BAILEY SETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATION

STATUS REPORT

JANUARY 19, 1999

Details of the refund plan have now been determined and effort is underway to carry out the Court Ordered process.

Refunds will be calculated using the following:
The amount of over payment for each year will be the lesser of:
1) The actual taxes paid less credits (other than federal retiree credits), or
2) An amount determined by multiplying the total Government Retirement Benefits received, less the Government exclusion, by the Effective Tax Rate. The Effective Tax Rate is the tax paid to the State divided by the North Carolina taxable income.

The total overpayment amounts for all years, 1989-1997, is the principle amount due each NC State, Local Government or Federal (civil service or military) retiree.

The initial refund to State Retirees will be the overpayment amount reduced by the Court Ordered 15% Set Aside to cover all Costs and Fees, and the negotiated reduction to 95%. The resultant net refund of 80.75% of the taxes paid will constitute the first refund to NC State and Local Government Retirees.

The initial refund to Federal Retirees will be the overpayment amount reduced by the Court Ordered 15% Set Aside to cover all Costs and Fees, and the negotiated reduction to 70%. The resultant net refund of 59.5% of the taxes paid will constitute the first refund to Federal Retirees.

Claim Forms, with accompanying instructions, will start going out to State and Local Retirees in March 1999. Claim Forms for Federal Retirees will be delayed until late July, since the second of the two-part payment to the Settlement Fund by the NC General Assembly will not come before July 15, 1999.

The Instruction Packet, accompanying the Claim Form, will contain detailed information as to the procedures to be followed should you wish to dispute the amounts shown on your Claim Form. Also included with each packet is the information to guide you through the process of reopening an Estate.

If the calculations shown on your Claim Form are acceptable to you, then you need only sign, certifying your approval, and return the Claim Form. Your refund will be processed and a check returned to you as expeditiously as possible. If you had changes in filing status, however, you must provide information as to the type of changes (death, divorce, marriage, etc.) on the form provided for this purpose.

A second refund round will be sent out to all retirees late in the year 2000. This second refund, adjusted by the same percentages shown herein, will first cover any principal amount (overpayment amount) not yet recovered, and then interest amounts due you. The actual amounts you receive will depend on the remaining funds available. At such time as State Retirees reach a total of 80.75% of the total (principal and interest), any remaining funds will be utilized to bring the Federal Retirees up to the same level. Should there be additional funds remaining, both groups will be increased at the same rate from that point upward.

HISTORY OF INTANGIBLES TAX

Prior to 1995: North Carolina levied an intangibles tax of 25 cents per $100 market value of stock and shares in mutual funds, with an exemption for the proportion of corporate stock equal to the percentage of the corporation's business that was conducted in North Carolina. Thus, stock of a corporation that did 55% of its business in North Carolina was 55% exempt from the intangibles tax. If a company conducted all of its business in North Carolina, the shares of stock would be totally exempt. This exemption was known as the "taxable percentage" deduction.

Fulton: Fulton Corporation challenged the intangibles tax on stock on the grounds that the tax violated the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution because it provided for a reduction of the tax in proportion to the issuing company's income taxed in North Carolina. The superior court upheld the tax as constitutional.

Court of Appeals: In 1993, the Court of Appeals reversed the superior court ruling, finding the taxable percentage deduction unconstitutional. The Court eliminated the deduction and ordered the intangibles tax on stock to be paid without any reduction based on income taxes paid to the State. It did not order a refund of taxes previously paid.

Supreme Court: In 1994, the North Carolina Supreme Court reversed the Court of Appeals, holding that the taxable percentage deduction did not violate the Commerce Clause.

Repeal of the Tax: In 1995, the General Assembly repealed the intangibles taxes on stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and accounts receivable.

USSC: In 1996, the United States Supreme Court reversed the North Carolina Supreme Court, agreeing with N. C. Court of Appeals that the taxable percentage deduction violated the Commerce Clause. It sent the case back to the North Carolina Supreme Court to "fashion a remedy".

Supreme Court: On February 10, 1997, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the part of the intangible tax on stock that the United States Supreme Court held unconstitutional, the taxable percentage deduction, should be severed from the statute and that the balance of the statute should be enforced. This left the intangible tax on stock to be enforced without any reduction for stock of corporations doing business in North Carolina. The Court also ruled that the tax applied retroactively. The Court's opinion made it possible for holders of North Carolina stock to be assessed by the Department of Revenue for tax due on the value of stock that was excluded from tax because of the unconstitutional deduction. Taxes could have been assessed for three back tax years for those who filed a return and for an indefinite period for those who did not file a return.

March 10, 1997: The Secretary of Revenue notified the General Assembly of a decision to comply with the N. C. Supreme Court ruling by directing the Department of Revenue to propose tax assessments against taxpayers who had not paid tax in certain prior years because of the taxable percentage deduction.

S.L. 1997-17: On April 9, 1997, the 1997 General Assembly passed a bill directing the Secretary of Revenue to take no action to assess or collect retroactive intangibles tax on stock from any taxpayer for liability arising solely from the taxpayer's use of the taxable percentage deduction. The enactment of the bill made the State liable for refunds to protesters for 1990-94.

Smith case: This is a class action lawsuit brought on behalf of both protesters and nonprotesters. The plaintiffs seek refunds of the stock tax for 1991 through 1994. On June 11, 1997, the court ordered refunds with interest to the protesters.

S.L. 1997-318: On July 21, 1997, the 1997 General Assembly passed a bill providing a refund of the intangibles tax on stock, with interest, to intangibles taxpayers who made a timely protest. The bill did not provide relief to nonprotesters.

Refunds: The principal amount of the stock tax for 1992-94 was refunded in September 1997 to protesters (both those who are part of the lawsuit and those who are not) and checks representing the interest due were mailed out in late-1997 to protesters after the Court determined attorneys' fees. These fees were deducted from the interest checks.

Nonprotesters: Several bills were introduced in 1997-98 to refund the intangibles tax on stock to nonprotesters, but none of the legislation passed.

Smith case: On December 4, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled in favor of the nonprotesters. The ruling means that taxpayers who paid the intangibles tax on stock without protesting its payment will be entitled to a refund with interest. It is unclear what tax years the opinion covers: 1991 through 1994 ($354 million of refunds and interest) or 1990 through 1994.($458 million) The Court ruled that the intangible tax must be imposed uniformly under Article V, Section 2(2) of the North Carolina Constitution. The Court reasoned that when it severed the unconstitutional taxable percentage deduction in Fulton in February 1997, the tax was uniformly applicable and enforceable against all taxpayers. In response to this decision, the General Assembly forgave the tax liability for the group of taxpayers who benefited from the unconstitutional taxable percentage deduction for tax years 1990 through 1994 in S.L. 1997-17. It also granted a refund to taxpayers who protested the constitutional it the intangibles tax for tax years 1990-1994 in S.L. 1997-318. The Court ruled that these legislative actions violated the constitutional provisions relating to the uniformity of taxation.

Superior Court: The case has been remanded to the superior court to determine the details. The Court could rule that all of the refunds and interest must be paid in one year or could allow the State to pay over many years. Briefs and oral arguments to the Superior Court will probably be made over the next two or three months. Other issues to be resolved by the Court include certification of the class, notification of class members and attorney fees.

Governor's Budget: The Governor's recommended budget for the 1999-01 biennium listed the $354 million impact of the Court decision along with a number of other one-time funding issues that added up to $1.1 billion. This list includes $400 million of refunds and interest to public sector retirees resulting from another lawsuit. The budget summary did include a list of items that could be used to address the $1.1 billion of requirement. The option list added up to more than $1.1 billion but the Governor did not recommend which items should be used. The language in the summary suggested that the Governor is awaiting clarification on the timetable for paying refunds and interest before recommending a particular source of funding.

Toll Free Number: The Department of Revenue has a toll free number for intangible tax questions. It is 1-888-627-3386.

North Carolina Income Tax Treatment Of Government Pension Income

History of Court Cases

Davis: The United States Supreme Court ruled in Davis v. Michigan that the doctrine of intergovernmental immunity prohibits a state from taxing federal retirement income at a higher rate than State retirement income. Prior to 1989, North Carolina allowed a $3,000 income tax exclusion for federal and military retirees and allowed a full income exclusion for State retirement income. To comply with the Davis decision, the General Assembly in 1989 allowed all government retirees, both State and federal, a $4,000 exclusion. It also gave private retirees a $2,000 exclusion.

Tax Credit: The Davis decision was issued on March 28, 1989, the middle of the income tax filing period for the 1988 year. Those taxpayers who learned about it in time paid under protest. Those who paid early or did not become aware of the Davis decision until later did not pay under protest. To equalize the treatment of those who paid under protest for 1988 and those who did not, the General Assembly enacted a tax credit for 1988 taxes. The credit for 1988 tax was not refundable and was not allowed to deceased federal retirees. The 1988 credit was payable in three installments.

Swanson: The federal retirees who had not complied with the 30 day protest rule brought a class action suit against the State asking for a refund of the taxes paid pursuant to the unconstitutional tax for tax years 1985 through 1988. The North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the federal retirees who did not contest the payment of the tax within 30 days after its payment were procedurally barred from recovering the refunds sought because they did not comply with the State's statutory postpayment refund demand procedure. The federal retirees who requested a refund pursuant to the 30-day rule received a refund. The United States Supreme Court ended the six year legal battle between the federal retirees and the State in December 1994 when it announced that it would not hear the case, thereby letting the decision of the North Carolina Supreme Court stand.

1996: During the Second Extra Session of 1996, the General Assembly gave relief to federal retirees who did not protest the payment of income tax on their government pension income. The law gave income tax credits and partial refunds for the North Carolina income taxes the retirees paid on their federal retirement benefits in 1985, 1986, 1987, and 1988. A retiree could claim an income tax credit equal to the net pension tax on those benefits. The credit had to be taken in three equal installments, beginning with the 1996 tax year. The legislation provided for a one-time refund in lieu of a credit for taxpayers whose 1996 tax liability was less than 5% of their net pension tax. The refund was equal to 85% of the pension tax paid for the 1985-88 tax years. If a retiree entitled to the credit or refund had died, the legislation provided that the decedent's estate could claim the credit or refund.

1997: The General Assembly provided additional relief to federal retirees who paid unconstitutional North Carolina income tax on their federal retirement benefits in 1985, 1986, 1987, and 1988, but did not protest or request a refund with 30 days, as required by law at that time. The legislation allowed federal retirees to carry forward for two years the unused portion of their tax credit for payment of these taxes if they could not claim the entire credit because the credit exceeded their tax liability. The act also allowed the surviving spouse to claim the decedent's tax credit, including the two-year carry forward.

Bailey I: In 1990, State and local retirees sued North Carolina regarding the 1989 change of their tax exemption from a 100% exemption to an exemption for the first $4,000 in government retirement benefits received each year. The plaintiffs claimed that the reduction of their retirement benefits was unconstitutional and sought refunds of taxes paid in 1989 and later years. The North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the plaintiffs were entitled to no relief because they had failed to comply with the 30-day protest rule.

Bailey II: In 1992, Bailey II was filed as a class action on behalf of all State and local retirees who individually complied with the 30-day protest requirement for the 1989, 1990, and 1991 tax years. In May 1995, the trial court ruled in favor of the plaintiffs, holding that taxation of retirement benefits earned and vested before August 12, 1989, is a breach of contract. It voided the 1989 act of the General Assembly that repealed the 100% tax exemption for State and local retirement benefits, as it applies to benefits earned and vested before August 12, 1989. On May 8, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court affirmed the trial court's decision. The case applies only to State and local retirees but the same relief must be granted to federal retirees under the federal doctrine of intergovernmental tax immunities. The Court held that both protesters and nonprotesters are entitled to refunds.

Settlement: The President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Class Counsel for the plaintiffs signed a consent order settling the Bailey, Emory, and Patton lawsuits in June of 1998. The consent order provides for the payment of $799 million in refunds to federal, state, and local government retirees. The refund allocation will be paid out over two fiscal years: $400 million in FY 98-99 and $399 million in FY 99-00. Retirees eligible for refunds are those who were receiving retirement allowances by reason of 5 years creditable service in a federal government retirement system or a North Carolina state or local government retirement system as of August 12, 1989. These persons with 5 years creditable service as of August 12, 1989, will also not be taxed in the future on their retirement benefits. The refund monies will be paid into a settlement fund which will be administered by the Class Counsel under the supervision of the court.

Web Site: Retirees affected by the cases may contact the class counsel. The toll free number is 1-877-TAX-CASE (1-877-829-2273). The web site is also a good source for information and forms. The address is: http://baileypatton.wcsr.com.

Other States' Pension: North Carolina's statutes treat all states' government retirees alike by giving them a $4,000 exemption. The Bailey case granted a greater exemption only to certain vested North Carolina government retirees and, indirectly, certain vested federal government retirees. The court granted this greater exemption to certain retirees based on its finding that there was a special contract with those retirees. There is no such contract with retirees from other states or with retirees who have not vested as of August 1989. Therefore, all other government retirees, such as those North Carolina and federal retirees who were not vested as of August 12, 1989 and all retirees from other states, will be subject to the same law as before: a $4,000 annual exemption.

HISTORY OF INTANGIBLES TAX

Cindy Avrette

Prior to 1995: North Carolina levied an intangibles tax of 25 cents per $100 market value of stock and shares in mutual funds, with an exemption for the proportion of corporate stock equal to the percentage of the corporation's business that was conducted in North Carolina. Thus, stock of a corporation that did 55% of its business in North Carolina was 55% exempt from the intangibles tax. If a company conducted all of its business in North Carolina, the shares of stock would be totally exempt. This exemption was known as the "taxable percentage" deduction.

Fulton: Fulton Corporation challenged the intangibles tax on stock on the grounds that the tax violated the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution because it provided for a reduction of the tax in proportion to the issuing company's income taxed in North Carolina. The superior court upheld the tax as constitutional.

Court of Appeals: In 1993, the Court of Appeals reversed the superior court ruling, finding the taxable percentage deduction unconstitutional. The Court eliminated the deduction and ordered the intangibles tax on stock to be paid without any reduction based on income taxes paid to the State. It did not order a refund of taxes previously paid.

Supreme Court: In 1994, the North Carolina Supreme Court reversed the Court of Appeals, holding that the taxable percentage deduction did not violate the Commerce Clause.

Repeal of the Tax: In 1995, the General Assembly repealed the intangibles taxes on stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and accounts receivable.

USSC: In 1996, the United States Supreme Court reversed the North Carolina Supreme Court, agreeing with N. C. Court of Appeals that the taxable percentage deduction violated the Commerce Clause. It sent the case back to the North Carolina Supreme Court to "fashion a remedy".

Supreme Court: On February 10, 1997, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the part of the intangible tax on stock that the United States Supreme Court held unconstitutional, the taxable percentage deduction, should be severed from the statute and that the balance of the statute should be enforced. This left the intangible tax on stock to be enforced without any reduction for stock of corporations doing business in North Carolina. The Court also ruled that the tax applied retroactively. The Court's opinion made it possible for holders of North Carolina stock to be assessed by the Department of Revenue for tax due on the value of stock that was excluded from tax because of the unconstitutional deduction. Taxes could have been assessed for three back tax years for those who filed a return and for an indefinite period for those who did not file a return.

March 10, 1997: The Secretary of Revenue notified the General Assembly of a decision to comply with the N. C. Supreme Court ruling by directing the Department of Revenue to propose tax assessments against taxpayers who had not paid tax in certain prior years because of the taxable percentage deduction.

S.L. 1997-17: On April 9, 1997, the 1997 General Assembly passed a bill directing the Secretary of Revenue to take no action to assess or collect retroactive intangibles tax on stock from any taxpayer for liability arising solely from the taxpayer's use of the taxable percentage deduction. The enactment of the bill made the State liable for refunds to protesters for 1990-94.

Smith case: This is a class action lawsuit brought on behalf of both protesters and nonprotesters. The plaintiffs seek refunds of the stock tax for 1991 through 1994. On June 11, 1997, the court ordered refunds with interest to the protesters.

S.L. 1997-318: On July 21, 1997, the 1997 General Assembly passed a bill providing a refund of the intangibles tax on stock, with interest, to intangibles taxpayers who made a timely protest. The bill did not provide relief to nonprotesters.

Refunds: The principal amount of the stock tax for 1992-94 was refunded in September 1997 to protesters (both those who are part of the lawsuit and those who are not) and checks representing the interest due were mailed out in late-1997 to protesters after the Court determined attorneys' fees. These fees were deducted from the interest checks.

Nonprotesters: Several bills were introduced in 1997-98 to refund the intangibles tax on stock to nonprotesters, but none of the legislation passed.

Smith case: On December 4, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled in favor of the nonprotesters. The ruling means that taxpayers who paid the intangibles tax on stock without protesting its payment will be entitled to a refund with interest. It is unclear what tax years the opinion covers: 1991 through 1994 ($354 million of refunds and interest) or 1990 through 1994.($458 million) The Court ruled that the intangible tax must be imposed uniformly under Article V, Section 2(2) of the North Carolina Constitution. The Court reasoned that when it severed the unconstitutional taxable percentage deduction in Fulton in February 1997, the tax was uniformly applicable and enforceable against all taxpayers. In response to this decision, the General Assembly forgave the tax liability for the group of taxpayers who benefited from the unconstitutional taxable percentage deduction for tax years 1990 through 1994 in S.L. 1997-17. It also granted a refund to taxpayers who protested the constitutional it the intangibles tax for tax years 1990-1994 in S.L. 1997-318. The Court ruled that these legislative actions violated the constitutional provisions relating to the uniformity of taxation.

Superior Court: The case has been remanded to the superior court to determine the details. The Court could rule that all of the refunds and interest must be paid in one year or could allow the State to pay over many years. Briefs and oral arguments to the Superior Court will probably be made over the next two or three months. Other issues to be resolved by the Court include certification of the class, notification of class members and attorney fees.

Governor's Budget: The Governor's recommended budget for the 1999-01 biennium listed the $354 million impact of the Court decision along with a number of other one-time funding issues that added up to $1.1 billion. This list includes $400 million of refunds and interest to public sector retirees resulting from another lawsuit. The budget summary did include a list of items that could be used to address the $1.1 billion of requirement. The option list added up to more than $1.1 billion but the Governor did not recommend which items should be used. The language in the summary suggested that the Governor is awaiting clarification on the timetable for paying refunds and interest before recommending a particular source of funding.

Toll Free Number: The Department of Revenue has a toll free number for intangible tax questions. It is 1-888-627-3386.

THE STATE'S MAJOR ISSUES IN WAITING

In addition to the budget challenges we now face, there are a number of other equally important issues that you may deem worthy of your attention. In your role as North Carolina's chief policymaker it is urgent that these issues be addressed soon, otherwise, there may well be severe consequences for our State for the future:

- the growing perception that our governments have the solution to all our needs and wants
- a State tax structure that is full of holes — lacking in fairness and equity among the people
- a State budget system that serves little value in letting the people know how the tax dollars are being spent; and, why
- the pending law suits of low wealth counties for public education — an issue that should be the responsibility of the General Assembly
- an overhaul of the budgeting system for the public schools; how the State's dollars are allocated and used
- the overlapping of the roles and responsibilities of State and the counties and cities
- a higher education system that cries out for coordination of programs among the 4-year campuses and the community colleges
- the issues surrounding the deregulation of the electric utility industry
- the excessive optimism regarding the moneys to be received from the tobacco settlement; note the prospect for reduced payments
- the need for early involvement by the General Assembly in the rapidly development plans for mass transit; and the funding sources to be identified and made available

Comments of State Treasurer Harlan Boyles
February 24, 1999
North Carolina House Finance Committee

Good Morning, Mr. Chairmen, Other Members of the General Assembly, and Ladies and Gentlemen.

I am honored that you would invite me here today to share my thoughts about the state of our State's finances.

There has been much talk in recent days about a so-called budget crisis, or budget gap that we face. I would suggest that is not the case at all.

We face no budget crisis in North Carolina. We are enjoying the greatest era of prosperity this state has ever seen. Revenues are at an all time high. More of our people are employed in better jobs than ever before. We are making real progress in improving our public schools. And we are effectively addressing a number of problems that have troubled us for years, such as better health care, diversifying our farm economy and improving our environment.

The challenge we face is how to make the best of these good times.

I would remind you that the actual, real budget you are considering is $23.4 billion, not the $13 billion that is often reported in the media. Within those funds, I would suggest, are ample resources to do all of the things that North Carolina must do to meet the needs of its people.

As a planning tool, I have prepared an analysis of the State's revenue and expenditure changes. The General Assembly requires each county and city government to prepare a "budget resolution" with a full analysis of its financial implications. I would suggest the state ought to follow its own mandate for local governments.

All of the figures (except for one item) in this analysis are from the Governor's Budget. That exception is a $76.8 million reduction in Investment earnings.

This analysis shows the estimated revenues for the 1999-2000 Fiscal Year. More importantly, it shows the revenue reductions as the result of recent tax reductions and two recent court cases.

This kind of analysis is essential for the General Assembly to know where it stands in planning for the future. If we do not take into account these reductions and the long-term implications of all revenue changes, we risk facing a real crisis.

