250, s. 6.)

§ 63-35. Enforcement and remedies.—Each violation of this article or of any regulations, order, or ruling promulgated or made pursuant to this article, shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not more than fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisonment for not more than thirty days or by both such fine and imprisonment, and each day a violation continues to exist shall constitute a separate offense. In addition, the political subdivision within which the property is located may institute in any court of competent jurisdiction, an action to prevent, restrain, correct or abate any violation of this article, or of airport zoning regulations adopted under this article, or of any order or ruling made in connection with their administration or enforcement, and the court shall adjudge to the plaintiff such relief, by way of injunction (which may be mandatory) or otherwise, as may be proper under all the facts and circumstances of the case, in order fully to effectuate the purposes of this article and of the regulations adopted and orders and rulings made pursuant thereto. (1941, c. 250, s. 7.)

§ 63-36. Acquisition of air rights.—In any case in which:

- (1) It is desired to remove, lower, or otherwise terminate a nonconforming use; or
- (2) The approach protection necessary cannot, because of constitutional limitations, be provided by airport zoning regulations under this article; or
- (3) It appears advisable that the necessary approach protection be provided by acquisition of property rights rather than by airport zoning regulations, the political subdivision within which the property or nonconforming use is located or the political subdivision owning the airport or served by it may acquire, in the manner provided by the law under which municipalities are authorized to acquire real property for public purposes, such an air right, easement, or other estate or interest in the property or nonconforming use in question as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of this article.

If any political subdivision, or if any board or administrative agency appointed or selected by a political subdivision, shall adopt, administer or enforce any airport zoning regulations which results in the taking of, or in any other injury or damage to any existing structure, such political subdivision shall be liable therefor in damages to the owner or owners of any such property and the liability of the political subdivision shall include any expense which the owners of such property are required to incur in complying with any such zoning regulations. (1941, c. 250, s. 8.)

§ 63-37. Short title.—This article shall be known and may be cited as the "Model Airport Zoning Act." (1941, c. 250, s. 10.)

ARTICLE 5.

Aeronautics Commission; Federal Regulations.

§§ 63-38 to 63-44: Repealed by Session Laws 1949, c. 865, s. 1.

§ 63-45. Enforcement of article.—It shall be the duty of every State, county and municipal officer charged with the enforcement of State and municipal laws to enforce and assist in the enforcement of this article. (1945, c. 198, s. 8.)

§ 63-46: Repealed by Session Laws 1949, c. 865, s. 2.

§ 63-47. Enforcement of regulations of Civil Aeronautics Administration.—In the general public interest and safety, the safety of persons receiving instructions concerning or operating, using or traveling in aircraft, and of persons and property on the ground, and in the interest of aeronautical progress, the public officers of the State, counties and cities shall enforce the rules and regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. (1945, c. 198, s. 10.)

ARTICLE 6.

Public Airports and Related Facilities.

§ 63-48. Definitions; singular and plural. — (a) Definitions.—For the purpose of this article the following words, terms, and phrases shall have the meanings herein given, unless otherwise specifically defined, or unless another intention clearly appears, or the context otherwise requires:

- (1) "Aeronautics" means transportation by aircraft; the operation, construction, repair, or maintenance of aircraft, aircraft power plants and accessories, including the repair, packing, and maintenance of parachutes; the design, establishment, construction, extension, operation, improvement, repair, or maintenance of airports, restricted landing areas, or other air navigation facilities, and air instruction.
- (2) "Aeronautics instructor" means any individual engaged in giving instruction or offering to give instruction in aeronautics, either in flying or ground subjects, or both, for hire or reward, without advertising such occupation, without calling his facilities an "air school" or anything equivalent thereto, and without employing or using other instructors. It does not include any instructor in any public school or university of this State, or any institution of higher learning duly accredited and approved for carrying on collegiate work, while engaged in his duties as such instructor.
- (3) "Aircraft" means any contrivance now known, or hereafter invented, used or designed for navigation of or flight in the air.
- (4) "Air instruction" means the imparting of aeronautical information by any aeronautics instructor or in or by any air school or flying club.
- (5) "Airman" means any individual who engages, as the person in command, or as pilot, mechanic, or member of the crew, in the navigation of aircraft while underway and (excepting individuals employed outside the United States, any individual employed by a manufacturer of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances to perform duties as inspector or mechanic in connection therewith, and any individual performing inspection or mechanical duties in connection with aircraft owned or operated by him) any individual who is directly in charge of the inspection, maintenance, overhauling, or repair of aircraft engines, propellers, or appliances; and any individual who serves in the capacity of aircraft dispatcher or air traffic control tower operator.
- (6) "Air navigation" means the operation or navigation of aircraft in the air space over this State, or upon any airport or restricted landing area within this State.
- (7) "Air navigation facility" means any facility other than one owned or controlled by the federal government, used in, available for use in, or designed for use in aid of air navigation, including airports, restricted landing areas, and any structures, mechanisms, lights, beacons, marks, communicating systems, or other instrumentalities or devices used or useful as an aid, or constituting an advantage or convenience to the safe taking off, navigation, and landing of aircraft, or the safe and efficient operation or maintenance of an airport or restricted landing area, and any combination of any or all of such facilities.
- (8) "Airport" means any area of land or water, except a restricted landing area, which is designed for the landing and take off of aircraft, whether or not facilities are provided for the shelter, servicing, or repair of aircraft, or for receiving or discharging passengers or cargo, and all appurtenant areas used or suitable for airport buildings or other airport facilities, and all appurtenant rights of way, whether heretofore or hereafter established.

- (9) "Airport hazard" means any structure, object of natural growth, or use of land, which obstructs the air space required for the flight of aircraft in landing or taking off at any airport or restricted landing area or is otherwise hazardous to such landing or taking off.
- (10) "Airport protection privileges" means easements through, or other interests in, air space over land or water, interests in airport hazards outside the boundaries of airports or restricted landing areas, and other protection privileges, the acquisition or control of which is necessary to insure safe approaches to the landing areas of airports and restricted landing areas and the safe and efficient operation thereof.
- (11) "Air school" means any person engaged in giving or offering to give instruction in aeronautics, either in flying or ground subjects, or both, for or without hire or reward, and advertising, representing, or holding himself out as giving or offering to give such instruction. It does not include any public school or university of this State, or any institution of higher learning duly accredited and approved for carrying on collegiate work.
- (12) "Civil aircraft" means any aircraft other than a public aircraft.
- (13) "Flying club" means any person other than an individual which, neither for profit nor reward, owns, leases, or uses one or more aircraft for the purpose of instruction or pleasure, or both.
- (14) "Municipality" means any county, city, or town of this State, and any other political subdivision, public corporation, authority, or district in this State, which is or may be authorized by law to acquire, establish, construct, maintain, improve, and operate airports and other air navigation facilities.
- (15) "Navigable air space" means air space above the minimum altitudes of flight prescribed by the laws of this State, or by regulations of the Commission consistent therewith.
- (16) "Operation of aircraft" or "operation aircraft" means the use of aircraft for the purpose of air navigation and includes the navigation or piloting of aircraft. Any person who causes or authorizes the operation of aircraft, whether with or without the right of legal control (in the capacity of owner, lessee, or otherwise) of the aircraft, shall be deemed to be engaged in the operation of aircraft within the meaning of the statutes of this State.
- (17) "Person" means any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, company, association, joint stock association, or body politic; and includes any trustee, receiver, assignee, or other similar representative thereof.
- (18) "Public aircraft" means an aircraft used exclusively in the service of any government or of any political subdivision thereof, including the government of any state, territory, or possession of the United States, or the District of Columbia, but not including any government owned aircraft engaged in carrying persons or property for commercial purposes.
- (19) "Restricted area" means any area of land, water, or both, which is used or is made available for the landing and take off of aircraft, the use of which shall, except in case of emergency, be only as provided from time to time by the Commission.
- (20) "State" or "this State" means the State of North Carolina.
- (21) "State airway" means a route in the navigable air space over and above the lands or water of this State designated by the Commission as a route suitable for air navigation.

(b) Singular and Plural.—The singular shall include the plural, and the plural the singular. (1945, c. 490, s. 1; 1949, c. 865, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — For discussion of the 1945 statute enacting this and the following sections, see 23 N. C. Law Rev. 327. The 1949 act repealed a provision referring to the North Carolina Aeronautics Commission.

§ 63-49. Municipalities may acquire airports.—(a) Every municipality is hereby authorized, through its governing body, to acquire property, real or personal, for the purpose of establishing, constructing, and enlarging airports and other air navigation facilities and to acquire, establish, construct, enlarge, improve, maintain, equip, operate, and regulate such airports and other air navigation facilities and structures and other property incidental to their operation, either within or without the territorial limits of such municipality and within or without this State; to make, prior to any such acquisition, investigations, surveys, and plans; to construct, install, and maintain airport facilities for the servicing of aircraft and for the comfort and accommodation of air travelers; and to purchase and sell equipment and supplies as an incident to the operation of its airport properties. It may not, however, acquire or take over any airport or other air navigation facility owned or controlled by any other municipality of the State without the consent of such municipality. It may use for airport purposes any available property that is now or may at any time hereafter be owned or controlled by it. Such air navigation facilities as are established on airports shall be supplementary to and co-ordinated in design and operation with those established and operated by the federal government.

(b) All property needed by a municipality for an airport or restricted landing area, or for the enlargement of either, or for other airport purposes, may be acquired by purchase, gift, devise, lease or other means if such municipality is able to agree with the owners of said property on the terms of such acquisition, and otherwise by condemnation in the manner provided by the law under which such municipality is authorized to acquire like property for public purposes, full power to exercise the right of eminent domain for such purposes being hereby granted every municipality both within and without its territorial limits. If but one municipality is involved and the charter of such municipality prescribes a method of acquiring property by condemnation, proceedings shall be had pursuant to the provisions of such charter and may be followed as to property within or without its territorial limits. The fact that the property needed has been acquired by any agency or corporation authorized to institute condemnation proceedings under power of eminent domain shall not prevent its acquisition by the municipality by the exercise of the right of eminent domain herein conferred when such right is exercised on the approach zone or on the airport site. For the purpose of making surveys and examinations relative to any condemnation proceedings, it shall be lawful to enter upon any land, doing no unnecessary damage. Provided that municipalities building airports after the ratification of this article shall not acquire by condemnation any property of any corporation engaged in the operation of a railroad or railroad bridge in this State if such property is used in the business of such corporation.

(c) Where necessary, in order to provide unobstructed air space for the landing and taking off of aircraft utilizing airports or restricted landing areas acquired or operated under the provisions of this article, every municipality is authorized to acquire, in the same manner as is provided for the acquisition of property for airport purposes, easements through or other interests in air space over land or water, interests in airport hazards, or airport hazards outside the boundaries of the airports or restricted landing areas and such other airport protection privileges as are necessary to insure safe approaches to the landing areas of said airports or restricted landing areas and the safe and efficient operation thereof. It is also hereby authorized to acquire, in the same manner, land for the removal of airport hazards and the right of easement for a term of years or perpetually, to place or maintain suitable marks for the daytime marking and suitable lights for the nighttime marking of airport hazards, including the right of ingress or egress to or from such airport hazards for the purpose of maintaining and repairing such lights and marks. This authority shall not be so construed as to limit any right, power or authority to zone property adjacent to airports and restricted landing areas under the provisions of any law of this State.

(d) It shall be unlawful for anyone to build, rebuild, create, or cause to be built, rebuilt, or created any object, or plant, cause to be planted, or permit to grow higher any tree or trees or other vegetation which shall encroach upon any airport protection privileges acquired pursuant to the provisions of this section. Any such encroachment is declared to be a public nuisance and may be abated in the manner prescribed by law for the abatement of public nuisances, or the municipality in charge of the airport or restricted landing area for which airport protection privileges have been acquired as in this section provided, may go upon the land of others and remove any such encroachment without being liable for damages in so doing. (1945, c. 490, s. 2; c. 810.)

Cross Reference. — For other provisions 810 added the proviso at the end of sub-as to municipal airports, see §§ 63-1 to 63-9. section (b).

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1945, c.

§ 63-50. Airports a public purpose.—The acquisition of any lands for the purpose of establishing airports or other air navigation facilities; the acquisition of airport protection privileges; the acquisition, establishment, construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment and operation of airports and other air navigation facilities, and the exercise of any other powers herein granted to municipalities, are hereby declared to be public, governmental and municipal functions exercised for a public purpose and matters of public necessity, and such lands and other property, easements and privileges acquired and used by such municipalities in the manner and for the purposes enumerated in this article, shall and are hereby declared to be acquired and used for public, governmental and municipal purposes and as matter of public necessity. (1945, c. 490, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — For brief comment on this section, see 28 N. C. Law Rev. 332.

A municipality is liable for torts committed by it in the operation and maintenance of a municipal airport, since such activity is a proprietary or corporate function of the municipality, and this section, declaring such activity to be a public, governmental and municipal function exercised for a public purpose, does not purport to exempt it from tort liability. Rhodes v. Asheville, 230 N. C. 134, 52 S. E. (2d) 371 (1949).

§ 63-51. Prior acquisition of airport property validated.—Any acquisition of property within or without the limits of any municipality for airports and other air navigation facilities or of airport protection privileges heretofore made by any such municipality in any manner, together with the conveyance and acceptance thereof, is hereby legalized and made valid and effective. (1945, c. 490, s. 4.)

§ 63-52. Airport property and income exempt from taxation.—No municipality shall be required to pay any tax to the State of North Carolina or any other municipality on account of property, either real or personal, now owned or hereafter acquired for aeronautical purposes. (1945, c. 490, s. 5.)

§ 63-53. Specific powers of municipalities operating airports.—In addition to the general powers in this article conferred, and without limitation thereof, a municipality which has established or may hereafter establish airports, restricted landing areas or other air navigation facilities, or which has acquired or set apart or may hereafter acquire or set apart real property for such purpose or purposes is hereby authorized:

- (1) To vest authority for the construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, operation and regulation thereof in an officer, a board or body of such municipality by ordinance or resolution which shall prescribe the powers and duties of such officer, board or body. The expense of such construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, operation and regulation shall be a responsibility of the municipality.

- (2) To adopt and amend all needful rules, regulations and ordinances for the management, government and use of any properties under its control whether within or without the territorial limits of the municipality; to appoint airport guards or police with full police powers; to fix by ordinance, penalties for the violation of said ordinances and enforce said penalties in the same manner in which penalties prescribed by other ordinances of the municipality are enforced. It may also adopt ordinances designed to safeguard the public upon or beyond the limits of private airports or landing strips within such municipality or its police jurisdiction against the perils and hazards of instrumentalities used in aerial navigation. Such ordinances shall be published as provided by general law or the charter of the municipality for the publication of similar ordinances. They must conform to and be consistent with the laws of this State and shall be kept in conformity, as nearly as may be, with the then current federal legislation governing aeronautics and the regulations duly promulgated thereunder and rules and standards issued from time to time pursuant thereto.
- (3) To lease such airports or other air navigation facilities, or real property acquired or set apart for airport purposes, to private parties, to any municipal or State government or to the national government, or to any department of either thereof, for operation; to lease to private parties, to any municipal or State government or to the national government, or any department of either thereof, for operation or use consistent with the purpose of this article, space, area, improvements, or equipment on such airports; to sell any part of such airports, other air navigation facilities or real property to any municipal government, or to the United States or to any department or instrumentality thereof, for aeronautical purposes or purposes incidental thereto, and to confer the privileges of concessions of supplying upon its airports goods, commodities, things, services and facilities; provided that in each case in so doing the public is not deprived of its rightful, equal, and uniform use thereof.
- (4) To sell or lease any property, real or personal, acquired for airport purposes and belonging to the municipality, which, in the judgment of its governing body, may not be required for aeronautic purposes in accordance with the laws of this State or the provisions of the charter of the municipality governing the sale or leasing of similar municipally owned property.
- (5) To determine the charge or rental for the use of any properties under its control and the charges for any services or accommodations and the terms and conditions under which such properties may be used, provided that in all cases the public is not deprived of its rightful, equal, and uniform use of such property. Charges shall be reasonable and uniform for the same class of service and established with due regard to the property and improvements used and the expense of operation to the municipality. The municipality shall have and may enforce liens as provided by law for liens and enforcement thereof, for repairs to or improvement or storage or care of any personal property, to enforce the payment of any such charges.

- (6) To exercise all powers necessarily incidental to the exercise of the general and special powers herein created. (1945, c. 490, s. 6.)

Local Modification. — City of Laurinburg, as to subdivision (4): 1957, c. 1210; town of Maxton, as to subdivision (4): 1957, c. 1210.

Where a night watchman at a municipal airport kills a person on the property in the nighttime, the question of whether he was acting in his capacity as servant or agent of the airport, or in his capacity as a police officer, is a question of fact to be determined by the jury on an issue raised by proper pleadings. Rhodes v. Asheville, 230 N. C. 134, 52 S. E. (2d) 371 (1949).

§ 63-54. Federal aid. — (a) A municipality is authorized to accept, receive, and receipt for federal moneys and other moneys, either public or private, for the acquisition, construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, or operation of airports and other air navigation facilities and sites therefor, and to comply with the provisions of the laws of the United States and any rules and regulations made thereunder for the expenditures of federal moneys upon such airports and other air navigation facilities.

(b) The governing body of any municipality is authorized, if necessary, to comply with any federal law or regulation of any agency thereof to designate the North Carolina Aeronautics Commission as its agent to accept, receive, and receipt for federal moneys in its behalf for airport purposes. Such moneys as are paid over by the United States government shall be paid over to said municipality under such terms and conditions as may be imposed by the United States government in making such grant.

(c) All contracts for the acquisition, construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, or operation of airports or other air navigation facilities made by the municipality shall be made pursuant to the laws of this State governing the making of like contracts, provided, however, that where such acquisition, construction, improvement, enlargement, maintenance, equipment or operation is financed wholly or partly with federal moneys the municipality may let contracts in the manner prescribed by the federal authorities, acting under the laws of the United States and any rules or regulations made thereunder notwithstanding any other State law to the contrary. (1945, c. 490, s. 7.)

Editor's Note. — The Commission referred to in subsection (b) has been abolished. See Session Laws 1949, c. 865, repealing §§ 63-38 to 63-44 and 63-46.

§ 63-55. Airports on public waters and reclaimed land. — (a) The powers herein granted to a municipality to establish and maintain airports shall include the power to establish and maintain such airports in, over, and upon any public waters of this State within the limits or jurisdiction of or bordering on the municipality, any submerged land under such public water, and any artificial or reclaimed land which before the artificial making or reclamation thereof constituted a portion of the submerged land under such public waters, and as well the power to construct and maintain terminal buildings, landing floats, causeways, roadways and bridges for approaches to or connecting with the airport, and landing floats and breakwaters for the protection of any such airport.

(b) All the other powers herein granted municipalities with reference to airports on land or granted to them with reference to such airports in, over, and upon public waters, submerged land under public waters, and artificial or reclaimed land. (1945, c. 490, s. 8.)

§ 63-56. Joint operation of airports. — (a) All powers, rights and authority granted to any municipality in this article may be exercised and enjoyed by two or more municipalities either within or without the territorial limits of either or any of said municipalities and within or without this State, or by any municipality acting jointly with any other municipality therein either within or without this State, provided the laws of such other state permit such joint action.

(b) Any two or more municipalities may enter into agreements with each other, duly authorized by ordinance or resolution, as may be appropriate, for joint action pursuant to the provisions of this section. Concurrent action by the governing bodies of the municipalities involved shall constitute joint action.

(c) Each such agreement shall specify its term; the proportionate interest which each municipality shall have in the property, facilities and privileges involved, and the proportion of preliminary costs, costs of acquisition, establishment, construction, enlargement, improvement and equipment, and of expenses of maintenance, operation and regulation to be borne by each, and make such other provisions as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section. It shall provide for amendments thereof and for conditions and methods of termination; for the disposition of all or any part of the property, facilities and privileges jointly owned if said property, facilities and privileges, or any part thereof, shall cease to be used for the purposes herein provided or if the agreement shall be terminated, and for the distribution of the proceeds received upon any such disposition, and of any funds or other property jointly owned and undisposed of, and the assumption or payment of any indebtedness arising from the joint venture which remains unpaid, upon any such disposition or upon a termination of the agreement.

(d) Municipalities acting jointly as herein authorized may create a board from the inhabitants of such municipalities for the purpose of acquiring property for establishing, constructing, enlarging, improving, maintaining, equipping, operating and regulating the airports and other air navigation facilities and airport protection privileges to be jointly acquired, controlled, and operated. Such board shall consist of members to be appointed by the governing body of each municipality involved, the number to be appointed by each to be provided for by the agreement for the joint venture. Each member shall serve for such time and upon such terms and as to compensation, if any, as may be provided for in the agreement.

(e) Each such board shall organize, select officers for terms to be fixed by the agreement, and adopt and from time to time amend rules of procedure.

(f) Such board may exercise, on behalf of the municipalities acting jointly by which it is appointed, all the powers of each of such municipalities granted by this article, except as herein provided, subject, however, to such limitations as may be contained in the agreement between such municipalities. Real property, airports, restricted landing areas, air protection privileges, or personal property costing in excess of a sum to be fixed by the joint agreement, may be acquired, and condemnation proceedings may be instituted, only by authority of the governing bodies of each of the municipalities involved. The total amount of expenditures to be made by the board for any purpose in any calendar year shall be determined by the municipalities involved by the approval by each. No real property and no airport, other air navigation facility, or air protection privilege, owned jointly, shall be disposed of by the board, by sale, or otherwise, except by authority of the appointed governing bodies, but the board may lease space, area or improvements and grant concessions on airports for aeronautical purposes or purposes incidental thereto.

(g) Each municipality is authorized and empowered to enact such ordinances as are provided for by this article, and to fix by such ordinances penalties for the violation thereof, which ordinances shall have the same force and effect within the municipality which enacted them, and on any property controlled by it, either separately or jointly with another municipality, or adjacent thereto, whether within or without the territorial limits of it, or either or any of them, as ordinances of the municipality involved, and may be enforced in such municipality in like manner as are its other ordinances.

(h) Condemnation proceedings may be instituted in the names of two or more municipalities jointly, and the property acquired by such joint condemnation proceedings shall be held by the municipalities as tenants in common, each municipality being entitled to a pro rata interest in said property as the value of its contribution to the acquisition of said property bears to the total cost of acquiring said property, and in the event one municipality desires to acquire property for expansion of or addition to the facilities, and the other or others do not elect to join in the acquisition of such property, such municipality may institute condemnation proceedings in its name individually, and all property now owned or hereafter acquired by a municipal corporation for additions to or expansions of aeronautical facilities operated jointly shall be and remain the sole property of the municipal corporation acquiring same.

(i) For the purpose of providing funds for necessary expenditures in carrying out the provisions of this section, a joint fund shall be created and maintained, into which each of the municipalities involved shall deposit its proportionate share as provided by the joint agreement, and into which shall be paid the revenues obtained from the ownership, control and operation of the airports and other air navigation facilities jointly controlled.

(j) All disbursements from such fund shall be made by order of the board, subject, however, to such limitations as shall be contained in the agreement between such municipalities.

(k) Specific performance of the provisions of any joint agreement entered into as provided for in this section may be enforced as against any party thereto by the other party or parties thereto.

(l) In the event any property is now held or may hereafter be acquired by two or more municipalities for aeronautical purposes, and such municipalities do not agree upon the terms of an agreement, as heretofore provided, and shall not agree to create a board as heretofore provided, then and in that event a board of not less than five nor more than seven members shall be created from the inhabitants of such municipalities, each municipality being entitled to appoint as nearly as possible the proportionate number of representatives on said board as the value of its contribution shall bear to the entire amount of money or property so held by such municipalities for aeronautical purposes. In determining the value of the contribution of any municipality, the value of any funds or property used for the development of said property or the building of facilities on said property shall be taken into consideration.

(m) The said board shall have all powers given by this article to boards created by agreements between municipalities, provided, however, that any funds appropriated by a municipality and turned over to the board for aeronautical purposes shall only be used for these purposes designated by the municipality furnishing such funds.

(n) The actions of such board shall be determined by a majority vote of the members thereof, and a majority of the members shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the board, and such boards so created shall have full control of all revenues received by reason of the airport or other aeronautical facilities, and shall have power to expend all sums so received for such aeronautical purposes as the board deems proper, and pay over any surplus to the municipalities in proportion to their respective interests.

(o) In the event the aeronautical facilities or any part thereof shall cease to be used for aeronautical purposes, such of the facilities as are jointly owned by two or more municipalities shall be sold, and each municipality shall receive its pro rata proportion of the sums realized from the sale of facilities jointly owned.

(p) In the event aeronautical facilities are now owned or hereafter acquired by two or more municipalities, and are operated under a board as hereinabove provided, and one or more of such municipalities deem it advisable to expand or enlarge the facilities or invest more money in such facilities, all of the municipalities then having representation on the board shall be entitled, if they so desire, to contribute their pro rata part of such additional investment and maintain their pro rata representation on said board, provided, however, that if one or more of the municipalities involved shall fail to contribute its or their proportionate part of such additional investment, the representation of such municipality on such board shall be readjusted, to the end that the representation of each municipality on said board shall represent as nearly as possible its pro rata contribution to the entire investment.

Provided further that where one municipality at the time of the passage of this article shall have invested more than one half of the total investment in a jointly owned airport, then, and in that event the minority owner or owners shall be allowed five years from the date of the passage of this article in which to pay over to the majority owner a sum sufficient to equalize the amount of ownership of the present minority owner or owners with the total ownership of the majority owner. Provided further that this article shall not be construed to amend or impair in any respect contracts or agreements in effect at the time of the adoption of this article. (1945, c. 490, s. 9.)

§ 63-57. Powers specifically granted to counties.—(a) The purposes of this article are specifically declared to be county purposes as well as generally public, governmental and municipal.

(b) The powers herein granted to all municipalities are specifically declared to be granted to counties in this State, any other statute to the contrary notwithstanding. (1945, c. 490, s. 10.)

Operation of Airport Is Proprietary Function. — In operating and maintaining an airport a county engages in a proprietary or corporate function, in the exercise of which it is subject to tort liability. Rhodes v. Asheville, 230 N. C. 134, 52 S. E. (2d) 371 (1949).

§ 63-58. Municipal jurisdiction exclusive.—Every airport and other air navigation facility controlled and operated by any municipality, or jointly controlled and operated pursuant to the provisions of this article, shall, subject to federal and State laws, rules, and regulations, be under the exclusive jurisdiction and control of the municipality or municipalities controlling and operating it, and no other municipality in which such airport or air navigation facility is located shall have any police jurisdiction of the same. (1945, c. 490, s. 11.)

ARTICLE 1.

Care of Rural Cemeteries.

§ 65-1. County commissioners to provide list of public and abandoned cemeteries.—It shall be the duty of the boards of county commissioners of the various counties in the State to prepare and keep on record in the office of the register of deeds a list of all public cemeteries in the counties outside the limits of incorporated towns and cities, and not established and maintained for the use of an incorporated town or city, together with the names and addresses of the persons in possession and control of the same. To such list shall be added a list of the public cemeteries in the rural districts of such counties which have been abandoned, and it shall be the duty of the boards of county commissioners to furnish to the division of publications in the office of the Secretary of State copies of the lists of such public and abandoned cemeteries, to the end that it may furnish to the boards, for the use of the persons in control of such cemeteries, suitable literature, suggesting methods of taking care of such places. (1917, c. 101, s. 1; C. S., s. 5019; 1939, c. 316.)

§ 65-2. Appropriations by county commissioners.—To encourage the persons in possession and control of the public cemeteries referred to in § 65-1 to take proper care of and to beautify such cemeteries, to mark distinctly their boundary line with evergreen hedges or rows of suitable trees, and otherwise to lay out the grounds in an orderly manner, the board of county commissioners of any county, upon being notified that two thirds of the expense necessary for so marking and beautifying any cemetery has been raised by the local governing body of the institution which owns the cemetery, and is actually in hand, is hereby required to appropriate from the general fund of the county one third of the expense necessary to pay for such work, the amount appropriated by the board of commissioners in no case to exceed fifteen dollars for each cemetery. (1917, c. 101, s. 2; C. S., s. 5020.)

§ 65-3. County commissioners to have control of abandoned cemeteries; trustees.—The county commissioners of the various counties are required to take possession and control of all abandoned public cemeteries in their respective counties, to see that the boundaries and lines are clearly laid out, defined, and marked, and to take proper steps to preserve them from encroachment, and they are hereby authorized to appropriate from the general fund of the county whatever sums may be necessary from time to time for the above purposes.

The board of county commissioners of the various counties may appoint a board of trustees not to exceed five in number and to serve at the will of the board, and may impose upon such trustees the duties required of the board of commissioners by this article; and such trustees may accept gifts and donations for the purpose of upkeep and beautification of such cemeteries. (1917, c. 101, s. 3; C. S., s. 5021; 1947, c. 236.)

As to condemnation of adjoining lands

ARTICLE 2.

Care of Confederate Cemetery.

§ 65-4. State Prison Department to furnish labor.—The State Prison Department is hereby authorized and directed to furnish at such time, or times, as may be convenient, such prisoner's labor as may be available, to properly care for the Confederate Cemetery situated in the city of Raleigh, such services to be rendered by the State's prisoners without compensation. (1927, c. 224, s. 1; 1933, c. 172; 1957, c. 349, s. 10.)

Editors' Note. — The 1957 amendment "State Highway and Public Works Commission" substituted "State Prison Department" for "mission."

ARTICLE 3.

Cemeteries for Inmates of County Homes.

§ 65-5. County commissioners may establish new cemeteries.—The boards of county commissioners of the various counties in the State are authorized and empowered to locate and establish new graveyards or cemeteries upon the lands of their respective counties for the burial of the inmates of the county homes. (1917, c. 151, s. 1; C. S., s. 5022.)

§ 65-6. Removal and reinterment of bodies. — Whenever the county commissioners have established new graveyards or cemeteries, they are authorized and empowered to remove to such graveyards or cemeteries all bodies of deceased inmates of the county homes. (1917, c. 151, s. 2; C. S., s. 5023.)

ARTICLE 4.

Trust Funds for the Care of Cemeteries.

§ 65-7. Money deposited with clerk of superior court.—For the maintenance and preservation of graves, burial plats, graveyards and cemeteries which may be neglected, any person, firm, or corporation may, by will or otherwise place in the hands of the clerk of the superior court of any county in the State where such grave or lot is located any sum of money not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two thousand dollars, the income from which is to be used for keeping in good condition any grave, burial plat, graveyard, or cemetery in the county in which the money is placed, with specific instructions as to the use of the fund. (1917, c. 155, s. 1; C. S., s. 5024.)

Local Modification. — Washington: 1957, c. 1126.

§ 65-8. Separate record of accounts to be kept.—It shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to keep a separate record for keeping account of the money deposited as above provided, to keep a perpetual account of the same therein, and to record therein the specific instructions about the use of the income on such money. He shall see that the income is spent according to such specific instructions, and shall make report of the same from year to year in the same manner as if it were guardian funds. (1917, c. 155, s. 1; C. S., s. 5025.)

§ 65-9. Funds to be kept perpetually.—All money placed in the office of the superior court clerk in accordance with this article shall be held perpetually, and no one shall have authority to withdraw or change the direction of the income on same. (1917, c. 155, s. 2; C. S., s. 5026.)

§ 65-10. Investment of funds.—Such money shall be invested in the same manner as is provided by law for the investment of other trust funds by the clerk of the superior court. (1917, c. 155, s. 3; C. S., s. 5027; 1943, c. 97, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment re-wrote this section.

§ 65-11. Clerk's bond and fees; substitution of bank or trust company as trustee.—The official bond of the clerk of the superior court shall be liable for all such sums as shall be paid over to him on account of the provisions of this article. The clerk shall receive for his services and responsibilities a commission of ten per cent on the net income each year of such money; and the fees or commissions so received by him under this article shall not be taken into consideration as a part of his salary.

In lieu of the provisions of the first paragraph of this section, the clerk of the superior court may, with the consent and approval of the sheriff and register of deeds, appoint any bank or trust company authorized to do business in this State as trustee for the funds authorized to be paid into his office by virtue of this article; provided, that no bank or trust company shall be appointed as such trustee unless such bank or trust company is authorized and licensed to act as fiduciary under the laws of this State.

Before any clerk shall turn over such funds to the trustee so appointed, he shall require that the trustee so named qualify before him as such trustee in the same way and manner and to the same extent as guardians are by law required to so qualify. After such trustee has qualified as herein provided, all such funds coming into its hands may be invested by it only in the securities set out in § 2-55 and the income therefrom invested for the purposes and in the manner heretofore set out in this article. All trustees appointed under the provisions of this article shall render and file in the office of the clerk of the superior court all reports that are now required by law of guardians. (1917, c. 155, ss. 3, 4; C. S., s. 5028; 1939, c. 18; 1943, c. 97, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1939 amendment added the second and third paragraphs. And the 1943 amendment rewrote the first sentence of the first paragraph.

§ 65-12. Funds exempt from taxation.—All money referred to in the preceding sections of this article shall be exempt from all State, county, township, town, and city taxes. (1917, c. 155, s. 4; C. S., s. 5029.)

ARTICLE 5.

Removal of Graves.

§ 65-13. Removal to enlarge or erect churches, etc., or to establish hydro-electric reservoirs, or to perform governmental functions. — In those cases where any church authorities desire to enlarge a church building and/or erect a new church and/or parish house and/or parsonage and where it becomes necessary or expedient to remove certain graves in order to secure the necessary room for such enlargement, it shall be lawful for such church authorities after thirty days' notice to the relatives of deceased, if any are known, and if none are known, then after notice posted at the church door for a like time, to remove such graves to a suitable plat in the church cemetery, or in another cemetery, due care being taken to protect tombstones and replace them properly, so as to leave the graves in as good condition as before removal. When any lands are owned by any hydro-electric power or lighting company for use as a reservoir, on which lands there are graves, it shall be lawful for said company, after thirty (30) days' notice to the surviving husband or wife, or next of kin of the deceased, or the person in control of such graves, if any are known, and if not known, then after publishing a notice for four (4) weeks in a newspaper, published in the county and in a daily State paper, to open any such graves, and to take therefrom any dead body, or part thereof buried therein, and anything interred therewith, and to remove and reinter the same in some other cemetery or suitable place in the same county to be selected by the next of kin, or the welfare officer of the county or the clerk of the superior court in the order named. Due care shall be taken to do said work in a proper and decent manner, and, if necessary, to furnish suitable coffins or boxes for reintering said remains. Due care shall also be taken to remove, protect and replace all tombstones or other markers; so as to leave the new grave in as good condition as the former one. All of said work shall be done under the supervision and direction of the welfare officer of the county, if one, or his representatives; but if no welfare officer, then under the supervision and direction of the clerk of the court, or his representatives. All the expense connected with said work, including the actual expense of one of the "next of kin" in attending to same, shall be borne by the company doing, or causing same to be done.

If any municipality or other political subdivision of the State shall find it necessary, in order to perform its governmental functions and duties as prescribed by law, to remove graves from property owned by or in the custody and control of such municipality or other political subdivision of the State, or from property owned by individuals or corporations, whether known or unknown, such graves may be moved by such municipality or other political subdivision of the State after thirty days' notice to the relatives of the deceased persons, if any are known, and if none are known, then after publication of a notice of such intended removal once a week for four weeks in some newspaper having a general circulation in the county in which such property lies; and such graves when removed shall be removed to a suitable place in another cemetery, due care being taken to protect the tombstones and to place them properly so as to leave the graves in as good condition as before removal. All expense of the removal and acquisition of another burial site shall be borne by the municipality or other political subdivision of the State moving said graves. (1919, c. 245; C. S., s. 5030; 1927, c. 23, s. 1; 1937, c. 3; 1947, c. 168.)

Editor's Note.—The 1937 amendment inserted the words "and/or erect a new church and/or parish house and/or parsonage" in the first sentence. And the 1947 amendment added the second paragraph.

The building of a new vestry room of a church to be used with the one as presently located in relation to the use of the choir, etc., comes within the purview of the statute permitting the removal of the bodies buried in the churchyard by the proper authorities of the church, when necessary or expedient to do so, in carrying out the arrangement. Mayo v. Bragaw, 191 N. C. 427, 132 S. E. 1 (1926).

§ 65-14. Conveyance by church; removal of graves. — Where any church has conveyed, or is about to convey real estate on which there are graves, and where it becomes necessary and expedient to remove said graves, it shall be lawful for such church authorities after thirty days' notice to the relatives of deceased, if any are known, and if none are known, then after notice posted at the church door for a like time, to remove such graves to a suitable plot in some other cemetery, due care being taken to protect tombstones and replace them properly, so as to leave the graves in as good condition as before removal. (Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 46; C. S., s. 5030(a).)

Local Modification. — Burke: 1959, c. 1217.

§ 65-14.1. Churches may remove graves under their custody to regular cemeteries.—Where any church has assumed the care and custody of any grave or graves not located in a regular cemetery or burying ground, said church is authorized to remove said grave or graves and reinter the remains in some cemetery or other suitable place in the same county to be selected by the next of kin of the deceased resident in that county or the welfare officer of the county or the clerk of the superior court of the county in the order named. Due care shall be taken to do said work of removal in a proper, decent and seemly manner, and if necessary, to furnish suitable coffins or boxes for reintering said remains and due care shall be taken to remove, protect and replace all tombstones or other markers so as to leave the grave in as good condition as it was before removal. The work of removal shall be done under the supervision of the superintendent of welfare of the county, if one, and if not, under the supervision of the clerk of the superior court of the county. All the expenses of removal are to be borne by the church causing the grave to be removed. The church shall give the grave or graves at the location to which they are removed the same care, custody and attention which it was obligated to give said grave or graves at the original location. (1947, c. 576.)

§ 65-15. Removal after abandonment of cemetery.—When any person, firm, or corporation, owns any land on which is situated any cemetery or burying ground, and where it becomes necessary and expedient in the opinion of the governing body of the county or town in which any such graves are situated to remove said graves, it shall be lawful for such person, firm or corporation, after thirty days' notice to the relatives of the deceased persons buried therein, if any are known, and if none are known, then after thirty days' notice printed in some newspaper published in said county where said property lies, and if no newspaper is published in said county, then by posting notice at the courthouse door of said county, to remove said graves to a suitable plot in some other cemetery, due care being taken to protect tombstones and replace them properly so as to leave the graves in as good condition as before removal: Provided, that all of said work shall be done under the supervision of the county health officer and the board of county commissioners: Provided, further, that the conveyance of the land without reservation of the burying ground shall itself be evidence of the abandonment of the same sufficient for the purposes of this section. (1927, c. 175, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 6.

Cemetery Associations.

§ 65-16. Land holdings.—All cemetery associations or corporations created by any local, private or special act or resolution before January tenth, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen are authorized and fully empowered to hold amounts of land in excess of the limitation provided in the local, private or special act or resolution incorporating or chartering such cemetery association or corporation. (1923, c. 76, s. 1; C. S., s. 5030(b).)

§ 65-17. Change of name of association or corporation.—Any corporation or association chartered or incorporated by any special act of the legislature, as set forth in § 65-16, is authorized and fully empowered to change the name of such association or corporation by a majority vote of its directors, and upon such change in name it shall be the duty of the officers of the board of directors of such corporation or association to file with the clerk of the superior court a copy of resolution changing the name, which resolution must show the act of the legislature creating or incorporating the same and the reasons for the change thereof. (1923, c. 76, s. 2; C. S., s. 5030(c).)

§ 65-17.1. Quorum at stockholders' meeting of certain nonprofit cemetery corporations; calling meeting; amendment of charter.—Notwithstanding any conflicting provision of law or of the charter or bylaws of any corporation affected by this section, in the case of any nonprofit cemetery corporation chartered prior to the year 1900 whose charter has expired prior to May 18, 1955, a quorum at any meeting of stockholders called for the purpose of electing directors, or of amending the charter of such corporation, or both, shall consist of the holders of ten per cent (10%) or more of the outstanding shares of the capital stock of such corporation having voting powers, present in person or represented by proxy; and a meeting of the stockholders of such corporation for such purpose or purposes may be called by any two stockholders after ten days' notice by registered mail to all stockholders of record at their last known addresses as shown by the stock book of such corporation. The concurrence of a majority of the shares represented at such meeting shall be sufficient to authorize an amendment or amendments to the charter of such corporation in accordance with the provisions of G. S. 55-31. (1955, c. 1084.)

Editor's Note.—This section refers to § and which is cited in the historical references to present §§ 55-99 and 55-100.

ARTICLE 7.

Cemeteries Operated for Private Gain.

§ 65-18. Cemeteries to which article applies.—This article shall apply only to public cemeteries which are privately owned and operated for private gain or profit or which may hereafter be established for such purpose, and which may advertise or offer perpetual care of grave space in connection therewith. (1943, c. 644, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Session Laws 1953, c. 561, s. 2, made this article applicable to Durham County except as provided in section 3, which modifies § 65-26.

Applied in Blue Ridge Memorial Park, Inc. v. Union Nat. Bank, Inc., 237 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. (2d) 617 (1953).

§ 65-19. Words and phrases defined.—(a) Burial Commissioner, etc.—The words "Burial Commissioner," "Burial Association Commissioner," or "Commissioner" used herein shall be deemed to refer to the Burial Association Commissioner of North Carolina.

(b) Cemetery, etc.—When consistent with the context of this article and not obviously used in a different sense, the term "cemetery," "public cemetery," or "owner or owners" of such cemetery, as used in this article, includes only such corporations, associations, partnerships, or individuals, as are engaged in the operation for private gain or profit of a public cemetery for the interment of the dead of the human race or the sale of grave space or interment rights therein, and who advertise or offer perpetual care of grave space in connection therewith.

(c) Sale or Conveyance.—The words "sale" or "conveyance," as used herein, unless obviously used in some other sense, shall be deemed to refer to and authorize any form of contract by means of which cemetery transfers or agrees to transfer to purchaser title to or exclusive right of interment in a grave space or family burial plot. (1943, c. 644, s. 2.)

§ 65-20. Reports by cemeteries to Burial Association Commissioner.—Every such public cemetery shall, on or before July first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and on or before February first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-four, and on February first of each year thereafter, file or cause to be filed with the Burial Association Commissioner of North Carolina, in his office in Raleigh, on forms to be supplied by said Commissioner, a report giving the name of the cemetery, name of all owners thereof, name of managing or directing head, including name of sales manager or agency handling sales, if any, and stating whether or not such cemetery offers, directly or indirectly, or advertises perpetual care of burial lots or spaces sold to the public, together with copy of all forms of agreements offered to prospective purchasers, and shall, with said first report, file a plat of such cemetery, showing, as of date of ratification of this article, number and location of all lots actually surveyed and permanently staked, together with such other information as may be required under § 65-25, and as may be required by the Burial Association Commissioner of North Carolina.

The Burial Association Commissioner may levy and collect a penalty of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each day after thirty that reports called for in this section are overdue. Penalties collected shall be paid into the administrative fund of the Burial Association Commissioner and used for the general purposes of his office. (1943, c. 644, s. 3; 1955, c. 258, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment Park Corp., 242 N. C. 20, 86 S. E. (2d) 893 (1955).

§ 65-21. Information as to perpetual care fund to be reported.—If such cemetery shall report that it advertises or claims to provide the perpetual care of lots or grave spaces included in its property, such report shall state the amount of its perpetual care fund as of date of above required report, manner of computing same, how and by whom controlled, description of securities in which fund is invested, and copies of all agreements entered into by the cemetery relating thereto. (1943, c. 644, s. 4.)

§ 65-22. Requirements for advertising of perpetual care fund.—No such cemetery shall hereafter cause or permit advertising of perpetual care fund in connection with the sale or offer for sale of its property unless the amount deposited in said fund from all sales made subsequent to the passage of this article shall be equal to not less than five dollars per grave space, sold, said sum to be deposited in perpetual care fund as provided in § 65-23. (1943, c. 644, s. 5; 1957, c. 529, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment substituted "five dollars" for "four dollars."

§ 65-23. Perpetual care fund to be turned over to trustee; investment of minimum required fund; use of income.—The perpetual care fund of any cemetery licensed hereunder, as hereinafter authorized, shall immediately be turned over to and deposited with a reliable trustee, to be approved by the North Carolina Burial Association Commissioner under an irrevocable trust agreement for safekeeping and for investment as hereinafter provided. The trustee is authorized to invest, sell and reinvest, said fund in such securities as may be approved by the trustee and by the cemetery, said investments may include:

- (1) Any securities which guardians, appointed under provisions of chapter 33 of the General Statutes, are permitted by law to invest funds for their wards.
- (2) Shares, common or preferred stock or securities of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States of America or of any state, the District of Columbia, any territory or possession of the United States of America; provided, however, that not more than fifteen per cent (15%) of said funds required by this chapter to be deposited with such trustee shall be invested in stocks or securities of any one corporation, and not more than thirty-three and one-third per cent ($33\frac{1}{3}\%$) of said funds shall be invested in stock, either common or preferred. The amount paid for such stock or security shall be determinative of whether the permissible per centum of investment therein has been equalled or exceeded.
- (3) Common trust funds maintained by the trustee for the purpose of furnishing investments to itself as fiduciary, as authorized by chapter 36, article 6 of the General Statutes of North Carolina entitled "Uniform Common Trust Fund Act". Investments in common trust funds as defined herein shall not be considered as investment in stock and shall not be subject to limitations provided in subdivision (2) of this section.

The regulations and limitations established by this section shall apply only to so much of the trust funds as are now required or may hereafter be required as a minimum amount to be paid into perpetual care funds.

The income derived from investment of the perpetual care fund required by this section shall be used by the cemetery to defray the expense of development, upkeep and maintenance of such cemetery. (1943, c. 644, s. 6; 1955, c. 797, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 65-23.1. Separate fund composed of excess over minimum required perpetual care fund.—If any cemetery licensed under this article shall deposit or shall have heretofore deposited in a perpetual care fund, an amount in excess of that required by contract or by law, such excess shall be separated by the trustee from the perpetual care trust fund required by G. S. 65-23 and placed in a separate fund which shall be an irrevocable trust and designated as Perpetual Care Trust Fund "A," and such excess trust fund shall not be subject to the limitations as to investments as set forth in G. S. 65-23; but said funds shall be invested, sold and reinvested by the trustee in such stocks, bonds, notes, or other securities as the cemetery may direct; and the trustee in connection with investments of such excess funds shall have no responsibility except to carry out the written instructions of the cemetery with respect to such investments; to hold the securities or instruments evidencing the same and to pay to the cemetery the income, if any, derived therefrom less its charges for handling; provided, however, that stocks purchased for investment shall not be purchased for more than the market value as of date of purchase of such stock. The income received by the cemetery from the excess trust fund (fund "A") shall be used only for the development, upkeep and maintenance of the cemetery. Provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall permit the investment of perpetual care trust funds in stocks, bonds, or debentures of any cemetery as defined in this chapter. (1955, c. 797, s. 2.)

§ 65-23.2. Appointment of new trustee of perpetual care fund; trust agreement.—The trustee of any perpetual care fund authorized and established by this chapter may refuse to serve as trustee of either the fund authorized by G. S. 65-23 or G. S. 65-23.1 and in event of such refusal the cemetery may, with the approval of the Burial Association Commissioner, appoint another trustee to administer said fund. There is no requirement that the same trustee administer the trust authorized by G. S. 65-23 and that authorized by G. S. 65-23.1. The trustee may, by permission of said Burial Association Commissioner, be changed from time to time, but the trust shall be irrevocable, and the form and substance of the agreement relating thereto shall be approved by the Burial Association Commissioner. (1955, c. 797, s. 3.)

§ 65-23.3. Compensation of trustee of perpetual care fund. — The trustee of the perpetual care trust fund authorized by G. S. 65-23 or G. S. 65-23.1 shall receive as compensation such amounts as may be agreed upon by the cemetery and the trustee and approved by the Burial Association Commissioner. (1955, c. 797, s. 4.)

§ 65-24. Amount set aside in perpetual care fund; use of income.—Such cemetery shall set aside in its perpetual care fund not less than five dollars per grave space hereafter sold. The income only derived from the investment of such fund may be used to defray expense of development, upkeep and maintenance of such cemetery. Provided that for the purpose of this section a grave space shall be considered to be sold at such time as the purchaser thereof has acquired unconditional right of interment therein. (1943, c. 644, s. 7; 1955, c. 258, s. 1; 1957, c. 529, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment substituted "five dollars" for "four dollars" in the first sentence. The 1957 amendment added the proviso.

§ 65-25. Sale of lots under "certificate plan;" certificate indemnity fund.—If such cemetery shall offer for sale and sell its said lots or grave spaces under plan or agreement evidenced by certificate (hereinafter referred to as "certificate plan"), which may involve the transfer of family burial plot or grave spaces, or exclusive right of interment therein, to families, individuals, or their representatives, conditioned upon the continuance or cessation of human life or upon limited pay plan or plans where death of certificate holder prior to payment of all sums due to be paid thereunder may terminate his or her liability for further payment, such cemetery shall set aside and reserve unencumbered and shall keep unencumbered lots or grave spaces suitable for burial in sufficient number to enable the cemetery to comply with the terms of each certificate issued, and shall set aside and deposit with the trustee of its perpetual care fund an additional one dollar per grave space sold, same to be known as "certificate indemnity fund" and continue the making of such deposit until from such sales the total deposits to credit of said fund shall amount to five thousand dollars, same to be held and invested separate and apart from the perpetual care fund of such cemetery, as a fund to indemnify lot and grave space purchasers against loss by reason of the cemetery's failure to reserve, unencumbered, the identical grave space(s) selected by purchaser, if selection has been made, and if not, a sufficient number of grave spaces suitable for burial to enable the cemetery to comply with the terms of its certificate, such fund to be calculated, become due, be deposited and invested, and the cemetery to become liable therefor, only in like manner as for such cemetery's perpetual care fund, and shall be maintained and kept separate so long as there is outstanding any liability of cemetery to reserve grave space under a certificate issued on the above plan, but income therefrom shall be paid to cemetery for such use as income from its perpetual care fund may be used. When such liability no longer exists, said fund shall become a part of the perpetual care fund of such cemetery. Any certificate holder sustaining any loss due to failure of the cemetery to comply with all of the provisions of this section shall have a right of action therefor against said cemetery and upon obtaining a final judgment, such certificate holder shall be entitled to an order directing said trustee to pay the amount of said judgment. Every cemetery licensed under this article shall set aside for and deposit in its perpetual care fund not less than five dollars per grave space agreed by cemetery to be reserved under certificate, or sold by cemetery under any other form of contract: Provided, purchaser is not in default in the payment of any premium or installment becoming due under such certificate or contract, such amount to become due to and be deposited in said fund as such payments are received by the cemetery: Provided, the total amount which said cemetery shall be required to pay into said fund annually shall be only such sum as may be equal to total amount of perpetual care deposit to become due under certificate or contract, divided by the number of years accorded purchaser thereunder to qualify to receive conveyance agreed by cemetery to be made under such certificate or contract, or, if sale has been made under certificate providing for payment of premiums for life, division shall be by life expectancy of certificate holder, computed under American Men Table of Mortality: Provided, further, if purchaser shall pay off or otherwise discharge his or her obligations, as evidenced by certificate or contract, in advance of due date, the deposit of perpetual care shall be ratably increased. Perpetual care earned or deposited under contracts which are in default at time report to Burial Association Commissioner is required to be made hereunder, shall be deducted and shall not be considered in arriving at above total. The income only resulting from the investment of such fund may be used in the sole discretion of the cemetery for the purpose of defraying expense of developing and maintaining the cemetery. Detailed report of amount due to be deposited in such fund, showing the amount actually deposited therein, listed securities in which same is invested, and giving such other details as shall be required by the Burial Association Commissioner, shall be made to said Commissioner annually on the first day of February in each and every year, and more frequently if said Commissioner, in his discretion, so requires. Upon compliance with the terms of this article, including the provisions contained in this section, such cemetery shall be licensed by Burial Association Commissioner and may issue its contracts of sale of grave space or interment rights therein on the certificate plan and on any other plan not prohibited by law. A cemetery complying with all provisions of this article, excepting only those provisions authorizing the cemetery to operate under the certificate plan, shall be entitled to be licensed hereunder, but any cemetery failing to qualify to so operate shall not be entitled to issue or enter into a contract under such plan. (1943, c. 644, s. 8; 1957, c. 529, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment substituted "five dollars" for "four dollars" in the first part of the fourth sentence.

§ 65-26. License and provision for perpetual care requisite for establishment of cemetery.—No corporation, association, partnership, or individual, shall, after the ratification of this article, be permitted to establish a public cemetery for private gain or profit without obtaining a license therefor, as provided in this article, and without providing for the perpetual care of such cemetery in accordance with the terms of this article, including the setting aside of an initial perpetual care fund of not less than five thousand dollars, same to be in addition to the five dollars per grave space required by this article, to be deposited in such fund. Said perpetual care fund and all additions thereto shall be held and invested as required under § 65-23. (1943, c. 644, s. 9; 1957, c. 529, s. 3.)

Local Modification. — Durham: 1953, c. 561, s. 3.

Applied in Blue Ridge Memorial Park, Inc. v. Union Nat. Bank, Inc., 237 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. (2d) 617 (1953).

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment substituted "five dollars" for "four dollars."

§ 65-27. Deposits in perpetual care fund when fund amounts to $100,000.00.—When the amount deposited in the perpetual care fund of such cemetery shall amount to one hundred thousand dollars, anything in this article to the contrary notwithstanding, the amount to be deposited in said fund thereafter shall be equal to not less than two dollars per grave space, instead of five dollars, said sum to be deposited in the perpetual care fund as provided in § 65-23. (1943, c. 644, s. 10; 1957, c. 529, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment substituted "five dollars" for "four dollars."

§ 65-28. Amount of deposits for perpetual care fund in certain instances. — When such cemetery shall sell its lots for not exceeding thirteen dollars but not less than eight dollars per grave space, as to such grave space so sold the amount to be deposited in the perpetual care fund shall be three dollars per grave space; if such lots shall be sold for less than eight dollars per grave space, the amount deposited in the perpetual care fund shall be two dollars per grave space. (1943, c. 644, s. 11; 1957, c. 529, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment substituted "but not" for "or" in line two.

§ 65-29. Agreements as to retention of perpetual care fund where cemetery property sold to municipality.—In event of the voluntary purchase by any city or town of a cemetery providing perpetual care of lots under this article, it shall be lawful for the cemetery to provide in its agreement with purchasers that in event of the voluntary purchase by such municipality of such cemetery property, such cemetery may retain for its own any amount accumulated in such perpetual care fund on sale of lots made subsequent to the ratification of this article: Provided, such municipality purchasing and accepting a conveyance of said cemetery property shall, as part consideration for making by such cemetery of said conveyance, assume in writing all obligations of such cemetery in connection with the maintenance thereof. (1943, c. 644, s. 12.)

Applied in Blue Ridge Memorial Park, Inc. v. Union Nat. Bank, Inc., 237 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. (2d) 617 (1953).

§ 65-30. Burial Association Commissioner to administer article; examinations.—This article, shall be administered by the Burial Association Commissioner of North Carolina, who shall make periodic examination of affairs of such cemeteries to ascertain whether they are in fact complying with the terms hereof. Examinations shall be made not less frequently than once a year and more frequently if by him deemed necessary. Such examination shall extend back into the business of the cemeteries as far as the Burial Association Commissioner shall deem it necessary in order to show a true picture of the cemetery's financial condition. (1943, c. 644, s. 13; 1945, c. 351, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment added the last sentence.

§ 65-31. Violation of article a misdemeanor. — Any such cemetery owner or manager who fails to comply with any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined two hundred dollars, or imprisoned for not exceeding thirty days. (1943, c. 644, s. 14.)

§ 65-32. Licenses for persons selling grave space; revocation. — All persons offering to sell grave space under any plan herein authorized shall be licensed by said Commissioner without payment of any license fee, and such license, for good cause shown, may, in the discretion of the Commissioner, be revoked. (1943, c. 644, s. 15.)

§ 65-33. Certain powers delegated to cemetery manager.—The superintendent, manager, and assistant superintendent of such cemetery shall have all the powers of a deputy sheriff of the county in which such cemetery is located to enforce the law, maintain order, abate nuisances, and prevent vandalism in such cemetery. (1943, c. 644, s. 16.)

§ 65-34. Prosecution of violations; revocation and restoration of license; article part of contracts.—It shall be the duty of the Burial Commissioner to prosecute or cause to be prosecuted all violations of this article, and upon the conviction of the owner or manager of a public cemetery of such violation, and upon failure of such owner or manager to correct such violation within thirty days thereafter, then, in addition to such other penalties as may result from such conviction, the Burial Commissioner may, in his discretion, revoke the license of such cemetery. Said Commissioner may, in his discretion, upon application by such cemetery, thereafter restore to it its license if such cemetery corrects the violation of this article, on account of which its owner or manager was convicted, as well as any other violations thereof known to the Commissioner. This article shall be written into and become a part, where applicable, of all contracts and certificates issued hereunder. (1943, c. 644, s. 17.)

§ 65-35. Effect of certain other laws.—This article shall not be subject to any other laws respecting insurance companies of any class, nor shall same be subject to the laws affecting the sale of securities or laws affecting mutual burial or assessment insurance associations, excepting only as this article, or amendments hereof, shall expressly provide. (1943, c. 644, s. 18.)

§ 65-36. Funds for expenses of supervision.—In order to meet the expenses of the supervision of the cemeteries herein provided for, the Burial Association Commissioner shall assess each cemetery operating under the terms of this article the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) plus an amount calculated in proportion to the number of grave spaces sold in the preceding year so that the total assessments on all cemeteries shall in the aggregate amount to three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) each year, which said amount shall be deposited and commingled with all other funds coming into the hands of the Burial Association Commissioner and he may use said sum of money derived from this section in the discharge of the duties delegated to him by the laws of North Carolina. The assessments provided for in this section shall be due and payable on the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five, and on the first day of July of each and every year thereafter. If any cemetery shall fail or refuse to pay the said assessment to the Burial Association Commissioner within thirty (30) days after the making of said assessment, then and in that event the said Burial Association Commissioner is hereby directed and empowered to cancel the license of such cemetery. (1945, c. 351, s. 2; 1955, c. 258, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment repealed the former section, which exempted certain counties and cemeteries from the application of the article, and inserted in lieu thereof the present section.	The former section was codified from Session Laws 1943, c. 644, s. 19. The 1955 amendment increased the amount of the assessment.

ARTICLE 8.

Municipal Cemeteries.

§ 65-37. Authority to take possession of and continue the use of certain lands as cemetery.—In any case where property not under the control or in the possession of any church or religious organization in any town or municipality has been heretofore set aside or used for cemetery purposes, and the trustees or owners named in the deed or deeds for said property have died, or are unknown, or the deeds of conveyance have been lost or misplaced and no record of title thereto has been found, and said property has been occupied and used for burial purposes for a time sufficient to identify its use as cemetery property, the municipality in which any such cemetery property is located is hereby authorized and empowered in its discretion to appropriate and take possession of all such land within its corporate limits which has heretofore been used for cemetery purposes and such adjoining land not held or owned by known claimants of title, and to cause the same to be surveyed and lines established and to designate and appropriate the said property as a cemetery, or burial ground. (1947, c. 821, s. 1.)

§ 65-38. Racial restrictions as to use of cemeteries for burial of dead.—In the event said property has been heretofore used exclusively for the burial of members of the negro race, then said cemetery or burial ground so established shall remain and be established as a burial ground for the negro race. In the event said property has been heretofore used exclusively for the burial of members of the white race, then said cemetery or burial ground so established shall remain and be established as a burial ground for the white race. (1947, c. 821, s. 2.)

§ 65-39. Subdivision into burial plots; sale of lots and use of proceeds.—Said town or municipality shall have power and authority in such cases to cause the same to be subdivided and to lay off and allot for family burial plots any property heretofore appropriated or used for burial purposes for or by different families without any charge therefor, and to cause the remainder of said property to be subdivided and laid off into lots; and shall have the power and authority to sell to any person or persons for burial purposes, any of said lots so subdivided and surveyed, except those heretofore appropriated as referred to in this section of this article, and use the proceeds of such sale for the improvement and upkeep of said cemetery property. (1947, c. 821, s. 3.)

§ 65-40. Appropriations for improvement and maintenance; application of existing laws.—In the event any town or municipality appropriates or takes possession of land used for cemetery purposes as set forth and described herein, it is further authorized and empowered to appropriate and use such funds as may be necessary and proper for the improvement and maintenance of said cemetery; and all statutes and ordinances heretofore enacted and passed relative to cemeteries in said town or municipality, are hereby made applicable to said cemetery property. (1947, c. 821, s. 4.)

ARTICLE 1.

Regulation and Inspection.

§ 66-1. County commissioners to appoint inspectors.—The board of county commissioners may appoint for their county or any township thereof inspectors for any article of commerce the inspection of which is not otherwise provided for by law, who shall hold office for the term of five years after their employment. (Rev., ss. 4637, 4669; C. S., s. 5068.)

§ 66-2. Vacancies in office of inspectors; assistants; principal liable.—Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of inspector while the county commissioners are not in session, any three justices may appoint some other fit person until the next succeeding meeting of the board; or if any inspector shall be rendered incapable of performing his duty by sickness or other accident, he may, with the consent of three justices, appoint some other person as assistant during his sickness or other disability, which consent shall be certified under their hands and lodged with the clerk of the board of commissioners, and such assistant shall take the same oaths as inspectors; and the inspector shall be liable to the same fines and penalties for the assistant's misbehavior as for his own. (1784, c. 206, s. 3; 1793, c. 386; 1799, c. 539, s. 2; 1811, c. 807, s. 6; c. 812; R. C., c. 60, s. 9; Code, s. 2989; Rev., s. 4638; C. S., s. 5069.)

§ 66-3. Bond of inspector; fees. — The said inspector shall enter into bond in the sum of five hundred dollars, payable to the State of North Carolina, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, which bond the board shall take; and he shall be entitled to such fees as may be prescribed by the board. (1848, c. 43, s. 3; R. C., c. 60, s. 76; Code, s. 3053; Rev., s. 4671; C. S., s. 5071.)

§ 66-4. Falsely acting as inspector.—If any person, who is not a legal or sworn inspector of lumber or other articles, presume to act as such, he shall forfeit and pay one hundred dollars, and be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1824, c. 1254, s. 3; R. C., c. 60, s. 69; Code, s. 3046; Rev., s. 3580; C. S., s. 5072.)

§ 66-5. Penalty for sale without inspection. — If any person shall sell any article of forage or provision, of which inspection is required in accordance with this article, without the same having been inspected as required, he shall, for every offense, forfeit and pay one hundred dollars. (1850, c. 74, s. 2; R. C., c. 60, s. 77; Code, s. 3054; Rev., s. 4672; C. S., s. 5073.)

§ 66-6. Penalty on master receiving without inspection.—No master or commander of any vessel shall take on board any cask or barrel or other commodity, liable to inspection as aforesaid, without its being inspected and branded as required, under the penalty of two hundred dollars for each offense. (1784, c. 206, s. 6; R. C., c. 60, s. 59; Code, ss. 3036, 3037; Rev., ss. 4657, 4658; C. S., s. 5074.)

Local Modification. — Town of New Bern: C. S., § 5074.

§ 66-7. Who to pay inspectors' fees; penalty for extortion. — The fees of inspectors shall be paid by the purchaser or exporter of the articles inspected, and if any inspector shall receive any greater fees than are by law allowed, he shall forfeit and pay ten dollars for every offense to any person suing for the same. (1824, c. 1254, ss. 1, 2; R. C., c. 60, s. 79; Code, s. 3055; Rev., s. 4673; C. S., s. 5075.)

§ 66-8. Firewood in towns. — All firewood sold in incorporated towns shall be sold by the cord and not otherwise; and each cord shall contain eight feet in length, four feet in height and four feet in breadth; and shall be corded by the seller, under the penalty of two dollars for each offense, to the use of the informer. (1784, c. 211; R. C., c. 60, s. 72; 1880, c. 401; Code, s. 3049; Rev., s. 4667; C. S., s. 5081.)

§ 66-9. Gas and electric light bills to show reading of meter. — It shall be the duty of all gas companies and electric light companies selling gas and electricity to the public to show, among other things, on all statements or bills rendered to consumers, the reading of the meter at the end of the preceding month, and the reading of the meter at the end of the current month, and the amount of electricity, in kilowatt hours, and of gas, in feet, consumed for the current month; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit any gas or electric company from adopting any method of and times of reading meters and rendering bills that may be approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

Any gas or electric light company failing to render bills or statements, as provided for in this section, shall be subject to a penalty of ten dollars for each violation of this section or failure to render such statements, recoverable before a justice of the peace by any person suing for the same; but this section shall not apply to bills and accounts rendered customers on flat rate contracts. (1915, c. 259; C. S., s. 5082; 1959, c. 987.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment added the proviso to the first paragraph.

§ 66-10. Failure of junk dealers to keep record of purchases misdemeanor.—Every person, firm, or corporation buying brass or copper, or any other metal, or any rubber, or leather and rubber belts and belting, as junk, shall keep a register and shall keep therein a true and accurate record of each purchase, showing the description of the article purchased, the name from whom purchased, the amount paid for the same, the date thereof, and also any and all marks or brands upon said metal, rubber, or leather and rubber belts and belting. The said register and the metal and rubber, and leather and rubber belts and belting purchased shall be at all times open to the inspection of the public. A failure to comply with these requirements or the making of a false entry concerning such metals, rubber, or leather, or rubber belts, or belting shall constitute a misdemeanor.

Every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of buying or dealing in what is commonly known as "junk", including scrap metal of every kind, nature or description, glass, waste paper, burlap, cloth, cordage, rubber, leather, belting of every kind, or brass, in addition to the above requirements, shall make and keep a record of the name and address of the person from whom such junk is purchased and the license number, if any, and if there is no license, a description of the vehicle in which such junk is delivered. Any person, firm or corporation who or which fails to comply with the requirements of this paragraph shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not in excess of fifty dollars ($50.00) in the discretion of the court. (1917, c. 46; C. S., s. 5090; 1957, c. 791.)

Local Modification. — Anson, Caldwell, Davidson, Randolph, Robeson: C. S., § 5090; Beaufort, Bertie, Harnett, Martin, Onslow, Perquimans and Washington: 1953, c. 1154; Stanly: 1939, c. 154.

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment added the second paragraph to this section.

§ 66-11. Dealing in certain metals regulated; purchasing from minors; violations of section misdemeanor.—Every person, firm, or corporation buying railroad brasses or any composition metal specially used in the operation of trains, or brasses, composition metals, or copper of the kind or quality used by manufacturing or power plants, shall keep a register and shall insert therein a true and accurate record of each purchase, showing the name of the person from whom purchased, the amount paid for the same, the date thereof, and also any and all marks or brands upon such metal. The register shall be at all times open to the inspection of the public. Any person or dealer buying or selling metals without complying with this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and any person making a false entry in such register shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person, firm, or corporation who shall buy or receive any such metals from persons under twenty-one years old, or who shall buy or receive any such metals after the same have been broken up and the marks or brands obliterated, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and every person buying, receiving or selling, or offering for sale metals broken into small pieces, or so broken as to obliterate the marks or brands, shall be prima facie presumed to have received such metals knowing the same to have been stolen. (1907, c. 464; 1909, c. 855, s. 1; C. S., s. 5091.)

ARTICLE 2.

Manufacture and Sale of Matches.

§ 66-12. Requirements for matches permitted to be sold.—No person, association, or corporation shall manufacture, store, offer for sale, sell or otherwise dispose of or distribute white phosphorous, single-dipped, strike-anywhere matches of the type popularly known as “parlor matches;” nor manufacture, store, sell, offer for sale, or otherwise dispose of, or distribute, white phosphorous, double-dipped, strike-anywhere matches or any other type of double-dipped matches, unless the bulb or first dip of such match is composed of a so-called safety or inert composition, nonignitable as an abrasive surface; nor manufacture, store, sell, or offer for sale, or otherwise dispose of or distribute matches which when packed in a carton of five hundred approximate capacity and placed in an oven maintained at a constant temperature of two hundred degrees F., will ignite in eight hours; nor manufacture, store, offer for sale, sell or otherwise dispose of, or distribute, blazer, or so-called wind matches, whether of the so-called safety or strike-anywhere type. (1915, c. 109, s. 12, I; C. S., s. 5113.)

§ 66-13. Packages to be marked.—No person, association, or corporation shall offer for sale, sell or otherwise dispose of, or distribute, any matches, unless the package or container in which such matches are packed bears, plainly marked on the outside thereof, the name of the manufacturer and the brand or trademark under which the matches are sold, disposed of, or distributed. (1915, c. 109, s. 12, II; C. S., s. 5114.)

§ 66-14. Storage and packing regulated. — No more than one case of each brand of matches of any type or manufacture shall be opened at any one time in the retail store where matches are sold or otherwise disposed of; nor shall loose boxes or paper-wrapped packages of matches be kept on shelves or stored in such retail stores at a height exceeding five feet from the floor; all matches when stored in warehouses must be kept only in properly secured cases, and not piled to a height exceeding ten feet from the floor; nor be stored within a horizontal distance of ten feet from any boiler, furnace, stove, or other like heating apparatus; nor within a horizontal distance of twenty-five feet from any explosive material kept or stored on the same floor. All matches shall be packed in boxes or suitable packages, containing not more than seven hundred matches in any one box or package: Provided, however, that when more than three hundred matches are packed in any one box or package the said matches shall be arranged in two nearly equal portions, the heads of the matches in the two portions shall be placed in opposite directions, and all boxes containing three hundred and fifty or more matches shall have placed over the matches a center-holding or protecting strip, made of chip board, not less than one and one-quarter inches wide; said strip shall be flanged down to hold the matches in position when the box is nested into the shuck or withdrawn from it. (1915, c. 109, s. 12, II; C. S., s. 5115.)

§ 66-15. Shipping containers regulated.—All match boxes or packages shall be packed in strong shipping containers or cases; maximum number of match boxes or packages contained in any one shipping container or case shall not exceed the following number:

Number of Boxes	Nominal Number of Matches per Box
½ gross	700
1 gross	500
2 gross	400
3 gross	300
5 gross	200
12 gross	100
20 gross over 50 and under	100
25 gross under	50

No shipping container or case constructed of fiber board, corrugated fiber board, or wood, nailed or wirebound, shall exceed a weight, including its contents, of seventy-five pounds; and no lock-cornered wooden case containing matches shall have a weight, including its contents, exceeding eighty-five pounds; nor shall any other article or commodity be packed with matches in any such container or case; and all such containers and cases in which matches are packed shall have plainly marked on the outside of the container or case the words "Strike-Anywhere Matches" or "Strike-on-the-Box Matches." (1915, c. 109, s. 12, III; C. S., s. 5116.)

§ 66-16. Violation of article a misdemeanor.—Any person, association, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article shall be fined for the first offense not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, and for each subsequent violation not less than twenty-five dollars. (1915, c. 109, s. 12, IV; C. S., s. 5117.)

Candy and Similar Products.

§ 66-17. Sale, etc., of candy or other food not complying with health and pure food laws. — It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or agent of any person, firm or corporation, to consign, sell, possess or use any candy or other product within this State that does not comply with all federal and State health and pure food laws in force and effect in North Carolina. (1939, c. 323, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — For comment on this article, see 17 N. C. Law Rev. 384.

§ 66-18. Manufacturer to pay tax upon products consigned to person, etc., other than licensed wholesale or retail merchant.—Any manufacturer of candy or similar products, or the agent of such manufacturer, who consigns any such products to any person, firm or corporation other than a licensed wholesale or retail merchant in the State of North Carolina shall be liable for and pay to the State of North Carolina a tax of three per cent (3%) upon the gross retail sales price of merchandise so consigned and/or sold: Provided such manufacturers shall be entitled to a refund or credit for taxes paid on such consigned goods as are returned by the consignee to said manufacturers. (1939, c. 323, s. 2.)

§ 66-19. Regulations as to possession and sale.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation other than a licensed wholesale or retail merchant in the State of North Carolina to consign, possess or use any article upon which the tax provided for in § 66-18 preceding is payable, or for any consignee to sell such product, unless the manufacturer thereof is registered with the Commissioner of Revenue of the State of North Carolina for payment of said tax. (1939, c. 323, s. 3.)

§ 66-20. Commissioner of Revenue may require reports.—The Commissioner of Revenue shall have authority to require a report, at such times as he may require, from every person, firm or corporation manufacturing candy or similar products, or from the agent of any such manufacturer, of the names and addresses of all consignors, other than licensed merchants, to whom consignment of such merchandise is made. (1939, c. 323, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — The word "consignors" volume of the General Statutes, was probably intended to read "consignees." appears in the original act and in the original

§ 66-21. Violators deprived of legal redress.—The consignor shall not have the right to sue in any court of law in this State for the collection of monies resulting from the sale of merchandise sold in violation of this article. (1939, c. 323, s. 5.)

§ 66-22. Violations made misdemeanor.—Any person convicted for the violation of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or imprisonment for not exceeding thirty days or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 323, s. 6.)

ARTICLE 4.

Electrical Materials, Devices, Appliances and Equipment.

§ 66-23. Sale of electrical goods regulated. — Every person, firm or corporation before selling, offering for sale or exposing for sale, at retail to the general public or disposing of by gift as premiums or in any similar manner any electrical material, devices, appliances or equipment shall first determine if such electrical materials, devices, appliances and equipment comply with the provision of this article. (1933, c. 555, s. 1.)

§ 66-24. Identification marks required. — All electrical materials, devices, appliances and equipment offered for sale, exposed for sale at retail to the general public, or disposed of by gift as premiums or in any similar manner shall have the maker's name, trademark, or other identification symbol placed thereon, together with such other markings giving voltage, current, wattage, or other appropriate ratings as may be necessary to determine the character of the material, device, appliance or equipment and the use for which it is intended; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to remove, alter, change or deface the maker's name, trademark or other identification symbol. (1933, c. 555, s. 2.)

§ 66-25. Acceptable listings as to safety of goods.—The electrical inspector shall accept, without further examination or test, the listings of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., as evidence of safety of such materials, etc., so long as the listing continues in effect to his knowledge and, so long as information and experience have not demonstrated, in his judgment, that any specific listed materials, etc., are not safe.

The electrical inspector may accept as evidence of safety of such materials, etc., where not of types for which such Underwriters' Laboratories listings are in effect, such evidence by way of records of tests and examinations by bodies he deems properly qualified, as he deems necessary to assure him of the safety of such materials, etc. But such acceptance cannot be made to apply to other than the stock of materials, etc., for which such evidence has been specifically secured. One body whose evidence of safety shall be accepted by the electrical inspector for specific stocks is the Insurance Commission of the State of North Carolina, if the stock in question has been submitted to the examinations and tests required by that Commission, and that Commission has certified that in its judgment the stock conforms to the State law, to the requirements of this article, and to any additional requirements deemed necessary for safety in the judgment of that Commission.

The electrical inspector may decline to accept any evidence of safety other than that provided by Underwriters' Laboratories listings, for specific materials, etc., of types for which such listings are available.

