HOUSE SELECT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE ALLEGED MISCONDUCT AND OTHER MATTERS INCLUDED IN INDICTMENTS AGAINST REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS E. WRIGHT

March 25, 2008

The House Select Committee to Investigate Alleged Misconduct and Other Matters Included in Indictments Against Representative Thomas E. Wright met on Monday, March 3, 2008 through Thursday, March 6, 2008, in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building at 11:00 AM. The following members were present: Chairman Rick Glazier, Vice Chairman Paul Stam, and Members: Rep. Marvin Lucas, Rep. Laura Wiley, Rep. Edith Warren and Rep. William McGee. Committee staff members Walker Reagan, Heather Fennell, Kory Goldsmith, Denise Huntley, Brad Krehely and Amanda Smith were in attendance. A Visitor Registration list is attached and made part of these minutes.

Chairman Glazier called the meeting to order, introduced the Sergeant-At-Arms and Katherine Becker, court reporter.

All committee members and staff introduced themselves for the court reporter's record. Committee proceedings were recorded by the court reporter (See Attachment #1).

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting on March 6, 2008 at 7:15 PM.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Rick Glazier
Chair

Carin Savel
Committee Assistant

1. Call to Order

2. Review Hearing Procedures and Schedule – Rep. Glazier

[We have now reached the evidentiary stage of our investigation into the allegations against Rep. Wright of unethical conduct. In accordance with the Committee rules, I have asked the Committee's Outside legal counsel, Bill Hart and Alec Peters, to prepare the presentation of evidence against Rep. Wright to be presented to you today. In accordance with the rules, Rep. Wright has been supplied with the list of witnesses Mr. Hart and Peters have considered calling. He has also been presented with a copy of all documents Mr. Hart and Peters might want to offer into evidence at this hearing.

Rep. Wright was given an opportunity to present the Committee with a list of witnesses he might want to call in his defense, but he has not done so.

Under the rules, Mr. Hart and Peters will have the burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that the allegations contained in Counts 1 through 8, as adopted by the Committee and sent to Rep. Wright, are true. Rep. Wright will have the opportunity to cross examine the witnesses, and to ask the Committee to consider witnesses and other evidence he might want the Committee to consider.

Our considerations will be done in two parts. The first part will be to hear the testimony of all witnesses and consideration of all evidence on both the fact-finding and dispositional issues. After all the evidence is presented, the Committee will then be asked to consider for each outstanding counts whether the conduct alleged in the count was committed, and whether the conduct that was committed constitutes unethical conduct.

If the Committee finds that one or more of the counts are true, the second consideration will be to determine what is the appropriate sanction for the unethical conduct. The Committee will hear arguments from the Committee's Outside legal counsel and Rep. Wright on what the appropriate sanctions should be for this conduct. The Committee will then decide its recommendation on sanctions.

Legal counsel will be permitted to make opening statements before the evidence is presented and closing statements after all evidence is heard.

In accordance with the rules, legal counsel for both sides will be permitted to question each witness first, with direct examination, cross examination, redirect examination, and recross examination. After that process is completed, each Committee member will be permitted to ask a series of questions in the order set out on the sheet you have been provided. After each Committee member has been given an opportunity to ask questions, Committee members will be given a chance to ask additional follow-up questions.

Under the rules all questions to be asked of the witnesses are to be relevant, have probative value as to a substantive issue, and not be a waste of time or redundant. Committee outside legal counsel, Rep. Wright's counsel, and any member of the Committee may object to a question before the question is answered. If the question is objected to the Chair will rule on whether or not the witness should be allowed to answer the question. After the Chair has ruled, any Committee member who disagrees with ruling of the Chair may object to the ruling by making a motion that "The ruling of the chair be overruled". You have been provided with information on the procedure for objecting to a question and for objecting to the ruling of the Chair.

Are there any questions at this point from the Committee members or legal counsel on the procedures we will follow?

You have two notebooks in front of you today. One is your regular Committee notebook. Much of the information you will need is found behind the last tab marked "3-3-08 Meeting. Behind this tab is a copy of the Amended Counts or Charges against Rep. Wright. Additionally there is a revised chart of prior disciplinary actions taken against legislators in NC, Congress and other states. There is also a copy of the NC Constitution behind this tab.

The other notebook is an Exhibits notebook. Currently this notebook contains all the evidence that Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters might ask be introduced and considered as part of this proceeding. This evidence has been previously been supplied to Rep. Wright and his attorneys. The exhibits for Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters are currently marked as Exhibits 1 through 19. If Rep. Wright offers any evidence for introduction, his exhibits will be marked as Exhibits A through Z as necessary and may be placed in your notebooks behind the Wright Exhibits tab. Since a notebook of the Exhibits will be available to the witnesses, the exhibits will not be handed out but will be referred to merely by their exhibit numbers.]

3. Presentation on Clear and Convincing Evidence Standard – Brad Krehely, Committee Co-Counsel

[Before we begin our deliberations, I have asked Committee counsel to give you some background on the evidentiary standard of proof that will apply in this hearing.]

[After Brad's presentation is completed.

Before we have the opening statements from the lawyers, I understand that Mr. Hart would like to be heard with regard to Count 6.

After Bill's recommendation, Stam has motion to withdraw Count 6, without prejudice.]

4. Opening Statements -

   a. Bill Hart and Alec Peters – Outside Committee Co-counsel
   b. Irving Joyner and Douglas Harris – Rep. Wright Co-counsel

[In accordance with the rules, counsels for both sides are permitted to make opening statements. An opening statement is a forecast of what the attorney believes the evidence will be in the hearing. By their opening statements, the attorneys set forth the grounds for their respective claims or defenses. You should not consider an opening statement as evidence. The evidence will come in the form of the sworn testimony of witnesses, or other evidence that may be introduced into evidence as exhibits by the parties.]

Subj. Definition of Clear and Convincing Evidence

The rules state that the Committee must determine whether, by clear and convincing evidence, one or more of the charges against the accused legislator is true, and if so, what action will be taken by the Committee. This document summarizes how the clear and convincing evidence standard is used in North Carolina.

I. The Middle Standard

Clear and convincing evidence is a burden greater than that of proof by a preponderance of the evidence and less than that of proof beyond a reasonable doubt. In re Smith, 146 N.C.App. 302, 304, 552 S.E.2d 184, 186 (2001).

II. Evidence which should fully convince

In a juvenile abuse, neglect or dependency proceeding, the allegations "must be proved by clear and convincing evidence." G.S. 7B-805. In those cases, North Carolina courts have described clear and convincing evidence as "evidence which should fully convince." In re Smith, 146 N.C.App. 302, 304, 552 S.E.2d 184, 186 (2001).

In attorney discipline proceedings, the standard is "clear, cogent and convincing evidence." This has also been described as "evidence which should fully convince." North Carolina State Bar v. Talford, 147 N.C. App. 581, 587, 556 S.E.2d 344, 349 (2001), aff'd 356 N.C. 626, 576 S.E.2d 305 (2003).

III. North Carolina Pattern Jury Instructions: Commonly used and accepted meanings

Clear, strong and convincing evidence "is evidence which, in its character and weight, establishes what [the party with the burden of proof] seeks to prove in a clear, strong and convincing fashion. You shall interpret and apply the words 'clear,' 'strong' and 'convincing' in accordance with their commonly understood and accepted meanings in everyday speech." N.C.P.I.—Civil 101.11 Clear, Strong, and Convincing Evidence.

ALASKA	In 1982, Sen. George H. Hohman, Jr. was convicted of felonious bribery and receiving a bribe for offering to share a $20,000 bribe with another legislator in return for a vote in favor of the state purchasing two Canadian firefighting planes. He was sentenced to three years in prison.	The 6-member Senate Rules Committee (3 private citizens and 3 senators) reviewed the record of the jury trial and took testimony from Sen. Hohman, witnesses on his behalf, and his attorney.	The committee found that the jury's verdict and the evidence presented to the committee clearly established that Sen. Hohman intentionally violated "the most fundamental of his duties, which are to safeguard the public trust and to preserve the integrity of this body."	Expulsion by adoption of Senate Resolution (16-4).
ARIZONA	In 1991, Sen. Carolyn Walker was one of 11 legislators indicted in a year-long undercover operation on vote selling. Sen. Walker was videotaped taking money from a paid informant for her support of legislation that would have legalized casino gambling. The legislation did not pass.	The Senate referred the matter to the five-member Ethics Committee, which adopted rules for receiving and investigating complaints. The Senate retained special counsel to advise the Senate and the committee and to conduct a preliminary investigation into the allegations against Sen. Walker. Counsel reported his findings and recommended that the committee issue a complaint charging Sen. Walker with unethical conduct. The committee issued the complaint, held two public hearings on it, and subsequently issued a report to the Senate.	The committee found that Sen. Walker engaged in unethical conduct in violation of Senate rules and personal and state campaign finance disclosure laws. It unanimously recommended that Sen. Walker, the majority whip, be expelled. Larry Young, chair of the Senate Subcommittee on Health, accepting gifts from health care companies and a state college, failing to disclose a contract with a state agency, mixing his legislative and private office budgets, and using the prestige of his office for personal gain. The legislature initiated an investigation that resulted in his expulsion in January 1998. In December 1998, he was indicted by a county grand jury on nine counts for demanding $52,000 in bribes and two computers from a health care company, extorting $74,493 and the computers from the companies and $8,000 for an aide, and filing a false state income tax return in 1995. It appears that at least some charges were felonies. A jury acquitted him of all criminal charges in September 1999. The judge had previously dismissed four counts of extortion.	Committee on Legislative Ethics, a joint committee of the Senate and the House under Maryland state law (Md. Code Ann., State Gov't., § 2-701 et seq.). They requested that the committee convene immediately to make a thorough review of allegations of improprieties on the part of Sen. Young. They asked the committee to investigate all aspects of the senator's business practices as they related to his position in the legislature and to report back before the 1998 legislative session. From the outset, the co-chairs of the committee limited their investigation and report to potential violations of public ethics laws. The committee met in closed session a total of four times. Its first meeting was on December 9, 1997. During the third session, it met to interview Sen. Young, who was represented by counsel (that hearing was closed to the public at the senator's request). Sen. Young called one witness. The committee's report appears to indicate that its last meeting, the fifth one, was not closed to the public. After a month-long investigation, the committee reported. Four days later, the Senate voted.	made the following findings of ethical violations, among others: • failure to disclose a contractual relationship with a state agency (Coppin State College) and conflicts of interest concerning legislation that related to Coppin State College, • improper solicitation and acceptance of gifts, • improper use of district office funds, and • improper use of title for commercial purposes and use of prestige of office in connection with occupational activities. The committee voted unanimously to recommend that the Senate: • remove Sen. Young immediately as a member of Senate leadership; chairman of any committee or subcommittee; and member of any standing, statutory, joint, or select committees or subcommittees; • adopt a censure resolution; and • consider an expulsion resolution based on its findings.

The Senate expelled DiCarlo after a daylong debate.
MICHIGAN	In 2001, Sen. David Jaye was investigated for three drunk driving convictions, two alleged physical altercations with his fiancée, having sexually explicit photos on his Senate-owned computer, and alleged verbal abuse of Senate staff. Proceedings on domestic violence were pending during the legislative investigation.	Resolution created a bipartisan committee. Jaye had been progressively disciplined by Senate leadership previously. It is unclear from the legislative history whether the Senate president pro tempore appointed a select committee to investigate prior to the matter's referral to the Rules and Executive Nominations Committee. But under the current rules, the Senate's secretary-parliamentarian prepares an expulsion resolution under the sponsorship of the chairman and vice-chairman of the Senate Committee on Ethics and Official Conduct when a member is found guilty of a crime the "gravamen which relates to the member's conduct as a senator.," and upon imposition of a sentence. SOUTH CAROLINA	In 1994, Sen. Theo Mitchell pled guilty to a misdemeanor (the crime is now a felony) for violating federal tax laws and served a 90-day sentence. The legislature investigated in 1995 after his conviction.	The Senate debated a resolution to expel. A motion to refer the matter to the Senate Ethics Committee failed. ALASKA	In 1993, Sen. George Jacko used or attempted to use his position to gain sexual favors from a 17-year-old legislative page.	The 7-member Senate subcommittee of the Select Committee on Legislative Ethics (5 private citizens and 2 senators) held three public hearings on five charges of ethics violations by Sen. Jacko. The committee took two days to review the testimony and evidence, including briefs on Sen. Jacko's assertion that the ethics laws are silent on prohibiting or punishing attempted acts.	The committee found clear and convincing evidence against Sen. Jacko in three of the five charges. It also found that Sen. Jacko lied in parts of his sworn testimony before the committee and refused to accept responsibility for his actions. As a result, the committee issued a report recommending that Sen. Jacko be: 6. censured; 7. stripped of all committee chair positions and appointing authority during the remainder of his term; 8. prohibited from state-funded out-of-state travel during the remainder of his term; 9. required to complete, at his expense, a court-sanctioned Male Awareness Program; and 10. placed on probation for remainder of his term. The committee found that this rule did not apply to Thomas because (1) the federal crime must be comparable to a state felony for this provision to apply but the comparable state crime in this instance was a misdemeanor and (2) the convictions did not relate to responsibilities as a public officer. The committee report stated that it was not clear whether the conduct was illegal because the conviction was on appeal but Thomas' conduct shows "he was inattentive to matters that ultimately led to his federal convictions and have cast a shadow on the honor of the House of Representatives." The committee recommended censure (the least form of punishment available to the committee) because of 9. the complexity of the forms; 10. the bank's involvement in setting the loan amount; 11. a bank officer filling in some of the figures; 12. the personal financial statement was obviously incorrect and did not	109-6. One member of the committee moved for expulsion but was defeated. He argued that a harsher penalty was appropriate because of Thomas' statement to the FBI and because the jury convicted of him of crimes that require willful actions.

GEORGIA	In 1998, Sen. Ralph Abernathy III was detained at the Atlanta airport for smuggling a small amount of marijuana into the country.	Senators Madden, Cheeks, Oliver, and Middleton introduced a proposed resolution (Senate Resolution 459) censuring Sen. Abernathy. The Senate referred the resolution to the 13-member Senate Ethics Committee. As a standing committee, the Senate Ethics Committee could not vote on a matter before it without giving the sponsor the opportunity to appear and be heard (Senate Rule 2-1.9). It is unclear whether the committee held a hearing; however, Sen. Abernathy waived any notice and hearing with respect to the actions by the committee and Senate.	The committee returned the resolution with amendments that the Senate rejected.	Censure. (The senator also voluntarily resigned from his position as chairman of the Interstate Cooperation Committee.)
HAWAII	In March 1989, Sen. Steven Cobb was fined $500 for soliciting an undercover policewoman. He wrote the Senate a letter of apology and told them it was an isolated incident. He was embraced by the Senate until it was later reported that he was involved in two earlier cases of soliciting prostitutes. He asked to be put on leave to attend therapy. In July 1989, his therapist said he was ready to resume his Senate duties.	In September 1989, 17 senators met in a closed-door session to decide what action to take. The Senate president presented the senator with recommendations for sanctions and they were adopted.	The sanctions, for the 1990 session, were: (1) remove Sen. Cobb as committee chairperson and vice chairperson, (2) remove him as a member of the Judiciary Committee, (3) require him to submit a formal letter of apology to the Senate and the people of Hawaii, (4) subject him to a "public reprimand" for soliciting prostitution, (5) tell him that any repeat incidents could result in expulsion from the Senate, and (5) reassign him to a smaller office.	Censure.

MINNESOTA	In February 1996, several individuals claimed Rep. Jeff Bertram harassed them with anonymous calls, bullied them, and pressured them to make campaign contributions. In 1996, the legislature investigated Rep. Jeff Bertram for pressuring a businessman into giving a campaign contribution with the threat of doing business with a competitor; pressuring a store-owner to drop shoplifting charges filed against his brother, Sen. Joe Bertram; making false statements about several individuals; and engaging in other acts of intimidation, threats, and harassment. Law enforcement agencies were asked to investigate allegations of misusing state campaign funds and coercing people that surfaced in the ethics investigation. He was also later sued by a couple who said he told lies about them. The couple also received a restraining order against Bertram.	The House Ethics Committee received a complaint.	The committee found that Bertram harassed and intimidated critics and political opponents. The committee recommended censure by the House in open session; that he publicly admit on the House floor in open session to acts of misconduct specified in the committee report; that he apologize on the floor to the House, his constituents, and each of the victims named in the report; that he agree to undergo a psychological evaluation for anger and report the results to the speaker and the chairman and vice chairman of the Ethics Committee; and that he resign from all House committee chair or vice-chair positions and membership on legislative commissions.	Censure by a vote of 82-21. The full House adopted the recommendations in the committee's report. Rep. Bertram consented. A minority report recommending expulsion was presented to the full House, but failed to get 2/3 of the vote, failing 68-65. Bertram did not seek re-election.
MINNESOTA	In 1995, Rep. Bob Johnson threatened the Public Safety commissioner when the State Patrol	The House Ethics Committee heard the matter.	A recommendation to expel Johnson failed 5-5.	Censure. The House voted 82-50.

	turned down his request to fly him to St. Paul for the funeral of a former governor. After the incident, he lost his position as assistant majority leader. Also in 1995, he had three DWI arrests in less than seven weeks. The third occurred after the legislature initiated an investigation and while he was distraught over recent events and threatening suicide in calls from his car phone. His license had been revoked at the time. He said a severe bout of depression ended 14 years of sobriety. He pled guilty to all three DWIs (they appear to all be misdemeanors). On the first, he received a fine and probation. (The later DWI arrests violated his probation and he was sentenced to 20 days of electronic home monitoring after the 1996 legislative session ended, 40 hours of community service, and a one year license suspension.) For the 3rd, he pled guilty to habitual drunk driving and refusing a breath test (a gross misdemeanor) and received a one year sentence. He spent one month in jail with his days out on work release. He also spent 28 days in an alcoholism treatment		By a 7-3 vote, the committee asked Johnson to resign and to run in a special election if he wanted to continue. The committee also recommended censure; that he repay to the House the portion of his salary that was paid or that may be paid while he was or may be incarcerated or under house arrest for DWI convictions; 120 hours of community service; and random tests for alcohol with results forwarded to the speaker and Johnson paying for the testing. By a 7-3 vote, the committee voted to reconsider the recommendation to expel and laid the motion on the table, if Johnson did not resign.	A vote on expulsion received 76 votes, short of the 90 required for a 2/3 vote.

He was sentenced for the 2nd violation last and received (1) a one year sentence that was suspended except for 30 days in jail, (2) three years probation, (3) a $1,500 fine plus $303 in fees, and (4) a requirement to continue taking prescription medication for depression and stay in alcohol treatment. He did not seek re-election.
MINNESOTA	In 1986, Rep. Randy Staten pled guilty to felony theft charges, admitting that he wrote 76 bad checks. The original charge of theft of over $2,500 was reduced to theft of over $250. He was sentenced to one year's probation, a 90 day jail sentence which he would serve only if he violated probation, and continued treatment. Even though the crime was a felony, he was given a misdemeanor sentence and therefore it was considered a misdemeanor. Staten said he was chemically dependent and financially irresponsible, and had completed a residential treatment program. He made restitution before criminal charges were brought.	The speaker appointed a bipartisan four-member Select Committee on the Staten Case. The committee investigated Staten for writing $8,200 in bad checks and questionable campaign finance reporting.	The committee voted unanimously to recommend expulsion, based on the conviction and campaign report violations. The 24 member House Rules and Legislative Investigations Committee also recommended expulsion on a voice vote. The committee rejected censure.	Censure. An initial vote to censure failed. Then a vote to expel failed 80-52, short of the required 90 for a 2/3 vote. Then a vote to censure passed 99-31. The censure also ordered him to: donate 18% of his pay for the remainder of the year to a nonprofit chemical dependency program of his choice; perform 100 hours of volunteer service; undergo chemical dependency treatment; and, if campaign finance reporting problems continued, return all public financing money.

	The Ethical Practices Board also found he filed late and incomplete campaign disclosure reports for four years (which could involve misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor violations).
NEW HAMPSHIRE	For seven years, House Speaker Gene Chandler held a series of com roast galas raising $64,000 from supporters, lobbyists, and others who had business before the legislature. Chandler used the money for personal expenses such as car repairs, hotel stays, and meals. In October 2004, the Legislative Ethics Committee received a complaint and in November it issued a statement of charges and notice of hearing. In March 2005, Chandler pled guilty to a misdemeanor for failing to report the gifts. He was fined $2,000 and required to perform 100 hours of community service. The attorney general did not find any evidence that he did political favors for those who donated. The committee held its first hearing in May 2005.	The Legislative Ethics Committee received a complaint. After reviewing the complaint, the committee conducted an extensive preliminary investigation and voted unanimously to begin formal proceedings. A formal statement of charges and notice of hearing was sent and a hearing was held. Chandler formally answered the statement of charges and appeared at the hearing to testify and present other evidence through his counsel.	The committee voted unanimously to recommend expulsion. The committee found that Chandler violated ethics provisions by (1) soliciting, accepting, or agreeing to accept gifts with an aggregate value over $250 while knowing or believing the givers were or were likely to be interested in matters pending at the legislature, (2) using his public position to obtain gifts with aggregate value over $250 for private benefit, and (3) disregarding the obligation to report gifts over $50 (which he acknowledged through his misdemeanor plea). The committee found that for seven years the annual corn roasts solicited and received cash from businesses, lobbyists, and individuals. They were organized by "friends" so that Chandler had income to continue in the legislature. Flyers advertising them were sent out and sometimes mentioned legislative issues. Chandler had sole discretion over how the funds were spent. He did not report the gifts except in one year.	Censure. The vote to expel failed 189-172 following a three-hour debate. The vote to amend the report and recommend censure passed 217-143. The vote to accept the report with the sanction of censure passed 274-86.

NEW MEXICO	In 1991, Rep. Ronald G. Olguin was charged with solicitation of bribery (a felony) and demanding a bribe by a public official and two other felony counts alleging that he sought $15,000 for his consulting services in exchange for state funding.	The House adopted rules establishing the Rules and Order of Business Committee. A subcommittee investigated, received certain evidence under a confidentiality agreement, and recommended that the committee find probable cause to move to a formal hearing. The full committee agreed and held an evidentiary hearing. The committee heard evidence, took testimony, questioned witnesses, allowed cross examination, and heard closing arguments.	The committee found that Olguin engaged in a course of conduct while seeking to sell his consulting services that violated his public trust as a legislator. • While agreeing to provide consulting services for a fee aimed at obtaining new program funding from a county, he also identified program needs at the state level, offered a legislative solution, and offered his assistance in obtaining that solution. • He either included an agreement to influence the state legislative process in a proposed contract for consulting services or proposed a contract for services at the county level with free services at the state legislative level. • His conduct was a serious breach of ethical responsibilities as a legislator. The committee voted 11-4 to censure. A minority report recommended expulsion.	Censure. (Floor debate included a motion for expulsion that was defeated.)
NORTH CAROLINA	In 1995-6, Rep. Ken Miller was investigated for improper advances toward a page, legislative employee, and lobbyist. In July 1995, Miller allegedly made a pass at a 16 year old page. Three other women then came forward with allegations. The page's legislative sponsor requested an ethics	A legislator requested that the House Ethics Committee investigate (a 15 member committee). Miller submitted a letter admitting to unwanted advances as the committee prepared to take sworn statements from the alleged victims. PENNSYL-VANIA	In 1975, Sen. William Duffield admitted to misappropriating thousands of dollars from an estate for which he was executor and attorney. In October 1975, the chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court entered an order accepting the resignation of Sen. Duffield after the Disciplinary Board recommended a two-year suspension. The consent disbarment resulted from seven charges of professional misconduct against Sen. Duffield in his private law practice including: • improperly converting $7,500 from a client's estate to personal use, and • co-mingling $3,400 in funds between clients' estates.	The Senate president pro tempore appointed a Senate Select Committee to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the voluntary disbarment and advise the Senate as to what disciplinary action, if any, was warranted. The committee held a hearing on November 13, 1975 and four days later, on November 17, issued a report with its findings and recommendations. The Senate president pro tempore requested and received official documents containing specific allegations of misconduct from the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Sen. Duffield was notified of the inquiry and afforded the right to counsel. The hearing was conducted under oath and Sen. Duffield was allowed to present testimony and rebut or explain the charges against him.	The Select Committee found, in part, that: • converting trust funds to personal use and compounding that act by co-mingling further trust funds to restore the converted amounts constituted a grave and serious matter and conduct unbecoming any public official and • five of the seven disciplinary charges against Sen. Duffield involved negligent acts in the conduct of his private law practice and should remain within the purview of the Bar for discipline. The committee recommended that the Senate: • remove Sen. Duffield for the balance of his term from his standing committee chairmanship and vice chairmanship, • bar him for the balance of his term from membership on any standing committee, and • adopt a censure resolution.	Censure (unanimous vote).
SOUTH DAKOTA	In 2006, an 18-year-old page contacted the attorney general alleging that Sen. Dan Sutton made sexual advances and inappropriately touched him at a motel. Sutton resigned the day after the Senate released its proposed rules for the special session, but stated that he intended to reclaim his seat in January 2007 pursuant to his reelection. The special session was cancelled. When the regular session convened, Sutton took the oath of office. The Senate voted to adopt the same rules as the previous session. It also adopted rules regarding discipline and expulsion of members as a new chapter in the rules. Sen. Sutton went to the circuit court and received an order prohibiting the Senate from holding any hearings about him under the rules. The state Supreme Court ruled that the courts had no jurisdiction to halt a legislative disciplinary process. They concluded that something serious involving unwanted touching of a sexual nature occurred in Sen. Sutton's motel room during the period of February 5 to February 7, 2006. In its dissent, the minority wrote, "[g]iven the serious nature of the allegations and given our belief that the evidence shows an unwanted touching of a sexual nature happened during the nights in question, we cannot agree that censure is a sufficiently serious response to what we see as the misconduct of Sen. Sutton. We believe the committee should have made a recommendation of expulsion from the South Dakota Senate." The committee voted 6-3 to recommend censure for conduct by a senator unbecoming the Senate.

Babalas had earlier successfully defended himself against two counts of a criminal misdemeanor for alleged violations of state conflict of interest laws. One count was dismissed and Babalas was acquitted on the second count.		The Privileges and Elections committee recommended censure by a 12-3 vote. REPRIMAND
FLORIDA	In 1997, the Ethics Commission found that Rep. Alzo J. Reddick violated constitutional provisions on ethics through financial disclosure violations in 21 separate instances.	The speaker received a final order and public report from the Ethics Commission and appointed a Select Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate.	In a consent decree, Reddick stipulated to findings of fact that in six years he committed various violations including failing to report a loan, underreporting a loan, failing to report the value of stock, overestimating the value of stock, failing to report certain income, not filing the address and amount of sources of income, and failing to accurately reporting his net worth. The committee's proposed order stated that Reddick apologizes for "any unintentional adverse effect his actions may have brought" on the House. Because there was no evidence of use of office for personal gain or that the actions impacted legislative duties, the committee proposed and Reddick	Reprimand. The House accepted the consent decree.

FLORIDA	In 1992, Rep. Michael E. Langton was investigated for representing others before a state agency for compensation and seeking a benefit inconsistent with the proper performance of his public duties.	The speaker received a complaint and public report from the Ethics Commission. He appointed a Select Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate.	In a consent decree between Langton and the committee, Langton waived a hearing on the violations and penalty, stipulated to facts, and agreed to a penalty. The findings included the following. • Langton was a consultant to cities and counties applying for Department of Community Affairs for Community Development Block Grant funds before and after his election. • He asked the Ethics Commission for an opinion whether he could continue this consulting and was informed that he could as long as he did not represent anyone personally for compensation before an agency. • The House Community Affairs Committee chair asked Langton to work on changes to the grant program and he did so while continuing to consult with cities and counties who applied for grants. • Under new legislation, the department enacted a rule for application criteria. When it appeared that this interpretation was contrary to the legislative intent, Langton contacted the department to clarify the interpretation. • Langton recognized that his contact	Reprimand. Such conduct was prohibited when it benefited a member's client or business interest. • On behalf of his consulting company, Langton phoned a department employee to express concerns about misstated facts in monitoring reports the employee prepared. The committee's proposed order stated that contacting the employee was a violation and he was admonished to prevent recurrences. Langton agreed that he should avoid even the appearance of impropriety and he apologized for "any unintentional adverse effect his actions may have brought" on the House. The committee recommended a reprimand.
FLORIDA	In 1980, Rep. Gene Flinn was investigated for sexual discrimination and sexual harassment of two female aides and using aides for non-legislative duties.	The speaker appointed a select committee to investigate. The committee took depositions, conducted hearings, and gave Rep. Flinn an opportunity to appear and give testimony and evidence.	The committee found that Flinn violated House rules and a state statute. It recommended a reprimand.	The House adopted a resolution to reprimand Flinn by a vote of 109-4. Two legislators placed remarks in the journal arguing that expulsion was appropriate.

GEORGIA	In 1993, Rep. Jimmy Benefield displayed a sex toy in the House chamber where it was allegedly showed to young pages. Benefield acknowledged bringing the toy into the chamber but denied intentionally showing it to children. A Georgia Bureau of Investigation report found insufficient evidence that criminal laws were violated. As a result, Benefield was never charged with a crime.	Rep. Posten filed an ethics complaint on behalf of a 14-year-old page who claimed a legislator showed him the toy and Benefield laughed. The House referred the complaint to the 11-member House Ethics Committee, which hired a prosecutor and held a hearing over two days. House pages, the mother of the 14-year-old, a lobbyist, and three house members testified. The hearings were open to the public, except when the pages testified. The committee limited its questions of Benefield to his role in the incident. It voted not to look into claims by two female lobbyists that Benefield showed them the toy.	The committee recommended a reprimand even though reprimand was not among the committee's official disciplinary options as spelled out in the state constitution. The committee's options were no action, censure, or expulsion.	Reprimand (129-25).
IDAHO	In 1990, Representative Ray Infanger, in a letter to the director of the Department of Labor and Industrial Services, threatened the agency's funding if the director did not grant Infanger's son an electrical contracting license.	The speaker appointed a six-member bipartisan committee to (1) review the letter of accusation written by the director of the Department of Labor and Industrial Services; (2) interview Rep. Infanger, the director, and one other knowledgeable person; and (3) report its findings and recommendations.	The committee found that a serious lack of judgment left the impression that Infanger used his position, contrary to public interest, to benefit a member of his family. Recommended a reprimand. FLORIDA	In 2000, Rep. Alzo J. Reddick, Sr. failed to timely file a financial disclosure form for 1998.	The speaker received a copy of a stipulation of fact and recommended order from the Ethics Commission and appointed a Select Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate. The Ethics Committee had not approved the stipulation and could not do so before the end of the legislative session. Reddick was not seeking re-election but asked the House to find a violation and impose a penalty.	In a consent decree, the committee stated that because the violation was inadvertent, a letter of admonishment from the speaker was an appropriate penalty. In addition, Reddick agreed to apologize to the House and the public and make a $500 contribution to a homeless shelter.	Admonishment. The House accepted the consent decree and the speaker's letter of admonishment was printed in the journal.
FLORIDA	In 2000, Rep. Gustavo Barreiro failed to report a liability of more than $1,000 on his disclosure of financial interests that he filed when qualifying to run for the House.	The speaker received a final order and public report from the Ethics Commission and appointed a Select Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate. The speaker received a complaint and public report from the Ethics Commission and appointed a select committee to investigate.	In a consent decree entered into between Thrasher and the committee, Thrasher waived a hearing on the violations and penalty, stipulated to facts, and agreed to a penalty. The findings included the following. • As general counsel for the Florida Medical Association, he personally appeared on the association's behalf before a subcommittee of the Board of Medicine of the Department of Professional Regulation on a rule relating to surgery in doctors' offices. • Before his appearance, he had a phone conversation with a longtime friend who chaired the subcommittee and invited Thrasher to appear and address the rule. Thrasher had previously received a general notice about the meeting. • There was no indication that the appearance was intended to misuse his position to improperly influence a state agency, nothing indicated that his status was relevant to his appearance, and it was clear from the transcript that he appeared as a	The House adopted the report and a letter of admonishment from the speaker was printed in the journal.

MINNESOTA	In 2006, Sen. Dean Johnson made comments at a private meeting concerning alleged conversations he had with members of the state Supreme Court relating to the court's possible action on the state's Defense of Marriage Act. A tape of the comments surfaced.	The Senate Subcommittee on Ethical Conduct (a subcommittee of the Rules and Administration Committee) heard the matter.	The committee dismissed the complaint but voted unanimously to require a public apology to the Senate and a written apology to the group that held the meeting where the comments were made. MINNESOTA	In 2004, Sen. Michael Jungbauer was accused of performing campaign activities from his Senate office. He sent a Senate e-mail to 1,700 people forwarding a media advisory about a press conference whose organizers were seeking to defeat senators of a particular party if they did not pass a same-sex marriage ban constitutional amendment. He pled guilty to a misdemeanor charge relating to the use of the phone account in 1992 and 1993.	The Senate Subcommittee on Ethical conduct heard the matter.	The committee recommended voluntary resignation as chair of the Commerce and Consumer Protection Committee as an appropriate disciplinary action; that he be removed from membership on the Committee on Rules and Administration; that he make restitution to the Senate for the cost of the calls; that he apologize to the Senate in open session; and that the reprimand of March 24, 1994 (for giving telephone access code to lobbyists) be reaffirmed. The ethics committee held hearing after Armbruster left office.	The Joint Legislative Ethics Committee investigated (a bipartisan 12 member committee). The committee served him with a complaint in December 2006. Based on a preliminary investigation, he was accused of meeting with Bureau of Workers' Compensation officials at his legislative office to discuss the premium rate of his company. In 2007, after he left office, the committee held formal hearings with the legislative inspector general acting similar to a prosecutor.	The committee found that he violated a prohibition against using his position to represent his personal business interests before a state agency.	The matter was referred to the county prosecutor.
OHIO	In 2005, Reps. Jim Raussen, Diana M. Fessler, and Michelle G. Schneider failed to disclose gifts of dinner and pro football tickets on disclosure forms. NORTH CAROLINA	In 2007, an investigation of Rep. After his arrest based on a domestic dispute, he expressed his concern about the press since the election was in 10 days. He made requests to speak to the police chief. • Atkins was sentenced to probation after pleading guilty to offensive touching for supposedly grabbing his wife's arm during a fight. Staff found that the fight involved greater physical contact than described in the police complaint. The committee unanimously found that Atkins violated House rules and brought the chamber into "disrepute" by using his position in an effort to be treated leniently during the traffic stop and ensuing events culminating in his arrest. In voting to censure, the committee recommended he surrender his legislative identification car and license tag, pay a $550 fine, forego any committee chairmanships, undergo an alcohol abuse evaluation, and complete court-ordered domestic violence counseling.

Under House Rules, he was suspended from the House pending appeal or the end of his term. • In December, a federal judge vacated the verdicts on rumors of jury tampering and Gaffney was reinstated pending a new trial. • In January 1988, a federal grand jury returned a 21-count indictment that included new charges.	committee to investigate.		before the start of the 1988 session. GEORGIA	In 1999, Sen. Diana Harvey Johnson was convicted of five counts of federal mail fraud for funneling an estimated $80,000 of state tourism funds to her own consulting business. She was sentenced to 41 months in prison, fined $7,500, and ordered to pay $21,600 in restitution.	The governor impaneled a 3-member review committee after Sen Johnson was indicted.	The committee concluded that Sen. Johnson's indictment impaired her ability to serve her constituents.	The governor suspended Sen. Johnson with pay. She resigned her seat after a federal judge suggested he would not free her on bond while appealing her conviction unless she gave up her seat.
IDAHO	In 2005, Sen. Jack Noble introduced legislation to change the method of measurement of the required distance between a liquor store and a school after he and his wife were denied a license to sell liquor from their store.	Pursuant to Senate Rule 53, a six-member bipartisan Ethics Committee appointed by the Senate president pro tempore held four public hearings.	The committee found that the senator gave false or deceptive information to the Senate State Affairs Committee about the origin of the legislation and his potential benefit. Sen. Noble, while under oath, testified before the committee twice. It recommended that the senator be censured and stripped of any leadership responsibilities.	Resignation.

MICHIGAN	In 1998, Sen. Henry Stallings employed a state worker in his art gallery and used public funds to pay the person. He was originally charged with a felony but, after the legislative investigation began, he pled guilty to the misdemeanor of taking less than $100 under false pretenses.	Select committee investigated.	Committee unanimously recommended expulsion.	Resignation (prior to vote on expulsion).
MINNESOTA	In September 1995, Sen. Joe Bertram was arrested and convicted for shoplifting a $90 leather vest (a petty misdemeanor). He was fined $150. In 1996, the legislature investigated Bertram for shoplifting the vest and offering $1,000 to the store owner to not file criminal charges. After his resignation, he was (1) arrested on another shoplifting charge and (2) charged in April 1996 with two felony counts of bribery for offering money to the store owner not	Two senators filed a complaint with the Senate Subcommittee on Ethical Conduct. MINNESOTA	In 1990, Rep. Jeff Conway, a financial planner, was indicted for diverting about $90,000 of customers' money to his personal use. He was charged with 30 felony counts of diverting money from 15 couples or individuals over several months. He was suspended from the job and then resigned. He relinquished his broker's and insurance agent's licenses after the state Commerce Department found he mishandled funds. He allegedly invested money for a client after he resigned from his job. After he resigned from the House, he pled guilty to charges that were consolidated into four counts. He was sentenced to eight months in prison, 10 years probation, 500 hours of community service, a $5,000 fine, and $50,342 restitution. The judge stayed a sentence of just under nine years in prison.	A complaint was filed with the House Ethics Committee.	The committee found probable cause that Conway engaged in misconduct.	Resignation (the day before his scheduled appearance before the committee).
NEW HAMPSHIRE	In 2004, Rep. John Kerns was investigated for writing bad checks with "State of New Hampshire" written on them, using his title to get a parking space reserved for school officials, and threatening officials when told to stop parking there. After the legislative investigation began he was charged with four	The Legislative Ethics Committee received complaints, investigated, initiated formal proceedings, held hearings, and issued a report with recommendations. He also told the press that (1) he had a serious neurological illness that sometimes incapacitated him and (2) he and a family member were sex crime victims. After his resignation, he pled guilty to writing bad checks. The judge suspended a $500 fine and ordered Kerns to pay $421 in restitution, perform 152 hours of community service, apologize, and drop a lawsuit against police.
NEW YORK	From 1983 to 1986, Queens County Democratic Organization Secretary Richard Rubin placed no-show employees on the legislative payroll of Assemblywoman Gerdi E. Lipschutz. She was granted immunity in criminal proceeding.	In 1987, the Committee on Ethics conducted a five-week investigation that included testimony given in Rubin's trial in which he was found guilty of mail-fraud in that he caused a no-show secretary to be placed on the assemblywoman's payroll. The committee reviewed the state constitution, the proceedings of two constitutional conventions, and constitutional case law to determine if Article 3, Sections 7 and 9 authorize the Assembly to expel a member.	The committee found Lipschutz guilty of (1) falsely certifying personal service vouchers, (2) approving the hiring of a "no-show" employee knowing that the employee did not perform any official duties, and (3) committing the acts to obtain a political benefit. Assemblywoman Lipschutz cooperated with the U.S. Attorney in the Rubin trial and provided essential testimony after receiving a grant of immunity. The committee found that no member has ever been expelled and that the Assembly does not have the constitutional authority to expel a member. The committee recommended that (1) she resign, (2) the Assembly remove her	Resigned (after the committee made its recommendations).

NORTH CAROLINA	In 1985, a committee investigation of Sen. John Jordan led to a criminal investigation for bribery and extortion. He later pled guilty to extortion, bribery, and official misconduct. He was sentenced to a two year suspended sentence, two years probation, and a $2,000 fine.	No information.	No information.	Resigned after pleading guilty.
OHIO	In March 1998, Sen. Jeff Johnson was indicted by a federal grand jury on felony corruption charges: four counts of violating the federal Hobbs Act which prohibits officials from using their office to extort money and two counts of wire fraud. The federal charges involved pressuring inner-city grocers for campaign contributions in exchange for help in obtaining government licenses for nutrition and food stamp programs and to sell liquor and lottery tickets. In November 1998, he was convicted on three charges. He resigned in December. In February 1999 he was sentenced to 15 months in prison, at least 250 hours of community service	The Joint Legislative Ethics Committee investigated.	The committee did not complete its investigation.	Resigned.

TENNESSEE	In 2005, Sen. John Ford was investigated on charges including whether he resided outside his district, used campaign funds for his daughter's wedding, received consulting fees to help companies get state business, and failed to disclose his sources of income as required by Senate rules. (Other entities also investigated misconduct by Ford, including the FBI in a bribery scandal called Operation Tennessee Waltz.)	A complaint was filed with the Senate's Ethics Committee (a standing committee). The committee issued a subpoena and a subcommittee investigated and found probable cause for the full committee to investigate the issue of failing to disclose income. The full committee voted to bring in a special counsel to expand its investigation regarding consulting fees and deals. The special counsel presented a report of the investigation. The committee was preparing a six-count charge for ethical violations when Ford resigned.	Ford resigned before the committee issued its report.	Resigned (before the committee reported but after the FBI arrested him for bribery and other charges).
TEXAS	In 1957, Rep. Cox was indicted for consenting to accept a bribe. He was censured by a House committee but the censure came after the member had resigned.	An investigatory committee was appointed pursuant to a resolution.	The committee recommended that the entire House censure Rep. Cox but take no other action in view of the fact that he had already resigned. The committee vote appears to have been 9-0.	Resigned. It is unclear whether the entire House ever acted on censure.

ALASKA	In 1989, Sen. Paul Fischer was accused of taking personal trips at state expense.	The 6-member Senate subcommittee of the Select Committee on Legislative Ethics investigated the complaint.	The committee found an "inference of improper conduct" in Sen. Fischer's undocumented travel reimbursements. In testimony to the committee, Fischer stated that he was quite sure he discussed legislative business during brief airport layovers but neither he nor his aide could remember the dates or where the meeting took place. The committee recommended no	No action.

			action—it was unwilling to second-guess Fischer even though his explanation was not "clear and convincing."
ALASKA	In 1983, Sen. Al Adams allegedly used forged documents and his office to arrange jobs for a subcontractor. In return the subcontractor agreed to give Adams a $100,000 cash advance and ultimately paid him $772,668 over 2.5 years. The contractor also said he made a $12,000 loan to Sen. Adams in 1981 that was not repaid and not reported on Adams conflict of interest form.	The 6-member Senate subcommittee of the Select Committee on Legislative Ethics (3 private citizens and 3 senators) deliberated privately.	After reviewing the allegations, the committee dismissed the complaint because the allegations stemmed from actions that occurred either before the applicable ethics law was in place or outside the law's two-year statute of limitations.	No action
FLORIDA	In 1996, Rep. Marvin Couch failed to report one liability of more than $1,000 on his 1992 financial disclosure form and two liabilities of more than $1,000 on his 1993 form.	The speaker received a final order and public report from the Ethics Commission and appointed a Select Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate.	In a consent decree, the parties (1) accepted the Ethics Commission's findings on violations, (2) found no evidence that the violations were willful or intentional, and (3) found that the Ethics Commission became aware of the debt because Couch revealed it in an amended disclosure in 1993. Because of the inadvertent nature of the violations, the parties agreed that no additional penalty was warranted.	No action.
FLORIDA	In 1995, Rep. Evelyn J. Lynn was investigated for failing to report certain assets and income on various financial disclosure forms over a four year period.	The speaker received a complaint and public report from the Ethics Commission and appointed a Select Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate.	In a consent decree, the parties agreed that the Ethics Commission already found a violation and imposed a penalty and the House should take no action. They also recommended that the legislature consider clarifying jurisdiction over a member's conduct before taking office.	No action.

All payments to Orrock and Henson came from privately raised money in the Scott Fund. The committee recommended no action.
IDAHO	In 1990, Sen. John Peavey took another senator's outgoing mail from the sergeant at arm's desk to determine if the mail volume limit was exceeded.	A six-member special committee determined facts, reached conclusions, and reported recommendations.	The committee found that the senator did not violate any Senate rules; however, his conduct showed a lack of good judgment. Unanimously recommended no formal action and an apology.	No formal action.
IOWA	In 2006, Sen. Stewart Iverson took a position with a political action committee before his term ended.	The Senate Ethics Committee, a standing committee, received a complaint.	Before the committee took any action, Iverson returned his pay and quit the job. The committee dismissed the complaint.	None.
IOWA	In 2001, a complaint against Sen. Mike Sexton alleged conflict of interest for (1) sitting in on an environmental protection commission meeting regarding a fine of his employer and (2) quashing legislation as chairman of the Natural Resources Committee to prevent new regulations that would affect his employer.	The Senate Ethics Committee received a complaint.	The committee dismissed the complaint but required senators to ask for an ethics ruling in the future before taking jobs that might be a conflict of interest.	None
MINNESOTA	In 2003, Rep. Arlon Lindner made controversial statements about gays in the Holocaust and AIDS in Africa.	Eight representatives filed a complaint and the House Ethics Committee (a bipartisan standing committee) heard the matter.	The committee failed to find probable cause for a violation by a 2-2 vote.	None.

MINNESOTA	In 1996, Sen. Florian Chmielewski was accused of abusing Senate phone privileges. Previously, in December 1995, he pled guilty to misconduct of a public officer, a gross misdemeanor (it is unclear whether he faced other charges). He was accused of letting family and friends use his Senate phone access code for more than $3,800 in personal long distance calls. He was sentenced to two years probation and 100 hours of community service.	A senator filed a complaint with the Senate Subcommittee on Ethical Conduct.	The sub-committee recommended removal from two committees; no use of the Senate phone code; no reimbursement for lodging expenses outside his district; and loss of seniority.	None. The Ethics Committee recommendations had to be approved by the Senate Rules Committee which had no scheduled meetings until the following year. The recommendations expired and the senator was defeated in a primary election.
MINNESOTA	In 1996, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf requested an investigation of a possible conflict of interest relating to consultant contract. A newspaper article reported that Stumpf sponsored a bill in 1994 that provided $50,000 to a coalition of six counties to control beavers whose dams caused floods. Two weeks after the bill became law, he was hired as a consultant by the Red Lake Watershed District, which was picked by the counties to administer the program. He was paid $14,000, with the money coming from the district's account which is derived from property taxes.	Stumpf requested that the Senate ethics subcommittee (a bipartisan subcommittee) review the situation.	The Special Subcommittee on Ethical Conduct unanimously found that it was not a conflict of interest. The subcommittee report stated that no money appropriated as a result of Stumpf's legislative work was used directly or indirectly to pay him and he took reasonable steps to avoid a conflict of interest, such as consulting Senate counsel on the matter. It also found no evidence that Stumpf discussed the job while the bill was pending.	None.

The committee required a letter of apology and $936 restitution, which covered the aide's salary for the time she worked for the private organization.	N/A
OHIO	In 2005, Rep. Jim Aslanides was investigated for failing to disclose his real estate holdings for five years. Subj. Definition of Clear and Convincing Evidence

The rules state that the Committee must determine whether, by clear and convincing evidence, one or more of the charges against the accused legislator is true, and if so, what action will be taken by the Committee. This document summarizes how the clear and convincing evidence standard is used in North Carolina.

I. The Middle Standard

Clear and convincing evidence is a burden greater than that of proof by a preponderance of the evidence and less than that of proof beyond a reasonable doubt. In re Smith, 146 N.C.App. 302, 304, 552 S.E.2d 184, 186 (2001).

II. Evidence which should fully convince

In a juvenile abuse, neglect or dependency proceeding, the allegations "must be proved by clear and convincing evidence." G.S. 7B-805. In those cases, North Carolina courts have described clear and convincing evidence as "evidence which should fully convince." In re Smith, 146 N.C.App. 302, 304, 552 S.E.2d 184, 186 (2001).

In attorney discipline proceedings, the standard is "clear, cogent and convincing evidence." This has also been described as "evidence which should fully convince." North Carolina State Bar v. Talford, 147 N.C. App. 581, 587, 556 S.E.2d 344, 349 (2001), aff'd 356 N.C. 626, 576 S.E.2d 305 (2003).

III. North Carolina Pattern Jury Instructions: Commonly used and accepted meanings

Clear, strong and convincing evidence "is evidence which, in its character and weight, establishes what [the party with the burden of proof] seeks to prove in a clear, strong and convincing fashion. You shall interpret and apply the words 'clear,' 'strong' and 'convincing' in accordance with their commonly understood and accepted meanings in everyday speech." N.C.P.I.—Civil 101.11 Clear, Strong, and Convincing Evidence.

→ § 508. Special rules with respect to section 501(c)(3) organizations

(a) New organizations must notify Secretary that they are applying for recognition of section 501(c)(3)status.--Except as provided in subsection (c), an organization organized after October 9, 1969, shall not be treated as an organization described in section 501(c)(3)--

(1) unless it has given notice to the Secretary, in such manner as the Secretary may by regulations prescribe, that it is applying for recognition of such status , or

(2) for any period before the giving of such notice, if such notice is given after the time prescribed by the Secretary by regulations for giving notice under this subsection.

(b) Presumption that organizations are private foundations.--Except as provided in subsection (c), any organization (including an organization in existence on October 9, 1969) which is described in section 501(c)(3) and which does not notify the Secretary, at such time and in such manner as the Secretary may by regulations prescribe, that it is not a private foundation shall be presumed to be a private foundation.

(c) Exceptions.--

(1) Mandatory exceptions.--Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply to--

(A) churches, their integrated auxiliaries, and conventions or associations of churches, or

(B) any organization which is not a private foundation (as defined in section 509(a)) and the gross receipts of which in each taxable year are normally not more than $5,000.

(2) Exceptions by regulations.--The Secretary may by regulations exempt (to the extent and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed in such regulations) from the provisions of subsection (a) or (b) or both--

(A) educational organizations described in section 170(b)(1)(A)(ii), and

(B) any other class of organizations with respect to which the Secretary determines that full compliance with the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) is not necessary to the efficient administration of the provisions of this title relating to private foundations.

(d) Disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions.--

(1) Gift or bequest to organizations subject to section 507(c) tax.--No gift or bequest made to an organization upon which the tax provided by section 507(c) has been imposed shall be allowed as a deduction under section 170, 545(b)(2), 642(c), 2055, 2106(a)(2), or 2522, if such gift or bequest is made--

(A) by any person after notification is made under section 507(a), or

(B) by a substantial contributor (as defined in section 507(d)(2)) in his taxable year which includes the first day on which action is taken by such organization which culminates in the imposition of tax under section 507(c) and any subsequent taxable year.

(2) Gift or bequest to taxable private foundation, section 4947 trust, etc.--No gift or bequest made to an organization shall be allowed as a deduction under section 170, 545(b)(2), 642(c), 2055, 2106(a)(2), or 2522, if such gift or bequest is made--

(A) to a private foundation or a trust described in section 4947 in a taxable year for which it fails to meet the requirements of subsection (e) (determined without regard to subsection (e)(2)), or

(B) to any organization in a period for which it is not treated as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) by reason of subsection (a).

(3) Exception.--Paragraph (1) shall not apply if the entire amount of the unpaid portion of the tax imposed by section 507(c) is abated by the Secretary under section 507(g).

(e) Governing instruments.--

(1) General rule.--A private foundation shall not be exempt from taxation under section 501(a) unless its governing instrument includes provisions the effects of which are--

(A) to require its income for each taxable year to be distributed at such time and in such manner as not to subject the foundation to tax under section 4942, and

(B) to prohibit the foundation from engaging in any act of self-dealing (as defined in section 4941(d)), from retaining any excess business holdings (as defined in section 4943(c)), from making any investments in such manner as to subject the foundation to tax under section 4944, and from making any taxable expenditures (as defined in section 4945(d)).

(2) Special rules for existing private foundations.--In the case of any organization organized before January 1, 1970, paragraph (1) shall not apply--

(A) to any period after December 31, 1971, during the pendency of any judicial proceeding begun before January 1, 1972, by the private foundation which is necessary to reform, or to excuse such foundation from compliance with, its governing instrument or any other instrument in order to meet the requirements of paragraph (1), and

(B) to any period after the termination of any judicial proceeding described in subparagraph (A) during which its governing instrument or any other instrument does not permit it to meet the requirements of paragraph (1).

1. Purpose

The Tax Reform Act private foundation rules [26 U.S.C.A. §§ 507-509, 4940-4947] were intended by Congress to prevent abuses by certain privately controlled charitable entities, called private foundations, of their tax-exempt status, and the generic abuse sought to be addressed was the private foundations' using for noncharitable purposes assets donated by contributors who had received charitable deductions for those donations, such as use of such assets by the foundations to accumulate income, to perpetuate and operate family businesses with competitive advantages of tax exemptions, to invest in overly risky ventures, to engage in self-dealing transactions with substantial contributors or foundation managers or to promote political or other noncharitable objectives. Hammond v. U.S., C.A.2 (Conn.) 1985, 764 F.2d 88. Internal Revenue ⇦ 4270

2. Notice of exempt status application--Generally

Where on Dec. 18, 1973, taxpayer created charitable trust but did not file application for tax-exempt status under section 501(c) (3) of this title until Sept. 24, 1976, date trust became exempt, Tax Court granted Commissioner's motion for summary judgment under Tax Court Rule 121, since subsec. (a) (1) of this section and regs. required application be filed within 15 months of the later of either end of month in which organization was formed on Mar. 22, 1973, so that taxpayer's contributions to trust in 1974 were nondeductible under subsec. (d) (2) (B) of this section. Peek v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, U.S.Tax Ct.1980, 73 T.C. 912.

3. ---- Churches, notice of exempt status application

Where petitioner claimed to be church which is not required to file Form 1023, Application for Recognition of Exemption; during period before Court, Oct. 1, 1976, through Sept. 1, 1982, petitioner received significant percentage of support from its founder, who was one of petitioner's two ministers and two members, and who effectively controlled disposition of petitioner's assets; founder's living expenses were paid for by petitioner; and petitioner's activities included operation of library, publication of newsletter and bi-monthly meetings, Court determined (1) petitioner was not church within meaning of subsec. (c)(1)(A) of this section, since it served no associational role in accomplishment of any religious purpose, and its 1979-80 gross receipts exceeded 3-year $15,000 limitation in reg. 1.508-1(a)(3)(ii)(c); (2) petitioner satisfied notice requirements in subsec. (a) of this section as of Apr. 26, 1981, when it provided Commissioner with information required on Form 1023; and (3) petitioner was not organization described in section 501(c)(3) of this title, since substantial element of petitioner's assets were used for private benefit of its minister. Church of Eternal Life and Liberty, Inc. v. C.I.R., U.S.Tax Ct.1986, 86 T.C. 916.

4. Governing instrument provisions--Generally

Insofar as governing instrument of trust makes both charitable and noncharitable entities beneficiaries, the income of the trust, insofar as governing instrument creates noncharitable beneficiaries, is taxable, and donor is either pro tanto or entirely denied charitable deductions for donations to the trust, and thus insofar as such a trust operates within its charter, it does not engage in abuse targeted by Congress. Hammond v. U.S., C.A.2 (Conn.) 1985, 764 F.2d 88. Internal Revenue ⇦ 4280

Trustees under testamentary charitable remainder trust would be directed to administer the fund to conform to conditions, imposed by Tax Reform Act of 1969, classified generally to this title, which must be met by private foundations in order to escape federal taxation, the same as if such directions were explicitly stated in the will and notwithstanding anything therein to contrary, where the will, though not in terms of the Act, specifically prohibited two of the powers interdicted by the Act, where the other prohibited powers were forbidden to trustees by the general trust laws of the state, and where there were internal indications of testator's intent to make the will satisfy all requirements of this title as it then existed, subsequent to enactment of the Tax Reform Act. In re Klosk's Estate, N.Y.Sur.1971, 319 N.Y.S.2d 685, 65 Misc.2d 1005. Trusts ⇦ 271.5

5. ---- Accumulation of income, governing instrument provisions

Where testator gave his entire residuary estate to create charitable trust for educational and benevolent purposes, mandatory direction in will to accumulate income for ten years following testator's death must be disregarded for period following effective date of Tax Reform Act, Jan. 1, 1970, and income must be distributed at such time and in such manner as not to subject trust to penalty tax or other taxes imposed on undistributed income by this title. In re Presley's Estate, N.Y.Sur.1973, 351 N.Y.S.2d 305, 76 Misc.2d 462. Trusts ⇦ 280

Provision, "The principal of said trust fund shall always remain vested in my trustees and in their possession and custody and control.", was not a "mandatory direction" against use of principal for any purpose, where such a construction would be contrary to purpose of testator in setting up charitable trust, and hence this section bringing governing instruments of private foundation charitable trusts into conformance with minimum distribution requirements of this title for federal tax purposes was applicable to the trust, and successor trustee, in order to preserve tax exempt status of trust, would be allowed to invade principal, if required, in order to comply with minimum distribution requirements. In re Roche's Will, N.Y.Sur.1972, 330 N.Y.S.2d 441, 69 Misc.2d 481. Trusts ⇦ 276

THE CHAIR: This House Select Committee to Investigate the Alleged Misconduct and Other Matters Included in Indictments Against Representative Thomas E. Wright is now in order. It is March 3rd, 2008, at approximately eleven-oh-three A.M. in Room 544 at the Legislative Office Building. This meeting is called to order.

Again, as everyone knows, the meeting is being recorded by a court reporter, so I am going to, for the record, ask the people who are on staff to introduce themselves, and as well so that Counsel know who they may need to go to at breaks or otherwise. And I'll begin on the back row with Mr. Gehron.

MR. GEHRON: Jake Gehron, office of Representative Glazier.

MS. HUNTLEY: Denise Huntley, research staff.

MR. REAGAN: Walker Reagan, Committee co-counsel.

MR. KREHELY: Brad Krehely, staff attorney with the Research Division, and Committee co-counsel.

MS. GOLDSMITH: Kory Goldsmith, Committee co-counsel and staff attorney.

MS. FENNELL: Heather Fennell, Committee co-counsel and staff attorney.

THE CHAIR: Ms. Savel?

THE CLERK: Carin Savel, Committee clerk.

THE CHAIR: Members of the Committee?

REP. STAM: Paul Stam, Vice-Chair.

THE CHAIR: Rick Glazier, Chairman.

REP. WARREN: Edith Warren, Committee Member.

REP. McGEE: Bill McGee, Committee Member.

REP. LUCAS: Marvin Lucas, Committee Member.

REP. WILEY: Laura Wiley, Committee Member.

THE CHAIR: Counsel, please. Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: William Hart, Special Counsel.

MR. PETERS: Alexander Peters, Special Counsel.

PROF. JOYNER: Irving Joyner, attorney for Representative Wright.

REP. WRIGHT: Representative Thomas Wright.

MR. HARRIS: Doug Harris, attorney for Representative Wright.

THE CHAIR: And to my right is Katherine Becker, court reporter, as has been at previous hearings.

All right. Members of the Committee, I'm going to give you some instructions now as we start our process. We have now reached the evidentiary stage of our investigation into the allegations against Representative Wright of unethical conduct. In accord with the Committee rules, I have asked Committee's outside legal counsel, Bill Hart and Alec Peters, to prepare the presentation of evidence against Representative Wright to be presented to you today.

In accord with the Rules, Representative Wright has been supplied with a list of witnesses Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters have considered calling. He has also been presented with a copy of all documents Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters might want to offer into evidence at this hearing.

Representative Wright was requested to present the Committee with a list of witnesses might want to call in his defense, but has not so at this time, arguing that to do so would violate his Constitutional rights.

Under the Rules, Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters will have the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that the allegations contained in Counts 1 through 8 as adopted by the Committee and sent to Representative Wright are true. Representative Wright will have the opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses and to ask the Committee to consider witnesses and any other evidence he might want the Committee to consider.

Our consideration in this hearing will be in two parts. The first part will be to hear the testimony of all the witnesses and consideration of all evidence on both the fact-finding and potential dispositional issues. After all the evidence is presented, the Committee will then be asked to consider for each outstanding count that remains whether the conduct alleged in the count was committed and whether that conduct that was committed constitutes unethical conduct. Both questions must be proved by clear and convincing evidence for there to be a finding against Representative Wright. If they are not, there will be a finding in his favor.

If the Committee finds that one or more of the counts are true, the second consideration will be to determine what the appropriate sanction for the unethical conduct is. The Committee will then hear arguments from the Committee's outside legal counsel and Representative Wright on what the appropriate sanction or sanctions should be for the conduct. The Committee would then decide its recommendation to the House of Representatives on sanctions.

Legal counsel will be permitted to make opening statements before the evidence is presented and closing arguments after all of the evidence is heard. In accord with the Rules, legal counsel for both sides will be permitted to question each witness first, with direct examination, cross-examination, redirect examination, and recross-examination.

After that process is completed, each Committee Member will be permitted to ask a series of questions in the order set out on the sheet that I have provided to you and that is in front of your desk. After each Committee Member has been given an opportunity to ask questions, Committee Members will then be given a chance to ask additional follow-up questions.

Under the Rules, all questions to be asked of the witness must be relevant, they must have probative value as to some substantive issue in the case, and may not be a waste of time or redundant. Committee outside legal counsel, Representative Wright's counsel, and any member of the Committee may object to a question before the question is answered. If a question is objected to, the Chair will rule on whether or not the witness should now be allowed or should not be allowed to answer the question. The witness shall not answer the question until the ruling is issued, so, Counsel, would you please instruct any of your witnesses--in fact, all of your witnesses--in that regard?

After the Chair's rule, any Committee member who disagrees with the ruling of the Chair may object to the ruling by simply making a motion that the ruling of the Chair be overruled. You have been provided with information on the procedure for objecting to a question and for objecting to the ruling of the Chair.

Are there any questions at this point from any Committee members or counsel on those procedures that we will follow?

Seeing none, Members, you now have two notebooks in front of you today. One is your regular Committee notebook. Much of the information you need is found behind the last tab marked "3-3-08 Meeting." Behind this tab is a copy of the amended counts or charges against Representative Wright. Additionally, there is a revised chart of prior disciplinary actions against legislators in other states, and there is also a copy of the North Carolina Constitution behind this tab.

The other notebook is an exhibits notebook. Currently this notebook contains all of the evidence that Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters might ask to be introduced and considered as part of this proceeding. This evidence has been previously supplied to Representative Wright and his counsel.

The exhibits from Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters are currently marked in your notebook as Exhibits 1 through 19. If Representative Wright offers any evidence for introduction, his exhibits will be marked as Exhibits A through Z, as necessary, and will be placed in your notebooks behind the white exhibits tab. Since a notebook of the exhibits will be available to the witnesses who will testify to my left, the exhibits will not be handed out, but will be referred to merely by their exhibit number or their exhibit letter.

Any questions about the exhibit notebook?

All right. Seeing none, before we begin opening statements, I had asked Brad Krehely, Committee co-counsel, to give you some short background on the evidentiary standard of proof that will apply in this proceeding. After Mr. Krehely's presentation is completed, we'll have one procedural matter to undertake, and then we'll go and move into opening statements.

Mr. Krehely?

MR. KREHELY: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. members of the Committee, good morning. My name is Brad Krehely, and I'm a staff attorney with the research division and co-counsel to this Committee. The Chair has asked me to give you a brief educational presentation about the clear and convincing evidence standard. I've handed out a one-page document entitled "Definition of Clear and Convincing Evidence," and it's in your notebooks behind the March 3rd, 2008, tab after the agenda and the amended counts.

The clear and convincing evidence standard arises under Rule C.14 of the Committee's Rules. That rule states, "After hearing evidence on the substantive issues of the alleged unethical and unlawful conduct by the accused legislator, the Committee shall address, one, whether by clear and convincing evidence one or more of the charges against the accused legislator is true; and two, if so, what action will be taken by the Committee.

So, what is clear and convincing evidence? First, clear and convincing evidence is not defined in the Committee's rules. However, the standard is a standard of evidence in some situations in North Carolina. Second, this standard of proof is labeled in three different ways under North Carolina law: One is "clear, strong, and convincing evidence"; two is "clear, cogent, and convincing evidence"; and three is "clear and convincing evidence." Our research indicates that in North Carolina, these standards generally mean the same thing, and I will try to use the terminology "clear and convincing evidence" because that's the standard that's mentioned in our rules.

Now, there are three levels or degrees of proof in North Carolina, and I'm going to tell you about all three so that you have some context for how "clear and convincing evidence" fits into the bigger picture.

Clear and convincing evidence is not proof beyond a reasonable doubt. That's the standard you would need to apply to convict someone of a crime, and that standard would be too high for this proceeding, because this Committee is not a criminal court of law. Reasonable doubt is a doubt based on reason and common sense arising out of some or all of the evidence that has been presented, or lack or insufficiency of the evidence, as the case may be. Proof beyond a reasonable doubt is proof that fully satisfies or entirely convinces you of the defendant's guilt. Now, once again, that's the standard you use in a criminal case, and so that would be too high for this proceeding.

Now, on the other end of the spectrum, clear and convincing evidence is not simply the preponderance, or greater weight, of the evidence. The preponderance, or greater weight, of the evidence is the standard used in most civil cases, and you'll hear both of those terms used, and they mean the same thing. The preponderance, or greater weight, of the evidence does not refer to the quantity of the evidence, but rather to the quality or convincing force of the evidence. It means that you must be persuaded, considering all of the evidence, that the necessary facts are more likely than not to exist. And once again, this standard is lower than the clear and convincing evidence standard.

Now, in those situations where a clear and convincing evidence standard applies, North Carolina courts have explained what that standard means. For example, in a juvenile abuse, neglect, or dependency proceeding, the allegations must be proved by clear and convincing evidence. In those cases, North Carolina courts have described "cl and convincing evidence" as evidence which shou fully convince. Similarly, in attorney discipline proceedings, the standard is "clear, cogent, and convincing evidence." And this has also been described as the evidence which should fully convince.

Finally, there is a pattern jury instruction for clear, strong, and convincing evidence which instructs jurors in the following way: "Clear, strong, and convincing evidence is evidence which, in its character or weight, establishes what the party with the burden of proof seeks to prove in a clear, strong, and convincing fashion. The jury shall interpret and apply the words--and apply the words 'clear,' 'strong,' and 'convincing' in accordance with their commonly-understood and accepted meanings in everyday speech."

So, to summarize, the clear and convincing evidence standard is the middle standard; it's stricter than the preponderance, or greater weight, of the evidence, which is the regular civil standard, but it's not as high as the criminal burden of proof beyond a reasonable doubt; North Carolina appellate courts have described clear and convincing evidence as evidence which should fully convince; and finally, the pattern jury instructions emphasize giving clear and convincing evidence their commonly used and under--excuse me--their commonly understood and accepted meanings in everyday speech.

Mr. Chairman, this concludes my remarks about the clear and convincing evidence standard.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Krehely. With that, we are now going to move to one logistical matter that we have. Before we move to opening statements from the lawyers, I understand, Mr. Hart, that you would like to be heard with regard to Count 6 of the charges against Representative Wright.

Mr. Hart, you're recognized.

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. As the Committee is aware, during the pendency of this investigation, we have been at times unable to conduct a--a complete investigation of some matters because we never had a copy of the complete SBI file, and still--still do not, although we have had access to a--to most of it. We are in a position where we are recommending that the Committee withdraw Count 6 from consideration at this hearing, and would like to reserve the right to bring evidence on this count before the Committee at a later time if that's warranted.

Over the weekend was the first time that I was actually able to speak to Teresa Hill Williams, a former employee of Southeast Community Credit Union, who I understood, from reading her report and talking to investigators, would be able to provide us with all of the testimony that we would need to proceed on that count. After talking with Ms. Williams, I now realize that we would need some other witnesses, who have not been subpoenaed and who cannot be at this hearing. And I would ask that the Committee would withdraw that count and sever it from consideration at--at this hearing.

THE CHAIR: All right. We'll--Vice-Chairman Stam?

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, I move that Count 6 be withdrawn without prejudice from consideration at this evidentiary hearing.

THE CHAIR: All right. Dr. Joyner, Mr. Harris, response to the motion to withdraw Count 6 from consideration at this hearing?

PROF. JOYNER: No--no--no response.

THE CHAIR: No response? All right. There's a motion by Representative Stam to withdraw Count 6 without prejudice from consideration at this hearing. Is there a second?

REP. WILEY: Second.

THE CHAIR: Second by Representative Wiley. Discussion or debate? Seeing none, all those in favor will vote 'aye,' all those opposed will vote 'no.' The clerk will call the roll.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier?

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-Chairman Stam?

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: That is unanimous, and we will not be proceeding in this proceedings on Count 6. It will be reserved and held without prejudice.

We now move to the beginning of the hearing with regard to the charges pending before us. In accord with the Rules, I instruct the members of Committee that counsel for both sides are now permitted to make opening statements. An opening statement is a forecast of what the attorney believes the evidence will be in the hearing. By their opening statements, the attorneys set forth the grounds for their respective claims or defenses.

You should not consider an opening statement as evidence. The evidence will come instead in the form of sworn testimony of witnesses or other evidence that may be introduced into evidence as exhibits by the parties.

All right. Opening statement is first with Committee counsel, Mr. Hart or Mr. Peters.

MR. HARRIS: Mr. Chairman--

THE CHAIR: Yes. I'm sorry. Mr. Harris?

MR. HARRIS: Before we commence on opening statements, I--I wanted to address several issues. The first is I wanted the Chair and the Committee to be aware that there is a change of circumstance since the ruling of the Chair, and that changed circumstance is that a superior court judge ruled last week that Thomas Wright and his counsel had not had adequate time to prepare for answering these charges. It was a ruling from a superior court judge that substantially the same charges before you have--have not--there has not been adequate time for--for myself, for Mr. Joyner, for Tom Wright to go over these matters, to conform an adequate defense. And as the Chairman himself noted, we--we, in fact, don't even have a defense together yet.

Among other things, as I noted in court last week, these matters are so old, dating from, at times, 2001 and 2002, that, for example, I've had to send for--I've had Tom Wright send for his credit-card records to show things that he spent money on related to these foundations. We don't have those yet, don't expect to have those during this hearing.

It makes it impossible for this Committee to get a full picture and makes it impossible for it to be a full hearing. And--and a judge so ruled last week. And therefore, if there is to be a full and fair hearing, we respectfully renew our motio

THE CHAIR: And the renewed motion is t continue this matter--is that the motion we're referring to--hold it in abeyance?

MR. HARRIS: It--it is.

THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Hart, response, or Mr. Peters?

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, I have not heard anything presented that was different from what was presented to this Committee the last time we were here, and I don't feel there's any need to further respond.

MR. HARRIS: What is different is a superior court judge has so ruled.

THE CHAIR: I--I understand the--and we're talking about Judge Hight, correct?

MR. HARRIS: Judge Hight.

THE CHAIR: Yes. If y'all will give me a minute, I want to re-read your motion from the last time. (Examines paperwritings.) Correct me if I'm wrong: Mr. Hart, am I correct that the amount of material that you have set out in your exhibits is approximately two hundred and fifty to three hundred pages of material--is that correct--of the some seven thousand pages that may have existed in the criminal discovery?

MR. HART: That's correct, Mr. Chairman, not including what's on the CDs, which are Representative Wright's bank accounts.

THE CHAIR: I understand. Am I also correct that you have limited the case to ten witnesses now? Is that correct?

MR. HART: It actually may be less than that. We may not present more than seven or eight witnesses.

THE CHAIR: But that--but those witnesses were listed on the February 12th disclosure to Representative Wright?

MR. HART: Yes, sir. That's correct.

THE CHAIR: All right.

MR. HART: And let me--if I may, let me add this: Many of the allegations that are before the Committee were before Representative Wright since May of last year with the Board of Elections hearing. In the fall, there was the inquiry by the Legislative Ethics Committee, again with many o the same allegations being involved, and Representative Wright was aware of those and had an opportunity to respond to those allegations at that time, and then again before this Committee, when it began reviewing it in--in December, and Representative Wright has been aware of those allegations since--since that time.

THE CHAIR: All right. This matter is before the Chair of the Committee on motion by Representative Wright to renew his previous motion to continue or hold in--in abeyance the hearing on this matter on grounds that there's been inadequate time to prepare for the charges as--and relies in making that motion on the decision a week ago by Judge Hight in Wake County Superior Court as related to the criminal trial. Number--the issue's been argued by both counsel and is ready to be ruled upon.

Number 2, the criminal trial on the six felony counts pending against Representative Wright was scheduled to be heard in the Wake County Superior Court beginning on March 3, 2008, comma, but was continued by Superior Court Judge Hight until a time uncertain in the future this spring or summer, period.

Number 3, the ethics case pending before this Committee differs both in quantity and quality from the criminal trial in superior court on a number of grounds. First, this is not a court of law; it is a Legislative Committee hearing. Second, the Legislative Committee process has been pending either at the LEC or before this Committee since May of 2007, while the criminal proceedings have been pending in Wake County Superior Court only since indictment in December of 2007.

Second, the Wake County discovery includes somewhere between seven and eight thousand pages of material, which has been reduced to a maximum of three hundred pages of material to be used by Committee counsel.

Third, the number of witnesses appears to be potentially extensive in the Wake Superior Court trial. It has been limited to between seven and ten witnesses on the Committee counsel's case in chief in this proceeding.

Next, the ethics proceeding in this case has moved at a very deliberate pace to protect the rights of all involved, and most particularly those of Representative Wright. And I'm going to re-read the finding from the order on Motion 12. The ethics proceeding began in the Legislative Ethics Committee. The Legislative Ethics Committee withheld any action in the ethics case for a number of months to allow the criminal investigation and prosecution to make its determination of whether to proceed. The Legislative Ethics Committee determined there were grounds to refer this matter to the House for disciplinary considerations and withheld judgment on one count over which it retained jurisdiction.

The matter came to the House, and the Speaker appointed this Committee in December of 2007. The Committee established its rules on December 18, 2007, and probable cause was found on the eight counts, now seven counts, pending on January 9, 2008. Representative Wright at that time was provided a detailed list of the charges against him and a full opportunity to file a written response and prepare for any evidentiary hearing.

The Rules that have been established by the Committee detailed a reasonable time frame for the exchange of witnesses, the exchange of a summary of their testimony, the exchange of documents, the subpoenaing of witnesses, and the time to prepare for any hearing. And at this hearing, Representative Wright is assured the right to testify, present evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and fully defend the charges. Those Rules and the time table are consistent with nearly every set of state ethics rules that were identified as those rules were developed in the United States.

Next finding: Most of the information received and that is contained in the three hundred pages are Representative Wright's own bank records or records related to transactions that were alleged to have been conducted by Representative Wright. Nearly all of the documents, the vast majority of the documents are and have been for some time available to Representative Wright even outside the context of any proceeding in this case or in the Wake County Superior Court.

None of--next finding: None of the counts pending are any different than counts that were alleged throughout 2007, either before the State Board of Elections or in information received from a Health and Human Services investigation, or in matters pending before the Wake County grand jury.

Accordingly, I find that it--that the motion today to continue this hearing should be denied and any claim of inability to prepare for this hearing is not of merit. The motion is denied. Exception is noted.

Does any Member of the Committee seek to overrule the decision of the Chair? All right. Those--that will be reduced into writing so it's available. Your exception is noted.

Mr. Harris, next matter?

MR. HARRIS: Mr. Chairman, and while we're talking about exceptions, I wish to elaborate on our exception to the--to the rulings from the--from the other session.

THE CHAIR: Sure.

MR. HARRIS: I noted, Mr. Chairman, that we were allowed oral arguments, which presumably the point of oral arguments is to persuade, and presumably they would be listened to and--and there might be some hope of winning. And I also noted that without hesitation or delay or time for consideration, not for ten minutes, not for ten seconds, at the end of each time when poor Professor Joyner would argue, that the Chair would proceed to read from three and four and five pages of prepared remarks that had already been done, already been ruled upon.

And it--it seemed more than obvious to me and, indeed, the press noted that these decisions were written out in advance, to that point where our participating in oral argument was a mere charade. And Professor Joyner was arguing very strong legal points, very well-considered points. For that matter, I was arguing points and I wished to be listened to, and I found it very disturbing that the Chairman had prepared remarks already written out that had obviously been decided in advance.

And I know that judges oftentimes say "Let us take--I'll this into advisement," or they'll say, "Let me step back in chambers and consider this for a few minutes." And you know, whether they do or they don't, I don't know, but they at least have--they at least have the appearance of propriety. And this had the appearance of impropriety, because it was apparent that these decisions were made before we even argued.

And if the Chair and this Committee felt that we weren't worth being listened to, then the Chair should have ruled based on the written arguments and told them [phonetic] they wouldn't entertain oral arguments. But if the Chair truly entertained oral arguments, the decisions should not have been written out all in advance. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much. Your objection is overruled. Exception is noted.

For the record, not a single one of my rulings was written out in advance. However, like any good presiding officer, I spent days preparing. I had read all the cases, I'd made notes, I'd read your motions, I'd read the response, and I had notes of questions I was going to ask and notes of points I felt I needed to make.

So you have made--you made your point. The Chair understands it, and it is overruled. It is simply factually totally incorrect, and those on this staff understand that, since I then spent the next week and a half trying to put those written orders together. Your objection's overruled. Does the--exception is noted. Does the Chair's ruling cause any Member of Committee to seek to overrule to Chair?

All right. Thank you. Any other further points?

MR. HARRIS: Yes, Mr. Chairman. The next point I'd like to renew--and this is the most important point--

THE CHAIR: Sure.

MR. HARRIS: --is I'd like to renew my call for this matter to be continued so that we not pollute the jury pool and not have an adverse effect upon the criminal trial.

The criminal trial has now been rescheduled for March 31st, meaning it will fall a few weeks on the heel of the conclusion of this matter. And it's inevitable that things will be said in here that will be played on the press and played out over--over the airwaves and in--in the newspapers that will have an undeniable adverse effect upon a jury pool.

I note that all of you are State officials, whether elected or employed. All of you are acting under color of state law. And this is not a mere opinion expressed by an individual or as a--as it might be in a newspaper editorial or under the guise of--under the normal operation of free speech, but this is a formal operation of the State.

And I--I note further in this particular instance my client has been exposed in an unusual way to--to an extra dose of adverse publicity. A moment ago, the Chair made reference to the fact there was a hearing before the Legislative Ethics Committee. The Chair will remember the Legislative Ethics Committee eventually ruled that there was no jurisdiction, which, indeed, there's not. And the reason for that is because of the very thing Professor Joyner noted, which is that these matters come from a prior legislative session.

Now, indeed, during this same time period, Fern Shubert, a former representative that you all know and a former state senator that you all know, made a complaint against Pryor Gibson. She made it in January 2007--

THE CHAIR: Well, we're not going to get--we're not going to get into prior complaints, Mr. Harris.

MR. HARRIS: I'm not getting into a prior complaint. I'm pointing out the difference in what we have right here.

THE CHAIR: We're not going to get into a prior complaint before the Legislative Ethics Commission [sic]. If you have some point to argue with regard to Mr. Wright, you may do that.

MR. HARRIS: My point is that in a letter signed by you, Mr. Chairman, you said that there was no jurisdiction to hear that, and--and indeed--

THE CHAIR: Mr. Wright--Mr. Harris, we are not going to get into any discussion of anybody else's complaint before any other forum. Now, if you want to make an argument as to Mr. Wright, in Representative Wright's case, that's fine; otherwise, no argument as to--

MR. HARRIS: My--

THE CHAIR: --any other complaint.

MR. HARRIS: My argument, sir, is that in--in this instance, you as Chairman held no hearing, no--no adverse publicity was had, whereas--knowing there was no jurisdiction, whereas in Tom Wright's case, an extra hearing was held before the Legislative Ethics Committee, and therefore my client was exposed to an extra week's worth of bad publicity, when--when you as Chairman knew or should have known there was no jurisdiction, because you signed the letter on July 24th, 2007, demonstrating there was--

THE CHAIR: Mr. Harris, your objection is overruled. Do not go there again. I am instructing you I will not hear argument as to any other complaint. If you want to argue as to Representative Wright and renewing your motion on--I'm speaking--

MR. HARRIS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: --as to polluting the jury pool, I'll be glad to hear you.

If you argue again as to a complaint outside the jurisdiction, your right as to this motion will be denied, and we will move on. Now, if you've got an argument, I'll hear you on it. Do not refer again to any matters outside of Representative Wright's case, please.

MR. HARRIS: I do have an argument. Representative Wright is a black man from New Hanover County, and he is being tried both in the Legislative Ethics Committee and in this Committee, and a white man in exactly the same position was not. And that is a--that is a direct violation of the federal statutes, general--the U.S. statutes, 1981 and 1866 Civil Rights Act. When similar people are in similar situations, they must be treated the same, and what we have here is a white man being treated one way and a black man being treated another.

And I find it ironic that Representative Wright represents New Hanover County, Wrightsville, which is the very place where the 1898--the very place where the 1898 race--race riot took place, which began the Jim Crow era, and this is a Jim Crow proceeding if he gets treated differently. And I object to my client being treated in a Jim Crow manner in a hearing in 2008. It's totally against the law, and I'm saying that this ought not go forward. He ought to be treated the same.

THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Hart? Thank you, Mr. Harris. Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, much of the same argument that is being--is being presented on this particular motion was presented before Judge Paul Ridgeway in Wake County Superior Court last week on a request for a temporary restraining order to prevent this Committee from moving forward. After the hearing and arguments of counsel, Judge Ridgeway made specific findings in Wake County Superior Court on the record, which he has reduced to writing and intends to sign a--an order this morning reflecting those--those findings.

Some of those findings include as--as follows: "The Court next considers the position of the Appellant that even if this matter is not justiciable under the Political Question Doctrine, the Court should nonetheless intervene by staying the proceedings of the House Select Committee because Representative Wright's Constitutional rights as a criminal defendant will be adversely affected in the parallel criminal case pending in Wake County. Allowing the House Select Committee's proceeding to continue, Representative--Representative Wright argues, would cause irreparable harm by depriving him of a right to a fair trial in criminal court.

"Next, while it is axiomatic that a criminal defendant is entitled to a fair trial by an impartial jury free from outside influence, the law also provides adequate remedies to protect defendants from having these rights abridged. For example, to the extent that Representative Wright is concerned that his testimony at a hearing before the House Select Committee will be used against him at a subsequent criminal trial, an adequate remedy already exists in the Constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

"Likewise, N.C. General Statute 15A-957 provides the means by which a criminal defendant can petition the Court to change venue of a criminal trial if the defendant believes that pretrial publicity or other factors have caused so great a prejudice that he cannot receive a fair jury trial."

The Court went on to say as follows: "Moreover, it is not unusual for a criminal defendant to be subjected to parallel proceedings, such as civil trials or administrative hearings, involving the same subject matter as the criminal trial." He then cited several cases from the United States Supreme Court and various federal circuits.

The Court went on as follows: "While t[illegible] decision on whether to participate in the paralle[illegible] proceedings or invoke one's Constitutional privilege against self-incrimination may present a difficult choice for a criminal defendant, the fact that this choice must be made does not in and of itself deprive the defendant of Constitutional rights. For these reasons, the Court finds that Representative has--Wright has not, for the purposes of his application for a temporary restraining order, demonstrated that he is likely to sustain irreparable harm unless the application is granted."

The Court went on to conclude that Representative Wright had not demonstrated a like--likelihood of success on the merits and had not demonstrated that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm which can only be prevented by an issuance of an injunction.

So many of the same arguments about the pollution of the jury pool were made before Judge Ridgeway, and Judge Ridgeway found that there was not--not a sufficient basis to restrain this Committee from moving forward.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: If--if I may--

THE CHAIR: Sure.

PROF. JOYNER: --I was involved in the hearing in the Wake County Superior Court, and I certainly acknowledge that we dealt with in that session what we dealt with.

What we did not deal with, however, was the specific claim that Attorney Harris is making of disparate treatment. That was not an issue that was before the Wake County Superior Court, and that is certainly the basis of the claim that Attorney Harris has made this morning before this Committee. And he has made it before this Committee because this is the Committee that is involved in these--in this proceeding. That would not have been a matter that would have been raised in the Wake County Superior Court and was not raised in the Wake County Superior Court.

So my--my point is that the--the--the focus of Attorney Harris' comment is not--has absolutely nothing to do with what we dealt with the Wake County Superior Court.

THE CHAIR: All right. I think I understand the--the arguments. First, what I'm going to do on this--as the motion initially started out, which was a motion entitled to renew a prior motion, for all the reasons stated by Judge Ridgeway and for the reasons we stated in our order denying it initially, the motion is denied. Exception is noted.

And does that particular ruling cause any member of the Committee to seek to overrule the Chair? That's as to the initial motion.

Dr. Joyner, I do agree with you, though, that the motion as it was argued by Mr. Harris took a different twist as it was subsequently argued. And as to that subsequent motion as it relates to any claim of disparate treatment, that is a new motion, a dispositive motion potentially, that was not ever briefed, ever argued, or given to us consistent with the scheduling order for dispositive motions, and it is new. In that matter and for that reason, I could summarily deny the motion, but will not.

What I will ask you to do is to submit that motion in writing, and we will undertake a discussion of that motion and a ruling on that motion either at the end of the day, or if it's impossible to get it done by today, then in the morning. And I understand the difference, and I understand the disparity--disparate treatment argument being made. But if you wish to pursue that motion, it will be in writing, as dispositive motions should be. And I will ask you to serve Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters so they can respond. And I will hear it as best that I can hear it and make a decision at a later time in these proceedings as to that motion--the twist on that motion that came.

But as to the renewed motion as it started out, nothing is new, nothing different than from what was argued before that was denied or that Judge Ridgeway denied, and that is overruled for the same reasons. And exception's noted. All right.

Any further motions?

MR. HARRIS: I--I--

THE CHAIR: Mr. Harris?

MR. HARRIS: I wanted to note that we were not in the possession of this information--it would be our position we should have been informed of this information, since it has exact parallels to Tom Wright--but we heard this as a result of a--of a contact from former representative--former senator Fern Shubert. She contacted us on Thursday. This is brand-new information for us. And she indicated that she was--although she is a Republican, that she was disgusted at the treatment of Tom Wright and she thought there were clear parallels with Pryor Gibson, and she didn't understand why he was being treated differently. So that's how it came to our attention.

THE CHAIR: That's fine. Mr. Harris, I will receive your written motion on it, allow Mr. Hart to respond. We'll examine it, and we'll go from there.

