SENATE JOURNAL

2001 SESSION

FIRST DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, January 24, 2001

In accordance with law, as set forth in the Constitution of the State of North Carolina and G.S. 120-11.1, the Senate of the General Assembly of North Carolina assembles this day at the hour of 12:00 Noon in the Senate Chamber of the Legislative Building in the City of Raleigh.

The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor, calls the Senate to order.

The President extends privileges of the floor to the spouses of the Senators-elect and to the individuals invited by the Senators-elect and requests that they be seated beside their spouse or host.

The President recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms of the 1999 Session of the General Assembly who announces the presence of the members of the Judiciary and the Secretary of State at the doors of the Senate and awaits her direction. The President directs the Sergeant-at-Arms to open the doors of the Senate and to escort the members of the Judiciary and the Secretary of State to their seats.

The Chair directs the Sergeant-at-Arms of the 1999 Session of the General Assembly to open the doors of the Senate and to escort the members of Winston-Salem State University Choir to the Well of the Senate.

The Chair introduces the Reverend Mike Morris, who is serving as Senate Chaplain for the 2001 Session of the General Assembly, who offers prayer as follows:

"Almighty God, the first verse from the 12th Chapter of Hebrews in Holy Scripture accurately describes the opening of a new legislative session. The verse begins, 'Therefore, since we are all surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses...'

"The Lieutenant Governor, the Senators, and Senate Staff are all here, O God, and yes, oh my, they are surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses who celebrate this day with them. Many of these witnesses are friends who worked long days and offered encouragement during the campaign that brought the Senators to this place, but most of the witnesses are family members -- parents, spouses, siblings, children, grandchildren. We say in the South as a form of compliment that someone is the spittin' image of another family member -- what we mean is that they are the spirit and image of their family. We thank You, O God, for the witness of family and friends here today and are reminded that we are created first in your image.

"Though celebrative, today is no coronation, it is the much higher call to servant leadership. These Senators must hear and speak the language of the rich and the poor, the educated and the illiterate, the powerful and the disenfranchised. There may be no more difficult call to servanthood.

"Therefore, we end today's prayer with the concluding words of Hebrews 12:1, 'Let us lay aside every weight and sin that clings so closely and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us...'

"And when the prayer was concluded all who were present said, Amen. Godspeed."

PRESENTATION OF THE COLORS

The Chair orders the Sergeant-at-Arms of the 1999 Session to open the doors of the Chamber for the presentation of the Colors by the Enka High School Air Force Junior ROTC Cadets. (See Appendix.)

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

Led by the Lieutenant Governor, the Senators-elect, distinguished guests, and all of those present remain standing and pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

The President recognizes the members of the Winston-Salem State University Choir who sing the National Anthem. (See Appendix.)

S/Elaine F. Marshall
Secretary of State

The President of the Senate recognizes The Honorable Sarah E. Parker, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, who administers the following Oath of Office, to which those members present respond and subscribe:

"I do solemnly swear or affirm that I will support the Constitution and laws of the United States; and I do solemnly and sincerely swear or affirm that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that I will endeavor to support, maintain, and defend the Constitution and laws of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of my knowledge and ability; and I do solemnly and sincerely swear or affirm that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office as a member of the Senate of the 2001 General Assembly of the State of North Carolina to the best of my knowledge and ability, so help me, God.”

With fifty Senators answering the call of the roll, the President declares a quorum present and qualified.

The President extends courtesies to members of the Judiciary and the Secretary of State: The Honorable Sarah E. Parker, The Honorable James Carlton Cole, The Honorable Robin Hudson, The Honorable Willis P. Wichard (Ret.), The Honorable James A. Wynn, Jr., and The Honorable Elaine Marshall. Courtesies are also extended to former U.S. Senator Robert Morgan, former Congressman Tim Valentine and his wife, Barbara; Congresswoman Eva Clayton; former Senator Ralph Hunt of Durham County; former Senator Wanda Hunt of Moore County; former Senator Richard Conder of Richmond County; former Senator C. R. Edwards of Cumberland County; former Senator Bill Ashburn; former Senator Joe Thomas of Craven County; and Signer Ben King. Courtesies are also extended to Bob Eaves, the husband of Lieutenant Governor Perdue; and to Garrett and Emmett Perdue, the sons of Lieutenant Governor Perdue.

ORGANIZATION OF THE SENATE

The President announces that the Senate stands ready to proceed with the election of officers, and declares the floor open for nominations for President Pro Tempore of the Senate, pursuant to Article II, Section 14(1) of North Carolina's Constitution.

The President recognizes Senator Martin of Pitt who offers the following nomination and remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President. Members of the Senate, I rise to nominate our friend, The Honorable Marc Basnight, for the Office of the Senate President Pro Tempore for the General Assembly for the year 2001-2002. This will be another history-making session for Marc in that he has served longer already than any person in the state of North Carolina as President Pro Tempore of the Senate and this will extend his lease for ten years. It's a history-making occasion, and we appreciate it. It is no accident that Marc has been elected this long with this Body because Marc has earned it. He's shown to us, he's proved to us that he is capable of leadership. He came through our ranks and he chaired, I think, every one of the important committees that we have, especially he gained our attention as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and he has worked his way through the ranks and has worked hard at it. Marc will give any amount of time, take any efforts, go anywhere he needs to go to promote this office and this Body of Senators, and he knows the system. He has the ability to see both sides of any issue that might come up and he says what he thinks without tiptoeing around an important issue, and if you like to get to the bottom line you'll have no trouble with Marc -- understanding him. He'll have you to the bottom line in a few minutes. He seeks input from others when he faces important decisions that affect this Nation and this State. He seeks input from others and he listens to that input and he's governed accordingly. On a personal basis, as he has served us, Senator Basnight listens to our concerns and he treats us with careful consideration and does all he can to satisfy us and please us, and that is a reason he has been so successful in his leadership. We're going to need some real leadership in this important session that is before us. We're going to have problems we've never had before but the problems are going to seem minor as far as what we're going to have to go through with and we need that leadership so, Madame President, it's an honor and a privilege and my pleasure to nominate Senator Marc Basnight of Dare for the Office of President Pro Tempore of the North Carolina Senate for the 2001-2002 Session of the General Assembly. And we urge your support in a unanimous decision."

The President recognizes Senator Martin of Guilford who offers the following nomination and remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President. Fellow members of the Senate, it is my pleasure to rise and follow Senator Bob Martin for the purpose of seconding the nomination of Senator Marc Basnight of Dare County to lead us again as President Pro Tempore of the Senate for the 2001-2002 Session of the General Assembly. Senator Bob Martin has already spoken to you about all of those magnificent qualities possessed by Senator Basnight, so there will be no need to reiterate those except to second those comments. I would say that this is, in fact, going to be a very challenging session. It's going to be a very important session. It's going to be one that calls for a tremendous amount of diplomacy, leadership, tenacity, the ability to get to the bottom of the issues and, as I remember hearing someone say at one time from the gallery, talking about the members of the General Assembly, House and Senate although this really applies more to the House, it's difficult to herd a bunch of cats, and so the same challenge is here. But Senator Basnight has done a great job in doing that, in seeing the ideas together and putting us along the path of leadership to the extent that the North Carolina Senate really, based upon all I've been able to see, is one of the most highly acclaimed political bodies in the Nation and one of the most respected. Much of that is due to the leadership that has been brought to us by Senator Basnight and with that, Madame President, I again would like to second the nomination and hope that everyone will join in voting unanimously for Senator Basnight as our next President Pro Tempore."

The motion offered by Senator Martin of Guilford that the nominations be closed and that Senator Basnight be elected President Pro Tempore by acclamation prevails.

The Chair declares Senator Basnight elected President Pro Tempore and appoints Senator Garrou, Senator Hagan, Senator Hoyle, Senator Lucas, and Senator Soles to escort the President Pro Tempore-elect to the Well of the Senate. Senator Hoyle presents Senator Basnight to the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms escorts Senator Basnight's daughter, Caroline Basnight Shannon; his brother, Saint Basnight, Jr.; and his sister, Della Basnight, to the Well of the Senate to join him as he receives the Oath of Office. The Honorable James Carlton Cole, District Court Judge, Judicial District 1, administers the prescribed Oath of Office.

The President recognizes Senator Marc Basnight, President Pro Tempore, who addresses the membership from the Well of the Senate and offers the following remarks:

"Congratulations, Jim Black, and congratulations to all the members of the Senate on your election today. Thank you for the confidence you have placed in me as your President Pro Tempore. Thank you to my good friend, Bob Martin, who I sat with on the back row for eight plus years, who gave me wisdom, vision, and a dream or two of what life is better for others when you do, simply, the right things. Thank you, Bill Martin, again, for the pleasure of your company and the wisdom of what you give to every person in this State. You're a grand, great man and a good friend. Thank you, Judge Cole, for all that you do for the children of this State through your position and for the integrity of what you are and the partnership that you and I carry together. Thanks to my good friend, David Hoyle, and the escort committee. You're very special and you mean a great deal to myself as well as all of the Senate. Welcome to my good friend Beverly Perdue, our Lieutenant Governor.

"I have beside me a magazine story from 'Our State' -- it was called 'The State' at the time -- that featured an interview that was done by Victor Meekins. Victor Meekins lived on the Outer Banks of North Carolina; he started the 'Coastal Times', our local newspaper, that is still there today and run by his son. But Victor interviewed a Cyrus Grey in 1934, and Cyrus was explaining how things were not tough in Salvo on the Outer Banks in Dare County in 1934. Now if you can envision how tough it truly was in 1934 on the Outer Banks on a place that you've never heard of, you can realize that what Cyrus is saying is that it must have been god awful bad fifty years before. As his article says in 1980, it was 'really bad'. So he was telling the youth of the day that things aren't so bad. Let me tell you what it truly was like in North Carolina on the Outer Banks at that time, and I guess similar stories, Senator Metcalf and Carter and Robinson and Carpenter, could be told about the mountains, that there wasn't much to be given except what the land would give. The story went on to tell about how they had no kerosene, no matches, and they made life with what nature gave. What the sea would produce is what they ate. They salted their fish. They lived by the weather of the predictions of what they saw forthcoming of storms of major possibilities, but they lived there and eked out a life. And he said: 'Today we have so much in 1934.' As you read that article he talks about having candles and actually having kerosene, and they even had ice. So he told the generation that was upcoming that: 'It is not a bad life in North Carolina. Just remember what it was when I lived here fifty years before.'

"Every generation has strengthened itself in North Carolina. That is a truism, and we should seek the same for every child that follows each and every one of us to stand here today in a different time in a new generation, but it is incumbent upon us that we see that they succeed, and we can only do that through different ways. One is educational initiatives, to see that every child has an opportunity to become what he or she can within those abilities that the Good Lord gave he or she. How are we to participate in that? We've done well in the past, have we not? How do we improve in the future? I think that we should give that opportunity regardless of where you were born as a child. If you were born in Graham County or Hyde County or Tyrrell or Columbus County or any other part, you should be able to succeed. You should have the same technologies. You should have the same textbooks and, yes, you should have the same health care as well, as a child. Last year we took gigantic steps in making those changes and seeing that health care was afforded to our children in North Carolina. A bit short we are this year, but now when a child goes to school he does not have to go with a toothache, with no glasses, and if a child can't hear, and we saw experiences of that, of other children who came and the teacher couldn't understand why little Billy didn't speak to the classroom. Little Billy couldn't hear and didn't know it, but in North Carolina we're making the changes to see that little Billy can hear or see and that the teeth are okay, not because of the income of the person, the child himself, but because of an initiative of a change that you created in this General Assembly, and that's a change that we all should be awfully proud of. All the little Billies and Susies and every other child in this State, we all look a little different sometimes. That's pretty obvious. The Good Lord made it such. But, he gave us the welcoming opportunity to afford chances of possibilities to succeed for our children. They cannot succeed unless they are educated or trained in some way that they can compete against their peers, not in just other states, not just in this country, but around this world. We are connecting ourselves to every country, and how we're linked, how we're tied together with an Internet system, a broad band possibility of high speed for every community in the state is not a goal but a reality that has to happen and has to happen soon to allow for successes of all children. In education we have to, Senator Lee, have accountability. You've been a champion of that call. Coupled with the accountability are the tools that a teacher needs in the classroom to succeed for the children. Those tools include a competent salary. We made great steps in that area but not great enough, but there are tragedies that we didn't foresee that are man-made sometimes, because of actions of others or ourselves. When I say tragedies, they are not a wrecking crew per se, but they slow down and cool the economy. A hurricane is a natural tragedy and we had one in North Carolina, and it robbed us, truly, of eight hundred plus million dollars, but we did the rightful thing to make that appropriation to lift up those brothers of ours who were seriously hurt by the storm. But with the hurricane comes some tax settlements that we were involved in, and rightfully so; we are paying those today. Court settlements may cost us even more tomorrow as we find out what the judge has in his final statement of how we treat these difficulties of educating children in different areas because of their geography. Those settlements we will address, rightfully so, but see that we give the guarantees that the teachers have the salaries, the teachers have the tools, and the communities are allowed to allow every child to grow with each end, it will be costly. This is not a year where you have a great deal of money to afford these opportunities. There is some budget tightening that has to occur, and I ask that each and every one of you do as I asked every citizen of this State of any suggestion that you have that will make this life richer and better for all of us, to bring it to us of how we can save, how we can eliminate duplication in government, how we can pinch the pennies as you have to do as a citizen and a person in your home with your own family. We are going to behave differently. That's a truism. We will save money as we never saved before and we will see that the government runs efficiently and properly. I ask you to look at every corner of government, every agency and every department to find where the savings are. I ask you to do it in concert with the great employees we have in this State, and that we find ways to save this money. Now I'll be proposing, just as you'll be proposing, recommendations that will affect just that action.

"The environment means so much to each and every one of us. We can't live in a nest that's dirty. You'd never find a bird that would do so. Nature doesn't welcome such. We have to protect our waters and our beautiful mountains. The Senators from the west recently have embarked on an effort to protect the air of the mountains and the beauty of what it is, to see that they're guaranteed the same health opportunities because of what they breathe that everyone else is, and I commend them for such. The protection of the rivers of the mountains and the streams of the Piedmont, the sounds and big open bays and the ocean of the great Atlantic, is part of our legacy that we will leave behind. What is it that North Carolina will look like tomorrow and who will live with us, and what kind of environment will we have? We will do the right things.

"It is also incumbent upon us that we take care of those who cannot take care of themselves, certainly, our children, those who are neglected due to family circumstances out of their control, the mental health difficulties that so many people are tragically inflicted with. We promise that we will not forget you, or people such as you that we love so very much. Drugs for seniors. I do not understand any more than you understand why someone of age who does not have the money in the pocket cannot buy a drug which has been essential to the sustaining of life. I believe that our Governor has a proposal that we will welcome, maybe with some modifications and our joint relationship together. Every person is special in this State and every person truly counts. Senator Wellons, you are charged with a great responsibility to see that our consumers are protected in a new committee structure that we're involved in. Protecting one's privacy -- your personal information should be yours. It should not be given out to some business without your permission, or to your government. Protecting our seniors and our citizens from scam artists is critically important as well, and our doctor-patient relationship has to be the relationship between us and the doctor himself. Everyone's peace of mind would count.

"Economic development for all in North Carolina is critically important to us as well. If we're to be one North Carolina we're going to have to have water and sewer. We're going to have to have high-tech technology and, yes, we're going to have to have roads in all parts of our state. Senator Gulley, you and your committee have come together in advance with some very bold recommendations, but before you carry forward any recommendation that may require new revenues, you have to purge state government of all waste and mismanagement. And hopefully we won't find a need for new revenues. We can generate it through technology and advancements of this new world of how to reach people. We have to continue to fully examine the more economically depressed regions of our state to see that you don't have to lift up those areas but that they lift up themselves on their own. That's all they ask and all they need. We have to be able to communicate with each other. We do a pretty good job at that, I would say, but that communication link this year is critically important because of our condition -- that we all work together as Republicans and Democrats and people black and white, whatever our station of life, that we succeed in representing people as we've never represented those before.

"In closing, I'd like to say that you understand, as we all do, that we're in a time of transition, a new millennium we are involved in today, a new administration, a new day in North Carolina. This transition gives us new opportunities to change old ways of doing business and to bring education and prosperity to all the people of this great State of ours. To do this we must work together, smarter and harder, and with more energy and more vision than we've ever had before. We have more challenges and many challenges facing us, but I know we can face these challenges head-on and do the right thing for all the people in this State, because this is what we, in North Carolina, have always done. And as we face the challenges and opportunities ahead, let's always keep in front of our minds that North Carolina, to be truly successful and to truly succeed, the dreams we dream for all our people must be in reach of every citizen of this state. No matter what your station in life, no matter what the color of your skin, no matter what your age, disability or special challenge, no matter where you live, from the mountains to the coast to the grand Piedmont in between, you deserve to achieve all you can and you deserve to have us give you that chance. God bless you. God help us, and God give us a North Carolina where everyone counts."

The Presiding Officer shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the Senate. A two-thirds vote of the membership of the Senate present and voting is necessary to sustain any appeal from the ruling of the Presiding Officer.

(b) In the event the Senate Rules do not provide for, or cover any point of order raised by any Senator, the rules of the United States House of Representatives shall govern.

(c) When a Senator is called to order that Senator shall take the assigned seat until the Presiding Officer determines whether that Senator was in order or not; if decided to be out of order, that Senator shall not proceed without the permission of the Senate; and every question of order shall be decided by the Presiding Officer, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator; and if a Senator is called to order for words spoken, the words to which an exception is made shall be immediately taken down in writing by the Principal Clerk, so that the Presiding Officer or Senate may be better able to judge the matter.

RULE 11. Debating and voting by Lieutenant Governor. – The Lieutenant Governor, as President of the Senate, being a Constitutional Officer shall not have the right to debate any question or to address the Senate upon any proposition unless by permission of the majority of members present and shall have the right to vote only when there is a tie vote upon any question or election.

RULE 12. Obaining recognition. – (a) When any Senator is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the Senate, that Senator shall rise and respectfully address the Presiding Officer. The Presiding Officer shall recognize the first to rise and, when two or more members rise at the same time, the Presiding Officer shall name the member to speak.

(b) A Senator who has the floor may yield the floor to another Senator only for the purpose of allowing another Senator to state a question. Only the Presiding Officer may award the floor to any Senator.

(c) A Senator who has obtained the floor may be interrupted only for the following reasons:

- (1) A request that the member speaking yield for a question;

RULE 13. (Reserved for future use).

RULE 14. Limitations on individual debate. – (a) No Senator shall speak on the same reading more than twice on the main question, nor longer than 30 minutes for the first speech and 15 minutes for the second speech. No Senator shall speak on the same reading more than once on any motion or appeal, and then no longer than 10 minutes.

(b) By permission of the Presiding Officer, any member of the Senate may address the Senate from the well of the Senate.

RULE 15. Questions of personal privilege. – Upon recognition by the Presiding Officer for that purpose, any Senator may as the last order of the Senate's business that day speak to a question of personal privilege for a time not exceeding three minutes. Personal privilege may not be used to explain a vote, debate a bill, or in any way disrupt the regular business of the Senate. Personal privilege shall not be used to solicit support or sponsors for any bill. The Presiding Officer shall determine if the question raised is one of privilege and shall, without the point of order being raised, enforce this rule.

RULE 16. (Reserved for future use).

RULE 17. General decorum. – (a) Male Senators and male visitors shall uncover their heads upon entering the Senate Chamber while the Senate is in session and shall continue uncovered during their continuance in the Chamber, unless one's religion requires his head to be covered.

(c) When the Presiding Officer is putting a question, or a division by counting is in progress, no Senator shall walk out of or across the Chamber, nor when a Senator is speaking, pass between that Senator and the Presiding Officer.

(d) When a motion to adjourn or for recess is affirmatively determined, no member or officer shall leave that member or officer's place until adjournment or recess is declared by the Presiding Officer.

(e) Smoking shall not be allowed in the galleries of the Senate during sessions.

(f) No remark soliciting the donation of funds for the support of any person or organization shall be in order upon the floor of the Senate, unless the remark has some relevance to a bill or resolution before the body. No article of any kind soliciting business or donations may be placed by any person anywhere in the Senate Chamber or in any Senate office.

(g) Food or beverage shall not be permitted in the Senate Chamber, either on the floor or in the galleries; however, after the Senate has remained in session for a period of one hour, food and beverage shall be allowed upon the floor of the Senate.

(h) Reading of newspapers, magazines, periodicals, or books shall not be acceptable while the Senate is in session. This rule does not prohibit the use of quotations during debate or for personal privilege.

III. MOTIONS

RULE 18. Motions generally. – Any motion shall be reduced to writing, if requested by the Presiding Officer or a Senator, and read by the Presiding Officer or Reading Clerk before the same is debated. Any motion may be withdrawn by the introducer at any time before decision or amendment. No motion relating to a bill shall be in order which does not identify the bill by its number and short title. Except as otherwise specifically provided in these rules, no second is required.

RULE 19. Motion; order of precedence. – When a question is before the Senate no motion shall be received except those herein specified, which motions shall have precedence as follows:

- (1) To adjourn.
- (2) To lay on the table.
- (3) For the previous question.
- (4) To postpone indefinitely.
- (5) To postpone to a certain day.
- (6) To commit to a standing committee.
- (7) To commit to a select committee.
- (8) To amend.

RULE 20. Motions requiring a second. – The motions to adjourn, to lay on the table, and to call for the previous question shall be seconded and decided without debate.

RULE 21. Motions to postpone to certain day and to commit. – The respective motions to postpone to a certain day or to commit to a standing or select committee shall preclude debate on the main question.

RULE 22. Motion to substitute. – Subject to Rule 19, a member may offer a motion to substitute to any motion, except the motions for the previous question, to table or to adjourn. No motion to substitute shall be offered to a motion to substitute.

RULE 23. Motion for previous question. – (a) The previous question may be moved upon a pending single motion, any pending amendment or amendments, and/or the pending bill to its passage on that reading or all readings or the pending resolution to its adoption. An authorized Senator moving the previous question shall specify to what the motion applies. Unless specifically limited, the motion shall be deemed to apply to the bill or resolution along with any pending amendments to its passage.

(b) The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments and debate. If this question is decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution, or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments in their inverse order, without further debate or amendment.

(c) Only one of the following Senators may move the previous question:

- (1) The chair of the committee submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration;
- (2) The member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration;
- (3) The member in charge of the measure, who shall be designated by the chair of the committee reporting the same to the Senate at the time the bill or other matter under consideration is reported to the Senate or taken up for consideration; or
- (4) The Chair of the Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate.

RULE 24. Motion to reconsider. – (a) When a question has been once put and decided, any Senator who voted in the majority may move to reconsider the vote thereof. No motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after the bill, resolution, or other matter upon which the vote was taken has gone out of the possession of the Senate. No motion for reconsideration shall be in order unless made on the same day or in the next following legislative day on which the vote took place. When the next legislative day has by motion of the Senate been restricted as to matters which may be considered, a motion to reconsider shall be in order on the next succeeding day upon which regular business is conducted. No question shall be reconsidered more than once.

(b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this rule, a motion to reconsider is in order at any time if made by the Chair or, in his absence, the Vice-Chair of the Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate for the sole purpose of correcting grammatical errors in bills in the possession of the Senate.

IV. VOTING

RULE 25. Use of electronic voting system. – (a) Votes on the following questions shall be taken on the electronic voting system, and the ayes and noes shall be recorded on the Journal:

- (1) All questions on which the Constitution of North Carolina requires that the ayes and noes be taken and recorded on the Journal;
- (2) All questions on which a call for the ayes and noes under Rule 26(b) has been sustained;
- (3) Second and third readings of bills proposing amendment of the Constitution of North Carolina; and
- (4) The vote on approval of a bill that was vetoed by the Governor.

(b) Votes on the following questions shall be taken on the electronic voting system, and the resulting totals shall be recorded on the Journal:

- (1) Second reading of all public bills, all amendments to public bills offered after second reading, third reading if a public bill was amended after second reading, and all conference reports on public bills.
- (2) Any other question upon direction of the Presiding Officer or upon motion of any Senator supported by one-fifth of the Senators present.

(c) When the electronic voting system is used, the Presiding Officer shall fix and announce the time, not to exceed one minute, which shall be allowed for voting on the question before the Senate. The system shall be set to lock automatically and to record the vote when that time has expired. Once the system has locked and recorded a vote, the vote shall be printed by the system.

(d) The voting station at each Senator's desk in the Chamber shall be used only by the Senator to whom the station is assigned. Under no circumstances shall any other person vote at a Senator's station. It is a breach of the ethical obligation of a Senator either to request that another vote at the requesting Senator's station, or to vote at another Senator's station. The Presiding Officer shall enforce this rule without exception.

(e) When the electronic voting system is used, the Presiding Officer shall state the question and shall then state substantially the following: "All in favor vote 'aye'; all opposed vote 'no'; _____ seconds will be allowed for voting on this question; the Clerk will record the vote." After the machine locks and records the vote, the Presiding Officer shall announce the vote and declare the result.

(f) One copy of the machine printout of the vote record shall be filed in the office of the Principal Clerk, and one copy shall be filed in the Legislative Library where it shall be open to public inspection.

(g) When the Presiding Officer ascertains that the electronic voting system is inoperative before a vote is taken or while a vote is being taken on the electronic system, the Presiding Officer shall announce that fact to the Senate, and any partial electronic system voting record shall be voided. In such a case, if the Constitution of North Carolina or the Rules of the Senate require a call of the ayes and noes, the Clerk shall call the roll of the Senate, and the ayes and noes shall be taken manually and shall be recorded on the Journal. All other votes shall be taken as prescribed in Senate Rule 26. If, after a vote is taken on the electronic system, it is discovered that a malfunction caused an error in the electronic system printout, the Presiding Officer shall direct the Reading Clerk and the Principal Clerk to verify and correct the printout record and so advise the Senate.

(h) For the purpose of identifying motions on which the vote is taken on the electronic system (the identification codes having no relation to the order of precedence of motions), the motions are coded as follows:

1. To lay on the table.
2. For the previous question.
3. To postpone indefinitely.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To refer to a committee.
6. To reconsider.
7. To adopt.
8. To concur.
9. To take from the table.
10. Miscellaneous.

RULE 26. Voice votes; call for ayes and noes. – (a) When the electronic voting system is not used, all votes on which a call of the roll of the Senate is not required shall be taken by voice vote. The question shall be put as follows: "Those in favor say 'aye,'" and, after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Opposed 'no' "; after which the Presiding Officer shall announce the result. If a division on any vote is desired, it must be called for immediately before the result of the voting is announced on any question, and upon such call, the Presiding Officer shall require the members to stand and be counted for and against the proposition under consideration.

(b) The ayes and the noes may be called for on any question before the vote is taken. If a Senator desires the ayes and noes recorded on the Journal on a question, that Senator shall address the Presiding Officer and obtain recognition and say, "Upon that question I call for the ayes and noes." Whereupon the Presiding Officer shall say, "Is the call sustained?" If one-fifth of the remaining Senators present then stand, the vote shall be taken on the electronic voting system if it is operative, and the ayes and noes shall be recorded on the Journal. If the electronic voting system is inoperative, the roll of the Senate shall be called and the ayes and noes taken manually and recorded on the Journal. If fewer than one-fifth of the Senators present stand to sustain the call, the Presiding Officer shall announce, "An insufficient number up" and a vote by electronic voting or by voice, whichever is appropriate under the Rules of the Senate, shall be taken.

RULE 27. Pair votes. – (a) If a Senator is paired with another Senator on a question, the Senator shall announce the pair as follows: " I desire to announce a pair. If Senator _____ were present, that Senator would vote _____; I would vote _____ (the opposite)." The Senator shall send forward at that time a written statement of the pair on a form provided by the Principal Clerk and neither member of the pair shall vote on the question. A pair shall be announced before the vote is taken viva voce, or if the electronic voting system is used, before the machine is unlocked. The Clerk shall record the pair on the Journal when the Constitution or Rules of the Senate require a call of the roll and shall record on the electronic system printout all pairs announced.

(b) This rule does not apply to committee or subcommittee proceedings.

RULE 28. Dividing question. – (a) If any question contains several distinct propositions, a Senator may move that the question be divided. The motion shall:

- (1) Be in writing,
- (2) Be submitted to the Principal Clerk at the time the motion is made, and
- (3) Clearly state how the question is to be divided.

The motion shall be adopted by majority vote of the Senators present and voting.

(b) If the motion to divide the question is adopted, then there shall be no further amendment or debate on any of the distinct propositions.

(c) If the question is divided and any part thereof fails, then the bill or resolution and any pending amendments shall be removed from the calendar and re-referred to the committee from which the bill or resolution was reported.

(d) Only one motion to divide the question shall be in order during consideration of a bill or resolution.

RULE 29. Duty to vote; excuses. – (a) Every Senator who is within the Senate Chamber when the question is stated by the Presiding Officer shall vote thereon unless that Senator is excused by the Senate.

(b) A Senator who is a member of a committee shall, upon request, be excused from deliberations and voting on the bill while it is before the committee. The Senator must make the request to the chair of the committee when the bill is first taken up for consideration and before any motion or vote on the bill or any amendment to the bill. The Senator making the request for excuse in committee must renew that request for excuse on the floor of the Senate as set forth in this rule.

(c) Any Senator may move to be excused at any time from voting on any matter. The Senator may make a brief statement of the reasons for the motion which question shall be taken without debate on the motion.

(d) The Senator may send forward to the Principal Clerk, on a form provided by the Clerk, a concise statement of the reason for the motion, and the Clerk shall include this statement in the Journal.

(e) The Senator so excused shall not debate the bill or any amendment to the bill, vote on the bill, offer or vote on any amendment to the bill, or offer or vote on any motion concerning the bill at that reading, any subsequent reading, or any subsequent consideration of the bill.

(f) A Senator may move that the excuse of that Senator from deliberations on a particular bill be withdrawn, which question shall be determined without debate.

(g) A motion to be excused or for the withdrawal of an excuse shall be taken without debate.

(h) A motion by any Senator to change that Senator's vote must be made on the same legislative day as the vote is taken. This subsection may not be suspended.

RULE 30. Explanation of vote. – Any Senator may, as the last order of the Senate's business that day, explain that Senator's vote on any bill that day by obtaining permission of the Presiding Officer after the final vote is taken. No more than three minutes shall be consumed in such explanation.

RULE 31. No bill, resolution, or amendment for which a fiscal note has been requested may be considered for passage prior to the fiscal note being attached to it.

(b) The fiscal note shall be filed and attached to the bill, resolution, or amendment within two legislative days of the request. If it is impossible to prepare a fiscal note within two legislative days, the Director of Fiscal Research shall, in writing, so advise the Presiding Officer, the Principal Clerk, and the member introducing or proposing the measure and shall indicate the time when the fiscal note will be ready.

(c) The fiscal note shall be prepared by the Fiscal Research Division on a form approved by the Chair of the Rules and Operations of the Senate Committee as to content and form and signed by the staff member or members preparing it. If no estimate in dollars is possible, the fiscal note shall indicate the reasons that no estimate is provided. The fiscal note shall not comment on the merit but may identify technical problems. The Fiscal Research Division shall make the fiscal note available to the membership of the Senate.

(d) A sponsor of a bill, resolution, or amendment may deliver a copy of that member's bill, resolution, or amendment to the Fiscal Research Division for the preparation of a fiscal note. The sponsor shall attach the fiscal note to the bill when the sponsor files the bill or resolution or to the amendment when the sponsor moves its adoption.

(e) The sponsor of a bill, resolution, or amendment to which a fiscal note is attached who objects to the estimates and information provided may reduce to writing the objections. These objections shall be appended to the fiscal note attached to the bill, resolution, or amendment and to the copies of the fiscal note available to the membership.

(f) Subsection (a) of this rule shall not apply to the Current Operations Appropriations Bill or the Capital Improvement Appropriations Bill. This rule shall not apply to a bill, resolution, or amendment requiring an actuarial note under these rules.

RULE 42.2. Actuarial notes. – (a) Every bill or resolution proposing any change in the law relative to any:

(1) State, municipal, or other retirement system funded in whole or in part out of public funds; or

(2) Program of hospital, medical, disability, or related benefits provided for teachers and State employees, funded in whole or in part by State funds, shall have attached to it at the time of its consideration by any committee a brief explanatory statement or note which shall include a reliable estimate of the financial and actuarial effect of the proposed change to that retirement or pension system. The actuarial note shall be attached to the jacket of each proposed bill or resolution which is reported favorably by any committee, shall be separate there from, and shall be clearly designated as an actuarial note. Upon its introduction, a bill described in subdivision (a)(1) of this rule shall be referred to the Committee on Pensions and Retirement and Aging.

The actuarial note shall be attached to the jacket of the measure.

(d) The note shall be factual and shall, if possible, provide a reliable estimate of both the immediate effect and, if determinable, the long-range fiscal and actuarial effect of the measure. If, after careful investigation, it is determined that no dollar estimate is possible, the note shall contain a statement to that effect, setting forth the reasons why no dollar estimate can be given. No comment or opinion shall be included in the actuarial note with regard to the merits of the measure for which the note is prepared. Technical and mechanical defects in the measure may be noted.

(e) When any committee reports a measure to which an actuarial note is attached at the time of committee consideration, with any amendment of such nature as would substantially affect the cost to or the revenues of any retirement or pension system, the chair of the committee reporting the measure shall obtain from the Fiscal Research Division an actuarial note of the fiscal and actuarial effect of the proposed amendment. The actuarial note shall be attached to the jacket of the measure. An amendment to any bill or resolution shall not be in order if the amendment affects the costs to or the revenues of a system or program described in subdivision (a)(1) of this rule, unless the amendment is accompanied by an actuarial note, prepared by the Fiscal Research Division, as to the actuarial effect of the amendment.

(f) The Fiscal Research Division shall make all relevant actuarial notes available to the membership of the Senate.

The assessment report shall not constitute any part of the expression of legislative intent proposed by the formation of a licensing board.

Upon receipt of the request, the Legislative Committee on New Licensing Boards shall prepare and return the assessment report as soon as possible but not later than 60 days, reserving the right to extend this time to 90 days. The fiscal note shall be prepared in consultation with the Sentencing Policy and Advisory Commission and shall identify and estimate, for the first five fiscal years the proposed change would be in effect, all costs of the proposed net increase in incarceration, including capital outlay costs if the legislation would require increased cell space. If, after careful investigation, the Fiscal Research Division determines that no dollar estimate is possible, the note shall contain a statement to that effect, setting forth the reasons why no dollar estimate can be given. A fiscal note attached to a bill, amendment, or resolution pursuant to this subsection is not a part of the bill, amendment, or resolution and is not an expression of legislative intent proposed by the bill, amendment, or resolution.

(d) If a committee reports favorably a proposed bill or resolution with an amendment that proposes a change in the law that could cause a net increase in the length of time for which persons are incarcerated or the number of persons incarcerated, whether by increasing penalties for violating existing laws, by criminalizing behavior, or by any other means, the chair of the committee shall obtain from the Fiscal Research Division and attach to the amended bill or resolution a fiscal note as provided in this section.

The Chair of the Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate or, in the Chair's absence, the Vice-Chair of the Committee shall refer to a Senate committee all bills introduced in the Senate or received from the House of Representatives. Upon the referral being made, the Chair of the Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate shall notify the Principal Clerk of the Senate of the referral, and the Reading Clerk shall announce the referral of the bill. The Principal Clerk shall inform the Presiding Officer of the referral. The title and referral shall be entered upon the Journal.

No petition may be circulated for signatures until 10 legislative days after the bill has been referred to the committee. No petition may be circulated for signature until notice has been given on the floor of the Senate that the petition is to be circulated. If such a motion accompanied by a valid petition is filed, the Principal Clerk shall place that motion on the calendar for the next legislative day as a special order of business. If the motion is adopted by a majority of the Senate, then the committee to which the bill or resolution has been referred is discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution, and that bill or resolution is placed on the calendar for the next legislative day as a special order of business. If the committee had, prior to discharge, adopted any amendment or committee substitute for the bill, it shall be in order to offer that amendment or substitute on the floor as if it were a committee amendment or substitute. The Principal Clerk shall provide a form for discharge petitions.

(c) This rule shall not be temporarily suspended.

RULE 52. Procedure when necessary number of Senators not present. If, on taking the question on a bill, it appears that a constitutional quorum is not present, or if the bill requires a vote of a certain proportion of all the Senators to pass it, and it appears that such number is not present, the bill shall be again read and the question taken thereon; if the bill fails a second time for the want of the necessary number being present and voting, the bill shall not be finally lost, but shall be returned to the calendar in its proper order.