On page two is a similar analysis of Non-recurring Revenues and Expenditures.

I would suggest, Mr. Chairmen, that the Finance Committee examine this analysis and decide what revenues are available. When that is done, the Appropriations Committee will know exactly how much it has to spend and that will determine the budget.

In summary, let me say that North Carolina has a solid reputation for making sound financial decisions. That is why we have maintained a Triple-A credit rating for more than three decades and have earned the envy of much of the rest of the nation for doing so.

Also, it is no accident that North Carolina has more Triple-A rated local units of government than any other state in the nation. In fact, we have 25 percent of all the Triple-A credit rated units of government in the entire nation. That is a great source of pride.

But more than a source of pride, it is the foundation of a sound system of public finance in North Carolina which has been built over many years. This has been achieved by strong leadership from the General Assembly, Governors and local officials.

All North Carolinians have been well served by our prudent financial policies of the past. And I know that you will continue this great tradition as you make the hard decisions that will impact our future.

THE STATE'S MAJOR ISSUES IN WAITING

In addition to the budget challenges we now face, there are a number of other equally important issues that you may deem worthy of your attention. In your role as North Carolina's chief policymaker it is urgent that these issues be addressed soon, otherwise, there may well be severe consequences for our State for the future:

- the growing perception that our governments have the solution to all our needs and wants
- a State tax structure that is full of holes — lacking in fairness and equity among the people
- a State budget system that serves little value in letting the people know how the tax dollars are being spent; and, why
- the pending law suits of low wealth counties for public education — an issue that should be the responsibility of the General Assembly
- an overhaul of the budgeting system for the public schools; how the State's dollars are allocated and used
- the overlapping of the roles and responsibilities of State and the counties and cities
- a higher education system that cries out for coordination of programs among the 4-year campuses and the community colleges
- the issues surrounding the deregulation of the electric utility industry
- the excessive optimism regarding the moneys to be received from the tobacco settlement; note the prospect for reduced payments
- the need for early involvement by the General Assembly in the rapidly development plans for mass transit; and the funding sources to be identified and made available

STATE TREASURER

325 NORTH SALISBURY STREET
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA 27603-1385

Comments of State Treasurer Harlan Boyles
February 24, 1999
North Carolina House Finance Committee

Good Morning, Mr. Chairmen, Other Members of the General Assembly, and Ladies and Gentlemen.

I am honored that you would invite me here today to share my thoughts about the state of our State's finances.

There has been much talk in recent days about a so-called budget crisis, or budget gap that we face. I would suggest that is not the case at all.

We face no budget crisis in North Carolina. We are enjoying the greatest era of prosperity this state has ever seen. Revenues are at an all time high. More of our people are employed in better jobs than ever before. We are making real progress in improving our public schools. And we are effectively addressing a number of problems that have troubled us for years, such as better health care, diversifying our farm economy and improving our environment.

The challenge we face is how to make the best of these good times.

I would remind you that the actual, real budget you are considering is $23.4 billion, not the $13 billion that is often reported in the media. Within those funds, I would suggest, are ample resources to do all of the things that North Carolina must do to meet the needs of its people.

As a planning tool, I have prepared an analysis of the State's revenue and expenditure changes. The General Assembly requires each county and city government to prepare a "budget resolution" with a full analysis of its financial implications. I would suggest the state ought to follow its own mandate for local governments.

All of the figures (except for one item) in this analysis are from the Governor's Budget. That exception is a $76.8 million reduction in Investment earnings.

This analysis shows the estimated revenues for the 1999-2000 Fiscal Year. More importantly, it shows the revenue reductions as the result of recent tax reductions and two recent court cases.

This kind of analysis is essential for the General Assembly to know where it stands in planning for the future. If we do not take into account these reductions and the long-term implications of all revenue changes, we risk facing a real crisis.

On page two is a similar analysis of Non-recurring Revenues and Expenditures.

I would suggest, Mr. Chairmen, that the Finance Committee examine this analysis and decide what revenues are available. When that is done, the Appropriations Committee will know exactly how much it has to spend and that will determine the budget.

In summary, let me say that North Carolina has a solid reputation for making sound financial decisions. That is why we have maintained a Triple-A credit rating for more than three decades and have earned the envy of much of the rest of the nation for doing so.

Also, it is no accident that North Carolina has more Triple-A rated local units of government than any other state in the nation. In fact, we have 25 percent of all the Triple-A credit rated units of government in the entire nation. That is a great source of pride.

But more than a source of pride, it is the foundation of a sound system of public finance in North Carolina which has been built over many years. This has been achieved by strong leadership from the General Assembly, Governors and local officials.

All North Carolinians have been well served by our prudent financial policies of the past. And I know that you will continue this great tradition as you make the hard decisions that will impact our future.

The Care and Feeding of the State and Local Tax Base

An Action Agenda to Conserve a Valuable Public Asset[1]

By William Schweke, Corporation for Enterprise Development

As Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said: "Taxes are what [we] pay for civilization." Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Taxes represent 56 percent of all of the financial resources available to state and local governments.

The tax bases of states and localities are valuable resources that must be nurtured, conserved, and used efficiently, no less so than timber or farmland. Unfortunately, a number of long-standing flaws in state and local tax systems and a host of recently enacted provisions aimed at encouraging local economic development are resulting in rapid erosion of this crucial community asset. Major changes in federal, state, and local tax policy are needed to ensure that state and local tax bases will be able to meet the demands placed upon them in coming decades.

Erosion From Without

Broadly speaking, states and localities tax the incomes, consumption, and real estate wealth of their citizens and the profits and property wealth of businesses engaged in economic activity within their borders. Personal income taxes, household and business property taxes, consumption taxes, and taxes on corporate profits together account for 99 percent of state and local tax revenues. Unfortunately, technological and economic factors are interacting with longstanding deficiencies in state and local taxing powers and policies to erode the base of these taxes. These factors include:

- Rapid growth of interstate trade at the expense of localized production and marketing. Obsolete federal law hobbles the authority of state and local governments to tax many out-of-state corporations. These governments already lose $3-4 billion in annual sales tax revenues from mail-order catalog sales alone. This revenue loss is likely to grow dramatically in the next several years as the Internet expands the range of goods and services that can be purchased from remote sellers.
- The competitive disadvantage locally based businesses face compared to out-of-state corporations that can take advantage of their multi-state operations to manipulate and cut their taxes. The ensuing lower after-tax profits and depressed sales of locally based businesses hamper their ability to expand both physical plant and payrolls. This in turn results in lower property tax and income tax payments by such businesses and their employees.

Erosion From Within

The flip side of the growing ability of corporations to satisfy nationwide demand for products from just a handful of production and distribution centers is intensified state and local government competition to attract such export-oriented facilities and the jobs they bring with them. taxes further erode the tax base.

Since the publication of Bidding for Business: Are Cities and States Selling Themselves Short? the Corporation for Enterprise Development and its allies have worked to curb the excesses in today's business incentives "arms race" among the states. We believe that most policymakers and opinion leaders have been convinced that tax incentives often are poor economic development tools -- especially because they pit one state or locality against another, and from a national perspective, rarely result a net increase in jobs. Nonetheless, economic development tax incentives continue to proliferate despite growing skepticism about their efficacy for several reasons:

1. When a new or expanded facility receives a tax incentive, there is no way to demonstrate conclusively that the investment would have occurred without it.
2. One cannot undercut the logic that a tax incentive larger than one being offered by a competing jurisdiction will tip a location decision when "all other factors are equal."
3. A few corporate executives who say tax incentives swayed their decision to locate a plant in a particular jurisdiction will trump a hundred econometric studies that show no correlation between business' state and local tax liabilities and job growth.

What is needed to combat these "arguments" is a more accurate view of the overall role of taxes and incentives in a good business climate, along with efforts to design much more cost-effective, publically accountable, and transparent development incentives. However, before looking at what policymakers might do about these nefarious trends, let's step back and establish some better design principles for a development-enhancing fiscal system.

The Role of Taxes in Business Climate

For the traditional perspective on business climates, state and local tax systems are always a liability nad never an asset. Cost – the amount of taxes paid is always the issue and rarely are the benefits of a sound tax system measures and identified.

Indeed, according to this traditional point of view, taxes harm more than they help. But taxes are the means for financing government. But is government, and the services it provides, really the enemy of business?

Experience, common sense, and the facts suggest otherwise. While taxes do impose costs, they also finance the basic services that businesses need to thrive and that significantly bolster an area's quality of life. After all, school teachers, police officers, sanitation workers, road crews, and public healthy nurses cannot work for free. Publishers can't be expected to provide free textbooks and construction workers can't give away sewage treatment plants. Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do – including expanding opportunity for people and places left out of the economic mainstream – ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Indeed, a well-balanced tax system can be an asset to a state's business climate, rather than a liability. And the real obstacle to achieving a better business climate is our outmoded tax systems. We need to understand that our revenue systems often:

- Are out-of-step with technological change, today's multi-national, information-based service economy and demographic trends.
- Impose tax burdens on an increasingly narrow slice of economic activity.
- Establish an unfair advantage for large businesses and out-of-state companies.
- Result in structural deficits in many states.

- Require the less affluent to shoulder more of the tax load.

Simply responding to pressure by tinkering with a state's tax codes will do little to improve the business climate. A better way requires that:

- Tax competitiveness becomes only one of a number of goals for a quality fiscal system.
- Tax reform is based on creating a better fit between a state's fiscal system and its changing economic base.
- Tax reform is comprehensive in scope (or at least holistic in conception), rather seeking to "just get by" the next challenge or crisis.
- States seek to cooperate with their neighbors on issues of tax uniformity, taxing multi-state corporations, and restraining the incentives "arms race."
- Most importantly, a tax system should offer lower rates, greater predictability, a broader base, more equity, and greater simplicity.

Although these points may appear to say to business that the key to a more positive business is to pay more taxes, this is not the intent. Instead, the link between a good environment for business and a state tax system can be summarized in three simple ideas:

- A good fiscal system should be one that produces adequate revenues in a predictable manner. It is stable. It is certain. And revenues are sufficient to support current costs and are structured to grow naturally.
- The tax system creates a level playing field among all types of businesses and among all types of households. Those that make the same income or profits should pay the same amount of taxes.
- Businesses must pay its fair share because government services like police and fire protection, education, and highways are benefits received and needed by companies. Taxes reflect the cost of these services.

The Case of North Carolina

Something like these guidelines also should guide North Carolina policymakers in thinking about how best to address its current $800 million budget gap. Rather than raiding its Rainy Day Fund during a growth period, or instituting an economically regressive and morally questionable lottery, its leadership should consider other avenues. How might changes in its business tax incentive policies change its funding picture? Is the state pursuing the right course in dealing with the challenges posed by electronic commerce and multi-state corporations, who are bent on creating more "nowhere income?" Likewise, many of the tax cuts enacted by the General Assembly, during the past few years, have favored the wealthy and business, not the less affluent citizenry. How might legislators best deal with these important equity considerations? And how might elected leadership use this crisis to improve its overall tax system and not just extricate the state from its current situation? What larger economic, technological, political, and demographic trends should shape a system that is much more equipped for the 21st century?

An Action Agenda

Just as it has taken several decades to build a robust movement of organizations and individuals committed to conserving and restoring the natural environment, it will require considerable effort to build a constituency to defend the "natural resources" that fuel state and local public services. We urge organizations and elected and appointed officials concerned about preserving a healthy state and local tax base to focus for the next decade on five sets of economic development-enhancing tax policies:

- Mandate public disclosure by corporations of their actual state and local tax liabilities, the value of the economic development tax incentives they receive, and their local economic activity. Policymakers and the public need this information if they are to evaluate (1) whether the cost of tax incentives is justified by the growth of payrolls and investment and the tax base itself, and (2) whether corporations benefiting from state and local services are paying their fair share of state and local taxes. Corporate tax disclosure is best pursued through a coordinated national campaign that seeks to enact legislation in numerous states simultaneously, since a single state seeking to adopt such a policy would be subject to corporate threats not to invest there.

- Implement state tax policies that ensure that multi-state corporations have state corporate income tax and sales tax liabilities similar to those faced by wholly in-state corporations. These policies include mandatory "combined reporting" (an accounting method that treats businesses comprised of a parent and subsidiaries as one corporation for state corporate tax purposes) and the assertion of taxing jurisdiction over out-of-state corporations to the limits permitted by federal law. Also seek long-term changes in federal law to permit states to tax all out-of-state corporations making substantial sales to their residents (including resident businesses).

- Draw on best practice and draft a model law that states and localities can use to enforce the accountability of economic development incentive deals through legally binding performance contracts. Seek laws to grant citizens legal standing to ensure compliance with these contracts and to ensure that the routine enforcement of the contracts is not the responsibility of the state and local economic development staff that originally marketed the jurisdiction and arranged the deal. Require economic development tax incentive programs by law to undergo a well-financed, professional, and independent sunset review every five years.

- Seek legislation requiring preparation of a unified development budget, which would examine simultaneously all on- and off-budget spending on economic development. This budget tool clarifies existing commitments and implicit priorities, enables policymakers to better weigh conflicting imperatives (such as K-12 class size reduction versus property tax abatements), and can help direct scarce public dollars into programs that generate better development returns for the state.
- Develop a "certified" cost-benefit methodology that sets minimum standards for a good assessment to be used in evaluating incentive programs and special deals. After such a model approach is developed, encourage all states and localities to use it when measuring net benefits and net costs per job for varied development incentives.

These reforms will not be easy to enact, but these are the right policies. Their only major difficulty is that they work best if all states are doing them. But we are encouraged by the organizing efforts now underway around these issues. If we can focus the degree of commitment and resources that this agenda demands, we can build broader coalitions that include small businesses, public employee unions, taxpayer watchdog groups, and low-income budget advocates. By doing so, this agenda will have realistic prospects for successful implementation.

Positive Business Climates Project (No. 5) August 1996

The Corporation for Enterprise Development (CFED) has launched a "Positive Business Climates" project. This multi-year project, funded by the Ford Foundation, seeks to broaden the accepted definition of an attractive business climate beyond development incentives to encompass education, tax and regulatory reform, physical infrastructure, quality business services, and governance. In addition, the project is designed to encourage states, cities, and counties to hold incentives to a higher level of accountability and to adopt more effective approaches that create both greater competitiveness and expanded opportunity.

The Corporation for Enterprise Development is a private nonprofit economic development organization, which works with state and local governments, private companies, foundations unions, and community based organizations to design and implement economic development strategies that enhance economic competitiveness, expand economic opportunity and increase the capacity of communities to think and act strategically.

Pursuing Development - Enhancing Tax Reform[1]

For conventional business climate proponents, with taxes, there is rarely a "benefit in the house." Cost, cost, cost is always the issue; and rarely are benefits identified and measured.

Indeed, according to this traditional point of view, a tax is a tax is a tax, and all taxes are bad. But taxes are the means for financing government. And is government, and the services it provides, really the enemy of business?

> Taxes are the price we pay for a civilized society.

Experience, common sense, and the facts suggest otherwise. As Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once pointed out, taxes are the price we pay for a civilized society. But they are more than that. While taxes impose costs, they also finance the basic public services that businesses need to thrive and that significantly bolster an area's quality of life. Indeed, many states, like Minnesota, have higher tax burdens, but have typically had strong, healthy economies.

We believe that traditional business climate analyses are extremely misleading in this area: they assert that all taxes are bad, that all debt is bad, and that all government spending is bad. In doing so, they overestimate the importance of state taxes in business climate location decisions, oversimplify the complex array of state and local tax issues that face specific businesses differently, and ignore weighing the services businesses receive in exchange for their taxpayer dollar.[2]

Specifically, we will argue the following in this newsletter. First, the conventional wisdom about the effects of taxation on state economic development is incorrect. State and local taxes are not the most important factor in business investment decisions and they do not necessarily slow growth and destroy jobs. Although they are important, taxes are not by themselves an appropriate measure of a good business climate.

Second, the traditional business climate perspective frames the issues wrongly and leads to poor policy decisions. Third, we must look at the issues of the role of taxation in business climate differently: instead of constantly looking for additional taxes to cut, we need to work on creating a high-quality revenue system. And, such a tax and fiscal system must be in step with the needs and workings of today's economy and must avoid solely focusing on just the ultimate policy goal of business climate traditionalists: lowering tax burdens on both businesses and households. Rather, it should seek to accomplish more effectively all the objectives of a sound revenue policy and a strategic economic development agenda so that the appropriate ends of policy can be accomplished -- created more widely shared economic growth and job creation. Later in this piece, we outline in more detail the key elements of a sensible and development-enhancing approach to tax reform and suggest how policy-makers should get started.

Conventional wisdom argues that state and local taxes discourage investment, slow economic growth, and destroy jobs.

What's Wrong With The Conventional Wisdom About Taxes and Jobs?

Conventional wisdom argues that state and local taxes discourage investment, slow economic growth, and destroy jobs. There are a number of reasons to be skeptical about the traditional claims about taxes and economic development:

- Surveys of business decisionmakers regarding the factors affecting their location decisions always rate taxes and tax incentives much, much lower than other critical factors, such as quality of labor, market potential, access to raw materials, and so forth.
- Most new jobs result from the creation and growth of in-state firms so policymakers need to avoid placing too much policy attention toward developing tax incentives aimed at relocating companies.
- State and local taxes are a relative small share of total business costs.
- State and local taxes reduce profits by small amounts and after-tax rates of returns vary only slightly across the states.
- Statistical and econometric studies are nearly unanimous in concluding that state and local tax cuts (and incentives) have no or a very small effect on the creation of jobs.
- These studies also find a very wide range in the costs per job created by these tax cuts and incentives. The lower parts of the spectrum probably mean cost-effective programs, but the average to high figures suggest that governments are not getting their money's worth.

The greatest obstacle to creating a more development-enhancing environment for business growth and profitability is not overly burdensome taxes: it is our outmoded state tax systems.

Our Outmoded Tax Systems

The greatest obstacle to creating a more development-enhancing environment for business growth and profitability is not overly burdensome taxes: it is our outmoded state tax systems. By updating our state and local tax systems, we reap the following results:

- The creation of revenue systems that are increasingly out-of-step with technological change, today's multinational, information-based, service economy, and new demographic trends;
- The imposition of tax burdens on an increasingly narrow slice of economic activity;
- The establishment of an uneven playing field between large and small businesses, and between in-state firms and out-of-state companies;
- The development of structural deficits in many states, which force them to make almost yearly, and often unpredictable, changes in their tax levels and bases;
- The creation of state revenue adequacy problems at the same time that federal domestic spending will be radically cut and new capped block grants are being devised by Congress; and
- The exacerbation of fairness problems -- the less affluent shoulder more of the tax load and businesses and households that earn the same income pay significantly different taxes.

These are the real tax issues of business climate that need the attention of reformers.[3]

[3] This discussion is strongly based on Financing State Government in the 1990s, a jointly published work by the National Conference of What Should Be Done To Create A High Quality Revenue System?

Innovative state policymakers, who wish to confront today's business climate challenges regarding taxes, must avoid pursuing the traditional tax reform approaches -- the enactment of more tax preferences and making additional cuts in overall tax rates without considering the larger picture. What should be done instead?

To start, we must admit the truth of a basic proposition: state taxes and fiscal policies do affect the economic climate for business in a state.

To start, we must admit the truth of a basic proposition: state taxes and fiscal policies do affect the economic climate for business in a state. Stable and attractive conditions for business development and profitability depend to a significant extent on the establishment of adequate, efficiently administered and equitable tax policies and a sound business climate depends also on the quality of public services.

Things are not as they are conventionally seen, because tax policy gimmickry is a limited tool for promoting economic development, especially when used to recruit footloose businesses. Moreover, the revenue generated by taxes is essential for public services that are critically needed by business. But if taxes are higher than the benefits from the services that they finance, the level of investment, income growth, and job creation will be lower than it would be otherwise. Thus, the issues of creating a more positive tax climate are more subtle, requiring more thoughtful and less ideological action.

Next, to expand this argument further: reformers on both sides of the political aisle must admit that tax and fiscal policy, like most areas of public life, are challenged by genuine dilemmas. And it is not easy to combine all the appropriate goals of a fair and far-sighted tax policy. Chief among these is seeking to avoid either starving the public sector of essential revenues or burdening businesses with unnecessary tax burdens and complexity. But we will not make any real progress if liberals or conservatives deny the dangerous realities of erring on either side.

Although the agenda for reform is complicated and particulars will differ from state to state, it still can be summarized in a few simple recommendations:

- Reframe the debate about taxes and business climate so that adequate tax competitiveness becomes only one of a number of important goals of a quality fiscal system;[4]
- Review the ways that changing conditions affect a specific state's tax structure and develop a reform approach that creates a better fit between a state's fiscal system and its underlying economic base;
- Explore more comprehensive tax reforms rather than adopting inadequate, "only-just-getting -by" solutions;
- Curb wasteful tax expenditures;
- Cooperate with other states around uniformity issues, taxing multi-state corporations, and restraining the incentives "arms race"; and
- Create a tax system with lower rates, greater predictability, a broader base, more equity, and greater simplicity.[5]

Final Thoughts: So, What's the Message To Business?

