Under G.S. 115C-546.1, a portion of the corporate income tax is earmarked for the Public School Capital Building Fund. Monies in the fund are distributed to counties on a per average daily membership basis to be used for public school capital outlay projects. Because Savings and Loans pay income tax under a separate Article, no part of their income tax goes to the Public School Building Capital Fund. When they begin to pay the identical tax under the general corporate income tax, rather than a separate Article, part of their income tax that would otherwise go to the General Fund will go to the Public School Building Capital Fund.

The estimate for the first year cost of earmarking was provided by the Department of Revenue. A growth rate of 5% was used for future years.

Referred to:

May 21, 1998

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO EXEMPT RACING GASOLINE FROM THE PER GALLON EXCISE TAX, TO CLARIFY THE TAXATION OF KEROSENE, AND TO MAKE OTHER CHANGES IN THE MOTOR FUEL TAX LAWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-449.39 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-449.39. Credit for payment of motor fuel tax.

Every motor carrier subject to the tax levied by this Article is entitled to a credit for tax paid by the carrier on fuel purchased in the State. A motor carrier who files a quarterly report is entitled to a credit at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the variable cents-per-gallon rate of tax in effect during the quarter for which the credit is claimed. A motor carrier who files an annual report is entitled to a credit at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the average of the two variable cents-per-gallon rates of tax in effect during the year for which the credit is claimed. To obtain a credit, the motor carrier must furnish evidence satisfactory to the Secretary that the tax for which the credit is claimed has been paid.

If the amount of a credit to which a motor carrier is entitled for a reporting period exceeds the motor carrier's liability for that reporting period, ~~the excess may, in accordance with rules adopted by the Secretary, be refunded to the motor carrier or carried forward and applied to the motor carrier's tax liability for another reporting period. Before the Secretary allows a motor carrier a refund, the Secretary may audit~~

~~the motor carrier's records or require the motor carrier to furnish a bond under G.S. 105-449.40.~~ the Secretary must refund the excess to the motor carrier."

Section 2. G.S. 105-449.52(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Hearing. -- Any person denying liability for a penalty imposed under this section ~~may~~ must pay the penalty under protest and apply to the Department of Revenue for a hearing. Upon receiving a request for a hearing, the Secretary shall schedule a hearing before a duly designated employee or agent of the Department within 30 days after receipt of the request. If after the hearing the Department determines that the person was not liable for the penalty, the amount collected shall be refunded. If after the hearing the Department determines that the person was liable for the penalty, the person paying the penalty may bring an action in the Superior Court of Wake County against the Secretary of Revenue for refund of the penalty. No restraining order or injunction shall issue from any court of the State to restrain or enjoin the collection of the penalty or to permit the operation of the vehicle without payment of the penalty."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO EXEMPT RACING GASOLINE FROM THE PER GALLON EXCISE TAX, TO CLARIFY THE TAXATION OF KEROSENE, AND TO MAKE OTHER CHANGES IN THE MOTOR FUEL TAX LAWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-449.39 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-449.39. Credit for payment of motor fuel tax.

Every motor carrier subject to the tax levied by this Article is entitled to a credit for tax paid by the carrier on fuel purchased in the State. A motor carrier who files a quarterly report is entitled to a credit at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the variable cents-per-gallon rate of tax in effect during the quarter for which the credit is claimed. A motor carrier who files an annual report is entitled to a credit at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the average of the two variable cents-per-gallon rates of tax in effect during the year for which the credit is claimed. To obtain a credit, the motor carrier must furnish evidence satisfactory to the Secretary that the tax for which the credit is claimed has been paid.

If the amount of a credit to which a motor carrier is entitled for a reporting period exceeds the motor carrier's liability for that reporting period, ~~the excess may, in accordance with rules adopted by the Secretary, be refunded to the motor carrier or carried forward and applied to the motor carrier's tax liability for another reporting period. Before the Secretary allows a motor carrier a refund, the Secretary may audit~~

~~the motor carrier's records or require the motor carrier to furnish a bond under G.S. 105-449.40.~~ the Secretary must refund the excess to the motor carrier."

Section 2. G.S. 105-449.52(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Hearing. -- Any person denying liability for a penalty imposed under this section ~~may~~ must pay the penalty under protest and apply to the Department of Revenue for a hearing. Upon receiving a request for a hearing, the Secretary shall schedule a hearing before a duly designated employee or agent of the Department within 30 days after receipt of the request. If after the hearing the Department determines that the person was not liable for the penalty, the amount collected shall be refunded. If after the hearing the Department determines that the person was liable for the penalty, the person paying the penalty may bring an action in the Superior Court of Wake County against the Secretary of Revenue for refund of the penalty. No restraining order or injunction shall issue from any court of the State to restrain or enjoin the collection of the penalty or to permit the operation of the vehicle without payment of the penalty."

Section 3. G.S. 105-449.60 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-449.60. Definitions.

Section 8. Part 5 of Article 36C of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-449.105A. Monthly refunds for kerosene.

A distributor who sells kerosene to any of the following may obtain a refund for the excise tax the distributor paid on the kerosene during the preceding month, less the amount of any discount allowed on the kerosene under G.S. 105-449.93:

(1) The end user of the kerosene, if the distributor dispenses the kerosene into a storage facility of the end user that contains fuel used only for heating.

(2) A retailer of kerosene, if the distributor dispenses the kerosene into a storage facility that is marked for nonhighway use in accordance with the requirements in G.S. 105-449.123(a)(1) through (a)(3) and has a dispensing device that is not suitable for use in fueling a highway vehicle."

The application must state whether or not the applicant has filed a North Carolina income tax return for the preceding taxable year, and must state that the applicant has paid for the fuel for which a refund is claimed or that payment for the fuel has been secured to the seller's satisfaction.~~ Due Dates. -- The due dates of applications for refunds are as follows:

Refund Period	Due Date
Annual	April 15 after the end of the year
Quarterly	Last day of the month after the end of the quarter
Monthly	22nd day after the end of the month
Upon Application	Last day of month after month in which tax was paid or the event occurred that is the basis of the refund.

(b) ~~Quarterly Refunds. -- An application for a quarterly refund of excise tax is due by the last day of the month following the end of the calendar quarter for which the refund is claimed. The application must state that the applicant has paid for the fuel for which a refund is claimed or that payment for the fuel has been secured to the seller's satisfaction.~~ Requirements. -- An application for an annual refund must state whether or not the applicant has filed a North Carolina income tax return for the preceding taxable year. An application for a refund allowed under this Part must state that the applicant has paid for the fuel for which a refund is claimed or that payment for the fuel has been secured to the seller's satisfaction.

"§ 105-449.132. How to apply for a license.

To obtain a license, an applicant must file an application with the Secretary on a form provided by the Secretary. An application must include the applicant's name, address, federal employer identification number, and any other information required by the Secretary. An applicant must meet the requirements for obtaining a license set out in G.S. 105-449.69(b)."

Section 12. The following persons who have kerosene that is on hand or in their possession as of 12:01 a.m. on July 1, 1998, and is not in the terminal transfer system must inventory the kerosene and report the results of the inventory to the Secretary of Revenue:

(1) Retailers who maintain storage facilities for kerosene of at least 2,000 gallons.
(2) Distributors.
(3) Importers.
(4) Suppliers.

The amount of kerosene in dead storage is not considered to be part of inventory and shall not be included in the report. "Dead storage" is the amount of kerosene in a storage tank that will not be pumped out of the tank because the kerosene is below the mouth of the draw pipe. For a storage tank with a capacity of less than 2,000 gallons, the amount of kerosene in dead storage is considered to be 200 gallons. For a storage tank with a capacity of 2,000 gallons or more, the amount of kerosene in dead storage is considered to be 400 gallons. The report of inventory must be made on a form provided by the Secretary. The report is due by July 15, 1998.

Section 13. The change made in Section 1 of this act applies to credits generated from reports filed by motor carriers for the reporting period beginning July 1, 1998. The changes made in Sections 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, and 10 become effective July 1, 1998. The remaining sections of this act are effective when they become law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue - Motor Fuels Tax Division

EFFECTIVE DATE: The change made in section 1 applies to credits generated from reports filed by motor carriers for the reporting period beginning July 1, 1998. The changes made in sections 3,5,6,8,9, and 10 become effective July 1, 1998. The remaining sections are effective when the bill becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill exempts racing fuel from the motor fuels tax, provides automatic refunds of motor fuel taxes to motor carriers each quarter, clarifies the taxation of kerosene, and makes other changes in the motor fuel tax laws.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

The following sections of SB 1230 have a fiscal impact:

Section 1

A motor carrier operating in North Carolina is taxed on the amount of motor fuel it uses in the state and is entitled to a credit for the motor fuels tax it paid on purchases made in the state. Under current law, a carrier has two years to request a refund when its tax credits exceed its tax liability. If the motor carrier fails to request a refund within two years of tax payment, then the Department of Revenue keeps the overpayment. From 1990 to 1996, the Department of Revenue earned $6 million or approximately $83,300 per quarter from lapsed refunds. Since the complete implementation of the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA) in 1996, motor carriers have been more aggressive in seeking refunds owed to them. Based on a review of the second quarter of 1997, the amount of lapsed refunds was down to $60,000. Under this bill, carriers would automatically receive refunds and the Highway Fund would no longer receive $240,000 in unanticipated revenues from lapsed refunds each year.

Section 3

This section exempts racing fuel from the motor fuels tax and subjects the retail price of this fuel to the 6% state and local sales tax. Purchasers of racing fuel now receive a refund of the excise tax minus an administrative and inspection fee equal to 1.25 cents per gallon. Beginning in January 1998, sales tax was imposed on racing fuel based on the average wholesale price of regular motor fuel for the prior 12 months. Based on data supplied by the Department of Revenue, 652,347 gallons of racing fuel were purchased in the North Carolina in 1996. Assuming 1996 racing fuel purchases as the standard, the fiscal impact of this tax change is as follows:

Highway Fund = By exempting racing fuel, the Highway Fund would lose $8,154 from the administrative and inspection fee. (652,347 gallons X $.0125)

General Fund = Racing fuel is now subject to the average wholesale price of regular motor fuel. This price was 68.59 cents per gallon in 1997. The average retail price of racing fuel is $3.50 per gallon. This bill will tax motor fuel at the actual retail price as shown in the example below.

6% X 652,347 gallons X $3.50	= $136,993	Retail price
6% X 652,347 gallons X $ .6859	= $ 26,850	Wholesale price
Net Change	$110,143

The General Fund would receive $73,429 of this increase and local governments would receive $36,714.

Section 7

This section imposes a new penalty on licensed distributors or licensed importers who deduct an exempt sale when paying the excise tax to a supplier and then fail to report the exempt sale when filing a reconciling return. The Department anticipates a revenue gain from this penalty, but cannot estimate the amount.

Motor Fuel Tax Changes

Senate Bill 1230 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee, and exempts racing fuel from the per gallon excise tax on motor fuel, clarifies the taxation of kerosene, and makes other clarifying and conforming changes to the motor fuel tax laws.

Racing Fuel

Under current law the excise tax on racing fuel is refunded, because racing fuel is used for off highway purposes. The original bill exempted racing fuel from the motor fuels tax by exempting it from the definition of gasoline. The proposed committee substitute does not change the current definition of gasoline, but instead adds a definition for racing fuel. This definition includes gasoline that meets all of the following descriptions:

- Has an Antiknock Index Number of more than 100.
- Has 90% evaporation at a maximum of 290 degrees Fahrenheit.
- Either contains more than 0.05 grams per gallon of lead or contains more than 2.8 weight percent oxygen.

The proposed committee substitute also adds "racing fuel dispensed at a race track for use in a racing vehicle" to the list of fuel that is exempt from the motor fuel excise tax.

Senate Bill 1230 relieves the taxpayer of the burden of applying for a refund and the Department of Revenue from having to distribute the refund. The bill also solves current inconsistencies among taxpayers who use racing fuel, and would result in the correct amount of tax being collected with less paper work. The proposed changes regarding racing fuel become effective August 1, 1998.

Kerosene

Senate Bill 1230 clarifies that kerosene is a form of diesel fuel by stating that the term diesel fuel includes kerosene. This is to conform to the Federal Government, who will begin taxing kerosene unless it is dyed effective July 1, 1998. The bill adds diesel fuel that is kerosene and that is sold to an airport to the list of fuel exempt from the motor fuels tax. The bill also adds a new section to the part of the motor fuels law dealing with refunds, so that a distributor will be allowed to obtain a refund on the sale of kerosene in the following instances: (1) when the distributor sells kerosene to an end user and the distributor dispenses the kerosene into the end user's storage facility that contains fuel used only for heating, or (2) when the distributor sells kerosene to a retailer and the kerosene is dispensed into a storage facility marked for non-highway use and that has a dispensing device that is not suitable to fuel highway vehicles. These proposed changes apply to kerosene sold on or after July 1, 1998.

Senate Bill 1230 provides that persons possessing kerosene as of July 1, 1998, that is not in the terminal transfer system, must inventory the kerosene and report the inventory to the Secretary The original bill also required these persons to pay tax on the kerosene. This provision applies to retailers who maintain storage facilities for kerosene of at least 2,000 gallons, distributors, importers, and suppliers. This is a transitional provision and is necessary, because kerosene will be taxed at the rack beginning July 1, 1998. This provision in the bill is effective when it becomes law.

Other Changes to the Motor Fuel Tax Laws

Section 1 of the bill provides for an automatic refund to a motor carrier whose credit exceeds his tax liability. A carrier operating in this State is taxed on the amount of motor fuel the carrier used in the State. The carrier is also entitled to a credit for tax paid by the carrier on any fuel purchased in the State. This section applies to credits generated from reports filed by motor carriers for the reporting period beginning July 1, 1998.

Section 2 of the bill is a conforming change requiring a carrier, who denies liability for a penalty, to pay the penalty under protest and then apply to the Department for a hearing. This section is effective when it becomes law.

Section 4 gives the Secretary of Revenue the authority to send a letter of release instead of returning a bond when a license holder files a bond or irrevocable letter of credit as a replacement for a previously filed bond or letter of credit and the license holder has paid all taxes and penalties due. The Secretary already has this authority under G.S. 105-449.76, when a license is canceled. This section is effective when it becomes law.

Section 5 provides that if the Secretary determines that a bulk-end user or retailer used or sold untaxed dyed diesel fuel to operate a highway vehicle when the fuel was dispensed from a storage facility marked for non-highway use, then all fuel delivered to that storage facility is presumed to have been used for highway use and is taxable. This presumption currently applies to alternative fuels in G.S. 105-449.138(b). This section is effective when it becomes law.

Section 7 imposes a penalty on a licensed distributor or licensed importer when they deduct an exempt sale when paying the excise tax to a supplier and then fail to report the exempt sale when filing a reconciling return showing the exempt sales. The proposed committee substitute imposes a $250.00 penalty for failure to report. This section becomes effective September 1, 1998 The original bill imposed a penalty in the amount of tax that would have been payable on the sale of the fuel if the distributor or importer had not claimed the sale as an exempt sale and had an effective date of when the section becomes law.

Section 9 amends G.S. 105-164.13, the statute that sets out exemptions and exclusions from the sales and use tax. This statute lists motor fuel as exempt from the sales and use tax unless a refund of the motor fuel tax is allowed. The bill adds a distributor, who receives a motor fuel tax refund on kerosene sold, to those taxpayers who must pay sales tax on motor fuel.

Section 10 clarifies when applications for refunds of the motor fuel tax are due. This section is effective when it becomes law.

Section 11 requires an applicant for a license as a provider of alternative fuel, a bulk-end user of alternative fuel, or a retailer of alternative fuel to meet the requirements for licensing set out in G.S. 105-449.69(b). This section is effective when it becomes law.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-449.39 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-449.39. Credit for payment of motor fuel tax.

Every motor carrier subject to the tax levied by this Article is entitled to a credit for tax paid by the carrier on fuel purchased in the State. A motor carrier who files a quarterly report is entitled to a credit at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the variable cents-per-gallon rate of tax in effect during the quarter for which the credit is claimed. A motor carrier who files an annual report is entitled to a credit at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the average of the two variable cents-per-gallon rates of tax in effect during the year for which the credit is claimed. To obtain a credit, the motor carrier must furnish evidence satisfactory to the Secretary that the tax for which the credit is claimed has been paid.

If the amount of a credit to which a motor carrier is entitled for a reporting period exceeds the motor carrier's liability for that reporting period, ~~the excess may, in accordance with rules adopted by the Secretary, be refunded to the motor carrier or carried forward and applied to the motor carrier's tax liability for another reporting period. Before the Secretary allows a motor carrier a refund, the Secretary may audit~~

~~the motor carrier's records or require the motor carrier to furnish a bond under G.S. 105-449.40.~~ the Secretary must refund the excess to the motor carrier."

Section 2. G.S. 105-449.52(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Hearing. -- Any person denying liability for a penalty imposed under this section ~~may~~ must pay the penalty under protest and apply to the Department of Revenue for a hearing. Upon receiving a request for a hearing, the Secretary shall schedule a hearing before a duly designated employee or agent of the Department within 30 days after receipt of the request. If after the hearing the Department determines that the person was not liable for the penalty, the amount collected shall be refunded. If after the hearing the Department determines that the person was liable for the penalty, the person paying the penalty may bring an action in the Superior Court of Wake County against the Secretary of Revenue for refund of the penalty. No restraining order or injunction shall issue from any court of the State to restrain or enjoin the collection of the penalty or to permit the operation of the vehicle without payment of the penalty."

POSITIONS: Abolish 3 clerical positions in the Department of Revenue beginning FY 99-00.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Alcoholic Beverage Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 through 13, 27, and 28 (privilege licenses) become effective July 1, 1999 and remaining sections (ABC licenses and permits) become effective May 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The act repeals the state privilege license taxes for amusements, installment paper dealers, and alcoholic beverages. It increases the tax on tax on installment paper dealers from .275% to .277%. It changes the privilege tax on new banks and eliminates the proration of license fees for loan agencies and professionals. It creates a uniform malt beverage tax, raises the fee on ABC permits, and simplifies the filing and reporting requirements for alcoholic beverages.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Section 2

Part (c) of section 2 of the bill ends the practice of charging half the privilege license tax to an individual who applies after the midpoint of the fiscal year. Upon passage of this bill, only professionals and loan agencies remain subject to annual license fees. Except for accountants, the Department of Revenue does not have data on the number of licenses that were paid for half year. 675 accountants paid $25 for a half year license in FY 1996-97and 472 bought a half year license in FY 1995-96. Averaging the two years, this note assumes 575 accountants needing a partial year license will pay the full $50 in FY 1999-00. This will generate a revenue gain to the General Fund of $14,375.

Sections 4 & 5

In FY 1996-97, there were 323 privilege licenses issued to amusements, circuses, dances, and rodeos generating $17,737 in General Fund income. For this group the license fee serves as advance payment toward the 3% gross receipts tax collected on their performances. Except for the small amount of interest that the Department may earn on license revenue, there is no fiscal impact from eliminating the annual license fee.

Section 9

Section 9 eliminates the $100 license fee for installment paper dealers who engage in the business of "dealing in, buying, or discounting installment paper, notes, bonds, contracts, or evidences of debt". Unlike the amusements license, the $100 paid by installment paper dealers is not an advance payment for the tax they pay. Based on FY 1996-97 collections, this change will produce a loss of $123,800 annually beginning in FY 1999-00. These dealers also pay a tax of .275% of the face value of the financial instruments they handle. To offset the revenue loss, this tax rate is increased to .277% to raise $112,810. The net revenue impact from eliminating the $100 fee and increasing the tax rate to .277% is a revenue loss of $10,990.

Section 10

Banks pay an annual privilege tax equal to $30 for each million dollars of assets they hold. However, a new bank pays a $100 privilege tax until it has been in operation for a year. This $100 fee is eliminated in section 10 and replaced with a requirement for new banks to pay the regular tax prorated by the number of days it operated during the fiscal year.

According to Ray Grace of the North Carolina Banking Commission, the establishment of new banks is cyclical and influenced both by the economy and by actions of the mega-banks. There were no new banks in 1993 and 1994. There were 2 in 1995 and 3 in 1996. In 1997, there were 10 new banks plus the conversion of a thrift to a bank. Mr. Grace anticipates 6 new banks in 1998.

This note assumes three new banks are established each year and uses FY 1996-97 as a model. The chart below shows the date each bank was chartered by the Banking Commission in 1996 and the average assets for the three banks in the four quarters of 1996-97. Under this bill, instead of paying $100 in their first year, the banks would pay $30 for each million dollars in assets with an adjustment for the number of days in operation. For example, Bank A would pay $30 x 13.239 ($13,239,250/$1,000,000) x (344 days/365 days) = $374.13

	Established	Avg. Assets	Est. Tax	Current Tax
Bank A	7/22/96	$13,239,250	$374.13	$100
Bank B	11/18/96	$30,036,333	$555.06	$100
Bank C	7/31/96	$28,317,750	$779.00	$100
			$1,708.19	$300	Difference = $1,408.19

In summary, this note assumes additional revenue of $1,400 per year due to the change in section 10.

Sections 14 - 30

Under current law, a business that sells beer, wine, and/or spirituous liquor is required to secure the appropriate permits from the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission (ABC) and the appropriate commercial and retail licenses from the Department of Revenue. Sections 17 & 18 repeal the Department of Revenue's annual commercial and retail licensing requirements. New businesses filing permit applications with the ABC will no longer have to file a license application with the Department of Revenue. The Department collected an estimated $3.1 million from 40,000 licensees in FY 1996-97. This note assumes the revenue from ABC licenses in FY 1998-99 and beyond would have been $3.3 million per year. To offset this loss, ABC permit fees are increased in sections 29 and 30 of the bill. Using 1996-97 data on the number of ABC permits issued, the ABC worked with the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly to propose increased permit fees that would make the repeal of the retail licenses revenue neutral.

Since ABC permits are business specific (malt beverage, fortified wine, etc.), some businesses may be required to hold more than one permit. All ABC permits are continuing except for the brown bagging and the special occasions permits. This means as long as the permittee meets the qualifications of a permit, the permit does not have to be renewed annually. Under the proposed act, all businesses that currently hold licenses and permits prior to May 1, 1999 will not be affected by this act as long as they continue to meet the qualifications of their ABC permit. If an existing business fails to qualify, then they will have to reapply for new ABC permits and pay the higher fees.

By eliminating the processing of 40,000 ABC licenses each year, the Department of Revenue estimates that it could reduce its clerical staff by up to three Grade 57 clerical employees in the Business License & Returns Section of the Office Examination Division. The savings from these positions is $68,877 in FY 1999-00. This amount is adjusted for future growth in wages and fringe benefits.

Section 22

The excise tax rates on beer are combined into a single rate in section 22. Beer sold in barrels is currently taxed at 48.387 cents per gallon and beer sold in bottles and cans is currently taxed at 53.376 cents per gallon. The combined rate of 53.177 cents per gallon preserves the General Fund revenue expected to be collected from both rates. Although the proposal is revenue neutral, those selling beer in bottles and cans will pay a little less tax and those selling beer in barrels will pay a little more. For example, in 1996-97 producers of beer in bottles and cans would have paid $302,252 less in excise tax while producers of beer by the barrel would have paid $302,252 more in excise tax.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1252 (2d Ed):
Simplify Privilege License Tax

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 29, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Hoyle

Senate Bill 1252 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and makes numerous changes to simplify and/or reduce the State privilege license taxes on amusements, professionals, installment paper dealers, banks, and alcoholic beverages. The Bill also increases ABC permit fees. The changes to the taxes and fees on alcoholic beverages would become effective May 1, 1999. All other changes would become effective July 1, 1999. Explanations of the amendments incorporated in the Second Edition of the Bill, as passed by the Senate, are indicated in bold.

Amusements. The current law imposes an annual $50 State privilege license tax and a 3% gross receipts tax on any form of entertainment not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted under Article 2 of Chapter 105. The license tax is due July 1 of each year and the tax on gross receipts is due monthly. Taxable forms of entertainment include athletic contests, sporting events, concerts, plays, musicals, night clubs, comedy clubs, amusement parks, carnivals, and festivals. Antique shows, craft shows, and auto shows, when a band is provided or a celebrity signs autographs, are also subject to the tax. Other taxable amusements are fashion shows, beauty pageants, air shows, mud slings, and tractor pulls. Current law also imposes a $50 privilege license tax and gross receipts tax on amusements such as a circus, menagerie, wild west show, a dog and/or pony show, or any other similar amusement not taxed in Article 2. The privilege tax on these amusements is assessed for each day or part of a day that the circus or similar amusement is held. Exempt amusements set out in Article 2 are high school and elementary school athletic contests, teen centers, dances and amusements promoted and managed by a corporation that operates a center for the performing and visual arts when the dance or amusement is held at the center, and amusements on the Cherokee Indian reservation where the entity providing the amusement is authorized to do business on the reservation and pays the tribal gross receipts levy to the tribal council. The Second Edition also exempts all elementary and secondary school dances and other amusements. Current law only exempts the first $1,000 of gross receipts derived from dances and amusements actually promoted and managed by secondary schools when the proceeds are used exclusively for the school and not to defray expenses.

The State privilege license tax on amusements is treated as an advance payment of the corresponding gross receipts tax, and the license tax is applied as a credit upon the gross receipts tax. Sections 4 and 5 of the Bill repeal the State privilege license taxes on amusements. This repeal would simplify the taxes assessed on amusements and would be revenue neutral since the license tax is a credit upon the gross receipts tax. Amusements will continue to pay a 3% gross receipts tax and any existing local license tax.

Section 6 reorganizes the exemptions for certain amusements, so that a list of all exempt amusements will appear in one place in the statutes. The list includes those amusements that are currently exempt in Article 2, amusements that are listed as exempt in other sections of the statutes (the North Carolina Symphony Society and amusements organized under the Agriculture Chapter), and outdoor historical dramas that are described in Chapter 143 and that have generally been exempt under the current definition for exemptions in G.S. 105-40.

Professionals. G.S. 105-41 imposes a statewide privilege license on persons practicing certain professions or engaging in certain businesses. Section 7 of the Bill makes various clarifying and technical changes to the statute and reorganizes existing exemptions found throughout the statutes so that all exemptions will appear in G.S. 105-41. Currently the statute exempts persons age 75 and over and certain persons practicing the professional art of healing. The Bill adds to this list blind persons engaging in a trade or profession as a sole proprietor. The exemption for blind persons is currently set out in another section of Chapter 105, which this bill repeals. Section 8 of the Bill moves from Chapter 105 to Chapter 93B, Occupational Licensing Boards, a provision that exempts any person serving in the armed forces or in the merchant marine from paying license fees to a licensing board or commission or to the State. This exemption belongs in the Occupational Licensing Chapter because it relates to occupational licensing, not to taxes. The Second Edition of the Bill allows an individual who is serving in the armed forces of the U.S. an extension of time to pay any license fee charged by an occupational licensing board, if the individual qualifies for the extension of time to file a tax return under G.S. 105-249.2. This statute provides that the Secretary of Revenue may not assess interest or penalty against a taxpayer for any period that is disregarded under section 7508 of the IRC in determining the taxpayer's liability for a federal tax. This section of the IRC postpones tax liaibility for an individual serving in the armed forces, or serving in support of the armed forces, in an area designated by the President as a "combat zone". The period of service in such area, plus the period of continuous qualified hospitalization attributable to injury received while serving in the area, and the next 180 days thereafter, are disregarded in determining tax liability.

Installment Paper Dealers. Installment paper dealers are persons engaged in the business of dealing in, buying, or discounting installment paper, notes, bonds, contracts, or evidences of debt, when at the time or in connection with the execution of these instruments, a lien is reserved or taken on personal property located in the State to secure the payment of the obligations. These dealers pay an annual $100 license tax and a quarterly tax of .275% of the total face value of the obligations within the preceding quarterly calendar months. Section 9 repeals the $100 license tax. Dealers will continue to pay the quarterly tax. The Second Edition of the Bill increases the quarterly tax of .275% to .277% to offset the loss of revenue from repealing the annual $100 license tax. According to the Department of Revenue, this increase in rate would cover $112,811 of the $123,800 loss

Banks. Under current law, banks are issued a privilege license each year and pay a tax at the rate of $30 for each $1,000,000 or fractional part of total assets held. These assets are determined by averaging the total assets shown in the four quarterly call reports of condition (consolidation domestic subsidiaries) for the preceding calendar year as required by bank regulatory authorities. Section 10 eliminates the license and requires the banks to submit instead an annual report to the Department of Revenue showing the average of their total assets. The privilege tax must be paid with the report by July 1. The submission of a report in lieu of issuing an annual license will relieve the Department of having to issue licenses that vary yearly for each bank. The Department's current computer system has had difficulty issuing licenses that vary each year, and this problem will become even more difficult with the year 2000 changeover. Also, a report will assist the Department in auditing banks. The Bill also repeals the $100 annual privilege tax for banks that have been in operation for less than a year. New banks will be required instead to pay a tax on the average of the total assets determined by the number of days in operation.

Alcoholic Beverages. Senate Bill 1252 repeals annual privilege licenses on ABC permittees, raises the ABC permit fees by the corresponding amount, and simplifies the tax rate on malt beverages. In order to engage in a business involving alcoholic beverages, a person must obtain both a permit issued by the ABC Commission and a corresponding annual State license issued by the Department of Revenue. The person must obtain the ABC permit before applying for the license. Upon payment of the State license tax, issuance of the license is mandatory if the applicant has the corresponding ABC permit. The information and qualifications required for the annual State license are the same as the information and qualifications required for the corresponding one-time ABC permit. The additional State license serves no purpose other than to raise revenue. The Bill repeals these privilege licenses in order to eliminate the duplicate requirement of applying for a State privilege license and a corresponding ABC permit. The approximately $3.1 million revenue loss from the repeal of these privilege licenses would be offset by an increase in the ABC permit fees set out in G.S. 18B-902(d), by repeal of the reduced fees for combined permits in G.S. 18B-902(e), and by an increase in the annual renewal fees for mixed beverage and guest room cabinet permits in G.S. 18B-903(b).

Senate Bill 1252 also simplifies the filing requirements for malt beverage taxpayers by setting a single rate of excise tax on malt beverages. Currently, an excise tax of 48.387 cents per gallon is assessed against malt beverages in barrels holding at least 7¾ gallons and an excise tax of 53.376 cents per gallon is assessed against malt beverages in cans, bottles, barrels, or other containers holding less than 7¾ gallons. The Bill imposes an excise tax of 53.177 cents per gallon on the sale of any malt beverage, regardless of the container. Thus, the Bill simplifies the filing and reporting requirements for malt beverages, unfortified wine, and fortified wine by eliminating the requirement that vendors of these products specify the size and type of containers sold in their monthly reports to the Secretary. This information will now be shown on the invoice.

Other changes. Sections 1, 2, 3, and 5 of the Bill make conforming changes throughout Article 2 to clarify that the Article now deals more with privilege taxes, such as a tax on a business' gross receipts, rather than with license taxes. The only State license taxes that will remain in Article 2 if this Bill is enacted are attorneys-at-law and other professionals ($50.00) (G.S. 105-41) and loan agencies or brokers ($750.00) (G.S. 105-88). These sections of the Bill also eliminate the half-rate license tax for professionals and loan agencies that begin business more than halfway through the year.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION

Post Office Box 429 Winton, North Carolina 27986 Phone (919)358-7801 Fax (919)358-7806

Good afternoon members of the House Finance Committee and other distinguished guests. I am Bill Early, Economic Development Director for Hertford County. I am here on behalf of the citizens of Hertford County and northeastern North Carolina. My purpose in being here today is to ask you to support HB 1688/SB 1569, Economic Opportunity Act.

I have served Hertford County for nearly 10 years as Director of Economic Development. I have lived in Hertford County most of my life. I have heard the plea from my fellow residents about our need for job opportunities for our children. I have seen widows struggle to pay their property taxes because we have one of the highest tax rates in the State. I have seen teenagers go astray because there was no hope for their future. I have seen millions of dollars spent attempting to train individuals for jobs that do not exist. I can stand before you telling you about the economic plight and statistics of Hertford County and northeastern North Carolina, but you are very much aware of our need.

I have heard Hertford County and northeastern North Carolina residents say hopefully, "If we could get an IBM or BMW, things would change." The reality is that we do not have the infrastructure in northeastern North Carolina to attract this type of high tech firm. Nucor has agreed to come to Hertford County if North Carolina is willing to make an investment in the future of northeastern North Carolina through this tax credit package. It is my opinion that Nucor offers more to North Carolina than our people have hoped for. Nucor is willing to train motivated individuals who truly seek a better standard of living. In addition, Nucor will pay some of the highest if not the highest manufacturing wages in the State.

Hertford County has an existing real estate tax base of $600,000,000. Nucor is willing to invest an amount equal to one-half of Hertford County's present real estate value into the county with a commitment from North Carolina. While Nucor is seeking tax credits, the impact goes far beyond the mill itself. We anticipate as many as 25 additional facilities locating in the region as a result of Nucor. We anticipate as many as 1,000 jobs as a result of Nucor's location.

I have heard comments that this package is worth $517,000 per job. I disagree with this claim because there will be many more than 300 jobs created as a result of this facility. Furthermore, these incentives are spread over a 20 to 25 year time period. This represents an annual incentive of approximately $7 million. I am sure the State spends more than $7 million per year in northeastern North Carolina in the Judicial system, social reform programs and training for jobs that do not exist. Why not offer a tax credit to someone who will offer jobs to residents so that they can stay out of court and become responsible, productive citizens that all of North Carolina can be proud of.

I have heard concerns that people living in Virginia will cross over the line to work at Nucor, thus taking jobs intended for North Carolina residents. Let me assure you this is not likely to happen. It has been indicated that these are North Carolina jobs that will be filled by people who live in North Carolina.

I know that this is a large request. This is not a giveaway. It is an investment in northeastern North Carolina. If you want a piece of the pie, a small piece is better than no pie at all. It is reported that North Carolina will receive nearly $13 for each $1 invested in Nucor. When you agree to credits of $155 million, you are agreeing to accept a $2 billion return on your investment.

An editorial in the "Charlotte Observer" on June 8, 1998 stated that "Hertford County would not attract a major employer without substantial State investment" it concluded that the incentive package will "require legislative approval and deserves it."

I ask that you respond favorably to this package and northeastern North Carolina with your affirmative vote.

Thank you.

William S. Early, Executive Director
Hertford County Economic Development Commission

Summary of Remarks Made by Professor Mark S. Miller

Although the name Federal Express does not appear anywhere in the bill you will be considering, passage of this bill will provide millions of dollars of tax incentives to allow FedEx to build an unwanted cargo hub at the Piedmont Triad International Airport. I say unwanted because the citizens who are supposed to benefit from this so-called economic development package don't want and don't need this cargo hub. For the past 25 years, the Guilford County Board of Commissioners has consistently zoned the surrounding area of the airport for residential housing. This was done to build up the real estate tax base and attract light industry and business to the area. In fact, if it hadn't been for this steady economic growth in our area, we probably wouldn't even be here discussing this bill. Up until this residential expansion, Greensboro lacked the financial tax base, the people, the demographics, and the school system that would attract a company like FedEx to our city. Creation of this cargo hub, with its proposed night-time and early morning flights for the sake of 1500 mostly part-time jobs at a cost to tax payers of $95000 per job, will result in the destruction of approximately 3000 to 4000 homes numbering 12000 to 16000 people. We will have this growth anyway. Our highway system and central location makes the Western Piedmont area a highly desirable location that will continue to attract industry, whether FedEx comes or not. To sacrifice the community structure and way of life of what will end up being close to 20% of the population in both North and Southwest Guilford county to line the pockets of a few wealthy businessmen and women on the Chamber of Commerce and County Board of Commissioners makes absolutely no economic, moral, or humanitarian sense. Because that is what this economic growth is about - making the wealthiest members of our community a little more wealthy at the expense of everyone else. If you pass this bill as is, you will essentially be allowing FedEx and the Airport Authority to arbitrarily destroy $560 million dollars worth of homes over the protests of the people most affected by this decision.

The citizens of Guilford County don't understand how, in a supposedly participatory democracy, these decisions have been made without our permission or consultation. There has been no community input, as FedEx and the Airport Authority have consistently refused to discuss this issue with residents. Their attitude has been that this is a "Done Deal" and you will vote how they wish. If you pass this bill as is, you are sending a clear message to every voter in this state that we are basically "for sale" to the highest bidder. Is that the kind of enlightened government you envision for us and our families? Why were we allowed to vote on the baseball tax referendum and not the airport expansion? Probably because, as some of you may remember, we already voted on this issue several years ago when a Global TransPark cargo hub was first proposed for the Greensboro airport. With a smaller community and much less homes involved, you heard our protests and created, at considerable taxpayers expense, a cargo hub center in Kinston. FedEx's claims that this is not good enough for them are, quite frankly, too bad. They can huff and puff all they want about going elsewhere, but the truth of the matter is that they want to be in North Carolina - this is the only place that makes sense for them both geographically and economically, and they won't get a better deal than the one you're offering.

I and others have sent many of you letters and E-mails detailing the negative consequences of this bill, our concerns about safety, and the severe impact on pollution in our area, all factors that have not been taken into account by the phoney and hyped economic reports FedEx and our Chamber of Commerce are producing. Ladies and gentlemen, the truth of the matter is that the airport is too close, and the cities of Geensboro and High Point are too small, to safely accommodate this type of air and ground traffic. We can have economic development in our area without this type of noisy and dangerous industry in our backyards. The bullying behavior of the Airport Authority and FedEx has not made us feel any easier about their promises to you to minimize impact on our communities, and if you give them this green light by passing a bill with tax incentives, they will be emboldened to plunge ahead and roll right over us. I, and many of my fellow citizens, are here to ask you to properly represent us and prevent the destruction of our communities against our expressed wishes. If you feel you cannot vote against this bill because of the need to fund other programs, then use your collective wisdom to amend it in such a way that will make funding contingent on FedEx going to Global TransPark, where they belong, and not the PTI airport. Kinston needs the economic growth, the representatives from Kinston will tell you they want FedEx there, and the majority of citizens in our area don't want them in our backyards. There is a reason why every community that has been given the opportunity to vote on this issue has turned down the placement of a FedEx cargo hub in their area - that should be more than sufficient warning to make you realize this is an inappropriate industry for our community.

SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIAL

Since the announcement on Monday, April 13th at the PTI airport there has been much misinformation spread regarding the FedEx deal, the proposed expansion of the airport, and how political decisions are made in both Guilford County and in Raleigh. At the moment, there is no finalized contract between FedEx and PTI. We assume that FedEx is waiting to see if Governor Hunt and the General Assembly will deliver up the necessary funds and financial incentives, despite the fact that FedEx is a profitable $11.5 billion corporation and that the General Assembly has already spent (wasted?) millions of dollars of taxpayer money on Kinston to attract air cargo industries. If Governor Hunt is so sure that FedEx is right for Greensboro, why did he not designate FedEx appropriations as a stand alone bill that could be honestly debated in an open forum in Raleigh instead of attaching it to much needed appropriations bills for the rest of the state?

Looking at the so-called economic benefits to our area, we do not understand how the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce comes up with their numbers. Using the very same numbers (1500 mostly part-time jobs versus $275 million in tax incentives), a conservative figure of $95,000 of taxpayer money spent per part-time job created appears. Of course, that is the best case scenario. In the past, and of course the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce knows this, FedEx has failed to deliver up the promised jobs. For example, in Dallas-Forth Worth, FedEx announced in 1993 that it would create 600 full-time jobs. They have yet to deliver. All of this is very interesting since Greensboro and the surrounding communities have full employment and this may impact negatively on existing businesses that need to hire, too.

The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce also tells us that it is not the jobs created by FedEx per se, but all the ancillary businesses that move to an area because of FedEx that creates this economic bonanza. Although some firms will relocate to be near FedEx, many will come anyway because of the vast network of interstates that meet in Guilford County. Trucking is still cheaper than air cargo delivery. Imagine, we could have increased business activity without the added noise, increased pollution, and congestion that an air cargo hub brings. Why won't the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce run those numbers for us? Then perhaps all of us in Guilford County could make better informed decisions regarding the future direction of Guilford County and not leave it to the business elite who only understand the dollar.

The construction of a cargo warehouse and third runway in the current proposed plans would assure the deterioration of a 5 million dollar real estate tax base in the Northwest section of Greensboro and the destruction of the quality of life and property values of 3,000 to 4,000 homes consisting of 12,000 to 16,000 people. If houses within the first mile and a half of the proposed third runway are green zoned (assuming 2,800 houses are condemned because of their nearness to the airport), Guilford County loses a minimum of houses worth $560 million and the tax base and local businesses that support these communities. If the citizens of Guilford County do their math, they would find that these numbers are not as rosy for the residents of Guilford County as the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce likes to pretend. Their glowing projections regarding the economic benefits of the Greensboro Coliseum never panned out either.

To accommodate FedEx, the airport says it needs to build a third runway. This is rather incredulous considering that this airport only operates at 35% capacity. Perhaps the airport authority is using FedEx to create the opportunity to have built, at taxpayer's expense, a 3rd runway. The airport's position is that this proposed runway has been on the books since 1968, and all those that have moved into the area since (now numbering 20 subdivisions) ought to have known this. However, the runway originally on the books in 1968 was for a small runway to handle private pleasure planes, not a 10,000 foot long monstrosity aimed directly over a heavily populated ring of residential subdivisions. What the airport also failed to tell FedEx, and perhaps the rest of Guilford County, is that since 1968 the Guilford County Board of Commissioners has repeatedly zoned for residential communities and against airport expansion. The proposed runway that the airport wants to build will now be about 1500 feet from the nearest legally zoned homes. The current Guilford Board of County Commissioners has repeatedly refused to honor its predecessors commitment to the communities of Northwest Guilford County. The rest of Guilford County should understand that if this Board does not honor its moral responsibility to the decisions made by previous boards, whose properties are safe in Guilford County?

Perhaps the Airport Authority and business elite already understand that to accommodate the third runway the FAA will condemn most of the residential communities within Northwest Guilford County. At RDU Airport, an airport within our same state, a 3 mile nonresidential area at the end of its runways is required. RDU airport has compiled 55 decibel noise cones (as recommended by EPA and HUD) for future use, while the Greensboro airport has been allowed to operate without noise monitors. At this point, all of the noise maps shown by the PTI airport are theoretical projections, and it is amazing that when one looks at the two parallel runways, the one currently being used has a 2 mile noise cone extension while the new proposed runway's noise cone mysteriously stops just short of the residential area a scant 1500 feet away. If the same safeguards are established that currently are in force at RDU, there is a strong likelihood that a number of subdivisions will have to be razed. If the same safeguards are not mandated in the Greensboro area, then communities are being placed at risk. Why hasn't PTI addressed this issue? Perhaps it is because PTI understands that to raze people's homes would be very unpopular within Guilford County and many within the County would question the right of a governmental agency to do so.

PTI claims that noise is not an issue. At present, noise is not an issue. PTI, as said before, operates at 35% capacity. There are few flights (probably 5-6) going over residential communities at night. Does Mr. Johnson really think that if FedEx operates from 11 P.M. - 5 A.M., he is not going to get noise complaints? Common sense should tell him that, as you increase flights during the wee hours of the morning, noise complaints will increase accordingly. The idea that 95% of the flights will take off and land from the Southwestern end of the airport is ludicrous. Nature is not going to cooperate with Mr. Smith and Mr. Johnson because of their say-so, and it is very likely that weather conditions will force them to use the northeastern, residential side of the airport 20-30% of the time. More importantly, even if they could control the weather, when those planes get ready to take-off, they will have to start from the residential end of the runway, and they will be revving those engines to full take-off speed a scant 1500 feet from the nearest homes. If folks along Battleground and the subdivisions around Oak Hollow Mall think they will not hear aircraft at all hours of the morning, they are in for a rude awakening. In all likelihood, 20-25% of the citizens of all of Guilford County will be affected by the noise and truck traffic.

Aside from the noise issue, there are legitimate concerns regarding the increase in truck traffic and the subsequent environmental and safety issues. Isn't air pollution a concern? Don't we already have too many orange alerts indicating that the air quality is below acceptable standards? Is there no concern that a giant complex (larger than PTI's passenger terminal) will be built so close to residential communities that it will bathe the area in artificial light, in effect turning night into day? Why hasn't anyone expressed any concern over the fact that the majority of accidents and crashes involving aircraft (and FedEx has had 7 this past year alone) occur within 2-3 miles of the runway, during either take-off or landing, which would in this case be in the residential areas currently in line with the proposed runway? None of theses issues have been adequately addressed by either FedEx or the Airport Authority, who have refused to meet with the community-at-large. Why did they refuse to attend Representative Wood's open forum? All of this points to the conclusion that FedEx does not belong near residential communities. The PTI airport is too close and Greensboro is too small a city to accommodate this type of cargo traffic, both in the air and on the ground.

It is interesting that FedEx insisted upon secret negotiations and the Airport Authority acquiesced. Why? Why, in a participatory democracy, were the citizens that would be most affected not allowed any input? What does FedEx have to hide? What does the Airport Authority have to hide? Why were our fellow citizens in Raleigh-Durham kept apprised and allowed to voice their opinion prior to a final decision? Why was Greensboro not allowed the same consideration? Why do our elected officials here in Guilford County and in Raleigh always think they know what's best for us? If they are so sure of the rightness of their position, why won't they allow open debate and full disclosure prior to giving away our tax dollars?

The citizens of Guilford County need to be given the opportunity to ask the hard questions, get the facts, and not rely on misinformation being fed by FedEx, the PTI Airport Authority, the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, or the governor. Anytime a community was given all the facts regarding FedEx, the community at-large, not just the neighboring residents, have asked FedEx not to come. Find out why. You will then probably come to the same conclusion that many of us have; Kinston is the place for FedEx, not Greensboro.

TESTIMONY OF DAN GERLACH
SENIOR FISCAL POLICY ANALYST
NORTH CAROLINA BUDGET AND TAX CENTER
JUNE 26, 1998

Good afternoon. My name is Dan Gerlach and I am the Senior Fiscal Policy Analyst for the North Carolina Budget and Tax Center, which provides timely, credible and accessible analysis of state budget and tax policy issues. We have released several analyses of business tax burden and the William S. Lee Act tax incentives, so our interest in this topic is longstanding. We do not believe that the Economic Opportunity Act will necessarily result in giving the store away. Yet it does have some troublesome provisions that need addressing and does need substantial, independent evaluation to ensure the taxpayers are getting their money's worth and we have protection from legal action.

The General Assembly's consideration of incentives must involve four questions:

- Would the company have located here without an incentive package?
- Do the incentives set bad precedents for tax policy?
- What are the opportunity costs for enacting these incentives?
- How will we make sure that the incentives are accomplishing their goals?

The Budget and Tax Center has expressed grave concerns about incentives in the past, especially the Lee Act, since North Carolina's business tax burden is relatively low and since the Lee Act served to expand benefits to those areas already rewarded by a free market. In our judgement, incentives are appropriate to remedy market failure. It is perfectly reasonable to enact strategies to encourage economic growth in areas missing out on the economic boom, such as the northeastern part of the State, and it is reasonable to encourage the creation of high-quality jobs in a State that lacks them for many of our citizens.

But the Federal Express and Nucor incentives both rank among the top ten most expensive incentive packages offered by any state in the last decade. Has the State gone too far in accelerating the incentives race?

Federal Express

The average pay for a full-time job at the Federal Express hub is $34,000, or $654 a week. This is 23 percent above the average weekly wage for Guilford County and 19 percent above the average weekly wage for Forsyth County. Also, part-time work with full benefits (as offered by Federal Express) is quite rare. Only 15 percent of firms offered such benefits to part-time, blue-collar employees in 1995. The new tax credits and exemptions cost $2.4 million annually in 1999-2000, grow to $5.3 million by 2002-03 and then decline to $2.5 million annually by 2019-2020.

The General Assembly must decide if the location of the airport near many major interstate highways and close to major population centers would have outweighed incentives offered by other locations to Federal Express. Policymakers must also decide if any of the tax changes risks embarking on a "slippery slope" with our basic tax structure. We are concerned with the proposed extension of an investment tax credit for operating leases. North Carolina already provides a tax credit for capital leases, which makes sense. A capital lease requires the company that uses the equipment to count the equipment as a liability on its books, allows the company that uses the equipment to buy it at the end of the lease, or has payments or a time period for the lease for a substantial amount of its cost or period of probable usefulness. An operating lease does not have these characteristics. What guarantee does the State have that this investment will remain in North Carolina, if it remains the property of the company with which Federal Express contracts?

Federal Express would create 750 new jobs by 2002. 750 jobs is equal to 0.3 percent of Guilford County's 1997 labor force. The multiplier effect may result in an additional 1704 jobs, or 0.8 percent of the 1997 labor force. The total incentive package annually, if instead dedicated entirely to public school education, would increase spending by $106 per public school pupil in Guilford County, or 2.1 percent above current state and local spending.

Nucor

The average pay of Nucor employees is estimated at $60,000 annually, or $1153.85 a week. This wage rate is three times the average weekly wage in Hertford County today. Nucor will create 350 new jobs and the multiplier effect will result in the creation of 595 other jobs. Together, these jobs represent 9.6 percent of the 1997 Hertford County labor force and 3.0 percent of the 1997 labor force for Bertie, Gates, Northampton and Hertford counties combined. The new tax credits and grants to Nucor will total $3.0 million this year and will increase to $15.0 million annually by 2003-04. $3.0 million in grants and credits is almost ten percent above the amount of local tax levy Hertford County provided its schools in 1995-96 ($2.7 million). If provided to schools in the four counties listed above, it would increase public school spending by $372 per pupil, ranging from a 7.2 percent increase in Gates to an 8.7 percent increase in Hertford.

It is my estimation that Nucor could have found many similar places to locate a plant, since the northeastern counties aren't blessed with many population centers or transportation hubs. Yet the incentives for this company are enormous. The largest part of the package, the reinvestment credit, not only eliminates the entire income and franchise tax liability for the company, but also provides a cash payment from the State to the company for development of rail, roads, water system infrastructure or other industrial sites. The General Assembly must gauge whether this development will help attract successor or additional enterprises, since the taxpayers are largely financing the costs. Does this credit give Nucor the incentive to build a plant, invest in these types of development at public expense and then sell the plant and associated development at a profit?

What to Do Next

In 1996, when the General Assembly enacted the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act, there was a tacit understanding that the State would go this far, but not farther, and that a close, independent examination of incentives would follow in 2002. The Economic Opportunity Act of 1998 may violate that understanding, although the Commerce Department could justify these deals as unique and unforseen opportunities.

The General Assembly must now follow President Reagan's advice "to trust and verify." You have been virtually handed a fait d'accompli with this package, so I believe it will be enacted. But you must demand the following:

1. Evaluate the Lee Act as is required by law. The summary release of the agreement with Federal Express noted that "both parties would work to extend or eliminate the sunset on the William S. Lee Act." The jury is still out on the Lee Act. It only accounts for 3 percent of the total incentive package for Federal Express. An article in NCCBI's magazine noted that many of the Lee Act credits had been provided for businesses locating in our booming urban areas where businesses have already been sited. The evaluation must still occur and should be independent.
2. Demand more comprehensive cost-benefit analyses. The costs of a project are not limited to foregone tax revenues. Both projects will place additional demands on local public services and both have the potential for negative externalities -- Nucor for environmental concerns and Fed Ex for airport noise for local homeowners. Further, the benefits must be carefully analyzed. Nucor should provide data on its employees, so policymakers can see how incentives have helped our northeast county citizens, as opposed to Virginians or Nucor employees transferring from other plants. Companies locating to the region should be asked if Federal Express and Nucor played a role in their decision to locate in these areas.
3. Mandate frequent tax expenditure reporting. The last tax expenditure report issued by the Department of Revenue was in 1992. An analysis conducted at my request by the Corporation for Enterprise Development in Chapel Hill estimated that tax expenditures geared at promotion of economic development totaled $415 million in 1996-97. Given that size, the General Assembly should be reviewing such tax incentives for success or failure much as it reviews items in the budget. Both deserve the same level of scrutiny.

4. Check our legal ground. A growing trend in the legal research on incentives concludes that these types of tax credits may violate the interstate commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution, much as the U.S. Supreme Court found that our intangibles tax was in violation. In the past, competitors of those companies which receive incentives may have been reluctant to bring legal action, since the State would merely take away the credits from the competitors, but not provide them to every business. But if these credits could be considered to be part of a contract between these companies and the State, much like the exemption of government retiree pensions from the individual income tax, then the State could end up having to extend the credit to all other companies as well. Make sure our legal ground is solid.

5. Fully understand the opportunity costs. Your colleagues on the Appropriations Committee are busily explaining the lack of available money to various constituency groups and advocates. The first-year state and local incentive costs for Fed Ex and Nucor total $5.4 million. This $5.4 million could be used to provide child care subsidies for over 3600 children, provide Medicaid services to almost 2000 elderly North Carolinians, or reduce the developmentally disabled waiting list over 1250 people. Do the opportunities presented by Nucor and Fed Ex outweigh these needs?

Thank you for your time.

Statement to the House Finance Committee Public Hearing on HB 1688 /SB 1569 Economic Opportunities Act

By Randy Harrell
President
North Carolina Economic Developers Association
1997-1998

Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, good afternoon.

My name is Randy Harrell and I am the Executive Director of the Elizabeth City-Pasquotank County Economic Development Commission. It is indeed a privilege and pleasure to have the opportunity to appear before you today and I thank investments. By providing incentives, the State of North Carolina will generate a profitable return. That return will be in the creation of new jobs and retaining jobs for the citizens of North Carolina. Economic Development takes place in a highly competitive arena. Competition has become fierce. Many states offer incentives to a corporation or a business in an effort to increase the chances that the corporation or business will locate in the state. North Carolina must do the same.

Thank you.

the House Finance Committee for calling this public hearing.

I am one of many developers who represent counties and cities across North Carolina, but today, I am here not only as a concerned citizen and a developer, but as a representative for many of my colleagues across this Great State.

I have the distinct privilege of serving as President of the NCEDA. NCEDA is the statewide organization of professional economic developers in North Carolina. Our members work daily to recruit new business to the state and assist and encourage the expansion of existing industry.

We applaud Representative Lyons Gray, Senator David Hoyle, and the Department of Commerce for producing this legislation. It is an important statement that North Carolina wishes to compete for major economic development projects. For too long North Carolina has declined to compete for these businesses and watched the major projects with their jobs and investments go to other states.

Of the two projects in this bill, the one closest to my home is the Hertford County Recycling steel mill. This project will bring several hundred jobs, at average salaries of $60,000, to an area desperately in need of investment and employment opportunities. This would not have happened without the incentive package in this legislation. Nucor has the kind of enviable reputation that allows it to ask for strong incentives.

In addition to the direct benefits of the project, the Nucor facility will bring a host of additional benefits. People directly involved with the project predict the facility will bring additional major investments related to Nucor's operation. Small businesses will expand as Nucor's wages spread throughout the local economy. And the region will benefit by the proof of what we in the Northeast have said all along; the region is good for business. In addition, the Nucor facility will have no negative environmental impact.

The other project, FedEx's proposed facility in Greensboro, is another catalyst project. By building up the distribution facilities of the State, an important groundwork is being laid. This has been demonstrated in the famous Alliance Airport in Texas. Commerce will now have a strengthened hand to recruit companies dependent (on just in time inventory).

We have always been the good roads state and that form of infrastructure is truly an asset. But as more transportation options develop, North Carolina must stay in the forefront. A regional airfreight hub facility keeps us ahead of the pack.

In conclusion, these two projects are important investments in North Carolina. The fact of their incentive packages should not be reviewed as a "free hand" to offer any incentive for any project. Incentives should be limited by the benefits of the project and the necessity of incentives in each instance. Incentives are not "giveaways" but

In Greensboro then

Ladies and Gentlemen please put your wallets and purses on the table so I can take your money from them to start my own business in N.C.. I would rather use your money than my own.
Funny - NO! Serious? YES

There is a feeding frenzy going on in our state with multi billion dollar Corporations feeding on our taxpayer money. It is a severe Political problem as well.

Bill Lee had a good idea. However the Business developer/recruiters from the Chamber of Commerce and other like organizations and lobbyists tread your offices daily have distorted the good intentions to the point that state incentive money and tax credits under the guise promised future benefit even contribute to the cancers of our state treasure that our tax revenue base may be in danger and our Bond rating could fall to a costly level.

See Act basic principles
WILLIAMS LEE ACT

Philosophy Underlying Credits

OBJECTIVES ARE GOOD

- Recruit new companies into NC, or encourage existing companies to add jobs or productive capacity, upgrade worker training, invest in product-related research
- Add capacity, improve competitiveness
- Focus on job quality -- wage requirement NO ADEQUATE CONTROLS
- Target larger incentives to more distressed parts of the state for job creation, investment or worker training IS TRIAD A DISTRESSED AREA? UNEMPLOYMENT AT LESS THAN 3%! YET THE STATE WANTS TO GIVE 11$ MILLION # IN INCENTIVES TO FEDERAL EXPRESS!

A FEW MILLION HERE, A FEW MILLION THERE, AND PRETTY SOON YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT BIG MONEY!

There is good development and bad development.
This out-of-control feeding frenzy has now gotten so hyped that millions of taxpayer dollars are even demanded for Federal Express and the Triad Airport Authority to support an unnecessary parallel runway with absolutely no consideration for the safety of the lives of human beings 2800 homes - 16 000 people within 4 miles and some only 1500 feet from the proposed runway
And all this for an airport now operating at 35% of capacity
Ludicrous as well as unfunded
Residents have proposed an alternative extension of an existing runway that will not impact on residential areas and cost a mere fraction of the existing plan, saving millions of State, Federal and County increasingly scarce moneys and millions of related infrastructure costs.
The Fed Ex (CARGO CARRIER) inclusion in this bill is a shoddy political maneuver to mix undesirable, unsafe development with possibly good development to gain passage for Fed-Ex's benefit. This should be deleted and treated separately because of the human safety and alternative plan factors and its lesser costs.

You have the opportunity Now to say NO. NO to this extension of Corporate Welfare and protect our taxpayers funds for Education, Health and general well being of people - human beings!

Anchea Walls

The Bill to amend the William S. Lee Act as it stands presently, will set a precedent North Carolina cannot afford.

Giving and increasing incentive packages to multi billion dollar companies to locate in areas like the Triad does not make business sense.

We are for progress and we are for companies like FedEx but not at this extreme expense to the taxpayers, our infrastructure as well as existing and future businesses.

These incentive packages being offered are so generous the expense may outweigh the benefits..

N.C. never seems to have enough tax money for schools, roads, and basic programs for the people but when a multibillion-dollar company wants to locate in N.C. suddenly there is plenty?

Where is the money going to come from and who and what N.C.program will have to sacrifice for this company that measures it wealth in billions and wanted to come to the Triad to begin with.

Many advocates will justify the hundreds of millions being spent because Fed Ex will bring other companies to the Triad. But will legislators have to manipulate another bill to fit their specific needs and spend hundreds of more millions of taxpayers money to bring them here? Where does the Ball stop?

We know many legislators do not like giving incentives but many justify it by saying we will lose out to other states.

An article in The Triad Business News, April 17th,1998 issue ,John Rees, a professor from UNC Greensboro, said "incentives do not play as large a role in corporate decisions as people think. More important are factors such as cost , available labor, and the availability of transportation."

The Piedmont Triad has 97% employment rate. This was accomplished with out excessive and specific incentive packages to large companies. Our taxpaying money has been going to build our infrastructure . The great access to major highways, good schools, central location and has made companies like Fed Ex choose the Triad based on its own merits. But how can we continue to build our infrastructure and attract more businesses when our tax money is going to profitable businesses?

Giving incentives packages in prosperous cities like the Triad will complicate issues.

1) Who will monitor the promises the incentive companies make for money invested , jobs, and wages?
2) Is there any mechanism in government to payback the public if incentives companies do not deliver on promises?
3) If an existing taxpaying company starts losing employees to non-taxpaying incentive companies don't you think there will be resentment?
4) What if an existing taxpaying company threatens to leave do we offer incentives to keep them here?
5) At what point do these increased incentives affect investment bond rating? How many existing companies will we alienate before we realize this is not right and costs too much?.

These are questions that should be answered before this bill is considered. We want continued growth and development but not at the expense to taxpaying residents, our infrastructure, existing companies and future companies that want to locate in N. C.

Please postpone the voting of this Bill until all these questions today are addressed.

Thank You

JIM HOGAN - GREENSBORO

Ladies and Gentlemen I come here today to voice my opposition to the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998 as it is now written. I believe portions of this act to be a gross misuse of public funds. Philosophically I have strong reservations against financial support by government for any private commercial enterprise. However, as a practical matter, I can understand and support your efforts to attract major companies to blighted, economically depressed areas of the state; areas which these companies would otherwise avoid. A paper from the Commerce Committee titled Philosophy Underlying Credits Under William S. Lee Act supports my view. It clearly states that large incentives be targeted to distressed areas of the state.

If this was the intent of the William S. Lee Act, and I believe it was; how can you justify an amendment that gives millions of dollars in credits to a milti-billion dollar company wanting to locate in the Triad. This area of our state is far from "distressed" – it is vibrant. We in the area are blessed with nearly full employment. Our population is educated and skilled. Our infrastructure, conducive to further business development as it now stands, is slated for major improvements in the near future. The area is consistently ranked among the top places in the nation in which to raise a family. In short, we have an overall business environment that is attractive on its own merits, without incentives.

Many have voiced the opinion that if North Carolina does not wholeheartedly jump on this corporate welfare bandwagon major development opportunity will pass us by as the corporate giants go elsewhere. I submit to you that the financial incentives pertaining to the establishment of an air courier hub in Greensboro were not an essential part of the decision of Federal Express to locate in the area. In fact, their decision was made over two years ago when they informed their employees that their mid-Atlantic facility was targeted for Greensboro. The fact that every level of government is now willing to shower public money upon them is just icing on the cake.

I fear that this amendment, if passed, will set us upon a slippery slope. When will the handouts stop? Wouldn't other corporations expect to receive their slice of the pie? Who will foot the bill for the infrastructure required to support all the new development? If the large corporations are not paying their fair share, who will take up the slack? Small business? Working people?

Serious review must be made of this proposed amendment. Substantial incentives exist in the current law. Why is it necessary to expand what is already a lucrative package? There is really no need to rush this legislation. FedEx is not projecting to be in operation until 2003. If the increased incentives are such a good thing, sever them from this bill and propose them as stand alone legislation in your next full session.

Thank you.

Mr. Chairman, Members, and Guests:

My name is Christine Peeler and I live in Greensboro.

First, I would like to call your attention to Section 11 and 12, Part 3 and 4, of Senate Bill 1569 or the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998, which is a modification of the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act. Why is the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority--a public body--being exempted from the bidding law? Part 3 grants exemption to the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority from getting sealed bids, which are then opened simultaneously in public, in connection with this project (the proposed FedEx hub in Greensboro and related construction projects) for a period of 5 years. This bidding law was instituted by the N.C. Legislature--in its wisdom--to prevent corruption in the awarding of construction contracts.

Why suspend a N.C. statute you created yourselves?

Secondly, how do you feel as a legislator knowing that all this proposed state tax money will be going to one specific company--Federal Express, an $11.5 billion dollar corporation--to locate in an area that is not economically depressed? As stated by others, Greensboro has a less than 3% unemployment rate. Many employers in our area are as nervous as that long-tailed cat in a room full of rockers about the prospect of FedEx coming to Greensboro. Why? Because they are facing labor shortages; some are begging for people. They are wondering "Where is FedEx going to get their employees from?" Will their employees leave to see if the "grass is greener" at FedEx? It seems to me we have a responsibility to and should have loyalty to the companies we have now in Greensboro: What about their labor needs? Why should they be expected to pay taxes that an $11.5 billion dollar corporation does not have to pay? Fairness is a real issue here.

It has been said that these FedEx jobs will get people off public assistance. I would like to read an excerpt from a letter to the Editor of the News and Record:

> "I am employed by a large institution within walking distance of areas where people on assistance live. We provide training, full-time work and excellent benefits, and cannot fill our vacant positions, which pay much better than FedEx wages." (6/22/98)

Thirdly, were any of you just a little bit surprised when the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce and the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority announced that FedEx was coming to Greensboro and these are the tax incentives they are going to get...before any of you had a chance to discuss and vote on this? They presented it as a "done deal"--both to you and to the community of Greensboro, including those 20,000 residents who are going to be negatively impacted by the proposed third runway, 10,000 of them from 2,500 feet to 2 miles in distance from this runway. Somebody made a commitment to FedEx on behalf of the legislature regarding tax incentives. Are we not still a government of the people, by the people, and for the people? Our own representative says he heard of this "done deal" just 2 hours before it was announced.

We many thousands of people who live in Northwest Guilford County--who are productive, responsible, caring citizens, who contribute greatly to the welfare of the Triad as a whole--are feeling betrayed. We are being dismissed as expendable for "the greater good," although that concept never meant that if harm came to some folks, it was O.K.

Many of you may not be aware that the proposed third runway is NOT at the airport; it is opposite the airport on the OTHER side of a major highway--Bryan Boulevard--which is why the need for huge bridges and tunnels to taxi planes back and forth, and why the need for rerouting a heavily travelled road--Old Oak Ridge Road.

The land surrounding this small strip of land the airport owns on the other side of Bryan Boulevard has been zoned "residential" for 25 years. People in the established communities there put a lot of time, effort, money, and love into their homes and communities. An elderly couple next door to me hoped to retire in peace and quiet there, hoped to see their home grow in value (as it should), so that when they must sell it, they will have enough money for their remaining years. Just within the first 1/2 mile to 2 miles of this proposed third runway site are 2,800 homes in the $200,000 to $500,000 category. Has anybody counted the cost of buying these homes as the Airport Authority in Indianapolis, where a FedEx hub is located, has had to do? In Indianapolis they have had to buy homes as far as 4 miles out--958 in all so far. It would cost many hundreds of millions, conservatively speaking, to buy the Greensboro homes.

I know you are being bombarded by the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce's and the Airport Authority's propaganda machine and their lawyers about the benefits of FedEx locating in Greensboro. But you need also to consider the costs: not only in the tax incentives, but in the costs to existing businesses, and in the human misery that will be generated by the FedEx proposal as it now stands.