RULE 53. Effect of defeated measure. – (a) After a bill has been tabled, or has failed to pass on any of its readings, the contents of such bill or the principal provisions of its subject matter shall not be embodied in any other measure. - (2) Advise the Presiding Officer as to whether or not the amendment or committee substitute is a material amendment under Article II, Section 23, of the State's Constitution.

(d) If the amendment or committee substitute for a bill is not a material amendment, the question before the Senate shall be concurrence. In the event there is more than one House amendment, the question shall be concurrence in all the House amendments and the question may not be divided, notwithstanding rule 28. The question which shall be put before the Senate by the Presiding Officer shall be: "Does the Senate concur in the House amendments (committee substitute) to S.B. ?".

(e) If the amendment or committee substitute for a bill is a material amendment, the receiving of that bill on messages shall constitute first reading and the question before the Senate shall be concurrence on second reading. ELECTION OF OFFICER ESTABLISHED BY THE SENATE RULES

Pursuant to Senate Rule 65, the President declares the floor open to receive nominations for Deputy President Pro Tempore and recognizes Senator Albertson who offers the following nomination and remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President. Members of the Senate, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen, it is my privilege and great honor to present to you a man whom I consider to be a great public servant, one who truly cares about the people of this state, and who is often a voice for those who are disenfranchised or those who have no voice. He enjoys good humor, but he can also be dead serious. He has the courage to stand alone if need be, and I can tell you he is one of my favorite people in this North Carolina Senate. I am pleased to nominate my good friend from Warren County, Senator Frank W. Ballance, Jr., for Deputy President Pro Tempore of the 2001-2002 Session.

The Chair recognizes Senator Dannelly who seconds the nomination and adds the following remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President. Ladies and gentlemen of this August Body, on February 15, 1942, Alice Easton and Frank Winston Ballance had their third child. They were so proud of him, they christened him Frank Winston Ballance, Jr. and they adorned him with Christian teachings, love, competence, and courage. Frank has been the first Vice Chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Party. He's the past first Vice President and Chairman of the First Congressional District Democratic Party. He's the past President of the Warren County NAACP. In 1996, the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers made him the Lawyer of the Year. Frank served four years in the House of Representatives for North Carolina. That's where he got his training. In 1988, he was elected to the Senate and is beginning his thirteenth year. Frank is the Chairman of the Deacon Board for Greenwood Baptist Church in Warrenton, North Carolina. He is the author of the racial profiling legislation for the State of North Carolina. He's a graduate of North Carolina Central University undergraduate school and law school. Now this Frank, ladies and gentlemen, with some of these accomplishments, is a country boy that was born in Windsor, North Carolina. He is married to Bernadine Smallwood, who is a member of the North Carolina Industrial Commission. They have three children: Gary, who is a District Judge; Dr. Angela Mebane, who is doing a three-year residency at the University Medical Center at East Carolina University; and Valerie, a graduate student at North Carolina A&T State University. Ladies and gentlemen, this is the third time I have been privileged to be a part of the nomination of Frank W. Ballance, Jr. for Deputy President Pro Tempore. Frank has proven in the past that he is extremely capable of that position, and I urge you to vote for him. Thank you."

The motion offered by Senator Dannelly that the nominations be closed and that Senator Ballance be elected Deputy President Pro Tempore by acclamation prevails.

The Chair declares Senator Ballance elected Deputy President Pro Tempore and appoints Senator Albertson, Senator Dannelly, Senator Hartsell, Senator Horton, Senator

Jordan, and Senator Kinnaird to escort the Deputy President Pro Tempore-elect to the Well of the Senate. Senator Dannelly presents Senator Ballance to the President. The President directs the Sergeant-at-Arms to escort Mrs. Bernadine Ballance, a member of the Industrial Commission and the wife of Senator Ballance, to the Well of the Senate where she joins him as he receives the prescribed Oath of Office. The Honorable Robin Hudson, Judge of the North Carolina Court of Appeals, administers the prescribed Oath of Office.

The President recognizes Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, who offers the following remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President, President Pro Tempore, Senate colleagues, friends all. I am grateful first to a God who is able, and I thank Him for keeping me and keeping you. I am grateful also to my late father, Frank Winston Ballance, Sr., who taught me, even though he only, he said, went to school once in his brother's place. I am also grateful to my mother, Mary Easton Ballance, 81 years old. Wave, Momma. She's still hanging in there. She's still working. She runs a day care for children and infants and an adult day care center. I'm grateful for and to my other family members. Two of my children are here, my sisters are here. And to my lovely wife, Bernadine Smallwood Ballance, thank you dear for your love and support. To my church family, represented by Pastor Eddie Wayne Lawrence, the Human Relations Director for the State of North Carolina, to all my constituents from the Second District, I want to introduce Mrs. Suzie Weathersby, whom you saw sitting at the front. She's from Tillery, North Carolina and she's 100 years old. She may come back here yet before we get through. Give her a hand in her absence. I am grateful to our Congresswoman who was introduced earlier. Congresswoman Clayton, thank you so very much for coming today. I want to thank Judge Robin Hudson, one of our newest Court of Appeals Judges, for running the Oath to me today. To the two Charlies, Albertson and Dannelly, I didn't hear what ya'll said but I hope it was good. To the members of the escort committee whose names you've already heard; I won't call them again, but thank you all for your kindness and your courtesies. A special thanks to my friend and yours, a gentlemen from Dare, Marc Basnight. Marc, your friendship is revered. Thank you so much. And I want to thank my Senate colleagues for accepting Marc's recommendation. You know, we have one leader at a time, and that's Marc Basnight and I'm just proud to be a part of the team. To all who come today for this ceremony, we appreciate your presence, Ervin Johnson and others, Reverend Holleman.

"Today we begin a new journey in this new year and new century and we have a new opportunity to solve old and new problems. You might ask, what are my priorities? Well, first of all, my priorities are the same ones Senator Basnight outlined to you earlier. I have not given too much thought, Senator Rand, to what my number one bill might be, but recently I was doing a little work in my law office and I had the opportunity to look at the mortuary tables, G.S. 8-46 for those who want to look them up, and I was looking up the life expectancy of one of my clients and I decided to check my life expectancy. Lo and behold, I found I only have about 20 years left, so one of the things I want to do is to amend the mortuary table. (Laughter and Applause) Once we get that bill going, we want to work together to make real in our lifetimes the dream of one nation, under God, liberty and justice for all, first, here in our State of North Carolina and then in our Nation. You know, this dream was spoken of, as you recall, Dr. King, Martin Luther King, Jr., whose birthday we celebrated just nine days ago. It is now the famous 'I Have a Dream' speech delivered at the Lincoln Memorial on August 28, 1963. It was also referenced by our forty-second President, William Jefferson Clinton, when he appointed a Commission on One America. As you recall, it was shared by our own Dr. John Hope Franklin, Senator Lucas, who's your constituent, and on January 5 our seventy-second Governor, and the first of this century, spoke of One North Carolina, and last Saturday our forty-third President, George W. Bush, spoke of building a single nation of justice and opportunity for all. I hope and I pray and I pledge to work with each of you that we, as legislators, will continue on the path that we've started on making our school systems and each and every community, rural and urban, rich and poor, the best for our students and to make our students the best in America. We also want to prohibit and continue to work on issues of racial profiling. We don't believe that arrests should have anything to do with skin color, or stopping people on our highways and streets should have anything to do with our ethnic background. We want to stamp out, with a program we started, predatory lending, and make sure that's done away with. And we want to make sure that our economic development is spread all across this great and beloved State of ours and to all of our citizens.

"Further, I believe that we should not have on our books laws that allow a person with the mental capacity of a twelve-year-old, one who is mentally retarded, to be executed. I think that is wrong. I don't believe we should allow race to be considered as a factor in who will be eligible for the death penalty or any other kind of penalty in North Carolina. And we should not allow innocent persons to sit on death row at Central Prison, and until we can get it right I believe we ought to look seriously at adopting a moratorium on the death penalty in this state. There should be no other Ronald Cottons. Remember, we delved into a young man in Alamance County who had spent eleven years in jail although he was innocent. Luckily, he was not on death row.

"We've made great progress here in North Carolina, but we've got miles to go before we sleep. As I close, I want to recall to you that when I was growing up in Bertie County on a farm that my daddy didn't own, working in the hot sun and the peanut fields, I had some big dreams. And, E.W. Lawrence, the hotter the sun got, the bigger my dreams got, but those were personal. I now have big dreams for my state, for my country, and for all of our people. When my son, Gary, was in the eleventh grade, he got a job at a factory called Almay in Oxford, North Carolina, and this job was working at the end of a conveyor catching boxes and stacking them. After he had worked a week he came home and said 'Dad, you know, I think I'm going to study a little harder next year. In fact, I want to try to make sure I get a scholarship.' Well, he got a scholarship to Hampton University and then he got a scholarship to UNC-Law School and I am proud that he is one of our new district court judges. Thank you, Gary Ballance. Stand and wave your hand. Say hello. But you know, that's just one story. There are thousands and thousands of other young people across this great state who have big dreams, and it's our job to make sure that they have an opportunity to realize and make those dreams reality.

"I believe we can dream and work together for a more perfect North Carolina where we hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men and women are created equal and they are endowed by their creators with certain unalienable rights and among those are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. You may say, 'Well, Senator, how long is that going to be?' Well, I talked to Dr. King the other day and he told me 'Frank Ballance, not long now.' And I said 'Doc, we're going to have some difficult days ahead.' He said, 'Well, we had them before. We overcame them.' It won't be long now because the obstacle to a moral universe is long, but it bends towards justice. Thank you very much."

ELECTION OF STATUTORY OFFICERS

Pursuant to G.S. 120.37, the President declares the floor open to receive nominations for the Office of Principal Clerk. The President recognizes Senator Lee of Orange County who offers the following nomination and remarks:

"Madame President, members of the Senate, I have a perfect record which I hope you help me maintain intact today. Of the two previous times I have risen in support of this person for the Office of Principal Clerk, she has been elected by unanimous vote. I believe the same will and should be true on this occasion. That person is Janet B. Pruitt. There is no one in this chamber who has had more varied experiences in this legislature than Ms. Pruitt. She has risen through the ranks to the high Office of Principal Clerk. She has performed her duty with distinction, with proficiency, with organization, and with clarity. She has maintained a high standard in record keeping, and she performs her duties in a way that keeps us in the Senate functioning like a well-oiled machine. I could spend a lot of time talking about Janet's background. I could spend a great deal of time exhorting her virtues as Principal Clerk and going through a long list of accomplishments in citing her record. All of you know her, you have worked with her, you have watched her function, and as we embark on the 2001-2002 Legislative Session with a myriad of challenges facing us, with the varied bills which will pass through this Chamber, with the number of amendments which have already started that will be put forth in relation to that legislation, the Principal Clerk's job will be a challenging one. The person whom we have supported through the years and hopefully will support today will continue to function in that high level and efficient fashion at which she has functioned during the last sessions. It is with a great deal of pleasure, a high honor, and a privilege to place in nomination for the Office of Principal Clerk, Ms. Janet B. Pruitt."

The President recognizes Senator Plyler of Union County who seconds the nomination and offers the following remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate and guests. I do appreciate this opportunity very, very much today to second the nomination of Janet Pruitt as Principal Clerk of the North Carolina Senate. Senator Lee has spoken very highly and well of Janet Pruitt, and I won't repeat a lot of the things he said but I do have a few things that I would like to say about Janet 'cause I have known Janet for many, many years. Janet is one of the hardest working people that I have ever known in this North Carolina General Assembly. She is working many, many hours when we're not here. She comes in early in the morning, she stays late at night. She has a wonderful organization of ladies and gentlemen that help her in the Principal Clerk's office. She does not get nervous, she does not give up; she continues to do exactly what is needed and what is called for in being Principal Clerk of the North Carolina Senate. Janet has been in state government for many years and this is the third time, I believe, that I've had the opportunity to stand up and second the nomination for Janet Pruitt, but again I would say that there is not another person in the other forty-nine states that will do a better job or equal what Janet Pruitt does to keep this Senate going and to keep us from making mistakes as much as possible. So, Madame President and members of the Senate and guests, it is a privilege for me to second the nomination of Janet B. Pruitt for the Principal Clerk of the North Carolina Senate for the years 2001 and 2002, and Madame President, I move that the nominations be closed and Janet B. Pruitt be elected by acclamation."

The motion by Senator Plyler that the nominations be closed and that Janet B. Pruitt be elected Principal Clerk of the 2001 Senate by acclamation prevails. The President declares Janet B. Pruitt duly elected and appoints, Senator Garwood, Senator Odom, and Senator Robinson to escort the Principal Clerk-elect, Janet B. Pruitt, to the Well of the Senate. The Honorable Elaine Marshall, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, administers the prescribed Oath of Office and the Chair directs the Principal Clerk to assume her seat.

The President declares the floor open to receive nominations for the Office of Reading Clerk. The President recognizes Senator Miller of Wake County who offers the following nomination and remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President, members of the Senate. I am proud to nominate for this low-tech office a familiar figure to us, Roy Clark. The members of this Senate have not had laptops in this Chamber, but on and off for forty-two years we have had Roy Clark, and why would we want laptops when we have Roy. Roy began his service in the old Capitol Building in 1959 and served there until 1965 as our Reading Clerk and has served continuously since 1975. He received an excellent education. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and if the fighting in this chamber, and even across the fountains sometimes seems tame to Roy, it is because he has seen real combat. He flew forty-five combat missions in the Second World War. He received honors that he surely did not want -- two Purple Hearts -- and an honor he says he did not deserve -- a good conduct medal. He worked for forty years in the tobacco business, seven in foreign sales. This Senate has done many foolish things in the last forty-two years and undoubtedly will do more foolish things in the next two years, but in no case can we blame our foolishness on the way that the bills were read. Roy adds color and interest to our proceedings and I urge his continued service as our Reading Clerk."

The President recognizes Senator Reeves of Wake County who seconds the nomination and offers the following remarks:

"Thank you, Madame President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I rise to second the nomination and to move that the nominations be closed and that the nomination be accepted by acclamation."

The motion offered by Senator Reeves that the nominations be closed and that LeRoy Clark, Jr. be elected Reading Clerk of the 2001-2002 Senate by acclamation prevails. The President declares LeRoy Clark duly elected and appoints Senator Carter and Senator Martin of Guilford to escort the Reading Clerk-elect to the Well of the Senate. Senator Carter is recognized and presents the Reading Clerk-elect, LeRoy Clark. The Honorable Willis P. Wichard, Associate Justice (Ret.) of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, administers the prescribed Oath of Office.

The President declares the floor open to receive nominations for the Office of Sergeant-at-Arms. The President recognizes Senator Rand of Cumberland who offers the following nomination and remarks:

"Thank you very much, Madame President, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate. It is my pleasure today to place in nomination the name of Cecil Goins as Sergeant-at-Arms for the Senate for the 2001-2002 biennium. Mr. Goins is a native of Moore County. He attended and graduated from North Carolina A&T State University. He served as a commissioned officer with the First Infantry Division in Europe and in this country, and then embarked upon a career with the United States Marshal Service where he served for twenty-five years in many different positions and many different areas of responsibility all across our country. He impressed me during those years. I had the opportunity to represent some people who by some misdirected sense had violated the laws of the United States, and Cecil was always the sort of person in court that you saw that treated everyone fairly. He treated everyone in the way that you'd want to be treated if you had the occasion to run afoul of the laws of our great nation. But he was always there, he was always the sort of person who acquitted himself of his responsibilities in a very serious way. He is married to Laverne, who recently retired from the Wake County School System. They have two daughters Carol, who is an attorney in Asheville, and Wanda, who is a college professor in Virginia. When one looks at Cecil's lifetime, it is a lifetime of service and of protecting society. I think for the last five terms he has done the Senate a splendid job as Sergeant-at-Arms. He has, I think, tried to work with each of us, tried to make our day more pleasant and our life a little more secure. So, Madame President, it is with great pleasure that I submit the name of Cecil Goins for the position of Sergeant-at-Arms.

The President recognizes Senator Ballance of Warren County who seconds the nomination and offers the following remarks:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate, Cecil Goins is a friend to all. Beyond that, he knows all of the rules and he knows the proper protocol. It is my honor to second the nomination. Madame President, I would move that the nomination be accepted by acclamation."

The motion by Senator Ballance that the nominations be closed and that Cecil Goins be elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the 2001-2002 Senate by acclamation prevails. The President declares Cecil Goins duly elected and appoints Senator Forrester, Senator Martin of Guilford, Senator Plyler, and Senator Soles to escort the Sergeant-at-Arms-elect, Cecil Goins, to the Well of the Senate. Senator Soles is recognized and presents the Sergeant-at-Arms-elect, Cecil Goins. The Honorable James A. Wynn, Jr., Judge, North Carolina Court of Appeals, administers the prescribed Oath of Office and the Chair directs the Sergeant-at-Arms to assume his seat.

From: Patrick J. Ballantine

REMARKS BY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The President of the Senate, The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, offers the following remarks:

"If you'll allow me just a very brief privilege, I promise ya'll -- I know it has been a long day. Members of the Senate and all of you distinguished guests, I take great happiness and honor in welcoming you to this 144th opening of the North Carolina General Assembly. It's really great to see the five new Senators and I look forward to getting to know you and to working with you. I am truly honored to be a part of this session. I come into this office with a history in this body with the highest respect for so many of you, each of you that I've worked with before. Your past accomplishments and the leadership of my friend, and the President Pro Tempore, Marc Basnight, has served North Carolina so well. Everybody in the State knows that when there is a hard job to be done you get the North Carolina Senate to do it, and I congratulate you for that. This Senate has given me ten of the best years of my life. Now I return to this Chamber in a different way, back with friends and folks that I think of as actual family to continue to work with you, for you, however, for the people of North Carolina.

"You know, our opportunities to do good are great, but the resources are limited. Aaron, I'm glad I'm not Appropriations Co-Chair this year. Ya'll are going to have a really tough time with all the members of the Senate. Tough decisions are needed for the tough questions that lie ahead -- tough decisions that require a united North Carolina, and a united General Assembly. Our challenge, I believe, today is to sustain within this Chamber, and within the House, working with Speaker Black's leadership, a cooperative working relationship so that we can all best serve the interests of the people who elected us, and work for the people of the State. And in challenging times, I know that you all realize we've got to ask everybody for more. We have to ask more from our students, and our teachers, and our parents. Increase the accountability and productivity from kindergarten through the university system. We have to ask more of our state and our local employees. Our state employees are expected at this time to have an even higher level of excellence in their performance from the people's workforce. We have to ask more from the private sector. We can't afford, as Senator Basnight so eloquently talked, to have two North Carolinas -- a poor one and a thriving one. And we have to ask more from all of the eight million people of this great State, and in doing so I know that we all realize that this is a two-way street, that as elected government leaders we must demand more from ourselves. That means putting the highest premium on joining together, getting the job done for the people on many issues, but if you will allow me, especially on excellent schools, specifically on maximizing the technology investment in education, on an economy that works for all hundred of our counties, and on reducing the cost of prescription drugs for our older citizens. Even in times of tremendous budget constraints, the state has to keep moving forward for our people. You all wouldn't be here today if you weren't committed to that. It's about our future. Let's get the job done for the people of North Carolina. You know, I'm ready to work with you. More often than not I understand my role -- that I will be working for you to keep North Carolina moving for the people of this marvelous state that we call home -- The Old Tar Heel State. Thank you for allowing me this opportunity."

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Eternal God, yesterday in Senator Basnight's speech, he outlined some difficult issues to be dealt with during this session. He was realistic yet hopeful.

"Using that same theme, if we could pen some sort of mutual statement of understanding with You at the very outset of this session -- a kind of confession of faith that we may use to call on You both corporately and individually for encouragement, it might read something like this:

" 'Oh God, You sometimes do less than we hope but you always do more than we know.' Thanks be to God! Amen."

Quote: Charles Poole, Northminster Baptist Church, 1999

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Kinnaird.

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Eternal God, there seems to be no biblical precedent for some of our cultural peculiarities such as boot camp, or rookie camp, or freshman athletes having to carry the tote bags of their senior teammates. It appears that for newcomers to the faith, just being in your presence, O God, was humbling enough.

"Even so, we pray tonight for first-time Senators Bingham, Berger, Cunningham, Swindell and Thomas for whom this experience may be both humbling and a little overwhelming. May the senior Senators serve as worthy mentors. May the enthusiasm that the new Senators bring to this place be energizing to all and may their enthusiasm be rewarded -- even on the days when they feel like they're carrying single-handedly all their colleagues briefcases. Thank you for hearing our prayer, O God. Amen."

With unanimous consent, the President grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Carter, Senator Garwood, Senator Harris, and Senator Hoyle.

Sometimes our prayers must reach beyond the walls of this Senate Chamber and the geographic boundaries of our state in behalf of devastated people like those in India.

CALENDAR

A resolution on today's Calendar is taken up and disposed of, as follows:

S.J.R. 19, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE FOUNDERS OF THE TOWN OF BISCOE ON THE TOWN'S CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY.

Upon motion of Senator Plyler, the joint resolution is read in its entirety.

Upon motion by Senator Foxx, the remarks of the members honoring the Town of Biscoe, are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Plyler:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate, and our distinguished guests that are in the gallery. There's about fifty people there from Biscoe with their families, and I would ask at a later time that you would recognize those, Madame President. It's an honor for me to be here today along with Senator Purcell to present this Senate Joint Resolution honoring the one hundredth anniversary of a wonderful town in Montgomery County that we represent. Biscoe in its one hundred years has accomplished a tremendous amount. I know that the resolution says the Crossroads of America. That is absolutely the Crossroads of America because 24/27 runs east and west and the other highway runs north and south. So it is, and the railroad is right there, so it is a town that has been developing for many, many years. One of the things that distinguishes Biscoe is the geographical center of North Carolina, which is right between Biscoe and Star in Montgomery County, and there is a marker there to designate the center of North Carolina and we are proud to represent the area as the center of North Carolina.

"Recently, on the twenty-ninth of January, they had a big, big party, and I mean it was one of the biggest parties that had ever happened in the Town of Biscoe or any other town. Charlie Gaddy, who everyone knows here has been around for years but is not here today, was the master of ceremonies there because he is a native of Biscoe. And, of course, the special occasion was to honor the World War II veterans from Biscoe, and they had a big band. The sound of the war years was recreated by the North Carolina Jazz Orchestra. In the 1940's, Biscoe had an 846 population. The number of 205 of those 846 served in the military, and nine of those lost their lives in the line of duty. For eighteen years I have represented Biscoe and Montgomery County and it has always been a pleasure to meet with the people there. Senator Purcell and I, along with the Representatives, meet with them very often. We have a wonderful community college there. The Uwharrie Mountains, if you have not been to the Uwharrie Mountain area, you should visit there sometime during the early spring or summer or even in the fall and see the beauties of it. That is the oldest mountain range in America, I am told, and you have the Uwharrie River, the Uwharrie Lakes region there, which is just one more beautiful place in North Carolina. I've traveled through there, as I've mentioned, and it always makes me feel much better to stop in Biscoe and Montgomery County and visit with the people on my way to Raleigh. I have several ways to Raleigh but there is no prettier trip than the one when I travel through Montgomery County and see the Crossroads of America. I am real honored to have a part in presenting this Senate Joint Resolution to you, and I want again to congratulate the Mayor and all of the people who have made this possible for this centennial, and I wish them very, very many more years of good leadership, good government, and good scenery in the Town of Biscoe. So, Madame President, I do urge everyone to join in with us in voting for this Senate Joint Resolution honoring the Town of Biscoe on this one hundredth anniversary. Thank you."

Senator Purcell:

"I join Senator Plyler in congratulating the Town of Biscoe on this hundredth anniversary and welcoming all of the people from Biscoe who came here today, the elected officials. Some of you who live in large cities may have difficulty understanding how nice it is to live in a small town where you know everybody and everybody knows you, and they know all about you. And that may be a disadvantage to some of us, but you never go through more than one or two stoplights when you're going to the grocery store. You can always find a place to park and people even speak to each other when they walk down the street. Biscoe is one of those places in beautiful Montgomery County as Senator Plyler has said, and I hope that someday when you are traveling down Interstate 73/74 from Greensboro going to the beach or somewhere that you'll veer off the road a little bit and drive through Biscoe and see what life in small town America is really like. Once again, I want to congratulate the Town of Biscoe, and even though I know one of my Senate colleagues received a speeding ticket in Biscoe, I hope he is going to forget that and join all of us and vote for this resolution honoring the Town of Biscoe."

Senator Rucho:

"Many times I go back to my home in Matthews and I used to just use the interstate and then some good advice came for me to go south on Highway 1 and come 27/24 through Biscoe, and I will tell you that it is a real treat to be able to go through some beautiful towns, and Biscoe being one of them, along that stretch. By the way, I was not the one to receive the speeding ticket. Especially during the Christmas time, we had the chance to go through there and I actually had my family with me, and it is a real beautiful town and North Carolina is very proud of having Biscoe be part of it."

The Chair grants a leave of absence for the remainder of today's session to Senator Robinson.

The joint resolution passes its second (49-0) and third readings and is ordered, without objection, sent by special message to the House of Representatives.

Upon motion of Senator Plyler and Senator Purcell, the President extends the courtesies of the gallery to the Mayor of Biscoe, Montgomery County Commissioners, the Centennial Committee, and community leaders.

Upon motion of Senator Basnight, seconded by Senator Ballance, the Senate adjourns at 2:08 P.M. to meet tomorrow, Wednesday, February 7, at 1:30 P.M.

NINTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, February 7, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Eternal God, we confess that our prayers often contain repetitious words, not unheard by You but disappointing sometimes because of what we leave out. We're good at confession -- we always have some transgression to confess. We pray thankfully -- the good we encounter promotes thankful words. We even pray well for others and for ourselves like a respectful child petitioning a parent.

"But what we sometimes forget is how worthy You are of praise! Help us to praise you as generously as we praise each other. Almighty God, You are ever present in the world around us, the spirit within us, and the unseen world above us. Let us carry with us this day a real sense of your power and glory. Great are You Lord and greatly to be praised. Amen."

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Horton.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, February 6, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

"O God, teach us the virtue of negation, the joy of resisting what the world sees as valuable in order to walk a different road that leads to an even fuller life. Yes, sometimes we are, like the medical professor described in the story, known best by our renunciations. Amen."

RECOGNITION OF SPECIAL GUEST

Upon motion of Senator Lucas, the privileges of the floor are extended to Conductor Andre Rafael Smith, a native of Durham, North Carolina. Senator Basnight appoints Senator Albertson, Senator Garrou, Senator Gulley, Senator Jordan, Senator Kinnaird and Senator Lucas to escort Mr. Smith to the Well of the Senate.

Upon motion of Senator Ballance, the remarks of Senator Lucas, Mr. Smith, Senator Gulley, and the Lieutenant Governor are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Lucas:

"Senators, you may be seated. I hope that you all will bear with me this evening, because we are in for a treat. Conductor Andre Rafael Smith enjoys the reputation as one of this country's most exciting artists. Committed to American music and new music, he has distinguished himself through interpretations of a broad spectrum of twentieth century works as well as a standard repertoire. Conductor Smith maintains an active career as guest conductor. He made a critically acclaimed debut with the New York Philharmonic last season, and has also appeared with the Cleveland and Philadelphia Orchestras, as well as with the Chicago Symphony, where he returns during the 2001-2002 season. In recent seasons he has conducted the National Symphony, Baltimore Symphony, Houston Symphony, Minnesota Orchestra, Atlanta Symphony, St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, Utah Symphony, Oregon Symphony, New Jersey Symphony, and Indianapolis Symphony, among others. He made his Carnegie Hall debut in 1997, conducting the Orchestra of St. Luke's and returned to lead that Orchestra the following season. During the 2000-2001 season, Conductor Smith makes his debut with the Auckland Philharmonia of New Zealand, and also leads the St. Louis Symphony, New World Symphony, Ft. Worth Symphony, North Carolina Symphony, which he just conducted, and the Hartford Symphony, among others. From 1994 to 2000, Conductor Smith served as Assistant Conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Highlights of his tenure included acclaimed performances of John Corigliano's 'Symphony No. 1' and many, many more.

"I'd like for you to know he has a strong and active interest in audience development and arts education, and served as music director of the St. Louis Symphony In Unison Program, a partnership between the Orchestra and local churches. He has also been a featured artist with NPR's 'Performance Today'. His commitment to education is also reflected in his work with orchestra at leading conservatories and training programs throughout our country. He frequently appears with the Juilliard Orchestra, and has also led performances at the National Orchestral Institute and with the Young Artists' Orchestra at Tanglewood. The reason I am presenting him along with Senator Gulley is that he was born in Durham, North Carolina, and he graduated from Hillside High School, so his public education came from Durham Public Schools. So you know that we are extremely proud, because he was under the tutelage of two great bandleaders, Oliver Hodge and Clark Edgerton; Oliver at Shepard Middle School, where now Senator Gulley's son is in attendance, and Hillside High School, where I taught for 18 years. Conductor Smith began his music lessons at age 11. He received a Bachelor of Music degree from the University of Miami and continued his studies at Yale University. By the way, he was born in 1962. That's why he looks so young. While at Yale, Conductor Smith began his conducting studies with Otto-Werner Mueller, and he pursued further studies with Maestro Mueller at the Curtis Institute of Music. I'm almost finished. At the Juilliard School where he was awarded the Bruno Walter Memorial Scholarship, he also received an advanced certificate in Orchestral Conducting. Because of Senator Lee's vision, we have him here this evening, and I don't think you all had an opportunity to hear him conduct the North Carolina Symphony last Saturday. Members of the Senate, it is my joyful pleasure to have come to this podium, Conductor Andre Rafael Smith. Conductor Smith, the podium is yours."

Conductor Andre Rafael Smith:

"To the Lieutenant Governor, the President Pro Tempore, and other Members of the Senate, as well as guests, it is a great pleasure for me to be here with you this evening to accept The Order of the Long Leaf Pine. I am deeply honored to stand before you and, as an honoree, to share in the tradition of this esteemed body. This past week has been very special for me. It was a thrilling experience for me to be in my home state conducting the North Carolina Symphony. In fact, the first orchestral concert that I attended as a child was an educational concert by the North Carolina Symphony. The acceptance of this award seems the perfect way to close my visit here. Growing up as a child in Durham, I dreamed of a career as an orchestral conductor. Those dreams were given substance by my exposure to a musical instrument in the public school system, and my participation in organizations like the Duke Youth Orchestra. These experiences formed the basis of my musical personality and helped me realize the key role that education plays in the development of an artist. There is something unique about this region. It is a place where family values are emphasized and where people are always willing to help their neighbors. It is where I learned the importance of hard work and discipline, and it is the only place where one can root vehemently for one of three college basketball powerhouses and then go out after the game and see arch rivals eating barbecue together. That is North Carolina. This is an exciting time for the arts in this area. The opening of the new Meymandi Concert Hall in Raleigh, and a new summer home for the Orchestra in Cary, will help bring classical music to new audiences and raise the national awareness of the great musical treasures this State has to offer. In closing, I want to thank you again for this award. It is an affirmation of my worth as an artist and my impact as a citizen but, in the end, it is the people of this area who really deserve the credit. They have helped shape my personality, work ethic, and the other important qualities which make me the person I am today. Thank you.

Senator Gulley:

"Thank you Mr. Smith, I appreciate Senator Lucas letting all of us and me join in making this presentation and, I want to give you this Order of the Long Leaf Pine, but I want to tell you first that we're so proud, both of your accomplishments and what it says about the State of North Carolina. We're so proud you're from the Durham community. My son does not just go to Shepard, but he also plays in the jazz band there and, I guess I have some hope now that something may come out of all that work. On behalf of James B. Hunt, Governor, who in one of his last acts as Governor awarded you the Order of the Long Leaf Pine which I have here, represents special confidence in the integrity, learning and zeal that you have, by conferring this order upon you with the rank of Ambassador Extraordinaire, privileged to fully enjoy all rights granted to members of this exalted order, including among which the special privilege of making the following North Carolina Toast: 'Here's to the land of the long leaf pine, the summer land where the sun doth shine, where the weak grow strong and the strong grow great, here's to down home, the Old North State.' "

Lieutenant Governor Perdue:

"Conductor Smith, on behalf of the Members of the Senate and all of us in North Carolina who love good music, I dream of going to Tanglewood someday, we would invite you to come back and conduct in our new hall that opens next week, Meymandi Hall that we're all so excited about. Senator Basnight and I would like to walk to the Well and present you with the North Carolina flag, but in receiving the Order of the Long Leaf Pine and receiving the flag, you must promise you will come back and do your business best in North Carolina."

Upon motion of Senator Lucas, the President extends the courtesies of the gallery to Conductor Andre Rafael Smith's wife, Jennifer Smith; his sister, Deborah Smith; his brother and sister-in-law, Carl and Cynthia Smith; his sister, Jessica Kerr; and his friends Joseph Farmer and Ivan Harrell.

Wednesday, February 14, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Loving God, many people today are wrapped up in the celebration of Valentine's Day. It may seem not a little strange to pray about love in this Senate Chamber. Maybe that's because in our world love has come to mean almost exclusively a feeling, or an emotion, or a sentiment, seldom engaging the mind or judgment or will. But when the preeminent bublicate law commands us to love you first and then our neighbors as ourselves, we realize that love is to be a way of life.

"Love takes courage, a square jaw, a clear mind, a thick skin and a short memory. This love takes patience and kindness and hope and endurance and commitment and faith, so that the good of the other is regarded as indistinguishable from one's own. That is precisely the kind of love that must be exercised every day in this place. Help us to that end. Amen."

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Jordan.

"Eternal and loving God, even on a night of such importance to the work of the Senate, when Governor Mike Easley will give his State-of-the-State Address, we give pause to hold in memory North Carolina Native Son, Dale Earnhardt, who was killed yesterday while racing at the Daytona 500.

"He brought enthusiasm, great energy and unrivaled popularity to a sport often associated with North Carolina. Though he had a reputation for being hard-nosed and intimidating, he spent the last minutes of his life protecting the lead for a teammate who would go on to win his first race in 463 career starts. What a fitting epitaph.

"During this time of grieving, be with Earnhardt's wife, his children, other family members, indeed all whom he touched as the greatest driver in Nascar history. Blessed are they who mourn -- for they shall be comforted. Amen."

Senator Soles is recognized and presents the Governor to the President of the Senate. The President presents his Excellency, The Honorable Michael F. Easley, who delivers the State-of-the-State Address to the 2001 General Assembly.

The Honorable Michael F. Easley:

"Before I begin tonight, I'd like to take just a moment to remember one of North Carolina's greatest ambassadors of good will - the great competitor. Dale Earnhardt, Sr. lost his life yesterday, suddenly and tragically. Please join me in a moment of silence for the Earnhardt family."

STATE-OF-THE-STATE ADDRESS

"Mr. Speaker, Senator Basnight, Lieutenant Governor Perdue, Members of the General Assembly, Mr. Chief Justice and Members of the Appellate Court, Members of the Council of State, honored guests, fellow citizens, I am proud to stand here before you tonight at the beginning of a bright new age for North Carolina, and I'm proud that my family is here with me, wife and best buddy Mary, and our son, Michael. This is the last place Michael wanted to be tonight. Well, you've got a lot in common. When I think of them, I think of all of North Carolina's families and our great future.

"We leave behind a decade that will long be remembered as one of the most rewarding in our history. Through triumph and great tragedy, the people of North Carolina rallied together like never before - for our schools, our communities, for our families. Our citizens poured out their hearts and their souls and helped North Carolina blossom into the finest place in all of America to live and raise a family. Our eastern counties, completely devastated a little less than a year and a half ago, are rebuilding with great vision and great courage. Our universities and community colleges are among the best in the nation. Our crime rate is lower than it has been in a generation and, for the first time in recent memory, the rest of the country is looking to North Carolina as the standard for improvement in education and child care.