The electrical inspector, in accepting listings of Underwriters' Laboratories, shall keep in file as far as practicable, copies of all Underwriters' Laboratories listings in effect, and copies of the recorded standards, requirements, tests and examinations of Underwriters' Laboratories for such materials, etc., or shall when necessary refer to the files of such information maintained by the Insurance Commission of North Carolina. The words "electrical inspector" when used in this article shall be construed to refer to any duly licensed and employed electrical inspector of the State or any governmental agency thereof. (1933, c. 555, s. 3.)

§ 66-26. Legal responsibility of proper installations unaffected.—This article shall not be construed to relieve from or to lessen the responsibility or liability of any party owning, operating, controlling or installing any electrical materials, devices, appliances or equipment for damages to persons or property caused by any defect therein, nor shall the electrical inspector be held as assuming any such liability by reason of the approval of any material, device, appliance or equipment authorized herein. (1933, c. 555, s. 4.)

§ 66-27. Violation made misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty ($50.00) dollars or imprisonment for not more than thirty days. (1933, c. 555, s. 5.)

ARTICLE 5.

Sale of Phonograph Records or Electrical Transcriptions.

§ 66-28. Prohibition of rights to further restrict or to collect royalties on commercial use.—When any phonograph record or electrical transcription, upon which musical performances are embodied, is sold in commerce for use within this State, all asserted common-law rights to further restrict or to collect royalties on the commercial use made of such recorded performances by any person is hereby abrogated and expressly repealed. When such article or chattel has been sold in commerce, any asserted intangible rights shall be deemed to have passed to the purchaser upon the purchase of the chattel itself, and the right to further restrict the use made of phonograph records or electrical transcriptions, whose sole value is in their use, is hereby forbidden and abrogated.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to deny the rights granted any person by the United States Copyright Laws. The sole intentment of this enactment is to abolish any common-law rights attaching to phonograph records and electrical transcriptions, whose sole value is in their use, and to forbid further restrictions of the collection of subsequent fees and royalties on phonograph records and electrical transcriptions by performers who were paid for the initial performance at the recording thereof. (1939, c. 113.)

ARTICLE 6.

Sale of Nursery Stock.

§ 66-29. Agreements for spraying, pruning, etc.—Every person, firm or corporation, who shall sell, barter or exchange any nursery stock in the State of North Carolina, who shall promise or agree, either in the written contract of sale, orally or otherwise, that such person, firm or corporation, selling, exchanging or bartering such nursery stock, will spray, prune or otherwise look after or service such nursery stock for any period of time after the said sale is made, shall before engaging in such business in the State of North Carolina post with the Commissioner of Agriculture a good and sufficient bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) payable to the State of North Carolina, and conditioned that such person, firm or corporation, shall well and truly comply with the contract of sale containing such promise and agreements either written or oral.

This regulation shall apply to any agent or employee of any person, firm or corporation engaging in such business in the State of North Carolina, but one bond given by the principal shall be sufficient for all agents representing such principal. (1939, c. 189.)

ARTICLE 7.

Tagging Secondhand Watches.

§ 66-30. Definitions. — The following terms as used in this article are hereby defined as follows:

- (1) "Consumer" means an individual, firm, partnership, association or corporation, who buys for their own use or for the use of another, but not for resale.
- (2) "Person" means a person, firm, partnership or corporation, but shall not include a receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, trustee under a mortgage, deed of trust or contract securing any indebtedness, and executor or administrator while acting as such, or any person acting under an order of court or as a licensed pawnbroker.
- (3) "Secondhand watch" means a watch as a whole, or any part thereof, which has previously been sold to a consumer, or a watch whose case or movement, serial numbers or other distinguishing numbers or identification marks have been erased, defaced, removed, altered or covered, or a watch any part of which has been replaced by parts from another make or model watch. (1941, c. 244, s. 1.)

§ 66-31. Tags required; "sell" defined.—Any person, or agent or employee thereof, who sells a secondhand watch, as herein defined, shall affix and keep affixed to the same a tag with the words "secondhand" legibly written or printed thereon in the English language. For the purpose of this section, "sell" includes an offer to sell or exchange, expose for sale or exchange, possess with intent to sell or exchange and to sell or exchange. (1941, c. 244, s. 2.)

§ 66-32. Invoices delivered to purchasers; duplicate invoices open to inspection.—Any person, or agent or employee thereof who sells a secondhand watch, shall deliver to the purchaser a written invoice or bill of sale, setting forth the name and address of the seller, the name and address of the purchaser, the date of the sale, and a full description of the secondhand watch so sold, with the serial numbers, if any, or other distinguishing numbers or identification marks on its case and movements. A duplicate of such invoice or bill of sale shall be kept on file by the vendor for at least one year from the date of such sale, and such duplicate shall be open to inspection during all business hours by any peace officer or by any person authorized by any such peace officer to make an investigation regarding same. (1941, c. 244, s. 3.)

§ 66-33. Advertisements. — Any person advertising in any manner secondhand watches for sale shall state in such advertising that the watches so advertised are secondhand watches. (1941, c. 244, s. 4.)

§ 66-34. Violation of article made misdemeanor.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty ($50.00) dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty (30) days, or both. (1941, c. 244, s. 5.)

ARTICLE 8.

Public Warehouses.

§ 66-35. Who may become public warehousemen.—Any person or any corporation organized under the laws of this State whose charter authorizes it to engage in the business of a warehouseman, may become a public warehouseman and authorized to keep and maintain public warehouses for the storage of cotton, goods, wares, and other merchandise as hereinafter prescribed upon giving the bond hereinafter required. (1901, c. 678; Rev., s. 3029; 1919, c. 212; C. S., s. 5118.)

Cited in Champion Shoe Machinery Co. v. Sellers, 197 N. C. 30, 147 S. E. 674 (1929).

§ 66-36. Bond required. — Every person or every corporation organized under § 66-35, to become a public warehouseman, except such as shall have a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars, shall give bond in a reliable bonding or surety company, or an individual bond with sufficient sureties, payable to the State of North Carolina, in an amount not less than ten thousand dollars, to be approved, filed with and recorded by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the warehouse is located, for the faithful performance of the duties of a public warehouseman; but if such person or corporation has a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars, then it shall not be required to give the bond mentioned in this section. (1901, c. 678, s. 2; 1905, c. 540; Rev., s. 3030; 1908, c. 56; 1919, c. 212; C. S., s. 5119.)

§ 66-37. Person injured may sue on bond.—Whenever such warehouseman fails to perform any duty or violates any of the provisions of this article, any person injured by such failure or violation may bring an action in his name and to his own use in any court of competent jurisdiction on the bond of said warehouseman. (1901, c. 678, s. 3; Rev., s. 3031; C. S., s. 5120.)

Warehousemen are liable under the general law for their negligence causing damage to articles stored with them. Motley Co. v. Warehouse Co., 122 N. C. 347, 30 S. E. 3 (1898); Motley v. Southern Finishing, etc., Co., 124 N. C. 232, 32 S. E. 555 (1899).

Care Required of Bailee.—Where it was known to bailor at time of storage that the bailee knew nothing about tobacco, and had no experience in handling it, the bailee will not be held liable for injury resulting from want of skill and experience; but will be bound to use such ordinary care as a prudent man would exercise to guard against moisture in the structure of the warehouse and the location of the tobacco. Motley v. Southern Finishing Co., 126 N. C. 339, 35 S. E. 601 (1900).

Provision against Liability.—A provision in a charter of a warehouse corporation to the effect that such corporation shall not be liable for loss or damages not provided for in its warehouse receipt or contract, attempts to confer exclusive privileges and is therefore unconstitutional and void. Motley Co. v. Warehouse Co., 122 N. C. 347, 30 S. E. 3 (1898).

The measure of damages for property damaged while in the care of a storage or warehouse company is the difference between the market value of the property in its damaged condition and what it would have sold for, if undamaged, on the day of its return to the owner. Motley Co. v. Warehouse Co., 122 N. C. 347, 30 S. E. 3 (1898).

Carrier's Liability as Warehouseman. — See Poythress v. Durham & Southern R. Co., 148 N. C. 391, 62 S. E. 515 (1908); Bank v. Southern R. Co., 153 N. C. 346, 69 S. E. 261 (1910).

§ 66-38. When insurance required; storage receipts. — Every such warehouseman shall, when requested thereto in writing by a party placing property with it on storage, cause such property to be insured; every such warehouseman shall give to each person depositing property with it for storage a receipt therefor. (1901, c. 678, s. 4; 1905, c. 540, s. 2; Rev., s. 3032; C. S., s. 5121.)

Cross Reference. — As to warehouse receipts, see § 27-1 et seq.

§ 66-39. Books of account kept; open to inspection.—Every such warehouseman shall keep a book in which shall be entered an account of all its transactions relating to warehousing, storing, and insuring cotton, goods, wares, and merchandise, and to the issuing of receipts therefor, which books shall be open to the inspection of any person actually interested in the property to which such entry relates. (1901, c. 678, s. 7; Rev., s. 3035; C. S., s. 5122.)

§ 66-40. Unlawful disposition of property stored.—If any person unlawfully sells, pledges, lends, or in any other way disposes of or permits or is a party to the unlawful selling, pledging, lending, or other disposition of any goods, wares, merchandise, or anything deposited in a public warehouse, without the authority of the party who deposited the same, he shall be punished by a fine not to exceed two thousand dollars and by imprisonment in the State's prison for not more than three years; but no officer, manager, or agent of such public warehouse shall be liable to the penalties provided in this section unless, with the intent to injure or defraud any person, he so sells, pledges, lends, or in any other way disposes of the same, or is a party to the selling, pledging, lending, or other disposition of any goods, wares, merchandise, article, or thing so deposited. (1901, c. 678, s. 11; Rev., s. 3831; C. S., s. 5123.)

Cross Reference. — As to warehouse receipts, see § 27-1 et seq.

ARTICLE 9.

Collection of Accounts.

§ 66-41. Permit from Commissioner of Insurance.—Any person, firm or corporation within the State of North Carolina engaging in the collection of accounts for a percentage consideration of the account collected, or upon any other basis than regular employment, shall, before engaging in such business within the State of North Carolina, apply to and receive from the Commissioner of Insurance, a permit to engage in such business, which permit shall at all times be prominently displayed in each office of the person, firm, or corporation to whom or to which the permit is issued, and the number of said permit shall be printed in bold type upon all letterheads, stationery and forms used by the person, firm or corporation holding said permit. (1931, c. 217, s. 1; 1943, c. 170; 1959, c. 1194, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment substituted "each" for "the main" in line seven.

Contract in Violation of Article Not Enforceable. — A contract entered into and signed in this State between plaintiff, a nonresident collection agency, and defendant, a State resident, calling for the collection of the accounts of the defendant in this State, was not enforceable in this State. Divine v. Watauga Hospital, 137 F. Supp. 628 (1956).

§ 66-42. Application to Commissioner for permit.—The person, firm, or corporation desiring to secure a permit as provided in § 66-41, shall make application to the Commissioner of Insurance upon such form as the Commissioner may provide, and shall submit with such application any and all information which the Commissioner may require to assist him in determining the financial condition, business integrity, method of operation and protection to the public offered by the person, firm or corporation filing the application. Information required shall include evidence of good moral character, that no unsatisfied judgments are against the person, firm or corporation filing the application, and a financial statement showing that the applicant's assets exceed liabilities. All information submitted shall be sworn to by the responsible officer, member of the firm, or individual, as in each case necessary, and the Commissioner shall have the right to require any and all additional information which, in his judgment, might assist him in determining whether or not the applicant is entitled to the permit sought. (1931, c. 217, s. 2; 1943, c. 170; 1959, c. 1194, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1959 amendment inserted the second sentence.

§ 66-42.1. Bond requirement.—As a condition precedent to the issuance of any permit under G. S. 66-41 to any person, firm or corporation, such person, firm or corporation shall file with the Commissioner of Insurance and shall thereafter maintain in force while licensed a bond in favor of the State of North Carolina and executed by a surety company duly authorized to transact business in this State. Such bond shall be in an amount and in such form as the Commissioner of Insurance may require, except that the bond shall be for not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) and conditioned upon the faithful accounting and payment over of any funds collected for any other person, firm or corporation. The bond shall be continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect until all monies collected have been accounted for, and it shall be expressly stated in the bond that it is for the benefit of any person, firm or corporation for whom said collection agency engages in the collection of accounts. (1943, c. 170; 1959, c. 1194, s. 3.)

§ 66-42.2. Record of business in State.—Each person, firm or corporation licensed as collection agency in North Carolina shall maintain an office in this State and keep and maintain a full and correct record of all business done in this State, and all such records shall be open to inspection by the Commissioner or his duly authorized deputy upon demand. (1959, c. 1194, s. 3.)

§ 66-42.3. Licenses to meet requirements of article. — All licenses and renewals of licenses issued by the Insurance Department on or after July 1, 1959, under the provisions of this article, shall meet the requirements of this article. (1959, c. 1194, s. 3½.)

§ 66-43. Hearing granted applicant if application declined; appeal.—If, for any reason, upon the application made and upon the consideration of the data submitted with the application or items, the Commissioner shall be of the opinion that a permit should not be issued to the applicant, he shall decline the same, giving notice of his action to the applicant. Following notice, the applicant shall have ten days within which to submit additional information in support of his application, and if, upon further hearing upon the application and additional information, the Commissioner shall again decline to issue the permit, the applicant shall have the right to appeal to the superior court and his appeal shall stand for hearing in the superior court of the county of Wake, and the evidence, data and information submitted to the Commissioner shall constitute the record in the superior court, and the same shall be heard by the judge of the superior court to determine whether or not the Commissioner had evidence sufficient to justify his action. (1931, c. 217, s. 3.)

§ 66-44. Application fee; issuance of permit; contents and duration. — Upon the filing of the application and information hereinbefore required, the Commissioner may require the applicant to pay a fee of $50.00, and no permit may be issued until this fee is paid. The Commissioner may issue a permit if he finds it proper, and in that case no part of the $50.00 shall be returned. If the application is denied, the Commissioner shall retain $5.00 of the application fee and return the remainder to the applicant. The $5.00 so retained upon applications not granted, and the full fee of $50.00 upon applications granted, shall be used in paying the expenses incurred in connection with the consideration of such applications and the issuance of such permits.

Each permit shall state the name of the applicant, his place of business, and the nature and kind of business he is engaged in. The Commissioner shall assign to the permit a serial number for each year beginning with July first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one. Each permit shall be for a period of one year, beginning with July first and ending with June thirtieth of the following year. (1931, c. 217, s. 4.)

§ 66-45. Revocation of permit.—If the Commissioner shall have issued any permit to any person, firm, or corporation as herein provided, and shall have information that the holder of the permit is not conducting his business in a business-like way, he shall notify the holder of the permit of a date for a hearing, which notice shall name a time and place for the hearing, and at which hearing any and all evidence as to the conduct of the business may be heard by the Commissioner. If, upon the hearing of the evidence, the Commissioner shall be of the opinion that the applicant is not entitled to the permit, the Commissioner shall cancel said permit, after which time it shall be unlawful for the person, firm or corporation whose permit is canceled to engage in the business covered by the permit. If the permit be canceled upon hearing, either the holder of the permit or the complaining party shall have the right to appeal as hereinbefore provided in case the application is denied, and the record of the hearing before the Commissioner shall be the record in the superior court upon which the judge shall determine whether or not the Commissioner had sufficient evidence upon which to base his action. (1931, c. 217, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — Though "business-like way," as used in this section, is an exceedingly indefinite standard of conduct, the statute is probably valid, in view of the right of appeal to the courts. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 390.

§ 66-46. Rules and regulations; schedule of fees.—The Commissioner shall have the right to make any rules or regulations necessary to enforce the provisions of this article and may approve schedules of fees and methods of collecting the same, or make any other rule or regulation necessary to secure the proper conduct of the business referred to in this article. (1931, c. 217, s. 6.)

§ 66-47. Violation of article a misdemeanor. — Any person, firm or corporation who shall engage in the business referred to in this article without first receiving a permit, or who shall fail to secure a renewal of his permit upon the expiration of the license year, or shall engage in the business herein referred to after the permit has been canceled as herein provided, or who shall fail or refuse to furnish the information required of the Commissioner, or who shall fail to observe the rules and regulations made by the Commissioner pursuant to this article, shall, upon conviction, be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable in the discretion of the court. (1931, c. 217, s. 7.)

Cited in Divine v. Wautauga Hospital, 137 F. Supp. 628 (1956).

§ 66-48. Disposition of fees.—All fees collected hereunder shall be credited to the account of the Commissioner of Insurance for the specific purpose of providing the personnel, equipment and supplies necessary to enforce this article, but the Director of the Budget shall have the right to budget the revenues received in accordance with the requirements of the Commissioner for the purposes herein required, and at the end of the fiscal year, if any sum whatever shall remain to the credit of the Commissioner, derived from the sources herein referred to, the same shall revert to the general treasury of the State to be appropriated as other funds. (1931, c. 217, s. 8; 1943, c. 170.)

§ 66-49. Attorneys at law and local county agencies excepted.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to apply to legally licensed attorneys at law engaged in the practice of the profession of law unless, however, such attorneys shall engage in the business herein referred to under a trade name, or as a corporation, nor shall this article apply or be construed to apply to any person, firm or corporation whose business of collecting accounts is limited to the collection of such accounts against debtors having residence in the county of the residence of such person or firm, or the principal office of such corporations so engaged in such business. (1931, c. 217, s. 9.)

ARTICLE 10.

Fair Trade.

§ 66-50. Title of article. — This article may be known and cited as the "Fair Trade Act." (1937, c. 350, s. 10.)

Editor's Note. — For a discussion of the see 15 N. C. Law Rev. 367. For constitutionality of article, see note to § 66-52.

§ 66-51. Definitions. — The following terms, as used in this article, are hereby defined as follows:

- (1) "Commodity" means any subject of commerce.
- (2) "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint-stock company, a business trust or any unincorporated organization. "Person" shall not include the State of North Carolina or any of its political subdivisions.
- (3) "Producer" means any grower, baker, maker, manufacturer, bottler, packer, converter, processor or publisher.
- (4) "Retailer" means any person selling a commodity to consumers for use.
- (5) "Wholesaler" means any person selling a commodity other than a producer or retailer. (1937, c. 350, s. 1.)

§ 66-52. Authorized contracts relating to sale or resale of commodities bearing trademark, brand or name.—No contract relating to the sale or resale of a commodity which bears, or the label or container of which bears, the trademark, brand, or name of the producer or distributor of such commodity and which commodity is in free and open competition with commodities of the same general class produced or distributed by others, shall be deemed in violation of any law of the State of North Carolina by reason of any of the following provisions which may be contained in such contract:

- (1) That the buyer will not resell such commodity at less than the minimum price stipulated by the seller.
- (2) That the buyer will require of any dealer to whom he may resell such commodity an agreement that he will not, in turn, resell at less than the minimum price stipulated by the seller.
- (3) That the seller will not sell such commodity:
 - a. To any wholesaler, unless such wholesaler will agree not to resell the same to any retailer unless the retailer will in turn agree not to resell the same except to consumers for use and at not less than the stipulated minimum price, and such wholesaler will likewise agree not to resell the same to any other wholesaler unless such other wholesaler will make the same agreement with any wholesaler or retailer to whom he may resell; or
 - b. To any retailer, unless the retailer will agree not to resell the same except to consumers for use and at not less than the stipulated minimum price. (1937, c. 350, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — For note on constitutionality of fair trade acts, see 31 N. C. Law Rev. 509.

Article Is Constitutional. — The Fair

Trade Act, permitting the manufacturer or distributor of trademarked goods to establish the minimum retail sale price of such goods by contract with wholesalers and retailers, and providing that sale by retailers not parties to the contracts at prices less than those stipulated in the contracts should be deemed unfair competition, is not void as creating or tending to create monopolies in contravention of Art. I, § 31, of the State Constitution, since the restrictions imposed by the act are limited and apply solely to trademarked goods in their vertical distribution from manufacturer or distributor through the wholesalers and retailers to the consumer, which goods are sold by the retailer in competition with goods of the same general class of other manufacturers or, in the case of patented goods, in competition with comparable products of other manufacturers, and therefore the act does not create or tend to create a monopoly by horizontal agreements between persons in the same business in competition with each other. Lilly & Co. v. Saunders, 216 N. C. 163, 4 S. E. (2d) 528, 125 A. L. R. 1308 (1939).

The Fair Trade Act, permitting the establishment of minimum retail prices on trademarked goods by agreement, does not deprive a retailer not a party to a contract with the manufacturer or distributor of any property right in preventing such retailer from selling the trademarked article at a price less than that stipulated by contract, since such retailer acquires title with knowledge and subject to the stipulations relative to the minimum retail price permitted by the law in protecting the property right of the manufacturer or distributor in his trademark and good will, which property right subsists while the goods bear his trademark, even after he has parted with title of the commodity itself. Lilly & Co. v. Saunders, 216 N. C. 163, 4 S. E. (2d) 528, 125 A. L. R. 1308 (1939).

The Fair Trade Act is not a special act regulating trade in contravention of Constitution, Art. II, § 29. Nor is it unconstitutional as a delegation of legislative authority. Lilly & Co. v. Saunders, 216 N. C. 163, 4 S. E. (2d) 528, 125 A. L. R. 1308 (1939).

§ 66-53. Certain evasions of resale price restrictions prohibited.—For the purpose of preventing evasion of the resale price restrictions imposed in respect of any commodity by any contract entered into pursuant to the provisions of this article (except to the extent authorized by the said contract):

- (1) The offering or giving of any article of value in connection with the sale of such commodity;
- (2) The offering or the making of any concession of any kind whatsoever (whether by the giving of coupons or otherwise) in connection with any such sale; or
- (3) The sale or offering for sale of such commodity in combination with any other commodity shall be deemed a violation of such resale prices restriction, for which the remedies prescribed by § 66-56 shall be available. (1937, c. 350, s. 3.)

§ 66-54. Contracts with persons other than the owner of the brand, etc., not authorized.—No minimum resale price shall be established for any commodity, under any contract entered into pursuant to the provisions of this article, by any person other than the owner of the trademark, brand or name used in connection with such commodity or a distributor specifically authorized to establish said price by the owner of such trademark, brand or name. (1937, c. 350, s. 4.)

§ 66-55. Resales not precluded by contract. — No contract containing any of the provisions enumerated in § 66-52 shall be deemed to preclude the resale of any commodity covered thereby without reference to such contract in the following cases:

- (1) In closing out the owner's stock for the bona fide purpose of discontinuing dealing in any such commodity and when plain notice of the fact is given to the public: Provided, the owner of such stock shall give to the producer or distributor of such commodity prompt and reasonable notice in writing of his intention to close out said stock, and an opportunity to purchase such stock at the original invoice price;
- (2) When the trademark, brand or name is removed or wholly obliterated from the commodity and is not used or directly or indirectly referred to in the advertisement or sale thereof;

- (3) When the goods are altered, secondhand, damaged or deteriorated and plain notice of the fact is given to the public in the advertisement and sale thereof, such notice to be conspicuously displayed in all advertisements and to be affixed to the commodity;
- (4) By any officer acting under an order of court;
- (5) When any commodity is sold to a religious, charitable or educational organization or institution, provided such commodity is for the use of such organization or institution and not for resale. (1937, c. 350, s. 5.)

§ 66-56. Violation of contract declared unfair competition.—Willfully and knowingly advertising, offering for sale or selling any commodity at less than the price stipulated in any contract entered into pursuant to the provisions of this article, whether the person so advertising, offering for sale or selling is or is not a party to such contract, is unfair competition and is actionable at the suit of any person damaged thereby. (1937, c. 350, s. 6.)

Cross Reference.—See note under § 66-52.

Retailer Deemed to Contract in Contemplation of Article.—The fact that a manufacturer or distributor of trademarked commodities permits the sale of such commodities to a noncontracting retailer does not preclude the manufacturer or distributor from maintaining a suit against such retailer under this article, since the manufacturer or distributor has the option to obtain a contract or rely upon the statute, and since the sale to the noncontracting retailer does not confer upon him the right to violate the statute with reference to which he is deemed to have contracted in making the purchase. Lilly & Co. v. Saunders, 216 N. C. 163, 4 S. E. (2d) 528, 125 A. L. R. 1308 (1939).

Permanent Injunction Authorized.—This section authorizes a suit by a manufacturer or distributor protected by the act against a noncontracting retailer to permanently enjoin such retailer from selling trademarked commodities of the manufacturer or distributor in violation of the act upon allegations of accrued and prospective irreparable damages. Lilly & Co. v. Saunders, 216 N. C. 163, 4 S. E. (2d) 528, 125 A. L. R. 1308 (1939).

Reasonable Profit Is No Defense.—The fact that a retailer makes a reasonable profit upon trademarked articles is no defense in a suit against such retailer for selling such articles at a price below that allowed by this article, since the standard of the statute is one of retail price and not of reasonable profit. Lilly & Co. v. Saunders, 216 N. C. 163, 4 S. E. (2d) 528, 125 A. L. R. 1308 (1939).

§ 66-57. Exemptions. — This article shall not apply to any contract or agreement between or among producers or distributors or, except as provided in subdivision (3) of § 66-52, between or among wholesalers, or between or among retailers, as to sale or resale prices. This article shall not apply to any prices offered in connection with or contracts or purchases made by the State of North Carolina or any of its agencies, or any of the political subdivisions of the said State. (1937, c. 350, s. 7.)

Government in Business.

§ 66-58. Sale of merchandise by governmental units.—(a) Except as may be provided in this section, it shall be unlawful for any unit, department or agency of the State government, or any division or subdivision of any such unit, department or agency, or any individual employee or employees of any such unit, department or agency in his, or her, or their capacity as employee or employees thereof, to engage directly or indirectly in the sale of goods, wares or merchandise in competition with citizens of the State, or to engage in the operation of restaurants, cafeterias or other eating places in any building owned by or leased in the name of the State, or to maintain service establishments for the rendering of services to the public ordinarily and customarily rendered by private enterprises, or to contract with any person, firm or corporation for the operation or rendering of any such businesses or services on behalf of any such unit, department or agency, or to purchase for or sell to any person, firm or corporation any article of merchandise in competition with private enterprise. The leasing or subleasing of space in any building owned, leased or operated by any unit, department or agency or division or subdivision thereof of the State for the purpose of operating or rendering of any of the businesses or services herein referred to is hereby prohibited.

(b) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall not apply to:

- (1) Counties and municipalities.
- (2) The State Board of Health or the Department of Agriculture for the sale of serums, vaccines, and other like products.
- (3) The Division of Purchase and Contract, except that said agency shall not exceed the authority granted in the act creating the agency.
- (4) The State Hospitals for the Insane.
- (5) The State Commission for the Blind.
- (6) The North Carolina School for the Blind at Raleigh.
- (7) The North Carolina School for the Deaf at Morganton.
- (8) The Greater University of North Carolina with regard to its utilities and other services now operated by it nor to the sale of articles produced incident to the operation of instructional departments, articles incident to educational research, articles of merchandise incident to classroom work, meals, books, or to articles of merchandise not exceeding twenty-five cents (25¢) in value when sold to members of the educational staff or staff auxiliary to education or to duly enrolled students or occasionally to immediate members of the families of members of the educational staff or of duly enrolled students nor to the sale of meals or merchandise to persons attending meetings or conventions as invited guests nor to the operation by the University of North Carolina of an inn or hotel and dining and other facilities usually connected with a hotel or inn, nor to the hospital and Medical School of the University of North Carolina, nor to the Coliseum of North Carolina State College, and the other schools and colleges for higher education maintained or supported by the State.
- (9) The Department of Conservation and Development, except that said department shall not construct, maintain, operate or lease a hotel or tourist inn in any park over which it has jurisdiction.
- (10) Child caring institutions or orphanages receiving State aid.
- (11) Highlands School in Macon County.
- (12) The North Carolina State Fair.
- (13) Rural Electric Memberships Corporations.
- (14) Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the engagement in any of the activities described in subsection (a) hereof by a firm, corporation or person who or which is a lessee of space only of the State of North Carolina or any of its departments or agencies; provided such leases shall be awarded by the Division of Purchase and Contract to the highest bidder, as provided by law in the case of State contracts and which lease shall be for a term of not less than one year and not more than five years.

(c) The provisions of subsection (a) shall not prohibit:

- (1) The sale of products of experiment stations or test farms.
- (2) The sale of learned journals, works of art, books or publications of the State Historical Commission or other agencies, or the Supreme Court Reports or Session Laws of the General Assembly.
- (3) The business operation of endowment funds established for the purpose of producing income for educational purposes.

- (4) The operation of lunch counters by the State Commission for the Blind of the type operated on January 1, 1951, in State buildings in the city of Raleigh.
 - (5) The operation of concession stands in the State Capital during the sessions of the legislature.
 - (6) The maintenance by the prison system authorities of eating and sleeping facilities at units of the State prison system for prisoners and for members of the prison staff while on duty, or the maintenance by the highway system authorities of eating and sleeping facilities for working crews on highway construction or maintenance when actually engaged in such work on parts of the highway system.
 - (7) The operation by penal, correctional or institutions for the care of the blind, or mentally or physically defective, or by the State Department of Agriculture, of dining rooms for the inmates or patients or members of the staff while on duty and for the accommodation of persons visiting such inmates or patients, and other bona fide visitors.
 - (8) The sale by the Department of Agriculture of livestock, poultry and publications in keeping with its present livestock and farm program.
 - (9) The operation by the public schools of school cafeterias.
 - (10) Sale by any State correctional or other institution of farms, dairy, livestock or poultry products raised or produced by it in its normal operations as authorized by the act creating it.
 - (11) The sale of textbooks, library books, forms, bulletins, and instructional supplies by the State Board of Education, State Department of Public Instruction, and local school authorities.
- (d) A department, agency or educational unit named in subsection (b) shall not perform any of the prohibited acts for or on behalf of any other department, agency or educational unit.

(e) Any person, whether employee of the State of North Carolina or not, who shall violate, or participate in the violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1939, c. 122; 1951, c. 1090, s. 1; 1957, c. 349, s. 6.)

ARTICLE 12.

Coupons for Products of Photography.

§ 66-59. Title of article.—The title of this article shall be “An Act to Prevent the Perpetration of Certain Fraudulent Practices by Photographers within the State of North Carolina.” (1943, c. 25, s. 1.)

Article Invalid as Applied to Interstate Commerce.—This article is repugnant to the Commerce Clause—Article I, Section 8, Clause 3, of the Constitution of the United States. Therefore, the statute is declared invalid and inoperative as applied to persons engaged in interstate commerce. State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

§ 66-60. Definitions. — (a) Coupon.—The term “coupon” as used herein shall mean any coupon, certificate, receipt or similar device, by whatever name called.

(b) Photographer.—The term “photographer” as used herein shall mean any individual, firm, partnership, association, corporation, or other group or combination acting as a unit.

(c) Solicitor.—The term “solicitor” as used herein shall mean any agent, salesman, employee, solicitor, canvasser, or any other person acting for or on behalf of a photographer. (1943, c. 25, s. 2.)

Quoted in State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

§ 66-61. Coupons redeemable in products of photography prohibited unless bond given.—No photographer or solicitor shall sell or issue any coupon, whether for a consideration or otherwise, purporting to be exchangeable, redeemable, or payable, in whole or in part, for any product of photography, including photographs, coloring, tinting, frames, mounts, folders, copying or the reproduction of photographs, and all other products of photography, unless the principal for which said business is conducted shall first file with the clerk of the superior court in each and every county in which said business is to be conducted a good and sufficient bond in the principal sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00), the condition of such bond being that the principal shall well and truly discharge all contracts, representations and other obligations made by said principal and all contracts, representations and other obligations made by any solicitor of such principal. (1943, c. 25, s. 3.)

The bonding requirement of this section reaches beyond the justifiable purpose of the article, and engrafts upon the bond unlimited liability for any and all representations and obligations of any solicitor, without regard for the presence or absence of elements of fraud. Also, in burdening the bond with unlimited liability for any "representation, or other obligation" of any solicitor, the statute in effect suspends settled rules of law governing the relation of principal and agent, under which ordinarily the principal may not be held liable for acts and conduct of the agent beyond the scope of the agent's authority, actual or apparent. These conditions, when interpreted in the light of common knowledge, would seem so to fetter the bond with contingent liabilities as to make compliance onerously difficult, if not prohibitory. Here the section moves close to, if not beyond, the permissive bounds of the due process and equal protection clauses of the constitutions. State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

Section Is Discriminatory and Unduly Burdensome on Interstate Commerce.—The fixed-sum bonding requirement in this section, in failing to provide flexibility in reasonable relation to the volume of sales, is inherently discriminatory and unduly burdensome on interstate commerce. State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

§ 66-62. Method of withdrawing bond.—The coupons, as above defined, issued in any county shall be serially numbered, and before any bond, herein required to be filed, can be withdrawn, the principal on said bond shall file a sworn statement with the clerk of the superior court, in a form approved by said clerk, showing the lowest and highest serial number of the coupon, the total number issued, and the total number that has been redeemed. On the unredeemed coupons, the said principal shall show the name and address of the person to whom the said coupon was issued; that each of said persons have been notified, in writing, at the address shown, at least thirty (30) days prior thereto, to redeem said coupons, or otherwise that said coupon would become void on a day certain stated in said notice. (1943, c. 25, s. 4.)

Quoted in State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

§ 66-63. Remedies for loss sustained through nonperformance of obligation in connection with sale of coupons.—Any person sustaining any loss or damage by reason of any photographer or solicitor failing to fully perform and discharge any contract, representation or other obligation in connection with the sale of any coupon purporting to be exchangeable, redeemable or payable, in whole or in part, for any product of photography, whether such contract, promise or representation be made by the photographer or solicitor, may recover in any court of competent jurisdiction against the principal and his, her or its surety, the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00), in addition to any actual loss or damage sustained, and any amount so recovered shall be a specific lien on the bond filed as herein required. (1943, c. 25, s. 5.)

Quoted in State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

§ 66-64. Violation a misdemeanor.—Any person violating the provisions of this article, including the make of any false statement in the affidavit required under § 66-62, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1943, c. 25, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The word "make" in line two, which also appears in the act from which this section was codified, was obviously intended to read "making." Quoted in State v. Mobley, 234 N. C. 55, 66 S. E. (2d) 12 (1951).

ARTICLE 13.

Miscellaneous Provisions.

§ 66-65. Indemnity bonds required of agents, etc., to state maximum liability and period of liability. — Wherever any person, firm, or corporation, engaged in the business of merchandising any articles whatsoever, shall require of its agents, solicitors, salesmen, representatives, consignees, or peddlers, or other persons selling or handling its merchandise, as a condition precedent to selling or handling any of the merchandise of said person, firm, or corporation, that such agents, solicitors, salesmen, representatives, consignees, or peddlers should furnish and provide a bond or guaranty or indemnity contract guaranteeing the full and faithful accounting of moneys collected from such merchandise, such bond or indemnity contract shall state specifically therein the maximum amount of money or other liability which the principal and the sureties or guarantors thereof undertake thereby to pay in event of default of said bond or indemnity or guaranty contract; and said bond or indemnity or guaranty contract shall also state specifically the period of time during which liability may be incurred on account of any default in said bond or indemnity or guaranty contract.

Any bond or indemnity or guaranty contract which does not comply with the provisions of this section shall be null and void and no action may be maintained against the surety or guarantor to recover any sum due thereon in any court of this State. (1943, c. 604, ss. 1, 2.)

Editor's Note. — For comment on this section, see 21 N. C. Law Rev. 362.

§ 66-66. Manufacture or sale of anti-freeze solutions compounded with inorganic salts or petroleum distillates prohibited.—The manufacture or sale of anti-freeze solutions which are designated, intended, advertised, or recommended by the manufacturer or seller for use in the cooling systems of motor vehicles or gasoline combustion engines, and which are compounded with calcium chloride, magnesium chloride, sodium chloride, or other inorganic salts or with petroleum distillates is hereby prohibited.

Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1943, c. 625, ss. 1, 2.)

§ 66-67. Disposition by laundries and dry cleaning establishments of certain unclaimed clothing.—If any person shall fail to claim any garment, clothing, household article or other article delivered for laundering, cleaning or pressing to any laundry or dry cleaning establishment as defined in G. S. 105-85, or any dry cleaning establishment as defined in G. S. 105-74, for a period of four months after the surrender of such articles for processing, the laundry or dry cleaning establishment shall have the right to dispose of such garments, clothing, household articles or other articles by whatever means it may choose, without liability or responsibility to the owner. Provided, however, that before such laundry or dry cleaning establishment may claim the benefit of this section it shall at the time of receiving such garments, clothing, household articles or other articles, have a notice of dimensions of not less than 12 by 18 inches, prominently displayed in a conspicuous place in the office, branch office or retail outlet where said clothes, garments or articles are received, if the same be received at an office, on which notice shall appear the words "NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR GOODS LEFT ON HAND FOR MORE THAN FOUR MONTHS": Provided further, that any garment or clothing or other article of a value of more than seventy-five dollars ($75.00) may not be disposed of for a period of two years after the surrender of such articles for processing, in which case such garments, clothing or other articles may be disposed of 30 days after a notice thereof has been sent by registered mail, with return receipt requested, to the last known address of the owner of such garment, clothing or other article; provided further, that the provisions of this section shall also be applicable with respect to the storage of garments, furs, rugs, clothing or other articles after the completion of the period for which storage was agreed to be provided. (1947, c. 975; 1953, c. 1054.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment rewrote this section.

ARTICLE 14.

Business under Assumed Name Regulated.

§ 66-68. Certificate to be filed; contents.—(a) Before any person or partnership other than a limited partnership engages in business in any county in this State under an assumed name or under any designation, name or style other than the real name of the owner or owners thereof, or before a corporation engages in business in any county other than under its corporate name, such person, partnership, or corporation must file in the office of the clerk of the superior court of such county a certificate giving the following information:

(1) The name under which the business is to be conducted;

(2) The name and address of the owner, or if there is more than one owner, the name and address of each.

(b) If the owner is an individual or a partnership, the certificate must be signed and duly acknowledged by the individual owner, or by each partner. If the owner is a corporation, it must be signed in the name of the corporation and duly acknowledged as provided by G. S. 47-41.

(c) Whenever a partner withdraws from or a new partner joins a partnership, a new certificate shall be filed.

(d) It is not necessary that any person, partnership, or corporation file such certificate in any county where no place of business is maintained and where the only business done in such county is the sale of goods by sample or by traveling agents or by mail. (1913, c. 77, s. 1; C. S., s. 3288; 1951, c. 381, ss. 3, 7.)

Cross Reference.—As to prohibition of use of title "certified public accountant" by partnership or association unless all members qualified, see § 93-4.

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment transferred this section from § 59-85 and rewrote the section, making it applicable to corporations, inserting the specific references to partnerships, and making other changes.

For comment on the 1951 amendments to this article, see 29 N. C. Law Rev. 377, 409.

Statute Is Highly Penal. — Chapter 77, Laws of 1913, codified as §§ 66-68 through 66-71, is of a highly penal character, and its meaning will not be extended by interpretation to include cases that do not come clearly within its provision. Jennette v. Coppersmith, 176 N. C. 82, 97 S. E. 42 (1918); Security Finance Co. v. Hendry, 189 N. C. 549, 127 S. E. 629 (1925).

And the courts will not lend their aid to extend a highly penal statute, although it is within the police power, unless the case comes within the letter of the law, and also within its meaning and palpable design. It is just as clearly the policy of the law that it will not lend its aid in enforcing a claim founded on its own violation. Security Finance Co. v. Hendry, 189 N. C. 549, 127 S. E. 629 (1925).

The intent of the statute is to prevent fraud or imposition upon those dealing with a business conducted under an assumed name, and to afford them means for knowing the status and responsibility of the concern with which they deal. Price v. Edwards, 178 N. C. 493, 101 S. E. 33 (1919).

The statute was enacted as a police regulation to protect the general public from fraud and imposition. Courtney v. Parker, 173 N. C. 479, 92 S. E. 324 (1917); Security Finance Co. v. Hendry, 189 N. C. 549, 127 S. E. 629 (1925).

The statute manifestly is for the protection of creditors of persons who fail to comply with its provisions, or of others who do business with them. The consequences of a violation are prescribed by § 66-71. They seem to be limited to punishment as a misdemeanor, for it is expressly provided that failure to comply with this section, shall not prevent a recovery in a civil action by the person who shall violate the statute. Farmers' Bank, etc., Co. v. Murphy, 189 N. C. 479, 127 S. E. 527 (1925).

The statute does not apply between partners who are presumed to know the status and responsibility of the partnership; and a surviving partner may maintain his action against the heirs of the dead one to recover his share in the assets of a partnership in a legitimate business, notwithstanding the business had been conducted in the name solely of the dead partner, and the requirements of the statute had not been complied with. Price v. Edwards, 178 N. C. 493, 101 S. E. 33 (1919).

Where a partnership in a legitimate business has been conducted in the name of one of the partners alone, as between themselves the statute does not apply; and an action of the silent partner to recover his share of the assets from the other is not founded upon any wrong avoiding his recovery. Price v. Edwards, 178 N. C. 493, 101 S. E. 33 (1919).

Where a partnership is being conducted under the surname of the proprietors in such manner as to afford a reasonable and sufficient guide to a correct knowledge of the individuals composing the firm, the statute does not apply. Befarah v. Spell, 176 N. C. 193, 96 S. E. 949 (1918).

In Jennette v. Coppersmith, 176 N. C. 82, 97 S. E. 54 (1918), it was held that the title of the plaintiffs' firm, Jennette Bros., afforded a reasonable and sufficient guide to correct knowledge of the individuals composing the firm, and therefore did not come clearly within the doctrine of "assumed" names within the meaning of this statute.

Cited in Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 214 N. C. 38, 198 S. E. 364 (1938).

§ 66-69. Index of certificates kept by clerk.—Each clerk of the superior court of this State shall keep an index which will show alphabetically every assumed name with respect to which a certificate is hereafter so filed in his county.

For the indexing and filing of each such certificate he shall receive a fee of twenty-five cents (25¢). (1913, c. 77, s. 2; C. S., s. 3299; 1951, c. 381, ss. 4, 7.)

copy of a certificate presumptive evidence. The deleted provision now appears with slight changes in wording as § 66-69.1.

§ 66-69.1. Copy of certificate prima facie evidence.—A copy of such certificate duly certified by the clerk of the superior court in whose office it has been filed shall be prima facie evidence of the facts required to be stated therein. (1913, c. 77, s. 2; C. S., s. 3299; 1951, c. 381, ss. 5, 7.)

§ 66-70. Corporations and limited partnerships not affected.—This article shall in no way affect or apply to any corporation created and organized under the laws of this State, or to any corporation organized under the laws of any other state and lawfully doing business in this State, nor shall it in any manner affect the right of any persons to form limited partnerships as provided by the laws of this State. (1913, c. 77, s. 3; C. S., s. 3290; 1951, c. 381, s. 7.)

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment transferred this section from § 59-87. It should be noted that the 1951 amendment to § 66-68 (formerly § 59-85) made that section applicable to corporations and partnerships.

§ 66-71. Violation of article a misdemeanor; civil penalty.—(a) Any person, partner or corporation failing to file the certificate as required by this article—

- (1) Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, and
- (2) Shall be liable in the amount of fifty dollars ($50.00) to any person demanding that such certificate be filed if he fails to file the certificate within seven days after such demand. Such penalty may be collected in a civil action therefor.

(b) The failure of any person to comply with the provisions of this article does not prevent a recovery by such person in any civil action brought in any of the courts of this State. (1913, c. 77, s. 4; 1919, c. 2; C. S., s. 3291; 1951, c. 381, ss. 6, 7.)

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment transferred this section from § 59-88. The amendment also rewrote the section, inserting the reference to "partner or corporation" and the provision for a civil penalty, and making other changes.

Nature and Purpose of Section. — See note to § 66-68.

Contracts in Violation of Statute Not Void.—It is clear that the legislature intended, by adding the proviso to this section, that the punishment should be confined to the fine or imprisonment set out, but that contracts made by persons carrying on or conducting or transacting business in violation of § 66-68 should not be void. Security Finance Co. v. Hendry, 189 N. C. 549, 127 S. E. 629 (1925). See Real Estate Co. v. Sasser, 179 N. C. 497, 103 S. E. 73 (1920); Farmers' Bank, etc., Co. v. Murphy, 189 N. C. 479, 127 S. E. 527 (1925).

The proviso had the effect of changing the decision in Courtney v. Parker, 173 N. C. 479, 92 S. E. 324 (1917). See Security Finance Co. v. Hendry, 189 N. C. 549, 127 S. E. 629 (1925).

ARTICLE 15.

Person Trading as "Company" or "Agent."

§ 66-72. Person trading as "company" or "agent" to disclose real parties.—If any person shall transact business as trader or merchant, with the addition of the words "factor," "agent," "& Company" or "& Co.," or shall conduct such business under any name or style other than his own, except in case of a corporation, and fail to disclose the name of his principal or partner by a sign placed conspicuously at the place wherein such business is conducted, then all the property, stock of goods and merchandise, and choses in action purchased, used and contracted in the course of such business shall, as to creditors, be liable for the debts contracted in the course of such business by the person in charge of same. Provided, this section shall not apply to any person transacting business under license as an auctioneer, broker, or commission merchant; in all actions under this section it is incumbent on such trader or merchant to prove compliance with the same. (1905, c. 443; Rev., s. 2118; C. S., s. 3292; 1951, c. 381, s. 8.)

Cross Reference.—As to running of statute of limitations against undisclosed partner, see § 1-28.

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment transferred this section from § 59-89.

ARTICLE 16.

Unfair Trade Practices in Diamond Industry.

§ 66-73. Definitions.—For the purpose of this article:

- (1) A "diamond" is a natural mineral consisting essentially of pure carbon crystallized in the isometric system and is found in many colors. Its hardness is 10; its specific gravity approximately 3.52; and it has a refractive index 2.42.
- (2) "A member of the diamond industry" shall be construed to mean any person, firm, corporation or organization engaged in the business of selling, offering for sale, or distributing in commerce, diamonds (other than industrial diamonds), whether cut, polished, or in the rough, synthetic diamonds and imitation diamonds, and of any jewelry items or other products containing diamonds, synthetic diamonds, or imitation diamonds.

- (3) "The diamond industry" or "the industry" as used in this article is a trade, industry or business which shall be construed to embrace all persons, firms, corporations and organizations engaged in selling, offering for sale, or the distribution in commerce of diamonds (other than industrial diamonds), whether cut, polished or in the rough, synthetic diamonds and imitation diamonds, and of any jewelry item or other products containing diamonds, synthetic diamonds or imitation diamonds.
- (4) "Unfair trade practices" as referred to herein are unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices and other illegal practices which are prohibited by law. (1957, c. 585, s. 1.)

§ 66-74. What constitutes unfair trade practice.—It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the diamond industry:

- (1) To use, or cause or promote the use of, any trade promotional literature, advertising matter, guarantee, warranty, mark, brand, label, trade name, picture, design or device, designation, or other type of oral or written representation, however disseminated or published, which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers with respect to the type, kind, grade, quality, color, cut, quantity, size, weight, nature, substance, durability, serviceability, origin, preparation, production, manufacture, distribution, or customary or regular price, of any diamond or other product of the industry, or which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving the purchasing or consuming public in any other material respect.
- (2) In the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of products of the industry to use the unqualified word "diamond" as descriptive of or as an identification for any object or product not meeting the requirements specified in the definition of diamond hereinabove set forth, or which, through meeting such requirements, has not been symmetrically fashioned with at least seventeen (17) polished facets.

The foregoing provisions of subdivision (2) have application to the unqualified use of the word "diamond". They are not to be construed as inhibiting:

- a. The use of the words "rough diamond" as descriptive of or as a designation for, uncut or unfaceted objects or products meeting the requirements specified in the mentioned definition of diamond; or
- b. The use of the word "diamond" as descriptive of or as a designation for objects or products meeting the requirements of said definition of diamond, but which have not been symmetrically fashioned with at least seventeen (17) polished facets when in immediate conjunction with the word "diamond", there is either a disclosure of the number of facets and shape of the diamond or the name of a type of diamond which denotes shape and which usually has less than seventeen (17) facets (e. g., "rose diamond"); or
- c. The use of the words "imitation diamond" as descriptive of or as a designation for objects or products which do not meet the requirements of said definition of diamond but have an appearance similar to that of a cut and polished diamond.

When the word "diamond" is so used, the qualifying word or words shall be of at least equal conspicuousness as the word "diamond".

- (3) To use the words "reproduction", "replica", "diamond-like", or similar terms as descriptive of imitation diamonds.
- (4) To use the term "synthetic diamond" as descriptive of any object or product unless such object or product has in fact been artificially created and is of similar appearance and of essentially the same optical and physical properties and chemical structure as a diamond, or to apply the term "diamond" to any such man-made object or products unless it is immediately preceded in each instance with equal conspicuity by the word "synthetic".
- (5) To use the word "perfect" or any other word, expression or representation of similar import, as descriptive of any diamond which discloses flaws, cracks, carbon spots, clouds, or other blemishes or imperfections of any sort when examined in normal daylight, or its equivalent, by a trained eye under a ten-power corrected diamond eye loupe or other equal magnifier.

The use with respect to a stone which is not perfect of any phase (such as "commercially perfect") containing the word "perfect" or "perfectly" is regarded as misleading and in violation of this subdivision, and this subdivision shall not be construed as approving of the use of the word "perfect", or any word or representation of like import, as descriptive of any diamond that is of inferior color or make. Nothing is to be construed as inhibiting the use of the word "flawless" as descriptive of a diamond which meets the requirements for "perfect" set forth in this subdivision.

- (6) In connection with the offering of any ring or rings or other articles of jewelry having a perfect center stone or stones, and side or supplementary stones which are not of such quality, to use the word "perfect" without clearly disclosing that such description applies only to the center stone or center stones.
- (7) To use the term "blue white" or any other term, expression or representation of similar import as descriptive of any diamond which under normal, north daylight or its equivalent, shows any color or any trace of any color, other than blue or bluish.
- (8) To advertise, offer for sale, or sell any diamond which has been artificially colored or tinted by coating, irradiating, or heating, or by use of nuclear bombardment, or by any other means, without disclosure of such fact to purchasers or prospective purchasers, or without disclosure that such artificial coloring or tinting is not permanent, if such is the fact.
- (9) To use the terms "properly cut", "proper cut", "modern cut", "well made", or expressions of similar import, to describe any diamond that is lopsided or so thick or so thin in depth as materially to detract from the brilliance of the stone.
- (10) To use the unqualified expressions "brilliant", or "brilliant cut", or "full cut" to describe, identify or refer to any diamond except a round diamond which has at least thirty-two (32) facets, plus the table above the girdle and at least twenty-four (24) facets below.

Such terms should not be applied to single or rose-cut diamonds, either with or without qualification. They may be applied to emerald (rectangular) cut and marquise (pointed oval) cut diamonds meeting the above stated facet requirements when, in immediate conjunction with the term used, disclosure is made of the fact that the diamond is of emerald or marquise form.

- (11) To use the terms "clean", "eye clean", "commercially clean", "commercially white", or any other terms, expressions, or representations of similar import in advertising, labeling, representing, or describing any diamond when such terms are used for the purpose, or with the capacity and tendency or effect, of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public.

- (12) To misrepresent the weight of any diamond or to deceive purchasers or prospective purchasers as to the weight of any diamond.

The standard unit for designation of the weight of a diamond is the carat, which is equivalent to two hundred milligrams ($1/5$ gram). While advertisements may state the approximate weight or range of weights of a group of products, all weight representations regarding individual products shall state the exact weight of the stone or stones and be accurate to within $1/200$ th of a carat (one-half "point").

- (13) To state or otherwise represent the weight of all diamonds contained in a ring or other article of jewelry unless such weight figure is accompanied with equal conspicuity by the words "total weight" or words of similar import, so as to indicate clearly that the weight shown is that of all stones in the article and not that of the center or largest stone.

- (14) To use the word "gem" to describe, identify or refer to any diamond which does not possess the requisite beauty, brilliance, value and other qualities necessary for classification as a gem.

Not all diamonds are gems. For example: Small pieces of diamond rough or melee weighing only one or two points are not to be described as "gems". Neither should stones which are grossly imperfect or of decidedly poor color be so classified unless they are of such a size as to be rare and desirable and valuable for that reason.

No imitation diamond can be described as a gem under any circumstances.

- (15) In connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of diamonds or articles set with diamonds, to use as part of any advertisement, label, packaging material, or other sales promotion literature, any illustration, picture, diagram or other depiction which either alone or in conjunction with accompanying words or phrases has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers concerning the type, kind, grade, color, cut, quality, size, weight, or character of any diamond, or which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading the purchasing or consuming public in any other material respect.

- (16) To use as part of any advertisement, label, packaging material, or other sales promotion literature, any illustration which exaggerates the size of a diamond inset or enlarges it out of proper proportion to the mounting, without clearly and conspicuously stating either the amount that the diamond has been enlarged in the illustration, or that the diamond in the illustration has been "enlarged to show detail".

- (17) To represent, directly or indirectly, through the use of any statement or representation in advertising or through the use of any word or term in a corporate or trade name, or otherwise, that said member is a producer, cutter, or importer of diamonds, or owns or controls a cutting plant, or has connections abroad, through which importations of rough or cut stones are secured, or maintains offices abroad, when such is not the fact, or in any other manner to misrepresent the character, extent, volume, or type of business being conducted.

- (18) To publish or circulate false or misleading price quotations, price lists, terms or conditions of sale or reports as to production or sales which have the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public, or to advertise, sell or offer to sell diamonds or articles set with diamonds at prices purporting to be reduced from what are, in fact, fictitious or exaggerated manufacturer's or distributor's suggested retail selling price, or that contains what purport to be bona fide price quotations which are in fact higher than the prices at which such products are regularly and customarily sold in bona fide retail transactions. It is likewise an unfair trade practice to distribute, sell or offer for sale to the consuming public in such manner diamonds or articles set with diamonds bearing such false, fictitious, or exaggerated price tags or labels.

- (19) To offer for sale, sell, advertise, describe, or otherwise represent diamonds or diamond-set merchandise as "close-outs", "discontinued lines", or "special bargains", by use of such terms or by words or representations of similar import, when such is not true in fact; or to offer for sale, sell, advertise, describe or otherwise represent such articles where the capacity and tendency or effect thereof is to lead the purchasing or consuming public to believe the same are being offered for sale or sold at greatly reduced prices, or at so-called "bargain" prices when such is not the fact.
- (20) To advertise a particular style or type of product for sale when purchasers or prospective purchasers responding to such advertisement cannot readily purchase the advertised style or type of product from the industry member and the purpose of the advertisement is to obtain prospects for the sale of a different style or type of product than that advertised.
- (21) To use sale practices or methods which:
 - a. Deprive prospective customers of a fair opportunity to purchase any advertised style or type of product; or
 - b. To falsely disparage any advertised style or type of product or, without the knowledge of the customer, to substitute other styles or types of products which the advertiser intends to sell instead of the advertised style or type of product.
- (22) To advertise or offer for sale a grossly inadequate supply of products at reduced or bargain prices without disclosure of the inadequacy of the supply available at such prices when such advertisement or offer has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers.
- (23) To describe, identify or refer to a diamond as "certified", or to use respecting it any other word or words of similar meaning or import unless:
 - a. The identity of the certifier and the specific matters or qualities certified are clearly disclosed in conjunction therewith; and
 - b. The certifier has examined such diamond, has made such certification and is qualified to certify as to such matters and qualities; and
 - c. There is furnished the purchaser a certificate setting forth clearly and nondeceptively the name of the certifier and the matters and qualities certified.
- (24) To aid, abet, coerce or induce another, directly or indirectly, to use or promote the use of any unfair trade practice specified in this article. (1957, c. 585, s. 2.)

§ 66-75. Penalty for violation; each practice a separate offense.—Any person, firm, corporation or organization engaging in any unfair trade practice, as defined in this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisoned; or both fined and imprisoned in the discretion of the court; and each and every unfair trade practice engaged in shall be deemed a separate offense. (1957, c. 585, s. 3.)

ARTICLE 17.

Closing-Out Sales.

§ 66-76. Definitions.—For the purposes of this article, “closing-out sale” shall mean and include all sales advertised, represented or held forth under the designation of “going out of business,” “discontinuance of business,” “selling out,” “liquidation,” “lost our lease,” “must vacate,” “forced out,” “removal,” or any other designation of like meaning; and “person” shall mean and include individuals, partnerships, voluntary associations and corporations. (1957, c. 1058, s. 1.)

§ 66-77. License required; contents of applications; inventory required; fees; bond; extension of licenses; records; false statements.—

(a) No person shall advertise or offer for sale a stock of goods, wares or merchandise under the description of closing-out sale, or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise, unless he shall have obtained a license to conduct such sale from the clerk of the city or town in which he proposes to conduct such a sale. The applicant for such a license shall make to such clerk an application therefor, in writing and under oath at least seven (7) days prior to the opening date of sale, showing all the facts relating to the reasons and character of such sale, including the opening and terminating dates of the proposed sale, a complete inventory of the goods, wares or merchandise actually on hand in the place whereat such sale is to be conducted, and all details necessary to locate exactly and identify fully the goods, wares or merchandise to be sold.

(b) If such clerk shall be satisfied from said application that the proposed sale is of the character which the applicant desires to advertise and conduct, the clerk shall issue a license, upon the payment of a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) therefor, together with a bond, payable to the city or town in the penal sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), conditioned upon compliance with this article, to the applicant authorizing him to advertise and conduct a sale of the particular kind mentioned in the application; provided, however, that the license fee provided for herein shall be good for a period of thirty (30) days from its date, and if the applicant shall not complete said sale within said thirty (30) day period then the applicant shall make application to such clerk for a license for a new permit, which shall be good for an additional period of thirty (30) days, and shall pay therefor the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00); and provided further a second extension period of thirty (30) days may be similarly applied for and granted by the clerk upon payment of an additional fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) and upon the clerk being satisfied that the applicant is holding a bona fide sale of the kind contemplated by this article and is acting in a bona fide manner. No additional bond shall be required in the event of one or more extensions as herein provided for. Any merchant who shall have been conducting a business in the same location where the sale is to be held for a period of not less than one year, prior to the date of holding such sale, or any merchant who shall have been conducting a business in one location for such period but who shall, by reason of the building being untenable or by reason of the fact that said merchant shall have no existing lease or ownership of the building and shall be forced to hold such sale at another location, shall be exempted from the payment of the fees and the filing of the bond herein provided for.

(c) Every city or town to whom application is made shall endorse upon such application the date of its filing, and shall preserve the same as a record of his office, and shall make an abstract of the facts set forth in such application, and shall indicate whether the license was granted or refused.

(d) Any person making a false statement in the application provided for in this section shall, upon conviction, be deemed guilty of perjury. (1957, c. 1058, s. 2.)

§ 66-78. Additions to stock in contemplation of sale prohibited.—No person in contemplation of a closing-out sale under a license as provided for in § 66-77 shall order any goods, wares or merchandise for the purpose of selling and disposing of the same at such sale, and any unusual purchase and additions to the stock of such goods, wares or merchandise within sixty (60) days prior to the filing of application for a license to conduct such sale shall be presumptive evidence that such purchases and additions to stock were made in contemplation of such sale. (1957, c. 1058, s. 3.)

§ 66-79. Replenishment of stock prohibited.—No person carrying on or conducting a closing-out sale or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise, under a license as provided in § 66-77 shall, during the continuance of such sale, add any goods, wares or merchandise to the damaged stock inventoried in his original application for such license, and no goods, wares or merchandise shall be sold as damaged merchandise at or during such sale, excepting the goods, wares or merchandise described and inventoried in such original application. (1957, c. 1058, s. 4.)

§ 66-80. Continuation of sale or business beyond termination date.—No person shall conduct a closing-out sale or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise beyond the termination date specified for such sale, except as otherwise provided for in subsection (b) of § 66-77; nor shall any person, upon conclusion of such sale, continue that business which had been represented as closing out or going out of business under the same name, or under a different name, at the same location, or elsewhere in the same city or town where the inventory for such sale was filed; nor shall any person, upon conclusion of such sale, continue business contrary to the designation of such sale. (1957, c. 1058, s. 5.)

§ 66-81. Advertising or conducting sale contrary to article; penalty.—Any person who shall advertise, hold, conduct or carry on any sale of goods, wares or merchandise under the description of closing-out sale or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise, contrary to the provisions of this article, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1957, c. 1058, s. 6.)

§ 66-82. Sales excepted; liability for dissemination of false advertisement.—The provisions of this article shall not apply to sheriffs, constables or other public or court officers, or to any other person or persons acting under the license, direction or authority of any court, State or federal, selling goods, wares or merchandise in the course of their official duties; provided, however, that no newspaper publisher, radio-broadcast licensee, television-broadcast licensee, or other agency or medium for the dissemination of advertising shall be liable under this article by reason of the dissemination of any false advertisement prohibited by this article, unless he has refused, on the written request of any law enforcement officer or agency of this State, to furnish to such officer or agency the name and address of the person who caused the dissemination of such advertisement. (1957, c. 1058, s. 7.)

§ 66-83. Restraining or enjoining illegal act.—Upon complaint of any person the superior court shall have jurisdiction to restrain and enjoin any act forbidden or declared illegal by any provisions of this article. (1957, c. 1058, s. 8.)

§ 66-84. Counties within article. — This article shall apply only to the following counties: Alamance, Ashe, Bertie, Buncombe, Burke, Cabarrus, Catawba, Cleveland, Columbus, Craven, Cumberland, Durham, Forsyth, Gaston, Graham, Guilford, Halifax, Haywood, Jackson, Lee, McDowell, New Hanover, Northampton, Onslow, Orange, Pitt, Randolph, Richmond, Robeson, Stanly, Surry, Swain, Transylvania, Union, Wake and Wayne. (1957, c. 1058, ss. 10½, 10¾; 1959, cc. 928, 1089; c. 1251, s. 1; c. 1287.)

Editor's Note. — The first 1959 amendment inserted the county of Alamance. The third 1959 amendment, effective Jan. 1, 1960, inserted the county of Halifax. The second and fourth 1959 amendments inserted the counties of Burke, Cabarrus, Catawba, Cleveland, Columbus, Craven, Durham, Forsyth, Gaston, New Hanover, Pitt, Randolph, Richmond, Stanly and Wayne.

ARTICLE 18.

Labeling of Household Cleaners.

§ 66-85. Labeling cleaners containing volatile substances capable of producing toxic effects; definition.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation manufacturing household cleaners which contain volatile substances capable of producing toxic effects in or on their users when used for their intended domestic purposes to sell or offer for sale any such cleaner unless such cleaner shall be labeled with the word "caution" or other word of similar import and unless directions shall plainly appear thereon as to the safe and proper use of the contents. Such label shall identify the particular substance contained therein. The phrase "volatile substances capable of producing toxic effect" as used herein shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following: Benzene (benzol), toluene (toluol), coal tar naphtha, carbon tetrachloride, trichlorethylene, tetrachlorethylene (perchlorethylene), tetrachlorethane, methyl alcohol, and aromatic and chlorinated hydrocarbons of comparable volatility and toxicity. (1957, c. 1241, s. 1.)

§ 66-86. Penalty for selling product in violation of article. — Any person, firm or corporation selling or offering to sell any product in violation of the terms of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1957, c. 1241, s. 2.)

§ 66-87. Injunctions.—Upon complaint by the State Board of Health, the superior court shall have jurisdiction to enjoin any sale or offer of sale which is in violation of the provisions of this article. (1957, c. 1241, s. 3.)

§ 66-88. Application of article after enactment of federal legislation.—If the Congress of the United States shall, at any time hereafter, enact in any form legislation designed to regulate the interstate distribution, labeling and sale of hazardous articles in packages suitable for or intended for household use, the State Board of Health shall, upon so determining, issue a proclamation to such effect and, from and after the date of such proclamation, this article shall be applicable only with respect to intrastate manufacture, distribution, sale and labeling by persons, firms or corporations who do not comply with the federal legislation as to interstate distribution, labeling and sale of the materials or articles described in § 66-85. (1957, c. 1241, s. 3½.)

§ 67-4. Failing to kill mad dog.—If the owner of any dog shall know, or have good reason to believe, that his dog, or any dog belonging to any person under his control, has been bitten by a mad dog, and shall neglect or refuse immediately to kill the same, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars to him who will sue therefor; and the offender shall be liable to pay all damages which may be sustained by anyone, in his property or person, by the bite of any such dog, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (R. C., c. 67; Code, s. 2499; Rev., s. 3305; C. S., s. 1672.)

Cross References.—As to killing mad dogs, see §§ 67-14, 67-27. As to rabies, vaccination, etc., generally, see § 106-364 et seq.

Actual Knowledge Unnecessary.—In an action under this section it is not necessary to prove that the biting dog was in fact mad. The words "good reason to believe" apply both to the condition of the biting dog and to the fact that the dog was bitten by a mad dog. Wallace v. Douglas, 32 N. C. 79 (1849).

Dog Can Be Destroyed.—If owner refuses to destroy a dog, which is mad or is bitten by a mad dog, he subjects himself to the possibility of a fine and imprisonment and the dog can be destroyed by order of the justice issuing the warrant under this section. Beasley v. Byrum, 163 N. C. 3, 79 S. E. 270 (1913).

As to contributory negligence of person bitten by a mad dog, see Holton v. Moore, 165 N. C. 549, 81 S. E. 779 (1914).

ARTICLE 2.

License Taxes on Dogs.

§ 67-5. Amount of tax.—Any person owning or keeping about him any open female dog of the age of six months or older shall pay annually a license or privilege tax of two dollars. Any person owning or keeping any male dog, or female dog other than an open female dog of the age of six months or older, shall pay annually on each dog so owned or kept a license or privilege tax of one dollar. (1919, c. 116, ss. 1, 2; C. S., s. 1673.)

Local Modification.—Clay: 1933, c. 301; a certain county is for the privilege of keeping the dog therein and comes under the police regulations of the county. It is therefore constitutional and valid and will not be restrained. Newall v. Green, 169 N. C. 462, 86 S. E. 291 (1915); McAlister v. Yancey County, 212 N. C. 208, 193 S. E. 141 (1937).

Cross Reference.—As to credit of vaccination fee on dog tax, see § 106-372.

Constitutional Exercise of Police Power.

—A statute imposing a specified tax upon all persons owning or keeping a dog within

§ 67-6. License tags; optional with county commissioners.—To every person paying the license or privilege tax prescribed in § 67-5 there shall be issued by the sheriff a metal tag bearing county name, a serial number, and expiration date, which shall be attached by owner to a collar to always be worn by any dog when not on premises of the owner or when engaged in hunting. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall at all times keep on hand a supply of tags to be furnished the sheriffs of the several counties. Provided, that the county commissioners of each county shall, by order duly made in regular session, make an order determining whether the collar and tag shall be applied to that county. (1919, c. 116, s. 2½; C. S., s. 1674; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 37.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1920 amendment the metal tags were kept by the Commissioner of Agriculture.

§ 67-7. Dogs to be listed; penalty for failure to list.—It shall be the duty of every owner or keeper of a dog to list the same for taxes at the same time and place that other personal property is listed, and the various tax listers in the State shall have proper abstracts furnished them for listing dogs for taxation, and any person failing or refusing to list such dog or dogs shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. The owner of the home or lessee of such owner shall be responsible for listing of any dog belonging to any member of his family. (1919, c. 116, s. 3; C. S., s. 1675.)

Local Modification.—Mitchell: Pub. Loc. 1925, c. 265. (See § 67-18.)

§ 67-8. When tax is due.—The license or privilege tax herein imposed shall be due and payable on the first day of October of each and every year. (1919, c. 116, s. 3; C. S., s. 1676; 1943, c. 119.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment eliminated a provision as to penalty for failure to pay tax.

§ 67-9. Receipt for tax a license.—Upon the payment to the sheriff or tax collector of the license or privilege tax aforesaid, such sheriff or tax collector shall give the owner or keeper of such dog or dogs a receipt for the same which shall constitute a license under the provisions of this article. (1919, c. 116, s. 3; C. S., s. 1677.)

§ 67-10. Tax listers to make inquiry, compile reports; compensation.—The tax listers for each township, town, and city in this State shall annually, at the time of listing property as required by law, make diligent inquiry as to the number of dogs owned, harbored, or kept by any person subject to taxation. The list takers shall, on or before the first day of July in each year, make a complete report to the sheriff or tax collector on a blank form furnished them by the proper authority, setting forth the name of every owner of any dog or dogs, how many of each and the sex owned or kept by such person. The county commissioners may pay the tax listers for such services such amounts as may be just out of the money arising under this article. (1919, c. 116, ss. 4, 6; C. S., s. 1678.)

§ 67-11. Purchasers to ascertain listing.—Any person coming in possession of any dog or dogs after listing time shall immediately ascertain whether such dog or dogs have been listed for taxes or not, and if not so listed, it is hereby made the duty of such owner or keeper of such dog or dogs to go to the sheriff or tax collector of his county and list such dog or dogs for taxes, and it is made the duty of the owner or keeper of such dog or dogs to pay the privilege or license tax as is herein provided for in other cases. (1919, c. 116, s. 4; C. S., s. 1679.)

§ 67-12. Permitting dogs to run at large at night; penalty; liability for damage.—No person shall allow his dog over six months old to run at large in the nighttime unaccompanied by the owner or by some member of the owner's family, or some other person by the owner's permission. Any person intentionally, knowingly, and willfully violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days, and shall also be liable in damages to any person injured or suffering loss to his property or chattels. (1919, c. 116, s. 5; C. S., s. 1680.)

Local Modification.—Buncombe, Halifax, New Hanover, Wake: 1925, c. 314; Watauga: Pub. Loc. 1927, c. 503. (See § 67-18.)

Cross Reference.—As to permitting dogs to run at large on Capitol Square, see § 14-396.

Valid Exercise of Police Power.—A city ordinance which prohibits the owner from allowing dogs to run at large without muzzles is a valid exercise of the police power. State v. Clifton, 152 N. C. 860, 67 S. E. 751 (1910).

§ 67-13. Proceeds of tax to school fund; proviso, payment of damages; reimbursement by owner.—The money arising under the provisions of this article shall be applied to the school funds of the county in which said tax is collected: Provided, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners, upon complaint made to them of injury to person or injury to or destruction of property by any dog, upon satisfactory proof of such injury or destruction, to appoint three freeholders to ascertain the amount of damages done, including necessary treatment, if any, and all reasonable expenses incurred, and upon the coming in of the report of such jury of the damage as aforesaid, the said county commissioners shall order the same paid out of any moneys arising from the tax on dogs as provided for in this article. And in cases where the owner of such dog or dogs is known or can be ascertained, he shall reimburse the county to the amount paid out for such injury or destruction. To enforce collection of this amount the county commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to sue for the same. Provided, further, that all that portion of this section after the word "collected," in line three, shall not apply to Alamance, Anson, Beaufort, Bladen, Caldwell, Catawba, Chatham, Cleveland, Columbus, Currituck, Davie, Duplin, Durham, Gaston, Gates, Graham, Harnett, Hertford, Lincoln, McDowell, Mecklenburg, Moore, Nash, New Hanover, Orange, Pamlico, Perquimans, Person, Robeson, Rowan, Rutherford, Scotland, Stokes, Transylvania, Union, Wayne and Yadkin counties. (1919, c. 77, s. 7; c. 116, s. 7; C. S., s. 1681; Pub. Loc. 1925, c. 54; Pub. The 1953 amendments inserted "Catawba" and "Orange." The 1955 amendments inserted "Mecklenburg" and "Pamlico." And the 1957 amendment inserted "Person."

This section is a police regulation not estopping the defendant in the county's action from establishing any defense available to him under the pleadings, nor does it change the method of procedure as to the burden of proof, or otherwise, except that it limits recovery of the injured person, electing to proceed under this statute, to a sum not exceeding the amount thereunder ascertained. Board v. George, 182 N. C. 414, 109 S. E. 77 (1921).

This section is constitutional, and does not deprive the defendant of a jury trial. Board v. George, 182 N. C. 414, 109 S. E. 77 (1921).

Mandamus Will Lie. — Where a person

§ 67-14. Mad dogs, dogs killing sheep, etc., may be killed. — Any person may kill any mad dog, and also any dog if he is killing sheep, cattle, hogs, goats, or poultry. (1919, c. 116, s. 8; C. S., s. 1682.)

Cross References. — As to liability of owner who fails to kill sheep-killing dog, see § 67-3. As to liability of owner who having a legal right to recover under this section, makes satisfactory proof to the county commissioners of injury inflicted by a dog, it is the legal duty of the commissioners to appoint freeholders to ascertain the amount of damage done, and mandamus will lie to compel them to perform this duty. White v. Holding, 217 N. C. 329, 7 S. E. (2d) 825 (1940).

Testimony of Nonexpert Witness. — Admission of judgment of a nonexpert witness upon the personal observation of the carcass of the sheep, as to the length of time it had been killed, is not erroneous as the expression of a theoretical or scientific opinion. Board v. George, 182 N. C. 414, 109 S. E. 77 (1921).

Right to Trial by Jury. — The ascertainment of damages by three disinterested freeholders, and the payment thereof by county commissioners from the dog taxes, with the right of the county to sue to recover the amount so paid from the owner of the dog if known or discovered, as provided by this section, reserves to such owner the right to a trial by jury in the action of the commissioners, and does not permit recovery in excess of the sum awarded for the damages caused as ascertained under the provisions of the statute. Board v. George, 182 N. C. 414, 109 S. E. 77 (1921).

Cost of Assessment. — In an action by the county, under this section, the reasonable cost of the services of the persons chosen to make the assessment, which is paid by the county, is a part of the money paid on account of the injury or destruction caused by the dog, and defendant's exception thereto will not be sustained. Semble, the question of the reasonableness of this amount is a question for the jury, when aptly and properly raised and presented. Board v. George, 182 N. C. 414, 109 S. E. 77 (1921).

§ 67-14.1. Dogs injuring deer or bear on wildlife management area may be killed; impounding unmuzzled dogs running at large. — (a) Any dog which trails, runs, injures or kills any deer or bear on any wildlife refuge, sanctuary or management area, now or hereafter so designated and managed by the Wildlife Resources Commission, during the closed season for hunting with dogs on such refuge or management area, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and any wildlife protector or other duly authorized agent or employee of the Wildlife Resources Commission may destroy, by humane method, any dog discovered trailing, running, injuring or killing any deer or bear in any such area during the closed season therein for hunting such game with dogs, without incurring liability by reason of his act in conformity with this section.

(b) Any unmuzzled dog running at large upon any wildlife refuge, sanctuary, or management area, when unaccompanied by any person having such dog in charge, shall be seized and impounded by any wildlife protector, or other duly authorized agent or employee of the Wildlife Resources Commission.

(c) The person impounding such dog shall cause a notice to be published at least once a week for two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein the dog was taken, or if none is published therein, in some newspaper having general circulation in the county. Such notice shall set forth a description of the dog, the place where it is impounded, and that the dog will be destroyed if not claimed and payment made for the advertisement, a catch fee of $1.00 and the boarding, computed at the rate of fifty cents (50c) per day, while impounded, by a certain date which date shall be not less than 15 days after the publication of the first notice. A similar notice shall be posted at the courthouse door.