All right. Any further motions? There being none, we will return to exactly why we are here, back to the issue, and that issue is whether or not there is clear and convincing evidence as to any count. And we will open the hearing on those matters with opening statement by Mr. Hart.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, we are here to present evidence in the matter of Representative Thomas Wright that will show you, by clear and convincing evidence, that between the years 2000 and 2006 Representative Thomas Wright engaged in a pattern of improper, unethical, and criminal conduct while a legislator in this General Assembly.

The types of conduct that are involved in what we will be showing in evidence involve a failure to disclose approximately one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($185,000) in campaign contributions during that time period; a failure to disclose the existence of a number of different campaign accounts and personal accounts that he funneled his campaign contributions into during that time period; solicitation of a letter from a State employee, Torlen Wade, falsely stating that funding would be forthcoming for his museum project in the amount of one hundred fifty and thousand dollars ($150,000); fraudulent presentation of that letter to a representative of Coastal Federal Bank to obtain a loan in the amount of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars to purchase property for that museum project; solicitation of funds from three different corporations for charitable donations to the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, stating that it was a 501(c)(3) corporation, which it was not; and then depositing those charitable deduct--those charitable contributions that came from those three corporations that were intended for charitable purposes into his own account and for his own personal use.

As matters of evidence, you will learn that on April 18th, 2001, Representative Thomas Wright filed incorporation papers with the Secretary of State for a corporation entitled the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated. You will also find out that that particular foundation never had any board meetings, never approved any bylaws, and never approved any of Representative Thomas Wright's activities over the years that we will be going into. You will also find out that it was never approved by the IRS as a 501(c)(3) charitable corporation.

You will learn that on March 5th of 2002 Representative Thomas Wright applied for a loan at Coastal Federal Bank in the name of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, with the purpose being to purchase a building for an 1898 memorial museum. You will learn that at that time he informed Ronnie Burbank of Coastal Federal Bank that the source of repayment was to be grant money from state and federal government.

You will learn that on March 13th, approximately eight days later, in 2002, Representative Thomas Wright called Torlen Wade, then director of the Office of Rural Health, and solicited him to write a letter that committed a hundred and fifty thousand dollars to his museum project, a commitment that Torlen Wade could not make, funding that he did not have available.

When Torlen Wade informed Representative Wright that he could not make that kind of a commitment, Representative Wright began to be urgently insistent that there was some way that could be done, and that he would not need to ever get the money that Torlen Wade was committing, that he was going to seek other funding, but he needed to be able to have a letter to go to a financial institution to be able to get a hundred-and-fifty-thousand-dollar loan.

You will learn that shortly after that phone call an e-mail came from Representative Wright's office to Torlen Wade with all of the details that needed to be put into the letter tha he was asking Torlen Wade to sign and send to him.

You will then learn that Torlen Wade did, in fact, comply with the urgings of Representative Wright because Representative Wright--Wright was a legislator, because Representative Wright was the chairman of the main committee that Torlen Wade had to deal with, with the Office of Rural Health, and because Representative Wright was a board member on the--a member of the appropriations committee that also dealt with Torlen Wade's office.

You will learn that Torlen Wade did draft and sign a letter and sent it to Representative Wright on March 15th, 2002, putting all the details that Representative Wright asked him to include that he had set forth in the e-mail. And you will learn that Representative Wright provided that letter to Ronnie Burbank at Coastal Federal Loan sometime prior to actually completing the loan to have the loan completed to be able to buy the property for the museum project.

You will also learn that on September

26th of 2003 Representative Wright, on Foundation stationery for the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, sent an invoice to AT&T Corporation seeking fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), that that--the purpose of that invoice was to seek a charitable contribution.

You will learn that on November 14th of 2003 Representative Wright sent a letter to AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals seeking a charitable contribution to the Community Health Foundation, a letter signed by Representative Wright and seeking twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400) as a charitable contribution to help him provide for healthcare services for the underserved population in the Wilmington/New Hanover County area.

You will learn that on December 15th of 2003 AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals sent a check to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, in the amount of twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400) in response to Representative Wright's request for a charitable contribution, and that Representative Wright deposited that check in his own personal account.

You will learn that on February 6th o

2004 Representative Wright sent another letter, to Anheuser-Busch Companies, Incorporated, seeking a charitable contribution to the Community Health Foundation, a letter on their stationery, signed by him, and asking for a contribution so that he could help build the 1898 Race Riot Museum.

You will learn that on February 12th of 2004 AT&T Corporation sent an order to pay the invoice that had been sent by Representative Wright in September of oh thousand--of 2003 to provide him with a check for fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) as a charitable contribution to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated.

You will learn that on March 5th, 2004, Anheuser-Busch issued a check to the Community Health Foundation for five thousand dollars ($5,000) and sent it to the Community Health Foundation at the address on the letterhead in the letter provided by Representative Wright, and that Representative Wright deposited that check into his own personal account.

You will also learn that on April 1st, 2004, AT&T Corporation sent a check to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, at the address on the invoice that Representative Wright sent to them, a check in the amount of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500). That check was deposited by Representative Wright in his own personal account.

You will learn that in the early part of 2007 the North Carolina Board of Elections received a complaint about Representative Wright and that Kim Strach, an investigator with the Board of Elections, began an investigation and compared--among other things, compared disclosure reports of Representative Wright's campaigns from 2000 to 2006 to his personal and campaign bank accounts, several different bank accounts that she found that he had. And you will learn that by her audit of the campaign disclosure reports and his bank accounts she came up with approximately one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($185,000) in check contributions that were not reported from 2000 to 2006 but were deposited in one or--in one of Representative Wright's personal or campaign accounts.

You will also learn that as Ms. Strach conducted her investigation she found three checks from corporations to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, in Representative Wright's accounts. Those three checks are the checks that I spoke about earlier to AT&T--from AT&T, from Anheuser-Busch, and from AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals.

And, finally, you will hear that on--in September and October of 2007 SBI Agent Johnnie Umphlet requested that Representative Thomas Wright speak to him about the allegations that came up during the investigation, and that Representative Wright agreed to meet with Johnnie Umphlet, that during that--those interviews that Representative Wright videotaped most of the interviews. He asked to be allowed to videotape them; that was granted. Most of the interviews were taped. However, at one point during the interview process--

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, we would object to this reference. It's irrelevant to any of the charges that have been filed against Representative Wright.

THE CHAIR: So the objection is relevancy? Mr. Hart, without going further into that, can you tell me what the relevancy is for purposes of the opening statement?

MR. HART: I'm simply showing the Committee what the counsel's--Special Counsel's evidence is going to show, which includes an interview of Representative Wright where he made certain admissions that deal with the allegations involved in the counts.

THE CHAIR: All right. And--and--all right. I think I understand. For purposes of the opening statement, the objection's overruled. Exception's noted. Thank you.

MR. HART: You will learn that at some points during the interview Representative Wright turned off the videotape and talked with Agent Umphlet off--off tape. You will learn that Representative Wright told Agent Umphlet that he didn't want to answer some questions, that some answers he was going to reserve for future times, and that he wanted to be careful and not say things that would hurt him. You will learn that he wouldn't give copies of certain documents that he had to Agent Umphlet as he showed them to him when the tape--when the videotape was off.

You will learn that initially he told

Agent Umphlet that there were no board meetings for the Community Health Foundation, there were no minutes, and there were no bylaws. You will learn that at the next interview Representative Wright said that he had come up with some bylaws, but that he would not give Agent Umphlet a copy of those.

You will learn that he could not recall his conversation with Torlen Wade but that he would have authorized the e-mail that he reviewed, though he didn't recall it. You will learn that he told Agent Umphlet that he did not intend for Torlen Wade to be hurt by all this, that he tried to get funding for the property and the loan but couldn't, and that the loan was ultimately defaulted.

You will learn that as Agent Umphlet showed him each one of the letters and--each of the two letters to Anheuser-Busch and AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals for the charitable contributions that Representative Wright said that he recognized those letters and that he sent those letters to those corporations in order to get charitable contributions; he said, however, that he did not recognize the invoice, but that he did, in fact, seek a charitable contribution from AT&T.

You will learn that he told Agent Umphlet that he received the three checks that you will see made out to the Community Health Foundation and that he put those checks into his own personal account. He told Agent Umphlet that the use of those checks was not restricted by those three companies and that he considered that sweat equity.

That is what the evidence will show, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Committee, and shortly you will hear the witnesses who will testify to those facts.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Hart. Dr. Joyner or Mr. Harris, opening statement?

PROF. JOYNER: We will reserve our opening statement.

THE CHAIR: All right. And I will allow you to do that pending--and--and just, Members of the Committee, so you know, what Dr. Joyner is doing is reserving the ability to do an opening statement until after the Committee counsel's case is completed before he begins Representative Wright's case.

All right. With that, I think it is probably as good a time as any for us to take just a few minutes of a break before we get started i the evidence. But before I do that, Members of Committee, I have an instruction, and everyone in the room, please.

Before we take our first break, I want to remind members of the Committee, the attorneys for the Committee, and the attorneys for Representative Wright, Representative Wright, and members of the public that because we are now in the deliberative, fact-finding stage, the Chair thinks it would be appropriate that the members of the Committee refrain from discussing this matter with the press, the Committee's outside legal counsel, Representative Wright's attorneys, Representative Wright until the Committee deliberations end up being completed in this case.

I will ask Mr. Hart, Mr. Peters, Mr.--Dr. Joyner, Mr. Harris, Representative Wright as well to refrain from discussing the evidence with you individually outside the context of this room and during our time together.

I will also ask the members of the public to not approach Committee members or witnesses until the matter is completed, at least as far as Committee deliberations are concerned. I believe that this process will allow the hearing to fair--fair to all parties if we follow these suggestions, and I am requesting the sergeant-at-arms to assist in ensuring compliance with this request.

With that, we are in recess for ten minutes, until quarter after. Thank you.

(SIXTEEN-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. We are back in session. Mr. Hart, we begin--since there's been a waiver of the opening argument by Representative Wright until his case, first witness is with you.

MR. HART: Special Counsel would call Torlen Wade.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Wade, Torlen Wade, if you'll come up, the witness chair will be to my left. The court reporter will be swearing in all witnesses--okay--Mr. Wade, if you'll be sworn by the court reporter.

* * * * *

Whereupon,

TORLEN L. WADE,

having been first duly sworn,
was examined and testified
as follows:

THE CHAIR: Mr. Wade, if you'll be seated, please. Mr. Hart?

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Would you state your name, please, sir?

A Torlen L. Wade.

Q Mr. Wade, are you currently employed?

A I am a consultant right now, private consultant.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, I don't believe my microphone's working.

THE CHAIR: Let's--do you want to try the lapel mic? Oh, that's what you were using? Okay. Let's hold on, and let's see what we can do. We're at ease for a moment.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, I'm going to proceed with the button mic while they're working out the mechanical problems.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. And let's try and get that fixed as fast as we can. Mr. Hart, if you need to stop at any point, or if that happens on either side, let me know. But go ahead.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Wade, are you currently employed?

A No. I'm a private consultant right now.

Q All right. Have you retired from state government, sir?

A Yes, I have.

Q Would you tell us what position?

A I'm retired as a--

MR. HART: Hold on just a minute. I don't think this mic is working either.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart, the witness is with you.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Wade, would you tell us--you said you retired from state government. What did you do in state government, please, sir?

A I was--when I retired, I was director of the Office of Rural Health and Community Care.

Q And how long were you with--that's in the Department of Health and Human Services?

A Right, Health and--yes.

Q How long were you in that particular office?

A I was in that office for thirty-three years.

Q And what were your duties in that office?

A Well, originally I was a--a community health worker helping communities organize health centers throughout rural--mainly in the western part of the state.

Q Okay. At some point, did your emphasis shift to the eastern part of the state?

A Well, we were a fairly small staff, so we had to kind of go back and forth. So I--I had projects both--more projects in the west, but I did have projects in the east as well.

Q At some point during your time with the Office of Rural Health, did you come to know Representative Thomas Wright?

A Yes, I did.

Q Tell us about that, please.

A It was in approximately 1991. Jim Bernstein, who was then the director of the Office of Rural Health, and myself were invited down to--to Wilmington to meet with a group of medical and, you know, business and county leaders over the issue of health access, particularly for under-served residents, in--in New Hanover County, and I met Representative Wright. He was part of that group in--in Wilmington, and I met him that--at that time.

Q And did he have a position at that time?

A He, I believe, was a member of the Wilmington city council.

Q From time to time thereafter, did you have occasion to work with Representative Wright?

A Well, out of that--out of that meeting in Wilmington there was a decision to--to try to develop a health center mainly for the inner-city area in Wilmington. And our office agreed to work with the leadership down there, and Representative Wright was a--was the--one of the key people on that effort. So I worked very closely with him between 1992 and '94, when we put together a federal application to get a community health center in--in--in New Hanover County, which--which was--which was successful.

Q Okay. Sometime thereafter, did you become aware that he was elected to the General Assembly?

A Yes. I--I was--I was aware of that.
Q Okay. After that, did you have occasion to again work with him in any way?
A Well, we--we worked very--very closely, you know, throughout the '90s, and even the 2000s, because his--one of his main focus was on--on health care, getting health care for under-served populations, which was the mission of our--our office. So we had a very--we shared--we shared a very common mission.
Q I want to direct your attention to the time period of 2002 and ask you, what was your position at that time with the Office of Rural Health?
A At that time, I--I had become director of the office.
Q And what were your duties as director of the Office of Rural Health?
A Mainly providing--you know, over--overseeing program operations, as well as, you know, supervising the, you know, staff within the office. I also did--you know, continued to do some program work as well, mainly on Medicaid program areas.
Q During that time period, were you continuing to interact with Representative Wright?

A Yes.
Q In what ways?
A Well, on--on issues--both on health-center issues and Medicaid issues. On health-center issues, Representative Wright asked us to help--help get a health center into Columbus County, into the--into the--into Whiteville, town of Whiteville. And so we worked--we provided the staff, and Representative Wright helped organize the--the community pieces down there. And we--we staffed it and then eventually funded the health center, which is still in operation today.
Q Now, you mentioned funding. Was there a process in place for committing funds to different programs?
A Yes, there--there was a process that--you know, once we--once we had gotten to a point where a project was--you know, looked like it would be a--a fund--you know, a good funding possibility, there would be a requirement, an initial step of having to submit a formal--you know, a formal request letter, you know, along with details on the project, budget, how--you know, what--what State funds would be needed, you know, where--what other funds would be coming in to help the project, and how those funds would be--how--how those funds would be obtained.

And then after that, if--you know, if that--if that was all in order, then there'd be a formal contract process that would be typical of any--you know, any--any State contract before money could be committed.
Q In your position, were you involved in the approval of--of the funding?
A Yes, I--I was. And I had--any--any--below two hundred thousand, I had authority--was delegated authority to approve those requests. Anything above two hundred thousand then went--I approved, but then it also went over to--to the Department's budget office for--you know, for final approval.
Q Even in the instances where the funding was under two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000), was there still this formal process--
A Yes.
Q --that you're discussing?
A Yes, there was.
Q During this time period of--of early 2000, specifically in February and March, were you aware--did Representative Wright hold any positions in the legislature in terms of committees or subcommittees?
A Well, as I recall, he--he was chair of the Health Committee by that point, as well as a member of the Health and Human Services Appropriations Subcommittee. That--that's what I recall.
Q Did your office have to deal with either one of those committees?
A Well, primarily our--our budget and program went through the appropriation subcommittee. The Health and Human Services Appropriations Subcommittee would have to approve any--you know, any budget or, you know, expansion or continuation.
Q How about the other committee that he was chairman of?
A That was--that was an important committee for health issues but was not a--you know, not a money committee, did not approve--you know, there was no appropriation with that committee.
Q Did there come a time in 2002, in March of 2002, that Representative Wright called you about a project?
A Yes.
Q Do you remember when that was?

A I--I don't remember specifically when the--when the call came in, other than it was around the time of the--you know, the letter and so forth.
Q I'm going to ask you, if you would--there's a book in front of you. If you would, turn to Document 2, which should be right near the beginning of that book, Exhibit Number 2.
A Yes.
Q If you--look at the date on the top of that and see if that refreshes your recollection as to when that conversation might have occurred.
A Yeah, I mean, based on the, you know, letter and e-mail, it was somewhere around, you know, March 13th.
Q To the best you can remember, tell us what you recall about--well, let me ask you first, did--you said you received the call from Representative Wright?
A Yes.
Q To the best that you can, tell us what you remember of that conversation.
A You know, as best I can remember, I was in my office that day, and I got--received a call from Representative Wright saying that--that he--he needed my help on a--on a--on a project, that he had--he had an opportunity to secure the building that was needed for the museum and that--and while he had funds that were coming to support the project, they were not in hand, and he needed to get this thing jump-started, he needed my help to do that.

And as I recall, I--you know, I--we discussed that I couldn't--I didn't have any authority to fund a museum project, even though I supported it, I could not fund that, and that-- Q Why is that?
A Because my authority was--I had--I had funding that was, you know, for health-related projects and--and for under-served populations. That was my--you know, that was the funding authority that I had.
Q And you--you said he told you that he needed your help. Was--can you tell us how he was asking for this?
A Well, as I recall, he was--he was asking for, you know, both a letter of commitment for the project as well as a, you know, financial commitment.
Q Once you told him that you had no authority to commit to that, did he respond in any way?

A Well, then it--as I recall, it--it switched over, well, I--could I help do health offices within that facility, 'cause there had been discussion about--about getting additional health offices for the Community Health Center, which was right across the street. And I--I responded that I--I could--I could--I could help on that.
Q And, if you would, tell us what--what you remember from that point on.
A Well, from that point on, you know, I--as--the best I recall, the discussion was around, well, if--if--before I could do that I would--you know, we'd need to go through this--the formal request process and get information on the project and how the State piece would fit with the museum piece. And--and--and that I--what I recall is that Representative Wright said there, you know, really wasn't time for that, the opportunity was now, "And--and--and plus, I didn't really need the funds, I had the funds coming, I just needed the letter."
Q Now, when you said you--to quote you, you said, "I didn't really need the funds." Is that your words or his--
A No, that was--

Q --words?
A That was my recollection of--of his words.
Q So you--apparently there was some urgency to this letter?
A That was the--that was the--

PROF. JOYNER: Objection.

THE CHAIR: Basis? I'm sorry. The basis for the objection?

PROF. JOYNER: Well, it's leading, first of all, putting words in his mouth. I want--want to hear the witness testify. Mr. Hart can get on the stand and testify if he wants to. We can cross-examine him.

THE CHAIR: All right. Objection sustained.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Did he indicate to you that he might be able to wait for a letter?
A No.
Q Why not?
A Because the opportunity--the opportunity was available right then, and he wanted--you know, he wanted my help then at that point. He needed my help then.
Q Now, you--you mentioned that the--the--part of the process, if there was going to be multiple uses for this project, was that you would have to know a breakdown in--in budgets and things like that. What is the reason for that?

A Well, we have to have some--you know, some assurance that our--our State funds are going to the purpose that we have--you know, we have authorization to commit funds for. And that--that--that has to be spelled out, you know, in a formal process so that we have a--we have a record in--in our files and--and can see all the different pieces and how they fit together.

Q When Representative Wright told you that he needed something now, what did you tell him, sir?

A Well, I--I--you know, I told him that it--you know, I really--we had a process, and, you know, we needed to stick to it, and--and--but then the discussion was around that he didn't really need the--the funds, that the fund--the funds for the project were--were--were coming.

Q And what did he say he needed the letter for?

A To--as I recall, to get--you know, to get a loan to--you know, to purchase the building.

Q Did he indicate to you who he was going to present the letter to?

A Not that I recall.

Q Did--did he indicate that it was a financial institution of some sort?

A That's my recollection, yes.

PROF. JOYNER: Objection. I'm going to--this is leading.

THE CHAIR: Well, the--

PROF. JOYNER: He's putting words in his mouth.

THE CHAIR: The--the objection comes a little late. The answer's already given.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, move to strike.

THE CHAIR: Are you moving me--are you moving to strike?

PROF. JOYNER: Moving to strike the answer.

THE CHAIR: All right. I'm going to allow the motion to strike the answer, and will ask Mr. Hart if you'll rephrase the question. Thank you.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Wade, I take it from your earlier answer that you didn't know a particular organization or--or agency that--that he might be going to submit the--the letter to. Did you know the--the general nature of an agency that he might be submitting the letter to?

A Yeah. Yeah. My recollection, yes.

Q And what was that?

A That was a--you know, a bank.

Q Once he told you that, that he would not actually be needing the money, what was your response to that, sir?

A Well, it--it didn't change it completely, but it made it a little less--you know, it was--that I was, you know, more open to, you know, help with--knowing that I didn't have to put money out to the project.

Q You knew, I take it, at that point, that you weren't going through the usual process?

A Yes.

Q Did that concern you?

A Yes.

Q Then why did you agree to do the letter?

A Well, it was a combination of--you know, it was the urgency and pressure from Representative Wright to--you know, to--this is very important to him and he--he made it very clear he needed my help on this--and it was the combination of that plus, with the other funding coming, I thought it was more, you know, I was helping jump-start it, then, you know, the money--the money would be there and the project would go on.

Q You thought no one would be hurt?

A Yes.

Q Do you remember anything else about the phone conversation?

A No.

Q Okay. After the phone conversation, what, if anything, happened?

A The next--next thing I--you know, I recall is that an e-mail from Represen--Representative Wright's office came over with the, you know, details on the--what should be in the letter.

Q All right, sir. I'd ask you, if you would, if you'll look at Exhibit Number 2 in the book in front of you there, do you recognize what that is, sir?

A Yes.

Q And what is that?

A That is--that's the e-mail that was--was sent from Representative Wright's office to--to me.

-69-

Q Okay. And that is--that's an accurate copy of what you remember the e-mail to be?
A Yes, it is.
Q Have you had a chance to examine that?
A Yes.
Q After you received that e-mail, what, if anything, did you do?
A After I--after I received that e-mail, I--I drafted the, you know, commitment letter to Representative Wright.
Q If you'd turn the page, sir, to Exhibit Number 3, I'd ask you if you recognize that document.
A Yes, I do.
Q And what is that?
A That's--that's a letter that I wrote on March 15th, you know, to--to Thomas Wright as chairman of the Community Health Foundation.
Q And is that your signature on that page?
A Yes, it is.
Q And is that an accurate copy of the letter that you sent to Representative Wright after your conversation with him and after his e-mail?
A Yes, it is.
Q At the time that you sent that letter to -70-

Representative Wright, Mr. Wade, had you gone through the formal process that you go through to approve such a commitment?
A No.
Q Was this letter an accurate statement, that you were committing a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) to the project?
A No.
Q Why did you send that false document to Representative Wright, sir?
A 'Cause I--I--the funds that were needed for the project were coming, and so I thought I was--you know, no--no--no foul, no harm--no harm, no foul.
Q And he had assured you, as you said, that--that he was going to be able to get other funding; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q Mr. Wade, would you have short-circuited the formal process and sent this letter if Representative Wright had not been a legislator?
A No.
Q Mr. Wade, did you ever--did Representative Wright ever come back for the funding in the letter?
A No.

-71-

Q Did you have any contact from the bank or anybody regarding the letter?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you ever become aware of what happened with the project?
A Many, many months later I--I heard--and I'm not sure from whom I heard this--
PROF. JOYNER: Objection to what he heard.
THE CHAIR: All right. And I'm assuming that the basis of the objection's hearsay?
PROF. JOYNER: That's correct.
THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Hart, any response?
MR. HART: I'll withdraw the question.
TH CHAIR: Question's withdrawn.
MR. HART: That's all the questions I have, Mr. Chairman.
THE CHAIR: All right. Cross-examination? And will that be you, Dr. Joyner?
PROF. JOYNER: Yes.
THE CHAIR: All right. Cross?
CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:
Q Yes. Mr. Wade, my understanding is that at some point you had a discussion about these events with an agent of the State Bureau of Investigation. Is that correct?

-72-

A Yes.
Q How--how many conversations did you have with SBI agents about this?
A Just one--
Q Just one?
A --that I recall.
Q Okay. Do you recall when that conversation was held?
A Sometime in--in December. I don't remember exactly when.
Q Is that December of 2007?
A Yes.
Q All right. Now, do--do you recall if during that conversation the agent prepared notes of the conversation?
A Yes, they did.
Q And after preparing notes, were you given an opportunity to review those notes?
A Yeah. Later on, I was.
Q Okay. And by--by "later on," when--when do you mean?

A About, you know, a week ago.
Q About a week ago?
A Yes.
Q Could--could you just kind of describe the circumstances under which you had a chance to review those notes?
A I was--it was at the courthouse, in the DA's office, and was given copy of the--of the notes, the SBI notes, and--and was asked to go through them and see if they were accurate.
Q All right. And were--did you determine that the notes accurately reflected what you told the--the SBI agent at that time?
A Yes.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I'd like to get a copy of that--those notes.

THE CHAIR: Well, do we have a copy of those notes, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, my understanding is that the interview of Torlen Wade was provided to Representative Wright in discovery by Colon Willoughby. I don't have a copy of that interview.

THE CHAIR: All right. Well, then either we--either you have it--if you don't have it, counsel for the Committee--

PROF. JOYNER: I don't have it.

THE CHAIR: --Committee for [sic] counsel doesn't have it, so it is not available to us.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, Mr. Chairman, I'm under the impression that those notes would be available to us for the purpose of cross-examining witnesses. I mean, it certainly isn't sufficient to say, "I don't have them" when they exist. And this witness has indicated that as late as last week he was given these notes to--to review. And it would seem to me that it wouldn't take the movement of a mountain to get a copy of--of those notes.

THE CHAIR: Well, we'll see what we can do, but I'm indicating what I've been told, which is the Committee doesn't have it, Mr. Hart doesn't have it. If you don't have it, then I'm assuming that the notes lie and sit totally with Mr. Willoughby's office, as a result. But at this point I'm going to have you to continue to proceed, and we'll do what we can to see if we can get the notes.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: This may be a situation that we had earlier where Mr. Harris and Mr. Joyner may need to confer about this, as we have understood all along Mr. Willoughby provided some seven thousand pages--Mr. Harris has--has talked about this in two different forums, both Wake County Superior Court and here, about the--having a complete copy of the SBI report. Mr. Joyner indicated to the Chair one other time that we were here that he did not have that report. However, Mr. Harris certainly did, and therefore Representative Wright did.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Harris, do you have a copy of the full SBI report for Torlen Wade--with the notes from the interview of Torlen Wade?

MR. HARRIS: I think, Mr. Chairman, this goes to the heart of my motion earlier that we haven't had adequate time to prepare, because when you're looking through seven thousand pages it's difficult to judge what you have and what you don't have. I will state that I have seen--I have seen a summary of what Mr. Wade said taken by the head of the elections board, which is not the statement we're talking about here.

Interestingly enough, I received the corrections from Colon Willoughby's office this past week, and so I'm aware there is such a statement, 'cause I got the corrections, but--but I don't have the original statement, either. I understand there should be handwritten notes and there should be some kind of summary, and I don't have either one.

THE CHAIR: Well, let me--well, let me ask--now, you've indicated you don't have it, but then you first indicated that you don't know if you had it, because you haven't had the chance to go through it. So I need to know which it is. Do you not have it and you know that you don't have it, or are you not sure whether you have it?

MR. HARRIS: I don't believe that I do have it. I've looked through the--I've looked through the notes, and it's--I mean, it's--I don't know how long it is, how many pages it is. I guess it's remotely conceivable it got stuck in the middle of something else. For example--I have already noticed this: In the course of looking through hundreds of checks, I'd be flipping along and all of a sudden there'd be a statement right in the middle of it. So we could have a situation like that where I--it's stuck to another page or something like that. But I--I haven't seen it. I'll put it that way.

THE CHAIR: All right. Let's do this: We're going to continue with the cross-examination. Obviously, we may have more cross-examination after lunch. Over the lunchtime break, Mr. Hart, if you'll call Mr. Willoughby's office and see if he can assure that the documents were or were not a part of the discovery package sent, Mr. Harris, if you can check with your office and see if we can be sure that--that in the section you've marked for Torlen Wade that these documents do or do not exist, we'll see if we can iron it out right after lunch.

MR. HARRIS: I guess we're talking about four or five pages. It may be smarter just to ask the district attorney to ship them on over or fax them on over. That would be simpler. That way we'd have them-- .

THE CHAIR: Well, I'm going to ask the district attorney if they've been shipped over, and that's the first question, because I don't have authority to order him to ship them over. But I want to find out whether we've got them or not, and we'll go from there.

All right. Well, let's continue cross-examination for a few more minutes. Thank you. Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: I'm assuming, then, Mr. Chairman, that this witness will still be available--

THE CHAIR: Sure.

PROF. JOYNER: --at such time that we receive those notes.

THE CHAIR: I absolutely will make the witness available after--you know, I will not relieve him from the subpoena until after you finish your examination after lunch.

PROF. JOYNER: All right.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Mr. Wade, you indicated in your direct testimony that your first meeting with Thomas Wright was somewhere around 1991; is that correct?

A That's my recollection, yes.

Q All right. Now, the purpose of that contact had to do with health-related matters; is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q And since that time, basically your contacts with him have been around health-related matters, issues, and concerns?

A Yes.

Q And some of those issues and concerns had some impact or--impacted the legislative process, but many of them didn't?

A Correct.

Q Now, in addition to that, did not the two of you form a personal relationship?

A Yes.

Q You were friends?

A Yes.

Q Right. And you had interactions with each other as--as friends?

A Uh-huh (yes).

Q And if you'd just say "yes"--

A Yes.

Q --for the record, that would--

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. All right. And--and this friendship continued from--from 1991 right up until, I guess, just recently; is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q Now, when did you actually leave the Office of Health--was it Healthcare--

A Office of Rural Health and Community Care.

Q Rural--Rural Health and Community Care?

A Yes.

Q Okay. When did you actually leave--leave that position?

A June 30th of 2007.

Q Okay. During that time--now, you--you mentioned that--that Representative Wright was a member of two health-related committees, one having appropriation responsibilities or authority; the other one did not have those type of appropriation authorities. Is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q Now, was it unusual for Representative Wright to come to you outside of the legislative process or outside of his role as a member of either of these committees to discuss health-related issues and concerns?

A No. That was not--not unusual.

Q That would not be unusual?

A No.
Q And it happened quite often--
A Yes.
Q --is that correct?
All right. Now, in your conversation with him on or around March 13th of 2002--well, let me ask you this first: How fresh is your recollection of those events?
A You know, it's six years, so it's not terribly fresh.
Q All right. How positive are you of the conversation and the dialogue that the two of you had?
A I'm--I'm fairly--I'm very positive about the--the--you know, the basic key pieces of the conversation, yes.
Q All right. But the--the specific conversation you're kind of vague on; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now--and the reason I raise that is that you indicated in a response to Mister--Attorney Hart's question that you authored or responded positively to Representative Wright's request because he was a legislator?

A Yes.
Q Is that your recollection as to why you responded positively?
A Why it was--you know, why--he asked me about being--as a legislator, yes, also as a person I worked with for ten years on health issues. So the personal side was important, too.
Q Someone you trusted?
A Yes.
Q Right. And--and y'all had a relationship, and in the past you felt that you--you could trust what he had to say and what he was doing?
A Absolutely.
Q Okay. So in that conversation, Representative Wright never threatened you that your department was going to lose any funds or anything if you didn't write this letter?
A That's correct.
Q So he didn't put any pressure on you at any point vis-a-vis his legislative position to get you to do what you did?
A Yeah, that's correct.
Q Okay. Now, you indicated in your testimony that because of the urgency which Representative Wright exhibited to you about getting the building--

A Uh-huh (yes).
Q --that you wanted to help him?
A Yes.
Q All right. Why did you want to help him?
A Well, I--I mean, I recognized it was a very--you know, a very important project to Representative Wright, and, I mean, I also supported the project personally. And--but I was, you know, inclined to, you know, want to help him get what was important to him done.
Q All right. Do you recall his description of what it was that he was trying to do with--with this building?
A Well, I recall--as best I recall, it was, you know, two-part. The main part was the--you know, the black history museum, and then there was the part about the health offices in the--in the upstairs part of the building and the Foundation offices in the upstairs. That was my recollection.
Q All right. Now, he--at the time, Representative Wright was the chairperson of the Community Health Center, I believe, in Wilmington?
A Yeah, that's my--that was my recollection, too.

Q Okay. Now, are you familiar with the Community Health Center?
A Yeah, I'm very familiar with it.
Q Okay. Could you just--just explain to the members of this Committee exactly what the Community Health Center did and was?
A The Community Health Center was--it's a federally funded, you know, community health center. It is set up to--to provide health care, fairly comprehensive basic care to residents in particularly the low-income, African-American areas of New Hanover County, and it provided basic primary medical care, dental care, pharmacy care, and provided a lot of social support for patients beyond that.
Q And you were aware that Representative Wright had helped to put that--that organization into existence?
A Yes. I worked with him on it.
Q Right. And, indeed, at that point he was serving as the chair of the board of that organization; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q Now, what was your role specifically in helping start that--that organization?

A Well, I worked--our office, basically committed, you know, some of my time to work with, you know, Representative Wright and other folks in Wilmington to put together a federal application to get those federal funds to get the center developed and--and operated. And, again, as I said earlier, that--that happened in, I think, 1994. It was successfully funded and--and then developed.
Q All right. And, in fact, your office also provided some funds to that--to that operation, did it not?
A After--after it became operational, we provided--the best I recall, we provided some funds to--both on the facility piece, to do some expansion, and on operation, where they--they wanted to bring in a other physician and we provided some seed money to do that. And--so, you know, we had provided funds several times since the Center started, yes.
Q And as a part of--of that expansion that you--you just mentioned, you were aware, were you not, that--that the organization had kind of outgrown its capacity?
A Yes.
Q And that they needed some additional space to be able to maximize the program effort that they were engaged in at that time?

A Yes, I was certainly aware of that.
Q Right. What--
THE CHAIR: I'm going to interrupt you a minute, Dr. Joyner. I think--unless you want to go with a few more questions, is this a good time to take a break for lunch, since we need to do that at some point?
PROF. JOYNER: It's always a good time to break for lunch.
THE CHAIR: All right. What we're going to do, then, is--Mr. Wade, your subpoena continues. We'll need you back right after lunch.
We're going to take a break for one hour, and we'll be resuming at two o'clock. This Committee stands in recess until two P.M.

(LUNCH RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Wade, just a reminder that you are under oath. And cross--I'm sorry. Mr. Hart?
MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, during the lunch recess I spoke with Bill Dowdy, who is present in the room, who is an investigator for Colon Willoughby at the Wake County District Attorney's office. He checked with Colon Willoughby and people from his office, and he has assured me that the entire district attorney's file, which includes every bit of the SBI file has, in fact, been turned over to Representative Wright, and that specifically Torlen Wade's interview reports are Bates-stamped pages 6799 through 6804, and that was part of the material that was turned over at the end of December of 2007.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much. I think that concludes that matter. Cross-examination will continue. Dr. Joyner?
PROF. JOYNER: Well, let--I still don't have the statement, so it doesn't conclude it, to that extent. The request that we had was to have it.
THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner, are--I understand, though, that the material was handed over to you, to Mr. Harris. So I--it seems to me that concludes the matter. It's in your files, and I--I don't know what else to do. I'm not--

PROF. JOYNER: No, it's--it's not--it's not in my files. Mr. Chairman, we have--and this is not the Wake County Superior Court. This is the North Carolina General Assembly, working with the rules that you created. And among the rules that you created was a discovery one which said that you had to provide me with that information, not that Colon Willoughby had to provide it.
Now, I presume that if you used that information as the basis for getting these charges that you have that information from the--from the outset. But at any rate, I'm still entitled to get from this body that information so that I can complete my examination--cross-examination of this and other witnesses.
I mean, if--if the investigator came from Colon Willoughby's office, all he had to do was make a copy of the document and bring it up--and bring it up here and deliver it.
THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart, would you please repeat for Mr. Harris the copy of the statement and the pages--the Bates stamps that are in their file that has been handed to them in December of 2007?
MR. HART: Yes, sir. The Bates-stamp numbers are 6799 through 6804, and that information was actually provided to Representative Wright, I believe, on December 31st of 2007.

THE CHAIR: The statement is in your possession. It is in Representative Wright's possession. It has been for months. We are moving on. Cross-examination, Dr. Joyner.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, I'm still going to state my objection to this Committee not providing me with a copy of the statement that the rules of this Committee indicate that I am entitled to receive.

THE CHAIR: Objection is--I'm sorry. Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, the rules actually provide that we have to provide Representative Wright with a copy of everything we intend to introduce. We have done that.

THE CHAIR: I understand and agree. Dr. Joyner, cross--I mean, I'm sorry--your objection is--

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman--

THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner, your objection is overruled. The exception is noted. Does any member of the Committee seek to overrule the ruling of the Chair? Seeing none, please proceed with cross-examination.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I want to respond. This witness has testified that the basis of his testimony was recorded in a statement that presumably was in the possession of this Committee. Now, to suggest that that statement is irrelevant to our going forward belies the reality. Now, you can--you're the Chair. You can do whatever you want to do. But I want to note my objection to these proceedings and the failure of this Committee to live up to the obligation and requirements of the rules that it established.

THE CHAIR: The objection is overruled. The Chair finds that the Committee counsel has fully complied with the rules set out. It also finds that the statement that is being referred to has been and is in the possession of Representative Wright for the last three months. The objection is overruled. The objection is noted as frivolous. Exception to the ruling is noted. You may continue your cross-examination.

MR. HARRIS: Before you go any further, when you say "to Representative Wright," I suppose you're really talking about to me. And Colon Willoughby has repeatedly sent me letters and sa that if I notice anything that's missing, to let him know, and he'll supply it. Now, I'd like to note that in order to determine where these matters were, they would have had to go through--they would have had to go in a file, look at the numbers, flip through and see it went from this number to that number, then--then a man has come all the way down here from Colon Willoughby's office, which is some blocks away.

So in the time we've spent messing with this, they could have Photostatted the thing and brought the doggone thing, just to be just a tiny bit fair--just a tiny bit fair. Now, I've said repeatedly I don't have that. I'm going to ask for it. I don't have it. I've looked at his file. And I don't like the Chair repeatedly saying we--we have it when we say we don't have it.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, first of all, Mr. Dowdy was here in the hearing room, and I simply talked with him at--at the lunch recess. He conferred with Mr. Willoughby to confirm what he already believed to be true, and that is that the entire district attorney's file had been turned over.

I'd also let the Chair know that on Friday, as Mr. Harris has indicated, he received a faxed communication from Mr. Willoughby which not only included the fact that he was going to try to reset the trial for March 31st, included the corrections that Torlen Wade--a couple of minor corrections, apparently, to the statement that Mr. Willoughby had that Mr. Wade reviewed, and he also at that time told him that if there was anything that he did not have, to please let him know. And as of lunch today Mr. Willoughby had not heard anything from Mr. Harris or Mr. Joyner as to not having Mr. Wade's statement or any other item.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Harris?

MR. HARRIS: As noted, I received that Friday. In fact, just for the record, because I was occupied in other cases, I received my mail very late Friday, after--after the close of business. Am I to understand that in the midst this hearing I was supposed to run over there to Mr. Willoughby and tell him what I've already told this Chair, that we need that?

I mean, this Chair requested it. It could be provided to us if--if we hadn't been provided. And instead of being provided, we're getting a little song and dance about why it can't be provided. Now, we're talking about fifty pages here. Can nobody run a Photostat machine? I mean--I mean, how far are we prepared to go in this sham to make this look like a fake hearing? How far are we prepared to go?

THE CHAIR: Mr. Harris, do you have your Bates-stamped file present in the courtroom--in this room?

MR. HARRIS: I've got such portions of the file as I needed for this hearing, and that--we're talking about--we're talking about, at this point, four boxes of stuff. No, I haven't brought the whole Bates-stamped file, no.

THE CHAIR: Well, my understanding, and my question, is this: I know that you spent a good portion of your holiday break reviewing that discovery that came in December and January from Mr. Colon Willoughby's office. I assume that at a minimum you've gone and just made sure that the Bates-stamped pages are sequenced.

If you could let me know specifically which pages of the Bates-stamped pages are missing sequentially, I would appreciate that. And if you will let me know that in the morning, we'll proceed to seeing what we need to do. But if you will check your file just to find out what pages are missing by number--I don't know what's on them, don't care what's on them, just want to know the sequencing numbers that are missing.

MR. HARRIS: The numbers you were just given, I don't have. If--if somebody will get us those numbers you were just given just a moment ago, that's what I need.

THE CHAIR: Do you have any other numbers in the seven thousand pages that are missing?

MR. HARRIS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: Will you please get us the numbers of the pages that are missing in addition? Thank you. Now, we'll proceed again with cross-examination. Thank you.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Mr. Wade, you indicated earlier that you've worked with Representative Wright and

Dr. Gottovi, I believe it was, in work with the Community Health Center in--in Wilmington. How extensive was your contact with the two of them around the specific healthcare needs existing in--in Wilmington?

A Yeah, it was very extensive during the period '92 through '94.

Q All right. Well, subsequent to '94 and up until 2006--2005, what kind of contact did you have with the--with the two of them?

A After that it was more sporadic. I had, you know, contact here in the General Assembly with, you know, Representative Wright on different issues. And as I mentioned earlier, we also, you know, helped getting a health center down in Columbus County, and I worked with him on that. And I've worked with Dr. Gottovi off and on for, you know, twenty--twenty plus years.

Q All right. And Dr. Gottovi was also involved in the Columbus County--

A No, he was not involved in that.

Q He was not involved in that?

A No. But he's very involved in New Hanover Community Health Center.

Q Has Dr. Gottovi worked with you as a--as a health consultant--

A Yes.

Q --on projects?

A Yes.

Q And in what counties did that work cover?

A That--that work covered a five-county area, New Hanover, Columbus, Pender, Bladen, and Brunswick County, around developing a Medicaid network in that--in that area.

Q Now, do you recall having some conversations with both Representative Wright and Dr. Gottovi about the 1898 Wilmington race rebellion issues and concerns?

A Yes, I do.

Q And--and in those conversations, I believe you indicated that you were supportive of their efforts and the kinds of things that they were doing around those issues. Is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q Do--do--do you recall how much--how extensive your conversations with the two of them were about--around those issues?

A Well, I don't--I don't remember discussing it with

Dr. Gottovi. I do remember discussing it with Representative Wright and--and did have--at one point I recall him taking me over and showing me the building and talking about his--you know, his plans and so forth.

Q Okay. And this was down--down in Wilmington?

A Yes, that was in Wilmington.

Q So you actually saw the building--

A Oh, yes.

Q --that--that they were talking about?
And did you go into the building?

A I--I think so. I can't--I don't remember for sure, but I think so.

Q All right. Now, did this occur before there was the request for this letter--

A Yes.

Q --from--from you?

A That's my recollection, yes.

Q Do you--can you say about how long before you had those conversations you went down to see the--the building?

A My recollection was, you know, a month or so before or something like that.

Q And you knew that--that not only was the Community Health Center involved, at least in the plans around this--in the securing of this building ,but also was the Community Health Foundation?

A Well, I don't--I don't recall--the Community Health Center had--was trying to get additional space 'cause of crowding. So the issue of space was certainly on their agenda. I don't know if they specifically had any involvement in the--in the--in the building, though.

Q All right. Now, the--the building that we're talking about is right across the street from the Community Health Center; is that correct?

A Correct. Yes.

Q All right. Now--and you are familiar with the--at least some of the work of the Community Health Foundation, are you not?

A Not--I'm not familiar with the work. I don't--you know, the point I knew about it, I think it was still being put together.

Q You knew about its--well, at the time that you knew about it, it was in a formative state?

A Correct.

Q All right. And the formative state, as you understood it, had to do with--or had--was focused on the purchase of the building and the conversion into the museum, and then the use of additional space for the Community Health Center and the Community Health Foundation?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So when Representative Wright came to you to talk about the need for this letter and the urgency as--as--as you've described it, you were fully familiar with the background of the building and the people who were going to be involved in it?

A I wouldn't say "fully." You know, it was at that point still, you know, an idea. It wasn't--there wasn't a firm plan as to what was going to go where and--I mean, that had not been, you know, laid out at that point.

Q Well, I guess in its broader--in a broader sense, you were familiar with what the goal of the individuals and organizations were with respect to securing this building?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Now, in the past--and I'm referring now from 1991 up to 2001--had you received other requests from Representative Wright for grants or support, assistance in other projects and programs that he was involved in?

A The only two requests that I recall were for the New Hanover Community Health Center, for help on operations, and then, you know, a capital project, and then the request for help to put together a health center in Columbus County.

Q All right. And--and on occasions when Representative Wright had come to you to make requests for assistance or support or help, on some occasions you--you've had to turn him down; isn't that correct?

A I--probably. I don't recall, you know, any incidents, though, right now.

Q All right. But you have a general recollection that on some occasions you've said "no" to him?

A I can't recall any specific right now.

Q All right. Now, you indicated that once the letter was prepared--and this tracked what you identified as Exhibit 2 in the--in the book--that you then sent the letter--well, let me--did you mail the letter to Representative Wright, or did you physically hand it to him?

THE CHAIR: Let me interrupt for one second. Are we talking Exhibit 2 or Exhibit 3?

PROF. JOYNER: Well, I'm using Exhibit 2 as the basis for what Exhibit 3 is.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

A I recall giving it to my secretary, who typed it, and then she, I think, sent it to, you know, Representative Wright.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Okay. Do you recall if she put it in--in--in the mail and mailed it to him?

A I--that's my recollection, but I do not--it wasn't hand--hand-delivered, no.

Q Okay. And that letter is--is basically Exhibit 3?

A Yes.

Q All right. Now, you indicated in that letter that the funding will be awarded by June 30th, 2002. Now, at the time, were you under the impression when you wrote that--that letter that funding would be acquired by Representative Wright by that time?

A That was my understanding.

Q All right. But you knew that that--whatever the funding was, it was not a commitment that binded [phonetic] you in any way?

A Well, it certainly wasn't--was not an expectation that--that I would pay this money, right.

Q All right. So then to say that--to suggest that the money would be awarded by June 30th--that was then based upon what Representative Wright had said to you about his ability to obtain these funds by that date?

A Well, that plus the--you know, my commitment is based on a fiscal year, so I couldn't--I had funds during this fiscal year that I could commit. Beyond June 30th, I had no--you know, I had--I didn't know what kind of funds I'd have at that point. So it's probably a standard--you know, a standard commitment letter, as well.

Q All right. Now--well, what I'm asking you now is, it was your understanding that Representative Wright was going to be able to get this money from some other source; is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q And you were operating under the assumption that he was going to be able to get this money from some other source?

A Yes.

Q Had--in the past, had Representative Wright demonstrated his ability to get large sums of money for various projects?

A I--I don't know, you know, large sums of money.

All I know is that--my work with him, he always--when he said he would do something, he did it. And--and so that's what I was basing it on.

Q And in the past, he had been able to get appropriations and grants and other financial support that undergirded or supported the organizational efforts that he was engaged in--

A Yes.

Q --is that correct?

All right. And that was the history that you had had with him?

A Correct.

Q And there was no reason at this point for you not to believe that he could, in fact, do that?

A Correct.

Q So the only part about this letter that is not truthful is the--your endorsement that your office was committing a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in funding?

A Correct.

Q Okay. You indicated, I believe, that as far as you know, the letter was sent only to Representative Wright?

A That--that's my understanding.

Q And you don't have any information about what happened with that letter once it was received by him?

A No, I don't.

Q And did you have any other conversation with him about this letter?

A Not that I recall.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, could I just have a moment?

THE CHAIR: Sure.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, we have no further questions of this witness at this time. We do want him to remain on standby until we can resolve this question about the prior statement and if there is to be some further questioning of him pursuant to that.

THE CHAIR: Well, we're--and--and we'll get to that, actually, when we get through the rest of the questions on him, so I appreciate that.

Redirect examination, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Mr. Wade, you said that, in response to

Mr. Joyner's question, that the only part of the letter that was not true was the commitment of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in funds; is that--is that correct?

A No, I mean, the part that wasn't true was the funding would be awarded by June 30th.

Q Okay. You never attended to award funding by June 30th, did you?

A No.

Q And that was in his e-mail to you, that it had to be--that the funds would be forthcoming by June 30th, correct?

A Well, I don't know.

Q You can refer back to the e-mail.

A Yeah, it says no later than July or--or August.

Q Okay. So that statement that you put in the letter which was false, that the funding would be awarded by June 30th, was in response to that portion of the e-mail that the funding would be forthcoming by July or August, correct?

A That, plus, as I said to Mister--Dr. Joyner, that our fiscal year ends June 30th, so our commitment--you know, I could commit funds beyond that. So it was a combination of, you know, our process plus the request from Representative Wright.

Q Okay. So that commitment was false, not only in the amount of a hundred and fifty thousand, but that it was going to be done by June 30th?

A (Nods head.)

Q And you conveyed--I'm sorry. You need to answer that question--

A Yes.

Q All right. And you had conveyed that information to Representative Wright, correct, that that was false, that there would be no money forthcoming from you?

A Well, he--he expressly said he didn't need the money, so I didn't--I didn't restate that.

Q Okay. Now, Mr. Wade, what is the reason you're no longer with state government?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection. Objection.

THE CHAIR: Basis?

PROF. JOYNER: Irrelevant.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: I think if you allow him to answer, Your Honor, you'll see that it is relevant.

THE CHAIR: I will allow you to connect it. Overruled for the time being.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Wade?

A I was--I was given--after this Board of Elections hearing, I was put on administrative leave and then given--basically given the option of retiring or going on leave without pay. But that was not open-ended and not--so I elected to--with--with strong encouragement, elected to retire.

Q And was--and was that based upon your having given Representative Wright this false letter?

A Yes.

MR. HART: That's all the questions I have, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: Recross? Thank you.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Mr. Wade, in--in your conversations with Representative Wright, do you recall a conversation in which he indicated that it was his intention to be able to get an appropriation to cover the hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000)?

A No, I don't recall what--the source of the money that he--he said he had lined up, I don't recall that.

Q But he did indicate that it was his intention to have that by the--by July or August?

A Correct.

Q And you--as to--as to--as to that promise, you had no reason to believe that he was not able to--he was not going to be able to deliver on that?

A Correct.

PROF. JOYNER: I have no other questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. That concludes the counsel's examination. I'll now go in order of the Committee members. And, Mr. Wade, we're in a--since it's a Committee hearing, the Committee members also get to ask questions, and then we'll conclude with one last round of counsel, questions if there are any.

First, Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Wiley?
REP. WILEY: One question.
THE CHAIR: Certainly.
REP. WILEY: And this may be--I'm not sure who to direct this to.
On this letter, Exhibit 3, is that a legally binding letter if Representative Wright insisted on the hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in funding?
THE CHAIR: If you can answer, Mr. Wade--
THE WITNESS: It's not a--it would not be sufficient to convey the funds, no.
THE CHAIR: Further questions, Representative Wiley?
REP. WILEY: No. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
THE CHAIR: All right. And the Chair has several questions, Mr. Wade.
If you'll look at Exhibit Number 3, in the first paragraph you note that you're enthusiastically endorsing the effort of the Community Health Foundation to move into the Foundation offices, the health center, and a museum. Did you have any capacity to endorse, in your position, the history museum?

THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: So that also was something outside of the ability of your office to engage in any letter?
THE WITNESS: Well, definitely awarding funds for it. If--I guess I could--I could write a letter of support for a history museum and, you know, there's no commitment beyond that.
THE CHAIR: All right. In your conversation with Mr. Wright--Representative Wright early on, just so that I'm clear in my notes, I think you indicated, did you not, that you told him that funds would not be available for this project. Is that correct?
THE WITNESS: Well, I told him that--that funds could not be made available for the museum part, but of the health pieces, I had authority and funds to do that.
THE CHAIR: And that was based on filing for the process that you laid out--
THE WITNESS: Correct.
THE CHAIR: --in order to get that?
THE WITNESS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: And that was never done?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. Any questions that that leaves--Mr. Hart, any further from you?
MR. HART: No, sir.
THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner, any further from you?
PROF. JOYNER: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

FURTHER RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q And I just want to--just for clarification, in terms of your ability and your authority as the director of the Office of Rural Health Development, you were able, had you chosen to do so, make a commitment to fund the Community Health Center?
A Correct.
Q And efforts, programs under the rubric of the Community Health Center?
A Yes.
Q But you were not able in the capacity that you were in to provide funding for the renovation of the building or the purchase of the building--well, the renovation of the building to a history museum or the purchase of the building?

A Corr--yes. I could not.
Q But you were able to provide and had the present ability to provide funds to support the Community Health Center?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
PROF. JOYNER: Thank you.
THE CHAIR: I think that's all the--I'm sorry. Mr. Hart?
MR. HART: I have a couple of questions based on the new area that Mr. Joyner went into.
THE CHAIR: Re-redirect.

FURTHER REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Mr. Wade, you had authority to fund projects for the Community Health Center, but only if you went through the proper process that your office had set up; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q So in doing this letter, you were actually outside of that proper--
A Yes.
Q --process and had no authority to fund that Center, even though you stated so in the letter, correct?
A I could not convey the funds based on that letter, right.

Q So that was a false letter, regardless of whether it was for the Community Health Center or the museum?
A Yes.
THE CHAIR: All right.
MR. HART: That's all.
THE CHAIR: Any re-recross?
PROF. JOYNER: No.
THE CHAIR: Thank you, Mr. Wade. You may step down. Mr. Hart, if you'll call your next witness please--
MR. HART: Before doing that, sir, I'd like to move to introduce Exhibits Number 2 and 3 that were identified by Mr. Wade.
THE CHAIR: Any objection, Dr. Joyner?
PROF. JOYNER: No objection.
THE CHAIR: No objection. Both Exhibits 2 and 3 are admitted.
MR. HART: The next witness for Special Counsel is Dan Rose.
THE CHAIR: All right. The court reporter will swear the witness, please.
* * * * *

Whereupon,
DAN ROSE,
having been first duly sworn,
was examined and testified
as follows:

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.
Mr. Hart?
DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:
Q Would you tell us your name, please, sir.?
A My name is Daniel Rose.
Q Mr. Rose, how are you employed?
A I'm employed at the Internal Revenue Service.
Q And what is your job with the Internal Revenue Service?
A I'm the group manager of the Internal Revenue agents in Greensboro, North Carolina, and in South Carolina that examine exempt organizations.
Q All right. And how long have you been with the Internal Revenue Service?
A Nineteen eighty-six (1986), very end of it.
Q Are you familiar, sir, with charitable corporations under 501(c)(3)?

A Yes, sir.
Q Tell--tell the Committee a little bit about what that involves.
A Well, IRC Section 501(c)(3) allows exempt from--exemption from federal income taxes based on their activities such as charitable, educational, literary, scientific research, that type of thing.
Q Okay. And what exactly does "IRC" mean?
A Internal Revenue Code. I'm sorry.
Q All right. And essentially, does that allow a corporation that wants to be a charitable corporation to receive contributions from anyone and have those contributions be tax-exempt--
A Well, it allows--
Q --or deductible for tax purposes?
A It allows donor deductibility for those contributions for those purposes, correct.
Q Okay. What does a corporation that wants to be a charitable corporation, a 501(c)(3) corporation, have to do to obtain that status?
A In general, organizations that want to be exempt as described in Section 501(c)(3) are required to fill in a Form 1023 and submit it to the Internal Revenue Service for consideration.

Q And is--is--does that have anything to do with obtaining an identification number?
A No.
Q What does--tell us about an identification number.
A An employer identification number is--it's analogous to a Social Security number for an individual. It identifies the entity by number. So it's--that's all. But they can be obtained--it's an SS-4 form, I believe. It's not something I normally get involved in, but I've seen the form. It can be obtained through submitting that form. It can be obtained--or it could have been obtained years ago through a telephone number and this kind of thing. But it's simply an identification number.
Q Okay. So if a corporation--someone forming a corporation were to send in an SS-4 number--an SS-4 form or call a certain location, they could get an identification number, but that would not make them a 501(c)(3) corporation; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q You indicated a Form 1023, 1-0-2-3; is that correct?
A Yes, sir.

Q What--what exactly is that form?
A It's a form that is submitted that identifies the organization by name and address and--and gives them the general outline of their activities, their purposes, and this kind of thing so they can be--that would purport them to follow the guidelines as described in 501(c)(3).
Q Okay. Once a corporation submits that Form 1023, is there an approval process that has to be gone through at the IRS?
A There is. It's considered as to whether their activities conform to those guidelines, and they're either approved or denied.
Q And if--if that process is approved, how is--how would we know that?
A There are various public places where the organizations identified--the Internal Revenue Service has a publication that's probably as thick as a phone book called the Publication 78, and the 501(c)(3) organizations are listed there. There are, you know, in recent years Web sites--public access Web sites have come available that you can look organizations up there. And I use those Web sites regularly.

Q Okay. I'm going to ask you if you--if there's come a time where you have been asked to look to determine whether or not a corporation called the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, in Wilmington, North Carolina, ever filed for 501(c)(3) status.
A Yes.
Q And what did you determine from that investigation?
A There's a--the determinations process is centered in Cincinnati, Ohio. That's what we call our records unit, and I have reason to call them every once in a while. And I've called and asked about this--it's Community's Health Center, I believe. We have no record of that organization being given exempt status under 501(c)(3).
Q Have you checked through other means, as well?
A I checked on the Web sites, and they don't show up there. We've looked in Publication 78 that--the Internal Revenue Service document. It does not show up there.
Q Do you have any way of determining whether or not anything was ever even filed to obtain that status?
A Well, I was wondering about that, and I asked the records unit. Apparently, if an application is filed and it is not granted exempt status, there is no record of that filing.

Q Okay.
MR. HART: That's all the questions I have of Mr. Rose.
THE CHAIR: Cross-examination, Dr. Joyner?
CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:
Q Yes, Mr. Rose. Just for clarity, first of all, you said that you checked the records for "The Community Health Center"?
A It's the Community's Health Center, yeah, Foundation.
Q Okay. Now, are--are--
A I've got it written down if you--
Q Okay. Do you want to look at your notes, then, and figure out which one it is?
A The Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated.
Q The Community's--
A The Community's, T-Y, apostrophe, S.
Q You didn't look under "The Community"--
A I'm sorry.
Q Did you look under "The Community Health Foundation"?

A I looked under several variations. At first I thought it was "Communities," as in plural. We looked under that. We looked under "Community." We looked under "Community's," as in possessive. And there was no record--no record of it.
Q Okay. So you didn't find a record of that?
A Correct.
Q Now, you said you've been an IRS agent for how long?
A Well, I've been with the Internal Revenue Service since 12-29 of '86. I became a Revenue agent in May of '94. I came to North Carolina July 1st of '05.
Q And, now, 501(c)(3) status, as--as you understand it, is conferred upon organizations that are engaged in charitable and community activities; is that correct? Or at least it meets the criteria for a 501(c)(3) status?
A Well, the--Section 501(c)(3) has several areas that it confers the exempt status on. It's--
Q Well--
A I can't promise you I remember every one of them, but they're such as charitable, educational, scientific research, literary, this kind of thing, med--medical care, this kind of thing.

Q But 501(c)(3)--
A Right.
Q --is specific as to corporations that are operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, testing for public safety, literary, or educational purposes; is that correct?
A Yes, if it's awarded.
Q And if a corporation meets that criteria, then it is a 501(c)(3) organization?
A No.
Q It's not?
A No. That's the--that's the reason for the application process. It comes in, and we--we--it's a letter called a determination letter that is sent out once we have determined that the application meets the criteria.
Now, there's--the first one you mentioned was a religious organization, and churches, I believe, are the only ones that do not--are not required to file an application. It's the separation-of-church-and-state thing. So churches don't have to file a Form 990, which is the information return, and they do not have to apply for exempt status, but all of the others do.

Q Well, are you familiar with Section 508(a) of the--of the Code?
A Not very much, no.
Q You're not familiar with that?
A No.
Q 508(a) says that new organizations must notify the Secretary that they are applying for recognition of 501(c)(3) status. Are you familiar with that?
A Well, I'm familiar with the requirement, yeah.
Q And--
A That's what the Form 1023 is for.
Q But this notification procedure in--in the--by law creates two mandatory exceptions, does it not?
A Well, you asked me if I was familiar with it, and I'm not that much, so-- Q Oh, you're not. Okay. Well, let me--
A 508(a) or (e), you said?
Q Well, five--let's look at 508(c).
A Okay.
Q 26 USCA 508(c)(1)--
REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, I have a--
THE CHAIR: Representative Stam?
REP. STAM: If someone's being asked about a piece of paper, should they not be given a copy of the piece of paper?

THE CHAIR: Well, I'm going to let Dr. Joyner ask his question, and then if we think that--that it will help Mr. Rose to see that, then we can do that. But I'll let Dr. Joyner go ahead and ask his question.
PROF. JOYNER: Well, I'll let him--I only have one copy of this, but I'll let him see it. I mean, he's supposed to be an expert. That's what I understand.
A Well, let me explain something--
PROF. JOYNER: But I'll let him see it.
THE CHAIR: No, no, no. Let's let there be a question first.
THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.
THE CHAIR: So why don't we go ahead and let him take a look at the paper and then--let him read it for a minute, and then if you'll--after you read it, let me know--return it to Dr. Joyner, and we can proceed with the questions. Thank you.
A (Examines paperwritings.) I guess whether I'm familiar--
THE CHAIR: Are you done reading?

THE WITNESS: Yeah, but I can't remember everything I've read here. This is not a section we deal with. That's what I'm trying to tell you.
THE CHAIR: Let's hang on for a minute. All right. If you'll return that to Dr. Joyner, please--all right. Dr. Joyner, if you'll go ahead and pose the question, Mr. Rose, then you can answer the question.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Let me--let me start with this, then. 26 USCA 508--that is a statute enacted by Congress dealing with Internal Revenue matters; is that correct?
A Yes, looks to be.
Q And specifically it refers back to the recognition of 501(c)(3) organizations; is that correct?
A It looks to, yes.
Q All right. And that is under 501--508--I'm sorry--(c), a section called "Exceptions to the Notification Process." Do you recall seeing that?
A Yes.
Q And one of those exceptions, as you indicated, deals with churches, their integrated auxiliaries, conventions, and associations; is that correct?
A Church organizations, yes.

Q And as to them, they need not file or notify the Secretary of the claim of 501(c)(3) status. Is that your understanding?
A Yes.
Q And--because there is a presumption--well, not that there's a presumption, but they are treated differently, and if challenged, then they have to establish their--the fact that they are a legitimate 501(c)(3) organization; is that correct? Or you're not familiar with that, either?
A No. You say if they're challenged--I don't understand your question, if you'd restate it.
Q You do understand that religious organizations, based on the statute--
A Yes.
Q --don't have to notify or apply--
A Correct.
Q --for 501(c)(3) recognition?
A Correct.
Q And in addition to that, it says any organization which is not a private foundation and the gross receipts of which in each taxable year are normally not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), they need not apply for recognition either, doesn't it?

A I remember seeing that just now, yes.
Q All right. And that's what--and that's what the statute says?
A I remember seeing that just now, yes.
Q Okay. And is that what the statute says?
A It's what it says there, yes.
Q All right. Is there anywhere else that this information would be?
A Well, see, this is the determination process. You know, to put this into context, when we go to find if an organization has been granted exempt status, we look it up in various places. We might even call that records unit that I was mentioning. But this is not an area that our group gets into, you know. We're not in the determination process.
Q Okay.
A That's centralized in Cincinnati.
Q Okay. Well, I wasn't asking you about that. I was just asking, is there not, based on United States Code Annotated statutes, an exception for organizations, just like churches, that they need not register for 501(c)(3) status?
A Correct. Churches do not need to register or apply.

Q And I'm talking about now organizations.
A Other than churches?
Q Isn't that what the statute says, Mr. Rose?
THE CHAIR: All right. We're--
A It says--it looks like there's two exceptions there. One is churches.
THE CHAIR: We're going to take a break at this point. I'm going to recess us for ten minutes, staff, sergeant-at-arms, if you'll make copies, please, of that statute, give it to Mr. Rose, to Mr. Hart, to the Committee members. We're in recess for ten minutes until a copy of the statute can be made.

(TWELVE-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. We'll come back to order, and I'm going to take my coat off, so I'm certainly going to allow anybody else who wants to to do that. All right. We're back on cross-examination with Dr. Joyner. I think everyone has a copy of the statute. Committee members should have it. Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters should have it.
Dr. Joyner, the witness is back with you.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Mr. Rose, have you had a chance now to review the federal law?
A I'm looking at it, yes.
Q You're looking at it now? Have you had a chance to read it?
A This part, yes.
THE CHAIR: Hang on. You're going to need to speak into the microphone so the court reporter can hear. Thank you.
A Yes.
Q Do you see 508(b)?
A 508(b), yes.
Q (B). All right. And does not that section basically stand for the proposition that if--if the notification of 501(c)(3) status is not given to the Secretary, that there should be a presumption that the organization is a private foundation?
A Yes. That's what it says.
Q All right. And by giving notification of 501(c)(3) eligibility, that authorizes the Secretary to designate the organization as a public or a charitable foundation; is that correct?
A There are two designations of 501(c)(3). On is a private foundation. One is a public charity.

They're determined by the range of donations coming in. So organizations are private foundations until they're determined to be public charities. That's what 509(a) talks about, yes.

Q But if it's deemed to be a private foundation without notifying the Secretary of 501(c)(3) status, then it is not tax-deductible--tax-exempt?

A Yes. I believe you're correct.

Q I mean, the law is right there in front of you.

A Yeah, but the way you said it is what I'm questioning.

Q Well, a private foundation that has been designated as a 501(c)(3) organization is tax-exempt?

A Yes.

Q And a private foundation which has not received a 501(c)(3) notification is not tax-exempt?

A Correct.

Q All right. And the private foundation becomes tax-exempt because it gives notice to the Secretary in the form of your Form 1023; is that correct?

A It applies for exempt status through Form 1023.

Q Then the statute goes on to make mandatory exceptions to that requirement?

A Yes.

Q One is for religious organizations or churches, because it really doesn't say "religious organizations," it says "churches"--

A Correct.

Q --right?

And for any organization which is not a private foundation and the gross receipts of which is--in each taxable year are normally not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000)--

A Yes.

Q Do you see that there?

A Yes.

Q So those two groupings would not be required to notify the Secretary for 501(c)(3) classification; is that correct, based on the statute?

A Well, I think you're missing that 508--508(b) says that if you do not--"does not notify the Secretary that it is not a private foundation shall be presumed to be a private foundation"--and the exceptions--you're saying that an organization that is not a private foundation--now, if they do not apply, they're presumed to be a private foundation. This is the way I'm reading this.

Q Well--

A If they do not apply, then they're presumed to be a private foundation and--which negates 508(c)(b).

Q Well, let's see if I can help you with your--with your reading of this. Do you see (c)(1)?

A Yes.

Q And do you see right next to the term "mandatory exceptions"?

A Sure.

Q What does--what does that say?

A "Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply to."

Q Okay. So that means those two organizations need not comply with either 508(a) or 508(b)?

A Correct.

Q So that's correct?

A That is correct.

Q Okay.

A That's what it says.

Q So all we have to do is to show that the organization fits into the (c)(1)(b) designation, and it need not file a Form 1023?

A It does not need to file a 1023 if it doesn't wish to have exempt status, correct.

Q Mr. Rose, you're--you're trying to redraft in your mind--

A No, I'm trying to understand--

Q --the statute.

A --your questions, sir.

Q Do you want me to go back again?

A Well, let's start from the section where it says, "Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply to (a) and (b)."

Q All right. Well, let's--let's--let's--let me ask you this way: When it says, "Subsection (a) and (b) shall not apply," that means that it is mandatory from Congress--

A Right.

Q --that those two groupings need not file a Form 1023?

A Correct. You're right. Okay. All right.

Q So once we have determined that the organization fits into the (c)(1)(b) exception, it need not file a Form 1023?

A Doesn't need to file one, no.

Q So the fact that you looked for and did not find a designation for the Community Health Foundation, if it received less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) normally per year, means absolutely nothing with respect to a determination of whet it's a 501(c)(3) organization?

A See, I'm getting hung up on where it says--in (b) it says, "Any organization which is not a private foundation and the gross receipts of which in each taxable year are normally not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000)"--"any organization which is not a private foundation"--but when you look under 508(b), if they do not notify the Secretary that it is not a private foundation, it shall be presumed to be a private foundation.

And I also want to tell you--I'm trying to answer this the best I can, but this is not an area we get into. But by the reading of this, it seems, honestly--it seems they have to tell us that they are not a private foundation before exception (b) fits.

Q Well, let's--let's go back, because I know this reading sometimes is hard. I understand--
A Sorry.
Q --it's hard sometimes.
A I'm trying to follow you.
Q All right. 508(c), 508(c)(1)--
A Yes.
Q --says, "Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply."

So in spite of that mandatory language, now you want to read into this statute some requirement that it apply or that it utilize Section (b) when the statute says that it shall not apply? Do you see that section that says "Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply"?

A Yeah.
Q So if it says "shall not apply," then how can you go back to (b) and use that as justification for a requirement that there be some notification?
A What I'm questioning is whether (b) is met. It says, "Mandatory exceptions. Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply to." Let's leave (a) alone. I think we can agree (a) is irrelevant; is that right?
Q Well, we--we--however you want to read it.

THE CHAIR: Okay. And, Mr. Rose, you answer the question, but we're not going to engage in--

MR. ROSE: I'm sorry.
THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you.

A All right. "Subsection (b) shall not apply to any organization which is not a private foundation and the gross receipts of which in each taxable year are normally not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000)." I have no idea what the revenue of this organization was, so the five thousand dollars to me doesn't mean anything.

But it says, "Subsections (a) and (b) shall not apply to any organization which is not a private foundation." If--(b) says that if they do not notify us that it is not a private foundation, it shall be presumed to be a private foundation.

So an organization that does not apply for (c)(3) status is presumed to be a private foundation. And (c)(b) looks to me to be--the conditions are not met. That's the way I'm reading.

Q All right. Mr. Rose, let's work through this again, now.
A All right.
Q Subsection (1)(b)--(c)(1)(b)--
A (C)(1)(b). Yes.
Q --relates to an organization which is not a private foundation as defined--you do see that there, don't you--
A Sure.
Q --in Section 509(a)?

A Correct.
Q Now, do you know what 509(a) says?
A 509(a) says that an organization is presumed to be a private foundation unless it fits one of the criteria of (a) (1), (2), (3), or (4). And (a)(1) and (2) have to do with the type of funding that they receive.
Q Well, do you have 509(a) there in front of you?
A No. I've seen it.
Q Oh, you've seen it?
A That one I'm--
Q Well, do I need to show you a copy of that?
A No. What do you feel it says? Which--I'm not understanding your question about 509(a).
Q Well, "any organization which is not a foundation as defined by 509(a)"--
A Right.
Q --that's one criteria--"and the gross receipts of which in each taxable year are normally not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000)"--
A Uh-huh (yes).
Q --and my question was, assuming that the income in each taxable year is normally not more than five thousand dollars, would that organization be required to file a Form 1023?

A Well, there's two conditions in (b), and you're only alluding to the second one. It says, "Any organization which is not a private foundation and the gross receipts"--I don't know what the gross receipts--if the gross receipts--if it's not a private foundation and gross receipts are not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), you're correct, they do not have to apply.
Q All right. So you do agree--
A Yes, sir.
Q --you do agree that that--that that would apply and you would not have to file--
A If they--
Q --a Form 1023?
A If they meet both of those criteria, I agree with you.
Q Okay. So--so those are at least two mandatory exceptions?
A Yeah, (a) and (b) you're talking about. Yes.
Q And then the statute goes on to say that the Secretary may, by regulation, exempt other organizations. Have you checked the Secretary's exemptions to see if they might apply in this situation?

A The regulations? Well, where it says--no, I haven't looked at the regulations recently. To be honest with you, when these things come up, I read the regulations. I don't try to commit--
Q So if an organization--
REP. STAM: Dr. Joyner, let's let him finish his answer.
A To be honest with you, when these things come up, I look at the regulations. I don't try to commit them to memory.
Q And looking at this statute--
A Yes.
Q --which is not a regulation--
A Correct.
Q --but the law--
A Yes.
Q --it says that the Secretary can exempt other organizations not mentioned and not covered by (a) and (b); is that correct?
A Yes.
Q And you have not checked the Secretary's regulations to see how the Community Health Foundation might or might not apply to those--to those exceptions?

A I'm looking at Number 2 here. Just a moment, please. (Examines paperwritings.) Well, it says it may exempt from those provisions (a) and (b) or both, educational organizations, which is, a, described in 170(b)(1)(A)(iii), and, b, any other class of organizations with respect to which the Secretary determines the full compliance with the provisions of Subsections (a) and (b) is not necessary to the efficient administration of the provisions--okay. Okay. Well, to answer your question, now that I read this, no, I have not looked at the regulations.
Q Okay. And that--and that--and that--and that was my question.
A Okay.
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I don't have any other questions.
MR. CHAIR: I'm sorry. Redirect examination?
MR. HART: No questions, sir.
THE CHAIR: All right. Actually, we've got a slightly different process. Hang with me. You may or may not be done. Question,

Representative Stam?
REP. STAM: Thank you, Mr. Chair. In looking at Exhibit 1, which is the name of the entity in question, the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., my question is this: We've had a forecast of evidence that this corporation, the board of directors never met, that the--there were no bylaws and that the chairman--that the chairman, Mr. Wright, Representative Wright, deposited in his own personal bank account contributions of several thousand dollars to his own account. Could a corporation like that qualify as a corporation to which contributions are tax-deductible under 501(c)(3)?
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
THE CHAIR: Basis for the objection?
PROF. JOYNER: One, I don't know that this--this witness is qualified to interpret the statute and to make designations of--of tax-exempt status. That's not what he was represented to be able to do when he was presented as a witness.
THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?
MR. HART: He's just spent twenty min asking the witness for his interpretation of the statutes, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: I agree, and the objection on that grounds is overruled. You can answer the question if you can.

THE WITNESS: Organizations are required to provide organizational documents--there's--there's two tests to be designated an exempt organization. One is the organizational test. One is the operational test.

The organizational test is demonstrated by organizational documents. We require the organizational documents to identify the purpose of the organization, and it has to comply with the purposes described in the particular subsection. So if they don't have bylaws, I don't--I don't--that's not fatal to their exempt status.

501(c)(3) goes on, after it describes the various purposes of the--the section or organizations described in the section--it goes on to ban certain activities. There's an absolute ban on political activities. There's a ban on substantial legislative activities, and there's a ban on inurement of funds to any shareholder--is the word they use, but it means that--inurement means excess benefit or benefit beyond reasonable benefit to people that have control of the organization.

We have--you know, we do examinations of these organizations, and several--often what we find is the people that control the organizations use the money for their own purposes. This is what inurement is. And this is what can cause the exempt status of the organization to be--proposed to be revoked.

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Looking at Page 2 of Exhibit 1, if you look under "Prohibited Activities"--and this is the articles filed by Representative Thomas E. Wright--is that what you're referring to, "No part of the net earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit of or be distributable to its members, directors, officers, or other private persons"?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. STAM: So if--if the testimony that's to come later under the forecast of evidence would be that AstraZeneca gave twenty-four hundred and Anheuser-Busch gave five thousand and AT&T gave fifteen hundred dollars that went straight into the pocket of Representative Thomas Wright, would that mean that this corporation--that contributions to this corporation would not be tax-exempt under federal tax law?

THE WITNESS: Contributions would be not tax-exempt--I think--would they be not deductible?

REP. STAM: I'm sorry. Not be deductible against the income tax.

THE WITNESS: Well, the--what happens when an organization applies for exempt status and is granted the exempt status, the--as I alluded to before, the organization's identified in Publication 78 and--and other various places. If an organization gives a donation to--if a company, Anheuser-Busch, whoever, gives a donation to an organization that is listed by the Service in its Publication 78, for example, they get the donation. They get the donation because they're taking the Service's word that it is an exempt organization under 501(c)(3).

REP. STAM: A final question, if I could?

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. STAM: Well, in this case where there is no listing, if these corporations had given this money thinking that it was going for the charitable purpose, would they now have to amend their returns and instead of claiming charitable contributions, just not claim that deduction?

THE WITNESS: I don't examine for-profit organizations, sir. I--I believe you're correct, but--but I don't examine for-profit corporations.

THE CHAIR: Any further questions, Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. And the Chair has no questions. Now, redirect examination as the result of any questions asked by Committee members,

Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

Any recross, Dr. Joyner?

RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Mr. Rose--

A Yes, sir.

Q --in your search of the records, did you find any record which showed that the 501(c)(3) status of the Community Health Foundation had been revoked?

A Had been revoked?

Q Right.

A No, sir.

Q Now, my understanding of the law is that once the 501(c)(3) status is granted--

A Yes.

Q --by whatever method it's granted, that the organization keeps it until such time as it's been revoked; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

PROF. JOYNER: No further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Rose. You may step down.

The next witness, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: May Agent Rose be excused, please?

THE CHAIR: Let me--hang on, Agent Rose. Any reason, Dr. Joyner, he cannot be excused?

PROF. JOYNER: There's no reason he can't be excused.

THE CHAIR: And Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Yes.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much. You're excused from your subpoena. Thank you, Agent Rose. Next witness, please?

MR. HART: Special Counsel calls Ronnie Burbank.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Burbank? If the court reporter will go ahead and swear Mr. Burbank in, please?

* * * * *

Whereupon,

RONNIE L. BURBANK,

having been first duly sworn,

was examined and testified

as follows:

THE CHAIR: Mr. Burbank, if--when you speak, you will need to speak into the mic, since everyone needs to hear you and the court reporter is taking it down. Thank you. Mr. Hart?

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Would you tell us your name, please, sir?

A Ronnie L. Burbank.

Q Mr. Burbank, how are you employed?

A I'm currently employed with North State Bank as a commercial lender.

Q And prior to North State Bank, how were you employed?

A I was employed by Coastal Federal Bank from October 2001 until February 2007.

Q And where is that located, sir?

A It--our office was located at 109 Market Street in Wilmington. It's since been closed.

Q All right. While you were with Coastal Federal Bank, did you have occasion to come into contact with Representative Thomas Wright?

A I did.

Q At some point in the year 2002, have conversations with him about a piece of land that he wanted to purchase?

A I did.

Q Do you remember about when that was in that year?

A January, maybe. It could have actually been late 2006, November or December. I'm not real certain on the date.

Q Two--2001?

A I'm sorry. Yes, 2001.

Q Okay. All right. And tell us--tell us a little bit about that. How did you know Representative Wright, and how did you come to have conversations with him about that property?

A Well, I had met Representative Wright through a couple of social functions. I had served on the board of a nonprofit organization called Wilmington Downtown, Incorporated, and I had the pleasure to meet him on a couple of social occasions. So that's really how I was introduced to Representative Wright.

Q Okay. And in regard to the possible purchases of land and a loan, how did that come about? Did you approach him, or did he approach you?

A I'm not real sure. I know that at one point we did tour the Community Health Center. I had been calling in that area on North Fourth Street tryi to develop business, and so he was gracious to give us a tour of that one afternoon. And I think this came about as a--as part of that visit.

Eventually, he called me when he had a need to purchase some property.

Q Okay. And do you remember much about the conversation when he did call about the purchase?

A No, sir. I really can't give a lot of detail other than he did want to buy a building to eventually renovate and commemorate--commemorate the 1898 race riots, and to use it for some office space for the health center.

Q Okay. And after that conversation, did you become interested in possibly providing a loan for that purpose?

A I did.

Q And can you tell us about that? What--what kind of a process did you go through, and what transpired between you and Representative Wright?

A Well, we took a look at the request and--and overall need for purchasing the building and the fact that it would be good for the neighborhood. And certainly we asked for how we were going to get repaid, how it would be collateralized, obviously.

And--and the conversations went on to where we ended up approving the loan.

Q All right. Now, you said the conversation included how the loan was going to be collateralized. What do you mean by that?

A Well, obviously we were going to have a deed of trust on the property that was being purchased. The bank was secured by first deed of trust on the property that ultimately was purchased by the Community Health Foundation.

Q Okay. And was--well, let me just back you up just a little bit. When you talk about collateral for a loan, for those of us who may not fully understand that process, what--what is the purpose of collateral for a loan?

A Well, it's protection for the bank in the event the--the loan defaults.

Q Okay. And by a loan defaulting, that's the borrower does not pay the payments; is that correct?

A That's--that's correct.

Q Okay. And at--how did--how did the loan process work at Coastal Federal Bank?

A Well, the--the loan request was submitted to me, along with an offer to purchase and contract on the subject property. And the determination to make the loan was made either by a loan officer with the appropriate loan authority or a committee. In this case, it was me. I had the authority to approve the loan request.

Q All right. And did you have a--an amount limit that you could--could approve by yourself, or--

A Yes, I did. I can't give you the specifics, but it certainly was at least a hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) at the time.

Q Okay. All right. I want to ask you, if you would, sir, if you'll look at the notebook in front of you and go to Exhibit Number 4. Do you recognize that one-page document, sir?

A I do.

Q And what do you recognize that as being?

A That is our Report of Loan. That is my basic loan application, if you will.

Q All right. And is that particular document, Exhibit Number 4, regarding the loan that you have begun--begun to discuss with us here today about Representative Wright?

A It is.

Q And is that your signature in the lower left-hand corner of that document?

A It is.

Q All right. If you would, walk us through that--well, let me ask you this: Is that an accurate copy of the actual document that you filled out regarding the loan that you discussed with Representative Wright?

A It does appear to be, yes.

Q All right.

MR. HART: Your Honor--Mr. Chairman, at this time I would move to introduce Exhibit Number 4.

THE CHAIR: Any objection, Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: No objection.

THE CHAIR: Without objection, it is admitted. Thank you.

Q (By Mr. Hart) If you would, sir, walk us through that document, and--and tell us a little bit about what's in there. For instance, the--the purpose of the credit and amount, what--what did you put in there, and what does that mean?

A Well, the purpose of the credit states that it is to purchase a lot and building for the 1898 memorial on North Fourth Street.

Q And what was the loan amount?
A One hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000).
Q And the next block is "Source of Repayment," is that correct?
A That is correct.
Q And you have a primary and a secondary source. What is--was the primary source that was indicated as the loan?
A Grant money from state and federal government.
Q And the secondary source?
A Conversion of assets.
Q And when you say "conversion of assets," what does that mean?
A Well, basically, liquidation of the collateral.
Q Foreclosure on the property?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. But at least for the primary source, you were looking for, according to here, grant money from state and federal government?
A That is correct.
Q Is that information that was provided to you from Representative Wright?
A That is correct.

Q At the time that you filled out this particular paper, was that March 5th, 2002, as indicated on the top of that sheet?
A It is.
Q Was that the first part of the loan application process?
A Yes.
Q At that time, did you know what the grant was going to be?
A Specifically, I'm not certain. Yes, I knew that it was going to be from a state agency, but I can't say specifically the agency at that time, on the 5th of March.
Q Okay. On some loans, sir, do you have a--what's called a guarantor?
A Yes, we do.
Q Tell us what a guarantor is.
A A guarantor is someone who will pledge personal assets, in essence, to--in case the loan to the company defaults, they guarantee repayment of the loan.
Q And what is the reason for having a guarantor?
A Well, it's additional security for the bank.
Q All right. Is that pretty important?

A It is, indeed.
Q You did not require a guarantor on this particular loan, did you?
A No, sir, I did not.
Q And why is that?
A Because it was to a nonprofit, and it was for community development. At this stage, I didn't think one was necessary.
Q All right. And was it also based, in part, on your knowledge of Representative Wright?
A In part. I--I can't say that I knew Representative Wright that well at that time, but, in part, yes.
Q Okay. All right. You said this--this was the paperwork that you filled out initially, and you signed it. Did you have to submit that to anyone else for approval?
A No, sir.
Q And you--was that because this was within your limits?
A That is correct.
Q All right. The--the actual loan and the purchase of the property took--was about another month later; is that correct?
A I think that's correct, yes.

Q Early April?
A I think that's correct.
Q Okay. Was there further discussion between you and Representative Wright about the grants and any kind of documentation of the grants?
A At some point prior to closing, I received a copy of the letter from Mr. Wade.
Q All right. And when you speak of "the letter," I want to ask you to look at Exhibit Number 3 that's before you. Have you had a chance to look at that, sir?
A Yes, sir, I have.
Q And do you recognize that?
A I do.
Q What do you recognize that as being?
A That appears to be the letter that I received to confirm grant money was the primary source of repayment for our loan request.
Q All right. And you did receive that letter or see that letter from--received it from Representative Wright; is that correct?
A I--I recall receiving the letter. I can't specifically say that Representative Wright hand it to me or delivered it to me, but I do recall getting a copy, as I stated in my interview.

Q All right. And did you take that letter at face value?
A I did.
Q Did you call, in any way, to check with the Department of Health and Human Services, or Torlen Wade, or anybody else?
A I did not.
Q And why is that?
A I didn't feel the need to do so.
Q Did you--did you trust Representative Wright to be giving that to you in good faith?
A I did.
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
THE CHAIR: Overruled.
Q Mr. Burbank, would you have authorized this loan without a guarantor if it had not been for that letter, Exhibit Number 3?
A Possibly not. I don't think so. I really can't answer that, because I had the letter. I-- Q All right. Let me ask you this: As--as a banker and as someone concerned with repayments, collateral, as you said, guaranteeing the loan, was this letter at least a factor in your approval process?

A Yes.
Q Did you rely upon this letter to grant the loan?
A Yes.
Q And I believe you indicated earlier that at some point the loan was, in fact, granted and the property was purchased. Is that correct?
A That is correct.
Q At some point after that, sir--now, this--this was not a thirty-year mortgage or a fifteen-year mortgage, as we usually think about it; is that correct?
A That is correct. It was a short-term note.
Q And was that a ninety-day note?
A I believe. I'm trying to get back to my exhibit, but I do believe that was correct, yes.
Q So that the note would have come due sometime in July and August--July or August of 2002?
A Excuse me. The schedule of repayment on the March 5th note was a hundred and eighty days, which would have made it a six-month loan.
Q Six-month loan? Okay.
A Yes.
Q All right. Did there come a time where there was a problem with payment of the--the loan amount?