"I want to personally thank you for putting people first and putting party differences aside. Good government is not about Democrats and Republicans. It's about children, seniors, and working families, and you put them first. I began working with you back when I was a prosecutor, trying to toughen criminal laws in the seventies and in the eighties and, as Attorney General, we worked together on almost every issue facing the State. I know when I set out to reach a national tobacco settlement, many of you had doubts, but you stuck with me. When I set out to remove the prison cap, again you had doubts, but you stuck with me, and when we set out to stop predatory lending, again we worked together. And I believe tonight that that same bipartisan spirit that we have enjoyed for so long will continue over the next four years. But too often, in my opinion, history records progress in this State under the name of the Governor's administration. Too often, we fail to recognize the vision and the leadership that exists in the halls of the General Assembly. Year after year, session after session, you have to make the tough calls and often suffer the consequences. So I think it's right that we remember that tonight, and on behalf of the people of the State of North Carolina, I say thank you to all of you.

"You're the first Legislature of the new century. You have a chance to be remembered as the group that brought sustained progress to North Carolina. You have a chance to make history and be remembered for it. In the past our progress and economic prosperity have run in cycles. We have invested in education in good times, then failed to complete the job when the economy slows. Our State has seen this cycle repeated decade after decade. We make great progress, only to see it erode. Friends, we've come too far this time. We have too much invested and too much left to do. What took decades to build will be lost overnight if we fail to make the critical investments in our people. Any state can make progress in good times, but it's the great states that make progress in tough times. It's the darkest hours that draw out our brightest stars, and now is the time for North Carolina to shine. For again, as we move from decade to decade, we face another budget shortfall. Again, we face the challenge. Again, we stand at the crossroads. We can go forward or we can let the budget turn us back. I have made my decision. I am going forward and I need you to go with me. Tonight, I urge you to be restless and to be dissatisfied with the status quo. If we're going to make progress, we have to be willing to change. The people of this State want change, they want progress, and it is our job to see that they get it. We'll have a balanced budget by June 30. That's my job and I'm going to do it. But next year's budget is one we write together. We will make tough calls and make sure the budget is balanced, but we must remove the deficit in the budget without compromising our progress. What bothers me most is not so much the budget as it is our attitude. We have a six-to-eight year momentum going now, and I don't want to see us get bogged down in the budget and fail to go forward. I was in church yesterday watching people walk down the aisle going to communion. I probably shouldn't have been watching, but I was. And they were all different sorts of people. They were older people; they were younger people. People blue collar, white collar, carrying children, walking with little toddlers by their side, holding their hands as they went down the aisle, and I thought 'They didn't elect us to balance the budget. That's a given. They think that's done. We're supposed to do that. They elected us to bring them some opportunities, to make for a higher and better quality of life for all of our citizens.' That's what we're here for -- for them. We have a responsibility to look ahead -- to look ahead beyond budget cycles and legislative terms. We have to think in terms of lives -- the lives of all of our people and the quality of life they all enjoy.

"So tonight I urge you to stand with me in a commitment to One North Carolina where every citizen in every region has a fair chance to succeed. North Carolina values require that we all work together to spread our success not by taking wealth from any region, but by sharing opportunity and expertise with every region. North Carolina must be one state where opportunity is equal. No excuses. We cannot accept excuses. No excuses means investing in our people. It means maintaining our commitment to education by making sure that every child in every county has every opportunity to succeed, regardless of economic condition. It means taking care of our seniors, those who took care of us for so long. It means protecting patients' rights. It means keeping North Carolina competitive in the global marketplace. It means protecting our environment so that our children can swim in the same waters and harvest the same land that we did. It means not using the tough economy as a reason to quit. Next year, more than 100,000 five-year-olds are going to start kindergarten, whether the economy is strong or weak. More than 1.3 million children will fill our classrooms to pursue a quality education, whether interest rates are low or interest rates are high. And those with illness and those with disabilities will still need our help, whether Wall Street is up or Wall Street is down. We must meet the needs of our people in good times as well as in bad, for it is during the tough times that we test our leadership, and our character and our commitment to the Golden Rule. Other states can choose their own course, but we in North Carolina choose to go forward.

"Our schools have made great strides, but in many parts of our State they are simply not the schools our children deserve. When we talk about being number one in education, let's stop and think about the context in which we are speaking. We basically have four parts to education in North Carolina and we are leading the way in three of them. The first is early childhood development where we are a national model in Smart Start. The second is the university system, which we were the first in the country to start a state-supported university, and we remain the envy of the nation today. The third is our community colleges, considered one of the most comprehensive systems in the country. And the fourth is K-12. It makes absolutely no sense that we can be a national leader in three of those categories yet lag behind in K-12. We can't be satisfied to be a leader in most categories of education; we must be a leader in every category of education. We can be number one. We're making real progress. We're beginning to turn the corner, and we cannot stop now. We can't let a budget shortfall become an education shortfall. This year, we have to break that cycle, finish the job, overcome any barrier to let those young minds flourish. We can't make excuses. I am here to tell you people are sick and tired of us investing in but coming up short in education. They don't want excuses, they want solutions. We're going to have to provide them. If we want our students to succeed, they must arrive at the schoolhouse door ready to learn, and once inside, they need an encouraging environment that allows them not just to pass but to excel.

"Tonight I am proposing a two-part initiative designed to give children the boost they need during their early learning years. First, the creation of a voluntary statewide pre-kindergarten program to prepare at-risk four-year olds for school. We know it works. Each year, our state lets thousands of at-risk four-year olds go without the help they need. There's no excuse. Those children deserve the chance to succeed. Pre-k Programs are already making progress in forty other states, including a highly successful program in Georgia. I won't tell you how they fund it. Our children deserve the same opportunity. With a Pre-k Program we can close the achievement gap that has been tolerated for far too long in this State. We will not be part of a system of education that discriminates against even one child in this State. Pre-k and smaller class size will solve that problem. Next, we have to take steps to ensure that the progress made in Pre-k won't be lost in grade school. We must reduce class size to eighteen or below in grades K-3. Students in smaller classes are more likely to stay in school, stay out of trouble, graduate and go on to college. We have great universities in North Carolina; let's educate our children so that they can use them. I'm asking you, the 2001 Legislature, to take the steps for our children and for our state. More testing alone is not the answer. Students need more knowledge. They must have a better environment to learn more if we expect them to score more. Almost forty percent of our children are in classes of twenty-six or larger. That's just too big. The best research from the Rand Institute, the Tennessee Star program and our own Burke County shows that smaller classes translate into higher performance. Smaller classes allow for more one-on-one instruction so that teachers can teach and students can learn. Achievement goes up, discipline problems go down, they don't get involved in as much juvenile crime and teachers are more likely to stay in the profession.

"We know it works. It's working right now in Burke County. They are following the model that I am recommending tonight. Those students in small classes outperformed their peers and continued outperforming them throughout their academic career. We know smaller classes work; there's no excuse not to do it.

"Now North Carolina is recognized for real accountability and high standards. But accountability is simply enforcing those standards and rewarding those who meet the standards and sanctioning those who don't. But we are simply not doing enough to help our students reach those standards. We can set all the standards we want and we can demand all the accountability we like, but unless we have those tools in place to help students learn more, they're not going to improve. Pre-k and lower class size are the tools that we need that we know work. If you give good teachers lower class sizes, they'll give you higher test scores. That much I guarantee you. But, they must be good teachers. That's why we must invest in the Teaching Fellows Program. It's based on a very simple principle. We pay teachers to go to school and they pay us back by teaching school. It helps us get and keep high-quality educators. Now the fun part. There's no free lunch. It takes revenue and I'm not talking about pocket change you find under the seats of the couches. Trust me, I've been there and I've gotten all that, and I didn't find any at the Governor's office. You're not going to find much over here, either. But in this tight fiscal environment, it's going to take some creative solutions to continue funding real progress in education. The truth is, North Carolina is already funding smaller classes and educational improvements. Unfortunately, we're funding them in other states - in Virginia, in Georgia, and soon South Carolina and Tennessee. We're spending hundreds of millions of dollars - North Carolina dollars - to build new schools in other states while we're packing our kids in trailers here at home. We are the only state that plays the lottery and gives away the proceeds, and I want to keep North Carolina's money in North Carolina's schools for North Carolina's children. Those resources should be here! There's Senator Edwards, who I want to thank for being here tonight, he sees it going on all over the country. And I'm tired of seeing our money go out of this state. But now I'm not saying a lottery for education is the only solution. It's just one solution and if anyone here, or anyone in the whole wide world has a better idea - another way to find the $400-$500 million for education, then I'm open to it. Show me the money. But you can't just say 'I am against a lottery for education'. You have to finish the sentence. Tell me what you're for, because next year 100,000 five-year-olds are going to show up at the schoolhouse door and they deserve more than an overcrowded classroom and an underpaid and overworked teacher. They deserve to know what we are for -- that we stand for a system that works for all children -- no achievement gaps, no excuses. I want to be evenhanded about this, and those of you who strongly oppose the lottery, I can provide you with four governors who will stand with you at a press conference and say that North Carolina should have no lottery for education or any other reason. They're the governors of South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia. They want to keep our money coming to their state.

"Now, we can do a lot with education that doesn't take much money. I talked earlier about four parts of education. There is another part that I believe is just as critical, if not more so, and that's parental involvement. As parents, we must make it a priority to be a part of our child's education. Let's put school accountability report cards in every household to tell parents exactly how many children are in their child's class and whether the teacher is certified in the subjects that they're teaching. That will get parents informed, empowered and involved. And, you know, we like to believe that children are taught respect, responsibility and character at home and in church, but the sad truth is so many of them are not. And, if they don't learn it at the schoolhouse, the next stop is the courthouse. I'm asking school boards across the state to implement a plan for character education to educate our children's hearts as well as their minds. It is working well in many counties in North Carolina. We can expand character education to every county in North Carolina. Our schools don't need students showing up in clothes laced with profanity. I'm asking every school board to enforce a reasonable dress code policy. I'm not talking about uniforms; we'll leave the dress codes up to the schools. Students come to school to learn, not to party, and the dress code ought to reflect that. Lastly, we're going to put more discipline in our classrooms so that those students who want to learn can learn. No parent should ever have to take their child out of a state supported public school because they fear for their child's safety, and no teacher should ever be asked to tolerate disrespect. So tonight, I am directing funds from the Governor's Crime Commission to establish more alternative schools across North Carolina. Right now there are over 7,000 students suspended or expelled each year who have no education option or solution. None at all. When we expel a student, they don't go away, they just leave school and they take their troubles to the streets. We have to be smarter about the way we deal with troubled kids or they'll just become problem adults and we'll deal with them in jail, and that's expensive. The truth is, we have a lot to do to improve our schools. Our schools can't be below average by any measure. We don't have below average children. They don't have below average ambitions, and we can't tolerate below average schools. We owe our students results. We owe North Carolina's future results - not excuses.

"There's no excuse for families being denied basic patients' rights - especially when they are paying for those rights. Tomorrow, we're introducing a Patients' Bill of Rights - bipartisan - that many of you have been working for. It will protect patients' rights and it will make our principle very clear. If an insurer denies access to its consumers and that denial results in injury then they must face the consequences just as a doctor, nurse or hospital does. Those insurers who are trying to limit your medical treatment have to accept the accountability as well as profit. And we'll have a prescription drug plan for our seniors. The rising cost of medication has caused too many, far too many, to choose between pain medication and antibiotics. The result is they end up sick, in the hospital - more cost for us, more suffering for them. We have the funds available from a portion of the tobacco settlement that you set aside to help our seniors, the greatest generation, those who fought World War II and the Korean War. They were there for us when we needed them and we're going to be there for them now that they need us. No excuses.

"Now, whether children, seniors or working families, we won't leave anyone behind in One North Carolina. Every citizen of every age and every location must be included in our one state - the young like the old, the rural and the urban, large cities as well as small towns. And as the new economy demands more technology, so must we teach it. As the new economy requires lifelong learning, we will provide it. For technology will not replace those enterprises and industries that have built this state and made it great. It will enhance them. We must be willing to make smart and targeted investments to attract new and better jobs. But we must close revenue loopholes that defy good business practice and fly in the face of fundamental fairness. I've asked former Treasurer Harlan Boyles to chair a commission to review tax incentives that cannot be justified in our current economic condition. The rule is pretty simple. This is one case I had to argue before the Supreme Court, and the question is: 'Is it a public purpose?' If it works for businesses and working families, it's a public purpose. If it just works for businesses, then it's not. And as we expand our economy to all of North Carolina, to every citizen in every region, we have to resist that temptation that's always there, to trade short-term economic gain for long-term environmental harm. We in North Carolina see the environment differently; it's not some abstract issue to us. We see the water as something the fisherman fish, the land as something that our farmers till and the air as something we all must breathe. Our environmental laws must be strengthened and they must be enforced. Now, I have proposed Truth in Penalties so that environmental fines can no longer be manipulated. These laws will be clear, they will be understandable and they will be consistent. And I urge you to continue the moratorium on open-air hog lagoons as we all work together to develop an affordable technology to replace them.

"As I close tonight, I ask you to set your sights high - high above the horizon, and remember your heritage and those eight million people - those people that you 170 are so fortunate and honored to represent. North Carolina was founded more than 400 years ago by pioneers who dared to search for a dream. Our state was built by the sweat and the grit and resolve of generations who dared to be the best. They made no excuses. That same spirit and that determination has stayed with us all these years. In the spirit that they brought to this land, let us go forward. It's the same spirit that led us to fly the first plane here in North Carolina. It's the spirit that helped us build the first and the finest state university. It's the spirit that drives you and me to work for the people, and it's the same spirit that will help us create One North Carolina. Let our accomplishments over the next four years, let them be remembered not as products of my administration, but as the legacy of this Legislature, the people's Legislature, one that was willing to be bold and aggressive, the '01 Legislature. And yes, we're going to have to make some tough calls, and some controversial decisions and take some political risks. I don't have to be in the Governor's office and you don't have to be in the General Assembly. But next year, five-year-olds have to be in kindergarten and six-year-olds have to be in the first grade. And these young minds are perishable commodities we can't just set on a shelf for two years. We have to act this year! So I say to you tonight, if we're going to be representatives of the people, then let's represent the people. If we're going to lead the State, then let's lead the State. We are not going to get there by being timid or cautious. We're going to get there by being bold and being aggressive and working together.

"Friends, I ran for Governor because I wanted to make sure that the working men and women of this state, those people who get up early, fight the traffic, pay the bills, wash the dishes, educate the kids, that they have a champion in Raleigh. They do in me, and I believe they do in you.

"So I pledge tonight that I'll fight as hard as I can for you, and I'll fight as hard as I can for North Carolina. I ask you to join me. Thank you, and God Bless North Carolina"

The Escort Committee is recognized to escort Governor Easley from the Hall of the House of Representatives, who departs to a standing ovation.

Upon motion of Senator Basnight, seconded by Senator Odom, the Joint Session is dissolved, and pursuant to the motion prevailing earlier in the Senate, the Senate adjourns to reconvene tomorrow, Tuesday, February 20, at 3:00 P.M.

SIXTEENTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, February 20, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"From the book, Children's Letters To God, we have the following prayer: 'Dear God, how come you did all those miracles in the old days and don't do any now?' Your Friend, Seymour.

"In light of the budget deficit and Governor Easley's worthy, yet challenging goals for our State, I believe the Senators would not be ashamed to offer their own prayers, like Seymour, for fresh evidence of a miracle or two. Miracles described in holy scripture were not magic tricks, but the result of faithful labors of love. Defined that way, miracles are possible to those who have faith. We believe, O God, help our unbelief. Amen"

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, February 19, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Walter Averel Ward, Jr. from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Kim Barkley from Archdale, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

H.J.R. 139 (Senate Committee Substitute), A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE MEMORY OF THE BUFFALO SOLDIERS OF THE FRONTIER.

Upon motion of Senator Dannelly, the joint resolution is read in its entirety.

Upon motion of Senator Shaw of Cumberland, the remarks of the Members are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Horton:

"Thank you, Madame President. This is a resolution that came from the House, offered by our colleague from Forsyth County, Representative Larry Womble. It involves a recognition of black soldiers. The Buffalo Soldiers were after the War Between the States. They were organized as a separate unit, largely as a myth that we have had in this country for a long time that has now finally been exploded, and that was that blacks did not lend themselves to disciplined army operations. For that reason they weren't being used in the War Between the States initially, and then it turned out, by golly, that they were among the best soldiers on either side. As your resolution indicates, 180,000 served in the Northern armies during the War for Southern Independence, and it turned out on March 13, 1865, Jefferson Davis authorized the enlistment of black soldiers into the Confederate armies. In this case he was a little late, because they had already been fighting alongside the Confederate Armies. At the Battle of Antietam, Stonewall Jackson had 3,000 fully equipped and armed black troops fighting for the South. Nathan Bedford Forrest had a number of others and is quoted as saying: 'These boys stood with me,' and 'better Confederates did not live.' An estimated sixty to ninety thousand served in gray uniforms during the War Between the States and should have laid aside forever this myth that blacks could not be disciplined and used as an army. But then, after the war, things went back, and it took the Buffalo Soldiers to show what valor could be. These were organized to fight the Indians in the western part of the United States, and one case in 1867, less than 70 repulsed 900 Indians and Mexican bandits combined. They become so well known as fierce fighters that the Indians called them the Buffalo Soldiers, because they were such tough, immense creatures and took to the plains so well. In 1992, Colin Powell made a monument to the memory of the Buffalo Soldiers at Fort Leavenworth, which was their last place of assignment. The Buffalo Soldiers and this resolution remind us of a time and of a people among whom uncommon valor was a common occurrence."

Senator Garrou:

"Thank you. I want to join my colleagues, Representative Larry Womble and Senator Ham Horton from Forsyth County in this resolution, and I would just encourage you to look at the names and see if there're some folks whose names are on here from the districts that you represent. Sergeant William McBryar of Elizabethtown, Frank Pullen of Enfield and Wade Hammond of Durham, who served with the Buffalo Soldiers, were North Carolinians who put their lives at risk to represent their people and to serve others, and I would just urge you to join us in this resolution. Thank you."

Senator Ballance:

"Thank you, Madame President. When I was studying in Bertie County a few years ago in elementary and high school, I didn't read about the Buffalo Soldiers. And I stand for the simple reason, when I was on my way to the General Assembly this morning about seven-thirty listening to the 'Tom Joyner Radio Show,' some of ya'll listen to that show, and they had on an African American professor from Harvard University, and one of the questions that was put to him was: 'Why do we celebrate Black History? Why are we always pointing out what these folks did?' And the answer was what I've said earlier. Unfortunately, many of these attributes and many of these historic measures that were taken by African Americans were left out of the history books. So if it were not for Black History Month, which we're celebrating this month, we probably would not have this resolution on Buffalo Soldiers."

The Senate Committee Substitute joint resolution passes its second (50-0) and third readings and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives for concurrence in the Senate Committee Substitute bill.

S.B. 2 (Committee Substitute), A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT THE GOVERNOR AND LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR RUN AS A JOINT TICKET IN THE GENERAL ELECTION, TO CLARIFY THE STATUS OF ACTING GOVERNOR, TO PROVIDE THAT THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR SHALL BE NOMINATED BY THE PARTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, RATHER THAN UNDER THE PRIMARY ACT, TO PROVIDE THAT IN THE CASE OF A VACANCY IN THE OFFICE OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, THE GOVERNOR SHALL APPOINT A SUCCESSOR SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION, AND TO PROVIDE THAT THE PROCEDURES FOR REMOVAL OF THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR ARE THE SAME AS THOSE FOR REMOVAL OF THE GOVERNOR.

The Committee Substitute bill passes its third reading (41-9) and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives.

But every bill submitted here embodies compassion.

TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Almighty God, the state budget is clearly headline news today. At the beginning of the legislative session four years ago, when the state budget silos were full, I remember praying that surviving prosperity is more difficult than surviving adversity. I hope that statement bears truth, but I confess that it is easy for the prayer to be philosophical on a full stomach! This year the Senators are having to deal with and survive adversity. Give them wisdom and judgment and discerning hearts for this difficult task.

"You said, 'Take my yoke upon you for my yoke is easy and my burden is light. There you shall find answers to your problems and rest for your souls.' We claim that promise! Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Martin of Pitt, Senator Miller, Senator Reeves and Senator Warren.

THIRTIETH DAY

Senate Chamber
Thursday, March 15, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Almighty God, apologists, when defending a certain cause of issue, sometimes put so much effort into what they do they may end up not so much defending the issue because they believe it is true as believing the issue is true because they've worked so hard and long to defend it.

"That was not the case yesterday. Those of us fortunate enough to hear the debate on Senate Bill 71 realized what the Senators do best, that is, exercise reasoned debate over what is good or better for the people of our State.

"Thank you for allowing the rest of us present yesterday to participate as listeners in this respectful debate. It made me feel proud of the fact, like the late Charles Kuralt, that North Carolina Is Our Home.

"May God's grace continue to abound, Senators, in your role as apologists! Amen."

THIRTY-SECOND DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, March 20, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, I guess we need to be reminded over and over again that the purpose of our desire for a relationship with you is not to keep us happy or make us prosperous or cure our headaches, however much, incidentally and indirectly, it may do that. The purpose of our faith journey is to help us stand, to keep our footing in good times and to make something of ourselves in the struggles of life.

It is just not true (as some would have us believe) that adversity is the mark of your disfavor and prosperity the evidence of your smile. Thank you for the promise of your presence regardless of our circumstances. Amen"

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Martin of Pitt.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, March 19, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. George Podgomy from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Penny Faulkner from Raleigh, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

"O God, forgive us when we give our best efforts to the wrong things. Sometimes we even become irritated about things which in reality matter little at all.

"So help us see what is important and unimportant so that we may never forget the things that matter, and so that we may never allow the things which do not matter to matter too much. To Your Glory we pray, Amen."

THIRTY-FIFTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Monday, March 26, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you. O God, if we were able to live out that statement successfully, Chief Justice Lake would have little to say to the General Assembly tonight. But just as soon as we think we understand who deserves what, we look into the mirror and realize that we have been unmerciful or unjust in our own dealings with others. Forgive us.

"Your love, O God, has endured much suffering for our sake and that, in fact, is our acquittal. The justice and mercy of the Lord is ultimately one. Thank you for the hope in that reality. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Hagan, Senator Harris, Senator Hartsell and Senator Odom.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, March 22, 2001, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Jeffrey Scott Shilt from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Jennifer Slepín from Raleigh, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY ADDRESS

"Thank you all for that wonderful welcome. It's almost like an old timey homecoming. I appreciate it.

"Lieutenant Governor Perdue, Speaker Black, President Pro Tem Basnight, Members of this General Assembly, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen, thank you for the invitation tonight to share with you the progress and overall status of North Carolina's Third Branch of Government, our Judicial Branch. It is indeed an honor for me to be given the privilege of entering this chamber to address a joint session of this General Assembly.

"If I may, I would like to begin on a point of personal privilege. Twenty-four years ago, I was given another honor which I greatly cherish. The people of Wake, Harnett, and Lee Counties made me a Member of this General Assembly. Because of my years here, I know how hard you work, the burdens of your constituent service and what a great overall joy it is to represent and serve as you do all the people of North Carolina. There are six members of this Assembly who were here and served with me when I was a member. I served with some great people during my years here, and these six are still here and serving. They are Senator Plyler, Senator Soles, Representative Brubaker, Representative Easterling, Representative Holmes, and Representative Nye. I would like to pay a special tribute tonight to these six members who have rendered such long and laudable service to the State of North Carolina. Thank you.

"One of the primary goals which we have worked toward over the past several years, under the good leadership of our last two Chief Justices, has been the enhancement of the partnership which we share, wherein you make our laws and we apply them – consistent, hopefully with your intent, our Constitution and the Common Law. In working toward this real partnership goal, it is critical that we continue to improve the sense of partnership between the Legislative and the Judicial Branches. To this end, it is essential that we in the Judicial Branch be forthright and accurate in anticipating our needs and in communicating them to you. This I am committed to do. It is, I believe, reflective of this commitment that, in filling the very critical position of Director of our Administrative Office of the Courts, I chose Judge Robert Hobgood, a former member of this General Assembly. He has worked with you through the years and he is, as you know, a man in whom we all can have complete confidence and who will greatly enhance our partnership.

"Now, with that preliminary, I am pleased to report to you that tonight the State of the Judiciary is generally good and justice in North Carolina has improved, thanks in large part to the recent actions of this Body in moving our courts further into the technological age. This is the message reflected in our year 2000 Annual Report, which outlines a number of accomplishments and some of our concerns for the future. A copy of this report is hopefully before each one of you here tonight.

"As you well know, it is simply a fact of life that today we live or die by the computer. From the county magistrate's office to the Supreme Court, new technology saves valuable time, a great deal of money, and lives. Our law enforcement officers are back out on our streets more quickly, and our citizens don't have as long to wait for critical services at our 100 offices of clerks of courts. The Clerk's Office of the Supreme Court is the first in the country to offer e-filing. Since its inception a year and a half ago, 88 briefs have been filed with very substantial cost savings. We thank you for understanding our most critical court needs in the area of technology.

"In terms of case management and backlog, our courts are doing reasonably well in light of the continued, substantial increase in cases and petitions filed at all levels each day. I am pleased to report that at the end of the year 2000, the Supreme Court was current and today is able to set cases for oral argument without delay. Our Court of Appeals judges continue to work exceptionally hard, and they produce an incredible number of well-written opinions. Last year 1,592 appeals were filed with that court, and notwithstanding the election, the court disposed of 98% of them by written opinion. The Court of Appeals judges welcome the three new judgeships which you created last year. Our 105 Superior Court Judges across the State disposed of 285,408 cases last year, approximately 96% of the cases filed, and our 235 District Court Judges, incredibly, disposed of nearly 2.5 million cases, or 98% of the total cases filed.

"As you can see from these numbers, our trial judges, these 340 public servants, who like you, are elected by our people, are doing a tremendous amount of work, and they are doing it exceptionally well. However, they are no longer able to keep pace with the incoming surge of people seeking help from our courts. In this regard, I would like to recall the words of former Chief Justice Burley Mitchell in his 1999 address to you, and I quote. 'Our trial courts are struggling but holding their own. They will not be able to do so much longer without help.'

"These words were prophetic, as was the report of the internationally respected Gartner Group, which warned of severe, pending problems due to lack of technology in our courthouses across the State. Your initial funding has already been used to begin a number of urgently needed and cost-effective programs. Now I emphasize 'to begin' because without additional or at least continuation funding, these programs will falter and fail, and the investment made to date in these programs will be lost.

"These programs include Courtflow and Casewise computer systems enabling much more efficient management of cases; an Automated Judgment Abstracting System; and a Set-Off Debt Collection Program, which last year collected more than $2 million for future indigent defendant representation by tracking the tax returns of former defendants still owing the State money.

"This is good news and a good beginning, but let me again recall the words of former Chief Justice Mitchell in his message two years ago. He stated 'Many elements of the existing equipment, software and communication vehicles are so old and outdated that we cannot begin to meet the needs of the various users across the State.' We need funding to purchase updated replacement technology, to maintain the new programs in which our partnership has invested, and to provide the training resources which we must have throughout the State.

"We are now, by evolution, committed to the course of technology. If you will pardon the analogy, we have launched our boat on a rapid river, which we now must follow. There is no turning back and if we do not stay the course, we will flounder. If we do that, it will cost the taxpayers of North Carolina many millions of dollars to relaunch and get back to where we are now and millions more to recover lost ground.

"Now, I fully understand the magnitude of our budget crisis, and we are doing our part to help. I implemented a hiring freeze, a hiring slowdown on March 1 and that is now a freeze. Additionally, we have taken steps to meet the request of the Office of State Budget to reduce our next year's budget by more than $3.6 million. However, I would be remiss if I did not advise that this restriction on our budget – this cut – will deeply and severely impact our ability to serve the people of North Carolina.

"There are several items I must bring to your attention that are very pertinent as you consider the budget. Last year, we had more than forty positions with start dates other than July 1, and the continuation budget funding for these positions is for only part of a year. Thus, we are scrambling to find funds to pay these positions for a full year. For example, the three new Court of Appeals positions were budgeted on a continuation budget for only six months. We have new and essential courtroom space under construction that must receive basic equipment, such as telephone systems. Further, we were provided nonrecurring funds last year for items that are in fact recurring expenses, such as rent for the Business Court in Greensboro. This is a normal operating expense, necessary to sustain the work of the Business Court, which you authorized last session and which is making our overall court system much more efficient. We are in critical need of funding in these areas just to remain open.

"Before this General Assembly convened, we had the State Judicial Council approve an expansion budget which was carefully prioritized in accordance with absolute need. The highest category, setting forth our critical needs, calls for $2,498,000 for fifteen new positions and basic support equipment. The next highest category calls for $16,074,000 for 220 positions and basic support equipment. Now these are real priority needs of the Judicial Branch.

"Speaking of priority needs, let me cite you one example where we have been much less than cost efficient. It is not an infrequent occurrence for a Superior Court Judge to open court on a Monday morning for the call of the calendar and the trial of an important case. The attorneys are in place, the litigants are there, the witnesses are there, the clerk of court is there, and the courtroom is filled to overflowing with prospective jurors from all across the county. The case is ready to proceed, with one notable exception. There is no court reporter. The entire process disintegrates, not just for that one case, that one important case, but generally for the entire session of court.

"The damage for this kind of breakdown is measured not just in the cost of wasted time and resources, but also in the enormous amount of bad will and hostility generated and directed toward the court system by all of those citizens who have been made to waste a considerable amount of valuable time out of their lives. The cost of a court reporter is minimal compared to this. Also, the lack of sufficient court reporter time is probably the single factor most responsible for extreme delay in appellate review of cases. I urge you to get us at least four court reporters as a priority matter.

"Now, I would like to get away from the numbers and try to put a human face on our judicial system. Thanks to you, we now have in place, and operating well, a number of new programs designed to help individuals, families, and most important, our children. Most of these programs might be described broadly under the term 'therapeutic justice.' This simply means that litigants and those close to them normally spend more time receiving counseling and related services and less time in the courtroom. These innovations include such programs as drug treatment courts, family courts, sentencing services, custody mediation, arbitration, foreign language services and our Guardian Ad

Litem Program.

"In just a few years, we have achieved some very positive results through our Drug Treatment Courts. As you know, the majority of criminal cases arising in our trial courts have a direct connection to substance abuse. Since its inception, this court program has been giving many substance abusers the incentive to kick their destructive and often fatal habits. The Drug Treatment Courts require much more time and energy on the part of our judges and other court personnel than do ordinary courts. They are by all standards 'labor intensive.'

"The Family Courts are also very labor intensive but, in my opinion, they are well worth the extra investment. We began with three and now have eight Family Courts in operation. These kinder, family-friendly and more efficient courts are helping families resolve their conflicts through mediation and treatment programs, often without ever having to see a judge. This saves valuable court time and space for other cases. When these cases do come to trial or court, since one judge hears all of the family's multiple issues, he or she has a much better grasp of the family's history and can make a much more appropriate resolution. Judge Paul McCoy reports that the program in Halifax County has been well received, with litigants much better satisfied with the outcome of their cases.

"With Sentencing Services, our judges are getting the information they need to improve and impose appropriate sentences that make the best use of available resources, again thanks to legislation passed by this Assembly last year.

"Our Custody Mediation Program is seeing significant success. When divorcing parents are in conflict, which is almost always the case, the children of the marriage, naturally, are the ones who suffer the most. The State's Custody Mediation Program provides the opportunity for parents to turn difficult situations into problem-solving opportunities. Last year, more than 2,000 couples ended their disputes and worked out parenting agreements through custody mediation offices. Judge Clarence Horton, Chairman of the Custody Mediation Advisory Committee, reports that divorced and separating parents across North Carolina have embraced the opportunity to resolve their own parenting issues through this program.

"Likewise, we are seeing marked success in the area of arbitration. At least 70% of the people who go through arbitration find a quick resolution and are satisfied by the outcome of their case. About three fourths of the counties now have an arbitration program, and we would like to see it expanded statewide.

"Thanks to grants from the State Bar's IOLTA program, the Reynolds Foundation and the Governor's Crime Commission, our new Foreign Languages Service Project is off to a strong start, with our training programs producing an increasing number of certified court interpreters. Last year, this General Assembly authorized funds for interpreters for civil domestic violence cases, and in all types of cases, these interpreters are proving to be critical to the needs of our exploding Hispanic population. The time has come to make the Foreign Languages Services Project a permanent part of our court administration.

"Last year, you established a new, independent commission to develop guidelines and oversee the Indigent Defense Program. This kind of accountability was needed for many years. The Commission is charged with overseeing the 60 plus million dollar indigent defense budget and developing control regulations. The right to an attorney, especially for the poor and less advantaged, is one of the pillars of our judicial heritage. The goal of the Office of Indigent Defense Services is twofold, to improve the quality of services for indigent defendants and to control the cost of these services. I urge your continued support of this important program.

"One of the finest examples of your proactive, people-oriented court system is seen in our Guardian Ad Litem Program. This program makes a tremendous difference in the lives of literally thousands of our children each year. During the last fiscal year, this program provided essential representation to 15,364 children through more than 3,500 volunteers and 99 attorneys.

"These many services, which are provided by thousands of dedicated people each and every day, including Saturdays and Sundays, are making a real difference in the quality of life for all of the people of North Carolina. These services address the fundamental, personal problems so important to the daily lives of our people, and they are the responsibility of our judicial system, over and above our core constitutional mandate to give just and speedy resolution to all cases for trial in our courts.

"I want to emphasize one important factor in connection with the overall work of our courts and especially these service-oriented programs. Your judicial system, with almost three million cases filed each year, deals with and affects, on a daily basis, the lives of thousands of our most precious assets - our children. Our future, through the lives of these children, is directly impacted through our juvenile and domestic courts and the other programs I have mentioned. In this regard, I want to stress to you that each and every one of these children is just as important to the State of North Carolina as any child in our public schools or in Smart Start, and I submit to you they are much more at risk. We must not let them down by failing to fund their future.

"For many years now, our entire third branch of government, our Judicial Branch, has been required to operate with less, less than 3% of all funds available to the State of North Carolina. With that level of funding, we have not been able to meet adequately our constitutional responsibilities and expand our services as demanded by our growing population. Now, we find that with the current budget crisis, which we fully understand, we are being asked to curtail all critically needed expansion and even cut substantially into our continuation budget. We recognize that we are being asked to do this while other programs in other areas are recommended for further substantial expansion. In this regard, I submit to you that there are at least three institutional areas within our government which should be close to sacrosanct, even in times of severe crisis. Our public schools should remain open and effective for all; our health-care facilities should remain open and available to all; and our halls of justice should be open, effective and accessible to all.

"In closing, let me mention one additional, substantial concern. As the Futures Commission of the Courts reported to us several years ago and as we see even more clearly today, there is a growing lack of confidence and trust in our legal system, including our courts. Many in our society today have little or no confidence in the integrity of our legal system. In my opinion, this stems more from a lack of understanding, a lack of knowledge rather than personal experience. In any event, this is having a direct, negative impact on our ability as a society to continue to live together under the rule of law. If our laws and our courts are not respected because they are perceived to be discriminatory or dishonest, then we are moving inexorably toward a level of disorder and societal breakdown that law enforcement and our courts cannot address. In order to halt and reverse this sharp trend, we need to begin to better educate our people, particularly our young people, about the uniqueness and incredible value of the legal system which we enjoy and which has made this country the greatest nation in the history of mankind.

"In my opinion, the State of North Carolina should teach substantially more history and civics in our public schools, not less. Our young people simply cannot appreciate the value of that which they have no knowledge. I believe that 'The Greatest Generation,' about which Tom Brokaw so eloquently wrote, was that greatest generation, in our time of greatest need, because they were taught, and thus knew, our history, our governmental institutions and our traditional values. Without such knowledge, our next generation will not come through as that one did.

"I have discussed these concerns with my friend Mike Ward, our Superintendent of Public Instruction, and I believe he shares this view. I told him that I was willing to commit our Judicial Branch in a concerted effort to assist our schools, in ways that will cost no money, in teaching our young people to know and respect our system and our laws, the people that make them and the people that apply them. To this end, I ask your help so that in working together we can remain One Nation Under God With Liberty and Justice For All.

"Thank you again for the opportunity to speak to you. I wish for each one of you a very successful legislative session and a very good evening. Thank you all."

The Members of the General Assembly respond to the address of the Chief Justice with a standing ovation.

"O Lord, I think of the Senators, the Lieutenant Governor and the staff here as the Senate family. I believe it's a well-deserved title. But it wasn't too many years ago that we were a diverse people, separated, walled off from one another.

"Now, by the courage of many and by your great grace we have been brought together. Old boundaries, old walls have been overcome, bridged. We who were once strangers have become family.

