(c) Clinical pharmacist practitioners in hospitals and other health facilities that have an established pharmacy and therapeutics committee or similar group that determines the prescription drug formulary or other list of drugs to be utilized in the facility and determines procedures to be followed when considering a drug for inclusion on the formulary and procedures to acquire a nonformulary drug for a patient may order medications and tests under the following conditions:

(5) Any drug therapy order written by a clinical pharmacist practitioner or order for medications or tests shall be deemed to have been authorized by the physician approved by the Boards as the supervisor of the clinical pharmacist practitioner and the supervising physician shall be responsible for authorizing the prescription order.

(d) Any registered nurse or licensed practical nurse who receives a drug therapy order from a clinical pharmacist practitioner for medications or tests is authorized to perform that order in the same manner as if the order was received from a licensed physician."

HOUSE BILL 1095:
Clinical Pharmacist Practitioner

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen
Date:	May 13, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette and Mary Shuping, Committee Staff
Version:	PCS for 3rd Edition H1095-PCSRBX-3

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1095 would permit licensed pharmacists to be approved as clinical pharmacist practitioners in accordance with rules adopted by both the NC Medical Board and the Board of Pharmacy. Clinical pharmacist practitioners would be allowed to enter into drug therapy management agreements with a supervising physician to perform certain medical tasks. A pharmacist who uses the title "clinical pharmacist practitioner" or holds oneself out to be a clinical pharmacist practitioner without Board approval would be in violation of the Medical Practices Act. The part of the bill authorizing the Boards to develop rules becomes effective immediately. The parts of the bill governing clinical pharmacist practitioners become effective July 1, 2000.

The proposed committee substitute makes four changes to the 3rd edition of the bill:

- It substitutes the correct term "rules" for "regulations" throughout the bill.
- It clarifies that the rules must be adopted in accordance with Chapter 150B, the Administrative Procedure Act.
- It clarifies the definition of "drug therapy management" in G.S. 90-18.
- It changes the effective date. The original bill became effective when it became law.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law (G.S. 90-85.3(r)) a licensed pharmacist's scope of practice is limited to: "interpreting and evaluating drug orders, including prescription orders; compounding, dispensing and labeling prescription drugs and devices; properly and safely storing drugs and devices; maintaining proper records; and controlling pharmacy goods and services". A pharmacist may also advise and educate patients and health care providers concerning drugs and devices. A pharmacist who has received special training may be authorized and permitted to administer drugs pursuant to a specific prescription order. While 90-18(c) provides that the practice of pharmacy does not constitute practicing medicine without a license, anything outside the pharmacist's scope of practice as defined above would constitute practicing medicine without a license.

BACKGROUND & OVERVIEW OF THE BILL: Currently, 24 states have either laws or rules governing "collaborative drug therapy management" (CDTM). CDTM's are voluntary written agreements between a specific physician and pharmacist that outline a plan for drug therapy management. (Source: NC Pharmaceutical Association) These collaborative drug therapy management agreements may include, for example, asthma management, diabetic management, diuretic therapy, and management of hypertension.

If enacted, House Bill 1095 would allow a clinical pharmacist practitioner to perform certain limited medical tasks that currently fall within a physician's scope of practice. These tasks would include the implementation of a predetermined drug therapy, modification of prescribed drug dosages, and ordering medical tests. These tasks would only be performed pursuant to a written agreement that is physician, patient, pharmacist, and disease specific.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would allow pharmacists to provide drug therapy management pursuant to a written agreement. It does so by addressing the issue in three different statutes in three slightly different ways.

1. It authorizes the North Carolina Medical Board and the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy to develop rules to govern the performance of medical acts by clinical pharmacist practitioners. It implies that a pharmacist will need to be approved by the Board to be a clinical pharmacist practitioner because it sets the maximum fee amounts the Board may charge for application for approval and renewal of approval. Sections 1 and 6 of the bill.
2. It provides an exception to the Medical Practices Act for a licensed pharmacist to provide drug therapy management pursuant to an agreement that is physician, pharmacist, patient, and disease specific when performed in accordance with rules developed by the North Carolina Medical Board and the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy. It then goes on to define "drug therapy management." Section 2 of the bill.
3. It makes it a violation of the Medical Practices Act for a pharmacist to use the title "clinical pharmacist practitioner" or for a pharmacist to hold oneself out to be a clinical pharmacist practitioner unless the pharmacist is approved as a clinical pharmacist practitioner. Section 3 of the bill.

Section 3 of the bill appears to give authorization to two different groups of potential clinical pharmacist practitioners. Subsection (b) addresses clinical pharmacist practitioners. Subsection (c) addresses clinical pharmacist practitioners that work in hospitals. As written in the bill, each group is given authority to do similar, but slightly different things, and the conditions under which each group can provide drug therapy management is slightly different.

Subsection (b) of G.S. 90-18.3, as proposed in Section 3 of the bill, provides that clinical pharmacist practitioners may implement predetermined drug therapy, modify prescribed drug dosages, dosage forms, and dosage schedules, and order laboratory tests (the provisions for practitioners who work in a hospital refers to "medications and tests") under the following conditions:

- The North Carolina Medical Board and the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy have adopted rules governing the approval of individual clinical pharmacist practitioners to practice drug therapy management. "Drug therapy management" is defined in G.S. 90-18, but it is not defined in this statute. (The provisions relating to practitioners who work in hospitals use the phrase "order medications and tests".)
- The clinical pharmacist practitioner has approval from both boards. This statement is unclear. The bill provides that the North Carolina Medical Board has responsibility for ensuring compliance with the rules. However, this provision appears to suggest that a pharmacist who wishes to be approved as a clinical pharmacist practitioner must be approved by the Medical Board and the Pharmacy Board.

- The North Carolina Medical Board has assigned an identification number to the practitioner that is shown on written prescriptions written by the clinical pharmacist practitioner. (The provisions relating to practitioners who work in hospitals do not include this provision.)
- The drug therapy management agreement prohibits the substitution of a chemically dissimilar drug product by the pharmacist without the explicit consent of the physician. The physician must periodically review the drugs modified or changed. The provision does not address review by the physician of laboratory tests ordered. (The provisions relating to practitioners who work in hospitals do not include a provision explicitly prohibiting the substitution of chemically dissimilar drugs.)

Subsection (c) of G.S. 20-18.3, as proposed in Section 3 of the bill, provides that clinical pharmacist practitioners that work in a hospital or similar type of facility may order medications and tests (the provisions for other clinical pharmacist practitioners use the phrase "implement predetermined drug therapy, modify prescribed drug dosages, dosage forms, and dosage schedules, and order laboratory tests") under the following circumstances:

- The North Carolina Medical Board and the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy have adopted rules governing the approval of individual clinical pharmacist practitioners to order medications and tests. (The provisions relating to clinical pharmacist practitioners use the phrase "to practice drug therapy management".)
- The clinical pharmacist practitioner has approval from both boards.
- The physician has provided to the clinical pharmacist practitioner written instructions for ordering, changing, or substituting drugs, or ordering tests and the physician reviews the orders within a reasonable time.
- The hospital or similar health facility has a written policy approved by the medical staff governing clinical pharmacist practitioners.
- Any drug therapy order or order for medications or tests written by a clinical pharmacist practitioner is deemed to be authorized by the physician. (The provisions that appear to govern clinical pharmacist practitioners who work outside a hospital or similar type of health facility do not provide that drug therapy orders, orders for modification of drugs, or orders for tests written by a clinical pharmacist practitioner are deemed to have been authorized by the physician.)

Sections 4 and 5 of the bill make conforming changes to the Pharmacy Practice Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 2 through 5 of this act become effective July 1, 2000. The remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the North Carolina Medical Board and the Board of Pharmacy to adopt rules to approve clinical pharmacist practitioners to practice drug therapy management pursuant to a drug therapy management agreement.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Based on the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy Census of Registrants, there are 6,405 active licensed pharmacists in North Carolina. The pharmacists are employed as follows:

Retail pharmacy	3,504
Hospital pharmacy	1,407
Sales and research	149
Nursing home pharmacy	134
Other	1,191

Dan Garrett, Executive Director of the North Carolina Association of Pharmacists, estimates 25% of hospital pharmacists and 5% of other pharmacists will apply for approval as clinical pharmacist practitioners the first year it is offered . That would equal 352 hospital pharmacists and 250 other pharmacists paying $100 in FY 2000-01. Over a five-year period, Mr. Garrett expects 50% of hospital pharmacists and 10% of other pharmacists to apply for approval with the Medical Board. On an annualized basis that would mean approximately 88 hospital pharmacists and 62 other pharmacists will apply in years FY 2001-02 through FY 2004-05. The fees from the application and renewal are shown below.

	Application	Fee $100	Renewal	Fee $50	Total

Section 3. G.S. 113-172(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The Secretary shall designate license agents for the Department. At least one license agent shall be designated for each county that contains or borders on coastal fishing waters. The Secretary may designate additional license agents in any county if the Secretary determines that additional agents are needed to provide efficient service to the public. The Division and license agents designated by the Secretary under this section shall issue licenses authorized under this Article in accordance with this Article and the rules of the Commission. The Secretary ~~shall~~ may require license agents to enter into a contract that provides for their duties and compensation, post a bond, and submit to reasonable inspections and audits. If a license agent violates any provision of this Article, the rules of the Commission, or the terms of the contract, the Secretary may initiate proceedings for the forfeiture of the license agent's bond and may summarily suspend, revoke, or refuse to renew a designation as a license agent and may impound or require the return of all licenses, moneys, record books, reports, license forms and other documents, ledgers, and materials pertinent or apparently pertinent to the license agency. SENATE BILL 249:

Core Sound Moratorium/Crab License

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Albertson
Date:	May 13, 1999	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorney
Version:	Second Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 249 extends the sunset on the moratorium on issuing shellfish cultivation leases in Core Sound to October 1, 2001; authorizes rather than requires the Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources to require fisheries license agents to post bonds; establishes an interim crab license, and clarifies the marine and estuarine resources exemption to the cruelty to animals statute.

SECTION BY SECTION BILL ANALYSIS

Section 1. Extension of the Core Sound Moratorium. – Under current law, there is a moratorium on the issuance of shellfish cultivation leases in Core Sound that is set to expire on July 1, 1999. The Division of Marine Fisheries (Division) is in the process of completing its shellfish mapping of Core Sound, which identifies shellfish density and habitat. A human use mapping project designed to facilitate a better understanding of user conflicts is also underway for Core Sound and is scheduled to be completed during the summer of 1999. In addition to these studies, the Division and the Marine Fisheries Commission are currently developing the Fishery Management Plan for Shellfish. The Division estimates that the Shellfish Fishery Management Plan will be completed during the fall of 2000. Senate Bill 249 would extend the moratorium on issuing shellfish cultivation leases in Core Sound from July 1, 1999 to October 1, 2001.

Section 2. Report on Core Sound Studies. – Senate Bill 249 requires the Division and the primary investigator to report on the shellfish and human-use mapping of Core Sound to the Joint Legislative Commission on Seafood and Aquaculture and the Marine Fisheries Commission no later than October 1, 1999.

Section 3. Fisheries License Agents. – Under current law, effective July 1, 1999, the Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources will be required to bond all license agents who sell marine fishing licenses. The Division is coordinating with the Wildlife Resources Commission (WRC) to use WRC license agents to sell the Division's Recreational Commercial Gear License. Current law does not require the bonding of WRC license agents. Section 3 of Senate Bill 249 would authorize the Secretary, rather than require the Secretary, to bond fisheries license agents.

Section 4. Interim Crab License. – Under current law, effective July 1, 1999, the existing license to take and sell crabs will expire and all holders of a Standard Commercial Fishing License will be able to participate in the crab fishery. The Marine Fisheries Commission has adopted a Fishery Management Plan for Blue Crab, but the Plan does not include provisions for the control of effort in the blue crab fishery. The Marine Fisheries Commission presented the Plan to the Joint Legislative Commission on Seafood and Aquaculture and the Environmental Review Commission and requested legislation to maintain the status quo for effort in the blue crab fishery while it developed an effort control strategy. The Joint Legislative Commission on Seafood and Aquaculture and the Environmental Review Commission took no action on this request.

Section 4 of Senate Bill 249 establishes an interim crab license that is effective from July 1, 1999 through October 1, 2000. Section 4 provides that during this period, only those persons who hold an interim crab license or work under the direction of a person who holds an interim crab license will be able to take and sell crabs. The specific provisions of the interim crab license are as follows:

- Eligibility. – Only those individuals who held a crab license at any time during the period July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1999 are eligible to receive an interim crab license. The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 249 adds to the eligibility provision the requirement that an individual must also hold an endorsement to sell fish on June 30, 1999, in order to be eligible to receive an interim crab license.
- Fees. – The fee for the interim crab license is $7.50 for North Carolina residents and $100.00 for nonresidents.
- Assignment and Transfer. – Assignment and transfer are prohibited.
- Exemption. – A person who is under 16 years of age is exempt from the license requirement if the person is accompanied by a parent, grandparent, or guardian who holds an interim crab license or if the person has in the person's possession an interim crab license issued to the person's parent, grandparent, or guardian.

The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 249 adds an authorization for the Marine Fisheries Commission to adopt rules that allow the landing and sale of crabs taken incidentally in the course of other commercial fishing operations.

Section 5. Marine Fisheries Exemption to the Cruelty to Animals Statute. – The Proposed Committee Substitute clarifies that the lawful taking of marine and estuarine resources (i) under the jurisdiction of the Marine Fisheries Commission or (ii) as authorized by federal law is exempt from the cruelty to animals statute.

Section 6. Effective Date. – Section 5 of this act becomes effective when this act becomes law. All other sections of this act become effective July 1, 1999. The interim crab license expires October 1, 2000.

Agency Receipts	$20,540

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) – Division of Marine Fisheries

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 4 (interim crab license) of the bill expires October 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill extends the moratorium on issuing shellfish cultivation leases in Core Sound, requires the Division of Marine Fisheries to report the results of shellfish mapping and human use mapping of Core Sound, authorizes the Secretary of DENR to require fisheries license agents to post bonds, and establishes an interim crab license.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
Section 4 of SB 249 has a fiscal impact of $20,540 in FY 99-00 by creating an interim crab license for the period July 1, 1999 to October 1, 2000. To be eligible for the interim crab license, a person has to have both a crab license issued between July 1, 1994 and June 30, 1999 and an endorsement to sell fish issued as of June 30, 1999. The Division of Marine Fisheries has determined that there are 2,712 individuals qualified for the $7.50 resident license and 2 persons qualified for the non-resident license. Since crab licenses were set to expire on July 1, 1999, this interim license is considered new revenue.

SENATE BILL 468:
Winston-Salem/Forsyth Assessments

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance Committee
Date: May 13, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Senator Horton
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 468 amends the city and county statutes to authorize the governing body to expand the exemption from assessments for corner lots when a project is undertaken along both sides of such lots. This is a local act applying only to the City of Winston-Salem, Forsyth County, the City/County Utility Commission of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, and any property served by these entities

CURRENT LAW: The statutes regarding corner lot exemptions for cities and counties authorize the respective governing body to establish schedules of exemptions from assessments for corner lots. These schedules of exemptions are based on categories of land use. The schedule for exemption may provide for exemption from assessments for corner lots of up to 75% of the frontage of any side of a corner lot, or 150 feet, whichever is greater

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 468 expands this exemption from assessments to include corner lots of up to 75% of the frontage of any side of a corner lot or 200 feet, whichever is greater. The bill makes a corresponding change to the statute regarding the counties' authority over corner lot exemptions, and clarifies that this act prevails over any conflicting provision in the private laws pertaining to Winston-Salem.

The act applies only to the City of Winston-Salem, Forsyth County, and the City/County Utility Commission of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, and to any property served by any of these entities.

The act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 33

Short Title: Cumberland Sales Tax for Schools. (Local)

Sponsors: Representatives Warner, Hurley, Kinney; and Yongue.

Referred to: Finance.

February 4, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CUMBERLAND COUNTY TO LEVY ONE-CENT LOCAL SALES AND USE TAXES FOR PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. This act applies to Cumberland County only.

Section 2. Subchapter VIII of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 44.

"Second One-Cent (1¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax.

"§ 105-525. Short title.

This Article is the Second One-Cent (1¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax Act.

"§ 105-526. Limitations.

This Article applies only to counties that levy the first one-cent (1¢) sales and use tax under Article 39 of this Chapter or under Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws, the first one-half cent (1/2¢) local sales and use tax under Article 40 of this Chapter, and the second one-half cent (1/2¢) local sales and use tax under Article 42 of this Chapter.

"§ 105-527. Levy of tax.

The board of commissioners of a county may, by resolution, levy one percent (1%) local sales and use taxes in addition to any other State and local sales and use taxes levied pursuant to law. Before adopting a resolution under this section, the board of commissioners must give at least 10 days' public notice of its intent to adopt the resolution and must hold a public hearing on the issue of adopting the resolution.

"§ 105-528. Administration of taxes.

Except as provided in this Article, the adoption, levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the additional taxes authorized by this Article shall be in accordance with Article 39 of this Chapter. In applying the provisions of Article 39 of this Chapter to this Article, references to 'this Article' mean 'Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes'.

A tax levied under this Article does not apply to the sales price of food that is not otherwise exempt from tax pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt from the State sales and use tax pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51.

"§ 105-529. Expiration.

A tax levied under this Article expires 10 years after the effective date of its levy. A county's authorization to levy a tax under this Article expires 10 years after the effective date of the first tax a county levies under this Article, even if the tax has not remained in effect for the entire 10-year period. The expiration of a tax pursuant to this Article does not affect the rights or liabilities of a county, a taxpayer, or another person arising under the expired tax; nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that would otherwise have been available under the expired tax before its expiration.

If the Secretary receives a valid request for a refund of a tax levied under this Article after the tax has expired and the net proceeds have been distributed, the Secretary shall draw the refund from the taxing county's share of the net proceeds of the tax it levies under Article 39 of this Chapter or under Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws, as applicable.

"§ 105-530. Distribution and use of taxes.

(a) Distribution. -- The Secretary shall, on a quarterly basis, distribute to each taxing county the net proceeds of the tax collected in that county under this Article. If the Secretary collects taxes under this Article in a month and the taxes cannot be identified as being attributable to a particular taxing county, the Secretary shall allocate these taxes among the taxing counties in proportion to the amount of taxes collected in each county under this Article in that month and shall include them in the quarterly distribution.

(b) Use. -- The proceeds of a tax levied under this Article may be used only for public school capital outlay purposes as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f) or to retire any indebtedness incurred by the county for these purposes after January 1, 1997."

Section 3. A tax levied under Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act, does not apply to construction materials purchased to fulfill a lump-sum or unit-price contract entered into or awarded before the effective date of the levy or entered into or awarded pursuant to a bid made before the effective date of the levy when the construction materials would otherwise be subject to the tax levied under Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

Section 4. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 33:
Cumberland Sales Tax for Schools

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: May 18, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Warner and Hurley
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 33 authorizes the Cumberland County Board of Commissioners to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax within the county. The net proceeds must be used for public school capital outlay purposes or to retire any indebtedness incurred by the county for those purposes after January 1, 1999. The tax, if enacted, will expire ten years after the effective date of its levy.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 33 authorizes the Cumberland County Board of Commissioners to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax within the county to be used for public school capital outlay purposes or to retire any indebtedness incurred by the county for these purposes after January 1, 1997. Public school capital outlay, as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f), is very broad. It includes expenditures for all of the following:

- Acquisition of real property for school purposes, including school sites, playgrounds, athletic fields, administrative headquarters, and garages.
- Acquisition, construction, reconstruction, enlargement, renovation, or replacement of buildings and other structures, such as classrooms, laboratories, libraries, auditoriums, gymnasiums, administrative offices, storage, and vehicle maintenance.
- Acquisition or replacement of furniture, instructional apparatus, data-processing equipment, and business machines.
- Acquisition of school buses as additions to the fleet.
- Acquisition of activity buses and other motor vehicles.

The board of county commissioners can levy the tax by adopting a resolution, after giving public notice of its intent to do so and holding a public hearing on the issue. The tax would apply to all items that are currently in the local sales and use tax base other than food that may be purchased with food stamps. Like the existing local sales taxes, the Department of Revenue will collect the tax. The net proceeds of the tax collected in the taxing county will be allocated to the county. This distribution is known as a point of collection or point of origin basis for distribution. The tax will expire 10 years after the effective date of the tax levy.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, all counties are authorized to levy a total of two cents local sales and use taxes. The net proceeds of the first one-cent tax are distributed to counties on a point of origin basis and the net proceeds of the two additional half-cent taxes are distributed to counties on a per capita basis. This per capita distribution is probably unconstitutional, although it has never been challenged in court. The amount distributed to each county is divided between the county and its municipalities, on either an ad valorem tax basis or a per capita basis, as chosen by the county. Local governments may use the first one-cent tax for any lawful purpose. Counties must use part of the proceeds of the two additional half-cent taxes for public school capital outlay.

The following chart summarizes the existing local option sales tax laws:

Tax	Date Authorized	Use	Distribution Method
1 cent	1967 for Mecklenburg & 1971 for all counties	Any lawful purpose	Point of collection
First ½ cent	1983	Part of county share earmarked for public school capital outlay. Part of city share formerly earmarked for water and sewer capital outlay	Per capita
Second ½ cent	1986	Part of county share earmarked for public school capital outlay. Part of city share formerly earmarked for water and sewer capital outlay	Per capita

Cumberland County	16.3	22.8	24.0	25.2	26.4

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Cumberland County Schools and the North Carolina Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Cumberland County Commission to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax. The Commission can approve such a tax levy through a resolution, once a public hearing is held. The additional tax does not apply to food. The bill also instructs the Department of Revenue to administer the tax, and forward the net proceeds to the county on a quarterly basis. The Secretary of Revenue can deduct from the quarterly payment the costs associated with administering the tax. Special provisions are made for certain contracts entered into or awarded before the effective date of the law or levy. The proceeds of the new tax must be used for public school capital outlays as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f) ,or to retire debt incurred by the county for school capital after January 1, 1997. The authority to levy the tax expires ten years after the effective tax of the tax.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Every county in the state currently levies a 1-% point of origin sales tax. (The tax is point of origin because the money raised in a particular county is returned to that county, or its point of origin). Historical reports from the Department of Revenue indicate the amount of revenue returned to each county, by quarter, from this tax. These numbers suggest what an individual county would raise through their own local tax.

Cumberland County, historically, has raised the following amounts through a 1-% sales tax (excluding food):

18,234,945	19,692,304	20,298,837	21,152,150	22,014,900

Assuming this revenue source continues to grow by 5% per year, income from the tax will be as follows:

1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
21,755,095	22,842,850	23,984,992	25,184,242	26,443,454

This note assumes that Cumberland County tax will not be collected until July 1, 1999. As such, the county will not see additional revenue until the second quarter of FY 1999-00. The actual amount shown as the fiscal estimate has been adjusted for this lag.

NOTE: The bill instructs the Secretary of Revenue to deduct the cost associated with administering the tax from the proceeds of the tax. This cost, however, has not been deducted from the estimate. The Department of Revenue is not prepared to offer an estimated cost at this time.

NOTE: The definition of capital outlays for schools, as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f) is very broad. While construction is certainly included, it appears the definition also includes capital equipment, the purchase of school buses, business machines, furnishings, equipment, cars, administrative buildings, etc.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA
SESSION 1999

SESSION LAW 1999-155
HOUSE BILL 665

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE CURRITUCK COUNTY ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 209 of the 1987 Session Laws, as amended by Chapter 155 of the 1991 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Occupancy tax. (a) Authorization and scope. The Currituck County Board of Commissioners may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or similar accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, or similar place within the county that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3), or from the rental of a campsite within the county. This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

(a1) Additional occupancy tax. In addition to the tax authorized by subsection (a) of this section, the Currituck County Board of Commissioners may levy a room occupancy tax of one percent (1%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of accommodations taxable under subsection (a). The levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the tax authorized by this subsection shall be in accordance with the provisions of this act. Currituck County may not levy a tax under this subsection unless it also levies the tax under subsection (a).

(b) A tax levied under this act shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 153A-155. The penalties provided in G.S. 153A-155 apply to a tax levied under this section.

~~Collection. Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied under this section shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the county. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The Currituck County Tax Collector shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the county the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax.~~

~~(c) Administration. The county shall administer a tax levied under this section. A tax levied under this section is due and payable to the county tax collector in monthly installments on or before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, prepare and render a return on~~

~~a form prescribed by the county. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A return filed with the county tax collector under this section is not a public record as defined by G.S. 132-1 and may not be disclosed except as required by law.~~

~~(d) Penalties. A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return required by this section shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day's omission. In case of failure or refusal to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after the time required for filing the return or for paying the tax, there shall be an additional tax, as a penalty, of five percent (5%) of the tax due in addition to any other penalty, with an additional tax of five percent (5%) for each additional month or fraction thereof until the tax is paid. Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade a tax imposed under this section or who willfully fails to pay the tax or make and file a return shall, in addition to all other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both. The Board of Commissioners may, for good cause shown, compromise or forgive the tax penalties imposed by this subsection.~~

(e) Use of tax revenue. Currituck County shall use at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the net proceeds of the tax levied under subsection (a) of this section only for tourist related purposes, including construction and maintenance of public facilities and buildings, garbage, refuse, and solid waste collection and disposal, police protection, and emergency services. The remainder of the net proceeds of the tax levied under subsection (a) shall be deposited in the Currituck County General Fund and may be used for any lawful purpose. Currituck County may use the net proceeds of the tax levied under subsection (a1) of this section, to the extent that they are needed, for capital costs, operation, and maintenance of the Currituck Wildlife Museum. Whatever is not needed for the capital costs, operation, and maintenance of the Currituck Wildlife Museum shall be used for tourist-related purposes. As used in this subsection, `net proceeds' means gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer.

~~(f) Effective date of levy. A tax levied under this section shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.~~

~~(g) Repeal. A tax levied under this section may be repealed by a resolution adopted by the Currituck County Board of Commissioners. Repeal of a tax levied under this section shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted. Repeal of a tax levied under this section does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal.~~"

Section 2. County Administrative Provisions. Section 3(b) of S.L. 1997-102, as amended by Section 2 of S.L. 1997-255, Section 2 of S.L. 1997-342, Section 3 of S.L. 1997-364, Section 6 of S.L. 1997-410, and Section 2 of S.L. 1998-14, reads as rewritten:

"(b) This section applies only to Avery, Brunswick, Currituck, Davie, Madison, Nash, Person, Randolph, and Scotland Counties."

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.
In the General Assembly read three times and ratified this the 7th day of June, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 665:
Modify Currituck Room Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: May 18, 1999
Version: PCS for 1st Edition H665-PCSRBX-1

Introduced by: Rep. Owens
Summary by: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 665 would conform the administrative provisions of the current room occupancy tax session law for Currituck County to the uniform occupancy tax provisions. The House Finance Subcommittee on Occupancy Taxes considered the bill and recommends the proposed committee substitute to the full Committee. Representative Jarrell chaired the Subcommittee. Representatives Dedmon, Gibson, Goodwin, and C. Wilson were members of the subcommittee.

HOUSE BILL 665: The original bill modified the penalty provisions of the Currituck County occupancy tax law. The current penalty for failure to file a return is $10 for each day's omission. In case of failure to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after it is due, the penalty is 5% of the tax due. The original bill provided that the $10 per day penalty would not apply if the return was filed within 10 business days or if no tax was due with the return. It also reduced the penalty equal to 5% of the tax due to 2% of the tax due. The proposed committee substitute provides that the uniform tax penalties will apply. The uniform occupancy tax penalties in G.S. 153A-155 are the same as the penalties for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The uniform penalty for failure to file a return is 5% of the amount of tax due, not to exceed 25% or $5, whichever is greater. The uniform penalty for failure to pay the tax due is 10% of the tax due or $5, whichever is greater.

The proposed committee substitute also conforms the current session law governing Currituck County occupancy taxes to the uniform occupancy tax provisions. Therefore, the levy, administration, collection, and repeal of the occupancy taxes must be done in accordance with G.S. 160A-215. These provisions are substantially the same as the ones in the current session law.

The General Assembly authorized Currituck County to levy a room occupancy tax in 1987. The occupancy tax rate is 4%. Seventy-five percent (75%) of the tax proceeds may be used for tourist related purposes and the remainder may be used for any public purposes. Under the 1987 local legislation, the term "tourist related purposes" is defined broadly. The Subcommittee discussed whether or not to conform the use of the revenue to the uniform use provisions. The Subcommittee decided against conforming the use provisions since the original legislation was enacted before the uniform provisions was considered.

UNIFORM PROVISIONS: Over the past several years, there has been a greater effort to make the occupancy taxes uniform. In 1993, a House Finance Committee subcommittee on occupancy taxes established several principles that have been applied to most of the occupancy tax bills in the House since that time. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted uniform municipal and county administrative provisions for occupancy tax legislation – G.S. 153A-155 and G.S. 160A-215. These provisions provide uniformity in the areas of levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties. The North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition has a policy statement for legislation authorizing local occupancy taxes. Many of the principles contained in its statement are similar to the ones established by the House Finance subcommittee in 1993.

Based upon the work detailed above, the House Finance Subcommittee on Occupancy Taxes created this year looked for the inclusion of the following uniform provisions in the occupancy tax bills its considered:

- Rate. – The county tax rate cannot exceed 6% and the city tax rate, when combined with the county rate, cannot exceed 6%.
- Use. – Two-thirds of the proceeds must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism-related purposes.
- Definitions. – The terms "net revenues" "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures" are defined terms.
- Administration. – The net revenues must be administered by a local tourism promotion agency that has the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be used, is created by a local ordinance, and at least ¾ of the members must be currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the taxing district and 1/3 of the members must be affiliated with organizations that collect the tax.
- Costs of Collection. – The taxing authority may retain from the revenues it actual costs of collection, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 collected each year plus 1% of the remainder collected each year.

(a) All moneys received through development of the Centennial Campus of North Carolina State University at Raleigh, from whatever source, including the net proceeds from the lease or rental of Centennial Campus real property, shall be placed in a special, continuing, and nonreverting trust fund having the sole and exclusive use for further development of the Centennial Campus, including its operational development. Section 6. G.S. 116-198.35 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-198.35. Issuance of bonds and bond anticipation notes.

The Board is hereby authorized to issue, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, at one time or from time to time, revenue bonds of the Board for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of acquiring, constructing, or providing any project or projects on the Centennial ~~Campus.~~ Campus or on the Horace Williams Campus. The bonds of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at such time or times not exceeding 40 years from their date or dates, shall bear interest at such rate or rates as may be determined by the Board, and may be redeemable before maturity, at the option of the Board, at such price or prices and under such terms and conditions as may be fixed by the Board prior to the issuance of the bonds. The Board shall determine the form and manner of execution of the bonds, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the bonds and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds, such signature or such facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if he had remained in office until such delivery. Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this Article or any recitals in any bonds issued under the provisions of this Article, all such bonds shall be deemed to be negotiable instruments under the laws of this State, subject only to the provisions for registration in any resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or any trust agreement securing the same. The bonds may be issued in coupon or registered form or both or as book-entry bonds, as the Board may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds of any bonds registered as to both principal and interest. The Board may sell such bonds in such manner, at public or private sale, and for such price, as it may determine to be for the best interests of the Board.

The proceeds of the bonds of each issue shall be used solely for the purpose for which such bonds shall have been authorized and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the Board may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or in the trust agreement hereinafter mentioned securing the same. Unless otherwise provided in the authorizing resolution or in the trust agreement securing such bonds, if the proceeds of such bonds, by error of estimates or otherwise, shall be less than such cost, additional bonds may in like manner be issued to provide the amount of such deficit and shall be deemed to be of the same issue and shall be entitled to payment from the same fund without preference or priority of the bonds first issued for the same purpose.

The resolution providing for the issuance of revenue bonds, and any trust agreement securing such bonds, may also contain such limitations upon the issuance of additional revenue bonds as the Board may deem proper, and such additional bonds shall be issued under such restrictions and limitations as may be prescribed by such resolution or trust agreement.

Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds, the Board may, under like restrictions, issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when such bonds shall have been executed and are available for delivery. The Board may also provide for the replacement of any bonds which shall become mutilated or be destroyed or lost.

Except as herein otherwise provided, bonds may be issued under this Article and other powers vested in the Board under this Article may be exercised by the Board without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by this Article.

The Board may enter into or negotiate a note with an acceptable bank or trust company in lieu of issuing bonds for the financing of projects covered under this section. The terms and conditions of any note of this nature shall be in accordance with the terms and conditions surrounding issuance of bonds.

The Board is hereby authorized to issue, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, at one time or from time to time, revenue bond anticipation notes of the Board in anticipation of the issuance of bonds authorized pursuant to the provisions of this Article. The principal of and the interest on such notes shall be payable solely from the proceeds of bonds or renewal notes, or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, any available revenues of the project or projects for which such bonds shall have been authorized. The notes of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at such time or times not exceeding two years from their date or dates, shall bear interest at such rate or rates as may be determined by the Board, and may be redeemable before maturity, at the option of the Board, at such price or prices and under such terms and conditions as may be fixed by the Board prior to the issuance of the notes. The Board shall determine the form and the manner of execution of the notes, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the notes and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any notes or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such notes, such signature or such facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if he had remained in office until such delivery. Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this Article or any recitals in any notes issued under the provisions of this Article, all such notes shall be deemed to be negotiable instruments under the laws of this State, subject only to the provisions for registration in any resolution authorizing the issuance of such notes or any trust agreement securing the bonds in anticipation of which such notes are being issued. The notes may be issued in coupon or registered form or both or as book entry notes, as the Board may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon notes as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon notes of any notes registered as to both principal and interest. The Board may sell such notes in such manner, at public or private sale, and for such price, as it may determine to be for the best interests of the Board.

The proceeds of the notes of each issue shall be used solely for the purpose for which the bonds in anticipation of which such notes are being issued shall have been authorized, and such note proceeds shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the Board may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of such notes or bonds or in the trust agreement securing such bonds.

The resolution providing for the issuance of notes, and any trust agreement securing the bonds in anticipation of which such notes are being authorized, may also contain such limitations upon the issuance of additional notes as the Board may deem proper, and such additional notes shall be issued under such restrictions and limitations as may be prescribed by such resolution or trust agreement. The Board may also provide for the replacement of any notes which shall become mutilated or be destroyed or lost.

Except as herein otherwise provided, notes may be issued under this Article and other powers vested in the Board under this Article may be exercised by the Board without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by this Article.

Unless the context shall otherwise indicate, the word "bonds" wherever used in this Article, shall be deemed and construed to include the words 'bond anticipation notes'."

Section 7. G.S. 116-198.37 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-198.37. Fixing fees, rents, and charges; sinking fund.

For the purpose of aiding in the acquisition, construction, or provision of any project and the maintenance, repair, and operation of any project or any existing facilities, the Board is authorized to fix, revise from time to time, charge, and collect such fee or fees for such privileges and services and in such amount or amounts as the Board shall determine, and to fix, revise from time to time, charge, and collect other fees, rents, and charges for the use of and for the services furnished or to be furnished by any project or projects and any existing facilities, or any portion thereof, and to contract with any person, partnership, association, or corporation for the lease, use, occupancy, or operation of any project or projects and any existing facilities, or any part thereof, and to fix the terms, conditions, fees, rents, and charges for any such lease, use, occupancy, or operation. So long as bonds issued hereunder and payable therefrom are outstanding, such fees, rents, and charges shall be so fixed and adjusted, with relation to other revenues available therefor, as to provide funds pursuant to the requirements of the resolution or trust agreement authorizing or securing such bonds at least sufficient with such other revenues, if any, (i) to pay the cost of maintaining, repairing, and operating any project or projects and any existing facilities any part of the revenues of which are pledged to the payment of the bonds issued for such project or projects, (ii) to pay the principal of and the interest on such bonds as the same shall become due and payable, and (iii) to create and maintain reserves for such purposes. Any surplus funds remaining after application to the purposes mentioned in (i), (ii), and (iii), above, shall be held in trust and applied by the Board to the development of the Centennial ~~Campus.~~ Campus or the Horace Williams Campus as applicable. Such fees, rents, and charges shall not be subject to supervision or regulation by any other commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State. A sufficient amount of the revenues, except such part thereof as may be necessary to pay such cost of maintenance, repair, and operation and to provide such reserves therefor and for renewals, replacements, extensions, enlargements, and improvements as may be provided for in the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or in the trust agreement securing the same, shall be set aside at such regular intervals as may be provided in such resolution or such trust agreement in a sinking fund which is hereby pledged to and charged with the payment of the principal of and the interest on such bonds as the same shall become due and the redemption price or the purchase price of bonds retired by call or purchase as therein provided. Such pledge shall be valid and binding from the time when the pledge is made; the fees, rents, and charges and other revenues or other moneys so pledged and thereafter received by the Board shall immediately be subject to the lien of such pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act; and the lien of any such pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against the Board, irrespective of whether such parties have notice thereof. Neither the resolution nor any trust agreement by which a pledge is created need be filed or recorded except in the records of the Board. The use and disposition of moneys to the credit of such sinking fund shall be subject to the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or of the trust agreement securing the same."

HOUSE BILL 1134:
UNC/Horace Williams Campus

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Insko
Date:	May 18, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1134 establishes the Horace Williams Campus. This campus will be associated with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. It is similar to the Centennial Campus, which is associated with North Carolina State University. The bill would become effective July 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: The General Assembly created the Centennial Campus at NC State University in 1987. The Campus brings together business and industry and academia. House Bill 1134 creates a similar campus at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill called the Horace Williams Campus. The Horace Williams Campus will consist of the property left to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill by the will of Henry Horace Williams. The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina may designate other properties as part of the Campus also.

The Board of Governors may issue revenue bonds to pay all or part of the cost of any project on the campus. The projects may include administration buildings, libraries, research or instructional facilities, roads, water, sewer, parking, and any other facilities related to the operation of the Campus. The bonds are payable from revenues derived from leases, rentals, charges, and fees. Neither the faith and credit of the State nor the taxing power of the State is pledged to the payment of the bonds. The Board is given the power to establish and collect fees, rents, and charges for the use of and for the services furnished by any project on the Campus. Rental agreements for space in buildings on the Campus for 10 years or less do not require the approval of the Governor and Council of State but are subject to approval by the Board of Governors.

The proceeds from all moneys received through the development of the Horace Williams Campus must be credited to a special, nonreverting trust fund. The money in the fund may be used only for the development of the Horace Williams Campus.

Much of the revenue generated from the Horace Williams Campus will come from the lease of office space to private industry. As a general rule, it is unlawful under the Umstead Act for the State to lease space in a building owned by the State for the purpose of operating a business. Section 9 of the bill exempts the Horace Williams Campus from the Umstead Act so that it may provide services to businesses that are ordinarily and customarily rendered by private enterprises.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATION: Last session, the General Assembly exempted certain real property transactions of the Centennial Campus from the payment of the State land service charge. The service charge may not exceed 10% of the gross amount received from the sale, lease, rental, other dispostion of State property. The revenue derived from the service charge is credited to the State Land Fund. The money in that fund is used to acquire State lands.

EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, UNC Board of Governors.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill has five primary effects. First, the legislation establishes the Horace Williams Campus Trust Fund. This fund is a special continuing, and nonreverting trust fund. Income placed in the Fund must be used for the development and operation of the Horace Williams Campus. Proceeds from the lease or rental of Horace Williams Campus property must be placed in the Fund. Second, the bill also authorizes the U.N.C. Board of Governors to issue revenue bonds to pay for campus facilities on the Horace Williams Campus. These bonds are to be paid out of fees, leases, rentals, and other sources. Taxes or the state's credit can not be pleaded for the bonds. Third, the bill defines the Horace Williams Campus as the real property left to the University by Mr. Williams, and all other real and incidental property the Board of Governors designates as a part of the campus. The properties do not have to be contiguous. Forth, it prohibits the collection of a service charge by the State Land Fund for the rental, lease, or easement of portions of the Horace Williams Campus. Fifth, it exempts the Horace Williams Campus from the state restriction on engaging directly or indirectly in the sale of goods. Finally, the bill makes conforming changes to create the same provisions for the U.N.C. Horace Williams Campus as are currently in effect for the Centennial Campus at North Carolina State University.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill creates a governing structure and operational restrictions for the Horace Williams Campus that are analogous to those of the Centennial Campus. As a result the bill has several potential area for fiscal impact.

Fund Creation

By creating a special Horace Williams Campus Fund the legislation moves potential revenue out of the normal University budgeting process. However, because the Fund is treated like an institutional trust fund (G.S. 116-198.33), it is subject to established review procedures. Moving this revenue stream off-budget will not impact University funding or the general fund. Monies deposited in the Fund will be drawn primarily from the leases and rental that are unlikely to occur without the legislation.

Revenue Bonds

The bill authorizes the Board of Governors to issue revenue bonds to pay for capital improvements to the Horace Williams Campus. Because neither tax money or state credit can be used to secure or pay off the bonds, there is no fiscal impact to the state.

Leases

The legislation authorizes the University officials to lease property to private developers without the approval of the Council of State. This is the same provision used to develop the Centennial Campus and should have no revenue or general fund impact.

State Land Fund

Section 4 of the bill exempts the William Horace Campus from paying a service charge to the State Land Fund for each of its lease, rental, or easement transactions. There is no fiscal impact from this change, because the Campus has never paid any fees to the Fund.

Property Tax

The bill has the potential to remove additional land and structures from the property tax rolls in Orange County if the UNC Board of Governors uses the power granted in the bill to expand the Horace Williams Campus to noncontiguous land not currently owned by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. However, under current law, the county could recoup its tax loss in several ways. First, if the Campus land is leased at below market value to a private firm, then the leased land can be taxed. Second, if a private firm leases land from the campus at market value and builds its own building, then Orange County may levy property tax only on the building and its furnishings and equipment. Third, if a private firm leases the land and building from the Campus, then only the furnishings and equipment will be subject to property tax.

(1) The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than three miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. Notwithstanding this subdivision, if an area proposed for annexation is located entirely within the same county as the annexing municipality and in an area that another city in that county has: (i) agreed not to annex, or (ii) has given the annexing city the right of annexation, under an agreement with the annexing city under Part 6 of this Article or similar local legislation authorizing such agreements, then this subdivision shall not apply.

(2) No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. Notwithstanding this subdivision, if an area proposed for annexation under this Part is either: (i) in an area that another city has agreed not to annex under an agreement with the annexing city under Part 6 of this Article or similar local legislation authorizing such agreements and the territory to be annexed is within the same county as the annexing city is located, or (ii) the closer city is located entirely within another county than the area being annexed, then the proximity to that other city shall not be considered in applying this subdivision.

(3) The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.

(4) If the area proposed for annexation, or any portion thereof, is a subdivision as defined in G.S. 160A-376, all of the subdivision which is located within the same county as the annexing municipality must be included.

(5) The area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city."

SENATE BILL 353:
Davidson Satellite Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance Committee
Date: May 13, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Sen. Odom
Summary by: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 353 authorizes the Town of Davidson to make certain voluntary satellite annexations that it would not otherwise be able to make. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 160A-58.1 governs the voluntary annexation of noncontiguous property. Property owners may petition a city for voluntary annexation of noncontiguous property if the property meets all of the following standards.

1. The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than 3 miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
2. No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
3. The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.
4. If the area proposed for annexation is a subdivision, all of the subdivision must be included.
5. The area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 353 modifies the first, second, and fourth standards for the Town of Davidson so that it may annex property that meets the following standards:

1. The proposed area to be annexed may be more than 3 miles from the primary corporate limits of Davidson if it is located within the same county as Davidson and another city has agreed not to annex the area or has agreed to give Davidson the right to annex.
2. The proposed area to be annexed may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the limits of Davidson if either the other city has agreed not to annex the proposed area and the area is within the same county as Davidson or the closer city is located entirely within another county than the proposed area being annexed.
3. If the proposed area to be annexed includes a subdivision or a portion of a subdivision, then only that portion of the subdivision located in the same county as Davidson must be included in the annexation.

The bill does not release the proposed satellite annexation from meeting the other two standards listed in G.S. 160A-58.1(b).

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF CORNELIUS TO PROVIDE FOR VOLUNTARY ANNEXATION OF PROPERTY SUBJECT TO PRESENT-USE VALUE APPRAISAL.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 160A-31 is amended by adding new subsections to read:

"(e1) Notwithstanding subsection (e) of this section, an annexation becomes effective as to the property pursuant to subsection (e2) if an area described in the annexation petition and ordinance includes agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland, that on the effective date of annexation is:

(1) Land that is being taxed at present-use value pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4; or

(2) Land that:

a. Was on the date of the filing of the petition for annexation being used for actual production and is eligible for present-use value taxation under G.S. 105-277.4, but the land has not been in use for actual production for the required time under G.S. 105-277.3; and

b. The assessor for the county where the land subject to annexation is located has certified to the city that the land meets the requirements of this subdivision.

(e2) Annexation of property subject to annexation under subsection (e1) of this section shall become effective as to each tract of such property or such part thereof on the last day of the month in which that tract or part thereof becomes ineligible for classification pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4 and no longer meets the requirements of subdivision (e1)(2) of this section. Until annexation of a tract or a part of a tract becomes effective pursuant to this subsection, the tract or part of a tract is not subject to taxation by the city under Article 12 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, nor is the tract or part of the tract entitled to services provided by the city. When annexation becomes effective pursuant to this subsection as to a tract or part of a tract, the city shall provide all required services upon payment of city taxes.

(e3) The boundaries of the property prior to the effective date under subsection (e2) of this section shall be considered as primary corporate limits only (i) for the purpose of establishing city boundaries for additional annexations pursuant to this Article and (ii) for the exercise of city authority pursuant to Article 19 of this Chapter."

SENATE BILL 712:
Cornelius Voluntary Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Odom
Date:	May 13, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 712 would allow the Town of Cornelius to annex property subject to present use value classification upon a petition of the property owners. Unlike general law, this bill would allow the annexation to become effective at whatever point in time the property becomes ineligible for present use value classification. However, for purposes of the Town's extraterritorial jurisdiction and other annexing proceedings, the property would be considered part of the Town's primary corporate limits. The act becomes effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: The law provides that a municipality may annex by ordinance any area contiguous to its boundaries upon presentation to the governing board of a petition signed by the owners of all the real property located in the area. The annexation must become effective within six months from the date of the passage of the ordinance. From and after the effective date of the ordinance, the property becomes subject to municipal taxes and the municipality must offer the area the same privileges and benefits as received by other parts of the municipality.

A municipality may annex property that is not contiguous with its primary corporate limits if five different standards are met. Two of the five standards concern the proximity of the property proposed to be annexed to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. One of the five standards provides that the area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, does not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

A municipality may annex property involuntarily if several different requirements are met. One of the requirements concerns the location of the property in relationship to the municipality's existing corporate boundaries: the area proposed to be annexed must be adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries and at least 1/8 of the aggregate external boundaries of the area must coincide with the municipal boundary.

Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes allows a municipality to enact zoning restrictions within its corporate limits. In addition, any municipality may exercise these same powers within a defined area extending not more than one mile beyond its limits. This is commonly known as the municipality's extraterritorial jurisdiction (ETJ). With the approval of the board of county commissioners, a municipality with a population greater than 10,000 but less than 25,000 may expand its ETJ to two miles beyond its corporate limits, and a municipality with a population of 25,000 or more may expand its ETJ to three miles beyond its corporate limits.

Article V, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution authorizes the General Assembly to classify property for taxation, so long as the classification is uniform throughout the State. In 1973, the General Assembly classified agricultural land, forestland, and horticultural land as a special class of property. To come within the classification, the property must meet certain ownership, usage, and income requirements. If the property comes within the classification, it is taxed on its present-use value as opposed to its true value. Present-use value is the value of the land in its current use as farmland.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 712 would change the current law concerning annexation by petition for the Town of Cornelius. Under the bill, the effective date of an annexation ordinance could be at an indeterminable point in time in the future, as opposed to within six months after the passage of the annexation ordinance. The property in the annexation petition would not be subject to municipal taxes nor would it be entitled to municipal service until the effective date of the annexation. However, the property would be considered part of the municipality's primary corporate limits as of the effective date of the ordinance for purposes of establishing the Town's boundaries for additional annexations and its ETJ.

To come within the exception created by this local act, the property must be one of two types of property:

- It must be currently classified as farmland and taxed at its present-use value.
- It must be land that, on the date of the filing of the annexation petition, is being used for farm purposes and is eligible for the present-use value taxation except that it has not been in use for actual production for the required statutory time. The county tax assessor must certify that the land meets this requirement.

Annexation of the present-use value property described above becomes effective on the last day of the month in which the property no longer meets the above descriptions. Prior to the effective date of annexation, the boundaries of this property would be considered in establishing the primary corporate limits of Cornelius for the purposes of additional annexations and the Town's ETJ limits.

If the property in the annexation ordinance was determined to be part of the Town's corporate limits for all purposes on the date the ordinance was adopted, then the bill would probably be considered unconstitutional because it is a local classification of property for purposes of taxation. Such local, non-uniform, classifications of property are prohibited by Article V, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution. The classification that would be created by the local act is the exemption from municipal property taxes in the Town of Cornelius of present-use value property. However, if the bill was seen as creating a condition precedent to annexation, then the bill would probably withstand constitutional challenge. The condition precedent to annexation established in the bill is the taxable status of certain land – when the property currently classified as farmland no longer meets that property tax classification.

The House Finance Committee passed a similar bill this session for the town of Huntersville, Senate Bill 270.

Martha Walston, Senate Finance Committee Counsel, contributed to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: County and City Governments and the North Carolina Department of Revenue, Property Tax Division.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation increases both the income eligibility and the exemption amount of the Homestead exemption to property taxes. The bill increases the income threshold to $25,000 and the exemption level to $25,000. Currently the income level is $15,000 with $20,000 of property exempted for those that qualify. The State will reimburse county and city governments for 100% of the loss associated with this change.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Homestead Exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is aged 65 or older, or totally disabled, and who has an income of less than $15,000. The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000 effective July 1, 1997. Before then the exemption was last increased in 1993 from $12,000 to $15,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000. Before then the income threshold had last been increased in 1987, when it was increased from $10,000 to $11,000.

The bill increases the Homestead Property Tax Exemption amount for the elderly and disabled from $20,000 to $25,000 and increases the income eligibility threshold from $15,000 to $25,000. It also directs the Department of Revenue to reimburse the counties for 100% of the resulting loss.

The current annual cost of the Homestead Exemption program is approximately $27 million. That cost is divided between the state and the counties. History indicates that approximately 80% of the total cost is related to the property exemption and 20% is related to the income requirement. The proposed act increases the value of exempt property 25% and increases the income threshold 66.7%. If 80% of the cost or $21.6 million is devoted to exempt property, then a 25% increase in the exemption equals $(5.4) million. If 20% of the cost of the program is devoted to the income threshold or $5.4 million, then a 66.7% increase in the threshold equals ($3.6) million. Thus the total cost of the bill is $9 million. The State will reimburse the counties for all of the resulting loss, or $9.0 million.

It also directs the Department of Revenue to reimburse the counties for 50% of the resulting loss. As a result, half of the cost is borne by the State, while local governments pay the balance.

HOUSE BILL 1480:
Increase Homestead Exemption

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miller
Date:	May 19, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1480-CSLC-5/17		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1480 would expand the homestead exemption amount from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility amount from $15,000 to $25,000, effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000. Under the bill, the State would reimburse the counties and cities 100% of the loss they incur as a result of these tax law changes. The bill would become effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: The homestead exemption is a partial exemption from property taxes for the residence of a person who is either aged 65 or older or totally disabled and has an income of less than $15,000. The current exemption amount is $20,000. The exemption amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $15,000 to $20,000. The income eligibility amount was last increased in 1996, when it was increased from $11,000 to $15,000. The income used to determine the income eligibility amount includes moneys received from every source other than gifts or inheritances received from a spouse, lineal ancestor, or lineal descendant. For married applicants residing with their spouses, the income of both spouses is included, whether or not the property is in both names.

Prior to 1987, local governments absorbed most of the cost of the homestead exemption. From 1987 to 1991, the State reimbursed counties and cities for 50% of their losses from the homestead exemption. In 1991, the General Assembly froze the amount of reimbursements made to local governments to the amount each city and county was entitled to receive in 1991. That amount is approximately $7.9 million. No additional reimbursement was provided when the exemption amount was increased in 1993. The State reimbursed counties and cities for 50% of the loss they incurred for two years when the exemption amount and the income eligibility amount were increased in 1996.

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1480 would increase the homestead exemption amount from $20,000 to $25,000 and increase the income eligibility amount from $15,000 to $25,000, effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000. The revenue loss associated with this bill would be borne by the State.

(a) Tiers Defined. -- An enterprise tier one area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the 10 highest in the State. An enterprise tier two area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 15 highest in the State. (1) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by average rate of unemployment from lowest to highest, for the preceding three years.
(2) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by average per capita income from highest to lowest, for the preceding three years.
(3) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by percentage growth in population from highest to lowest.

The Secretary of Commerce shall then rank all the counties within the State according to their enterprise factor from highest to lowest, identify all the areas of the State by enterprise tier, and provide this information to the Secretary of Revenue. An enterprise tier designation is effective only for the calendar year following the designation.

(b1) Data. -- In measuring rates of unemployment and per capita income, the Secretary shall use the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data. In measuring population and population growth, the Secretary shall use the most recent estimates of population certified by the State Planning Officer.

(c) Exception for Enterprise Tier One Areas. -- Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, an enterprise tier one area may not be redesignated as a higher-numbered enterprise tier area until it has been an enterprise tier one area for at least two consecutive years.

(d) Exception for Two-County Industrial Park. -- For the purpose of this Article, an eligible two-county industrial park that meets all of the following conditions has the lower enterprise tier designation of the designations of the two counties in which it is located:

(1) It is located in two contiguous counties, one of which has a lower enterprise tier designation than the other.
(2) At least one-third of the park is located in the county with the lower tier designation.
(3) It is owned by the two counties or a joint agency of the counties.
(4) The county with the lower tier designation contributed at least one-half of the cost of developing the park.

(e) Exception for Small, High-Poverty Counties. -- A county that meets both of the conditions set out below has an enterprise tier designation one level below the designation it would otherwise have under subsection (a) of this section:

(1) Its population is less than 50,000.
(2) More than eighteen percent (18%) of its population is below the federal poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

(f) Exception for Small Counties. -- A county that has a population of less than 25,000 and that would otherwise be designated an enterprise four or five area under this section, must be designated an enterprise tier three area.

"§ 105-129.3A. Development zone designation.

(a) Development Zone Defined. -- A development zone is an area comprised of one or more contiguous census tracts, census block groups, or both in the most recent federal decennial census that meets all of the following conditions:

(1) ~~It~~ Every census tract and census block group in the zone is located in whole or in part ~~in~~ within the primary corporate limits of a city with a population of more than 5,000 according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Planning Officer.

(3) More than twenty percent (20%) of its population is below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

(4) Every census tract and census block group in the zone meets at least one of the following conditions:

a. More than ten percent (10%) of its population is below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

b. It is immediately adjacent to another census tract or census block group that is in the same zone and has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

(5) None of the census tracts or census block groups in the zone is located in another development zone designated by the Secretary of Commerce.

(b) Designation. -- Upon request of a taxpayer or a local government, the Secretary of Commerce shall designate whether an area is a development zone that meets the conditions of subsection (a) of this section. If the applicant is a taxpayer, it must notify each city in which part of the zone is located. A development zone designation is effective for ~~48~~ 24 months following the designation.

(c) Relationship With Enterprise Tiers. -- For the purpose of the wage standard requirement of G.S. 105-129.3(b), the credit for investing in machinery and equipment allowed in G.S. 105-129.9, and the credit for worker training allowed in G.S. 105-129.11, a development zone is considered an enterprise tier one area. For all other purposes, a development zone has the same enterprise tier designation as the county in which it is located.

"§ 105-129.4. Eligibility; forfeiture.

(a) Type of Business. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed by G.S. 105-129.12 if the real property for which the credit is claimed is used for a central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits allowed by this Article if the taxpayer engages in one of the following types of businesses and the jobs with respect to which a credit is claimed are created in that business, the machinery and equipment with respect to which a credit is claimed are used in that business, and the research and development for which a credit is claimed are carried out as part of that business:

(1) Air courier services.
(2) Central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs.
(3) Data processing.
(4) Manufacturing.
(5) ~~Warehousing or wholesale trade.~~ Warehousing.
(6) Wholesale trade.
(7) Customer service center located in an enterprise tier one or two area.

(a1) Central Administrative Office. -- A central administrative office creates at least 40 new jobs if the taxpayer hires at least 40 additional full-time employees to fill new positions at the office either in the year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office or in the preceding 24 months while using temporary space for the central administrative office functions during completion of the administrative office property. Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State are not considered new jobs for purposes of this subsection.

(b) Wage Standard. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if the jobs for which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central administrative office if the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State.

(b1) Large Investment. -- A taxpayer who is otherwise eligible for a tax credit under this Article becomes eligible for the large investment enhancements provided for credits under this Article if the Secretary of Commerce certifies that the taxpayer will purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central administrative office property. If the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified within this two-year period, the taxpayer forfeits the large investment enhancements as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(b2) Health Insurance. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit for creating jobs or for worker training under this Article if the taxpayer provides health insurance for the positions for which the credit is claimed at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits under this Article if the taxpayer provides health insurance for all of the full-time positions at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health insurance if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125.

Each year that a taxpayer claims an installment or carryforward of a credit allowed under this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the taxpayer's certification that the taxpayer continues to provide health insurance for the jobs for which the credit was claimed or the full-time jobs at the location with respect to which the credit was claimed. If the taxpayer ceases to provide health insurance for the jobs during a taxable year, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment or carryforward of the credit.

(b3) Environmental Impact. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer certifies that, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the taxpayer has not had and does not reasonably expect to have a materially adverse effect on the environment at the business location with respect to which the credit is claimed. The Secretary of Commerce will provide the Department of Environment and Natural Resources a list of all taxpayers making this certification. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources may conduct random audit checks to verify taxpayers' certifications. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources must notify the Department of Revenue of any taxpayer certifications it determines are not accurate.

(b4) Safety and Health Programs. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer certifies that, as of the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, at the business location with respect to which the credit is claimed, the taxpayer has no outstanding citations under the Occupational Safety and Health Act and has had no serious violation as defined in G.S. 95-127 within the last three years. The Secretary of Commerce will provide the Department of Labor a list of all taxpayers making this certification. The Department of Labor may conduct random audit checks to verify taxpayers' certifications. The Department of Labor must notify the Department of Revenue of any taxpayer certifications it determines are not accurate.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-55, s. 1.

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

(2) The business was required to file a notice of plant closing or mass layoff under the federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2102, before it was acquired.

(3) The business was acquired by its employees through an employee stock option transaction or another similar mechanism.

(f) Development Zone Project Credit. -- Subsections (a) through (b4) of this section do not apply to the credit for development zone projects provided in G.S. 105-129.13.

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this ~~Chapter and~~ Chapter, the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this ~~Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against~~ Chapter, and the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. In addition, the application must state the number of jobs to be created that are located within a development zone, the number of jobs to be created that are expected to be filled by employees residing within the development zone, and the number of jobs to be created that are expected to be filled by employees residing within a census tract or census block group that has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee ~~of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.~~ of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each credit the taxpayer intends to claim with respect to a location that is in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area, subject to a maximum fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per taxpayer per taxable year. If the taxpayer applies for certification for a credit that relates to locations in more than one enterprise tier area, the fee is based on the highest-numbered enterprise tier area.

The Secretary of Commerce shall retain one-fourth of the proceeds of the fee imposed in this section for the costs of administering this section. The Secretary of Commerce shall credit the remaining proceeds of the fee imposed in this section to the Department of Revenue for the costs of administering and auditing the credits allowed in this Article. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the Department to which they are credited.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.

(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

(4) The number of new jobs created within development zones, and the percentage of those jobs that were filled by residents of the zones.

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.8. Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

"§ 105-129.9. Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if it is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms "qualified research expenses" and "base amount" have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-228.90(b), as used in this section, the term "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code as enacted as of January 1, 1999.

"§ 105-129.11. Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

"§ 105-129.13. Credit for development zone projects.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who contributes cash or property to a development zone agency for an improvement project in a development zone is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of the contribution. A contribution is for an improvement project for the purposes of this section if the agency receiving the contribution contracts in writing to use the contribution for the project and agrees in the contract to repay to the taxpayer, with interest, any part of the contribution not used for the project. The credit may not be taken for the year in which the contribution is made but must be taken for the taxable year beginning during the calendar year in which the application for the credit becomes effective as provided in this section.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Community development corporation. -- A nonprofit corporation that meets all of the following conditions:

a. It is chartered pursuant to Chapter 55A of the General Statutes and is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

b. Its primary mission is to develop and improve low-income communities and neighborhoods through economic and related development.

c. Its activities and decisions are initiated, managed, and controlled by the constituents of those local communities.

d. Its primary function is to act as deal maker and packager of projects and activities that will increase its constituency's opportunities to become owners, managers, and producers of small businesses, to obtain affordable housing, and to obtain jobs designed to produce positive cash flow and curb blight in the targeted community.

(2) Control. -- A person controls an entity if the person owns, directly or indirectly, more than ten percent (10%) of the voting securities of that entity. As used in this subdivision, the term 'voting security' means a security that (i) confers upon the holder the right to vote for the election of members of the board of directors or similar governing body of the business or (ii) is convertible into, or entitles the holder to receive upon its exercise, a security that confers such a right to vote. A general partnership interest is a voting security.

(3) Development zone agency. -- Any of the following agencies that the Department of Commerce certifies will undertake an improvement project in a development zone:

a. A community-based development organization qualified under 24 C.F.R. § 570.204 to receive community development block grant funds under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 5301, et seq., to carry out a neighborhood revitalization project, a community economic development project, or an energy conservation project.

b. A community action agency that has been officially designated as such pursuant to section 210 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, Public Law 88-452, 78 Stat. 508 and which has not lost its designation as a result of a failure to comply with the provisions of that act.

c. A community development corporation.

d. A community development financial institution certified by the United States Department of the Treasury under the Community Development Banking and Financial Institutions Act of 1994, 12 U.S.C. § 4701, et seq.

e. A community housing development organization qualified under the HOME Investment Partnerships Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 12701, 12704, and 24 C.F.R. § 92.2.

f. A local housing authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 157 of the General Statutes.

(4) Improvement project. -- A project to construct or improve residential, commercial, or public real property located in a development zone. The term includes services provided by a development zone agency directly related to the construction or improvement, and project development fees charged by a developer for the construction or improvement.

(c) Certification. -- The Secretary of Commerce shall not certify a development zone agency under this section if the agency, any of the agency's officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used any part of a contribution made under this section for any purpose other than an improvement project.

(d) Limitations. -- A taxpayer who claims a credit under this subsection must identify in the application the development zone agencies to which the taxpayer made contributions and the amount contributed to each. No credit is allowed for a contribution if the taxpayer is related to the development zone agency as defined in section 1313 of the Code or if the taxpayer controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with an affiliate of the development zone agency. No credit is allowed to the extent the taxpayer receives anything of value in exchange for the contribution.

(e) Application. -- To be eligible for the tax credit provided in this section, in addition to the application required under G.S. 105-129.6, the taxpayer must file an application for the credit with the Secretary of Revenue on or before April 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. The Secretary may grant extensions of this deadline, as the Secretary finds appropriate, upon the request of the taxpayer, except that the application may not be filed after September 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. An application is effective for the year in which it is timely filed. The application must be on a form prescribed by the Secretary and must include any supporting documentation that the Secretary may require. If a contribution for which a credit is applied for was of property rather than cash, the taxpayer must include with the application a certified appraisal of the value of the property contributed.

(f) Ceiling. -- The total amount of all tax credits allowed to taxpayers under this section for contributions made in a calendar year may not exceed four million dollars ($4,000,000). The Secretary of Revenue must calculate the total amount of tax credits claimed from the applications filed under this section. If the total amount of tax credits claimed for contributions made in a calendar year exceeds four million dollars ($4,000,000), the Secretary must allow a portion of the credits claimed by allocating a total of four million dollars ($4,000,000) in tax credits in proportion to the size of the credit claimed by each taxpayer. If a credit is reduced pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary must notify the taxpayer of the amount of the reduction of the credit on or before December 31 of the year the application was filed. The Secretary's allocations based on applications filed pursuant to this section are final and will not be adjusted to account for credits applied for but not claimed.

(g) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this section to the extent the development zone agency uses the taxpayer's contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project. Each development zone agency certified by the Department of Commerce must file with the Department of Commerce annual financial statements audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with Government Audit Standards developed by the Comptroller General of the United States. The annual statements are required each time the agency receives a contribution eligible for the credit allowed under this section until the entire contribution has been used for improvement projects. If the Department of Commerce determines that a development zone agency has used part or all of a contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project, the Department must notify the Secretary of Revenue of the forfeiture, the taxpayer who made the contribution, and the amount forfeited."

PART III. AFFORDABLE HOUSING TAX CREDIT

Section 10. The title of Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"ARTICLE 3B.

"Business Tax ~~Credit.~~ Credits."

Section 11. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-129.16A. Credit for low-income housing.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that is allowed for the taxable year a federal income tax credit for low-income housing under section 42 of the Code with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, is allowed a credit under this Article equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the total federal credit allowed during the 10-year federal credit period with respect to that building. The credit must be taken in equal installments over the five years beginning in the first taxable year in which the federal credit is claimed for that building.

(b) Definitions. -- The definitions in section 42 of the Code apply in this section. In addition, as used in this section the term 'qualified North Carolina low-income building' means a qualified low-income building that meets any of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier one or two enterprise area, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3, or is a development zone, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3A.

(2) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier three or four enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is fifty percent (50%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(3) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier five enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is thirty-five percent (35%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the five years in which an installment of the credit under this section accrues, the taxpayer is no longer eligible for the corresponding federal credit with respect to the same qualified North Carolina low-income building, then the credit under this section expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(d) Forfeiture. -- If the taxpayer is required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit under that section with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, the taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section with respect to that qualified North Carolina low-income building. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

Section 12. Reserved.

Section 13. G.S. 105-129.17 reads as rewritten:

Any carryforwards of ~~the~~ a credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The ~~credit~~ total credits allowed in this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which ~~it is~~ they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the ~~credit~~ credits may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 14. G.S. 105-129.18 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim the ~~credit~~ credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection."

Section 15. G.S. 105-129.19 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

The Department of Revenue shall report to the Legislative Research Commission and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

"§ 105-129.4. Eligibility; forfeiture.

(a) Type of Business. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed by G.S. 105-129.12 if the real property for which the credit is claimed is used for a central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits allowed by this Article if the taxpayer engages in one of the following types of businesses and the jobs with respect to which a credit is claimed are created in that business, the machinery and equipment with respect to which a credit is claimed are used in that business, and the research and development for which a credit is claimed are carried out as part of that business:

(2) Central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs.
(3) Data processing.
(4) Manufacturing.
(5) Warehousing or wholesale trade.
(6) Customer service center located in an enterprise tier one or two area.

(a1) Central Administrative Office. -- A central administrative office creates at least 40 new jobs if the taxpayer hires at least 40 additional full-time employees to fill new positions at the office either in the year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office or in the preceding 24 months while using temporary space for the central administrative office functions during completion of the administrative office property. Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State are not considered new jobs for purposes of this subsection.

(b) Wage Standard. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if the jobs for which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central administrative office if the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State.

(b1) Large Investment. -- A taxpayer who is otherwise eligible for a tax credit under this Article becomes eligible for the large investment enhancements provided for credits under this Article if the Secretary of Commerce certifies that the taxpayer will purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central administrative office property. If the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified within this two-year period, the taxpayer forfeits the large investment enhancements as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(b2) Health Insurance. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit for creating jobs or for worker training under this Article if the taxpayer provides health insurance for the positions for which the credit is claimed at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits under this Article if the taxpayer provides health insurance for all of the full-time positions at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health insurance if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125.

Each year that a taxpayer claims an installment or carryforward of a credit allowed under this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the taxpayer's certification that the taxpayer continues to provide health insurance for the jobs for which the credit was claimed or the full-time jobs at the location with respect to which the credit was claimed. If the taxpayer ceases to provide health insurance for the jobs during a taxable year, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment or carryforward of the credit.

(b3) Environmental Impact. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer has obtained a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that the business location with respect to which the credit is claimed has not had and will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment.

(b4) Safety and Health Programs. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer has obtained a certification from the Department of Labor that, at the business location with respect to which the credit is claimed, the taxpayer has established and implemented a safety and health program in compliance with the requirements of G.S. 95-251.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-55, s. 1.

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

(2) The business was required to file a notice of plant closing or mass layoff under the federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2102, before it was acquired.

(3) The business was acquired by its employees through an employee stock option transaction or another similar mechanism.