A There did, yes.
Q And what--what happened on that?
A It--we were not paid at maturity. So therefore--I think it--we may have renewed the note a couple of times past maturity, waiting on the grant money to come in. But ultimately it never did, and, of course, the loan was declared in default. And I had no further contact with the loan at that time.
Q Okay. So--and when you say the loan went into default, that means that the loan was not paid back, and--and Coastal Federal Bank was out that money unless it foreclosed on the property; is that correct?
A That's correct. At some point, interest payments were no longer being made to renew, and we defaulted the loan, yes.
Q Okay. You indicated that there was some efforts during that time period of the default to try to keep the--the loan going; is that right?
A Indeed, yes.
Q And was that both Representative Wright and Dan Gottovi, Dr. Gottovi?
A I believe that would be correct, yes.

Q All right. And as--as you indicated, there was still some discussion about still trying to get grant money; is that correct?
A Yes, that's correct.
Q If you would, sir, look at Exhibit Number 5, which is the next exhibit. That one-page document, "Notice of Foreclosure," is that a document that was from your bank?
A It appears to be, yes.
Q And that's the foreclosure notice that you indicated on the--the actual property because of nonpayment on the loan; is that correct?
A It does appear to be, yes.
MR. HART: Your Honor, please, I introduce Exhibit Number 5.
THE CHAIR: I appreciate the promotion, but--Dr. Joyner, any--any objection?
PROF. JOYNER: No objection.
THE CHAIR: No objection? Without objection, Exhibit 5 is admitted. Thank you.
MR. HART: Sorry, Mr. Chairman. Force of habit. That's all the questions I have for this witness, Your Honor.
THE CHAIR: Thank you very much,

Mr. Hart. Dr. Joyner, cross-examination?
CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:
Q Mr. Burbank, with respect to the loan process involved here, did you have an independent recollection of your conversations with the people who were involved in conversations with you about this--this loan?
A Other than Representative Wright?
Q No, I said did you have an independent--did you have an independent recollection of your conversations with people who were involved in this loan process?
A Other than what I've testified to, no. I can't--
Q Well, now, did--is your recollection of what happened based on your review of the file?
A Yes, sir. Most of my memory was from the review of the file, yes.
Q All right. So without referring to the file itself, you didn't have an independent recollection of any conversations that you had with people involved with this loan?
A Not in great detail.
Q Not in great detail?
A Not in great detail, no.

Q Okay.
A It had been--
Q Let me--
A --six years.
Q Let me just kind of walk through this just a little bit. Did Representative Wright have a banking relationship with the Coastal Federal Bank?
A Not at the time, no, sir.
Q And your testimony was that prior to this time you had met Representative Wright at a couple of social--social events in Wilmington?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. And did you have any extended conversations with him on any of these occasions?
A I wouldn't say "extended," just general conversations about Wilmington, and particularly North Fourth Street and that area. Yes.
Q Now, are you familiar with Wayne Loftin [phonetic]?
A I am.
Q And how are you familiar with Wayne Loftin?
A Wayne was a customer of mine at the time.
Q So Wayne Loftin had a banking relationship at the Coastal Federal Bank; is that correct?
A That is correct, and at my previous bank. I had done business with Wayne prior to Coastal Federal.

Q Okay. And what was your previous bank?
A It was Carolina First Bank.
Q And--and, in fact, you and Mr. Loftin had, I guess, contact outside of the banking business; is that correct?
A Occasionally we would play golf, yes.
Q All right. So you had a--a personal relationship, as well?
A Yes.
Q All right. And the--the property that was the subject of this mortgage was property owned by Mr. Loftin's parents?
A That is correct.
Q All right. And--and, in fact, Mr. Loftin was intimately involved in the discussions leading to the granting of this loan; isn't that correct?
A He may have been involved, but he had nothing to do with the loan approval.
Q Well, did not Mr. Loftin make the initial contact with you about securing a mortgage for this building?
A That's very possible, yes.
Q And is it not true that you had some discussion with him about the particulars of this purchase and the--the particulars of the purchase and the purpose for the building being purchased from--from his family?
A We did have that discussion, yes.
Q All right. And the--well, in the bank file, did you have a copy of the offer to purchase?
A I'm assuming, sir. I--I don't have the file here. I would think there would be a copy in there, yes.
Q All right. So you don't have a copy of that with you?
A No, sir, not that I'm aware of. No.
Q Do you recall if you gave a copy of that to the investigator involved in--in--in questioning you about this matter?
A I provided nothing to anyone during this investigation. The bank was--the bank that I formerly worked for, I assume, provided the loan file to the investigators. I've not provided anything to anyone.
Q At the point that you--I think you were interviewed by Mr. Umphlet?
A Umphlet. Yes.
Q Did he provide you with the documents which -165-

purported to come from the file in this--for this loan?

A I'm not certain, at the initial interview. I think when another interview took place with Agent Rufus Brown, I do believe at that time they had the file documents or some of the file documents at that time.

Q Okay. But you don't--you don't remember that?

A I remember the interview when they did have some of the loan documents. It was not the initial interview. It may have been the second interview that we had.

Q All right.

A But they did come to Wilmington with some of the loan files.

Q Okay. And in that second interview, did they provide you with a copy of the offer--offer to purchase and contract?

A Sir, I would--I'm not sure if it was in the documents that they showed me. I do not have copies of any documents. But it may have been in there. I'm not certain.

Q Okay. What about the--the item that's been introduced as Exhibit 4, was that provided to you as a part of the file?

-166-

A Yes, sir, it was. I recall seeing this Report of Loan.

Q Okay. So you specifically remember the investigator providing you with that document?

A Yes, I do.

Q And you can identify that document as one that--that you--that you completed?

A Yes, sir.

Q All right. Now, the title of that report is the "Report of Loan"?

A That is correct.

Q Right. This--this is not the loan application?

A Technically, no, it is not. It's an internal bank document to identify what the loan is.

Q All right. Now, where is the loan application?

A There is no loan application.

Q There is no loan application?

A For a commercial loan, we typically did not take a loan application as you would for a consumer loan or a credit card or mortgage loan. No.

Q All right. Now, looking further now at Exhibit Number 4, it indicates at the bottom of this that the loan was approved; is that correct?

-167-

A That is correct.

Q All right. And does your signature here attest to the fact that the loan was approved?

A It does.

Q And it was approved on the date given on the--on this document; is that correct?

A That appears correct.

Q Okay. And it was for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), which was the amount of the loan?

A Yes, sir.

Q All right. Now, you indicated that--well, in the file, the bank file dealing with this loan, did you have a--did you have closing documents?

A Yes.

Q And do you recall who closed the loan?

A The attorney may have been Alan Solana. He did some work for our bank at the time. I'm not real confident of that, though. But it's possible.

Q And in the--in the closing process, there is typically closing instructions?

A That is correct.

Q And--and those closing instructions are given to the closing attorney. So you're not involved in the--in the--I'm sorry--you need to answer that question.

-168-

A Yes. That is correct.

Q Okay. And you're not involved in the closing of the loan?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. So it was the closing of the loan that took place a month later; is that correct?

A Yes. That's correct.

Q All right. And in that--in those closing instructions, you would have any requirements that the person who was receiving the loan had to provide to the closing attorney?

A Correct.

Q Okay. Now, I want to just kind of take us back. You had indicated that you had seen a copy of this letter identified here as Exhibit 3?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. When did you see that letter?

A As I told the Agent, I can't pin that down. I don't recall. I believe it was between March the 5th and the closing, however, 'cause it confirmed the repayment source of the loan as being grant money.

Q Well--
A But I can't give you a date. I--I--it's been six years. I really cannot recall.
Q Okay. Now, you don't have with you the closing instructions for this loan?
A No, sir, I do not.
Q Okay. And you don't have a present recollection of what the closing instructions were?
A Other than the general things that go in it, no, sir, I do not.
Q Okay. And so you--you're not able to say that a condition of the closing or a closing instruction was that this letter be provided?
A It would typically not have been in the closing letter. No, sir.
Q That would not have been in the closing letter?
A No, sir. That is not something I would have typically required to be in a closing letter.
Q All right. Now, do you recall the date that this loan was closed?
A Sir, I cannot without looking at the loan documents.
Q Just to refresh my recollection--
A Sure.

Q --did--did you see those closing documents--
A Did I see the closing--
Q You don't have a present recollection that you saw those closing documents?
A Since the loan was done, no, sir. I--I think that maybe the note and security agreement may have been provided by the agents in the file when they came for the second interview. They may have had the complete file, but I don't recall all the documents that were in it. I do believe that the note, security agreement, and so forth, maybe the deed of trust, was in that file, along with the Report of Loan that we've already discussed.
Q Now, during this--this process, this loan-granting process, can you identify how many conversations you had with Wayne Loftin about it?
A No, sir, I cannot.
Q But you do know that there were several conversations that you had with him?
A I wouldn't say "several." I would probably say that we certainly had the one to get the detail as to what the transaction was about, but he had absolutely nothing to do with the loan that I made to Community Health Foundation. Therefore I would not have discussed any of those loan deals with him.

Q But he was the one who first approached you about making the loan?
A That could be the case, yes. Or providing loan funding for it, yes.
Q And you were aware that--that the Loftins took a second position on the--on--on the security for this loan?
A Yes, I was made aware of that.
Q Okay. Now what--just explain to the members of the Committee what that means.
A Well, that means they took a second deed of trust for typically your equity portion in the property, which is, again--I don't know how to explain it any better than that. They--they basically put their interest behind the bank to allow us to make the loan.
Q All right. So that was a--now, typically it's done the other way?
A Meaning? I'm not sure--
Q That--that the--the seller, if there is an equity deed of trust, would take the first position?
A Not with bank funding. I would not have done that in a second position, no.

Q You would not have done that?
A No, sir. I would not have made the loan in a second position.
Q Okay. But typically that's--that's the way it's done?
A Well, it can be done that way, but I don't know that many banks will follow a second on a commercial mortgage.
Q All right. So that means basically that if there was a problem with the loan, the bank would have the first dibs at any recovery of funds from the sale, and then the person with the second deed of trust would then come in to take what was left?
A That is correct.
Q All right. And then in this instance, the Loftins had the second position?
A That is correct.
Q Now, did--did the Loftin family also bank at Coastal Federal?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. So just Wayne Loftin was the only one?
A That is my recollection.
Q Okay. And did not Wayne Loftin sign the offer t purchase?

A Sir, I'm not sure. I don't know. Until I saw the offer to purchase, I couldn't say. I can't remember who signed it.
Q Now, you indicated that you--you saw the letter, but you don't know where the letter came from?
A That is correct.
Q Or when you saw the letter?
A That is correct.
Q Okay. So you don't have a present recollection that Representative Wright gave you that letter?
A That's correct, sir.
Q You also indicated that the--the initial loan was for a six-month period?
A Yes.
Q And this was a interest-only loan?
A A single-pay note with all principal and interest due at maturity.
Q Okay. So at--so at the outset, at the end of six months, then the entire hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) plus interest was due?
A That's correct.
Q And when the hundred and fifty thousand dollars was not available at the end, then it was extended by the payment of the interest?

A That is correct.
Q All right. Do you recall how many times the loan was extended?
A Without the file, my best recollection is maybe twice.
Q All right. And do you--do you recall how it was extended?
A Well, the interest was paid, and of course, a modification agreement would have been done at that time to extend it for an additional period of time.
Q Okay. And do you have a present recollection of extending that--of providing that modification?
A Yes, sir, I do.
Q And whom did you provide that with?
A Representative Wright, and Dr. Gottovi, I think, signed the modification agreement.
Q All right. And did they come in and provide the interest--monies for the interest on that loan?
A Yes, sir. That would have had to have been done.
Q Okay. Now, do you have a present recollection of either or both of them coming in to provide the--the interest payment?
A I can only recall one meeting with Dr. Gottovi when he came in and paid the interest for it. So I--that's the only one I can specifically remember.

Q Okay. And you don't have a recollection of meeting specifically with Representative Wright and his paying the--the interest?
A It's very possible. I just can't recall that specifically, no.
Q All right. Now, is it possible that the extension would have been three times?
A It's very possible, yes.
Q All right. The extensions would have covered ninety days, or six--six months?
A I would suspect ninety days, though, again, without looking at the documentation, I can't say.
Q All right. Now, do you recall if those documents were in the file that the investigators provided to you?
A Sir, they should have been. If they had the complete file, they should have been. I can't specifically say I recall seeing them during my interview with them, but they should have been in the file. Yes.
Q All right. But you were given the file to look through for the various documents in there; is that correct?

A I was given the file to review some documents, yes.
Q Right. And--but you don't have a credible recollection that any of those documents were in it?
A I can't recall those--no, sir--specifically.
Q So the answer to that is that--
A No.
Q --no, you don't have a present recollection?
A No.
Q Okay. Now, with respect to--I just want to take you back to Exhibit 4. Do you have a present recollection of the specifics of the conversation that you had with Representative Wright regarding--regarding the source of repayment?
A No.
Q Just in general you have a notion, from looking at what's on the document, that that was the information that was provided?
A That is correct.
Q All right. So the specific conversation you don't remember?
A No.
Q Is--was there anything other than--than this document in the file that would have refreshed your recollection about the specific conversation that you had with Representative Wright?

A Unless there were some handwritten notes, which I don't recall seeing, no.

Q Now, in this loan, the value of the--the building far exceeded the loan amount; is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q And that's why it was a good source of security for the--for this loan?

A Well, I'm not real certain as to the value on this Report of Loan, other than I knew the tax value by New Hanover County tax assessed records at the time was a hundred and nine--a hundred and eighty-four or a hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars, which gave us a very good margin at a hundred-and-fifty-thousand-dollar loan, yes.

Q And you also required, based on the report--your loan report--your loan approval form, that the Foundation open an account at the Coastal Federal Bank?

A Yes. We were hoping to establish a relationship with the Foundation and asked for their checking account to be a part of the loan process.

Q All right. Well, in the--do you have Exhibit 4 in front of you?

A Yes, sir. I--yes, sir, I do.

Q And would you just look down at the section dealing with required accounts relationship?

A Yes.

Q Now, are you--is your testimony here that that was not a requirement but a suggestion?

A It was a requirement, but unenforceable. We can't force them to do that, but we did ask that the account be opened at Coastal Federal Bank, yes.

Q But you couldn't require that, so it was required that they open up an account at the Coastal Federal Bank?

A That's just boilerplate language on the bank form, and so that was put into the proper section on the form.

Q Now, you have listed as the principals on the loan Thomas Wright and Dan Gottovi. What--what does that mean?

A They were the ones that were part of the Foundation. I'm--I'm assuming that we had Foundation incorporation documents or something that would identify those were the positions they held with the Foundation.

Q Well, and did you have conversations with both of them regarding this--this loan?

A I don't recall any pre-conversations with Dr. Gottovi till he signed the loan documents.

Q All right. And by signing the loan documents, what--what are you referring to, the closing?

A I believe at closing they were required-- I know one, possibly both, were required to sign the loan documents.

Q So you don't recall any individual conversation with--with Dr. Gottovi, but you do recall--well, let me just ask you that first. You don't recall any individual conversation that you had with Dr. Gottovi before the loan closed?

A No.

Q And your recollection of Dr. Gottovi's involvement in the loan was at the point that he signed the closing documents, which would have been with the--with the closing attorney?

A That is correct.

Q Now, you weren't present at the closing?

A No, sir, I was not.

Q Typically, you're not there for that?

A No, sir, I'm not.

Q So you didn't actually see anyone sign the closing document?

A No, sir, I did not.

Q And, in fact, you didn't have--you didn't review the documents involved in the closing in this matter until the SBI agent brought it to you; is that correct?

A No. I think--I would say that we probably reviewed them post-closing to ensure if my signature was in the proper places. I had a loan assistant who did doc preparation for us on loan closings and so forth, so it would have been reviewed by her to make sure all signatures were in place and so forth before it was sent to--to our home office.

PROF. JOYNER: Could I have a moment--

THE CHAIR: Sure.

PROF. JOYNER: --Mr. Chairman?

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Mister--Mr. Burbank, do you have a present recollection regarding the distribution of the funds from the--in the closing of this loan?

A Without reviewing the HUD statement, I'm certain some of the funds went to pay off a previous mortgage on the subject property.

Q Okay. But you--you don't have an independent recollection?
A No, sir, I--no.
Q You're just speculating on that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So you--you don't know how the loan proceeds were divided?
A No.
Q And so you can't say Representative Wright received any of the loan proceeds?
A No, I cannot.
Q Okay. Would--would that information have been in the file?
A It should be on the HUD-1 statement from the closing.
Q Oh, so there was a HUD-1 statement that should have been in the file that should be available for--for everybody to see?
A And that would--yes. That's correct.
PROF. JOYNER: No further questions at this time.
THE CHAIR: Thank you. Redirect examination?

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:
Q Mr. Burbank, do you know the date of default of the loan?
A No, sir, I do not. That was not handled by me. Our collections department makes that determination, not me.
Q How long before notice of foreclosure would--would that actually be? Is there a set time?
A I--I'm not certain. There is a time period where the borrower is notified of default, and they have a period of time to correct the default before proceedings are taken. But I can't give you the specific time frame.
Q Okay. The application, Exhibit Number 4, the--not an application, but the form that you filled out, the Report of Loan, that's a contingency; is that correct? You fill that out, but there are still things that have to be done before a loan will actually be processed; is that right?
A It's actually--it was an internal bank requirement that it be filled out, but, yes, there were things that had to take place beyond this to--to close,

yes.
Q Okay. And so I take it that the letter that you said you got from Representative Wright was one of the things that occurred between the time you filled out this paper and the time of closing; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q And Mr. Joyner asked you some questions about the--the letter. Did you get this from someone other than Representative Wright?
A Sir, as I told Agent Umphlet, I can't be certain who gave it to me. I'm assuming it came from Representative Wright or his office, but I cannot specifically say.
Q Okay. And it came sometime prior to the actual closing, correct?
A Yes, to confirm my repayment source. Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. HART: That's all I have, Mr. Chairman.
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Recross?
RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:
Q Mr. Burbank, when you--when you reviewed the file--when you reviewed the file provided by the SBI officers when they were investigating this matter, was a copy of this letter in the file?

A No, sir, it was not.
Q Now, typically, all of those documents that are important and required and involved in a closing would be in the file; isn't that correct?
A Yes, sir, it is.
Q But this letter was not in the file?
A No, sir, I did not see it in the file.
Q With respect to this Report of Loan form, now, you indicated--and I'm--and I'm somewhat confused--that even though the loan--this form, says "approved," that it was now--it's now contingent. In response to Mr. Hart's question, you say that this was a contingent report, yet the form itself says that it was approved.
A Sir, I don't--semantics. The letter--the loan was not--trying to word this correctly. There's nothing--there's nothing on this form that says there's any contingencies to close a loan. Does that answer your question?
Q Right.
A Yes, sir. That would be a correct statement.
Q Right. So the document does not require from its face the presentation of anything else to effect the approval of it?

A That's correct. If you'll pay attention to the bottom right-hand corner of that document, where it says "conditions of approval," had there been any contingencies that were required to be met, I would have put them in that box.

Q All right.

PROF. JOYNER: No further questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Recommended Risk Grade 5, what does that mean?

THE WITNESS: Loans are graded based on risk for our loan-loss provision. Risk Grade 5 was based on the risk in the loan, which we knew that--I knew that there was some going into the loan, was the lowest risk grade possible without putting it on the watch list. So again, that just indicates the level of risk that I assess in a particular debtor.

REP. STAM: All right. Low risk, and then the interest rate is prime--looks like prime plus one and a half.

THE WITNESS: That would be correct, I think. Yes.

REP. STAM: So that reflects fairly low risk; is that--

THE WITNESS: No, that--that reflects fairly high risk. Risk Grade 1 is the lowest risk loan. That's basically secured by cash or CDs. And then, of course, they go down accordingly so. Risk grade does have a reflection in the pricing.

REP. STAM: Oh. When you say recommended risk grade is low, you mean low risk or low--low--

THE WITNESS: No. Five (5) would be not necessarily a high-risk loan, but it is certainly one of the more risky loans that we would do.

REP. STAM: Okay. More risky?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. STAM: Okay.

THE WITNESS: The lower the number. Number 1 would be no risk whatsoever.

REP. STAM: All right. I understand. Now, two places I see state and federal grant money, both under "Source of Repayment" and under "Debt Service Coverage"--

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. STAM: --we've seen the indication about the state grant money.

Why do you have the federal grant money there?

THE WITNESS: I can't recall, unless it was part of the conversation I had with Representative Wright. But I can't honestly answer that question.

REP. STAM: Well, did you talk to anybody other than the borrower about the sort--would you have talked to anybody other than the borrower about the source of repayment?

THE WITNESS: No.

REP. STAM: Okay. When you have, at the bottom left, "loan policy exceptions requested," you mentioned non-recourse financing, what is that?

THE WITNESS: That we required no guarantors on the loan.

REP. STAM: Okay. Was the sellers, the Loftins, who took a second deed of trust?

THE WITNESS: I think that's correct, yes.

REP. STAM: All right. Is that maybe the non-recourse financing for the secondary financing?

THE WITNESS: That has nothing to do with that.

REP. STAM: So, no guarantors?

THE WITNESS: That just meant I did not require Representative Wright or anyone else to give a personal guarantee.

REP. STAM: All right. The sales price was three hundred and fifty thousand, apparent--according to the item about two-thirds of the way down on the left, which I guess you got from the contract?

THE WITNESS: Sir, I can't say at this point in time. Yeah, that's what it says on this form. But I'm assuming that's where I got that number, yes, sir.

REP. STAM: Did--did the borrower, Community Health Foundation, put any money into it at all, or was it all hundred and fifty from you and seller financing from the seller?

THE WITNESS: I can't answer that question without reviewing the HUD.

REP. STAM: Okay. The--I want to talk about the gross receipts for this corporation fo this year and the following year. At closing, y'all provided, I presume, a loan check of a hundred and fifty thousand; is that correct?

THE WITNESS: It would have been provided to the closing attorney, yes.

REP. STAM: And the corporation received that hundred and fifty thousand; is that right? Maybe that's redundant.

THE WITNESS: I don't think that would be the case.

REP. STAM: Well, it was provided on or on behalf of it to purchase property?

THE WITNESS: Well, yes. But--

REP. STAM: I'm not saying that a check was written to them.

THE WITNESS: Yes, sir. The check was provided to the trustee in trust for the Community Health Foundation.

REP. STAM: In order to provide property?

THE WITNESS: That's correct.

REP. STAM: All right. So the corporation received it. Now, in approximately--I understand that they went into default in the fall of '02. Is that right?

THE WITNESS: Looking at the--

REP. STAM: It was a six-month note, and they immediately went into default?

THE WITNESS: That doesn't constitute default, because the loan was not paid in six months. Yeah, it was extended on multiple occasions; therefore, the loan would not be in default due to the extensions that we gave at the time.

REP. STAM: Okay. The time, then, when they paid the--when Dr. Gottovi and Representative Wright paid, do you recall, was that the next year, in 2003?

THE WITNESS: I would guess the first one had to have been six months or shortly thereafter the original note date. Again, looking at the modifications, whatever dates the modifications are dated would be when the interest was paid.

REP. STAM: And they did that--the foreclosure was mid-2004, so as far as you know, they also paid the interest in 2003?

THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

REP. STAM: All right. Well, what is the yearly interest, prime plus one and a half, on a hundred and fifty thousand, back in 2003? Do you remember?

THE WITNESS: Sir, without my calculator, I could not. And not knowing what prime rate at the time was, there'd be no way for me to--to do that.

REP. STAM: All right. But it would be more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), wouldn't it?

THE WITNESS: I'm not certain that that would be the case, again. I rely--I rely on a calculator for that. I really am not good enough at math to calculate it in my head. So I'm very sorry. I don't know that it would have been five thousand dollars. It could have been, sir. I don't know. I can't answer your question without my calculator.

REP. STAM: I would think it would just--it could not be less than, or it would be below zero.

So the only source of repayment was grant money, that you know of?

THE WITNESS: That would be incorrect. The secondary source would have been the liquidation of collateral. That's something that all bankers take in consideration.

REP. STAM: Okay.

THE WITNESS: Not that we wanted to, but certainly it was a consideration.

REP. STAM: No bank--no bank looks only at foreclosure in deciding whether to--

PROF. JOYNER: Objection--objection to what no bank--

REP. STAM: Well, your bank. I'll ask--I'll withdraw that and make it to your bank.

THE CHAIR: Yeah. Sustained.

REP. STAM: Your bank, for any loan, you would never grant a loan where your only source of repayment was foreclosure?

THE WITNESS: That's correct.

REP. STAM: All right. No further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: One question, if I may.

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. McGEE: I think that we have that

Wayne Loftin was one of the guarantors.

THE WITNESS: No, sir, he was not. He was--his family, I think, was the seller of the property, but he had nothing to do with this loan.

REP. McGEE: One further question: I noticed that--that one of the officers or the incorporators was James Loftin. Is James Loftin and Wayne Loftin one and the same, or are they not?

THE WITNESS: Sir, I don't think so. I think that may be his father, but I'm not certain.

REP. McGEE: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Is that it, Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: Thank you, Mr. Chair. I'm not an attorney, so I may be a little more clumsy at this. I'm trying to go back and establish in between when this--it's not an application, but your notes here stated that the basis of credit here was going to be grant money from the state--

THE WITNESS: Yes, ma'am.

REP. WILEY: --and federal, correct?

THE WITNESS: Yes, ma'am.

REP. WILEY: In between that time and filing, would it be accurate to say that that letter would have been presented to someone in order to facilitate that closing as proof of monies?

THE WITNESS: That would be accurate.

REP. WILEY: Third question, if I may.

THE CHAIR: Yeah.

REP. WILEY: At the first extension, I--let me back up. I would assume this is part of the record now, this letter. At the first extension, would it be a normal course of banking business to look down and say the--read the letter--"The funding will be awarded by June 30th, 2002." Would someone question why that grant did not come through before granting the extension? Would someone question that?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. WILEY: Did anyone question that?

THE WITNESS: Yes. I did.

REP. WILEY: And what answer did you receive?

THE WITNESS: Well, that funding would still be forthcoming, so we continued to extend the note. I--at that point, we were already into the loan. And it was my hope that we would eventually get repaid with grant money or any source of funds so that we didn't have to go to foreclosure. So the extensions were done to--to give time for the funding to take place.

REP. WILEY: Okay. Who told you that the grant money was still possibly forthcoming?

THE WITNESS: Well, Representative Wright, in our conversations, had indicated grant money was forthcoming, so we agreed to extend--

REP. WILEY: One last question--I'm sorry--

THE WITNESS: --from what--from what source--what source I can't specify at that time, but there would be funding forthcoming.

REP. WILEY: I guess it'd be more accurate--did anybody call Mr. Wade to verify that those monies were forthcoming?

THE WITNESS: No, ma'am. By that time, there would be no need. We didn't--it was already past the date of the letter, so--

REP. WILEY: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: The Chair has several questions.

Did you ever, at any occasion, speak to Torlen Wade?

THE WITNESS: No, sir. I do not recall ever speaking to Mr. Wade.

THE CHAIR: Have you ever met him physically, other than seeing him in the courtroom today?

THE WITNESS: No, sir. I do not.

THE CHAIR: Do you recall ever receiving a fax or letter from Mr. Wade, directly from him?

THE WITNESS: No, sir. I can't say that I have.

THE CHAIR: All right. When you put on the Exhibit 4 that you have, "grant money"--and we later saw a copy of the letter from Mr. Wade--did you understand that that letter was committing funds for the project consistent with what you were told would be grant funds?

THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIR: Were you ever dissuaded of that notion by anything that Representative Wright said to you?

THE WITNESS: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: Was it Representative Wright who told you that grant money would be forthcoming?

THE WITNESS: In our initial conversations, yes.

THE CHAIR: That's all the questions the Chair has. Did my questions lead to any questions further, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. No--no--

PROF. JOYNER: Yes.

THE CHAIR: Oh, I'm sorry. Go ahead.

FURTHER RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Okay. I'll just try to get some clarifications here again, and this is with respect--when you say that Representative Wright told you that grant monies would be forthcoming, is that statement based on your review of the notes that's here as opposed to your present recollection of the conversation that you had with Representative

Wright?

A I'm not sure--when you say "present recollection," I remember our initial conversation, sir, to know that grant monies were going to be a source of our repayment. I'm not sure if I answered your question properly, but--

Q No, I'm just saying if your testimony today regarding grant money is based upon your review of the document and the reference here to "grant money" under "primary source"--or is it based on your present recollection of the conversation that you had with Representative Wright at that time?

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Let me ask, do you understand the question, of what he means by "present recollection"?

THE WITNESS: I'm not sure I do, sir, no. No.

THE CHAIR: All right. All right. Could you explain a little better to him in the question, Doctor--

Q Is this based on your personal memory, or on your review of the document?

A Well, I have a personal memory that when the loan requests began, that the source of repayment would have been grant money.

Q Okay. And that specifically Representative Wright told you that?

A Yes. During our initial conversation about how we were going to finance the building, yes.

Q Did he indicate that that--that that--that they had--that he was trying to get an appropriation for this money?

A Correct.

Q Okay. He did not indicate that he had the grant money in hand?

A No. And that I did not have a specific agency at this time that was going to provide it.

Q And--but your recollection is that he told you that he was seeking an appropriation that would cover this--this amount?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. Now, when you answered the question regarding the risk grade at 5, it--did not that risk--that determination--was not that determination based on the fact that grant money had not been received at that point?

A No, sir, not necessarily. The risk was based on my assessment of--we were making a loan to a nonprofit that didn't have cash flow, didn't have a typical stream of operating cash flow, and that the source of repayment was a little unusual. And therefore, there was some risk involved, and that's why it was graded accordingly.

Q Well, let me ask you, do you have a present recollection that you asked Representative Wright, "What source of payment do you have if the appropriation doesn't come through?"

A I can't give you a--no, I don't recall a present recollection of that.

Q So you don't recall asking him that?

A No, sir. I can't say that.

Q But you were aware that he was seeking an appropriation for this?

A That is correct.

Q All right. Now, when you got to the modifications of the loan, the extensions of the loan, which, I guess, ran somewhere from April 2002 through June 2004, did you have further inquiries about the presence of the--of the appropriation?

A Beyond the first renewal, I can't say, no.

Q All right. Were you--were you aware that the legislative session had ended in August 2002?

A Sir, I can't say that I was aware of that, no.
Q Okay. At some point when this loan went into foreclosure, you had some conversation with Wayne Loftin and his mother; is that correct?

THE CHAIR: And I'm going to issue my own sustained objection on that. I think we're, at this point, only asking questions that follow the questions of the Committee as opposed to engaging in new territory. So unless you can explain to me where we questioned that--

PROF. JOYNER: Well, the--the question was raised about Wayne Loftin or James Loftin and their association with this loan--

THE CHAIR: I think the only question that was asked on Committee questions was James Loftin and Wayne Loftin the same person. And the answer was no, I think it was not. Now, if your question goes directly to that, I'll be glad to allow it. But if it's engaging a new area, I don't want to reopen it--

PROF. JOYNER: Well--

THE CHAIR: --after everybody's questioning.

PROF. JOYNER: Well--

THE CHAIR: But go ahead, if--

PROF. JOYNER: That's what I was hoping--hoping to do.

THE CHAIR: Okay. But--I'll let you ask it again and see if it just focuses on that. Thanks.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) You had conversation with Wayne--Wayne Loftin, and his mother about the foreclosure; is that correct?
A I do recall a conversation with them, yes.
Q All right. And this was sometime--this was after the foreclosure had occurred, or at least the property had gone into foreclosure?

THE CHAIR: Well, again, I don't--the objection is sustained. We're--again, if it just relates to--

PROF. JOYNER: If I can ask my next question, Mr. Chairman--

THE CHAIR: All right. Don't answer that question. Go ahead and ask your next question, Doctor.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Did you have--well, first, do you know who James Loftin is?
A I'm not sure I've ever met Mr. Loftin, James Loftin, no.
Q Okay. So you--so the conversations you had did include James Loftin?
A That is correct.

PROF. JOYNER: That's my questions.

THE CHAIR: Oh, I'm sorry. Anything further--I'm sorry. Did you say you were finished? I'm sorry.

PROF. JOYNER: I mean, I could go on.

THE CHAIR: No, no. No, no. That's okay. If that's it, then we are--we are done with this witness. And thank you very much. You may step down.

MR. HART: May this--may this witness be excused, Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Let me just ask. Is there any reason that this witness may not be released from the subpoena? All right. And--

PROF. JOYNER: I know of no reason.

THE CHAIR: And Mr. Hart?

All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Burbank. You're released from the subpoena. I just want to ask this before we take a break: I do want to try and get through one more witness if we can, but only if it's going to be a fairly short witness. Mr. Hart, can we do that?

MR. HART: I do have one witness who I think will take a very short period of time, at least for my questioning.

THE CHAIR: All right. Well, let's take a ten-minute break to--for everybody, and then we'll be back to try to do one more witness today, and then we'll finish up. Thank you.

(FOURTEEN-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. And we are all back. A couple of logistics matters. This is the last witness of the day that we're going to do. Secondly, what we're going to do this evening is this room, after everyone clears, will be locked, so you can leave anything that you want in here in the positions that they're in. There'll be no one and no access to it until tomorrow morning when we reconvene. That'll save everybody from having to pull everything and move everything that they don't want to take home.

Third, Committee members, if you'll le your notebooks here, there's one document that we need to redact some information from, and we'll deal with that overnight so that we do that.

Number 4, as to the motion to dismiss that was made earlier today on the basis of disparate treatment, Dr. Joyner, if you want to pursue that motion, if you will file, please, by tomorrow morning at nine A.M., the motion in the clerk's office that sets out those grounds--I don't expect--you don't have time to be briefing the motion, but I certainly would want it in writing to be able to set it out. You can attach whatever evidentiary material you want us to consider.

Mr. Hart, it will then be available and served, I'm sure, on you at that point. I know there won't be time for you to respond before ten o'clock. I'll take a look at it between nine and ten. If I think that a response is needed, then I'm going to set it for either the end of the day or Wednesday morning to be heard and--and dealt with, but giving you time to--to at least formulate an oral response. If I--if I think that it--it is not something that needs a formal response, then we'll proceed from there. But at this point, I obviously don't have anything before me. So we'll do that, and I think that takes care of the logistics matters so that when we're clear with this witness, everyone can actually leave and we can get the room locked.

Is there any other logistics matter I need to note? Mr. Reagan, Miss--anybody? Anything else?

REP. STAM: I believe we start at ten tomorrow.

THE CHAIR: We do start--we do start at ten o'clock tomorrow in this room. All right. With that, Mr. Hart, your next witness?

MR. HART: Thomas John Policastro, please.

THE CHAIR: And the court reporter will swear Mr. Policastro.

* * * * *

Whereupon,

THOMAS JOHN POLICASTRO,
having been first duly sworn,
was examined and testified
as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Will you state your name, please, sir?

A Yes. T. John Policastro.

Q Mr. Policastro, how are you employed?

A I'm currently employed with the North Carolina Automobile Dealers' Association as general counsel.

Q All right. And that is--is that here in Wake County?

A It is.

Q When were you employed there?

A Beginning January of 2006, January 1st or 2nd, 2006.

Q Prior to that, at some point did you work for the corporation called AT&T?

A I did.

Q And do you recall the time period that you worked for them?

A Yes. It would have been some point in late 1997 through December of 2004.

Q Okay. What was your position with the--with AT&T while you were with them?

A I held various positions. I started as a legislative manager representing AT&T, or assisting in representing AT&T, before the North Carolina

General Assembly, but quickly took on regulatory duties, as well, representing the company in North Carolina before the North Carolina Utilities Commission, and then at some point, I think in 2003, became the state director of--of AT&T's Law and Government Affairs Department here in the state.

Q And what did that position entail?

A It basically entailed the same duties. I ended up pretty much taking on that role as the sole person remaining in the government affairs office of North Carolina. It was pretty much the same role.

Q All right. During the time that you were with AT&T, did you come to know the respondent in this action, Representative Thomas Wright?

A Yes, I did.

Q And in what capacity did you come to know him?

A As a member of the North Carolina General Assembly.

Q Did you have much interaction with him?

A From time to time. I'm not sure what "much" would be, but from time to time, sure, certainly.

Q All right. Did there come a time when you became aware that he had in some way sought a charitable contribution from AT&T to a group called the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A Yes, sir.
Q Do you recall about when you became aware of that?
A I think it would be in the late fall, September time frame of 2003.
Q And what--what do you remember--how--how do you remember finding out about that?
A I recall--the best of my recollection is that the--an inquiry or a recommendation into this entity was relayed to me through one of our outside consultants at the time, with the--with the query being along the lines of what was needed to make a formal request. I recall vaguely relaying that back, that certain things were needed to do that, and then receiving documentation after that with that formal request.
Q All right. And was--was that--the information you had and relayed to the person you were talking to, was it with the idea that it would be sent back to the person making the request?
A That or the underlying entity.
Q Okay.
A It was--our understanding that--that it was for the Community Health Center in Wilmington.

Q Okay. Was it Community Health Center, or the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated?
A Well, I--it--it ended up being the Community's Health Foundation. When it was first relayed to me, it was described as, as I recall, as being on behalf of the--of the Community Health Center down there.
Q Okay.
A And then these--the information that was received specifically identified the organization's name.
Q All right. And the formal request that you had indicated, how did you indicate that that should be made?
A AT&T's process at the time was to--for these kind of things was when--when it was--certainly, when it was an obvious thing, like a health center, or we had given to other small entities like a battered women's shelter, soup kitchens, homeless shelters, that kind of thing--was to acquire an invoice to be submitted. It didn't have to be detailed. It could be simple, it could be extensive, whatever. It just needed to be--it was required, it's my understanding, through the corporate requirements, in order to establish the--the entity in the--in the payment system, to establish a kind of vendor ID number and that kind of thing, and then also a tax ID number to be identified on an IRS W-9 form.

Q All right. And at--at some point did you become aware that an invoice had been submitted by the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?
A Yes. At some--at some point in that time frame, I did receive this.
Q All right. I want to point you to Exhibit Number 11 in the book that's before you, a single-page document. Do you recognize that, sir?
A I do.
Q What do you recognize that to be?
A I recognize this as being the invoice that we received at that time to process this formal request for this--this contribution.
Q All right. Now, when you first observed that, had you personally had any conversation with anybody from the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, or specifically, Thomas Wright?
A I don't recall specifically talking to Representative Wright about this particular--this particular donation. I recall it coming through this--this third party. I'm not sure if--I don't recall ever having a specific conversation. That doesn't mean down the road it wasn't mentioned as a, you know, "thank you for--for contributing to that organization," that kind of thing. But I don't recall discussing it specifically. I just recall getting this--getting this back from them.

Q All right. Were you involved in the approval process for this charitable contribution to that foundation?
A Not specifically in the approval process. I--I would have sent this on up to our folks--the people who handle contributions like this from, basically, AT&T's corporate, I guess, accounts, so to speak, and--or AT&T's foundation. Our direct liaisons were our public--public relations department, so this would have been passed on to our--our PR folks in the normal process. And then that would be submitted on up--up the chain, up AT&T's corporate levels for approval.
Q All right. Looking at Exhibit Number 11, is that an accurate copy of the document that--that you observed at that time?
A It is without the handwriting with the circling.
Q And did--did you make those notations--

A No, I did not.
Q --or were those done after you--
A I did--I don't--no, I did not make these. I think--I believe these were done at some point in the approval process.
Q All right. I'd also ask you to look at Exhibit Number 12. Do you recognize that document, sir?
A I don't specifically recognize it. I recognize what it is.
Q And what is that?
A The--what it--what it reads to be is a supplier order to pay accounts payable third-party request. This, I believe, is a form that--well, I don't--we didn't usually receive it our--back at our level. This was kind of an internal--appears to be internal documentation on this request that--after it went on up the chain.
Q All right.
A So I would not have received a copy of--of this--
Q All right.
A --necessarily.
Q All right. Was that a form that was typically used to authorize payments, charitable contributions, to agencies--

A I believe it was.
Q --by AT&T?
A I--I believe it was.
PROF. JOYNER: Objection to what he believes.
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Objection--
PROF. JOYNER: Objection to what he believes. If he knows, he can answer.
THE CHAIR: Sustained. Do you know?
THE WITNESS: I don't specifically know.
THE CHAIR: All right, sir.
THE WITNESS: But--
THE CHAIR: Thank you.
A I do recognize one of the names on here.
Q (By Mr. Hart) All right. And--and what name is that?
A I don't know the--I never met the gentleman specifically, but I do remem--recognize Robert Show--Shower's [phonetic] name as being an upper-level person in the AT&T public relations department at that time, a very higher-level off--not officer, but a higher-level person in the corporation.
Q All right. And do you--do you recognize him as being one of the people who would authorize--

A Yes.
Q --payments of charitable contributions?
A Yes. I had seen his name on other documents that-- PROF. JOYNER: Objection to the characterization of approving charitable contributions.
THE CHAIR: Can you rephrase the question?
Q (By Mr. Hart) Did you recognize him as being a person within AT&T who authorized charitable contributions to various agencies?
A Yes.
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
THE CHAIR: Basis?
PROF. JOYNER: The characterization as someone who would approve contributions to charitable organizations.
THE CHAIR: Overruled.
A I--I recognize him as--as--the--the name that was usually on these--on these forms for approval, on--on forms beyond this form here.
Q All right. I'd ask you to look at Exhibit Number 13. And do you recognize that particular document, sir?

A I can't say I recognize this--this particular document. I don't know for certain if I ever received this check back in--
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Basis?
PROF. JOYNER: He said he didn't know.
THE CHAIR: Would you repeat the question, please, Mr. Hart?
MR. HART: Yes, sir.
Q Mr. Policastro, do you recognize the document that's shown in State's--in Special Counsel's Exhibit 13?
A Yes. It appears to be a check written-- PROF. JOYNER: Objection as to what it appears to be. Does he know that this is what it is?
THE CHAIR: Objection is overruled. I'm going to let him answer, but I will hear you on a motion to strike if it's not hooked up. Go ahead. You can answer, Mr. Policastro.
A It appears to be a check from AT&T's corporate account, or one of AT&T's corporate accounts, written to the "Community's Health Foundation, I."

I suppose the line was too long, and it was supposed to be "Incorporated."

Q Okay. And did you--

PROF. JOYNER: Move to strike.

THE CHAIR: Denied.

Q Do you recognize that as being the form that checks issued by AT&T came in during that time period?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection to what form the checks came in.

THE CHAIR: Do you know, Mr. Policastro, the form--

THE WITNESS: I have seen--I--yes. Yes, Mr. Chairman, I have seen other checks in other circumstances beyond charitable contributions that look like this check.

THE CHAIR: All right. Overruled.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Policastro, are you aware, was, in fact, an approval made for a fifteen-hundred-dollar donation, charitable contribution, to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, by AT&T back in April of 2004?

A I know the approval was--was openly made. I'm not sure the--I'm not sure--aware of the specific date.

Q Okay.

A But, obviously, the check was written on that date.

Q All right.

A The approval could have happened some time before.

Q Okay.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, at this time I would move to introduce to Exhibit Number 11.

THE CHAIR: Any objection to Exhibit Number 11, Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: No.

THE CHAIR: All right. Without objection, Exhibit Number 11 is admitted.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Policastro, over the years, have you been a board member in any charitable organizations?

A I've been a board member in nonprofit organizations, not necessarily charitable.

Q Okay. Any--approximately how many different nonprofit organizations have you been a board member in?

A I'd say one or two.

Q Okay. In that capacity, were you a volunteer board member?

A Yes.

Q Did you ever receive any compensation from those organizations for being a board member?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection, Mr. Chairman. Relevancy.

THE CHAIR: I'm not--I'm not sure it's extraordinarily relevant, but I will allow it to go at least to the witness' credibility for whatever purpose it has for this testimony. I'll allow it for right now. Overruled.

A No.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Would you repeat the--

A I'm sorry. No. No.

PROF. JOYNER: Move to strike.

THE CHAIR: Denied.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Policastro, from your knowledge involving this particular contribution, was it intended to be a charitable contribution to a 501(c)(3) corporation?

A Yes, sir.

PROF. JOYNER: Objection--

THE CHAIR: Basis?

PROF. JOYNER: --unless he knows, but he said he knew.

THE CHAIR: Well, could--let me ask.

Again, the question was, Did you intend it to be a contribution to a 501(c)(3)? And I understand you to say, "Yes." Is that correct?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: All right. Then that question subsumes that he does know and did then, so it's overruled.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Regardless of whether it was a--specifically a 501(c)(3), did you intend it to be a charitable contribution to the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A Yes, sir.

MR. HART: That's all the questions I have, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: All right. Cross-examination, Dr. Joyner?

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Mr. Policastro, I just need some--some clarification here. My understanding is that you--you did not approve this request. Is that correct?

A That is correct, sir.

Q All right. So what you intended to do is irrelevant, then?

-221-

A I'm not sure it's irrel--I'm not sure how to answer--
Q You didn't approve this request?
A That's correct.
Q All right. You merely passed it on?
A That's correct.
Q And it was approved by someone who's not here today--
A That is correct.
Q --as far as you know, somebody that you don't know?
A I know the name, but no, I don't know him personally, sir.
Q Okay. Now, the general information is that AT&T makes grants to community groups, nonprofit groups, and charitable organizations; is that correct?
A I believe--the overall corporation, not just in North Carolina?
Q Yes, AT&T.
A That's--that's my--I'm sure they do, yes. I'm sure they do--
Q Well, I mean, this check was paid out of Illinois; is that correct?
A (Examines paperwritings.) That--that is the address of the bank, yes, sir.

-222-

Q All right. So you make contributions to community groups, nonpublic groups, and nonprofit groups, charitable groups, as well?
A Yes, sir.
Q Is the approval process the same for each of the groups?
A Not necessarily. I'm not sure--charitable contributions, I think, at times require different internal documentations. Not necessarily.
Q All right. Let me just direct your attention to Exhibit Number 11 and ask you to identify what part of that document indicates that this is a 501(c)(3) organization.
A There's no part of this particular document that does.
Q Is there any part of this document which would indicate that this is a charitable organization?
A Just the word "Foundation, Incorporated," would give me that--that thought.
Q And is there anything about this document that would indicate this is a nonprofit?
A Again, just the word "Foundation" would seem to--would give me the impression that it was a nonprofit, but-- -223-

Q All right. So--
A --I can't--I can't confirm that.
Q So you can't confirm any of that?
A That it was a nonprofit?
Q That it--
A No, sir.
Q --was a nonprofit or charitable organization or--
A No. I--I relied on the representations that were made to us.
Q And the representation that was made--the representations that were made is contained--are contained in Exhibit 11; is that correct?
A Those were not all the representations. Like I indicated earlier, when the--when the--when it was first relayed to me through our--through our outside consultant, it was described as a non--
Q Well, let me--because, I mean, I don't know who your outside consultant was. Let me just ask--
MR. HART: I ask he be allowed to finish his answer.
THE CHAIR: The witness may allow--is allowed to finish his answer before-- PROF. JOYNER: Well, Your Honor, to the extent that he is--

-224-

THE CHAIR: No, sir. I want the witness to finish his answer, and then I'll hear you.
PROF. JOYNER: Well, I want to object to the hearsay that the witness is preparing to testify to.
THE CHAIR: All right. Go ahead and finish your answer, and then if he starts into the hearsay, I'll hear you on the objection. Go ahead.
A What I was saying was that when it was first relayed to us what this entity was, was that--
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
A --it was a nonprofit.
PROF. JOYNER: It's hearsay.
THE CHAIR: All right. Hold on. The objection's hearsay. Mr. Hart?
MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, it doesn't go to the truth of the matter asserted. It goes to his understanding.
THE CHAIR: I agree completely. Objection is overruled. It's not hearsay. You may answer.
A I'm not sure where I finished. I'll start from the beginning again.
When we--when it was first relayed to me as to--as to what this was, was the--on behalf of the Community Health Center down there. I didn't see the Foundation's name, or for that matter, Representative Wright's name on this until we received the invoice. I mean, at the time I knew there was some connection with Representative Wright, but I didn't realize there was a direct connection till the invoice was--was received.

It was--I'm not sure it specifically said it was a 501(c)(3), but the terminology used was a non--charitable nonprofit, and that, to me, is a 501(c)(3). We've seen other ones before.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I would object and move to strike.

THE CHAIR: Basis?

PROF. JOYNER: It was hearsay--

THE CHAIR: All right.

PROF. JOYNER: --and it was offered for the assertion of the truth of the matter--it was offered for the truthfulness of the matter asserted.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: A response is before you [phonetic].

THE CHAIR: All right. The objection is overruled. Motion to strike is denied.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Looking at Exhibit 11, that does not request a grant from AT&T, does it?

A It does not.

Q Okay. And you don't have a present recollection that you've ever had any conversation with Representative Wright about this invoice?

A That's correct.

Q And the only thing that remotely ties Representative Wright into this request is that he is listed and identified on the letterhead as the president?

A Well, on this particular document, that's correct. My understanding, as I indicated earlier, was that I had information beyond this document as to that.

Q And that was from this unidentified person that you've referred to?

A Certainly. Yes, sir.

Q Now, you in--(pauses)--

PROF. JOYNER: If I could have a moment--

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

PROF. JOYNER: We have no further questions.

THE CHAIR: Redirect?

MR. HART: Nothing, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Just a couple of things.

Who was the outside consultant?

THE WITNESS: It's a Mr. Lawrence Beally [phonetic].

REP. STAM: And had the Community Health Foundation, as far as you know, provided any services to AT&T for which Mr. Wright was asking for payment?

THE WITNESS: No, sir. No, sir.

REP. STAM: Had the Community Health Center provided services to AT&T for which you were recommending payment for services?

THE WITNESS: No, sir.

REP. STAM: And I--at the time you approved the invoice, did you understand the difference between the Community Health Center, which was an operating, functioning health provider, as opposed to the Foundation, from which you got the invoice, which did not have assets except one that was in foreclosure?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection.

THE CHAIR: Sustained. Representative Stam, you may want to--

REP. STAM: Shorten that?

THE CHAIR: --shorten that, yeah.

REP. STAM: At the time you--okay. At the time you approved the--

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I'm going to object to that because he testified he didn't approve anything.

THE CHAIR: Sustained.

REP. STAM: Excuse me. At the time you passed on the request to higher levels, did you understand the difference between the Community Health Center and the Community Health Foundation?

THE WITNESS: I'm not sure I could say I understood the difference. It was my impression this was directly related to it. And my thought was it was the fundraising arm or the charitable arm of that--of that entity.

REP. STAM: Would it have made a difference in your passing this on to higher leve if--if AT&T knew through you that, in fact, this foundation had not received a charitable tax determination from the IRS?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection. Speculation.

THE CHAIR: I'm going to--I'm going to overrule it and let you answer, if you can answer with some certainty about whether it would have made a difference. If you cannot, please say so.

THE WITNESS: Yes, sir. I would not have--I would've not passed this along had I not thought it was a 501(c)(3) charitable organization.

REP. STAM: And finally--

PROF. JOYNER: Move to strike.

THE CHAIR: Denied.

REP. STAM: Finally, in the notice-of-witness list, there was a statement of your proposed testimony that Mr. Policastro--"he recommended through AT&T's approval process that the contribution be approved to support Wright as a legislator by supporting Wright's local charity." How--

PROF. JOYNER: Objection.

REP. STAM: My question is, if that was why you did it, how does this support Representative Wright as a legislator by supporting his charity?

THE CHAIR: Okay. Let's--objection sustained. Let's break it up, if we can. First, do you want to break that into several questions?

REP. STAM: First--yeah.

The first question is, did, in fact, you tell the Special Counsel that you recommended through AT&T's approval process that the contribution be approved to support Wright as a legislator by supporting Wright's local charity?

THE WITNESS: No, I did not.

REP. STAM: Okay. No further questions, then.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative--I don't have my list. I'll just go in this order.

Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Did the questions that were asked cause any further questions, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: No, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: All right. Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q You mentioned Mr. Beully [phonetic]?

A Yes, sir.

Q Is that someone different than the source of information that you were not able to identify earlier?

A I wasn't asked to identify him. I mentioned he was an outside consultant. It is the same person.

Q Okay. So you don't have any information that he was involved in any way in--in procuring this--this money?

A Procuring the money?

Q Right.

A No, sir. I testified that, without mentioning his name until I was asked by Representative Stam--that it was my recollection that the initial inquiry into how this would--how formal requests would be made did come through Mr. Beully [phonetic] to--to AT&T--to myself at AT&T.

Q Okay. And is Mr. Beully [phonetic] still with AT&T?

A No, he's--I do not believe he's a registered lobbyist for AT&T, or--or a consultant with AT&T.

Q Do you know if he's alive?

A Yes, sir, he is.

Q But he's not here.

A That's correct.

PROF. JOYNER: No further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. That, actually, leaves the Chair having one other question, if the mic will--Mr. Poli--Mr. Policastro, are you aware from any conversations you've had with any other governmental relations colleagues--and I use that term broadly--of any other requests that your colleagues received for similar amounts of money or similar donations to the Community Health Foundation, Inc., in Wilmington?

A Not through direct conversations. I've seen some of the evidence that's--

Q Okay.

A No. No, sir.

Q All right. Thank you.

PROF. JOYNER: Move to strike his answer and the question.

THE CHAIR: I'll certainly strike the part about he's seen any--any in evidence. The answer, as far as I take it, was, no, he does not know that from any colleagues.

All right. I think that--thank you, Mr. Policastro. Any--any reason Mr. Policastro cannot be released from his subpoena, Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: No.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: All right. You're released from the subpoena. Thank you, Mr. Policastro.

All right. Anything before we adjourn for the evening till tomorrow--or recess for the evening until tomorrow? Anything else? No?

Okay. Yeah, let me do this. If I could, Members of the Committee--I want to remind the members of the Committee and the attorneys for the Committee and Representative Wright, Representative Wright and members of the public--and I use the term "members of the public" in its broadest sense--that because we are now in-- because we are now in deliberative, fact-finding stage, I think it would be appropriate that the members of the Committee refrain from discussing this matter with the press, the Committee's outside legal counsel, Representative Wright's counsel, Representative Wright, until after the Committee deliberations are completed.

And I will also ask all of those folks to refrain from discussing evidence in the case with Committee members other than the Chair during this period of time.

I will also ask members of the public, in its broadest sense, do not approach the Committee members or witnesses in this matter until after the deliberations are completed. I believe that this hearing can proceed fairly to all parties involved if we all follow these suggestions, and I will ask the sergeant-at-arms to assist in assuring compliance with this request.

With that, we are in recess until ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: If I could, I'm going to very, very briefly call this meeting to order only to do this: There's been a motion this morning that I think that was just filed, and we need--I think Mr. Harris hasn't arrived yet and will be arguing the motion. Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters need a little bit of time to read the motion and formulate a response, so we will be in recess until ten-thirty. And if we need a little more time after that, we'll do it, but right now, we're in recess until ten-thirty, and we'll pick up the motion at that point. Thank you.

(THIRTY-SEVEN-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. This Committee is now officially back in session at ten-thirty-seven on Tuesday.

There was filed this morning--and I appreciate the prompt filing of the motion by Mr. Harris and Dr. Joyner--for Representative Wright a motion for the Chairman to recuse himself and for the Committee to stay this matter and refer to the Speaker for further action. And with that, what I will do at this point--I think since it's a recusal motion, it ought to be heard up front.

And Mr. Harris, we waited for you, obviously, and also to give counsel time to prepare. What I'm going to do is let you go ahead and argue that motion. I know there were attachments. Committee members have received it, so that they've had an opportunity to start looking at it. Then what we'll do, Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters, I'll have you respond, and then I'm going to take a few minutes to read through everything and--and rule, so that we can either move on with a new chairman or otherwise move on.

Mr. Harris? You'll need to put that--there you go.

MR. HARRIS: Thank you. Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, sometimes something new and different happens in the world, and when it does, it's time to sit up and take notice. And when you see Republicans coming forward to help Democrats, as when you see cats coming forward to help dogs, it's something new and different, and you ought to--you ought to pay attention.

I was speaking to Fern Shubert this morning, and I--I said to her, "I don't mean to embarrass you, but this is something of a Profiles in Courage moment, because, you know--for a Republican to come out like this, and I know you don't have anything great going with Representative Wright. I know you've fought many times on the floor, and you've--you've opposed each other almost always. For you to come forward and help Representative Wright under these circumstances is--is really quite remarkable. I admire you for it."

And she said, "Well, you know, what they're doing to Representative Wright is just wrong. To take a situation where"--she--she was speaking--said, "When I make a complaint about somebody, and I as a representative and as a former senator come forward and say that somebody has misled by written document all the--all the people in the House, all--all the legislators in the House, and there's not even a hearing, it's not even anything, it's just dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, and that person's white, and then--and then Tom Wright comes along and the sa[illegible] situation exists, there is no jurisdiction"--

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, I object to the testimony that Counsel is apparently trying to put into the record.

MR. HARRIS: I'm not putting any testimony. I'm--

THE CHAIR: Let--let me rule on the objection, please, Mr. Harris.

MR. HARRIS: All right.

THE CHAIR: And I understand the objection, and I--I'll--I'm going to give Mr. Harris some significant leeway to make his argument. But I would ask you if you would try to limit it to matters that you do have in evidence in terms of what's filed--and there's plenty, I think, that's filed--

MR. HARRIS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: --and attached--okay.

MR. HARRIS: And then you take Representative Wright, who is in the same situation, without jurisdiction--as--as the members of the Committee will remember, that your--your Committee, when you were sitting as the Legislative Ethics Committee, ruled there was no jurisdiction--and take two people in identical situations and treat them differently--one has a great, big hearing, one even has a conclusion that he's probably guilty, and the other has nothing, it makes the most stark contrast.

And when you look for the difference, it's hard to find any difference anywhere except that one is white and one is black.

And that is what we lawyers call prima facie evidence. And what that means is it may not be true, but it puts the burden on the other side to say why it's not true, to bring out some satisfying explanation as to why somehow something else is true other than black and white.

And when we look at the gravity of what we are doing here, we are taking an elected representative of the people who was put in his place by the people from New Hanover County, as each--as each of you were put in your place by--by the people in your district, and we are proposing, at least, to take him out of that seat, to take him out of what the people--where the people put him, I think it's important in that instance particularly not only to have propriety, but not to have the appearance--even the appearance of impropriety.

And I suggest to you that this is a strong appearance of impropriety, if it is nothing else.

And I doubt very seriously that if, indeed, there is some kind of explanation, lame [phonetic] or otherwise, offered today as to why this is okay--I doubt very seriously that--that explanation will be very satisfying to the black citizens of North Carolina. I doubt very seriously it will be very satisfying to Fern Shubert and a lot of Republicans that can see that this is internecine war--warfare in the Democratic Party and it ought not be conducted unfairly. And it certainly won't be satisfying to me.

And a solution is at hand which I propose which is very simple, and that is that this Committee recognize that, unfortunately, you've gone down this road too far. You've gone down this road so far that no matter what you do, it's going to have an appearance of impropriety. It will be embarrassing to all concerned. It will be something talked about for years, things people for years say, "Look what they did to that black man who got in a position of power from New Hanover County. Look what they did to him, and look what--how nothing happened to his counterpart who was white." We don't need that in North Carolina. We don't need it.

The easiest way to handle this is for you to vote to say, "We think that this is a mistake. We don't want the appearance of impropriety." I'm not going to ask any of you to say that you did anything wrong, just acknowledge that there is an appearance of impropriety here.

This often happens to lawyers. It often happens to judges. Sometimes we have to withdraw, not because we did anything wrong, but because it looks bad. For example, if I talked to--if I talked to a client and, unbeknownst to me, I inadvertently talked to someone on the other side, I've got to get out of that case. It's an appearance of impropriety. And that's what we have here on--on different grounds.

And so what I'm asking this Committee to do is to refer this back to Speaker Hackney and say, "Because of what has occurred here, which we did not intend, but because of what has occurred here, we think, Speaker Hackney, you need to appoint a brand-new committee, one that was not involved with the Legislative Ethics Committee that--that made this double-standard error. We think that the Committee should not be chaired by the--by the--by the Chairman who made rulings that directly contradicted one another. We don't want the appearance of impropriety over something this important, taking someone out of office who was elected. And therefore, Speaker Hackney, we would like you to do one of two things. Either appoint a brand-new committee that has none of the taint of being associated with the Legislative Ethics Committee and--and decisions that went both ways, or, in the alternative, refer this in the legislature and let the legislature give guidance as to what they want."

Now, what could the legislature do? Well, they could do what was done down in Georgia. They could pass an act specially appointing a committee to consider this. They did that for Julian Bond [phonetic] many years ago. Now, that happened to be a free-speech issue, and maybe not the best example, because it turns out that that was a discriminatory act, too. But the fact is the Georgia legislature did go about it in a proper way in the sense that the legislature passed a law and made a committee, and a committee was specially made by the legislature. There could be no doubt, and they considered it from the first.

Now, whether you wish to do that or have Speaker Hackney take care of it, that's your business. But it is certainly somewhat beyond your business where we find ourselves. If you vote in this fashion, this will be a tainted decision. It will be a decision that's embarrassing. It could be a decision that makes us look like racists that we are not, make it look like a state we are not. And we don't need this in North Carolina.

So I ask you respectfully to look over these documents. I ask you respectfully to realize that they are--they have far too much in common to ignore and--and to vote accordingly. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Thank you, Mr. Harris.

Mr. Hart or Mr. Peters? Mr. Hart? Yes. Let me--let me--before Mr. Hart responds, obviously yesterday in the oral motion that was discussed, it discussed a particular member, and again the written motion today discusses a particular member. So let me make the following preliminary notes, and--so that there can be a response.

First, complaints and actions on complaints filed with the Legislative Ethics Committee, which is a joint House and Senate Committee, are confidential, and they are not matters of public record until the matter is referred to the appropriate house or an evidentiary hearing before the Legislative Ethics Committee commences. As a matter of law, no member of the Legislative Ethics Committee can disclose the existence of the complaint or the contents of the complaint that is not of the public record.

Two. The confidentiality of the complaint lies with the respondent legislator and can only be waived by that respondent.

Three. Under North Carolina General Statute 120-103.1(g), if the Joint Legislative Ethics Committee determines at the end of its preliminary inquiry that the complaint does not allege facts sufficient to constitute a violation of matters over which the Committee has jurisdiction, the Committee must dismiss the complaint and provide written notice of the dismissal to the complainant and to the respondent.

Four. Fern Shubert was the complainant in the case of Representative Pryor Gibson. She was not bound by the confidentiality limitations and was free to disclose the Legislative Ethics Committee disposition, and apparently did so. The Legislative Ethics Committee could only release the information and can only release the information upon Representative Gibson's waiver of his confidentiality right.

In order to--next number. In order to allow the Legislative Ethics Committee to respond today to Representative Wright's motion alleging disparate treatment based on race, Representative Gibson as the respondent has waived confidentiality with respect to certain documents contained in the Legislative Ethics Committee complaint entitled C-LEC-2007-001.

Next number. The jurisdiction of the Legislative Ethics Committee is defined by General Statute 120-103.1.

And at this point, I am going to hold at that. And I've given and told Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters of Representative Gibson's decision. They, therefore, are able to argue consistent wit Representative Gibson's waiver what--the action involved and the consequences of that action, just as Mr. Harris was able to based on what Ms. Shubert alleged.

So with that, we'll hear a response from Mr. Hart or Mr. Peters. Yes, please.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman? We've--

THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes. We've not been served with the response. Has--has--

THE CHAIR: There's been no--there's been no written response.

PROF. JOYNER: No formal--okay.

THE CHAIR: Right. This is just strictly--I've asked them to do an oral response.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, we received this response just about forty minutes ago, and so we have not had an opportunity to provide a written response, but I will be presenting our argument against the--the motion.

Essentially, I think Mr. Harris did in a nutshell what his motion says, and that is same circumstances, one is white and one is black, there's disparate treatment and therefore a strong appearance of impropriety. We contend to you that that's simply not the case. All this is is a bald allegation of race without any--any facts to support it. There's absolutely no similarities in the two situations, and I'll address that--I believe you may be getting copies of--of the complaint disposition.

THE CHAIR: It is, and you may want to wait till everyone gets that for a moment. I apologize. You may proceed. Thank you, Mr. Hart.

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. First of all, there--there are some distinctions that need to be drawn between the Gibson case that has been raised and the Wright case. And that is that the LEC actually had a hearing and made a disposition in the Gibson case, and there has been no hearing--the matter of the--of Representative Wright--there has been one matter, as you know, retained by the LEC, but a decision was made by the LEC that it did not have jurisdiction over the matters that are pending before this Committee, and the matters were referred to the House for any possible treatment by the House. So there is a distinction there just in terms of procedure and how things were dealt with.

The importance then moves to the actual disposition of the complaint against Representative Pryor Gibson. A review of the materials there will show that, first of all, the LEC found that it did not have jurisdiction over a House Rules violation due to the statutory constraints that were involved. This Committee does not have statutory restraints. We--we have discussed that in various motions both before the LEC and the--and this Committee in prior hearings. But the LEC did have constraints of statutory provisions as to what it could and couldn't consider.

The second situation that--that you need to be aware of--and that's when you review the actual disposition--is that the LEC determined that there was insufficient basis to proceed forward on any kind of an ethics violation because of the confusion about what ethical standards were out there regarding this kind of a representation of a bill not being controversial and no specific guidelines.

In the Wright case, on the contrary, you had a situation where the LEC determined that it did not have jurisdiction of the matters that were set forth in the charges that had been brought by the Wake County grand jury, but the LEC was aware that not--that the Wake County grand jury had found probable cause as to six serious felony charges against Representative Wright, and that certainly was more basis to proceed to send this matter to the--to the House Committee than in the situation that was present in the Gibson case.

In addition, the LEC was aware that there had already been probable cause for further investigation by the Board of Elections and was also aware of the findings by the DHHS audit.

The next thing that I would ask you to look at is the difference in the nature of the charges. And again, Mr. Harris argues that these are similar situations. These situations could be further from similarity. There's absolutely no relationship, whatsoever.

I would contend to you that in the Gibson matter, what you have is at least, at best, an opinion that the bill was not controversial and then a dispute about that opinion. In the Wright case we have, again, probable cause having been found by the Wake County grand jury that Representative Wright has committed six serious felony charges that are now before this Committee in similar form of drafting of the counts before the Committee.

On the claim of disparate treatment, the courts in looking at Constitutional violations have determined that more has to be involved than what Mr. Harris has told you. It's not simply one is white and one is black and there's an allegation of disparate treatment and an allegation that there are same circumstances. There actually have to be similar circumstances. And that is not present in this case. There actually has to be some prima facie case shown by the complaining party that--that there are similar circumstances, and that's not been shown. There simply are not similar circumstances here.

There's no pattern of conduct. That's another thing that--that the courts have looked to, whether there is a pattern of conduct on behalf of the particular person or body that's being alleged to--being involved in disparate treatment. And there simply is none. There's no showing by the--by Representative Wright that there is any pattern of conduct by the LEC, by Representative Glazier, or by any members on this Committee in their actions at the LEC or--or here that would show that there's any kind of disparate treatment between blacks and whites.

The third factor the courts have looked at to determine whether there's disparate treatment that would be a Constitutional violation is any evidence of insidious comments, that is any statements made by the accused party that would show that there was any kind of racial bias. There--there simply has been no showing to that effect as to Representative Glazier or any other member of this Committee or any member of the LEC.

The final thing that I want to discuss is the standard that the courts have used in terms of recusal motions for judges and some of the--some of the law regarding recusal. And first of all, I would argue that this is--this is similar, certainly, to the Judicial Standards Commission procedures. This is similar to situations where trial judges rule in cases every day and may make pretrial rulings on motions involving different defendants or even the same defendants and appellate courts who sometimes consider cases involving the same defendant or similar defendants.

What the courts have held is that there must actually be shown some actual bias or some evidence that a judge cannot be fair and impartial, that there is an appearance of impropriety. And I suggest to that there has--has actually been no showing that anyone on this Committee or the Chair has in any way shown that it cannot be fair and impartial in this situation or that it has been involved in any kind of disparate treatment.

I'd like to cite a couple of cases, if I might. The first is the case of State versus Mitchell John Pakulski, which is a Court of Appeals case. And this--the Court of Appeals opinion was--was later appealed to the North Carolina Supreme Court and--or petitioned, and the petition was denied, no review. But in that case, the defendant made an allegation that the judge had made a statement prior to trial to the effect that the defense counsel needed to go ahead and--and plead his clients guilty because they--they were-- they were guilty.

And a motion to recuse was filed in the--during the trial of the case, and the judge held a hearing and specifically found that he did not make the comments that the defendant had related. There were also other witnesses that testified that--that those comments were not made. And the Court held that the trial judge properly denied the recusal motion and that there was no necessity for that motion to be heard by another trial judge, since the judge was able to determine that the allegations were--were frivolous and had no merit.

And I think that's the same situation you have here. I think this--this Committee can determine, based on the lack of evidence that's been presented to the Committee, that there simply is no basis for any kind of finding of disparate treatment.

I'll simply cite a couple of other cases, also, to the Committee. One is Love versus Pressley in 34 N.C. Appeals 503, a 1977 case in which the Court found that rulings by a trial ju that were adverse to a defendant were no basis fo finding that the trial judge could not be fair and impartial from that point forward.

And I know there has--have been a lot of allegations in--in this case that the Committee has already made determinations and has already decided what it's going to do. I think coupled with the allegations of disparate treatment, this Committee can certainly find that there's absolutely no basis to find that any of those allegations are true and find no reason to find disparate treatment or that anyone should be recused.

The last case I would cite is State versus Fie, a Supreme Court case, 320 N.C. 626, and that is simply the basic law dealing with recusal motions. But again, it supports the--the same basic findings that these other cases have--have cited, and that is that there--there has to be some legitimate basis, some evidence to show that there is impropriety in continuing forward.

And I would submit to you the comparison of these two cases should convince you that there's simply no basis for a finding of disparate treatment, no reason for recusal, and no reason for this Committee to continue forward.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you, Mr. Hart. Any response, Mr. Harris?

MR. HARRIS: Yes, sir. Since Representative Gibson has--Pryor Gibson has waived his rights under this and we can discuss it, I--it would be--it would be important to note precisely what it is that he was accused of doing.

What was said was on the local bill, which you're all familiar with, of course, that he represented that he'd gotten permission from the other people in his district to put that--to put that bill out there in a--in a special session, in a short session. How it came to light was that when the bill came on the floor, members of the House rose up and said, "Wait a minute. We don't know anything about that. You don't have our permission." That's how it came to light.

And you know, of course, what that means. It means that in a written document, he told a lie to his fellow legislators and all of them, to the entire House, as to what was going on.

Now, I say to you that if it is the Attorney General's position that that's not an ethical violation, then why isn't it? And if it is an ethical violation, then why wasn't it dealt with? The Attorney General seems to be saying it's--it's permissible to tell a lie to all the legislators, and that's no problem. If that's not an ethical problem, we've got a problem.

Next, it was represented there was a hearing, and it was passed out this sheet saying there were conclusions. Well, here's the difference. There wasn't any sort of hearing. A hearing is when the cameras are there and your dirty laundry, for better or worse, is laid out in front of everybody to see, and--and witnesses come and witnesses testify on both sides. That's a hearing.

Fern Shubert didn't know anything about this. She didn't know when it was. She didn't get a chance to tell her side of the story. The legislators who were--represented that they had given permission for him to introduce that local bill, they weren't given an opportunity to testify. This was not a hearing. It's just a private meeting.

And so the fact remains that with the allegation of serious ethical violations, one man, a black man, had to have a hearing out in public, and there were conclusions out in public; the other man, a white man, didn't have to have a hearing, wasn't any hearing of any variety, any public variety, and there were no conclusions.

And in each case, there was a finding there was no jurisdiction. Well, if there's no jurisdiction, what do you even--what are you even having a hearing for? If there's no jurisdiction, what kind of legal entity has a hearing and reaches conclusions on something they've got no jurisdiction on?

Because after all, you know--in the package, you see there's a letter written by the Chairman and signed by the Chairman to--to--to Speaker Hackney, and it says, "This Committee has no jurisdiction." And a day before that, also in your packet, there is a letter also signed by this Chairman saying that--that charges had been brought and conclusions had been reached about Thomas Wright. Well, there's either jurisdiction or there's not. If there's not jurisdiction, what are we reaching conclusions for? And if--and if there is, why did it have to be moved over here because there wasn't any jurisdiction?

And wasn't one man told--wasn't Pryor told in the summertime, on July 24th of 2007, just this past year, that "with no jurisdiction, we can't do anything"? Well, wasn't Thomas Wright--said, "Well, with no jurisdiction, we can do something, by golly. We can rake you over the coals. We can have you out in front of the TV cameras. We can make conclusions. We can pass out stuff to the press. We can do a lot with no jurisdiction"--wasn't Thomas Wright told that?

And you have the power. If you want the power, you can keep on going, if you think that's the wise choice. You've got the power. But you know, they say that discretion is the better part of valor, and I would suggest to you respectfully that discretion is the better part of the appearance of impropriety, too. I don't see how you get out of this thing untainted.

I heard what the Attorney General had to say. Maybe it'll satisfy some people, maybe it won't. But wouldn't it be better--wouldn't it be better for all concerned if a different committee was to hear this and a different committee was to make its own conclusions without any of this stuff involved here that I've just named? 'Cause we can eliminate this entire issue just by a different committee hearing it, another two or three days with that committee instead of this committee.

Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Thank you, Mr. Harris. Any member of the Committee wish to be recognized before the Chair considers--Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Yeah, Mr. Chairman, just very briefly before you rule, essentially the motion says that you should recuse yourself because of racial bias. And knowing the House, I would just like to posit the thought that I don't think there's any member of the House that would put any credence in an allegation that you are racially biased, and there's certainly been no evidence of it.

THE CHAIR: Any other member of the Committee need to say anything or want to say anything at this point before I rule?

All right. I want to take a moment, if you don't mind, to put some things together, so we're at ease for a moment.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

THE CHAIR: All right. The Chair is ready to rule. Again I'm going to ask the Committee's indulgence. My ruling will be oral and going through a series of findings. Obviously, I'm going to reserve the right to add citations or change grammar or text within the writing. And I'll reduce this to a written form at a later date when I've had more opportunity to do that, but you'll get the general tenor of it so that we can make the decision and--and move on, one way or the other.

The Chair has taken account--going to take into account the filings which he read this morning by Representative Wright, as well as the oral--brief oral motion yesterday, a review today and for a great deal of time last night of the full record in this case, the record in the Gibson matter, the law on recusal and disparate treatment, as I worked on with my clerk last night and again this morning, the cases cited.

And with that, the first finding: This matter is before the Chair on motion of the Chairman to recuse himself and for the Committee to stay this matter and refer to the Speaker for further action filed this morning at eight-fifty-nine A.M. by Representative Wright. The motion has been argued by both sides expertly and is ripe for disposition.

Number 2. Representative Wright essentially argues that he is being treated differently than another representative, Pryor Gibson, against whom a complaint had been lodged in the LEC, with Representative Gibson's complaint being dismissed and Representative Wright's complaint being referred to the House of Representatives and this Committee being formed and prosecuting the case before us today. He argues that that is disparate treatment and, in addition, that that's a basis to--for the Chair, who was Chair of both this Committee and the LEC, to recuse.

Number 3. Mr. Hart argues that there is no evidence of a need to recuse as the cases are not comparable and, in addition, that there is no basis under the law for a recusal to take place of either the Chair or the Committee, since there's evidence that inappropriate decisions have been made and, in addition, no evidence of racial bias or prejudice exists.

Number 4. The issue, therefore, is whether the ethics prosecution of Representative Thomas Wright is disparately selective on the basis of race in violation of the Equal Protection Clause and similar North Carolina Constitutional provisions, a subissue of which is whether for almost identical basis and for any violation of procedure the Chair or the Committee as a whole should be recused.

Number 5. The only evidence presented in support of the motion is the evidence with regard to the prior complaint before the LEC of the Representative Pryor Gibson.

Number 6. Representative Gibson is Caucasian and Representative Wright is African-American.

Number 7. No evidence has been proffered that any member of the Committee, including the Chair, is otherwise racially biased or prejudiced. And in fact, the record will reflect that two weeks ago--and the transcript will show--that that specific issue was asked of Mr. Harris and

Mr. Harris conceded that there was no evidence of racial prejudice or bias by any member of the Committee. Nothing has occurred in the interim which would change that, and no evidence was presented today to show that.

Number--next number. The evidentiary issue on this motion becomes how to view the Gibson case, that is, is it a likely comparable. This requires an examination of the Gibson file, which you now show, as the waiver of his confidentiality, the basis of that decision, the makeup of the LEC, and the determination that was made.

In this case before us, Representative Wright is charged with eight counts alleging conduct of fraud, corruption, and in most counts, a violation of the criminal law.

Next number. This conduct was found to be questionable after full and fair hearings before the State Board of Elections, who found probable cause to believe that a number of state-law violations had occurred by Representative Wright and referred the matter for review for prosecution. No allegation, let alone proof, has been made today or exists in any motion filed that suggests that any member of the State Board of Elections was racially biased, prejudiced, or in any way unfair or impartial.

Next number. A second investigation was conducted against Representative Wright by the Department of Health and Human Resources [sic]. A referral was made for consideration of prosecution from that investigation. Again, no allegation, let alone proof, exists today or filed in any motion that any member of the HHS investigative team was racially prejudiced, biased, or motivated to make that conclusion.

Next number. The grand jury of Wake County, made up of diverse citizens of Wake County, found probable cause to believe that Thomas Wright was--should be charged with six counts of a violation of criminal law. No allegation has been made, let alone proved, that any member of the Wake County grand jury or the grand jury as a whole was racially motivated, biased, or in any way unfair and partial in their determination.

Next number. The Joint House and Senate Legislative Ethics Committee met and found probable cause to believe--probable cause to exist as to one count with regard to Thomas Wright and held that the remaining counts against Thomas Wright before the LEC they were without jurisdiction to proceed on, but they should be referred to the House Select Committee for--should be referred--I'm sorry--to the House of Representatives for action by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who then formed this Select Committee to proceed. The LEC's referral indicated that they believed that the conduct alleged before the LEC, if proven, would constitute probable cause for further counts, which is what the House Select Committee then found.

Next number. This Committee, which contains three Democrats and three Republicans and is diverse, then unanimously found probable cause on eight counts of alleged misconduct, seven of which are being proceeded on in this hearing.

Next number. As to the Pryor Gibson matter, the Pryor Gibson matter was before the LEC on a complaint from Former Senator Fern Shubert, who filed a complaint with the Committee on January 9, 2007, by delivery to Senator Dan Clodfelter and Representative Nelson Cole, co-chairs of the 2005 Committee. The complaint alleged two things with regard to Representative Gibson, and it was all with respect to a House bill, 2726, that was filed on May 17, 2006.

Specifically, the complaint alleged, number one, that Representative Gibson had filed House Bill 2726 for personal benefit. The allegation was a conflict of interest occurred in that Representative Gibson introduced the bill to move the date of a public referendum on the meals tax to a year in which he was not up for re-election; second, that in conjunction with the filing of the bill, Representative Gibson had falsified a local bill certificate for House Bill 2726 in that he said the bill was not controversial when it, in fact, was, and that each member of the local delegation had not approved the introduction of the bill when the certification indicated that there was no controversy.

Number 3 as to--I'm sorry. Next number as to Representative Gibson's complaint. The law defining jurisdiction and investigative procedures of the Joint Legislative Ethics Committee changed effective January 1, 2007. SL 2006-201, which changed the law in this area, provided that the new law would apply to offenses committed on or after January 1, 2007, and prosecutions for offenses or ethic violations committed before January 1, 2007, were not abated or affected by the new law. The statutes that were in effect prior to the effective date of the new law would remain applicable to prosecutions arising on or before January 1, 2007. All of the allegations against Representative Gibson arose from conduct committed before January 1, 2007.

Next number. Representative Gibson introduced House Bill 2726 on May 17, 2006, and the bill had two provisions: First, that Section 1 would have allowed the Towns of Wingate and Marshville to exercise extraterritorial jurisdiction within one mile of their municipal borders without a vote of the Board of Commissioners of Union County, and second, Section 2 have allowed the Town of Monroe to hold a referendum on the prepared food and beverage tax authorized under Senate Law 2005-261 in either 2006 or 2007. Senate Law 2005-261 required the referendum to be in 2006.

Next number. Representative Gibson represented the western part of Union County, which encompassed the towns of Wingate and Marshall [phonetic] and the western half of Monroe. Representative Blackwood, Curtis Blackwood, represented the eastern part of Union County, which encompassed the eastern half of Monroe. Senator Goodall represented the entirety of Union County and was the only senator to represent Union County.

Next number. The complaint by Senator Shubert alleged that at the time the bill was filed, the other members of the Union County delegation did not approve the filing. Representative Blackwood wrote an e-mail to the House Principal Clerk on May 30, 2006, stating his opposition to the bill. Subsequently, so did Senator Goodall to the House Principal Clerk.

Next number. Senate Joint Resolution 1184 of the 2005 session, the adjournment resolution at the end of--for the 2005 session, stated in part that "any local bill that had been submitted to bill drafting must be accompanied by a certificate signed by the principal sponsor stating that no public hearing will be required or asked for by a member on the bill, that the bill is not controversial, and that the bill is approved for introduction by each member of the House of Representatives and Senate whose district includes the area to which the bill applies."

Next number. The House principal clerk attached a local bill and certificate to House Bill 2726 which Representative Gibson signed.

The conclusions--next number. The conclusions that were made following any prolonged discussion in the Legislative Ethics Committee on this issue was, Number 1, that the law in effect prior to January 1, 2007, would apply to the matter; Number 2, that the conflict of interest under General Statute 120-88 is present when a legislator has an economic interest in the legislation. It would not be a conflict of interest as then defined under 120-88 for a legislator to act on legislation affecting issues on a ballot merely because the legislator is a candidate on the ballot. Acting on legislation that might result in possible political gain but no financial gain to a legislator did not present a conflict of interest under law for the legislato

Number 3. The local bill certificate signed by Representative Gibson was required by a joint resolution of both the House and Senate. The rule concerning the introduction of local bills in the adjournment resolution was a rule of procedure and not a rule of ethics. The Committee lacked jurisdiction to consider whether a violation of a procedural rule would arise under old law to an ethical violation.

Next number. N.C. Gen. Stat. 121-03(a) directs the Committee on its own motion or in response to a sworn complaint to inquire into any alleged violation of the provisions of the Legislative Ethics Act, which is the bribery statute, the use of the legislative position to effect personnel actions, disclosure of confidential information, conflicts of interest, statements of economic interest [phonetic] violations, and the rules of ethics adopted by the House and Senate, or the criminal law by a legislator while acting in the legislator's capacity or participant in the lawmaking--as a participant in the lawmaking process.

Next number. The jurisdiction of the Committee did not include, found the LEC, the application and enforcements of rules of procedure in each individual house. Issues instead arising from the application of rules of procedure are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the house of which the legislator is a member, and an alleged violation of a rule or procedure is fundamentally subject to a point of order, which is subject to appeal in either the House or the Senate, an issue which is debatable and requires a vote of the chamber.

The Committee--the LEC then, by a unanimous vote of all present and voting, which included senators and representatives, Republicans and Democrats, black and white, voted, Number 1, that Allegation Number 1 against Pryor Gibson was to be dismissed, as alleging conduct that even if true would not constitute an ethics violation, and Number 2, Allegation Number 2 was dismissed as not being within the jurisdiction of the Committee.

Number 3. The complaint against Representative Gibson as filed by Fern Shubert was dismissed by the LEC with no further action by the Committee.

Now--next number--the law in this case and the motion before us is clear. First, as to the disparate treatment, in a disparate-treatment case, the movant attempts to demonstrate that he is the victim of intentional and often covert discrimination, that is, that he is being treated less favorably than others because of his race or, in other cases, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Next number. In a disparate-treatment case, proof of discriminatory intent is critical, and the ultimate factual inquiry in this type of case is whether the defendant or, in our case, whether the House or this Committee intentionally discriminated against Representative Wright. Representative Wright maintains the burden of proof from which any fact-finder can infer that if the conduct remains unexplained, then more likely than not the action was based on discriminatory, illegal criterion. In other words, to establish discrimination on the basis of disparate treatment, it must be shown that the person being alleged as the discriminating official bore a racially discriminatory animus against Representative Wright and that the animus manifested itself in the challenged action.

Next number. The analytical framework for claims governing--governing disparate treatment has been set forth at length by the United States Supreme Court in the case of McDonnell Douglas Corporation v. Green, as well as the Fernco, Burdine and Aikens [phonetic] cases that succeeded it. These cases suggest several ways that a plaintiff alleging discrimination may show and a court or, in this case, a Committee may find liability exists for disparate treatment.

First, Representative Wright could show discriminatory intent through direct evidence of discrimination, that is, by introducing invidious statements of any one of the Committee members, the Chair, or a member of the House of Representatives.

Second--or--second, since discriminatory intent is seldom capable of proof by direct evidence, indirect or circumstantial evidence can also be used to prove state of mind. Thus, the second method of establishing the prima facie case referred to by Mr. Harris is through the use of indirect evidence whose cumulative, probative force, apart from the operation of any presumption, shows that as a reasonable probability, but for the--in this case, Representative Wright's race, he would not have suffered an adverse action.

The Supreme Court has also provided explicit guidance for the order of proof in that circumstance, and it goes like this--next number. The plaintiff has the burden, in this case, Representative Wright, of proving by a preponderance of the evidence a prima facie case of discrimination. If he succeeds, second, in proving the prima facie case, the burden shifts to the Committee and Committee counsel to articulate some legitimate, nondiscriminatory reason for the Committee's action.

And third, should the Committee counsel have carried that burden, then the ultimate burden is on Representative Wright to have an opportunity to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the legitimate reasons offered were pretextual.

The burden of going forward--next number. The burden of going forward and establishing a prima facie case on behalf of Representative Wright is not a heavy one. He need satisfy that burden only by raising an inference that the Committee acted with discriminatory intent, that is, that the adverse action occurred under conditions which more likely than not were based on impermissible racial considerations.

Various circumstances can give rise to this inference of discrimination, including evidence of irregular or suspect procedures, evidence of a general pattern of racial discrimination within the decision-making process of the Committee. In addition, an inference of discrimination adequate to create prima facie case of disparate treatment can be shown by meaningful statistical evidence or by showing that decisions that were made by the Committee depended largely on excessively subjective factors.