(d) The owner of the dog, or his agent, may recover such dog upon payment of the cost of the publication of the notices hereinbefore described together with a catch fee of $1.00 and the expense, computed at the rate of fifty cents (50c) per day, incurred while impounding and boarding the dog.

(e) If any impounded dog is not recovered by the owner within 15 days after the publication of the first notice of the impounding, the dog may be destroyed in a humane manner by any wildlife protector or other duly authorized agent or employee of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, and no liability shall attach to any person acting in accordance with this section. (1951, c. 1021, s. 1.)

§ 67-15. Dogs, when listed, personal property; larceny of dog a misdemeanor.—All dogs, when listed for taxes, become personal property and shall be governed by the laws governing other personal property: Provided, the larceny of any dog upon which aforesaid tax has been paid shall be a misdemeanor. (1919, c. 116, s. 9; C. S., s. 1683.)

§ 67-17: Deleted.

Editor's Note. — This section has been deleted as it appeared to be local legislation of the type contemplated by § 67-18 and repealed by that section. It was held to have been so repealed in McAlister v. Yancey County, 210 N. C. 208, 193 S. E. 141 (1936).

§ 67-18. Application of article.—This article, §§ 67-5 to 67-18, inclusive, is hereby made applicable to every county in the State of North Carolina, notwithstanding any provisions in local, special or private acts exempting any county or any township or municipality from the provisions of the same enacted at any General Assembly commencing at the General Assembly of nineteen hundred and nineteen and going through the General Assembly of nineteen hundred and twenty-nine. (1929, c. 318.)

ARTICLE 3.

Special License Tax on Dogs.

§ 67-19. Nothing in this article abrogated by article 2; special tax an additional tax.—Nothing contained in article 2 of this chapter shall have the effect of abrogating any of the provisions of this article, and the special license tax on dogs provided for under this article shall be in addition to the license tax on dogs provided for under article 2 of this chapter: Provided that article 2 shall not be construed as repealing any existing ordinance of any city or town or any ordinance of any city or town hereafter enacted, regulating the keeping or use of dogs in cities and towns. (1919, c. 116, s. 11; C. S., s. 1685; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 53.)

Editor's Note. — The 1920 amendment added the proviso.

§ 67-20. Special dog tax submitted to voters on petition. — Upon the written application of one-third of the qualified voters of any county in this State made to the board of commissioners of such county, asking that an election be held in said county to adopt the provisions of this article for levying and collecting a special dog tax in said county, it shall be the duty of said board of commissioners from time to time to submit the question of "special dog tax" or "no special dog tax" to the qualified voters of said county; and if at any such election a majority of the votes cast shall be in favor of said special dog tax, then the provisions of this article shall be in full force and effect over the whole of said county, and the special dog tax hereinafter provided for shall be levied and collected in said county; but if a majority of the votes cast at such election shall be against said special dog tax, then the provisions of this article shall not apply to any part of said county. (1917, c. 206, s. 1; C. S., s. 1686.)

§ 67-21. Conduct of elections.—Every election held under the provisions of this article shall be held and conducted under the same rules and regulations and according to the same penalties provided by law for the election of members of the General Assembly: Provided, that no such election shall be held in any county oftener than once in two years. (1917, c. 206, s. 3; C. S., s. 1687.)

§ 67-22. Commissioners to provide for registration; ballots and machinery.—The board of commissioners of any county in this State in which an election is to be held under the provisions of this article may provide for a new registration of voters in said county if they deem necessary, or they may provide for the use of the registration of voters in effect at the general election for county officers in said county next preceding the holding of the election hereunder, and they shall appoint such officers as may be necessary to properly hold such election and shall designate the time and places for holding such elections, and make all rules, regulations, and do all other things necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this article. (1917, c. 206, s. 4; C. S., s. 1688.)

§ 67-23. Canvass of votes and returns.—At the close of said election the officers holding same shall canvass the vote and certify the returns to the said board of commissioners of said county, and the said board of commissioners shall canvass the said returns and declare the results of said election in the manner now provided by law for holding special tax school elections. (1917, c. 206, s. 4; C. S., s. 1689.)

§ 67-24. Contents and record of petition; notice of election.—The qualified voters of any county who shall make written application to the board of commissioners of said county asking that an election be held under the provisions of this article shall designate and insert in said application the amount of special dog tax to be levied and collected in said county, which tax shall not exceed the sum of five dollars nor be less than the sum of one dollar for each dog, whether male or female, and the board of commissioners shall have said written application, specifying the amount of said special dog tax to be voted for in said county, recorded in the records of their proceedings, and shall cause to be published in some newspaper published or circulated in said county, and posted at the courthouse door and five other public places in said county, a notice of the time and places for holding said election and specifying the amount of tax to be voted for in said county. (1917, c. 206, s. 5; C. S., s. 1690.)

§ 67-25. License tax.—Any person or persons, firm or corporation, owning or keeping any dog or dogs, whether male or female, in any county which shall adopt the provisions of this article for the levy and collection of said special dog tax shall pay annually a license or privilege tax on each dog, whether male or female, such sum or sums as may be designated and inserted in the written application of the qualified voters of said county asking for said election and as recorded in the proceedings of the board of county commissioners of said county, which shall not exceed the sum of five dollars nor be less than the sum of one dollar for each dog: Provided, the tax voted for and levied on female dogs may be greater than the tax on male dogs, but in no event shall said special tax exceed the sum of five dollars, nor be less than the sum of one dollar for any dog, whether male or female. (1917, c. 206, s. 6; C. S., s. 1691.)

Local Tax Valid.—The legislature may der this authority is constitutional and empower the authorities of a town to regulate the manner in which dogs may be kept in the said town. Hence, a tax levied un- valid. Mowery v. Salisbury, 82 N. C. 175 (1880).

§ 67-26. Collection and application of tax.—The special dog tax voted for under the provisions of this article shall be due and collectible at the same time and in the same manner as provided by law for the collection of taxes on other personal property in said county, and shall be collected by the collector of other taxes in said county in the same manner and under the same penalties provided by law for collection of taxes on other personal property in said county, and shall be applied to the road fund, or school fund, of said county, as may be directed by the board of commissioners of said county. (1917, c. 206, s. 8; C. S., s. 1692.)

Cross Reference.—As to application of proceeds of general dog tax, see § 67-13.

§ 67-27. Listed dogs protected; exceptions.—Any person who shall steal any dog which has been listed for taxation as herein provided shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court; and any person who shall kill any dog the property of another, after the same has been listed as herein provided, shall be liable to the owner in damages for the value of such dog. Nothing in this article shall prevent the killing of a mad dog, sheep-killing dog, or egg-sucking dog on sight, when off the premises of its owner, and the owner shall not recover any damages for the loss of such dog. (1917, c. 206, s. 9; C. S., s. 1693.)

Cross References.—As to listed dogs as personal property, see § 67-15. As to larceny of taxed dogs, see § 14-84.

§ 67-28. Application of article to counties having dog tax.—Any county in this State which now has a local law taxing dogs may, by election in the manner herein provided for, accept the provisions of this article, and if adopted by a majority of the qualified voters of said county at such election, the local law taxing dogs in such county shall thereby be repealed and annulled, and the provisions of this article shall be in full force and effect in such county. (1917, c. 206, s. 10; C. S., s. 1694.)

ARTICLE 4.

"Seeing-Eye" Guide Dogs.

§ 67-29. Accompanying blind persons in public conveyances, etc.—Any blind person accompanied by a dog described as a "seeing-eye dog," or any dog educated by a recognized training agency or school, which is used as a leader or guide, is entitled with his dog to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of all public conveyances, and all places of public accommodation, subject only to the conditions and limitations applicable to all persons not so accompanied. (1943, c. 111.)

ARTICLE 5.

Protection of Livestock and Poultry from Ranging Dogs.

§ 67-30. Appointment of county dog warden authorized; salary, etc.; dog damage fund.—The board of county commissioners in each county in the State is hereby authorized, in its discretion, to appoint one or more county dog wardens, and to determine the amount of his salary and travel allowance, both of which shall be paid out of the proceeds of the county dog tax. When the county dog tax fund is insufficient to pay the salary and travel allowance of the county dog warden so appointed, the board of county commissioners is authorized to appropriate funds from its general fund or from any nontax or surplus funds to supplement the dog tax fund so that the salary and travel allowance of the dog warden may be paid. After the payment of such salary and allowance, the remaining proceeds of the county dog tax shall be placed in a special county dog damage fund and applied from time to time in satisfaction of claims for damage as hereinafter provided in this article; provided further, that the liability of any county for damage claims filed pursuant to this article shall be limited to the balance remaining in the county dog damage fund after the payment of the salary and the travel allowance of the county dog warden; and provided further, that all proceeds from the dog tax available in the several counties for the payment of claims under this article shall be held intact in the county dog damage fund until the end of each fiscal year in the county; no dog damage claim shall be paid until the end of each fiscal year and, in the event all approved claims cannot be paid in full, all such claims shall be paid on an equal proportionate basis. In the event that any surplus remains in the county dog damage fund after all dog damage claims have been paid at the end of a fiscal year, such surplus may no sooner than six months after the close of such fiscal year, at the direction of the board of county commissioners, be paid into the county general fund. (1951, c. 931, s. 1; 1955, c. 1333, s. 1; 1957, cc. 81, 840.)

Local Modification.—Franklin: 1953, c. 1005; Orange: 1953, c. 367, ss. 1-5, 8.

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment inserted the second sentence.

The first 1957 amendment substituted in the first sentence the words "one or more county dog wardens" for the words "a county dog warden." And the second 1957 amendment added the last sentence.

§ 67-31. Powers and duties of dog warden.—The powers and duties of the county dog warden shall be as follows:

- (1) He shall have the power of arrest and be responsible for the enforcement within his county of all public and public-local laws pertaining to the ownership and control of dogs, and shall cooperate with all other law enforcement officers operating within the county in fulfilling this responsibility.
- (2) In those counties having a rabies control officer, the county dog warden shall act as assistant to the rabies control officer, working under the supervision of the county health department, to collect the dog tax.

In those counties having no rabies control officer, the county dog warden shall serve as rabies control officer. (1951, c. 931, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — Orange: 1953, c. 367, ss. 1-5, 8.

§ 67-32. Pound; disposition of impounded dogs.—The board of county commissioners in each county in which a county dog warden is appointed under this article shall establish and maintain a dog pound in each county, the same to be under the supervision of the county dog warden, for the purpose of impounding lost and stray dogs for a period to be determined by the board of county commissioners during which time the county dog warden shall make every reasonable effort to locate and give notice to the owners of such dogs, or if such owners cannot be located, to find new owners for such dogs. The dog warden shall keep a permanent bound record of the date on which each dog is impounded, and if at the end of the holding period to be determined by the board of commissioners such dogs remain unclaimed by their owners or by prospective owners, such dogs are to be destroyed in a humane manner, under the direct supervision of the county dog warden. Anyone claiming or redeeming a dog at the pound will be required to pay the actual cost of keeping the dog in the pound, as well as any tax due, before any such dog may be released. (1951, c. 931, s. 3; 1955, c. 1333, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — Orange: 1953, c. 367, ss. 1-5, 8. “not to exceed 15 days” to “a period to be determined by the board of county commissioners.”

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment changed the period of impounding from § 67-33. Dogs to wear collars; tags; kennel tax.—Every dog in counties where a dog warden is appointed shall be required at all times to wear a collar with the owner's name and address stamped on or otherwise firmly attached to the collar. Each year at tax listing time all dog owners shall be provided by the taxing authorities with a numbered metal tag for each dog listed, said tag to be attached to the collar as evidence that the dog has been listed for taxation; provided, that any operator of a kennel or owner of a pack of dogs may, in lieu of paying the tax on individual dogs as provided by law, pay a kennel tax computed at the rate of $1.50 per dog, male or female.

Upon the payment of kennel tax in accordance with this schedule, the owner shall be issued metal tags as hereinbefore provided in a number equal to the number of dogs for which the kennel tax is paid; and any dog wearing any such tag during the tax year to which the tax is issued shall be deemed to be in compliance with the provisions of this article in respect as to tags. (1951, c. 931, s. 4; 1957, c. 594.)

Local Modification. — Buncombe: 1953, c. 1007; Orange: 1953, c. 367, ss. 1-5, 8; Wayne: 1957, c. 594. Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment rewrote the proviso to the first paragraph.

§ 67-34. Board of appraisers; payment of damages; subrogation of county in action against dog owner.—The board of county commissioners in each county having a dog warden as provided in this article shall appoint a board of appraisers consisting of three men, one to be chosen from among the sheep, livestock or poultry raisers; one from among the fox hunters, and one from the county at large; whose duties it shall be to determine and assess the amount of damage inflicted by dogs in the respective counties. Such damages so determined shall be paid out of the special county dog damage fund of the respective counties. Provided, the boards of commissioners of the several counties shall have the right to settle and pay any claim or claims presented to such board, without appointing a board of appraisers, for such sum or sums as may be agreed upon by the person aggrieved and said board of commissioners.

In case any person shall have received compensation for damages from any county under the provisions of this article and thereafter such person shall sue the owner of the dog inflicting such damage for recovery of damages by reason thereof, then, in such event, any county having paid any such claims to such claimant arising out of the same depredation shall have the full right of subrogation in any action for damages so instituted. (1951, c. 931, s. 5.)

Local Modification. — Orange: 1953, c. 367, ss. 1-5, 8.

§ 67-35. Unlawful to allow dog to run at large without collar and tag; penalty.—In any county in which a dog warden is appointed pursuant to this article, it shall be unlawful for any person who owns or has custody of a dog to allow such dog to be off the premises of such owner or custodian unless such dog is wearing the collar and metal tag as provided by § 67-33. Violation of this section is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisonment for not more than thirty (30) days. (1951, c. 931, s. 6.)

Local Modification. — Orange: 1953, c. 367, ss. 1-5, 8.

§ 67-36. Article supplements existing laws. — The provisions of this article are to be construed as supplementing and not repealing existing State laws pertaining to the ownership, taxation, and control of dogs. (1951, c. 931, s. 7.)

ARTICLE 1.

Lawful Fences.

§ 68-1. Fences to be five feet high.—Every planter shall make a sufficient fence about his cleared ground under cultivation, at least five feet high, unless otherwise provided in this chapter, unless there shall be some navigable stream or deep watercourse that shall be sufficient, instead of such fence, and unless his lands shall be situated within the limits of a county, township or district wherein the stock law may be in force. (1777, c. 121, s. 2; 1791, c. 354, s. 1; R. C., c. 48, s. 1; Code, s. 2799; Rev., s. 1660; C. S., s. 1827.)

Local Modification.—Bertie, Buncombe, Carteret, Hyde, Madison, McDowell, New Hanover, Northampton, Pamlico: C. S. § 1829.

Cross Reference.—As to fence four and one-half feet high being lawful in certain counties, see § 68-2.

Requirements Mandatory. — Proof that plaintiff's fence is a "good ordinary one" such as the neighbors have, does not dispense with the obligation imposed by this section. Runyan v. Patterson, 87 N. C. 343 (1882).

Effect of Failure to Comply with Section.—If the statutory requirement is not complied with one cannot recover damages caused by animals of another, although the animal may be vicious and the fences are "good ordinary ones" such as the plaintiff's neighbors have. Runyan v. Patterson, 87 N. C. 343 (1882).

A pasture field is not "ground under cultivation," within the meaning of this section, irrespective of whether it is woods pasture or cleared pasture. State v. Perry, 64 N. C. 305 (1870).

The word "planter" as used in this section does not include hirelings, laborers or employees who have no discretion as to the plans for fencing. State v. Taylor, 69 N. C. 543 (1873).

Cited in State v. Anderson, 123 N. C. 705, 31 S. E. 219 (1898).

§ 68-2. Local: Four and a half feet in certain counties. — A fence four and one-half feet high is a lawful fence in the counties of Alleghany, Bladen, Brunswick, Burke, Caldwell, Cherokee, Craven, Cumberland, Currituck, Davidson, Davie, Duplin, Harnett, Henderson, Jackson, Lenior, Perquimans, Randolph, Richmond, Robeson, Rutherford, Sampson, Tyrrell, Wake, Washington, Wilkes and Yancey. This section does not apply to stock-law fences. (1889, c. 175; 1891, c. 36; 1905, c. 333; Rev., s. 1661; 1909, cc. 55, 94; P. L. 1911, c. 15; C. S., s. 1828.)

Local Modification. — Tyrrell: C. S. § 1828.

Cited in McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

§ 68-3. Watercourse made lawful fence by county commissioners.—Any five electors, residents of the same county, may apply to the board of commissioners of the county, at any regular meeting of the same, by written petition praying that any watercourse, or any part of any watercourse, in the county, may be made a lawful fence. Notice of such petition shall be posted forty days at the courthouse door, by the clerk of the board, before such petition shall be acted upon. Upon the hearing of such petition, the board of county commissioners is authorized to declare any watercourse, or any part of any watercourse to which the petition applies, a lawful fence. And the several acts of the General Assembly, declaring certain watercourses, in part or in whole, lawful fences, are so far repealed as to enable the board of commissioners of any county to declare any of such acts, or parts thereof, to be null and void in said county. Any order made under this section shall be of record and signed by the chairman, and may be rescinded by the board of commissioners at any regular meeting. (1872-3, c. 98; Code, ss. 2808, 2809, 2810; Rev., s. 1663; C. S., s. 1830.)

§ 68-4. Injury to wire fence forbidden.—If any person shall willfully destroy, cut or injure any part of a wire fence or a fence composed partly of wire and partly of wood situated on the land of another, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned not exceeding thirty days or fined not exceeding fifty dollars. (1889, c. 516; Rev., s. 3413; C. S., s. 1831.)

Purpose of Section.—This section is not in conflict with § 14-144, as that section was meant to protect the inclosure while this one was meant to protect the fences irrespective of whether or not they inclosed any field. State v. Biggers, 108 N. C. 760, 12 S. E. 1024 (1891).

§ 68-5. Local: Building unguarded barbed-wire fences along public highways.—If any person shall erect or maintain a barbed-wire fence along any public road or highway, and within ten yards thereof, without putting a railing, smooth wire, board or plank on the top of such fence not less than three inches in width, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. This section shall apply to the counties of Brunswick, Catawba, Cumberland, Durham, Forsyth, Greene, Iredell, Macon, Mitchell, Richmond, Rowan, Rutherford, Stanly, Stokes, Swain, Wilkes and Yadkin: Provided, that in Rutherford County only a railing or plank shall be used at the top of such fence. (1895, c. 65; 1899, cc. 43, 225; 1905, c. 220; Rev., s. 3769; 1909, cc. 318, 604, 629, 810; C. S., s. 4422.)

ARTICLE 2.

Division Fences.

§ 68-6. Division fences maintainable jointly.—Where two or more persons have lands adjoining, which are either cultivated or used as a pasture for stock, the respective owners of each piece of land shall make and maintain one half of the fence upon the dividing line. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 1; Code, s. 2800; Rev., s. 1664; C. S., s. 1832.)

Quoted in McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

§ 68-7. Remedy against delinquent owner.—If any person who is liable to build or keep up a part of any division fence fails at any time to do so, the owner of the adjoining land, after notice may build or repair the whole, and recover of the delinquent one half of the cost before any court having jurisdiction. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 7; Code, s. 2807; Rev., s. 1670; C. S., s. 1833.)

Only Civil Liability.—A violation of this section does not subject the wrongdoer to indictment. His liability is civil only. State v. Watson, 86 N. C. 626 (1882).

Quoted in McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

§ 68-8. Fence erected because of changed use of land.—If the owner of a tract of land, who chooses neither to cultivate it, to use it as a pasture, nor to permit his stock to run on it, afterwards uses it in either of these ways and does not so enclose his stock that they cannot enter on the lands of an adjoining owner, he shall refund to such owner one half the value of any fence erected by the latter on the dividing line. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 2; Code, s. 2801; Rev., s. 1665; C. S., s. 1834.)

§ 68-9. When owner may remove his part of division fence.—If any owner of land liable to contribute for the keeping up of a division fence determines neither to cultivate his land nor permit his stock to run thereon, he may give the adjoining owner three months' notice of his determination; and in that case, at any time after the expiration of such notice and between the first day of January and the first day of March, but at no other time, he may remove the half of the fence kept up by himself, and shall be no longer liable to keep up the same. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 8; 1883, c. 111; Code, s. 2802; 1903, c. 20; Rev., s. 1671; C. S., s. 1835.)

Only Civil Liability.—A violation of this section will not subject one to indictment. State v. Watson, 86 N. C. 626 (1882).

plicable, this section will not be applied and a division fence may be dispensed with at any time without notice. State v. Edmonds, 121 N. C. 679, 28 S. E. 545 (1897).

In counties where the "stock law" is ap-

§ 68-10. Proceeding to value division fence.—The value of such fence shall be ascertained as follows: Either owner may summon the other to appear before any justice of the peace of the township in which the dividing line is situate; or if it be situate in more than one township, then before any justice of the peace of any township in which any part of it is situate. In his summons he shall name a certain day, not less than five days after the summons, for the appearance of the defendant; he shall also state the purpose of the summons to be the adjustment of all matters in controversy respecting the dividing fence between the parties. The justice shall hear the complaint and defense. If the facts be found such as entitle either party to demand contribution of the other, the justice shall call on the complainant to name an indifferent person, qualified to act as a juror of the township, and if the complainant refuses the justice shall name one for him. The justice shall then call on the defendant to name an indifferent person, qualified to act as a juror of the township, and if the defendant refuses the justice shall name one for him. The justice shall then name a third indifferent person. These three persons, or any two of them, shall view the premises and decide all matters in controversy between the parties, relating to a fence on the dividing line. They shall make a written report to the justice, who shall give judgment thereon, and for the costs, which shall be paid by the owners of the several pieces of land equally. The jurors shall each receive one dollar per day. The fees of the justice and constable shall be as in other cases. Either party may appeal as provided in other cases of justices' judgments. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 3; Code, s. 2803; Rev., s. 1666; C. S., s. 1836.)

§ 68-11. Contents of jurors' report.—The report of the jurors shall also state the kind of fence which ought to be kept up, and assign to each owner, in such manner as that it may be identified, the part which he shall keep up. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 4; Code, s. 2804; Rev., s. 1667; C. S., s. 1837.)

§ 68-12. Register to record report.—The justice shall return the report, together with a transcript of the proceedings, to the register of deeds of his county for registration. The justice shall collect from the parties the fees of the register, and pay the same to him. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 5; Code, s. 2805; Rev., s. 1668; C. S., s. 1838.)

§ 68-13. Final judgment on report; effect.—The final judgment upon the report of the jurors shall be binding on the owners of the respective lands and their assigns, so long as such ownership shall continue, or until the same shall be set aside, modified or reversed. (1868-9, c. 275, s. 6; Code, s. 2806; Rev., s. 1669; C. S., s. 1839.)

§ 68-14. Removal of common fence misdemeanor. — If any person owning, occupying, cultivating or being in possession of any lands under a common fence protecting the lands, crops or property of others, shall remove such fence or any part thereof during the time in which any crops are growing or being actually cultivated thereon, or property is protected by such fence, and before such crops are harvested, without the consent and permission of such person or persons whose crop or property is protected by such common fence, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days: Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply when ninety days' notice of such removal shall have been given to all persons owning, cultivating or in possession of lands surrounded by such common fence, or having property protected thereby, and when thereafter such fence shall be removed between the first day of January and the first day of March following such notice of intended removal. (Code, s. 2820; 1903, c. 20; Rev., s. 3412; C. S., s. 1840.)

Editor's Note. — When a fence is altogether on the land of a person, although used as a common fence, he has the right to move it and he is not subject to criminal prosecution, but a civil right might arise under § 68-9. State v. Watson, 86 N. C. 626 (1882). Neither will an indictment lie for removing a fence when a party removing the fence has possession of the land on both sides of the fence although title may be in the prosecutor, and the defendant is only a tenant by curtesy. State v. Williams, 44 N. C. 197 (1853).

Cited in State v. Dunn, 95 N. C. 697 (1886).

ARTICLE 3.

Stock Law.

§ 68-15. Term "stock" defined.—The word "stock" in this chapter shall be construed to mean horses, mules, colts, cows, calves, sheep, goats, jennets, and all neat cattle, swine and geese. (Code, s. 2822; Rev., s. 1681; C. S., s. 1841.)

Local Modification.—Currituck: 1937, c. 389; Dare: 1935, c. 263; 1937, c. 213; Onslow: 1933, c. 151; 1937, c. 356; Robeson: 1917, c. 662.

Cross Reference. — For act making Cherokee County "stock law territory", see note to G. S. 68-23.

A dog is not "stock" within the meaning of the section, but nevertheless subject to larceny. Meekins v. Simpson, 176 N. C. 130, 96 S. E. 894 (1918).

§ 68-16. County elections.—Upon the written application of one-fifth of the qualified voters of any county made to the board of commissioners thereof, it shall be the duty of the commissioners from time to time to submit the question of "stock law" or "no stock law" to the qualified voters of said county. And if at any such election a majority of the votes cast is in favor of "stock law," then the provisions of this chapter relating to the stock law shall be in force over the whole of said county. (Code, s. 2812; Rev., s. 1672; C. S., s. 1842.)

Cross Reference. — As to "majority of qualified voters," see N. C. Const., Art. VII, § 7.

In a county where only a part of the townships have stock laws, an election covering the whole county is held valid, and it does not interfere with the principles of local self-government. Smalley v. Board, 122 N. C. 607, 29 S. E. 904 (1898);

Perry v. Board, 130 N. C. 558, 41 S. E. 787 (1902).

Mandamus to Compel Election.—When a petition duly signed by the required number of voters is filed with the commissioners, and they refuse to call an election, mandamus may be brought to compel them to grant the petition. Perry v. Board, 130 N. C. 558, 41 S. E. 787 (1902).

§ 68-17. Township elections.—Upon the written application of one-fifth of the qualified voters in any township, made to the board of commissioners of the county wherein the township is situated, it shall be the duty of the commissioners to submit the question of "stock law" or "no stock law" to the qualified voters of the township; and if at any such township election a majority of the votes cast is in favor of "stock law," then the stock law shall be in force in said township. (Code, s. 2813; Rev., s. 1673; C. S., s. 1843.)

Voting in County Election.—The fact that a township has "stock laws" does not bar the voters in that township from voting in a county election. Smalley v. Board, 122 N. C. 607, 29 S. E. 904 (1898).

§ 68-18. District elections. — Upon the written application of one-fifth of the qualified voters of any district or territory, whether the boundaries of said district follow township lines or not, made to the board of county commissioners at any time, and setting forth well-defined boundaries of the district, it shall be the duty of the commissioners to submit the question of "stock law" or "no stock law" to the qualified voters of the district, and if at any such election a majority of the votes cast is in favor of "stock law," then the stock law shall be in force over the whole of said district. (Code, s. 2814; Rev., s. 1674; C. S., s. 1844.)

"Well-Defined Boundaries."—The words "well-defined boundaries" are not too indefinite to admit of proof to locate the boundaries where the beginning is "at a certain tract of land," and the difficulty as to the uncertainty of the point of beginning is removed where there is a call for the boundaries of lands of successive proprietors, thence to a certain point. Newsom v. Earnheart, 86 N. C. 391 (1882).

Right to Unite Districts. — The commissioners have no power when several districts adjoin each other to unite them into one territory, provide for the construction of one boundary fence, and assess a uniform tax on all the real property in the several districts so united to meet the expense of the fence. Bradshaw v. Board, 92 N. C. 278 (1885).

§ 68-19. Local: How territory released from stock law.—Upon the written application of a majority of the qualified voters in any district, territory or well-defined boundary, made to the board of county commissioners, at any time, setting forth that the citizens of said district, territory or boundary are within the stock-law boundary, and are desirous of being released from the laws governing stock-law territory, it shall be the duty of the commissioners to submit the question of “no stock law” or “stock law” to the qualified voters of said district or territory, and if at any such election a majority of the votes cast is against stock law, then the said district or territory shall be released and free from the operation of the stock law: Provided, the expense incurred in changing the fence in such boundary, district or territory so released be paid by the property holders in such boundary, district or territory, and that the commissioners of the county levy the tax to pay the same on the property holders of such boundary, district or territory so released, but they shall not be further liable for keeping up said stock-law fence: Provided, that in any territory where stock law now prevails no election against stock law shall be held in less than two years from the date of the election adopting stock law in said territory: Provided further, that if “no stock law” should carry, it shall not take effect until six months from the date of its ratification: Provided still further, that neither “stock law” nor “no stock law” shall take effect during crop season.

This section applies only to the counties of Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Jackson, Macon, Mitchell, Pender, Randolph, Swain, and to Hogback Township in Transylvania County. (1895, c. 35; 1897, cc. 461, 516; 1903, c. 60; Rev., s. 1675; 1907, c. 874, s. 3; P. L. 1911, cc. 265, 469; P. L. 1915, c. 379; P. L. 1917, c. 662; C. S., s. 1845.)

Local Modification.—Currituck: 1937, c. 389; Dare: 1935, c. 263; 1937, c. 213; Jackson, as to Cashiers Township: 1949, c. 752, s. 3.

When a “no stock law” is duly passed, before the stock can be turned out to run at large the district or county passing such law must be inclosed so that the stock will not range out of “no stock law” territory and on the crops of others not in the “no stock law” territory. Marsburn v. Jones, 176 N. C. 516, 97 S. E. 422 (1918).

This section provides that the expense incurred in building such a fence shall be paid by a tax on the property holders of the district or county. This certainly does not authorize a tax solely upon the real estate in the county or district. Hawes v. Commissioners, 175 N. C. 268, 95 S. E. 482 (1918). Therefore, to raise this fund an election must be held and authority granted by the majority of the voters. Marsburn v. Jones, 176 N. C. 516, 97 S. E. 422 (1918).

§ 68-20. How election conducted.—Every election under this chapter shall be held and conducted under the same rules and regulations and according to the same penalties provided by law for the election of members of the General Assembly: Provided, no such county, township or district election shall be held oftener than once in any one year, although the boundaries of such district may not be the same. (Code, s. 2815; Rev., s. 1676; C. S., s. 1846.)

§ 68-21. Powers and duties of county commissioners.—The board of commissioners of the county may provide for a new registration of voters, designate places for holding elections, and make all regulations, and do all other things necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this chapter relating to the stock law. (Code, s. 2826; Rev., s. 1677; C. S., s. 1847.)

Building and Repairing Fences.—County commissioners are not required by the stock law to personally superintend the fence around the no fence territory; they discharge their duty under the statute when they levy the necessary taxes, appoint the committees, etc., to keep the fence in repair. State v. Commissioners, 97 N. C. 388, 1 S. E. 641 (1887).

But an owner of stock, however, who resides outside of such territory, is not liable to have his stock impounded within such territory, unless the county commissioners have kept the fence in good repair. In such case the presumption is that the fence is in good order, and the burden of showing the contrary on the party alleging it. Coor v. Rogers, 97 N. C. 143, 1 S. E. 613 (1887).

§ 68-22. Admission of lands adjoining stock-law territory.—Any person, or any number of persons, owning land in a county, district or township which shall not adopt the stock law, or adjoining any county, township or district where a stock law prevails, may have his or their lands enclosed within any fence built in pursuance of this chapter. All such adjacent lands, when so enclosed, shall be subject to all the provisions of law with respect to livestock running at large within the original district so enclosed, as if it were a part of the township, county or district with which it is hereby authorized to be enclosed. Any number of landowners, whose lands are contiguous, may at any time build a common fence around all their lands, with gates across all public highways; and no livestock shall run at large within any such enclosure, under the pains and penalties prescribed in this chapter. (Code, s. 2821; Rev., s. 1678; C. S., s. 1848.)

Cited in Edwards v. Supervisors, 127 N. C. 62, 37 S. E. 73 (1900).

§ 68-23. Allowing stock at large in stock-law territory forbidden.—If any person shall allow his livestock to run at large within the limits of any county, township or district in which a stock law prevails or shall prevail pursuant to law, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Code, s. 2811; 1889, c. 504; Rev., s. 3319; C. S., s. 1849.)

Editor's Note.—For act declaring Nash County to be stock-law territory, see Session Laws 1943, c. 451.

For act declaring Warren County to be "stock-law territory," see Session Laws 1955, c. 1310.

For act making Cherokee County "stock-law territory", and subject to G. S. 68-15, 68-23 to 68-31 and 68-36 to 68-38, see Session Laws 1957, c. 946.

Duty to Restrain Stock. — This section imposes upon all persons the statutory duty of restraining their stock from running at large. McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

This section impliedly subjects the owner to civil responsibility as a tortfeasor if he knowingly or negligently permits his livestock to roam at large in stock-law territory, and in that way proximately causes injury to the person or property of another. Kelly v. Willis, 238 N. C. 637, 78 S. E. (2d) 711 (1953).

This section implies knowledge, consent or willingness on the part of the owner that the animals be at large, or negligence equivalent thereto, and the mere fact that animals are at large does not raise the presumption that the owner permits them to run at large, nor does the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur apply upon the establishment of the facts that animals are found at large. Gardner v. Black, 217 N. C. 573, 9 S. E. (2d) 10 (1940).

Evidence. — That owner knowingly or negligently allowed his mule to run at large on the highway may be inferred from the fact that the mule repeatedly ran loose thereon. Kelly v. Willis, 238 N. C. 637, 78 S. E. (2d) 711 (1953).

Cited in State v. Brigman, 94 N. C. 883 (1886).

§ 68-24. Impounding stock at large in territory. — Any person may take up any livestock running at large within any township or district wherein the stock law shall be in force and impound the same; and such impounder may demand one dollar for each animal so taken up, and fifty cents for each animal for every day such stock is kept impounded, and may retain the same, with the right to use it under proper care, until all legal charges for impounding said stock and for damages caused by the same are paid, the damages to be ascertained by two disinterested freeholders, to be selected by the owner and the impounder, the freeholders to select an umpire, if they cannot agree, and their decision to be final. (Code, s. 2816; Rev., s. 1679; C. S., s. 1850; 1951, c. 569.)

Local Modification.—Camden, Currituck, Gates, Pasquotank, Perquimans: Pub. Loc. 1927, c. 327.

Cross Reference. — As to larceny of stock and malicious injury thereto, see § 14-85.

Editor's Note. — The 1951 amendment increased the amounts in line four from "fifty cents" to "one dollar" and from "twenty-five cents" to "fifty cents."

Constitutionality.—This and the following sections are constitutional. Hogan v. Brown, 125 N. C. 251, 34 S. E. 411 (1899). And resident owners may be required to pay a higher penalty than nonresident owners. Broadfoot v. Fayetteville, 121 N. C. 418, 28 S. E. 515 (1897).

Not Applicable to Stock under Control.—This section does not authorize the taking up and impounding of livestock unless running at large, and does not apply to cows securely tied to trees under the immediate control of the owner with the permission of the lessee of the land, and it is forcible trespass to take them away over the protest of the owner, to prevent which the owner may use all necessary force, unless the taking is by appropriate legal proceedings. Kirkpatrick v. Crutchfield, 178 N. C. 348, 100 S. E. 602 (1919). See State v. Hunter, 118 N. C. 1196, 24 S. E. 708 (1896).

When and by Whom Stock May Be Impounded. — All persons are under the statutory duty of restraining their livestock from running at large, and when out of the pasture such stock are at large and subject to be taken up and impounded by any person, even though they are at large as a result of the negligence of the person who so impounds them, where the owner has knowledge of their being at large and neglects to restrain them. McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

Strays from No-Fence Territory. — In State v. Mathis, 149 N. C. 546, 63 S. E. 99 (1908), the court said: "While it is usual for the counties or townships which adopt a 'stock law' to build a common fence, it is not necessary that they do so." In State v. Garner, 158 N. C. 630, 74 S. E. 458 (1912), the court held that the owner of cattle who permits them to run at large in fence territory, but they stray across the line into a no-fence territory, is liable, though he does not turn them out for that purpose. Owen v. Williamson, 171 N. C. 57, 59, 87 S. E. 959 (1916).

Liability for Killing Strays. — Under this section one has the power to take up a stray, and the law requires that he do so in preference to killing or injuring it. If he wantonly kills such stray, he is guilty of a misdemeanor. State v. Brigman, 94 N. C. 888 (1886). See § 14-366.

Applied in Beasley v. Edwards, 211 N. C. 393, 190 S. E. 221 (1937).

§ 68-25. Owner notified; sale of stock; application of proceeds.—If the owner of such stock be known to the impounder he shall immediately inform the owner where his stock is impounded, and if the owner shall for two days after such notice willfully refuse or neglect to redeem his stock, then the impounder, after ten days' written notice posted at three or more public places within the township where the stock is impounded, and describing the stock and stating place, day and hour of sale, or if the owner be unknown, after twenty days' notice in the same manner, and also at the courthouse door, shall sell the stock at public auction, and apply the proceeds in accordance with the provisions of this article, and the balance he shall turn over to the owner if known, and if the owner be not known, to the county commissioners for the use of the school fund of the district wherein said stock was taken up and impounded, subject in their hands for six months to the call of the legally entitled owner. (Code, s. 2817; Rev., s. 1680; C. S., s. 1851.)

Cross Reference.—As to constitutionality, see note to § 68-24.

When Owner May Not Complain. — Where a party lawfully impounds a sow, sells same under provisions of a recorder's judgment, and pays himself his lawful fees for impounding the sow and his damages caused by the sow, and pays to the owner the amount due him out of the purchase price, the owner may not complain. Beasley v. Edwards, 211 N. C. 393, 190 S. E. 221 (1937).

§ 68-26. Impounding unlawfully misdemeanor. — If any person shall willfully and unlawfully toll, drive, or in any way move any other person's horse, mule, ass, neat cattle, sheep, hog, goat, or dog, from the range or elsewhere, into any stock-law district, or into the limits of any city or town having the right to impound or destroy the same, with intent to secure the poundage or other penalty, or with intent to injure the owner of such animal, or to require him to pay any poundage or penalty on account of such animal, or for hire or reward, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If any person shall unlawfully and willfully remove any animal above named from any lawful inclosure, with intent to injure the owner, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1895, c. 141, s. 1; Rev., s. 3309; C. S., s. 1852.)

§ 68-27. Illegally releasing or receiving impounded stock misdemeanor.—If any person unlawfully receives or releases any impounded stock, or unlawfully attempts to do so, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Code, s. 2819; 1889, c. 504; Rev., s. 3310; C. S., s. 1853.)

§ 68-28. Impounded stock to be fed and watered.—If any person shall impound, or cause to be impounded in any pound or other place, any animal, and shall fail to supply to the same during such confinement a sufficient quantity of good and wholesome food and water, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1881, c. 368, s. 3; Code, s. 2484; 1891, c. 65; Rev., s. 3311; C. S., s. 1854.)

Stated in McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

§ 68-29. Right to feed impounded stock; owner liable.—In case any animal is at any time impounded as aforesaid, and shall continue to be without necessary food and water for more than twelve successive hours, it shall be lawful for any person from time to time, and as often as it shall be necessary, to enter into and upon any such pound or other place in which any animal shall be so confined, and to supply it with necessary food and water so long as it shall remain so confined. Such person shall not be liable to any action for such entry, and the reasonable cost of such food and water may be collected by him of the owner of such animal. (1881, c. 368, s. 4; Code, s. 2485; Rev., s. 1682; C. S., s. 1855.)

The difference between an impounding fee and a charge for food, is recognized by the law. Section 68-24 prescribed the impounding fees for taking up stock running at large, and this section prescribes for payment of feeding such stock when taken up. The former fees go to the officer or the town or county, and the latter is a humane provision without which the stock might suffer for want of food and water. Owen v. Williamston, 171 N. C. 57, 87 S. E. 959 (1916).

Cited in McCoy v. Tillman, 224 N. C. 201, 29 S. E. (2d) 683 (1944).

§ 68-30. Injuring lands in stock-law territory by riding or driving.—If any person, by riding or driving upon the lands of another without permission, or while driving livestock along any roadway, public or private, shall willfully, deliberately or recklessly do or permit to be done any actual injury to said land, or to the crops or other property growing or being thereon, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. But no such offender shall be proceeded against unless the party injured, or someone in his behalf, shall cause a warrant to be issued or an indictment to be found against the party offending, within fifteen days after the commission of the offense. (Code, s. 2828; 1889, c. 118; Rev., s. 3321; C. S., s. 1856.)

§ 68-31. Owner in stock-law territory allowing stock outside.— If any person having stock within the limits of a stock-law territory shall allow the same to run at large beyond the boundaries of said territory, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days: Provided, that a person owning or renting land outside of the stock-law territory may turn his stock upon the said land outside of the stock-law district. (Code, s. 2827; 1885, c. 371; 1889, c. 266; Rev., s. 3322; C. S., s. 1857.)

§ 68-32. Stock-law territory to be fenced around.—The stock law authorized by this chapter shall not be enforced until a fence has been erected around any territory proposed to be enclosed, with gates on all the public roads passing into and going out of said territory: Provided, all streams which are or may be declared to be lawful fences shall be sufficient boundaries, in lieu of fences: Provided further, no fence shall be erected along the boundary lines of any county, township, or district where a stock law prevails. (Code, s. 2823; Rev., s. 1683; C. S., s. 1858.)

§ 68-33. Commissioners may declare natural barrier sufficient fence.—In any county in the State in which or in any portion of which the stock law is now in force or may hereafter be adopted, the county commissioners of said county in their discretion may declare any watercourse, mountain, mountain range or parts of same, and also other natural and sufficient obstructions along the line of said stock-law territory to be and constitute a sufficient stock-law fence, and in that event such watercourse, mountain, mountain range or part thereof and obstructions so declared by said commissioners shall be and constitute a lawful fence to all intents and purposes. (1901, c. 542; Rev., s. 1684; C. S., s. 1859.)

When Absence of Built Fence No Defence. — It is competent for the county commissioners to forbid stock from running at large within the county, and declare a mountain range, a creek, or other natural line, a fence as the limit within which the law shall operate, and it is not a valid defence that no fence had been built on the line to prevent the stock from the adjoining county to run at large on his side of the line when one is prosecuted for allowing his stock to run at large. State v. Mathis, 149 N. C. 546, 63 S. E. 99 (1908).

§ 68-34. Assessment of landowners for fence. — For the purpose of building stock-law fences, the board of commissioners of the county may levy and collect a special assessment upon all real property, taxable by the county, within the county, township or district which may adopt the stock law, but no such assessment shall be greater than one fourth of one per centum on the value of said property. (Code, s. 2824; Rev., s. 1685; C. S., s. 1860.)

Cross Reference. — As to tax for "no stock law" fence, see note to § 68-19.

Constitutionality. — This section does not come within the prohibition of the State Constitution providing for uniform tax, as this is not of the nature of a tax, but is an assessment to defray expenses of local improvements, although called a tax by the legislature. Cain v. Commissioners, 86 N. C. 8 (1882); Shuford v. Commissioners, 86 N. C. 552 (1882).

When Applicable.—The provisions of this section apply both to the cases where the adoption of the stock law is dependent on a popular vote, and where it is made absolute by an act of the General Assembly. Busbee v. Commissioners, 93 N. C. 143 (1885).

These local assessments are not under all the restraints put upon the taxing power. They stand upon a different footing and rest upon the equitable and just consideration that lands rendered more valuable by the improvements ought to contribute to the expense of making the improvements, and that these expenses ought not to fall upon the entire body of the taxpayers. The advantage is to the land, and to the persons only as owners of the land. Busbee v. Commissioners, 93 N. C. 143 (1885).

District in Two Counties.—If the district organized lies in two counties the assessment shall be as if it was all in one county. Commissioners v. Commissioners, 92 N. C. 187 (1885).

Township Withdrawn from Stock Law.—This section does not authorize the imposition of the assessment on the real estate of a township withdrawn from the benefit of the stock law by express legislative enactment for the purpose of raising money to replace the money withdrawn from the general fund to pay the expenses of fences erected by the commissioners. Harper v. Commissioners, 133 N. C. 106, 45 S. E. 526 (1903).

Assessment Must Be for Stock-Law Fences Only.—An assessment by a county upon the real estate to build a fence for the purpose of keeping the stock in anti-stock-law territory from trespassing is unauthorized by law. Hawes v. Commissioners, 175 N. C. 268, 95 S. E. 482 (1918).

The roadbed and right of way of a railroad are liable to an assessment for local improvements. Commissioners v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 133 N. C. 216, 45 S. E. 566 (1903).

§ 68-35. Condemnation of land for fence.—If the owner of any land objects to the building of any fence herein allowed, his land, not exceeding twenty feet in width, shall be condemned for the fenceway in accordance with the procedure specified in the article Condemnation Proceedings under the chapter Eminent Domain. (Code, s. 2825; Rev., s. 1686; C. S., s. 1861.)

§ 68-36. Injury to stock-law fences misdemeanor in stock-law territory.—If any person willfully tears down, or in any manner breaks a fence or gate, or leaves open a gate erected around a stock-law territory, or willfully breaks any enclosure within any township, district or county where a stock law is in force, and wherein any stock is confined, so that the same may escape therefrom, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Code, s. 2820; 1889, c. 504; Rev., s. 3411; C. S., s. 1862.)

§ 68-37. Impounder violating stock law misdemeanor.—If any impounder willfully misappropriates money that he may receive from sale of stock impounded, or in any manner willfully violates any provisions of the law in regard thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Code, s. 2820; 1889, c. 504; Rev., s. 3312; C. S., s. 1863.)

Cited in State v. Dunn, 95 N. C. 697 (1886).

§ 68-38. Local: Depredations of domestic fowls in certain counties.—In the counties and parts of counties hereinafter enumerated, where the stock law prevails, it shall be unlawful for any person to permit any turkeys, geese, chickens, ducks or other domestic fowls to run at large, after being notified as provided in this section, on the lands of any other person while such lands are under cultivation in any kind of grain or feedstuff, or while being used for gardens or ornamental purposes.

Any person so permitting his fowls to run at large, after having been notified to keep them up, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding five dollars or imprisoned not exceeding five days, or if it shall appear to any justice of the peace that after two days' notice any person persists in allowing his fowls to run at large and fails or refuses to keep them upon his own premises, then the said justice of the peace may, in his discretion, order any sheriff, constable or other officer to kill said fowls when so depredating. regard to stock running at large along the outer banks, see G. S. 68-42 et seq.

Applied in Kelly v. Willis, 238 N. C.

Cross Reference.—For provisions with 637, 78 S. E. (2d) 711 (1953).

§ 68-40. Counties divided by railroad.—Wherever the railroad referred to in § 68-39 shall divide a county so that a part of the county lies east and a part west of the said railroad, then the whole of said county shall be “stock-law territory,” and under the provisions of this article from and after January first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two. (1921, c. 50, s. 2; C. S., s. 1864(b).)

§ 68-41. Repeal of local laws or regulations.—Sections 68-39 and 68-40 shall not be construed to repeal or change local laws or regulations regarding the subject matter covered by those sections except so far as said local laws and regulations actually conflict with the provisions thereof and prevent the proper enforcement of said provisions, and the said local laws, rules, and regulations on the subject matter similar to that covered by said sections shall remain in full force and effect, except as they do and until they do actually interfere with the enforcement of the said provisions. (1921, c. 230; C. S., s. 1864(c).)

ARTICLE 4.

Stock along the Outer Banks.

§ 68-42. Stock running at large prohibited; certain ponies excepted.—From and after July 1, 1958, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to allow his or its horses, cattle, goats, sheep, or hogs to run free or at large along the outer banks of this State. This article shall not apply to horses known as marsh ponies or banks ponies on Ocracoke Island, Hyde County. This article shall not apply to horses known as marsh ponies or banks ponies on Shackelford Banks between Beaufort Inlet and Barden's Inlet in Carteret County. Saving and excepting those animals known as “banker ponies” on the island of Ocracoke owned by the Boy Scouts and not exceeding thirty-five (35) in number. (1957, c. 1057, s. 1.)

§ 68-43. Authority of Director of Conservation and Development to remove or confine ponies on Ocracoke Island and Shackelford Banks.—Notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, the Director of the Department of Conservation and Development shall have authority to remove or cause to be removed from Ocracoke Island and Shackelford Banks all ponies known as banks ponies or marsh ponies if and when he determines that such action is essential to prevent damage to the island. In the event such a determination is made, the Director, in lieu of removing all ponies, may require that they be restricted to a certain area or corralled so as to prevent damage to the island. In the event such action is taken, the Director is authorized to take such steps and act through his duly designated employees or such other persons as, in his opinion, he deems necessary and he may accept any assistance provided by or through the National Park Service. (1957, c. 1057, s. 1½.)

§ 68-44. Penalty for violation of § 68-42.—Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of § 68-42 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1957, c. 1057, s. 2.)

§ 68-45. Impounding stock. — The provisions of G. S. 68-24 to 68-30, relative to the impounding of stock running at large shall apply with equal force and effect along the outer banks of this State. (1957, c. 1057, s. 3.)

§ 68-46. “Outer banks of this State” defined.—For the purposes of this article, the terms “outer banks of this State”, shall be construed to mean all of that part of North Carolina which is separated from the mainland by a body of water, such as an inlet or sound, and which is in part bounded by the Atlantic Ocean. (1957, c. 1057, s. 4.)

ARTICLE 1.

Investigation of Fires and Inspection of Premises.

§ 69-1. Fires investigated; reports; records.—The Commissioner of Insurance and the chief of the fire department, or chief of police where there is no chief of fire department, in municipalities and towns, and the sheriff of the county where such fire occurs outside of a municipality, are hereby authorized to investigate the cause, origin, and circumstances of every fire occurring in such municipalities or counties in which property has been destroyed or damaged, and shall specially make investigation whether the fire was the result of carelessness or design. A preliminary investigation shall be made by the chief of fire department or chief of police, where there is no chief of fire department in municipalities, and by the sheriff of the county where such fire occurs outside of a municipality, and must be begun within three days, exclusive of Sunday, of the occurrence of the fire, and the Commissioner of Insurance shall have the right to supervise and direct the investigation when he deems it expedient or necessary. The officer making the investigation of fires shall forthwith notify the Commissioner of Insurance, and must within one week of the occurrence of the fire furnish to the Commissioner a written statement of all the facts relating to the cause and origin of the fire, the kind, value, and ownership of the property destroyed, and such other information as is called for by the blanks provided by the Commissioner. The Commissioner of Insurance shall keep in his office a record of all fires occurring in the State, together with all facts, statistics, and circumstances, including the origin of the fires, which are determined by the investigations provided for by this article. This record shall at all times be open to public inspection. (1899, c. 58; 1901, c. 387; 1903, c. 719; Rev., s. 4818; C. S., s. 6074; 1943, c. 170.)

§ 69-2. Commissioner of Insurance to make examination; arrests and prosecution.—It is the duty of the Commissioner of Insurance to examine, or cause examination to be made, into the cause, circumstances, and origin of all fires occurring within the State to which his attention has been called in accordance with the provisions of § 69-1, or by interested parties, by which property is accidentally or unlawfully burned, destroyed, or damaged, whenever in his judgment the evidence is sufficient, and to specially examine and decide whether the fire was the result of carelessness or the act of an incendiary. The Commissioner shall, in person, by deputy or otherwise, fully investigate all circumstances surrounding such fire, and, when in his opinion such proceedings are necessary, take or cause to be taken the testimony on oath of all persons supposed to be cognizant of any facts or to have means of knowledge in relation to the matters as to which an examination is herein required to be made, and shall cause the same to be reduced in writing. If the Commissioner, or any deputy appointed to conduct such investigations, is of the opinion that there is evidence to charge any person or persons with the crime of arson, or other wilful burning, or fraud in connection with the crime of arson or other wilful burning, he may arrest with warrant or cause such person or persons to be arrested, charged with such offense, and prosecuted, and shall furnish to the solicitor of the district all such evidence, together with the names of witnesses and all other information obtained by him, including a copy of all pertinent and material testimony taken in the case. (1899, c. 58, s. 2; 1901, c. 387, s. 2; 1903, c. 719; Rev., s. 4819; C. S., s. 6075; 1943, c. 170; 1955, c. 642, s. 1; 1959, c. 1183.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment inserted in the last sentence the words "or fraud in connection with the crime of arson or other wilful burning." And immediately following the quoted words, the amendment also substituted the words "he may arrest with warrant or cause such person or persons to be arrested" for the words "he shall cause such person to be arrested."

The 1959 amendment struck out "he," the second word of the last sentence, and inserted in lieu thereof the words "the Commissioner, or any deputy appointed to conduct such investigations."

§ 69-3. Powers of Commissioner in investigations.—The Commissioner of Insurance, or his deputy appointed to conduct such examination, has the powers of a trial justice for the purpose of summoning and compelling the attendance of witnesses to testify in relation to any matter which is by provisions of this article a subject of inquiry and investigation, and may administer oaths and affirmations to persons appearing as witnesses before them. False swearing in any such matter or proceeding is perjury and shall be punished as such. The Commissioner or his deputy has authority at all times of the day or night, in performance of the duties imposed by the provisions of this article, to enter upon and examine any building or premises where any fire has occurred, and other buildings and premises adjoining or near the same. All investigations held by or under the direction of the Commissioner or his deputy may, in their discretion, be private, and persons other than those required to be present by the provisions of this article may be excluded from the place where the investigation is held, and witnesses may be kept apart from each other and not allowed to communicate with each other until they have been examined. (1899, c. 58, s. 3; 1901, c. 387, s. 3; Rev., s. 4820; C. S., s. 6076; 1943, c. 170.)

§ 69-3.1. Failure to comply with summons or subpoena.—The failure of a person to comply with a summons or subpoena of the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy under G. S. 69-3 shall be brought before a court of record and punished as for contempt in the same manner as if he had failed to appear and testify before said court of record. (1955, c. 642, s. 2.)

§ 69-4. Inspection of premises; dangerous material removed.—The Commissioner of Insurance, or the chief of fire department or chief of police where there is no chief of fire department, or local inspector of buildings in municipalities where such officer is elected or appointed, has the right at all reasonable hours, for the purpose of examination, to enter into and upon all buildings and premises in their jurisdiction. It is the duty of the Commissioner of Insurance to require in all municipalities of the State that such officers make in their respective municipalities annual inspection of the buildings therein and quarterly inspection of all premises within the fire limits, and report in detail the results of their inspection to the Commissioner of Insurance upon blanks furnished by him. When any of such officers find in any building or upon any premises combustible material or inflammable conditions dangerous to the safety of such building or premises they shall order the same to be removed or remedied, and this order shall be forthwith complied with by the owner or occupant of such buildings or premises. The owner or occupant may, within twenty-four hours, appeal to the Commissioner of Insurance from the order, and the cause of the complaint shall be at once investigated by his direction, and unless by his authority the order of the officer above named is revoked it remains in force and must be forthwith complied with by the owner or occupant. The Commissioner of Insurance, fire chief, or fire committee shall make an immediate investigation as to the presence of combustible material or the existence of inflammable conditions in any building or upon any premises under their jurisdiction upon complaint of any person having an interest in such building or premises or property adjacent thereto. The Commissioner may, in person or by deputy, visit any municipality and make such inspections alone or in company with the local officer. The local inspector shall be paid by the municipality a reasonable salary or proper fees to be fixed by its governing board. (1899, c. 58, s. 4; 1901, c. 387, s. 4; 1903, c. 719; Rev., s. 4821; C. S., s. 6077; 1943, c. 170.)

Cross Reference.—As to regulation of buildings by municipalities, see § 160-115 et seq.

§ 69-5. Deputy investigators.—It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Insurance to appoint two or more persons as deputies, whose particular duty it shall be to investigate forest fires and endeavor to ascertain the persons guilty of setting such fires and cause prosecution to be instituted against those who, as a result of such investigation, are deemed guilty. (1899, c. 58, s. 6; 1901, c. 387, s. 6; 1903, c. 719, s. 2; Rev., s. 4823; 1915, c. 109, s. 2; 1919, c. 186, s. 7; C. S., s. 6078; Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 119; 1943, c. 170.)

Editor's Note.—The provisions of this section were derived from the 1924 amendment. Cited in O'Neal v. Wake County, 196 N. C. 184, 145 S. E. 28 (1928).

§ 69-6. Reports of Commissioner of Insurance.—The Commissioner of Insurance shall submit annually, as early as consistent with full and accurate preparation, and not later than the first day of June, a detailed report of his official action under this article, and it shall be embodied in his report to the General Assembly. He shall, in his annual report, make a statement of the fires investigated, the value of property destroyed, the amount of insurance, if any, the origin of the fire, when ascertained, and the location of the property damaged or destroyed, whether in town, city, or country. (1899, c. 58, s. 7; 1901, c. 387, s. 7; Rev., s. 4824; 1915, c. 109, s. 1; C. S., s. 6079; 1943, c. 170.)

§ 69-7. Fire prevention and Fire Prevention Day.—It is the duty of the Commissioner of Insurance, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education to provide a pamphlet containing printed instructions for properly conducting fire drills in all schools and auxiliary school buildings and the principal of every public and private school shall conduct at least one fire drill every month during the regular school session in each building in his charge where children are assembled. The fire drills shall include all children and teachers and the use of various ways of egress to assimilate evacuation of said buildings under various conditions, and such other regulations as prescribed by the Commissioner of Insurance, Superintendent of Public Instruction and State Board of Education.

The Commissioner of Insurance and Superintendent of Public Instruction shall further provide for the teaching of "Fire Prevention" in the colleges and schools of the State, and to arrange for a textbook adapted to such use. The ninth day of October of every year shall be set aside and designated as "Fire Prevention Day", and the Governor shall issue a proclamation urging the people to a proper observance of the day, and the Commissioner of Insurance shall bring the day and its observance to the attention of the officials of all organized fire departments of the State, whose duty it shall be to disseminate the materials and to arrange suitable programs to be followed in its observance. (1915, c. 166, s. 5; C. S., s. 6080; 1925, c. 130; 1943, c. 170; 1947, c. 781; 1957, c. 845.)

Cross Reference. — As to requirement that fire prevention be taught in public schools, see § 115-37. phlet or fire drill instructions and conducting monthly fire drills. The 1947 amendment substituted "Commissioner of Insurance" for "Insurance Commission." And the 1957 amendment rewrote the section.

Editor's Note.—The 1925 amendment inserted the provisions relating to pamphlet or fire drill instructions and conducting monthly fire drills. The 1947 amendment substituted "Commissioner of Insurance" for "Insurance Commission." And the 1957 amendment rewrote the section.

ARTICLE 2.

Fire Escapes.

§ 69-8. Construction of buildings regulated.—All hotels, lodging houses, school dormitories, hospitals, sanitariums, apartment houses, flats, tenement houses and all buildings other than private dwellings not over three stories in height, in which rooms are to be rented or leased or let or offered for rent, let or leased for living or sleeping purposes, hereafter constructed in this State shall be constructed so that the occupants of all rooms above the first floor shall have unobstructed access to two separate and distinct ways of egress extending from the uppermost floor to the ground, such ways of egress to be so arranged in reference to rooms that in case of fire on one stairway the other stairway can be reached by the occupant without his or her having to pass the stairway involved. Entrance to all such ways of egress aforementioned in this section shall be from corridors or hallways of not less than three feet in width, and in no case shall entrance to such ways of egress be through a room or closet, and where such building is in the opinion of the Commissioner of Insurance of sufficient size to require more than two ways of egress the "National Fire Protection Association" standard governing corridors and stair areas shall be adhered to. Every hotel, lodging house, school dormitory, hospital, sanatorium, apartment house, flat, tenement or other building, other than a private dwelling not over three stories in height, in which rooms are rented, leased, let or offered for rent, leased or let, shall forthwith, at the owner's expense, be provided with additional ways of egress as the Commissioner of Insurance shall deem practicable in order that the object of this article may be accomplished and that existing dangers may not be perpetuated. (1909, c. 637, s. 1; C. S., s. 6081; 1923, c. 149, s. 4; 1943, c. 170.)

Editor's Note. — The 1923 amendment rewrote this section.

Nonsuit Held Proper.—These actions to recover for personal injuries and for wrongful death resulting from a fire in defendants' building, the third floor of which was rented for sleeping quarters, were founded on this section, upon allegations that defendants failed to have two exits from the sleeping quarters in case of fire. All the evidence tended to show that the building was constructed prior to 1913, and there was no evidence that the Commissioner of Insurance ever deemed practical that the building should be provided with any additional ways of egress in order that the dangers existing should be terminated. It was held that defendants' motion to nonsuit was properly allowed, since plaintiffs failed to bring themselves within the statute relied upon. Woods v. Hall, 214 N. C. 16, 197 S. E. 557 (1938).

§ 69-9. Places of public amusement, how constructed.—Every theater, opera house, or other like place of public amusement shall have as many doors for egress therefrom as may be necessary and can be made consistently with the proper strength of the building; all such doors shall be hung so as to open outwardly, or both outwardly and inwardly; and the seats therein shall be arranged in rows properly spaced, with aisles of adequate width, so as to afford easy egress therefrom. All scenery shall be made as secure against becoming inflamed as reasonably practical, and also all reasonably practical arrangements shall be made for the constant supply of water and other means for extinguishment of fires, and they shall be kept constantly effective during the presence of an audience. The Commissioner of Insurance may require all theaters to be equipped with a front curtain of asbestos or other fireproof material, to be furnished by owner of the building, and this curtain shall be raised and lowered not less than twice before each performance, in order to guarantee its being in perfect working order. (1909, c. 637, s. 2; C. S., s. 6082; 1943, c. 170.)

§ 69-10. Doors in certain buildings to open outwardly.—In all public schoolhouses and other buildings, and also all theaters, assembly rooms, halls, churches, factories with more than ten employees, and all other buildings or places of public resort where people are accustomed to assemble (excepting schoolhouses and churches of one room on the ground floor) which shall hereafter be erected, together with all those heretofore erected and which are still in use as such buildings or places of resort, the doors for ingress and egress shall be so hung as to open outwardly from the audience rooms, halls, or workshops of such buildings or places, or the doors may be hung on double hinges, so as to open with equal ease outwardly or inwardly. And it is further provided that, in order to safeguard the public from the dangers of fire and contingencies arising and resulting therefrom in places of this kind, and the owner or owners from unnecessary confusion and expense, plans for all such theaters, opera houses, moving picture shows, and other like places of amusement to be hereafter erected shall be submitted to and approved, as to the safety of the building from fire and the occupants in case of fire, by the Commissioner of Insurance, before work is begun on the building. This requirement shall apply also where any building standing or part thereof is to be changed to use as a theater, opera house, moving picture show or other like place of amusement. (1909, c. 637, s. 3; C. S., s. 6083; 1923, c. 149, s. 1; 1943, c. 170.)

Editor's Note. — The 1923 amendment reduced the number of employees mentioned near the beginning of the section from twenty to ten, and inserted the requirement that the plans of buildings shall be submitted to and approved by the Commissioner of Insurance.

§ 69-11. Fire escapes to be provided.—All factories, manufacturing establishments or workshops of three or more stories in height, in which ten or more people are employed above the first floor thereof, shall be provided with one or (if the proper official shall deem necessary) more outside fire escapes, not less than six feet in length and three feet in width, properly and safely constructed, guarded by iron railings not less than three feet in length and taking in at least one door and one window or two windows at each story and connected with the interior by easily accessible and unobstructed openings; and the fire escapes shall connect by iron stairs not less than twenty-four inches wide, the steps to be not less than six inches tread, placed at not more than an angle of forty-five degrees slant, and protected by a well secured hand-rail on both sides, with a twelve-inch wide drop ladder from the lowest platform reaching to the ground. Each story of all factories, manufacturing establishments or workshops of three or more stories in height shall be amply supplied with means for extinguishing fires. All the main doors, both inside and outside, in factories, except fire doors, shall open outwardly, when the proper official shall so direct, and no outside or inside door of any building wherein operatives are employed shall be locked, bolted, or otherwise fastened during the hours of labor so as to prevent egress. (1909, c. 637, s. 4; C. S., s. 6084; 1923, c. 149, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1923 amendment reduced the number of the employees mentioned near the beginning of this section from thirty to ten.

§ 69-12. Ways of escape provided.—Every building now or hereafter used, in whole or in part, as a public building, public or private institution, school-house, church, theater, public hall, place of assembly or place of public resort, and every building in which twenty or more persons are employed, allowed or accustomed to assemble or accommodated above the second story in a factory, workshop, office building or mercantile or other establishment, when the owner or agent of the owner of the buildings is notified in writing by the Commissioner of Insurance or one of his deputies, shall be provided with proper ways of egress or other means of escape from fire sufficient for the use of all persons accommodated, assembled, employed, lodging or residing in such building or buildings, and such ways of egress and means of escape shall be kept free from obstructions, in good repair, and ready for use. Every room above the second story in any such building in which twenty or more persons are employed shall be provided with more than one way of egress by stairways on the inside or outside of the building. All doors in any building subject to the provisions of this article shall open outwardly, if the Commissioner of Insurance or one of his deputies shall so direct in writing. (1909, c. 637, s. 5; C. S., s. 6085; 1923, c. 149, s. 3; 1927, c. 55, s. 1; 1943, c. 170.)

Editor's Note. — The 1923 amendment made the section applicable to buildings where people are "allowed or accustomed to assemble or accommodated." And the 1927 amendment made it apply to office buildings where people are employed.

§ 69-13. Enforcement by Commissioner of Insurance.—The Commissioner of Insurance is charged with the execution of this article, and he or the chief of the fire department is vested with all privileges, duties, and obligations placed upon them in this chapter, in regard to the inspection of buildings, for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this article in regard to the buildings and requirements herein. Any owner or occupant of premises failing to comply with the provisions of this article, in accordance with the orders of the authorities above specified, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each day's neglect. If any owner or lessee of any building referred to in this article shall deem himself aggrieved by any ruling or order or any chief of fire department or local inspector, he may within twenty-four hours appeal to the Commissioner of Insurance, and the cause of complaint shall at once be investigated by the direction of the Commissioner, and unless by his authority the order or ruling is revoked it shall remain in full force and effect and be forthwith complied with by the owner or lessee. (1909, c. 637, s. 6; C. S., s. 6086; 1943, c. 170.)

ARTICLE 3.

State Volunteer Fire Department.

§ 69-14. Purpose of article.—The purpose of this article shall be the creation of a State Volunteer Fire Department to provide protection for property lying outside the boundaries of municipalities, and to render assistance anywhere within the State of North Carolina, in municipalities or counties, in emergencies caused by fire, floods, tornadoes, or otherwise, in the manner and subject to the conditions provided in this article. (1939, c. 364, s. 1.)

§ 69-15. Personnel.—The personnel of the North Carolina State Volunteer Fire Department shall consist of all active members of the organized fire departments, who are members of the North Carolina State Firemen's Association, of municipalities whereof the governing bodies shall subscribe to and endorse this article. (1939, c. 364, s. 2.)

§ 69-16. Organization.—The North Carolina State Fire Marshal shall be chief of the State Volunteer Fire Department; regular municipal fire chiefs shall be assistant chiefs; assistant chiefs shall be deputy chiefs; battalion chiefs, captains; lieutenants and privates shall hold the same positions that they occupy in their municipal companies. When engaged in rendering assistance at the scene of any emergency, the ranking officer of the first department arriving at the scene of the emergency shall have complete charge of all operations until the arrival of a superior officer. All subordinate officers and men shall act under the direction of such ranking officer. Whenever present at the scene of an emergency, the chief shall have full and complete control and authority over operations of all members of the Department. (1939, c. 364, s. 3.)

§ 69-17. Acceptance by municipalities.—Any municipality having an organized fire department and desiring to participate in the establishment of the State Volunteer Fire Department, may do so by a resolution of the governing body accepting and endorsing the provisions of this article: Provided, that acceptance shall not be compulsory. (1939, c. 364, s. 4.)

§ 69-18. Withdrawal.—Any municipality which has accepted the provisions of this article may withdraw its fire departments from membership in the State Volunteer Fire Department by resolution of the governing body thereof. Notice of such withdrawal shall be given to the State Fire Marshal and withdrawal shall not become effective until sixty (60) days after his receipt thereof. (1939, c. 364, s. 5.)

§ 69-19. Dispatching firemen and apparatus from municipalities.—Municipalities endorsing this article shall retain full and complete control and authority in sending or permitting firemen and apparatus to go beyond the limits of the municipality. The governing bodies of such municipalities shall designate and authorize a person, and at least two alternates, who shall have authority to grant or deny permission to firemen and apparatus to leave the municipality in all cases where request is made for assistance beyond its corporate limits, and the municipality shall, through the office of its municipal fire chief, furnish to the office of the State Commissioner of Insurance, and to the secretary of the North Carolina State Firemen's Association, a list of the persons so authorized by the municipality. The Secretary of the State Firemen's Association shall furnish to all municipalities and counties accepting this article a list of all such persons so designated in all municipalities within the State. (1939, c. 364, s. 6; 1943, c. 170.)

§ 69-20. No authority in State Volunteer Fire Department to render assistance to nonaccepting counties. — The State Volunteer Fire Department shall not have authority to render assistance in any emergency occurring within a county which has not accepted the terms and conditions of this article by resolution of the board of county commissioners: Provided, that nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent any municipality from voluntarily permitting its fire department to render assistance in any emergency, notwithstanding that it may arise in a county which has failed to accept this article. (1939, c. 364, s. 7.)

§ 69-21. Acceptance by counties. — Any county desiring to accept the benefits of this article may do so by resolution of the board of county commissioners. The board may make the necessary appropriation therefor and levy annually taxes for payment of the same as a special purpose, in addition to any tax allowed by any special statute for the purposes enumerated in § 153-9, and in addition to the rate allowed by the Constitution. Any such county may thereupon make agreements and enter into contracts with respect to payment for services rendered by the State Volunteer Fire Department within its boundaries in the following manner:

The county may contract with any municipality which has accepted the terms of this article, whether within or without said county, to pay to such municipality an annual fee as a consideration for the municipality providing equipment and carrying compensation insurance which will enable it to respond to calls from within the county so contracting, and to pay an additional sum per truck for each mile traveled from the station house to the scene of the emergency, and to pay an additional sum per truck per hour or fraction thereof for the use of its water or chemical pumping equipment. Said sums shall be paid to the city within thirty (30) days after such services have been performed: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the county and municipality from adopting a different schedule of fees in cases where those provided above shall be considered excessive or inadequate: Provided, that if the emergency shall occur within the limits of another city or town, such city or town and not the county wherein it lies shall be responsible for the payments and shall assume all liabilities as provided in this section. (1939, c. 364, s. 8.)

§ 69-22. Municipalities not to be left unprotected. — At no time shall the entire personnel or equipment of any municipal fire department be absent from the municipality in response to a call to another municipality, or other place lying at a distance exceeding two miles from the corporate limits, but there shall remain within the municipal limits such personnel and equipment as in the judgment of the local fire chief might provide sufficient protection during the absence of the remainder. (1939, c. 364, s. 9.)

§ 69-23. Rights and privileges of firemen; liability of municipality. — When responding to a call and while working at a fire or other emergency outside the limits of the municipality by which they are regularly employed or in volunteer fire service, all members of the State Volunteer Fire Department shall have the same authority, rights, privileges and immunities which are afforded them while responding to calls within their home municipality. In permitting its fire department or equipment to attend an emergency or answer a call beyond the municipal limits, whether under the terms of this article or otherwise, a municipality shall be deemed in exercise of a governmental function, and shall hold the privileges and immunities attendant upon the exercise of such functions within its corporate limits. (1939, c. 364, s. 10.)

§ 69-24. Relief in case of injury or death.—In case of injury or death of any member of the State Volunteer Fire Department arising out of and in the course of the performance of his duties, while such member is assisting at any emergency arising beyond the limits of the municipality with which he is connected, or while going to or returning from the scene of such emergency, such fireman shall be entitled to compensation under the terms of the North Carolina Workmen's Compensation Act, and the municipality with which he is connected shall be liable for the compensation provided under that Act. (1939, c. 364, s. 11.)

§ 69-25. Sums from contingent fund of State made available for administration of article.—In order to assist in carrying out the purposes of this article the Governor may, from time to time, make provisions for assistance to the North Carolina State Firemen's Association in a sum not to exceed two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500.00), in any one year, out of the contingent fund appropriated in the General Appropriation Act. One half of the amount so provided shall, in each instance, go to the State Firemen's Relief Fund, and one half to the expenses of the said Association incurred in carrying out the provisions of this article. (1939, c. 364, s. 12.)

ARTICLE 3A.

Rural Fire Protection Districts.

§ 69-25.1. Election to be held upon petition of voters.—Upon the petition of fifteen per cent of the resident freeholders living in an area lying outside the corporate limits of any city or town, which area is described in the petition and designated as "..... Fire District", the board of county commissioners (here insert name) of the county shall call an election in said district for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters therein the question of levying and collecting a special tax on all taxable property in said district, of not exceeding fifteen cents (15¢) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of property, for the purpose of providing fire protection in said district.

Upon the petition of fifteen per cent (15%) of the resident freeholders living in an area which has previously been established as a fire protection district and in which there has been authorized by a vote of the people a special tax not exceeding ten cents (10¢) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of property within the area, the board of county commissioners shall call an election in said area for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters therein the question of increasing the allowable special tax for fire protection within said district from ten cents (10¢) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation to fifteen cents (15¢) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation on all taxable property within such district. Elections on the question of increasing the allowable tax rate for fire protection shall not be held within the same district at intervals less than two years. (1951, c. 820, s. 1; 1953, c. 453, s. 1; 1959, c. 805, ss. 1, 2.)

Local Modification.—Granville: 1957, c. 790, s. 1; Wake: 1955, c. 169, ss. 1-3.

Editor's Note.—Section 9 of the act inserting this article repealed all laws and clauses of laws, except public-local and private laws, in conflict with its provisions.

The 1953 amendment substituted in line

two the words "of fifteen per cent of the resident freeholders" for the words "by a majority of the qualified voters."

The 1959 amendment substituted the words and figures "fifteen cents (15¢)" for "ten cents (10¢)" near the end of the first paragraph, and added the second paragraph.

§ 69-25.2. Duties of county board of commissioners as to conduct of election; cost of holding.—For the election so called as provided in § 69-25.1, the board of commissioners of the county shall provide one or more polling places in said district, shall provide for a registrar or registrars and judges of election at said voting places, shall provide for the registration of all qualified voters living in said district, shall cause to be prepared the necessary ballots for voting at said election, shall fix the time and places for holding the same, and shall conduct said election in every other respect according to the provisions of the laws governing general elections so far as they may be applicable. The cost of holding the election shall be paid by the county. (1951, c. 820, s. 2.)

§ 69-25.3. Ballots.—At said election those voters who are in favor of levying a tax in said district for fire protection therein shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed, "In favor of tax for fire protection in (Here insert name)

Fire Protection District". Those who are against levying said tax shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words, "Against tax for fire protection in Fire Protection District".