(f) Development Zone Project Credit. -- Subsections (a) through (b4) of this section to not apply to the credit for development zone projects.

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this ~~Chapter and~~ Chapter, the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this ~~Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against~~ Chapter, and the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. In addition, the application must state the number of jobs to be created that are located within a development zone, the number of jobs to be created that will be filled by employees residing within the development zone, and the number of jobs to be created that will be filled by employees residing within a census tract or census block group that has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee ~~of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.~~ of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each credit the taxpayer intends to claim with respect to a location that is in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area, subject to a maximum fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per taxpayer per taxable year. If the taxpayer applies for certification for a credit that relates to locations in more than one enterprise tier area, the fee is based on the highest-numbered enterprise tier area.

The Secretary of Commerce shall retain one-fourth of the proceeds of the fee imposed in this section for the costs of administering this section. The Secretary of Commerce shall credit the remaining proceeds of the fee imposed in this section to the Department of Revenue for the costs of administering and auditing the credits allowed in this Article. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the Department to which they are credited.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.

(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

(4) The number of new jobs created within development zones, and the percentage of those jobs that were filled by residents of the zones.

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.8. Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3 for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1996.

"§ 105-129.9. Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if it is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms "qualified research expenses" and "base amount" have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-228.90(b), as used in this section, the term "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code as enacted as of January 1, 1999.

"§ 105-129.11. Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

"§ 105-129.13. Credit for development zone projects.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who contributes cash or property to a development zone agency for an improvement project in a development zone is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of the contribution. A contribution is for an improvement project for the purposes of this section if the agency receiving the contribution contracts in writing to use the contribution for the project and agrees in the contract to repay to the taxpayer, with interest, any part of the contribution not used for the project. The credit may not be taken for the year in which the contribution is made but must be taken for the taxable year beginning during the calendar year in which the application for the credit becomes effective as provided in this section.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Community development corporation. -- A nonprofit corporation that meets all of the following conditions:

a. It is chartered pursuant to Chapter 55A of the General Statutes and is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

b. Its primary mission is to develop and improve low-income communities and neighborhoods through economic and related development.

c. Its activities and decisions are initiated, managed, and controlled by the constituents of those local communities.

d. Its primary function is to act as deal maker and packager of projects and activities that will increase its constituency's opportunities to become owners, managers, and producers of small businesses, to obtain affordable housing, and to obtain jobs designed to produce positive cash flow and curb blight in the targeted community.

(2) Control. -- A person controls an entity if the person owns, directly or indirectly, more than ten percent (10%) of the voting securities of that entity. As used in this subdivision, the term 'voting security' means a security that (i) confers upon the holder the right to vote for the election of members of the board of directors or similar governing body of the business or (ii) is convertible into, or entitles the holder to receive upon its exercise, a security that confers such a right to vote. A general partnership interest is a voting security.

(3) Development zone agency. -- Any of the following agencies that the Department of Commerce certifies will undertake an improvement project in a development zone:

a. A community development corporation.

b. A community development financial institution certified by the United States Department of the Treasury under the Community Development Banking and Financial Institutions Act of 1994, 12 U.S.C. § 4701, et seq.

c. A local housing authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 157 of the General Statutes.

(4) Improvement project. -- A project to construct or improve residential, commercial, or public real property located in a development zone. The term includes services provided by a development zone agency directly related to the construction or improvement, and project development fees charged by a developer for the construction or improvement.

(c) Certification. -- The Secretary of Commerce shall not certify a development zone agency under this section if the agency, any of the agency's officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used any part of a contribution made under this section for any purpose other than an improvement project.

(d) Limitations. -- A taxpayer who claims a credit under this subsection must identify in the application the development zone agencies to which the taxpayer made contributions and the amount contributed to each. No credit is allowed for a contribution if the taxpayer is related to the development zone agency as defined in section 1313 of the Code or if the taxpayer controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with an affiliate of the development zone agency. No credit is allowed to the extent the taxpayer receives anything of value in exchange for the contribution.

(e) Application. -- To be eligible for the tax credit provided in this section, in addition to the application required under G.S. 105-129.6, the taxpayer must file an application for the credit with the Secretary of Revenue on or before April 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. The Secretary may grant extensions of this deadline, as the Secretary finds appropriate, upon the request of the taxpayer, except that the application may not be filed after September 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. An application is effective for the year in which it is timely filed. The application must be on a form prescribed by the Secretary and must include any supporting documentation that the Secretary may require. If a contribution for which a credit is applied for was of property rather than cash, the taxpayer must include with the application a certified appraisal of the value of the property contributed.

(f) Ceiling. -- The total amount of all tax credits allowed to taxpayers under this section for contributions made in a calendar year may not exceed four million dollars ($4,000,000). The Secretary of Revenue must calculate the total amount of tax credits claimed from the applications filed under this section. If the total amount of tax credits claimed for contributions made in a calendar year exceeds four million dollars ($4,000,000), the Secretary must allow a portion of the credits claimed by allocating a total of four million dollars ($4,000,000) in tax credits in proportion to the size of the credit claimed by each taxpayer. If a credit is reduced pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary must notify the taxpayer of the amount of the reduction of the credit on or before December 31 of the year the application was filed. The Secretary's allocations based on applications filed pursuant to this section are final and will not be adjusted to account for credits applied for but not claimed.

(g) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this section to the extent the development zone agency uses the taxpayer's contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project. Each development zone agency certified by the Department of Commerce must file with the Department of Commerce annual financial statements audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with Government Audit Standards developed by the Comptroller General of the United States. The annual statements are required each time the agency receives a contribution eligible for the credit allowed under this section until the entire contribution has been used for improvement projects. If the Department of Commerce determines that a development zone agency has used part or all of a contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project, the Department must notify the Secretary of Revenue of the forfeiture, the taxpayer who made the contribution, and the amount forfeited."

The Secretary shall prescribe the periods of time, whether monthly, quarterly, semiannually, or otherwise, with respect to which refunds may be claimed, and shall prescribe the time within which, following these periods, an application for refund may be made.

An applicant for refund shall furnish the following information and any proof of the information required by the Secretary:

(1) A list identifying the lubricants, repair parts, and accessories purchased by the applicant inside or outside this State during the refund period.

(2) The purchase price of the items listed in subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(4) The number of miles the applicant's motor vehicles, railroad cars, locomotives, and airplanes were operated both inside and outside this State during the refund period.

For each applicant, the Secretary shall compute the amount to be refunded as follows. First, the Secretary shall determine the ratio of the number of miles the applicant operated its motor vehicles, railroad cars, locomotives, and airplanes in this State during the refund period to the number of miles it operated them both inside and outside this State during the refund period. Second, the Secretary shall determine the applicant's proportional liability for the refund period by multiplying this mileage ratio by the purchase price of the items identified in subdivision (1) of this subsection and then multiplying the resulting product by the tax rate that would have applied to the items if they had all been purchased in this State. Third, the Secretary shall refund to each applicant the excess of the amount of sales and use taxes the applicant paid in this State during the refund period on these items over the applicant's proportional liability for the refund period."

PART III. AFFORDABLE HOUSING TAX CREDIT

Section 10. The title of Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"ARTICLE 3B.

"Business Tax ~~Credit.~~ Credits."

Section 11. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-129.16A. Credit for low-income housing.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that is allowed for the taxable year a federal income tax credit for low-income housing under section 42 of the Code with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, is allowed a credit under this Article equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the federal credit allowed with respect to that building. The credit must be taken in equal installments over the five years beginning in the first taxable year in which the federal credit is claimed for that building.

(b) Definitions. -- The definitions in section 42 of the Code apply in this section. In addition, as used in this section the term 'qualified North Carolina low-income building' means a qualified low-income building that meets either of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in a tier one or two enterprise area, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3, or in a development zone, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3A.

(2) It is located in a tier three, four, or five enterprise area and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is thirty-five percent (35%) or less of area median gross income.

(c) Forfeiture. -- If the taxpayer is required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit under that section with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, the taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section with respect to that qualified North Carolina low-income building. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

Section 12. Reserved.

Section 13. G.S. 105-129.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.17. Tax election; cap.

This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the ~~credit~~ credits may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 14. G.S. 105-129.18 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim the ~~credit~~ credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection."

Section 15. G.S. 105-129.19 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

The Department of Revenue shall report to the Legislative Research Commission and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of taxpayers that claimed the ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article.

(2) The cost of business property with respect to which business property credits were claimed.

(2a) The location of each qualified North Carolina low-income building with respect to which a low-income housing credit was claimed.

(3) The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed."

Section 16. G.S. 105-241.1(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Statute of Limitations. -- There is no statute of limitations and the Secretary may propose an assessment of tax due from a taxpayer at any time if (i) the taxpayer did not file a proper application for a license or did not file a return, (ii) the taxpayer filed a false or fraudulent application or return, or (iii) the taxpayer attempted in any manner to fraudulently evade or defeat the tax.

If a taxpayer files a return reflecting a federal determination as provided in G.S. 105-29, 105-130.20, 105-159, 105-160.8, 105-163.6A, or 105-197.1, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due within one year after the return is filed or within three years of when the original return was filed or due to be filed, whichever is later. If there is a federal determination and the taxpayer does not file the required return, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due within three years after the date the Secretary received the final report of the federal determination. ~~If~~

If a taxpayer forfeits a tax credit ~~pursuant to G.S. 105-163.014 or Article 3A of~~ or tax benefit pursuant to forfeiture provisions of this Chapter, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the forfeiture within three years after the date of the forfeiture. If a taxpayer elects under section 1033(a)(2)(A) of the Code not to recognize gain from involuntary conversion of property into money, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the conversion or election within the applicable period provided under section 1033(a)(2)(C) or section 1033(a)(2)(D) of the Code. If a taxpayer sells at a gain the taxpayer's principal residence, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the sale within the period provided under section 1034(j) of the Code.

In all other cases, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due from a taxpayer within three years after the date the taxpayer filed an application for a license or a return or the date the application or return was required by law to be filed, whichever is later.

If the Secretary proposes an assessment of tax within the time provided in this section, the final assessment of the tax is timely.

A taxpayer may make a written waiver of any of the limitations of time set out in this subsection, for either a definite or an indefinite time. If the Secretary accepts the taxpayer's waiver, the Secretary may propose an assessment at any time within the time extended by the waiver."

PART IV. INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT FUND CHANGES

Section 17. G.S. 143B-437.01(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Creation and Purpose of Fund. -- There is created in the Department of Commerce the Industrial Development Fund to provide funds to assist the local government units of the most economically distressed counties in the State in creating jobs in certain industries. The Department of Commerce shall adopt rules providing for the administration of the program. Those rules shall include the following provisions, which shall apply to each grant from the fund:

(1) The funds shall be used for (i) installation of or purchases of equipment for eligible industries, (ii) structural repairs, improvements, or renovations of existing buildings to be used for expansion of eligible industries, or (iii) construction of or improvements to new or existing water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility distribution lines or equipment for existing or new or proposed industrial buildings to be used for eligible industries.

To be eligible for funding, the water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility lines or facilities shall be located on the site of the building or, if not located on the site, shall be directly related to the operation of the specific eligible industrial activity.

(1a) The funds shall be used for projects located in economically distressed counties except that the Secretary of Commerce may use up to one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) to provide emergency economic development assistance in any county that is documented to be experiencing a major economic dislocation.

(2) The funds shall be used by the city and county governments for projects that will directly result in the creation of new jobs. The funds shall be expended at a maximum rate of five thousand dollars ($5,000) per new job created up to a maximum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) per project.

(3) There shall be no local match requirement if the project is located in an enterprise tier one area as defined in G.S. 105-129.3.

(4) The Department may authorize a local government that receives funds under this section to use up to two percent (2%) of the funds, if necessary, to verify that the funds are used only in accordance with law and to otherwise administer the grant or loan.

(5) No project shall be funded unless the Secretary of Commerce finds that the proposed project will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment. The Secretary of Commerce shall not make this finding unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that the proposed project will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment."

Extend Sunsets on Bill Lee Act and Business Property Credit. The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act was enacted in 1996, effective beginning with the 1996 tax year with a sunset effective in 2002. The Act required the Department of Commerce to report annually on the credits allowed by the Act. Before 1996, North Carolina had made little use of tax incentives to lure businesses to the State. Even without incentives, North Carolina was consistently one of the top states in attracting industry. The array of credits authorized by the William S. Lee Act was viewed as an experiment, to be evaluated in five years to determine whether the incentives were cost effective and actually affected behavior, or merely provided tax reductions to businesses that would have located or expanded in any case. Section 1 of this bill would extend the 2002 sunset for an additional five years, to 2007.

The 1996 legislation that enacted the William S. Lee Act also provided a tax credit for investing in tangible personal property that is used by the taxpayer in connection with a business or for the production of income and is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code. The amount of the credit is 4.5% of the cost of the property placed in service, not to exceed $4,500 per taxpayer per year. The credit must be taken in five equal installments beginning in the year the property is placed in service. This business property credit is less restricted than the credit for investment in machinery and equipment in that there is no minimum wage requirement, no minimum amount of investment requirement, and no type of business requirement. The business property tax credit is set to expire in 2002. Section 1 of this bill would extend the 2002 sunset for an additional five years, to 2007.

Incentives for Interstate Passenger Air Carrier Hubs. This bill would provide three incentives for interstate passenger air carriers with hubs in this State. A hub is defined in Section 6 of the bill as the airport where the carrier has allocated at least 60% of its aircraft property tax value and at which the majority of its boarding passengers are connecting from other airports, not originating at that airport. The only carrier that meets this definition in North Carolina at this time is U.S. Airways, whose hub is in Charlotte.

The first incentive provided in the bill is to allow the existing credit for central administrative offices to apply to centralized training offices at an air carrier's hub, effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. The credit is allowed to taxpayers who purchase or lease real property to be used as central administrative office property with 40 or more employees. The amount of the credit is equal to 7% of the eligible investment amount and may not exceed $500,000. The credit is taken in seven equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office.

The second incentive for passenger air carriers is a sales tax exemption for the carrier's purchases of aircraft lubricants, parts, and accessories for use at its hub, effective beginning May 1, 1999. These purchases would otherwise be subject to sales tax at 6%, but interstate air carriers are allowed a partial refund of the tax under G.S. 105-164.14(a). In 1998, the General Assembly enacted a similar exemption for air couriers (Federal Express), effective January 1, 2001.

The third incentive for passenger air carriers is a sales tax reduction from 6% to 1% with an $80 cap, for purchases of aircraft simulators for flight crew training for use at the hub, effective beginning May 1, 1999. The tax reduction would also apply to interstate air couriers. U.S. Airways plans to establish a flight crew training center at its Charlotte hub, where it would use aircraft simulators.

Incentive for Nonprofit Insurance Companies. Section 5 of this bill would provide a sales tax refund to certain nonprofit insurance companies for State and local taxes they pay on building materials, supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of their real property. The refund would apply to taxes paid between January 1, 2000, and January 1, 2005. To qualify for this refund, the insurance company must be operated for the exclusive purpose of providing insurance products to nonprofit charitable organizations and their employees. In addition, the Secretary of Commerce must have certified that the insurance company will invest at least $10 million in this State. TIAA, which has announced plans to build an office in Mecklenburg County, fits this description.[1] If TIAA fails to make the $10 million investment within five years after it first receives a refund, it forfeits all refunds it received as a result of this incentive.

Incentives for Enterprise Tiers One and Two. The bill would provide two incentives for development in enterprise tier one and two counties, which are the counties considered most in need of economic development based on high unemployment, low per capita income, and low population growth.[2] The first incentive extends all of the Bill Lee Act credits to certain customer

[1] There may be one or more other nonprofit insurance companies that could qualify, but only if they make a $10 million investment.

[2] The following 13 counties are in tier one: Bertie, Edgecombe, Graham, Halifax, Hertford, Hyde, Martin, Northampton, Richmond, Swain, Tyrrell, Warren, and Washington. The following 15 counties are in tier two: Alleghany, Anson, Ashe, service centers located in an enterprise tier one or two county. An eligible customer service center is a subdivision of a telecommunications or financial services company that provides support services to the company's customers by telephone to support the company's products and services. To qualify, at least 60% of the center's calls must be incoming. This requirement will prevent telemarketing operations from qualifying. The credits allowed under the Bill Lee Act are the credit for creating jobs, the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, the credit for worker training, and the credit for investing in central administrative office property.

The second incentive allows an annual sales tax refund on taxes paid at 6% (6.5% in Mecklenburg County) on capitalized machinery and equipment sold to a taxpayer engaged in one of the businesses eligible for Bill Lee Act credits, for use in an enterprise tier one or two county. This provision would become effective for taxes paid on or after January 1, 2000. In addition to tier one and two customer service centers discussed above, the following businesses are eligible for Bill Lee Act credits: air courier services, central administrative office (with at least 40 new jobs), data processing, manufacturing, warehousing, and wholesale trade.

Incentives for Small Counties. This bill would allow certain counties to qualify for a lower enterprise tier designation, effective January 1, 2000. Under the Bill Lee Act, all counties are divided into five enterprise tiers, ranked by economic distress as measured by a formula that combines unemployment, per capita income, and population growth. Those counties in lower-numbered tiers receive more favorable incentives than those in higher tiers. First, this bill changes the rules for assigning enterprise tier designations to provide that the tier number that would otherwise be assigned by the formula is reduced by one for counties that have a population of less than 50,000 and also have more than 18% of their residents below the federal poverty level. Under this provision, Alleghany, Ashe, Beaufort, Cherokee, Perquimans, Scotland, Vance, and Yancey Counties would move from tier two to tier one; Bladen, Hoke, Jones, Madison, Pamlico, and Pasquotank Counties would move from tier three to tier two; and Duplin, Greene, and Watauga Counties would move from tier four to tier three.

Second, the bill provides that a county that has a population of less than 25,000 cannot be designated higher than tier three. Under this provision, Polk and Currituck Counties would move from tier five to tier three.

Close Development Zone Loopholes. In 1998, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to provide additional incentives for businesses that locate or expand in development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within cities. The statutory conditions for qualifying as a development zone were designed to target only these relatively small, economically distressed areas. The statutory conditions contained loopholes, however, that allowed large areas outside of cities to qualify, even if they were not economically distressed throughout. This bill would close those loopholes, effective for development zone designations made on or after January 1, 2000.

Beaufort, Cherokee, Columbus, Mitchell, Montgomery, Onslow, Perquimans, Robeson, Rutherford, Scotland, Vance, and Yancey.

The 1998 legislation defined a development zone as an area that meets all of the following conditions: (1) consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) is located at least partly in city with a population over 5,000. This bill closes the loopholes in this definition by requiring that:

- Every census tract and census block group in the zone must be located in whole or in part within the primary corporate limits of the city.
- Every census tract and census block group in the zone must have more than 10% of its population below the poverty level, or must be immediately adjacent to a tract or group that has more than 20% of its population below the poverty level.
- None of the census tracts or census bock groups may be located in another development zone.

This bill would also shorten the period during which designation as a development zone is effective, from four years to two years, and require zone applicants to notify every city in which part of the proposed zone would be located.

The following enhanced incentives apply in development zones: If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for tier one counties - slightly lower than the standard for other counties. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

Credit for Development Zone Projects. This bill would create a new tax credit for taxpayers that contribute cash or property to certain nonprofit agencies to be used for an improvement project in a development zone. An improvement project is a project to construct or improve residential, commercial, or public real property. The new credit would become effective beginning with the 2000 tax year.

The credit allowed is 25% of the amount contributed by the taxpayer. The total amount of credits that may be allowed in a taxable year is capped at $4 million. Taxpayers are required to apply to the Secretary of Revenue for these credits. If the total amount applied for in a year exceeds $4 million, the Secretary will reduce each applicant's credit proportionally.

The credit is allowed for contributions to a development zone agency, defined as a community action agency, a community-based development organization, a community development corporation, a community development financial institution, a community housing development organization, or a local housing authority. To qualify for the credit, all of the following conditions must be met:

- The agency must contract in writing to use the contribution for an improvement project in a development zone and to repay the taxpayer with interest if the contribution is not so used.

- The Department of Commerce must certify that the agency will undertake an improvement project in a development zone.[3]
- The taxpayer must be unrelated to the agency and must not control, be controlled by, or be under common control with the agency.
- The taxpayer must not receive anything of value for the contribution.

A taxpayer forfeits the tax credit for a contribution to the extent the development zone agency uses the contribution for anything other than an improvement project in a zone. Development zone agencies are required to file with the Department of Commerce annual, audited financial statements. If the Department of Commerce finds that any part of a contribution was used for a purpose other than an improvement project, it must notify the Department of Revenue of the resulting forfeiture.

Affordable Housing Tax Credit. Section 11 of the bill would create a new tax credit for rehabilitating or constructing low-income housing, effective for buildings allocated federal credits on or after January 1, 2000. The credit is equal to 25% of the amount of the taxpayer's federal credit for low-income housing with respect to North Carolina low-income housing that meets one of the following conditions:

- It is located in an enterprise tier one or two enterprise area or in a development zone.
- It is located in a tier three or four enterprise area and has at least 40% of its residential units that are rent-restricted and are occupied by individuals whose income is 50% or less of area median gross income.
- It is located in a tier five enterprise area and has at least 40% of its residential units that are rent-restricted and are occupied by individuals whose income is 35% or less of area median gross income.

The credit is not taken in one year but is spread out over five years beginning when the federal credit is first claimed for the building. The federal credit is first claimed either when the building is placed in service, or the next year, at the taxpayer's election. The federal credit is taken over ten years.

The federal credit requires that either (1) at least 20% of the residential units are rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is 50% or less of area median gross income or (2) at least 40% of the residential units are rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is 60% or less of area gross income. By limiting the State credit to projects that are either in distressed areas or serve lower-income residents, the bill is designed to steer investments toward these projects.

The federal credit requires that the low-income housing be used for that purpose for at least 30 years. If this requirement is not met, all or part of the taxpayer's credit is recaptured. Under the proposed State credit, if federal recapture is required, the taxpayer forfeits the North Carolina credit to the same extent.

[3] The Secretary of Commerce may not certify a development zone agency if it, any of its officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used part of an improvement project contribution for any purpose other than the improvement project.

Under federal law, a limited amount of credit is allowed to each state each year, and these credits are allocated among applicants based on selection criteria designed to reward projects that will serve the lowest income tenants for the longest periods. At least 10% of the credits each year must be set aside for projects sponsored by nonprofits. The amount of federal credit allocated to North Carolina will be $9.2 million for the 2000 through 2002 tax years and is expected to increase to $13 million for the 2003 and 2004 tax years. By limiting the State credit to 25% of the federal credit, the bill automatically caps the potential revenue loss to the State.

Extend Bill Lee Act Credits to Insurance Company Administrative Offices. This bill would allow all the Bill Lee Act credits to be taken against gross premiums tax, effective beginning in the 1999 tax year. Currently, only the real property credit for central administrative offices may be taken against gross premiums tax.

In 1997, the General Assembly (1) extended the Bill Lee Act credits to central administrative offices that created at least 40 new jobs and (2) created a new tax credit for taxpayers who purchase or lease real property to be used as central administrative office property. In 1998, the General Assembly allowed the real property credit for central administrative offices to be taken against the gross premiums tax as well as against the income tax and the corporate franchise tax. Insurance companies pay gross premiums tax in lieu of income tax. The 1998 legislation did not change the rule that the other Bill Lee Act credits could be taken against only income tax and corporate franchise tax. The 1998 change created a situation in which insurance companies and other businesses are treated differently with respect to central administrative offices. A business, other than an insurance company, that builds a central administrative office can take against income tax not only the real property credit for that office, but also the jobs credit, the investment tax credit, and the worker training credit. An insurance company can take against gross premiums tax only the real property credit, but not the jobs credit, the investment tax credit, or the worker training credit. By extending the other Bill Lee Act credits to gross premiums tax, this bill would provide uniform treatment for insurance companies and other businesses that build central administrative offices.

Quality Jobs Assurance. The purpose of the original William S. Lee Act was to provide incentives for "high quality jobs." Accordingly, under current law, only certain industries qualify for the Bill Lee Act credits and a taxpayer must meet a wage standard with respect to the jobs at the locations for which it claims a credit. This bill would add three additional standards to assure that credits are allowed only with respect to high quality jobs. First, the taxpayer would be required to pay at least 50% of basic health insurance coverage for the full-time positions for which it takes a credit. Second, the taxpayer would be required to certify that the business location with respect to which it claims a credit has not had and will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment. Third, the taxpayer would be required to certify that the business location with respect to which it claims a credit has no outstanding or unresolved OSHA citations and has had no serious violation within the last three years. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources and the Department of Labor would be authorized to audit the environmental and OSHA certifications, respectively, and report to the Department of Revenue if they determine that a certification was inaccurate.

Application and Fee Changes. A taxpayer that wishes to claim a Bill Lee Act credit must apply to the Department of Commerce for certification that it meets the eligibility requirements for the credit. The application must include information to enable the Department of Commerce to determine the applicant's eligibility, and be accompanied by a $75 fee to defray part of the costs of administering the program. This bill would require applicants to include information necessary to enable the Department of Commerce to provide data required in its periodic reports to the General Assembly. This data will assist the General Assembly in evaluating the cost effectiveness of the Bill Lee Act credits. The bill would also eliminate the $75 fee for credits claimed with respect to enterprise tier one and two counties. For other credits, the fee is increased to $500 per credit claimed, not to exceed $1,500 per taxpayer. The Department of Commerce would retain ¼ of the fee proceeds for the costs of administering the program, and remit the remaining proceeds to the Department of Revenue for its use in administering and auditing the Bill Lee Act credits. These changes become effective 30 days after the bill becomes law.

Clarify Business Definitions and Refunds. This bill would clarify the statutory definitions of the types of businesses that are eligible for the Bill Lee Act credits. In 1998, the General Assembly changed the statutory references from the Standard Industrial Classifications (SIC) to the North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) to conform to the federal system adopted effective January 1, 1999. This system is used to classify most of the data available about industries or kinds of business in the economy. Upon review of the NAICS system, it was discovered that further terminology changes were needed to the Bill Lee Act definitions to assure that the credits would be available to the types of businesses covered by the prior law definitions.

Section 9 of this bill would clarify that interstate air carriers are allowed a partial refund of sales taxes paid on fuel. This clarification will not change the way the law is currently administered.

Research and Development Credit. This bill would modify the research and development credit so that it would not automatically expire if the corresponding federal credit expires. The credit for research and development is allowed only to taxpayers who claim one of the federal research and development credits. In past years, the federal credit has expired and then been renewed retroactively, creating uncertainty for taxpayers. This bill amends the State credit so that it is based on the federal credit as of January 1, 1999. Expiration of the federal credit will not affect the State credit. If the federal credit is later modified, the General Assembly can consider whether to update its cross-reference to adopt the federal modifications.

Industrial Development Fund Environmental Certification. Section 17 of this bill would require, as a condition for funding from the Industrial Development Fund (Building Renovation Fund), that a project receive certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that it will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment. This change would become effective July 1, 1999.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REEVALUATE INEFFECTIVE TAX INCENTIVES SO THAT THE NET EFFECT OF THE WILLIAM S. LEE AMENDMENTS IS REVENUE-NEUTRAL FOR THE 1999-2000 BUDGET.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-129.4 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a2) Tier Five. -- No credit is allowed under this Article for creating jobs or for worker training if, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the jobs are or will be located in a qualified tier five area. No credit is allowed under this Article for investing in machinery and equipment, for research and development, or for investing in real property for a central administrative office if, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the location with respect to which the credit is claimed is in a qualified tier five area. A qualified tier five area is an area that is in an enterprise tier five area but is not in one or more of the following:

(1) A development zone.

(2) A county with a population of less than 20,000 according to the most recent population statistics certified by the State Planning Officer.

(3) A county with an unemployment rate above four percent (4%) according to the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data."

Section 2. G.S. 105-129.4(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) ~~Forfeiture.~~ Forfeiture; Expiration. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

A taxpayer's credit for creating jobs expires as provided in G.S. 105-129.8 if the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls or if the new jobs are transferred to another area. A taxpayer's credit for investing in machinery and equipment expires as provided in G.S. 105-129.9(d) if the machinery and equipment are taken out of service or moved to another area. A taxpayer's credit for investing in central administrative office property expires as provided in G.S. 105-129.12(c) if the number of central administrative office employees drops by 40 or more or if the property is no longer used as a central administrative office.

Each year that a taxpayer claims a credit, an installment of a credit, or a carryforward of a credit under this Article, the taxpayer must file with the Department of Commerce an annual financial statement audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with Government Audit Standards developed by the Comptroller General of the United States. The Department of Commerce shall examine these reports to determine whether any taxpayer's credit is forfeited or expires and shall report any potential forfeitures and expirations of credits to the Secretary of Revenue."

Section 3. The introductory language of G.S. 105-164.4(a)(1d) reads as rewritten:

"(1d) The rate of one percent (1%) applies to the sales price of the following articles. The maximum tax is ~~eighty dollars ($80.00)~~ three hundred twenty dollars ($320.00) per article."

Section 4. The Department of Commerce shall initiate and negotiate with other states the development of an interstate compact to prohibit or reduce the use of tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. The Department of Commerce shall actively support the enactment of federal legislation to prohibit or reduce states' use of tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another.

The Department of Commerce shall report on its progress in these efforts to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by March 1, 2000, and March 1, 2001.

Section 5. Section 3 of this act becomes effective October 1, 1999, and applies to sales made on or after that date. Section 4 of this act is effective when it becomes law. The remainder of this act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 1411:
Balance Wm. S. Lee Tax Incentives

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Luebke
Date:	May 19, 1999	Analysis by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: This bill would make four changes relating to tax incentives. First, it eliminates Bill Lee Act credits in certain tier five counties effective January 1, 2000. Second, it requires annual reporting by taxpayers who receive credits, to determine when forfeiture or expiration of a credit is required under current law, effective January 1, 2000. Third, it raises from $80 to $320 the sales tax cap that applies to certain purchases, effective October 1, 1999. Fourth, it requires the Department of Commerce to initiate and negotiate an interstate compact to prevent interstate competition through incentives, and to seek federal legislation to address the problem of interstate competition through incentives.

Section 1 of this bill would provide that Bill Lee Act credits are not allowed for jobs or investments located in certain tier five counties. The credits would still apply for locations in a development zone, in a county that has a population of less than 20,000, and in a county whose poverty rate is above 4%. Section 1 would become effective beginning with the 2000 tax year.

Under the Bill Lee Act, all counties are divided into five enterprise tiers, ranked by economic distress as measured by a formula that combines unemployment, per capita income, and population growth. Those counties in lower-numbered tiers receive more favorable incentives than those in higher tiers. Currently, the following counties are tier five counties: Buncombe, Cabarrus, Chatham, Currituck, Davie, Durham, Forsyth, Guilford, Henderson, Iredell, Johnston, Lee, Mecklenburg, Moore, New Hanover, Orange, Polk, Randolph, Stokes, Union, and Wake. Under this bill, Bill Lee Act incentives would be unavailable in all of those counties (except in development zones within the counties), with the exception of Currituck, Lee, Moore, New Hanover, and Polk.

In 1998, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to provide additional incentives for businesses that locate or expand in development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within cities. The statutory conditions for qualifying as a development zone were designed to target only relatively small, economically distressed areas. These conditions are (1) the area consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) the area has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) the area is located at least partly in city with a population over 5,000. Section 1 of the bill does not restrict existing incentives for development zones, even those located in enterprise tier five areas.

Section 2 of this bill would require taxpayers to report annually to provide information to enable the Department of Commerce to determine if any credits should be forfeited or should expire. Section 2 would become effective beginning with the 2000 tax year. The Bill Lee Act incentives recommended by the Department of Commerce over the last four years have contained what are known as "clawback" provisions. These provisions require a taxpayer to forfeit a targeted incentive if it turns out the taxpayer did not meet the conditions for qualifying for the incentive, and to lose future installments of a tax credit if the job or investment on which the credit was based does not remain in place. Section 2 of the bill first adds to the forfeiture statute several cross-references to existing expiration requirements. Then, it requires taxpayers to file annual audited financial statements each year they claim an installment or carryforward of a credit. These statements would indicate whether the jobs and investments have remained in place and whether other conditions were met. The Department of Commerce could determine from these statements whether any credits should be forfeited or should expire. In addition, these statements would enable the Department of Commerce to evaluate whether the incentives are accomplishing their purpose of creating high-quality jobs throughout the State.

Section 3 of this bill would raise from $80 to $320 the sales tax cap that applies to certain items that receive preferential sales tax treatment. Section 3 would become effective October 1, 1999. The $80 cap has not been increased in decades, and so does not reflect inflation. The increase to $320 would partly reflect inflation since the cap was last amended. Most items are subject to sales and use tax at the combined State and local rate of 6% (6.5% in Mecklenburg County). The following items are taxed at 1% with an $80 cap: farm equipment and containers, manufacturing machinery, telephone company equipment, commercial laundry equipment, freezer plant machinery, major recycling facility equipment, and air courier equipment.

Section 4 of the bill would require the Department of Commerce to take active steps to end the interstate incentives war that causes states to offer increasingly larger incentives as they compete against one another to lure businesses. First, the Department would be required to initiate and negotiate an interstate compact to prohibit or reduce the use of incentives to lure businesses from one state to another. Second, the Department would be required to actively support federal legislation to the same end. Section 4 requires the Department of Commerce to report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on the success of its efforts by March 2000 and 2001.

DRAFT

QUESTION: IS IT WISE TO OFFER ABATEMENT PACKAGES?

The annoying truth is that there is no simple answer to the question.

Are abatement packages worth it? It depends. Feelings do run strong on both sides, with opponents to abatements depicting packages as evil incarnate and the proponents depicting them as a panacea. The truth lies somewhere in between.

The measurement of the impact of such packages depends on a host of factors listed below as a series of questions.

I. FIRST, WHAT DO WE KNOW?

* All abatement packages do not have the same return.

* All jobs are not the same. The average annual earnings for an American automobile worker is $62,000 per year with a benefit package that rivals corporate executives; the average earnings for a fast food worker is approximately minimum wage, with few benefits. The creation of the first type of job gives a lot bigger boost to the community and the state than the latter. So, one question a state/community should ask is: Will this be an upgrade to our community to have this type of job available?

* All communities are not starting from the same economic and infrastructure baseline. (Therefor, the impact of a package will be very different in a poor rural community or a blighted city area than in a community with a bustling level of growth.)

* One size of economic development strategy does not fit all communities equally well.

* A benefit for one person may be a cost to another person. For example the rise in the value of land is a cost to a buyer and a benefit to a seller.

* The benefits of economic development are uneven across groups in the community and state. (Economic development rarely has perfectly even consequences.) Critics of packages claim they are regressive. This may be true inasmuch as they are subsidies of corporations by all citizens, including poor and middle class citizens. However it is also the case that a person who gets a job at the new plant or business will benefit more than the taxpayer who subsidized the project and who may later subsidize the infrastructure improvements needed to keep up with the growth. The county adjacent to a large installation will have to absorb all the growth, but none of the revenue.

II WHAT ARE THE KEY QUESTIONS TO ASK?

An analysis of a package should be done through an objective unit such as a university or the research unit of a government agency. The analysis should include the following questions?

1) What is baseline or starting point of community's economy?

2) Are the jobs good?
Are they high paying and or professional jobs?
Are they jobs with a large multiplier effect?

3) How many jobs are there?

Negotiate a linkage of a certain number of jobs to the taxes abated such that if the jobs fall short, the corporation is accountable for a certain number of jobs.

4) Is the community certain that the locals will be able to qualify for the jobs? Did the community or the state negotiate a guarantee of local jobs - or that priority be given to locals.

5) Have clawbacks been negotiated? These are guarantees to stay a certain number of years or pay back the abated taxes?

6) Whose taxes are they anyway? This is conceived of in two different ways: 1)they are the public's taxes which are being given away to corporations; 2) these were taxes the community never had to begin with.

7) What are the major infrastructure demands?

sewage water

IV. WHAT CAN A COMMUNITY DO?

In Power Steering authored by Michele Hoyman, (Lawrence Ks. University Press of Ks., 1997), there is a whole chapter on policy suggestions for communities to consider. These include:

annexation guarantee of buying supplies and construction materials within the county guarantee that jobs go to locals bargaining with a professional bargainer or exhibiting greater skill during in lieu of negotiations borrowing from the experience of other communities: parallel learning.
solving the information deficit that a community has in bargaining with a company by bargaining that the cost of certain consulting studies be borne by the corporationa as was done for the Saturn plant in Spring Hill, Tennessee.

BIOGRAPHY MICHELE M. HOYMAN

Professor Hoyman was a Visiting Associate Professor in the Political Science Department at the University of North Carolina – Chapel Hill for 1998- 1999 and an adjunct faculty person in the Master's of Public Administration program at the University of North Carolina. She will be joining the UNC Political Science faculty permanently as a tenured faculty person in 1999-2000.

She received her Ph.d at the University of Michigan in Political Science in 1978. She previously held a position in the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations at the University of Illinois from 1978 to 1981 and held a tenured position at the University of Missouri - Saint Louis which she has held from 1981 through 1998.

Her areas of research are in labor policy, race and sex discrimination policy, compliance of organizations with Supreme Court decisions, litigiousness of employees. She has published several books in a variety of human resource areas such as training and the informal economy. She has published in journals such as Law and Policy and the Industrial and Labor Relations Review.

Her most recent area of research is economic development, particularly the recruitment of automobile plants to rural areas. In 1997 she published a book with the University Press of Kansas called Power Steering: Global Automakers and the Transformation of Rural Communities. It was nominated for the best book in Urban Politics and Political Economy in the Urban Politics section of the American Political Science Association. last year. The book was a study of four "greenfield sitings" and how the economic development event transformed the communities. In the book she lays out some strategies that communities and states can use in order to bargain the best possible incentive package. Also, the book argues that economic development is a process, not an outcome and that measures of the impact of the incentive packages, such as dollars per job, miss the point because they do not take into account long-term costs and benefits.

She is beginning some research on prisons as an economic development project for rural communities.

She is also a professional labor arbitrator. She serves on the FMCS panel of arbitration and also on National Mediation Board (railroads). Her current areas of research is on the effect of the gender of the arbitrator on the outcome of the case.

Can your community bargain the kind of deal it needs?
What will be the public administration impacts of a large automobile plant?

Power Steering

Global Automakers and the Transformation of Rural Communities

Michele M. Hoyman

In Marysville, Ohio; Georgetown, Kentucky; and Smyrna and Spring Hill, Tennessee, life will never again be the same. Once small rural communities, they're now boom towns—thanks to Honda, Toyota, Nissan, and Saturn.

It's happening all over America: communities desperate for economic development lure large companies looking for a docile labor force, cheap real estate, and an alternative to the regulations of cities. But what happens to a small town when it successfully attracts corporate America (or corporate Japan)? As Michele Hoyman shows, from the announcement of plant siting until long after it opens, the town's rural lifestyle is dramatically transformed through radical changes in its politics, public administration, schools, traffic patterns, real estate values, water and sewage systems, police and fire protection, and cultural views.

In Power Steering, Hoyman chronicles such transformations in Kentucky, Ohio, and Tennessee, shows how they emerged, and explains why they matter. She skillfully interweaves agenda-setting theory with impact analysis to demonstrate that economic development is an ongoing process with identifiable stages, not merely a final set of outcomes. Drawing upon extensive interviews with community leaders, public opinion polls, and in-depth analyses of town budgets, she creates a richly detailed study that clearly delineates the economic, social, and political impacts associated with corporate forays into the hinterlands.

Providing a wealth of detail for scholars and administrators, Hoyman's study also offers a thoughtful guide for any community attempting to attract similar industries. For example, she cautions communities to avoid giving away too much in tax incentives and environmental control waivers, lest those long-term costs undermine the short-term benefits provided by the corporation. Balanced and insightful, her work provides concrete examples of how America's rural towns are using the new global economy to help shape more promising futures for themselves.

Michele Hoyman is associate professor of political science and public policy administration at the University of Missouri–St. Louis and coeditor of The Informal Economy and Joint Training Programs. She is also a labor arbitrator.

THE NEWSLETTER OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BUDGET & TAX CENTER VOL. 5 NO.10 MAY 1999

INCENTIVES IN NORTH CAROLINA: THE JURY SHOULD STILL BE OUT

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

■ The Department of Commerce recently released an analysis of the effects of the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act. The analysis shows that new investment statewide is up substantially since the Lee Act was enacted and that companies locating in distressed counties are receiving a significant share of the tax benefits when compared to the population of those counties. New investment in at least half of North Carolina's distressed counties was greater in 1997 and 1998 than in 1995 and 1996.

■ However, relatively affluent communities still received a disproportionate share of the job creation in 1997 and job creation was actually slower in 1998 than in 1997. Moreover, the majority of the growth in new investment in 1998 was due to three major companies which received even greater incentives than the Lee Act includes and due to development in six urban and suburban counties.

■ North Carolina has the lowest unemployment rate in the region and relatively strong per-capita income and employment growth compared to the nation as a whole. Yet our neighboring states have fared better under these economic indicators in the two years since the Lee Act was enacted. South Carolina has shown the most improvement, which could have resulted from their earlier incentive initiatives. North Carolina's performance on these measures could improve in future years if the Lee incentives are working.

■ The Department of Commerce has created a package to build on the Lee Act through additional targeted incentives for capital-intensive projects, extended tax incentives for companies locating in distressed areas and extending the life and study of the Lee Act.

■ More study of the use of the incentives would clarify their usefulness, though similar research in other states has proven mixed. The results in North Carolina to date signify neither victory nor defeat for tax incentive proponents and their critics.

OVERVIEW

The General Assembly approved a series of tax incentives in 1996 because policymakers feared that North Carolina was losing in the competition with other states to attract industry. Last week, the Department of Commerce revealed some of the initial outcomes of the first year of the tax incentives and outlined more recommendations to extend the provisions of North Carolina's tax incentives, mainly contained in the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act. This issue of BTC Reports:

- Examines the findings of the Commerce study;
- Compares the State's economic performance to other states over the past several years; and
- Analyzes the proposed changes to the State's tax incentives.

WHAT DOES THE DATA SHOW?

The Department of Commerce reiterated that the goals of the William S. Lee Act are:

- Enhance competitiveness of North Carolina companies through the use of new technologies;
- Promote new investment in the State; and

Job Creation Tax Credit Analysis

	% Share of Jobs	% Share of Credit	% of Population
Tier 1	1.7%	14.7%	4.4%
Tier 2	4.7%	12.8%	8.3%
Tier 3	16.7%	34.2%	17.2%
Tier 4	35.5%	24.2%	25.2%
Tier 5	41.4%	14.1%	44.9%

- Ensure that economic growth occurs across the State, especially in rural and low-income urban areas.

Given those goals, the Lee Act included tax incentives such as the following:

- Research and development tax credits - $5.9 million claimed in the 1997 tax year;
- Machinery and equipment tax credits - $4.0 million claimed in the 1997 tax year;
- Job creation tax credits - $0.8 million claimed in the 1997 tax year; and
- Worker training tax credits.

These tax credits can only total 50 percent of the company's income or franchise tax liability and must be taken over several years. The report includes analysis of tax data that claimed the credit in 1997 and includes analysis of the businesses using the credit by location, type of industry and date of incorporation of the company in North Carolina. The Department of Commerce also provides data on job and investment announcements for 1998.

The location factor is especially important to the question of widely shared economic prosperity. The Lee Act divides North Carolina counties into five tiers, or groups, based on their population growth, per capita income and unemployment rate. The most distressed counties are in Tier 1, where businesses can receive the highest benefits, while the most affluent counties are in Tier 5.

The tax data for job creation in 1997 is shown in the table above.

While the most affluent counties (Tiers 4 and 5) have had the most jobs created, they also have a smaller share of the tax credits relative to their share of the State's population. The lowest three tiers have a much greater share of the tax credits than their share of the population. The Department of Commerce contends that this shows that the most distressed counties are receiving more help than affluent counties. While true, only Tier 4 counties had a greater share of the job creation than their share of the population. Tier 1 counties, the most distressed, had half the job creation as one might expect from their share of total population.

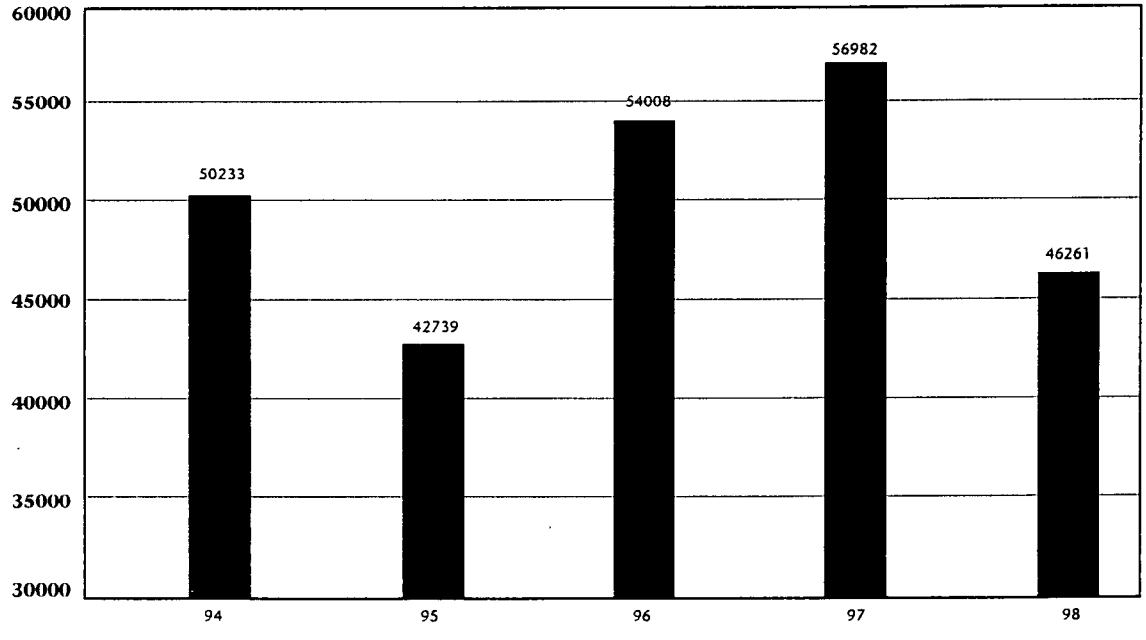
Moreover, the research and development tax credit is even more centralized in companies located in the most affluent counties. Five in every 6 applications for R&D tax credits in 1997 were in Tier 4 or Tier 5 counties. This is hardly surprising given the prevalence of these credits in the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries and their presence in the State's urban areas, such as Research Triangle Park.

1997 data, however, may not tell the entire story, since the Lee Act may have not been in place long enough to influence location decisions in that year. Preliminary jobs and investment data may provide a more accurate picture of the Lee Act's influence.

As shown by the graph below, the creation of new jobs actually declined between 1997 and 1998 in industries eligible for the Lee Act tax credits.

Yet the Lee Act does not emphasize job creation, but investment per job. In a global economy, the rationale becomes that the State should promote capital investment.

Announced New Jobs in Industries Eligible for Tax Incentives



Heavily capital intensive industries will allow North Carolina companies to remain competitive because of enhanced productivity, especially in industries such as textiles. The Department points to the dramatic increase in investment from $5.5 billion in 1997 to $7.8 billion in 1998 as evidence of the Lee Act success. But a significant share of that increase - almost $1 billion -- came from projects to which the State provided incentives over and beyond the Lee Act through action in the 1998 legislative session, including:

- the Nucor steel plant in Hertford County, with investment totaling $350 million;
- the Wisconsin Tissue plant in Halifax County, with investment totaling $343 million; and
- the Federal Express hub at the Piedmont Triad International Airport, with investment totaling $300 million.

Other counties comprising the lion's share of the rest of the difference in investment are generally urban or suburban counties, including:

- Mecklenburg County, a $657 million increase from 1997 to 1998 in new investment;
- Cabarrus County, a $486 million increase;
- Rowan County, a $293 million increase;
- Rockingham County, a $241 million increase;
- Iredell County, a $206 million increase; and
- Johnston County, a $175 million increase.

To be fair, the growth is not limited to urban areas. New investment for 1997 and 1998 was greater than investment in 1995 and 1996 for half of the most distressed counties in the lowest tiers. Overall, however, new investment creation has also been uneven, as shown in the graph below.

Another year of data may give a more accurate picture of the trend and provide more information about the relationship between the Lee Act and new investment.

How Are We Doing Compared to Our Competitors?

The growth in the aggressive use of incentives by other states, especially South Carolina and Virginia, was a major force behind the drive to create more state tax incentives in North Carolina. Therefore, a logical question must be whether the Lee Act has helped North Carolina's economy compared to our competitors. Three major indicators - per capita income growth, employment growth and the unemployment rate - were examined for the period between 1994 and 1998 to determine if the Lee Act has improved these indicators compared to our neighbors.

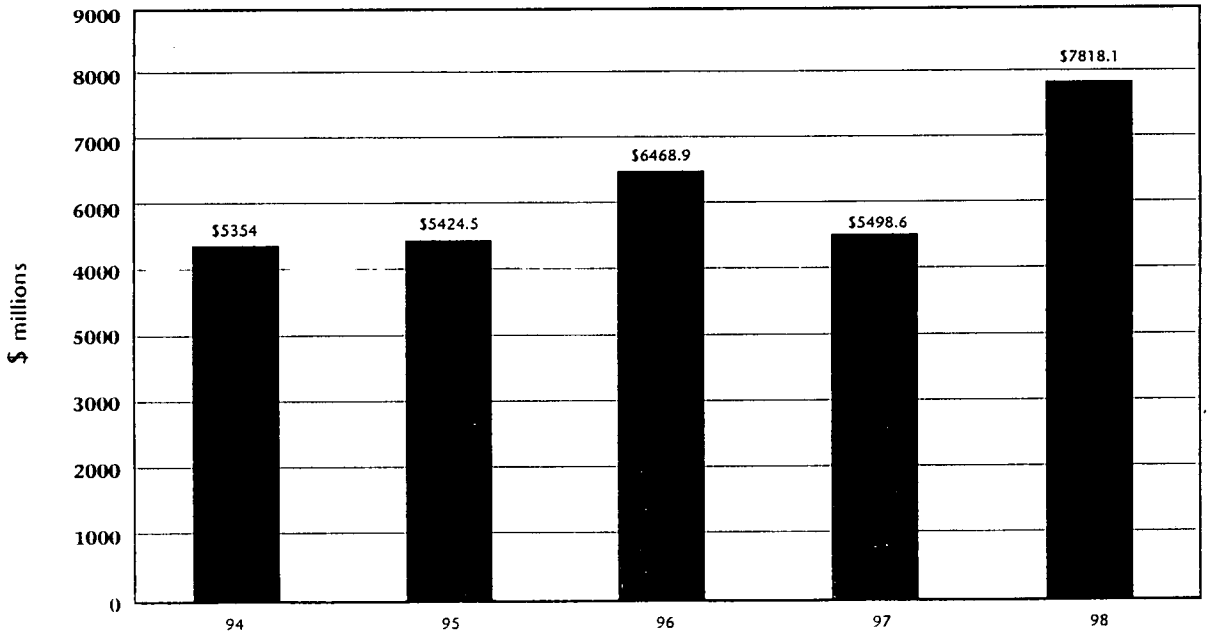
Per Capita Income Growth

The graph on page 4 shows that North Carolina (the far left bar) led the region and surpassed the national trend in per capita income growth each year between 1994 and 1997.[1] The sole exception was growth between 1995 to 1996 where Georgia led the region, probably due in part to growth generated from the Olympic Games. However, between 1997 and 1998, per capita income in North Carolina grew at a slower rate than the border states and the nation as a whole. This change is due to continued weakness in our traditional manufacturing sectors and tremendous pressure on agricultural commodities. While these huge trends cannot be changed dramatically by incentives, it emphasizes the need for the Lee Act to focus on rural North Carolina. There is no evidence, therefore, that the Lee Act has contributed to per capita income growth, at least not yet.

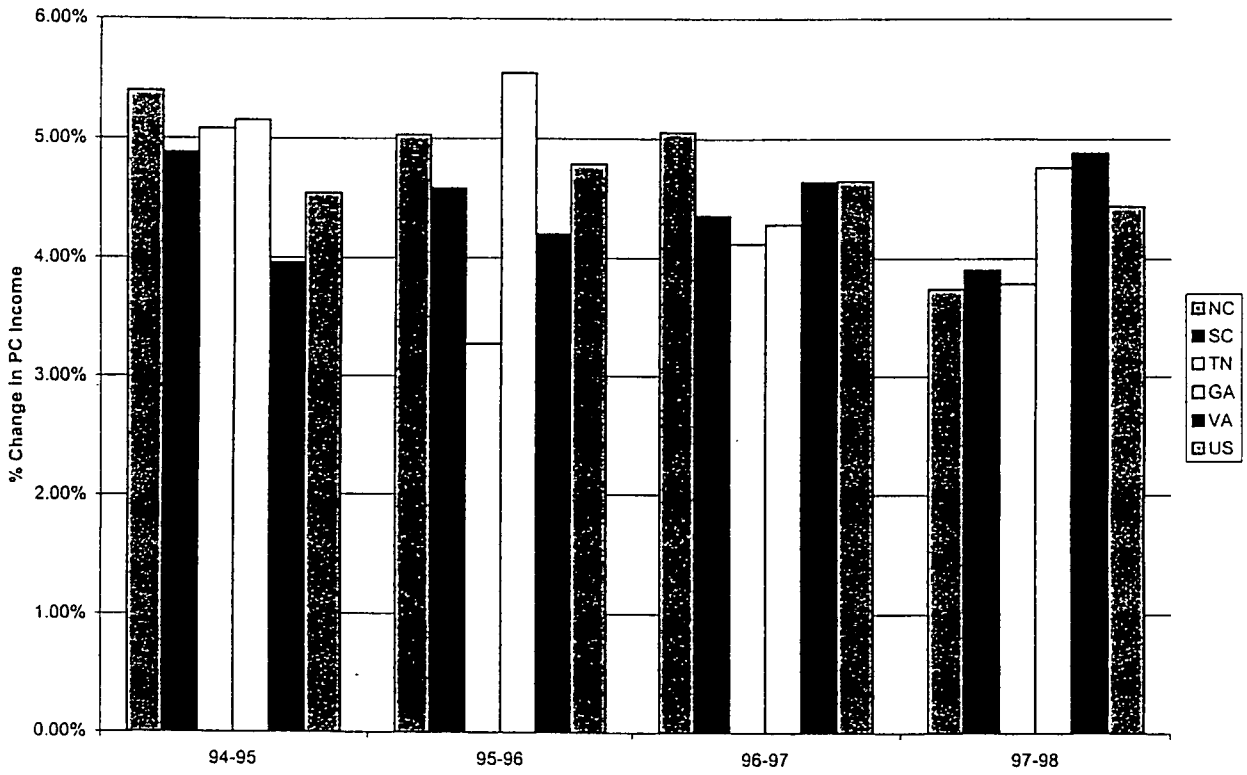
Employment Growth

The graph at the top of page 5 shows a more mixed picture in terms of employment growth.[2] Each year, North Carolina outpaced the nation and Virginia in net job growth. Georgia's growth led North Carolina in three of the four years, South Carolina led North Carolina in two years and Tennessee led the Tar Heel State in one of the four years. South Carolina's growth trend is the most notable in the region, with substantial improvement since 1996.

Announced New Investment in North Carolina



Annual Percent Change in Per Capita Income, North Carolina, Border States and US



Unemployment Rate

North Carolina's unemployment rate is among the nation's lowest.[3] With the exception of Virginia in 1998, our border states and the nation as a whole had higher unemployment rates than ours over the past several years. Both Virginia and South Carolina, however, have witnessed faster declines in their unemployment rate over the last several years.

While tax incentives play a small role in a state's economic trends, the data does not yet support the hypothesis that the Lee Act has improved the State's economic performance. However, other states which implemented more aggressive incentives before the Lee Act was enacted, especially South Carolina, have witnessed significant change. It could be that the concern over the lack of competitiveness in 1996 did not materialize in the economic picture until 1997 and 1998.

What Further Changes are Recommended?

The Department of Commerce has recommended several tax incentive changes in proposed legislation entitled The Widely Shared Prosperity Act of 1999. Some of the tax incentive changes build off current policy.

Tax Breaks for Specific Companies

Last year, the General Assembly enacted a series of specific tax breaks for Nucor, Wisconsin Tissue and Federal Express. These 3 companies alone accounted for 12.8 percent of the announced new investment in 1998, while 1269 companies accounted for the rest. The trend toward recruiting of big investment would continue in this legislation with additional tax breaks targeted to:

- TIAA-CREF for their new customer-service center in Charlotte;
- US Airways for their hub in Charlotte; and
- An unnamed customer service center to locate in a distressed county. Last year, the General Assembly created tax breaks for an unnamed project which later was announced as Wisconsin Tissue.

Tinkering with Tiers

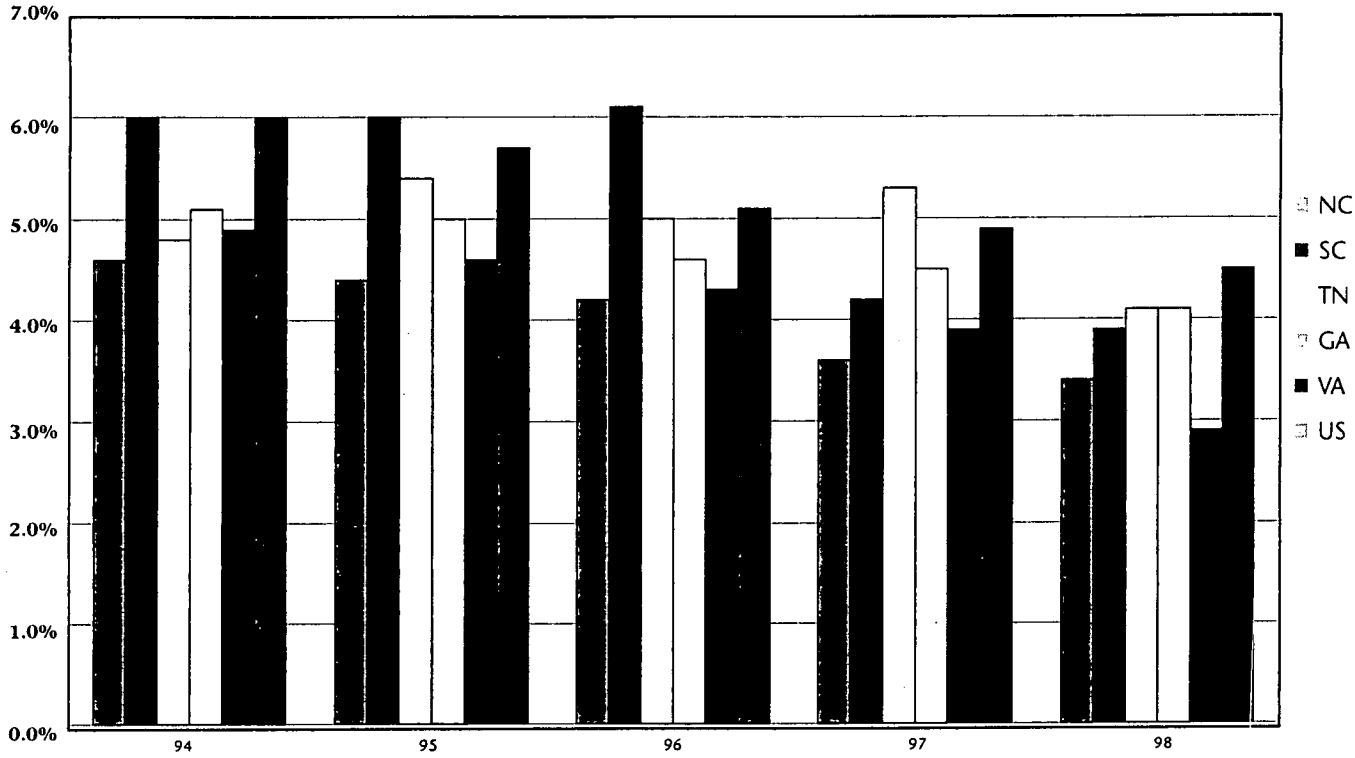
The division of counties into tiers is controversial. Counties in higher tiers claim that they really deserve to be in the lower tiers due to their special conditions, which necessitate more tax incentives for themselves. While the Task Force reviewing the Lee Act did not recommend wholesale changes to the tier system, the proposed legislation would permit some four small counties - Allegheny, Hyde, Jones and Perquimmans - to have the benefits of a lower tier. This change would be of special importance to Jones, since it would receive the benefits of eligibility for Industrial Development Fund money. The General Assembly must decide if its economic development policy is to promote investment in all 100 counties - which county commissioners would favor because of the effect on their industrial tax base - or in areas of the State where good jobs are within a decent commute of all North Carolinians.

The proposed legislation would also extend sales tax exemptions for companies doing business in Tier 1 and Tier 2 counties and promote tax credits for development conducted by community development corporations.

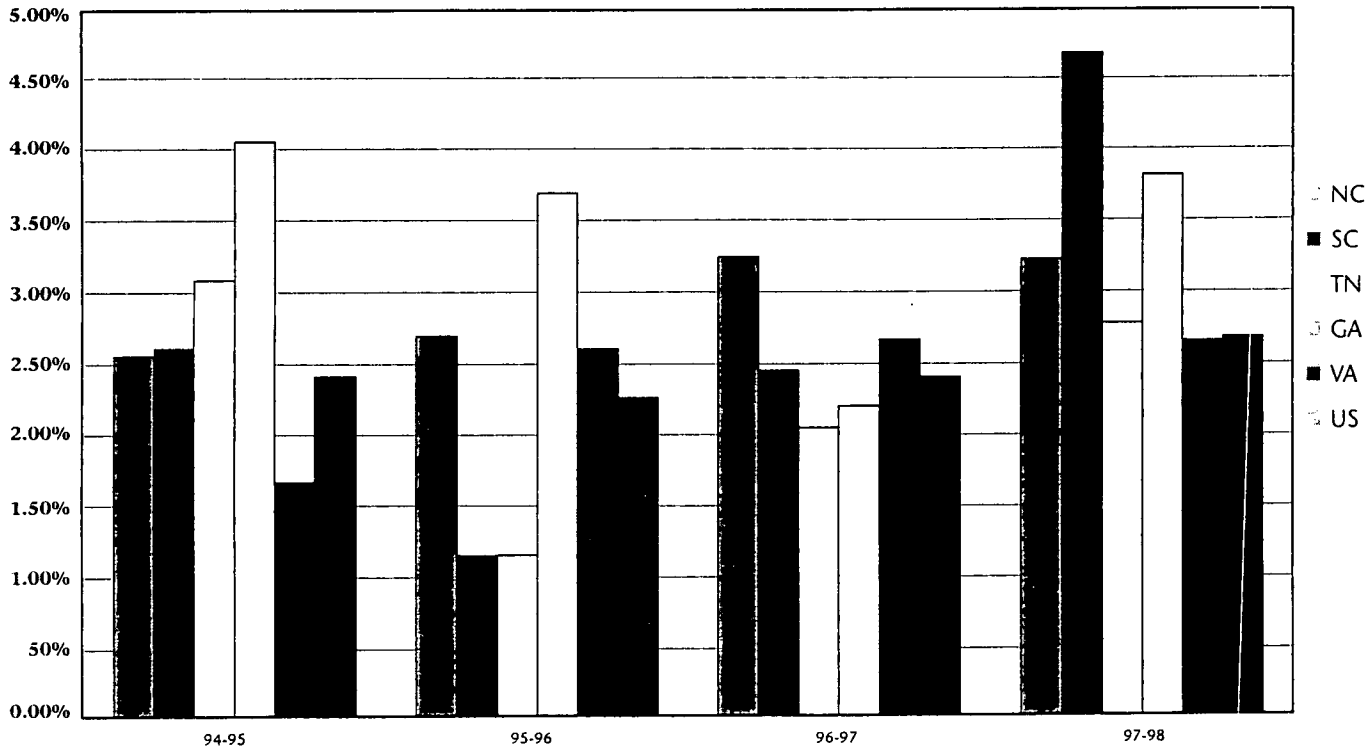
Extend the Life and Study of the Lee Credits

The legislation would also extend the sunset of the Lee Act from 2002 to 2007, despite the analysis of its unclear effects. The legislation would also, however, increase fees for companies to apply for the credits in order to provide sufficient staff to administer and analyze the effects of the credits.

Seasonally Adjusted Unemployment Rate in August of Each Year, North Carolina, Border States and US



Percent Growth in Nonfarm Employment, North Carolina, Border States and the US



Other Changes

The legislation makes several other changes not related to the analysis of Lee Act effects including:

- Requirements that recipients of the tax incentives provide health insurance, worker safety plans and certification that their facility has no materially adverse effect on the environment
- Creation of a new tax credit to promote low-income housing
- Changing definitions of development zones to ensure that the benefits would accrue to truly distressed communities.

CONCLUSION

Both proponents and critics of tax incentives can use recently released Commerce data to support their arguments. Broad economic indicators and job location statistics do not seem to have benefited dramatically from the incentives to date. The toughest decision for policymakers is whether to extend the life of such incentives for five more years with such unclear results or use other tools to enhance economic performance.

Editor's Note

Our March report on tobacco attempted to identify counties which would be impacted by a decline in demand. While the report focused on counties with the largest tobacco production and with a substantial share of their income from the tobacco crop, we did not note the importance of tobacco in several smaller counties. The remaining counties in which the tobacco crop equals over two percent of income include:

Jones	$9.7 million crop	4.7% of income
Warren	$11 million crop	4.1% of income
Bertie	$11.1 million crop	3.4% of income
Yadkin	$18.3 million crop	2.8% of income
Bladen	$14.8 million crop	2.5% of income
Beaufort	$18.2 million crop	2.2% of income
Madison	$6.5 million crop	2.1% of income

We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.

It Will Take Supernatural Forces to Make This Program Work

BY DON CARRINGTON AND JONATHAN JORDAN

Though Rod Serling passed away in 1975, his "Twilight Zone" TV show may have been a driving force behind a ridiculous program adopted by the General Assembly last year.

This state program authorizes cities or even individual taxpayers to establish geographic areas called "Development Zones." But only supernatural forces outside the realm of basic economics and common sense could produce the program's intended benefits of helping poor people.

The Development Zone program provides state income tax breaks for selected business activity within the zone, including air courier services, larger central administrative offices, data processing, manufacturing, warehousing, or wholesale trade. Business activity outside the zone — even if just across the street — is not eligible for the same tax breaks.

Why would we ridicule this program? Because it can't possibly work. Under the program, no company is required to hire poor people who actually live in the zone. The zones could even make things worse by causing surrounding property values to rise, which would be followed by an increase in the tax bills of low-income persons. At the same time real estate outside the zone would lose relative value.

The Economic Opportunity Act of 1998 laid out the plan for the zones. Since the act was passed last July, applications for 45 new zones have been approved by the state Department of Commerce.

This act and its predecessor, the Bill Lee Act, provide for different business income-tax credits that vary by county. The credits range from $500 to $12,500 per "new job created," depending upon the "tier," or economic category, in which a county is located. For example, Wake and Mecklenberg counties are in the relatively prosperous Tier 5, with credits of only $500 per job, while the poorer counties of Halifax, Warren, and Mitchell are in the "economically distressed" Tier 1, with credits of $12,500 per job. But if a facility is located in a Twilight Zone — excuse us, Development zone — an additional $4,000 tax credit applies.

But the zones that have been submitted are not exactly tightly drawn about the poor areas of town. Raleigh's zone is 71 square miles and includes N.C. State's Centennial Campus. Charlotte's includes the airport. Winston-Salem's zone has a population of 109,476 — half the city. State Commerce Secretary Rick Carlisle admits that there are problems and recently said, "We just haven't completed the thought process of exactly how we are going to re-map this."

The law creating the zones states that upon the request of a taxpayer or a local government, the Secretary of Commerce shall designate that an area is a development zone if it meets the following conditions: It is located at least partially in a city with a population of 5,000 or more, contains a population of 1,000 or more, and has more than 20 percent of its population below the poverty level based on data gathered during the most recent federal census.

We could find no rationale for the population numbers used in the law. Furthermore, we believe that with a little gerrymandering, almost every industrial site in the state can fit in a zone.

Because the census is taken only every 10 years, the numbers used to create the zones are already outdated. And poverty information is collected only on the long form, representing a sample of only 17 percent of all households. Even worse, income figures collected by the census don't necessarily mean much. Raleigh's zone includes parts of N.C. State University, where students low incomes dragged the "poverty" numbers down. In other words, the poverty data used to create these zones is old and shaky. In fact, every census expert we talked to for this column refused to defend the Development Zone scheme.