Most frequently, however, the basis is the McDonnell Douglas test, and that is to show simply that Representative Wright is a member of the protected class, that he was treated differently because of his race, and that someone of a different race was treated in a same category in a different manner.

Next number. Applying that law to this case, the Chair finds, first, the two cases cited, that of Representative Gibson and that with Representative Wright, are so incomparable that a argument suggesting otherwise is profoundly absur The rule-making authority issue in the House that was the subject of the Gibson case was essentially a political vote. This case involves allegations of criminal misconduct, fraud, failure to report campaign contributions, and corruption in office.

The Gibson case involved one incident in one session regarding one House bill. This case literally contains allegations of violations of hundreds of campaign violations over twenty-two reporting periods and seven years.

The Gibson case involves an interpretation of what the Committee found to be an ambiguous requirement on what is controversial and, in fact, then issued a remedial order, which is called a P and G [phonetic], which was circulated to all members of the House and Senate following that hearing to clarify what is meant by "noncontroversial" and what the requirements are for all House and Senate members to respond.

Here, campaign-contribution reporting requirements at issue have been clear for years. And the law, so far as I know, of fraud and corruption has been in the civil law since the common law. There is no ambiguity about the requirements.

Thus, the two cases are not remotely comparable on any plane, and even a cursory review of the Gibson complaint would and should have revealed to any reasoned observer their utter lack of comparability.

Next number. I find under McDonnell Douglas that Representative Wright has not met his prima facie case of showing disparate treatment.

Next number. Even assuming he did so, the House proceeding in the Gibson case--I'm sorry--the House proceeding in the Wright case is based on a patently legitimate, nondiscriminatory basis, that is, probable-cause findings by three prior investigating groups, the Board of Elections, Health and Human Services, and the Wake County grand jury, not to mention the issues and findings of the Joint House and Senate LEC. No such finding existed in any capacity in the Gibson case.

Next number. And it goes without sayi that no evidence of pretext has been produced against any member of this Committee, against the House, or against the House leadership in pursuing this investigation.

A few final comments are in order, I think, at this point, as I conclude my order, and then we'll turn it over to the Committee. First, let me make--I'm sorry--two other findings.

As to the issue of recusal, the law with regard to the issue of recusal as set out in the cases cited by Committee counsel, that is the cases of Fie, Paluski [phonetic], and Love versus Pressley, it requires essentially that there be some showing that the presiding officer or the particular Committee have made or relied on evidence outside of the proceedings or be so unfair and impartial that their judgment is thus skewed and unable to give a fair hearing to the particular person involved. No such showing has been made in this case.

Now, returning to my final comments--you know, written some time ago, and thought I'd never have to give this--these comments in a different context, but I will.

Racism and all its collateral effects is a doctrine abhorrent to any modern, civilized society. And at its core, it is an act of violence and a denial of another's right to equal dignity. We all know, sitting here, that, unfortunately, in the not very distant past racism was openly acknowledged as an official policy of the United States and North Carolina governments, and laws designed to ensure the inferiority of black citizens remained on the books until well into this century and last century.

Fortunately, the policy of both governments has changed. And notwithstanding that fact, significant effects and results of previous policies still linger. Prior state-condoned racism encouraged similar attitudes among our citizens which have persisted long after state policy has been reversed. Many claims of discrimination today deal with systemic and subtle and stereotypical practices which developed when overt discrimination was lawful and remained embedded in basic institutional structures.

Invidious discrimination in the form of racial prejudice is the result of subjective, irrational perceptions which drain individuals of their dignity because of their perceived equivalence as members of a racial group and the misperception that lies at the heart of prejudice, and the animus formed of that ignorance shows malice and hatred wherever it operates without restriction.

Notwithstanding this, this nation, in my opinion, can point with some pride to the remarkable progress made in the last decades in overcoming the effects of past discrimination, and some of that improvement is directly attributable to the anti-discrimination laws passed by this legislature and Congress, but more so from the educative institutions, substantially more powerful than the courts or the political branches of government, that is, schools and churches and synagogues of this nation, as well as enlightened public leaders representing all aspects of society.

And with notable exceptions, widespread segregation in the nation's academic institutions, public facilities, in the legislature, and in places of employment has ended. Racial discrimination at the ballot box and in the halls of justice is not tolerated. And equal academic, equal employment opportunities, and this year, finally, in many respects, equal political opportunity, has become the rule rather than the exception.

Race, however, remains one of the most divisive problems in our society, despite all of that. And thus, whatever prejudice continues to manifest itself in society at large, we have all in the legislature and in Congress flatly ruled it will not be allowed with prejudice to operate, whether blatant or subtle, practiced by black or white, invoked by those wearing blue or white collars or wearing an officer's uniform or a gray flannel suit.

Having said that, I have been a lawyer as a defense lawyer and a civil-rights lawyer for many years, and I think I understand fairly well the issues of discrimination. I am a minority member of a religion and have been discriminated against in that capacity a number of times in my life, and I understand the pain that goes with it. And thus it is my view that it is up to all of us in public office to fight wherever bigotry exists, wherever hatred exists, and wherever intolerance exists by confronting that and educating. And I find acts of racism abhorrent and an utter denial of a person's right to equal protection and equal dignity.

Now, I find equally abhorrent racism labels tossed out capriciously and discrimination allegations charged against people where no good-faith basis exists in law and fact to do so. An individual may hold the keys to the litigation door, but it does not imply that he or she may enter with disregard for their actions or distain of the rights of everyone else.

Charges of racism, if proved, carry an enormously stigmatizing effect, and they should only be leveled after careful investigation, thoughtful deliberation, and always with a reasonable basis in law and in fact.

I find in this case that the filing of this motion was patently without a good-faith basis in law and fact and is, in my opinion, beneath the dignity of those who raise it. I deny the motion as frivolous, groundless, and meritless. Exception is noted.

This Committee is now asked, do you wish to overrule the ruling of the Chair? Seeing none, we are in recess for ten minutes.

(FIFTEEN-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Hart, we're back in session. I believe that the next witness is yours to be called.

MR. HART: The next witness is Daniel Gottovi.

THE CHAIR: Mr.--Dr. Gottovi?

MR. HART: Dr. Gottovi.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Dr. Gottovi, if you'd come on up. Dr. Gottovi, if you'll be sworn in by the court reporter, please.

* * * * *

Whereupon,

DANIEL GOTTOVI,

having been first duly sworn,

was examined and testified

as follows:

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart, the witness is with you.

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Would you tell us your name, please, sir?

A It's Daniel Gottovi. That's G as in "gun," O, T as in "Tom," T as in "Tom," O, V as in "Victor," I.

Q And Mr.--Dr.--it's Dr. Gottovi; is that correct?

A Yes. Either one is fine.

Q All right. And you are a medical professional; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q What--what exactly was--are you still practicing medicine?

A Yes.

Q What is your--what is your practice?

A I'm an internist with a specialty in pulmonary medicine.

Q All right. And you are currently practicing in the Raleigh area?

A Yes.

Q How long have you been practicing in the Raleigh area?

A Since--I practiced in Wilmington for thirty-four years. I retired from my--the practice that I started there in 1971. Karen was still working in Raleigh, so I came here, and I've been--my clinical practice is at the Open Door Clinic, a free clinic at--run by Urban Ministries in the old Budweiser plant on Capital Boulevard.

And I also do--I'm working on a hospital harm study for IHI. I'm still doing some work with Denise Levis--now that Torc [phonetic] Wade has left, still working on the Medicaid access program with Denise.

Q Now, you indicated that for thirty-four years you were practicing medicine in the Wilmington area, correct?

A Yes.

Q During that time period, at some point did you come to know the Respondent, Representative Thomas Wright?

A Yes, I did. Knew him well.

Q And tell us about that. How did you come to know him?

A Actually, I came to meet his--his brother, Joe, first, and his sister, who taught my son some skills--some acting skills, and then--and then Thomas probably within a few years of arrival there. I remember meeting him in the emergency room. He was an EMT. And--and that's--that was our first--

-53-

Q You said when he was an EMT?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And do you remember about when that was?

A I'm not sure. I think when we moved there in '71--I don't think--I think it was probably '72 or '73. I'm not sure exactly when he started working as an EMT, but I would say in the early '70s.

Q All right. Did you have any kind of business dealings with him at all?

A Over the year--early on, not, but we became involved in his--Karen and I both took a day off to work the phone bank when he ran for city council. He lost by seven votes, unfortunately, but--and then later on he was very involved in--in inner city--particularly in healthcare issues, and we worked together over probably a ten-year period on what became the New Hanover Community Health Center, and then worked on the Access III of the Lower Cape Fear, which is the now six-county Medicaid--managed Medicaid program in southeastern North Carolina. So we worked hard together on that.

-54-

Q All right. And at some point, Dr. Gottovi, did Representative Wright talk with you about being part of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A Yes, he did.

Q Tell us about that, please.

A Well, he--I can't remember exactly where the conversation was, whether--it probably was in my office. I was very aware of the healthcare needs in his district. In addition to working on the community health center in New Hanover County, I had helped him with the community health center that he established in Columbus County. I had made a presentation to the medical staff at Columbus County Hospital, as I recall.

And I--he told me that he had formed this foundation to help provide funds for the indigent medical needs in his district and--which I knew very well were certainly there and felt that was an important thing to do.

He also said, though, that a separate--a project in part of that was the museum that he had hoped to establish commemorating the atrocities committed in Wilmington in 1898. And so that's how it was presented to me.

-55-

Q Okay. At some point did he ask you to be a member of the board of directors of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A Yes, he did.

Q Would that have been sometime in early 2001?

A I think so. I'm not sure exactly.

Q Okay. All right. I'll ask you, if you would--there's a notebook in front of you there.

A Right.

Q If you would, look at the first document. It's Exhibit Number 1 by number there.

A Okay. I have it.

Q Do you recognize that, sir?

A I don't think I've seen it before, but I recognize it as articles of incorporation of the Community's Health Foundation.

Q Okay. That--that particular document lists you as--as being one of the board of directors, does it not?

A Correct.

Q And you indicated that he--Representative Wright did ask you to be part of that. Did you agree to be part of the board of directors?

-56-

A Yes, I did.

Q Did you know any of the other members of the board?

A Yes. At the time we talked about it, Bessie Funderburg, who was again another close political friend of ours and who had been involved in the formation of the Community Health Center--at the time, I understood that Bessie and I and Thomas were to be the board. I didn't--I didn't--I don't recall James Lofton. I knew James Lofton, but I don't recall--I didn't recall his being on that board, but I know that from the articles of incorporation that he was, as well.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart, let me interrupt you just so I'm clear on what we're looking at. On Exhibit Number 1, your question was whether he--this shows that he's a member of the board of directors. But I think that the--Number 6 says an "address of an incorporator." Am I correct that it was an incorporator as opposed to the--on that Exhibit 1?

MR. HART: That--that's correct, as to the exhibit.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you.

MR. HART: Yes.

Q (By Mr. Hart) So you're listed as one of those incorporators on Exhibit 1--
A Yes.
Q --is that correct?
A Yes, that is correct.
Q Were you also supposed to be part of the board of directors of the--
A Yes.
Q --corporation?
A Yes. That's what I--how I understood it.
Q Okay. And--
A Bessie, he, and I were going to make up this board, was my understanding.
Q All right. Did you have--were you told what your title was going to be on the board?
A I think I was to be treasurer, Bessie was to be secretary, Thomas was to be president.
Q All right. Now, as--as you note, your signature is--is not on this document, correct?
A It is not.
Q Okay. Were you part of the filing of that document with the Secretary of State?
A Only in my name being there. I knew--I was sure that it was being done. Thomas and I had incorporated, too--the New Hanover Community Health Center was a 501(c)(3), and we had gone through the steps of doing that together, having attorneys prepare the papers, having accountants prepare the work with the IRS. And then for the Access III of the Lower Cape Fear, we had gone through that process together, as well. And I knew that he was familiar with how--how to do that, so I--my understanding was that that was in process.

Q Okay. So you have actually been involved with two other incorporations and two other boards with him, as well?
A That's correct.
Q And that was the New Hanover Community Health Center?
A Center.
Q And you also said Access III--
A Of the Lower Cape Fear. That's--that's the Medicaid--the managed Medicaid program that started out in two pilots, one in the Greenville--well, three, one in Cabarrus County, one in the Greenville area, one in--in Asheville. And the Secretary was anxious that it be a statewide program, which is--which it is now. But in--I think at about this same time--excuse me--at about this same time--at about this same time--I'm sorry. I sort of lost my train of thought here with my spilling of coffee.

THE WITNESS: Thanks.
A I'm sorry. Just give me a second here.
I'm sorry. I sort of lost where I was in that--
Q I'll--I'll bring you back.
A Okay.
Q I may have misunderstood. I--I thought I heard you say "Access Three." Is it Access Free, F-R-E-E?
A No, Access III of the Lower Cape Fear.
Q Is that the number three?
A A-C-C-E-S-S Three. There was Access I--
Q Okay.
A This is how the Medicaid--managed Medicaid started out with Access I. That was requiring Medicaid recipients to pick a doctor. Access II involved some funding into--well, involved some per-patient, per-month funding to the doctors who would sign up for Medicaid. It also involved some funding flowing to the 501(c)(3), or in Duke's case, to Duke, and in East Carolina's case, to East Carolina's foundation. There are different models of this around the state. Most of them, though, are--have involved the formation of 501(c)(3)s in an area.
Ours started out with New Hanover, Pender, Brunswick, Columbus, and Bladen Counties, and then we later added Onslow County. That was added later.
Q Okay. Let me make sure I understand. Did you say that you were both involved in the incorporation of each of those agencies as well as being on the board of directors of each of those?
A Well, I'm sure--I've been through a lot of startup community organizations. The Hospice program in our area was the first. The Community Health Center was the second, and then Access III the third major one that I--that I helped with.
And you start these out with a steering committee for--and Thomas and Bessie Funderburg and other folks along North Fourth Street, where the Center ended up being, were involved in a steering committee for that. While you're getting the legal help and the--the accounting help, it takes about a year. And the same is true with Access III of th

Lower Cape Fear.

Thomas and Torlen Wade and Jim Bernstein and Bill Atkinson, who's now here in Raleigh, were the--and I were the steering committee that sort of started that effort. It started out we were going to do New Hanover-Pender, 'cause that's where the hospital had--and the medical society had its overlap. Bladen County was already working on it. And Bill Atkinson, who's a blue-sky thinker, said, "Well, let's just do the whole southeastern corner of the state." So we did. But it took about a year, and Thomas and I traveled all over those five counties visiting health departments.

We had--on the board was made up of a representative of the health department, a representative from DSS, a physician, and a representative from the hospital in each of those five counties. So it was a twenty-person board.

Representative Wright asked early on that he not be on that board. And--and I was in process of making the steps to end my practice in Wilmington over the next few years, and so I chose not to be on that board, as well. I chaired the steering committee.

And it took us, really, an even year. I can still remember the first meeting at my office with those people I just mentioned, and then a meeting--our final meeting after multiple drafts of bylaws at the library in Bladen County--Ed Nye was there as a speaker that day, just--he was very supportive of the effort--and finally adopting those bylaws.

But at that point-- neither of us were on that board at that point--

Q And that--

A --but we'd been on the steering committee that got it going.

Q And that's as to Access III?

A Access III of the Lower Cape Fear, yes.

Q Okay. But you--you and Representative Wright were both involved in the--the planning, the--

A Exactly.

Q --preparation of bylaws, approval of bylaws?

A Yes. Exactly.

Q Okay. And on the New Hanover Health Center, were you--the same kind of process, you were involved in--

A Same thing there. He and I and Bessie and Dallas

Flood and some other folks, residents of the community there in the inner city of Wilmington, were involved in that steering committee, got through, again, those legal hurdles and accounting hurdles to get it set up and established.

And in that situation, I did become chairman of that board, and Thomas was vice-chairman, and so we did--we worked as the steering committee. We both were on that board as volunteers. There was no compensation involved in that.

Q Okay. Is--that's your understanding of--of most boards of directors, that--and I believe you've been on a number of boards of directors over your time?

A Correct, yeah.

Q And they don't--do not involve compensation to the board members, correct?

A Usually not. There are some instances where they do.

Q Okay. Now, you said you and Representative Wright were both involved in the New Hanover Health Center as incorporators. Did--did you prepare and approve bylaws for that organization?

A Yes. Yes, we did.

Q Did you have regular meetings of the board of directors?

A Yes.

Q Did you approve money issues that came up as far as expenditures and donations and things of that nature?

A Yes.

Q When it came time that you were involved in the incorporation of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, with Representative Wright, was there a similar process as what you had gone through in these other two?

A I think that--this was not my project, so I wasn't really focused on that. This was Thomas's project. And I--and I knew it would take about a year or more to get through the--I assumed that that was--was going on.

Q Did you participate in any preparation of bylaws for the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A I did not.

Q Was there any passage of bylaws for that--

A Not during that--

Q --organization?

A --that year or eighteen months that I was involved. Apparently--there was testimony yesterday that they do exist--

THE CHAIR: No, no, no, no--

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.

A Okay.

Q At least factoring 2001, 2002, 2003, were you aware of--of any meetings of the board of directors of the Community Health Foundation?

A Only the meetings that--that Thomas and I had. Bessie Funderburg became very ill late in that period, and actually died, unfortunately, so--but we did not--we did not meet other than issues--Thomas and I met regarding the building that was purchased.

Q Okay. But were there actually any board meetings, as such?

A No.

Q Were there any bylaws passed by you and Representative Wright?

A No.

Q Were you asked by Representative Wright at any time about approval of any expenditures or how to receive contributions, any of that--anything like that?

A I don't recall being asked to do that.

Q Now, at some point--you--you--you spoke of this as being Representative Wright's organization. And what do you--what did you mean by that?

A Well, this is--I had--well, there were lots of people involved, but--in the Hospice project that I'd worked on and the Community Health Center project, and I had been involved as a--in a major way and took responsibility for getting the legal help, getting the contributions in to fund the legal help, to fund the accounting help, that sort of thing. And I was not in that role in this situation.

This was Thomas's project, and--and I felt that he was carrying out those roles that I had carried out in those other projects.

Q All right. Were you ever asked by Representative Wright to do any act as treasurer of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A Yes, we--I was asked to meet him at an attorney's office to sign the loan papers for the building--for a building on North Fourth Street, which was right across the street from the Community Health Center, and had some historic significance in that--at least urban legend in Wilmington is that the first black person murdered and shot in the streets was shot right there between the Community Health Center and that building. So--(pauses)--

Q And to the best you can recall, was that the first time that you were asked to do anything as treasurer?

A Yes.

Q Tell us--tell us what you remember about that particular experience.

A Well, it was a--a typical closing. I guess I've sat there through most of them with Karen over the years--you know, there's a big pile of papers that the lawyer hands you, and you sign it and hope--hope for the best--has been what I've done for the most part. And it's turned out pretty well. So--so it was one of those occasions. There were huge piles of paper that I--I signed and Thomas signed and--

Q All right. So you were simply there to sign your name as treasurer of the organization--

A That's--that's correct.

Q --the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A That's correct. And I felt good about doing that. I--I was--I felt that it was an important thing to do and was certainly very enthusiastic and sympathetic with what Thomas was trying to do there.

Q And I take it in addition to signing the--the papers for the purchase of the property, you also signed the loan papers for Coastal Federal Bank. Is that correct?

A I--I guess so. I--I--I guess they were part of that.

Q Okay. Were you involved in any way in the loan application process at Coastal Federal Bank?

A I was not. When I--when Thomas called me about "It's time to get on with this," that was all in place, and I just went and met him and got on with that act.

Q All right. During the time preceding you going and signing the papers, had you had any discussions with Representative Wright as to how he was going to be able to pay the payments for the loan?

A No. But I did--after--I remember walking out of the lawyer's office, 'cause I, you know, signed--the practice that a friend of mine and I from Chapel Hill started in '71 when I retired had, you know, over seventy doctors and twenty-five Pas, and during the course of thirty-four years, I had put my name on a lot of loans. I tried not to ever sign anything that I couldn't pay off myself. And the--I certainly could have paid this off myself, but--so I asked him as we left, you know, "Thomas, how are we going to pay for this?"

And--and he said that he felt that he--there would be a combination of three things, that--some State appropriations that he was working on; he was working with the federal government, the Parks Service, on their historic--I'm not sure what the actual name of it is, but it has to do with historic properties, and hoping to have some grant funds from them, and then was hoping for private donations and corporate donations to the Community's Health Foundation that would end up putting together enough funds to take care of this money that we had just borrowed.

And--so I felt--I'd--I had worked on--with him for a long time, and I felt confident that that would happen. So--

Q Okay. You were here yesterday during the testimony?

A Yes.

Q You--were you able to hear the testimony of Torlen Wade and the letter that--hear about the letter that he wrote--

A Yeah.

Q --for Representative Wright?

A Yes.

Q Were you aware of that letter at all prior to the time you signed the loan application?

A No, I was not.

Q Did there come a time, Dr. Gottovi, that you became aware that the--the loan was not being repaid?

A Yes.

Q Tell us how you first became aware of that.

A I went home from work one day and went out to the mailbox and got the mail, and there was a certified letter from the bank saying that the loan was overdue and going into foreclosure. That was the first that I was aware that there was a problem there. I had assumed that what had been proposed was happening during the course of the year, and it hadn't. So that's when I became aware that there was a problem.

Q Okay. And was--that was a short-term loan, was it not, a six-month loan, hundred and eighty days? Do you--you recall--

A Yes, I--when the--Agent Umphlet went over things with me, apparently midway through the year I had signed a renewal of that loan. And I think--I--I think it was renewed without any request at that point for further funds. So I had signed something--I think it was six months, and then at the end of twelve months is when I think the--the bank became concerned that no money had flowed in to pay on the interest or the principal on the loan. And that's when they sent out a letter to me and I--and, I guess, the other board members that it was in default, or going into default.

Q All right. And what happened at that time?

A Well, I--I--I called Thomas. And--and he said, you know, "I'm still working on it," that it had not--"This was not a good year in the legislature," and I know that that happens, and there weren't a whole lot of funds to draw on for special projects. So that--those funds had not come through. And it did--didn't surprise me that--that a black legislator, Democratic legislator was probably not having a whole lot of success with the Department of the Interior, which was controlled by others.

And so, you know, the--there was still a grant process going on there with the historic--people that did historic properties, but that--those funds did not come through. And I think at that point there had been no personal or corporate contributions to the Foundation either.

Q Okay. At some point, were you asked to pay some monies on the loan?

A No, I wasn't asked to. I--after talking to Thomas, I went--I never had defaulted on anything in my--in life. I'm not a very good financial person. Karen knows I balance my checkbook at the ATM machine. But I had never defaulted on anything. I'd always--you know, sort of basic rules of life, you know, pay your mortgage and your utilities, and then pay your lawyers and your accountants--that's in--in business--and keep on their good side.

But any--anyway, no, I went down and--and talked to--to the gentleman that was here yesterday to see--

Q Is that Ronnie Burbank?

A Yes. Yes. That was the first time I'd ever met him. He was not at the closings. In the closings, all that paperwork had been done in an attorney's office.

So, anyway I said, "What--what can we do about this?" And he said, well, he would--you know, that was a branch of a bank--I think the bank is South Carolina-based--"I'm just getting some pressure--I did this in good faith 'cause I felt it was a--a good project, and I knew it was somewhat risky"--and he talked--I'm sorry. I'm not supposed to talk about what was said yesterday.

But, well, he--he did say to me, "I--I wanted to do something--our bank wanted to do something in this community, and that's why I willing to do this."

So I--I asked if there was any way we could extend it. And I volunteered--I wasn't asked, 'cause--it's interesting. I--in all that pile of paper flying by, I wasn't sure that I hadn't signed a personal guarantee. But he hadn't required--as he said yesterday, he had not required a personal guarantee.

So--but I asked if I could extend the loan. So I--I did--I paid the interest personally.

I--again, I--those papers--between our move from Wilmington here, we've got storage units in three places, I think, and--I--I haven't been able to find--but--but Agent Umphlet was able to find those documents.

So, I think it ended up about--let's see--forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600) or so to get a ninety--that was the interest to extend the loan for ninety days, because I wanted to give Thomas some more time and--and--and felt that we might be able to intro--interest some of the folks in Wilmington. There's a very active development--was very active development going on along the North Fourth Street corridor. I felt the, you know, developers, inner-city developers that I knew well might be interested in helping with this or taking over this property.

The mayor of Wilmington at the time was a--is a downtown businessman, has several restaurants, several businesses. I talked to him. He was actually very excited and tried to put together a group to consider it.

So anyway, the ninety days was to give some time to do that. Unfortunately, none of that--the developers--it really didn't fit with their business plan. The mayor was not able to come up with any funds.

So at the end of the ninety-day period it was going to go--I'd sort of done what I was willing to put into that personally. And at the end of the ninety-day period the bank was actually going to put it up on the auction block at the courthouse. And I--I think the inner-city developers were going to go down and probably try to steal it at that point, but the bank decided to take over the ownership and--of the building. And that's--that's how it was left.

Q All right. The--the time period where you said you paid the forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600) in interest, you said that was twelve months after the original loan?

A About that, yeah.

Q And that would put it at about spring of 2003?

A I--I guess so, right.

Q And then it--there was another ninety-day extension?

A Right.

Q And then after that was when it was--

A Exactly. Exactly.

Q Okay. And you didn't make any further payments after that?

A No. No.

Q Okay. And is that--that's when it went into default?

A Yes.

Q Okay. During the time period from when you first became involved in signing the loan papers and there were all these issues about whether you'd be able to pay the loan, were the any board meetings of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A There were not as such. I mean, I had times with Bessie Funderburg. I had times with Thomas. I don't think we were ever necessarily together at a time we talked about these matters the three of us, though. So I think--I think not.

Q Aside from being asked to sign the--the loan papers and the property purchase papers, were you ever asked to anything as far as treasurer of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A No, no, not that I can recall doing.

Q I'm going to ask you, sir, if you'd look at Exhibit Number 6 in your notebook.

A Okay.
Q Would you take a look at--at that letter? Have you ever seen it before?
A I--I have not.
Q Okay. Did you have anything to do with authorizing or sending that letter to Anheuser-Busch, Incorporated?
A I did not.
Q Okay. If you'd look at Exhibit Number 7, please--
A I have it.
Q You've not seen that before?
A No.
Q Did--did there come a time in March or April of 2004 that you became aware that Anheuser-Busch had contributed five thousand dollars ($5,000) to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?
A No.
Q You were never aware of this contribution?
A No.
Q Did you or the board approve Thomas Wright putting that money in his own account?
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
THE CHAIR: Basis?
PROF. JOYNER: Speculation.

THE CHAIR: Overruled. You may answer the question.
A We did not, but I--I do not know--there may well have been bylaws that allow him to do that. So I--I can't say that there weren't contingencies or bylaws in place that allowed him to do that. I don't know.
Q Okay. Well, let--let me ask you this, Dr. Gottovi: You told me that the board never met?
A That's--that--that's correct, not in a formal way. Correct.
Q And never prepared or approved any bylaws?
A That's--that's correct.
Q So there couldn't be any bylaws that would allow him to do this, correct?
A I--I don't know the--
PROF. JOYNER: Objection.
A I--
THE CHAIR: Wait a minute. Basis?
PROF. JOYNER: Because his answer--the answer speaks for itself.
THE CHAIR: Yeah, I'm--that--that one's sustained.
Q But at least you're not aware of any approval of Representative Wright being able to take this check and deposit it into his own personal account, correct?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection. Same objection.
THE CHAIR: Overruled as to that. Please answer.
A I'm not aware of it.
Q Okay. You were not part of any approval process?
A No.
Q And you were still on the board at that time and still treasurer, as far as you know?
A I didn't think I was. I thought that when this building project collapsed that--that the Foundation had as well. So--but I never, you know, checked with the Secretary of State or submitted a formal letter of resignation, even after I had moved up here. So I--I-- Q Was part of the reason that you thought that the Foundation had essentially ended the fact that there were no board meetings?
A No, I--I just felt the main project that we had taken on had--had failed, and I--I really didn't think much more about it. I was involved in lots of other things, sort of closing down my practice there, mending a relationship with my wife--just had a lot of other things on my mind.

Q Okay. I'll ask you, if you would, to look at Exhibit Number 8.
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize that particular document, sir?
A No.
Q Were you as a board member, as the treasurer, involved in sending a letter to AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, Mr. Brian Shank, requesting a charitable contribution for the Community Health Foundation?
A I was not.
Q Okay. I'll ask you, if you would, sir, to look at Exhibit Number 10. Do you recognize that document, sir?
A No.
Q Did you at any time handle that particular check?
A No.
Q At any time, did you become aware that AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals in 2003 or 2004 had contributed twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400) to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A No, I did not, not until SBI Agent Umphlet met with me and asked me that same question.
Q All right. As to that particular contribution and that particular check, sir, did you or the board ever approve Representative Wright cashing that check or putting that check in his own personal account?
A No, we did not.
Q I'll ask you to look at Exhibit Number 11, sir.
A I have it.
Q Do you recognize that document?
A No.
Q Were you in September of 2003 or thereabouts involved in seeking a charitable contribution from AT&T for the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?
A I was not, personally.
Q Did--did you or the board approve that request?
A I did not.
Q Okay. I'll ask you to look at Exhibit Number 13, sir.
A I have it.
Q Do you recognize that particular check?
A No.

Q Do--did you at some point become aware, as treasurer of the Community Health Foundation and as a board member, of the fact that AT&T had sent a check for fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) to the Community Health Foundation as a charitable contribution?
A I was not aware of that.
Q Did you and--and/or the board approve Representative Wright taking that check and putting it into his own personal account?
A I did not.
Q Are you aware of any board action in doing so?
A I am not.
Q Okay.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, we--may I have just a moment?

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

Q Dr. Gottovi, earlier you testified that when you were involved in the incorporation of the Community Health Center and Access III that you were involved with the process of--of setting up the organizations. And you spoke about knowing that attorneys had worked on the files and accountants had worked on the files to obtain 501(c)(3) recognition, correct?

A That's correct.
Q Were you aware of any similar planning and preparation, working with attorneys or accountants, on the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?
A I assumed it was going on. I wasn't aware of it, though. I wasn't involved in any conversations, but--
Q All right. When you were involved in those conversations and the other two organizations, was Representative Wright also involved in that as well?
A I--I--I believe so. We worked really as a team on those--both of those projects. So I--I think, in terms of picking attorneys and picking accounting firms--we tried to--tried to use firms that either were minority firms or had minorities involved in them in a major way. So I--yes. I'm sorry.
Q Okay. Earlier you indicated that usually board members are not entitled to compensation. Have there been--it leads me to ask you whether or not there have been some occasions where you were aware that organizations you were involved in--that board members were entitled to some kind of compensation.

A I can't think of any that I was involved in personally.
Q Okay. Did you, as treasurer of the Community Health Foundation, ever open a checking account for that organization?
A I did, when I was working with the--the banker who was here yesterday, open an account--I mean, I wrote a check for--I think for a hundred dollars out of my checking--our family checking account to get an account under way. And then when I put the funds in to pay for the ninety-day extension, they went in--well, I think they were--it was really pretty much a pass-through.

I wrote the checks to the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., there at the desk at the bank and--and signed them over immediately to--to the bank. The hundred dollars did remain in that checking account.
Q So the account--the actual checking account that you're talking about you passed the funds through, that was open from the time that you signed the loan papers and purchased the property?
A No. There--there may well have been a checking account opened. It was opened at the time that I received the notice that the property was going into default and went down to--to--and arranged with the banker for a ninety-day extension, which I paid for personally.

Q Okay. So that's the first time, at least that you were aware, that there was an actual checking account for the Community Health Foundation?

A That--that's correct, yes.

Q And that would have been in the spring of 2003, approximately somewhere in that range?

A I guess so. I'm--I'm--I get those dates--

Q Okay. That was that--that twelve months--

A Yes. Right.

Q --after the original closing?

A Exactly. Exactly.

Q Okay. Did you at any point thereafter close that account?

A No, I did not.

Q So as far as you know, that account would still have been open in 2003 and 2004?

A I think not. Again, SBI Agent Umphlet actually came back to our house to ask me specifically about that, and--and had the monthly statements on that account that, you know, showed the--the bank charges. And over--I'm not sure--I don't remember how many months it was, but over a period of time my hundred dollars was gone in--in bank charges, and I think the bank closed the account at that point. And I'm not--I don't remember what the date was. I know Agent Umphlet has that information.

Q Okay. Dr. Gottovi, did you ever seek reimbursement for the forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600) in interest that you paid from--from the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A No, I did not.

Q Other than the one-hundred-dollar deposit and the forty-six-hundred-dollar deposit that you made for interest, did you make any deposits or withdrawals from that account?

A I did not.

MR. HART: That's all the questions I have, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much. Cross--cross-examination?

PROF. JOYNER: Dr. Gottovi, thank you for your testimony. Let me--let me--let me just raise with the Chair as to your plans for lunch.

THE CHAIR: The Chair would be delighted to share those. I'm going to ask us to go to close to one, and then if you have cross to continue, we'll continue it after lunch. I don't anticipate being finished with this witness till after lunch. I know that there will be some Committee questions. The--so I'd like to go ahead and get as much done as we can, but you--if you have questions after lunch, I'll hold the witness.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, I was trying to avoid breaking up the examination, but if that's how you want to handle it, that's--that's fine.

THE CHAIR: I'd like to at least get as much--since we were delayed in starting and--but I'll be glad to allow you time after lunch as well.

PROF. JOYNER: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Sorry, Dr. Gottovi.

THE WITNESS: No, that's okay.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Dr. Gottovi, you indicated that you came to Wilmington around 1971, 1972. And if I'm correct, that was around the time that there was significant racial turmoil in Wilmington; is that correct?

A That is--that is very correct.

Q And--and as a result of or during that turmoil, I believe, you had occasion to meet Representative Wright's brother?

A Yes, I did.

Q And--and Representative Wright's brother was eventually involved in the Wilmington Ten case?

A That's correct. He was hauled out from under his bed, where he was hiding, by the police.

Q And you were involved pretty actively in those defense efforts, were you not?

A Yes.

Q And--and--and as a result of that, you formed a relationship with the Wright family?

A I did.

Q And pretty close relationship with the Wright family?

A Very--very close.

Q And you knew Representative Wright's parents well?

A Yes.

Q As well as his sister, Dale?

A Yes.

Q And--and I believe at--at that time Representative Wright was a lot younger--

A He was.

Q --certainly than he is right now?
A He had dark black hair all over his head when I first met him in the emergency room.
Q And since that time, could you kind of describe your involvement with the Wright family and Representative Wright in particular?
A Well, let me speak to the Wright family first. Karen and I were both very upset about the way these ten--ten--I guess nine of them were teenagers, and Mr. Chavis was not a teenager. But Thomas' brother was a teenager when this happened, and--and frightened, and--and sick, too. He had sarcoidosis, and died prematurely because of that disease and our state's inadequate healthcare--well, anyway, that's another matter.

But we--we did become involved. We were involved politically with Governor Hunt's campaign and, I know, petitioned Governor Hunt along with a lot of other people over what we felt was inappropriate prolonged incarceration of his brother and--and the others.

And--and when--when Joe was finally released, he came back to Wilmington and had a very hard time finding work. Karen was a--I think a county commissioner at the time and helped him get employment through the--at the Department of Social Services. So we were--and one of our mutual friends was a city councilman that--who lived in--a Caucasian city councilman, who lived downtown, though, and had a monthly social gathering at their home. And--and Thomas's mother and Joe and--and Thomas and Dale were often there.

So we had a lot of social contact with them in addition to the projects that we--I think the things we've worked on all happened later, after that. But--but it was--it was very--a very close relationship with his family.

Q And it was as a result of that close relationship that you formed with the family that you then got involved in these other community self-help efforts that Representative Wright was involved in?
A I--I think that's accurate, yes.
Q And--and--and with--with respect to--to these efforts, though, some of those were efforts that you initiated, and others were efforts that he initiated; is that right?
A Yes. Yes.
Q So you both were kind of thinking along the same path?

A Yes.
Q All right. And he was involved extensively in healthcare issues in the--in the Wilmington community?
A Yes.
Q Now, you--you talked about--well, let me just--you--you talked about your involvement with the Community Health Center?
A Yes.
Q Now, is that one of the projects that you and Representative Wright helped to put together?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Could you talk about how--how that developed?
A Sort of several steps involved.

Torlen Wade and Jim Bernstein came to the New Hanover/Pender/Brunswick County Medical Society meeting one--I remember it was a pretty cold November night--to talk about--and there was a representative from the State medical society there--talked with--the medical society had an Access program that was developed in the Asheville area that--they talked about that and trying to get more physicians to accept Medicare assignment.

And--and the--when the whole issue--and--and Bernstein and Wade were there to talk about, again, trying to get cooperation with this Access I, getting more primary-care doctors to be willing to take on Medicaid recipients into their practice.

And one of the pediatricians, actually one of my partners, raised his hand and said, "What if there"--you know, "What if there aren't enough family docs and internists and--and pediatricians in our three counties to take care of them?"

And Jim Bernstein, who--and Jim and Torlen Wade are really the heroes of health care for the poor in this state. And Jim Bernstein was the first person to mention in my presence, "Well, some communities form a community health center."

And that--you know, that--the meeting ended, and we all went home. And about four months later there was an article in the Wilmington Star-News that inner-city Wilmington had been declared pretty much a federal disaster area by the department--by the public health service, which made it eligible for community health service grants. And Torlen Wade, he and I had worked--he and Jim and I had worked on a project--interestingly enough, Carolina Beach, which is now a thriving metropolis, was--was in the '70s still a rural area. And--and--I'm terrible--I'm trying to think of the senator's name--but worked with them to get a rural health center on Carolina Beach. Anyway, that's--that's--had worked on that.

And--and so--but Torlen called me as he got the word from the feds as well, "Hey," you know, "And what about our working on a community health center?" So, again, the steering committee--I think there's a famous woman who said, "Nothing--don't think that great things can't happen in this world by a small group of people working on it."

And a steering committee was put together--this was before Bill Atkinson came, but the hospital director at the time--Thomas Wright, who was involved in the part of the community that was affected. I was there on behalf of the medical society. The AHEC director, Bill McMillan, was there. I--we had a group of about five or six people that, again, became the steering committee for that effort.

Torlen Wade, who's a superior grantsman, got a grant from the--I think, K.P. [phonetic] Reynolds for forty thousand dollars to put together--the application for a federally-qualified health center is about three--is about that thick. (Indicating.) And it--it took the forty thousand dollars to do the paperwork and get all the help to get that done. So--but Thomas and I worked intimately. Thomas was pretty much the community representative from that part of the city that was involved, and worked on that--again, that was probably a year's process or more to do that.

So that--that's--that's--that was our first really close work together, on that project.

Q Okay. Now, did you--the steering committee that you were referring to, did they engage in the effort of incorporating the Community Health--Health Center in conjunction with Torlen Wade and Jim Bernstein?

A Yes.

Q All right. Now, Torlen Wade, is that the same Torlen Wade that testified yesterday?

THE WITNESS: Is it all right for me to answer that?

THE CHAIR: Sure.

A Yes.

Q And who is Jim Bernstein?

A Jim Bernstein--again, Jim Bernstein was in--getting his Ph.D. in public health at Chapel Hill when I was finishing my pulmonary fellowship there, and we worked on--started--sort of my legislative lobbying began then. We worked on day-care regulation, day-care-center regulation, health regulations, which were nonexistent in--in North Carolina at that time. The department of pediatrics and Jim and I and others worked on that project.

Jim went on to form what became the Office of Rural Health and Community Development, and--and Torlen was there in the School of Public Health at the time, and the two of them then carried that effort forward.

Jim, unfortunately--he was assistant secretary for health. Karen and I lob--lobbied hard to get him to be secretary, but Easley didn't--or Hunt didn't listen, but anyway-- another matter. We--

THE CHAIR: I think this is as good a time as any--

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. I'm sorry.

THE CHAIR: --to take a break for lunch.

THE WITNESS: Oh, okay. I'm--I'm sorry. to--

THE CHAIR: That's--oh, no, it's really--

THE WITNESS: --to drabble [phonetic] on.

THE CHAIR: Not a problem.

PROF. JOYNER: No, no, no. No, you're doing fine. You're doing fine.

THE CHAIR: I think that what we'll do, if we can, is we'll come back--and I would ask that we kind of just stay to the hour, so we'll come back at ten of two. That'll give us an hour for lunch. And we'll pick up with cross-examination at that time. Thank you.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Before we break, just--Members of the Committee, I need to give you this admonition: Before we break, I want to again remind members of the Committee, the attorneys for the Committee and Representative Wright, Representative Wright, and members of the public that because we are now in deliberative, fact-finding stage, I think it would be appropriate that the members of the Committee refrain from discussing this matter with the press, the Committee's outside legal counsel, Representative Wright's counsel, Representative Wright until after the Committee deliberations are completed.

I will also ask Mr. Hart, Mr. Peters, Dr. Joyner, Mr. Harris and Representative Wright to refrain from discussing evidence in the case with Committee members other than the Chair during this time. I will also ask members of the public to not approach Committee members or witnesses in the matter until after deliberations are completed. And I believe that this hearing can proceed fairly to all parties involved if we follow these suggestions. I have asked the sergeant-at-arms to assist in assuring compliance with this request.

Have a good lunch. Thank you.

(LUNCH RECESS)

THE CHAIR: Dr. Gottovi, if you want to resume the stand, please. And just a reminder that you are under oath. Dr. Joyner, back with cross-examination for you?

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Dr. Gottovi, I believe when we--when we broke for lunch we were talking about the creation of the Community Health Center--

A I believe so.

Q --and your involvement and the involvement of Representative Wright, who I believe at that time was a city councilman; is that correct?

A I believe so. It was before his legislative--

Q Before he became--

A --career, yes.

Q But he was--he did have an official position with the City of Wilmington?

A I believe so. I don't remember the dates of that, but I believe so.

Q Okay.

A He was a city councilman, and I don't know if it was at that time or not.

Q All right. Now, in--you also indicated that you worked on this Access III--

A Yes.

Q --venture.

A Yes.

Q And did--did that involve an incorporation effort, as well?

A Yes, it did.

Q And what was Representative Wright's role in that?

A He and I--well, we were on the steering committee. Bill Atkinson, Thomas, myself were the local members of that steering committee. We then involved folks from each of the five counties involved on a steering committee that--that went forward. But he was very much involved in putting that together.

Q All right. And you and he were really the instigators of that effort; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q And did a lot of traveling around to meet with people, and you basically chose the people who would become the steering committee, didn't you?

A We did. We--the model that was given to us by Jim Bernstein and Torlen Wade that was used in other areas had a representative from Department of Social Services, from the health department, the hospital, and the medical society in--in each community. And so we--and--and Thomas knew, because a lot of these counties were in his district or adjoined it, the rural counties--I didn't know as many of the people in those positions. So he did most of the work with health departments and DSS's. I did the work with the hospitals and medical societies to get a representative from each.

I think we asked--as I recall, we approached, like, the head of DSS in, say, Bladen County and said--told them what we were doing, "And would you or one of your staff--would you appoint one of your staff people to be on this committee?" And then once we got through the incorporation process, they became the actual board, these representatives from each of those bodies.

Q All right. So the people who actually worked on it became the board?

A That's--that's correct.

Q And during those efforts, both you and he incurred expenses associated with that, did you not?

A We did.

Q All right. And you were not--you were in private practice, I believe?

A Yes.

Q All right. And with respect to the expenses that you--that you incurred, how was--how was that handled?

-101-

A We--Jim Bernstein and Torlen--there was a foundation called the--it's--and still exists in North Carolina--Foundation for Advanced Healthcare. It's a foundation that Bernstein had established. And we submitted monthly invoices to them for--for our time and our travels in--in doing that work.

Q All right. So the expenses that you incurred, you were reimbursed for those?

A Yes. Yes.

Q And that was from a grant that you were able to--well, at least Jim Bernstein and Torlen Wade were able to--to put together; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And, now, there were other efforts as well in which you and--and Representative Wright dealt with the development and incorporation of community efforts; is that correct?

A Well, the two that I recall in detail were--were the New Hanover Community Health Center and the Access III of the Lower Cape Fear. Those were the two major ones that--if there were others, I need to be reminded.

Q Now, when--once the Community Health Center was established, you and Representative Wright became board members; is that right?

-102-

A That's correct.

Q And--and I believe at some point you became chair of that board?

A Yes. Yes.

Q Do you recall when you became chair of the board?

A I was the initial chair. Thomas was vice-chair. I don't remember what year we actually--that it actually happened. And we hired a--an executive director and hired a medical director and--and had--we had--initial space was near the--what had been the community--not the community hospital--the community hospital was the black hospital in Wilmington--but near the old James Walker Hospital.

It was--the hospital had been demolished. The nurses' dorm was there, and there were several doctors' offices across the street. And we rented one of those doctor's offices as--that's where the Community Health Center started functioning.

And then with the help of Gene Merritt [phonetic], were able to put together parcels of land on North Fourth Street where the current center--we had a commitment of a million dollars from the New Hanover Regional Medical Center--Bill

-103-

Atkinson was the head of that at that point--I think a quarter of a million dollars from the City to help with putting through the parcels of land--putting together the parcels of land, and ultimately were able to construct that facility.

We had a wonderful, actually, black architect with Ballard, McKim & Sawyer, who was the architect who designed the facility, and--anyway, we finally opened the doors and moved to that center that's--the facility that's the current site.

Q And Representative Wright was instrumental in obtaining those funds necessary for the building and purchasing of those parcels of land?

A Yes, he was.

Q Right. And, in fact, over the years, he was very instrumental in obtaining quite a few grants and appropriations of both state and federal that went into this community health initiative; is that correct?

A Yes, he was.

Q All right. And you were familiar with the fact that he had a lot of contacts that he was able to utilize that brought in funds for--for the community health effort?

-104-

A That's--that's correct.

Q Now, there was a--well, around this time Representative Wright was elected to the legislature; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q All right. And as a member of the legislature, did he continue his work in the healthcare area in--in Wilmington and Southern Cape Fear?

A Yes, he did.

Q All right. And was he, as a result of his position in the legislature, able to then get additional state grants and appropriations for the work that you were doing?

A I believe so. I--I couldn't enumerate them, but I--I--I think that probably is the case.

Q Right. From time to time, y'all talked about the fact that he was making an attempt to--to get certain appropriations for the Community Health Center?

A Yes.

Q All right. There was a specific effort involved where the Community Health Center was expanding its facility?

A Yes.
Q And there was a purchase of a building next door?
A Yes. There was a--a hardware store next door, and--that--again, we purchased the land and the store. It was a pretty contentious process, as I recall. So--
Q Uh-huh (yes). And for the purpose of that, Representative Wright was able to get State appropriations for--to assist in that purchase and renovation of that building; is that correct?
A I believe so. I don't recall those details, but I believe that is the case. We certainly needed that adjoining property. And I don't remember the funding stream that ended up acquiring it, but--
Q At--at some point, the Community Health Center, I believe, was involved in an effort to obtain the building across the street as well?
A We had conversations about that, because, again, we were--we had added dental services that were--actually--actually, barely had enough space to function, and--and the thought of moving some of the administrative offices across the street to--to the building that--that we attempted to purchase--those conversations definitely were held.

I also--when--when Access III of the Lower Cape Fear finally became an entity, the administrator--administrative--the director that we hired was looking for office space, and we wanted to have that centered in the inner city of Wilmington. And Lydia looked at that space. We didn't--we hadn't--I don't think we had even made the purchase at that point, but I know she looked at it. And it really didn't--wasn't going to work out for her needs for the corps of nurses and social workers that she was hiring, so that--that didn't happen. But I know that we would like to have had the option of office space in that building across the street.
Q Okay.
REP. STAM: Mr.--Mr. Chairman?
THE CHAIR: Yes, sir.
REP. STAM: Question. I know we didn't have a forecast of evidence yet, like an opening statement, and we didn't have a forecast of witnesses. Is--is there something we're coming to that will be relevant to the charges?
THE CHAIR: Well, I'm going to--
PROF. JOYNER: Well--well--

THE CHAIR: I'm going to--this is technically cross-examination, so I'm going to allow us to continue to proceed. But--but--obviously Dr. Joyner was creating background, but if--I'm sure he'll be moving fairly quickly to--to points that are related directly to the case, as opposed to just background. But it seems to me that this is fairly important background at this point in the relationship and the understanding of the transactions in Wilmington. Is that where we're-- PROF. JOYNER: Well, that's what I'm trying to do, Mr. Chairman.
THE CHAIR: Yeah. Okay. So we'll--
REP. STAM: I withdraw my objection.
THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. You may proceed.
PROF. JOYNER: I mean, apparently I'm losing some--someone if they don't understand where we are.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Dr. Gottovi, the building across the street is--and this is just my terminology--is--was the Lofton building; is that correct?
A That's--that's correct.

Q That's--yeah. And that is the--the same building that Representative Wright, through the Community Health Foundation and yourself, signed the note for the purchase of?
A That's--that's correct.
Q Okay. Now, do you recall how--the time span between the time that the Community Health Center had discussions about the purchase of that--of that--of the Lofton building and the time that Representative Wright and yourself began to discuss the effort to purchase it for--as a part of the Community Health Foundation?
A Yeah. I really don't recall the details of the timing there. I'm sorry.
Q But you--you do know that you and Representative Wright had a discussion about creating this Community Health Foundation for the purpose of purchasing the Lofton building, and then using that for an 1989 museum, for office space for the Foundation, and possible office space for the Community Health Center?
THE CHAIR: Well, let's hang on one minute. Can we just break that up, 'cause that a whole lot in one--you might want to ask him a couple questions there--

PROF. JOYNER: Okay.
THE CHAIR: --just so I'm clear what he's answering.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) You and Representative Wright had some discussion regarding the purchase of the Lofton building?
A Yes.
Q All right. And the purpose of that purchase was--or the projection for that purchase was to use that building for an 1989 museum--Wilmington museum?
A Yes. Yes.
Q Office space for the Community Health Foundation?
A Yes.
Q And possible office space for the Community Health Center?
A Yes.
Q And for other community efforts; is that--
A Yes.
Q All right. And this was before the actual incorporation of--of that--of that organization; is that correct?
A I believe so, but I don't--can't recall that time line in detail. But I believe so.

Q But this was an initiative that Representative Wright approached you with?
A Yes.
Q Now, was that unusual?
A No. For him to approach me about something like--
Q Right.
A No.
Q Would it have--would it have been unusual for you to approach him about an idea that you wanted to pursue?
A No, not at all.
Q All right. So there was nothing out of the ordinary about him coming to you to talk about what his projections were?
A No.
Q Okay.
A That was--
Q And what was your response?
A I--I was happy to proceed. I had worked with him and respected him and happy to--and still do--and was happy to proceed with the effort.
Q And so you have a high level of trust--
A Yes.

Q --in--in Representative Wright?
A Yes.
Q All right. Did--did you talk about possible funding sources for this effort?
A We did.
Q And do you recall what they were?
A They were, hopefully, that things were going well with the revenues of the State of North Carolina, to--to try to get some funds appropriated from the legislature, to try to get some grant funds from the federal government's Department of Interior, the Parks Service that had--oversaw--oversaw historic sites in this country, and then from corporate and personal contributions to the Foundation.
Q And I believe around that time there was the work of the 1898 Wilmington Race Riot Commission?
A Yes. Yes.
Q Right. And there was a lot of publicity around the town and in the area about the efforts that they were engaged in?
A Yes.
Q And were there also a lot of community efforts in the city around this 1898 Wilmington race--race rebellion?

A Yes, there were--
Q Okay.
A --very--very intensive and extensive, lots of community meetings over a period of a year or two, really a--a--a major effort to heal that wound.
Q Now, would it be safe to--to say that based on your background, your history with Representative Wright, based on what he had been able to do in prior efforts, that you felt pretty comfortable that he would be able to--to secure the funding for that effort?
A Yes, I did.
Q All right. And--and that was one of the reasons that you--you signed on with him?
A Exactly.
Q Now, Mr. Hart asked you about subsequent meetings between you and he regarding this Community Health Foundation, and you indicated that there were--there were not regular meetings. Why--why--was that unusual?
A I guess when we started the effort I thought--as I said, I knew from having done this on several occasions that it took a--a year or more to, you know, put together all of the steps for a new foundation. I guess I expected at some point we would--we would meet and we would talk about--I knew there were other things in his district that needed attention. I thought as funds came in we probably would meet and talk about a grant for, you know, a nurse-practitioner clinic in Brunswick County--that--that was what I envisioned.

But I also know, from having lived with a legislator, there--this is a complex life, and not everything happens that you would like to happen. So I wasn't--I didn't think about it during the course of that year that that loan was ticking away, because I knew he was a busy man.

Q Oh. Well, I'm talking about now the period before you actually obtained the loan. From the period that--that the incorporation in April of 2001 up until the time that you came in to sign the--the loan papers, was it unusual that you and Representative Wright didn't have regular conversations about efforts that he were--he was engaged in to promote the Foundation?

A I don't think it would be unusual. I really wasn't involved in that part of the effort. That was, you know, his--his effort and--more than mine at that point.

Q That was his initiative. So you left it to him--

A That's correct.

Q --to basically work through all of the details?

A That's correct.

Q All right. And when he approached you, then, around--around March of 2002 to sign loan papers, were you under the impression that he had been working successfully in putting together this Foundation effort?

A I was.

Q All right. And is that why you went with him to sign the--the mortgage papers?

A Yes.

Q All right. Did--did you have any discussion at that point about some of the things that--that he had been doing up until that point?

A I don't--I don't recall any discussions, but they may well--certainly may well--we were together a lot, and we may--I mean, we traveled a lot together around that five-county area, so we certainly may have talked about some of those things. I don't recall the specifics of those conversations, though.

Q But when he called on you to--to advise you that--that he had closed or worked out the plans for this loan, you--you weren't taken by surprise?

A No, no. I was not.

Q And that's pretty common--commonly the way that you-all had operated in the past?

A I would say so, yes.

Q Okay. Now, in response to a question from Mr. Hart, you indicated that after you had signed this stack of documents at the lawyer's office in the--in the closing package, you then had some discussion with Representative Wright about "Well, how do you plan to--to come up with the money."

A Or how do we plan to come up with the money.

Q "How do we plan to come up with the money?"

A I felt that it was my responsibility, as well.

Q All right.

A Yes.

Q And what--what is your recollection was his response to that?

A That--that he was hoping to be able to obtain some State appropriations, that he was working on a grant with the federal Department of Interior, and that he was going to work on private and corporate contributions to the Foundation.

Q All right. And was this response consistent with earlier conversation that you had with him about the Community Health Foundation?

A Yes.

Q All right. So this was in--in line with what the initial projections were?

A Yes.

Q Now, you indicated that some things happened that made--from your perspective, made that impossible to achieve?

A I'm not sure what you're referring to. I'm sorry.

Q Well, I don't know--you had--you said something about--in response to a question from Mr. Hart, something about the State budget crisis?

A Oh, right. Well, I--when--when--when the--I got the notice that there hadn't been any payments on the loan, I--and talked to Thomas, it turned out, I think if you look at those years, that it was a difficult time in the State budget. There were not readily available funds for special projects. I think that was the--that was the difficulty.

Q Okay. And then he was not able to successfully handle the appropriations then with respect to the state and federal grants that he was pursuing at that time?

A That's--that's correct.
Q All right. And he told you that as--
A Yes.
Q --as the reason that he had not been successful?
A That's correct.
Q Okay. Were you familiar with--you know, with any of this, well, with the fact that there were some budget constraints?
A Yeah, I'm sure I was at the time. I follow politics pretty carefully both--at both levels, and I'm sure I was aware of revenue issues and--and budget problems. I'm sure I was.
Q All right. Now, when you went in to--to sign the loan--the mortgage--well, the closing package--
A Yes.
Q --did you--did you meet with an attorney?
A Yes.
Q And do you recall if there was a closing statement prepared and circulated and signed?
A I don't remember that. I remember the--that there were a large number of documents that we both had to sign related to both the primary mortgage or primary loan from the bank and also the second mortgage to the Lofton family. There were two separate stacks there. I don't remember a--it probably was in those papers, but I don't remember seeing it.

-118-

Q All right.
A I--we--I signed as quickly as I could to get back to work, to be honest with you.
Q All right. And during--and during that--that signing and the review of the documents that--that were placed in front of you, was there any conversation by anyone about the necessity of having a letter from any State agency guaranteeing an appropriation to secure any of the payment of the funds?
A No, there was definitely not.
Q All right. And you had absolutely no information or no one provided you any information whatsoever about any funds or any letter that had been provided or was to be provided by Torlen Wade?
A No.
Q And you--and you do know who--
A Oh, yes. Yes. I would have known that very clearly, as we worked closely together on other projects.

-119-

Q How soon after the--the closing--after you signed the closing documents did you receive a letter--you said a certified letter from the--from the bank?
A It was a year later.
Q About a year later?
A About a year later.
Q Now, the initial loan was for six months; is that correct?
A That's correct. And I--and I--and I gather--and, again, SBI Agent Umphlet showed me my signature on a document, a renewal of that loan at six months. So I think there probably was a call or a note to come in and--and do that, which I did. I--I--there were--I know there were no funds requested at that time, 'cause I know I didn't provide any funds until the end of that next six-month period, where we extended it for another ninety days.
Q All right. Now, at any point--and I think each time you--you paid some down [phonetic] to allow a ninety-day extension?
A That was after the year. Right. But the six-month period, I think Thomas and I were both asked to sign a six-month extension, which we did. And then there was no more contact, at least with me, from the bank until the end of that six-month period, which was a full year's period, then, since the initial loan, at which time, you know, they were concerned about there not having been any payments on that--

-120-

Q So this initial renewal document that you signed was also signed by Representative Wright?
A I believe so, yes.
Q Okay. Were the two of you together, or did you happen to see his signature on it?
A I--I--I don't know if we were. Probably not, because I think he was back and forth in the legislative session. I think I probably just went down--it was right downtown near where I liked to go for coffee in the morning, and--and just--I think I probably just went over and took care of it one morning, my signature, the six-month signature.
Q All right. At any point, do you know if anyone else paid any interest payments?
A I--I don't know.
Q You don't know that?
A I don't know.

Q You just know that you were--at--at one point, that you paid forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600) to extend for an additional ninety days?
A That's correct. That was at the end of the year.
Q You indicated that around this time you also had--had a meeting with Mr. Burbank?
A That--that was at the end of the year when I got the notice--when we received the notice that they were going to foreclose, essentially. Yes.
Q And in that con--in your conversation with Mr. Burbank, he talked to you about his motivation for granting the loan?
A As I recall, he did, yes.
Q And do you recall what--what basically his motivation was?
A It was that his bank wanted to do some things that--to help with developments in the inner city of Wilmington. And he--he indicated that he knew there was some risk to it but that the bank wanted to--to do that. And I--that certainly is my experience with other--some of the other ventures we've talked about. Bankers stepped forward with the Community Health Center, stepped forward with the Hospice program. When they felt that there was a community need, they were happy to sort of step out there and be a part of it.

Q During that conversation, did Mr. Burbank say anything about a letter guarantee--a letter from Torlen Wade--
A No. No, he did not.
Q So that was never mentioned in any--
A No.
Q --conversation that you had with him?
A No.
Q And this was at the point that there was some crisis in the funding for the--for the purchase of that building?
A Yes.
Q All right. And did you talk with him about the--the failure to be--to obtain appropriations to pay for that?
A I did. I mean, we talked about the fact that Thomas had--had tried and not been able to get the State funds. I think the grant request for the feds was still out there but not likely to be honored because of his political affiliation. And--and the--you know, there hadn't been any contributions, corporate or private, to the effort up to that point.

Q And--but at no point did Mr. Burbank say anything about having received a--a letter from any department of the State of North Carolina indicating that a--an appropriation was forthcoming?
A No. He did not.
Q And you said eventually the bank took over ownership of the building?
A That's correct.
Q All right. In response to questions from Mr. Hart about the failure of the--the Board of Directors to meet, you indicated that there were no formal meetings?
A That's correct.
Q All right. Now, during this time, though, you and Representative Wright did meet?
A We did. And I also met with Bessie Funderburg, who was the other board member I was aware of. I wasn't aware that James Lofton was a member of the board. So I--I was with Bessie Funderburg often, and I--I think probably Thomas and I were with her together at least on one--I'm sure on more than one occasion. But this--this is a long time ago.

Q All right. And do you recall that during those meetings, or any of those meetings, that y'all discussed this effort of the Community Health Foundation?
A I--I don't remember that we did, but we may have.
Q Let me just ask you, as far you knew, who were the board members?
A I thought Thomas and Bessie--Thomas Wright and Bessie Funderburg and I were the board members.
Q So if there was to be a meeting, it would have been just the three of y'all?
A That's correct.
Q And once she--after her death, the board--the only members of the board that would meet would be you and Representative Wright?
A That--that's correct.
Q That's--that's your understanding?
A That was my understanding.
Q Now, at a later point, you--you found out that Mr. James Lofton was also listed as an incorporator?
A That's correct.
Q Do--did--did you know if he was a designated mem of the board?

A I--I did not.
Q Okay. You had no information that he was a member of the board?
A No. In fact, I did not think he was. I think--I thought Thomas, when we talked about it, said that he and Bessie Funderburg and I would be the board.
Q So at any point that you and Representative Wright met and talked about this building, that was, in essence, a board meeting?
A I guess, in essence, it was.
Q I mean, you were the only members of it, right?
A That's--that's correct.
Q All right. Just for the--this Committee's information, who is James Lofton?
A James Lofton is a retired longshoreman. And--(pauses)--
Q Well, what is his--do--do you know his relationship to the building that you were seeking to purchase?
A Right. His wife--I believe the building was in James and Helen's name. Helen Lofton is a--a nurse that I had worked with on the medical ward at New Hanover Regional Medical Center since day one for thirty-four years. And Helen is currently on the board of trustees of the hospital down there. I mean, she's a--just a substantial, respected woman in the community.

Q All right. But James and Helen Lofton were the owners of--of the building that you were trying to purchase?
A Yeah, I believe so. I can't remember if Wayne--their son Wayne was an owner or not. I know he had his business offices there, at least for a while.
Q Okay. Now, we were talking about James and Helen, and you--you interjected Wayne. Now, who--who is Wayne? Is--
A Wayne is their son.
Q Wayne is their son?
A Yes.
Q All right. And Wayne had an office in the--in the Lofton building?
A That's correct.
Q All right. So with respect to the work of the Community Health Foundation, one of its incorporators was the owner of the building?
A That's correct.
Q But based on the information that--that you had at the time, he was not a member of the board?
A That's correct.

Q Now, you indicated in response to a question from Mr. Hart that--that at some point you opened a bank account for the Community Health Foundation?
A That's correct.
Q Well, would you explain how that happened and when that happened?
A Yes. When I received the notice that the loan was going into default, I talked to Thomas and found out that we weren't likely to have any sources of revenue in the near term. I went down and talked to Mr. Burbank about looking at some other options. I really felt that if we could get a little more time, there might be some investors in the inner-city development community who would be interested. So I--I asked if there was any way of extending the loan.
He said, "Yes, as long as you pay"--or someone pays the interest, which I was willing to do for a ninety-day extension, which I did. And that's when the account was opened so that there would be a account in the name of the Community Health Foundation.
Q All right. And when you had this conversation with Mr. Burbank, was Representative Wright with you?

A I--I don't believe so. I don't believe--we did--I know we were together at the bank on at least one occasion. And I know--in fact, I think when that account was opened, we may have been there together. And I know I was there--the Loftons were there on at least one occasion. But I can't remember if--the day I opened the account whether Thomas was there or not.
Q All right. Well, with respect to the opening of the account, who was the signatory on that account?
A I think--I think Thomas and I both had signatures on the account. I know I did.
Q All right. Now, do you--do you have a present recollection that Representative Wright was with you when you actually physically opened that account?
A I--I--I know we were there at the bank together. Whether it was that--that day or not, I don't--I don't remember. He may well have been.
Q Okay. But you're not--you're not sure?
A I'm not--I'm not sure.
Q Okay. And the information that you received from the SBI officer was that there was never any activity in that account, and it was closed out by the bank?

A That's correct.
Q Or the bank used up the fees--
A Exactly. Exactly.
Q --consumed the fees that were--
A Over several months, maybe about six months, yeah.
Q You indicated to the SBI officer that you were surprised that there was not a guarantor for the--for the loan from the Coastal Federal Bank.
A I don't know--I mean, I was relieved that there wasn't, because I felt that I was the--I felt that I was the guarantor to some degree, and I was relieved to find that I hadn't signed a personal guarantee.
Q Okay. But--but as far as you knew prior to that time, you didn't know if--if--well, did you ever see any of the--let me just--do you have the notebook there in front of you?
A Yes.
Q All right. Would you look at Exhibit 4?
A I have it.
Q Okay. Have you ever seen that document before?
A I don't recall seeing it. It may well have been in that--those big piles at the lawyer's office that day, but I don't--I don't recall seeing it before.

Q Okay. Did--did this document--was this document provided to you by the SBI officer when he came to see you?
A I don't believe so. I don't think this is one of the--I don't remember our looking at this.
Q Okay. On the top right of that document in the right-hand column, you are listed there as the treasurer. The SBI officer didn't ask you about how your name ended up being listed there as the treasurer?
A I don't--I mean, I acknowledged being the treasurer. I knew that I was the treasurer. I don't--I don't remember him asking me that, but I--
Q Okay.
A --I did--I was the treasurer, and Thomas was the president, and Bessie Funderburg, until she died, was the secretary, as I recall.
Q Now, as--as the president of the Community Health Foundation, did--did not Representative Wright basically run the affairs of the Community Health Foundation?
A He did.

Q All right. Would it have been necessary in his running of the affairs of the Community Health Foundation to come back to you on a regular basis to get approval for the day-to-day activities that he was involved in with this?
A No.
Q Was that an expectation that you had on your part?
A No.
Q All right. And, in fact, you ended up signing the mortgage--that was an indication of the faith that you had placed in him to handle the day-to-day operations of the this organization--
A Yes.
Q --is that correct?
A Yes.
Q So there was never any expectation on your part that before Representative Wright could receive any funds or expend any funds that he had to have the approval of yourself or any other member of the board?
A No.
Q All right. Who--do you know who paid the expenses associated with the development of the Community Health Foundation?

A I do not.
Q You know that you didn't?
A I did not.
Q All right. And none of those expenses came from the checking account that you--that you set up; is that correct?
A No. No, they did not.
Q All right. Were you aware that there were some expenses associated with this effort?
A I wasn't aware in detail. I knew that when we had set up the other organizations there were several thousand dollars of legal fees and several thousand dollars of accounting fees involved in setting up a foundation.
Q All right. In the--
A But I don't know the details of the expendership [phonetic] on this foundation.
Q In the closing package that you had with the--that you signed for the Coastal Federal Bank, do you recall seeing an appraisal?
A I do not, but I--there probably was one there.
Q Okay. Do you recall if there was a survey done for the property?
A I do not, but I--I know that banks will not loan money without a survey and without an appraisal, so I suspect those documents, if not there, were available. I didn't see--I don't remember seeing them.

Q All right. So you would expect, though, that those expenses associated with just the putting together of the loan package and securing of the loan would have been handled by--by someone?

A Yes.

Q All right.

PROF. JOYNER: Could I have a moment, Mr. Chair?

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Dr. Gottovi, in that--in that loan package, do you recall there being an architectural drawing?

A I don't recall.

Q You don't recall that--that item?

A No.

Q Did you and Representative Wright have some discussion prior to the closing or after the closing of the desire to renovate or have some renovations done for the building?

A Yes. They were definitely going to be needed. I don't remember the details, but they definitely were going to be needed for it to be functional as--as office space.

Q And you-all did discuss that?

A I'm sure we did.

Q All right. And--

A I know when--when the developers looked at it that--that that clearly was going to be a major need, that it was going to require some major renovations, yes.

Q All right. And in order for there to be these renovations, there would have to have been some type of architectural plan?

A Right. And I sort of--I believe there was, and I don't remember the details, though, of what kind of changes were proposed. But I--I believe there were plans for major renovations. I know they had to be done.

Q Okay.

PROF. JOYNER: All right. We have no further questions. Thank you, Dr. Gottovi.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much. Redirect examination, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Dr. Gottovi, have you ever been a part of any other nonprofit organization that never met as a board?

A I don't--I don't believe so.

Q And have you ever been a part of any other nonprofit board besides the Community Health Foundation that didn't have bylaws?

A I don't--I don't believe so.

Q When you were answering Mr. Joyner's questions, you said that you guessed whenever you and Bessie and Representative Wright got together that that was a board meeting?

A I--I think it could be construed as one. I don't recall--I know that we were together--actually, Bessie was on the board for the Community Health Center, and we were together at least once a month for those meetings, and--and we often met at Bessie Funderburg's home over political matters. I--I don't recall specific discussions of the Foundation on those occasions, but they may have occurred. They may have occurred. I don't--I don't know.

Q Well, it would be hard to classify those as board meetings if you didn't discuss anything to do with--

PROF. JOYNER: Objection.

Q --board business.

PROF. JOYNER: It's argumentative.

THE CHAIR: I'll sustain the objection. If you want to rephrase--thank you, Mr. Hart.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Dr. Gottovi, were those board meetings?

A I wouldn't have thought of them as board meetings.

Q Okay. So you're not saying that every time the three of you got together in Wilmington or Raleigh or wherever for dinner or any other matter, that that was necessarily a board meeting?

A Not necessarily, but there may have been some where we did discuss these matters. I don't recall, though.

Q And--

A I don't recall them specifically.

Q I take it, then, that you would agree with your earlier testimony that the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, board never met officially?

A I don't recall specific meetings where we gathered and Thomas called the meeting to order and we had formal discussions. I can't recall anything like that.

Q When did--were there ever any minutes for any of the meetings that you might have had?

A Not that I recall. Bessie was the secretary and had been on the Community Health Center board, but a staffperson usually, you know, took the minutes and had them recorded and presented.

Q But there was never anything like that?

A I don't--I don't recall approval of minutes, no.

Q Okay. Now, you say that both you and Representative Wright were signatories on the Community Health Foundation account; is that correct?

A I believe he was. I know that I was, and I think he was, as well.

Q When was it that Bessie Funderburg died?

A I--I'm not sure of that date. I know Karen--Karen was still commuting back and forth to Wilmington. Her ninety-year-old mother was still living there in an apartment near my office, and I know she came back for Bessie's funeral. I don't--I don't remember the date, though. I'm sure that's in the public records, though.

Q Was--was that after the default?

A I believe so, but I'm--I'm not sure. I believe so, yes.

Q Okay.

A It was certainly after we took the loan, because I know when we talked about the Community's Health Foundation board that Bessie was mentioned as the third board member, and I--I know that she was alive at that point. She was not well, but--

Q Okay. Dr. Gottovi, when--you spoke about being assured by Representative Wright on various occasions when you would talk with him that he was still seeking state grants, federal monies, various things of that nature, correct?

A Yes.

Q Did you ever see anything in paperwork where he actually was pursuing something, or was it simply your belief based upon his assurances?

A I did not see any paperwork. It was my confidence in--in him.

Q Okay. Did you ever see any paperwork in terms of any kinds of expenses or any activities that Representative Wright was doing on behalf of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A I did not.

Q When you were chairman, was it, of the board of t[redacted] Health Center--

A Yes.

Q --did you feel that you could make expenditures of funds without board approval?

A I did not.

Q Was there any reason for you to believe that it was appropriate for Representative Wright to do that as president of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?

A It was a different organization, and so I don't know what the limitations were. I certainly didn't in--on the Community Health Center board, we had a very formal--it's a federally-qualified health center, federal funds providing probably two-thirds of the budget and had an annual audit, so there was very close accounting of the funds there.

And I certainly--I would not have in that board situation felt comfortable about any expenditures without the formal process of going through the--the treasurer and having it presented at a board meeting. But that's a very different setting.

Q Well, that's been true with all the boards that you've been on, is it not?

A That's--that's true.

Q Because they had bylaws, they had board meetings, they had minutes. Correct?

A That's correct.

Q And that--none of that took place with the Community Health Foundation?

A It did not.

Q And essentially you trusted Representative Wright to do what needed to be done properly, and that's why you assumed that he could do whatever he wanted to do?

A That's correct.

Q You--you're not really saying that he had the authorization to do that?

A I--I--I can't say either way--

Q Well--

A --whether he did or didn't.

I assumed that he would do things properly.

Q There was certainly no board authorization to do it, correct?

A There was not any formal authorization, no.

Q When you talked about discussions about renovations being needed, those were just vague, general discussions about the fact that a building would need to be renovated, correct?
A No, I think--I think there had been a formal request--I don't know if it was from the architect who helped us with the Community Health Center, but I think there were--there had been a formal look at the building and--and a formal, I think, budget for what was going to be needed. But I--I can't recall that clearly now.
Q Was that prior to the purchase of the building?
A I don't--I can't recall that, either. I'm sorry.
MR. HART: That's all I have, Mr. Chairman.
THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. Recross?
RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:
Q Dr. Gottovi, let's see if you can clear this up. You were the chairman of the Community Health Center board; is that correct?
A That's correct, the initial chairman for two years--
Q Right. And the--

A --or maybe two or three.
Q --day-to-day operations of the Community Health Center was handled by whom?
A By the executive director.
Q By the executive director?
A Right.
Q And who--and the executive director was a staffperson?
A That's correct.
Q And that person was hired to handle the day-to-day operations of that organization?
A That is--that's correct.
Q All right. Well, in that capacity, or in that role, would the executive director have to come to the board to get approval to make day-to-day expenditures?
A No.
Q So that person would have been authorized to do whatever was necessary to keep that organization going until they reported back to the--to the board in terms of the--the--the financial reports?
A That's correct. In most organizations I've been involved in, expenditures over, let's say ten thousand dollars or something, you know, a significant expenditure, would need to be brought to the treasurer--the volunteer treasurer and approved.

But certainly the day-to-day operations--and at the Community Health Center, they're very--I mean, it's a huge budget, and so there--it's thousands and thousands of dollars per day that the executive director is managing there. And they certainly don't--didn't call me and--for approval.
Q All right. But that--that effort was significantly different than was the Community Health Foundation?
A That's correct.
Q Right. With respect to the Community Health Foundation, the organization never really got started, did it?
A I--I would say no.
Q Right. It was really in the embryonic stage?
A Yes.
Q And there--you were trying to get it going?
A Yes.
Q But it never really reached the point that it had regular day-to-day operations in the same manner as the Community Health Center?
A That's--that's correct.

Q All right.
A We never hired a--you know, a full-time staff.
Q Right. And it never had a--an itemized budget that it was operating with?
A No.
Q All right. And any expenses incurred by the Community Health Foundation was absorbed by the person who had the title of president and was handling the day-to-day operations; is that correct?
A I--I would say yes.
MR. HART: Objection.
THE CHAIR: The objection is sustained, and that--
MR. HART: Move to strike.
THE CHAIR: Direct motion to strike granted as to that last sentence and last answer.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Who would have been responsible for the--the day-to-day operations of the Community Health Foundation?
A Thomas Wright.
Q And were you, as one of the two other board members, responsible for overseeing his activities on a daily basis?

A No.
Q And because the organization was still in the embryonic stage, you never really had formal meetings in the sense that there was a call for the meeting and minutes taken of the discussions that you had?
A We did not.
Q All right. But there were informal conversations between you, Representative Wright, and Betsy [sic] Funderburg about the operations or the things going on with the Community Health Foundation?
A I believe so. I don't recall them specifically, though.
Q Okay. But you do at least--well, or, more specifically, you do recall conversations and dialogue between you and Representative Wright about the work of the Community Health Foundation--
A Yes.
Q --in its embryonic development?
A Yes.
Q All right. Now, you indicated that the board--that the Community Health Foundation did not have bylaws?
A I don't know if they were drawn or not. I--there were not--there were not bylaws that I saw.

Q There were no bylaws adopted by the board of directors?
A Correct.
Q All right. And your--from your perspective, is it necessary to have bylaws on day one?
A No, and you usually do not have them. I think I said it took us a year to develop the bylaws for the Access III of the Lower Cape Fear. It was a process of, you know, having an initial draft prepared by the attorney. Then we had monthly board meetings with this group of twenty people from five counties that--and the composition of the--this is during--before the adoption--the composition and modifications would occur, and then the final bylaws were approved in Elizabeth City almost a year to the date after our initial steering-committee meeting.
Q But you--
A It took a long time, yes.
Q Based on the other efforts that you--that you had, you recognized that it takes some time to put together bylaws?
A Yes.

Q And you indicated that involved in the putting together of the bylaws would be some consultation with an attorney?
A That's correct.
Q Which is another incurring of expenses?
A Yes.
Q All right. And for a fledging organization, the expenses to handle that may not be present at that time?
A They--they were not.
Q They were not present at that time--
A No.
Q --because you didn't have a budget to handle anything like that?
A That's correct.
Q All right. Now, Mr. Hart asked you if Representative Wright ever brought you any paperwork regarding his--his activities and expenses that he had incurred. Do you recall that question?
A I recall the question.
Q Was--from your perspective, was that necessary?
A No.
Q Was it an--was it an expectation on your part that Representative Wright would be preparing written reports to you about his daily activities and any expenses which he incurred in the development of this embryonic organization?

A No.
PROF. JOYNER: May I just have a moment?
THE CHAIR: Certainly.
(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)
PROF. JOYNER: We have no further questions at this time.
THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. Representative Stam?
REP. STAM: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Dr. Gottovi, turning your attention to Exhibit 1 in the notebook, which you said you were--didn't sign but were familiar with--
THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.
REP. STAM: --would you turn to Page 2 under "Purpose of Corporation"?
Do you see where it says, "This corporation is organized for the following purposes checked"? The first one there is "Charitable." Did this corporation entitled The Community's Health Foundation, Inc., ever provide any charitable services to anyone?

THE WITNESS: Not during that year and a half or so that I was involved, that I--that I'm aware of.

REP. STAM: Are you aware of any services after that year and a half--any charitable services that it has provided?

THE WITNESS: I'm not.

REP. STAM: All right. Do you know of any educational--I see there's--"Educational" is also checked. Has this corporation provided any educational services to anyone?

THE WITNESS: I don't believe so.

REP. STAM: I see that "Scientific" is checked. Has this corporation of which you're treasurer and a board member, provided any scientific services to anyone?

THE WITNESS: I don't believe that we did.

REP. STAM: You testified that you paid forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600) after about a year at the request or demand of the bank, and I assume that was to pay on the debt of the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., not your own debt?

THE WITNESS: Well, it actually wasn't a request or a demand. I volunteered to extend the loan, and it was an interest payment so that they would extend the loan for ninety days so that we could work on other possible sources of revenue from within the community.

REP. STAM: And as far as you know, that was credited to the account of Community Health Foundation, Inc.?

THE WITNESS: It--actually, the checks were done right there at the bank and written to the Community Health Foundation, Inc., and I immediately endorsed them over to the bank so that they were paid--paid directly to the bank--

REP. STAM: Right.

THE WITNESS: --through the Foundation.

REP. STAM: Did you deduct the forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600) you paid to--to the Community Health Foundation, which was then endorsed, against your federal income tax as a charitable deduction?

THE WITNESS: I believe I did.

REP. STAM: So if it turns out--well,

I'll withdraw the last part of the question.

THE WITNESS: Well, I understand the question you were going to ask, and no, that's--I--

THE CHAIR: The question wasn't asked.

THE WITNESS: Okay. Sorry.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, I have--right before the break I obtained a copy of the closing statement, which is Bates-stamped, so I assume the Respondent has it, but it wasn't in our package. I wonder if I could pass it out and see if anybody has any objection to--

THE CHAIR: If you'll give it to Dr. Joyner, Mr. Harris, Mr. Hart, and Mr. Peters, and then we'll see if there's an objection.

REP. STAM: And the witness.

THE CHAIR: Well, let's hold the witness till we--

REP. STAM: Oh, okay.

THE CHAIR: Thanks.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, are there any other documents that--

REP. STAM: Yeah, right here.

PROF. JOYNER: --that we want to distribute that have not been provided to us previously?

THE CHAIR: Well, we're going to hear you in a minute. But are there any other documents you're going to want to examine him on, Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Yes, one other also obtained right before the break, which is also signed by Mr. Wright and Mr. Gottovi, if we could hand--

THE CHAIR: If the sergeant-at-arms will please hand that to Dr. Joyner, Mr. Harris, Mr. Hart, and Mr. Peters--

MR. HARRIS: May I inquire where these came from once--

THE CHAIR: I'll allow Representative Stam to answer.

REP. STAM: I obtained it from Staff, who I think obtained it from Mr. Hart. And it looks like it has an SBI stamp, so--and it has a Bates stamp, 01798, which means you probably have it in your file right there.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman--

REP. STAM: And the second document is 1785, which was probably delivered to you December 31.

THE CHAIR: Do you need a few minutes to look at those documents?

PROF. JOYNER: I beg your pardon?

THE CHAIR: Do you need a few minutes to look at those documents?

PROF. JOYNER: No. I'd like to know where are the originals for these?

THE CHAIR: Well, I don't know that we have an answer to that. I'm assuming--I mean, I'm making an assumption looking at what I'm looking at with the Bates stamp, that the document lies with the district attorney's office right now.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, you know, that's--that's--that's really an assumption, because Bates--Bates stamp doesn't mean that it came from the district attorney's office, since there are at least three other people with Bates stamps that they could put on this.

THE CHAIR: Well, I understand that, so I'm going to ask this question: I want you to look at the documents, and are you--do you have any concerns as to their genuineness or authenticity?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes.

THE CHAIR: All right.

PROF. JOYNER: I do. I mean, and then why are we just getting to them now? Why weren't these in the packet of information that--that we've been provided with previously?

THE CHAIR: Well, the first answer, I think, to the question is they haven't been introduced or attempted to be introduced by Committee counsel, so--at this point they're just being shown to the witness to cross-examine, and you can show anything to a witness to cross-examine. They're not being sought to be introduced, or at least I don't know that they are, and I--and certainly haven't been by Committee counsel.

Second, as to the authenticity issue, what I need to know from you is if you want a minute, 'cause then I'm going to want to know what the problems are with it.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, Mr. Chairman, as I understand the rules of this Committee, if there were any documents which bore on this subject, hearing matters here today, that we would have received them with enough time to look them over and to make any inquiry about its authenticity or any other question that we might have about the document.

So I'm--I'm--I'm concerned about why we're just being shown these documents now, rather than last week when we got the other documents, and then why these documents were obviously held in some secret location not available to the rest of us and now are to be delivered. So, yeah, I have some--some real concerns about this.

THE CHAIR: I understand. I'm going to go back to the first point, that the Committee rules are very clear documents that were in Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters' possession that they intend to introduce were absolutely to be turned over and were.

This document is not coming from Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters for introduction, and it is not being sought, as I understand it, for introduction. It's being sought to show the witness to ask examination questions that I have--I understand your concern, and--and I am not at this point anywhere near admitting the document as substantive evidence on any basis. But a witness may be shown anything for purposes of cross-examination, and I'm certainly going to allow that to happen.

But my question, before I do that, if the document is authentic and genuine--if you have serious questions about authenticity and genuineness, that's what I want to know. And if you need a few minutes, I'll be glad to recess for you to look through the document and see if you've got specific questions about that.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman--

MR. HARRIS: I have a serious question.

THE CHAIR: No, I--I--one of you--who's arguing here?

PROF. JOYNER: I'm--I'm--I'm arguing.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

PROF. JOYNER: Whether Dr. Gottovi is given these documents to review is not my issue. I don't care. What I do care about is the integrity of this process and why are we now being surprised by members of this Committee going outside of the appointed counsel to find and present documents for review in this session?

So that's my concern. It's not whether Dr. Gottovi looks at this and makes whatever comments he wants to make about it. But if the Committee has now become outside counsel, I need to know that there's a shift in the arrangement, because we have been relying upon Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters as the party that will produce, present documented--documentary evidence in--on behalf. Now, the Committee members have now gone outside to become another source of--of prosecution in this matter? That causes some concern.

THE CHAIR: Let me ask this question so that I can see where we are, then I'm going to--I understand the legal argument. What I want to know first is do you have--as looking at the document, are the documents in your mind not authentic and not genuine? And just help me to understand why. That's my first question. We'll get to the others. But help me to understand, if there's a problem with their authenticity and genuineness, what is it?

MR. HARRIS: We had the person on the stand, Mr. Chair, Mr. Burbank, who identified the--the bank documents. And the document he identified was the approval of a loan dated March 5th, 2002. He said that when he signed that, that was the day he approved it. I'd like to point out this one document, which purports to be an application--a business credit application, is, in fact, dated after that, April 5th, 2002. So on its face it would appear suspect.

It's an application after it's already been approved. Why would anybody be applying for a loan when they've already got the loan? Because Mr. Burbank, who was on the stand, who's already testified and left and been allowed to leave, 'cause we had no idea about this--Mr. Burbank testified that he approved it on March the 5th, 2002. That's the undisputed testimony by somebody who knows.

And I assume Mr. Stam does not know, I assume the staff doesn't know, and--and I assume nobody really knows where this document originated. We don't have the original, and it appears on its face to be suspect.

REP. STAM: If I--Mr. Chairman, if I could--

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: First of all, as I said, the source where I got it was this afternoon from staff, who got it from Special Counsel, and it appears to be from the SBI. It appears to have the Bates stamp. So therefore it was given to you December 31.

Secondly, in their questioning, they've asked about "wouldn't the HUD-1 statement show" so-and-so. This is the HUD-1 statement. Why wouldn't we want to have it? It appears to be signed by Mr. Wright. The other credit application appears to be signed by Mr. Wright and Mr. Gottovi--Dr. Gottovi. What is the problem?

MR. HARRIS: If you can give me about five minutes with a copy machine, I can put your signature on here, and you'll see what the problem is.

THE CHAIR: Let's--let's--all right. We're going to--I think this is a good time for me to consider the arguments. We're going to take a recess until twenty after three. Thank you.

(TWELVE-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. Now, we're going to--I've asked Representative Stam not to proceed with questions on the documents, and that gets us out of that controversy. I--I will allow him to ask whatever questions he wants to ask as--as a Committee member generally. So, Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Dr. Gottovi, just one other question: Do you recall that at the closing the seller was credited with twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) of deposit or--deposit retained by seller, twenty-five thousand?

THE WITNESS: I do not recall that, Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: That was just not discussed at all, whether--

THE WITNESS: No.