(Here insert name)

Whenever an election is called pursuant to this article on the question of increasing the tax limit for fire protection in any area, those voters in favor of such increase therein shall vote a ballot on which shall be printed, "In favor of tax increase for fire protection in Fire Protection District". Those who are against increasing the tax limit for fire protection therein shall vote a ballot on which shall be printed, "Against tax increase for fire protection in Fire Protection District." The failure of the election on the question of an increase in the tax for fire protection shall not be deemed to be the abolishment of the special tax for fire protection already in effect in said district. (1951, c. 820, s. 3; 1959, c. 805, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment added the second paragraph.

§ 69-25.4. Tax to be levied and used for furnishing fire protection.—If a majority of the qualified voters voting at said election vote in favor of levying and collecting a tax in said district, then the board of county commissioners is authorized and directed to levy and collect a tax in said district in such amount as it may deem necessary, not exceeding ten cents (10¢) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of property in said district from year to year, and shall keep the same as a separate and special fund, to be used only for furnishing fire protection within said district, as provided in § 69-25.5.

Provided, that if a majority of the qualified voters voting at such elections vote in favor of levying and collecting a tax in such district, or vote in favor of increasing the tax limit in said district, then the board of county commissioners is authorized and directed to levy and collect a tax in such districts in such amount as it may deem necessary, not exceeding fifteen cents (15¢) on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of property in said district from year to year. (1951, c. 820, s. 4; 1959, c. 805, s. 4.)

Local Modification.—Granville: 1957, c. 790, s. 2; Wake: 1955, c. 169, ss. 4-5. Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment added the second paragraph.

§ 69-25.5. Methods of providing fire protection.—Upon the levy of such tax, the board of county commissioners shall, to the extent of the taxes collected hereunder, provide fire protection for the district—

(1) By contracting with any incorporated city or town, with any incorporated nonprofit volunteer or community fire department, or with the Department of Conservation and Development to furnish fire protection or,

- (2) By furnishing fire protection itself if the county maintains an organized fire department, or
- (3) By establishing a fire department within the district, or
- (4) By utilizing any two or more of the above listed methods of furnishing fire protection. (1951, c. 820, s. 5.)

§ 69-25.6. Municipal corporations empowered to make contracts.
—Municipal corporations are hereby empowered to make contracts to carry out the purposes of this article. (1951, c. 820, s. 6.)

§ 69-25.7. Administration of special fund; fire protection district commission.—The special fund provided by the tax herein authorized shall be administered to provide fire protection as provided in § 69-25.5 by the board of county commissioners or the joint boards of county commissioners, if the area lies in more than one county, or by a fire protection district commission of three qualified voters of the area, to be known as Fire Protection District Commission, said board to be appointed by the board of county commissioners or the joint boards of county commissioners, if the area lies in more than one county, for a term of two years, said commission to serve at the discretion of and under the supervision of the board of county commissioners or boards of county commissioners if the area lies in more than one county. (1951, c. 820, s. 7; 1953, c. 453, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 69-25.8. Authority, rights, privileges and immunities of counties, etc., performing services under article.—Any county, municipal corporation or fire protection district performing any of the services authorized by this article shall be subject to the same authority and immunities as a county would enjoy in the operation of a county fire department within the county, or a municipal corporation would enjoy in the operation of a fire department within its corporate limits.

No liability shall be incurred by any municipal corporation on account of the absence from the city or town of any or all of its fire-fighting equipment or of members of its fire department by reason of performing services authorized by this article.

Members of any county, municipal or fire protection district fire department shall have all of the immunities, privileges and rights, including coverage by workmen's compensation insurance, when performing any of the functions authorized by this article, as members of a county fire department would have in performing their duties in and for a county, or as members of a municipal fire department would have in performing their duties for and within the corporate limits of the municipal corporation. (1951, c. 820, s. 8.)

§ 69-25.9. Procedure when area lies in more than one county.—In the event that an area petitioning for a tax election under this article lies in more than one county said petition shall be submitted to the board of county commissioners of all the counties in which said area lies and an election shall be called which shall be conducted by the joint boards of county commissioners and the cost of same shall be shared equally by all counties.

Upon passage, the tax herein provided shall be levied and collected by each county on all of the taxable property in its portion of the fire protection district; the tax collected shall be paid into a special fund and used for the purpose of providing fire protection for the district. (1953, c. 453, s. 3.)

§ 69-25.10. Means of abolishing tax district.—Upon a petition of fifteen per cent (15%) of the resident freeholders of any special fire protection district or area, at intervals of not less than two years, the board of county commissioners or the joint boards of county commissioners, if the area lies in more than one county, shall call an election to abolish the special tax for fire protection for the area, the election to be called and conducted as provided in § 69-25.2; if a majority of the registered voters vote to abolish said tax, the commissioners shall cease levying and collecting same and any unused funds of the district shall be turned over to and used by the county commissioners of the county collecting same as a part of its general fund, and any property or properties of the district or the proceeds thereof shall be distributed, used or disposed of equitably by the board of county commissioners or by the boards of county commissioners. (1953, c. 453, s. 4.)

Local Modification.—Wake: 1955, c. 169, s. 6.

§ 69-25.11. Changes in area of district.—After a fire protection district has been established under the provisions of this article and fire protection commissioners have been appointed, changes in the area may be made as follows:

- (1) The area of any fire protection district may be increased by including in the boundaries any adjoining territory upon the application of the owner or owners of the territory to be included, the unanimous recommendation in writing of the fire protection commissioners of said district, the approval of a majority of the members of the board of directors of the corporation furnishing fire protection to the district and the approval of the board or boards of county commissioners in the county or counties in which said fire protection district is located.
- (2) The area of any fire protection district may be decreased by removing therefrom any territory, upon the application of the owner or owners of the territory to be removed, the unanimous recommendation in writing of the fire protection commissioners of said district, the approval of a majority of the members of the board of directors of the corporation furnishing fire protection to the district, and the approval of the board or boards of county commissioners of the county or counties in which the district is located.
- (3) In the case of adjoining fire districts having in effect the same rate of tax for fire protection, the board of county commissioners, upon petition of the fire protection commissioners and the boards of directors of the corporations furnishing fire protection in the districts affected, shall have the authority to relocate the boundary lines between such fire districts in accordance with the petition or in such other manner as to the board may seem proper. Upon receipt of such petition, the board of county commissioners shall set a date and time for a public hearing on the petition, and notice of such hearing shall be published in some newspaper having general circulation within the districts to be affected once a week for two weeks preceding the time of the hearing. Such hearings may be adjourned from time to time and no further notice is required of such adjourned hearings. In the event any boundaries of fire districts are altered or relocated under this section, the same shall take effect at the beginning of the next succeeding fiscal year after such action is taken. (1955, c. 1270; 1959, c. 805, s. 5.)

Local Modification. — Orange, as to subdivision (1): 1957, c. 302.

Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment added subdivision (3).

§ 69-25.12. Privileges and taxes where territory added to district.—In case any territory is added to any fire protection district, from and after such addition, the taxpayers and other residents of said added territory shall have the same rights and privileges and the taxpayers shall pay taxes at the same rates as if said territory had originally been included in the said fire protection district. (1955, c. 1270.)

§ 69-25.13. Privileges and taxes where territory removed from district.—In case any territory is removed from any fire protection district from and after said removal, the taxpayers and other residents of said removed territory shall cease to be entitled to the rights and privileges vested in them by their inclusion in said fire protection district, and the taxpayers shall no longer be required to pay taxes upon their property within said district. (1955, c. 1270.)

§ 69-25.14. Contract with city or town to which all or part of district annexed concerning property of district and furnishing of fire protection.—Whenever all or any part of the area included within the territorial limits of a fire protection district is annexed to or becomes a part of a city or town, the governing body of such district may contract with the governing body of such city or town to give, grant or convey to such city or town, with or without consideration, in such manner and on such terms and conditions as the governing body of such district shall deem to be in the best interests of the inhabitants of the district, all or any part of its property, including, but without limitation, any fire fighting equipment or facilities, and may provide in such contract for the furnishing of fire protection by the city or town or by the district. (1957, c. 526.)

§ 69-25.15. When district or portion thereof annexed by municipality furnishing fire protection.—When the whole or any portion of a fire protection district has been annexed by a municipality furnishing fire protection to its citizens, then such fire protection district or the portion thereof so annexed shall immediately thereupon cease to be a fire protection district or a portion of a fire protection district; and such district or portion thereof so annexed shall no longer be subject to § 69-25.4 authorizing the board of county commissioners to levy and collect a tax in such district for the purpose of furnishing fire protection therein.

Nothing herein shall be deemed to prevent the board of county commissioners from levying and collecting taxes for fire protection in the remaining portion of a fire protection district not annexed by a municipality, as aforesaid. (1957, c. 1219.)

ARTICLE 4.

Hotels; Safety Provisions.

§ 69-26. Administration.—For the purpose of administering and enforcing the provisions of this article, reference is made to article 9 of chapter 143 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, known as the Building Code Council and Building Code and all rights, powers, duties and authorities provided in said code shall apply and be in force in the administration and enforcement of this article except as may be specifically provided hereunder; and such rules, regulations, standards, classifications or restrictions necessary in the administration and enforcement hereof and appeals therefrom and thereupon shall be made in accordance with said article 9, chapter 143 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-27. Alarms, bells and gongs.—In any hotel or other building of like occupancy, there shall be provided a manually operated fire alarm, bell or gong system, approved by the Commissioner of Insurance, suitable to arouse all occupants of such buildings if necessary in case of fire or other emergency and capable of being operated by one operation at the main desk or at the telephone switchboard. Where practicable, the alarm system shall be connected with the city fire alarm system and shall be subject to periodic inspection as directed by the Commissioner of Insurance. (1947, c. 1066.)

Cited in Parker v. Duke University, 230 N. C. 656, 55 S. E. (2d) 189 (1949).

§ 69-28. Watchman service.—Every proprietor or keeper of any hotel or other building of like occupancy, two stories or more in height or designed to provide twenty or more rooms for sleeping accommodations shall provide or cause to be provided watchman service, utilizing a standard watch clock system in such manner so that each and every floor, corridor and accessible space, exclusive of rooms being occupied, shall be inspected at least once each hour between 10:00 p. m. and 6:00 a. m. Within the corporate limits of municipalities, this watchman service shall be satisfactory to the chief of the fire department and/or the Commissioner of Insurance. In every building subject to the provisions of this section, there shall be kept a record showing compliance therewith, and this record shall be subject to inspection by the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputies or the chief of the fire department. Provided that in lieu of a watchman service such hotel or other building of like occupancy may be provided with an automatic fire detection system approved by the Commissioner of Insurance and the North Carolina Building Code Council. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-29. Automatic sprinklers.—(a) In any hotel or other building of like occupancy of B, C, D or E construction as defined in the North Carolina Building Code more than three stories in height, there shall be provided in such building an automatic sprinkler system to be of such design, construction and scope as may meet the approval of the North Carolina Building Code Council, provided, however, that if in the opinion of the Commissioner of Insurance any such building three stories or less in height shall not have ample and adequate protected fire escapes or exits, then he may require the responsible party to provide or cause to be provided in such building an approved automatic sprinkler system of such design, construction and scope as may be approved by the North Carolina Building Code Council.

(b) In any hotel or other building of like occupancy of A or A1 construction, as defined in the North Carolina Building Code, more than four stories in height, there shall be provision that such rooms or areas in such building as are occupied or used for such purposes as linen rooms, storage rooms, carpenter shop, upholstery and furniture repair shop, kitchens, laundries, paint shop, mattress renovation shops, basements and other areas of special fire hazard shall be cut off in a manner approved by the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy or the chief of fire department of the city in which the building is located, and, in the discretion of said Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy, the responsible party may be required to provide in such areas an approved automatic sprinkler system.

(c) In any hotel or other building of like occupancy of any type construction, wherein, under subsections (a) and (b) above, an automatic sprinkler system is required to be installed, if, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy, reasonable life safety may be insured, such Commissioner or his deputy may permit the installation of an approved automatic detection system in lieu of an automatic sprinkler system.

(d) A period of three years from the effective date of this article shall be allowed for compliance with the provisions of this section.

(e) The obligation of this article with respect to installation of alarms, bells or gongs and of automatic sprinklers or automatic fire detection systems shall rest upon the owner of the building as the lessor, or upon the operator thereof as the lessee, as the case may be, in accordance with the terms and provisions of the lease contract; and in the absence of any determining provision in such lease contract, or in the absence of any written lease, the obligation with respect to such installations shall be determined in accordance with the law of the State. (1947, c. 1066.)

Editor's Note.—This article became effective Sept. 1, 1947.

§ 69-30. Interior stairways and vertical openings.—(a) In new or existing hotel buildings all interior stairways used as exits, except stairways from a lobby to a mezzanine and open stairways permitted under subsection (b) below, shall be so enclosed as to provide a safe path of escape to the outside of the building without danger from fire or smoke, by means of enclosures and self-closing doors having at least one hour fire resistance rating, or otherwise enclosed in a manner approved by the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy, and any vertical openings other than stairways through which fire and smoke may spread from story to story, shall be enclosed in a manner approved by the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy.

(b) In existing hotel buildings of less than four stories in height, the enclosure of floor openings as provided in subsection (a) above may be waived by the Commissioner of Insurance or his deputy if life safety is not endangered thereby. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-31. Fire extinguishers.—Every proprietor or keeper of any hotel or other building of like occupancy shall provide and keep in proper operating condition at least two two and one-half (2½ gal.) gallon extinguishers on each floor utilized for sleeping purposes or at least one two and one-half gallon fire extinguisher for each fifteen (15) rooms utilized for sleeping purposes on each floor, whichever is the greater number. It shall further be the duty of every proprietor or keeper of any hotel or other building of like occupancy to insure that all employees working in said building shall be trained in the use of fire extinguishers and other fire fighting equipment located or installed in said building. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-32. Alterations and decorations.—In all hotels or other buildings of like occupancy, located in a city which has a fire department, after September 1, 1947, no interior structural alteration, temporary or permanent, shall be made or no decorations or scenery shall be placed in the public spaces thereof without the prior approval and permit of the chief of the fire department of that city. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-33. Careless or negligent setting of fires.—Any person who in any fashion or manner negligently or carelessly sets fire to any bedding, furniture, draperies, house or household furnishings or other equipment or appurtenances in or to any hotel or other building of like occupancy shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 or to imprisonment or to both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-34. Penalty for noncompliance.—Any owner, owners, proprietor or keeper of any hotel or other building of like occupancy who fails to comply with any of the foregoing provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00. Each day of noncompliance herewith shall constitute a separate offense. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-35. Unsafe buildings condemned.—The Commissioner of Insurance is empowered to inspect or cause to be inspected any hotel or other building of like occupancy and any such building which shall be found to be especially dangerous to life, because of its liability to fire or in case of fire by reason of bad condition of walls, overloaded floors, defective construction, insufficient means of egress, decay or other causes shall be held to be unsafe and the Commissioner of Insurance shall affix or cause to be affixed a notice of dangerous character of the structure in a conspicuous place on the exterior wall of such building. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-36. Penalty for allowing unsafe building to remain occupied.

—If any person shall continue to use or occupy or permit the use or occupancy of any hotel or other building of like occupancy which has been condemned as unsafe and dangerous to life by the Commissioner of Insurance or his authorized deputy, after having been notified in writing of the unsafe and dangerous character of said building, and if such use and occupancy shall continue for a period as much as 30 days without remedying the conditions complained of to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Insurance or the chief of the fire department of the city in which the building is located, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall pay a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00 for each day of such continued use and occupancy after the expiration of such 30 day period following such notice. Provided that such 30 day period may be enlarged (for good cause shown) by the Commissioner of Insurance or by the chief of the fire department of the city in which the building is located to such time as in his discretion he may find proper. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-37. Penalty for removing notice from condemned building.—

If any person, except by authority of the Insurance Commission, shall remove any condemnation notice which has been affixed to any hotel or other building of like occupancy, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00 for each offense. (1947, c. 1066.)

§ 69-38. Construction of article.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to limit powers granted to and duties imposed upon the chiefs of fire departments and building inspectors by article 11, chapter 160 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, but the powers granted in this article shall be in addition thereto. (1947, c. 1066.)

70-3. Preservation of relics on public lands.

70-4. Destruction or sale of relic from public lands made misdemeanor.

§ 70-1. Private landowners urged to refrain from destruction.—Private owners of lands containing Indian relics, artifacts, mounds or burial grounds are urged to refrain from the excavation or destruction thereof and to forbid such conduct by others, without the co-operation of the director of the State Museum and the secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission or without the assistance or supervision of some person designated by either as qualified to make scientific archaeological explorations. (1935, c. 198, s. 1.)

§ 70-2. Possessors of relics urged to commit them to custody of State agencies.—All persons having in their possession collections of Indian relics, artifacts, and antiquities which are in danger of being lost, destroyed or scattered are urged to commit them to the custody of the North Carolina State Museum, the North Carolina Historical Commission, or some other public agency or institution within the State which is qualified to preserve and exhibit them for their historic, scientific and educational value to the people of the State. (1935, c. 198, s. 2.)

§ 70-3. Preservation of relics on public lands.—It shall be the duty of any person in charge of any construction or excavation on any lands owned by the State, by any public agency or institution, by any county, or by any municipal corporation, to report promptly to and preserve for the director of the State Museum or the secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission any Indian relic, artifact, mound, or burial ground discovered in the course of such construction or excavation. (1935, c. 198, s. 3.)

§ 70-4. Destruction or sale of relic from public lands made misdemeanor.—Any person who shall excavate, disturb, remove, destroy or sell any Indian relic or artifact, or any of the contents of any mound or burial ground, on or from any lands owned by the State, by any public agency or institution, by any county, or by any municipal corporation, except with the written approval of the director of the State Museum or the secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. § 71-1. Cherokee Indians of Robeson County; rights and privileges.—The persons residing in Robeson, Richmond, and Sampson counties, who have heretofore been known as “Croatan Indians” or “Indians of Robeson County,” together with their descendants, shall hereafter be known and designated as “Cherokee Indians of Robeson County,” and by that name shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges heretofore or hereafter conferred, by any law or laws of the State of North Carolina, upon the Indians heretofore known as the “Croatan Indians” or “Indians of Robeson County.” In all laws enacted by the General Assembly of North Carolina relating to said Indians subsequent to the enactment of said chapter fifty-one of the Laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-five, the words “Croatan Indians” and “Indians of Robeson County” are stricken out and the words “Cherokee Indians of Robeson County” inserted in lieu thereof. (1885, c. 51, s. 2; Rev., s. 4168; 1911, c. 215; P. L. 1911, c. 263; 1913, c. 123; C. S., s. 6257.)

§ 71-2. Separate privileges in schools and institutions.—Such Cherokee Indians of Robeson County and the Indians of Person County, defined in the chapter Education, § 115-66, shall be entitled to the following rights and privileges:

- (1) Separate schools, with the educational privileges provided in the chapter Education.
- (2) Suitable accommodations in the State Hospital for the Insane at Raleigh, as provided in the chapter Hospitals for the Insane, in the article entitled Organization and Management.
- (3) The sheriffs, jailers, or other proper authorities of Robeson and Person counties shall provide in the common jails of said counties, and in the homes for the aged and infirm thereof, separate cells, wards, or apartments for such Indians in all cases where it shall be necessary under the laws of this State to commit any of said Indians to such jails or county homes. § 71-3. Chapter not applicable to certain bands of Cherokees.—Neither this chapter nor any other act relating to said “Cherokee Indians of Robeson County” shall be construed so as to impose on said Indians any powers, privileges, rights, or immunities, or any limitations on their power to contract, heretofore enacted with reference to the eastern band of Cherokee Indians residing in Cherokee, Graham, Jackson, Swine and other adjoining counties in North Carolina, or any other band or tribe of Cherokee Indians other than those now residing, or who have since the Revolutionary War resided, in Robeson County, nor shall said "Cherokee Indians of Robeson County," as herein designated, be subject to the limitations provided in the chapter Contracts Requiring Writing, in § 22-3, entitled Contracts with Cherokee Indians. (1913, c. 123, s. 5; C. S., s. 6259.)

§ 71-4. Rights of eastern band of Cherokee Indians to inherit, acquire, use and dispose of property.—Subject only to restrictions and conditions now existing or hereafter imposed under federal statutes and regulations, or treaties, contracts, agreements, or conveyances between such Indians and the federal government, the several members of the eastern band of Cherokee Indians residing in Cherokee, Graham, Jackson, Swain and other adjoining counties in North Carolina, and the lineal descendants of any bona fide member of such eastern band of Cherokee Indians, shall inherit, purchase, or otherwise lawfully acquire, hold, use, encumber, convey and alienate by will, deed, or any other lawful means, any property whatsoever as fully and completely in all respects as any other citizen of the State of North Carolina is authorized to inherit, hold, or dispose of such property. (1947, c. 978, s. 1.)

§ 71-5. Eligibility of members of eastern band of Cherokee Indians to hold office in tribal organization.—Any person who is a lineal descendant of any bona fide member of such eastern band of Cherokee Indians who is a member of said band and who is domiciled on the lands of the said eastern band of Cherokee Indians shall be eligible to hold any elective or appointive office or position within the tribal organization, including the position of chief, and may be elected or appointed and shall thereafter serve in such manner and for such time as a majority of the accredited membership of such eastern band of Cherokee Indians may decide at any election held for such purpose or appointment made by the accredited officials of said eastern band of Cherokee Indians. (1947, c. 978, s. 2.)

§ 71-6. Lumbee Indians of North Carolina; rights, privileges, immunities, obligations and duties.—The Indians now residing in Robeson and adjoining counties of North Carolina, originally found by the first white settlers on the Lumbee River in Robeson County, and claiming joint descent from remnants of early American Colonists and certain tribes of Indians originally inhabiting the coastal regions of North Carolina, shall, from and after April 20, 1953, be known and designated as Lumbee Indians of North Carolina and shall continue to enjoy all rights, privileges and immunities enjoyed by them as citizens of the State as now provided by law, and shall continue to be subject to all the obligations and duties of citizens under the law. Innkeepers.

§ 72-1. Must furnish accommodations. — Every innkeeper shall at all times provide suitable food, rooms, beds and bedding for strangers and travelers whom he may accept as guests in his inn or hotel. (1903, c. 563; Rev., s. 1909; C. S., s. 2249.)

Cross References.—As to innkeeper's lien on baggage, see §§ 44-30 to 44-32. As to obtaining entertainment at hotels and boarding houses without paying therefor, see § 14-110. As to fire protection, see §§ 69-26 to 69-38.

What Constitutes Inn or Hotel.—A public inn or hotel is a public house of entertainment for all who choose to visit it, and where all transient persons who may choose to come will be received as guests, for compensation; and it does not lose its character as such by reason of its being located at a summer resort or a watering place, or by taking some as boarders by a special contract or for a definite time.

Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

Sleeping Car Not an Inn.—Though a "sleeping car" is a place for the reception of travelers, it is not an "inn." Garrett v. Southern R. Co., 172 N. C. 737, 90 S. E. 903 (1916).

Boarding House.—A boarding house is as well known and as distinguishable from every other house in every city, village, and the country as an inn or tavern. It is a house where the business of keeping boarders generally is carried on, and which is held out by the owner or keeper as a place where boarders are kept. State v. McRae, 170 N. C. 712, 86 S. E. 1039 (1915).

Distinction between Inn and Boarding House.—It is the publicly holding a place out as one where all transient persons who may choose to come will be received as guests for compensation that is the principal distinction between a hotel and a boarding house. Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

What Constitutes Boarding House Keeper.—The keeper of a boarding house is one who reserves the right to select and choose his patrons and takes them in only by special arrangement, and usually for a definite time. Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

Same—Not an Innkeeper.—One who entertains strangers only occasionally, although he receives compensation for it, is not an innkeeper. State v. Mathews, 19 N. C. 424 (1837).

Boarder and Guest Distinguished.—In 16 A. and E. Enc. (2 Ed.), it is said: "The essential difference between a boarder and a guest at an inn lies in the character in which the party comes—that is, whether he is a transient person or not, and, accordingly, one who stops at an inn as a transient or a guest, with all the rights, privileges, and liberties incident to that station. On the other hand, one who seeks accommodation with a view to permanency, as to make the place his home for the time being, is not a guest, but a boarder. The length of his stay, however, is not of itself ordinarily decisive, for he will continue to be a guest as long as he remains in the transitory condition of that relation." Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 371, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

When Guest Can Be Ejected.—Guests of a hotel, and travelers or other persons entering it with the bona fide intent of becoming guests, cannot be lawfully prevented from going in, or be put out, by force, after entrance, provided they are able to pay the charges and tender the money necessary for that purpose, if requested by the landlord, unless they be persons of bad or suspicious character, or of vulgar habits, or so objectionable to the patrons of the house, on account of the race to which they belong, that it would injure the business to admit them to all portions of the house, or unless they attempt to take advantage of the freedom of the hotel to injure the landlord's chances of profit derived either from his inn or any other business incidental to or connected with its management and constituting a part of the provision for the wants or pleasure of his patrons. State v. Steele, 106 N. C. 766, 11 S. E. 478 (1890).

Same—Breach of Rules.—A guest's right of occupancy of a hotel is dependent upon proper behavior and decent conduct and obedience to reasonable rules and regulations of the proprietors; for a breach of such implied conditions they may be summarily removed. Hutchins v. Durham, 118 N. C. 457, 24 S. E. 723 (1896).

Remedy of Ejected Guest.—Guests at a hotel cannot maintain ejectment if evicted, but can only sue for damages if wrongfully turned out. Hutchins v. Durham, 118 N. C. 457, 24 S. E. 723 (1896).

One Not a Guest Is a Licensee.—One who is in a hotel for social purposes, at the invitation of one of its guests, is a licensee, at the will of its management, and may be forbidden the premises for improper conduct. Money v. Travelers Hotel Co., 174 N. C. 508, 93 S. E. 964 (1917).

Same—Can Be Expelled.—When persons, unobjectionable on account of character or race, enter a hotel not as guests, but intent on pleasure or profit, to be derived from intercourse with its inmates, they are there not of right, but under an implied license that the landlord may revoke at any time, because barring the limitation imposed by holding out inducements to the public to seek accommodation at his inn, the proprietor occupies it as his dwelling house, from which he may expel all who have not acquired rights growing out of the relation of guests, and must drive out all who, by their bad conduct, create a nuisance and prove an annoyance to his patrons. State v. Steele, 106 N. C. 766, 11 S. E. 478 (1890).

Force Allowable in Expelling Licensee.—The board rule laid down by Wharton (1 Cr. L., sec. 625), is that the proprietor of a public house has a right to request a person who visits it, not as a guest or on business with guests, to depart, and if he refuse, the innkeeper has a right to lay his hands gently on him and lead him out, and if resistance be made, to employ sufficient force to put him out. For so doing, he can justify his conduct on a prosecution for assault and battery. State v. Steele, 106 N. C. 766, 11 S. E. 478 (1890).

Other Rights of Innkeeper.—An innkeeper has, unquestionably, the right to establish a newsstand or a barbershop in his hotel, and to exclude persons who come for the purpose of vending newspapers or books, or of soliciting employment as barbers, and, in order to render his business more lucrative, he may establish a laundry or a livery stable in connection with his hotel, or an innkeeper may contract with the proprietor of a livery stable in the vicinity to secure for the latter, as far as he legitimately can, the patronage of his guests in that line for a per centum of the proceeds or profits derived by such owner of vehicles and horses from dealing with the patrons of the public house. After concluding such contracts, the innkeeper may make, and, after personal notice to violators, enforce a rule excluding from his hotel the agents and representatives of other livery stables who enter to solicit the patronage of his guests. State v. Steele, 106 N. C. 766, 11 S. E. 478 (1890).

§ 72-2. Liability for loss of baggage.—Innkeepers shall not be liable for loss, damage or destruction of the baggage or property of their guests except in case such loss, damage, or destruction results from the failure of the innkeeper to exercise ordinary, proper and reasonable care in the custody of such baggage and property; and in case of such loss, damage or destruction resulting from the negligence and want of care of the said innkeeper he shall be liable to the owner of the said baggage and property to an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars. Any guest may, however, at any time before a loss, damage or destruction of his property, notify the innkeeper in writing that his property exceeds in value the said sum of one hundred dollars, and shall upon demand of the innkeeper furnish him a list or schedule of the same, with the value thereof, in which case the innkeeper shall be liable for the loss, damage or destruction of said property because of any negligence on his part for the full value of the same. Proof of the loss of any such baggage, except in case of damage or destruction by fire, shall be prima facie evidence of the negligence of said hotel or innkeeper. (1903, c. 563, s. 2; Rev., s. 1910; C. S., s. 2250.)

Boarder and Guest Distinguished.—See note to § 72-1.

Liability Extends to Guest.—When one is received at a public inn or hotel and entertained as a guest, without any prearrangement as to terms or time, but on the implied invitation held out to the public generally, he is a transient only—a guest and not a boarder—and entitled to recover of the defendant innkeeper as such. Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

Same—Common-Law Liability.—The decisions of this State are to the effect that, in the absence of statutory regulation, the keeper of a public inn, or hotel, which is the modern and more frequently used term, is responsible to his guest for the safety of the latter's goods, chattels, and money, when placed infra hospitium and which he has with him for the purposes of his journey. The proprietor is held to be an insurer to the extent that he must make good to the guest all loss or damage arising from any cause except the act of God or the public enemy, or the fault of the guest himself or his agents or servants. Quinton v. Courtney, 2 N. C. 40 (1794); Neal v. Wilcox, 49 N. C. 146 (1856); Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

Ordinary Care Now Required.—Even at a public inn or hotel, one who holds the position of a regular boarder or lodger can only hold the proprietor to the exercise of ordinary care on the part of himself and his employees. Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

Failure to comply with § 72-6 renders innkeeper liable as at common law. Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

Liability for Personal Injuries.—The innkeeper is not insurer of his guest's personal safety, but his liability does extend to injuries received by the guest from being placed in an unsafe room. This is a matter peculiarly within the innkeeper's knowledge and entirely beyond the control of the guest. In that particular he is peculiarly within the innkeeper's power and protection. Patrick v. Springs, 154 N. C. 270, 70 S. E. 395 (1911).

Same—Negligence of Guest.—The guest must use reasonable care on his part to protect himself, and if he is himself negligent and could have avoided the injury by due care, he cannot recover. Patrick v. Springs, 154 N. C. 270, 70 S. E. 395 (1911).

§ 72-3. Safekeeping of valuables.—It is the duty of innkeepers, upon the request of any guest, to receive from said guest and safely keep money, jewelry and valuables to an amount not exceeding five hundred dollars; and no innkeeper shall be required to receive and take care of any money, jewelry or other valuables to a greater amount than five hundred dollars: Provided, the receipt given by said innkeeper to said guest shall have plainly printed upon it a copy of this section. No innkeeper shall be liable for the loss, damage or destruction of any money or jewels not so deposited. (1903, c. 563, s. 3; Rev., s. 1911; C. S., s. 2251.)

§ 72-4. Loss by fire.—No innkeeper shall be liable for loss, damage or destruction of any baggage or property caused by fire not resulting from the negligence of the innkeeper or by any other force over which the innkeeper had no control. Nothing herein contained shall enlarge the limit of the amount to which the innkeeper shall be liable as provided in preceding sections. (1903, c. 563, s. 4; Rev., s. 1912; C. S., s. 2252.)

Cross Reference.—As to fire protection, see §§ 69-26 to 69-38.

§ 72-5. Negligence of guest. — Any innkeeper against whom claim is made for loss sustained by a guest may show that such loss resulted from the negligence of such guest or of his failure to comply with the reasonable and proper regulations of the inn. (1903, c. 563, s. 7; Rev., s. 1914; C. S., s. 2253.)

Cross References.—As to liability for personal injuries and effect of negligence of guest, see note to § 72-2. As to innkeeper's lien on baggage, see §§ 44-30 to 44-32.

§ 72-6. Copies of this article to be posted.—Every innkeeper shall keep posted in every room of his house occupied by guests, and in the office, a printed copy of this article and of all regulations relating to the conduct of guests. This chapter shall not apply to innkeepers, or their guests, where the innkeeper fails to keep such notices posted. (1903, c. 563, ss. 5, 6; Rev., s. 1913; C. S., s. 2254.)

Effect of Noncompliance with Section. —Where the provision of this section is not complied with the principle of the common law obtains and the keeper is liable as at common law. Holstein v. Phillips, 146 N. C. 366, 59 S. E. 1037 (1907).

§ 72-7. Admittance of dogs to bedrooms.—It shall be unlawful for any innkeeper or guest owning, keeping, or who has in his care a dog or dogs, to permit such a dog or dogs admittance to any bedroom or rooms used for sleeping purposes in any inn or hotel.

Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall pay a fine not to exceed fifty dollars or be imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1927, c. 67.)

Cross Reference.—As to special provisions for "seeing-eye" dogs, see § 67-29.

Cross Reference.—For sanitation of establishments providing food and lodging, see §§ 72-46 to 72-49.

ARTICLE 3.

Immoral Practices of Guests of Hotels and Lodginghouses.

§ 72-30. Registration to be in true name; addresses; peace officers.—No person shall write, or cause to be written, or if in charge of a register knowingly permit to be written, in any register in any lodginghouse or hotel any other or different name or designation than the true name or names in ordinary use of the person registering or causing himself to be registered therein. Any person occupying any room or rooms in any lodginghouse or hotel shall register or cause himself to be registered where registration is required by such lodginghouse or hotel. Any person registering or causing himself to be registered at any lodginghouse or hotel, shall write, or cause to be written, in the register of such lodginghouse or hotel the correct address of the person registering, or causing himself to be registered. Any person violating any provision of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200). This section shall not apply to any peace officer of this State who shall privately give his true name to the clerk or proprietor of such hotel or lodginghouse. (1921, c. 111; C. S., s. 2283(v).)

ARTICLE 4.

Licensing and Regulation of Tourist Camps and Homes, Cabin Camps, Roadhouses and Public Dance Halls.

§ 72-31. License required.—Every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of operating outside the corporate limits of any city or town in this State a tourist camp, cabin camp, tourist home, roadhouse, public dance hall, or any other similar establishment by whatever name called, where travelers, transient guests, or other persons are or may be lodged for pay or compensation, shall, before engaging in such business, apply for and obtain from the board of county commissioners of the county in which such business is to be carried on a license for the privilege of engaging in such business and shall pay for such license an annual tax in the amount of two dollars ($2.00). (1939, c. 188, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—For comment on this article, see 17 N. C. Law Rev. 335.

What Must Be Shown to Convict of Operating a "Roadhouse."—This article is regulatory, involving police power as well as taxing power, and the words, "tourist camp, cabin camp, tourist home, roadhouse, public dance hall, or other similar establishment," in this section are qualified by the words "where travelers, transient guests, or other persons are or may be lodged for pay," so that to convict a person operating a "roadhouse" and impose the penalties of § 72-43, it must be shown that such person lodged or offered to lodge transient guests. State v. Campbell, 223 N. C. 828, 28 S. E. (2d) 499 (1944).

§ 72-32. Exemptions.—This article shall not apply to hotels and inns within the definition of § 72-9, nor to persons who incidental to their principal business or occupation accept from time to time seasonal boarders in their private residences: Provided, however this shall not be construed to exempt from the provisions of this article residences maintained in connection with a store or other establishment operated for the sale of articles of merchandise. (1939, c. 188, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—Section 72-9, referred to in this section, has been repealed. It defined "hotel" as "any inn or public lodginghouse where transient guests are lodged for pay." It also defined the term "transient guest" as "one who puts up for less than one week at a time at such hotel."

§ 72-33. Application to county commissioners for license.—Every person, firm or corporation making application for license to engage in the business described in § 72-31 shall make application to the board of county commissioners in the county in which such business is to be engaged in and the application shall contain:

- (1) The name and residence of the applicant and the length of the residence within the State of North Carolina.
- (2) The address and place for which such license is desired.
- (3) The name of the owner of the premises upon which the business licensed is to be carried on.
- (4) That the applicant intends to carry on the business authorized by the license for himself or under his immediate supervision and direction.
- (5) That such applicant is of good moral character and has never been convicted of a felony involving moral turpitude, or adjudged guilty of violating either the State or federal prohibition laws within the last two years prior to the filing of the application. (1939, c. 188, s. 3.)

§ 72-34. Verification of application; disqualifications for license.—The application prescribed in § 72-33 must be verified by the affidavit of the petitioner made before a notary public or other person duly authorized by law to administer oaths. If it appears from the statement of the applicant, or otherwise, that such applicant has been convicted of a felony involving moral turpitude or adjudged guilty of violating either State or federal prohibition laws within the last two years prior to the filing of the application, or within two years from the completion of sentence thereon, the license herein provided for shall not be granted, unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of the board of county commissioners that the licensed premises will be operated in a lawful manner; in which case they may, in their discretion, issue such license. Before any such license shall be issued, the governing body of the county shall be satisfied that the statements required by § 72-33 are true. Every establishment named in this article shall be subject to inspection by the State Board of Health and the county health authorities in the county in which such business is carried on. (1939, c. 188, s. 4.)

§ 72-35. List of employees furnished to sheriff upon request.—At any time upon request of the sheriff of the county in which such business is carried on, the operator of every establishment named in this article shall furnish said sheriff with a list of all employees who are employed by him in connection with said business; and, in every instance when such an operator goes out of business or there is a change of ownership or management thereof, such operator shall immediately file with the clerk of the board of county commissioners of the county in which such business is carried on a notice to this effect, giving the name and address of the purchaser or the new owner or manager thereof. (1939, c. 188, s. 5.)

§ 72-36. Registration of guest.—Any person or persons occupying any room or rooms in a tourist camp, cabin camp, tourist home, roadhouse, or any other similar establishment by whatever name called, shall register or cause himself to be registered before occupying the same, and if traveling by motor vehicle shall register at the same time the automobile license tag of such motor vehicle and the name of the manufacturer of such motor vehicle; and no person shall write or cause to be written, or, if in charge of a register, knowingly permit to be written in any register in any of the establishments herein named, any other or different name or designation than the true name or names in ordinary use of the person registering or causing himself to be registered therein, or the true name of the manufacturer of such motor vehicle or the correct license plate and number thereof. Every person to whom a license is issued under the provisions of this article shall provide a permanent register for the purposes set forth herein. (1939, c. 188, s. 6.)

§ 72-37. False registration and use for immoral purposes made misdemeanor.—Any man or woman found occupying the same room in any establishment within the meaning of this article for any immoral purpose, or any man or woman falsely registering as or otherwise representing themselves to be husband and wife in any such establishment shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 188, s. 7.)

Cited in State v. Campbell, 223 N. C. 828, 28 S. E. (2d) 499 (1944).

§ 72-38. Operator knowingly permitting violations, guilty of misdemeanor.—Any person being the operator or keeper of any establishment within the meaning of this article who shall knowingly permit any man or woman to occupy any room in any establishment within the meaning of this article for any immoral purposes, or who shall knowingly permit any man or woman to falsely register as husband and wife in such an establishment, shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 188, s. 8.)

Tourist Camp as Nuisance.—Under § 19-2 the operation of a tourist camp in a disorderly manner may be enjoined or it may be abated as a nuisance against public morals. Carpenter v. Boyles, 213 N. C. 432, 196 S. E. 850 (1938).

§ 72-39. Inducing female to enter tourist camps, etc., for immoral purpose made misdemeanor.—Any person who shall knowingly persuade, induce or entice, or cause to be persuaded, induced or enticed, any woman or girl to enter any establishment within the meaning of this article for the purpose of prostitution or debauchery, or for any other immoral purpose, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 188, s. 9.)

§ 72-40. Revocation of operator's license.—In addition to the penalty herein prescribed for a violation of this article, the court, before whom such person is tried and where a conviction is had, shall have the power to revoke the license to operate the establishment or establishments licensed under this article, and whenever any person, firm or corporation has been so convicted, the court, if it shall appear that said premises were being operated in violation of the law with the knowledge, consent or approval of the owner thereof, shall have the authority to prohibit the issuance of any similar license for said premises to any person for a term of six months after the revocation of said license. (1939, c. 188, s. 10.)

§ 72-41. Tax imposed declared additional. — The tax imposed by this article shall be in addition to all other licenses and taxes levied by law upon the business taxed hereunder. (1939, c. 188, s. 11.)

§ 72-42. Time of payment of license; expiration date.—Licenses issued under this article shall be due and payable in advance annually on or before the first day of June of each year, or at the date of engaging in such business, and shall expire on the thirty-first day of May of each year, and shall be for the full amount of the tax prescribed, regardless of the date such business is begun. Upon the expiration of the license herein required, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to continue such business until a new license is applied for and obtained for the privilege of engaging in such business, as in this article required. (1939, c. 188, s. 12.)

§ 72-43. Operation without license made misdemeanor.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in such business without first obtaining a license therefor. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 188, s. 13.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 72-31.

§ 72-44. Violations of article made misdemeanor. — Unless another penalty is in this article or by the laws of this State provided, any person violating any of the provisions of this article shall, upon conviction thereof, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 188, s. 14.)

§ 72-45. Application of article to municipalities.—The governing body of any city or town shall have the authority to make any or all of the provisions of this article applicable to any business as defined herein which may be located in the limits of any such city or town. (1939, c. 188, s. 15.)

ARTICLE 5.

Sanitation of Establishments Providing Food and Lodging.

§ 72-46. State Board of Health to regulate sanitary conditions of hotels, cafes, etc.—For the better protection of the public health, the State Board of Health is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to prepare and enforce rules and regulations governing the sanitation of any hotel, cafe, restaurant, tourist home, motel, summer camp, food or drink stand, sandwich manufacturing establishment, and all other establishments where food or drink is prepared, handled, and/or served for pay, or where lodging accommodations are provided. The State Board of Health is also authorized, empowered and directed to

- (1) Require that a permit be obtained from said Board before such places begin operation, said permit to be issued only when the establishment complies with the rules and regulations authorized hereunder, and
- (2) To prepare a system of grading all such places as Grade A, Grade B, and Grade C.

No establishment shall operate which does not receive the permit required by this section and the minimum grade of C in accordance with the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health. The rules and regulations shall cover such matters as the cleanliness of floors, walls, ceilings, storage spaces, utensils, and other facilities; adequacy of lighting, ventilation, water, lavatory facilities, food protection facilities, bactericidal treatment of eating and drinking utensils, and waste disposal; methods of food preparation, handling, storage, and serving; health of employees; and such other items and facilities as are necessary in the interest of the public health. (1941, c. 309, s. 1; 1955, c. 1030, s. 1; 1957, c. 1214, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment substituted "motel" for "tourist camp" and "food or drink stand" for "lunch and drink stand," and made other changes in the first sentence.

The 1957 amendment rewrote and greatly extended this section.

§ 72-47. Inspections; report and grade card. — The officers, sanitarians or agents of the State Board of Health are hereby empowered and authorized to enter any hotel, cafe, restaurant, tourist home, motel, summer camp, food or drink stand, sandwich manufacturing establishment, and all other establishments where food or drink is prepared, handled and/or served for pay, or where lodging accommodations are provided, for the purpose of making inspections, and it is hereby made the duty of every person responsible for the management or control of such hotel, cafe, restaurant, tourist home, motel, summer camp, food or drink stand, sandwich manufacturing establishment or other establishment to afford free access to every part of such establishment, and to render all aid and assistance necessary to enable the sanitarians or agents of the State Board of Health to make a full, thorough and complete examination thereof, but the privacy of no person shall be violated without his or her consent. It shall be the duty of the sanitarian or agent of the State Board of Health to leave with the management, or person in charge at the time of the inspection, a copy of his inspection and a grade card showing the grade of such place, and it shall be the duty of the management, or person in charge to post said card in a conspicuous place designated by the sanitarian where it may be readily observed by the public. Such grade card shall not be removed by anyone, except an authorized sanitarian or agent of the State Board of Health, or upon his instruction. (1941, c. 309, s. 2; 1955, c. 1030, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment substituted "motel" for "tourist camp" and "food or drink stand" for "lunch and drink stand." The amendment also omitted the word "report" formerly used after "inspection" the second time it appears in the next to last sentence, and made other changes.

§ 72-48. Violation of article a misdemeanor. — Any owner, manager, agent, or person in charge of a hotel, cafe, restaurant, tourist home, motel, summer camp, food or drink stand, sandwich manufacturing establishment, or any other establishment where food or drink is prepared, handled and/or served for pay, or where lodging accommodations are provided, or any other person who shall willfully obstruct, hinder or interfere with a sanitarian, agent, or officer of the State Board of Health in the proper discharge of his duty, or who shall be found guilty of violating any of the other provisions of this article, or any of the rules and regulations that may be provided under this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ten dollars ($10.00), nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00), or imprisoned for not more than thirty days, and each day that he shall fail to comply with this article, or operate a place with a rating of less than grade C shall be a separate offense. (1941, c. 309, s. 3; 1955, c. 1030, s. 3.)

§ 72-48.1. Injunctive relief against continued violation, etc. — If any person shall violate or threaten to violate the provisions of this article or any rules and regulations adopted pursuant thereto and such violation, if continued, or such threatened violation, if committed, is or may be dangerous to the public health, or if any person shall hinder or interfere with the proper performance of duty of a sanitarian, agent or officer of the State Board of Health or of any local board of health and such hindrance or interference is or may be dangerous to the public health, the State Health Director or local health director may institute an action in the superior court of the county in which the violation, threatened violation, hindrance or interference occurred for injunctive relief against such continued violation, threatened violation, hindrance or interference, irrespective of all other remedies at law, and upon the institution of such an action, the procedure shall be in accordance with the provisions of article 37 of chapter 1 of the General Statutes. (1957, c. 1214, s. 2.)

§ 72-49. Private homes; temporary food and drink stands operated by church, etc.; boarding houses, private clubs, picnics, camp meetings, etc.—This article shall not apply to private homes providing food and/or lodging to permanent house guests. The term "permanent house guests" shall mean guests receiving food and/or lodging accommodations for periods of a week or longer and who pay for such accommodations and the visitors of said guests. Provided further that this article shall not apply to food or drink stands operated by church, civic or charitable organizations for a period of one week or less.

Provided, food or drink stands operated by church, civic or charitable organizations for a period of one week or less shall meet minimum sanitation requirements but shall not be subject to grading. Provided further, that this article shall not apply to boarding houses having regular boarders, private clubs, picnics, camp meetings, reunions, box suppers, field trials, occasional fund-raising suppers and similar gatherings conducted from time to time by church, civic or charitable organizations. (1955, c. 1030, s. 4; 1957, c. 1214, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment added the last two provisos.

ARTICLE 6.

Advertisements by Motor Courts, Tourist Camps, etc.

§ 72-50. Rate advertisements to contain additional data. — It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, who owns, operates or who has control of the operation of any motor court, tourist court, tourist camp, or guest house to publish or cause to be displayed in writing, or by any other means, any advertisement which includes a statement relating to the rates or charges obtaining at such motor court, tourist court, tourist camp, or guest house, unless such advertisement shall, with equal prominence, contain additional data relating to such room rates, in the following particulars:

- (1) Whether the rate advertised is for a single or multiple occupancy of the room;
- (2) The number of rooms or units in each price level where such advertisement indicates varying rates; and
- (3) The dates or period of time during which such advertised rates are available. (1955, c. 1200, s. 1.)

§ 72-51. Violation a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm, or corporation, violating the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be punished as provided by law in the case of misdemeanors. (1955, c. 1200, s. 2.)

§ 72-52. Article declared supplemental.—This article is declared to be supplemental in nature and shall not be construed to repeal any existing law relating to the operation of any motor court, tourist court, tourist camp, or guest house. (1955, c. 1200, s. 3.)

ARTICLE 1.

Public Mills.

§ 73-1. Public mills defined.—Every grist or grain mill, however powered or operated, which grinds for toll is a public mill. (1777, c. 122, s. 1; R. C., c. 71, s. 1; Code, s. 1846; Rev., s. 2119; C. S., s. 2531; 1947, c. 781.)

Editor's Note.—The 1947 amendment re-wrote this section. (1875); Branch v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 77 N. C. 347 (1877).

Cited in Hyatt v. Myers, 73 N. C. 232

§ 73-2. Miller to grind according to turn; tolls regulated.—All millers of public mills shall grind according to turn, and shall well and sufficiently grind the grain brought to their mills, if the water will permit, and shall take no more toll for grinding than one-eighth part of the Indian corn and wheat, and one-fourteenth part for chopping grain of any kind; and every miller and keeper of a mill making default therein shall, for each offense, forfeit and pay five dollars to the party injured: Provided, that the owner may grind his own grain at any time. (1777, c. 122, s. 10; 1793, c. 402; R. C., c. 71, s. 6; Code, s. 1847; 1905, c. 694; Rev., s. 2120; 1907, c. 367; C. S., s. 2532.)

§ 73-3. Measures to be kept; tolls by weight or measure.—All millers shall keep in their mills the following measures, namely, a half bushel and peck of full measure, and also proper toll dishes for each measure; but the toll allowed by law may be taken by weight or measure at the option of the miller and customer. (1777, c. 122, s. 11; R. C., c. 71, s. 7; Code, s. 1848; 1885, c. 202; Rev., s. 2121; C. S., s. 2533.)

§ 73-4. Keeping false toll dishes misdemeanor.—If any owner, by himself or servant, keeping any mill, shall keep any false toll dishes, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1777, c. 122, s. 11; R. C., c. 71, s. 7; Code, s. 1848; Rev., s. 3679; C. S., s. 2534.)

Words "False Toll Dish" Defined.—The words "false toll dish," as used in the statute, mean a toll dish measuring more than one-eighth of a half bushel. State v. Perry, 50 N. C. 252 (1858).

The measure kept need not be averred in the indictment. State v. Perry, 50 N. C. 252 (1858).

Sufficiency of Evidence.—An indictment for keeping false toll dishes was sufficiently supported by proving that measures of one-seventh and one-sixth of a half bushel were kept. State v. Perry, 50 N. C. 252 (1858).

But an indictment for keeping a false toll dish is not sustained by proof that the mill owner took one-sixth part of each half bushel with a half gallon toll dish. State v. Nixon, 50 N. C. 257 (1858).

ARTICLE 2.

Condemnation for Mill by Owner of One Bank of Stream.

§ 73-5. Special proceedings; parties; summons.—Any person wishing to build a water mill, who has land on only one side of a stream, shall issue a summons returnable to the superior court of the county in which the land sought to be condemned, or some part of it, lies, against the persons in possession and the owners of the land on the opposite side of the stream, and against such others as have an interest in the controversy, and the procedure shall be as is provided in other special proceedings, except so far as the same may be modified by this chapter. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 1; Code, s. 1849; Rev., s. 2122; C. S., s. 2535.)

Cross Reference.—For full treatment of eminent domain proceedings, see § 40-1 et seq.

Corporation That Erects Mills. — The legislature, in providing for the condemnation of land for the purpose of erecting mills thereon, classifies a corporation that erects mills generally as one of those private corporations which enjoy a prerogative franchise because of some powers or duties, which they are to perform for the public, and to that extent such a corporation is quasi public. Bass v. Roanoke Nav., etc., Co., 111 N. C. 439, 16 S. E. 402 (1892).

Withdrawal of Verbal Consent to Maintaining Dam. — The plaintiff built a mill, and, with the verbal consent of the defendant, constructed a dam across a stream upon land of the latter. After the mill had been in operation for several years, the defendant withdrew his consent to the further use of the land for this purpose, and notified the plaintiff to level the dam, which he failed to do. Thereupon the defendant caused the obstruction to be removed. In an action by the plaintiff for damages, it was held that the plaintiff should have taken a conveyance of the easement, or pursued the remedy pointed out for the condemnation of land for mill purposes. Kivett v. McKeithan, 90 N. C. 106 (1884).

Cited in Benbow v. Robbins, 71 N. C. 338 (1874); Gwaltney v. Scottish Carolina Timber, etc., Co., 111 N. C. 547, 16 S. E. 692 (1892).

§ 73-6. Commissioners to be appointed.—If no just cause is shown against the building of such mill, the court shall appoint three freeholders, one of whom shall be chosen by the plaintiff, another by the defendants, and the third by the court, or if the plaintiff or defendants refuse or fail, or unreasonably delay to name a commissioner, the court shall name one in lieu of such delinquent party. These commissioners may be changed from time to time by permission of the court for just cause shown. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 2; Code, s. 1850; Rev., s. 2123; C. S., s. 2536.)

Right of Appeal.—Defendants have a view, lay off and value land for a millsite. right to appeal from an interlocutory order Minor v. Harris, 61 N. C. 322 (1867). of the court appointing freeholders to

§ 73-7. Meeting to be appointed and commissioners notified; witnesses examined.—The third commissioner shall cause the others to be notified of the time and place of meeting, and shall preside at their meetings. They may, if necessary, summon and examine witnesses, who shall be sworn by the presiding commissioner. Any commissioner named by or for either of the parties who, without just cause, fails to attend any meeting notified by the president, shall forfeit and pay to the opposite party fifty dollars; and if the president, in like manner, unreasonably delays to notify the other commissioners of a meeting, or fails to attend one that is appointed, he shall forfeit and pay to the plaintiff fifty dollars, and to the defendant a like sum. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 3; Code, s. 1851; Rev., s. 2124; C. S., s. 2537.)

§ 73-8. Oath and duty of commissioners.—The commissioners shall be sworn by some officer qualified to administer an oath to act impartially between the parties, and to perform the duties herein imposed on them honestly and to the best of their ability. They shall view the premises where the mill is proposed to be built, and shall lay off and value a portion of the land of the plaintiff, not to exceed one acre in area, and an equal area of land of the defendants opposite thereto, and report their proceedings to the court within a reasonable time, not exceeding sixty days. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 4; Code, s. 1852; Rev., s. 2125; C. S., s. 2538.)

§ 73-9. Contents of commissioners' report.—The report of the commissioners shall set forth:

- (1) The location, quantities and value of the several areas laid off by them.
- (2) Whether either of them includes houses, gardens, orchards or other immediate conveniences.
- (3) Whether the proposed mill will overflow another mill or create a nuisance in the neighborhood.
- (4) Any other matter upon which they have been directed by the court to report, or which they may think necessary to the doing of full justice between the parties. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 5; Code, s. 1853; Rev., s. 2126; C. S., s. 2539.)

§ 73-10. When building not to be allowed.—If the area laid off on the land of either party take away houses, gardens, orchards, or other immediate conveniences; or if the mill proposed will overflow another mill, or will create a nuisance in the neighborhood, the court shall not allow the proposed mill to be built. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 6; Code, s. 1854; Rev., s. 2127; C. S., s. 2540.)

Cross Reference.—As to restrictions on condemnation of dwelling houses, gardens and burial grounds, see § 40-10. it before the proceedings were commenced. Burgess v. Clark, 35 N. C. 109 (1851).

In General.—The court is forbidden to confirm a report which takes away houses, etc., put on the land by the owner, or on Denial of Injunction. — An injunction will not be granted to restrain the erection of a dam when money damages will suffice. Burnett v. Nicholson, 72 N. C. 334 (1875).

§ 73-11. Power of court on return of report.—If the report is in favor of building the proposed mill, and is confirmed, then the court may, in its discretion, allow either the plaintiff or defendant to erect such mill at the place proposed, and shall order the costs, and the value of the opposite area, to be paid by the party to whom such leave is granted; and upon such payment, the party to whom such leave is granted shall be vested with title in fee to the opposite area. Such payment may be made into court for the use of the parties entitled thereto. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 7; Code, s. 1855; Rev., s. 2128; C. S., s. 2541.)

§ 73-12. Time for beginning and building mill; to be kept up.—The person to whom leave is granted shall, within one year, begin to build such water mill, and shall finish the same within three years; and thereafter keep it up for the use and ease of its customers, or such as shall be customers to it; otherwise, the said land shall return to the person from whom it was taken, or to such other person as shall have his right, unless the time for finishing the mill, for reasons approved by the court, be enlarged. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 8; Code, s. 1856; Rev., s. 2129; C. S., s. 2542.)

§ 73-13. Rebuilding mill after destruction.—If a water mill belonging to a person of unsound mind, a minor, or to one who is imprisoned, should fall, burn or be otherwise destroyed, such person and his heirs shall have three years from the removal of such disability within which to rebuild or repair such mill. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 9; Code, s. 1857; 1903, c. 74, ss. 1, 2; Rev., s. 2130; C. S., s. 2543; 1947, c. 781.)

Editor's Note. — The 1947 amendment rewrote this section.

ARTICLE 3.

Condemnation for Races, Waterways, etc., by Owner of Mill or Millsite.

§ 73-14. Special proceedings; summons.—Any person who has land on one or both sides of a stream and wishes to build a water mill, or has a water mill already built and may find it necessary for the better operation of said mill or the building of the said mill to convey water either to or from his mill by ditch, waterway, drain, millrace or tailrace, or in any other manner, over the lands of any other person, or erect a dam to pond said water over the lands of any other person, or raise any dam already built, may make application by petition in writing to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the said lands to be affected, or a greater part thereof, are situated, for the right to so convey the said water or pond the same by the erection of a dam or the raising of any dam already built; and the procedure shall be as in other special proceedings. (1905, c. 534, s. 1a, k; Rev., s. 2131; C. S., s. 2544.)

§ 73-15. Contents of petition.—The petition shall specify the lands to be affected, the name of the owner of said lands, and the character of the ditch, race, waterway or drain or pond intended to be made, and said owner or owners shall be made parties defendant. The petition shall state the distance desired to be condemned on each side of the ditch, waterway or drain to be constructed or erected, and not more than thirty feet from each bank can be condemned. (1905, c. 534, s. 1b; Rev., s. 2132; C. S., s. 2545.)

§ 73-16. Commissioners to be appointed.—Upon the hearing of the petition, if the prayer thereof be granted, the clerk shall appoint three disinterested persons qualified to act as jurors, and not connected either by blood or marriage with the parties, appraisers to assess the damage, if any, that will accrue to the said lands by the contemplated work, and shall issue a notice to them to meet upon the premises on a day specified, not to exceed ten days from the date of said notice. (1905, c. 534, s. 1c; Rev., s. 2133; C. S., s. 2546.)

§ 73-17. Oath and duty of commissioners.—The appraisers having met, shall take an oath before some officer qualified to administer oaths to faithfully perform their duty and to do impartial justice in the case, and shall then examine all the lands in any way to be affected by the said work and assess the damage thereto and make report thereof under their hands and seals to the clerk from whom the notice issued, who shall have power to confirm the same. (1905, c. 534, s. 1d; Rev., s. 2134; C. S., s. 2547.)

§ 73-18. Assessment of damages.—In determining the amount of such compensation to be paid to the owners of the said lands and assessing the damages thereto by reason of the erection or construction of such waterway, ditch, drain or dam, they shall make an allowance or deduction on account of any benefits which the parties in interest may derive from the construction or erection of such waterway, ditch, drain or dam, and shall ascertain the damages, as near as may be, to the extent it may damage each acre of land so appropriated or occupied by the said millowner. The damage assessed by the appraisers under this article shall include all damages that the owners shall thereafter suffer or be entitled to by reason of the construction of the said waterways, races, ditches or dams. (1905, c. 534, s. 1e, m; Rev., s. 2135; C. S., s. 2548.)

§ 73-19. When commissioners' report not to be affirmed.—If the area laid off on the lands of either party take away houses, gardens, orchards or immediate conveniences, or if the mill proposed or erected will overflow another mill or pond water within two hundred feet of another mill, or will overflow or pond water within two hundred feet of the millsite or premises of a person who has the right under this chapter, or by the authority of law, to rebuild a mill after its destruction, or if the mill create a nuisance in the neighborhood, the court shall not allow the report of the appraisers to be affirmed. (1905, c. 534, s. 1g; Rev., s. 2136; C. S., s. 2549.)

§ 73-20. When petitioner may enter on lands.—After the return of the appraisers and the confirmation thereof the petitioner shall have full right and power to enter upon said lands and make such ditches, waterways, drains, races or other necessary works and construct such dams: Provided, he has first paid or tendered the damage assessed as above to the owner of such lands or his known or recognized agent in this State. If the owner is a nonresident and has no known agent in this State, the amount so assessed shall be paid by the petitioner into the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county for the use of such owner: Provided, further, that the millowner shall not be compelled to pay said damages so assessed unless he shall enter upon such lands and make ditches, drains or other works or erect such dam. (1905, c. 534, s. 1f; Rev., s. 2137; C. S., s. 2550.)

§ 73-21. Owners of mills and millsites protected.—No other person shall have the right to erect or maintain any dam, ditch, waterway, drain or race that will overflow or pond water within two hundred feet of the millsite or premises of any person or body corporate who shall have erected a mill, dam, ditch, drain or race under the provisions of this chapter, or of any millsite owned by any person who has the right under this chapter, or by the authority of law, to rebuild a mill after its destruction. When any person violates the provisions of this section the owner of said mill or millsite shall have a right of action against said person to tear down said dam or other works so built or erected to the extent herein forbidden and to abate the same as prescribed by law for the abatement of nuisances. (1905, c. 534, s. 1h; Rev., s. 2138; C. S., s. 2551.)

§ 73-22. Report to be registered.—The petitioner, or any other person interested, may have the said assessment registered upon the certificate of the clerk, and shall pay the register the usual legal fees for registering such instruments in his office. (1905, c. 534, s. 1i; Rev., s. 2139; C. S., s. 2552.)

§ 73-23. Fees of appraisers.—Each appraiser shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for each day actually employed in making said assessment, to be paid by the petitioner. (1905, c. 534, s. 1j; Rev., s. 2140; C. S., s. 2553.)

§ 73-24. Obstructing millraces or dams a misdemeanor.—Any person who shall obstruct any drain, ditch or dam constructed under this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1905, c. 534, s. 11; Rev., s. 3381; C. S., s. 2554.)

ARTICLE 4.

Recovery of Damages for Erection of Mill.

§ 73-25. Action in superior court; procedure.—Any person conceiving himself injured by the erection of any gristmill, or mill for other useful purposes, may issue his summons returnable before the judge of the superior court of the county where the damaged land or any part thereof lies, against the persons authorized to be made parties defendant. In his complaint he shall set forth in what respect and to what extent he is injured, together with such other matters as may be necessary to entitle him to the relief demanded. The court shall then proceed to hear and determine all the questions of law and issues of fact arising on the pleadings as in other civil actions. (1876-7, c. 197, s. 1; Code, s. 1858; Rev., s. 2141; C. S., s. 2555.)

Cross Reference.—As to damages, see § 73-27 and note.

Exclusiveness of Remedy.—Ordinarily, in cases to which this section applies, the remedy given must be pursued. Kinsland v. Kinsland, 186 N. C. 760, 120 S. E. 358 (1923).

Section Does Not Apply to Trespass.—The remedy under this section does not apply to an action for damages for a trespass committed on the plaintiff's land. Henley v. Wilson, 77 N. C. 216 (1877).

Sufficiency of Description in Petition.—A petition for damages, caused by the erection of a mill upon the stream below, which described it as a "gristmill" without calling it a public mill, or a gristmill grinding for toll, was sufficient. Little v. Stanback, 63 N. C. 285 (1869).

Procedure to Assess Damages.—Under an early statute, it was held that, in a petition for damages for ponding water back, where in the county court the plaintiff's right to relief was denied, the proper course was to impanel a jury to try the allegations made in bar of such right, and if such allegations were found for the plaintiff, the proper course was then to order a jury on the premises to assess the damages, but in all cases where there was an appeal to the superior court, the facts were to be ascertained by a jury at bar, but in that court, those issues pertaining to the question of relief, and those issues as to that of damages, were to be separately submitted. Jones v. Clarke, 52 N. C. 418 (1860).

Proper Issue.—In an action for damages resulting from ponding water upon plaintiff's land, caused by the erection of defendant's milldam, an issue involving the amount of annual damage done thereby is the proper one to be submitted to the jury. Hester v. Broach, 84 N. C. 252 (1881).

Easement Limited to Mill Purposes.—Where the lower proprietor has acquired an easement in the lands of the upper proprietor to pond water back thereon from a dam erected on his own land to operate a public mill, the exercise of this right under the easement does not affect the title to the submerged land of the upper proprietor or subject the lower proprietor to an action for damages so as to start the running of the statute of limitations, nor will this use of the water ponded on the land of the upper proprietor by the lower proprietor for fishing with hook and seine ripen into his exclusive use for these purposes. Thomas v. Morris, 190 N. C. 244, 129 S. E. 623 (1925).

Liability for Defect in Bridge.—Where water was thrown, by the erection of a milldam, upon the highway, and the former proprietor of the mill had built bridges over the water, which, during his ownership, he repaired, and which were also repaired by the present proprietor, who did no other work on the roads, it was held that the present proprietor was answerable in damages to an individual who sustained an injury by reason of a defect in one of the bridges. Mulholland v. Brownrigg, 9 N. C. 349 (1823).

Proof of Ownership.—In an action for overflowing the plaintiff's land, he need not prove his title, though it be set forth in the declaration, for possession alone is sufficient to support this action against a wrongdoer. Yeagain v. Johnston, 1 N. C. 180 (1800).

Plaintiff Entitled to Nominal Damage.—Instructions to a jury, that if a plaintiff sustains no injury from the ponding of water upon his mill wheel, still he is entitled to nominal damages, are correct. Little v. Stanback, 63 N. C. 285 (1869).

A motion for a new trial for failure of the court to instruct the jury to return at least nominal damages, because some overflow was admitted, it appearing that no such instruction was asked, that the admission was qualified and the testimony conflicting, and that there was evidence to show that no damage was actually done, was properly refused in the discretion of the court. McGee v. Fox, 107 N. C. 766, 12 S. E. 369 (1890).

Same—Injury Unnecessary.—In an action for damages for the maintenance of a dam across a stream, the plaintiff is entitled to recover nominal damages, without showing an injury capable of being estimated, or one that is perceptible in the sense that it is attended with some actual damage; for the mere fact of ponding back the water on plaintiff's premises is sufficient to entitle him to nominal damages. Chaffin v. Fries Mfg. Co., 135 N. C. 95, 47 S. E. 226 (1904), rehearing denied in 136 N. C. 364, 48 S. E. 770 (1904).

If the water be ponded back on the land of another by the erection of a milldam, he is entitled, in the remedy by petition, to nominal damages, whether there be actual damage or not. Wright v. Stowe, 49 N. C. 516 (1857).

Measure of Damages.—The measure of damages for backing water on land by means of a dam is the difference in the value of the land before and after the injury complained of. Borden v. Carolina Power, etc., Co., 174 N. C. 72, 93 S. E. 442 (1917).

Permanent Damages.—In an action for backing water on plaintiff's land by means of a dam, the plaintiff is entitled to permanent damages, past, present, and prospective. Borden v. Carolina Power, etc., Co., 174 N. C. 72, 93 S. E. 442 (1917). See § 73-27.

Damages to Health.—Damages may be given for injury to health as well as to land by overflowing. Gillet v. Jones, 18 N. C. 339 (1835). See also, Waddy v. Johnson, 27 N. C. 333 (1844).

Exemplary Damages.—In an action for overflowing plaintiff's land by the erection of a milldam, where a recovery has been had before, and the nuisance was not abated, plaintiff can recover sufficient exemplary damages to compel an abatement of the nuisance. Carruthers v. Tillman, 2 N. C. 501 (1797).

Where Damage Suffered Only When Stream Is Swollen.—Where the erection of a mill on a stream causes the water to overflow the land of a proprietor above only when the stream is swollen, that circumstance will not excuse such party from damages altogether, but will only diminish the quantum of such damages. Pugh v. Wheeler, 19 N. C. 50 (1836).

Decrease of Custom.—Where, in suit for damages for ponding water, it appeared that plaintiff sustained injury to his mill by reason of defendant's erecting another mill and dam lower down on the same stream, the measure of damages was the amount of the damages actually sustained by plaintiff up to the time of trial; and, in estimating the same, the decrease of custom (in the matter of toll) could not be considered. Burnett v. Nicholson, 86 N. C. 99 (1882).

Counterclaim Inadmissible.—In an action for damages for ponding water back on plaintiffs' land, it was no error for the judge to charge that defendants could not set up as offset and counterclaim any benefit which plaintiff had received thereby, and add that the jury should, upon all the evidence, ascertain if plaintiff had sustained any damage. McGee v. Fox, 107 N. C. 766, 12 S. E. 369 (1890).

Action May Be Brought at Any Time.—Ponding a stream so as to throw the water over the land of a proprietor above, which the water did not before cover, gives him a good cause of action at any time when he may wish to use his land, unless he has granted the easement, either actually, or by presumption of law from the length of time he has permitted the easement to be enjoyed. Pugh v. Wheeler, 19 N. C. 50 (1836).

Easement Not Purchased by Payment of Judgment.—The payment of a judgment for ponding water by a milldam does not amount to the purchase by defendant of an easement to pond back water on plaintiff's land. Candler v. Asheville Elec. Co., 135 N. C. 12, 47 S. E. 114 (1904).

§ 73-26. When dams, etc., abated as nuisances.—When damages are recovered in final judgment in such civil actions, and execution issues and is returned unsatisfied, and the plaintiff is not able to collect the same either because of the insolvency of the defendant or by reason of the exemptions allowed to defendant, the judge shall, on the facts being made to appear before him by affidavit or other evidence, order that the dam, or portion of the dam, or other cause creating the injury, shall be abated as a nuisance, and he shall have power to make all necessary orders to effect this purpose. (1876-7, c. 197, s. 3; Code, s. 1859; Rev., s. 2142; C. S., s. 2556.)

When Section Applicable.—This section applies where water is ponded upon the plaintiff's land by a dam constructed on the property of another or where a trespass of like character is committed, because at common law an action could be brought each day so long as the trespass continued. But the statute does not apply and was never intended to apply to an actual entry upon the complainant's premises and the construction thereon of a dam for the purpose of ponding water and retaining possession. Kinsland v. Kinsland, 188 N. C. 810, 125 S. E. 625 (1924).

Denial of Injunction.—An injunction will not be granted to restrain the erection of a dam whereby the mill wheel of the plaintiff is flooded so as to become useless. Burnett v. Nicholson, 72 N. C. 334 (1875).

For such an injury damages will adequately compensate, and should the annual damage exceed twenty dollars the plaintiff is remitted to his common-law action, and can compel an abatement of the nuisance. Burnett v. Nicholson, 72 N. C. 334 (1875).

Where the owner of land adjoining an old millsite sought to enjoin the erection of a new mill, and it was ascertained by a verdict that the mill, though injurious to the health of the plaintiff's family, was advantageous to the public, relief was refused; especially as the old mill was erected before the plaintiff purchased. Eason v. Perkins, 17 N. C. 38 (1831).

When Injunction Granted.—In the case of the erection of a milldam, a court of equity will not interfere by injunction, unless it be shown that it will be a public nuisance, or, if it will be a private nuisance only to an individual, unless it manifestly appears, that so great a difference will exist between the injury to the individual and the public convenience as will bear no comparison, or that the erection of the dam will be followed by irreparable mischief. Bradsher v. Lea, 38 N. C. 301 (1844).

Existence of Another Remedy.—On application for an injunction to restrain the defendant from building a new mill, on the ground that the construction of the dam would injure the land of the plaintiff and the health of his family, testimony being heard, the court held that it is not every slight or doubtful injury that will justify the use of the extraordinary power of injunction to restrain a man from using his property as his interests may demand, especially as, if the injury apprehended should result, the complainant could resort to law for damages. Wilder v. Strickland, 55 N. C. 386 (1856).

When Demand and Allegation of Insolvency Unnecessary.—The demand for damages in the complaint for ponding water upon and injuring the lands of the upper proprietor, required by this section, is not necessary when the relief sought is to enjoin the maintenance of a dam on the plaintiff's own land by the defendant's trespass thereon, and the abatement of the nuisance thus caused, and the trespass being continuing, the allegation of defendant's insolvency is not necessary. Kinsland v. Kinsland, 188 N. C. 810, 125 S. E. 625 (1924).

Cited in Hester v. Broach, 84 N. C. 252 (1881).

§ 73-27. Judgment for annual sum as damages.—A judgment giving to the plaintiff an annual sum by way of damages shall be binding between the parties for five years from the issuing of the summons, if the mill is kept up during that time, unless the damages are increased by raising the water or otherwise.

In all cases where the final judgment of the court assesses the yearly damage of the plaintiff as high as twenty dollars, nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to prevent the plaintiff, his heirs or assigns, from suing as heretofore, and in such case the final judgment aforesaid shall be binding only for the year's damage preceding the issuing of the summons. (1868-9, c. 158, ss. 12, 14; Code, ss. 1860, 1861; Rev., ss. 2143, 2144; C. S., s. 2557.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 73-25.

Assessment Cannot Go Back Further than Preceding Year.—In proceedings under the statute for ponding water on plaintiff's land, the jury have no right to go back further than one year in assessing damages, but if they do, the error may be corrected by the court only giving judgment for one year preceding the issuing of the summons. Goodson v. Mullen, 92 N. C. 207 (1885). See § 73-28.

Judgment May Be for Sum in Gross.—Where, in an action for damages to land by ponding water on it, the jury found that the land was damaged eighty dollars per year, it was not erroneous for the court to give judgment for a sum in gross, and not for each year's damages. Goodson v. Mullen, 92 N. C. 207 (1885).

Recurring Causes of Action. — Case for nuisance in erecting a mill will lie for every fresh continuance after action brought; heavy damages are not usual in the first verdict, but in a second action the damages should be high to compel an abatement of the nuisance. — v. Deberry, 2 N. C. 248 (1796).

Conclusiveness of Verdict and Judgment.—In a proceeding to recover damages for ponding water by a milldam, the verdict of the jury and the judgment of the court thereon are conclusive as to the assessment of damages, up to the time when such judgment was rendered. An application for relief from damages, assessed for a period subsequent to the time of the judgment, can only be heard if the dam is taken away or lowered. Beatty v. Conner, 34 N. C. 341 (1851).

Judgment Not Res Judicata. — An action to abate a dam and for damages to land caused by the ponding back of water was submitted to arbitrators to find whether plaintiffs were entitled to damages, and, if so, to distinguish in finding the same between damages from permanent injuries and annual damages for five years from a certain date. The arbitrators assessed "the permanent damage of the plaintiffs to this date to their lands" at a certain sum, and also awarded a certain annual damage for each of the five years. Judgment was entered on the award, the judgment providing that the execution should be subject to the provisions of § 73-26. The judgment was not res judicata of plaintiff's right to recover damages after the termination of the five-year period for all except a fresh injury, since the judgment contemplated the removal of the dam at the end of the five years. Candler v. Asheville Elec. Co., 135 N. C. 12, 47 S. E. 114 (1904).

§ 73-28. Final judgment; costs and execution.—If the final judgment of the court is that the plaintiff has sustained no damage, he shall pay the costs of his proceeding; but if the final judgment is in favor of the plaintiff, he shall have execution against the defendant for one year's damage, preceding the issuing of the summons, and for all costs: Provided, that if the damage adjudged does not amount to five dollars, the plaintiff shall recover no more costs than damages. And if the defendant does not annually pay the plaintiff, his heirs or assigns, before it falls due, the sum adjudged as the damages for that year, the plaintiff may sue out execution for the amount of the last year's damage, or any part thereof which may remain unpaid. (1868-9, c. 158, s. 15; Code, s. 1862; Rev., s. 2145; C. S., s. 2558.)

ARTICLE 1.

Operation of Mines and Quarries.