"So help this Senate family to demonstrate to those who would observe here that You, O God, do make possible the existence of a family who is able to live by their strong convictions and diverse viewpoints, but as brothers and sisters in all that they do and say. To Your glory we pray, Amen."

FORTIETH DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, April 3, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Haywood Holderness, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Durham, North Carolina, as follows:

"Gracious God, we are indeed thankful to live in this particular State, a state in which we can unite our prayers and resources to go to the aid of flooded counties down east; a state in which we are able to set aside deep-seated athletic rivalries and join our voices in making a joyful noise about one of our local teams.

"Holy God, we pray for the women and men who govern. Spread among them your many gifts, the wisdom of Solomon, the kindness of Jesus, the strength of Rebekah, the courage of Tamar, the love and justice of Amos, the encouraging and supportive spirit of Barnabas, and the patience of Job. Give to them the good sense to recognize which gifts are theirs, and then to use those gifts to promote the general welfare of all your people. This prayer we make in the name of the One we deem to be holy. Amen.

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Martin of Pitt.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, April 2, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Peter George Mangone from Asheville, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Sue Ellen Miller from Statesville, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Gracious God, this is a very busy day in the Senate Family, so give the staff and Senators here an extra measure of patience and perseverance until all the public bills are filed. On days like this, so full of activities and responsibilities, let us always remember not only who we are but whose we are!

"While so many judge us and put a great emphasis on our lives of outer service, let us be determined to put a corresponding emphasis upon our inner lives of devotion to you. Then we shall find a peace that passes all understanding and rest for our souls. To Your glory we pray, Amen."

FORTY-SECOND DAY

Senate Chamber
Thursday, April 5, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Marc Basnight, President Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Creator God, it is spring in North Carolina! We are reminded that beauty is to our spirit what food is to our bodies. A glimpse of the dogwoods, azaleas, pear and cherry trees fills an emptiness in us like nothing else under the sun can. Unlike food, however, this beauty is something we can never get full of.

"The beauty of holiness is how the Psalms name it (Psalm 29:2) or as the deer longs for flowing streams, so our souls long for you (Psalm 42:1). Thank You for the beauty of spring in North Carolina, and our awareness that the earth is Yours, O God, and the fullness thereof. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Martin of Pitt and Senator Webster.

Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Wednesday, April 4, 2001, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Vardaman Moore Buckalew from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day.

FORTY-THIRD DAY

Senate Chamber
Monday, April 9, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Marc Basnight, President Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Eternal God, holy scripture says that to those of us who believe in you, that the works you do we shall do also, and even greater works shall we do! To do greater works than you? Such a thought would be totally presumptuous if it were not written in scripture as truth and encouragement.

"Embracing both, enable the Senators and staff this week to do more and be more than they could ever think of imagine. Dwell within them that they may do your work and your will in this place. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Gulley, Senator Martin of Pitt and Senator Reeves.

Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, April 5, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President Pro Tempore of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. William Weston Hedrick from Raleigh, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Jennifer Slepín from Raleigh, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

Senator Thomas:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate. Thank you for considering this resolution which honors members of past General Assemblies and the first Tryon Palace Commission. As you know, the first session of the General Assembly of our State convened on April 7, 1777 in the town of New Bern, in the government house generally known as the Palace. The Palace had been built earlier by British Governor William Tryon as the first permanent capital of the colony of North Carolina. This month marks the two hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the very first Session of the General Assembly, which convened in New Bern at the palace. The Assembly met in April and May and again in November and December. I'd like to take you back for a few moments if I can to New Bern in 1777, by reading some excerpts, Senator Horton, from the North Carolina history book. Imagine yourself serving as a member during that session. I think many of the issues that were faced will sound familiar to us today.

"The Executive Branch of the new government began operation in January of 1777 when Richard Caswell and other officials took the oath of office. Caswell's inauguration was a great occasion. The Virginia Gazette reported, 'On Friday last, his Excellency, Richard Caswell, Governor of this State, arrived here. He was met about six miles from town by about thirty gentlemen on horseback, who accompanied him to New Bern, the bells ringing as soon as he entered the town to be conducted to Mr. Edward Renford's tavern. He received from the continental officers and soldiers a salute with small arms, the Fort Pennsylvania Farmer and other vessels in the harbor fired many guns under a display of the colors of the United States, and in the evening the town was highly illuminated. On Monday the 13th instant the inhabitants assembled and waited upon his Excellency with the congratulatory address.'

"The first General Assembly of the Independent States convened in New Bern on April 7. Samuel Ashe of New Hanover was elected Speaker of the Senate, and Abner Nash of Craven was elected Speaker of the House of Commons. The new legislature faced many problems and enacted many laws to conform to the provisions of the 1776 Constitution. Since the state was at war, many of these statutes dealt with military matters. A new militia law was passed, among others. Here's where you will hear some of the issues that we are faced with today. A law to prevent domestic insurrections was enacted and the forging or counterfeiting of bills of credit and lottery tickets was made a felony punishable by death. The General Assembly reenacted the ordinance declaring that parts of the common law and former statutes were still enforced. They divided the state into six judicial districts and six judges were elected. Laws were passed for the creation of county courts, the regulation of their procedure, the appointment by the legislature of sheriffs, justices of the peace, registers, constables, and coroners in the counties. Three new counties were added, Caswell, Camden and Burke were created. The new state government went into operation during one of the darkest hours of the American Revolution. Military problems transcended all others. Troops had to be raised, organized, trained, equipped and maintained. Military aid had to be rendered to other states and requisitions of the Continental Congress for men and money had to be met. There were problems unifying the state politically, of conciliating diverse political interests. The defects of the 1776 Constitution soon became apparent. There was a decline of popular interest in the Constitution and evidence of decline in support of the new government. The chief defect was the inequitable distribution of seats in the General Assembly. So, they had to deal with redistricting.

"In spite of the aversion of the people to taxation, the General Assembly was forced to resort to a general property tax. In April of 1777, it authorized a general assessment of all property and levied a tax of one half-penny on each pound value of all lands, lots, houses, money at interest and other things. This was the first ad valorem tax ever levied in North Carolina and introduced a new principle of taxation. It might appear that their taxes should have raised large sums, but they did not. Loose methods of assessment, inefficiency of administration, and other problems consumed a large percentage of the revenues. Then in 1781, the State was in desperate financial straits. Governor Nash reported to the General Assembly of 1780 that the treasury was empty and the State's financial resources exhausted.

"So you see, though our colleagues lived in a different time, they faced many of the same challenges that we face today. We can learn about our present and our future by looking at our past. Though Tryon Palace is located in New Bern, it is owned, appreciated and enjoyed by all North Carolinians. I am especially proud of the Tryon Palace Commission members, the Council of Friend members, and the staff of Tryon Palace, many of whom are here in the gallery with us today. They are all very dedicated to this cause, and they are dedicated to preserving our past for future generations. I commend the resolution to you and ask for your support. Thank you."

Senator Rand:

"I would tell you ladies and gentlemen that our lottery bill does not make it punishable by death. We plan to just go life without parole! Tryon Palace is a great gift to the people of North Carolina. Those of you who have not been there certainly need to go. It is a wonderful, wonderful thing that celebrates our history and our heritage, but more, it interprets it all in the life of the modern day, so it is especially meaningful to the schoolchildren who go there to understand the beauty of our past, but also the history of what has brought us to this place. This was a time of some peril in the history of our State when the palace was there when the first legislatures met there. My great-great grandfather's brother represented Cumberland County in the legislature there in New Bern. So it is especially meaningful to a lot of us to see such a wonderful tribute, and such a grand structure to celebrate our past. I hope that as the legislature goes forward, Senator Plyler, that we might be able to do some things to make it even a little prettier as we go through this. There's a breakfast in the morning that you've all been invited to. I hope you will be able to attend when they talk about some of the things. They're doing it down in the cafeteria. This is a wonderful tribute to those people who have done so much for us and I ask your support for the resolution."

The joint resolution passes its second (44-0) and third readings and is ordered enrolled.

The President Pro Tempore extends the courtesies of the gallery to guests from Tryon Palace.

S.B. 206, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A TOURIST-ORIENTED DIRECTIONAL SIGN (TODS) PROGRAM, temporarily displaced earlier.

FORTY-FIFTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, April 11, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

The President recognizes Senator Weinstein who demonstrates the Shofar, a ritual instrument, one made of ram's horn and one made of ibex horn. The Shofar is one of the oldest symbols in the Jewish religion, and is played during the Judaic High Holidays.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Loving God, salvation history, that's what this Holy Week is all about. Hearing Senator Weinstein blow the Shofar reminds us that we celebrate this Holy Week in different ways, from temples and synagogues and grand cathedrals to one room country churches; from Passover and the celebration of liberation to a hill called Golgotha and an empty tomb! It is a time when we remember how you rescued us from evil, from death, and bondage to our own humanity.

"That you saved us is a gift, not some sort of achievement on our own part. We can make ourselves moral. We can even make ourselves religious. But we can't make ourselves love. We love because you first loved us. May we each experience a truly meaningful Holy Week for us all. To your glory we pray, Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Carrington, Senator Martin of Pitt and Senator Webster.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, April 10, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Elizabeth Pascher Kanof from Raleigh, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Kathy Wright from Carthage, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Upon motion of Senator Dalton, the remarks of Senator Swindell and Senator Rand commemorating April 12, 1776, are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Swindell:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate, I would like to call your attention today to our flag and the date that's on our flag, April 12, 1776, for that was when the Provincial Congress met in Halifax, North Carolina. On that particular date under the leadership of Samuel Johnson, who was the President of that Provincial Congress, shortly before they had asked Cornelius Harnett to draft a resolution and on that morning which was probably much like today, a spring morning, whether it be hot or cool, they gathered in Halifax, and on behalf of myself today, and Senator Ballance, I do this representing Halifax County. Those folks gathered and they debated, they argued, they discussed, but what they walked away with was the Halifax Resolves which, as you know, was the first colony representative of North Carolina that said we should break away from England and form our own government. The document was only signed by one person on the back, James Green who was the secretary, with the instructions, 'This is to be read in Philadelphia, the Continental Congress, on May 27.' So after they voted they proceeded on to, and we know what happened there, the Continental Congress, the Declaration of Independence - and in November of the same year the fifth Provincial Congress met again in Halifax. At that meeting they drafted the first Constitution of the State of North Carolina, and they elected among themselves Richard Caswell to be the first State Governor. Before that we had had two or three different kinds of governors, from the Roanoke Governor to the Prosperity Governor and the Royal Governors. The last Royal Governor was Josiah Martin. And before him was Richard Tryon who Senator Thomas talked about the other day. So they proceeded at that time and went on down to New Bern where that following year we had our first legislature with our Governor there. I think it's important to me today, and to all of us to remember regardless of the problems we have as the elected representatives of our great State, think of those who left home on that journey to Halifax, with their families, their children, their parents, their loved ones all whose lives would be at risk. Shortly during that time, too, Cornwallis even marched and stayed there in Halifax for several days as he made his way on up into Virginia where he surrendered at Yorktown. I would also say today that Halifax is not but about 80 miles from here. Go visit the grounds. I walked around the grounds two weeks ago just to look at the houses. See our Halifax. Senator Rand, they need to go see Governor Davie's house there, who laid the first cornerstone at the University of North Carolina, who was also a citizen of Halifax. So I do this today, Madame President, in honor and in memory of folks like Governor Davie, folks like Senator Julian Allsbrook, and even our living Senator Lunsford Crew who was once a President Pro Tempore of this body in Halifax County, and I thank you for this opportunity."

Senator Rand:

"I really appreciate you doing that today. I was thinking this morning when I was getting ready about Julian Allsbrook who sat right here, who made that same speech. Oh man I heard it so many times and I enjoyed it every time. He was really the moving force putting the date on the State seal, and he reminded us of that, I don't know how many times. Senator Soles has heard the speech a whole lot more than I have, I'm sure. But, this is a wonderful time to reflect on that and reflect on the people who meant so much to our State, but it is also a wonderful time to reflect on Senator Allsbrook who served this body over a period of fifty years. He was in the Senate before I was born and was a great North Carolinian, and meant so much to so many people. Senator Soles tried to steal his General Statutes one time and was put in his place, but that's another story. But, he was a wonderful member of this body who did so much for so many of us, so I thank you for making that wonderful speech about a wonderful part of North Carolina and a wonderful man.

Upon motion of Senator Ballance, seconded by Senator Weinstein, the Senate adjourns at 1:14 P.M. to meet Monday, April 16, at 7:00 P.M.

FORTY-SEVENTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Monday, April 16, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Marc Basnight, President Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, there are some matters in this world which can better be understood by seeing them objectively, at a distance. But most things we will never understand fully unless we experience them up close. Guard us from the temptation of merely observing life as from a balcony. Instead, give us the courage to participate fearlessly in this world, walking humbly on every level, lending a hand in the common chores, never fearing about advantages or disadvantages. Losing ourselves in the living of life, that is your call to us! Help us incorporate fearless living into our agendas this week. For your sake, Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Bingham and Senator Martin of Pitt.

Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, April 12, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President Pro Tempore of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Cynthia Anne Hampton from Henderson, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day.

FORTY-EIGHTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, April 17, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Frank Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear Lord, holy scripture is quite clear about the definition of truth. First John 2:4

says, 'Whoever says, I know God, but doesn't practice obedience to God's commands possesses no truth in his or her heart.'

"That's a far cry from the ethics with which we've come to be comfortable with, depicted well, I think, by Mark Twain's character in Huckleberry Finn when he says, 'Get your facts first, and then you can distort 'em as much as you please.'

"About the last thing we want anybody to say about us is that we are somewhat truthful people. Help us to be people who know the facts and then communicate them without distortion. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Martin of Pitt and Senator Moore.

Senator Rand announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, April 16, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, there are times when we must have things our way or no way at all. There's a diagnosis for that kind of behavior in Matthew's Gospel where it states that we are much better at finding the splinter in another's eye than noticing the log in our own eye.

"Remind us that those splinters we would remove from others' eyes are so closely related to their giftedness that we can't truly eradicate their faults without eliminating their great virtues. Help us to so live. To your glory, Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Cunningham, Senator Martin of Pitt, Senator Moore and Senator Warren.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Wednesday, April 18, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

FIFTY-FIRST DAY

Senate Chamber
Monday, April 23, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, it is one thing to ask that during the week ahead, the men and women of the Senate experience happiness even amidst the hectic schedule of crossover week. Because happiness turns up more or less where we would expect it, after a good conversation, a good meal, or hearing a funny story with friends.

"But more than happiness, I pray that the Senate family experience joy in what they are called to do here. Instead of the temporary excitement of highs and lows that flair up one hour and subside the next, give them a joy that flows inside them like an underground spring from the Blue Ridge Mountains.

"You said, O God, that you have spoken to us so that your joy may be in us and that our joy may be full. Unlike happiness, joy is as unpredictable as you, O God, who bequeaths it. Surprise us this week with joy in our lives. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Martin of Pitt and Senator Reeves.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, April 19, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Emily Louise Bray from Greenville, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Sue Hohenhaus from Durham, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

Upon motion of Senator Shaw of Cumberland, the remarks of Senator Ballance and Senator Horton on Senate Bill 173 are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Ballance:

"Thank you, Madame President, Members of the Senate. This issue has been with us now for a good long time, and I submit to you that we have before us one of the great moral issues of our time, and that is whether to have on our books the law that would call for the affliction of death upon a person who is mentally retarded. I want to begin with a reference to the Holy Bible. I know we have many Sunday School scholars here, but I'll tell you it's Joshua, Chapter 20, and for those of you who don't go to Sunday School, page 214 if you want to follow me along. 'The Lord also spake unto Joshua saying, Speak to the children of Israel, saying appoint out for you cities of refuge whereof I spake unto you by the hand of Moses, that the slayer that killeth any person unawares and unwittingly may flee thither, and they shall be your refuge from the avenger of blood.' Now at this time in our history, if a person were to be killed, it was the duty of each family member to avenge that death with death, and Joshua was told to appoint out six cities of refuge, three on each side of the Jordan River, and these cities were to be near enough so that anyone who found himself in this circumstance could flee to the city of refuge, and there that person was to be taken in and to remain there until the priest died, and then it was presumed that the death of the priest would avenge the death of the family member and that person could then return home. Now, I want to tell you what the definition is for mentally retarded persons. There is consensus in the medical community regarding the definition of mental retardation. A person is deemed mentally retarded if he or she has significantly sub-average intellectual functioning existing concurrently with impairment in adaptive functioning and manifested before the age of eighteen. The term 'significantly sub-average intellectual functioning' indicates an intelligence quotient, or an IQ of seventy or below on an individually administered, standardized IQ test. That is the definition that is contained in our bill. It is the universally accepted definition of mental retardation. Let me tell you a little bit about persons who are mentally retarded, and I'm referring to a study commission that we conducted two years here in the General Assembly. Persons who suffer from mental retardation are some of our most disabled and most vulnerable citizens. Mental retardation affects both intellectual functioning, that is the ability to learn, and adaptive functioning, the ability to function in everyday life - to live in an apartment, to buy groceries, to catch a bus, to go to work, and to return home. A mentally retarded person generally has limited reasoning ability, a tendency to act impulsively, has problems with memory and attention. Senator Basnight, I'm having problems with memory myself. Also, mentally retarded persons, and this is one of the keys that we ought to look at, are often highly suggestible and solicitous toward authority figures, i.e., a police officer, a detective, someone investigating a serious murder. There is emerging consensus in the United States that mentally retarded persons should not be subjected to the death penalty. What would happen under this bill? If we were to adopt this bill, and following a hearing before a judge, the defendant were deemed mentally retarded, he would then be subject to life imprisonment without parole. So anybody who would suggest that this bill is being light on criminals misunderstands what we are supposed to do here. The practice of executing the mentally retarded has been forbidden for federal offenses. Of the thirty-eight states in the United States that have capital punishment, thirteen of them do not execute the mentally retarded persons. Two in our neighborhood are Georgia and Tennessee. In Georgia it took the execution of a mentally retarded person for that legislature to turn around and pass the bill making it then unlawful for such executions, and I don't want us to wait that long. Mentally retarded persons, that is someone with an IQ of seventy or below, are in the lowest two or three percent of the population in intelligence. So those who would suggest that a mentally retarded person could fake an IQ or somehow could fool a psychiatrist, I believe are also mistaken. We do not now in North Carolina subject to capital punishment anyone who is under the age of seventeen. A mentally retarded person has the mental age of 12 or under. I'm not going to take a lot of time, Madame President, on this issue, because I believe that most of us have made our choice. We sort of know how we were going to vote on this bill. I do want to tell you one story, relate one story that you've heard before, you're read before, because it's in this report. It's the story of Earl Washington, Jr. Mr. Washington was a twenty-two year old retarded person who lived in Virginia. He had a history of trying to please authority figures. In 1982 there was a vicious rape and murder that occurred in Culpepper, Virginia. The victim lived long enough to tell her husband and the police that a single, black man committed this crime. There were suspects but no arrests. A year later in Warrenton, Virginia, Mr. Washington was arrested for attacking a seventy-eight year old female neighbor. He broke into her house and tried to steal a gun. After the arrest he was brought to the police station and interrogated. Now during that interrogation, Mr. Washington confessed to five separate crimes. In addition to the break-in, he confessed to sexually assaulting the seventy-eight year old female, two other sexual offenses in Culpepper in the last year, and the murder of Mrs. Williams. At his preliminary hearing, the seventy-eight year old female testified that she had not been sexually assaulted. Remember, he had confessed to sexually assaulting her. That charge was dismissed. It turned out that Mr. Washington was not guilty of three other sexual offenses to which he confessed. The police dropped all three of these cases. Mr. Washington was interrogated for over two days on the murder charge of Mrs. Williams. He was asked whether the victim was white or black. He told the police that the victim was black. The police said, 'You mean she really was white, wasn't she?' He said, 'Yes, she was white.' He told the police that nobody was there when it happened and the police said to him, 'Well don't you remember her two children were there, Mr. Washington?' He replied, 'Yes, they were there.' Mr. Washington told the police that he had stabbed her twice, until they informed him that she had been stabbed thirty-eight times. Then he changed his story. Mr. Washington's whole method of going through life was to please those who would question him, and he was willing to do that in this case. I can wind up the story pretty quickly. It later turned out that there was a DNA test of some semen, and it turned out that it was not Mr. Washington's. Therefore, then Governor Doug Wilder commuted this death sentence to life imprisonment. I have to say this about my friend, Mr. Wilder. He should've commuted this sentence period, but he didn't. And this is the kind of thing that we run into. He was then the Governor of Virginia, the first black man to sit in the Governor's seat, and the allegation was that he wanted to run for United States Senate, and he did not want to have a Willie Horton hung around his neck. But, as God would have it, there was another test, and the second test again proved that this semen and the blood did not belong to the defendant, Mr. Washington, and just recently Governor Gilmore released Mr. Washington from the prisons in the State of Virginia. But it took this man about eleven years, a lot of that time sitting on Death Row. He was innocent, but he was there because he, as a mentally retarded person, sought to please authority figures. I must tell you that we have a member of this General Assembly - I won't narrow it down any closer than that - who has a mentally retarded daughter, and he tells me that she likes to please authority figures. Now, Members of the Senate, this is not a difficult vote. It may be for some, and that's your perception. You have to decide that. I want to tell you that the people of North Carolina, in two polls that I've seen, said that they do not want to execute mentally retarded persons. At the public hearing that we held last week, of all the speakers that spoke out against this bill, not one said that they wanted to execute mentally retarded persons. But they raised an issue that there might be some trickery that would take place which would allow a mentally retarded person to get away with a capital murder. Based on that, reluctantly, the bill has now been amended on page one, line twenty, which says that the tests referred to must be administered prior to the commission of the alleged crime. It doesn't leave any room, and it may leave someone out, because you know mental retardation can come from more than one source. It can come from an automobile accident with brain damage. A person could be thirty-five years of age, but under this bill the test must be administered prior to the act which led to the charge for which the defendant is being tried. I know that there are going to be some proposed amendments. I would ask those of you who are going to support us on this bill, I believe we have a majority, to look very carefully and not, I don't know all the amendments so I can't just say blatantly 'Don't support them', but I would hope that if you look at those amendments we will leave the bill intact as it is, and let's not worry about what the House is going to do, because, I'm a little bit of a history buff. A hundred years from now when people are reading about this issue and this General Assembly, they're not going to focus too much on what the House is going to do as we debate this bill. They're going to focus on what we decided was the morally correct thing for us to do. I would hope that each of us would decide to vote favorably on this bill. Thank you."

Senator Horton:

"Thank you, Madame President. I happen to have been a member of the Legislative Study Commission that considered this bill. There were three bills considered by that commission. I've tried to explain to the Senator from Warren that two of them aren't worth the powder in the shot, but this one is. This simply puts into our statute law a principle that we have had in our common law, that we inherited from England for years and years, and that is a realization that children are impressionable, that they're easily misled, that they're often unaware of the consequences of their acts. And so, in the law we inherited from England, we provide that a child of seven years or less, no matter how smart, is incapable of contributory negligence. Between seven and fourteen he is presumed incapable of contributory negligence. As Senator Ballance has pointed out, in our State we don't execute a child of seventeen or less, although he may be a genius. This act addresses the situation of a child's mind in an adult's body, a retarded person, a person whose age may be the mental age of ten or twelve. That adult body can do some awful things. It can commit homicide. In fact, in our violence saturated civilization, with the television and the violence there, the video games, all the rest, the wonder is we don't see more of it. But the question comes and is asked over and over, how about feigning? How about making believe on this seventy I.Q. test? A smart guy can really get around that. Well the truth of the matter is that this bill has been very artfully designed to avoid that. There are safeguards in a number of ways. First, the retardation has got to be evidenced before the person is eighteen years of age. Second, they've got to score seventy or less on an individually administered I.Q. test. This would normally be the Wechsler. The Betas that are given in groups wouldn't count. Plus, you've got to have a hearing before a judge. Plus, the test has got to be administered before the crime is committed. Plus, the defendant has got to carry the burden of proof before the judge."

Senator Ballantine:

"Senator Horton, all that said, are you aware that a Superior Court Judge has put a stay on an execution because someone tested sixty-five, so you're really opening a lot of flood gates, are you not?"

Senator Horton:

"Not when you consider this bill in its totality, and sixty-five would, under this bill, be a person of undoubted mental retardation, and so that's what this bill is designed for. Now let me make this entirely clear, as I think Senator Ballance emphasized too, and that is we aren't turning people loose. This is not like a plea of insanity where a person is insane and doesn't go to prison. In this case the defendant, if found guilty, would be imprisoned for the rest of his natural life. This child in the grown-up body, under this bill would not be able to be executed. And, you know, I think I want the world to know that in North Carolina we aren't in the business of executing children."

S.B. 1078 (Committee Substitute), A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO IMPROVE AIR QUALITY IN THE STATE BY REQUIRING REDUCTIONS IN THE EMISSIONS OF CERTAIN POLLUTANTS FROM CERTAIN FACILITIES THAT BURN COAL TO GENERATE ELECTRICITY.

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Reeves, the remarks of the Senators on Senate Bill 1078 are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Metcalf:

"Thank you, Madame President. Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate, by way of background, we all know that some eight or ten months ago we came to, we went to Senator Basnight - Senator Carter, Senator Robinson and myself - and brought to his attention the situation that exists in our western mountains. We explained to him at that time that we felt like we had a lot of problems there, that just by common sense what we could see, we knew things were a lot different than they had been just a few short years ago. Senator Basnight responded. He formed a committee for us. He allowed us to co-chair that committee and we brought many of you to the mountains. Senator Purcell came, Senator Albertson came, and others. We learned over the next three or four months what we had known for a long time, that we had a lot of problems. We've articulated those problems to you from time to time. We know that we have health problems. We know that we have problems in terms of our own economy, in terms of how it's impacting our economy, not just our tourism, but in a lot of ways just our ability to recruit industry. We're a lot different up there. We don't have the great infrastructure that's so obvious and present in other parts of the State. We don't have the great research universities. We don't have the great transportation system that you see in other parts of the state. So a lot of times, when we recruit industry, we try to do it because we try to sell the beauty of our mountains and certainly the grace of our people. This Senate responded and we were so thankful to you, the letter that you wrote to President Bush and the members of our Congressional Delegation. We also learned some other things along the way - that this is not just a mountain problem. We learned that North Carolina has the fifth highest number of dirty air days, the fifth dirtiest air in the nation. Senator Odom, we learned that Charlotte has the eighth dirtiest air in this country, Raleigh-Durham seventeenth. Senator Basnight, we learned that on our coast, that many species of fish, that people are warned in terms of their children and women of child-bearing age, not to eat the fish. And we are told just today, or at least I have been told just today by the American Lung Association that air pollution in this State costs this State something like $3.5 billion per year in terms of health problems, in terms of crop losses and its impact on tourism and other aspects of our economy. We bring you a bill tonight that we think addresses major portions of our problem. It addresses the clean up of the fourteen coal-fired plants that are owned by CP&L and Duke. You have a summary of the bill and we've talked about the bill and it's on your table. I'll just hit three very quick spots, if I may, three very quick aspects. First, it sets the standards in time table. Basically what it says is over the next twelve years we will reduce in the air from 70 to 80 percent of the pollutants that are there now. We will also address the issue of mercury. While it's not specifically addressed in the bill, we feel very strongly that the consequence of what we're doing will remove some 60 percent of the mercury. There is indeed a cost recovery, and we have talked about that. I've said from the very beginning, ladies and gentlemen, that this is not an inexpensive proposition, but I think when you compare it to the $3.5 billion per year that we're losing in terms of crops, in terms of our health, in terms of quality of our life and who we are as a people, that it's money well spent. The cost is basically about three to five percent on a residential power bill and about four to seven percent on industry and commercial power bills. It does one other thing. There is a strong piece in the legislation that we argued very hard for and talked at great length. There's a section in the bill that calls for, that is the intent of this General Assembly, to use all means possible, whether it's interstate compacts, or there's negotiation, indeed litigation, to force the Tennessee Valley Authority, and to force other states to come into compliance with the same set of rules and standards that we are adopting. We think this is important. One, we think it also gives us some moral high ground, and we like being in that position as North Carolinians, we like being there. But this is not a feel-good bill. It's more than just having moral persuasion. We think it will give us the political leverage to do the things that we have to do. We'll give Governor Easley the political leverage to look Governor Sundquist in the face and say, 'My State did it. Your State can, too.' It will give my own Congressman in the Eleventh Congressional District the political leverage to go to Washington and say, 'This is what my State did. This is what we have to do for the TVA.' I think equally as important it will give us legal standing. Attorneys tell me it's awfully difficult to sue someone else to do something that you're not willing to do yourself. Ladies and gentlemen, we talk an awful lot down here about doing things for the children. We sometimes say it cynically, we laugh about it and whatever the bill is, it can be a technical bill on the smallest thing in the world, and you say, 'Well, what's in the bill?' and we'll say 'Well, vote for my bill. It's good for the children.' I must tell you, ladies and gentlemen, I have never supported a bill or voted for a bill that I think is more for children than this bill, because I know, I know full well that unless I am extremely lucky, that not in my lifetime will I ever go to the top of Mount Pisgah or the top of Mount Mitchell and see the same views that I did as a child. I will never take my grandchild up there and show him the same views that my grandfather showed me. It is my hope, it is my sincere desire that my grandson, Waylon, will indeed be able to take his grandson to the top of Mount Pisgah or Mount Mitchell or Bald Mountain in Yadkin County or Flea Branch where our family cemetery is in Madison County, and see the same views that I did as a child. That process has to start sometime. I'm asking you that it start tonight. Thank you."

Senator Hoyle:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate. About eight or nine years ago when I first came into the legislature, I must admit that I didn't have a big appreciation for our environment, but after spending a considerable amount of time with the distinguished Senator from Dare and hearing his lectures about what we're doing to our environment, I guess I have developed an appreciation and a recognition that what we were doing was wrong. Now I'm not totally green, I guess, but I do have a few green stripes across my chest, and I don't want to do anything to hurt our environment. Now I know that power plants are a major pollutant, but automobiles represent about 75% or 85% of the problems that we have, and I think that there are just too many questions that are unanswered about this bill. I'm not sure what Senate Bill 1028 does to help us. If we clean up our air and export it to Virginia and then we import dirty air from South Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia, what will we have accomplished except to put a burden on our industry and our ability to recruit industry here, put a burden on our people to pay for something that may not give us the benefits that we expect. This has got to be a compact that the federal government mandates and makes every state clean up their air, and then we're not out there by ourselves alone trying to do it. If I thought this bill would do that and would help us and take care of the problem that we have reoccurring, then I'd vote for it. But until we answer the questions about what the economic benefits are for the State and what the costs are to the people who are going to have to pay for this without getting an assurance that we're going to get help from other states, I just can't vote for this."

Senator Albertson:

"Madame President, members of the Senate, we don't have a choice on this bill. That's the truth. We might as well face up to it. The truth is we're already behind the curve on this issue - about ten or fifteen or twenty years behind where we should be. If we continue to wait, what is it going to be like? As someone has said, 'It's pay me now or pay me later', and we can't afford to wait on this. We have to first of all be responsible for ourselves before we can ask our neighbor to be responsible. I hope you will vote for this bill and send a clear message that we're going to be about doing our business to take care of our resources, and provide some leadership so that others can follow our example."

Senator Gulley:

"I wanted to thank Senator Metcalf on behalf of several of us for giving us a couple days to look again at the bill and Senator Basnight as well for his help. But on further reflection, this bill is better than I had appreciated. I think it's a hard decision for the reason Senator Hoyle said. It is tough to ask our people to pay this, but the facts that I've got, Senator Hoyle, indicate to me that about 82% of our sulfur dioxide pollution, 45% of our nitrogen oxide and 65% of our state's mercury pollution come out of our power plants. The argument that prevails for me is, 'It's time for North Carolina to lead by example.' That's really probably the only way that we'll get some results on this. I don't think waiting and trying to help some other folks to get together on it has been real successful. So I'm appreciative of this bill and the leadership it represents and I'm looking forward to voting for this and having North Carolina step out and show the rest of the nation what we ought to be doing."

Senator Rucho:

"Senator Metcalf, the premise is very sound, I think, and whatever we reduce is that much to our advantage. The cost - could you just elaborate just a little bit on the cost of what this would be to the average consumer, and to what the businesses would see in this effort."

Senator Metcalf:

"Thank you, Senator Rucho. On an average bill, you're looking at about a 3%-5% increase, and the reason we have the range is because you have over time, if you see the mechanism by which you, over the next thirteen years, the power companies will each year submit to the Utilities Commission the expenditures they expect that particular year in terms of cleaning up the equipment they're going to buy. Should it be approved by the Utilities Commission, it is placed on the bill as a separate line, it is a very distinct line in terms of what the bill is. You're looking at a 3%-5% increase for residential rates. The average bill in the State of North Carolina is somewhere in the neighborhood of $85 to $90. Taking the worst case scenario, you're looking somewhere around $4 to $5 per power bill for a residential customer."

Senator Rucho:

"Thank you, Madame President. What expectation would you have for a business in some of the rural areas that is producing plastics or any of that which would have a high use of electric power?"

Senator Metcalf:

"I stated it early on, Senator Rucho. You're looking for commercial and industrial customers because they pay a lower rate now, that their rate is a shade higher than the residential rate. It's something in the neighborhood of 4%-7% rather than the 3%-5%, so there would be an increase in their power bill. I never denied that. That's part of being able to deal with the issue and address the problem."

Senator Rucho:

"I know you've had this bill out in front of the public for a good period of time. Have you had any opposition coming towards you from business and industry?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Obviously, Senator Rucho, there are folks who are raising concerns. I've had conversations with NCCBI (North Carolina Citizens for Business and Industry). At this point they're taking no position on the bill. I've had conversations with other groups representing business and industry who are opposing this bill, who are at least raising issues and would like to have some clearly defined answers to the questions. At this point this is as clearly and succinctly as I can define in terms of the cause. I suspect that should this bill pass the Senate tonight, there will be an absolute thorough review of this bill in the House to try to maybe more refine the costs, but in all candor, I don't know how we can get much more than saying that the increase in the rates will be somewhere between 4%-7%."

Senator Rucho:

"Thank you for your candidness. Is there another way that this cost of putting the scrubbers and the like into the utilities or let's say buy the utilities if Duke and CP&L want to use this on their own? How would that system work different than what you are proposing now?"

Senator Metcalf:

"I'm not sure I understand your question, Senator Rucho."

Senator Rucho:

"If they were, if Duke and CP&L were to accept the responsibility without your bill coming forward and said 'Yes, we're going to clean and provide scrubbers to meet the NO2 and the sulfur dioxide levels that you're trying to achieve'. Would they have done it just with a rate increase from the Utilities Commission, or do you know how that would normally be done and the process?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Seeing as how there is no way they could do it, I guess if you are saying, 'Should this go through a normal rate increase or rate to rate case', I'm making the argument that it should not, and for a couple of reasons why. One, this is quicker. This gets us on the road and gets us to the point where we can start work very soon. Two, it's probably cheaper, because if you go through a rate case anything that they spend in terms of utilities, spend in terms of capital, they're able to reclaim not only what they spend but a percentage up to 11% back. What they're getting here, what they're recovering here is exactly what they're spending on it. Are there other ways? I suppose so. I guess we've waited a long time for someone to come forward with it. No one has, and we bring forward this bill."

Senator Horton:

"There may be some businesses in this State who are worried about this bill. There may be some for whom the bottom line is a whole lot more important than the other values in this world, but I want to tell you one industry that has stepped up to the plate and that is Reynolds Tobacco Company, which operates a coal-fired plant putting out 3,453 tons of sulfur dioxide every year. They want to come under this. As it stands now, only the fourteen major investor-owned utilities, I think that's the phrase, isn't it Senator Metcalf? They're the only ones that are coming under it because that will take down about 80% of the major sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide pollution. The CP&L and Duke Power companies have assured us in talks with them that they will try to work out an amendment to be placed on the bill in the House - we haven't had time to develop it yet - because they would need it to check with the Utilities Commission, with the FPC, with burple, furple, gurkle, local garden clubs. But they have assured us that they are willing to work openly with us to try to let Reynolds Tobacco Company step up to the plate and do their part for the people of North Carolina. Let me tell you why! When I was brought up, I went, like Senator Metcalf, to Mount Mitchell. Mount Mitchell is the highest point east of the Mississippi, our first state park, what was the crown jewel of our state park system, surrounded by magnificent forest. In fact, they had to build a tower so you could climb up the tower and see over the forest to the mountains surrounding. Haven't got to do that now. You can see everything from the parking lot because the place looks like a battlefield. Those trees have been killed by acid rain and the weakening that has caused those trees so that they're now subject to all sorts of diseases they didn't have before. Some of the acid rain is..."