REP. STAM: Okay. And if the corporation had twenty-five thousand that had already been paid, the corporation of which you were treasurer, you didn't know anything about it?

PROF. JOYNER: Objection.

THE CHAIR: I'm going to overrule the objection. If you know.

THE WITNESS: I--ask the question again. I'm sorry.

REP. STAM: If the corporation had paid twenty-five thousand earnest-money deposit on this property before the closing, you as treasurer did not know anything about it?

THE WITNESS: No, I did not.

REP. STAM: Okay. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: All right. Any further questions, Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: No, thank you.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative--I'm just going to go this way--Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you so much. Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: Yes, I have a question.

THE CHAIR: Yes, sir.

REP. McGEE: Thank you. I'm still confused about the personal check that you wrote to pay the interest.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. McGEE: You wrote the check made out to the Foundation, then turned the check over and endorsed the check over to the bank with you as treasurer of the Foundation? Is that--

THE WITNESS: That's--that's correct. The money went essentially directly to the bank. I did it as--through the Foundation, as Representative--Representative Stam assumes, so that at least I could take a charitable donation for the money I was giving to the Foundation.

THE CHAIR: Yes, sir?

REP. McGEE: My question is, then, did you deposit the check that you wrote into the Foundation account and from the Foundation account write another check from the Foundation to the bank, which was deposited?

THE WITNESS: I'm--I'm really not sure on that. I can remember standing at the counter at the bank with the checkbook, and I don't recall--I think the SBI agent had all of those records of things in and out of the Foundation checkbook, and I don't believe--I think it just went immediately to the bank itself.

REP. McGEE: If I may follow up--

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. McGEE: I think I earlier heard you say that the one hundred dollars that you deposited into the account eventually disappeared because of fees and charges?

THE WITNESS: That's correct.

REP. McGEE: Then, to follow up, was th the only--or were those the only transactions that ever took place in that checking account?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. McGEE: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I know you've been up there a while. I'll--

THE CHAIR: It's all right. I'm okay.

REP. WILEY: --try and keep this short. A couple of questions. After the closing, did you ever go back to the building? Did you--were you in the building that was purchased at all?

THE WITNESS: I went--I really didn't--I didn't go--I'd been there before, long before any of this interest on behalf of the Community Health Center, long before, I think, we even had that--the Health Center was built. I had been to Wayne Lofton's office on one occasion. Wayne was Bob Jordan's minority affairs person, and I had gotten to know him in that context and--and, actually, I often had lunch with him over political discussions over the years.

So I had been to the building before any of this transpired, and then I went there at least one time during that ninety-day period where we extended the loan. I went there with Lydia Newman, now Lydia Newman Faulkner, who was the newly-hired executive director for Access III of the Lower Cape Fear, to see if that space might be appropriate for the offices for this new entity, hoping we--we were--I knew the new entity was going to have to be housed somewhere, and we wanted it in downtown Wilmington where the clients were, at least the New Hanover folks. So I did go there with her.

At that time I think Wayne Lofton still had some of his offices there, and the local sickle-cell program was occupying another part of the first floor.

But the building was in need of major renovations, and--and Ms. Newman did not feel it would be appropriate for offices for her new st that she was putting together. So they ended up renting space in the Murchison Building downtown, which is an old office building downtown in Wilmington.

REP. WILEY: If I may--

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. WILEY: Did you happen to notice, were there any utilities turned on--

THE WITNESS: Oh, yes, yes.

REP. WILEY: --that you would have been responsible for?

THE WITNESS: Yes. I--yeah, because I know the sickle-cell program was--was using that space during the time that we had this loan outstanding, and I think part of Wayne Lofton's business was--was still there. So I believe there were utilities going--being paid for. And I'm not sure where--where that was coming from.

REP. WILEY: So you're not sure who was responsible for the payment of those utility bills?

THE WITNESS: I think during that year that we owned the building and--and that we were--I certainly wasn't writing checks for them. And Representative Wright may have been. I don't know.

REP. WILEY: One more question?

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. WILEY: At the time of closing, the building itself was the only tangible collateral at--at--for closing?

THE WITNESS: That's correct.

REP. WILEY: Do you happen to remember, did they require the Foundation to purchase any insurance on that building at the time of closing?

THE WITNESS: I don't recall. I'm sure--I'm sure that insurance was required, but I don't--I don't recall documents related to that, and I don't know how it was--it was paid.

REP. WILEY: Last question--

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. WILEY: Were you aware, then--I guess, as a whole question here--were you aware of any bills that were needing to be paid on an ongoing basis from the Foundation?

THE WITNESS: I was not, but I--I'm sure there were utility bills, I'm sure there were insurance bills, but I--they were--they were not bills that were presented to me, and I certainly didn't write any checks for them during that year.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative McGee, I think you had one other question. I apologize. I cut you short. I'm sorry.

REP. McGEE: No, you didn't. I just thought of a question I wanted to ask.

I don't know if it's loud enough to hear--on the notice of foreclosure, Dr. Gottovi--

THE CHAIR: Can you give him an exhibit number?

REP. McGEE: It's Exhibit Number 5.

THE WITNESS: Number 5. Just a second. I have that.

REP. McGEE: Okay. You're shown as one of the people to receive the notice of foreclosure as treasurer of the corporation?

THE WITNESS: That's--that's correct.

REP. McGEE: And you stated earlier, I believe, that you followed politics on levels of state and federal, and, of course, the district that Representative Wright serves also has a senator in the State House--I mean, in the General Assembly--

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. McGEE: --as well as a federal relationship with the representative in the Senate and also in the House.

Since you were one of the people that has your name on this document, did you pursue perhaps receiving some funds from other sources, such as contacting another senator or the U.S. House of Representatives--a representative for your area, yourself?

THE WITNESS: I did not. I did not.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. The Chair has just several questions, and then I'm going to, after I'm done, return for redirect and recross, which I expect to be extremely brief so we can move on.

Dr. Gottovi, you indicated that this organization really--I think in your recross, never really got started, so there never really was an executive director hired or anything like that. Am I correct?

THE WITNESS: You're correct.

THE CHAIR: All right. Now, as a member of the Board, when you held any--well, strike that.

When you had your informal meetings with Representative Wright and--I apologize--can you give me--I think it was--

REP. STAM: Bessie Funderburg.

THE CHAIR: Bessie Funderburg? Is that correct?

THE WITNESS: Yes, Bessie Funderburg.

THE CHAIR: When you held those informal meetings, I'm assuming, 'cause I've never seen them--but I'm assuming there weren't any minutes taken in those meetings?

THE WITNESS: There were not that I was aware of, anyway.

THE CHAIR: Well, when the three of you were there, I assume you would have seen if minutes were being taken?

THE WITNESS: Yes. No, I did not see any minutes being taken, no were--were they ever presented for approval.

THE CHAIR: And I'm also going to assume that you never signed a written consent for specific actions to be taken by the association or corporation, were you--did you?

THE WITNESS: I don't recall signing anything.

THE CHAIR: All right. As the treasurer of this organization, would you have expected your responsibility to be someone who received the bills and then to issue checks for payment of those bills?

THE WITNESS: I would have.

THE CHAIR: Other than the two transactions we talked about which were initiated by you, did you ever receive a bill that you paid as treasurer of the organization?

THE WITNESS: I don't recall that I did.

THE CHAIR: All right. That's the only questions the Chair has. Mr. Hart, redirect?

MR. HART: No, sir. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner, recross?

FURTHER RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Dr. Gottovi, is it your understanding that during the time that the Community Health Foundation was in operation that Representative Wright functioned in the capacity as executive director?

A Not in a formal way, but he--he was really running the day-to-day operations of the Foundation, yes.

Q So even though there was no formal document to the--to--to authorize it, he really ran the day-today operations? Whatever was done on behalf of the Community Health Foundation, he did it?

A That's correct. Could--could I go back to the Chairman's question about--I was actually relieved not to have those responsibilities of signing and receiving--I had a lot on my plate at that point in life, and I was relieved not to have to do that. So I was relieved to have Thomas Wright sort of doing whatever was needed to be done.

Q Now, the--you were asked about whether the Community Health Foundation ever engaged in any charitable services, educational services, or scientific services. Was it your recollection that the Foundation never got to the point that it could do any of those?

A I think that is--that is my recollection, but in thinking back, I guess housing the local sickle-cell organization during that year would be a--'cause I don't think it was charged anything. I think that was probably--would account to some charitable in-kind service, but--but no other formal efforts that I can recall, scientific or educational. We did house the--I think--the sickle-cell group was housed there, and I guess it would be an in-kind charitable donation, letting them stay there.

Q And I guess my question is, any limitations on what they were able to do was due to the fact that they--it never really got up and running?

A That's--that's correct.

Q Okay.

PROF. JOYNER: No further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. You may step down, Dr. Gottovi. Thank you. Next witness, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: May Dr. Gottovi be excused?

THE CHAIR: Let me just ask Dr. Joyner. Any reason to keep Dr. Gottovi here?

PROF. JOYNER: No. He can--

THE CHAIR: And, Mr. Hart, any reason?

MR. HART: No.

THE CHAIR: All right. Dr. Gottovi, you're excused and excused from your subpoena. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Next witness, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Next witness is Agent Johnnie Umphlet.

THE CHAIR: Agent Umphlet? Agent, you'll be sworn in by the court reporter.

* * * * *

Whereupon,

JOHNNIE UMPHLET,

having been first duly sworn,

was examined and testified

as follows:

THE CHAIR: You may proceed, Mr. Hart. Thank you.

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Would you state your name, please?

A Johnnie Umphlet. And for the spelling, it's J-O-H-N-N-I-E U-M-P-H-L-E-T.

Q How are you employed, sir?

A I'm an assistant special agent in charge with the State Bureau of Investigation.

Q And are you assigned to a particular unit within the State Bureau of Investigation?

A I am assigned to a special unit. It is special investigations within the Professional Standards Division of the State Bureau of Investigation.

Q And are you located here in Raleigh?

A The office that I work out of is located here in Raleigh. I actually reside in Greenville.

Q Okay. How long have you been with the State Bureau of Investigation, sir?

A I believe this upcoming August or September will be ten years.

Q And did you have any law-enforcement experience before that time?

A Yes, sir, I did.

Q And where was that?

A Actually, with several different agencies. I started back in 1989 with Greenville Police Department and worked there for approximately two years, left there to go work with probation and parole. I worked there for about two and a half years, then left there and went to East Carolina University Police Department and worked with East Carolina University Police Department until I went with the SBI.

Q Did there come a time that you became involved in the investigation of allegations regarding Representative Thomas Wright?

A Yes, I did.

Q And you--

A Yes, there was.

Q When was--when was that? When did you first become involved in that?

A Sometime during the month of May 2007.

Q All right. Were you the only agent involved in this investigation, sir?

A No, sir, I was not.

Q Were you assigned specific duties involving the investigation?

A Yes, sir, I was.

Q And what is--what is that? What duties did you have?

A I was assigned as the case agent for this investigation, which is the lead investigator for the investigation.

Q All right. And what are the duties of the case agent?

A The duties of the case agent would be to conduct the investigation and to ensure that the investigation is conducted to obtain any assistance from other agents that are in the field or also within my unit to assist in the investigation.

Q All right. During the course of the investigation, and specifically in September of 2007, did you request that--did you call Representative Thomas Wright and ask him to speak with you about the allegations?

A Yes, sir, I did.

Q And could you tell us what you remember about that conversation?

A I had--without looking at my notes, I believe I had one or two telephone conversations with Mr. Wright, asking for an interview with him in reference to these allegations, at which time he advised that he would meet with me to discuss anything that I needed to discuss with him.

Q All right. Did he say anything else at that time that you recall?

A Without looking specifically at my notes, nothing in particular stands out.

Q All right, sir. After talking with him on the phone, at some point did you meet with him?

A Yes, sir, I did, on two different occasions.

Q All right. Directing your attention to the first occasion, do you remember, would that have been on September 28th of 2007?

A That date sounds familiar as the date that I did meet with him. Yes, sir.

Q All right. And can you tell us what you remember about meeting with him on that date?
A I recall that Representative Wright voluntarily met with myself and another agent that was within--that works within our unit, that agent being Assistant Special Agent in Charge Kay Perry [phonetic]. I also recall that the interview took place in Wilmington in the--in a conference room of the New Hanover Community Health Center.
Q All right. And did either one of--did anyone record the meeting?
A Yes, sir, they did.
Q And who--who recorded the meeting?
A Representative Wright recorded the meeting.
Q In what way, audio, or video, or both?
A My understanding, it was just a video recorder that he had brought to make the recording.
Q All right. Did you ever receive a copy of that video recording?
A No, sir.
Q During the--that particular interview, did you at any time ask Representative Wright if the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, had had any bylaws?

A I recall us speaking about bylaws, but without looking specifically at my notes, I can't recall the exact conversation that we had concerning the bylaws.
Q Do you recall whether he told you whether or not they'd ever had any meetings of the board of directors of the Foundation?
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I'm going to object to the leading. I don't object to the question, but I'll object to the constant leading. And, I mean, I would move out [phonetic] of the transition phase and let the witness testify.
THE CHAIR: And I agree. I'll--I'll certainly allow this question, but--and we will need to--the Agent will need to answer the questions in a narration form. But go ahead and--and answer that question, please, Agent.
A If you could, please, repeat that question.
Q (By Mr. Hart) Do you recall whether or not Representative Wright indicated whether there had ever been any meetings of the board of directors of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated?
PROF. JOYNER: I'm going to object to the leading again.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, may I--may I respond to that?
THE CHAIR: Yes.
MR. HART: That is not a leading question. It is a directive question. It is not a leading question. It does not give the answer that I'm suggesting that he respond.
THE CHAIR: I--the objection's overruled.
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, if I may--
THE CHAIR: Yes, Dr. Joyner.
PROF. JOYNER: The last time that I looked, any question that in its formation asks for a "yes" or "no" answer is a leading question. It need not suggest the answer, but it if asks for a "yes" or a "no" answer, then it is a leading question.
THE CHAIR: Well--
PROF. JOYNER: And this one did, because it started out with the prefix "did."
THE CHAIR: We're not in a courtroom, Gentlemen, and I agree we're going to try to stay with the rules as much as we can, but we're also going to try to move this along. For now, that objection's overruled, but, again, I--I know we're going to try to have the agent narrate.

What I am going to do for a minute--and I apologize--I'm going to ask--and this is a request we had earlier from the court reporter. I need to ask--and we're going to take a five-minute recess. I'm going to keep it very short, but we've got a tape transition that we've got to do in the transcription, so I've got to take a five-minute recess. We'll be in recess until five--until ten of. I'm sorry. Thank you.

(EIGHT-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. I'm trying to balance a number of things out. What I'm going to do--we've got--I'm just going to try--I'm not going to try to ask anybody for predictions, but just so I can get some logistics done here, Mr. Hart, other than the Agent, who--what other witnesses do you have?
MR. HART: Kim Strach from the Board of Elections.
THE CHAIR: All right. And, obviously, think that will take a fairly substantial period of time. Okay. Then, Dr. Joyner, without telling me--and I'm not holding you to any commitment, but is it your anticipation at this point that there will be evidence presented for Representative Wright? You don't need to tell me right now who, what, where; I just want to know for timing purposes.

PROF. JOYNER: That is a real possibility.

THE CHAIR: All right. With that, we have gone a long day, and we have several members who have some commitments in their districts. That is one of the problems when you're a legislator trying to also have a career. So rather than try to force the issue, we're obviously going to be here for significantly additional evidence for you, Mr. Hart, potentially evidence for Representative Wright, we've got, clearly, arguments, so--I always used to hate it when I was in a courtroom and judges pushed you till the end and everyone went home exhausted. So last--yesterday was a long day. This morning was an exceptionally long time. I'm going to give everybody a little bit of time.

We're going to recess to reconvene tomorrow at ten o'clock A.M. here, and hopefully begin sharp at that point.

Mr. Peters, you're signaling me something?

MR. PETERS: Are we in this room?

THE CHAIR: Same room. I'm not going to re-read the instruction yet again, but I will ask the Committee members to please be mindful of the instruction I've read several times, and to all members of the public and press, as well.

Thank you, everybody. We will see you at ten o'clock tomorrow. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: I will now call this meeting to order on Wednesday, March the 5th.

Agent Umphlet, I believe you're on the witness stand, and we are on direct examination--beginning direct examination. My recollection on my notes is that we'd gotten through Agent Umphlet's background and we're just starting into questions with regard to how he got to know and the examination he had with Representative Wright.

Is that correct, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: That's correct, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: All right. We can pick it up there, please.

Good morning. And, Agent, I remind you that you are under oath. And that glass of water is new--new for you.

Whereupon,

JOHNNIE UMPHLET,
having been previously duly sworn,
was examined and testified
as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION CONTINUED BY MR. HART:

Q Morning, Agent Umphlet.

A Good morning.

Q When we recessed yesterday afternoon, I had just begun to ask you about your conversation with Representative Thomas Wright regarding the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated. And I want to ask you at this point did you in fact have a conversation with him about that foundation?

A Yes, I did.

Q Did you have occasion to talk with him about whether the organization, the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, had approved any bylaws?

A Yes, I did.

Q Tell us about that, please.

A Actually I had two conversations with Representative Wright concerning the bylaws of the foundation, the first being on September 28th, 2007. During that interview, Representative Wright advised me that there were no bylaws for the Community's Health Foundation.

Q All right. And let me--let me ask you to hold off on the--the--the second conversation. I'll get to that when we get to that interview, if--if you would.

During the first interview, did you ask him whether or not the--the board of the Community Health Foundation had ever held any meetings?

A Yes, I did. I had asked him about meetings and any minutes from meetings, and he advised that there were no official board meetings for the foundation and that there were no minutes taken from any meetings.

Q All right, sir. In that first interview, did you have any conversation with him about the e-mail and conversation that he had had with Torlen Wade from the Department of Health and Human Services?

A Yes, I did.

Q What do you remember him telling you about his conversation with Torlen Wade?

A He had had--he had said he had had--could not recall any specific conversations that he had with Torlen Wade in reference to the letter that had been written by Torlen Wade.

Q All right. At the time that you spoke with him about it, did he--did you have a copy of the e-mail that Torlen Wade had received from Representative Wright's office?

A Yes, I did.

Q I'd ask you, if you would, if you'd look in the notebook in front of you, at Exhibit 2. Do you recognize the one-page document in Exhibit 2, sir?

A Yes, I do.
Q And what is that?
A That is a copy of the e-mail from Vanda Wilson-Womack. And in parentheses "Rep. Wright," end parenthesis, _to Torlen Wade,_ which was dated Wednesday, 13 March 2002.
Q All right. And did you show that e-mail to Representative Wright?
A Yes, I did.
Q And did he remember that e-mail?
A Not the specific e-mail. No, sir, he did not.
Q Did he indicate whether or not he had sent the e-mail?
A He advised that the e-mail apparently came from his office and that, if it had come from his office, he would have either seen it or approved the e-mail. But he did not recall specifics about the e-mail.
Q All right, sir. Ask you if you would look at Exhibit Number 3. Do you recognize that one-page document, sir?
A Yes, sir, I do.
Q And you had earlier spoken of the--the Torlen Wade letter. Is that the Torlen Wade letter?

A Yes, sir, it is.
Q Did you show him that particular document on that first interview?
A Yes, sir, I did.
Q And did he recognize that letter?
A Yes, sir, he did.
Q Can you tell us what he told you about that letter?
A In reference to the letter, he advised that he had received the letter but he had not handed the letter out to anyone, and that he did not use it at Coastal Federal Bank in reference to obtaining a loan from Coastal Federal for the Torlen Wade property--I'm--I'm--correction: for the Loftin property. He said that there was no need to use the letter, because of--the bank had the building. And he also had mentioned that in use--that he did not mean for anyone, meaning Torlen Wade, to get injured or hurt by this letter.
Q Okay. Did he say to you why he had gotten the letter if he didn't intend to use it?
A I had asked him about why he had received the letter. And he said it was--the letter was needed so DHHS, or the Department of Health and Human Resour--Health Services--excuse me--would know that his intention was that he needed money for the foundation.

Q Did Representative Wright say anything to you about whether or not the Community Health Foundation had any money at the time of the purchase of the Loftin property?
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I'm--I'm--I'm going to object to--not to the question but the constant leading. And Mr. Hart says it's directional, but it's still leading. So I'm going to raise an objection to the constant leading. I--I understand the nec--necessity to lead at points but not at every point.
THE CHAIR: Well--and I understand. But I don't think the question's leading. I think the question was did he state whether or not, which to me takes it out of the leading category, as only us lawyers can seem to make those differences. But I don't think it's technically leading. So it's overruled. Thank you.
A I'm sorry. Could you repeat your question?
Q (By Mr. Hart) Yes, sir. Did there come a time in that first interview where Representative Wright indicated to you in any way whether or not the foundation had any money in the account or any money at all at--at the time of the purchase of the Loftin property?

A Based on a comment that he made concerning--I showed him a HUD-1 statement, asking him had the foundation made an earnest payment towards the purchase of the Loftin property by the foundation. He advised that no, he didn't, `cause they didn't have the money for that. It's my recollection that that was the only inci--incident--or instance in which he mentioned no money by the foundation.
Q Okay. Did there come a time where you had a second interview with Representative Wright?
A Yes, sir, I did. I had a second interview with Representative Wright on Friday, October 5th, 2007, which also occurred or took place at the Community's--well, the New Hanover Community Health Center, in the conference room at that center.
Q Did--do you remember whether or not that interview was videotaped by Representative Wright?
A Yes. Representative Wright had requested that could he enter--video record the interview, at which he was advised that he could video record t interview.

Q Okay. Did he record the entire interview?
A No, sir, he did not.
Q The--during part of the interview, did Representative Wright show you some documents?
A Yes, sir, he did.
Q Do you recall what documents, if any, he showed you?
A He showed me three documents that were IRS documents or Internal Revenue Service documents, all three documents being in relation to a employer tax identification number. One document was a W9 form. One document didn't--it had a number on it, I'm thinking JF128--but I'm not sure exactly on that number--which was a fax that he had received from the Internal Revenue Service out of Tennessee indicating that he had been assigned a federal tax identification number. And the other form was an application for a federal tax identification number by the Community's Health Foundation.
Q All right, sir. During that interview or--did he also say anything about any bylaws?
A Towards the beginning of that interview, Representative Wright advised that he would like to make a correction to a prior statement that he had made in the September 28th, 2007, interview. During his time of pointing out some corrections, he advised that he had gone back and looked and did find the bylaws for the Community Health Foundation but advised that he had put them in a safe place in case anything happened to him.

Q All right. Did he give you a copy of those bylaws or any of the forms that you mentioned?
A In relation to the bylaws, he advised that he did not have a copy of the bylaws with him at that interview. In relation to the IRS forms, I did request a copy of the forms but was advised that I could not make a photocopy of them. So I did not get a copy.
Q All right, sir. At some point during that second interview, Agent Umphlet, did there come a time when you began to show Representative Wright several documents that you had in your possession?
A Yes, I did.
Q Going to ask you, if you would, if you'll look at Exhibit Number 6, sir. Do you recognize that one-page document, sir?
A Yes, sir, I do.

Q And did you show Representative Wright that particular document?
A Yes, I did show Representative Wright that document. And Representative Wright advised he did recall writing that letter and that that was his signature on the letter. And the letter was to Mr. Lewis McKinney of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Incorporated, out of St. Louis, Missouri.
Q Did he say what the purpose of that letter was that he sent to that company?
A Purpose of the letter was to obtain contributions from Anheuser-Busch for the foundation.
Q All right, sir. Going to show you--ask you to look at Exhibit Number 7. Do you recognize that one-page document, sir?
A Yes, I do.
Q And did you--
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman?
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry?
PROF. JOYNER: For--for the record, I want to object to the use of Exhibits 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12--I'm sorry; withdraw 11--but 12, 13, on the grounds that this is hearsay, has not been authenticated and--or otherwise admitted into evidence in these proceedings.

THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Hart, do you want to respond?
MR. HART: At this point--actually I believe that except for 11, they have not been admitted. And I'm not asking him to read from them; I'm simply asking if he showed them to him and what if anything he said about them. So I believe that all those objections are irrelevant and should be overruled.
THE CHAIR: Well, I--I agree at this point, and--and I will overrule them. And you're--and they're not being sought to admit. They're being shown to the witness to ask him whether he showed them to Representative Wright. Again I don't think there's any--anything wrong with that particular line of question. But some of the objections we'll get to if in fact there's an attempt to admit.
PROF. JOYNER: So you're--
THE CHAIR: So for--for the purposes of this question, the objection is overruled.
PROF. JOYNER: All right. Can I respond, Mr. Chair?

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

PROF. JOYNER: And I certainly agree that these documents have not been introduced, and the question is about what he did with these letters. But for all practical purposes, these letters have been introduced, because every member of this Committee has a copy of them. And every member of this Committee is right now reviewing each of those documents. So although officially they are not introduced, they are for all practical purposes introduced and have been introduced and used as introduced documents in these proceedings. So I make my objection--

THE CHAIR: I understand.

PROF. JOYNER: --on--in that regard.

THE CHAIR: I certainly understand the objection that you've made. But for purposes of the question and where we are today, the objection is overruled.

You may answer the question.

A Could you please repeat the question?

Q (By Mr. Hart) Did--did you show Representative Wright the document that is before you that is labeled Exhibit Number 7?

A Yes, I did.

Q And what if anything did he say as to whether or not he recognized that document and what it was?

A Representative Wright advised he did recommen-- recognize the document and that the signature on the back was his signature.

Q Did he say anything about the--the copy of the check itself, whether or not he had received that check from Anheuser-Busch?

A That he had received that check from Anheuser-Busch on behalf--or through the Community's Health Foundation.

Q And did he say what he did with that check?

A In the end, he said what he did with all three checks at the same time, but--and that was deposit the check into his personal bank account.

Q Ask you to look at Exhibit Number 8, please, sir. Do you recognize that one-page document?

A Yes, sir, I do.

Q And did you show Representative Wright that particular document?

A Yes, sir, I did.

Q Did he--what did he say about that particular document?

A That that was a document that he had--or a letter that he had prepared to AstraZeneca Pharmaceutic and that that was his signature on the letter tha he had sent to AstraZeneca.

Q Did he say to you why he had sent that letter to AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals?

A For charitable donations for the Community's Health Foundation.

Q All right, sir. Ask you to look at Exhibit Number 10, if you would, please. Do you recognize that document, sir?

A Yes, sir, I do. It is a check from AstraZeneca in the amount of twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400) made payable to the order of the Community's-- Community's Health Foundation, Inc.

Q And did you show that document to Representative Wright during that second interview?

A Yes, sir, I did.

Q Did Representative Wright say whether or not he recognized that particular document?

A He did recognize that document and did recognize his signature on the back of that check.

Q Did he say whether or not he had received that check and what he had done with it?

A That he had received that check and that that check had been deposited into his personal bank account.

Q By whom?

A By himself.

Q Ask you if you would look at Exhibit Number 11, sir. Do you recognize that one-page document?

A Yes, sir, I do.

Q And what do you recognize that as being?

A An invoice on the letterhead of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, an invoice to John Policastro with AT&T from the Community's Health Foundation for a payment of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500).

Q Did you show that particular document to Representative Wright?

A Yes, sir, I did.

Q And what did he say about that particular document?

A Representative Wright was not sure about this document. He advised that it just did not seem right as coming from the Community's Health Foundation. He had questioned the--the letterhead and the fact that it was an invoice. And he just did not recall a invoice to AT&T.

Q All right, sir. Did he say to you whether or not he had sought a charitable contribution from AT&T?

A Yes, sir. He advised that he had requested an official request for charitable donations through AT&T, yes, sir.
Q And did he say how much he had requested?
A No, sir.
Q Ask you to look at Exhibit Number 13, sir. Do you recognize that one-page document?
A Yes, sir. It is a check from AT&T for fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) paid to the order of Community's Health Foundation.
Q And did you show that document to Representative Wright during that second interview?
A Yes, sir, I did.
Q And do you recall what he said about that particular check?
A That he had received that check, and that was his signature on the back of the check.
Q Did he say what he did with that check?
A That he deposited that check into his personal bank account.
Q Now, you said just a few moments ago that he made a general statement about having received all those checks and depositing those checks in his account.

Did he say why he did that, sir?
A Yes, sir. He advised that he had deposited those checks into his personal account as a payment for his services in trying to get the foundation started, that he had done a lot of work and had put in a lot of hours trying to get the foundation started and had put in a lot of sweat equity into the--trying to get the foundation started, and that was a payment to himself for the hours and the work that he had put in.
Q Did you ask him for anything to show what kind of work that was or any documentation of--of work?
A He was asked if--what type of work it was. And he advised that it was for phone calls and travel and getting the business started--or--correction--foundation started. He was asked if he had a log to show what type of work he had--had completed, which he advised he did not, but he could show that the work had been completed by him. So he would--could prove that he--the payment was--for him--to himself by the foundation was justified.
MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, at this time, I would move to introduce Exhibits 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, and 13.

THE CHAIR: All right. Now I'll hear Dr. Joyner's ex--objections.
PROF. JOYNER: I would object to that. None of these documents have been--
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry?
PROF. JOYNER: None of these documents have been authenticated. I recognize that this isn't a court of law, and you're not playing strictly by the rules of--of evidence. But the rules of evidence would prohibit their introduction into--into--into evidence, particularly since the people who allegedly received or prepared these documents have not authenticated them in--in any way.
THE CHAIR: Mr. Hart?
MR. HART: Yes, sir. The statements of Representative Wright authenticate the documents. He clearly identified each of the two letters as being letters sent by him for purposes of a charitable cor--cor--contribution from AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals and Anheuser-Busch, Incorporated, for charitable contributions to the Community Health Foundation.
The invoice he did not recognize, but that invoice was authenticated by John Policastro of AT&T. And--and the testimony of John Policastro matches with Representative Wright that someone from the Community Health Foundation had in fact called and requested a charitable contribution in the amount of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) and that that person was advised to send an invoice, and that person had done so. John Policastro identified that invoice as being the invoice that was received by AT&T.

And then the checks, which Representative Wright has specifically identified as being received by him from those corporations and that he deposited those checks in his own account and that those were his signatures, further au--authenticate the letters and the invoice and authenticate the deposit of those checks from those corporations.
THE CHAIR: All right. The objection as to Exhibits 6, 7, 8, 10, and 13 is overruled. Exception is noted. They are admitted.
I want to take a moment and look back at Policastro's--Mr. Policastro's testimony as to 11. So give me a second to look at 11, please.
MR. HART: Actually, Mr. Chairman, that document was already introduced and admitted previously by the Committee after the testimony of John Policastro--

THE CHAIR: All right. Let me go back to my notes.

MR. HART: --without objection by the--

THE CHAIR: Sort of was my recollection, but I want to go back and--and just double-check. Thank you.

All right. Here is the--the transcript that I've got from John Policastro's testimony. On Page 218, "Mr. Chairman"--"MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, at this time I'd move to introduce Exhibit Number 11.

"THE CHAIR: Any objection to Exhibit Number 11, Dr. Joyner?

"PROFESSOR JOYNER: No.

"CHAIR: All right. Without objection, Exhibit Number 11 is admitted."

So Exhibit 11 is already in.

MR. HART: That's all.

THE CHAIR: Yeah, I'm--I'm sorry?

MR. HART: That's all the questions I have of this witness.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

Cross-examination, Dr. Joyner?

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q All right. Mr. Umphlet, you indicated that you had two, I guess, rather substantial interviews with Representative Wright during 2007; is that correct?

A Yes, sir. That is correct.

Q One was on September 28th, I believe, and the other was on October 5th, 2007?

A That is correct, yes, sir.

Q All right. Now, for each of those interviews, you prepared a--a report; is that correct?

A Yes, sir, I did.

Q Did--did you tape the conversations that you had with Representative Wright?

A No, sir, I did not tape those.

Q So the--well, how--how did you prepare your notes from the--from the interview?

A It's the policy of the SBI not to tape-record or videotape interviews. We handwrite notes. And after we handwrite those notes, we can either type those notes up ourself on the computer, or we can dictate into a tape recorder and send the--the tape off to be transcribed by one of the transcriptionists with the SBI.

Q And with respect to the--the report of September 28th, how was that transcribed? Was that done by you, or did you dictate it into a recorder and send it to a transcriptionist?

A Dictated it into a recorder and sent it to a transcriptionist.

Q And when would this--this dictation have occurred?

A It's the policy within the SBI that the dictation has to be completed within fifteen working days. However, at one point during the investigation--and at which point--I don't recall what date that was--we were advised that all dictation in this case needed to be completed within five working days. If I recall, though, at the time of this interview, it was a still a fifteen-working-day period in which the interview had to be transcribed.

Q So the transcription could have occurred anywhere up to two weeks later?

A It could have, but it did not.

Q Okay. And--and do you know specifically when? That was my--my initial question was when was this transcribed?

A I don't have that date in--with me.

Q Well, when--

A So I cannot--

Q When--when was it dictated into the--your recording machine?

A It would have been dictated into the recording machine, I would say, probably within the--within the week following the interview.

Q And the dictation--the dictation that you provided was basic--was based on the notes that you took?

A That is correct, yes, sir.

Q And the notes that you took typically was not word for word everything that Representative Wright said?

A No, sir, it was not.

Q Right.

A It was not verbatim.

Q So when you went back to use your notes, you basically kind of relied upon your notes and your best recollection at that point of the exact comments that Representative Wright was--is attributed to have made?

A I prepared the report based on my notes and my recollection of the interview, yes, sir.

Q Now, with respect to the interview of October 5th, when did you do the dictation for that report?

A I believe, due to the length of that interview, it took me a couple of days just to dictate that report. It would have probably been done within one week of doing that--conducting that interview with Representative Wright.
Q So you--you--you don't represent that the words in the report represents exactly what Representative Wright said?
A No, sir, I don't. I would--I would advise that it was a paraphrase and a synopsis of the interview that took place.
Q All right. And it was based on your--your best recollection of what you recall him saying?
A Based on my notes that I took and my recollection, yes, sir.
Q Okay. Now, want to start with--with the discussion about--do--do you have a copy of your report there?
A No, sir, I do not.
Q Do you have a copy of your report at all?
A Not in this room, no, sir, I do not.
Q Well, did--did you review those reports before you came in here today?
A Yes, sir, I did.

Q All right. And how--how--when was the last time you reviewed those reports?
A I--this morning.
Q This morning?
A If--if--this morning, I would probably say as early as five A.M. or five-fifteen A.M. and as late as eight-thirty A.M.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, I have a copy of Mr. Umphlet's October 5th report.

THE CHAIR: All right.

PROF. JOYNER: And I would like to pass this up for him to reference.

THE CHAIR: Sure. If you're going to have the witness look at it, though, I'm going to ask that a copy be given to Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters.

PROF. JOYNER: O--only have one copy.

THE CHAIR: I'll ask sergeant at arms to make a copy. And the Chair needs to have one, as well. I'm not going to pass it out to the Committee at this point, unless you seek to want--you know, to use it in that vein.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, I--I'm--I'm--

THE CHAIR: I mean, I'll be glad to--

PROF. JOYNER: My--my questioning does not go to the entire report.

THE CHAIR: That's fine.

PROF. JOYNER: It goes to specific instances in the report.

THE CHAIR: Yeah, that's--

PROF. JOYNER: So to that extent--

THE CHAIR: That's why I'm not going to pass it out unless you want me to pass it out.

PROF. JOYNER: Right.

THE CHAIR: I'll leave it up to you on that regard. But I do--they need to see a copy. So--

PROF. JOYNER: That's--that's fine. I assume that they have a copy, but, you know--

THE CHAIR: I--I think that assumption may or may--

PROF. JOYNER: They may not.

THE CHAIR: --may not be correct.

If you would, if this--we'll be in recess for five minutes. If the sergeant at arms will make two copies, one--three copies, one for Mr. Hart, one for Mr. Peters, one for the Chair in case I need to see it. Oh, and the witness. Four copies.

(TEN-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. I think, Mr. Hart, Mr. Peters, you have a copy of the document. Witness has a copy of the document. We're ready to go. Cross is back with Dr. Joyner.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Mr. Umphlet, you--you talked about the conversation that you had with Representative Wright regarding these three checks?
A Yes, sir.
Q Do you find in that report the section in which you recorded that information?

THE CHAIR: Let's--let's go ahead and just make sure for the record that we're identifying, since the document's not marked. Do you want to just for the record indicate what document and the page that you're referring to so that the record's clear?

PROF. JOYNER: This is report dated October 5th, 2007 and is the report prepared by Mr. Umphlet regarding his October 5th conversation with--with Representative Wright.

A I have found that page, yes, sir.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Okay. And what page is that--do you find that starting on?
A Page 4.
Q Page 4?
A Yes, sir.
Q You indicated that in the end, Representative Wright said that he deposited the checks into his bank account. Do you recall that testimony?
A Yes, sir, I do.
Q All right. Do you recall the entire conversation that you had with Representative Wright regarding the deposit of those checks into his account?
A Do you mean the--the statement that I prepared?
Q Right.
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. No, I'm--I'm talking--do you have a recollection of the--the--the--the other comments that Representative Wright made regarding the deposit of those checks?
A I--I don't follow your question.
Q Okay. Well--well, let me just be more specific. In--in looking at your--your report--
A Yes, sir.

Q --you--well, you said you had the checks; is that correct?
A The--at the time, I had the checks, yes, sir.
Q Okay. Let--
A I don't have them with me today, except-- Q All right. Well, let's--let's--
A --this exhibits.
Q Let's go--let's go back to that, you know. Let's--let's look at--at Exhibit 7. And what is the date of that check?
A 3-05-2004.
Q So that's March 5th, 2004?
A Yes, sir.
Q And then looking at Exhibit 10. What is the date of that check?
A 12-15-2003.
Q That's December 15th, 2003?
A Yes, sir.
Q And then look at Exhibit 13. What is the date of that check?
A 04-01-04, or April 1st, 2004.
Q Okay. What--on what date were these checks deposited into Mr. Wright's account?
A I do not have that information with me as we sit here today.

Q In your--in your report, you said that the checks were deposited sometime later?
A Give me a minute, sir, so I can find that out.
MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, I have a suggestion. Rather than have Agent Umphlet search through twenty pages of report to find something that Mr. Joyner wants him to look at, it might be easier if he just tells him the page or the vicinity of where that might be.
THE CHAIR: I--I was getting to that myself. I agree completely, Mr. Hart.
And if you can just give us a paragraph and a page-- Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Let's look at--
THE CHAIR: --Dr. Joyner.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) --Page 5 of your report, Mr. Umphlet--
A Okay.
Q --and the fifth full paragraph--or fourth and fifth full paragraph.
A Okay. I--I found the paragraph.
Q You found it?
A Yes, sir.

Q And what did Representative Wright say regarding the deposit, the date of the deposit of those checks?
A It said--and reading from the report, "Wright reported that when he received the checks from AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch, they were deposited at a later date. Wright advised the checks sat around on his desk for a long time before he actually deposited them. Wright advised the Coastal Federal foundation account was probably closed by the time he deposited those checks."
Q And do--do you recall that the checks, the three checks, were actually deposited in November of 2004?
A At this time, I don't have the dates that the checks were actually deposited.
Q But you know that it was quite a few months after the receipt of--of the checks--
A The best of my recollection, yes, sir.
Q Best of your recollection?
A Yes, sir.
Q So in one instance, it would have been almost a year, and with respect to the--to the latter check, the April check, it would have been at least seve eight months?

A Well, without knowing the exact dates, I'd hate to--to give a year figure or an exact figure. But they were deposited at a later time.
Q Right. But--and--and you did--you did at that--at some point know that the date was a significant time after the receipt of these three checks?
A I know it was a time after. I'd--I mean, I'd hate to say _significant_ at this point, without having that documentation in front of me. But it was after, yes, sir.
Q Is there anything in any of your reports that would identify when these checks were deposited?
A Yes, sir, there is.
Q Okay. And where--where would that be?
A Not in this report.
Q Did you have another report?
A Not concerning my interview with Representative Wright, no, sir.
Q All right. So is there another report that speaks to when these checks were deposited?
A That would be his bank-account records--
Q Okay.
A --that we received.

Q And--and you had copies of that?
A Yes, sir.
Q And do you have that available with you?
A No, sir, I do not.
Q You didn't bring that?
A I did not bring any of the SBI's reports in here today, no, sir.
Q Okay. So these are the only reports that you have? The--the--the re--the report that I'm--I'm re-- making reference to now and the September 28th report are the only reports that you have with you?
A Well, actually I didn't bring any reports with me. The only report that I have is the report that was just handed to me, which is the October 5th, 2007, interview.
Q All right.
A But I don't have any other reports with me today.
Q All right. But other than these two reports, there are other reports that you prepared regarding the deposit of these--of these three checks?
A Yes. Well, I won't say myself. There were other agents that worked on this case. It's very possible that one of the other agents completed that aspect of it.

Q Let me just--just--just move on.
A Yes, sir.
Q With respect to--to--to the checks, you asked Representative Wright why did he deposit the checks into his personal account; is that correct?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q And your response was that he said that it was for sweat equity?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. Now, just show me in your report where you use the term "sweat equity."
A If you'll give me a minute. I'll have to-- (examines paperwritings). That would be--that would be on Page 6.
Q Okay. Where on Page 6 do you find that?
A The first--the first paragraph that starts with "From AT&T." And it's--it's about the fifth to sixth sentence down. There's a--a line that-- sentence that's been underlined. It's in the--it's in the sentence below that line.
Q On Page 6?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. Give--give me that direction again.
A Okay. On Page 6, it's the first paragraph. It's not the first full paragraph. It's the paragraph that starts with "From AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch." If you'll look down about four lines, you'll see "would have been his decision on what to do with the money." That line is underlined--or that sentence is underlined. Excuse me. If you'll look at the sentence below that, that is where the _sweat equity._

Q And the--the entire statement is that Wright then continued by saying _I put more into it than this_?
A Yes, sir.
Q That's what it says, right?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. And going back to the previous page. Representative Wright offered explanations as to-- and I believe you asked him if he had reports; is that correct?
A This interview was done by myself and Assistant Special Agent in Charge K. Perry. And during the interview, K. Perry asked if Wright had a log showing his work.
Q Okay. Oh, so you didn't ask that?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. And he indicated that he was--he deposited those checks into his account to reimburse him for his work with the foundation; is that correct?

A Yes, sir.

Q And then when it says here you asked what type of work Wright had done, he said that he'll save that; is that correct?

A Yes, sir.

Q And then advised--then Wright advised that it was for the countless hours of work he had done trying to make the foundation work? Is that what you record in your--in your report?

A Yes, sir.

Q All right. And then Representative Wright also indicated that he was not aware that--that a checking account in the foundation's name had been open at that point?

A He re--if you--hold on a second. I'll advise exactly what he said.

Q Okay.

A (Examines paperwritings.) He was not clearly aware of the foundation's checking account, but--

Q At that time?

A At that time, yes, sir.

Q Right. And--but at some point, he did have a conversation with Dr. Gottovi regarding that account?

A That is correct, yes, sir.

Q Did he not also say that he had documentation showing why he had reimbursed the money from those three checks? Go down to the last paragraph, sir.

A Yes, sir. Well, his--his--

THE CHAIR: What--what page are we on? I'm sorry.

THE WITNESS: Page 5.

PROF. JOYNER: Same page.

THE CHAIR: Okay.

A He didn't say _documentation,_ but he said he would be able to prove it, referring to the work that he had done.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Let--let me just--you know, just read from your report here. "Representative Wright reported that he had documentation showing why he was reimbursed the money in reference to the checks from AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch."

A Yes, the first sentence of that paragraph. That is correct.

Q And then he went on to become more specific about that and said, "Wright reported it was for travel, phone calls, meetings, and trying to make the foundation work." Is that what you report in your--in--what you recorded in your report?

A Yes, sir, it is.

Q Okay. And this is the conversation that you had with Representative Wright?

A Yes, sir.

Q And it was at that point that I guess--is it Ms. Perry?--

A Mr. Perry.

Q --Mr. Perry--

A Agent Perry.

Q --asked about a--a log, and Representative Wright said he didn't have a log but he could prove the expenses that he was referring to?

A That is correct.

Q That is correct. Okay.

Now, do you recall where you received Items 6--

THE CHAIR: Mis--mis--Dr. Joyner, I want to interrupt for one second. Because this is fact-finding for the Committee, I just want to get some indication that--we--we had a bunch of questions regarding couple paragraphs on Pages 5 and 6. Just so I know, is it going to be your intent at any point to give copies of that to the other members of the Committee, or will it not be?

PROF. JOYNER: We're--we're not at this point seeking to introduce this.

THE CHAIR: Well, I--I--I know. I mean, that's--that's kind of--I recognize right now. I'm just kind of trying to figure out so that they have context for the questions, which came in a pattern that may not have made it the most easy for them to understand. And I'm--I just want to know what I need to do here in terms of making sure that those questions and the points you were trying to make are very clear to the Committee. So help me, if you will, on what you may want to do with that.

PROF. JOYNER: Okay. Can I advi--can I advise you at a later--

THE CHAIR: At break? Yeah, that'd be--I--I just was raising the question. Thank you.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Now, where did you receive copies of Items 6 through 13 in the--in the workbook?

A Say six through which number, sir?

Q Thirteen.
A Items--Item Number 6--and I'll just go through them in order, if that's fine.
Q Okay. That's fine.
A Item Number 6, from the North Carolina Board of Elections. Item Number 7, North Carolina Board of Elections. Item Number 8, from the North Carolina Board of Elections. Item Number 9, I cannot recall if--if I received that from the Board of Elections or if I received that from AstraZeneca. Item Number 10, from the North Carolina Board of Elections. Item Number 11, I believe that I received that from John Policastro. And I believe, without looking at my report, I received Item Number 12--or Exhibit Number 12 from John Policastro, as well. And then the last exhibit, Exhibit Number 13, from the North Carolina Board of Elections.
Q Now, in addition to receipt of those documents, did you--did you receive Item Number 14?
A I don't have an Item--Exhibit Number 14, sir.
Q You don't have that in your book?
A No, sir, I do not.
THE CHAIR: Do you want me--do you want me to hand him an--Item 14?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes.
THE CHAIR: All right. Okay. And just so that you know, none of the members, I think, have it, since that was a part of the withdrawn count. But I can get it rehanded out if you need me to.
PROF. JOYNER: Well--oh, that--that--that's fine. That's fine.
THE CHAIR: Just leave it at--just--
PROF. JOYNER: Well, I--I mean, if you--if you need them to have a copy of it, that's--that's fine. If I could just go on and examine him--
THE CHAIR: Well, that's what I was going to say. If--and then you let me know if you want me to hand it back out, and I'll do that.
PROF. JOYNER: Okay.
THE CHAIR: Okay. But the agent does have 14 now.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Now, did you get a copy of that document?
A Just now?
Q No. Did you have--during your investigation--

A Yes, sir.
Q --did you receive a copy of that--that document?
A Yes, sir, I did.
Q And on the back side of that, it has a fax cover page. Do you see that?
A Yes, sir, I do.
Q All right. Now, you testified about a conversation with Representative Wright about a tax ID number?
A Yes, sir, I did.
Q Is--is--is this the document that you showed to Representative Wright regarding that conversation?
A No, sir, it is not.
Q All right. So you had some other document that you provided to him about the tax identification number?
A No, sir, I did not. If I can explain, I did not have that document.
Q He provided it to you?
A He provided it to me, yes, sir.
Q Okay. He provided it to you.
Did you check with the Internal Revenue Service regarding the authenticity of this tax ID number?
A Me specifically, I did not make that contact with the IRS. Through Mr. Dan Rose--another agent did that.

Q Okay. And did you determine that that was in fact the tax identification number that was assigned to the Community Health Foundation?
A I do not recall as I sit here for the--we had many rounds with the IRS and trying to determine this information. And I recall that once we received this information, that it was taken on face value that the employer identification number was authentic.
Q Okay. So--so you did not--your recollection is that you didn't check any further with Internal Revenue regarding the authenticity of this tax identification number?
A I did not.
Q You did not?
A Another agent did. And I don't have that report with me, as well, so I don't know exact--I can't recall exactly what that report says.
Q To the best of your recollection, you never received any information that this was not an authentic number--tax identification number assigned to the Community Health Foundation?

A It is correct that I did not receive any information that this was not a valid number.
Q You indicated in your direct testimony that Representative Wright at both interview had--interviews had videotaped the interview--
A Yes, sir.
Q --with a--was it a handheld camera, or--or stationary?
A It was a--like a typical handheld--I don't know whether it was a digital or it had a tape in it; I believe it had a tape in it--handheld audio recorder--I mean--I'm sorry--video recorder that he had set up on a tripod at the end of the table to record the interview.
Q All right. And--and--and that--the taping of the interview did not inhibit you in any way in asking Representative Wright questions that you need to ask him, right?
A No, sir.
Q It didn't intim--it didn't threaten you in any way, did it?
A No, sir. I was--I was after the truth. And--and if he wanted to record that, that--we did not have a problem with that.

Q Okay. And so he tape recorded both sessions; is that correct?
A Videotaped both sessions.
Q Videotaped both--both--both sections?
A Yes, sir. If he al--if he also had an audiotape, I don't know about that. I just know about a videotape.
Q Okay. Now, in response to another question from--from Mr. Hart, you indicated that at some point, that the videotape was turned off?
A Yes, sir, I did.
Q Okay. Why was the videotape turned off?
A Because we took a break.
Q You took a break?
A Yes, sir.
Q And I--I believe at that point, you--you had received a telephone call or something? You had some--some--some business to--to--to take care of?
A I--I--I can't recall exactly what business I had to take care of. I may have made a phone call. If I did--if I did, I did. I don't--I just don't recall if it was a phone call. It's very well likely that it was.
Q All right.

A But we did take a break for ten minutes.
Q Okay. And--and when you came back from the break the first thing that Representative Wright did was to provide you with these documents; is that correct?
A Yes, sir.
Q All right. And during the time that he was handing you the documents, the videotape wasn't on?
A That is correct.
Q All right. So he was actually handing you the--the documents. And I think that you have--you make reference to them in your report as you identify each of the documents and what the--the--the document purported to--to--to reveal; is that correct?
THE CHAIR: What--what page are we on?
THE WITNESS: Page 8.
PROF. JOYNER: Page 8.
THE CHAIR: Thank you.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Is--is that correct?
A I'm sorry. Could you--
Q Right. And I--
A --repeat the question?
Q In your report--

A Yes, sir.
Q --you have--you've documented the fact that you received these reports and what the reports or documents purported to convey to you?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q And with respect to that, there were--there was no conversation going on at that time between you and Representative Wright?
A It was more of me writing the information down about those documents and asking him could I make a copy of each document. But it was quite a lot of writing, so there was not much conversation, to my recollection.
Q Okay. And as soon as you had completed your recording of the data from those documents, the videotape was turned back on?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q And it was at that point that you resumed the dialogue between the two of you?
A That would be correct, yes, sir.
Q Okay. So--and--and--and I guess what I'm trying to show, that there was no substantive conversation held during the time that this videotape was off if there was some design not to record that conversation; is that correct?

A I don't know what his intent, desire was. But there was not a lot of conversation going on.
Q All right.
A I--I can't get into what he was thinking, but I--I do know that there was not a lot of conversation going on.
Q But you do know that during that time, you were basically receiving the documents that he had provided, and you were listing and explaining what those documents purported to--to show?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q Now, the--the documents that you received at that time was the fax with the ID number on it; is that correct?
A Yes, sir, that is correct.
Q This is what you testified to--
A Yes, sir.
Q --when Mr. Wright--and then this JR158 form?
A I believe the JR158 form was the fax page--
Q Okay.
A --from Memphis, Tennessee, identifying a employee identification number, one and the same that you just mentioned, yes, sir.

Q All right. And then a IRS Form SS4?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q And then you explained what that--what that was. And then the IRS W-9 form?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q All right. Now, is there--did you ever receive any information from anyone that that information provided in--in those documents--that that informa--was not authentic?
A No, sir.
Q All right. I want to take you back to your testimony regarding comments that Representative Wright--

THE CHAIR: Mis--Dr. Joyner, I'm going to try and--just thinking of the court reporter and a good time for a few-minute break. But I--I'll--is this a good time, or do you--

PROF. JOYNER: That's fine. That's fine.

THE CHAIR: All right. And while we're on break, I want counsel to be thinking of this on both sides. We've got--I'm--I've got the document. I've not looked at anything other than paging through to see how many pages there are of--and trying to follow the questions that Dr. Joyner asked.

Dr. Joyner and--and Representative Wright have the document. Our counsel has the document. I'd like to know and I'm going to ask for discussion on why the Members of the Committee shouldn't have this document. And so we'll talk about that at some point. But seems to me fairly important.

So with that being said, let's take a ten-minute break and let everybody take a recess for a moment. Thank you.

FOURTEEN-MINUTE RECESS

THE CHAIR: All right. The--we are back in order. We are still on cross-examination. Dr. Joyner.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Mr. Umphlet, want to go back to the--the discussion that you had with Representative Wright regarding bylaws for the Community Health Foundation. In--initially did you have some confusion about the work of the Community Health Center and the Community Health Foundation?
A There was--sorry. Excuse me. I apologize.

In the--in the beginning, there was some confusion as to--as to the difference between the Community Health Foundation and the New Hanover Community Health Center, because the two being right down there in Wilmington. And so what we did prior to each interview is I asked him would it be okay to refer to the New Hanover Community Health Center as "the Center" and the Community's Health Foundation as "the Foundation." As to what the two did, I knew what the Community--the New Hanover Community Health Center did, but did not, for a while, know what the exact purpose of the Community's Health Foundation was.
Q And you knew that Representative Wright was connected with both of those?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q And--and at the time, that he was serving as the chair of the Community Health Center and president of the Community Health Foundation?
A Yes, sir. Make sure I was correct on that. Yes, sir.
Q Now, with respect to the Foundation, you asked Representative Wright about bylaws in your first interview?

A On September 28th.
Q September 28th?
A Yes, sir.
Q And he told you at that time--I think initially he told that there were bylaws?
THE CHAIR: If--
PROF. JOYNER: Go on.
THE CHAIR: Go--go ahead and answer that.
A The way I recall him stating that was there were bylaws, and then turned around and said there were no bylaws, in the first meeting that we had, that initially there were bylaws but then corrected it to there were no bylaws. And then in our second interview is when he came back and said he would like to make a correction, that there were bylaws.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) And at--at the--at that same--I'm--I'm--I'm taking you back now to the sep twenty--September 28th interview. He also indicated that with respect to the foundation, that there were no official board meetings; is that correct?
A That is correct.
Q He--he did not--did he indi--didn't he indicate to you that--that members of the board had met unofficially?

A I recall that he had interaction with those members. But the exact wording of that I--I do not recall. I'm not saying either way. I just don't recall that fact.
Q But you--you do have a present recollection that there was some conversation with him about conversations and dialogues that he--dialogue that he had with members of the foundation board?
A To some extent. But to which extent I do not know.
Q Okay. But you were clear that--that--that there were no official board meetings and minutes?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q Okay. And--and that's what you have in your report; is that correct?
A Yes, sir. That is correct.
Q All right. Now, with respect to the--this letter from Torlen Wade, you have that--Exhibit 3 in your--in your notebook?
A If you'd give me a minute, sir. It's in front of me now.
Q Tell me when--if you recall, when you first saw that letter.
A I'd seen the letter in various types and--or let--

I'd seen the--the letter in--in different states, meaning that I'd--I'd seen the letter without it letterhead. I've seen the letter without a signature. And I've seen the letter as it appears as Exhibit Number 3 today. Now, an--an exact time frame as to when I first saw a signed letter or a--or the letter itself, I do not have a recollection of that date.
Q All right. Can--can--do you have a present recollection as to where you got the letter from?
A Well, I--I received the letters from--I've received several different letters from several different locations. One letter I received from Bill Dowdy with the--who's an investigator with the District Attorney's Office here in Wake County. And if I'm not mistaken, it was a forwarded e-mail--it was atta--an attachment to a forwarded e-mail to me. I recall that it had been sent to him from Kim Strach and that it had been sent to Kim Strach from Attorney Doug Kingsberry. That is one way I received a letter--this--a copy of this letter.
Q All right. Now, would this have been a signed, or unsigned?
A That would have been a signed letter.

Q Okay. Would--is--is--is--is--by _signed letter,_ do you mean a copy of this Exhibit 3?
A I mean a copy of the letter on letterhead with a signature on the bottom of the letter.
Q Okay. Just like Exhibit 3?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay.
A That was--that was one of--one of several ways that I received the letter.
Q Okay. Now, what--do you recall the other ways that you received the letter?
REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, objection. My objection is this: Since he's testified that Respondent has authenticated the signed letter, what possible difference does it make when he first saw it?
THE CHAIR: All right. Dr. Joyner, do you want to respond?
PROF. JOYNER: The question wasn't when did he first see it. The question was where did he get it.
REP. STAM: I renew my objection. Why would it possibly matter where he got it from?
THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner.

PROF. JOYNER: Because it's going to fit into my closing statement.

THE CHAIR: Going--okay. With that, I'm going to--for the time being, I'm going to overrule. Obviously, we want to kind of move a little bit faster on it, if we can. But it seems to me that's legitimate. And the objection is overruled.

A Okay. If it would help, I can explain how I received all--all the letters--

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Yes, that would help.

A --if that would help, in--in paragraph form. That would be--instead of asking the questions.

One copy of the letter I received from a computer at the Department of Health and Human Services from a prior--well, from the secretary who is currently at the Health and Human Services. She had gone on the computer, found a copy of it, and printed it off for me. That was an electronic copy which did not have a signature on it and was not on letterhead.

I received another copy from general counsel at DHHS that she had received from that same secretary when the--when she had requested a copy of that letter or a e--electronic version of that letter without a signature be forwarded to her.

It is my recollection that I also received a copy from--or correction: I did not receive that copy. Another agent, I believe, came in the possession of another copy of that letter. So I wouldn't be able to testify as to exactly who he received that from.

Q And you had some conversation with Representative Wright about this letter; is that correct?

A That is correct, sir.

Q This is during your September 28th interview?

A I believe, if I'm not mistaken, that conversation came up in both interviews, beginning on the one on the 28th of September of '07 and then again on October 5th of '07. But yes, I--I--I do recollect that conversation.

Q And that conversation was a part of a conversation regarding the purchase of the--the Loftin building; is that correct?

A That is correct, yes, sir.

Q All right. And in that conversation--or during that discussion, you asked, I believe,

Representative Wright about the source of funds that he anticipated receiving to pay off the mortgage with the Coastal Federal Bank; is that correct?

A Yes, sir, that is correct.

Q And do you recall him saying that--that it was his intent to get the money through the General Assembly special projects to pay for the Loftin building?

A Yes, sir. I--I specifically remember him saying that.

Q Okay. And--and he also indicated at that point that that effort fell through due to budget shortfalls that the General Assembly encountered during that time; is that correct?

A That is correct. He did make that statement, as well.

Q And that as a result of that, he was unable to obtain the funding? Is that your recollection?

A Yes, that is my recollection. Yes, sir.

Q Did you initially call Representative Wright about meeting with you for this--these interviews?

A Yes, sir. I believe the way that went is I--I don't think the first time I called him I was able to get ahold of him. I believe it--we played--may have played phone tag for a while. But I--I initial--I eventually received a telephone call from Representative Wright based on my request to him for an interview.

Q And it appears that that telephone call--it appears that telephone call was on September 20th. Is--does that--is that--that sound familiar?

A Yes, sir, it does.

Q And at that time, Representative Wright agreed to meet with you?

A Yes, sir, he did.

Q All right. And y'all specifically arranged to meet in the--I believe the conference room at the Community Health Center?

A I don't believe that we had made an agreement to meet during that phone call. Believe Representative Wright advised he needed to check his schedule or something about his schedule and that he would call me the following--I believe the following Tuesday for--to set up an appointment, at which--at which time he did call and set up an appointment with me for the Community's Health Foundation--I'm sorry--the New Hanover Community Health Center conference room on the first floor.

Q But you did voluntary meeting?
A Yes, sir, it was.
Q All right. How long did the September 28th meeting last?
A I would say the September 28th meeting lasted approximately three hours, give or take a few minutes. We had--had additional questions, but he had a prior engagement and advised that he did not--could not stay any longer. So the meeting ended approximately one P.M., if I'm not mistaken, somewhere around that time. But about three hours.
Q And the October 5th meeting, how long did that last?
A If I'm not mistaken, that meeting lasted--or that interview lasted at least six hours or somewhere in the ballpark of six hours.
Q And dur--during that time, did Representative Wright answer all of the questions that--that you had raised with him?
A Yes, sir. He answered every question that I had raised of him, yes, sir.
Q All right. Did you, in beginning either or both of those interviews, ever inform Representative Wright of his rights, his Miranda rights?

A No, sir, as it was not required.
Q Okay. So you didn't inform--you never said anything to him about any rights that he had?
A I believe, as indicated on this--if you give me just a second, sir. I--I apologize. (Examines paperwritings.) No, sir, he was not advised of any Miranda rights, as that was not required, since he was not in custody.
Q And--but he voluntarily came. And did--did he have an--his attorney with him?
A No, sir. He advised that he did not have an attorney and, as such, would like to video record the--the interview.
Q All right. Did he have anyone with him when he talk--talked with you?
A No, sir, he did not.
Q All right. Now, it was--I--I believe both interviews--
THE CHAIR: Dr. Joyner, let me interrupt for one quick question. Just so that--again, because we're dealing with Committee members who aren't all lawyers. Are--you're not making any claim that there should have been Miranda rights here, are you?

PROF. JOYNER: No. I'm just asking. That's all.
THE CHAIR: Okay. Just so that you know, Members of the Committee, when they were talking about Miranda rights, Miranda rights only have to be given when two things happen: when a suspect is in custody, that is not free to leave, and being interrogated. There's no claim that there was a Miranda rights requirement or violation here.
All right. Thank you.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) And in both of these interviews, you and--I--I think it was--
A It was--
Q --Agent Perry?
A Agent K. Perry. And for the record, for the stenographer, that's the letter "K" and not--no other spelling behind that. Just the letter "K."
Q So not the jewelry Kay?
A That would be correct.
Q Okay. So in both of these interviews, you--you and--and Agent Perry were present to conduct the--the interview?

A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q And in fact, both of you did participate in questioning Representative Wright, but you basically led the discussion--led the interviews?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
PROF. JOYNER: Okay. If I could have a moment?
THE CHAIR: Absolutely.
(DISCUSSION OFF RECORD)
Q (By Prof. Joyner) All right. Mr. Umphlet, you--when you--when you came to--into the interviews with Representative Wright, did you have a--a set list of questions that you were using to guide your interview with him?
A Yes, sir, I did.
Q All right. And what was the source of--of those questions?
A The District Attorney's Office. T
Q The--
A The Wake County District Attorney's Office.
Q Okay. Wake County District Attorney's Office?
A Yes, sir.
Q And--and my hesi--is because you were in New Hanover County?

A Yes, sir.
Q Yeah, when you--when you did--okay.
A I--I apologize. The Wake County District Attorney's Office.
Q All right. And so prior to the interview that you had with--or the interviews that you had with Representative Wright, you did have some meetings with the Wake County District Attorney to formulate a specific regimen of questions that you were going to--that you were going to cover with Representative Wright?
A I don't think that we had a meeting to formulate a set of questions. The que--there may have been some phone conversations, but the--the questions were prepared by the District Attorney's Office.
Q Okay. And they were--they were delivered to you or given to you in some manner?
A That is correct.
Q All right. And--and at the same time, you brought in with you specific documents that you wanted Representative Wright to--to respond to and identify; is that correct?
A That is correct, yes, sir.
Q All right. And I--I believe that you had something like two boxes of documents with you?

A I did. I had quite--quite a bit of documentation, yes, sir.
Q All right. And were you able to get through all of the documents that--that you had in--in your box?
A The--the documentation that--that was the bulk of that were campaign disclosure reports for 2002 through 2006. And I brought that documentation out and showed Representative Wright those forms. It was the first--and I advised him that they had--explained that there was approximately one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($185,000) in unreported campaign monies.

During that time, I went through step by step each reporting cycle to--but not the complete, entire. That would have probably taken another twelve hours. But we went through, and I showed him his disclosure report that he had submitted to the Board of Elections and asked him was that the report that he had submitted, and was that his signature.

Now, there was a lot of other documentation behind those disclosure reports that he did not look at and that--advised that he would like to have an opportunity with the Board of Elections to go through those documents for any discrepancies that there may be in the reporting.

But yes, those were documentation--documents that were there, as well. And--and they were--I would probably dare say there were probably six three-inch notebook binders.
Q With respect to those--those reports that you just referred to there, did Representative Wright not--didn't he also say that it was--it was his intention to amend those reports if there were discrepancies found?
A I don't think--my recollection is--is--was that it was not his intent to amend. My recollection was he would like the opportunities to sit down with the Board of--of Elections and to amend--
Q Right.
A --and to amend those reports and any monies, to sit down with them and discuss that. He may have said "intent." I just--I don't recall the word "intent." I recall he would like to sit down for the opportunity to look over that and to amend.
Q All right. But once you--you talked with him about that, he indicated that he wanted to sit down with them and then make whatever amendments that--that needed to be made?

A That is correct.
Q Okay. Now, did you also have some conversation with Wayne Loftin?
A Yes, I did.
Q All right. And during that conversation, did Mr. Lof--Loftin or someone else advise you that Representative Wright--

MR. HART: Objection. Hearsay.

THE CHAIR: Well, let me--let--I'll rule, but let me--let me get the full question. I'm--I've kind of got to hear the context of the question to know if it's being offered--how it's being offered.

Go ahead and ask the question. But don't answer till there's a ruling, please, Agent.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Did--was there some conversation with Mr. Loftin or someone about a fifty-thousand-dollar ($50,000) slush fund that Representative Wright was supposed to have?

MR. HART: Objection. Hearsay.

THE CHAIR: What's it being offered to prove the truth of?

PROF. JOYNER: I'm just asking if that was information that he had received that helped to form the interviews that--that he conducted.

THE CHAIR: All right. This is when not being a trial judge comes--let--let me think through this. The question is whether in fact he was given that information from Mr. Loftin? Is that the question?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes. Yes.

MR. HART: I also object on relevancy grounds, as well as hearsay.

THE CHAIR: All right. The objection's overruled as to hearsay. I think the question that's being asked in this context is not asking to prove the truth of the matter asserted. He's simply being asked if he was told that, not to prove that it was or was not true.

As to relevancy, Dr. Joyner, how is the question relevant?

PROF. JOYNER: We're dealing in--in part here with an offer or involvement of Mr. Lof-- Loftin in the purchase of this building that formed the basis of this hundred-and-fifty-thousand-dollar ($150,000) issue that's--that's before us. And so it's--it's relevant in--in the sense--in that sense. Because--we had--we've had testimony identifying Wayne Loftin as the son of the owners of the building, that he was an intimate with Mr. Burbank from the Coastal Federal Bank and was involved in some way in making initial contacts about the granting of the loan to the Community Health Foundation. So--

THE CHAIR: I'm--all right. I'm going to sustain the relevancy objection for right now, but I'm going to reserve the right to think about-- you're not going to be released from your subpoena, anyway, Agent, today. So I'm going to reserve the right to--to come back to that as we finish questioning. So it's over--it's sustained for right now. Reserve the right to reconsider it.

Please go on.

PROF. JOYNER: That--that was going to be my last question, Mr. Chair.

THE CHAIR: All right. Redirect.

Thank you. Thank you, Dr. Loftin (sic).

REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. HART:

Q Agent Umphlet, I'm going to ask you, if you would, if you'd look at Page 5 of that particular report that you've been being asked about.

A Okay.

Q You've been asked several questions about portion of what's in your report. In order to put that into context, your responses, I want to ask you, if you would, if you'd read certain paragraphs from Page 5 and Page 6. If you would, the third full paragraph on Page 5, beginning, "Representative Wright." Will you read that paragraph, please?

A On Page 5, the third full paragraph.

Q Beginning, "Representative Wright."

A "Representative Wright reported the purpose of the checks from AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch was to begin to assist the foundation in the foundation's process and for the work of the foundation. Wright reported he deposited all three of those checks into his personal bank account at the Bank of America. Wright advised he deposited those checks into his account to reimburse him for his work with the foundation. When ASAC Umphlet asked what type of work Wright had done, Wright advised, `Lots of work.' ASAC Umphlet asked what type of work Wright had done. Wright advised, `I'll save that. I don't want to say that at my-- at my point. I don't want to incriminate myself. It looks to me that y'all are trying to build a case against me.' Wright then advised it was for the countless hours of work he had done trying to make the foundation work."

Q And if you would, read the next paragraph, to put that in context, as well, sir.

A "ASAC Umphlet asked Representative Wright why the checks were not deposited into the foundation's checking account. Wright advised he was not clearly aware of the foundation's checking account but did recall Gottovi talking about the checking account. Wright reported that when he received the checks from AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch, they were deposited at a later date. Wright advised the checks sat around on his desk for a long time before he actually deposited them. Wright advised the Coastal Federal Foundation account was probably closed by the time he deposited those checks.'

Q And the next paragraph, as well, that goes over on Page 6, please, sir.

A "Representative Wright reported that he had documentation showing why he was reimbursed the money in reference to the checks from AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch. Wright reported it was for travel, phone calls, meetings, and trying to make the foundation work. ASAC Perry asked if Wright had a log showing his work. Wright said he did not have a log, but he would be able to prove it, referring to the work he had done. Wright advised the checks from AT&T, AstraZeneca, and Anheuser-Busch were not restricted as to how they were to be used. Wright advised, `No one goes into a business and does not expect to--to be reimbursed.' Wright advised it would have been his decision on what to do with the money. Wright stated that with what he put into the foundation in sweat equity--Wright then continued by stating, `I put more into it--into it than this.' Wright was referring to the amount of the checks from Anheuser-Busch, AstraZeneca, and AT&T. Wright advised he did not recall when he actually received those three checks, but he did remember putting them aside for a while. Wright advised there was nothing illegal about paying himself."

Q Now, you indicated in cross-examination that at some point, Representative Wright had shown you the fax from the Tennessee center, the Memphis, Tennessee, center; is that correct?

A That is correct, yes, sir.

Q And on Page 6, how--in the middle of that last paragraph, there's a statement that--where he responded whether or not he would show you the--the fax.

A Is that the sentence that begins with "Wright said he would not show"? I'm--there's--there's--

Q Yes, sir. Tell us--tell us what he said there.

A "Wright said he would not show the fax to ASAC Umphlet, because the fax was his smoking gun."

Q Now, Mr. Joyner asked you about the video recorder not being turned on and the fact that there was not a lot of conversation going on during that time period. But I'd ask you if you would look at Page 8 at the--what appears to be the--the third paragraph, saying, "Upon returning." Tell us what--what--what--what that says, sir.

A "Upon returning from the break, Representative Wright advised that he had several documents that ASAC Umphlet could review. Wright advised that he would not turn on his video during this portion of the interview, and that would--and that it would be off record."

Q Did he say what he meant by "off record," sir?

A Not to my recollection, no, sir.

Q And again, he did not provide you with copies of those documents he showed you at that time, correct?

A No, sir, he did not.

Q All right. Mr. Joyner asked you about the campaign--the documents that--that you showed Representative Wright, and specifically that you talked about some campaign disclosure forms?

A That is correct.

Q Ask you, if you would, if you'd look at, in your notebook, Exhibit 16A.

And be--before I ask you about that particular document, you--you said in response to some of Mr. Joyner's questions that you asked Representative Wright if he filed the campaign disclosure forms and if his signature was on those forms. How did Representative Wright respond when you asked those questions?

A That he had filled out the forms and signed--signed the forms to submit to the Board of Elections.

Q All right. Now, was Exhibit 16A one of the campaign disclosure forms that--that you showed him and that he said he had filed and signed?

A If you don't mind, I'd like a chance to look at these notes right here before I--

Q Yes, sir. I believe if you'll on Page 9 of your report.

A If you don't mind, I just need more time to--to review this. (Examines paperwritings.) Okay. After reviewing--reviewing this information, my report advised that I went over disclosure reports from 2000 to 2006. The first paragraph in here where I show something being done was for the 2001 mid year. I don't have reference, that I see at this point, in here to the 2000.

Q If--if you would, sir, look at the paragraph just above that.

THE CHAIR: We're talking the fourth paragraph on that page; is that correct?

MR. HART: That's correct. Where it says, "As part of this interview, ASAC Umphlet."

A Okay.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Does that refresh your recollection where the--the 2000 first-quarter, second-quarter, third-quarter, and fourth-quarter reports?

A That is correct.
Q All right. And is that Exhibit 16A, sir?
A The first-quarter report for 2000 is, yes, sir.
Q All right. If--if you'd look through that, is that all four quarters, 16A?
A Let's see. I'm sorry. Yes. Could you repeat your question again?
Q Yes, sir.
A I'm sorry.
Q Is--Exhibit 16A, is--is that the--all four periods for the year 2000?
A Yes, it is.
Q And is that what you referred to in your report as the campaign disclosure forms that you showed him?
A Yes, sir, it is.
Q And do you indicate, sir, that--that he said that he had filed each of those and had signed each of those?
A For--for the year of 2000?
Q Yes, sir.
A Yes. Yes. Yes. I did indicate that, yes, sir.
Q All right. And if you look at 16B, sir?
A Okay.
Q And is 16B the mid-year and year-end disclosure reports that you showed him for 2001?

A Yes, sir.
Q And did he indicate that he had signed those and sent those to the Board of Elections?
A Yes, sir, he did.
Q Ask you to look at 16C. Are those the first-, second-, and third-quarter reports and fourth-quarter reports for the year 2002 that you showed him?
A Yes, they are.
Q And did he indicate to you that he had signed those and had sent those to the Board of Elections?
A Yes, sir, he did.
Q Ask you to look at 16D, and ask--ask you if those are the year 2003 mid-year and year-end disclosure reports that you showed him.
A Yes, sir. Can I--can I make a comment about one of the 2001 mid-year reports?
Q Yes, sir.
A At that point, Representative Wright was not sure at what point some of the disclosure reports had to quit being signed by legislators.
Q Signed, or notarized?
A Notarized. Excuse me. Notarized.

I just wanted to make that--that distinction right there.
Q All right. So 16D, are those the mid-year and year-end disclosure reports that you showed Representative Wright?
A Yes. They appear to be, yes, sir.
Q And did he tell you that he had signed and--signed those and sent those to the Board of Elections?
A Yes, he did.
Q Ask you, if you would, if you'd look at 16E, and whether those are the 2004 first-quarter, second-quarter, third-quarter, and fourth-quarter disclosure reports that you showed him.
A Yes, they are.
Q Now, I believe that Representative Wright indicated to you that he had sent each of those to the Board of Elections; is that correct?
A That is correct.
Q Did he indicate to you that he had signed a couple of those but not signed a couple others?
A That is correct.
Q Do you remember what he said about why two of those were not signed?
A Maybe that he was in a hurry and had forgotten to sign them.

Q Okay. Ask you to look at the document marked 16F. Ask you, sir, if that is the 2005 mid-year and year-end disclosure reports that you showed Representative Wright.
A Yes. They appear to be, yes.
Q All right, sir. And did Representative Wright tell you that he had personally signed each of those and sent them to the Board of Elections?
A Yes, he did.
Q Ask you to look at 16G, Exhibit 16G. And ask you if those are the 2006 first-quarter, second-quarter, third-quarter, and fourth-quarter reports that you showed Representative Wright.
A Yes, sir, they appear to be.
Q And did Representative Wright indicate to you that he had signed each of those reports and sent those to the Board of Elections?
A Yes, sir, he did.
Q In cross-examination, Representative Joyner asked you if you had some conversation with Representative Wright in which--
PROF. JOYNER: Don't think before the election--

MR. HART: I'm sorry. Excuse me.

Q (By Mr. Hart) Mr. Joyner asked you if you had had some conversation with Representative Wright about the fact that he wanted to know why he couldn't just amend his reports, that he'd like to have an opportunity to amend his reports?

A Yes, sir.

Q Did he indicate to you that he was surprised by your inquiry about that and your allegations about a hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($185,000) in unreported contributions?

A Advised it was new information to him.

Q That it was new information to him?

A Yes, sir.

Q And this was in September--this was in October of 2007?

A Yes, sir.

MR. HART: That's all the questions I have, sir.

THE CHAIR: Recross.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Agent Umphlet, let's--let's see if we can't clarify something. With respect to the reports 16A through 16H or whatever, that series of report--

THE CHAIR: G? 'Cause I don't know that there is an H. Is that right?

PROF. JOYNER: G.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) My recollection from your direct--or from your ex--your--your answer on cross-exam--examination was that Representative Wright had indicated that he wanted to meet with the Board of Elections to review those reports and have an opportunity to make amendments if there were discrepancies. Is that--is that what his--his statement was to you?

A Wright advised he would like the time to review and evaluate the material and to be able to respond and be able to see what was going on. That was one of the comments that he made. If you give me just a second to--to review this, I'll--(examines paperwritings). He advised that he would have to go back and take an internal look and go back and amend the reports, but there was nothing intentional as to the nondisclosure of those donations.

Q Okay. But on cross-examination, you specifically indicated that Representative Wright had said that he had wanted to review that information with the Board or have an opportunity to review that information with the Board of Elections and--and to amend it; is that--

A That is correct, yes, sir.

Q That

said?

A Yes, sir.

Q This is--and these were the same documents that you were referring to at that point?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. Now I just want to take you back. Mis--Mr. Hart had you to read several things from Pages 5 and 6. And one of the things that he read--that he had you read was that Representative Wright did not want to show you a copy of the fax--tax identification number. Do--do--do you recall that?

A Yes, sir, I do recall that.

Q Okay. And I'm going to just direct your attention to Page 6 in your report.

A Yes, sir.

Q And the last paragraph there.

A Yes, sir.

Q And ask if you would read that.

A The whole paragraph?

Q Yes, the whole paragraph.

A "ASAC Umphlet showed Representative Wright the letter to Lewis McKinney of Anheuser-Busch, which was dated February 6th, 2004, and the letter to Brian Shank of AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, which was dated November 14, 2003. ASAC Umphlet pointed out to Wright that the letters identified a federal tax identification or ID number, of"--am I allowed to read the number in this--open court?

Q Yes.

A Okay. "56 dash 2252434. ASAC Umphlet asked Wright about the tax ID number. Wright reported that he had applied for the tax ID number with the Internal Revenue Service. Wright advised that his legislative staff in Raleigh helped him in getting the tax ID number. Wright did not want to say who those staff members were but advised that some were no longer employees. Wright advised he had a copy of the application, even a response from the IRS that they had faxed to Wright with the tax ID number on it. ASAC Umphlet asked Wright would he, in parenthesis, Wright, end parenthesis, show ASAC Umphlet the fax from the IRS with the tax identification number on it. Wright said he would not show the fax to ASAC Umphlet, because the fax was his smoking gun. Wright reported that his member of Congress, Mike McIntyre, helped Wright in obtaining the tax ID number. Wright advised that McIntyre would not know about the tax ID number but that his staff would know. Wright reported that he received the fax from both his fax at the residence and his fax at his Raleigh office. Wright advised he has it and can prove it. ASAC Umphlet asked Wright if the issue concerning the tax ID number could be ended by Wright showing ASAC Umphlet and ASAC Perry the fax, would he show them the fax? Wright advised he knew that he could not fictitiously create the tax ID number,"--or, correction--"could not fictitiously create that tax ID number. ASAC Perry advised Wright that he, ASAC Perry, and ASAC Umphlet were trying to get to the truth. Wright advised he was trying to protect himself. Wright advised he had already been told he was being charged and that he was told that back in February. Wright then advised he would reflect on giving that document to ASAC Umphlet and that he had several copies."

Q All right. Now, want to just direct your attention now to Page 9 of that report. In the second full paragraph there, does it not indicate that Representative Wright advised you that he would show you those documents?

A On Page 9?

Q Yes. On Page 8. I'm sorry.

A Okay. "Upon returning from the break, Representative Wright advised that he had several documents that ASAC Umphlet could review," which were those documents.

Q Which were the same documents that you--that he just--he just talked about and said that he would not provide to you?

A That is correct.

Q All right. And then in the rest of that page, you go on to receive and review those documents and to describe exactly what those documents showed; is that correct?

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, if I could interrupt a sec, here?

THE CHAIR: Sure.

REP. STAM: We have now so thoroughly asked about that document. Could the Committee members have a copy of it?

THE CHAIR: I am pretty strongly inclined to do that, but I want to take the break at lunch to think about how I want to handle that. But--

REP. STAM: Thanks.

THE CHAIR: Somebody's probably going to have to persuade me otherwise. But we'll go from here to break. And let me think about it.

Dr. Joyner, please continue.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) And in the next three paragraphs, you go on to identify and describe those three documents; is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q And one of those documents is the flip side of Exhibit 14?

A That is correct.

Q And that--is that the same tax ID number that you made reference to on Page 6 with the letter from McKinney--or the letter to McKinney?

A Yes, it is.

Q It's the same thing?

A Yes, it is.

Q So on--when initially asked about these documents, Representative Wright declined or refused to provide them to you. But as soon as the break was over, he did provide you with those--with those documents, ad you reviewed them and were given sufficient time to identify each of those documents?

A That is correct.

PROF. JOYNER: I have no further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. I'm going to hold the Committee's questions until after break. We're going to take our break a little bit early so I can think about this document.

Now, if we can--and this is--again, I want folks to not be exhausted. We're going to have our break, but we're actually going to break until two o'clock, so it's an hour and twenty minutes. We--I'm sorry. Mr. Hart, are you--we'll be in recess until two o'clock. Thank you.

(EIGHTY-SIX-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: We are back in order for this afternoon's session. Couple of logistics matters to resolve first. We're going to stop at four o'clock today. Conflicts both by some counsel and--and Committee members. And again, I think rather than trying a forced march to get through, we're going to take the time we need to do this. We will, however, start tomorrow at nine o'clock. And I do want to try to--would like to try to finish up, if at all possible, tomorrow. Again without--but I do want to start at nine.

Secondly, I have reviewed the document that was referred to at length, over lunch. I'm--I'm not going to allow it into evidence as a separate document. I don't think either counsel has objection to that, the particular ruling. we have--I think both counsel have gone to great lengths to introduce specific paragraphs that they thought were relevant into the record. And the agent will--I'm sorry--of course, not be released from the subpoena today, so that if we have other paragraphs that we need to get in, we can--we can do that tomorrow, since we will clearly be meeting tomorrow.

I think that the best proceedings are generally with relying on the counsel for both sides, who are representing their clients extraordinarily well. And always thought as counsel it was inappropriate for chairs or judges to try to litigate the case as well as chair it. So I'm not going to engage in that practice that I always despised.

There may be questions that--a couple of paragraphs that other--that counsel may want to put in. And as I said, we'll have that opportunity. But for now, the document will not be entered into the record.

I should also note that the document contains a number of provis--of paragraphs unrelated to any charges that are here today.

Okay. With that being said, I think that we're through counsel questioning, if I remember. Am I right?

Okay. Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. No further questions.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. Representative

Warren.

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: No questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. And I will--I may, but I do not have questions today. I'll hold my questions in subject to recalling the agent in the morning.

Agent, thank you. I think that ends--since there were no questions, there shouldn't be any redirect or recross. Agent, thank you very much. I do want to say--and I want to thank the Agent and can relate as chair, who is now testifying on about an hour's worth of sleep over the last day, because we both share something, and that is that we both have Labs who are absolutely frightened of thunderstorms, and they sit in our beds, and--and in each of our cases, we dog-sit during thunderstorms. He dog-sat last night. So I can relate completely and hope you catch some sleep this evening--

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: --and your dog does, too.

Thank you.

All right. With that, Mr. Hart, next witness.

MR. PETERS: The next witness would be Kim Strach.

THE CHAIR: Ms. Strach, if you'll come forward.

Whereupon,

KIMBERLY W. STRACH,

having been first duly sworn,

was examined and testified

as follows:

THE CHAIR: Thank you, Ms. Strach. Mr. Hart, the witness is with you.

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. PETERS:

Q Could you state your name, please?

A Kim Westbrook Strach.

Q And how are you employed, Ms. Strach?

A I am the deputy director of the North Carolina State Board of Elections.

Q How long have you been in that position?

A Let's see. Since March 2000.

-93-

Q Were you with the State Board of Elections before March of 2000?
A Excuse me. That's--that's when I came to the State Board of Elections. I have been the deputy director since October of '01.
Q And what position did you hold at the State Board before becoming deputy director?
A I was an elections investigator.
Q And what did your duties as election investigator involve?
A Primarily I investigated complaints that alleged violations of the campaign-finance regulations.
Q And what do your duties as deputy director involve.
A Still that--that is certainly part of my duties now. But the other, I am in charge of making sure that all political committees in North Carolina provide disclosure and are in compliance with the campaign-finance statutes.
Q You referred, I believe, to investigating violations of the the campaign-finance laws?
A Yes.
Q Could you describe a little bit more what that involves?
A Well, it involves--often we--the State Board of

-94-

Elections will receive complaints from register--if a registered voter files a complaint alleging a violation against any political committee, then it is the--the job of the Campaign Finance Division of the State Board of Elections to investigate that complaint. And it may be that a complaint is--may be--the complaint may be involving a county official or a municipal office. Still all of those offices--those complaints are--are handled by our office.
Q Okay. Drawing your attention to December of 2006. Do you know if the State Board received a complaint regarding Representative Wright in around that time?
A Early December 2006, we did receive a complaint.
Q Do you recall who that complaint was from?
A It was from Joe Sinsheimer.
Q And what--can you describe the gist of that complaint, what the complaint alleged?
A The allegations were that Representative Wright had filed false or misleading reports regarding various contributions from employees or contributors from the Sims Hugo Neu Corporation. And it also alleged some improper filing with respect to some sort of paylay--payday lending companies, as well.

-95-

Q Do you know what the Sims Hugo Neu Corporation i Do you know anything about that organization?
A The Sims Hugh Neu Corporation was--was proposing to put a landfill in the Town of Navassa, which is close to Wilmington.
Q Okay. Did your office take any action with regard to that complaint?
A We did. We investigated that complaint and later held a hearing on those allegations.
Q Okay. When you say "we investigated," can you describe in detail what you did to investigate that complaint?
A Sure. The first thing we did was we sent notice to Representative Wright and gave him the opportunity to respond to the allegations in the complaint. In order for us to investigate the--the allegations that were alleged here, we needed to look at the bank records, because the allegations were that Representative Wright had disclosed receiving contributions from the Sims Hugo Neu employees, but he had disclosed it at a time after the primary and not when he had actually received those contributions. So in order for us to make a determination on--on those allegations, we would need to look at the bank records to see when those checks were deposited.