§ 74-1. Lessor not held partner of lessee.—No lessor of property, real or personal, for mining purposes, although the lessor may receive an uncertain sum of the proceeds or net profits, or any other consideration, which, though uncertain at first, may afterwards become certain, shall be held as a partner of the lessee; nor shall any of the legal or equitable relations or liabilities of co-partners exist between them, unless it is so stipulated in the contract between the lessor and lessee. (1830, c. 46; R. C., c. 72; Code, s. 3292; Rev., s. 4930; C. S., s. 6896.)

Cross Reference.—For provision making this article applicable to quarries, see § 74-24.

§ 74-2. Minors under sixteen not to be employed.—No minor under sixteen years of age shall be allowed to work in any mine, and in all cases of minors applying for work the agent of such mine shall see that the provisions of this section are not violated; and the inspector may, when doubt exists as to the age of any person found working in any mine, examine under oath such person and his parents, or other witnesses, as to his age. (1897, c. 251, s. 7; Rev., s. 4931; 1919, c. 100, s. 6; C. S., s. 6897.)

§ 74-3. Operator to furnish timber.—The owner, agent, or operator of every coal mine shall keep a supply of timber constantly on hand, and shall deliver the same to the working place of the miner, and no miner shall be held responsible for accident which may occur in the mine where the provisions of this section have not been complied with by the owner, agent, or operator thereof, resulting directly or indirectly from the failure to deliver such timber. (1897, s. 251, s. 8; Rev., s. 4932; C. S., s. 6898.)

§ 74-4. Unused mines to be fenced.—All underground entrances to any place not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrance so as to prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same. (1897, c. 251, s. 5; Rev., s. 4933; C. S., s. 6899.)

§ 74-5. Means of ingress and egress provided.—No owner or agent of any coal mine worked by shaft shall permit any person to work therein unless there are, to every seam of coal worked in such mine, at least two separate outlets, separated by natural strata of not less than one hundred feet in breadth, by which shafts or outlets distinct means of ingress and egress are always available to the persons employed in the mine; but it is not necessary for the two outlets to belong to the same mine if the persons employed therein have safe, ready, and available means of ingress or egress by not less than two openings. This section shall not apply to opening a new mine while being worked for the purpose of making communications between the two outlets, so long as not more than twenty persons are employed at one time in such mine; neither shall it apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment, as long as not more than twenty persons are employed therein at any one time. The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed when there is no second outlet. The escapement shafts shall be fitted with safe and available appliances, which shall always be kept in a safe condition, by which the persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs; and in no case shall an air shaft with a ventilating furnace at the bottom be construed to be an escapement shaft within the meaning of this section. To all other coal mines, whether slopes or drifts, two such openings or outlets must be provided within twelve months after shipments of coal have commenced from such mine; and in case such outlets are not provided as herein stipulated, it shall not be lawful for the agent or owner of such slope or drift to permit more than ten persons to work therein at any one time. (1897, c. 251, s. 4; Rev., s. 4934; C. S., s. 6900.)

§ 74-6. Hoisting engines; how operated.—No owner or agent of any mine operated by a shaft or slope shall place in charge of any engine used for lowering into or hoisting out of mines persons employed therein any but experienced, competent, and sober engineers, and no engineers in charge of such engine shall allow any persons except as may be deputed for such purposes by the owner or agent to interfere with it or any part of the machinery, and no person shall interfere or in any way intimidate the engineer in the discharge of his duties, and in no case shall more than six men ride on any cage or car at one time, and no person shall ride upon a loaded cage or car in any shaft or slope. (1897, c. 251, s. 6; Rev., s. 4935; 1911, c. 183; C. S., s. 6901.)

§ 74-7. Ventilation.—The owner or agent of any coal mine, whether shaft, slope, or drift, shall provide and maintain for every such mine an amount of ventilation of not less than one hundred cubic feet per minute per person employed in such mine, which shall be circulated and distributed throughout the mine in such a manner as to dilute, render harmless and expel the poisonous and noxious gases from every working place in the mine. No working place shall be driven more than sixty feet in advance of a break-through or airway, and all break-throughs or airways, except those last made near the working places of the mine, shall be closed up by brattice trap doors, or otherwise, so that the currents of air in circulation in the mine may spread to the interior of the mine when the persons employed in such mine are at work. All mines governed by this chapter shall be provided with artificial means of producing ventilation, such as forcing or suction fans, exhaust steam furnaces, or other contrivances of such capacity and power as to produce and maintain an abundant supply of air, and all mines generating fire damp shall be kept free from standing gas. (1897, c. 251, s. 5; Rev., s. 4936; C. S., s. 6902.)

§ 74-8. Daily examinations; safety lamps.—Every working place shall be examined every morning with a safety lamp by a competent person before any workmen are allowed to enter the mine. All safety lamps used in examining mines, or for working therein, shall be the property of the operator of the mine, and a competent person shall be appointed, who shall examine every safety lamp before it is taken into the workings for use, and ascertain it to be clean, safe, and securely locked, and safety lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and clean and securely locked, unless permission be first given by the mine foreman to have the lamps used unlocked. No one except the duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key, or any other contrivance, for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any mine where locked lamps are used. No matches or any other apparatus for striking lights shall be taken into any mine, or parts thereof, except under the direction of the mine foreman. (1897, c. 251, ss. 5, 6; Rev., s. 4937; C. S., s. 6903.)

§ 74-9. Report of ventilation.—The mine foreman shall measure the ventilation at least once a week, at the inlet and outlet, and also at or near the face of all the entries, and the measurement of air so made shall be noted on blanks furnished by the inspector; and on the first day of each month the mine boss of each mine shall sign one of such blanks, properly filled with the actual measurement, and present the same to the inspector. (1897, c. 251, s. 6; Rev., s. 4938; C. S., s. 6904.)

§ 74-10. Notice of opening or changing mines given.—The owner, agent, or manager of any mine shall give notice to the inspector in the following cases:

- (1) When any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new shaft, slope, or mine, to which this chapter applies.
 - (2) When any mine is abandoned, or the working thereof discontinued.
 - (3) When the working of any mine is recommenced after an abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding three months.
 - (4) When a squeeze or crush, or any other cause or change, may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in the mine, or when fire occurs.
- (1897, c. 251, s. 7; Rev., s. 4939; C. S., s. 6905.)

§ 74-11. Notice of accidents given.—The owner, agent, or manager of every mine shall, within twenty-four hours next after any accident or explosion, whereby loss of life or personal injury may have been occasioned, send notice, in writing, by mail or otherwise, to the inspector, and shall specify in such notice the character and cause of the accident, and the name or names of the persons killed and injured, with the extent and nature of the injuries sustained. When any personal injury of which notice is required to be sent under this section results in the death of the person injured, notice in writing shall be sent to the inspector within twenty-four hours after such death comes to the knowledge of the owner, agent, or manager; and when loss of life occurs in any mine by explosion, or accident, or results from personal injuries so received, the owner, agent, or manager of such mine shall notify the coroner of the county in which such mine is situated, and the coroner shall hold an inquest upon the body of the person whose death has been thus caused, and inquire carefully into the cause thereof, and return a copy of the finding of the jury and all the testimony to the inspector. (1897, c. 251, s. 6; Rev., s. 4940; C. S., s. 6906.)

§ 74-12. Report to inspector.—The owner, lessee, or agent in charge of any mine or quarry, or who is engaged in mining or quarrying or producing any mineral whatsoever in this State, shall, on or before the thirtieth day of January in every year, send to the office of the inspector upon blanks to be furnished by him a correct return, specifying with respect to the preceding calendar year the quantity of coal, iron ore, fire clay, limestone, or other mineral product of such mine or quarry, and the number of persons ordinarily employed in or about such mine or quarry below and above ground, distinguishing the persons and labor below ground and above ground: Provided, that nothing in this section shall require the owner, lessor or agent in charge of any quarry who does not employ more than ten persons to work in any one quarry at the same time, to file or make any of the reports required under this section. (1897, c. 251, s. 3; Rev., s. 4941; C. S., s. 6907; 1939, c. 223, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the 1939 amendment the report was required to be made on or before the thirtieth of November.

§ 74-13. Liability for injuries.—For any injury to person or property occasioned by any willful violation of this chapter, or any willful failure to comply with its provisions, by any owner, agent, or manager of the mine, a right of action shall accrue to the party injured for any damage he may sustain thereby; and in any case of loss of life by reason of such willful neglect or failure a right of action shall accrue to the personal representative of the deceased, as in other actions for wrongful death. (1897, c. 251, s. 6; Rev., s. 4942; C. S., s. 6908.)

§ 74-14. Punishment for violation.—If any person shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of the law relating to mines or shall do anything whereby the life or health of persons or the security of any mine and machinery is endangered, or if any miner or other person employed in any mine governed by the statutes shall intentionally or willfully neglect or refuse to securely prop the roof of any working place under his control, or neglect or refuse to obey any orders given by the superintendent of a mine in relation to the security of a mine in the part thereof where he is at work and for fifteen feet back of his working place, or if any miner, workman, or other person shall knowingly injure any water gauge, barometer, air course, or brattice, or shall obstruct or throw open any airways, or shall handle or disturb any part of the machinery of the hoisting engine or signaling apparatus or wire connected therewith, or air pipes or fittings, or open a door of the mine and not have the same closed again, whereby danger is produced either to the mine or those that work therein, or shall enter any part of the mine against caution, or shall disobey any order given in pursuance of law, or shall do any willful act whereby the lives and health of the persons working in the mine or the security of the mine or the machinery thereof is endangered, or if the person having charge of a mine whenever loss of life occurs by accident connected with the machinery of such mine or by explosion shall neglect or refuse to give notice thereof forthwith by mail or otherwise to the inspector and to the coroner of the county in which such mine is situated, or if any such coroner shall neglect or refuse to hold an inquest upon the body of the person whose death has been thus caused, and return a copy of his findings and a copy of all the testimony to the inspector, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days, or both. (1897, c. 251, s. 8; Rev., s. 3797; C. S., s. 6909.)

ARTICLE 2.

Inspection of Mines and Quarries.

§ 74-15. Commissioner of Labor to inspect mines and quarries.—The Commissioner of Labor, acting through the Director of the Division of Standards and Inspection of the Department of Labor, shall perform the duties of mine inspector as provided in this chapter. (1897, c. 251, s. 1; Rev., s. 4943; C. S., s. 6910; 1931, c. 312.)

Cross Reference.—For provision making this article applicable to quarries, see § 74-24.

§ 74-16. Inspector to examine mines. — It shall be the duty of the inspector to examine all the mines in the State as often as possible to see that all the provisions and requirements of this chapter are strictly observed and carried out; he shall particularly examine the works and machinery belonging to any mine, examine into the state and condition of the mines as to ventilation, circulation, and condition of air, drainage, and general security. (1897, c. 251, s. 2; Rev., s. 4944; C. S., s. 6911.)

§ 74-17. May enter to make examinations.—For the purpose of making the inspection and examinations provided for in this chapter, the inspector shall have the right to enter any mine at all reasonable times, by night or by day, but in such manner as shall not unnecessarily obstruct the working of the mine; and the owner or agent of such mine is hereby required to furnish the means necessary for such entry and inspection; the inspection and examination herein provided for shall extend to fire clay, iron ore, and other mines as well as coal mines. (1897, c. 251, s. 2; Rev., s. 4945; C. S., s. 6912.)

§ 74-18. Death by accident investigated.—Upon receiving notice of any death resulting from accident it shall be the duty of the inspector to go himself, or send a representative, at once to the mine in which the death occurred and inquire into the cause of the same, and to make a written report fully setting forth the condition of that part of the mine where such death occurred and the cause which led to the same, which report shall be filed by the inspector in his office as a matter of record and for future reference. (1897, c. 215, s. 6; Rev., s. 4946; C. S., s. 6913.)

§ 74-19. Record of examinations.—He shall make a record of all examinations of mines, showing the date when examination is made, the condition in which the mines are found, the extent to which the laws relating to mines and mining are observed or violated, the progress made in the improvements and security of life and health sought to be secured by the provisions of this chapter, number of accidents, injuries received, or deaths in or about the mines, the number of mines in the State, the number of persons employed in or about each mine, together with all such other facts and information of public interest, concerning the condition of mines, development and progress of mining in the State as he may think useful and proper, which record shall be filed in the office of the inspector, and as much thereof as may be of public interest to be included in his annual report. (1897, c. 251, s. 2; Rev., s. 4947; C. S., s. 6914.)

§ 74-20. Papers to be preserved.—He shall keep in his office and carefully preserve all maps, surveys, and other reports and papers required by law to be filed with him, and so arrange and preserve the same as shall make them a permanent record of ready, convenient, and connected reference. (1897, c. 251, s. 3; Rev., s. 4948; C. S., s. 6915.)

§ 74-21. Inspector to enforce law; counsel furnished.—In case of any controversy or disagreement between the inspector and the owner or operator of any mine or the persons working therein, or in case of conditions or emergencies requiring counsel, the inspector may call on the Governor for such assistance and counsel as may be necessary. If the inspector finds any of the provisions of this chapter violated or not complied with by any owner, lessee, or agent in charge, unless the same is within a reasonable time rectified, and the provisions of this chapter fully complied with, he shall institute an action in the name of the State to compel the compliance therewith. The inspector shall exercise a sound discretion in the enforcement of this chapter. (1897, c. 251, s. 2; Rev., s. 4949; C. S., s. 6916.)

§ 74-22. Operation enjoined when law violated.—On application of the inspector, after suit brought as directed in § 74-21, any court of competent jurisdiction may enjoin or restrain the owner or agent from working or operating such mine until it is made to conform to the provisions of this chapter; and such remedy shall be cumulative, and shall not take the place of or affect any other proceedings against such owner or agent authorized by law for the matter complained of in such action. (1897, c. 251, s. 7; Rev., s. 4950; C. S., s. 6917.)

§ 74-23. Report to Governor.—The inspector shall annually make report to the Governor of all his proceedings, the condition and operation of the different mines of the State, and the number of mines and the number of persons employed in or about such mines, the amount of coal, iron ore, limestone, fire clay, or other mineral mined in this State; and he shall enumerate all accidents in or about the mines, and the manner in which they occurred, and give all such other information as he thinks useful and proper, and make such suggestions as he deems important relative to mines and mining, and any legislation that may be necessary on the subject for the better preservation of the life and health of those engaged in such industry. (1897, c. 251, s. 3; Rev., s. 4951; C. S., s. 6918.)

§ 74-24. Articles one and two made applicable to quarries.—For the purpose of providing for the safety of workers in quarries in North Carolina, the provisions of articles one and two of this chapter, relating to the operation and inspection of mines, are hereby made applicable to quarries insofar as such provisions are suitable to the operation and inspection of quarries. (1939, c. 223, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 3.

Waterways Obtained.

§ 74-25. Water and drainage rights obtained.—Any person or body corporate engaged or about to engage in mining, who may find it necessary for the furtherance of his operations to convey water either to or from his mine or mines over the lands of any other person or persons, may make application by petition in writing to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the lands to be affected or the greater part are situate, for the right so to convey such water. The owner of the lands to be affected shall be made a party defendant, and the proceedings shall be conducted as other special proceedings. (1871-2, c. 158, ss. 1, 3; Code, ss. 3293, 3294, 3300; Rev., s. 4953; C. S., s. 6920.)

§ 74-26. The petition, what to contain.—The petition shall specify the lands to be affected, the name of the owner of such lands, and the character of the ditch or drain intended to be made. (1871-2, c. 158, s. 3; Code, s. 3294; Rev., s. 4954; C. S., s. 6921.)

§ 74-27. Appraisers; appointment and duties.—Upon the hearing of the petition, if the prayer thereof be granted, the clerk shall appoint three disinterested persons, qualified to act as jurors, and not connected either by blood or marriage with the parties, appraisers to assess the damage, if any, that will accrue to the lands by the contemplated work, and shall issue a notice to them to meet upon the premises at a day specified, not to exceed ten days from the date of such notice. The appraisers having met, shall take an oath before some officer qualified to administer oaths to faithfully perform their duty and to do impartial justice in the case, and shall then examine all the lands in any way to be affected by such work, and assess the damage thereto, and make report thereof under their hands and seals to the clerk from whom the notice issued. (1871-2, c. 158, ss. 4, 5, 9; Code, ss. 3295, 3296, 3299; Rev., s. 4955; C. S., s. 6922.)

§ 74-28. Confirmation of report; payment of damages; rights of petitioner.—After the filing of the report and confirmation thereof by the clerk, who shall have power to confirm or, for good cause, set aside the same, the petitioner shall have full right and power to enter upon such lands and make such ditches, drains, or other necessary work: Provided, he has first paid or tendered the damages, assessed as above, to the owner of such lands or his known and recognized agent, if he be a resident of this State, or have such agent in this State. If the owner be a nonresident and have no known agent in this State, the amount so assessed shall be paid by the petitioner into the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county for the use of such owner. (1871-2, c. 158, s. 12; Code, s. 3298; Rev., s. 4957; C. S., s. 6923.)

§ 74-29. Registration of report.—The petitioner, or any other person interested, may have the report of the appraisers registered upon the certificate of the clerk and shall pay the register a fee of twenty-five cents therefor. (1871-2, c. 158, s. 8; Code, s. 3298; Rev., s. 4957; C. S., s. 6924.)

§ 74-30. Obstructing mining drains.—If any person shall obstruct any drain or ditch constructed under the provisions of this chapter, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1871-2, c. 158, s. 12; Code, s. 3301; Rev., s. 3380; C. S., s. 6925.)

§ 74-31. Disposition of waste.—In getting out and washing the products of kaolin and mica mines, the persons engaged in such business shall have the right to allow the waste, water, and sediment to run off into the natural courses and streams. (1917, c. 123; C. S., s. 6926; 1937, c. 378.)

Editor's Note.—The 1937 amendment made this section applicable to mica mines.

Strictly Construed.—This section being in derogation of the common law must be strictly construed. McKinney v. Deneen, 231 N. C. 540, 58 S. E. (2d) 107 (1950).

Modification of Stream Pollution Law in Interest of Miners.—While this section authorizes persons engaged in the business of mining kaolin and mica to discharge the water used in washing the products, together with the incidental waste and sediment, into the natural courses and streams of the State, it does not purport to relieve such persons from liability for any damages which may directly result therefrom. This section would seem to be nothing more than a modification of the prevailing stream pollution law in the interest of miners of kaolin and mica. McKinney v. Deneen, 231 N. C. 540, 58 S. E. (2d) 107 (1950); Phillips v. Hassett Min. Co., 244 N. C. 17, 92 S. E. (2d) 429 (1956).

ARTICLE 4.

Adjustment of Conflicting Claims.

§ 74-32. Liability for damage for trespass.—If any owner or person in possession of any mine or mining claim shall enter upon, either on the surface or underground, any mine or mining claim, the property of another, and shall mine or carry away any valuable mineral therefrom, he shall be liable to the owner of the mine so trespassed upon for double the value of all such mineral mined or carried away and for all other damages; and the value of the mineral mined or carried away shall be presumed to be the amount of the gross value ascertained by an average assay of the excavated material or vein or ledge from which it was taken. If such trespass is wrongfully and willfully made, punitive damages may be allowed. (1913, c. 51, s. 1; C. S., s. 6927.)

Action by Cotenant.—Where tenants in common, under the erroneous impression that they owned the fee, removed valuable minerals from the property, upon suit by the other tenant in common for damages under this section and admission by the defendants of the cotenancy, removal and value, plaintiff was entitled to judgment on the pleadings, though not to the damages provided in this section. Jones v. McBee, 222 N. C. 152, 22 S. E. (2d) 226 (1942).

Applied in Vance v. Guy, 224 N. C. 607, 31 S. E. (2d) 766 (1944).

Cited in Carolina Mineral Co. v. Young, 211 N. C. 387, 190 S. E. 520 (1937).

§ 74-33. Persons entitled to bring suit.—The owner of a mine in this State, or any person in possession under a lease or other contract, may maintain an action to recover damages to such property arising from the operation of any adjacent mine by the owner thereof or other person in possession and working the same under lease or contract, and also to prevent the continuance of the operation of the adjacent mine in such a manner as to injure or endanger the safety of the complainant's mine. (1913, c. 51, s. 1; C. S., s. 6928.)

§ 74-34. Application and order for survey.—The person entitled to bring an action, as provided in § 74-33, may apply to any judge of the superior court having jurisdiction to grant injunctions and restraining orders, and obtain an order of survey in the following manner: He shall file an affidavit giving the names of the parties and the location as near as may be, of the mine complained of; the location of the plaintiff's mine, and that he has reason to believe that the defendant, or his agents or employees, are or have been trespassing upon his mine, or working the defendant's mine in such a manner as to damage or endanger the plaintiff's property. Upon the filing of the affidavit, the judge shall cause a notice to be issued to the defendant or his agents, stating the time and place and before whom the application will be heard, and requiring them to appear, in not less than ten nor more than twenty days from the date thereof, and show cause why an order of survey should not be granted. Upon the hearing, and for good cause shown, the judge shall grant an order directed to some competent disinterested surveyor or mining engineer, or both, as the case may be, who shall proceed to make the necessary examination and surveys, as directed by the court, and report their action to the court. The persons selected by the judge to make the survey and examination shall be residents of the State, and, before entering upon the discharge of their duty, shall take and subscribe an oath that they will fairly and impartially survey the mines described in the petition. In all other respects, except as stated above, the surveyors appointed by the judge shall proceed as in surveys in disputed boundaries. (1913, c. 51, s. 2; C. S., s. 6929.)

§ 74-35. Free access to mine for survey.—Upon the order made for the survey in the manner, at the time, and by the persons mentioned in the order, which shall include a representative of the party making the application, who shall not be one of the surveyors, there shall be given free access to the mine for the purpose of survey, and any interference with the persons acting under the order of survey shall be contempt of court and punished accordingly. If the persons named in the order of survey so require, they, with their instruments, shall be carefully lowered and raised in and out of the mine with the cage, bucket, or skip ordinarily used in the shafts of the mine; and they may demand of the owner of the mine, or his manager or agent, that they be so raised and lowered at a speed agreeable to them and not to endanger their comfort and safety or to injure the accuracy of their instruments. The owner of the mine, his managers or agents, shall be liable in damages to the persons making the examination for any injury to them or to their instruments, caused by the careless and negligent operation of any bucket, cage, or skip at such a high rate of speed as to injure the persons or their instruments while being lowered or raised in the mine. (1913, c. 51, s. 2; C. S., s. 6930.)

§ 74-36. Costs of the survey.—The costs of the order and survey shall be paid by the person making the application; but if he shall maintain an action and recover damages for the injury done or threatened prior to such survey and examination, the costs of the order and survey shall be taxed against the defendant as other costs in the action. The party obtaining the survey shall be liable for any unnecessary injury done to the property examined and surveyed in making the survey. (1913, c. 51, s. 2; C. S., s. 6931.)

§ 75-1. Combinations in restraint of trade illegal.—Every contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce in the State of North Carolina is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person or corporation who shall make any such contract expressly or shall knowingly be a party thereto by implication, or who shall engage in any such combination or conspiracy, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof such person shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court, whether such person entered into such contract individually or as an agent representing a corporation, and such corporation shall be fined in the discretion of the court not less than one thousand dollars. (1913, c. 41, s. 1; C. S., s. 2559.)

Cross References.—As to civil action for damages and injunction against violation of this chapter, see note to § 75-5. For provision declaring certain agreements between employers and labor organizations to be illegal combinations in restraint of trade, see § 95-79.

History of Chapter.—See Shute v. Shute, 176 N. C. 462, 97 S. E. 392 (1918).

Monopoly Defined.—"A monopoly consists in the ownership or control of so large a part of the market supply or output of a given commodity as to stifle competition, restrict the freedom of commerce, and give the monopolist control over prices." State v. Atlantic Ice, etc., Co., 210 N. C. 742, 188 S. E. 412 (1936), quoting Black's Law Dictionary (3rd Ed.), p. 1202.

In the modern and wider sense monopoly denotes a combination, organization, or entity so extensive and unified that its tendency is to suppress competition, to acquire a dominance in the market, and to secure the power to control prices to the public harm with respect to any commodity which people are under a practical compulsion to buy.

State v. Atlantic Ice, etc., Co., 210 N. C. 742, 188 S. E. 412 (1936).

Agreement Not to Compete May Be Forbidden. — Persons and corporations cannot be ordered to compete, but they properly can be forbidden to give directions, or make agreements, not to compete. State v. Craft, 168 N. C. 208, 83 S. E. 772 (1914).

Agreement Not to Sell to Particular Individual. — A complaint alleging that defendants conspired and agreed not to sell plaintiff ice, and that as a result thereof plaintiff's business was ruined, fails to state a cause of action, this and the following sections not being applicable. Lineberger v. Colonial Ice Co., 220 N. C. 444, 17 S. E. (2d) 502 (1941).

Reduction of Prices to Consuming Public No Defense. — Plaintiff, a carrier by truck, instituted this action against certain railroad companies, to recover damages to his business, which he alleged resulted from an unlawful conspiracy between defendants to reduce transportation rates in order to eliminate plaintiff as a competitor, with the purpose of raising rates after competition had been removed. Defend- ants alleged that the reduction in rates resulted in lower prices to the consuming public on the products on which the rates had been reduced. Held: The matter alleged does not constitute a defense to the action, since the express policy of the State is against both the raising and lowering of prices by unlawful means for an unlawful purpose, and since the law is interested in preserving competition rather than obtaining for the public temporary benefits from price wars in which competition is extinguished. Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 214 N. C. 38, 198 S. E. 364 (1938).

A general averment without allegation of specific facts is insufficient to constitute a cause of action, under this and the following sections. State v. Standard Oil Co., 205 N. C. 123, 170 S. E. 134 (1933).

Stated in Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

Cited in Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 219 N. C. 23, 12 S. E. (2d) 652 (1941).

§ 75-2. Any restraint in violation of common law included.—Any act, contract, combination in the form of trust, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce which violates the principles of the common law is hereby declared to be in violation of § 75-1. (1913, c. 41, s. 2; C. S., s. 2560.)

Distinction between Common-Law and Modern Rules. — Originally at common law, agreements in restraint of trade were held void as being against public policy. The position, however, has been more and more modified by the decisions of the courts until it has come to be the very generally accepted principle that agreements in partial restraint of trade will be upheld when they are “founded on valuable considerations, are reasonably necessary to protect the interests of the parties in whose favor they are imposed, and do not unduly prejudice the public interest.” Mar-Hof Co. v. Rosenbacker, 176 N. C. 330, 331, 97 S. E. 169 (1918). The distinction may now be made between “general restraint” and “partial restraint.” Morehead Sea Food Co. v. Way & Co., 169 N. C. 679, 86 S. E. 603 (1915).

§ 75-3. Burden of proof as to reasonableness on defendant. — All contracts, combinations in the form of trust, and conspiracies in restraint of trade or commerce prohibited in §§ 75-1 and 75-2 are hereby declared to be unreasonable and illegal, unless the persons entering into such contract, combination in the form of trust, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce can show affirmatively upon an indictment or civil action for violation of §§ 75-1 and 75-2 that such contract, combination in the form of trust, conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce does not injure the business of any competitor, or prevent anyone from becoming a competitor because his or its business will be unfairly injured by reason of such contract, combination in the form of trust, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce. (1913, c. 41, s. 3; C. S., s. 2561.)

§ 75-4. Contracts to be in writing.—No contract or agreement hereafter made, limiting the rights of any person to do business anywhere in the State of North Carolina shall be enforceable unless such agreement is in writing duly signed by the party who agrees not to enter into any such business within such territory: Provided, nothing herein shall be construed to legalize any contract or agreement not to enter into business in the State of North Carolina, or at any point in the State of North Carolina, which contract is now illegal, or which contract is made illegal by any other section of this chapter. (1913, c. 41, s. 4; C. S., s. 2562.)

Oral Contract Void and Unenforceable. —An oral contract which prohibits defendant's right to do business except through plaintiff as its exclusive distributor, limits substantially defendant's right to do business in North Carolina. Hence, under this section, the oral contract is void and unenforceable. Radio Electronics Co. v. Radio

Corp., 244 N. C. 114, 92 S. E. (2d) 664 (1956).

Applied in Sonotone Corp. v. Baldwin, 227 N. C. 387, 42 S. E. (2d) 352 (1947); Maola Ice Cream Co. v. Maola Milk, etc., Co., 238 N. C. 317, 77 S. E. (2d) 910 (1953).

§ 75-5. Particular acts prohibited.—(a) As used in this section:

(1) “Person” includes any person, partnership, association or corporation;

- (2) "Goods" include goods, wares, merchandise, articles or other things of value.

(b) In addition to the other acts declared unlawful by this chapter, it is unlawful for any person directly or indirectly to do, or to have any contract express or knowingly implied to do, any of the following acts:

- (1) To agree or conspire with any other person to put down or keep down the price of any goods produced in this State by the labor of others which goods the person intends, plans or desires to buy.
- (2) To sell any goods in this State upon condition that the purchaser thereof shall not deal in the goods of a competitor or rival in the business of the person making such sales.
- (3) To willfully destroy or injure, or undertake to destroy or injure, the business of any competitor or business rival in this State with the purpose of attempting to fix the price of any goods when the competition is removed.
- (4) While engaged in buying or selling any goods within the State, through himself or together with or through any allied, subsidiary or dependent person, to injure or destroy or undertake to injure or destroy the business of any rival or competitor, by unreasonably raising the price of any goods bought or by unreasonably lowering the price of any goods sold with the purpose of increasing the profit on the business when such rival or competitor is driven out of business, or his business is injured.
- (5) While engaged in dealing in goods within this State, at a place where there is competition, to sell such goods at a price lower than is charged by such person for the same thing at another place, when there is not good and sufficient reason on account of transportation or the expense of doing business for charging less at the one place than at the other, or to give away such goods, with a view to injuring the business of another.
- (6) While engaged in buying or selling any goods in this State, to have any agreement or understanding, express or implied, with any other person not to buy or sell such goods within certain territorial limits within the State, with the intention of preventing competition in selling or to fix the price or prevent competition in buying such goods within these limits.

(c) Nothing herein shall be construed to make it illegal for an agent to represent more than one principal, but this provision shall not be deemed to authorize two or more principals to employ a common agent for the purpose of suppressing competition or preventing the lowering of prices.

(d) This section does not make it illegal for a person to sell his business and good will to a competitor, and agree in writing not to enter business in competition with the purchaser in a limited territory if such agreement does not violate the principles of the common law against trusts and does not otherwise violate the provisions of this chapter. (1913, c. 41, s. 5; C. S., s. 2563; 1953, c. 113.)

Editor's Note.—The 1953 amendment rewrote this section.

For note on "requirements contracts" as violations of this section, see 29 N. C. Law Rev. 316.

Restrictive Stipulations in Sale.—Transactions involving the sale and disposition of a business, trade or profession between individuals with stipulations restrictive of competition on the part of the vendor do not, as a rule, tend to unduly harm the public and are ordinarily sustained to the extent required to afford reasonable protection to the vendee in the enjoyment of property or proprietary rights he has bought and paid for, and to enable a vendor to dispose of his property at its full and fair value. Mar-Hof Co. v. Rosenbacker, 176 N. C. 330, 97 S. E. 169 (1918).

Test as to Reasonableness.—A valid contract in partial restraint of trade, while primarily for the advantage of the purchaser of a business, inures to the benefit of the seller by enhancing the value of the good will and enabling him to obtain a better price for the sale of his business, the test as to territory being whether the restraint agreed upon is such as to afford a fair protection to the interest of the party in whose favor it is given, and not so large as to interfere with the interest of the public; and such will not be held to be unreasonable when they do not affect the public and go no further than to remove the danger to the purchaser of competition with the seller. Morehead Sea Food Co. v. Way & Co., 169 N. C. 679, 86 S. E. 603 (1915).

Contract Not to Engage in Competing Business. — A provision of an agreement for the sale of a partner's interest that he would not again engage in the mercantile business in a certain town or near enough thereto to interfere with plaintiff's business was not in violation of this section. Wooten v. Harris, 153 N. C. 43, 68 S. E. 898 (1910).

An exchange of the defendant's fish business for stock in the plaintiff company, with an agreement not to engage in similar business for ten years within 100 miles is valid, and not in violation of this section. Morehead Sea Food Co. v. Way & Co., 169 N. C. 679, 86 S. E. 603 (1915).

Combination of Railroads to Eliminate Motor Truck Competition.—A combination of railroads for the purpose of reducing rates on gasoline transportation within a certain area with the intent to eliminate motor truck competition and with the further purpose of raising and fixing a higher rate on the same commodity after the elimination of competition is a violation of this section. Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

Reasonableness of Agreement to Raise Price Immaterial.—An agreement among dealers in a necessary article of food, to raise its price, is an indictable offense at the common law, and evidence that dealers controlling a large part of the supply of milk in a town having by agreement raised its price, testimony is irrelevant that a dealer not a party to the agreement had also raised the price of his milk to his customers, or whether the agreement was reasonable or necessary for the article to yield a profit in its sale. State v. Craft, 168 N. C. 208, 83 S. E. 772 (1914).

Same—Intent Immaterial. — The intent of milk dealers combining to raise the price of milk is immaterial. State v. Craft, 168 N. C. 208, 83 S. E. 772 (1914).

Illegal Division of Territory.—Under a contract dividing a county into separate territory, within which each of the respective parties was not to interfere with the business of the other in operating cotton gins, etc., the plaintiff sold the defendant a cotton ginning plant, the latter agreeing to remove the plant and not to again operate one there, the intent of the agreement was a division of territory, with the object to eliminate competition therein, and the agreement will not be enforced. Shute v. Shute, 176 N. C. 462, 97 S. E. 392 (1918).

Exclusive Sale for Specified Period.—A contract made in good faith between a vendor and purchaser of a certain particular make or character of a manufactured product that restricts the former from selling articles of the same make or kind to other dealers within the town wherein the purchaser conducts his mercantile business, and which requires the expenditure of large sums of money and much time in advertising the goods and popularizing them on the local market, does not come within the intent and meaning of this chapter; and in vendor's action for the purchase price the seller may recover damages as a counterclaim for breach of the seller's contract in that respect. Mar-Hof Co. v. Rosenbacker, 176 N. C. 330, 97 S. E. 169 (1918).

Agreement Contravening Section. — A single instrument whereby the owner of lands leased same to an oil company rent free, and the oil company subleased the property back to the owner rent free, upon agreement that only the petroleum products of the oil company should be sold at the filling station, was held void, since the only consideration was the promise of the oil company to sell its products to the owner and the promise of the owner to handle such products to the exclusion of similar merchandise of competitors, which agreement was in contravention of this section, and this result is not affected by a recital in the writing that the owner signed same as part of consideration for a deed to the property executed by a third person. Arey v. Lemons, 232 N. C. 531, 61 S. E. (2d) 596 (1950).

An agreement that a retailer should handle a certain product upon condition that he should not sell like products of other manufacturers within the same price range is held prohibited by this section, and unenforceable in our courts, and does not fall within subdivision (b) (6), permitting, in the absence of an intent to stifle competition, a contract granting the seller an exclusive agency for a product within a certain territory. Florsheim Shoe Co. v.

Leader Dept. Store, 212 N. C. 75, 193 S. E. 9 (1937).

Covenant Not to Sell Products Other than Those of Lessor. — Lessee alleged that lessor covenanted not to sell any petroleum products other than those of lessee within a radius of 2,000 feet of the demised premises or from the demised premises. Held: There being no allegation that lessor agreed to purchase petroleum products from anyone, the provisions of subdivision (b) (2) of this section are not applicable. Such a covenant apparently runs afoul of no statute. Grubb Oil Co. v. Garner, 230 N. C. 499, 53 S. E. (2d) 441 (1949).

Contract to Sell at Label Price.—A contract of sale of merchandise for resale by the buyer, which stipulates that the buyer will not sell the merchandise except at label prices and will not sell or permit the sale of any other similar merchandise, is violative of this section. Standard Fashion Co. v. Grant, 165 N. C. 453, 81 S. E. 606 (1914).

A contract for sale of cafe and good will for a period of five years does not affect the interest of the public or fall within the terms of subdivision (b) (6) of this section. Hill v. Davenport, 195 N. C. 271, 141 S. E. 752 (1928).

Discrimination Not Allowed.—Where a public service corporation has acquired the exclusive right to furnish hydroelectric power and light to municipalities, and to other public service corporations, for distribution to consumers, including subsidiary companies that it controls, it may not discriminate among its patrons under the same or substantially similar conditions as to the rate charged, or select its customers. North Carolina Public Serv. Co. v. Southern Power Co., 179 N. C. 18, 101 S. E. 593 (1919).

Attempt to Drive Competitor out of Business. — An indictment charging that the employees of a rival company in the sale of lawful commodities had combined together to break up their competitor's business by systematically following its salesmen from house to house and place to place and to so abuse, vilify, and harass them as to deter them in their lawful business and to break up their sales; that they falsely represented that their rival company was composed of a set of thieves and liars, endeavoring to cheat and defraud the people, etc., charges a conspiracy indictable at common law. State v. Dalton, 168 N. C. 204, 83 S. E. 693 (1914).

Grant of Municipal Franchise.—A private sale of public utilities by the city authorities to an electrical power plant with a grant of a municipal franchise does not create or tend towards a monopoly. Allen v. Reidsville, 178 N. C. 513, 101 S. E. 267 (1919).

Ordinance Restricting Sale of Commodity. — A municipal ordinance prohibiting the sale of milk within the city without a permit, is not invalid as tending to create a monopoly although the permit "may be suspended or revoked at any time for cause." State v. Kirkpatrick, 179 N. C. 747, 103 S. E. 65 (1920).

Contract in Violation of Section Unenforceable.—A contract made in violation of the terms of this section will not be enforced. Standard Fashion Co. v. Grant, 165 N. C. 453, 81 S. E. 606 (1914); Shute v. Shute, 176 N. C. 462, 97 S. E. 392 (1918); Radio Electronics Co. v. Radio Corp., 244 N. C. 114, 92 S. E. (2d) 664 (1956).

Threats to Retaliate unless Competition Withdrawn.—Threats by one ice company that it would sell ice in the town of a second ice company, if that company continued to supply ice to a rival of the first company are not prohibited by this section. Smith v. Morganton Ice Co., 159 N. C. 151, 74 S. E. 961 (1912).

The refusal by wholesalers of ice to sell a retailer on the same terms as those offered to other retailers in the city is not a violation of this section, it not appearing that the parties were business competitors. Rice v. Asheville Ice, etc., Co., 204 N. C. 768, 169 S. E. 707 (1933).

The violation of this section is made criminal by § 75-6, and as ordinarily the violation of a criminal statute may not be enjoined, individuals who apprehend injury by such violation are afforded a remedy by indictment and prosecution under § 1-5. Carolina Motor Service v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 210 N. C. 36, 185 S. E. 479, 104 A. L. R. 1165 (1936).

The provisions of the monopoly statutes apply to railroads just as they do to individuals and other corporations. Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

Subdivision (b) (3) Constitutional. — Subdivision (b) (3) sufficiently defines the offense therein prohibited and is constitutional. State v. Atlantic Ice, etc., Co., 210 N. C. 742, 188 S. E. 412 (1936).

"Willful" Defined.—"Willful" means the wrongful doing of an act without justification or excuse. State v. Atlantic Ice, etc., Co., 210 N. C. 742, 188 S. E. 412 (1936).

Coal Dealers Held to Be Competent Witnesses.—Where in the prosecution for violation of subdivision (b) (3) of this section the State was allowed to introduce the testimony of coal dealers in the same city as to the cost of handling coal, the opinion testimony being based upon complicated and detailed facts relating to costs of buying, shipping, trucking, handling, shrinkage, labor, repairs, etc., the witnesses having had years of experience in operating their respective businesses in the city, it was held that the witnesses were experts and their opinion testimony was competent and was properly received in evidence. State v. Atlantic Ice, etc., Co., 210 N. C. 742, 188 S. E. 412 (1936).

Proper Instruction as to Injuring or Destroying Competitors.—In a prosecution for violating this section relating to monopolies, an instruction that a person violates this section if he lowers the price of the product in question for the purpose of injuring or destroying competitors, and then, after competition is removed, he sells at a higher price to the detriment of the public, was held without error. State v. Atlantic Ice, etc., Co., 210 N. C. 742, 188 S. E. 412 (1936).

§ 75-6. Violation a misdemeanor; punishment.—Any corporation, either as agent or principal, violating any of the provisions of § 75-5 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and such corporation shall upon conviction be fined not less than one thousand dollars for each and every offense, and any person, whether acting for himself or as officer of any corporation or as agent of any corporation or person violating any of the provisions of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1913, c. 41, s. 5; C. S., s. 2564.)

§ 75-7. Persons encouraging violation guilty.—Any person, being either within or without the State, who encourages or willfully allows or permits any agent or associates in business in this State, to violate any of the provisions of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in § 75-6. (1913, c. 41, s. 6; C. S., s. 2565.)

§ 75-8. Continuous violations separate offenses.—Where the things prohibited in this chapter are continuous, then in such event, after the first violation of any of the provisions hereof, each week that the violation of such provision shall continue shall be a separate offense. (1913, c. 41, s. 7; C. S., s. 2566.)

§ 75-9. Duty of Attorney General to investigate.—The Attorney General of the State of North Carolina shall have power, and it shall be his duty, to investigate, from time to time, the affairs of all corporations doing business in this State, which are or may be embraced within the meaning of the statutes of this State defining and denouncing trusts and combinations against trade and commerce, or which he shall be of opinion are so embraced, and all other corporations in North Carolina doing business in violation of law; and all other corporations of every character engaged in this State in the business of transporting property or passengers, or transmitting messages, and all other public service corporations of any kind or nature whatever which are doing business in the State for hire. Such investigation shall be with a view of ascertaining whether the law or any rule of the Utilities Commission or Commission of Banks is being or has been violated by any such corporation, officers or agents or employees thereof, and if so, in what respect, with the purpose of acquiring such information as may be necessary to enable him to prosecute any such corporation, its agents, officers and employees for crime, or prosecute civil actions against them if he discovers they are liable and should be prosecuted. (1913, c. 41, s. 8; C. S., s. 2567; 1931, c. 243, s. 5; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—It would seem that the twelve of this section were intended to words "Commission of Banks" in line read "Commissioner of Banks."

§ 75-10. Power to compel examination.—In performing the duty required in § 75-9, the Attorney General shall have power, at any and all times, to require the officers, agents or employees of any such corporation, and all other persons having knowledge with respect to the matters and affairs of such corporations, to submit themselves to examination by him, and produce for his inspection any of the books and papers of any such corporations, or which are in any way connected with the business thereof; and the Attorney General is hereby given the right to administer oath to any person whom he may desire to examine. He shall also, if it may become necessary, have a right to apply to any judge of the supreme or superior court, after five days' notice of such application, for an order on any such person or corporation he may desire to examine to appear and subject himself or itself to such examination, and disobedience of such order shall constitute contempt, and shall be punishable as in other cases of disobedience of a proper order of such judge. (1913, c. 41, s. 9; C. S., s. 2568.)

§ 75-11. Person examined exempt from prosecution.—No person examined, as provided in § 75-10 shall be subject to indictment, prosecution, punishment or penalty by reason or on account of anything disclosed by him upon such examination, and full immunity from prosecution and punishment by reason or on account of anything so disclosed is hereby extended to all persons so examined. (1913, c. 41, s. 9; C. S., s. 2569.)

§ 75-12. Refusal to furnish information; false swearing.—Any corporation unlawfully refusing or willfully neglecting to furnish the information required by this chapter, when it is demanded as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than one thousand dollars: Provided, that if any corporation shall in writing notify the Attorney General that it objects to the time or place designated by him for the examination or inspection provided for in this chapter, it shall be his duty to apply to a judge of the supreme or superior court, who shall fix an appropriate time and place for such examination or inspection, and such corporation shall, in such event, be guilty under this section only in the event of its failure, refusal or neglect to appear at the time and place so fixed by the judge and furnish the information required by this chapter. False swearing by any person examined under the provisions of this chapter shall constitute perjury, and the person guilty of it shall be punishable as in other cases of perjury. (1913, c. 41, s. 10; C. S., s. 2570.)

§ 75-13. Criminal prosecution; solicitors to assist; expenses.—The Attorney General in carrying out the provisions of this chapter shall have a right to send bills of indictment before any grand jury in any county in which it is alleged this chapter has been violated or in any adjoining county, and may take charge of and prosecute all cases coming within the purview of this chapter, and shall have the power to call to his assistance in the performance of any of these duties of his office which he may assign to them any of the solicitors in the State, who shall, upon being required to do so by the Attorney General, send bills of indictment and assist him in the performance of the duties of his office. (1913, c. 41, s. 13; C. S., s. 2571.)

§ 75-14. Action to obtain mandatory order.—If it shall become necessary to do so, the Attorney General may prosecute civil actions in the name of the State on relation of the Attorney General to obtain a mandatory order to carry out the provisions of this chapter, and the venue shall be in any county as selected by the Attorney General. (1913, c. 41, s. 11; C. S., s. 2572.)

§ 75-15. Actions prosecuted by Attorney General.—It shall be the duty of the Attorney General, upon his ascertaining that the laws have been violated by any trust or public service corporation, so as to render it liable to prosecution in a civil action, to prosecute such action in the name of the State, or any officer or department thereof, as provided by law, or in the name of the State on relation of the Attorney General, and to prosecute all officers or agents or employees of such corporations, whenever in his opinion the interests of the public require it. (1913, c. 41, s. 12; C. S., s. 2573.)

§ 75-16. Civil action by person injured; treble damages.—If the business of any person, firm or corporation shall be broken up, destroyed or injured by reason of any act or thing done by any other person, firm or corporation in violation of the provisions of this chapter, such person, firm or corporation so injured shall have a right of action on account of such injury done, and if damages are assessed by a jury in such case judgment shall be rendered in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for treble the amount fixed by the verdict. (1913, c. 41, s. 14; C. S., s. 2574.)

Civil Action for Damages and Injunctive Relief.—While conspiracies in restraint of trade, and undertakings to destroy or injure the business of a competitor, with the purpose of attempting to fix the price when competition is removed, are made unlawful, these provisions do not prevent one whose business as a common carrier has been injured and threatened by any of the acts thus denounced from pursuing a remedy by civil action for damages and seeking the interposition of equity, if necessary to restrain wrongful acts which threaten irreparable loss. Burke Transit Co. v. Queen City Coach Co., 228 N. C. 768, 47 S. E. (2d) 297 (1948).

Causal Relation between Violation and Injury Must Be Shown.—Section 75-5 condemns a contract of sale only when such sale is made "upon the condition" that the purchaser shall not deal in the goods or merchandise of a competitor of the seller, and in order for a party to recover damages for a breach of the statute under the provisions of this section, he must show a violation of the statute and a causal relation between the violation and injury to his business. Lewis v. Archbell, 199 N. C. 205, 154 S. E. 11 (1930). See Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

Who May Bring Action.—The contention that an action for the violation of this chapter resulting in injury to a party's business can only be brought by the Attorney General is contrary to the provisions of this section. Bennett v. Southern Ry. Co., 211 N. C. 474, 191 S. E. 240 (1937).

§ 75A-1. Declaration of policy.—It is the policy of this State to promote safety for persons and property in and connected with the use, operation, and equipment of vessels, and to promote uniformity of laws relating thereto. (1959, c. 1064, s. 1.)

§ 75A-2. Definitions.—As used in this chapter, unless the context clearly requires a different meaning:

- (1) "Motorboat" means any vessel propelled by machinery of more than ten horsepower, whether or not such machinery is the principal source of propulsion, but shall not include a vessel which has a valid marine document issued by the Bureau of Customs of the United States government or any federal agency successor thereto.
- (2) "Operate" means to navigate or otherwise use a motorboat or a vessel.
- (3) "Owner" means a person, other than a lienholder, having the property in or title to a motorboat. The term includes a person entitled to the use or possession of a motorboat subject to an interest in another person, reserved or created by agreement and securing payment or performance of an obligation, but the term excludes a lessee under a lease not intended as security.
- (4) "Person" means an individual, partnership, firm, corporation, association, or other entity.
- (5) "Vessel" means every description of watercraft, other than a seaplane on the water, used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water.
- (6) "Waters of this State" means any public waters within the territorial limits of this State, and the marginal sea adjacent to this State and the high seas when navigated as a part of a journey or ride to or from the shore of this State. (1959, c. 1064, s. 2.)

§ 75A-3. Wildlife Resources Commission to administer chapter; Motorboat Committee; funds for administration.—(a) It shall be the duty and responsibility of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission to enforce and administer the provisions of this chapter.

(b) The chairman of the Wildlife Resources Commission shall designate from among the members of the Wildlife Resources Commission three members who shall serve as the Motorboat Committee of the Wildlife Resources Commission, and who shall, in their activities with the Commission, place special emphasis on the administration and enforcement of this chapter.

(c) All expenses required for administration and enforcement of this chapter shall be paid from the funds collected pursuant to the numbering provisions of this chapter, provided however, that the Wildlife Resources Commission is hereby authorized, subject to the approval of the Advisory Budget Commission and the Governor and Council of State, to borrow funds from the Contingency and Emergency Fund in an amount not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00), to be used for initiating the provisions of this chapter and to be repaid within two years from the funds collected pursuant to the numbering provisions of this chapter. All monies collected pursuant to the numbering provisions of this chapter shall be deposited in the State treasury and credited to a special fund known as the Wildlife Resources Fund and accounted for as a separate part thereof. The said monies shall be made available to the Wildlife Resources Commission, subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act and the provisions of the Personnel Act of the General Statutes of North Carolina, for the administration and enforcement of this chapter as herein provided and for educational activities relating to boating safety and for no other purpose. All monies collected pursuant to the numbering provisions of this chapter and monies otherwise provided for in this chapter shall be made available to carry out the intent and purposes as set forth herein in accordance with plans approved by the Wildlife Resources Commission and all such funds are hereby appropriated, reserved, set aside and made available until expended for the enforcement and administration of this chapter; provided that the Wildlife Resources Commission is hereby authorized to adopt a plan or formula for the use of said monies for employing and equipping such additional personnel as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this chapter and for paying a proportionate share of the salaries, expense, and operational costs of existing personnel according to the time and effort expended by them in carrying out the provisions of this chapter. Such plan or formula may be altered or amended from time to time by the Wildlife Resources Commission as existing conditions may warrant. No funds derived from the sale of hunting licenses or fishing licenses shall be expended or diverted for carrying out the provisions of this chapter. (1959, c. 1064, s. 3.)

§ 75A-4. Identification numbers required.—Every motorboat on the waters of this State shall be numbered. No person shall operate or give permission for the operation of any motorboat on such waters unless the motorboat is numbered in accordance with this chapter, or in accordance with applicable federal law, or in accordance with a federally-approved numbering system of another state, and unless

- (1) The certificate of number awarded to such motorboat is in full force and effect, and
- (2) The identifying number set forth in the certificate of number is displayed on each side of the bow of such motorboat. (1959, c. 1064, s. 4.)

§ 75A-5. Application for numbers; fee; displaying; reciprocity; change of ownership; loss of certificate; presumption from possession of certificate; conformity with United States regulations; award of certificates; records; renewal of certificates; transfer of interest, abandonment, etc.; change of address; unauthorized numbers.—(a) The owner of each motorboat requiring numbering by this State shall file an application for number with the Wildlife Resources Commission on forms approved by it. The application shall be signed by the owner, or his agent, of the motorboat and shall be accompanied by a fee of three dollars ($3.00). Upon receipt of the application in approved form the Commission shall have the same entered upon the records of its office and issue to the applicant a certificate of number stating the number awarded to the motorboat and the name and address of the owner. The owner shall paint on or attach to each side of the bow of the motorboat the identification number in such manner as may be prescribed by rules and regulations of the Commission in order that it may be clearly visible. The number shall be maintained in legible condition. The certificate of number shall be pocket size and shall be available at all times for inspection on the motorboat for which issued, whenever such motorboat is in operation.

(b) The owner of any motorboat already covered by a number in full force and effect which has been awarded to it pursuant to then operative federal law or a federally-approved numbering system of another state shall record the number prior to operating the motorboat on the waters of this State in excess of the 90-day reciprocity period provided for in § 75A-7 (1). Such recordation shall be in the manner and pursuant to the procedure required for the award of a number under subsection (a) of this section, except that no additional or substitute number shall be issued.

(c) Should the ownership of a motorboat change, a new application form with fee of one dollar ($1.00) shall be filed with the Wildlife Resources Commission and a new certificate bearing the same number shall be awarded in the manner as provided for in an original award of number. In case a certificate should become lost, a new certificate bearing the same number shall be issued upon payment of a fee of fifty cents (50¢). Possession of the certificate shall in cases involving prosecution for violation of any provision of this chapter be prima facie evidence that the person whose name appears thereon is the owner of the boat referred to therein.

(d) In the event that an agency of the United States government shall have in force an over-all system of identification numbering for motorboats within the United States, the numbering system employed pursuant to this chapter by the Wildlife Resources Commission shall be in conformity therewith.

(e) The Wildlife Resources Commission may award any certificate of number directly or may authorize any person to act as agent for the awarding thereof. In the event that a person accepts such authorization, he may be assigned a block of numbers and certificates therefor which upon award, in conformity with this chapter and with any rules and regulations of the Commission, shall be valid as if awarded directly by the Commission.

(f) All records of the Wildlife Resources Commission made or kept pursuant to this section shall be public records.

(g) Every certificate of number awarded pursuant to this chapter shall continue in full force and effect for a period of one year unless sooner terminated or discontinued in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. Certificates of number may be renewed by the owner in the same manner provided for in the initial securing of the same.

(h) Each certificate of number awarded pursuant to this chapter must be renewed each year on or before January 1; otherwise, such certificate shall lapse and be void. Application for renewal shall be submitted on forms approved by the Wildlife Resources Commission and shall be accompanied by a fee of three dollars ($3.00).

(i) The owner shall furnish the Wildlife Resources Commission notice of the transfer of all or any part of his interest other than the creation of a security interest in a motorboat numbered in this State pursuant to subsections (a) and (b) of this section or of the destruction or abandonment of such motorboat, within fifteen days thereof. Such transfer, destruction, or abandonment shall terminate the certificate of number for such motorboat except that, in the case of a transfer of a part interest which does not affect the owner's right to operate such motorboat, such transfer shall not terminate the certificate of number.

(j) Any holder of a certificate of number shall notify the Wildlife Resources Commission within fifteen days if his address no longer conforms to the address appearing on the certificate, and shall, as a part of such notification, furnish the Commission his new address. The Commission may provide in its rules and regulations for the surrender of the certificate bearing the former address and its replacement with a certificate bearing the new address or for the alteration of an outstanding certificate to show the new address of the holder.

(k) No number other than the number awarded to a motorboat or granted reciprocity pursuant to this chapter shall be painted, attached, or otherwise displayed on either side of the bow of such motorboat. (1959, c. 1064, s. 5.)

§ 75A-6. Classification and required lights and equipment; rules and regulations.—(a) Motorboats subject to the provisions of this chapter shall be divided into four classes as follows:

- (1) Class A. Less than sixteen feet in length.
- (2) Class 1. Sixteen feet or over and less than twenty-six feet in length.
- (3) Class 2. Twenty-six feet or over and less than forty feet in length.
- (4) Class 3. Forty feet or over.

(b) Every motorboat in all weathers from sunset to sunrise shall carry and exhibit the following lights when under way, and during such times no other lights which may be mistaken for those prescribed shall be exhibited:

- (1) Class A shall carry a white light to show all around the horizon. Class 1 shall carry a combined lantern in the fore part of the vessel and lower than the white light aft, showing green to starboard and red to port, so fixed as to throw light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam of their respective sides.

- (2) Every motorboat of Classes 2 and 3 shall carry the following lights:

- a. A bright white light in the fore part of the vessel as near the stem as practicable, so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light ten points on each side of the vessel; namely, from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side.
- b. A bright white light aft to show all around the horizon and higher than the white light forward.
- c. On the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam of the starboard side. On the port side a red light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of ten points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the port side. The said side lights shall be fitted with inboard screens of sufficient height so set as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

- (3) Motorboats of Classes A and 1 when propelled by sail alone shall carry the combined lantern, but not the white light aft prescribed by this section. Motorboats of Classes 2 and 3 when so propelled, shall carry the colored side lights, suitably screened, but not the white lights prescribed by this section. Motorboats of all classes, when so propelled, shall carry, ready at hand, a lantern or flash-light showing a white light which shall be exhibited in sufficient time to avert collision.

- (4) Every white light prescribed by this section shall be of such character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles. Every colored light prescribed by this section shall be of such character as to be visible at a distance of at least one mile. The word "visible" in this subdivision, when applied to lights, shall mean visible on a dark night with clear atmosphere.
- (5) When propelled by sail and machinery any motorboat shall carry the lights required by this section for a motorboat propelled by machinery only.

(c) Any vessel may carry and exhibit the lights required by the Federal Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea, 1948, Federal Act of October 11, 1951, (33 USC 143-147d) as amended, in lieu of the lights required by subsection (b) of this section.

(d) Every motorboat of Classes 1, 2, or 3 shall be provided with an efficient whistle or other sound-producing mechanical appliance.

(e) Every motorboat of Classes 2 or 3 shall be provided with an efficient bell.

(f) Every motorboat shall carry at least one life preserver, or life belt, or ring buoy, or other device of the sort prescribed by the regulations of the Wildlife Resources Commission for each person on board, so placed as to be readily accessible: Provided, that every motorboat carrying passengers for hire shall carry so placed as to be readily accessible at least one life preserver of the sort prescribed by the regulations of the Commission for each person on board.

(g) Every motorboat shall be provided with such number, size, and type of fire extinguishers, capable of promptly and effectually extinguishing burning gasoline, as may be prescribed by the regulations of the Wildlife Resources Commission, which fire extinguishers shall be at all times kept in condition for immediate and effective use and shall be so placed as to be readily accessible.

(h) The provisions of subsections (d), (e), and (g) of this section shall not apply to motorboats while competing in any race conducted pursuant to § 75A-14 or, if such boats be designed and intended solely for racing, while engaged in such navigation as is incidental to the tuning up of the boats and engines for the race.

(i) Every motorboat shall have the carburetor or carburetors of every engine therein (except outboard motors) using gasoline as fuel, equipped with such efficient flame arrestor, backfire trap, or other similar device as may be prescribed by the regulations of the Wildlife Resources Commission.

(j) Every such motorboat and every such vessel, except open boats, using as fuel any liquid of a volatile nature, shall be provided with such means as may be prescribed by the regulations of the Wildlife Resources Commission properly and efficiently ventilating the bilges of the engine and fuel tank compartments so as to remove any explosive or inflammable gases.

(k) The Wildlife Resources Commission is hereby authorized to make rules and regulations modifying the equipment requirements contained in this section to the extent necessary to keep these requirements in conformity with the provisions of the federal navigation laws or with the navigation rules promulgated by the United States coast guard.

(l) No person shall operate or give permission for the operation of a vessel which is not equipped as required by this section or modification thereof.

(m) In the event that any of the regulations of subsections (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), and (l) of this section are in conflict with the equipment regulations of the Federal Motorboat Act of 1958 as amended, the Wildlife Resources Commission is hereby granted the authority to adopt such regulations as are necessary to conform with the Federal Motorboat Act of 1958 as amended. (1959, c. 1064, s. 6.)

§ 75A-7. Exemption from numbering requirements.—A motorboat shall not be required to be numbered under this chapter if it is:

- (1) A motorboat which is required to be awarded a number pursuant to federal law or a federally-approved numbering system of another state, and for which a number has been so awarded: Provided, that any such boat shall not have been within this State for a period in excess of 90 consecutive days.
- (2) A motorboat from a country other than the United States temporarily using the waters of this State.
- (3) A motorboat whose owner is the United States, a state or a subdivision thereof.
- (4) A ship's lifeboat. (1959, c. 1064, s. 7.)

§ 75A-8. Boat liveries.—It shall be unlawful for the owner of a boat livery to rent a boat equipped with more than ten horsepower to any person unless the provisions of this chapter have been complied with. It shall be the duty of owners of boat liveries to equip all motorboats rented as required by this chapter. (1959, c. 1064, s. 8.)

§ 75A-9. Muffling devices.—The exhaust of every internal combustion engine used on any motorboat shall be effectively muffled by equipment so constructed and used to muffle the noise of the exhaust in a reasonable manner. The use of cutouts is prohibited, except for motorboats competing in a regatta or boat race approved as provided in § 75A-14, and for such motorboats while on trial runs, during a period not to exceed 48 hours immediately preceding such regatta or race and for such motorboats while competing in official trials for speed records during a period not to exceed 48 hours immediately following such regatta or race. (1959, c. 1064, s. 9.)

§ 75A-10. Operating boat or manipulating water skis, etc., in reckless manner; operating, etc., while intoxicated, etc.—(a) No person shall operate any motorboat or vessel, or manipulate any water skis, surfboard, or similar device in a reckless or negligent manner so as to endanger the life, limb, or property of any person.

(b) No person shall operate any motorboat or vessel, or manipulate any water skis, surfboard, or similar device while intoxicated or under the influence of any narcotic drug, barbiturate, or marijuana. (1959, c. 1064, s. 10.)

§ 75A-11. Duty of operator involved in collision, accident or other casualty.—(a) It shall be the duty of the operator of a vessel involved in a collision, accident, or other casualty, so far as he can do so without serious danger to his own vessel, crew, and passengers (if any), to render persons affected by the collision, accident, or other casualty such assistance as may be practicable and as may be necessary in order to save them from or minimize any danger caused by the collision, accident, or other casualty, and also to give his name, address and identification of his vessel in writing to any person injured and to the owner of any property damaged in the collision, accident, or other casualty.

(b) In the case of collision, accident, or other casualty involving a vessel, the operator thereof, if the collision, accident, or other casualty results in death or injury to a person or damage to property in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00), shall, within ten days, file with the Wildlife Resources Commission a full description of the collision, accident, or other casualty, including such information as said agency may, by regulation, require. Such report shall not be admissible as evidence. (1959, c. 1064, s. 11.)

§ 75A-12. Furnishing information to agency of United States.—In accordance with any request duly made by an authorized official or agency of the United States, any information compiled or otherwise available to the Wildlife Resources Commission pursuant to § 75A-11 (b) shall be transmitted to said official or agency of the United States. (1959, c. 1064, s. 12.)

§ 75A-13. Water skis, surfboards, etc.—(a) No person shall operate a vessel on any waters of this State for towing a person or persons on water skis, or a surfboard, or similar device unless there is in such vessel a person, in addition to the operator, in a position to observe the progress of the person or persons being towed or unless the skiers wear a life preserver or unless the boat is equipped with a rear view mirror.

(b) No person shall operate a vessel on any water of this State towing a person or persons on water skis, a surfboard, or similar device, nor shall any person engaged in water skiing, surfboarding, or similar activity at any time between the hours from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise.

(c) The provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section do not apply to a performer engaged in a professional exhibition or a person or persons engaged in an activity authorized under § 75A-14.

(d) No person shall operate or manipulate any vessel, tow rope, or other device by which the direction or location of water skis, a surfboard, or similar device may be affected or controlled in such a way as to cause the water skis, surfboard, or similar device, or any person thereon to collide with any object or person. (1959, c. 1064, s. 13.)

§ 75A-14. Regattas, races, marine parades, tournaments or exhibitions.—(a) The Wildlife Resources Commission may authorize the holding of regattas, motorboat or other boat races, marine parades, tournaments, or exhibitions on any waters of this State. It shall adopt and may, from time to time, amend regulations concerning the safety of motorboats and other vessels and persons thereon, either observers or participants. Whenever a regatta, motorboat, or other boat race, marine parade, tournament, or exhibition is proposed to be held, the person in charge thereof, shall, at least fifteen days prior thereto, file an application with the Wildlife Resources Commission for permission to hold such regatta, motorboat, or other boat race, marine parade, tournament, or exhibition. The application shall set forth the date, time and location where it is proposed to hold such regatta, motorboat, or other boat race, marine parade, tournament, or exhibition, and it shall not be conducted without authorization of the Wildlife Resources Commission in writing.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not exempt any person from compliance with applicable federal law or regulation, but nothing contained herein shall be construed to require the securing of a State permit pursuant to this section if a permit therefor has been obtained from an authorized agency of the United States. (1959, c. 1064, s. 14.)

§ 75A-15. Local regulation.—(a) Any subdivision of this State may at any time, but only after public notice, make formal application to the Wildlife Resources Commission for special rules and regulations with reference to the safe and reasonable operation of vessels on any water within its territorial limits and shall set forth therein the reasons which make such special rules or regulations necessary or appropriate.

(b) The Wildlife Resources Commission is hereby authorized to make special rules and regulations with reference to the safe and reasonable operation of vessels on any waters within the territorial limits of any subdivision of this State; provided however, that such rules and regulations governing the operation of vessels on State-owned lakes shall be made exclusively by the Department of Conservation and Development. (1959, c. 1064, s. 15.)

§ 75A-16. Filing and publication of rules and regulations; furnish copies to owners.—A copy of the regulations adopted pursuant to this chapter, and of any amendments thereto, shall be filed in the office of the Wildlife

Resources Commission and in the office of the Secretary of State of North Carolina and in the office of the clerks of the superior courts of the counties in which such boats are operated. Rules and regulations shall be published by the Wildlife Resources Commission in a convenient form, and a copy of such rules and regulations shall be furnished each owner who secures a certificate of number pursuant to this chapter. (1959, c. 1064, s. 16.)

§ 75A-17. Enforcement of chapter. — (a) Every wildlife protector and every other law enforcement officer of this State and its subdivisions shall have the authority to enforce the provisions of this chapter and in the exercise thereof shall have authority to stop any vessel subject to this chapter; and, after having identified himself in his official capacity, shall have authority to board and inspect any vessel subject to this chapter.

(b) In order to secure broader enforcement of the provisions of this chapter, the Wildlife Resources Commission is authorized to enter into an agreement with the Department of Conservation and Development whereby the enforcement personnel of the Commercial Fisheries Division shall assume responsibility for enforcing the provisions of this chapter in the territory and area normally policed by such enforcement personnel and whereby the Wildlife Resources Commission shall contribute a share of the expense of such personnel according to a ratio of time and effort expended by them in enforcing the provisions of this chapter, when such ratio has been agreed upon by both of the contracting agencies. Such agreement may be modified from time to time as conditions may warrant. (1959, c. 1064, s. 17.)

§ 75A-18. Penalties.—(a) Any person who violates any provision of §§ 75A-4 to 75A-6, 75A-8, 75A-9, 75A-11, 75A-13 and 75A-14 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) for each such violation.

(b) Any person who violates any provision of § 75A-10 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for not to exceed six months, or both, for each violation. (1959, c. 1064, s. 18.)

§ 75A-19. Operation of watercraft by manufacturers, dealers, etc. —Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, the Wildlife Resources Commission may promulgate such rules and regulations regarding the operation of watercraft by manufacturers, distributors, dealers, and demonstrators as the Commission may deem necessary and proper. (1959, c. 1064, s. 18½.)

ARTICLE 1.

Cape Fear River.

§ 76-1. Board of commissioners of navigation and pilotage.—A board of commissioners of navigation and pilotage for the Cape Fear River and bar, to consist of five members, at least four of whom shall be residents of New Hanover County, and none of whom shall be licensed pilots, is hereby created. The members of the board shall be appointed by the Governor and their terms of office shall begin on the fifteenth day of April of the year in which they are appointed and continue for four years and until their successors shall be appointed and qualified. They shall be and are hereby declared to be commissioners for a special purpose, within the purview of section seven, article fourteen, of the Constitution of North Carolina. It shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint, on or before the fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, and on or before the fifth day of April of every fourth year thereafter, the members of said board of commissioners. A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum and may act in all cases. The board shall have power to fill vacancies in its membership as they occur during their term, to appoint a clerk to record in a book, rules, orders and proceedings of the board, and the board shall have authority in all matters that may concern the navigation of waters from seven miles above Negrohead Point downwards, and out of the bar and inlets. They shall annually, on the first Monday in May, appoint a harbor master for the port of Wilmington. (1921, c. 79, s. 1; C. S., s. 6943(a).)

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former § 6943 of the Consolidated Statutes, which contained substantially the same provisions.

Constitutionality. — This article is constitutional as it is an exercise of the State's right to regulate pilotage, and should be construed liberally as a part of the maritime law. It does not create a monopoly or grant special privileges, but only regulates for the protection of the public. St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908); St. George v. Hanson, 239 N. C. 259, 78 S. E. (2d) 885 (1954).

Cruising Grounds for Pilot Boats.—The legislature may confer upon a local board of commissioners of navigation and pilotage authority to mark out cruising grounds for pilot boats. Morse v. Heide, 152 N. C. 625, 68 S. E. 173 (1910).

Time of Appointment of Commissioners.—The time of making the appointment of commissioners is merely directory, and if appointment is made after the fifth day of April, but before the fifteenth day of April, it is valid. St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

§ 76-2. Rules to regulate pilotage service.—The board shall from time to time make and establish such rules and regulations respecting the qualifications, arrangements, and station of pilots as to them shall seem most advisable, and shall impose such reasonable fines, forfeitures and penalties as may be prescribed for the purpose of enforcing the execution of such rules and regulations.

The board shall also have power and authority to prescribe, reduce, and limit the number of pilots necessary to maintain an efficient pilotage service for the Cape Fear River and bar, as in its discretion may be necessary: Provided, that the present number of eleven pilots now actively engaged in the service shall not be reduced except for cause or by resignation, disability, or death. When, in the opinion of a majority of the board, the best interests of the port of Wilmington, the State of North Carolina, and the pilotage service shall require it, the board shall have power and authority to organize all pilots licensed by it into a mutual association, under such reasonable rules and regulations as the board may prescribe; any licensed pilot refusing to become a member of such association shall be subject to suspension, or to have his license revoked, at the discretion of the board. (1921, c. 79, s. 2; C. S., s. 6943(b); 1927, c. 158, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1927 amendment inserted the second sentence.

Reasonable Regulations. — A rule and regulation of the board to the effect that pilots shall not cruise beyond certain territory and that no pilot, except under certain unusual circumstances, shall be entitled to his fee for such services if they be tendered beyond the cruising ground they had laid off, is valid and reasonable. Morse v. Heide, 152 N. C. 625, 68 S. E. 173 (1910).

Limiting Number of Pilots. — The limiting of the number of pilots is a valid exercise of the police power, and is not such a grant of special privileges to certain persons as is provided against by the Constitution. St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

Providing for the qualifications of pilots is a valid exercise of the police power. St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

Court's Interference with Discretion of Board.—The determination of the qualifications, arrangements and stations of pilots, and as to whether one or more of the eleven pilots actively engaged in service on March 7, 1927, shall be reduced for cause involves judgment on the part of the licensing board, and generally calls for an examination of evidence and the passing upon questions of fact. Where such is the case, a court will not interfere with the board's judgment or discretion, unless it is arbitrarily exercised, and will not attempt by mandamus to compel it to decide in a particular way. St. George v. Hanson, 239 N. C. 259, 78 S. E. (2d) 885 (1954).

Mandamus to Reinstate License.—Where plaintiff sought the reinstatement of his pilot's license under this section, and the parties waived jury trial and agreed that the court might find the facts, it was held that there being no finding or request for finding that plaintiff's license was revoked or his application for reinstatement refused on the ground that there was a sufficient number of pilots for the commerce on the river, or that the license was revoked or reinstatement refused without cause, mandamus will not lie to compel the issuance of license, since in such instance the writ would control the exercise of judgment by the licensing board. St. George v. Hanson, 239 N. C. 259, 78 S. E. (2d) 885 (1954).

§ 76-3. Examination and licensing of pilots.—The board, or a majority of them, may from time to time examine, or cause to be examined, such persons as may offer themselves to be pilots for the Cape Fear River and Bar, and shall give to such as are approved commissions under their hands and the seal of the board, to act as pilots for the river and bar; and the number of pilots so commissioned, not exceeding fifteen at any one time, shall be left to the discretion of the board, but the limitation as to number herein shall not deprive the board of the power to issue license to any person who is a duly licensed pilot at the time of the passage of this article. (1921, c. 79, s. 3; C. S., s. 6943(c); 1927, c. 158, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1927 amendment substituted the word "may" for the word "shall" near the beginning of this section.

Providing for examinations is a valid exercise of the police power. St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

§ 76-4. Appointment and regulation of pilots' apprentices.—The board, when it deems necessary for the best interests of the port, is hereby authorized to appoint in its discretion apprentices, and to make and enforce reasonable rules and regulations relating to apprentices. No apprentice shall be required to serve for a longer period than three years in order to obtain a license to pilot vessels of a draught of not exceeding fifteen feet, and one year thereafter for a license to pilot vessels of a draught of more than fifteen feet. No one shall be entered as an apprentice who is of the age of more than twenty-five years. (1921, c. 79, s. 4; C. S., s. 6943(d); 1927, c. 158, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1927 amendment "tion apprentices, and to" appearing in the inserted the words "appoint in its discre- first sentence.

§ 76-5. Classes of licenses issued. — The board shall have authority to issue two classes of licenses as follows:

- (1) A license to pilot vessels whose draught of water does not exceed eighteen feet, to such applicants above the age of twenty-one years who have served as apprentices for such length of time as is required by the rules and regulations of the board to entitle such applicant to such license;
- (2) An unlimited or full license to those who have served at least one year under a license of the first class: Provided, that the board shall have power to appoint pilots without reference to apprenticeship record as in its judgment the service may require. (1921, c. 79, s. 5; C. S., s. 6943(e); 1927, c. 158, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — The 1927 amendment division (1) and added the proviso in substituted "eighteen" for "fifteen" in sub- division (2).

§ 76-6. Renewal of license; license fee.—All licenses shall be renewed annually upon payment of a fee of five dollars ($5): Provided, the holder of such license shall have, during the year preceding the date for such renewal, complied with the provisions of this article and the reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by the board under authority hereof. (1921, c. 79, s. 6; C. S., s. 6943(f).)

§ 76-7. Expenses of the board.—Each pilot, or the association of pilots, when organized as in this article provided, shall pay over to the board under such reasonable rules as the board shall prescribe two per cent (2%) of each and every pilotage fee received, for the purpose of providing funds to defray the necessary expenses of the board. In the event that the total of the sums so paid over in any one year shall exceed the expenses of the board, the excess, upon being duly ascertained, shall be paid over to the fund for the benefit of widows and orphans of the deceased pilots, as said fund is now constituted and provided for by law. (1921, c. 79, s. 7; C. S., s. 6943(g).)

§ 76-8. Pilots to give bond.—Every person before being commissioned as a pilot shall give bond for the faithful performance of his duties, with two or more sureties, payable to the State of North Carolina in the sum of five hundred dollars ($500); the board may, from time to time, and as often as it may deem necessary, enlarge the penalty of the bond, or require new or additional bonds to be given in a sum or sums not to exceed in all, one thousand dollars ($1,000). Every bond taken of a pilot shall be filed with and preserved by the board, in trust for every person, firm, or corporation, who shall be injured by the neglect or misconduct of such pilots, and any person, firm, or corporation, so injured may severally bring suit for the damage by each one sustained. (1921, c. 79, s. 8; C. S., s. 6943(h).)