Senator Hoyle:

"Senator Horton, has it been proved conclusively that this acid rain is a direct cause of pollution there and that it comes from North Carolina?"

Senator Horton:

"I can answer only part of that, Senator Hoyle, but I appreciate you asking the question because it has been proven that acid rain in those areas that hits the tops of the highest mountains is sometimes so acid it's about like lemon juice in acidity and, as you know, you can cook in lemon juice. So that's the response I will give. Now where it comes from, we've got some good ideas where it comes from and a lot of it comes from the Tennessee Valley, and that's one reason Senator Metcalf has mentioned that North Carolina needs to take the higher ground here so we can promptly go to Congress and say, 'Hey, we've done everything we humanly can be expected to do, and we are going to ask you to ask TVA to come up to the same standards you want private industry to come up to. After all, TVA, you are a public-owned corporation.' "

Senator Hoyle:

"Senator Horton, is there any assurance given to anybody - you or anyone else - that this is going to happen, that we are going to unilaterally do this ourselves and let someone continue from - I've been told that acid rain comes from Ohio and other places, and it comes on the jet streams here and we get it from all over, everything from the West. You know everything moves from west to east. Air flows west to east, so we're cleaning up our air and doing nothing to those people who are really causing acid rain. Is that not true?"

Senator Horton:

"Well, I don't know where your information is coming from. That's not the information I have. What I've told you is what I do have. But continuing, Mount Mitchell is no longer the crown jewel of the North Carolina parks. When Thomas Wolfe was brought up in Asheville, the old Kentucky home his mother ran was a place where people would come and recuperate from tuberculosis and other lung diseases. The United States government built a big hospital in Oteen, North Carolina. The State built a tuberculosis hospital because the air was so clean and pure. Asheville was the place to come if you wanted clean air. Today in that same city of Asheville, the doctors in the emergency rooms of their hospitals will tell people coming in with respiratory problems, 'Go back home. Go back to Ohio, or Indiana. Don't stay here in western North Carolina because you're going to get worse.' Folks, western North Carolina is part of this state, too. You know, it wasn't more than a year or so ago that you all were here asking for help from western North Carolina because of Floyd, and not a single western Carolina Representative said 'no'. Western Carolina has stepped up to the plate. When you want clean water in your rivers, every time, I don't know a single soul from the west that's voted against it. Now they are asking the Senators from the east to do your part to help us clean up the air in western Carolina. And this is your time to show that we are, in fact, one state."

Senator Kinnaird:

"I am very pleased that this Senate is considering this, that it has crafted the bill and I commend Senator Metcalf because it is something that is very needed. When Senator Rucho asked about the cost that would be passed on to the consumer, I think one of the things we have to realize is that there are other costs that are not immediately and directly measurable, and those are the health costs. Those are so great that what we put into our bills and each of us pays in our utility bill is small compared to what is going to happen in the reduction of health costs. Those are cost benefit analyses that we don't think of because they're longer term than the more immediate ones, but I think it is certainly one of the real benefits that is going to occur as a result of this bill. Thank you."

Senator Purcell:

"I was told when I first came here if you wait long enough somebody will say what you meant to say. I think that has been done to some extent tonight. Senator Kinnaird and Senator Horton and Senator Metcalf touched on it, but I'm concerned about Mount Mitchell, but I'm more concerned about the health of people in North Carolina. I think it's a known fact that we have a great increase in the instances of asthma and respiratory diseases in North Carolina. It's very difficult sometimes to make direct connections, but I think it's very clear that polluted air sure does contribute to that. I think it's very important that North Carolina move forward with this bill, and take the leadership, and try to do something to make our environment more healthy for people across North Carolina."

Senator Ballantine:

"Senator Metcalf, Section 4 of the bill encourages litigation and I was wondering if there had not been any litigation heretofore against the TVA and others?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Senator Ballantine, not to my knowledge. I'm not aware. Not to my knowledge, Senator Ballantine."

Senator Ballantine:

"Okay, follow up. So, to your knowledge the State, the counties, anyone in the west, no one's filed any lawsuit, and now we're saying because of this bill we want to encourage litigation. Is that what Section 4 says?"

Senator Metcalf:

"That's what it says. I think, Senator Ballantine, that we have tried our best to raise a consciousness on this issue. We have tried our best to bring it before folks. We have been told in the west that our Congressman was going to pass a bill. We have been told that it would be folly for us to do any sort of litigation because our own standards in our own State were no better than the standards set there, so..."

Senator Ballantine:

"That's exactly what I'm trying to get at, and I keep hearing that. We've heard mentioned..."

Senator Ballantine:

"Can you specifically answer that for me? I hear mentioned that we need to pass this bill so we can have a leg up or higher ground, but has there been some sort of environmental commission that actually said the State of North Carolina has to meet certain requirements before they can have standing, or are we just saying that rhetorically?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Senator Ballantine, I am personally not aware of - people have told me that the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has indicated as much to us, but let me just speak in terms of answering that question, and I appreciate Senator Horton, and I appreciate the question about western North Carolina, but folks, let me again raise this issue. This bill is not just about western North Carolina. It's about the fish on the coast. It's about Charlotte. It's about Raleigh-Durham. We know the condition of the air in those cities, and Senator Purcell spoke to it very eloquently in terms of the health costs we're suffering all across the State of North Carolina. Senator Horton, I appreciate your concern for the west, and I appreciate you bringing to these people, or bringing to this Body and bringing to this Senate, the fact that we have responded in the west from time to time, on a whole host of issues. And we appreciate you responding to that. Thank you."

Senator Foxx:

"Senator Metcalf, I look with curiosity at the map that we have on the back of the explanation, and I note that the plant in Asheville is rated at 25-50 CEMs, the amount of pollution I assume that means. That's a pretty small amount compared to what's coming out at Belews Creek and the Duke-Marshall plant. I'm concerned, also, about what kind of costs we're going to incur in North Carolina to try to clean up what's going on in the mountains. It's obvious it's not that plant that's causing the pollution that exists in the mountains, and we don't see the same kind of pollution in these other places. So, I want to support this bill, but I want to know that we're going to not pay for all of this ourselves in North Carolina, and we're going to have some sense that what we do is going to have some impact on the air all over the State but especially in the western part of the State. How do we know that we're going to have some better results when we pass this bill?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Senator Foxx, I've already articulated my rationale for the bill. I think that you're absolutely right in terms of the plant in the west, the one in Asheville. It's one of the cleanest plants in the State. The bill would clean up the rest of the State, and that's why we insisted that we have the section in the bill that says that it is the intention of this body to do all that we can, including litigation, to bring in compliance TVA and those facilities within the Ohio Valley."

Senator Foxx:

"Please tell me again what we think the cost of this is going to be, especially to our business and industry. I think you've got a fiscal note on it. What's this going to cost our business and industry in North Carolina to clean up?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Well, the fiscal note doesn't address what it would cost - the cost to business and industry. I'll give you those percentages that I gave you earlier on. You're looking at an increase of power bills for a business or an industry somewhere between 4%-7%. The total clean-up over the next 12 years is somewhere in the neighborhood of $2.2 billion."

Senator Hoyle:

"Senator Metcalf, I'm looking at this map. I really hadn't noticed it until Senator Foxx called it to my attention here. But, I notice that there are only two plants that I would say are in the western part of the State. Most of these plants are in the Piedmont and in the East. Is that true? These plants in the East and in the Piedmont are going to help clean up the air in the mountains?"

Senator Metcalf:

"Senator, I've acknowledged that the majority of the pollution coming into the western part of the State is coming from TVA and the Ohio Valley. I've acknowledged and tried to explain the logic, I think, and the rationale of our bill and the different components of that bill including the section that calls on us to seek aggressive action against other states. I believe that rationale is sound. I believe it makes good sense, and I support the bill."

Senator Hoyle:

"Thank you, Madame President, Members of the Senate. I would just like to remind my colleagues here tonight that the textile industry that helped build this great State is hanging on by a thread. We have textile plants closing in my part of the State practically every week. They came to us saying we needed deregulation. We need to buy our power a little cheaper so that we can use this to stay in business. The major component of our cost besides our raw material now is electricity. It's not direct labor as it used to be, but we know what's happened in deregulation. It's on hold because of the mess that has happened in California. But from Senator Metcalf's explanation tonight, industry's going to pick up another 4%-7% cost, and I can guarantee you that the textile industry cannot afford it. This will drive the nail. This will be the last nail that we drive in their coffin. Now I'm all for this when everybody does it. Every state must do it. We just cannot afford to do this unilaterally, because I think it will have a terrible, detrimental effect upon the economy and particularly the textile economy of our state."

Senator Horton:

"Senator Metcalf, isn't it true that once the power companies recapture the capital expense of putting the scrubbers on the smokestacks, there will be no more need for the increase in fees to be passed onto the customers?"

Senator Metcalf:

"That's true."

FIFTY-SECOND DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, April 24, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Father in heaven, after the debate last night on Senate bill 173 and others, we are reminded that the hour of decision on such bills is almost always a lonely one, often agonizing. When the facts are in, debate exhausted and discussion completed, each Senator is left alone with his or her conscience.

"While many of us might seem to avoid such a moment, good leaders accept the responsibility and declare a position. We are grateful for these men and women who accept such a duty as a burden of leadership.

"Continue to illuminate their pathway in future decisions that may be no less difficult. In your name we pray, Amen."

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Jordan.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, April 23, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

The President of the Senate extends courtesies of the floor to Dr. Cynthia Green Kirby from Whiteville, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Doctor of the Day, and to Debbie Kennedy from Archdale, North Carolina, who is serving the Senate as Nurse of the Day.

"Dear God, first of all we offer gratitude for the great volume of work that was accomplished in the Senate last week. Your servants labored long and faithfully.

"After such a week we confess that sometimes we try to save the world by ourselves, ending up only tired and frustrated instead of being satisfied. We try to do everything, even that which you have not called us to do. Busy and fatigued we end up not being able to respond when you do call us to action.

Thursday, May 3, 2001

May 3, 2001

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Almighty God, around our state and the nation, today is designated as a day of prayer. All of us pray whether we think of it as praying or not. The odd silence we fall into when we see something beautiful happening or experience something very good or very bad, expressions of pain, joy, these are prayers in their way.

"We must be persistent, though, in our praying, not because we must beat a path to your door before you will open it, but because until we pray there's no way to get to your door.

"Help us to continue beating that path to your door with our prayers because we can be assured that the God we call upon will open the door, and even if you do not bring the answer we want, you will bring yourself. And maybe that's the secret of all of our hearts and all our prayers, that we will find you. Thank you for hearing our prayers, Amen."

*Paraphrased from Frederich Buechner's "Prayer"

"Lord our God, the men and women assembled in this chamber today have a great responsibility. Elected as representatives of this land we love and call home, they serve North Carolinians of diverse cultures, races and thought. Though servants of the people, they also have their own opinions and must vote their conscience in a spirit of integrity and honesty. When discerning the truth of conscience is difficult in the whirlwind of opinion and politics, grant to these servants a clear vision of your will and purpose. In their deliberations today, keep before them their mind's eye, the faces and needs of the men and women who sent them here to serve. May they apply unto the decisions of this session the golden principle of the gospel, doing no less for their constituents than they would do for themselves. In the words of the hymn writer, grant them wisdom, grant them courage, that they fail not man nor Thee. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Hoyle and Senator Jordan.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, May 7, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

SIXTY-THIRD DAY

Senate Chamber
Monday, May 14, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Sometimes, even on Monday, O God, we find that we're at our wit's end! Schedules already overbooked, decisions to make that are far too complex for easy answers and of course, people to whom we must be responsible.

"Remind us, O God, that above the noise of our busy world there is a song of peace. Above the many and disparate cries for help from us there is a song of hope. Above the criticism that we must take for making a stand there is a song of love. Instead of joining in the discordant choruses of the world, this week help us to be singers of your song! Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Jordan and Senator Rucho.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, May 10, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

WITHDRAWAL FROM COMMITTEE

S.J.R. 770, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF HERMAN HARLEY "BULL" WEST, ONE OF WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA'S MOST DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS, referred to the Rules and Operations of the Senate Committee on April 2.

Pursuant to Rule 47 (a), Senator Rand offers a motion that the joint resolution be withdrawn from the Rules and Operations of the Senate Committee and placed on tonight's Calendar, which motion prevails with unanimous consent.

The Chair orders the joint resolution be withdrawn from the Rules and Operations of the Senate Committee and places it on tonight's Calendar.

CALENDAR

Bills and resolutions on tonight's Calendar are taken up and disposed of, as follows:

S.J.R. 770, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF HERMAN HARLEY "BULL" WEST, ONE OF WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA'S MOST DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS, placed earlier on tonight's Calendar.

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Carpenter, the joint resolution is read in its entirety, and the remarks of the Senators memorializing the life and memory of Herman Harley "Bull" West, former member of the General Assembly, are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Carpenter:

"Thank you, Madame President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate. It is an honor for me to stand here tonight and reflect on the life of Herman H. West. Herman, or 'The Bull' as he was known, was a former member of this body in '69 and '70, and he was a person who liked to call himself once a man of poverty. He was a politician unashamed, engrossed and almost submerged in the idea of work, work, work. As a man admired and highly respected by the banks, by fellow citizens, he was considered the economic tycoon of far western North Carolina. His belief in God and his repeated references to the divine guidance of God were most evident. He reflected many times about how he had repeatedly put everything on the line and God's divine guidance saw him through to successful completions. As a self-confessed man of destiny, he consequently could foresee profit. He utilized the methods of trial and error. He became the bossman. He became the ramrod, and he was envied by many and loved by most. He was cherished by his family members who are seated on my left in the gallery tonight. His nickname, 'Bull the West', perhaps epitomized his character better than any words I might utter here tonight. Senator R.C. Soles and Senator Ham Horton both served in the House and the Senate and I'm still confused as to what body they were in when he was here. But they could both tell you perhaps many, many more stories because they knew him then. I got to know Herman much later. About 'The Bull' though, I think a newspaper man from the Asheville-Citizen, a man named Doug Reed, summed it up pretty well in saying 'The Bull hasn't forgotten when his grosgrains were battered and the shoelaces were usually broken.' And he wasn't bashful in using his wits, his guts, and the bullshness ascribed to him to reach down from time to time and literally pull himself up by these ragged-looking shoelaces. Yes, fellow Senators, he was actually four men in one and he left no dim memories in Cherokee County, believe me. As a self-professed backwoods hillbilly, this is his quote, he was uneducated in what we today look on in the true sense of the word, but nonetheless a businessman who made millions and yet absolutely insisted that 'The poorest man that comes in here sees me first.' That was his philosophy. This philosophy and his bipartisan approach was just as amazing as exemplified by his close friendship with Governor Jim Hunt. 'Heck fire, he was my friend,' The Bull would say. In reflection I want to draw some parallels to our present day fellow members. As Senator Luther Jordan has shared a number of times, and we're sorry he's ill and unable to be here tonight, we in the Senate are pretty much of a family, and Luther has shared a number of times how as a family here in the Senate we do care for each other in sickness and in adversity. It doesn't take long to listen to Senator Hugh Webster until you realize, hey, this man has done his research. He's gone beyond the surface to figure out the facts. This trait is a Herman H. West trait. He dug out the facts ahead of time. When you listen on the floor to the expressions of Senator Bill Purcell or Senator Jim Forrester, you realize how fortunate we are, Senator Rand, to have not one but both of these two fine doctors in our midst. I could go on and on drawing parallels not just to the Hugh Websters and the Bill Purcells and the Jim Forresters but to the Bull West traits that do live on. That is something that I think we'll all remember. Now, as I close, I'd like my remarks to go back to some old words I used one time in introducing Mr. West. I'll repeat these words as I urge you to vote for this resolution. This brave man, Herman West, was a mover and a shaker. He displayed every day huge amounts of courage, huge amounts of statesmanship, enthusiasm, honesty and integrity. As he taught in a 'down-to-earth' manner his conservative ideas and a most successful free enterprise business, that of simply clearing land for future progress, it is an honor for me to speak here tonight. Yes, Roger, and other members of the family, we miss him, but I know he is smiling down on us tonight, and probably is most amused by our Year 2001 style of deliberations. Members, thanks in advance for your support, and at the proper time you may want to recognize Margie, the widow, and the others, Madame President.'

Senator Horton:

"As Senator Carpenter has indicated, only Senator Soles and I are ancient enough to have been here at the same time as Bull. I was in the House as was R.C. and he was here in the Senate. Bull West was one of these characters who's really larger than life. It's a sort of Horatio Alger story here in our own State of a man born in a log cabin in Cherokee County who never really had the benefit of a formal education, and rose through his ability, his innate ability, to being one of the premier, largest land-clearing company wholly-owned in the United States of America. And yet you never knew that to see him. He was multi-faceted. He was just as down-to-earth as could be. He was a member of the House and of the Senate. Flew, loved his airplane, loved his business. But, beyond that he was also a collector of historical artifacts from his beloved Western North Carolina. Many of these have now been given to the museum out there. As I say, he was a person who educated himself and went far beyond what most of us would be able to do. I can still hear his booming laugh and see his broad-brimmed hat, and I say he loved flying. He scared me to death one day flying out to Marion. I thought we were never going to get there and he was just bopping up and down in that little plane laughing the whole time and the rest of us were white-knuckled all the way. Yes, he loved flying, and I suspect that Bull West is flying now, in a different and a better world."

Senator Soles:

"Thank you. Madame President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate, like Senator Carpenter, it's a real honor for me to have an opportunity to stand tonight and say a word in support of this resolution and on behalf of Senator West. When I arrived in the House of Representatives as a freshman in 1969, Herman West had already served two terms in the House and stayed out a term or two and was what you might say a freshman in the Senate. He knew the ropes around here and he was always very kind to me when I came by and spoke to him about the bills and things that were going on. He was Senator West to me. I never got nerve enough to call him Bull and I don't understand today exactly how he got the name Bull, but I never did refer to him as Bull. He was Senator West and he was my friend. He was the first among a long line of people that have been sent here by the mountain counties to represent them, and all of them have been people of character and high integrity. North Carolina and Senator Soles are both better for having known Senator West."

The joint resolution passes its second reading (47-0) and third reading with members standing and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives by special message.

LEJEUNE, SEYMOUR JOHNSON, AND THE MEN AND WOMEN ASSIGNED TO THESE MILITARY INSTALLATIONS WHO DIED IN THE LINE OF DUTY.

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Rand, the rules are suspended and the joint resolution is placed before the Senate for immediate consideration.

Upon motion of Senator Rand, the joint resolution is read in its entirety.

Upon motion of Senator Dannelly, the remarks of the members are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Kerr:

"Thank you, Madame President and Senator Basnight and Senator Rand for your indulgence on our Calendar today. I think this is an historic day. I had the kind of distinct honor of growing up right next to a Braxton Bragg home place in Warrenton. I think our property lines touched at one time back in history and also I left Warrenton, as Senator Horton knows, and moved down to Goldsboro, and there I found out about Seymour Johnson, whom I believe was a naval pilot who was killed, and the air base there, which was open for World War II, was named in his honor. The base was closed for a while during the '50's and was reopened under the leadership of our Mayor, Scott B. Berkeley, who worked tirelessly to reopen the base, and the base is a small base but it is a powerful base. Today it trains all the fighter pilots in the U.S. Air Force. It also is an economic dynamo for eastern North Carolina, having a cash flow, or worth, or enhancement of about $350 million a year. That's a small base and my friends, Senator Albertson, maybe Senator Thomas, Senator Rand, will talk about the other bases, but I think that Goldsboro has prided itself with trying to have a good, friendly relationship with the men and women who have served us in the Air Force and we have, I believe, the best relationship and it cultivated the most friends and we see two of our local businessmen in the gallery, and I believe that's a General. I apologize, I can't see. Maybe I'm wrong. I just can't see through the railing up there, but we have tried hard and Senator Basnight is a very integral part of what's happening at Camp Lejeune and the Marine Air Force and also the base at Seymour Johnson, because we do some training in Dare County, and the Dare County bombing range is a key, I think, to keeping these bases open in Eastern North Carolina. They will all be up for renewal next year, with another ... These bases, the ones that we've mentioned here, were the best in the Air Force, and the Army and the Marines, and they won over a million and a half dollars to go into the quality of life investments for the men and women who serve us. Unfortunately, the men and women that we have now serving us have to go, and go on a moment's notice, to all different areas of the globe to keep the peace, and I just appreciate this resolution and I commend it to you. They are great citizens of our community. Another immense benefit are the number of retirees we have in our work force -- people who have retired there. I think there are 35,000 military retirees within 20 miles of Goldsboro, and I'm not even talking about Senator Rand's installation which is, of course, a tremendous installation there. We appreciate these people and I thank you for this resolution coming from the House and I commend it to the Senate.

Senator Shaw of Cumberland:

"Thank you, Madame President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, you heard Senator Kerr speak so eloquently on the mission of the military bases here in North Carolina. It only goes to say that slogan 'Nothing could be finer than to be in Carolina'. I think the world has finally found out what we've known all along. Why is it all those branches of services are here in North Carolina? I think it goes to show that it is not only military preparedness but also the quality of life issues that Senator Kerr spoke about. This award was given because of the work conditions and the high quality issues that affect the life of the military personnel as well as the civilian personnel that are working in those communities. We've learned the hard way during Desert Storm, for the great loss, the military community gives to our economy. We've suffered severely because of a tremendous downtime because all of the soldiers were gone during Desert Storm. We were very happy to see them return to put life back into our city and our economy. But, more importantly, Senator Kerr talked about it, we have quite a large retirement community in our area as well, and I think the numbers are in excess of $250 million in sales at the commissaries for the retired, so that speaks volumes. I wish we got sales tax on it. That would solve a lot of problems. We'd like to ask that you all, and there are others here who have bases that are represented, but speaking for Fort Bragg and Senator Rand, we ask that you would support the resolution, and congratulations to our armed forces and military personnel. Thank you."

Senator Rand:

"Thank you, ma'am. Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate, it is really a wonderful time in our community now, where Fort Bragg has been recognized as the number one base in the army, and I think this carried an award of $3 million for the use and benefit of the base to enhance the quality of life there at Fort Bragg. As you know, we are invited to Fort Bragg for a joint training exercise next Friday, a week from this coming Friday, and those of you who have not had the opportunity to go to Fort Bragg and see today's army will miss a real treat if you do not take advantage of this opportunity. Fort Bragg is an amazing place. It means so much for our community and not only in economic terms.

As ya'll know it's probably the largest single economic thing in this State, but also for the quality of life, the diversity of our community. You can get just about any kind of food from any kind of place in the world in Fayetteville, and it really is a wonderful place to live and to be neighbors to today's army. We also are pleased that a native North Carolinian is now the Commanding General of the 18th Airborne Corps. The 18th Airborne Corps is made up of the 82nd Airborne Division of the 1st Airborne out in Fort Campbell, Kentucky. A bunch of other support groups make up the Corps, but it is really America's first line of defense. Eighty-second, of course, is the all-American division. It's the only airborne division in the army and, as such, it's able to go anywhere in the world just about on a moment's notice. If you have never had the opportunity to see them when they go out and all the planes leaving and things like that, it's an amazing enterprise and an amazing operation and it really says a lot for the kinds of things that the army really can do for the peace and prosperity of the world. We are delighted to have Fort Bragg in our midst. It carries North Carolina all over the world on a daily basis, and it means so much for what North Carolina is about. It started as an artillery post in the first World War, but it now means so much to us. So I hope you will all take advantage of the opportunity to come next week and see what kind of things go on there, see some part of it. I appreciate this resolution being brought before us today to recognize other contributions and the special awards that these three bases mean to all of us and what it means to our State. Thank you, Madame President."

Senator Albertson:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate. I've had the privilege, I guess, unlike anyone else in this chamber, in having been able over the years, to play music at all these military installations. Beyond that, back in the mid seventies, I had the privilege and opportunity to travel to twenty-six countries around the world entertaining our forces personnel, and you would not believe some of the conditions our people have to live in to serve us and stand on the line of defense around the world. I have met many wonderful people through my military experience, and I love these people and my hat is off to them. They stand on the line of defense not only for us, but for all people around the world."

Senator Rand offers Amendment No. 1 which is adopted (47-0).

The joint resolution, as amended, passes its second (47-0) and third readings and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives for concurrence in Senate Amendment No. 1.

Upon motion of Senator Rand and Senator Shaw of Cumberland, the President extends the courtesies of the gallery to guests representing the military bases in North Carolina.

Upon motion of Senator Basnight, seconded by Senator Kerr, Senator Rand, Senator Shaw of Cumberland and Senator Thomas, the Senate adjourns at 3:57 P.M. to meet tomorrow, Wednesday, May 16, at 3:00 P.M.

SIXTY-FIFTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, May 16, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Marc Basnight, President Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, some days everything about our relationship and journey with you seems to go just as you and we would like. We're authentic, non-judging, humble, compassionate. Other days it's a struggle. We feel more like the child who prayed 'Dear God, I'm doing the best I can!' At those times we find ourselves saying one thing with our words and doing another with our deeds. We criticize others for that which we allow in ourselves. We try to make the best of both worlds trying to please others and you. When we throw our hands up in exasperation and say we're doing the best we can, what we mean is, 'We want to do better.' Come hear and help us to that end. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Jordan and Senator Reeves.

Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, May 15, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

Tuesday, May 22, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, an old Quaker axiom says, 'Let your life speak.' Sounds simple. It is not.

"What that statement asks of us is to identify and hear your voice within us, that divine image printed on our souls, and then to live out what we hear authentically, truthfully.

"Unfortunately, there are all kinds of different voices calling to us everyday, the voice and demands of society, the voice and demands of our ego, the voice and demands of self-interest.

"Let our lives speak today, O God, not from behind the masks that the world would have us wear, but from the voice within that reflects your very image. There is no pantomime when our lives speak through you. Amen."

"At a time when appropriations through the State budget is so top of mind, may the Senators find encouragement in this story from the early church, and the realization that administration of goods and services and doing your will, O God, are not mutually exclusive nor would we want them to be. Amen."

You don't need to give us everything that our neighbors have, just give us what we need. To your glory we pray, Amen."

Senate Chamber
Monday, June 4, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"The tough decisions that must be made each week in the Senate, O God, could be more easily decided if the Senators were able to view the landscape from a mountaintop! The reality is that we live most of our lives on the road between the valley and that mountaintop, where we must make choices of direction with a great deal of uncertainty. We just can't see around the next curve.

"And out of our need for guidance we call out in faith and you are with us -- not always high and lifted up where Moses found you, but as the prophet Isaiah said, "Bringing low the mountains and making the crooked places straight."

"Praise be to you, O God, for that encouragement. Bring low some mountains and straighten out some highways this week in the Senate.

"We also ask that you be a source of strength and comfort to Senator Clodfelter and family in the death of his father. To your glory we pray, Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Basnight, Senator Hoyle and Senator Moore.

Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, May 31, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

SEVENTY-SEVENTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, June 6, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, may I humbly but candidly ask why you give some people an attitude which experiences every event in life as a catastrophe. Forgive me when I call them 'catastrophizers'. Their voice level rises, their mannerisms become frantic, chaos sets in all because they didn't get their favorite parking space - catastrophe. The air-conditioning is at 74, not 72 - catastrophe. The tissue in the restroom is industrial ply, not Charmin - catastrophe.

"Maybe the Senate family has to deal with castrophizers everyday, too. God bless them. I guess it just goes to prove that it is easy to live at peace with those who are like-minded and like-spirited, but to live at peace with those who are different is a great grace and commendable achievement. Help us to that end. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Garwood, Senator Purcell, and Senator Rand.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, June 5, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

Senate Chamber
Thursday, June 7, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear Lord, we are grateful for the things that have been accomplished this week in the Senate. We're also thankful for the progress Senator Plyler's granddaughter is making after her accident and serious surgery. Continue to be with her during her rehabilitation. As the session continues, keep us receptive to new thoughts and unafraid of some new ideas. We do not want to live with shades pulled down over our minds. Finally, remind us that we do not live in two worlds, though we spend much time here in Raleigh and at home. But give us a continuity between our work in the Senate and our personal spiritual journeys, authenticating your presence so that we live out our lives congruently between those two worlds and to your glory. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Garwood, Senator Hagan, Senator Hoyle and Senator Rucho.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Wednesday, June 6, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

EIGHTIETH DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, June 12, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, we are such 'show us the way' kind of people. Of course there is biblical precedent for that kind of attitude. Moses and the Israelites stood at the Red Sea with the Pharaoh's army descending upon them and you parted the sea and showed them the way. We even remember the verse that says 'Knock and it shall be opened unto you.' But where are we to turn, O God, when the sea doesn't part, the door stays shut, and we are impatient. An old Quaker woman answered that question for us this way when she said, 'In sixty-plus years of living, the way has never opened in front of me.' She paused, then continued with a grin, 'But a lot of way has closed behind me; that's had the same guiding effect.' Help us to understand there is as much guidance in what does not and cannot happen in our lives as there is in what can and does happen. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Dalton and Senator Warren.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Monday, June 11, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Moore, the remarks of Senator Basnight and Senator Forrester are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Basnight:

"Senator Forrester is being recognized by the American Medical Association and Pfizer Pharmaceuticals for his outstanding contributions to the medical profession and his service in the North Carolina General Assembly. I am pleased to present on behalf of all of us, the 2001 PRIDE IN THE PROFESSIONS AWARD. Senator Forrester has practiced medicine for thirty-eight years in his hometown of Stanley. He is a long standing member of the American Medical Association and the North Carolina Medical Society, and a member of the American College of Occupational Medicine. He has received numerous awards during his career. Here in the Senate he has championed legislation and issues that promote the health and well-being of our State's citizens. In recognition of his commitment to excellence in medicine and health throughout his distinguished medical and public career, I am pleased, on behalf of all of us, to present this award to Senator Forrester."

Senator Forrester:

"I'm very honored to receive this award. I heard that Senator Basnight had written a letter of recommendation or nomination for this award for me, which I much appreciate. Senator Bill Purcell, my cohort, would certainly be more deserving than me. However, I think it was given to somebody still in active practice at this time, Senator Purcell. The Lord has blessed me with a wonderful wife and four children, and three great careers: a career in medicine, which I so dearly love; a career in the military, in the Air National Guard Air Force, and becoming a general officer; and a career in the political field as County Commissioner and State Senator. I've enjoyed all these years, particularly my years practicing medicine. This kind of reminds me of when I first came to this country at the age of ten years of age from my native Scotland. I came to this country and standing on the ship as I came into the New York Harbor with my mother and my sister at my side as we passed the Statue of Liberty, and as we were entering Ellis Island to become a citizen, my mother said to me, 'Son, this is America. This is your new home. This is a land of liberty, a land of freedom. You can excel in anything you attempt to do. Anything you want to do in this great country you can. But remember two things. Remember those who have helped you. Thank them. Reach out your hand and help others. And number two, always give back to your country, to your God, to your nation, to your State, to your community more than you have received.' And I've tried to do that. On behalf of the medical profession, I wish to thank Senator Basnight and Pfizer Labs. On behalf of all my brothers and sisters here in the Senate, I gratefully accept this award. Thank you very much"

The President extends the courtesies of the gallery to Mary Frances Forrester, wife of Senator Forrester.

EIGHTY-FIRST DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, June 13, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Honorable Austin Allran, Senator from Catawba County as follows:

"Let's pray. Dear God, I know you remember what the seventeen-year-old girl said a few Sundays ago as she gave her personal testimonial. But bear with me while I tell the Senators. This teenage girl, standing in the pulpit of our cathedral-like sanctuary, said she had no idea what she was going to do with her life. She didn't feel like she was as pretty as the other girls. She didn't feel as smart. She wasn't popular. She would be graduating from high school in one year and she had no idea where she was going to go to college. She was a loser. On the other hand, her dad was a doctor, her mother was pretty and could sing like an opera star. Her two brothers were smart. She said, 'Every night I laid in bed and cried. My parents couldn't do a thing for me. Then one night I picked up the Bible.' She opened it at Hebrews. Right before her eyes appeared words that spoke to her heart. She memorized the lines. 'Don't be afraid. Just have faith. Do not fear. Just believe.' From the pulpit she said to us, 'Those words changed my life. I'm happier now. People say I'm friendlier. I'm more confident. I'm not scared anymore.'

"Now Lord, hear our prayer from this grown-up Senate. God, be with us. Remind us Lord that if you are with us, who can be against us? Hear our prayer. God be with us, so instead of fearing what tomorrow may bring, or not bring, we may simply, like the young person again, just believe. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Warren and Senator Weinstein.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, June 12, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the

CALENDAR

Bills and a resolution on today's Calendar are taken up and disposed of, as follows:

S.J.R. 585, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF COBLE FUNDERBURK, A FORMER MEMBER OF THE NORTH CAROLINA GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Upon motion of Senator Plyler, the joint resolution is read in its entirety.

Upon motion of Senator Webster, the remarks of the members are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Plyler:

"Thank you, Madame President, and members of the Senate. Today we are honoring the life of a gentlemen that meant a lot to Union County and North Carolina. You know, some called him Fundy, some called him Mr. Coble, some called him Mr. Funderburk, some called him Mr. Funderburk. He was very active in civic affairs and some called him Rotary Funderburk, Rotary Coble, various things. He was an attorney for many years, as you have heard on the resolution, since 1932. Coble was the longest, oldest, practicing attorney in North Carolina when he passed away in September of 2000. He raised a wonderful family, some of whom are in the gallery today. He has a daughter, Barbara; two sons, Jerry and Jim; and grandson Cody who are in the gallery here today, along with a cousin, Sarah Gullede, who is sitting to my left here. As you've already heard he was a leader in the Rotary, and he won many, many honors there for his civic work. In his church he did the radio programs for many years and had many listeners across the Union County area, and he did an excellent job not only there but in his church in teaching Sunday School. I'm going to tell you, he could teach Sunday School, he could preach if he needed to, and he could have one of the finest prayers that you have ever heard. Now they asked him for many occasions in many areas to come and have a prayer in various churches and organizations. You know, Mr. Coble loved food. He ate at Hilltop, and if any of you know where Hilltop is, I know, Madame Chairman, you do, Tony, several of you have eaten there, but he would come in at breakfast and he wouldn't sit at a booth, he wouldn't sit at a table, he would come up to the counter where there were stools and he would sit there so he could be with the other people he had known over the years. When he would order, most of the time the waitresses knew what he was going to order. He would order a great big steak plate, it wasn't a little, small breakfast plate. He would order grits, sausage, eggs, cheese, orange slices, gravy, raisins and then anything else he could put on that plate. He would sit there and for about five minutes he would stir it all together. Then he would come out with a plate that would feed any sawmill hand that you have ever seen in your life. He would clean that plate completely and he would sit and talk with the different ones there at the counter until he had to leave or they had to leave. One of the things that I liked about him so well was that he liked to talk to young people. He would sit there and one young man, Brandon Blackman, the two of them would sit there, he was in high school, they'd sit there and talk sometimes for thirty minutes with their heads right together. Of course Brandon learned a lot from him as many other people did. But then about three o'clock in the afternoon he would come back for another meeting. He and his wife would come to Hilltop and he would order another plate of food, and he would clean it up. Well, that was his two meals for the day. But he never was sick to amount to anything. He often bragged one time, several times, saying that sometimes during life if you live long enough you'll have prostrate problems. Mr. Coble says, 'I don't know how old you have to live but I've never had any problems with mine whatsoever.' He drove a pick-up truck a lot and in the standard hole in that pick-up truck he would have a stick broom with the broom part turned straight up so people would know that he was coming or so that he could identify his truck if he was parked in a group of people, a group of vehicles. You know, for many years he rented his office from me in downtown Monroe. He didn't have a secretary. He did all of that work himself. He was the first one to pay his rent. I never had a lease with him because you didn't need a lease. His word was his bond absolutely. About the twentieth or twenty-fifth of the month the check would come in. But, he would type it out on an old Remington typewriter and some of the little letters would be staggered up and down, but still again that check was absolutely honored immediately when it was presented to the bank. He was a wonderful, wonderful citizen of Union County born in South Carolina right near the same sight that my Dad was born several years earlier than he was. He just did a tremendous amount of work for the people who could not help themselves, and people would still file in his office when he was ninety-four, ninety-four and a half years old, wanting him to help them with their work. I just can't say enough about Coble because he was a true friend of mine and my family's and the many people in Union County and across the State. He told me many times about how much the budget was when he was here and that was a very small budget of about $500,000. There's a lot of difference in that and what it is now. He was a good legislator, he served three terms - one in the House and two in the Senate, and I am privileged to have the honor to present this resolution to you today and I certainly would appreciate your support in its passage. Thank you. "

Senator Hoyle:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate. I had the privilege of meeting Coble Funderburk a number of years ago at a place some people called his second office and his second home, that was the Hilltop Cafe as Senator Plyler alluded to. When you met Coble you knew right away that he was a man of honor. He was a real gentleman. I'm proud to say that I have known his son, Jim, for at least twenty-five or thirty years. He practices law in Gastonia, and I guess the old saying that the fruit doesn't fall too far from the tree certainly applies in the case of his son, Jim. Jim, I would just say to you that your father was a great man and I know that you and your brother and sister know that, and that he meant so much to so many people and we appreciate his life and what he has meant to North Carolina. I'll just say to you Jim that I hope that you can follow in his footsteps and practice law until you are ninety-five years old and I'd like to continue to be one of your clients.