Q So that I'm clear, the allegation in the complaint, then, was that reports were disclosed later than they should have been?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Now, you said you gave Representative Wright notice of the complaint?
A Yes.
Q Did you receive any response from Representative Wright?
A The--the note--the--the letter was sent to him shortly after we received the complaint, and it--it was close to Christmas. So I--I--I believe that we gave him until sometime mid January to respond to that. On the day that it was due, I got a voicemail from Representative Wright--I believe--I--I believe I received the voicemail asking--saying that he--his--he had been out of town over Christmas, that he had had a death in his family, and he needed an extension of time to respond. I called him back that day, left him a message th he could--he could certainly have an additional weeks to respond.

On that deadline, which would have been, I believe, January 31st, Representative Wright came to my office to meet with me. And he stated that he did not have a response, but he wanted--he wanted us to know that we was not ignoring us, that he wanted to come in and find out what he needed to do to resolve the complaint.

I spoke with him for a few minutes. I remember that day he was not feeling well. And we--we talked about what he would need to do. He told me he wanted to comply and that he needed the--I told him we would need some records from him. He said he understood that, but the problem was his treasurer had just had surgery, and she had the records and wouldn't be able to--to provide them right then. So he would call me that afternoon with her name, and we would set up a time to get together.

Q When you said you would need some records from him, what records were those that you were going to need?

A His campaign-account records.

Q For any particular period of time?

-98-

A Well, at that time, we were trying to--to find the--2006 was the--the time period in the complaint was for 2006. So records from that length of time for those--for those reports. That would have been--probably covered from January till--to the--to the election.

Q All right. And I believe you said he said he would call that afternoon with the name--

A He said when he got back to his office, that he would call with the contact information for her. He didn't have it with him, but he would--he would call.

Q Did he in fact call?

A He didn't. So--

Q I'm sorry. Did you say--

A He did not. He did not call.

So after a couple of weeks, I wrote a letter to Representative Wright. And with the letter, I included an authorization for him to authorize us to get those records so that we could review them and try to resolve the complaint. I did not--I--I think--and I gave a deadline of February the 20th. At that time, I believe we had--that that letter was picked up, `cause I'm not--I--I'm not absolutely sure, but I think it may have been sent certified mail. But we did not get a response from that. And so the next day, a staff member hand-delivered the letter and an authorization to his office, and Representative Wright signed that.

-99-

Q Was that to his office here in Raleigh?

A It was.

Q Okay. What happened next?

A He signed that, the authorization, which--the authorization, what we do--this is not unusual for--sometimes we--we send out authorizations if we have to--to do investigations like this. We certainly give the committees the chance to authorize us to get those records.

We have to put on there the bank-account number that we have, that they're required to give us. We had listed that bank account on the authorization. And when we came back to our office, called the bank. They informed us that that bank account had been closed a few years ago. So at that point, after discussing this with my executive director, we decided to subpoena those records.

-100-

Q All right. To--to back up just a little bit, you said that Representative Wright was required to provide you with a bank-account number?

A Every political committee that is registered with our office or even a county board of elections office is required when they--when they organize their committee, they are required to give us the bank-account numbers of all accounts they're going to use for their campaign. And if they change bank accounts, then they are also required to notify us of that change and provide any new account information.

Q And so was it that bank-account number that you had on record for Representative's Wright campaign committee? Is that the bank-account number that you called the bank about?

A Yes.

Q And I believe you said you were told that it--that bank account had been closed?

A Yes.

Q Do you recall when it had been closed?

A It was closed in 2003.

Q All right. And this was in--when you made that call was--

A This was in early 2007.
Q All right. So what did you do next?
A We subpoenaed the records. And at that time, we started getting--getting records. We subpoenaed actually the bank. And Bank of America did have accounts for Representative Wright, and so they provided those records to us.
Q When you say you subpoenaed the records, what exactly did you ask Bank America for--
A For--
Q --in the subpoena?
A In--what we decided to do, because we didn't know what--what we were actually--where his accounts were or--or--we asked them to provide us with the bank records of any account that he was listed on the account for.
Q All right. And what happened next in the investigation?
A After we start--we started receiving bank records. Our staff started reviewing those records. And what we--what we were trying to do was to find where these--these contributions had been deposited so that we could--we could then determine if those allegations were--there was merit to those allega-- allegations. We didn't--there were--there were two bank accounts--actually there were three bank accounts at Bank of America. But it was obvious when we started receiving the records that that was not the only bank that had to be used, because there was a gap in--in--in the time period. So we also--by that time, I think Representative Wright was represented by counsel. And counsel called us and said Representative Wright wanted to cooperate with us, and he would authorize us to get any bank account that he had. And so he told us where his bank accounts were, and he signed authorizations for additional bank accounts.

Q Without necessarily giving account numbers, what--exactly what bank accounts did you learn existed at Bank of America or had existed at Bank of America?
A There were--we received records for three bank accounts from Bank of America. One was the campaign account that had closed in 2003. There was a--an account that just had Representative Wright's--his personal account had "Thomas E. Wright" on the--on--on that account. And there was also a joint account with his wife.
Q And when his counsel called and identified other accounts, do you recall where those accounts were?

A He--for a period of time, I believe--and I do ha[ve] a list of when they were. In '04--from April 23[rd], 2004, to June of '05, his campaign account was at First Citizens Bank. And then in February, he opened an account at Coastal Federal Bank.
Q All right. So in total, how many bank accounts did you discover that were used as campaign accounts?
A There--there were campaign contributions deposited in five different accounts. The--the joint account with his wife, there was only one campaign contribution deposited in that account. But the other accounts had a significant number of contributions that were deposited into them.
Q All right. Could you tell if there was any period of time in the time you were looking at with the accounts when there was not a campaign count--account in existence?
A There was. From--the--the First Citizens Bank closed in June of '05. And from June of '05 until February of '07, the only account that he had was his personal account. And that is where contributions were deposited during that time solely.

Q Perhaps just so the record is clear, the bank accounts that were campaign accounts, not the personal accounts, could you state for each one what dates they were in existence and which bank--
A I could.
Q --they were at?
A The campaign accounts, the--the Bank of America account was opened April 3rd, 2000. And it closed November 4th, 2003. The First Citizens Bank was April 23rd, 2004, and it closed June 9th, 2005. The Coastal Federal Bank was opened February 24th, 2007. And to my knowledge, that bank account may still be open.
Q All right. And was the personal bank account--not the joint one but the one that was just in Representative's Wright--Representative Wright's name, was that account open and active during the entire period of time you looked at?
A It was. That account was opened July 14th, 1999, and was open through our investigation.
Q All right. So what did you do next in your investigation?
A Once we had obtained all of the records, then w[e] we--what we were trying to do is--as--as our fi[rst] goal was--was to--to look at the allegations in the complaint. Upon reviewing those records, it became immediately clear that there were a significant number of contributions that were not disclosed that had been deposited in those accounts. So that became another area that we started investigating. Not only the--the--the 2006, but because there were certainly contributions that were not showing up on any report, that was a turn that we--that the investigation took at that time.

Q And you say there were contributions that were not disclosed. What do you mean by them not being disclosed?

A Every political committee that is--raises more than three thousand dollars ($3,000) or--is required to report every contribution they receive. And that--those contributions are supposed to be disclosed on disclosure reports that are filed, during even-numbered years, quarterly, and, during odd-numbered years, semiannually. And so any--any amount of money that goes--that is written to a candidate or to any political committee that--for that purpose must be disclosed. And there were checks that were in not only the campaign account but the account that was a personal account that were made payable to the Thomas Wright campaign.

Q And did you compare those checks to the disclosure reports then?

A Yes, we did. Yes, we did.

Q All right. Let me ask you to--speaking of the disclosure reports, let me ask you to turn to Exhibit 16A in the notebook. And I'll--I'll give you a minute to look at those. Let me know when you've--there're a number of pages there. So please let me know when you've finished looking through those pages.

A I'm--I'm finished.

Q Okay. Can you identify the documents that are in 16A?

A I can. These are the four quarterly disclosure reports for the year 2000.

Q The--and they would be filed by--these reports were filed by whom?

A They were filed by Thomas Wright.

Q All right. At the top, does it say--of the first one, "Thomas Wright Campaign Committee"?

A It's the Thomas Wright Campaign Committee. And they're--are the first quarter, the second quarter, the third and fourth quarter.

Q So would these be all of the reports that would have been filed for the year 2000?

A That would be all the required reports for 2000.

Q All right. Let me ask you to look at Exhibit 16B. And again take a minute to look at it. It's not quite as thick.

A Okay.

Q Can you identify that?

A Yes. Those would be the two required reports for 2001, the mid-year semiannual report, and the year-end.

Q All right. And these again are the Thomas Wright Committee?

A This is the Thomas Wright Committee.

Q All right.

A And--and filed by Thomas Wright.

Q All right. Let me ask you to look at Exhibit 16C.

A Okay.

Q Okay. Can you identify what 16C is?

A 16C were the reports required for 2002. And in 2002, we had an additional report called the interim report. So there was the first, second, interim, third, and fourth quarter.

Q And again are these reports of the Thomas Wright Campaign?

A They are.

Q All right. And Exhibit 16D?

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Before you go on to 16D, I just want to make sure in my notes. Is 16C filed by Thomas Wright?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

Q (By Mr. Peters) Can you identify 16D?

A The--the--the reports--these are the two reports for 2003, the mid-year semiannual and the year-end semiannual.

Q And again are these reports filed by the Thomas Wright Campaign Committee?

A They are.

Q Could you look at 16E?

A (Examines paperwritings.)

Q And can you identify 16E?

A Yes. This--these are the reports for 2004, the first, second, third, and fourth quarter.

Q And again, were these filed by the Thomas Wright Committee?

A They were.
Q All right. Turning your attention to 16F. If you could, look at that.
A Yes.
Q Can you identify those documents?
A They would be the mid-year semiannual and the year-end semiannual for 2005.
Q And again, were these filed by the Thomas Wright Campaign?
A They were.
Q All right. And then Exhibit 16G.
A It's the 2006 disclosure reports, the first, second, third, and fourth quarter.
Q All right. And again, were these filed by the Thomas Wright Campaign?
A They were.
Q The documents marked 16A through 16G, are those all of the disclosure reports that were required to be filed from 2000 and through 2006 by political committee?
A Yes.
Q All right. And are these all documents that are maintained at the State Board of Elections?
A They are.

Q Are these documents made available to the public for review?
A They are. Between 2000 and 2001, they were--you actually have to visit the State Board of Elections. We had a public viewing area. We had many files that you could come in. Around 2002 we started scanning these documents. There were people that filed electronically. All of the reports are--are now available, and have been for several years, online, so that any--any member of the public that has a computer doesn't have to come down to the State Board of Elections; they can actually view those online.
Q Are--are all of these documents in fact available at the State Board's Web site?
A All--not only the reports but any--any documentation that a political committee files with us in on--is on--should be on the Web site. Any--any letters, any correspondence from the--the campaign, those--those documents are also available.
Q Why does the State Board make all of those available on the Web site?
A Well, because probably the greatest reason for campaign-finances regulations is to provide disclosure to the public. And so if the public is not able to have access to these reports, then we're kind of defeating our purpose.

Q All right. And do I understand correctly that for any period represented by one of these disclosure reports, that the committee should be reporting all contributions received by the committee for that time period?
A All contributions received.
Q All right. Before we go back to the investigation, let me turn your attention. There are three CDs, I believe, in front of you that are marked Exhibits 17A, 17B, and 17C.
A Yes.
Q Do you recognize those?
A I do.
Q Can you identify what they are?
A These are copies of all bank records that we obtained from First Citizen's Bank, Coastal Federal Bank, and Bank of America.
Q Did you prepare those CDs?
A My staff did under my direction.
Q All right. And do those CDs contain all of the account information that you looked at in this investigation, bank-account information?

A It does.
Q Okay. All right. Going back to the investigation itself. I believe you said you and your staff began comparing what you were finding in the bank-account records and the checks with the disclosure reports?
A Correct.
Q Can--can you describe a bit of that process?
A Well, it--it's usually a little bit--the process is usually a little simpler than this time, because what we usually do, when we have the accounts, we're able to take the accounts--the account that has been on--on file with us, compare it to see what's been reported, what hasn't been reported.

In this situation, we were dealing with multiple accounts and accounts that we were not aware were--were out there. So what we had to do--the campaign accounts, we entered all of the contributions into a database so that we could then compare those to the reports that Representative Wright had filed. The problem came more with we had the personal account from which contribution had also been deposited into, and this account also contained personal funds, obviously, funds that--that were personal deposits made by Representative Wright. So we--we then had to try to determine which contributions had been deposited to this commingled account to determine exactly what had been disclosed and what hadn't been disclosed.

The other issue that we were faced with is that his--in order to match contributions up--usually it's a pretty easy thing to look at a report, see the date that it's disclosed, look at the account to see if that's the--matches the date--the check in the--in the account. And--and usually we know that, you know, a check is probably may be received before--is--is going to be received before it's deposited. And--and you're supposed to re--report receipt of contribution, not deposit. So we know that your date's not going to be just right. It--it may be that you have received it earlier than it's deposited. But never you're going to deposit something before you've received it.

And what we were having problems with was matching up contributions that the deposit date would--we would have a check that would show receipt after the deposit date. It may be in that amount. So we were having some difficulty matching up these contributions to make sure they were in fact the contributions that he disclosed.

So that--that was a ti--an area that kind of took us a little bit of time because we wanted to make sure if--even if Representative Wright had disclosed it incorrectly, we certainly wanted to make sure that if he disclosed it, we'd given him credit for disclosure. So that--that was a process that we had to go through.

Q And when you say "showed receipt," that you found in some instances that the deposit date was before what you had showed receipt?

A Right. On--on--on every report, you have to show the--the date of receipt, when you--when you receive the contribution. And what we would find in the bank account, that he would have a--a date of receipt that would be after the check was deposited. So it was difficult to know if that was the contribution he was referring to; had he received another one. But we tried to--to match those as best as we--best we could.

Q So when you say "showed receipt" or "showed date of receipt," that was shown on the disclosure report?

A Correct.

Q Okay. What in particular did you have to do with regard to the personal accounts in terms of deciding what was personal income and what was campaign income?

A That--that was certainly difficult. And what we--so what we decided--what we--to do to--to be, you know, as fair as we could, is any check that was written made payable to the Thomas Wright campaign was considered a contribution. If it was not made payable to the Thomas Wright campaign, we considered that a personal receipt and not subject to disclosure.

Q Were there other challenges that you came across in trying to audit this--these accounts?

A It--there--there were, because the--the other problem is--the contributions is one side of it, but that's just one side. The other--the other part of it is trying to determine what was required to be disclosed as far as expenditures. And the difficulty in that is when you have a commingled account that contains both personal and campaign funds, which expenditures are subject to disclosure?

Certainly if there is an expenditure made out of any account that was for a campaign purpose, that's going to need to be disclosed. But also if campaign funds were utilized to make any other expenditures, those expenditures are also subject to disclosure. So we were tasked then with trying to determine which expenditures--certainly everything in a campaign account, no matter what it's spent for, is subject to disclosure, because all those are campaign contributions that have come in to make those expenditures.

But the--the difficulty here was with the personal account. We were trying to determine which--which of these expenditures was he needing to disclose, even if it wasn't a campaign expenditure, even if it was a personal expenditure that might have been paid with campaign funds.

Q Okay. How many people did you have working on this investigation?

A Well, initially, because when the complaint came in, we--and we had multiple bank accounts. We--and--and actually at this time, we'd just gotten several new staff members. So we had probably four or five people that were working on making sure this data was put in so that we could do comparisons in order to get ready, because we--we received these--most of these records we didn't receive until March. And so we had a hearing in May. So there was a--certainly not an awful lot of time to review and get this information ready.

Q And when you say you received them in March, that's March of 2007?

A That's correct.

Q When you say, We had a hearing in May--

A There was a hearing. There was--it was determined fairly early on that when we saw the magnitude of contributions that had not been disclosed, expenditures that had not been disclosed, and the complaint that had been filed, it--it was--it--the contributions in question from the Sims Hugo Neu in particular had been deposited in--in April of 2006, and they were not disclosed until the third quarter. So we knew that there had been a deposit.

There had been several people that had been interviewed so that we could try to determine when--when Representative Wright received these contributions. And so we felt that there were certainly issues that we could not handle administratively and that--and the Board decided to hold a hearing.

Q Right. So that was the State Board of Elections that held the hearing in--

A Correct.

Q --in May? All right.

Does the State Board of Elections always hold hearings to deal with complaints where someone alleges that--a failure to disclose campaign contributions?

A No, no, no. There are--we--we receive a lot of complaints, and some complaints--there are some that allege failure to disclose. Sometimes when we do an investigation, and even if that person has failed to disclose one or two contributions, if it is--if we determine that it was, you know, a mistake, inadvertent, usually these things can be handled administratively by amending reports. It--it's a different situation when we believe that it was intentional, when--when someone is trying to keep disclosure from the public.

Certainly everybody makes mistakes, and we certainly understand that. And our job is to--to make sure people get into compliance. It reaches the State Board level when it is--a determination is kind of made on the staff level that these may not be mistakes, that there may be intentional reasons for--for the nondisclosure.

Q And who would make that decision on the staff level?

A Well, in--initially that would be my decision. I would certainly definitely have to consult with our executive director, who would have to agree, and then the Board would be contacted to make a determination if they wanted to hold a hearing based on the findings of the staff.

Q And when you have to make that determination--you may have described this, I think, already to some degree--what criteria do you--do you use to determine whether it should go to the State Board or whether it can be handled administratively?

A Well, there--there are a multitude of different kinds of complaints that come in. But generally a nondisclosure issue would be when we have reason to believe that--that there is a pattern of--of nondisclosure that is simply not by mistake.

That--that's part of the criteria. If we believe that there is willful conduct, that is another reason that we would decide to hold a hearing instead of trying to--to handle that administratively.

Certainly we have people all the time that--that--if you look at our Web site, you'll see people that file amended reports all the time for things that they forgot on a report. And those are appropriate ways to handle when you--when you make a mistake. And so certainly we understand that.

But when--when it looks like it's risen to a level where it's not a mistake, that is when a complaint's going to reach the State Board.

Q Okay. And so did you in fact make a determination in this case that it should be submitted to the State Board?

A Yes.

Q Did you--at the conclusion of the investigation and in preparation for the State Board hearing, did you come to any conclusion about whether or not the Thomas Wright campaign had failed to disclose campaign contributions?

A We did. One of the things that we prepared for Board was the Board wanted to look at the issue of nondisclosure. So we did prepare information on those contributions.

Q All right. Let me ask you to look at Exhibit 15.

A Excuse me just a second.

Q Yeah, pour yourself some water, and then look at Exhibit 15.

A Okay.

Q All right. Can you identify that document?

A This is a spreadsheet of nondisclosed contributions. These are not expenditures, just contributions.

Q And do you know how this spreadsheet was prepared?

A I do. This spreadsheet was actually prepared after the State Board's hearing. There was--there was a similar spreadsheet that was prepared for the hearing. This was after the hearing, when we--when the--the--the complaint--or when the Board heard this, they referred this to the Wake County District Attorney. And in order--and ordered that we comply with--cooperating with the District Attorney's office in providing them with any information they needed.

They requested that we provide a spreadsheet of all nondisclosed contributions. So in order to do that, we went back to our spreadsheet from our hearing, and we wanted to verify that those contributions were in fact--should be sent over. So this list were the contributions that were reviewed after the hearing and determined to be nondisclosed.

Q And did you prepare the spreadsheet?

A Staff did under my direction.

Q All right. So does this spreadsheet represent the information that was taken from the bank accounts that are on the CDs you have in front of you?

A It does.

Q And comparing those to the disclosure reports?

A Yes.

Q And would it be fair to say, in essence, the purpose of this spreadsheet was to note all contributions found--or--all contributions found in the bank accounts that are not reflected on disclosure reports?

A Correct.

Q All right. Does this spreadsheet contain any disclosures--I mean--excuse me--any contributions that were disclosed in the wrong reporting period?

A There are certainly--a lot of the contributions that were disclosed were disclosed in a--in a different re--reporting period than they would have been required to. May--these are--these are nondisclosed. So, excuse me, they haven't been disclosed. I'm sorry.

Q That--that--yeah, that's what I want to make sure I understand. On this spreadsheet--is it correct that this spreadsheet is limited only to contributions that were never disclosed?

A Exactly. There--there are no contributions on here that were disclosed on any report-

Q Okay.

A --filed with our office.

Q Okay. And does it show on the spreadsheet what the total of those contributions is?

A It does.

Q And what is that total?

A It is one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($185,000).

Q All right. Excuse me.

MR. PETERS: Mr. Chairman, at this time, we would move to introduce Exhibits 15 and 16A through 16G.

A I would like to say that there--

THE CHAIR: No, no, no, no.

A Sorry.

THE CHAIR: No. Any objection, Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: I believe 16A through 16G have already been introduced.

THE CHAIR: They were identified, but I don't--

MR. PETERS: I think we've referred to--identified them, but I don't--

THE CHAIR: But for evidence--

MR. PETERS: --think we've introduced.

THE CHAIR: Admitted yet. They were--they didn't ask to admit yet.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, I--I have no objection to 16A through 16G. I would object to--for the record, to six--to 15.

THE CHAIR: All right. And the basis for the objection?

Well, let me do this. On 16A through 16G, they are admitted without objection.

And the basis of the objection of 15?

PROF. JOYNER: Not been able to authenticate these entries--the individual entries that--that are here.

THE CHAIR: All right. Mr. Peters?

MR. PETERS: Mr. Chairman, I think Ms. Strach has testified that this is a business record that was prepared under her supervision, and also that it provides a summary of bank accounts that were provided to her office, some under subpoena, some with authorization from Representative Wright, and that this summarizes those bank accounts which Representative Wright--we--we have provided him with those--that account information so that it could be checked.

THE CHAIR: The objection is overruled. Exception is noted. And to the extent that there may be any error, obviously, the underlying data is now available through comparison between 17A and 16A through 16G. And--but--but with that--am I correct on that?

PROF. JOYNER: Yes.

MR. PETERS: 17A through C.

THE CHAIR: 17A through C. I'm sorry. So the objection is overruled.

MR. PETERS: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: And 15 is admitted.

MR. PETERS: Thank you.

PROF. JOYNER: Now--

THE CHAIR: Just so we're clear, 15's admitted. 16A through 16G is admitted. We've not received a motion to admit 17A, B, C.

MR. PETERS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you.

For the Committee members, 17 are the CDs, CDs.

MR. PETERS: That--that's why they're not in the notebook.

Q (Mr. Peters) Ms. Strach, looking again at Exhibit 15. Is--is there a reporting period in there for which you do not have undisclosed contributions listed?

A No.

Q So perhaps a better way I could have phrased that is is there a reporting--based on your investigation, was there a reporting period between 2000 and 2006 where Representative Wright's campaign disclosed all contributions that were required to be disclosed?

A There was not--there was not a reporting period that he--that he reported all contributions that he was required to report.

Q All right. The Committee now has these before them, but I'd--I'd like for you to take a look at at least a couple.

A I would--I would like to say that there are three contributions that should not be on this spreadsheet.

Q I was going to go through that, but we'll--

A Sorry.

Q We'll go ahead--we'll go ahead with that. We'll go ahead with that.

Have you had any occasion since preparing this spreadsheet to review it?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And--and what have you determined in that review?

A Well, in preparation for this proceeding and--and the criminal proceeding, I--I did go back and review every entry on this spreadsheet. And there were three entries that were determined to have been disclosed. And--

Q Can you identify them?

A I can. There was a contribution--and I'm not sure which page it's on. But it was from Thomas H.--Thomas Wright, and--and it was in the amount of two hundred dollars ($200). This is a Thomas H. Wright, III. It is not Thomas E. Wright. When it was initially data entered, the person data-entering that assumed that it was Representative Wright, and it was put in as Thomas Wright and was actually Thomas H. Wright. When we went back and looked at the check, we saw that it was a different contributor, and he had, in fact, disclosed that contribution.

Q And--and that was a contribution for two hundred dollars ($200)?

A It was a contribution for two hundred dollars ($200).

Q All right.

A And I--it's on the second page. Its deposit date was 5-3-2000. You'll see it's in there as Thomas Wright.

Q Is that around the middle of the page?

A It is.

Q And--third quarter of 2000?

A Yes.

Q All right. And--

A Second quarter--
Q I think you said there were two others?
A Actually the second quarter of 2000.
Q Oh, I see. I'm looking the wrong way.
And I believe you said there were two others?
A There--there are--there was a contribution from Carl Marshburn in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000). That was also disclosed. It was disclosed in a different reporting period, but it--it was disclosed. And I'm not sure which--where that is. But I--I can locate it.
Q That last name was Marshburn?
A Marshburn, Carl.
THE CLERK: It's on the last page, Page 10--Page 9, towards the top of the page.
THE CHAIR: Page 9, about ten items down.
MR. PETERS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Page 9.
A Page 9, yes. It's 9-15-2006, 2006 third-quarter-plus report. It--it was actually disclosed on the fourth quarter.
Q (By Mr. Peters) And--
A And then there was one more that was a three-thousand-dollar ($3,000) Thomas Wright campaign. It was an account transfer, which--account transfers are subject to disclosure as contributions. That had also been disclosed.

Q All right. Now, there are a number of entries on here, I believe, for the Thomas Wright campaign; is that correct?
A Correct.
Q And why would those entries be on here?
A Well, this was--this was actually another challenge that we--we had. When trying to determine--we--we had these undisclosed transactions, and we were trying to characterize them best as we could of what--how they should be categorized, contributions, expenditures. There were--there were checks that were written from a campaign account to Thomas Wright personally. And some of those checks were cashed or--they were cashed, and--and we--certainly we don't know what--what he did with those. Those would be considered expenditures.
There were certain checks, the checks that you see on--on this spreadsheet, where a--a check was written to Thomas Wright. He--he directly with that check deposited into his--the commingled account, an account that had not only--it had campaign contributions in it, as well. And so what was happening is we had campaign contributions that were subject to disclosure. We had expenditures. There were some campaign expenditures that were being made from this account.

And so in order to provide disclosure and not double that exclo--disclosure by calling it an expenditure and then looking at all these expenditures, it was more of account transfer, because this account kind of became a campaign account. It was his sole campaign account at one time. So by it being an account transfer, it--it--every committee that has more than one account, by definition, transfer of funds must be disclosed so you can see when--when committees are moving money from one account to the other. So these--these contributions, as they're listed here, these transfers were never disclosed, should have been disclosed. And therefore, they're--they're listed as contributions.
Q And when you say "by definition"--

A By statute.
Q --"transfers must be disclosed," is that a statutory definition?
A It is. It's in the statutory definition of contribution.
Q And do you, off the top of your head, know what the citation for that statute is?
A I happen to know. It's--it would be North Carolina General Statute 163 dash 278 point 6, number--open paren., 6, close paren.
Q Thank you. When the State Board held its hearing in May, did you testify in that hearing?
A I did.
Q Did you testify at that time regarding undisclosed campaign contributions?
A I did.
Q I believe you said that was before you had prepared the spreadsheet that is Exhibit 15?
A Correct.
Q So what was your understanding at that ti--at the time of the Board's hearing in May, before you had prepared this spreadsheet, what was your understanding of how much money of campaign contributions had not been disclosed?

A At the hearing?
Q Yes.
A At the hearing, I testified that there were over two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) in contributions that had not been disclosed. And the Board made--I think probably made findings on that. And--and the contributions that were included in that initial amount--we went back, as I said, trying to determine what needed to be turned over to the Wake County District Attorney's office. Some of the entries that were on there, when we looked at the checks, they were in the commingled account, and they had not been made out specifically to the Thomas Wright campaign. They just had _Thomas Wright._ So we--we didn't want to include those. We--we considered those personal.
There were some that we saw that--that had been disclosed. There were some data-entry errors. I think we had a couple of duplicates. So those--that amount that the Board was amended after--after the--the hearing.
Q All right. When you testified to--to that--the amount being over two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000), was Representative Wright present at the hearing?

A He--he was present.
Q Was he represented by counsel at the hearing?
A He was represented by counsel.
Q Has any ti--at any time since that hearing, has Representative Wright contacted you to inquire about the campaign contributions that you said had not been disclosed?
A No.
Q Has his counsel contacted you?
A No.
Q Ms. Strach, let me ask you to look, please, at Exhibit--Tab Number 7. Do you recognize that document?
A I do.
Q What is it?
A It's a check from Anheuser-Busch in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000) made payable to the Community's Health Foundation.
Q Do you recall when you first saw that--
A I do.
Q --document? When was that?
A Upon receipt of the bank records, it's usually customary for me--I always go through--I look through to see if any red flags jump out at me, business contributions, things of that nature. I actually received these records and was looking through them and saw this check in--in the commingled bank account.

Q And the--by _the commingled bank account,_ do you mean Representative Wright's personal account?
A It's his--right, the personal account.
Q Why did it jump out at you?
A Well, because, first of all, it was from a corporation. And, second of all, it was not made payable to the Thomas Wright campaign or to Thomas Wright. It was made payable to an organization I wasn't familiar with.
Q And why would the fact that it was a corporation make it jump out at you?
A Well, because this account contained campaign contributions. That's something we need to be aware of--is--because political committees may not accept any corporate contributions in any amount.
Q Are you able to tell from looking at that check or looking at--at Exhibit 7 when that check was deposited?
A Yes. This check was deposited August 11th, 2004.

Q How can you tell that?
A The capture date at the top is going to show when it was deposited. Also, on the back of the check, if you can read it, there's an 8-11-04. That's going to be the date of deposit, the Bank of America deposit--it was deposited.
Q Okay. And when is the date on the check?
A The date is March 5th, 2004.
Q All right. Let me ask you to look at Exhibit 10.
A Okay.
Q Do you recognize that document?
A I do. It's a check from AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals in the amount of two--twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400).
Q And when did you first see that check?
A At the same time I saw the--the--the Anheuser-Busch check, shortly after--or actually in that same deposit, this check.
Q Does that mean it was deposited the same day?
A It does. It--the deposit slip would reflect that.
Q And how--is there a way you can tell by looking at this document?
A Yes, the capture date. And also on the back of check, the--you can see visibly "8-11-04."

-137-

Q All right. And if you'll look at Exhibit 13.
A Yes. This is a check from AT&T made out to the-- made payable to the Community's Health Foundation. It was also discovered--`cause it has--it was deposited July 26, 2004. So this is probably the first check that I--that I--that I identified.
Q And again, are you able to tell by the same means when this check was deposited?
A Yes, through the capture date and on the back of the check.
Q Okay. When you saw these checks made out to the Community's Health Foundation, did you take any action in response to that?
A Yes. I certainly wanted to first find out what was the Community's Health Foundation. We had--had difficulty with fi--with getting the bank account. So I wanted to see what this was. So I--since it was a foundation and it had a Wilmington address, I looked on the Secretary of State's Web site and saw that it was--that Thomas Wright had been the incorporator and was one of the--the--the president, I believe.
Q What specifically did you look at at the Secretary of State's Web site?

-138-

A The articles of incorporation.
Q You found those on the--
A Found those--
Q --Web site?
A Found those online.
Q Let me ask you to look at Exhibit 1.
A Yes.
Q Can you identify that document?
A This would be the Articles of Incorporation that I saw online.
Q And did you print them off?
A I did.
Q And--and save them in your file?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did you take any further action to follow up on the Community's Health Foundation?
A Yes. Because these were checks that had been deposited in this account made payable, that was an account we certainly wanted to look at and see if there were possibly campaign contributions may have been deposited in that account. So I contacted Representative Wright's counsel, Mr. Brook, Chris Brook, and told him that I would like to look at those records; would Representative Wright authorize me to do so? And he said he would. And so he authorized us to get the bank records for the Community's Health Foundation.

-139-

Q Okay. Did you take any other action there to follow--to understand better the Community's Health Foundation or to investigate it?
A Well--well certainly--I mean, we certainly wanted to get the--the bank records and see what--if there had been any activity in that. So upon receiving those, that's what we were trying to--to do is see where any contributions had been deposited in that account.
Q Okay. I believe you testified earlier that Representative Wright came into your office after you had sent notice of the--of the complaint, the Joe Sinsheimer complaint?
A He did.
Q And met with you?
A He did.
Q Was that the only conversation you had with him while you were investigating this matter, or did you have other conversations with him?
A That was the only conversation.
Q Did you have other conversations with his counsel?

-140-

A I did.
Q Between that time and the hearing?
A I did.
Q Do you recall how many conversations you had?
A I had several. Most of them were related to obtaining documents, author--getting authorizations. There were a couple conversations where Mr. Brook would call to--to find out status on when the hearing was and subpoena proc-- subpoenas and--and that nature. Those--those really were the--the--the gist of any conversations I had with Mr. Brook.
Q Okay. I believe you testified earlier that when you met with Representative Wright in January of 2007, that he indicated he would have to get information about his treasurer to you because she had the accounts. Am I correct in that?
A He said she had--she had the records that we would need to look at, that--`cause I--I told him--as I said earlier, he--he--he said he wanted to--to resolve the complaint; what would he need to do to resolve the complaint? And I told him we would need to look at his bank records from that time period. And he told me that his--he--his treasurer maintained those records, and we would have to get them when she was available.

Q And when you told him you needed to look at the records for that time period, did you make clear that the time period you were talking about was 2006?

A I did, because we actually specifically talked about the complaint. I asked--I asked Representative Wright at that time. I--I said, "Do you remember when you received these contributions? It's been alleged that you received them, and you disclosed them much later." And he--he at that time told me that--actually he told me that he thought he remembered on the way--driving to my office that he--where he had received those. So yes, we talked about them being the--right before the 2006 primary and--so yes, he knew--he knew at the time.

THE CHAIR: Let's stop for one minute. And I'm--I said I wasn't going to take a break, but let's just--I think we're going very fast. And being a Yankee, I can relate to that. But we need to slow--slow down just a bit. Let's all catch our breath for a minute and take about a five--no-more-than-five-minute recess just to--to break. So we'll--we'll be back in five minutes. Thanks.

SEVEN-MINUTE RECESS

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much. Back with you, Mr. Peters.

MR. PETERS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Q (By Mr. Peters) Ms. Strach, I believe before the break, I was asking you about your meeting with Representative Wright in January of 2007? And--and I--and I believe you said that in that discussion, it was clear that the bank records you were talking about needing to look at were from 2006?

A Yes.

Q And the response that you got from Mr.--from Representative Wright, if I'm correct, was that he would need to get to you the information of the treasurer, because she would have all those bank records; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q When you actually received the bank records, was there a campaign account active in 2006?

A No. The only account that he had during 2006 was his personal account.

Q And how long had it been since there had been a campaign account active?

A I think it--since June of '05.

Q Okay. Do you know--had you ever had any contact with Representative Wright concerning the disclosure reports prior to January of 2007?

A In 2002 was the only other time I've had conversations with Representative Wright about disclosure. In 2002 we--we had some issues with Representative Wright not filing any reports in 2002. And it--the--after the election, one of the--the conditions of getting a certificate of election from our office is that you were in compliance with filing all the required reports. So Representative Wright at that time couldn't receive a certificate of election. So we had made--tried to make contact with him. We--we did--did make contact with him. And I recall Representative Wright--he came into the office with the required reports, and we sat down in our executive director's office and discussed--discussed his filings so that he could then receive a certificate of election.

Q And so did he in fact file disclosure reports for 2002?

A He did file. He did. He--he filed all the--the delinquent reports at that time.

Q And are those the reports that are Exhibit 16C?

A Yes. And--and those reports reflect the date they were received, November 21st.

Q All right. When you did your audit last year of the bank accounts and of the disclosure reports, did you find that these disclosure reports were accurate?

A They were not.

Q Okay. Do you know--well, first off, with the first quarter--let's see here. For the first-quarter report, can you tell from looking at that--

A Did you say 16C?

Q --yes--

A Okay.

Q --16C--what the total contributions would be that were disclosed?

A Right. He disclosed receipt of five hundred dollars ($500) in contributions.

Q Okay. Do you know the amount--based on the spreadsheet that is Exhibit 15, do you know the amount of contributions that was not disclosed for that quarter?

A Well, I--our--the bank records reflected that during the first quarter of 2002, he deposited eleven thousand four hundred and fifty dollars ($11,450) in contributions.

Q And he reported five hundred dollars of that?

A Yes.

Q All right. With the second quarter of 2002--again that's Exhibit 16C--do you know how much was reported for that quarter?

A He re--he reported eighteen thousand one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($18,125).

Q And what did your review of the bank records show should have been reported for that quarter?

A Twenty-two thousand six hundred and sixty-six dollars and twenty-five cent ($22,666.25).

Q All right. Was there an interim report in 2002?

A There was.

Q All right. And what amount was disclosed on that report?

A He disclosed five hundred dollars ($500).

Q And what did the bank records show should have been disclosed?

A Five hundred and fifty, so just fifty dollars.

Q Okay. What about the third quarter of 2002?

A The third quarter, he--he disclosed receiving no contributions.

Q And did he in fact receive any contributions?

A He did, two thousand two hundred dollars ($2,200).

Q Were there other quarters or other reporting periods where Representative Wright disclosed receiving no contributions?

A He did in the second quarter of 2004. He disclosed receiving no contributions.

Q And what did the bank records show were actually received in the second quarter of 2004?

A Twenty-eight thousand five hundred dollars ($28,500).

Q And none of that was disclosed?

A None was disclosed.

Q All right. Were there any other quarters where nothing was disclosed?

A I believe those were the only two quarters. There--actually there were three quarters. The 2003 mid-year semiannual report, he disclosed no con--no receipts, and he had received one thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars and fifty-three cent ($1,625.53).

Q Okay. To your knowledge, has Representative Wright ever filed an amended disclosure report?

A From 2000--and I--I'm just speaking for 2000. I--I'm not sure of prior to that. But 2000 to 2006--he's not filed any disclosure for the year 2007. But 2000 to 2006, there was one amendment, I believe in two thousand--I'm not--actually I'm not sure which year it was. There was one amendment, and it--it actually was not--it was--he had originally just filed the cover sheet to the report, and when he amended it, he actually filed the--the details of the report.

Q And did you say no campaign reports have been filed for 2007?

A No--no campaign reports have been filed for 2007.

Q Should campaign reports have been filed in 2007?

A Yes. There should have been a midyear report and a year-end report.

Q Okay. Now, I believe you testified earlier as to the criteria you generally apply in determining whether a complaint should be forwarded on to the State Board of Elections for hearing after an investigation. Specifically with this complaint and the investigation that you had overseen, why did you decide that this should go to the State Board of Elections for a hearing?

A Well, as I said, there were--there were multiple reasons stemming from the allegations in the complaint. There were some receipt of some business contributions. But really the--the main reason is that certainly in--in my time at the State Board, I've never audited a committee that had this amount of nondisclosure. We audited committees that have less than three thousand up to million-dollar committees, and I've never seen this amount of disclosure that was is not provided.

Q And what--what conclusion did you draw from that?

A Certainly I thought something that the Board needed--

PROF. JOYNER: Objection. Objection to her conclusion.

THE CHAIR: Basis? I'm sorry. The basis of the objection?

PROF. JOYNER: Conclusion.

THE CHAIR: That it's her conclusion? All right.

Mr. Peters?

MR. PETERS: That--I--the--I've asked her why she decided it needed to be referred to the State Board of Elections, and I think that's relevant to that question.

THE CHAIR: Yeah, let's--why don't we rephrase the question? And then--`cause I'm not sure that was the question.

MR. PETERS: Okay.

Q (By Mr. Peters) What about the amount of contributions that you found to be undisclosed made you believe this should be referred to the State Board of Elections for hearing?

A Well, it was certainly--I certainly could not in my mind believe that it would be a mistake to file a report. And--and Representative Wright signs his reports. Some of those contributions, I mean, were in his own personal account where he made--personally made the deposits. So I certainly--the--the amount being well--at that time, you know, close to two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000), we thought, at least one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($185,000) that had not been disclosed. And I certainly did not think--I thought that was not an error, not--not a mistake, and the Board should--should definitely review that.

Q When you were reviewing--conducting your investigation and reviewing what you found in that investigation, since the original complaint had alleged--made allegations re--concerning contributions connected to Hugo Sims Corporation, did you make any determinations regarding contributions connected to Hugo Sims?

A Yes. Actually those contributions had--had been deposited. They had been disclosed in the third quarter. I think they'd been disclosed. The report had been filed seven or ten days before the general election. These contributions had been given prior to the primary. Likely we--I interviewed several people to try to determine when these contributions were received. The--the dates on the checks were Mar--between March and April, and the deposit was made on April 24th, 2006.

Q Do you recall who you interviewed?

A I interviewed the--the lobbyist for--couple of lobbyists for Sims Hugo Neu. One of the lobbyists remembered getting some contributions together and attending a fundraiser for Representative Wright at the Democratic Party headquarters. And that's where he--he remembers delivering those checks. And that would have been in--in--in April.

Q In your review and your findings, did you note any other pattern, such as an identifiable group of contributors whose contributions were not disclosed?

A Yes. One of the other things that Mr. Sinsheimer's complaint talked about was bundling by the--by nurse anesthetists. And as--there was nothing illegal about nurse anesthetists' bundling contributions. That--that is permissible, though I--I did speak with a couple of the nurse anesthetists, and they advised me that they had made contributions, and--and I saw that they had.

But they--they gave me a list. And I also saw that they--they had made--he had disclosed between--around fifty-nine hundred dollars ($5,900) of contributions from the nurse anesthetists. They had actually had a fundraiser, and eighteen--they gave contributions in excess of eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000) at that fundraiser. And he--he failed to disclose thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) of that.

MR. PETERS: If I could have one minute, Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Yes, sir.

MR. PETERS: Mr. Chairman, we don't have any further questions at this time. We would move to introduce Exhibit 1.

THE CHAIR: Any objection, Dr. Joyner, to Exhibit 1?

PROF. JOYNER: No objection to Exhibit 1.

THE CHAIR: All right. With no objection, Exhibit 1 is--is admitted.

All right. Cross-examination.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Okay. Ms. Strach?

A Strach.

Q Strach. Let me just kind of ask some definitional questions first.

A Sure.

Q All right. When we're talking about now--during the period of 2000 to 2006, were there any amendments to the campaign reporting laws?

A Several.

Q Several. And in 2000, what contributions had to reported?

A All contributions had to be reported. All contributions, as long as I've been here, have always been reported. There was a threshold for reporting the identity of the contributor; but you still had to report receipt of that contribution, even if you didn't disclose the name.
Q And what was the threshold for reporting the identity of the person that provided that?
A It was one hundred dollars ($100) within the election cycle. So if an individual had given one hundred dollars ($100) anytime in the two-year election cycle of the term of the office, then if they didn't go over the hundred, then their name didn't have to appear on the report.
Q All right. And at some point, was that requirement amended?
A It was.
Q And when was that?
A I think it--it became effective January 1, 2007, that they lowered the I--the threshold for the reporting the identity to fifty dollars.
Q Now, with respect to those contributions of a hundred dollars ($100) or less, how would they have shown up on the report?

A In 2002 we actually have a form. It's called the aggregated individual contributions. And all it asked for is the date of the contribution and the amount of the contribution. It doesn't require the disclosure of the name of the--of the contributor.
Q So you'd have to list each individual date--
A Yes.
Q --and the total amount--amount of the contributions, or a designation for each contribution as it was made?
A A designation for each contribution as it was made. The--you would report it the same way as you would report any other contribution. The only information that would not be present would be the name of the contributor.
Q All right. So I'm meant to understand that if, in 2001, I received five contributions for seventy-five dollars each, that I have to list five times an unnamed contribution for seventy-five dollars?
A Technically yes. In 2002 was when the forms actually changed for this aggregated amount. Prior to that, the--the obligation was there; there was just one line on--on the old forms that required that. And you could give the total amount of aggregated--or I guess they called them--at that time, they were called unitemized.

Q And at that point, you merely had to list the total amount of those contributions rather than itemizing each individual contribution?
A The forms only required you at that time. The forms were updated January of 2002 to require the itemization of each one of those.
Q And--and subsequent to this 2002 change in the--in the form, the reporting requirement on the form, did you not experience a lot of amendments for those forms for people who didn't understand that that was the method that they were to report those contributions?
A Certainly there were some people, when we first changed forms, that had filed amendments for various reasons. That probab--that could certainly have been one of the reasons why people filed amendments.
Q Okay. But you haven't gone back to--to--to--to check that?
A I--I--I haven't analyzed that.
Q Now, when you--when you talk about receipt of a contribution, what do you mean?

A When the committee receives the contribution--when they receive it, it's--that's the date of disclosure. Because sometimes--and--and I guess a good example is in larger campaigns, sometimes there will be people on behalf of the committee that receive a contribution. When--when that contribution has been received on behalf of the committee, that is the date that should be disclosed on a report.
Q Now, you--you had mentioned at some point this notion of bundling.
A Yes.
Q And bundling is where a number of people come together with different contributions, and they put it in--put those contributions in one stack, and then they give that contribution to the person that they're supporting or that committee. Would the receipt date be the date--
MR. PETERS: Excuse me. Objection. I believe that was a statement, not a question--
THE CHAIR: Well--
MR. PETERS: --as to the bundling.
THE CHAIR: I think he was trying to get to the question. But I--I understand that. I'll let Dr. Joyner finish--I think we were getting to the question part.

Go ahead.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, it obviously wasn't a statement, since I don't know what this is all about. So all I'm doing is asking questions.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) But I--is--is--is that a fair description of what bundling is?

A Well, bundling--I think it is a fair--it's when individual--actually individual people write their own checks, and someone collects those checks to deliver them to the--to the political committee or candidate.

Q All right. And then what is the receipt date of those individual checks which much be reported on the form?

A It's--it's--the receipt date is when the per--someone on behalf of the committee receives those contributions.

Q So it is not the date that those individual checks are given to the collector but when the collector of those checks actually transfers that--those checks to the committee?

A Well, it depends on who the collector is. If the collector is a campaign staff person, then that's the receipt date. If the collector happens to be someone that's not associated with the campaign but is just going to deliver them, then it would be when someone from the campaign received them.

Q Well--which is an interesting point. How--how--how would you know who the operable person or the appropriate person is to determine the triggering of the receipt date?

A I don't know. But it's certainly the treasurer of every committee--it's their responsibility to make sure they know when receipt of the contribution has been made.

Q So you, then, rely upon the reporter, the person who is providing you with the information, to identify the appropriate receipt date?

A Right, because they're required by law and by signing that report that that was the date that it was received on behalf of the committee.

Q And you would not be in a position to go back and determine, unless someone who was in the collection process came to you to report that they were a member of the committee and received it on a date other than what is on the report; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. Tell me about the--the amendment to report campaign reports. How--how does that occur?

A Anytime a political committee makes their own determination that a report is--has--has discrepancies, has omissions, has things that are not correct, then they at any time may amend a report to reflect what was missing or what shouldn't have been included.

So amendments usually generally happen really two ways. One is basically when someone determines themselves, when they're auditing their own committee and they decide, "You know what? I left out a contribution." Or the amendment process can happen if we have audited a committee, and we send you an audit letter saying, "It looks like you--you forgot to provide this information. Could you amend your report?"

Q So--and typically once a person or committee determines that--that an amendment is--is in order, then they can come in and amend the original report?

A Sure.

Q Even--well, is there a time frame?

A The sta--the--the--the statutes do not provide a time frame. Certainly if--if someone is aware that they have--need to amend a report, they would need to do it, because they're signing these reports as true and accurate, and if you realize the report is not true and accurate, you certainly need to amend it to change that.

Q With respect to the amendment process, is it necessary to get the approval from your office to amend that, or is that amended as a matter of course?

A It's certainly not--you--you can amend anytime you feel you need to amend a report. You do not need our permission or an invitation from us to--to amend a report.

Q All right. Is there a specific statutory reference which allows for the amendment of campaign reports?

A I--I don't think there is a--a statutory reference for amending reports. It's certainly--it's just based on--upon the fact that you're required to file true and accurate reports. And so we certainly allow amending if someone determines that they have made a mistake.

Q All right. So this is a--a policy decision made the Board of Elections?

A Yes.
Q Okay. It's not a part of the statute; the statute doesn't say that in such-and-such a case, a committee can--can come in to amend a report up until such-and-such date?
A No--no.
Q Right.
A That's not there.
Q So this is a policy decision that's made by the Board of Elections?
A Right.
Q Administratively?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And--and it's not unusual for a committee to come in to amend a report?
A Oh, not unusual at all.
Q In fact, it happens more often than not?
A It--it happens very often.
Q Especially now?
A Yes, I guess that may be true.
Q Now, you had made references to some conversations that you had had with--in your direct testimony, conversations that you had had with Mr.--

Representative Wright's attorney--
A Yes.
Q --regarding his--his reports?
A Yes.
Q And was that Chris Brooks?
A It was.
Q Okay. And do you recall an occasion that Attorney Brooks came to you to ask if he could amend the reports that were the subject of your investigation?
A I
on the phone. He certainly wanted to know if--if Representative Wright could amend his reports. And I absolutely told him he certainly can amend his reports. That may not change the fact that we have a hearing, but he can certainly and should amend his reports.
Q Do--do you recall when--when that conversation was held?
A I don't specifically recall the date, but I know that it would have been, you know, sometime after it had been announced that we were having a hearing.
Q And that was a tel--your--your recollection, it was a telephone--

A My recollection was a telephone call. I don't remember it being in person. It--it--it's entirely possible that it may have been, but I--I--I recall I--that it was a telephone conversation.
Q So then if--so no one told--well, that request, would it have been made to you or, to another staffer in your office?
A The request to amend reports?
Q Right.
A It could have been made to me. It could have been made to our executive director. I know Mr. Brook talk--talked to him, as well. I'm not sure of the substance of their conversation. I do know that I spoke with him. And I--I--I certainly think he may have certainly said that he--could Representative Wright amend. And I--I certainly told him that yes, he could.
Q And--and you don't have a recollection that--that Attorney Brooks was told that he could not amend?
A Oh, absolutely not. Like I said, he--if--if Rep--if--if Mr. Brooks was asking whether or not the amendment process would stop the hearing, it was not going to. But certainly he would not be told that he couldn't amend reports.

Q So you don't have a present recollection that anyone ever told Attorney Brooks that he could not amend a report?
A No, and I--and I can't imagine in any circumstance that anyone on our staff would ever tell someone they couldn't amend a report.
Q You indicated that there were five separate accounts that--accounts that you filed under Thomas Wright's name during your investigation; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q And you mentioned a number of different banking institutions--
A Yes.
Q --which held these--these accounts. Was any one of these accounts open for the entire period of 2000 to 2006?
A Yes.
Q Which ones were those?
A It was not a campaign account. His personal account.
Q His personal account. Was this a Thomas--was this a joint account, or a sole account?

A It's a sole account.
Q Okay. And then there were a number of other personal accounts--
A Correct.
Q --that you identified as having commingled funds?
A Well, there was no--excuse me. There was the one personal account which has commingled funds. There was one account that was a joint account that I'd said that had been one campaign contribution deposited into. The other accounts were campaign. They were designated "Thomas Wright campaign."
Q So there were three separate Thomas Wright campaign accounts?
A Correct.
Q All right. And for what period of time were those three accounts open?
A The first campaign account was opened April 3rd, 2000, through November 4th, 2003. And then the second account, which would have been the First Citizens account, was opened April 23rd, 2004, through June 2005. So between 11-5-03 and 4-22-04, there was no other campaign account. And then on February 24th, 2007, there was a Thomas Wright campaign account opened at Coastal Federal Bank.

Q Now, the account opened at Coastal Federal Bank, is--is that--is that still open?
A As far as I know. it is.
Q Okay. And from 2005 to 2007, you say that other than the personal accounts, there was no campaign account open?
A As--as far as I know. And Mr. Brook advised me that he had provided me with all bank accounts.
Q All right. And 2000 to 2003, that was Bank of America?
A Yes, correct.
Q Is it unusual that campaign accounts would be--that several campaign accounts would be open over a period of time?
A It's not unusual if you have different treasurers. Sometimes a treasurer will want to have the campaign account at a bank that they are familiar with or do business with. So it's not unusual when--if a treasurer changes for that to occur.
Q Is it unusual that a campaign account would be changed because of the--the fees that are attached to it, and you can get a better rate at another bank?
A I've heard that, too.

Q --
and that happens quite often, does it not?
A I have certainly heard committees change--have heard from committees that change their accounts for that reason, yes.
Q Right. Because if the--if the account is open, then the bank is taking the money out of it?
A That's right.
Q Want to direct your attention here to Exhibit 15.
A Yes.
Q And dur--during--during the time--during the period of 2000 through 2002, you have listed as contributions not disclosed the names of any number of individuals that contributed a hundred dollars ($100) or less?
A Yes.
Q Is it--is it your rep--your--your testimony that the names for each of these one-hundred-dollar ($100) contributors should have been reported?
A Not necessarily the names. But the receipt of the contribution should have been reported.
Q And during that period of time, those items could have been listed in the aggregate?
A They could have been. But they still would have been reflected on the summary page of--of a disclosure report.

Q If--if you have a report that lists off--lists the con--contribution from the Thomas Wright campaign--or from Thomas Wright to the campaign, would not that be an appropriate method of depositing those monies into the campaign account in the event that they were wrongly attributed initially?
A I'm not sure I follow what--could you--
Q All right. You--you--you called them transfers--
A Yes.
Q --here. And where the contributor--and I'm assuming that the check is made to the Thomas Wright campaign?
A No. The check would be written to Thomas Wright.
Q Well, let--let--let me--
A It was--that--that's the way it was designated on the sheet, on the--this spreadsheet. But when they--when you see "Thomas Wright campaign," the check was actually written to Thomas Wright. That's how we designated the transfer.
Q And it was written from whom?
A Was written from the campaign account to what er up going into another campaign account or accoun that was used for campaign and personal purposes.

Q I want--I want to direct you to Page 4 of Exhibit 15.
A Okay.
Q The sixth and seventh line--
A Yes.
Q --on that report.
A Yes.
Q Both of those items identifies the contributor as the Thomas Wright campaign?
A Correct.
Q Now, is it your testimony that the Thomas Wright campaign wrote that check out and that the payee was the Thomas Wright campaign?
A That is my testimony because that's ended up what happened to it. It was--it was paid to Thomas Wright, but it was deposited--directly deposited into Thomas Wright--another account of Thomas Wright, that was utilized for both campaign and personal purposes.
Q And I guess my question has to do with the source of the three thousand dollars ($3,000) in one instance and one thousand fifty dollars ($1,050) in the other instance. And could not the explanation for those two be that it was to place into the campaign account monies which had been improperly placed in another account? That's-- A No. No, that couldn't be.

Q Why couldn't it be?
A Becau--well, because--I don't think that could be, because these were--
Q Well, now, wait--wait a minute. It can't be, or you don't think it could be? Which one is it?
A Well, let me say why--why I don't think that it is. Because these were checks that were written out of a campaign account to him--to--that were made payable to him and then put into an account that was also used for personal purposes. So I--I guess what you're saying, did he take campaign contributions and put it into an account that was also used for personal purposes. And that--and that's why I don't think it would be a mistake for it to go that way.
Q Well, let me--and I'm--I'm trying to see, then, why this does not show up as a disbursement from the campaign account.
A Well, that--that is a--that's a good question. And I think--

Q Oh, thank you. I appreciate that.
A It's a good question. I--I--if we--as I said, we had--trying to determine what these transactions were. If the check was written to Thomas Wright and he cashed it, he did something else with it; we consider that a disbursement. We had an unusual situation with these checks, because they were not just going into a personal account. If it just went into a personal account, you are exactly right; it would have been a disbursement. It would have been an expenditure. It would only have shown up on that side. But here we had an--it was put into an account that was also--there were other campaign contributions being deposited into that account. There were expenditures being made that were also subject to disclosure. So if--if we designated that as an expenditure and then we've also designated the--the expenditures out of it, then we're going to double show expenditures, which are reportable.
Account transfers--there's no net gain to them.
Q Well--
A So they show up on the bottom of--of your report.

And that's why--that's why they're considered account transfers.
Q Well, let--let--let--you know, 'cause, I mean, I'm--I'm--I'm new to this political-campaign stuff. And I realize that you went through a major change in 2006. Or was it 2007?
A And--major change?
Q In the campaign reporting, campaign ethics laws.
A There were certainly some changes then, but it--
Q But having to do with the--the use of funds from campaign accounts.
A The--you're right. In 2006 it--after October 1, there was the change that a candidate could no longer use funds for personal expenses. It could only be used for campaign purposes.
Q Right. That's exact--yeah, that's exactly what I'm talking about. And up until that time, it was not improper or illegal for a legislator--and many did--to use funds that came in for--entitled campaign funds for personal expenditure?
A I don't disagree with you; you're right. There--prior to October 1, 2006, a candidate could spend their money for any purpose they wanted to.
Q All right.

A But the catch--what--what--what stops a lot of it or stopped a lot of it prior to then is because they have to disclose it. They have to show the public that this is what they did with those campaign ex--contributions. And that's why--I think if you were to look at our database, you wouldn't see a lot of candidates that wrote checks for personal purposes, because of the disclosure requirement.

Q But writing a check from the campaign account into a personal account--into a personal account, why would not that be designated as a transfer from the campaign account to that person's personal account?

A Because there were many--there were several periods of time or--that that personal account was the only campaign account. It was serving as a campaign account. It no longer was a personal account. Yes, it had personal funds--and actually, you know, if it was a campaign account, everything in it would be subject to disclosure. We only included those things that were designated to the Thomas Wright campaign. No other campaign account is allowed to take any--any contribution from any source, and as long as it's not written to the campaign, they can utilize it. That's why it was a difficult situation for us to audit. But we--this is how we tried to certainly give Representative Wright the benefit of the doubt.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, can--

THE CHAIR: Sure.

PROF. JOYNER: Can--can we break now?

THE CHAIR: Yes. Rep--we're--we're promoting you twice today.

Dr. Joyner asked earlier, and I indicated--he had a conflict this evening, and so do several members, af--that they need to leave by four o'clock. So we're going to end in a minute and head into break, overnight recess until nine. I just--I need to--`cause I want to review some things, I need to ask a couple questions of the witness so I'm sure I got what I need.

Let me just see if I understand. On Exhibit 15 that you're looking at, please.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: Where it says "deposit date," that's the date that it was deposited into that particular account, regardless of its receipt date; am I correct?

THE WITNESS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: All right. So the receipt date has nothing to do with that date?

THE WITNESS: We don't know when the receipt date was.

THE CHAIR: Got it. All right.

And I also want to make sure that for any time prior to 2002, didn't need to name the person who made the hundred-dollar-or-under contribution, but you had to list it in--individually or in the aggregate?

THE WITNESS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: And that would show up on the disclosure report?

THE WITNESS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: But for after 2002, you had to list the name, the--at least up to--you had to list the name, as well as the amount--

THE WITNESS: No--

THE CHAIR: --up to the fifty--or the fifty dollar--

THE WITNESS: No. After 2002 the forms allowed you--it--it provided you a form where you didn't have to provide the name, but you had to provide--

THE CHAIR: Provide the date--

THE WITNESS: --the date and the amount.

THE CHAIR: Okay. And then that changed several years ago, last year, to fifty dollars?

THE WITNESS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: Okay. I--

REP. STAM: Are we sure that that wasn't just for--Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: Wasn't that just if you received cash?

THE WITNESS: No, no. It--it's--it's both. It's--it's--that is now the threshold for reporting a contributor is over fifty dollars.

THE CHAIR: Okay.

THE WITNESS: That changed to the cash--

THE CHAIR: Thanks. No other--I just needed to clear that in my mind. All right.

I think just--anything I need to--anything Counsel needs before we recess till--till nine in the morning?

Mr. Reagan, anything we need to cover?

All right. Again I remind all the members of the Committee on the note I've given before and the instruction I've given before about overnight recess.

Thank you. We'll see everybody at nine o'clock.

THE CHAIR: All right. We are called back into session.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Ms. Strach--I'm sorry. Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: My understanding is that Attorney Harris is tied up behind an accident in--somewhere between Burlington and Durham.

THE CHAIR: All right.

PROF. JOYNER: And I don't know what the status of clearing that is. He's traveling in from Greensboro.

THE CHAIR: All right.

PROF. JOYNER: So by way of explanation this morning--

THE CHAIR: Oh, I--I appreciate that.

PROF. JOYNER: --provide that information.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much.

All right. Ms. Strach, you're on the stand, and we're still on cross-examination with Dr. Joyner. And--and, obviously, Ms. Strach, you're still under oath. Okay.

Whereupon,

KIMBERLY W. STRACH,

having been previously duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

CROSS-EXAMINATION CONTINUED BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q Okay. Ms. Strach, I'm--I'm not sure exactly where we left off yesterday, so let me just--just start arbitrarily at some point.

You indicated yesterday that the Board of Election had a--had--had a policy of allowing amendments to reports after they had--campaign finance reports after they had been--been filed; is--is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q And there was--and there has not been a time limit on the amount of time that those reports can be amended?

A There's not. And--and the reason for that is because if someone discovers something many years later, we still--they still would be required to amend that report to accurately reflect the disclosure.

Q That--that kind of flows from the--I guess the philosophy at Board of Elections that the primary purpose of the reporting is for the public to be able to know where the contributions are coming from and the amounts of those contributions?

A Sure. Yes.

Q Right. So in--in a sense, this is more kind of a regulatory information-gathering function than it is a punitive matter that--as--as you look at the requirements here?

A Certainly disclosure is a primary goal of our office.

Q All right. There--there is, for instance, nothing in the statutes dealing with campaign finance--campaign financing that authorizes the amending of reports?

A There's nothing specifically in the statute, no.

Q Right. And in fact, the statute speaks to the notion of reporting of contributions?

A It--in--it speaks to reporting, and it provides the schedule for the reporting.

Q Okay. Now, in--yeah. Yeah. And in addition to that, the statute does not describe a particular method for a political campaign to maintain campaign funds; is that correct?

A It--it doesn't--it doesn't prescribe for a particular method, did you say?
Q Right.
A It--it--it doesn't. It requires, though, the listing--the disclosure of all those places that you choose to maintain.
Q Well, let--let me just ask. There's nothing in the statute, for instance, which requires that there be a dedicated bank account entitled "Politician's Campaign Funds"?
A No, there is not.
Q Right. And--and in fact, the statute would allow a person who is running for office to maintain one, ten, fifteen different bank accounts?
A They--they could. Many committees have more than one account.
Q And there is no violation of the statute if an account in which campaign funds are kept also contains personal monies?
A There's no violation of the statute that that's in there. It's how the reporting of that is done is where we would run into problems.
Q Okay. Well, I--I--I understand that, but I just want to--

A Okay.
Q That--that--the mere fact that there is a bank account and that bank account has funds in it, some of which are dedicated to campaign-finance matters and others dedicated to personal matters or even business matters, would not violate the statute?
A It would not violate the statute for those funds to be in--in one account. If that was--for example, if it was a--a candidate's personal account. There are--there have been candidates that have used their personal account. They disclosed it, and then they have to disclose what's in that account, because when you commingle funds, we have to be able to determine what expenditures--what funds paid for the expenditures; therefore, what is disclo--what is subject to disclosure.

So that's--that is why it is certainly not a good idea to commingle your funds--
Q Okay.
A --because if a business check gets put in there and it pays for something that is campaign, then that's where you have made--you have made a prohibited contrib--you've received a prohibited contribution.

Q Yeah. But--but what you're speaking to now, though, is convenience of oversight rather than what the statute requires?
A I guess I'm looking at practically--from a practical standpoint of why commingled funds shouldn't really occur.
Q Right. But I'm--but I'm saying your comments now speak, though, to your practical application of how you would like to see it done rather than what the statute requires?
A Right. As I said, there's nothing in the statute that says you can't maintain several different accounts.
Q Okay. I mean, that's the point I--I want--is that the--
A Right. And I--I--I acknowledge that.
Q Right. And the statute doesn't require that?
A Right. They just--
Q Okay.
A Right. It doesn't require you to keep a separate account.
Q Right. So the statute does no more than to require that at the designated time frames, that you accurately report, no matter how many accounts you have, those funds that are campaign related?

A Yeah. Yes. But--but then it becomes a problem of determining what is campaign related. That's where we're going to--
Q Right, but that's another issue.
A Right.
Q Right. That's another issue.

REP. STAM: Speaker, could--could she be allowed to finish the answer when she's in the middle of an answer?

THE CHAIR: I will allow you to--is there more to your answer?
A The only thing I was saying is that the reason--if someone does that, they're going to--we're going to have to be doing an awful lot of auditing those bank records all the time to ensure compliance, and we would.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Right. I--I--I understand that. Now I'm just trying to--to--to--to--to separate out what is legally required and what you deem to be good housekeeping practices. Okay?
A Okay.
Q Now, in--in--in addition to that, the statute does not require a particular wording for a contributor to make contributions to someone who's running for office; is that correct?

A When you say "particular wording," for--
Q Right. If I was writing a check out to someone who was running for office, the statute does not require that I have any particular wording on that check?
A No, there's nothing in the statute that prescribes exactly how the check is to be written.
Q Right.
A It's--it's just--it should be written in a way that the committee realizes--knows that that check is designated. Now, there are--there is a statute that was added in '06 that talks about making sure--a treasurer must know that--a--a contribution has to be designated to that committee.
Q Okay. But that was a later requirement?
A Well, it's a later requirement, but it's--you know, it's--certainly some of the contributions we're talking about today would be under that, would--
Q Okay. All right.
A --be subject to that.
Q Okay. I understand. Prior to that, I could write out a check to the Alpha Omega Campaign Fund, and that would suffice to be a campaign contribution; is that correct? If Alpha Omega was a person that was running for political office.

A Yes, if that was a person, then--and the check was made out to that, you could make it out--
Q Right.
A --to that.
Q But I could also make it out just to Al--Alpha Omega?
A You could. You could. And if it was given for a campaign purpose, then that would be subject to disclosure, yes.
Q My--my point, though, is that the designation that I put on the payee line is not mandated by the statute?
A What is put on the payee line is not addressed by the statute.
Q Okay. If I make it out to a named individual and then, in the explanation section of the check, say "political contribution," then it is easier to determine that that is a political contribution as opposed to a personal contribution?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And that's the good housekeeping stuff that you're--that you're--you--you were making reference to?

A The good housekeeping stuff, the--when I--when we audit a committee and we see something that has been made out to just the candidate and there is no designation, sometimes that would call us to--to really get the intent of the contributor of how it was meant. Was it a campaign contribution? Was it meant personally?
Q Right. And that's--doing it that way might cause additional problems for you in your audit--auditing supervision and process?
A It could. It could. It--it certainly would cause more work for the auditing process.
Q But none of that would violate the statute?
A Not of--of it--well, none of what would violate the statute?
Q The designation or--the designation of the--on the payee line.
A If the payee line--just what's on the desi--what has been put on the payee line, you're say that wouldn't violate the statute?
Q Right.
A No, that wouldn't violate the sta--it's what done with the contribution that may or may not violate the statute.

Q And the mere fact that campaign funds are commingled with personal funds, that fact would not violate the statute?
A Not the fact that they're commingled. It's--it's what happens after that that's probably--probably likely going to violate the statute.
Q Okay. And again, you just keep coming back to the notion of as long as it is properly designated on the report?
A Dr. Joyner, it's very difficult for me to say that it's not a problem to commingle account. Even though the statute doesn't specifically say there has to be a separate account, what happens usually when you have a commingled account, you're going to--you--there are going to be several statutes you're going to end up violating. And so it's difficult for me to--to say that.
But yes, there is nothing in the statute that says you cannot commin--have a--
Q My--my point---
A --account.
Q It would make it difficult for you in your auditing process to be able to quickly identify those items that are campaign funds when--when you have a commingled account?

A Actually, my concern is not really for us. My concern is that usually when you commingle, it's the committee that's going to get in trouble, because they are going to spend funds with funds that they couldn't spend it with. And the commingling problem is going to end up being a problem for the committee. Yes, it's--it's a pro--it's--it's--it's work for us, but the end result's the problem for the committee.

Q All right. Okay. I--I--I understand. But it's--it doesn't violate the statute. That's--that's the point I'm trying to make.

Want to direct your attention to Exhibit 15 in--in--in the black book there. You indicated yesterday that there were a number of checks that you found in one of several accounts maintained by or on behalf of Representative Wright, checks that were written to the Thomas Wright campaign that were written on a check--or checking accounts from Thomas Wright; is that correct?

A You're speaking to what's been designated here

"Thomas Wright campaign"?

Q Yes.

A That--those are all instances where a check or a debit ticket or--was written from a campaign account and written to Thomas Wright. And then that monies directly went into another account that maintained campaign funds.

Q Okay. End result was it--it--it showed up in your--on this tabulation as an unreported contribution?

A Correct. Because--

Q Rather--rather than an unreported distribution?

A Correct. It could--if--if it did not go directly into that other account, we could certainly have called it an expenditure, because there were other checks that were written from the campaign accounts that went--that were written to Thomas Wright that didn't go into another account. We designated those disbursements.

But here we were. We had these--these set of contributions, sixteen thousand (16,000) or so, that went from a campaign account into this account that co--that had the commingled funds with campaign, and there were expenditures that were being made. So in order for us to be able to properly designate what that transaction was, we had to determine it was a transfer. And by definition, a transfer should be disclosed as a contribution.

And it's designated on--on our sheet. We have a reporting form for that, account transfers. They're--they're--fall under the definition of _contribution._ But they don't inflate your--your actual bottom line. It's--it's disclosed on the--the summary page, but it doesn't inflate your contribution numbers. However, they're still transactions that are just as much required to be reported as any other contribution.

Q All right. Now, you--you list in this document eleven of those instances, do you not?

A I'll have to count them, if you'd like me to.

Q Okay. That's--that's fine.

A Eleven. And I think one of them we removed yesterday because it had been disclosed. There was a three-thousand-dollar ($3,000) one yesterday that was--was removed.

Q Okay. I--I thought that was different from those. I thought that was the other Thomas Wright, Sr.

A No, that was a two-hundred-dollar ($200) contribution from Thomas H. Wright, III, that was removed.

Q Well, anyway, I--I have el--eleven. I have eleven, which amounts to roughly in the neighborhood of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).

A Right. And if you'd subtract the three, it's--my--my number was around sixteen thousand (16,000).

Q We can split the difference, right?

A Okay.

Q All right. Okay. But if we use the eleven figure, it's--it's roughly twenty thousand dollars ($20,000)?

A Yes.

Q You said one was removed and--

A Yes.

Q Okay. Now, on the back of that Exhibit 15, you indicated, did you not, that there were three checks found in one or more of those accounts that were made payable to the Community Health Foundation, did you not?

A Correct.

Q And you listed those here, AT&T, AstraZeneca, Anheuser-Busch. And that was eighty-nine hundred dollars ($8,900). The deposit date for the AT&T check is listed as July 26, 2004?

A Correct.

Q All right. If you will, look back at Exhibit 13. Is--is that the check to which you make reference--

A Yes.

Q --to for this--okay. And what is the date of that check? What is the date of that check?

A The date on the check?

Q Yes.

A April 1st, 2004.

Q Okay. So the check has a April 1st, 2004, issue date and a deposit date of July 26, 2004?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And then with the AstraZeneca check, I want to direct your attention to Exhibit 10.

A Yes.

Q All right. And what is the issue date on that check?

A December 15th, 2003.

Q And the deposit date for that check is August 11, 2004?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And then with respect to the Anheuser-Busch check--and I'll direct your attention to Exhibit Number 7. Do you see an issue date on that check?

A Yes, March 5th, 2004.

Q And the deposit date for that check is August 11, 2004?

A Yes.

Q Right. Now, in your investigation that you conducted with respect to--to these accounts, you talked with a number of people, and you had conversation with banking officials at the various banks; is that correct?

A Either I did, or someone on my staff did.

Q Okay. And you also issued subpoenas for the production of some of this--all of this data?

A Some of this data. Some of it was--was obtained through authorizations signed by Representative Wright.

Q All right. And there was a--a hearing in which Representative Wright was required to attend; is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q And he did attend and participated in that hearing; is that correct?

A He did attend.

Q All right. And the subject of that hearing was these checks, these accounts?

A The subject of the hearing were--was the--the complaint that had been filed and the other--the nondisclosure and other issues that we had found during our investigation, including these checks.

Q Right. Those issues surrounding this campaign financing?

A Correct.

Q And the statutes, campaign-finance statutes, require that Representative Wright participate and provide the information that is sought from him; is that correct?

A The--the statute requires that Representative Wright allow us to look at any of his financial accounts that may have campaign activity in it so that we can review them to see what is subject to disclosure and provide any other information that we need in the course of our investigation.

Q Okay. And that is accomplished through subpoena and by the mandate of the statute itself; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Now, you indicated yesterday in a question from Mr.

Wright that--I'm sorry. Mr. Hart. Elevating him now.

A Mr. Peters.

Q Mr. Peters. That you--you--you know--you know these statutes pretty well?

A I hope so. I certainly--that's my job, and I--I take it very seriously.

Q And--and you deal--you deal with them on a daily basis?

A I deal with it on a daily basis.

Q Okay. And how--how long have you--you been doing this?

A I started at the Board of Elections in 2000. I've been working in this position since 2001.

Q Want to direct your attention to North Carolina General--Gen--General Statute Section 163 dash 278 point 29.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Point 29?

PROF. JOYNER: Right.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Are you--are you familiar with that offhand?

A I--I--I--I'm not--I'm not sure. I probably would like to look at it.

THE CHAIR: All right. Let's do that.

If we could, get a statute book in here, please. Thank you.

PROF. JOYNER: I--I have a copy.

THE CHAIR: It--probably just as easy for her to have a book as to--okay. It's 163-278 point 29. Thank you.

A Yes.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Okay. Are you familiar with that statute?

A I am familiar with that statute.

Q Okay. And what does that statutes provide?

A That statute provides that the State Board, if they compel testimony, then that infor--then the evidence cannot be used against them, I believe is what that statute virtually says. If--if they compel testimony.

Q Or documents?

A I'm not sure. I--I know that--this is actually--we've had some--and I would probably not be the best person to speak to it. But our attorney at the attorney general's office has actually been involved in some litigation over this statute. And the outcome was that it's testimony. And that's why at the beginning of every State Board hearing, if we have subpoenaed any individual, our chairman lets them know they are not compelled to testify, and that if they--if they--they are not there--that they will not be compelled to testify; it will be voluntary. And it is in order not to violate this particular statute.

Q Well, if the person is compelled--well, the statute starts off by stating that no individual shall be excused from attending, testifying, or producing any books, papers, or other documents before any court upon any proceeding or trial or another for the violation of any of the provisions in this article. That's pretty broad?

A It is pretty broad.

Q And it ends up saying, "But such individuals so compelled to testify with respect to any acts of his own shall be immune from prosecution on account thereof." Is that what the statute says?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And that's 163 dash 278 point 29.

THE CHAIR: Members of the Committee, it's in your yellow books. It's 163 dash 278 point 29. Thank you.

A That is what it says. And--and really, the only-- the only thing that I can say to--to this is that I--I know that our--our--our State Board is aware of this statute, and that is why when a--someone has been subpoenaed, their appearance has been subpoenaed, they are told they are not going to be compelled to testify. They are not going to be compelled. That--that is something that--that was stated to Mr.--to Representative Wright, if he was--if he had been asked to testify. And any witness that testifies before the State Board is told they're not going to be compelled.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) Yeah. But when you use subpoenas to compel the production of documents, that's testimony?

A Dr. Joyner, I'm not an attorney.

THE CHAIR: Well, yeah. I'm not going--the objection from the Chair is sustained. I don't think she's in a position to give a legal opinion on that.

PROF. JOYNER: If I could have a moment?

THE CHAIR: Sure.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Yes? Yes?

PROF. JOYNER: We have no further questions of this witness.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you. Redirect examination?

MR. PETERS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. PETERS:

Q Ms. Strach, as long as you have General Statutes 163 dash 278 point 29 open in front of you, I'd just like to ask you a couple of questions.

A Sure.

Q The hearing to which I believe Mr. Joyner was referring where Representative Wright was present last spring, was that hearing in a court, or was it before the State Board of Elections?

A It was before the State Board of Elections.

Q And was that hearing relative to charges against Representative Wright, or was it in--rel--relative to charges against someone else?

A Representative Wright.

Q All right. Thank you.

Now, you were asked some questions this morning about the way checks might be made out, perhaps to Thomas Wright or to the Thomas Wright campaign or similarly. When you were doing your investigation--you and your staff were doing your investigation of these accounts, did you find checks that were made out to Thomas Wright as opposed to the Thomas Wright campaign?

A We did.

Q And how did you make a determination which checks should be considered contributions and which checks were personal income or personal checks?

A If there was not a designation on the check either saying "Thomas Wright campaign" or in the memo line saying "cont_--_campaign contribution" or something to indicate that the purpose was to be a campaign contribution, we deemed that check to be personal.

Q So is it fair to say, then, that all of the checks reflected in Exhibit 15 are checks that specifically indicated somewhere on the check that they were for the campaign purposes and not for personal purposes?

A Yes.

Q All right. I believe you were asked yesterday about how you can tell in an investigation when a check has been received; is that correct?

A Right. We--we talked about when a check is received. How you can tell it can be--when it's received?

Q Or how can you tell when the check has been received?

A Well, you can't really tell--

Q Okay.

A --when a check has been received. The--the only way that we can determine that--because we can't tell when it's--when it's received, we, in situations like this, have to use a deposit date.

Q And what does the deposit date tell you?

A That tells us they had to have received it at that point, because that's the--because they actually put it in the bank. So we know that the received date is not after that.

Q All right. And when you were doing your investigation, is--is that how you were able to determine that some checks had been reported in the wrong period?

A Yes.

Q By comparing the deposit date to the date that was on the disclosure form as being received?

A Correct.

Q And were all of those instances where the dis--the date shown on the disclosure report was later than the date the bank records show the checks to have been deposited in the bank account?

A Correct. We if a contribution was disclosed earlier than the deposit, as long as it wasn't earlier than the date on the check, then that was probably the receipt date, and it would have been the appropriate date to report it.

Q Or at least you assumed that it was, having no other information otherwise?

A Have--having no other information. Correct.

Q Okay. The deposits in--listed in Exhibit Number 15, do I understand correctly that those are all deposits that were not disclosed at all, that--are there any of--any of the ones on Exhibit 15, are any of those contributions that were disclosed but disclosed in the wrong reporting period?

A No, other than the three that I alluded to yesterday. The others have never been reported in any reporting period.

Q In the course of your investigation, did you determine that there were checks that had been re--disclosed in the wrong reporting period?

A Yes. That was a significant issue for our audit. Yes.

Q Okay. And do you know what those checks totaled that were reported in the wrong period?

A It's approximately--and it's--it's probably a little higher than this. But it's between seventy-five and eighty thousand dollars--

Q Right.

A --in contributions that were reported--were reported in a reporting period other than when it should have been reported--later than it should have been reported.

Q And so those would be in addition to what's on Exhibit 15?

A Absolutely, yes.

Q Okay. Looking at Exhibit 15. Let me ask you. Have you done a breakdown with regard to each reporting period on Exhibit 15 and the checks that--the--the contributions that were not disclosed?

A Are you saying based on this, the--the amount that hasn't been disclosed? I have, but I don't have those numbers with me. I don't have--I can add them here, but I don't have those with me.

Q We--we don't need to--we don't need to go there. So do I understand--do--you don't have anything with you at this time that would enable you to say what the total contributions that should have been disclosed in a reporting period are?

A I do have that. I can tell you--I can tell you the--the amount of the contributions that were deposited or in-kinds received during a particular reporting period. That I can tell you.

Q Okay. That's what I was asking.

A Okay. Sorry.

Q I apparently did not--

A I mis--

Q --state it as--

A Sorry.

Q --clearly as I wanted.

Well, let me just ask you to walk through that.

A Sure.

Q Starting with 2000, the first quarter, according to your investigation, what were the receipts that should have been disclosed?

A Twenty-one thousand six hundred and forty-two dollars and sixty-two cent ($21,642.62).

Q All right. And what were--what was the amount of receipts that were actually disclosed, contributions or--

A A thousand dollars was disclosed.

Q All right.

A And keep in mind on--on this--what--what I--the numbers I'm giving you of what was disclosed, keep in mind that if it was disclosed, that--that's not taking into account they may be contributions that were reported in the wrong reporting period. So they may not be--they might--these contributions may not be reported in the correct reporting period.

Q Okay. But--so the total was twenty-one thousand six hundred and forty-two (21,642), and one thousand was disclosed? Do I have that correct?

A On his report, he disclosed a thousand dollars in receipts for the 2000 first quarter.

Q Okay. What about the second quarter of 2000?

A There were thirty-two thousand five hundred and fifty dollars ($32,550) in receipts deposited during the second quarter of 2000.

Q All right. How about what was disclosed?

A Forty-three thousand nine-twenty-five-fifty-three (43,925.53). And this is the example of probably some of the--the contributions that should have been reported in the first quarter are then reported in the second quarter.

Q All right. How about the third quarter of 2000?

A Fifteen thousand nineteen dollars and seven cent ($15,019.07).

Q And what was disclosed?

A Eleven thousand four hundred (11,400).

Q All right. How about the fourth quarter of 2000?

A Fifteen thousand one hundred and nine dollars and sixty-four cent ($15,109.64).

Q Is what?

A Was what actually was received by the committee.

Q Okay. And what was disclosed?

A Five thousand five hundred dollars ($5,500).

Q All right. And in 2000, the mid-year semiannual report?

A 2001 semiannual--mid-year semiannual report was--he received seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750).

Q And that, of course--2001 would be an off year--

A Right.

Q --election wise?

A Correct.

Q And what was disclosed?

A He didn't disclose any--receipt of any contributions.

Q All right. How about the 2001 year-end semiannual report?

A He received forty-one hundred dollars ($4,100).

Q And what was disclosed?

A Twenty-seven hundred (2,700) was disclosed.

Q All right. What about the first quarter of 2002?

A Eleven thousand four hundred and fifty dollars ($11,450).

Q That is what was received?

A That is what is received--was received.

Q And should have been disclosed?

A And should have been disclosed.

Q And what was actually disclosed?

A Five hundred dollars ($500).

Q All right. What about the second quarter of 2002?

A There were twenty-two thousand six hundred and sixty-six dollars and twenty-five--and twenty-five cent ($22,666.25) of receipts that should have been disclosed during that reporting period. and he disclosed eighteen thousand one hundred and twenty-five (18,125).

Q All right. And 2002 was the year you said there was that special interim--

A Yes.
Q --report?
A Yes.
Q And what was that? What was received and--that should have been disclosed on that report?
A He--HE received five hundred and fifty dollars ($550) during that reporting period, and he disclosed five hundred dollars ($500).
Q All right. What about the third quarter of 2002?
A Twenty-two hundred dollars ($2,200) was what he received. And he re--dis--he disclosed receiving no contributions.
Q All right. What about the fourth quarter of 2002?
A He--he received thirty-seven thousand nine hundred and three dollars and thirty cent ($37,903.30), and he disclosed thirty-four thousand three hundred and fifty dollars ($34,350).
Q And then in 2003, the mid-year semiannual report?
A He received one thousand six hundred and twenty-five dollars and fifty-three cent ($1,625.53), and he reported receiving no contributions.
Q All right. What about the year-end for 2003?
A He received eleven thousand nine hundred seventeen dollars and forty-one cent ($11,917.41), and he disclosed receipt of twelve thousand two hundred dollars ($12,200).

Q And would that--
A That is--
Q --again be an indi--
A Yes.
Q --cation of--
A Of--of contributions that were likely not reported when they were deposited, were reported later.
Q All right. What about the first quarter of 2004?
A He received fifteen thousand six hundred dollars ($15,600), and he disclosed eight thousand six hundred (8,600).
Q And again, 2004, that would be an election year, correct?
A Yes, it would.
Q What about the second quarter of 2004?
A He received twenty-eight thousand five hundred dollars ($28,500).
Q And what did he report?
A He recei--he reported receiving no contributions.
Q So of twenty-eight thousand five hundred dollars ($28,500), zero was reported?
A Zero.

Q What about the third quarter of 2004?
A He re--he'd received eighteen thousand nine hund dollars ($18,900), and he disclosed ten thousand six hundred and fifty (10,650).
Q All right. And then the fourth quarter of 2004?
A He received twenty thousand seventy-five dollars and ten cent ($20,075.10), and he disclosed twenty-seven thousand four hundred (27,400), likely contributions from prior reporting periods that had not been disclosed.
Q All right. 2005, the mid-year semiannual report, what--what was deposited that should have been disclosed?
A Three thousand five hundred and fifty-nine dollars and seventy-six cent ($3,559.76). And he didn't report--he reported receiving no contributions.
Q All right. 2005, the year-end semiannual report?
A He showed--he--he received twenty-one thousand nine hundred and ninety-five dollars ($21,995), and he disclosed fifteen thousand seven hundred and fifty (15,750).
Q All right. And then in 2006, the first quarter?
A He received fifty-four thousand seventy-four dollars and fifty-two cent ($54,074.52), and he disclosed receiving five thousand nine hundred and fifty (5,950).

Q And the second--
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Please give me those figures again.
THE WITNESS: Fifty-four thousand seventy-four dollars and fifty-two cent ($54,074.52). And he actually--he reported five thousand nine hundred and fifty (5,950).
Q And the second quarter of 2006?
A He received thirty-seven thousand four hundred and six dollars and seventy-four cent ($37,406.74). He disclosed twenty thousand nine hundred and twenty-five dollars ($20,925).
Q Then the third quarter of 2006?
A He received twenty-six thousand five hundred and fifty dollars and thirty-seven cent ($26,550.37), and he disclosed twenty-two thousand one hundred and one dollars even ($22,101).
Q All right. And then the fourth quarter of 2006?
A He received eighteen thousand one hundred dollars ($18,100), and he disclosed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).
Q All right. Now, you were asked some questions yesterday about contributions under a threshold where the contributor's identity did not have to be disclosed.

A Correct.

Q But the contribution itself does have to be disclosed?