Please carefully consider all these costs as well as the possible, not assured, but possible benefits. What is the hurry in passing this legislation? Allow time to study these questions. There is more to this than meets the eye.

Statement on the "Economic Opportunity Act" by John Hood, President

John Locke Foundation

June 25, 1998

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: Some supporters of the tax incentives contained in the Economic Opportunity Act have compared them to playing poker. One senator argued that while offering incentives doesn't guarantee, it is a necessary first step. He said: "In this game, you can play or you lose."

The poker analogy is a good one, though not in the way he meant it. After all, to play poker well one must, in the words of a famous song, "know when to hold 'em and know when to fold 'em." It is particularly important not to throw good money after bad, and not to play in a game that has all the markings of being rigged.

Here lies the problem. The tax incentive game is being played with a stacked deck. All too often, firms make decisions based on objective criteria — such as labor costs and proximity to markets— and then bluff the state or locality in question to toss additional tax breaks or other subsidies into the pot. It is foolish to play a game in which it is virtually impossible to win anything that you don't already have coming to you.

There is little evidence that states that offer special tax incentives create more jobs or income growth than do states that maintain tax equality. The most recent academic treatment is Industrial Incentives: Competition Among American States and Cities, just published by the Upjohn Institute for Employment Research. The coauthors are sympathetic to the idea that incentives might affect some location decisions. But they are honest scholars and admit that research has yet to establish such a link. They write: "The incentives taken in the aggregate are still not enough to clearly offset the effects of state taxes."

The risk that incentives are merely gifts to companies already moving to a jurisdiction can be seen in both of the recent locations motivating the Economic Opportunity Act. The fact that Federal Express was likely to locate a regional hub at Piedmont Triad Airport was an open secret during the months of negotiation among competing sites.

James Donnelly, a spokesman for FedEx, told us that while "financial considerations were an important factor in the decision, the overriding factor was how well operations at this airport would help us serve our customers." Similarly, an official of Nucor Corp. told Locke earlier this month that the company selects its sites by looking at rail, water, land, and labor force needs. After making the decision on those grounds, Nucor negotiates for tax or other incentives.

The bottom line is that in both the FedEx and Nucor cases, state incentives were either marginal or irrelevant to the investments — and cannot confidently be given credit for "creating" the jobs in question.

There is still another problem. Even if the "development zones," expansions of Bill Lee Act tax credits, and other provisions of the bill could be shown to enhance the state's economy, they would still likely run afoul of the state constitution, which requires that the power of taxation be exercised in "a just and equitable manner." Two cases are relevant here. One is the 1941 case of County of Rockingham vs. Board of Trustees of Elon College, in which the court found that "the thesis of the Constitution is that all similarly situated are entitled to the same treatment from the government they support." Based on this concept of equitable taxation, the state should not be able to differentiate firms on the basis of location and assess different income tax rates to them.

Another case is even more on point, the Hajoca Corp. v. Clayton case of 1971. In that case, the Supreme Court held that a state sales tax increase that occurred in only 25 of the state's 100 counties was unconstitutional. A state tax, such as the income tax or the state portion of the sales tax, must apply equal to all firms within an industry class, regardless of location. Local taxes, of course, such as property taxes or occupancy taxes authorized by local referenda, can and do vary by city or county.

I can virtually guarantee that the tax credit portions of the Economic Opportunity Act, and probably the Bill Lee Act itself, are going to be challenged in court. You might want to keep that in mind in your deliberations.

The special tax credits already included in the Bill Lee Act will cost the state $77 million in revenues by FY 2001 — nearly enough to cut the corporate income tax rate for everyone by an additional percentage point. Any new incentives will further distort the tax system. Given that North Carolina continues to impose relatively high tax rates on individual and corporate income, reducing that burden while maintaining and improving the quality of core services such as public education and law enforcement would promote economic development across the state, fairly and efficiently, without turning the tax code into Swiss cheese and favoring big business over small business. Thank you.

HALIFAX DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION

Mr. Chairman and Honorable Legislators, my name is George W. Draper, Jr.; I am the Mayor of Weldon and Chairman of the Halifax Development Commission. I appear before you today to speak in support of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998 – Senate Bill 1569 and House 1688.

Halifax County and the entire Northeast Region have historically been economically distressed – economically handicapped. In fact, of the state's Tier I counties, those that are most economically distressed, 7 of the 10 are in the Northeast, with Halifax being one of those.

The William S. Lee Act provided us some excellent tools that helped us all to become more competitive. However, if we are to be in a position to land the large projects, those that can have a profound impact on the economic well being of the entire region, we must have the incentives that are provided in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998.

The Nucor plant announced in Hertford County is such a project. The impact of the location of Nucor in Hertford County will be felt throughout the region. We in Halifax County are tremendously excited about Nucor and what it will mean in spin off companies that may consider us for a location. In addition, there is a large project considering our county that could create the same opportunities as Nucor. To land this project we need the incentives provided in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998. The ramifications of the jobs and investment that this company would bring would have a tremendous positive effect on our economy and help us break the cycle of poverty that has existed way too long in our area. Halifax County's unemployment rate is currently over 10%, well above the state average. We desperately need jobs and investment so that we can provide for our families.

North Carolina is, and has been, a prime location for industry as evidenced by the great success that our state has historically enjoyed in new plant locations. However, Halifax County and the Northeast Region have not shared in this prosperity. For us to be successful we must be aggressive in our efforts to attract industry, and we must have the tools to be competitive. Competitive to the point where we stop losing projects to Virginia and South Carolina who have similar incentive legislation in place.

The rules and the game itself of industrial recruitment have changed and we need the cards to win. The Economic Opportunity Act of 1998 will provide the needed tools for Halifax County and the Northeast to be competitive—and to bring jobs and investment, and ultimately economic prosperity to our corner of North Carolina.

Help us help ourselves.

On behalf of the Town of Weldon and the Halifax Development Commission, I urge you to support and pass the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998.

Thank you for your time.

House Finance Committee
June 25, 1998

Good Afternoon. I am ~~Quinton Qualls~~, Chairman of the Halifax County Board of Commissioners and on behalf of Halifax County I am here to request your support for additional economic development incentives to bring industry to North Carolina.

I could spend all afternoon talking about the distressed economic conditions present in Halifax County and northeast North Carolina, but I am sure you are aware. Instead I would like to share with you how vitally important it is for the State of North Carolina to continue and increase the number of economic development incentives offered to attract industry to our state.

Nobody likes incentives, but they are needed to make North Carolina competitive with Virginia and South Carolina. The incentive packages that are being put together for Nucor Steel will benefit not only Hertford County, but all of Northeastern North Carolina as well. We expect that some the residents in Halifax County will be employed at this facility.

Likewise, the recycling company that is currently considering Halifax County for $160 million investment, creating up to 200 jobs during Phase I with average wages of $30,000 annually will have a profound effect on eastern North Carolina and the State of North Carolina. This project alone will have a huge spin-off effect as other companies are created or expanded to service this project.

While North Carolina is a prime location for new and expanding industry, is a right-to-work state and has talented and capable workers; if we do not match the incentives and aggressive recruitment practices of our neighboring states we will lose and North Carolinians will lose.

That's why I implore you to continue support of and increase the number of reasonable incentives offered companies such as Nucor, FedEx and the recycling company looking at Halifax County. Let's not lose these much needed industries to Virginia or South Carolina. Again, no one likes incentives, but we must remain competitive in today's global economy.

Remarks to House Finance Committee - Public Hearing

Leslie H. Bevacqua
North Carolina Citizens for Business and Industry

I am Leslie Bevacqua, Vice President of Governmental Affairs for N.C. Citizens for Business and Industry and I appreciate the opportunity to address the committee.

The Bill Lee Quality Jobs Act passed by the General Assembly in 1996 and amended in 1997 made significant changes in North Carolina law which have helped many industries across the state. The idea behind that original legislation was to expand North Carolina's incentives program to make the state more competitive for new and expanding industry. We appreciate your enactment of that legislation.

The Economic Opportunity Act of 1998, which is before you, builds on what is already in place with the Bill Lee Act.

Much of the public attention has been focused on the incentives for Federal Express and Nucor and I will address those, but let's not lose sight of the other parts of the bill that will also encourage additional business investments.

The changes to the central administrative office credit, the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the expanded credit for research and development and the credit for worker training are all improvements to the original act and should serve as incentives for expansion and growth of industries already located in the state.

Regarding the other incentives, the General Assembly is called on frequently to make tough decisions and this is one of those times.

To the extent possible we need to strike a balance in doing all that we can for companies who are already located in North Carolina and encouraging new companies to locate and make investments in our state. We are proud of the companies that are already here and are grateful for all that they are doing to keep our economy strong.

But we continue to compete with other states. When I talk with local chambers of commerce, they tell me that the competition is tough and that we're going to have to do some new things if North Carolina is to remain a leader in economic development.

Some regions of our state have very specific needs and from time to time, exceptions will have to be made to help those regions grow. This bill ~~[illegible]~~ includes such exceptions.

Information that we have seen, indicates that the industries locating in Hertford County and in the triad will facilitate the expansion of secondary industries and should result in even greater investment in those regions. As a result, an investment by the state in these companies should yield additional dollars for the state.

Senator Horton gave us a bit of a history lesson in his remarks on the Senate floor yesterday. He talked about ~~exceptions~~ incentives that have been ~~made for~~ given to different parts of the state for over 100 years. He talked about the farm to market roads that were built in areas of the state to make it possible for farmers to sell their products. These roads weren't built everywhere, but a need existed and building them in certain parts of the state addressed that need.

Incentives are not new --- ~~[illegible]~~ these may just be different than what we have been used to in the past, but they are not new.

The bill doesn't ~~help~~ treat every business equally, I wish it did, ~~but~~ This legislation is needed and we encourage you to support the bill.

→ but sometimes because of circumstances, exceptions need to be made.

"§ 105-129.3A. Development zone designation.

(a) Development Zone Defined. -- A development zone is an area comprised of one or more contiguous census tracts and census block groups in the most recent federal decennial census that meets all of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in whole or in part in a city with a population of more than 5,000 according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Planning Officer.

(2) It has a population of 1,000 or more according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Planning Officer.

(3) More than twenty percent (20%) of its population is below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

(b) Designation. -- Upon request of a taxpayer or a local government, the Secretary of Commerce shall designate whether an area is a development zone that meets the conditions of subsection (a) of this section. A development zone designation is effective for 48 months following the designation.

(c) Relationship With Enterprise Tiers. -- For the purpose of the wage standard requirement of G.S. 105-129.3(b), the credit for investing in machinery and equipment allowed in G.S. 105-129.9, and the credit for worker training allowed in G.S. 105-129.11, a development zone is considered an enterprise tier one area. For all other purposes, a development zone has the same enterprise tier designation as the county in which it is located.

"§ 105-129.4. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Eligibility; forfeiture.

(a) Type of Business. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed by G.S. 105-129.12 if the real property for which the credit is claimed is used for a central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits allowed by this Article if the taxpayer engages in one of the following types of businesses and the jobs with respect to which a credit is claimed are created in that business, the machinery and equipment with respect to which a credit is claimed are used in that business, and the research and development for which a credit is claimed are carried out as part of that business:

(1) Air courier services.
(2) Central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs.
(3) Data processing.
(4) ~~Manufacturing or processing.~~ Manufacturing.
(5) Warehousing or ~~distribution.~~ wholesale trade.

(a1) Central Administrative Office. -- A central administrative office creates at least 40 new jobs ~~if, during the taxable year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office,~~ if the taxpayer hires at least 40 additional full-time employees to fill new positions at the ~~office.~~ office either in the year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office or in the preceding 24 months while using temporary space for the central administrative office functions during completion of the administrative office property. Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State are not considered new jobs for purposes of this subsection.

(b) Wage Standard. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if the jobs for which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central administrative office if the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State.

(b1) Large Investment. -- A taxpayer who is otherwise eligible for a tax credit under this Article becomes eligible for the large investment enhancements provided for credits under this Article if the Secretary of Commerce certifies that the taxpayer will purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central administrative office property. If the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified within this two-year period, the taxpayer forfeits the large investment enhancements as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

~~(c) Worker Training. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the tax credit for worker training only for training workers who occupy jobs for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs or which are full-time positions at a location with respect to which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment for the taxable year.~~

~~The credit for worker training is allowed only with respect to employees in positions not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and for expenditures for training that would be eligible for expenditure or reimbursement under the Department of Community Colleges' New and Expanding Industry Program, as determined by guidelines adopted by the State Board of Community Colleges. The credit is not allowed for expenditures that are paid or reimbursed by the New and Expanding Industry Program. To establish eligibility, the taxpayer must obtain as part of the application process under G.S. 105-129.6 the certification of the Department of Community Colleges that the taxpayer's planned worker training would satisfy the requirements of this paragraph. A taxpayer shall apply to the Department of Community Colleges for this certification. The application must be on a form provided by the Department of Community Colleges, must provide a detailed plan of the worker training to be provided, and must contain any information required by the Department of Community Colleges to determine whether the requirements of this paragraph will be satisfied. If the Department of Community Colleges determines that the planned worker training meets the requirements of this paragraph, the Department of Community Colleges shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed and~~

~~stating that the planned worker training meets the requirements of this paragraph. The State Board of Community Colleges may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out its responsibilities under this paragraph.~~

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any ~~other~~ transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

(2) The business was required to file a notice of plant closing or mass layoff under the federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2102, before it was acquired.

(3) The business was acquired by its employees through an employee stock option transaction or another similar mechanism.

"§ 105-129.5. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of ~~the~~ a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding ~~five years.~~ 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.
(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.
(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

"§ 105-129.7. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Substantiation.

To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.8. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is ~~located:~~ located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3 for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1996.

"§ 105-129.9. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-

Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section ~~41~~ 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms 'qualified research expenses' and 'base amount' have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code.

"§ 105-129.11. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to ~~fifty percent (50%) of its eligible expenditures for~~ the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- ~~The eligibility of a taxpayer's expenditures and employees is determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.4.~~ An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5."

Section 2. G.S. 105-129.15(2) reads as rewritten:

"(2) Cost. -- ~~Determined~~ In the case of property owned by the taxpayer, cost is determined pursuant to regulations adopted under section 1012 of the Code, subject to the limitation on cost provided in section 179 of the Code. In the case of property the taxpayer leases from another, cost is value as determined pursuant to G.S. 105-130.4(j)(2)."

Section 3. G.S. 143B-437.04 reads as rewritten:

"§ 143B-437.04. ~~Economic~~ Community development block grants.

(a) The Department of Commerce shall adopt guidelines for the awarding of Community Development Block Grants ~~for economic development that will ensure that no~~ to ensure that:

(1) No local match is required for grants awarded for projects located in enterprise tier one areas as defined in G.S. ~~105-129.3 and, to~~ 105-129.3.

(2) To the extent practicable, ~~that~~ priority consideration for grants is given to projects located in enterprise tier one areas as defined in G.S. ~~105-129.3.~~ 105-129.3 or in development zones that have met the conditions of subsection (b) of this section.

(b) In order to qualify for the benefits of this section, after an area is designated a development zone under G.S. 105-129.3A, the governing body of the city in which the zone is located must adopt a strategy to improve the zone and establish a development zone committee to oversee the strategy. The strategy and the committee must conform with requirements established by the Secretary of Commerce."

PART II. INFRASTRUCTURE FUNDS

The Department of Commerce shall adopt rules providing for the administration of the program. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, those rules shall be consistent with the rules adopted with respect to the Industrial Development Fund. The rules shall provide that the funds in the Utility Account may be used only for construction of or improvements to new or existing water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility distribution lines or equipment for existing or new or proposed industrial buildings to be used for ~~industrial operations in manufacturing or processing, warehousing or distribution, or data processing.~~ eligible industrial operations. To be eligible for funding, the water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility lines or facilities shall be located on the site of the building or, if not located on the site, shall be directly related to the operation of the specific industrial activity. (6b) Hub. -- The airport in this State (i) to which an air courier has allocated under G.S. 105-388 more than fifty percent (50%) of its aircraft value apportioned to this State and (ii) at which the air

Section 8. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(1d) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"j. Sales of the following items to an interstate air courier for use at its hub: materials handling equipment, racking systems, and related parts and accessories, for the storage or handling and movement of tangible personal property at an airport or in a warehouse or distribution facility."

Section 9. G.S. 105-164.13 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(44) Sales of the following items to an interstate air courier for use at its hub: aircraft lubricants, aircraft repair parts, and aircraft accessories."

Section 10. G.S. 105-275 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(24a) Aircraft that is owned or leased by an interstate air courier, is apportioned under G.S. 105-337 to the air courier's hub in this State, and is used in the air courier's operations in this State. For the purpose of this subdivision, the terms 'interstate air courier' and 'hub' have the meanings provided in G.S. 105-164.3."

Section 11(a). The Piedmont Triad International Airport Authority may contract for design and construction of an air freight distribution facility on Airport property without being subject to the requirements of Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes.

Section 11(b). The Piedmont Triad International Airport Authority may contract for supplies, materials, equipment, and contractual services of the Authority related to an air freight distribution facility on Airport property without being subject to the requirements of Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes.

PART IV. RECYCLING INDUSTRY

Section 12. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 3C.

"Tax Incentives for Recycling Facilities.

"§ 105-129.25. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Reserved.

(2) Reserved.

(3) Large recycling facility. -- A recycling facility that qualifies under G.S. 105-129.26(b).

(4) Machinery and equipment. -- Engines, machinery, tools, and implements used or designed to be used in the business for which the credit is claimed. The term does not include real property as defined in G.S. 105-273 or rolling stock as defined in G.S. 105-333.

(5) Major recycling facility. -- A recycling facility that qualifies under G.S. 105-129.26(a).

(6) Owner. -- A person who owns or leases a recycling facility.

(7) Post-consumer waste material. -- Any product that was generated by a business or consumer, has served its intended end use, and has been separated from the solid waste stream for the purpose of recycling. The term includes material acquired by a recycling facility either directly or indirectly, such as through a broker or an agent.

(8) Purchase. -- Defined in section 179 of the Code.

(9) Recycling facility. -- A manufacturing plant at least three-fourths of whose products are made of at least fifty percent (50%) post-consumer waste material measured by weight or volume. The term includes real and personal property located at or on land surrounding the plant site and used to perform business functions related to the plant or to transport materials and products to or from the plant. The term also includes utility infrastructure and transportation infrastructure to and from the plant.

"§ 105-129.26. Qualification; forfeiture.

(a) Major Recycling Facility. -- A recycling facility qualifies for the tax benefits provided in this Article and in Article 5 of this Chapter for major recycling facilities if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The facility is located in an area that, at the time the owner began construction of the facility, was an enterprise tier one area pursuant to G.S. 105-129.3.

(2) The Secretary of Commerce has certified that the owner will, by the end of the fourth year after the year the owner begins construction of the recycling facility, invest at least three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000) in the facility and create at least 250 new, full-time jobs at the facility.

(3) The jobs at the recycling facility meet the wage standard in effect pursuant to G.S. 105-129.4(b) as of the date the owner begins construction of the facility.

(b) Large Recycling Facility. -- A recycling facility qualifies for the tax credit provided in G.S. 105-129.27 for large recycling facilities if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The facility is located in an area that, at the time the owner began construction of the facility, was an enterprise tier one area pursuant to G.S. 105-129.3.

(2) The Secretary of Commerce has certified that the owner will, by the end of the second year after the year the owner begins construction of the recycling facility, invest at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) in the facility and create at least 155 new, full-time jobs at the facility.

(3) The jobs at the recycling facility meet the wage standard in effect pursuant to G.S. 105-129.4(b) as of the date the owner begins construction of the facility.

(c) Forfeiture. -- If the owner of a large or major recycling facility fails to make the required minimum investment or create the required number of new jobs within the period certified by the Secretary of Commerce under this section, the recycling facility no longer qualifies for the applicable recycling facility tax benefits provided in this Article and in Article 5 of this Chapter and forfeits all tax benefits previously received under those Articles. Forfeiture does not occur, however, if the failure was due to events beyond the owner's control. Upon forfeiture of tax benefits previously received, the owner is liable under Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter for a tax equal to the amount of all past taxes under Articles 3, 4, and 5 previously avoided as a result of the tax benefits received plus interest at the rate established in G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the tax benefits had not been received. The tax and interest are due 30 days after the date of the forfeiture. An owner that fails to pay the tax and interest is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236.

(d) Substantiation. -- To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the owner must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every owner claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the owner is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the owner, and no credit shall be allowed to an owner that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

(e) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number and location of large and major recycling facilities qualified under this Article.

(2) The number of new jobs created by each recycling facility.

(3) The amount of investment in each recycling facility.

(4) The amount of reinvestment credit refunded to each major recycling facility under G.S. 105-129.28.

"§ 105-129.27. Credit for investing in large or major recycling facility.

(a) Credit. -- An owner that purchases or leases machinery and equipment for a major recycling facility in this State during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to fifty percent (50%) of the amount payable by the owner during the taxable year to purchase or lease the machinery and equipment. An owner that purchases or leases machinery and equipment for a large recycling facility in this State during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to twenty percent (20%) of the amount payable by the owner during the taxable year to purchase or lease the machinery and equipment.

(b) Taxes Credited. -- The credit provided in this section is allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income tax levied in Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter. Any other nonrefundable credits allowed the owner are subtracted before the credit allowed by this section.

(c) Carryforwards. -- The credit provided in this section may not exceed the amount of tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the owner. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 25 years.

(d) Change in Ownership of Facility. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a recycling facility, or any transaction by which the facility is reformulated as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding owner with respect to a credit for which the predecessor was not eligible under this section. A successor business may, however, take any carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability.

(e) Forfeiture. -- If any machinery or equipment for which a credit was allowed under this section is not placed in service within 30 months after the credit was allowed, the credit is forfeited. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236.

(f) No Double Credit. -- A recycling facility that is eligible for the credit allowed in this section is not allowed the credit for investing in machinery and equipment provided in G.S. 105-129.9.

"§ 105-129.28. Credit for reinvestment.

(a) Credit. -- A major recycling facility that is accessible by neither ocean barge nor ship and that transports materials to the facility or products away from the facility is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter equal to its additional transportation and transloading expenses incurred with respect to the materials and products due to its inability to use ocean barges or ships. The additional expenses for which credit is allowed are expenses due to using river barges and expenses due to having to use another mode of transportation because the quantity that is transported by river barge is insufficient to meet the facility's needs. In order to claim the credit allowed by this section, the facility must provide the Secretary of Commerce audited documentation of the amount of its additional transportation and transloading expenses incurred during the taxable year.

(b) Cap. -- The credit allowed to a major recycling facility under this section for the taxable year may not exceed the applicable annual cap provided in the following table:

Taxable Year	Cap
1998	$ 150,000
1999	$ 640,000
2000	$ 3,860,000
2001	$ 8,050,000

2002	$ 9,550,000
2003	$10,100,000

(c) Reduction. -- For the first ten taxable years after the owner begins transporting materials and products to and from the major recycling facility, the credit allowed by this section must be reduced by the amount of credit allowed in previous years that was used for a purpose other than an allowable purpose under subsection (d) of this section, as certified by the Secretary of Commerce.

(d) Use of Credited Amount. -- For the first ten taxable years after the owner begins construction of the major recycling facility, the owner must use the amount of credit allowed under this section to pay for (i) investment in rail or roads associated with the facility, (ii) investment in water system infrastructure designed to reduce the expense of transporting materials and products to and from the recycling facility, and (iii) investment in land and infrastructure for other industrial sites located in the same county as the recycling facility. If the owner determines that there are no reasonable economic opportunities in a given year to use the total amount of credit for the expenditures described above, the owner may use the excess for investment at or in connection with the recycling facility above the initial required investment of three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000).

Expenses incurred for the purposes allowed in this subsection during a taxable year in the ten-year period may be counted toward a credit allowed in a later taxable year in the ten-year period. If the owner is not able to use the full amount of the credit during a taxable year for any of the purposes allowed by this subsection, the excess may be used for these purposes in subsequent taxable years.

The owner must provide the Secretary of Commerce with annual audited documentation demonstrating that the amount of credit received under this section during the previous twelve-month period has not been used for a purpose inconsistent with this subsection. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the owner has used any of the credit for a purpose that is inconsistent with the requirements of this subsection, the Secretary of Commerce shall certify the amount so used to the Secretary of Revenue and the credit allowed the owner under this section for the following taxable year shall be reduced by that amount in accordance with subsection (c) of this section.

After the end of the ten-year period, the amount of any credit allowed under this section that has not yet been used may be used for investment at or in connection with the recycling facility above the initial required investment of three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000).

(e) Credit Refundable. -- If the credit allowed by this section exceeds the amount of tax imposed by Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, the Secretary shall refund the excess to the taxpayer. The refundable excess is governed by the provisions governing a refund of an overpayment by the taxpayer of the tax imposed in Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter. In computing the amount of tax against which multiple credits are allowed, nonrefundable credits are subtracted before refundable credits."

Section 13. G.S. 105-164.3 is amended by renumbering subdivision (8) as (7b) and adding a new subdivision to read:

"(8) Major recycling facility. -- Defined in G.S. 105-129.25."

Section 14. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(1d) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"j. Sales to a major recycling facility of the following tangible personal property for use in connection with the facility: cranes, structural steel crane support systems, foundations related to the cranes and support systems, port and dock facilities, rail equipment, and material handling equipment."

Section 15. G.S. 105-164.13 is amended by adding two new subdivisions to read:

"(10a) Sales to a major recycling facility of (i) lubricants and other additives for motor vehicles or machinery and equipment used at the facility and (ii) materials, supplies, parts, and accessories, other than machinery and equipment, that are not capitalized by the taxpayer and are used or consumed in the manufacturing and material handling processes at the facility.

(10b) Sales to a major recycling facility of electricity used at the facility."

Section 16. G.S. 105-164.14 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(g) Major Recycling Facilities. -- The owner of a major recycling facility is allowed an annual refund of sales and use taxes paid by it under this Article on building materials, building supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of the real property of the recycling facility. Liability incurred indirectly by the owner for sales and use taxes on these items is considered tax paid by the owner. A request for a refund must be in writing and must include any information and documentation required by the Secretary. A request for a refund is due within six months after the end of the major recycling facility's fiscal year. Refunds applied for after the due date are barred."

Section 17. G.S. 105-164.14(f) reads as rewritten:

"(f) Information to Counties. -- Upon written request of a county, the Secretary shall, within 30 days after the request, provide the designated county official a list of each claimant that has, within the past 12 months, received a refund under subsection ~~(b) or (c)~~ (b), (c), or (g) of this section of at least one thousand dollars ($1,000) of tax paid to the county. The list shall include the name and address of each claimant and the amount of the refund it has received from that county. Upon written request of a county, a claimant that has received a refund under subsection ~~(b) or (c)~~ (b), (c), or (g) of this section shall provide the designated county official a copy of the request for the refund and any supporting documentation requested by the county to verify the request. For the purpose of this subsection, the designated county official is the chair of the board of county commissioners or a county official designated in a resolution adopted by the board. Information provided to a county under this subsection is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1. If a claimant determines that a refund it has received under subsection ~~(b) or (c)~~ (b), (c), or (g) of this section is incorrect, it shall file an amended request for the refund."

Section 18. G.S. 105-275(8)b. reads as rewritten:

"b. Real or personal property that is used or, if under construction, is to be used ~~exclusively~~ predominantly for recycling or resource recovering of or from solid waste, if the Department of Environment and Natural Resources furnishes a certificate to the tax supervisor of the county in which the property is situated stating the Department of Environment and Natural Resources has found that the described property has been or will be constructed or installed, complies or will comply with the rules of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, and has, or will have as ~~its primary~~ a purpose recycling or resource recovering of or from solid waste."

Section 19. G.S. 105-129.28, as enacted by Section 12 of this act, is repealed effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2008. This section does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person arising under G.S. 105-129.28 before the effective date of its repeal; nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that accrued under G.S. 105-129.28 before the effective date of its repeal.

The sole purpose of this ten-year sunset provision is to allow a determination to be made whether any major recycling facility continues to experience additional transportation and transloading expenses due to its inability to use ocean barges or ships to transport materials and products to and from the facility. It is the expectation and intent that the General Assembly will postpone the sunset of G.S. 105-129.28 if it is determined that, based on audited documentation submitted by a major recycling facility and verified by the Secretary of Commerce, that any major recycling facility continues to experience these additional transportation and transloading expenses as of 2008.

FRD, 6/17/98

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1569[1]:
Proposed Committee Substitute (June 16)
Economic Opportunity Act of 1998

TO: House and Senate Finance Committees
FROM: Martha H. Harris, Staff Attorney
DATE: June 16, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Hoyle

This bill is designed to promote economic development throughout the State in five ways[2]:

1. It makes various amendments to the William S. Lee Act to encourage large investments and remove technical problems with the Act.
2. It authorizes enhanced incentives for development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within municipalities.
3. It expands and modifies the Industrial Development Fund to provide financial support for projects in rural and less prosperous areas of the State.
4. To encourage development of air courier hubs, it provides sales tax and property tax reductions for air couriers and provides a temporary bidding law exemption for specific projects of the Piedmont Triad International Airport Authority.
5. To encourage development of the recycling industry in Tier One counties, it provides an investment tax credit for large and major recycling facilities that locate in Tier One counties and, in addition, it provides a refundable reinvestment credit and sales tax reductions for major recycling facilities.

William S. Lee Act Modifications. Part I of the bill makes a number of changes to the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act, some technical and some substantive. Unless a different date is given, these changes all become effective beginning with the 1999 tax year.

[1] The House companion to this bill is House Bill 1688, introduced by Representative Gray.

[2] The proposed committee substitute differs from the original bill in four ways. First, it authorizes local governments to use up to 2% of a grant from the Industrial Development Fund to administer the grant and to verify that the funds are used for the required purposes. Second, it specifies that under the Bill Lee Act, the wage standard for a development zone is the same as in a Tier One County. Third, it narrows the sales tax reductions for air carriers to apply only to air courier hubs. Fourth, it adds Part IV of the bill to encourage development of the recycling industry in Tier One counties.

Part I makes two changes to the central administrative office credit that was enacted last year. First, it allows the credit to be taken against the insurance gross premiums tax. This change will permit insurance companies to qualify for the credit. Second, it clarifies that a central administrative office meets the requirement for creating new jobs if the jobs begin before the office property is in service but are located at a temporary facility that the business occupies while waiting for its office property to be completed.

Part I also makes two changes to the credit for investing in machinery and equipment. First, it provides that for projects that span two tax years, the threshold applies only once to the investment. Otherwise, a project put in service from May through September would receive more benefit than a project put in service from November through March. This change goes into effect beginning with the 1998 tax year. Second, it expands the credit to include machinery and equipment the taxpayer uses under an operating lease, but only if the machinery and equipment are part of a project valued at $150 million or more. Otherwise, the current law allows the credit only for machinery and equipment the taxpayer acquires under a capital lease or purchases and capitalizes.

Part I expands the credit for research and development. The existing credit for research and development piggybacks the federal credit, allowing a State credit equal to approximately ¼ of the federal credit as it relates to North Carolina activities. In 1997, Congress enacted an alternative credit for research and development. The bill modifies the State credit to also allow a credit equal to approximately ¼ of the federal alternative credit as it relates to North Carolina activities.

Part I simplifies the credit for worker training. In order to qualify under current law for the credit for worker training, the taxpayer must get its planned training certified in advance by the Department of Community Colleges. This requirement has been difficult both for taxpayers and for the Department of Community Colleges. The bill replaces the current credit measured by costs of training with a credit for wages paid to workers while they are being trained (not including on-the-job training). The credit is restricted to employees for whom the taxpayer qualifies for the jobs tax credit and employees being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer qualifies for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

Finally, Part I makes a number of administrative and technical changes to the William S. Lee Act. First, it levies a $75.00 application fee on taxpayers who seek to qualify for a credit. The proceeds of the fee will help the Department of Commerce defray its costs in administering the credits. Most states with similar incentives laws require a fee, and their fees tend to be much higher. The application fee would become effective January 1, 1999. Second, the bill extends the credit carryforward period for investments over $150 million. Currently, the credit may not reduce the taxpayer's tax liability by more than half, and any excess may be carried forward for up to five years. The bill provides that for large investments, the excess may be carried forward for up to 20 years. Third, the bill clarifies that credits are allowed only for new and expanding businesses, not for existing businesses that are sold to another taxpayer. The bill provides an exception, however, for a business that has closed, has filed a federally required notice that closure is imminent, or has been purchased in an employee buyout. In these cases, the business will be able to qualify for the credits to the same extent as a new business. Fourth, the bill clarifies the definitions of the different types of businesses that are eligible for credits[3] and clarifies the method of calculating the investment tax credit and the business tax credit for property acquired by a capital lease.

State Development Zones. Part I of the bill provides for the designation of economically distressed areas located within municipalities as State development zones, and authorizes enhanced incentives for businesses that locate in a development zone. This change becomes effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. The bill defines a development zone as an area (1) consisting of one or more contiguous census tracts and block groups, (2) with a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) located at least partly in a municipality with a population over 5,000. If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for Tier One counties - slightly lower than the standard for other counties. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

The Secretary of Commerce will designate development zones upon request of a taxpayer or a local government. The designation is effective for four years. The bill provides that a development zone may qualify for priority in receiving community development block grants if the municipality's governing body adopts a strategy to improve the zone and establishes a committee to implement the strategy, in accordance with guidelines established by the Department of Commerce.

[3] The bill changes statutory references from the Standard Industrial Classifications (SIC) to the North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) to conform to the federal system. These references are used in the William S. Lee act to define various types of businesses. The bill also changes the term "manufacturing and processing" to "manufacturing" and the term "warehousing and distribution" to "warehousing and wholesale trade" to conform to the NAICS. In April 1997, the United States Office of Management and Budget announced the adoption of a new industry classification replacing the SIC, a system used to classify most of the data we have about industries or kinds of business in our economy. The updating of industry classifications is nothing new. Since its origination in the 1930s, the SIC system has been revised or updated every 10 or 15 years to reflect new developments in the American economy and to address problems identified by data users and statistical agencies. It was last revised in 1987.

Infrastructure Funds. Part II of the bill states the intent of the General Assembly to appropriate funds to the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund. The Governor's budget requested an appropriation of $32 million, $18 million for the Fund and $14 million for the Utility Account. Under current law, money in the Utility Account can be used in Tier One counties for construction or improvements to new or existing water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility distribution lines or for existing, new, or proposed industrial buildings to be used in manufacturing and processing, warehousing and distribution, or data processing. The bill would expand the scope of the Utility Account to include Tier Two counties.

Under current law, the Industrial Development Fund provides funding for manufacturing projects in Tier One, Two, and Three counties as well as in areas experiencing major economic dislocations. The funds may be used for equipment, capital improvements, and utility distribution lines. Projects in Tier Two and Three Counties are required to match the State funds on a $1/$3 basis. The funding is capped at $4,000 per job to be created and $400,000 per project. The bill would raise the per-job cap to $5,000 and the per-project cap to $500,000. The bill would also expand the industries covered by both the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account to include all of the following: manufacturing, central administrative offices, air courier services, data processing, and warehousing and wholesale trade.

Under current law, funds in the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account are used for grants to local governments and, in some cases, loans to businesses through the local government and a bank that matches the loan. The bill would clarify that a local government that receives funds, may, if necessary, use up to 2% of the funds to verify that the funds are used as required by law and otherwise to administer the grant or loan.

Air Courier Hubs. Part III of the bill provides sales tax and property tax reductions for interstate air couriers in order to encourage the development of air courier hubs in North Carolina. An air courier is an air carrier that delivers individually addressed letters, parcels, and packages. Effective January 1, 2001, the bill provides that sales to an interstate air courier of equipment for handling and storing materials at its hub will be subject to a reduced sales tax of 1%, capped at $80 per item. In addition, the bill provides a sales tax exemption for sales to interstate an air courier of aircraft lubricants, aircraft repair parts, and aircraft accessories for use at the air courier's hub in this State. Effective beginning with the 2001 property tax year, the bill provides a property tax exemption for aircraft owned by an air courier and apportioned for property tax purposes to the courier's hub in this State. A hub is the place in this State where the air courier allocates for property tax purposes more than 50% of its North Carolina aircraft value and where it receives packages from consolidation locations for sorting and distribution.

Part III also grants a bidding law exemption for the Piedmont Triad International Airport Authority. The exemption is effective for a five-year period beginning January 1, 1999, and applies to design and construction of an air freight distribution facility on airport property, and related supplies, equipment, and services.

Recycling Facilities. Part IV of the bill provides tax incentives for "large" and "major" recycling facilities located in Tier One counties at the time of initial construction. A recycling facility is a plant that manufactures products, most of which are made from at least 50% post-consumer waste material. The facility also includes related infrastructure, buildings, and equipment on land surrounding the plant. A large recycling facility is one that will involve at least $150 million in new investment and 155 new jobs within a two-year period. A major recycling facility is one that will involve at least $300 million in new investment and 250 new jobs within a four-year period. In order to qualify for the applicable tax incentives, the owner of the facility must obtain certification from the Department of Commerce that it will meet the minimum investment and new job requirements. If the facility fails to meet either requirement within the applicable time period, it forfeits any tax benefit it received as a result of being certified.

Part IV provides an investment tax credit for both large and major recycling facilities, effective beginning with the 1998 tax year. This investment tax credit is in lieu of the investment tax credit provided in the William S. Lee Act. The recycling facility investment tax credit differs from the Bill Lee Act credit in the following ways:

1. The Bill Lee Act credit is equal to 7% of the cost of machinery and equipment, while the large recycling facility credit is equal to 20% of the cost and the major recycling facility credit is equal to 50% of the cost.
2. The credit is allowed at the time the owner of the recycling facility accrues expenses to purchase or lease the machinery and equipment, rather than at the time the machinery and equipment are placed in service, as under the Bill Lee Act. If the recycling facility fails to put the machinery and equipment in service within 30 months after taking the credit, the credit is forfeited and must be repaid.

3. The credit is allowed against both the corporate franchise tax and the corporate income tax. Under the Bill Lee Act, the credit is allowed against either but not both of those taxes.
4. The credit may equal 100% of the tax due from the owner of the facility. Under the Bill Lee Act, the credit is limited to 50% of tax due, so that the taxpayer will be paying some tax in every case.
5. The excess credit may be carried forward for 25 years. Under the Bill Lee Act, as revised by this bill, the relevant carryforward period would be 20 years.

Part IV also provides to major recycling facilities locating in Tier One counties a refundable corporate income tax "credit for reinvestment," effective beginning with the 1998 tax year. The credit applies if the major recycling facility is not accessible by ocean barge or ship and incurs additional expenses due to transporting its materials and products by alternative modes of transportation. The reinvestment credit is equal to the amount of these additional expenses, which must be documented annually to the Secretary of Commerce. The credit is subject to a dollar cap each year, in increasing amounts. In 1999, the cap is $640,000. In 2004, the cap levels off at $10.4 million a year. The bill sunsets this reinvestment credit effective with the 2008 tax year. The bill states the intent, however, to postpone the sunset if any major recycling facility can document that it is still experiencing additional expenses in 2008 due to its inability to use ocean barges or ships to transport materials and products.

The reinvestment credit is refundable. That means that if the amount of credit exceeds the major recycling facility's tax liability after all other credits are subtracted, the balance is paid out in cash. For the first ten years the reinvestment credit is in effect, a major recycling facility must use the amount received in credit to invest in rail and roads associated with the facility, in transportation infrastructure to reduce the expense of transporting materials and products to and from the facility, or in land and infrastructure for industrial sites, other than the facility itself, in the same county. If there are not enough reasonable opportunities for investments in those purposes in a given year, however, the major recycling facility may invest the amount of credit received in the facility itself, but only after it has made the minimum investment of $300 million required to qualify as a major recycling facility. The facility must document its compliance with this reinvestment requirement and forfeits any part of the credit it spends for another purpose. It is this reinvestment requirement that gives the credit its name.

Part IV provides several sales and use tax reductions for major recycling facilities locating in Tier One counties, effective beginning July 1, 1998. First, it provides that a reduced sales tax rate of 1%, capped at $80 per item, will apply to cranes, foundations, transportation equipment, and materials handling equipment used at the major recycling facility. These items would otherwise be subject to 4% State sales tax and 2% local sales tax. Second, it exempts from sales tax lubricants and other additives for vehicles and machinery used at the plant, and other materials and supplies (not including machinery and equipment) that are used or consumed directly in the manufacturing process. These items would also otherwise be subject to a combined State and local rate of 6%. Third, it exempts from sales tax electricity purchased for use at the major recycling facility. This electricity would otherwise be subject to State sales tax at 3% or 2.83%. Fourth, Part IV provides an annual sales tax refund for taxes a major recycling facility pays directly or indirectly on building materials, building supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of the real property of the recycling facility located in a Tier One county.

Finally, Part IV modifies the existing property tax exemption for property used for recycling, effective beginning with the 1999-20 property tax year. Under current law, to qualify for exemption, the property must be used exclusively for recycling and have recycling as its primary purpose. The bill would provide instead that the property must be used predominantly for recycling and have recycling as a purpose. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources determined that these changes would be necessary to prevent a recycling facility from being disqualified because it adds fillers or other materials to the post-consumer waste material when manufacturing products.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO UPDATE THE REFERENCE TO THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE USED IN DEFINING AND DETERMINING CERTAIN STATE TAX PROVISIONS AND TO CONFORM TO FEDERAL GIFT TAX TREATMENT OF CONTRIBUTIONS TO QUALIFIED TUITION PROGRAMS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-228.90(b)(1a) reads as rewritten:

"(1a) Code. -- The Internal Revenue Code as enacted as of ~~January 1, 1997,~~ June 1, 1998, including any provisions enacted as of that date which become effective either before or after that date."

Section 2. G.S. 105-134.6(b)(12) is repealed.

Section 3. G.S. 105-134.6(b)(13) reads as rewritten:

"(13) The amount that is distributed to a beneficiary of the Parental Savings Trust Fund of the State Education Assistance Authority ~~if the earnings on the amount are excluded from income under subdivision (12) of this subsection or section 529 of the Code.~~ unless the distribution is a refund of earnings described in section 529 of the Code."

Section 4. G.S. 105-188 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(k) Qualified Tuition Programs. -- The provisions of section 529(c)(2) and (5) of the Code apply to this Article. If a donor elects to take a contribution into account ratably over a five-year period as provided in section 529(c)(2) of the Code, that election applies for the purposes of this Article."

Section 5. Notwithstanding Section 1 of this act, to the extent an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code enacted after January 1, 1997, would increase North Carolina taxable income for a taxpayer's tax year beginning before January 1, 1998, the amendment does not apply to the taxpayer for that tax year.

Section 6. Section 4 of this act becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1998. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1326:
Update IRC Reference/Conform Gift Tax

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha H. Harris, Staff Attorney
DATE: June 22, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Gray

House Bill 1326, recommended by the Revenue Laws Study Committee, makes two changes to simplify the tax law by conforming to federal tax provisions:

1. It rewrites the definition of the Internal Revenue Code used in State tax statutes to change the reference date from January 1, 1997, to June 1, 1998.
2. It conforms to federal gift tax treatment of qualified tuition programs.

Update Code Reference. Updating the Internal Revenue Code reference makes recent amendments to the Code applicable to the State to the extent that State tax law previously tracked federal law. Congress made numerous, significant changes to the Code last year that will affect federal taxable income. Because the State corporate and individual income tax is based upon federal taxable income, these changes, if adopted, will affect State policies and revenues. The fiscal note and attachments list and summarize the significant changes made by the federal Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997.[1]

One of the federal tax changes enacted last year was an income tax exemption for the annual earnings on amounts contributed to qualified tuition programs, such as North Carolina's Parental Savings Trust Fund, for the future payment of room or board at an institution of higher education. North Carolina law has a provision exempting these earnings to the extent they are taxed under federal law. Because they are no longer taxed under federal law, Section 2 of the bill repeals the North Carolina exemption. Section 3 amends a related North Carolina provision to clarify that it exempts distributions from tax only if they are used for qualified higher education expenses.

House Bill 1326 provides that the federal tax law changes that could increase a taxpayer's North Carolina taxable income for the 1997 tax year will not

[1] Several of these changes had technical problems, which Congress has proposed to correct in H.R. 2676, the IRS overhaul bill which includes Tax Technical Corrections Act of 1997. The technical corrections were expected to be enacted by June 1, 1998, which is why SB 1227 references that date, but HR 2676 is in conference in Congress and is not expected to become law until sometime in July.

become effective until January 1, 1998. Under Article 1, Section 16 of the North Carolina Constitution, the legislature cannot pass a law that will increase a tax retroactively. There are a number of provisions in the federal Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 that could increase taxable income for the 1997 tax year. Because the Code Update could not be acted upon until the 1998 Session of the General Assembly, these changes had to be given a delayed effective date.

Since the State corporate income tax was changed to a percentage of federal taxable income in 1967, the reference date to the Internal Revenue Code has been updated periodically. In discussing bills to update the Code reference, the question frequently arises as to why the statutes refer to the Code on a particular date instead of referring to the Code and any future amendments to it, thereby eliminating the necessity of bills like this one. The answer to the question lies in both a policy decision and a potential legal restraint.

First, the policy reason for specifying a particular date is that, in light of the many changes made in federal tax law from year to year, the State may not want to adopt automatically all federal changes. By pinning references to the Code to a certain date, the State ensures that it can examine any federal changes before making the changes effective for the State.

Secondly, and more importantly, however, the North Carolina Constitution imposes an obstacle to a statute that automatically adopts any changes in federal tax law. Section 2(1) of Article V of the Constitution provides in pertinent part that the "power of taxation ... shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away." Relying on this provision, the North Carolina court decisions on delegation of legislative power to administrative agencies, and an analysis of the few federal cases on this issue, the Attorney General's Office concluded in a memorandum issued in 1977 to the Director of the Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue that a "statute which adopts by reference future amendments to the Internal Revenue Code would ... be invalidated as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power."

The Revenue Laws Study Committee explored the possibility of legislation that would automatically adopt federal changes to the Code each year, with legislative review and approval required in the succeeding legislative session. It was hoped that this approach would avoid the practical difficulties that occur when Code changes go into effect many months before the General Assembly has a chance to pass legislation adopting the changes. The Attorney General's Office reviewed the relevant case law in this State and other states before concluding that this approach would be unlikely to withstand a constitutional challenge.

Qualified Tuition Plan Gift Tax. Section 4 of House Bill 1326 adopts for North Carolina gift tax purposes the provisions of federal law listed below.

Conforming to federal law will relieve taxpayers from unexpected gift tax liability and will simplify tax compliance and administration.

1. A distribution from a qualified tuition program is not a taxable gift, unless a new beneficiary, who is a generation below the original beneficiary, is named to the account or receives the account in a rollover.
2. A contribution to a qualified tuition program is a gift to the designated beneficiary, but not a gift of a future interest. If the contribution were considered a gift of a future interest, a gift tax return would have to be filed even if the amount were under the $10,000 annual exclusion amount.
3. A contribution to a qualified tuition program is not a direct payment of tuition. If it were, it would be exempt from gift tax.
4. If a contribution exceeds the $10,000 annual gift tax exclusion amount, the donor may elect to avoid gift tax by treating the contribution as if it had been made over a five-year period. For example, a $25,000 contribution would not be taxable because it would be considered a gift of $5,000 a year over five years and thus would be below the $10,000 annual exclusion amount.

These provisions would apply to any qualified state tuition program under section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code. North Carolina has such a program, known as the Parental Savings Trust Fund. This Fund is part of the State Education Assistance Authority. The Fund is authorized by G.S. 116-209.25, which the General Assembly enacted in 1996. A person can contribute amounts into the Parental Savings Trust Fund for a child who is less than 16 years old. The amount contributed in the account, along with its interest and investment earnings, can be used to pay the expenses of the beneficiary at any accredited public or private college or community college. Either the child or the person making the contributions must be a resident of this State. The Education Assistance Authority opened the Parental Savings Trust Fund in early June, 1998.

Section 529 of the Code excludes the amounts earned on contributions to a qualified state tuition program from federal income tax and, therefore, from North Carolina tax as well. Under federal law, the earnings are exempt if the contributions are for the payment of qualified higher education expenses: tuition, room and board, fees, books, supplies, and equipment. Also under federal law, the amount distributed to a beneficiary of the Parental Savings Trust Fund for qualified higher education expenses is taxable to the extent it exceeds the amount contributed. Thus, under federal law, the tax on the investment earnings is simply deferred until a distribution is made, at which time the earnings are taxable to the beneficiary rather than the contributor. Under North Carolina law, however, the entire distribution is not taxable if it is used for qualified higher education expenses. Under both federal and North Carolina law, earnings distributed for purposes other than qualified higher education expenses are taxable and are also subject to a penalty imposed by the state operating the program.

1997 Federal Tax Law Changes

General

The federal Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 creates 285 new sections in the Internal Revenue Code and amends 824 existing sections. Errors in the act are expected to be corrected in 1998 in the federal Tax Technical Correction Act. The following list summarizes some of the significant provisions of the 1997 legislation.

Affects N.C. Individual Income Tax Only

1. Allows exclusion of $250,000 ($500,000 for joint filers) of capital gain from sales of residence occupied by taxpayer as principal residence for two of previous five years. Former rules on rollover and former one-time exclusion are repealed. Effective for sales after 5/6/97. This is a tax increase for those who have more than $250,000/$500,000 in gain, so to that extent it cannot be retroactive. (§ 121)
2. Expands business expense deduction for percentage of self-employed individuals' health insurance: effective in 2000, the percentage is increased to 50%, then phased up reaching 100% in 2007. (§ 16(a)(1)(B))
3. Establishes Roth IRAs effective for tax years beginning on or after 1/1/98, which allow nondeductible contributions of up to $2,000 of compensation (limited for those with adjusted gross income above a certain amount). Distributions tax free if contributions made more than five years ago and one of the following applies: (i) taxpayer is over 59 ½ or is dead, (ii) distribution made because of disability, (iii) distribution is for qualifying first-time homebuyer expenses. Existing IRA may be rolled over to Roth IRA, subjecting rolled over amount to tax. If the IRA is rolled over to a Roth IRA in 1998, the tax due may be spread over four years. (§ 408(a))
4. Expands existing IRAs by increasing income limits and allowing IRA for spouse of disqualified active participant, effective for taxable years beginning on or after 1/1/98. (§219(g))
5. GENERAL FUND	($13.13)	($12.03)	($14.85)	($20.73)	($34.77)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 4 (Qualified Tuition Programs) becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1998. The remainder of the act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The act updates the reference to the Internal Revenue Code used in defining and determining certain state tax provisions (from January 1, 1997 to June 1, 1998) and conforms to federal gift tax treatment of contributions to qualified tuition programs.

BACKGROUND: Each year the General Assembly changes the reference date in the definition of the Internal Revenue Code used in the state individual and corporate income tax statutes. Congress made hundreds of changes in the Code with the passage of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997. These changes were reviewed by the Revenue Laws Study Committee and were recommended to the 1998 General Assembly with a few exceptions. Those tax law changes that affect the 1997 tax year cannot be adopted by North Carolina until 1998, because the state constitution prohibits enacting a retroactive tax increase.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: North Carolina estimates on updating the Internal Revenue Code reference are based on a percentage of the federal estimate calculated by the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation. The percentage used is North Carolina's actual tax collections divided by national tax collections. (Individual = .723% and corporate = .542%.) The charts on the following pages show the fiscal impact of the major federal tax changes on the state's General Fund.

As for the gift tax change on qualified tuition programs, there should be little or no revenue loss to the state. The newly created College Vision Fund, administered by the State Education Assistance Authority, is designed for middle income taxpayers who save an average of $125 a month for their children's college education. While gifts exceeding $10,000 may be accepted by the fund, such contributions are not the norm. Those with the means to give more than $10,000 per year will probably invest in college trust funds bearing interest greater than the interest paid by the State Treasurer on the investments in the College Vision Fund.

NOTES:

1) North Carolina estimates are based on a percentage of the federal estimate calculated by the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation. The percentage used is N.C. actual tax collections divided by national tax collections. (Individual = .723% Corporate = .542%)

2) The North Carolina constitution prohibits enacting a retroactive tax increase, so this bill cannot adopt federal revenue increasing items for the 1997 tax year. This chart assumes that half of the revenue gained from tax increases in 1997 will be received by the Department in Tax Year 1998.

EXPENDITURES	(to be determined by the Horse Council)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the North Carolina Horse Council to hold a referendum among horse owners on whether to levy a fee of up to $2 a ton on commercial horse feed for the purpose of promoting the horse industry. If approved by a majority of the horse owners, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will collect the fee from commercial feed dealers and distributors and remit the funds to the Horse Council on a quarterly basis. The assessment will be levied for no more than three years. Horse owners have a right to request a refund of the fee from the Horse Council if they do not wish to participate in the promotion effort.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In the 1996 North Carolina Equine Survey, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services identified 33,000 equine owners and 132,000 head of equine in the state. The Department 's 1996 Feed Tonnage Report showed 97,279 tons of horse feed were purchased in the state. Horse feed sales grew 8.7% a year from 1993 to 1996, but the growth rate was only 4.4% from 1995 to 1996. Without data on the projected growth in the state's equine herd, it is impossible to predict what the future growth in feed sales will be. This note assumes a flat 100,000 tons of horse feed are purchased each year during the three years that the assessment is in place. If the referendum is successful, this note assumes the Horse Council will assess $2 per ton beginning in FY 1998-99 for revenues of $200,000 per year.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1529 (2d Ed.):
Horse Promotion Assessment

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 23, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Brown

House Bill 1529 provides for a referendum to allow horse owners to assess themselves through a levy on commercial horse feed, in order to provide funds to the North Carolina Horse Council. These funds will be used to promote interests in the horse industry and for administrative expenses reasonably necessary to carry out this promotion. The 2nd Edition differs from the introduced bill by adding definitions for "equine" and "horse owner". This 2nd Edition was given a favorable report in the House Committee on Agriculture. The act is effective when it become law.

House Bill 1529 authorizes the North Carolina Horse Council to conduct a referendum among horse owners to determine if the assessment should be levied. To take effect, the assessment must be approved by a majority of votes cast in the referendum. The amount of the assessment may not exceed $2 per ton of commercial horse feed and shall not extend for a period of more than 3 years. The Council is to determine the exact amount and period of the levy.

If the assessment is approved, the North Carolina Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall notify all commercial feed dealers and distributors of the assessment and shall provide forms for reporting the assessment. The assessment is to be remitted to the Department with the inspection feed imposed under the Commercial Feed Law, Article 31C of Chapter 106. Anyone who purchases commercial horse feed upon which the assessment has been paid may demand a refund of the assessment by writing the Horse Council within 30 days of buying the feed and providing proof of purchase.

The Department is to remit funds to the North Carolina Horse Council at least quarterly.

Similar promotion assessment acts have been enacted for flue-cured tobacco farmers, strawberry producers and pork producers,

HORSE PROMOTION ASSESSMENT - IMPORTANT POINTS:

1. In excess of 99% of horses are used for pleasure and entertainment. The Horse Industry consists of for profit business which provide goods and services to the Private Horse Owners. The Private Horse Owners activities are strictly for pleasure and entertainment; not business. The N.C. Horse Council represents the Horse Industry.

2. Only approximately 1% or 500 individuals of the approximately 50,000 N.C. horse owners have voluntarily chosen to join the Horse Council.

3. Private Horse Owners are required to pay 6% Sales Tax on horse feed purchases. Certain portions of the Horse Industry when providing services to the end user are allowed to buy horse feed Sales Tax exempt and then resell the feed to the end user without collecting the Sales Tax from the end user. This exemption appears to be costing in excess of $1,000,000 annually in lost Sales Taxes. Thus, Private Horse Owners are carrying their share of the load.

4. The commodity group assessment method used to justify the $2.00 per ton assessment on Private Horse Owners is not appropriate in this situation. This is because Private Horse Owners, who make up the majority of horse owners, are NOT part of the Horse Industry or for profit horse business. The other commodity groups mentioned, such as the cattle producers, are made up of for profit businesses.

5. The amount the assessment will generate according to three different sources:
   a) Mr. Steve Mobley, N.C. Dept. of Ag. — 96,000 tons/year X $2/ton = $196,000 annually
   b) N.C. Horse Council — 220,000 horses X $1.80/horse = $396,000 annually
   c) Feed Industry — 300,000 tons/year X $2/ton = $600,000 annually (includes feed labeled for horses but sold to cattle producers and other nonhorse consumers)

   Once this money is turned over to the Horse Council, there is no oversight or control on how the money is spent.

6. Attachment 1 is a publication from the N.C. Horse Council about the Horse Industry Promotion bill. Items 1, 2, 3, and 5 are already being carried out by the N.C. Dept. of Agriculture, the Agriculture Extension Service, N.C. State University, and the N.C. State University School of Veterinary Medicine. Essentially all of these activities were being performed before the Horse Council appeared. Item 4 appears to be lobbying and other political activities on the state and national level.

7. The Refund Mechanism is designed to make seeking a refund difficult and cumbersome. The object being to discourage those who do NOT voluntarily support the Horse Council from seeking a refund of their money. Also, those horse owners who seek refunds will be deprived of the use of their money from the time of tax payment until the refund arrives and will not be compensated for the time and expense in obtaining a refund.

8. The referendum will be conducted and administered by the Horse Council which is to be the beneficiary of the tax. There will be no oversight of the Horse Council on this matter.

HB 1529 - HORSE INDUSTRY PROMOTION BILL

The goal of the Horse Industry Promotion Bill will be for the horse industry itself to annually contribute funds dedicated to the marketing, education and research of the horse industry of North Carolina through expansion of existing and development of new programs. This concept of a product assessment is the basic marketing and educational funding of many other livestock and agricultural commodity groups in North Carolina.

This money would be used to benefit the North Carolina horse industry:

1) for the production of marketing, informational and educational materials and programs;

2) to encourage development and growth of the horse industry through attraction of new owners, relocation of out-of-state horse operations and expansion of new and exisiting equine-related agribusiness;

3) to encourage research that would help the development of the horse industry;

4) to improve interaction with North Carolina governmental agencies and any national agencies deemed necessary for the improvement of the North Carolina horse industry;

5) and to enhance the general public's image and knowledge of the North Carolina horse industry.

THE SPECIFICS OF THE BILL

 It would be an assessment of $2.00/per ton of any commercial feed labelled for horse use or horse supplements (a nickel per 50 # bag of horse feed). This would amount to approximately $1.80 per horse per year. This concept has the approval of the major horse feed companies, independent feed mill operators, horse organizations and the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Affairs of the state of North Carolina.

 Once the Bill is passed by the NC Legislature, the assessment would need to have the approval of the North Carolina horse industry through a referendum.

 Horse owners who buy feed; but do not wish to contribute, could receive a refund upon request from the NC Horse Council.

Dear Representative Miller,

My husband and I own an animal feed and supply store in Durham as well as one in Fuquay Varina. We also manufacture our own brand of horse feed. I am writing to you concerning the Horse Promotion Act, a bill that is before the House Finance Committee. We have some concerns regarding this bill. This bill has been drafted and brought to you with little input from horse owners and feed distributors. We first learned of the bill two weeks ago and have not had a chance to adequately inform our customers about it. The customers we have informed have had no prior knowledge of the effort and have unanimously been opposed to the measure. Some of these customers are members of the N.C. Horse Council. Our major concern is we have found that the N.C. Horse Council, the beneficiary of this tax, has less than 600 members, which would represent about 1% of the horse owners in the state.

We also are concerned that cattle producers will have to bear a portion of this tax. For example we have one particular feed that would fall under the tax, for which approximately 25-30% of the total sales are to cattle producers. There is not a simple way to separate these customers out. This is not fair to the small cattle producers.

No matter how we try to rationalize the idea, horses are a hobby for the enjoyment of their owners. They are neither food or fiber, and the owners are as varied and diverse as the breeds of horses they own. Many horse organizations have been established and no single one can truly represent them all. Many horse owners are barely able to afford the costs associated with ownership. The way to ensure growth in the horse population is to increase disposable income. We believe that a new tax would merely result in a reduction of disposable income.

Please keep in mind, a recent ruling by the N.C. Dept of Revenue has resulted in a 6% sales tax for all feeds not used in production. This would increase the tax by an additional 1%.

I appreciate your attention to this, and I sincerely hope you will oppose this bill. It is not in the best interest of the horse owners or small retail feed businesses of this state.

Sincerely,

Message

I am writing you as a horse owner and a person involved in the feed business to address my concerns about the proposed horse feed tax which is currently being considered. I suspect that I am not alone in that I was not aware that such a tax is so close to being approved.

I sincerely hope that you will oppose this bill. If not, I am confident that before you support a tax that is going to affect such a large number of your constituents, you will want to consider the opinion of some of the tens of thousands of horse owners that are not involved in the N. C. Horse Council. Furthermore you may wish to address the concerns of the retail feed business owners' across our state who will be forced to collect a tax that will benefit a select few. I appreciate your attention to this matter and look forward to seeing that your decision supports your concern for the people which you represent.

Tom,

This is a copy of the fax I sent to Rep Carolyn Russell, David Miner & Miller. Thanks for you time & effort.

Re: Horse Promotion Act

I am writing to you because I have several customers who are very concerned about the new "tax" on horse feed. It is my understanding that you have been told that the feed industry is supporting this bill. That is not necessarily true. I would like to know more about this proposal before I could support it. Will it benefit those that have to pay for it, or will it be just another tax that they don't want to pay for a service that they don't need or want?

Please proceed very cautiously on this bill.

Subject: Horse Promotion Act

Dear Mr Dreyer,

After our conversation on Thursday, June 11 I felt it was neccessary to respond with my concerns in writing. I would ask that this be placed on record and accompany any documentation concerning the bill in question.

As one of your largest customers I would like to formally request that you consider a letter of opposition to the passage of the Horse promotion act currently under consideration in the North Carolina legislature. I do not feel that this bill is in the best interest of the horse owners or the feed industry.

My objections are based on the following facts.

1) The bill is written to support an organization that represents less than 1% of the existing horse owners in the state. This would not be fair representation for the average horse owner.

2) The majority of the money is earmarked for establishing a highly paid executive director, a secretary and a lobbyist. This would effectively be a tax that would support very few people while setting up a Political Action Committee. I feel that Cargill could represent itself in that respect more efficiently and with a more direct message.

3) The bill is being "railroaded" through with no follow up to the parties that would be affected. A Department of Agriculture representative testified in a hearing of the House Agriculture Committee that this bill had the support of the feed industry when only a few of the feed representatives had been consulted and not all of them had had sufficient time to assess the impact and formulate a response. I think it was another Minneapolis businessman, Harvey Mackay, that said " When you don't trust the method you need to also question the motive."

4) The only feedback I have been able to derive from my customers in the short time given since the issue has risen is first a lack of knowledge of the bill followed by an overwhelming lack of support for the tax. This would contradict the testimony that the horse owners wanted such a tax.

5) The assessment would be unfair to many cattle producers whom buy sweet feed for their animals. There is no way to separate them out with this method.

6) The success of promotion assessments in the past offer little support to the argument that they would increase the numbers of horses and therefore the consumption of horse feed. I would offer examples of the beef checkoff which has had little effect on the decreasing numbers of cattle which are controlled more by macroeconomic factors. I find it hard to believe that a few people no matter how well paid could increase the horse population more effectively than an increase in disposable income which would come from a DECREASE in taxes. Horses after all are merely a hobby in the US which is in the feed industry's best interest since the consumption of high margin horse feeds would be adversely affected if they were raised for slaughter. Another example of assessments not working is in the [illegible]. The consumption of [illegible] has risen nationwide while the shipments of North Carolina [illegible] has declined due to quality in the varieties grown here relative to the those grown in other areas. This has occurred with the presense of an assessment specifically set aside for the promotion of North Carolina [illegible].

I find it disheartening and disturbing that you lack confidence in Nutrena's ability to promote itself and it's product so that you would consider supporting the establishment of a bureaucracy with substantial cost to you as a manufacturer. I would much rather see that money spent on outreach to the existing horse population so that we may gain some of the 75%+ of the owners that are currently buying feed from somewhere else.

I have not addressed all of my concerns with the bill as it written. I have chosen to question mainly the concerns of establishing such a tax. I have concern with the fairness of how the referendom would be handled as well as with the oversight of the money but they could be handled with changes in the bill.

I hope that it is not too late for a response to have an effect, due to the speed in which the bill has been pushed through committees. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Section 3. This act becomes effective January 1, 1999.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 649 (2d Ed):
Lobbyist Penalty

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 24, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Miller

Senate Bill 649 increases the penalty for late filing of lobbying expense reports by lobbyists and lobbyists' principals for reports filed more than 30 days late. The current law only requires an additional $10 late filing fee. The bill is a recommendation of the Secretary of State's office and passed the Senate during the Long Session. The bill has been given a favorable report by the House Committee on Ethics.

Section 1 of the bill amends the penalties applicable to lobbyists who fail to file their required lobbying expense reports on time. Under this section a lobbyist would be required to pay $10 for a report which is less than 30 days late. After 30 days, the penalty increases to $50 per day up to a maximum of $1,000. An appeal process to seek a waiver of the penalty is provided, where excusable neglect, unavoidable delay, or impossibility of performance can be shown as good cause justifying the delay. This appeal is made to the Secretary of State.

Section 2 amends the penalties applicable to lobbyist's principals who fail to file their required lobbying expense reports on time in the same manners as is being amended for lobbyists. A principal means the entity in whose behalf the lobbyist influences or attempts to influence legislative action.

Current law requires a lobbyist and a lobbyist's principal to file an expense report with the Secretary of State within 60 days after the last day of the regular session. The report must include all expenditures made between January 1 and the last day of the regular session. The report must also show the date of each expenditure, to whom paid, the name of any legislator benefitting from the expenditure and the amount of each expenditure made in connection with lobbying in the categories of transportation, lodging, entertainment, food, any item having a cash equivalent value of more than $25 and contributions made or promised. If more than 10 legislators benefitted or were invited to benefit from an expenditure, the lobbyist is only required to report the number of legislators or, with particularity, the basis for their selection.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Secretary of State.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill will increase the penalty for filing a late lobbying expense report with the Secretary of State's office. Currently there is a one time late fee of $10.00. The bill increases the late fee to $10.00 per day, up to 30 days. After thirty days, the daily fee increases to $50.00. The maximum total fine is $1000.00

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: According to the Secretary of State's office, there were 610 lobbyists and 497 principals for the 1997 legislative session (1107 total). End of session reports were due to that office by October 27, 1997. 121 lobbyists and principals did not file their reports by that date. At this point, 95 of those delinquent lobbyists and principals have filed late reports and paid the associated fees for that session. Twenty-six lobbyists and principals filled a late report but did not file a late fee. As such, 11% of lobbyists and principals were late filers. The Secretary of State reports that reporting late fees created $950 in revenue.