Although this newsletter may appear to be saying to business that the key to a more positive business climate is to pay more taxes, this is not its intended message. Instead, the link between a good environment for business and a state tax system can be summarized in three simple ideas.

- A good fiscal system should be one which produces revenue in a predictable manner. It is stable. It is certain. And revenues are adequate.
- Next, the tax system creates a level playing field among all types of businesses and among all types of households. Those that make the same income or profits should pay the same.
- Lastly, business must pay its fair share, because government services like police and fire protection, education, and highways are benefits received and needed by businesses and taxes are the cost of providing them.[5]

[5] We recognize that there is a deep debate, that is both factual and philosophic, about what's a fair share. But the basic point stands: business, both large and small, multi-state and in-state must pay a share of the costs of public services from with they benefit.

TOP TEN QUESTIONS ON DEVELOPMENT INCENTIVES
by the Corporation for Enterprise Development

The following section answers the ten most important questions-and-answers about the use of business incentives to foster economic development.[1]

1. What's The Problem With Incentives?

The competition among states to recruit new companies or retain existing ones has never been more intense. Annually, states and localities across the country spend billions of public dollars on a variety of tax incentives and spending programs whose use has fueled a new incentives "arms race" among the states. This development strategy presents cities and states with a fundamental dilemma:

On the one hand, it appears that incentives can make a difference in the site selection process, particularly when the choice comes to two or three similar locations. Moreover, even if the economics are bad, political pressure makes it hard for governors and mayors to ignore the incentives sweepstakes. Indeed, how can any state or locality unilaterally disarm and miss the chance of landing a significant business prospect? Likewise, how can an elected official, such as a mayor or governor, avoid responding with public dollars and policy changes when a company, which has long operated in the state, threatens to leave and accept generous incentives from another jurisdiction?

On the other hand, most economists and policy analysts agree that incentives are not good development policy. In using them to attract businesses, cities and states: (1) waste scarce public dollars without creating net new jobs in the vast majority of cases; (2) subsidize the shareholders of these companies for the economic actions they would have taken anyway; (3) foster unfair competition by helping some firms and industries and not others; and (4) divert the attention of policymakers from other issues that could lead to additional job creation and a better business climate.

Neither business attraction nor incentive use should be seen as an utterly worthless exercise. Rather, the challenge for state and local governments is to find ways to make their jurisdictions attractive without giving away the tax base, and to use incentives selectively and responsibly.

2. What Are Development Incentives?

Development incentives refer to inducements state and local governments use to attract and retain companies and facilities. These incentives take two principal forms: tax incentives and non-tax incentives.

Tax incentives. The traditional workhorse of business climate policy is the tax incentive. Tax incentives include various types of abatements, exemptions, reductions, and moratoria. These may take a variety of forms, such as corporate income tax exemptions, sales/use tax exemptions on new equipment, and tax exemptions or moratoriums on equipment and machinery. Included in this category are also other tax-related investment incentives, such as investment and tax credits, research and development tax incentives, and accelerated depreciation of industrial equipment. A special kind of tax incentive program that has received much attention in recent years is the Enterprise Zone (EZ) concept (also known as Empowerment Zones and Empowerment Communities). EZs have been used by the federal government and even more widely by many states. Ohio, for instance, created 310 separate zones! Despite their popularity, however, research has not, by and large, found them to be very effective tools for economic development.[2]

Non-tax incentives. These are a growing form of inducement, including grants, creative financing subsidies and customized worker training. The mainstay is the Industrial Development Bond, or IDB. These are used by almost every state to offer low-interest loans to firms. A variation on the IDB is the use in many states of Tax Increment Financing (TIF) districts. TIF allows governments to float bonds to help companies based on their anticipated future tax impact. Some states also compete in important non-tax ways by offering watered-down environmental regulations, "right to work" laws that inhibit union organizing, and so on.

3. How Much Is Being Given Away?

Two things are clear in attempting to answer this question. First, incentives have increased exponentially in just the past few years. Second, accurate dollar figures on the costs of these programs are hard to come by.

This lack of data is driven, principally, by two factors. First, the vast majority of incentives are in the form of "tax expenditures," or exemptions in the tax code. Although these cost taxpayers money, they do not typically get reported in the same manner, or receive the public scrutiny, as cash expenditures. Second, there is a critical lack of mandatory and accurate reporting of most incentive programs. For instance, there is no national legislation that requires states to keep track of the cost of all their tax expenditure programs. States, furthermore, spend economic development dollars through a variety of channels -- on-budget and off-budget, state agencies and quasi-publics, credit enhancements (e.g., loan guarantees and insurance) and direct expenditures. And no existing state budget document accurately captures all this activity.

No one knows how much these total nationwide. Two recent estimates of state-level incentives put the price tag at $15 to $16 billion per year, and incentives at the local level may be equally high. Even these analyses acknowledge the difficulty of calculating this amount with any precision. The following examples may help the reader get a sense of the magnitude at the state level:

The price tag of packages for so-called "trophy project" has risen exponentially. With large automobile plants, for instance, states have upped the ante substantially. In 1980, Tennessee offered Nissan $11,000 per job created, a large sum at the time. Just thirteen years later, Alabama offered between $150,000 and $200,000 per job for a new Mercedes-Benz plant.

Some states, like New York, give out so many subsidies that corporations can not use them all annually and must carry them forward. For instance, New York companies have "earned" $242 million in new investment tax credits and had $938 million in unused credits for these companies to use in future years to offset their tax liability.

Even small states like Maine spend at least $100 million directly on economic development (this includes all types of economic development activities, ranging from smokestack chasing to existing business development, but it does not count tax expenditures). And experts estimate that tax expenditures vastly exceed direct spending by anywhere from 3:1 to 8:1. The means state tax incentives total in the billions annually in mid-sized and large states.

A study of a few states that have good tax incentive reporting systems finds that such incentives are growing more rapidly than many other budgetary categories.

Incentives have skyrocketed in the past decade, and they show no sign of letting up. Various surveys of both public officials and corporate officers indicate a common expectation that they will continue to rise in coming years. Despite predictions by some over the years that incentives are going to slow down "soon," they appear to be increasing all the more rapidly.

4. What Are Some Examples of Incentive Abuse?

There are countless troubling examples of incentive abuse. The following are just a few, which are especially disturbing, yet all too typical.

"You Can't Just Give One Away." In 1987, Nebraska was forced to redesign its entire tax structure in response to Con Agra's threat to move its corporate headquarters. Currently, the deal costs the state more than $60 million annually. While it was projected to pay back in seven years, it now appears that twenty is more likely. The cumulative price tag for revenues foregone amounts to $650 million. Only one-third of the companies claiming the credit appear to have created new jobs as a result of the tax break. Finally, instead of 12 firms qualifying for benefits, as originally planned for, 114 companies are already receiving tax breaks under the bill and another 118 are qualifying or applying for the benefits.

"An Implicit Contract Is Not a Real Contract." General Motors and the Township of Ypsilanti, Michigan waged a well-publicized court battle over an auto plant that GM wanted to close. After openly pitting Ypsilanti officials against counterparts in Arlington, Texas, which also had a plant, GM announced it would close the Michigan plant despite receiving millions of dollars in property tax abatements over 20 years. The township, together with the city and state, filed suit against GM. They charged that the abatements constituted a contract, especially since GM officials had promised Ypsilanti officials to keep the plant open as long as "market conditions" allowed. Although GM's own analysis showed that the Michigan plant cost $74 million less each year to run, many believed that the company wanted to send a message to labor, since the Texas union local was much less militant than Michigan's. A lower court stunned many by ruling in Ypsilanti's favor, finding that, "This tax subsidy policy results in pitting state against state and municipality against municipality in an inter-governmental bidding war." The appellate court overturned the decision, however, arguing that the township should have understood that GM's promises were just "hyperbole and puffery" to get the abatement. Basically, the court ruled that GM's word should not have been taken seriously by the naïve public officials who granted the abatement.

"You Can Pay Too Much Even For A 'Trophy'." In October 1993, Alabama won the very public race for Mercedes' first U.S. car plant at the cost of $300 million in incentives. Since coming up with the package and obtaining Mercedes' commitment, however, the entire effort has been dogged by numerous problems. First, the state tried to raid its educational revenues to finance some of the deal, but the teachers' union sued to stop this tactic. (The state was simultaneously under court order to spend more than $500 million to upgrade its poor school system.) After that and other attempts failed, the state missed a $43 million payment to the auto company. Officials were then forced to borrow money from the state's pension fund at a junk-bond rate. The state even used its National Guard troops to clear the site for construction, thereby off-loading the expense on the federal government. Taxpayer dissatisfaction about the deal helped lead to the defeat of the governor who had originally come up with the deal. Lastly, although the state still expects the creation of thousands of high-quality jobs at the plant and at in-state suppliers, the state's original calculations of job generation appear to have been grossly overestimated. As a result, the victory that Alabama policymakers achieved has been overshadowed by the state's difficulties in coming up with the necessary funds and the political fallout over its image of over-paying. As an economist at the University of Alabama put it, "We're suffering from winner's curse." The winner's curse is an economic concept that explains why, in certain kinds of bidding situations, the "winner" is the bidder who most overestimates the value of the good being sought.

"The Perils of Paying Companies To Stay Put." In Massachusetts, Raytheon lobbied successfully for a $140 million tax cut in exchange for its promise to keep its operations in the Commonwealth. Sadly, only six months after being granted this tax relief, it announced plans to cuts its payroll in the state by up to 4,400 employers. Soon after Raytheon's victory, Fidelity Investments, a financial firm with annual profits of nearly a half-million dollars, requested and received $50 million in tax breaks for it and similar firms. As a result, Fidelity will pay an effective tax rate of less than 1 percent. The local mom 'n' pop operation, meanwhile, will pay a rate of 9.5 percent, and the average worker will pay 5.95 percent. Fidelity, like many other profitable and cash-rich companies, achieve some of the lowest tax rates through this kind of competition and pressure.

"Growth Does Not Necessarily Pay for Itself." Since the mid-1980s, Rio Rancho, New Mexico has been quite successful at attracting businesses. Generous property tax abatements have been part of the package used to entice some of Rio Rancho's largest employers. The city's biggest victory was Intel Corporation, which had chosen Rio Rancho after courting offers from a large number of cities. (Intel had gone so far as to volunteer a 104-point "ideal incentive matrix" to help out public officials.) As a result of incentives, Intel paid no property taxes on its advanced manufacturing plant, an operation approaching $2 billion in value. Largely a result of Intel's influx of employees, the school system soon found itself in need of five new schools to keep up with rapid enrollment growth. The city's property tax base, however, was too small to pay for more than half of the needed funds. Intel reluctantly agreed to finance one of the high schools in exchange for the city's issuance of a multi-billion dollar bond that was several times the budget of the entire state. The city has not solved the long-term revenue capacity problem that it faces. Simultaneously, Intel anticipates an additional $8 billion in expansion investments, but none of this property is part of the tax base.

5. Why Are Incentives So Popular?

Several reasons lie behind this increased abuse of development incentives.

Competition among states is an integral part of the American federal system. The power of state and local governments to deliver services and raise revenues is much greater than in most other nations. The major cuts in federal development programs by recent administrations and the increased use of block grants have fueled additional competition among states, as each jurisdiction tries to attract and retain jobs.

The impact of plant closures, work layoffs and economic restructuring, sparked off and reinforced by global competition and new technologies, has dramatically affected the economic health of states. Elected officials are under immense pressure to "do something" about economic development. While they have little power to influence these larger macro-economic forces, they are able to change the tax code or create new non-tax incentive programs.

Increasingly, most companies have come to expect an incentive as part of their standard business package. This is true whether the companies are large or small, healthy or barely competitive, in manufacturing, wholesaling, retail, or other sectors.

Corporate lobbyists, state officials, and legislators often work in tandem to provide more incentives. Their actions are fueled by the fear that they will fail to compete effectively with other states and promoted by explicit efforts to help particular and powerful corporations. Others wish to seek a general drop in taxes on business and private investors. Providing incentives is a veiled way to answer this request.

Incentives often appear to be an easy solution to complex economic problems. With a quick and immediate victory, public officials are tempted to use incentives because they are some of the few tools they have that appear to influence private investment, which is the real engine behind a region's economy. For public officials facing the pressure to "do something," incentives appear to be an easy answer.

The "incentives" for taking this approach in economic development are stronger than the "disincentives." For instance, public officials and staff are more rewarded for making any deal happen than carefully evaluating, and possibly rejecting, some deals. Furthermore, they are present at the "ribbon-cutting" events, but not necessarily around later when the real costs are borne. It is important to remember that many public officials work on a short time horizon – often just until the next election – while the cost of incentives is often not paid for years or decades to come.

The potential losers from incentives – the unsubsidized firms and citizens of a jurisdiction – are often not aware of, or sufficiently interested in, an incentive policy and do nothing to oppose it. The potential beneficiaries, on the other hand, work hard to gain the political and administrative support for a policy that will benefit them personally and corporately.

Finally, there is an "arms race" mentality that requires policymakers to match any development incentive a competitor offers, regardless of its utility and effectiveness. ("Everybody is doing it.") This is fueled by a host of governments that are constantly striving to strike first in offering a particular inducement. This is more than a metaphor; several academic analyses show that incentives are better explained by a "do whatever my neighbor is doing" approach than by careful analyses or any other rival explanations.

6. Are There Efforts to Make Incentives More Accountable?

Escalating costs and the proliferation of new incentive tools are not the only trend in economic development. Thankfully, growing concerns about the use of public monies to support private firms, and about the escalating costs of incentive deals and policies, have led to some positive movement in policy. A growing number of states and communities have begun exploring how best to provide incentives responsibly.

Some of those opposed to incentives have actually begun to pursue legal action to try to prevent their use. Companies have sued states which provided funds for their competitors. Others have questioned the constitutionality of using public monies for private gain. Legal experts have developed a strong rationale for challenging many incentives on federal interstate commerce clause grounds and arguing for additional litigation.

Other policymakers are trying to hold incentive policies to higher accountability and cost-effectiveness standards. Policy experimentation and implementation is on the rise. In the new edition of No More Candy Store, researchers from the Grassroots Policy Project point out that innovative state and local policymakers are exploring how to attach new conditions to these incentives. These provisions include several elements. First, they argue for public access to information, such as requiring companies to disclose "competing bids," instituting program evaluations of costs and benefits, and disclosure of incentive package terms. Second, they make the case for offering incentives as an explicit quid pro quo, in exchange for a minimum number of new jobs, a threshold for adequate wages and benefits, local hiring, and so forth. Third, they argue for enforceability protections such as "clawbacks," recapture provisions, etc.

Meanwhile, some policymakers are working to design incentives in increasingly responsible ways. Here are a few examples.

Many states and local governments are pursuing performance-based contracting approaches and have instituted provisions for clawbacks and recisions in the case when companies violate the terms of the deal. Increasingly, these sorts of provisions are becoming nearly standard practice.

Some states, such as Kansas, are trying to restrict tax incentives to "strategic use," only rewarding firms and prospects that meet the area's priority goals. Incentives that are carefully thought out to add to an area's strategic needs can prove to be beneficial.

Several states are designing their tax incentives to maximize larger public benefits. Some, like Georgia and Indiana, for instance, reward investment in poorer counties more than in richer counties.

Cost-benefit tests, critical to careful policy analysis, are becoming a more important part of some programs. A growing number of states and communities try to use them while screening projects. Although their numbers can often be subjective and prone to manipulation, cost-benefit analyses are necessary for any thoughtful incentive program.

Some states are being more careful about the kind of jobs they reward. For its Governor's Competitiveness Fund, for example, North Carolina policymakers have developed a thoughtful screening process for awarding grants to companies that are seeking to create high-quality, high-impact jobs. Companies are scored against four measures -- job quality, industry quality, state economic impact, and local impact and only the winners get a grant. In addition, the state holds grants in escrow until jobs are created.

In summary, at least 29 states have laws requiring accountability provisions, up from just two in 1989. At least 10 cities or counties have similar statutes, more than triple the number cited in an earlier survey by the Grassroots Policy Project. According to Wall Street Journal reporter, Michael Philips, "The trend signals a turning point in what some economists call the new war between the states, in which communities armed with tax breaks and other giveaways battle one another for factories, office buildings, stores -- and jobs that fill them. After years of showering companies with tax breaks to lure investments and jobs, a growing number of state and local governments are taking steps to protect themselves against broken corporate promises." Still, implementing and policing such provisions takes political will on the part of public officials. These encouraging trends must be rewarded by the public in order to gain a foothold in the incentives war.

7. Does This Mean That The Incentive Problem Is Correcting Itself?

Hardly. We are barely out of the "starting blocks" when it comes to "best practice" in development incentive design, accountability, and implementation. The models emerging need to be looked at closely and more design work, experimentation, and evaluation are desperately needed. Furthermore, the prime directive should always be: "Economic foundations, first, business incentives later." This means that policymakers must begin by ensuring that they are making adequate and efficient investments in their people, technologies, physical infrastructure, natural resources, and quality of life. Only after adequately dealing with this priority should reformers look at these options.

Indeed, we still believe that providing incentives in the form of grants and tax incentives are very questionable policies. (At best, they may even be regarded as a "necessary evil.") And from a national point of view, they are only justified in terms of using scarce public funds if they are structured to accomplish one of two objectives: (1) they create net new jobs and a larger economic pie by correcting market imperfections (which is highly unlikely in the vast majority of cases); or (2) they foster or retain jobs in economically distressed areas.

In sum, then, public officials face something of a dilemma. They face pressures to offer incentives, which may in some cases even be effective in luring jobs. Yet most of them understand that, from a broader perspective, these do not represent good policy. Given this, we think that reformers and critics should focus on three basic strategies:

Designing them better (e.g., ensuring that they are more strategic, cost-effective, and accountable).

Scrutinizing them more thoroughly in the budgetary process (and especially ensuring that tax measures are examined in the intensive fashion that direct expenditure programs are in most states).

Evaluating them more comprehensively in required sunset processes (that is, making sure that tough questions are being answered regarding their appropriateness, their effectiveness, and their efficiency).

8. How Should States Act To Reform Incentive Policies and Programs?

To start, the thoughtful state policymaker should not rush to match the offers of other states that are going "incentive-mad." This development insanity will only lead to eventual disaster -- growing fiscal shortfalls, indiscriminate deal making, and political backlash. Instead, a smarter approach is to ensure that tax and non-tax incentives are integrated into larger state and local development policies and that their use meets the highest standards of fiscal integrity. And although there are no ideal models in existence, the way forward for innovative policymakers is quite clear.

Compete on Public Services

Compete on "bread and butter" government services such as K-12 schools, roads and needed physical infrastructure, research and development, police, and higher education. What companies fundamentally need are customer-friendly services that are worth the taxes, and professional, predictable regulation.

Do Not Focus On Tax Competitiveness Alone

Do not let tax incentive and tax competitiveness issues be the sole focus of your tax policy and undermine the overall quality of your tax and fiscal system. Other goals of tax policy which should not be ignored include: revenue adequacy, balance, equity, predictability, efficiency, and accountability.

Structure tax reform to meet the needs of all potential business clients (both in-state and potential prospects) and your citizenry's other priority development and social service concerns.

Limit Development Incentives To Strategic Uses

Incentives must be designed much more strategically: they should be "custom-fit," not "copy-cat." They must create significant numbers of jobs cost-effectively and fit with the state's highest priority development challenges and goals.

Policymakers should set clear goals and criteria for what sorts of projects deserve financing. For instance, after a careful evaluation of a jurisdiction's needs, priorities, and opportunities, policymakers might focus on any of the following goals: overall job creation, job growth in slower growing areas, industry diversification, increased minority employment, or the attraction of high tech industries or "quality jobs." And certain incentives will fit some of these goals better than others.

Pick The Right Incentives

Since not all incentives are the same and since policymakers should only help firms if there is a larger public benefit, they must choose the best tool -- those that have the greatest potential accountability and are likely to provide the broadest benefits beyond the company aided. For example, investments in training or physical infrastructure accrue to the broader community and remain in a community, whether a particular company stays or not.

Loans have to paid back. Cash grants, on the other hand, belong to the business alone. So, be sure they are designed with strong accountability and performance mechanisms.

Tax expenditures are worst on the list of incentives. True, they are easy to administer and they require less bureaucracy. But they are hard to police and easily abused by company officials. Very careful design work and serious sunset reviews are needed to help them to succeed. Be sure to carefully structure the incentive to fit your priority goal. For instance, do not reward capital investment if job creation is your game. Build in added accountability by restricting incentives to slower growing areas. Set required job creation/investment thresholds before firms are eligible for incentives. States can also "front-load" the costs, so that these are not imposed on a later administration, making politicians more accountable. Make the reforms fairer to all companies, not just new prospects. And strongly consider making overall tax cuts rather than creating a morass of special credits and exemptions if tax relief is really needed.

Strengthen Accountability and Disclosure

Provide full disclosure of all incentive costs. Consider requiring the disclosure of how much individual companies benefit from incentives.