Senator Purcell:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate. I had the privilege of meeting Coble Funderburk just a few years ago and I would say 'amen' to what Senator Plyler and Senator Hoyle have said. He is certainly a great North Carolinian who highly deserves this special recognition and I commend this resolution to you."

Senator Rand:

"It was my privilege to know Coble Funderburk. I always enjoyed seeing him. He was a great fellow to talk to. He was, of course, interested in politics. He was interested in law. He was a wonderful lawyer who meant a lot to so many people in the kind of legal work that he did. He was the kind of lawyer who valued his profession and it was a profession to him as it should be to all of us who are licensed to practice. He was a grand fellow to be with, a good fellow to be around. I was fascinated watching him eat. And I always enjoyed being with him and I'll always miss him. Thank you.'

Respectfully,

Principal Clerk

Upon motion of Senator Ballance, seconded by Senator Berger, the Senate adjourns at 4:45 P.M. to meet tomorrow, June 14, at 10:00 A.M.

EIGHTY-SECOND DAY

Senate Chamber
Thursday, June 14, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Marc Basnight, President Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by Dr. Charles C. Williamson, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Monroe, North Carolina, as follows:

"O God, our creator and redeemer, we bow before you, for you are the Lord of all life. Without Your direction, all that we do goes for nothing. Therefore, we Pray that you will bless us with wisdom and courage to follow your will. Grant your blessing upon these Senators who have been charged with the responsibility of governing this State. Instill in them the characteristics that the psalmist described in an ideal leader: concern for the poor, compassion for the needy, advocacy for the weak. Keep us from the sinfulness of self-aggrandizement. Help us to know that we are here not out of self-interest, but in order to work for the greatest good for the people of North Carolina. Forgive us when we fail. And empower us to accept your forgiveness and move forward. Let the actions that are taken in this place be for your Glory. Lord, hear our prayer. Amen."

Senator Ballance, Deputy President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Wednesday, June 13, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

"Eternal God, Members of the Senate stand at the threshold of some very difficult decisions that must be made in the next weeks. "May the recollection of that day serve to renew their spirits and attitudes at this time. They have learned that their important calling is built on small deeds done, countless phone calls and e-mails returned, that bearing the burden of others encourages others to help them, that much is accomplished when there is continuity in their words and thoughts, in what is felt in the heart and expressed in their faces. So answer our prayers for renewed strength and a right spirit for the work yet to be finished successfully. Amen."

"Forgive us for living with so many masks. The danger, of course, is that if we hide too often, we might forget who we really are! Instead, let us live in full bloom of the gift or gifts with which you have graced us. Then we shall face you and hear the words, 'Well done my good and faithful servants!' Amen."

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, some of us struggle with a difficult issue by grabbing with both hands and shaking and twisting and turning and pushing and shoving and not giving in until we wrestle an answer from it all as Jacob did a blessing from an angel. But another way to struggle with an issue is simply to take a leap of faith and find ourselves being led slowly but surely to the answers you have for us, to watch the answers unfold before our eyes but still be a part of the process. This new way requires so much trust not to be reaching out like Jacob for the old arm and hand holds. Most of us already know how to wrestle. Teach us the new way, too. Amen."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CERTAIN MUNICIPALITIES TO USE TRAFFIC CONTROL PHOTOGRAPHIC SYSTEMS AND TO AUTHORIZE CERTAIN MUNICIPALITIES TO USE RED LIGHT CAMERAS FOR SAFETY, FOR SCHOOLS, BUT NOT FOR PROFIT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

June 27, 2001

SECTION 1. Subsection (d) of G.S. 160A-300.1 reads as rewritten:

"(d) This ~~act~~ section applies only to the Cities of Albemarle, Charlotte, Durham, Fayetteville, Greensboro, High Point, Rocky Mount, Wilmington, Greenville, and Lumberton, and to the Towns of Chapel Hill, Cornelius, Huntersville, Matthews, Nags Head, and Pineville Pineville, and to the municipalities in Union County only."

SECTION 2. G.S. 160A-300.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c1) The duration of the yellow light change interval at intersections where traffic control photographic systems are in use shall be no less than the yellow light change interval duration specified in the Design Manual developed by the Signals and Geometrics Section of the North Carolina Department of Transportation."

SECTION 3. Article 15 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 160A-300.2. Use of traffic control photographic systems in Wake County.

(a) A traffic control photographic system is an electronic system consisting of a photographic, video, or electronic camera and a vehicle sensor installed to work in conjunction with an official traffic control device to automatically produce photographs, video, or digital images of each vehicle violating a standard traffic control statute or ordinance.

(b) Any traffic control photographic system or any device which is a part of that system, as described in subsection (a) of this section, installed on a street or highway which is a part of the State highway system shall meet requirements established by the North Carolina Department of Transportation. Any traffic control system installed on a municipal street shall meet standards established by the municipality and shall be consistent with any standards set by the Department of Transportation.

(c) Any traffic control photographic system installed on a street or highway shall be identified by appropriate advance warning signs conspicuously posted not more than 300 feet from the location of the traffic control photographic system. All advance warning signs shall be consistent with a statewide standard adopted by the Department of Transportation in conjunction with local governments authorized to install traffic control photographic systems.

(d) Municipalities may adopt ordinances for the civil enforcement of G.S. 20-158 by means of a traffic control photographic system, as described in subsection (a) of this section. If a municipality adopts an ordinance pursuant to this section then, notwithstanding G.S. 20-176, a violation of G.S. 20-158 detected only by a traffic control photographic system shall not be an infraction. If a violation of G.S. 20-158 is detected by both a law enforcement officer and a traffic control photographic system, the officer may charge the offender with an infraction. If the officer charges the offender with an infraction, a civil penalty issued by the municipality for the same offense is void and unenforceable. An ordinance authorized by this subsection shall provide that:

(1) The owner of a vehicle shall be responsible for a violation unless the owner can furnish evidence that the vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person. The owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation if the owner of the vehicle, within 21 days after receiving notification of the violation, furnishes the office of the mayor of the municipality that issued the citation:

- a. The name and address of the person or company who leased, rented, or otherwise had the care, custody, and control of the vehicle;
- b. An affidavit stating that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen or in the care, custody, or control of some person who did not have permission of the owner to use the vehicle; or
- c. A statement that the person who received the citation is not the owner or driver of the vehicle, or that the person who received the citation was not driving a vehicle at the time and location designated in the citation.

- (2) A violation detected by a traffic control photographic system shall be deemed a noncriminal violation for which a civil penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be assessed and for which no points authorized by G.S. 20-16(c) shall be assigned to the owner or driver of the vehicle nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65.
- (3) The owner of the vehicle shall be issued a citation that shall be attached to photographic evidence of the violation that identifies the vehicle involved. The citation shall clearly state the manner in which the violation may be challenged. The owner of the vehicle shall comply with the directions on the citation. The citation shall be processed by officials or agents of the municipality and shall be forwarded by personal service or first-class mail to the address given on the motor vehicle registration. If the owner fails to pay the civil penalty or to respond to the citation within the time period specified on the citation, the owner shall have waived the right to contest responsibility for the violation and shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00). The municipality may establish procedures for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt.
- (4) The municipality shall establish a nonjudicial administrative hearing process to review objections to citations or penalties issued or assessed under this section. The municipality may establish an appeals panel composed of municipal employees to review objections. If the municipality does not establish an appeals panel composed of municipal employees, the mayor of the municipality shall review and make a final decision on all objections.

(e) The duration of the yellow light change interval at intersections where traffic control photographic systems are in use shall be no less than the yellow light change interval duration specified in the Design Manual developed by the Signals and Geometrics Section of the North Carolina Department of Transportation.

(f) A municipality enacting an ordinance implementing a traffic control photographic system may enter into a contract with a contractor for the lease, lease-purchase, or purchase of the system. The municipality may enter into only one contract for the lease, lease-purchase, or purchase of the system and the duration of the contract may be for no more than 60 months. After the period specified in the contract has expired, the system shall either be the property of the municipality or the system shall be removed and returned to the contractor.

(g) The clear proceeds from the citations issued pursuant to the ordinance authorized by this section shall be paid to the county school fund. The clear proceeds from the citations shall mean the funds remaining after paying for the lease, lease-purchase, or purchase of the traffic control photographic system; paying a contractor for operating the system; and paying any administrative costs incurred by the municipality related to the use of the system.

(h) This section applies only to the municipalities in Wake County. For purposes of this section, a municipality is in Wake County if fifty-one percent (51%) or more of the land area of the municipality lies within Wake County."

SECTION 4. Article 15 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 160A-300.3. Use of traffic control photographic systems in the City of Concord.

(a) A traffic control photographic system is an electronic system consisting of a photographic, video, or electronic camera and a vehicle sensor installed to work in conjunction with an official traffic control device to automatically produce photographs, video, or digital images of each vehicle violating a standard traffic control statute or ordinance.

(b) Any traffic control photographic system or any device which is a part of that system, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, installed on a street or highway which is a part of the State highway system shall meet requirements established by the North Carolina Department of Transportation. Any traffic control system installed on a municipal street shall meet standards established by the municipality and shall be consistent with any standards set by the Department of Transportation.

(c) Any traffic control photographic system installed on a street or highway must be identified by appropriate advance warning signs conspicuously posted not more than 300 feet from the location of the traffic control photographic system. All advance warning signs shall be consistent with a statewide standard adopted by the Department of Transportation in conjunction with local governments authorized to install traffic control photographic systems.

(d) Municipalities may adopt ordinances for the civil enforcement of G.S. 20-158 by means of a traffic control photographic system, as described in subsection (a) of this section. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 20-176, in the event that a municipality adopts an ordinance pursuant to this section, a violation of G.S. 20-158 at a location at which a traffic control photographic system is in operation shall not be an infraction. An ordinance authorized by this subsection shall provide that:

- (1) The owner of a vehicle shall be responsible for a violation unless the owner can furnish evidence that the vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person. The owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation if the owner of the vehicle, within 21 days after notification of the violation, furnishes the officials or agents of the municipality which issued the citation:
 - a. The name and address of the person or company who leased, rented, or otherwise had the care, custody, and control of the vehicle; or
 - b. An affidavit stating that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen or in the care, custody, or control of some person who did not have permission of the owner to use the vehicle.
- (2) A violation detected by a traffic control photographic system shall be deemed a noncriminal violation for which a civil penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be assessed, and for which no points authorized by G.S. 20-16(c) shall be assigned to the owner or driver of the vehicle nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65.
- (3) The owner of the vehicle shall be issued a citation which shall clearly state the manner in which the violation may be challenged, and the owner shall comply with the directions on the citation. The citation shall be processed by officials or agents of the municipality and shall be forwarded by personal service or first-class mail to the address given on the motor vehicle registration. If the owner fails to pay the civil penalty or to respond to the citation within the time period specified on the citation, the owner shall have waived the right to contest responsibility for the violation, and shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00). The municipality may establish procedures for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt.
- (4) The municipality shall institute a nonjudicial administrative hearing to review objections to citations or penalties issued or assessed under this section.

(e) The duration of the yellow light change interval at intersections where traffic control photographic systems are in use shall be no less than the yellow light change interval duration specified in the Design Manual developed by the Signals and Geometrics

Section of the North Carolina Department of Transportation.

(f) The clear proceeds from the citations issued pursuant to the ordinance authorized by this section shall be paid to the county school fund. The clear proceeds from the citations shall mean the funds remaining after paying for the lease, lease-purchase, or purchase of the traffic control photographic system; paying a contractor for operating the system; and paying any administrative costs incurred by the municipality related to the use of the system.

(g) This section applies only to the City of Concord."

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1.(a) Effective July 1, 2002, G.S. 135-39.5 is amended by adding the following new subdivision to read:

The Executive Administrator and Board of Trustees of the Teachers' and State Employees' Comprehensive Major Medical Plan shall have the following powers and duties:

- (26) Increasing annually the amount of the annual deductible and annual aggregate maximum deductible. The increase shall be established by determining the ratio of the CPI-Medical Index to such index one year earlier. If the ratio indicates an increase in the CPI-Medical Index, then the amount of the annual deductible and annual aggregate maximum deductible may be increased by not more than the percentage increase in the CPI-Medical Index. As used in this subdivision, the term 'CPI-Medical Index' means the U.S. Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers for Total Medical Care."

SECTION 1.(b) G.S. 135-40.1(2) reads as rewritten:

"(2) Deductible. – Deductible shall mean an amount of covered expenses during a fiscal year which must be incurred after which benefits (subject to the deductible) becomes payable. The deductible for an employee, retired employee and/or his or her dependents shall be ~~two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00)~~ three hundred fifty dollars ($350.00) for each fiscal year.

The deductible applies separately to each covered individual in each fiscal year, subject to an aggregate maximum of ~~seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00)~~ one thousand fifty dollars ($1,050) per ~~family (employee or retiree and his or her covered dependents)~~ employee and child(ren) or employee and family coverage contract in any fiscal year.

If two or more family members are injured in the same accident only one deductible is required for charges related to that accident during the benefit period."

SECTION 1.(c) G.S. 135-40.4(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) In the event a covered person, as a result of accidental bodily injury, disease or pregnancy, incurs covered expenses, the Plan will pay benefits up to the amounts described in G.S. 135-40.5 through G.S. 135-40.9.

The Plan is divided into two parts. The first part includes certain benefits which are not subject to a deductible or coinsurance. The second part is a comprehensive plan and includes those benefits which are subject to both a ~~two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00)~~ three hundred fifty dollar ($350.00) deductible for each covered individual to an aggregate maximum of ~~seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00)~~ one thousand fifty dollars ($1,050) per ~~family-employee and child(ren) or employee and family coverage contract~~ and coinsurance of 80%/20%. There is a limit on out-of-pocket expenses under the second part.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this Article, the Executive Administrator and Board of Trustees of the Teachers' and State Employees' Comprehensive Major Medical Plan may contract with providers of institutional and professional medical care and services to established preferred provider networks. The design, adoption, and implementation of such preferred provider contracts and networks are not subject to the requirements of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes, provided that for any hospital preferred provider network all hospitals will have an opportunity to contract with the Plan if they meet the contract requirements. The Executive Administrator and Board of Trustees shall, under the provisions of G.S. 135-39.5(12), pursue such preferred provider contracts on a timely basis and shall make reports as requested to the President of the Senate, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Employee Hospital and Medical Benefits on its progress in negotiating such preferred provider contracts. Allowable charges shall not be greater than a pharmacy's usual and customary charge to the general public for a particular prescription. Prescriptions shall be for no more than a 34-day supply for the purposes of the copayments paid by each covered individual. By accepting the copayments and any remaining allowable charges provided by this subsection, pharmacies shall not balance bill an individual covered by the Plan. A prescription legend drug is defined as an article the label of which, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, is required to bear the legend: "Caution: Federal Law Prohibits Dispensing Without Prescription." Such articles may not be sold to or purchased by the public without a prescription order. Benefits are provided for insulin even though a prescription is not required. The Plan and its pharmacy benefit manager shall not provide coverage for growth hormone and weight loss drugs and antifungal drugs for the treatment of nail fungus and botulinum toxin without approval in advance by the pharmacy benefit manager. In order to be eligible for these benefits, admission must occur within 14 days of discharge from the hospital.

In order to qualify for benefits provided by a skilled nursing facility, the following stipulations apply:

- a. The services are medically required to be given on an inpatient basis because of the covered individual's need for medically necessary skilled nursing care on a continuing daily basis for any of the conditions for which he or she was receiving inpatient hospital services prior to transfer from a hospital to the skilled nursing facility or for a condition requiring such services which arose after such transfer and while he or she was still in the facility for treatment of the condition or conditions for which he or she was receiving inpatient hospital services,

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Basnight, the remarks of Senator Martin of Pitt who rises to a point of personal privilege, are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Martin of Pitt:

"Thank you Mr. Chairman. I hope that you are not anxious enough to go home that you walk out on me, but I appreciate it and I appreciate Marc asking me to do this because in the words of Tom Brokaw of NBC who said that the World War II generation was The Greatest Generation of this nation's history, and I think that a lot of us of that generation believe it because if you had seen, and if you had been here, the younger generations, or even the older generations that have passed, now there were some very uneasy times. The future and the very hopes of this Nation, what it was founded for and what it was intended for and what it had been, had an opportunity to survive because at the time it looked like maybe it would not survive. As Marc has said, we had a family of five children and my youngest brother at that time in the late '30's, not having anything to do, walking the streets of Bethel looking like possibly he would get into trouble or get with the wrong crowd and turn to ways we would not tolerate in our home, was more or less the father of the household at that time, in 1938 and 1939. I had come home from Oxford and I was supporting, I was the father of the household. My mother, of course, was living and we had three other children with us and it looked like he might be going bad and I was talking to him from time to time trying to keep him straight. I let him have my car and things like that, trying to keep him happy and trying to keep him industrious because he had no way, there was nothing to be offered to him other than to just do the best we could and that's what we were doing to survive. He decided along with three or four other boys around town to go to the Navy. He talked to me about it and I suggested that he do that by all means which he finally did. Well, he joined the Navy and went through the usual training and he was assigned to the U.S.S. West Virginia, the battleship, which was the flagship of the Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor on the morning of December 7, 1941 when it was bombed by the Japanese Navy. Of course, as you know, the targets of the Japanese at that time was to get to the big battleships and they destroyed most of them. I think there were four or five of them out of the seven almost completely destroyed, and he swam ashore. He said he literally swam back to the shore in the ocean of fires. It looked like the whole ocean was burning up because of the fuel oil that was burning on the water. It was so intense and so hot but he survived that. Later on, he was sent back to the States and he asked for reassignment and he was then assigned to a tanker, a new tanker that was being constructed, as soon as it was constructed. The fleet was in hiding at that time, what little they had left of the fleet, because they were afraid to even let the Japs know where they were or anything because of the fact that they didn't have much. They couldn't contend with them in any way at all and so they were hiding and moving around the best they could in secret, and he was going on the tanker that was fueling the Navy at that time. On the morning of February 7, 1942, on the way to meet the fleet, they had made a rendezvous with the fleet where to meet them at in the Pacific several miles off the Wake Islands somewhere, they were struck by a Japanese torpedo and the boat sank in about an hour and they abandoned ship and they lost about 40% of the personnel on the destroyer and he was one of the survivors. He stayed in the water, I believe he said, for eight and a half hours, and he even had sailors to float by him half destroyed, half torn to pieces. They had no torso other than what was in the life jacket, and then they were picked up eight and half hours later. The only reason they were picked up and the only reason they went to look for them was that they had supposed to rendezvous so they in turn went and looked for them. They knew the course they were taking and it so happened that they found the survivors and picked them up. They carried them back to the coast again. He asked for another reassignment and he was reassigned then to submarine tender. He had quite an experience with that. They needed experience, other personnel in the Navy. So he asked for reassignment and went back to the West Coast and then he was reassigned again and he was on another ship, and he was on a minesweeper that helped sweep the mines out of the Port when they were fixing to invade that in the latter days of the war. He returned to the States after the war, after three sinkings, and after surviving that. He talked to me, he wrote to me as a father and he talked to me a great deal after the experience in the war. He determined, he said, after the first battleship at Pearl Harbor and especially after the tanker escapade in the Pacific off Wake Island that he was not going to make it anyway so he might as well go ahead and be a part of it, so every time he went back to the coast for reassignment he asked for duty and that's what he got. He was in Japan with the surrender group that went over to accept the Japanese surrender, and he said that out of all the people that he saw there he happened to run into the two other boys that I spoke about earlier that were in the process of loping around town with nothing to do and getting into trouble who went into the Navy with him. There were three boys from Bethel, a little town of 360 people at that time, I mean, there in the harbor and you often think about the price they paid and what they paid and their experience and what it took for us to be successful in World War II. He had come back home and he had spent twenty some years in the Navy. He spent eighteen years in civil service. He was in training. He trained people in navigation and what have you. He was a Chief Petty Officer. At one time in his career they tried to get him to move up. They needed officers so badly but he wouldn't do it because he said to me, 'Listen Bob, I run this ship, I'm not going to leave that after seven years and just be a junior officer.' So he stuck to that and then after about eighteen in civil service and thirty-eight, forty years, he got on in age and he lost his wife in February of this year and Sunday morning, I saw him Saturday before last in Oxford in the parade, and we had a casual conversation, and I saw him later on in the day. But after that, that was the last I've seen of him and he was found in his apartment Sunday morning. He had a dinner appointment with a lady and he didn't show and she knew possibly something was wrong with him and they went to the apartment and found him lying on the bed in his pajamas and bedroom shoes. He had died. But I will say that and again, Marc, I appreciate your thinking about J. C. and us. Out of the whole family now, out of five kids, I'm the last one that's left, and I was the middle one, two of them younger than I am, they died last year. In fact, we lost out of our family the whole family practically, except for one of my older brothers, lost all of us within the last eight months. Also included in that is my youngest brother's wife, J. C.'s wife, who I'm telling you about now. His wife died in February and he had plans for the future but I'd say this, and I think about his experience, I think about others' experiences, Dr. Forrester and others who have been connected with the military and I think about what Tom Brokaw said about that generation, and this being July 4, the day that we accept as the day that we proclaimed not only our freedom but our way of life as we know it in the United States and sometimes, I must be getting old because I think we're losing just about everything that we have stood for and just about everything that we had gained and just about everything this Nation should be standing for today, but to think about the life of J. C. and my brother. He paid the price and I think about the thousands of people that we dismissed as casualties and say we lost two million people during World War II either casualties or either death. We think nothing of these figures but when we personalize it and we think about how it affects us and those who have paid the price that these fellows, boys and girls, ladies and gentlemen of the armed forces, the price that they paid, I think that this should be the greatest July 4 this Nation has ever seen. I hope that these few remarks will make you concentrate more and think more about our freedom, what it stands for, and how we are using it today. We're not doing it right. We ought to turn around and do it better. Thank you, Marc and members, for listening to this story."

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

A special message is received from the House of Representatives transmitting a resolution which is read the first time and disposed of, as follows:

H.J.R. 270, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF DALE EARNHARDT, LEGENDARY STOCK CAR RACER.

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Rand, the rules are suspended and the House Joint Resolution is placed before the Senate for immediate consideration.

Upon motion of Senator Cunningham, the joint resolution is read in its entirety and upon motion of Senator Basnight, the remarks of the Senators are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Cunningham:

"Thank you, Madame President. If you are traveling south in the 23rd Senate District in the southern part of Iredell County, you come to a small, bustling, old mill town called Mooresville. Mooresville is the home to about forty different racing teams. It is also home to the North Carolina Racing Hall of Fame. It is fitting that about six years ago Mooresville was nicknamed 'Race City USA'. If you continue south out of Mooresville on a little road called Coddle Creek on your way to Kannapolis, you will see on your left out in what used to be farmland, a giant building called Dale Earnhardt Incorporated. Dale Earnhardt Incorporated is home to three racecar teams in and of itself. It employs more than 200 workers in southern Iredell County and it's one of the county's largest employers. What started there a large number of years ago has grown in the same way that Mooresville, that small old Southern mill town, has grown and it's now home to perhaps one of the most vibrant industries in North Carolina, and that is NASCAR. NASCAR today is one of the fastest-growing spectator sports in the country. It's responsible here in North Carolina for over $1 billion in economic activity, and in Iredell County and, Senator Hartsell, in Cabarrus County and, Senator Odom, in Mecklenburg County, it's responsible for a quarter of a billion dollars in economic activity there alone. As soon as you pass DEI on Coddle Creek Road you come to a farm, and on that farm a man is buried out next to a hunting blind that was his favorite, a wife still lives, and across the road a son still lives. That's where Dale Earnhardt called home. Dale Earnhardt perhaps represents better than anybody else in NASCAR, the transformation of that sport and the transformation of that small southern town. Ralph Dale Earnhardt was born in Kannapolis in 1951 to Martha and Ralph Earnhardt. His father, Ralph, was a driver as well. We have here with us today in the gallery his mother, Martha, and his daughter, Kelly. What began really in 1975 at his first Winston Cup race became a full time job in 1979. In 1979, Dale Earnhardt became a full-time Winston Cup driver. He was named 'Rookie of the Year' that year. He won his first victory in 1979 in Bristol, Tennessee. The next year, in 1980, he won the first of what would end up being seven Winston Cup Championships which, as you know, are based on overall performance throughout the racing season. He won them in 1980, '86, '87, '90, '91, '93 and '94. His career winnings are higher than any other NASCAR racer. He's a five-time NMPA Driver of the Year. He's the only three-time winner of the Winston, he's the only six-time Busch Clash winner, four-time IROC champion. In fact, he has won nearly every major event and title available in NASCAR, available to NASCAR drivers, over seventy-six victories and seven championship titles. There are probably some who wonder why we would honor a driver and a sport that's fascinated with loud cars driving in circles at high speeds. We'd probably attribute it to a southern eccentricity, some may call it just downright redneck, but I would suggest that we're honoring much more in the man of Dale Earnhardt. We're honoring a certain spirit that includes the American dream. He did what he did with a ninth-grade education. He fought to overcome what was tremendous poverty in that small southern town, but he was a man that had a vision for how a fast car should feel as it went around the track. He had a very good friend named Richard Childress who had the technical know-how to make it go. Richard Childress, of course, is in Davidson County, Senator Bingham, and Welcome is where RCR is and that's where the Number 3 car is built. It's where the work is done that allowed Dale Earnhardt to move as fast as he did. That spirit includes the fact that on race day the fans could just walk around where they're working on the cars, down in the pits, down in the garage, and meet their heroes, meet the people that they would see on TV or on the posters. Even some people could wander into the little prayer meeting that they would have just before all the drivers would get in their cars, because the fans really lived right next door to the team members and the people that they respect, like my neighbor Chocolate Myers. Chocolate Myers in Lexington was the man who poured the gas in Dale Earnhardt's car when it could come in for those seventeen seconds on pit row. You see, NASCAR's growth has been our growth in these small mill towns, Lexington, Salisbury, Statesville, Mooresville, Kannapolis, Concord, and Dale Earnhardt's success has been the success of our friends and our neighbors. It is fitting, I think, that we honor him with this resolution. I will urge its passage. I think it's perhaps equally fitting that the sport and all of its fans move on and I think it's fitting that this past Saturday night at Daytona, where we lost the man himself, that his son, Dale Jr., took the checkered flag. Thank you, and I urge the passage of this resolution."

Senator Plyler:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate, and to the family. I knew Dale Earnhardt for a long time. When I first went into the Legislature, that was in 1974 when I was elected and I represented Cabarrus County along with Union County. In 1975, as Senator Cunningham has so eloquently expressed what a gentleman he was, and what all he has accomplished over the years, I knew him only as a young rookie. I knew his dad, Ralph. I represented Cabarrus County for eight years and knew that Dale and Ralph and Bruce Thompson from Monroe, and Speedy and Jimmy Thompson, who were two famous racecar drivers at that time, worked together and one thing about it, they worked on dirt tracks a lot. You could go to that dirt track and when you came out of there late that night or that afternoon you would be as red as the carpet is on this floor from the dirt settling on you from the dust from the cars. Dale Earnhardt won the distinguished award that was presented by the Charlotte Motor Speedway several years ago and I followed him by receiving the same award. I'd like to say there's another person in this body here that's going to receive that award and that person doesn't know it, but he's going to receive it within a reasonable length of time and I hope it can be done here on the floor of this Senate. It is a very distinguished award but I'd say that Dale Earnhardt made racing, along with his dad and along with the son who is following him so well. He is just doing a great job in it and so many people across the whole world were so glad to see him win that race on Saturday night. I'd just like to say on behalf of my family, my daughter Diane works with the Racecar Drivers Auxiliary, and the friends that I have that have known Dale, and I'll say this and I don't know whether Mrs. Earnhardt remembers him or not but there's a fellow by the name of Louis Everheart and I don't know that Dale didn't name him 'Termite', but 'Termite' works for me now and has for some twenty or twenty-five years. I talked to Dale about him a few years ago and he wondered and said, 'Well, you know I thought he was already dead' but he was not and he's still living. I'd like to say that Dale is a great American, a great North Carolinian, and a great worldwide known racecar driver in one of the greatest sports that has ever been anywhere in the world. Some people might not know what it takes to have a team and be the driver and be the one that gets out and risks their lives in order to give to the people the entertainment that they demand. A lot of people come to these races just to see one individual person and Dale, I guess, more people came to see him than any other race car driver probably anywhere in the world. So I would like to urge each of you to vote favorably upon this resolution because it is well-deserved and I recommend it to you very highly."

Senator Hartsell:

"Thank you Madame President, and members of the Senate. Mrs. Earnhardt, Senator Basnight, you know that there is a rivalry between Concord and Kannapolis. I am a resident of Concord and I'm proud today to speak to a resolution honoring a man from Kannapolis. Only those from Kannapolis and Concord can truly appreciate that because it is a genuine rivalry. Dale Earnhardt epitomized the town he grew up in. He epitomized what is important and wonderful about this State, about the opportunities that are here, and the opportunities that are utilized, because he was Kannapolis. About eight years ago, the town honored him with a day and I had the good fortune of presenting a North Carolina flag to him. It was the first time I'd ever met him and I confess I was more than just a little bit intimidated, but he was an honest, honorable, simple man, who took a simple task that was in fact complex and succeeded amazingly well. The town was proud of him, the area was proud of him and, in fact, his was the most marketable name in all of sports. I was looking for something to say and I think it was probably best said in some lyrics by Garth Brooks very recently. 'For a moment all the world was right. How could I have known that you'd ever say goodbye. And now I'm glad I didn't know the way it all would end, the way it all would go. Our lives are better left to chance, I could've missed the pain, but I would have had to miss the dance.' Folks, family, Dale Earnhardt helped everyone to dance."

Senator Soles:

"Madame President, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, you may think it is odd that I would stand up to speak on this particular resolution. I never met Dale Earnhardt and I've never been to a NASCAR race but I have come to know him in a different way. Not only do I know him through the news media and seeing clips on the TV, things like that, but my automobile license plate is Number 3. More than one time - this is the truth - I've come out of a meeting or been somewhere not only in North Carolina but elsewhere, and people would be standing around the back of my car looking to see if that was Dale Earnhardt. Now, if they had seen me coming up Interstate 95 or Interstate 40 trying to get back here before I was late on Monday night, you know I could kind of understand that, but I have truly come to learn through that way the true honor and love and appreciation the people of this country have for Dale Earnhardt. I'm going to have myself attend one of these paces one time and see exactly what it's all about, but I appreciate the opportunity to be associated with the Earnhardt family in any way."

The joint resolution passes its second reading (50-0) and third reading with members standing and is ordered enrolled.

Upon motion of Senator Cunningham, the President extends the courtesies of the gallery to Martha Earnhardt, mother of Dale Earnhardt, and Kelly Earnhardt Home, his daughter.

"Gracious God, sometimes it seems that the Senators receive the most attention when a vigorous debate takes place here. As long as these debates are a result of a faith that always argues the present for the sake of what yet might be made better, then they are not adversaries, but partners (although with differing views) working toward the good. Continue to remind them of this truth in the days ahead. In your holy name we pray, Amen."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO DIRECT THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, IN COOPERATION WITH THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION AND THE STATE BOARD OF COMMUNITY COLLEGES, TO STUDY THE MEASURES USED FOR ADMISSIONS, PLACEMENT, AND ADVANCED PLACEMENT DECISIONS BY THE CONSTITUENT INSTITUTIONS OF THE STATE'S UNIVERSITY SYSTEM, TO ALLOW INTELLECTUALLY GIFTED YOUTHS TO ATTEND COMMUNITY COLLEGES, AND TO ALLOW CERTAIN YOUTHS TO BE EMPLOYED BY INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1.(a) The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina, in cooperation with the State Board of Education and the State Board of Community Colleges, shall study the measures used by the constituent institutions to make admissions, placement, and advanced placement decisions regarding incoming freshmen and shall assess the various uses made of those measures and the validity of those measures with regard to a student's academic performance and as predictors of a student's future academic performance. They shall also assess whether other alternative measures may be equally valid or more accurate as indicators of a student's academic performance. In the study, particular consideration should be given to whether or not to eliminate, continue, or change the emphasis placed on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and ACT Assessment for North Carolina students as a mandatory university admissions measure. The study should review incorporating the State's testing program into admissions, placement, and advanced placement decisions. Based on its findings, the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina, in cooperation with the State Board of Education and the State Board of Community Colleges, may develop recommendations to improve the measures used to assess a student's academic performance, to adopt alternative measures, or to use various combinations of both to determine more accurately a student's academic knowledge and performance.

SECTION 1.(b) The study required by subsection 1(a) of this act may address all of the following:

- (1) Admissions. - The Board of Governors may examine the key elements used for making admissions decisions in the State's University System. Included in the factors to be studied are grade point average, class rank, and the SAT and ACT Assessment. Each element may be studied for reliability and validity independently and as used together. The Board of Governors may also compare the State's end-of-course testing with the SAT and ACT Assessment, assess how each reflects a student's academic performance, and consider shifting the emphasis currently placed on the SAT and ACT Assessment as an admissions measure to the State's end-of-course tests or other available tests as an admissions measure. In its study, the Board of Governors may consider eliminating, continuing, or changing the emphasis placed on the SAT and ACT Assessment as an admissions measure for North Carolina students applying to the State's constituent institutions. The Board of Governors may also consider methods for accurately comparing the academic performance of applicants who do not have the benefit of the State's end-of-course testing program with applicants who do have the State's testing program.

Recommendations should be made to improve the consistency and fairness of each measure independently and as used together for admissions decisions. These recommendations may include the use of North Carolina end-of-course tests as an element in admissions decisions alone or in combination with a change of the weight of emphasis on the SAT and ACT Assessment. The recommendations may also include maintaining the current process.

The Board of Governors may review with the State Board of Education recommendations that incorporate end-of-course testing as part of the admissions process. The State Board of Education may develop recommendations to improve the alignment of end-of-course tests and secondary coursework with the expectations of the constituent institutions and the State Board of Community Colleges.

- (2) Placement. - The Board of Governors may consider reviewing the assessment methods currently used by constituent institutions for remediation placement decisions. Recommendations may be developed to provide greater consistency, reliability, and validity for remediation decisions. North Carolina end-of-course tests may be considered for use in these decisions.
- (3) Advanced placement testing. - The Board of Governors may review the use of test scores in granting college-level course credit by constituent institutions.
- (4) Other relevant issues. - The Board of Governors may study any other issues relevant to college and university admissions, placement, and advanced placement measures.

SECTION 1.(c) The Board of Governors may make an interim report regarding its studies and plans to the Joint Legislative Education Oversight Committee no later than March 1, 2002, and shall submit a final report to that Committee by December 1, 2003. It is recommended that the study continue beyond the final report date. Interim and final reports of the Committee may include recommended legislation.

SECTION 2. Article 1 of Chapter 115D of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 115D-1.1. Discretion in admissions.

(a) Notwithstanding G.S. 115D-1, a student under the age of 16 may enroll in a community college if the following conditions are met:

- (1) The president of the community college or the president's designee finds, based on criteria established by the State Board of Community Colleges, that the student is intellectually gifted and that the student has the maturity to justify admission to the community college; and
- (2) One of the following persons approves the student's enrollment in a community college:
 - a. The local board of education, or the board's designee, for the public school administrative unit in which the student is enrolled.
 - b. The administrator, or the administrator's designee, of the nonpublic school in which the student is enrolled.
 - c. The person who provides the academic instruction in the home school in which the student is enrolled.
 - d. The designee of the board of directors of the charter school in which the student is enrolled.