During the 1996 session, North Carolina had 584 lobbyists and 636 principals (1220 total). Of these principals and lobbyists, 278 submitted late reports. As such, in 1996, approximately 22.8% of the lobbyists and principals were late reporters. Late reporting fee estimates are not available for the 1996 session.

North Carolina is one of only three states that link their reporting exclusively to the legislative calendar. One other state, West Virginia, links their reporting period to the legislative session and a series of annual dates. Of the states with a similar reporting calendar, one does not access a dollar penalty, and another addresses the issue only when the late reporting is considered "willful and intentional" requiring court action. Neither drew revenue from penalties in 1997. The third state, New Mexico, charges a penalty of $50 per day, to a maximum of $5000. New Mexico revenue data is not available.

Of our surrounding states, only Georgia does not have a penalty (see chart for explanation). The average total late fee collections from the two states that provided revenue information, South Carolina and Florida, is $4,275. In both states approximately 4% of lobbyists and principals were diligent in the 1997. Both have a progressive penalty system somewhat similar to the bill.

Assuming the 4% experience in Florida and South Carolina applied, under the bill North Carolina could expect approximately 45 individuals to be delinquent under the new system. Given the experience of South Carolina and Florida, these individuals would pay between $25 and $100 in fines, for a total potential revenue of $1125 to $4500. This would be a revenue increase of $175 to $3550 after each legislative session.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: These estimates are only provided to give a revenue range, since they are based on limited survey information. Each state's experiences may be unique. Because the late fees are collected after the legislative session, no revenue is expected in FY 1998-9.

EXPENDITURES	(to be determined by the Horse Council)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the North Carolina Horse Council to hold a referendum among horse owners on whether to levy a fee of up to $2 a ton on commercial horse feed for the purpose of promoting the horse industry. If approved by a majority of the horse owners, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will collect the fee from commercial feed dealers and distributors and remit the funds to the Horse Council on a quarterly basis. The assessment will be levied for no more than three years. Horse owners have a right to request a refund of the fee from the Horse Council if they do not wish to participate in the promotion effort.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In the 1996 North Carolina Equine Survey, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services identified 33,000 equine owners and 132,000 head of equine in the state. The Department 's 1996 Feed Tonnage Report showed 97,279 tons of horse feed were purchased in the state. Horse feed sales grew 8.7% a year from 1993 to 1996, but the growth rate was only 4.4% from 1995 to 1996. Without data on the projected growth in the state's equine herd, it is impossible to predict what the future growth in feed sales will be. This note assumes a flat 100,000 tons of horse feed are purchased each year during the three years that the assessment is in place. If the referendum is successful, this note assumes the Horse Council will assess $2 per ton beginning in FY 1998-99 for revenues of $200,000 per year.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1529 (2d Ed.):
Horse Promotion Assessment

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 23, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Brown

House Bill 1529 provides for a referendum to allow horse owners to assess themselves through a levy on commercial horse feed, in order to provide funds to the North Carolina Horse Council. These funds will be used to promote interests in the horse industry and for administrative expenses reasonably necessary to carry out this promotion. The 2nd Edition differs from the introduced bill by adding definitions for "equine" and "horse owner". This 2nd Edition was given a favorable report in the House Committee on Agriculture. The act is effective when it become law.

House Bill 1529 authorizes the North Carolina Horse Council to conduct a referendum among horse owners to determine if the assessment should be levied. To take effect, the assessment must be approved by a majority of votes cast in the referendum. The amount of the assessment may not exceed $2 per ton of commercial horse feed and shall not extend for a period of more than 3 years. The Council is to determine the exact amount and period of the levy.

If the assessment is approved, the North Carolina Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall notify all commercial feed dealers and distributors of the assessment and shall provide forms for reporting the assessment. The assessment is to be remitted to the Department with the inspection feed imposed under the Commercial Feed Law, Article 31C of Chapter 106. Anyone who purchases commercial horse feed upon which the assessment has been paid may demand a refund of the assessment by writing the Horse Council within 30 days of buying the feed and providing proof of purchase.

The Department is to remit funds to the North Carolina Horse Council at least quarterly.

Similar promotion assessment acts have been enacted for flue-cured tobacco farmers, strawberry producers and pork producers,

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PRESERVE THE TAX-EXEMPT STATUS FOR PIPED NATURAL GAS SOLD BY MUNICIPALITIES AND TO MAKE THE TAXES ON OTHER SALES OF PIPED NATURAL GAS MORE UNIFORM.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 5E.

"Piped Natural Gas Tax.

"§ 105-187.40. Definitions.

The definitions in G.S. 105-228.90 and the following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Gas city. -- A city in this State that operated a piped natural gas distribution system as of July 1, 1998. These cities are Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

(2) Local distribution company. -- A natural gas company to whom the North Carolina Utilities Commission has issued a franchise under Chapter 62 of the General Statutes to serve an area of this State.

(3) Premises. -- Defined in G.S. 62-110.2. When applying the definition of premises to this Article, electric service is to be construed as piped natural gas service.

(4) Sales customer. -- An end-user who does not have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and whose piped natural gas is delivered by the seller of the gas.

(5) Transportation customer. -- An end-user who does not have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and whose piped natural gas is delivered by a person who is not the seller of the gas.

"§ 105-187.41. Tax imposed on piped natural gas.

(a) Scope. -- An excise tax is imposed on piped natural gas received for consumption in this State. This tax is imposed in lieu of a sales and use tax and a percentage gross receipts tax on piped natural gas.

(b) Rate. -- The tax rate is set in the table below. The tax rate is based on monthly therm volumes of piped natural gas received by the end-user of the gas. If an end-user receives piped natural gas that is metered through two or more separate measuring devices, the tax is calculated separately on the volume metered through each device rather than on the total volume metered through all measuring devices, unless the devices are located on the same premises and are part of the same billing account. In that circumstance, the tax is calculated on the total volume metered through the two or more separate measuring devices.

Monthly Volume of Therms Received	Rate Per Therm
First 200	$.0470
201 to 15,000	.0350
15,001 to 60,000	.0240
60,001 to 500,000	.0200
Over 500,000	.0015

(c) Gas City Exemption. -- The tax imposed by this section does not apply to piped natural gas received by a gas city for consumption by that city or to piped natural gas delivered by a gas city to a sales or transportation customer of the gas city.

"§ 105-187.42. Liability for the tax.

The excise tax imposed by this section on piped natural gas is payable as follows:

(1) For piped natural gas delivered by a local distribution company to a sales or transportation customer, the tax is payable by the local distribution company.

(2) For piped natural gas delivered by a person who is not a local distribution company to a sales or transportation customer, the tax is payable by that person.

(3) For piped natural gas received by a person by means of direct access to an interstate gas pipeline for consumption by that person, the tax is payable by that person.

"§ 105-187.43. Payment of the tax.

(a) Monthly Return. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable monthly to the Secretary. A monthly tax payment is due by the last day of the month that follows the month in which the tax accrues. The tax imposed by this Article on piped natural gas delivered to a sales or transportation customer accrues when the gas is delivered. The tax payable on piped natural gas received by a person who has direct access to an interstate pipeline for consumption by that person accrues when the gas is received.

(b) Small Underpayments. -- A person is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment of a monthly amount due if the person timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount due and includes the underpayment with the next return the person files.

"§ 105-187.44. Distribution of part of tax proceeds to cities.

(a) City Information. -- A monthly return filed under this Article must indicate the amount of tax attributable to the following: if a tax return does not state this information, the Secretary must determine how much of the tax proceeds are to be attributed to each city:

(1) Piped natural gas delivered during the month to sales or transportation customers in each city in the State.

(2) Piped natural gas received during the month in each city in the State by persons who have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and who receive the gas for their own consumption.

(b) Distribution. -- Within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter, the Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the tax proceeds collected under this Article during that quarter. The amount to be distributed to a city is one-half of the amount of tax attributable to that city for that quarter under subsection (a) of this section.

"§ 105-187.45. Information exchange and information returns.

(a) Utilities Information. -- The North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Public Staff of that Commission must give the Secretary a list of the entities that receive piped natural gas from an interstate pipeline and any other information available to the Commission that the Secretary asks for in administering the tax imposed by this Article.

(b) Information Return. -- The Secretary may require the operator of an interstate pipeline to report the amount of piped natural gas taken from the pipeline in this State, the persons that received the gas, and the volume received by each person.

"§ 105-187.46. Records and audits.

(a) Records. -- A person who is required to file a return under this Article must keep a record of all documents used to determine information provided in the return. The records must be kept for three years after the due date of the return to which the records apply.

(b) Audits. -- The Secretary may audit a person who is required to file a return under this Article."

Section 2. G.S. 105-116 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116. Franchise or privilege tax on electric power, ~~natural gas,~~ water, and sewerage companies.

(a) Tax. -- An annual franchise or privilege tax is imposed on the following:

(1) An electric power company engaged in the business of furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, or power.

~~(2) A natural gas company engaged in the business of furnishing piped natural gas.~~

~~(2a) A regional natural gas district created under Article 28 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.~~

(3) A water company engaged in owning or operating a water system subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

(4) A public sewerage company engaged in owning or operating a public sewerage system.

The tax on an electric power company is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from the business of furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, or power. ~~The tax on a natural gas company is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from the business of furnishing piped natural gas.~~ The tax on a regional natural gas district is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the district's taxable gross receipts from the furnishing of piped natural gas. The tax on a water company is four percent (4%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from owning or operating a water system subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. The tax on a public sewerage company is six percent (6%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from owning or operating a public sewerage company. A company's taxable gross receipts are its gross receipts from business inside the State less the amount of gross receipts from sales reported under subdivision (b)(2). A company that engages in more than one business taxed under this section shall pay tax on each business. A company is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this section for the company's investments in certain entities in accordance with Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.

(b) Report and Payment. -- The tax imposed by this section is payable monthly or quarterly as specified in this subsection. A report is due quarterly. An electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, or a regional natural gas district~~ company shall pay tax monthly. A monthly tax payment is due by the last day of the month that follows the month in which the tax accrues, except the payment for tax that accrues in May. The payment for tax that accrues in May is due by June 25. A taxpayer is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment of a monthly amount due if the taxpayer timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount due and includes the underpayment with the next report the company files. A water company or a public sewerage company shall pay tax quarterly when filing a report.

A quarterly report covers a calendar quarter and is due by the last day of the month that follows the quarter covered by the report. A taxpayer shall submit a report on a form provided by the Secretary. The report shall include the taxpayer's gross receipts from all property it owned or operated during the reporting period in connection with its business taxed under this section and shall contain the following information:

(1) The taxpayer's gross receipts for the reporting period from business inside and outside this State, stated separately.

(2) The taxpayer's gross receipts from commodities or services described in subsection (a) that are sold to a vendee subject to the tax levied by this section or to a joint agency established under ~~G.S. Chapter 159B~~ Chapter 159B of the General Statutes or a city having an ownership share in a project established under that Chapter.

(3) The amount of and price paid by the taxpayer for commodities or services described in subsection (a) that are purchased from others engaged in business in this State and the name of each vendor.

(4) For an electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, or a regional natural gas district,~~ company the entity's gross receipts from the sale within each city of the commodities and services described in subsection (a).

A taxpayer ~~shall~~ must report its gross receipts on an accrual basis. If a taxpayer's report does not state the taxpayer's taxable gross receipts derived within a city, the Secretary must determine a practical method of allocating part of the taxpayer's taxable gross receipts to the city.

~~(1) Special charges collected within this State by the company pursuant to drilling and exploration surcharges approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, if the surcharges are segregated from the other receipts of the company and are devoted to drilling, exploration, and other means to acquire additional supplies of natural gas for the account of natural gas customers in North Carolina and the beneficial interest in the surcharge collections is preserved for the natural gas customers paying the surcharges under rules established by the Commission.~~

~~(2) Natural gas expansion surcharges imposed under G.S. 62-158.~~

(d) Distribution. -- Part of the taxes imposed by this section on electric power companies, natural gas companies, and regional natural gas districts is distributed to cities under G.S. 105-116.1.

(e) Local Tax. -- So long as there is a distribution to cities from the tax imposed by this section, no city shall impose or collect any greater franchise, privilege or license taxes, in the aggregate, on the businesses taxed under this section, than was imposed and collected on or before January 1, 1947. ~~If any municipality shall have collected any privilege, license or franchise tax between January 1, 1947, and April 1, 1949, in excess of the tax collected by it prior to January 1, 1947, then upon distribution of the taxes imposed by this section to municipalities, the amount distributable to any municipality shall be credited with such excess payment.~~

~~(f) Gas City Exemption. -- The tax imposed by this section does not apply to the following cities that operate their own piped natural gas systems: Bessemer City, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Shelby, Greenville, Monroe, Rocky Mount, and Wilson.~~"

Section 3. G.S. 105-116.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116.1. Distribution of gross receipts taxes to cities.

(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Freeze deduction. -- The amount by which the percentage distribution amount of a city was required to be reduced in fiscal year 1995-96 in determining the amount to distribute to the city.

(2) Percentage distribution amount. -- Three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of the gross receipts derived by an electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, a regional natural gas district,~~ company and a telephone company from sales within a city that are taxable under G.S. 105-116 or G.S. 105-120.

(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the taxes collected under this Article on electric power ~~companies, natural gas companies, regional natural gas districts,~~ companies and telephone companies. Each city's share for a calendar quarter is the percentage distribution amount for that city for that quarter minus one-fourth of the city's hold-back amount and one-fourth of the city's proportionate share of the annual cost to the Department of administering the distribution. The Secretary must make the distribution within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter.

(c) Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1995-96 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(2) Compare the adjusted 1995-96 amount with the city's 1990-91 distribution.

(3) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is less than or equal to the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is zero.

(4) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is more than the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is the city's freeze deduction minus the difference between the city's 1990-91 distribution and the city's 1995-96 distribution.

(d) Allocation of Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Determine the amount by which the freeze deduction is reduced for all cities whose hold-back amount is determined under subsection (c) of this section. This amount is the total hold-harmless adjustment.

(2) Determine the amount of gross receipts taxes that would be distributed for the quarter to cities whose hold-back amount is determined under this subsection if these cities received their percentage distribution amount minus one-fourth of their freeze deduction.

(3) For each city included in the calculation in subdivision (2) of this subsection, determine that city's percentage share of the amount determined under that subdivision.

(4) Add to the city's freeze deduction an amount equal to the city's percentage share under subdivision (3) of this subsection multiplied by the total hold-harmless adjustment."

Section 4. G.S. 105-164.3(25) reads as rewritten:

"(25) 'Utility' means an electric power ~~company, a gas company, a regional naturalgas district,~~ company or a telephone company that is subject to a privilege tax based on gross receipts under G.S. 105-116 or 105-120, a business entity that provides local, toll, or private telecommunications service as defined by G.S. ~~105-120(e)~~ 105-120(e), or a municipality that sells electric power, other than a municipality whose only wholesale supplier of electric power is a federal agency and who is required by a contract with that federal agency to make payments in lieu of taxes."

Section 5. G.S. 105-164.4(a) reads as rewritten:

d. Sales of fuel, other than ~~electricity or piped natural gas,~~ electricity, to manufacturing industries and manufacturing plants for use in connection with the operation of such industries and plants other than sales of fuels to be used for residential heating purposes. considered a retailer under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the sales price of each article sold by the retailer at the flea market. A person who leases or rents space to others at a flea market may not lease or rent this space unless the retailer requesting to rent or lease the space shows the license or a copy of the license required by this Article or other evidence of compliance. A person who leases or rents space at a flea market shall keep records of retailers who have leased or rented space at the flea market. As used in this subdivision, the term 'flea market' means a place where space is rented to a person for the purpose of selling tangible personal property.

"(d) After determining the proportion of its total capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as set out in subsection (c) of this section, which amount so determined shall in no case be less than fifty-five percent (55%) of the appraised value as determined for ad valorem taxation of all the real and tangible personal property in this State of each such corporation plus the total appraised value of intangible property returned for taxation of intangible personal property as herein specified nor less than its total actual investment in tangible property in this State, every corporation taxed under this section shall annually pay to the Secretary of Revenue, at the time the report and statement are due, a franchise or privilege tax, which is hereby levied at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of the total amount of capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as herein provided. The tax imposed in this section shall in no case be less than thirty-five dollars ($35.00) and shall be for the privilege of carrying on, doing business, and/or the continuance of articles of incorporation or domestication of each such corporation in this State. Appraised value of intangible property shall be the total gross valuation required to be reported for intangible tax purposes on April 15 coincident with or next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return. The term "total actual investment in tangible property" as used in this section shall be construed to mean the total original purchase price or consideration to the reporting taxpayer of its tangible properties, including real estate, in this State plus additions and improvements thereto less reserve for depreciation as permitted for income tax purposes, and also less any indebtedness incurred and existing by virtue of the purchase of any real estate and any permanent improvements made thereon. In computing "total actual investment in tangible personal property" there shall also be deducted reserves for the entire cost of any air-cleaning device or sewage or waste treatment plant, including waste lagoons, and pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed which reduces the amount of air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and industrial wastes or other polluting materials or substances into the outdoor atmosphere or into streams, lakes, or rivers, upon condition that the corporation claiming such deduction shall furnish to the Secretary a certificate from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources or from a local air pollution control program for air-cleaning devices located in an area where the Environmental Management Commission has certified a local air pollution control program pursuant to G.S. 143-215.112 certifying that said Department or local air pollution control program has found as a fact that the air-cleaning device, waste treatment plant or pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed as above described has actually been constructed and installed and that such device, plant or equipment complies with the requirements of the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program with respect to such devices, plants or equipment, that such device, plant or equipment is being effectively operated in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in the permit, certificate of approval, or other document of approval issued by the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program and that the primary purpose thereof is to reduce air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and waste and not merely incidental to other purposes and functions. The cost of constructing facilities of any private or public utility built for the purpose of providing sewer service to residential and outlying areas shall be treated as deductible for the purposes of this section; the deductible liability allowed by this section shall apply only with respect to such pollution abatement plants or equipment constructed or installed on or after January 1, 1955.

~~In determining the total tax payable by any corporation under this section, there shall be allowed as a credit on such tax the amount of the credit authorized by Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.~~"

Section 9. G.S. 105-122 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d1) Credits. -- A corporation is allowed the following credits against the tax imposed by this section for a taxable year:

(1) The credit claimed for the taxable year under Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.

(2) One-half of the amount of tax payable during the taxable year under Article 5E of this Chapter."

Section 10. G.S. 105-259(b)(5b) reads as rewritten:

"(5b) To furnish to the finance officials of a city a list of the utility taxable gross receipts ~~that were derived from sales within the city and used to determine the city's distribution~~ and piped natural gas tax revenues attributable to the city under G.S. 105-116.1 ~~or~~ and G.S. 105-187.44 or under former ~~distribution under~~ G.S. 105-116 and G.S. 105-120."

Section 11. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(21) To exchange information concerning the tax on piped natural gas imposed by Article 5E of this Chapter with the North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Public Staff of that Commission."

Section 12. G.S. 160A-211 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) Piped Gas Restriction. -- A city may not levy a privilege license tax on a person who is engaged in the business of supplying piped natural gas and is subject to tax under Article 5E of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes."

Section 13. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-164.4 and G.S. 105-164.6, sales and use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes does not apply to piped natural gas sold by a city in this State that operated a piped natural gas distribution system as of July 1, 1998. These cities are Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

Section 14. The provisions of this act are severable. If any provision of this act is held invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the invalidity does not affect other provisions of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision.

Section 15. Sections 1 through 12 of this act become effective January 1, 1999, and apply to piped natural gas delivered on or after that date. Section 13 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1998. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1327:
Proposed House Committee Substitute
No Tax on Gas Cities

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 22, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Walter Dalton

Senate Bill 1327 combines the current taxes on piped natural gas into a single, per therm tax and applies the tax uniformly to all sales of piped natural gas not exempt from the tax, effective January 1, 1999. The bill preserves the tax-exempt status for piped natural gas sold by one of the eight municipalities that operate their own piped gas system by exempting them from the tax. The proposed committee substitute, proposed by the sponsor of the bill, simply changes the lowest rate from .004 to .0015.

There are three types of sellers of piped natural gas: a utility company, a gas marketer, and a gas city. A utility company is a utility regulated by the Utilities Commission. A gas marketer is a person who sells piped natural gas but is not a regulated utility. Gas marketers use the pipeline infrastructure of the utilities to deliver the gas they sell and they pay a transportation charge to the utilities for this service. Piped natural gas is increasingly sold by persons who are not utilities. A gas city is a city that operates its own piped gas system. Eight cities in the State do this and have since at least the 1950's. The eight gas cities are: Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

Two taxes now apply to piped natural gas. The applicability and rate of the taxes varies depending upon both the identity of the seller and the identity of the consumer. One of these taxes is a gross receipts tax equal to 3.22% of the gross receipts derived by a utility from the business of furnishing piped natural gas. The franchise tax applies only to the receipts of a regulated utility. The franchise tax on piped natural gas was enacted around 1925, when only regulated utilities could sell piped natural gas. Federal and state regulation of the piped natural gas industry has changed and now these regulations allow persons who are not utilities to sell piped natural gas. Therefore, gas marketers and gas cities, because they are not regulated utilities, are not subject to the franchise tax, except to the extent it is imposed on the transportation charges or embedded in the price paid on gas bought from a utility for resale to customers.

The second of these two taxes is the sales tax on piped gas. This tax is the result of a change made by the General Assembly in 1985. That year, the existing 6% utility franchise tax was split into a 3% sales tax and a 3.22% gross receipts tax to make the sales tax portion deductible by individuals on their federal income tax returns. Although the federal tax law changes in 1986 removed this deduction, North Carolina did not change its taxation of utilities.

For several years, the Department did not impose the general 4% State and 2% local sales and use tax rate to the sale of piped natural gas. However, under a directive recently issued by the Department of Revenue, the Department clarified that piped natural gas is tangible personal property as that term is defined in the sales and use tax statutes. Therefore, effective July 1, 1998, the retail sale of piped natural gas is subject to sales and use tax unless specifically exempted by statute.

The only sales tax exemption applicable to piped natural gas is the "products of the mine" exemption. Under that exemption, the sale of piped gas by the producer of the gas, in the producer's capacity as a producer, is exempt from sales and use tax. Few consumers of piped natural gas buy their gas directly from the producer.

The sale of piped gas by a gas city or by a gas marketer is not exempt from sales and use tax. Therefore, the retail sale of piped gas by these sellers is subject to a 6% State and local sales and use tax unless a lower rate applies. The law provides a lower rate of 3% for all sales made by regulated utilities and a lower rate of 2.83% for sales made to farmers, manufacturers, and laundries. Piped natural gas taxes at the State rate of 3% or 2.83% are not subject to the 2% local sales and use tax. If piped natural gas is purchased from a seller who is not required to collect North Carolina sales tax, then the purchaser is subject to a use tax on the purchase.

Prior to the Department's sales tax directive, the sales and use tax was not imposed on the sale of piped natural gas sold by gas cities and gas marketers. The changes made by the directive become effective July 1, 1998. This bill preserves the tax-exempt status for piped natural gas sold by gas cities.

To correct the other inequities embedded in the bifurcated taxation of piped natural gas, the bill eliminates the distinction between sales by utilities and sales by others and applies a uniform tax to all piped natural gas consumed in this State. The uniform tax is an excise tax on the gas. The tax rate is structured as a "declining block" that decreases as the amount of therms of piped gas consumed in a month increases. A declining block tax rate is used to preserve the current distribution of the tax burden between the three classes of piped gas customers. These three classes are residential, business, and industrial. The current taxes are a percentage of price. The rates for the three classes are also based on price; residential rates are the highest, business rates are in the middle, and industrial rates are the lowest. The current combination of rate and tax therefore results in a higher effective rate of tax on residential customers and a lower rate on business and industrial customers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1998 for gas cities provisions. All other sections become effective January 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill restructures state excise taxes on natural gas. The bill eliminates the distinction between sales by utilities and sales by others, and applies a uniform excise tax to all piped natural gas consumed in North Carolina. The rate is structured as a "declining block" that decreases as the amount of gas consumed per month increases. The new tax rate is based on the amount of gas consumed, rather than the price paid for the gas. The bill also exempts those cities with their own piped gas systems from the new tax.

BACKGROUND: In the natural gas industry there are three types of sellers: utility companies, gas marketers, and cities that sell their own gas. Several types of tax now apply to piped natural gas, with the rates and type of tax charged determined by the type of seller and buyer. Utility companies are responsible for a sales tax of 3% (2.83% if the customer is a manufacturer) and a gross receipts tax of 3.22% on the commodity price. Under current law the utilities are the only group responsible for sales tax. Gas marketers are responsible for a gross receipts tax on the transportation charge (not the commodity price). However, if the gas is sold to a customer with direct access, no gross receipts tax is payable. Gas cities pay no sales tax, but pay a gross receipts tax only on the gas they purchase for resale from a North Carolina utility. A use tax should be paid by the customers of natural gas marketers. All taxes are based on the price paid for the gas.

On May 5, 1998, the Department of Revenue issued a directive (SD-98-2) concerning the sale of piped natural gas. As of July 1, 1998, piped natural gas will be defined as tangible personal property and its retail sale will be subject to the 6% sales and use tax (4% state and 2% local), unless specifically exempt by statute. Sales of piped natural gas by the producer will continue to be exempt from sales tax. The sale of piped gas by a city is not exempt, and is subject to either a 3% (if utility) or 6% (not a utility) sales tax. A gas marketer is not exempt and would be responsible for the 6% rate. All gas sold to farmers, manufacturers, or laundries will be subject to a 2.83% tax. Utilities will only be responsible for a 3% sales tax rate, or 2.83% if the gas is sold to farmers, manufacturers, or laundries.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

PRE - DOR DIRECTIVE

The first estimate made for SB 1327 is the revenue impact the change in tax rate and tax structure would have on the General Fund and on local governments without the Department of Revenue directive. Actual sales and gross receipts tax collections (related to piped natural gas) in 1997 were estimated to be $58.4 million by the Public Staff of the Utilities Commission. In the same year an additional $1.8 million in use taxes were paid to the Department of Revenue. As such, the total tax collections from natural gas were estimated to be $60.2 million. To determine the anticipated revenue for fiscal year 1998-99, this number was increased by 2% each year to reflect future growth. An adjustment was also made to convert the calendar year numbers to a fiscal year basis. After these calculations, the estimate for FY 1998-99 under the current law is $61,991,337.

SB 1327 proposes to tax natural gas on a declining block tax rate system where the tax decreases as the amount of therms of gas consumed increases. The bill has five tax blocks as shown in the chart on the next page. The tax revenue from the proposed tax rates is $60,801,803 or $1,189,534 less than the projected amount under the current law.

Rate Block (therms)	98-99 Estimated Deliveries (therms)	Rate per therm	98-99 Estimated Tax Receipts
Under 200	535,766,523	$0.0470	$25,181,027
201 to 15,000	354,303,606	$0.0350	12,400,626
15,001 to 60,000	272,888,227	$0.0240	6,549,317
60,001 to 500,000	730,938,356	$0.0200	14,618,767
500,001 and over	149,934,084	$0.0015	224,901
SB 1327 Rate Blocks	2,043,830,796		$58,974,638
Use Tax Revenue			$1,827,165
TOTAL SB 1327			$60,801,803
FY 1998-99 Revenue Est.(Current Law)			$61,991,337
Revenue Loss			($1,189,534)

This revenue loss is shared by the General Fund and cities. In 1996 and 1997 gross receipts revenues, on average, accounted for 52.8% of the total estimated natural gas revenue. The remaining 47.2% comes from sales tax. All of the sales tax revenue remains with the state. The Department of Revenue estimates that approximately 80.4% of the gross receipts tax revenue is distributed to the cities. As a result, the loss in revenue will be distributed 42.45% to the cities (52.8% * 80.4%) and 57.55% to the state. The General Fund revenue loss will be subtracted from projected General Fund tax revenues for FY 1998-99. The revenue loss in the chart above is estimated to grow by 2% a year for fiscal years 1999-00 to 2002-03. The 1998-9 estimate on page one is ½ this amount, as the bill takes effective in January 1999.

POST - DOR DIRECTIVE

Without SB 1327, the state, counties and cities will gain revenue from the taxes imposed on gas cities and natural gas marketers due to the DOR directive. In 1997 it is estimated that marketers sold 64,275,492 decatherms of natural gas valued at $160,688,730. Although not taxed at the marketer level, the Department of Revenue attempts to collect the use tax on the gas from the customers. This note assumes the Department collects use tax (2.83% and 6%) on 25% of the volume sold by marketers. The remaining 75% will be taxed according to the directive. The fiscal note assumes 75% of the volume untaxed prior to July 1, 1998 is going to manufacturers and will be taxed at 2.83%. The fiscal note assumes the other 25% of untaxed gas will be taxed at 6% with the revenue split 4% state and 2% local. Future year growth in gas volume is estimated at 2% a year.

	Gas sold by Marketers	Gas Value	use tax paid on 25% of volume	25% of remainder taxed 6%	75% of remainder taxed 2.83%
1997	64,275,492	$160,688,730	$ 1,773,602	$ 1,807,748	$ 2,557,964
1998	65,561,002	$163,902,505	$ 1,809,074	$ 1,843,903	$ 2,609,123
1999	66,872,222	$167,180,555	$ 1,845,255	$ 1,880,781	$ 2,661,305
2000	68,209,666	$170,524,166	$ 1,882,160	$ 1,918,397	$ 2,714,532
2001	69,573,860	$173,934,649	$ 1,919,804	$ 1,956,765	$ 2,768,822

2003	72,384,644	$180,961,609	$ 1,997,364	$ 2,035,818	$ 2,880,683
2004	73,832,336	$184,580,841	$ 2,037,311	$ 2,076,534	$ 2,938,296

The other new revenue is from a sales tax on the eight municipal gas systems in the state. In 1997, these cities sold natural gas worth $90 million. Since 7 of the 8 municipal gas systems are utilities, this fiscal note assumes the city gas sales will be taxed at the utilities rate of 3%. A 2% growth rate is used for future year revenues.

	Value of Gas sold by cities	3% tax
1997	$ 90,000,000	$2,700,000
1998	$ 91,800,000	$2,754,000
1999	$ 93,636,000	$2,809,080
2000	$ 95,508,720	$2,865,262
2001	$ 97,418,894	$2,922,567
2002	$ 99,367,272	$2,981,018
2003	$101,354,618	$3,040,639
2004	$103,381,710	$3,101,451

Fiscal year cost is derived from the calendar year estimates by taking half of one year plus half of the next year. For example, the FY 1998-99 estimate equals half of 1998 and half of 1999. The state revenue includes 2/3 of the 6% sales on marketers, all of the 2.83% on marketers, and the tax on gas cities. The local revenue equals 1/3 of the 6% tax on marketers.

	State	Local
FY 97-98	$6,527,760	$608,609
FY 98-99	$6,658,316	$620,781
FY 99-00	$6,791,482	$633,196
FY 00-01	$6,927,312	$645,860
FY 01-02	$7,065,858	$658,777
FY 02-03	$7,207,175	$671,953

Although this fiscal note shows a loss of post - directive revenue due to this bill, this income was not built into the consensus General Fund revenue estimate for FY 1998-99. The 1998-9 estimates on page one reflect ½ of the revenue loss associated with the everything except the gas cities, as these provisions do not come into affect until January 1999. Because the gas cities exemption becomes effective at the beginning of the fiscal year, the entire cost is included in the estimate.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: It should be noted that natural gas prices are highly volatile and very sensitive to changes in climate and market forces. As such, year to year variations in the revenue associated with natural gas taxes, under the current system, can vary dramatically. It should also be noted that an increase in transportation gas directly increases the amount of revenue distributed to cities. This note differs from the previous note because of 1) the change in the rate for the largest rate block (500,001 and over) 2) new data from the Department of Revenue concerning the distribution of natural gas revenues, and 3) inclusion of the use taxes paid in the base revenue estimate, under the current system.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: The act exempts from state corporate and individual income tax the compensation received by tobacco allotment holders, tobacco workers, tobacco warehouse owners, and tobacco farmers for losses resulting from federal legislation.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: It is impossible to assess the fiscal impact of HB 1248 PCS without the passage of federal legislation on the tobacco settlement issue. As of June 22, 1998, there were 41 bills in the 105th U. S. Congress dealing with the June 1997 tobacco settlement between U.S. cigarette manufacturers and 40 states' attorney generals. Six of these bills, including Senator McCain's SB 1415, provide market transition assistance to tobacco quota holders, growers, workers, and producers. SB 1415 was debated for weeks by the U.S. Senate before it was returned to the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transport on June 17. At this point, no federal legislation dealing with compensation to the tobacco producing community is imminent.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO FACILITATE ELECTRONIC COMMERCE WITH AND BY PUBLIC AGENCIES OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA BY RECOGNIZING THE VALIDITY OF ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES AND BY AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO REGULATE ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES AND CERTIFICATION AUTHORITIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 66 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 11A.

"Electronic Commerce in Government.

"§ 66-58.1. Title; purpose.

This Article shall be known and may be cited as the Electronic Commerce Act. The purpose of this Article is to facilitate electronic commerce with public agencies and regulate the application of electronic signatures when used in commerce with public agencies.

"§ 66-58.2. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) 'Certification authority' means a person authorized by the Secretary to facilitate electronic commerce by vouching for the relationship between a person or public agency and that person's or public agency's electronic signature.

(2) 'Electronic signature' means any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature.

(3) 'Person' means any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or combination thereof of whatsoever form or character.

(4) 'Public agencies' means and includes every public office, public officer or official (State or local, elected or appointed), institution, board, commission, bureau, council, department, authority or other unit of government of the State or of any county, unit, special district or other political subdivision of government.

"§ 66-58.4. Validity of electronic signatures.

(a) An electronic signature contained in a transaction between a person and a public agency, or between public agencies, shall have the same force and effect as a manual signature provided all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The public agency involved in the transaction requests or requires the use of electronic signatures.

POSITIONS: 1

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Secretary of State

EFFECTIVE DATE: Upon Passage.

BILL SUMMARY:
Amends Section 1, Chapter 66 of the General Statutes by adding Article 11A. The new Article facilitates electronic commerce with and by public entities of the State of North Carolina by recognizing the validity of electronic signatures. Article 11A further authorizes the Secretary of State to regulate electronic signatures and certification authorities, and to assess a civil penalty (up to $100,000) against any person who violates a provision of the Article.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The bill requires the Department of the Secretary of State to perform a new regulatory function in a fluid and relatively complex technological milieu. The Department of the Secretary of State requests an additional position to perform the work required by the new function. The function requires a blend of legal/regulatory and technical skills. The individual selected for the position would be required to participate in establishing rules for the use of electronic signatures. Further, the individual would be required to evaluate and monitor certification authorities. The Department requests $75,000 for the new position.

Public-sector experience with the use of electronic signatures remains limited. As a result, a reliable estimate of the potential revenue from penalties assessed (as authorized by this bill) does not exist at this time.

House Bill 1356 enacts a new article in the Commerce and Business Chapter of the General Statutes called the Electronic Commerce Act, effective when it becomes law. House Bill 1356 was recommended by the Legislative Research Commission Committee on Information and Technology, and has been given a favorable report in House Judiciary I.

The purpose of this Act is to authorize the use and acceptance of electronic signatures by all State agencies, boards, commissions or institutions and by local political subdivisions including cities, counties, school districts or public service districts, when one of these public entities is a party to a contract, transaction, or filing. An "electronic signature" is defined as "any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature." An electronic signature is valid if the public entity requesting or requiring the signature accepts electronic signatures and if the signature meets the following requirements:

- It is unique to the person using it;
- It is capable of certification;
- It is under sole control of the person using it;
- It is linked to data in a manner that if the data are changed, the electronic signature is invalidated; and
- It conforms to rules adopted by the Secretary of State.

The Act gives the Secretary of State authority to promulgate rules to carry out provisions of the Act, as well as to impose licensing and renewal fees in amounts reasonably related to the cost of administering the Act. The rules must be adopted by October 30, 1998, and at least one public hearing is required before their adoption. The rules shall incorporate national standards for ensuring the integrity of electronic signatures. The Secretary shall seek the advice of public and private entities including the Information Resource Management Commission and the Department of Administration.

The Act authorizes the Secretary of State to assess a civil penalty of not more than $100,000 against a person who violates the Act or adopted rule. The civil penalties are deposited in the General Fund. The courts also have the authority and jurisdiction to enjoin or restrain violations of the Act.

AN ACT TO FACILITATE ELECTRONIC COMMERCE WITH AND BY PUBLIC AGENCIES OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA BY RECOGNIZING THE VALIDITY OF ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES AND BY AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO REGULATE ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES AND CERTIFICATION AUTHORITIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 66 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 11A.

"Electronic Commerce in Government.

"§ 66-58.1. Title; purpose.

This Article shall be known and may be cited as the Electronic Commerce Act. The purpose of this Article is to facilitate electronic commerce with public agencies and regulate the application of electronic signatures when used in commerce with public agencies.

"§ 66-58.2. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) 'Certification authority' means a person authorized by the Secretary to facilitate electronic commerce by vouching for the relationship between a person or public agency and that person's or public agency's electronic signature.

(2) 'Electronic signature' means any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature.

(3) 'Person' means any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or combination thereof of whatsoever form or character.

(4) 'Public agencies' means and includes every public office, public officer or official (State or local, elected or appointed), institution, board, commission, bureau, council, department, authority or other unit of government of the State or of any county, unit, special district or other political subdivision of government.

(5) 'Secretary' means Secretary of State.

(6) 'Transaction' means an electronic transmission of data between a person and a public agency, or between public agencies, including, but not limited to, contracts, filings, and legally operative documents.

"§ 66-58.3. Certification authority licensing.

All persons acting as a certification authority with respect to transactions under this Article shall be licensed by the Secretary prior to representing themselves or acting as a certification authority under this Article. Upon payment of the required fees, a certification authority meeting the standards adopted by the Secretary by rule shall be licensed for a period of one year. Licenses of certification authorities complying with the standards adopted by the Secretary may be renewed for additional one-year terms upon payment of the required renewal fee.

"§ 66-58.4. Use of electronic signatures.

(a) All public agencies may accept electronic signatures.

(b) Signatures that require attestation by a notary public may not be in the form of an electronic signature.

"§ 66-58.5. Validity of electronic signatures.

(a) An electronic signature contained in a transaction between a person and a public agency, or between public agencies, shall have the same force and effect as a manual signature provided all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The public agency involved in the transaction requests or requires the use of electronic signatures.

(2) The electronic signature contained in the transaction embodies all of the following attributes:

a. It is unique to the person using it;

b. It is capable of certification;

c. It is under sole control of the person using it;

d. It is linked to data in such a manner that if the data are changed, the electronic signature is invalidated; and

e. It conforms to rules adopted by the Secretary pursuant to this Article.

(b) A transaction between a person and a public agency, or between public agencies, is not unenforceable, nor is it inadmissible into evidence, on the sole ground that the transaction is evidenced by an electronic record or that it has been signed with an electronic signature.

"§ 66-58.6. Enforcement.

(a) The Secretary may investigate complaints or other information indicating fraudulent or unlawful conduct that violates this Article or the rules promulgated thereunder.

(b) The Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice has jurisdiction and authority upon application of the Secretary to enjoin or restrain violations of this Article.

(c) It shall be the duty of the Attorney General, when requested, to represent the Secretary in actions or proceedings in connection with this Article.

(d) Nothing in this Article shall adversely affect any rights or the enforcement of any rights acquired by any person or public agency under any other statute or at common law with respect to matters also covered by this Article.

"§ 66-58.7. Civil penalty.

The Secretary may assess a civil penalty of not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) per violation against any certification authority that violates a provision of this Article or any rule promulgated thereunder. In determining the amount of a penalty under this section, the Secretary shall give due consideration to each of the following factors:

(1) The organizational size of the person cited;
(2) The good faith of the person cited;
(3) The gravity of the violation;
(4) The prior record of the violator in complying or failing to comply with this Article or a rule adopted pursuant to this Article; and
(5) The risk of harm caused by the violation.

Chapter 150B of the General Statutes governs the imposition of a civil penalty under this section. A civil penalty owed under this section may be recovered in a civil action brought by the Secretary or the Attorney General.

"§ 66-58.8. Criminal penalty.

(a) Any person who willfully violates any provision of this Article, or who willfully violates any rule or order under this Article, with intent to defraud, is guilty of a Class I felony.

(b) The Secretary shall provide such evidence as is available concerning criminal violations of this Article or of any rule or order promulgated hereunder to the proper district attorney, who may, with or without such a reference, institute appropriate criminal proceedings under this Article.

(c) Nothing in this Article limits the power of the State to punish any person for any conduct which constitutes a crime by statute or common law.

"§ 66-58.9. Exemptions.

This Article shall not apply to any of the following:

(1) Electronic signatures and facsimile signatures that are otherwise allowed by law.

(2) The execution of documents filed with, issued, or entered by a court of the General Court of Justice. However, a document or transaction validly executed under this Article is not rendered invalid because it is filed with, or attached to, a document issued or entered by a court of the General Court of Justice.

(3) Transactions where a public agency is not a party.

"§ 66-58.10. Rule making.

(a) The Secretary may promulgate rules under this Article. Such rules may include, but are not limited to:

(1) Definitions, including, but not limited to, more technical definitions of 'certification authority' and 'electronic signature';

(2) The creation, accreditation, bonding, licensing, operation, regulation, and sanctioning of certification authorities;

(3) The imposition of licensing and renewal fees in amounts not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) per year; and

(4) The imposition of civil monetary penalties for noncompliance with this Article or the rules promulgated thereunder.

(b) Notwithstanding G.S. 150B-21.1(a), the Secretary may adopt temporary rules to implement the certification authority technology provisions of this Article using the procedure for adoption of temporary rules under G.S. 150B-21.1(a2).

(c) The Secretary shall deposit licensing and renewal fees in the General Fund."

Section 2. G.S. 150B-21.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, the Secretary of State may adopt temporary rules to implement the certification technology provisions of Article 11A of Chapter 66 of the General Statutes. (1) Notify persons on its mailing list maintained pursuant to G.S. 150B-21.2(d) and any other interested parties of its intent to adopt a temporary rule;

(2) Accept oral and written comments on the proposed temporary rule; and

(3) Hold at least one public hearing on the proposed temporary rule.

When the Secretary adopts a temporary rule pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary must submit a reference to this subsection as the Secretary's statement of need to the Codifier of Rules.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Chapter, the Codifer of Rules shall publish in the North Carolina Register a proposed temporary rule received from the Secretary in accordance with this subsection."

Section 3. In developing initial rules pursuant to this act, the Secretary shall consider national standards for ensuring the integrity of electronic signatures and shall seek the advice of public and private agencies, including, but not limited to, the Information Resource Management Commission and the North Carolina Electronics and Information Technologies Association. Before adoption of the rules, the Secretary shall hold at least one public hearing to receive comments.

Section 4. The Legislative Research Commission shall study whether the scope of Article 11A of Chapter 66 of the General Statutes should be expanded to include electronic commerce not involving a public agency. The Commission shall report its recommendations to the 1999 General Assembly.

Section 5. Section 1 of this act becomes effective January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law. The Secretary of State may adopt rules prior to January 1, 1999, to become effective on or after January 1, 1999, to implement Section 1 of this act.

Section 6. G.S. 105-20 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-20. ~~Legacy charged upon real estate, heir or devisee to deduct and pay tax; limitation; Inheritance or Estate Tax Waiver.~~ Taxes are a lien on real property in an estate.

~~Whenever such legacy shall be charged upon or payable out of real estate, the heir or devisee of such real estate, before paying the same to such legatee, shall deduct the tax therefrom at the rates aforesaid, and pay the amount so deducted to the executor or administrator or the Secretary of Revenue, and the same shall remain a charge upon such real estate until paid, and in default thereof the same shall be enforced by the decrees of the court in the same manner as the payment of such legacy may be enforced: Provided, that all taxes imposed by this Article shall be a lien upon the real and personal property of the estate on which the tax is imposed or upon the proceeds arising from the sale of such property from the time said tax is due and payable, and shall continue a lien until said tax is paid and receipted for by the proper officer of the State: Provided further, that no lien for inheritance or estate taxes shall attach or affect the land after 10 years from the date of death of the decedent: Provided further, that no taxes imposed by this Article shall be a lien upon real property that is released by an Inheritance or Estate Tax Waiver issued by the Secretary of Revenue. In any action brought under this provision it shall be a sufficient defense that the delivery or transfer of securities, deposits, assets, or property was made in good faith without knowledge of the death of the decedent and without knowledge of circumstances sufficient to place the defendant on inquiry."

Section 8. G.S. 105-30 is repealed.

Section 9. G.S. 105-31 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-31. ~~Additional remedies for enforcement of tax.~~ Action to collect tax due.

~~In addition to all other remedies which may now exist under the law, or may hereafter be established, for the collection of the taxes imposed by the preceding sections of this Article, the tax so imposed shall be a lien upon all of the property and upon all of the estate, with respect to which the taxes are levied, as well as collectible out of any other property, resort to which may be had for their payment; and the said taxes shall constitute a debt, which may be recovered in an action brought by the Secretary of Revenue in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State, and/or in any court having jurisdiction of actions of debt in any state of the United States, and/or in any court of the United States against an administrator, executor, trustee, or personal representative, and/or any person, corporation, or concern having in hand any property, funds, or assets of any nature, with respect to which such tax has been imposed. EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1229 (2nd Ed):
Abolish Inheritance Tax Waivers

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 16, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Kerr

Senate Bill 1229 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The Second Edition differs from the original bill in that the effective date is moved back from October 1, 1998, to July 1, 1998.

Current Law

G.S. 105-24 currently requires that when a person dies, the Department of Revenue must be notified of any accounts, stocks, and bonds in the name of the decedent and of the contents in decedent's safe-deposit box. The Department then issues inheritance tax waivers authorizing the bank or financial institution in possession of the decedent's property to transfer or release the property. Accounts held by the decedent and spouse with right of survivorship do not require a waiver before transfer.

Senate Bill 1229

The Bill deletes all language in G.S. 105-24 requiring the inheritance tax waivers, and repeals sections of the Inheritance Tax Article regarding penalties for failure to obtain waivers and forms required for the waivers. The Bill retains the requirement that the Secretary of Revenue must be notified of payments of proceeds of a life insurance policy when the payments are the result of the death of the individual who owned the policy and was the named insured under the policy. Notification is also required of the initial payment of an annuity or initial distribution of an IRA when the payment or distribution is the result of the death of the annuitant or owner of the IRA. However, notification is not required in the following instances:

1. When the payment or distribution is to a surviving spouse.
2. When the payment or distribution is to a class A beneficiary and the proceeds of the policy or the total amount paid under the annuity or distributed under the IRA do not exceed $100,000.

Senate Bill 1229 clarifies that inheritance taxes are a lien on real property in the decedent's estate and makes technical changes to the Inheritance Tax Article.

The Department of Revenue supports the abolishment of inheritance tax waivers, because the lien on the decedent's property is adequate security for payment of inheritance taxes. Also, most estates do not have to pay inheritance taxes. The abolishment of tax waivers also relieves the burden on the public to apply for and receive tax waivers when administering a decedent's estate. The Department feels that the tax waiver requirement creates a burden to the public that is much greater than any benefit derived.

BILL SUMMARY: When a person dies, current law requires that the Department of Revenue be notified of any accounts, stocks, and bonds held in the name of the decedent. The bill retains the requirement that the Secretary of Revenue be notified of payments from certain life insurance policies, annuities, and IRAs. May 27, 1998

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PRESERVE THE TAX-EXEMPT STATUS FOR PIPED NATURAL GAS SOLD BY MUNICIPALITIES AND TO MAKE THE TAXES ON OTHER SALES OF PIPED NATURAL GAS MORE UNIFORM.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 5E.

"Piped Natural Gas Tax.

"§ 105-187.40. Definitions.

The definitions in G.S. 105-228.90 and the following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Gas city. -- A city in this State that operated a piped natural gas distribution system as of July 1, 1998. These cities are Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

(2) Local distribution company. -- A natural gas company to whom the North Carolina Utilities Commission has issued a franchise under Chapter 62 of the General Statutes to serve an area of this State.

(3) Premises. -- Defined in G.S. 62-110.2. When applying the definition of premises to this Article, electric service is to be construed as piped natural gas service.

(4) Sales customer. -- An end-user who does not have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and whose piped natural gas is delivered by the seller of the gas.

(5) Transportation customer. -- An end-user who does not have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and whose piped natural gas is delivered by a person who is not the seller of the gas.

"§ 105-187.41. Tax imposed on piped natural gas.

(a) Scope. -- An excise tax is imposed on piped natural gas received for consumption in this State. This tax is imposed in lieu of a sales and use tax and a percentage gross receipts tax on piped natural gas.

(b) Rate. -- The tax rate is set in the table below. The tax rate is based on monthly therm volumes of piped natural gas received by the end-user of the gas. If an end-user receives piped natural gas that is metered through two or more separate measuring devices, the tax is calculated separately on the volume metered through each device rather than on the total volume metered through all measuring devices, unless the devices are located on the same premises and are part of the same billing account. In that circumstance, the tax is calculated on the total volume metered through the two or more separate measuring devices.

Monthly Volume of Therms Received	Rate Per Therm
First 200	$.0470
201 to 15,000	.0350
15,001 to 60,000	.0240
60,001 to 500,000	.0200
Over 500,000	.0015

(c) Gas City Exemption. -- The tax imposed by this section does not apply to piped natural gas received by a gas city for consumption by that city or to piped natural gas delivered by a gas city to a sales or transportation customer of the gas city.

"§ 105-187.42. Liability for the tax.

The excise tax imposed by this section on piped natural gas is payable as follows:

(1) For piped natural gas delivered by a local distribution company to a sales or transportation customer, the tax is payable by the local distribution company.

(2) For piped natural gas delivered by a person who is not a local distribution company to a sales or transportation customer, the tax is payable by that person.

(3) For piped natural gas received by a person by means of direct access to an interstate gas pipeline for consumption by that person, the tax is payable by that person.

"§ 105-187.43. Payment of the tax.

(a) Monthly Return. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable monthly to the Secretary. A monthly tax payment is due by the last day of the month that follows the month in which the tax accrues. The tax imposed by this Article on piped natural gas delivered to a sales or transportation customer accrues when the gas is delivered. The tax payable on piped natural gas received by a person who has direct access to an interstate pipeline for consumption by that person accrues when the gas is received.

(b) Small Underpayments. -- A person is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment of a monthly amount due if the person timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount due and includes the underpayment with the next return the person files.

"§ 105-187.44. Distribution of part of tax proceeds to cities.

(a) City Information. -- A monthly return filed under this Article must indicate the amount of tax attributable to the following: if a tax return does not state this information, the Secretary must determine how much of the tax proceeds are to be attributed to each city:

(1) Piped natural gas delivered during the month to sales or transportation customers in each city in the State.

(2) Piped natural gas received during the month in each city in the State by persons who have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and who receive the gas for their own consumption.

(b) Distribution. -- Within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter, the Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the tax proceeds collected under this Article during that quarter. The amount to be distributed to a city is one-half of the amount of tax attributable to that city for that quarter under subsection (a) of this section.

"§ 105-187.45. Information exchange and information returns.

(a) Utilities Information. -- The North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Public Staff of that Commission must give the Secretary a list of the entities that receive piped natural gas from an interstate pipeline and any other information available to the Commission that the Secretary asks for in administering the tax imposed by this Article.

(b) Information Return. -- The Secretary may require the operator of an interstate pipeline to report the amount of piped natural gas taken from the pipeline in this State, the persons that received the gas, and the volume received by each person.

"§ 105-187.46. Records and audits.

(a) Records. -- A person who is required to file a return under this Article must keep a record of all documents used to determine information provided in the return. The records must be kept for three years after the due date of the return to which the records apply.

(b) Audits. -- The Secretary may audit a person who is required to file a return under this Article."

Section 2. G.S. 105-116 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116. Franchise or privilege tax on electric power, ~~natural gas,~~ water, and sewerage companies.

(a) Tax. -- An annual franchise or privilege tax is imposed on the following:

(1) An electric power company engaged in the business of furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, or power.

~~(2) A natural gas company engaged in the business of furnishing piped natural gas.~~

~~(2a) A regional natural gas district created under Article 28 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.~~

(3) A water company engaged in owning or operating a water system subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

(4) A public sewerage company engaged in owning or operating a public sewerage system.

The tax on an electric power company is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from the business of furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, or power. ~~The tax on a natural gas company is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from the business of furnishing piped natural gas.~~ The tax on a regional natural gas district is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the district's taxable gross receipts from the furnishing of piped natural gas. The tax on a water company is four percent (4%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from owning or operating a water system subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. The tax on a public sewerage company is six percent (6%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from owning or operating a public sewerage company. A company's taxable gross receipts are its gross receipts from business inside the State less the amount of gross receipts from sales reported under subdivision (b)(2). A company that engages in more than one business taxed under this section shall pay tax on each business. A company is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this section for the company's investments in certain entities in accordance with Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.

(b) Report and Payment. -- The tax imposed by this section is payable monthly or quarterly as specified in this subsection. A report is due quarterly. An electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, or a regional natural gas district~~ company shall pay tax monthly. A monthly tax payment is due by the last day of the month that follows the month in which the tax accrues, except the payment for tax that accrues in May. The payment for tax that accrues in May is due by June 25. A taxpayer is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment of a monthly amount due if the taxpayer timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount due and includes the underpayment with the next report the company files. A water company or a public sewerage company shall pay tax quarterly when filing a report.

A quarterly report covers a calendar quarter and is due by the last day of the month that follows the quarter covered by the report. A taxpayer shall submit a report on a form provided by the Secretary. The report shall include the taxpayer's gross receipts from all property it owned or operated during the reporting period in connection with its business taxed under this section and shall contain the following information:

(1) The taxpayer's gross receipts for the reporting period from business inside and outside this State, stated separately.

(2) The taxpayer's gross receipts from commodities or services described in subsection (a) that are sold to a vendee subject to the tax levied by this section or to a joint agency established under ~~G.S. Chapter 159B~~ Chapter 159B of the General Statutes or a city having an ownership share in a project established under that Chapter.

(3) The amount of and price paid by the taxpayer for commodities or services described in subsection (a) that are purchased from others engaged in business in this State and the name of each vendor.

(4) For an electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, or a regional natural gas district,~~ company the entity's gross receipts from the sale within each city of the commodities and services described in subsection (a).

A taxpayer ~~shall~~ must report its gross receipts on an accrual basis. If a taxpayer's report does not state the taxpayer's taxable gross receipts derived within a city, the Secretary must determine a practical method of allocating part of the taxpayer's taxable gross receipts to the city.

~~(1) Special charges collected within this State by the company pursuant to drilling and exploration surcharges approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, if the surcharges are segregated from the other receipts of the company and are devoted to drilling, exploration, and other means to acquire additional supplies of natural gas for the account of natural gas customers in North Carolina and the beneficial interest in the surcharge collections is preserved for the natural gas customers paying the surcharges under rules established by the Commission.~~

~~(2) Natural gas expansion surcharges imposed under G.S. 62-158.~~

(d) Distribution. -- Part of the taxes imposed by this section on electric power companies, natural gas companies, and regional natural gas districts is distributed to cities under G.S. 105-116.1.

(e) Local Tax. -- So long as there is a distribution to cities from the tax imposed by this section, no city shall impose or collect any greater franchise, privilege or license taxes, in the aggregate, on the businesses taxed under this section, than was imposed and collected on or before January 1, 1947. ~~If any municipality shall have collected any privilege, license or franchise tax between January 1, 1947, and April 1, 1949, in excess of the tax collected by it prior to January 1, 1947, then upon distribution of the taxes imposed by this section to municipalities, the amount distributable to any municipality shall be credited with such excess payment.~~

~~(f) Gas City Exemption. -- The tax imposed by this section does not apply to the following cities that operate their own piped natural gas systems: Bessemer City, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Shelby, Greenville, Monroe, Rocky Mount, and Wilson.~~"

Section 3. G.S. 105-116.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116.1. Distribution of gross receipts taxes to cities.

(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Freeze deduction. -- The amount by which the percentage distribution amount of a city was required to be reduced in fiscal year 1995-96 in determining the amount to distribute to the city.

(2) Percentage distribution amount. -- Three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of the gross receipts derived by an electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, a regional natural gas district,~~ company and a telephone company from sales within a city that are taxable under G.S. 105-116 or G.S. 105-120.

(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the taxes collected under this Article on electric power ~~companies, natural gas companies, regional natural gas districts,~~ companies and telephone companies. Each city's share for a calendar quarter is the percentage distribution amount for that city for that quarter minus one-fourth of the city's hold-back amount and one-fourth of the city's proportionate share of the annual cost to the Department of administering the distribution. The Secretary must make the distribution within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter.

(c) Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1995-96 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(2) Compare the adjusted 1995-96 amount with the city's 1990-91 distribution.

(3) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is less than or equal to the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is zero.

(4) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is more than the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is the city's freeze deduction minus the difference between the city's 1990-91 distribution and the city's 1995-96 distribution.

(d) Allocation of Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Determine the amount by which the freeze deduction is reduced for all cities whose hold-back amount is determined under subsection (c) of this section. This amount is the total hold-harmless adjustment.

(2) Determine the amount of gross receipts taxes that would be distributed for the quarter to cities whose hold-back amount is determined under this subsection if these cities received their percentage distribution amount minus one-fourth of their freeze deduction.

(3) For each city included in the calculation in subdivision (2) of this subsection, determine that city's percentage share of the amount determined under that subdivision.

(4) Add to the city's freeze deduction an amount equal to the city's percentage share under subdivision (3) of this subsection multiplied by the total hold-harmless adjustment."

Section 4. G.S. 105-164.3(25) reads as rewritten:

"(25) 'Utility' means an electric power ~~company, a gas company, a regional naturalgas district,~~ company or a telephone company that is subject to a privilege tax based on gross receipts under G.S. 105-116 or 105-120, a business entity that provides local, toll, or private telecommunications service as defined by G.S. ~~105-120(e)~~ 105-120(e), or a municipality that sells electric power, other than a municipality whose only wholesale supplier of electric power is a federal agency and who is required by a contract with that federal agency to make payments in lieu of taxes."

Section 5. G.S. 105-164.4(a) reads as rewritten:

Sales of electricity ~~and piped natural gas~~ to manufacturing industries and manufacturing plants for use in connection with the operation of the industries and plants other than sales of electricity ~~and gas~~ to be used for residential heating purposes. The quantity of electricity ~~or gas~~ purchased or used at any one time shall not be a determinative factor as to whether its sale or use is or is not subject to the rate of tax provided in this subdivision.

c. Sales of electricity ~~and piped natural gas~~ to commercial laundries or to pressing and dry-cleaning establishments for use in machinery used in the direct performance of the laundering or the pressing and cleaning service.

(2) The applicable percentage rate applies to the gross receipts derived from the lease or rental of tangible personal property by a person who is engaged in the business of leasing or renting tangible personal property, or is a retailer and leases or rents property of the type sold by the retailer. The applicable percentage rate is the rate and the maximum tax, if any, that applies to a sale of the property that is leased or rented. A person who leases or rents property shall also collect the tax imposed by this section on the separate retail sale of the property.

(3) Operators of hotels, motels, tourist homes, tourist camps, and similar type businesses and persons who rent private residences and cottages to transients are considered retailers under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the gross receipts derived by these retailers from the rental of any rooms, lodgings, or accommodations furnished to transients for a consideration. This tax does not apply to any private residence or cottage that is rented for less than 15 days in a calendar year or to any room, lodging, or accommodation supplied to the same person for a period of 90 or more continuous days.

As used in this subdivision, the term 'persons who rent to transients' means (i) owners of private residences and cottages who rent to transients and (ii) rental agents, including 'real estate brokers' as defined in G.S. 93A-2, who rent private residences and cottages to transients on behalf of the owners. If a rental agent is liable for the tax imposed by this subdivision, the owner is not liable.

(4) Every person engaged in the business of operating a dry cleaning, pressing, or hat-blocking establishment, a laundry, or any similar business, engaged in the business of renting clean linen or towels or wearing apparel, or any similar business, or engaged in the business of soliciting cleaning, pressing, hat blocking, laundering or linen rental business for any of these businesses, is considered a retailer under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the gross receipts derived by these retailers from services rendered in engaging in any of the occupations or businesses named in this subdivision. The tax imposed by this subdivision does not apply to receipts derived from coin or token-operated washing machines, extractors, and dryers. The tax imposed by this subdivision does not apply to gross receipts derived from services performed for resale by a retailer that pays the tax on the total gross receipts derived from the services.

(4a) The rate of three percent (3%) applies to the gross receipts derived by a utility from sales of ~~electricity, piped natural gas,~~ electricity or local telecommunications service as defined by G.S. 105-120(e), other than sales of electricity ~~or piped natural gas~~ subject to tax under another subdivision in this section. ~~Gross receipts from sales of piped natural gas shall not include natural gas expansion surcharges imposed under G.S. 62-158.~~ A person who operates a utility is considered a retailer under this Article.

(4b) A person who sells tangible personal property at a flea market, other than the person's own household personal property, is considered a retailer under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the sales price of each article sold by the retailer at the flea market. A person who leases or rents space to others at a flea market may not lease or rent this space unless the retailer requesting to rent or lease the space shows the license or a copy of the license required by this Article or other evidence of compliance. A person who leases or rents space at a flea market shall keep records of retailers who have leased or rented space at the flea market. As used in this subdivision, the term 'flea market' means a place where space is rented to a person for the purpose of selling tangible personal property.

(4c) The rate of six and one-half percent (6 1/2%) applies to the gross receipts derived from providing toll telecommunications services or private telecommunications services as defined by G.S. 105-120(e) that both originate from and terminate in the State and are not subject to the privilege tax under G.S. 105-120. Any business entity that provides these services is considered a retailer under this Article. This subdivision does not apply to telephone membership corporations as described in Chapter 117 of the General Statutes.

(5) (Effective until July 1, 1998) The rate of three percent (3%) applies to the sales price of food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased with coupons issued under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51.

(5) (Effective July 1, 1998) The rate of two percent (2%) applies to the sales price of food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased with coupons issued under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51."

Section 6. G.S. 105-164.13 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(44) Piped natural gas. -- This item is exempt because it is taxed under Article 5E of this Chapter."

Section 7. G.S. 105-164.20 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-164.20. Cash or accrual basis of reporting.

Any retailer, except a utility, ~~taxable under this Article having both cash and credit sales~~ may report ~~such~~ sales on either the cash or accrual basis of accounting upon making application to the Secretary for permission to use ~~such~~ the basis ~~of reporting under such rules and regulations as shall be promulgated from time to time by the Secretary. Such permission shall continue in force and effect unless revoked by the Secretary but he may grant written permission to any such taxpayer upon application therefor to change from one basis to another under such rules and regulations. A utility shall~~ selected. Permission granted by the Secretary to report on a selected basis continues in effect until revoked by the Secretary or the taxpayer receives permission from the Secretary to change the basis selected. A utility must report its sales on an accrual basis. A sale by a utility of ~~electricity, piped natural gas,~~ electricity or intrastate telephone service is considered to accrue when the utility bills its customer for the sale."

Section 8. G.S. 105-122(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) After determining the proportion of its total capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as set out in subsection (c) of this section, which amount so determined shall in no case be less than fifty-five percent (55%) of the appraised value as determined for ad valorem taxation of all the real and tangible personal property in this State of each such corporation plus the total appraised value of intangible property returned for taxation of intangible personal property as herein specified nor less than its total actual investment in tangible property in this State, every corporation taxed under this section shall annually pay to the Secretary of Revenue, at the time the report and statement are due, a franchise or privilege tax, which is hereby levied at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of the total amount of capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as herein provided. The tax imposed in this section shall in no case be less than thirty-five dollars ($35.00) and shall be for the privilege of carrying on, doing business, and/or the continuance of articles of incorporation or domestication of each such corporation in this State. Appraised value of tangible property including real estate shall be the ad valorem valuation for the calendar year next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return. Appraised value of intangible property shall be the total gross valuation required to be reported for intangible tax purposes on April 15 coincident with or next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return. The term "total actual investment in tangible property" as used in this section shall be construed to mean the total original purchase price or consideration to the reporting taxpayer of its tangible properties, including real estate, in this State plus additions and improvements thereto less reserve for depreciation as permitted for income tax purposes, and also less any indebtedness incurred and existing by virtue of the purchase of any real estate and any permanent improvements made thereon. In computing "total actual investment in tangible personal property" there shall also be deducted reserves for the entire cost of any air-cleaning device or sewage or waste treatment plant, including waste lagoons, and pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed which reduces the amount of air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and industrial wastes or other polluting materials or substances into the outdoor atmosphere or into streams, lakes, or rivers, upon condition that the corporation claiming such deduction shall furnish to the Secretary a certificate from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources or from a local air pollution control program for air-cleaning devices located in an area where the Environmental Management Commission has certified a local air pollution control program pursuant to G.S. 143-215.112 certifying that said Department or local air pollution control program has found as a fact that the air-cleaning device, waste treatment plant or pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed as above described has actually been constructed and installed and that such device, plant or equipment complies with the requirements of the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program with respect to such devices, plants or equipment, that such device, plant or equipment is being effectively operated in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in the permit, certificate of approval, or other document of approval issued by the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program and that the primary purpose thereof is to reduce air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and waste and not merely incidental to other purposes and functions. The cost of constructing facilities of any private or public utility built for the purpose of providing sewer service to residential and outlying areas shall be treated as deductible for the purposes of this section; the deductible liability allowed by this section shall apply only with respect to such pollution abatement plants or equipment constructed or installed on or after January 1, 1955.