Use rigorous and standardized approaches for calculating the costs of each job created or retained.

Institute stronger tax expenditure reporting and budgeting procedures in order to subject new and old incentives to as much scrutiny as direct spending programs.

Hold serious "sunset" reviews to assess the appropriateness, effectiveness, and efficiency of tax and non-tax incentives (e.g., thorough evaluations of incentives must be conducted before programs are re-authorized).

Establish benchmark "return on investment" targets, if incentives are to be enacted or maintained. Here, it is very important to have an independent agency – separate from the "sales" agency – charged with evaluating the real return on investment for the community.

Link Incentives and Employment Programs

States should also explore how to link "first source" hiring agreements with their incentive efforts (especially in faster growing jurisdictions). Such agreements require private companies that receive public monies to agree to consider hiring displaced and economically disadvantaged workers through a public or non-profit operated job referral and training service.

Consider cutting capital investment incentives and using these monies instead for employment-based incentives, such as for new hires, for training, and for jobs with a "living wage." This is essential if a state is focusing on employment generation goals more than productivity goals.

Discourage Irresponsible Incentive Use By Local Governments

State policymakers have important roles in curbing wasteful efforts by local government to steal jobs from other in-state locations. Potential policies include:

Using state intergovernmental aid formulas to discourage the use of wasteful tax incentives by local governments.

Requiring stronger state oversight of using local industrial revenue bonds to attract companies within the state.

Encouraging metropolitan tax base sharing, the creation of special regional tax districts, and new forms of regional service delivery in order to discourage a "race to the bottom" in terms of tax and service adequacy across sub-state regions.

Exploring the creation of new "incentives" to promote more regional coordination and incentive "rationalization" regarding economic development strategies.

Show Political Leadership

State and local policymakers should not only seek to play the incentive game more smartly. They should also work on changing the game. After all, even if a state follows ideas above and pursues the most accountable and cost-effective course, sooner or later its programs will be surpassed by other states, their value will be canceled out, and the game begins again, now at a higher cost.

So, far-sighted leadership should look for ways to slow the "arms race" by: (1) working with other states to devise workable compacts for responsible incentive competition (for instance, focusing more on training and infrastructure); (2) calling for federal action and additional thinking about how best to restrict incentive bidding wars; and (3) educating their constituents. This last element might entail several components, such as education around the dangers posed by an unregulated incentives arms race, the fact that most new jobs come from expansions and new business start-ups and not firm relocations, and the fact that broad-based public policies have much greater impacts on job growth than the combined effects of a state or local community's entire economic development arsenal.

9. What Are The Toughest Arguments That Incentive Supporters Use To Counter This Agenda?

Incentives do have their proponents. Of the arguments made in defense of incentives, two are particularly compelling.

The first argument is that incentives can help to direct investment and job creation to those areas that most need them. If this were true, this could be a compelling social and economic reason to keep incentives. A high-unemployment area, for instance, might be able to lure jobs through incentives and thus convince a company to go there instead of a better-off area.

The problem with this line of reasoning is that incentives have become ubiquitous. Although the high-unemployment area needs the jobs most, its low-unemployment neighbor is likely offering incentives, too. Because of the "everyone's doing it" mentality, all states and a great number of local jurisdictions offer incentives. In this case, the companies are most likely to go where they wanted to go in the first place... but also take a good amount of taxpayer dollars with them through incentives.

The second argument that proponents have is that incentives may not be "good," but they are "necessary." Elected and appointed officials cannot sit on their hands and ignore the competition. Embracing "unilateral disarmament" or attaching too many strings to incentives will only lead to a more slowly growing economy, more company relocations, and less success in the attraction game.

There are two responses to this position. First, it should be pointed out that there are costs, as well as some benefits, to the use of incentives, and that an alternative set of strategies -- wise public investments, customer-friendly public services, and more accountable incentives -- will generate a higher proportion of benefits than the traditional approach. Also, this pro-incentive argument gets lost in what's supposedly necessary, instead of focusing on those policies and programs that are more likely to successfully address a state's development goals of a higher standard of living, more even development, better jobs, improved employment opportunities for the disadvantaged, etc.

Second, even if incentives "work," they only do for the few states that innovate by offering new incentives. Once these incentives are offered, however, they are quickly copied by other states that are afraid of being left behind. Once this happens, the innovating states no longer have a competitive advantage. Instead, they are left with a distorted tax code and wasted tax dollars. For this reason, this "realist" position is myopic and self-destructive over the long haul. Incentives may seem necessary in the short term, but they are destructive in the long term. Unfortunately for taxpayers, public officials rarely do focus on the long term.

10. What Is A Better Economic Development Approach?

Fresh thinking is required about the way economic development is heading in the United States. We have to move the debate about business climate away from simplistic notions of tax competitiveness or "getting the government off our backs" to focus on what are the real disincentives to economic competitiveness and opportunity. States and local governments interested in improving the business climate should focus on the following five key components of a positive business climate: education, physical infrastructure, regulation, taxation and modernization.

Education. In our global economy, competitive advantage is now based primarily on the education and skills of the labor force. States and communities must make wise investments in public education — this is an absolute must for creating a positive business climate. But, this is not simply about throwing more money at education. Rather, it means getting the most value out of additional education spending. Schools need to adapt to a changing world and changing technologies, be more accountable for student outcomes, and help in forming closer ties between the worlds of school and work. Business needs to modernize, as well, so that they will create a demand for students with higher skill levels.

Physical Infrastructure. Often neglected in the anti-tax debates is the importance of basic services, delivered efficiently and cost-effectively, to the creation of a positive business climate. States must continue to repair and maintain highways and sidewalks, operate schools, prevent crime, and care for public parks. The reduction of tax revenues to the point where these services can no longer be adequately provided signals a reduction in an area's competitiveness.

Regulation. Regulations exist to place some restraint on the more unacceptable aspects of the free market. However, often because of the way they are administered — overly bureaucratic procedures, focusing on compliance rather than finding workable preventive solutions, the application of uniform standards regardless of circumstances, cost or size of business — they cause business much grief. To create a positive business climate, regulators must work with businesses to achieve acceptable standards, whether in the workplace or in the environment, while at the same time not compromising their ability to enforce the law on behalf of other stakeholders.

Taxation. State taxes and fiscal policies do affect the climate for doing business in a state. However, policymakers should not let tax rates and tax competitiveness issues be the sole focus of tax policy and, thus, undermine the overall quality of the tax and fiscal system. Other goals of tax policy which should not be ignored include: revenue adequacy, balance, equity, efficiency, and accountability. Tax reform should be considered only in relation to all of these goals, the needs of potential business clients (both in-state and potential prospects) and in consideration of other priority development and public service concerns.

Business Modernization. For years, much of economic development has also focused on the "homegrown economy" by providing financial support in the form of grants, low interest loans, debt insurance mechanisms, and advisory services to businesses. Millions of dollars of public money have been used in this way, even though the evidence of real effectiveness of many of these programs is thin. Questionable and invariably over-optimistic figures are offered about jobs created and jobs saved. Many initiatives have worked well, but are still under-funded. What is certain is that many states have complicated and confusing arrays of financing and advisory programs. The policy landscape is all the more bewildering because year after year governors and legislators add new programs to respond to yet another perceived problem or gap.

The challenge is to turn these programs into effective delivery systems. They must include public and private providers and address the pressing need for businesses to modernize and to upgrade their technologies so they can be more competitive. What is needed are economic development efforts that pursue the high-road of greater skills, higher productivity, and better wages, and that deliver these development services with greater quality, customer-friendliness, accountability, and cost-effectiveness.

In short, good economic development is all about good government. In seeking to create a favorable and profitable environment in which to do business, state and local governments should adopt a longer-term perspective, ensure that public benefits accrue from public investments, and behave with economic, social, and fiscal responsibility.

[2] Some states also provide "incentives" by reforming how they can calculate the tax base. Critics of these ad-hoc reforms and of the misuse of incentives believe that the federal government should require greater uniformity of tax definitions, bases, etc. across the states. This would help to cut the transaction costs for tax filing by multi-state corporations, as well as slow the "race to the bottom" caused by giving away too much of a state's tax base.

The Basic Bookshelf on Business Incentives

There are a number of excellent resources, which any incentive reformer should know well. They have been divided into four sections and the most important ones are marked with an asterisk.

Overview / Understanding The Larger Tax Scene / Accountability Strategies / Legal Challenges

Overview

*Barlett, Donald and James B. Steele. "Special Report: Corporate Welfare." Time. Four issue series (November 9-30, 1998). Available at www.time.com. This is good introductory, journalistic treatment, which is packed with meaty studies of corporate misuse of incentives.

Lynch, Robert. Do State and Local Tax Incentives Work? Washington, DC: Economic Policy Institute (202-775-8810).* This is an excellent summary and critical discussion of scores of academic studies of this issue. The author concludes that generally these tools do not work.

*Schweke, William, Carl Rist, and Brian Dabson. Bidding For Business: Are Cities and States Selling Themselves Short? Washington, DC: Corporation for Enterprise Development, 1994 (202-408-9788).This report presents a very full overview of the topic, looking at the nature of incentives, the trends in their use, the dangers they pose, the causes of their proliferation and growing costs, and ways to reform them. The work also includes a very complete bibliography on the issue.

Understanding The Larger Tax Scene

*Bonnett, Thomas. Is The New Global Economy Leaving State-Local Tax Structures Behind. Washington, DC: National League of Cities, National Conference of State Legislatures, and National Governors' Association, 1998 (202-624-5300). This report updates the following work, as it looks at a number of threats to effective state-local tax systems. Incentive reformers can draw upon this report when making their case for designing much more accountable and cost-effective business incentives.

*National Conference of State Legislatures and National Governors Association. Financing State Government in the 1990s. Washington, DC, 1993 (202-624-5300). This book argues that today's state tax systems are designed for an economy that no longer exists. The authors warn that if they are not reformed, taxation is likely to become more inequitable and state finances will be more difficult to manage. The discussions help to put tax incentives in their proper place as only one (and an over-rated) aspect of an overall tax and fiscal policy.

Accountability Strategies

Council for Urban Economic Development. Incentives: A Guide To An Effective and Equitable Policy. Washington, DC: 1996 (202-387-2933). Although aimed at economic development professionals, this resource book includes useful incentive design and reform ideas for activists and policymakers as well.

Gilbert, Jennifer L. "Selling The City Without Selling Out: New Legislation on Development Incentives Emphasizes Accountability." Urban Lawyer. Summer 1995. This is an excellent, clearly written discussion of incentive accountability approaches.

*Grassroots Policy Project. Public Subsidies, Public Accountability: Holding Corporations to Labor and Community Standards. Washington, CD: Grassroots Policy Project, Sugar Law Center for Economic and Social Justice, and Sustainable America, 1998 (202-387-2935). The publication includes an excellent overview chapter on incentive accountability legislation, a good treatment of legal challenges, and a useful appendix, which summarizes recently enacted bills.

*Howard, Marcia. A Corporate Welfare Reform Agenda: A Handbook on How To Curb State Tax Breaks for Economic Development. Washington, DC: AFSCME Department of Public Policy, June 1994 (202-638-0510). This is a reader-friendly resource book that provides a good introduction to the issues and outlines a reform agenda.

Ihlanfeldt, Keith. "Ten Principles for State Tax Incentives." Economic Development Quarterly. November 1995. The article proposes a fine set of principles to guide those wishing to design cost-effective, well-targeted tax incentives.

Ledebur and Woodward, "Adding A Stick To A Carrot: Location Incentives With Clawbacks, Recisions, and Recalibrations." Economic Development Quarterly. August 1990. This is an early and thorough treatment of performance accountability measures.

*LeRoy, Greg, and others. No More Candy Store: States and Cities Making Job Subsidies Accountability. Federation for Industrial Retention and Renewal, 1994 (202-626-3780). This was the first major work that described a number of the new incentive accountability tools.

*National Conference of State Legislatures. A Review of State Economic Development Policy: A Report from the Task Force on Economic Incentives. Denver, CO: March 1998 (303-830-2200). This short book includes a fine discussion of the nature and workings of development incentives, outlines a helpful set of design principles, and proposes a variety of reform ideas.

*Schweke, William, Carl Rist, and Brian Dabson. Improving Your Business Climate: A Guide To Smarter Public Investments in Economic Development. Washington, DC: Corporation for Enterprise Development, 1996 (202-408-9788). This book makes the case that there are alternatives to incentives when trying to create a positive business climate. These include actions to reform education, enhance business services, upgrade the public infrastructure and improve regulations. It also presents a detailed discussion of what constitutes good incentive reform measures and a well-structured tax code. Detailed bibliographies are provided.

Legal Challenges

*Enrich, Peter D., "Saving The States From Themselves: Commerce Clause Constraints on State Tax Incentives for Business." Harvard Law Review. 1996. Enrich looks in detail on how national legal challenges might be mounted against certain types of state and local tax incentives.

*Hellerstein, Walter and Dan Coenen. "Commerce Clause Restraints of State Business Development Incentives." Cornell Law Review. 1996. The authors examine a number of important tax law cases that raise questions about the constitutionality of a variety of business tax incentives.

*Moss, Kary. Corporate Welfare Practitioners Guide. Detroit, MI: Sugar Law Center. 1996 (313-962-6540). This is a how-to guide for activists who wish to challenge the legality of state and local incentives.

Return to Business Incentives Page

INCENTIVES: ARE THEY REALLY "ZERO SUM"?[1]

The "Zero Sum" Critique

Economic development incentives have been widely – and increasingly – used in the US to lure investment and jobs. The price tag is in the tens of billions of dollars annually at the state level alone, and possibly as much at local levels.

This proliferation has spawned a heated debate among public officials and outside observers about the wisdom of such policies. Critics charge, among other things, that incentives unfairly shift the tax burden, skew competition in favor of certain firms, and offer a misleading "quick fix" approach to economic development.

The most damning criticism, however, has been that incentives represent a "zero sum game." What is meant by this is, simply, that the total amount of investment and job creation is unaffected by incentives. Cities and states, so the logic goes, are spending public dollars to influence how the pie is divided, not to expand the size of the pie itself.

In any given case a city or state may actually "win" an investment. When Indiana, for instance, beat out Colorado, Oklahoma, Illinois, and others for a new United Airlines facility, it gave up $300 million in incentives to the airline. Did it really "win"? Perhaps. So long as the net revenue to Indiana, in increased income taxes through employees, for instance, totals more than $300 million, it may have been a logical move.

But what happens nationally when this kind of competition takes place? Did United build a bigger facility because of the incentive? No. Did it hire more workers? No. It merely took the $300 million to do what it was going to do anyway. This scenario is played out with other companies day in and day out across the country.

The implication of the "zero sum" argument is that, on a national (and international!) basis, incentives represent tax dollars thrown away. This is true regardless of whether any individual location "wins" at any given point in time in the race for a particular firm. Indiana may "win," but if more plants, or more jobs, are not created by incentives, then the nation as a whole must lose through these kinds of expenditures.

If true, this argument is a powerful one in the call for a ban on incentives altogether as a way of "saving the states from themselves." A great many public officials, in fact, have called for federal intervention to keep them from getting into a bidding war they feel forced into by competition.

But is the zero sum argument really true?

In Defense of Incentives

Many have defended incentives as justifiable policy. Most have done so by pointing out that they can be necessary. Because other communities offer them, refusing to do so puts another community at a relative disadvantage, regardless of how important the incentives are to the firm.

A corollary argument is that incentives may be effective. To public officials this may not only be obvious, but their thinking about the subject may, understandably, end here. Although some incentives clearly pay firms to do what they would have done otherwise, some successfully affect a firm's location decision.

This kind of defense, however, does nothing to challenge the notion that, nationwide, incentives are zero-sum. While local and state officials may shrug their shoulders at such a problem, national officials should be concerned if tax dollars are really being wasted at this level.

Some defenders, however, have cogently argued for incentives in a more important way. Nationally, they say, incentives may turn out to be positive sum after all. Some of these observers have offered thoughtful and persuasive arguments.[2] If they are right, then the correct policy prescription should not be a call to eliminate incentives, but simply to fine-tune them.

Might incentives be positive sum after all?

Arguments about Efficiency

These defenses can be grouped into three categories. First, some have defended incentives as efficiency-enhancing. They view incentives as good tools for fine-tuning tax bundles and redressing past policy wrongs. As narrowly focused tools aimed at specific projects, they may be appropriate tools in some cases.

Specifically, many economists point out that firms may pay more than their fair share of taxes, which – on a local basis – is probably economically inefficient. Incentives, they argue, can help correct this problem. (This notion of "benefit taxation" being efficient locally assumes that the redistributive functions of government are taking place at the federal level. Not all economists agree that businesses really are overtaxed; the answer is complicated and appears to vary with the type of business and with other factors.)

More generally, some claim that incentives may enable governments to correct for market distortions, encourage firms to internalize externalities that they would otherwise be unable to afford, or correct for past problems, such as inequitable tax systems or underinvestment in school systems.

The efficiency arguments, however, fail when scrutinized closely. The problem with these arguments is not that incentives could not theoretically be used in the manners described by proponents, but that they are not systematically used in such ways in the real world.

Governments should, indeed, address inefficiencies when they exist. But they are better able to redress them through general policies (like improving public services or adjusting the general tax rate) than through selective tax breaks, as most economists agree. Most local governments do not, furthermore, make the careful measures of tax incidence (who pays for what) that efficiency arguments assume.

Incentives, in fact, often distort taxation, sometimes in dramatic fashions. Communities pay more in taxes: Spartanburg SC tax rates, for instance, shot up after it "won" BMW with $135 million in incentives. And some, after giving away their tax base through abatements, face crises in funding schools and other needs: dramatic examples include Flat Rock MI after "winning" Mazda for $49 million, and Rio Rancho NM after "winning" Intel for $114 million. These distortions may make a community less competitive due to an inability to provide for basic public services.

The efficiency argument also rests on an analogy to the marketplace. Yet this critical analogy ignores the important fact that public officials are primarily political, not economic, actors. Although they may care about efficiency, it is not always the first of their concerns. Incentives are often made for political reasons – for the jobs and investment they seem to represent – rather than for solid economic reasons.

In its most ridiculous form, this is seen in the case of professional sports franchises, which time and time again receive lucrative new stadiums, despite the fact that study after study shows that they have little economic impact on local economies. This is hardly limited to sports teams, though. The ribbon-cutting of a new plant, after all, reaps immediate benefits, while the cost to the taxpayer is usually hidden and spread out over years.

The efficiency argument also fails because governments overbid. They overbid because they have imperfect information about the firm, and because politics matter at least as much as economics. For the efficiency claim to hold, governments would offer incentives only up until their marginal value to the community. But it is clear, empirically, that governments do not know what the marginal value is, much less try to hold themselves to it.

Arguments about Output

Incentives are also defended by a supply-side argument. This defense says that incentives can increase productivity, output, and the job supply. The argument may take several forms.

A simple productivity argument is that incentives alter the cost of production, which can lower the unemployment rate and increase output. Much of this argument rests on the indirect benefits caused by "multiplier" jobs.

In a similar vein, incentives are claimed by some to have long-term effects on the job supply. One-time increases in jobs, they say, help the unemployed build skills that can increase their employability in the long run.

Like efficiency arguments, though, these defenses also fail to stand up. First, although lowering taxes does lower overall production costs, this does not necessarily "trickle down" into jobs, investment, or other social goods. There is little guarantee that a decrease in tax burden will result in increased job creation rather than profit-taking.

More importantly, the supply-side arguments move from a general hypothetical (incentives might have a given result) to a specific claim (they do) without showing how this happens. Proponents have not demonstrated that tax incentives increase output; indeed, most empirical evidence shows that firms have determined the level of investment and job creation long before incentives are even negotiated.

Many of the productivity arguments, moreover, rest on the strength of economic multipliers. These multipliers, experience shows, are often calculated in vague and optimistic ways. When Illinois offered hundreds of millions of dollars, for instance, to Diamond Star (a joint venture of Chrysler and Mitsubishi), it promised 8,000 "extra" jobs through multipliers. In the end, Diamond Star only offered half of the subcontracts that it had promised, and only fifteen percent of these went to Illinois firms. Several years later, the state's head economic development official reported that not only was the state not close to the 8,000 jobs, but that he was "not sure where the number came from."

But even correctly measured economic multipliers do not represent overall net gains to the economy. This is because supplier and expenditure effects would normally come about in the absence of incentives, although the location of them might be different.

The claims that employment shocks have long-term effects also fail to hold. These arguments rest on the assumption that the local unemployed obtain some significant portion of any jobs created. But empirical studies do not generally show that they gain at all from an increased job supply. If the end goal of incentive policies were job training, as this argument implies, incentives are surely one of the most inefficient and costly job training programs available!

Although the output arguments do not hold up empirically, one additional weakness would be evident even if they were true. Proponents do not show why – even if incentives did increase output – these narrow preferential tools should be used rather than broad-based tax cuts. If lowered taxes really did "trickle down" to create new jobs or increased output, then general tax cuts would be the most economically efficient, not the hodgepodge tax code that is created by a series of preferential incentives.