(b) The State Board of Community Colleges, in consultation with the Department of Public Instruction, shall adopt rules to implement this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 95-25.5 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(m) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, youths who are enrolled at an institution of higher education may be employed by the institution provided the employment is not hazardous. As used in this subsection, "institution of higher education" means any constituent institution of The University of North Carolina, any North Carolina community college, or any college or university that awards postsecondary degrees."

ONE HUNDRED FIRST DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, July 18, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:
July 18, 2001

"Almighty God, the Israelites took the Ten Commandments and made over 600 laws out of them. I guess that's why Jesus clarified the confusion by saying that the one supreme law is that we love you, O God, with all our hearts, minds, souls and our neighbors as ourselves. And on this commandment, he said, depends all the law.

"Most of us probably don't remember where we, as children, first saw or heard those Ten Commandments, but I'm sure each of us can picture in our mind's eye someone who so lived the laws of love that he or she made from the writing from the stone tablets brought down the mountain by Moses and come to life for us.

"We don't know exactly where the Ten Commandments might hang, but we pray they will reside in our hearts, minds and souls. Then we too shall bring them to life and meaning for our children. Amen."

The Chair grants a leave of absence for today to Senator Hoyle.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, July 17, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

Upon motion of Senator Horton, the remarks of Senator Ballance are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Ballance:

"Thank you, Madame President and members of the Senate. We have been looking at this issue now for more than a year. We had a study commission which looked at this matter for about a year and among our members who were on the commission were Senator Dannelly, Senator Shaw and Senator Horton. We now have before us the bill that has come back from the House and I'd like to explain the differences and then I'm going to request that the Senate do concur in the House version of the bill, and I'm not sure if one of my D.A.'s came down to see if I was going to do that or if they just wanted to be here today for this historic event but I'm happy to have with us several of our district attorneys in the gallery. This bill has had a long history and I want to thank a lot of people. It has sort of been a gut-wrenching issue for many of you and I particularly want to thank the thirty-one of you who stayed with us on round one and hopefully this vote will be fifty to concur. I believe I'm correct in saying that the District Attorney's Association has called many of you and asked you to concur, and I'll try to be brief on this. I'm reading from, and I'm not going to read all of this, but Susan Sitze who has been our counsel through the study commission, she was counsel in Judiciary I, and Representative Hackney is not with us in session this week because he's on a trip out of the country but, Senator Basnight, we had a pre-concurrence committee that met this morning to discuss this issue. Originally I was concerned that we ought not concur and that we ought to go to conference so we decided to do a pre-conference with Representative Jean Preston, Representative Ronnie Sutton, Senator Horton and I. Senator Hagan was not available to be with us. We met this morning and I brought a couple of We talked about these issues and we finally concluded that it was in everybody's best interest to go forward with this bill and turn our attention to other issues. Just to give you some of the differences in the bills, we changed the definition somewhat. We changed it in House Committee and finally on the floor. Representative Preston had an amendment that has the definition that more closely tracks the definition in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fourth Edition, so I think everybody is satisfied with the definition. The House version removed the Senate Amendment. If you'll recall, we had a floor amendment that said that the I. Q. test must be administered prior to the crime for which the defendant was on trial, and that revision came out in the House. The House version, like the Senate version, contained a pretrial hearing and our pretrial hearing version upon the filing of a motion was an affidavit. The bill said that the court shall grant a hearing to determine the issue of mental retardation. The current version of the bill says upon motion of the defendant with an affidavit attached the court may grant a pretrial hearing and shall grant a pretrial hearing with the consent of the district attorney. So it's not mandatory in both instances and the standard of proof was moved up in the House version to clear and unconvincing evidence. That is a stronger standard than we had in our bill when it was here which was preponderance of the evidence. The House version also removes the Senate version which allowed appeals. You recall Senator Berger proposed an amendment and we amended his amendment which gave both sides the right to an appeal on the hearing and now that is out of the bill. So any appeals will come at the end of the trial. Senator Berger or someone had an amendment to present this issue to the jury and that issue has been somewhat compromised in the House version because now, especially if the pretrial motion does not dispose of the issue of mental retardation and if the defendant puts on evidence of retardation, then the court must then submit a special issue to the jury to determine whether or not the defendant is mentally retarded and that issue will be by preponderance of the evidence. The final item in the bill, as we know there are at least three persons on Death Row now who have tested under seventy, or seventy or below. There are trials that are going on, I believe, around the State and the Attorney General was concerned that there would be issue of equal protection if we did not afford those persons an opportunity to take advantage of this motion to determine their mental retardation so a provision was added in the bill which originally gave one year and now it gives four months, 120 days for a motion to be filed by the defendant to determine whether or not he or she is mentally retarded. The 120 day provision addresses the constitutional questions regarding equal protection. There may be still some debate on this issue but, as you know, there are thirty-eight states now who have the death penalty. At the time we did the study commission there were thirteen states who did not execute mentally retarded. I believe, I know Texas has passed a bill since we have been in session and maybe one other state. If we concur in this bill North Carolina will be added to that list of states that do not execute mentally retarded persons. As a collateral issue, the earlier we can dispose of the issue of mental retardation, as you know whenever there are aggravating factors found in a first degree murder case it becomes a capital case and two lawyers are appointed to represent the defendant if that person is indigent. Once this issue is determined I believe that the judges will remove one of those lawyers at ninety-five dollars an hour and that's just a collateral benefit that I believe we will gain in these procedures. But the primary issue, I believe, everyone I've heard talk about this issue felt that it would not be appropriate that we execute a mentally retarded person. The debate came over procedure and who would be determined to be mentally retarded and I think we've now come down with a bill that everybody can live with. We may not be quite on all fours on every element of this issue and there may be some litigation yet but I think that the long and short of it is that we've come up with a provision that we can all go home and say we did what we thought was right on the issue of mental retardation and Madame President, I would request that we vote yes for concurrence."

The Senate concurs in the House Committee Substitute bill (47-1) and the measure is ordered enrolled and sent to the Governor.

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, July 25, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, life is so often a matter of different perspectives. All of us at one time or another have understood the genius in the little line from Robert Frost's poem that says, 'Good fences make good neighbors.'

"But you are not a God of fences that divide us! You challenge us to live with a different perspective, revealed, I think, by an inner city parish priest when he wrote this description of a wire fence, 'The wires are holding hands around the holes. To avoid breaking the ring, they hold tight the neighboring wrist, and it's thus that with holes they make a fence.'

"Lord, there are holes in our lives. There are some in the lives of our neighbors. Help us to lock hands and wrists -- to make a fine roll of fence -- not to be a barricade to others but for their well-being and support. Good fences, in fact, do make good neighbors! Amen."

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of yesterday, Tuesday, July 24, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

Prayer is offered by The Honorable Bob Carpenter, Senator from Macon County, as follows:

"Thank you, Madame President, members of the Senate. Before I offer the prayer, I'd like to mention to you that the St. Francis of Assissi prayer first came about in the year 1789. My church in Franklin is a St. Francis of Assissi church. I've been a member of that church for 41 years so I offer you tonight the prayer of St. Francis. Shall we pray?

"Lord, make me an instrument of peace, that where there is hatred, I may bring love. Where there is wrong, I may bring the spirit of forgiveness. Where there is discord, I may bring harmony. Where there is error, I may bring truth. Where there is doubt, I may bring faith. Where there is despair, I may bring hope. Where there are shadows, I may bring light. Where there is sadness, I may bring joy. Lord, Grant that I may seek rather to comfort, than to be comforted; to understand, than to be understood; to love, than to be

Upon motion of Senator Ballantine, the joint resolution is read in its entirety and, upon motion of Senator Foxx, the remarks of the Senators, are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Ballantine:

"Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I rise to speak in favor of this resolution. Many of you know of 'Willie' Stargell, the baseball player, one of the greatest baseball players of all time, as indicated by his induction into the Baseball Hall of Fame. I was young then but I remember 1979, Senator Basnight. That was the year 'Willie' Stargell won all those MVP's and won the World Championship for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was nicknamed 'Pops' because everyone considered him to be like their father. The song that was played in 1979 to epitomize the Pittsburgh Pirates team, the camaraderie of that team, was 'We Are Family'. That's really indicative of how 'Willie' Stargell lived his life. I want to speak a little bit more than statistics -- about the man. He was a true celebrity. He came to live with his lovely wife Margaret Weller and they lived in Wilmington, and he became a celebrity in Wilmington, and was asked by everybody to do things for the community and he always said 'yes'. He and his wife were very involved with domestic violence shelters and rape crisis centers, and were just a tremendous asset to the community. We all were saddened by his death even though he did have a long sickness, illness. But this is a great day to remember 'Willie' Stargell, the man and one of the greatest baseball players who ever lived, and I urge you to support this resolution. Thank you."

Senator Garwood:

"As a much younger man, I remember taking my radio out on the back porch at night after dark and listening to the Pittsburgh Pirates. That was in the days of 'Willie' Stargell and Bill Mazerowski, the short stop, and Bob Friend, who was an outstanding pitcher. Somehow, some of the other names escape me but I knew them well and followed that team very closely. You know, I thought it was somewhat unusual that I could pick up that Pittsburgh radio station from Wilkes County, but I did, and listened to them every time they played. Now I was really into the Pirates. 'A strong fan' would not do justice to how I supported them. 'Willie' Stargell was a great name, a great man and a great baseball player, and contributed greatly to the entertainment of thousands, well, millions of people, I'm sure. But one fellow up in the foothills of Western North Carolina was a real strong fan of the Pittsburgh Pirates and 'Willie' Stargell and he brought a lot of joy and entertainment to my life, and I would ask that we enthusiastically support the resolution. Thank you very much."

Senator Metcalf:

"Thank you Madame President, members of the Senate. Senator Ballantine, I want to thank you for bringing this resolution to us. It's a good resolution. There was one part, though, that I'd like to add to it. 'Willie' Stargell played for the Asheville Tourists in 1960. As a little boy, I was ten years old, I went to many games. My Dad took me and my little league baseball coach took me. The thing that we realized then was that 'Willie' was indeed a celebrity, he was indeed a star, and he was indeed a heck of a baseball player. That team that year won that league championship by twelve, fifteen games, I don't know what it was. I shall always remember watching 'Willie'. If you've ever been to McCormick Field you know that in right field there's a bank and a big, tall stand of trees to it, and I've been in that stadium many, many times and I've never seen anyone hit one over those trees except 'Willie' Stargell. It's really interesting about 'Willie' that looking back on that many years later, I realize that he stayed with a friend of mine, one of my political supporters, a prominent African-American lady in town, a business woman there, Earlene McQueen, and Earlene told me one time, she said, 'You know, 'Willie' stayed with me.' And I never realized, when you're ten years old you don't realize that you live in a very segregated town. She would often tell me about 'Willie' and she'd often call and say, 'I heard from 'Willie' today, and he's doing good.' He would come back to town to play in golf tournaments in Asheville. He was indeed a celebrity and it meant a lot to us. To kind of close this circle, about a month ago, and I never realized this resolution was coming, but it's interesting to see how things do come full circle. I was in the building that Ms. McQueen owned at one time. A good friend of mine had bought the building, was redoing the building, had a restaurant downstairs and said, 'Come on upstairs. I want to show you something.' We went up there and you could see that there were rooms up there. And I said, 'You bought this from Ms. McQueen, didn't you?'. And he said, 'Yeah.' And walking down the hall he said, 'This is where 'Willie' stayed.' He didn't have to say 'Willie' Stargell. We all knew. Senator Ballantine, thank you for this resolution, and I urge its adoption. Thank you."

Senator Soles:

"Madame President, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, 'Willie' Stargell came back and settled for his latter years in North Carolina in the Senatorial District that I share with other Senators here. I did not really know him very well. I, as you know from my background, I'm not all that much into sports. I spoke the other day on a racecar driver and now I'm talking about baseball, but I want to tell you that I do know his extended family well. They are prominent people in Wilmington and in North Carolina and they're sitting right above me in the gallery. 'Willie's' wife is Margaret Weller-Stargell that you've already heard about it, and the children. Her twin sister is Frances Weller, who's an outstanding TV personality and anchorperson on the TV station in Wilmington. She's done me good and done me bad many times and I love her. Her sister, another sister, is Katherine Moore, who's sitting up there also. Katherine is the Mayor Pro Tem of Wilmington, and she is a loyal supporter of mine and I have been at her house many times, and she's had several functions for me there and I am delighted to tell you what fine people they are here today. Although I don't know the baseball history as well as some of you do, I do know these truly outstanding North Carolinians. Thank you very much."

The joint resolution passes its second reading (49-0) and third reading with members standing and is ordered enrolled.

Upon motion of Senator Ballantine, the President extends the courtesies of the gallery to the family of 'Willie' Stargell: Margaret Weller-Stargell, his wife; Precious Stargell and Dawn Moore, daughters; Dewey Hunt and Jonathan Stargell, cousins; Katherine Weller, mother-in-law; Frances Weller and Katherine Moore, sisters-in-law; and other close friends.

Members of the municipal board of elections and municipal elections officials shall participate in training provided by the State Board pursuant to G.S. 163-82.24. The State Board shall provide the same training, materials, and assistance to municipal boards of elections that it provides to county boards of elections.

The county and municipal boards of elections shall be governed by the same rules for settling controversies with respect to counting ballots or certification of the returns of the vote in any municipal or special district election as are in effect for settling such controversies in county and State elections.

(b) Emergency Administration if Municipal Board Is Not Appointed. - If a ~~city~~ municipal council in a ~~city-municipality~~ that has elected pursuant to G.S. 163-285 to conduct its own elections has not appointed a municipal board of elections and reported the appointments to the Executive Secretary-Director by ~~March-June 1~~ in the year in which the ~~city-municipal~~ election is to occur, the Executive Secretary-Director shall notify the ~~city-municipal~~ council that, unless a municipal board of elections is appointed and the Executive Secretary-Director notified of its appointment by ~~April 1-June 15~~ of that year, the county board of elections shall be ordered to conduct that ~~city's municipality's~~ elections that year on an emergency basis. (c) Emergency Administration Due to Serious Violations. - If a ~~city-municipal~~ council or municipal board of elections has committed violations of the applicable portions of this Chapter prior to a ~~city-municipal~~ election and those violations are of such magnitude as to give rise to reasonable doubt as to the ability of the municipal board of elections to conduct that election with competence and fairness, the Executive Secretary-Director of the State Board, with the approval of at least four members of the State Board, may order the county board of elections to conduct the remainder of that election on an emergency basis. Before an order is made under this subsection, the ~~city-municipal~~ council and municipal board of elections shall be given an opportunity to be heard by the State Board.

(d) Ongoing-Permanent County Administration. - The State Board of Elections may designate the county board of elections as the ~~ongoing-permanent~~ agency to conduct a ~~city's municipality's~~ elections if all the following conditions are met:

- (1) In more than one election conducted by that ~~city-municipality~~ either (i) the ~~city's municipality's~~ elections have been administered on an emergency basis pursuant to subsection (b) or (c) of this section or (ii) a new election has been ordered because of irregularities in the ~~city's municipality's~~ administration of the election.
- (2) The State Board finds that the interest of the residents of the ~~city-municipality~~ in fair and competent administration of elections requires that the ~~city municipality~~ not conduct its own elections.
- (3) The ~~city-municipal~~ council and municipal board of elections are given an opportunity to be heard before the State Board.
- (4) The State Board by a vote of at least four of its members designates the county board of elections as the ~~ongoing-permanent~~ agency to conduct that ~~city's municipality's~~ elections.

The ~~city-municipal~~ council may not elect to conduct its own elections under G.S. 163-285 ~~until every member of the city council has been elected in a election conducted by the county board of elections after the State Board's designation, if the State Board has designated the county board of elections under this subsection as the permanent agency to conduct the municipality's elections.~~

(e) Reimbursement. - If the county board of elections administers a ~~city's municipality's~~ elections pursuant to subsection (b), (c), or (d) of this section, the ~~city municipality~~ shall reimburse the county board of elections in the manner set forth in G.S. 163-285."

SECTION 4. The State Board of Elections shall inspect the operations of the municipal boards of elections in the City of Morganton, the Town of Granite Falls, the Town of Old Fort, and the Town of Rhodhiss during September, October, or November of 2001. The State Board shall make subsequent inspections as needed. Those municipalities shall cooperate with the State Board fully. If an inspection generates findings that election laws or regulations have been violated, the State Board shall take appropriate action under G.S. 163-304 or other applicable law.

SECTION 5. This act prevails over local acts.

SECTION 6. Sections 1 and 2 of this act become effective January 1, 2002, and apply to all primaries and elections held on and after that date. Section 3 of this act becomes effective when this act becomes law with respect to the City of Morganton, the Town of Granite Falls, the Town of Old Fort, and the Town of Rhodhiss. Section 3 of this act becomes effective January 1, 2002, with respect to all other municipalities. Section 4 of this act is effective when this act becomes law. But amid the splendor of the morning and thoughts of catfish jumping, walks along a beach, vacation pleasure with family and friends, some of us still remain at the wheel of pressing duty, so we offer praise to you for dutiful conscience and noble vocation found in civic life.

"Most merciful God who has made us for thyself so that our hearts are restless until they find rest with thee, in this moment of prayer we renew our faith, we reaffirm the fact that thou art with us, and we reinforce our desire to be of real service to our State and all its citizens.

"May the splendor of your spirit and the strength of your presence be revealed to us and through us, particularly when we are assailed by the moods of frustration and feel that all our endeavors are in vain.

"Help us to meet the hard day with high courage, to do our demanding duties with undying devotion, and to practice what we profess lest our professions be proven impractical.

"Bless the leaders of our State, these men and women of the Senate, and all who labor

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, we remember that in the house of Simon, the leper at Bethany, a woman broke an alabaster jar of very costly perfume and poured it over Jesus' head. The scripture says it was worth a whole year's wares for one person.

" 'What a waste,' the disgruntled disciples complained. 'The perfume could have been sold for a large sum of money and used in more helpful ways.'

"I guess like the disciples, all of us have the occasion to argue over budgets and finance because we have different priorities. Tonight, we pray especially for the Senate and House conferees. Be present for them and mediate their discussions so that they may understand. At the successful resolution of their negotiations, Jesus' words to his disciples, 'Why do you trouble this woman? She has done what is good and fitting in my behalf.' Amen."

The text of the attached Proposed Conference Committee Substitute S353-PCCS3893 is as follows:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT TO PROVIDE A PERMANENT MECHANISM FOR THE COLLECTION OF TAX DEBTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

August 6, 2001

SECTION 1. The General Assembly finds that the Department of Revenue has documented that the State's cost of collecting overdue tax debts exceeds twenty percent (20%) of the amount of the overdue tax debts. The General Assembly finds that the cost of collecting overdue tax debts is currently borne by taxpayers who pay their taxes on time. It is the intent of the General Assembly by this act to shift this cost to the delinquent taxpayers who owe overdue tax debts.

SECTION 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-243.1. Collection of tax debts.

(a) Definitions. - The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Overdue tax debt. - Any part of a tax debt that remains unpaid 90 days or more after the notice of final assessment was mailed to the taxpayer. The term does not include a tax debt, however, if the taxpayer entered into an installment agreement for the tax debt under G.S. 105-237 within 90 days after the notice of final assessment was mailed and has not failed to make any payments due under the installment agreement.

(2) Tax debt. - The total amount of tax, penalty, and interest due for which a notice of final assessment has been mailed to a taxpayer after the taxpayer no longer has the right to contest the debt.

(b) Outsourcing. - The Secretary may contract for the collection of tax debts. At least 30 days before the Department submits a tax debt to a contractor for collection, the Department must notify the taxpayer by mail that the debt may be submitted for collection if payment is not received within 30 days after the notice was mailed.

(c) Secrecy. - A contract for the collection of tax debts is conditioned on compliance with G.S. 105-259. If a contractor violates G.S. 105-259, the contract is terminated, and the Secretary must notify the contractor of the termination. A contractor whose contract is terminated for violation of G.S. 105-259 is not eligible for an award of another contract under this section for a period of five years from the termination. These sanctions are in addition to the criminal penalties set out in G.S. 105-259.

(d) Fee. - A collection assistance fee is imposed on an overdue tax debt that remains unpaid 30 days or more after the fee notice required by this subsection is mailed to the taxpayer. In order to impose a collection assistance fee on a tax debt, the Department must notify the taxpayer that the fee will be imposed if the tax debt is not paid in full within 30 days after the date the fee notice was mailed to the taxpayer. The Department may not mail the fee notice earlier than 60 days after the notice of final assessment for the tax debt was mailed to the taxpayer. The fee is collectible as part of the debt. The Secretary may waive the fee pursuant to G.S. 105-237 to the same extent as if it were a penalty.

The amount of the collection assistance fee is twenty percent (20%) of the amount of the overdue tax debt. If a taxpayer pays only part of an overdue tax debt, the payment is credited proportionally to fee revenue and tax revenue.

(e) Use. - The fee is a receipt of the Department and must be applied to the costs of collecting overdue tax debts. The proceeds of the fee must be credited to a special account within the Department and may be expended only as provided in this subsection. The Department may apply the proceeds of the fee to pay contractors for collecting tax debts under subsection (b) of this section and to pay the fee the United States Department of the Treasury charges for setoff to recover tax owed to North Carolina. The remaining proceeds of the fee may be spent only pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly. The fee proceeds do not revert but remain in the special account until spent for the costs of collecting overdue tax debts.

(f) Reports. - The Department must report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations and to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on its efforts to collect tax debts. Reports must be submitted quarterly beginning November 1, 2001.

through November 1, 2002, and semiannually thereafter. Each report must include a breakdown of the amount and age of tax debts collected by collection agencies on contract, the amount and age of tax debts collected by the Department through warning letters, and the amount and age of tax debts otherwise collected by Department personnel. Each report must also include a long-term collection plan, a timeline for implementing each step of the plan, a summary of steps taken since the last report and their results, and any other data requested by the Commission or the Committee."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105A-13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105A-13. Collection assistance fees.

(a) State Setoff. - To recover the costs incurred by the Department in collecting debts under this Chapter, a collection assistance fee of no more than fifteen dollars ($15.00) is imposed on each debt collected through setoff. The Department must collect this fee as part of the debt and retain it. The Department must set the amount of the collection assistance fee based on its actual cost of collection under this Chapter for the immediately preceding year. If the Department is able to collect only part of a debt through setoff, the collection assistance fee has priority over the remainder of the debt. The collection assistance fee shall not be added to child support debts or collected as part of child support debts. Instead, the Department shall retain from collections under Division II of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes the cost of collecting child support debts under this Chapter.

~~(b) Federal Setoff.—A collection assistance fee of fifteen dollars ($15.00) applies to a setoff made by the United States Department of the Treasury to recover tax owed to North Carolina. The Department of Revenue must add the fee to the amount of the tax liability submitted to the United States Department of the Treasury for setoff. The Department of Revenue must collect the fee as part of the debt and retain it. If a federal setoff covers only part of the tax due, the collection assistance fee has priority over the tax due."~~

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-269 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-269. Extraterritorial authority to enforce payment.

(a) The ~~Secretary of Revenue, Secretary,~~ with the assistance of the Attorney General, is ~~hereby empowered~~ authorized to bring suits in the courts of other states to collect taxes legally due this State. The officials of other states ~~which~~ that extend a like comity to this State are empowered to sue for the collection of ~~such~~ taxes in the courts of this State. A certificate by the Secretary of State, under the Great Seal of the State, that ~~such~~ these officers have authority to collect the tax ~~shall be~~ is conclusive evidence of ~~such~~ this authority. Whenever it ~~shall be deemed expedient~~ by the Secretary of Revenue the Secretary considers it expedient to employ local counsel to assist in bringing suit in an out-of-state court, the Secretary, with the concurrence of the Attorney General, may employ ~~such~~ local counsel on the basis of a negotiated retainer or in accordance with prevailing commercial law league rates.

~~(b) The Secretary of Revenue may, in accordance with the procedure prescribed in G.S. 143-49(3), contract for the collection of taxes legally due this State from taxpayers located in other states. The Secretary may furnish to a contractor hired pursuant to this subsection any information he considers necessary to identify and locate a taxpayer, establish the tax liability of a taxpayer, or effect collection of the amount due."~~

SECTION 5. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) Disclosure Prohibited. - An officer, an employee, or an agent of the State who has access to tax information in the course of service to or employment by the State may not disclose the information to any other person unless the disclosure is made for one of the following purposes:

...
(26) To contract for the collection of tax debts pursuant to G.S. 105-243.1."

SECTION 6. Section 5(a) of S.L. 1999-341, as amended by Section 16 of S.L. 2000-120, reads as rewritten:

"Section 5.(a) The Secretary of Revenue shall contract during the 1999-2001 fiscal biennium for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. To implement this section, the Secretary may draw funds for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act. For the ~~2000-2001 fiscal year, and 2001-2002 fiscal years,~~ the Secretary may retain the costs of implementing this section from the amounts collected pursuant to the contracts authorized by this section. The Secretary of Revenue shall report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on its collections pursuant to this contract during the biennium."

SECTION 7. The Department of Revenue may draw up to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the 2001-2002 fiscal year from the collection assistance fee account created in G.S. 105-243.1 in order to pay for assistance in developing a request for proposals for a performance-based contract to implement the recommendations of the study authorized in Section 6 of S.L. 1999-341, as amended by Section 17 of S.L. 2000-120. The fee proceeds may be used for this purpose only to the extent the contract is for collecting overdue tax debts as defined in G.S. 105-243.1.

SECTION 8. G.S. 105-243.1(b), as enacted by this act, reads as rewritten:

"(b) Outsourcing. - The Secretary may contract for the collection of ~~tax debts.~~ debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. At least 30 days before the Department submits a tax debt to a contractor for collection, the Department must notify the taxpayer by mail that the debt may be submitted for collection if payment is not received within 30 days after the notice was mailed."

SECTION 9. Section 3 of this act becomes effective November 1, 2001. Section 6 of this act is effective on and after July 1, 2001. Section 8 of this act becomes effective October 1, 2003. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law and applies to tax debts that remain unpaid on or after that date.

ONE HUNDRED THIRTEENTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Wednesday, August 8, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by William Franklin Graham IV, grandson of Dr. Billy Graham, of Wake Forest, North Carolina, as follows:

"Our Heavenly Father, we give all honor and praise to you for being our creator and our sustainer. All of heaven and earth bow to you for there is no other like you. We recognize our total dependence on Jesus and his grace and mercy. We depend upon you, O Lord, for we are dead apart from you.

"Lord, we also recognize that we have been blinded by the things of this world. We have been blinded by wealth, by power, by society, and by sin in our lives. Forgive us, O Lord, and open the eyes of our hearts and our minds so that we might serve you and thereby serve this great State. We pray and lift up our legislators. Grant them wisdom and the courage to love what is good and to hate what is evil. Lord, we confess that our efforts to help ourselves and our neighbors are futile only if we do not serve you first. Therefore, O Lord, we desire to seek your will and your kingdom first. Then we know that all these other things will be added unto us.

"Lord, we are ignorant, but you are true wisdom. We are dead, but you are life. We are scared, but you are our shepherd. We are restless, but you are peace. We are confused, but you are the way. We are poor, but you are rich. We are evil, but you are holy. Lord, you are everything that we lack, thus we are totally hopeless on our own. Therefore, O Lord, we confess that our greatest need is Jesus Christ, the name above all other names and the only name in which salvation can be found. Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for today to Senator Gulley, Senator Hartsell, Senator Horton, Senator Martin of Pitt, Senator Metcalf, Senator Rand, Senator Reeves and Senator Shaw of Cumberland.

CALENDAR (continued)

S.J.R. 52 (Committee Substitute), A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE MEMORY OF GREAT NORTH CAROLINIANS AND NAMING BILLY GRAHAM AS A FAVORITE SON OF NORTH CAROLINA.

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Plyler, the rules are suspended and the joint resolution is taken up out of its regular order and placed before the Senate for immediate consideration.

Upon motion of Senator Plyler, the Committee Substitute joint resolution is read in its entirety and, upon motion of Senator Dalton, the remarks of the Senators are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Plyler:

"Thank you Madame Chairman and members of the Senate, and members of the Billy Graham family and to each and every one here today. It is an honor and a privilege for me to stand here today asking for support of this resolution of one of the greatest Americans that we have ever known. He is known throughout the world and has been for many, many years. I would like to say that he would have been here but his health does not permit him to do so today, but he certainly sends his regrets that he can't be here and his regards to each and every one. His daughter, Anne Lotz, has joined us on the floor, sitting beside Will Graham VI, and we're proud to have you here and, Madame Chairman, there is a group of the family in the gallery to your left, and you will at the proper time recognize them. I would like to say that Senator Carpenter and Mrs. Carpenter along with Elaine Funderburk asked that I participate in this resolution honoring Billy Graham, and it's certainly been a pleasure working with them. Senator Carpenter and Mrs. Carpenter have worked many, many hours and days in getting the things together that needed to be presented here today, and Elaine Funderburk has done an outstanding job in helping my administrative assistant, Pat Misner, with putting the resolution together. You know when this was first mentioned after Senator Carpenter and I talked, I immediately went to our President Pro Tempore, Senator Marc Basnight, as each one of us know very well, and I mentioned it to him and he said, 'By all means. We need to do everything possible that we can to recognize this great American.' We discussed on a little further about it being a day proclaimed for him and then we talked about maybe at a later date after the Billy Graham Day that will be in the year 2002, that there might be a statue at some proper place, hopefully around the Capitol, erected in his honor, and Marc said that he absolutely supported it very strongly and is going to work hard toward seeing that that is done. You know, Billy Graham was raised, as the resolution said, in Charlotte on a dairy farm. Now Senator Odom, I don't believe that was in Charlotte at the time, that was in Mecklenburg County. I don't believe the city limits were there. But they had about two hundred head of cattle and about three o'clock every morning he was awakened to get up and go get his bucket and his wet cloth to wipe off the bag of the cow where he milked the cow from, so at that time he learned exactly what work on the farm was. Over the years he was a fellow that really liked baseball and he wanted to play some professional baseball if there was any way possible but that never happened. But as a teenager he was lanky and he was an awkward young man and he was interested in girls and, of course, as I mentioned the baseball. In 1934 when he was a senior in high school, the turning point of his life came when he was converted and decided he would become an evangelistic preacher. Evangelist Billy Graham preached his first sermon in the Union County jail in Monroe in 1936. I recall reading about that in the '50's and then recently our local newspaper had an article in there about the first sermon that he had was in the Union County jail. He went from thereon to leading crusades across the State, the South, then across America, then across the world. Of course, I don't think there's another man in this world living today who has ever done the things for humanity the way that Billy Graham has done it. The word of God and bringing the spirit into people and converting their lives into being Christians that have made better citizens all over the world, whether it be in the United States or Africa or India or whatever part of the world. I was privileged to attend one of his crusades in Charlotte many, many years ago when it was held in the coliseum, which is the old coliseum on Independence Boulevard. At that time he was preaching just as strong a sermon as anyone could ever preach and he asked people to come down to the altar and give their lives to the Lord and they did by the droves and that has happened all over this world for many, many, many years, and I wish he could be here today. He would like to be, as I mentioned earlier, but it was not possible for him to be. He has a brother, Melvin Graham, and Melvin works in the real estate business in Union County and Mecklenburg County and has been very successful but he could not be here today also, and some other members of his family like his son-in-law, Layton Ford, and of course, Billy Graham III. We wish they could have been here but they are well-represented by the daughter of Billy, Anne, and the grandson that had the prayer and, of course, the other members, and I just feel real good to be able to stand up here and speak on this resolution, and again thank Senator Carpenter and Mrs. Carpenter and Elaine Funderburk and especially to Marc Basnight for his interest and everyone else's interest that's been here and of course, Lieutenant Governor, you were at the service that was held between twelve and one and that was a remarkable service and I think everyone enjoyed it. The auditorium was filled. Anne, everyone got a real message from you there and we appreciate your doing that for us. We appreciate your being here. I urge each and every one of you to support this resolution and vote in favor. Thank you."

Senator Carpenter:

"Fellow legislators, Graham family and friends, we've been given the great honor and privilege today of celebrating publicly the life and ministry of one of the greatest men the world has ever known, Billy Graham, who grew up as a farm boy as Aaron very aptly explained, the son of a dairy farmer near Charlotte, North Carolina. He has preached on every continent in the world to over two hundred million people and has been proclaimed one of the ten most admired men in all the world, not just once, but thirty-nine times by the Gallup polling organization. No other individual in world history has ever achieved that status either as a political leader or as a religious leader. His one goal in life has been not to achieve fame and glory but in his own words, 'to help people find a personal relationship with God, which I believe comes through knowing Christ.' Throughout more than fifty years he's carried the gospel of Christ to more people and live audiences than anyone else in history. Over two hundred and ten million people in one hundred eighty-five countries and territories have consistently given the message of hope and eternal salvation made possible through the Cross of Christ. Billy Graham has counseled U.S. presidents and world leaders while always maintaining a quiet and humble experience towards recognition and acclaim. His humanitarian efforts have contributed towards the reconciliation of races, the acceptance of individuals of other faiths and the improved lives of indigent and oppressed people of all nationalities and creeds. This is a man we all love and cherish as a fellow North Carolinian who has devoted his whole life to the saving of souls and improving the quality of life of both rich and poor, white or color, old or young, educated, healthy or unhealthy, or disabled, free or in prison, anyone in need. He has unselfishly and sacrificially given his time, energy, and health to serve God through serving people of this State, country, and world. Dr. Graham is essentially a man who has yielded his entire life to the service of God, to all mankind, and has won the hearts of each of us and the great citizens of our State. It is an honor to bestow upon him the title of North Carolina's Favorite Son, the most famous, most admired, the most appreciated, the most successful and the most loved individual to be a citizen of the great State of North Carolina. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I'm going to digress for just a moment to read a quote because I think it's appropriate here today, and I quote: 'Daddy says all his life he's known how to die but no one ever taught him how to grow old. I can see their patience. I don't see bitterness, anger, or complaining, just gentleness, sweetness and peace.' This statement by Anne Graham Lotz, who as Aaron said is with us today, the second of five children of Billy Graham, epitomizes the true character of our favorite son whom we are honoring here today. What we are seeing today, August 8, 2001, in Raleigh, is the unfolding of the beginning of a worldwide revival, and Danny Lotz, up in the gallery, you might say we had the tip-off about an hour ago up in the third floor of this building in the auditorium. As we listened to the message which was delivered at Noon today by Anne, we're reminded of her definition of the world revival as explained by Kathy Lynn Grossman of USA Today. Now this is put together in a way that I may mess it up so bear with me please. On her lips, revival is a noun and a verb. Have it, bring it, do it. With those words from Anne, I say simply, Dr. Graham, as elected representatives of all North Carolina citizens, we want you to know how much you mean to us. You are our most favorite citizen for all time, and we thank you. Thank you, Madame President. I urge your support for this resolution."

Senator Allran:

"Thank you, Madame President and ladies and gentlemen of the Senate. Like so many people in here, I've grown up knowing who Billy Graham was and appreciating him, seeing him on television and listening to him give his sermons and his preaching, and I did have the great opportunity and privilege to attend one of his revival crusades in Ericsson Stadium in Charlotte, which was a great privilege for me, and also to be able to take my wife and my children to that. I also remember that when I was in the seventh grade, thirteen years old, in our civics class we had an assignment from our civics teacher and that was to go out and take a poll to see who would be decided as the most admired North Carolinian and we came back in and voted on that. I remember that the people in my seventh-grade class voted for Billy Graham and that was thirty-six years ago, and here thirty-six years later we're still doing the same type of thing. That's really an incredible thing, I think. I think the main thing that amazes me about Billy Graham, besides the fact that he is tireless and steadfast, is that he or anybody else could have lived such an impeccable life. We're all human and certainly he is. He knows he sins and I've heard him talk about his own sins on Larry King and other shows of that nature, and I watched him one time in an interview with David Frost and Billy Graham said, 'Well, I certainly hope that I'll be going to heaven.' And David Frost said, 'Well, if you're not going no one is.' I remember that but I guess my point is, the thing that amazes me more about him than anything else is that in all the opportunities that he has had down through the years to mess up and expose himself as a simple human being, he has never done that. The other thing that amazes me is that he has such a wonderful family and the fact that Anne Graham Lotz is carrying on his tradition as is Franklin Graham and Will and the other Graham family members. They say that nothing says more about a man, and I guess also a woman, as what their family thinks of them. So for that and all those reasons, I would feel very honored to stand before you and to urge your support of this resolution. I thank the people who were involved in this, Senator Carpenter and Senator Plyler and Senator Basnight and everyone else for bringing this to us."