~~In determining the total tax payable by any corporation under this section, there shall be allowed as a credit on such tax the amount of the credit authorized by Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.~~"

Section 9. G.S. 105-122 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d1) Credits. -- A corporation is allowed the following credits against the tax imposed by this section for a taxable year:

(1) The credit claimed for the taxable year under Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.

(2) One-half of the amount of tax payable during the taxable year under Article 5E of this Chapter."

Section 10. G.S. 105-259(b)(5b) reads as rewritten:

"(5b) To furnish to the finance officials of a city a list of the utility taxable gross receipts ~~that were derived from sales within the city and used to determine the city's distribution~~ and piped natural gas tax revenues attributable to the city under G.S. 105-116.1 ~~or~~ and G.S. 105-187.44 or under former ~~distribution under~~ G.S. 105-116 and G.S. 105-120."

Section 11. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(21) To exchange information concerning the tax on piped natural gas imposed by Article 5E of this Chapter with the North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Public Staff of that Commission."

Section 12. G.S. 160A-211 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) Piped Gas Restriction. -- A city may not levy a privilege license tax on a person who is engaged in the business of supplying piped natural gas and is subject to tax under Article 5E of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes."

Section 13. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-164.4 and G.S. 105-164.6, sales and use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes does not apply to piped natural gas sold by a city in this State that operated a piped natural gas distribution system as of July 1, 1998. These cities are Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

Section 14. The provisions of this act are severable. If any provision of this act is held invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the invalidity does not affect other provisions of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision.

Section 15. Sections 1 through 12 of this act become effective January 1, 1999, and apply to piped natural gas delivered on or after that date. Section 13 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1998. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1327:
Proposed House Committee Substitute
No Tax on Gas Cities

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 22, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Walter Dalton

Senate Bill 1327 combines the current taxes on piped natural gas into a single, per therm tax and applies the tax uniformly to all sales of piped natural gas not exempt from the tax, effective January 1, 1999. The bill preserves the tax-exempt status for piped natural gas sold by one of the eight municipalities that operate their own piped gas system by exempting them from the tax. The proposed committee substitute, proposed by the sponsor of the bill, simply changes the lowest rate from .004 to .0015.

There are three types of sellers of piped natural gas: a utility company, a gas marketer, and a gas city. A utility company is a utility regulated by the Utilities Commission. A gas marketer is a person who sells piped natural gas but is not a regulated utility. Gas marketers use the pipeline infrastructure of the utilities to deliver the gas they sell and they pay a transportation charge to the utilities for this service. Piped natural gas is increasingly sold by persons who are not utilities. A gas city is a city that operates its own piped gas system. Eight cities in the State do this and have since at least the 1950's. The eight gas cities are: Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

Two taxes now apply to piped natural gas. The applicability and rate of the taxes varies depending upon both the identity of the seller and the identity of the consumer. One of these taxes is a gross receipts tax equal to 3.22% of the gross receipts derived by a utility from the business of furnishing piped natural gas. The franchise tax applies only to the receipts of a regulated utility. The franchise tax on piped natural gas was enacted around 1925, when only regulated utilities could sell piped natural gas. Federal and state regulation of the piped natural gas industry has changed and now these regulations allow persons who are not utilities to sell piped natural gas. Therefore, gas marketers and gas cities, because they are not regulated utilities, are not subject to the franchise tax, except to the extent it is imposed on the transportation charges or embedded in the price paid on gas bought from a utility for resale to customers.

The second of these two taxes is the sales tax on piped gas. This tax is the result of a change made by the General Assembly in 1985. That year, the existing 6% utility franchise tax was split into a 3% sales tax and a 3.22% gross receipts tax to make the sales tax portion deductible by individuals on their federal income tax returns. Although the federal tax law changes in 1986 removed this deduction, North Carolina did not change its taxation of utilities.

For several years, the Department did not impose the general 4% State and 2% local sales and use tax rate to the sale of piped natural gas. However, under a directive recently issued by the Department of Revenue, the Department clarified that piped natural gas is tangible personal property as that term is defined in the sales and use tax statutes. Therefore, effective July 1, 1998, the retail sale of piped natural gas is subject to sales and use tax unless specifically exempted by statute.

The only sales tax exemption applicable to piped natural gas is the "products of the mine" exemption. Under that exemption, the sale of piped gas by the producer of the gas, in the producer's capacity as a producer, is exempt from sales and use tax. Few consumers of piped natural gas buy their gas directly from the producer.

The sale of piped gas by a gas city or by a gas marketer is not exempt from sales and use tax. Therefore, the retail sale of piped gas by these sellers is subject to a 6% State and local sales and use tax unless a lower rate applies. The law provides a lower rate of 3% for all sales made by regulated utilities and a lower rate of 2.83% for sales made to farmers, manufacturers, and laundries. Piped natural gas taxes at the State rate of 3% or 2.83% are not subject to the 2% local sales and use tax. If piped natural gas is purchased from a seller who is not required to collect North Carolina sales tax, then the purchaser is subject to a use tax on the purchase.

Prior to the Department's sales tax directive, the sales and use tax was not imposed on the sale of piped natural gas sold by gas cities and gas marketers. The changes made by the directive become effective July 1, 1998. This bill preserves the tax-exempt status for piped natural gas sold by gas cities.

To correct the other inequities embedded in the bifurcated taxation of piped natural gas, the bill eliminates the distinction between sales by utilities and sales by others and applies a uniform tax to all piped natural gas consumed in this State. The uniform tax is an excise tax on the gas. The tax rate is structured as a "declining block" that decreases as the amount of therms of piped gas consumed in a month increases. A declining block tax rate is used to preserve the current distribution of the tax burden between the three classes of piped gas customers. These three classes are residential, business, and industrial. The current taxes are a percentage of price. The rates for the three classes are also based on price; residential rates are the highest, business rates are in the middle, and industrial rates are the lowest. The current combination of rate and tax therefore results in a higher effective rate of tax on residential customers and a lower rate on business and industrial customers.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill restructures state excise taxes on natural gas. The bill eliminates the distinction between sales by utilities and sales by others, and applies a uniform excise tax to all piped natural gas consumed in North Carolina. The rate is structured as a "declining block" that decreases as the amount of gas consumed per month increases. The new tax rate is based on the amount of gas consumed, rather than the price paid for the gas. The bill also exempts those cities with their own piped gas systems from the new tax.

BACKGROUND: In the natural gas industry there are three types of sellers: utility companies, gas marketers, and cities that sell their own gas. Several types of tax now apply to piped natural gas, with the rates and type of tax charged determined by the type of seller and buyer. Utility companies are responsible for a sales tax of 3% (2.83% if the customer is a manufacturer) and a gross receipts tax of 3.22% on the commodity price. Under current law the utilities are the only group responsible for sales tax. Gas marketers are responsible for a gross receipts tax on the transportation charge (not the commodity price). However, if the gas is sold to a customer with direct access, no gross receipts tax is payable. Gas cities pay no sales tax, but pay a gross receipts tax only on the gas they purchase for resale from a North Carolina utility. A use tax should be paid by the customers of natural gas marketers. All taxes are based on the price paid for the gas.

On May 5, 1998, the Department of Revenue issued a directive (SD-98-2) concerning the sale of piped natural gas. As of July 1, 1998, piped natural gas will be defined as tangible personal property and its retail sale will be subject to the 6% sales and use tax (4% state and 2% local), unless specifically exempt by statute. Sales of piped natural gas by the producer will continue to be exempt from sales tax. The sale of piped gas by a city is not exempt, and is subject to either a 3% (if utility) or 6% (not a utility) sales tax. A gas marketer is not exempt and would be responsible for the 6% rate. All gas sold to farmers, manufacturers, or laundries will be subject to a 2.83% tax. Utilities will only be responsible for a 3% sales tax rate, or 2.83% if the gas is sold to farmers, manufacturers, or laundries.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

PRE - DOR DIRECTIVE

The first estimate made for SB 1327 is the revenue impact the change in tax rate and tax structure would have on the General Fund and on local governments without the Department of Revenue directive. Actual sales and gross receipts tax collections (related to piped natural gas) in 1997 were estimated to be $58.4 million by the Public Staff of the Utilities Commission. In the same year an additional $1.8 million in use taxes were paid to the Department of Revenue. As such, the total tax collections from natural gas were estimated to be $60.2 million. To determine the anticipated revenue for fiscal year 1998-99, this number was increased by 2% each year to reflect future growth. An adjustment was also made to convert the calendar year numbers to a fiscal year basis. After these calculations, the estimate for FY 1998-99 under the current law is $61,991,337.

SB 1327 proposes to tax natural gas on a declining block tax rate system where the tax decreases as the amount of therms of gas consumed increases. The bill has five tax blocks as shown in the chart on the next page. The tax revenue from the proposed tax rates is $60,801,803 or $1,189,534 less than the projected amount under the current law.

Rate Block (therms)	98-99 Estimated Deliveries (therms)	Rate per therm	98-99 Estimated Tax Receipts
Under 200	535,766,523	$0.0470	$25,181,027
201 to 15,000	354,303,606	$0.0350	12,400,626
15,001 to 60,000	272,888,227	$0.0240	6,549,317
60,001 to 500,000	730,938,356	$0.0200	14,618,767
500,001 and over	149,934,084	$0.0015	224,901
SB 1327 Rate Blocks	2,043,830,796		$58,974,638
Use Tax Revenue			$1,827,165
TOTAL SB 1327			$60,801,803
FY 1998-99 Revenue Est.(Current Law)			$61,991,337
Revenue Loss			($1,189,534)

This revenue loss is shared by the General Fund and cities. In 1996 and 1997 gross receipts revenues, on average, accounted for 52.8% of the total estimated natural gas revenue. The remaining 47.2% comes from sales tax. All of the sales tax revenue remains with the state. The Department of Revenue estimates that approximately 80.4% of the gross receipts tax revenue is distributed to the cities. As a result, the loss in revenue will be distributed 42.45% to the cities (52.8% * 80.4%) and 57.55% to the state. The General Fund revenue loss will be subtracted from projected General Fund tax revenues for FY 1998-99. The revenue loss in the chart above is estimated to grow by 2% a year for fiscal years 1999-00 to 2002-03. The 1998-9 estimate on page one is ½ this amount, as the bill takes effective in January 1999.

POST - DOR DIRECTIVE

Without SB 1327, the state, counties and cities will gain revenue from the taxes imposed on gas cities and natural gas marketers due to the DOR directive. In 1997 it is estimated that marketers sold 64,275,492 decatherms of natural gas valued at $160,688,730. Although not taxed at the marketer level, the Department of Revenue attempts to collect the use tax on the gas from the customers. This note assumes the Department collects use tax (2.83% and 6%) on 25% of the volume sold by marketers. The remaining 75% will be taxed according to the directive. The fiscal note assumes 75% of the volume untaxed prior to July 1, 1998 is going to manufacturers and will be taxed at 2.83%. The fiscal note assumes the other 25% of untaxed gas will be taxed at 6% with the revenue split 4% state and 2% local. Future year growth in gas volume is estimated at 2% a year.

	Gas sold by Marketers	Gas Value	use tax paid on 25% of volume	25% of remainder taxed 6%	75% of remainder taxed 2.83%
1997	64,275,492	$160,688,730	$ 1,773,602	$ 1,807,748	$ 2,557,964
1998	65,561,002	$163,902,505	$ 1,809,074	$ 1,843,903	$ 2,609,123
1999	66,872,222	$167,180,555	$ 1,845,255	$ 1,880,781	$ 2,661,305
2000	68,209,666	$170,524,166	$ 1,882,160	$ 1,918,397	$ 2,714,532
2001	69,573,860	$173,934,649	$ 1,919,804	$ 1,956,765	$ 2,768,822
2002	70,965,337	$177,413,342	$ 1,958,200	$ 1,995,900	$ 2,824,199
2003	72,384,644	$180,961,609	$ 1,997,364	$ 2,035,818	$ 2,880,683
2004	73,832,336	$184,580,841	$ 2,037,311	$ 2,076,534	$ 2,938,296

The other new revenue is from a sales tax on the eight municipal gas systems in the state. In 1997, these cities sold natural gas worth $90 million. Since 7 of the 8 municipal gas systems are utilities, this fiscal note assumes the city gas sales will be taxed at the utilities rate of 3%. A 2% growth rate is used for future year revenues.

	Value of Gas sold by cities	3% tax
1997	$ 90,000,000	$2,700,000
1998	$ 91,800,000	$2,754,000
1999	$ 93,636,000	$2,809,080
2000	$ 95,508,720	$2,865,262
2001	$ 97,418,894	$2,922,567
2002	$ 99,367,272	$2,981,018
2003	$101,354,618	$3,040,639
2004	$103,381,710	$3,101,451

Fiscal year cost is derived from the calendar year estimates by taking half of one year plus half of the next year. For example, the FY 1998-99 estimate equals half of 1998 and half of 1999. The state revenue includes 2/3 of the 6% sales on marketers, all of the 2.83% on marketers, and the tax on gas cities. The local revenue equals 1/3 of the 6% tax on marketers.

	State	Local
FY 97-98	$6,527,760	$608,609
FY 98-99	$6,658,316	$620,781
FY 99-00	$6,791,482	$633,196
FY 00-01	$6,927,312	$645,860
FY 01-02	$7,065,858	$658,777
FY 02-03	$7,207,175	$671,953

Although this fiscal note shows a loss of post - directive revenue due to this bill, this income was not built into the consensus General Fund revenue estimate for FY 1998-99. The 1998-9 estimates on page one reflect ½ of the revenue loss associated with the everything except the gas cities, as these provisions do not come into affect until January 1999. Because the gas cities exemption becomes effective at the beginning of the fiscal year, the entire cost is included in the estimate.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: It should be noted that natural gas prices are highly volatile and very sensitive to changes in climate and market forces. As such, year to year variations in the revenue associated with natural gas taxes, under the current system, can vary dramatically. It should also be noted that an increase in transportation gas directly increases the amount of revenue distributed to cities. This note differs from the previous note because of 1) the change in the rate for the largest rate block (500,001 and over) 2) new data from the Department of Revenue concerning the distribution of natural gas revenues, and 3) inclusion of the use taxes paid in the base revenue estimate, under the current system.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Counties, and Municipalities.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Language to stop the impact of the Department of Revenue directive becomes effective immediately. The rate structure in the bill will become effective July 1, 1999.

AMENDMENT SUMMARY: This amendment does several things. First, it delays the effective date of the bill until July 1, 1999. Second, it directs the Department of Revenue to continue taxing natural gas as they currently do, with the exception of the use tax, until that time. Third, it requires future study of the transportation rate issue by the Utility Commission.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: This note assumes that the Department of Revenue will continue to collect and distribute the amounts of natural gas related sales tax (utilities) and gross receipts tax revenue as they would have under the current law, until July 1, 1999. After July 1, 1999 the Department and associated organizations will collect revenue based on the rate blocks and exemptions included in S.B. 1327 PCS.

The note assumes the Department of Revenue will no longer be able to collect the use tax from the customers of gas marketers. In 1997 it is estimated that marketers sold 64,275,492 decatherms of natural gas valued at $160,688,730. Although not taxed at the marketer level, the Department of Revenue attempts to collect the use tax on the gas from the customers. This note assumes the Department collects use tax (2.83% and 6%) on 25% of the volume sold by marketers. Future year growth in gas volume is estimated at 2% a year.

Year	Gas Sold by Marketers	Gas Value	Use Tax Paid on 25% of Volume
1997	64,275,492	$160,688,730	$1,773,602
1998	65,561,002	$163,902,505	$1,809,074
1999	66,872,222	$167,180,555	$1,845,255
2000	68,209,666	$170,524,166	$1,882,160
2001	69,573,860	$173,934,649	$1,919,804
2002	70,965,337	$177,413,342	$1,958,200
2003	72,384,644	$180,961,609	$1,997,364
2004	73,832,336	$184580,841	$2,037,311

The estimates above were adjusted to a fiscal year basis by including 1/2 of the estimated use tax paid from each calendar year of the fiscal year.

This note assumes that 50% of the use tax currently collected is paid by customers subject to the 6% tax, and 50% is paid by customers subject to a 2.83%. All of the revenues from the 2.83% customers are retained by the state. Because the 6% tax is shared with the counties (4% state, 2% county), approximately 2/3 of the revenue in this category goes to the state, and the remainder is forwarded to the counties. It is assumed that the loss of use tax revenue will take place by the beginning of FY 1998-9.

	State Use Taxes	County Use Taxes	TOTAL
FY 1997-8	$ 1,385,599	$ 405,739	$ 1,791,338
FY 1998-9	$ 1,413,311	$ 413,854	$ 1,827,165
FY 1999-0	$ 1,441,577	$ 422,131	$ 1,863,708
FY 2000-1	$ 1,470,409	$ 430,574	$ 1,900,982
FY 2001-2	$ 1,499,817	$ 439,185	$ 1,939,002
FY 2002-3	$ 1,529,813	$ 447,969	$ 1,977,782

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: It should be noted that natural gas prices are highly volatile and very sensitive to changes in climate and market forces. As such, year to year variations in the revenue associated with natural gas taxes, under the current system, can vary dramatically. It should also be noted that an increase in transportation gas directly increases the amount of revenue distributed to cities.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PRESERVE THE TAX-EXEMPT STATUS FOR PIPED NATURAL GAS SOLD BY MUNICIPALITIES, TO MAKE THE TAXES ON OTHER SALES OF PIPED NATURAL GAS MORE UNIFORM, TO ADJUST THE CITIES' DISTRIBUTION OF THE TAX PROCEEDS UNTIL JUNE 30, 2000, TO DIRECT THE REVENUE LAWS STUDY COMMITTEE TO DETERMINE THE IMPACT OF THE TAX ON THE DISTRIBUTION TO CITIES, AND TO DIRECT THE UTILITIES COMMISSION TO STUDY THE ISSUE OF TRANSPORTATION RATES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 5E.

"Piped Natural Gas Tax.

"§ 105-187.40. Definitions.

The definitions in G.S. 105-228.90 and the following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Gas city. -- A city in this State that operated a piped natural gas distribution system as of July 1, 1998. These cities are Bessemer City, Greenville, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Monroe, Rocky Mount, Shelby, and Wilson.

(2) Local distribution company. -- A natural gas company to whom the North Carolina Utilities Commission has issued a franchise under Chapter 62 of the General Statutes to serve an area of this State.

(3) Premises. -- Defined in G.S. 62-110.2. When applying the definition of premises to this Article, electric service is to be construed as piped natural gas service.

(4) Sales customer. -- An end-user who does not have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and whose piped natural gas is delivered by the seller of the gas.

(5) Transportation customer. -- An end-user who does not have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and whose piped natural gas is delivered by a person who is not the seller of the gas.

"§ 105-187.41. Tax imposed on piped natural gas.

(a) Scope. -- An excise tax is imposed on piped natural gas received for consumption in this State. This tax is imposed in lieu of a sales and use tax and a percentage gross receipts tax on piped natural gas.

(b) Rate. -- The tax rate is set in the table below. The tax rate is based on monthly therm volumes of piped natural gas received by the end-user of the gas. If an end-user receives piped natural gas that is metered through two or more separate measuring devices, the tax is calculated separately on the volume metered through each device rather than on the total volume metered through all measuring devices, unless the devices are located on the same premises and are part of the same billing account. In that circumstance, the tax is calculated on the total volume metered through the two or more separate measuring devices.

Monthly Volume of Therms Received	Rate Per Therm
First 200	$.047
201 to 15,000	.035
15,001 to 60,000	.024
60,001 to 500,000	.015
Over 500,000	.003

(c) Gas City Exemption. -- The tax imposed by this section does not apply to piped natural gas received by a gas city for consumption by that city or to piped natural gas delivered by a gas city to a sales or transportation customer of the gas city.

"§ 105-187.42. Liability for the tax.

The excise tax imposed by this section on piped natural gas is payable as follows:

(1) For piped natural gas delivered by a local distribution company to a sales or transportation customer, the tax is payable by the local distribution company.

(2) For piped natural gas delivered by a person who is not a local distribution company to a sales or transportation customer, the tax is payable by that person.

(3) For piped natural gas received by a person by means of direct access to an interstate gas pipeline for consumption by that person, the tax is payable by that person.

"§ 105-187.43. Payment of the tax.

(a) Monthly Return. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable monthly to the Secretary. A monthly tax payment is due by the last day of the month that follows the month in which the tax accrues. The tax imposed by this Article on piped natural gas delivered to a sales or transportation customer accrues when the gas is delivered. The tax payable on piped natural gas received by a person who has direct access to an interstate pipeline for consumption by that person accrues when the gas is received.

(b) Small Underpayments. -- A person is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment of a monthly amount due if the person timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount due and includes the underpayment with the next return the person files.

"§ 105-187.44. Distribution of part of tax proceeds to cities.

(a) City Information. -- A monthly return filed under this Article must indicate the amount of tax attributable to the following: if a tax return does not state this information, the Secretary must determine how much of the tax proceeds are to be attributed to each city:

(1) Piped natural gas delivered during the month to sales or transportation customers in each city in the State.

(2) Piped natural gas received during the month in each city in the State by persons who have direct access to an interstate gas pipeline and who receive the gas for their own consumption.

(b) Distribution. -- Within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter, the Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the tax proceeds collected under this Article during that quarter. The amount to be distributed to a city is one-half of the amount of tax attributable to that city for that quarter under subsection (a) of this section.

"§ 105-187.45. Information exchange and information returns.

(a) Utilities Information. -- The North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Public Staff of that Commission must give the Secretary a list of the entities that receive piped natural gas from an interstate pipeline and any other information available to the Commission that the Secretary asks for in administering the tax imposed by this Article.

(b) Information Return. -- The Secretary may require the operator of an interstate pipeline to report the amount of piped natural gas taken from the pipeline in this State, the persons that received the gas, and the volume received by each person.

"§ 105-187.46. Records and audits.

(a) Records. -- A person who is required to file a return under this Article must keep a record of all documents used to determine information provided in the return. The records must be kept for three years after the due date of the return to which the records apply.

(b) Audits. -- The Secretary may audit a person who is required to file a return under this Article."

Section 2. G.S. 105-116 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116. Franchise or privilege tax on electric power, ~~natural gas,~~ water, and sewerage companies.

(a) Tax. -- An annual franchise or privilege tax is imposed on the following:

(1) An electric power company engaged in the business of furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, or power.

~~(2) A natural gas company engaged in the business of furnishing piped natural gas.~~

~~(2a) A regional natural gas district created under Article 28 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.~~

(3) A water company engaged in owning or operating a water system subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

(4) A public sewerage company engaged in owning or operating a public sewerage system.

The tax on an electric power company is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from the business of furnishing electricity, electric lights, current, or power. ~~The tax on a natural gas company is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from the business of furnishing piped natural gas.~~ The tax on a regional natural gas district is three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the district's taxable gross receipts from the furnishing of piped natural gas. The tax on a water company is four percent (4%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from owning or operating a water system subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. The tax on a public sewerage company is six percent (6%) of the company's taxable gross receipts from owning or operating a public sewerage company. A company's taxable gross receipts are its gross receipts from business inside the State less the amount of gross receipts from sales reported under subdivision (b)(2). A company that engages in more than one business taxed under this section shall pay tax on each business. A company is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this section for the company's investments in certain entities in accordance with Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.

(b) Report and Payment. -- The tax imposed by this section is payable monthly or quarterly as specified in this subsection. A report is due quarterly. An electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, or a regional natural gas district~~ company shall pay tax monthly. A monthly tax payment is due by the last day of the month that follows the month in which the tax accrues, except the payment for tax that accrues in May. The payment for tax that accrues in May is due by June 25. A taxpayer is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment of a monthly amount due if the taxpayer timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount due and includes the underpayment with the next report the company files. A water company or a public sewerage company shall pay tax quarterly when filing a report.

A quarterly report covers a calendar quarter and is due by the last day of the month that follows the quarter covered by the report. A taxpayer shall submit a report on a form provided by the Secretary. The report shall include the taxpayer's gross receipts from all property it owned or operated during the reporting period in connection with its business taxed under this section and shall contain the following information:

(1) The taxpayer's gross receipts for the reporting period from business inside and outside this State, stated separately.

(2) The taxpayer's gross receipts from commodities or services described in subsection (a) that are sold to a vendee subject to the tax levied by this section or to a joint agency established under ~~G.S. Chapter 159B~~ Chapter 159B of the General Statutes or a city having an ownership share in a project established under that Chapter.

(3) The amount of and price paid by the taxpayer for commodities or services described in subsection (a) that are purchased from others engaged in business in this State and the name of each vendor.

(4) For an electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, or a regional natural gas district,~~ company the entity's gross receipts from the sale within each city of the commodities and services described in subsection (a).

A taxpayer ~~shall~~ must report its gross receipts on an accrual basis. If a taxpayer's report does not state the taxpayer's taxable gross receipts derived within a city, the Secretary must determine a practical method of allocating part of the taxpayer's taxable gross receipts to the city.

~~(c) Gas Special Charges. -- Gross receipts of a natural gas company do not include the following:~~

~~(1) Special charges collected within this State by the company pursuant to drilling and exploration surcharges approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, if the surcharges are segregated from the other receipts of the company and are devoted to drilling, exploration, and other means to acquire additional supplies of natural gas for the account of natural gas customers in North Carolina and the beneficial interest in the surcharge collections is preserved for the natural gas customers paying the surcharges under rules established by the Commission.~~

~~(2) Natural gas expansion surcharges imposed under G.S. 62-158.~~

(d) Distribution. -- Part of the taxes imposed by this section on electric power companies, natural gas companies, and regional natural gas districts is distributed to cities under G.S. 105-116.1.

(e) Local Tax. -- So long as there is a distribution to cities from the tax imposed by this section, no city shall impose or collect any greater franchise, privilege or license taxes, in the aggregate, on the businesses taxed under this section, than was imposed and collected on or before January 1, 1947. ~~If any municipality shall have~~

~~collected any privilege, license or franchise tax between January 1, 1947, and April 1, 1949, in excess of the tax collected by it prior to January 1, 1947, then upon distribution of the taxes imposed by this section to municipalities, the amount distributable to any municipality shall be credited with such excess payment.~~

~~(f) Gas City Exemption. -- The tax imposed by this section does not apply to the following cities that operate their own piped natural gas systems: Bessemer City, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Shelby, Greenville, Monroe, Rocky Mount, and Wilson.~~"

Section 3. G.S. 105-116.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116.1. Distribution of gross receipts taxes to cities.

(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Freeze deduction. -- The amount by which the percentage distribution amount of a city was required to be reduced in fiscal year 1995-96 in determining the amount to distribute to the city.

(2) Percentage distribution amount. -- Three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of the gross receipts derived by an electric power ~~company, a natural gas company, a regional natural gas district,~~ company and a telephone company from sales within a city that are taxable under G.S. 105-116 or G.S. 105-120.

(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the taxes collected under this Article on electric power ~~companies, natural gas companies, regional natural gas districts,~~ companies and telephone companies. Each city's share for a calendar quarter is the percentage distribution amount for that city for that quarter minus one-fourth of the city's hold-back amount and one-fourth of the city's proportionate share of the annual cost to the Department of administering the distribution. The Secretary must make the distribution within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter.

(c) Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1995-96 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(2) Compare the adjusted 1995-96 amount with the city's 1990-91 distribution.

(3) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is less than or equal to the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is zero.

(4) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is more than the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is the city's freeze deduction minus the difference between the city's 1990-91 distribution and the city's 1995-96 distribution.

(d) Allocation of Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Determine the amount by which the freeze deduction is reduced for all cities whose hold-back amount is determined under subsection (c) of this section. This amount is the total hold-harmless adjustment.

(2) Determine the amount of gross receipts taxes that would be distributed for the quarter to cities whose hold-back amount is determined under this subsection if these cities received their percentage distribution amount minus one-fourth of their freeze deduction.

(3) For each city included in the calculation in subdivision (2) of this subsection, determine that city's percentage share of the amount determined under that subdivision.

(4) Add to the city's freeze deduction an amount equal to the city's percentage share under subdivision (3) of this subsection multiplied by the total hold-harmless adjustment."

Section 4. G.S. 105-164.3(25) reads as rewritten:

"(25) 'Utility' means an electric power ~~company, a gas company, a regional naturalgas district,~~ company or a telephone company that is subject to a privilege tax based on gross receipts under G.S. 105-116 or 105-120, a business entity that provides local, toll, or private telecommunications service as defined by G.S. ~~105-120(e)~~ 105-120(e), or a municipality that sells electric power, other than a municipality whose only wholesale supplier of electric power is a federal agency and who is required by a contract with that federal agency to make payments in lieu of taxes."

Section 5. G.S. 105-164.4(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) A privilege tax is imposed on a retailer at the following percentage rates of the retailer's net taxable sales or gross receipts, as appropriate. The general rate of tax is four percent (4%).

(1) The general rate of tax applies to the sales price of each item or article of tangible personal property that is sold at retail and is not subject to tax under another subdivision in this section.

(1a) The rate of two percent (2%) applies to the sales price of each manufactured home sold at retail, including all accessories attached to the manufactured home when it is delivered to the purchaser. The maximum tax is three hundred dollars ($300.00) per article. Each section of a manufactured home that is transported separately to the site where it is to be erected is a separate article.

(1b) The rate of three percent (3%) applies to the sales price of each aircraft, boat, railway car, or locomotive sold at retail, including all accessories attached to the item when it is delivered to the purchaser. The maximum tax is one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per article.

(1c) The rate of one percent (1%) applies to the sales price of the following articles:

a. Horses or mules by whomsoever sold.

b. Semen to be used in the artificial insemination of animals.

c. (2) The applicable percentage rate applies to the gross receipts derived from the lease or rental of tangible personal property by a person who is engaged in the business of leasing or renting tangible personal property, or is a retailer and leases or rents property of the type sold by the retailer. The applicable percentage rate is the rate and the maximum tax, if any, that applies to a sale of the property that is leased or rented. A person who leases or rents property shall also collect the tax imposed by this section on the separate retail sale of the property.

(3) Operators of hotels, motels, tourist homes, tourist camps, and similar type businesses and persons who rent private residences and cottages to transients are considered retailers under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the gross receipts derived by these retailers from the rental of any rooms, lodgings, or accommodations furnished to transients for a consideration. This tax does not apply to any private residence or cottage that is rented for less than 15 days in a calendar year or to any room, lodging, or accommodation supplied to the same person for a period of 90 or more continuous days.

As used in this subdivision, the term 'persons who rent to transients' means (i) owners of private residences and cottages who rent to transients and (ii) rental agents, including 'real estate brokers' as defined in G.S. 93A-2, who rent private residences and cottages to transients on behalf of the owners. If a rental agent is liable for the tax imposed by this subdivision, the owner is not liable.

(4) Every person engaged in the business of operating a dry cleaning, pressing, or hat-blocking establishment, a laundry, or any similar business, engaged in the business of renting clean linen or towels or wearing apparel, or any similar business, or engaged in the business of soliciting cleaning, pressing, hat blocking, laundering or linen rental business for any of these businesses, is considered a retailer under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the gross receipts derived by these retailers from services rendered in engaging in any of the occupations or businesses named in this subdivision. The tax imposed by this subdivision does not apply to receipts derived from coin or token-operated washing machines, extractors, and dryers. The tax imposed by this subdivision does not apply to gross receipts derived from services performed for resale by a retailer that pays the tax on the total gross receipts derived from the services.

(4a) The rate of three percent (3%) applies to the gross receipts derived by a utility from sales of ~~electricity, piped natural gas,~~ electricity or local telecommunications service as defined by G.S. 105-120(e), other than sales of electricity ~~or piped natural gas~~ subject to tax under another subdivision in this section. ~~Gross receipts from sales of piped natural gas shall not include natural gas expansion surcharges imposed under G.S. 62-158.~~ A person who operates a utility is considered a retailer under this Article.

(4b) A person who sells tangible personal property at a flea market, other than the person's own household personal property, is considered a retailer under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the sales price of each article sold by the retailer at the flea market. A person who leases or rents space to others at a flea market may not lease or rent this space unless the retailer requesting to rent or lease the space shows the license or a copy of the license required by this Article or other evidence of compliance. A person who leases or rents space at a flea market shall keep records of retailers who have leased or rented space at the flea market. As used in this subdivision, the term 'flea market' means a place where space is rented to a person for the purpose of selling tangible personal property.

Any business entity that provides these services is considered a retailer under this Article. This subdivision does not apply to telephone membership corporations as described in Chapter 117 of the General Statutes.

(5) (Effective until July 1, 1998) The rate of three percent (3%) applies to the sales price of food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased with coupons issued under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51.

(5) (Effective July 1, 1998) The rate of two percent (2%) applies to the sales price of food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased with coupons issued under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51."

Section 6. G.S. 105-164.13 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(44) Piped natural gas. -- This item is exempt because it is taxed under Article 5E of this Chapter."

Section 7. G.S. 105-164.20 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-164.20. Cash or accrual basis of reporting.

Any retailer, except a utility, ~~taxable under this Article having both cash and credit sales~~ may report ~~such~~ sales on either the cash or accrual basis of accounting upon making application to the Secretary for permission to use ~~such~~ the basis ~~of reporting under such rules and regulations as shall be promulgated from time to time by the Secretary. Such permission shall continue in force and effect unless revoked by the Secretary but he may grant written permission to any such taxpayer upon application therefor to change from one basis to another under such rules and regulations. A utility shall~~ selected. Permission granted by the Secretary to report on a selected basis continues in effect until revoked by the Secretary or the taxpayer receives permission from the Secretary to change the basis selected. A utility must report its sales on an accrual basis. A sale by a utility of ~~electricity, piped natural gas,~~ electricity or intrastate telephone service is considered to accrue when the utility bills its customer for the sale."

Section 8. G.S. 105-122(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) After determining the proportion of its total capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as set out in subsection (c) of this section, which amount so determined shall in no case be less than fifty-five percent (55%) of the appraised value as determined for ad valorem taxation of all the real and tangible personal property in this State of each such corporation plus the total appraised value of intangible property returned for taxation of intangible personal property as herein specified nor less than its total actual investment in tangible property in this State, every corporation taxed under this section shall annually pay to the Secretary of Revenue, at the time the report and statement are due, a franchise or privilege tax, which is hereby levied at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of the total amount of capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as herein provided. The tax imposed in this section shall in no case be less than thirty-five dollars ($35.00) and shall be for the privilege of carrying on, doing business, and/or the continuance of articles of incorporation or domestication of each such corporation in this State. Appraised value of tangible property including real estate shall be the ad valorem valuation for the calendar year next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return. Appraised value of intangible property shall be the total gross valuation required to be reported for intangible tax purposes on April 15 coincident with or next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return. The term "total actual investment in tangible property" as used in this section shall be construed to mean the total original purchase price or consideration to the reporting taxpayer of its tangible properties, including real estate, in this State plus additions and improvements thereto less reserve for depreciation as permitted for income tax purposes, and also less any indebtedness incurred and existing by virtue of the purchase of any real estate and any permanent improvements made thereon. In computing "total actual investment in tangible personal property" there shall also be deducted reserves for the entire cost of any air-cleaning device or sewage or waste treatment plant, including waste lagoons, and pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed which reduces the amount of air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and industrial wastes or other polluting materials or substances into the outdoor atmosphere or into streams, lakes, or rivers, upon condition that the corporation claiming such deduction shall furnish to the Secretary a certificate from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources or from a local air pollution control program for air-cleaning devices located in an area where the Environmental Management Commission has certified a local air pollution control program pursuant to G.S. 143-215.112 certifying that said Department or local air pollution control program has found as a fact that the air-cleaning device, waste treatment plant or pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed as above described has actually been constructed and installed and that such device, plant or equipment complies with the requirements of the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program with respect to such devices, plants or equipment, that such device, plant or equipment is being effectively operated in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in the permit, certificate of approval, or other document of approval issued by the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program and that the primary purpose thereof is to reduce air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and waste and not merely incidental to other purposes and functions. The cost of constructing facilities of any private or public utility built for the purpose of providing sewer service to residential and outlying areas shall be treated as deductible for the purposes of this section; the deductible liability allowed by this section shall apply only with respect to such pollution abatement plants or equipment constructed or installed on or after January 1, 1955.

~~In determining the total tax payable by any corporation under this section, there shall be allowed as a credit on such tax the amount of the credit authorized by Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.~~"

Section 9. G.S. 105-122 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d1) Credits. -- A corporation is allowed the following credits against the tax imposed by this section for a taxable year:

(1) The credit claimed for the taxable year under Division V of Article 4 of this Chapter.

(2) One-half of the amount of tax payable during the taxable year under Article 5E of this Chapter."

Section 10. G.S. 105-259(b)(5b) reads as rewritten:

"(5b) To furnish to the finance officials of a city a list of the utility taxable gross receipts ~~that were derived from sales within the city and used to determine the city's distribution~~ and piped natural gas tax revenues attributable to the city under G.S. 105-116.1 ~~or~~ and G.S. 105-187.44 or under former ~~distribution under~~ G.S. 105-116 and G.S. 105-120."

Section 11. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(21) To exchange information concerning the tax on piped natural gas imposed by Article 5E of this Chapter with the North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Public Staff of that Commission."

Section 12. G.S. 160A-211 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) Piped Gas Restriction. -- A city may not levy a privilege license tax on a person who is engaged in the business of supplying piped natural gas and is subject to tax under Article 5E of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes."

Section 13. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-164.4 and G.S. 105-164.6, sales and use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes does not apply to piped natural gas sold by a person that is not subject to franchise tax under G.S. 105-116.

Section 14. (a) Notwithstanding G.S. 105-187.44(b), as enacted by this act, the amount distributed to a city under G.S. 105-187.44(b) for taxes collected for each of the quarters in the fiscal year 1999-2000 may not exceed its benchmark amount until each city receives an amount equal to its benchmark amount. Each quarter, the Secretary of Revenue shall determine a city's benchmark amount and the amount it would receive under G.S. 105-187.44(b) if not for the redistribution required by this section. The Secretary shall identify those cities whose distribution amounts under G.S. 105-187.44(b) are less than their benchmark amounts and shall determine the total dollar amount of the shortfall. The Secretary shall reduce the amount to be distributed to those cities whose distribution amount under G.S. 105-187.44(b) exceeds their benchmark amount by the total dollar amount of the shortfall determined for that quarter in proportion to each city's excess. However, in no event may a city's distribution amount be reduced below its benchmark amount. The Secretary will redistribute these monies to the cities whose distribution amounts under G.S. 105-187.44(b) are less than their benchmark amounts in proportion to each city's shortfall. In any quarter that a city does not have a prior year's distribution for the corresponding quarter in fiscal year 1998-99, that city is excluded from the redistribution required under this section for that quarter. In that case, the city will receive the amount it is entitled to receive under G.S. 105-187.44(b), as enacted by this act.

For the purposes of this subsection, the term "benchmark amount" means the amount a city received under G.S. 105-116.1 attributable to piped natural gas for the corresponding quarter during the fiscal year 1998-99.

(b) The Department of Revenue must calculate the amount a city received for taxes collected for each of the first three quarters in fiscal year 1998-99 under G.S. 105-116.1 that was attributable to piped natural gas. The Department must also calculate the amount each city would have received under G.S. 105-187.44(b), as enacted by this act, for taxes collected for each of the first three quarters in fiscal year 1999-2000. The Department shall give this information to the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The Revenue Laws Study Committee shall study the impact of this act on the distribution of part of the proceeds of the excise tax on piped natural gas to the cities and report its findings, and any recommendation, to the 2000 Session of the 1999 General Assembly.

Section 15. The Utilities Commission shall study the transportation rates charged by the local distribution companies to transport piped natural gas from the interstate pipeline to the consumer.

Section 16. The provisions of this act are severable. If any provision of this act is held invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the invalidity does not affect other provisions of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision.

Section 17. Sections 1 through 12 of this act become effective July 1, 1999, and apply to piped natural gas delivered on or after that date. Section 13 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1998. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

"§ 66-58.1. Title; purpose.

This Article shall be known and may be cited as the Electronic Commerce Act. The purpose of this Article is to facilitate electronic commerce with public agencies and regulate the application of electronic signatures when used in commerce with public agencies.

"§ 66-58.2. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) 'Certification authority' means a person authorized by the Secretary to facilitate electronic commerce by vouching for the relationship between a person or public agency and that person's or public agency's electronic signature.

(2) 'Electronic signature' means any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature.

(3) 'Person' means any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or combination thereof of whatsoever form or character.

(4) 'Public agencies' means and includes every public office, public officer or official (State or local, elected or appointed), institution, board, commission, bureau, council, department, authority or other unit of government of the State or of any county, unit, special district or other political subdivision of government.

(5) 'Secretary' means Secretary of State.

(a) All public agencies may accept electronic signatures.

(b) Signatures that require attestation by a notary public may not be in the form of an electronic signature.

"§ 66-58.4. Validity of electronic signatures.

(a) An electronic signature contained in a transaction between a person and a public agency, or between public agencies, shall have the same force and effect as a manual signature provided all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The public agency involved in the transaction requests or requires the use of electronic signatures.

(2) The electronic signature contained in the transaction embodies all of the following attributes:

(a) It is unique to the person using it;

(b) It is capable of certification;

(c) It is under sole control of the person using it;

(e) It conforms to rules adopted by the Secretary pursuant to this Article.

(b) A transaction between a person and a public agency, or between public agencies, is not unenforceable, nor is it inadmissible into evidence, on the sole ground that the transaction is evidenced by an electronic record or that it has been signed with an electronic signature.

"§ 66-58.5. Enforcement.

(a) The Secretary may investigate complaints or other information indicating fraudulent or unlawful conduct that violates this Article or the rules promulgated thereunder.

(b) The Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice has jurisdiction and authority upon application of the Secretary to enjoin or restrain violations of this Article.

(c) It shall be the duty of the Attorney General, when requested, to represent the Secretary in actions or proceedings in connection with this Article.

"§ 66-58.6. Civil penalty.

The Secretary may assess a civil penalty of not more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) against any certification authority that violates a provision of this Article or any rule promulgated thereunder. (3) The gravity of the violation;

(4) The prior record of the violator in complying or failing to comply with this Article or a rule adopted pursuant to this Article; and

(5) The risk of harm caused by the violation.

Chapter 150B of the General Statutes governs the imposition of a civil penalty under this section. A civil penalty owed under this section may be recovered in a civil action brought by the Secretary or the Attorney General.

"§ 66-58.7. Criminal penalty.

(a) Any person who willfully violates any provision of this Article, or who willfully violates any rule or order under this Article, is guilty of a Class I felony.

(b) The Secretary shall provide such evidence as is available concerning criminal violations of this Article or of any rule or order promulgated hereunder to the proper district attorney, who may, with or without such a reference, institute appropriate criminal proceedings under this Article.

(c) Nothing in this Article limits the power of the State to punish any person for any conduct which constitutes a crime by statute or common law.

"§ 66-58.8. Exemptions.

This Article shall not apply to any of the following:

(a) Electronic signatures and facsimile signatures that are otherwise allowed by law.

Section 2. G.S. 150B-21.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, the Secretary of State may adopt temporary rules to implement the certification technology provisions of Article 11A Notwithstanding any other provision this Chapter, the Codifer of Rules shall publish in the North Carolina Register a proposed temporary rule received from the Secretary in accordance with this subsection."

Section 3. In developing initial rules pursuant to this act, the Secretary shall consider national standards for ensuring the integrity of electronic signatures and shall seek the advice of public and private agencies, including but not limited to the Information Resource Management Commission. Before adoption of the rules, the Secretary shall hold at least one public hearing to receive comments.

Section 4. The Legislative Research Commission shall study whether the scope of Article 11A of Chapter 66 of the General Statutes should be expanded to include electronic commerce not involving a public agency. The Commission shall report its recommendations to the 1999 General Assembly.

Section 5. This act is effective when it becomes law.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1356:
Electronic Commerce Act

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 8, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Reynolds

House Bill 1356 enacts a new article in the Commerce and Business Chapter of the General Statutes called the Electronic Commerce Act, effective when it becomes law. House Bill 1356 was recommended by the Legislative Research Commission Committee on Information and Technology, and has been given a favorable report in House Judiciary I.

The purpose of this Act is to authorize the use and acceptance of electronic signatures by all State agencies, boards, commissions or institutions and by local political subdivisions including cities, counties, school districts or public service districts, when one of these public entities is a party to a contract, transaction, or filing. An "electronic signature" is defined as "any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature." An electronic signature is valid if the public entity requesting or requiring the signature accepts electronic signatures and if the signature meets the following requirements:

- It is unique to the person using it;
- It is capable of certification;
- It is under sole control of the person using it;
- It is linked to data in a manner that if the data are changed, the electronic signature is invalidated; and
- It conforms to rules adopted by the Secretary of State.

The Act gives the Secretary of State authority to promulgate rules to carry out provisions of the Act, as well as to impose licensing and renewal fees in amounts reasonably related to the cost of administering the Act. The rules must be adopted by October 30, 1998, and at least one public hearing is required before their adoption. The rules shall incorporate national standards for ensuring the integrity of electronic signatures. The Secretary shall seek the advice of public and private entities including the Information Resource Management Commission and the Department of Administration.

The Act authorizes the Secretary of State to assess a civil penalty of not more than $100,000 against a person who violates the Act or adopted rule. The civil penalties are deposited in the General Fund. The courts also have the authority and jurisdiction to enjoin or restrain violations of the Act.

POSITIONS: 1

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Secretary of State

EFFECTIVE DATE: Upon Passage.

BILL SUMMARY:
Amends Section 1, Chapter 66 of the General Statutes by adding Article 11A. The new Article facilitates electronic commerce with and by public entities of the State of North Carolina by recognizing the validity of electronic signatures. Article 11A further authorizes the Secretary of State to regulate electronic signatures and certification authorities, and to assess a civil penalty (up to $100,000) against any person who violates a provision of the Article.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The bill requires the Department of the Secretary of State to perform a new regulatory function in a fluid and relatively complex technological milieu. The Department of the Secretary of State requests an additional position to perform the work required by the new function. The function requires a blend of legal/regulatory and technical skills. The individual selected for the position would be required to participate in establishing rules for the use of electronic signatures. Further, the individual would be required to evaluate and monitor certification authorities. The Department requests $75,000 for the new position.

Public-sector experience with the use of electronic signatures remains limited. As a result, a reliable estimate of the potential revenue from penalties assessed (as authorized by this bill) does not exist at this time.

"§ 105-20. ~~Legacy charged upon real estate, heir or devisee to deduct and pay tax; limitation; Inheritance or Estate Tax Waiver.~~ Taxes are a lien on real property in an estate.

~~Whenever such legacy shall be charged upon or payable out of real estate, the heir or devisee of such real estate, before paying the same to such legatee, shall deduct the tax therefrom at the rates aforesaid, and pay the amount so deducted to the executor or administrator or the Secretary of Revenue, and the same shall remain a charge upon such real estate until paid, and in default thereof the same shall be enforced by the decrees of the court in the same manner as the payment of such legacy may be enforced: Provided, that all taxes imposed by this Article shall be a lien upon the real and personal property of the estate on which the tax is imposed or upon the proceeds arising from the sale of such property from the time said tax is due and payable, and shall continue a lien until said tax is paid and receipted for by the proper officer of the State: Provided further, that no lien for inheritance or estate taxes shall attach or affect the land after 10 years from the date of death of the decedent: Provided further, that no taxes imposed by this Article shall be a lien upon real property that is released by an Inheritance or Estate Tax Waiver issued by the Secretary of Revenue. No formalities as to acknowledgment, probate, or approval by any officer are required as a condition to filing. Section 7. G.S. 105-24 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-24. ~~Tax waiver required for transfer of decedents' property in some cases; inventory of lock boxes; withdrawal of bank deposits, etc., payable to either husband or wife or survivor.~~ Inventory of safe-deposit boxes.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1229 (2nd Ed):
Abolish Inheritance Tax Waivers

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 16, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Kerr

Senate Bill 1229 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The Second Edition differs from the original bill in that the effective date is moved back from October 1, 1998, to July 1, 1998.

Current Law

G.S. 105-24 currently requires that when a person dies, the Department of Revenue must be notified of any accounts, stocks, and bonds in the name of the decedent and of the contents in decedent's safe-deposit box. The Department then issues inheritance tax waivers authorizing the bank or financial institution in possession of the decedent's property to transfer or release the property. Accounts held by the decedent and spouse with right of survivorship do not require a waiver before transfer.

Senate Bill 1229

The Bill deletes all language in G.S. 105-24 requiring the inheritance tax waivers, and repeals sections of the Inheritance Tax Article regarding penalties for failure to obtain waivers and forms required for the waivers. The Bill retains the requirement that the Secretary of Revenue must be notified of payments of proceeds of a life insurance policy when the payments are the result of the death of the individual who owned the policy and was the named insured under the policy. Notification is also required of the initial payment of an annuity or initial distribution of an IRA when the payment or distribution is the result of the death of the annuitant or owner of the IRA. However, notification is not required in the following instances:

1. When the payment or distribution is to a surviving spouse.
2. When the payment or distribution is to a class A beneficiary and the proceeds of the policy or the total amount paid under the annuity or distributed under the IRA do not exceed $100,000.

Senate Bill 1229 clarifies that inheritance taxes are a lien on real property in the decedent's estate and makes technical changes to the Inheritance Tax Article.

The Department of Revenue supports the abolishment of inheritance tax waivers, because the lien on the decedent's property is adequate security for payment of inheritance taxes. Also, most estates do not have to pay inheritance taxes. The abolishment of tax waivers also relieves the burden on the public to apply for and receive tax waivers when administering a decedent's estate. The Department feels that the tax waiver requirement creates a burden to the public that is much greater than any benefit derived.

The bill retains the requirement that the Secretary of Revenue be notified of payments from certain life insurance policies, annuities, and IRAs. (b) All public records related to residents and property in the area described in Section 1 of this act which were filed or recorded prior to July 1, 1998, in Mecklenburg County, shall remain in Mecklenburg County where filed or recorded, and such records shall be valid public records as to the property and persons involved even though they are recorded in Mecklenburg County, a county where the property is no longer located.

(c) On and after July 1, 1998, all real and personal property in the area described in Section 1 of this act which was subject to ad valorem taxation in that area on January 1, 1998, shall be subject to ad valorem taxes in Iredell County for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1998, to the same extent as it would have been had it been located in Iredell County on January 1, 1998, except as hereinafter provided with respect to classified registered motor vehicles. On July 1, 1998, the Mecklenburg County Tax Administrator shall transfer to the Iredell County Tax Assessor the ad valorem tax listings and valuations for all real and personal property subject to ad valorem taxation in the area described in Section 1 except classified motor vehicles which were registered in Mecklenburg County prior to July 1, 1998.

All such taxes shall be assessed and collected by the Iredell County Tax Department.

(3) The values established by the Mecklenburg County Tax Administrator on all real property shall be reduced by the Iredell County Tax Assessor by applying the difference between one hundred percent (100%) of such values and the Iredell median ratio, as established by the Sales Assessment Ratio Study compiled by the North Carolina Department of Revenue as of January 1, 1998. The taxes determined by applying this method will be collected and retained by the Iredell County Tax Collector.

Appeals to the North Carolina Property Tax Commission or to the courts shall be defended by Mecklenburg County, and Iredell County shall reimburse Mecklenburg County for all costs and expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred in connection with such appeals.

Mecklenburg County shall supply Iredell County with a list of unpaid taxes as of July 1, 1998. Any such taxes collected by Iredell County shall be promptly paid to Mecklenburg County including accrued interest.

(d) On July 1, 1998, Iredell County shall become fully responsible for completing the Street Assessment Program begun by Mecklenburg County pursuant to authority granted to counties by Article 9 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes to improve Blarney Road and Gainswood Drive to meet the State's requirements for adding such roads to the State Secondary Road System, said roads being located within the area described in Section 1 of this act. To the extent not already completed by July 1, 1998, Iredell County shall become responsible for preparing the Preliminary Assessment Roll, conducting the hearing on the Preliminary Assessment Roll Resolution, adopting the Final Assessment Roll Resolution, publishing the Notice of Confirmation of the Assessment Roll, and collecting the unpaid assessments. Should Mecklenburg County have paid the Department of Transportation for the improvement work performed on said roads before the date that the area described in Section 1 of this act is transferred to Iredell County, Iredell County will reimburse Mecklenburg County for said cost, to the extent not reimbursed by the property owners, within 90 days of said transfer of the area described in Section 1 of this act to Iredell County.

(e) No cause of action, including criminal actions, involving persons or property in that area described in Section 1 of this act which is pending on July 1, 1998, shall be abated, and such actions shall continue in Mecklenburg County.

BILL NUMBER: H.B. 1383 (Proposed Committee Substitute)

SHORT TITLE: Meck Neck

FISCAL IMPACT

Yes (X) No ( ) No Estimate Available ( )

FY 1998-99	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03

REVENUES

No expected General Fund impact
Will redistribute approximately $660,000 - $760,000 in revenues and expenditures between Mecklenburg and Iredell Counties.

EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Mecklenburg County, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools, Iredell County, Statesville-Iredell Schools, Department of Public Instruction.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1998

BILL SUMMARY: The bill will change the territory of Mecklenburg and Iredell Counties by incorporating into Iredell County the "Meck Neck" area (area of Mecklenburg County connected by land to Iredell County but not connected by land to Mecklenburg County) and certain portions of Lake Norman. The bill includes provisions dealing with the transfer of public school students, jury lists, and voting regulations. It mandates that all public records for the area filed after July 1, 1998 should be filed in Iredell County. All real and personal property in the Meck Neck area, that was subject to ad valorem tax on January 1, 1998, will be subject to tax in Iredell County for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1998, with some being subject to an adjustment factor. Mecklenburg County will retain property taxes on motor vehicles registered or listed between January 1 and June 30, 1998. The bill also transfers responsibility for a street assessment program in the area to Iredell, and clarifies that pending legal causes of action will continue in Mecklenburg County. Court jurisdictions will also be transferred.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Because there are only 12 public school students in the Meck Neck area, and all have the option of staying in Mecklenburg, it is assumed that there will be no significant cost to the state associated with student transfers. This is the only item in the bill that could have an impact on the General Fund.

The county impact assumes the following:

1) Property taxes and valuation. According to the Mecklenburg County Manager, the total value of property in the "Meck Neck" area is approximately $88 million. The current property tax rate in Iredell county is a base of $0.45/$100.00 assessed value, with a fire assessment of $0.05/$100.00 assessed value. The expected rate in Mecklenburg County for 1998-9 will be approximately $0.665/$100.00, plus a law enforcement assessment of $0.095/$100.00. New construction growth in the "Meck Neck" area is approximately 2.14%.
2) Other costs. It is assumed that the costs associated with transferring documents, jury lists, etc. will be minimal. Because it is impossible to determine how many of the 12 school students will transfer to Iredell schools, no accurate estimate of the cost associated with the transfer is possible. Mecklenburg County pays a service contract of $215,000 for the area, which they will not pay if the bill is passed. The remaining costs associated with the Street Assessment are approximately $63,000.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1748:
Proposed Committee Substitute
Delay Revenue Interpretation

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 17, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Creech

North Carolina's income tax applies to all C corporations doing business in this State. Corporations doing business in this State are those corporations that the State has the legal right to tax. Thus, the fundamental policy of the current law is to tax the income of all corporations over whom the State has jurisdiction.

House Bill 1748, as introduced, would provide an income tax exemption to a corporation that does not have a substantial physical presence in North Carolina, even if the corporation is otherwise doing business in the State. The bill as introduced is a significant departure from established policy and shifts the tax burden from taxable foreign corporations to corporations with offices in North Carolina. The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1748 directs the Secretary of Revenue not to expand the administrative construction of the term "doing business" until the Revenue Laws Study Committee has had an opportunity to study the issue and the 1999 General Assembly has had an opportunity to enact legislation on the issue.

The constitutional standard for doing business in a State is "minimal contact" and "substantial nexus". 17 NCAC 5C .0102 defines the term "doing business" as the "operation of any business enterprise or activity in North Carolina for economic gain." It then list different activities that are considered doing business. Under that rule, a corporation that does not have tangible personal property or employees located in this State is considered to be doing business in this State if it does any of the following:

- Renders a service to clients or customers in this State through in-State agents, such as non-employee independent contractors.
- Owns or rents income producing property in this State, such as trademarks, tradenames, franchise rights, computer programs, copyrights, patents, and licenses.
- Is a partner in a partnership or joint venture operating in this State.

House Bill 1748, as introduced, would invalidate this part of the Department's existing doing business rule, even though it meets the constitutional standards for doing business.

Earlier this year, the Department of Revenue attempted to modify its doing business rule to list factors the Department would consider in determining when an out-of-state credit card issuer is subject to this State's corporate income tax. The proposed amendment to the rule has not yet been considered by the Rules Review Commission. The proposed amendment provides that a financial institution that does not maintain a place of business in this State is doing business in this State, and thus subject to the State's corporate income tax, if it meets either of the following conditions:

- Makes or acquires more than $5,000,000 of loans secured by real property in this State.
- Has more than $5,000,000 of loans or other assets attributable to sources in this State and it has a substantial nexus with this State.

Whether a financial institution has substantial nexus in this State depends on the facts of each case. The proposed rule lists several factors to determine if nexus exists. The more factors that are present, the greater the likelihood that substantial nexus exists. The factors relate to maintaining an office or inventory, selling from a company vehicle, providing services through agents or employees, owning or using business property, and joining a venture operating in North Carolina. The affect of the bill as introduced would be to remove from North Carolina's tax base certain out-of-state financial institutions doing business in North Carolina.

It is a universal principle of taxation that taxes should be as low as possible and should apply uniformly and fairly to all taxpayers subject to tax. Including all taxable entities in the tax base assures the lowest possible tax rate. Corporations that do business only in North Carolina pay tax to North Carolina on 100% of their net income. If a corporation does business in several states, it pays tax on a portion of its income to each state in which it is doing business. Ideally, it would end up paying tax on 100% of its net income, just as the business operating solely in North Carolina does, but parts of the tax would be paid to different states. Under the bill as introduced, a corporation doing business in North Carolina without maintaining a place of business here would pay income tax on less than 100% of its net income because it would pay no state tax at all on its North Carolina income.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO TRANSFER THE AREA OF MECKLENBURG COUNTY KNOWN AS MECK NECK TO IREDELL COUNTY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. The boundary line between Iredell County and Mecklenburg County is hereby changed and relocated so as to divest Mecklenburg County of the territory described below, which territory shall vest in and become part of Iredell County:

That area commonly known as the Meck Neck, being all that land in Mecklenburg County which is connected by land to Iredell County and not connected by land to Mecklenburg County, and the area of Lake Norman in Mecklenburg County around such land, all as more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at Latitude 35° at 29.466" North and Longitude 80° at 56.597" West (the "present location of Fixed Lighted Marker D1" as established by the global positioning system, and being approximately .3 mile south of the southerly most point of the Meck Neck Land Area); thence in a northeasterly direction in a straight line which passes through Latitude 35° at 30.024" North and Longitude 80° at 55.736" West (the "present location of Fixed Lighted Marker D5" as established by the global positioning system) to a point in the Mecklenburg County-Iredell County line located near where the old channel of Reeds Creek intersects said line; thence in a westerly direction with the Mecklenburg County-Iredell County line to the point where said line intersects the Lincoln County line; thence in a southerly direction with the Mecklenburg County-Lincoln County line to a point where a straight line

(a) On and after July 1, 1998, all papers, documents, and instruments required or permitted to be filed or registered, involving residents and property in the area described in Section 1 of this act, which previously would have been recorded in Mecklenburg County shall be recorded in Iredell County.

(b) All public records related to residents and property in the area described in Section 1 of this act which were filed or recorded prior to July 1, 1998, in Mecklenburg County, shall remain in Mecklenburg County where filed or recorded, and such records shall be valid public records as to the property and persons involved even though they are recorded in Mecklenburg County, a county where the property is no longer located.

(c) On and after July 1, 1998, all real and personal property in the area described in Section 1 of this act which was subject to ad valorem taxation in that area on January 1, 1998, shall be subject to ad valorem taxes in Iredell County for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1998, to the same extent as it would have been had it been located in Iredell County on January 1, 1998, except as hereinafter provided with respect to classified registered motor vehicles. On July 1, 1998, the Mecklenburg County Tax Administrator shall transfer to the Iredell County Tax Assessor the ad valorem tax listings and valuations for all real and personal property subject to ad valorem taxation in the area described in Section 1 except classified motor vehicles which were registered in Mecklenburg County prior to July 1, 1998.

For the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1998, all real and personal property in the area described in Section 1 of this act which was subject to ad valorem taxation in that area on January 1, 1998, shall be assessed and taxed as follows:

(1) The ad valorem property taxes assessed on all classified registered motor vehicles registered or listed between January 1, 1998, and June 30, 1998, shall be collected by the Mecklenburg County Tax Collector and all such taxes shall be retained by Mecklenburg County. The taxes on all classified registered motor vehicles registered after June 30, 1998, shall be assessed and collected by the Iredell County Tax Department.

(2) The values established by the Mecklenburg County Tax Administrator on all personal property other than classified registered motor vehicles shall be used by the Iredell County Tax Assessor without adjustment in computing taxes due for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1998. All such taxes shall be assessed and collected by the Iredell County Tax Department.

(3) The values established by the Mecklenburg County Tax Administrator on all real property shall be reduced by the Iredell County Tax Assessor by applying the difference between one hundred percent (100%) of such values and the Iredell median ratio, as established by the Sales Assessment Ratio Study compiled by the North Carolina Department of Revenue as of January 1, 1998. The taxes determined by applying this method will be collected and retained by the Iredell County Tax Collector.

(4) Beginning January 1, 1999, all property in the area described in Section 1 which is subject to ad valorem taxation shall be listed, assessed, and taxed by Iredell County in the same manner as is prescribed by law for all other property located in Iredell County.

(5) The final tax values of property subject to ad valorem taxation in the area described in Section 1 as of January 1, 1998, shall be determined by the Mecklenburg County Tax Administrator or the Mecklenburg County Board of Equalization and Review. Appeals to the North Carolina Property Tax Commission or to the courts shall be defended by Mecklenburg County, and Iredell County shall reimburse Mecklenburg County for all costs and expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred in connection with such appeals.

(6) Any unpaid taxes or tax liens for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1998, or for prior years on property subject to taxation in the area described in Section 1 of this act shall continue to be valid and enforceable by Mecklenburg County, including the foreclosure remedies provided for in G.S. 105-374 and G.S. 105-375, and the remedies of attachment and garnishment provided for in G.S. 105-366 through G.S. 105-368. Mecklenburg County shall supply Iredell County with a list of unpaid taxes as of July 1, 1998. Any such taxes collected by Iredell County shall be promptly paid to Mecklenburg County including accrued interest.

(d) On July 1, 1998, Iredell County shall become fully responsible for completing the Street Assessment Program begun by Mecklenburg County pursuant to authority granted to counties by Article 9 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes to improve Blarney Road and Gainswood Drive to meet the State's requirements for adding such roads to the State Secondary Road System, said roads being located within the area described in Section 1 of this act. To the extent not already completed by July 1, 1998, Iredell County shall become responsible for preparing the Preliminary Assessment Roll, conducting the hearing on the Preliminary Assessment Roll Resolution, adopting the Final Assessment Roll Resolution, publishing the Notice of Confirmation of the Assessment Roll, and collecting the unpaid assessments. Should Mecklenburg County have paid the Department of Transportation for the improvement work performed on said roads before the date that the area described in Section 1 of this act is transferred to Iredell County, Iredell County will reimburse Mecklenburg County for said cost, to the extent not reimbursed by the property owners, within 90 days of said transfer of the area described in Section 1 of this act to Iredell County.

(e) No cause of action, including criminal actions, involving persons or property in that area described in Section 1 of this act which is pending on July 1, 1998, shall be abated, and such actions shall continue in Mecklenburg County.

(f) The Board of Elections of Mecklenburg County shall immediately after July 1, 1998, transfer the voter registration records pertaining to persons residing in the area described in Section 1 of this act to the Iredell County Board of Elections, and thereafter the registered voters so transferred shall be validly registered to vote in Iredell County.

(g) The Jury Commission of each county shall revise its jury lists to add to or eliminate therefrom those persons subject to jury duty who reside in the area described in Section 1 of this act, said revised jury lists to be effective July 1, 1998.

(h) The area described in Section 1 of this act shall be transferred into Superior Court District 22, District Court District 22, and Prosecutorial District 22. The area described in Section 1 of this act shall remain in the same Congressional District, the same State House of Representatives District, and the same State Senate District.

Section 3. The Meck Neck Transfer Joint Undertaking Agreement made as of November 18, 1997, by and between Iredell County and Mecklenburg County is ratified.

Section 4. Iredell County shall pay, on behalf of residents of the Meck Neck, all tuition charges which might have been imposed by the Iredell County Board of Education on children living in the Meck Neck who attended schools operated by the Iredell County Board of Education prior to July 1, 1998.

Section 5. Any child who was a resident of the area annexed by Section 1 of this act on its date of ratification and who was a student in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system during the 1997-98 school year, and the siblings of any such person, may attend school in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system without necessity of a release or payment of tuition. Such student, while attending the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system, shall be considered a resident of Mecklenburg County for all public school purposes, including transportation, athletics, and funding formulas. LEGISLATIVE FISCAL NOTE

BILL NUMBER: S.B. 1222 (Proposed Committee Substitute)

SHORT TITLE: Meck Neck

SPONSOR(S): Finance Committee

FISCAL IMPACT

Yes (X) No ( ) No Estimate Available ( )

	FY 1998-99	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03

REVENUES

No expected General Fund impact
Will redistribute approximately $660,000 - $760,000 in revenues and expenditures between Mecklenburg and Iredell Counties

EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Mecklenburg County, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools, Iredell County, Statesville-Iredell Schools, Department of Public Instruction.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1998

BILL SUMMARY: The bill will change the territory of Mecklenburg and Iredell Counties by incorporating into Iredell County the "Meck Neck" area (area of Mecklenburg County connected by land to Iredell County but not connected by land to Mecklenburg County) and certain portions of Lake Norman. The bill includes provisions dealing with the transfer of public school students, jury lists, and voting regulations. It mandates that all public records for the area filed after July 1, 1998 must be filed in Iredell County. All real and personal property in the Meck Neck area, that was subject to ad valorem tax on January 1, 1998, will be subject to taxes in Iredell County for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1998, with some being subject to an adjustment factor. Mecklenburg County will retain property taxes on motor vehicles registered or listed between January 1 and June 30, 1998. The bill also transfers responsibility for a street assessment program in the area to Iredell, and clarifies that pending legal causes of action will continue in Mecklenburg County. Court jurisdictions will also be transferred.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: While the PCS changes the bill it does not change the general fund impact. Because there are only 12 public school students in the Meck Neck area, and all have the option of staying in Mecklenburg, it is assumed that there will be no significant cost to the state associated with student transfers. This is the only item in the bill that could have an impact on the General Fund.