Arguments about Employment Distribution

A related, but distinct, argument has to do with social gains associated with employment distribution. Proponents argue that incentives may direct jobs to the most socially desirable locations. If investment can be directed toward areas least likely to fare well in the open marketplace – those with poor infrastructure, low skill levels, or chronic employment from structural economic changes, for instance – then incentives really can be beneficial. This is an especially powerful argument because it can apply even without efficiency or output gains.

Proponents have made this argument at length, with a number of formal models which purport to show how this effect can happen. Some describe a "market for jobs" which helps to maximize the total "community benefits." Another version uses the notion of the reservation wage – the lowest wage for which an individual is willing to work – to demonstrate that jobs are worth more in high-unemployment areas.

The arguments fail, however, for one important reason. An explicit assumption of this argument is that the areas most in need will bid more aggressively than those that are better off. If this is not the case, then these arguments, as acknowledged by their own proponents, will not hold.

As it turns out, this critical assumption is not true. A series of empirical studies show that high-need cities and states do not appear to offer more incentives than low-need areas. At best, the relationship between need and incentives is random, and in many cases it appears that better-off areas even outbid their poorer neighbors. Furthermore, individual states – rich or poor – have not been able to direct investment to the highest-need areas within their own borders.

In the end, there is absolutely no evidence to suggest that the sites most in need will successfully direct the investment their way. No proponent of this argument has offered a compelling mechanism in the marketplace that promotes "good" incentives in areas of high need and discourages "bad" ones in well-off areas. By 1999, incentives have become essentially universal.

It is this ubiquity that provides the last nail for this argument's coffin. Poor areas that need to lure investment may offer incentives to do so, but rich areas are doing the same thing, sometimes even more generously. Without a mechanism to promote one and discourage the other, any positive effect is eliminated (or the poor area must bid even more generously to regain an advantage!) and the corporation gets to pocket the incentive no matter where it goes.

Incentives: Zero Sum (or worse) After All

The bottom line is clear: if everyone is offering incentives, there is no reason to believe that the "good" incentives will be chosen any more often than the "bad" incentives.

The defenses of incentives fail to hold up. Most fail not on theoretical grounds, but empirical ones. Incentives might be capable of effecting some of the happy benefits that have been discussed. Unfortunately, they do not.

The principal reason that incentives fail to live up to their efficiency-enhancing, output-increasing, utility-maximizing promises is that they are ubiquitous. Incentives, left in the hands of state and local officials, lack direction. On a systematic level, they do not do anything, they simply exist.

When critics call incentives a zero sum game because they only shift resources around, they are partially correct. Aggregate investment and job creation are highly unlikely to increase.

It is more accurate to describe the phenomenon, however, as a negative sum game. Not only is total investment unchanged, but cities, counties, states, and countries spend tens of billions of dollars every year trying to bring about this zero sum change in location.

Incentives are more than just an imperfect tool. Location incentives, while at times individually rational, are collectively irrational. They are irrational because they do not add benefits net of expenses in the aggregate.

California, for instance, may offer Looking-For-Breaks Corporation $100 million in incentives to "win" it. While the firm will happily take the cash, it will not create more jobs than it would have without the breaks. While it may be understandable for California officials, looking out for their state's economy, to try to win the corporation, the economic system as a whole simply sees a $100 million public loss without affecting the firm's investment behavior.

While individual communities may benefit at the expense of others, states and cities are collectively worse off for their use.

Why Should I Care?

Defenders of incentives are right in saying that they are politically necessary in this day and age. State and local officials often say, "I wish I didn't have to offer incentives, but...." They may be necessary because everyone else is doing it, but this reality does not make them good policy.

The same defenders are not correct, though, when they try to take the argument to the next level by saying that incentives – taken as a whole – are worthwhile.

State and local governments, in the face of competition, really are forced to put up incentives or risk losing desired investment. For this reason, many – including any number of academics, economic development professionals, and state legislatures – have called for federal intervention to stop incentives. A number of legal scholars have argued that incentives may be deemed unconstitutional, if challenged head-on, because they violate the dormant commerce clause of the Constitution.

Incentives may be politically necessary for individual cities and states who are trying to lure or keep investment. Without federal intervention, this will continue to be so. But incentives represent, ten million here and a hundred million there, a net loss to the public coffers, and to the public good.

Incentives are, despite claims to the contrary, a negative-sum game. And, because local officials feel forced to play that game, a solution can only come at a national level.

Taking Aim: How North Carolina Economic Incentives are Targeted

Abstract of a Master's Paper by Laura Deaton Klauke

Taking Aim: How Are North Carolina Economic Development Incentives Targeted, by Laura Deaton Klauke, is a master's project paper for the Department of City and Regional Planning at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (May 1998). Its purpose is to look at four state-financed business incentive programs and to compare their performance with their design goals.

The programs analyzed are:

The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act. This program provides a jobs tax credit, a machinery and equipment tax credit, a worker training credit, a research and development tax credit, and a business investment tax credit. Qualifying industries are: manufacturing, warehousing, air courier services, distribution, data processing, and central administrative offices. There is a wage standard for qualifying investments and the amount tax credit for the jobs, machinery and equipment, and worker training varies by region of the states. The poorest counties get the highest credit.

The Industrial Development Fund. The initiative provides loans and grants, which are only available in less affluent counties in the state. The maximum subsidy is $4,000 per new job created, with a $400,000 maximum. Financing is directed to new and expanding manufacturing firms. Loans are available for installation or purchase of manufacturing or processing equipment; repairs, improvements or renovations of existing buildings; and enhanced infrastructure, which is located on the building site or directly relevant to the manufacturing activity. Grants are expended for publicly owned water, sewer, gas, and electric lines. Grant funds are made available to local governments and require a 25 percent match, except in the poorest tier of counties.

Industrial Recruitment Competitiveness Fund. This discretionary fund is targeted to new and expanding manufacturing. It sets a maximum of $1,000 per new job created. It seeks to support firms that create a high wage, high value-added jobs. In addition, projects that are located in needy locations or constitute "trophy" prospects will receive special consideration. This program is a grant fund, which can be used for equipment purchases or installation; renovation, repair, or expansion of existing buildings; and construction or expansion of water, sewer, gas, and electric lines for existing buildings and new or proposed manufacturing or industrial buildings.

Industrial Revenue Bonds. This is a typical industrial revenue bond (IRB) program. These tax exempt bonds provide firms with a means of debt financing at interest rates below those of conventional commercial options. IRBs are only available for manufacturing firms and the proceeds can only be used for land, buildings, equipment, and costs related to obtaining the bond. In addition, the firm must agree to pay employees above the state average for such employment.

The researcher originally intended to view how each program distributed its funding across the state. Unfortunately, proprietary issues and the lack of available data on the William S. Lee tax credit program made it impossible to evaluate this program along these lines. In fact, the state revenue department voiced that they would have difficulty complying even with the minimal reporting standards required by the legislation, which simply asked for the total expenditures.

Furthermore, the employment data on all the programs was inadequate to draw any conclusions. The lack of consistency in counting jobs made it impossible to create a reliable data base on jobs generated. Yet, it was possible to look at the investment numbers and this is what the researcher did. After analyzing the company investment data, by county, the researcher concluded the following:

- Only the Industrial Development Fund, in fact, delivered its monies to North Carolina's poorest counties. And it did so, because it was only allowed to serve the 50 poorest counties in the state. However, this program also had the poorest record of attracting high paying jobs.
- The Industrial Revenue Bond program did better than the Industrial Recruitment Competitiveness Fund in directing monies to poorer parts of the state. (Yet, its track record is somewhat skewed by three large projects, occurring in less affluent counties.)
- Industrial Recruitment Competitiveness Fund did the poorest job of meeting the needs of poorer counties.
- These programs in general do not level the playing field between poor and rich counties when it comes to business recruitment. Instead, they "mirror" the playing field and in some cases, actually reinforce the strengths of more dynamic county economies.
- If state policymakers wish to target monies to less affluent areas, they must restrict the use of these monies only to such counties.

The author further concluded that:

> While restrictions can help insure that incentives are targeted, that is not the same as concluding that they are achieving the desired outcome. The Strategic Plan argued for higher wage jobs as a means to reduce the disparity in wealth among the regions of the state and provide a means for the poor to work their way out of poverty. Thus, the goals of shared prosperity and of attracting higher wage employment are connected. However, comparing the individual program performance by county and by industry presents a tradeoff. Incentives successfully targeted to low wealth communities were not successful at targeting high wage industries and vice-versa. Providing incentives in an economically distressed area does not appear to allow the area to attract a substantially different quality of firm than would be expected without the incentive. This suggests that while incentives may provide some benefits, they may not be the appropriate or most effective tool for helping distressed communities actually improve their economic structure. ON THE USE OF SUNSET REVIEWS TO REFORM INCENTIVE POLICIES

The Incentive Policy Conundrum

The competition between states to recruit new companies or to retain existing ones has never been more intense. Annually, states and localities across the country spend hundreds of millions of public dollars on a variety of development tax incentives and related spending programs whose use has fueled a new incentives "arms race" among the states.

Development incentives are inducements state and local governments use to attract and retain companies and facilities. Some incentives are provided in customized, company-specific or project specific form, while others are provided to all customers who meet certain established criteria, such as size of company or location in an enterprise zone. There are both tax and non-tax types of incentives. Tax incentives, a traditional workhorse of business climate policy, include various kinds of abatements, exemptions, reductions, and moratoria (such as corporate income tax exemptions, sales/use tax exemptions on new equipment, and tax exemptions or moratoriums on equipment and machinery), along with other tax-related investment incentives (investment and jobs tax credits, research and development tax incentives, and accelerated depreciation of equipment). Non-tax incentives include grants, creative financing subsidies and customized worker training. One principal mainstay is the Industrial Development Bond (IDB), which almost every state uses to offer low-interest loans to firms.

The use of incentives as a development strategy presents cities and states with some fundamental dilemmas. On the one hand, most economists agree that incentives are not good development policy. They often waste scarce public resources without creating any net new jobs from a national (or larger societal) perspective, subsidize the shareholders of assisted companies for undertaking actions they likely would have undertaken anyway, foster unfair competition by helping some firms and industries and not others, and divert the attention of policymakers from more effective strategies that would lead to net new job creation and an improved business climate. Tax incentives, in particular, introduce especially egregious economic distortions. Most economists prefer lowering the tax rate for all companies, indexing depreciation schedules, or providing general incentives for research and development rather than proliferating lots of special tax loopholes for specific industries.

Even if evaluation experts agree that one could, ideally, design incentives that would be in the larger public interest (e.g., they would either create a bigger economic pie or promote development in economically disadvantaged areas), the political process probably ordains that the programs would not be so sharply targeted. States are reluctant to spatially target incentives if that would reduce their ability to attract companies. In other words, states want to be able to market the sites within their borders that are most attractive to companies relocating or building new facilities. This means that companies awash with capital and communities flush with jobs are likely to remain major beneficiaries of incentives, no matter how they are designed.

On the other hand, incentives can make the difference in the site selection process, mainly when the choice is between one or two similar locations. Moreover, even if incentives represent bad economics, political pressure makes it hard for governors and mayors to ignore the incentives sweepstakes. Indeed, how can any state or locality unilaterally disarm and miss the chance of landing a significant business prospect? Likewise, how can an elected official, such as a mayor or governor, avoid responding with public dollars and policy reforms when a company, which has long operated in the state, threatens to leave and is beckoned by the largess of another jurisdiction?

In this context, should states' incentives programs be abolished? While a strong case can be made that they should be, it does not appear that the political will exists in most states to do so. In the present political climate, policymakers and advocates should at least concern themselves with making state and local development incentives more strategic, cost-effective, and accountable. To do this, they should concentrate their reform attentions on the following actions: better design and targeting of the programs; more intense scrutiny (especially of tax incentives) in the budget process; more thorough evaluation in the sunset review process; and litigation or federal action to curb their use.

This paper focuses on the issue of sunset reviews. Its recommendations were developed from a review of the evaluation literature on incentives and interviews with leading national economic development evaluation experts. The paper sets out guidelines for making sunset reviews meaningful exercises in incentives policy evaluation rather than obligatory exercises in policy justification. We argue that even if one believes that the total elimination of incentives as a viable development strategy is the most appropriate action, attention to the proper conduct of sunset reviews is worthwhile given current political realities. Sunset reviews are one important mechanism for gradual reform of incentives practices by states and localities.

Sunset Reviews as Policy Evaluation

Beginning with Colorado in 1976, state after state adopted "sunset" legislation designed to force legislative evaluation of an agency or a program by establishing a specific date for its termination unless affirmatively reestablished by statute. With sunset reviews, programs are reconsidered as part of the normal budget preparation process. Many states also put particular agencies or programs through fuller sunset reviews on a periodic basis.

Unfortunately, in many states sunset reviews are handled in a very perfunctory manner. Programs are often re-authorized with little debate as its termination date grows near. In other cases, evaluations are less than thorough, focusing on smaller administrative details and not exploring the tough questions involved in assessing the given program's impact and cost-effectiveness.

Outside studies of sunset review processes have identified a number of common problems. These include minimal attention to the development of indicators of program or agency performance, inadequate time, money and professional resources for conducting thorough and independent research, little substantive public participation, false expectations regarding the effectiveness of cursory reviews for eliminating poor programs, and a weak 'feedback loop' through which the review can be used to genuinely improve future program management, performance, and measurement.

But sound evaluations of development incentives are desperately needed in state legislatures for the following reasons. First, the price tag of development incentives is increasing geometrically in most states. Thorough sunset evaluations are capable of helping policymakers identify ineffective efforts and terminate them. (And because the costs of incentives in most states are in the hundreds of millions, buying even an expensive study is still a good deal.) Second, good sunset reviews are important ingredients in other "reinvent government" efforts, such as performance-based management, improved performance measurement, results-oriented budgeting, and so forth. Third, quality sunset reviews can provide the intelligence needed to redesign incentives so that they are more strategic, cost-effective, transparent, and accountable and at the same time sharpen the larger debate about the goals, costs, and benefits of economic development programs. Finally, programs reformed via sunset review can be used to change the "corporate culture" of economic development agencies so that staff efforts are focused on closing "good" deals not just "any" deal.

What is needed in a more comprehensive model of assessment that would enable policymakers to evaluate not only the efficiency of program administration, but also incentive appropriateness and effectiveness. Such a model would include three elements: appropriateness, effectiveness, and efficiency.

Appropriateness. A fundamental question for any sunset review is whether the program or policy in question is an appropriate tool for addressing stated objectives. This involves understanding the context in which the program was created and the goals it was designed to address. What were the development problems, opportunities and trends that led to the creation of the incentive? Is the incentive a relevant strategy in helping to achieve the objectives of high quality jobs, high performance enterprises and widely shared prosperity? What specific objectives is it best equipped to address? How might its outcomes be best measured? How might it be complemented by other development initiatives? Are other development tools potentially more relevant as priority actions? If the incentive is no longer appropriate (because of changing circumstances), should it be changed to better fit state priorities or eliminated?

Effectiveness. Any evaluation must include a thorough calculation of the relative costs and benefits of the program or policy in question. In addition, it must take a tough look at whether the incentive really made a difference in company decisions. Questions might include: Did the actual number of jobs and capital investment match the anticipated? What were the public costs per job? Would the investments have occurred in the absence of the incentive? Using multipliers, what was the secondary job impact? What were the distributional effects (local versus non-local workers, unemployed workers, minorities)? What was the quality of jobs created or retained? What were the fiscal impacts (estimated revenue gains and losses)?

Efficiency. The evaluation should assess the efficiency with which program outcomes were achieved. Answering those questions could also entail looking at the administrative and related design issues that affected the use of incentives by private firms. There are clearly trade-offs between administrative targeting issues and administrative simplicity concerns. How might such competing goals be more effectively addressed? A related question is the degree of 'customer satisfaction' with the program management.[1]

Challenges to Proper Evaluation of Incentives

There are two types of barriers that discourage the development of good incentives evaluations. First are the constraints that inhibit evaluation in general. Good assessments are costly. Negative evaluations may be used to kill programs, but positive assessments tend to be discounted by program opponents. And little upfront effort is made to develop the sorts of performance measurement system, which can keep a later evaluation from becoming a "forensic" exercise of reconstructing the scene that led to the program's design and developing from "scratch" the required measurement information. These types of problems can be solved with proper resources and commitment to the sunset review process.

Second are tough problems associated with answering the critical "if not for X" question. Even if the analysis documents positive results since a program's enactment, did the incentive really make the difference in creating the jobs and making the investment happen? Without designing live experiments with control groups, which involve giving incentives to some companies and not to others, there is no way to definitively answer that question. Indeed, issues of ascertaining the cost-effectiveness of particular programs are small compared to this challenge.

We argue that there are a couple of ways of tackling the problem of the counterfactual. The best starting point is always finding out the objectives of the policymakers who designed the program and then judging the program against that standard. Evaluators should be aware that all too often a program's architects are rather confused, fail to set clear goals, and/or establish contradictory objectives. Thus, evaluators may have to backtrack some and try to hone further the objectives by which their assessment will judge program success.

One good way to establish some rationality on what was originally done is to reconstruct the original definition of the problem and the model of how the policy tool was supposed to address it. This might involve determining how well state and local economies were performing at the time of the incentive's introduction, reconstructing the state's priority economic needs at that time, outlining strategies that might meet those needs, and determining the types of organization and delivery system needed to effectively deliver those strategies. Are the incentive and its means of delivery part of the picture? If not, maybe it was the wrong choice of strategies.[2]

But besides starting with what was done when setting up the program or trying to spell out its implicit model of economic development, evaluators should recognize the issue of the counterfactual is only one of three important questions. These include: did the proposed results (e.g., jobs, increased investment, higher value-added, etc.) occur?; without this program, would the "Y" (e.g., investment, jobs, research and development, etc.) have happened anyway; and was the public investment cost-effective (was it worth it)? While we can rarely be sure about the second question, the first and third can often be addressed reasonably well. It should be noted that some researchers think that the "if not for" question is not as important as many think. Policymakers ideally want to avoid giving out windfalls. But if the program meets a serious cost-benefit test, this is less of a problem. (It still means that from a national viewpoint, the program may be a waste of money and that there may have been superior ways to invest the public funds.)

Appropriate Methodologies

It is very important that policymakers should assign sunset assessments to independent and professionally competent organizations. For example, they should not be conducted by the agency that administers the incentives. A legislative fiscal or audit office is one obvious site. However, many states will not possess the size or quality of staff needed to handle this assignment. (Their competence should be comparable to what the federal Congressional Budget Office and the Government Accounting Office can marshal.) When this is the case, the review should be contracted out to a university, a private consulting firm, or other independent source. (The decisions on who should be hired to perform the study should be handled by a bipartisan group of policymakers and policy experts.)

There are a variety of creative ways to explore whether incentives made some positive difference and whether they are worth the public dollars. (In the first three approaches, the evaluators are mainly documenting positive results over time and not trying to claim that the program should claim credit for these changes.)

First, measure against objectives. What did the program intend to do? Using simple descriptive statistics, how did these goals and results match up? In addition, are their other empirical studies and evaluations conducted in other states that can help policymakers interpret the results? Can employment indicators be tracked over time to determine if the program is delivering? (Note: Evaluators can often reach a reasonable conclusion about whether or not the benefits were caused by the incentive by creatively using simplified examples, game theory, or micro-economics decisionmaking logic. Simple logic will often suggest a probable answer regarding the influence of an incentive on the location or investment decision.)

Second, conduct cost/benefit analyses. One of the most important techniques for deciding if a project or an incentive was really worth it is cost-benefit analysis. The idea behind it is simple: one evaluates a program by weighing its costs and benefits and seeing if it generates net benefits. (And ideally, policymakers may look at other policy or program alternatives and decide on which offers the greatest net gain.) Cost-benefit analysis is helpful for both ex post and ex ante evaluations and is especially effective for looking at fiscal impact issues and deciding whether an initiative returned more to the public coffers over time than policymakers expended.[3]

Third, conduct survey research. This is an ideal way to deal with management and administration issues, regarding both grant and tax incentives. The Urban Institute and a number of other evaluators have already developed good questionnaires for measuring client satisfaction and development services.

Fourth, conduct case studies. A deeper form of survey (or face-to face) research involves case studies. In a case study, researchers can weave together archival records, structured surveys, open-ended interviews, and other sources and explore in depth the how and why questions. (Past research has often found that companies often do not give expected answers to independent evaluators, admitting, for example, that the incentive did not make a real difference in the investment decision.)[4]

Case studies can address a number of important questions. They can help provide an understanding of the nature of the business and the industry that firms assisted by the incentive compete in (especially at the time that the incentive was taken for granted). For instance, are affected firms locally-owned or corporate subsidiaries? What are the firms' product or service line? What are current employments? What was the total employment at each plant right prior to public financing and one and two years after? What would have happened had each company's financial request been turned down? What best describes the firm's financial condition right before the incentive? Where else had the company applied for financing? Case studies can also help assess the quality of services provided to companies as well as the net effects on business operations. Did the assistance help to enhance competitiveness? Increase productivity? Diversify your sales? Develop new products? Enter new markets? Increase exports? Create jobs?