Senator Garwood:

"Thank you very much. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, members of the family of Billy Graham, I'm humbled by the opportunity to stand on the Senate floor and contribute my thoughts about Billy Graham, probably the most famous North Carolinian in history, and I want to pause for a moment to read two verses of scripture from the book of Matthew, Chapter 28, Verses 18 and 19, if I may, Madame President. 'And Jesus came and spake unto them saying, all powers given unto me in heaven and in earth, go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.' Ladies and gentlemen, Billy Graham is the epitome of that scripture, because he has been a disciple throughout the world, and I'd like to share with you if I may Webster's definition of disciple, 'one who believes in and helps disseminate the teachings of a master, an active adherent as of a movement of philosophy.' Now if Billy Graham is not the epitome of that also then I'm really mistaken. These scripture verses and this definition fit him precisely. He has been a disciple for Jesus Christ across the entire world, bringing hundreds of thousands of people to Christ, opening doors for those people of all nationalities, colors, races, many of whom had never made that decision until he stood before them and challenged them, that decision for Christ that they might have peace within. A man of tremendous humility, a man of God, a man for God. Ladies and gentlemen, I commend this resolution to you, and endorse it to the highest. Thank you very much."

Senator Carter:

"Members of the Senate, about three years ago just after I first got elected to the Senate, actually it was in the fall, and I was home after the long session, the colors in Western North Carolina are spectacular and I was driving around the district and I happened to be in Black Mountain at the Montreat exit, and I remember it's one of my favorite exit ramps, and it's a shame that we all have that, but I was driving up the exit ramp and the reason why it's my favorite is that it has this incredible view of this valley that opens up as you crest through the exit ramp and there's a mountain that shoots up pretty sharply right off it. And so if you're looking in the fall you notice, because of the elevation, a variety of colors and when they're changing and it changes according to the elevation so a maple at the bottom versus a maple at the top will look very different. Something about that view and several others in my area make you think of things beyond yourself, think of things majestic and think certainly beyond who you are. For some reason at that point I thought that Billy Graham and his family used this exit ramp, had used this intersection to go home for Thanksgivings, for Christmases, or when the grandchildren are coming up to visit, they probably stopped at that Pizza Hut if they wanted pizza or maybe that Ingles, they'd go into the supermarket. And I remember thinking all this, and then it dawned on me -- I was Billy Graham's State Senator. It was probably about a nanosecond where I swelled up with pride as if that somehow made me a better Senator. Then I started thinking back to the time when I read his book, Just As I Am, and it started talking about all of the people he had brought to God, and the incredible things that he had done for our State, our Country, and our world. I can think back to one of the pictures that was most dramatic to me was in Seoul, Korea. He was speaking to a million people, converting them, bringing them to Christ. And there was the time that he was in Chattanooga in 1953. This was before the Civil Rights Movement really even got going. The local people had set up dividers, asking the African-American people to be in one section and the whites in the other, and he went down there, like Jews to the moneychangers, and started throwing the ropes aside. People left in protest and then the others who stayed obviously learned a valuable lesson that day. He was one of the leaders and certainly for this world, an incredible leader, not only religiously but culturally and morally. So at this point I wasn't feeling particularly proud so much as humbled at who it was that was one of my constituents. I remember going home and getting the book out that I'd read a year before and looking through it and being just struck by the humbleness by which he brought himself and brought his life forward. He's truly a remarkable person, mainly because he views himself as nothing more than a servant, a conduit, someone he routinely says throughout this book that takes the word and God simply brings people to him who need to hear that word, rarely taking credit for anything that he has done but simply passing on that credit to whom we should credit that, and that would be the Lord. I was very impressed with that and then started laughing at myself for thinking the thoughts that I was thinking earlier. But then I started thinking about that today when Senator Carpenter came by and told me this was happening and that we needed to speak in honor of the man from Montreat. I started thinking there are two ways we can approach this resolution. One, we can simply honor the fact that a man from North Carolina has achieved so much, that a man from North Carolina is one of our own and we can take great pride in that. Or, we can take a page out of his life and recognize that when he was a boy, a farm boy on that dairy farm in Charlotte or Mecklenburg County, that at that time it was North Carolina that played a part in his life, and the things around him, the environment around him that crafted him, that raised him, that helped rear him in the morals and the norms that we have today. One thing was very true to me about Billy Graham and still is. He exceeds his potential almost daily, that the will of God seems to be put in front of him and he just reaches it and then goes beyond. I doubt when he was on the farm he thought he'd be preaching to a million people in Seoul, Korea. If he did, he had quite a vision. But certainly it speaks to us, to the bills that we consider, to the budget that we're considering, to the children in Johnston County that we talked about on Monday night, to those whom we know that we need to pave or play some part, albeit small, in making sure that every child in North Carolina has the ability to reach his potential. So when we honor this resolution, I hope and trust that we'll do it in the spirit of Reverend Graham, with the idea that our job here is even doubled or multiplied simply by passing the resolution honoring a fine North Carolinian, and I encourage you to vote for this resolution."

Senator Forrester:

"Thank you, Madame President, members of the Senate. In 1997, I was honored to sponsor Senate Resolution 211 honoring Billy Graham as world evangelist. He came to the joint session of the House and Senate here in North Carolina and accepted the award. Many of you had the opportunity to meet him in Senator Basnight's office and it was a real pleasure. At that time, you will remember, he challenged us as legislators 'To be rather than to seem', our State motto, and challenged us to do what we think is morally correct and if we do, it will be politically correct. What is morally correct is politically correct. It is once again my privilege to support Senate Joint Resolution 52 honoring Billy Graham as our 'favorite son'. Life is a story and life is a lesson. Every man's life is a story. It is told by one's everyday actions and deeds. Billy Graham's exemplary life has been a story, the story of a humble walk with our divine creator. His character and integrity have remained impeccable in a world of moral ambiguity. He has not only lived the truth, he has honored it and promoted it to millions around the world. His word is truth, and never once has he offered it to serve himself or any other person. His wisdom is kindred to that of our founding fathers. Dr. Graham is truly a modern prophet. He is the light to the world reflecting the love and admonition of a mighty God. Because of Billy Graham, believers go to bed with the assurance of knowing that God is still in control. Because of him, we know the rest of the story. And just as every man's life is a story, every man's life is also a lesson, a lesson to others. Dr. Graham's life has been an uncompromising lesson in true Christian discipleship. He is, as we all hope to be, good and faithful servants. For the major part of the twentieth century, his influence has been a beacon of God's light even to the darkest corners of the earth, and that influence will continue to ripple in an ever-widening circle through his ministry, through his family's ministry, and through the millions of lives he has touched, including mine. His legacy will be enduring. When Jesus said, 'In my father's house are many mansions and I go to prepare a place for you,' he meant that Dr. Graham's house will be in the neighborhood of saints. I encourage you to support this resolution honoring our native son of North Carolina, Dr. Billy Graham, as our 'favorite son.' "

Senator Odom:

"Members of the Senate and to the Graham family members, being the dean of the Mecklenburg delegation here in the Senate and having the honor of knowing that I live and have lived for over fifty years in a community that he came from, the Charlotte-Mecklenburg community holds him up with great pride as one of their own. Also I live and have lived most of my life down in the Steele Creek community and Billy Graham's parents are buried at the big Steele Creek Presbyterian Church. I'm a member of little Steele Creek which is called Pleasant Hill Presbyterian Church. A couple of weeks ago I taught a Sunday school lesson on the book of Micah, and Chapter six, Verse eight says, 'What does God require of thee, O man, and there are only three things: to seek justice, to do kindness, and to walk humbly with your God,' describes Billy Graham."

Senator Lee:

"Madame President and members of the Senate, I was born and raised in the State of Georgia. I can recall on many occasions when my mother made great effort to bear witness to the words of Dr. Graham. It's a pleasure to live in a state which has produced so many outstanding leaders of our nation and, of course, Dr. Graham is supreme to all of those in the legacy he has built and provided and the fine example he has set. I was rambling through some of my notes a few days ago and ran across these words that I penned at some point in my life, I don't know when, but it said along these lines that, 'Our calling is to build the best road we can build and where that road ends for us to lead the kind of inspiration that others are willing to continue the road to a higher ground'. Dr.

Graham has certainly built the road, and future generations can add to that road that ultimately leads to higher ground. I've only had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Graham once, and that was during the time I served as Mayor of Chapel Hill and he made a visit to Chapel Hill and that was a wonderful time in my life. But I'm also delighted to have known Anne and Danny during their younger days when we briefly attended Binkley Baptist Church. That was a time when both Danny and I had hair. To stand, then, to speak to this resolution and to be a part of this witness today, I think has to be one of the highlights in this State and this chamber and I urge your support of the resolution."

Senator Swindell:

"Thank you. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I was honored last week when Senator Carpenter came to me and asked me if I would say several words on the floor about such a great North Carolinian and a great American. Today I was honored even more to be at the service and to hear Anne, you preached such a wonderful message upstairs, and today to hear Will. Obviously the family, it goes on and on. And to you, Danny, and to the daughters in the balcony, thank you for being with us. I think you're an example of folks who have heard it all, because the way you have been honored around this country and around the world, just to take the few moments you spend with us today. Senator Carter alluded to the book Just As I Am. If you have a chance you need to get a copy of that book because in that book you will walk with Billy Graham through his romance with Ruth and with how his friends told him that he was moving too quickly and he didn't slow down a bit, and how then he went on about his work and how he and three of his young friends looked like a vaudeville act when they got to the White House to speak with President Truman and prayed with the President and then came out on the White House lawn and the press, they got down on their knees and repeated the prayer. They all wore black and white shoes because Truman liked color in clothing. Then you walk on through that book and you will read about his bout with the mumps and then you will see the stories of he and leaders of our world, of his times and especially his advice in times to President or General Eisenhower and how at one time he became a little confused and called him Senator or Congressman and he said from then on it was General or Mr. President. If you look at the index in the book you will see that he has spent countless, countless, countless days and hours of his life packed into meeting with the leaders of the world, from Mrs. Gandhi to Counts to Kings to Prime Ministers, and then to business leaders and others. But the most important thing he did is what he did for us, the other people of the world. If you look at the two hundred and ten million or so that have been alluded to where he has seen when he did his crusades which go on and on. He reached many more millions by TV and radio during the crusades that he has done. He has preached on every continent in the world. He has been in the last fifty years plus of his life in every little segment of the world, both behind the Iron Curtain and in the new world. It talks about in his book his travels to Hungary, to Romania, about his time sitting with Grace Kelly at dinner one night. There are many fascinating stories in the book Just As I Am. Thank you for allowing me this opportunity and let me close and say again as everyone else has, support the resolution and honor this great North Carolinian and great American. On the back jacket of the book Just As I Am, Dr. Graham said he is often asked, 'What are you going to say to the Lord when you meet him face to face when you get to heaven?' And he said that he would say, 'Why me, Lord? Why have you given me such a great group of associates?', to paraphrase Dr. Graham, 'and why have you chosen me in the latter part of the twentieth century to carry your message?' And as he said, only the Lord has that answer, and he can't give you that answer. So I think for those that I represent in Edgecombe, Halifax, Nash and Wilson Counties of North Carolina, and for the rest of my friends and family, I thank you for being here today. I thank you for your time, fellow Senators, and I urge you to support the resolution."

Senator Ballantine:

"Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I appreciate us making the time to honor this great man, and I say making the time because as you know we all are busy and we all are consumed with legislation, but I made the time to go to the chapel service today and I know that they have it every week, but today I made a special attempt to do that. My administrative assistant, Luci Johnson, gave me an audio cassette tape of Anne Graham Lotz's National 'Just Give Me Jesus' tour, which I listened to intently, so I was looking forward to going to chapel today and I was not let down. It was dynamic and powerful and uplifting and certainly not politically correct but, Senator Basnight, Anne Graham Lotz serves as a moral alarm clock. She told us to wake up and repent and be humble and to walk with God. She challenged us to do that and I want to say to Mrs. Lotz that your father and you and your entire family have been the right people at the right place at the right time to give us such a heartwarming, spiritual message to go out and spread the good news of Jesus, and I accept that challenge and I hope we all do. Thank you.

Senator Albertson:

"Members of the Senate, just two or three observations come to mind today as we debate this resolution. First of all, I do think it's very fitting and proper that we take the time from our busy schedules to honor one among us who has done and continues to do so many wonderful things for mankind and preaching the love of God. There's a song that comes to my mind today. You've probably heard it. I think there's a verse I can remember that goes like this: 'Give me the roses while I live, trying to cheer me on. Useless the flowers that you give after the ... has gone.' We get so busy in our world today, I believe, I do. I'm guilty of it. We don't take time to show our love to people we live with in the ways that we should. And simply put this resolution, I think, is our way of saying to Dr. Billy Graham how much we love him, appreciate him, and admire him for who he is. Anne, Senator Ballantine just spoke about it, but you challenged us to be the right person at the right place at the right time. I'll try very hard not to forget your remarks because I thought they were so very appropriate, but as you spoke those words and as I listened to you I could not help but wonder if you were not the right person at the right place at the right time. The other observation I have is not only about Dr. Graham but about his family as well, and some of you have already spoken to that. Scripture teaches us that what we teach our children goes from generation to generation and this family, not only his own children but his grandchildren, are one of the best examples of that of anything I've ever seen. I recall one thing he said when he was asked during an interview one time, I think I'm correct. When someone asked him what he thought the greatest challenge of mankind was, something to that effect. He said he thought it was racial reconciliation, to bring people together under the love of Jesus Christ. I do believe that is our challenge today, simply to love one another as this man has shown us through his life's work in ways that we should. This is a wonderful resolution and I commend it to you."

Senator Basnight:

"Thank you, Madame President, members of the Senate, Anne, Will, Danny, family, Lieutenant Governor's husband, to all, a special day. Senator Carter, your words were very powerful and spoken with so much conviction. I think, and wonder back and reflect now without the thoughts that you had of my exit of going to that mountain and looking off its side and seeing the colors as they changed from elevation to elevation, and I think of what a forest is or a mountain and how quiet it finds itself, and when you're alone and not within the forest but you're within yourself does anyone hear what is on the forest floor? Or what flies over? Billy Graham is heard and felt and seen in the forest and the land and the sea and the air. He has affected all of us in a natural way. He's a person who not only can the children who are in our audience and the young adults who will be another generation of leadership, he will find in them and they will find in him a leader who is rare in any generation, one that I cannot remember ever seeing or ever hearing. I remembered a time when my mom first introduced me to Billy Graham as many people were introduced in different ways. Senator Allran, mine would be a little different than yours in that I couldn't see him on TV at the time because we didn't have a TV but we had a radio and we heard his voice and mom spoke of that man and how great he was and what the message meant. We heard that every Sunday, obviously, the message as we prepared ourselves for Sunday School for a day of prayer and rest and reason and understanding. He brings so much to life for everyone, a giant of a human being. Anne, you and your family epitomize all that we all feel and think and believe should be right in life. What a wonderful dad, what a wonderful North Carolinian, the most famous of all of us, obviously so. But he's the most famous because he believes so deeply and he shared those beliefs and those convictions with the world. What a wonderful man. Thank you."

Senate Chamber
Monday, August 13, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Dear God, some of us have heard the prayer of a child that says, 'God, if You give me a genie lamp like Aladdin, I will give you anything you want, except my money or my chess set.

"Thank you for what we as adults learn about ourselves by listening to children. Tonight in the Senate we pray especially for young people not because no one else prays for them but because we can never pray enough in their behalf.

"As school days begin all over our state, also give a special measure of blessing to the teachers who mentor these students. After all, tomorrow a future North Carolina Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Senate President Pro Tempore and State Senators will be sitting at desks at our schools watching, listening and learning. Bless them. In your name we pray, Amen."

The Chair grants leaves of absence for tonight to Senator Berger, Senator Martin of Pitt, Senator Reeves, Senator Warren and Senator Webster.

Senator Basnight, President Pro Tempore, announces that the Journal of Thursday, August 9, has been examined and is found to be correct. Upon his motion, the Senate dispenses with the reading of the Journal and it stands approved as written.

With unanimous consent, upon motion of Senator Hagan, the Committee Substitute bill is taken up out of its regular order of business.

Upon motion of Senator Hagan, the Committee Substitute bill is read in its entirety and, upon motion of Senator Dannelly, the remarks of the Senators are spread upon the Journal, as follows:

Senator Hagan:

"Thank you, Madame President. As you can see from listening to all the things that were stated in the resolution Emily and Rich Preyer have really done an incredible amount not only in Greensboro, Guilford County, our State but also our Nation, and we are here to pay tribute tonight to them. When I think of Rich I think of a quiet, reserved, judicious, intellectual and fun-loving man. He loved to play the saxophone; he was actually offered a job by Count Basie. He loved to march in the Kirkwood Fourth of July parade. If you have ever lived in Kirkwood you are always invited back to this neighborhood to be in the parade, and anybody who has lived there or anybody in town comes to watch all the children decorate their wagons, and Rich was always playing the saxophone walking in that parade, and he also loved to be with his family. Emily, I think of as sparkling, ebullient, warm, friendly, always riding around town in a battered old station wagon with the windows down honking and calling everyone by name. She never forgot a face, she never forgot a name. She never forgot the name of your spouse and she never forgot the names of all of your children. I don't know how anybody could remember the names that Emily Preyer could. The Hagan family has been fortunate to know them for many, many years and to be close friends. My husband actually grew up with the oldest Preyer son, and I just love hearing all the stories. They used to spend the night at their Aunt Jane's house and she didn't have any children and all the children would go to the Preyers' or Aunt Jane's to spend the night. When I first ran for public office Governor Jim Hunt came to an event for me in Greensboro and I had asked Emily Preyer to introduce Governor Hunt. In her introduction, what she did, she named his children, what they did and his grandchildren. That was her introduction of Jim Hunt and that was all that needed to be said; the crowd loved it. After listening to all the details I just wanted to let you know the spirit of their commitment to public service, to family, and to the community inspired so many people that they knew. Just quickly, Rich was a Greensboro native. He went to Princeton, Harvard Law School. When I say he was active in his church, he taught Sunday School for forty years to the Young Men's Bible Class, and the Young Men's Bible Class goes from probably twenty-two to about ninety-five and Rich is just well known for being one of the best teachers in that class. He also served with distinction in World War II, he was in the Navy, he received the Bronze Star for action in Okinawa. He was a local judge in Greensboro during the '50's. He was known for a decision of upholding the desegregation of the Greensboro Schools. He also became a federal judge being appointed by President Kennedy. As you know, he was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in '64 but in '68 was elected to Congress where he served for six terms. While he was there some of the two committees that he was most proud to serve as Chairman was the Select Committee on Ethics which drew up the first ever Congressional Code of Ethics and he also chaired the Committee on the Assassinations of President Kennedy and Reverend Martin Luther King. Several months before Rich died he came over to our house for a dinner party and there were two other couples there and Rich spent about four hours telling us many, many stories that he experienced in Congress. He told us about visiting Castro with part of this assassination of Kennedy. He talked about the fact that he felt it was Mafia related, and that he believed that Oswald was not the lone gunman, and just to sit there and listen to somebody who's been on the front end of that was absolutely fascinating for us and the other couples. He had such incredible stories to talk about the Martin Luther King assassination. For anybody that knew Rich Preyer you knew what a courtly, stately, wonderful man he was. Being with Emily was like walking on the sunny side of a street. She was always so funny, ebullient, happy, just fun to be with. At the same time she, I didn't know this until recently that she served in the Red Cross during World War II in Australia and the Pacific that she nearly died -- she gave up her seat on a flight that was returning to the United States that crashed. But Emily was destined for great things. While she was in Washington she was President of the Congressional Wives Club, the Wives Prayer group, and she also played tennis with Catherine Graham and just all the people that would just love to be with Emily. Emily also at one time won the Women's Single and Doubles Tennis Championship in Greensboro. Emily and Rich played tennis all the time. They were also gracious hosts. They opened their home up on numerous occasions for people coming to town for Democratic fundraisers, and when you went to their house you knew what the menu would be. It would be ham biscuits, pimento cheese sandwiches, cucumber sandwiches, lemon bars, and brownies. The thing I loved about going into their house was this huge banner. For about five years it was hanging in the living room and it said 'Ding Dong Jane Beat Gouligong'. Their daughter, Jane Preyer, played in Wimbledon and beat Gouligong and that was the banner welcoming Jane home from Wimbledon and Emily kept it up, I thought for five to seven years, I thought it must have finally disintegrated but when I was talking to Jane tonight it is actually still hanging in the sun room. The other thing that I remembered about Emily's house was there was a framed newspaper article and it talked about young Rich Preyer back in the fall of '71. He was on one of the first planes or the first hijacked plane by terrorists. He was in Germany and they hijacked the plane, they took him to Egypt, and I am not sure exactly where they actually set a bomb on the plane. It was supposed to go off two minutes before the plane landed and they ended up landing the plane. The shoots came open, they ran out, and the plane actually blew up as they were running to safety, and everybody on the plane lived. But Emily has this little article about Rich framed in one of the dens in the house, and you just got such a feel of these warm, fabulous people when you were welcomed into their home. I just want to tell you one more story and that is their daughter, Jane, who is now the mother of five children, when she was pregnant with her fourth child she was feeling overwhelmed and called her mother one afternoon hoping for words of encouragement and she said, 'Mom, how did you raise five children?' hoping once again to get these words of encouragement, and Emily said, 'It was a nightmare!' They were just fabulous people and I know that we are here tonight to remember them and their memories and I thank you for having us to hear this resolution. Thank you."

Senator Martin of Guilford:

"Madame President and members of the Senate, and friends gathered here, you know the words of Senator Hagan are absolutely correct, and I had the pleasure of course of knowing Rich and Emily Preyer not as well as Kay but well enough to know that they were indeed absolutely wonderful people. As a matter of fact, last week when we were in the process of honoring the contribution of the Reverend Dr. Billy Graham and there were a lot of comments being made by the members of the Senate my mind could not help but to float back, I guess, to Rich Preyer because I think the two men, although they had different paths, I think they all led along the same route, one that helps us realize the importance of caring about and caring for people. Both had that spirit caring for human kind. That was the trademark of Rich Preyer and Emily Preyer. I think they both have led truly by example, and when I said led, again I refer to both because although Rich Preyer is well known in the political and judicial arena, and the civic arena, but so was Emily Preyer, which was mentioned to you by Senator Hagan. She was very instrumental as far as the involvement with Red Cross but also while in Washington as part of developing the emergency management plans and so forth, the connection there. They were both really truly wonderful people. My first recollection of Rich Preyer, I guess, came during the height of the Civil Rights Movement in the early sixties in Greensboro. During that time his demeanor as a judge, his demeanor as a citizen of the city did a lot in terms of calming the atmosphere there and making sure that things did go smoothly. I was recently looking at some information that I had and I saw an article that was printed in the Arkansas Gazette back in 1957 during that time. That is the year that the school system in Greensboro first began integration the first day. The article, although in Arkansas, was talking about what was happening in North Carolina and talking about Rich Preyer and also it mentioned the fact that things appeared that they would go smoothly on the opening day which was the next day, September 4 because of his actions and because of his denial of an injunction that folks were seeking to prevent the integration of the schools there. Also, I clearly recall from a political standpoint my first recollections, I guess, were, I grew up in Eden in Rockingham County just next to Reidsville which is Emily's home town, and I remember that my father was a strong supporter and campaigner for a few people -- Earl Vaughn who some of you knew, who served here and also as a Court of Appeals Judge, Clarence Stone of the Senate, but none more vigorously than Rich Preyer and, of course, during that time Rockingham county and Guilford county, Senator Miller, were all part of the same Congressional District. All of those events sort of shape my image of Rich Preyer. One thing that all of us are also aware of and I know, of course, that Senator Horton, there was a mention made that he was a major conservative, also he was a strong environmentalist and that rubbed off on Jane, of course, who is a director and still is -- I confirmed that with her tonight -- of the Environmental Defense Fund of North Carolina and I would just say to you that in serving on those two House Select Committees on the Assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy and Martin Luther King he also presided over some of the sessions, some of the meetings, I know during the King assassination. He is a wonderful person, Emily's a wonderful person. Both were public servants and civil servants and both are wonderful human beings and again set a tremendous model for us, and I will always look to them as two of the people that I hold foremost when I think of what a public servant should be, what I think a human being should be. I would ask all of you to vote, of course, in support of this resolution. Thank You."

Senator Horton:

"Madame President, I certainly subscribe to everything that Senator Hagan and my good friend Bill Martin have said. I guess I'm probably the only man in the chamber who actually practiced before Richardson Preyer when he was a Superior Court Judge, always called him Judge Preyer. I'll never forget, I was just a young lawyer then but we all knew the Superior Court as a place of rough and tumble and sort of catch as catch can, a lot of fun but a lot of turmoil too. When he was presiding over the court he showed such courtesy and such absolute finesse that at the end of the term all the jurors would get out of the box and they would not leave until they had shaken his hand. I have never seen that in any court before or since. Richardson Preyer was a gentlemen of the first order and we will miss him and Emily."

Senator Lee:

"Madame President and members of the Senate, I arrived in North Carolina in 1964 from Georgia and there was a campaign going on and I knew nothing about the people in North Carolina or the politics of North Carolina and, of course, Richardson Preyer was involved in that campaign and I made the mistake in Chapel Hill of asking who is Richardson Preyer? There was a lady by the name of Ann Queen who sat me down and made sure that I knew and understood who this person Richardson Preyer was. I have never forgotten that. It was years later before I met Mr. Preyer and I am delighted to say that over the years since not only have I come to admire him but also, as I affectionately referred to her, Miss Emily. Lillian and I thought highly of the Preyers and we often spoke between us saying if people can remember us and if we can portray the image that those two people portrayed in this State we would feel very fortunate. Once in a while, like many of you I'm sure, I ponder life after death and wonder how people might remember that I was here on this earth and what I've contributed. Richardson Preyer, I think, has left a legacy that will result in his living for a long time. There is life after death in the form of what we contribute before death, the things that we do, the people's lives we touch, the things we stand for, the legacies we live and this man, in my opinion, is a giant among people in North Carolina. In 1972 when I decided to run for Congress one of the first people's advice I sought was L. Richardson Preyer. He couldn't get involved with the campaign obviously but he was most encouraging and gave me some tips on how to run a campaign and how, if elected, to serve. As a Congressman, he was a wonderful model, a fine example. But Miss Emily, I think, represents the importance of having a person stand beside you to give you support and to be there as a pillar of strength as she stood with L. Richardson Preyer. I am delighted that we had a chance to serve on the Board of Visitors of the School of Social Work. I received my bulletin just this week not aware that this resolution would be presented and there he stood, Rich and Rich Jr. His last days he contributed greatly to the School of Social Work and I'm sure without a doubt as social workers are graduated in that school they will do so in the spirit and with an understanding that he made a tremendous contribution. I am delighted I had the privilege of knowing him. I'm a better person because of that and if, in the final analysis, I could measure up to his knee cap I would feel that my life has not been lived in vain and without a doubt the legacy would have been built partly by his contributions to me as an individual. I am delighted to stand in support of this resolution and encourage that we adopt it."

Senator Foxx:

"Again, the comments that have been made have all been extremely important and I agree with them all. I want to say that I had great pleasure in knowing both the Preyers. Judge Preyer I worked with a little bit more than Emily. But, he was undoubtedly the most gracious person I think I have ever met in my life. When I was at Mayland Community College we were building a child care center there using private funds and we were really searching everywhere we could to raise money, and I knew Judge Preyer from having served on the Board of the Center for Public Policy Research and I knew how he'd helped and I knew his work with the Babcock Foundation, and I called him one day and asked him if I could have lunch with him one day in Greensboro and he said, 'Absolutely.' We arranged a time and we met at a little restaurant near the campus and we talked and he was very gracious in giving me suggestions about where we might search out some funds and was able to make a small contribution to the cause that we had there. But I felt like a very little person talking with him in the sense that he had such stature, but he never made anybody feel that way. He always made you feel like you were one of the most important people in the world and that your cause was very important. And I was humbled, as Senator Martin has said, he certainly led by example and I think that we all could learn from having been in the presence of the Preyers on how to treat other people and how to lead out lives, and they certainly were wonderful role models for us all, and I'm very grateful for having had the opportunity to know them, and I thank their family for carrying on their legacy in their names and in their own names."

Senator Rand:

"Thank you very much, Madame President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate. Rich Preyer was a man of incredible grace. He was totally unassuming but to be in his presence was to feel strength of his character and his personality. I think you could never be anywhere around him and not understand that he was a person of substance that really defies that description. Of course Mrs. Preyer, anytime you were in the room with her the room was brighter. There was a different feeling when she was around. I don't think that there were any good works, really, that were going on in North Carolina in the last fifty years that they weren't very much a part of. They exemplify the things that are important about North Carolina and really make us unique and they added to what our State is about in an incredible way."

Senator Garrou:

"In 1967 or 1968, I can't remember which year, I had the opportunity to attend with my husband a Princeton Alumni Association meeting in Greensboro. There I had the chance to meet Richardson Preyer, and I was very impressed. I'd heard so many things about all the great things he'd done in our State and continued to watch his efforts as he served as a judge and, in addition, the whole issue of the integration of the schools in Greensboro. Little did I know at that time that my husband would later be serving as the lawyer for the Winston-Salem-Forsyth County Schools as they began the plan to integrate the schools in Winston-Salem and Forsyth. And he had been given a real role model as he saw how Judge Preyer before his judging days carried on this activity. It was a stressful time for those of us who in our family, one of the first phrases my child learned to say as a two-year-old was School Board, because Daddy was gone to so many School Board meetings during that time. For all of us, we've been so blessed to have had even just a brief time to know the Preyers and we thank you all for sharing your parents with us and I hope you support this resolution. Thank you."

Senator Miller:

"Thank you, Madame President. I'm reluctant to speak on this resolution. We have so many memorializing resolutions where the person being honored maybe served one term in the House of Representatives in the late 1960's and we're all down here embarrassingly trying to remember something about the person to say for the benefit of the poor man's family who is sitting in the gallery. Obviously it is very different with the Preyers, a couple of such prominence who played such an important part in the history of this State, and were such important friends to so many people. It seems that the only people who speak are those who really did know the Preyers very, very well. I did not know Judge and Emily Preyer as well as I would have liked. I did know them some. I was proud to have known them at all. I knew their children better. I know Jane, who many of you do know from her work in your Environmental Defense Fund. I know Emily who clerked for Judge Dixon Phillips a year or two after I did, but if I had thought about it I think that Judge and Emily Preyer would prefer that I know them best, that anyone of my generation know them best, by knowing their children. A couple years, four or five years after I completed my clerkship and a couple of years after Emily Preyer had completed her clerkship, the Preyers hosted the clerk reunion for Judge Phillips' clerks in their home, and I was struck, as Kay Hagan was by how filled, perhaps you could even say cluttered, their home was with the mementos of their children's accomplishments. There was, of course, the banner that welcome Jane back from Wimbledon: 'Ding Dong, Ding Dong, Jane beat Gouligong.' But as I recall, there were a lot of mementos of much less impressive accomplishments. In fact the kind of modest accomplishments that fourth-graders usually achieve were still on prominent display. I left having a feeling that the closets and the attics were probably filled with photographs of Judge Preyer and Emily Preyer with Presidents and Prime Ministers and Kings, but out on prominent display were mementos of their children's accomplishments. I do know the kind of folks their children have grown up to be, or have been so far. We are all works in progress, and I think that speaks volumes about the Preyers. I did not know the Preyers, Judge and Emily Preyer, as well as I would have liked, but I'm struck by the fact that people who are a generation or two older than I am who knew them very well, who worked with them shoulder to shoulder in so many important undertakings that this State has faced -- Bill Martin mentioned some of them -- the civil rights movement, the politics, the great political battles of this State, that those people who knew the Preyers as contemporaries, who worked with them directly, felt the same admiration and respect for them that I felt at a greater distance. When I am fed up with this job, which is frequent, in fact daily in the last little bit and it seems to me that politics have simply become avoiding hard issues, the real decisions that we face and an exercise in taking cheap political shots, I remember that public life, that politics, can be an honorable undertaking, and I remember the example of the Preyers.

Senator Kinnaird:

"Thank you, Madame President. I am pleased to add my voice in recognizing the great contribution of Richardson and Emily Preyer to our State and our citizens, because they were such an inspiration to me as leaders in social justice and environmental protection. It's hard to find the right title for Rich Preyer. He was a leader in so many areas. He was a highly regarded lawyer and innovative businessman. As a civic leader his voice was often the voice of reason in difficult times. As a judge he was objective and fair in administering the law. As a Congressman he fought first for his constituents, no matter how high or how low in the world's regard, and as a citizen he and his wife, Emily, were passionate in their advocacy for social justice, education and the arts. Reflecting on Congressman and Mrs. Preyer's interest in helping others, the Bicentennial Professorship to strengthen families was established by his family. The Preyers are especially remembered for their contributions for the environment. Our coast is strengthened today because of the pioneering work of Congressman Preyer's leadership of the Coastal Futures Committee. The Emily and Richardson Preyer Coastal Reserve was named for their extensive environmental work. At the ceremony dedicating the reserve, Bill Holman commended the Preyer's commitment to preserving our natural heritage by talking about their renaissance activities extending into so many areas of our State's concerns. Their devotion to the Nature Conservancy was instrumental in preserving land in Northeastern North Carolina, and Emily Preyer's service on the North Carolina Zoological Board, an area I represent, helped to make this North Carolina treasure one of the finest in the country. All of these together mean that all North Carolinians are indebted to this outstanding man and his wife who joined him in building our State to be the finest and greatest in the nation. I ask for your support for the resolution."

Senator Basnight:

"Thank you Madame President, Members of the Senate, Preyer family and friends. It would be easy for me to say, 'Yes, he's a friend of mine, yes, she's a friend of mine.' What a beautiful couple. But it's easy for me to say that, very simply so, because their friends were my friends. Their friends of tomorrow will be the friends of mine as well as yours that grow and follow this beautiful couple. I remember the last time I saw Rich Preyer. He was in my restaurant and some of his family was with him, and to describe him that evening, I believe it was in the fall of last year, is pretty simple -- a beautiful, magnificent, handsome man carrying himself with such ease and grace. You knew that you were welcome if you'd never seen him before. It was there speaking to you. He's a person who gave ever so much to all of us, not just in the preservation of this world, but when you make the contributions in your own community or in your own State you certainly affect another state, another country if it has something to do with our environment. As a person who loved all of God's children regardless of the race, regardless of where we came from or how we got to where we have come to, he was a person that everyone who lived in this State could easily say and with great high regard for his comments and knowing that he came from where we came from -- the Old North State. He traveled extensively as did his wife and he was known by many generations of people because he welcomed you regardless of your age. We are very fortunate to have had his life with us and I know as he looks down on us today he can say, 'Well done, Senate family.' Thank you."

The Committee Substitute bill passes its second reading (44-0) and third reading with members standing, and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives by special message.

The President extends the courtesies of the gallery to the Preyer family: Mary Norris Preyer Oglesby, daughter, her husband, Pat Oglesby, and their daughter Emily Oglesby; Emily Preyer Fountain, daughter, her husband, Richard Fountain, and their children, Mary Norris Fountain, Richard Fountain, IV, Janie Fountain, Preyer Fountain and Peter Fountain; and Jane Preyer, daughter.

ONE HUNDRED SIXTEENTH DAY

Senate Chamber
Tuesday, August 14, 2001

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by The Honorable Beverly E. Perdue, Lieutenant Governor.

Prayer is offered by The Reverend Mike Morris, Senate Chaplain, as follows:

"Loving God, the Senators seem to have a couple of mountains yet to climb this session. The prophet Isaiah spoke to that scenario when he said, 'How beautiful upon the mountain are the feet of him who brings good tidings.' Nothing is said about the herald's mouth which proclaims the good news, the eyes as he proclaims it or even the good tidings themselves, but how beautiful are the feet without which he could never have made it up the mountain to proclaim anything at all!

"We don't know in what inspired way the heart, mind, and soul of the herald received the good tidings, but when it was time to actually do something about them, his shoe leather was where his inspiration was. His feet were the ones that finally had to decide. Maybe it is always so.

"If we want to know who we really are as distinct from who we think we are, help us keep an eye on where our feet are taking us! Amen."

*Frederich Buechner, Whistling in the Dark