The county impact assumes the following:

1) Property taxes and valuation. According to the Mecklenburg County Manager, the total value of property in the "Meck Neck" area is approximately $88 million. The current property tax rate in Iredell county is a base of $0.45/$100.00 assessed value, with a fire assessment of $0.05/$100.00 assessed value. The expected rate in Mecklenburg County for 1998-9 will be approximately $0.665/$100.00, plus a law enforcement assessment of $0.095/$100.00. New construction growth in the "Meck Neck" area is approximately 2.14%.
2) Other costs. It is assumed that the costs associated with transferring documents, jury lists, etc. will be minimal. Because it is impossible to determine how many of the 12 school students will transfer to Iredell schools, no accurate estimate of the cost associated with the transfer is possible. Mecklenburg County pays a service contract of $215,000 for the area, which they will not pay if the bill is passed. The remaining costs associated with the Street Assessment are approximately $63,000.

In measuring rates of unemployment and per capita income, the Secretary shall use the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data. In measuring population growth, the Secretary shall use the most recent estimates of population certified by the State Planning Officer.

(c) Exception for Enterprise Tier One Areas. -- Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, an enterprise tier one area may not be redesignated as a higher-numbered enterprise tier area until it has been an enterprise tier one area for at least two consecutive years.

For all other purposes, a development zone has the same enterprise tier designation as the county in which it is located.

"§ 105-129.4. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Eligibility; forfeiture.

(a) Type of Business. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed by G.S. 105-129.12 if the real property for which the credit is claimed is used for a central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits allowed by this Article if the taxpayer engages in one of the following types of businesses and the jobs with respect to which a credit is claimed are created in that business, the machinery and equipment with respect to which a credit is claimed are used in that business, and the research and development for which a credit is claimed are carried out as part of that business:

(1) Air courier services.
(2) Central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs.
(3) Data processing.
(4) ~~Manufacturing or processing.~~ Manufacturing.
(5) Warehousing or ~~distribution.~~ wholesale trade.

(a1) Central Administrative Office. -- A central administrative office creates at least 40 new jobs ~~if, during the taxable year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office,~~ if the taxpayer hires at least 40 additional full-time employees to fill new positions at the ~~office.~~ office either in the year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office or in the preceding 24 months while using temporary space for the central administrative office functions during completion of the administrative office property. Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State are not considered new jobs for purposes of this subsection.

(b) Wage Standard. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if the jobs for which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central administrative office if the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State.

(b1) Large Investment. -- A taxpayer who is otherwise eligible for a tax credit under this Article becomes eligible for the large investment enhancements provided for credits under this Article if the Secretary of Commerce certifies that the taxpayer will purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central administrative office property. If the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified within this two-year period, the taxpayer forfeits the large investment enhancements as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

~~(c) Worker Training. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the tax credit for worker training only for training workers who occupy jobs for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs or which are full-time positions at a location with respect to which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment for the taxable year.~~

~~The credit for worker training is allowed only with respect to employees in positions not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and for expenditures for training that would be eligible for expenditure or reimbursement under the Department of Community Colleges' New and Expanding Industry Program, as determined by guidelines adopted by the State Board of Community Colleges. The credit is not allowed for expenditures that are paid or reimbursed by the New and Expanding Industry Program. To establish eligibility, the taxpayer must obtain as part of the application process under G.S. 105-129.6 the certification of the Department of Community Colleges that the taxpayer's planned worker training would satisfy the requirements of this paragraph. A taxpayer shall apply to the Department of Community Colleges for this certification. The application must be on a form provided by the Department of Community Colleges, must provide a detailed plan of the worker training to be provided, and must contain any information required by the Department of Community Colleges to determine whether the requirements of this paragraph will be satisfied. If the Department of Community Colleges determines that the planned worker training meets the requirements of this paragraph, the Department of Community Colleges shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed and~~

~~stating that the planned worker training meets the requirements of this paragraph. The State Board of Community Colleges may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out its responsibilities under this paragraph.~~

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any ~~other~~ transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

"§ 105-129.5. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of ~~the~~ a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding ~~five years.~~ 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.
(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.
(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

"§ 105-129.7. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Substantiation.

To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.8. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is ~~located.~~ located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3 for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1996.

"§ 105-129.9. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-

Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section ~~41~~ 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms 'qualified research expenses' and 'base amount' have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code.

"§ 105-129.11. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to ~~fifty percent (50%) of its eligible expenditures for~~ the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- ~~The eligibility of a taxpayer's expenditures and employees is determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.4.~~ An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. (Repealed effective January 1, 2002) Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5."

Section 2. G.S. 105-129.15(2) reads as rewritten:

(c) Forfeiture. -- If the owner of a large or major recycling facility fails to make the required minimum investment or create the required number of new jobs within the period certified by the Secretary of Commerce under this section, the recycling facility no longer qualifies for the applicable recycling facility tax benefits provided in this Article and in Article 5 of this Chapter and forfeits all tax benefits previously received under those Articles. Forfeiture does not occur, however, if the failure was due to events beyond the owner's control. Upon forfeiture of tax benefits previously received, the owner is liable under Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter for a tax equal to the amount of all past taxes under Articles 3, 4, and 5 previously avoided as a result of the tax benefits received plus interest at the rate established in G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the tax benefits had not been received. The tax and interest are due 30 days after the date of the forfeiture. An owner that fails to pay the tax and interest is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236.

(d) Substantiation. -- To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the owner must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every owner claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the owner is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the owner, and no credit shall be allowed to an owner that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

(e) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number and location of large and major recycling facilities qualified under this Article.

(2) The number of new jobs created by each recycling facility.

(3) The amount of investment in each recycling facility.

(4) The amount of reinvestment credit refunded to each major recycling facility under G.S. 105-129.28.

"§ 105-129.27. Credit for investing in large or major recycling facility.

(a) Credit. -- An owner that purchases or leases machinery and equipment for a major recycling facility in this State during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to fifty percent (50%) of the amount payable by the owner during the taxable year to purchase or lease the machinery and equipment. An owner that purchases or leases machinery and equipment for a large recycling facility in this State during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to twenty percent (20%) of the amount payable by the owner during the taxable year to purchase or lease the machinery and equipment.

(b) Taxes Credited. -- The credit provided in this section is allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income tax levied in Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter. Any other nonrefundable credits allowed the owner are subtracted before the credit allowed by this section.

(c) Carryforwards. -- The credit provided in this section may not exceed the amount of tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the owner. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 25 years.

(d) Change in Ownership of Facility. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a recycling facility, or any transaction by which the facility is reformulated as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding owner with respect to a credit for which the predecessor was not eligible under this section. A successor business may, however, take any carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability.

(e) Forfeiture. -- If any machinery or equipment for which a credit was allowed under this section is not placed in service within 30 months after the credit was allowed, the credit is forfeited. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236.

(f) No Double Credit. -- A recycling facility that is eligible for the credit allowed in this section is not allowed the credit for investing in machinery and equipment provided in G.S. 105-129.9.

"§ 105-129.28. Credit for reinvestment.

(a) Credit. -- A major recycling facility that is accessible by neither ocean barge nor ship and that transports materials to the facility or products away from the facility is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter equal to its additional transportation and transloading expenses incurred with respect to the materials and products due to its inability to use ocean barges or ships. The additional expenses for which credit is allowed are expenses due to using river barges and expenses due to having to use another mode of transportation because the quantity that is transported by river barge is insufficient to meet the facility's needs. In order to claim the credit allowed by this section, the facility must provide the Secretary of Commerce audited documentation of the amount of its additional transportation and transloading expenses incurred during the taxable year.

(b) Cap. -- The credit allowed to a major recycling facility under this section for the taxable year may not exceed the applicable annual cap provided in the following table:

Taxable Year	Cap
1998	$ 150,000
1999	$ 640,000
2000	$ 3,860,000
2001	$ 8,050,000

2002	$ 9,550,000
2003	$10,100,000
2004-2007	$10,400,000

(c) Reduction. -- For the first ten taxable years after the owner begins transporting materials and products to and from the major recycling facility, the credit allowed by this section must be reduced by the amount of credit allowed in previous years that was used for a purpose other than an allowable purpose under subsection (d) of this section, as certified by the Secretary of Commerce.

(d) Use of Credited Amount. -- For the first ten taxable years after the owner begins construction of the major recycling facility, the owner must use the amount of credit allowed under this section to pay for (i) investment in rail or roads associated with the facility, (ii) investment in water system infrastructure designed to reduce the expense of transporting materials and products to and from the recycling facility, and (iii) investment in land and infrastructure for other industrial sites located in the same county as the recycling facility. If the owner determines that there are no reasonable economic opportunities in a given year to use the total amount of credit for the expenditures described above, the owner may use the excess for investment at or in connection with the recycling facility above the initial required investment of three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000).

Expenses incurred for the purposes allowed in this subsection during a taxable year in the ten-year period may be counted toward a credit allowed in a later taxable year in the ten-year period. If the owner is not able to use the full amount of the credit during a taxable year for any of the purposes allowed by this subsection, the excess may be used for these purposes in subsequent taxable years.

The owner must provide the Secretary of Commerce with annual audited documentation demonstrating that the amount of credit received under this section during the previous twelve-month period has not been used for a purpose inconsistent with this subsection. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the owner has used any of the credit for a purpose that is inconsistent with the requirements of this subsection, the Secretary of Commerce shall certify the amount so used to the Secretary of Revenue and the credit allowed the owner under this section for the following taxable year shall be reduced by that amount in accordance with subsection (c) of this section.

After the end of the ten-year period, the amount of any credit allowed under this section that has not yet been used may be used for investment at or in connection with the recycling facility above the initial required investment of three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000).

(e) Credit Refundable. -- If the credit allowed by this section exceeds the amount of tax imposed by Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, the Secretary shall refund the excess to the taxpayer. The refundable excess is governed by the provisions governing a refund of an overpayment by the taxpayer of the tax imposed in Part 1 of Article 4 of this Chapter. In computing the amount of tax against which multiple credits are allowed, nonrefundable credits are subtracted before refundable credits."

Section 13. G.S. 105-164.3 is amended by renumbering subdivision (8) as (7b) and adding a new subdivision to read:

"(8) Major recycling facility. -- Defined in G.S. 105-129.25."

Section 14. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(1d) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"j. Sales to a major recycling facility of the following tangible personal property for use in connection with the facility: cranes, structural steel crane support systems, foundations related to the cranes and support systems, port and dock facilities, rail equipment, and material handling equipment."

Section 15. G.S. 105-164.13 is amended by adding two new subdivisions to read:

"(10a) Sales to a major recycling facility of (i) lubricants and other additives for motor vehicles or machinery and equipment used at the facility and (ii) materials, supplies, parts, and accessories, other than machinery and equipment, that are not capitalized by the taxpayer and are used or consumed in the manufacturing and material handling processes at the facility.

(10b) Sales to a major recycling facility of electricity used at the facility."

Section 16. G.S. 105-164.14 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(g) Major Recycling Facilities. -- The owner of a major recycling facility is allowed an annual refund of sales and use taxes paid by it under this Article on building materials, building supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of the real property of the recycling facility. Liability incurred indirectly by the owner for sales and use taxes on these items is considered tax paid by the owner. A request for a refund must be in writing and must include any information and documentation required by the Secretary. A request for a refund is due within six months after the end of the major recycling facility's fiscal year. Refunds applied for after the due date are barred."

Section 17. G.S. 105-164.14(f) reads as rewritten:

"(f) Information to Counties. -- Upon written request of a county, the Secretary shall, within 30 days after the request, provide the designated county official a list of each claimant that has, within the past 12 months, received a refund under subsection ~~(b) or (c)~~ (b), (c), or (g) of this section of at least one thousand dollars ($1,000) of tax paid to the county. The list shall include the name and address of each claimant and the amount of the refund it has received from that county. Upon written request of a county, a claimant that has received a refund under subsection ~~(b) or (c)~~ (b), (c), or (g) of this section shall provide the designated county official a copy of the request for the refund and any supporting documentation requested by the county to verify the request. For the purpose of this subsection, the designated county official is the chair of the board of county commissioners or a county official designated in a resolution adopted by the board. Information provided to a county under this subsection is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1. If a claimant determines that a refund it has received under subsection ~~(b) or (c)~~ (b), (c), or (g) of this section is incorrect, it shall file an amended request for the refund."

Section 18. G.S. 105-275(8)b. reads as rewritten:

"b. Real or personal property that is used or, if under construction, is to be used ~~exclusively~~ predominantly for recycling or resource recovering of or from solid waste, if the Department of Environment and Natural Resources furnishes a certificate to the tax supervisor of the county in which the property is situated stating the Department of Environment and Natural Resources has found that the described property has been or will be constructed or installed, complies or will comply with the rules of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, and has, or will have as ~~its primary~~ a purpose recycling or resource recovering of or from solid waste."

Section 19. G.S. 105-129.28, as enacted by Section 12 of this act, is repealed effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2008. This section does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person arising under G.S. 105-129.28 before the effective date of its repeal; nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that accrued under G.S. 105-129.28 before the effective date of its repeal.

The sole purpose of this ten-year sunset provision is to allow a determination to be made whether any major recycling facility continues to experience additional transportation and transloading expenses due to its inability to use ocean barges or ships to transport materials and products to and from the facility. It is the expectation and intent that the General Assembly will postpone the sunset of G.S. 105-129.28 if it is determined that, based on audited documentation submitted by a major recycling facility and verified by the Secretary of Commerce, that any major recycling facility continues to experience these additional transportation and transloading expenses as of 2008.

FRD, 6/16/98

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1569[1]:
Proposed Committee Substitute (June 16)
Economic Opportunity Act of 1998

TO: House and Senate Finance Committees
FROM: Martha H. Harris, Staff Attorney
DATE: June 16, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Hoyle

This bill is designed to promote economic development throughout the State in five ways[2]:

1. It makes various amendments to the William S. Lee Act to encourage large investments and remove technical problems with the Act.
2. It authorizes enhanced incentives for development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within municipalities.
3. It expands and modifies the Industrial Development Fund to provide financial support for projects in rural and less prosperous areas of the State.
4. To encourage development of air courier hubs, it provides sales tax and property tax reductions for air couriers and provides a temporary bidding law exemption for specific projects of the Piedmont Triad International Airport Authority.
5. To encourage development of the recycling industry in Tier One counties, it provides an investment tax credit for large and major recycling facilities that locate in Tier One counties and, in addition, it provides a refundable reinvestment credit and sales tax reductions for major recycling facilities.

William S. Lee Act Modifications. Part I of the bill makes a number of changes to the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act, some technical and some substantive. Unless a different date is given, these changes all become effective beginning with the 1999 tax year.

[1] The House companion to this bill is House Bill 1688, introduced by Representative Gray.

[2] The proposed committee substitute differs from the original bill in four ways. First, it authorizes local governments to use up to 2% of a grant from the Industrial Development Fund to administer the grant and to verify that the funds are used for the required purposes. Second, it specifies that under the Bill Lee Act, the wage standard for a development zone is the same as in a Tier One County. Third, it narrows the sales tax reductions for air carriers to apply only to air courier hubs. Fourth, it adds Part IV of the bill to encourage development of the recycling industry in Tier One counties.

Part I makes two changes to the central administrative office credit that was enacted last year. First, it allows the credit to be taken against the insurance gross premiums tax. This change will permit insurance companies to qualify for the credit. Second, it clarifies that a central administrative office meets the requirement for creating new jobs if the jobs begin before the office property is in service but are located at a temporary facility that the business occupies while waiting for its office property to be completed.

Part I also makes two changes to the credit for investing in machinery and equipment. First, it provides that for projects that span two tax years, the threshold applies only once to the investment. Otherwise, a project put in service from May through September would receive more benefit than a project put in service from November through March. This change goes into effect beginning with the 1998 tax year. Second, it expands the credit to include machinery and equipment the taxpayer uses under an operating lease, but only if the machinery and equipment are part of a project valued at $150 million or more. Otherwise, the current law allows the credit only for machinery and equipment the taxpayer acquires under a capital lease or purchases and capitalizes.

Part I expands the credit for research and development. The existing credit for research and development piggybacks the federal credit, allowing a State credit equal to approximately ¼ of the federal credit as it relates to North Carolina activities. In 1997, Congress enacted an alternative credit for research and development. The bill modifies the State credit to also allow a credit equal to approximately ¼ of the federal alternative credit as it relates to North Carolina activities.

Part I simplifies the credit for worker training. In order to qualify under current law for the credit for worker training, the taxpayer must get its planned training certified in advance by the Department of Community Colleges. This requirement has been difficult both for taxpayers and for the Department of Community Colleges. The bill replaces the current credit measured by costs of training with a credit for wages paid to workers while they are being trained (not including on-the-job training). The credit is restricted to employees for whom the taxpayer qualifies for the jobs tax credit and employees being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer qualifies for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

Finally, Part I makes a number of administrative and technical changes to the William S. Lee Act. First, it levies a $75.00 application fee on taxpayers who seek to qualify for a credit. The proceeds of the fee will help the Department of Commerce defray its costs in administering the credits. Most states with similar incentives laws require a fee, and their fees tend to be much higher. The application fee would become effective January 1, 1999. Second, the bill extends the credit carryforward period for investments over $150 million. Currently, the credit may not reduce the taxpayer's tax liability by more than half, and any excess may be carried forward for up to five years. The bill provides that for large investments, the excess may be carried forward for up to 20 years. Third, the bill clarifies that credits are allowed only for new and expanding businesses, not for existing businesses that are sold to another taxpayer. The bill provides an exception, however, for a business that has closed, has filed a federally required notice that closure is imminent, or has been purchased in an employee buyout. In these cases, the business will be able to qualify for the credits to the same extent as a new business. Fourth, the bill clarifies the definitions of the different types of businesses that are eligible for credits[3] and clarifies the method of calculating the investment tax credit and the business tax credit for property acquired by a capital lease.

State Development Zones. Part I of the bill provides for the designation of economically distressed areas located within municipalities as State development zones, and authorizes enhanced incentives for businesses that locate in a development zone. This change becomes effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. The bill defines a development zone as an area (1) consisting of one or more contiguous census tracts and block groups, (2) with a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) located at least partly in a municipality with a population over 5,000. If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for Tier One counties - slightly lower than the standard for other counties. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

The Secretary of Commerce will designate development zones upon request of a taxpayer or a local government. The designation is effective for four years. The bill provides that a development zone may qualify for priority in receiving community development block grants if the municipality's governing body adopts a strategy to improve the zone and establishes a committee to implement the strategy, in accordance with guidelines established by the Department of Commerce.

[3] The bill changes statutory references from the Standard Industrial Classifications (SIC) to the North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) to conform to the federal system. These references are used in the William S. Lee act to define various types of businesses. The bill also changes the term "manufacturing and processing" to "manufacturing" and the term "warehousing and distribution" to "warehousing and wholesale trade" to conform to the NAICS. In April 1997, the United States Office of Management and Budget announced the adoption of a new industry classification replacing the SIC, a system used to classify most of the data we have about industries or kinds of business in our economy. The updating of industry classifications is nothing new. Since its origination in the 1930s, the SIC system has been revised or updated every 10 or 15 years to reflect new developments in the American economy and to address problems identified by data users and statistical agencies. It was last revised in 1987.

Infrastructure Funds. Part II of the bill states the intent of the General Assembly to appropriate funds to the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund. The Governor's budget requested an appropriation of $32 million, $18 million for the Fund and $14 million for the Utility Account. Under current law, money in the Utility Account can be used in Tier One counties for construction or improvements to new or existing water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility distribution lines or for existing, new, or proposed industrial buildings to be used in manufacturing and processing, warehousing and distribution, or data processing. The bill would expand the scope of the Utility Account to include Tier Two counties.

Under current law, the Industrial Development Fund provides funding for manufacturing projects in Tier One, Two, and Three counties as well as in areas experiencing major economic dislocations. The funds may be used for equipment, capital improvements, and utility distribution lines. Projects in Tier Two and Three Counties are required to match the State funds on a $1/$3 basis. The funding is capped at $4,000 per job to be created and $400,000 per project. The bill would raise the per-job cap to $5,000 and the per-project cap to $500,000. The bill would also expand the industries covered by both the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account to include all of the following: manufacturing, central administrative offices, air courier services, data processing, and warehousing and wholesale trade.

Under current law, funds in the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account are used for grants to local governments and, in some cases, loans to businesses through the local government and a bank that matches the loan. The bill would clarify that a local government that receives funds, may, if necessary, use up to 2% of the funds to verify that the funds are used as required by law and otherwise to administer the grant or loan.

Air Courier Hubs. Part III of the bill provides sales tax and property tax reductions for interstate air couriers in order to encourage the development of air courier hubs in North Carolina. An air courier is an air carrier that delivers individually addressed letters, parcels, and packages. Effective January 1, 2001, the bill provides that sales to an interstate air courier of equipment for handling and storing materials at its hub will be subject to a reduced sales tax of 1%, capped at $80 per item. In addition, the bill provides a sales tax exemption for sales to interstate an air courier of aircraft lubricants, aircraft repair parts, and aircraft accessories for use at the air courier's hub in this State. Effective beginning with the 2001 property tax year, the bill provides a property tax exemption for aircraft owned by an air courier and apportioned for property tax purposes to the courier's hub in this State. A hub is the place in this State where the air courier allocates for property tax purposes more than 50% of its North Carolina aircraft value and where it receives packages from consolidation locations for sorting and distribution.

Part III also grants a bidding law exemption for the Piedmont Triad International Airport Authority. The exemption is effective for a five-year period beginning January 1, 1999, and applies to design and construction of an air freight distribution facility on airport property, and related supplies, equipment, and services.

Recycling Facilities. Part IV of the bill provides tax incentives for "large" and "major" recycling facilities located in Tier One counties at the time of initial construction. A recycling facility is a plant that manufactures products, most of which are made from at least 50% post-consumer waste material. The facility also includes related infrastructure, buildings, and equipment on land surrounding the plant. A large recycling facility is one that will involve at least $150 million in new investment and 155 new jobs within a two-year period. A major recycling facility is one that will involve at least $300 million in new investment and 250 new jobs within a four-year period. In order to qualify for the applicable tax incentives, the owner of the facility must obtain certification from the Department of Commerce that it will meet the minimum investment and new job requirements. If the facility fails to meet either requirement within the applicable time period, it forfeits any tax benefit it received as a result of being certified.

Part IV provides an investment tax credit for both large and major recycling facilities, effective beginning with the 1998 tax year. This investment tax credit is in lieu of the investment tax credit provided in the William S. Lee Act. The recycling facility investment tax credit differs from the Bill Lee Act credit in the following ways:

1. The Bill Lee Act credit is equal to 7% of the cost of machinery and equipment, while the large recycling facility credit is equal to 20% of the cost and the major recycling facility credit is equal to 50% of the cost.
2. The credit is allowed at the time the owner of the recycling facility accrues expenses to purchase or lease the machinery and equipment, rather than at the time the machinery and equipment are placed in service, as under the Bill Lee Act. If the recycling facility fails to put the machinery and equipment in service within 30 months after taking the credit, the credit is forfeited and must be repaid.

3. The credit is allowed against both the corporate franchise tax and the corporate income tax. Under the Bill Lee Act, the credit is allowed against either but not both of those taxes.
4. The credit may equal 100% of the tax due from the owner of the facility. Under the Bill Lee Act, the credit is limited to 50% of tax due, so that the taxpayer will be paying some tax in every case.
5. The excess credit may be carried forward for 25 years. Under the Bill Lee Act, as revised by this bill, the relevant carryforward period would be 20 years.

Part IV also provides to major recycling facilities locating in Tier One counties a refundable corporate income tax "credit for reinvestment," effective beginning with the 1998 tax year. The credit applies if the major recycling facility is not accessible by ocean barge or ship and incurs additional expenses due to transporting its materials and products by alternative modes of transportation. The reinvestment credit is equal to the amount of these additional expenses, which must be documented annually to the Secretary of Commerce. The credit is subject to a dollar cap each year, in increasing amounts. In 1999, the cap is $640,000. In 2004, the cap levels off at $10.4 million a year. The bill sunsets this reinvestment credit effective with the 2008 tax year. The bill states the intent, however, to postpone the sunset if any major recycling facility can document that it is still experiencing additional expenses in 2008 due to its inability to use ocean barges or ships to transport materials and products.

The reinvestment credit is refundable. That means that if the amount of credit exceeds the major recycling facility's tax liability after all other credits are subtracted, the balance is paid out in cash. For the first ten years the reinvestment credit is in effect, a major recycling facility must use the amount received in credit to invest in rail and roads associated with the facility, in transportation infrastructure to reduce the expense of transporting materials and products to and from the facility, or in land and infrastructure for industrial sites, other than the facility itself, in the same county. If there are not enough reasonable opportunities for investments in those purposes in a given year, however, the major recycling facility may invest the amount of credit received in the facility itself, but only after it has made the minimum investment of $300 million required to qualify as a major recycling facility. The facility must document its compliance with this reinvestment requirement and forfeits any part of the credit it spends for another purpose. It is this reinvestment requirement that gives the credit its name.

Part IV provides several sales and use tax reductions for major recycling facilities locating in Tier One counties, effective beginning July 1, 1998. First, it provides that a reduced sales tax rate of 1%, capped at $80 per item, will apply to cranes, foundations, transportation equipment, and materials handling equipment used at the major recycling facility. These items would otherwise be subject to 4% State sales tax and 2% local sales tax. Second, it exempts from sales tax lubricants and other additives for vehicles and machinery used at the plant, and other materials and supplies (not including machinery and equipment) that are used or consumed directly in the manufacturing process. These items would also otherwise be subject to a combined State and local rate of 6%. Third, it exempts from sales tax electricity purchased for use at the major recycling facility. This electricity would otherwise be subject to State sales tax at 3% or 2.83%. Fourth, Part IV provides an annual sales tax refund for taxes a major recycling facility pays directly or indirectly on building materials, building supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of the real property of the recycling facility located in a Tier One county.

Finally, Part IV modifies the existing property tax exemption for property used for recycling, effective beginning with the 1999-20 property tax year. Under current law, to qualify for exemption, the property must be used exclusively for recycling and have recycling as its primary purpose. The bill would provide instead that the property must be used predominantly for recycling and have recycling as a purpose. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources determined that these changes would be necessary to prevent a recycling facility from being disqualified because it adds fillers or other materials to the post-consumer waste material when manufacturing products.

Federal Express and the Workforce

- Federal Express was honored by the state of Tennessee for hiring 200 people off the welfare rolls in the last two years. Gov. Don Sundquist presented the Families First Large Employer of the Year award to Federal Express during a Families First "Best Practice" conference in Gatlinburg on June 9.

- Of the new Families First employees, 20 percent have already received promotions. The retention rate of these employees has been high: 62 percent.

- The annual starting salary for part-time employees at the Mid-Atlantic hub will be $9 an hour. Part-time employees receive the same benefits as full-time workers: full health, dental and vision insurance; 401(k) and pension plans; and up to $2,000 a year in college tuition reimbursement.

- All employees are guaranteed 17.5 hours a week, and the company is one of the few in the nation to offer a "no layoff" policy.

- The annual salary and benefits package for a part-time employee who works the minimum number of hours (at $9 an hour, with two weeks off for vacation) would total $11,812. If he or she averaged 25 hours a week, the annual total would be $16,875.

- Fortune and Mother Jones magazines have both named Federal Express one of the 20 best companies to work for in America. A book, The 100 Best Companies to Work for in America, placed Federal Express on its lists for "10 Best Overall Companies," "10 Best for Job Security," "10 Best for Women," and "10 Best for Minorities." The National Minority Business Council awarded the company its "Outstanding Corporate Support Award" in 1996.

- At each Federal Express hub, employees manage their own volunteer office, through which they coordinate thousands of hours of community service to organizations such as the March of Dimes, the United Way, and the Toys for Tots program at Christmas.

- Employees have the privilege of riding in the "jump seat" on company planes free of charge for both business and personal travel.

- When a cargo airplane is added to the FedEx fleet, employees have an opportunity to name it by submitting their children's names for a drawing.

- Dr. G. Donald Jud Jr., a professor at the Bryan School of Business at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, estimates that the Mid-Atlantic hub will add more than 2,500 jobs, $51 million in annual salaries, and $4.1 million to the state and local tax bases. By 2013, the new hub will have had a $2.4 billion impact on the Triad.

Job retention high for welfare workers

By BONNA M. de la CRUZ
Staff Writer

GATLINBURG, Tenn. — Workers hired from the welfare pool have a retention rate much higher than other workers, Federal Express has found.

That, in part, is why it makes smart business sense for the Memphis-based company to hire Families First participants, said Jim Perkins, FedEx personnel vice president.

Yesterday, FedEx was named the state's "Families First Large Employer of the Year."

Since welfare reform started in September 1996, FedEx has hired 200 welfare participants, Perkins said.

Retention is about 62% for those hired through FedEx Families First, about three to four times better than for other employees, said Mark Bishop, FedEx manager for recruitment in Memphis.

"They're delighted to have the opportunity to work for us, and we're delighted to have them," Perkins said.

Gov. Don Sundquist presented the award at the state's first Families First "Best Practices Conference." About 500 are attending the conference, which runs through today.

Awards also were given to [illegible] small Tennessee employers: [illegible]

EMPLOYMENT

City Health Care in Rhea County; Tag Plastics, an injection molding company in Tracy City; and Aeroquip Inoac, an automotive supplier of exterior trim in Livingston.

Since Families First started, welfare rolls have dropped from 91,500 to 57,000, about a 40% decline.

The program puts an 18-month time limit on welfare checks, and places school, job and parental responsibilities on participants. In exchange, help is provided with child care and transportation.

In a survey, the state found that three-quarters of people who got jobs through Families First still had them three months later.

"This is the best success rate we've ever experienced with a government-sponsored job training and placement program in Tennessee," Sundquist said yesterday.

More than 50 companies statewide were nominated for their efforts to hire Families First participants and provide good wages, benefits and training programs.

Tag Plastics, for instance, hired five Families First participants at jobs that pay more than $6 an hour and provides ongoing training, said state Commissioner Linda Rudolph of the Department of Human Services. ■

HOUSE BILL 1252
PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE (H1252-CSRK-1)

Short Title: Criminal Tax Penalty to Home County. (Public)

Referred to: Judiciary I, if favorable, Finance.

May 12, 1998

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT CRIMINAL PENALTIES IN TAX CASES SHALL BE REMITTED TO THE SCHOOL FUND OF THE COUNTY IN WHICH THE VIOLATION OCCURRED.

Section 1. G.S. 115C-452 reads as rewritten:

"§ 115C-452. Fines and forfeitures.

(c) Upon receipt of funds under this section, the county finance officer shall determine what portion of the total is due to each local school administrative unit in the county and remit the appropriate portion of the amount to the finance officer of each local school administrative unit. Fines and forfeitures shall be apportioned according to the projected average daily membership of each local school administrative unit as determined by and certified to the local school administrative units and the board of county commissioners by the State Board of Education pursuant to G.S. 115C-430."

Section 2. This act becomes effective December 1,1998, and applies to fines imposed on or after that date.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1252
(Proposed Committee Substitute)
Criminal Tax Penalty to Home County

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette and Carolyn Johnson, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 10, 1998
SPONSOR: Rep. McCombs

House Bill 1252 provides that the trial judge, in criminal tax prosecutions not instituted in the county in which the offense occurred, shall determine the county or counties in which the violation occcured. The clerk of superior court shall then remit any criminal fine to the county or counties in which the violation occurred as determined by the trial judge. The bill would become effective December 1, 1998.

Section 7 of Article IX of the North Carolina Constitution provides that the proceeds of penalties, forfeitures, and fines collected "in the several counties" for any breach of the penal laws of the State shall belong to "the several counties" and shall be used only for public schools. The Constitution does not specify which county receives the proceeds of each fine, forfeiture, or penalty. In the case of a civil penalty or forfeiture collected by a State agency, the General Assembly has provided that the proceeds are allocated among all local school boards on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-457.1 through G.S. 115C-457.3. In the case of a penalty, forfeiture, or fine collected by a State court, the General Assembly has provided that the clerk of superior court shall remit the proceeds to the local finance officer for that county. The local finance officer then distributes the proceeds to the local school boards of that county on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-452. If a case is transferred from one county to the next, however, the proceeds are remitted by the clerk of court back to the first county. In re Dunlap, 66 N.C. App. 152, 155 (1984).

Most criminal cases are brought in the county where the crime was committed. In criminal tax cases, however, the prosecution generally takes place in Wake County rather than in the county in which the violation occurs. The Department of Revenue finds that it is more efficient to prosecute these cases, which are few in number, in Wake County than to travel throughout the state. Consequently, Wake County currently receives the proceeds of most criminal tax cases that result in a fine. If the Department continues its current practice of prosecuting criminal tax cases in Wake County, House Bill 1252 would require that the proceeds of any fines be remitted to county or counties as determined by the court.

This fund shall be treated in the manner of institutional trust funds as provided in G.S. 116-36.1. This fund shall be deemed an additional and alternative method of funding the Centennial Campus and not an exclusive one. Section 3. G.S. 116-198.34 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-198.34. General powers of Board of Governors.

The Board is authorized, subject to the requirements of this Article:

(1) To determine the location and character of any project or projects, and to acquire, construct, and provide the same, and to maintain, repair, and operate, and to enter into contracts for the management, lease, use, or operation of all or any portion of any project or projects and any existing facilities;

All net proceeds of those dispositions are governed by G.S. 116-36.5."

Section 5. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SB 1583/HB 1737 – NCSU Centennial Campus

The History

- The 1987 legislative session provided financing and trust fund legislation that enabled NC State to begin the development of the Centennial Campus. The 1997 session modified a technical provision of the Umstead Act to permit the university to lease land to private developers for a conference center, residential facilities and retail business support facilities which will permit the fulfillment of the master plan.
- These legislative acts gave NC State the ability to expand quickly its research and corporate partnering capacity to meet potential corporate partners' needs, and placed those buildings built by private developers and the contents of those buildings into the county's ad valorem tax base. Business enterprises on the Centennial Campus paid the usual sales and corporate income taxes. Upon expiration of the ground lease the buildings will become the property of the university.
- It also put corporate partners in day-to-day interactions with research faculty, undergraduate and graduate students in research collaborations and technology transfer.

The Need

- NC State University, through its Centennial Campus, needs research buildings where corporate partners and university faculty can partner in developing new knowledge and technologies for the economic development of the state. Demand for space is outstripping the facilities currently available.
- To attract corporate partners, the construction of these buildings must be done in a very timely basis that cannot be met within the time frames of current state processes.
- NC State's College of Veterinary Medicine is known nationally for its research in cancer treatments, food safety and other key areas (see attachment A). Many of these discoveries are translatable to human medicine, and as a result, the college has the potential to attract key corporate partners to collaborate in research, to include pharmaceutical companies and the like.

The Request

- NC State is asking that the legislature include the campus of the College of Veterinary Medicine and the location of other nearby units in the definition of Centennial Campus; give the university the ability to develop ground leases for periods greater than 40 years, since private developers shy away from short-term ground leases; and give the Board of Governors authority to approve building leases.
- This authority would allow NC State to quickly build the necessary research facilities to house corporate partners and faculty in close proximity to each other for collaborative purposes.
- NC State would still be subject to the authority of The UNC Board of Governors and the Council of State in approving the ground leases.
- Corporate partners and developers would pay property taxes on their equipment and buildings.

Attachment A

SB 1583/HB1737 - NCSU Centennial Campus

1. The CVM's research emphasis on new and emerging infectious diseases of animals and man creates a natural link between the CVM and emerging biotechnology companies. Such companies need access to our animal isolation units and clinical facilities for conducting studies with infectious agents in animals, performing surgeries and necropsies, conducting diagnostic tests, and making radiographs and other medical images. These facilities are particularly attractive to emerging biologics and pharmaceutical companies that do not have such resources within their company.

2. The CVM's research programs in environmental toxicology (which recently received a $2.1 M EPA training grant), cutaneous toxicology and pharmacology, and food safety are expected to provide an ideal partnership for start-up companies. In particular, it would be attractive to those companies developing products based on the application of biotechnology including gene probes for rapid identification of microbiological contaminants.

3. The CVM's cancer treatment program for animals has a partnership venture with Duke University Medical Center. This program provides an opportunity for companies to come to this part of the NC State campus to develop novel approaches for the treatment and control of tumors in people and animals. Access to over 2500 cancer patients per year in the Veterinary Teaching Hospital makes this opportunity especially attractive to companies interested in treating spontaneously occurring tumors.

4. The federally-funded Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database (FARAD) is located in the CVM. This program is developing into a global activity, with support from the World Health Organization and approximately one dozen countries. The CVM campus could become the site for a world-wide program on food animal residues. A global-FARAD facility would attract world-wide visitors and scientists, and would attract interest by world-wide pharmaceutical companies, that would use the global-FARAD databases. This facility would be expected to attract private sector companies interested in food safety and applications to help producers and consumers avoid contamination of food products.

5. The CVM has several technologies that are of interest to biotechnology and biomedical companies. Neurophysiologists at the CVM have developed several genetic variants of calcium channels, cellular components that can be controlled by drugs and which regulate such factors as blood pressure and blood flow. Several companies are interested in this technology. The CVM's programs in virology and immunology serve as a basis for establishment of new vaccines for companion animals and horses, and companies are interested in these technologies.

LEGISLATIVE FISCAL NOTE

BILL NUMBER: HB 1737 (First Edition)

SHORT TITLE: NCSU Centennial Campus

SPONSOR(S): Rep. Dickson

FISCAL IMPACT

Yes ( ) No ( ) No Estimate Available ( )

	FY 1998-99	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03
REVENUES	(see ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina State University, UNC Board of Governors

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill does the following: 1) expands the Centennial Campus at North Carolina State University to include the College of Veterinary Medicine and surrounding land, 2) clarifies that the UNC Board of Governors shall designate what real estate and facilities comprise the Centennial Campus, 3) allows the UNC Board of Governors to approve leases of buildings on the Centennial Campus for periods up to 40 years, 4) allows the Council of State to approve leases of land and buildings on the Centennial Campus for periods greater than 40 years, and 5) exempts Centennial Campus real estate transactions from service charges that are made to the State Land Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

State Land Fund

Section 4 of the bill exempts the Centennial Campus from paying a service charge to the State Land Fund for each of its lease, rental, or easement transactions. There is no fiscal impact from this change, because the Centennial Campus has never paid any fees to the Fund. The bill simply removes a conflict between two statutes. G.S. 146-30 requires that a service charge be paid for all land or lease transactions, while G.S. 116-36.5 requires that all moneys from development of the Centennial Campus shall go into the Centennial Campus Trust Fund.

Property Tax

The bill has the potential to remove additional land and structures from the property tax rolls in Wake County if the UNC Board of Governors uses the power granted in section 3 of the bill to expand the Centennial Campus to land not currently owned by NC State University. However, under current law, the county could recoup its tax loss in several ways. First, if the Campus land is leased at below market value to a private firm, then the leased land can be taxed. Second, if a private firm leases land from the campus at market value and builds its own building, then Wake county may levy property tax only on the building and its furnishings and equipment. Third, if a private firm leases the land and building from the Campus, then only the furnishings and equipment will be subject to property tax.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1737:
NCSU Centennial Campus

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 11, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Dub Dickson

House Bill 1737 makes several changes to the statutes concerning the Centennial Campus. The Centennial Campus is comprised of property designated as part of the Campus by the Board of Governors. The bill also specifically provides that the following properties are part of the campus:

- The College of Veterinary Medicine
- The University Club
- The Agricultural Turf Grass Management Program
- The former Dix Hospital properties

Section 3 of the bill provides that rental agreements for space in buildings on the Centennial Campus for a period of 40 years or less are not subject to the oversight of the Department of Administration. Rental agreements for more than 40 years and for rental agreements of an unspecified number of years are still subject to the provisions of Chapter 146 and G.S. 143-341.

Lastly, the bill provides that the rental agreements are not subject to the service charge imposed under G.S. 146-30. As a general rule, a service charge is imposed upon the lease or sale of state property. The amount of the charge may not exceed 10% of the gross amount received from the disposition of the property. The proceeds of the fee are credited to the State Land Fund.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1998

8:30 A.M. ROOM 544-LOB

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, June 11, 1998, at 8:30 a.m. in room 544-LOB. A silent roll was taken (roll list denotes members present).

Rep. Gray called the meeting to order and introduced the Pages.

HB-1737 NCSU CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Rep. Dickson explained the bill and introduced the NCSU representatives that were visiting today.

Rep. Hensley spoke in favor of the bill and moved for a favorable report.

Representatives from NCSU were given the opportunity to present a slide presentation to members. Dr. Monteith, Chancellor, Ms. Cathy Hart, University Treasurer and Mr. George Worsley, Vice Chancellor of Finance gave their presentations.

Rep. Dickson sent forth an amendment, explained, and moved for adoption. The vote was taken and the amendment was adopted.

Discussion began about the length of the lease. Rep. Goodwin, Rep. Hensley, Rep. Hackney, and Rep. Cunningham all questioned Mr. Worsley. Mr. Worsley and Mr. Jim Newlin, Fiscal Research Division, responded to their inquiries. Rep. Hackney made additional comments and shared concerns. Rep. Miller had questions regarding the Vet School. Mr. Oscar Fletcher, Dean of Veterinary Medicine, NCSU, and Mr. Bill McCoy, Vice Chancellor of Finance/General Administration, answered his inquiry. Rep. Howard agreed with Rep. Hackney's comments and favored the idea of an amendment to adjust the ground lease provision. Rep. Dickson and Mr. Worsley addressed her comments. Rep. Capps spoke in favor of Rep. Hackney's comments and suggestions. Rep. Hackney questioned Mr. McCoy and asked if they would consider letting the General Assembly address the lease provision every 99 years and he responded. Rep. Hackney advised it should be uniform for all State Buildings and he wasn't singling out NCSU. He urged that measures should be taken for preventive reasons for the future. Rep. Russell asked for examples of corporate financing of the Centennial Campus. Mr. Worsley cited an example. Mr. Newlin, Fiscal Research Division, clarified some restrictions on ground leases for the Centennial Campus which Reps. Hackney and Howard questioned. Rep. Russell asked for clarification of a comment made during the presentation regarding residential areas for sale or lease. Rep. Dickson responded. Rep. Miller questioned Wake County taxes. Mr. Richard Bostic, Fiscal Research Division responded. Rep. Neely made comments about exempted leases and increased tax bases and urged adoption of the bill as it is without amending the lease factor. Rep. McMahan spoke on lease terms and agreed with Rep. Neely's comments.

Rep. Howard sent forth an amendment regarding lease provision. Rep. Gray read the amendment. Rep. Dickson commented on the amendment and opposed. Rep. Miller also opposed the amendment and asked to reserve the discussion for another day. Rep. Starnes supported the amendment. Rep. Cunningham spoke again in favor of the amendment and questioned staff how this could be worked out without damaging the Centennial Campus. Ms. Cindy Avrette, Research Division responded. Rep. Goodwin and Rep. Howard questioned Sections "B" and "D" of the bill and how the amendment would affect them. Mr. Newlin explained. Rep. Nesbitt asked Rep. Dickson if he would consider removing this from the agenda today and allow staff and the concerns Representatives additional time to resolve this issue without damaging the Centennial Campus. Rep. Neely made comments about this being handled now as it is and them sending it to the Revenue Laws Study Committee. Chairman Gray advised it could be handled in that manner. Rep. Neely then asked Rep. Howard if she would withdraw her amendment, let it pass as is and let the Revenue Laws Study Committee work on perfecting it during the interim. Rep. Howard felt that would be a disservice and did not wish to withdraw her amendment. Rep. Dickson spoke again in favor of the bill and opposed the amendment. Rep. Nesbitt spoke again and asked the sponsor to postpone until the Tuesday, June 16th meeting in order that all of State Government could be considered in the lease terms. Rep. Dickson referred the question to Dr. Monteith who had not objection. Chairman Gray announced this was removed and will be on the agenda for Tuesday, June 16th.

HB-1252 CRIMINAL TAX PENALTY TO HOME COUNTY

Chairman Gray asked the sponsor if he would like to take care of this today, or schedule it for Tuesday, due to the time. Rep. McCombs requested to hear this on Tuesday.

Meeting adjourned at 9:50 a.m.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT CRIMINAL PENALTIES IN TAX CASES SHALL BE REMITTED TO THE SCHOOL FUND OF THE COUNTY IN WHICH THE VIOLATION OCCURRED.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 115C-452 reads as rewritten:

"§ 115C-452. Fines and forfeitures.

(a) The clear proceeds of all penalties and forfeitures and of all fines collected in the General Court of Justice in each county shall be remitted by the clerk of the superior court to the county finance ~~officer who shall forthwith~~ officer.

(b) In the case of a criminal violation involving taxes imposed under Chapter 105 of the General Statutes which is not instituted in the county in which the violation occurred, the trial judge shall determine the county or counties in which the violation occurred. The clerk shall then remit the clear proceeds of the fine to the finance officer of the county or counties in which the violation occurred as determined by the trial judge.

(c) Upon receipt of funds under this section, the county finance officer shall determine what portion of the total is due to each local school administrative unit in the county and remit the appropriate portion of the amount to the finance officer of each local school administrative unit. Fines and forfeitures shall be apportioned according to the projected average daily membership of each local school administrative unit as determined by and certified to the local school administrative units and the board of county commissioners by the State Board of Education pursuant to G.S. 115C-430."

Section 2. This act becomes effective December 1,1998, and applies to fines imposed on or after that date.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1252
(Proposed Committee Substitute)
Criminal Tax Penalty to Home County

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette and Carolyn Johnson, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 10, 1998
SPONSOR: Rep. McCombs

House Bill 1252 provides that the trial judge, in criminal tax prosecutions not instituted in the county in which the offense occurred, shall determine the county or counties in which the violation occcured. The clerk of superior court shall then remit any criminal fine to the county or counties in which the violation occurred as determined by the trial judge. The bill would become effective December 1, 1998.

Section 7 of Article IX of the North Carolina Constitution provides that the proceeds of penalties, forfeitures, and fines collected "in the several counties" for any breach of the penal laws of the State shall belong to "the several counties" and shall be used only for public schools. The Constitution does not specify which county receives the proceeds of each fine, forfeiture, or penalty. In the case of a civil penalty or forfeiture collected by a State agency, the General Assembly has provided that the proceeds are allocated among all local school boards on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-457.1 through G.S. 115C-457.3. In the case of a penalty, forfeiture, or fine collected by a State court, the General Assembly has provided that the clerk of superior court shall remit the proceeds to the local finance officer for that county. The local finance officer then distributes the proceeds to the local school boards of that county on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-452. If a case is transferred from one county to the next, however, the proceeds are remitted by the clerk of court back to the first county. In re Dunlap, 66 N.C. App. 152, 155 (1984).

Most criminal cases are brought in the county where the crime was committed. In criminal tax cases, however, the prosecution generally takes place in Wake County rather than in the county in which the violation occurs. The Department of Revenue finds that it is more efficient to prosecute these cases, which are few in number, in Wake County than to travel throughout the state. Consequently, Wake County currently receives the proceeds of most criminal tax cases that result in a fine. If the Department continues its current practice of prosecuting criminal tax cases in Wake County, House Bill 1252 would require that the proceeds of any fines be remitted to county or counties as determined by the court.

The Board is authorized, subject to the requirements of this Article:

(1) To determine the location and character of any project or projects, and to acquire, construct, and provide the same, and to maintain, repair, and operate, and to enter into contracts for the management, lease, use, or operation of all or any portion of any project or projects and any existing facilities;

All net proceeds of those dispositions are governed by G.S. 116-36.5."

Section 5. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SB 1583/HB 1737 – NCSU Centennial Campus

The History

- The 1987 legislative session provided financing and trust fund legislation that enabled NC State to begin the development of the Centennial Campus. The 1997 session modified a technical provision of the Umstead Act to permit the university to lease land to private developers for a conference center, residential facilities and retail business support facilities which will permit the fulfillment of the master plan.
- These legislative acts gave NC State the ability to expand quickly its research and corporate partnering capacity to meet potential corporate partners' needs, and placed those buildings built by private developers and the contents of those buildings into the county's ad valorem tax base. Business enterprises on the Centennial Campus paid the usual sales and corporate income taxes. Upon expiration of the ground lease the buildings will become the property of the university.
- It also put corporate partners in day-to-day interactions with research faculty, undergraduate and graduate students in research collaborations and technology transfer.

The Need

- NC State University, through its Centennial Campus, needs research buildings where corporate partners and university faculty can partner in developing new knowledge and technologies for the economic development of the state. Demand for space is outstripping the facilities currently available.
- To attract corporate partners, the construction of these buildings must be done in a very timely basis that cannot be met within the time frames of current state processes.
- NC State's College of Veterinary Medicine is known nationally for its research in cancer treatments, food safety and other key areas (see attachment A). Many of these discoveries are translatable to human medicine, and as a result, the college has the potential to attract key corporate partners to collaborate in research, to include pharmaceutical companies and the like.

The Request

- NC State is asking that the legislature include the campus of the College of Veterinary Medicine and the location of other nearby units in the definition of Centennial Campus; give the university the ability to develop ground leases for periods greater than 40 years, since private developers shy away from short-term ground leases; and give the Board of Governors authority to approve building leases.
- This authority would allow NC State to quickly build the necessary research facilities to house corporate partners and faculty in close proximity to each other for collaborative purposes.
- NC State would still be subject to the authority of The UNC Board of Governors and the Council of State in approving the ground leases.
- Corporate partners and developers would pay property taxes on their equipment and buildings.

Attachment A

SB 1583/HB1737 - NCSU Centennial Campus

1. The CVM's research emphasis on new and emerging infectious diseases of animals and man creates a natural link between the CVM and emerging biotechnology companies. Such companies need access to our animal isolation units and clinical facilities for conducting studies with infectious agents in animals, performing surgeries and necropsies, conducting diagnostic tests, and making radiographs and other medical images. These facilities are particularly attractive to emerging biologics and pharmaceutical companies that do not have such resources within their company.

2. The CVM's research programs in environmental toxicology (which recently received a $2.1 M EPA training grant), cutaneous toxicology and pharmacology, and food safety are expected to provide an ideal partnership for start-up companies. In particular, it would be attractive to those companies developing products based on the application of biotechnology including gene probes for rapid identification of microbiological contaminants.

3. The CVM's cancer treatment program for animals has a partnership venture with Duke University Medical Center. This program provides an opportunity for companies to come to this part of the NC State campus to develop novel approaches for the treatment and control of tumors in people and animals. Access to over 2500 cancer patients per year in the Veterinary Teaching Hospital makes this opportunity especially attractive to companies interested in treating spontaneously occurring tumors.

4. The federally-funded Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database (FARAD) is located in the CVM. This program is developing into a global activity, with support from the World Health Organization and approximately one dozen countries. The CVM campus could become the site for a world-wide program on food animal residues. A global-FARAD facility would attract world-wide visitors and scientists, and would attract interest by world-wide pharmaceutical companies, that would use the global-FARAD databases. This facility would be expected to attract private sector companies interested in food safety and applications to help producers and consumers avoid contamination of food products.

5. The CVM has several technologies that are of interest to biotechnology and biomedical companies. Neurophysiologists at the CVM have developed several genetic variants of calcium channels, cellular components that can be controlled by drugs and which regulate such factors as blood pressure and blood flow. Several companies are interested in this technology. The CVM's programs in virology and immunology serve as a basis for establishment of new vaccines for companion animals and horses, and companies are interested in these technologies.

BILL NUMBER: HB 1737 (First Edition)

	FY 1998-99	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03
REVENUES	(see ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY)

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill does the following: 1) expands the Centennial Campus at North Carolina State University to include the College of Veterinary Medicine and surrounding land, 2) clarifies that the UNC Board of Governors shall designate what real estate and facilities comprise the Centennial Campus, 3) allows the UNC Board of Governors to approve leases of buildings on the Centennial Campus for periods up to 40 years, 4) allows the Council of State to approve leases of land and buildings on the Centennial Campus for periods greater than 40 years, and 5) exempts Centennial Campus real estate transactions from service charges that are made to the State Land Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

State Land Fund

Section 4 of the bill exempts the Centennial Campus from paying a service charge to the State Land Fund for each of its lease, rental, or easement transactions. There is no fiscal impact from this change, because the Centennial Campus has never paid any fees to the Fund. The bill simply removes a conflict between two statutes. G.S. 146-30 requires that a service charge be paid for all land or lease transactions, while G.S. 116-36.5 requires that all moneys from development of the Centennial Campus shall go into the Centennial Campus Trust Fund.

Property Tax

The bill has the potential to remove additional land and structures from the property tax rolls in Wake County if the UNC Board of Governors uses the power granted in section 3 of the bill to expand the Centennial Campus to land not currently owned by NC State University. However, under current law, the county could recoup its tax loss in several ways. First, if the Campus land is leased at below market value to a private firm, then the leased land can be taxed. Second, if a private firm leases land from the campus at market value and builds its own building, then Wake county may levy property tax only on the building and its furnishings and equipment. Third, if a private firm leases the land and building from the Campus, then only the furnishings and equipment will be subject to property tax.

House Bill 1737 makes several changes to the statutes concerning the Centennial Campus. The Centennial Campus is comprised of property designated as part of the Campus by the Board of Governors. The bill also specifically provides that the following properties are part of the campus:

- The College of Veterinary Medicine
- The University Club
- The Agricultural Turf Grass Management Program
- The former Dix Hospital properties

Section 3 of the bill provides that rental agreements for space in buildings on the Centennial Campus for a period of 40 years or less are not subject to the oversight of the Department of Administration. Rental agreements for more than 40 years and for rental agreements of an unspecified number of years are still subject to the provisions of Chapter 146 and G.S. 143-341.

Lastly, the bill provides that the rental agreements are not subject to the service charge imposed under G.S. 146-30. As a general rule, a service charge is imposed upon the lease or sale of state property. The amount of the charge may not exceed 10% of the gross amount received from the disposition of the property. The proceeds of the fee are credited to the State Land Fund.

The vote was taken on the technical amendment and passed. Rep. Nichols questioned the threshold and Rep. Wilson explained. Rep. Hackney questioned the disposal sites and if the money must be used only from white goods. Ms. Cindy Avrette, Research Division, responded to his inquiry. Rep. Hackney then questioned the language of the bill and Mr. Dexter Matthews, Department of Waste Industries, was asked to address members. He explained how the funds were currently used. Rep. Hackney made additional remarks and Rep. Wilson and Mr. Matthews responded to his marks. Rep. Dickson spoke and recommended not changing the language. Rep. Jarrell questions the grants issue. Mr. Matthews explained how they worked. Mr. Ron Aycock, County Commissioners Association spoke in favor of the bill. Rep. Starnes asked how many sites have white goods and Mr. Matthews answered. Rep. Starnes asked for the purpose of the bill and Rep. Wilson explained the surplus on the county level and why this is important legislation that addresses several other concerns.

Rep. Buchanan moved for a favorable report.

Rep. Capps questioned the effective dates in Section 7. Ms. Avrette explained the dates. Rep. Cunningham asked why the collection amount couldn't be reduced. Rep. Wilson explained. Rep. Beall spoke about his county activity by recycling and he supports this bill. Rep. Nesbitt questioned Mr. Aycock on their position of this bill. Mr. Aycock advised again that they want this program to continue and they support it. Rep. Wright questioned why a section of the original bill was not in the Proposed Committee Substitute. Rep. Wilson explained this to him. Rep. Russell questioned the amount being reduced from $5.00 to $3.00 and Rep. Wilson advised there is still adequate funding with the reduced amount. Rep. Womble questioned the expiration tax of the bill. Rep. Wilson advised this will be addressed again the three years. Rep. Womble spoke again but has concerns about what could happen at the end of the three year period. Rep. Hackney suggested an amendment and asked if Rep. Wilson, the Department of Waste Industries and the County Commissioners Association would support it. Mr. Dexter and Rep. Wilson spoke, then Mr. Aycock spoke on the suggestion so Rep. Hackney made it in the form of an amendment and sent it forth. Rep. Hill spoke in favor of the amendment. The vote was taken on the amendment and it was adopted.

Rep. Luebke again questioned the section of the bill that was not included in the PCS. Rep. Wilson, Ms. Avrette and Mr. Matthews all responded.

Rep. Buchanan adjusted his motion to be the amendment PCS be adopted with a favorable report, as unfavorable to the original bill. Rep. Hackney recommended a language change to coincide with the earlier amendment that was adopted. Ms. Avrette advised this could be handled. The vote was taken and passed.

Rep. McCombs advised his bill HB-1252 - CRIMINAL TAX PENALTY TO HOME COUNTY was ready to be heard since the sub-sub-committee had met and made the necessary adjustments. Chairman Gray announced it would be heard on Thursday.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE WHITE GOODS DISPOSAL TAX RATE TO ONE RATE FOR ANY WHITE GOOD REGARDLESS OF WHETHER THE WHITE GOOD CONTAINS CHLOROFLUOROCARBONS, TO EXTEND THE WHITE GOODS DISPOSAL TAX SUNSET, TO PROVIDE THAT WHITE GOODS TAX REVENUE THAT IS NOT NEEDED FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF DISCARDED WHITE GOODS MAY BE USED TO CLEAN UP ILLEGAL DUMP SITES, AND TO ALTER THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE TAX PROCEEDS FROM THIS TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-187.21 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-187.21. Tax imposed.

A privilege tax is imposed on a white goods retailer at a flat rate for each new white good that is sold by the retailer. An excise tax is imposed on a new white good purchased outside the State for storage, use, or consumption in this State. The rate of the privilege tax and the excise tax is ~~five dollars ($5.00) if the new white good does not contain chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants and is ten dollars ($10.00) if the new white good contains chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants.~~ three dollars ($3.00). These taxes are in addition to all other taxes."

Section 2. G.S. 130A-309.82 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.82. Use of disposal tax proceeds by counties.

Article 5C of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes imposes a tax on new white goods to provide funds for the management of discarded white goods. A county ~~may~~ must use the proceeds of the tax distributed to it under that Article ~~only~~ for the management of discarded white goods. If a county has a surplus of tax proceeds after reimbursing its costs of managing discarded white goods, then it may use the remainder of the tax proceeds for the cleanup of unmanaged illegal dump sites."

Section 3. G.S. 130A-309.83 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.83. White Goods Management Account.

The White Goods Management Account is established within the Department. The Account consists of revenue credited to the Account from the proceeds of the white goods disposal tax imposed by Article 5C of Chapter 105 of the General ~~Statutes.~~ Statutes and any revenue credited to the Account as the result of the recovery by the State of part or all of the costs of cleaning up an unmanaged illegal dump site.

The Department shall use revenue in the Account to make grants to units of local government to assist them in managing discarded white ~~goods.~~ goods and cleaning up unmanaged illegal dump sites. The Department must make grants for the management of discarded white goods to all applicants who meet the grant criteria before it makes a grant for cleaning up unmanaged illegal dump sites. To administer the grants, the Department shall establish procedures for applying for a grant and the criteria for selecting among grant applicants. The criteria for a grant to manage discarded white goods shall include the financial ability of a unit to manage white goods, the severity of a unit's white goods management problem, and the effort made by a unit to manage white goods within the resources available to it. The criteria for a grant to clean up an unmanaged illegal dump site shall include the financial ability of the unit to clean up the site and the severity of the problem created by the site.

A unit of local government is not eligible for a grant to manage discarded white goods unless its costs of managing white goods for a six-month period preceding the date the unit files an application for a grant exceeded the amount the unit received during that period from the proceeds of the white goods disposal tax under G.S. 105-187.24. The Department shall determine the six-month period to be used in determining who is eligible for a ~~grant.~~ grant to manage discarded white goods. A grant to a unit to manage discarded white goods may not exceed the unit's unreimbursed cost for the six-month period."

Section 4. G.S. 105-187.24 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-187.24. Use of tax proceeds.

The Secretary shall distribute the taxes collected under this Article, less the Department of Revenue's allowance for administrative expenses, in accordance with this section. The Secretary may retain the Department's cost of collection, not to exceed two hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000) a year, as reimbursement to the Department.

Each quarter, the Secretary shall credit ~~five percent (5%)~~ eight percent (8%) of the net tax proceeds to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund and shall credit twenty percent (20%) of the net tax proceeds to the White Goods Management Account. The Secretary shall distribute the remaining ~~seventy-five percent (75%)~~ seventy-two percent (72%) of the net tax proceeds among the counties on a per capita basis according to the most recent annual population estimates certified to the Secretary by the State Planning Officer.

A county may use funds distributed to it under this section only as provided in G.S. 130A-309.82. A county that receives funds under this section and that has an interlocal agreement with another unit of local government under which the other unit provides for the disposal of solid waste for the county must transfer the amount received under this section to that other unit. A unit to which funds are transferred is subject to the same restrictions on use of the funds as the county."

Section 5. G.S. 130A-309.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.12. Solid Waste Management Trust Fund.

(a) The Solid Waste Management Trust Fund is created and is to be administered by the Department for the purposes of:

(1) Funding activities of the Department to promote waste reduction and recycling including but not limited to public education programs and technical assistance to units of local government;

(2) Funding research on the solid waste stream in North Carolina;

(3) Funding activities related to the development of secondary materials markets;

(4) Providing funding for demonstration projects as provided by this Part; and

(5) Providing funding for research by The University of North Carolina and independent nonprofit colleges and universities within the State which are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as provided by this Part.

(b) The Solid Waste Management Trust Fund shall consist of the following:

(1) Funds appropriated by the General Assembly.

(2) Contributions and grants from public or private sources.

(3) Ten percent (10%) of the proceeds of the scrap tire disposal tax imposed under Article 5B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(4) ~~Five percent (5%)~~ Eight percent (8%) of the proceeds of the white goods disposal tax imposed under Article 5C of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(c) The Department shall report annually on or before 1 September to the Environmental Review Commission as to the condition of the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund and as to the use of all funds allocated from the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund."

Section 6. Section 11 of Chapter 471 of the 1993 Session Laws, as amended by Section 15.1(b) of Chapter 769 of the 1993 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 11. Sections 1 through 5 of this act and this section become effective January 1, 1994. Section 3 of this act expires July 1, ~~1998.~~ 2003. Section 6 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1998. Sections 7, 8, and 9 of this act become effective July 1, 1999.

The repeal of the tax imposed by Section 3 of this act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person that arose during the time the tax was in effect. The first report submitted by the Department to the Environmental Review Commission under G.S. 130A-309.85, as enacted by this act, shall cover the period from January 1, 1994, to June 30, 1994."

Section 7. Sections 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Chapter 471 of the 1993 Session Laws are repealed.

Section 3. G.S. 130A-309.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.12. Solid Waste Management Trust Fund.

(a) The Solid Waste Management Trust Fund is created and is to be administered by the Department for the purposes of:

(3) The clean-up of illegal white goods disposal sites.

A county may not use the tax proceeds for a capital improvement or operating expense that does not directly relate to the management of discarded white goods. If a capital improvement or operating expense is partially related to the management of discarded white goods, a county may use the tax proceeds to finance a percentage of the costs equal to the percentage of the use of the improvement or expense directly related to the management of discarded white goods."

Section 6. Chapter 130A is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 130A-309.87. Eligibility for disposal tax proceeds.

(a) Receipt of Funds. -- A county may not receive a quarterly distribution of the white goods disposal tax proceeds under G.S. 105-187.24 unless the undesignated balance in the county's white goods account at the end of its fiscal year is less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the amount it received during the fiscal year from the white goods disposal tax. Based upon the information in a county's Annual Financial Information Report, the Department must notify the Department of Revenue by March 1 of each year which counties may not receive a distribution of the white goods disposal tax for the current calendar year. The Department of Revenue will credit the undistributed tax proceeds to the White Goods Management Account.

If the undesignated balance in a county's white goods account subsequently falls below twenty-five percent (25%) of the amount it received from the white goods disposal tax during the preceding fiscal year, the county may submit a statement to the Department, certified by the county finance officer, that the undesignated balance in its white goods account is less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the amount it received from the white goods disposal tax during the preceding fiscal year. Upon receipt of the statement, the Department will notify the Department of Revenue to distribute to the county its quarterly distribution of the white goods disposal tax proceeds. The Department must notify the Department of Revenue of the county's change of status at least 30 days prior to the next quarterly distribution.

(b) Annual Financial Information Report. -- On or before November 1 of each year, a county must submit a copy of its Annual Financial Information Report, prepared in accordance with G.S. 159-33.1, to the Department. (2) The amount of revenue credited to its white goods account. This revenue should include all receipts derived from the white goods disposal tax, the sale of white goods scrap metals and freon, and a grant from the White Goods Management Account.

(3) The expenditures from its white goods account. The expenditures should include operating expenses and capital improvement costs associated with its white goods management program.

(4) The designated and undesignated balance of its white goods account.

(5) A comparison of the undesignated balance of its white goods account at the end of the fiscal year and the amount of white goods disposal tax proceeds it received, or would have received if it had been eligible to receive it under G.S. 130A-390.87, during the fiscal year."

Section 7. Section 11 of Chapter 471 of the 1993 Session Laws, as amended by Section 15.1(b) of Chapter 769 of the 1993 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 11. Sections 1 through 5 of this act and this section become effective January 1, 1994. Section 3 of this act expires July 1, ~~1998.~~ 2001. Section 6 of this act becomes effective July 1, ~~1998.~~ 2001. Sections 7, 8, and 9 of this act become effective July 1, ~~1999.~~ 2002.

The repeal of the tax imposed by Section 3 of this act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person that arose during the time the tax was in effect. The first report submitted by the Department to the Environmental Review Commission under G.S. 130A-309.85, as enacted by this act, shall cover the period from January 1, 1994, to June 30, 1994."