Fifth, develop quasi-experimental designs. Above we noted how it generally politically impossible to mount true controlled experiments involving incentives. But it is generally possible to identify "benchmark" counties or regions (or a "comparable", but "invented" state) to better determine the impact of specific incentives. Researchers, for instance, would identify counties with basic characteristics most similar to the state's counties and compare those that received incentives with those that did not and hence measure the difference in employment, income, or value-added that the incentives appeared to make. (Note: Even with a sophisticated version of this methodology, it is still impossible to reach certainty about the effects of the incentive. There may be difficulties in identifying other measurable factors that affected firms' decisions or the economy's evolution. And it is often difficult to even isolate the specific "independent" variable -- the particular incentive "cause." Is it the number of incentives? The type of incentive? The quality of administration of the incentive? Highly quantitative quasi-experimental models are still plagued by these problems.)[5]

Sixth, do simulations (proforma). Peat Marwick, the Boston Federal Reserve, Purdue University's Center for Taxation Studies, and the Iowa University Urban and Regional Studies have all developed good modeling techniques for simulating the effects of state tax systems and incentives on the profits of companies in a variety of industries. These are very effective tools for measuring real business tax burdens, correlating these differences with state income and employment growth trends, determining the difference that incentives make in after-tax profits, ascertaining the types of "implicit" industrial policy embedded in states' tax codes and incentive systems, assessing whether such policies make sense in terms of tax neutrality, horizontal equity, and industry comparative advantage.

Evaluating Different Kinds of Incentives

On the one hand, there should be little difference in appraising grant-based incentives and tax incentives. After all, as economists often point out, money is money, and any incentive's real effect on the assisted firm's bottom-line is the true litmus test. However, as one examines different types of incentives' critical features and delivery systems, differences that have implications for conducting a good sunset review are evident.

Grant incentives provide in-kind help, like customized training and modern infrastructure, that have broader effects beyond the assisted firm. Therefore, they tend to pass a public interest test more easily. Also, with all grant programs—whether they provide extra cash for plant and equipment purchases or match company training funds—issues of administration rise to the top. It is generally easier to design performance contracts and disclosure requirements with such programs. Is the program efficiently delivered? Are its decisions in accordance with legislative intent and administrative guidelines (e.g., are the point systems required for screening and appraising deals really used)? Are there any signs of corruption or "sweetheart" deals? Grant programs are also more discretionary and this introduces a greater burden on the evaluation.

Tax incentives raise a host of different issues. First, they typically operate on a much larger scale yet they tend to administer themselves. This makes them tougher to police and easier for company accountants and managers to abuse. Identifying such potential problems is very important to ensure effective monitoring processes and adherence to eligibility requirements. Second, such incentives are generally open-ended entitlements, which means that evaluators need to pay greater attention to projecting future costs. Third, there are a broader array of policy questions raised by tax incentives. It is important, for example, that a wider variety of evaluation analyses are performed, regarding the tax incentives' potential effects on revenue adequacy, horizontal and vertical equity, tax neutrality, and other standards of a sound fiscal system.. Finally, the sheer scale of tax programs and the confidential nature of filed financials also raise thorny issues regarding access to existing information and requiring additional disclosure. It often requires at least three entities (e.g., the legislature, the commerce department, and the tax department) to cooperate in a sunset review of tax incentives. To make matters worse, it may be tougher in this time of increasing mandate sensitivity to require needed data from the companies in the enacted legislation.[6]

Investment Tax Credits. Probably all states offer businesses a variety of specific tax credits that reduce (or sometimes eliminate) tax liability. Investment tax credits (ITCs) are one of the most common types of such credits. Under an investment tax credit, when a firm makes a qualifying investment, a certain percentage of the investment is allowed as a dollar for dollar reduction in the firm's tax liability. The theory behind the credit is that corporations will invest more if they are rewarded with tax breaks. And it is hoped that investment tax credits will help to raise productivity, as well as boost employment. In addition, if other states offer such credits, it is thought that these incentives must be matched if a state is to stay competitive in the race to attract facilities and keep firms from relocating. The primary indicators of success for this type of incentive are whether the credit appeared to improve the state's success in the business recruitment game (or keep it from getting worse) and whether the credit has a favorable additive effect on investment, employment, or other competitiveness indicators.

In general, economists prefer dropping tax loopholes like ITCs and cutting taxes for all companies if there is really some sort of tax competitiveness problem. Often tax credits appear to reward companies for what they would have done anyway and therefore do not serve as a genuine growth stimulus. Other concerns include: whether such credits tend to shift the composition of investment, thereby encouraging too much investment in certain assets and providing a tax code incentive, rather than a sound business reason, for additional investment; whether ITCs create jobs or instead lead to a substitution of capital for labor, thereby reducing employment; whether there is a sound economic rationale for privileging one type of asset (e.g., plant and equipment) over another (e.g., land or labor); and that ITCs tend to create a large gap between stated rates of corporate taxation and effective rates, thereby confusing the public and the business community about what the real tax burden is and ultimately, lowering the tax rates on different types of companies making the same amount of income.

The costs of investment tax credits can be extremely high in terms of foregone income, necessitating either service cuts or tax shifting. And in some states, the subsidies are so deep that corporations cannot even use all their credits and are owed additional revenue back from the state almost indefinitely, thereby creating a very long-term and somewhat unpredictable fiscal liability. ITCs have also tended to differentially benefit larger corporations, capital-intensive operations, and more established and profitable firms, in addition to proliferating tax shelter offerings, increasing the complexity of the tax code, and encouraging gamesmanship in tax filings and corporate lobbying. Yet at the same time, domestic and international studies have failed to document significant positive effects on investment and there is a great deal of legal support for the argument that investment tax credits are unconstitutional and violate the federal interstate commerce clause.

How should sunset reviews handle ITCs? They should start by making a series of very simple comparisons. For example, are changes in investment tax rates correlated with nonagricultural employment growth, manufacturing capital investment, valued added, or other relevant indicators. And if both employment and investment tax credit incentives exist in a state's tax code, have firms that have used the latter also used the former?

Next evaluators should examine trends in corporate taxation. What share of overall taxes do businesses contribute today and over the past ten years? Is there a large spread between the "stated" tax rate and the effective tax rate? How does the effective tax rate compare to other states? Are unused credits accumulating and what is the state liability in coming years? What have been the trends over time in credit use? Is there a tax expenditure reporting process that keeps track of foregone revenue from the investment tax credit and other corporate incentives?

Given this basic information, evaluators should then develop both a snapshot and moving picture of the types of firms that use the credits. What is the percentage of all corporations that claim ITCs? How do they differ by size of company and by economic sector? What types of firm accrue most of the credits? Is there a minimum corporate tax requirement? What is the profile of companies exercising that option? Researchers also could do survey research or case studies and profile companies that used the credits in an effort to determine what affect ITCs had on recent employment or investment. Likewise, where possible, researchers could examine affected firms' ES-202 tax filings (based on unemployment insurance records and which cover between 90 to 98 percent of all firms in a state) and establishment level changes in employment, industry and county trends. And depending on the nature of the incentive, the data base could be used to match assisted and unassisted firms. Another alternative is a simulation of the effects of an ITC on after-tax profits in a variety of industries.

As a last step, evaluators must consider potential enforcement and compliance problems. An investment tax credit leads inevitably to the pursuit of aggressive tax planning techniques by taxpayers. Mistakes and intentional fraud are become more common. Since only the firm knows how much of its investment was dependent on the credit, states are at risk of paying to induce investments that would have already occurred. Various ways of discouraging such corporate windfall have been attempted in designing credits, such as requiring an investment over a base period. The sunset review should look closely at the investment trend indicators and definitions. The review could also assemble a blue-ribbon group of accountants and economists to determine if anything more could be done to tighten up the credit.

Job Creation Tax Credits. Employment or job creation tax credits are becoming increasingly popular in many states. Critics of tax incentives like them better than other kinds of incentives because they appear to be more focused on citizens that need help most. Incentive proponents believe that since most states offer them, no jurisdiction should lack this particular tool.

Yet there is no clear justification for job tax incentives. Why would additional cash encourage companies to hire more? What's the hurdle that this tool is equipped to overcome? How might such programs affect the underlying structural reasons for poverty and underemployment in certain communities? Don't these incentives distort investment decision making and encourage more labor-intensive production, whether it is economically efficient or not? Could some form of the credit lead to the hiring of less productive workers? Shouldn't most states and localities seek ways to compete at higher levels of value-added? Isn't this the best way to create more "family wage" jobs? After all, a more productive firm will hire more workers if it is tapping into new or larger markets. And, anyway, how can job creation tax credits be designed to boost the hiring local residents or the economically disadvantaged?[7]

There has been a great deal of research on federal tax credits to promote new job creation or to hire the poor, jobless, and under-employed. For instance, many studies have demonstrated strong "stigma" effects associated with job credits that target the poor. Researchers have also found that such credits often do nothing more than shift jobs from non-targeted to target groups. Some programs have also been found to simply attract into the job market those whom otherwise would not be looking for work, thereby having no real effect on the joblessness rate. And there is the ever present risk that job credits will not change hiring practices at all, so that employers simply receive a windfall on those economically disadvantaged workers that they would have hired anyway. Addressing these kinds of problems must be built into both the design and evaluation of such incentives.

Sunset reviewers of job creation tax credits could begin by clarifying the rationale for the program. How are such credits supposed to affect firm behavior? What are reasonable goals and measurable indicators? Has the job creation performance of firms appeared to change since the incentive was created? Have interviews with the companies suggested that the incentive was a real factor in affecting their job creation behavior? Did job creation activity significantly increase after the enactment of the incentive? As in the case of ITCs, evaluators should examine the profile of the typical company that uses the incentive, produce simulations of the impact of the credits on firm behavior, quantify the type of jobs firms report establishing on the basis of ITCs, and determine the length of time such jobs remain in place. If the program is really targeted at those who are less likely to have access new jobs, it should be linked to in-state labor market intermediaries that can deal with the stigma issue as well as ensure that new employment prospects are adequately screened for the job. Firms should also willing to work with an outside referral operation. That intermediary can serve as troubleshooter for any ongoing problems with the new personnel as well as a data collection agent for the eventual sunset review.

Training Tax Credits. Investments in training can have large payoffs for increasing firm competitiveness and profits, boosting employee wages and employability, and raising national productivity and the standard of living. Despite well-documented research supporting such returns, research suggests that many businesses under-invest in training. This may be because companies must pay for training out of current accounts yet only reap the returns from training over time. Alternatively, companies may lack adequate information about their training needs or how and where they can access training resources, or some businesses may be concerned that trained workers will be hired away by other firms. Many innovative state governments have been interested in training as a means of increasing the employability and wages of the unemployed and the under-employed. In addition to running their own customized training operations and drawing down federal Job Training Partnership Act monies, some states have adopted training tax credits as another tool for encouraging greater human resource investments by companies.

The issue of training has been studied extensively by researchers using a variety of methodologies, from controlled experiments and quasi-experimental designs to case studies. But most studies focus on direct expenditure programs rather than tax credit mechanisms. Those results do suggest real successes, both in company and worker terms, but also notable failures.

As with other kinds of incentives, evaluators must begin by focusing on the rationale for the training credit. Does the program emphasize more one goal over another, such as improving business performance and the competitive standing of the business within industry, or providing marketable skills to retrained workers? Is there a logical fit between the problem identified and the credit adopted? Is their any research from labor or training program evaluations which establish a good case for a good fit between this tool and this particular problem? How is training defined? How does the program ensure that training really takes place? How might program eligibility and monitoring be tightened up? Does the training produces any transferable skills? Although it is expensive, does it make sense to follow longitudinally a cohort of trained workers over time and see if the training helps them in their job mobility and employability?

Who is doing the training? Is the company happy with their "internal" training operations? Do they need any help? Should this function be contracted out? And if an external group is doing the training, is the company satisfied with their performance? How might it be improved? Why are training credits preferable to customized training programs? Or, are they? How might they complement each other? Ideally, evaluators should conduct a series of case studies to better understand the pros and cons of these two approaches in a given state. Or, a more limited case study research effort could be undertaken, which would solely focus on the employment tax credits. But in either case, evaluators would look at performance outcomes in four areas: (1) training (and behavioral) objectives; (2) work unit performance; (3) company performance; and (4) trainee earnings. Of course, the assessment should address various administrative issues as well.

Evaluators might also consider other plausible mechanisms for achieving the same objectives. Some states are beginning to look into training loans, for example. The National Alliance of Business conducted a survey of small and large firms and discovered that, although a minority (24 percent) were interested in loans, small companies were more willing take out a loan than bigger firms. In addition, a majority of respondents (54 percent) indicated that funding was a primary factor in determining the size and scope of their training programs. Hence, part of the research could compare the existing tax credit program to a proposed loan initiative and pose their potential pros and cons.

Research and Development Tax Credits. In the long run, the advance of scientific knowledge, and its translation into new and improved products and methods of production, is the most important force contributing to economic growth. Progress in science and technology occurs along a spectrum, ranging from fundamental advances in scientific knowledge to commercially feasible improvements in consumer goods and production processes. In seeking to advance science and technology, the government has two tasks: to promote basic scientific research and accomplishment and to do what it can, though its capacity is limited, to foster the translation of scientific advances into industrially and commercially useful technology. Several studies have documented that the private rate of return to industrial and commercial R&D averages about 25 percent, roughly double the return on investments in plant and equipment. In addition, these same studies demonstrate that the total social return of such investments is still higher. But private firms are still reluctant to invest more, because of the risks and costs of investing additional resources in research and development.

In response, state governments (as well as the federal government) have launched a variety of efforts—technology transfer services, small research matching grants, the federal Small Business Innovation Research grants, R&D tax credits—designed to encourage both research and development and the adoption of the latest production technologies and innovations. R&D tax credits generally provide a limited tax break for private research and development—a credit for R&D expenditures typically in excess of a base period amount. Such credits were first created on the federal level in 1981. But since then, many states have crafted their own approaches.

The federal tax credit has been extensively studied. The evaluation of the effectiveness of the credit requires first estimating the additional research spending stimulated by the incentive. Ideally, this additional spending then should be evaluated according to the net social benefit it produces. However, that net societal benefit is difficult to determine because it depends on how the research of some companies affects the costs and products of other companies. As a result, researchers have stuck with calculating a "bang-per-buck" ration, the amount of spending stimulated per dollar of revenue cost.

Unfortunately, although there have been close to a dozen rigorous studies of the federal R&D tax credit, there is still little consensus. More recent studies find a higher amount of research generated by the credit than earlier research, but the degree of effect depends strongly on the assumptions and methodologies used in the analysis and the findings range from promoting an additional dollar of research for every public dollar invested to encouraging only 15 to 36 cents of further research spending.

Many of the issues that confront the evaluator of other types of tax incentives must also be faced by the evaluator of R&D credits. But there are several unique issues that R&D tax incentives pose. For example, besides encouraging additional research and development, the incentive should eventually lead to production growth and/or business spin-offs. Significant job creation will also only occur if the R&D has production facilities in-state. Most states are also active in a variety of other technology support programs. Are all these efforts necessary? Evaluators might want to compare the results of the tax credit program with other state activities such as providing technical assistance to companies applying for federal SBIR grants, the provision of matching research grants, and the operation of advanced technology development and technical assistance centers. What are the pros and cons of these differing approaches?

Evaluators must assess how the state is monitoring the use of the R&D incentive and whether it is ensuring that real R&D activity takes place (so that the credit is not being used to subsidize marketing or other company expenses). In considering the rationale for the program, evaluators should examine the types of R&D the credits are supposed to be encouraging. Should credits be structured to only encourage more research and development at the margin? Or should they help those smaller technology-based businesses, who have no real R&D facilities, to access or develop technologies and commercialize them from scratch? Many states have different objectives in mind for the same type of program. And why might a credit be a more effective tool than direct grants or technology transfer services to help these sorts of enterprises?

As is the case with all types of incentives, evaluators must determine the types of firms the credits are going to. Are they large? Small? In technology sectors or traditional sectors? What are the tangible outcomes? Are patents resulting? New products commercializing? New production within the state? Evaluators should make sure that taking the credits necessitates that the firm supplies some important information to the state that could answer these questions. In addition, sunset reviewers should identify a sample of such firms and conduct some in-depth case studies (or phone-based survey research), as described above for other kinds of incentives.

Using Evaluations to Improve Program Management

After the sunset evaluation has clarified what works and what does not, the next step is to decide about the performance measures that will guide the program's future management. Step one is settling upon the critical measures to be collected and analyzed that will correspond to the following levels: policy outcomes (the major goals like measurable changes in state or county income and employment growth), program outcomes (results such as firm-level employment creation or investment), program outputs (the efficient operation of the program), and inputs (the necessary resources, such as employees, salaries, information, offices, equipment, and so forth). Step two involves deciding on who is responsible for those levels. Most likely, elected officials are accountable for policy outcomes. Department executives oversee program outcomes. Operating management are responsible for program outputs. Step three entails setting up a system to measure results, establish standards or targets, and reward good performance.

In the policy area of incentives, staff and upper level management should be rewarded for striking better deals, for conducting good cost-benefit analyses of prospective projects, and for making sure that prospects are courted well and all their questions and concerns are dealt with professionally and quickly. Furthermore, it is very important that the state provides customer-friendly services and honors its commitments for appropriate training, world class infrastructure, timely permitting, helpful site selection, and ongoing ombudsman services.

Closing Thoughts

Several points deserve emphasis. First, it is important that policymakers and advocates do not get lost in all the evaluation minutiae and reach a conclusion that, because we cannot achieve certainty regarding the "if only" question (e.g., did the incentive make the difference, or not), we are at sea when its comes to designing good sunset reviews and making use of their results. Given present political realities and the likelihood that incentives are here to stay—at least for now—any independent, professional, and properly carried out evaluation is better than none. At a minimum, a thorough measurement against objectives would meet the threshold requirement for evaluation. It is also the assessment approach most understandable to policymakers and most helpful to efforts to institute better results-oriented budgeting, performance measurement, and performance management.

Second, it is important that the results of the assessments are widely discussed in the press, in public hearings, and other forums. That is, public participation should be an integral element both to the sunset review process as well as the evaluation of its results. We need a larger discussion of the distribution of costs and benefits when its comes to incentives. To achieve better public policy, this aspect of the sunset review cannot be shortchanged. Who benefits? Who loses? Who pays? Above all, these questions must be answered well in front of a critical public.

Third, policymakers and advocates must demand that incentive legislation should not be enacted without money earmarked for a later evaluation and tough and clear requirements for data collection. This function must be designed and paid for at the program's inception rather than after the fact. Only by preparing for evaluation at the start of a program can it be properly evaluated at its end. As a corollary, all program designers should be required to develop a short, clear statement of goals and indicators by which the program is to be judged. Program architects should also develop a brief description of the initiative's "theory of change" or economic rationale (i.e., how is this incentive supposed to affect firm behavior?). Both of these elements would help evaluators to design appropriate tests of the program's efficacy. They should become as universal as the fiscal notes that are required by many states in new legislation.

Finally, good economic development is good government. Policymakers should make the case for rigorous sunset reviews on the grounds of fiscal responsibility and public accountability. Government should, at all times, reflect the highest standards of public service. This means honesty, fairness, and openness. Where there are clearly defined policies and criteria governing public investment and the use of business incentives, they will limit abuses and reduce the pressure associated with inter-jurisdictional competition. Daylight is the enemy of dubious dealings. The practice of good sunset reviews is good economic development.

Accountability: The Newsletter of the Business Incentives Clearinghouse
Volume 1, Number 2 February 1999

The Business Incentive Reform Clearinghouse is a new project, managed by the Corporation for Enterprise Development (CFED) and funded by the Ford Foundation, which seeks to provide local, state, and federal policymakers with the most current ideas for holding such incentives to a higher standard of public accountability. Its specific goals include: (1) serving to strengthen the ties between policymakers and the best academic research on incentive design, reform, administration, and evaluation ideas; (2) create a forum for dialogue between reform experts, research, policymakers, journalists, and the informed public; (3) exploring new federal, state, and local reform options; and (4) tracking the latest reform alternatives and the latest case studies of unaccountable incentive uses.

INCENTIVES: ARE THEY REALLY "ZERO SUM"?

By David Buchholz

The "Zero Sum" Critique

Economic development incentives have been widely - and increasingly - used in the US to lure investment and jobs. The price tag is in the tens of billions of dollars annually at the state level alone, and possibly as much at local levels.

This proliferation has spawned a heated debate among public officials and outside observers about the wisdom of such policies. Critics charge, among other things, that incentives unfairly shift the tax burden, skew competition in favor of certain firms, and offer a misleading "quick fix" approach to economic development.

The most damning criticism, however, has been that incentives represent a "zero sum game." What is meant by this is, simply, that the total amount of investment and job creation is unaffected by incentives. Cities and states, so the logic goes, are spending public dollars to influence how the pie is divided, not to expand the size of the pie itself.

In any given case a city or state may actually "win" an investment. When Indiana, for instance, beat out Colorado, Oklahoma, Illinois, and others for a new United Airlines facility, it gave up $300 million in incentives to the airline. Did it really "win"? Perhaps. So long as the net revenue to Indiana, in increased income taxes through employees, for instance, totals more than $300 million, it may have been a logical move.