§ 76-9. Permission to run as pilots on steamers; other ports.—The board shall have power to grant permission in writing to any pilot in good standing and authorized to pilot vessels, to run regularly as pilots on steamers running between the port of Wilmington and other ports of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the board shall prescribe. (1921, c. 79, s. 9; C. S., s. 6943(i).)

§ 76-10. Cancellation of licenses.—The board shall have the power to call in and cancel the license of any pilot who has refused or neglected, except in case of sickness, his duty as a pilot for a period of six months in succession, and any pilot who has been absent from the State for a longer period than six months in succession shall, upon his return, surrender his license to the board, or the board may declare the same void, except when such absence has been under permission from the board as provided in § 76-9. (1921, c. 79, s. 10; C. S., s. 6943(j).)

Editor's Note. — For dictum questioning and determine disputes between pilots and the validity of the provisions of this section allowing members of the board to hear masters of vessels, etc., see St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

§ 76-12. Retirement of pilots from active service.—The board shall have and is hereby given authority in its discretion, and under such reasonable rules and regulations as it may prescribe, to retire from active service any pilot who shall become physically or mentally unfit to perform his duties as pilot, and to provide for such pilot or pilots so retired such compensation as the board shall deem proper: Provided, however, that no pilot shall be retired, except with his consent, for physical or mental disability, unless and until such pilot shall have first been examined by the public health officers or county physicians of New Hanover or Brunswick counties, and such public health officers or physicians shall have certified, either separately or jointly, to the board the fact of such physical or mental disability. (1921, c. 79, s. 12; C. S., s. 6943(l).)

§ 76-13. When employment compulsory; rates of pilotage.—(a) All vessels, coastwise or foreign, over sixty (60) gross tons, shall on and after July 1, 1959, take a State-licensed pilot from sea to Southport, and from Southport to sea, and the rates of pilotage shall be the rates given in Column No. 1 below, designated "From Sea to Southport or Vice Versa"; the employment of pilots from Southport to Wilmington and from Wilmington to Southport is optional, but any vessel taking a pilot from Southport to Wilmington, or from Wilmington to Southport, shall employ only a State-licensed pilot, and the rate of pilotage shall be the rates in Column No. 2 below, designated "From Southport to Wilmington or Vice Versa."

(g) The charge for pilotage services during calibration of radio direction finder shall be fifty dollars ($50.00).

(h) The charge for pilotage services during adjustment of compasses and calibration of radio direction finder shall be seventy-five dollars ($75.00).

(i) All vessels calling at either of the Cape Fear River ports which require pilotage will pay full pilotage rates regardless of the reason of call. (1921, c. 79, s. 13; C. S., s. 6943(m); 1927, c. 158, s. 5; 1959, c. 1042.)

Editor's Note. — The 1927 amendment changed a majority of the pilotage rates as fixed by this section.

The 1959 amendment rewrote this section.

Pilot Entitled to Pilotage. — The first pilot speaking a vessel shall be entitled to the pilotage fees over the bar to Southport and out to sea again, provided said pilot shall be ready and willing to serve as a pilot; etc. St. George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

A barge of over sixty gross tons having a United States licensed pilot on board is subject to pilotage, tender and refusal under this section upon entering North Carolina waters. Craig v. Gulf Barge, etc., Co., 201 N. C. 250, 159 S. E. 424 (1931).

§ 76-14. Pay for detention of pilots. — Every master of a vessel who shall detain a pilot at the time appointed so that he cannot proceed to sea, though wind and weather permit, shall pay such pilot ten dollars ($10) per day during the time of his actual detention, the pilot to have due notice from the master or agent of said vessel. (1921, c. 79, s. 14; C. S., s. 6943(n).)

§ 76-15. Vessels not liable for pilotage. — Any vessel coming into Southport from sea without the assistance of a pilot, the wind and weather being such that such assistance or service could have been reasonably given, shall not be liable for pilotage inward from sea, and shall be at liberty to depart without payment of any pilotage, unless the services of a pilot be secured. (1921, c. 79, s. 15; C. S., s. 6943(o).)

Validity. — This section is valid, when construed with the other sections, being an incentive to render pilots vigilant. St.

George v. Hardie, 147 N. C. 88, 60 S. E. 920 (1908).

§ 76-16. First pilot to speak vessel to get fees. — The first pilot speaking a vessel from a regularly numbered and licensed boat of this board shall be entitled to the pilotage fees over the bar to Southport, and out to sea again: Provided, said pilot shall be ready and willing to serve as pilot when the vessel is ready to depart, due notice having been given by the master or agent to said pilot. (1921, c. 79, s. 16; C. S., s. 6943(p).)

§ 76-17. Vessels entering for harborage exempt. — Any vessel coming in from sea for harbor shall not be required to take a pilot either from sea inward or back to sea. (1921, c. 79, s. 17; C. S., s. 6943(q).)

§ 76-18. Harbor master of Wilmington; duties.—The harbor master appointed for the port of Wilmington shall hold his office for one year next ensuing and until his successor is appointed. The harbor master shall have power and is required:

- (1) To keep the channel way of the Cape Fear River and the track of vessels clear; to berth vessels at appropriate wharves or docks; to change the berth of any vessel at request of the owner of the wharf or dock; to move such vessels to some other wharf or to a safe anchorage in the stream; and he is further authorized and required to determine in all cases how far and in what instances it is the duty of masters and others having charge of vessels, flats, rafts, or crafts to accommodate each other in their respective berths and situations.
- (2) To arrest any person violating this chapter, and to immediately bring such offender before some justice of the peace of the county in which such offense may be committed, for trial.
- (3) Whenever in his judgment it shall be necessary to cast loose from any wharf or dock any raft, flat, vessel, or other craft by untying or cutting the lines by which it is made fast, if the owner after notice refuses to remove such vessel.
- (4) Whenever any of the public docks of the city of Wilmington are obstructed by any vessels, flats, barges, logs, hulks, trash, or garbage, and the owner thereof cannot be found or fails to remove the same from said docks, to take the most speedy method to clear the docks.
- (5) To appoint in writing some competent person to act in his place and stead during his temporary absence, or at such times as he is unable to attend to the duties of his office, and such person shall, while acting for such harbor master, have all the power and authority conferred upon and vested in the harbor master by law.
- (6) To collect from all vessels arriving in the port of Wilmington the following fees and no others, to wit: If over one hundred tons and under three hundred tons, three dollars; if over three hundred tons and under five hundred tons, five dollars; if over five hundred tons and under seven hundred tons, seven dollars; if over seven hundred tons, ten dollars. (Code, s. 3482; 1903, c. 662; 1905, c. 321; Rev., s. 4958; C. S., s. 6960.)

§ 76-19. Port wardens of Wilmington; election; oath.—There shall be three competent persons at the port of Wilmington, to be known as port wardens. The persons so elected shall at once take and subscribe before the clerk of the superior court of New Hanover County the following oath:

I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will faithfully, honestly, and impartially execute and discharge the duty of port warden for the port of Wilmington, by duly appraising and estimating the damage sustained on any vessel or goods arriving in or stranded within the bounds of said port, and will make a true and fair estimate and report of and regarding the seaworthiness of any vessel by me surveyed. (1889, c. 437; 1905, c. 321; Rev., s. 4959; C. S., s. 6961.)

§ 76-20. Port wardens of Wilmington; duties; fees.—The port wardens of Wilmington shall, on request made by the master, owner, freighter, or supercargo of any vessel arriving in said port, or stranded within the bounds thereof, survey and make report of her situation and condition, and the causes thereof, and whether she should be repaired or condemned; inspect the conditions of vessels which may arrive in distress or may have suffered by gales of wind or otherwise at sea; the situation and condition of goods, wares, and merchandise which may arrive in said vessels or may have received damage at sea, and report thereon and the probable causes thereof; inspect the storage of cargoes of vessels arriving as aforesaid, or having received damage as aforesaid, before the same shall be discharged, except where vessels may be stranded, in which cases their cargoes may be inspected after the same are removed, and report thereon, whether faulty or not, in which report shall be stated the probable cause of the damage; make surveys of goods, wares, and merchandise, and the cargoes of vessels damaged as aforesaid, and make and report estimates of the amount of the damage sustained as aforesaid; and make and report, if required, surveys of vessels outward bound, and report whether they are seaworthy or not, and fit for the voyage intended. All goods which shall be sold by reason of their having received damage as aforesaid, and shall have been surveyed or inspected by the said port wardens, shall be sold under their inspection and direction; and the said port wardens shall respectively receive for their services: For a survey at the town of Wilmington, the sum of ten dollars; for a survey at the Flats, the sum of twelve dollars; and for a survey at Fort Johnson, the sum of fifteen dollars, to be paid by the party at whose request the same is made, and recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction. (1889, c. 437, ss. 2, 3; Rev., s. 4960; C. S., s. 6962.)

§ 76-21. Repairing boats in street docks at Wilmington forbidden.—If any person shall, for the purpose of repair, put any flat, steamboat, or other craft, in any of the street docks of the city of Wilmington, or shall, for the purpose of repair, ground any such flat, steamboat, or other craft in any of the public docks of such city on the east side of the Cape Fear River between Church Street dock and Red Cross Street dock, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1903, c. 662, s. 2; Rev., s. 3554; C. S., s. 6963.)

§ 76-22. Obstructing docks by flats and barges at Wilmington forbidden.—The owner of any rafts, flats, vessels, or other craft lying alongside any wharf or wharves or before the entrance of any public dock, his or their agents or servants, shall, upon notice from the harbor master, immediately remove the same, and upon his or their refusal so to do, it shall be the duty of the harbor master, and he is hereby authorized and directed, after notice as aforesaid to the owner or owners thereof, their agents or servants, forthwith to cause all such rafts, flats, vessels, or other craft to be removed at the cost and expense of such owner or owners or their agent or agents, and the owner shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1903, c. 662, s. 3; Rev., s. 3549; C. S., s. 6964.)

§ 76-23. Obstructing harbor master of Wilmington forbidden.—If any person shall hinder, delay, obstruct, or in any manner willfully interfere with the harbor master of Wilmington in the discharge of his duty he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1903, c. 662, s. 8; Rev., s. 3552; C. S., s. 6965.)

§ 76-24. Encumbering docks at Wilmington forbidden.—If any person shall encumber any of the public docks of the city of Wilmington with logs, hulks, flats, or barges, trash or garbage, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined ten dollars; and if the encumbrance be not removed immediately upon notice from the harbor master, he shall be fined ten dollars for each and every day thereafter such nuisance shall remain. (1903, c. 662, s. 9; Rev., s. 3547; C. S., s. 6966.)

ARTICLE 2.

Beaufort Harbor.

§ 76-25. Commissioners of navigation; election.—The commissioners of navigation for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Harbor shall be composed of three persons, to be elected as follows: The board of commissioners of Carteret County shall elect one, the commissioners of the town of Beaufort shall elect one, and the commissioners of the town of Morehead City shall elect one. They shall be elected at the regular meeting of such boards in June, one thousand nine hundred and five, and every two years thereafter, and shall qualify by taking the oath required by law before the clerk of the superior court or some justice of the peace of Carteret County, and enter upon the discharge of their duties on the first Monday in July following their election. (1899, c. 9, ss. 1, 2; Rev., s. 4964; C. S., s. 6967.)

§ 76-26. Authority of commissioners.—They shall have authority in all matters that may concern the navigation of the harbor, Old Topsail Inlet, and all the waters of the sound and rivers within ten miles of the town of Beaufort, and in the construction of wharves, and when there is no harbor master, the commissioners aforesaid shall decide all disputes about the moving of vessels and other matters which properly fall within the Department of Harbor Master. (1868-9, c. 208, s. 3; Code, s. 3528; Rev., s. 4965; C. S., s. 6968.)

§ 76-27. Harbor master for Beaufort.—The said commissioners immediately after their election shall appoint a harbor master for the port of Beaufort, who shall hold his office for the term of one year, unless sooner removed by the commissioners for neglect of duty. He shall be entitled to receive of the master of each vessel that shall enter said port, and for other services, such fees as the commissioners may prescribe. (1868-9, c. 208, s. 4; Code, s. 3529; Rev., s. 4966; C. S., s. 6969.)

§ 76-28. Pilots; how appointed and licensed.—Such commissioners shall elect the pilots for said inlet and harbor, and may make such rules and regulations for their government as the commissioners may deem right and proper, not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of this State or of the United States: Provided, that all persons who may be licensed as pilots shall have had at least two years' practical experience as apprentices under some regular licensed pilot of Beaufort Harbor and Old Topsail Inlet, and shall secure two pilots in good standing to endorse in writing each application for license. Application for pilot licenses or branches shall be made to the commissioners in writing, giving the name, age, and occupation of applicants for two years next preceding the date of application. The Commissioners shall examine all applicants for pilot's licenses, and may also examine other persons as to qualification of applicants to perform the duties of pilot, and may in their discretion reject any applicant whom they may deem incompetent. (1899, c. 9, ss. 3, 4, 5; Rev., s. 4967; C. S., s. 6970; 1921, c. 74, s. 6.)

§ 76-29. Fees for issuing pilot's license.—The said commissioners shall give to every pilot elected by them a license or branch under their hands and seals, which shall be and remain in force for one year unless, for good cause to said commissioners appearing, the same shall be sooner revoked by them. They shall charge for each license or branch, fifteen dollars, which they may retain for their expenses and services. (1899, c. 9, s. 6; Rev., s. 4968; C. S., s. 6971; 1921, c. 74, s. 5.)

§ 76-30. Expiration of pilot's license; reinstatement.—Each pilot shall forfeit his branch after fifteen days' expiration of the same; however, such pilot may be reinstated by securing two pilots in good standing to sign his branch. (1915, c. 142, s. 3; C. S., s. 6972.)

§ 76-31. Pilot boats to be numbered.—Each and every pilot vessel in Carteret County shall be numbered; and any pilot piloting a vessel or barge in or out of the territory as set out in this article, without a number, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to a fine of not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. The commissioners of navigation of Beaufort Harbor shall make provision for numbering of pilot vessels as required by this section. All said fines collected under this article to be applied to the public school fund of Carteret County. (1915, c. 142, ss. 2, 3; C. S., s. 6973.)

§ 76-32. Rates of pilotage.—The pilotage for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Harbor shall be as follows: For vessels drawing eight feet and under, two dollars and fifty cents per foot; ten feet and over eight, three dollars per foot; twelve feet and over ten, four dollars per foot; all over twelve feet, four dollars and fifty cents per foot. The above fees to be collectible in Beaufort Harbor from Middle marsh to Lewis thoroughfare, and from the Neuse River side of the inland waterway through the said waterway and out of Beaufort Inlet. For every vessel piloted without these bounds an additional charge of fifty cents per foot may be charged. The commissioners shall have the rates of pilotage printed or written on every license or branch issued by them, and every pilot shall exhibit his license to the master of every vessel he has in charge, when demanded by said master. The rates of pilotage as set out in this section shall apply to all vessels entering or leaving "Old Topsail Inlet" and "Beaufort Harbor." (1899, c. 9, ss. 7, 8; 1901, c. 639; Rev., s. 4969; 1909, c. 250, s. 1; 1915, c. 142, s. 1; C. S., s. 6974; 1921, c. 74, ss. 1-3.)

§ 76-33. Vessels required to take pilots.—All vessels, coastwise or foreign, over sixty gross tons shall take a State-licensed pilot from sea to Pier One, Morehead City, North Carolina, and from Pier One, Morehead City, North Carolina, to sea, and the rates of pilotage shall be the rates as are set out in § 76-32. (1921, c. 74, s. 4; C. S., s. 6974(a).)

§ 76-34. Vessel under sixty tons not liable for pilotage.—No pilot, acting under the authority of the commissioners of navigation for Old Topsail Inlet, shall be entitled to pilotage for any vessel under sixty tons burden, unless such vessel shall have given a signal for a pilot, or otherwise shall have required the assistance of a pilot. (1801, c. 600, s. 3; 1806, c. 711, s. 1; R. C., c. 85, s. 33; Code, s. 3523; Rev., s. 4970; C. S., s. 6975.)

ARTICLE 3.

Bogue Inlet.

§ 76-35. Commissioners of navigation for Bogue Inlet.—The board of commissioners of the county of Onslow shall appoint five commissioners of navigation for Bogue Inlet and its waters. When vacancies occur in said board, by refusal to act, by resignation, or otherwise, the remaining members of such board shall fill the same until the same be supplied by the appointing board, which is directed to be done at the first meeting after the vacancy occurs. And the said board shall have the same powers and authority as to pilots and pilotage as the commissioners for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Harbor. (1783, c. 194; 1784, c. 208, s. 2; R. C., c. 85, s. 25; 1879, c. 216, s. 4; Code, s. 3515; Rev., s. 4971; C. S., s. 6976.)

§ 76-36. Rates of pilotage.—The branch pilots for Bogue Inlet shall be entitled to receive of the commander of such vessel as they may have charge of the following pilotage, namely: For bringing any vessel into the said inlet, drawing less than seven feet, from the outside of the bar to the anchorage before the town, or the customary place in Hill's Channel, one dollar per foot; for a vessel drawing more than seven feet, one dollar and fifty cents per foot; and the same fees for pilotage outward as inward. (Code, s. 3535; 1889, c. 121; Rev., s. 4972; C. S., s. 6977.)

ARTICLE 4.

Hatteras and Ocracoke.

§ 76-37. Board of commissioners of navigation; organization; oath; pilots' licenses.—John W. Rolinson, R. R. Quidley, George L. Styron, William Balance, and Charles L. Odine shall constitute a board of commissioners of navigation for the port of Hatteras Inlet, of the county of Dare; William E. Howard, Christopher O. Neal, Sr., and Gilbert O. Neal, of the county of Hyde; D. R. Roberts and J. W. Gilgo, of the county of Carteret, shall constitute a board of navigation for the port of Ocracoke Inlet, whose duty it shall be to meet at Hatteras and Ocracoke respectively three times in each year, or a majority of the respective board, after giving at least twenty days' notice of each meeting, and when any person is desirous of becoming a pilot at Hatteras or Ocracoke Inlet, over the swashes through Pamlico and Albemarle Sounds, he shall be examined by said board, and when found competent to take charge of any ship or vessel as a pilot the board shall issue to him a branch and take the bond authorized by law, and no person shall be authorized to act as a bar or swash pilot unless he shall have a branch from said boards. The said boards shall have their offices at Hatteras and Ocracoke respectively, in which shall be filed the bonds of the pilots, and every pilot receiving a branch from said boards shall pay to the board from which he receives such branch two dollars and fifty cents, of which sum the commissioners of Ocracoke who live in Carteret County shall receive ten cents per mile traveling to and from the meeting of said board, and the residue shall be divided between all the members of said board, and the commissioners shall belong to each board respectively. When a vacancy shall occur in either board by death, resignation, or refusal to act, a majority thereof of each board shall appoint some suitable person thereto, whose residence shall be at the same place where the vacancy occurred; said commissioners shall keep a regular journal of their proceedings, and before entering on the duties of their office they shall take and subscribe before any justice of the peace of the counties of Dare, Carteret, or Hyde the following oath:

I do solemnly swear that I will truly and faithfully and impartially examine every person who shall apply to me for a branch, to the best of my ability: So help me, God.

The branch shall expire in three years from the date thereof. (R. C., c. 85, s. 24; 1871-2, c. 134; 1879, c. 216; Code, s. 3512; 1897, c. 211; Rev., s. 4961; C. S., s. 6978.)

§ 76-38. Rates of pilotage.—Branch pilots of Ocracoke or Hatteras shall be entitled to receive of the commander of such vessel as they may have in charge the following pilotage, namely: For every vessel of sixty and not over one hundred and forty tons burden, from the other side of the bar, at any place within the limits of the pilot ground, to Beacon Island Road, or Wallace's Channel, ten cents for each ton, and the further sum of two and a half cents for each ton over one hundred and forty, and two dollars for each vessel over either of the swashes (that is, over said swashes either to or from Beacon Island Road, or Wallace's Channel, or over any shoal lying intermediate between either of said swashes and Beacon Island Road or Wallace's Channel); for every ship or vessel from the mouth of the swash to either of the ports of New Bern or Washington, one dollar per foot, and for every ship or vessel from the same place to the port of Edenton, twelve dollars; and to the port of Elizabeth City, ten dollars; and the same allowance down as up, and outward as inward. (1794, c. 426; 1806, c. 711; 1846, c. 49, ss. 1, 2, 3; R. C., c. 85, s. 34; Code, s. 3524; Rev., s. 4962; C. S., s. 6979.)

§ 76-39. Who may be pilots for Hatteras or Ocracoke Inlet.—The said boards shall not issue or grant any branch to pilot vessels through Hatteras

Inlet to any person who does not reside in Hatteras precinct, which precinct extends from Cape Hatteras lighthouse to Hatteras Inlet. And the said boards shall not issue or grant a branch to pilot vessels through or over Ocracoke Inlet to any person who does not reside upon the island of Ocracoke or in the precinct of Portsmouth. (1856-7, c. 29; 1879, c. 216, s. 3; Code, s. 3514; Rev., s. 4963; C. S., s. 6980.)

ARTICLE 5.

General Provisions.

§ 76-40. Obstructing navigable waters; removing beacons; penalty; pilot's liability.—If any person shall cast or throw from any vessel, into the navigable water of Carteret or Onslow counties, of Tar or Pamlico rivers, or into the navigable waters of the Cape Fear, or any other river in the State, or into any channel of navigable water elsewhere than in a river, any ballast, stone, shells, earth, trash, or other substance likely to be injurious to the navigation of such waters, rivers, or channel; or if any person shall willfully pull down any beacon, stake, or other mark, erected or placed by virtue of any bylaw, order, or regulation passed or ordained by any commissioners of navigation, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall forfeit and pay two hundred dollars, to be recovered for the use of the commissioners in whose waters the offense was committed. If any pilot shall knowingly suffer any such unlawful act to be done, and shall not within ten days thereafter give to the said commissioners, or one of them, information thereof, such pilot shall likewise be guilty of a misdemeanor; and, besides the usual punishment of such offense, on conviction, shall be forever incapable of acting as a pilot in the State. (1784, c. 206, s. 11; 1811, c. 839; 1833, c. 146; R. S., c. 88, ss. 23, 24, 45; 1842, c. 65, s. 4; 1846, c. 60, s. 3; R. C., c. 85, ss. 40, 41; Code, ss. 3537, 3538; Rev., s. 3560; C. S., s. 6981.)

Cited in State v. Eason, 114 N. C. 787,
19 S. E. 88 (1894).

§ 76-41. Obstructing waters of Currituck Sound.—It shall be unlawful for any person to obstruct navigation in the waters of Currituck Sound and tributaries, and all persons, corporations, companies, or clubs, who have heretofore placed or caused to be placed any hedging across the mouth of a bay, creek, strait, or lead of water in Currituck Sound or tributaries, made of iron, wire, or wood or other material, for the purpose of preventing the free passage of boats or vessels of any size or class, or to stop the public use of such bay, creek, strait, or lead of water, are required to forthwith remove the same. Any person, corporation, or club violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars nor less than ten dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days, at the discretion of the court. (1897, c. 277; Rev., s. 3553; C. S., s. 6982.)

§ 76-42. Lumbermen to remove obstructions in Albemarle Sound.—If any lumberman shall fail to remove all obstructions placed by him in the waters of Albemarle Sound and its tributaries, as soon as practicable, after they have ceased to use them for the purpose for which they were placed in said waters, from all places where the water is not less than two feet deep, and also from all landing places on both sides, for the space of sixty feet from the shore outward, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not less than one dollar nor more than fifty dollars, at the discretion of the court. (1880, c. 37, ss. 1, 2; Code, s. 3303; Rev., s. 3551; C. S., s. 6983.)

§ 76-43. Anchoring in range of lighthouses. — If the master of any vessel shall anchor on the range line of any range of lights established by the United States lighthouse board, unless such anchorage is unavoidable, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine not to exceed fifty dollars. (1883, c. 165, s. 2; Code, s. 3086; Rev., s. 3550; C. S., s. 6984.)

§ 76-44. Vessels on inland waterways exempt from pilot laws; proviso as to steam vessels.—All vessels, barges, schooners, or other craft passing through the inland waterway of this State, when bound to a port or ports in this or any other state, be and the same are hereby exempt from the operations of the pilot laws of North Carolina and are not compelled to take a State licensed pilot: Provided, that steam vessels not having a United States licensed pilot for the waters navigated on board shall be subject to the State pilot laws. (1917, c. 33, s. 2; C. S., s. 6985.)

Under the Federal Law.—Vessels passing through the inland waterways of the State are exempt from the pilot laws by the State statutes, subject to the proviso of this section; and, under the federal statutes, whether a vessel has a gross tonnage of more than fifteen tons should be determined by the method prescribed by the federal statutes requiring a pilot; and in an action for damages alleged to have been caused by defendant's negligence in a collision, it is reversible error for the trial judge to direct an affirmative answer to the issue of contributory negligence in navigating without a pilot upon plaintiff's assertion that his vessel would carry thirty tons. Harris v. Slater, 187 N. C. 163, 121 S. E. 437 (1924).

§ 76-45. Bond of pilot.—Every person, before he obtains a commission or a branch to be a pilot, shall give bond with two sufficient sureties payable to the State of North Carolina, in the sum of five hundred dollars, with condition for the due and faithful discharge of his duties, and the duties of his apprentices; and the body appointing such pilot may, from time to time, and as often as they may deem it necessary, enlarge the penalty of the bond, or require new and additional bonds to be given; and every bond taken of a pilot shall be filed with, and preserved by, the said body appointing such pilot in trust for every person that shall be injured by the neglect or misconduct of such pilot, or his apprentices; who may severally bring suit thereon for the damage by each one sustained. (1784, c. 207, s. 3; R. C., c. 85, s. 6; Code, s. 3487; Rev., s. 307; C. S., s. 6986.)

§ 76-46. Pilots to have spyglasses.—Every pilot, within such convenient time as the commissioners may direct, who has control over the waters within which he acts, shall furnish himself with a good telescope or spyglass, under the penalty of fifty dollars, to be paid to the commissioners. (1790, c. 320, s. 3; R. C., c. 85, s. 27; Code, s. 3517; Rev., s. 4973; C. S., s. 6987.)

§ 76-47. Acting as pilot without license.—If any person shall act as a pilot, who is not qualified and licensed in the manner prescribed in this chapter, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $50.00 and not less than $25.00, or imprisoned not more than thirty days at the discretion of the court: Provided, that should there be no licensed pilot in attendance, any person may conduct into port any vessel in danger from stress of weather or in a leaky condition. (1783, c. 194, s. 3; 1784, c. 208, s. 4; R. C., c. 85, s. 29; Code, s. 3519; Rev., s. 4974; C. S., s. 6988; 1933, c. 325.)

Editor's Note.—The 1933 amendment re-wrote this section.

§ 76-48. Penalty on pilot neglecting to go to vessel having signal set.—When any pilot shall see any vessel on the coast, having a signal for a pilot, or shall hear a gun of distress fired off the coast, and shall neglect or refuse to go to the assistance of such vessel, such pilot shall forfeit and pay one hundred dollars, to be recovered in the name of the State, one half to the use of the informer and the other half to the master of the vessel, unless such pilot is then actually in charge of another vessel. (1783, c. 194, s. 6; 1784, c. 207, s. 10; 1790, c. 320, s. 2; R. C., c. 85, s. 31; Code, s. 3521; Rev., s. 4975; C. S., s. 6989.)

§ 76-49. Pilots may be removed.—Unless otherwise provided in the first article of this chapter for the Cape Fear River, whenever any pilot appointed, as authorized in this chapter, shall, on trial, be found incompetent, or shall be guilty of improper conduct by intoxication or otherwise, or of any misbehavior in his office, or shall absent himself from the State for a period of six months, the pilot so offending may be removed from his office by the board of commissioners under whose authority he is acting, by a notice to him in writing; and if after such removal he shall attempt to take charge of any vessel, he shall forfeit and pay two hundred dollars for the use of said board. And it shall be the duty of the board to put up a written notice of the removal, in the public places within the port, or publish it in some convenient newspaper. But no pilot for the navigation of Hatteras Inlet shall be required to surrender or forfeit his branch by reason of absence from the State for a period of less than six months. (1784, c. 207, s. 4; 1800, c. 565; 1819, c. 1025, s. 4; R. S., c. 88, ss. 7, 31, 35; R. C., c. 85, s. 28; 1869-70, c. 235, s. 7; 1876-7, c. 22; 1881, c. 261, ss. 1, 2; Code, ss. 3490, 3518; Rev., s. 4976; C. S., s. 6990.)

Entitled to Fees Until Removed. — A boat is recoverable by him until the duly licensed pilot may recover charges for his services, and while his failure to have his boat registered and numbered will cause a forfeiture of his license, the lawful pilotage charges for the service of such boat is recoverable by him until the commissioners of navigation and pilotage have acted thereon and revoked his license. Davis v. Heide & Co., 161 N. C. 476, 77 S. E. 691 (1913).

§ 76-50. Pilots refused, entitled to pay.—If a branch pilot shall go off to any vessel bound in, and offer to pilot her over the bar, the master or commander of such vessel, if he refuses to take such pilot, shall pay to such pilot, if not previously furnished with one, the same sum as is allowed by law for conducting such vessel in, to be recovered before a justice of the peace, if the sum be within his jurisdiction: Provided, that the first pilot, and no other, who shall speak such vessel so bound in shall be entitled to the pay provided for in this section. (R. C., c. 85, s. 32; 1871-2, c. 117; Code, s. 3522; Rev., s. 4978; C. S., s. 6991.)

§ 76-51. Pay of pilots when detained by vessel.—Every master of a vessel who shall detain a pilot at the time appointed, so that he cannot proceed to sea, though wind and weather should permit, shall pay to such pilot three dollars per day during the time of his actual detention. (1858-9, c. 23, s. 7; Code, s. 3495; Rev., s. 4979; C. S., s. 6992.)

§ 76-52. Rates of pilotage annexed to commission. — The commissioners of navigation for the several ports of this State shall annex to the branch or commission, by them given to each pilot, a copy of the fees to which such pilot is entitled. (1784, c. 208, s. 4; 1796, c. 470, s. 5; R. C., c. 85, ss. 9, 38; Code, ss. 3497, 3536; Rev., s. 4980; C. S., s. 6993.)

§ 76-53. Harbor masters; how appointed.—The several boards of commissioners of navigation may appoint a harbor master for their respective ports. They shall appoint a clerk to keep books, in which shall be recorded all their proceedings. (R. C., c. 85, s. 35; Code, s. 3525; Rev., s. 4981; C. S., s. 6994.)

§ 76-54. Commissioners of navigation may hold another office.—A commissioner of navigation and pilotage shall be deemed a commissioner for a special purpose within the meaning of section seven of article fourteen of the Constitution of North Carolina, so as not to be prohibited from holding at the same time with his commissionership another office under the national or State governments. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 76; C. S., s. 6995.)

§ 76-55. Commissioners of navigation to designate place for trash.—The several boards of commissioners established by this chapter may, subject to such regulations as the United States may make, designate the places whereat, within the waters under their several and respective control, may be cast and thrown ballast, trash, stone, and like matter. (1833, c. 146, ss. 1, 2, 3; R. S., c. 88, ss. 23, 24, 45; 1846, c. 60, s. 3; R. C., c. 85, s. 40; Code, s. 3537; Rev., s. 4982; C. S., s. 6996.)

§ 76-56. Harbor master; how appointed where no board of navigation.—Where no board of navigation exists the governing body of any incorporated town, situated on any navigable watercourse, shall have power to appoint a harbor master for the port, who shall have the same power and authority in their respective ports as the harbor master of Wilmington is by this chapter given for that port, and shall receive like fees and no others.

The board of county commissioners of any county is authorized to appoint a harbor master for any unincorporated community situated on any navigable watercourse in their respective counties. Harbor masters appointed hereunder shall have the same power and authority and shall receive the same fees as set forth in G. S. 76-18. (Rev., s. 4983; C. S., s. 6997; 1953, c. 445.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment added the second paragraph.

§ 76-57. Rafts to exercise care in passing buoys, etc., penalty.—If any person having charge of any raft passing any buoy, beacon, or day mark, shall not exercise due diligence in keeping clear of it, or, if unavoidably fouling it, shall not exercise due diligence in clearing it, without dragging from its position such buoy, beacon, or day mark, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine not to exceed fifty dollars. (1883, c. 165, s. 3; Code, s. 3087; Rev., s. 3545; C. S., s. 6998.)

§ 76-58. Interfering with buoys, beacons, and day marks.—If any person shall moor any kind of vessel, or any raft or any part of a raft, to any buoy, beacon, or day mark placed in the waters of North Carolina by the authority of the United States lighthouse board, or shall in any manner hang on with any vessel or raft, or part of a raft, to any such buoy, beacon, or day mark, or shall willfully remove, damage, or destroy any such buoy, beacon, or day mark, or shall cut down, remove, damage, or destroy any beacon erected on land in this State by the authority of the said United States lighthouse board, or through unavoidable accident run down, drag from its position, or in any way injure any buoy, beacon, or day mark, as aforesaid, and shall fail to give notice as soon as practicable of having done so, to the lighthouse inspector of the district in which said buoy, beacon, or day mark may be located, or to the collector of the port, or, if in charge of a pilot, to the collector of the port from which he comes, he shall for every such offense be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not to exceed two hundred dollars, or imprisoned not to exceed three months, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1858-9, c. 58, ss. 2, 3; 1883, c. 165, s. 1; Code, s. 3085; Rev., s. 3546; C. S., s. 6999.)

ARTICLE 6.

Morehead City Navigation and Pilotage Commission.

§ 76-59. Board of commissioners of navigation and pilotage.—A board of commissioners of navigation and pilotage for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar to consist of three members, none of whom shall be licensed pilots, is hereby created. The members of the board shall be appointed by the Morehead City port commission, and their terms of office shall begin on the 15th day of July of the year in which they are appointed and continue for four years and until their successors shall be appointed and qualified. They shall be and are hereby declared to be commissioners for a special purpose, within the purview of section 7, article 14 of the Constitution of North Carolina. It shall be the duty of the Morehead City port commission to appoint, on or before the 1st day of July, 1947, and on or before the 1st day of July every fourth year thereafter, the members of said board of commissioners. A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum and may act in all cases. The board shall have power to fill vacancies in its membership as they occur during their term, to appoint a clerk to record in a book, rules, orders and proceedings of the board, and the board shall have authority in all matters that may concern the navigation of waters from the Beaufort Sea Buoy to Morehead City, and out of the bar and inlet. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-60. Rules to regulate pilotage service. — The board shall from time to time make and establish such rules and regulations respecting the qualifications, arrangements, and station of pilots as to them shall seem most advisable, and shall impose such reasonable fines, forfeitures and penalties as may be prescribed for the purpose of enforcing the execution of such rules and regulations. The board shall also have power and authority to prescribe, reduce and limit the number of pilots necessary to maintain an efficient pilotage service for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar, as in its discretion may be necessary: Provided, that the present number of two pilots now actively engaged in the service shall not be reduced except for cause or by resignation, disability, or death. The board shall have power and authority to organize all pilots licensed by it into a mutual association, under such reasonable rules and regulations as the board may prescribe; any licensed pilot refusing to become a member of such association shall be subject to suspension, or to have his license revoked, at the discretion of the board. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-61. Examination and licensing of pilots. — The board, or a majority of them, may from time to time examine, or cause to be examined, such persons as may offer themselves to be pilots for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar, and shall give to such as are approved commissions under their hands and the seal of the board, to act as pilots for Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar; and the number of pilots so commissioned, shall be left to the discretion of the board. (1947, c. 748; 1953, c. 436, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment number of pilots commissioned at one deleted the former provision limiting the time to three.

§ 76-62. Appointment and regulation of pilots' apprentices. — The board is hereby authorized to appoint in its discretion apprentices, and to make and enforce reasonable rules and regulations relating to apprentices. No apprentice shall be required to serve for a longer period than three years in order to obtain a license to pilot vessels of a draught of not exceeding fifteen (15) feet, and one year thereafter for a license to pilot vessels of any draught. No one shall be entered as an apprentice who is under the age of 21 years. (1947, c. 748; 1953, c. 436, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment of two licensed pilots," formerly appearing deleted the words "nor shall the board license a pilot except upon written approval at the end of this section.

§ 76-62.1. Renewal of license; license fee. — All licenses shall be renewed annually upon payment of a fee of five dollars ($5.00); provided, the holder of such license shall have during the year preceding the date of such renewal, complied with the provisions of this article and the reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by the board under authority hereof. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-63. Expenses of the board. — Each pilot, or the association of pilots, when organized as in this article provided, shall pay over to the board under such reasonable rules as the board shall prescribe two per cent (2%) of each and every pilotage fee received, for the purpose of providing funds to defray the necessary expenses of the board. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-64. Pilots to give bond.—Every person before being commissioned as a pilot shall give bond for the faithful performance of his duties, with two or more personal sureties or a bond in some surety company licensed to do business in North Carolina payable to the State of North Carolina in the sum of five hundred ($500.00) dollars; the board may, from time to time, and as often as it may deem necessary, enlarge the penalty of the bond, or require new or additional bonds to be given in a sum or sums not to exceed in all, one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars. Every bond taken of a pilot shall be filed with and preserved by the board in trust for every person, firm, or corporation, who shall be injured by the neglect or misconduct of such pilots, and any person, firm, or corporation so injured may severally bring suit for the damage by each one sustained. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-65. Permission to run as pilots on steamers; other ports.—The board shall have power to grant permission in writing to any pilot in good standing and authorized to pilot vessels, to run regularly as pilots on steamers running between Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar, and the port of Morehead City, and other ports of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the board shall prescribe. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-66. Cancellation of licenses.—The board shall have the power to call in and cancel the license of any pilot who has refused or neglected, except in case of sickness, his duty as a pilot. Any pilot who has been absent from the State for a longer period than six months in succession shall, upon his return, surrender his license to the board, or the board may declare the same void, except when such absence has been under permission from the board as provided above. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-67. Jurisdiction over disputes as to pilotage.—Each member of the board shall have power and authority to hear and determine any matter of dispute between any pilot and any master of a vessel, or between pilots themselves, respecting the pilotage of any vessel and any one of them may issue a warrant against any pilot for the recovery of any demand which one pilot may have against another, relative to pilotage, and for the recovery of any forfeiture or penalty provided by law, relating to pilotage in Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar, or provided by any bylaw or rule or regulation enacted by the board by virtue of any such law, which warrant the sheriff or any constable in Carteret County, shall execute together with any other process authorized by this article. On any warrant issued as herein provided any one of said commissioners may give judgment for any sum not exceeding five hundred ($500.00) dollars, and may issue execution thereon, in like manner as is provided for the issuing of execution of judgments rendered by justices of the peace, which writ of execution shall be executed agreeably to the law regulating the levy and sale under executions issuing from courts of justices of the peace. Any member of the board shall have authority to issue summons for witnesses and to administer oaths, and hearings before any member of the board and any matters as provided in this section shall conform as nearly as may be to procedure provided by law in the courts of justices of the peace. From any judgment rendered by any member of the board, either party shall have the right of appeal to the Superior Court of Carteret County, in like manner as is provided for appeals on judgments of justices of the peace. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-68. Retirement of pilots from active service.—The board shall have and is hereby given authority in its discretion, and under such reasonable rules and regulations as it may prescribe, to retire from active service any pilot who shall become physically or mentally unfit to perform his duties as pilot, and to provide for such pilot or pilots so retired such compensation as the board shall deem proper: Provided, however, that no pilot shall be retired, for physical or mental disability, unless and until such pilot shall have first been examined by the public health officer or county physician of Carteret County, and such public health officer or physician shall have certified, either separately or jointly, to the board the fact of such physical or mental disability. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-69. When employment compulsory; rates of pilotage.—All vessels, coastwise or foreign, over 60 gross tons, shall on and after the 1st day of August, 1947, take a State licensed pilot from Beaufort Sea Buoy to Morehead City and from Morehead City to sea, and the rates of pilotage shall be such as may be prescribed from time to time by the board of commissioners.

Vessels calling at the port solely for the purpose of obtaining bunkers shall pay one half of the fees prescribed by the said board. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-70. Pay for detention of pilots.—Every master of a vessel who shall detain a pilot at the time appointed so that he cannot proceed to sea, though wind and weather permit, shall pay such pilot ten dollars ($10.00) per day during the time of his actual detention, the pilot shall have due notice from the master or agent of said vessel. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-71. Vessels not liable for pilotage.—Any vessel coming into Morehead City from sea without assistance of a pilot, the wind and weather being such that such assistance or service could not have been reasonably given, shall not be liable for pilotage inward from sea, and shall be at liberty to depart without payment of any pilotage, unless the service of a pilot be secured. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-72. First pilot to speak vessel to get fees.—The first licensed pilot speaking a vessel from a regularly numbered pilot boat of this board shall be entitled to the pilotage fees over Old Topsail Inlet and Beaufort Bar to Morehead City, and out to sea again. Provided, said pilot shall be ready and willing to serve as pilot when the vessel is ready to depart, due notice having been given by the master or agent to said pilot. (1947, c. 748.)

§ 76-73. Vessels entering for harborage exempt.—Any vessel coming in from sea for harbor shall not be required to take a pilot either from sea inward or back to sea. (1947, c. 748.)

ARTICLE 1.

Commissioners for Opening and Clearing Streams.

§ 77-1. County commissioners to appoint commissioners. — Where any inland river or stream runs through the county, or is a line or their county, the boards of commissioners of the several counties may appoint commissioners to view such river or stream, and make out a scale of the expense of labor with which the opening and clearing thereof will be attended; and if the same is deemed within the ability of the county, and to be expedient, they may appoint and authorize the commissioners to proceed in the most expeditious manner in opening and clearing the same. (Code, s. 3706; 1887, c. 370; Rev., s. 5297; C. S., s. 7363.)

Cross Reference. — As to building bridges, see § 136-68 et seq.

§ 77-2. Flats and appurtenances procured. — The board of county commissioners appointing the commissioners may direct them to purchase or hire a flat with a windlass and the appurtenances necessary to remove loose rock and other things, which may by such means be more easily removed, and allow the same to be paid for out of the county funds. (1785, c. 242, s. 2; R. C., c. 100, s. 3; Code, s. 3708; Rev., s. 5299; C. S., s. 7365.)

§ 77-3. Laid off in districts; passage for fish.—The board of county commissioners may appoint commissioners to examine and lay off the rivers and creeks in their county; and where the stream is a boundary between two counties, may lay off the same on their side; in doing so they shall allow three fourths for the owners of the streams for erecting slopes, dams and stands; and one-fourth part, including the deepest part, they shall leave open for the passage of fish, marking and designating the same in the best manner they can; and if mills are built across such stream, and slopes may be necessary, the commissioners shall lay off such slopes, and determine the length of time they shall be kept open; and such commissioners shall return to their respective boards of county commissioners a plan of such slopes, dams, and other parts of streams viewed and surveyed. (1787, c. 272, s. 1; R. C., c. 100, s. 5; Code, s. 3710; Rev., s. 5301; C. S., s. 7367.)

Cross References. — See note to § 77-4. streams, see §§ 113-251 and 113-252. As to As to obstructing passage of fish in erecting artificial islands or lumps in public waters, see § 14-133. As to injuries to dams and water channels of mills and factories, see § 14-142.

§ 77-4. Gates and slopes on milldams.—The commissioners appointed by the board of county commissioners to examine and lay off the rivers and creeks within the county, or where the stream is a boundary between counties, shall have power to lay off gates, with slopes attached thereto, upon any mill-dam built across such stream, of such dimensions and construction as shall be sufficient for the convenient passage of floating logs and other timber, in cases where it may be deemed necessary by the said board of county commissioners; and they shall return to the board of county commissioners appointing them a plan of such gates, slopes, and dams in writing. (1858-9, c. 26, s. 1; Code, s. 3712; Rev., s. 5302; C. S., s. 7368.)

Only Applicable to Floatable Streams. — It would seem that the statute was passed entirely with reference to floatable streams because without condemnation the commissioners would have no right to enter upon and clean out beds of streams which were not natural highways. Commissioners v. Catawba Lumber Co., 116 N. C. 731, 21 S. E. 941 (1895).

Dams Built under Permit. — Authority over streams, conferred upon county commissioners while it stands and is unim-peached by allegations of fraud or other illegal conduct, is a bar to the remedy by injunction. Therefore, a defendant will not be restrained from erecting a dam across a stream, when he is proceeding under the permit and direction of the commissioners. McLaughlin v. Hope Mfg. Co., 103 N. C. 100, 9 S. E. 307 (1889).

Cited in Gwaltney v. Scottish Carolina Timber, etc., Co., 111 N. C. 547, 16 S. E. 692 (1892).

§ 77-5. Owner to maintain gate and slope. — Upon the confirmation of the report made by the commissioners, and notice thereof given to the owner or keeper of said mill, it shall be his duty forthwith to construct, and thereafter to keep and maintain, at his expense, such gate and slope, for the use of persons floating logs and other timber as aforesaid, so long as said dam shall be kept up, or until otherwise ordered by the board of county commissioners. (1858-9, c. 26, s. 2; Code, s. 3713; Rev., s. 5303; C. S., s. 7369.)

§ 77-6. Gates and slopes discontinued.—The commissioners appointed as aforesaid, at any time that they may deem such gate and slope no longer necessary, may report the fact to their respective boards of county commissioners, and said boards of county commissioners may order the same to be discontinued. (1858-9, c. 26, s. 3; Code, s. 3714; Rev., s. 5304; C. S., s. 7370.)

§ 77-7. Failure of owner of dam to keep gates, etc.—If any owner or keeper of a mill, whose dam is across any stream, shall fail to build a gate and slope therein, or thereafter to keep and maintain the same as required by commissioners to lay off rivers and creeks, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1858-9, c. 26, s. 4; Code, s. 3715; Rev., s. 3383; C. S., s. 7371.)

Cited in Letterman v. Mica Co., 249 N. C. 769, 107 S. E. (2d) 753 (1959).

§ 77-8. Repairing breaks. — Wherever any stream of water which is used to propel machinery shall be by feshet or otherwise diverted from its usual channel so as to impair its power as used by any person, such person shall have power to repair the banks of such streams at the place where the break occurs, so as to cause the stream to return to its former channel. (1879, c. 53, s. 1; Code, s. 3716; Rev., s. 5305; C. S., s. 7372.)

§ 77-9. Entry upon lands of another to make repairs.—In case the break occurs on the lands of a different person from the one utilizing the stream, the person utilizing the stream shall have power to enter upon the lands of such other person to repair the same, and in case such person objects, the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the break occurs shall, upon application of the party utilizing the stream, appoint three disinterested freeholders, neither of whom shall be related to either party, who after being duly sworn shall lay off a road, if necessary, by which said person may pass over the lands of such other person to the break and repair said break from time to time as often as may be necessary, so as to cause the stream to return to its original channel, and assess any damage which may thereby be occasioned: Provided, the party upon whose land the work is proposed to be done shall have five days' notice in writing served on him or left at his place of residence: Provided further, that it shall be the duty of said commissioners to assess the damage of anyone on whose land the road shall be laid off to be paid by the applicant for said road: Provided, also, that either party shall have the right of appeal to the superior court. (1879, c. 53, s. 2; Code, s. 3717; Rev., s. 5306; C. S., s. 7373.)

§ 77-10. Draws in bridges.—Whenever the navigation of any river or creek which, in the strict construction of law, might not be considered a navigable stream, shall be obstructed by any bridge across said stream, it shall be lawful for any person owning any boat plying on said stream to make a draw in such bridge sufficient for the passage of such boat; and the party owning such boat shall construct and maintain such draw at his own expense, and shall use the same in such manner as to delay travel as little as possible. (1879, c. 279, ss. 1, 2; Code, s. 3719; Rev., s. 5307; C. S., s. 7374.)

Cited in Staton v. Wimberly, 122 N. C. 107, 29 S. E. 63 (1898).

§ 77-11. Public landings.—The board of county commissioners may establish public landings on any navigable stream or watercourse in the county upon petition in writing. Unless it shall appear to the board that the person owning the lands sought to be used for a public landing shall have had twenty days' notice of the intention to file such petition, the same shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the board until the succeeding meeting of the board, and notice thereof shall be posted during the same period at the courthouse door. At said meeting of the board, the allegations of the petition shall be heard, and if sufficient reason be shown, the board shall order the establishment of the public landing.

The board is authorized to enter upon any land and locate a public landing after service of notice on the landowner that a landing is to be established under the authority of this section. If the board and landowner cannot agree on the damages, if any, the board shall, on the expiration of sixty days from the completion of the landing, cause to be summoned three disinterested freeholders of the county, who shall go upon the land and assess the damages and benefits according to the general law. All damages assessed shall be a county charge. In assessing damages, the jury shall take into consideration any special benefits accruing to the landowner, and if such benefits exceed the damages, the amount of such excess of benefits shall be assessed against the landowner and constitute a lien on the land adjoining the landing, and shall be collected in the same manner as county taxes. The board shall order how the costs shall be paid.

No suit shall be instituted by a landowner for damages for the location of the landing earlier than sixty days, nor later than six months, after the completion of the landing. Either party may appeal to the superior court for the assessment of damages and benefits, where the matter shall be heard de novo by the court and jury. No cost shall be awarded against the county upon appeals when the recovery awarded on appeal is not more favorable to the appellant than the award of the referees. All places heretofore established as public landings shall remain such. (1784, c. 206, s. 4; 1789, c. 303; 1790, c. 331, s. 3; 1793, c. 386; 1813, c. 862, s. 1; 1822, c. 1139, s. 2;

ARTICLE 2.

Obstructions in Streams.

§ 77-12. Obstructing passage of boats.—If any person shall obstruct the free passage of boats along any river or creek, by felling trees, or by any other means whatever, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1796, c. 460, s. 2; R. C., c. 100, s. 6; Code, s. 3711; Rev., s. 3561; C. S., s. 7376.)

Cross Reference.—See note to § 77-13.

Cited in Hutton v. Webb, 124 N. C. 749, 33 S. E. 169 (1899).

§ 77-13. Obstructing streams a misdemeanor. — If any person shall willfully fell any tree, or willfully put any obstruction, except for the purposes of utilizing water as a motive power, in any branch, creek, or other natural passage for water, whereby the natural flow of water through such passage is lessened or retarded, and whereby the navigation of such stream by any raft or flat may be impeded, delayed, or prevented, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not to exceed fifty dollars, or imprisoned not to exceed thirty days. Nothing in this section shall prevent the erection of fish dams or hedges which do not extend across more than two thirds of the width of any stream where erected, but if extending over more than two thirds of the width of any stream, the said penalties shall attach. (1872-3, c. 107, ss. 1, 2; Code, s. 1123; Rev., s. 3559; C. S., s. 7377.)

Compared with Common-Law Offense. —At common law it was an offense to obstruct any navigable stream, but by this section, unless the act is willful and not for the purpose of utilizing the water as a motive power the offense is not indictable. State v. Narrows Island Club, 100 N. C. 477, 5 S. E. 411 (1888); State v. Baum, 128 N. C. 600, 38 S. E. 900 (1901).

“Motive Power” Defined. — Water used in “sluicing” is not used as a “motive power” within the meaning of this section. The section has obvious reference to the use of the energies of water dammed, as a moving force, and not to the operation of the current in motion. State v. Duplin Canal Co., 91 N. C. 637 (1884).

“Or” Construed to Read “And”. — The word “and” between the words “retarded” and “whereby” formerly read “or,” and the court in State v. Pool, 74 N. C. 402 (1876), held that the word “or” should read “and.”

Section Applicable to Navigable Streams. —If a creek is not navigable an obstruction cannot “impede, delay, or prevent” navigation, and so there is no violation of the statute by cutting trees so as to obstruct a nonnavigable stream. State v. Pool, 74 N. C. 402 (1876).

Section Applicable Though Stream Is

Private Property. — The bed of a lake or watercourse may be private property, but if the waters are navigable in their natural state the public have an easement of navigation in them, which easement the owner of the soil cannot obstruct. State v. Narrows Island Club, 100 N. C. 477, 5 S. E. 411 (1888).

Indictment.—The indictment under this section must charge that the obstruction was not “for the purpose of utilizing.” Such a charge is not necessary in an indictment for obstructing waters, at common law. State v. Narrows Island Club, 100 N. C. 477, 5 S. E. 411 (1888).

Railroad Bridges. — A railroad bridge built over a navigable stream if obstructing passage of vessels is a nuisance, and tearing a portion of it down so that vessels may pass is not indictable. State v. Parrott, 71 N. C. 311 (1874).

Action for Damages. — In an action wherein actual damages were claimed, with punitive damages, for damming a navigable stream, made a misdemeanor by this section, it was held that to recover punitive damages it was insufficient to show merely that the stream was obstructed to plaintiff’s damage, it being necessary to prove, in such cases, malice, fraud, wanton or willful disregard of the plaintiff’s rights, or other circumstances of recklessness or aggravation. Warren v. Coharie Lumber Co., 154 N. C. 34, 69 S. E. 685 (1910).

Cited in Gwaltney v. Scottish Carolina Timber, etc., Co., 111 N. C. 547, 16 S. E. 692 (1892).

§ 77-14. Obstructions in streams and drainage ditches. — If any person, firm or corporation shall fell any tree or put any slabs, stumpage, sawdust, shavings, lime, refuse or any other substances in any creek, stream, river or natural or artificial drainage ravine, ditch or other outlet which serves to remove water from any land whatsoever whereby the natural and normal drainage of said land is impeded, delayed or prevented, the person, firm or corporation so offending shall remove such above-described obstruction or substance within seven calendar days and, upon failure to so remove, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court: Provided, however, nothing herein shall prevent the construction of any dam not otherwise prohibited by any valid local or State statute or regulation.

All sheriffs, wildlife protectors, highway patrolmen and township constables, or other persons knowing of such violations, shall report to the board of county commissioners, of the county in which such above-described obstruction of drainage takes place, the names of any persons, firms or corporations violating the provisions of this section, and it shall be the duty of the chairman of the board of county commissioners to report to the county court solicitor, if there is one, and, if not, to the district solicitor, facts and circumstances showing the commission of any offense as defined herein, and it shall be the duty of the solicitor to prosecute such violators. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the counties of Chatham, Forsyth, Franklin, Gaston, Halifax and Lee. (1953, c. 1242; 1957, c. 524; 1959, cc. 160, 1125.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment rewrote and greatly extended the first paragraph and added the second paragraph.

The first 1959 amendment deleted

"Edgecombe" from the list of counties at the end of the section, and the second 1959 amendment substituted in line five the words "any land whatsoever" for the words "farm or agricultural lands."

§ 78-1. Title. — This chapter may be cited and shall be known as the "Securities Law" of the State of North Carolina. (1925, c. 190, s. 1; 1927, c. 149, s. 1; 1943, c. 104, s. 1.)

- I. In General.
- II. Note to § 6363, Consolidated Statutes.
- III. Note to § 6367, Consolidated Statutes.
- IV. Note to § 6372, Consolidated Statutes.

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor's Note. — The 1927 amendment repealed the law of 1925 and substituted new provisions therefor. See Durham Citizens Hotel Corp. v. Dennis, 195 N. C. 420, 142 S. E. 578 (1928).

The 1943 amendment substituted the words "Securities Law" for the words "Capital Issues Law."

The following note includes cases decided under the present statutes—placed under the analysis line "I. In General."—and cases decided under §§ 6363 to 6375, Consolidated Statutes, prior to their repeal by Laws 1925, c. 190 and Laws 1927, c. 149, s. 26—placed under appropriate analysis lines. Said §§ 6363 to 6375 pertained to similar subject matter, and it is believed the decisions construing those provisions will be of value in considering the present chapter.

An article discussing the history of blue sky laws and summarizing the various statutes will be found in 3 N. C. Law Rev. 150 et seq. The North Carolina cases are also discussed.

Chapter Is within Police Power. — The regulation of the sale of securities for the protection of the public is within the police power of the State. State v. Allen, 216 N. C. 621, 5 S. E. (2d) 844 (1939).

Application of Chapter. — This chapter applies where money is invested in stock, securities, profit-sharing agreements, etc., with the purpose of securing an income from the employment of the money, and a contract whereby the owner of a copyright system gives the exclusive right to another to operate the system in certain counties, and in return is to receive a percentage of the gross receipts from the operation of the system, with further provision for a division of net profit from sales or contracts written by either party, does not contemplate the placing of money in a way to secure an income from its employment, but the earning of a portion of the gross receipts in return for individual services, and the agreement is not a profit-sharing scheme or investment contract within the intent and meaning of the statute. State v. Heath, 199 N. C. 135, 153 S. E. 855 (1930).

II. NOTE TO § 6363, CONSOLIDATED STATUTES.

Constitutionality. — It is within the police power of the State to pass a statute for the protection of its citizens against the sale to them of worthless shares of stock in speculative companies in the exercise of a power in the State reserved from that grant to the federal government, and such a statute does not contravene either the State or federal Constitution. State v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 191 N. C. 634, 132 S. E. 792 (1926).

The purpose of "Blue Sky Laws" is to protect the general public from "wildcat" organizers, promoters and their agents, whether foreign or domestic, preying upon an unsuspecting and confiding public by selling "blue sky stock," without obtaining license and giving bond. State v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 191 N. C. 634, 132 S. E. 792 (1926).

The object of the "Blue Sky Laws" is not only to keep worthless stock off the market but to make actual values and par values correspond. Thus, if the par value of a share of stock is one hundred dollars, the part of the assets of the corporation represented by a share of stock must be worth one hundred dollars. 1 N. C. Law Rev. 27.

Scope of Section.—A corporation was an "investment company" offering to the public an investment in lands and fig orchards in Georgia. It was also offering the "obligation of said corporation" to cultivate said land, and giving its contract to make title in compliance with certain terms; and, lastly, it was offering for sale "evidences of property." Under all three of these provisions it was within the scope of § 6363. State v. Agey, 171 N. C. 831, 88 S. E. 726 (1916).

Limitations of Suit.—Contracts of indemnity against loss, or surety bonds, for the faithful performance of a building contract were regarded in the nature of contracts of insurance coming under the provisions of § 6363 and any conflicting restriction in such a contract as to the time of bringing an action to recover damages for the breach of the contract was void. Guilford Lumber Mfg. Co. v. Johnson, 177 N. C. 44, 97 S. E. 732 (1919).

Process and Service.—Section 6363 did not require service of process upon the Insurance Commissioner, in cases of bonding companies, although licensed by the Insurance Commissioner; service on a local agent was sufficient. Pardue v. Absher, 174 N. C. 676, 94 S. E. 414 (1917).

Agent's Liability for Violation.—The failure or refusal of the corporation to comply with the requirements of our statutes to obtain a license made the defendant, its agent, guilty of the offense charged. State v. Agey, 171 N. C. 831, 88 S. E. 726 (1916).

One who sold certificates of shares of stock in a corporation upon a commission basis without having obtained a license to do so came within the inhibition of § 6363, though the sale might have been effected by another acting through such solicitor without compensation. Burlington Hotel Corp. v. Bell, 192 N. C. 620, 135 S. E. 616 (1926).

Enforcement of Contract.—Where a subscription contract for purchase of shares of stock in a corporation was procured by one who had not obtained a license from the Commissioner of Insurance, the contract was not enforceable against the subscriber. Burlington Hotel Corp. v. Bell, 192 N. C. 620, 135 S. E. 616 (1926).

Contract to Be Performed in Another State.—Where a foreign corporation had issued a bond indemnifying a North Carolina concern against loss under a contract with an agency, located in another state, established to collect moneys, etc., for insurance premiums, which bond was delivered to the agent to be sent to the indemnified here for approval and acceptance, the contract of indemnity was to be construed and enforced in accordance with our own laws. Dixie Fire Ins. Co. v. American Bonding Co., 162 N. C. 384, 78 S. E. 430 (1913).

Domestic Corporations. — Section 6363 applied to sales of stock in a domestic corporation as well as a foreign one, irrespective of whether the same was either fraudulently procured or fell within the intent and meaning of the "Blue Sky Law." Burlington Hotel Corp. v. Bell, 192 N. C. 620, 135 S. E. 616 (1926).

Notes given for the purchase of shares of stock in a corporation being organized were not void for noncompliance with the provisions of §§ 6363 and 6367, when the shares were not put upon the market by agents, or commissions paid to anyone for procuring subscriptions thereto. Durham Citizens Hotel Corp. v. Dennis, 195 N. C. 420, 142 S. E. 578 (1928), citing and distinguishing Burlington Hotel Corporation v. Bell, 192 N. C. 620, 135 S. E. 616 (1926).

Cited in Hotel Corporation v. Dixon, 196 N. C. 265, 145 S. E. 244 (1928).

III. NOTE TO § 6367, CONSOLIDATED STATUTES.

Fraudulent Representations. — If the agent selling the stock represented to the plaintiff that certain parties would devote their time to the business, and that the statute had been complied with, and that the stock would not be sold below a certain price, such representation if false within the knowledge of the defendant constituted actionable fraud. McNair v. Southern States Finance Co., 191 N. C. 710, 133 S. E. 85 (1926).

Knowledge of the Plaintiff. — When plaintiff did not know, and was not in a position to know of the falsity of the representations as made to him the parties would not be considered in pari delicto.

McNair v. Southern States Finance Co., 191 N. C. 710, 133 S. E. 85 (1926).

Recovery of Damages.—A purchaser of shares of stock could recover damages upon the false representations of the seller that all of the provisions of the blue sky law, § 6367, had been complied with, with the burden of proof on the purchaser, the plaintiff in the action, to show his damages arising therefrom. McNair v. Southern States Finance Co., 191 N. C. 710, 133 S. E. 85 (1926).

Domestic Corporations.—The law was at first applied only to foreign corporations, but by Laws 1919, c. 121, it was made to apply as well to domestic corporations. The law appeared in toto in §§ 6363-6375, and the provision which in itself was known as the "Blue Sky Law," was § 6367. 3 N. C. Law Rev. 151.

The requirements of § 6367 as to soliciting the purpose of shares of stock in a certain corporation in accordance with certain conditions applied by statutory amendment of 1919 not only to corporations formed in other states, but also to domestic corporations. Seminole Phosphate Co. v. Johnson, 188 N. C. 419, 124 S. E. 859 (1924). See also Burlington Hotel Corp. v. Bell, 192 N. C. 620, 135 S. E. 616 (1926).

Notes Given for Stock.—Where a negotiable note was given for shares of stock in a corporation, solicited in violation of the blue sky law, the note was voidable against a holder who had acquired it with notice of the illegality or fraud in the procurement of the instrument. Planters Bank, etc., Co. v. Felton, 188 N. C. 384, 124 S. E. 849 (1924).

IV. NOTE TO § 6372, CONSOLIDATED STATUTES.

Liability for Principal's Act.—The State has a right to require evidence of good faith, of assets, and of responsibility from nonresidence parties offering to sell our people "investments" or "evidences of property" on contracts. An agent of a company who fails to do this, in defiance of our laws, is properly found guilty. State v. Agey, 171 N. C. 831, 88 S. E. 726 (1916).

§ 78-2. Definitions.—(a) Intangible Assets. — The term "intangible assets" shall mean and include patents, formulae, good will, promotions, trade brands, franchises, evidences of indebtedness or corporate securities, titles or rights in and to intangible property, and all other like assets.

(b) Issuer.—The term "issuer" shall include every person who proposes to issue or who issues or who has issued or shall hereafter issue any security (sold or to be sold, offered or to be offered for sale).

(c) Mortgage.—"Mortgage" shall be deemed to include a deed of trust to secure a debt.

(d) Offer to Sell, etc.—"Offer to sell" or "offer for sale" shall mean every attempt or offer to dispose of, or solicitation of an order or offer to buy, a security or interest in a security for value. Every sale or offer for sale of a warrant or right to subscribe to another security of the same issuer or another issuer, and every sale or offer for sale of a security which gives the holder thereof a present or future right or privilege to convert such security into another security of the same issuer or of another issuer, shall be deemed an offer to sell the security to be acquired by such subscription or conversion.

(e) Person.—The term "person" shall mean and include a natural person, firm, partnership, association, syndicate, joint-stock company, unincorporated company or organization, trust, incorporated or unincorporated, and any corporation organized under the laws of the District of Columbia, or of any state or territory of the United States, or of any foreign government. As used herein, the term "trust" shall be deemed to include a common-law trust, but shall not include a trust created or appointed under or by virtue of a last will and testament or by a court of law or equity.

(f) Sale, etc.—"Sale" or "sell" shall mean every sale or other disposition of a security or interest in a security for value, and every contract to make any such sale or disposition. Any security given or delivered with, or as a bonus on account of, any purchase of securities or any other thing, shall be conclusively presumed to constitute a part of the subject of such purchase and to have been sold for value.

(g) Securities, etc. — The term "securities" or "security" shall include any note, stock certificate, stock, treasury stock, bond, debenture, whiskey warehouse receipt, evidence of indebtedness, transferable certificate of interest or participation, certificate of interest in a profit-sharing agreement, any instrument representing any interest or right in or under any oil, gas or mining lease, fee or title, or rights or interests in land from which petroleum or minerals are, or are intended to be produced, certificate of interest in an oil, gas or mining lease, collateral trust certificate, any transferable share, investment contract, or beneficial interest in or title to property or profits or any contract or agreement in the promotion of a plan or scheme whereby one party undertakes to purchase the increase or production of the other party from the article or thing sold under the plan or scheme, or whereby one party is to receive the profits arising from the increase or production of the article or thing sold under the plan or scheme, or any other instrument commonly known as security.

(h) Tangible Assets.—"Tangible assets" shall mean all assets other than intangible assets, as above defined. (1925, c. 190, s. 2; 1927, c. 149, s. 2; 1933, c. 432; 1943, c. 104, ss. 2, 3; 1955, c. 436, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The enforcement and administration of this chapter was formerly intrusted, under Laws 1925, c. 190, s. 2, and Laws 1927, c. 149, s. 2, to a member of the Corporation Commission, to be designated by the Governor. With the abolition of the Corporation Commission and the creation of the office of Utilities Commissioner, the administration of the chapter was transferred to that officer. See Laws 1933, c. 134, s. 8. However, Laws 1937, c. 194, provided for the transfer of the powers, duties, functions, and authority of the Utilities Commissioner with reference to the Capital Issues Law to the Secretary of State, who now administers this chapter.

The 1943 amendment inserted in subsection (g) the words "whiskey warehouse receipt." It also inserted in said subsection the words "any instrument representing any interest or right in or under any oil, gas or mining lease, fee or title, or rights or interests in land from which petroleum or minerals are, or are intended to be produced."

The 1955 amendment rewrote subsection (f).

Value of Property Does Not Affect Definition as a Security.—In a prosecution for violation of the Capital Issues Law the fact that the property sold is of little value is irrelevant to the question of whether the property is a security as defined by the statute. State v. Allen, 216 N. C. 621, 5 S. E. (2d) 844 (1939).

Certificate of Interest in Oil, etc., Lease.—Before the passage of the 1943 amendment to this section, it was held that an oil lease which by its terms amounted to a conveyance of real estate was not a certificate of interest in an oil, gas or mining lease or any other security as that term was defined in this section. State v. Allen, 216 N. C. 621, 5 S. E. (2d) 844 (1939).

Cited in State v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 243 N. C. 46, 89 S. E. (2d) 802 (1955).

§ 78-3. Exempted securities.—Except as hereinafter provided, the provisions of this chapter shall not apply to any security which, at the time of sale thereof, is within any of the following classes of securities:

- (1) Any security issued or guaranteed by the United States or by any territory or insular possession thereof, or by the District of Columbia, or by any state or municipal corporation or political subdivision or agency thereof.
- (2) Any security issued or guaranteed by any foreign government, or by any state, province or political subdivision thereof, having the power of taxation or assessment, with which the United States is maintaining diplomatic relations and which security is recognized at the time it is offered for sale in this State as a valid obligation for its face value by such foreign government, or by the State, province or political subdivision thereof issuing same.
- (3) Any security issued by a national bank, or by any federal land bank, or joint-stock land bank, or national farm loan association under the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act of July seventeen, nineteen hundred and sixteen, or any amendments thereof, or by the War

Finance Corporation, or by any corporation created or acting as an instrumentality of the government of the United States pursuant to authority granted by the Congress of the United States, provided, that such corporation is subject to supervision of regulation by the government of the United States.

- (4) Any security issued or guaranteed as to principal, interest or dividend, by a corporation, domestic, or foreign, owning or operating a railroad, or any other public service utility: Provided, that such corporation is subject to regulation or supervision, either as to its rates and charges or as to the issue of its own securities by a public commission, board or officer, or by any governmental, legislative or regulatory body of this State, or of the United States, or of any state, territory or insular possession thereof, or of the District of Columbia, or of the Dominion of Canada, or any province thereof; also equipment securities based on chattel mortgages, leases or agreements for conditional sale of cars, motive power or other rolling stock or equipment mortgaged, leased or sold to or furnished for the use of or upon a railroad or other public service utility corporation, or equipment securities where the ownership or title of such equipment is pledged or retained in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the United States, or of any state, or of the Dominion of Canada, to secure the payment of such equipment securities; also bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness issued by a holding corporation and secured by collateral consisting of any of the securities hereinabove in this subdivision (4) described: Provided, that such collateral securities equal in fair value at least one hundred and twenty-five (125%) per cent of the par value of the bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness, so secured.
- (5) Securities appearing in any list of securities dealt in on any organized stock exchange having an established meeting place in a city of over five hundred thousand population according to the last preceding United States census and providing facilities for the use of its members in the purchase and sale of securities listed by such exchange and on which exchange actual transactions have accrued during each of the preceding twenty years in the purchase and sale of United States bonds, or other bonds of any of the classes exempted herein from the provisions of this chapter, and which require financial statements to be submitted at the time of listing and annually thereafter; or on any other recognized and responsible stock exchange which has been previously investigated and approved by the Secretary of State and which securities have been so listed pursuant to official authorization by such exchange, and also all securities senior to any securities so listed, or represented by subscription rights which have been so listed; or evidences of indebtedness guaranteed by companies any stock of which is so listed, if the company whose securities are guaranteed is a subsidiary of the guaranteeing company and controlled by lease or ownership of stock, such securities to be exempt only so long as such listing shall remain in effect: Provided, however, that the Secretary of State upon 10 days' notice and hearing may at any time withdraw his approval of any such stock exchange; and provided further, that the Secretary of State may at any time withdraw his approval of any security so listed on any stock exchange in a city of five hundred thousand population as above defined, or any other approved stock exchange, and thereafter such security shall not be entitled to the benefit of this exemption, except upon further order of the Secretary of State.

- (6) Any security issued by, and representing an interest in, or a direct contract obligation of a bank, trust company or savings institution, which bank, trust company or savings institution is incorporated under the laws of, and subject to the examination, supervision and control of the United States, or of any state or territory of the United States, or of any insular possession thereof: Provided, this section shall not apply to any security based upon mortgages on real estate nor to saving institutions and trust companies not approved by the Commissioner of Banks of the State of North Carolina.
- (7) Negotiable promissory notes or commercial paper if such issue of negotiable notes or commercial paper mature in not more than fifteen months from the date of issue and shall be issued within three months after date of sale.
- (8) Securities issued by building and loan associations incorporated under the laws of the State of North Carolina.
- (9) Securities issued by insurance companies in North Carolina, subject to State supervision.
- (10) Securities issued by any corporation organized not for pecuniary profit or organized exclusively for educational, benevolent, fraternal, charitable or reformatory purposes.
- (11) Securities evidencing indebtedness due under any contract made in pursuance to the provisions of any statute of any state of the United States providing for the acquisition of personal property under conditional sale contract.
- (12) Bonds or notes secured by lien on vessels shown by policies of marine insurance taken out in responsible companies to be of value, after deducting any and all other indebtedness secured by prior lien, of not less than one hundred and twenty-five (125%) per cent of the par amount of such bonds or notes.
- (13) Any security other than common stock outstanding and in the hands of the public for a period of not less than five years upon which no default in payment of principal, interest or dividend exists and upon which no such default has occurred for a continuous immediately preceding period of five years.
- (14) Any security which, under the laws of this State, is a legal investment for savings banks of trust funds.
- (15) Securities issued by a domestic corporation, partnership, association, company, syndicate or trust owning a property, business or industry which has been in continuous operation for not less than three years prior thereto, and which has shown during a period of not less than two years nor more than five years prior to the close of its last fiscal year preceding the offering of such securities average annual net earnings, after deducting all prior charges, not including the charges or prior securities to be retired out of the proceeds of such sale, as follows:
 - a. In the case of interest bearing securities, not less than one and one-half times the annual interest charges thereon and upon all other outstanding interest-bearing obligations of equal rank.
 - b. In the case of preferred stock not less than one and one-half times the annual dividend requirements on the total of the proposed issue of such preferred stock and on all other outstanding stock of equal rank.
 - c. In the case of common stock with par value not less than six per cent upon all outstanding common stock of equal rank, or in the case of common stock without par value, not less than six per cent upon the amount charged to capital by reason of the issuance thereof: Provided, the tangible assets of such corporation, partnership, association, company, syndicate, or trust (not including any intangible assets), together with the proceeds of the sale of such securities accruing to the issuer, shall equal or exceed:

1. In the case of evidence of indebtedness, one hundred twenty-five per centum of the par value of such evidence of indebtedness, and all other obligations of equal rank then outstanding and not to be retired out of the proceeds of the sale of such evidence of indebtedness.
2. In the case of preferred stock one hundred twenty-five per centum of the par value of the aggregate amount of all outstanding preferred stock of equal and prior rank and the stock then offered for sale, after the deduction from such assets of all indebtedness which will be existing and of the par value of all stock of senior rank which will be outstanding after the application of the proceeds of the preferred stock offered for sale.
3. In the case of common stock one hundred per centum of the aggregate of all outstanding stock of equal rank and the stock then offered for sale, reckoned at the price at which such stock is offered for sale or sold after the deduction from such assets of all indebtedness which will be existing and of the par value of all stock of senior rank which will be outstanding after the application of the proceeds of the common stock offered for sale: Provided, however, that in the case of preferred or common stock, without par value, computation hereunder shall be made upon the basis of the amount charged to capital by reason of the issuance thereof, instead of upon the basis of par value. § 78-4. Transactions exempted from operation of this chapter. — Except as hereinafter provided, the provisions of this chapter shall not apply to the sale or the offering for sale of any security in any of the following transactions, viz.:

- (1) At any judicial, executor's, administrator's, or guardian's sale, or at any sale by a receiver or trustee in insolvency or bankruptcy.
- (2) By or for the account of any pledgeholder or mortgagee selling or offering for sale, in the ordinary course of business, to liquidate a bona fide debt, a security pledge in good faith as security for such debt.
- (3) In an isolated transaction in which any security is sold or offered for sale by the owner thereof, or by his representative for the owner's account in the usual and ordinary course of business and not for the direct or indirect promotion of any scheme or enterprise within the purview of this chapter, and when such sale or offer for sale is not made in the course of repeated and successive transactions of a like character by such owner or on his account by the representative of such owner, and neither such owner nor his representative is the maker or issuer or underwriter of such security.
- (4) The sale of, or offer to sell such security to any bank, savings institution, trust company, insurance company, or to any corporation.