Section 8. G.S. 130A-309.87(a), as enacted by this act, becomes effective January 1, 1999, and applies to collections made on or after that date. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1998.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: SWMTF - Solid Waste Management Trust Fund
WGMA - White Goods Management Account
County Governments that dispose of white goods

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective July 1, 1998 and expires on July 1, 2001.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill reduces the tax on all new white goods to $3.00. It tightens the limitations on how the tax proceeds can be expended by counties and increases the reporting requirements for use of the county funds. The bill extends the sunset on the white goods tax from July 1, 1998 to July 1, 2001. Finally, the bill changes the allocation of tax revenues. The Solid Waste Management Trust Fund (SWMTF) is to receive 8% of the revenue, instead of 5%, and the county revenue is reduced from 75% to 72%. The percentage of revenue going to the White Goods Management Account (WGMA) does not change.

BACKGROUND: A white good is a domestic or commercial large appliance, such as a refrigerator, a water heater, an air conditioning unit, or a dishwasher. Before 1996 many of these items contained chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants. That refrigerant is now banned by the Environmental Protection Agency and must be removed from appliances before their disposal. The current white goods disposal tax, paid at the point of sale on new goods, is $5.00 if the item does not contain chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants, and $10.00 if item contains those refrigerants.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The tax data used in the analysis was provided by the Department of Revenue Sales and Use Tax Division. The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers provided information on product sales in the State.

The overall rate decrease is equal to 52%. Of the white goods sold in 1996, 39% of the tax revenue came from items that used refrigerants and the remaining 61% of the revenue came from goods that did not contain refrigerants. The rate on white goods containing refrigerants is decreased by 70% (from $10 to $3) and the rate on the remaining white goods is reduced by 48% (from $5 to $3). The result, as measured in total revenue, is a 52% loss. The annual growth in sales is estimated at 5.8%.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 124:
Proposed House Committee Substitute
Amend White Goods Tax

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 9, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Odom

The proposed House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 124 changes the tax that is imposed on "white goods" as follows:

1. It extends the sunset on the tax so that the tax expires three years after the current repeal date. Under the bill, the tax expires July 1, 2001. Under current law, the tax will expire July 1, 1998. (Section 7)
2. It reduces the tax on all new white goods to $3.00. Under current law, the tax on new white goods that contain chloroflourocarbons is $10.00 and the tax on those that do not is $5.00. (Section 1)
3. It increases the counties' accountability for revenues and expenditures associated with a white goods management program. The Secretary of the Local Government Commission will require that information concerning a county's white goods management program be included on its Annual Financial Information Report. This report is certified by the county finance officer based upon an independent audit by a certified public accountant. (Section 6)
4. It limits the amount of surplus white goods disposal tax proceeds a county can accumulate. It provides that a county may not receive its quarterly distributions of the white goods disposal tax proceeds unless its undesignated white goods account balance is less than 25% of the amount of tax proceeds the county received for a fiscal year. The undistributed proceeds will be credited to the White Goods Management Account. (Sections 2 and 6)
5. It changes the allocation of the white goods tax revenue by increasing the percentage that goes to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund (from 5% to 8%) and decreasing the amount that is distributed to counties (from 75% to 72%). (Sections 2 and 3)
6. It clarifies how a county may use the white goods disposal tax proceeds. A county may not use the proceeds for expenses that do not directly relate to the management of discarded white goods. (Section 4)

The white goods tax was imposed effective January 1, 1994. The purpose of the tax was to provide a source of revenue for the proper disposal of discarded white goods. A white good is a domestic or commercial large appliance, such as a refrigerator, a water heater, an air conditioner unit, or a dishwasher. Chlorofluorocarbon refrigerant is a type of gas that must be removed from a white good under federal law. Chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants were banned as of January 1, 1996, by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Under current law, the tax proceeds are distributed quarterly as follows:

(1) 5% to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund. The money in this Fund is used to fund activities of the Department of Environment, Health, and Natural Resources (DEHNR) to promote waste reduction and recycling, to fund research on the solid waste stream in North Carolina, to fund activities related to the development of secondary materials markets, to fund demonstration projects, and to fund research by in-State colleges and universities.

(2) 20% to the White Goods Management Account. The money in this Account is used to make grants to local governmental units to assist them in managing discarded white goods.

(3) 75% to the 100 counties on a per capita basis to be used only for the management of discarded white goods.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE WHITE GOODS DISPOSAL TAX RATE TO ONE RATE FOR ANY WHITE GOOD REGARDLESS OF WHETHER THE WHITE GOOD CONTAINS CHLOROFLUOROCARBONS, TO EXTEND THE WHITE GOODS DISPOSAL TAX SUNSET, TO ALTER THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE TAX PROCEEDS FROM THIS TAX, TO CLARIFY HOW THE COUNTIES MAY USE THE TAX PROCEEDS, AND TO LIMIT THE AMOUNT OF SURPLUS A COUNTY MAY ACCUMULATE BY HOLDING FURTHER TAX DISTRIBUTIONS UNTIL THE SURPLUS IS REDUCED.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-187.21 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-187.21. Tax imposed.

A privilege tax is imposed on a white goods retailer at a flat rate for each new white good that is sold by the retailer. An excise tax is imposed on a new white good purchased outside the State for storage, use, or consumption in this State. The rate of the privilege tax and the excise tax is ~~five dollars ($5.00) if the new white good does not contain chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants and is ten dollars ($10.00) if the new white good contains chlorofluorocarbon refrigerants.~~ three dollars ($3.00). These taxes are in addition to all other taxes."

Section 2. G.S. 105-187.24 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-187.24. Use of tax proceeds.

The Secretary shall distribute the taxes collected under this Article, less the Department of Revenue's allowance for administrative expenses, in accordance with this section. The Secretary may retain the Department's cost of collection, not to exceed two hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000) a year, as reimbursement to the Department.

Each quarter, the Secretary shall credit ~~five percent (5%)~~ eight percent (8%) of the net tax proceeds to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund and shall credit twenty percent (20%) of the net tax proceeds to the White Goods Management Account. The Secretary shall distribute the remaining ~~seventy-five percent (75%)~~ seventy-two percent (72%) of the net tax proceeds among the counties on a per capita basis according to the most recent annual population estimates certified to the Secretary by the State Planning Officer. The Department shall not distribute the tax proceeds to a county when notified not to do so by the Department of Environment and Natural Resources under G.S. 130A-309.87. If a county is not entitled to a distribution, the proceeds allocated for that county will be credited to the White Goods Management Account.

A county may use funds distributed to it under this section only as provided in G.S. 130A-309.82. A county that receives funds under this section and that has an interlocal agreement with another unit of local government under which the other unit provides for the disposal of solid waste for the county must transfer the amount received under this section to that other unit. A unit to which funds are transferred is subject to the same restrictions on use of the funds as the county."

Section 3. G.S. 130A-309.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.12. Solid Waste Management Trust Fund.

(a) The Solid Waste Management Trust Fund is created and is to be administered by the Department for the purposes of:

(1) Funding activities of the Department to promote waste reduction and recycling including but not limited to public education programs and technical assistance to units of local government;

(2) Funding research on the solid waste stream in North Carolina;

(3) Funding activities related to the development of secondary materials markets;

(4) Providing funding for demonstration projects as provided by this Part; and

(5) Providing funding for research by The University of North Carolina and independent nonprofit colleges and universities within the State which are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as provided by this Part.

(b) The Solid Waste Management Trust Fund shall consist of the following:

(1) Funds appropriated by the General Assembly.

(2) Contributions and grants from public or private sources.

(3) Ten percent (10%) of the proceeds of the scrap tire disposal tax imposed under Article 5B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(4) ~~Five percent (5%)~~ Eight percent (8%) of the proceeds of the white goods disposal tax imposed under Article 5C of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(c) The Department shall report annually on or before 1 September to the Environmental Review Commission as to the condition of the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund and as to the use of all funds allocated from the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund."

Section 4. G.S. 130A-309.82 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.82. Use of disposal tax proceeds by counties.

Article 5C of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes imposes a tax on new white goods to provide funds for the management of discarded white goods. A county ~~may~~ must use the proceeds of the tax distributed to it under that Article ~~only~~ for the management of discarded white goods. The purposes for which a county may use the tax proceeds include, but are not limited to, the following:

(1) Capital improvements for infrastructure to manage discarded white goods, such as concrete pads for loading, equipment essential for moving white goods, storage sheds for equipment essential to white goods disposal management, and freon extraction equipment.

(2) Operating costs associated with managing discarded white goods, such as labor, transportation, and freon extraction.

(3) The cleanup of illegal white goods disposal sites, the cleanup of illegal disposal sites consisting of more than fifty percent (50%) discarded white goods, and, as to those illegal disposal sites consisting of fifty percent (50%) or less discarded white goods, the cleanup of the discarded white goods portion of the illegal disposal sites.

Except as provided in subdivision (3) of this section, a county may not use the tax proceeds for a capital improvement or operating expense that does not directly relate to the management of discarded white goods. Except as provided in subdivision (3) of this section, if a capital improvement or operating expense is partially related to the management of discarded white goods, a county may use the tax proceeds to finance a percentage of the costs equal to the percentage of the use of the improvement or expense directly related to the management of discarded white goods."

Section 5. G.S. 130A-309.85 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-309.85. Department to submit annual report on the management of white goods.

The Department shall report annually to the Environmental Review Commission and to the Revenue Laws Study Committee concerning the management of white goods. The report shall be submitted by ~~1 October~~ February 1 of each year for the fiscal year ending on the preceding ~~30 June.~~ June 30. The report shall include the following information:

(1) The amount of taxes collected and distributed under G.S. 105-187.24 during the period covered by the report.

(2) The cost to each county of managing white goods during the period covered by the report.
(3) The beginning and ending balances of the White Goods Management Account for the period covered by the report and a list of grants made from the Account for the period.
(4) Any other information the Department considers helpful in understanding the problem of managing white goods.
(5) A summary of the information concerning the counties' white goods management programs contained in the counties' Annual Financial Information Report."

Section 6. Part 2D of Article 9 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 130A-309.87. Eligibility for disposal tax proceeds.

(a) Receipt of Funds. -- A county may not receive a quarterly distribution of the white goods disposal tax proceeds under G.S. 105-187.24 unless the undesignated balance in the county's white goods account at the end of its fiscal year is less than the threshold amount. Based upon the information in a county's Annual Financial Information Report, the Department must notify the Department of Revenue by March 1 of each year which counties may not receive a distribution of the white goods disposal tax for the current calendar year. The Department of Revenue will credit the undistributed tax proceeds to the White Goods Management Account.

If the undesignated balance in a county's white goods account subsequently falls below the threshold amount, the county may submit a statement to the Department, certified by the county finance officer, that the undesignated balance in its white goods account is less than the threshold amount. Upon receipt of the statement, the Department will notify the Department of Revenue to distribute to the county its quarterly distribution of the white goods disposal tax proceeds. The Department must notify the Department of Revenue of the county's change of status at least 30 days prior to the next quarterly distribution.

For the purposes of this subsection, the term "threshold amount" means twenty-five percent (25%) of the amount of white goods disposal tax proceeds a county received, or would have received if it had been eligible to receive them under G.S. 130A-309.87, during the preceding fiscal year.

(b) Annual Financial Information Report. -- On or before November 1 of each year, a county must submit a copy of its Annual Financial Information Report, prepared in accordance with G.S. 159-33.1, to the Department. The Secretary of the Local Government Commission must require the following information in that report:

(1) The tonnage of white goods scrap metal collected.
(2) The amount of revenue credited to its white goods account. This revenue should include all receipts derived from the white goods disposal tax, the sale of white goods scrap metals and freon, and a grant from the White Goods Management Account.

(3) The expenditures from its white goods account. The expenditures should include operating expenses and capital improvement costs associated with its white goods management program.

(4) The designated and undesignated balance of its white goods account.

(5) A comparison of the undesignated balance of its white goods account at the end of the fiscal year and the amount of white goods disposal tax proceeds it received, or would have received if it had been eligible to receive it under G.S. 130A-309.87, during the fiscal year."

Section 7. Section 11 of Chapter 471 of the 1993 Session Laws, as amended by Section 15.1(b) of Chapter 769 of the 1993 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 11. Sections 1 through 5 of this act and this section become effective January 1, 1994. Section 3 of this act expires July 1, ~~1998.~~ 2001. Section 6 of this act becomes effective July 1, ~~1998.~~ 2001. Sections 7, 8, and 9 of this act become effective July 1, ~~1999.~~ 2002.

The repeal of the tax imposed by Section 3 of this act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person that arose during the time the tax was in effect. The first report submitted by the Department to the Environmental Review Commission under G.S. 130A-309.85, as enacted by this act, shall cover the period from January 1, 1994, to June 30, 1994."

Section 8. G.S. 130A-309.87(a), as enacted by this act, becomes effective January 1, 1999, and applies to collections made on or after that date. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1998.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO FACILITATE ELECTRONIC COMMERCE WITH AND BY PUBLIC ENTITIES OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA BY RECOGNIZING THE VALIDITY OF ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES AND BY AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO REGULATE ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES AND CERTIFICATION AUTHORITIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 66 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 11A.

"Electronic Commerce in Government.

"§ 66-58.1. Title; purpose.

(a) This Article shall be known and may be cited as the Electronic Commerce Act. The purpose of this Article is to facilitate electronic commerce with and by public entities of the State by recognizing the validity of electronic signatures, and by providing for the regulation of electronic signatures and certification authorities.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, this Article shall apply to records generated, stored, processed, communicated, or used for any purpose by or with public entities of the State. 'Public entities' as used in this Article shall include but not be limited to State agencies, boards, commissions or institutions and local political subdivisions including cities, counties, school districts or public services districts.

"§ 66-58.2. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) 'Certification authority' means a person authorized by the Secretary of State to facilitate electronic commerce by vouching for the connection between a person and that person's electronic signature.

(2) 'Electronic signature' means any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature.

"§ 66-58.3. Validity of electronic signatures.

(a) When a public entity of the State is a party to a contract, transaction or filing, an electronic signature in such contract, transaction or filing is a valid signature for all purposes under North Carolina law, so long as the entity requesting or requiring the signature accepts electronic signatures as a form of signature.

(b) An electronic signature shall have the same force and effect as a manual signature if and only if the electronic signature embodies all of the following attributes:

(1) It is unique to the person using it;

(2) It is capable of certification;

(3) It is under sole control of the person using it;

(4) It is linked to data in such a manner that if the data are changed, the electronic signature is invalidated; and

(5) It conforms to rules adopted by the Secretary of State pursuant to this Article.

(c) All public entities of the State of North Carolina may accept electronic signatures.

(d) A contract between public and private entities is not unenforceable, nor is it inadmissible into evidence, on the sole ground that the contract is evidenced by an electronic record or that it has been signed with an electronic signature.

"§ 66-58.4. Rulemaking.

(a) The Secretary of State may promulgate rules under this Article. Such rules may include, but are not limited to:

(1) Definitions, including but not limited to more technical definitions of 'certification authority' and 'electronic signature';

(2) The creation, accreditation, licensing, operation, regulation, and sanctioning of certification authorities;

(3) The imposition of licensing and renewal fees in amounts reasonably related to the cost of administering this Article; and

(4) The imposition of civil monetary penalties for noncompliance with this Article or the rules promulgated thereunder.

(b) For purposes of administering this Article, the Secretary of State may at all times promulgate and amend rules under this Article using the procedure for adoption of temporary rules under G.S. 150B-21.1. Such rules shall be deemed to meet the criteria for adoption of temporary rules under G.S. 150B-21.1.

"§ 66-58.5. Enforcement; penalty for violation.

(a) The Secretary of State may investigate complaints or other information indicating violations of rules adopted by the Secretary of State under this Article or otherwise indicating fraudulent or unlawful conduct in violation of this Article.

(b) The Secretary of State may assess a civil penalty of not more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) against any person who violates a provision of this Article or any rule promulgated thereunder. In determining the amount of a penalty under this subsection, the Secretary of State shall give due consideration to each of the following factors:

(1) The organizational size of the person cited;
(2) The good faith of the person cited;
(3) The gravity of the violation;
(4) The prior record of the violator in complying or failing to comply with this Article or a rule adopted pursuant to this Article; and
(5) The risk of harm to the public or to individuals caused by the violation.

Civil penalties imposed by the Secretary of State under this subsection shall be deposited in the General Fund. Chapter 150B of the General Statutes governs the imposition of a civil penalty under this subsection. A civil penalty owed under this subsection may be recovered in a civil action brought by the Secretary of State or the Attorney General.

"§ 66-58.6. Restraint of violation; legal representation; rights under other law.

(a) The General Court of Justice has jurisdiction and authority upon application of the Secretary of State to enjoin or restrain violations of this Article.

(b) It shall be the duty of the Attorney General, when requested, to represent the Secretary of State in actions or proceedings in connection with this Article.

(c) Nothing in this Article shall adversely affect any rights or the enforcement of any rights acquired by any person under any other statute or at common law with respect to matters also covered by this Article.

"§ 66-58.7. Exemptions.

Electronic signatures specifically authorized and employed pursuant to other provisions of the General Statutes are exempt from this Article."

Section 2. The Secretary of State shall adopt initial rules pursuant to this act not later than October 30, 1998. In developing these rules, the Secretary of State shall incorporate any national standards for ensuring the integrity of electronic signatures and shall seek the advice of public and private entities, including but not limited to the Information Resource Management Commission and the Department of Administration. Before adoption of the rules, the Secretary of State shall hold at least one public hearing to receive comments.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

POSITIONS: 1

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Secretary of State

EFFECTIVE DATE: Upon Passage.

BILL SUMMARY:
Amends Section 1, Chapter 66 of the General Statutes by adding Article 11A. The new Article facilitates electronic commerce with and by public entities of the State of North Carolina by recognizing the validity of electronic signatures. Article 11A further authorizes the Secretary of State to regulate electronic signatures and certification authorities, and to assess a civil penalty (up to $100,000) against any person who violates a provision of the Article.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The bill requires the Department of the Secretary of State to perform a new regulatory function in a fluid and relatively complex technological milieu. The Department of the Secretary of State requests an additional position to perform the work required by the new function. The function requires a blend of legal/regulatory and technical skills. The individual selected for the position would be required to participate in establishing rules for the use of electronic signatures. Further, the individual would be required to evaluate and monitor certification authorities. The Department requests $75,000 for the new position.

Public-sector experience with the use of electronic signatures remains limited. As a result, a reliable estimate of the potential revenue from penalties assessed (as authorized by this bill) does not exist at this time.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1356:
Electronic Commerce Act

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 8, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Reynolds

House Bill 1356 enacts a new article in the Commerce and Business Chapter of the General Statutes called the Electronic Commerce Act, effective when it becomes law. House Bill 1356 was recommended by the Legislative Research Commission Committee on Information and Technology, and has been given a favorable report in House Judiciary I.

The purpose of this Act is to authorize the use and acceptance of electronic signatures by all State agencies, boards, commissions or institutions and by local political subdivisions including cities, counties, school districts or public service districts, when one of these public entities is a party to a contract, transaction, or filing. An "electronic signature" is defined as "any identifier or authentication technique attached to or logically associated with an electronic record which is intended by the party using it to have the same force and effect as the party's manual signature." An electronic signature is valid if the public entity requesting or requiring the signature accepts electronic signatures and if the signature meets the following requirements:

- It is unique to the person using it;
- It is capable of certification;
- It is under sole control of the person using it;
- It is linked to data in a manner that if the data are changed, the electronic signature is invalidated; and
- It conforms to rules adopted by the Secretary of State.

The Act gives the Secretary of State authority to promulgate rules to carry out provisions of the Act, as well as to impose licensing and renewal fees in amounts reasonably related to the cost of administering the Act. The rules must be adopted by October 30, 1998, and at least one public hearing is required before their adoption. The rules shall incorporate national standards for ensuring the integrity of electronic signatures. The Secretary shall seek the advice of public and private entities including the Information Resource Management Commission and the Department of Administration.

The Act authorizes the Secretary of State to assess a civil penalty of not more than $100,000 against a person who violates the Act or adopted rule. The civil penalties are deposited in the General Fund. The courts also have the authority and jurisdiction to enjoin or restrain violations of the Act.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1318:
Limit Nonresident Withholding

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 28, 1998
SPONSOR: Representatives Neely, Brawley, Cansler, Capps, Gray, Hill, Ramsey, C.Wilson; and Hurley.

House Bill 1318 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and would limit the withholding requirement for payments to nonresident contractors, so that it would apply only to payments to contractors doing business as athletes and entertainers. It would be effective retroactively as of January 1, 1998.

The 1997 General Assembly enacted S.L. 1997-109 to require withholding from compensation paid to nonresident individuals and nonresident entities for personal services performed in North Carolina. The nonresident withholding requirement was suggested by the Department of Revenue and recommended to the 1997 General Assembly by the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The withholding requirement was phased in as follows. Beginning January 1, 1998, it applied to payments to individuals for any personal services and payments to entities for services relating to entertainment, athletic events, and construction. The withholding requirement was to be expanded to payments to entities for all personal services effective January 1, 1999.

After S.L. 1997-109 became law, legislators, staff, and the Department of Revenue were contacted by businesses that were required to withhold from their payments for personal services. These businesses stated that the withholding requirement would create an expensive, time-consuming burden on them. They would have to reprogram their accounting software, examine invoices manually, and make difficult judgment calls regarding where services were performed. Large, multistate corporations in particular claimed that the new law would be burdensome. In response to these concerns, House Bill 1318 would repeal nearly the entire withholding requirement. The only part that would be retained is the requirement to withhold from payments for services relating to entertainment and athletic events.

The rollback of the withholding requirement would become effective retroactively as of January 1, 1998. Anyone who had been complying with the law by withholding for services other than those performed by athletes and entertainers could choose to refund the withheld taxes only if the taxes had not yet been paid into the Department of Revenue. All taxpayers who had taxes withheld from their payments will receive a credit for the withheld taxes when they file their income tax return.

The rationale for limiting the withholding requirement to athletes and entertainers is that athletic and entertainment events can be easily identified by those required to withhold, the entire performance is clearly taxable to the state where it occurs, and, because of the large sums often involved, the administrative burden of withholding is small compared to the benefit the State receives. For other personal services performed by nonresidents, the burden of compliance outweighs the benefit because the services are less easily identified and may be performed partly in this state and partly in another state. For those, such as large, multistate corporations, who deal with a myriad of contractors for goods and services throughout the nation, the burden can be significant.

Many nonresidents who derive income from North Carolina do not pay the North Carolina tax due on this income. This problem is particularly troublesome with respect to single event performers such as athletes or entertainers who may be paid large amounts for their work in North Carolina. It is difficult, expensive, and inefficient for the Department of Revenue to trace and pursue these nonresidents who do not pay the tax they owe. The 1997 act imposed the withholding requirement to address this problem.

The 1997 act requires a person or entity who, in the course of a trade or business, pays a nonresident more than $600 for personal services in this State to withhold 4% of the payment and deposit the withheld taxes with the Department of Revenue. The withholding agent must register with the Department of Revenue. The withheld taxes are due by the last day of the first month after the end of the calendar quarter in which the withholding agent paid the nonresident. As is the case with employers who withhold from employees' wages, the withholding agent is required to give each nonresident a statement similar to a W-2 form in January and to provide a compilation of these statements to the Department of Revenue. Filing these documents relieves the agent of the existing information reporting requirement of G.S. 105-154.

The withheld taxes are credited to the nonresident individual or entity from which they were withheld. If the entity is a pass-through entity such as a partnership, Subchapter S corporation, or limited liability company, the credit will pass through to the partners or other owners of the entity. The nonresident receives credit for the withheld taxes by filing a North Carolina income tax return; any excess will be refunded to the taxpayer.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE STATE PRIVILEGE TAX ON GROSS RECEIPTS FROM MOTION PICTURE SHOWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-38.1. Amusements - Motion picture shows.

(a) Tax. -- A privilege tax at the rate of one percent (1%) is imposed on the gross receipts of a person who is engaged in the business of operating a motion picture show for which an admission is charged. The tax is due when a return is due. A return is due by the 10th day after the end of each month and covers the gross receipts received during the previous month. If a person offers an entertainment or amusement that includes both a motion picture taxable under this section and an entertainment or amusement taxable under G.S. 105-37.1 or G.S. 105-38, the tax in G.S. 105-37.1 or G.S. 105-38, as appropriate, applies to the entire gross receipts and the tax levied in this section does not apply.

Section 2. This act becomes effective October 1, 1998.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 1998

BILL SUMMARY: The bill imposes a one percent gross receipts tax on motion picture shows instead of the three percent tax charged other entertainment or amusement.

BACKGROUND: When the privilege tax on motion picture shows was repealed on July 1, 1997, movies then became subject to the 3% gross receipts tax charged amusements and entertainment. However, the Department of Revenue chose not to assess this tax in FY 97-98 until the General Assembly clarified that the tax should be collected. The Department's uncertainty arose from the absence of debate by the 1996 General Assembly on the issue of imposing a gross receipt tax on movies.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
A 1% gross receipts tax on movie admissions would generate approximately $1.5 million in General Fund revenue in FY 1998-99 if enacted on October 1, 1998. The estimate of gross receipts generated by North Carolina movie theaters in 1996 is based on data from the Motion Pictures Association of America. Nationwide, the box office gross was $5.9 billion on 1.3 billion tickets sold. The average admission price at the 29,690 movie screens across the country was $4.42. The average gross revenue per screen in 1996 was $199,107. The National Association of Theater Owners reported 897 movie screens in North Carolina in 1996. Assuming NC theater gross revenues equal the national average, the 897 Tarheel screens produced $178.6 million in revenues in 1996. If a 1% gross receipts tax were applied, the state would have earned $1.78 million in taxes in 1996.

The number of NC screens has grown 5% a year since 1992, but gross revenue per screen has risen and fallen over the last five years. For estimating purposes, it is assumed that the number of movie screens will increase 5% a year, but there will be no increase in gross revenue per screen.

	NC Screens	Gross per screen	Gross revenue	1% tax
1996	897	$199,107	$ 178,598,979	$ 1,785,990
1997	942	$199,107	$ 187,558,794	$ 1,875,588

1999	1,038	$199,107	$ 206,673,066	$ 2,066,731

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1320:
Tax on Movies

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 25, 1998
SPONSOR: Representatives Cansler, Brawley, Capps, Gray, Hill, Neely, Ramsey, C.Wilson, Esposito and Starnes.

House Bill 1320 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and reduces the current 3% gross receipts tax on motion pictures to 1%, effective October 1, 1998. The Bill also clarifies that if a taxpayer offers an entertainment or amusement that includes both a motion picture and an entertainment or amusement that is subject to the 3% gross receipts tax, then the higher rate applies. The October 1, 1998, effective date would give the Department of Revenue time to print the forms and identify taxpayers. Sales tax would continue to be assessed on food and drink sold at motion picture shows.

The Bill clarifies the exemption of motion pictures that are shown at a center for the performing and visual arts that is promoted and managed by an organization organized for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes. The showing of the motion picture show may not be the primary purpose of the center. This exemption was set out in the privilege license statute on movies that was repealed , effective July 1, 1997.

History

The gross receipts tax on motion picture shows was first codified in 1939. The rate of this tax was the same as the sales tax rate. There was also an annual license tax assessed against motion picture shows, and this license tax was applied as a credit upon or advance payment of the gross receipts tax.

In 1943, the General Assembly repealed the gross receipts tax on motion picture shows, and assessed this tax only on other forms of entertainment not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted. The annual license tax continued to be imposed. In 1949, the General Assembly enacted a new statute, G.S. 105-37.1, that assessed an annual license tax and a gross receipts tax on amusements not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted. Since motion picture shows were paying a license tax, they were not subject to G.S. 105-37.1. In 1949, the General Assembly first taxed operating outdoor and drive-in motion picture shows. The tax was based upon population of the town and car capacity. In 1989, the General Assembly amended the privilege license tax on drive-ins by doing away with the tax rate based upon population and car capacity and, instead, assessing a $100 privilege license tax.

During the Second Extra Session of the 1996 Session, a number of State privilege license taxes were repealed, including the privilege taxes on motion picture shows. The Revenue Laws Study Committee had recommended to the 1995 General Assembly that most of the State privilege license taxes imposed under Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes be repealed, effective July 1, 1997. The State privilege license taxes on motion picture shows that were repealed were the following:

- G.S. 105-36 - Required those engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling, leasing, furnishing and/or distributing films which an admission fee was charged to apply for a privilege license and pay a tax thereon of $625 a year.
- G.S. 105-36.1 - Required those engaged in the business of operating an outdoor or drive-in moving picture show for compensation to apply for a privilege license and a pay a tax thereon of $100 a year.
- G.S. 105-37 - Required those engaged in the business of operating a moving picture show for compensation to apply for a license and pay $200 for each room, hall, or tent used. Only half the tax was required if the motion picture show operated three days or less each week.

When the foregoing statutes were repealed, effective July 1, 1997, motion picture shows fell into the category of amusements not otherwise taxed as set out in G.S. 105-37.1 and, therefore, subject to the 3% gross receipts tax and the $50.00 annual license tax assessed in that statute. However, the Department of Revenue did not begin assessing motion picture shows a gross receipts tax when the privilege license taxes were repealed. The Department believed that when the General Assembly repealed these license taxes, it did not intend to assess any tax on motion picture shows. During the 1996 Session, there appears to have been no discussion of a gross receipts tax on theaters, if the privilege tax was repealed.

The Commerce Clearing House State Tax Guide shows that 27 states tax movie admissions in one fashion or another. (see attached map). Twenty-one states simply apply their sales tax to theater admissions. Alabama and Arkansas have a specific gross receipts tax on movie admissions, while Connecticut and South Carolina have a general admissions tax. Arizona has a transaction privilege tax on theaters and Indiana has a gross income tax on theaters. Twenty-five of these twenty-seven states have movie taxes higher than North Carolina's 3% gross receipts tax. Eleven of the states that tax movie admissions are members of the Southern Legislative Conference.

Staff's research also found that North Carolina's policy of taxing movie concessions is consistent with other states and the District of Columbia.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO RAISE THE SALES TAX QUARTERLY THRESHOLD AND TO REPEAL THE ANNUAL WHOLESALE SALES TAX LICENSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.16(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) General Reporting Periods. -- Returns of taxpayers who are required by this subsection to report on a monthly or quarterly basis are due within 15 days after the end of each monthly or quarterly period. Returns of taxpayers who are required to report on a semimonthly basis are due within 10 days after the end of each semimonthly period.

A taxpayer who is consistently liable for less than ~~fifty dollars ($50.00)~~ one hundred dollars ($100.00) a month in State and local sales and use taxes may, with the approval of the Secretary, file a return on a quarterly basis. A taxpayer who is consistently liable for at least twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) a month in State and local sales and use taxes shall, when directed to do so by the Secretary, file a return on a semimonthly basis. All other taxpayers shall file a return on a monthly basis. Quarterly reporting periods end on the last day of March, June, September, and December; monthly reporting periods end on the last day of the month; and semimonthly reporting periods end on the 15th of each month and the last day of each month.

The Secretary shall monitor the amount of tax remitted by a taxpayer and shall direct a taxpayer who consistently remits at least twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) each month to file a return on a semimonthly basis. In determining the amount of tax due from a taxpayer for a reporting period the Secretary shall consider the total amount due from all places of business owned or operated by the same person as the amount due from that person.

A taxpayer who is directed to remit sales and use taxes on a semimonthly basis but who is unable to gather the information required to submit a complete return for either the first reporting period or both the first and second semimonthly reporting periods may, upon written authorization by the Secretary, file an estimated return for that first reporting period or both periods on the basis prescribed by the Secretary. Once a taxpayer is authorized to file an estimated return for the first period or both periods, the taxpayer may continue to file an estimated return for the first or both periods until the Secretary, by written notification, revokes the taxpayer's authorization to do so. When filing a return for the second semimonthly reporting period, a taxpayer who files an estimated return for the first period but not both periods shall remit the amount of tax due for both the first and second reporting periods, less the amount ~~he~~ the taxpayer remitted with ~~his~~ the estimated return.

A taxpayer who files an estimated return for both periods is considered to have been granted an extension for both the first and second reporting periods. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-164.19, if a taxpayer who files an estimated return for both periods files a reconciling return for those periods within ten days of the due date of the return for the second period and any underpayment of estimated taxes remitted with the reconciling return is less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of taxes due for both the first and second reporting periods, no interest shall be charged. Otherwise, a taxpayer who files an estimated return for both periods shall be charged interest at the statutory rate from the due date of the return for the first reporting period to the date the reconciling return is filed."

Section 2. Part 2 of Division II of Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed.

Section 3. G.S. 105-164.4(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) Certificate of Registration. -- ~~Any person who engages in any business for which a privilege tax is imposed by this Article shall apply for and obtain from the Secretary upon payment of fifteen dollars ($15.00) a license to engage in and conduct the business upon the condition that the person shall pay the tax accruing to the State under this Article; the person shall thereby be duly licensed and registered to engage in the business.~~

~~A license issued under this subsection shall be a continuing license until it becomes void or is revoked for failure to comply with the provisions of this Article. A license issued under this subsection to a person, other than a person who makes only wholesale sales or only exempt sales, becomes void if, for a period of eighteen months, the license holder files no return or files returns showing no sales.~~

~~A retailer who sells tangible personal property at a flea market shall conspicuously display the retailer's sales tax license when making sales at the flea market.~~

Before a person may engage in business as a retailer or a wholesale merchant, the person must obtain a certificate of registration from the Department. To obtain a certificate of registration, a person must register with the Department and pay fifteen dollars ($15.00).

A certificate of registration is valid unless it is revoked for failure to comply with the provisions of this Article or becomes void. A certificate issued to a retailer becomes void if, for a period of 18 months, the retailer files no returns or files returns showing no sales."

Section 4. G.S. 105-164.6(f) reads as rewritten:

"(f) ~~Every retailer engaged in business in this State selling or delivering tangible personal property for storage, use, or consumption in this State shall apply for and obtain from the Secretary upon payment of fifteen dollars ($15.00) a license to engage in and conduct the business upon the condition that the person shall pay the tax accruing to the State under this Article; the person shall thereby be duly licensed and registered to engage in the business. A license issued under this subsection shall be a continuing license until it becomes void or is revoked for failure to comply with the provisions of this Article. A license issued under this subsection to a person, other than a person who makes only wholesale sales or only exempt sales, becomes void if, for a period of 18 months, the license holder files no return or files returns showing no sales.~~

Before a person may engage in business in this State selling or delivering tangible personal property for storage, use, or consumption in this State, the person must obtain a certificate of registration from the Department. To obtain a certificate of registration, a person must register with the Department and pay fifteen dollars ($15.00).

A certificate of registration is valid unless it is revoked for failure to comply with the provisions of this Article or becomes void. A certificate issued to a retailer becomes void if, for a period of 18 months, the retailer files no returns or files returns showing no sales."

Section 5. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(4b) reads as rewritten:

"(4b) A person who sells tangible personal property at a ~~flea~~ specialty market, other than the person's own household personal property, is considered a retailer under this Article. A tax at the general rate of tax is levied on the sales price of each article sold by the retailer at the ~~flea~~ specialty market. ~~A person who leases or rents space to others at a flea market may not lease or rent this space unless the retailer requesting to rent or lease the space shows the license or a copy of the license required by this Article or other evidence of compliance. A person who leases or rents space at a flea market shall keep records of retailers who have leased or rented space at the flea market. As used in this subdivision, the term "flea market" means a place where space is rented to a person for the purpose of selling tangible personal property.~~ The term "specialty market" has the same meaning as defined in G.S. 66-250."

Section 6. G.S. 66-252 reads as rewritten:

"§ 66-252. Display and possession of ~~retail sales tax license.~~ certificate of registration.

(a) When Required. -- A person who sells tangible personal property at a specialty market, other than the person's own household personal property, is considered a retailer under G.S. 105-164.4 and must obtain a certificate of registration from the Department of Revenue before the person may engage in business. An itinerant merchant must keep the merchant's ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration conspicuously and prominently displayed, so as to be visible for inspection by patrons of the itinerant merchant at the places or locations at which the goods are to be sold or offered for sale. A peddler must carry the peddler's ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration when the peddler offers goods for sale and must produce the ~~license~~ certificate upon the request of any customer, State or local revenue agent, or law enforcement agent. A specialty market vendor must keep the ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration conspicuously and prominently displayed, so as to be visible for inspection by patrons of the specialty market vendor at the places or locations at which the goods are to be sold or offered for sale. A specialty market operator must have its ~~retail sales tax license,~~ certificate of registration, if any, available for inspection during all times that the specialty market is open and must produce it upon the request of any customer, State or local revenue agent, or law enforcement agent.

(b) Compliance. -- The requirement that a ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration be displayed is satisfied if the vendor displays either of the following:

(1) A copy of the ~~license.~~ certificate.

(2) Evidence that the ~~license~~ certificate has been applied for and the applicable ~~license~~ registration fee has been paid within 30 days before the date the ~~license~~ certificate was required to be displayed."

Section 7. G.S. 66-255 reads as rewritten:

"§ 66-255. Specialty market registration list.

A specialty market operator must maintain a daily registration list of all specialty market vendors selling or offering goods for sale at the specialty market. The registration list must clearly and legibly show each specialty market vendor's name, permanent address, and ~~retail sales and use tax registration~~ certificate of registration number. The specialty market operator must require each specialty market vendor to exhibit a valid ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration for visual inspection by the specialty market operator at the time of registration, and must require each specialty market vendor to keep the ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration conspicuously and prominently displayed, so as to be visible for inspection by patrons of the specialty market vendor at the places or locations at which the goods are offered for sale. Each daily registration list maintained pursuant to this section must be retained by the specialty market operator for no less than two years and must at any time be made available upon request to any law enforcement officer."

Section 8. G.S. 66-257 reads as rewritten:

"§ 66-257. Misdemeanor violations.

(a) Class 1 Misdemeanors. -- A person who does any of the following commits a Class 1 misdemeanor:

(1) Fails to keep a record of new merchandise and fails to produce a record or an affidavit pursuant to G.S. 66-254.

(2) Falsifies a record of new merchandise required by G.S. 66-254.

(b) Class 2 Misdemeanors. -- A person who does any of the following commits a Class 2 misdemeanor:

(1) If the person is an itinerant merchant or a specialty market vendor, fails to display the ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration as required by G.S. 66-252.

(2) If the person is a specialty market operator, fails to maintain the daily registration list as required by G.S. 66-255.

(c) Class 3 Misdemeanors. -- A person who does any of the following commits a Class 3 misdemeanor:

(1) If the person is a peddler or an itinerant merchant, fails to obtain the permission of the property owner as required by G.S. 66-251.

(2) If the person is a peddler or a specialty market operator, fails to produce the ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration as required by G.S. 66-252.

(3) Fails to provide name, address, or identification upon request as required by G.S. 66-253 or provides false information in response to the request.

(4) Knowingly gives false information when registering pursuant to G.S. 66-255.

(d) Defense. -- Whenever satisfactory evidence is presented in any court of the fact that permission to use property was not displayed as required by G.S. 66-251 or that a ~~retail sales tax license~~ certificate of registration was not displayed or produced as required by G.S. 66-252, the person charged may not be found guilty of that violation if the person produces in court a valid permission or a valid ~~retail sales tax license,~~ certificate of registration, respectively, that had been issued prior to the time the person was charged."

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1367:
Sales Tax Changes

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 2, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Hill

House Bill 1367 makes three changes to the sales tax statutes that the Department of Revenue requested the Revenue Laws Study Committee to recommend:

- It raises the sales tax quarterly threshold from $50 to $100.
- It repeals the annual wholesale sales tax license.
- It changes the name of the retail sales tax license to certificate of registration.

Sales Tax Quarterly Threshold

Under current law, taxpayers that are liable for less than $50.00 a month in State and local sales and use taxes may file returns and remit the sales and use taxes owed on a quarterly basis. Taxpayers that are consistently liable for at least $20,000 a month in State and local sales and use taxes must file returns and remit taxes on a semi-monthly basis. All other taxpayers must file returns and remit taxes on a monthly basis.

Section 1 of the bill increases the sales tax quarterly threshold from $50 to $100. This change means that approximately 10,000 taxpayers that are now filing monthly sales and use tax returns will be able to file quarterly returns. The change will reduce the number of returns currently being filed by one-third. The threshold was last increased in 1991 from $25 to $50. This section becomes effective January 1, 1999. This change in the law will mean that approximately $2 million that would have been collected in fiscal year 1998-99 will not be collected until fiscal year 1999-00 because two months of collections are shifted into the 1999-00 fiscal year.

Repeal of the Wholesale Sales Tax License

Under current law, a wholesale merchant must obtain both a wholesale sales tax license and a certificate of registration, referred to in the statute as a retail sales tax license. The form for the two licenses is the same form. The information necessary to obtain both of these licenses is the same. The only difference is that the wholesale sales tax license is an annual license that costs $25. The certificate of registration needs to be acquired only once and it costs $15.

Section 2 of the bill repeals the wholesale sales tax license. Part 2 of Division II of Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes contains one statute and that statute imposes an annual privilege license tax of $25 on wholesale merchants. The Department does not need the information from this license because the wholesale merchant has already provided the Department with the information it needs on the certificate of registration. The tax is also expensive to collect and document and it is a nuisance tax for wholesale businesses to report and pay.

The statute being repealed contains a couple of other provisions that are also duplicated by other statutes in the Sales and Use Tax Article. G.S. 105-164.25 requires wholesale merchants to retain a duplicate copy of each bill of sale for a period of at least three years. G.S. 105-164.26 establishes the presumption that all gross receipts of a wholesale merchant are considered taxable unless the merchant obtains a certificate of resale from the purchaser. If the merchant does not obtain a certificate of resale from the purchaser, then the purchase is taxable at the rate established by the Sales and Use Tax Article.

Section 3 rewrites the law to clarify that both wholesale merchants and retailers must obtain a certificate of registration before beginning business. Although the statute refers to the certificate as a "retail sales tax license", it must be obtained by both wholesale merchants and retailers because a privilege tax is imposed on both of them under the sales and use tax article.

The section changes the name of the license to a "certificate of registration" because that more accurately reflects the nature of the document. It also corresponds to the name it is most commonly known as in the business community: a "Merchant's Certificate of Registration". Unlike the annual wholesale sales tax license, the certificate of registration needs to be obtained only once. It is valid unless it is revoked because the retailer or wholesale merchant fails to comply with the sales and use tax law. In the case of a retailer, the certificate becomes void if the retailer does not make any sales for a period of 18 months. If the certificate is revoked or becomes void, the retailer or wholesale merchant must register with the Department and obtain a new certificate of registration before engaging in business.

Sections 4 through 8 of the bill make conforming changes in the sales and use tax statutes and in the Article 32 of Chapter 66 of the General Statutes, which governs peddlers, itinerant merchants, and specialty markets. The changes made in sections 2 through 8 of the bill become effective July 1, 1998.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 1(threshold) becomes effective January 1, 1999. Sections 2 through 8 become effective July 1, 1998. The remainder is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: This act repeals the annual $25 wholesale license tax. The bill also increases the quarterly filing threshold for sales tax from $50 to $100.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Wholesale License

Section 1 of the bill repeals the annual $25 wholesale license. The Department of Revenue reports $1.25 million in revenue from this tax each year. Since the Director of the Sales Tax Division projects little or no growth in wholesale license revenues, this memo assumes a flat growth rate for this license.

Filing Threshold

Businesses that are liable for less than $50 in sales and use tax remit this tax to the Department of Revenue on a quarterly basis. The bill raises the filing threshold from $50 to $100 beginning January 1, 1999. After analyzing sales and use tax collections and the number of accounts by tax bracket, the Department of Revenue's Tax Research Division estimates that this will affect 10,000 taxpayers and will shift $2 million in collections from FY 1998-99 to 1999-00. There is no actual loss of income, but on a cash flow basis there will be $2 million less to spend on the FY 1998-99 budget.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CLARIFY WHO CAN REPRESENT A TAXPAYER BEFORE THE COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, TO CLARIFY THAT A HEARING BEFORE THE PROPERTY TAX COMMISSION IS DE NOVO, AND TO ALLOW A COUNTY TO PRORATE PROPERTY TAXES ON A MOTOR VEHICLE WHEN THE OWNER SURRENDERS THE VEHICLE'S LICENSE PLATE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-322 is amended by adding a new section to read:

"(h) Representation. -- Notwithstanding G.S. 84-2.1, a person may represent a taxpayer before the board of equalization and review if the taxpayer gives the person written authorization to act on the taxpayer's behalf in the matter being heard by the board. The board of county commissioners may adopt a resolution that uniformly sets forth the form the written authorization must take."

Section 2. G.S. 105-290(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Duty to Hear Appeals. -- In its capacity as the State board of equalization and review, the Property Tax Commission shall hear and adjudicate appeals from boards of county commissioners and from county boards of equalization and review as provided in this section. Appeals heard and adjudicated by the Commission are hearings de novo. Failure of a taxpayer to present factual or legal arguments to a board of equalization and review shall not prejudice the taxpayer in subsequent proceedings before the Commission."

Section 3. G.S. 105-330.6(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) If the owner of a classified motor vehicle listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(1) either transfers the motor vehicle to a new owner or moves out-of-state and registers the vehicle in another jurisdiction, and the owner surrenders the registration plates from the listed vehicle to the Division of Motor ~~Vehicles and at the date of surrender one or more full calendar months remains in the listed vehicle's tax year,~~ Vehicles, then the owner may apply for a release or refund of taxes on the vehicle for ~~the~~ any full calendar months remaining ~~after surrender.~~ in the vehicle's tax year after the date of surrender. To apply for a release or refund, the owner must present to the county tax collector within 120 days after surrendering the plates the receipt received from the Division of Motor Vehicles accepting surrender of the registration plates. The county tax collector shall then multiply the amount of the taxes for the tax year on the vehicle by a fraction, the denominator of which is 12 and the numerator of which is the number of full calendar months remaining in the vehicle's tax year after the date of surrender of the registration plates. The product of the multiplication is the amount of taxes to be released or refunded. If the taxes have not been paid at the date of application, the county tax collector shall make a release of the prorated taxes and credit the owner's tax notice with the amount of the release. If the taxes have been paid at the date of application, the county tax collector shall direct an order for a refund of the prorated taxes to the county finance officer, and the finance officer shall issue a refund to the vehicle owner."

Section 4. This act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Property Tax Commission, County Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill clarifies who can represent a taxpayer before the board of equalization and review. It also declares that a taxpayer's failure to present a legal or factual argument before the local board of equalization and review will not prevent them for presenting that argument to the Property Tax Commission. The bill also gives counties the specific authority to release or refund the taxes on a motor vehicle when the taxpayer moves out of state and surrenders their license plate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The first two items have no fiscal impact at the state or local level. The section dealing with motor vehicle taxes could have an impact at the local level. However, because may counties currently prorate this item, the bill will not create a significant change in local revenues.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1374:
PROPERTY TAX MATTERS

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 2, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Neely

House Bill 1374 contains the Revenue Laws Study Committee's recommendations on a couple of different property tax matters. It clarifies two issues concerning property tax appeals that have long been assumed and it amends the property tax law concerning the taxation of motor vehicles:

- Section 1 provides that a taxpayer may authorize any person the taxpayer chooses to represent the taxpayer at property tax appeals before the county board of equalization and review. In response to concerns voiced at the last meeting, the proposal gives boards of county commissioners the ability to specify the form the authorization must take.
- Section 2 provides that appeals heard and adjudicated by the Property Tax Commission are considered "hearings de novo", meaning that the hearing is not limited to the record of the county board of equalization and review.
- Section 3 allows counties to prorate taxes on motor vehicles when the owner surrenders the registration plates to the Division of Motor Vehicles because the owner has moved to a different state and registered the vehicle in another jurisdiction.

Property Tax Appeals

In 1995, the General Assembly expanded the "practice of law" to include "...the preparation and filing of petitions for use in any court, including administrative tribunals and other judicial or quasi-judicial bodies, ...". Under the law, it is unlawful for any person, other than an active member of the Bar of the State of North Carolina, to practice law in North Carolina.

The Property Tax Commission asked the State Bar to issue an advisory opinion as to whether a professional representative not licensed to practice law in North Carolina could appear before a county board of equalization and review concerning property valuation appeals. The State Bar concluded that if a county board of equalization and review is considered a quasi-judicial body, then such conduct would constitute the practice of law and could only be undertaken by a licensed attorney.

The county board of equalization and review is the first body to which a taxpayer may appeal local property tax listings and appraisals. A decision of a board of equalization and review may be appealed to the Property Tax Commission. The board of equalization and review is composed of the members of the board of county commissioners unless the board of commissioners appoints a special board of equalization and review by resolution. The board of equalization and review has the following duties:

- To list, appraise, and assess any property that has been omitted from the tax lists.
- To correct all errors in the names of persons and in the description of properties subject to taxation.
- To increase or decrease the appraised value of property that has been listed and appraised at a figure that is below or above the appraisal conducted by the county.
- To hear taxpayer appeals concerning a property's valuation or taxation and to adopt an order reducing, increasing, or confirming the appraisal appealed or listing or removing from the tax lists the property whose omission or listing has been appealed.

Because a board of equalization and review does make findings of fact, some would argue that it is a quasi-judicial body. Since 1995, some counties have begun to limit who may represent taxpayers before the county board of equalization and review to either the taxpayer or the taxpayer's attorney. To maintain consistency among the counties, the Department of Revenue asked the Revenue Laws Study Committee to clarify the issue of who may represent a taxpayer before the board of equalization and review.

Traditionally, this level of appeal has been less formal than appeals made to the Property Tax Commission. The Department would like to maintain this atmosphere of informality and cooperation because appeals resolved at the local level are far less costly in both money and time than appeals brought to the Property Tax Commission. Rather than debate the issue as to whether or not the board of equalization and review is a quasi-judicial body, this legislation seeks to retain the current practice: a taxpayer may give authorize anyone the taxpayer chooses to represent the taxpayer before the local board of equalization and review.

To protect the taxpayer, the legislation provides that the authorization the taxpayer gives to the person who will represent the taxpayer must be in writing. Some counties have experienced multiple appeals brought forth by tax consultants on behalf of taxpayers without the taxpayers' knowledge. It further provides that the failure of a taxpayer to present factual or legal arguments to a board of equalization and review does not prevent the taxpayer from raising those issues to the Property Tax Commission.

Property Taxation of Motor Vehicles

In 1993, counties began taxing motor vehicles that are registered with the Division of Motor Vehicles on a revolving, year-round basis. Under this system, the taxpayer receives a tax notice a couple of months after the registration is obtained or renewed and the taxes are due within four months after the registration was obtained or renewed. If the taxes remain unpaid for more than four months after they become due, the county places a block of the vehicle's registration with DMV. DMV will then refuse to renew the vehicle's registration the following year unless the taxpayer obtains a receipt showing that the previous year's taxes have been paid.

In some cases, taxpayers move out of state during this time period. Therefore, the "block" on the vehicle's registration does not impact them. In most instances, the taxpayer is willing to pay the taxes on the part of the tax year that the vehicle was registered in North Carolina. In order to obtain part of the tax liability, some counties prorate the amount of taxes due. This proposal gives counties the specific authority to release or refund the taxes on a motor vehicle when the taxpayer surrenders the vehicle's registration plate to the DMV because the taxpayer has moved out of state and registered the vehicle in another jurisdiction. The taxpayer may apply for a release or refund of taxes on the vehicle for any full calendar months remaining in the vehicle's tax year after the date of surrender.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-151.1 reads as rewritten:

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: The act removes unconstitutional restrictions that prevent nonresidents from taking individual income tax credits for child care and for constructing dwellings for the handicapped.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Child Care Credit

The Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue estimates that allowing nonresidents to claim a prorated child care credit will produce a General Fund revenue loss of $400,000 to $600,000 per year. Tax Research used a 1991 individual income tax database to derive this estimate. This note will assume the maximum revenue loss of $600,000 to account for growth in the cost of dependent care and in the number of eligible taxpayers since 1991.

Handicapped Dwellings Credit

The Tax Research Division in the Department of Revenue could not identify in its income tax database any potential credits for nonresidents who build handicapped dwellings. According to data compiled by the Building Accessibility Section in the Department of Insurance, there have been 63 handicapped accessible units built by nonresident companies since 1991 (none in 1996 and 1997). At $550 per unit, this equates to $34,650 or $4950 per tax year. Based on this experience in the 1990's, expanding the credit to nonresidents should have little or no impact on the General Fund.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1422:
Make Credits Constitutional

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: June 1, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Connie Wilson

House Bill 1422 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and amends two individual income tax credits to remove restrictions that prevent nonresidents from taking the credits. These restrictions are probably unconstitutional in light of a recent United States Supreme Court case. The bill is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1998.

On January 21, 1998, the United States Supreme Court held in Lunding v. New York that a state's tax laws must treat nonresidents on terms of 'substantial equality' with residents. The Court found that New York's individual income tax could not deny the alimony deduction to nonresidents while granting it to residents. The Court concluded that while the Privileges and Immunities Clause[1] of the United States Constitution affords states considerable discretion in formulating their income tax laws, there must be a substantial reason for the difference in treatment of residents and nonresidents within a tax structure.

North Carolina has two individual income tax credits that only residents may claim: the credit for construction of dwelling units for handicapped persons and the credit for child care and certain employment-related expenses. As discussed below, there does not appear to be any reason, much less a substantial one, for prohibiting nonresidents from taking either credit. It appears, therefore, that the part of each credit limiting it to residents would likely be ruled unconstitutional if challenged. House Bill 1422 removes the restriction of the construction credit to residents, and modifies the child care credit so that a nonresident may take a proportional amount of the credit based on the percentage of his or her income that is taxable to North Carolina.

G.S. 105-151.1 grants an individual income tax credit to those residents who construct multi-family rental units that conform with mandatory building code requirements related to accessibility by the handicapped. The dwelling units must be located in North Carolina. The residence of the owner bears no relation to the benefit to this State of having handicapped-accessible dwellings constructed. Furthermore, the same credit is allowed under the corporate income tax law, but without any restriction based on the residence or domicile of the taxpayer that constructs the dwelling units.

[1] Section 2 of Article IV of the United States Constitution.

G.S. 105-151.11 grants an individual income tax credit for child care or similar expenses incurred so the taxpayer may be gainfully employed. For nonresidents employed in North Carolina, the expenses would be directly related to the taxpayer's North Carolina income and thus there seems to be a substantial reason that the credit should be allowed rather than disallowed. In any case, legislative history of this credit shows that the provision preventing nonresidents from claiming the credit was retained in the law due to an oversight in 1981, when it should have been repealed.

The tax credit for child care expenses was formerly a deduction. On July 9, 1981, the General Assembly repealed the deduction and replaced it with a credit. At that time, nonresidents were not allowed to take income tax deductions that were not directly connected to their North Carolina income. Thus, in changing the deduction to a credit, the General Assembly retained the rule that nonresidents could not take advantage of the tax benefit. A few months later, however, the General Assembly abandoned its policy of disallowing nonresidents' deductions for expenses unrelated to North Carolina income and enacted a new law allowing a nonresident to take a proportional amount of these deductions. Through an oversight, the restriction that had been carried forward from the child care deduction to the child care credit was not similarly modified. Because this restriction remains in the law only because of an oversight, a court would be unlikely to find the required substantial reason for it to be upheld in a constitutional challenge.

BILL SUMMARY: CRIMINAL TAX PENALTY TO HOME COUNTY. AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT CRIMINAL PENALTIES IN TAX CASES SHALL BE REMITTED TO THE SCHOOL FUND OF THE COUNTY OF THE DEFENDANT'S RESIDENCE. Amends GS 115C-452 to direct the proceeds of fines, penalties and forfeitures in criminal tax cases to go to the county in which the defendant resided when the offense was committed.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Judicial Department

Overview of Legislation

Currently, if a defendant is charged and convicted with a criminal tax penalty in Wake County his or her fines and forfeitures are remitted to the Wake County finance officer for distribution to the school fund, regardless of where the defendant resides. This legislation amends this provision by requiring these fines and forfeitures to be distributed to the county in which the defendant resided at the time of the offense.

Redistribution of Fines and Forfeitures to County School Funds

Judicial Department data for calendar year 1997 shows 1,105 cases involving convictions for criminal tax offenses. The vast majority of these cases were for failure to file/pay sales tax (633 cases under G.S. 105-236, a misdemeanor) or failure to file/pay income tax (331 cases under G.S. 105-236, a misdemeanor). These misdemeanor cases are prosecuted by local revenue officers in counties throughout the state. According to the Department of Revenue's Criminal Division, approximately 25 to 30 of the "more serious" cases (e.g., evasion, aid and assistance, forgery, schemes) a year are prosecuted specifically in Wake County and would be subject to this legislation. Criminal Division data shows that an average of $93,833 in fines were collected and distributed to the Wake County finance officer over the last 3 years, even though the defendant resided in another county ($95,300 in 1995, $122,300 in 1996, and $63,900 in 1997). Thus, it is estimated that this amount of money would be redistributed to other counties each year. Because there is no pattern to the distribution of the "more serious" cases, it is not possible to determine which counties would gain financially from this legislation.

Implementation of Legislation

The AOC anticipates implementing this legislation would not have a major fiscal impact on the Judicial Department. There may be a small amount of additional court time involved in determining the specific county where the defendant resided at the time of the offense. The judge's finding would be noted by the courtroom clerk and then transferred to the clerk who enters this information into the AOC automated fiscal system. Additional clerk time in Wake County would be devoted to properly identifying the criminal tax codes to ensure that the fines and forfeitures are remitted to the proper county. Finally, the automated financial system in the Wake County Clerks Office would have to be modified to accommodate these transfers. The AOC believes it could handle these additional responsibilities within existing resources.

(Proposed Committee Substitute)
Criminal Tax Penalty to Home County

House Bill 1252 provides that in criminal tax prosecutions, any criminal fine shall be remitted to the county of the defendant's residence rather than the county in which the crime is prosecuted. It would become effective December 1, 1998.

Section 7 of Article IX of the North Carolina Constitution provides that the proceeds of penalties, forfeitures, and fines collected "in the several counties" for any breach of the penal laws of the State shall belong to "the several counties" and shall be used only for public schools. The Constitution does not specify which county receives the proceeds of each fine, forfeiture, or penalty. In the case of a civil penalty or forfeiture collected by a State agency, the General Assembly has provided that the proceeds are allocated among all local school boards on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-457.1 through G.S. 115C-457.3. In the case of a penalty, forfeiture, or fine collected by a State court, the General Assembly has provided that the clerk of superior court shall remit the proceeds to the local finance officer for that county. The local finance officer then distributes the proceeds to the local school boards of that county on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-452. If a case is transferred from one county to the next, however, the proceeds are remitted by the clerk of court back to the first county. In re Dunlap, 66 N.C. App. 152, 155 (1984).

Most criminal cases are brought in the county where the crime was committed. In criminal tax cases, however, the prosecution generally takes place in Wake County rather than in the county in which the taxpayer resided. The Department of Revenue finds that it is more efficient to prosecute these cases, which are few in number, in Wake County than to travel throughout the state. Thus, Wake County receives the proceeds of most criminal tax cases that result in a fine. This bill provides that in these criminal tax cases, if the defendant resided in North Carolina when the crime was committed, the proceeds of any criminal fine will be directed to the county of residence rather than the county in which the case is prosecuted. As a result of this bill, the Wake County clerk would occasionally be required to remit proceeds to other counties.

Technical Considerations:

1. The bill refers to criminal violations of Chapter 105. There are only three criminal violations in Chapter 105. Many of the criminal violations involving a tax imposed under Chapter 105 are enforced under Chapter 14: G.S. 14-91 (Embezzlement of State Property), G.S. 14-92 (Embezzlement of Funds), G.S. 14-100 (Obtaining Property by False Pretenses), G.S. 14-119 (Forgery), and G.S. 14-120 (Uttering Forged Paper). The Committee Substitute broadens the language of the bill to include all criminal offenses involving a tax imposed under Chapter 105.
2. The Committee Substitute directs the trial judge to determine the defendant's county of residence.
3. The Committee Substitute provides that the bill is applicable to fines imposed on or after the effective date, December 1, 1998.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective retroactively as of January 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill will limit the withholding requirement for payments to nonresident contractors to apply only to athletes and entertainers.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The fiscal note for HB 57 (S. L. 1997-109) attributed most of the estimated revenue gain from nonresident withholding to collections from out of state building contractors. In that note it was reported that the North Carolina Licensing Board for General Contractors had 1,765 out of state companies licensed to work in the state in 1995. These firms sought licensing to work on projects greater than $30,000 on buildings, highways, public utilities, grading, and improvement of structures. The majority of these firms are from southeastern states such as South Carolina (426), Georgia (205), Virginia (174), Tennessee (155), and Florida (152). However, the Licensing Board stated that other contractors work in the state without a license because of the contract size (< $30,000) or because they are doing federal jobs.

From 1993 to 1996, 48 out-of-state firms, representing both design and construction, did business with the State Construction Office. The Department of Revenue was asked to check on whether these firms filed income tax returns in North Carolina. Of the 48 firms, only 58.3% or 28 filed returns. If firms working directly for the state are filing only 58.3% of the time, one may assume those contractors working for private customers file at lower rates or not at all.

The previous fiscal note assumed that each licensed nonresident contractor earned $100,000 a year in North Carolina and did not file income tax returns in North Carolina. If the state withheld 4% of the income from these 1,765 nonresident contractors, the estimated revenue gain would have been $7.06 million a year. Passage of this bill will negate the collection of this revenue.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1318:
Limit Nonresident Withholding

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 28, 1998
SPONSOR: Representatives Neely, Brawley, Cansler, Capps, Gray, Hill, Ramsey, C.Wilson; and Hurley.

House Bill 1318 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and would limit the withholding requirement for payments to nonresident contractors, so that it would apply only to payments to contractors doing business as athletes and entertainers. It would be effective retroactively as of January 1, 1998.

The 1997 General Assembly enacted S.L. 1997-109 to require withholding from compensation paid to nonresident individuals and nonresident entities for personal services performed in North Carolina. The nonresident withholding requirement was suggested by the Department of Revenue and recommended to the 1997 General Assembly by the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The withholding requirement was phased in as follows. Beginning January 1, 1998, it applied to payments to individuals for any personal services and payments to entities for services relating to entertainment, athletic events, and construction. The withholding requirement was to be expanded to payments to entities for all personal services effective January 1, 1999.

After S.L. 1997-109 became law, legislators, staff, and the Department of Revenue were contacted by businesses that were required to withhold from their payments for personal services. These businesses stated that the withholding requirement would create an expensive, time-consuming burden on them. They would have to reprogram their accounting software, examine invoices manually, and make difficult judgment calls regarding where services were performed. Large, multistate corporations in particular claimed that the new law would be burdensome. In response to these concerns, House Bill 1318 would repeal nearly the entire withholding requirement. The only part that would be retained is the requirement to withhold from payments for services relating to entertainment and athletic events.

The rollback of the withholding requirement would become effective retroactively as of January 1, 1998. Anyone who had been complying with the law by withholding for services other than those performed by athletes and entertainers could choose to refund the withheld taxes only if the taxes had not yet been paid into the Department of Revenue. All taxpayers who had taxes withheld from their payments will receive a credit for the withheld taxes when they file their income tax return.

The rationale for limiting the withholding requirement to athletes and entertainers is that athletic and entertainment events can be easily identified by those required to withhold, the entire performance is clearly taxable to the state where it occurs, and, because of the large sums often involved, the administrative burden of withholding is small compared to the benefit the State receives. For other personal services performed by nonresidents, the burden of compliance outweighs the benefit because the services are less easily identified and may be performed partly in this state and partly in another state. For those, such as large, multistate corporations, who deal with a myriad of contractors for goods and services throughout the nation, the burden can be significant.

Many nonresidents who derive income from North Carolina do not pay the North Carolina tax due on this income. This problem is particularly troublesome with respect to single event performers such as athletes or entertainers who may be paid large amounts for their work in North Carolina. It is difficult, expensive, and inefficient for the Department of Revenue to trace and pursue these nonresidents who do not pay the tax they owe. The 1997 act imposed the withholding requirement to address this problem.

The 1997 act requires a person or entity who, in the course of a trade or business, pays a nonresident more than $600 for personal services in this State to withhold 4% of the payment and deposit the withheld taxes with the Department of Revenue. The withholding agent must register with the Department of Revenue. The withheld taxes are due by the last day of the first month after the end of the calendar quarter in which the withholding agent paid the nonresident. As is the case with employers who withhold from employees' wages, the withholding agent is required to give each nonresident a statement similar to a W-2 form in January and to provide a compilation of these statements to the Department of Revenue. Filing these documents relieves the agent of the existing information reporting requirement of G.S. 105-154.

The withheld taxes are credited to the nonresident individual or entity from which they were withheld. If the entity is a pass-through entity such as a partnership, Subchapter S corporation, or limited liability company, the credit will pass through to the partners or other owners of the entity. The nonresident receives credit for the withheld taxes by filing a North Carolina income tax return; any excess will be refunded to the taxpayer.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE STATE PRIVILEGE TAX ON GROSS RECEIPTS FROM MOTION PICTURE SHOWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-38.1. Amusements - Motion picture shows.

(a) Tax. -- A privilege tax at the rate of one percent (1%) is imposed on the gross receipts of a person who is engaged in the business of operating a motion picture show for which an admission is charged. The tax is due when a return is due. A return is due by the 10th day after the end of each month and covers the gross receipts received during the previous month. If a person offers an entertainment or amusement that includes both a motion picture taxable under this section and an entertainment or amusement taxable under G.S. 105-37.1 or G.S. 105-38, the tax in G.S. 105-37.1 or G.S. 105-38, as appropriate, applies to the entire gross receipts and the tax levied in this section does not apply.

Section 2. This act becomes effective October 1, 1998.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 1998

BILL SUMMARY: The bill imposes a one percent gross receipts tax on motion picture shows instead of the three percent tax charged other entertainment or amusement.