But what happens nationally when this kind of competition takes place? Did United build a bigger facility because of the incentive? No. Did it hire more workers? No. It merely took the $300 million to do what it was going to do anyway. This scenario is played out with other companies day in and day out across the country.

The implication of the "zero sum" argument is that, on a national (and international!) basis, incentives represent tax dollars thrown away. This is true regardless of whether any individual location "wins" at any given point in time in the race for a particular firm. Indiana may "win," but if more plants, or more jobs, are not created by incentives, then the nation as a whole must lose through these kinds of expenditures.

If true, this argument is a powerful one in the call for a ban on incentives altogether as a way of "saving the states from themselves." A great many public officials, in fact, have called for federal intervention to keep them from getting into a bidding war they feel forced into by competition.

But is the zero sum argument really true?

In Defense of Incentives

Many have defended incentives as justifiable policy. Most have done so by pointing out that they can be necessary. Because other communities offer them, refusing to do so puts another community at a relative disadvantage, regardless of how important the incentives are to the firm.

A corollary argument is that incentives may be effective. To public officials this may not only be obvious, but their thinking about the subject may, understandably, end here. Although some incentives clearly pay firms to do what they would have done otherwise, some successfully affect a firm's location decision.

This kind of defense, however, does nothing to challenge the notion that, nationwide, incentives are zero-sum. While local and state officials may shrug their shoulders at such a problem, national officials should be concerned if tax dollars are really being wasted at this level.

Some defenders, however, have cogently argued for incentives in a more important way. Nationally, they say, incentives may turn out to be positive sum after all. Some of these observers have offered thoughtful and persuasive arguments. If they are right, then the correct policy prescription should not be a call to eliminate incentives, but simply to fine-tune them.

Might incentives be positive sum after all?

Arguments about Efficiency

These defenses can be grouped into three categories. First, some have defended incentives as efficiency-enhancing. They view incentives as good tools for fine-tuning tax bundles and redressing past policy wrongs. As narrowly focused tools aimed at specific projects, they may be appropriate tools in some cases.

Specifically, many economists point out that firms may pay more than their fair share of taxes, which¾on a local basis¾is probably economically inefficient. Incentives, they argue, can help correct this problem. (This notion of "benefit taxation" being efficient locally assumes that the redistributive functions of government are taking place at the federal level. Not all economists agree that businesses really are overtaxed; the answer is complicated and appears to vary with the type of business and with other factors.)

More generally, some claim that incentives may enable governments to correct for market distortions, encourage firms to internalize externalities that they would otherwise be unable to afford, or correct for past problems, such as inequitable tax systems or under-investment in school systems.

The efficiency arguments, however, fail when scrutinized closely. The problem with these arguments is not that incentives could not theoretically be used in the manners described by proponents, but that they are not systematically used in such ways in the real world.

Governments should, indeed, address inefficiencies when they exist. But they are better able to redress them through general policies (like improving public services or adjusting the general tax rate) than through selective tax breaks, as most economists agree. Most local governments do not, furthermore, make the careful measures of tax incidence (who pays for what) that efficiency arguments assume.

Incentives, in fact, often distort taxation, sometimes in dramatic fashions. Communities pay more in taxes: Spartanburg, SC tax rates, for instance, shot up after it "won" BMW with $135 million in incentives. And some, after giving away their tax base through abatements, face crises in funding schools and other needs: dramatic examples include Flat Rock MI after "winning" Mazda for $49 million, and Rio Rancho NM after "winning" Intel for $114 million. These distortions may make a community less competitive due to an inability to provide for basic public services.

The efficiency argument also rests on an analogy to the marketplace. Yet this critical analogy ignores the important fact that public officials are primarily political, not economic, actors. Although they may care about efficiency, it is not always the first of their concerns. Incentives are often made for political rea-sons¾for the jobs and investment they seem to represent¾rather than for solid economic reasons.

In its most ridiculous form, this is seen in the case of professional sports franchises, which time and time again receive lucrative new stadiums, despite the fact that study after study shows that they have little economic impact on local economies. This is hardly limited to sports teams, though. The ribbon cutting of a new plant, after all, reaps immediate benefits, while the cost to the taxpayer is usually hidden and spread out over years.

The efficiency argument also fails because governments overbid. They overbid because they have imperfect information about the firm, and because politics matter at least as much as economics. For the efficiency claim to hold, governments would offer incentives only up until their marginal value to the community. But it is clear, empirically, that governments do not know what the marginal value is, much less try to hold themselves to it.

Arguments about Output

Incentives are also defended by a supply-side argument. This defense says that incentives can increase productivity, output, and the job supply. The argument may take several forms.

A simple productivity argument is that incentives alter the cost of production, which can lower the unemployment rate and increase output. Much of this argument rests on the indirect benefits caused by "multi-plier" jobs.

In a similar vein, incentives are claimed by some to have long-term effects on the job supply. One-time increases in jobs, they say, help the unemployed build skills that can increase their employability in the long run.

Like efficiency arguments, though, these defenses also fail to stand up. First, although lowering taxes does lower overall production costs, this does not necessarily "trickle down" into jobs, investment, or other social goods. There is little guarantee that a decrease in tax burden will result in increased job creation rather than profit-taking.

More importantly, the supply-side arguments move from a general hypothetical (incentives might have a given result) to a specific claim (they do) without showing how this happens. Proponents have not demonstrated that tax incentives increase output; indeed, most empirical evidence shows that firms have deter-mined the level of investment and job creation long before incentives are even negotiated.

Many of the productivity arguments, moreover, rest on the strength of economic multipliers. These multipliers, experience shows, are often calculated in vague and optimistic ways. When Illinois offered hundreds of millions of dollars, for instance, to Diamond Star (a joint venture of Chrysler and Mitsubishi), it promised 8,000 "extra" jobs through multipliers. In the end, Diamond Star only offered half of the subcontracts that it had promised, and only fifteen percent of these went to Illinois firms. Several years later, the state's head economic development official reported that not only was the state not close to the 8,000 jobs, but that he was "not sure where the number came from."

But even correctly measured economic multipliers do not represent overall net gains to the economy. This is because supplier and expenditure effects would normally come about in the absence of incentives, although the location of them might be different.

The claims that employment shocks have long-term effects also fail to hold. These arguments rest on the assumption that the local unemployed obtain some significant portion of any jobs created. But empirical studies do not generally show that they gain at all from an increased job supply. If the end goal of incentive policies were job training, as this argument implies, incentives are surely one of the most inefficient and costly job training programs available!

Although the output arguments do not hold up empirically, one additional weakness would be evident even if they were true. Proponents do not show why¾even if incentives did increase output¾these narrow preferential tools should be used rather than broad-based tax cuts. If lowered taxes really did "trickle down" to create new jobs or increased output, then general tax cuts would be the most economically efficient, not the hodgepodge tax code that is created by a series of preferential incentives.

Arguments about Employment Distribution

A related, but distinct, argument has to do with social gains associated with employment distribution. Proponents argue that incentives may direct jobs to the most socially desirable locations. If investment can be directed toward areas least likely to fare well in the open marketplace¾those with poor infrastructure, low skill levels, or chronic employment from structural economic changes, for instance¾then incentives really can be beneficial. This is an especially powerful argument because it can apply even without efficiency or output gains.

Proponents have made this argument at length, with a number of formal models that purport to show how this effect can happen. Some describe a "market for jobs" which helps to maximize the total "community benefits." Another version uses the notion of the reservation wage - the lowest wage for which an individual is willing to work - to demonstrate that jobs are worth more in high-unemployment areas.

The arguments fail, however, for one important reason. An explicit assumption of this argument is that the areas most in need will bid more aggressively than those that are better off. If this is not the case, then these arguments, as acknowledged by their own proponents, will not hold.

As it turns out, this critical assumption is not true. A series of empirical studies show that high-need cities and states do not appear to offer more incentives than low-need areas. At best, the relationship between need and incentives is random, and in many cases it appears that better-off areas even outbid their poorer neighbors. Furthermore, individual states¾rich or poor¾have not been able to direct investment to the highest-need areas within their own borders.

In the end, there is absolutely no evidence to suggest that the sites most in need will successfully direct the investment their way. No proponent of this argument has offered a compelling mechanism in the market-place that promotes "good" incentives in areas of high need and discourages "bad" ones in well-off areas. By 1999, incentives have become essentially universal.

It is this ubiquity that provides the last nail for this argument's coffin. Poor areas that need to lure investment may offer incentives to do so, but rich areas are doing the same thing, sometimes even more generously. Without a mechanism to promote one and discourage the other, any positive effect is eliminated (or the poor area must bid even more generously to regain an advantage!) and the corporation gets to pocket the incentive no matter where it goes.

Incentives: Zero Sum (or worse) After All

The bottom line is clear: if everyone is offering incentives, there is no reason to believe that the "good" incentives will be chosen any more often than the "bad" incentives.

The defenses of incentives fail to hold up. Most fail not on theoretical grounds, but empirical ones. Incentives might be capable of effecting some of the happy benefits that have been discussed. Unfortunately, they do not.

The principal reason that incentives fail to live up to their efficiency-enhancing, output-increasing, utility-maximizing promises is that they are ubiquitous. Incentives, left in the hands of state and local officials, lack direction. On a systematic level, they do not do anything, they simply exist.

When critics call incentives a zero sum game because they only shift resources around, they are partially correct. Aggregate investment and job creation are highly unlikely to increase.

It is more accurate to describe the phenomenon, however, as a negative sum game. Not only is total investment unchanged, but cities, counties, states, and countries spend tens of billions of dollars every year trying to bring about this zero sum change in location.

Incentives are more than just an imperfect tool. Location incentives, while at times individually rational, are collectively irrational. They are irrational because they do not add benefits net of expenses in the aggregate.

California, for instance, may offer Looking-For-Breaks Corporation $100 million in incentives to "win" it. While the firm will happily take the cash, it will not create more jobs than it would have without the breaks. While it may be understandable for California officials, looking out for their state's economy, to try to win the corporation, the economic system as a whole simply sees a $100 million public loss without affecting the firm's investment behavior.

While individual communities may benefit at the expense of others, states and cities are collectively worse off for their use.

Why Should I Care?

Defenders of incentives are right in saying that they are politically necessary in this day and age. State and local officials often say, "I wish I didn't have to offer incentives, but…." They may be necessary because everyone else is doing it, but this reality does not make them good policy.

The same defenders are not correct, though, when they try to take the argument to the next level by saying that incentives¾taken as a whole¾are worthwhile.

State and local governments, in the face of competition, really are forced to put up incentives or risk losing desired investment. For this reason, many¾including any number of academics, economic development professionals, and state legislatures¾have called for federal intervention to stop incentives. A number of legal scholars have argued that incentives may be deemed unconstitutional, if challenged head-on, because they violate the dormant commerce clause of the Constitution.

Incentives may be politically necessary for individual cities and states who are trying to lure or keep investment. Without federal intervention, this will continue to be so. But incentives represent¾ten million here and a hundred million there¾a net loss to the public coffers, and to the public good.

Incentives are, despite claims to the contrary, a negative-sum game. And, because local officials feel forced to play that game, a solution can only come at a national level.

David E. Buchholz has recently completed a Ph.D. dissertation at the Department of Political Science at Duke University. He is currently executive director of Good Work, a microenterprise lending and technical assistance organization, and will be working at Self Help, a NC-based community development finance institution in early 1999.

Volume 1, Number 1 January 1999

The Business Incentive Reform Clearinghouse is a new project, managed by the Corporation for Enterprise Development (CFED) and funded by the Ford Foundation, which seeks to provide local, state, and federal policymakers with the most current ideas for holding such incentives to a higher standard of public accountability. Its specific goals include: (1) serving to strengthen the ties between policymakers and the best academic research on incentive design, reform, administration, and evaluation ideas; (2) create a forum for dialogue between reform experts, research, policymakers, journalists, and the informed public; (3) exploring new federal, state, and local reform options; and (4) tracking the latest reform alternatives and the latest case studies of unaccountable incentive uses.

The Care and Feeding of the State and Local Tax Base: A Valuable Public Asset
By Michael Mazerov and William Schweke

Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said it accurately and succinctly: "Taxes are what [we] pay for civilization." Schoolteachers, police officers, sanitation workers, road crews, and public health nurses can't work for free. Publishers can't be expected to provide free textbooks and construction companies can't give away sewage treatment plants. Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do - including expanding opportunity for people and places left out of the economic mainstream - ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Taxes represent 56 percent of all of the financial resources available to state and local governments.

The tax bases of states and localities are thus valuable resources that must be nurtured, conserved, and used efficiently, no less so than a stand of timber or a parcel of rich farmland. Unfortunately, a number of longstanding flaws in state and local tax systems and a host of recently-enacted provisions aimed at encouraging local economic development are resulting in rapid erosion of this crucial community asset. Major changes in federal, state, and local tax policy are needed to ensure that state and local tax bases will be capable of meeting the demands that will be placed upon them in the coming decades.

Erosion From Without

Broadly speaking, states and localities tax the incomes, consumption, and real estate wealth of their citizens and the profits and property wealth of businesses engaged in economic activity within their borders. Personal income taxes, household and business property taxes, consumption taxes, and corporate profits taxes together account for 99 percent of state and local tax revenues. Unfortunately, technological and economic factors are interacting with longstanding deficiencies in state and local taxing powers and policies to erode the base of these taxes. Indeed, a recent study by Hal Hovey of State Policy Reports found that many states, despite the strong economic and fiscal conditions that currently prevail, are in great danger of falling into structural deficits (e.g., a chronic underlying imbalance between their revenues and expenditures) when the next economic downturn occurs.

Recent improvements and declining relative costs of transportation and communications permit businesses to supply local markets for an ever-wider variety of goods and services through interstate trade rather than localized production and marketing. For example, a searchable Internet database can now furnish potential customers with a breadth of information concerning product specifications and availability that until recently could only have been provided by a large national sales force traveling to the customers' place of business.

The increasing ability of corporations to satisfy their customers' market demands with little or no direct physical presence in the states and localities where these customers are located is already contributing to a serious direct erosion of state and local sales tax and corporate income tax bases. The authority of state and local governments to tax out-of-state corporations is severely constrained by obsolete federal law, and this problem is compounded by other tax policies that have not been updated to take account of the explosive growth in interstate trade and multi-state corporations. There is only so much consumer demand and business profit potential within a given state or locality at a given point in time, and if the sales are made and the profits are earned by out-of-state corporations not subject to tax, the sales tax and corporate income tax base will be directly eroded. Already, for example, state and local governments lose $3-4 billion in sales tax revenues from mail-order catalog sales. This revenue loss is anticipated to grow dramatically in the next several years as the Internet expands the range of goods and services that can be purchased from remote sellers.

The direct loss in sales and corporate income tax revenues resulting from the collision of accelerating interstate commerce and obsolete tax laws is compounded by a second-round loss of local income and property tax receipts from local merchants. Locally based businesses are at a competitive disadvantage as compared with both out-of-state businesses selling from tax haven states and corporations that can take advantage of their multi-state operations to cut their taxes. For example, one infamous court case revealed that Toys 'R Us was reducing its reported profit in many states - and thus its state corporate income tax liability - by requiring its stores to pay tax-deductible royalties to another Toys 'R Us subsidiary especially set up in Delaware to hold its Geoffrey Giraffe logo.

The local toy store proprietor does not have the same opportunity to manipulate her income tax liability that a multi-state chain like Toys 'R Us does; the neighborhood computer builder starts out with a 6-8 percent price disadvantage vis-a-vis Dell Computer because he has to charge sales tax while Dell does not. Lower after-tax profitability and depressed sales for locally based businesses mean lost opportunities to expand both physical plant and payrolls. In turn, this results in lower property tax and income tax collections. True, the jurisdiction that is home to the region's Toys 'R Us store may reap economic benefits despite the company's ability to manipulate its state tax liability, as may the one community lucky enough to land the mail-order computer manufacturer's national distribution warehouse. But if states and localities want to derive a significant share of their economic and tax base from viable, competitive, locally based businesses, it will be increasingly necessary to modify their tax systems to ensure that such businesses are not taxed more heavily than out-of-state and multi-state businesses. At present, the competitive playing field is very much tilted against the locally based business sector.

Erosion From Within

The flip side of the growing ability of corporations to satisfy nationwide demand for their products from just a handful of production and distribution centers has been intensified state and local government competition to attract such export-oriented facilities and the jobs they bring with them. Special breaks on state and local taxes have, of course, been a principal weapon in this well-publicized "War Between the States," to the point that they, too, constitute a major source of tax base erosion. The amount of state and local government tax revenue given away has escalated steadily, with the cost per job attracted reaching as high as $250,000 to $500,000 in some instances. While no nationwide survey of the cost of economic development incentives exists, we can fairly accurately project that total state and local on- and off-budget spending on economic development (including both good programs and bad ones) is probably five times what the federal government spends. This would put the total nonfederal figure at close to $32 billion. And, according to our best estimates, the largest proportions of this total are tax incentives. Depending on the state, they may exceed direct on-budget economic development spending by 3:1 to 8:1. New York's state and local tax expenditures for economic development, for example, exceed $500 million annually, or over $27 per capita.

Since the publication of Bidding for Business: Are Cities and States Selling Themselves Short?, the Corporation for Enterprise Development and its allies have been working to curb the excesses in today's business incentives "arms race" among the states. In doing so, we believe we have succeeded in convincing most policymakers and opinion leaders that tax incentives are generally not good economic development tools - especially when looked at from the national perspective. There is a growing conventional wisdom that such programs:

* Often reward shareholders of the recipient corporations for economic actions the companies would have taken anyway;
* Waste scarce public dollars to affect the location of business investments with little if any impact on net job creation;
* Sometimes destroy jobs in existing businesses by providing substantial unfair advantages to new competitors;
* Divert the attention of policymakers from attending to the actions that could lead to net job creation and a better business climate; and

* Deprive state and local governments of revenues need to finance public services that enhance a region's attractiveness as a business location, such as good public schools and effective retraining programs for adult workers.

Nonetheless, we must acknowledge that our intellectual victories are not translating into practical success. Economic development tax incentives continue to proliferate. For example, the last KPMG Peat Marwick survey of senior tax and financial exectives at 203 large corporations found that these companies stated that such incentives were more likely to be offered than five years ago and the number of such programs has also grown from 450 to 600 during the year polled.

Why do tax incentives continue to proliferate despite growing skepticism about their efficacy? First, because when a new or expanded facility receives a tax incentive, there is no way to demonstrate conclusively that the investment would have occurred without it. Second, because one cannot undercut the logic that a tax incentive larger than one being offered by a competing jurisdiction will tip a location decision when "all other factors are equal." Third, because a couple of examples of corporate executives citing tax incentives as a factor in their decision to locate an especially sought-after plant in a particular jurisdiction will trump a hundred econometric studies showing no correlation between business' state and local tax liabilities and job growth.

An Action Agenda for Preserving the State and Local Tax Base

Just as it has taken several decades to build a robust movement of organizations and individuals committed to conserving and restoring the natural environment, it will require considerable effort to build a constituency to defend the "natural resources" that fuel state and local public services. Fortunately, a growing number of organizations are beginning to focus on strategies and policies aimed at preserving the state and local tax base. The embryonic elements of such a movement can be seen in such diverse activities as the National Governors' Association's efforts to educate Congress about the emerging threat to the sales tax base that tax-free Internet marketing represents and initiatives challenging excessive property tax abatements placed on the ballot by teachers' unions in several states. Perhaps the most exciting recent developments are the establishment of a full-blown project at Citizens for Tax Justice - "Good Jobs First" - aimed at supporting a growing local movement that seeks to attach job quality-related performance requirements to major economic development incentive packages granted by state and local governments, along with CFED's newly-funded "Business Incentive Reform Clearinghouse," which intends to create a current and comprehensive web-based library of reform tools, ideas, and research.

We would suggest that organizations concerned about the long-term preservation of a healthy state and local tax base focus for the next decade on seeking implementation of the following five sets of economic development-enhancing tax policies:

* Mandatory public disclosure by corporations of their actual state and local tax liabilities, the value of the economic development tax incentives they receive, and their local economic activity (including sales, payrolls, and plant and equipment investment) is the sine qua non of achieving both corporate accountability for tax incentives and fair taxation of businesses in general. Only with such information can policymakers and the public evaluate whether the cost of tax incentives is justified by the growth of payrolls and investment and the feedback effect on the tax base itself. Such information is also needed to evaluate whether existing tax policy ensures that all corporations benefiting from state and local services are paying their fair share of taxes and that state and local taxes are not tilting the playing field either in favor of or against competitors. Corporate tax disclosure is best pursued through a coordinated national campaign that seeks to enact it in numerous states simultaneously, since a single state seeking to adopt such a policy would be vulnerable to corporate threats not to locate new investments there.