If these Development Zones were legitimately about helping the poor, wouldn't they at least be designed so that the firms that use them must locate in truly poor neighborhoods and must hire poor people? Of course. But these zones aren't about helping the poor. They are about helping politicians buy votes by giving tax dollars to corporations.

Politicians should quit using their imaginations to expand corporate welfare and further complicate our tax laws. A better economic development strategy would be to maintain a level playing field for all businesses, apply relatively low tax rates, and improve core government services such as transportation, education, and public safety.

DO INDUSTRIAL RECRUITMENT INCENTIVES SERVE THE PUBLIC PURPOSE? A STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF REPRESENTATIVE PAUL LUEBKE'S BILL TO LIMIT THE USE OF INCENTIVES IN NORTH CAROLINA, MAY 20, 1999, BY THOMAS E. VASS

In the time allotted to me, I wanted to make four allegations against the use of industrial recruitment incentives. I will allege that industrial recruitment incentives act as a price subsidy that severely distorts the workings of the price mechanism of the free market exchange system. I will allege that incentives serve to benefit only the politicians who give them away, and the private corporations which receive them, and do nothing to support the constitutional public purpose of serving individual freedom. Third, I will allege that the ultimate economic development effect of incentives is to lock North Carolina's workers into permanent low wage, semi-skilled jobs, from which they have no pathway of escape to jobs that have upward occupational mobility.

I realize that making these allegations in this forum does not constitute a full argument or a full presentation of the evidence which would serve to support my arguments. One of the shortcomings of the public policy debate in North Carolina is that the critics of this misguided economic policy do not have adequate forums for the presentation of counter arguments. I would welcome the opportunity to appear in a forum where a fair debate about my arguments against incentives could be made.

I. Industrial Recruitment Incentives Act As A Government Subsidy to Politically Favored Corporations.

1. The first perverse economic effect of the subsidy is that it distorts the rate of interest throughout the private capital markets that firms use to guide private investment decisions. The incentive drops the rate of interest for the recipient firm, vis-a-vis non-recipient firms. The incentive has the economy-wide effect of making socially and economically inefficient investments more likely to occur. As less desirable investments occur, the capital markets become distorted, as capital is used up in less efficient investments. The application of the incentive by the government agent has the effect of squeezing more efficient, socially useful investments out of the market place. As a result the overall rate of growth of capital, and the rate of profit for non-recipient firms declines. As this adjustment to socially inefficient investments continues over a 20 year period of time, the citizens in the second generation following the application of incentives suffer lower levels of income and poorer quality of job opportunities.

2. The second perverse economic effect of the subsidy is that the socially optimal rate of economic growth does not match the time preferences of consumers for future consumption. If there are several prevailing rates of interest for competitor firms to observe, one of which is a lower rate of interest for the recipient firm due to the government subsidy, the rate of investment is determined by the government agent, and not the workings of the pricing mechanism of the free market. The consumer's time preference for consumption is overridden by the government agent. What this means is that the future that citizens wish to create for themselves, through free market voluntary exchange, is diminished in favor of the future that the government agent wishes to create for them.

3. The third perverse effect resulting from the application of incentives is that the costs of doing business for non-recipient firms and the cost of living for private citizens, in the vicinity of the incentives goes up. If more new jobs are pumped into a full employment regional economy, such as the case in Guilford County with the Fed Ex deal, the economic effect is increased prices. The non-recipient firms have increased costs, yet do not benefit from the government's price subsidy. As their costs of doing business increase, their ability to fund future growth from internally generated sources of revenue is decreased. The ability of the non-recipient firm to compete in the free market is severely damaged, and their ability to make investments is diminished.

4. I allege that the most perverse effect of incentives is that it tends to lock North Carolina's working class citizens into a cycle of low-wage, low-skilled jobs from which escape to better jobs is nearly impossible. The application of incentives by the government agent distorts the free market price adjustment process between returns to capital and returns to labor. Over a long period of time, this adjustment process should allow worker's incomes to rise. This adjustment process of higher incomes for workers in North Carolina has been aborted through the use of incentives. The use of the incentive by the recipient firm allows it to achieve a perverse type of unearned market advantage over other firms in the vicinity. The unearned market advantage has the effect of creating and sustaining a regional monopoly power for the recipient firm that short-circuits the markets ability to equilibrate wages and profits. I allege that the use of the incentive is a clear example of the Government of North Carolina intervening in the market place to benefit capital to the detriment of the financial interests of workers.

II. Conclusion.

The effect of industrial recruitment incentives is to socialize the private costs of production for the recipient firm and to privatize their profits. The tax payers end up paying the costs, which in other places would be called socialism, while the politically favored corporations end up with all the profits, upon which they have never paid taxes because of the tax credits, and which they fail to re-invest in North Carolina.

The ultimate economic development effect of this misguided policy is that workers are too poor to save, and profits from the subsidized firms leave the state. The use of incentives creates a type of economic dependency in North Carolina for continually recruiting outside manufacturing firms to fill the capital gap created when the profits leave the state.

I allege that as a result of their special political privileges, a self-selected group of people in North Carolina have been successful in centralizing economic decisions about which community will get what kind of enterprise, using the citizen's own tax dollars as bait. This closed, secret centralized system has all of the same flaws that beset communist countries. It can work for a while, but when it fails, it fails on a massive scale, which is why the workers in rural North Carolina, who were made to be so dependent on tobacco, textiles, and furniture, are suffering so mightily now. The total commitment of state resources to support this closed secret backwards system is a massive mistake, now being borne by the citizens least able to absorb the costs.

You do not make the mistake better for rural citizens by applying more of the same policy that made them economically dependent in the first place.

March 31, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF MOORESVILLE TO LEVY AN ADDITIONAL ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 296 of the 1991 Session Laws, as amended by Section 4 of Chapter 577 of the 1991 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Occupancy tax. (a) Authorization and scope. The Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of up to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the town that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations.

(a1) Authorization of Additional Tax. In addition to the tax authorized by subsection (a) of this section, the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners may levy an additional room occupancy tax of up to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of accommodations taxable under subsection (a). The total rate of tax levied under subsections (a) and (a1) of this section, when combined with the rate of room occupancy tax levied by Iredell County, may not exceed six percent (6%). The levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the tax authorized by this subsection shall be in accordance with the provisions of this section. The Town of Mooresville may not levy a tax under this subsection unless it also levies the tax authorized under subsection (a) of this section.

(b) Administration. A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

~~Collection. Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied under this section shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the town. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The town shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the town the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax.~~

~~(c) Administration. The town shall administer a tax levied under this section. A tax levied under this section is due and payable to the town finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the town. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied.~~

~~A return filed with the town finance officer under this section is not a public record as defined by G.S. 132-1 and may not be disclosed except as required by law.~~

~~(d) Penalties. A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return required by this section shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day's omission. In case of failure or refusal to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after the time required for~~

~~filing the return or for paying the tax, there shall be an additional tax, as a penalty, of five percent (5%) of the tax due in addition to any other penalty, with an additional tax of five percent (5%) for each additional month or fraction thereof until the tax is paid. The board of commissioners may, for good cause shown, compromise or forgive the additional tax penalties imposed by this subsection.~~

~~Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade a tax imposed under this section or who willfully fails to pay the tax or make and file a return shall, in addition to all other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both.~~

(e) Disposition of tax proceeds. The Town of Mooresville ~~shall set aside in a special account fifty percent (50%) of the net proceeds of the occupancy tax and shall spend these funds to promote travel and tourism. The Town of Mooresville shall remit the remaining proceeds of the tax to its general fund and may use these funds for any lawful purpose. As used in this subsection, "net proceeds" means gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer.~~ shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to the Mooresville Travel and Tourism Authority. The Authority shall use at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to promote travel and tourism in Mooresville and shall use the remainder for tourism-related expenditures.

(f) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Net proceeds. -- Gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(2) Promote travel and tourism. -- To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(3) Tourism-related expenditures. -- Expenditures that, in the judgment of the Authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, or convention facilities in a town or to attract tourists or business travelers to the town. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

~~Effective date of levy. A tax levied under this section shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the month after the date the resolution is adopted.~~

~~(g) Repeal. A tax levied under this section may be repealed by a resolution adopted by the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners. Repeal of a tax levied under this section shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted. Repeal of a tax levied under this section does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal.~~"

Section 2. Section 2 of Chapter 296 of the 1991 Session Laws reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 2. Travel and Tourism Authority. (a) Appointment and membership. After the Town of Mooresville adopts a resolution levying an occupancy tax under this act, it shall also adopt a resolution creating a Travel and Tourism Authority, which shall be a public authority under the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act. The membership of the Authority shall consist of: two members representing the Mooresville-South Iredell Chamber of Commerce; two members representing the motel or travel and tourism industry; and one member of the Mooresville Town Board. The resolution shall provide for terms of office, and for the filling of vacancies on the Authority. The Mooresville Town Board shall designate one member of the Authority as chair and shall determine the compensation, if any, to be paid to members of the Authority. Members shall serve at the pleasure of the Mooresville Town Board.

The Authority shall meet at the call of the chair and shall adopt rules of procedure to govern its meetings. The Finance Officer for the Town of Mooresville shall be the ex officio finance officer of the Authority.

(b) Duties. The Authority shall expend the net proceeds of the tax levied under this act for the purposes provided in Section 1 of this act. The Authority shall promote travel, tourism, and conventions in the Greater Mooresville area; sponsor tourism related events and activities; and finance tourism related capital projects in the Greater Mooresville ~~area with the fifty percent (50%) of the net proceeds set aside by the Town of Mooresville, all disbursements from which shall be subject to approval by the Mooresville Town Board.~~ area.

(c) Reports. The Authority shall report at the close of the fiscal year to the Mooresville Town Board, or more often if required by said Board, on its receipts and expenditures for the preceding year in such detail as the Board may require."

Section 3. Section 3 of S.L. 1997-410, as amended by Section 2 of S.L. 1997-447 and Section 4 of S.L. 1998-112, reads as rewritten:

"Section 3. Municipal Administrative Provisions. G.S. 160A-215, as enacted by S.L. 1997-361 and S.L. 1997-364, applies to the Cities of Goldsboro, Lumberton, Mount Airy, Shelby, and Statesville, to the ~~Town of St. Pauls~~ Towns of Mooresville and St. Pauls, and to the municipalities in Brunswick County."

Section 4. This act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation - Division of Motor Vehicles

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue an International Association of Fire Fighters special registration plate. DMV must receive 300 applications before issuing the plate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for an International Association of Fire Fighters (IAFF) special registration plate will pay $10. This $10 is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account. Although the IAFF claims 2,000 members in North Carolina, this fiscal note assumes only the minimum 300 applicants needed to qualify for the plate. At $10 a plate, this will generate $3,000 a year for the Special Registration Plate Account. There is no increase in the Highway Fund since the $20 vehicle registration fee is paid for regular and special plates.

According to the DMV and the Department of Corrections, there is a one-time cost of $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of $2.52 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. The total production cost for 300 plates is $856.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: County and City Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 2 of this act is effective on and after July 1, 1998, and expires September 1, 2003. Section 3 of this act is effective when it becomes law. The remainder of this act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1998.

*This property was included in the property tax loss when the bill passed last year.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several changes to legislation enacted last year to temporarily exempt qualifying continuing care retirement communities (CCRC) from property tax. First, it eliminates a grandfather clause that may be unconstitutional. The original bill established CCRC bylaw requirements for the exemption, as the bylaws existed on August 15, 1998. The bill removes the date requirement. Second, the bill expands the qualifying governing board language. Under current law the board must be a 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation. The bill expands this definition to include 501(c)(8) and (10) associations. Third, it creates a disincentive for counties and cities to "discover" qualifying CCRCs and attempt to collect back taxes.

BACKGROUND: From a tax perspective, before April 1998, there were four categories of retirement communities in North Carolina. The first category of facilities was "charitable". These facilities were exempt from property tax because they were used exclusively for charitable purposes and were organized as not for profit groups. A second category of homes was those exempt from property tax under G.S. 131A-21. Under this statute, homes financed by medical commission bonds are exempt from tax for the life of the bond. A third category of homes was non-profit homes affiliated with religious or Masonic organizations. They were categorized as "non-charitable religious." All "non-charitable religious" homes were exempt from property tax. A fourth group of homes was the "non-charitable, non-religious." These "non-charitable, non-religious" facilities can be either for-profit or not-for-profit. Both types of "non-charitable, non-religious" facilities were subject to local property tax.

On April 8, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court struck down the property tax exemption for the non-charitable religious organizations in The Appeal of Springmoor, Inc. and Ammons, Inc. The court determined that the plaintiff (Springmoor) was virtually identical to the non-charitable religious organizations receiving the exemption, with one exception: the organizations receiving the exemption were religious. The court found this to be a violation of the First Amendment's prohibition against establishing religion. As such, the court determined that all non-charitable homes for the aging, regardless of religious affiliation, should be subject to property tax. The court ruling had no impact on the charitable homes or those exempt because of medical commission bonds, and they are still exempt from property tax.

The 1998 Session of the General Assembly passed legislation granting a temporary property tax exemption to qualifying CCRCs. The nine point criteria was used in an attempt to grant this exemption to the same CCRCs that were exempt before the Springmoor decision. It also instructed the Legislative Research Commission to conduct a comprehensive study of the property tax exemptions for non-profit institutions, and make a final report to the 2000 regular session of the legislature.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill has two potential revenue impacts. In 1998 the General Assembly developed a nine point criteria that CCRC's must meet to receive the temporary property tax exemption. The criteria are as follows:

1. its grounds and buildings are at a single site, and
2. it is designed for elderly residents, and
3. it has independent living facilities, and
4. it has either:
    A) skilled nursing facilities or
    B) adult care facilities, and
5. it is exempt from corporate income tax, and
6. its net revenues are applied to providing uncompensated goods and services to the elderly and the local community, and
7. it is a 501(c)3 organization, and
8. it has an active fundraising program that subsidizes those in financial need, and
9. a majority of its board of directors or trustees is selected by a publicly supported 501(c)3 organization that is
    A) organized for charitable purposes, and
    B) is not a private foundation.

At that time attorney's associated with the North Carolina Association of Non-Profit Homes for the Aging (NCANPHA) assured legislative staff that these requirements would allow all CCRCs that were previously exempt to claim a temporary exemption from property tax. However, NCANPHA and some county assessors now believe that at least one of the communities the Legislature intended to exempt is now subject to property tax. This organization is currently subject to the tax because they do not meet the qualifications set out in nine (9) above. The Masonic and Eastern Star Home in Guilford County is not governed by a non-profit organization. A non-profit fraternal association oversees it.

By expanding the language to include CCRCs that are governed by non-profit corporations and associations, defined as a 501(c)(3), (8), and (10) organizations, the bill effectively grants a temporary property tax exemption to the Masonic and Easter Star Home. According to the Guilford County Assessor's office, the Masonic and Eastern Star home holds property valued at $9,867,000. The tax currently associated with this property is $120,347*.

The second potential impact is a result of Section Two. Under current law , counties and cities can "discover" property that is subject to tax and collect current and back taxes on the property. Penality can also be assessed. Section Two of the bill authorizes the Secretary of Revenue to reduce a county or city's intangibles tax reimbursement from the state if they "discover" property that should be temporarily exempt under G.S. 105-278.6A (the CCRC provision). The intangibles tax allocation reduction must be equal to 110% of the taxes collected on discovered qualifying CCRC property. This creates a disincentive for counties or municipalities to "discover" and collect taxes on qualifying CCRC activity. While three counties have indicated to either Fiscal Research or a CCRC their interest in collecting back taxes on "discovered" CCRC property, this is not a representative sample. Further, because this property can be "discovered" at any time, Fiscal Research can not accurately predict when and if counties would "discover" these properties without the bill. Therefore, no reliable fiscal estimate is possible on this portion of the bill.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina State Board of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill is effective October 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes the following changes: 1) changes the exam fee from up to $200 to an amount up to $100 plus cost of the exam; 2) increases the fee for going into inactive status from $25 to $50 per year and reduces the period of inactive status from 5 years to 4 years; 3) increases the cost of a temporary license from $100 to $200, but keeps free renewal of temporary license; and 4) sets a maximum annual fee of $2000 for course providers of Continuing Education courses.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

I. Exams

The Board of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators (State Board) now collects $200 for examination of administrators-in-training. From this fee, $150 is sent to the National Association of Boards of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators and $50 is retained by the State Board to cover processing costs. In January 2000, administrators-in-training will pay the National Board directly for the exam. The proposed language in section one of the bill allows the State Board to collect up to $100 for processing the exam and states that exam applicants will pay the actual cost of the exam. Since the State Board has no plans to increase their processing fee beyond the $50 now charged, revised 90-280(a) has no fiscal impact.

II. Inactive Status

In each of the last two years, there have been 57 applicants for inactive status. Revised 90-280(e) increases the fee from $25 to $50 per year and reduces the time permitted on inactive status from 5 to 4 years. This change could encourage former nursing home administrators to reapply for a permanent license or simply let their license lapse. The State Board makes no prediction on the future of this group, but simply projects that an average of 57 applicants each year will pay the new $50 rate. At this new rate, the State Board will collect $1,425 in new revenue each year.

III. Temporary License

The State Board issued 46 temporary licenses in 1997-98 and has issued 44 temporary licenses in the first 9 months of 1998-99. When the State Board meets every six weeks it approves temporary licenses until the next exam period, which are held four times a year. The State Board expects the number of temporary licenses to remain at 46 per year even with the increase to $200 in 90-280(f). This will generate $4,600 in additional revenue each year.

IV. Course Fees

The State Board may charge up to $100 to certify a continuing education course offered by an agency or individual, but now charges $50 per course. 90-280(g) offers a new option to groups who provide numerous continuing education courses. The State Board believes such groups as the NC Health Care Facilities Association, the NC Nonprofit Association, and the Northwest AHEC will take advantage of this $2,000 annual fee. The new fee will reduce the paperwork on both the State Board and the course sponsors and is not expected to reduce course revenue.

SENATE BILL 878
Second Edition Engrossed 4/27/99

Short Title: Nonprofit Water Corp. Loans. (Public)

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW CERTAIN NONPROFIT WATER CORPORATIONS TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR REVOLVING LOANS AND GRANTS FROM THE DRINKING WATER TREATMENT REVOLVING LOAN FUND.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 159G-2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 159G-2. Purpose.

The General Assembly hereby recognizes that a critical need exists in this State to provide for a low-interest funding source for municipal water and wastewater capital facilities. Local government efforts to meet this need have been restricted by the inability of many units to finance necessary improvements to inadequate or nonexistent water supply and wastewater treatment systems. The decrease in financial capacity has resulted in large part from the diminished availability of federal loans and grants and the elimination of the federal general revenue sharing program, which funded a wide range of local capital improvements.

The problems have been further complicated by the uncertainty concerning Clean Water Act funding, the growing number of local units which are under moratoriums against additional connections for sewer service, and the July 1, 1988, deadline for compliance with federal effluent standards.

It is the intent and purpose of the General Assembly by this Chapter to create a program to facilitate early construction of these environmental improvements by establishing a revolving loan fund for financing such projects. This fund will enable local government units to obtain low-interest loans for financing projects for wastewater treatment ~~and water supply;~~ and for certain emergency purposes. This fund will also enable local government units and nonprofit water corporations to obtain low-interest loans for financing projects for water supply. It is the further intent and purpose of the General Assembly to provide grants to local government units for wastewater treatment and to provide grants to local government units and nonprofit water corporations for water supply facilities. The General Assembly seeks by this Chapter to encourage and assist local government units to meet their responsibilities to their citizens to maintain a clean and healthful environment and an abundant supply of pure water and further to provide an adequate base for economic growth."

(2) The maximum principal amount of a revolving loan or a grant may be one hundred percent (100%) of the nonfederal share of the construction costs of any eligible project. The maximum principal amount of revolving loans made to any one ~~local government unit~~ applicant during any fiscal year shall be eight million dollars ($8,000,000). The maximum principal amount of grants made to any ~~one local government unit~~ applicant during any fiscal year shall be three million dollars ($3,000,000).

(3) The State Treasurer shall be responsible for investing and distributing all funds appropriated or accruing to the Clean Water Revolving Loan and Grant Fund for revolving loans and grants under this Chapter. In fulfilling his or her responsibilities under this section, the State Treasurer shall make a written request to the Department of Environment and Natural Resources to arrange for the appropriated funds to be (i) transferred from the appropriate accounts to ~~a local government unit~~ an applicant to provide funds for one or more revolving loans or grants or (ii) invested as authorized by this Chapter with the interest on and the principal of such investments to be transferred to the ~~local government unit~~ applicant to provide funds for one or more revolving loans or grants.

(b) Wastewater Accounts. -- The sums allocated in G.S. 159G-4 and accruing to the various Wastewater Accounts in each fiscal year shall be used to make revolving loans and grants to local government units as provided below. The projects which would require estimated average household water and sewer user fees greater than one and one-half percent (1.5%) of the median household income are defined as high-unit cost wastewater projects and will be eligible for a grant equal to the excess cost, subject to the limitations in subdivision (a)(2) of this section. However, if the applicant upon completion of the project will have only a single utility service, then the eligibility of the applicant for such a grant shall be determined by comparing estimated average household user fees for the single utility service that will be offered, for debt service and operation and maintenance costs, to three-fourths percent (3/4%) of the median household income in the local government unit in which the project is located. The single utility projects which would require estimated average household water or sewer user fees (as appropriate) greater than three-fourths percent (3/4%) of the median household income are defined as high-unit cost wastewater projects and will be eligible for a grant equal to the excess cost, subject to the limitations in subdivision (a)(2) of this section.

(3) Emergency Wastewater Revolving Loan Account. -- The funds in the Emergency Wastewater Revolving Loan Account shall be available for revolving emergency loans to applicants in the event the Environmental Management Commission certifies that a serious public health hazard, related to the inadequacy of existing wastewater facilities, is present or imminent in a community.

(3) Emergency Water Supply Revolving Loan Account. -- The funds in the Emergency Water Supply Revolving Loan Account shall be available for revolving emergency loans to applicants in the event the Division of Environmental Health certifies that a serious public health hazard, related to the water supply system, is present or imminent in a community.

(d) Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 186, s. 4.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Chapter, funds in the Water Pollution Control Revolving Fund shall not be available as grants except to the extent permitted by Title VI of the Federal Water Quality Act of 1987 and the regulations thereunder."

Section 6. G.S. 159G-9 reads as rewritten:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT AUTHORIZING THE TOWN OF CHAPEL HILL TO ENTER INTO DEVELOPMENT AGREEMENTS WITH OWNERS OF LARGE TRACTS OF LAND WITHIN THE TOWN AND ITS EXTRATERRITORIAL PLANNING JURISDICTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Part to read:

"Part 3D. Development Agreements.

"§ 160A-400.15. Purpose.

It is the purpose of this Part to authorize municipalities to enter into development agreements with owners of large tracts of land within their respective jurisdictions.

"§ 160A-400.16. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Part:

(1) Development agreement. -- An agreement, authorized by duly enacted local zoning ordinance and entered into between a municipality and an owner of a large tract of land, that recognizes (i) the plan of development of the land, (ii) the terms and conditions for development and the commitments and obligations of the parties to accomplish the terms of the development, and (iii) the municipality's authority to modify its land use regulations for a period of time to comply with the requirements of this Part.

(2) Large tract of land. -- A contiguous tract or parcel of land, including any intervening publicly dedicated right-of-way or utility easements, consisting of at least 150 acres.

(3) Vested right. -- The term as defined in G.S. 160A-385.1.

(4) Contract zoning. -- A transaction wherein both the landowner who is seeking a certain zoning action and the zoning authority itself undertake reciprocal obligations in the context of a bilateral contract.

"§ 160A-400.17. Development agreements authorized.

(a) A municipality may by ordinance authorize the execution of development agreements between the municipality and the owner of a large tract of land to establish commitments and obligations of the parties as more fully described in this Part, and may authorize the assessment of a fee not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00) on the owner of a large tract of land as a condition of such development agreement. Such fee, in the discretion of the municipality, may be waived for good cause shown.

(b) Development agreements entered into pursuant to an ordinance enacted under this Part are permissible and lawful and shall not constitute illegal contract zoning. A municipality may enter into a long-term development agreement as authorized by this Part and commit the municipality to that agreement beyond the term of the members of the municipality's governing board who authorize the agreement.

(c) A municipality and the owner of a large tract of land are authorized to establish a time period for the duration of vested rights for the plan of development recognized in the development agreement, not to exceed 25 years for the initial agreement.

(d) A municipality's development regulations, laws, and policies governing the development of the large tract of land at the time of the execution of the development agreement shall govern the development of the land for the duration of the development agreement, except that subsequently adopted laws may be applied pursuant to subsection (f) of this section.

(e) Any subsequent change in any applicable municipal ordinance enacted by the municipality that alters or amends the standards for development of the large tract of land shall not apply, except as provided by subsection (f) of this section.

(f) A municipality may apply subsequently adopted laws and policies to a development that is subject to a development agreement if the municipality holds a public hearing and determines by competent evidence that:

(1) The subsequently adopted laws do not prevent the development of the buildings identified in the plan of development in the development agreement;

(2) The subsequently adopted laws are essential to the public health or safety, and expressly state that they shall apply to a development agreement;

(3) The subsequently adopted laws are laws of general applicability throughout the municipality; and

(4) The municipality demonstrates that substantial changes have occurred in pertinent conditions existing at the time of approval of the development agreement.

(g) Any otherwise applicable limitations on duration of vested rights contained in G.S. 160A-385.1 or elsewhere shall not apply.

(h) If a municipality and the owner of a large tract of land enter into an initial development agreement, the parties are further authorized, by following the procedures set out in this Part, to enter into subsequent development agreements for part or all of property which is the subject of the initial agreement.

"§ 160A-400.18. Contents of agreements; procedure.

(a) A development agreement shall include the following:

(1) A legal description of the real property subject to the agreement.

(2) The names of all owners of legal or equitable interests in the real property.

(3) The initial duration of the agreement, which shall not exceed 25 years and shall include procedures for extension.

(4) A plan that recognizes development of the land, the terms and conditions for development, and the commitments and obligations of the parties to accomplish the plan of development.

(5) A description of all local development permits already approved or which may be required in the future for the development of the property subject to the agreement, including whether further development agreements may be necessary.

(6) The commitments made by the municipality to the property owner to recognize the rights of the property owner to develop the tract consistent with the plan of development as established by the municipality and the development agreement.

(7) A finding that the proposed development is consistent with the comprehensive plan and development regulations of the municipality.

(8) A description of the conditions, terms, restrictions, or other requirements determined by the municipality to be necessary to ensure (i) conformance with the municipality's development regulations, laws, and policies governing the development of the large tract of land at the time of the execution of the development agreement, and (ii) the public health, safety, or welfare as specifically defined in the criteria and standards established in the municipality's development regulations, laws, and policies governing the development.

(9) Provisions stating that the development agreement is binding upon the property which is the subject of the agreement and upon the property's owners and their successors and assigns.

(b) A development agreement may include the following:

(1) The period in which and terms by which development and construction, in part or in its entirety, must be commenced or be completed; and

(2) Any other necessary or proper matter.

(c) A municipality shall establish by ordinance procedures to be followed for the enactment of a development agreement, including requirements that:

(1) The municipality receive a recommendation from its planning agency and conduct a public hearing prior to approving and entering a development agreement.

(2) The owner, within 180 days of approval of a development agreement, cause a copy of the agreement to be recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds where the property is located.

(3) Pertain to any other necessary or proper matter.

"§ 160A-400.19. Requirements for zoning ordinance implementing this Part.

Any development agreement entered into under the authority of this Part shall be authorized by a duly enacted zoning ordinance of the municipality. The ordinance shall include:

(1) Procedural requirements for amendment, termination, and revocation of the agreement.

(2) Provisions for the enforcement of the terms of the agreement by any party to the agreement or their successors in interest in accordance with the general law, including injunctive relief.

(3) Any other necessary or proper matter.

"§ 160A-400.20. Application of Part to property owned by the State.

(a) All of the provisions of this Part are hereby made applicable to the erection, construction, and use of buildings by the State of North Carolina and its political subdivisions.

(b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, nothing in this Part shall prevent the parties from addressing nonbuilding uses of land in a development agreement.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or local law or ordinance, no land owned by the State of North Carolina may be included within an overlay district or a special use or conditional use district without approval of the Council of State.

"§ 160A-400.21. Applicability.

This Part applies only to the Town of Chapel Hill."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO LIMIT THE HOSPITAL PROPERTY TAX EXEMPTION TO CERTAIN PROPERTY USED AND OWNED BY A HOSPITAL ORGANIZED FOR A CHARITABLE PURPOSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-278.8 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-278.8. Real and personal property used for charitable hospital purposes.

~~(a) Real and personal property held for or owned by a hospital organized and operated as a nonstock, nonprofit, charitable institution (without profit to members or their successors) shall be exempted from taxation if actually and exclusively used for charitable hospital purposes.~~

~~(b) Notwithstanding the exclusive-use requirements of subsection (a), above, if part of a property that otherwise meets that subsection's requirements is used for a purpose that would require exemption under that subsection if the entire property were so used, the valuation of the part so used shall be exempted from taxation.~~

~~(c) Within the meaning of this section, a charitable hospital purpose is a hospital purpose that has humane and philanthropic objectives; it is a hospital activity that benefits humanity or a significant rather than limited segment of the community without expectation of pecuniary profit or reward. However, the fact that a qualifying hospital charges patients who are able to pay for services rendered does not defeat the exemption granted by this section.~~

(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Charitable home care agency. -- A home care agency that is licensed under Chapter 131E of the General Statutes and is owned by a charitable hospital.

(2) Charitable hospice. -- A hospice that is licensed under Chapter 131E of the General Statutes and is owned by a charitable hospital.

(3) Charitable hospital. -- A hospital organized and operated as a nonstock, nonprofit, charitable institution without profit to members or their successors.

(4) Charitable hospital purposes. -- A hospital purpose that has humane and philanthropic objectives; it is a hospital activity that benefits humanity or a significant rather than limited segment of the community without expectation of pecuniary profit or reward. However, the fact that a charitable facility charges patients who are able to pay for services rendered does not mean that the facility is not used for a charitable hospital purpose.

(b) Inpatient Property. -- Buildings, and the land they actually occupy, are exempt from taxation if they are owned by a charitable hospital and are used exclusively as a facility that provides health care or medical care on an inpatient basis for charitable hospital purposes. In addition, the exemption applies to any of the following facilities owned by the charitable hospital if they provide services directly to the hospital's inpatient care facilities, the employees that work in the inpatient care facilities, or the patients that are treated in the inpatient care facilities:

(1) Food preparation and food service facilities.

(2) Clinical, pathological, and other laboratories.

(3) Laundries.

(4) Residences and training facilities for nurses, physicians, and other staff members.

(5) Hospital day care centers used exclusively by the employees.

(c) Home Care and Hospice Care Property. -- Buildings, and the land they actually occupy, are exempt from taxation if they are owned by a charitable home care agency or a charitable hospice and are used exclusively as a facility that provides health care or medical care on a home care or hospice basis for charitable hospital purposes.

(d) Partial Use. -- Notwithstanding the exclusive-use requirements of this section, if only part of a facility that otherwise meets the requirements for exemption is used for a purpose that would require exemption if the entire property were so used, the valuation of the part so used is exempt from taxation.

(e) Personal Property. -- Personal property owned by a charitable hospital and used in a facility meeting the requirements of subsection (b) of this section is exempt from taxation. Personal property owned by a charitable home care agency or a charitable hospice and used in a facility meeting the requirements of subsection (c) of this section is exempt from taxation."

Section 2. This act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999.

Referred to: Finance.

April 8, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO LIMIT THE HOSPITAL PROPERTY TAX EXEMPTION TO CERTAIN PROPERTY USED AND OWNED BY A HOSPITAL ORGANIZED FOR A CHARITABLE PURPOSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-278.8 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-278.8. Real and personal property used for charitable hospital purposes.

~~(a) Real and personal property held for or owned by a hospital organized and operated as a nonstock, nonprofit, charitable institution (without profit to members or their successors) shall be exempted from taxation if actually and exclusively used for charitable hospital purposes.~~

~~(b) Notwithstanding the exclusive-use requirements of subsection (a), above, if part of a property that otherwise meets that subsection's requirements is used for a purpose that would require exemption under that subsection if the entire property were so used, the valuation of the part so used shall be exempted from taxation.~~

~~(c) Within the meaning of this section, a charitable hospital purpose is a hospital purpose that has humane and philanthropic objectives; it is a hospital activity that benefits humanity or a significant rather than limited segment of the community without expectation of pecuniary profit or reward. However, the fact that a qualifying hospital charges patients who are able to pay for services rendered does not defeat the exemption granted by this section.~~

(a) Buildings, and the land they actually occupy, are exempt from taxation if both of the following requirements are met:

(1) They are owned by a hospital organized and operated as a nonstock, nonprofit, charitable institution without profit to members or their successors.

(2) They are used exclusively as a facility that provides health care or medical care on an inpatient basis for charitable hospital purposes.

(b) Notwithstanding the exclusive-use requirements of subsection (a) of this section, if part of a property that otherwise meets that subsection's requirements is used for a purpose that would require exemption under that subsection if the entire property were so used, the valuation of the part so used shall be exempted from taxation.

(c) Personal property owned by a hospital and used in a facility meeting the requirements of subsection (a) of this section is exempt from taxation.

(d) Within the meaning of this section, a charitable hospital purpose is a hospital purpose that has humane and philanthropic objectives; it is a hospital activity that benefits humanity or a significant rather than limited segment of the community without expectation of pecuniary profit or reward. However, the fact that a qualifying facility charges patients who are able to pay for services rendered does not defeat the exemption granted by this section.

(e) The exemption also applies to any of the following facilities owned by the hospital that provide services directly to property that meets the requirements of subsection (a), the employees that work on the property, or the patients that are treated on the property:

(1) Food preparation and food service facilities.

(2) Clinical, pathological, and other laboratories.

(3) Laundries.

(4) Residences and training facilities for nurses, physicians, and other staff members.

(5) Hospital day care centers used exclusively by the employees."

Section 2. This act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 954:
Clarify Hospital Propery Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Connie Wilson
Date:	May 27, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H954-PCS3426-LC		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 954 redefines the hospital property tax exemption to limit it to facilities that provide inpatient health care or medical care. The proposed committee substitute expands the exemption to include home care agencies and hospices that are owned by a charitable hospital.

CURRENT LAW: All 50 states and the District of Columbia exempt property of charitable organizations from taxation. Thirty-five states provide specific exemptions for hospitals; however, the language of the exemptions varies considerably.

In North Carolina, hospitals may be exempt under one of at least three different property tax exemptions. Real and personal property owned by a hospital owned by a unit of local government is exempt from property tax. Property owned by a teaching hospital is exempt from property tax as property used for an education purpose. And, property owned by a nonprofit, charitable hospital is exempt from property tax if the property is used exclusively for charitable hospital purposes.

The statute defines a nonprofit, charitable hospital as one organized and operated as a nonstock, nonprofit, charitable institution. The term "charitable hospital purposes" is defined very broadly as a purpose that has humane and philanthropic objectives. In the last few years, nonprofit, charitable hospitals have purchased medical practices, hotels, and apartments. Since this property is often used for a "humane or philanthropic objective", the counties have exempted that property from taxation, even though the business of the property is not what one would associate with a hospital.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 954 limits the hospital property tax exemption by requiring that the facility be used exclusively to provide health care or medical care on an inpatient basis. The bill specifically exempts from property tax facilities used to provide health care or medical care by a home care agency or hospice for charitable hospital purposes when the home care agency or hospice is owned by a charitable hospital. The bill clarifies that the exemption extends to the following property owned by the hospital that provides services directly to the hospital or its employees and patients:

- Food preparation and foods service facilities.
- Clinical, pathological, and other laboratories.
- Laundries.
- Student housing and training facilities for nurses, physicians, and other staff members.
- Hospital day care centers used exclusively by the employees.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: County and City Governments, and the North Carolina Department of Revenue, Property Tax Division.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation defines and clarifies the types of non-profit hospital owned property that is exempt from property tax. Under current law non-profit, non-stock, charitable hospitals are exempt from property tax if they are "actually and exclusively used for charitable hospital purposes." The first portion of the bill clarifies that buildings and land actually occupied by a hospital are exempt if 1) they are owned by a "hospital organized and operated" as a non-stock, non-profit charitable institution and 2) they are used exclusively to provide health or medical care on an inpatient basis for charitable hospital purposes. The business personal property associated with a qualifying institution is also exempt. The second portion of the bill exempts food preparation facilities, food service facilities, laboratories, laundries, hospital day care centers (for employee use only), and residences and training facilities for hospital staff if the hospital meets the previous qualifications. These additional facilities are only exempt if the facility provides services directly to employees that work on the property or patients treated there.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In January 1999 Fiscal Research surveyed all 100 county assessors to determine the amount of non-government property, in each county, that is exempt from property tax. County assessors were asked to provide listings of all non-government exempt property by category. Twenty-seven counties responded to the survey, including most of the counties with significant medical facilities. The survey responses indicate that approximately $1,595,151,439 of property is owned by non-government, non-profit hospitals, and is exempt from tax, in these counties. (This does not include those exempt because of medical commission bonds). If taxed this would represent approximately $15.95 million in property taxes.

The North Carolina Association of Assessing Officials and the North Carolina County Commissioners Association, in conjunction with Fiscal Research, attempted to survey county assessors and county managers to determine the impact of HB 954. Unfortunately, only five counties have responded to the survey at this time. The responding counties report that HB 954 will have the following fiscal impact:

County	Value of Property Impacted	Revenue Change
Forsyth	$60,000,000 - $75,000,000	$725,000
Mecklenburg	$41,000,000	$431,000
Durham	$25,000,000	$405,000*
Wake	unknown	Potential revenue loss
* Indicates this includes city taxes as well.

The counties that reported a potential gain indicated that the revenue increase would be a result of taxing outpatient services, outpatient rehabilitation centers, and outpatient surgical facilities. The county that reported a potential revenue loss indicated that they are currently taxing many of the facilities mentioned in the second portion of the bill.

Given the inconsistent impact the bill has on the reporting counties, their experiences can not be used as proxies for the remaining counties. Because of the information available is so limited, Fiscal Research can not provide an accurate estimate at this time.

ANALYSIS OF HB 1069

Definitions. HB 1069 clarifies that the practice of clinical social work and social work includes treatment by whatever means of communication, and clarifies that the practice of social work includes performing services by whatever means of communication.

Production of Records Concerning the Practice of Social Work. The bill adds a new subsection (i) to allow the Board to order the production of records concerning the practice of social work that are relevant to a complaint, inquiry, or investigation.

Fees. This section lists all fees that may be charged by the Board, as outlined above. This section of the bill also:

- Authorizes the Board to establish a graduated fee schedule for renewals that is based upon the applicant's level of certification or licensure. Fees may not exceed the maximum set by statute.
- Authorizes the Board to establish fees for the actual cost of duplication services, materials, and returned bank items.
- Provides that all fees derived from services provided by the Board are nonrefundable and requires the Board to maintain accounts of all receipts.

Qualifications for Certified Social Workers. Current law provides that an applicant is qualified to be a Certified Social Worker if the applicant:

- Has a bachelor's degree in a social work program that is accredited or admitted to candidacy for accreditation by the Council on Social Work Education for undergraduate curricula; OR
- Has a bachelor's degree in a subject area related to human services and has completed a minimum of 18 semester hours of social work training in an accredited social work program.

House Bill 1069 allows only those applicants who have a bachelor's degree in social work from an accredited college or university to become a Certified Social Worker.

Reciprocity. Current law permits the Board to grant a certificate to an applicant who is certified, registered, or licensed as a social worker in another country, state, or territory if the standards under which the person was certified, registered, or licensed are substantially the same as required by NC law.

House Bill 1069 adds the requirement that the applicant must have passed an exam in the country, state, or territory where the applicant is certified, registered, or licensed that is equivalent to the exam required for the level or certification or licensure in NC.

Temporary Licenses. This section of the bill authorizes the Board to issue a temporary license to a nonresident clinical social worker who is certified, registered, or licensed in another jurisdiction provided that the standards for certification, registration, or licensure were substantially the same as or higher than those in NC. However, a nonresident clinical social worker who is certified, registered, or licensed in another state will not be prohibited from rendering professional services in NC for a period of not more than 5 days in a calendar year. Finally, this section ensures that individuals granted a temporary license must comply with the supervision requirements of the Board.

Renewal/Suspension of Certificate or License for Failure to Renew. Current law provides that all certificates and licenses expire on the second June 30 after issuance. This section of the bill automatically suspends a certificate or license for failure to renew for a period of more than 60 days after the renewal date. The Board may reinstate the certificate or license upon payment of the reinstatement fee and may require the applicant to provide further information.

Inactive Status. This section clarifies that an individual who is certified or licensed who temporarily retires from the practice of social work is not required to pay renewal fees while temporarily retire. In order to reinstate a certificate or license, the individual must make a request for reinstatement and pay the reinstatement fee.

Disciplinary Procedures. This section authorizes the Board to deny, suspend, or revoke a certificate or license if an individual enters a plea of guilty or no contest to a misdemeanor or felony. (Currently, the individual must be convicted of the misdemeanor or felony.)

Alternatives to Denying, Suspending, or Revoking a Certificate or License. This section authorizes the Board to take one or more of the following actions if an individual has committed a prohibited act in G.S. 90B-11(a):

1. Issue a reprimand or censure.
2. Order probation with conditions deemed appropriate by the Board.
3. Require examination, remediation, or rehabilitation, including care, counseling, or treatment by a professional with the cost borne by the individual.
4. Require supervision by a certified or licensed social worker with the cost borne by the individual.
5. Limit the practice of social work provided by the individual with respect to the extent, nature, or location of the services provided.

These alternative disciplinary procedures are substantially the same as those in the Psychology Practice Act.

Probation/Restrictions After Suspension. This section authorizes the Board to impose conditions of probation or restrictions on practice after a period of suspension or as a requirement for the restoration of a revoked or suspended certificate or license. It also allows the Board to enter into a consent order with an individual instead of or in connection with a disciplinary proceeding or investigation. The consent order may be relative to a discipline supervision, probation, remediation, rehabilitation, or practice limitation. These provisions are substantially the same as those in the Psychology Practice Act.

Competence to Practice Social Work. This section authorizes the Board to require an applicant, certificate holder, or licensee to submit to a mental or physical examination when the Board is considering whether the individual is mentally or physically capable of practicing social work with reasonable skill or safety. This section does not require the Board to petition the court to order the individual to undergo the examination(s). These provisions are substantially the same as those in the Medical Practice Act.

Opportunity for Hearing. This section requires the Board to provide the opportunity for a hearing to an individual whose certificate or license has been subjected to disciplinary action, or prior to any disciplinary action. It also provides that if an individual waives the opportunity for a hearing, the Board's disciplinary action is final. Finally, there is no entitlement to a hearing for failure to pass an exam. This section is substantially the same as the Psychology Practice Act.

Records. This section allows the Board to withhold the identity of any client who has not consented to public disclosure in Board proceedings against an applicant, certificate holder, or licensee. The Board would also be authorized to close hearings to the public if necessary to protect the rights of a client. Furthermore, documents containing information complied by on or behalf of the Board as a result of an investigation, inquiry, or interview conducted in connection with certification, licensure, or a disciplinary matter are not considered public records. However, notices, statements of charges, notices of hearing, decisions rendered in connection with a hearing, and all other information compiled by or on behalf of the Board, except for information identifying a client who has not consented to public disclosure, are public records. These requirements are substantially the same as those in the Psychology Practice Act.

Costs of Disciplinary Action. The Board may assess the costs of disciplinary action against an applicant, certificate holder, or licensee who is found to be in violation of this Chapter. This authority is the same as in the Psychology Practice Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Certification Board for Social Workers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation makes several changes to the fee schedule and clarifies disciplinary procedures for social workers. It reclassifies certified clinical social workers as licensed clinical social workers. It also modifies the existing social work licensure fee schedule, and introduces new fees.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The North Carolina certification program for social workers, and the associated fees, was established in 1982. The fees have not changed since that time. In 1993 certification became mandatory for clinical social workers. Previously certification was voluntary. According to Board members, this change dramatically increased the workload of the Board. In 1996-97 the Board provided 570 clinical social work renewal certifications (CCSW). In the following fiscal year the Board offered 1630 clinical social work renewal certifications. These certifications, as well as all other certifications offered by the board, must be renewed every two years. The board charges the maximum fee of $50.00. Previous renewal revenue for clinical social workers is as follows:

Year	Clinical Social Worker Cert.	Revenue
1996-97	576	28,800
1997-98	1639	81,950

Based on the last four fiscal years, the Board believes 10% is a reasonable growth rate for the number of clinical social workers over the next five fiscal years. The legislation authorizes the Board to increase the fee to a maximum of $200.00 for this group. However, they anticipate moving gradually to that level. They expect to charge approximately $100.00 for clinical renewals in FY 1999-00, and $125.00 in FY 00-01. No Board decision has been made about fees in the out years. Assuming the board charges $100.00 in FY 1999-00, $125.00 in FY 2000-01, and the maximum of $200 in future years, the expected revenue from clinical renewals is as follows:

Year	Clinical Social Worker Cert.	Revenue @ $50	New Revenue Levels	Change
1999-00	1803	90,145	180,290	90,145
2000-01	697	34,848	87,120	52,272
2001-02	1983	99,160	396,638	297,479
2002-03	767	38,333	153,331	114,998
2003-04	2182	109,075	436,302	327,226

(Note: These estimates, and the historical figures, assume both the clinical and provisional clinical social work certifications are raised to the levels indicated above).

The Board also certifies several other related types of social work professionals like social work managers and clinical workers with Masters' degrees. The bill also authorizes an increase in these fees. These certifications must also be renewed every two years. The board currently charges approximately $50.00 for each of these certifications. The Board anticipates increasing these fees to between $55 and $100 in FY 1999-00, and between $60 and $125 in FY 2000-01. In 1996-97 there were 177 individuals in these categories combined. In 1997-98 that number increased to 310. The board anticipates there will be 245 individuals in these categories in FY 1999-00, and 243 in FY 2000-01. The number of each type of certificate, the anticipated fee, and the associated revenue increase, is as follows:

	FY 1999-00				FY 2000-01
	Certif.	New Fee	Revenue	Increase	Certif.	New Fee	Revenue	Increase
Social Work Managers	28	100	$ 2,800	1,400	23	125	$ 2,875	1,725
Master Social Work	83	65	$ 5,395	1,245	79	75	$ 5,925	1,975
Social Worker	134	55	$ 7,370	670	141	60	$ 8,460	1,410
TOTAL	245	220	15565	3,315	243	260	17260	5,110

Fiscal Research assumes these numbers will increase by 10% in the out years. (Because of the cyclical nature of certification the increase is staggered). The five-year revenue estimate for this portion of the bill is as follows:

	Revenue Increase
FY 1999-00	3,315
FY 2000-01	5,110
FY 2001-02	3,647
FY 2002-03	5,621
FY 2003-04	4,011

The bill also authorizes a fee increase for initial applications. Currently the board charges $50.00. Under the legislation the board can increase the fee to as much as $200.00. The Board believes they will charge $100 for the first two years. Last year the board drew approximately $28,125 from initial application fees. If the fee were increased to $100, the Board would see an additional $28,125 in annual revenue. If the board charges the maximum in the out years they would see an increase of approximately $85,000 annually.

The legislation also lowers the administrative fee associated with the national written exam. Under current law the board charges $50.00 plus the actual cost of the test instrument. The bill lowers that amount to $40.00, plus test cost. The Board believes this reduction more accurately reflects the actual administrative expense. In 1997-98, 241 individuals paid an examination fee. No significant change is expected in the number of tests given. Therefore, the board will loose approximately $2,410 as a result of this provision.

The bill establishes a $25.00 fee for temporary and duplicate licenses and certificates, and a $200.00 fee for reinstatement. The Board expects the revenue from these changes to be insignificant, but feels such provisions are necessary to clarify the law. This fiscal note assumes $1,000 in revenue from these provisions.

According to Board members, the revenue from increased fees will be used to establish an office with a professionally trained director and support staff. They note that full time staff is needed to provide professional training and support for social workers and appropriate record keeping. They believe the renewal fees in the bill are in line with those charged by similar professional boards in North Carolina.

The total net change in revenue as a result of the bill is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02*	2002-03*	2003-04*
CCSW Renewals	90,145	52,272	297,479	114,998	327,226
Other Renewals	3,315	5,110	3,647	5,621	4,011
Initial Applications	28,125	28,125	85,000	85,000	85,000
Exams	(2,410)	(2,410)	(2,410)	(2,410)	(2,410)
Other Provisions	1,000	1,000	1,000	1,000	1,000
TOTAL	120,175	84,097	384,715	204,209	414,828

* Because the Board has yet to determine the fee levels for FY 2001-02 and later years, the note assumes they charge the maximum allowed in the out years.

NOTE: While certification is required for all clinical social workers, this requirement was temporarily waived for government employees. The waiver expired on January 1, 1999. As a result, some of the renewal costs may be transferred to county governments that pay for their employees' certification. However, Board representatives believe this number will be small. Neither the Board nor Fiscal Research is aware of any state payment for employee certification. If the state does not pay for its employees' certification renewals, there is no general fund impact.

(a) Each insurer or managed care entity for a health benefit plan has the duty to exercise ordinary care when making health care treatment decisions and is liable for damages for harm to an insured or enrollee proximately caused by its failure to exercise ordinary care.

(b) In addition to the duty imposed under subsection (a) of this section, each insurer or managed care entity for a health benefit plan is liable for damages for harm to an insured or enrollee proximately caused by the health care treatment decisions made by:

(1) Its agents or employees; or

(2) Representatives that are acting on its behalf and over whom it has the right to exercise influence or significant control with respect to the actual care and treatment of the insured or enrollee which results in the failure to exercise ordinary care.

(c) It shall be a defense to any action brought under this section against an insurer or managed care entity for a health benefit plan that:

(1) Neither the insurer or managed care entity nor an agent or employee for whom the insurer or managed care entity is liable under subsection (b) of this section controlled, influenced, or participated in the health care treatment decision; and

(2) The insurer or other managed care entity did not deny or delay payment for any health care service or treatment prescribed or recommended by a physician or health care provider to the insured or enrolled.

(d) In an action brought under this Article against an insurer or managed care entity, a finding that a physician or health care provider is an agent or employee of the insurer or managed care entity may not be based solely on proof that the physician or health care provider appears in a listing of approved physicians or health care providers made available to insureds or enrollees under the insurer's or managed care entity's health benefit plan.

(e) In any action brought under this Article against an insurer or managed care entity, any law that prohibits the corporate practice of medicine may not be used as a defense by the insurer or managed care entity.

(f) An insurer or managed care entity shall not be liable for the independent actions of a health care provider, who is not an agent or employee of the insurer or managed care entity, when that health care provider fails to exercise the standard of care required by G.S. 90-21.12. A health care provider shall not be liable for the independent actions of an insurer or managed care entity when the insurer or managed care entity fails to exercise the standard of care required by this Article.

(g) Nothing in this Article imposes liability on a physician or health care provider in addition to that otherwise imposed under existing law. No insurer or managed care entity held liable under this Article shall be entitled to contribution under Chapter 1B of the General Statutes from a physician or health care provider, except where there is joint and several liability.

(h) Nothing in this Article shall be construed to create an obligation on the part of an insurer or managed care entity to provide to an insured or enrollee a health care service or treatment that is not covered under its health benefit plan.

(i) A health insurer or managed care entity may not enter into a contract with a physician, hospital, or other health care provider, or with an employer or employer group organization, that includes an indemnification or hold harmless clause for the acts or conduct of the health insurer or managed care entity. Any such indemnification or hold harmless clause is void and unenforceable to the extent of the restriction.

"§ 90-21.52. No liability under this Article on the part of an employer or employer group organization that purchases coverage or assumes risk on behalf of its employees or a pharmacy.

This Article does not create any liability on the part of an employer or employer group purchasing organization that purchases health care coverage or assumes risk on behalf of its employees or a pharmacy issued a permit by the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy under this Chapter.

"§ 90-21.53. Separate trial required.

Upon motion of any party in an action brought pursuant to this Article involving an insurer or managed care entity, the court shall order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim against any physician or other health care provider."

Section 2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 42, reads as rewritten:

"Rule 42. Consolidation; separate trials.

(a) Consolidation. -- ~~When~~ Except as provided in subdivision (b)(2) of this section, when actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending in one division of the court, the judge may order a joint hearing or trial of any or all the matters in issue in the actions; he may order all the actions consolidated; and he may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay. When actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending in both the superior and the district court of the same county, a judge of the superior court in which the action is pending may order all the actions consolidated, and he may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay.

(b) Separate trials. --

(1) The court may in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice and shall for considerations of venue upon timely motion order a separate trial of any claim, ~~crossclaim,~~ cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim, or of any separate issue or of any number of claims, ~~crossclaims,~~ cross-claims, counterclaims, third-party claims, or issues.

(2) Upon motion of any party in an action instituted pursuant to Article 1G of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes involving an insurer, as defined in G.S. 90-21.50, the court shall order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim against a physician or other medical provider."

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to causes of action arising on and after July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 1133:
Health Insurance/Liability

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hackney
Date:	May 27, 1999	Summary by:	Susan Hayes
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel to JI

SUMMARY: House Bill 1133 provides that an insurer providing a health benefit plan is liable for damages for harm to its insureds or enrollees caused by the insurer's failure to exercise ordinary care. The bill received a favorable report from the House Judiciary I Committee. It passed 2nd reading on the House floor on April 27, 1999. The bill was re-referred to Finance on April 29, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1133 enacts a new G.S 90-21.50 through 90-21.53, providing that each insurer or managed care entity for a health benefit plan has the duty to exercise ordinary care when making health care treatment decisions and is liable for damages for harm to an insured or enrollee proximately caused by its failure to do so. The bill also makes the insurer or managed care entity liable for damages for harm proximately caused by health care treatment decisions made by its agents or employees, or its representatives over whom it has the right to exercise influence or control or has actually exercised influence or control that result in the failure to exercise ordinary care.

The insurer or managed care entity has a defense if (1) neither it nor an agent or employee for whom it is liable controlled, influenced or participated in the health care treatment decision and (2) it did not deny or delay payment for any health care service or treatment prescribed or recommended by a physician or health care provider to the insured or enrolled person. The bill does not impose liability on a physician or health care provider in addition to that otherwise imposed under existing law. Also, a health insurer or managed care entity may not enter into a contract with a physician, hospital, or other health care provider that includes an indemnification or hold harmless clause for the acts or conduct of the health insurer or managed care entity. No liability is created on the part of an employer or employer group purchasing organization that purchases health care coverage or assumes risk on behalf of its employees or a pharmacy issued a permit by the NC Board of Pharmacy.

In an action under these provisions involving an insurer, on motion of any party the court must order a separate trial of any claim, cross claim, counterclaim, or third party claim against any physician or other health care provider.

This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to causes of action arising on and after July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY:

HEALTH INS./LIABILITY. TO PROVIDE THAT AN INSURER PROVIDING A HEALTH BENEFIT PLAN IS LIABLE FOR DAMAGES FOR HARM TO ITS INSUREDS OR ENROLLEES CAUSED BY THE INSURER'S FAILURE TO EXERCISE ORDINARY CARE. Enacts new GS 58-3-300 through 58-3-303, providing that each insurer or managed care entity for a health benefit plan has the duty to exercise ordinary care when making health care treatment decisions and is liable for damages for harm to an insured or enrollee proximately caused by its failure to do so. Provides detailed definitions of relevant terms. Also makes insurer or managed care entity liable for damages for harm proximately caused by health care treatment decisions made by its (1) agents or employees or (2) representatives over whom it has the right to exercise influence or control or has actually exercised influence or control that result in the failure to exercise ordinary care. Gives insurer or managed care entity a defense if (1) neither it nor an agent or employee for whom it is liable (as described above) controlled, influenced or participated in the health care treatment decision and (2) it did not deny or delay payment for any health care service or treatment prescribed or recommended by a physician or health care provider to the insured or enrolled person. Does not create liability on the part of an employer or employer group purchasing organization that purchases health care coverage or assumes risk on behalf of its employees or a pharmacy issued a permit by the NC Board of Pharmacy under GS Ch. 90. In an action under these provisions involving an insurer, on motion of any party the court must order a separate trial of any claim, cross claim, counterclaim, or third party claim against any physician or other health care provider. Makes conforming amendment to GS 1A-1, Rule 42. Act is effective when it becomes law and applies to causes of action arising on and after July 1, 1999.

HEALTH INS./LIABILITY. Intro. 4/15/99. House committee substitute makes the following changes to 1st edition. Transfers substantive provisions of bill from GS 58 to GS 90 and makes conforming changes. Clarifies that an insurer or managed care entity is not liable for independent actions of a health care provider, and that a health care provider is not liable for independent actions of an insurer or managed care entity. Clarifies that no additional liability is imposed by act on physicians, and that an insurer or managed care entity is not entitled to contribution from a physician or health care provider unless it is a case of joint and several liability. Makes void and unenforceable any indemnity or hold harmless agreement between health insurers or managed care entities and a health care provider or employers for acts or conduct of the health insurer or managed care entity.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Judicial Branch

The Fiscal Research Division believes there would be a minimal fiscal impact on the judicial system from this bill. A separate trial would be necessary upon the motion of any party to conduct a separate trial on claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, and third-party claims. Neither the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) nor the Fiscal Research Division are able to provide an estimate of the number of separate trials that would take place or the total cost of such separate trials. However, the Fiscal Research Division believes that the minimal impact could be absorbed with existing resources.

HOUSE BILL 1302:
Charter School Fuel Exemption

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Bonner
Date:	May 27, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1302 exempts motor fuel sold to a charter school board for use for charter school purposes from the excise tax on motor fuel. The bill becomes effective October 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: The motor fuel excise tax rate has two components: a flat rate plus a variable rate. The flat rate is 17.5¢ per gallon. The variable component may change every six months. It is added to the flat rate. The variable component is equal to the greater of 3.5¢ a gallon or 7% of the weighted average wholesale price of gasoline and No. 2 diesel fuel for the most recent six-month base period. The current motor fuel tax rate is 21.2¢ a gallon.

One-half cent a gallon of the motor fuel tax revenue is dedicated to the two underground storage tank funds and the water and air quality account. Seventy-five percent (75%) of the remainder of the revenue generated by this tax is allocated to the Highway Fund and the remaining 25% is credited to the Highway Trust Fund.

The motor fuel excise tax does not apply to the following:

- Motor fuel removed in this State for transportation to another state if the supplier collects tax on the motor fuel at the rate of the motor fuel's destination state.
- Motor fuel sold to the federal government for its use.
- Motor fuel sold to the State for its use.
- Motor fuel sold to a local board of education for use in the public school system.
- Diesel that is kerosene and is sold to an airport.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1302 adds "motor fuel sold to a charter school for use for charter school purposes" to the list of motor fuel tax exemptions. A charter school is defined as a nonprofit corporation that has a charter under G.S. 115C-238.29D to operate a charter school. G.S. 115C-238.29D limits the number of charter schools to 100 schools statewide. Any person or nonprofit corporation may apply to the State Board of Education to establish a charter school. To be approved as a charter school, the applicant must meet the statutory requirements and the Board must find that the proposed school will provide or achieve improved student learning, increased learning opportunities for all students, the use of different and innovative teaching methods, new professional opportunities for teachers, and expanded educational choices for parents and students.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue – Motor Fuels Tax Division

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The act exempts charter schools from paying the motor fuels tax.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Based on data from the Department of Public Instruction accounting system, 22 out of 34 charter schools (65%) reported purchases of motor fuel in 1997-98. The average charter school spent $2,630 on motor fuel that year. Given the average gallon of gas sold for $1.15 per gallon in 1997-98, then those charter schools reporting fuel use consumed 2,287 gallons of motor fuel in a year.

The number of charter schools in North Carolina is capped at 100 in G.S. 115C-38.29D(6). If the current motor fuel usage rate of 65% is applied to the 100 charter schools, then 65 schools in the state will take advantage of the fuel tax exemption in future years. Future gas tax rates are projected by the Office of State Budget and Management (OSBM) using refined petroleum price and consumption data compiled by Standard & Poor's DRI. The chart below shows the estimated motor fuel tax that will be paid by charter schools in the next five years. The estimated revenue loss from a fuel tax exemption is divided between the Highway Fund (75%) and the Highway Trust Fund (25%). With an October 1, 1999 effective date, the first year revenue loss is 75% of the estimate for 1999-00.

A Short History Of

Mineral Springs

North Carolina

Mineral Springs is located on the Western side of Union County, North Carolina with a clear connection to its roots in the past and an open vision for the progressive future. Of the residents, merchants and churches, it can be said that the community enjoys a "down-home" closeness and kinship that harks back to the olden days of the past. The farming community of that past day was filled with work, play, and worship that drew the people of this area into a close knit unit. It is hoped that all who come here will find this same spirit in these modern days.

The historical background of Mineral Springs is very interesting. The geography of this community is based on several main features. Historic Potters Road is a landmark that has lasted from early, Pre-Revolutionary War times. Built by the British General Potter, it was a main route of passage through the area. The Pleasant Grove Campground to the West of the present town became a landmark that bound the community to its worship and fellowship in 1828. To the Northwest of the present town is found the old Winchester Post Office building near the present intersection of Potter Road and New Town Road. This building is said to be one of the oldest, surviving buildings in the area. The spring that gave the community its name is located about 1/4 mile East of the old Mineral Springs school, off Potters Road. Reported to give mineral water, the spring's water was used for cures all across the state. In 1888 the railroad came through. The intersection was then called "Potters Crossing" and in that year the name "Mineral Springs" was applied to our community.

But this community is not just landmarks and history. In the beginning days of the settlement of this area, people came to live in this pleasant region and played the leading role in the development of the area. Around the 1760's, about twelve years after the neighboring community of "the Waxhaws" (Around the old Waxhaw Presbyterian Church in S.C.) was settled there were settlers here. Most were Scotch-Irish in those early days. In the 1760's there were families here with names like Bickett, Doster, Osborne, Polk and Walker. These earliest names were joined by many names like Gordon, Houston, Howie, Jackson, Laney, McCorkle, Penegar, Winchester and Wolfe, among others. These are still common to this area. The farming changed from one crop to another over the years and then the railroad came to offer transportation (at one time six passenger trains a day came through our town) and industry offered jobs outside the community in Monroe and Charlotte, North Carolina as well as Lancaster and Fort Mill, South Carolina. Many factors have changed during this time but true community values have remained over the passing of years - It was not the virgin forest of the Carolinas that made this place attractive - they have gone. It was not the hundred acre plantation fields that gave the attraction to Mineral Springs - All that has changed. It was not the prosperity of the railroad - Much of that now just goes through our town.

It, of course, was then and is now, the people. It is no coincidence that the Pre-amble to the Constitution opens with these words: "We the people..." Mineral Springs has grown by many with many races and creeds but there are a few things that have lasted. Good neighbors, Reliable merchants and craftsmen and Friendly churches are still the attractions that stand out above all else in Mineral Springs. We are thankful that we have a community that has not lost the values of its historic American heritage and these values can belong to all Americans in any community.

EXPENDITURES Not Yet Determined by Board

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina State Board of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 and 2 of the bill are effective October 1, 1999. The remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes the following changes: 1) changes the exam fee from up to $200 to an amount up to $100 plus cost of the exam; 2) increases the fee for going into inactive status from $25 to $50 per year and reduces the period of inactive status from 5 years to 4 years; 3) increases the cost of a temporary license from $100 to $200, but keeps free renewal of temporary license; 4) sets a maximum annual fee of $2000 for course providers of Continuing Education courses; and 5) allows recovery of costs of enforcement proceedings of up to $5000.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

I. Exams

The Board of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators (State Board) now collects $200 for examination of administrators-in-training. From this fee, $150 is sent to the National Association of Boards of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators and $50 is retained by the State Board to cover processing costs. In January 2000, administrators-in-training will pay the National Board directly for the exam. The proposed language in section one of the bill allows the State Board to collect up to $100 for processing the exam and states that exam applicants will pay the actual cost of the exam. Since the State Board has no plans to increase their processing fee beyond the $50 now charged, revised 90-280(a) has no fiscal impact.

II. Inactive Status

In each of the last two years, there have been 57 applicants for inactive status. Revised 90-280(e) increases the fee from $25 to $50 per year and reduces the time permitted on inactive status from 5 to 4 years. This change could encourage former nursing home administrators to reapply for a permanent license or simply let their license lapse. The State Board makes no prediction on the future of this group, but simply projects that an average of 57 applicants each year will pay the new $50 rate. At this new rate, the State Board will collect $1,425 in new revenue each year.

III. Temporary License

The State Board issued 46 temporary licenses in 1997-98 and has issued 44 temporary licenses in the first 9 months of 1998-99. When the State Board meets every six weeks it approves temporary licenses until the next exam period, which are held four times a year. The State Board expects the number of temporary licenses to remain at 46 per year even with the increase to $200 in 90-280(f). This will generate $4,600 in additional revenue each year.

IV. Course Fees

The State Board may charge up to $100 to certify a continuing education course offered by an agency or individual, but now charges $50 per course. 90-280(g) offers a new option to groups who provide numerous continuing education courses. The State Board believes such groups as the NC Health Care Facilities Association, the NC Nonprofit Association, and the Northwest AHEC will take advantage of this $2,000 annual fee. The new fee will reduce the paperwork on both the State Board and the course sponsors and is not expected to reduce course revenue.

V. Contested Cases

The State Board has witnessed an increased number of enforcement cases in recent years due to the increased inspection efforts of the Division of Facility Services in the Department of Health and Human Services. The State Board receives about 20 cases a year that they try to resolve by consent order. However, about one case per year cannot be easily resolved due to the respondent's failure to cooperate in good faith in the investigation and proceeding. The State Board can charge up to $5,000 in each of these cases to recover administrative costs.

Summary of Comments from Carl Rist, Corporation for Enterprise Development

1. Impact of William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act remains uncertain.
   - According to the Department of Commerce, since the passage of the Act:
     - Job creation and capital investment have increased in North Carolina,
     - Industries eligible for the tax credits under the Act have created more jobs and generated more new investment, and
     - Industrial recruitment and expansion in Tier 1 and 2 counties compares favorably to the rest of the state (on a per capita basis).
   - According to the Budget and Tax Center, however:
     - Job creation was slower in 1998 than in 1997, and
     - Relatively affluent communities (Tiers 4 and 5) still receive a disproportionate share of new job creation (on a per capita basis).
   - According to a recent story in the News and Observer:
     - The gap in income between North Carolinians and all Americans widened last year for the first time in almost a decade, and
     - North Carolina workers did worse than their counterparts in five of nine major industries, including manufacturing.
   - Overall, the evidence from the best studies of economic development tax incentives indicates that they:
     - At best, only make a difference on the margin, and
     - At worst, subsidize firms for decisions they would have made anyway.

2. Given the Act's as yet uncertain impact (and the current budget shortfall), standing pat rather than expanding the Act is the wisest course of action. This includes:
   - Maintaining the current sunset in 2002, and
   - Augmenting the Act only after a thorough evaluation. Best practice principles of sunset reviews (to make them meaningful rather than perfunctory) include:
     - Providing appropriate resources and time for the sunset review,
     - Looking at not only effectiveness, but also appropriateness and efficiency,
     - Ensuring that the evaluator is responsive to the various state agencies that have a stake in the evaluation (e.g. Department of Commerce, Department of Revenue, Fiscal Research Division of General Assembly, Governor's Office), and
     - Providing opportunities for public input.

3. Finally, given that a primary objective of the Act is to ensure that economic growth reaches people in all parts of the state (esp. rural and high-poverty urban areas), the Act should move in the direction of more targeting, not less. This means:
   - Opposing changes to expand credits to specific industries or to specific communities by modifying the tier system,
   - Supporting changes to expand credits for improvement projects in high-poverty development zones, and
   - Adding changes that would require companies receiving credits in Tiers 4 and 5 to sign "First Source" agreements.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO SET THE PUBLIC UTILITY REGULATORY FEES, TO SET THE INSURANCE REGULATORY CHARGE, AND TO IMPOSE THE INSURANCE REGULATORY CHARGE ON SERVICE CORPORATIONS AND ON HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. The percentage rate to be used in calculating the public utility regulatory fee under G.S. 62-302(b)(2) is nine-hundredths percent (0.09%) of each public utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues earned during each quarter that begins on or after July 1, 1999.

Section 2. The annual fee imposed on The North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation under G.S. 62-302(b1) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year is two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000).

Section 3. The percentage rate to be used in calculating the insurance regulatory charge under G.S. 58-6-25 is six and one-half percent (6.5%) for the 1999 calendar year.

Section 4. G.S. 58-6-25 reads as rewritten:

"§ 58-6-25. Insurance regulatory charge.