- (5) The distribution by a corporation of capital stock, bonds or other securities to its stockholders or other security holders as a stock dividend or other distribution out of earnings or surplus; or the issue of securities by a corporation to security holders or creditors of such corporation in the process of a bona fide reorganization of such corporation made in good faith either in exchange for either or both the securities of such security holders or claims of such creditors, or partly for cash and partly in exchange for the securities or claims of such security holders or creditors; or the sale or exchange by an issuer of its securities to or with its own security holders (including holders of transferable rights with respect to such securities) if no commission or other remuneration is paid or given for soliciting or effecting the sale or exchange to security holders other than commission or compensation paid or given for an undertaking to purchase any of such securities not purchased by such security holders.
- (6) The transfer or exchange by or on account of one corporation to another corporation or to its stockholders of their or its own securities in connection with a proposed consolidation or merger of such corporations, or in connection with the change of par value of stock to non par value stock or the exchange of outstanding shares for a greater or smaller number of shares; the transfer or exchange by or on the account of one corporation of its own securities to the holders of the securities of another corporation, partnership, trust, person, firm or association, in any plan of distribution or exchange providing for the assumption or acquisition by the issuing corporation of the securities for which its own securities are issued or are to be issued, where the plan of distribution or exchange is contained in a registration statement which has been filed for more than twenty days with the securities and exchange commission of the United States government or like agency of the United States government, charged with the registration of securities.
- (7) Subscriptions for shares or sales or negotiations for sales of shares of the capital stock in domestic corporations, provided that (i) such shares are not offered to more than twenty-five persons in this State and (ii) no expense is incurred, and no commission, compensation or remuneration is paid or given for, or in connection with, the sale or disposition of such securities.
- (8) The issue and delivery of any security in exchange for any other security of the same issuer pursuant to a right of conversion entitling the holder of the security exchanged to make such conversion: Provided, that the security exchanged has been registered by notification under the law or was when sold exempt from the provisions of the law and that the security received in exchange if sold at the conversion price would at the time of such conversion fall within the class of securities entitled to registration by notification under the law. Upon such conversion the par value of the security surrendered in such exchange shall be deemed the price at which the securities received in such exchange are sold.
- (9) Subscriptions for shares of the capital stock of a corporation prior to the incorporation thereof, when no expense is incurred, and no commission, compensation or remuneration is paid or given for, or in connection with, the sale or disposition of such securities.
- (10) The sale of securities to a registered dealer.
- (11) Bonds or notes secured by mortgage upon real estate where the entire mortgage together with all of the bonds or notes secured thereby are sold to a single purchaser at a single sale.

(12) The sale by a registered dealer, acting either as principal or agent, of securities theretofore sold and distributed to the public; provided that:

- a. Such securities are sold at prices reasonably related to the current market price thereof at the time of sale and, if such dealer is acting as agent, the commission collected by such dealer on account of the sale thereof is not in excess of usual and customary commissions collected with respect to securities and transactions having comparable characteristics;
- b. Such securities do not constitute the whole or a part of an unsold allotment to or subscription or participation by such dealer as an underwriter of such securities or as a participant in the distribution of such securities by the issuer, by an underwriter or by any person or group of persons owning beneficially one-fourth or more of all outstanding securities of the class being distributed; and
- c. Information as to the issuer of such securities is published in a recognized manual of securities, such information to include at least the names of the officers of such issuer, a balance sheet of such issuer as of a date not more than 18 months prior to the date of such sale, and an income account of such issuer for a period of not less than two years next prior to the date of the balance sheet or for the period prior to the date of the latest balance sheet if the issuer has been in existence for less than two years.

If the Secretary of State finds that the sale of certain securities in this State would work or tend to work a fraud on purchasers thereof, he may revoke the exemption provided by this subdivision (12) with respect to such securities by issuing an order to that effect and sending copies of such order to all registered dealers.

(13) The offer or sale by a domestic corporation of securities issued by such corporation (i) organized for the purpose of promoting community agricultural or industrial development of the area in which its principal office is located and (ii) approved by resolution of the county commissioners of the county in which its principal office is located, and if located in a municipality or within two miles of the boundaries thereof, by resolution of the governing body of such municipality, and (iii) no commissions or other remuneration is paid or given for or in connection with the sale or other disposition of such securities. (1925, c. 190, s. 4; 1927, c. 149, s. 4; 1935, cc. 90, 154; 1955, c. 436, s. 3; 1959, c. 1185.)

Editor's Note.—The 1935 amendments added the part of subdivision (6) appearing after the semicolon in line six. The 1959 amendment added subdivision (13).

The 1955 amendment rewrote the latter part of subdivision (5), made changes in subdivision (7) and added subdivision (12). The 1959 amendment added subdivision (13).

§ 78-5. Burden of proof as to such transactions.—It shall not be necessary to negative any of the aforesaid exemptions in any complaint, information, indictment or proceeding laid or brought under this chapter in either a court of law or equity, or before the Secretary of State, in either a civil or a criminal action or suit. The sale, unless the transaction is exempted from the operation of this chapter, of any security not exempt from the provisions of this chapter as hereinbefore provided and not admitted to the record and recorded as hereinafter provided, shall be prima facie evidence of the violation of this chapter and the burden of proof of any such exemption shall be upon the party claiming the benefit thereof. (1925, c. 190, s. 5; 1927, c. 149, s. 5.)

§ 78-6. Registration of securities. — No securities except of a class exempt under any of the provisions of § 78-3 or unless sold in any transaction exempt under any of the provisions of § 78-4 shall be offered for sale or sold within this State unless such securities shall have been registered by notification or by qualification as hereinafter defined, except that it shall be permissible for registered dealers and salesmen to offer securities for sale in this State prior to registration of those securities under this article if a registration statement for those securities shall have been filed under the Federal Securities Act of 1933 and a copy of the preliminary prospectus filed under the Federal Act shall have been filed with the Secretary of State. Registration of stock shall be deemed to include the registration of rights to subscribe to such stock if the notice under § 78-7 or the application under § 78-8 for registration of such stock includes a statement that such rights are to be issued. (1925, c. 190, s. 6; 1927, c. 149, s. 6; 1955, c. 436, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment inserted in line three the words “offered for sale or” and added the exception clause at the end of the first sentence.

§ 78-7. Advertisement of securities. — It shall be unlawful hereafter:

- (1) To advertise in this State, through or by means of any prospectus, circular, price list, letter, order blank, newspaper, periodical or otherwise, or
- (2) To circulate or publish any newspaper, periodical or either written or printed matter in which any advertisement in this section specified shall appear, or
- (3) To circulate any prospectus, price list, order blanks, or other matter for the purpose of inducing or securing any subscriptions to or sale of any security or securities not exempted under any of the provisions of § 78-3, and not sold or to be sold in one of the transactions exempted under the provisions of § 78-4 and except as provided in § 78-8, unless and until the requirements of § 78-6 have been fully complied with and such advertising matter has been filed with the Secretary of State, except that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any securities for which a registration statement shall have been filed under the Federal Securities Act of 1933 if a copy of the preliminary prospectus filed under the Federal Act shall have been filed with the Secretary of State. (1925, c. 190, s. 7; 1927, c. 149, s. 7; 1955, c. 436, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment struck out the words “and approved by the Secretary of State” formerly appearing at the end of subdivision (3) and substituted therefor the part of the subdivision beginning with the words “with the Secretary of State” in lines seven and eight.

§ 78-8. Registration by notification.—(a) The following classes of securities shall be entitled to registration by notification in the manner provided in this section:

- (1) Securities issued by a corporation, partnership, association, company, syndicate or trust owning a property, business or industry which has been in continuous operation not less than three years, and which has shown during a period of not less than two years, nor more than five years, next prior to the close of its last fiscal year preceding the offering of such securities, average annual net earnings, after deducting all prior charges not including the charges upon securities to be retired out of the proceeds of sale, as follows:
 - a. In the case of interest bearing securities, not less than one and one-half times the annual interest charge thereon and upon all other outstanding interest bearing obligations of equal rank.
 - b. In the case of preferred stock not less than one and one-half times the annual dividend requirements on such preferred stock and on all other outstanding stock of equal rank.

- c. In the case of common stock not less than five per centum upon all outstanding common stock of equal rank, together with the amount of common stock then offered for sale reckoned upon the price at which such stock is then offered for sale or sold. The ownership by a corporation, partnership, association, company, syndicate or trust of more than 50 per cent of the outstanding voting stock of a corporation shall be construed as the proportionate ownership of the property, business or industry of such corporation, and shall permit the inclusion of the earnings of such corporation, applicable to the payment of dividends upon the stock so owned in the earnings of the corporation, partnership, association, company, syndicate, or trust issuing the securities sought to be registered by notification.
- (2) Any bond or notes secured by a first mortgage upon agricultural lands used and valuable for agricultural purposes (not including oil, gas or mining property or leases), or upon city, town or village real estate situated in any state or territory of the United States or in the District of Columbia or in the Dominion of Canada as follows:
- a. When the mortgage is a first mortgage upon such agricultural lands, used and valuable for agricultural purposes, and when the aggregate face value of such bonds or notes, not including interest notes, or coupons secured thereby, does not exceed 60 per centum of the then fair market value of said lands plus 60 per centum of the insured value of any improvements thereon; or,
 - b. When the mortgage is a first mortgage upon city, town or village real estate and when the aggregate face value of such bonds or notes, not including interest notes or coupons, secured by such real estate or leaseholds does not exceed 60 per centum of the then fair market value of said mortgaged real estate or leaseholds, respectively, including any improvements appurtenant thereto, and when said mortgaged property is used principally to produce through rental a net annual income, after deducting operating expenses and taxes, or has a fair rental value, after deducting operating expenses and taxes, at least equal to the annual interest, plus not less than 3 per centum of the principal of said mortgage indebtedness.
- (3) Bonds or notes secured by first lien on collateral pledged as security for such bonds or notes with a bank or trust company as trustee, which bank or trust company is incorporated under the laws of and subject to examination and supervision by the United States or by a state of the United States, which collateral shall consist of
- a. A principal amount of first mortgage bonds or notes conforming to the requirements of any one or more of the provisions of subdivision (2) of subsection (a) of this section and/or
 - b. A principal amount of obligations secured as hereinafter in this subdivision provided, and/or
 - c. A principal amount of obligations of the United States, and/or
 - d. Cash, equal to not less than 100 per cent of the aggregate principal amount of all bonds or notes secured thereby.

The portion of such collateral referred to in paragraph b shall consist of obligations secured by a first lien on a principal amount of first mortgage bonds or notes conforming to the requirements of subdivision (2) of subsection (a) of this section, and/or a principal amount of obligations of the United States and/or cash equal to not less than 100 per cent of the aggregate principal amount of such obligations so secured thereby, and all such pledged securities including cash so securing such obligations shall have been deposited with a bank or trust company as trustee, which bank or trust company is incorporated under the laws of and subject to examination and supervision by the United States or by a state of the United States.

- (4) In addition to securities entitled to registration by notification under subdivisions (1), (2), or (3) of subsection (a), the Secretary of State may, in his discretion, accept for registration by notification securities registered under the Federal Securities Act of 1933, except securities issued by a person registered under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940, if he is of the opinion, after examining a copy of the preliminary prospectus for such securities filed with him and considering other showing, that such securities are not entitled to registration under either of the foregoing subdivisions (1), (2) and (3) but would not work or tend to work a fraud on the purchasers thereof and that registration by notification should be permitted so as to make dealers in North Carolina eligible for participation in issues qualified in other jurisdictions for wide distribution.

(b) Securities entitled to registration by notification shall be registered by the filing by the issuer or by any registered dealer interested in the sale thereof in the office of the Secretary of State of a statement with respect to such securities containing the following:

- (1) Name of issuer.
- (2) A brief description of the security including amount of the issue.
- (3) Amount of securities to be offered in the State.
- (4) A brief statement of the facts which show that the security falls within one of the classes in this section defined.
- (5) The price at which the securities are to be offered for sale.

In the case of securities falling within the classes defined by subdivisions (1) and (4) of subsection (a), if the circular to be used for the public offering is not filed with the statement, then a copy of such circular shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State within two days thereafter, or within such further time as the Secretary of State shall allow (in the case of securities registered under the Federal Securities Act of 1933, the circular filed in the office of the Secretary of State shall be the final prospectus under the Federal Act).

In the case of securities falling within the classes defined by subdivisions (2) and (3) of subsection (a) the circular to be used for the public offering shall be filed with the statement.

The filing of such statement in the office of the Secretary of State and the payment of the fee hereinafter provided shall constitute the registration of such security. Upon such registration, such securities equal to the amount so registered by notification may be sold in this State by any registered dealer subject, however, to the further order of the Secretary of State as hereinafter provided.

If, at any time, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, the information contained in the statement or circular filed is misleading, incorrect, inadequate, or incomplete, or the sale or offering for sale of the security may work or tend to work a fraud or, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, be contrary to good business practices, the Secretary of State may require from the person filing such statement such further information as may, in his judgment, be necessary to establish the classification of such security as claimed in said statement, or to enable the Secretary of State to ascertain whether the sale of such security would be fraudulent, or would result in fraud, and the Secretary of State may also suspend the right to sell such security pending further investigation by entering an order specifying the grounds for such action, and by notifying personally by mail, telephone or telegraph the person filing such statement and every registered dealer who shall have notified the Secretary of State of an intention to sell such security. The refusal to furnish information required by the Secretary of State, within a reasonable time to be fixed by the Secretary of State, may be a proper ground for the entry of such order of suspension. Upon the entry of any such order of suspension no further sales of such security shall be made until the further order of the Secretary of State, unless the person to be affected by such order shall file with the Secretary of State a bond in a penalty to be fixed by him in some solvent surety company licensed in the State of North Carolina, to pay all such damages as might be sustained by any purchaser of such security, which bond shall be made payable to the State of North Carolina and sued upon by any person damaged by such sale.

In the event of the entry of such order of suspension the Secretary of State shall upon request give a prompt hearing to the parties interested. If no hearing is requested within a period of twenty (20) days from the entry of such order, or if upon such hearing the Secretary of State shall determine that any such security does not fall within a class entitled to registration under this section, or that the sale thereof would be fraudulent or would result in fraud or the continued sale of the same, is in his opinion contrary to good business practices, he shall enter a final order prohibiting sales of such security, with his findings with respect thereto: Provided, that if the finding with respect to such security is that it is not entitled to registration under this section, the applicant may apply for registration by qualification by complying with the requirements of § 78-9. Appeals from such final order may be taken as hereinafter provided. If, however, upon such hearing, the Secretary of State shall find that the security is entitled to registration under this section, and that its sale will neither be fraudulent nor result in fraud, or that the continued sale thereof is not contrary to good business practices, he shall forthwith enter an order revoking such order of suspension and such security shall be restored to its status as a security registered under this section, as of the date of such order of suspension.

At the time of filing the statement, as hereinbefore prescribed in this section, the applicant shall pay to the Secretary of State a filing fee of ten dollars and a fee of one-twentieth of one per cent of the aggregate offering price of the securities to be sold in this State for which the applicant is seeking registration, but in no case shall such latter fee be less than twenty-five dollars, and not exceeding two hundred dollars. In the case of stock having no par value, the price at which such stock is to be offered to the public shall be deemed to be the par value of such stock. (1927, c. 149, s. 8; 1955, c. 436, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment inserted subdivision (4) of subsection (a). In the sixth paragraph from the end of the section the amendment changed the word "class" to "classes," inserted the reference to subdivision (4) and added the words in parentheses at the end of the paragraph. The amendment changed the fourth paragraph from the end of the section by deleting the words "by giving notice in the manner hereinafter provided in § 78-19" which formerly appeared after the word "dealer" in the second sentence. The amendment also changed the first sentence of the last paragraph by substituting "offering price" for "par value" and "two hundred dollars" for "one hundred and fifty dollars."

§ 78-9. Registration by qualification.—All securities required by this chapter to be registered before being sold in this State, and not entitled to registration by notification, shall be registered only by qualification in the manner provided by this section.

The Secretary of State shall receive and act upon applications to have securities registered by qualification and may prescribe forms on which he may require such applications to be submitted. Applications shall be in writing and shall be duly signed by the applicant and sworn to by a proper person, and filed in the office of the Secretary of State and may be made either by the issuer of the securities for which registration is applied or by any registered dealer desiring to sell the same within this State.

The Secretary of State may require the applicant to submit to the Secretary of State the following information respecting the issuer and such other information as he may, in his judgment, deem necessary to enable him to ascertain whether such securities shall be registered pursuant to the provisions of this section:

- (1) The names and addresses of directors, trustees and officers, if the issuer be a corporation or association or trust organized or existing under the common law (as hereinbefore defined), of all partners, if the issuer be a partnership, and of the issuer if the issuer be an individual.
- (2) The location of the issuer's principal business office and of its principal office in this State, if any, and if not, the name of its process officer within this State.
- (3) The purposes of incorporation, (if incorporated) and the general character of the business actually to be transacted by the issuer, and the purpose of the proposed issue.
- (4) A statement of the capitalization of the issuer; a balance sheet showing the amount and general character of its assets and liabilities on a day not more than sixty (60) days prior to the date of filing such balance sheet; a detailed statement of the plan upon which the issuer proposes to transact business; a copy of the security for the registration of which application is made; and a copy of all circulars, prospectuses, advertisements or other descriptions of such securities then prepared by or for such issuer, and/or by or for such applicant (if the applicant shall not be the issuer) to be used for distribution or publication in this State.
- (5) A statement of the amount of the issuer's income, expenses, and fixed charges during the last fiscal year, or if in actual business less than one year, then for such time as the issuer has been in actual business.
- (6) A statement showing the price at which such security is proposed to be sold, together with the maximum amount of commission or other form of remuneration to be paid in cash or otherwise, directly or indirectly, for or in connection with the sale, or offering for sale, of such securities.
- (7) A detailed statement showing the items of cash, property, services, patents, good will and any other consideration for which such securities have been or are to be issued in payment.
- (8) The amount of capital stock which is to be set aside and disposed of as promotion stock, and a statement of all stock issued from time to time as promotion stock.
- (9) If the issuer is a corporation, there shall be filed with the application a certified copy of its articles of incorporation with all amendments and of its existing bylaws, if not already on file in the office of the Secretary of State of this State. If the issuer is a trustee there shall be filed with the application a copy of all instruments by which the trust is created or declared and in which it is accepted and acknowledged. If the issuer is a partnership or an unincorporated association, or joint-stock company, or any other form of organization whatsoever, there shall be filed with the application a copy of its articles of partnership or association and all other papers pertaining to its organization, if not already on file in the office of the Secretary of State of this State.

All of the statements, exhibits, and documents of every kind required by the Secretary of State under this section, except properly certified public documents, shall be verified in such manner and form as may be required by the Secretary of State.

With respect to securities required to be registered by qualification under the provisions of this section, the Secretary of State may by order duly entered fix the maximum amount of commission or other form of remuneration to be paid in cash or otherwise directly or indirectly, for or in connection with the sale or offering for sale of such securities which shall in no case exceed ten per cent of the actual sale price of the security.

At the time of filing the information, as hereinbefore prescribed in this section, the applicant shall pay to the Secretary of State a filing fee of twenty-five dollars and, upon the entry of an order for the registration of the securities, shall pay to the Secretary of State a fee of one-tenth of one per cent of the aggregate offering price of the securities to be sold in this State, for which the applicant is seeking registration, but in no case shall such latter fee be less than twenty-five dollars, and not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars. The Secretary of State may fix maximum and minimum amounts permitted to be registered under this section, but no application for an additional registration of securities previously registered shall require an additional filing fee. In case of stock having no par value the price at which such stock is to be offered to the public shall be deemed to be the par value of such stock. (1927, c. 149, s. 9; 1955, c. 436, s. 7.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment in the first sentence of the last paragraph, substituted "offering price" for "par value" and inserted the second sentence therein.

§ 78-10. Consideration of application by Secretary of State.—(a) As soon as practicable after the filing of an application, under § 78-9, the Secretary of State shall examine the application, statements and documents so filed; and if he deems it advisable, may make or cause to be made such inspection, examination, audit and investigation of the business and affairs of the issuer as he may deem necessary or advisable, which said inspection, examinations, audit and investigation, shall be at the expense of the applicant. As a part of the aforesaid inspection, examination, audit and investigation, the Secretary of State may, if he deems it necessary or advisable, cause an appraisal to be made of the property or assets of the issuer or parts thereof. Appraisals herein provided for may be made by three disinterested appraisers, and the Secretary of State is authorized to nominate and appoint such appraisers, who shall be paid not more than twenty-five dollars per day and their actual expenses while so employed, which compensation and expenses shall be paid by the applicant. The Secretary of State may require a bond sufficient to cover the expense of any such inspection, examination, audit or investigation as may be deemed necessary by the Secretary of State in connection with the application before, or after the granting of such application for registration.

(b) The Secretary of State shall make a complete report of the inspection, investigation, examination, etc., of the business and affairs of the applicant above provided for, which record shall include a copy of the appraisal aforesaid, provided such an appraisal be made. (1925, c. 190, s. 10; 1927, c. 149, s. 10.)

§ 78-11. Hearing before Secretary of State.—The Secretary of State shall, within fifteen days after the filing of the report of such investigation, give the applicant a hearing, if he so desires.

(1) If the Secretary of State shall act favorably upon the application, he shall issue an order, directing that such securities be admitted to record in the register of qualified securities, hereinafter provided for. The Secretary of State shall keep a permanent record of all proceedings, findings, judgments and orders. In granting to an applicant the privilege of offering securities to the public in the State of North Carolina the Secretary of State may impose such reasonable conditions, either precedent or concurrent thereto, as in his judgment may be necessary or advisable. If the statement containing information as to securities, as provided for in § 78-9, shall disclose that any such securities or any securities senior thereto shall have been or shall be intended to be issued for any patent right, copyright, trademark, process, lease, formulae or good will, or for promotion fees or expenses or for other intangible assets, the amount and nature thereof shall be fully set forth and the Secretary of State may require that such securities so issued in payment of such patent right, copyright, trademark, process, lease, formulae or good will, or for promotion fees or expenses, or for other intangible assets shall be delivered in escrow to the Secretary of State or other depository satisfactory to the Secretary of State under an escrow agreement that the owners of such securities shall not be entitled to withdraw such securities from escrow until all other stockholders who have paid for their stock in cash shall have been paid a dividend, or dividends aggregating not less than six per cent for three years, shown to the satisfaction of said Secretary of State to have been actually earned on the investment in any common stock so held, and in case of dissolution or insolvency during the time such securities are held in escrow, that the owners of such securities shall not participate in the assets until after the owners of all other securities shall have been paid in full: Provided, that during the period such securities shall be held in escrow, the Secretary of State shall have the right to vote such stock in person, or by proxy as he shall deem advisable.

(2) If, however, the Secretary of State shall, in any case, believe from all the evidence:

- a. That the sale of such securities would work a fraud, deception or imposition upon the purchaser thereof; or
- b. That the articles of incorporation or association, declaration of trust, charter, constitution, bylaws, or other organization papers of the issuer are unfair, unjust, inequitable, illegal or oppressive; or
- c. That the issuers or guarantors of such securities are insolvent, or are in failing circumstances, or are not trustworthy; or
- d. That the issuer's plan of business is unfair, inequitable, dishonest or fraudulent; or
- e. That the issuer's literature or advertising is misleading or calculated to deceive purchasers or investors; or
- f. That the securities offered or to be offered, issued or to be issued in payment for property or assets, either tangible or intangible, are so in excess of the reasonable value thereof as to indicate fraud or bad faith; or
- g. That the enterprise or business of either the issuers or of the applicant, is unlawful or against public policy; or
- h. That the sale of such securities is a mere scheme of either the issuer or the applicant to dispose of worthless securities of no real intrinsic value, at the expense of the purchasers of said securities; or
- i. That the sale of such securities is contrary to good business practices.

Then the Secretary of State shall refuse to admit said securities to record in the register of qualified securities, or if such securities are admitted to record, such action may at any time thereafter be revoked by the Secretary of State for any of the reasons set out in this section, subdivision (2), and it shall thereafter be unlawful to sell such securities in this State or to circulate any advertisement thereof.

In any case the Secretary of State either before granting or after granting any application for registration by qualification under § 78-9, shall have the right to require of the applicant a bond, the form whereof shall be prescribed and the surety approved by the Secretary of State, penalty whereof shall be fixed by the Secretary of State at not more than twenty per centum of the sales price of the securities issued or proposed or authorized to be issued. The said bond shall be with surety and payable to the State of North Carolina, conditioned that the facts set forth in the application for such permit and in all other documents required by this chapter to be filed with the Secretary of State are true, and that the provisions of this chapter shall be strictly complied with, and that all moneys from the sale of such securities will be used for the proper purpose or purposes as set forth in the security sold and in the papers filed with the Secretary of State; and that the contract of the promoter as set forth in the securities issued will be complied with and also that all statements set forth in all literature or advertising matter used or circulated in connection with the sale, or offer of sale, of such securities shall be the truth; and that the contract of the promoter shall be fulfilled. Except when the surety offered is a surety company authorized to do business in this State, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to satisfy himself that such surety is amply solvent before accepting the same.

Any person who shall be induced to purchase any securities covered by such bond by reason of any misrepresentation of any material fact concerning such securities, contained in said application or other documents submitted in connection therewith or furnished to the Secretary of State, upon its request or any other written or printed matter issued or used by the person making such sale or its, or his, agents in making such sale, or shall have suffered loss by reason of the fact that moneys paid by him to the said seller of such securities or the seller's agent, have not been applied to the proper purpose set forth in the security sold or the papers filed with the Secretary of State, or that the seller has failed or refused to comply with his contract, as set forth in the security issued, shall have the right to bring suit upon the bond above provided for, and such bond shall be security for such person for his losses; but such person shall not be entitled to recover more than the money paid, or the actual value of the property given, or the labor performed, in exchange for such securities, with legal interest from the date of payment or the performance of the services or the transfer of property. One or more recoveries upon such bond shall not vitiate the same, but it shall remain in full force and effect, but no recoveries upon such bond shall ever exceed the full amount of same, and upon suits being commenced in excess of the amount of same, the Secretary of State may require a new bond, and, if the same is not given within thirty days the Secretary of State may revoke the registration herein provided for: Provided, however, that any suit or action instituted under this section shall be commenced within one year from the date of any such sale. During the thirty days after notice to file a new bond, the securities shall not be sold or offered for sale. (1925, c. 190, s. 11; 1927, c. 149, s. 11.)

§ 78-12. No representation to be made of endorsement.—No person, dealer, or agent shall represent any securities sold under the provisions of this chapter as being endorsed or recommended by the State of North Carolina or any officer thereof, nor shall he make any mention whatever of their being recorded or admitted to record in the State of North Carolina. (1925, c. 190, s. 12; 1927, c. 149, s. 12.)

§ 78-13. Register of qualified securities.—The Secretary of State shall keep and maintain a permanent register of qualified securities and shall enter therein the names and amounts of all securities, the privilege of offering which to the public in the State of North Carolina has been granted by the Secretary of State, and the date thereof, and such other data as the Secretary of State may deem proper. All securities admitted to record and recorded in such register shall be deemed, for the purpose of this chapter, to have been fully qualified for sale in the State of North Carolina and thereafter any person may lawfully sell or offer for sale any part of such issue as recorded; subject, however, to the provisions of this chapter. Such register shall be open to inspection by the public. (1925, c. 190, s. 13; 1927, c. 149, s. 13.)

§ 78-14. Report to Secretary of State.—Every issuer whose securities have been admitted to record and recorded as herein provided, may be required during the offering of such securities to file within thirty days after the close of business on December thirty-first, March thirty-first, June thirtieth, and September thirtieth, of each year, and at such other times as may be required by the Secretary of State, a statement, verified under oath by some person having actual knowledge of the facts therein stated, setting forth, in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State, the financial condition, the amount of assets and liabilities, of such issuer on the above dates and such other information as said Secretary of State may require. It shall be unlawful for any issuer subject to the provisions of this chapter, who refuses or fails to comply with the provisions of this section, or for his agent or agents, to thereafter sell such securities in this State. (1925, c. 190, s. 14; 1927, c. 149, s. 14.)

§ 78-15. Examination and examiners.—The records and the business affairs of every company or person, whose securities have been admitted to record in the register of qualified securities shall be subject to examination and inspection by the Secretary of State or upon his direction by his assistants, accountants, or examiners, at any time said Secretary of State may deem it advisable; and such company or person shall pay a fee for each of such examinations of not to exceed twenty-five dollars ($25) for each day or fraction thereof, plus the actual traveling and hotel expenses of said Secretary of State, his assistant, accountant or examiner, that he is absent from the capital of the State for the purpose of making such examination. (1925, c. 190, s. 15; 1927, c. 149, s. 15.)

§ 78-16. Complaints, investigations, findings of facts.—The Secretary of State may, upon his own initiative or upon the complaint of any reasonable person, hold such public hearings or make or have made such special inspection, examination or investigation as he may deem necessary, in connection with the promotion, sale or disposal in this State of any security or securities, to determine whether the same constitutes a violation of law; and the said Secretary of State, his assistant or deputy shall have power and authority:

- (1) To issue subpoenas and process compelling the attendance of any person and the production of any paper, records or books relating to any matter of which the Secretary of State has jurisdiction under this article, and
- (2) To administer an oath to any person whose testimony may be required on such inspection, examination, or investigation. Upon the conclusion of any such hearing, inspection, examination or investigation the Secretary of State may make findings of fact concerning the matter or matters investigated. Such findings of facts shall be admissible in evidence in any suit or action, at law or in equity, instituted under any of the laws of this State, and shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein found by said Secretary of State, and,
- (3) To maintain by injunction or other remedy and action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State for the purpose of enforcing this chapter, or making investigations. (1925, c. 190, s. 16; 1927, c. 149, s. 16.)

§ 78-17. Certain information and records open to inspection by public.—All information received by the Secretary of State shall be kept open to public inspection at all reasonable hours, and the Secretary of State shall supply to the public upon request copies of any papers on record with the Secretary of

State at charges equaling the cost of typing same; and the Secretary of State shall have power and authority to place in a separate file, not open to the public except on his special order, any information which he deems in justice to the person filing the same should not be made public. An exemplification of the record under the hand of the Secretary of State, or of his deputy, shall be good and sufficient evidence of any record made or entered by the Secretary of State. A certificate under the hand of the Secretary of State or his deputy or assistant and the seal of the Department of State showing that the securities in question have not been recorded in the register of qualified securities, shall constitute prima facie evidence that such securities have not been qualified for sale pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, and shall be admissible in evidence in any proceeding, either civil or criminal, instituted under any of the laws or statutes of this State. (1925, c. 190, s. 17; 1927, c. 149, s. 17; 1955, c. 436, s. 8.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment substituted "Secretary" for "Department" in the second line of the last sentence.

§ 78-18. Appeal.—Any interested person being dissatisfied with any findings, rulings, or judgments of the Secretary of State if final and made after a formal hearing elsewhere provided for in this chapter, may, within thirty days after the making and issuance thereof, appeal to the superior court. Any interested person aggrieved by any other order or the failure of the Secretary of State to make an order under any of the provisions of this chapter shall, if a hearing is not otherwise provided for, upon written request to the Secretary of State and within thirty days after the filing of such request, be entitled to a hearing. The Secretary of State shall rule upon the subject matter of such hearing, and any interested person may, within thirty days after the making and issuance of his ruling or order, appeal to the superior court. In all cases of appeals from the Secretary of State to the superior court, the record made before such Secretary shall thereupon be certified to the superior court of the county in which such interested person may reside, or any county adjoining thereto in the discretion of said Secretary of State and thereafter the parties may plead and such procedure may be had as in other causes within the jurisdiction of said superior court, and after the issues shall have been determined by the court or jury, as the case may be, such judgment shall be rendered by the court as the findings may require. Appeals may be taken from the decision of the superior court to the Supreme Court by either party in the same manner as is provided by law in other civil cases, but the Secretary of State may appeal without bond. Pending any such appeal, the said findings, rulings, orders and judgments of the Secretary of State shall be prima facie evidence that they are just and reasonable and that the facts found are true, and shall remain in full force and effect, if no such suit be brought within said thirty days, said findings, ruling, order or judgment shall become final and binding. (1925, c. 190, s. 18; 1927, c. 149, s. 18.)

Cross Reference.—See Editor's Note under § 78-2.

§ 78-19. Dealers and salesmen; registration.—No dealer or salesman shall carry on business in the State of North Carolina as such dealer or salesman, or sell securities, including any securities exempted under the provisions of § 78-3, unless he has been registered as dealer or salesman in the office of the Secretary of State pursuant to the provisions of this section. Every applicant for registration shall file in the office of the Secretary of State, pursuant to the provisions of this section, an application in writing, duly signed and sworn to, in such form as the Secretary of State may prescribe, giving particulars concerning the business reputation of the applicant. Every applicant for registration as a dealer, or for the renewal of such registration, shall be required to be registered as a dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission, as a prerequisite for registration in this State, except a person dealing exclusively in securities exempt for registration under subdivision (1) of § 78-3 of the General Statutes. A dealer not either registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission or supervised and examined by an agency of the government of the United States, or of the State of North Carolina, shall file annually within one hundred twenty days after the end of the fiscal year of such dealer, with the Secretary of State a financial statement of condition duly certified by an independent certified public accountant. Dealers not supervised as herein provided may be examined at any time by the Secretary of State, or his representative, upon evidence satisfactory to the Secretary of State of the insolvency or imminent danger of insolvency of such dealer. The Secretary of State, in his discretion, may require that the applicant shall have been a bona fide resident of the State of North Carolina for a term not to exceed two years prior to the filing of the application. The names and addresses of all persons approved for registration as dealers or salesmen shall be recorded in a register of dealers and salesmen kept in the office of the Secretary of State, which shall be open to public inspection. Every registration under this section shall expire on the thirty-first day of March in each year, but the same may be renewed. The fee for such registration and for each annual renewal thereof shall be fifty dollars in the case of dealers, and ten dollars in the case of salesmen. Registration may be refused or a registration granted may be canceled by the Secretary of State if, after reasonable notice and a hearing, the Secretary of State determines that such applicant or dealer or salesman so registered

- (1) Has violated any provision of this chapter or any regulation made hereunder; or
- (2) Has made a material false statement in the application for registration; or
- (3) Has been guilty of a fraudulent act in connection with any sale of securities in the State of North Carolina, or has been or is engaged in making fictitious or pretended sales or purchases of any such securities or has been engaged in any practice or transaction or course of business relating to the purchase or sale of securities which is fraudulent or in violation of law; or
- (4) Has demonstrated his unworthiness to transact the business of dealer or salesman; or
- (5) Has ceased to be qualified for registration under the terms of this section; or
- (6) Shall be insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency, or shall have failed to meet such dealer's financial obligations in the ordinary course of business.

It shall be sufficient cause for refusal or cancellation of registration in the case of a partnership, corporation or unincorporated association or trust estate, if any member of the partnership, or any officer or director of the corporation, association or trust estate has been guilty of any act or omission which would be cause for refusing or cancelling the registration of an individual dealer or salesman. The word "dealer" as used in this section shall include every person other than a salesman, who in the State of North Carolina engages, either for all or part of his time, directly or through an agent, in the business of offering for sale, selling or otherwise dealing in securities, including securities exempted under the provisions of § 78-3, or of purchasing or otherwise acquiring such securities from another person with the purpose of reselling them or of offering them for sale to the public for a commission or at a profit, or who deals in futures on market quotations of prices or values of any securities, or accepts margins on prices or values of said securities. The word "salesman," as used in this section shall include every person employed, appointed or authorized by another person to sell securities in any manner in the State of North Carolina. No person shall be registered as a salesman except upon the application of the person on whose behalf such salesman is to act. It shall be unlawful for any person required to register under the provisions of this section to sell any security to any person in the State of North Carolina without having registered, or after such registration has expired or been canceled and not renewed.

Provided, however, that employees of a company, or of a company directly controlling such company, or the general agent of a domestic corporation, securities of which are exempted under the provisions of § 78-3, may sell or solicit or negotiate for the sale or purchase of any such securities of such company in the territory served by such company or in which it operates without being considered as salesmen or dealers within the meaning of this chapter and without being required to register under its provision.

The partners of a partnership and the executive officers of a corporation or other association registered as a dealer may act as salesmen during such time as such partnership, corporation, or association is so registered without further registration as salesmen. Changes in registration occasioned by changes in the personnel of a partnership or in the principals, copartners, officers or directors of any dealer may be made from time to time by written application setting forth the facts with reference to such change. (1925, c. 190, s. 19; 1927, c. 149, s. 19; 1955, c. 436, s. 9; 1959, c. 1122.)

Cross Reference.—See Editor's Note under § 78-2.

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment struck out the former last paragraph of this section.

The 1959 amendment inserted in the first paragraph the third, fourth and fifth sentences. It also inserted subdivisions (5) and (6).

§ 78-20. Assistants, clerks, etc., employment of.—It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to administer and enforce the provisions of this chapter, and he may appoint such clerks and other assistants as may from time to time be needed. (1925, c. 190, s. 20; 1927, c. 149, s. 20.)

Cross Reference.—See Editor's Note under § 78-2.

§ 78-21. Fee paid into State treasury; expenses of administration.—All fees herein provided for shall be collected by the Secretary of State and shall be paid over to the State Treasurer to go into the general fund; as well as all fees, per diems, expenses, etc., of appraisers, assistants, and investigators as herein provided, and all other expenses and fees required by this chapter. (1925, c. 190, s. 21; 1927, c. 149, s. 21.)

§ 78-22. Remedies.—Every sale or contract for sale made in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter shall be voidable at the election of the purchaser and the person making such sale or contract for sale, and every director, officer or agent of or for such seller, if such director, officer or agent shall have participated or aided in any way in making such sale shall be jointly and severally liable to such purchaser in an action at law in any court of competent jurisdiction upon tender to the seller of the securities sold or of the contract made for the full amount paid by such purchaser; provided, that no action shall be brought for the recovery of the purchase price after two years from the date of such sale or contract for sale; and provided further, that no purchaser otherwise entitled shall claim or have the benefit of this section who shall have refused or failed within sixty days to accept the voluntary offer of the seller to take back the security in question and to refund the full amount paid by such purchaser and court costs, together with interest on such amount for the period from the date of payment by such purchaser down to the date of repayment, such interest to be computed:

- (1) In case such securities consist of interest-bearing obligations at the same rate as provided in such obligations; and

- (2) In case such securities consist of other than interest-bearing obligations at the rate of six per centum per annum; less, in every case, the amount of any income from said securities that may have been received by such purchaser. (1925, c. 190, s. 22; 1927, c. 149, s. 22.)

§ 78-23. Violation of chapter; punishment.—(a) Whoever for the purpose of procuring the registration of any security by notification under this chapter, shall knowingly make or cause to be made any false representation of a material fact to the Secretary of State shall be guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one year nor more than five years or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) or both.

(b) Whoever shall sell or cause to be sold, or offer to sell or cause to be offered for sale, any security in this State, which is not exempt under any of the provisions of § 78-3, unless sold in any transaction exempt under any of the provisions of § 78-4, and which such securities so sold, or caused to be sold or so offered for sale or caused to be offered for sale shall not have been registered as provided in this chapter, shall be guilty of a violation of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for a period of not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(c) Whoever shall, for the purpose of selling any security in this State, fraudulently represent to the purchaser or prospective purchaser thereof the amount of dividends, interest or earnings which such security will yield, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of the provisions of this chapter and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one year nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(d) Whoever, for the purpose of securing the registration by qualification of any securities under this chapter, shall make any false representation concerning any material fact submitted to the Secretary of State shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(e) Whoever, for the purpose of procuring the registration by qualification of any security under this chapter, shall suppress or withhold any information from the Secretary of State which he possesses and which if submitted by him to the Secretary of State would render such security incompetent to be registered by qualification under and pursuant to the terms of this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(f) Whoever sells or causes to be sold, or offers for sale or causes to be offered for sale, any security in this State after having been notified by the Secretary of State that the registration of such securities has been canceled, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(g) Whoever sells or causes to be sold, or offers for sale or causes to be offered for sale, any security in this State after being notified by the Secretary of State to stop the sale of such security pending the investigation provided for in § 78-8, or pending the filing of the bond which may be required under § 78-11, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(h) Whoever sells or causes to be sold, or offers for sale or causes to be offered for sale, any security in this State embraced and referred to in § 78-19, without first having registered under and pursuant to the terms of said section, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of said section, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(i) Whoever sells or causes to be sold, or offers for sale or causes to be offered for sale, any security in this State after his registration as provided in § 78-19 has been canceled by the Secretary of State as provided by § 78-19, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of said § 78-19, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(j) Whoever for the purpose of procuring the registration of any dealer or agent under this chapter, shall knowingly make or cause to be made any false representations of a material fact to the Secretary of State shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(k) Whoever engages in this State in the making of fictitious or pretended sales or purchases, or who causes the making of fictitious or pretended sales or purchases, or who engages in the offer of fictitious or pretended sales or purchases of any securities within the meaning of this chapter, the actual delivery of which securities are not to follow such sales, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of the terms of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), or both.

(l) Whoever, without first having become registered under and pursuant to the terms of § 78-19, shall assist or attempt to assist, by recommendation or by personal solicitation, any salesman or agent in this State in the sale or disposition of any securities required to be registered under the provisions of this chapter to any purchaser or purchasers, except in transactions exempt under § 78-4, and who shall in consideration of such assistance or an effort to assist receive compensation in any form or gratuity from such dealer or agent, or anyone upon their behalf, or who shall render such assistance or make such effort upon the promise of such dealer or agent, express or implied, that he shall receive in consideration therefor compensation in any form or a gratuity for such assistance or effort to assist, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the State prison for not less than one, nor more than five years, or fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or both.

(m) It is hereby expressly provided that the offenses herein created and the penalties herein imposed are to be deemed cumulative to the offenses and penalties heretofore created and now existing in the criminal code of this State, and that the conviction of any person for the violation of any offense created by this chapter shall not be deemed to have placed such person in jeopardy of trial and conviction for the violation of any offense heretofore created and now existing in the criminal code of this State. (1925, c. 190, s. 23; 1927, c. 149, s. 23; 1955, c. 436, s. 10.)

Cross Reference.—See Editor's Note under § 78-2.

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment substituted in subsection (g) "Secretary of State" for "Commissioner."

Statute Strictly Construed.—The penal provision of this chapter, making the sale of securities in violation thereof a felony, must be strictly construed, and the terms of the statute cannot be extended beyond the plain implication of words used. State v. Allen, 216 N. C. 621, 5 S. E. (2d) 844 (1939).

Applied in State v. Pelley, 221 N. C. 487, 20 S. E. (2d) 850 (1942).

§ 78-24. Foreign corporations to name process officer within State.—In all cases of application by a foreign corporation, partnership, association or trust company for registration of securities by qualification or as a dealer in securities, such corporation, partnership, association or trust company shall name a process officer within the State of North Carolina, approved by the Secretary of State upon whom service of any process of any court in this State shall be of the same effect as if served upon said corporation, partnership, association or trust company. (1927, c. 149, s. 24; 1955, c. 436, s. 10.)

Editor's Note. — The 1955 amendment substituted "Secretary of State" for "Commissioner."

Chapter 79.

Strays.

Sec.

79-1. Notice to owner of stray, or to register of deeds.

79-2. Owner may reclaim.

Sec.

79-3. When and how strays sold.

79-4. Failure to comply with stray law misdemeanor.

§ 79-1. Notice to owner of stray, or to register of deeds.—Any person who shall take up any stray horse, mare, colt, mule, ass or jennet, neat cattle, hog or sheep, shall within ten days after taking up such stray inform the owner, if to him known; if not, he shall inform the register of deeds of the supposed age, marks, brands and color of the stray, and that the same was taken up at his plantation or place of abode; whereupon the register of deeds shall record such information in a book kept by him for that purpose, for which service the taker-up of the stray shall pay a fee of twenty-five cents, except for hogs and sheep, for which the fee shall be ten cents. The register of deeds shall at once publish a notice of the taking up of such stray, by posting the same at the courthouse door, and if the cost does not exceed two dollars, then in some newspaper published in the county. Such notices shall be published for thirty days, and shall contain a full and complete description of the stray and of all marks or brands on the same, and when and where the same was taken up. The fees for publishing such notices shall be paid by the party taking up the stray. (1874-5, c. 258, s. 2; Code, s. 3768; Rev., s. 2833; C. S., s. 3951.)

Cross Reference.—As to license to look for strays upon the lands of another, see § 14-134.

§ 79-2. Owner may reclaim.—When any stray has been taken up, the owner may at any time before a sale reclaim such stray by proving his ownership and paying to the party capturing the same the actual costs paid the register of deeds as provided in § 79-1, together with the actual costs of keeping such stray, as fixed by the county commissioners. The board of commissioners of the several counties shall fix a scale of costs for keeping strays. (Rev., s. 2834; C. S., s. 3952.)

§ 79-3. When and how strays sold.—If the owner of any stray shall fail to claim the same within thirty days after the publication of the notice required by law, the person taking up the stray shall cause the stray to be appraised by the nearest magistrate and two freeholders, none of whom shall receive any fees for such services. Such appraisal shall give a full and accurate description of such stray and shall by the magistrate be returned to the register of deeds, and by him recorded in his book for strays; and the register of deeds shall issue an order to the sheriff directing him to sell such stray, and the sheriff shall sell such stray at public auction after ten days' public advertisement as for sales of personal property under execution; and out of the proceeds he shall pay the cost of publishing the notices as to strays, the costs of keeping and the cost of sale, and shall pay the surplus to the county treasurer for the benefit of the public school fund of the county. The county board of education shall, at any time within twelve months after such funds have been paid to the county treasurer, upon due proof of ownership, issue an order commanding the county treasurer to pay to the owner of the stray the net amount paid the county treasurer as the proceeds of the sale of the stray. (Rev., s. 2835; C. S., s. 3953.)

ARTICLE 1.

Trademarks.

§ 80-1. Adoption and filing for registry; "person" defined.—It shall be lawful for any person to adopt for his protection and file for registry, as in this chapter provided, any label, trademark, term or design that has been used or is intended to be used for the purpose of designating, making known or distinguishing any goods, wares, merchandise or products of labor that have been or may be wholly or partly made, manufactured, produced, prepared, packed or put on sale by any such person, or to or upon which any work or labor has been applied or expended by any such person, or by any member of any corporation, or association or union of workmen, that has adopted and filed for registry any such label, trademark, term or design, or announcing or indicating that the same have been made in whole or in part by any such person or corporation, or association or union of workmen, or by any member thereof.

The word "person" as used in this article includes associations or unions of workmen, whether incorporated or unincorporated. Any duly authorized officer or agent of any such association or union may act in its behalf in securing for the association or union the benefits and protection of this article. (1903, c. 271; Rev., s. 3012; C. S., s. 3971; 1941, c. 255, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1941 amendment inserted the words "or association or union of workmen" in the first paragraph and added the second paragraph.

As to the theory upon which is based the law dealing with trademarks, brands, etc., see Blackwell v. Wright, 73 N. C. 310 (1875).

Name of Town or Locality.—It seems that the name of a town or locality cannot be exclusively appropriated as a trademark. Tob. Co. v. McElwee, 94 N. C. 425 (1886).

Use of Surname.—As a rule, a trademark cannot be taken in a surname, and any one named Bingham could start a school called the "Bingham School," in the absence of proof of intent to injure, or fraudulently attract the benefit of the good name and reputation acquired by a previously existing "Bingham School." And certainly there could be no confusion between a Bingham School at Asheville and a school even of the identically same name at Mebane. N. C. Bingham School v. Gray, 122 N. C. 699, 30 S. E. 304, 41 L. R. A. 243 (1898).

It is beyond the scope of the powers of the State legislature to establish a monopoly in a family name or to confer a patent right in its use. Bingham School v. Gray, 122 N. C. 699, 30 S. E. 304, 41 L. R. A. 243 (1898).

But one may, by contract, conclude himself from the use of his own name in a given business, and the agreement will be enforced by the courts. Zagier v. Zagier, 167 N. C. 616, 83 S. E. 913 (1914).

§ 80-2. Property rights protected by filing for registry.—Whenever any person shall adopt and file for registry any label, trademark, term or design pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the property, privileges, rights, remedies and interests in and to any such label, trademark, term or design, and in and to the use of same, provided or given by this chapter to, or otherwise conferred upon or enjoyed by, the person filing the same for the registry, shall be fully and completely secured, preserved and protected as the property of those entitled to the same before any such label, trademark, term or design has been actually applied to any goods, wares, merchandise, or product of labor, and put upon the market for sale or otherwise, and before any use or appropriation of any such label, trademark, term or design has been made in connection with any such goods, wares, merchandise or product of labor, as well as after the same has been used or applied to designate, make known or distinguish any such goods, wares, merchandise, or product of labor and they have been put upon the market. (1903, c. 271, s. 2; Rev., s. 3013; C. S., s. 3972.)

§ 80-3. Filing to be with Secretary of State; contents of affidavits; fees.—Any person who has heretofore adopted and used, or shall hereafter adopt and use any label, trademark, term or design, as in this chapter provided, may file the same for registry in the office of the Secretary of State, by leaving two copies, facsimiles or counterparts thereof, with the said Secretary, and filing therewith a statement in the form of an affidavit, subscribed and sworn to by any such person, or by any officer, agent or attorney, if a corporation or association or union of workmen, specifying the person by whom any such label, trademark, term or design is filed, and the class or character of the goods, wares, merchandise or products of labor to which the same has been or is intended to be appropriated or applied, and that the person so filing the same has the right to the use of the said label, trademark, term or design, and that no other person, firm or corporation has the right to such use, either in the identical form or in any such near resemblance thereto as may be calculated to deceive, without the permission or authority of the person filing the same, and that the copies, facsimiles or counterparts filed therewith are true and correct copies, facsimiles or counterparts of the genuine label, trademark, term or design of the person filing the same; and there shall be paid for such registry a fee of five dollars to the Secretary of State for the use of the State, and the same recording fees required by law for recording certificate of organization of corporations. (1903, c. 271, s. 3; Rev., s. 3014; C. S., s. 3973; 1935, c. 60; 1941, c. 255, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1935 amendment increased the registry fee from one to five dollars. The 1941 amendment inserted the words "or association or union of workmen."

§ 80-4. Registration; certified copies evidence; fees.—The Secretary of State, upon the filing of any such label, trademark, term or design that is not in conflict with § 80-6, shall register the same, and shall deliver to the person filing the same as many certified copies thereof, with his certificate of such registry, as any such person may request, and for every such copy and certificate there shall be paid to the Secretary of State, for the use of the State, a fee of one dollar; and any such certified copy and certificate shall be admissible in evidence and competent and sufficient proof of the adoption, filing and registry of any such label, trademark, term or design, by any such person in any action or judicial proceeding in any of the courts of this State, and of due compliance with the provisions of this chapter. (1903, c. 271, s. 4; Rev., s. 3015; C. S., s. 3974.)

§ 80-5. Transfer of trademarks.—The right to use any registered label, trademark, term or design shall be granted only by an instrument in writing, duly filed in the office of the Secretary of State. The fees for recording or filing such transfer and issuing copies thereof shall be the same as for filing such label, trademark, term or design. (Rev., s. 3016; C. S., s. 3975.)

§ 80-6. Similar trademarks refused registration.—It shall not be lawful for the Secretary of State to register for any person any label, trademark, term or design that is in the identical form of any other label, trademark, term or design theretofore filed by any other person, or that bears any such near resemblance thereto as may be calculated to deceive, or that would be liable to be mistaken therefor. (1903, c. 271, s. 5; Rev., s. 3017; C. S., s. 3976.)

§ 80-7. Fraudulent registration; penalty.—Any person who shall file or procure the filing and registry of any label, trademark, term or design in the office of the Secretary of State under the provisions of this chapter, by making any false or fraudulent representations or declarations, with fraudulent intent, shall be liable to pay any damages sustained in consequence of any such registry, to be recovered by or in behalf of the party injured thereby. (1903, c. 271, s. 5; Rev., s. 3018; C. S., s. 3977.)

§ 80-8. Use of counterfeit trademarks unlawful.—Whenever any person has adopted and filed for registry any label, trademark, term or design, as provided by law, and the same shall have been registered pursuant to law, it shall be unlawful for any other person to manufacture, use, sell, offer for sale, or in any way utter or circulate any counterfeit or imitation of any such label, trademark, term or design, or have in possession, with intent that the same shall be sold or disposed of, any goods, wares, merchandise, or product of labor to which or on which any counterfeit or imitation of any such label, trademark, term or design is attached, affixed, printed, stamped, impressed or displayed, or to sell or dispose of, or offer to sell or dispose of, or have in possession with intent that the same shall be sold or disposed of, any goods, wares, merchandise, or product of labor contained in any box, case, can or package to which or on which any such counterfeit or imitation is attached, affixed, printed, stamped, impressed or displayed. (1903, c. 271, s. 6; Rev., s. 3019; C. S., s. 3978.)

Cross Reference.—For relief against unlawful use, see note to § 80-10.

§ 80-9. Unauthorized use unlawful; use under license.—Whenever any person has adopted and registered any label, trademark, term or design, as provided by law, it shall be unlawful for any other person to make any use, sale, offer for sale or display of the genuine label, trademark, term or design of any such person filing the same, or to have any such genuine label, trademark, term or design in possession with intent that the same shall be used, sold, offered for sale, or displayed, or that the same shall be applied, attached or displayed in any manner whatever to or on any goods, wares or merchandise, or to sell, offer to sell, or dispose of, or have in possession with intent that the same shall be sold or disposed of, any goods, wares or merchandise in any box, case, can or package to or on which any such genuine label, trademark, term or design of any such person is attached, affixed, or displayed, or to make any use whatever of any such genuine label, trademark, term or design, without first obtaining in every such case the license of the person adopting, filing and registering the same; and any such license may be revoked and terminated at any time upon notice, and thereafter any use thereof shall be unlawful. (1903, c. 271, s. 7; Rev., s. 3020; C. S., s. 3979.)

Cross Reference.—For relief against unauthorized use, see § 80-10 and note.

§ 80-10. Remedies; damages; destruction of counterfeits.—Any person who has registered any label, trademark, term or design under the provisions of this chapter shall have a right of action against any person for the unauthorized use of such label, trademark, term or design, and the courts shall by appropriate remedies prevent the unauthorized or unlawful use, manufacture or display of any label, trademark, term or design, or the imitation or counterfeit thereof, or the sale, disposal or display of any articles of property on which any counterfeit or imitation of any registered label, trademark, term or design, or on which any genuine label, trademark, term or design may be used or displayed without proper authority; and shall further secure and protect all persons in all rights of property and interest which they may have in any label, trademark, term or design registered under this chapter; and the court shall award to the plaintiff any and all damages resulting from any such wrongful use of any such label, trademark, term or design; and any counterfeit or imitation of any labels, trademarks, terms or designs, and any die, engraving, mould or mechanical device or the manufacture of the same in the possession or under the control of the defendant, shall be delivered up to an officer of the court, to be destroyed, and any such genuine labels, trademarks, terms or designs in the possession or under the control of any such defendant shall be delivered to the plaintiff: Provided, however, no restraining order or injunction granted to any association or union of workmen to prevent violations of this article shall have the effect of impounding or preventing the free flow into the channels of commerce of any goods, wares, merchandise or products already manufactured or in the process of manufacture to which any label, trademark, term or design has been affixed at the time of the institution of the action in which the injunctive relief is sought, unless the owner or manufacturer of said goods, wares, merchandise or products has permitted the affixing of such label, trademark, term or design with the actual knowledge that it was being used or affixed in violation of the provisions of this article. (1903, c. 271, s. 8; Rev., s. 3021; C. S., s. 3980; 1941, c. 255, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The 1941 amendment added the proviso at the end of this section.

When Relief Granted.—Before the owner of a trademark can call upon the courts for relief, he must show not only that he has a clear legal right to the trademark, but that there has been a plain violation of it; and where a violation is alleged, the true inquiry is, whether the mark of the defendant is so assimilated to that of the plaintiff as to deceive purchasers. And it will make no difference whether the party designed to mislead the public or whether the symbol adopted was calculated to deceive. Blackwell v. Wright, 73 N. C. 310 (1875).

If it appears that the trademark alleged to be an imitation, though resembling the complainant's in some respects, would not probably deceive the ordinary mass of purchasers, an injunction will not be granted. An imitation is colorable, and will be enjoined, which requires a careful inspection to distinguish its mark and appearance from that of the manufacture imitated. Blackwell v. Wright, 73 N. C. 310 (1875).

Applied in Maola Ice Cream Co. v. Maola Milk, etc., Co., 238 N. C. 317, 77 S. E. (2d) 910 (1953).

§ 80-11. Concurrent action for penalty.—In addition to any other rights, remedies or penalties provided by this chapter, and as concurrent therewith, any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this chapter shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, to be recovered by any person who has filed any such label, trademark, term or design. (1903, c. 271, s. 9; Rev., s. 3022; C. S., s. 3981.)

Applied in Maola Ice Cream Co. v. Maola Milk, etc., Co., 238 N. C. 317, 77 S. E. (2d) 910 (1953).

§ 80-12. Use of private marks or labels to defraud; punishment.—If any person shall knowingly and willfully forge or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be forged or counterfeited, the private marks, tokens, stamps or labels of any mechanic, manufacturer or other person, being a resident of the United States, with intent to deceive and defraud the purchasers, mechanics, or manufacturers of any goods, wares or merchandise whatsoever, upon conviction thereof he shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars and not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment of not less than thirty days or more than five years, or both fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. (1870-1, c. 253, s. 1; Code, s. 1038; Rev., s. 3852; C. S., s. 3982.)

§ 80-13. Selling goods with forged marks or labels, misdemeanor.—If any person shall vend any goods, wares or merchandise having thereon any forged or counterfeited marks, tokens, stamps or labels purporting to be the marks, tokens, stamps or labels of any person being a resident of the United States, knowing the same at the time of the purchase thereof by him to be forged or counterfeited, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. (1870-1, c. 253, s. 2; Code, s. 1039; Rev., s. 3850; C. S., s. 3983.)

§ 80-14. Misbranding sacks to defraud, misdemeanor.—If any person shall knowingly use the mark or brand of any other person on any sack, or shall knowingly impress on any sack the mark or brand of another person, with intent to defraud or for the purpose of enhancing the value of his own property, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1874-5, c. 225; Code, s. 1040; Rev., s. 3851; C. S., s. 3984; 1943, c. 543.)

Editor's Note. — The 1943 amendment convicted of larceny" formerly appearing struck out the words "and punished as if at the end of this section.

ARTICLE 2.

Timber Marks.

§ 80-15. Timber dealers may adopt.—Any person dealing in timber in any form shall be known as a timber dealer and as such may adopt a trademark, in the manner and with the effect in this article provided. (1903, c. 261, s. 1; Rev., s. 3023; C. S., s. 3985.)

§ 80-16. How adopted, registered and published.—Every such dealer desiring to adopt a trademark may do so by the execution of a writing in form and effect as follows:

Notice is hereby given that I (or we, etc., as the case may be) have adopted the following trademark, to be used in my (or our, etc.) business as timber dealer (or dealers), to wit: (Here insert the words, letters, figures, etc., constituting the trademark, or if it be any device other than words, letters or figures, insert a facsimile thereof).

Dated this day of, 19.. A..... B.....

Such writing shall be acknowledged or proved for record in the same manner as deeds are acknowledged or proved, and shall be registered in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the principal office or place of business of such timber dealer may be, in a book to be kept for that purpose marked Registry of Timber Marks, also in office of Secretary of State, and a copy thereof shall be published at least once in each week for four successive weeks in some newspaper printed in such county, or if there be no such newspaper printed therein, then in some newspaper of general circulation in such county. (1889, c. 142; 1903, c. 261, s. 2; Rev., s. 3024; C. S., s. 3986.)

§ 80-17. Property in and use of trademarks.—Every trademark so adopted shall, from the date thereof, be the exclusive property of the person adopting the same. The proprietor of such trademark shall, in using the same, cause it to be plainly stamped, branded or otherwise impressed upon each piece of timber upon which the same is placed. (1889, c. 142; 1903, c. 261, ss. 3, 4; Rev., s. 3025; C. S., s. 3987.)

§ 80-18. Effect of branding timber purchased.—When timber is purchased by the proprietor of any such trademark, and the said trademark is placed thereon as hereinbefore provided, such timber shall thenceforth be deemed the property of such purchaser, without any other or further delivery thereof, and such timber shall thereafter be at the risk of the purchaser, unless otherwise provided by contract in writing between the parties. (1889, c. 142; 1903, c. 261, s. 6; Rev., s. 3026; C. S., s. 3988.)

§ 80-19. Trademark on timber evidence of ownership.—In any action, suit or contest in which the title to any timber, upon which any trademark has been placed as aforesaid, shall come in question, it shall be presumed that such timber was the property of the proprietor of such trademark; in the absence of satisfactory proof to the contrary. (1903, c. 261, s. 7; Rev., s. 3027; C. S., s. 3989.)

§ 80-20. Fraudulent use of timber trademark, misdemeanor.—If any person shall use or attempt to use any timber trademark without the written consent of the proprietor thereof, or falsely and fraudulently place any trademark on timber not the property of the owner of such trademark without his written consent, or intentionally and without lawful authority remove, deface or destroy any timber trademark or the imprint thereof on any timber or intentionally put any such timber in such a position or place so remote from the stream from which it was taken or on which it was afloat as to render it inconvenient or unnecessarily expensive to replace the same in such stream, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1903, c. 261, ss. 3-5; Rev., s. 3854; C. S., s. 3990.)

§ 80-21. Larceny of branded timber.—If any person shall knowingly and unlawfully buy, sell, take and carry away, secrete, destroy or convert to his own use, any timber upon which a trademark is stamped, branded or otherwise impressed, or shall knowingly and unlawfully buy, sell, take and carry away, secrete, destroy or convert to his own use, any timber upon which a trademark has been intentionally and without lawful authority removed, defaced or destroyed, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny thereof and punished as in other cases of larceny. (1903, c. 261, s. 5; Rev., s. 3853; C. S., s. 3991.)

§ 80-22. Altering timber trademark crime.—If any person shall willfully change, alter, erase or destroy any registered timber mark or brand put or cut upon any logs, timber, lumber or boards, except by the consent of the owner thereof, with intent to steal the said logs or timber, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both. (1889, c. 142, s. 3; 1903, c. 41; Rev., s. 3855; C. S., s. 3992; 1943, c. 543.)

Editor's Note. — The 1943 amendment such person shall be guilty of larceny and struck out the words "if the same shall punished as for that offense." have been done with a felonious intent,

§ 80-23. Possession of branded logs without consent, misdemeanor.—If any person shall knowingly and willfully take up or have in his possession any log, timber, lumber or board upon which a registered timber mark or brand has been put or cut, except by the consent of the owner thereof, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both. (1889, c. 142, s. 4; 1903, c. 42; Rev., s. 3856; C. S., s. 3993.)

ARTICLE 3.

Mineral Waters and Beverages.

§ 80-24. Description of name, labels, or marks filed and published.—Any person, partnership or corporation engaged in manufacturing, bottling, selling or dealing in mineral, soda or aerated waters, beers, lager beer, milk or other beverages, in kegs, boxes, trays, crates, bottles, syphons, barrels, casks, or other vessels, with his name or other marks or devices printed, impressed, or otherwise produced thereon, or upon labels pasted thereon, shall file with the clerk of the superior court of the county in which his principal office or place of business (or in case of a foreign corporation, its principal office or place of business or agency) is located, a description of the names, marks, or devices so used by him, and cause such description to be printed twice a week for two successive weeks in some daily newspaper published in said county, if there be a daily newspaper published therein, and if not, then in some newspaper published in said county once a week for two successive weeks. The description of the names, marks or devices, before being filed as aforesaid, shall be signed by the person filing the same, or in case of a partnership, by a partner, or in case of a corporation, by one of its officers or managers, and shall be acknowledged by the person signing the same as his act, or as the act of said partnership or corporation, before an officer competent to take acknowledgment of deeds. The publication hereby required need only be a brief description, sufficient for identification, of such names or marks, and need not contain a certified copy of the acknowledgment. The provisions of this article shall apply to all vessels enumerated above upon which said names or marks shall appear as aforesaid, whether or not any of the same shall be in existence at the time of said filing and publication. (1907, c. 901, s. 1; C. S., s. 3994.)

§ 80-25. Clerk to record description.—The several clerks of the superior courts mentioned in the preceding section shall record in some book of record in their custody all such descriptions filed with them, and also copies of the said advertisement in the newspaper, certified to by the publishers thereof, and shall furnish copies thereof, duly certified by them in the usual manner, to any person who may apply therefor, and shall receive for the recording of such copies a fee of fifty cents. Such certified copies shall be evidence that the provisions of the preceding section have been complied with, and shall be prima facie evidence of the title of the person, named therein, to the vessels upon which his name, marks, labels or devices appear as described in said description. (1907, c. 901, s. 2; C. S., s. 3995.)

§ 80-26. Refilling vessels and defacing marks forbidden; punishment.—After any person has filed and published his description of such names, marks or devices, in accordance with the preceding provisions of this article, it shall be unlawful for any persons to fill in any way the vessels upon which such names or other marks are printed, impressed or otherwise produced, with any water or beverage enumerated in this article, or to deface, remove or conceal such names or other marks, thereon, with intent to convert the same to his use, or to have on sale, offer for sale, traffic in, handle in the course of business, transport, or to take or collect from ash or garbage receptacles or from public or private premises, or to keep in stock, store or dispose of or deal or traffic in same, or any parts thereof, without the written consent of the person whose name or other marks are upon such vessels, or to willfully break, destroy or otherwise injure any of the articles mentioned in this section. Any person who shall do any of the acts declared to be unlawful by this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished for the first offense by imprisonment of not less than ten days or more than one year, or by a fine of three dollars for each of such kegs, casks or barrels, and one dollar for each of such boxes, trays, crates, bottles, syphons, or any other vessels so unlawfully used; and for the second and subsequent offense by imprisonment for not less than twenty days or more than one year, or by a fine of not less than two dollars or more than five dollars for each vessel unlawfully used, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court before whom such offense is tried: Provided, this section shall not apply to such vessels as the bottler charges his customers for at the time of sale of the goods. (1907, c. 901, s. 3; C. S., s. 3996.)

§ 80-27. Possession of vessels as evidence of offense.—If any person shall be found to be in possession of any of the vessels mentioned above in this article, or any parts thereof, and the persons whose names, marks or devices have been placed thereon, as above provided, have complied with the provisions of this article, and the persons so found in possession thereof shall be charged with any of the offenses mentioned in the preceding section, then such possession shall be prima facie evidence that such person is guilty of the offenses so charged: Provided, this section shall not apply to bottlers who receive such vessels in the course of business and mixed and exchanged in shipment, when such bottler within a reasonable time notifies the owners thereof of the location thereof. (1907, c. 901, s. 4; C. S., s. 3998.)

§ 80-28. Search warrants.—If the owner of any vessel mentioned in § 80-24 who has complied with the provisions thereof, or the officer, agent or employee of such owner, shall make an affidavit before a justice of the peace asserting that he has reason to believe and does believe that any person is in actual or constructive possession of, or is making use of, any article above mentioned or any part thereof, or in any way declared to be unlawful by § 80-26, the justice may issue his search warrant to any sheriff, constable or other officer of the law to whom such warrant may be directed, and cause the premises designated in the warrant to be searched; and if article above mentioned or any part thereof shall be found upon the premises so designated, the officer executing such search warrant shall thereupon report the same, under his oath, to the justice, who shall thereupon, upon said report and upon the oath of any person or persons charging any violations of § 80-26, issue his warrant for the arrest of the person against whom the charge is made, and cause him, together with such articles, to be brought before him for trial. (1907, c. 901, s. 5; C. S., s. 3999.)

§ 80-29. Concurrent jurisdiction of superior courts and justices of the peace.—The justices of the peace in the counties of this State shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the superior courts of their respective counties in the case of persons arrested for violation of the above provisions of this article, and such justices of the peace shall proceed to hear and determine such cases when the parties arrested are brought before them, in all cases where the punishment fixed in this article is such as to give the justices jurisdiction under the Constitution and laws of this State. And if such person shall be found to be guilty of the violation of any of the provisions of this article, the court trying such person and imposing the punishment herein prescribed shall also award possession to the owner of all the property involved in such violation. (1907, c. 901, s. 6; C. S., s. 4000.)

§ 80-30. Accepting deposit not deemed sale.—The requiring, taking or accepting of any deposit for any purpose upon any vessel above enumerated shall not be deemed to constitute a sale of such property, either optional, conditional or otherwise, in any proceedings under this article. (1907, c. 901, s. 7; C. S., s. 4001.)

§ 80-31. When refiling description not required.—Any person, partnership, or corporation that has heretofore filed and published a description of his name, marks or devices for the purposes mentioned in § 80-1, in accordance with the law existing at the time of such filing and publication, shall not be required to again file such description, but shall be entitled to all the benefits of this article as fully as if he had complied with all the provisions thereof. (1907, c. 901, s. 8; C. S., s. 4002.)

§ 80-32. Application of the article.—The provisions of this article do not apply to any person using the vessels enumerated above for the beverages placed therein by the owners, or who after consumption of the contents is in possession of the same, while awaiting the return to the owners, nor shall the provisions of this article apply to any garbage man collecting the same in the regular course of his business: Provided, this article shall not apply to beer and mineral water bottles shipped into this State from other states. (1907, c. 901, s. 9; C. S., s. 4003.)

ARTICLE 4.

Farm Names.

§ 80-33. Registration of farm names authorized.—Any owner of a farm in the State of North Carolina may have the name of his farm, together with a description of his lands to which said name applies, recorded in a register kept for that purpose in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the farm is located, and the register of deeds shall furnish to such landowner a proper certificate setting forth the name and description of the lands. (1915, c. 108, s. 1; C. S., s. 4004.)

Local Modification. — Sampson, Stokes,
Surry: C. S., § 4011.

§ 80-34. After registry, similar name not registered.—When any name has been recorded as the name of any farm in such county, the name, or one so nearly like it as to produce confusion, shall not be recorded as the name of any other farm in the same county. (1915, c. 108, s. 1; C. S., s. 4005.)

§ 80-35. Distinctive name required.—No name shall be registered as the name of a farm where such proposed name or one so nearly like it as to produce confusion has been so used in connection with another farm in the same county as to become generally known prior to March 5, 1915, unless the name used has also prior to March 5, 1915, become well known as the name of the farm proposed to be registered; and in this event two or more farms in the same county may be registered with the same name with some prefix or suffix added to distinguish them. (1915, c. 108, s. 2; C. S., s. 4006.)

§ 80-36. Application for registry; publication and hearing.—Before a name shall be registered the clerk shall have publication made at least once a week for four weeks in some secular newspaper published in the county, if one is so published, and if one is not so published, then one having a general circulation in the county, giving the name of the applicant, the proposed name of registration and a sufficient description to identify the farm and the time of the return; and if the owner or clerk knows of another farm in the county of the same or very similar name, a summons shall be served on the owner thereof at least ten days before the return day. On the return day any person, firm or corporation may file claim to the name, and the clerk may pass upon the claim and award the name to any party, with the right to appeal by the aggrieved party to the superior court within ten days, as in other cases, and on such appeal the judge shall decide the matters unless a jury be demanded by some party. (1915, c. 108; s. 2; C. S., s. 4007.)

§ 80-37. Fees for registration.—Any person having the name of his farm recorded as provided in this article shall first pay to the register of deeds a fee of one dollar, which fee shall be paid to the county treasurer as other fees are to be paid to the county treasurer by such register of deeds: Provided, that in counties where the fee system obtains, the fees herein mentioned shall go to the register of deeds of such counties. (1915, c. 108, s. 3; C. S., s. 4008.)

§ 80-38. When transfer of farm carries name.—When any owner of a farm, the name of which has been recorded as provided in this article, transfers by deed or otherwise the whole of such farm, such transfer may include the registered name thereof; but if the owner shall transfer only a portion of such farm, then, in that event, the registered name thereof shall not be transferred to the purchaser unless so stated in the deed or conveyance. (1915, c. 108, s. 4; C. S., s. 4009.)

§ 80-39. Cancellation of registry; fee.—When any owner of a registered farm desires to cancel the registered name thereof, he shall state on the margin of the record of the register of such name the following: "This name is canceled and I hereby release all rights thereunder," which shall be signed by the person canceling such name, and attested by the register of deeds. For such latter service the register of deeds shall charge a fee of twenty-five cents, which shall be paid to the county treasurer as other fees are paid to the county treasurer by him. (1915, c. 108, s. 5; C. S., s. 4010.)

ARTICLE 5.

Stamping of Gold and Silver Articles.

§ 80-40. Marking gold articles regulated.—It shall be unlawful to make for sale, or sell, or offer to sell or dispose of, or have in possession with intent to sell or dispose of, any article of merchandise made in whole or in part of gold or any alloy of gold, and having stamped, branded, engraved or imprinted thereon, or upon any tag, card or label attached thereto, or upon any box, package, cover or wrapper in which the article is enclosed, any mark indicating or designed to indicate that the gold, or alloy of gold, therein is of a greater degree of fineness than its actual fineness, unless the actual fineness, in the case of flatware and watchcases, is not less by more than three one-thousandths parts, and in the case of all other articles is not less by more than one-half karat than the fineness indicated, according to the standards and subject to the qualifications hereinafter set forth.

In any test for ascertaining the fineness of gold or alloy in the articles, according to the required standards, the part of the gold or alloy taken for the test, analysis or assay shall be a part not containing or having attached thereto any solder or alloy of inferior fineness used for brazing or uniting the parts of the articles. In addition to the foregoing tests and standards, the actual fineness of the entire quantity of gold and of its alloys contained in any article mentioned in this section (except watchcases), including all solder or alloy of inferior metal used for brazing or uniting the parts (all such gold, alloys, and solder being assayed as one piece), shall not be less by more than one karat than the fineness indicated by the mark used as above indicated. Violation of this section is a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in this article. (1907, c. 331, s. 1; C. S., s. 4012.)