A Yes. It always has.

Q And--

A For long as I've been there, it has.

Q All right. And why on this sheet, the--Exhibit 15, where those hundred-dollar contributions or fifty-dollar contributions are listed, the contributor is listed, as well? And--

A Why is the name on there?

Q Right.

A That's just to show proof that this was a contribution that was received in the account that wasn't disclosed.

Q All right. And--

A Just identifies those.

Q And since the contributor did not have to be listed on the disclosure report, how were you able to determine that these contributions had not been disclosed?

A Because there is--even on the earlier reports, there is a--a line item that--in 2000/2001, it was called _unitemized._ So you had--if you had contributions that the contributor didn't have to be reported, you would list the aggregate on that--that line. If there were--if there--most--there were a lot of reports that didn't have any aggregate contributions. But if there were, there are contributions of--of a hundred dollars or less that are not included on here that they did--he didn't disclose their name, but he wasn't required to. And we--we gave him credit for those contributions.

Q Why would he have not been required to disclose tho--those names?

A Because if--if the--he was required to recei--to disclose the receipt, which there are some he re--he disclosed the receipt of. But if he did not have to dis--disclose the identity of them, they would not be--they would not be listed on--on this--this spreadsheet.

Q What about cash contributions? How are those reported?

A Cash contributions are reported like any other contribution. The reporting forms actually require you to provide a method of payment. Because cash--it--up until--I hope I get my years--January 1, 2007, you take cash of a hundred dollars from an individual or other person that could contribute. That's reported the same way; you just show the method of payment as cash.

Q All right. And in your Exhibit 15, the spreadsheet, does that reflect cash contributions that were not disclosed?

A There are cash contributions. There are--there was receipt of contributions--cash contributions in the account that we could not match to any--any contributor--or--or any--any disclosure. Excuse me.

Q What--then how were you able to determine that they were contributions that should have been disclosed?

A Well, I mean, you've got deposits of cash. Certainly they should be disclosed. And if we don't know what the identity is, they--those contributions still are required to be disclosed.

Q And--

A And--and the--the Committee is required to know the identity of those individuals that make up that cash.

Q And those were contributions into the campaign accounts?

A It was into any of the--one--one of the accounts he used for campaign.

Q All right. Do you know whether any of the disclosure reports that are Exhibits 16A through 16G, did any of those disclose cash contributions?

A There are no cash contributions disclosed on the report.

Q On any of those reports?

A I--I don't believe there are any reports that disclose cash.

Q Okay. Do you know approximately the amount of cash contributions total wise that are in Exhibit 15?

A There's not too many of them, so--there was one deposit of four thousand (4,000) in cash. There are some other cash contributions that, as I recall it, somewhere in--in the five--over five thousand dollar range.

Q Okay. You were asked some questions about filing amended reports.

A Yes.

Q And I believe it was your testimony that those would always be allowed? A--a committee would always be allowed to file amended reports?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Do--have you done any looking into--well, let me back up.

How many entities are there in North Carolina who are required to re--to file disclosure reports?

A There are over five thousand committees that are registered either at the State Board of Elections or in the County Board of Elections. We have around two thousand registered at the State Board of Elections.

Q And so the--the rest would be registered with counties?

A Yes.

Q County board of--boards of election?

A Yes.

Q So if there are five thousand--in a year like 2006, the most recent election year other than the one we're in now, there would be four reporting periods; is that correct? Four reporting periods--

A Yes.

Q --in 2006?

A Yes, yes.

Q Five thousand, give or take some, reporting entities?

A Yes.

Q So is it fair to say that would be around twenty thousand--

A Reports.

Q --reports that are required to be filed with your office?

A Oh, yes.

Q Do you--

A Well, five thousand, they're not--not all five thousand committees report to our office.

Q Right.

A The two thousand do.

Q Right.

A Right.

Q Do you know how many amended disclosure reports were filed in 2006?

A In 2006--I went back and pulled that--there were five hundred and sixty-nine amended reports filed in 2006.

Q Okay. Do you know whether that--have any sense for whether that was a typical number of amended reports?

A I--I think it's probably--it could be--you know, could be higher. And in fact, you know, probably as we go on, there'll be--there'll be more. That--that's probably a good--a good typical number. It--it may be higher in some years.

Q All right. Now, you were asked some questions about the checks from AT&T and AstraZeneca and Anheuser-Busch.

A Yes.

Q When you saw those checks, did you do any investigation into the Community's Health Foundation?

A Yes. We--Representative Wright authorized us to obtain the financial records for the Community's Health Foundation.

Q And did you actually obtain those financial records and bank accounts?

A We did.

Q Are they included in the accounts that are on Exhibit 17A through seven--

A They are.

Q All right. Do you know when the bank account at the Community's Health Foundation was opened?

A I do.

Q And what was that date?

A It was opened on March 17th, 2003.

Q And do you know when it was closed?

A June 28th, 2004.

Q All right. And do you know what kind of activity went on in that account, whether there were many deposits made into it?

A As I recall, I believe there were two deposits that were made into that account. I think--and I think both of them were from Dr. Gottovi. I think it was a--a check to open the account, and I think it--I think it was a check he--he wrote to the bank account to make a loan interest payment.

Q Right. And what payments were there from that account--

A Just--

Q --if you recall?

A Just the one. Actually the--the loan interest payment was the only payment made. And what he used to open it, that's kind of what--the bank charges ate it up every month, and that's when--it actually was not closed. It was charged off when that money was gone.

Q And by "charge off," you mean?
A The bank closed the account because there was no money in it.
Q All right. Were any of the other--the other accounts that you examined closed through charge-off?
A Yes. The Bank of America account that was his campaign account was closed off due to charge-off in November of 2003. The--the service charges was--there was no more money in the account. It kept accruing service charges, so they closed that account. As I said, the--the Community's Health Foundation was closed due to charge-off. And the First Citizens account that was used as a campaign account was closed due to charge-off in June of '05.
Q All right. Then you were asked a series of questions this morning about commingled accounts. And I believe it was your testimony that there is no statutory prohibition against commingled accounts; is that correct?
A There's no specific, no, statutory prohibition.
Q But I believe you also said that there are a number of statutes that committees risk violating when they commingle--

A Correct.
Q --campaign money with personal money? What would those statutes be?
A Well, a--a committee is prohibited from receiving business contributions. So if a business check is received, it--and it was for the committee, that is something that couldn't be used. And--and not only could they not receive it; I mean, they can't spend that money, either.

Also, contributions in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) generally, to most campaigns, are prohibited.

Cont--contributions--well, the--the prohibited-source contributions, not just busin--not just corporations. Businesses, professional associations, labor unions, insurance companies, all of these entities are prohibited from giving to political committees.
Q So does the problem arise, then, when monies--when contributions from those prohibited sources go into the account and then are used for campaign-related purposes?
A Yes. That's a huge problem. That's even if they were not given for a political purpose. If--if they are used in any way, then they are--they are part of the campaign and, therefore, subject to disclosure. And they--and they couldn't have been used. They would have been prohibited.

Q Okay. And I believe your Exhibit 15--that simply reflects contributions that were received and not disclosed; is that correct?
A Only contributions.
Q Did you also, when you were doing your investigation, look at the expenditures out of these accounts?
A Yes.
Q And what did you find when you looked at the expenditures out of the accounts?
A There were a large amount of expenditures that were also not reported. From the campaign account, that's--campaign accounts, that's a pretty easy number to come to, because you can just look at any check that was written from the account and say that should have been disclosed.

When looking at the commingled account, the account that had his personal funds, what we were trying to determine, which expenditures were subject to disclosure. And the way we had to go about that was look at the--each expenditure, see if it was--appeared to be for a campaign purpose. For example, if--if--if--if there was a check to a TV station and it had "for campaign advertising," we consider that a campaign expenditure, therefore, subject to disclosure.

If there were expenses that were paid from the commingled account that campaign funds paid for, even if it was a personal expense, we considered those expenses were subject to disclosure.

And sometimes what we had--we had additional issue. Sometime you would have both some personal money and campaign money. And what we tried to do was say, Spend your per--we'll spend his personal money first. And then if there's--if--if--sometimes there had to be campaign funds to end up paying the rest of that purchase. So what we did on that was we--we would say that Representative Wright made an in-kind contribution to his campaign, and then the rest of it was an expenditure from the campaign.
Q If I understand correctly, are you saying that you assumed that personal purchases were funded at first with personal funds?

A Yes.

Q And if those were not sufficient to cover the purchase, then campaign funds were applied?

A Yes.

Q And then vice versa on campaign expenditures? You assumed campaign funds were spent first, and if those were not sufficient, then personal funds--

A Yes.

Q --were used?

A Yes. Exactly.

Q All right. And is--you talked some yesterday, I believe, in cross-examination about how it--it was at one time, until recently, legal for candidates to use campaign funds for personal purposes?

A Yes.

Q That correct?

A Yes.

Q But that it had to be disclosed?

A Yes. Yes. Absolutely. And--and--and usually that's--as I was saying yesterday, that's why a lot of candidates choose not to spend their campaign funds for personal purposes at--prior to October 1, '06. Now that is no longer a choice.

Q Right. Were there any other things that you noted out of the ordinary when you were looking at expenditures? Any--any other patterns you noticed or--

A Well, I mean, there were certainly--there were periods of time that there were only campaign funds in the personal account, and all expenditures paid--and the majority of those expenditures paid were--couldn't be determined to be a campaign nature were paid with campaign funds. And there were--there were--there were many times that that was the case.

Q Did you ever find any discrepancies in what was reported for a specific expenditure and what your investigation shows was spent on the expenditure?

A We did. One of the things that was also--when we were trying to determine what expenditures had been disclosed and we were looking at what expenditures had been made from each account, trying to match that to what had been disclosed. And there were several instances where Representative Wright reported making expenditures that didn't match up with anything. We would have an expenditure to the same vendor, but the amounts would be significantly different. So it was difficult for us to match that expense to what was paid; we're not sure that it was. It--it would be overreported. The--the expense would be. So we couldn't verify through any records that--bank records of how that expenditure was paid, if that was--if we were looking at the same expenditure.

Q When you say _overreported,_ do--

A Right. We would have--sorry. We would have--for example, we'd have a check to some sort of media outlet. And we would have the check. And let's just say it was for a thousand dollars thirty--thousand dollars and thirty-two cent ($1,000.32). In his--on his report, around the same date time, he would have a--a disclosure to the same media outlet, but it may be for three thousand dollars and fifteen cent ($3,000.15). And that's just an example, that--those numbers. But there would be overdisclosure. We couldn't--that was not the same expenditure amount. But it--he was obviously paying that media outlet. He had disclosed paying that media outlet. But the amount of the ex--the expenditures didn't match. So that presented a problem for us trying to determine what expenditures were disclosed.

MR. PETERS: Okay. Could I have just a moment?

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

MR. PETERS: We have no further questions at this time.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry?

MR. PETERS: I said we have no further questions at this time.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. Recross? Recross?

RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q All Right. Let's--well, let's star--start at the end of this, when you started talking about expenditures. Do you have any reports that you've submitted to this body dealing with these disbursements?

A I have not.

Q You've not prepared--so you--you--whatever you're testifying to now about disbursements are basically just kind of your random recollection?

A No. I mean, we have--our staff has gone back in--in preparation for, you know, this proceeding and the criminal proceeding. We have certainly gone back and analyzed all of the records. And so we--even though--all expenditures have been analyzed, as well, and there have been--we have produced documents for internally looking at those expenditures.

Q Have--have--have you prepared any charts or reports for this proceeding that you've submitted dealing with these expenditures?

A I have not.

Q And in making your conclusions about these expenditures, you rely a lot on your assumptions about what was going on?

A I would say that I rely on try--in--in--in looking at what is--certainly giving Representative Wright the--the most benefit of the doubt on looking at these. I--I--we have certainly tried to err--and we realize if--if contri--if expenditures were paid with campaign funds, there has to be disclosure of that. The public has a right to know that.

Q Well, that--that wasn't my question. My question was that you reached these conclusions based on assumptions that you had made about these payments?

A I'm not sure what--I understand what kind of assumptions you mean.

Q Well, I don't know what kind of assumptions you made. You talked about some assumptions that you made in your answers to Mr. Peters' questions. So I was just asking you if your determination of these distributions or expenditures were based on assumptions that you had made?

A Actually I don't think they were based on assumptions. They were based on money that went into the account that was specifically designated as campaign money. And then other money that didn't have a designation was considered personal. And so those were not--those were not assumptions. That was kind of a--a--a baseline that we used, that anything that has his name on it as his campaign would be considered, I think, subject to our--to our disclosure laws, reportable. And anything that was personal was--was put in a different column.

And then when expenditures were made, we didn't really look at trying--other than looking to see what had--on its face was a campaign expenditure, the only other things that we used to--that were subject to disclosure as far as the personal nature were any personal expenditures that campaign funds were used to fund. So it wasn't we were trying to assume that certain expenditures were personal or campaign. It was all based on what paid for it.

Q In reaching a conclusion about which expenditures were based--or paid from campaign funds or should have been paid from campaign funds, you operated on some assumptions?

A I'm not sure that I can agree that it was an assumption. It was--if--if--if a check is written to a media outlet and it has it's for campaign ads, to me, on its face, that's something that needs to be disclosed. I'm not really--

Q All right.

A --assuming anything.

Q You--you don't have any of those checks with you?

A I don't.

Q Okay.

A I don't. But--

Q So there's no way that--

A But they are available. And I--

Q That--my--you don't have that--any of that with you that we can look at and make those determinations; is that correct?

A Well, I--I don't, but they are on the--on the CDs. And they--those can be printed out if--if needed.

THE CHAIR: Let me--let me just ask so we're clear. The CDs you're talking about, are those what have previously been marked as Exhibits 17A, B, and C?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. And those are available to Committee Members and available, I think, to all sets of counsel; is that correct?

MR. PETERS: Yes, Mr. Chairman. They've been provided to Representative Wright's counsel.

THE CHAIR: Thank--all right. Thank you.

Q (By Prof. Joyner) You--you don't have any of those checks here?

A I don't.

Q Now, you were asked something about did you find any other things out of the ordinary. What do--what do you mean _out of the ordinary_ in these accounts?

A Well, I think you--are you referring to the overdisclosure of expenditures? That was out of the ordinary to me. When--when we couldn't match a disclosure--a disclosed expense to anything in any of the bank accounts, even though we could see the same vendor around the same date, but the amounts were not--I mean, and we're not talking about just a little bit of difference. We're talking about a significant difference that would make you question whether or not it was the same expenditure.

Q And did you present this information to Representative Wright?

A Did I present this to Representative Wright?

Q Yes.

A No. This information, though, was certainly part of the hearing. So--

Q Did--did--

A These expend--expenditures were discussed at the hearing.

Q Did you seek an explanation to help you understand the difference between what you saw and what you assume had occurred?

A I--I certainly think that those questions would have been asked of Representative Wright had he testified at--at the hearing.

Q But that's not what I asked you.

A I have not contacted Representative Wright since the hearing on this matter.

Q That's--that's what I asked you. I asked you did you--

A No, I have--I have not contacted him.

Q Okay. So--so you had these questions about these expenditures, but you never sought to seek--to--sought clarification from Representative Wright about these--these thing that you found questionable?

A Well, Dr. Joyner, I have a lot of questions for Representative Wright that I certainly would--

Q I--I know you do. I know you do.

A I do.

Q That's your job to have questions. But that's not what I asked you.

A And that certainly would be one of them.

Q And--and that's not what I asked you. All right? I asked you did you seek answers from Representative Wright?

A I have not sought any answers--

Q Okay. Thank you.

A --from Representative Wright.

Q That's what I asked you. Thank you.

You had a number of responses to questions about the dangers of having a commingled account?

A Yes.

Q And one of them was that you might have contributions in excess of the four-thousand-dollar ($4,000) limit?

A Yes.

Q Did you find that in Representative Wright's account?

A Did not.

Q Okay. That's just a da--that's speculation?

A That--that is--that is--that is something that could happen.

Q But it's not something that was present in this case?

A It was not present in this case.

Q You indicated that there might be checks from prohibited sources for campaign matters?

A Yes.

Q Did you find that in--

A We did find some of that.

Q And what--where was that?

A We did find some checks that were from businesses that were deposited into one of--one of--more--more than one of his accounts. And I--I do not specifically have which accounts with me, but I know we did have prohi--find prohibited contributions.

Q From--from a business?

A From businesses.

Q Okay.

A From some businesses.

Q And is that on this list here?

A No, it is not.

Q Which business?

A There were--there were less--there were less than ten. And I do not recollect right now what the list is, but I--we do have a list of those. And those were presented at the State Board hearing.

Q All right. And--and those checks indicated that they were for a political purpose?

A They were written to the Thomas Wright campaign.

Q And you talked about--there was one other one that you had mentioned. Or maybe just have the--the two sources. All right.

So you did find the--the--find those, but you don't have that with you here?

A I do not.

Q Okay. And that's not a part of the nonreported?
A I--it may--there may be some on the nonreported. I--I'm not sure if some of those showed up on the nonreported or not. We did--we did label those separately, the prohibited contributions.
Q And if they are not--
A And I'm not sure if they're on there. If they're not, they--they--they were undisclosed contributions to be added.
Q Well, you--you went through, and you indicated in your testimony that you listed out all of the undisclosed matters. And that means that those matters that don't appear were matters that were either not political, or they were disclosed?
A That is correct. And I--and I would--would--would say that if a--a business contribution that was not disclosed is not on this list and it was made out to the campaign, it should be.
Q But you don't have them here?
A I don't.
Q Let me--you--you had additional questions about when is a contribution received. Let me direct your attention to General Statute 163 dash 278 point 8.

A Yes.
Q Is not--does not that statute indicate that the date that the treasurer receives the contribution is the operative date for reporting of the contribution?
A It says the treasurer of each--of each candidate shall keep detailed accounts. Is that--is that what we're--we're reading from?
Q No, that's--that's--that's--
A Right. That's--the treasurer shall keep detailed accounts. It doesn't say that the treasurer is not responsible to--not--to know when a contribution was actually received. They are to keep the detailed accounts current with not--not with more than seven days, but they're still supposed to keep the actual date of receipt of the contribution.
Q But it says within seven days after the date of receiving, after the date that the treasurer received a contribution?
A Yes. The treasurer is required to have a detailed accounting, if they were asked, of all contributions received within seven days of when she receives that contribu--she or he or she receives that contribution. But the date that the contribution is disclosed on the report is the date the contribution was received on behalf of the committee. Her accounts just have to be current within that time period.

Q Is there any other statute which provides any other date for recognition of the receipt?
A Yes.
Q And where--where is that?
A 163 dash 278 point 11 is the contents of the treasurer's statement of receipts and expenditures. And it states that the statement, meaning the disclosure report, shall list--

REP. STAM: Which part of the statute is that?

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. It's A-1.

A The statement shall list the name and complete mailing address of each contributor, the amount contributor--contributed, the principal occupation of the contributor, and the date such contribution was received.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) Was received by whom?
A Well, and also our--our reporting manual states clearly that it's the date that it's received on behalf of the committee.

Q Well, I'm talking about the statute right now. What--who is the person that--
A When it's received by the committee, because sometimes--
Q But the statute doesn't say that, does it?
A Well, it says _received,_ and that's how--
Q That's how you read it?
A That's how the State Board has interpreted that.
Q Okay. All right. But it doesn't say that?
A It says _received,_ and that's--you're right. That's our interpretation.
Q Right. Now, you indicated that you were able to track--track and identify cash contributions. Now, would--would you please explain to me once again how you were able to track and identify cash contributions that weren't reported or otherwise designated as political funds?
A It's difficult to deal with cash. That's why we don't allow cash over a hundred dollars. But anytime we have cash that's deposited into an account with campaign funds, we don't know who the source is. And so the--there is an assumption that if it's campaign, it should have been reported. So that--those--that is why those cash contributions are listed on--in this amount. They--

Q But you--you--you--you--you've indicated that Representative Wright had commingled accounts.
A He did.
Q Therefore, cash contributions wouldn't necessarily be attributed to political purposes?
A Not necessarily. But it--it's certainly--is--is likely that it was or was--it--it's not--it's certainly something I'm not sure--I'm not sure. I can't say that it was that--for a purpose--a campaign purpose, but we don't know. And it's something that needs to be explained and shown why it wasn't a campaign contribution.
Q Well, so--
A And that's another reason for not commingling an account.
Q But you--the--these were then assumptions that you made that whatever cash was deposited into this account was somehow politically related?
A Yes. Now, that was an assumption that--that--that I made. And the re--the basis of that was that we tried to give Representative Wright credit or not letting the things subject to disclosure where we could, on their face, see that it was not written for a campaign purpose. Cash we could not identify.

Q Right. So--
A Therefore, in a commingled account, there needs to be evidence to us to show us why it's not.
Q So your assumption is that any cash contribution in a commi--commingled account is for a political purpose?
A I would definitely assume that.
Q Okay. So a person can't--who is a politician can't put cash--personal cash into their personal account if they're commingling--
A If they're--
Q --without you determining that it is a political contribution?
A If they're commingling it, then I think that's going to be their burden to prove that it's not.
Q Well, there's nothing in the statute that places the burden of them proving that cash that they received and deposited in the account had a political purpose. The--the--the burden placed on the--on the individuals is to report those contributions which are for political purposes.
A The burden is for them to--to--right, to provide disclosure of all contributions that were given for a political purpose. However, when--anytime we audit a committee that has cash in it, first of all, you can't receive cash in increments of over a hundred dollars. So we're going to ask any political committee, whether they commingle it or not, "How did you receive this cash, in what increments, and who--how can you identify it back to a contributor?" You've got a commingled account, we're going to ask those same questions.

Q I--I--I understand that you have problems in auditing the account. But an individual who happens to be a politician can deposit more than a hundred dollars in his or her account--
A In his personal account.
Q --without violating the law?
A In their personal account, yes.
Q Right.
A But it's difficult. We cannot determine that that was for a personal purpose.
Q I--I understand the problem that you have. But I want to make it clear that you made the assumption that merely because the hundred dollars or whatever cash contribution is made in an account that has commingled funds, that that cash contribution has a political purpose. And that's not necessarily correct?

A It may not necessarily be correct, but I have no evidence that it's not correct.
Q Right. And that's the assumption that you're making. That's--that's--that's my point.
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, you indicated that you had records from the Community Health Foundation that your investigators presented?
A Yes.
Q Showing an opening date of March 17, 2003?
A Yes.
Q And a closing date of June 28, 2004?
A Yes.
Q And in that account, you indicated that there were two--two items of note?
A That's my recollection.
Q Okay. I--I thought you had a report of that.
A No, I just--all I have here are just when the--the bank accounts were opened and closed.
Q Okay. But for all practical purposes, there wer[illegible] no activity--there was no activity in that accoun[illegible]

A I--I think that's a very good--yes, I would agree with that.
Q All right.
A Other than the--the--the interest payment, that--the only activity in the account.
Q So the one--one check written--
A Yes.
Q --for the interest payment, and then the bank gobbled up the rest of the account in fees?
A Yes.
Q And then it charged itself off?
A That's correct.
Q Okay. And you also indicated that Representative Wright had a couple of accounts that were eaten up in bank fees and charged off and closed?
A That's correct.
Q Is it not true that there will be periods of time in which these bank accounts aren't used by political candidates?
A Oh, absolutely.
Q Is there any problem with closing and not having an account when there are no funds coming in?
A If you--if you have any change in your account activity as far as a financial institution that you're using, if you close one account, you're required within ten days to notify the State Board of Election-- Q No.

A --with that change.
Q I--I--I understand that. It wasn't my question. That's not my question.
A I'm sorry.
Q All right. My question's a simple one. Is there anything wrong with closing the account if it's not being used?
A No, there's nothing wrong.
Q Okay. Now, I understand that when you open it up again, you need to report it.
A And you need--if there was money in that account, you would have to be able to show where that money was being kept if it wasn't kept in that--
Q And--
A --in that account.
Q And I--and I understand that. And I understand that.
Do you have to report when the bank gobbles up the portion that's left in the account for bank fees?

A You do.
Q So then that should be reported, then, as a disbursement?
A Right.
Q Okay. That's new information.
Now, you made reference to this 278 point 11, where there should be the listing of the names, mailing address of each contributor, the amount contributed, and the date of such contribution. Is that all the information that is required to be reported?
A For contributions.
Q For contributions?
A Yes. And it gives--it gives specific information about the employer information of exactly what is required to meet that requirement. You also have to give the election-cycle sum to date for that contributor, how much has that contributor contributed over the course of the election cycle.
Q Now, you talked about the fact that some quarters, there was an underreporting of campaign receipts; other quarters, there was an overreporting of campaign contributions?
A In--in some--right. Correct. There was--for the report, there was more contributions reported during that period than actually was received during that period.

Q All right. And--but you--you have not gone back to identify the specific dates of the receipts of these various contributions?
A You--we used the deposit date. So anything that was not--well, it was all based on the deposit date.
Q Okay. But as long as they were reported, then they were in compliance with the statute?
A No. No. Long as they were reported in the correct reporting period. Because really the--the purpose of disclosure is timely reporting. If things get disclosed after an election, it's not really going to help the public for the purpose that it's there for.
Q Well--
A So timely disclosure.
REP. STAM: Doctor, without being too--are we on the scope of redirect and recross here? Is this anything the--the State asked about?
PROF. JOYNER: Yes.
REP. STAM: I'll--I'll allow some leeway.

PROF. JOYNER: No, you're not going to allow any leeway. That's what they asked about.

Q With respect to--your final conclusion with respect to items that were not disclosed that is contained in Exhibit 15?

A That would be the--there--there may be some additional contributions that we determined in our review that they were not added to that. This is--the--we have taken off the three. There are no--there is--there are no more that come off. There may be some additional ones that could be added, but we did not add those.

Q Now--now--all right. Now, are you telling me that you're still working through--

A No, we're not working--

Q --the final--

A --through it. No.

Q Well, is this final or not?

A Well, the--the review of--of the one-eighty-five sheet, we went through and--and made sure all the information on that was correct. In doing that, there were three that came off. What we did--what we did find when going back and looking through every one of our records, there were some PAC contributions that a PAC disclosed making a contribution to Representative Wright. However, we didn't have proof that he received it, because he hadn't deposited it in his account. So we certainly did not include those contributions on this.

But in order to make sure that--verify whether or not those contributions were actually received by him, we contacted each one of those PACs. Some of them he never received. Some of them he received, and there were a couple where he cashed. So those would have been subject to disclosure. This was done later than this sheet, and we did not add those to this.

But I--to--to be clear, yes, there--there could be some additions based on the late investigating we did with respect to the PACs.

Q So you, then, intend to amend this item at some point to correctly reflect the items that were not disclosed?

A If--if there is a need for an amendment, yes, I can do that.

Q Now, you indicated earlier that the Board of Election had a liberal amendment policy--

A Yes.

Q --which allowed legislators to come back, as you said, years later and amend their reports?

A Yes.

Q So conceivably any legislator can now go back and amend their report 2003, 2004 and bring it in compliance with the full recorded--reporting requirement of the statute?

A Yes.

Q So the mere fact that an item is reported late does not mean that it is not reported? It's not timely reported, but, if you allow the amendment, then it can be amended at any point to bring it in compliance?

A It can be. And none of those that were late are included in the nondisclosed. These were never disclosed in any reporting period.

Q I--I--I understand.

Were these commingled accounts that you found for Representative Wright--did not his wife also have access to those accounts?

A She had access to one account. We said there was only one five-hundred-dollar contribution. The other account saw no--I saw no evidence that she had access on it. She was not on any of the signature cards. It was just his--his--he was the only one that had access to that account.

PROF. JOYNER: All right. I have no further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. We are going to take a ten-minute break this morning now, and we'll be back at--well, a little more than ten minutes--ten after eleven for committee questions. Thank you.

(SIXTEEN-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: All right. And, Dr. Joyner, may we proceed without--all right. I think we are at Committee counsel questions. I'll start with Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: Thank you.

Just three areas of inquiry. First, Ms. Strach, did you determine the amount or quantity of--of campaign expenditures that were not reported?

THE WITNESS: We did. I do not have t specific number. Based on the process that I explained, we did come up with amount of contribu-- of expenditures that were not reported. And I--I do not have that number with me. But--

REP. STAM: What was the order of magnitude of that number?

THE WITNESS: I mean, it was--it was around--my recollection, we're--we're looking around close to two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000).

REP. STAM: And would that all be, therefore, reportable income for tax purposes?

THE WITNESS: I can't answer that question.

REP. STAM: Okay. Second question. You testified that there were a couple of PACs that contributed and that Representative Wright just cashed, that didn't even come into the accounts. What were those amounts? What PACs were those?

THE WITNESS: I--I specifically remember a two-thousand-dollar ($2,000) check from the North Carolina Dental PAC that was cashed. And there were a couple of other checks in--in much smaller amounts.

REP. STAM: Okay. If you would, look at

Page 4 of 10 of Exhibit 15. Just wanted to look at a couple of the cash contributions. If you'd look at the one right in the middle of the page, that has a date of June 22, 2004. And that's in Bank of America 5071. Is that what's been described as the personal account that's in the name of Thomas Wright?

THE WITNESS: It is.

REP. STAM: And is that for a time period for which there was no campaign account in existence?

THE WITNESS: What's the time on that? It was--

THE CHAIR: 6-22-oh--6-22-04.

THE WITNESS: 6-22-04?

REP. STAM: Or maybe not.

THE WITNESS: Yes, that--that--the--first there was another campaign account during that time.

REP. STAM: All right. Look at the one a little above that, cash contributions. It might be the tenth line down. August 6, '04.

THE WITNESS: Are we--

REP. STAM: For four thousand dollars

($4,000). April 6. I'm sorry.

THE WITNESS: Yes, I see that one.

REP. STAM: And I'll use this as a surrogate for some of the others. The--in addition to it not being reported, the question I would have would be whether it was even a lawful contribution. Now, if this were forty different--or forty or more different cash amounts totaling four thousand (4,000), and if he had kept records of it, could he have received that?

THE WITNESS: If he-if they had been those numbers of contributors in those--in those amounts and he'd kept records, yes, he could have.

Representative Stam, that--that 4-6-2004, there wasn't another account at that time other than the commingled account open.

REP. STAM: And for that four thousand dollars ($4,000), though, is--isn't four thousand (4,000) significant because--for another reason?

THE WITNESS: It's very significant to me. It always raises a red flag when I see the four thousand (4,000), 'cause that's the contribution limitation.

REP. STAM: Has there been any attempt by checking some of the other PACs or other contributors to see if somebody else contributed four thousand (4,000) right then that just--Representative Wright just happened to cash?

THE WITNESS: We've checked. Every PAC that has disclosed making a contribution to Representative Wright, we have verified receipt of that check in his account. Or if we didn't have receipt of that--we didn't have that, we contacted the PAC to see if the check was ever negotiated.

REP. STAM: No further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: No inquiries at this time.

THE CHAIR: Thank you.

Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you, Mr. Chair. I do have three inquiries.

THE CHAIR: Absolutely.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you.

When the treasurer or the campaign receives the check--or a check, is there a time-limitation requirement that says you've got to get it in the bank by one day, two days, three days?

THE WITNESS: There's nothing in the statute that says that you have to deposit it in a certain length of time. Your--your obligation is on disclosing it on that date. Your--your records have to be current, no more than seven days. So certainly your--if your records are current, you would want to have gotten that check in the bank in order for it to be current.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you. And second question, if I may.

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. MCGEE: What is the forty-eight-hour reporting?

THE WITNESS: Forty-eight-hour reporting is--any political committee that receives a contribution of over a thousand dollars ($1,000) or more during basically the two weeks prior to a primary or general election when there are no other reports required, you have to report within forty hours--forty-eight hours of receipt of that. And it's--you fax that report in to our office.

REP. MCGEE: Then to follow up that question, were there forty-eight-hour reports furnished by Representative Wright, if he in fact did receive any contributions of that amount?

THE WITNESS: He filed no forty-eight-hour reports.

REP. MCGEE: Did he have any contributions that would have qualified the report being needed?

THE WITNESS: Based on disclosure, there are contributions that would have been in those two weeks that it would have been over a thousand dollars ($1,000). I'm not sure of the amount, but there were--there were some.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you. Then a further question, if I may.

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. MCGEE: On October--in October of '06, the way you can use your campaign contributions changed; is that correct?

THE WITNESS: That is correct.

REP. MCGEE: Okay. I note on Exhibit 15, on the last two pages, beginning with October, campaign funds continued to come into Representative Wright's accounts. Was that the commingled account that they came into?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

REP. MCGEE: Do you have--or were you able to determine that all these monies were spe[nt] for campaign purposes? Or were someone's medical personal purposes?

THE WITNESS: There were some that we could certainly not determine they were for a campaign purpose. So it would--because they were not a campaign purpose, it--it would appear that they were for a per--personal purpose.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

THE CHAIR: Thank you, Representative McGee.

Representative Warren.

REP. WARREN: No questions.

THE CHAIR: Thank you.

Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: One quick question.

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

REP. WILEY: In going through Exhibit 15, was it ever analyzed or reported that in addition to things that were reported, if you added these on to it, it would have gone over the four-thousand-dollar ($4,000) threshold?

THE WITNESS: I don't think we had any contributors that went over the four-thousand-dollar ($4,000) threshold, no.

THE CHAIR: Is that it, Representative?

All right. The Chair has several questions. And I'm going to be referring to several documents. But before we do that, just a couple of general questions.

You had--Ms. Strach, had indicated in your testimony with regard to--on redirect that there were some patterns of expenditures where campaign funds were used for personal items. It was--am I correct, first, that the law prior to this year allowed that to occur provided that there was a reporting or disclosure of that expenditure?

THE WITNESS: Correct.

THE CHAIR: All right. Can you give us examples, several examples of--if there are any, of items where campaign funds were spent for personal expenditures that were never reported and, therefore, violated the law?

THE WITNESS: I would--I--I note--specifically remember two instances, 'cause our--when our staff was pulling this together, there were two instances where Representative Wright pa[id]

Safeway Chevrolet in '06, in January of '06, two payments that totaled eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000), and campaign funds paid all of the eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000).

The other thing--and I guess it just--is just what sticks out in my mind--is that there were--over the course of our review, there were total of close to six thousand dollars ($6,000) in checks that were written to Reeds Jewelers, and all of those expenses were paid from campaign funds. Those are only two I can recall.

THE CHAIR: All right. Let me follow up on that. Were either of those expenditures reported as required by law?

THE WITNESS: They were not reported.

THE CHAIR: Were any amendments made to any campaign-finance statement that amended the failure to disclose?

THE WITNESS: No amendments were filed.

THE CHAIR: Now, if you will, look with me at Exhibit Number 16. And we're going to start with 16A.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

THE CHAIR: At the bottom of the first page on 16A, there is a sworn affirmation as to that report. Would you read what the affirmation is--or the oath?

THE WITNESS: Sure. "Being duly sworn, I depose, affirm, and say that the Committee is in compliance with all provisions of Article 22A, including that no funds are commingled with funds for a federal or out-of-state PAC. I further say that this report is complete, true, and correct."

THE CHAIR: Who signed that? Can you tell?

THE WITNESS: Thomas E. Wright.

THE CHAIR: All right. And this is a notarized statement?

THE WITNESS: It is.

THE CHAIR: And was this report complete, true, and accurate?

THE WITNESS: No, it was not.

THE CHAIR: And, therefore, did it violate the criminal law?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: If you'll turn to the next campaign report as part of that 16A package, which would be the second quarter. If you'll look at that Is the same affirmation there by Representative Wright that the report is complete, true, and accurate?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and accurate?

THE WITNESS: It was not complete, true, and accurate.

THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?

THE WITNESS: It--it is--it is a criminal violation for this report to be not--signed, being false.

THE CHAIR: Just out of curiosity, who's the notary on that particular verification?

THE WITNESS: Meredith L. Norris.

THE CHAIR: Thank you. If you'll go with me to the third-quarter campaign report in that same package, dated October 31, 2000. Is there a certification on that report?

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. I haven't gotten there yet.

Yes.

THE CHAIR: And what--does that certification certify that the report is complete, true, and ac--and correct?

THE WITNESS: It does.

THE CHAIR: Was it?

THE WITNESS: It was not.

THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?

THE WITNESS: It does.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you.

And finally, if we'll go to the fourth statement on that same package. Is there a certification by Representative Wright again that the report is complete, true, and correct?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE CHAIR: And was it?

THE WITNESS: It was not.

THE CHAIR: And does that violate the law?

THE WITNESS: It does.

THE CHAIR: All right. Turn with me to 16B, please. On 16B, again is there a certification, this time not notarized, by Representative Wright that this report for midyear 2002--midyear 2001--I'm sorry--is complete, true, and accurate--or complete, true, and correct?

THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: It was not.
THE CHAIR: And does that violate the law?
THE WITNESS: It does.
THE CHAIR: Same thing in the middle of that package, if you will, for the year-end semiannual report for 2002. Is there a signature by Representative Wright that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it?
THE WITNESS: It was not.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: It does.
THE CHAIR: The next package, 16C. If you'll look at what is the first-quarter report for 2002. Is there a signature by Representative Wright that the report is complete, true, and correct?

THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it?
THE WITNESS: It was not.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: If you'll look in the middle of that package to the next certification. And I'm going to go with you there. For the next quarter, is there a signature by Representative Wright that that report is complete, true, and correct for the second quarter?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it?
THE WITNESS: It was not.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: It does.
THE CHAIR: As to the third quarter, same question. Is there a signature by Representative Wright that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: It was not.
THE CHAIR: Does it violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And finally, for the fourth-quarter report--I'm sorry. The interim report is the next report in that package, I think. Is there a signature by Representative Wright that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: The next is the fourth-quarter report. Same question. Is there a signature by Representative Wright?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And does he state that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes, he does.
THE CHAIR: Was that complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: All right. Let's turn to 16D, please. For the third midyear report in 2003, is there a signature by Representative Wright the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: If you'll turn with me to the middle of that exhibit. There's a year-end semiannual report. Is there a signature by Representative Wright on January 29, 2004, that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and correct?

THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: All right. If you'll turn with me now to the next package, which is 16E. Is there a signature on the first-quarter report dated April 26, 2004, by Representative Wright?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Does he certify that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No, it was not.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: All right. Now if you look with me on the second-quarter report. Is there any signature by Representative Wright as to that report?
THE WITNESS: There is not.
THE CHAIR: All right. Let's turn to the next document. On the third-quarter report, is there a signature by Representative Wright that the report is complete, true, and accurate?

THE WITNESS: There is not.
THE CHAIR: Is there a date?
THE WITNESS: 10-25-04.
THE CHAIR: All right. If you'll turn with me to the fourth-quarter report, which is a few pages later. Is there a signature by Representative Wright that that report is complete, true, and accurate--or correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And there's a date of--looks like January 10th, 2005?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And was that report complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: If you'll turn with me to 16F. There is a certification on 16F, which is the report dated--looks like July 28th, 2005?

THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Is there a signature by Representative Wright?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And does that say that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: It does.
THE CHAIR: And is that a violation of the criminal law to so say when the report is not?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: If you'll turn with me in the middle of that package to the report dated January 26, 2006. Is there a signature by Thomas Wright that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And was it complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: It does.
THE CHAIR: And let's turn to 16G, which is the last part of the packet. Is there a signature on the first--on that first report by Representative Wright which has not got a date but has a received stamp of April 27--April 24, 2006?

THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And is that signature by Representative Wright stating that the report is complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Was the report complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: And is that violation of the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Middle of that packet, there's a report signed by Representat--or there is a report dated July 10, 2006?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And is there a signature there?
THE WITNESS: Yes, there is.
THE CHAIR: Whose signature?
THE WITNESS: Thomas E. Wright.
THE CHAIR: And does Doc--Representative Wright state that this report is complete, true, and correct?

THE WITNESS: He does.
THE CHAIR: Was it complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: The next document in that same package looks like the report dated October--either 21 or 31, probably 31, 2006?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And is there a signature as to that report being complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Whose signature?
THE WITNESS: Thomas E. Wright.
THE CHAIR: And was this report complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: No, it was not.
THE CHAIR: And does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: And finally, the last part of that package, you'll see a document dated January 10, 2007.

THE WITNESS: Okay.
THE CHAIR: And it says that there's a report--that the report dated January 10, 2007, is complete, true, and correct. Whose signature is that?
THE WITNESS: Thomas E. Wright.
THE CHAIR: And was that report complete, true, and correct?
THE WITNESS: It was not.
THE CHAIR: And does that violate the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Last several questions for you, Ms. Strach. My understanding--and I just want to be correct. Were there reports required to be filed last year, in 2007?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: Were any reports--other than this January 10, 2007, report, were there any reports filed by Representative Wright?
THE WITNESS: No, there were not.
THE CHAIR: Does that violate the criminal law?

THE WITNESS: It--it does.
THE CHAIR: Finally as to the mention that you made of approximately ten businesses that had contributions in the account. Is it a misdemeanor for a corporation or a business to give a campaign contribution to a candidate?
THE WITNESS: It is.
THE CHAIR: And is it a misdemeanor to accept?
THE WITNESS: It is.
THE CHAIR: And would those--each of those contributions be an independent violation of the criminal law?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
THE CHAIR: I have no further questions. Redirect.
MR. PETERS: We don't have any further questions.
THE CHAIR: Recross.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION BY PROF. JOYNER:

Q You--you've just gone through a lengthy recital of the numerous violations of the criminal law. And you did that quite well.

A Thank you.
Q The signature page or pages that you referred to.
A Yes.
Q Does every legislator who files a disclosure report sign that same page?
A No. Only the appointed treasurer, or, if the treasurer doesn't, the candidate can.
Q Well, for every campaign that reports to you, did they have to file or sign the same certification?
A Every legislator?
Q No, every campaign--
A Every campaign, yes.
Q --which reported a campaign contribution, did they have to sign this same certification?
A Every treasurer, yes, that files a report has to sign that same certification, yes.
Q So that would be either the treasurer or the legislator?
A Correct.
Q Be--
A The treasurer or the candidate.
Q Right. Because the candidate can be the treasurer as well?
A He--the treasurer can be.

Q Right.
A They--and the--the candidate now, just--just for your information, can't sign if they haven't taken treasury training.
Q Well, I'm--well, I'm not--I'm not talking about now. I'm talking about then.
A Well, some of those reports would be involved with that.
Q Okay. All right. Well, at any rate, every report would have to carry the same certification?
A Yes.
Q Now, is it not also true, then, that for every report in which a treasurer or candidate offers an amendment have also violated the law?
A Well, it says that it--that you're signed this knowing it not to be true, I guess. So if--if a treasurer files an amendment and they're stating they didn't know it wasn't true and they're--they're correcting that report so they're not filing a false report.
Q At the time that they file the report, before there has been an amendment, is not that report in violation of the law?
A It is.

Q It is. So everyone, right?
A Until it is in compliance, you're right, it is in violation.
Q Now, which law is violated by this?
A You're talking about the signing--
Q Right.
A --of this?
Q Right.
A Can I look at my law book?
Q You can.
A 163 dash 278 point 32, Statements Under Oath. "Any statement fi--required to be filed under this article shall be signed and certified as true and correct by the individual, media, candidate, treasurer, or others required to file it, and shall by certified as true and correct to the best of the knowledge of the individual, media, candidate, treasurer, or others filing the statement, provided further that the candidate shall certify as true and correct to the best of the knowledge the organization report and report of treasurer. A certification under this article shall be treated as under oath, and any person making a certification under this article knowing the information to be untrue is guilty of a Class I felony."

Q Now, notwithstanding the legal requirement, the Board of Election has chosen to allow people to come back at any point and amend these reports?
A They have, because this certification says that--the best of the--of the person's knowledge. So if that person comes back and says, "I didn't know it at the time, and I'm amending my reports," then yes, we're certainly going to allow that.
Q The--again, the statute does not allow that?
A The statute does not provide for amending.
Q Right. Now--and technically speaking, a late report violates the law?
A A late report, right. And there are civil penalties that can be incurred with a late report.
Q Right. Notwithstanding that, a late report violates the law?
A It does.
Q Okay. That's what the statute said?
A That's right.
Q Because the statue provides no grace?
A Correct.
Q Okay. You indicated in your testimony that you had, I guess, this past year five hundred and thirty-seven amendments?

A I think it's five-sixty-nine, but--
Q Five-sixty-nine?
A Uh-huh (yes).
THE CHAIR: All right. That--that question, if you--was in the redirect that was issued that you've already recrossed on it. Wasn't a question that came up in the second set by Members of the Committee. So may want to limit it, please, to questions related to anything we asked about.
PROF. JOYNER: Well, Mis--Mr. Chairman, this is related to the litany of questions that you raised.
THE CHAIR: Go ahead.
Q (By Prof. Joyner) With respect to that five hundred and sixty-nine, do--do you know offhand what time frame those amendments covered?
A I--I glanced at the report. And they--they cover things that were in 2006, and they cover--cover years prior to that, as well. There are some amendments for things prior to that.
I--I--I--I did notice that on a couple of them--one of the things that happens if you--if you--if you file a report and you realized you--you--basically, you left some bank interest off and you have to go back, you have to go back to the report where you did that and then amend every subsequent report. So sometimes that's why you will see reports that we allow people to go back in order to fix a mathematical error that's going to continue with them.

Q So it's like a domino effect?

A It is a domino effect.

Q So you have to go all--

A All the way back.

Q --the way back to the very--but technically each of those prior reports were in violation of the law?

A Technically, yes.

PROF. JOYNER: Okay. No further questions.

THE CHAIR: All right. We are--I think that ends our testimony with Ms. Strach. You may step down.

Question. Do we want--or--or is there a counsel objection to releasing Ms. Strach from her subpoena, or--

MR. PETERS: We may want to keep her, not knowing what is coming.

THE CHAIR: Then we don't need to go any further.

Ms. Strach, you are--you--you are--must stay. I'm sorry.

All right. Any further witnesses, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, we have no further witnesses. But at this time--

THE CHAIR: Well, before you move into your exhibits, then, I think there's still a matter that's open with Agent Umphlet. So the Chair held--withheld his questions till he could review more fully the statement. And so the Chair on his own motion recalls Agent Umphlet to the stand.

Agent, this is just a reminder that you remain under oath. And hope you and your dog got sleep last night.

THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIR: I'm going to ask you if you'll look at the document that's in front of you that had been previously discussed by Mr. Joyner and--and then ultimately, as well, by Mr. Hart.

And we are not introducing the document, for the reasons I stated yesterday. But I do have a coup[le] of other paragraphs I want to refer you to.

If you'll look with me specifically on Page 11--I'm sorry--Page 12. Can you just read the paragraph, the first full paragraph on Page 12?

THE WITNESS: Would that be the one that starts with "ASAC Umphlet asked"?

THE CHAIR: It is.

THE WITNESS: Okay. "ASAC Umphlet asked Representative Wright if he ever commingled funds in a personal bank account. Wright advised that may be improper, but it was not illegal. Wright stated, `I'll save that answer. I've got an answer to why and how that occurred, but I'll save it.'"

THE CHAIR: All right. If you will, turn to Page 11. And if you will--actually--I'm sorry. If you'll turn to Page 9. Actually--apologize again. I've got the page wrong.

Bottom of Page 7, top of Page 8. If you'll read into the record the last paragraph on Page 7 and then the first full paragraph on the top of Page 8. And you can indicate the sentence in between that shows the break time.

THE WITNESS: Reading from Page 7. "Representative Wright advised he'd not--he did not recall how he communicated with AT&T to receive the fifteen-hundred-dollar ($1,500) donation from them. ASAC Umphlet asked Wright if he knew Lawrence Bewley and was his request for the fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) from AT&T through Bewley. Wright advised he did not recall but added it was probably an official request. Wright advised he knew Bewley as Bewley was a registered lobbyist in the Raleigh area. Wright advised he knew Bewley through his, parentheses, Wright's, end parentheses, work in the legislature. Wright added that Bewley assisted him with a frun--fundraiser or two. ASAC Umphlet showed Wright a three-thousand-dollar ($3,000) check which was dated July 8, 2002, to Lawrence Bewley & Associates. The check was Check Number 632 and was written on a Thomas Wright campaign account."

Would you like me to--

THE CHAIR: Continue.

THE WITNESS: --read the account number there?

THE CHAIR: Why don't you go ahead and and redact the count--account number and stop there and just read on to the next sentence?

THE WITNESS: Okay. "With an account number of--Wright advised he could not recall if the three-thousand-dollar ($3,000) check to Bewley was for reimbursing Bewley for a fundraiser. At this point in the interview, a break was taken from eleven-ten A.M. to eleven-twenty A.M.

"Wright then recalled the three-thousand-dollar--three thousand dollars ($3,000) was a reimbursement for advanced costs of Bewley setting up a reception. Wright advised the costs were for postage and printing costs for invitations. Wright reported he recalled the information about the fundraiser and the three-thousand-dollar ($3,000) check after calling and speaking to Bewley by telephone."

THE CHAIR: All right. All right. I have nothing further. That ends the Chair's questions.

As a result of the two paragraphs read, any redirect, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: Any recross, Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: No.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much, Agent. You may step down.

Now, Mr. Hart, further evidence for the Committee counsel?

MR. HART: That would conclude the presentation of witnesses by Committee counsel. The--I--I would ask that the Chair refer to Exhibit 18 in the notebooks. And I would ask specifically that the Committee take official notice of its own records and take notice of the official record certified by the principal clerk of the House that the--the attached committee and commission appointments for Representative Thomas E. Wright from 1999 to 2008 are listed in Exhibit 18.

THE CHAIR: All right. That's Exhibit 18.

Dr. Joyner, any objection?

PROF. JOYNER: No objection.

THE CHAIR: All right. With no objection, Exhibit 18 is admitted.

MR. HART: I'd also ask that the Committee take official notice of Exhibit 19, which is again certified records of the House from the principal clerk, Denise Weeks, the Exhibit 19 containing the list of bills that were filed by Representative Wright from 1999 through 2008. And she certified those to be true and accurate.

THE CHAIR: All right. Any objection, Dr. Joyner?

PROF. JOYNER: No objections.

THE CHAIR: All right. Nineteen is admitted, as well.

Mr. Hart.

MR. HART: Mr. Chairman, if I could just check one other thing. Our records show that we have introduced and you have admitted Exhibits 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 13, 15, 16A through G, and 18 and 19 now. Is that correct?

THE CHAIR: All right. Let me double-check my notes. But while I'm doing that, Dr. Joyner, do you have anything different showing on any of those exhibits?

PROF. JOYNER: Give me that listing again, please.

THE CHAIR: Sure. It's Exhibit 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 13, 15, 16A through G, 18, and 19.

PROF. JOYNER: Yes. No--no--no objection.

THE CHAIR: And I have the same notes, as well. So those are all already previously admitted.

MR. HART: If I might approach and--and I have the originals of--of those documents to actually present to the Chair for inclusion in the official record of--

THE CHAIR: That would be fine.

MR. HART: --the Committee.

THE CHAIR: Anything further, Mr. Hart?

MR. HART: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: All right. Will there be evidence for Representative Wright?

I'm sorry. Give me one minute. I'm sorry.

We've got potentially one question that I need to resolve with staff. We're going to take a recess for five minutes, and we'll be back in five minutes. Thank you.

(FIVE-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: Mr.--Mr. Hart, you ready? Mr. Peters? I apologize to everyone for taking a moment.

What we want to do is try to amend two counts that the evidence suggested need to be amended to conform to the evidence that's so far in. And then I'll sign, if those are adopted, amended counts so that when Representative Wright is defending those counts, he actually has the benefit of the--of the amended counts to defend, which--both amendments to--to his favor in terms of the evidence that's so far come in.

So the first thing we want to look at is count--I'm looking over the shoulder 'cause I don't have it in front of me--Count Number 7, because there was testimony by Ms. Strach that that hundred-and-eighty-five-thousand-dollar ($185,000) number really is slightly less. So Representative Stam is recognized for a motion.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chair, I move that Count 7 of the charges of unethical conduct by Representative Wright adopted by the Committee at its meeting on January 9, 2008, and amended on February 11, 2008, be amended by deleting the amount one hundred eighty-five thousand (185,000) and substituting the amount one hundred eighty thousand (180,000).

THE CHAIR: All right. There's a motion by Representative Stam to amend the count. Is there a second by any member of the Committee?

REP. MCGEE: Second.

THE CHAIR: All right. Second by Representative McGee. All right. Discussion and debate by members of the Committee. This is not an outside-counsel issue. This is a Committee issue. Any discussion or debate?

Seeing none, all those in favor will vote aye. All those opposed will vote no. And the Clerk will call the roll.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier.

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam.

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren.

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: All right. That count is amended for that amount.

Representative Stam is recognized for a second motion.

REP. STAM: And Mr. Chair--

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, before you do that, note our objection.

THE CHAIR: Sure. Sure. Objection is--is noted, overruled. And exception is noted to the ruling.

REP. STAM: This--this one is slightly different than what was passed out, as you'll see when I get to the--what would be on there _April,_ I'm going to read the word _August_ 2004.

I move that Count 8 of the charges of unethical conduct by Representative Wright adopted by the Committee at its meeting on January 9, 2008, and amended on February 11, 2008, be amended to read as follows: Count 8, between on or about October 2001 and on or about August 2004, while a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did engage in a pattern of conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by improperly, fraudulently, deceptively, and unethically soliciting a financial institution for a loan and corporations for donations to a charitable corporation, The Community's Health Foundation, Inc., and by converting to his own personal use money contributed to that charitable organization. As part of this pattern of conduct, Thomas E. Wright solicited a false document and used that false document in the loan solicitation.

THE CHAIR: All right. And the basis of the change, Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Yes. The reason for the change is primarily because we withdrew Count 6. This deletes the references that were in Count 6 and then also corrects the date for the deposit of the money.

THE CHAIR: All right. Any discussion or debate by any member of the Committee on that change?

All right. Is there a second to Representative Stam's motion?

REP. WILEY: Second.
THE CHAIR: Second by Representative Wiley. Any discussion or debate?
Seeing none, all those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The Clerk will call the roll.
THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier.
THE CHAIR: Aye.
THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam.
REP. STAM: Aye.
THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.
REP. LUCAS: Aye.
THE CLERK: Representative McGee.
REP. MCGEE: Aye.
THE CLERK: Representative Warren.
REP. WARREN: Aye.
THE CLERK: Representative Wiley.
REP. WILEY: Aye.
THE CHAIR: All right. That amendment likewise is passed six-nothing.
PROF. JOYNER: And note our objection?
THE CHAIR: Absolutely. Objection by Dr. Joyner. The objection is overruled. His exception to that ruling is noted.

Does the Chair's ruling on either of those objections--does any member of the Committee wish to reverse the ruling?
Seeing none, no--we are done with that.
I'm going to need a minute. Again we'll stand at ease, not in recess, for a minute for me to sign the amended counts, and then those will be handed out to the counsel and to the Committee. Thank you.
All right. With those changes, now back to the question, I think. All right. Dr. Joyner, will there be evidence for Representative Wright?
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chair, we would ask that we take our lunch break now and that we make that decision and report back after lunch.
THE CHAIR: I have no problem with that. We will go ahead and take our lunch break and return at--give you a little bit of extra time--one-fifteen P.M.
Hang on just one minute. And again, just--we'll take the break in a minute. Just to reiterate what's already been told to counsel, that because there was not the compliance due to some objection or concern by Representative Wright's counsel on Constitutional grounds, so we don't have witness list at this point, if there will be witnesses this afternoon, those names will need to be disclosed, and then we'll talk about whether there's voir dire needed or not. But let's go ahead and take our lunch recess until one-fifteen. Thank you.

(EIGHTY-TWO-MINUTE RECESS)

THE CHAIR: We're back in session following lunch. And I think it was with Dr. Joyner. Is Representative Wright going to be presenting evidence?
PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, we choose not to present any evidence.
THE CHAIR: All right. All right. Then I think we've now reached the point where closing statements by Committee counsel and Representative Wright's counsel will be made. Just a couple of comments on closing statements. Like--members of the Committee, like with opening statements, closing arguments are advocacy summaries of what the attorneys believe the evidence has shown you.

You should not consider closing statements as evidence, but you are to determine the evidence based on the testimony you've heard and the evidence as you have considered it.
With that, since there wasn't evidence presented by Representative Wright, as I think the rules are is that, Dr. Joyner, you have the right to open and close the closing argument. And so I'll turn to you for first opening--first opening closing.
PROF. JOYNER: I will waive the first opening and will close.
THE CHAIR: All right. Dr. Joyner waives the opening of the closing arguments.
Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters. Yes, please. And if--you--it probably is easier if you use this and--
MR. HART: One question we have. May we split the argument into two parts, be--since he dealt with the campaign contributions?
THE CHAIR: Sure. That's granted.
MR. PETERS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee.
As you heard Ms. Strach testify, the reason for the campaign-finance-disclosure laws is for the public interests. It's so the voting public can look as an election is going on and see where contributions are coming from for a particular candidate so that they know where the support for that candidate is coming from and they know how that candidate is spending money. And that's so they can take that information into account in deciding how to vote themselves. That is the primary reason for it. It's in the public's interest to know where a candidate's support's coming from so that a decision--an informed decision can be made about whether or not a particular voter wishes to support that candidate.

That's why the campaign-finance laws are in place, for the protection and for the information of the public. It certainly is a lot of paperwork. No one denies that. It's a lot of paperwork for the candidates, and it's a lot of paperwork for the State Board of Elections. But it's a lot of paperwork for a very important purpose, and that is the integrity of the electoral process itself.

Now, Count 7 against Representative

Wright specifically charges him that between January 1st, 2000, and January 31st, 2007, during all that time while he was a member of this House, he did improperly--and I'm reading here--fraudulently, and unethically engage in a pattern of conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by intentionally failing to disclose approximately one hundred and eighty thousand dollars ($180,000) in contributions received by his campaign during that time period, which disclosures are required by law and are intended to safeguard the public trust and to preserve the integrity of the electoral process, the integrity of the House of Representatives, and the integrity of the legislative process.

That count specifies that the contributions in question are the ones you see before you in Exhibit 15. You have heard Ms. Strach testify that Exhibit 15, the contributions listed there, were prepared by her or by her staff under her supervision. You have heard her testify that the information in it came directly from Representative Wright's bank accounts, the bank accounts that had been identified as having campaign money in them, some of which were campaign accounts and one of which, at least, was a perso account into which campaign contributions were p You heard her testify that every contribution listed in that Exhibit 15, with the exception of the three that she pulled out at the very beginning of her testimony, you heard her testify that every one of those were contributions that could be attributed to the campaign. These were checks--there is cash in there, about eight or nine thousand dollars in cash. But otherwise, these are all checks that were either made payable to Thomas Wright's campaign or that, on the memo line, indicated they were for the campaign.

There are no checks in that list--according to her testimony, there are no checks anywhere in that list that could be construed as personal checks to Thomas Wright, because on each one of them, there is a clear indication that the check was a contribution for the campaign. There is no evidence before you that that is not the case. There is no challenge to any one of the entries on here. Even though the checking accounts are available and the checks can be compared, there is no challenge that any one of these has been improperly identified as a campaign contribution when it was in fact simply a check to Thomas Wright for his personal use.

And you can see looking through that account, looking through that spreadsheet, that these cover every reporting period from the beginning of 2000 until two thous--the end of 2006. There is not a single reporting period in that seven-year period in which Ms. Strach and her staff could find, in their investigation, not a single reporting period where all contributions received by the campaign were disclosed. In every single reporting period, there were undisclosed contributions.

And as you heard Ms. Strach testify, in quite a few of those reporting periods, it was a significant amount of money that was not disclosed. In the fourth quarter--excuse me--the second quarter of 2004, the campaign received twenty-eight thousand five hundred dollars ($28,500). Those are listed in that Exhibit 15. You can see in there they're grouped together by the campaign report period, twenty-eight thousand five hundred dolla ($28,500). And the disclosure report for that period showed zero contributions.

The first quarter of 2006, the contributions were fifty-four thousand dollar--fifty-four thousand seventy-four dollars and fifty-two cents ($54,074.52). And of that amount, five thousand nine hundred and fifty (5,950) were disclosed. That is around forty-eight thousand dollars ($48,000) that were not disclosed.

The following quarter, thirty-seven thousand dollars plus--thirty-seven thousand four hundred and six dollars ($37,406) that should have been disclosed, and only twenty thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (20,925) were disclosed. Again, that's about a sixteen-thousand-dollar ($16,000) difference.

You add those first two quarters together, and right there you have over fifty thousand (50,000), over sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) that were not disclosed in the first two quarters of an election year.

Now, as Ms. Strach testified, everybody understands that when these disclosure reports are filed, mistakes can be made. Everybody understands that. We're all human. And particularly when you're dealing with large amounts of money, it's easy to miss a check here or there or to miss a contribution or to fail to get it into the right report. Everyone understands that happens. But you heard Ms. Strach testify that in the seven years that she has been overseeing these audits this was the worst she had ever seen in terms of contributions' not being disclosed. She has audited, as she said, accounts that are worth over a million dollars, that regularly have over a million dollars in them, and she has never seen this level of nondisclosure.

I would submit to you that when you see the pattern that is in Exhibit 15 and compare it to the disclosure reports in Exhibits 16A through G, when you see that, every single reporting period, there is a failure to disclose contributions, and when you see that in some reporting periods that failure is stark, twenty-eight thousand dollars ($28,000) in contributions received and zero reported--everybody makes mistakes, but I put it to you that a candidate is going to know if he has received twenty-eight thousand dollars ($28,000) in contributions during three-month quarter of the year. He's going to know that zero is not the correct answer in filing a disclosure report. If you've received that much money, you know you have received some money in that quarter, and you don't report zero dollars.

There were actually, as you can see when you look through here, one, two, three, four, five reporting periods in which zero contributions were disclosed. In one of those, it was a low amount of contribution, seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750). In the others, it was at least a thousand, two thousand. 2005 it was three thousand five hundred and fifty-nine dollars ($3,559).

There just exist too many discrepancies here for this to be accidental, for it to be sloppy bookkeeping or for it to be an oversight. There just are too many failures to disclose here. And as I said, when you see that that failure sometimes results in reporting no contributions when there are in fact over twenty-eight thousand dollars ($28,000) in contributions, I submit it is simply unreasonable to believe that's a mistake or that it's sloppy bookkeeping.

Now, you have heard some other evidence through Ms. Strach about Representative Wright's campaign finances, about the expenditures, about expenditures that were overreported, when, for example, they could find a check paid to a media outlet for one amount, and the disclosure that, as best they can tell, is supposed to reflect that expenditure is for a few thousand dollars more. You heard her say that they found in his accounts close to, her recollection was, two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) in expenditures that should have been reported that were not reported.

Now, those don't go directly to the count you have in front of you. The count you have against Representative Wright is that he failed to disclose. But I would submit to you the count also says that he engaged in a pattern of conduct. And I would submit to you you can consider the other evidence you have heard with regard to expenditures which were not reported, with regard to the fact that in 2007 no reports have been filed--were filed, that you can consider that at no time since 2000 has Representative Wright ever amended a campaign-finance report that he had filed. I think you can consider all of those things in determining that the failure to disclose the one hundred and eighty thousand dollars ($180,000) was in fact part of a pattern. It was a pattern to withhold from the public knowledge contributions that Representative Wright was receiving, who those contributions came from in some instances, and how those contributions were being used.

Ms. Strach was exactly right. As this Committee knows, until 2006 it was legal to use campaign funds for personal purposes, but you had to disclose it so that the voters knew that's what you were doing, so that the people who gave to your campaign knew that's what you were doing. There was no disclosure here. And I submit to you that those things taken together show overwhelmingly a pattern of conduct designed to hide from the voters of North Carolina, designed to hide from the people where Representative Wright's support was coming from and what he was doing with the money that came to him.

We said at the outset those rules are in place to protect the electoral process. They're also in place to protect the integrity of the House of Representatives. They're in place to protect the House from any allegation that someone's vote might be being bought in considering a specific piece of legislation. When a piece of legislation is being considered, anyone in the State can look and see if a legislator who might--who will be voting on it, who might be a position of influence with regard to that bill can look and see if that legislator's support is coming from somewhere that would call into question, for a better way of putting it, whether the legislator's vote has been bought. It's there to protect the members of the House, as well as the members of the public.

And in this case, the evidence is clear that Representative Wright tried to evade that and did evade it. He acted to evade anyone being able to know where the contributions were coming from or how many there were or what was being done with them.

I put to you that hits at the heart, I believe, of what is ethical and unethical conduct for a legislator. It goes directly to the public's ability to have faith in the electoral process. It goes directly to the public's ability to have faith in the legislative process, because it feeds the perception that deals might be made behind close[d] doors, that things are not out in the open, that government is not running for the benefit of the people in the open.

I do not believe any reasonable observer can look at the evidence that has come in, particularly through Ms. Strach, and come to any conclusion other than Representative Wright was intentionally failing to disclose these contributions. And I do not believe that any reasonable obser--observer can look at that and say that did not harm the integrity of the House, and it did not harm the integrity of the electoral process, and that as a result, it was without question unethical conduct for a legislator to engage in.

Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much, Mr. Peters.

Mr. Hart.

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, members of the Committee.

This is a solemn and sad occasion. I don't believe that there is anyone here that really wants to be here today doing what we're doing. We've all taken this very seriously through the entire process. We've been involved in a very painstaking process to determine the truth about the allegations contained in the charges that are set forth before you. None of us would like to believe that a member of this House has done the things that are set forth in these charges.

But I believe that what we have done over the course of this week is to present to you through a number of witnesses, all of whom I would suggest to you are very credible--and I'll talk about that later. But what we have presented to you is a pattern, a several-year pattern, from 2000 through 2006, of unethical and improper conduct by one of your members.

What we have seen is evidence of fraud. We have seen ev--evidence of a violation of trust. Think about some of the witnesses that came forward, Torlen Wade, Dan Gottovi. Think about how they testified about how they trusted this man, how they believed in him, had no idea that he could[n't] taking them down the wrong road. They trusted h[im] and they acted in reliance on that to their detriment, to our detriment, to the people of the State of North Carolina's detriment.

We've heard evidence of all kinds of unauthorized activities. And as Mr. Peters said, even though some of the testimony of Kim Strach about the expenditures and other violations that are not specifically contained in the one count about a pattern of disclosures, failure to disclose, all of those instances, all of those--all of that evidence of unauthorized activity is corroborating evidence, evidence that you can use to decide whether you believe that Representative Wright acted unethically and engaged in a pattern of conduct in all of the counts that are presented before you.

You have also heard evidence of deceit, evidence of concealment, evidence of abuse of power and influence. You've heard Torlen Wade talk about how he wouldn't have done what he did if Representative Wright had not been a member of the legislature, chairman of one of the committees that he had to deal with, and a member of the appropriations subcommittee that he had to deal with. You've heard evidence of conversion, which is similar to other words that you're familiar with, theft and embezzlement.

You've heard evidence of intentional violation of campaign laws. And as Mr. Peters so aptly point out to you, we're not talking about just some minor violations that anyone may make simply by oversight, inadvertence, things of that nature. What we have seen, what you have seen, what we have presented to you is a striking pattern of impropriety.

We have seen evidence of an attitude of entitlement. The term "sweat equity" shouts entitlement, and it's inappropriate. And I submit to you we have seen evidence of arrogance, arrogance that he could take the power that he has, the influence he has, and abuse it over a period of time in the way that we have shown that he has.

Our job has been to present evidence to you. And it's now your job to decide whether that evidence shows you--whether that evidence is clear and convincing evidence that shows you that Representative Wright has actually committed the acts that are contained in all of the counts that are before you.

How do you go about doing that? You have to do similar to--similarly to what jurors do. You, as judges would tell jurors, have to determine the credibility of witnesses. You had an opportunity to have many of the people involved in Representative Wright's scheming over the last seven years to--to be here before you where you could look them in the eye. You could determine for yourselves whether you believe any--none or any part of what those witnesses told you. You've had an opportunity to look at all the documents that were presented to you and match those documents up against what those witnesses say.

And you've had corroborating evidence. When a witness testifies and there is some document or another piece of evidence that's offered by another witness, you can look at whether that evidence corroborates what one witness says and might make you believe that witness even more simply because there's supporting evidence to that.

Those are the tools that you're going to use. And I ask you to think about those as I take you through the several counts that Mr. Peters did already speak about.

And the first count I want to talk about is Count 1. And in some ways perhaps this is the most disturbing count, because it directly involves Representative's Wright pos--Wright's position as a legislator. I submit to you if you think about the testimony of both Torlen Wade and Ronnie Burbank, I contend to you that what happened in this case is that Representative Wright wanted to buy this building down in Wilmington for the purposes that you've heard about, and I believe that--that Dr. Gottovi and Torlen Wade believed that he was certainly going to do that--and maybe he was--but that he was running into a problem because he didn't have the money. He had an opportunity to buy a piece of property. He didn't have the money. And yet he needed to have the money to be able to purchase the property.

And when he went to the bank and he told them that what he was going to do is to repay it with money that he obtained from state and federal financing, that what happened was he realized he was going to have to come up with some kind of documentation to that effect. And that's when he went to Torlen Wade. And you remember--you--there was a small part of Torlen Wade's testimony where he said that when he got the phone call from Representative Wright, there was a tone of urgency. There was an insistence in what Representative Wright was asking him to do in signing a letter that Torlen Wade didn't feel comfortable doing.

He talked about the fact that Representative Wright said, "I need you to give me a letter of commitment, letter saying that--that you're going to provide me with a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in funds to support this museum project." And Torlen Wade said, "No, I can't do that. You know I can't do that." And Representative Wright said, "Well, we--yeah, you can. We can--here's what we can do. We can--we can say that--that it's partly because we're going to put some medical facilities in there, something to serve the--the--the health, which--which is in your--in your bailiwick."

And Torlen Wade said, "Well, you know, we've got a process. You know, there would have to be"--he told you all about the process they'd have to go through. If they were going to do this, if he were actually going to be authorized to commit these funds, he had to go through a formal process where Representative Wright would have had to present him with the project plans, what part the museum was going to play, where the funding was coming for--from for the museum, what part was going to be funding needed for the--the portion that was going to be for the health center. And all that was going to have to be formalized and go through a process, and then he would be able to commit to that small portion that was part of the health center. That was the only authority he had, and only if he went through that process.

And he tried to explain that to Representative Wright, but Representative Wright wouldn't listen to him. Said, "No, I want you to do this. And, look, I'm not going to come back to you for that money. All I need is a letter saying I've got it. Even if you can't commit, I want a letter from you saying that you can commit and that you are committing so that I can take that to a financial institution. That's what Torlen Wade told you. And he told you he felt pressured because of Representative Wright's position as a legislator, as chairman of the committee that he dealt with as part of the appropriation's committee. And he told you because of that and [illegible] longstanding association with Representative Wright and his belief that he was trying to do a good thing, that he succumbed, and he agreed to do that letter.

And then you've seen the documents. You've seen the e-mail from Representative Wright to Torlen Wade. And he very careful set out--Representative Wright very careful set out exactly what he knew he needed to have to be able to go to Coastal Federal Bank. And he laid it all out there and had it faxed to Torlen Wade. And that's Exhibit Number 2 in your packet.

And I'd ask you to compare that to Exhibit Number 3, the letter. Torlen Wade said he essentially took the e-mail; he knew what Representative Wright wanted him to say even though he knew it was false. And he then put it in the letter that's Exhibit Number 4. And he signed it, and he sent it to Representative Wright two days later.

That's essentially what Count 1 deals with, all of what we've just talked about.

Did Representative Wright unethically and improperly go to Torlen Wade and solicit a false document? Is there any question in your mind? Certainly by clear and convincing evidence. I would submit much higher than that. There should be no question in your mind that this was a false document and that Representative Wright solicited that document knowing that it was in fact a false document and that it was intended to be presented to a financial institution.

We now turn to Count 2. And this is sort of the--the second part of Count 1, if you will. Count 1 was the--the first step in this scheme of Representative Wright. He then took the letter that he had Torlen Wade send him. And if you notice, the letter is--falls between the March 5th, 2002, initial approval of the loan by Ronald Burbank--Ronnie Burbank--I believe that's Exhibit Number 5. No. I'm sorry. That's--that's Exhibit Number 4. Where they met on March 5th of 2002, and Ronnie Burbank made his initial notes as to what he was approving and why he was approving it. And it was just shortly after that that Representative Wright made the call to Torlen Wade and that the Torlen Wade letter was written and sent.

And then between then and the first part of April, early April--I--I believe the testimony may have been April 5th. I can't recall the exact date. But between those two dates, Ronnie Burbank testified that Representative Wright presented him in some form or fashion--he couldn't remember whether it was hand-delivered by Representative Wright or whether it was faxed or--or sent in some--some fashion. But he testified that Representative Wright did present him with that Torlen Wade letter, the March 15th Torlen Wade letter, and that it was at least partly in reliance on that letter that the bank made the loan, that he recommended the loan and that the bank made the loan.

Now, why is that important? Well, we--we know that--we know that the--the loan was eventually foreclosed. Maybe that would have happened anyway. We--we don't know. But the bottom line is that banks have a reason why they make inquiry as to how something is going to be repaid. They have a right to know what is going to be the collateral, what is going to be the repayment method, how--what kind of a risk am I taking? Before they loan out their money, they have--have a right to ask these questions. And that's important. That's important to our banking industry and our--our--the foundations of our--of our civil society, that people can rely on people to tell the truth and to rely on documents they present to them to be accurate and truthful documents, not false documents that falsely commit to something that someone has no authority to commit to and that the bearer and presenter of knows that that person had no authority to commit to.

And Mr. Burbank was questioned at length about that document. And he was unshaken. You--again, you've got to decide credibility. If Torlen Wade and Ronnie Burbank--Ronnie Burbank didn't really seem to have much of a relationship with Representative Wright. He knew he--who he was. They had some dealings. He wasn't in the position that Torlen Wade and--and Dan Gottovi were in terms of perhaps being led astray by their past dealings and the trust relationship that they had. But he certainly relied on that letter that was presented to him. And I would submit to you that he was a very credible witness. He had nothing to gain from coming in here and telling you what he--what he told you.

Same situation with Torlen Wade. Torlen--Torlen Wade didn't have anything to gain. I'm cer--I'm certain that was embarrassing for him to come in here and tell you what happened. He lost his job over this. But he came in here, and he told you what he did, that he had done something that was wrong, something that he never should have done, something that was false, something that that man--(indicating)--asked him to do.

Ronnie Burbank testified that at least in part, he relied on that letter. And that certainly is fraud. And certainly fraud is something that is unethical and improper for a member of the House of Representatives of North Carolina. I would submit to you that both Counts 1 and Count 2, the special counsel has presented more than sufficient evidence for you to find by clear and convincing evidence that those charges have been proven.

Counts 3, 4, and 5 I'm going to treat together. Those counts all deal with Representative Wright soliciting corporations to make charitable contributions to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, a foundation that he helped incorporate with Dan Gottovi and a couple of others, of which he apparently was president. We're not sure about that, but at least there's been some testimony that everybody thought he was president. We don't know, because we haven't seen any bylaws. We have testimony that no bylaws were ever approved.

We do know, though, from the evidence that's been presented, that he did send three documents to those corporations. And here's how we know it. Representative Wright admitted that he sent the letters to Anheuser-Busch and AstraZeneca. You heard that from Agent Umphlet, that Representative Wright looked at those letters that you have before you, Exhibits Number 6 and 8, and that he specifically admitted that he had those documen--that he prepared those documents and signed those documents and sent them to those organizations.

And I'd ask you to read the language in each of those documents. And it's clearly--it's interesting. The language is a little bit different in each one of those. But what--what I would suggest, in--in the Anheuser- Busch, he talks about funding the museum. In the AstraZeneca letter, he talks about wanting to be able to help the underserved population in New Hanover County in dealing with their medical needs, certainly something that AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals might be more interested in than Anheuser-Busch might have been interested in. But he care--very carefully tailored his solicitation letters to these corporations, and he specifically told them that it was a charitable cor--contribution that he sought. And he mentioned the 501C3 designation, that they had in fact--they were in fact--that Community Health and Foun--Foundation, Incorporated, was a charitable cor--contri--corporation under 501C3.

Now, there's been some question about that, was--was it or wasn't it. It's not necessary for you to determine in deciding the Counts 3, 4, and 5. If you notice the language of those counts, we did not draft those counts specifically saying that he falsely represented that he was a charitable cor--corporation under 501C3. We simply stated in those counts that he said in his letters that he was a charitable corporation, a 501C3 corporation. What is clear is that after soliciting that money from each of those corporations as a charitable contribution, he then deposited those checks in his own personal account, something he had no authority to do. And I'll talk about that in a minute.

By this own admission to Agent Umphlet, he did take each of those three checks that you have in evidence, and he deposited them in his--what has been referred to, the commingled account, which was a personal account slash campaign account. But there's no question that he took those monies which were intended as a charitable contribution by these corporations and that he deposited them in his own account.

John Policastro testified as to the AT&T solicitation. We don't have a letter there. If you remember, what he testified was that there had been an inquiry where someone from the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, had made inquiry about getting a contribution from AT&T and how they would go about doing that. And Policastro let that person know, someone within the agen--within the corporation, that what had to happen was there h[a]d to be an invoice from that corporation. And then some time after that, an invoice comes in with the letterhead of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, the same essential letterhead as on those two letters. Also has Thomas Wright's name on the--the letterhead of the invoice. And specifically for the fifteen-hundred-dollar ($1,500) amount that had been indicated about the inquiry having been made.

Now, Representative Wright in talking to Agent Umphlet did not admit that he remembered that particular invoice. Said there was something about it. He wasn't sure. He didn't specifically say absolutely no, as I recall. But he did admit that he had solicited a fifteen-hundred-dollar ($1,500) contribution from AT&T as a charitable donation to the Community Health Foundation. So I would submit to you that what--what you have, then, is clear and convincing evidence that he did solicit charitable contributions from each of those three organizations in the amounts indicated and that he did deposit those monies in his own account. The question is was he entitled to do that.

Well, there's been a lot of talk. And again, I would submit to you, ladies and gentleman, one of the things you have to look at is the--the credibility of--of the witnesses. And I would submit to you that even more so than Torlen Wade, Dan Gottovi, Dr. Gottovi, had a--a longstanding relationship with Representative Wright. And Mr. Joyner brought that out very fully, talked about the family relationship and all they'd done over the years. And they've done a lot. And--and Dr. Gottovi was involved in a lot of the projects that Representative Wright had been involved in over the years. No question about it. And I would submit to you that Dr. Gottovi's testimony may have changed a little bit from time to time about what really happened in terms of bylaws and meetings and authority.

I think Dr. Gottovi felt very pained having to be here and testifying to some of the things he had to testify about. And I think there may have been times where he wanted to give Representative Wright the benefit of the doubt, that maybe some of those times that they had lunch together or happened to see each other somewhere were board meetings perhaps. But that's not the law in North Carolina. There are specific laws involving nonprofit corporations. It's called the North Carolina Nonprofit Corporation Act. In Article 2, under organization, Statute 55A--excuse me--55A dash 2 dash 03, under incorporation, says, "Unless a delayed effective date is specified, the corporate existence begins when the articles of incorporation are filed."

So that corporation actually began, if you look at Exhibit 1, on April 18th, 2001. It was no longer in the planning stages. It was no longer a steering committee. That corporation was in existence on April 18th, 2001. The incorporator's job was completed, and it was now up to the board of directors under the bylaws to run the corporation.

General Statute 55A dash 2 dash 06, bylaws. The incorporators or board of directors of a corporation shall adopt initial bylaws for the corporation. That's a requirement by statute. The evidence before you is that that was never done.

We've heard some vague talk about there may be some bylaws somewhere. We haven't seen any. But the testimony was, from--from Dan Gottovi, that they never met and approved any bylaws. And that was a job that the incorporators had to do. They didn't do it. There were no bylaws. Therefore, there was no--nothing to authorize anybody to take any action at all.

In Article 3, purposes and powers, there is a Statute 55A dash 3 dash 02 involving the general powers of a corporation. And certainly corporation has--has a number of powers to be able to purchase property, to be able to conduct affairs, to make contracts and guarantees, all those things. But again, that has to be under the authority of the bylaws of the corporation, and there were none.

In Article 8, General Statute 55A dash 8 dash 01, requirement for and duties of board. Under Subsection B, all corporate powers shall be exercised by or under the authority of and the affairs of the corporation managed under the direction of its board of directors as--except as otherwise provided in the articles of incorporation. What you heard from Dr. Gottovi was that the board never authorized any of the actions of Representative Wright, never authorized him to put that money into his own account. And that's significant.

You've heard the expression coined in this case by Representative Wright "sweat equity." He talked to Johnnie Umphlet about what he thought he deserved based upon his number of hours that he had worked for the foundation. And that's all well and good. But I believe, ladies and gentlemen of the Committee, that there are folks all over North Carolina every day that are board members of nonprofit corporations who don't get a dime for anything that they do, who are not authorized to dip into the corporate till and take money at their pleasure.

And in fact, by statute, again, that's covered. General Statute 55A dash 8 dash 12, compensation of directors. Unless the articles of incorporation provide otherwise, a board of directors may fix the compensation of directors. Was there any testimony that there was any compensation fixed for the directors? No. You head Dr. Gottovi. There were no meetings. There were no bylaws. There were no meetings. There were no minutes. There were never actually any official actions by the--the board of--of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated.

Meetings and action of the board, Part 2 of that article, Section 55A dash 8 dash 20, regular and special meetings, Subsection A. The board of directors may hold regular or special meetings in or out of this state. Subsection B. Unless the articles of corp--incorporation or by--bylaws provide otherwise, the board of directors may permit any or all directors to participate in a regular or special meeting by or conduct the meeting through use of any means of communication by which all directors participating may simultaneously hear each other during the meeting. A director participating in a meeting by this means is deemed to be present and in person at the meeting.

Action without meeting, Section 55A dash 8 dash 21. Unless the articles of incorporation or by--bylaws provide otherwise, action required or permitted by this chapter to be taken at a board of directors' meeting may be taken without a meeting if the action is taken by all members of the board. The action shall be evidenced by one or more written consents signed by each director before or after such action, describing the action taken and included in the minutes or filed with the corporate records reflecting the action taken.

There has been absolutely no evidence of any kind of written consent by any of the purported board members of the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, for Agent--for Representative Wright to be able to do any of the things he did in converting the charitable contributions to his own personal use.

And the last statute I'd cite you to is in Part 3 of that article, Section 55A dash 8 dash 30, general standards for directors. A director shall discharge his duties as a director, including his duties as a member of a committee, one, in good faith, two, with the care an ordinarily prudent person in like position would exercise under similar circumstances, and, three, in a manner the directory--director reasonably believes to be in the best interests of the corporation.

I believe that goes towards the ethics of what he did here, as well as the--the conversion, which is a crime, and the fraud involved in soliciting a charitable contribution that he apparently intended to convert to his own use. But you have him violating the trust that he owed to the Community Health Foundation, Incorporated, as a director and--and member of the board.

I would submit to you, members of the Committee, that as to Counts 4--3, 4, and 5, once again, special counsel has presented evidence to you which should certainly convince you by that clear and convincing evidence that Representative Wright has committed the acts charged in those counts.

And the last count that I'm going to ad--address is count 8. And if you examine that, that count is essentially a summary type of count. It alleges a pattern of conduct which very much tracks all of the activity in Counts 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. And for all of the reasons that I have laid out to you from the evidence, I would submit to you that we have, again, shown to you by clear and convincing evidence that Representative Wright has committed the acts contained in that count.

Now, in a few minutes, Mr. Joyner is--going to come up, and he'll argue to you. Remem that much of what you heard in terms of questions that Mr. Joyner asked during the hearing where he was seeking some kind of answer that he hoped might help Representative Wright, oftentimes he didn't get the answer he--he was hoping for. He threw some speculation out there as to what might have been Representative Wright's motives or what might have been valid authority for him to do something or what might have been a valid explanation that might cause you not to find one of these counts. But where is the evidence? There simply is no evidence to counter the clear and convincing evidence that we have presented to you that Representative Wright is guilty of each one of these counts before you.

I would ask you to listen carefully to Mr. Joyner and his argument. Listen carefully to any instructions that the Chair might have as to other areas of the law that I have not covered. And special counsel would ask you to find that Representative Wright has committed each of the violations that are alleged in the counts before you.

THE CHAIR: All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Hart.

Dr. Joyner, closing argument for Representative Wright. And, Dr. Joyner, when you get up to the podium, if you'll switch that other switch off. With your other mike on, it'll--so--thank you.

PROF. JOYNER: I'm going to try this thing out. Know how it's going to work.

Clearly this has been an unusual experience in many ways. I'm used to arguing before a jury. And there have been references made to you as jurors. But we all know that you're not. And the protections which are provided for defendants in most proceedings where there are jurors aren't present here. Jurors have not served as the originators of the complaint. You have. You have grand jurors that will look at claims from a prosecutor and will issue an indictment that brings the person before the court. But the members of that grand jury don't sit as jurors the trial.

And in this situation, you received from Mr. Peters and Mr. Hart information about the claims against Representative Wright. And at that time, you made the determination that there was probable cause to believe that they were true. I--I don't know what documentation they provided to you for you to reach that conclusion. But clearly you reached that conclusion, and that's evidenced by--by yet this second revised notice of charges. And merely by doing that, you attested to the fact that you believed that these charges were probably true. So you don't sit here as--as jurors.

The other issue has to do with the prosecution of the case. You sit as prosecutors in this case. Now, clearly the four of you did not do a whole lot in that regard. You asked questions. But the chair and the vice-chair did. Mr. Stams (sic) even went out and found evidence, documents that neither Mr. Peters nor Mr. Hart brought in to present as evidence in this matter, and wanted to present it himself. So he was clearly not serving as a juror. He was serving as an adjunct to the prosecution. So I'm not--I'm not used to coming before the body with that.

And then in every trial in North Carolina, and indeed in every trial in America, every trial in America, the evidence upon which the jury reaches its verdict is only the evidence that's presented from the witness chair under oath. Clearly that is not the situation in this case, because while you did hear testimony from witnesses, there was other evidence presented without the benefit of witnesses that you have in your possession and you have reviewed.

Case in point: Mr. Stams (sic) brought in two documents, a--an application for business credit and a settlement statement, neither of which Mr. Peters nor Mr. Hart intended or attempted to get introduced. And he circulated them to everybody in here. You got a copy of it. You got a copy of it. And then he wanted to ask questions about it. But that's in your package of evidence. Now, jur--jurors--jurors would not be in receipt of this type of extraneous evidence not presented from the witness chair under oath.