(a) Charge Levied. -- There is levied on each insurance company an annual charge for the purposes stated in subsection (d) of this section. ~~As used in this section, the term "insurance~~ ~~company" means a company that pays the gross premiums tax levied in G.S. 105-228.5 and G.S. 105-228.8, except a service corporation subject to Article 65 of this Chapter. A health maintenance organization subject to Article 67 of this Chapter is not subject to those taxes and is therefore not subject to the charge levied in this section.~~ The charge levied in this section is in addition to all other fees and taxes. The percentage rate of the charge is established pursuant to subsection (b) of this section. Fore each insurance company that is not an Article 65 corporation nor a health maintenance organization, the rate is applied to ~~charge shall be at a percentage rate of~~ the company's premium tax liability for the taxable year. For Article 65 corporations and health maintenance organizations, the rate is applied to a presumed premium tax liability for the taxable year calculated as if the corporation or organization were an insurer providing health insurance. In determining an insurance company's premium tax liability for a taxable year, the following shall be disregarded:

(1) Additional taxes imposed by G.S. 105-228.8.

(2) The additional local fire and lightning tax imposed by G.S. 105-228.5(d)(4).

(3) Any tax credits for guaranty or solvency fund assessments under G.S. 105-228.5A or G.S. 97-133(a).

(4) Any tax credits allowed under Chapter 105 of the General Statutes other than tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer.

(b) Rates. -- The rate of the charge for ~~the 1991 taxable year shall be six and five-tenths percent (6.5%). For subsequent taxable years, the rate~~ each taxable year shall be the percentage rate established by the General Assembly. When the Department prepares its budget request for each upcoming fiscal year, the Department shall propose a percentage rate of the charge levied in this section. The Governor shall submit that proposed rate to the General Assembly each fiscal year. The General Assembly shall set by law the percentage rate of the charge levied in this section. The percentage rate may not exceed the rate necessary to generate funds sufficient to defray the estimated cost of the operations of the Department for each upcoming fiscal year, including a reasonable margin for a reserve fund. The amount of the reserve may not exceed one-third of the estimated cost of operating the Department for each upcoming fiscal year. In calculating the amount of the reserve, the General Assembly shall consider all relevant factors that may affect the cost of operating the Department or a possible unanticipated increase or decrease in North Carolina premiums or other charge revenue.

(c) Returns; When Payable. -- The charge levied on each health maintenance organization is payable March 15 following the end of each taxable year. The charge levied on each insurance company other than a health maintenance organization is payable at the time the insurance company remits its premium tax. If the insurance company is required to remit installment payments of premiums tax under G.S. 105-228.5 for a taxable year, it shall also remit installment payments of the charge levied in this section for that taxable year at the same time and on the same basis as the premium tax installment payments. Each installment payment shall be equal to at least thirty-three and one-third percent (33.3%) of the insurance company's regulatory charge liability incurred in the immediately preceding taxable year.

Every insurance company shall, on or before the date the charge levied in this section is due, file a return on a form prescribed by the Secretary of Revenue. The return shall state the company's total North Carolina premiums or presumed premiums for the taxable year and shall be accompanied by any supporting documentation that the Secretary of Revenue may by rule require.

(d) Use of Proceeds. -- The Insurance Regulatory Fund is created in the State treasury, under the control of the Office of State Budget and Management. The proceeds of the charge levied in this section and all fees collected under Articles 69 through 71 of this Chapter and under Articles 9 and 9C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes shall be credited to the Fund. The Fund shall be placed in an interest-bearing account and any interest or other income derived from the Fund shall be credited to the Fund. Moneys in the Fund may be spent only pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly and in accordance with the line item budget enacted by the General Assembly. The Fund is subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act, except that no unexpended surplus of the Fund shall revert to the General Fund. All money credited to the Fund shall be used to reimburse the General Fund for the following:

(1) Money appropriated to the Department of Insurance to pay its expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry and other industries in this State.

(2) Money appropriated to State agencies to pay the expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry, in certifying statewide data processors under Article 11A of Chapter 131E of the General

Statutes, and in purchasing reports of patient data from statewide data processors certified under that Article.

(3) Money appropriated to the Department of Revenue to pay the expenses incurred in collecting and administering the taxes on insurance companies levied in Article 8B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(e) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Article 65 corporation. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.3.

(2) Insurance company. -- A company that pays the gross premiums tax levied in G.S. 105-228.5 and G.S. 105-228.8 or a health maintenance organization.

(3) Insurer. -- Defined in G.S. 105-228.3."

Section 5. Section 1 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 2 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999, if and only if House Bill 476, which provides that the Utilities Commission must provide oversight of the electric membership corporations that form subsidiaries to provide services other than electricity, is enacted. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1289:
Set Regulatory Fees/Expand Insurance Regulatory Fee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Luebke
Date:	June 1, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1289-PCSRBX-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1289 sets the public utility regulatory fee for insurance companies at 0.09%, it sets the public utility regulatory fee on The North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation at $200,000, and it sets the insurance regulatory charge at 6.5%. It also imposes the insurance regulatory charge on HMOs, Blue Cross Blue Shield of NC, and Delta Dental of NC.

PUBLIC UTILITY REGULATORY FEE: Section 1 sets the public utility regulatory fee for fiscal year 1999-2000 at 0.09%. The rate maintains the current 0.09% rate set in fiscal year 1997-98. The utility regulatory fee was imposed in 1989. Its purpose is to defray the State's cost in regulating public utilities. The regulatory fee is imposed on all utilities that are subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. The fee is a percentage of the utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues. In general, jurisdictional revenue is revenue derived from providing utility service in North Carolina.

In addition to funding the State's cost in regulating public utilities, the money in the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund was used last biennium to finance the work of the Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina. Legislation has been introduced this session, House Bill 777 and Senate Bill 266, to continue funding this Commission with revenue from the Fund for the upcoming fiscal year. The General Assembly established the Commission in 1997. The purpose of the Commission is to examine the cost, adequacy, availability, and pricing of electric rates and service in North Carolina to determine whether legislation is necessary to assure an adequate and reliable source of electricity and an economical, fair, and equitable rates for all consumers of electricity in North Carolina.

Section 2 of the bill establishes the public utility regulatory fee to be paid by The North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation for the 1999-2000 fiscal year at $200,000. This section becomes effective if and only if House Bill 476 is enacted. House Bill 476 authorizes electric membership corporations to form subsidiary corporations that may provide energy services and products, telecommunications services and products, and water and wastewater collection and treatment. The subsidiaries must fully compensate the electric membership corporation for its use of the corporation's personnel, services, equipment, and property. Under House Bill 476, the Utilities Commission is charged with regulating this aspect of the subsidiary's business. To pay for the cost of this regulation, the bill creates a flat regulatory fee to be paid The North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation to the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund. The General Assembly must establish the flat fee amount each year. This bill sets the fee amount at $200,000 for the 1999-2000 fiscal year.

INSURANCE REGULATORY CHARGE: Section 3 increases the insurance regulatory charge from 6% to 6.5%. This charge was first imposed in 1991. Its purpose is to make the Department of Insurance receipt-supported and thereby eliminate General Fund support of the Department. The regulatory fee is imposed on insurance companies that pay the gross premiums tax, other than service corporations such as Blue Cross Blue Shield and Delta Dental Corporation. Health maintenance organizations do not pay the regulatory charge because they do not pay the gross premiums tax. The charge is a percentage of the insurance company's premiums tax liability.

In 1995, the General Assembly eliminated the insurance audit and examination fees for insurance companies, HMOs, medical corporations, and guaranty associations. The revenue generated by these audit fees was an estimated $4.5 million annually. Consequently, the costs of the audits are now paid for by the insurance regulatory charge as part of the costs of regulating the insurance industry.

Section 4 of the bill imposes the regulatory charge on the HMOs and the medical corporations. The fee is levied on an imaginary amount of dollars the HMOs and medical corporations would owe if they paid the gross premiums tax at the 1.9% rate like other insurers. HMOs do not pay the gross premiums tax. Medical corporations pay the gross premiums tax at a rate of one-half of one percent (0.05%).

(Regulatory Fee Revenue = $8.5)
(NC EMC Fee = $0.2)
Insurance Regulatory Fund	$21.7	($2.5 million increase over 1998)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: N.C. Department of Insurance, N.C. Utilities Commission/Public Staff.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 1 becomes effective July 1, 1999. The remainder becomes effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: Each year the General Assembly must set the regulatory fees for the insurance industry and public utilities. The bill sets the public utility regulator fee at nine-hundredths percent (0.09%) of each public utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues. The bill also sets the insurance regulatory fee at 6.5 percent of a company's premiums tax liability. The bill also applies the insurance regulatory fee to Health Maintenance Organizations (HMO). The rate for HMOs is based on a "presumed premiums tax liability". This presumed liability is calculated on what these companies would have paid in premiums tax if they were liable for such a tax (the HMOs do not pay a premiums tax). The bill applies the fee to a presumed premiums tax liability of 1.9% of the company's premium base. The bill also presumes an Article 65 corporate tax liability of 1.9% of their premium base. (Their actual premiums tax rate is 0.5%). The HMO payment is due on March 15th of each year for the previous year's tax. All other companies remit the fee when they pay the premiums tax.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill addresses three fees - the public utilities regulatory fee, the electric membership corporation regulatory fee, and the insurance regulatory fee.

Public Utilities Regulatory Fee: The legislation sets the utilities regulatory fee at 0.09% of each public utilities' North Carolina jurisdictional revenues earned during each quarter that begins on or after July 1, 1999. (This maintains the current 0.09% rate set in fiscal year 1998-99.) The revenue generated from this fee supports the operations of the North Carolina Utilities Commission and Public Staff.

G.S. 62-302(b)(2) states that the percentage rate established by the General Assembly and assessed by the Commission "may not exceed the amount necessary to generate funds sufficient to defray the estimated cost of the operations of the Commission and Public Staff for the upcoming fiscal year, including a reasonable margin for a reserve fund." The Utilities Commission estimates that combined operations of the Commission and the Public Staff in FY 1999-2000 will require expenditures of not less than $10,244,533. Revenues generated by the proposed utilities regulatory fee are estimated to be $8,500,000. The balance will be derived from other revenues generated by Commission fees and charges, or from the Accumulated Fee Margin Reserve Account.

The Utilities Commission indicates that the status of the Accumulated Fee Margin Reserve is as follows:

Balance as of 6/30/99	$ 7,414,519
Add: Estimated Collections and Interest for FY 1999-2000 using 0.09%	$ 9,400,000
Total Funds Available	$16,814,519
Less: Estimated FY 1999-2000 Expenditures Reimbursable from Fees	$(10,244,553)*
Estimated Margin Reserve for Period Ending 6/30/2000	$ 6,569,966

 The Utilities Commission indicates that potential costs incurred by the Legislative Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina are not included in FY 1999-2000 estimated expenditures. That cost, if any, is not estimated at this time. House Bill 777 and Senate Bill 26, both introduced this session, extend the authorization of study commission expenses from the reserve fund through FY 1999-2000. Both bills have been referred to their respective chambers' appropriations committees for consideration.*

Based on the projected Fee Margin Reserve, the fee of 0.09% should be sufficient to cover the operations of the Utilities Commission and Public Staff.

North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation (EMC) Regulatory Fee: House Bill 1289 PCS also establishes a regulatory fee to be paid by the North Carolina EMC totaling $200,000. This fee relates back to House Bill 476, which authorizes electric membership corporations to form subsidiary corporations to provide additional services beyond traditional electric services. House Bill 476 charges the Utilities Commission with regulating these new subsidiaries. The North Carolina EMC will now be required to remit an annual fee to the Utilities Special Fund to pay for the cost of this regulation. The Utilities Commission estimates that $200,000 will be sufficient to cover these anticipated costs in FY 1999-2000.

Insurance Regulatory Fee: This portion of the bill changes the existing law in three ways. First, the bill sets the insurance regulatory charge effective for calendar year 1999 at 6.5%. (This is an increase of 0.5% over the previous year). The charge is based on a percentage of a company's premiums tax liability for the taxable year. Every insurance company subject to the premiums tax levied under G.S. 105-228.5 is required to pay the insurance regulatory charge.

Companies that do not pay the premiums tax calculate what their premiums tax liability would be if they were liable for the tax. This is called the "presumed premiums tax". This presumed premiums tax is used to determine the regulatory fee liability.

G.S. 58-6-25(b) states that the percentage rate, set annually, cannot exceed the rate necessary to generate funds sufficient to defray the estimated cost of operating the Department of Insurance for the upcoming year including a reasonable margin for a reserve fund. The reserve fund should not exceed one-third of the estimated operating cost. The revenue collected from the charge is deposited into the Insurance Regulatory Fund invested with the State Treasurer and managed by the Office of State Budget and Management. Funds generated by the regulatory charge are used to reimburse the General Fund for the amount appropriated to the Department of Insurance.

The historic base against which the fee is charged, and the associated rate, is listed below.

	1997-98	1998-99
Estimated Gross Premiums Tax	$268 million	$281 million
Regulatory Rate	0.0875	0.06
Total Revenue	$23.45 million	$16.86 million

The historic base excludes Health Maintenance Organizations, and includes Article 65 companies (Blue Cross/Blue Shield and Delta Dental) at a reduced rate.

If the fee were levied only on companies in the existing base, and at the existing presumed premiums tax rate, the revenue for 1999-00 would be as follows:

	1999-00
Estimated Gross Premiums Tax	$295.05 million
Regulatory Rate	0.065
Total Revenue	$19.18 million

The bill also adds HMOs to the list of companies that are charged a regulatory fee. The Department of Insurance estimates that the HMOs will add approximately $34.2 million to the base against which the regulatory fee is charged. This is based on their presumed premiums tax liability. Applying the 6.5% regulatory fee to the $34.2 million creates an additional $2.2 million in regulatory fee revenue.

Finally, the bill increases the base associated with Blue Cross/Blue Shield and Delta Dental. These are Article 65 companies. Both of these companies pay premiums taxes at a reduced rate. While all other insurance companies with a premiums tax liability pay at the rate of 1.9%, these companies pay at a reduced 0.5% rate. The regulatory fee is charged on their reduced premiums tax amount. The bill increases the presumed rate for these companies to 1.9%. The Department of Insurance estimates that this will add $4.1 million to the base against which the regulatory fee is charged. As a result, this portion of the bill increases revenue by $286,450.

When totaled, the three changes to the insurance regulatory fee statutes create $21.7 million in revenue. However the Department estimates that $3.3 million in refunds will be made to companies that overpaid their surcharge in previous years. Thus, the net collections will be $18.4 million. The Department estimates that the operating expenditures for 1999-2000 will be approximately $21 million and that the reserve fund will have a beginning balance of $8.7 million. The total available from the reserve fund ($8.7 million) and the estimated net collections ($18.4 million) will be $27.1 million. The total available less the estimated operating expenditures of $21 million will leave a year-end reserve balance of $6.1 million, which is slightly less than one-third of the estimated operating expenditures.

Based on the above, the regulatory surcharge rate of 6.5% assessed against companies in the existing base, HMOs, and Article 65 companies is sufficient to defray the estimated cost of the operations of the Department including a reasonable reserve fund.

HOUSE BILL 1470:
Impaired Dental Hygienists/Fee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen
Date:	June 1, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1470 authorizes the State Board of Dental Examiners to include impaired dental hygienists in programs developed for impaired dentists. The bill imposes an additional $40 annual fee on dental hygienists to support the programs for impaired dental hygienists.

CURRENT LAW: The "Caring Dentist Program" is a program established through agreements between the State Board of Dental Examiners and special impaired dentist peer review organizations formed by the North Carolina Dental Society. The purpose of the program is to identify dentists who have a chemical dependency or a mental illness. If an impairment exists, the peer review organization seeks to intervene and treat the dentist. The peer review organization must report information to the State Board of Dental Examiners if it determines that:

- The dentist constitutes an imminent danger to the public or himself.
- The dentist refuses to cooperate with the program, refuses to submit to treatment, or is still impaired after treatment and exhibits professional incompetence.
- It reasonably appears that there are other grounds for disciplinary action.

The agreements, which establish the Caring Dentist Program, must provide for the investigation, review, and evaluation of information about the practice of licensed dentists as the practices may relate to an impairment. They must also provide for the identification, intervention, treatment, referral, and follow-up care of impaired dentists and for the due process rights of the dentist subject to the Program.

The members of the special impaired dentist peer review organization are volunteer Dental Society members selected by the Board of Directors of the Caring Dentist Program. The members may not be held liable in damages to any person for any action taken or recommendation made within the scope of the functions of that committee. As a general rule, the proceedings and records of a committee must be held in confidence and may not be subject to discovery or introduction into evidence in any civil action arising out of the matters which are the subject of an evaluation and review by the committee

The Board of Directors of the Caring Dentist Program is comprised of representatives from the Dental Society, the State Board of Dental Examiners, and the UNC School of Dentistry. Dentists must pay an annual fee of $50, in addition to the annual renewal fee, to help support the special peer review organizations for impaired dentists.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1470 would allow the State Board of Dental Examiners to enter into agreements with special impaired dentist peer review organizations to include programs for impaired dental hygienists. The provisions required to be in the agreements concerning impaired dentists would also apply to the agreements concerning impaired dental hygienists.

The bill would give the special impaired dentist peer review organizations the authority to appoint to the organizations one additional member who is a licensed dental hygienist. The organization would make the appointment upon the recommendation of the dental hygienist member of the State Board of Dental Examiners. The dental hygienist member of the State Board is elected by all the licensed dental hygienists. The dental hygienist member of the peer review organization would participate in activities and programs as they relate to impaired dental hygienists. Dental hygienists who work with the special peer review organizations would have the same responsibilities and protections that the dental members have.

The bill would also impose an additional annual $40 fee on dental hygienists. The fee would be payable upon license renewal. Licenses must be renewed on or before January 1 of each year. The fee would be used to help fund programs for impaired dental hygienists.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners, North Carolina Dental Society

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:
This bill authorizes the North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners to include impaired dental hygienists in programs developed for impaired dentists. The bill imposes an annual $40 fee on dental hygienists to support the program for impaired dental hygienists.

BACKGROUND:
The 1993 General Assembly approved HB 914 (SL 93, chapter 420) that authorized the North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners to collect a fee of up to $50 from licensed dentists to be used for a program for impaired dentists operated by a new state – sanctioned peer review organization. The N.C. State Board of Dental Examiners and the N.C. Dental Society signed a Memorandum of Agreement on May 21, 1994 to create the Caring Dentist Program . The purpose of the Caring Dentist Program is to provide intervention and rehabilitation for dental practitioners impaired by chemical dependency or mental illness. Appropriate treatment programs and aftercare monitoring are sought for the impaired dentists. An eight-member Board of Directors oversees the Caring Dentist Program.

Although G.S. 90-39 allows a fee of $50 to be charged to pay for the program, only $15 has been assessed each dentist renewing his license since 1994. (NCAC 21-16M.0001) Actual fees collected in 1997 were $55,300 and actual program expenses for 1997 were $43,681. The 1997 fund balance for the program was $88,861.74. This fee is proposed to rise to $25 in 1999 and annual revenue will rise to $97,775. The increase will be used to fund a full-time director.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
House Bill 1470 will allow the N.C. State Board of Dental Examiners to create a program for impaired dental hygienists similar to the Caring Dentist Program. The bill allows the Board to charge up to $40 for this program. Although the Director of the State Board of Dental Examiners suggested the initial fee would probably be $15, this fiscal note assumes the maximum of $40 for budget projection purposes. As of April 1, 1999, North Carolina has 4,446 licensed dental hygienists. Over the last five years, the number of licensed hygienists has grown 3.4% per year. This growth rate is projected to continue over the next five years as shown in the chart below.

	Hygienists	Revenue
FY 1999-00	4,446	$177,840
FY 2000-01	4,597	$183,887
FY 2001-02	4,753	$190,139
FY 2002-03	4,915	$196,603
FY 2003-04	5,082	$203,288
FY 2004-05	5,255	$210,200

Since the $40 fee is assessed upon renewal, the 4,446 currently licensed hygienists will pay the new fee in FY 1999-00. Those receiving a license in FY 1999-00 will begin paying the additional $40 fee in FY 2000-01 and so on. This simplified chart is an estimate and can not precisely account for attrition and new applicants each year.

SESSION 1999

H

HOUSE BILL 541

Short Title: Buoy Fishing/Special Fishing Device. (Public)

Sponsors: Representative Mitchell.

Referred to: Wildlife Resources, if favorable, Finance.

March 23, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT TROTLINES, BUOY SETS, AND SET HOOKS ARE SPECIAL FISHING DEVICES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G. S. 113-272.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 113-272.3. Special provisions respecting special devices; fishing licenses; grabbling; taking bait fish; use of landing nets; lifetime licenses issued from Wildlife Resources Commission headquarters; personalized lifetime sportsman combination licenses.

(a) The Wildlife Resources Commission by rule may define the meaning of 'hook and line' and 'special device' as applied to fishing techniques. Any technique of fishing that may be lawfully authorized which employs neither the use of any special device nor hook and line must be pursued under the appropriate hook-and-line fishing license.

(a1) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, trotlines, buoy sets, and set hooks as defined in this section are special fishing devices. The use of any of these special fishing devices requires the special device fishing license as provided by G.S. 113-272.2. A licensed individual fishing any set hook in inland public water shall be within 100 yards of the set hook at all times. Buoy sets, trotlines, gill nets, fish traps, and any other special device that the Wildlife Resources Commission determines should be marked for the convenience and safety of the public shall be marked with yellow buoys made of solid foam or other solid buoyant material no less than five inches in their smallest dimension. Double buoys as described in this subsection shall be used to mark each end of anchored, fixed, or drift gill nets and trotlines. Buoys shall be marked with the owner's name and address, special device fishing license number, or vessel registration number either by engraving the buoys or by attaching engraved metal or plastic tags to the buoys.

(b) In accordance with established fishing customs and the orderly conservation of wildlife resources, the Wildlife Resources Commission may by rule provide for use of nets or other special devices which it may authorize as an incident to hook-and-line fishing or for procuring bait fish without requiring a special device license. In this instance, however, the individual fishing must meet applicable hook-and-line license requirements.

(c) Lifetime licenses are issued from the Wildlife Resources Commission headquarters. Each application for an Infant Lifetime Sportsman or Youth Lifetime Sportsman License must be accompanied by a certified copy of the birth certificate of the individual to be named as the license holder.

(d) In issuing lifetime sportsman combination licenses, the Wildlife Resources Commission is authorized to adopt rules to establish a personalized series and to charge a five dollar ($5.00) administrative fee, to be deposited in the Wildlife Fund, to defray the cost of issuance of the personalized license.

(e) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Buoy set. -- A hook and line affixed to an approved buoy as provided in G.S. 113-272.3(a1).

(2) Set hook. -- A hook and line affixed to a stationary object or anchor and not under the immediate control of a licensed individual.

(3) Trotline. -- A line having multiple hooks that is attached to a stationary object or anchor at either or both ends."

Section 3. This act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 541:
Buoy Fishing/Special Devices

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Mitchell
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 541 would require an individual to obtain a special fishing device license to fish using a trotline, buoy set, or set hooks.

CURRENT LAW: A trotline is a line having multiple hooks that is attached to a stationary object or anchor at either or both ends. A set hook is a hook and line affixed to a stationary object or anchored and not under the immediate control of a licensed individual. A buoy set is a hook and line affixed to an approved buoy.

Anyone fishing with a special fishing device must obtain a special device fishing license. A special fishing device is any device used in fishing other than a hook-and-line. G.S. 113-272.3 gives the Wildlife Resources Commission the authority to define by rule the terms "hook-and-line" and "special fishing device". The rules require define a "special fishing device" as the following: bow and arrow, nets, traps, spears, crab pots, and eel pots. The rules do not include "trotlines" or "set hooks" as "special fishing devices."

Under the current rules of the Wildlife Resources Commission, an individual who uses a trotline or a set hook must follow all of the following requirements:

- Cannot use live bait.
- Trotlines must be set parallel to the nearest shore in impounded waters.
- Each trotline must have attached to it the name and address of the user.
- Each trotline must be conspicuously marked at each end with a prominent floating object. The object cannot be a metal can or glass container. It may be a plastic jug, flag, cork, styrofoam, or similar material that will float.
- Trotlines must be fished daily and all fish removed. Untended trotlines, as evidenced by the absence of bait, may be removed from the water by wildlife enforcement officers.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 541 would define "trotlines", "set hooks" and "buoy sets" as special fishing devices and would require an individual who uses one of these fishing devices to obtain a special device fishing license. This license would be in addition to other hunting and fishing licenses and in addition to Lifetime Sportsman Licenses. The license fee would be as follows:

Category	Amount
Resident Noncommercial Special Device License	$ 10.00
Resident Commercial Special Device License	$100.00
Nonresident Noncommercial Special Device License	$ 50.00
Nonresident Commercial Special Device License	$100.00

House Bill 541 would also impose the following conditions on fishing with a trotline, set hook, or buoy set:

- A person fishing with a set hook must be within 100 yards of the set hook at all times.
- Buoy sets and trotlines must be marked with yellow buoys made of solid foam or other solid buoyant material no less than five inches in their smallest dimension. Also, double buoys must be used to mark each end of gill nets and trotlines. This requirement enhances the current requirement in the rules. Under the rules, these fishing devices must be marked, but the individual has more latitute in the type of marker that may be used.
- Buoys must be marked with the owner's name and address, special fishing device license number, or vessel registration number either by engraving the buoys or by attaching engraved metal or plastic tags to the buoys. Under the current rules, the devices must have attached to them the owner's name and address legibly inscribed.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Wildlife Resource Commission.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill defines trotlines, buoy sets, and set hooks as "special devices." Individuals who use these types of fishing devices must secure a "special device" license. The legislation also that a licensed individual fishing with a set hook in inland public water must be within 100 yards of the set hook at all times. The proposal clarifies that buoy sets, trotlines, gill nets, fish traps, and any other special device designated by the Wildlife Resource Commission (Wildlife) must be marked with yellow buoys make of solid foam or other solid buoyant material no less than five inches square. Double buoys must be used to mark each end of anchored, fixed, or drift gill nets and trotlines. The buoys must be marked with the owner's name, address, and special device fishing license number. The vessel registration number may be used in place of the license number. The information must either be engraved into the buoys or engraved in metal or plastic tags that are attached to the buoys. Finally, the bill defines a buoy set, a set hook, and a trotline.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The primary fiscal impact is a result of the license requirements. Under the bill individuals who use trotlines, buoy sets, set hooks gill nets, fish traps, and other devices designated by Wildlife must have a special device license. In the past a license has been required for many of these devices. An annual, special device license for personal use costs $10.00. An annual commercial license for special devices costs $100.00. In FY 98 Wildlife sold less than 3,000 special device fishing licenses. They estimate that approximately 500 additional licenses will be issued as a result of the bill. Of these they believe 475 will be issued for personal use, while 25 will be used for commercial use. Assuming the license cost remains $10.00 and $100.00 the projected revenue is listed below.

	Cost	Number	Total Revenue
Individual Licenses	$10	475	$4,750
Commercial License	$100	25	$2,500
TOTAL		500	$ 7,250

Wildlife reports that in the past approximately 10% of special device licenses are sold to non-residents. The fee for a non-resident individual license is $50.00. The commercial license fee for both residents and non-residents is $100.00. Assuming that 10% of licensees in each category are non-residents, the estimated revenue increase is as follows:

	# Resident	Cost	Revenue	# Non-Resident	Cost	Revenue	Total Revenue
Individual Licenses	428	$10	$4,275	48	$50	$2,375	$6,650
Commercial License	23	$100	$2,250	3	$100	$250	$2,500
TOTAL	450		$ 6,525	50		$ 2,625	$ 9,150

No significant growth is expected in the number of licenses in the next few years.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MAKE MORE MUNICIPALITIES ELIGIBLE FOR DEVELOPMENT ZONES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-129.3A(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Development Zone Defined. -- A development zone is an area comprised of one or more contiguous census tracts, census block groups, or both in the most recent federal decennial census that meets all of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in whole or in part in a ~~city~~ municipality with a population of more than ~~5,000~~ 1,000 according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Planning Officer.

(2) It has a population of 1,000 or more according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Planning Officer.

(3) More than twenty percent (20%) of its population is below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census."

Section 2. This act becomes effective January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 1397:
Expand Development Zones

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Cole
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1397 would expand the definition of a development zone, effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: Last session, the General Assembly provided for the designation of economically distressed areas located within municipalities as State development zones and authorized enhanced incentives for businesses that locate in a development zone. A development zone is defined as an area that meets both of the following conditions:

1. It consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, that has a population of 1,000 or more and at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level.
2. It is located at least partly in a municipality with a population over 5,000.

If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for Tier One counties - slightly lower than the standard for other counties. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

The Secretary of Commerce designates development zones upon the request of a taxpayer or a local government. The designation is effective for four years. In addition to the enhanced tax incentives discussed above, a development zone may qualify for priority in receiving community development block grants if the municipality's governing body adopts a strategy to improve the zone and establishes a committee to implement the strategy, in accordance with guidelines established by the Department of Commerce.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1397 would increase the number of municipalities that may qualify as a development zone by reducing the municipality's population requirement from 5,000 to 1,000. Approximately 61 additional cities would be eligible to have an area within their limits designated as a development zone. This bill incorporates the provisions of House Bill 1327 which would reduce the population requirement from 5,000 to 2,700. Rep. Bonner introduced House Bill 1327. That bill is in the House Economic Growth Committee.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENTAFFECTED: The designation of enterprise zones is made by the N.C. Department of Commerce. The tax credits are administered by the Department of Revenue.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

*The cost reaches a maximum of $1.2 million in the 04-05 fiscal year.

BILL SUMMARY: Lowers the minimum population requirement for an enterprise zone from 5,000 to 1,500 effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

The 1998 modification of the Bill Lee Act (state economic incentives) provided for the designation of economically distressed areas located within cities as State development zones and authorized enhanced tax incentives for businesses that locate in a zone, effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. A zone is defined as an area that meets all of the following conditions: (1) contains 1 or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) is located at least partly in a city with a population of over 5,000

The enhanced incentives include a $1,000 worker training credit (versus $500), no threshold for the investment tax credit for machinery and equipment, an additional $4,000 per job on the jobs tax credit, and the wage standard is the same as that for the most distressed county.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

The impact estimates were calculated by the Community Assistance Division of the Department of Commerce using the Geographic Information System (GIS). The analysis indicates that 61 additional cities would be added to the eligibility list. The cost estimates were determined using job creation data for 1996-98 as tabulated by the Department. A key assumption was that the total zone population was used as the 1997 population for cities having at least one census tract or block group with 20% or more poverty. This assumption was based on a review of the 40 approved zones as of February 1, 1999. The total 1990 census population in zone of cities under 20,000 population was approximately equal to the total 1997 population in those communities.

As in the original Bill Lee Act estimates, the jobs credit assumes that 15% of eligible companies will take the credit the first year, 30% the second year, and 45% in Year 3

HOUSE BILL 1470:
Impaired Dental Hygienists/Fee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition

SUMMARY: House Bill 1470 authorizes the State Board of Dental Examiners to include impaired dental hygienists in programs developed for impaired dentists. The bill imposes an additional $40 annual fee on dental hygienists to support the programs for impaired dental hygienists.

PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE: The House Finance Committee began discussing House Bill 1470 last Tuesday. The Committee Substitute for House Bill 1470 changes the bill in three ways:

- It requires that the peer liaisons and volunteers who work with impaired dental hygienists BE dental hygienists.
- It provides that the annual fee imposed on dental hygienists to fund the impaired dental hygienists program cannot e exceed the amount imposed on dentists to fund the impaired dentist program.
- It adds two dental hygienists to the statewide supervisory committee, commonly known as the Board of Directors of the Caring Dentist Program, appointed upon the recommendation of the dental hygienist member of the Board. The two dental hygienist members must be included in the committee's proceedings whenever the committee considers activities and programs that relate to impaired dental hygienists.

CURRENT LAW: The "Caring Dentist Program" is a program established through agreements between the State Board of Dental Examiners and special impaired dentist peer review organizations formed by the North Carolina Dental Society. The purpose of the program is to identify dentists who have a chemical dependency or a mental illness. If an impairment exists, the peer review organization seeks to intervene and treat the dentist. The peer review organization must report information to the State Board of Dental Examiners if it determines that:

- The dentist constitutes an imminent danger to the public or himself.
- The dentist refuses to cooperate with the program, refuses to submit to treatment, or is still impaired after treatment and exhibits professional incompetence.
- It reasonably appears that there are other grounds for disciplinary action.

The agreements, which establish the Caring Dentist Program, must provide for the investigation, review, and evaluation of information about the practice of licensed dentists as the practices may relate to an impairment. They must also provide for the identification, intervention, treatment, referral, and follow-up of impaired dentists and for the due process rights of the dentist subject to the Program.

The members of the special impaired dentist peer review organization are volunteer Dental Society members selected by the Board of Directors of the Caring Dentist Program. The members may not be held liable in damages to any person for any action taken or recommendation made within the scope of the functions of that committee. As a general rule, the proceedings and records of a committee must be held in confidence and may not be subject to discovery or introduction into evidence in any civil action arising out of the matters which are the subject of an evaluation and review by the committee

The Board of Directors of the Caring Dentist Program is comprised of representatives from the Dental Society, the State Board of Dental Examiners, and the UNC School of Dentistry. Dentists must pay an annual fee of $50, in addition to the annual renewal fee, to help support the special peer review organizations for impaired dentists.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1470 would allow the State Board of Dental Examiners to enter into agreements with special impaired dentist peer review organizations to include programs for impaired dental hygienists. The provisions required to be in the agreements concerning impaired dentists would also apply to the agreements concerning impaired dental hygienists.

The bill would give the special impaired dentist peer review organizations the authority to appoint to the organizations one additional member who is a licensed dental hygienist. The organization would make the appointment upon the recommendation of the dental hygienist member of the State Board of Dental Examiners. The dental hygienist member of the State Board is elected by all the licensed dental hygienists. The dental hygienist member of the peer review organization would participate in activities and programs as they relate to impaired dental hygienists. Dental hygienists who work with the special peer review organizations would have the same responsibilities and protections that the dental members have.

The bill would add two dental hygienists to the statewide supervisory committee of the Caring Dentist Program. The dental hygienist members would be present whenever the Committee considers activities and programs that relate to impaired dental hygienists. The two dental hygienists would be appointed to the committee upon the recommendation of the dental hygienist member of the Board.

The bill would also impose an additional annual fee on dental hygienists. The fee could not exceed $40, not could it exceed the annual fee amount imposed on dentists for the impaired dentist program. The fee would be payable upon license renewal. Licenses must be renewed on or before January 1 of each year. The fee would be used to help fund programs for impaired dental hygienists.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners, North Carolina Dental Society

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:
This bill authorizes the North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners to include impaired dental hygienists in programs developed for impaired dentists. The bill imposes an annual $40 fee on dental hygienists to support the program for impaired dental hygienists.

BACKGROUND:
The 1993 General Assembly approved HB 914 (SL 93, chapter 420) that authorized the North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners to collect a fee of up to $50 from licensed dentists to be used for a program for impaired dentists operated by a new state – sanctioned peer review organization. The N.C. State Board of Dental Examiners and the N.C. Dental Society signed a Memorandum of Agreement on May 21, 1994 to create the Caring Dentist Program . The purpose of the Caring Dentist Program is to provide intervention and rehabilitation for dental practitioners impaired by chemical dependency or mental illness. Appropriate treatment programs and aftercare monitoring are sought for the impaired dentists. An eight-member Board of Directors oversees the Caring Dentist Program.

Although G.S. 90-39 allows a fee of $50 to be charged to pay for the program, only $15 has been assessed each dentist renewing his license since 1994. (NCAC 21-16M.0001) Actual fees collected in 1997 were $55,300 and actual program expenses for 1997 were $43,681. The 1997 fund balance for the program was $88,861.74. This fee is proposed to rise to $25 in 1999 and annual revenue will rise to $97,775. The increase will be used to fund a full-time director.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

House Bill 1470 will allow the N.C. State Board of Dental Examiners to create a program for impaired dental hygienists similar to the Caring Dentist Program. The bill allows the Board to charge up to $40 for this program. Although the Director of the State Board of Dental Examiners suggested the initial fee would probably be $15, this fiscal note assumes the maximum of $40 for budget projection purposes. As of April 1, 1999, North Carolina has 4,446 licensed dental hygienists. Over the last five years, the number of licensed hygienists has grown 3.4% per year. This growth rate is projected to continue over the next five years as shown in the chart below.

	Hygienists	Revenue
FY 1999-00	4,446	$177,840
FY 2000-01	4,597	$183,887
FY 2001-02	4,753	$190,139
FY 2002-03	4,915	$196,603
FY 2003-04	5,082	$203,288
FY 2004-05	5,255	$210,200

Since the $40 fee is assessed upon renewal, the 4,446 currently licensed hygienists will pay the new fee in FY 1999-00. Those receiving a license in FY 1999-00 will begin paying the additional $40 fee in FY 2000-01 and so on. This simplified chart is an estimate and can not precisely account for attrition and new applicants each year.

"§ 105-129.16. Credit for investing in business property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased business property places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to four and one-half percent (4.5%) of the cost of the property. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer for property placed in service during a taxable year is four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service.

(b) Expiration. -- If, in one of the five years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the business property with respect to which the credit was claimed is disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(c) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the credit allowed under Article 3A of this Chapter with respect to business property may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same property. A taxpayer may not take the credit allowed in this section for business property the taxpayer leases from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not capitalize the property for tax purposes under the Code and the lessor will not claim the credit allowed in this section with respect to the property.

"§ 105-129.16A. Credit for investing in renewable energy property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has constructed, purchased, or leased renewable energy property places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to thirty-five percent (35%) of the cost of the property. In the case of renewable energy property that serves a single-family dwelling, the credit must be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. For all other renewable energy property, the entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service.

(b) Expiration. -- If, in one of the years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the renewable energy property with respect to which the credit was claimed is disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17. No credit is allowed under this section to the extent the cost of the renewable energy property was provided by public funds.

(c) Ceilings. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the applicable ceilings provided in this subsection.

(1) Nonresidential Property. -- A ceiling of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per installation applies to renewable energy property placed in service for any purpose other than residential.

(2) Residential Property. -- The following ceilings apply to renewable energy property placed in service for residential purposes:

a. One thousand four hundred dollars ($1,400) per dwelling unit for solar energy equipment for domestic water heating.

b. Three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) per dwelling unit for solar energy equipment for active space heating, combined active space and domestic hot water systems, and passive space heating.

c. Ten thousand five hundred dollars ($10,500) per installation for any other renewable energy property for residential purposes.

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to renewable energy property may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same property. A taxpayer may not take the credit allowed in this section for renewable energy property the taxpayer leases from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not claim a credit under this Chapter with respect to the property.

"§ 105-129.17. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article ~~is~~ are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter or the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The taxpayer must elect the tax against which the credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of ~~the~~ a credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- ~~The~~ A credit allowed in this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

SESSION 1999

HOUSE BILL 1472

Short Title: Simplify Renewable Energy Credits. (Public)

Sponsors: Representatives Hackney, Luebke, and McComas (Primary Sponsors).

Referred to: Finance.

May 13, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO SIMPLIFY AND MODERNIZE TAX CREDITS FOR INVESTING IN RENEWABLE ENERGY SOURCES.

Whereas, renewable energy is North Carolina's only indigenous energy source; and

Whereas, currently, thirty cents of every dollar spent on electricity in North Carolina goes out-of-state for fuel costs and every dollar spent on renewable energy circulates through our economy, helping to create over three dollars in local benefits; and

Whereas, many of North Carolina's large metropolitan areas, because of air pollution, are currently, or will soon be, facing development growth restrictions imposed by the United States Environmental Protection Agency for "non-attainment" of minimal air quality standards; and

Whereas, North Carolina currently ranks twelfth in the United States in carbon dioxide emissions, releasing 126.5 million tons into the atmosphere each year; and

Whereas, coal burning is creating increasingly negative health and environmental impacts through the release of sulfur dioxides, nitrous oxides, particulates, ozone, mercury, and lead; and

Whereas, renewable energy creates more jobs per unit of energy than fossil fuels or nuclear power; and

Whereas, a 1998 poll conducted by the University of North Carolina School of Journalism indicates that, by three-to-one, North Carolinians want electricity providers to implement solar energy options, even if they cost more; and

Whereas, renewable energy is, in the long term, the only energy option that can ensure sustainable development; and

Whereas, tax incentives can help stimulate the demand for environmentally sound, renewable energy options, help grow the solar industry in our State, produce a stronger local economy, and allow North Carolina to continue to grow but in a sustainable manner; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. The following sections of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes are repealed:

§ 105-130.23. Credit against corporate income tax for solar energy equipment in residential buildings.
§ 105-151.2. Credit for solar energy equipment.

§ 105-130.29. Credit for construction of an olivine brick facility.
§ 105-130.30. Credit for construction of a methane gas facility.
§ 105-151.10. Credit for construction of a methane gas facility.
§ 105-130.31. Credit for installation of a wind energy device.

§ 105-151.8. Credit for installation of solar energy equipment for the production of heat or electricity in certain processes.
§ 105-130.33. Credit against corporate income tax for installation of a hydroelectric generator.
§ 105-151.7. Credit for installation of a hydroelectric generator.

HOUSE BILL 1472:
Simplify Renewable Energy Credits

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hackney
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1472 repeals 8 corporate and individual income energy tax credits and replaces them with a tax credit for investing in renewable energy property. The credit is equal to 35% of the cost of the property. In the case of renewable energy property that serves a single-family dwelling, the credit must be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. For all other renewable energy property, the credit must be taken in five equal installments, beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. The credit has different caps, depending on the type of property. The bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly enacted several individual and corporate income tax credits in the 1980s to encourage the use of energy saving devices:

- Solar energy equipment.
- Conversion of industrial boilers to wood fuel.
- Peat facility.
- Olivine brick facility.
- Methane gas facility.
- Wind energy device.
- Solar energy equipment for the production of heat or electricity.
- Hydroelectric generator.

Of these credits, there is no evidence that the ones for peat, wind energy, olivine bricks, and methane have ever been used. The amount of the credit, the credit ceiling, and the credit carry-forward differ for each credit. (See the attached chart)

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1472 repeals the 8 energy tax credits listed above and replaces them with an energy tax credit that may be claimed against the franchise tax or the individual or corporate income tax. The bill provides a tax credit for investing in renewable energy property that the taxpayer places in service in this State during the taxable year. Renewable energy property is defined as any of the following machinery and equipment or real property:

- Biomass equipment that uses renewable biomass resources for biofuel production of ethanol, methanol, and biodiesel. Renewable biomass resources are organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.

- Hydroelectric generators.
- Solar energy equipment.
- Wind equipment.

The amount of the credit is 35% of the cost of the property placed in service. In the case of renewable energy property that serves a single-family dwelling, the credit must be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. For all other renewable energy property, the credit must be taken in five equal installments, beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. The credit may not exceed the following amounts:

Type of Property	Ceiling Amount
Nonresidential Property	$250,000 per installation
Residential Property – Solar energy equipment for domestic water heating	$1,400 per dwelling unit
Residential Property – Solar energy equipment for active space heating, combined active space and domestic hot water systems, and passive space heating	$3,500 per dwelling unit
Residential Property – All other renewable energy property for residential purposes	$10,000 per installation

The credit is patterned after the business tax credit. Like the business tax credit, the energy tax credit created in this bill has the following limitations and conditions:

- The energy tax credit may not exceed 50% of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.
- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed with respect to renewable energy property may not take this energy tax credit with respect to the same property.
- A taxpayer may not take this energy tax credit if the taxpayer leases the property from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not claim a credit with respect to this property.
- The Department of Revenue must report each year on the number of taxpayers claiming the credits, the cost of the property for which the credits were claimed, and the total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed.
- The Article allowing the business tax credit and, consequently the energy tax credit, is repealed effective January 1, 2002.

The credit is patterned after the business tax credit. Like the business tax credit, the energy tax credit created in this bill has the following limitations and conditions:

- The energy tax credit may not exceed 50% of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.
- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed with respect to renewable energy property may not take this energy tax credit with respect to the same property.
- A taxpayer may not take this energy tax credit if the taxpayer leases the property from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not claim a credit with respect to this property.
- The Department of Revenue must report each year on the number of taxpayers claiming the credits, the cost of the property for which the credits were claimed, and the total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed.
- The Article allowing the business tax credit and, consequently the energy tax credit, is repealed effective January 1, 2002.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill repeals a number of energy related corporate and individual income tax credits and creates a new income tax credit for investing in renewable energy property. The credit is equal to 35% of the cost of the property and must be taken over 5 years in equal installments (one year if residential). The credit has a maximum of $250,000 for nonresidential and $10,500 for residential. The credit cannot be taken if any other renewable energy credit is taken on the project.

BACKGROUND:

The following credits are repealed by this act:

Tax Credit for	Eligible Expenditures	Amount %/ Maximum	Type*	Notes
Solar Heating, Cooling, and Hot Water Systems, or Electricity 105-130.23 105-151.2	Material and installation Costs.	40%	I	Covers active and passive solar systems.
		$1,500	C	Full credit is given to any non-structural items used primarily to collect, store, transfer, or control solar energy. Five year carry forward.

*Type refers to (C) – Corporate income tax credit or (I) – Individual income tax credit

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

The elimination of the credits for peat, wind energy, olivine bricks, and methane will have no fiscal impact on the General Fund. Based on Department of Revenue data from the 1980's and on interviews with the Energy Division in the Department of Commerce, the tax credits for peat, wind energy, olivine bricks, and methane have never been used. The Department of Revenue reported zero use of these credits from 1981 to 1987. (Unfortunately, the Department of Revenue has not tracked these energy credits since 1987.) The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) reported in 1995 that no electricity was purchased by North Carolina utilities from nonutility facilities using geothermal, wind, solar, or non-wood biomass sources. DOE did report electricity purchases from conventional hydroelectric, wood/wood waste, and municipal waste facilities.

The fiscal impact for the new renewable energy tax credit cannot be estimated. The energy credits that have been most commonly used in North Carolina are for solar energy and for conversion of industrial boilers to wood fuel. Hydroelectric power is prevalent in the state, but it is not known whether these companies have taken the existing state tax credit for hydroelectric generators. The North Carolina Solar Energy Association estimates that 50 to 100 residential solar tax credits are taken each year, but the Department of Revenue has no data to confirm this estimate. Solar advocates believe the number of solar credits will increase due to the Million Solar Roofs Initiative that DOE began in 1997 to install a million solar energy systems on one million U.S. buildings by the year 2010. However, it is uncertain how effective this initiative will be since it did not come with federal tax credits that previously accompanied energy legislation in the late 1970's and early 1980's. North Carolina taxpayers used $224,004 in tax credits solar hot water heating in FY 1982-83 when a federal tax credit was available. After the federal tax credit ended in 1985, no taxpayer applied for a state residential solar credit in FY 1987-88. At a minimum, if the current trend of 50 to 100 residential solar projects each year continues, the cost of the program could increase approximately $100,000 to $200,000 because the maximum credit amount per dwelling increases from $1500 to $3500 under this bill.

It is also uncertain whether industrial and nonresidential users will take advantage of the new energy tax credit given that the price per kilowatt hour of electricity produced by alternative energy sources far exceeds the price of electricity produced by conventional sources. In a July 1998 report to the Legislative Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina, the Research Triangle Institute reported the average price per kilowatt hour in North Carolina for commercial customers was 6.45 cents and for industrial customers was 4.79 cents. On the other hand, DOE reported in "Renewable Energy 1998:Issues and Trends" that in 1995 U.S. electric utilities paid the following prices for electricity generated by alternative sources:

Solar	15.80 cents per kilowatt hour
Biomass other than wood	12.31 cents per kilowatt hour
Geothermal	11.77 cents per kilowatt hour
Wind	11.64 cents per kilowatt hour
Wood/ Wood Waste	9.67 cents per kilowatt hour

In addition to price considerations, some companies may have less corporate income tax liability against which to take a tax credit. The North Carolina corporate income tax rate has been reduced from 7.75% to 6.9 % in the last four years. In addition, many companies have reduced their tax liability by taking advantage of income tax credits provided by the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act.

RE: HOUSE BILL 1472 - IN SUPPORT OF THIS BILL

Dear Representative Luebke:

We support House Bill 1472 and all efforts to support renewable resources in North Carolina. The Bill focuses on supporting the outside investment of the business community in helping many cities and counties be proactive in the environmental mitigation of landfill gas as one of the energy sources. Landfill gas systems are expensive to install and to operate. The gas can be used to fire boilers, run steam turbines, gas turbines, and reciprocating engines. It actually burners cleaner than natural gas with 35% lower or reduced NOX emissions. By capturing the fugitive emissions from an average size landfill, the CO2 reduction is substantial from capture at the flare alone. The benefits are doubled when the flared gas is put to a constructive use sometimes eliminating the emission source almost 100%.

This Bill highlights the ranking of North Carolina as twelfth in the US releasing 126.5 million tons of CO2 each year. Landfill gas projects at the top forty landfills in the State would have emission reduction equivalents of almost 6% of this number. This is substantial and should be supported with this legislation. Attached is an example of a mid range 2-3 million ton landfill showing the emission benefits of the capture by the flare and the number without the flare and being put to a beneficial use by several customers. We can reduce these current emissions / liabilities and make them into real benefits for each community and the State. Please look to the successful ventures close-by with Wake County and Mallinckrodt Chemical in North Raleigh, with The City of Raleigh and Ajinomoto in East Raleigh, and with Pitt County and the Pitt County Memorial Hospital / University Health Care Systems. We believe that House Bill 1472 can help be a part of making new successes.

Landfill Gas Energy Makes Sense in Wake County

The landfill gas-to-energy project at the North Wake County Landfill has demonstrated that using landfill gas to fuel a boiler is a winning combination.

This project, co-developed by Enerdyne Power Systems and DTE Biomass, uses landfill gas to produce steam that is used as heat at Mallinckrodt Industries. The North Wake Landfill, which has 1.4 million tons of waste in place, is capable of delivering nearly a million cubic feet per day of landfill gas. This gas is transported via a two-mile pipeline to a landfill gas-fired boiler at the Raleigh Steam facility. There, a 25,000 pound per hour boiler produces the steam that is sold to the chemical plant.

Recovering and utilizing this landfill gas prevents emissions of methane, a potent greenhouse gas, and other air pollutants, from entering the atmosphere. Landfill gas-to-energy also provides an economical and reliable source of energy that Mallinckrodt Chemical depends on.

Vicky Will, Plant Manager at Mallinckrodt Chemical, was instrumental in the planning and implementation of this project. Wayne Woodlief, of Wake County, and Bill Brinker, of Enerdyne Energy Systems, were also key players in the development of the project.

The Environmental Protection Agency thanks Wake County, Enerdyne Power Systems, DTE Biomass, and Mallinckrodt Industries for participating in the Landfill Methane Outreach Program.

Landfill Gas Energy Makes Sense in Wake County

The landfill gas-to-energy project at the North Wake County Landfill has demonstrated that using landfill gas to fuel a boiler is a winning combination.

This project, co-developed by Enerdyne Power Systems and DTE Biomass, uses landfill gas to produce steam that is used as heat at Mallinckrodt Industries. The North Wake Landfill, which has 1.4 million tons of waste in place, is capable of delivering nearly a million cubic feet per day of landfill gas. This gas is transported via a two-mile pipeline to a landfill gas-fired boiler at the Raleigh Steam facility. There, a 25,000 pound per hour boiler produces the steam that is sold to the chemical plant.

Recovering and utilizing this landfill gas prevents emissions of methane, a potent greenhouse gas, and other air pollutants, from entering the atmosphere. Landfill gas-to-energy also provides an economical and reliable source of energy that Mallinckrodt Chemical depends on.

Vicky Will, Plant Manager at Mallinckrodt Chemical, was instrumental in the planning and implementation of this project. Wayne Woodlief, of Wake County, and Bill Brinker, of Enerdyne Energy Systems, were also key players in the development of the project.

The Environmental Protection Agency thanks Wake County, Enerdyne Power Systems, DTE Biomass, and Mallinckrodt Industries for participating in the Landfill Methane Outreach Program.

My architectural firm, Innovative Design, was established 22 years ago with our primary focus being that of designing environmentally sensitive, solar buildings. Over the past two decades we have designed solar buildings built 4500 times. Forty-four hundred of these solar buildings were constructed in North Carolina, 4,100 for homeowners. Our North Carolina projects have saved over $49 million dollars in energy and reduced carbon dioxide emissions by 384,000 tons. The accumulative benefit to North Carolina's economy, from just our firm's solar energy projects, has now reach $150 million. Because these buildings incorporated solar energy features, North Carolinia homeowners and businesses will continue to save over $3.4 million annually.

By number of registered architects, our architectural firm is the third largest in the Triangle, employing an average of 10 to 12 people. Additionally, I estimate that the solar components of our buildings are responsible for the employment of 40 to 50 people for the past two decades.

By 2010 we project these solar buildings will have reduced carbon dioxide emissions by over 700,000 tons and saved $90 million in energy. Within the next ten years the accumulative benefits to local economies within North Carolina, by not having their energy dollars leave their communities, will surpass $270 million.

The North Carolina's solar energy tax credits, to a great degree, are directly responsible for the magnitude of these energy savings and jobs created. Without them, the majority of our clients would have never gone that next step. I estimate the tax credits associated with these projects (the great majority for solar homes) is approximately $2 million. Fifty jobs per year for twenty years and the $150 million ($270 million by 2010) in economic benefit to North Carolina communities, at a cost of $2 million, is a pretty good deal - particularly since these savings don't begin to reflect the benefits derived from reduced pollution, improved health, greater agricultural productivity, and greater energy independence.

Across our country and across North Carolina, the average citizen wants our government, at all levels, to create incentives that encourage the use of solar energy. In a national poll conducted by Research Strategy Management, Inc. and released just this week, found that an overwhelming 80% of Americans favor tax incentives to increase the use of renewable energy. North Carolinians simply want solar because it helps our environment by reducing air and water pollution, it creates jobs, and it keeps our energy dollars in our local communities.

I would like to thank those of you from both parties that voted years ago to support solar energy. Our current credits have, in many ways, worked because they have facilitated the introduction of early solar technologies into the marketplace. They have helped in bringing down costs and making some of these technologies more accessible to the average citizen. And, they have helped reduce energy costs for North Carolinians by hundreds of millions of dollars and created hundreds of jobs.

However, these revisions to our existing credits also make sense because they modify the credit amounts to reflect the type of incentives needed today to spur action by homeowners and businesses. The proposed modifications, in some cases, reflect reductions in incentives for the more mature technologies while other, more advanced, cutting edge technologies will require higher incentives The proposed modifications are also fairer because they open the credits to all renewable energy technologies.

I would encourage you to favorably support House Bills 1472 and 1473. Your children and grandchildren will thank you.

Poll Confirms North Carolinians Want Renewable Energy...And Are Willing to Pay For It!

By Larry Shirley, NCSEA Board of Directors

The highly regarded Carolina Poll, conducted each year by the UNC School of Journalism to determine North Carolinians' attitudes on key issues, has released the results of its 1998 poll, in which several of the questions directly addressed renewable energy. The Poll's results included these significant findings:

- 58.4% of North Carolina's citizens support requiring all sellers of electricity in the state to generate a percentage of their electricity from renewable energy sources; only 19.2% were opposed;

- 56.6% support adding an extra charge of at least 1% to each customer's utility bill to help pay for renewable energy and energy efficiency programs; only 30.1% opposed this measure;

- 50.8% are willing to pay $1 or more each month, in addition to their regular bill, to enable them to purchase their electricity from renewable sources; 37.9% were willing to spend $6 or more per month; 11.1% would spend more than $20 a month extra; and only 27% said they would not pay a premium; and

- 65.4% favor requiring electricity suppliers to disclose on the customer's bill information on the fuels (i.e. types and emissions) used to generate their electricity; only 15.2% opposed this measure.

"The poll confirms what we have long suspected," said Richard Harkrader, Chairman of the N.C. Solar Energy Association. "North Carolinians not only are strongly in support of developing and using our only indigenous energy resource, renewable energy, they are also willing to pay for it."

The North Carolina Poll's results mirror the poll results that have been gathered by independent polling firms in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and several other states. In many of these states, the poll results have spurred local utilities to offer "green" electricity, or electricity generated from renewable resources, such as wind, solar, hydro and biomass resources.

Released just as North Carolina's legislative commission studying the restructuring of electric power is set to reconvene after being in hiatus during the recent legislative session, renewable energy advocates believe the poll's results could have a profound impact on the Commission's forthcoming recommendations.

"The Study Commission now has the clear support of North Carolina's citizenry to take specific actions to see that renewable energy resources are strengthened and advanced as part of any plan to restructure the state's electric power system," stated Harkrader. "Fulfilling this mandate from their constituents should lead them to do four things:

Currently, North Carolina, like most other states, is considering restructuring its electric utility industry to allow for competition among electricity providers. I'm going to ask you some questions about restructuring our state's electric utility industry, and I want you to tell me how you, personally, feel about these issues. If you haven't thought enough about a particular issue to have an opinion yet, just say so and we'll go on to the next item.

In this survey, BIOMASS refers to the burning of wood and other plant products to produce electricity. HYDROPOWER refers to the use of moving water to produce electricity. SOLAR POWER refers to the conversion of the sun's energy into elct.

Electricity fuel source info on bill

To give customers the information they will need to make informed energy purchases, some states are requiring their utility companies to include information on electric bills about the fuels used to produce electricity and the environmental impacts from the use of these fuels. Would you strongly favor, favor, oppose, or strongly oppose a proposal to require every seller of electricity in North Carolina to provide fuel and emissions information on customer bills?

How much spend on renewable sources

Suppose the North Carolina electricity market were restructured to allow you a choice of buying electricity generated by nonpolluting renewable energy sources such as solar, wind, and small hydropower at a higher cost, or electricity produced by nuclear and coal at a lower cost. About how much more, if any, would you be willing to spend on your utility bill each month for electricity produced from renewable energy sources?

SURVEY SHOWS AMERICANS WOULD FUND RENEWABLE ENERGY & ENERGY EFFICIENCY BUT CUT FUNDING FOR NUCLEAR POWER & FOSSIL FUELS;

PUBLIC STRONGLY FAVORS TAX INCENTIVES AND PROVISIONS TO PROMOTE SUSTAINABLE ENERGY IN ELECTRIC UTILITY RESTRUCTURING

Washington DC -- A national public opinion survey released today by a broad coalition of business, environmental, consumer, and energy policy organizations confirms that most citizens believe renewable energy and energy efficiency should be given priority for federal energy funding but that nuclear power and fossil fuels should be the first technologies subject to budget cuts.

Furthermore, by large margins, the public favors inclusion of provisions to promote sustainable energy technologies and consumer disclosure in federal electric utility restructuring legislation but oppose having electricity customers pay for uneconomic nuclear plants. Finally, Americans overwhelmingly support federal tax incentives to encourage the use of renewable energy in electricity production and to encourage the purchase of energy-efficient automobiles, homes, and heating and cooling systems.

These are among the key findings of the survey, "America Speaks Out on Energy: Funding Priorities, Electric Utility Restructuring, and Tax Incentives" conducted for the Sustainable Energy Coalition by Research/Strategy/ Management, Inc. of Sterling, Virginia from May 10-18 among a sample of 1,029 adult Americans 18 years of age and older. The survey has a margin of error of +/-3.0%.

For the fifth year in a row, a majority of all Americans (62%), and more than two-thirds (69%) of those expressing a preference, would give the highest priority to funding the U.S. Department of Energy's (DOE) renewable energy (i.e., solar, wind, geothermal, biomass, and hydroelectric) and energy efficiency research and development (R&D) programs. On the other hand, nearly a third (31%) of respondents selected nuclear power as the first R&D program that should be subject to budget cuts, followed by fossil fuels (21%). Only 5% would cut funding for energy efficiency R&D while just 9% would reduce the renewable energy budget.

These findings, which reflect even higher levels of support for sustainable energy programs than were measured in the Coalition's earlier polls, cut across all political, gender, age, geographic, and income categories. Ironically, recent votes by the House Science Committee and Senate Appropriations Committee would allocate federal energy dollars in a manner completely at odds with the public's preferences.

By large margins, 78% of respondents support including a Renewable Energy Portfolio Standard requiring 10% of electricity be generated from solar, wind, geothermal, and biomass sources as part of federal electric utility restructuring legislation.

In addition, 59% favor creating a Public Benefits Fund, supported by a 2-3% surcharge on utility bills, to fund energy efficiency, low-income energy assistance, and renewable energy R&D programs. There is also near-unanimity (89%) among Americans that electricity providers should be required to tell their customers the type of fuel being used to generate electricity as well as the type and amounts of air pollutants being emitted.

However, a lopsided majority (76%) of consumers believe electric utilities' shareholders, and not their customers, should be required to pay off the cost of uneconomic nuclear power plants as the utility industry is deregulated. Neither the White House nor anyone in Congress has yet to introduce a utility restructuring proposal that reflects the public's preferences.

More than 80% of respondents favor tax incentives to increase the use of renewable energy for the production of electricity either strongly (45%) or at least somewhat (36%). Furthermore, Americans overwhelmingly support making tax incentives available to encourage the purchase of energy-efficient vehicles, new homes, and heating and cooling equipment. More than three-quarters (77%) support such incentives for the purchase of automobiles that are at least twice as energy efficient as the average new car either strongly (46%) or at least somewhat (31%).

An even larger share of citizens (83%) support tax incentives to spur the purchase of new homes that are at least 30% more energy efficient than the average new home either strongly (51%) or at least somewhat (32%). Finally, 84% of those surveyed believe tax incentives should be made available to encourage the purchase of home heating and cooling systems that are at least 30% more energy-efficient with a majority (51%) agreeing strongly and another third (33%) agreeing at least somewhat. The findings suggest that the public is ready to support the Clinton Administration's yet-to-be-introduced package of tax incentives that comprise its Climate Change Technology Initiative.

20% Renewable Energy In North Carolina by 2010: Technically Possible, Economically Feasible and Environmentally Necessary

Michael Nicklas
Resident of Cary, North Carolina

Past President of International Solar Energy Society

In 1992 the North Carolina Energy Policy Council, in recognition that our state should be moving towards a more sustainable energy future, established an objective of meeting 20% of North Carolina's annual energy needs with renewable energy by the year 2010. (1) To those concerned with sustainable development, this 20% goal by 2010 serves as the benchmark by which our current utility restructuring effort will be judged. To those engaged in evaluating deregulation it is important to understand that this level of contribution is technically possible, economically feasible and environmentally necessary.

Several important studies have taken place during the recent years which indicate that meeting 20% of our energy needs with renewable energy sources by 2010 is important to North Carolina's economic and environmental future.

Technical Potential

In 1990 the US Department of Energy, in preparation of our National Energy Strategy, organized an evaluation by our National Laboratories of already commercialized and emerging renewable energy technologies that would have an impact on energy choices between 1990 and 2030. The conclusions of this analysis stated that, through increased research, development, and demonstration initiatives, the contributions from renewables could increase from the 1988 level of 8.0% and reach 17.8% by 2010, 26.7 percent in 2020 and approximately 39.6 percent by 2030. These projections assumed a level of energy efficiency efforts that would tend to slow overall demand to about 1.3 percent per year and result in total demand in 2030 of 144.2 quads. But, with enhanced energy efficiency, the growth rate could be cut to one-half percent per year and the contribution that renewables could provide of total demand would increase to over 20% in 2010. (3)

Since 1990 increased RD&D funding for renewables coupled with federal and state tax incentives has resulted in an increase in the use of renewables. Unfortunately, energy demand, greatly impacted by reduced DSM efforts by utilities, has increased much higher than the 0.5% per year rate and even slightly ahead of the 1.3% pace. This has resulted in a 1997 total demand in the United States of 94.5 quadrillion Btu's. Because of this increase in demand, and despite the increase in use of renewables, the percentage of renewable energy in the United States in 1997 remained approximately the same (7.8%).

The good news is that from a technical standpoint, significant advances have been taking place in almost every renewable technology and, nationwide, the percentage of renewables is increasing. In the utility sector renewables are increasing at 2.9% per year. Non-utility generators are increasing at a greater rate of 3.7% per year and, within this sector, solar, wind and geothermal are growing at a strong 8.9% per year pace. The potential looks very good as manufacturing processes continue to improve and more innovative approaches improve cost-effectiveness. If over the next decade energy growth can be contained (through enhanced energy efficiency efforts) to a rate of one-half percent per year, energy demand in the United States would increase to 100.8 quads. In turn, if the use of renewable energy sources were to increase by a rate of 8.5% per year (slightly less than that currently occurring in the solar, wind, and geothermal sector of non-utility generators), the contribution nationwide would increase to 19.7 quads and represent 19.6% of total needs.

In contrast, the United Nations Committee on the Development of New and Renewable Sources of Energy in 1992 analyzed the projected potential of renewable energy worldwide. What they determined was that, on a global basis in 1985, renewable energy options provided 17.5 percent of the world's energy needs, an amount equal to 7,669 Mtoe. At that time renewable energy options provided 8.5 percent of the industrialized counties' needs and 38.3 percent of the developing countries' annual requirements. (5)

The UN Committee projected that by 2020 the utilization of renewables could surpass 3.5 times the 1985 mark and reach 4,889 Mtoe. If the energy demand projected by the World Energy Council reached their projected 13,500 Mtoe in 2020, renewables would then be providing 36% of global energy needs. This study indicates that in the already industrialized countries the potential exists, from a technological standpoint, to increase the contribution from renewable energy from 461 mtoe in 1985 to a minimum of 1853 mtoe in 2020 - a four fold increase that will advance the industrialized countries from 8.5% renewable energy position in 1985 to 31% in 2020.

Economically Practical Renewable Energy Potential

A 1991 analysis conducted by the Alliance to Save Energy, the American Council for an Energy-Efficient Economy, the Natural Resources Defence Council and the Union of Concerned Scientists looked at several different scenarios and concluded that US renewable energy use could increase dramatically between now and the year 2030 but would be significantly dependent upon the level of energy efficiency reached.

Depending upon the scenario, the percentage of renewable energy would increase from the 1988 level of 8.6% contribution to between 35% and 53% by 2030. The Market Case examines a "policy driven" scenario that encourages efficiency and renewables. This analysis reflects a scenario of what renewable energy could achieve based on cost-effectiveness and governmental policies which would only encourage implementation but not add further financial inducements. The study concluded that with governmental policies that would result in cost-effective renewable solutions being implemented, the percentage of renewables from the Market Driven Case would reach 17.8% of total energy demand in 2010 and rise to 35.3% in 2030. (6)

The Environmental Imperative

In 1990, Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change concluded that a 60% reduction in global CO2 was required to just stabilize atmospheric concentration. However, the World Energy Congress estimated that by 2020, our current path will result in a 69% increase in CO2 - due mostly to a projected 75% increase in global energy demand. Energy use throughout the world is now responsible for 6 billion tons of carbon being dumped into our atmosphere each year - an amount that, unless significant changes in consumption patterns occur, will reach 10 billion tons by 2010. Of this amount, 2.3 billion tons of carbon emissions are the result of coal burning (7). Unless we switch to a more sustainable energy path, US emissions will reach 30% above 1990 levels by the year 2010.

In 1992 the heads of state of over 160 countries gathered in Rio de Janeiro to address this issue, the most important of our time. As a result of the Earth Summit, the United States initiated a US Climate Change Action Plan to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions to 1990 levels by the year 2000. Unfortunately, from 1990 to 1996 little action took place to reverse the trend of increasing pollution and GHG emissions rose by another 8%. (8) Recognizing that not enough had been done that would enable the US to meet the goals of the Climate Action Plan, the US negotiated a new objective in Kyoto (now being challenged by Congress) to reduce greenhouse gas emissions to 7% below 1990 levels, but not until the year 2010. Even if we reach this goal we will fall considerably short of the 60% reduction necessary to stabilize our atmospheric concentrations of CO2.

Within the same 1991 analysis conducted by the Alliance to Save Energy, the American Council for an Energy-Efficient Economy, the Natural Resources Defence Council and the Union of Concerned Scientists, another scenario looked at an Environmental Case, that took into account the societal impacts of energy security and environmental degradation, and a Climate Stabilization Case. (6)

Under the Environmental Case, as more societal impacts are accounted for, the renewable contribution was predicted to grow by 21.5% in 2010 and 41.7% in 2030. The CO2 emissions would, correspondingly, be cut by 30% in 2010 and in half by 2030. However, to achieve the desired reduction in CO2 necessary for Climate Stabilization, both significant increased use in renewables coupled with enhanced energy efficiency gains, would be required. In this sustainable energy scenario renewable energy use would have to increase to 26.3% by 2010 and reach 53% by 2030. Additionally, the energy demand (through improved energy efficiency) would need to be reduced by 19% in 2010 and 27% in 2030. (6)

A final analysis better places our environmental imperative into perspective. This analysis, conducted by the International Solar Energy Society, concluded that if we are to stabilize our atmospheric concentration of carbon dioxide we would need to accomplish two objectives. (9) The first is that we would need to reach a global contribution from renewable energy of 40% by 2020. Based upon an estimated total global demand of 13.5 gtoe in 2020, this would mean that renewable sources would have to increase from 1.4 gtoe to 5.5 gtoe. This leaves approximately 8 gtoe in demand. The critical second component that is necessary is that the pollutant impact from this remaining 8 gtoe in demand, must be cut in half. This must occur through either a doubling of the efficiency of delivery or reducing, in half, the pollutants associated with the energy production.