BACKGROUND: When the privilege tax on motion picture shows was repealed on July 1, 1997, movies then became subject to the 3% gross receipts tax charged amusements and entertainment. However, the Department of Revenue chose not to assess this tax in FY 97-98 until the General Assembly clarified that the tax should be collected. The Department's uncertainty arose from the absence of debate by the 1996 General Assembly on the issue of imposing a gross receipt tax on movies.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
A 1% gross receipts tax on movie admissions would generate approximately $1.5 million in General Fund revenue in FY 1998-99 if enacted on October 1, 1998. The estimate of gross receipts generated by North Carolina movie theaters in 1996 is based on data from the Motion Pictures Association of America. Nationwide, the box office gross was $5.9 billion on 1.3 billion tickets sold. The average admission price at the 29,690 movie screens across the country was $4.42. The average gross revenue per screen in 1996 was $199,107. The National Association of Theater Owners reported 897 movie screens in North Carolina in 1996. Assuming NC theater gross revenues equal the national average, the 897 Tarheel screens produced $178.6 million in revenues in 1996. If a 1% gross receipts tax were applied, the state would have earned $1.78 million in taxes in 1996.

The number of NC screens has grown 5% a year since 1992, but gross revenue per screen has risen and fallen over the last five years. For estimating purposes, it is assumed that the number of movie screens will increase 5% a year, but there will be no increase in gross revenue per screen.

	NC Screens	Gross per screen	Gross revenue	1% tax
1996	897	$199,107	$ 178,598,979	$ 1,785,990
1997	942	$199,107	$ 187,558,794	$ 1,875,588
1998	989	$199,107	$ 196,916,823	$ 1,969,168
1999	1,038	$199,107	$ 206,673,066	$ 2,066,731
2000	1,090	$199,107	$ 217,026,630	$ 2,170,266
2001	1,145	$199,107	$ 227,977,515	$ 2,279,775
2002	1,202	$199,107	$ 239,326,614	$ 2,393,266
2003	1,262	$199,107	$ 251,273,034	$ 2,512,730

Fiscal Year	Revenue
1998-99	$ 1,525,657

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1320:
Tax on Movies

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 25, 1998
SPONSOR: Representatives Cansler, Brawley, Capps, Gray, Hill, Neely, Ramsey, C.Wilson, Esposito and Starnes.

House Bill 1320 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and reduces the current 3% gross receipts tax on motion pictures to 1%, effective October 1, 1998. The Bill also clarifies that if a taxpayer offers an entertainment or amusement that includes both a motion picture and an entertainment or amusement that is subject to the 3% gross receipts tax, then the higher rate applies. The October 1, 1998, effective date would give the Department of Revenue time to print the forms and identify taxpayers. Sales tax would continue to be assessed on food and drink sold at motion picture shows.

The Bill clarifies the exemption of motion pictures that are shown at a center for the performing and visual arts that is promoted and managed by an organization organized for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes. The showing of the motion picture show may not be the primary purpose of the center. This exemption was set out in the privilege license statute on movies that was repealed , effective July 1, 1997.

History

The gross receipts tax on motion picture shows was first codified in 1939. The rate of this tax was the same as the sales tax rate. There was also an annual license tax assessed against motion picture shows, and this license tax was applied as a credit upon or advance payment of the gross receipts tax.

In 1943, the General Assembly repealed the gross receipts tax on motion picture shows, and assessed this tax only on other forms of entertainment not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted. The annual license tax continued to be imposed. In 1949, the General Assembly enacted a new statute, G.S. 105-37.1, that assessed an annual license tax and a gross receipts tax on amusements not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted. Since motion picture shows were paying a license tax, they were not subject to G.S. 105-37.1. In 1949, the General Assembly first taxed operating outdoor and drive-in motion picture shows. The tax was based upon population of the town and car capacity. In 1989, the General Assembly amended the privilege license tax on drive-ins by doing away with the tax rate based upon population and car capacity and, instead, assessing a $100 privilege license tax.

During the Second Extra Session of the 1996 Session, a number of State privilege license taxes were repealed, including the privilege taxes on motion picture shows. The Revenue Laws Study Committee had recommended to the 1995 General Assembly that most of the State privilege license taxes imposed under Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes be repealed, effective July 1, 1997. The State privilege license taxes on motion picture shows that were repealed were the following:

- G.S. 105-36 - Required those engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling, leasing, furnishing and/or distributing films which an admission fee was charged to apply for a privilege license and pay a tax thereon of $625 a year.
- G.S. 105-36.1 - Required those engaged in the business of operating an outdoor or drive-in moving picture show for compensation to apply for a privilege license and a pay a tax thereon of $100 a year.
- G.S. 105-37 - Required those engaged in the business of operating a moving picture show for compensation to apply for a license and pay $200 for each room, hall, or tent used. Only half the tax was required if the motion picture show operated three days or less each week.

When the foregoing statutes were repealed, effective July 1, 1997, motion picture shows fell into the category of amusements not otherwise taxed as set out in G.S. 105-37.1 and, therefore, subject to the 3% gross receipts tax and the $50.00 annual license tax assessed in that statute. However, the Department of Revenue did not begin assessing motion picture shows a gross receipts tax when the privilege license taxes were repealed. The Department believed that when the General Assembly repealed these license taxes, it did not intend to assess any tax on motion picture shows. During the 1996 Session, there appears to have been no discussion of a gross receipts tax on theaters, if the privilege tax was repealed.

The Commerce Clearing House State Tax Guide shows that 27 states tax movie admissions in one fashion or another. (see attached map). Twenty-one states simply apply their sales tax to theater admissions. Alabama and Arkansas have a specific gross receipts tax on movie admissions, while Connecticut and South Carolina have a general admissions tax. Arizona has a transaction privilege tax on theaters and Indiana has a gross income tax on theaters. Twenty-five of these twenty-seven states have movie taxes higher than North Carolina's 3% gross receipts tax. Eleven of the states that tax movie admissions are members of the Southern Legislative Conference.

Staff's research also found that North Carolina's policy of taxing movie concessions is consistent with other states and the District of Columbia.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1252:
(Proposed Committee Substitute)
Criminal Tax Penalty to Home County

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 28, 1998
SPONSOR: Rep. McCombs

House Bill 1252 provides that in criminal tax prosecutions, any criminal fine shall be remitted to the county of the defendant's residence rather than the county in which the crime is prosecuted. It would become effective December 1, 1998.

Section 7 of Article IX of the North Carolina Constitution provides that the proceeds of penalties, forfeitures, and fines collected "in the several counties" for any breach of the penal laws of the State shall belong to "the several counties" and shall be used only for public schools. The Constitution does not specify which county receives the proceeds of each fine, forfeiture, or penalty. In the case of a civil penalty or forfeiture collected by a State agency, the General Assembly has provided that the proceeds are allocated among all local school boards on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-457.1 through G.S. 115C-457.3. In the case of a penalty, forfeiture, or fine collected by a State court, the General Assembly has provided that the clerk of superior court shall remit the proceeds to the local finance officer for that county. The local finance officer then distributes the proceeds to the local school boards of that county on the basis of average daily membership. G.S. 115C-452. If a case is transferred from one county to the next, however, the proceeds are remitted by the clerk of court back to the first county. In re Dunlap, 66 N.C. App. 152, 155 (1984).

Most criminal cases are brought in the county where the crime was committed. In criminal tax cases, however, the prosecution generally takes place in Wake County rather than in the county in which the taxpayer resided. The Department of Revenue finds that it is more efficient to prosecute these cases, which are few in number, in Wake County than to travel throughout the state. Thus, Wake County receives the proceeds of most criminal tax cases that result in a fine. This bill provides that in these criminal tax cases, if the defendant resided in North Carolina when the crime was committed, the proceeds of any criminal fine will be directed to the county of residence rather than the county in which the case is prosecuted. As a result of this bill, the Wake County clerk would occasionally be required to remit proceeds to other counties.

Technical Considerations:

1. The bill refers to criminal violations of Chapter 105. There are only three criminal violations in Chapter 105. Many of the criminal violations involving a tax imposed under Chapter 105 are enforced under Chapter 14: G.S. 14-91 (Embezzlement of State Property), G.S. 14-92 (Embezzlement of Funds), G.S. 14-100 (Obtaining Property by False Pretenses), G.S. 14-119 (Forgery), and G.S. 14-120 (Uttering Forged Paper). The Committee Substitute broadens the language of the bill to include all criminal offenses involving a tax imposed under Chapter 105.
2. The Committee Substitute directs the trial judge to determine the defendant's county of residence.
3. The Committee Substitute provides that the bill is applicable to fines imposed on or after the effective date, December 1, 1998.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE STATE PRIVILEGE TAX ON GROSS RECEIPTS FROM MOTION PICTURE SHOWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-38.1. Amusements - Motion picture shows.

(a) Tax. -- A privilege tax at the rate of one percent (1%) is imposed on the gross receipts of a person who is engaged in the business of operating a motion picture show for which an admission is charged. The tax is due when a return is due. A return is due by the 10th day after the end of each month and covers the gross receipts received during the previous month. If a person offers an entertainment or amusement that includes both a motion picture taxable under this section and an entertainment or amusement taxable under G.S. 105-37.1 or G.S. 105-38, the tax in G.S. 105-37.1 or G.S. 105-38, as appropriate, applies to the entire gross receipts and the tax levied in this section does not apply.

Section 2. This act becomes effective October 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill imposes a one percent gross receipts tax on motion picture shows instead of the three percent tax charged other entertainment or amusement.

BACKGROUND: When the privilege tax on motion picture shows was repealed on July 1, 1997, movies then became subject to the 3% gross receipts tax charged amusements and entertainment. However, the Department of Revenue chose not to assess this tax in FY 97-98 until the General Assembly clarified that the tax should be collected. The Department's uncertainty arose from the absence of debate by the 1996 General Assembly on the issue of imposing a gross receipt tax on movies.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

A 1% gross receipts tax on movie admissions would generate approximately $1.5 million in General Fund revenue in FY 1998-99 if enacted on October 1, 1998. The estimate of gross receipts generated by North Carolina movie theaters in 1996 is based on data from the Motion Pictures Association of America. Nationwide, the box office gross was $5.9 billion on 1.3 billion tickets sold. The average admission price at the 29,690 movie screens across the country was $4.42. The average gross revenue per screen in 1996 was $199,107. The National Association of Theater Owners reported 897 movie screens in North Carolina in 1996. Assuming NC theater gross revenues equal the national average, the 897 Tarheel screens produced $178.6 million in revenues in 1996. If a 1% gross receipts tax were applied, the state would have earned $1.78 million in taxes in 1996.

The number of NC screens has grown 5% a year since 1992, but gross revenue per screen has risen and fallen over the last five years. For estimating purposes, it is assumed that the number of movie screens will increase 5% a year, but there will be no increase in gross revenue per screen.

	NC Screens	Gross per screen	Gross revenue	1% tax
1996	897	$199,107	$ 178,598,979	$ 1,785,990
1997	942	$199,107	$ 187,558,794	$ 1,875,588
1998	989	$199,107	$ 196,916,823	$ 1,969,168
1999	1,038	$199,107	$ 206,673,066	$ 2,066,731
2000	1,090	$199,107	$ 217,026,630	$ 2,170,266
2001	1,145	$199,107	$ 227,977,515	$ 2,279,775
2002	1,202	$199,107	$ 239,326,614	$ 2,393,266
2003	1,262	$199,107	$ 251,273,034	$ 2,512,730

Fiscal Year	Revenue
1998-99	$ 1,525,657
1999-00	$ 2,118,498

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1320:
Tax on Movies

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 25, 1998
SPONSOR: Representatives Cansler, Brawley, Capps, Gray, Hill, Neely, Ramsey, C.Wilson, Esposito and Starnes.

House Bill 1320 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and reduces the current 3% gross receipts tax on motion pictures to 1%, effective October 1, 1998. The Bill also clarifies that if a taxpayer offers an entertainment or amusement that includes both a motion picture and an entertainment or amusement that is subject to the 3% gross receipts tax, then the higher rate applies. The October 1, 1998, effective date would give the Department of Revenue time to print the forms and identify taxpayers. Sales tax would continue to be assessed on food and drink sold at motion picture shows.

The Bill clarifies the exemption of motion pictures that are shown at a center for the performing and visual arts that is promoted and managed by an organization organized for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes. The showing of the motion picture show may not be the primary purpose of the center. This exemption was set out in the privilege license statute on movies that was repealed , effective July 1, 1997.

History

The gross receipts tax on motion picture shows was first codified in 1939. The rate of this tax was the same as the sales tax rate. There was also an annual license tax assessed against motion picture shows, and this license tax was applied as a credit upon or advance payment of the gross receipts tax.

In 1943, the General Assembly repealed the gross receipts tax on motion picture shows, and assessed this tax only on other forms of entertainment not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted. The annual license tax continued to be imposed. In 1949, the General Assembly enacted a new statute, G.S. 105-37.1, that assessed an annual license tax and a gross receipts tax on amusements not otherwise taxed or specifically exempted. Since motion picture shows were paying a license tax, they were not subject to G.S. 105-37.1. In 1949, the General Assembly first taxed operating outdoor and drive-in motion picture shows. The tax was based upon population of the town and car capacity. In 1989, the General Assembly amended the privilege license tax on drive-ins by doing away with the tax rate based upon population and car capacity and, instead, assessing a $100 privilege license tax.

During the Second Extra Session of the 1996 Session, a number of State privilege license taxes were repealed, including the privilege taxes on motion picture shows. The Revenue Laws Study Committee had recommended to the 1995 General Assembly that most of the State privilege license taxes imposed under Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes be repealed, effective July 1, 1997. The State privilege license taxes on motion picture shows that were repealed were the following:

- G.S. 105-36 - Required those engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling, leasing, furnishing and/or distributing films which an admission fee was charged to apply for a privilege license and pay a tax thereon of $625 a year.
- G.S. 105-36.1 - Required those engaged in the business of operating an outdoor or drive-in moving picture show for compensation to apply for a privilege license and a pay a tax thereon of $100 a year.
- G.S. 105-37 - Required those engaged in the business of operating a moving picture show for compensation to apply for a license and pay $200 for each room, hall, or tent used. Only half the tax was required if the motion picture show operated three days or less each week.

When the foregoing statutes were repealed, effective July 1, 1997, motion picture shows fell into the category of amusements not otherwise taxed as set out in G.S. 105-37.1 and, therefore, subject to the 3% gross receipts tax and the $50.00 annual license tax assessed in that statute. However, the Department of Revenue did not begin assessing motion picture shows a gross receipts tax when the privilege license taxes were repealed. The Department believed that when the General Assembly repealed these license taxes, it did not intend to assess any tax on motion picture shows. During the 1996 Session, there appears to have been no discussion of a gross receipts tax on theaters, if the privilege tax was repealed.

The Commerce Clearing House State Tax Guide shows that 27 states tax movie admissions in one fashion or another. (see attached map). Twenty-one states simply apply their sales tax to theater admissions. Alabama and Arkansas have a specific gross receipts tax on movie admissions, while Connecticut and South Carolina have a general admissions tax. Arizona has a transaction privilege tax on theaters and Indiana has a gross income tax on theaters. Twenty-five of these twenty-seven states have movie taxes higher than North Carolina's 3% gross receipts tax. Eleven of the states that tax movie admissions are members of the Southern Legislative Conference.

Staff's research also found that North Carolina's policy of taxing movie concessions is consistent with other states and the District of Columbia.

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1077 (PCSLA - 001):
Massage and Bodywork Therapy

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 26, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Clary

The PCS for House Bill 1077 creates the "North Carolina Massage and Bodywork Therapy Practice Act." The Act's purpose is to require mandatory licensure of persons engaged in the practice of massage and bodywork therapy to ensure minimum standards of competency and to protect the public health, safety, and welfare. Under current law, a "massage business" is covered by the criminal laws for adult establishments, and is considered an adult establishment if it is "any establishment or business wherein massage is practiced, including establishments commonly known as health clubs, physical culture studios, massage studios, or massage parlors." The only other statutory references to massage is language exempting simple massages and the operation of health clubs from licensure under the physical therapy act and language including massage as an adjunctive therapy under acupuncture.

The Act prohibits persons from practicing or holding themselves out as massage and bodywork therapists without licensure from the newly created North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy. The Act defines "massage and bodywork therapy" as systems of activities applied to soft tissues of the body for therapeutic, educational, or relaxation purposes. The Act also prohibits a person from adopting or using any title or description including "massage therapist", "bodywork therapist", "masseur", "masseuse", "massagist", "somatic practitioner", "body therapist", "structural integrator", or any derivation of those terms unless the person is licensed under the Act.

The practice does not include: diagnosis of illness or disease, medical procedures, chiropractic adjustive procedures, electrical stimulation, ultrasound, prescription of medicines, or the use of modalities for which a license to practice medicine, chiropractic, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, acupuncture, or podiatry is required by law.

The Act does not prohibit: the practice of a profession by one licensed, certified or registered under other N.C. laws, the practice of massage and bodywork therapy by a person licensed elsewhere when that person is called into the State to teach a course or to consult with a person licensed under the Act, students enrolled in a Board approved school and completing a clinical requirement under the supervision of a licensed person, a person giving therapy to members of the person's immediate family, and the practice of movement educators such as dance teachers, yoga teachers, personal trainers, martial arts instructors, movement repatterning practitioners, and other such professions.

The requirements of licensure are:

- •high school diploma or equivalent
- •18 years or older
- •good moral character as determined by the Board
- •successful completion of a minimum of 500 classroom hours of supervised instruction at a Board approved school
- •passing an examination administered by an agency approved by the National Commission of Certifying Agencies or an examination administered or approved by the Board.

The schedule of fees for licensure may be no more than the following amounts:

(1)	Application for examination	$200.00
(2)	License fee	150.00
(3)	License renewal (every two years)	100.00
(4)	Late renewal penalty	75.00
(5)	License by reciprocity	100.00
(6)	Duplicate license	25.00
(7)	Provisional license	150.00

Salaries, expenses, or other Board obligations will be paid out of the above fees.

The Board consists of seven members: five to be licensed under the Article and with at least five years' experience, except that the initial five do not have to be licensed or have completed 500 hours of the required supervised instruction. The remaining two members will be from the general public.

The Act sets out powers and duties of the Board and lists reasons a Board may deny, suspend, revoke, or refuse a license. The Board may seek to enjoin anyone who violates the Act. There is no requirement for direct third-party reimbursement to licensees.

For two years after effective date of the Act, a provisional license may be granted to an applicant who does not meet educational or examination requirements for licensure. At the end of two years after the granting of the provisional license, the applicant must submit evidence of compliance with the continuing education requirements (at least 25 hours of study). The applicant will then be issued a license.

Section 2. Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-164.13B. Food exempt from tax.

The taxes imposed by this Article do not apply to food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51."

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX.

Section 3. Article 1 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed.

Section 4. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 1A.

"Estate Taxes.

"§ 105-32.1. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Code. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

(2) Personal representative. -- The person appointed by the clerk of superior court under Chapter 28A of the General Statutes to administer the estate of a decedent or, if no one is appointed under that Chapter, the person required to file a federal estate tax return for the estate of the decedent.

(3) Secretary. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

"§ 105-32.2. Estate tax imposed in amount equal to federal state death tax credit.

(a) Tax. -- An estate tax is imposed on the estate of a decedent when a federal estate tax is imposed on the estate under section 2001 of the Code and any of the following apply:

(1) The decedent was a resident of this State at death.

(2) The decedent was not a resident of this State at death and owned any of the following:

a. Real property or tangible personal property that is located in this State.

b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the estate tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state death taxes allowed under section 2011 of the Code. If any property in the estate is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the estate that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property in the estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property in the estate, unless the decedent's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the decedent's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in the estate is its gross value reduced by any debts and deductions of the estate.

"§ 105-32.3. Liability for estate tax.

(a) Primary. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable from the assets of the estate. A person who receives property from an estate is liable for the amount of estate tax attributable to that property.

(b) Personal Representative. -- The personal representative of an estate is liable for an estate tax that is not paid within two years after it was due. This liability is limited to the value of the assets of the estate that were under the control of the personal representative. The amount for which the personal representative is liable may be recovered from the personal representative or from the surety on any bond filed by the personal representative under Article 8 of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes.

(c) Clerk of Court. -- A clerk of court who allows a personal representative to make a final settlement of an estate without presenting one of the following is liable on the clerk's bond for any estate tax due:

(1) An affirmation by the personal representative certifying that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.

(2) A certificate issued by the Secretary stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.

"§ 105-32.4. Payment of estate tax.

(a) Due Date. -- The estate tax imposed by this Article is due when an estate tax return is due. An estate tax return is due on the date a federal estate tax return is due.

(b) Filing Return. -- An estate tax return must be filed under this Article if a federal estate tax return is required. The return must be filed by the personal representative of the estate on a form provided by the Secretary.

(c) Extension. -- An extension of time to file a federal estate tax return is an automatic extension of the time to file an estate tax return under this Article. The Secretary may, in accordance with G.S. 105-263, extend the time for paying the estate tax imposed by this Article or for filing an estate tax return.

(d) Interest and Penalties. -- The penalties in G.S. 105-236 apply to the failure to file an estate tax return or to pay an estate tax when due. Interest at the rate set in G.S. 105-241.1 accrues on estate taxes paid after the date they are due.

(e) Obtaining Amount Due. -- The personal representative of an estate may sell assets in the estate to obtain money to pay the tax imposed by this Article.

"§ 105-32.5. Making installment payments of tax due when federal estate tax is payable in installments.

A personal representative who elects under section 6166 of the Code to make installment payments of federal estate tax may elect to make installment payments of the tax imposed by this Article. An election under this section extends the time for payment of the tax due in accordance with the extension elected under section 6166 of the Code. Payments of tax are due under this section at the same time and in the same proportion to the total amount of tax due as payments of federal estate tax under section 6166 of the Code. Acceleration of payments under section 6166 of the Code accelerates the payments due under this section.

"§ 105-32.6. Estate tax is a lien on real property in the estate.

The tax imposed by this Article on an estate is a lien on the real property in the estate and on the proceeds of the sale of the real property in the estate. The lien is extinguished when one of the following occurs:

(1) The personal representative certifies to the clerk of court that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.

(2) The Secretary issues a certificate stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.

(3) For specific real property, when the Secretary issues a tax waiver for that property.

(4) Ten years have elapsed since the date of the decedent's death.

"§ 105-32.7. Generation-skipping transfer tax.

(a) Tax. -- A tax is imposed on a generation-skipping transfer that is subject to the tax imposed by Chapter 13 of Subtitle B of the Code when any of the following apply:

(1) The original transferor is a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer.

(2) The original transferor is not a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer and the transfer includes any of the following:

a. Real or tangible personal property that is located in this State.

b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state generation-skipping transfer taxes allowed under section 2604 of the Code. If property in the transfer is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the original transferor was a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the property transferred that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property transferred. If the original transferor was not a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property transferred, unless the original transferor's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the original transferor's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in a transfer is its gross value reduced by any debts secured by the property.

(c) Payment. -- The tax imposed by this section is due when a return is due. A return is due the same date as the federal return for payment of the federal generation-skipping transfer tax. The tax is payable by the person who is liable for the federal generation-skipping transfer tax.

"§ 105-32.8. Federal determination that changes the amount of tax payable to the State.

If the federal government corrects or otherwise determines the amount of the maximum state death tax credit allowed an estate under section 6166 of the Code, the personal representative must, within two years after being notified of the correction or final determination by the federal government, file an estate tax return with the Secretary reflecting the correct amount of tax payable under this Article. If the federal government corrects or otherwise determines the amount of the maximum state generation-skipping transfer tax credit allowed under section 2604 of the Code, the person who made the transfer must, within two years after being notified of the correction or final determination by the federal government, file a tax return with the Secretary reflecting the correct amount of tax payable under this Article.

The Secretary must assess and collect any additional tax due as provided in Article 9 of this Chapter and must refund any overpayment of tax as provided in Article 9 of this Chapter. A person who fails to report a federal correction or determination in accordance with this section is subject to the penalties in G.S. 105-236 and forfeits the right to any refund due by reason of the determination."

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

REPEAL STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD.

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(5) is repealed.

Section 2. Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-164.13B. Food exempt from tax.

The taxes imposed by this Article do not apply to food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51."

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX.

Section 3. Article 1 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed.

Section 4. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 1A.
"Estate Taxes.

"§ 105-32.1. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Code. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

(2) Personal representative. -- The person appointed by the clerk of superior court under Chapter 28A of the General Statutes to administer the estate of a decedent or, if no one is appointed under that Chapter, the person required to file a federal estate tax return for the estate of the decedent.

(3) Secretary. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

"§ 105-32.2. Estate tax imposed in amount equal to federal state death tax credit.

(a) Tax. -- An estate tax is imposed on the estate of a decedent when a federal estate tax is imposed on the estate under section 2001 of the Code and any of the following apply:

(1) The decedent was a resident of this State at death.

(2) The decedent was not a resident of this State at death and owned any of the following:

a. Real property or tangible personal property that is located in this State.

b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the estate tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state death taxes allowed under section 2011 of the Code. If any property in the estate is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the estate that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property in the estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property in the estate, unless the decedent's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the decedent's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in the estate is its gross value reduced by any debts and deductions of the estate.

"§ 105-32.3. Liability for estate tax.

(a) Primary. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable from the assets of the estate. A person who receives property from an estate is liable for the amount of estate tax attributable to that property.

(b) Personal Representative. -- The personal representative of an estate is liable for an estate tax that is not paid within two years after it was due. This liability is limited to the value of the assets of the estate that were under the control of the personal representative. The amount for which the personal representative is liable may be recovered from the personal representative or from the surety on any bond filed by the personal representative under Article 8 of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes.

(c) Clerk of Court. -- A clerk of court who allows a personal representative to make a final settlement of an estate without presenting one of the following is liable on the clerk's bond for any estate tax due:

(1) An affirmation by the personal representative certifying that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.

(2) A certificate issued by the Secretary stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.

"§ 105-32.4. Payment of estate tax.

(a) Due Date. -- The estate tax imposed by this Article is due when an estate tax return is due. An estate tax return is due on the date a federal estate tax return is due.

(b) Filing Return. -- An estate tax return must be filed under this Article if a federal estate tax return is required. The return must be filed by the personal representative of the estate on a form provided by the Secretary.

(c) Extension. -- An extension of time to file a federal estate tax return is an automatic extension of the time to file an estate tax return under this Article. The Secretary may, in accordance with G.S. 105-263, extend the time for paying the estate tax imposed by this Article or for filing an estate tax return.

(d) Interest and Penalties. -- The penalties in G.S. 105-236 apply to the failure to file an estate tax return or to pay an estate tax when due. Interest at the rate set in G.S. 105-241.1 accrues on estate taxes paid after the date they are due.

(e) Obtaining Amount Due. -- The personal representative of an estate may sell assets in the estate to obtain money to pay the tax imposed by this Article.

"§ 105-32.5. Making installment payments of tax due when federal estate tax is payable in installments.

A personal representative who elects under section 6166 of the Code to make installment payments of federal estate tax may elect to make installment payments of the tax imposed by this Article. An election under this section extends the time for payment of the tax due in accordance with the extension elected under section 6166 of the Code. Payments of tax are due under this section at the same time and in the same proportion to the total amount of tax due as payments of federal estate tax under section 6166 of the Code. Acceleration of payments under section 6166 of the Code accelerates the payments due under this section.

"§ 105-32.6. Estate tax is a lien on real property in the estate.

The tax imposed by this Article on an estate is a lien on the real property in the estate and on the proceeds of the sale of the real property in the estate. The lien is extinguished when one of the following occurs:

(1) The personal representative certifies to the clerk of court that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.

(2) The Secretary issues a certificate stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.

(3) For specific real property, when the Secretary issues a tax waiver for that property.

(4) Ten years have elapsed since the date of the decedent's death.

"§ 105-32.7. Generation-skipping transfer tax.

(a) Tax. -- A tax is imposed on a generation-skipping transfer that is subject to the tax imposed by Chapter 13 of Subtitle B of the Code when any of the following apply:

(1) The original transferor is a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer.

(2) The original transferor is not a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer and the transfer includes any of the following:

a. Real or tangible personal property that is located in this State.

b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state generation-skipping transfer taxes allowed under section 2604 of the Code. If property in the transfer is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the original transferor was a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the property transferred that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property transferred. If the original transferor was not a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property transferred, unless the original transferor's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the original transferor's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in a transfer is its gross value reduced by any debts secured by the property.

(c) Payment. -- The tax imposed by this section is due when a return is due. A return is due the same date as the federal return for payment of the federal generation-skipping transfer tax. The tax is payable by the person who is liable for the federal generation-skipping transfer tax.

"§ 105-32.8. Federal determination that changes the amount of tax payable to the State.

If the federal government corrects or otherwise determines the amount of the maximum state death tax credit allowed an estate under section 6166 of the Code, the personal representative must, within two years after being notified of the correction or final determination by the federal government, file an estate tax return with the Secretary reflecting the correct amount of tax payable under this Article. If the federal government corrects or otherwise determines the amount of the maximum state generation-skipping transfer tax credit allowed under section 2604 of the Code, the person who made the transfer must, within two years after being notified of the correction or final determination by the federal government, file a tax return with the Secretary reflecting the correct amount of tax payable under this Article.

The Secretary must assess and collect any additional tax due as provided in Article 9 of this Chapter and must refund any overpayment of tax as provided in Article 9 of this Chapter. A person who fails to report a federal correction or determination in accordance with this section is subject to the penalties in G.S. 105-236 and forfeits the right to any refund due by reason of the determination."

Sections 3 and 4 of this act become effective January 1, 1999, and apply to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date. Sections 5 through 7 of this act are effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999. Sections 8 through 11 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue; Counties and cities that levy a property tax

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 and 2 (sales tax on food) are effective October 1, 1998. Sections 3 and 4 (inheritance tax) become effective January 1, 1999. Sections 5 through 7 (property tax homestead exemption) are effective for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999. Section 8 (personal exemption), sections 9 and 10 (corporate charitable deduction), and section 11 (nonitemizer credit) are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill deals with five major tax issues: 1) eliminates the state sales tax on food, 2) eliminates the state's inheritance tax and retains a state estate tax equal to the federal State Death Tax Credit, 3) increases and indexes the individual income tax personal exemption to conform to the federal exemption, 4) increases the property tax homestead exemption amount and income eligibility amount and reimburses local governments for the resulting loss, and 5) encourages charitable giving by expanding the corporate charitable deduction and by increasing the nonitemizer tax credit.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REPEAL STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD

The 1996 General Assembly lowered the state sales tax on food items intended for home consumption (defined as those items eligible for purchase with Food Stamps) from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1997. The 1997 General Assembly lowered the sales tax on food from 3% to 2% effective July 1, 1998. Section 1 of this proposed committee substitute repeals the remaining 2 cents of the state sales tax on food on October 1, 1998.

The original source of data for the estimate was a 1961 field survey conducted by field auditors of the Department of Revenue assigned to tabulate the impact of eliminating the tax exemption on food. Over the years these numbers have been updated for growth with data from the monthly "type of business establishment" reports of the Department of Revenue. Data from a special tabulation of the Department of Revenue for February and March 1997 indicated that the estimates used in previous fiscal notes were on target. As a check on the data, estimates of food tax exemptions from other states have been reviewed. Furthermore, the estimates are consistent with nationwide food consumption data compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce (and allocated to North Carolina by the Fiscal Research Division). Based on federal data, the estimated 3% annual growth in food tax purchases is also on target.

The October 1, 1998 reduction will be less than 9 months of revenue loss due to a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax. The full year cost of the 2 cent reduction will be in FY 1999-00.

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX

North Carolina has both an inheritance tax and an estate tax. These taxes are borne by the beneficiary. When calculating taxes owed, a determination is made of the net value of the estate and the beneficiary's proportion of that estate. Then inheritance taxes are applied based on the beneficiary's classification. Once a state inheritance tax is determined, that number must be compared to the State Death Tax Credit (This credit amount is drawn from the federal estate tax form). If the inheritance tax is larger than the State Death Tax Credit, the beneficiary forwards the total inheritance tax to the state. If the credit is larger, a North Carolina Estate Tax is charged to bring the total tax up to the State Death Tax Credit level. As of January 1997 only 17 states, including North Carolina, still retain an inheritance tax. Sections 3 and 4 of this bill repeal the inheritance tax, with the net effect of expanding the state estate or "pick-up" tax.

The Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue provided data based on inheritance tax returns filed and closed out in 1993. The loss associated with the 1993 data equals $42.3 million, or 45.1% of total potential inheritance tax collections, in General Fund revenue. This percentage loss was applied to current 1999-00 inheritance tax collections estimates. Future years were forcasted based on the expected growth rate in inheritance tax collections as defined in the North Carolina model (7.986%). A one time 5% adjustment was included to capture the impact of the increase in the federal unified credit and its influence on the State Death Tax Credit. No FY 1998-99 fiscal impact is shown for this item because there is a nine month lag in the payment of inheritance taxes. For example, if a benefactor dies on January 1, 1999 the inheritance tax paid by their beneficiaries would not be due until September 1, 1999, which is the next fiscal year. The estimate for FY 1999-00 has also been reduced to allow for this lag factor.

It should be noted that the federal government requires that beneficiaries pay at least the amount of the death tax credit to the state, or the federal government will retain the balance. As such, reducing a North Carolina beneficiary's total tax liability to below the State Death Tax Credit level (i.e. eliminating both the inheritance and estate taxes) will only result in additional funds to the federal government. The beneficiary's total tax liability will not change.

PROPERTY TAX HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

The Homestead Exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older, or totally disabled, and who has an income of less than $15,000. The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then the exemption was last increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000. Before then the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

Sections 5 and 6 of the proposed bill increase the Homestead Property Tax Exemption amount for the elderly and disabled from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility threshold from $15,000 to $25,000. Section 7 of the proposal holds counties and cities harmless for the loss attributable to the increase proposed by the bill. As such, the full financial cost of the expansion of the Homestead Exemption will be borne by the state.

The current annual cost of the Homestead Exemption program is approximately $27 million. That cost is divided between the state and the counties. History indicates that approximately 80% of the total cost is related to the property exemption and 20% is related to the income requirement. The proposed act increases the value of exempt property 25% and increases the income threshold 66.7%. If 80% of the cost or $21.6 million is devoted to exempt property, then a 25% increase in the exemption equals $(5.4) million. If 20% of the cost of the program is devoted to the income threshold or $5.4 million, then a 66.7% increase in the threshold equals ($3.6) million. The $9 million increase in the cost of the Homestead Exemption will be borne by the state.

INCREASE AND INDEX PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS

By repealing the add-back to income in GS 105-134.6(c)(4a) in Section 8 of the bill, the state personal exemption rate will equal the federal personal exemption amount each year beginning in tax year 1999. The General Assembly last increased the state personal exemption amount to the federal rate in 1995, but did not index it for inflation. The current state personal exemption is $2500, while the federal personal exemption rate for tax year 1999 is projected to be $2750. The rate is set each year by increasing the prior year amounts by the CPI, then round down to the nearest $50. The projected rates for tax years 1999 to 2003 are follows:

	State	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003
Personal Exemption	$2,500	$2,700	$2,750	$2,850	$2,950	$3,050	$3,150
CPI		1.032	1.031	1.03	1.034	1.033	1.035

This section will also end the personal exemption of $2,000 placed on the following income groups:

Married filing jointly	$100,000
Head of Household	$80,000
Single	$60,000
Married filing separately	$50,000

The state will still conform to the federal phase-out of the personal exemption at the highest income levels. ($181,800 married filing jointly; $151,500 head of household; $121,200 single; $90,900 married filing separately)

The cost for indexing the personal exemption was derived using the Individual Income Tax computer model operated by the Department of Revenue, the Fiscal Research Division, and the Office of State Budget and Management. The microsimulation model uses actual state and federal tax return data from tax year 1994 to estimate the impact of tax changes on the General Fund. The results from the model were checked against the 1994 Individual Income Tax Detail Report issued by the Department of Revenue. Manual calculations were consistent with the model projections.

The first year impact in FY 98-99 equals half the loss for tax year 1999 ($56.1 million) due to taxpayers adjusting their withholding tables and their estimated payments in January through June of 1999. The impact for each following year is half of one tax year plus half of the next tax year. For example, the FY 99-00 estimate of $133 million is half of tax year 1999 ($56.1 million) plus half of tax year 2000 ($76.9 million).

INCREASE CHARITABLE GIVING

Section 9 of the bill increases the allowable annual deduction from the corporate income tax for charitable contributions from 5% to 10% and provides for a five-year carry forward for deductions in excess of 10%. Using 1994 corporate income tax return data, the Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue estimates this change will produce a revenue loss in the General Fund between $3 million and $4 million per year. Approximately 69% of returns with contributions deducted less than 5% of net income. The remaining 31% of returns with contributions had deductions equal to or greater than 5%. However, this group probably included contributions to NC government and educational institutions which can be unlimited.

Section 11 of the bill increases the income tax credit for charitable contributions by non-itemizers from 2.75% to 7%. The credit is allowed for those contributions that exceed 2% of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. The non-itemizer charitable contribution tax credit of 2.75% went into effect on January 1, 1997. The estimated cost of the 2.75% credit is approximately $5 million a year. If this credit were increased to 7%, the annual cost would be approximately $12.7 million each year. The net fiscal impact of the 7% proposal is shown below. A 1% growth factor is assumed for this tax credit and is based on the actual growth in the number of individual income tax returns filed from 1989 to 1993. The increased credit would not affect the budget until FY 99-00, because taxpayers will not file returns for Tax Year 1999 until the spring of 2000.

These estimates are based on charitable giving rates for non-itemizers provided by the Independent Sector, a non-profit coalition of over 800 corporate, foundation and voluntary organization members. The number of non-itemizers in North Carolina is based on estimates from the Department of Revenue's personal income tax model.

It should be noted that the above estimates are based on current giving behavior. If the credit is successful in increasing charitable giving, then the credit will produce additional losses for the General Fund. For every 5% increase in charitable giving, an additional $2 million in State revenues will be lost.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

I. Food Tax - The Department of Revenue estimates that each change in the sales tax rate cost the department $100,000 to hire temporary employees to review error returns and process assessments generated by errors. The Department also estimates that another $19,000 is spent on accounting and computer system changes. However , it should be noted that when the food tax reduction from 4% to 3% was implemented in 1997, the administrative cost was absorbed in the Department's budget. There was also no appropriation made for the food tax reduction scheduled for July 1, 1998.

II. Inheritance Tax - Although the inheritance tax is repealed, the State would maintain compliance with the Federal Estate Tax (pick-up tax). With the Federal pick-up tax still in place, a portion of the returns that are currently filed would continue to be required. For example in FY 1996-97 there were 7,931 Inheritance Tax returns. Of that number, the Department estimated that 35% or 2,776 required filing under the Federal pick-up

The Department could abolish two of the six employees in Office Examinations who work with Inheritance Tax and with Gift Tax. Two positions are needed for the Gift Tax portion. At least two will be needed for the changed State estate tax and to work with the existing Inheritance Tax files until they are all resolved. The Department could abolish the remaining two positions and save $52,453, but would like to reallocate these positions to the Correspondence Unit that was created in 1997 . This unit resolves correspondence not attached to payments before that correspondence is referred to audit in Office Examinations, to administrative officers in Office Services, or to Tax Administration. If the bill is enacted, the Appropriations Committee in the 1999 Session should determine the number of personnel needed in this section.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 1999

BILL SUMMARY: Under current law a tax is levied on the donor against all property transferred as gifts in excess of $10,000, real or personal, during a calendar year. Special arrangements are made for non-residents. Gifts to a spouse are exempt from taxation. This amendment would repeal, in total, the North Carolina Gift Tax.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Department of Revenue reports 1996-7 gift tax receipts of $12.56 million. Forecasts of future revenues assume a gift tax elasticity of 2.17, creating growth rates of 14.5% (1997-8), 13.5% (1998-9), and 13.7% (1999 and beyond).

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: Gift tax revenues are highly violable and subject to significant income spikes. Because 1997-8 collects appear to be one of those spiked years, it was determined that those figures should not be used as a baseline for the model.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1092:
PROPOSED HOUSE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE
(As Amended May 26, 1998)
Reduce North Carolina Taxes

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 26, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Hoyle

Senate Bill 1092, as passed by the Senate, reduces the State sales tax on food from 2% to 1%, effective November 1, 1998, and repeals the State sales tax on food, effective July 1, 1999. The proposed House Committee Substitute, as amended by the House Finance Committee on May 26, 1998, not only eliminates the State sales tax on food, but also reduces several other taxes:

- It repeals the remaining 2% State sales tax on food, effective October 1, 1998.
- It eliminates the State's inheritance tax, effective January 1, 1999.
- It increases the property tax homestead exemption amount and income eligibility amount to $25,000.
- It increases and indexes the individual income tax personal exemption, effective January 1, 1999.
- It expands the State corporate income tax deduction for charitable contributions, effective January 1, 1999.
- It increases the income tax credit for charitable contributions by nonitemizers from 2.75% to 7%, effective January 1, 1999.

Repeal State Sales Tax on Food

In 1996, the General Assembly reduced the State sales tax on food from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1997. Last year, the General Assembly reduced the State sales tax on food from 3% to 2%, effective July 1, 1998. This bill completes the reduction by eliminating the remaining 2% State sales tax on food, effective October 1, 1998.

The sale of tangible personal property in North Carolina is subject to a 4% State sales tax unless it is specifically exempt from the tax. In 1971, 1983, and 1985, the General Assembly passed legislation allowing local governments to impose a local sales tax. The local sales tax rate is 2%. On most tangible personal property, the combined State and local sales tax rate in North Carolina is 6%. However, because of past legislation reductions, the combined State and local sales tax rate on food, effective July 1, 1998, will be 4%. This bill repeals the State's remaining 2% sales tax rate on food, but it retains the 2% local sales tax rate. Therefore, effective October 1, 1998, there will only be a local 2% sales tax on food.

The sales tax on food applies to food that may be purchased with food stamps. Federal law determines what can be purchased with food stamps and, therefore, what food is exempt from the State sales tax. Food purchased with food stamps is exempt from both the State and the local sales tax.

Eliminates the State Inheritance Tax

Section 3 of this bill repeals the State's inheritance tax and Section 4 of this bill retains a State estate tax that is equivalent to the federal state death tax credit allowed on a federal estate tax return. This type of State estate tax is known as a "pick-up" tax because it picks up for the State the amount of federal estate tax that would otherwise be paid to the federal government. The repeal of the State's inheritance tax is effective January 1, 1999, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date.

North Carolina imposes an inheritance tax on property transferred by a decedent. The amount of tax payable depends on the relationship of the person transferring the property (the decedent) to the person receiving the property (the beneficiary). This is in contrast to federal law, which has a single rate schedule for estates.

State law classifies beneficiaries into three classes, Class A, Class B, and Class C, and sets different inheritance tax rates for each class. A Class A beneficiary is a lineal ancestor, a lineal descendant, an adopted child, a step-child, or a son-in-law or daughter-in-law whose spouse is not entitled to any of the decedent's property. A Class B beneficiary is a sibling, a descendant of a sibling, or an aunt or uncle by blood. A Class C beneficiary is anyone who is not a Class A or Class B beneficiary.

Class A beneficiaries have the lowest inheritance tax rates and a $600,000 inheritance tax exemption. Class B beneficiaries have higher rates and no exemption. Class C beneficiaries have the highest rates and no exemption. Thus, North Carolina's rate structure favors transfers to children and parents by giving those transfers the lowest rates plus an exemption and prefers transfers to other close family members over transfers to more distant relatives or to persons who are not related.

Property Tax Homestead Exemption

Sections 6, and 7 of the bill expand the property tax homestead exemption amount from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility amount from $15,000 to $25,000, effective July 1, 1999. Section 8 of the bill provides a State reimbursement to local governments for their additional revenue loss as a result of this change.

The homestead exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older or totally disabled and who has an income of less than $15,000. The income used to determine the income eligibility amount includes moneys received from every source other than gifts or inheritances received from a spouse, lineal ancestor, or lineal descendant. For married applicants residing with their spouses, the income of both spouses is included, whether or not the property is in both names.

The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then, the exemption amount had last been increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then, the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

Increase and Index Personal Exemption

Section 9 of the bill provides an automatic annual income tax reduction for individuals by increasing the State income tax personal exemptions to the amount of the federal personal exemptions, and provides that the exemption amounts will increase automatically each year at the same rate as the federal exemptions, based on the rate of inflation. This section of the bill becomes effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. Increasing the personal exemption amounts reduces State income taxes for all individuals who pay income tax.

The State's personal exemption amounts were increased in 1995 in two stages, from $2,000 to $2,250 for the 1995 tax year and then to $2,500 for the 1996 tax year for taxpayers whose adjusted gross income falls below the amount set by statute. For married filing jointly, the threshold amount is $100,000. The federal personal exemption amounts increase automatically each year to keep pace with inflation. The federal amount for the 1997 tax year was $2,650 and is expected to increase about $50 each year thereafter. Under the Code, the personal exemption is phased out for those taxpayers with adjusted gross income in excess of certain threshold amounts. The threshold amounts are adjusted annually for inflation. For 1998, the phaseout of personal exemptions is projected by CCH to begin at $186,800 for married taxpayers filing jointly and to completely phaseout for those taxpayers whose adjusted gross income exceeds $309,300.

Increasing the State's personal exemption amounts to the federal amounts and allowing them to grow at the same pace in future years has three benefits. First, it reduces State personal income taxes for all North Carolina citizens who pay income tax. Families with children receive a larger tax reduction because a personal exemption deduction is allowed for the taxpayer, the spouse, and each dependent. Second, it allows the State tax structure to respond automatically to inflation. If the personal exemption amounts are not indexed to inflation, taxpayer's taxes increase automatically each year because the value of their income is inflated, even if, in real terms, they make the same amount of income or less income each year. Third, it greatly simplifies tax filing for the affected taxpayers. North Carolina's individual income tax uses federal taxable income as the starting point for calculating North Carolina taxable income. As long as North Carolina's personal exemptions are not indexed to the federal amounts, every taxpayer must perform an extra calculation to adjust for the gap by adding back to federal taxable income the difference between the lower North Carolina personal exemption amount and the higher federal personal exemption amount. This simplification should decrease the number of individual income tax returns received with errors. Thirty-seven percent of the returns containing errors were in error because of additions to taxable income. While there are several additions to taxable income required by law, the Department's experience reflects that the standard deduction and personal exemption adjustments are the ones most commonly in error.

Increase Charitable Giving

Sections 9 and 10 expand the State corporate income tax deduction for charitable contributions by increasing the amount a corporation may deduct and by allowing a corporation to carry forward any unused credit amount. Section 11 increases the amount of the tax credit for charitable contributions made by individuals who do not itemize their deductions from 2.75% to 7% of eligible contributions.

North Carolina currently caps corporate contributions to most charitable entities at an amount equal to 5% of the corporation's North Carolina taxable income. The federal cap is 10% of the corporation's taxable income. Section 9 changes the North Carolina cap from 5% to 10%. Contributions to the following entities are not subject to any cap in North Carolina: the State of North Carolina, any of its agencies or political subdivisions, and any North Carolina nonprofit educational institution. The bill does not change the current law with regard to these entities; deductions for contributions will still be unlimited.

If a corporation's contributions exceed the 5% cap, North Carolina does not allow the corporation to carry the excess forward and deduct it in a future year. Under federal law, if a corporation's contributions exceed the 10% cap, they may be carried forward and deducted in the next five tax years. Section 9 and 10 allow a five-year carryforward for deductions subject to the cap.

Under the federal Internal Revenue Code, an individual who itemizes deductions may deduct contributions to nonprofit charitable organizations. Individuals who elect the standard deduction, however, may not deduct charitable contributions. An individual's North Carolina's income tax is based on the federal calculation of taxable income, with some adjustments. The federal disallowance of charitable deductions for nonitemizers is "piggybacked" by North Carolina tax law. Legislation was introduced in Congress last year to allow nonitemizers to deduct charitable contributions, but it did not pass.

Individuals who elect the standard deduction are those whose total itemized deductions (such as mortgage interest, State and local property and income taxes, medical expenses, and charitable contributions) do not exceed the standard deduction amount. The standard deduction amounts for 1997 are $6,900 for a married couple filing a joint return and $4,150 for a single individual.

In 1996, the General Assembly enacted G.S. 105-151.26, which allows a North Carolina income tax credit for 2.75% of a nonitemizer's charitable contributions to the extent the contributions exceed 2% of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. A tax credit is a dollar-for-dollar subtraction from tax rather than a subtraction from taxable income. Thus, if a taxpayer pays tax at the 7% rate, a 7% tax credit is equal to a full deduction. North Carolina's tax rates are 6%, 7%, and 7.75%. By raising the credit from 2.75% to 7%, Section 11 of this bill would make the credit equivalent to the deduction currently enjoyed by most itemizers.

Referred to:

April 21, 1997

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT REGULATING THE PRACTICE OF MASSAGE AND BODYWORK THERAPY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 36.

"§ 90-620. Short title.

This Article shall be known as the North Carolina Massage and Bodywork Therapy Practice Act.

"§ 90-621. Declaration of purpose.

The General Assembly recognizes that the improper practice of massage and bodywork therapy is potentially harmful to the public. Mandatory licensure of those engaged in the practice of massage and bodywork therapy is necessary to ensure minimum standards of competency and to protect the public health, safety, and welfare.

"§ 90-622. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Board. -- The North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy.

(2) Board-approved school. -- Any massage and bodywork therapy school or training program in this State or another state that has met the criteria established by the Board.

(3) Massage and bodywork therapy. -- Systems of activity applied to the soft tissues of the human body for therapeutic, educational, or relaxation purposes. The application may include:

a. Pressure, friction, stroking, rocking, kneading, percussion, or passive or active stretching within the normal anatomical range of movement.

c. The use of mechanical devices that mimic or enhance actions that may possibly be done by the hands.

(4) Massage and bodywork therapist. -- A person licensed under this Article.

'Practice of massage and bodywork therapy' does not include the diagnosis of illness or disease, medical procedures, chiropractic adjustive procedures, electrical stimulation, ultrasound, prescription of medicines, or the use of modalities for which a license to practice medicine, chiropractic, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, acupuncture, or podiatry is required by law.

"§ 90-623. License required.

(a) A person shall not practice or hold out himself or herself to others as a massage and bodywork therapist without first applying for and receiving from the Board a license to engage in that practice.

(c) It shall be unlawful to advertise using the term 'massage therapist' or 'bodywork therapist' or any other term that implies a soft tissue technique or method in any public or private publication or communication by a person not licensed under this Article as a massage and bodywork therapist. Any person who holds a license to practice as a massage and bodywork therapist in this State may use the title 'Licensed Massage and Bodywork Therapist'. EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1077 (PCS):
Massage and Bodywork Therapy

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 20, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Clary

The PCS for House Bill 1077 creates the "North Carolina Massage and Bodywork Therapy Practice Act." The Act's purpose is to require mandatory licensure of persons engaged in the practice of massage and bodywork therapy to ensure minimum standards of competency and to protect the public health, safety, and welfare. Under current law, a "massage business" is covered by the criminal laws for adult establishments, and is considered an adult establishment if it is "any establishment or business wherein massage is practiced, including establishments commonly known as health clubs, physical culture studios, massage studios, or massage parlors." The only other statutory references to massage is language exempting simple massages and the operation of health clubs from licensure under the physical therapy act and language including massage as an adjunctive therapy under acupuncture.

The Act prohibits a person from practicing or holding himself or herself out as a massage and bodywork therapist without a license from the newly created North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy. The Act defines "massage and bodywork therapy" as systems of activities applied to soft tissues of the body for therapeutic, educational, or relaxation purposes. The Act also prohibits a person from adopting or using any title or description including "massage therapist", "bodywork therapist", "masseur", "masseuse", "massagist", "somatic practitioner", "body therapist", "structural integrator", or any derivation of those terms unless the person is licensed under the Act.

The practice does not include: diagnosis of illness or disease, medical procedures, chiropractic adjustive procedures, electrical stimulation, ultrasound, prescription of medicines, or the use of modalities for which a license to practice medicine, chiropractic, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, acupuncture, or podiatry is required by law.

The Act does not prohibit: the practice of a profession by one licensed, certified or registered under other N.C. laws, the practice of massage and bodywork therapy by a person licensed elsewhere when that person is called into the State to teach a course or to consult with a person licensed under the Act, students enrolled in a Board approved school and completing a clinical requirement under the supervision of a licensed person, a person giving therapy to members of the person's immediate family, and the practice of movement educators such as dance teachers, yoga teachers, personal trainers, martial arts instructors, movement repatterning practitioners, and other such professions.

The requirements of licensure are:

- •high school diploma or equivalent
- •18 years or older
- •good moral character as determined by the Board
- •successful completion of a minimum of 500 classroom hours of supervised instruction at a Board approved school
- •passing an examination administered by an agency approved by the National Commission of Certifying Agencies or an examination administered or approved by the Board.

The schedule of fees for licensure may include the following and may be adjusted as the Board deems necessary:

(1)	Application for examination	$150.00
(2)	License fee	100.00
(3)	License renewal (every two years)	75.00
(4)	Late renewal penalty	50.00
(5)	License by reciprocity	50.00
(6)	Duplicate license	15.00
(7)	Provisional license	100.00

Salaries, expenses, or other Board obligations will be paid out of the above fees.

The Board consists of seven members: five to be licensed under the Article and with at least five years' experience, except that the initial five do not have to be licensed or have completed 500 hours of the required supervised instruction. The remaining two members will be from the general public.

The Act sets out powers and duties of the Board and lists reasons a Board may deny, suspend, revoke, or refuse a license. The Board may seek to enjoin anyone who violates the Act. There is no requirement for direct third-party reimbursement to licensees.

For two years after effective date of the Act, a provisional license may be granted to an applicant who does not meet educational or examination requirements for licensure. At the end of two years after the granting of the provisional license, the applicant must submit evidence of compliance with the continuing education requirements (at least 25 hours of study). The applicant will then be issued a license.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective October 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill requires mandatory licensure of persons engaged in the practice of massage and bodywork therapy.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Page six of the PCS, lines 24 through 39 outline the possible fees for the North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy. Lines 31 and 32 of page 6 state that the "schedule of fees may include the following and may be adjusted as the Board deems necessary". In order to estimate the potential income generated by HB 1077, this fiscal note assumes the fees listed in the bill will be adopted by the Board.

Rick Rosen, co-director of the Body Therapy Institute, estimates there are 2,000 massage professionals in North Carolina currently eligible for licensure under this bill. Of this number, 800 are certified by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork.

DRAFT

The remaining 1,200 massage professionals will be given provisional licenses until they complete 25 hours of continuing education within two years. New entrants into this field will come from the 11 massage therapy schools located across the state from Asheville to Wilmington. Each school graduates an average of 40 students per year. If all graduates stay in North Carolina and apply for licensure, then 440 exams will be given each year by the Board. Assuming all pass the exam, then 440 new professionals will be licensed each year. Based on these factors, the chart below calculates the fiscal impact of the bill.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue; Counties and cities that levy a property tax

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 and 2 (sales tax on food) are effective October 1, 1998. Sections 3 and 4 (inheritance tax) become effective January 1, 1999. Sections 5 through 7 (property tax homestead exemption) are effective for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999. Section 8 is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill deals with four major tax issues: 1) eliminates the state sales tax on food, 2) eliminates the state's inheritance tax and retains a state estate tax equal to the federal state death tax credit, 3) increases and indexes the individual income tax personal exemption amount for certain taxpayers, and 4) increases the property tax homestead exemption amount and income eligibility amount and reimburses local governments for the resulting loss.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REPEAL STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD

The 1996 General Assembly lowered the state sales tax on food items intended for home consumption (defined as those items eligible for purchase with Food Stamps) from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1997. The 1997 General Assembly lowered the sales tax on food from 3% to 2% effective July 1, 1998. Section 1 of this proposed committee substitute repeals the remaining 2 cents of the state sales tax on food on October 1, 1998.

The original source of data for the estimate was a 1961 field survey conducted by field auditors of the Department of Revenue assigned to tabulate the impact of eliminating the tax exemption on food. Over the years these numbers have been updated for growth with data from the monthly "type of business establishment" reports of the Department of Revenue. Data from a special tabulation of the Department of Revenue for February and March 1997 indicated that the estimates used in previous fiscal notes were on target. As a check on the data, estimates of food tax exemptions from other states have been reviewed. Furthermore, the estimates are consistent with nationwide food consumption data compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce (and allocated to North Carolina by the Fiscal Research Division). Based on federal data, the estimated 3% annual growth in food tax purchases is also on target.

The October 1, 1998 reduction will be less than 9 months of revenue loss due to a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax. The full year cost of the 2 cent reduction will be in FY 1999-00.

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX

North Carolina has both an inheritance tax and an estate tax. These taxes are borne by the beneficiary. When calculating taxes owed, a determination is made of the net value of the estate and the beneficiary's proportion of that estate. Then inheritance taxes are applied based on the beneficiary's classification. Once a state inheritance tax is determined, that number must be compared to the State Death Tax Credit (This credit amount is drawn from the federal estate tax form). If the inheritance tax is larger than the State Death Tax Credit, the beneficiary forwards the total inheritance tax to the state. If the credit is larger, a North Carolina Estate Tax is charged to bring the total tax up to the State Death Tax Credit level. As of January 1997 only 17 states, including North Carolina, still retain an inheritance tax. Sections 3 and 4 of this bill repeal the inheritance tax, with the net effect of expanding the state estate or "pick-up" tax.

The Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue provided data based on inheritance tax returns filed and closed out in 1993. The loss associated with the 1993 data equals $42.3 million, or 45.1% of total potential inheritance tax collections, in General Fund revenue. This percentage loss was applied to current 1999-00 inheritance tax collections estimates. Future years were forcasted based on the expected growth rate in inheritance tax collections as defined in the North Carolina model (7.986%). A one time 5% adjustment was included to capture the impact of the increase in the federal unified credit and its influence on the State Death Tax Credit. No FY 1998-99 fiscal impact is shown for this item because there is a nine month lag in the payment of inheritance taxes. For example, if a benefactor dies on January 1, 1999 the inheritance tax paid by their beneficiaries would not be due until September 1, 1999, which is the next fiscal year. The estimate for FY 1999-00 has also been reduced to allow for this lag factor.

It should be noted that the federal government requires that beneficiaries pay at least the amount of the death tax credit to the state, or the federal government will retain the balance. As such, reducing a North Carolina beneficiary's total tax liability to below the State Death Tax Credit level will only result in additional funds to the federal government. The beneficiary's total tax liability will not change.

PROPERTY TAX HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

The Homestead Exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older, or totally disabled, and who has an income of less than $15,000. The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then the exemption was last increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000. Before then the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

Sections 5 and 6 of the proposed bill increase the Homestead Property Tax Exemption amount for the elderly and disabled from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility threshold from $15,000 to $25,000. Section 7 of the proposal holds counties and cities harmless for the loss attributable to the increase proposed by the bill. As such, the full financial cost of the expansion of the Homestead Exemption will be borne by the state.

The current annual cost of the Homestead Exemption program is approximately $27 million. That cost is divided between the state and the counties. History indicates that approximately 80% of the total cost is related to the property exemption and 20% is related to the income requirement. The proposed act increases the value of exempt property 25% and increases the income threshold 66.7%. If 80% of the cost or $21.6 million is devoted to exempt property, then a 25% increase in the exemption equals $(5.4) million. If 20% of the cost of the program is devoted to the income threshold or $5.4 million, then a 66.7% increase in the threshold equals ($3.6) million. The $9 million increase in the cost of the Homestead Exemption will be borne by the state.

INCREASE AND INDEX PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS

Section 8 of the proposed bill sets the state personal exemption rate equal to the federal personal exemption amount each year beginning in tax year 1999. The General Assembly last increased the personal exemption amount to the federal rate in 1995, but did not index it for inflation. The current state personal exemption is $2500, while the federal personal exemption rate for tax year 1999 is $2750. The rates are set each year by increasing the prior year amounts by the CPI, then round down to the nearest $50. The projected rates for tax years 1999 to 2003 are follows:

	State	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003
Personal Exemption	$2,500	$2,700	$2,750	$2,850	$2,950	$3,050	$3,150
CPI		1.032	1.031	1.03	1.034	1.033	1.035

To estimate the fiscal impact of this proposal on the General Fund, these rates were entered into the Individual Income Tax computer model used by the Department of Revenue, the Fiscal Research Division, and the Office of State Budget and Management. The results from the model were checked against the 1994 Individual Income Tax Detail Report issued by the Department of Revenue. Manual calculations were consistent with the model projections.

The first year impact in FY 98-99 equals half the loss for tax year 1999 ($41.1 million) due to taxpayers adjusting their withholding tables and their estimated payments in January through June of 1999. The impact for each following year is half of one tax year plus half of the next tax year. For example, the FY 99-00 estimate of $99.1 million is half of tax year 1999 ($41.1 million) plus half of tax year 2000 ($58 million).

The personal exemption amount remains $2,000 for those with the following adjusted gross income:

Married filing jointly	$100,000
Head of Household	$80,000
Single	$60,000
Married filing separately	$50,000

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

I. Food Tax - The Department of Revenue estimates that each change in the sales tax rate cost the department $100,000 to hire temporary employees to review error returns and process assessments generated by errors. The Department also estimates that another $19,000 is spent on accounting and computer system changes. However , it should be noted that when the food tax reduction from 4% to 3% was implemented in 1997, the administrative cost was absorbed in the Department's budget. There was also no appropriation made for the food tax reduction scheduled for July 1, 1998.

II. Inheritance Tax - Although the inheritance tax is repealed, the State would maintain compliance with the Federal Estate Tax (pick-up tax). With the Federal pick-up tax still in place, a portion of the returns that are currently filed would continue to be required. For example in FY 1996-97 there were 7,931 Inheritance Tax returns. Of that number, the Department estimated that 35% or 2,776 required filing under the Federal pick-up

The Department could abolish two of the six employees in Office Examinations who work with Inheritance Tax and with Gift Tax. Two positions are needed for the Gift Tax portion. At least two will be needed for the changed State estate tax and to work with the existing Inheritance Tax files until they are all resolved. The Department could abolish the remaining two positions and save $52,453, but would like to reallocate these positions to the Correspondence Unit that was created in 1997 . This unit resolves correspondence not attached to payments before that correspondence is referred to audit in Office Examinations, to administrative officers in Office Services, or to Tax Administration. If the bill is enacted, the Appropriations Committee in the 1999 Session should determine the number of personnel needed in this section.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1092:
PROPOSED HOUSE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE
Reduce North Carolina Taxes

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 20, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Hoyle

Senate Bill 1092, as passed by the Senate, reduces the State sales tax on food from 2% to 1%, effective November 1, 1998, and repeals the State sales tax on food, effective July 1, 1999. The proposed House Committee Substitute not only eliminates the State sales tax on food, but also reduces several other taxes:

- It repeals the remaining 2% State sales tax on food, effective October 1, 1998.
- It eliminates the State's inheritance tax, effective January 1, 1999.
- It increases the property tax homestead exemption amount and income eligibility amount to $25,000.
- It increases and indexes the individual income tax personal exemption for middle- and low-income taxpayers, effective January 1, 1999.

Repeal State Sales Tax on Food

In 1996, the General Assembly reduced the State sales tax on food from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1997. Last year, the General Assembly reduced the State sales tax on food from 3% to 2%, effective July 1, 1998. This bill completes the reduction by eliminating the remaining 2% State sales tax on food, effective October 1, 1998.

The sale of tangible personal property in North Carolina is subject to a 4% State sales tax unless it is specifically exempt from the tax. In 1971, 1983, and 1985, the General Assembly passed legislation allowing local governments to impose a local sales tax. The local sales tax rate is 2%. On most tangible personal property, the combined State and local sales tax rate in North Carolina is 6%. However, because of past legislation reductions, the combined State and local sales tax rate on food, effective July 1, 1998, will be 4%. This bill repeals the State's remaining 2% sales tax rate on food, but it retains the 2% local sales tax rate. Therefore, effective October 1, 1998, there will only be a local 2% sales tax on food.

The sales tax on food applies to food that may be purchased with food stamps. Federal law determines what can be purchased with food stamps and, therefore, what food is exempt from the State sales tax. Food purchased with food stamps is exempt from both the State and the local sales tax.

Eliminates the State Inheritance Tax

Section 3 of this bill repeals the State's inheritance tax and Section 4 of this bill retains a State estate tax that is equivalent to the federal state death tax credit allowed on a federal estate tax return. This type of State estate tax is known as a "pick-up" tax because it picks up for the State the amount of federal estate tax that would otherwise be paid to the federal government. The repeal of the State's inheritance tax is effective January 1, 1999, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date.

North Carolina imposes an inheritance tax on property transferred by a decedent. The amount of tax payable depends on the relationship of the person transferring the property (the decedent) to the person receiving the property (the beneficiary). This is in contrast to federal law, which has a single rate schedule for estates.

State law classifies beneficiaries into three classes, Class A, Class B, and Class C, and sets different inheritance tax rates for each class. A Class A beneficiary is a lineal ancestor, a lineal descendant, an adopted child, a step-child, or a son-in-law or daughter-in-law whose spouse is not entitled to any of the decedent's property. A Class B beneficiary is a sibling, a descendant of a sibling, or an aunt or uncle by blood. A Class C beneficiary is anyone who is not a Class A or Class B beneficiary.

Class A beneficiaries have the lowest inheritance tax rates and a $600,000 inheritance tax exemption. Class B beneficiaries have higher rates and no exemption. Class C beneficiaries have the highest rates and no exemption. Thus, North Carolina's rate structure favors transfers to children and parents by giving those transfers the lowest rates plus an exemption and prefers transfers to other close family members over transfers to more distant relatives or to persons who are not related.

Property Tax Homestead Exemption

Sections 6, and 7 of the bill expand the property tax homestead exemption amount from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility amount from $15,000 to $25,000, effective July 1, 1999. Section 8 of the bill provides a State reimbursement to local governments for their additional revenue loss as a result of this change.

The homestead exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older or totally disabled and who has an income of less than $15,000. The income used to determine the income eligibility amount includes moneys received from every source other than gifts or inheritances received from a spouse, lineal ancestor, or lineal descendant. For married applicants residing with their spouses, the income of both spouses is included, whether or not the property is in both names.

The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then, the exemption amount had last been increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then, the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

Increase and Index Personal Exemption

Section 9 of the bill provides an automatic annual income tax reduction for individuals whose adjusted gross income is less than the applicable amount listed below:

Married Filing Jointly	$100,000
Head of Household	80,000
Single	60,000
Married filing separately	50,000.