§ 80-41. Marking silver articles regulated.—It shall be unlawful to make for sale or sell or offer to sell or dispose of or have in possession with intent to sell or dispose of—

- (1) Any article of merchandise made in whole or in part of silver of any alloy of silver, and having marked, stamped, branded or engraved or imprinted thereon, or upon any tag, card or label attached thereto, or upon any box, package, cover or wrapper in which the article is enclosed, the words "sterling silver" or "sterling" or any colorable imitation thereof, unless nine hundred and twenty-five one-thousandths of the component parts of the metal appearing or purporting to be silver, of which the article is manufactured, are pure silver, subject to the qualifications hereinafter set forth: Provided, that in the case of all such articles there shall be allowed a divergence in fineness of four one-thousandths parts from the foregoing standard.
- (2) Any article of merchandise made in whole or in part of silver or of any alloy of silver, and having marked, stamped, branded, engraved or imprinted thereon, or upon any card, tag or label attached thereto, or upon any box, package, cover or wrapper in which the article is enclosed, the words "coin" or "coin silver," or any colorable imitation thereof, unless nine hundred one-thousandths of the component parts of the metal appearing or purporting to be silver, of which the article is manufactured, are pure silver, subject to the qualifications hereinafter set forth: Provided, that in the case of all such articles there shall be allowed a divergence in fineness of four one-thousandths parts from the foregoing standards.
- (3) Any article of merchandise made in whole or in part of silver or of any alloy of silver, and having stamped, branded, engraved or imprinted thereon, or upon any tag, card or label attached thereto, or upon any box, package, cover or wrapper in which the article is enclosed, any mark or word (other than the word "sterling" or the word "coin") indicating, or designed to indicate, that the silver or alloy of silver in the article is of a greater degree of fineness than its actual fineness, unless the actual fineness is not less by more than four one-thousandths parts than the actual fineness indicated by the use of such mark or word, subject to the qualifications hereinafter set forth.

In any test for ascertaining the fineness of the articles mentioned in this section, according to the foregoing standards, the part taken for test, analysis or assay shall be a part not containing or having attached thereto any solder or alloy of inferior metal used for brazing or uniting the parts of such article. In addition to the foregoing test and standards, the actual fineness of the entire quantity of metal purporting to be silver contained in any article mentioned in this section, including all solder or alloy of inferior fineness used for brazing or uniting the parts (all such silver, alloy or solder being assayed as one piece), shall not be less by more than ten one-thousandths parts than the fineness indicated according to the foregoing standards, by the mark employed as above indicated. Violation of this section is a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in this article. (1907, c. 331, s. 2; C. S., s. 4013.)

§ 80-42. Marking articles of gold plate regulated.—It shall be unlawful to make for sale, or sell, or offer to sell or dispose of, or have in possession with intent to sell or dispose of, any article of merchandise made in whole or in part of inferior metal, having deposited or plated thereon or brazed or otherwise affixed thereto a plate, plating, covering or sheet of gold, or of any alloy of gold, which article is known in the market as "rolled gold plate," "gold plate," "gold-filled," or "gold electroplate," or by any similar designation, and having stamped, branded, engraved or imprinted thereon, or upon any tag, card or label attached thereto, or upon any box, package, cover or wrapper in which the article is enclosed, any word or mark usually employed to indicate the fineness of gold, unless such word be accompanied by other words plainly indicating that such article or some part thereof is made of rolled gold plate, or gold plate, or gold electroplate, or is gold-filled, as the case may be. Violation of this section is a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in this article. (1907, c. 331, s. 3; C. S., s. 4014.)

§ 80-43. Marking articles of silver plate regulated.—It shall be unlawful to make for sale, or sell, or offer to sell or dispose of, or have in possession with intent to sell or dispose of, any article of merchandise made in whole or in part of inferior metal, having deposited or plated thereon or brazed or otherwise affixed thereto, a plate, plating, covering or sheet of silver or of any alloy of silver, which article is known in the market as "silver plate" or "silver electroplate," or by any similar designation, and having stamped, branded, engraved or imprinted thereon, or upon any tag, card or label attached thereto, or upon any box, package, cover or wrapper in which the article is enclosed, the word "sterling" or the word "coin," either alone or in conjunction with any other words or marks. Violation of this section is a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in this article. (1907, c. 331, s. 4; C. S., s. 4015.)

§ 80-44. Violation of article misdemeanor.—Every person, firm, corporation or association guilty of a violation of any one of the preceding sections of this article, and every officer, manager, director or managing agent of any such person, firm, corporation or association directly participating in such violation or consenting thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided, that if the person charged with violation of this article shall prove that the article concerning which the charge was made was manufactured prior to the thirteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seven, then the charge shall be dismissed. (1907, c. 331, s. 5; C. S., s. 4016.)

ARTICLE 6.

Cattle Brands.

§ 80-45. Owners of stock to register brand or marks.—Every person who has any horses, cattle, hogs or sheep may have an earmark or brand different from the earmark or brand of all other persons, which he shall record with the clerk of the board of commissioners of the county where his horses, cattle, hogs or sheep are; and he may brand all horses eighteen months old and upwards with the said brand, and earmark all his hogs and sheep six months old and upwards with the said earmark; and earmark or brand all his cattle twelve months old and upwards; and if any dispute shall arise about any earmark or brand, the same shall be decided by the record thereof. (R. C., c. 17, s. 1; Code, s. 2317; Rev., s. 3028; C. S., s. 4017.)

ARTICLE 7.

Recording of Cattle Brands and Marks with Commissioner of Agriculture.

§ 80-46. "Stock growers" and "livestock" defined.—Every person, firm, association or corporation, who owns, raises, buys or sells cattle in this State, is deemed a stock grower, and all cattle are deemed livestock, within the meaning of this article. (1935, c. 232, s. 1.)

§ 80-47. Stock growers limited to single mark or brand; registration not required; law compulsory upon registration.—Every stock grower in this State must use one, and only one, mark or brand for said stock grower's cattle, which mark or brand shall be placed in some conspicuous place on said cattle, which place must be designated in the application for the recording of said mark or brand hereinafter provided for in this article: Provided, however, nothing in this section nor in any subsequent section of this article shall be construed to be compulsory upon any stock grower in this State to apply for or register his mark or brand of cattle; but when a stock grower does so, then this article and all provisions thereof shall be binding and compulsory upon said stock grower. (1935, c. 232, s. 2.)

Cited in Gibbs v. Armstrong, 233 N. C. 279, 63 S. E. (2d) 551 (1951).

§ 80-48. Commissioner of Agriculture named recorder.—The Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of North Carolina is hereby declared to be the State recorder of marks and brands of cattle growers in this State. (1935, c. 232, s. 3.)

§ 80-49. Recording with Commissioner.—All brands or marks shall be recorded with the State recorder. (1935, c. 232, s. 4.)

§ 80-50. Application; effect of recording; fee; no duplication allowed.—Any stock grower in the State of North Carolina, who desires to avail himself of the provisions of this article, shall make and sign an application, furnished by the State recorder, setting forth a facsimile and description of the brand or mark which said stock grower desires to use, and shall file the same with the State recorder, who shall record the same in a book kept by him for that purpose, and from and after the filing of the same, the stock grower filing the same shall have exclusive right to use said brand or mark within the State, and shall pay the State recorder a fee of one dollar; provided, that the State recorder shall not file or record such mark or brand if the same has been heretofore recorded by him in favor of some other grower. (1935, c. 232, s. 5.)

§ 80-51. Certified copy of mark or brand; registration; fees and disposition thereof.—Upon the recording of any such brand or mark with the State recorder, as herein provided, the owner thereof may procure from the State recorder a certified copy thereof, paying therefor the sum of fifty cents, and may cause the same to be recorded in the office of the register of deeds in the county where said stock grower resides, and shall pay said register of deeds a fee of fifty cents for recording same. It shall be unlawful for any register of deeds to record any such mark or brand, unless the same is certified to him by the State recorder. Application blanks and a book for recording said marks and brands shall be furnished each register of deeds of the county applying for same, and shall be paid for by the State recorder, if he has sufficient funds derived from the recording fees, and if not, then by the county so applying for same. All fees received by the State recorder shall be used in the administration of this article, and any surplus paid into the general fund of the Agriculture Department. In order to put the provisions of this article in force the Commissioner of Agriculture is hereby authorized to use any fund in his department not otherwise appropriated. (1935, c. 232, s. 6.)

§ 80-52. Certified copy prima facie evidence of ownership.—In all civil or criminal suits in any court in this State a duly certified copy, under the seal of the Department of Agriculture, of any brand or mark, duly recorded under the provisions of this article, shall be prima facie evidence of the ownership of the animal of said cattle grower. (1935, c. 232, s. 7.)

§ 80-53. Records to be kept by those engaged in slaughtering.—Any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of slaughtering cattle shall keep at its place of business a book in which must be kept the name or names of the persons from whom any marked or branded cattle are purchased and the date of purchase and his address, and the mark or brand of such cattle. Said book must be kept ready at all times for the inspection of any person who desires to examine the same. (1935, c. 232, s. 8.)

§ 80-54. Purchaser of branded cattle to keep record of purchases.—Any person purchasing any marked or branded cattle, the mark or brand of which has been duly recorded under the provisions of this article, shall keep the name and address of the person from whom said cattle are purchased, a description of the mark or brand and the date of the purchase, and exhibit same to any person desiring to examine same. (1935, c. 232, s. 9.)

§ 80-55. Defacing marks or brands made misdemeanor.—No stock grower or other person in this State must change, conceal, deface, disfigure or obliterate any brand or mark previously branded, impressed or marked on any head of cattle, or put his or any other brand or mark upon or over any part of any brand or mark previously branded or marked upon any head of cattle, and no person shall make or use any counterfeit of any mark or brand of any other person. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1935, c. 232, s. 10.)

§ 80-56. Violation of article made misdemeanor.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1935, c. 232, s. 11.)

ARTICLE 1.

Uniform Weights and Measures.

§ 81-1. Office of Superintendent of Weights and Measures.—In order to protect the purchasers or sellers of any commodity and to provide one standard of weight and of measure of length and surface throughout the State, which must be in conformity with the standard of measure of length, surface, weight and capacity established by Congress, the office of Superintendent of Weights and Measures for the State of North Carolina is hereby established as hereinafter provided. (1927, c. 261, s. 1; 1945, c. 280, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment inserted the words "or sellers" and "weight and of" near the beginning of the section.

§ 81-2. Administration of article.—The provisions of this article shall be administered by the State Department of Agriculture through a suitable person to be selected by the Commissioner of Agriculture and known as the Superintendent of Weights and Measures. For the purpose of administering and giving effect to the provisions of this article, the rules and codes of specifications and tolerances as adopted by the National Conference of Weights and Measures and recommended by the United States Bureau of Standards and approved by the North Carolina Department of Agriculture are hereby adopted; however, the Department of Agriculture is empowered to make such further rules and regulations as may be necessary to make effective the purposes and provisions of this article, and to fix and prescribe reasonable charges and fees for examining, testing, adjusting and certifying the correct, or incorrect, equipment used in the buying or selling of any commodity or thing, or any equipment used for hire or award, or in the computation of any charge for services rendered on the basis of weight or measure, or in the determination of weight or measure, when a charge is made for such determination. Such rules and regulations and fees and charges shall be published thirty days before such rules, regulations, fees and charges become effective. (1927, c. 261, s. 2; 1931, c. 150; 1943, c. 762, s. 1; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1931 amendment inserted in the second sentence the provision as to rules adopted by the National Conference of Weights and Measures, the 1943 amendment inserted therein the words "and approved by the North Carolina Department of Agriculture," and the 1949 amendment rewrote the sentence.

§ 81-2.1. Board of Agriculture authorized to establish standards of weights and measures for commodities having none. — The Board of Agriculture is authorized, directed and empowered to establish by order (after public notice as may be determined by it), standards of weights and measures on any commodity in any instance where no standard has been established by the Congress of the United States, or by the laws of the State of North Carolina, provided, however, that when a standard is established by Congress, or by the laws of the State of North Carolina, such standard shall supersede the standard or standards established by the Board of Agriculture. Provided that this section does not authorize the Board of Agriculture to establish a standard log rule measure. (1945, c. 280, s. 1; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment inserted the comma after the phrase in parentheses and struck out in the next line the word "and" formerly appearing after the word "commodity." It also changed "act" to "section" in the proviso.

§ 81-3. Employment of Superintendent of Weights and Measures. — The Commissioner of Agriculture shall have authority to employ a Superintendent of Weights and Measures and necessary assistants, local inspectors and such other employees as may be necessary in carrying out the provisions of this article, and fix and regulate their duties.

The person named as Superintendent of Weights and Measures shall give bond to the State of North Carolina in the sum of ten thousand dollars to guarantee the faithful performance of his duties, the expense of said bond to be paid by the State and said bond to be approved as other bonds for the State officers. The Superintendent of Weights and Measures shall, to safeguard the interests of the buyer and seller, require bond from other employees authorized under the first paragraph of this section in the amounts of not less than one thousand dollars for each employee designated as a local inspector or sealer of weights and measures. (1927, c. 261, ss. 3, 4; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment inserted the words "and said bond" in the first sentence of the second paragraph.

§ 81-4. Salaries and expenses. — All salaries and necessary expenses shall be paid as now provided for the other departments and agencies of the State government. (1927, c. 261, s. 5; 1931, c. 150; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — Prior to the 1931 amendment this section provided for the payment of salaries, etc., from the fees collected under this article. The 1949 amendment substituted "paid" for "provided."

§ 81-5. Standard of work for local standard keepers. — When any town or county wishes to appoint a local standard keeper or inspector or sealer of weights and measures, the appointment and regulation of his work must be in keeping with the rules and regulations of the State Department of Agriculture and his work subject to supervision of the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures. (1927, c. 261, s. 6; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment inserted the comma after the word "measures."

§ 81-6. Receipts for fees; approved standards to be marked. — The State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, or his deputies, or inspectors on his direction, shall, after examining any standards of weights or measures or other equipment used for determining the weight or measure of anything, issue to the owner of such measuring device or equipment a receipt for any fees collected and, when such measuring device or equipment is found to be accurate, stamp upon, or tag, the measuring instrument with the letters "N.C." and two figures representing the year in which the inspection was made. (1927, c. 261, s. 7; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment substituted "equipment" for "apparatus."

§ 81-7. Standard equipment.—There shall be issued to each deputy inspector, or local sealer of weights and measures, such standard equipment as may be necessary. (1927, c. 261, s. 8.)

§ 81-8. Standards of weights and measures. — The weights and measures received from the United States under joint resolution of Congress, approved June fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six, and July twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and such new weights and measures as shall be received from the United States as standards of weights and measures in addition thereto, or in renewal thereof, and such as shall be supplied by the State in conformity therewith and certified by the National Bureau of Standards shall be the State standards of weights and measures, and in addition thereto there shall be supplied from time to time such copies of these as may be deemed necessary. The Superintendent of Weights and Measures shall take charge of the standards adopted by this article as the standards of the State and cause them to be kept in a fireproof building belonging to the State, from which they shall not be removed except for repairs or for certification, and he shall take all other necessary precautions for their safekeeping. He shall maintain the State standards in good order and shall submit them at least once in ten years to the National Bureau of Standards for certification. He shall keep complete record of the standards, balances and other apparatus belonging to the State and take a receipt for same from his successor in office. He shall annually, on the first day of July, make to the Commissioner of Agriculture a report of all work done in his office. (1927, c. 261, s. 9; 1943, c. 543; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1943 amendment substituted "July" for "December" in the last sentence of this section. And the 1949 amendment substituted "one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six" for "one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six" in the first sentence.

§ 81-8.1. Authority to prescribe standards of weight or measurement for sale of milk or milk products.—The Board of Agriculture is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and promulgate, after due notice and hearing, rules and regulations prescribing standards or units of weight or measurement by which milk, cream or other fluids containing milk or milk products may be sold at retail in bottles or other capped or sealed containers, and the sale thereof by any other standards or units of weight or measurement shall be unlawful. (1949, c. 982.)

§ 81-9. Supervision of weights and measures and weighing or measuring devices.—The State Superintendent of Weights and Measures shall have and keep general supervision of the weights and measures and weighing or measuring devices offered for sale, sold, or in use in the State. He, or his deputies or inspectors at his direction, shall, upon written request of any citizen, firm, or corporation, or educational institution in the State, test or calibrate weights, measures and weighing or measuring devices used as standards in the State. (1927, c. 261, s. 10; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment struck out the comma formerly appearing after "deputies" in the second sentence. struck out "a" formerly appearing before "general" in the first sentence. It also

§ 81-10. Authority of deputy or local inspector.—Each deputy or local inspector shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, under the direction of the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, to inspect, test, try and ascertain if they are correct all weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices kept, offered, or exposed for sale, sold, or used or employed within the State by any proprietor, agent, lessee, or employee in proving the size, quantity, extent, area, or measurement of quantities, things produced, or articles for distribution or consumption, purchased or offered or submitted by any person or persons for sale, hire, or award, and he shall have the power, and shall, from time to time, weigh or measure and inspect packages or amounts of commodities of whatsoever kind kept for the purpose of sale, offered, or exposed for sale, or sold, or in the process of delivery, in order to determine whether the same contain the amount represented, or whether they be kept, offered or exposed for sale, or sold in a manner in accordance with law. He may, for the purpose above mentioned and in the general performance of his duties, enter and go into, or open, and without formal warrant, any stand, place, building, or premises, or stop any vendor, peddler, junk dealer, coal wagon, ice wagon, delivery wagon, or any person whomsoever and require him, if necessary, to proceed to some place which the sealer may specify for the purpose of making the proper test. (1927, c. 261, s. 11.)

§ 81-11. Condemnation and destruction of incorrect weights, measures or devices.—The deputy or local inspector shall condemn, seize, and may destroy incorrect weights and measures or weighing and measuring devices, which in his best judgment are not susceptible of satisfactory repair, but such as are incorrect and yet in his best judgment may be repaired, he shall mark or tag as "Condemned for Repairs" in a manner prescribed by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures. The owners or users of any weights, measures or weighing or measuring devices of which such disposition is made shall have the same repaired and corrected within ten days and they may neither use nor dispose of same in any way, but shall hold the same at the disposal of the sealer. Any weights, measures, or weighing or measuring devices which have been condemned for repairs and have not been repaired as required shall be confiscated by the sealer. (1927, c. 261, s. 12.)

§ 81-12. Seizure of false weights and measures.—The Superintendent of Weights and Measures, his deputies and inspectors are hereby made special policemen and are authorized and empowered to arrest without formal warrant, any violator of the statutes in relation to weights and measures and to seize as use for evidence without formal warrant any false or unsealed weights, measures, or weighing or measuring devices or package or amount of commodity found to be used, retained, or offered or exposed for sale or sold in violation of law. (1927, c. 261, s. 13.)

§ 81-13. Obstruction to officers misdemeanor. — Any person who shall hinder or obstruct in any way the Superintendent of Weights and Measures, his deputies or inspectors, in the performance of his official duties shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than three months, or by both fine and imprisonment. (1927, c. 261, s. 14.)

§ 81-14. Impersonation of Superintendent of Weights and Measures or deputies misdemeanor. — Any person who shall impersonate in any way the Superintendent of Weights and Measures, his deputies or inspectors, by the use of his seal or counterfeit of his seal or otherwise, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (1927, c. 261, s. 15.)

§ 81-14.1. Weighing livestock sold at public livestock market; weight certificates. — Whenever livestock is offered or exposed for sale, or sold by weight at a public livestock market, the livestock shall be weighed by a public weighmaster and each individual sale shall be accompanied with a weight certificate in duplicate on which shall be expressed in ink or other indelible substance, the name and address of seller, the kind, number and weight of livestock being offered for sale, or sold, the time of day and date of weighing and the name of weighmaster. The information expressed on said certificate shall be announced or otherwise made known immediately preceding the sale, if said sale be by auction. (1943, c. 762, s. 1.)

§ 81-14.2. Commodities to be sold by weight, measure or numerical count.—It shall be unlawful to sell except for immediate consumption by the purchaser, on the premises of the seller, liquid commodities in any other manner than by weight or liquid measures, or commodities not liquid in any other manner than by measure of length, by weight, or by numerical count. When a commodity is sold by numerical count in excess of one unit, the units which constitute said numerical count shall be uniform in size and/or weight, and be so exposed as to be readily observed by the purchaser: Provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the sale of fruits, vegetables, and other dry commodities in standard containers defined by acts of the United States Congress known as "Standard Container Acts," and the rules and regulations promulgated in accordance therewith; or of fruits and vegetables sold by the head, or bunch, or of any other commodity which is especially provided for by some other section of this chapter. (1945, c. 280, s. 1; 1949, c. 973.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment rewrites the first sentence and changed the former words "consumption on the premises" to read "consumption by the purchaser, on the premises of the seller."

§ 81-14.3. Unlawful for package to mislead purchaser.—It shall be unlawful to keep for the purpose of sale, offer or expose for sale, or sell, any commodity in package form when said package is so made, or formed, or filled, or wrapped, or exposed, or marked, or labeled as to mislead, or deceive the purchaser as to the quantity of its contents. (1945, c. 280, s. 1.)

§ 81-14.4. Standard weight packages of flour, meal, grits and hominy.—All flour and meal packed for sale, offered or exposed for sale, or sold in this State shall be in one of the following standard weight packages and no other, namely: five pounds, ten pounds, twenty-five pounds, fifty pounds, one hundred pounds, and multiples of one hundred pounds. However, non-standard weight packages may be packed for sale, offered or exposed for sale, or sold in this State, weighing three pounds or less, if said nonstandard weight packages shall be plainly and conspicuously marked showing net contents in avoirdupois weight: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the retail sale of any amount of flour or meal direct to the consumer from bulk, upon order and weight at time of delivery to the consumer.

The term "flour" as used herein shall be construed to mean any finely ground product of wheat, or other grain, corn, peas, beans, seeds or other substance, with or without added ingredients, intended for use as food for man.

The term "meal" as used herein shall be construed to mean any product of grain, corn, peas, beans, seed or other substance coarsely ground, with or without added ingredients, either bolted, or unbolted, including grits and hominy, intended for use as food for man. (1945, c. 280, s. 1; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1949 amendment substituted the word "used" for "said" in line one of the second paragraph.

§ 81-14.5. Weight and measure terms defined. — (a) Barrel.—The term “barrel” when used in connection with beer, ale, porter, and other similar fermented liquor, shall be understood to mean a unit of thirty-one liquid gallons, and fractional parts of a barrel shall be understood to mean like fractional parts of thirty-one gallons.

(b) Bushel.—The term “bushel” when used in connection with dry measure and standard containers shall be understood to mean a unit of two thousand one hundred and fifty and forty-two one hundredths (2150.42) cubic inches, of which the dry quart and dry pint, respectively, are the one-thirty-second and one-sixty-fourth parts.

(c) Cord.—Whenever wood is solicited, bought or sold in this State on the basis of ricked or stacked measurement, as is customarily the case in transactions involving such forest products as, for example, pulp wood and fuel wood, the unit of said measurement shall be the cord and no other; except that until June first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-six, same may be purchased on the basis of a unit of one hundred and sixty cubic feet or of the cord of one hundred and twenty-eight cubic feet. The term “cord” when used in connection with such purchases of wood, shall be understood to mean a quantity of wood consisting of any number of sticks, bolts or pieces laid parallel and together so as to form a rick or stack occupying a space four feet wide, four feet high and eight feet long, or such other dimensions that will, when multiplied together equal one hundred and twenty-eight cubic feet by volume, construed as being seventy per cent solid and thirty per cent air space or ninety solid cubic feet.

(d) Gallon.—Whenever the term “galion” is used in connection with liquid measure, it shall be understood to mean a unit of two hundred and thirty-one (231) cubic inches of which the liquid quart, liquid pint, and gill are respectively, the quarter, the one-eighth and the one-third-second parts.

(e) Pound.—Whenever the term “pound” is used in connection with weight, it shall be understood to be the avoirdupois pound as declared by act of the United States Congress, except in those cases where it is common practice to use the “troy” pound or “apothecaries” pound, and the “ounce” is one-sixteenth part of an avoirdupois pound.

(f) Ton.—The term “ton” shall be understood to mean a unit of two thousand (2000) pounds, avoirdupois weight. (1945, c. 280, s. 1.)

§ 81-14.6. Sale of cement blocks, cinder blocks and other concrete masonry units.—In order to protect the purchasers of concrete block, cinder block, and other concrete masonry units and to provide for a minimum load bearing strength, on and after July 1st, 1947, all concrete block, cinder block, and other concrete masonry units offered for sale or sold in this State shall have a load bearing strength of not less than 700 pounds per square inch of gross bearing area, or the minimum load bearing strength approved by the National Underwriters Laboratory or by the American Society of Testing Materials, whichever is less. The manufacturer shall furnish proof, acceptable to the Board of Agriculture, that the concrete block, cinder block, or other concrete masonry units being offered for sale or sold, complies with the minimum load bearing strength required by this section; and each and every sale shall be accompanied with a bill of sale or invoice on which shall be printed or stamped in ink or other indelible substance, a statement guaranteeing that the products covered by said bill of sale or invoice meet the minimum load bearing strength as required by this section signed by a duly authorized official or agent of the manufacturer; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not prohibit the sale or offer for sale of cement block, cinder block, or other concrete masonry units, known as “seconds” or “rejects,” due to size, shape, or less than minimum load bearing requirement, if and when said sale is accompanied with a bill of sale or invoice on which is printed or stamped in ink or other indelible substance in bold letters a statement that the cement block, cinder block, or other concrete masonry units so billed or invoiced are inferior in quality and do not comply with minimum load bearing requirement signed by a duly authorized official or agent of the manufacturer. (1947, c. 788.)

§ 81-14.7. Approval of heating units, etc., for curing tobacco.—All heating units and/or curing assemblies offered for sale or sold in this State, intended for use in curing the so-called flue cured tobacco, shall bear a label or seal of approval, authorized by the Board of Agriculture, and be accompanied with a statement, including drawings and instructions, signed by the manufacturer thereof, specifying how said heating unit shall be installed, operated, and/or used, so as to reduce to a minimum the fire hazard involved.

In order to obtain from the Board of Agriculture a label or seal of approval hereinafter referred to, the manufacturer of the heating unit and/or curing assembly hereinafter referred to as a "curer", shall first, and at his own expense, submit, set up and demonstrate a representative curer, so as to prove to the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, his deputy or inspector, that said curer will, when installed and operated in accordance with drawings and instructions furnished by said manufacturer, in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Agriculture, reduce to a minimum the fire hazard involved; and second, shall obtain from the office of the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures the label or seal of approval to be known as the "approval tag", and attach same to each curer which he (the manufacturer) offers for sale, sells, or installs either by himself or through his agent.

The Board of Agriculture is hereby authorized and empowered to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to make effective the provisions of this section, and to make a charge for the approval tag not in excess of fifty cents ($.50) per curer. The said charge shall include the cost of issuing the tag of approval, and the cost of ascertaining by on-the-farm inspection whether or not the curers are being installed in accordance with the manufacturer's drawings and instructions, and/or the rules and regulations as adopted by the Board of Agriculture. In making and formulating its rules and regulations, the Board of Agriculture will observe certain standards, such as the nature and type and technical construction of a tobacco curer referred to in this section; the type of fuel to be used, distance of flame from combustible materials; safety cut-off valves; method of installation; thermal or heating problems; inspection of curers, both before and after use and any and all changes and standards that should be promulgated and made to reduce fire hazards and lower insurance costs and to protect the tobacco crops of farmers. The enumeration of certain standards as herein given shall not limit the authority of the Board of Agriculture to make rules and regulations involving other standards suggested by scientific information as the same relates to curers and related problems. The monies thus collected shall be deposited with the State Treasurer of North Carolina in a special fund and expended for the purposes as set forth in this section, and the Director of the Budget shall allocate out of such monies an amount for the current fiscal year equal to the amount collected during the preceding fiscal year. (1947, c. 787; 1953, c. 727.)

Editor's Note. — The 1953 amendment of approval and added the second and third paragraphs.
deleted the former second sentence relating to expense of obtaining label or seal

§ 81-14.8. Sale of coal, coke and charcoal by weight.—(a) All coal, coke or charcoal sold in this State shall be sold by weight only. The standard unit of weight shall be the avoirdupois pound, and a ton shall be two thousand (2000) pounds.

(b) All coal, coke or charcoal sold or offered for sale in this State, or which is being transported on any public street or highway in North Carolina, shall be weighed on scales suitable for such weighing, which have been tested and sealed by a State Inspector of Weights and Measures. It shall not be unlawful to transport such coal, coke or charcoal to the nearest such scale for the purpose of having same weighed, but no sale or delivery of same shall take place until the load shall have been weighed.

(c) Each and every sale or delivery of coal, coke or charcoal to the consumer shall be accompanied by a weight certificate on which shall be expressed in ink or other indelible substance the name and address of the seller or dealer, name and address of purchaser or receiver, the kind and size of coal being delivered and the gross tare and net weights, the date of weighing, the signature of the weighmaster, a place for signature of receiver, the name of delivery man, and the number or license number of delivery vehicle. The weight certificate shall be made with an original and two (2) carbon copies, one (1) going to the purchaser or receiver, one to be held by the delivery man, and the third (3rd) to be held by the weighmaster: Provided, however, that when coal, coke or charcoal is delivered in this State in railway carload lots, the railway bill of lading may be used in lieu of the weight certificate required by this section. (1949, c. 860.)

§ 81-14.9. Establishment of standard loaves of bread; "loaf" defined.—When loaves of bread are offered for sale or sold in this State, each loaf shall be of one of the following weights and lengths and no other, to-wit: 1 pound, 11½ inches maximum length, 5 inches maximum width at bottom; 1½ pounds, 13½ inches maximum length, 5 inches maximum width at bottom; 2 pounds, 15 inches maximum length, 5 inches maximum width at bottom; 2½ pounds, 16½ inches maximum length, 5 inches maximum width at bottom. The term "loaf" as used in this section shall be construed to mean a loaf which is baked in a pan of rectangular shape, either with straight up or flared side, either with or without cover, and shall be known hereafter as the standard loaf. (1949, c. 1005; 1957, c. 374.)

Editor's Note. — The 1957 amendment, substituted "13½" for "15" in line four and "16½" for "15" in line six. The effective date was originally July 1, 1957, but was changed to January 1, 1958, by Session Laws 1957, c. 1069.

§ 81-15. Weights of goods sold in packages to be stated on package.—It shall be unlawful to keep for the purpose of sale, or expose for sale, or sell any commodity in package form unless the net quantity of the contents are plainly or conspicuously marked on the outside of the package in terms of weight, measure, or numerical count: Provided, however, that reasonable variations or tolerances shall be permitted and that these reasonable variations or tolerances, and also exemptions as to small packages shall be established by rules and regulations made by and published with other rules and regulations approved by the Department of Agriculture.

The words "in package form," as used in this section, shall be construed to include a commodity in a package, carton, case, can, box, bundle, barrel, bottle, phial, or other receptacle, on a spool or similar holder, in a container or band, or in a bolt or roll or in a ball, coil or skein or in coverings or wrappings of any kind, put up by the manufacturer, or when put up prior to the order of the commodity, by the vendor for either or both wholesale or retail, whether sealed or unsealed, closed or open. The words "plainly and conspicuously marked" as used in this section shall be construed to mean that the principal label shall indicate the net weight contents by legend as plain and conspicuous as any other legend thereon and as likely to be read as any other legend, and shall not be obscured by crowding or by color or by other legend. (1927, c. 261, s. 16; 1945, c. 280, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment added the second paragraph.

§ 81-15.1. Statement to be furnished seller of pulp wood by purchaser.—Upon delivery of pulp wood to a purchaser, from a seller in this State, the purchaser shall furnish the seller with a statement, showing the kind and amount of wood, the price paid, and the amount of wood refused, if any. (1945, c. 280, s. 3.)

§ 81-16: Repealed by Session Laws 1945, c. 280, s. 2.

§ 81-17. Net weight basis of sales by weight. — Whenever any commodity is sold on a basis of weight, it shall be unlawful to employ any other weight in such sale than the net weight of the commodity and all contracts concerning goods sold on a basis of weight shall be understood and construed accordingly. Whenever the weight of a commodity is mentioned in this article, it shall be understood and construed to mean the net weight of the commodity. (1927, c. 261, s. 18.)

Cited in State v. Presnell, 226 N. C. 160, 36 S. E. (2d) 927 (1946).

§ 81-18. Acts and omissions declared misdemeanor. — Any person who, by himself, or his servant or agent, or as the servant or agent of any other person, shall offer, or expose for sale, sell, use in the buying or selling of any commodity or thing or for hire or award, or in the computation of any charge for services rendered on the basis of weight or measure, or in the determination of weight or measure, when a charge is made for such determination, or retain in his possession a false weight or measure or weighing or measuring device or any weight or measure or weighing or measuring device which has not been sealed by the State Superintendent, or his deputy, or inspectors, or by a sealer or deputy sealer of weights and measures within one year, or shall dispose of any condemned weight, measure, or weighing or measuring device contrary to law, or remove the tag placed thereon by the State Superintendent, or his deputy, or inspectors, or who shall sell or offer or expose for sale less than the quantity he represents on any commodity, thing or service, or shall take or attempt to take more than the quantity he represents, when as the buyer, he furnishes the weight, measure, or weighing or measuring device by means of which the amount of any commodity, thing, or service is determined; or who shall keep for the purpose of sale, offer or expose for sale, or sell any commodity in a manner contrary to law; or who shall use in retail trade, except in the preparation of packages put up in advance of sale, a weighing or measuring device which is not so positioned that its indications may be accurately read and the weighing or measuring operation observed from some position which may reasonably be assumed by a customer; or who shall violate any provision, rule, regulation, code or order made and/or adopted as provided for by this article for which a specific penalty has not been provided; or who shall sell or offer for sale, or use or have in his possession for the purpose of selling or using any device or instrument to be used to, or calculated to, falsify any weight or measure, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine of not less than ten dollars or more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, upon a first conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction; and upon a second or subsequent conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction he shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (1927, c. 261, s. 19; 1945, c. 280, s. 1; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment inserted the provision relating to use of weighing or measuring device not so positioned that its indications and operation may be observed by a customer.

The 1949 amendment struck out the words "any provisions of this article" and inserted in lieu thereof the words "any provision, rule, regulation, code or order made and/or adopted as provided for by this article."

§ 81-19. “Person” construed.—The word “person” as used in this article shall be construed to impart both the plural and singular as the case demands and shall include corporations, companies, societies and associations. (1927, c. 261, s. 20.)

§ 81-20. “Weights, measures, weighing or measuring devices” construed.—The words “weights, measures, or (and) weighing or (and) measuring devices” as used in this article, shall be construed to include all weights, scales, beams, measures of every kind, instruments, mechanical devices for weighing or measuring any other appliances and accessories connected with any or all such instruments. The words “sale or sell” as used in this article shall be construed to include barter and exchange. (1927, c. 261, s. 21.)

§ 81-21: Repealed by Session Laws 1945, c. 280, s. 2.

§ 81-22. Certain measures regulated.—Whenever any commodity now named in § 81-23 shall be quoted or sold by the bushel, the bushel shall consist of the number of pounds stated in said section; and whenever quoted or sold in subdivisions of the bushel, the number of pounds shall consist of the fractional part of the number of pounds as set forth therein for the bushel; and when sold by the barrel shall consist of the number of pounds constituting 3.281 bushels. (1933, c. 523, s. 3; 1949, c. 984.)

Editor’s Note. — The 1949 amendment substituted “§ 81-23” for “§ 81-24” in line two.

If any person shall take any greater weight than is specified for any of the items named herein, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty dollars for each separate case to any person who may sue for same. (Code, ss. 3849, 3850; 1885, c. 26; 1905, c. 126; Rev., s. 3066; 1909, c. 555, s. 1; c. 835; 1915, c. 230, s. 1; 1917, c. 34; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 87; 1931, c. 76; 1937, c. 354.)

Editor's Note.—The 1931 amendment changed the weights relating to sweet potatoes. The 1937 amendment changed the clauses relating to corn in ear and sorghum molasses. It also rewrote the next to the last paragraph.

§ 81-23.1. Standard rule for measurement of logs.—The standard rule for determining the number of board feet in a tree or log shall be the so-called "International $\frac{1}{4}$ inch Log Rule." None of the provisions of this section shall apply to contracts entered into prior to the ratification of this section, nor to the measure of damages in any action in tort. This section shall not prevent the buyer and the seller from agreeing that some other log rule shall be used to determine the number of board feet in trees or logs covered by the contract between them. (1947, c. 400, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—For brief discussion of section, see 25 N. C. Law Rev. 428.

§ 81-24: Repealed by Session Laws 1945, c. 280, s. 2.

§ 81-25. Area of acre.—The measure of an acre of land shall be equal to a rectangle of sixteen poles or perches in length and ten in breadth, and shall contain one hundred and sixty square perches or poles, or four thousand eight hundred and forty square yards, six hundred and forty such acres being contained in a square mile. (33 Edw. I, c. 6; R. C., c. 117, s. 7; Code, s. 3843; Rev., s. 3065; C. S., s. 8062.)

§§ 81-26 to 81-35: Repealed by Session Laws 1943, c. 543.

ARTICLE 4.

Public Weighmasters.

§ 81-36. Public weighmaster defined; to be licensed.—Any person, either for himself or as a servant or agent of any other person, firm, or corporation, or who is elected by popular vote, who shall weigh, or measure, or count, or who shall ascertain from, or record the indications or readings of, a weighing, or measuring, or recording, device or apparatus for any other person, firm, or corporation, and declare the weight, or measure, or count, or reading or recording to be the true weight, or measure, or count, or reading, or recording of any commodity, thing, article, or product upon which the purchase, or sale, or exchange, is based, and make a charge for, or collect pay, a fee, or any other compensation for such act, shall issue a certificate of weight, or measure, or count, in accordance with the provisions of this article, shall be licensed and shall be known as a public weighmaster in the State of North Carolina. (1939, c. 285, s. 1; 1945, c. 1067.)

Editor's Note. — The 1945 amendment struck out the word "and" formerly appearing after the word "act" near the end of the section and substituted a comma therefor. For comment on section, see 17 N. C. Law Rev. 338.

§ 81-36.1. Administration of article.—The provisions of this article shall be administered by the State Department of Agriculture through the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures. (1945, c. 1067.)

§ 81-37. Application for license permit.—Any person desiring to be a public weighmaster in this State shall apply for and obtain license permit from the State of North Carolina through the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures by filing formal application under oath as follows:

"I,, a citizen of the United States, residing at, county of, have familiarized myself with the law and with full knowledge of the provisions contained therein relative to licensing of public weighmaster, do hereby file application for license permit to be issued accordingly.

I certify that I am of sound mind and am physically fit to perform the duties imposed upon a public weighmaster and that I will, if licensed, abide by and enforce all laws, rules and regulations relating to the Public Weighmaster Act to the best of my knowledge and ability." (1939, c. 285, s. 2; 1949, c. 983, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1949 amendment struck out the latter part of the original inserted the words "under oath" in reference to the filing of application, and form of application.

§ 81-38. Forms of certificates of weight, etc., to be approved by State Superintendent of Weights and Measures.—It shall be the duty of every public weighmaster licensed by this article to issue a certificate of weight, measure, count, reading, or recording on forms approved by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, and to enforce the provisions of this article, together with rules and regulations relating thereto. Said public weighmaster shall not receive compensation from the State for the duties so performed. (1939, c. 285, s. 3.)

§ 81-39. Official seal of public weighmasters.—It shall be the duty of every public weighmaster so licensed by this article, to obtain from the State Department of Weights and Measures an official seal, which seal shall have inscribed thereon the following words: "North Carolina Public Weighmaster" and such other design and/or legend as the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures may deem appropriate. The seal shall be stamped or impressed upon each and every weight, measure, numerical count, reading or recording certificate issued by such public weighmaster, and when so applied the certificate shall be recognized and accepted as a declaration of the official, true, and accurate and undisputed weight, measure, count, reading or recording of the commodity, product, or article weighed, or measured, or counted within the tolerance allowed by the "Uniform Weights and Measures Act" of this State: Provided, however, that the weighers of tobacco in "leaf tobacco warehouses" may use, in lieu of said seal, a signature, which signature shall also appear, in ink or other indelible substance on the weighmaster's formal application, and again, posted in a conspicuous and accessible place in the tobacco warehouse where he is acting as weighmaster. (1939, c. 285, s. 4; 1941, c. 317, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment added the proviso at the end of the section.

§ 81-40. Violations of provisions by weighmasters made misdemeanor.—Any public weighmaster who shall refuse to issue a certificate as prescribed by this article, or who shall issue a certificate giving a false weight, or measure, or count, or reading, or recording, or who shall misrepresent the weight, or measure, or count, or reading or recording of the quantity of any commodity, produce or article to any person, firm or corporation, or who shall otherwise violate any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00), or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and, in addition thereto, his license shall be revoked and he shall forfeit his seal which, when so forfeited, shall be turned over to the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures or his agents. (1939, c. 285, s. 5.)

§ 81-41. Requesting weighmaster to falsify weights; impersonation of weighmaster; alteration of certificate, etc.—Any person, firm, or corporation who shall request a public weighmaster to weigh, measure, count, read, or record any commodity, product or article falsely or incorrectly, or who shall request a false or inaccurate certificate of weight, measure, count, reading or recording, or any person issuing a certificate of weight, or measure, or count, or reading, or recording within the meaning of this article, who is not a public weighmaster as provided for by this article, or who shall act as, or for, or in any way impersonate, a public weighmaster, or who shall erase, change, or alter any certificate issued by a public weighmaster, or who shall make incorrect the certificate by increasing or decreasing the weight or measure or count of the commodity, product or article certified to for the purpose of deception, or who shall violate any provision of this article for which a special penalty has not been provided, shall be guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00), or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 285, s. 6.)

§ 81-42. Certificates of weighmasters presumed accurate and correct.—When a public weighmaster certificate is used in the sale, or purchase, or barter, or exchange of any commodity, produce, or article, the certified weight, or measure, or count or reading or recording shall be deemed to be the true, accurate and undisputed weight, or measure, or count, or reading or recording at time said commodity, produce, or article is put into the natural channels of trade, which is, at the time of sale or purchase or barter or exchange: Provided, however, that reasonable variations, or tolerances shall be permitted as established by rules and regulations as provided for by Uniform Weights and Measures Act. (1939, c. 285, s. 7; 1941, c. 317, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment is no written contract or agreement to the contrary." struck out from the end of the section the words "And provided, further, that there

§ 81-43. Duty of custodian of product during time intervening between weighing and issuance of certificate.—If any commodity, product or article is to be offered for sale, or sold and is weighed or measured or counted by any public weighmaster and a certificate issued prior to sale, or acceptance of such commodity, product or article by the purchaser, his agent, or consignee or, if any commodity, product or article is offered for sale, sold, and/or delivered pending the weighing or measuring or counting of such commodity, product, or article by a public weighmaster and the issuance of a certificate, the person, firm or corporation in whose custody said commodity, product or article is, shall keep, protect and prevent any increase or decrease in weight, measure or count, in the interim so that the declaration of weight, or measure, or count shall be true in accordance with § 81-42. The term "interim" as used in this section shall be construed to mean the time intervening between the weighing and issuance of certificate and the sale or purchase; and the time intervening between the sale or purchase and the presentation of such commodity, product, or article to the public weighmaster for weighing, or measuring or counting, and the issuance of certificate. Any loss sustained in the weight or measure or count of any commodity, produce, or article while in custody shall be borne by the person, firm or corporation in whose custody said commodity, produce, or article is. (1939, c. 285, s. 8.)

§ 81-43.1. Weighing tobacco in sales warehouses.—All leaf tobacco offered for sale in a leaf tobacco warehouse in this State shall be weighed by a public weighmaster, shall be accompanied by a public weighmaster certificate, and shall be and remain in custody of the warehouse operator from and after the time it is weighed by the public weighmaster until it is sold or the bid is rejected by the owner thereof. (1945, c. 1067.)

§ 81-44. Complaints to weighmaster or State Superintendent of Weights and Measures.—When doubt or difference arises as to the correctness of the weight, or measure, or count, or reading, or recording of any amount or part of any commodity, product, or article for which a certificate of weight, measure, count, reading or recording, has been issued by a public weighmaster, the owner, agent or consignee shall make complaint before moving said commodity, produce, or article from city, town or community where weight certificate was issued, to the public weighmaster issuing said certificate or to the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures setting forth cause or causes for such doubt and/or difference, and have said amount, or part of the amount, or any commodity, product, or article reweighed, or remeasured, or recounted by the weighmaster issuing the certificate or by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures or his agents: Provided, the commodity, produce or article is kept and protected as is required during the interim period provided for in § 81-43. If, on reweighing, remeasuring or recounting, a difference in original weight, or measure or count, is sustained the difference thus sustained shall be that, and that only, which is in excess of tolerance allowed by § 81-42, and any desired adjustment as a result of such difference shall be made accordingly, and the cost of reweighing or remeasuring or recounting shall be borne by the public weighmaster responsible for the issuance of such faulty certificate; otherwise, the cost shall be borne by the complainant. (1939, c. 285, s. 9; 1941, c. 317, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The 1941 amendment inserted the provision referring to §§ 81-42 and 81-43 and made other changes.

§ 81-45. Approval by State Superintendent of Weights and Measures of devices used.—It shall be unlawful for any public weighmaster to use any weights or measures, or weighing or measuring or reading or recording device, which has not been tested and/or approved by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, or his assistant or deputy or inspector in accordance with the "Uniform Weights and Measures Act" and/or the rules and regulations governing same. (1939, c. 285, s. 10.)

§ 81-46. Annual license for public weighmasters.—Public weighmasters shall be licensed for a period of one year beginning on the first day of July and ending on the thirtieth day of June, next, and a fee of five dollars ($5.00) shall be paid by each person so licensed to the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures at time of filing application, as set forth in § 81-37, which fee shall be deposited with the State Treasurer of North Carolina by the said State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, and shall be kept in a separate and distinct fund designated as a special uniform weights and measures fund by said Treasurer, and shall be disbursed by him under the terms of the Executive Budget Act: Provided, that a similar fee, as provided in this section, shall be required of all renewals of license as a public weighmaster, which fee shall also be turned into the Treasurer of the State by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, to be expended in the manner herein set out. (1939, c. 285, s. 11; 1943, c. 543.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment struck out the words "from the date of issuance thereof," formerly appearing near the beginning of the section, and inserted in lieu thereof the words "beginning on the first day of July and ending on the thirtieth day of June, next."

§ 81-47. Use of fees collected.—All monies collected by this article shall be used exclusively for the enforcement of this and the Uniform Weights and Measures Act. (1939, c. 285, s. 12.)

§ 81-48. Seal obtained from State Superintendent of Weights and Measures.—Each public weighmaster licensed under this article shall obtain from the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures the seal, as provided for by this article, and pay the sum of two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50), which sum shall be for the use of said seal, and no additional charges shall be made as long as the public weighmaster is licensed in accordance with the provisions of this article. Monies collected under this section shall be deposited with the State Treasurer of North Carolina and expended for the purposes of this article under the terms of the Executive Budget Act. The State Superintendent of Weights and Measures shall issue to the public weighmaster the said seal upon receipt of said sum. All seals as issued to the public weighmaster shall be paid for out of the special uniform weights and measures fund. (1939, c. 285, s. 13.)

§ 81-49. Seal declared property of State.—The seal herein provided for shall be the property of the State of North Carolina and shall be forfeited and returned to the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures upon termination of the performance of duties herein described as being the duties of a public weighmaster. Failure or refusal of a person licensed as a public weighmaster under this article to return, turn over, or surrender the official seal furnished by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures upon expiration of term of license or for malfeasance in office, shall be a misdemeanor and any person convicted thereof shall forfeit the amount paid for use of such seal and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200.00), or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (1939, c. 285, s. 14.)

§ 81-50. Cotton weighing.—If any weigher or purchaser of cotton shall make any deduction from the weight of any bag, bale, or package of lint cotton, for or on account of the draft, turn, or break of the scales, steelyards, or other implement used in weighing the same, or for any other cause except as herein allowed, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined three hundred dollars or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court: Provided, however, that deductions may be made by the weigher for water, dirt, or other foreign substances on such bag, bale or package of cotton, or for other just cause; but, if such deductions are made, the nature of such deductions shall be indicated upon the principal weight ticket which shall also show the gross weight of the cotton, the amount deducted as tare, and the net weight of said cotton. (1874-5, c. 58, ss. 1, 3; Code, s. 1007; Rev., s. 3816; C. S., s. 5085; 1943, c. 762, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1943 amendment rewrote the proviso.

§ 81-51: Repealed by Session Laws 1943, c. 543.

ARTICLE 5.

Scale Mechanics.

§ 81-52. Purpose of article.—The purpose and intent of this article shall be:

- (1) To protect the owners and/or users of scales and weighing devices in their needs or requirements for scale repair and service.
- (2) To define the name "scale mechanic," provide for scale mechanic registration, and to provide for financial underwriting of services rendered. (1941, c. 237, s. 1; 1947, c. 380.)

Editor's Note.—Session Laws 1947, c. 380, rewrote §§ 81-52 through 81-58 to appear as set forth herein. The title of the act purports to amend "sections 52-58 inclusive of the General Statutes" which is an obvious misnumbering and was clearly intended to refer to §§ 81-52 through 81-58. It will be noted that there is no section numbered 81-56.

For comment on the 1941 act, see 19 N. C. Law Rev. 447.

§ 81-53. Definitions.—The definition of certain terms used in this article shall be as follows:

- (1) Adjustment.—The term "adjustment" is defined as meaning an act involving the tightening or loosening, or lengthening or shortening, or movement, of any part of a scale or weighing device, or the coordination or mechanical action of parts with or upon each other, so as to make the scale or weighing device give correct indications of applied weight values within legal tolerance, and the correctness of indications shall be determined by test provided for under definition of the term "service" as defined in this article.
- (2) Installation.—The term "installation" is defined as meaning an act involving the erection, or building, or assembling of parts, or the placing or setting up of a scale or weighing device so as to give correct indications of applied weight values within legal tolerance when used for the purpose intended, and the correctness of indications shall be determined by test provided for under definition of the term "service" as defined in this article.
- (3) Maintenance.—The term "maintenance" is defined as meaning an act pursuant to the retention of a scale or weighing device in such working condition as to give correct applied weight value indications within legal tolerance when used as intended, which may involve either or both adjustment or repair before or after inaccuracy develops in fact, and the correctness of indications shall be determined by test provided for under the term "service" as defined in this article.
- (4) Repair.—The term "repair" is defined as meaning an act involving the replacement or mending of a broken or nonadjustable part or parts and the restoration of a scale or weighing device to such working condition as to give correct indications of applied weight values within legal tolerance when used for the purpose intended, and the correctness of indications shall be determined by test provided for under the term "service" as defined in this article.

- (5) Scale Mechanic.—The term "scale mechanic" is defined as meaning any person who, for hire or award, renders service involving adjustment, installation, repair, or maintenance of a scale or weighing device, either used or intended to be used in determining weight value, or values, by either physical act, instruction, or supervision.
- (6) Service.—The term "service" is defined as meaning activity involving adjustment, installation, repair, or maintenance or a combination of two or more of these activities with respect to a scale or weighing device, and, in addition thereto, a test for determination of the accuracy of weight value indication. Said determination is to be accomplished by applying a series of loads of standard weight on a platter or platform up to capacity on a scale of 30 pounds capacity, and up to $\frac{3}{4}$ scale capacity, applied to the respective corners, on a scale having a capacity in excess of 30 pounds. (1941, c. 237, s. 2; 1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-54. Prerequisites for scale mechanic.—It shall be unlawful for any scale mechanic to render service as a scale mechanic until after he or she has complied with the following requirements:

- (1) Obtain from the office of State Superintendent of Weights and Measures a copy of Scale Mechanic Act, a copy of regulations pertinent to said act, and an application form for registration.
- (2) Obtain a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) issued by a corporate surety company licensed to do business in North Carolina.
- (3) File bond with clerk of superior court of the county in which such applicant resides, unless he or she be a resident of some other state, in which event such bond shall be filed with clerk of superior court in Wake County, North Carolina.
- (4) Obtain receipt in duplicate for such bond filed with clerk of superior court and mail or deliver one copy of such receipt together with the application form for registration, completely filled out, to office of State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, Raleigh, North Carolina.
- (5) Obtain a registration card or certificate from State Superintendent of Weights and Measures and a model form of service certificate.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to a full time employee who renders service only on a scale or weighing device, or on scales or weighing device, owned solely by his or her employer unless additional pay or compensation is received for such service. (1941, c. 237, s. 3; 1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-55. Registration; certificate of registration; annual renewal.—The State Superintendent of Weights and Measures shall register any person who has complied with the requirements stipulated under this article by making a record of receipt of application and of bond, and the issuing of a certificate or card of registration to applicant, whereupon the applicant becomes a registered scale mechanic and shall be known thereafter as such. Such registration shall be in effect from date of registration until July 1st next and shall be renewed on the 1st day of July of each year thereafter. (1941, c. 237, ss. 4, 5; 1943, c. 543; 1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-56.1. Service certificate.—Whenever any service is rendered on any scale or weighing device used or intended to be used in this State by a scale mechanic, a certificate shall be issued by such scale mechanic who rendered said service, which shall be known as a "service certificate." The size and form of said service certificate will be determined by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures. Inclusive of other pertinent information or statements, the said certificate shall bear a statement expressed in ink or other indelible substance naming the kind of service rendered, whether adjustment, installation, repair, or maintenance, and stating that a service test as defined under the term "service" has been made, and that the service rendered is guaranteed to be as represented. The service certificate shall be made out in triplicate, with original going to the owner of such scale or weighing device or his agent, and a duplicate shall be sent to office of State Superintendent of Weights and Measures if service is upon a scale or weighing device which has been condemned by a weights and measures inspector, and the triplicate copy shall be retained by the scale mechanic issuing such certificate. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-56.2. Bond.—The bond required by this article shall underwrite the guarantee of a refund or compensation, covering any claim by owner of scale or weighing device for damage or injury, which claim is sustained by the court, resulting in misrepresentation of service rendered, or failure to comply with all the provisions of this article, by the scale mechanic, regardless of his or her intent; provided, however, that the aggregate liability of the surety to all claimants sustained by the court shall in no event exceed the amount of said bond. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-56.3. Scale removal.—When a scale or weighing device is removed from the premises where located by a scale mechanic, the scale mechanic or his servant or agent shall issue a receipt for said scale or weighing device, on which shall be written in ink or other indelible substance the name and address of the owner, the name and address of receiving agent, date of receipt, anticipated date of return, name or make of scale, and such other information pertinent to its identification. The form of receipt shall be approved by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-56.4. Condemned scale.—It shall be unlawful for any owner of a scale or weighing device which has been condemned by a weights and measures inspector to either use or dispose of same in any manner but shall hold same at the disposal of the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, his deputy, or inspector; provided, however, said scale or weighing device may be removed from the premises for scales service only. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-56.5. Secondhand scale.—It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, or offer for sale, or put into use, a secondhand or rebuilt or reconditioned scale or weighing device unless said scale shall have been tested and approved by the Superintendent of Weights and Measures, or his deputy, or inspector, or shall be accompanied by a service certificate as provided for in this article. Said service certificate shall be retained by the purchaser or user of said scale until an inspector of weights and measures has tested and approved such secondhand scale. The said certificate shall serve as proof of the accuracy of scale at the time scale was purchased or put into service. A secondhand or rebuilt or reconditioned scale or weighing device as referred to in this section shall be considered as being a scale or weighing device in the channels of trade which does not belong to the previous user. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-56.6. Scale location.—It shall be unlawful for any scale or weighing device to be installed, set up, put into service, or used on a foundation or support that aids in giving false indication of weight values applied to platter, platform, or other load receiving element. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-57. Exemption. — The provisions of this article shall not prohibit the user of a scale or weighing device from employing some person other than a scale mechanic to render service as defined by this article upon his or her scale or weighing device, nor apply to the person so employed, who does not solicit such employment, provided that said user shall not be relieved of his or her responsibility or liability concerning the accuracy of the scale or weighing device after service has been rendered. (1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-57.1. Rules and regulations.—Such rules and regulations as are necessary to carry out the purpose and intent of this article shall be made and published by the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, by and with the advise of his advisory board. (1941, c. 237, s. 6; 1947, c. 380.)

§ 81-58. Penalty.—Any person who violates any of the provisions of this article, or who for hire or award renders service as a scale mechanic on a scale or weighing device without registering as a scale mechanic or who shall fail to issue a service certificate or who shall issue a service certificate bearing false statements regarding service rendered, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or by imprisonment for not more than three months or by both fine and imprisonment upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction; and in addition, if the defendant be a scale mechanic, he or she shall forfeit any charges or remuneration for service rendered, if service be involved, and he or she and/or the bonding company shall, at the discretion of the court, reimburse or compensate the owner of the scale or weighing device in question for such damage, or injury, sustained; and upon a subsequent conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction, the penalty shall be the same as for first conviction and in addition, at the discretion of the court, if defendant be a scale mechanic, his or her privilege to act as or in the capacity of a scale mechanic may be revoked for a specified length of time, his or her registration card or certificate seized and turned over to the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures with instructions concerning reinstatement or renewal. (1941, c. 237, s. 7; 1947, c. 380; 1949, c. 983, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1949 amendment inserted the words "or who shall fail to issue a service certificate or who shall issue a service certificate bearing false statements regarding service rendered."

ARTICLE 8.

Storage, Handling and Distribution of Liquid Fertilizers.

§ 81-73. Purpose.—The purpose of this article shall be to provide for the safe handling, storage, distribution and application of liquid fertilizer, and for the protection of the producer, distributor, and consumer as to the quality and quantity of same. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

Editor's Note.—The 1955 amendment rewrote this article as set forth herein.

§ 81-74. Definitions.—(a) Application.—The term “application” shall be construed as being the act of applying liquid fertilizer to the soil of a consumer.

(b) Consumer.—The term “consumer” shall be construed as being any person, firm or corporation who benefits, or expects to benefit, from the results of the application of liquid fertilizers to soil owned, leased, or rented by said person, firm, or corporation, however, a consumer may apply a neighbor's liquid fertilizer to the soil owned, leased, or rented by said neighbor, if and when such an act does not involve the sale of any liquid fertilizer.

(c) Distribution.—The term “distribution” shall be construed as one or more acts involved in transporting the product from one premise to another.

(d) Distributor.—The term “distributor” shall be construed as being any person, firm, or corporation who offers for sale or sells, handles, stores, or distributes liquid fertilizers.

(e) Handling.—The term “handling” shall be construed as including any and all operations involved in the transferring of liquid fertilizers.

(f) Liquid Fertilizer.—The term “liquid fertilizer” as used herein shall be construed as being a nonsolid commercial fertilizer as commercial fertilizer is defined in § 106-50.3 (g), article 2, chapter 106 of the General Statutes known as the North Carolina Fertilizer Law.

(g) Quality.—The term “quality” shall be construed to mean grade as defined in chapter 106, article 2, § 106-50.3 (h) of the General Statutes.

(h) Quantity.—The term “quantity” shall be construed to mean volume, or amount, expressed in U. S. Standard avoirdupois pounds.

(i) Retailer.—The term “retailer” shall be construed as being any person, firm, or corporation who sells or delivers liquid fertilizer to the consumer.

(j) Safe.—The term “safe” shall be construed to mean that the handling, storing, and distribution of liquid fertilizer conforms to the minimum standards included in the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Agriculture.

(k) Sale.—The term “sale” shall be construed as meaning the transfer of custody.

(l) Storage.—The term “storage” shall be construed as being the confinement of liquid fertilizers.

(m) Wholesaler.—The term “wholesaler” shall be construed as being any person, firm, or corporation who sells to any other person, firm, or corporation for the purpose of resale, and who also may sell to a consumer. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520; 1959, c. 1253, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment deleted the former fifth paragraph defining “contractor.”

§ 81-75. Method of sale. — When liquid fertilizer is offered for sale or sold in this State, the method of transfer of custody shall be by weight expressed in pounds, and shall be invoiced in such a manner as to show the name of the seller, the name of the purchaser, the date of sale, the quality or grade, and the net weight; provided, however, that liquid fertilizer may be measured in gallons of two hundred and thirty-one (231) cubic inches and its equivalent expressed in pounds, with a formula for converting from gallons to pounds shown on the invoice. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

§ 81-76. Method of delivery.—Each and every delivery of liquid fertilizer to any person, firm, or corporation in this State, regardless of name of product or trade name, shall be accompanied with a copy of the invoice or tag showing the name of the seller or distributor, the name of the purchaser or receiver, date of delivery, the quality or grade, and the net quantity delivered expressed in pounds. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

§ 81-77. Registration.—Any person, firm or corporation before engaging in the business of handling, storing or distributing liquid fertilizer in this State shall register with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture and shall re-register on or before July 1 of each year thereafter so long as he shall engage in said business. The application for registration shall be submitted in duplicate to the Commissioner on forms furnished by the Commissioner of Agriculture. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520; 1959, c. 1253, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The 1959 amendment rewrote this section.

§ 81-78. Approval of storage and handling equipment. — Before any wholesale or retail liquid fertilizer distributing plant shall be built in this State, a general layout of such plant shall be submitted in duplicate and approved by the Commissioner of Agriculture. In order that such a layout may be approved it must conform to the minimum standards and rules and regulations, relating to safe handling, storage, distribution and/or application adopted by the Board of Agriculture. All storage tanks, transfer or transport containers, applicator containers, and attached equipment shall conform to the minimum standards adopted by the Board of Agriculture. It shall be the duty of the contractor referred to in this article to obtain, maintain and operate in accordance with the minimum standards and rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Agriculture, any and all equipment which he may use in the application of liquid fertilizer. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Agriculture to inspect and ascertain whether or not the provisions of this section are complied with. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

§ 81-79. Administrative authority.—The provisions of this article shall be administered by the Commissioner of Agriculture. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Agriculture, his agent or representative, to inspect, test, try and ascertain whether or not the provisions of this article have been or are being complied with. The Commissioner of Agriculture, his agent, or representative, shall, for the purpose above-mentioned and in the general performance of his duty, have the right to enter or go upon, without formal warrant, any place, building or premises where liquid fertilizers are being handled, stored, applied, offered for sale or sold. Any handling, storing, weighing or measuring device, which is found to be inconsistent with the purposes of this article, or which does not conform to the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Agriculture, shall be condemned and so tagged. When a device, as hereinabove described, is condemned, the owner shall either make same to conform to the minimum standards, and the rules and regulations, adopted by the Board of Agriculture, or obtain a release from the Department of Agriculture. In either event, the person or persons who perfect such conformance or who obtain release may remove said condemnation tag, fill in the required information, and mail same to the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, North Carolina. Completion of this procedure shall constitute a legal removal of condemnation tag. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

§ 81-80. Unlawful acts and omissions. — It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to violate any provision of this article or any rule or regulation made by the Board of Agriculture as provided for by this article. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to offer for sale, sell, or deliver into this State any handling, storing, weighing or measuring device or equipment which does not conform to the minimum standard, rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Agriculture. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to issue a sales ticket or invoice bearing a false statement as to the quality or quantity of product sold. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to impersonate or to act in capacity of a contractor without being registered and having a contractor's certificate. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

§ 81-81. Authority of Board of Agriculture.—The Board of Agriculture is hereby authorized, empowered and instructed, after a public hearing, to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary in order to carry out the purpose of this article, and no municipality or other political subdivision of this State shall have the authority to adopt rules and regulations other than those adopted by the Board of Agriculture. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

§ 81-82. Penalty.—Any person, who by himself, his servant, or agent, or as a servant or agent of any other person, firm, or corporation, violates any provision of this article or any rule or regulation promulgated in accordance with the provisions of this article, or who misrepresents the quantity or quality of any product offered for sale, sold or delivered, or who illegally removes a condemnation tag from a condemned device, or who dispenses anhydrous ammonia or other pressurized liquid fertilizer into an unauthorized tank or container, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00), or by imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. A second conviction by any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00), or not more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00), or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. (1953, c. 1198; 1955, c. 520.)

Chapter 82.

Wrecks.

Sec.	Sec.
82-1. Number and boundaries of wreck districts.	82-10. Sale of unclaimed property.
82-2. Commissioners of wrecks; appointment, residence and term of office.	82-11. Proceeds of sale to be paid to clerk of superior court.
82-3. Commissioners to give bond.	82-12. Disposition of proceeds of sale by clerk.
82-4. Commissioners to take oath of office.	82-13. Proof of ownership of property sold.
82-5. Duty of Commissioners.	82-14. Stranded property to be reported; failure to report misdemeanor.
82-6. Salvage to be paid, or its payment secured, before release of goods.	82-15. Expenses to be deducted from proceeds of sales.
82-7. Adjustment of salvage when the parties cannot agree.	82-16. Violation of chapter a misdemeanor.
82-8. Sale of wrecked property for salvage; compensation of commissioner.	82-17. Commissioner violating chapter liable for double damages and guilty of a misdemeanor.
82-9. Compensation of commissioner when there is no sale.	82-18. Interfering with commissioner in the discharge of his duties.

§ 82-1. Number and boundaries of wreck districts.—The counties of Brunswick, Carteret, Currituck, Dare, Hyde, New Hanover and Onslow are hereby divided into the following wreck districts, namely:

Carteret.—The first from the Hyde County line to Core Banks life-saving station; the second from Core Banks life-saving station to Old Topsail Inlet; the third from Old Topsail Inlet to the Onslow County line.

Currituck.—The first to extend from the Virginia State line to Judy's Cove, the second to extend from Judy's Cove to Josephus Baum's fish house; the third to extend from Josephus Baum's fish house to the county line of Dare.

Dare.—The county of Dare shall constitute one wreck district, which shall extend from the Currituck County line to the Hyde County line.

Hyde.—The county of Hyde shall constitute one wreck district, which shall extend from the Dare County line to the Carteret County line.

New Hanover and Brunswick.—To extend from the Onslow County line to the South Carolina State line.

Onslow.—The first from Bogue Inlet to New River Inlet; the second from New River Inlet to the New Hanover County line. (1899, c. 79, ss. 1-9; 1903, c. 85; 1905, c. 199; Rev., s. 5439; 1915, c. 42; C. S., s. 8082; 1959, c. 941.)

Editor's Note. — The 1950 amendment rewrote the paragraph relating to Dare County.

Easement to Reach Wreck.—The case of Hitfield v. Baum, 35 N. C. 394 (1852), lays down the rule that there is an easement or right of way reserved by necessity for any person to enter over the land of another for the purpose of reaching and carrying away the cargo of a wrecked vessel.

§ 82-2. Commissioners of wrecks; appointment, residence and term of office.—The Governor, whenever it may be necessary, shall appoint a commissioner of wrecks for each of the districts designated in § 82-1. Each commissioner shall reside in the district for which he is appointed, unless separated by navigable waters, in which case the distance shall not exceed three miles. The restrictions as to residence shall not apply to Hyde County. No person who holds any office of profit or trust under the laws of the United States or the State of North Carolina, nor any person who is a pilot, shall hold the office of commissioner of wrecks. The term of office shall be for two years. (1899, c. 79, ss. 10, 12, 13; 1903, c. 85; Rev., s. 5440; 1907, c. 398; C. S., s. 8083.)

§ 82-3. Commissioners to give bond. — Every person appointed a commissioner of wrecks shall enter into a bond, with good and sufficient surety, in the sum of two thousand dollars, payable to the State of North Carolina and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties. This bond shall be approved by the board of county commissioners and deposited in the office of the clerk of the superior court. (1899, c. 79, s. 10; Rev., s. 305; C. S., s. 8084.)

§ 82-4. Commissioners to take oath of office. — Every person appointed a commissioner of wrecks, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall go before some officer duly authorized to administer oaths and take an oath to perform faithfully the duties of his office, and the oaths to support the Constitution of the State and of the United States. (1899, c. 79, s. 11; Rev., s. 5441; C. S., s. 8085.)

§ 82-5. Duty of commissioners. — Upon the earliest intelligence given that any ship or vessel is stranded, it shall be the duty of the commissioner in whose district the same is stranded, or his duly authorized agent, to repair at once to such wrecked ship or vessel, and upon the permission of its master to summon immediately a sufficient number of men who, acting under the direction of the commissioner or his agent, shall at once proceed to save the cargo and material of such wrecked vessel. As soon as any such stranded property is saved it shall be immediately placed under guard, one guard to be selected by the commissioner or owner representing the same, and one other guard to be selected by the salvors. Such goods or stranded property shall be kept under strict guard until sold or the salvors are paid as provided in this chapter. (1899, c. 79, s. 14; 1901, c. 178; Rev., s. 5442; C. S., s. 8086.)

Editor's Note.—In the early case of Etheridge v. Jones, 30 N. C. 100 (1847), it was held that the commissioners did not have exclusive control of a wrecked vessel and the master or owner could take control of and dispose of it without any responsibility to the commissioners.

§ 82-6. Salvage to be paid, or its payment secured, before release of goods.—Every person who assists in saving such cargo or material shall, within thirty days after saving the same, be paid a reasonable reward by the owner or master of the stranded vessel, or by the merchant whose vessel or goods are saved. In default of payment of a reasonable compensation the goods or other property so saved shall remain in the joint custody of the Commissioner and salvors until all such charges are paid, or until the payment thereof is secured to the satisfaction of the parties saving such goods or other property. (1899, c. 79, ss. 14, 15; Rev., s. 5443; C. S., s. 8087.)

§ 82-7. Adjustment of salvage when the parties cannot agree.—If the parties shall disagree touching the amount of reward or salvage to be paid to the persons employed, the commander, owner, or commissioner who represents the property saved shall choose one disinterested person, and the salvors shall nominate one other, who shall adjust and ascertain the same. If the persons thus chosen cannot agree, they shall choose one other indifferent person as umpire to decide between them: Provided, that the amount to be paid the salvors shall be determined and agreed upon before sale is made of such property. (1899, c. 79, s. 16; Rev., s. 5444; C. S., s. 8088.)

§ 82-8. Sale of wrecked property for salvage; compensation of commissioner. — If the owner of the vessel, or the property which has been saved, shall fail for thirty days after the salvage has been ascertained, either by agreement or as provided for in § 82-7, to pay such salvage, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of wrecks in charge of such stranded or wrecked vessel or other property to sell the same at public sale, after first advertising such sale in the same manner as is required for sales of personal property under execution. Each commissioner shall provide himself with books and shall record in them all such sales by him made. He shall receive for selling any such wrecked or stranded property five per centum on the amount of sales, and in addition thereto he shall receive his actual expenses incurred in going to and returning from the place of the wreck, or where the property is stranded, to be paid out of the gross amount of such sales. At any public sale of stranded property, the salvors may select one person and the commissioner one other, who shall keep an accurate account of the sales, make the collections, settle with the commissioner his fees, and pay to the salvors the amount agreed on or awarded by the referees. (1899, c. 79, s. 17; 1901, c. 178; 1905, c. 66; Rev., s. 5445; C. S., s. 8089.)

§ 82-9. Compensation of commissioner when there is no sale.—

If any owner or merchant shall remove any such goods or other stranded property from the custody of any commissioner without a sale, then such commissioner shall receive, in addition to his actual expenses incurred for the purposes mentioned in § 82-8, two and one-half per centum on the amount of the value of such property, which amount shall be ascertained in the same manner as is provided for ascertaining the amount of the reward to be paid salvors in those cases where such reward cannot be determined by agreement. No commissioner shall receive any salvage or other reward except the commission prescribed in this chapter. (1899, c. 79, ss. 17, 18; 1905, c. 66; Rev., s. 5446; C. S., s. 8090.)

§ 82-10. Sale of unclaimed property.—Whenever any vessel, cargo, or material of any ship or vessel or any other property shall be cast ashore or taken up at sea and brought to shore, and no person is present to claim the same as owner, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of the district where the same is brought or cast ashore to take charge of such property and to proceed to advertise and sell it at public sale, first giving twenty days' notice of such sale at three public places. On making any such sale the commissioner shall, out of the gross proceeds thereof, retain a commission of five per centum as his compensation and the amount awarded to the salvors pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. (1899, c. 79, ss. 19, 20; Rev., s. 5447; C. S., s. 8091.)

§ 82-11. Proceeds of sale to be paid to clerk of superior court. —

When any commissioner shall undertake to sell any property where no person is or has been present to claim the same, it shall be his duty to notify the clerk of the superior court of his county of such sale. After any such sale is made, the commissioner shall forward to such clerk the proceeds of the sale, after deducting his commission of five per centum and paying the salvors the amount awarded to them as provided in this chapter. (1899, c. 79, s. 21; Rev., s. 5448; C. S., s. 8092.)

§ 82-12. Disposition of proceeds of sale by clerk. —It shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to make a record and keep an account of all moneys received by him from any commissioner of wrecks, and he shall advertise in some weekly newspaper published in North Carolina the amount so received, giving a true description of the marks, numbers, and kinds of goods or other stranded property, for which the same was sold. Each commissioner shall give the clerk of the superior court all necessary information for the proper enforcement of this section in each return made by him to the clerk. The clerk shall advertise for the space of sixty days, and if no person shall come to claim the money within a year and a day from the date of advertisement, then the clerk holding such money shall transmit the same, after deducting one per centum for his trouble and also after deducting the cost of advertising, to the Treasurer of the State for the benefit of the public school funds. (1899, c. 79, s. 22; Rev., s. 5449; C. S., s. 8093.)

§ 82-13. Proof of ownership of property sold. —If any person shall claim to be the owner of any property sold as provided in § 82-10 and shall present his claim to the clerk holding the money arising from the sale of such property, it shall be the duty of such person to prove his title to the satisfaction of the clerk. If any person making a claim to such property be unknown to the clerk, then the clerk shall submit such claim to the consideration of three disinterested persons, one of whom shall be chosen by the claimant, and the decision of such referees shall always be final. (1899, c. 79, s. 23; Rev., s. 5450; C. S., s. 8094.)

§ 82-14. Stranded property to be reported; failure to report misdemeanor.—If any person shall find any wrecked or stranded property on or near the seashore, no person being present to claim the same, he shall as soon as possible give information thereof to the nearest commissioner of wrecks, who shall advertise and sell the same as provided in this chapter. If such finder shall refuse to report the goods so found, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1899, c. 79, s. 24; Rev., ss. 3548, 5451; C. S., s. 8095.)

§ 82-15. Expenses to be deducted from proceeds of sales — All necessary expenses shall be deducted from the gross proceeds of any sales made under this chapter. Such necessary expenses shall include only the cost of advertising, guarding, and surveying, when a survey is called. (1899, c. 79, s. 19; Rev., s. 5452; C. S., s. 8096.)

§ 82-16. Violation of chapter a misdemeanor. — If any person shall violate any of the provisions of this chapter he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1899, c. 79, s. 26; Rev., s. 3562; C. S., s. 8097.)

§ 82-17. Commissioner violating chapter liable for double damages and guilty of a misdemeanor.—If any commissioner of wrecks shall by fraud or willful neglect violate any of the provisions of this chapter, or abuse the trust reposed in him, he shall forfeit and pay double the amount of damages to the party aggrieved. He shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall forfeit his office and shall thereafter be incapable of acting as commissioner. (1899, c. 79, s. 25; Rev., s. 3563; C. S., s. 8098.)

§ 82-18. Interfering with commissioner in the discharge of his duties.—If any person shall willfully and unlawfully resist, delay, or obstruct any commissioner of wrecks in discharging or attempting to discharge his duties as such commissioner, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1905, c. 66, s. 2; Rev., s. 3564; C. S., s. 8099.)

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Raleigh, North Carolina

March 15, 1960

I, Malcolm B. Seawell, Attorney General of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the foregoing recompilation of the General Statutes of North Carolina was prepared and published by The Michie Company under the supervision of the Division of Legislative Drafting and Codification of Statutes of the Department of Justice of the State of North Carolina.

MALCOLM B. SEAWELL,
Attorney General of North Carolina