If this scenario is achieved we will reduce the carbon dioxide by the 60% amount estimated by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change and still meet our energy demand. Anything less than this will mean an increasing atmospheric concentration in greenhouse gases and rising global temperatures. Our "hidden" societal and environmental impacts already cost Americans $250 billion each year (in addition to our national energy bill) from increased health problems, loss of agricultural productivity, military costs associated with imported oil, and environmental destruction. And, this doesn't consider any costs associated with climate change. It is clear that North Carolina must do our part to insure that our energy future focuses much more strongly on environmentally sound renewable energy. It is also clear that achieving a 20% renewable energy goal in North Carolina is technically possible and economically sound.

HOUSE BILL 1473

Short Title: Renewable Energy Mfr Credit. (Public)

Sponsors: Representatives Hackney and Luebke (Primary Sponsors).

Referred to: Finance.

May 13, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN RENEWABLE ENERGY EQUIPMENT.

Whereas, renewable energy is North Carolina's only indigenous energy source; and

Whereas, currently, thirty cents of every dollar spent on electricity in North Carolina goes out-of-state for fuel costs and every dollar spent on renewable energy circulates through our economy, helping to create over three dollars in local benefits; and

Whereas, many of North Carolina's large metropolitan areas, because of air pollution, are currently, or will soon be, facing development growth restrictions imposed by the United States Environmental Protection Agency for "nonattainment" of minimal air quality standards; and

Whereas, North Carolina currently ranks twelfth in the United States in carbon dioxide emissions, releasing 126.5 million tons into the atmosphere each year; and

Whereas, coal burning is creating increasingly negative health and environmental impacts through the release of sulfur dioxides, nitrous oxides, particulates, ozone, mercury, and lead; and

Whereas, renewable energy creates more jobs per unit of energy than fossil fuels or nuclear power; and

Whereas, a 1998 poll conducted by the University of North Carolina School of Journalism indicates that, by three-to-one, North Carolinians want electricity providers to implement solar energy options, even if they cost more; and

Whereas, renewable energy is, in the long term, the only energy option that can ensure sustainable development; and

Whereas, tax incentives can help stimulate the demand for environmentally sound, renewable energy options, help grow the solar industry in our State, produce a stronger local economy, and allow North Carolina to continue to grow, but in a sustainable manner; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-130.28 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-130.28. Credit against corporate income tax for construction of a ~~photovoltaic~~ renewable energy equipment facility.

(a) ~~Any~~ Credit. -- A corporation that constructs in North Carolina a facility for the ~~production of photovoltaic~~ manufacture of renewable energy equipment is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this Part equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the costs are paid but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the costs are paid.

No credit is allowed, however, to the extent that any of the costs of the equipment were provided by federal, State, or local grants. To secure the credit allowed by this section, the taxpayer must own or control the facility at the time of construction. ~~The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer.~~

(b) ~~As used in this section, "photovoltaic equipment" means those products designed, manufactured, and produced to convert sunlight directly into electricity.~~ Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Biomass equipment. -- Products designed to use renewable biomass resources for biofuel production of ethanol, methanol, and biodiesel; anaerobic biogas production of methane utilizing agricultural and animal waste or garbage; or commercial thermal or electrical generation from renewable energy crops or wood waste materials. The term also includes related devices for converting, conditioning, and storing the liquid fuels, gas, and electricity produced with biomass equipment.

(2) Renewable biomass resources. -- Organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, aquatic crops, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.

(3) Renewable energy equipment. -- Biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment.

(4) Solar electric or thermal equipment. -- Products designed to convert sunlight into electricity or heat.

(5) Wind energy equipment. -- Products designed to capture and convert wind energy into electricity or mechanical power.

(c) Carryforward. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 10 years. ~~The amount of credit allowed under this section may be carried over for the next succeeding five years.~~

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to construction of a facility for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same facility."

Section 2. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 1473:
Renewable Energy Manufacturers Credit

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hackney
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1473 expands the current corporate tax credit for the construction of a photvoltaic equipment to include the construction of other types of renewable energy equipment. The bill provides that the credit must be taken in five equal installments and extends the carry forward from 5 years to 10 years. The bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: A corporation that constructs a facility for the production of photovoltaic equipment is allowed a credit equal to 25% of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. The amount of the credit may not exceed the amount of tax owed; any unused credit may be carried forward for five years. Photovoltaic equipment means products designed, manufactured, and produced to convert sunlight directly into electricity.

The credit is not allowed to the extent that federal, State, or local grants provide any of the costs of the equipment. To secure the credit, the taxpayer must own or control the facility at the time of construction.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1473 would allow a corporation that constructed a facility in North Carolina for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment to receive a corporate income tax credit equal to 25% of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. Renewable energy equipment is defined by the bill as biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment. This broad definition encompasses the current definition of photovoltaic equipment.

The credit allowed under this bill differs from the current credit in the following ways:

- The credit could not be taken for the taxable year in which the costs are paid, but would be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the costs are paid.
- Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for 10 years instead of 5 years.
- A taxpayer that claims any other credit with respect to the construction of a facility to manufacture renewable energy equipment may not take this credit with respect to the same facility.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
HB 1473 replaces the corporate tax credit for constructing a photovoltaic (PV) equipment facility with a corporate tax credit for constructing a renewable energy equipment facility. The tax credit is taken in five equal installments over five years. Unused tax credits have a 10 year carryforward. No taxpayer may receive more than one tax credit for this type of facility.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The current corporate income tax credit for constructing photovoltaic manufacturing facilities has not been used since it was created in 1981. The Department of Revenue reported no usage of the credit from 1981 to 1987. After 1987, no separate accounting was done for each energy credit. Officials with the North Carolina Solar Center and the North Carolina Solar Energy Association do not recall this credit ever being used. These solar energy advocates believe the existing law's 5-year carry forward period is too short for new companies to show a profit and benefit from the tax incentive. The credit in HB 1473 lengthens the carry forward period from 5 to 10 years and expands credit eligibility to include biomass and wind energy equipment.

This fiscal note cannot predict the number of firms that will apply for this revised corporate tax credit nor the amount of credit to be requested. However, if only one firm applies for the credit, there will be a General Fund revenue loss due to the absence of applicants for the current tax credit program. The Chief of the Renewable Energy Branch of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) believes North Carolina is a good candidate for a small photovoltaic (PV) company using specialized technology and for a biomass equipment company working with the wood products industry. An example of a small PV company is Atlantis Energy, which built a $1.5 million plant in Cape Charles Virginia in 1995 to produce custom designed PV modules. A biomass equipment plant might be attracted to the North Carolina wood products industry that produced 1,730 million kilowatt hours of energy from wood and wood waste in 1995. (DOE/Energy Information Administration)

The Chief of the DOE Renewable Energy Branch believes that manufacturers of photovoltaic (PV) and biomass equipment will expand production capacity over the next five years. The Million Solar Roofs Initiative that DOE began in 1997 aims to install a million solar energy systems on one million U.S. buildings by the year 2010. Since 64% of the shipments from the nation's 24 manufacturers of PV cells and modules (DOE 1995 estimate) are exported, an increase in domestic demand should prompt an expansion of PV plant capacity.

INFORMATION SHEET ON

H 1473 - An Act to Modify the Income Tax Credit for Manufacturers of Certain Renewable Energy Equipment

Why is H 1473 necessary?

This bill revises G.S. 105-130.28, a tax credit for manufacturers of photovoltaic (PV) equipment. (PV equipment produces electricity directly from sunlight. This technology is growing 40% per year and is already a $1 billion business per year worldwide.) The current credit has NOT been used and the revision corrects the problems found in the existing legislation by recruiters. In trying to recruit a PV manufacturing facility, the NC Solar Center at NC State University found that the 5-year carry forward limitation was too short a time period for companies they were recruiting to benefit from the incentive. The revision extends the carry forward provision to 10 years and eliminates the discrimination against other renewable technologies by extending the credit to manufacturers of other renewable energy equipment such as: wind; small scale hydro; biomass equipment which generates methane gas and/or electricity from hog or poultry waste or land fill gas; and solar thermal equipment which captures high temperature heat for manufacturing processes, electricity generation, or heating and cooling large buildings.

Why is a renewable energy manufacturer's tax credits necessary?

H 1473 is an incentive for manufacturers to locate their facilities in NC. The industries involved are new high tech firms that invent, design, build and sell renewable energy equipment. They are creative enterprises producing new products which involves the high risk of doing something new but, also, potentially high rewards of a new, fast growing market place for clean energy. These incentives will encourage North Carolina-based investments in R&D, industrial plants and jobs and enable our industrial recruiters to compete with other states and foreign countries for these facilities. Two years ago we lost two photovoltaic manufacturing plants to Virginia because they have better incentives. However, these companies want to locate close to the demand for their product and with this new legislation NC will look very attractive.

How much will it cost?

We do not know of any use of the existing credit. It is hard to estimate how many times the new credit will be used. Each manufacturing facility could cost ten million dollars or more which could generate a potential credit of $2,500,000 each. The revenue impact would fall in 3 to 5 years from enactment at the earliest because of long planning and construction times for projects of this size. Assuming 3 facilities every 10 years costing $10,000,000 each, the credit could average $750,000 per year IF each company has a state tax liability allowing them to take the full credit. To reduce the fiscal impact of the existing legislation, the revised credit includes new limitations of a mandatory 5 year installment of the credit and a provision eliminating the use of this credit in combination with other investment credits.

over>>

Who will benefit from the revised credit?

1) Businesses will get incentives for being leaders in bringing clean, renewable energy to our state.

2) New jobs and companies will be created and recruited to North Carolina to satisfy the demand created by the energy equipment credit (H 1472) and US Department of Energy's Million Solar Roofs Initiative. Currently, a photovoltaic company, a solar thermal company, and at least one biomass (animal waste) equipment manufacturer are prospects for locating in NC.

3) North Carolina's reputation as a national leader in business creation and innovation will be enhanced. Because of the North Carolina Solar Center and the North Carolina Solar Energy Association, North Carolina is already one of handful of states leading in solar energy (the others are California, Florida, New Mexico and Nevada). This legislation will bring us national recognition and expand our leadership position to include all renewable energy technologies.

At the request of Representative Paul Leubke, I have been asked to briefly review House Bill 1473, An Act to Modify the Income Tax Credits for Manufacturers of Certain Renewable Energy Equipment. I appreciate this opportunity and thank the Committee for their willingness to review and consider this matter.

I serve as the Executive Director of the North Carolina Solar Center, a statewide solar energy center sponsored by the Energy Division of the N.C. Department of Commerce and operated by the College of Engineering at North Carolina State University. I have served in this position since the Center's founding in 1988 and have also served as the chairman of the American Solar Energy Society and on the Boards of the N.C. Solar Energy Association, Passive Solar Industries Council and Interstate Renewable Energy Council.

House Bill 1473 comes forward at a particularly important time in North Carolina. Currently, we have a major manufacturer of photovoltaic, or solar electric, systems that is giving serious consideration to location of their plant in North Carolina. Based in California, this company is seeking an East Coast manufacturing site and has narrowed their list of states to Virginia and North Carolina. The company plans to build a plant that will produce 10+ megawatts of concentrating photovoltaic systems, with the majority of the plant's output being shipped overseas. For this level of output, the number of employees to be hired for the plant is expected to number 200-300.

At present, North Carolina offers a 25 percent tax credit toward the cost of the plant and related equipment of a photovoltaic plant, a credit established many years ago in recognition of the high technology, high quality jobs that are produced by this industry for a clean energy source in a field that is growing 30-40 percent annually. Unfortunately, although there have been serious inquiries through the years, no company has yet availed itself of this opportunity.

My conversations with the CEOs of several photovoltaic companies have been enlightening in trying to determine the reasons for their decisions to move to other locations. Of particular relevance is that many of these companies are young start-ups, or subsidiaries and joint ventures of major companies, who do not expect to show an immediate profit on their venture. As a result, their tax liability will not be sufficient in the early years to take full advantage of this credit during the current five-year carry-forward period. In this instance, a longer carry-forward period is needed. House Bill 1474 provides for a doubling of this period to ten years.

Another deterrent to location in North Carolina is our chief competitor in this field, Virginia. In 1995, the Cavalier state allocated $22.5 million in appropriations over five years to pay photovoltaic manufacturers up to $.75 per watt for each photovoltaic panel produced in Virginia. Together with a very aggressive recruitment campaign, this incentive has netted Virginia two solar plants to date, with a possible third plant on the horizon.

To best compete with Virginia, our state has stepped up its recruitment efforts through the Solar Center and N.C. Department of Commerce. The longer carry-forward period under HB 1473 would give these recruitment efforts a better tool in which to do battle with our friendly neighbor to the North. Together with our revised incentives for solar systems as proposed under companion HB 1472, An Act to Simplify and Modernize Tax Credits for Investing in Renewable Energy Sources, we also have a much better market for photovoltaic systems within the state than Virginia, an asset in this recruitment struggle.

HB 1473 would also expand this manufacturing incentive to other manufacturers of renewable energy equipment, such as wind, biomass, solar thermal and small hydro equipment manufacturers. In general, these manufacturers represent clean renewable energy sources, indigenous to North Carolina, that the state is promoting for use and development. Location of such manufacturers in North Carolina would add quality jobs and strengthen our renewable energy sector, building industries that could help to preserve our environment and foster a sustainable economy.

One in-state company that could potentially benefit from the expansion of this incentive to other renewable energy sources is Duke Solar Company. A joint venture of Duke Engineering and Services Company and private investors, the Company is planning to build its headquarters on Centennial Campus at NC State University. The state could improve its chances of attracting Duke Solar's future manufacturing and assembly operations if it would make this credit available to other companies working with other renewable energy technologies. Duke Solar is developing several solar thermal and biomass technologies.

The revenue impacts on the state treasury are expected to be 3-5 years out under this bill, since it would take some time for a company to locate a plant and become operational. In addition, HB 1473 has provisions that require payments to be made in no less than five annual installments and will disallow use of the general investment tax credit for the same plant. Thus, if two plants, each valued at $5 million, were to be constructed in North Carolina by the end of 2002, the revenue impact on the state would be no more than $500,000 per year over the succeeding five years (2002-2006). This amount could be less per year if the companies stretch their credit repayment over a longer time frame, such as ten years.

The location of renewable energy manufacturing plants in North Carolina will bolster the economy, protect our environment and provide quality jobs for our citizens. With the restrictions that limit the impact on the state treasury and spread its revenue impact out over five or more years, it is a sound and quality investment for the future of North Carolina.

SENATE BILL 843:
Nurses Aides II Registry Fees

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Weinstein
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	2nd Edition		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 843 raises the annual registration fee for Nurse Aide II's from $5.00 to $12.00 and clarifies that the fee does not apply to Nurse Aide I's.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, in North Carolina there are two levels of Nurse Aides – Nurse Aide I's and Nurse Aide II's.

Nurse Aide I's: States are required by federal regulation to maintain a registry of nurse aides in long term care facilities. G.S. 90-171.55(a) further requires that nurse aides who are employed in other health care facilities must also be listed in the registry. In North Carolina, these nurse aides are classified as "Nurse Aide I's," and the registry is maintained in the Department of Health & Human Services, Division of Facility Services.

Federal regulations further require that nurse aides employed in long term care facilities complete a competency evaluation program that includes at least 75 hours of training. Pursuant to rules adopted by the North Carolina Board of Nursing, all persons employed as Nurse Aide I's must complete this competency and evaluation program in order to perform basic nursing skill and patient care activities.

Finally, pursuant to federal regulations, Nurse Aide I's listed in the registry cannot be charged a registration fee; however, current G.S. 90-171.55(a) requires that all nurse aides, regardless of title, pay the $5.00 registration fee.

Nurse Aide II's: Nurse Aide II's perform more complex nursing skills than Nurse Aide I's, including emphasis on sterile techniques in elimination, oxygenation, and nutrition. Nurse Aide II's must complete a competency and evaluation program approved by the Board of Nursing that includes at least 80 hours of theory and 80 hours of supervised clinical instruction.

Nurse Aide II's must also be listed on the Division of Facility Services Nurses Aide Registry with no substantiated findings of abuse, neglect, or misappropriation of property.

Listing on Registry Not Required: Listing on the Nurses Aide Registry is not required if the care is performed by the patient themselves, their families or significant others, or by caretakers who provide personal care to individuals whose health care needs are incidental to the personal care required.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 843 does the following:

- Raises the annual registration fee for Nurse Aide II's from $5.00 to $12.00.
- Clarifies that only Nurse Aide II's are required to pay the fee.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

EXPENDITURES	To be determined by Board of Nursing

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Board of Nursing

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:
The act increases the annual fee from $5 to $12 for a Nurse Aide II to be listed on the Nurse Aid Registry with the North Carolina Board of Nursing.

BACKGROUND:
The 1989 Federal Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (OBRA) mandated the creation of a Nurse Aide Registry in every state. In North Carolina, the Division of Facility Services in the Department of Health and Human Services list the Nurse Aide I and the North Carolina Board of Nursing list the Nurse Aide II. To be listed on the Nurse Aide Registry, a Nurse Aide I must have 75 hours of training and a Nurse Aide II must have an additional 160 hours of training. Both Nurse Aides I and II must be under the supervision of a licensed nurse.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Board of Nursing anticipates 10,500 new and renewed Nurse Aid II registrants each year. The current $5 fee, unchanged since 1989, generates approximately $52,500 each year. The proposed $12 fee will generate $126,000 each year. The net revenue increase to the Board's operating fund is $73,500 each year.

The Board of Nursing requests the increase because expenses for the Nurse Aide II Registry exceed the revenues. A cost analysis for fiscal year 1998 found the Nurse Aide Registry expenditures equal to $117,506, but Registry revenues equal to $66,865. The $50,641 deficit in this program for 1998 was covered from RN and LPN licensure fees. With the passage of SB 843, the revenues from the Nurse Aide II Registry of $126,000 will pay the expenses of $117,506 with a remaining surplus of $8,494. The Board of Nursing had a fund balance of $650,852 on June 30, 1998.

In determining the net proceeds of the tax to be distributed, the Secretary shall deduct from the collections to be allocated an amount equal to one-fourth of the costs during the preceding fiscal year of:

(1) The Department of Revenue in performing the duties imposed by G.S. 105-275.2 and by Article 15 of this Chapter.

The previous sentence becomes effective with respect to distribution of funds on or after July 1, 1999."

Section 11. G.S. 105-116.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

HOUSE BILL 964:
Municipal Incorporation Process

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Jarrell
Date:	June 9, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 964 changes the criteria for incorporation that the Joint Legislative Commission on Municipal Incorporations considers when making its recommendation to the General Assembly on whether an area should be allowed to incorporate. It also provides that a municipality incorporated on or after January 1, 2000, may not receive Powell Bill fund money, local sales tax revenue, beer and wine gross receipts tax revenue, or gross receipts franchise tax revenue unless it meets the following criteria:

- At least 1/3 of its estimated revenues comes from local taxes.
- It has actually collected at least 50% of the total property tax levied for the preceding year. (This provision is not new for Powell Bill fund money.)
- It provides at least four municipal services. (Under current law, it must provide two services to receive Powell Bill fund money.)

This act applies to municipalities for which the Joint Legislative Commission on Municipal Incorporations makes recommendations on or after the date this act becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: In 1985, the General Assembly created the Joint Legislative Commission on Municipal Incorporation. Although a municipality does not need the recommendation of the Commission to be incorporated, it is highly encouraged. House Rule 35.1 requires that a municipality seeking incorporation have an assessment report from the Commission before the House of Representatives may consider it.

The process of seeking the recommendation of the Commission is commenced by filing with the Commission a petition signed by 15% of the registered voters of the area proposed to be incorporated. The petition must include several things, including a list of proposed services to be provided, assessed valuation, and the degree of development and population density. The petitioner must notify the county commissioners of the county where the proposed municipality will be located, as well as the cities in that county and any city within 5 miles of the proposed municipality. The petitioners must also publish for two consecutive weeks a notice in the newspaper of the intent to incorporate.

The Commission must give the proposed area to be incorporated a positive recommendation if the area meets all of the following criteria:

- Petition requirements and notice requirements have been met.
- The proposed municipality is NOT located within 1 mile of a city of 5,000 to 9,999; within 3 miles of a city of 10,000 to 24,999; within 4 miles of a city of 25,000 to 49,999; within 5 miles of a city of 50,000 or more. There are four exceptions to this requirement.

- The proposed municipality has a permanent population of at least 100.
- At least 40% of the area is developed for residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental uses.
- None of the proposed municipality is located within an existing municipality.
- The proposed municipality can provide at a reasonable tax rate the services requested by the petition and that it can provide at a reasonable tax rate the types of services usually provided by similar municipalities.

Cities receive certain State shared taxes: the franchise tax, the gasoline tax, and the beer and wine taxes. Together, these taxes contribute 10% to 25% of a city's general fund revenue. The legislation that first established the gasoline tax distribution is known as the Powell Bill and the money distributed to the cities is often called Powell Bill funds. To receive Powell Bill funds, a city must meet the following conditions:

- It has levied a property tax for the current fiscal year of at least 5 cents on the $100 valuation upon all taxable property within its corporate limits.
- It has actually collected at least 50% of the total property tax levied for the preceding fiscal year.
- It has adopted a budget ordinance showing revenue received from all sources and showing that funds have been appropriated for at least two of the following services: water, wastewater, garbage collection, fire protection; police protection; street maintenance; or street lighting.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 964 changes some of the criteria that the Joint Legislative Commission on Municipal Incorporations must consider:

- The petition must contain a statement that the proposed municipality will have a budget ordinance with estimated tax revenues of not less than 1/3 of total revenues (excluding public enterprises, gifts, grants, and loans) within the first full fiscal year following incorporation;
- The petition must also contain a statement that the municipality will offer four of the following services within the third fiscal year of incorporation—police protection, fire protection, solid waste collection, water distribution, street maintenance, street construction, street lighting, and zoning. Current law requires the proposed municipality to submit a plan that proposes at least two of the services.
- The proposed municipality to have a population density of at least 250 persons per square mile. This is in addition to the existing requirement of a permanent population of at least 100 persons.
- It removes the exception from the requirement that at least 40% of the area be developed for urban uses or dedicated as open space. This exception currently applies to proposed municipalities within two miles of the Atlantic Ocean, Albemarle Sound or Pamlico Sound.
- It removes the requirement that, for the Commission to make a positive recommendation on the proposed incorporation, the entire area meet the development criteria in the involuntary annexation statutes.
- It adds a requirement that the Commission must include in its report the impact on other municipalities and counties of the diversion of already levied local taxes and State-shared revenues to support services in the proposed municipality.

The bill also provides that no municipality incorporated on or after January 1, 2000, shall be eligible to receive a variety of State funds if it does not meet the following conditions:

- Its adopted budget ordinance estimates revenues from local tax sources to be less than 1/3 of its total revenues (excluding public enterprises, gifts, grants, and loans) within the first full fiscal year following incorporation. The local tax sources are: property tax, privilege tax, animal tax, motor vehicle tax, and cable TV tax.
- Its adopted budget ordinance shows that funds have been appropriated for at least four of the following services -- police protection, fire protection, solid waste collection, water distribution, street maintenance, street construction, street lighting, and zoning. Current law requires the proposed municipality to submit a plan that proposes at least two of the services.

The State funds that it would not receive are local sales tax revenues and the State shared taxes: franchise tax, beer and wine taxes, and Powell Bill funds. Under current law, a municipality does not have to meet any criteria to receive local sales tax revenue, franchise tax, or beer and wine taxes. It does have to meet some criteria to receive Powell Bill funds.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Local Government Commission, Joint Legislative Commission of Municipal Corporations, Department of Revenue, and potential local governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 1 of this act applies with respect to municipalities for which the Joint Legislative Commission on Municipal Corporations makes recommendations on or after the date this act becomes law. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several changes to the municipal incorporation process. First, it requires communities petitioning for incorporation to state, in the petition, that they will provide at least four key municipal services. Current law requires that they provide two services. The services that qualify under the bill are police protection, fire protection, solid waste collection or disposal, water distribution, street maintenance, street construction or right-of-way acquisition, street lighting, and zoning. In order to provide qualifying policy protection the municipality must provide the service directly or contract with another area to provide the service. If contracting occurs, the area providing service must be compensated for their effort. Second, the petitioning community must promise to levy an ad valorum tax of at least $0.20 per $100.00 of accessed value. The tax must be levied within three fiscal years of incorporation. The current minimum rate is $0.05 per $100.00 of accessed value.

Next the bill modifies the population requirement. Under current law a potential municipality must have a permanent population of 100 or more. The bill retains that standard, but also requires a population density of at least 250 person per square mile. Seasonal residents can be included in the density estimate. Forth, the bill requires the petitioning community to report on the fiscal impact incorporation would have on existing communities. Specifically, it requires an analysis of the potential diversion of existing local taxes or State-shared revenues from existing local governments to the new municipality. Finally, it prohibits distribution of the local portion of sales tax, beer and wine tax, and gross receipts tax to the municipality unless they met the above requirements, and all others in G.S. 136-41.2.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Overall the bill increases the requirements for a community to incorporate as a municipality. Because the bill deals with the incorporation requirements for new communities, there will be no significant impact on existing communities. Over time, the bill may have some impact on the proportion of sales, beer and wine, and gross receipts taxes an existing community receives. By making it more difficult to incorporate the bill may allow existing community to retain a larger portion these taxes, since the funds will not be siphoned off to a new community. The bill also has the potential to increase the tax residents of a new community pay, since it increases the minimum tax a municipality can levy. Finally, the bill could increase expenditures for public services, since it requires new communities to provide more services than existing law. However, because Fiscal Research can not accurately predict incorporations, or the services a new community might provide, with or without the bill, we can not accurately estimate the potential fiscal impact of the legislation. The bill will have no impact on the State's General Fund. The only potential impact is at the local level.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ENABLE THE COUNTY OF MACON TO ESTABLISH AN AIRPORT AUTHORITY FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF AIRPORT FACILITIES IN THE COUNTY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. There is hereby created the "Macon County Airport Authority" (for brevity hereinafter referred to as the "Airport Authority"), which shall be a body both corporate and politic, having the powers and jurisdiction hereinafter enumerated and such other and additional powers as shall be conferred upon it by general law and future acts of the General Assembly.

Section 2. The Airport Authority shall consist of five members, who shall be residents of Macon County and who shall be appointed to staggered terms of six years by the Macon County Board of Commissioners. Members may succeed themselves in office and serve more than one term. Two initial appointments to the Airport Authority shall be for two years, two initial appointments to the Airport Authority shall be for four years, and the remaining initial appointment to the Airport Authority shall be for six years.

When vacancies occur in the membership of the Airport Authority, for any reason, the remaining members of the Airport Authority shall submit a list of two or more candidates to the Macon County Board of Commissioners. The Board of Commissioners shall either select one from that list to fill the unexpired term of the vacant office or shall request that the Airport Authority submit additional candidates.

The Airport Authority shall submit additional candidates upon request until the Board of Commissioners selects a member from the candidates submitted.

Each member shall take and subscribe before the Clerk of Superior Court of Macon County an oath of office and file the same with the Macon County Board of Commissioners. Membership on the Macon County Board of Commissioners and the Airport Authority shall not constitute double office holding within the meaning of Article VI, Section 9, of the Constitution of North Carolina.

Section 3. The Airport Authority may adopt suitable bylaws for its management. The members of the Airport Authority may receive compensation, per diem, or otherwise as the Macon County Board of Commissioners from time to time determines. Members shall be allowed and paid their actual expenses incurred in transacting the business and at the instance of the Airport Authority. Members of the Airport Authority shall not be personally liable for their acts as members of the Airport Authority, except for acts resulting from misfeasance or malfeasance.

Section 4.(a) The Airport Authority shall constitute a body, both corporate and politic, and shall have the following powers and authority:

(1) To purchase, acquire, establish, construct, own, control, lease, equip, improve, maintain, operate, and regulate airports and landing fields for the use of airplanes and other aircraft within the limits of the county and for this purpose to purchase, improve, own, hold, lease, or operate real or personal property. The Airport Authority may exercise these powers alone or in conjunction with the County of Macon.

(2) To sue and be sued in the name of the Airport Authority, to make contracts and hold any personal property necessary for the exercise of the powers of the Airport Authority, and acquire by purchase, lease, or otherwise any existing lease, leasehold right, or other interest in any existing airport located in the county.

(3) To charge and collect reasonable and adequate fees and rents for the use of airport property or for services rendered in the operation of the airport.

(4) To make all reasonable rules and regulations it deems necessary for the proper maintenance, use, operation, and control of the airport, including public safety, and provide penalties for the violation of these rules and regulations; provided, the rules and regulations and schedules of fees not be in conflict with the laws of North Carolina and the regulations of the Federal Aviation Administration. The Airport Authority may administer and enforce any airport zoning regulations adopted by the County of Macon.

(5) To issue bonds pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes.

(6) To sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of any property, real or personal, belonging to the Airport Authority, according to the procedures described in Article 12 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, but no sale of real property shall be made without the approval of the Macon County Board of Commissioners.

(7) To purchase any insurance that the Federal Aviation Administration or the Airport Authority shall deem necessary. The Airport Authority shall be responsible for any and all insurance claims or liabilities.

(8) To deposit or invest and reinvest any of its funds as provided by the Local Government Finance Act, as it may be amended from time to time, for the deposit or investment of unit funds.

(9) To purchase any of its outstanding bonds or notes.

(10) To operate, own, lease, control, regulate, or grant to others, for a period not to exceed 20 years, the right to operate on any airport premises restaurants, snack bars, vending machines, food and beverage dispensing outlets, rental car services, catering services, novelty shops, insurance sales, advertising media, merchandising outlets, motels, hotels, barbershops, automobile parking and storage facilities, automobile service establishments, and all other types of facilities as may be directly or indirectly related to the maintenance and furnishing to the general public of a complete air terminal installation.

(11) To contract with persons, firms, or corporations for terms not to exceed 20 years, for the operation of airline-scheduled passenger and freight flights, nonscheduled flights, and any other airplane activities not inconsistent with the grant agreements under which the airport property is held.

(12) To erect and construct buildings, hangars, shops, and other improvements and facilities, not inconsistent with or in violation of the agreements applicable to and the grants under which the real property of the airport is held; to lease these improvements and facilities for a term or terms not to exceed 20 years; to borrow money for use in making and paying for these improvements and facilities, secured by and on the credit only of the lease agreements in respect to these improvements and facilities, and to pledge and assign the leases and lease agreements as security for the authorized loans.

(13) Subject to the limitations set out in this act, to have all the same power and authority granted to cities and counties pursuant to Chapter 63 of the General Statutes, Aeronautics.

(14) To have a corporate seal, which may be altered at will.

Section 4.(b) The Airport Authority shall possess the same exemptions in respect to payment of taxes and license fees and be eligible for sales and use tax refunds to the same extent as provided for municipal corporations by the laws of the State of North Carolina.

Section 5. The Airport Authority may acquire from the county, by agreement with the county, and the county may grant and convey, either by gift or for such consideration as the county may deem wise, any real or personal property which it now owns or may hereafter acquire, including nontax monies, and which may be necessary for the construction, operation, and maintenance of any airport located in the county.

Section 6. Any lands acquired, owned, controlled, or occupied by the Airport Authority shall be, and are declared to be, acquired, owned, controlled, and occupied for a public purpose.

Section 7. Private property needed by the Airport Authority for any airport, landing field, or as facilities of an airport or landing field, may be acquired by gift or devise, or may be acquired by private purchase or by the exercise of eminent domain pursuant to Chapter 40A of the General Statutes, as a local public condemnor, including the provisions of G.S. 40A-42. If property acquired by gift, devise, purchase, or condemnation has a burial ground or graveyard, then it shall be lawful for the Airport Authority, after 30 days' notice to the surviving spouse or next of kin of the deceased buried there or the person in control of the graves, if they are known, to remove the interred body and reinter the body in another cemetery in Macon County. If no surviving spouse or next of kin or person in control can be found, then the Airport Authority may advertise for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in Macon County of the intended removal of the graves. The removal shall then be conducted under the supervision of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Macon County or his or her representative. The expense of the removal shall be borne by the Airport Authority.

Section 8. The Airport Authority shall make an annual report to the Macon County Board of Commissioners setting forth in detail the operations and transactions conducted by it pursuant to this act. The Airport Authority shall not have the power to pledge the credit of Macon County, or any subdivision thereof, or to impose any obligation on Macon County, or any of its subdivisions, except when that power is expressly granted by statute.

Section 9. Subject to the limitations as set out in this act, all rights and powers given and granted to counties or municipalities by general law, which may now be in effect, or enacted in the future, relating to the development, regulation, and control of municipal airports and the regulation of aircraft are now concurrently vested in the Airport Authority. The Macon County Board of Commissioners may delegate its powers under these acts to the Airport Authority, and the Airport Authority shall have concurrent rights with Macon County to control, regulate, and provide for the development of aviation in Macon County.

Section 10. The Airport Authority may contract with and accept grants from the Federal Aviation Administration, the State of North Carolina, or any of the agencies or representatives of either of said governmental bodies relating to the purchase of land and air easements and to the grading, constructing, equipping, improving, maintaining, or operating of an airport or its facilities or both.

Section 11. The Airport Authority may employ or contract with any agents, engineers, attorneys, and other persons whose services may be deemed by the Airport Authority to be necessary and useful in carrying out the provisions of Sections 1 through 10 of this act.

Section 12. The Macon County Board of Commissioners may appropriate funds derived from any source including ad valorem taxes to carry out the provisions of this act in any proportion or upon any basis as may be determined by the Macon County Board of Commissioners. The Macon County Board of Commissioners may provide county services to the Airport Authority upon any basis as may be determined by the Macon County Board of Commissioners.

Section 13. The Airport Authority may expend the funds that are appropriated by the county for joint airport purposes and may pledge the credit of the Airport Authority to the extent of the appropriated funds.

Section 14. The Airport Authority shall elect from among its members a chair and other officers at its initial meeting and then biennially thereafter. Officers shall be eligible to succeed themselves in office and to serve consecutive terms at the will of the members of the Airport Authority. A majority of the Airport Authority shall control its decisions. Each member of the Airport Authority, including the chair, shall have one vote. The Airport Authority shall meet at the places and times designated by the chair.

Section 15. If an airport established pursuant to this act ceases to be operated by the Airport Authority, or if any property acquired pursuant to this act for airport purposes is abandoned, then the title to that real or personal property, or rights under any existing lease, shall revert to and vest in the County of Macon and on the sale of that property, the proceeds shall vest totally in the County of Macon.

Section 16. The powers granted to the Airport Authority shall not be effective until the members of the Airport Authority have been appointed by the Macon County Board of Commissioners, and nothing in this act shall require the Board of Commissioners to make the initial appointments. It is the intent of this act to enable but not to require the formation of the Macon County Airport Authority.

Section 17. If any one or more sections, clauses, sentences, or parts of this act shall be adjudged invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remaining provisions thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the specific provisions held invalid, and the inapplicability or invalidity of any section, clause, sentence, or part of this act in one or more instances or circumstances shall not be taken to affect or prejudice in any way its applicability or validity in any other instance.

Section 18. S.L. 1989-955 is repealed.

Section 19. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Section 17. PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Macon County Airport Authority, Macon County Government, and the Sales Tax Division of the Department of Revenue.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation creates the Macon County Airport Authority and sets rules for it governance and operation. It also extends the sales and use tax refund provisions generally applied to county and city governments to the Macon County Airport Authority.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The only potential fiscal impact of the bill is the sales tax refund. Under G.S. 105-164.14(c), certain government entities are eligible for refund of the sales taxes they paid on purchases in the previous fiscal year. This refund is issued annually. The types of government organizations that are currently eligible for the refund include city and county governments, municipal sewer districts, water and sewer authorities, public health authorities, a council of government, schools, and regional pubic transportation authorities. The law also states that local airport authorities, created by the General Assembly, may be eligible for the refund if the authority meets at least one of the following criteria: it has all the rights of a municipality, a local act of the General Assembly declares it to be a municipality, or a local act of the General Assembly specifically authorizes it to receive the refund. In addition to creating the Authority, the bill specifically authorizes the Macon County Airport Authority to receive the sales tax refund.

According to the Macon County Planning Office, the Airport Authority intends to make significant capital improvements to the airport. These will be funded primarily through Department of Transportation funds. However, because all airport related purchases are currently made through the county, and would continue to be handled by the county if the bill does not pass, there is no fiscal impact. Since the purchases are made through the county, and the county receives the sales tax refund, the bill only changes who applies for the refund. It does not affect the amount of the refund. Therefore, there is no fiscal impact.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE ADOPTION LAWS PERTAINING TO ACCESS TO ADOPTION RECORDS AND TO ESTABLISH AN ADOPTION REGISTRY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 48 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 11.

"Adoption Registry.

"§ 48-11-101. Definitions.

In this Article, the following definitions apply:

(1) 'Biological father' means any of the following:

a. A person presumed by law to be the biological father of the adoptee.

b. A person who has established paternity by affidavit under G.S. 130A-101(f) or judicially.

c. A person who has legitimated the adoptee under G.S. 49-10 or under a similar law of another state, or by marriage to the biological mother of the adoptee.

(2) 'Biological relative' means the adoptee's biological mother, biological father, or biological sibling.

(3) 'Biological sibling' includes a half-sibling related to the adoptee through the biological mother or through the biological father only as defined in subdivision (1) of this section.

"§ 48-11-102. Department to establish and maintain mutual consent, voluntary adoption registry.

The Department shall establish and maintain a statewide, confidential, mutual consent, voluntary adoption registry for receiving, filing, and retaining documents that request, authorize, or revoke consent to the release of identifying information. The purpose of the registry is to facilitate voluntary contact between adoptees and their biological relatives when both the adoptee and the biological relative consent to that contact.

"§ 48-11-103. Authorized users of the registry.

(a) Use of the registry is limited to adoptees and their biological relatives.

(b) No adoptee or biological relative shall be permitted to file a consent form with the registry until that person has reached the age of 18 years.

"§ 48-11-104. Information to be collected in the registry.

(a) A person authorized to use the registry may consent to the disclosure of identifying information about the person or request the disclosure of identifying information about an adoptee or a biological relative by filing with the Department a consent form that sets forth all of the following information to the extent known by the person submitting the form:

(1) The current name, address, and telephone number of the person submitting the form.

(2) Any prior names used by that person.

(3) The original and adopted name of the adoptee.

(4) The place of birth, date of birth, and sex of the adoptee.

(5) The name and address of the agency that placed the adoptee or prepared the report to the court.

(6) The persons to whom identifying information about the person submitting the consent form may be disclosed.

(7) If submitted by a biological relative, the relationship of that relative to the adoptee.

(b) The person submitting the consent form shall notify the registry of any change in that person's name, address, or telephone number that occurs after the person files the consent form.

(c) Consent may be revoked at any time by a person who submitted the consent form by submitting a revocation form to the registry.

(d) The registry shall obtain only information necessary for identifying registrants. In no event shall the registry obtain or release information of any kind pertaining to the adoptive parents of or adoptive siblings to the adoptee.

"§ 48-11-105. Requirements for forms submitted to the registry.

(a) Each of the following requirements applies to any consent or revocation form filed with the registry:

(1) It shall be notarized.

(2) It is effective as of the time it is filed with the registry.

(3) It may be revoked at any time by the person who submitted it.

(b) No consent or revocation form shall be accepted by the registry until the person submitting it presents satisfactory proof of the person's identity in accordance with rules adopted by the Social Services Commission.

"§ 48-11-106. Disclosure of information contained in the registry.

(a) The Department shall process each consent form filed with the registry in an attempt to match the adoptee with a biological relative. There is a match when an adoptee and a biological relative have both filed consent forms with the registry designating the other as a person to whom identifying information may be disclosed. No identifying information about an adoptee may be disclosed to a biological relative unless that relative has been designated to receive identifying information by the adoptee on the adoptee's consent form.

(b) No identifying information shall be disclosed under this section until the Department determines there is a match. If the Department determines there is a match, then the Department shall, within one month of the filing of the latter of the corresponding consent forms, send a copy of the corresponding consent forms to the agency that placed the adoptee or prepared the report to the court. The agency shall then notify the persons who submitted the consent forms of the match and disclose to them the identifying information contained in the consent forms.

(c) If the agency that placed the adoptee or prepared the report to the court is no longer in existence at the time the Department determines there is a match, then any notification or disclosure required by this section shall be made by an employee or agent of the Department.

(d) All communications with adoptees and biological relatives required by this section shall be made by a social worker who has expertise in post-adoption services. These communications are confidential.

(e) If the Department or the agency has information that the person about whom identifying information is requested is deceased, the fact of the person's death shall be disclosed to the requesting person. No identifying information about the deceased person shall be disclosed, except pursuant to G.S. 48-9-104, unless the registry has on file an unrevoked consent form filed by the deceased person authorizing the disclosure of identifying information to the requesting person.

(f) Any employee of the Department or an agency who releases information or makes authorized contacts in good faith and in compliance with this Article shall be immune from civil and criminal liability for the release of information or authorized contact.

"§ 48-11-107. Recommendation of counseling.

The Department shall recommend to a person submitting any form to the registry that the person obtain counseling, voluntarily, at that person's own expense, from a licensed counselor.

"§ 48-11-108. Fees for using the registry.

Any fee authorized by this section may be waived for any person who provides an affidavit of financial inability to pay the fee.

"§ 48-11-109. Adoption of rules for the registry.

The Social Services Commission shall adopt rules for use of and access to the registry in accordance with the requirements of this Article.

"§ 48-11-110. Department to publicize the registry.

The Department shall announce and publicize to the general public the existence of the registry and the procedure for the consensual release of identifying information.

"§ 48-11-111. Department to provide necessary forms and cooperate with registries in other states.

The Department shall develop and furnish any forms necessary to carry out the provisions of this Article. The Department shall cooperate with registries in other states to facilitate the matching of documents filed pursuant to this Article by individuals in different states.

"§ 48-11-112. Violation and penalty.

It is unlawful for a person having custody of or access to documents filed under this Article to disseminate or permit dissemination of information contained in them except as authorized by this Article. Any person who willfully violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a Class I felony."

(d) Notwithstanding the penalties provided in subsection (b) of this section, an individual who is the subject of any of this information may bring a civil action for equitable or monetary relief or both against any person or entity who makes an unauthorized disclosure of the information."

Section 4. HOUSE BILL 286:
Adoption Records and Registry

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Representative Earle
Date:	June 3, 1999	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	PCS for 2nd Edition H286-PCSSC-001		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: House Bill 286 establishes a statewide, voluntary, confidential, mutual consent adoption registry in the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). Only adult adoptees or adult biological relatives of adoptees will be able to receive identifying information and only if a consent form has been filed by the other person. An appropriation to establish and maintain the registry has been included in the House budget.

CURRENT LAW: Generally, adoption law prohibits the disclosure of information connected to an adoption. However, nonidentifying information, including the age of the biological parents at the time of an adoptee's birth, the educational level of the biological parents, and all reasonably available nonidentifying information about the health of the minor, the biological parents, and other members of the biological parents' families must be given to the prospective adoptive parents prior to the adoption. In addition, upon reaching the age of 18, the adoptee may obtain this nonidentifying information by making a written request. An adult adoptee may also obtain certain identifying information about his or her biological relatives upon petition of the court. The information must be necessary for the protection of the adoptee or the public, and the court must find that disclosure is in the best interest of the adoptee, after weighing the interests of the adoptee's biological and adoptive family members.

BACKGROUND: In 1997, the Legislative Research Commission authorized the study of an adoption registry. According to the Committee's report, 47 other states have adoption registries. As a result of the Committee's report, bills similar to House Bill 286 were introduced during the 1998 session.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 286 adds Article 11 to Chapter 48 of the General Statutes to establish a statewide, confidential, mutual consent, voluntary adoption registry to be maintained by the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) and accessible only to adoptees and biological relatives who have filed consent forms with the Department. Therefore, both the adoptee and his or her biological relative(s) must file consent forms with DHHS before any information is released.

The proposed committee substitute (H286-PCSSC-001) adds an immunity clause for employees acting in accordance with law; removes the appropriation and makes the bill effective only if the necessary funds are appropriated; adds a reporting requirement for DHHS; and makes several technical changes.

Following is an analysis of the bill.

Requirement to establish an adoption registry. (Page. 2, Lines 10-19) DHHS is required to establish and maintain an adoption registry that is statewide, confidential, based on mutual consent of the adoptee and his or her biological relatives, and voluntary. The purpose of the registry is to facilitate voluntary contact between adoptees and their biological relatives but only when both parties consent to that contact.

Authorized users of the registry. (Page 2, Lines 20-25) Only adoptees aged 18 or older, and their biological relatives are authorized to file a consent form with the adoption registry.

"Biological Relatives" include only the following:

- Biological father. (Page 1, Line 11 – Page 2, Line 2)
- Biological mother.
- Biological sibling. (Page 2, Lines 6-9)

Information in the registry. (Page 2, Line 26 – Page 3, Line 25) Adoptees and biological relatives may consent to or request the disclosure of identifying information by filing a notarized consent form with DHHS.

- To the extent possible, the consent form must contain:
  1. The person's current name, address, and phone number.
  2. Any prior names used by the person.
  3. The original and adopted name of the adoptee.
  4. The place and date of birth, and sex of the adoptee.
  5. The name and address of the agency that placed the adoptee.
  6. The persons to whom any identifying information about the person submitting the consent form may be disclosed.
  7. The relationship of the biological relative to the adoptee.
- Consent may be revoked at any time by submitting a revocation form.
- Consent or revocation forms cannot be accepted until the person presents satisfactory proof of his or her identity.
- No information concerning the adoptee's adoptive parents or siblings may be released.

Disclosure of information contained in the registry. (Page 3, Line 26 – Page 4, Line 24)

- When DHHS finds a match between a biological relative and adoptee, both of whom have authorized the disclosure of information to the other, DHHS will notify the agency which arranged the adoption, and that agency will notify the individuals. (If the agency is no longer in existence, DHHS will make the notification.)
- Communications with adoptees and biological relatives are confidential and must be made by a social worker who has expertise in post-adoption services.
- If the person about whom information is requested is deceased, the fact of the person's death must be disclosed if there is an unrevoked consent form on file, or if ordered by the court.
- Any employee of DHHS or an agency who releases information or makes an authorized contact in good faith and in compliance with the law is immune from civil and criminal liability.
- Any person who makes unauthorized dissemination of information from the registry is guilty of a Class I felony. (Page 5, Lines 6-11)

Recommendation of counseling for adoptees and biological relatives. (Page 4, Lines 25-28) DHHS is required to recommend that anyone who submits a consent form obtain professional counseling, voluntarily and at that person's own expense.

Fees. (Page 4, Lines 29-34) DHHS is required to collect a fee of $50.00 for filing a consent form. The fee will be applied to the maintenance of the registry and may be waived for any person who provides an affidavit of an inability to pay the fee.

Adoption of rules & DHHS to publicize registry. (Page 4, Lines 35-42) The Social Services Commission must adopt rules to implement the use of and access to the registry. DHHS must publicize the existence of and procedures for access to the registry.

Cooperation with other states. (Page 4, Line 43 – Page 5, Line 5) DHHS is required to cooperate with other states that operate registries in order to facilitate the matching of individuals.

Sections 2 and 3 of the bill make technical and clarifying changes.

Section 4 requires DHHS to report to the General Assembly prior to the convening of 2001 session on the cost to establish and maintain the registry, the usage of the registry, and the amount of fees collected.

EFFECTIVE DATE: House Bill 286 becomes effective January 1, 2000 only if the funds necessary to establish and maintain the registry are appropriated. The criminal penalty applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Social Services

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2000 (Except Section 3 which includes an appropriation and is effective July 1, 1999)

BILL SUMMARY: Amends G.S. 48-11-101 by adding a new Article to establish and maintain a voluntary adoption registry to facilitate voluntary contact between mutually consenting adopted individuals and their biological families.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: North Carolina general statutes currently allow the state and other licensed adoption agencies to provide certain non-identifying information to individuals regarding adoptees and their biological families. Since HB 286 would create a new system of adoption data collection and retrieval, the following information is based on other states' experiences and data as well as the North Carolina's best estimate on the resources needed to meet the mandates in the bill:

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES:

The following assumptions were used to estimate the cost of implementation of HB 286:

(1) 750 estimated adoption inquiries were received during FY97/98;
(2) 33% projected growth in inquiries during FY99/00 due to creation of registry and public awareness campaign;
(3) 998 adoption inquiries are projected for FY99/00 (six months of operation of the adoption registry);
(4) Growth in inquiries will level off in years two through five to 15% each year;
(5) Processing time for one completed registry consent form is estimated at 3.5 hours (pre-1984 adoption data may be labor intensive due to the manner of data storage);
(6) DHHS, Division of Information Resources Management estimates that approximately $8,000 is needed to develop an automated adoption registry tracking system and $5,000 is needed to maintain the system annually;
(7) DHHS estimates that $50,000 is needed for the public awareness campaign mandated in the bill (assumes notification to general public and private adoption agencies; advertisement in various news media, public service announcements and maintenance of a toll free telephone number);
(8) $50.00 fee will generate approximately $19,960 in revenue to offset the cost of operation during the first six months of operation (bill is effective for six months during FY99/00)
(499 x $50/inquiry = $24,950; estimated 20% of users will verify inability to pay $50 fee
($24,950 - 4,990 = $19,960);
(9) 31,952 adoptions were finalized in North Carolina from FY85/86 to FY96/97; and
(10) No federal revenues are available to offset the cost of this proposed service.

The following chart details projected costs and revenues over a five-year period:

HB 286 amends G.S. 48-11-101 to add a new section which makes it a Class I felony for individuals convicted of possessing or disseminating unauthorized information contained in the Adoption Registry. Due to the small numbers of cases and the limited access to data, no fiscal impact is anticipated.

House Bill 286
June 9, 1999
Jan Reist

House Bill 286, Adoption Registry, is yet another version of proposed legislation brought to the North Carolina Legislature regularly for close to 20 years by advocates for open adoption records. This group, representing less than 5% of those for whom it claims to speak[1], has regularly prevailed upon various legislators to sponsor these bills. Fortunately such legislation has been consistently defeated by the conscience and good sense of legislators once they have been made aware of the other side, the other 95% - adoptees who are quietly and unquestioningly part of their families, and would have a fundamental right undermined if such legislation were to be enacted, the right for every child to have complete security in his or her family. It would also be a breach of promise to birthparents who were promised their privacy and have moved on to other lives.

House Bill 286 appears to be less aggressive than some of its predecessors and yet it too has the potential for destroying adoption as we know it by giving credibility to another family. The North Carolina Law, in its Chapter on adoption, emphatically emphasizes the totality of adoption. This is stated in the introductory Legislative Intent

"...and to protect the (adoptees) from interference long after they have become properly adjusted in their adoptive home by biological parents..."

to case after case which used language such as:

"complete substitution of families"

"(an adoptee) becomes a complete stranger to the bloodline of his natural parents"

"the right of a natural mother after she has permitted the child's adoption by others is no greater than a stranger to a child," and so forth.

It is with this understanding that birth mothers gave up their children for adoption and families made the children their own.

This is the way it needs to be for the emotional security and stability of all involved. A child becomes just as much a part of his new family as any birth child, the birth parents get on with their lives without fearing the adoption will come back to haunt them.

What chance does the institution of adoption in America have when birth mothers are not allowed to "put it behind them", children are told that there is another family somewhere, and adoptive parents are little more than temporary foster care providers. It would seem abortions are the only answer for women with untimely pregnancies, and adopting abroad the only sensible answer for couples wanting a child who would truly be their own and free from threats of interference.

A child cannot be totally secure in one family if a second is given credibility. He/she cannot feel complete security if a second is lurking in the background. It may seem harmless if there is a registry where each side, the adoptee and birth parent, must have filed to have access to the other. But as proposed in this bill, there are mechanics for pressure being brought to bear, including unwritten psychological pressure on an adoptee or birth parent who, not wanting to disrupt their lives, still are made to wonder if there is someone out there waiting for them. The media makes such issues very poignant and compelling.

Consider the emotional trip laid on a child seeing a drama of a birth mother dying of cancer vainly checking the registry sources week after week hoping that there will be a match "in time", and a child wondering if he or she should do something. I know our daughter would! I can hear her saying "Mommie, that's so sad – do you think there is someone out there waiting for me? Do you think I should do something?"

In addition to giving credibility to another family, and the psychological baggage that comes with an adoption registry and its attendant advertisements, there are other dangers:

A passive registry has been used by many states as but a stepping stone to more open records, and all indications are that from statement after statement this is the intent of those pushing for this legislation.

It is argued that most states have this legislation, so why not North Carolina? According, again, to the National Council for Adoption states with this legislation are experiencing the problems I mentioned above and are rethinking the whole issue.

Now more than ever with families in chaos and unsettling issues such as abortion, test tube babies and surrogate parents facing us, adoption needs to have its intended absoluteness and shouldn't be undermined. To do so undermines the security and stability of adopted children and their families and makes abortion the only logical solution for an unwanted pregnancy.

I am writing this to you as a birthmother and as an adoptive mother. Thirty four years ago, when I was 18, I gave up my first born for adoption. There were few options in those days for an unwed, teenage girl. I knew I could not care for her or give her all the things a beautiful child deserves and needs. It was the first, but unfortunately not the last, unbearably difficult thing I have had to do. After having to carry this child for nine months, care for her and nurture her while she was in my womb, labor with her, and bring her into this world. I had to lose her. That was devastating. I thought for a while I would die. Then when I thought it could not get any worse I was asked to do even more. I was asked to forget about her, to never talk about her, and never know how she was doing. Was she happy? Did I make the right choice? Was she even alive? I was asked to never know.

You may think that birthmothers want to be left alone. You may think that there was a covenant made at the time of placement that promised that we would never be found. There wasn't. That was just the way things were done. There were no options given to us if we were to choose adoption for our children. We were told we would forget, that we would move on. We did not forget.

I belong to a support/growth group in Greensboro for members of the adoption triad. In the four years that I have been with the group a number of birth mothers have come to us for support. Several birthmothers came to the group while they were still "in the closet", still feeling the shame of placement twenty, thirty years after giving up their children. The change in them, once they find or are found by their birth children, was unbelievable. It was like a weight had been taken off their shoulders; like a veil had been lifted.

I was reunited with my birth daughter four years ago. We have a nice relationship. The reunion has been a great source of healing and growth for both of us. But I know that birthmothers who find, or are found, do not become mothers. We will always be birthmothers. Our sons and daughters have their mothers and their fathers. We lost that role when we lost them. But finding them gives us something else. It gives us answers, it gives us relief, it gives us peace.

The research shows that the majority of birthmothers either want to be found or are agreeable to being found. Our group certainly supports that. Please don't keep this barrier to healing in place. Please open the doors for more birthmothers to find peace.

House Bill 286
June 9, 1999

My name is Parker Reist and I live in Chapel Hill. I would like to voice my opposition to House Bill 286, Adoption Registry. This proposed legislation, although seemingly bland and unthreatening, would change the whole concept of adoption as it is now practiced in North Carolina. As stated in the North Carolina Statuates, the process of adoption makes the adoptee and birth parents strangers. And for good reason. Once having decided on adoption, the birthparents need to get on with their lives and the adoptee needs to settle in completely with his or her new family, the family which they are leagally bound to for life. A state mandated adoption registry says to the birthparents and adoptee, "Well, you're not really complete strangers,.and your new family is not really you whole family." How unsettling. Does this make an adoptive parent a fancy foster parent? But the whole concept of adoption is compromised.

At present, any birthparent or adoptee wanting to search out each other can do it on the internet – and, so I'm told, quite easily. And how many people want to make this contact? According to the National Council on Adoption, about 5%. The other 95% are happy with the status quo.

So why should the State of North Carolina lend its name to sanctioning the undermining of adoption for a small, vocal group of 5%? By creating an adoption registry the state is giving tacit approval to the notion that adoption isn't really adoption, at least not the way North Carolina defines it in its laws.

Furthermore, consider the registry process. One person applies and submits his/her name. How does this name get matched with the adoptee or birth parent's name? All the records of the other potential parties must be opened to see if there is a match. Records can't be matched without opening them. And we'll need a bureaucratic structure to do this. But this can be done on the internet, as it is already. So all this legislation does is undermine the adoption process and add bureaucracy. In addition, there is also the very real potential for abuse here.

I hope you will agree that 95% of birthparents and adoptees are satisfied with things as they are, and that this piece of proposed legislation doesn't make sense.

Re: House Bill 286 - Adoption Record, Registry

Dear Mrs. Reist,

I am very much against the subject bill which opens the records of adoptions, and I support your activities to prevent it from becoming law.

The availability of records making it easier to locate biological parents would create an emotional roller coaster for the large majority of both parties.

Personally, if my two adopted children, even though they are now ages 38 and 36, decided to pursue locating and contacting their biological parents I would feel all my efforts were in vain and my role relegated to that of a foster parent.

There is no question in my mind that I would have been reluotant to adopt if there had been any hint that the assurance of confidentiality might be broken in the future.

Incidentally, I firmly believe that the "happy reunions" of adopted children with their biological parents as periodically documented in the media are orchestrated strictly for TV consumption.

Sincerely,

Josephine F. Walker

This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

Section 1.(c) Distribution and use of tax revenue. The town shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to the Norwood Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use at least two-thirds of the funds remitted to it under this subsection to promote travel and tourism in Norwood and shall use the remainder for tourism-related expenditures.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Net proceeds. -- Gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

At least one-third of the members must be individuals who are affiliated with businesses that collect the tax in the town and at least three-fourths of the members must be individuals who are currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the town. The Norwood Board of Commissioners shall designate one member of the Authority as chair and shall determine the compensation, if any, to be paid to members of the Authority.

The Authority shall meet at the call of the chair and shall adopt rules of procedure to govern its meetings. The Finance Officer for Norwood shall be the ex officio finance officer of the Authority.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE ADOPTION LAWS PERTAINING TO ACCESS TO ADOPTION RECORDS AND TO ESTABLISH AN ADOPTION REGISTRY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 48 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 11.

"Adoption Registry.

"§ 48-11-101. Definitions.

In this Article, the following definitions apply:

(1) `Biological father' means any of the following:

a. A person presumed by law to be the biological father of the adoptee.

b. A person who has established paternity by affidavit under G.S. 130A-101(f) or judicially.

c. A person who has legitimated the adoptee under G.S. 49-10 or under a similar law of another state, or by marriage to the biological mother of the adoptee.

(2) `Biological relative' means the adoptee's biological mother, biological father, or biological sibling.

(3) `Biological sibling' includes a half-sibling related to the adoptee through the biological mother or through the biological father only as defined in subdivision (1) of this section.

"§ 48-11-102. Department to establish and maintain mutual consent, voluntary adoption registry.

The Department shall establish and maintain a statewide, confidential, mutual consent, voluntary adoption registry for receiving, filing, and retaining documents that request, authorize, or deny authorization of the release of identifying information. The purpose of the registry is to facilitate voluntary contact between adoptees and their biological relatives when both the adoptee and the biological relative consent to that contact.

"§ 48-11-103. Authorized users of the registry.

(a) Use of the registry is limited to adoptees and their biological relatives.

(b) No adoptee or biological relative shall be permitted to file a consent form with the registry until that person has reached the age of 18 years.

"§ 48-11-104. Information to be collected in the registry.

(a) A person eligible to use the registry may consent to the disclosure of identifying information about the person or request the disclosure of identifying information about an adoptee or a biological relative by filing with the Department a consent form that sets forth all of the following information to the extent known by the person submitting the form:

(1) The current name, address, and telephone number of the person submitting the form.

(2) Any prior names used by that person.

(3) The original and adopted name of the adoptee.

(4) The place of birth, date of birth, and sex of the adoptee.

(5) The name and address of the agency that placed the adoptee or prepared the report to the court.

(6) The persons to whom identifying information about the person submitting the consent form may be disclosed.

(7) If submitted by a biological relative, the relationship of that relative to the adoptee.

(b) The person submitting the consent form shall notify the registry of any change in that person's name, address, or telephone number that occurs after the person files the consent form.

(c) Consent may be revoked at any time by a person who submitted the consent form by submitting a revocation form to the registry.

(d) The registry shall obtain only information necessary for identifying registrants. In no event shall the registry obtain or release information of any kind pertaining to the adoptive parents of or adoptive siblings to the adoptee.

"§ 48-11-105. Requirements for forms submitted to the registry.

(a) Each of the following requirements applies to any consent or revocation form filed with the registry:

(1) It shall be notarized.

(2) It is effective as of the time it is filed with the registry.

(3) It may be revoked at any time by the person who submitted it.

(b) No consent or revocation form shall be accepted by the registry until the person submitting it presents satisfactory proof of the person's identity in accordance with rules adopted by the Social Services Commission.

"§ 48-11-106. Disclosure of information contained in the registry.

(a) The Department shall process each consent form filed with the registry in an attempt to match the adoptee with a biological relative. There is a match when an adoptee and a biological relative have both filed consent forms with the registry designating the other as a person to whom identifying information may be disclosed. No identifying information about an adoptee may be disclosed to a biological relative unless that relative has been designated to receive identifying information by the adoptee on the adoptee's consent form.

(b) No identifying information shall be disclosed under this section until the Department determines there is a match. If the Department determines there is a match, then the Department shall, within one month of the filing of the latter of the corresponding consent forms, send a copy of the corresponding consent forms to the agency that placed the adoptee or prepared the report to the court. The agency shall then notify the persons who submitted the consent forms of the match and disclose to them the identifying information contained in the consent forms.

(c) If the agency that placed the adoptee or prepared the report to the court is no longer in existence at the time the Department determines there is a match, then any notification or disclosure required by this section shall be made by an employee or agent of the Department.

(d) All communications with adoptees and biological relatives required by this section shall be made by a social worker who has expertise in post-adoption services. These communications are confidential.

(e) If the Department has information that the person about whom identifying information is requested is deceased, the fact of the person's death shall be disclosed to the requesting person. No identifying information about the deceased person shall be disclosed, except pursuant to G.S. 48-9-104, unless the registry has on file an unrevoked consent form filed by the deceased person authorizing the disclosure of identifying information to the requesting person.

"§ 48-11-107. Recommendation of counseling.

The Department shall recommend to a person submitting any form to the registry that the person obtain counseling, voluntarily, at that person's own expense, from a licensed counselor.

"§ 48-11-108. Fees for using the registry.

The Department shall charge a fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) for filing a consent form with the registry at the time of filing. The fee shall be applied to the maintenance of the registry. Any fee authorized by this section may be waived for any person who provides an affidavit of financial inability to pay the fee.

"§ 48-11-109. Adoption of rules for the registry.

The Social Services Commission shall adopt rules for use of and access to the registry in accordance with the requirements of this Article.

"§ 48-11-110. Department to publicize the registry.

The Department shall announce and publicize to the general public the existence of the registry and the procedure for the consensual release of identifying information.

"§ 48-11-111. Department to provide necessary forms and cooperate with registries in other states.

The Department shall develop and furnish any forms necessary to carry out the provisions of this Article. The Department shall cooperate with registries in other states to facilitate the matching of documents filed pursuant to this Article by individuals in different states.

"§ 48-11-112. Violation and penalty.

It is unlawful for a person having custody of or access to documents filed under this Article to disseminate or permit dissemination of information contained in them except as authorized by this Article. Any person who willfully violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a Class I felony."

Section 2. G.S. 48-10-105 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-10-105. Unauthorized disclosure of information.

(a) Except as authorized in G.S. 48-3-205 or in Article 9 or Article 11 of this Chapter, no identifying or nonidentifying information contained in a report or records described therein may be disclosed by present or former employees or officials of the court, an agency, the State, a county, an attorney or other provider of professional services, or any person or entity who wrongfully obtains such a report or records.

(b) ~~A~~ Except as provided in G.S. 48-11-112, a person who knowingly makes an unauthorized disclosure of identifying information is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

(c) The district court may enjoin from further violations any person who makes an unauthorized disclosure.

(d) Notwithstanding the penalties provided in subsection (b) of this section, an individual who is the subject of any of this information may bring a civil action for equitable or monetary relief or both against any person or entity who makes an unauthorized disclosure of the information."

Section 3. There is appropriated from the General Fund to the Department of Health and Human Services the sum of one hundred sixty-seven thousand dollars ($167,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year and the sum of one hundred sixty thousand dollars ($160,000) for the 2000-2001 fiscal year to establish and maintain the registry created in Article 11 of Chapter 48 of the General Statutes as enacted in Section 1 of this act.

Section 4. Section 3 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective January 1, 2000. G.S. 48-11-112 as enacted in Section 1 of this act becomes effective January 1, 2000, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

QUESTIONS MOST FREQENTLY ASKED ABOUT ADOPTION REGISTRY LEGISLATION

What is the major objection to adoption registry legislation?

It contradicts the existing North Carolina adoption laws, which emphatically emphasize the totality of adoption. This is stated in the introductory Legislative Intent:

"...and to protect them (adoptees) from interference long after they have become properly adjusted in their adoptive home by biological parents...," in case after case which use language such as:

"...complete substitution of families"

"...(an adoptee) becomes a complete stranger to the bloodline of his natural parents"

"The right of a natural mother after she has permitted the child's adoption by others is no greater than a stranger to a child,"

A child cannot feel completely secure in one family if legislation and the attendant publicity say there is another one "waiting in the wings". A birth mother cannot put it behind her for the same reason. Adoptive parents are faced with uncertainties, and in a sense become glorified foster parents. A parent needs to be able to say unequivocally, "You are ours just as much as any child could be and the State of North Carolina says so. Period!"

How can it hurt a child when it doesn't apply until the child is grown?

It harms the integrity of adoption long before the child is grown. And if the child, through comments, the media, and the general climate is reminded there is another family out there that someday may want to make contact, quite a different climate is created than if he/she is told unequivocally, "This is your family just as much as any birth child."

When the child is grown and doesn't want contact, there is psychological pressure wondering if there is someone who has registered and is "waiting" - media stories can make this tragically compelling.

Isn't a child told he/she is adopted?

Of course, without making an issue of it, just as with a birth child, he/she is told of his/her adoption, how it came about and all the joyous events surrounding it.

How many of those (adoptees, birth mothers) directly involved actually "want to know"?

The National Council for Adoption in Washington, DC who monitor this figure periodically based on reports from states with various open records legislation, say that at most it is 5% of all adoptees and birth mothers, and in some cases it is substantially less. That is to say, more than 95% of all adoptees and birth mothers want complete confidentiality.

Why don't we hear more from the other 95%?

For the very reason they aren't interested or are against it. As a happy, secure member of their family they don't feel they have to defend their position. They are not looking over their shoulders, they may not even know about such pending legislation, or don't want to be involved and make themselves different.

But what about the need for medical records?

There already is a provision for a court order for these if they are necessary. And, unfortunately, medical records for the father are usually not available.

Why are some of the adoption agencies backing this legislation when formerly they were against it?

The director of one such agency put it this way:

"Those pushing for such legislation are becoming so aggressive we feel we have to give them something…and we have to have something to protect ourselves with if information does get out."

Why is it felt necessary to have social workers accountable and open for prosecution if confidentially is violated?

Because of the many possibilities for indiscretions and abuse.

How is an adoption registry implemented - where do the funds come from?

This varies and is not altogether clear. There is generally a fee charged people who register their names and can afford it, but this fee will not cover all costs of such a registry and advertising, so additional money must be supplied by the state for operation of the registry. It is estimated that this cost could run from $100,000 to $200,000 per year or more.

At present are there ways for those "wanting to know" to find their birth relations?

Yes. There are search groups, private detectives, and most recently, a number of active Internet search methods available.

What are the findings of the states that already have legislation?

Rather than being a solution to a problem, such legislation has created many more problems. It has been used as the "foot in the door" by search groups who each year have aggressively pushed for more access legislation, registries have been mismanaged in many cases, and it appears that adoptions are down and abortions up.