The bill increases the State income tax personal exemptions for these taxpayers to the amount of the federal personal exemptions, and provides that the exemption amounts will increase automatically each year at the same rate as the federal exemptions, based on the rate of inflation. The section of the bill becomes effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. Increasing the personal exemption amounts reduces State income taxes for the individuals who adjusted gross income falls below the stated amount.

The State's personal exemption amounts were increased in 1995 in two stages, from $2,000 to $2,250 for the 1995 tax year and then to $2,500 for the 1996 tax year. The federal personal exemption amounts increase automatically each year to keep pace with inflation. The federal amount for the 1997 tax year was $2,650 and is expected to increase about $50 each year thereafter.

Increasing the State's personal exemption amounts to the federal amounts and allowing them to grow at the same pace in future years has three benefits. First, it reduces State personal income taxes for all North Carolina citizens whose income falls below the stated amount. Families with children receive a larger tax reduction because a personal exemption deduction is allowed for the taxpayer, the spouse, and each dependent. Second, it allows the State tax structure to respond automatically to inflation. If the personal exemption amounts are not indexed to inflation, taxpayer's taxes increase automatically each year because the value of their income is inflated, even if, in real terms, they make the same amount of income or less income each year. Third, it greatly simplifies tax filing for the affected taxpayers. North Carolina's individual income tax uses federal taxable income as the starting point for calculating North Carolina taxable income. As long as North Carolina's personal exemptions are not indexed to the federal amounts, every taxpayer must perform an extra calculation to adjust for the gap by adding back to federal taxable income the difference between the lower North Carolina personal exemption amount and the higher federal personal exemption amount.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The first reduction from 2% to 1% is effective November 1, 1998 and the second reduction from 1% to 0 is effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The 1996 General Assembly lowered the state sales tax on food items intended for home consumption (defined as those items eligible for purchase with Food Stamps) from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1998. The 1997 General Assembly lowered the sales tax on food from 3% to 2% effective July 1, 1998. This proposed bill reduces the state tax from 2% to 1% on November 1, 1998 and from 1% to 0 on July 1, 1999.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The original source of data for the estimate was a 1961 field survey conducted by field auditors of the Department of Revenue assigned to tabulate the impact of eliminating the tax exemption on food. Over the years these numbers have been updated for growth with data from the monthly "type of business establishment" reports of the Department of Revenue. Data from a special tabulation of the Department of Revenue for February and March 1997 indicates that the estimates used in previous fiscal notes are on target.

As a check on the data, estimates of food tax exemptions from other states have been reviewed. Furthermore, the estimates are consistent with nationwide food consumption data compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce (and allocated to North Carolina by the Fiscal Research Division). Based on federal data, the estimated 3% annual growth in food tax purchases is also on target.

With a November 1 effective date, the first year revenue loss is for eight months minus a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax in November. The full year cost of the 1998 reduction will be in FY 1999-00. The July 1, 1999 reduction will also be less than 12 months of revenue loss due to a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax. The full year cost of that 1 cent reduction will be in FY 2000-01.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective for taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The proposed amendment would index personal exemptions to federal amounts, but remove the income caps placed on personal exemptions in 1995.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

The personal exemption amount is currently $2,000 for those with the following adjusted gross income:

Married filing jointly	$100,000
Head of Household	$80,000
Single	$60,000
Married filing separately	$50,000

The proposed amendment would eliminate these income caps and conform state personal exemptions with those in the federal code. There would no longer be a need to do an addback to taxable income on the North Carolina individual income tax form for the difference in state and federal personal exemptions. For example, in 1998 the state exemption would rise from $2500 to $2700 for all income groups and tax filers. (Note: The state conforms to the phase-out of the personal exemption at the highest income levels.)

The cost for this amendment was derived from the Individual Income Tax computer model used by the Department of Revenue, the Fiscal Research Division, and the Office of State Budget and Management. The microsimulation model uses actual state and federal tax return data from tax year 1994 to estimate the impact of tax changes on the General Fund.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

REPEAL STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD.

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(5) is repealed."

Section 2. Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-164.13B. Food exempt from tax.

The taxes imposed by this Article do not apply to food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased with coupons issued under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51."

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX.

Section 3. Article 1 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed.

Section 4. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 1A.
"Estate Taxes.

"§ 105-32.1. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Code. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

(2) Personal representative. -- The person appointed by the clerk of superior court under Chapter 28A of the General Statutes to administer the estate of a decedent or, if no one is appointed under that Chapter, the person required to file a federal estate tax return for the estate of the decedent.

(3) Secretary. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

"§ 105-32.2. Estate tax imposed in amount equal to federal state death tax credit.

(a) Tax. -- An estate tax is imposed on the estate of a decedent when a federal estate tax is imposed on the estate under section 2001 of the Code and any of the following apply:

(1) The decedent was a resident of this State at death.

(2) The decedent was not a resident of this State at death and owned any of the following:

a. Real property or tangible personal property that is located in this State.

b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the estate tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state death taxes allowed under section 2011 of the Code. If any property in the estate is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the estate that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property in the estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property in the estate, unless the decedent's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the decedent's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in the estate is its gross value reduced by any debts and deductions of the estate.

"§ 105-32.3. Liability for estate tax.

(a) Primary. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable from the assets of the estate. A person who receives property from an estate is liable for the amount of estate tax attributable to that property.

(b) Personal Representative. -- The personal representative of an estate is liable for an estate tax that is not paid within two years after it was due. This liability is limited to the value of the assets of the estate that were under the control of the personal representative. The amount for which the personal representative is liable may be recovered from the personal representative or from the surety on any bond filed by the personal representative under Article 8 of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes.

(c) Clerk of Court. -- A clerk of court who allows a personal representative to make a final settlement of an estate without presenting one of the following is liable on the clerk's bond for any estate tax due:

(1) An affirmation by the personal representative certifying that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.

(2) A certificate issued by the Secretary stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.

"§ 105-32.4. Payment of estate tax.

(a) Due Date. -- The estate tax imposed by this Article is due when an estate tax return is due. An estate tax return is due on the date a federal estate tax return is due.

(b) Filing Return. -- An estate tax return must be filed under this Article if a federal estate tax return is required. The return must be filed by the personal representative of the estate on a form provided by the Secretary.

(c) Extension. -- An extension of time to file a federal estate tax return is an automatic extension of the time to file an estate tax return under this Article. The Secretary may, in accordance with G.S. 105-263, extend the time for paying the estate tax imposed by this Article or for filing an estate tax return.

(d) Interest and Penalties. -- The penalties in G.S. 105-236 apply to the failure to file an estate tax return or to pay an estate tax when due. Interest at the rate set in G.S. 105-241.1 accrues on estate taxes paid after the date they are due.

(e) Obtaining Amount Due. -- The personal representative of an estate may sell assets in the estate to obtain money to pay the tax imposed by this Article.

"§ 105-32.5. Making installment payments of tax due when federal estate tax is payable in installments.

A personal representative who elects under section 6166 of the Code to make installment payments of federal estate tax may elect to make installment payments of the tax imposed by this Article. An election under this section extends the time for payment of the tax due in accordance with the extension elected under section 6166 of the Code. Payments of tax are due under this section at the same time and in the same proportion to the total amount of tax due as payments of federal estate tax under section 6166 of the Code. Acceleration of payments under section 6166 of the Code accelerates the payments due under this section.

"§ 105-32.6. Estate tax is a lien on real property in the estate.

The tax imposed by this Article on an estate is a lien on the real property in the estate and on the proceeds of the sale of the real property in the estate. The lien is extinguished when one of the following occurs:

totally and permanently disabled whose income does not exceed ~~fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000).~~ twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000). Income means the owner's adjusted gross income as determined for federal income tax purposes, plus all moneys received other than gifts or inheritances received from a spouse, lineal ancestor or lineal descendant.

If you received this exclusion in (assessor insert previous year), you do not need to apply again unless you have changed your permanent residence. If you received the exclusion in (assessor insert previous year) and your income in (assessor insert previous year) was above ~~fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000),~~ twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), you must notify the assessor. If you received the exclusion in (assessor insert previous year) because you were totally and permanently disabled and you are no longer totally and permanently disabled, you must notify the assessor. If the person receiving the exclusion in (assessor insert previous year) has died, the person required by law to list the property must notify the assessor. Failure to make any of the notices required by this paragraph before April 15 will result in penalties and interest.

If you did not receive the exclusion in (assessor insert previous year) but are now eligible, you may obtain a copy of an application from the assessor. It must be filed by April 15.'"

Section 7. G.S. 105-277.1A reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.1A. Property classified for taxation at reduced valuation; duties of tax collectors; reimbursement of localities for portion of tax lost.

(a) On September 1, 1990, the tax collector of each county and the tax collector of each city shall furnish to the Secretary of Revenue a list containing the name and address of each person who has qualified in that year for the exemption provided in G.S. 105-277.1. On both lists, the tax collector shall provide the tax rate the property is subject to and the product obtained by multiplying the tax rate by the amount of property. The lists shall be accompanied by an affidavit attesting to the accuracy of the list and shall be on a form prescribed by the Secretary of Revenue.

(a2) On December 1, 1999, the tax collector of each county and the tax collector of each city shall furnish to the Secretary of Revenue two lists containing the name and address of each taxpayer who has qualified in that year for the exemption provided in G.S. 105-277.1. The first list shall include those taxpayers whose income was above fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) and the second list shall include those taxpayers whose income was fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) or less. On the first list, the tax collector shall provide for each name the total amount of property exempted and on the second list, the tax collector shall provide for each name the amount of property above twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) exempted. On both lists, the tax collector shall provide the tax rate the property is subject to and the product obtained by multiplying the tax rate by the amount of property. The lists shall be accompanied by an affidavit attesting to the accuracy of the list and shall be on a form prescribed by the Secretary of Revenue.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 18, s. 15.1(c)

(c) The Secretary of Revenue may, for cause, grant an extension for the submission of a list required by this section.

(d) Before May 31, 1991, the Secretary of Revenue shall distribute to the county or city fifty percent (50%) of the total for the entire list provided pursuant to subsection (a) of this section of the product obtained by multiplying the tax exemption for each taxpayer times the applicable tax rate. Each year thereafter, on or before May 31, the Secretary of Revenue shall pay to each county and city that was entitled to receive a distribution under this subsection in 1991 the amount it was entitled to receive in 1991.

(d1) Before May 31, 1998, the Secretary of Revenue shall distribute to the county or city fifty percent (50%) of the total for both lists provided the preceding December 1 pursuant to subsection (a1) of this section of the product obtained by multiplying the applicable tax rate times the amount listed for each taxpayer. Before May 31, 1999, the Secretary of Revenue shall pay to each county and city the amount it received under this subsection in 1998.

(d2) Before May 31, 2000, the Secretary of Revenue shall distribute to the county or city the total for both lists provided the preceding December 1 pursuant to subsection (a2) of this section of the product obtained by multiplying the applicable tax rate times the amount listed for each taxpayer. Each year thereafter, on or before May 31, the Secretary of Revenue shall pay to each county and city the amount it received under this subsection in 2000.

(e) Any funds received by any county or city pursuant to this section because the county or city was collecting taxes for another unit of government or special district shall be credited to the funds of that other unit or district in accordance with regulations issued by the Local Government Commission.

(f) In order to pay for the reimbursement under this section and the cost to the Department of Revenue of administering the reimbursement, the Secretary of Revenue shall draw from collections received under Division I of Article 4 of this Chapter an amount equal to the reimbursement and the cost of administration."

INCREASE AND INDEX PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS.

Section 8. G.S. 105-134.6(c)(4a) reads as rewritten:

"(4a) The amount by which each of the taxpayer's personal exemptions has been increased for inflation under section 151(d)(4)(A) of the ~~Code. This amount is reduced by five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each personal exemption~~ Code if the taxpayer's adjusted gross income (AGI), as calculated under the Code, is ~~less than~~ equal to or greater than the following amounts:

EXPLANATION OF HOUSE BILL 1077 (PCS):
Massage and Bodywork Therapy

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Martha Walston, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 20, 1998
SPONSOR: Representative Clary

The PCS for House Bill 1077 creates the "North Carolina Massage and Bodywork Therapy Practice Act." The Act's purpose is to require mandatory licensure of persons engaged in the practice of massage and bodywork therapy to ensure minimum standards of competency and to protect the public health, safety, and welfare. Under current law, a "massage business" is covered by the criminal laws for adult establishments, and is considered an adult establishment if it is "any establishment or business wherein massage is practiced, including establishments commonly known as health clubs, physical culture studios, massage studios, or massage parlors." The only other statutory references to massage is language exempting simple massages and the operation of health clubs from licensure under the physical therapy act and language including massage as an adjunctive therapy under acupuncture.

The Act prohibits a person from practicing or holding himself or herself out as a massage and bodywork therapist without a license from the newly created North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy. The Act defines "massage and bodywork therapy" as systems of activities applied to soft tissues of the body for therapeutic, educational, or relaxation purposes. The Act also prohibits a person from adopting or using any title or description including "massage therapist", "bodywork therapist", "masseur", "masseuse", "massagist", "somatic practitioner", "body therapist", "structural integrator", or any derivation of those terms unless the person is licensed under the Act.

The practice does not include: diagnosis of illness or disease, medical procedures, chiropractic adjustive procedures, electrical stimulation, ultrasound, prescription of medicines, or the use of modalities for which a license to practice medicine, chiropractic, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, acupuncture, or podiatry is required by law.

The Act does not prohibit: the practice of a profession by one licensed, certified or registered under other N.C. laws, the practice of massage and bodywork therapy by a person licensed elsewhere when that person is called into the State to teach a course or to consult with a person licensed under the Act, students enrolled in a Board approved school and completing a clinical requirement under the supervision of a licensed person, a person giving therapy to members of the person's immediate family, and the practice of movement educators such as dance teachers, yoga teachers, personal trainers, martial arts instructors, movement repatterning practitioners, and other such professions.

The requirements of licensure are:

- •high school diploma or equivalent
- •18 years or older
- •good moral character as determined by the Board
- •successful completion of a minimum of 500 classroom hours of supervised instruction at a Board approved school
- •passing an examination administered by an agency approved by the National Commission of Certifying Agencies or an examination administered or approved by the Board.

The schedule of fees for licensure may include the following and may be adjusted as the Board deems necessary:

(1)	Application for examination	$150.00
(2)	License fee	100.00
(3)	License renewal (every two years)	75.00
(4)	Late renewal penalty	50.00
(5)	License by reciprocity	50.00
(6)	Duplicate license	15.00
(7)	Provisional license	100.00

Salaries, expenses, or other Board obligations will be paid out of the above fees.

The Board consists of seven members: five to be licensed under the Article and with at least five years' experience, except that the initial five do not have to be licensed or have completed 500 hours of the required supervised instruction. The remaining two members will be from the general public.

The Act sets out powers and duties of the Board and lists reasons a Board may deny, suspend, revoke, or refuse a license. The Board may seek to enjoin anyone who violates the Act. There is no requirement for direct third-party reimbursement to licensees.

For two years after effective date of the Act, a provisional license may be granted to an applicant who does not meet educational or examination requirements for licensure. At the end of two years after the granting of the provisional license, the applicant must submit evidence of compliance with the continuing education requirements (at least 25 hours of study). The applicant will then be issued a license.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective October 1, 1998.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill requires mandatory licensure of persons engaged in the practice of massage and bodywork therapy.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Page six of the PCS, lines 24 through 39 outline the possible fees for the North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy. Lines 31 and 32 of page 6 state that the "schedule of fees may include the following and may be adjusted as the Board deems necessary". In order to estimate the potential income generated by HB 1077, this fiscal note assumes the fees listed in the bill will be adopted by the Board.

Rick Rosen, co-director of the Body Therapy Institute, estimates there are 2,000 massage professionals in North Carolina currently eligible for licensure under this bill. Of this number, 800 are certified by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork.

DRAFT

The remaining 1,200 massage professionals will be given provisional licenses until they complete 25 hours of continuing education within two years. New entrants into this field will come from the 11 massage therapy schools located across the state from Asheville to Wilmington. Each school graduates an average of 40 students per year. If all graduates stay in North Carolina and apply for licensure, then 440 exams will be given each year by the Board. Assuming all pass the exam, then 440 new professionals will be licensed each year. Based on these factors, the chart below calculates the fiscal impact of the bill.

INFORMATION ON HOUSE BILL 1077

HOUSE BILL 1077 - THE NORTH CAROLINA MASSAGE AND BODYWORK THERAPY PRACTICE ACT

Purpose of House Bill 1077: To create mandatory licensure for those engaged in practice of massage and bodywork therapy. House Bill 1077 sets forth requirements for professional training and examination which are consistent with national standards.

House Bill 1077 creates: The North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy, which is responsible for managing the licensure process.

Taxpayer Costs of House Bill 1077: NONE. All expenses and funds for activities of this Board will be paid exclusively out of licensing and examination fees, and not from the State Treasury.

Third-Party Reimbursement: NONE. House Bill 1077 does not require third party reimbursement. Supporting this bill is an opportunity to help protect your constituents without affecting other health care interests.

Reasons to Support House Bill 1077:

1. To establish basic educational and ethical standards for the safe and effective practice of massage and bodywork therapy.

2. To protect the public from unqualified or unethical practitioners in a rapidly growing health care filed.

3. To establish a State Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy to oversee and regulate the profession in a positive way and maintain accountability.

4. To create one uniform statewide standard for licensure, which will relieve local governments of an undue regulatory burden.

Today there are approximately 2000 massage and bodywork therapists in North Carolina, providing a valuable health care service to many of your constituents. A new national survey by Landmark Healthcare indicates that in 29% of households, one or more family members are regularly receiving some form of therapeutic massage and bodywork. They need your support of this bill to define a legal scope of practice for this health care service.

MASSAGE LAWS & NATIONAL CERTIFICATION

Massage Laws Nationwide

Twenty-six states, plus the district of Columbia have enacted laws to regulate the practice of massage and bodywork therapy. The number of credentialed practitioners (as of January 1998) is indicated next to each state. Eight more states, including North Carolina, currently have laws under consideration.

The trend is clearly towards establishing basic educational and ethical standards for the practice of massage and bodywork therapy on the state level.

Top 10 Reasons to Get State Licensure for the Therapeutic Massage & Bodywork Profession in North Carolina

1. To establish basic educational and ethical standards for the safe and effective practice of massage and bodywork therapy
2. To define a legal scope of practice for therapeutic massage and bodywork as a health care profession
3. To gain professional recognition, dignity and respect for the work we do
4. To ensure that each therapist has the right and freedom to practice in the way they see fit
5. To make a clear break from the "adult entertainment/massage parlor" stigma
6. To establish a State Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy to regulate our profession in a positive way and maintain accountability
7. To protect the public from unqualified or unethical practitioners
8. To create opportunities for new or expanded working relationships with other licensed health care professionals
9. To increase public awareness and utilization of this valuable health care service
10. To develop a sense of unity and common purpose among our state's diverse group of body-oriented practitioners

An Honest Look at Our Status Quo

If you believe that things are fine the way they are without state licensure, please consider the following:

At present, many massage and bodywork therapists in our state are practicing under outdated, restrictive and demeaning local ordinances. We are still subject to being fingerprinted, mug-shotted and tested for venereal disease just to get a local business license. Some practitioners are prevented from practicing out of their homes; some are forbidden from treating a member of the opposite sex; some have restricted hours of operation and some are subject to police inspection without prior warning.

At present, massage therapy is addressed in the state laws under the section dealing with Adult Entertainment. We are lumped in with the prostitution industry on both state and local levels, which places an unfair and undeserved stigma on all legitimate massage and bodywork therapists. Public awareness of our profession is tied directly to the laws which regulate us.

At present, our ability to work with the mainstream health care system is limited because we are unlicensed and unregulated at the state level. For example, the NC Board of Chiropractic Examiners has made it unethical for Chiropractors to refer their patients to massage therapists who are not employed in their office.

At present, our professional community consists of a wide spectrum of individuals, special interest groups and organizations. There is diversity, but also a sense of factionalism and isolation. Every other profession has diversity, as well, but most other professions have chosen to organize themselves under one unified banner. This is a crucial next step in our collective evolution.

And without licensure, therapists in our state are subject to having their right to practice compromised or taken away by another licensed profession, if that group believes we are encroaching on their "turf."

The magic of touch

DURHAM

With curls of silken hair, butter-soft skin and tiny arms outstretched, almost everything about little Cedric Nile begs to be touched. But at 1 month old and 6 pounds, he remains hospitalized in the transitional care nursery at Duke University Medical Center. Like many of the sick or premature infants around him, the feeding tube and tangle of wires protruding from his body can make even the most loving person think twice about touching him.

But not Annie Turner. Every day, the 86-year-old Durham resident makes the trek to the hospital as a volunteer who meets a basic need: human touch.

"I'm here to rock my babies," Turner says as she strides toward the neonatal unit and hugs virtually everyone along the way. "Good morning," she says, cuddling Cedric with one hand and gently caressing his face with the other. "I love you, I love you, I love you."

Calmed by the gentle rocking motion and Turner's embrace, Cedric's stern little face soon gives way to a smile, and his fidgeting turns to yawning and stretching. "I hope the baby benefits," says Turner, who has been a touch volunteer for five years. "But I really benefit."

If researchers are right, it's probably a little of both.

For years, doctors have observed the therapeutic power of touch: a mother's nurturing embrace, a friend's pat on the back, the calming effects of massage. Now there's growing proof that touch can do much more: heal both mentally and physically.

In a groundbreaking study in 1986, researchers at the University of Miami Medical School and Duke University studied 100 premature babies who were given three 15-minute massages daily. They compared the infants' growth with the growth of 100 babies who received the same care but no massage. Researchers found that over the course of the two-week study, the massaged infants gained weight 50 percent faster than the control group.

What's more, says Dr. Saul Schanberg, a professor of biological psychology at Duke and an executive board member of the University of Miami's Touch Research Institute, they were ready to leave the hospital six days earlier at an average savings of $10,000 per child. The study has since been repeated several times, including studies looking at babies born to cocaine ad[illegible]s, with similar response. The [illegible] prompted several hospi[illegible]ound the country to set up rocking and massage programs for premature and sickly infants.

Touch is not just a benefit, says Schanberg, who oversaw Duke's involvement in the preemie study. "It's a requirement."

For the last six years, researchers at the Touch Research Institute have been exploring the effects of touch on health. To date, more than 50 TRI studies have shown touch, especially massage, to have beneficial effects on ailments from autism and chronic fatigue syndrome to bulimia, cancer, colic, diabetes, sickle cell anemia, job stress and depression. Institute studies have shown that massage helps asthmatics breathe easier, boosts the immune function in HIV-positive patients, reduces anxiety and depression in children and adults, and reduces apprehension in burn victims undergoing painful treatments.

"[illegible]re finding that it's [illegible]hing that's just critical to [illegible] says psychologist Tiffany Field, who directs research at TRI. "It's something that we need like diet and exercise to keep us healthy and alert and productive. It's a healing therapy that more people should be using."

Furthermore, Schanberg adds, it's a need we never outgrow.

Why does it work?

To Triangle caregivers like nurse clinician Jon Seskevich, the TRI's findings come as no surprise. For more than 20 years, Seskevich has studied and practiced relaxation techniques and therapeutic and healing touch. As part of his job as a stress and pain management education specialist at Duke, he regularly uses complementary talk and touch techniques on patients suffering everything from breast cancer and heart problems to cancer, cystic fibrosis, abdominal pains and organ trans[illegible]nts.

[illegible]en used as an adjunct to con[illegible]tional medicine, Seskevich believes that touch can reduce pain and help the medicine work better.

There are two theories at work. One is that massage stimulates the release of endorphins, or the body's natural pain suppressors. The other is the gate theory, which is based on the idea that pain travels on nerves up to the brain and that if you can overwhelm the nerves with other stimulation such as touch, you can block the pain message.

"Massage therapy and pain for many conditions is like a no-brainer to me," Seskevich says.

Dr. Pouru Bhiwandi, a Raleigh obstetrician and gynecologist, agrees. She regularly encourages her patients — pregnant or not — to consider massage. Not only is it good for easing stress and anxiety, she says, but it also helps pregnant women limber crucial muscles that will be used during childbirth.

"Massage and touch is an integral part of therapy," Bhiwandi says. "I certainly recommend it to a lot of my patients without hesitation."

The notion that massage can heal goes back to ancient times. Chinese medical literature referred to it as early as 3000 B.C. In 460 B.C., Hippocrates, the father of Western medicine, wrote: "The physician must be experienced in many things, but most assuredly in rubbing."

Over the years, massage has fallen in and out of favor with medical practitioners for various reasons, including superstition and fear of litigation. But in recent years, the therapeutic benefits of massage have increasingly been recognized, showing up in adjunct programs at hospitals and obstetricians' offices, in nursing homes and sports medicine clinics, and even in malls as one of the greatest stress relievers around. Late last year, a federal advisory panel strongly endorsed the ancient Chinese medical practice of acupuncture for treating certain conditions, including nausea and postoperative dental pain.

Massage's rebirth is evident in the numbers: About 25 million Americans make 60 million visits to 85,000 practitioners each year. Research at TRI has prompted workplaces and health insurance companies to examine the possibility of reimbursing for massage. Locally, Nortel in Research Triangle Park offers on-site massage to employees and reimburses employees and their family members up to $200 annually for massage.

Casual touch has benefits, too. In one famous experiment, a librarian used the same words and inflection with every patron who passed through the checkout line. But during the encounters, she brushed the hands of every other patron. When surveyed outside the library, almost every patron who was touched reported having had a pleasant experience inside. Those who weren't touched had either neutral or negative things to say. In another study, waitresses got bigger tips when they lightly touched customers on the hand or shoulder as they exchanged money.

Annie Turner is a volunteer with the Rock-A-Baby and LAP programs at Duke; behind her is Shenica McMillan with her newborn son, Jashawn.

All of which would seem to point to a need for more, not less touch, in our every day lives.

"We are just beginning to rediscover the tremendous power of touch," says TRI's Tiffany Field. "And yet, in our culture, touch often remains taboo.

"We teach hands-off from the word go," says Schanberg. "It immediately means something sexual. You just can't idly put your arm around someone. There would be huge potential repercussions that this is other than just warmth and concern. There would be harassment potential, alarms going off all over the building. And yet that is a real primitive need."

Miss Annie's touch

You don't have to tell that to Annie Turner, who spent most of her life looking after other people. When her husband of 58 years died in 1993, Turner's daughter feared for her mother's well-being. So she set out to find her mom an activity or a companion. She found both in the form of the Rock-A-Baby and LAP programs at Duke, which pair loving volunteers with newborns whose parents can't always be by their sides.

For the last five years, Miss Annie — as the nurses call her — has made the 5-mile drive from her home in Durham to the hospital at least five times a week. So strong is her desire to "love my babies" that when an ice storm two years ago kept much of the nursing staff from making it into the hospital, Miss Annie reported for duty.

"It's the light of my life," she says. "It's just very exhilarating. ... I don't know what I would do if I didn't have it. As long as there are babies available, I will go and rock babies."

Emily Neal, a 71-year-old Raleigh massage therapist, also is a firm believer in the benefits of touch.

"If I don't give a massage at least once a week," she says, "I really begin to feel less of a person. It's as much a blessing to me as it is the people I work on."

Joan Vander Meer knows what Turner and Neal are talking about. As a clinical nurse specialist at Duke who specializes in geriatrics, Vander Meer uses gentle touch in "liberal doses" to calm, soothe and show concern to patients, especially those suffering from dementia or who are unable to respond to words as they once did.

"Touch is one way of communicating caring," she says. "I use touch to provide reassurance and reduce anxiety."

Yet it's not for everyone, she warns. In some instances — with the tiniest of babies or certain Alzheimer's patients — touch can do more harm than good. And in others, may simply be unwanted. "You have to be careful," she says.

But researchers are convinced that it is crucial to health and well-being.

At TRI, a study known as the "grandparent study" showed that the benefits of touch are a two-way street. In it, a group of volunteers 60 and older were given three weeks of massage and then were trained to massage babies. The babies slept better and were more alert, active and sociable when awake. Yet giving the massages proved to be more beneficial than receiving them. The seniors reported less anxiety, depression and loneliness, improved self-esteem and fewer visits to the doctor.

The smile spreading across Turner's face bears further proof.

"I love you, I love you, I love you," she says again to little Cedric. "You love me too, don't you?"

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue- Sales Tax Division

EFFECTIVE DATE: The first reduction from 2% to 1% is effective November 1, 1998 and the second reduction from 1% to 0 is effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The 1996 General Assembly lowered the state sales tax on food items intended for home consumption (defined as those items eligible for purchase with Food Stamps) from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1998. The 1997 General Assembly lowered the sales tax on food from 3% to 2% effective July 1, 1998. This proposed bill reduces the state tax from 2% to 1% on November 1, 1998 and from 1% to 0 on July 1, 1999.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The original source of data for the estimate was a 1961 field survey conducted by field auditors of the Department of Revenue assigned to tabulate the impact of eliminating the tax exemption on food. Over the years these numbers have been updated for growth with data from the monthly "type of business establishment" reports of the Department of Revenue. Data from a special tabulation of the Department of Revenue for February and March 1997 indicates that the estimates used in previous fiscal notes are on target.

As a check on the data, estimates of food tax exemptions from other states have been reviewed. Furthermore, the estimates are consistent with nationwide food consumption data compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce (and allocated to North Carolina by the Fiscal Research Division). Based on federal data, the estimated 3% annual growth in food tax purchases is also on target.

With a November 1 effective date, the first year revenue loss is for eight months minus a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax in November. The full year cost of the 1998 reduction will be in FY 1999-00. The July 1, 1999 reduction will also be less than 12 months of revenue loss due to a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax. The full year cost of that 1 cent reduction will be in FY 2000-01.

EXPLANATION OF SENATE BILL 1092:
PROPOSED HOUSE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE
Reduce North Carolina Taxes

TO: House Finance Committee
FROM: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel
DATE: May 20, 1998
SPONSOR: Senator Hoyle

Senate Bill 1092, as passed by the Senate, reduces the State sales tax on food from 2% to 1%, effective November 1, 1998, and repeals the State sales tax on food, effective July 1, 1999. The proposed House Committee Substitute not only eliminates the State sales tax on food, but also reduces several other taxes:

- It repeals the remaining 2% State sales tax on food, effective October 1, 1998.
- It eliminates the State's inheritance tax, effective January 1, 1999.
- It increases the property tax homestead exemption amount and income eligibility amount to $25,000.
- It increases and indexes the individual income tax personal exemption for middle- and low-income taxpayers, effective January 1, 1999.

Repeal State Sales Tax on Food

In 1996, the General Assembly reduced the State sales tax on food from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1997. Last year, the General Assembly reduced the State sales tax on food from 3% to 2%, effective July 1, 1998. This bill completes the reduction by eliminating the remaining 2% State sales tax on food, effective October 1, 1998.

The sale of tangible personal property in North Carolina is subject to a 4% State sales tax unless it is specifically exempt from the tax. In 1971, 1983, and 1985, the General Assembly passed legislation allowing local governments to impose a local sales tax. The local sales tax rate is 2%. On most tangible personal property, the combined State and local sales tax rate in North Carolina is 6%. However, because of past legislation reductions, the combined State and local sales tax rate on food, effective July 1, 1998, will be 4%. This bill repeals the State's remaining 2% sales tax rate on food, but it retains the 2% local sales tax rate. Therefore, effective October 1, 1998, there will only be a local 2% sales tax on food.

The sales tax on food applies to food that may be purchased with food stamps. Federal law determines what can be purchased with food stamps and, therefore, what food is exempt from the State sales tax. Food purchased with food stamps is exempt from both the State and the local sales tax.

Eliminates the State Inheritance Tax

Section 3 of this bill repeals the State's inheritance tax and Section 4 of this bill retains a State estate tax that is equivalent to the federal state death tax credit allowed on a federal estate tax return. This type of State estate tax is known as a "pick-up" tax because it picks up for the State the amount of federal estate tax that would otherwise be paid to the federal government. The repeal of the State's inheritance tax is effective January 1, 1999, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date.

North Carolina imposes an inheritance tax on property transferred by a decedent. The amount of tax payable depends on the relationship of the person transferring the property (the decedent) to the person receiving the property (the beneficiary). This is in contrast to federal law, which has a single rate schedule for estates.

State law classifies beneficiaries into three classes, Class A, Class B, and Class C, and sets different inheritance tax rates for each class. A Class A beneficiary is a lineal ancestor, a lineal descendant, an adopted child, a step-child, or a son-in-law or daughter-in-law whose spouse is not entitled to any of the decedent's property. A Class B beneficiary is a sibling, a descendant of a sibling, or an aunt or uncle by blood. A Class C beneficiary is anyone who is not a Class A or Class B beneficiary.

Class A beneficiaries have the lowest inheritance tax rates and a $600,000 inheritance tax exemption. Class B beneficiaries have higher rates and no exemption. Class C beneficiaries have the highest rates and no exemption. Thus, North Carolina's rate structure favors transfers to children and parents by giving those transfers the lowest rates plus an exemption and prefers transfers to other close family members over transfers to more distant relatives or to persons who are not related.

Property Tax Homestead Exemption

Sections 6, and 7 of the bill expand the property tax homestead exemption amount from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility amount from $15,000 to $25,000, effective July 1, 1999. Section 8 of the bill provides a State reimbursement to local governments for their additional revenue loss as a result of this change.

The homestead exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older or totally disabled and who has an income of less than $15,000. The income used to determine the income eligibility amount includes moneys received from every source other than gifts or inheritances received from a spouse, lineal ancestor, or lineal descendant. For married applicants residing with their spouses, the income of both spouses is included, whether or not the property is in both names.

The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then, the exemption amount had last been increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then, the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

Increase and Index Personal Exemption

Section 9 of the bill provides an automatic annual income tax reduction for individuals whose adjusted gross income is less than the applicable amount listed below:

Married Filing Jointly	$100,000
Head of Household	80,000
Single	60,000
Married filing separately	50,000.

The bill increases the State income tax personal exemptions for these taxpayers to the amount of the federal personal exemptions, and provides that the exemption amounts will increase automatically each year at the same rate as the federal exemptions, based on the rate of inflation. The section of the bill becomes effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. Increasing the personal exemption amounts reduces State income taxes for the individuals who adjusted gross income falls below the stated amount.

The State's personal exemption amounts were increased in 1995 in two stages, from $2,000 to $2,250 for the 1995 tax year and then to $2,500 for the 1996 tax year. The federal personal exemption amounts increase automatically each year to keep pace with inflation. The federal amount for the 1997 tax year was $2,650 and is expected to increase about $50 each year thereafter.

Increasing the State's personal exemption amounts to the federal amounts and allowing them to grow at the same pace in future years has three benefits. First, it reduces State personal income taxes for all North Carolina citizens whose income falls below the stated amount. Families with children receive a larger tax reduction because a personal exemption deduction is allowed for the taxpayer, the spouse, and each dependent. Second, it allows the State tax structure to respond automatically to inflation. If the personal exemption amounts are not indexed to inflation, taxpayer's taxes increase automatically each year because the value of their income is inflated, even if, in real terms, they make the same amount of income or less income each year. Third, it greatly simplifies tax filing for the affected taxpayers. North Carolina's individual income tax uses federal taxable income as the starting point for calculating North Carolina taxable income. As long as North Carolina's personal exemptions are not indexed to the federal amounts, every taxpayer must perform an extra calculation to adjust for the gap by adding back to federal taxable income the difference between the lower North Carolina personal exemption amount and the higher federal personal exemption amount.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ELIMINATE THE STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD, TO ELIMINATE THE STATE'S INHERITANCE TAX AND RETAIN A STATE ESTATE TAX EQUAL TO THE FEDERAL STATE DEATH TAX CREDIT, TO INCREASE AND INDEX THE INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX PERSONAL EXEMPTION AMOUNT FOR CERTAIN TAXPAYERS, AND TO INCREASE THE PROPERTY TAX HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION AMOUNT AND INCOME ELIGIBILITY AMOUNT AND REIMBURSE LOCAL GOVERNMENTS FOR THE RESULTING REVENUE LOSS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

REPEAL STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD.

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.4(a)(5) is repealed."

Section 2. Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-164.13B. Food exempt from tax.

The taxes imposed by this Article do not apply to food that is not otherwise exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased with coupons issued under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51."

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX.

Section 3. Article 1 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed.

Section 4. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 1A.
"Estate Taxes.

"§ 105-32.1. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Code. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

(2) Personal representative. -- The person appointed by the clerk of superior court under Chapter 28A of the General Statutes to administer the estate of a decedent or, if no one is appointed under that Chapter, the person required to file a federal estate tax return for the estate of the decedent.

(3) Secretary. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.90.

"§ 105-32.2. Estate tax imposed in amount equal to federal state death tax credit.

(a) Tax. -- An estate tax is imposed on the estate of a decedent when a federal estate tax is imposed on the estate under section 2001 of the Code and any of the following apply:

(1) The decedent was a resident of this State at death.

(2) The decedent was not a resident of this State at death and owned any of the following:

a. Real property or tangible personal property that is located in this State.

b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the estate tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state death taxes allowed under section 2011 of the Code. If any property in the estate is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the estate that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property in the estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property in the estate, unless the decedent's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the decedent's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in the estate is its gross value reduced by any debts and deductions of the estate.

"§ 105-32.3. Liability for estate tax.

(a) Primary. -- The tax imposed by this Article is payable from the assets of the estate. A person who receives property from an estate is liable for the amount of estate tax attributable to that property.

(b) Personal Representative. -- The personal representative of an estate is liable for an estate tax that is not paid within two years after it was due. This liability is limited to the value of the assets of the estate that were under the control of the personal representative. The amount for which the personal representative is liable may be recovered from the personal representative or from the surety on any bond filed by the personal representative under Article 8 of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes.

(c) Clerk of Court. -- A clerk of court who allows a personal representative to make a final settlement of an estate without presenting one of the following is liable on the clerk's bond for any estate tax due:

(1) An affirmation by the personal representative certifying that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.

(2) A certificate issued by the Secretary stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.

"§ 105-32.4. Payment of estate tax.

(a) Due Date. -- The estate tax imposed by this Article is due when an estate tax return is due. An estate tax return is due on the date a federal estate tax return is due.

(b) Filing Return. -- An estate tax return must be filed under this Article if a federal estate tax return is required. The return must be filed by the personal representative of the estate on a form provided by the Secretary.

(c) Extension. -- An extension of time to file a federal estate tax return is an automatic extension of the time to file an estate tax return under this Article. The Secretary may, in accordance with G.S. 105-263, extend the time for paying the estate tax imposed by this Article or for filing an estate tax return.

(d) Interest and Penalties. -- The penalties in G.S. 105-236 apply to the failure to file an estate tax return or to pay an estate tax when due. Interest at the rate set in G.S. 105-241.1 accrues on estate taxes paid after the date they are due.

(e) Obtaining Amount Due. -- The personal representative of an estate may sell assets in the estate to obtain money to pay the tax imposed by this Article.

"§ 105-32.5. Making installment payments of tax due when federal estate tax is payable in installments.

A personal representative who elects under section 6166 of the Code to make installment payments of federal estate tax may elect to make installment payments of the tax imposed by this Article. An election under this section extends the time for payment of the tax due in accordance with the extension elected under section 6166 of the Code. Payments of tax are due under this section at the same time and in the same proportion to the total amount of tax due as payments of federal estate tax under section 6166 of the Code. Acceleration of payments under section 6166 of the Code accelerates the payments due under this section.

"§ 105-32.6. Estate tax is a lien on real property in the estate.

The tax imposed by this Article on an estate is a lien on the real property in the estate and on the proceeds of the sale of the real property in the estate. The lien is extinguished when one of the following occurs:

(1) The personal representative certifies to the clerk of court that no tax is due on the estate because this Article does not require an estate tax return to be filed for that estate.
(2) The Secretary issues a certificate stating that the tax liability of the estate has been satisfied.
(3) For specific real property, when the Secretary issues a tax waiver for that property.
(4) Ten years have elapsed since the date of the decedent's death.

"§ 105-32.7. Generation-skipping transfer tax.

(a) Tax. -- A tax is imposed on a generation-skipping transfer that is subject to the tax imposed by Chapter 13 of Subtitle B of the Code when any of the following apply:

(1) The original transferor is a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer.
(2) The original transferor is not a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer and the transfer includes any of the following:
a. Real or tangible personal property that is located in this State.
b. Intangible personal property that has a tax situs in this State.

(b) Amount. -- The amount of the tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state generation-skipping transfer taxes allowed under section 2604 of the Code. If property in the transfer is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the original transferor was a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the property transferred that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property transferred. If the original transferor was not a resident of this State at the date of the original transfer, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property transferred, unless the original transferor's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the original transferor's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in a transfer is its gross value reduced by any debts secured by the property.

(c) Payment. -- The tax imposed by this section is due when a return is due. A return is due the same date as the federal return for payment of the federal generation-skipping transfer tax. The tax is payable by the person who is liable for the federal generation-skipping transfer tax.

"§ 105-32.8. Federal determination that changes the amount of tax payable to the State.

If the federal government corrects or otherwise determines the amount of the maximum state death tax credit allowed an estate under section 6166 of the Code, the personal representative must, within two years after being notified of the correction or final determination by the federal government, file an estate tax return with the Secretary reflecting the correct amount of tax payable under this Article. If the federal government corrects or otherwise determines the amount of the maximum state generation-skipping transfer tax credit allowed under section 2604 of the Code, the person who made the transfer must, within two years after being notified of the correction or final determination by the federal government, file a tax return with the Secretary reflecting the correct amount of tax payable under this Article.

The Secretary must assess and collect any additional tax due as provided in Article 9 of this Chapter and must refund any overpayment of tax as provided in Article 9 of this Chapter. A person who fails to report a federal correction or determination in accordance with this section is subject to the penalties in G.S. 105-236 and forfeits the right to any refund due by reason of the determination."

PROPERTY TAX HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

Section 5. G.S. 105-277.1(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Exclusion. -- The following class of property is designated a special class of property under Article V, Sec. 2(2) of the North Carolina Constitution and shall be assessed for taxation in accordance with this section. The first ~~twenty thousand dollars ($20,000)~~ twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) in appraised value of a permanent residence owned and occupied by a qualifying owner is excluded from taxation. A qualifying owner is an owner who meets all of the following requirements as of January 1 preceding the taxable year for which the benefit is claimed:

(1) Is at least 65 years of age or totally and permanently disabled.

(2) Has an income for the preceding calendar year of not more than ~~fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000).~~ twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000).

(3) Is a North Carolina resident.

An otherwise qualifying owner does not lose the benefit of this exclusion because of a temporary absence from his or her permanent residence for reasons of health, or because of an extended absence while confined to a rest home or nursing home, so long as the residence is unoccupied or occupied by the owner's spouse or other dependent."

Section 6. G.S. 105-309(f) reads as rewritten:

DRAFT

amount for certain taxpayers, and 4) increases the property tax homestead exemption amount and income eligibility amount and reimburses local governments for the resulting loss.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REPEAL STATE SALES TAX ON FOOD

The 1996 General Assembly lowered the state sales tax on food items intended for home consumption (defined as those items eligible for purchase with Food Stamps) from 4% to 3%, effective January 1, 1998. The 1997 General Assembly lowered the sales tax on food from 3% to 2% effective July 1, 1998. Section 1 of this proposed committee substitute repeals the remaining 2 cents of the state sales tax on food on October 1, 1998.

The original source of data for the estimate was a 1961 field survey conducted by field auditors of the Department of Revenue assigned to tabulate the impact of eliminating the tax exemption on food. Over the years these numbers have been updated for growth with data from the monthly "type of business establishment" reports of the Department of Revenue. Data from a special tabulation of the Department of Revenue for February and March 1997 indicated that the estimates used in previous fiscal notes were on target. As a check on the data, estimates of food tax exemptions from other states have been reviewed. Furthermore, the estimates are consistent with nationwide food consumption data compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce (and allocated to North Carolina by the Fiscal Research Division). Based on federal data, the estimated 3% annual growth in food tax purchases is also on target.

The October 1, 1998 reduction will be less than 9 months of revenue loss due to a lag between the retail sale and the remittance of the tax. The full year cost of the 2 cent reduction will be in FY 1999-00.

ELIMINATE NORTH CAROLINA INHERITANCE TAX

North Carolina has both an inheritance tax and an estate tax. These taxes are borne by the beneficiary. When calculating taxes owed, a determination is made of the net value of the estate and the beneficiary's proportion of that estate. Then inheritance taxes are applied based on the beneficiary's classification. Once a state inheritance tax is determined, that number must be compared to the State Death Tax Credit (This credit amount is drawn from the federal estate tax form). If the inheritance tax is larger than the State Death Tax Credit, the beneficiary forwards the total inheritance tax to the state. If the credit is larger, a North Carolina Estate Tax is charged to bring the total tax up to the State Death Tax Credit level. As of January 1997 only 17 states, including North Carolina, still retain an inheritance tax. Sections 3 and 4 of this bill repeal the inheritance tax, with the net effect of expanding the state estate or "pick-up" tax.

The Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue provided data based on inheritance tax returns filed and closed out in 1993. The loss associated with the 1993 data equals $42.3 million, or 45.1% of total potential inheritance tax collections, in General Fund revenue. This percentage loss was applied to current 1999-00 inheritance tax collections estimates. Future years were forcasted based on the expected growth rate in inheritance tax collections as defined in the North Carolina model (7.986%). A one time 5% adjustment was included to capture the impact of the increase in the federal unified credit and its influence on the State Death Tax Credit. No FY 1998-99 fiscal impact is shown for this item because there is a nine month lag in the payment of inheritance taxes. For example, if a benefactor dies on January 1, 1999 the inheritance tax paid by their beneficiaries would not be due until September 1, 1999, which is the next fiscal year. The estimate for FY 1999-00 has also been reduced to allow for this lag factor.

It should be noted that the federal government requires that beneficiaries pay at least the amount of the death tax credit to the state, or the federal government will retain the balance. As such, reducing a North Carolina beneficiary's total tax liability to below the State Death Tax Credit level will only result in additional funds to the federal government. The beneficiary's total tax liability will not change.

PROPERTY TAX HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

The Homestead Exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older, or totally disabled, and who has an income of less than $15,000. The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then the exemption was last increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000. Before then the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

Sections 5 and 6 of the proposed bill increase the Homestead Property Tax Exemption amount for the elderly and disabled from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility threshold from $15,000 to $25,000. Section 7 of the proposal holds counties and cities harmless for the loss attributable to the increase proposed by the bill. As such, the full financial cost of the expansion of the Homestead Exemption will be borne by the state.

DRAFT

The current annual cost of the Homestead Exemption program is approximately $27 million. That cost is divided between the state and the counties. History indicates that approximately 80% of the total cost is related to the property exemption and 20% is related to the income requirement. The proposed act increases the value of exempt property 25% and increases the income threshold 66.7%. If 80% of the cost or $21.6 million is devoted to exempt property, then a 25% increase in the exemption equals $(5.4) million. If 20% of the cost of the program is devoted to the income threshold or $5.4 million, then a 66.7% increase in the threshold equals ($3.6) million. The $9 million increase in the cost of the Homestead Exemption will be borne by the state.

INCREASE AND INDEX PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS

Section 8 of the proposed bill sets the state personal exemption rate equal to the federal personal exemption amount each year beginning in tax year 1999. The General Assembly last increased the personal exemption amount to the federal rate in 1995, but did not index it for inflation. The current state personal exemption is $2500, while the federal personal exemption rate for tax year 1999 is $2750. The rates are set each year by increasing the prior year amounts by the CPI, then round down to the nearest $50. The projected rates for tax years 1999 to 2003 are follows:

	State	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003
Personal Exemption	$2,500	$2,700	$2,750	$2,850	$2,950	$3,050	$3,150
CPI		1.032	1.031	1.03	1.034	1.033	1.035

To estimate the fiscal impact of this proposal on the General Fund, these rates were entered into the Individual Income Tax computer model used by the Department of Revenue, the Fiscal Research Division, and the Office of State Budget and Management. The results from the model were checked against the 1994 Individual Income Tax Detail Report issued by the Department of Revenue. Manual calculations were consistent with the model projections.

The first year impact in FY 98-99 equals half the loss for tax year 1999 ($41.1 million) due to taxpayers adjusting their withholding tables and their estimated payments in January through June of 1999. The impact for each following year is half of one tax year plus half of the next tax year. For example, the FY 99-00 estimate of $99.1 million is half of tax year 1999 ($41.1 million) plus half of tax year 2000 ($58 million).

The personal exemption amount remains $2,000 for those with the following adjusted gross income:

Married filing jointly	$100,000
Head of Household	$80,000
Single	$60,000
Married filing separately	$50,000

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1998

9:00 A.M. ROOM 544-LOB

JOINT MEETING WITH SENATE MEMBERS

The House Committee on Finance met jointly with the Senate Finance Committee on Wednesday, May 20, 1998 at 9:00 a.m. in Room 544-LOB. A silent roll was taken for House members present, (roll list denotes members present).

Rep. Connie Wilson was presiding Chairperson and called the meeting to order, and introduced Pages for the day.

Secretary Rick Carlisle, Department of Commerce, was the guest speaker. He explained the purpose and the operation of the William (Bill) Lee Act. After his presentation, questions were entertained by House and Senate members.

Rep. Dedmon spoke about problems in his county regarding the tierring process not being accurate and its affect on jobs. He asked Sec. Carlisle if he was aware of the problems and what action is being taken to correct this. Sec. Carlisle advised that his Department is aware of the problem and it is being studied so adjustments can be made. Rep. B. Hunter commented on infrastructure for rural areas and the need for balanced economic growth. He asked what was being done to correct this for this 1998 short session. Sec. Carlisle advised that the water/sewer and natural gas needs must be improved in order to attract industry to North Carolina. His Department has asked for $32 million to help with this for this legislative session. Rep. Gamble shared concerns about his county and the tiering problem because of retirees that have moved in which caused the tiers to be off balance. Sec. Carlisle responded that the formula for tiering was inherited and they are looking at ways to adjust this using earned income. Rep. Cunningham also shared concerns and asked about enterprise zones. Sec. Carlisle told him that this will be addressed in the near future. Rep. Cunningham inquired if it will include grants and tax credits and Sec. Carlisle advised it would. Sen. Cochrane questioned gross receipts tax and the re-distributing of wealth for the Piedmont area of the State. Sec. Carlisle gave her reassurance that all aspects are being considered for improved for the entire State. Rep. Hill asked about job qualities for low tier counties and high tier counties. Sec. Carlisle explained the rationality of quality of jobs. Rep. Hackney commented about traffic problems and building of new schools and the wisdom of people moving to high growing areas vs. rural areas. Sec. Carlisle agreed that people were naturally more attracted to urban areas vs. rural areas. Rep. Neely asked Sec. Carlisle for a copy of speech/presentation and Sec. Carlisle agreed to provide this for him. Rep. Goodwin commended the Department of Commerce for the improvements made in his county due to the Bill Lee Act and urged that improvements continue to be made, not only for his county but state-wide. Sen. Kerr also commended the work of the Department of Commerce, but shared frustrations and recommended moving forward to help balance the structure of the State. He feels we are heading for a two-tiered State. He shared concerns about education being a large factor and the need for infrastructure for water/sewer. He urged for a bi-partisan effort to help North Carolina. Sen. Bob Shaw shared expressed the same concerns as the other members had spoken about and urged that they need immediate attention.

Sec. Carlisle was then recognized for explanation of the Federal Express hub for North Carolina. After his comments, Sen. B. Shaw made additional comments regarding Federal Express. He advised that he has requested some figures from Federal Express in writing and has yet to receive them. He urged caution until some written information could be provided. Sen. L. Shaw spoke and feels we need to engineer for the needs of Eastern North Carolina. He hopes that Department of Commerce will take leadership in helping bring economic development. Rep. Carpenter shared the work of the Rural Infrastructure Development Committee. He advised of the support of the County Commissioners Association, the League of Municipalities and other groups state-wide that are supporting infrastructure development for North Carolina. He advised that a bill would be introduced this week from that committee. Sen. McDaniel spoke about fuel tax exemptions and court rulings and what legal considerations has been given to Federal Express for tax exemptions. Sec. Carlisle explained that Federal Express will not be given special treatment from other industries wishing to locate in North Carolina. Sen. Ballentine questioned the vitality of Global TransPark. Sec. Carlisle said a conclusion could not be drawn in connection of the Global TransPark. Rep. Berry was concerned about promises being made to get Federal Express to move to North Carolina and Sec. Carlisle explained that this is all contingent on legislation approval. Rep. Berry commented again and said that she feels it is the understanding to most citizens that this is a "done deal". She also asked what is missing from the GTP that Fed Ex is requiring. Sec. Carlisle replied that dual runways and interstate access was an important factor. Rep. Nichols asked what happens if this is not approved by the General Assembly. Sec. Carlisle responded that he couldn't answer that, but explained the importance of what was presented to Fed. Ex. Rep. Nichols asked if it was intended to put pressure on the General Assembly if this did not pass. Sec. Carlisle responded that was not the intent. Rep. Russell spoke on the GTP and the road problems for this area. She explained the importance of rural infrastructure. Sen. Blust asked about the dual runways or the parallel runway being a requirement for Fed. Ex. Sec. Carlisle responded that only a Fed. Ex. Representative could answer that. Sen. Blust questioned the package which was presented to Fed. Ex. and asked if anyone else would be allowed to take advantage of the tax credits. He also asked when legislation will be available. Sec. Carlisle responded that legislation is being prepared now for the short session. Rep. Wilson questioned the fiscal impact and Sec. Carlisle advised it would be ready when the bill is prepared. Rep. Wood told about a meeting he attended and asked Sec. Carlisle if it was their practice to consult with legislators that are in the affected District. Sec. Carlisle advised they had been working with consultants, had spoken to Leadership of both Houses, and the Delegation from that area. Rep. Wood then asked if this would be a separate bill or rolled into another one. Sec. Carlisle advised it would be rolled in with another. Rep. Decker spoke on the runway situation and the tax credit. Sec. Carlisle responded to his comments. Re. Howard said she had requested a total cost for this project and asked if it had been generated from Department of Commerce. Sec. Carlisle advised they had worked with Department of Revenue. Rep. Howard wants to see figures to study for this short session and requested that Department of Commerce provide some figures to our Fiscal Staff this week. Rep. Brawley spoke on the GTP and said the General Assembly had not finished this project and urged the Department of Commerce to complete this.

The meeting adjourned at 10:15 a.m.

Explanation of State/Local Retiree Lawsuit -- Bailey

TO: House Finance Committee
From: Legislative Staff
Date: May 12, 1998

Ruling. On May 8, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled against the State in the Bailey case. The background for and history of this case are set out below. The North Carolina Supreme Court's decision means that the State will have to reimburse taxpayers for State income taxes paid on their State, local, and federal pensions since 1989, and exempt these pensions in future tax years for those taxpayers whose pensions had vested before August 12, 1989. The refunds and the exemption apply only to those benefits attributable to service performed before August 12, 1989, by those employees who were vested as of August 12, 1989[1]. The case applies only to State and local retirees but the same relief must be granted to federal retirees as well under the federal doctrine of intergovernmental tax immunities. The Court held that both protesters and nonprotesters are entitled to refunds.

The case now returns to the trial court to administer the refunds, determine attorneys fees, and resolve other matters. There are many unanswered questions. Staff of the Attorney General's Office, the Department of Revenue, and the General Assembly will continue researching the issues and provide answers as soon as possible.

Costs. The recurring cost of the exemption for State, local, and federal retirees could be a maximum of $128.6 million annually.[2] In addition, there would be a one-time cost of refunds for tax years 1989-97 to all State, local, and federal who paid taxes on benefits attributable to pre-1989 service. The total cost of refunds plus interest is estimated at nearly $1.06 billion (one-time). The Court affirmed the lower court's order that 15% of the refunds must be deducted from the refunds, to be used to pay attorneys fees and costs and expenses related to the litigation and the administration of the refunds.

[1] It may be impossible to determine how much of each post-1989 retiree's benefits is attributable to service before August 12, 1989. The State and local government retirement system may be able to make this calculation but the federal retirement system, and TIAA-CREF, which covers some state retirees, may not.

[2] This estimate includes all benefits, whether or not due to pre-1989 service and whether or not being paid to retirees who vested as of 1989, because a breakdown is not available at this time. Thus, the actual cost may be lower. An estimated $45.5 million of the total estimated cost would be attributable to State and local retirees and $83.1 million to federal retirees. This recurring cost would eventually phase out as 1989-vested retirees die.

It is not clear at this time whether these refunds must be made immediately or may be made in installments. The lower court opinion, affirmed by the Court, provided a complex mechanism combining tax credits and refunds. This mechanism may not be administrable as a practical matter. However the refunds are administered, the Department of Revenue will undoubtedly need additional funds for personnel and computer needs to carry out their duties in this matter.

30-Day Rule. The Court did not invalidate the 30-day rule completely, but appears to have held that if a taxpayer pays under protest and initiates litigation, all other similarly situated taxpayers benefit from the protest if the litigation succeeds. It is quite possible that this ruling would be applied to the intangibles tax nonprotesters who received no relief for the 1991-94 tax years and have appealed their case to the North Carolina Supreme Court. The cost of refunds to these nonprotesters, with interest, for the 1991-94 tax years would be approximately $338.1 million (one-time). It seems less likely that it would be applied retroactively to the federal retiree nonprotesters who received some but not complete relief for the tax they paid on their retirement benefits for 1985-88.

Relief from USSC Unlikely. The State would probably have the right to ask the United States Supreme Court to review the case. Although the case was brought under federal constitutional provisions (prohibiting impairment of contracts and taking of property without just compensation), the State's defense was based on a State constitutional provision (prohibiting the State from contracting away its taxing power). Thus, because the basis for the rejection of the State's defense chiefly involves a State issue, rather than a federal issue, it may not be possible to have the case reviewed by the United States Supreme Court. If the State seeks review, we would probably not know whether review was granted until fall of 1998.

If it asks the United States Supreme Court to review the case, the State would probably also ask the North Carolina Supreme Court to stay (freeze) the judgment until the United States Supreme Court made a decision. It is not known whether a stay would be granted.

Background

In 1989, the United States Supreme Court ruled in Davis v. Michigan that the doctrine of intergovernmental tax immunity prohibits a state from taxing federal retirement income at a higher rate than State retirement income. Prior to 1989, North Carolina allowed a $3,000 income tax exclusion for federal and military retirees and allowed a full income exclusion for State retirement income. To comply with the Davis decision, the General Assembly in 1989 allowed all government retirees, both State and federal, a $4,000 exclusion. The General Assembly increased the amount of retirement benefits paid to State retirees to help offset the impact of the tax on their retirement income. It also gave private retirees a $2,000 exclusion.

In 1990, State and local retirees sued North Carolina regarding the 1989 change of their tax exemption from a 100% exemption to an exemption for the first $4,000 in government retirement benefits received each year. This case is known as Bailey I. The plaintiffs claimed that the reduction of their retirement benefits was unconstitutional and sought refunds of taxes paid in 1989 and later years. Upon appeal from a trial court decision in favor of the plaintiffs, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the plaintiffs were entitled to no relief because they had failed to comply with the 30-day protest rule; the United States Supreme Court declined to review the decision.

In 1992, Bailey II was filed as a class action on behalf of all State and local retirees who individually complied with the 30-day protest requirement for the 1989, 1990, and 1991 tax years. The plaintiffs' chief claim was that the taxation of State and local retirement income is a breach of contract and violates the federal constitutional prohibition against impairment of contracts. The State's response is that (1) the tax exemption for state and local pension income that existed prior to 1989 was not a contractual right and (2) the North Carolina Constitution does not allow the General Assembly to contract away its taxing authority.

In May 1995, the trial court ruled in favor of the plaintiffs, holding that taxation of retirement benefits earned and vested before August 12, 1989, is a breach of contract, violates the State and federal constitutional prohibitions against impairment of contracts, violates the State prohibition against retrospective tax laws, violates the federal due process clause, and, with regard to judges, retrospectively reduces their salaries in violation of the North Carolina Constitution. The court voided the 1989 act of the General Assembly that repealed the 100% tax exemption for State and local retirement benefits, as it applies to benefits earned and vested before August 12, 1989.

The State appealed the trial court decision and expedited the appeal to the North Carolina Supreme Court (bypassing the North Carolina Court of Appeals). The Court heard arguments in September 1996 but did not issue its opinion until May 1998.

Explanation of State/Local Retiree Lawsuit -- Bailey

TO: House Finance Committee
From: Legislative Staff
Date: May 12, 1998

Ruling. On May 8, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled against the State in the Bailey case. The background for and history of this case are set out below. The North Carolina Supreme Court's decision means that the State will have to reimburse taxpayers for State income taxes paid on their State, local, and federal pensions since 1989, and exempt these pensions in future tax years for those taxpayers whose pensions had vested before August 12, 1989. The refunds and the exemption apply only to those benefits attributable to service performed before August 12, 1989, by those employees who were vested as of August 12, 1989[1]. The case applies only to State and local retirees but the same relief must be granted to federal retirees as well under the federal doctrine of intergovernmental tax immunities. The Court held that both protesters and nonprotesters are entitled to refunds.

The case now returns to the trial court to administer the refunds, determine attorneys fees, and resolve other matters. There are many unanswered questions. Staff of the Attorney General's Office, the Department of Revenue, and the General Assembly will continue researching the issues and provide answers as soon as possible.

Costs. The recurring cost of the exemption for State, local, and federal retirees could be a maximum of $128.6 million annually.[2] In addition, there would be a one-time cost of refunds for tax years 1989-97 to all State, local, and federal who paid taxes on benefits attributable to pre-1989 service. The total cost of refunds plus interest is estimated at nearly $1.06 billion (one-time). The Court affirmed the lower court's order that 15% of the refunds must be deducted from the refunds, to be used to pay attorneys fees and costs and expenses related to the litigation and the administration of the refunds.

[1] It may be impossible to determine how much of each post-1989 retiree's benefits is attributable to service before August 12, 1989. The State and local government retirement system may be able to make this calculation but the federal retirement system, and TIAA-CREF, which covers some state retirees, may not.

[2] This estimate includes all benefits, whether or not due to pre-1989 service and whether or not being paid to retirees who vested as of 1989, because a breakdown is not available at this time. Thus, the actual cost may be lower. An estimated $45.5 million of the total estimated cost would be attributable to State and local retirees and $83.1 million to federal retirees. This recurring cost would eventually phase out as 1989-vested retirees die.

It is not clear at this time whether these refunds must be made immediately or may be made in installments. The lower court opinion, affirmed by the Court, provided a complex mechanism combining tax credits and refunds. This mechanism may not be administrable as a practical matter. However the refunds are administered, the Department of Revenue will undoubtedly need additional funds for personnel and computer needs to carry out their duties in this matter.

30-Day Rule. The Court did not invalidate the 30-day rule completely, but appears to have held that if a taxpayer pays under protest and initiates litigation, all other similarly situated taxpayers benefit from the protest if the litigation succeeds. It is quite possible that this ruling would be applied to the intangibles tax nonprotesters who received no relief for the 1991-94 tax years and have appealed their case to the North Carolina Supreme Court. The cost of refunds to these nonprotesters, with interest, for the 1991-94 tax years would be approximately $338.1 million (one-time). It seems less likely that it would be applied retroactively to the federal retiree nonprotesters who received some but not complete relief for the tax they paid on their retirement benefits for 1985-88.

Relief from USSC Unlikely. The State would probably have the right to ask the United States Supreme Court to review the case. Although the case was brought under federal constitutional provisions (prohibiting impairment of contracts and taking of property without just compensation), the State's defense was based on a State constitutional provision (prohibiting the State from contracting away its taxing power). Thus, because the basis for the rejection of the State's defense chiefly involves a State issue, rather than a federal issue, it may not be possible to have the case reviewed by the United States Supreme Court. If the State seeks review, we would probablv not know whether review was granted until fall of 1998.

If it asks the United States Supreme Court to review the case, the State would probably also ask the North Carolina Supreme Court to stay (freeze) the judgment until the United States Supreme Court made a decision. It is not known whether a stay would be granted.

Background

In 1989, the United States Supreme Court ruled in Davis v. Michigan that the doctrine of intergovernmental tax immunity prohibits a state from taxing federal retirement income at a higher rate than State retirement income. Prior to 1989, North Carolina allowed a $3,000 income tax exclusion for federal and military retirees and allowed a full income exclusion for State retirement income. To comply with the Davis decision, the General Assembly in 1989 allowed all government retirees, both State and federal, a $4,000 exclusion. The General Assembly increased the amount of retirement benefits paid to State retirees to help offset the impact of the tax on their retirement income. It also gave private retirees a $2,000 exclusion.

In 1990, State and local retirees sued North Carolina regarding the 1989 change of their tax exemption from a 100% exemption to an exemption for the first $4,000 in government retirement benefits received each year. This case is known as Bailey I. The plaintiffs claimed that the reduction of their retirement benefits was unconstitutional and sought refunds of taxes paid in 1989 and later years. Upon appeal from a trial court decision in favor of the plaintiffs, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the plaintiffs were entitled to no relief because they had failed to comply with the 30-day protest rule; the United States Supreme Court declined to review the decision.

In 1992, Bailey II was filed as a class action on behalf of all State and local retirees who individually complied with the 30-day protest requirement for the 1989, 1990, and 1991 tax years. The plaintiffs' chief claim was that the taxation of State and local retirement income is a breach of contract and violates the federal constitutional prohibition against impairment of contracts. The State's response is that (1) the tax exemption for state and local pension income that existed prior to 1989 was not a contractual right and (2) the North Carolina Constitution does not allow the General Assembly to contract away its taxing authority.

In May 1995, the trial court ruled in favor of the plaintiffs, holding that taxation of retirement benefits earned and vested before August 12, 1989, is a breach of contract, violates the State and federal constitutional prohibitions against impairment of contracts, violates the State prohibition against retrospective tax laws, violates the federal due process clause, and, with regard to judges, retrospectively reduces their salaries in violation of the North Carolina Constitution. The court voided the 1989 act of the General Assembly that repealed the 100% tax exemption for State and local retirement benefits, as it applies to benefits earned and vested before August 12, 1989.

The State appealed the trial court decision and expedited the appeal to the North Carolina Supreme Court (bypassing the North Carolina Court of Appeals). The Court heard arguments in September 1996 but did not issue its opinion until May 1998.