And in fact, at a real trial--at--at a real trial in North Carolina and the rest of America, the judge would instruct the jurors,

Don't go out and look for information. Don't go to the site. Don't conduct any research. Don't conduct any tests. But keep yourself in a position that you can decide this case based on the evidence presented from the witness chair right there. And that's why you have a witness chair, and that's why you swear witnesses.

Is this impartial? Is this impartial, where the person who is being tried walks into the chambers with a presumption of innocence? Not here. Not here. Representative Wright did not come into this chamber protected by the presumption of innocence, because you had already removed that presumption from him when you issued these claims. So is this fair and impartial? Not in America. Not in North Carolina. Maybe in some foreign land it would be, but not here.

Now, I--I do understand that this is the General Assembly. And because this is the General Assembly, you can do pretty doggone well what you want to do. But I want to know--I want you to know that as I start, that I recognize the hill that I have to climb, and I know that I'm trying to walk up a slippery slope. I recognize that from the outset, basically because of the things that I've just said. So we might make this pronouncement that we sit as jurors, but the reality is contrary to that. This is not that situation. And I understand the political nature of these proceedings. And with that, I want to address some of the claims.

Your charge for your rules say that you have to find by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence that Representative Wright has committed the acts described here. And I will say to you that what you have instead of clear, cogent, and convincing evidence is evidence that is murky, confusing, and disconnected. Nothing clear about it. Nothing cogent about it. Nothing convincing about it.

And I want to start with Counts 1, 2, and 8. Mr. Hart dealt with 1 and 2 first and then summarized 8 as a--they're all duplications of--of the same thing, 1, 2, and 8. And Counts 1, 2, and 8 deals with the solicitation or the granting of a loan for a hundred and fifty dollars (sic) for the purpose of purchasing a building in Wilmington that could be used as a 1898 Wil--Wilmington Memorials museum, office space for the Community Health Foundation, office space for the Community Health Center that needed space to grow.

And I think that the documents that's been--that have--that have been presented here amply supports the conclusion that the Community Health Foundation--and I want to just look at Exhibit 1, articles of incorporation--that that was filed with the North Carolina Secretary of State, that that was accepted by the North Carolina Secretary of State and registered as a nonprofit corporation in the State of North Carolina. To that point, there is no disagreement.

And we can further say, if you look at Exhibit 14, Exhibit 14 deals with the articles of incorporation of the Community Health Foundation, and that articles--and those articles of incorporation were signed by the Secretary of State.

REP. STAM: Objection.

MR. HART: Yeah, Mr. Chairman, that--

REP. STAM: Exhibit 14 was never introduced.

THE CHAIR: Objection sustained. Exhibit

14 was not admitted into evidence, so it is not relevant to closing argument.

PROF. JOYNER: Exhibit 14 was discussed. It was presented in the package to mem--your--your body. And as such, it is in evidence. Even though the document itself was not introduced, it was a part of the evidence presented in this session.

THE CHAIR: Exhibit 14 is not--correct me if I'm wrong, members. But I had Exhibit 14 pulled, so you should not have Exhibit 14 in your notebooks. Am I correct?

Exhibit 14, since it was not pursued, was pulled from the beginning.

PROF. JOYNER: Mr. Chairman, we discussed it.

THE CHAIR: That were the--I will certainly let you talk about information that you want. But the exhibit itself and nothing in the exhibit's in evidence.

PROF. JOYNER: So a corporation was accomplished. And then there was evidence that the Community Health Foundation received an employer's identification number from the Internal Revenue Service, Tax Identification Number 562252434.

There's no dispute about that. And that is the tax exempt number--tax identification number which appears in at least one--two of the letters that we'll talk about later on. These are official actions taken in furtherance of establishing the existence of the Community Health Foundation. And to that, there is no--no dispute.

There is evidence, a document in the file, Exhibit 3, of a letter from Torlen Wade addressed to Thomas Wright, chairperson of the Community Health Foundation, that letter being issued on March 15th, 2002. Passed out to you but not formally introduced into evidence was a business credit application that Mr. Stams (sic) found and sought to question.

MR. HART: Objection. I don't believe that's ever been passed out to the Committee.

THE CHAIR: Hold for a minute on the objection. I--I want to make sure about that.

Think the document was initially passed out and retrieved immediately when I denied admission. But because it at least was discussed, I think Dr. Joyner has the right to discuss the information that was discussed about it, the questions about it. Again, the document itself is not admissive--admitted; it's not in evidence; and it's not before the Committee.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, if--if I could just recollect, actually no questions were allowed about it when Dr. Joyner objected to it. I asked why they would object to it, since it was signed by his client. But their objection was sustained.

THE CHAIR: Well, that's my recollection, as well. But I'm going to let Dr. Joyner argue as he wishes about that without direct reference to anything that wasn't talked about in any way, shape, or form by others. But at least the document's not in; the document can't be referenced. But if there's information that was discussed by a witness, he can certainly talk about that.

PROF. JOYNER: Well, Mr. Chairman, the document was passed for the members, including yourself, to see. And when they saw it, obviously they saw the content of the document. It was not elaborated on in testimony, but it was circulated for the purpose of people seeing what the docum spoke to.

THE CHAIR: I will go ahead and let you argue your point, Dr. Joyner. But I am going to instruct the members, when I do instruct, that, again, that anything that was not admitted into evidence is not to be considered in their determination. So in terms of the documents--but I will go ahead and let you make your argument.

PROF. JOYNER: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I appreciate that.

Business credit application with the Coastal Federal Bank from the Community Health Foundation with the same tax ID number--identification number that I referenced before dated February 22nd, 2002, for the purchase of a building, a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000). That's the application.

In your packet and introduced into evidence is Exhibit Number 4. And Exhibit Number 4 is the approval document which Mr. Burbank testified about and to which there is considerable reliance upon it. And it is a--a document of approval, because it says in the document that the loan requested by the Community Health Foundation was approved. And that document is signed by R.

Burbank, who was the loan officer who had the authority to approve that loan. But what is important--important about this document is, one, that it does not note a need for a letter or any other documentation from Representative Wright in order to secure this mortgage money.

You--you can look at all over. And some of your have purchased homes. And you know that if there is a condition which has to be satisfied before a mortgage is granted, it is in the file in order that that condition can be satisfied before the loan is granted. Yet, in this situation on March 5th, 2002, we have a notice of approval which does not mention the necessity of a letter, document, or any other information that is a precondition to getting this loan. It's not there.

It notes that the primary source of repayment, not guarantee, will be state and federal government grants, which is a projection. Anytime you get a loan, you get a mortgage, and they talk about how you're going to repay it, it's a projection. I mean, if it's your job and your income, your salary, that's a projection, because the next day, you might just lose your job. So that's a projection. It's not a guarantee. It's a projection. If things are as we see them now, they can repay this from their wages or from grant money from state and federal government. And then secondarily, they listed the equity in the building, because the worth of the building exceeded the amount of the loan.

Clear, cogent, and convincing. Clear, cogent, and convincing evidence. Clear, cogent, and convincing evidence is needed to show that this letter was used for the purpose of getting this loan. It wasn't.

Well, how else--how else do you know--how else would you support that notion?

I recall Mr. Burbank testifying that he was pretty unclear about the dates that things occurred. He testified that at some point, without specific reference, that he knew about a letter. He knew about a letter. But he couldn't tell us when that was. But from the documentation, it wasn't on March 5th, when he approved this loan. And I recall asking Mr. Burbank when the SBI agents came, when the files of the Coastal Federal Bank was reviewed, was the letter in the file. And the answer was no. The answer was no. The answer was no.

Why is that important? Because if it was a document on which he relied to grant a loan for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), you know where it would have been? In the file. So that if the auditors came in to find out why he gave that loan and that was a precondition, the record would be clear that that was a condition. It was not in the file.

SBI Umphlet was asked about this, "Well, where did you get the letter?" Say, _Well, I got it from two or three different sources. I got it from Kim Strach. I got it from another agent. I got it from the files of Health and Human Resources."

Among the missing situses (phonetic) for that letter was the Coastal Federal Bank. They subpoenaed the records from the Coastal Federal Bank, and not included in that file was this letter. And you know why it wasn't in there? Because he did not have it, did not need it, did not require it at the point that he approved this loan.

Torlen Wade's letter is dated on, well, March 15th. The approval date of this loan is March 5th. Torlen Wade's letter is written on March 15th. If it's written on March 15th, in the day of Pony Express, it gets to Wilmington by March 16th, by snail mail March 17th, by e-mail instantaneously. But if it was by e-mail, it would have come from Torlen Wade. And Mr. Burbank said, "No, he--no, no, no. Wade did not send me a letter. I don't know who I got it from. I could have gotten it from Tommy Wright. I could have. I don't know who I got it from. But it did not come from Torlen Wade." So the e-mail option is out.

Let's go on. So it had to be by Pony Express or snail mail. No matter which mail you use, it's ten days after the loan was approved. You've got to explain that discrepancy. You've got to explain it.

Burbank, who is a career banker, is going to rely on a letter to guarantee a loan and doesn't get it for almost two weeks after he approved a loan for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000)? Well, I understand a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) is not a lot of money for them. I understand that. I understand that. I understand that. To most of us, yeah. But you don't make a loan for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in which you have not satisfied the conditions that you set. You don't do it.

This letter was not a condition of that loan, because had it been a condition of this loan, there would have been some documentation of that need somewhere in that file, somewhere, on the file cover, on the printout sheet of things that we need to get, or on a notice, or on the note in the closing package to the attorney that's closing the loan that we need to have this information. It is not there.

We're talking about clear, cogent, and convincing evidence. Now, if that's clear, cogent, and convincing to you on their part, then clearly we're in a political determination. But as jurors, as jurors, the evidence is nonexistent, does not support that point. Doesn't support it.

Evidence does support a conclusion that Torlen Wade wrote this letter, and he wrote the letter at the request of Representative Wright. There is absolutely no clear, cogent, and convincing evidence that Representative Wright ever used this letter--ever used this--ever used this letter to secure a loan.

Representative--well, I'm getting him elected now. SBI Agent Umphlet testified that when he sat down and talked to Thomas Wright for nine hours, nine hours, almost as long as you've been here, for nine hours, voluntarily, came in without a lawyer, had his own video camera, and sat down and talked with Agent Umphlet for nine hours. He told him exactly the same thing. He said, "I got the letter from Torlen Wade, and I asked him to do it. And I'm sorry that I asked him to do it, because I got him in a lot of trouble." That's what he told Agent Umphlet. He didn't say, "No, Wade is lying." Said, "I did it." That's what he said. And he said, "I'm sorry I did it. But I didn't use the letter to get a loan. I didn't need the letter to get a loan. Didn't need a letter to get a loan." And the record supports exactly what he said to Agent Umphlet.

Now, anything else is speculation. Anything else is speculation. But the physical evidence does not support a conclusion that this letter was used by Thomas Wright for the purpose of securing this loan for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000).

Murky, confusing, and disconnected is not the standard that supports a conclusion that he used the letter for the purpose--the fraudulent purpose of inducing the Coastal Federal Bank to grant a loan.

Going to just move, as Mr. Hart did, to Claims 3, 4, and 5. 3, 4, and 5. These claims deal with the solicitation of grants from AT&T, AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, and Anheuser-Busch. AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, a medical concern; Anheuser-Busch, a cause for medical concern; AT&T. That's interesting.

Mr. Policastro came in here to testify, and his testimony was really quite amazing. I mean, it really--it--it was really quite amazing, because obviously he was a bigwig in the giving line, in the giving line at AT&T. But, you know, I--I remember his--his testimony. And--and you'll have to remember it for yourself. But he said, "You know, I was sitting there at my desk one d and I got a call from one of our people."

-173-

Later on, when asked, he said that it was Larry Bra--Breely--Breely--Bewley, Larry Bewley. Remember that? That's what he said--right?--from right up--right up there. "And I was asked how do--how do--how do--how do I get a grant, `cause I got these people that want to get a grant. So what do we have to do to get it?" And he said that he provided his people, not a representative of the Community Health Foundation, his people, Larry Breeley, with that information and subsequently received this letter from the Community Health Foundation that was signed by Thomas Wright.

Well, he didn't say. He said he received an invoice, Exhibit 11. Exhibit 11. He didn't say, "I received a letter where someone from the Community Health Foundation requested a grant." Instead, he said, "I received an invoice, an invoice. And then he went on to identify Exhibit 11 as an invoice. And then he passed it on up the line. And somebody added the writing on the letter after that. And there are a number of marked--one is a PO number, which I assume is a purchase-order number, which sounds significant to me, because it's not a grant number but a purchase-order number.

And then he identified the check, Exhibit 13, for fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), which went to the Community Health Foundation. And he said that--that that check looked like the check that A&T--AT&T sent to charitable organizations. But it also looked like the check that they sent to other organizations. And it also looked like the check that they sent to vendors. And it also looked--well, this is a check that looked like just about anything that AT&T was going to mail out. But that he thought that this was a charitable donation.

There's nothing in this invoice that says anything about a charitable donation, charitable organization, or a request for a grant. It's an invoice. That happened, and the check went out.

This Committee makes the claim that AT&T was fraudulently induced to send this check to the Community Health Foundation. No one from AT&T has pres--presented themselves on that witness stand in that chair under oath to say that they were deceived, that they relied upon this invoice as a request for a charitable donation, and that it was because of that representation or misrepresentation that they granted this fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500). Not one person got up there under oath to say that.

-175-

Now, you might find--you might conclude that that's what happened. But if you do, it is pure T rank speculation, because there has been absolutely no evidence at all from this chair, that masquerades as a witness chair, which says that.

Now, Policastro is the strongest case, because they didn't even bring anybody in here from Anheuser-Busch. They didn't even bring anybody in here from AstraZeneca. Not one per--unless I went to sleep, because I know some people go to sleep during these things, you know what I'm saying? It gets warm in here, and people nod off. And then they come back an hour later saying, "What happened?"

But un--unless I went to sleep, not one person appeared in this room from Anheuser-Busch. Not one person appeared in this room from AstraZeneca. Yet you are asked to find by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence that they were mislead, that they received a representation that proved to be false to--that caused them to grant, in the case of Anheuser-Busch, five thousand dollars ($5,000), in the case of AstraZeneca, twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400). And if you do, it is supported by rank speculation, nothing else, rank speculation.

They had so much faith in this case that they didn't even bring anybody in here to testify to that, because it wasn't necessary, they thought, because the fix is in. Now, if you're going to be the jury, you--you--you need to act like you're going to be the jury and you're going to be objective and fair. And if you are objective and fair, Stevie Wonder can see that there's no evidence to support those two claims--those three claims.

Clear, cogent, and convincing evidence is needed to find in favor of your Claims 3, 4, and 5. And on these points, the evidence is more murky, more confusing, and more disconnecting than it is with the other three claims. The evidence does not support that conclusion.

Now, I know you can work it out, and you can sit down, and you can talk about what if. What if this happened? What if they had come in and said this, that, and the other? They didn't. They didn't. And if we're going to--unless we're going to be swamped by the masquerade, evidence has to be presented. It has not been presented. It has not been presented.

It's not that it's not clear, cogent, and con--it's not present at all. It is not present at all. Say, "Well, we got--we got a letter that was written to Anheuser-Busch." Yeah, you got a letter. "Well, we got an invoice to AstraZeneca." Well, you got an invoice. "We have a letter"--I'm sorry. A letter to An--AstraZeneca, invoice to AT&T. Clearly that's there. That's--that's there. But that's not the issue. The issue isn't the presence of the letter. The issue isn't the presence of the invoice. The issue is was there a representation made to these people which caused them--which they relied upon, and, in reliance on that representation, they provided this grant. You can't find that conclusion unless somebody comes in here to testify to that. It doesn't exist.

Mr. Hart says that was fraud; that was deceit; that was concealment. In his mind. In his mind. Where's the witness? Or--there's this old commercial. Well, I don't want to date myself. But, you know, there's this commercial that asks, "Where's the beef?" You remember that? "Where's the beef? Where's the beef? Where's the beef? Where's the beef?

If you are going to buy that claim, show me the beef. It has not been presented in this room. And there is nothing clear, cogent, and convincing about what we call in the law a failure of proof, a failure of proof, the inability to find evidence to support your claim. 'Cause anybody can make a claim. Anybody can make a claim. Proving it is another thing. And it has not been proven by clear, cogent, and con--it hasn't been proven by any standard. It does not even rise up to the what if standard.

Then we go--we go to the campaign contributions. My Lord, my Lord, my Lord. Campaign contributions, an area of the law that absolutely nobody understands. Well, you might understand it better than most people. But based on what I heard from the chair here, from the witness chair, during this past year, five hundred and sixty-nine reports were made from legislators or their treasurers to amend false reports from previous times dating back from 2006 as far back 2001 and '2. Five hundred and sixty-nine just during this past year. I didn't ask her about last year and the year before that and the year before that. But in this past year, five hundred and sixty-nine re--you had more reports than you have legislators. You don't even have five hundred and sixty-nine legislators in the North Carolina General Assembly. You have five hundred and sixty-nine people who lied on their reports this past year, this past year.

And either there was mass confusion; there was mass--massive fraud; or there was massive intentional conduct designed to conceal campaign activities--campaign finance activities. Well, I know that new law came into being, and that probably sparked some of it.

There was a lot of talk about the importance and just how critical campaign-financing reporting is to the citizens of North Carolina. And in fact, the statute seems to be very clear. Within a specific period of time, you have to file a report that truly and honestly reflects campaign contributions and disbursement. That's what the statute says.

Statute goes on to say--it's right in that little yellow book. Statute goes on to say that if upon review, if you find a problem with it, you refer it to the district attorney in the district in which the member resides, for action. That's--that's what the law says right in the yellow book. That's what the law says. It makes no exception for anybody, does not provide any exceptions for reasons or anything else. That is a law that you or your former colleagues passed, which was in place up until 2006. I didn't do it. I--I didn't--I didn't--I didn't write this. It didn't--didn't come from D.C. It didn't come down in the Bible. You--you enacted that. North Carolina General Assembly enacted that. And it did not provide an exception or wiggle room for anybody.

And in response to that, the Board of Elections, which was given authority to administer that and supervise that, they decided in their infinite wisdom that they would allow these repo to be amended at any time for any reason in the world. Remember that? And I was just floored. I said, "What? You mean four years later, you can"--"Oh, yes, because we want to have the stuff reported." _Really?_ You remember that? She said, _Well, we--we just want to get it." Years later. In spite of what the statute says, years later you can come back, and you can amend your report, your report which falsely states your campaign-finance activities, years later. This liberal amendment procedure. Never heard of anybody being prosecuted for not reporting campaign--"We have a liberal policy. We want them--we want them to amend it."

Mr. Peters got up there and said, "Well, it's important. It's important that we have this law in place, because the citizens need to be able to see, need to be able to see, as the campaign is going on, who is financing the operation." That--that's not the purpose of campaign-finance reform or the reporting laws, because when you're running, you don't report it. You don't report it until certain quarters. And typically when you--after you run, then you report what you--the income that you had, the disbursement that you had during the campaign, not while you're running, unless while you are running you run into one of those periods.

Well, that's not really critical. What is critical is the importance that all of a sudden is attached to Representative Wright's failure to disclose or present all of his contributions. And that's what we're talking about. Often it's--it's like the most important thing in the whole wide world, notwithstanding the fact that our liberal amendment policy that--that he talked about would allow us today to walk over to the Board of Elections and file an amendment for every report from 2000 up until yesterday. Because when we listened to Kim Strach, she said you could do that. We could do that. And every legislator or treasurer of the committee, they can do that. But for Thomas Wright, we want to kick him out. Every legislator here can come in and amend their report right now going back for years, except for Thomas Wright. With Thomas Wright, we want you to kick him out. We want you to kick him out because what he did was unethical, fraudulent, and criminal, because he signed a document and the--signing a document that included incorrect information was a violation of the law.

And I asked. I said, "Well, what about these other legislators who come in and amend their reports? Did they violate the law?" "Well--well, technically." Kind of like being half-pregnant. You either violated the law, or you didn't. You either violated the law, or you didn't. If we're going to have a liberal application, it ought to be across the board. Instead of persecuting--I mean--I'm sorry. Instead of prosecuting Thomas Wright, we should be encouraging him to amend his report, because we have this liberal policy here, and that's the way we want it done. That's the way we want it done from the Board of Elections, from the Board of Elec--now, clearly North Carolina statutes does not say that. North Carolina statutes don't say that. They don't say that. There's absolutely nothing in the statute which allows for the amendment of these reports, nothing in the statute. Nothing allows for the amendment of these reports. It is a policy decision made by the Board of Elections. And that liberal policy applies to everybody except Thomas Wright, except Thomas Wright. And because it's Thomas Wright, we want you to kick him out of his position for which he has been elected by voters from his district.

So on the one hand, it is the most important law in the whole wide world, and if we let him get away with this, the galaxy is just going to fall apart. Or--or it is a law in which we encourage legislators to reveal fully their campaign-finance activity, and if they run into a problem with doing that, we will work with them to make sure that the reports are done correctly even if they are not timely filed.

Statute does allow the Board of Elections to provide civil fines for each date that a report is late. That's not an issue here. It's not an issue here. But we're picking and choosing. We're picking and choosing.

Either we're going to require faithful adherence to the statutes, or we're going to have a liberal interpretation of the rules that applies equally to everyone.

Now, this is decision that you make, if it's not been made already. You have to wrestle with it. And unlike in a criminal trial, where we're dealing with proof beyond a reasonable doubt and some assurance that the jurors are impartial, unbiased, haven't made up their mind before they came in here. I--I reckon that--that's--that's not where we are. And I recognize, as I said at the outset, that I'm trying to walk up a slippery slope, because you have already found, before we even started this thing on Monday morning, that the claims raised against Representative Wright were probably true, and you were going to go forward with these hearings to make sure that you were able to make a decision about that as soon as possible.

So we leave it in your hands. It's been in your hands all along. But I wanted to present you with those things that we see as deficiencies, significant deficiencies in this--in these claims and in this case.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: Thank you very much, Dr. Joyner.

This Committee will stand in recess for fifteen minutes. We will return--actually twenty minutes. We will return at three-forty and begin instructions and deliberations by the Committee on the counts. Thank you.

TWENTY-FIVE-MINUTE RECESS

THE CHAIR: All right. Members of the Committee, I have several instructions to give you, not many, as we begin our deliberations. If you will be mindful of these instructions, I would appreciate it very, very much.

Members of the Committee, you have all heard the evidence presented in this case. Under the rules, the burden is on the Committee's outside counsel to present evidence to satisfy you by clear and convincing evidence that the allegations of unethical conduct exist in any count. In order to make a finding, for each count you will have to find by clear and convincing evidence that the conduct alleged in the count occurred and that the conducted committed was unethical.

As part of these deliberations, you should not consider what sanctions if any might be recommended if any count is found to be true by clear and convincing evidence. If you do not find a count by clear and convincing evidence, you should vote to so find--I'm sorry--you should vote that the count is not found and find in favor of Representative Wright on that count.

Finally, you should note that if you believe that Representative Wright not only should not be found to have committed any count by clear and convincing evidence but if you believe, as well, that a preponderance of the evidence establishes that Representative Wright did not commit the act, then you may make a motion for full exoneration, as well.

That being said, you are the sole judges of the credibility, that is the believability, of each witness. You must decide for yourselves whether to believe the testimony of any witness. You may believe all or any part or none of what a witness has said on the witness stand.

In determining whether to believe any witness, you should apply the same tests of truthfulness which you apply in your everyday affairs. These tests may include, among other things, the opportunity of the witness to see, hear, know, or remember the facts or occurrences about which he testified; the manner and appearance of the witness; any interests, bias, or prejudice the witness may have; the apparent understanding and fairness of the witness; whether the testimony is reasonable; and whether the testimony is consistent with other believable evidence that's been presented.

You, we, are the sole judges of the weight to be given any evidence. And by this I mean if you decide that certain evidence is believable, you must then determine the importance of that evidence in light of all the other believable evidence that has been presented.

There are two types of evidence from which you may find the truth as to the facts of this case, direct and circumstantial evidence. Direct evidence is the testimony of one who asserts actual knowledge of a fact, such as an eyewitness. Circumstantial evidence is proof of a chain or group of facts and circumstances pointing to the existence or nonexistence of certain facts. The law makes no distinction between the weight to be given to either direct or circumstantial evidence and neither should you. Nor is a greater degre certainty required of circumstantial evidence th of direct evidence.

The law in this action simply requires to the extent--sorry. The law in this action requires that the party having the burden of proof, that is the Committee counsel, satisfy you as to any issue in the case by clear and convincing evidence. And we had previously been instructed and hold what clear and convincing evidence is by Mr. Krehely before we began. Again a reminder: Representative Wright has no burden of proof in this case to prove anything. The burden of proof is on Committee counsel to prove by clear and convincing evidence that, number one, the conduct in any particular case occurred--count occurred, and, two, that the conduct committed was unethical.

With that, it is my intention to proceed this way in Committee deliberations: There will be no discussion. Evidence is closed. Arguments are done. This is a discussion and a vote among the six of us. You may ask, obviously, as we normally do in any Committee proceeding, any question of our legislative counsel.

What I propose to do is to take us through count by count. And we'll start, as it was argued, with Count 7.

Count 7 is the count with regard to campaign contributions. And what I will do is open up the discussion to any member of the Committee for discussion with regard to evidence on Count Number 7.

Well, at this point, if there's discussion, I mean, I'll--I'll be glad accept motions, but I--I'd like to kind of get the debate started on this particular one. If you remember, this is the count on which Kim Strach testified at length for the better portion of what amounted to close to a day with regard to Exhibits Number 15 and 16A through 16G.

Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: Yeah. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

This seems to be a massive violation of the campaign-finance laws that protect not only the public but also the contributors to Mr. Wright--Representative Wright's campaigns, that protect the tax system, that protect the integrity of the legislative process so we know who's receiving contributions. It's been said many, many times that the best remedy for allegations of corruption is just a lot of sunshine. And what we have here is a complete shutdown of the blinds so that no one could see what Representative Wright was receiving and--and was spending.

It's so massive as to be unethical. There's been some suggestion that somehow the State Board of Election and the district attorney has a duty to prosecute every violation and that nobody's ever been prosecuted for this. Of course that's not true. We have--we've had people in prison for violations of the campaign-finance laws, some very well-known people.

And--but this is not a clerical error. There's not a--just forgetfulness. And what is so striking about it is that even after being charged with this last May, there's even a continuing refusal to file reports in May. I--when I began this proceeding, well, in January when we had our probable-cause hearing, enough--enough evidence was presented to make me think that there was probably something there and that it was of an unethical idea--unethical proportions. But I held out the possibility that maybe there was an explanation, that maybe Representative Wright would amend everything, that he would refund monies improperly received, that he would, you know, take steps to rectify things. But even that has not occurred. And I've seen the evidence now, and there it is.

THE CHAIR: Representative McGee?

REP. MCGEE: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

I would only add to that that during no reporting period did we have a correct report or an attempt to correct that report.

THE CHAIR: I think--the Chair, in reviewing the evidence, as well--I think there is--and I've handed out--or I've asked to be handed out to you several statutes and tried to hand out the statutes that were referred to by--by both counsel during arguments. The statute that deals with campaign contributions requires that for there to be a violation, the violation be intentional. And in fact, there is a saving-grace statute that talks about best efforts.

And--and Dr. Joyner is absolutely, I think, correct in his argument that given the amount of contributions, given how campaigns are run, there are errors. But there is a difference between an inadvertent error or even a series of mistakes or innocent errors, ones correctable, which the process should allow to be corrected by amended reports, and what has occurred here.

The fraud in this count on the public is breathtakingly massive. It is the largest that Kim Strach said she has seen even in million-dollar campaign accounts in her time at the State Board of Elections. Literally almost forty percent of the contributions that were received over a seven-year period were not reported. I cannot conceive of another circumstance like that in this General Assembly. There may be. And if there is, it should be prosecuted equally and as fully.

But this is not inadvertent. This is not a mistake. And if there is any doubt about whether there was intentional conduct, I find it very difficult to accept the argument made in closing arguments about amendments. The argument was we should give Representative Wright the opportunity, as we do others, to amend. He has had seven years of opportunities to amend the first set of reports. I do not know what the State could possibly do to convince this representative to amend the false reports that have been filed year in and year out, report in and report out.

These are not simple errors. This was a pattern, as the count said, that has continuity, pervasiveness, and severity to it. I cannot understand how it occurred. It's not my intent to try to do that. But there is beyond clear and convincing evidence in this case. This count is utterly inescapable in terms of the conclusion that can be drawn, in my opinion, that there was a massive fraud perpetrated through the deliberate decision made year in, year out, for twenty-two straight reporting periods to nondisclosure.

No capacity--the capacity fully existed to amend. It was never taken advantage of. And then to talk about the fact that we need to provide an opportunity to amend. We can't even get the law now to provide an incentive for the representative to file a report, let alone even a fraudulent one.

I've come to absolutely the conclusion that of all the counts, there is overwhelming evidence supporting this count, and there is no reasonable alternative--indeed, almost no attack was made, no evidence presented to justify, even in closing argument, any of these violations.

I will vote to find clear and convinci[redacted] evidence on this count.

Other comments?

I'll accept a motion at this point.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, I move the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that between January 1, 2000, and January 31, 2007, while a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did improperly, fraudulently, and unethically engage in a pattern of conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by intentionally failing to disclose approximately a hundred eighty thousand dollars ($180,000) in contributions received by his campaign during that time period, which disclosure is required by law and are intended to safeguard the public trust and to preserve the integrity of the electoral process, the integrity of the House of Representatives, and the integrity of the legislative pro--process.

The contributions that are the subject of this count are set out in Exhibit 15 of the Committee hearing held March 3 to 6, 2008, as modified by the testimony of Kim Strach, Deputy Director of the State Board of Elections, and incorporated into this count by reference.

THE CHAIR: Is there a second to the motion? Is there a--second by Representative Wiley.

Discussion and debate on the motion?

Seeing none, all those in favor of the motion will vote aye. Those opposed to the motion will vote no. The Clerk will call the roll.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier.

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam.

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren.

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: Count Number 7 is found b[redacted] clear and convincing evidence by a unanimous vot[redacted] of this Committee.

We'll now proceed--and I'm trying to group the counts. We'll proceed to Count Number 3.

Count Number 3 is the count related to the solicitation from AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals. Discussion on Count Number 3 and the evidence presented with regard to Count Number 3.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Yes, Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: What I'd like to say about Count 3, most of it will also apply to Count 4 and 5. And I'll try not to be duplicative.

THE CHAIR: With--yeah. And let's--and--that'll be fine. But we'll stick with 3.

REP. STAM: Yes. Right.

Exhibit 1 gives the purpose of this corporation, charitable, educational, scientific purposes, and says no part of the net earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit or be distributable to its members, directors, officers, or other private persons.

Exhibit 8 is the solicitation by Representative Wright to AstraZenecal--AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals. The gravamen of the count is not really the solicitation but the conversion of funds to his personal account which were intended as charitable. And we can infer that it was intended as charitable because we have the solicitation letter by Representative Wright that told how it would be used.

The--there was some suggestion in the first day of testimony that maybe this was in fact a charitable organization, 501(c)(3). Really whether it is or is not is really beside the point. But I would mention that it--it almost certainly is not, because the exception under Section 908 that Dr. Joyner educated us on only applies if normally there's going to be five thousand (5,000) or less in receipts. And immediately upon the formation of this corporation, the purpose of it was to buy a building. And they started soliciting hundreds of thousands of dollars. They got a hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) receipt in 2002. And when we're soliciting tens of--I think the Counts 3, 4, and 5 is ten thousand dollars' worth of--in other words, to buy a building worth three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) and operate it, you need more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) a year. But again, that's a--a tangent.

It was solicited. But then the gravamen of the complaint, of course, is Exhibit 10, where he just took that check to Community Health Foundation, Inc., which, according to the testimony, he told everybody was a charitable nonprofit, and he just put it right in his own pocket.

And again, when we had our meeting in January, you know, there was enough evidence there for probable cause. I was hoping that maybe before today, Representative Wright would have showed us that that was just a mistake; it went in the wrong account, and the next week he sent it to the right account; or that perhaps he had refunded it to AstraZeneca; or that he had refunded it to some equivalent charity that exists. But no. It just went into his private account where he paid for his campaigns and his cars and everything else. It's an unethical, unlawful thing to do and obviously not by mistake.

THE CHAIR: Is there other--other comments?

Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

You know, I think we have to place things in somewhat of a context of evolvement. Initially, I think, the intentions were very, very amiable. And they were certainly needed in terms of minority health intentions. We--we can't deny the fact that the minority community does not receive the same health benefits that many of the other communities receive. There's a great need for that, and I think we have to commend Representative Wright and those who worked with him--Dr. Gottovi alluded to that--that they were intentionally initially on the right path toward alleviating minority health issues.

Now, I don't know at what point in time--I think it's commendable of them to re--solicit contributions toward that effort. Beyond that, I don't know what happened there. But I--I think we need to really put things in the total perspective.

THE CHAIR: I agree with Representative Lucas in--in this regard. And I think that initially the plan--it seems to me, at least, the evidence creates a possibility that what was being done or eventually what were to be done would be to create the Foundation in order to provide these services. And I think, although we can take notice, you'll see in Representative Wright's past, I think, that he's been an active advocate for minority health issues for many years. That--this is simply consistent with what he's done.

The problem I have and--and where I--I think that the issue is is that there, number one, was absolutely no authorization for the solicitation by anyone on the Community's Health Foundation. That's the first issue.

The more critical issue is that the Foundation letterhead solicits--specifically Representative Wright solicits these funds from AstraZeneca for a specific purpose, and that is a charitable purpose.

If the money came in and, when this was solicited and when it was received, the Community Health Foundation account was open, all that had to be done to be, for lack of a better term, kosher is for that money, that check, to simply be put in the Community Health Foundation account. But it wasn't, even at a time when it was critical to have money for that foundation to be moving forward.

Instead what we have is the checks were held and then not returned when the Foundation went belly-up, not placed in assistance like Dr. Gottovi did to try to make the payments for the Foundation. They were deposited in a personal account.

They would never have been given for that purpose, because they weren't solicited for that purpose. And that's where the problem comes in. That's the unethical conduct, when they were then put into an account that absolutely the funds were never solicited for, and--on top of which, there's a full admission to this. I mean, this isn't a case where we don't have evidence. It was argued we didn't have anybody from AstraZeneca to be here. That's true. But why in the world would you need someone when you have the admission by Representative Wright that he sent the letter, that he took the money, and he took it and put it in his account because he believed it to be sweat equity?

Well, there is no legal authority for him to convert that money into his own use for sweat equity or otherwise. It is simply unethical, bar none, to have done that.

So I agree with Representative Lucas in the instigation. I think that the evidence at best is ambiguous, and giving credit, I think where it should, given Representative's prior his--Representative Wright's prior history. It seems to me that the solicitation, perhaps not done in the right way, was not anything that was improper. What was improper is what occurred after that. And of that, there's simply no defense. This is beyond clear and convincing evidence to me, as well, because of the conversion of the money, totally not allowed.

Further discussion and debate by any member?

Yeah, ready for a motion.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: And I apologize. I--I can't see any other member of the Committee to see if they're seeking recognition. But I move that the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that on or about December 15, 2003, while a member of the House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did engage in conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by improperly, fraudulently, and unethically converting money intended to be a charitable contribution to the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., to his own personal use. Thomas E. Wright wrote a letter on the letterhead stationary of the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., to a representative of AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, LP, requesting as the foundation's president a donation to the foundation, a charitable organization, that Thomas E. Wright represented to be qualified to receive tax-deductible donations that would be used by the foundation for various health-related purposes, including but not limited to educational initiatives, a needs assessment, identification of trends, and bridging the gap of minority healthcare for an underserved population in New Hanover County. Thereafter, when, on December 15th, 2003, a representative of AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals signed and sent to Thomas E. Wright and the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., a check made out to Community's Health Found, Inc., quote, in the amount of twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,4 Thomas E. Wright deposited that check into his personal account rather than into the account of the Community's Health Foundation, Inc.

THE CHAIR: Is there a second?

Second by Representative Warren.

Discussion and debate on Count Number 3?

Seeing none, all those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The Clerk will call the roll.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier.

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam.

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren.

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: Count Number 3 is found by the Committee by clear and convincing evidence by a unanimous vote.

Count Number 4--Count Number 4 alleges essentially the same solicitation with regard to the quasimedical facility of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc. And the count is open for debate and discussion.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: Here I incorporate some of my own previous remarks except that, of course, here it was Anheuser-Busch and specifically was--the solicitation was solicited for the museum with regard to the 1898 race riot, for historical events. And of course, the victims, of course, of this conversion of funds are not just the public in general but the people who would learn something from that exhibit, because the money that was intended for that went into the personal checking account of Representative Wright.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

I will also note, as you indicated on your remarks about AstraZeneca, that this check in fact was received--or dated 3-5-04. And I don't know when the receipt of the check by Representative Wright was, but certainly he had it in his account, on his desk, I believe the representation was made. And the account that the check could have been deposited into was open at that time, because it was not closed until June the 28th. So I again think that this check was misused and should have gone into the account to which it was written.

THE CHAIR: Representative Wiley is recognized.

REP. WILEY: Thank you.

I agree that I think the best of intentions were there when this charity started out. But as I was listening to the evidence, I even asked a few questions of my own, trying to ascertain if perhaps some money--personal monies had been spent on utilities, perhaps insurance payments for a building. I saw no evidence presented to that effect. I wanted to believe that. But lacking any evidence, I find the notion of being paid for sweat equity rather abhorrent.

Many of us have served on charities. Some of us have tried to start them up. And I know it's a tremendous amount of hard work.

At the stage when these checks were deposited, I even hoped that perhaps it would have been considered if maybe the charity wasn't going to make a go of it, that they could have been given to another charity. And I was hoping to find evidence on that, perhaps even the Health Foundation--or the Health Center. They were not.

I'm left with nothing to conclude that these were put into a personal account. That's it.

THE CHAIR: Representative Warren is recognized.

REP. WARREN: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Certainly we want to commend Representative Wright for his efforts through the years in regards to minority health issues, where he has really made a difference. However, here we have a check that was written for that purpose, and the evidence shows that it went into Representative Wright's personal account versus being used for a health purpose that could have made a difference.

THE CHAIR: And here, I think, as well, the particular letter also included the 1898 museum that would have exhibited the historical events, which, again, the Representative had worked on very, very hard.

Don't see any difference in the evidence, sadly, between this count and the prior one.

Chair is willing to accept a motion.

Representative McGee is recognized.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

I move that the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that on or about February 6, 2004, while a member of the House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did engage in conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by improperly, fraudulently, and unethically converting money intended to be a charitable contribution to the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, to his own personal use. Thomas E. Wright wrote a letter on the letterhead stationary of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, to a representative of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Incorporated, requesting as the foundation's president a donation to the foundation, a charitable organization that Thomas E. Wright represented to be qualified to receive tax-deductible donations that would be used by the foundation for acquisition and development of a building in Wilmington, North Carolina, that would serve as a museum. Thereafter, on March 5th, 2004, when a representative of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Incorporated, signed and sent to Thomas E. Wright and the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, a check made out to Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000), Thomas E. Wright deposited that check into his own personal account rather than into the account of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated.

THE CHAIR: Is there a second? Sorry. Is there a second?

I'm sorry. Representative Stam seconds the motion by Representative McGee.

Further discussion and further debate on this count?

Seeing none, those in favor of the motion will vote aye. Those opposed to the motion will vote no. The Clerk will call the roll.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier.

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam.

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren.

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: Count Number 4 is found by clear and convincing evidence by unanimous vote.

Brings us to Count Number 5, the third in the group of counts.

This count relates to the apparent solicitation of AT&T Corporation and the testimony that was given by John Policastro, as well as the exhibits that were referred to both by Dr. Joyner and by Mr. Hart.

Discussion generally on Count Number 5?

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman.

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: The--the only real difference between this and Counts 3 and 4 is that Representative Wright did not sign this solicitation and doesn't--and there was no testimony that he remembered sending it. Of course, the gravamen of the complaint, however, is Exhibit 13, the check, which was converted to its use. And Exhibit 11 merely explains how that came to be.

And Exhibit 11 on its face, you know, shows a health foundation with a federal tax ID number. And unless somebody just--you know, he was the only person operating the corporation, and unless somebody got ahold of his letterhead, he sent it. I mean, that's a reasonable inference. This is at a time, of course, coming up on a short session in April of '04. He's a member of the Public Utilities Committee. And AT&T, you know, sends him fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) to his favorite charity. That's fine. But what's not fine is that he put it in his own pocket instead of turning it over to the charity.

THE CHAIR: I do want to highlight some testimony for y'all, because this argument was discussed by Dr. Joyner as to John Policastro's testimony. And the argument was that--and I think correctly that Policastro got a call. And if I recall, it was Bewley. You've heard, of course, of the relationship between Bewley and Wright that was entered through the SBI statement and Agent Umphlet taken. If you'll remember, Mr. Bewley, according to Representative Wright, was involved in a three-thousand-dollar ($3,000) contribution that--actually reimbursement that Representative Wright gave to Mr. Bewley for postage and an invitation to a reception he threw for him.

And the question that was raised was, well, there's nothing--I think the argument Dr. Joyner made was there was nothing in the invoice that says anything about it being a charitable contribution, and that in order for this count to be found, you'd have to show some reliance on AT&T be--sending that to Representative Wright as a charitable contribution. And I--I think that that's correct, because otherwise it could have been placed into his account, although we could get into what account it should have gone into. But you don't have essentially the request for a charitable contribution being converted.

Here's the testimony from Mr. Policastro. Question by Mr. Hart: "Mr. Policastro, from your knowledge involving this particular contribution, was it intended to be a charitable contribution to a 501(c)(3) corporation?"

Answer--I'm sorry. _Professor Joyner: Objection.

_The Chair: Basis?

_Professor Joyner: Unless he knows, but he said he knew.

_The Chair: Well, let me ask."

Again, the question: "Did you intend it to be a contribution to a 501(c)(3)? And I understand you to say `yes'; is that correct?

_The witness: Yes.

_Question, Mr. Hart: Regardless of whether it was specifically a 501(c)(3) corporation, did you intend it to be a charitable corp--contribution to the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated?

_Answer: Yes, sir."

I think Mr. Policastro's testimony is clear that the intent of AT&T was not a personal contribution, was not a political contribution, but was a charitable contribution.

The argument, then, is that Representative Wright didn't know it was being made. That is simply belied by Exhibit 11. Exhibit 11 is his own invoice or the invoice that the Community Health Foundation sent with Thomas Wright as president. The only people who even had access to this were Dr. Gottovi, one would assume--and he indicated he never sent anything--and Representative Wright. There simply isn't anybody else who would have sent this. There's no evidence that you can rely on that anyone else could have sent it.

And so it seems again inescapable that the solicitation was made; it was intended to be a charitable contribution; the corporation sent it for that regard; the check was received in time to be deposited--this one sent September--or was invoiced in 2003. This check--or the request was sent in September, and the check issued on April 1, 2004. This check sat again for several months. The account remained open until sometime in June. It was not deposited in the foundation account and ended up in Representative Wright's account, which he admits, again, as part of sweat equity.

You know, there's an argument that was made that there's no evidence, been no one testified. Well, in this case, the evidence is Representative Wright's own statements. That's my view of the evidence.

Other members?

Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you.

I do believe that it couldn't have been a contribution to his political account, because it's a--written directly on Northern Trust Company.

THE CHAIR: That's true, too.

Other members? And the Chair will receive a motion when--on that from any member at this point.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: I have a motion on it. I move that the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that on or about April 1, 2004, while a member of the House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did engage in conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by improperly, fraudulently, and unethically converting money intended to be a charitable contribution to the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., to his own personal use. Thomas E. Wright wrote an invoice on the letterhead stationary of the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., to a representa--representative of AT&T Corp. as a solicitation of a charitable contribution to the foundation, a charitable organization that Thomas E. Wright represented to be qualified to receive tax-deductible donations. Thereafter, on April 1, 2004, when a representative A--of AT&T Corp. signed and sent to Thomas E. Wright and the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., a check made out to Community's Health Foundation, I, in the--in quote, in the amount of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), Thomas E. Wright deposited that check into his own personal account rather than into the account of the Community's Health Foundation, Inc.

THE CHAIR: Is there a second to Representative Stam's motion?

Representative Warren seconds.

Discussion and debate?

Seeing none, all those in favor of the motion on Count Number 5 will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The Clerk will call the roll.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier.

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam.

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren.

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley.

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: Count Number 5 is found unanimously by clear and convincing evidence.

That moves us into the last set of counts. And I will take these in the following order: Counts 1, 2, and 8.

Count 1 is the count related to the request from Torlen Wade--request to Torlen Wade by Representative Wright for the letter that's Exhibit Number 3. And before we do any motions, obviously, I'm opening the count to discussion on the evidence.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: Just for clarity, Count 1 is distinguished from Count 2 in that Count 1 is soliciting the letter--

THE CHAIR: That's correct.

REP. STAM: --is that right?

THE CHAIR: Count 1 is soliciting the letter knowing that the letter--provisions in the letter were false.

REP. STAM: It--it seems to me that--that it's clear from Torlen Wade's testimony and from the agent's testimony of what Representative Wright told him that they both knew it was false, that they used state government equipment and resources to generate the letter, and that it was done for a fraudulent purpose.

THE CHAIR: Other Committee members' discussion?

REP. STAM: And--and--I'm sorry.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry, Representative Stam.

REP. STAM: I apologize. And--and I--at--at a time when Representative Wright was--chaired the health committee, which would have jurisdiction over some of the matters, and was a member of the appropriations subcommittee that appropri--was the key committee for appropriating money for the division that Torlen Wade headed.

THE CHAIR: Torlen Wade was, it seems to me, a very credible and pained witness. And I don't remember if that was the term used by Mr. Hart in the discussion. There's--again looking at the simple document, there's no question--and Representative Wright did admit this, and, I think, commendably in his statement, that he solicited the letter. There's--that's not in question. And that he was--felt bad about what happened to Torlen Wade as a result.

This letter commits a hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in funding towards the completion of the conversion project. Simply, purely, utterly a false statement. That the funding will be awarded by June 30, 2002, utter false statement. That is exactly what was requested in Exhibit 2 in the e-mail that was sent.

Torlen Wade complied with the request, I think, out of the combination. I think it was in part because Representative Wright's position but, I think, clearly, as well, a friendship relationship in both cases.

The problem for me is twofold. One, placing--placing any state employee in that position is just untenable. To allow a legislator to do that would--it--it's--it utterly chills good government and effective government and fair government. That is just untenable to put that state employee in that position, to ask that employee to commit in a letter to funding that didn't exist and he couldn't provide and then to say, whether it was said or not, "Well, I'm not going to use the letter." Well, if you're not intending to ever use the letter, what in the world would be the purpose of the letter? I mean, why, if--that just is--escapes me. If the letter wasn't to be seen by somebody, then why would you ask a friend to write a false letter that, if it was ever seen, could get the friend fired, if you don't intend to use the letter? That makes no sense to me whatsoever.

I think that this letter was intended as the argument was made by Committee counsel. I think it was requested in the sense that one of the reasons there was no guarantor on Exhibit 4, one of the ways that Burbank was able to satisfy both his community commitment and his commitment to the project was that he was told by Representative Wright there would be state funding. This was one of the ways to get state funding.

No, I don't think the letter was a requirement in the direct sense. But Burbank clearly testified that he likely would not have given the loan if it didn't--wasn't there.

Now, why it's not in the file is a question. But it is an irrelevant question for purposes of this count. It's irrelevant because Burbank's uncontradicted testimony is he relied on it. Burbank's uncontradicted testimony is he likely would never have given the loan without the letter.

So regardless of why you think or don't think, there was no assault on Burbank's credibility at all as to that issue. And he certainly has nothing to gain one way or the other.

In the end, though, the gravamen, as Representative Stam has said, of this count isn't there. The gravamen is going to Torlen Wade in asking him to write a false letter. And that's exactly what happened.

I--I--I--this count, in--as much as I think the breach was massive in quantity in Count Number 7, this offense in quality is utter fraud. And--and someone lost their job and their career and their reputation because it was asked for. And legislators cannot be allowed to do this. That's my opinion.

Other discussion?

If not, is--is there a motion?

Representative Wiley is recognized for a motion.

REP. WILEY: I move that the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that on or about March 13th, 2002, and on or about March 15th, 2002, while a member of the North Carolina House of Representative, Thomas E. Wright did engage in conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by orally and in writing improperly and unethically soliciting Torlen L. Wade, acting director of the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services Office of Research, Demonstrations, and Rural Health Development, to write and mail to him a fraudulent letter stating that such office was endorsing the Community's Health Foundation's project to convert a building located on the 900 block of 4th Street in Wilmington, North Carolina, into Community's Health Foundation offices, New Hanover Community Health Center offices, and a history museum, and committing of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) in funding toward the completion of that project. At the time of the solicitation, Thomas E. Wright was an officer of the Community's Health Foundation, Incorporated, located at 322 South 17th Street, Wilmington, North Carolina. Thomas E. Wright confirmed his earlier oral solicitation by having his legislative assistant type the necessary details needed in the commitment letter in an e-mail that was sent to Torlen L. Wade by use of his state e-mail account and on a state computer, both of which were authorized for him based on his position as a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives. At the time of the oral solicitation, the typing and sending of the e-mail, and the typing and the sending of the Torlen L. Wade letter, both Thomas E. Wright and Torlen L. Wade knew that the Office of Rural Health would not make such a grant and that Thomas E. Wright would use the letter in seeking to fraudulently obtain funding for the Community's Health Foundation from other sources, such as financial institutions and other organizations that make grants and that would believe and rely on the false representations in Torlen L. Wade's letter.

THE CHAIR: Is there a second to Representative Wiley's motion?

REP. MCGEE: I second the motion.

THE CHAIR: Second by Representative McGee.

Discussion and debate?

Seeing none, those in favor of the motion will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Clerk will call the role.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier?

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam?

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee?

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: Count 1 is found by clear and convincing evidence by a unanimous vote of the Committee.

That moves us to the second-from-last count, Count Number 2.

Count Number 2 is part of the Wade issue, but it does not relate directly to the solicitation. It now relates to the use of the letter as to whether the letter then was used as part of the award of loan by Coastal Federal Bank.

Discussion open on the evidence with regard to Count 2.

Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: Yes. This is where he presented the letter to the bank for the purpose of getting a loan. And it's--what's charged is April 5th, 2002, which is the date of the closing. Dr. Joyner presented that loan application date, April 5, 2002, in his final conclusion, and it was referred to. There was some discussion about whether Exhibit 4--that since that was already approved, how could Mr. Burbank be relying on the letter when the letter wasn't sent till March 15th. But of course, Exhibit 4, dated March 5th, 2002, is an internal document to the bank. And what it says is grant money--"Source of repayment: grant money from state and federal government is a source of--primary source of payment." And then under "debt service coverage, _ _funded by state and federal grant money."

So what is the clear inference is that Representative Wright told him he was going to get some grant money. Ten days later, he got a letter, 'cause he knew he needed to have it. And then before the closing three weeks later, he showed the letter to Ronnie--Mr. Burbank. Mr. Burbank said he saw it and he relied on it. And so then the bank released the money. And that's called obtaining money--obtaining property by false pretenses, which was the title to the property and the loan by the false pretense and the fraudulent false pretense of having a source of payment that you don't have.

THE CHAIR: Representative Lucas is recognized.

REP. LUCAS: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

I certainly concur that there was some effort made to obtain this loan. But I'm a little bit perturb--concerned about the absence of the letter. And this is not an indictment of the Coastal Federal Bank or Mr. Burbank or anybody else in that office. But it seems to me a little bit strange that that letter did disappear, or at least it's not--wasn't present in the evidence.

And with that being said, I have a little bit of a problem in determining that the evidence is clear, cogent, and convincing, only because of the letter not being there.

THE CHAIR: Representative McGee, I just have--just kind of in discussion. I know that you were formerly in the industry. Can you create any highlights or give us some thoughts on why the letter would or wouldn't be in the file?

REP. MCGEE: I cannot recall any reason that a letter supporting a loan would not be included in the file. No, I don't have any reason.

THE CHAIR: Here's the testimonies that we have of Rep--of Representative--now I'm promoting people--of Mr. Burbank. And this is from his testimony earlier.

"Question: The actual loan on the purchase of the property took was another month later; is that correct?

"Answer: I think that's correct, yes."

And then it goes on, and he's talking about that. Let me get to the specific.

"Question: Early April?

Answer: I think that's correct.

Question: Okay. Was there further discussion between you and Representative Wright about the grants and any kind of documentation of the grants?

Answer: At some point prior to closing, I received a copy of the letter from Mr. Wade.

Question: All right. And when you speak of the letter, I want to ask you to look at Exhibit Number 3, and that's before you. Have you had a chance to look at that, sir?

Yes, I have.

Question: And do you recognize that?

Answer: I do.

Question: What do you recognize that as being?

Answer: That appears to be the letter that I received to confirm grant money was the primary source of repayment for our loan request.

Question: All right. And did you receive that letter or see that letter from--received it from Representative Wright; is that re--correct?

Answer: I recall receiving the letter. I can't specifically say that Representative Wright handed it to me or delivered it to me, but I recall getting a copy, as I stated in my interview.

Question: All right. And did you take the letter at face value?

Answer: I did.

Question: Did you call in any way to check with the Department of Health and Human Services or Torlen Wade or anybody else?

Answer: I did not.

Question: And why is that?

Answer: I didn't feel the need to do so.

Question: Did you trust Representative Wright to be giving that to you in good faith?

Answer: I did.

Professor Joyner: Objection.

The Chair: Overruled.

Question: Mr. Burbank, would you have authorized this loan without a guarantor if it had not been for that letter, Exhibit Number 3?

Answer: Possibly not. I don't think so. I really can't answer that, because I had the letter. I-- Question: All right. Let me ask you this. As a banker and as someone concerned with repayments and collateral, as you said, guaranteeing the loan, was this letter at least a factor in your approval process?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Did you rely upon this letter to grant the loan?

Answer: Yes."

That's the end of that discussion.

That's the testimony that Mr. Burbank gave earlier.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Coup--couple things. I--I certainly don't want to defend the way this loan was handled, because it seems to me that there's a whole lot less documentation here than what would be required of almost all of us to get a loan. But it really has nothing to do with whether this account is true or not, because the testimony is yes, that's what the bank relied on.

It may have also relied on, if you recall the testimony of the SBI officer--I'm sorry--Agent--

THE CHAIR: Umphlet.

REP. STAM: --Umphlet, that he showed the closing statement to Representative Wright and asked him about the earnest money that was showed of twenty-five thousand (25,000) and that Representative--if I--as I recall the testimony, Representative Wright said no, they didn't actually have that money. So he may have seen some equity down that never existed.

But this county only relies on the promise of a hundred and fifty thousand (150,000), which would have been enough to take out the bank on its debt.

THE CHAIR: Comments by other members of the Committee?

Representative McGee.

REP. MCGEE: Thank you.

After--I thought I had remembered that he in fact did say that he depended on the letter. And I'm glad he reviewed the information, because he did in fact rely on the letter. He said he did.

THE CHAIR: My con--my concern--and I--this is the least clear count. The others, to me, are, putting it mildly, easily clear and convincing. This is a closer call for me, for the reasons Representative Lucas said.

Where I--where--what--what is partially dispositive for me and the difficulty I'm having, number one, is it's uncontradicted in that he made that statement. There was no cross that made it unclear that he didn't rely in part on the letter. And in fact, he was questioned pretty extensively, if I recall, on cross about whether he received it. And he remembered he received it. That's when we got in--if you'll remember, into this is it your recollection or was it your statement.

But why would you get the letter? I mean, there was only one reason that letter was solicited from Torlen Wade. That's the difficulty I have in saying it didn't happen or that there's not significant evidence to--to say it did, because he says it did. Burbank says he received it. Burbank says he relied on it. And the only possible reason you'd get the letter, particularly given the timing, is to show it to somebody to secure the loan. There's no other justifiable reason for soliciting the letter. So, you know, I'm trying hard not to throw my common sense out the door here. And that's, at least for me right now, my dilemma.

Other members of the Committee?

Representative McGee is recognized.

REP. MCGEE: You asked, because I have had some expertise in this area many, many years ago, what might have happened to the letter. And I don't want to speculate on what might happen--have happened to the letter. It wasn't in the file. It may have been in the desk of the person who approved the--the loan. But that doesn't--that's only speculation on my part. He said he had the letter.

THE CHAIR: Representative Stam is recognized.

REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that on or about April 5, 2002, while a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did engage in conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by orally and in writing improperly, fraudulently and unethically presenting to a representative of Coastal Federal Bank as a factor to consider in whether to loan one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) to the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., a corporation of which Wright was an officer, a letter from Torlen L. Wade, acting director of the Office of Research, Demonstrations, and Rural Health Development of the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services, falsely stating that the office endorsed the foundation's museum-conversion effort and was committed to funding the project in the amount of one hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) and that the award of the funding would occur by June 30th, 2002. At the time, Thomas E. Wright presented the letter to the representative of Coastal Federal Bank, he knew that the assertions in the letter were false, that the commitment of funds was not authorized, and that the award of funding would not be forthcoming. The one hundred ($150,000) loan to the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., obtained from Coastal Federal Bank was made in part relying on the contents of the fraudulent letter presented by Thomas E. Wright.

THE CHAIR: All right. That's the motion by Representative Stam. Is there a second to the motion to place it in discussion?

All right. There is no second as to the motion with regard to Count Number 2. The Committee will not take a vote with respect to Count Number 2.

Is there any further motion with regard to Count Number 2?

There being no further motion with respect--I'm sorry.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas.
THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Representative Lucas.
REP. LUCAS: Mr. Chairman?
THE CHAIR: Yes, sir.
REP. LUCAS: In light of not receiving a second on Count Number 2, I'd like to offer a motion that the Committee dispense of Count Number 2.
THE CHAIR: Help me understand what the _dispense_ means.
REP. LUCAS: That we--one moment.
THE CHAIR: Certainly.
Are you suggesting we withdraw consideration of Count Number 2? Is that not--
REP. LUCAS: I'm thinking.
Sir, I'd like to offer motion that we withdraw consideration of Count Number 2, because of the lack of a second.
THE CHAIR: What I'll--what I'll do, without taking a vote, is I'll simply withdraw Count Number 2 from Committee consideration at this time.
That leads us to the last count, which is

Count Number 8. Count Number 8 is that there was a pattern of evidence unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House by improperly, fraudulently, deceptively, and unethically soliciting a financial institution for the loan and corporations for donations to the charitable corporation the Community's Health Foundation by converting to his own personal use money contributed to that charitable organization. And then as a pattern of the conduct, Representative Wright solicited a false document.
I'm going to--I do want to proceed on this count, but I want to amend the count. And if you'll give me a minute, I'm going to make an oral motion to amend the count.
All right. The Chair is going to make a motion with respect to Count Number 8 since Count Number 8 is encompassing of previous conduct in a pattern-and-practice way.
As to Count Number 8, I move that the Committee find by clear and convincing evidence that between or on or about October 2001 and on or about August 2004, while a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, Thomas E. Wright did engage in a pattern of conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by improperly, fraudulently, deceptively, and unethically soliciting a false document from a state agency and soliciting corporations for donations to a charitable corporation, the Community's Health Foundation, Inc., and by converting to his own personal use money contributed to that charitable organization.

That is--I'm sorry?
PROF. JOYNER: Would you read that again slowly.
THE CHAIR: Read it again slowly?
PROF. JOYNER: The middle part.
THE CHAIR: All right. The middle part reads that "Thomas E. Wright did engage in a pattern of conduct unbecoming and unfitting a member of the House of Representatives by improperly, fraudulently, deceptively, and unethically soliciting a false document from a state agency and soliciting corporations for donations to a charitable"--I'm sorry--"and soliciting," yes, "corporations for donations to a charitable corporation, the Community's Health Foundations, Inc., and by converting to his own personal use money contributed to that charitable organization."

Right. Right. All right. Is there a second to that motion as to Count Number 8?
REP. STAM: Second.
THE CHAIR: Second by Representative Stam.
I'm making that motion because it's consistent entirely with the individual counts that were previously found by clear and convincing evidence in this case, however, alleging that it was more than coincidental, that this is in fact part of a pattern of conduct, the pattern of conduct, the three solicitations, as well as the solicitation from Torlen Wade.
REP. STAM: Mr. Chairman, just for clarity, is this intending to incorporate Counts 1, 3, 4, and 5?
THE CHAIR: Essentially, yes.
REP. STAM: As a pattern?
THE CHAIR: As a pattern.
All right. There's a motion and a second. Discussion and debate.

Seeing none, all those in favor of the motion will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The clerk will call the role.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier?

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam?

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee?

REP. MCGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: Count Number 8 is amended through the motion, is adopted again by clear and convincing evidence, unanimously.

This Committee has now found six counts by clear and convincing evidence. Count number--the other two counts have been withdrawn from consideration at this time. Committee retains jurisdiction over those counts.

At this point, it is our--thank you.

This point, it becomes our responsibility under the charge for this Committee, having found six counts by clear and convincing evidence, to make a recommendation as well to the House of Representatives as to an appropriate sanction. The way that the Committee has bifurcated the proceedings, there'll be no further evidence before the Committee as to sanction, but the counsel will be allowed to make final argument to the Committee.

As to the appropriate sanction that should issue for the six counts found, this is, obviously, for many of us, the saddest evening that we'll spend in the General Assembly and one of the most important. In that respect, it has been a--a long day. We're going to make this decision this evening. But counsel needs some time to get their thoughts together based on our findings. Think we need some time to sit for a minute. And everybody needs time to grab some dinner so they can make their notes.

I'm going to recess Committee to reconvene at six-thirty this evening for the decision with respect to sanction. But a couple of things before we go to reconvene at six-thirty in this room.

First, is there any reason that Ms. Strach and Agent Umphlet cannot--can now--cannot now be released from their subpoena? Anybody need either one here?

All right. Both can be released with the thanks of the Committee, as to all witnesses, from their subpoena.

Second, because we are in the process of making this final decision, I'm going to ask the Committee members to stay together for purposes of our time during this break. We will hopefully be all going to dinner. And I will ask us again to ad--to be admonished as to the charge I gave earlier, which I'm going to actually reread.

Before we take this break, I want to remind the members of the Committee, the attorneys for the Committee and Representative Wright, Representative Wright, and members of the public, because we are now in the final deliberative fact-finding stage, I think it would be appropriate--in fact, I am directing that the members of the Committee refrain from discussing this matter with the press, the Committee's outside legal counsel, Representative Wright's attorneys, Representative Wright until after final deliberations are completed. I'll ask Mr. Hart, Mr. Peters, Dr. Joyner, Mr. Harris, Representative Wright from discussing evidence in the case with the Committee members, other than the Chair, during this period of time.

I'll also ask the members of the public to not approach Committee members or witnesses--well, there are no more witnesses--Committee members in this matter until after our deliberations are final and completed this evening.

In that regard, I have asked the sergeant-at-arms not only to assist but to escort Committee members in assuring compliance with this request for the remainder of the evening.

Any further matters, Mr. Reagan, before we take a dinner recess?

And just so that we're clear, there will be no discussion of this case at all during dinner. We will talk about anything but this case.

Anything further from anybody prior to recess?

All right. We're in recess until six thirty. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: All right. I now call this evening's session to order. I understand that--for the record, that sergeant-at-arms staff have checked; Representative Wright and his attorneys are not in the building. I understand that while we were on our dinner break there was an indication that they would not be participating this evening. At this point, we are well past getting started, so we will move into the sanction proceeding this evening. Thank you.

Based on the findings that this Committee has made in Counts 1, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8, we will proceed with deliberations on what sanction, if any, the Committee will recommend to the House of Representatives. I have asked Committee outside counsel to present their recommendations on sanction, including arguments and precedents, but not testimony, in support of any recommendation. After they've completed the presentation, Committee members certainly will be available to ask them questions.

At this point in the proceed--at that point in the proceeding, if Representative Wright and counsel are available, we will ask Representative Wright's counsel to present his recommendation on sanctions, including arguments and precedents, but not testimony, in support of his recommendation. After Dr. Joyner or Mr. Harris have completed their presentations, I would allow Committee members to ask them questions, as well.

At this point, Mr. Hart, Mr. Peters, and your presentation, if you don't mind--thank you.

MR. HART: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, members of the Committee.

What I'd like to do first is take a look at some of the North Carolina precedents on what the General Assembly has--has done in the past in terms of similar conduct to what you have found Representative Wright has committed, and also to look at what other public officials have been--have--what kind of sanctions have been levied against other public officials who have engaged in conduct such as what Representative Wright has engaged in.

In an earlier session, one of our earlier hearings in this matter, staff counsel presented this Committee with a number of prior legislators who had been expelled from the House or the Senate--I believe mostly from the House--for various types of conduct. And I'd just like to go through those and--and tell you what--when they were expelled and for what offense we have indicated.

And first was James Carter, expelled from the House in 1757 for mishandling public funds. Second was Francis Brown, expelled from the House in 1758 for perjury and conduct unworthy. Next was Hermon Husband, expelled from the House in 1770 for gross prevarication, falsehood, and promoting riot and seditions; William Gilbert, expelled from the house in 1779 for intentionally defrauding the public; Edward Clay, expelled from the House in 1784 for petty larceny--and that was a situation that we understand there was no criminal charge pending at the time--Henry Montfort, expelled from the House in 1786 for fraud in disbursement of public money; John Bonds, expelled from the House in 1787 for fraud; John Roberts, expelled from the Senate in 1816 for forgery and fraud committing during--committed during the War of 1812, four years earlier; Robert Potter, expelled from the House in 1835 for engaging in a fight after a card game and drawing a pistol and a knife; J. William Thorne, expelled from the house in 1875 for advocating and promulgating "a most sacrilegious doctrine subversive of the principles of the Constitution of the State of North Carolina and of sound morality"; Josiah Turner, censured, then expelled when he left the House chamber, for gross improprieties, disorderly conduct, defiant conduct and disrespectful manner. That was in 1880.

Those are the prior incidents in which the General Assembly has expelled one of its members, one--one house of the General Assembly has expelled one of its members, and I would submit to you that the conduct of Representative Wright matches and exceeds that conduct in those cases.

Now, we don't know exactly what was involved in each one of those cases, but in some of those cases, there at least appears to be an indication that there was a single incident of fraud or dishonesty or theft. And what you have just found is six counts involving fraud, dishonesty, conversion, deceit, concealment, the very kind of conduct which has justified expulsion in the past.

Again, in an earlier proceeding, Representative Wright's attorneys discussed the case of In Re: Spivey, who was a district attorney in New Hanover County in the 1990s who went into a public restaurant and used a racial epithet in arguing with one of the other people in the restaurant, and he was removed from his position as the elected D.A. of New Hanover County. And that removal by a superior court judge was upheld by the North Carolina Supreme Court, and saying that even though that conduct occurred not in the district attorney's office or in court, that the conduct of an elected official outside of where they ordinarily conduct business is still conduct of a public official, and in that case found that that conduct that occurred in a public restaurant not having to do with any particular case that the D.A. was prosecuting was conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice.

In similar manner, the Judicial Standards Commission treats judges very--very similarly. There are two different things that the Judicial Standards Commission looks for. They look for willful misconduct by a judge, and they look for conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice. The North Carolina Supreme Court has h[illegible] in several cases that when a judge's willful misconduct involves personal financial gain, moral turpitude, or corruption, then removal is a proper consequence for that action, for that willful misconduct.

And willful misconduct has not been limited to time in court or to actions that involve official duties of judges. The courts have upheld removals for willful misconduct, such as possession of cocaine, marijuana and drug paraphernalia, in the case of In Re: Sherrill, a 1991 case, failing to file federal tax returns in In Re: Inquiry Concerning a Judge, a 2007 case.

So we do treat public officials outside of the legislature in a way where we require them to be responsible and hold themselves appropriately as public officials and require that their conduct be appropriate, because otherwise it affect--it reflects adversely upon the position that--that they hold.

And I would submit to you in similar manner the conduct of Representative Wright that you have found by clear and convincing evidence has not only been in violation of the law--and much of his conduct, I would submit to you, has--has involved felony violations. Certainly signing the--signing the campaign disclosure reports and willfully and intentionally falsifying those reports is a felony in North Carolina. The conversion of the checks to his own personal use, each of those is a felony. Each of those was over a thousand dollars, so is a--is a felony in North Carolina. So you have several felonies which you have found that Representative Wright has committed over a period of time, showing a pattern of--of criminal conduct involving felony offenses. And I would submit to you that that puts a blight upon this chamber and adversely affects the public's view of the Legislature.

I would also point out that for only one of the offenses that you have found Representative Wright has committed, Torlen Wade lost his job and his career, certainly was embarrassed, came in here yet and told you what happened. And if anything, perhaps in some ways he's, to at least a certai[illegible] extent, a victim of the power that Representativ[illegible]

Wright exploited. Certainly, he did something that was wrong, and he suffered the appropriate consequences.

And that's something that you need to think about as you determine what are the appropriate consequences, not only for that action, soliciting the false statement, but for the entire pattern of conduct. And I would submit to you that that's important. It's not looking at each one of these things individually, but it's that pattern of conduct that Representative Wright began to engage in at some point in his career.

And we all sat and we listened to Dan Gottovi and Torlen Wade talk about Representative Wright in glowing terms of the person he was at one time and what he did for his community and what he did for the people of this state. But at some point, Representative Wright went astray. Why? We don't know. Did he become--did--did he lose sight of the duty that he had to rein in the power that he had as a legislator? Did he start believing that he could commingle funds and do whatever he wanted to with whatever funds he had? We don't know. We don't know what the--the circumstances were that caused him to go astray, but clearly he went astray at some point back in the early part of this century, went astray from that person that he was, that official that he was, and he began to engage in a pattern of conduct of fraud, violation of trust, deceit, concealment, abuse of power and influence, and entitlement.

I heard at least one comment during the deliberations about the concern of the "sweat equity" that Representative Wright felt he was entitled to. And--and certainly we all ought to be concerned about that. No one is entitled to money that--that is not theirs. No one is entitled to use power in a way that is not appropriate.

I would submit, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Committee, that the only appropriate consequence for the pattern of conduct that you have found that Representative Wright has engaged in is expulsion from the House, and I would urge you to recommend that to the full House.

THE CHAIR: Any questions that any Committee member has of Mr. Hart? All right. Thank you, Mr. Hart.

I want to draw Committee members' attention just so they also--I know you've seen the document before. In your notebook, under the March 3rd--black notebook under March 3rd--I'm sorry? Well, it's in the blue notebook under March 3rd. You'll find the tabs of other states and the penalties that--issued to legislators throughout the country. It's the same information consolidated that you've looked at through the motions process, but it's there for your review, as well.

I also want to provide information that we obtained and you've, again, had in your notebook previously from a synopsis of other state disciplinary actions, from Connecticut, citing a New Mexico rule, which I think is probably pretty appropriate, which elaborates on the punishment possibilities.

Under New Mexico House rules, a reprimand--this is quote--"A reprimand is normally appropriate for a single, relatively minor act of unethical conduct or disorderly behavior. Censure is normally the appropriate sanction for a more serious act or repeated acts of unethical conduct in the presence of the House, although aggravated or repeated violations may merit expulsion." Then it goes, "The power of expulsion is reserved for very serious breaches of legal or ethical responsibilities that impugn the integrity of the House, reflect adversely on the House, or undermine public trust in the institution of the House."

And I pass that information along to you from the Connecticut study and the New Mexico House rule.

With that, the Chair has generally, throughout the proceedings, taken the position that it should question last and has done that. But on this evening, it's going to take the lead in making comments.

I said before we broke that this is the saddest thing--and I said it in the person, but I think it relates to all of us--that we will ever have to do in public life. And this has been a extraordinarily difficult process, I know, for the six members of this Committee, as well as for Counsel and Committee staff.

The argument was made that Representative Wright's violations in many cases were a paradigm of incompetence, in terms of the campaign violations. They were not a paradigm of incompetence; they were a paradigm of arrogance unchecked and unfounded, and with each set of misconduct seemingly allowing and emboldening another step forward.

I think Counsel's argument was on point. This man, who once was a very good legislator, from everything I know before I came, and who used his position to further the public good, somewhere some time ago lost his way, to the point that he used and abused a friend, and that friend, as a result of the fraud committed, lost his job. I am at a loss to see how the innocent party loses his job and the far more culpable one in any way gets to keep his.

The allegations that were contained particularly in Count 7 were, as I described them earlier, in my view, breathtakingly massive, literally spanning years. To allow someone to continue in public service in the House of Representatives after violating literally hundreds of times over seven years the law of this state would make--would, I think, hinder in ways I can't even imagine the House's ability to govern.

We depend on public confidence and, in many ways, on the moral authority to govern. If one of our members can simply disobey the law hundreds of times over years, and then even with being shown the violations, essentially thumb his nose continually at the law, not even bothering to comply with it in any respect this year, how do we possibly argue as an institution to our fellow citizens that they must obey the law and that there are consequences when they do not?

Representative Wright holds public office because of his lies. If he had candidly admitted all the violations that he had, he would never have been certified by the Board of Elections to be a representative in 2002, 2004, and certainly in 2006.

There has been in this proceeding, in my view, absolutely no acceptance of responsibility or contrition. The severity of the offenses here and the number of offenses are more than consistent with every state's expulsion power, and this state's. The harm involved, although not irreparable to this institution, has been significant, and in my view, almost on a scale unprecedented with regard to campaign violations.

I understand what my comments and what motion will be in a minute and the solemnity of what we are doing here. And there are good reasons why no member has been expelled in the North Carolina House of Representatives since 1880. But Representative Wright's conduct over the last number of years makes this decision, for me, not even a close one.

For someone to continue to hold public office, elected office, after lying for years to his voters, to his colleagues, would be, to quote a word used today, a sham of immense proportions. He has, in my opinion, disregarded his oath of office, disgraced the House of Representatives, and dishonored himself by his conduct.

In that regard, and for me, I move that the Committee recommend based on its findings that the allegations in Counts 1, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8 as amended were true, that Representative Wright be expelled from the North Carolina House of Representatives.

Is there a second to that motion? Second by Representative Stam. Discussion and debate?

Representative Stam?

REP. STAM: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. And I, too, will vote to expel.

The precedents that were listed, I think, are of limited usefulness. We just don't know enough about the circumstances, and we don't know about maybe the bad people who were not expelled to really compare. But it's--it's good as a check on what we're doing.

I see there are four issues here, most of which have been covered by the Chair. I'll just very--be very brief.

First are the rights of the voters in Representative Wright's district. An election should never be overturned by an expulsion, but because Representative Wright concealed his frauds from the public, there's no way that the voting public of New Hanover and Pender County can be said to have actually judged him as a candidate. Would anyone have--would they have voted for him if they knew he was pocketing charitable contributions? Would they have voted for him if they knew he was receiving contributions from XYZ group when he refused to tell them that?

Secondly are the rights of the House. We have to operate here on some level of trust. We just don't have time in the course of a legislative day to negotiate a twenty-page contract to get something--get something done. We have to be able somehow to believe each other at some level when we agree on things, or the House would just come to a standstill. And what we know here is that Representative Wright is willing to lie under oath multiple times.

In a debate, we need to know that the other side, you know, hasn't been bought, that they're making real arguments. And we have no way of knowing that, since he adamantly and to this day refuses to accurately report his finances.

Third are the rights of third parties, which have been mentioned, such as Torlen Wade. I--I think of the corporations whose money was taken that was intended for charitable deductions. I think about the contributors to his campaign who may have thought he was desperate for money to win, not knowing that he had an extra hundred and eighty thousand in his account from time to time.

But probably the fourth thing that just ices the cake is I have seen absolutely no remorse from day one. This is not a person who has said, "I was wrong. Let me fix it."

If--if we do not expel him from the House, then we are saying we want him to continue the behavior that we have found that he's engaged in.

THE CHAIR: Representative Lucas is recognized.

REP. LUCAS: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

It's with mixed emotions that I consider the really criminal action that we are attempting to address at this forum. We have to weigh every side of this coin.

We must recognize that regardless of the circumstances, Representative Wright was duly elected by the citizens of House District 18 and that his term is still current. I wish that we had some barometer by which we could measure the sentiments of the citizens of House District 18 to see if they still consider Representative Wright their representative. But, of course, we've moved along--much further along on that, and that no longer can be considered. There would have been an opportunity in May to determine how the folk in that district feel.

You know, I don't have a vote in District 18. If I did, I think I probably would--I know how I would vote. But those citizens have to be recognized as the ones who have determined who they want to lead them. Their minds may have changed, but, again, like I said, we have no barometer at this point, recall or some other circumstance, to make that determination. So it becomes quite difficult.

I suppose it's tempered, though, by considering the egregious and abhorrent acts that we've come to know, or that we've agreed upon, that are true. And so I will, with heavy heart, have to vote for expulsion.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. Other comments by any member of the Committee? Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

It is a sad--sad time for us. But our employees who work for the State and work for the people of North Carolina must not be asked to do unlawful and untrue things by House members. Torlen Wade, if he was doing his job well--and it seems he was, and I believe he thought he was. The one time he sat up straighter and was more forceful seemed to me to be when he grasped that he had done a good job.

But his services have been lost to the citizens of North Carolina. And he changed back to a more somber reflection upon his aban--upon his realization that his abandonment of protocol and good judgment had cost his job, had cost his--cost him to lose his job, or to be forced to give up his job. And for that reason being one of the main reasons, I am going to vote to--for expulsion. Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Representative Warren is recognized.

REP. WARREN: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

This is a most solemn time, the most solemn that I have experienced in this body. It is with a very heavy heart that we all sit here tonight.

Thinking back over the testimony that we have heard over recent days and what we have read in these exhibits, there appears to be a pattern that we cannot overlook. Representative Wright, in the past, has done many, many good things for the good of his district, the good of his state, looking at health issues and the differences that he has made there.

But tonight we are at this very difficult point that we must look at the decision that we must make. And I will support expulsion with a very heavy heart.

THE CHAIR: Representative Wiley is recognized.

REP. WILEY: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

This is perhaps one of the most difficult and saddest things that I have ever had to do in elected office, and I'm sure that's for all of us.

I'm very sure, from listening to what Represen--Representative Wright has done in his career, that he started out as a very good legislator. This is an example of the most dangerous path one in elected office can start down, and that is the errant belief that we can use any means to accomplish something that we think is good. It's dangerous because it quickly diminishes the internalized knowledge of adherence to the law.

Once one is outside the law, it is much too easy to rationalize one's errant behavior. A sense of entitlement is the result, and a disregard for the very law we create and must abide by. No one is above the law, no matter what good they may be--they may be trying to accomplish.

What we have seen and heard and believe here today should serve as a cautionary tale to anyone in elected office. There is no excuse for deliberate flaunting of the laws that we ourselves make. And so it is with a very, very heavy heart that I will also support expulsion from the House.

THE CHAIR: Any further comments by any member of the Committee? All right.

The motion has been made and seconded that the recommendation from this Committee to the Speaker and the North Carolina House of Representatives be that Representative Wright be expelled from the North Carolina House for unethical misconduct.

The motion has been seconded. All those in favor will vote "aye." Those opposed will vote "no." The clerk will call the role.

THE CLERK: Chairman Glazier?

THE CHAIR: Aye.

THE CLERK: Vice-chairman Stam?

REP. STAM: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Lucas?

REP. LUCAS: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative McGee?

REP. McGEE: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Warren?

REP. WARREN: Aye.

THE CLERK: Representative Wiley?

REP. WILEY: Aye.

THE CHAIR: That recommendation is unanimous.

We have some logistics things that we need to take care of for a moment, if you'll bear with me.

First, I'm going to ask--move that the Chair of the Committee be directed by the Committee to have prepared and submitted to the Speaker of the House on behalf of the Committee the report of the Committee setting forth the findings of the Committee with regard to Counts 1, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8 as amended, together with the Committee's recommendation on sanctions, and that the appropriate transcripts of all relevant meetings and hearings, motions, pleadings and rulings, be attached to the report in the discretion of the Chair.

Do I have a second as to that motion? Representative Warren has--has seconded. Any discussion or debate? Mr. Reagan, do I need to take a roll call on that?

MR. REAGAN: No, sir. I don't think you do.

THE CHAIR: All right. All those in favor, please say--signify by raising your hand. All those opposed? That motion carries unanimously.

This has been most difficult, but I want to do a couple commendations to some folks before we close out.

I want to thank the Attorney General of the State of North Carolina and the Deputy Attorney Generals Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters for a great sacrifice of time and a tremendous public service and their advocacy on behalf of the Committee and their representation of the citizens of the state.

Although they're not here, I want to thank and commend Dr. Joyner and Mr. Harris,

Dr. Joyner particularly during these proceedings, for eloquent and passionate and zealous representation of their client.

I want to thank the court reporter and her staff, who have changed schedules constantly to meet us and who have turned transcript over overnight.

I want to thank Committee clerk, who has just done a tremendous job in--in keeping this Committee going, and its chairman.

I want to thank the Committee staff, who also have sacrificed immensely for many weekends and much time and many birthdays to be here and to do this service. Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters have commented, and I agree, and I think all of us know, there is no finer committee staff in the United States than the committee staff for this Committee and in this House of Representatives, and--and our work is immensely better because of it, as it is because of the counsel who appeared here.

I want to thank the sergeant-at-arms, who have had to put in extraordinary overtime and have had stressful times in making sure that this building is always open and secure to us and taking care of--of us and making a very difficult task much easier.

With that, are there any further motions or anything we needed to do, Mr. Hart and Mr. Peters?

MR. HART: No, sir.

THE CHAIR: Mr. Reagan?

This case is submitted to the Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives on unanimous recommendation of this Committee. We are adjourned.

Torlen,

Per our conversation, the letter of endorsement should be addressed to Chairman Thomas E. Wright, Community's Health Foundation, Inc. 322 South 17th Street Wilmington, NC 28401.

The language should include $150,000 in funding to be received no later than July or August.

The building will be located on the 900 block of 4th Street and will be used as office space for the Community's Health Foundation, Inc. Upon completion of the expansion project of the New Hanover Community Health Center, an effort would be made to convert the building into a History Museum.

Please fax the letter of endorsement to (910) 343-3339 and mail the hard copy to Community's Health Foundation
322 South 17th Street
Wilmington, NC 28401.

If you have any further questions or comments, please call the office at (919) 733-5754 or (910) 232-1007.

Thanks

Thomas Wright

Dear Mr. Shank,

The Community's Health Foundation, Inc. is requesting your support in assisting the New Hanover Community Health Center, located in Wilmington, North Carolina, with our educational initiatives and projects. Our presentation of multidisciplinary perspectives will address critical clinical and care delivery issues, as well as, an exhaustive needs assessment that will survey the ongoing needs of the primary care physician, healthcare providers and the patients. Also, the identification of trends and changes in practices based on research data from surveys of our patients and constituents will enable the Center to maximize their healthcare services. In addition, the Community's Health Foundation is continuing the strides in bridging the health status gap between minorities that will improve access to public health services for the underserved population in New Hanover County.

$2400.00

We are requesting your support of ~~$1500.00~~ to support this foundation's efforts. Please make the check payable to The Community's Health Foundation, Inc., in care of Thomas E. Wright. In order for coverage to become effective you must meet all eligibility requirements stated in the Credit Insurance Application/Schedule. A statement of insurability must be completed if you are adding coverage more than 30 days after the date of your advance. Details of this insurance coverage are included in the Insurance Certificate which you received with your Credit Agreement. Ask us if you need a copy of the Insurance Certificate. By signing below, you agree to the terms of this insurance election and you authorize us to add the charges for the insurance to your outstanding balance each month. Your payment amount will increase or you will be required to make additional payments. Coverage election applies to the entire balance on this subaccount. Insurance rates are subject to change.

CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY

1. Member/Owner. The Member/Owner name shown on the front side is the complete and correct name of the Member/Owner. If applicable, all registered assumed names under which the Member/Owner does business are shown on the front side. Each corporate officer, partner or trustee, whichever is applicable, warrants that the corporation, partnership, or living trust has been duly formed and is currently existing.

2. Authorized Signers. The officers, authorized agents, or trustees, as applicable, signing on the front side (Signers) presently occupy the positions shown on the front side and are authorized to transact business on behalf of the Member/Owner. Each Signer agrees to notify the Credit Union in writing of any change in authority. Credit Union may request any other evidence of Signer's authority at any time.

3. Authority.

   a. Each Signer certifies and agrees that the Member/Owner's accounts will be governed by the terms set forth in the Membership and Account Agreement and Account Card, as amended from time to time.

   b. The Credit Union is directed to accept and pay without further inquiry any item, bearing the appropriate number of signatures as indicated on the front side, drawn against any of the Member/Owner's accounts. Unless otherwise indicated, any one Authorized Signer is expressly authorized to endorse all items payable to or owned by the Member/Owner for deposit with or collection by the Credit Union and to execute such other agreements and to perform any other transaction under the Agreement.

   c. The authority given to the Authorized Signers and Persons Authorized to Receive Account Information shall remain in full force until written notice of revocation is delivered to and received by the Credit Union at each location where an account is maintained. Any such notice shall not affect any items in process at the time notice is given. An authorized officer, trustee, or agent of the Member/Owner will notify the Credit Union of any change in the Member/Owner's composition, assumed business names, or any aspect of the entity affecting the deposit relationship between the Member/Owner and the Credit Union before any such change occurs. The Credit Union shall have no duty to inquire as to the powers and duties of any Signer and shall have no notice of any breach of fiduciary duties by any Signer unless the Credit Union has actual notice of wrongdoing.

   d. The Persons Authorized to Receive Account Information, if applicable, are authorized to receive from the Credit Union, either orally or in writing, any information related to the account. Those persons are not authorized to withdraw funds or issue checks/drafts against or make any transaction related to the account.

4. Liability. Member/Owner and each Signer agree to indemnify and hold Credit Union harmless of any claim or liability as a result of unauthorized acts of any Signer or former Signer or acts of any Signer upon which Credit Union relies prior to notice of any account change or change of Member/Owner. The Member/Owner agrees that the Credit Union shall not be liable for any losses due to the Member/Owner's failure to notify the Credit Union of such changes.