The value of a classified motor vehicle listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(2) (unregistered vehicles) shall be determined as of January 1 of the year in which the motor vehicle is required to be listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(2). HOUSE BILL 315:
Motor Vehicle Tax Value

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Connie Wilson
Date:	June 15, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H315-CSLC-5/25		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 315 provides that the value of a classified motor vehicle for property tax purposes would be determined as of January 1 preceding the due date of the tax. The bill is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000. House Bill 315 was referred to a subcommittee in April. Representatives Braswell, McComas, and Wilson discussed the proposed committee substitute and recommend its adoption by the full committee.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly classified motor vehicles registered with the Division of Motor Vehicles as a special class of property in 1991. Classified vehicles are taxed on a revolving, year-round schedule. Every month, DMV provides each county a list of the motor vehicles in the county for which registration was renewed or obtained two months earlier. The county lists and appraises the vehicles and send the vehicle owners a bill for the county, city, and special district taxes due. If the owner does not pay the taxes due on a classified, registered vehicle, DMV will refuse to renew the vehicle registration the following year unless the owner obtains a receipt showing that the taxes have been paid.

For classified motor vehicles, the ownership, situs, and taxability of the vehicle is determined annually as of the day on which a new registration is applied for or the day on which the current vehicle registration is renewed. However, the value of the vehicle is determined annually as of Janaury 1 preceding the date the new registration is applied for or the current registration expires. Therefore, property tax bills that a taxpayer receives in January through April of each year are based on the value of the vehicle as of the preceding Janaury.

The value of a vehicle, like all other tangible personal property, is based upon it true value in money as prescribed by G.S. 105-283. The words "true value in money" mean the price at which the property would change hands between a willing and financially able buyer and a willing seller. To determine "true value", counties use a pricing guide. Most counties use a pricing guide developed by Tax Equity Consultants. The pricing guides used by counties reflect the average retail prices paid for motor vehicles. In determining retail prices, all costs that are necessary to acquire and operate a motor vehicle are considered. A taxpayer who disagrees with the appraised value of a vehicle has 30 days after the date the tax notice was prepared to appeal the value. Counties will adjust an appraised value for reasons such as the vehicle's condition or excessive mileage.

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for HB 315 provides that a classified motor vehicle's property tax value would be determined on January 1 of the year the taxes are due.

BACKGROUND: The General Assembly enacted the classification to improve the collection rate for property taxes on motor vehicles. Millions of dollars in property tax revenue was being lost each year because of noncompliance with the requirement to list motor vehicles for property taxes. By tying the listing of most motor vehicles to the registration of the vehicles, the 1991 act eliminated most of the opportunity for noncompliance.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT (S) & PROGRAM (S) AFFECTED: County and City Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Unknown.

BILL SUMMARY: Currently all vehicles are valued at their assessed value as of the January proceeding registration. This changes the date to reflect them value on the most recent January.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Under the current system, vehicles can now be valued for property tax purposes on the January proceeding registration. This means that the property tax assessment can reflect values as old as 16 months. The bill effectively changes the valuation date for the last four months of the year to reflect the most recent January.

The total statewide value of all vehicles, as reported to the Department of Revenue, for fiscal years 1995-96 through 1998-99 is as follows:

	1995-96	1996-97	1997-98	1998-99*
Vehicle Value	33,430,604,088	37,563,953,946	45,081,633,555	45,456,523,592

 Indicates this is preliminary data, with only 95 of 100 counties reporting.*

While growth in this sector has been very strong, it is expected to level off in the next few years. As such, this note assumes a 7% growth rate.

The 1997-98 weighted average property tax rate for all governmental jurisdictions in the state (cities and counties) was $0.968 per $100.00 of assessed value. The rate has varied from in the past ten years from a low of $0.938 per $100.00 (1988-89) to a high of $0.994 per $100.00 (1993-94 and 1994-95). Because of increasing pressures to build schools and provide other services, this note assumes a rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessed value for the five year period of the note.

Assuming 7% annual growth in the motor vehicle tax base, and a flat weighted average tax rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessed value, the expected property tax revenue from motor vehicles is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Vehicle Value	$51,613,962,257	$55,226,939,615	$59,092,825,388	$63,229,323,165	$67,655,375,787
Property Tax	$516,139,623	$552,269,396	$590,928,254	$632,293,232	$676,553,758

A statewide survey of county assessors indicates that most responding assessors expect to loose between 5% and 6% of the motor vehicle property tax base as a result of this proposal.

Subject: Vehicle Value Date is January 1 before Taxes Due

As you requested, I drafted this proposed committee substitute to provide that the property tax value for registered vehicles is determined as of January 1 before the taxes become due. The taxes become due about four months after the vehicle registration is obtained or renewed and about two months after the tax bill is sent. The Department of Revenue developed this proposal. They consulted with assessors in various counties and determined that it is workable as long as the effective date is delayed to give counties time to reprogram, after they finish their Y2K reprogramming. The July 1, 1999, effective date will accomplish this.

Please let me know if you have any questions or suggestions for changes.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A MOTOR VEHICLE'S PROPERTY TAX VALUE IS DETERMINED AS OF JANUARY 1 PRECEDING THE DUE DATE OF THE TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-330.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-330.2. Appraisal, ownership, and situs.

(a) Date Determined. -- The value of a classified motor vehicle listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(1) (registered vehicles) shall be determined as of January 1 of the year the taxes are due. If ~~follows:~~

~~(1) For a vehicle registered under the staggered system, the value shall be determined annually as of January 1 preceding the date a new registration is applied for or the current registration expires.~~

~~(2) For a vehicle newly registered under the annual system, the value shall be determined as of January 1 of the year the new registration is obtained. For a vehicle whose registration is renewed under the annual system, the value shall be determined as of January 1 following the date the registration expires.~~

~~If~~ the value of a new motor vehicle cannot be determined as of ~~the date specified above,~~ that date, the value of that vehicle shall be determined for that year as of the date that model vehicle is first offered for sale at retail in this State.

The ownership, situs, and taxability of a classified motor vehicle listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(1) (registered vehicles) shall be determined annually as of the day on which a new registration is applied for or the day on which the current vehicle registration is renewed, regardless of whether the registration is renewed after it has expired.

The value of a classified motor vehicle listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(2) (unregistered vehicles) shall be determined as of January 1 of the year in which the motor vehicle is required to be listed pursuant to G.S. 105-330.3(a)(2). (c) Administration. -- The Department of Revenue, acting through the Property Tax Division, and the Department of Transportation, acting through the Division of Motor Vehicles, shall enter into a memorandum of understanding concerning the vehicle identification information, name and address of the owner, and other information that will be required on the motor vehicle registration forms to implement the tax listing and collection provisions of this Article."

Section 2. This act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE AFTER-FACTORY WINDOW TINTING INSPECTION FEE FOR PERSONS WITH DOCUMENTED MEDICAL CONDITIONS THAT REQUIRE WINDOW TINTING.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 20-183.7(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Fee Amount. -- When a fee applies to an inspection of a vehicle or the issuance of an inspection sticker, the fee must be collected. The following fees apply to an inspection of a vehicle and the issuance of an inspection sticker:

Type	Inspection	Sticker
Safety Only, Without After-Factory Tinted Window	$ 8.25	$ 1.00
Safety Only, With After-Factory Tinted Window	18.25	1.00
Emissions and Safety Without After-Factory Tinted Window	17.00	2.40
Emissions and Safety With After-Factory Tinted Window	27.00	2.40.

The fee for performing an inspection of a vehicle applies when an inspection is performed, regardless of whether the vehicle passes the inspection. The fee for an inspection sticker applies when an inspection sticker is put on a vehicle. The fee for performing an inspection of a vehicle with a tinted window applies only to an inspection performed with a light meter after a safety inspection mechanic determined that the window had after-factory tint.

A vehicle that is inspected at an inspection station and fails the inspection is entitled to be reinspected at the same station at any time within 30 days of the failed inspection without paying another inspection fee.

The fee for after-factory tinting inspection shall be reduced by five dollars ($5.00) for any vehicle owner with a documented medical condition that requires after-factory tinted windows."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 723:
Dark Window Inspection Fee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Insko
Date:	June 15, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 723 would reduce the after-factory window tinting inspection fee for a motor vehicle by $5.00 if the vehicle owner has a documented medical condition that requires tinted windows. The bill does not allow a person to have a greater degree of tinted window than the law currently allows. The bill becomes effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: The windshield of a vehicle operated in this State may be tinted only along the top of the windshield and the tinting may not extend more than five inches below the top of the windshield. There is no exception to this requirement. The windows of a vehicle operated in this State must have a total light transmission of at least 35% and a light reflectance of 20% or less.

The statute allows several exceptions to these window-tinting restrictions. The exceptions include limousines, motor homes, multipurpose vehicles, minivans, and pickup trucks. There is not a medical exception exemption and this bill does not create one. A person who drives a vehicle on a highway that has a window that does not meet these window-tinting restrictions is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

Vehicles must have an annual safety inspection, and in the counties where it is applicable, an emissions inspection. If a safety inspection mechanic determines that a window has after-factory tint, the inspection must include an inspection of the window tinting with a light meter. The fee for an inspection of the tinted windows is an additional $10.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 723 provides that the $10 additional fee imposed to inspect after-factory tinted windows with a light meter would be reduced to $5 if the vehicle owner has a documented medical condition that requires tinted windows. The most common medical condition for which a medical exemption permit would probably be sought is systemic lupus erythematosus. Lupus is a chronic, autoimmune disease that causes inflammation of the joints, skin, blood, kidneys, and other organ systems. Forty to sixty percent of the systemic lupus patients are photosensitive.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill reduces the after-factory window tinting inspection fee by $5 for persons with documented medical conditions that require window tinting.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: This bill has no state impact because the inspection fee is paid to the station inspecting the vehicle. DMV does not track the numbers of inspections of after-factory tinted windows. It does keep track of how many fail each year. If the inspection stations need to reprogram their software due to this special deduction, they pay for the change.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO RESOLVE AN APPARENT OVERLAP IN FIRE DISTRICT BOUNDARIES IN WILKES COUNTY, AND TO VALIDATE PAST LEVY AND COLLECTION OF TAXES FOR THOSE DISTRICTS.

Whereas, Wilkes County has previously identified an overlap between the Ronda and Roaring River Fire Tax Districts in the area from the intersection of Poplar Springs Road and North Ridge Road south to Old U.S. Highway 421, that area being in Edwards and New Castle Township in Wilkes County; and

Whereas, a question exists as to the procedure which was used in approving extensions to the Ronda and Roaring River Fire Tax Districts in 1985, and accordingly a question exists as to which of these Fire Tax Districts the overlap properly belongs; and

Whereas, the Boards of Directors of the Ronda and Roaring River Volunteer Fire Departments wish to resolve the question of this overlap and have mutually agreed to a new boundary line which will represent the line between the Fire Tax Districts in the above described area; and

Whereas, the Presidents of both Volunteer Fire Departments, acting with the knowledge and authority of their respective Boards of Directors, have met with the County Attorney and the County Fire Marshal to discuss the agreement for the new boundary line and the best method of lawfully implementing the same, and all parties have agreed that the best method would be to request a local act in the General Assembly for the purpose of establishing the newly agreed boundary line between the Fire Tax Districts by law; and

Whereas, the parties have further agreed to request that the local act provide that, subject to the new boundary line as herein agreed, the 1985 extensions of the Ronda and Roaring River Fire Tax Districts are deemed valid and lawful; and

Whereas, the parties have further agreed to request that the local act also provide that all collections of fire tax revenues by the County since 1985 in the areas subject to the extensions are deemed valid and lawful, without regard to which Fire Tax District (and corresponding fire tax rate) the revenues were collected from, and without regard to which Volunteer Fire Department the revenues were allocated to; and

Whereas, the parties to this Resolution have approved and signed the same for the purpose of signifying their unanimous consent in this matter and requesting that a local act be introduced for the purposes as set forth herein; and

Whereas, the Board of Commissioners of Wilkes County has agreed to this by resolution; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1.(a) The newly agreed boundary line for the Roaring River Fire Tax District in Wilkes County in the area from the intersection of Poplar Springs Road and North Ridge Road south to Old U.S. Highway 421 shall be as follows:

BEGINNING at the intersection of S.R. 1924 (Poplar Springs Road) and S.R. 2015 (North Ridge Road), thence in a southeasterly direction with S.R. 2015 to the intersection of S.R. 2015 and N.C. Highway 268, including all property with primary access from S.R. 2015 between this and the preceding point; thence in a southerly direction in a straight line to a point on S.R. 2321 (Old 60) .2 miles west of Gray's Creek Bridge; thence in a southerly direction in a straight line to the intersection of S.R. 2318 (Mathis Mill Road), S.R. 2319 (South Plum Ridge Road), and S.R. 2320 (North Plum Ridge Road); thence in a southerly direction with S.R. 2319 to the intersection of S.R. 2319 and U.S. Highway 421, including all property adjacent to or accessed from S.R. 2319 between this and the preceding point; thence in an easterly direction following the centerline of U.S. Highway 421 to the intersection of U.S. 421 and S.R. 2346 (Old U.S. Highway 421); thence in a westerly direction with S.R. 2346 to a point 1.1 miles west of that intersection, including all property on both sides of S.R. 2346 adjacent to or accessed from S.R. 2346. The foregoing description for that boundary line shall not be affected or altered in any way by the widening, relocation, or four-laning of U.S. Highway 421.

Section 1.(b) The newly agreed boundary line for the Ronda Fire Tax District in Wilkes County in the area from the intersection of Poplar Springs Road and North Ridge Road south to Old U.S. Highway 421 shall be as follows:

BEGINNING at the intersection of S.R. 1924 (Poplar Springs Road) and S.R. 2015 (North Ridge Road), thence in a southeasterly direction with S.R. 2015 to the intersection of S.R. 2015 and N.C. Highway 268, excluding all property with primary access from S.R. 2015 between this and the preceding point; thence in a southerly direction in a straight line to a point on S.R. 2321 (Old 60) .2 miles west of Gray's Creek Bridge; thence in a southerly direction in a straight line to the intersection of S.R. 2318 (Mathis Mill Road), S.R. 2319 (South Plum Ridge Road), and S.R. 2320

(North Plum Ridge Road); thence in a southerly direction with S.R. 2319 to the intersection of S.R. 2319 and U.S. Highway 421, excluding all property adjacent to or accessed from S.R. 2319 between this and the preceding point; thence in an easterly direction following the centerline of U.S. Highway 421 to the intersection of U.S. Highway 421 and S.R. 2346 (Old U.S. Highway 421); thence in a westerly direction with S.R. 2346 to a point 1.1 miles west of that intersection, excluding all property on both sides of S.R. 2346 adjacent to or accessed from S.R. 2346. The foregoing description for that boundary line shall not be affected or altered in any way by the widening, relocation, or four-laning of U.S. Highway 421.

Section 2. Subject to the new boundary lines provided in Section 1 of this act, the 1985 extensions of the Ronda and Roaring River Fire Tax Districts are deemed valid and lawful; all levy and collection of fire tax revenues by Wilkes County since 1985 in the areas subject to the extensions are deemed valid and lawful, without regard to which Fire Tax District (and corresponding fire tax rate) those revenues were collected from, and without regard to which Volunteer Fire Department those revenues were allocated to.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR INDIVIDUALS TO PAY THEIR ANNUAL USE TAX WITH THEIR INCOME TAX FORMS, TO PROMOTE ELECTRONIC FILING, AND TO IMPROVE TAX COLLECTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.16(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Use Tax on Out-of-State Purchases. -- ~~Notwithstanding subsection (b),~~ Use tax payable by an individual who purchases tangible personal property outside the State for a nonbusiness purpose ~~shall file a use tax return~~ is due on an annual basis. ~~The~~ For an individual who is not required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter, the annual reporting period ends on the last day of the calendar ~~year. The return is due by the due date, including any approved extensions, for filing the individual's income tax return.~~ year and a use tax return is due by the following April 15. For an individual who is required to file an individual income tax return, the annual reporting period ends on the last day of the individual's income tax year and the use tax must be paid on the income tax return as provided in G.S. 105-269.14."

Section 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-269.14. Payment of use tax with individual income tax.

(a) Requirement. -- An individual who owes use tax that is payable on an annual basis pursuant to G.S. 105-164.16(d) and who is required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter must pay the use tax with the individual income tax return for the taxable year. The Secretary must provide appropriate space and information on the individual income tax form and instructions. The information must include the following:

(1) Instructions that certain sales taxes paid on a purchase are a credit against the use tax.

(2) A table setting out averages for various income ranges of the estimated amount of use tax as defined in subsection (b) of this section, rounded to the nearest one dollar ($1.00) of tax.

(3) Notification that if the taxpayer fails to indicate on the income tax form an amount of use tax payable, the Department of Revenue may add the estimated amount provided in subsection (b) of this section, and that the taxpayer is liable for this estimated amount unless the taxpayer can establish that the taxpayer owes a different amount of use tax under this Chapter or that no use tax is due.

(b) Estimated Amount. -- If the taxpayer does not know the amount of use tax due on all purchases for a calendar year, the taxpayer may pay the amount actually due on any purchases of items that cost one thousand dollars ($1,000) or more per item plus an estimated amount due on purchases of items that cost less than one thousand dollars ($1,000) per item. The estimated amount of use tax due on these items is six one-hundredths percent (0.06%) of the individual's North Carolina taxable income, or the equivalent amount provided in a table calculated by the Secretary of Revenue.

(c) Failure to Designate. -- If an individual does not designate on the income tax return an amount of use tax due or that no use tax is due, the Department of Revenue may designate the estimated amount provided in subsection (b) of this section as the amount due. The taxpayer is liable for this estimated amount unless the taxpayer can establish that the taxpayer owes a different amount of use tax under this Chapter or that no use tax is due.

(d) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds collected under this section to counties and cities in proportion to their total distributions under Articles 39, 40, and 42 of this Chapter and Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws for the most recent period for which data are available. The provisions of G.S. 105-472, 105-486, and 105-501 do not apply to tax proceeds distributed under this section."

Section 3. To pay for the costs of programming, form revision, and resources for taxpayer assistance to implement Sections 1 and 2 of this act, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 4. During the 1999-2000 fiscal year, the Secretary of Revenue shall implement a program to allow those taxpayers required under G.S. 105-164.16 to report and pay sales and use taxes on a semimonthly basis to file the semimonthly return electronically. To pay for this program, the Secretary may draw up to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 5.(a) The Secretary of Revenue shall contract during the 1999-2001 fiscal biennium for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. To implement this section, the Secretary may draw funds for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act. The Secretary of Revenue shall report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on its collections pursuant to this contract during the biennium.

Section 5.(b) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Delinquent tax debt. -- The amount of tax due as stated in a final notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer by the Secretary of Revenue when the taxpayer no longer has a right to contest the debt.

(2) Foreign entity. -- A foreign corporation as defined in G.S. 55-1-40, a foreign limited liability company as defined in G.S. 57C-1-03, a foreign limited partnership as defined in G.S. 59-102, or a general partnership formed under the laws of a jurisdiction other than this State.

Section 6. The Department of Revenue shall conduct a study to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including using electronic commerce and other technology to increase efficiency. The study shall include an analysis of the most efficient tax collection methods used in other states. The State Controller shall cooperate with the Department of Revenue in this study. The Department shall report the results of its study, including findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains of each recommendation, to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000. To implement this section, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 7. Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-59.1. Contracts with certain foreign vendors.

The Secretary of Administration and other entities to which this Article applies shall not contract for goods or services with a vendor if the vendor or an affiliate of the vendor meets one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuses to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes on its sales delivered to North Carolina. The Secretary of Revenue shall provide the Secretary of Administration periodically with a list of vendors to which this section applies. For the purpose of this section, the term 'affiliate' has the meaning provided in G.S. 105-163.010."

Section 8. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(22) To provide the Secretary of Administration pursuant to G.S. 143-59.1 a list of vendors and their affiliates who meet one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuse to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of this Chapter on their sales delivered to North Carolina.

(23) To provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes under Article 5 of this Chapter to a retailer because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department of Revenue."

Section 9. Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 1433:
Use Tax Payment/Other Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miller
Date:	June 15, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition		Committee Counsel
	H1433-CSRBX-6/14

SUMMARY: House Bill 1433 simplifies use tax collection and seeks to improve tax collections in several ways:

- It provides that an individual who owes use tax to the State can pay the tax with the individual's income tax. If an individual knows that use tax is owed, but does not know how much, the individual may estimate the amount owed by multiplying North Carolina taxable income by .0006.
- It promotes the electronic filing of semimonthly sales tax reports.
- It directs the Secretary of Revenue to contract for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities.
- It directs the Department of Revenue and the State Controller to study the feasibility of a central collection operation.
- It prohibits the State agencies from contracting with a vendor who is required under G.S. 105-164.8(b) to collect State sales and use tax but refuses to do so.

The first part of the bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of the bill becomes effective July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: North Carolina has a 6% sales and use tax. The sales tax is paid on purchases made in this State. The tax is collected by the retailer and remitted to the State. The use tax complements the sales tax by taxing transactions that are not subject to the sales tax because of movement in interstate commerce. Like the sales tax, the use tax is imposed on the purchaser. Unlike the sales tax, the responsibility for remitting the tax to the Department of Revenue is also on the purchaser.

Last biennium, the General Assembly sought to make the remittance of use tax by the taxpayer to the State less burdensome by providing that use tax on goods purchased out-of-state for a non-business purpose may be filed on an annual basis. The return and the tax are due at the same time as the personal income tax return.

BILL ANALYSIS: Sections 1 and 2 of House Bill 1433 provide that the use tax will be paid on the taxpayers' income tax returns. The bill provides that a taxpayer who owes use tax and who must remit a State tax return must pay the use tax owed with the tax return. The tax return will have space on it to indicate the amount of use tax owed. If the taxpayer does not owe any use tax, the taxpayer should put a zero in the space. If the taxpayer owes use tax but doesn't know how much, the taxpayer may estimate the amount owed for purchases that do not exceed $1,000 per item. The bill provides that the estimated amount owed is 0.06% of the taxpayer's North Carolina taxable income. If the taxpayer leaves the space empty, the Department may designate an amount owed equal to the estimated amount. For purchases that cost $1,000 or more per item, the taxpayer must pay the actual amount of use tax due on the purchase.

Seven states provide a line on the individual income tax return for the collection of use tax. Another 7 states provide a use tax return with the individual income tax return and provide that the use tax return is due at the same time as the income tax return. Of the seven states that provide a line on the return for the collection of use tax, only Maine provides for an estimated amount of tax due. The proposed committee substitute provides that the Department may collect the use tax due by subtracting the amount of use tax due from any applicable income tax refund amount or by assessing the taxpayer. The original bill required the Department to collect or assess the tax due.

The bill allows the Department to use some of the additional use tax revenue collected under this bill to promote tax collections:

- The Department may use $150,000 to pay for the costs of programming, form revision, and resources for taxpayer assistance in connection with the new use tax collection method.
- The Department may use $500,000 to implement a program to allow semimonthly sales and use taxpayers to file their returns electronically.
- The Department may use some of the revenue to contract for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. A delinquent tax debt is the amount of tax due as stated in a final notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer when the taxpayer no longer has a right to contest the debt. The Department must report on its collections pursuant to this contract to the Revenue Laws Study Committee.
- The Department may use up to $50,000 to conduct a study, in cooperation with the State Controller, to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes. The Department must report its findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000.

The bill prohibits the State from contracting with a vendor for goods or services if the vendor is required by G.S. 105-164.8(b) to collect use tax for the State but refuses to do so. G.S. 105-164.8 requires a retailer who is engaged in business in this State to collect use tax on a mail order sale. G.S. 105-164.8(b) provides that a retailer who makes a mail order sale is engaged in business in this State if the retailer meets one or more of the following conditions:

- Is a corporation engaged in business under the laws of this State.
- Maintains offices in this State.
- Has representatives in this State who solicit business or transact business on behalf of the retailer.
- Is purposefully or systematically exploiting the market in this State by any media-assisted, media-facilitated, or media-solicited means, including direct mail advertising, distribution of catalogs, computer-assisted shopping, etc.
- Resides in a jurisdiction that has a compact or reciprocity with North Carolina to support North Carolina's taxing power.
- Consents to the imposition of the collection of the tax.

Lastly, the bill amends the tax secrecy provisions to allow the Secretary of Revenue to do two things:

- Provide the Secretary of Administration with a list of vendors who refuse to collect the State's use tax even though they are required to do so under G.S. 105-164.8.
- Provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use tax because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department.

BACKGROUND: In the 1980s, states around the country became increasing aware of the revenue loss associated with taxpayer avoidance of the use tax. The potential increase in State and local revenue for North Carolina, if full taxpayer compliance were achieved, would exceed $100 million.

The most cost-effective manner to collect the tax, from a state's point-of-view, is to require the out-of-state retailers to collect and remit the use tax. However, in 1967, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Bellas Hess that a state could not require an out-of-state retailer to collect its use tax unless the retailer has enough contacts with the state to subject it to the state's taxing jurisdiction. The Supreme Court reaffirmed this decision in 1992 in Quill Company v. North Dakota.

States have negotiated with direct marketers on at least two occasions to craft a voluntary collection agreement where marketers would collect the tax and states would simplify their reporting requirements. Both of these efforts were unsuccessful.

There are three efforts currently under way to address the issue of out-of-state purchases:

- The National Tax Association Communications and Electronic project is focusing on simplification issues and some policy principles to apply to remote commerce.
- The Advisory Commission on Electronic Commerce was established by the Internet Tax Freedom Act. It has 18 months to study electronic commerce issues and to make a report to Congress.
- The Multistate Tax Commission Tax Simplification Project is comprised of representatives of business and state and local governments who are focusing on ways to simplify the sales and use tax in the areas of uniformity and reporting. Sections 4 and 8 of this bill are two of the recommendations of the group working in North Carolina.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Department of Administration, all other state agencies have purchasing authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several changes to the state use tax, income tax, and purchasing procedures and policies. Sections 1 and 2 require individuals who file an income tax return to include with that return a use tax payment for purchases made by retailers that do not charge sales tax. The tax shall be calculated at a standard rate of 6%. If the taxpayer does not know the amount due, the taxpayer may pay the tax actually due on purchases of $1000 or more, and an estimated amount on purchases of less than $1000. The estimated amount due for the small purchases is either 0.06% of the individual's North Carolina taxable income or the equivalent amount provided in a table calculated by the Secretary of Revenue. If an individual does not designate on the return the amount of use tax due, the Department of Revenue will designate the estimated amount, based on the individual's taxable income. The taxpayer will be liable for the estimated amount unless they can establish a different use tax liability. Individuals who do not file an income tax return are still required to submit a use tax report. These sections also direct the Department of Revenue to provide appropriate space and information on the use tax requirements on the state's income tax materials. This information must include notification that if the taxpayer does not include a use tax amount the Department is authorized to add their estimated liability to the tax form. Section 2 also directs to the Secretary of Revenue to distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds to the cities and counties.

Section 3 allows the Secretary of Revenue to draw up to $150,000 in FY 1999-00 to provide taxpayer assistance related to the use tax. Section 4 requires that the Department of Revenue implement a program to allow businesses that are required to file sales and use taxes twice a month to file their sales tax returns electronically. It allows the Secretary to draw up to $500,000 in FY 1999-00 from net sales tax collections to pay for the program. Section 5 directs the Department to contract for collection of delinquent taxes owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. The contract must be drawn during the 1999-01 fiscal biennium. Funding for the contract shall be drawn from use tax proceeds. The results must be reported annually to Revenue Laws. Section 6 directs the Department of Revenue to conduct a study, identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including the use of electronic commerce and other technologies. The State Controller is directed to assist with the study. This section also authorizes the Secretary to draw up to $50,000 for the 1999-00 fiscal year to fund the study. A report with recommendations must be made to Revenue Laws by May 1, 2000. Section 7 bars the Secretary of Administration and all other state purchasing entities from contracting with vendors if that vendor (or its affiliate) refuses to collect the use tax on sales delivered to North Carolina. Fifth, it directs the Department of Revenue to supply the Secretary of Administration with a list of such vendors. Section 8 directs the Secretary of Revenue to provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes because they are either exempt or are authorized to pay the Department directly.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill makes several changes to tax collection and government purchasing procedures.

Sections 1& 2: These sections of the bill direct the Department of Revenue to alter their procedures for assessing and collecting individual use tax payments. The bill directs the Department to include specific space on the individual income tax return to report use tax payments, and to assume an individual's use tax liability if no amount is entered in the income tax form.

Currently the Department of Revenue includes a form for individual use tax payments in the income tax instructions. However, the Department believes placing a special line for use tax payments on the individual income tax form will be much more effective and result in higher use tax payments. Based on a recent Department conducted survey, the Department of Revenue believes that at least seven other states now have a line item on their individual income tax form for use tax payments. Two of the states with a line on the form are Maine and Connecticut. Maine indicated to the North Carolina Department of Revenue that they collected $1.7 million in use taxes on individual income tax returns filed for 1997. Of the 576,000 returns filed, Maine reports that approximately 95,000 paid some use taxes. The North Carolina Department of Revenue receives approximately 3,000,000 returns annually. Based on this information and the data from Maine, the Sales Tax Division of Revenue estimates that North Carolina will see a revenue increase of approximately $5,000,000. This amount is increase by 5% each year to reflect future growth. Because this revenue would be divided between the state and local governments, the actual fiscal impact is as follows:

	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
State	3,333,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Local	1,666,667	1,750,000	1,837,500	1,929,375	2,025,844
Total	5,000,000	5,250,000	5,512,500	5,788,125	6,077,531

Section 3: This section allows the Secretary of Revenue to deduct up to $150,000 from use tax proceeds to fund taxpayer assistance. This is amount is shown in the chart as a loss to the potential revenue stream created by the bill.

Section 4: This section authorizes the Secretary of Revenue to deduct up to $500,000 from use tax proceeds to fund electronic filing of semi-monthly sales tax returns. Under the bill businesses are not required to file electronically, they are merely given the option. This may increase revenues, as the Department may be able to draw more interest on the "float". However, because the electronic filling language is permissive, allowing retailers to decide if they will file electronically, no reliable estimate of the potential revenue change is possible. The note does assume that the Secretary will draw the $500,000. This amount is shown as a loss to the potential revenue stream.

Section 5: This section directs the Department to contract out to collect out of state delinquent taxes. Because no contract has been negotiated to date, no accurate cost estimate is possible. Also, contracting out should increase collections. However, no estimate is available on the potential gains. As a result, no estimate is possible on the net potential revenue gain.

Section 6: This section directs the Department and the State Controller to study more efficient ways to collect taxes, and report their findings and recommendations to Revenue Laws. The note assumes the Secretary will draw the full $50,000 allowed for the study. No other fiscal impact is expected.

Section 7: This section of the bill bars the Department of Administration and other state purchasing entities from contracting with an out of state vendor that refuses to collect use tax on purchases delivered to North Carolina. Fiscal Research appropriations staff members do not believe this will have a fiscal impact on the Department of Administration or other organizations. There will be cost associated with Revenue compiling the list of barred vendors. However, the Department believes they can administer this portion of the bill without additional appropriations.

Section 8: This section directs the Department to create a public access database of those not required to pay sales taxes to vendors. While there may be some cost associated with this section of the bill, the Department should be able to fund this change through existing resources and those committed elsewhere in the bill.

Total Impact: Given the revenue increase created in Sections 1 and 2, and the expenses in the remainder of the bill, the net revenue gain as a result of the legislation is as follows:

	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
State
Revenue Gain	3,333,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Less Expend.	(700,000)	-	-	-	-
Net Change	2,633,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Local
Net Change	1,666,667	1,750,000	1,837,500	1,929,375	2,025,844

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The bill requires a fairly significant change in the state purchasing process. As a result, the Departments of Revenue and Administration may require some time to transition their systems and inform all appropriate entities. Therefore, Fiscal Research suggests the effective date be delayed at least three months to allow for a smooth transition.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN RENEWABLE ENERGY EQUIPMENT AND TO SUNSET THE CREDIT FOR COSTS INCURRED DURING TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING ON OR AFTER JANUARY 1, 2002.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-130.28 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-130.28. Credit against corporate income tax for construction of a ~~photovoltaic~~ renewable energy equipment facility.

(a) ~~Any~~ Credit. -- A corporation that constructs in North Carolina a facility for the ~~production of photovoltaic~~ manufacture of renewable energy equipment is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this Part equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the costs are paid but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the costs are paid.

No credit is allowed, however, to the extent that any of the costs of the equipment were provided by federal, State, or local grants. To secure the credit allowed by this section, the taxpayer must own or control the facility at the time of construction. ~~The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer.~~

(b) ~~As used in this section, "photovoltaic equipment" means those products designed, manufactured, and produced to convert sunlight directly into electricity.~~ Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Biomass equipment. -- Products designed to use renewable biomass resources for biofuel production of ethanol, methanol, and biodiesel; anaerobic biogas production of methane utilizing agricultural and animal waste or garbage; or commercial thermal or electrical generation from renewable energy crops or wood waste materials. The term also includes related devices for converting, conditioning, and storing the liquid fuels, gas, and electricity produced with biomass equipment.

(2) Renewable biomass resources. -- Organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, aquatic crops, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.

(3) Renewable energy equipment. -- Biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment.

(4) Solar electric or thermal equipment. -- Products designed to convert sunlight into electricity or heat.

(5) Wind energy equipment. -- Products designed to capture and convert wind energy into electricity or mechanical power.

(c) Carryforward. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 10 years. ~~The amount of credit allowed under this section may be carried over for the next succeeding five years.~~

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to construction of a facility for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same facility."

Section 2. G.S. 105-130.28, as amended by this act, is repealed effective for costs incurred during taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

Section 3. This act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person arising under the statute repealed by this act before the effective date of its repeal, nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that accrued under the repealed statute before the effective date of its repeal.

Section 4. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN RENEWABLE ENERGY EQUIPMENT.

Whereas, renewable energy is North Carolina's only indigenous energy source; and

Whereas, currently, thirty cents of every dollar spent on electricity in North Carolina goes out-of-state for fuel costs and every dollar spent on renewable energy circulates through our economy, helping to create over three dollars in local benefits; and

Whereas, many of North Carolina's large metropolitan areas, because of air pollution, are currently, or will soon be, facing development growth restrictions imposed by the United States Environmental Protection Agency for "nonattainment" of minimal air quality standards; and

Whereas, North Carolina currently ranks twelfth in the United States in carbon dioxide emissions, releasing 126.5 million tons into the atmosphere each year; and

Whereas, coal burning is creating increasingly negative health and environmental impacts through the release of sulfur dioxides, nitrous oxides, particulates, ozone, mercury, and lead; and

Whereas, renewable energy creates more jobs per unit of energy than fossil fuels or nuclear power; and

Whereas, a 1998 poll conducted by the University of North Carolina School of Journalism indicates that, by three-to-one, North Carolinians want electricity providers to implement solar energy options, even if they cost more; and

Whereas, renewable energy is, in the long term, the only energy option that can ensure sustainable development; and

Whereas, tax incentives can help stimulate the demand for environmentally sound, renewable energy options, help grow the solar industry in our State, produce a stronger local economy, and allow North Carolina to continue to grow, but in a sustainable manner; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

The term also includes related devices for converting, conditioning, and storing the liquid fuels, gas, and electricity produced with biomass equipment.

(2) Renewable biomass resources. -- Organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, aquatic crops, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.

(3) Renewable energy equipment. -- Biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment.

(4) Solar electric or thermal equipment. -- Products designed to convert sunlight into electricity or heat.

(5) Wind energy equipment. -- Products designed to capture and convert wind energy into electricity or mechanical power.

(c) Carryforward. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 10 years. ~~The amount of credit allowed under this section may be carried over for the next succeeding five years.~~

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to construction of a facility for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same facility."

Section 2. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 1473:
Renewable Energy Manufacturers Credit

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hackney
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1473-PCSX1282		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1473 expands the current corporate tax credit for the construction of a photvoltaic equipment to include the construction of other types of renewable energy equipment. The bill provides that the credit must be taken in five equal installments and extends the carry forward from 5 years to 10 years. The proposed committee substitute removes the whereas clauses and sunsets the credit for costs incurred during taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002. The bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: A corporation that constructs a facility for the production of photovoltaic equipment is allowed a credit equal to 25% of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. The amount of the credit may not exceed the amount of tax owed; any unused credit may be carried forward for five years. Photovoltaic equipment means products designed, manufactured, and produced to convert sunlight directly into electricity. The credit is not allowed to the extent that federal, State, or local grants provide any of the costs of the equipment. To secure the credit, the taxpayer must own or control the facility at the time of construction.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1473 would allow a corporation that constructed a facility in North Carolina for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment to receive a corporate income tax credit equal to 25% of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. Renewable energy equipment is defined by the bill as biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment. This broad definition encompasses the current definition of photovoltaic equipment. The credit allowed under this bill differs from the current credit in the following ways:

- The credit could not be taken for the taxable year in which the costs are paid, but would be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the costs are paid.
- Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for 10 years instead of 5 years.
- A taxpayer that claims any other credit with respect to the construction of a facility to manufacture renewable energy equipment may not take this credit with respect to the same facility.

PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE: The proposed committee substitute sunsets the credit for costs incurred during taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002. The energy tax credit, as proposed in House Bill 1472, sunsets January 1, 2002. The Committee gave the proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1472 a favorable report at the meeting on June 8, 1999. This sunset language will keep the energy tax credits consistent.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
HB 1473 replaces the corporate tax credit for constructing a photovoltaic (PV) equipment facility with a corporate tax credit for constructing a renewable energy equipment facility. The tax credit is taken in five equal installments over five years. Unused tax credits have a 10 year carryforward. No taxpayer may receive more than one tax credit for this type of facility.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The current corporate income tax credit for constructing photovoltaic manufacturing facilities has not been used since it was created in 1981. The Department of Revenue reported no usage of the credit from 1981 to 1987. After 1987, no separate accounting was done for each energy credit. Officials with the North Carolina Solar Center and the North Carolina Solar Energy Association do not recall this credit ever being used. These solar energy advocates believe the existing law's 5-year carry forward period is too short for new companies to show a profit and benefit from the tax incentive. The credit in HB 1473 lengthens the carry forward period from 5 to 10 years and expands credit eligibility to include biomass and wind energy equipment.

This fiscal note cannot predict the number of firms that will apply for this revised corporate tax credit nor the amount of credit to be requested. However, if only one firm applies for the credit, there will be a General Fund revenue loss due to the absence of applicants for the current tax credit program. The Chief of the Renewable Energy Branch of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) believes North Carolina is a good candidate for a small photovoltaic (PV) company using specialized technology and for a biomass equipment company working with the wood products industry. An example of a small PV company is Atlantis Energy, which built a $1.5 million plant in Cape Charles Virginia in 1995 to produce custom designed PV modules. A biomass equipment plant might be attracted to the North Carolina wood products industry that produced 1,730 million kilowatt hours of energy from wood and wood waste in 1995. (DOE/Energy Information Administration)

The Chief of the DOE Renewable Energy Branch believes that manufacturers of photovoltaic (PV) and biomass equipment will expand production capacity over the next five years. The Million Solar Roofs Initiative that DOE began in 1997 aims to install a million solar energy systems on one million U.S. buildings by the year 2010. Since 64% of the shipments from the nation's 24 manufacturers of PV cells and modules (DOE 1995 estimate) are exported, an increase in domestic demand should prompt an expansion of PV plant capacity.

HOUSE BILL 1476:

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miller
Date:	June 15, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1476-PCSSC-002		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1476 rewrites the definition of the Internal Revenue Code used in State tax statutes to change the reference date from September 1, 1998 to June 1, 1999. Updating the Internal Revenue Code reference makes recent amendments to the Code applicable to the State to the extent that State tax law previously tracked federal law. The proposed committee substitute incorporates House Bill 1197, introduced by Rep. Miller. House Bill 1197 conforms the State statute of limitations, with respect to the willful failure to comply with the State's tax laws, to the federal statute of limitations.

BILL ANALYSIS: Since the General Assembly updated the State's reference to the Internal Revenue Code to September 1, 1998, Congress has enacted two bills that affect the Internal Revenue Code. On October 21, 1998, the President signed into law Public Law 105-277, which includes the Tax and Trade Relief Extension Act of 1998. On April 19, 1999, the President signed into law Public Law 106-21, which extends the tax benefits available with respect to services performed in a combat zone to services performed in the Kosovo area.

Public Law 105-277: This act extended the research and development credit, created or extended tax breaks aimed particularly at individuals, small businesses, and farmers, narrowed some tax exemptions, and made many technical changes. The following is a summary of the some of the more significant provisions:

- It extends the research and development credit through June 30, 1999. North Carolina's credit for research and development is based upon this federal credit.
- It accelerates the deduction for health insurance costs of self-employed individuals. Self-employed individuals are entitled to deduct a portion of the amount paid for health insurance for the self-employed individual and the individual's spouse and dependents. Under prior law, the amount that could be deducted was increasing from 45% in 1998 to 100% in 2007. The legislation passed last year accelerated the amount that could be deducted to 60% for tax years beginning in 1999 through 2001, to 70% for tax years beginning in 2002, and to 100% for tax years beginning in 2003 and thereafter. An employee may exclude from income 100% of employer-provided health insurance.
- It provides a five-year net operating loss carryback for farmers, effective for NOLs arising in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1997. A NOL is the amount by which business deductions exceed business gross income. Generally, a NOL may be carried back two years and forward 20 years to offset taxable income in such years. The act created an exception for farming losses. A farming loss is defined as the amount of any net operating loss attributable to the income and deductions of a farming business.

- It permanently extends the income averaging provision for farmers. An individual engaged in a farming business may elect to compute current year tax liability by averaging, over the prior three year period, all or a portion of the taxable income that is attributable to the farming business. Prior to this act, this provision would have expired for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2001.
- It allows a taxpayer that wins a contest, lottery, jackpot, etc. and elects to take the payment as an annuity to claim the prize winnings as income at the time they are received. Prior to the enactment of this act, a person who had the option of receiving either a lump-sum distribution or an annuity was required to include the value of the award in gross income in the year in which the prize was won, even if the annuity option was exercised.
- It permanently extends the charitable market-value deduction for contributions of qualified appreciated stock to private foundations.
- It limits specified liability losses to product liability losses and amounts allowable as a deduction that are in satisfaction of a liability under a federal or state law requiring the reclamation of land, decommissioning of a nuclear power plant, dismantlement of a drilling platform, remediation of environmental contamination, or a payment under any workers compensation act. A specified liability loss may be carried back 10 years rather than being limited to the general two-year carryback period. Prior to the enactment of this act, a specified liability loss included other liabilities that arose under federal or state law or out of any tort of the taxpayer.
- It requires certain deductible liquidating distributions of a regulated investment company or real estate investment trust to an 80% corporate owner to be included in the corporation's income.

Public Law 106-21: This act extends the tax benefits available under the Internal Revenue Code for services performed in a combat zone to members of the armed forces for services performed in the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, Albania, the Adriatic Sea, and the northern Ionian Sea.

Under the Code, all or most of military personnel's combat pay is exempt from income tax. Since North Carolina begins its calculation of taxable income with federal taxable income, the pay is also exempt from State income tax.

The Code also extends the time military personnel and those serving in support of the military personnel have to file and pay their taxes. The extension applies to those individuals within the "qualified hazardous duty area" and to those individuals supporting Operation Allied Force who are away from their permanent duty stations but are not within the designated combat zone. The extension lasts until 180 days after taxpayers leave the combat zone or their supporting operation, plus the number of days they were there during the tax filing season after the air strikes began on March 24, 1999. The tax relief provisions also apply during any period of hospitalization resulting from injuries or illness incurred while serving in the combat zone. During the extension, affected taxpayers will not accrue any interest or penalty charges and the IRS will not pursue any tax enforcement action. Likewise, G.S. 105-249.2 prohibits the Secretary of Revenue from assessing interest or a penalty against a taxpayer for any period that is disregarded for federal income tax purposes.

Conform Criminal Deadline to Federal: The proposed committee substitute incorporates House Bill 1197. It is a Class 1 misdemeanor to willfully fail to collect, withhold, or pay over taxes or to willfully fail to file a return or pay the tax due. Under North Carolina law, the State has 3 years from the date of the violation to prosecute the taxpayer that violated the tax law. Under federal law, the IRS has 6 years from the date of the prosecution to pursue the violation. Sections 2 and 3 conform the State statute of limitations to the federal statute of limitations by extending the time the State has to pursue a violation of the tax laws from 3 years to 6 years.

BACKGROUND: Since the State corporate income tax was changed to a percentage of federal taxable income in 1967, the reference date to the Internal Revenue Code has been updated periodically. In discussing bills to update the Code reference, the question frequently arises as to why the statutes refer to the Code on a particular date instead of referring to the Code and any future amendments to it, thereby eliminating the necessity of bills like this one. The answer to the question lies in both a policy decision and a potential legal restraint.

First, the policy reason for specifying a particular date is that, in light of the many changes made in federal tax law from year to year, the State may not want to adopt automatically federal changes, particularly when these changes result in large revenue losses. By pinning references to the Code to a certain date, the State ensures that it can examine any federal changes before making the changes effective for the State.

Secondly, and more importantly, however, the North Carolina Constitution imposes an obstacle to a statute that automatically adopts any changes in federal tax law. Article V, Section 2(1) of the Constitution provides in pertinent part that the "power of taxation ... shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away." Relying on this provision, the North Carolina court decisions on delegation of legislative power to administrative agencies, and an analysis of the few federal cases on this issue, the Attorney General's Office concluded in a memorandum issued in 1977 to the Director of the Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue that a "statute which adopts by reference future amendments to the Internal Revenue Code would ... be invalidated as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
Since the General Assembly last updated its reference to the Internal Revenue Code, Congress passed the Tax and Trade Relief Extension Act of 1998 (P.L. 105-277) and a proposal relating to tax relief for personnel in the Kosovo conflict (P.L. 106-21). The chart on the next page lists the major items that impact the North Carolina income tax code. National tax estimates were made by the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation. North Carolina's share of the revenue loss was determined by dividing N. C. actual tax collections by national tax collections.

SENATE BILL 56:
Sunset/Term of Energy Savings Contracts

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Lee
Date:	June 10, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	3rd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 56 extends the maximum term of a guaranteed energy savings contract from 8 years to 12 years. The bill also repeals the sunset date of July 1, 1999, so that local government units may enter into these contracts, and finance them through installment purchase and lease-purchase agreements, after July 1, 1999. The bill becomes effective July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: In 1991, the General Assembly enacted legislation to allow local units of government, including community colleges and school boards, to enter into a guaranteed energy savings contract. A guaranteed energy savings contract is a contract for the evaluation, recommendation, or implementation of energy conservation measures in which the energy savings from the measures are guaranteed to exceed their costs. The term "energy savings measures" means a facility alteration or training related to the operation of the facility that reduces energy consumption or operating costs. Examples of energy savings measures include insulation, storm windows and doors, automatic energy control systems, heating and air conditioning modifications, etc.

A local governmental unit may enter into a guaranteed energy savings contract if all of the following conditions are met:

- The term of the contract does not exceed eight years from the date of installation and acceptance of the energy conservation measures provided for in the contract.
- The energy savings will equal or exceed the total cost of the contract.
- The energy conservation measures are for an existing building.

A local government unit may finance the acquisition, installation, or maintenance of energy conservation measures by installment or lease-purchase contracts. Once a contract is awarded, the contract and its terms must be reported to the Local Government Commission. The Local Government Commission compiles this information and reports it to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations. In 1995, the General Assembly extended a local government's authority to enter into guaranteed energy savings contracts for an additional two years until July 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 56 increases the maximum term of a guaranteed energy savings contract from 8 years to 12 years. It also repeals the sunset so that local governments may enter into guaranteed energy savings contracts, and finance them through installment purchase agreements, after July 1 of this year. The bill also makes clarifying and stylistic changes to the law.

PROPOSED
SELF-LIQUIDATING CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROJECTS

The University of North Carolina

May 24, 1999

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA
CAPITAL PROJECTS TO BE FUNDED FROM NON-APPROPRIATED SOURCES

The proposed legislation provides for thirty-two self-liquidating capital improvements projects at eleven constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina. A description of each project follows:

Appalachian State University

Athletic Facilities, $6,241,500
The project would provide for the construction of a 20,000 square-foot indoor swimming complex with a 25-meter pool. As a part of the project, the University's existing swimming pool would be renovated; however, the existing pool is over 30 years old and is not large enough to meet current instructional and recreational demands. The project further provides for the construction of four new outdoor athletic fields to provide facilities for intramural athletics. The project would be financed through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from a new debt service fee of $25 annually.

Improvements to Student Residence Facilities, $9,417,000
The project provides for a variety of improvements in eight student residence halls constructed prior to 1980. The University proposes to systematically replace roofs, windows, doors, security systems, floor coverings, and fixed equipment in all of the residence halls. The University further plans to upgrade plumbing, electrical and data systems in several of the residence halls. The project also provides for upgrades to the emergency controls and power sources for residence hall elevators. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from residence hall receipts. It is estimated that room charges will increase by $55 per semester to finance the debt repayment.

Central Campus Parking Deck, $9,169,400
A parking study conducted in 1995 identified the loss of more than 700 parking spaces as a result of the construction of new facilities on the ASU campus. This loss, combined with an already existing shortage of parking facilities, requires that the University construct additional parking. The project provides for the construction of a 5-level structure located near the new Convocation Center. The structure would serve the parking needs of the campus population and would also provide parking facilities for participants attending events at the Center. The parking deck would contain 1200 square feet of office space for the traffic and parking operations department. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from parking receipts. It is estimated that parking registration fees would increase by $50 to finance the repayment of the bonds. In addition, participants in events at the Convocation Center would pay for parking.

Plemmons Student Union Interior/Exterior Renovations, $4,046,700
The project provides for the addition of 20,000 square feet of space to the Plemmons Student Union as well as the renovation of approximately 10,000 square feet of space in the student union building. The added space would provide student areas and an informal eating area. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from a new debt service fee of $15 annually.

Bookstore Renovations, $2,250,000
The University has previously received authorization to construct an addition to the campus bookstore and now seeks authority for the renovation of the existing 22,528 square-foot bookstore when the addition is completed. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from bookstore receipts.

East Carolina University

Materials Warehouse, $2,900,300
The project would provide for the relocation of the University's warehouse facility to a location remote from the main academic campus, freeing space on campus for instructional activities. The new warehouse would contain approximately 35,000 square feet of space and would be constructed on University property located between the main campus and the School of Medicine. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from overhead receipts and departmental charges.

Jones Hall Renovations and College Hill Central Chiller Plant, $18,544,200

These projects represent the next phase of a long-term plan to upgrade and expand the quality of student services in the College Hill area of the campus. Jones Hall, a residence hall constructed in 1958, would be renovated to meet current life safety and accessibility standards. The renovations would include the replacement of the facility's mechanical systems to achieve improved environmental control as well as aesthetic renovations to both the interior and the exterior of the facility. The former cafeteria in Jones Hall would be renovated and expanded to provide an attractive alcohol-free late night entertainment alternative for students. The facility would include a juice and dessert bar and fitness center. The chiller to be installed to support this project would be located in a new facility that would provide the start of a centralized loop system for this area of campus. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from a combination of residence hall receipts and food service receipts.

Strength and Conditioning Center, $8,587,000

In 1998, the General Assembly provided $2,000,000 for planning a Strength and Conditioning Center at ECU. The total project is estimated to cost $10,587,000 and the University requests authority to complete the financing for the facility from non-appropriated funds. The facility would be located between the stadium and the coliseum. It would serve as an athletic training and tutoring facility and would include a banquet hall capable of accommodating 500 people. Funds for this project would be privately raised by the East Carolina University Educational Foundation, Inc. Short-term bank financing may be required.

Elizabeth City State University

Renovation of Residence Halls, $2,050,000

The project provides for the first phase of renovations to six campus residence halls. Renovations would include upgrades to electrical and plumbing systems, the installation of new HVAC systems, and improvements to meet life safety requirements. The University proposes to finance the project through the issuance of revenue bonds to be repaid from residence hall receipts.

North Carolina A&T State University

Williams Cafeteria Renovation and Expansion, $8,579,100
The project would provide for the renovation and expansion of Williams Cafeteria, constructed in 1974. The project includes replacement of the HVAC, electrical, and plumbing systems; window replacement; and roof replacement. The 25,000 square foot expansion would provide for more diverse dining alternatives and would increase seating capacity by 750 seats. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from food service receipts.

North Carolina State University

Central Stores Surplus Warehouse Expansion, $4,185,400
The project would provide for the construction of a 60,000 square-foot addition to the existing 39,000 square-foot University warehouse. Increasing remote storage capacity would allow for better utilization of core academic space. The University proposes to finance the project through indebtedness to be repaid from storage rental income.

Academic and Practice Facility, $22,071,100
The project would provide for a new 187,000 square-foot facility with training and academic areas for student athletes. Included in the facility would be study areas, tutoring spaces, computer labs, classrooms, reception areas, practice and training courts, team areas and coaches offices. Existing facilities are inadequate and do not meet the Athletics' Department needs for study, practice and training areas. The University proposes to finance the facility through gifts to the athletics department.

East Campus Dining Facility, $3,134,800
Currently, the main dining facility on the NCSU campus is located on the western end of the campus and serves several nearby residence halls. The University now proposes to construct a dining facility to serve the east end on the campus. The project would provide for the conversion of the recently vacated student infirmary into a student dining facility with a 225-seat dining capacity. The project would include upgrades to the building systems. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from food service receipts.

The University of North Carolina at Asheville

New Residence Hall, $5,699,700
The project would provide for the construction of a new residence hall as the University begins to replace several existing residence halls that were built in the 1960s. It is more cost effective to replace these facilities than to attempt to renovate them to meet current standards. The residence hall would contain approximately 100 beds. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from housing receipts.

North Carolina Center for Creative Retirement, $3,471,600
The Center for Creative Retirement has received grants, gifts and other receipts to finance the construction of a new 16,000 square-foot building to house the Center's activities. The facility would include classrooms, meeting rooms and administrative offices to create a learning environment for lifelong learning for retired individuals.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Teaching Research Building – School of Public Health, $25,598,300
The project would provide for the construction of a 90,000 square-foot building with instructional facilities, research laboratories, offices, and support spaces for the School of Public Health. The building would be located south of the School's existing facilities in Rosenau Hall. The new building is needed for the School to continue the research that has led it to national prominence. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from overhead receipts and other non-appropriated departmental funds.

Addition to Carrington Hall – School of Nursing, $7,904,000
This project provides for a 39,000 square-foot addition to Carrington Hall to meet the teaching and research needs of the School of Nursing. The six-floor addition would include an auditorium, computer laboratories, and teaching laboratories. Course offerings in Nursing have tripled since the original facility was constructed in 1969. A commensurate increase in the number of students served along with new technologies has necessitated the need to expand and modernize. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from overhead receipts and other non-appropriated departmental funds.

Residence Halls for 1,000 Students, $42,067,500
The last residence hall constructed on the UNC-CH campus was completed in 1986. The University is now anticipating increased enrollment, more of the students want to live on campus, and the need exists to diversify the types of residence halls on campus. The project would provide for the construction of several low-rise residence halls housing 250 to 400 students each. The buildings would be located on the south end of campus proximate to the existing high-rise residence halls. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from residence hall receipts.

Medical School Office Building, $33,677,000
The project provides for the construction of a 150,000 square-foot facility to house clinical faculty and staff, freeing up needed wet laboratory research space elsewhere on the health affairs campus. The six-story building would be located on the south side of Mason Farm Road. Two structures currently on the site would be demolished to accommodate this new structure. The building would include a 125-seat auditorium and a snack bar. Offices and conference rooms would be constructed using open architecture. The University proposes to finance the project from a combination of balances available in accounts of the University and the UNC Health Care System as well as borrowing to be repaid from overhead receipts and other non-appropriated departmental receipts.

Acquisition of Chapel Hill North Office Building, $6,200,000
The University is currently leasing this facility from the Endowment Fund of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and proposes to now acquire this 50,400 square-foot facility. The building is currently fully occupied by activities that were formerly leasing commercial space throughout the towns of Chapel Hill and Carrboro. The project would be financed through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from charges to building occupants.

Airport Drive Office Building, $7,005,200
The University plans to lease land on Airport Road to The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Foundation, Inc., for the period required for the Foundation to construct a 60,000 square-foot, three-story office building. When the facility is completed, the lease would expire and the University would acquire the facility from the Foundation. The University proposes to finance the acquisition through indebtedness to be repaid from charges to building occupants.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Bookstore, $4,099,200
The project would provide for the construction of a 25,000 square-foot bookstore to serve the UNC-Charlotte campus. The present bookstore was constructed in 1980 and does not adequately meet the needs of the current campus population. The new facility would be located close to parking facilities. The University proposes to finance the project from a combination of funds available in bookstore accounts and borrowing to be repaid from bookstore receipts.

Cone Center Renovations, $4,473,400
The N.C. Department of Insurance has determined that no further renovations are to be undertaken at the Cone Center until building code deficiencies are addressed in this building, a portion of which was constructed in 1962. The project would provide for the correction of the identified deficiencies as well as improvements to student government offices, student lounges, and the food court/cafeteria. The project would also provide for exterior renovation of the older section of the building to include larger windows, greater insulation and aesthetic improvements. The University proposes to finance the project from a combination of balances available in institutional accounts and borrowing to be repaid from a new debt service fee of $10 annually.

Parking Deck 'F', $8,223,400
The project would provide for the construction of an 800-space parking deck to meet the current demand for on-campus parking. The University's master plan identifies the need for multi-level parking structures located close to facilities and buffered by landscaping. The project would be financed by a combination of balances available in parking system accounts and borrowing to be paid from parking fees. A $5 increase in parking fees was approved in March of 1999. Similar increases are planned for the next two years.

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro

High-Rise Residence Hall Roof Replacements, $737,500
The project provides for the replacement of 126,200 square-feet of membrane type roofs on four high-rise residence halls. The project includes the installation of new insulation and roof drains, and restoration of parapet walls and top coping. The University proposes to finance the project through borrowing to be repaid from residence hall receipts.

Residence Hall Data Wiring and Electrical Renovations, $4,525,000
The project provides for the University's share of funds needed to install data and telephone wiring in each room in fourteen of the University's residence halls. Six of the residence halls would also receive dropped ceilings and softer lighting in the hallways. The project also provides for the complete electrical renovation of two residence halls, Weil and Winfield, including replacement of electrical service, panels, outlets, wiring, lighting and fire alarm systems. The University proposes to finance the project from borrowing to be repaid from housing and dining system revenues.

Elliott University Center Renewal and Bookstore/Food Court Addition, $22,000,000
The project provides for a 51,100 square-foot addition to the Elliott University Center to include a bookstore, dining facilities, and an auditorium. The project also provides for renovation of the existing 118,600 square-foot facility to provide flexible high quality space capable of supporting social, cultural and recreational needs of the students. Building systems would be upgraded to support a higher intensity of use. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from bookstore revenues, dining revenues, and a new student fee of $120 annually.

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington

Housing for 200 Students, $8,043,900
The project provides for the construction of 51,500 square-feet of housing for on-campus students. Currently, the demand for on-campus housing exceeds capacity by more than 100% and continued undergraduate enrollment growth at this campus will exacerbate this situation. The University proposes to finance the project from a combination of balances available in housing reserves and through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from housing receipts.

University Union Addition and Renovation, $7,615,000
The project provides for the addition of 41,200 square feet and the renovation of 54,300 square feet to the University Union to provide adequate space for student activities, dining, and bookstore sales. The University proposes to finance the project from a combination of balances available in institutional accounts and borrowing to be repaid from existing student fees along with dining and bookstore receipts.

Western Carolina University

Hinds University Center Addition, $4,904,200
Because WCU is located in a rural community, it lacks the off-campus amenities to which college-age students are attracted. The project provides for an addition to the Hinds University Center to accommodate increased student activities. The two-story, 31,400 square-foot addition would contain meeting spaces, lounge areas, a movie theater, post office, retail space and computer stations. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from a new debt service fee of $65 annually.

New Student Housing (300 Beds), $14,480,600
The project provides for construction of a new residence hall with 75 residential suites serving four students each with shared living and bathroom facilities. The facility would contain 96,300 square feet of space and would include a lobby, laundry areas, housekeeping areas, offices, vending areas, and an apartment for a manager. The University proposes to finance the project through the sale of revenue bonds to be repaid from housing receipts. It is anticipated that room rates would increase by $145 per semester.

Housing for Students with Families (20 Units), $1,476,300
The project would provide for the construction of an apartment complex to accommodate the ever-growing number of students who have children and wish to live in campus housing. The complex would consist of five, four-plex, two bedroom apartment buildings. The University proposes to finance the project from borrowing to be repaid from rents charged to occupants of the housing units.

Section 2. Article 2 of Chapter 96 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 96-6.1. Training and reemployment contribution.

(a) Contribution. -- A mandatory training and reemployment contribution is levied upon employers at the rate of twenty percent (20%) of the amount of unemployment insurance contributions due under G.S. 96-9. The purpose of the training and reemployment contribution is to provide funds for Department of Community College training programs, Employment Security Commission reemployment services, administration and collection of the new contribution, and other needs of the State. The training and reemployment contribution is due and payable at the time and in the same manner as the unemployment insurance contributions under G.S. 96-9. The training and reemployment contribution does not apply in a calendar year if, as of August 1 of the preceding year, the amount in the Unemployment Insurance Fund equals or is less than eight hundred million dollars ($800,000,000). The collection of the training and reemployment contribution, the assessment of interest and penalties on unpaid contributions under this section, the filing of judgment liens, and the enforcement of the liens for unpaid contributions under this section are governed by the provisions of G.S. 96-10 where applicable.

Training and reemployment contributions collected under this section shall be credited to the Employment Security Commission Training and Employment Account created in this section, and refunds of these contributions shall be paid from the same account. Any interest or penalties collected on unpaid contributions under this section shall be credited to the Special Employment Security Administration Fund, and any interest or penalties refunded on contributions imposed by this section shall be paid from the same Fund.

(b) Training and Employment Account. -- There is created in the State treasury a special account separate and apart from all other public moneys or funds of this State, to be known as the Employment Security Commission Training and Employment Account. The State Treasurer is ex officio the treasurer and custodian of the Account and shall invest its funds in accordance with law. Any interest or other income derived from the Account shall be credited to the Account. Funds in the Account may be spent only pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly and in accordance with the line item budget enacted by the General Assembly. The Account is subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act, except that no unexpended surplus of the Account shall revert to the General Fund. Funds appropriated from the Account that are unexpended and unencumbered at the end of the fiscal year for which they were appropriated shall revert to the credit of the Account in the State treasury in accordance with G.S. 143-18.

It is the intent of the General Assembly that eighty percent (80%) of the funds in the Account shall be appropriated annually to the Department of Community Colleges to be used for nonrecurring expenditures to provide worker training through improved continuing education, acquisition of modern training equipment, operation of specialized training centers, enhancement of small business center training, expansion of training for new and expanding industries, incentive grants for incumbent worker training programs funded by the Worker Training Trust Fund, and other programs of the Department of Community Colleges. It is the intent of the General Assembly that twenty percent (20%) of the funds in the Account shall be appropriated annually to the Employment Security Commission for administration and collection of the training and reemployment contribution and for nonrecurring expenditures for reemployment services."

Section 3. G.S. 96-9(c)(4)b. reads as rewritten:

"b. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, if the successor employer was an employer subject to this Chapter prior to the date of acquisition of the business, ~~his~~ the successor's rate of contribution for the period from ~~such~~ that date to the end of the then current contribution year shall be the same as ~~his~~ the successor's rate in effect on the date of ~~such~~ the acquisition. If the successor was not an employer prior to the date of the acquisition of the ~~business he~~ business, the successor shall be assigned a standard rate of contribution set forth in G.S. 96-9(b)(1) for the remainder of the year in which ~~he~~ the successor acquired the business of the predecessor; however, if ~~such~~ the successor makes application for the transfer of the account within 60 days after notification by the Commission of ~~his~~ the right to do so and the account is transferred, or meets the requirements for mandatory transfer, ~~he~~ the successor shall be assigned for the remainder of ~~such~~ the year the rate applicable to the predecessor employer or employers on the date of acquisition of the business, ~~provided~~ if there was only one predecessor or if more than one and the predecessors had identical rates. In the event the rates of the predecessor were not identical, the rate of the successor shall be the highest rate applicable to any of the predecessor employers on the date of acquisition of the business.

Irrespective of any other provisions of this Chapter, when an account is transferred in its entirety by an employer to a successor, ~~the transferring employer shall thereafter pay the standard rate of contributions of two and seven-tenths percent (2.7%) and shall continue to pay at such rate until he qualifies for a reduction, reacquires the account he transferred or acquires the experience rating account of another employer, or is subject to an increase in rate under the conditions prescribed in G.S. 96-9(b)(2) and (3). However, when an account is transferred in its entirety by an employer to a successor on or after January 1, 1987,~~ the transferring employer shall thereafter pay the standard beginning rate of contributions ~~of two and twenty-five~~

~~hundredths percent (2.25%)~~ provided in G.S. 96-9(b)(1) and shall continue to pay at ~~such~~ that rate until ~~he~~ the employer qualifies for a reduction, reacquires the account ~~he transferred or~~ transferred, acquires the experience rating account of another employer, or is subject to an increase in rate under the conditions prescribed in G.S. 96-9(b)(2) and (3)."

Section 4. G.S. 96-9(b)(1) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Rate of Contributions. --

(1) Beginning Rate. -- The standard beginning rate of contributions for an employer is a percentage of wages paid by the employer during a calendar year for employment occurring during that year. The rate is determined in accordance with the following table:

Percentage	Date After Which Employment Occurs
2.25%	December 31, 1986
1.8	December 31, 1993
1.2	December 31, 1995
1.0	December 31, 1999"

Section 5. G.S. 96-9(b)(3) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"d5. The standard contribution rate set by subdivision (b)(1) of this section applies to an employer unless the employer's account has a credit balance. Beginning January 1, 1999, the contribution rate of an employer whose account has a credit balance is determined in accordance with the rate set in the following Experience Rating Formula table for the applicable rate schedule. The contribution rate of an employer whose contribution rate is determined by this Experience Rating Formula table shall be reduced by fifty percent (50%) for any year in which the balance in the Unemployment Insurance Fund equals or exceeds eight hundred million dollars ($800,000,000) on the computation date and the fund ratio determined on that date is less than five percent (5%) and shall be reduced by sixty percent (60%) for any year in which the balance in the Unemployment Insurance Fund equals or exceeds eight hundred million dollars ($800,000,000) on the computation date, and the fund ratio determined on that date is five percent (5%) or more.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

(1) Zero ESC Tax. As of April 30 1999, the balance in the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund stood at $1.22 billion. In addition, a reserve fund contains an additional $200 million, due to the Fund's solvency and North Carolina's low unemployment rate, the Employment Security Commission (ESC) recommends a zero tax rate for an additional group of employers with a credit ratio. A credit ratio means that an employer has paid in more money to the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund than has been deducted from its account for UI benefits paid to employees. ESC estimates that this bill will reduce unemployment insurance taxes for 10,000 employers with a 4% credit ratio in 1999. With an additional 6,400 employers reaching the 4% credit ratio each year, ESC estimates that 38,000 employers will benefit from this zero tax rate by 2004.

(2) UI tax cut. ESC provided estimates of the impact for the 2000 and 2001 calendar years. Based on technical discussions between ESC and FRD, an estimate of $68.7 million for 2000 and $73.4 million for 2001 was used. This estimate is about 10% lower than the original ESC projections and does not include interest earnings. A 6.9% growth rate was used to convert 2000 to 2001 liability.

The calendar year estimates were converted to a fiscal year basis by taking into account the one-quarter tax collection lag (taxes accrued on January-March earnings are collected in April) and the fact that historically about 40% of annual taxes are collected for the first quarter liability.

HOUSE BILL 275:
Zero ESC Tax/Training Contribution

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Redwine
Date:	June 11, 1999	Summary by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	Third Edition on Concurrence		Bill Drafting

SUMMARY: This bill, which is back in the House for concurrence, would make the following two changes relating to unemployment insurance taxes. The first item has passed the House. The second item was added by the Senate Finance committee substitute.

1. Based on the current Experience Rating Formula table, employers who have a credit ratio of 5% and over have a 0% unemployment insurance tax rate schedule. Section 1 of House Bill 275 would change the minimum credit ratio of employers who are granted a zero tax rate from 5% to 4%, effective April 1, 1999.
2. The remainder of House Bill 275 temporarily reduces Unemployment Insurance taxes for most employers by 20% and levies a corresponding 20% contribution to be used for enhanced reemployment services and worker training programs, effective January 1, 2000. These changes would sunset in two years.

Section 1: Under current law, employers having a 5% or greater credit ratio pay the zero unemployment insurance tax rate. Section 1 of House Bill 275 would amend G.S. 96-9(b)d3 to grant a zero unemployment insurance tax rate to employers with a credit ratio of 4% or greater rather than the credit ratio of 5% or greater required by current law. The credit ratio is the ratio of an employer's credit balance in the Unemployment Insurance (UI) Fund relative to the employer's payroll. The UI Fund is maintained by the U.S. Treasury and funded by the State unemployment insurance tax. Section 1 of House Bill 275 is effective with respect to calendar quarters beginning on or after April 1, 1999.

According to information provided by the ESC, this change is recommended due to the solvency of North Carolina's UI Fund and the increasing stability of labor markets. ESC estimates this change would affect over 10,000 employers, with a tax savings to employers of over $1,000,000 in the first year.

Sections 2 through 6: Sections 2 through 6 of House Bill 275 would reduce the unemployment insurance taxes employers pay to the Employment Security Commission. The reduction would be 20% for most employers, slightly less for new employers, and less for 3,400 or so employers with a high debit ratio. Those employers who pay at a zero tax rate would not be affected. These sections of the bill would also levy a new tax equal to 20% of each employer's unemployment insurance tax. The tax is called a "training and reemployment contribution." When the UI tax reduction and the new contribution are netted, most employers will pay the same or slightly less under these sections of the bill. For the 3,400 high debit ratio employers, there will be a net increase, ranging from about $13 to $106 per employee per year. Employers who pay unemployment insurance taxes at a zero tax rate would not be affected.

Sections 2 through 6 of House Bill 275 would become effective January 1, 2000, and sunset January 1, 2002. The new contribution would also automatically sunset if a reduction in the balance in the federal Unemployment Trust Fund triggers a doubling of the unemployment insurance tax rates.

The new contribution would be credited to a non-reverting account subject to appropriation by the General Assembly. The account is called the "Employment Security Commission Training and Employment Account." The bill states the intent of the General Assembly that 4/5 of the proceeds would be appropriated annually from the account to the Department of Community Colleges for nonrecurring expenditures for various worker training programs. The bill states the intent of the General Assembly that the remaining 1/5 of the proceeds would be appropriated annually from the account to the Employment Security Commission for the costs of collecting and administering the new contribution, and for nonrecurring expenditures for enhanced reemployment services.

Unemployment insurance taxes are paid by employers on a quarterly basis and deposited into the State Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. After deducting any refunds payable from the Fund pursuant to G.S. 96-10(f), the money is deposited with the secretary of the treasury of the United States to the credit of this State's account in the Unemployment Trust Fund. Funds in the State's account earn interest that is also credited to the account. As money in the State's account is needed to pay benefits, it is transferred to the State and credited to the benefits account of the State's Unemployment Insurance Fund to be used to pay benefits to people who lose their job through no fault of their own. Federal law prohibits transfer of or payment of refunds from money in the Trust Fund.

The General Assembly reduced unemployment insurance tax rates in recent years because the balance in the federal trust fund was higher than needed to pay benefits. The tax rates will automatically double when the trust fund balance falls below $800 million. By reducing the unemployment insurance tax rates by 20% for two years, Sections 2 through 6 of this bill could cause the balance in the trust fund to fall faster, triggering an automatic tax increase earlier than might otherwise occur. On the other hand, it is hoped that the enhanced reemployment services funded by the new contribution would shorten the average period before a worker is reemployed, thereby reducing benefit payments for the trust fund. The new contribution would sunset automatically if an unemployment insurance tax increase were triggered by a drop in the trust fund balance.

Legislative History: Since 1992, the General Assembly has enacted the following legislation to reduce the amount of money in the Unemployment Insurance Fund:

- 1992 - suspended the 20% surcharge on unemployment taxes.
- 1993 - cut unemployment taxes for positive rated employers by an average of 30% for any calendar year in which the balance in the Fund equals or exceeds $800,000,000.

- 1994 - cut the unemployment taxes for positive rated employers by an average of 38.7% and cut the unemployment taxes for new employers by 20%.
- 1995 - cut the unemployment taxes for positive rated employers by an average of 23%, set a zero rate for employers with credit ratios of 5.0 or over, and reduced from 60% to 50% the percentage of annual average wages used to calculate the taxable wage base.
- 1996 - reduced unemployment taxes in three ways by (1) assigning a one-year zero unemployment insurance tax rate for all positive rated employers, (2) giving overdrawn employers additional time to make contributions to their accounts so that they may qualify for the zero tax rate in 1996, and (3) permanently reducing the tax rate for new employers from 1.8% to 1.2%.

It also assumes that the IUR is 1.6 percent in 2000. All other features of current law and all economic assumptions are the same as in the baseline forecast.

HOUSE BILL 1479

Short Title: Newsprint Tax Credit Change. (Public)

Sponsors: Representative Miller.

Referred to: Finance.

May 13, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE NEWSPRINT RECYCLING TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-102.6 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-102.6. (Effective July 1, 1999) Publishers of newsprint publications.

(a) Purpose. -- The purpose of this section is to provide incentives for the recycling of newsprint and magazines and for the use of newsprint that contains recycled content.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Gross tonnage of newsprint consumed. -- The weight in metric tons of all newsprint consumed by a publisher.

(2) Newsprint. -- Uncoated paper, whether supercalendered or machine finished, made primarily from mechanical wood pulp combined with some chemical wood pulp, weighing between 24.5 and 35 pounds for 500 sheets of paper two feet by three feet in size, and having a brightness of less than 60.

(2a) Nonvirgin newsprint. -- Newsprint that contains recycled postconsumer recovered paper.

(3) Postconsumer recovered paper. -- Paper products, generated by a business or consumer, that have served their intended end uses and have been separated or diverted from solid waste.

(4) Publisher. -- A person engaged in the business of producing publications printed on newsprint who acquires and uses newsprint for this business.

(5) Recycled content percentage. -- The percentage by weight of the total gross tonnage of newsprint consumed by the publisher that is recycled postconsumer recovered paper. For example, if a publisher consumes 10 tons of virgin newsprint, 10 tons of nonvirgin newsprint that contains fifty percent (50%) recycled postconsumer recovered paper, and 10 tons of nonvirgin newsprint that contains ten percent (10%) recycled postconsumer recovered paper, the publisher's recycled content percentage is 6/30 or twenty percent (20%).

(6) Recycled content tonnage. -- The weight in metric tons of the total gross tonnage of newsprint consumed by the publisher that is recycled postconsumer recovered paper.

(7) Recycling. -- Any process by which solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, are collected, separated, or processed, and reused or returned to use in the form of raw materials or products.

(8) Recycling tonnage. -- The weight in metric tons of newsprint and magazines ~~that is~~ recycled or diverted to recycling by a publisher.

(9) Virgin newsprint. -- Newsprint that does not contain recycled postconsumer recovered paper.

(c) Minimum Recycled Content Percentage. -- The recycled content percentage of newsprint consumed by a publisher shall equal or exceed the following minimum recycled content percentages:

During 1991 and 1992, twelve percent (12%).
During 1993, fifteen percent (15%).
During 1994, twenty percent (20%).
During 1995 and 1996, twenty-five percent (25%).
During 1997 and 1998, thirty percent (30%).
~~During 1999 and 2000,~~ After 1998, thirty-five percent (35%).
~~After 2000, forty percent (40%).~~

A publisher who has developed and operates or contracts for the operation of a newspaper or magazine recycling program shall receive partial credit toward the recycled content percentage goals established in this subsection on the basis of ~~one-half ton~~ one ton of credit toward its total recycled content tonnage for each ton of recycling tonnage.

(d) Tax. -- Every publisher shall apply for and obtain from the Secretary a newsprint publisher tax reporting number and shall file an annual report with the Secretary by January 31 of each year. The report shall include the following information for the preceding calendar year:

(1) Tonnage of virgin newsprint consumed.
(2) Tonnage of nonvirgin newsprint consumed.
(3) Gross tonnage of newsprint consumed.
(4) Itemized percentages of recycled postconsumer recovered paper contained in tonnage of nonvirgin newsprint consumed.

(5) Recycled content tonnage.
(6) Recycled content percentage.
(7) Recycling tonnage.

In addition, each publisher whose recycled content percentage for a calendar year is less than the applicable minimum recycled content percentage provided in subsection (c) shall pay a tax of fifteen dollars ($15.00) on each ton by which the publisher's recycled content tonnage falls short of the tonnage of recycled postconsumer recovered paper needed to achieve the applicable minimum recycled content percentage provided in subsection (c). This tax is due when the report is filed. No county or city may impose a license tax on the business taxed under this section.

(e) Exemption. -- The tax levied in this section does not apply to an amount calculated pursuant to subsection (d) to the extent the amount is attributable solely to the publisher's inability to obtain sufficient recycled content newsprint because (i) recycled content newsprint was not available at a price comparable to the price of virgin newsprint; (ii) recycled content newsprint of a quality comparable to virgin newsprint was not available; or (iii) recycled content newsprint was not available within a reasonable period of time during the reporting period. In order to claim the exemption provided in this subsection, a publisher must certify to the Secretary:

(1) The amount of virgin newsprint consumed by the publisher during the reporting period solely for one of the reasons listed above.
(2) That the publisher attempted to obtain recycled content newsprint from every manufacturer of recycled content newsprint that offered to sell recycled content newsprint to the publisher within the preceding calendar year.
(3) The name, address, and telephone number of each recycled content newsprint manufacturer contacted, including the company name and the name of the company's individual representative or employee.

(f) Use of Proceeds. -- The Secretary shall, on or before April 15 of each year, credit the net proceeds of the tax imposed by this section to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund created in G.S. 130A-309.12."

Section 2. This act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 1479:
Newsprint Tax Credit Change

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miller
Date:	June 3, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1479 expands the newsprint recycling tax credit to include magazine recycling programs, increases the credit that may be received from one-half ton to one ton, and establishes the minimum recycled content percentage required to avoid the tax at 35%.

CURRENT LAW: A publisher must pay a privilege license tax of $15 for each ton of newsprint that does not have a recycled content of 35% or more. The General Assembly enacted this excise tax on newsprint in 1991. The purpose of the tax is to encourage the use of recycled newsprint by imposing a privilege license tax on those who produce publications printed on newsprint and do not use a minimum amount of recycled paper. The minimum amount of recycled paper required has increased since 1991 from 12% to 35%. The minimum amount of recycled paper that will be required after the year 2000 is 40%.

The tax rate is $15.00 for each ton of newsprint that is consumed during an annual reporting period and has an average recycled content percentage that is less than the required minimum recycled content percentage. The proceeds of the tax are earmarked for the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund. The tax does not apply if the producer can not meet the recycled content goal because of an inability to obtain newsprint made from recycled paper at a price or quality comparable to other newsprint, to acquire an amount needed for a publication, or to acquire the amount needed in a reasonable amount of time.

There is a credit that can be used towards the recycled content percentage goals for publishers who develop and operate, or contract for the operation of, a newspaper recycling program. A publisher may receive one-half ton credit toward its total recycled content tonnage for each ton of newsprint it recycles.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1479 changes the newsprint excise tax in three ways:

- It allows a publisher a credit for developing and operating a magazine recycling program as well as a newspaper recycling program.
- It allows a credit towards the recycled content percentage goals on the basis of one ton of credit for each ton of newsprint or magazines it recycles. The current law only allows one-half ton of credit for each ton of newsprint it recycles.
- It repeals the 40% recycled content goal that would have become effective after the year 2000. It permanently establishes the 35% recycled content goal currently in effect.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill extends the publisher tax credit to magazine recycling programs as well as newspaper recycling programs.

BACKGROUND:
A newspaper publisher pays a privilege tax of $15 for each ton of paper that does not have a recycled content of 35%. The publisher currently receives a half ton credit against the tax for each ton of newsprint it recycles. Publishers pay the tax when they file their annual report with the Secretary of Revenue by January 31 each year.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Department of Revenue collected only $1,180.95 from 86 publishers in 1998. Adding magazines to the formula to determine the tax credit will reduce the amount of tax paid. However, the reduction cannot be calculated due to lack of data. The N.C. Recycling Association could not provide data on the amount of magazines that might be recycled each year.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT CHANGING THE METHOD OF CALCULATING THE RATIO OF PROPERTY TAX COLLECTIONS TO THE TOTAL LEVY FOR LOCAL GOVERNMENT BUDGETING PURPOSES RELATING TO THE REGISTERED MOTOR VEHICLE TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 159-13(b)(6) reads as rewritten:

"(b) The following directions and limitations shall bind the governing board in adopting the budget ordinance:

(6) The estimated percentage of collection of property taxes shall not be greater than the percentage of the levy actually realized in cash as of June 30 during the preceding fiscal year. For purposes of the calculation under this subdivision only, the levy for the registered motor vehicle tax under Article 22C of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes shall be based on the nine-month period ending March 31 of the preceding fiscal year, and the collections realized in cash with respect to this levy shall be based on the twelve-month period ending June 30 of the preceding fiscal year."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to budget ordinances adopted after July 1, 1999.

SENATE BILL 484:
RMV Tax Budgeting

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Clodfelter
Date:	June 16, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 484 changes the method for calculating the ratio of property tax collections to the total levy for local government budgeting purposes by taking into consideration the time frame necessary to collect on a registered motor vehicle (RMV) tax bill. The proposed change should result in a more accurate estimate of the property tax collection ratio for budgeting purposes. The act would apply to budget ordinances adopted after July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: Each year local governments submit a budget for raising and spending money during a fiscal year. The governing board then adopts a budget ordinance not later than July 1. The ordinance sets out the appropriation of revenues and the levying of taxes for the budget year. In adopting the budget ordinance, the governing board must not estimate the percentage of property tax collection to be greater than the percentage actually realized in cash as of June 30 during the preceding fiscal year. When calculating this percentage, the local government is better able to estimate the collection of tax on non-motor vehicle property than on motor vehicles. This is because of the difference between the dates on which the property tax is due. For example, most motor vehicle taxes are due and collected on a staggered term, i.e. the date of registration. This means that taxes become due on vehicles each month. A significant number of these bills are paid over a three-month period. All other property taxes are due on September 1, and are considered delinquent after January 6. Therefore the local government has a good idea of their actual collection rate for property taxes on property other than motor vehicles because they have from January 6 until July 1 to collect these delinquent taxes.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 484 modifies the calculation for the estimated percentage of collection of property taxes by allowing the levy for the motor vehicle tax to be based on a nine-month period ending March 31. This would give the local governments additional time to collect the motor vehicle tax before the collection rate becomes final on June 30.

Current Formula: 12 months of collection divided by 12 months of billing Proposed Formula: 12 months of collection on the same 9 months of bills divided by 9 months of billing.

Martha Walston, counsel to the Senate Finance Committee, contributed to this summary.

EXPENDITURES	No General Fund Impact See Assumptions and Methodology

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Local Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1999 and apply to budget ordinances for the fiscal year beginning on that date.

BILL SUMMARY: G.S. 159-13(b) provide local governments with binding directions and limitations for county annual budgets. G.S.159-13(b)(6) specifically requires that the estimated property tax collection rate used in the budget not exceed the previous fiscal year's collection rate. The previous fiscal year collection rate must be determined as of June 30. The bill allows the counties to use the proportion of motor vehicle taxes actually collected in the preceding nine months, as defined on March 31, as the proportion of motor vehicle taxes collected for budget purposes. The bill leaves the June 30 cutoff for all other property tax collection rates.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Under current law taxes on all taxable property, except motor vehicles on the staggered system, are due on September 1. These taxes can be paid without penalty before January 6. After January 6th the taxes are considered delinquent. As such, there is a four-month lag between when non-motor vehicle taxes are due and when they become delinquent. The county is not required to set their collection rate until June 30. Thus, there is a significant lag between when taxes are due and when the counties determine that actual collection rate for the fiscal year.

Most motor vehicle taxes are due and collected on a staggered term. These taxes are due on the date of registration, and not the fiscal or calendar year, under current law. As such, taxes become due on vehicles each and every month.

By modifying the June 30 collection rate to reflect only the taxes due before March 31, the bill allows the county additional time to pursue some of the remedies they would use on other property tax delinquencies before their collection rates become final.

This bill, in and of itself, makes no changes to the tax imposed, the date the taxes are due, or the remedies local governments can use to pursue delinquencies. It would also have no direct impact on how much revenue the county might generate. It only impacts at what point in time the county takes a "snapshot" of their motor vehicle tax collections, for purposes of setting their upcoming year revenue availability. No change in actual collections is expected as a result of the bill.

Because the bill deals exclusively with property taxes, there is no fiscal impact to the state. The bill should not have an impact on revenues at the local level, as it makes no change to the tax law itself. It only alters the day on which the county may take a "snapshot" of its fiscal year revenue for budgeting purposes. As a result of this shift in the snapshot date, and the extra time it allows for collection of delinquent bills before the rate is set, the bill may allow counties to use a higher property tax collection rate when determining their budget for the coming fiscal year. For example, a county may have a 90% collection rate for motor vehicles on March 31. Many of the unpaid amounts are likely to be only one or two month delinquent. By allowing the county additional time before the snapshot is taken, the county may be able to employ more of their usual collection tactics before the snapshot. This could raise their vehicle collection rate to 95%. The counties would normally employ these collection methods even after the March deadline. However, this would allow the counties to count the additional revenue collected towards their collection ratio. In the example above, the county's budget could now legally reflect a 95% collection rate on vehicles, instead of the 90% rate. This allows them more availability for budgeting purposes. It does not, however, actually increase overall revenues.

Section 2. The annexation of the property described in Section 1 is subject to the following conditions:

(1) The property is annexed as agricultural, horticultural, or forestland that is being taxed at present-use land value pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4, and the Pitt County Tax Assessor certifies to the Town that the land meets this requirement. Upon request for certification or upon any change in the certification, the assessor shall determine within 30 days whether the land meets the requirements and report the results to the Town.

(2) The annexation shall become effective September 1, 1999, and the property shall be considered a part of the Town only for purposes of establishing Town boundaries for additional annexations pursuant to Article 4A of the General Statutes and for the exercise of the Town's extraterritorial jurisdiction under Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes. For all other purposes, the annexation shall not become effective until the last day of the month in which the tract or part thereof becomes ineligible for present-use value classification pursuant to G.S. 105-227.4 or no longer meets the requirements specified above.

(3) Until annexation becomes effective, the property shall not be entitled to services from the Town and shall not be subject to Town taxes. After annexation becomes effective, no back tax payments shall be required as a result of a change from present-use value.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 794:
Farmville Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Warren
Date:	June 17, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bil 794 would allow Farmville to annex property subject to present use value classification to the town limits effective September 1, 1999. However, the property would be considered part of the Town's limits only for the purposes of establishng Town boundaries for additional annexations and for the exercise of the Town's extraterritorial jurisdiction. For purposes of paying Town taxes and receiving Town services, the annexation would not become effective until the property becomes ineligible for present use value classification. The act becomes effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: The law provides that a municipality may annex by ordinance any area contiguous to its boundaries upon presentation to the governing board of a petition signed by the owners of all the real property located in the area. The annexation must become effective within six months from the date of the passage of the ordinance. From and after the effective date of the ordinance, the property becomes subject to municipal taxes and the municipality must offer the area the same privileges and benefits as other parts of the municipality receive.

A municipality may annex property that is not contiguous with its primary corporate limits if five different standards are met. Two of the five standards concern the proximity of the property proposed to be annexed to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. One of the five standards provides that the area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, does not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

A municipality may annex property involuntarily if several different requirements are met. One of the requirements concerns the location of the property in relationship to the municipality's existing corporate boundaries: the area proposed to be annexed must be adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries and at least 1/8 of the aggregate external boundaries of the area must coincide with the municipal boundary.

Article 19 of the Chapter 160A of the General Statutes allows a municipality to enact zoning restrictions within its corporate limits. In addition, any municipality may exercise these same powers within a defined area extending not more than one mile beyond its limits. This is commonly known as the municipality's extraterritorial jurisdiction (ETJ). With the approval of the board of county commissioners, a municipality with a population greater than 10,000 but less than 25,000 may expand its ETJ to two miles beyond its corporate limits; a municipality with a population of 25,000 or more may expand its ETJ to three miles beyond its corporate limits.

Article V, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution authorizes the General Assembly to classify property for taxation, so long as the classification is uniform throughout the State. In 1973, the General Assembly classified agricultural land, forestland, and horticultural land as a special class of property. To come within the classification, the property must meet certain ownership, usage, and income requirements. If the property comes within the classification, it is taxed on its present-use value as opposed to its true value. Present-use value is the value of the land in its current use as farmland.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 794 would change the current law concerning the effective date of an annexation by the Town of Farmville. Under the bill, the annexed property would not be subject to municipal taxes nor would it be entitled to municipal service until the property no longer qualifies for present use value classification. However, the property would be considered part of the municipality's primary corporate limits as of September 1, 1999 for purposes of establishing the Town's boundaries for additional annexations and its ETJ.

To come within the exception created by this local act, the property must be one of two types of property:

1. It must be currently classified as farmland and taxed at its present-use value.
2. It must be land that, on the date of the filing of the annexation petition, is being used for farm purposes and is eligible for the present-use value taxation except that it has not been in use for actual production for the required statutory time. The county tax assessor must certify that the land meets this requirement.

Annexation of the present-use value property described above becomes effective on the last day of the month in which the property no longer meets the above descriptions. Prior to the effective date of annexation, the boundaries of this property would be considered in establishing the primary corporate limits of Huntersville for the purposes of additional annexations and the Town's ETJ limits.

If the property in the annexation ordinance was determined to be part of the Town's corporate limits for all purposes on the date the ordinance was adopted, then the bill would probably be considered unconstitutional because it is a local classification of property for purposes of taxation. Such local, non-uniform, classifications of property are prohibited by Article V, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution. The classification that would be created by the local act is the exemption from municipal property taxes in the Town of Huntersville of present-use value property. However, if the bill was seen as creating a condition precedent to annexation, then the bill would probably withstand constitutional challenge. The condition precedent to annexation established in the bill is the taxable status of certain land – when the property currently classified as farmland no longer meets that property tax classification.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH PENALTIES FOR SELLING CARS IN VIOLATION OF THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS AND MANUFACTURERS LICENSING LAW, TO ESTABLISH EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS REQUIRED FOR ISSUANCE AND RENEWAL OF LICENSURE FOR USED MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS, AND TO INCREASE FEES.

Whereas, not only the setting of standards to protect purchasers of motor vehicles but also the enforcement of substantial penalties applicable when those standards are not met is one of the most effective means to obtain this protection; and

Whereas, more complex laws governing regulation of the sale and distribution of motor vehicles such as the titling of a vehicle, warranties, collection of consumer debt pursuant to Federal Trade Commission regulations, and applicable tax provisions impose a greater number of duties upon independent automobile dealers; and

Whereas, the most effective and consistent means of informing both applicants for licensure and experienced, licensed motor vehicle dealers of major changes and increasing complexities in the law is to develop a program insuring the development and requirement of appropriate continuing education; and

Whereas, to better effect these policies, it is necessary to increase to more appropriate levels the fees for those persons regulated by the Motor Vehicle Dealers and Manufacturers Licensing Law; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 20-287 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-287. Licenses ~~required.~~ required; penalties.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any new motor vehicle dealer, used motor vehicle dealer, motor vehicle sales representative, manufacturer, factory branch, factory representative, distributor, distributor branch, distributor representative, or wholesaler to engage in business in this State without first obtaining a license as provided in this Article. If any motor vehicle dealer acts as a motor vehicle sales representative, the dealer shall obtain a motor vehicle sales representative's license in addition to a motor vehicle dealer's license. A sales representative may have only one license. The license shall show the name of each dealer or wholesaler employing the sales representative. The following license holders may operate as a motor vehicle dealer without obtaining a motor vehicle dealer's license or paying an additional fee: a manufacturer, a factory branch, a distributor, and a distributor branch. Any of these license holders who operates as a motor vehicle dealer may sell motor vehicles at retail only at an established salesroom.

(b) Any person who violates any provision of this section shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(c) In addition to any other punishment or remedy under the law for any violation of this section, the Division may levy and collect a civil penalty, in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each violation, against any person who has obtained a license pursuant to this section, if it finds that the licensee has violated any provisions of this section or of any rules adopted by the Division relating to the sale of vehicles, vehicle titling, or vehicle registration. The Division may levy and collect a civil penalty, in an amount not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) for each violation of any provision of this section, against any person who has not obtained a license as prescribed by this section."

Section 2. G.S. 20-288 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-288. Application for license; license requirements; expiration of license; bond.

(a) A ~~person~~ new motor vehicle dealer, manufacturer, factory branch, factory representative, distributor, distributor branch, distributor representative, or wholesaler may obtain a license by filing an application with the Division. An application must be on a form provided by the Division and contain the information required by the Division. An application for a license must be accompanied by the required fee and by an application for a dealer license plate.

(a1) A used motor vehicle dealer may obtain a license by filing an application, as prescribed in subsection (a) of this section, and providing the following:

(1) The required fee.

(2) Proof that the applicant, within the last 12 months has completed a 12-hour licensing course approved by the Division if the applicant is seeking an initial license and a six-hour course approved by the Division if the applicant is seeking a renewal license. The requirements of G.S. 20-288(a1)(2) do not apply to a used motor vehicle dealer the primary business of which is the sale of salvage vehicles on behalf of insurers.

(3) If the applicant is an individual, proof that the applicant is at least 18 years of age, and proof that all salespersons employed by the dealer are at least 18 years of age.

(4) The application for a dealer license plate.

(b) The Division shall require in such application, or otherwise, information relating to matters set forth in G.S. 20-294 as grounds for the refusing of licenses, and to other pertinent matters commensurate with the safeguarding of the public interest, all of which shall be considered by the Division in determining the fitness of the applicant to engage in the business for which he seeks a license.

(c) All licenses that are granted shall expire unless sooner revoked or suspended, on June 30 of the year following date of issue.

(d) To obtain a license as a wholesaler, an applicant who intends to sell or distribute self-propelled vehicles must have an established office in this State, and an applicant who intends to sell or distribute only trailers or semitrailers of less than 2500 pounds unloaded weight must have a place of business in this State where the records required under this Article are kept.

To obtain a license as a motor vehicle dealer, an applicant who intends to deal in self-propelled vehicles must have an established salesroom in this State, and an applicant who intends to deal in only trailers or semitrailers of less than 2500 pounds unloaded weight must have a place of business in this State where the records required under this Article are kept.

An applicant for a license as a manufacturer, a factory branch, a distributor, a distributor branch, a wholesaler, or a motor vehicle dealer must have a separate license for each established office, established salesroom, or other place of business in this State. An application for any of these licenses shall include a list of the applicant's places of business in this State.

(e) Each applicant approved by the Division for license as a motor vehicle dealer, manufacturer, factory branch, distributor, distributor branch, or wholesaler shall furnish a corporate surety bond or cash bond or fixed value equivalent of the bond. The amount of the bond for an applicant for a motor vehicle dealer's license is twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for one established salesroom of the applicant and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each of the applicant's additional established salesrooms. The amount of the bond for other applicants required to furnish a bond is twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for one place of business of the applicant and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each of the applicant's additional places of business.

A corporate surety bond shall be approved by the Commissioner as to form and shall be conditioned that the obligor will faithfully conform to and abide by the provisions of this Article and Article 15. A cash bond or fixed value equivalent thereof shall be approved by the Commissioner as to form and terms of deposits as will secure the ultimate beneficiaries of the bond; and such bond shall not be available for delivery to any person contrary to the rules of the Commissioner. Any purchaser of a motor vehicle who shall have suffered any loss or damage by any act of a license holder subject to this subsection that constitutes a violation of this Article or Article 15 shall have the right to institute an action to recover against the license holder and the surety. Every license holder against whom an action is instituted shall notify the Commissioner of the action within 10 days after served with process. A corporate surety bond shall remain in force and effect and may not be canceled by the surety unless the bonded person stops engaging in business or the person's license is denied, suspended, or revoked under G.S. 20-294. Such cancellation may be had only upon 30 days' written notice to the Commissioner and shall not affect any liability incurred or accrued prior to the termination of such 30-day period. This subsection does not apply to a license holder who deals only in trailers having an empty weight of 4,000 pounds or less. This subsection does not apply to manufacturers of, or dealers in, mobile or manufactured homes who furnish a corporate surety bond, cash bond, or fixed value equivalent thereof, pursuant to G.S. 143-143.12."

Section 3. G.S. 20-289(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The license fee for each fiscal year, or part thereof, shall be as follows:

(2) For manufacturers, one hundred dollars ($100.00), and for each factory branch in this State, seventy dollars ($70.00).

(3) For motor vehicle sales representatives, ~~ten dollars ($10.00).~~ twenty-five dollars ($25.00).

(4) For factory representatives, or distributor representatives, ten dollars ($10.00).

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation – Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV)

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective June 30, 2001

BILL SUMMARY: The bill establishes penalties for selling cars in violation of the Motor Vehicle Dealers and Manufacturers Licensing Law, establishes educational requirements for used motor vehicle dealers and increases fees on motor vehicle dealers and motor vehicle sales representatives.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Penalties

Section 1 of the bill creates a class 2 misdemeanor and a civil penalty for violators of the motor vehicle dealer laws. The class 2 misdemeanor carries a maximum sentence of 60 days, but this will not require any state prison beds. DMV estimates that the $1,000 penalty authorized in this section may be applied 94 times a year. This is based on an average of 94 revocations, suspensions and probation imposed on motor vehicle dealers each year. If the maximum $1,000 penalty is assessed dealers, then revenue of $94,000 will be collected each year and deposited into the County School Fund of the violator's home county. DMV has no estimate for the $5,000 civil penalty for violations by persons without a license.

Educational Requirements

Section 2 requires used motor vehicle dealers to complete a 12-hour licensing course for an initial license and a 6-hour course for license renewal. DMV has to approve the courses, but does not have to provide them. There is no fiscal impact on DMV and the Highway Fund for this section.

License Fees

Effective in FY 2001-02, the license fee for motor vehicle dealers, distributor branches, and wholesalers will increase from $50 to $100 each year. The annual fee for a motor vehicle representative will increase from $10 to $25.

SUMMARY: House Bill 1082 makes it a Class 2 misdemeanor to violate the licensing requirements of the Motor Vehicle Dealers and Manufacturers Licensing Law. The bill also allows civil penalties to be assessed against persons who violate the licensing requirements. House Bill 1082 establishes additional educational requirements for used motor vehicle dealers and increases several licensing fees.

CURRENT LAW & BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. Licenses and Penalties. Under current G.S. 20-287, the following persons must obtain a license under the Motor Vehicle Dealers and Manufacturers Licensing Law:

- New motor vehicle dealers
- Used motor vehicle dealers
- Motor vehicle sales representatives
- Manufacturers
- Factory branches
- Factory representatives
- Distributors
- Distributor branches
- Distributor representatives
- Wholesalers

- Motor vehicle dealers who act as sales representatives must have a sales representative's license in addition to a dealers license.
- Sales representatives may have only one license which shows the name of the employer.
- Manufacturers, factory branches, distributors, and distributor branches may operate as motor vehicle dealers without a dealer's license if they sell motor vehicles at retail in an established showroom.

House Bill 1082 makes it a Class 2 misdemeanor for any violations of the licensing requirements in G.S. 20-287.

House Bill 1082 would also allow the Division of Motor Vehicles to assess the following civil penalties:

- Up to $1,000 against anyone who has obtained a license but violates any of the licensing provisions or any rules adopted by DMV relating to the sale of vehicles, vehicle titling, or vehicle registration.
- Up to $5,000 against anyone who is operating without the proper license.

Section 2. Additional requirements for used motor vehicle dealers. In addition to filing a licensure application, and paying the fee, used motor vehicle dealers will be required to provide the following:

- Proof of completion of a 12-hour licensing course within the last 12 months if the applicant is seeking an initial license, and a 6-hour course if the applicant is seeking a renewal license. These requirements do not apply to used motor vehicle dealers who primarily sell salvage vehicles on behalf of insurers.
- Proof that the applicant is at least 18 years old and that all persons employed by the applicant are at least 18 years old.

Section 3. Fees. House Bill 1082 makes the following fee changes:

Type of License	Current Fee	Proposed Fee Under HB 1082
• Motor Vehicle Dealers • Distributors • Distributor Branches • Wholesalers	$50.00 for each place of business	$100.00 for each place of business

HOUSE BILL 1190:
Desert Storm Plates

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Sexton
Date:	June 16, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Editin		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1190 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special registration plate to a veteran of the armed forces who served in the Defense of Saudi Arabia or in the Liberation and Defense of Kuwait. The Division must receive at least 300 applications for this plate before it can issue the plate. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional $10. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: Upon request, the Division of Motor Vehicles may issue special registration plates. There are currently more than 54 special registration plates. These special plates include the following military plates: Bronze Star Recipient, Combat Veteran, Disabled Veteran, Distinguished Flying Cross, 82nd Airborne Division Association Member, Legion of Valor, Military Reservist, National Guard Member, Partially Disabled Veteran, Pearl Harbor Survivor, Prisoner of War, Purple Heart Recipient, Silver Star Recipient, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Vietnam Veteran.

The cost of a special registration plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional fee of at least $10. The first $10 of every additional fee amount is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. The remainder of the additional fee, if any, is transferred quarterly to the appropriate organization named in the statute. After deducting the costs of the plates from the Special Registration Plate Account, the money in the Account is distributed as follows:

AMOUNT	PURPOSE
$525,000 distributed annually	Operating assistance for certain Visitor Centers
33% distributed quarterly	Department of Commerce for advertising the promotion of travel and industrial development in the State
50% distributed quarterly	Department of Transportation for beautification of highways
17% distributed quarterly	Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons.

This uniform system of fees has been in place since 1991 when a study commission recommended that the special registration plate system be simplified through a uniform fee schedule. The only exceptions to the general rule are for plates issued to a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, a 100% disabled veterans, an ex-prisoner of war, an active member of the National Guard, and a recipient of the Purple Heart award.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1190 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special plate to a veteran of the armed forces who meets both of the following conditions:

- Served in the Defense of Saudi Arabia from August 2, 1991, to January 16, 1991, or who served in the Liberation and Defense of Kuwait from January 17, 1991, to April 11, 1991.
- Is still in service or who separated from the armed services under honorable conditions.

The Division may not issue the plate unless it receives at least 300 applications for the plate. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus $10. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATION: The bill does not indicate what phrase or logo the special plate must bear. The interest group and the Division of Motor Vehicles can determine this without statutory language.

EXPENDITURES
Special Reg. Plate Account	($856)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue Desert Storm Veteran special registration plates. The plate must be issued to a veteran of the armed forces who served in the Defense of Saudi Arabia from August 2, 1991 to January 16, 1991 or who served in the Liberation and Defense of Kuwait from January 17, 1991 to April 11, 1991. To qualify the veteran must still be in the service or have an honorable discharge. It instructs the Department to develop the plate only after 300 or more applications for the plate are received. Because it is a special plate a fee of $10.00 (in addition to the regular motor vehicle registration fee) will be charged. This amount goes to the Special Registration Plate Account.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20.00 registration fee every owner of a private passenger vehicle pays, there is a $10.00 fee for each specialized plate. Because there is no way to determine how many of the plates will be requested, this fiscal note assumes the issuance of the minimum 300 license plates in FY 1999-00. As a result, the bill raises a total of $3,000 ($10 X 300 plates).

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Corrections, there is a one-time cost of $100 to design the new plate. There is also a production cost of $2.52 per plate (This assumes a basic one color design. If the design is more complex, or requires more color, the per plate cost increases). The total production cost for 300 basic plates is $856.00.

HOUSE BILL 235:
"Kids First" Registration Plate

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: June 16, 1999
Version: PCS for 1st Edition S235-CSRBX-6/15

Introduced by: Sen. Hagan
Summary by: Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: SB 235 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue "Kids First" special license plates for an additional $25 fee. $15 of the additional fee will go to the North Carolina Children's Trust Fund to help fund child abuse and neglect prevention programs. The proposed committee substitute makes a conforming change to the statute that creates the Children's Trust Fund.

CURRENT LAW: Upon request, the Division of Motor Vehicles may issue special registration plates. There are currently more than 54 special registration plates. The cost of a special registration plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional fee of at least $10. The first $10 of every additional fee amount is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. The remainder of the additional fee, if any, is transferred quarterly to the appropriate organization named in the statute. After deducting the costs of the plates from the Special Registration Plate Account, the money in the Account is distributed as follows:

AMOUNT	PURPOSE
$525,000 distributed annually	Operating assistance for certain Visitor Centers
33% distributed quarterly	Department of Commerce for advertising the promotion of travel and industrial development in the State
50% distributed quarterly	Department of Transportation for beautification of highways
17% distributed quarterly	Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons.

This uniform system of fees has been in place since 1991 when a study commission recommended that the special registration plate system be simplified through a uniform fee schedule. The only exceptions to the general rule are for plates issued to a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, a 100% disabled veterans, an ex-prisoner of war, an active member of the National Guard, and a recipient of the Purple Heart award.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 235 authorizes DMV to develop a special license plate bearing the phrase "Kids First" and a logo of children's hands. DMV must receive at least 300 applications for this special plate before it can be issued. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional $25. The first $10 of the additional fee would be credited to the Special Registration Plate Fund. The remaining $15 of the additional fee would go to the Collegiate and Cultural Attraction Plate Account and transferred quarterly to the N.C. Children's Trust Fund. This Fund is established in the State Treasurer's Office and is funded with $5 from each $40 marriage license fee collected by a register of deeds. The Fund is used by the State Board of Education to fund child abuse and neglect prevention programs authorized under the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect Article in the N.C. General Statutes.

PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE: The proposed committee substitute makes a conforming change to the statute that creates the Children's Trust Fund, corrects a statutory cite, and changes the effective date to July 1, 1999.

Martha Walston, counsel to the Senate Finance Committee, contributed to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, and North Carolina Children's Trust Fund.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue "Kids First" special registration plates. It instructs the Department to develop the plate only after 300 or more applications for the plate are received. A special fee of $25.00 (in addition to the regular motor vehicle registration fee) is also authorized. Ten dollars of this amount goes to the Special Registration Plate Account, and fifteen dollars will be deposited in the Collegiate and Cultural Attractions Plate Account (CCAPA). The proceeds from the plate deposited in the CCAPA are transferred quarterly to the North Carolina Children's Trust Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20.00 registration fee every owner of a private passenger vehicle pays, there is a $25.00 fee for each specialized "Kids First" plate. Because there is no way to determine how many of the "Kids First" plates will be requested, this fiscal note assumes the issuance of the minimum 300 license plates in FY 1999-00. As a result, the bill raises a total of $7,500 ($25 X 300 plates). Three thousand dollars ($3000.00) of this amount goes to the SRPA. Four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500.00) is deposited in the CCAPA. However, at the end of each quarter the funds deposited in the CCAPA are transferred to the North Carolina Children's Trust Fund. Therefore, the North Carolina Children's Trust Fund actually gains $4,500.00. The note also assumes that those plates will be renewed in the following years.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Corrections, there is a one-time cost of $100 to design the new plate. There is also a production cost of $2.52 per plate (This assumes a basic one color design. If the design is more complex, or requires more color, the per plate cost increases). The total production cost for 300 basic plates is $856.00.

RE: Info. On HB 375

The original bill authorizing the incorporation had the proposed annexation area included when it passed the House last year on a unanimous vote. This area on our west flank has been a part of the Oak Ridge community since the community was settled in the early 1700s. At least 90% of the people in this area want to remain a part of Oak Ridge.

We are requesting passage of HB 375 because we were forced to accept the bill as revised in the Senate—or get nothing. Kernersville is to the southwest of Oak Ridge and this area to the county line will in no way have an effect on the future of Kernersville. We have no desire whatever to go into Forsyth County in the future. Kernersville has room to grow to the north to Highway 158, approximately five (5) miles.

My best information out of Kernersville is that some of the power brokers in the town are looking at the undeveloped areas in Guilford for future industrial parks. We cannot permit this to happen. It would have a devastating effect on ground water as well as Greensboro and High Point's water supply. The headwaters for Reedy Fork Creek and Deep River are in this area—Greensboro's and High Point's water shed. I know of no elected official in Guilford County who wants Kernersville in this area.

This battle with Kernersville began over a proposed landfill expansion into Guilford County by Waste Management. This would have covered about 430 acres in the northern portion of the white area of the map. We won the battle over this expansion and since Kernersville is the host city for Waste Management, there have been hard feelings between the two communities ever since. The Town Attorney, John Wolfe, also represents Waste Management—or did at least until after they lost the battle to move into Guilford County.

We are working as fast as possible to set up a town government and get sound programs in place to protect our ground water and build a town we can all be proud of. We need your help in the passage of HB 375. If you look at the map, you can see we will be closed in on all sides after we reset the boundary at the county line. This will give us about ten (10) square miles to build a town which we can enjoy and an area in which all of Guilford County can be proud of.

We sincerely request your full support in the passage of HB 375.

Sincerely,

Bill Parrish

Dear Mike,

We at the Fire Department at Oak Ridge wanted to make you aware that we do support this bill (H375) for the expansion of our town. This would only reflect the land that already lies in our fire district that we have served for over 40 years. The potential impact should something change that protection area could be devastating to those citzens for fire or medical attention. We are located within a mile to mile and one-half from these people and the next nearest station would be over three miles away. All the 911 lines in this area go to Guilford emergency center since it is all in Guilford, you can see the potential problem associated with a change.

Sincerely Yours
Bill Newman, Chief

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH PENALTIES FOR SELLING CARS IN VIOLATION OF THE MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS AND MANUFACTURERS LICENSING LAW, TO ESTABLISH EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS REQUIRED FOR ISSUANCE AND RENEWAL OF LICENSURE FOR USED MOTOR VEHICLE DEALERS, AND TO INCREASE FEES.

Whereas, not only the setting of standards to protect purchasers of motor vehicles but also the enforcement of substantial penalties applicable when those standards are not met is one of the most effective means to obtain this protection; and

Whereas, more complex laws governing regulation of the sale and distribution of motor vehicles such as the titling of a vehicle, warranties, collection of consumer debt pursuant to Federal Trade Commission regulations, and applicable tax provisions impose a greater number of duties upon independent automobile dealers; and

Whereas, the most effective and consistent means of informing both applicants for licensure and experienced, licensed motor vehicle dealers of major changes and increasing complexities in the law is to develop a program insuring the development and requirement of appropriate continuing education; and

Whereas, to better effect these policies, it is necessary to increase to more appropriate levels the fees for those persons regulated by the Motor Vehicle Dealers and Manufacturers Licensing Law; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 20-287 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-287. Licenses ~~required.~~ required; penalties.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any new motor vehicle dealer, used motor vehicle dealer, motor vehicle sales representative, manufacturer, factory branch, factory representative, distributor, distributor branch, distributor representative, or wholesaler to engage in business in this State without first obtaining a license as provided in this Article. If any motor vehicle dealer acts as a motor vehicle sales representative, the dealer shall obtain a motor vehicle sales representative's license in addition to a motor vehicle dealer's license. A sales representative may have only one license. The license shall show the name of each dealer or wholesaler employing the sales representative. The following license holders may operate as a motor vehicle dealer without obtaining a motor vehicle dealer's license or paying an additional fee: a manufacturer, a factory branch, a distributor, and a distributor branch. Any of these license holders who operates as a motor vehicle dealer may sell motor vehicles at retail only at an established salesroom.

(b) Any person who violates any provision of this section shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(c) In addition to any other punishment or remedy under the law for any violation of this section, the Division may levy and collect a civil penalty, in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each violation, against any person who has obtained a license pursuant to this section, if it finds that the licensee has violated any provisions of this section or of any rules adopted by the Division relating to the sale of vehicles, vehicle titling, or vehicle registration. The Division may levy and collect a civil penalty, in an amount not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) for each violation of any provision of this section, against any person who has not obtained a license as prescribed by this section."

Section 2. G.S. 20-288 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-288. Application for license; license requirements; expiration of license; bond.

An application must be on a form provided by the Division and contain the information required by the Division. An application for a license must be accompanied by the required fee and by an application for a dealer license plate.

(1) The required fee.

(2) Proof that the applicant, within the last 12 months has completed a 12-hour licensing course approved by the Division if the applicant is seeking an initial license and a six-hour course approved by the Division if the applicant is seeking a renewal license. The requirements of G.S. 20-288(a1)(2) do not apply to a used motor vehicle dealer the primary business of which is the sale of salvage vehicles on behalf of insurers.

(3) If the applicant is an individual, proof that the applicant is at least 18 years of age, and proof that all salespersons employed by the dealer are at least 18 years of age.

(4) The application for a dealer license plate.

(b) The Division shall require in such application, or otherwise, information relating to matters set forth in G.S. 20-294 as grounds for the refusing of licenses, and to other pertinent matters commensurate with the safeguarding of the public interest, all of which shall be considered by the Division in determining the fitness of the applicant to engage in the business for which he seeks a license.

(c) All licenses that are granted shall expire unless sooner revoked or suspended, on June 30 of the year following date of issue.

(d) To obtain a license as a wholesaler, an applicant who intends to sell or distribute self-propelled vehicles must have an established office in this State, and an applicant who intends to sell or distribute only trailers or semitrailers of less than 2500 pounds unloaded weight must have a place of business in this State where the records required under this Article are kept.

To obtain a license as a motor vehicle dealer, an applicant who intends to deal in self-propelled vehicles must have an established salesroom in this State, and an applicant who intends to deal in only trailers or semitrailers of less than 2500 pounds unloaded weight must have a place of business in this State where the records required under this Article are kept.

An applicant for a license as a manufacturer, a factory branch, a distributor, a distributor branch, a wholesaler, or a motor vehicle dealer must have a separate license for each established office, established salesroom, or other place of business in this State. An application for any of these licenses shall include a list of the applicant's places of business in this State.

(e) Each applicant approved by the Division for license as a motor vehicle dealer, manufacturer, factory branch, distributor, distributor branch, or wholesaler shall furnish a corporate surety bond or cash bond or fixed value equivalent of the bond. The amount of the bond for other applicants required to furnish a bond is twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for one place of business of the applicant and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each of the applicant's additional places of business.

A corporate surety bond shall be approved by the Commissioner as to form and shall be conditioned that the obligor will faithfully conform to and abide by the provisions of this Article and Article 15. A cash bond or fixed value equivalent thereof shall be approved by the Commissioner as to form and terms of deposits as will secure the ultimate beneficiaries of the bond; and such bond shall not be available for delivery to any person contrary to the rules of the Commissioner. Any purchaser of a motor vehicle who shall have suffered any loss or damage by any act of a license holder subject to this subsection that constitutes a violation of this Article or Article 15 shall have the right to institute an action to recover against the license holder and the surety. Every license holder against whom an action is instituted shall notify the Commissioner of the action within 10 days after served with process. A corporate surety bond shall remain in force and effect and may not be canceled by the surety unless the bonded person stops engaging in business or the person's license is denied, suspended, or revoked under G.S. 20-294. Such cancellation may be had only upon 30 days' written notice to the Commissioner and shall not affect any liability incurred or accrued prior to the termination of such 30-day period. This subsection does not apply to a license holder who deals only in trailers having an empty weight of 4,000 pounds or less. This subsection does not apply to manufacturers of, or dealers in, mobile or manufactured homes who furnish a corporate surety bond, cash bond, or fixed value equivalent thereof, pursuant to G.S. 143-143.12."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR INDIVIDUALS TO PAY THEIR ANNUAL USE TAX WITH THEIR INCOME TAX FORMS, TO PROMOTE ELECTRONIC FILING, AND TO IMPROVE TAX COLLECTION.

The Secretary must provide appropriate space and information on the individual income tax form and instructions. The information must include the following:

(1) An explanation of an individual's obligation to pay use tax on items purchased from mail order, internet, or other sellers that do not collect State and local sales and use taxes on the items.

(2) A method to help an individual determine the amount of use tax the individual owes. The method must list categories of items, such as personal computers and clothing, that are commonly sold by mail order or internet and must include a table that gives the average amounts of use tax payable by taxpayers in various income ranges.

(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds collected under this section to counties and cities in proportion to their total distributions under Articles 39, 40, and 42 of this Chapter and Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws for the most recent period for which data is available. The provisions of G.S. 105-472, 105-486, and 105-501 do not apply to tax proceeds distributed under this section."

The Department of Revenue shall conduct a study to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including using electronic commerce and other technology to increase efficiency. The study shall include an analysis of the most efficient tax collection methods used in other states. The State Controller shall cooperate with the Department of Revenue in this study. The Department shall report the results of its study, including findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains of each recommendation, to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000. To implement this section, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 7. Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-59.1. Contracts with certain foreign vendors.

The Secretary of Administration and other entities to which this Article applies shall not contract for goods or services with a vendor if the vendor or an affiliate of the vendor meets one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuses to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes on its sales delivered to North Carolina. The Secretary of Revenue shall provide the Secretary of Administration periodically with a list of vendors to which this section applies. For the purpose of this section, the term 'affiliate' has the meaning provided in G.S. 105-163.010."

Section 8. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(22) To provide the Secretary of Administration pursuant to G.S. 143-59.1 a list of vendors and their affiliates who meet one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuse to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of this Chapter on their sales delivered to North Carolina.

(23) To provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes under Article 5 of this Chapter to a retailer because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department of Revenue."

Section 9. Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 1433

Short Title: Use Tax Payment/Other Changes. (Public)

Sponsors: Representatives Miller and Allen.

Referred to: Finance.

April 29, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR INDIVIDUALS TO PAY THEIR ANNUAL USE TAX WITH THEIR INCOME TAX FORMS, TO PROMOTE ELECTRONIC FILING, AND TO IMPROVE TAX COLLECTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.16(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Use Tax on Out-of-State Purchases. -- Notwithstanding subsection ~~(b),~~ (b) of this section, an individual who purchases tangible personal property outside the State for a nonbusiness purpose shall file a use tax return on an annual basis. ~~The~~ For individuals who are not required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter, the annual reporting period ends on the last day of the calendar ~~year.~~ year, and the return is due by the following April 15. For individuals who are required to file an individual income tax return, the annual reporting period ends on the last day of the individual's income tax year, and the ~~The~~ return is due by the due date, including any approved extensions, for filing the individual's income tax return.

Individuals who are required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter for the taxable year must pay the use tax with the individual income tax return as provided in G.S. 105-269.14. If the individual does not know the amount of use tax due on purchases of items with a cost of less than one thousand dollars ($1,000) per item, the individual may pay an estimated use tax on those items in an amount equal to six one-hundredths percent (0.06%) of the individual's North Carolina taxable income as provided in G.S. 105-269.14. This payment is in addition to payment of the amount of use tax due on items with a cost of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or more."

Section 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-269.14. Payment of use tax with individual income tax.

(a) Requirement. -- An individual who owes use tax that is payable on an annual basis pursuant to G.S. 105-164.16(d) and who is required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter, must pay the use tax with the individual income tax return for the taxable year. The Secretary must provide appropriate space and information on the individual income tax form and instructions. The information must include the following:

(1) Instructions that certain sales taxes paid on a purchase are a credit against the use tax.

(2) A table setting out averages for various income ranges of the estimated amount of use tax as defined in subsection (b) of this section, rounded to the nearest one dollar ($1.00) of tax.

(3) Notification that if the taxpayer fails to indicate on the income tax form an amount of use tax payable, the Department of Revenue will add the estimated amount provided in subsection (b) of this section, and that the taxpayer is liable for this estimated amount unless the taxpayer can establish that the taxpayer owes a different amount of use tax under this Chapter.

(b) Estimated Amount. -- If the taxpayer does not know the amount of use tax due on all purchases for a calendar year, the taxpayer may pay the amount actually due on any purchases of items that cost one thousand dollars ($1,000) or more per item plus an estimated amount due on purchases of items that cost less than one thousand dollars ($1,000) per item. The estimated amount of use tax due on these items is six one-hundredths percent (0.06%) of the individual's North Carolina taxable income, or the equivalent amount provided in a table calculated by the Secretary of Revenue.

(c) Failure to Designate. -- If an individual does not designate on the income tax return an amount of use tax due or that no use tax is due, the Department of Revenue must designate the estimated amount provided in subsection (b) of this section as the amount due. The taxpayer is liable for this estimated amount unless the taxpayer can establish that the taxpayer owes a different amount of use tax under this Chapter.

(d) Distribution. -- The Secretary shall distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds collected under this section to counties and cities in proportion to their total distributions under Articles 39, 40, and 42 of this Chapter and Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws for the most recent period for which data are available. The provisions of G.S. 105-472, 105-486, and 105-501 do not apply to tax proceeds distributed under this section."

Section 3. To pay for the costs of programming, form revision, and resources for taxpayer assistance to implement Sections 1 and 2 of this act, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 4. During the 1999-2000 fiscal year, the Secretary of Revenue shall implement a program to allow those taxpayers required under G.S. 105-164.16 to report and pay sales and use taxes on a semimonthly basis to file the semimonthly return electronically. To pay for this program, the Secretary may draw up to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 5.(a) The Secretary of Revenue shall contract during the 1999-2001 fiscal biennium for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. To implement this section, the Secretary may draw funds for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act. The Secretary of Revenue shall report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on its collections pursuant to this contract during the biennium.

Section 5.(b) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Delinquent tax debt. -- The amount of tax due as stated in a final notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer by the Secretary of Revenue when the taxpayer no longer has a right to contest the debt.

(2) Foreign entity. -- A foreign corporation as defined in G.S. 55-1-40, a foreign limited liability company as defined in G.S. 57C-1-03, a foreign limited partnership as defined in G.S. 59-102, or a general partnership formed under the laws of a jurisdiction other than this State.

Section 6. The Department of Revenue shall conduct a study to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including using electronic commerce and other technology to increase efficiency. The study shall include an analysis of the most efficient tax collection methods used in other states. The State Controller shall cooperate with the Department of Revenue in this study. The Department shall report the results of its study, including findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains of each recommendation, to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000. To implement this section, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 7. Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-59.1. Contracts with certain foreign vendors.

The Secretary of Administration and other entities to which this Article applies shall not contract for goods or services with a vendor if the vendor or an affiliate of the vendor meets one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuses to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes on its sales delivered to North Carolina. The Secretary of Revenue shall provide the Secretary of Administration periodically with a list of vendors to which this section applies. For the purpose of this section, the term 'affiliate' has the meaning provided in G.S. 105-163.010."

Section 8. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(22) To provide the Secretary of Administration pursuant to G.S. 143-59.1 a list of vendors and their affiliates who meet one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuse to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of this Chapter on their sales delivered to North Carolina.

(23) To provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes under Article 5 of this Chapter to a retailer because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department of Revenue."

Section 9. Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS

HOUSE BILL 1433:
Use Tax Payment/Other Changes

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miller
Date:	June 15, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1433-CSRBX-6/15		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1433 simplifies use tax collection and seeks to improve tax collections in several ways:

- It provides that an individual who owes use tax to the State can pay the tax with the individual's income tax. The new proposed committee substitute does not authorize the Department to designate an amount of tax owed if the space for the amount owed is left blank by the taxpayer.
- It promotes the electronic filing of semimonthly sales tax reports.
- It directs the Secretary of Revenue to contract for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities.
- It directs the Department of Revenue and the State Controller to study the feasibility of a central collection operation.
- It prohibits the State agencies from contracting with a vendor who is required under G.S. 105-164.8(b) to collect State sales and use tax but refuses to do so.

The first part of the bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of the bill becomes effective July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: North Carolina has a 6% sales and use tax. The sales tax is paid on purchases made in this State. The tax is collected by the retailer and remitted to the State. The use tax complements the sales tax by taxing transactions that are not subject to the sales tax because of movement in interstate commerce. Like the sales tax, the use tax is imposed on the purchaser. Unlike the sales tax, the responsibility for remitting the tax to the Department of Revenue is also on the purchaser.

Last biennium, the General Assembly sought to make the remittance of use tax by the taxpayer to the State less burdensome by providing that use tax on goods purchased out-of-state for a non-business purpose may be filed on an annual basis. The return and the tax are due at the same time as the personal income tax return.

BILL ANALYSIS: Sections 1 and 2 of House Bill 1433 provide that the use tax will be paid on the taxpayers' income tax returns. The bill provides that a taxpayer who owes use tax and who must remit a State tax return must pay the use tax owed with the tax return. The tax return will have space on it to indicate the amount of use tax owed. By placing the use tax on the individual income tax return, as opposed to a separate return sent to the taxpayer with the tax return, it is hoped that taxpayers' awareness of their responsibility to pay the tax will increase since taxpayers must affirm that the information on the return is true and complete by signing the return.

Seven states provide a line on the individual income tax return for the collection of use tax. Another 7 states provide a use tax return with the individual income tax return and provide that the use tax return is due at the same time as the income tax return. Of the seven states that provide a line on the return for the collection of use tax, only Maine provides for an estimated amount of tax due.

The bill allows the Department to use some of the additional use tax revenue collected under this bill to promote tax collections:

- The Department may use $150,000 to pay for the costs of programming, form revision, and resources for taxpayer assistance in connection with the new use tax collection method.
- The Department may use $500,000 to implement a program to allow semimonthly sales and use taxpayers to file their returns electronically.
- The Department may use some of the revenue to contract for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. A delinquent tax debt is the amount of tax due as stated in a final notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer when the taxpayer no longer has a right to contest the debt. The Department must report on its collections pursuant to this contract to the Revenue Laws Study Committee.
- The Department may use up to $50,000 to conduct a study, in cooperation with the State Controller, to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes. The Department must report its findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000.

The bill prohibits the State from contracting with a vendor for goods or services if the vendor is required by G.S. 105-164.8(b) to collect use tax for the State but refuses to do so. G.S. 105-164.8 requires a retailer who is engaged in business in this State to collect use tax on a mail order sale. G.S. 105-164.8(b) provides that a retailer who makes a mail order sale is engaged in business in this State if the retailer meets one or more of the following conditions:

- Is a corporation engaged in business under the laws of this State.
- Maintains offices in this State.
- Has representatives in this State who solicit business or transact business on behalf of the retailer.
- Is purposefully or systematically exploiting the market in this State by any media-assisted, media-facilitated, or media-solicited means, including direct mail advertising, distribution of catalogs, computer-assisted shopping, etc.
- Resides in a jurisdiction that has a compact or reciprocity with North Carolina to support North Carolina's taxing power.
- Consents to the imposition of the collection of the tax.

Lastly, the bill amends the tax secrecy provisions to allow the Secretary of Revenue to do two things:

- Provide the Secretary of Administration with a list of vendors who refuse to collect the State's use tax even though they are required to do so under G.S. 105-164.8.

- Provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use tax because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department.

BACKGROUND: In the 1980s, states around the country became increasing aware of the revenue loss associated with taxpayer avoidance of the use tax. The potential increase in State and local revenue for North Carolina, if full taxpayer compliance were achieved, would exceed $100 million.

The most cost-effective manner to collect the tax, from a state's point-of-view, is to require the out-of-state retailers to collect and remit the use tax. However, in 1967, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Bellas Hess that a state could not require an out-of-state retailer to collect its use tax unless the retailer has enough contacts with the state to subject it to the state's taxing jurisdiction. The Supreme Court reaffirmed this decision in 1992 in Quill Company v. North Dakota.

States have negotiated with direct marketers on at least two occasions to craft a voluntary collection agreement where marketers would collect the tax and states would simplify their reporting requirements. Both of these efforts were unsuccessful.

There are three efforts currently under way to address the issue of out-of-state purchases:

- The National Tax Association Communications and Electronic project is focusing on simplification issues and some policy principles to apply to remote commerce.
- The Advisory Commission on Electronic Commerce was established by the Internet Tax Freedom Act. It has 18 months to study electronic commerce issues and to make a report to Congress.
- The Multistate Tax Commission Tax Simplification Project is comprised of representatives of business and state and local governments who are focusing on ways to simplify the sales and use tax in the areas of uniformity and reporting. Sections 4 and 8 of this bill are two of the recommendations of the group working in North Carolina.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Department of Administration, all other state agencies have purchasing authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several changes to the policies and procedures surrounding North Carolina's use tax, income tax, and state purchasing. Sections 1 and 2 require individuals who file an income tax return to include with that return a use tax payment for purchases made by retailers that do not charge sales tax. The tax shall be calculated at a standard rate of 6%. If the taxpayer does not know the amount due, the taxpayer may pay the tax actually due on purchases of $1000 or more, and an estimated amount on purchases of less than $1000. The estimated amount due for the small purchases is either 0.06% of the individual's North Carolina taxable income or the equivalent amount provided in a table calculated by the Secretary of Revenue. Individuals who do not file an income tax return are still required to submit a use tax report. These sections also direct the Department of Revenue to provide appropriate space and information on the use tax requirements on the state's income tax materials. Section 2 also directs to the Secretary of Revenue to distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds to the cities and counties.

Section 3 allows the Secretary of Revenue to draw up to $150,000 in FY 1999-00 to provide taxpayer assistance related to the use tax. Section 4 requires that the Department of Revenue implement a program to allow businesses that are required to file sales and use taxes twice a month to file their sales tax returns electronically. It allows the Secretary to draw up to $500,000 in FY 1999-00 from net sales tax collections to pay for the program. Section 5 directs the Department to contract for collection of delinquent taxes owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. Funding for the contract shall be drawn from use tax proceeds. The results must be reported annually to Revenue Laws. Section 6 directs the Department of Revenue to conduct a study, and identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including the use of electronic commerce and other technologies. The State Controller is directed to assist with the study. This section also authorizes the Secretary to draw up to $50,000 for the 1999-00 fiscal year to fund the study. A report with recommendations must be made to Revenue Laws by May 1, 2000. Section 7 bars the Secretary of Administration and all other state purchasing entities from contracting with vendors if that vendor (or its affiliate) refuses to collect the use tax on sales delivered to North Carolina. It directs the Department of Revenue to supply the Secretary of Administration with a list of such vendors. Section 8 directs the Secretary of Revenue to provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes because they are either exempt or are authorized to pay the Department directly.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill makes several changes to tax collection and government purchasing procedures.

Sections 1& 2: These sections of the bill direct the Department of Revenue to alter their procedures for assessing and collecting individual use tax payments. The bill directs the Department to include specific space on the individual income tax return to report use tax payments, and provide a table to assist taxpayers in calculating their potential use tax liability.

Currently the Department of Revenue includes a form for individual use tax payments in the income tax instructions. However, the Department believes placing a special line for use tax payments on the individual income tax form will be much more effective and result in higher use tax payments. Based on a recent Department conducted survey, the Department of Revenue believes that at least seven other states now have a line item on their individual income tax form for use tax payments. Two of the states with a line on the form are Maine and Connecticut. Maine indicated to the North Carolina Department of Revenue that they collected $1.7 million in use taxes on individual income tax returns filed for 1997. Of the 576,000 returns filed, Maine reports that approximately 95,000 paid some use taxes. The North Carolina Department of Revenue receives approximately 3,000,000 returns annually. Based on this information and the data from Maine, the Sales Tax Division estimates that North Carolina will see a revenue increase of approximately $5,000,000. This amount is increase by 5% each year to reflect future growth. Because this revenue would be divided between the state and local governments, the actual fiscal impact is as follows:

	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
State	3,333,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Local	1,666,667	1,750,000	1,837,500	1,929,375	2,025,844
Total	5,000,000	5,250,000	5,512,500	5,788,125	6,077,531

Section 3: This section allows the Secretary of Revenue to deduct up to $150,000 from use tax proceeds to fund taxpayer assistance. This is amount is shown in the chart as a loss to the potential revenue stream created by the bill.

Section 4: This section authorizes the Secretary of Revenue to deduct up to $500,000 from use tax proceeds to fund electronic filing of semi-monthly sales tax returns. Under the bill businesses are not required to file electronically, they are merely given the option. This may increase revenues, as the Department may be able to draw more interest on the "float". However, because the electronic filing language is permissive, allowing retailers to decide if they will file electronically, no reliable estimate of the potential revenue change is possible. The note does assume that the Secretary will draw the $500,000. This amount is shown as a loss to the potential revenue stream.

Section 5: This section directs the Department to contract out the collection of out of state delinquent taxes. Because no contract has been negotiated, no accurate cost estimate is possible. It handled appropriately, contracting out should increase collections. However, no estimate is available on the potential gains. Since this information is not available no estimate is possible on the net potential revenue gain from this section of the Bill.

Section 6: This section directs the Department and the State Controller to study more efficient ways to collect taxes, and report their findings and recommendations to Revenue Laws. The note assumes the Secretary will draw the full $50,000 allowed for the study. No other fiscal impact is expected.

Section 7: This section of the bill bars the Department of Administration and other state purchasing entities from contracting with an out of state vendor that refuses to collect use tax on purchases delivered to North Carolina. Fiscal Research appropriations staff members do not believe this will have a fiscal impact on the Department of Administration or other organizations. There will be cost associated with Revenue compiling the list of barred vendors. However, the Department believes they can administer this portion of the bill without additional appropriations.

Section 8: This section directs the Department to create a public access database of those not required to pay sales taxes to vendors. While there may be some cost associated with this section of the bill, the Department should be able to fund this change through existing resources and those committed elsewhere in the bill.

Total Impact: Given the revenue increase created in Sections 1 and 2, and the expenses in the remainder of the bill, the net revenue gain as a result of the legislation is as follows:

	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
State
Revenue Gain	3,333,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Less Expend.	(700,000)	-	-	-	-
Net Change	2,633,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Local
Net Change	1,666,667	1,750,000	1,837,500	1,929,375	2,025,844

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The bill requires a fairly significant change in the state purchasing process. As a result, the Departments of Revenue and Administration may require some time to transition their systems and inform all appropriate entities. Therefore, Fiscal Research suggests the effective date be delayed at least three months to allow for a smooth transition.

This penalty does not apply if the tax collector finds that, when the check was presented for payment, the drawer of the check had sufficient funds in an account at a financial institution in this State to pay the check and, by inadvertance, the drawer of the check failed to draw the check on the account that had sufficient funds. This penalty shall be added to and collected in the same manner as the taxes for which the check was given."

SENATE BILL 222:
Government Accept Electronic Payment

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Reeves
Date:	June 22, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 222 directs the State Controller to establish policies that allow accounts receivable of State agencies to be payable by electronic payment. "Electronic payment" is defined as payment by charge card, credit card, debit card, or electronic funds transfer. The fees associated with processing electronic payments to State agencies may be paid out of the General Fund and Highway Fund or may be paid by the debtor. Senate Bill 222 also authorizes a unit of local government or public authority to accept payment by electronic payment for any tax, assessment, rate, fee, charge, rent, interest, penalty, or other receivable owed to it. The debtor or local government unit may be required to pay the processing fee. The account number for electronic payment is confidential information and may not be disclosed under the Public Records Act.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 147-86.22 authorizes the State Controller, with the concurrence of the State Treasurer, to establish policies to allow accounts receivable of a State agency to be paid by credit card. The payment must include the full amount owed to the State agency, i.e. the debtor must pay any processing fee. State agency is defined as "any department, institution, board, commission, committee, division, bureau, officer, official or any other entity for which the State has oversight responsibility, including but not limited to, any university, mental or specialty hospital, community college, or clerk of court. The term does not include, however, a community college, a local school administrative unit, an area mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse authority, or the General Court of Justice.

State agencies are currently not accepting credit cards because they are prohibited by operating rules of both MasterCard and Visa from charging any of their cardholders a surcharge for making payments by credit card.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the bill creates a definition for electronic payment in G.S.105-228.90(b). Electronic payment is defined as payment by charge card, credit card, debit card, or by electronic funds transfer as defined in subsection (b). Electronic Funds Transfer is defined as a transfer of funds initiated by using an electronic terminal, a telephone, a computer, or magnetic tape to instruct or authorize a financial institution or its agent to credit or debit an account.

Section 2. clarifies that the cash management policy of the State includes the acceptance of electronic payments. The current policy of the State is that all State agencies, institutions, departments, bureaus, boards, commissions, and officers of the State, shall devise techniques and procedures for the receipt, deposit, and disbursement of moneys coming into their control and custody which are designed to maximize interest-bearing investment of cash, and to minimize idle and nonproductive cash balances.

Section 3 makes changes to the Statewide Accounts Receivable Program. Current law states that State Controller may establish policies that allow accounts receivable to be payable under certain conditions, with the concurrence of the State Treasurer, by credit card. The debtor who pays by credit card is required to pay the processing fee. Senate Bill 222 mandates that the State Controller, with the concurrence of the State Treasurer, establish policies that allow accounts receivable to be paid by electronic payment. The debtor may (now shall) be required to pay a processing fee. This new electronic payment language applies to the following:

- Debts owed a community college, a local school administrative unit, an area mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse authority, and the Administrative Office of the Courts
- Debts payable to or through the office of a clerk of superior court or a magistrate
- Debts owed to other State agencies (any department, institution, board, commission, committee, division, bureau, officer, official or other entity for which the State has oversight responsibility, including but not limited to, any university, mental or specialty hospital, community college, or clerk of court.

Any policies for electronic payment that apply to debts to the office of a clerk of superior court or magistrate must be established with the concurrence of the Administrative Officer of the Courts. The Administrative Officer of the Courts may also establish policies for these debts if the policies are not inconsistent with the Controller's policies.

Payment of processing fees. Subject to approval by the State Controller and State Treasurer, processing fees will be paid out of the General Fund and Highway Fund when the process is economically beneficial to the State.

Governmental Operations oversight. –The State Controller and State Treasurer must consult with Governmental Operations before establishing policies for electronic payment and before authorizing payment of processing fees from the General Fund and Highway Fund. A State agency must also consult with Governmental Operations before implementing an electronic payment program.

Section 4 adds as an element to the Statewide cash management plan that State agencies shall accept electronic payment to the maximum extent possible consistent with sound business practices.

Section 5 adds a new section to the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act. This section authorizes a unit of local government or a public authority to accept payment by electronic payment for any tax, assessment, rate, fee, charge, rent, interest, penalty, or other receivable owed it. The local government may pay the processing fee, as a condition of contracting for acceptance of the electronic payment, or the local government may impose a surcharge on the amount paid by the person using electronic payment.

Section 6 amends G.S. 105-367 to clarify that a tax collector may accept electronic payment of property taxes. Current law authorizes the tax collector to accept a check or credit card in payment of property taxes.

Section 7 amends Chapter 132 (Public Records) to add an account number for electronic payment to the list of confidential information that a public agency or its subdivision is prohibited from disclosing.

Section 8 makes the act effective when it becomes law.

Martha Walston, Counsel to the Senate Finance Committee, contributed to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Office of the State Controller; Department of State Treasurer; state agencies; local governments

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill provides for state and local governments to accept credit cards, charge cards, debit cards and electronic fund transfers for payment of government fees, costs, and debts. The bill mandates the State Controller establish a policy to allow accounts receivable to be paid by electronic payment.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: No estimate is available on the fiscal impact on state and local governments due to the uncertainty about participation by both governmental units and consumers. SB 222 adds electronic payment as another method to maximize investment of tax dollars and minimize idle, nonproductive cash. However, governmental units will only use electronic payment if it is consistent with sound business practices. It is not known which state agencies and local governments have examined their cash management policies and determined that electronic payment is needed.

Some state agencies have decided to pursue electronic payment as a means to help consumers. The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) in the Department of Transportation requested HB 280 in the 1999 General Assembly to allow the agency "to accept electronic applications for the issuance of registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title, and to electronically collect fees and penalties". SB 222 is needed to enable DMV to collect a fee by electronic payment. The Virginia DMV currently accepts credit cards and check cards for all transactions.

The Federation of Tax Administrators - a national association -found in a 1997 survey that 12 state tax agencies accept credit cards for at least some types of tax payment. Eleven additional states have authority to accept credit cards but have no program in place.

The State Controller's staff has attempted to quantify the impact of SB 222 at the state level. They estimate that a transaction ranging from $20 to $200 has a handling and processing cost of approximately $5 per transaction using current payment methods. They estimate the cost per transaction using electronic payment will be reduced $3 to $4, depending upon the fee charged by credit or debit card companies. The State Controller estimates that the first year impact will be revenue neutral with only 100,000 transactions using electronic payment. In the following years, it is estimated that each transaction by electronic payment will save $3 and the volume of transactions will grow as shown in the chart below:

2nd Year	1,100,000 transactions	$3.3 million savings
3rd Year	2,200,000 transactions	$6.6 million savings
4th Year	3,400,000 transactions	$10.2 million savings
5th Year	4,800,000 transactions	$14.4 million savings

SENATE BILL 323:
Waterfowl License Changes/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Kerr
Date:	June 22, 1999	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	2nd Edition		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 323 adds a definition for "migratory waterfowl; waterfowl" to the wildlife resources law. The bill also extends waterfowl hunting privileges to the holder of comprehensive hunting licenses, and increases the fee for a special migratory fowl hunting license from $5.00 to $10.00. Finally, SB 323 increases the application fee for managed hunts of migratory game birds from $5.00 to $10.00 and requires the applicant to prove that he or she holds a NC hunting license that includes waterfowl privileges.

Senate Bill 323 was requested by the Wildlife Resources Commission.

CURRENT LAW & BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 -- Definition of "Migratory Waterfowl". Under current law, there is a definition of "migratory game birds" which contains several types of game birds, including waterfowl; however, there is no separate definition of "migratory waterfowl".

Senate Bill 323 adds a definition of "migratory waterfowl; waterfowl" to include those migratory birds (wild ducks, geese, brant, and swans) for which open seasons are prescribed by federal regulation.

Sections 2 and 3 make technical changes.

Sections 4 and 5 – Waterfowl Hunting Privileges. Under current law, persons who hold Annual Sportsman Licenses, Lifetime Resident Comprehensive Hunting Licenses, and Resident Annual Comprehensive Hunting Licenses are prohibited from taking waterfowl. In order to lawfully hunt waterfowl, a person must obtain a Migratory Waterfowl Hunting License for an additional fee of $5.00.

Senate Bill 323 extends the waterfowl hunting privilege to these comprehensive licenses. There is no increase in the fee for these licenses. Holders of most other hunting licenses would continue to be required to obtain a Migratory Waterfowl Hunting License.

According to the Wildlife Resources Commission, the omission of the waterfowl privilege in these comprehensive licenses has caused some licensees to mistakenly believe that they have obtained all the necessary licenses to hunt waterfowl. The Commission believes SB 323 would alleviate any confusion, and the loss of revenue would be minimal.

Section 6 – Increase the Fee for Migratory Waterfowl Hunting License. Under current law, the hunting of waterfowl is considered a specially regulated activity for which a person must obtain a separate license. Under SB 323, those persons who do not hold licenses which permit the taking of waterfowl would continue to be required to obtain a Migratory Waterfowl Hunting License. In addition, SB 323 would raise the current fee from $5.00 to $10.00. This fee has not been increased since the license was established in 1987. One-half of the annual proceeds from the sale of this license is used for waterfowl habitat improvement projects.

Section 7 – Application Fee for Managed Hunts of Migratory Game Birds. Under current law, the Wildlife Resource Commission may schedule managed hunts for migratory game birds when federal rules require the State to limit participation in seasons and/or bag limits for these birds. "Migratory Game Birds" include the following: wild ducks, geese, brants, swans, wild doves, pigeons, little brown cranes, rails, coots, gallinules, woodcocks, and snipe. Participants in these managed hunts are selected at random by computer from licensed applicants.

Senate Bill 323 would raise the nonrefundable application fee for a managed hunt of migratory game birds from $5.00 to $10.00. According to the Commission, this fee is used to pay the cost of administering the special drawing and hunting requirements.

SB 323 would also require that each applicant provide proof that he or she holds a NC hunting license that includes waterfowl privileges.

EFFECTIVE DATE: SB 323 becomes effective July 1, 1999.

Martha Walston, Counsel, Senate Finance Committee, contributed to this summary.

	$162,500	$162,500	$162,500	$162,500	$162,500

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill extends waterfowl hunting privileges to holders of comprehensive hunting licenses, increases the fee for migratory waterfowl licenses from $5 to $10, increases the application fee for a special swan hunting permit from $5 to $10, and requires applicants for swan hunting permits to show proof of possessing a hunting license.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: There are two fee increases in SB 323. First, in Section 6, the migratory waterfowl hunting license is increased from $5 to $10. This fee has been unchanged since it was enacted in 1987 (Chapter 452, Section 2 of 1987 Session Laws). The Wildlife Resources Commission sells 27,000 waterfowl hunting licenses annually. A $5 increase in this fee will generate $135,000 in additional revenue. Section 7 of the bill contains an increase from $5 to $10 in the application fee for swan hunting permits. Since the Wildlife Resources Commission receives 5,500 applications each year, this increase will produce $27,500 in additional revenue.

An insignificant revenue impact may be created by language in sections 4 and 7. Section 4 adds waterfowl hunting privileges to the Annual Sportsman License. The Wildlife Resources Commission considers this a technical provision and does not expect a major loss of waterfowl licenses. Section 7 requires the purchase of a $15 hunting license to be eligible for a swan hunting permit. A small number of hunting licenses may be purchased due to this provision.

Animal Lovers Special Plate

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Clary
Date:	June 16, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1246-CSRBX-6/15		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1246 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special license plates depicting a picture of a dog and cat and the phrase "I Care" for an additional $20 fee. Ten dollars ($10.00) of the additional fee will go to the Department of Health and Human Services to be used to create a statewide program to promote spaying and neutering of dogs and cats. The proposed committee substitute makes technical changes to the bill.

CURRENT LAW: Upon request, the Division of Motor Vehicles may issue special registration plates. There are currently more than 54 special registration plates. The cost of a special registration plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional fee of at least $10. The first $10 of every additional fee amount is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. The remainder of the additional fee, if any, is transferred quarterly to the appropriate organization named in the statute. After deducting the costs of the plates from the Special Registration Plate Account, the money in the Account is distributed as follows:

AMOUNT	PURPOSE
$525,000 distributed annually	Operating assistance for certain Visitor Centers
33% distributed quarterly	Department of Commerce for advertising the promotion of travel and industrial development in the State
50% distributed quarterly	Department of Transportation for beautification of highways
17% distributed quarterly	Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons.

This uniform system of fees has been in place since 1991 when a study commission recommended that the special registration plate system be simplified through a uniform fee schedule. The only exceptions to the general rule are for plates issued to a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, a 100% disabled veterans, an ex-prisoner of war, an active member of the National Guard, and a recipient of the Purple Heart award.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1246 authorizes the Division to develop a special license plate bearing the phrase "I Care" and a picture of a dog and cat. The Division must receive at least 300 applications for this special plate before it can be issued. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional $20. The first $10 of the additional fee would be credited to the Special Registration Plate Fund. The remaining $10 of the additional fee would go to the Collegiate and Cultural Attraction Plate Account and be transferred quarterly to the Department of Heath and Human Services. The Department would use the money it receives from the special license plate to create a statewide program to promote spaying and neutering of dogs and cats.

PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE: The proposed committee substitute makes technical changes to the bill: it puts the special plate in the correct alphabetical order and it deletes redundant language.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, and Department of Health and Human Services.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue animal lovers special registration plates. It instructs the Department to develop the plate only after 300 or more applications for the plate are received. A special fee of $20.00 (in addition to the regular motor vehicle registration fee) is also authorized. Ten dollars of this amount goes to the Special Registration Plate Account, and ten dollars will be deposited in the Collegiate and Cultural Attractions Plate Account (CCAPA). The proceeds from the plate deposited in the CCAPA are transferred quarterly to the Department of Health and Human Services to create a statewide program to promote spaying and neutering of dogs and cats.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20.00 registration fee every owner of a private passenger vehicle pays, there is a $20.00 fee for each specialized animal lover plate. Because there is no way to determine how many of the plates will be requested, this fiscal note assumes the issuance of the minimum 300 license plates in FY 1999-00. As a result, the bill raises a total of $6,000 ($20 X 300 plates). Three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) of this amount goes to the SRPA. Three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) is deposited in the CCAPA. However, at the end of each quarter the funds deposited in the CCAPA are transferred to the Department of Health and Human Services. Therefore, the Department of Health and Human Services actually gains $3,000.00. The note also assumes that those plates will be renewed in the following years.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Corrections, there is a one-time cost of $100 to design the new plate. There is also a production cost of $2.52 per plate (This assumes a basic one color design. If the design is more complex, or requires more color, the per plate cost increases). The total production cost for 300 basic plates is $856.00.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-55, s. 1.

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

(2) The business was required to file a notice of plant closing or mass layoff under the federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2102, before it was acquired.

(3) The business was acquired by its employees through an employee stock option transaction or another similar mechanism.

(f) Development Zone Project Credit. -- Subsections (a) through (b4) of this section to not apply to the credit for development zone projects.

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this ~~Chapter and~~ Chapter, the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this ~~Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against~~ Chapter, and the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. In addition, the application must state the number of jobs to be created that are located within a development zone, the number of jobs to be created that will be filled by employees residing within the development zone, and the number of jobs to be created that will be filled by employees residing within a census tract or census block group that has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee ~~of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.~~ of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each credit the taxpayer intends to claim with respect to a location that is in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area, subject to a maximum fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per taxpayer per taxable year. If the taxpayer applies for certification for a credit that relates to locations in more than one enterprise tier area, the fee is based on the highest-numbered enterprise tier area.

The Secretary of Commerce shall retain one-fourth of the proceeds of the fee imposed in this section for the costs of administering this section. The Secretary of Commerce shall credit the remaining proceeds of the fee imposed in this section to the Department of Revenue for the costs of administering and auditing the credits allowed in this Article. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the Department to which they are credited.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.

(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

(4) The number of new jobs created within development zones, and the percentage of those jobs that were filled by residents of the zones.

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.8. Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3 for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1996.

"§ 105-129.9. Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if it is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms "qualified research expenses" and "base amount" have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-228.90(b), as used in this section, the term "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code as enacted as of January 1, 1999.

"§ 105-129.11. Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

"§ 105-129.13. Credit for development zone projects.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who contributes cash or property to a development zone agency for an improvement project in a development zone is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of the contribution. A contribution is for an improvement project for the purposes of this section if the agency receiving the contribution contracts in writing to use the contribution for the project and agrees in the contract to repay to the taxpayer, with interest, any part of the contribution not used for the project. The credit may not be taken for the year in which the contribution is made but must be taken for the taxable year beginning during the calendar year in which the application for the credit becomes effective as provided in this section.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Community development corporation. -- A nonprofit corporation that meets all of the following conditions:

a. It is chartered pursuant to Chapter 55A of the General Statutes and is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

b. Its primary mission is to develop and improve low-income communities and neighborhoods through economic and related development.

c. Its activities and decisions are initiated, managed, and controlled by the constituents of those local communities.

d. Its primary function is to act as deal maker and packager of projects and activities that will increase its constituency's opportunities to become owners, managers, and producers of small businesses, to obtain affordable housing, and to obtain jobs designed to produce positive cash flow and curb blight in the targeted community.

(2) Control. -- A person controls an entity if the person owns, directly or indirectly, more than ten percent (10%) of the voting securities of that entity. As used in this subdivision, the term 'voting security' means a security that (i) confers upon the holder the right to vote for the election of members of the board of directors or similar governing body of the business or (ii) is convertible into, or entitles the holder to receive upon its exercise, a security that confers such a right to vote. A general partnership interest is a voting security.

(3) Development zone agency. -- Any of the following agencies that the Department of Commerce certifies will undertake an improvement project in a development zone:

a. A community development corporation.

b. A community development financial institution certified by the United States Department of the Treasury under the Community Development Banking and Financial Institutions Act of 1994, 12 U.S.C. § 4701, et seq.

c. A local housing authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 157 of the General Statutes.

(4) Improvement project. -- A project to construct or improve residential, commercial, or public real property located in a development zone. The term includes services provided by a development zone agency directly related to the construction or improvement, and project development fees charged by a developer for the construction or improvement.

(c) Certification. -- The Secretary of Commerce shall not certify a development zone agency under this section if the agency, any of the agency's officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used any part of a contribution made under this section for any purpose other than an improvement project.

(d) Limitations. -- A taxpayer who claims a credit under this subsection must identify in the application the development zone agencies to which the taxpayer made contributions and the amount contributed to each. No credit is allowed for a contribution if the taxpayer is related to the development zone agency as defined in section 1313 of the Code or if the taxpayer controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with an affiliate of the development zone agency. No credit is allowed to the extent the taxpayer receives anything of value in exchange for the contribution.

(e) Application. -- To be eligible for the tax credit provided in this section, in addition to the application required under G.S. 105-129.6, the taxpayer must file an application for the credit with the Secretary of Revenue on or before April 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. The Secretary may grant extensions of this deadline, as the Secretary finds appropriate, upon the request of the taxpayer, except that the application may not be filed after September 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. An application is effective for the year in which it is timely filed. The application must be on a form prescribed by the Secretary and must include any supporting documentation that the Secretary may require. If a contribution for which a credit is applied for was of property rather than cash, the taxpayer must include with the application a certified appraisal of the value of the property contributed.

(f) Ceiling. -- The total amount of all tax credits allowed to taxpayers under this section for contributions made in a calendar year may not exceed four million dollars ($4,000,000). The Secretary of Revenue must calculate the total amount of tax credits claimed from the applications filed under this section. If the total amount of tax credits claimed for contributions made in a calendar year exceeds four million dollars ($4,000,000), the Secretary must allow a portion of the credits claimed by allocating a total of four million dollars ($4,000,000) in tax credits in proportion to the size of the credit claimed by each taxpayer. If a credit is reduced pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary must notify the taxpayer of the amount of the reduction of the credit on or before December 31 of the year the application was filed. The Secretary's allocations based on applications filed pursuant to this section are final and will not be adjusted to account for credits applied for but not claimed.

(g) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this section to the extent the development zone agency uses the taxpayer's contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project. Each development zone agency certified by the Department of Commerce must file with the Department of Commerce annual financial statements audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with Government Audit Standards developed by the Comptroller General of the United States. The annual statements are required each time the agency receives a contribution eligible for the credit allowed under this section until the entire contribution has been used for improvement projects. If the Department of Commerce determines that a development zone agency has used part or all of a contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project, the Department must notify the Secretary of Revenue of the forfeiture, the taxpayer who made the contribution, and the amount forfeited."

An 'interstate carrier' is a person who is engaged in transporting persons or property in interstate commerce for compensation. The Secretary shall prescribe the periods of time, whether monthly, quarterly, semiannually, or otherwise, with respect to which refunds may be claimed, and shall prescribe the time within which, following these periods, an application for refund may be made.

An applicant for refund shall furnish the following information and any proof of the information required by the Secretary:

(1) A list identifying the lubricants, repair parts, and accessories purchased by the applicant inside or outside this State during the refund period.

(2) The purchase price of the items listed in subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(3) The sales and use taxes paid in this State on the listed items.

(4) The number of miles the applicant's motor vehicles, railroad cars, locomotives, and airplanes were operated both inside and outside this State during the refund period.

(5) Any other information required by the Secretary.

For each applicant, the Secretary shall compute the amount to be refunded as follows. First, the Secretary shall determine the ratio of the number of miles the applicant operated its motor vehicles, railroad cars, locomotives, and airplanes in this State during the refund period to the number of miles it operated them both inside and outside this State during the refund period. Second, the Secretary shall determine the applicant's proportional liability for the refund period by multiplying this mileage ratio by the purchase price of the items identified in subdivision (1) of this subsection and then multiplying the resulting product by the tax rate that would have applied to the items if they had all been purchased in this State. Third, the Secretary shall refund to each applicant the excess of the amount of sales and use taxes the applicant paid in this State during the refund period on these items over the applicant's proportional liability for the refund period."

(c) Forfeiture. -- If the taxpayer is required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit under that section with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, the taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section with respect to that qualified North Carolina low-income building. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

Section 12. Reserved.

Section 13. G.S. 105-129.17 reads as rewritten:

This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the ~~credit~~ credits may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 14. G.S. 105-129.18 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim the ~~credit~~ credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection."

Section 15. G.S. 105-129.19 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REEVALUATE INEFFECTIVE TAX INCENTIVES SO THAT THE NET EFFECT OF THE WILLIAM S. LEE AMENDMENTS IS REVENUE-NEUTRAL FOR THE 1999-2000 BUDGET.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

LIMIT TIER FIVE INCENTIVES

Section 1. G.S. 105-129.4 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a2) Tier Five. -- No credit is allowed under this Article for creating jobs or for worker training if, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the jobs are or will be located in a qualified tier five area. No credit is allowed under this Article for investing in machinery and equipment, for research and development, or for investing in real property for a central administrative office if, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the location with respect to which the credit is claimed is in a qualified tier five area. A qualified tier five area is an area that is in an enterprise tier five area but is not in one or more of the following:

(1) A development zone.

(2) A county with a population of less than 20,000 according to the most recent population statistics certified by the State Planning Officer.

(3) A county with an unemployment rate above four percent (4%) according to the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data."

REQUIRE SUNSET REVIEW

Section 2. Section 10.2(3) of Chapter 13 of the 1996 Second Extra Session reads as rewritten:

"(3) Quality jobs and business expansion tax credits. -- Sections 3.5, 3.6, and 3.8 through 3.10 of Part III of this act become effective August 1, 1996. G.S. 105-129.11, as enacted by Part III of this act, becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1997, and applies to training expenditures made on or after July 1, 1997. The remainder of Part III of this act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1996, and applies to jobs created on or after August 1, 1996, and property placed in service on or after August 1, 1996. Article 3A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed effective for applications for credits filed under G.S. 105-129.6 on or after January 1, ~~2002.~~ 2004. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is repealed effective for business property placed in service on or after January 1, ~~2002.~~ 2004.

It is the intent of the General Assembly that extension of the sunset date of Article 3A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes shall not be considered until the General Assembly has the results of a thorough evaluation that meets all of the following conditions:

a. It was supported by sufficient resources and given sufficient time to allow a meaningful review of the effectiveness, appropriateness, and efficiency of Article 3A.

b. It was conducted by a consultant that was equally responsive to all State agencies that have a stake in the study: the Department of Commerce, the Department of Revenue, and the General Assembly.

c. It provides a scientifically valid analysis of the extent to which the cost of Article 3A subsidizes private businesses for decisions they would have made anyway."

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

The qualifying information must be in the form prescribed by the Secretary, must cover each taxable year beginning with the first taxable year the credit is claimed, and must be signed and affirmed by the individual who signs the taxpayer's tax return. The information required by this subsection is information demonstrating that the taxpayer has met the conditions for qualifying for an initial credit and any installments and carryforwards, and includes the following:

COMMERCE TO INITIATE INCENTIVE REFORM

Section 6. The Department of Commerce shall initiate and negotiate with other states the development of an interstate compact to prohibit or reduce the use of tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. The Department of Commerce shall actively support the enactment of federal legislation to prohibit or reduce states' use of tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. Version:	PCS for First Edition

SUMMARY: This bill would make five changes relating to tax incentives. First, it eliminates Bill Lee Act credits in certain tier five counties effective January 1, 2000. Second, it extends for two years the sunsets on the Bill Lee Act credits and the Business Property credit, and provides that the General Assembly will not consider extending the sunset on the Bill Lee Act credits further until a thorough evaluation has been conducted. Third, it requires taxpayers to include with their tax returns the information that they must generate under current law to establish eligibility for the credits. Fourth, it raises from $80 to $320 the sales tax cap that applies to certain purchases, effective October 1, 1999. Fifth, it requires the Department of Commerce to initiate and negotiate an interstate compact to prevent interstate competition through incentives, and to seek federal legislation to address the problem of interstate competition through incentives.

Limit Tier Five Incentives. Section 1 of this bill would provide that Bill Lee Act credits are not allowed for jobs or investments located in certain tier five counties. The credits would still apply for locations in a development zone, in a county that has a population of less than 20,000, and in a county whose poverty rate is above 4%. Section 1 would become effective for new credits beginning with the 2000 tax year.

Under the Bill Lee Act, all counties are divided into five enterprise tiers, ranked by economic distress as measured by a formula that combines unemployment, per capita income, and population growth. Those counties in lower-numbered tiers receive more favorable incentives than those in higher tiers. Currently, the following counties are tier five counties: Buncombe, Cabarrus, Chatham, Currituck, Davie, Durham, Forsyth, Guilford, Henderson, Iredell, Johnston, Lee, Mecklenburg, Moore, New Hanover, Orange, Polk, Randolph, Stokes, Union, and Wake. Under this bill, Bill Lee Act incentives would be unavailable in all of those counties (except in development zones within the counties), with the exception of Currituck, Lee, Moore, New Hanover, and Polk.

In 1998, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to provide additional incentives for businesses that locate or expand in development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within cities. The statutory conditions for qualifying as a development zone were designed to target only relatively small, economically distressed areas. These conditions are (1) the area consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) the area has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) the area is located at least partly in city with a population over 5,000. Section 1 of the bill does not restrict existing incentives for development zones, even those located in enterprise tier five areas.

Require Sunset Review. Section 2 of the bill would extend from 2002 until 2004 the sunsets on the Bill Lee Act credits and the Business Property credit, and amend the Bill Lee Act sunset to provide that the General Assembly shall not consider extending the sunset further until it has the results of a thorough study that (1) provides a meaningful review of the effectiveness, appropriateness, and efficiency of the credits; (2) was conducted by a consultant that was equally responsive to affected agencies (Commerce, Revenue, and the General Assembly); and (3) provides an analysis of the extent to which the cost of the credits subsidizes businesses for decisions they would have made anyway.

Taxpayers Include Qualifying Information with Return. Section 3 of this bill would require taxpayers to include with their tax returns the information they must generate under current law to determine whether they are eligible for Bill Lee Act credits. The Bill Lee Act incentives recommended by the Department of Commerce over the last four years have contained many conditions and standards a taxpayer must meet in order to be eligible for the incentives. The incentives also contain what are known as "clawback" provisions, which require a taxpayer to forfeit a targeted incentive if it turns out the taxpayer did not meet the conditions for qualifying for the incentive, and to lose future installments of a tax credit if the job or investment on which the credit was based does not remain in place. Section 3 requires taxpayers who claim Bill Lee Act credits to include with their tax returns information about whether the jobs and investments have remained in place and whether other conditions have been met. Section 4 would allow the Department of Revenue to share this information with the Employment Security Commission and the Department of Commerce; this sharing could enable the Department of Commerce to evaluate whether the incentives are accomplishing their purpose of creating high-quality jobs throughout the State.

Update Sales Tax Cap. Section 5 of this bill would raise from $80 to $320 the sales tax cap that applies to certain items that receive preferential sales tax treatment. Section 5 would become effective October 1, 1999. The $80 cap has not been increased in decades, and so does not reflect inflation. The increase to $320 would partly reflect inflation since the cap was last amended. Most items are subject to sales and use tax at the combined State and local rate of 6% (6.5% in Mecklenburg County). The following items are taxed at 1% with an $80 cap: farm equipment and containers, manufacturing machinery, telephone company equipment, commercial laundry equipment, freezer plant machinery, major recycling facility equipment, and air courier equipment.

Commerce to Initiate Incentive Reform. Section 6 of the bill would require the Department of Commerce to take active steps to end the interstate incentives war that causes states to offer increasingly larger incentives as they compete against one another to lure businesses. First, the Department would be required to initiate and negotiate an interstate compact to prohibit or reduce the use of incentives to lure businesses from one state to another. Second, the Department would be required to actively support federal legislation to the same end. Section 6 requires the Department of Commerce to report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on the success of its efforts by March 2000 and 2001.

a. More than ten percent (10%) of its population is below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

b. It is immediately adjacent to another census tract or census block group that is in the same zone and has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

(5) None of the census tracts or census block groups in the zone is located in another development zone designated by the Secretary of Commerce.

(b) Designation. -- Upon request of a taxpayer or a local government, the Secretary of Commerce shall designate whether an area is a development zone that meets the conditions of subsection (a) of this section. If the applicant is a taxpayer, it must notify each city in which part of the zone is located. A development zone designation is effective for ~~48~~ 24 months following the designation.

(c) Relationship With Enterprise Tiers. -- For the purpose of the wage standard requirement of G.S. 105-129.3(b), the credit for investing in machinery and equipment allowed in G.S. 105-129.9, and the credit for worker training allowed in G.S. 105-129.11, a development zone is considered an enterprise tier one area. For all other purposes, a development zone has the same enterprise tier designation as the county in which it is located.

"§ 105-129.4. Eligibility; forfeiture.

(a) Type of Business. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed by G.S. 105-129.12 if the real property for which the credit is claimed is used for a central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits allowed by this Article if the taxpayer engages in one of the following types of businesses and the jobs with respect to which a credit is claimed are created in that business, the machinery and equipment with respect to which a credit is claimed are used in that business, and the research and development for which a credit is claimed are carried out as part of that business:

(1) Air courier services.
(2) Central administrative office that creates at least 40 new jobs.
(2a) Customer service center located in an enterprise tier one or two area.
(3) Data processing.
(3a) Electronic mail order house that creates at least 250 new jobs and is located in an enterprise tier one or two area.
(4) Manufacturing.
(5) ~~Warehousing or wholesale trade.~~ Warehousing.
(6) Wholesale trade.

(a1) ~~Central Administrative Office.~~ New Jobs Defined. -- A central administrative office creates at least 40 new jobs if the taxpayer hires at least 40 additional full-time employees to fill new positions at the office either in the year the taxpayer first uses the property as a central administrative office or in the preceding 24 months while using temporary space for the central administrative office functions during completion of the administrative office property. An electronic mail order house creates at least 250 new jobs if the taxpayer hires at least 250 additional full-time employees to fill new positions at the house in the two-year period ending on the last day of the taxable year the taxpayer first claims a credit under this Article. Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State are not considered new jobs for purposes of this subsection.

(b) Wage Standard. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if the jobs for which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central administrative office if the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State.

(b1) Large Investment. -- A taxpayer who is otherwise eligible for a tax credit under this Article becomes eligible for the large investment enhancements provided for credits under this Article if the Secretary of Commerce certifies that the taxpayer will purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central administrative office property. If the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified within this two-year period, the taxpayer forfeits the large investment enhancements as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(b2) Health Insurance. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit for creating jobs or for worker training under this Article if the taxpayer provides health insurance for the positions for which the credit is claimed at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the other credits under this Article if the taxpayer provides health insurance for all of the full-time positions at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health insurance if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125.

Each year that a taxpayer claims an installment or carryforward of a credit allowed under this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the taxpayer's certification that the taxpayer continues to provide health insurance for the jobs for which the credit was claimed or the full-time jobs at the location with respect to which the credit was claimed. If the taxpayer ceases to provide health insurance for the jobs during a taxable year, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment or carryforward of the credit.

(b3) Environmental Impact. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer certifies that, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the taxpayer has no pending administrative, civil, or criminal enforcement action based on alleged significant violations of any program implemented by an agency of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, and has had no final determination of responsibility for any significant administrative, civil, or criminal violation of any program implemented by an agency of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources within the last five years. A significant violation is a violation or alleged violation that does not satisfy any of the conditions of G.S. 143-215.6B(d). The Secretary of Commerce will provide the Department of Environment and Natural Resources a list of all taxpayers making this certification. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources may conduct random audit checks to verify taxpayers' certifications. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources must notify the Department of Revenue of any taxpayer certifications it determines are not accurate.

(b4) Safety and Health Programs. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer certifies that, as of the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, at the business location with respect to which the credit is claimed, the taxpayer has no outstanding citations under the Occupational Safety and Health Act and has had no serious violation as defined in G.S. 95-127 within the last three years. The Secretary of Commerce will provide the Department of Labor a list of all taxpayers making this certification. The Department of Labor may conduct random audit checks to verify taxpayers' certifications. The Department of Labor must notify the Department of Revenue of any taxpayer certifications it determines are not accurate.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-55, s. 1.

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

(2) The business was required to file a notice of plant closing or mass layoff under the federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2102, before it was acquired.

(3) The business was acquired by its employees through an employee stock option transaction or another similar mechanism.

(f) Development Zone Project Credit. -- Subsections (a) through (b4) of this section do not apply to the credit for development zone projects provided in G.S. 105-129.13.

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this ~~Chapter and~~ Chapter, the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this ~~Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against~~ Chapter, and the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. In addition, the application must state the number of full-time jobs to be created that are located within a development zone, the number of full-time jobs to be created that are expected to be filled by employees residing within the development zone, and the number of full-time jobs to be created that are expected to be filled by employees residing within a census tract or census block group that has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee ~~of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.~~ of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each credit the taxpayer intends to claim with respect to a location that is in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area, subject to a maximum fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per taxpayer per taxable year. If the taxpayer applies for certification for a credit that relates to locations in more than one enterprise tier area, the fee is based on the highest-numbered enterprise tier area.

The Secretary of Commerce shall retain one-fourth of the proceeds of the fee imposed in this section for the costs of administering this section. The Secretary of Commerce shall credit the remaining proceeds of the fee imposed in this section to the Department of Revenue for the costs of administering and auditing the credits allowed in this Article. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the Department to which they are credited.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.

(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

(4) The number of new jobs created within development zones, and the percentage of those jobs that were filled by residents of the zones.

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

(a) To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

(b) Each taxpayer must provide with the tax return qualifying information for each credit claimed under this Article for the first taxable year the credit is claimed and for every year in which a subsequent installment or a carryforward of that credit is claimed. The qualifying information must be in the form prescribed by the Secretary, must cover each taxable year beginning with the first taxable year the credit is claimed, and must be signed and affirmed by the individual who signs the taxpayer's tax return. The information required by this subsection is information demonstrating that the taxpayer has met the conditions for qualifying for an initial credit and any installments and carryforwards, and includes the following:

(1) The physical location of the jobs and investment with respect to which the credit is claimed, including the enterprise tier designation of the location and whether it is in a development zone. In addition, for each individual who fills a job at a location with respect to which a credit is claimed, the place where the individual resided before taking the job, including any enterprise tier or development zone designation of that place.

(2) The type of business with respect to which the credit is claimed, as required by G.S. 105-129.4(a), and wage information described in G.S. 105-129.4(b).

(3) If the credit is claimed with respect to a large investment certified under G.S. 105-129.4(b1), the amount of the investment requirement under that subsection that has been met to date.

(4) Qualifying information required for the credit for creating jobs allowed under G.S. 105-129.8, the credit for investing in machinery and equipment allowed under G.S. 105-129.9, the credit for worker training allowed under G.S. 105-129.11, the credit for investing in central administrative office property allowed in G.S. 105-129.12, and any other credits allowed under this Article.

"§ 105-129.8. Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

"§ 105-129.9. Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places ~~it~~ them in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment ~~is~~ are eligible if ~~it is~~ they are capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and ~~is~~ not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that ~~is~~ are not capitalized by the taxpayer ~~is~~ are eligible if the taxpayer leases ~~it~~ them from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the ~~equipment is~~ machinery and equipment are placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which ~~the equipment is~~ they are placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that ~~is~~ are in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that ~~was~~ were in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms "qualified research expenses" and "base amount" have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-228.90(b), as used in this section, the term "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code as enacted as of January 1, 1999.

"§ 105-129.11. Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

"§ 105-129.13. Credit for development zone projects.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who contributes cash or property to a development zone agency for an improvement project in a development zone is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of the contribution. A contribution is for an improvement project for the purposes of this section if the agency receiving the contribution contracts in writing to use the contribution for the project and agrees in the contract to repay to the taxpayer, with interest, any part of the contribution not used for the project. The credit may not be taken for the year in which the contribution is made but must be taken for the taxable year beginning during the calendar year in which the application for the credit becomes effective as provided in this section.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Community development corporation. -- A nonprofit corporation that meets all of the following conditions:

a. It is chartered pursuant to Chapter 55A of the General Statutes and is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

b. Its primary mission is to develop and improve low-income communities and neighborhoods through economic and related development.

c. Its activities and decisions are initiated, managed, and controlled by the constituents of those local communities.

d. Its primary function is to act as deal maker and packager of projects and activities that will increase its constituency's opportunities to become owners, managers, and producers of small businesses, to obtain affordable housing, and to obtain jobs designed to produce positive cash flow and curb blight in the targeted community.

(2) Community development purpose. -- A purpose for which a city is authorized to expend funds under G.S. 160A-456, 160A-457, and 160A-457.2.

(3) Control. -- A person controls an entity if the person owns, directly or indirectly, more than ten percent (10%) of the voting securities of that entity. As used in this subdivision, the term 'voting security' means a security that (i) confers upon the holder the right to vote for the election of members of the board of directors or similar governing body of the business or (ii) is convertible into, or entitles the holder to receive upon its exercise, a security that confers such a right to vote. A general partnership interest is a voting security.

(4) Development zone agency. -- Any of the following agencies that the Department of Commerce certifies will undertake an improvement project in a development zone:

a. A community-based development organization qualified under 24 C.F.R. § 570.204 to receive community development block grant funds under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 5301, et seq., to carry out a neighborhood revitalization project, a community economic development project, or an energy conservation project.

b. A community action agency that has been officially designated as such pursuant to section 210 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, Public Law 88-452, 78 Stat. 508 and which has not lost its designation as a result of a failure to comply with the provisions of that act.

Construction or improvement includes services provided by a development zone agency directly related to the construction or improvement, and project development fees charged by a developer for the construction or improvement.

(c) Certification. -- Before certifying that a development zone agency will undertake an improvement project in a development zone, the Secretary must require the agency to provide sufficient documentation to establish the identity of the agency, the nature of the project, and that the project is for a community development purpose and is located in a development zone. The Secretary of Commerce shall not certify a development zone agency under this section if the agency, any of the agency's officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used any part of a contribution made under this section for any purpose other than an improvement project.

(d) Limitations. -- A taxpayer who claims a credit under this subsection must identify in the application the development zone agencies to which the taxpayer made contributions and the amount contributed to each. No credit is allowed for a contribution if the taxpayer is related to the development zone agency as defined in section 1313 of the Code or if the taxpayer controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with an affiliate of the development zone agency. No credit is allowed to the extent the taxpayer receives anything of value in exchange for the contribution.

(e) Application. -- To be eligible for the tax credit provided in this section, in addition to the application required under G.S. 105-129.6, the taxpayer must file an application for the credit with the Secretary of Revenue on or before April 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. The Secretary may grant extensions of this deadline, as the Secretary finds appropriate, upon the request of the taxpayer, except that the application may not be filed after September 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. An application is effective for the year in which it is timely filed. The application must be on a form prescribed by the Secretary and must include any supporting documentation that the Secretary may require. If a contribution for which a credit is applied for was of property rather than cash, the taxpayer must include with the application a certified appraisal of the value of the property contributed.

(f) Ceiling. -- The total amount of all tax credits allowed to taxpayers under this section for contributions made in a calendar year may not exceed four million dollars ($4,000,000). The Secretary of Revenue must calculate the total amount of tax credits claimed from the applications filed under this section. If the total amount of tax credits claimed for contributions made in a calendar year exceeds four million dollars ($4,000,000), the Secretary must allow a portion of the credits claimed by allocating a total of four million dollars ($4,000,000) in tax credits in proportion to the size of the credit claimed by each taxpayer. If a credit is reduced pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary must notify the taxpayer of the amount of the reduction of the credit on or before December 31 of the year the application was filed. The Secretary's allocations based on applications filed pursuant to this section are final and will not be adjusted to account for credits applied for but not claimed.

(g) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this section to the extent the development zone agency uses the taxpayer's contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project. Each development zone agency certified by the Department of Commerce must file with the Department of Commerce annual financial statements audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with Government Audit Standards developed by the Comptroller General of the United States. The annual statements are required each time the agency receives a contribution eligible for the credit allowed under this section until the entire contribution has been used for improvement projects. If the Department of Commerce determines that a development zone agency has used part or all of a contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project, the Department must notify the Secretary of Revenue of the forfeiture, the taxpayer who made the contribution, and the amount forfeited."

PART III. AFFORDABLE HOUSING TAX CREDIT

Section 10. The title of Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"ARTICLE 3B.

"Business Tax ~~Credit.~~ Credits."

Section 11. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-129.16A. Credit for low-income housing.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that is allowed for the taxable year a federal income tax credit for low-income housing under section 42 of the Code with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, is allowed a credit under this Article equal to a percentage of the total federal credit allowed with respect to that building. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit allowed is the total allowed during the 10-year federal credit period plus the disallowed first-year credit allowed in the 11th year. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit is calculated based on qualified basis as of the end of the first year of the credit period and is not recalculated to reflect subsequent increases in qualified basis. For buildings that meet condition (c)(1) of this section, the credit percentage is seventy-five percent (75%). For other buildings, the credit percentage is twenty-five percent (25%).

(b) Timing. -- The credit must be taken in equal installments over the five years beginning in the first taxable year in which the federal credit is claimed for that building. During the first taxable year in which the credit allowed under this section may be taken with respect to a building, the amount of the installment must be multiplied by the applicable fraction under section 42(f)(2)(A) of the Code. Any reduction in the amount of the first installment as a result of this multiplication is carried forward and may be taken in the first taxable year after the fifth installment is allowed under this section.

(c) Definitions. -- The definitions in section 42 of the Code apply in this section. In addition, as used in this section the term 'qualified North Carolina low-income building' means a qualified low-income building that was allocated a federal credit under section 42(h)(1) of the Code, was not allowed a federal credit under section 42(h)(4) of the Code, and meets any of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier one or two enterprise area, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3.

(2) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier three or four enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is fifty percent (50%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(3) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier five enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is thirty-five percent (35%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the five years in which an installment of the credit under this section accrues, the taxpayer is no longer eligible for the corresponding federal credit with respect to the same qualified North Carolina low-income building, then the credit under this section expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(e) Forfeiture. -- If the taxpayer is required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit under that section with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, the taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section with respect to that qualified North Carolina low-income building. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

Section 12. Reserved.

Section 13. G.S. 105-129.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.17. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article ~~is~~ are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter or the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The taxpayer must elect the tax against which ~~the~~ a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of ~~the~~ a credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The ~~credit~~ total credits allowed in this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which ~~it is~~ they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the ~~credit~~ credits may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 14. G.S. 105-129.18 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim the ~~credit~~ credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection."

Section 15. G.S. 105-129.19 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

The Department of Revenue shall report to the Legislative Research Commission and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of taxpayers that claimed the ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article.

(2) The cost of business property with respect to which business property credits were claimed.

(2a) The location of each qualified North Carolina low-income building with respect to which a low-income housing credit was claimed.

(3) The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed."

Section 16. G.S. 105-241.1(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Statute of Limitations. -- There is no statute of limitations and the Secretary may propose an assessment of tax due from a taxpayer at any time if (i) the taxpayer did not file a proper application for a license or did not file a return, (ii) the taxpayer filed a false or fraudulent application or return, or (iii) the taxpayer attempted in any manner to fraudulently evade or defeat the tax.

If a taxpayer files a return reflecting a federal determination as provided in G.S. 105-29, 105-130.20, 105-159, 105-160.8, 105-163.6A, or 105-197.1, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due within one year after the return is filed or within three years of when the original return was filed or due to be filed, whichever is later. If there is a federal determination and the taxpayer does not file the required return, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due within three years after the date the Secretary received the final report of the federal determination. ~~If~~

If a taxpayer forfeits a tax credit ~~pursuant to G.S. 105-163.014 or Article 3A of~~ or tax benefit pursuant to forfeiture provisions of this Chapter, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the forfeiture within three years after the date of the forfeiture. If a taxpayer elects under section 1033(a)(2)(A) of the Code not to recognize gain from involuntary conversion of property into money, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the conversion or election within the applicable period provided under section 1033(a)(2)(C) or section 1033(a)(2)(D) of the Code. If a taxpayer sells at a gain the taxpayer's principal residence, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the sale within the period provided under section 1034(j) of the Code.

In all other cases, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due from a taxpayer within three years after the date the taxpayer filed an application for a license or a return or the date the application or return was required by law to be filed, whichever is later.

If the Secretary proposes an assessment of tax within the time provided in this section, the final assessment of the tax is timely.

A taxpayer may make a written waiver of any of the limitations of time set out in this subsection, for either a definite or an indefinite time. If the Secretary accepts the taxpayer's waiver, the Secretary may propose an assessment at any time within the time extended by the waiver."

PART IV. MISCELLANEOUS CHANGES

Section 17. G.S. 143B-437.01(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Creation and Purpose of Fund. -- There is created in the Department of Commerce the Industrial Development Fund to provide funds to assist the local government units of the most economically distressed counties in the State in creating jobs in certain industries. The Department of Commerce shall adopt rules providing for the administration of the program. Those rules shall include the following provisions, which shall apply to each grant from the fund:

The funds shall be expended at a maximum rate of five thousand dollars ($5,000) per new job created up to a maximum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) per project.

(3) There shall be no local match requirement if the project is located in an enterprise tier one area as defined in G.S. 105-129.3.

(4) The Department may authorize a local government that receives funds under this section to use up to two percent (2%) of the funds, if necessary, to verify that the funds are used only in accordance with law and to otherwise administer the grant or loan.

(5) No project subject to the Environmental Policy Act, Article 1 of Chapter 113A of the General Statutes, shall be funded unless the Secretary of Commerce finds that the proposed project will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment. The Secretary of Commerce shall not make this finding unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that concludes, after consideration of avoidance and mitigation measures, that the proposed project will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment."

Section 17.1. Article 12 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-277.13. Brownfields property.

(a) The definitions in G.S. 130A-310.31 apply in this section. In addition, for the purpose of this section, the term 'recently remediated brownfields property' means brownfields property for which all remediation required under a brownfields agreement has been completed within the 10 years immediately preceding the listing date for the property, as certified by the Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources.

(b) Recently remediated brownfields property is designated a special class of property under Section 2(2) of Article V of the North Carolina Constitution and shall be assessed for taxation at the lower of its true value as of the valuation date or its true value as of January 1 preceding the beginning of its remediation under a brownfields agreement."

Section 17.2. G.S. 130A-310.38 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-310.38. Brownfields Property Reuse Act Implementation Account.

The Brownfields Property Reuse Act Implementation Account is created as a nonreverting interest-bearing account in the Office of the State Treasurer. The Account shall consist of fees and interest collected under G.S. 130A-310.39, moneys appropriated to it by the General Assembly, moneys received from the federal government, moneys contributed by private organizations, and moneys received from any other source. Funds in the Account shall be used by the Department to defray ~~a portion of~~ the costs of implementing this Part. The Department may contract with a private entity for any services necessary to implement this Part."

Section 17.3. G.S. 130A-310.39 reads as rewritten:

(a) The Department shall collect the following fees:

(1) A prospective developer who submits a proposed brownfields agreement for review by the Department shall pay ~~a~~ an initial fee of ~~one~~ two thousand dollars ~~($1,000).~~ ($2,000).

(2) A prospective developer who ~~submits a final report certifying completion of remediation under~~ enters into a brownfields agreement with the Department shall pay a fee ~~of five hundred dollars ($500.00).~~ in an amount equal to the full cost to the Department and the Department of Justice of all activities related to the brownfields agreement, including but not limited to negotiation of the brownfields agreement, public notice and community involvement, and monitoring the implementation of the brownfields agreement. The procedure by which the amount of this fee is determined shall be established by agreement between the prospective developer and the Department and shall be set out as a part of the brownfields agreement. The fee imposed by this subdivision shall be paid in two installments. The first installment shall be due at the time the prospective developer and the Department enter into the brownfields agreement and shall equal all costs that have been incurred by the Department and the Department of Justice at that time less the amount of the initial fee paid pursuant to subdivision (1) of this subsection. The Department shall not enter into the brownfields agreement unless the first installment is paid in full when due. A lien for the amount of the unpaid fee plus interest shall attach to the real and personal property of the prospective developer and to the brownfields property until the fee and interest is paid. The Department may collect unpaid fees and interest in any manner that a unit of local government may collect delinquent taxes."

Section 18. To the extent feasible, the Department of Commerce shall encourage and support reasonable efforts to develop agreements to reduce the use of excessive tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. The Department of Commerce shall also support appropriate and reasonable federal legislation to prohibit or reduce states' use of tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. This section does not require the Secretary of Commerce to support actions that will place the State at an economic disadvantage or that are contrary to the economic well-being of the citizens of the State. The Department of Commerce shall report on its progress in these efforts to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by March 1, 2000, and March 1, 2001.

Section 19. The General Assembly finds that tax credits are enacted from time to time to encourage or reward behavior that is beneficial to the State. These tax credits are tax expenditures that, like appropriations, spend public funds for the benefit of certain businesses, interest groups, and other taxpayers. Unlike appropriations, however, these tax credits may continue in perpetuity, costing the public millions of dollars each year without periodic review by the General Assembly. In order to allow the General Assembly the opportunity to consider each tax credit on its merits from time to time to determine whether it continues to serve a public purpose that justifies its cost to the public, each tax credit should be sunset at least every five years. After enactment of this act, those businesses, interest groups, and other taxpayers who benefit from these tax credits are encouraged to demonstrate the continued need for each tax credit. It is the intent of the General Assembly to review these tax credits and renew all that continue to serve a valid public purpose, subject to review at least every five years.

If the taxpayer ceases to provide health insurance for the jobs during a taxable year, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment or carryforward of the credit.

(b3) Environmental Impact. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer certifies that, at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, the taxpayer has no pending administrative, civil, or criminal enforcement action based on alleged significant violations of any program implemented by an agency of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, and has had no final determination of responsibility for any significant administrative, civil, or criminal violation of any program implemented by an agency of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources within the last five years. A significant violation is a violation or alleged violation that does not satisfy any of the conditions of G.S. 143-215.6B(d). The Secretary of Commerce will provide the Department of Environment and Natural Resources a list of all taxpayers making this certification. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources may conduct random audit checks to verify taxpayers' certifications. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources must notify the Department of Revenue of any taxpayer certifications it determines are not accurate.

(b4) Safety and Health Programs. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed under this Article only if the taxpayer certifies that, as of the time the taxpayer applies for the credit, at the business location with respect to which the credit is claimed, the taxpayer has no outstanding citations under the Occupational Safety and Health Act and has had no serious violation as defined in G.S. 95-127 within the last three years. The Secretary of Commerce will provide the Department of Labor a list of all taxpayers making this certification. The Department of Labor may conduct random audit checks to verify taxpayers' certifications. The Department of Labor must notify the Department of Revenue of any taxpayer certifications it determines are not accurate.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-55, s. 1.

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability. The acquisition of a business is a new investment that creates new eligibility in the acquiring taxpayer under this Article if any of the following conditions are met:

(1) The business closed before it was acquired.

(2) The business was required to file a notice of plant closing or mass layoff under the federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, 29 U.S.C. § 2102, before it was acquired.

(3) The business was acquired by its employees through an employee stock option transaction or another similar mechanism.

(f) Development Zone Project Credit. -- Subsections (a) through (b4) of this section do not apply to the credit for development zone projects provided in G.S. 105-129.13.

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this ~~Chapter and~~ Chapter, the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this ~~Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against~~ Chapter, and the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. In addition, the application must state the number of full-time jobs to be created that are located within a development zone, the number of full-time jobs to be created that are expected to be filled by employees residing within the development zone, and the number of full-time jobs to be created that are expected to be filled by employees residing within a census tract or census block group that has more than twenty percent (20%) of its population below the poverty level according to the most recent federal decennial census.

If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary of Commerce determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 or G.S. 105-129.13, as applicable, with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(a1) Fee. -- When filing an application for certification under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Department of Commerce a fee ~~of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). Fees collected under this subsection are receipts of the Department of Commerce.~~ of five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each credit the taxpayer intends to claim with respect to a location that is in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area, subject to a maximum fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) per taxpayer per taxable year. If the taxpayer applies for certification for a credit that relates to locations in more than one enterprise tier area, the fee is based on the highest-numbered enterprise tier area.

The Secretary of Commerce shall retain one-fourth of the proceeds of the fee imposed in this section for the costs of administering this section. The Secretary of Commerce shall credit the remaining proceeds of the fee imposed in this section to the Department of Revenue for the costs of administering and auditing the credits allowed in this Article. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the Department to which they are credited.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.

(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

(4) The number of new jobs created within development zones, and the percentage of those jobs that were filled by residents of the zones.

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

(a) To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

(b) Each taxpayer must provide with the tax return qualifying information for each credit claimed under this Article for the first taxable year the credit is claimed and for every year in which a subsequent installment or a carryforward of that credit is claimed. The qualifying information must be in the form prescribed by the Secretary, must cover each taxable year beginning with the first taxable year the credit is claimed, and must be signed and affirmed by the individual who signs the taxpayer's tax return. The information required by this subsection is information demonstrating that the taxpayer has met the conditions for qualifying for an initial credit and any installments and carryforwards, and includes the following:

(1) The physical location of the jobs and investment with respect to which the credit is claimed, including the enterprise tier designation of the location and whether it is in a development zone. In addition, for each individual who fills a job at a location with respect to which a credit is claimed, the place where the individual resided before taking the job, including any enterprise tier or development zone designation of that place.

(2) The type of business with respect to which the credit is claimed, as required by G.S. 105-129.4(a), and wage information described in G.S. 105-129.4(b).

(3) If the credit is claimed with respect to a large investment certified under G.S. 105-129.4(b1), the amount of the investment requirement under that subsection that has been met to date.

(4) Qualifying information required for the credit for creating jobs allowed under G.S. 105-129.8, the credit for investing in machinery and equipment allowed under G.S. 105-129.9, the credit for worker training allowed under G.S. 105-129.11, the credit for investing in central administrative office property allowed in G.S. 105-129.12, and any other credits allowed under this Article.

"§ 105-129.8. Credit for creating jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, and hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in this State is allowed a credit for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is located. In addition, if the position is located in a development zone, the amount of the credit is increased by four thousand dollars ($4,000) per job.

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area. The credit may not be taken in the taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the taxpayer to qualify for the credit.

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the taxpayer had in the year in which the taxpayer qualified for the credit, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, or is moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

(b1), (c) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1996, Second Extra Session, c. 13, s. 3.3.

"§ 105-129.9. Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places ~~it~~ them in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment ~~is~~ are eligible if ~~it is~~ they are capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and ~~is~~ not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that ~~is~~ are not capitalized by the taxpayer ~~is~~ are eligible if the taxpayer leases ~~it~~ them from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the ~~equipment is~~ machinery and equipment are placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which ~~the equipment is~~ they are placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that ~~is~~ are in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that ~~was~~ were in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection.

"§ 105-129.10. Credit for research and development.

(a) General Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section 41(a) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year.

(b) Alternative Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the alternative incremental credit under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed. The State's apportioned share of the federal credit claimed is the amount of the alternative incremental credit the taxpayer claimed under section 41(c)(4) of the Code for the taxable year multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. For the purpose of this subsection, the amount of the alternative incremental credit claimed by a taxpayer is determined without regard to any reduction elected under section 280C(c) of the Code.

(c) Definitions. -- As used in this section, the terms "qualified research expenses" and "base amount" have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-228.90(b), as used in this section, the term "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code as enacted as of January 1, 1999.

"§ 105-129.11. Credit for worker training.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that provides worker training for five or more of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to the wages paid to the eligible employees during the training. Wages paid to an employee performing his or her job while being trained are not eligible for the credit. For positions located in an enterprise tier one area, the credit may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per employee trained during the taxable year. For other positions, the credit may not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) per employee trained during the taxable year. A position is located in an area if more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the area.

(b) Eligibility. -- An employee is eligible if the employee is in a full-time position not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The employee occupies a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs.

(2) The employee is being trained to operate machinery and equipment for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

"§ 105-129.12. Credit for investing in central administrative office property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased real property in this State begins to use the property as a central administrative office during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the eligible investment amount. The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the property and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the property the taxpayer is using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the property the taxpayer was using in this State as central administrative offices on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer was using the most property in this State as central administrative offices. In the case of property that is leased, the cost of the property is not determined as provided in G.S. 105-129.2 but is considered to be the taxpayer's lease payments over a seven-year period, plus any expenditures made by the taxpayer to improve the property before it is used as the taxpayer's central administrative office if the expenditures are not reimbursed or credited by the lessor. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer under this section for property used as a central administrative office is five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office. The basis in any real property for which a credit is allowed under this section shall be reduced by the amount of credit allowable.

(b) Mixed Use Property. -- If the taxpayer uses only part of the property as the taxpayer's central administrative office, the amount of the credit allowed under this section is reduced by multiplying it by a fraction the numerator of which is the square footage of the property used as the taxpayer's central administrative office and the denominator of which is the total square footage of the property.

(c) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, part of the property with respect to which the credit was claimed is no longer used as a central administrative office, the remaining installments of the credit shall be reduced by multiplying it by the fraction described in subsection (b) of this section. If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the total number of employees the taxpayer employs at all of its central administrative offices in this State drops by 40 or more, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit.

In each of these cases, the taxpayer may nonetheless take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

"§ 105-129.13. Credit for development zone projects.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who contributes cash or property to a development zone agency for an improvement project in a development zone is allowed a credit equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of the contribution. A contribution is for an improvement project for the purposes of this section if the agency receiving the contribution contracts in writing to use the contribution for the project and agrees in the contract to repay to the taxpayer, with interest, any part of the contribution not used for the project. The credit may not be taken for the year in which the contribution is made but must be taken for the taxable year beginning during the calendar year in which the application for the credit becomes effective as provided in this section.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Community development corporation. -- A nonprofit corporation that meets all of the following conditions:

a. It is chartered pursuant to Chapter 55A of the General Statutes and is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

b. Its primary mission is to develop and improve low-income communities and neighborhoods through economic and related development.

c. Its activities and decisions are initiated, managed, and controlled by the constituents of those local communities.

d. Its primary function is to act as deal maker and packager of projects and activities that will increase its constituency's opportunities to become owners, managers, and producers of small businesses, to obtain affordable housing, and to obtain jobs designed to produce positive cash flow and curb blight in the targeted community.

(2) Community development purpose. -- A purpose for which a city is authorized to expend funds under G.S. 160A-456, 160A-457, and 160A-457.2.

(3) Control. -- A person controls an entity if the person owns, directly or indirectly, more than ten percent (10%) of the voting securities of that entity. As used in this subdivision, the term 'voting security' means a security that (i) confers upon the holder the right to vote for the election of members of the board of directors or similar governing body of the business or (ii) is convertible into, or entitles the holder to receive upon its exercise, a security that confers such a right to vote. A general partnership interest is a voting security.

(4) Development zone agency. -- Any of the following agencies that the Department of Commerce certifies will undertake an improvement project in a development zone:

a. A community-based development organization qualified under 24 C.F.R. § 570.204 to receive community development block grant funds under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 5301, et seq., to carry out a neighborhood revitalization project, a community economic development project, or an energy conservation project.

b. A community action agency that has been officially designated as such pursuant to section 210 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, Public Law 88-452, 78 Stat. 508 and which has not lost its designation as a result of a failure to comply with the provisions of that act.

c. A community development corporation.

d. A community development financial institution certified by the United States Department of the Treasury under the Community Development Banking and Financial Institutions Act of 1994, 12 U.S.C. § 4701, et seq.

e. A community housing development organization qualified under the HOME Investment Partnerships Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 12701, 12704, and 24 C.F.R. § 92.2.

f. A local housing authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 157 of the General Statutes.

(5) Improvement project. -- A project to construct or improve real property for community development purposes or to acquire real property and convert it for community development purposes. Construction or improvement includes services provided by a development zone agency directly related to the construction or improvement, and project development fees charged by a developer for the construction or improvement.

(c) Certification. -- Before certifying that a development zone agency will undertake an improvement project in a development zone, the Secretary must require the agency to provide sufficient documentation to establish the identity of the agency, the nature of the project, and that the project is for a community development purpose and is located in a development zone. The Secretary of Commerce shall not certify a development zone agency under this section if the agency, any of the agency's officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used any part of a contribution made under this section for any purpose other than an improvement project.

(d) Limitations. -- A taxpayer who claims a credit under this subsection must identify in the application the development zone agencies to which the taxpayer made contributions and the amount contributed to each. No credit is allowed for a contribution if the taxpayer is related to the development zone agency as defined in section 1313 of the Code or if the taxpayer controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with an affiliate of the development zone agency. No credit is allowed to the extent the taxpayer receives anything of value in exchange for the contribution.

(e) Application. -- To be eligible for the tax credit provided in this section, in addition to the application required under G.S. 105-129.6, the taxpayer must file an application for the credit with the Secretary of Revenue on or before April 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. The Secretary may grant extensions of this deadline, as the Secretary finds appropriate, upon the request of the taxpayer, except that the application may not be filed after September 15 of the year following the calendar year in which the contribution was made. An application is effective for the year in which it is timely filed. The application must be on a form prescribed by the Secretary and must include any supporting documentation that the Secretary may require. If a contribution for which a credit is applied for was of property rather than cash, the taxpayer must include with the application a certified appraisal of the value of the property contributed.

(f) Ceiling. -- The total amount of all tax credits allowed to taxpayers under this section for contributions made in a calendar year may not exceed four million dollars ($4,000,000). The Secretary of Revenue must calculate the total amount of tax credits claimed from the applications filed under this section. If the total amount of tax credits claimed for contributions made in a calendar year exceeds four million dollars ($4,000,000), the Secretary must allow a portion of the credits claimed by allocating a total of four million dollars ($4,000,000) in tax credits in proportion to the size of the credit claimed by each taxpayer. If a credit is reduced pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary must notify the taxpayer of the amount of the reduction of the credit on or before December 31 of the year the application was filed. The Secretary's allocations based on applications filed pursuant to this section are final and will not be adjusted to account for credits applied for but not claimed.

(g) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this section to the extent the development zone agency uses the taxpayer's contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project. Each development zone agency certified by the Department of Commerce must file with the Department of Commerce annual financial statements audited in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with Government Audit Standards developed by the Comptroller General of the United States. The annual statements are required each time the agency receives a contribution eligible for the credit allowed under this section until the entire contribution has been used for improvement projects. If the Department of Commerce determines that a development zone agency has used part or all of a contribution for any purpose other than an improvement project, the Department must notify the Secretary of Revenue of the forfeiture, the taxpayer who made the contribution, and the amount forfeited."

Section 2.1. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) Disclosure Prohibited. -- An officer, an employee, or an agent of the State who has access to tax information in the course of service to or employment by the State may not disclose the information to any other person unless the disclosure is made for one of the following purposes:

(22) To furnish the Department of Commerce and the Employment Security Commission a copy of the qualifying information required in G.S. 105-129.7(b)."

PART II. SALES TAX CHANGES

Section 3.(a) G.S. 105-164.4(a)(1d)a. through k. are recodified as G.S. 105-164.4A.

Third, the Secretary shall refund to each applicant the excess of the amount of sales and use taxes the applicant paid in this State during the refund period on these items over the applicant's proportional liability for the refund period."

PART III. AFFORDABLE HOUSING TAX CREDIT

Section 10. The title of Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"ARTICLE 3B.

"Business Tax ~~Credit.~~ Credits."

Section 11. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-129.16A. Credit for low-income housing.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that is allowed for the taxable year a federal income tax credit for low-income housing under section 42 of the Code with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, is allowed a credit under this Article equal to a percentage of the total federal credit allowed with respect to that building. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit allowed is the total allowed during the 10-year federal credit period plus the disallowed first-year credit allowed in the 11th year. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit is calculated based on qualified basis as of the end of the first year of the credit period and is not recalculated to reflect subsequent increases in qualified basis. For buildings that meet condition (c)(1) of this section, the credit percentage is seventy-five percent (75%). For other buildings, the credit percentage is twenty-five percent (25%).

(b) Timing. -- The credit must be taken in equal installments over the five years beginning in the first taxable year in which the federal credit is claimed for that building. During the first taxable year in which the credit allowed under this section may be taken with respect to a building, the amount of the installment must be multiplied by the applicable fraction under section 42(f)(2)(A) of the Code. Any reduction in the amount of the first installment as a result of this multiplication is carried forward and may be taken in the first taxable year after the fifth installment is allowed under this section.

(c) Definitions. -- The definitions in section 42 of the Code apply in this section. In addition, as used in this section the term 'qualified North Carolina low-income building' means a qualified low-income building that was allocated a federal credit under section 42(h)(1) of the Code, was not allowed a federal credit under section 42(h)(4) of the Code, and meets any of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier one or two enterprise area, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3.

(2) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier three or four enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is fifty percent (50%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(3) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier five enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is thirty-five percent (35%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the five years in which an installment of the credit under this section accrues, the taxpayer is no longer eligible for the corresponding federal credit with respect to the same qualified North Carolina low-income building, then the credit under this section expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(e) Forfeiture. -- If the taxpayer is required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit under that section with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, the taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section with respect to that qualified North Carolina low-income building. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

Section 12. Reserved.

Section 13. G.S. 105-129.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.17. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article ~~is~~ are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter or the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The taxpayer must elect the tax against which ~~the~~ a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of ~~the~~ a credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The ~~credit~~ total credits allowed in this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which ~~it is~~ they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the ~~credit~~ credits may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 14. G.S. 105-129.18 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim the ~~credit~~ credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection."

Section 15. G.S. 105-129.19 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

The Department of Revenue shall report to the Legislative Research Commission and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of taxpayers that claimed the ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article.

(2) The cost of business property with respect to which business property credits were claimed.

(2a) The location of each qualified North Carolina low-income building with respect to which a low-income housing credit was claimed.

(3) The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed."

Section 16. G.S. 105-241.1(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Statute of Limitations. -- There is no statute of limitations and the Secretary may propose an assessment of tax due from a taxpayer at any time if (i) the taxpayer did not file a proper application for a license or did not file a return, (ii) the taxpayer filed a false or fraudulent application or return, or (iii) the taxpayer attempted in any manner to fraudulently evade or defeat the tax.

If a taxpayer files a return reflecting a federal determination as provided in G.S. 105-29, 105-130.20, 105-159, 105-160.8, 105-163.6A, or 105-197.1, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due within one year after the return is filed or within three years of when the original return was filed or due to be filed, whichever is later. If there is a federal determination and the taxpayer does not file the required return, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due within three years after the date the Secretary received the final report of the federal determination. ~~If~~

If a taxpayer forfeits a tax credit ~~pursuant to G.S. 105-163.014 or Article 3A of~~ or tax benefit pursuant to forfeiture provisions of this Chapter, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the forfeiture within three years after the date of the forfeiture. If a taxpayer elects under section 1033(a)(2)(A) of the Code not to recognize gain from involuntary conversion of property into money, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the conversion or election within the applicable period provided under section 1033(a)(2)(C) or section 1033(a)(2)(D) of the Code. If a taxpayer sells at a gain the taxpayer's principal residence, the Secretary must assess any tax due as a result of the sale within the period provided under section 1034(j) of the Code.

In all other cases, the Secretary must propose an assessment of any tax due from a taxpayer within three years after the date the taxpayer filed an application for a license or a return or the date the application or return was required by law to be filed, whichever is later.

If the Secretary proposes an assessment of tax within the time provided in this section, the final assessment of the tax is timely.

A taxpayer may make a written waiver of any of the limitations of time set out in this subsection, for either a definite or an indefinite time. If the Secretary accepts the taxpayer's waiver, the Secretary may propose an assessment at any time within the time extended by the waiver."

PART IV. MISCELLANEOUS CHANGES

Section 17. G.S. 143B-437.01(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Creation and Purpose of Fund. -- There is created in the Department of Commerce the Industrial Development Fund to provide funds to assist the local government units of the most economically distressed counties in the State in creating jobs in certain industries. The Department of Commerce shall adopt rules providing for the administration of the program. Those rules shall include the following provisions, which shall apply to each grant from the fund:

(1) The funds shall be used for (i) installation of or purchases of equipment for eligible industries, (ii) structural repairs, improvements, or renovations of existing buildings to be used for expansion of eligible industries, or (iii) construction of or improvements to new or existing water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility distribution lines or equipment for existing or new or proposed industrial buildings to be used for eligible industries. To be eligible for funding, the water, sewer, gas, or electrical utility lines or facilities shall be located on the site of the building or, if not located on the site, shall be directly related to the operation of the specific eligible industrial activity.

(1a) The funds shall be used for projects located in economically distressed counties except that the Secretary of Commerce may use up to one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) to provide emergency economic development assistance in any county that is documented to be experiencing a major economic dislocation.

(2) The funds shall be used by the city and county governments for projects that will directly result in the creation of new jobs. The funds shall be expended at a maximum rate of five thousand dollars ($5,000) per new job created up to a maximum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) per project.

(3) There shall be no local match requirement if the project is located in an enterprise tier one area as defined in G.S. 105-129.3.

(4) The Department may authorize a local government that receives funds under this section to use up to two percent (2%) of the funds, if necessary, to verify that the funds are used only in accordance with law and to otherwise administer the grant or loan.

(5) No project subject to the Environmental Policy Act, Article 1 of Chapter 113A of the General Statutes, shall be funded unless the Secretary of Commerce finds that the proposed project will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment. The Secretary of Commerce shall not make this finding unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that concludes, after consideration of avoidance and mitigation measures, that the proposed project will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment."

Section 18. To the extent feasible, the Department of Commerce shall encourage and support reasonable efforts to develop agreements to reduce the use of excessive tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. The Department of Commerce shall also support appropriate and reasonable federal legislation to prohibit or reduce states' use of tax and economic incentives for interstate competition in luring businesses from one state to another. This section does not require the Secretary of Commerce to support actions that will place the State at an economic disadvantage or that are contrary to the economic well-being of the citizens of the State. The Department of Commerce shall report on its progress in these efforts to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by March 1, 2000, and March 1, 2001.

Section 19. The General Assembly finds that tax credits are enacted from time to time to encourage or reward behavior that is beneficial to the State. These tax credits are tax expenditures that, like appropriations, spend public funds for the benefit of certain businesses, interest groups, and other taxpayers. Unlike appropriations, however, these tax credits may continue in perpetuity, costing the public millions of dollars each year without periodic review by the General Assembly. In order to allow the General Assembly the opportunity to consider each tax credit on its merits from time to time to determine whether it continues to serve a public purpose that justifies its cost to the public, each tax credit should be sunset at least every five years. After enactment of this act, those businesses, interest groups, and other taxpayers who benefit from these tax credits are encouraged to demonstrate the continued need for each tax credit. It is the intent of the General Assembly to review these tax credits and renew all that continue to serve a valid public purpose, subject to review at least every five years.