* Many states need to implement a set of tax policies aimed at ensuring that multi-state corporations have state corporate income tax and sales tax liabilities as similar as possible to those faced by wholly in-state corporations. These policies include mandatory "combined reporting" (an accounting method that treats businesses comprised of a parent and subsidiaries as one corporation for state corporate tax purposes) and the assertion of taxing jurisdiction over out-of-state corporations to the limits permitted by federal law. For the long term, changes must also be sought in federal law that would permit states to tax all out-of-state corporations making substantial sales to their residents (including resident businesses). All of these changes are needed to ensure both that a state's tax base is not directly eroded by out-of-state businesses (such as mail-order and Internet sellers) and that local businesses are not placed at a competitive disadvantage by a state's tax policies as compared with out-of-state businesses.

* Given the range of experimentation that has already occurred for enforcing the accountability of economic development incentive deals through legally binding performance contracts, now is the time to draw on best practice and draft a model for states and localities to follow. Laws should be sought to grant citizens legal standing to ensure compliance with these contracts and to ensure that the routine enforcement of the contracts is not the responsibility of the state and local economic development staff that originally marketed the jurisdiction and arranged the deal. Laws implementing economic development incentives should also always include a requirement that the programs undergo a well-financed, professional, and independent sunset review every five years.

* Activists should seek legislation requiring the preparation of a unified development budget, which would examine simultaneously all on- and off-budget spending on economic development. This is a valuable tool, because it clarifies existing commitments and implicit priorities (e.g., business recruitment versus workforce preparation versus technology development), enables policymakers to better weigh conflicting imperatives (e.g., K-12 school financing versus property tax abatements), can help direct scarce public dollars into programs that generate better development returns for the state, and helps educate the public and policymaking community to the fact that economic development involves more than business incentives and industrial attraction.

* Finally, both before- and after-the-fact evaluation of incentive programs and special deals would be aided by developing a "certified" cost-benefit methodology setting minimum standards for what a good assessment should look like. After such a model approach is developed, efforts should be launched to encourage all states and localities to adopt it when they are measuring net benefits and net costs per job for varied development incentives. Adoption of a uniform evaluation methodology would prevent one state from offering a more extensive location incentive package than another merely because it measured the benefits more generously. The effectiveness of such a uniform methodology would also be enhanced if states competing for a particular facility would agree to share information provided by the company regarding such matters as the amount of capital to be invested, the number of jobs to be created, their pay scales, etc.

We are under no illusion that these reforms will be easy to enact. But we are encouraged by the reform efforts, which are now organizing around these issues. More and more citizens are saying "enough is enough" and that we are wasting too much money on subsidizing companies for what they would have done anyway. If we can focus the degree of commitment and resources that this agenda demands, we can build broader coalitions between main street businesses, public employee unions, taxpayer watchdog groups, low-income budget advocates, and many others. By doing so, this agenda has a realistic prospect for success.

The Care and Feeding of the State and Local Tax Base

An Action Agenda to Conserve a Valuable Public Asset[1]

By William Schweke, Corporation for Enterprise Development

As Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said: "Taxes are what [we] pay for civilization." Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Taxes represent 56 percent of all of the financial resources available to state and local governments.

The tax bases of states and localities are valuable resources that must be nurtured, conserved, and used efficiently, no less so than timber or farmland. Unfortunately, a number of long-standing flaws in state and local tax systems and a host of recently enacted provisions aimed at encouraging local economic development are resulting in rapid erosion of this crucial community asset. Major changes in federal, state, and local tax policy are needed to ensure that state and local tax bases will be able to meet the demands placed upon them in coming decades.

Erosion From Without

Broadly speaking, states and localities tax the incomes, consumption, and real estate wealth of their citizens and the profits and property wealth of businesses engaged in economic activity within their borders. Personal income taxes, household and business property taxes, consumption taxes, and taxes on corporate profits together account for 99 percent of state and local tax revenues. Unfortunately, technological and economic factors are interacting with longstanding deficiencies in state and local taxing powers and policies to erode the base of these taxes. These factors include:

- Rapid growth of interstate trade at the expense of localized production and marketing. Obsolete federal law hobbles the authority of state and local governments to tax many out-of-state corporations. These governments already lose $3-4 billion in annual sales tax revenues from mail-order catalog sales alone. This revenue loss is likely to grow dramatically in the next several years as the Internet expands the range of goods and services that can be purchased from remote sellers.
- The competitive disadvantage locally based businesses face compared to out-of-state corporations that can take advantage of their multi-state operations to manipulate and cut their taxes. The ensuing lower after-tax profits and depressed sales of locally based businesses hamper their ability to expand both physical plant and payrolls. This in turn results in lower property tax and income tax payments by such businesses and their employees.

Erosion From Within

The flip side of the growing ability of corporations to satisfy nationwide demand for products from just a handful of production and distribution centers is intensified state and local government competition to attract such export-oriented facilities and the jobs they bring with them. Special breaks on state and local taxes further erode the tax base.

Since the publication of Bidding for Business: Are Cities and States Selling Themselves Short? the Corporation for Enterprise Development and its allies have worked to curb the excesses in today's business incentives "arms race" among the states. We believe that most policymakers and opinion leaders have been convinced that tax incentives often are poor economic development tools – especially because they pit one state or locality against another, and from a national perspective, rarely result a net increase in jobs. Nonetheless, economic development tax incentives continue to proliferate despite growing skepticism about their efficacy for several reasons:

1. When a new or expanded facility receives a tax incentive, there is no way to demonstrate conclusively that the investment would have occurred without it.
2. One cannot undercut the logic that a tax incentive larger than one being offered by a competing jurisdiction will tip a location decision when "all other factors are equal."
3. A few corporate executives who say tax incentives swayed their decision to locate a plant in a particular jurisdiction will trump a hundred econometric studies that show no correlation between business' state and local tax liabilities and job growth.

What is needed to combat these "arguments" is a more accurate view of the overall role of taxes and incentives in a good business climate, along with efforts to design much more cost-effective, publically accountable, and transparent development incentives. However, before looking at what policymakers might do about these nefarious trends, let's step back and establish some better design principles for a development-enhancing fiscal system.

The Role of Taxes in Business Climate

For the traditional perspective on business climates, state and local tax systems are always a liability nad never an asset. Cost – the amount of taxes paid is always the issue and rarely are the benefits of a sound tax system measures and identified.

Indeed, according to this traditional point of view, taxes harm more than they help. But taxes are the means for financing government. But is government, and the services it provides, really the enemy of business?

Experience, common sense, and the facts suggest otherwise. While taxes do impose costs, they also finance the basic services that businesses need to thrive and that significantly bolster an area's quality of life. After all, school teachers, police officers, sanitation workers, road crews, and public healthy nurses cannot work for free. Publishers can't be expected to provide free textbooks and construction workers can't give away sewage treatment plants. Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do – including expanding opportunity for people and places left out of the economic mainstream – ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Indeed, a well-balanced tax system can be an asset to a state's business climate, rather than a liability. And the real obstacle to achieving a better business climate is our outmoded tax systems. We need to understand that our revenue systems often:

- Are out-of-step with technological change, today's multi-national, information-based service economy and demographic trends.
- Impose tax burdens on an increasingly narrow slice of economic activity.
- Establish an unfair advantage for large businesses and out-of-state companies.
- Result in structural deficits in many states.

- Require the less affluent to shoulder more of the tax load.

Simply responding to pressure by tinkering with a state's tax codes will do little to improve the business climate. A better way requires that:

- Tax competitiveness becomes only one of a number of goals for a quality fiscal system.
- Tax reform is based on creating a better fit between a state's fiscal system and its changing economic base.
- Tax reform is comprehensive in scope (or at least holistic in conception), rather seeking to "just get by" the next challenge or crisis.
- States seek to cooperate with their neighbors on issues of tax uniformity, taxing multi-state corporations, and restraining the incentives "arms race."
- Most importantly, a tax system should offer lower rates, greater predictability, a broader base, more equity, and greater simplicity.

Although these points may appear to say to business that the key to a more positive business is to pay more taxes, this is not the intent. Instead, the link between a good environment for business and a state tax system can be summarized in three simple ideas:

- A good fiscal system should be one that produces adequate revenues in a predictable manner. It is stable. It is certain. And revenues are sufficient to support current costs and are structured to grow naturally.
- The tax system creates a level playing field among all types of businesses and among all types of households. Those that make the same income or profits should pay the same amount of taxes.
- Businesses must pay its fair share because government services like police and fire protection, education, and highways are benefits received and needed by companies. Taxes reflect the cost of these services.

The Case of North Carolina

Something like these guidelines also should guide North Carolina policymakers in thinking about how best to address its current $800 million budget gap. Rather than raiding its Rainy Day Fund during a growth period, or instituting an economically regressive and morally questionable lottery, its leadership should consider other avenues. How might changes in its business tax incentive policies change its funding picture? Is the state pursuing the right course in dealing with the challenges posed by electronic commerce and multi-state corporations, who are bent on creating more "nowhere income?" Likewise, many of the tax cuts enacted by the General Assembly, during the past few years, have favored the wealthy and business, not the less affluent citizenry. How might legislators best deal with these important equity considerations? And how might elected leadership use this crisis to improve its overall tax system and not just extricate the state from its current situation? What larger economic, technological, political, and demographic trends should shape a system that is much more equipped for the 21st century?

An Action Agenda

Just as it has taken several decades to build a robust movement of organizations and individuals committed to conserving and restoring the natural environment, it will require considerable effort to build a constituency to defend the "natural resources" that fuel state and local public services. We urge organizations and elected and appointed officials concerned about preserving a healthy state and local tax base to focus for the next decade on five sets of economic development-enhancing tax policies:

- Mandate public disclosure by corporations of their actual state and local tax liabilities, the value of the economic development tax incentives they receive, and their local economic activity. Policymakers and the public need this information if they are to evaluate (1) whether the cost of tax incentives is justified by the growth of payrolls and investment and the tax base itself, and (2) whether corporations benefiting from state and local services are paying their fair share of state and local taxes. Corporate tax disclosure is best pursued through a coordinated national campaign that seeks to enact legislation in numerous states simultaneously, since a single state seeking to adopt such a policy would be subject to corporate threats not to invest there.

- Implement state tax policies that ensure that multi-state corporations have state corporate income tax and sales tax liabilities similar to those faced by wholly in-state corporations. These policies include mandatory "combined reporting" (an accounting method that treats businesses comprised of a parent and subsidiaries as one corporation for state corporate tax purposes) and the assertion of taxing jurisdiction over out-of-state corporations to the limits permitted by federal law. Also seek long-term changes in federal law to permit states to tax all out-of-state corporations making substantial sales to their residents (including resident businesses).

- Draw on best practice and draft a model law that states and localities can use to enforce the accountability of economic development incentive deals through legally binding performance contracts. Seek laws to grant citizens legal standing to ensure compliance with these contracts and to ensure that the routine enforcement of the contracts is not the responsibility of the state and local economic development staff that originally marketed the jurisdiction and arranged the deal. Require economic development tax incentive programs by law to undergo a well-financed, professional, and independent sunset review every five years.

- Seek legislation requiring preparation of a unified development budget, which would examine simultaneously all on- and off-budget spending on economic development. This budget tool clarifies existing commitments and implicit priorities, enables policymakers to better weigh conflicting imperatives (such as K-12 class size reduction versus property tax abatements), and can help direct scarce public dollars into programs that generate better development returns for the state.
- Develop a "certified" cost-benefit methodology that sets minimum standards for a good assessment to be used in evaluating incentive programs and special deals. After such a model approach is developed, encourage all states and localities to use it when measuring net benefits and net costs per job for varied development incentives.

These reforms will not be easy to enact, but these are the right policies. Their only major difficulty is that they work best if all states are doing them. But we are encouraged by the organizing efforts now underway around these issues. If we can focus the degree of commitment and resources that this agenda demands, we can build broader coalitions that include small businesses, public employee unions, taxpayer watchdog groups, and low-income budget advocates. By doing so, this agenda will have realistic prospects for successful implementation.

THE STATE'S MAJOR ISSUES IN WAITING

In addition to the budget challenges we now face, there are a number of other equally important issues that you may deem worthy of your attention. In your role as North Carolina's chief policymaker it is urgent that these issues be addressed soon, otherwise, there may well be severe consequences for our State for the future:

- the growing perception that our governments have the solution to all our needs and wants
- a State tax structure that is full of holes — lacking in fairness and equity among the people
- a State budget system that serves little value in letting the people know how the tax dollars are being spent; and, why
- the pending law suits of low wealth counties for public education — an issue that should be the responsibility of the General Assembly
- an overhaul of the budgeting system for the public schools; how the State's dollars are allocated and used
- the overlapping of the roles and responsibilities of State and the counties and cities
- a higher education system that cries out for coordination of programs among the 4-year campuses and the community colleges
- the issues surrounding the deregulation of the electric utility industry
- the excessive optimism regarding the moneys to be received from the tobacco settlement; note the prospect for reduced payments
- the need for early involvement by the General Assembly in the rapidly development plans for mass transit; and the funding sources to be identified and made available

Comments of State Treasurer Harlan Boyles
February 24, 1999
North Carolina House Finance Committee

Good Morning, Mr. Chairmen, Other Members of the General Assembly, and Ladies and Gentlemen.

I am honored that you would invite me here today to share my thoughts about the state of our State's finances.

There has been much talk in recent days about a so-called budget crisis, or budget gap that we face. I would suggest that is not the case at all.

We face no budget crisis in North Carolina. We are enjoying the greatest era of prosperity this state has ever seen. Revenues are at an all time high. More of our people are employed in better jobs than ever before. We are making real progress in improving our public schools. And we are effectively addressing a number of problems that have troubled us for years, such as better health care, diversifying our farm economy and improving our environment.

The challenge we face is how to make the best of these good times.

I would remind you that the actual, real budget you are considering is $23.4 billion, not the $13 billion that is often reported in the media. Within those funds, I would suggest, are ample resources to do all of the things that North Carolina must do to meet the needs of its people.

As a planning tool, I have prepared an analysis of the State's revenue and expenditure changes. The General Assembly requires each county and city government to prepare a "budget resolution" with a full analysis of its financial implications. I would suggest the state ought to follow its own mandate for local governments.

All of the figures (except for one item) in this analysis are from the Governor's Budget. That exception is a $76.8 million reduction in Investment earnings.

This analysis shows the estimated revenues for the 1999-2000 Fiscal Year. More importantly, it shows the revenue reductions as the result of recent tax reductions and two recent court cases.

This kind of analysis is essential for the General Assembly to know where it stands in planning for the future. If we do not take into account these reductions and the long-term implications of all revenue changes, we risk facing a real crisis.

On page two is a similar analysis of Non-recurring Revenues and Expenditures.

I would suggest, Mr. Chairmen, that the Finance Committee examine this analysis and decide what revenues are available. When that is done, the Appropriations Committee will know exactly how much it has to spend and that will determine the budget.

In summary, let me say that North Carolina has a solid reputation for making sound financial decisions. That is why we have maintained a Triple-A credit rating for more than three decades and have earned the envy of much of the rest of the nation for doing so.

Also, it is no accident that North Carolina has more Triple-A rated local units of government than any other state in the nation. In fact, we have 25 percent of all the Triple-A credit rated units of government in the entire nation. That is a great source of pride.

But more than a source of pride, it is the foundation of a sound system of public finance in North Carolina which has been built over many years. This has been achieved by strong leadership from the General Assembly, Governors and local officials.

All North Carolinians have been well served by our prudent financial policies of the past. And I know that you will continue this great tradition as you make the hard decisions that will impact our future.

THE STATE'S MAJOR ISSUES IN WAITING

In addition to the budget challenges we now face, there are a number of other equally important issues that you may deem worthy of your attention. In your role as North Carolina's chief policymaker it is urgent that these issues be addressed soon, otherwise, there may well be severe consequences for our State for the future:

- the growing perception that our governments have the solution to all our needs and wants
- a State tax structure that is full of holes — lacking in fairness and equity among the people
- a State budget system that serves little value in letting the people know how the tax dollars are being spent; and, why
- the pending law suits of low wealth counties for public education — an issue that should be the responsibility of the General Assembly
- an overhaul of the budgeting system for the public schools; how the State's dollars are allocated and used
- the overlapping of the roles and responsibilities of State and the counties and cities
- a higher education system that cries out for coordination of programs among the 4-year campuses and the community colleges
- the issues surrounding the deregulation of the electric utility industry
- the excessive optimism regarding the moneys to be received from the tobacco settlement; note the prospect for reduced payments
- the need for early involvement by the General Assembly in the rapidly development plans for mass transit; and the funding sources to be identified and made available

Comments of State Treasurer Harlan Boyles
February 24, 1999
North Carolina House Finance Committee

Good Morning, Mr. Chairmen, Other Members of the General Assembly, and Ladies and Gentlemen.

I am honored that you would invite me here today to share my thoughts about the state of our State's finances.

There has been much talk in recent days about a so-called budget crisis, or budget gap that we face. I would suggest that is not the case at all.

We face no budget crisis in North Carolina. We are enjoying the greatest era of prosperity this state has ever seen. Revenues are at an all time high. More of our people are employed in better jobs than ever before. We are making real progress in improving our public schools. And we are effectively addressing a number of problems that have troubled us for years, such as better health care, diversifying our farm economy and improving our environment.

The challenge we face is how to make the best of these good times.

I would remind you that the actual, real budget you are considering is $23.4 billion, not the $13 billion that is often reported in the media. Within those funds, I would suggest, are ample resources to do all of the things that North Carolina must do to meet the needs of its people.

As a planning tool, I have prepared an analysis of the State's revenue and expenditure changes. The General Assembly requires each county and city government to prepare a "budget resolution" with a full analysis of its financial implications. I would suggest the state ought to follow its own mandate for local governments.

All of the figures (except for one item) in this analysis are from the Governor's Budget. That exception is a $76.8 million reduction in Investment earnings.

This analysis shows the estimated revenues for the 1999-2000 Fiscal Year. More importantly, it shows the revenue reductions as the result of recent tax reductions and two recent court cases.

This kind of analysis is essential for the General Assembly to know where it stands in planning for the future. If we do not take into account these reductions and the long-term implications of all revenue changes, we risk facing a real crisis.

On page two is a similar analysis of Non-recurring Revenues and Expenditures.

I would suggest, Mr. Chairmen, that the Finance Committee examine this analysis and decide what revenues are available. When that is done, the Appropriations Committee will know exactly how much it has to spend and that will determine the budget.

In summary, let me say that North Carolina has a solid reputation for making sound financial decisions. That is why we have maintained a Triple-A credit rating for more than three decades and have earned the envy of much of the rest of the nation for doing so.

Also, it is no accident that North Carolina has more Triple-A rated local units of government than any other state in the nation. In fact, we have 25 percent of all the Triple-A credit rated units of government in the entire nation. That is a great source of pride.

But more than a source of pride, it is the foundation of a sound system of public finance in North Carolina which has been built over many years. This has been achieved by strong leadership from the General Assembly, Governors and local officials.

All North Carolinians have been well served by our prudent financial policies of the past. And I know that you will continue this great tradition as you make the hard decisions that will impact our future.

The Care and Feeding of the State and Local Tax Base

An Action Agenda to Conserve a Valuable Public Asset[1]

By William Schweke, Corporation for Enterprise Development

As Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said: "Taxes are what [we] pay for civilization." Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Taxes represent 56 percent of all of the financial resources available to state and local governments.

The tax bases of states and localities are valuable resources that must be nurtured, conserved, and used efficiently, no less so than timber or farmland. Unfortunately, a number of long-standing flaws in state and local tax systems and a host of recently enacted provisions aimed at encouraging local economic development are resulting in rapid erosion of this crucial community asset. Major changes in federal, state, and local tax policy are needed to ensure that state and local tax bases will be able to meet the demands placed upon them in coming decades.

Erosion From Without

Broadly speaking, states and localities tax the incomes, consumption, and real estate wealth of their citizens and the profits and property wealth of businesses engaged in economic activity within their borders. Personal income taxes, household and business property taxes, consumption taxes, and taxes on corporate profits together account for 99 percent of state and local tax revenues. Unfortunately, technological and economic factors are interacting with longstanding deficiencies in state and local taxing powers and policies to erode the base of these taxes. These factors include:

- Rapid growth of interstate trade at the expense of localized production and marketing. Obsolete federal law hobbles the authority of state and local governments to tax many out-of-state corporations. These governments already lose $3-4 billion in annual sales tax revenues from mail-order catalog sales alone. This revenue loss is likely to grow dramatically in the next several years as the Internet expands the range of goods and services that can be purchased from remote sellers.
- The competitive disadvantage locally based businesses face compared to out-of-state corporations that can take advantage of their multi-state operations to manipulate and cut their taxes. The ensuing lower after-tax profits and depressed sales of locally based businesses hamper their ability to expand both physical plant and payrolls. This in turn results in lower property tax and income tax payments by such businesses and their employees.

Erosion From Within

The flip side of the growing ability of corporations to satisfy nationwide demand for products from just a handful of production and distribution centers is intensified state and local government competition to attract such export-oriented facilities and the jobs they bring with them. Special breaks on state and local taxes further erode the tax base.

Since the publication of Bidding for Business: Are Cities and States Selling Themselves Short? the Corporation for Enterprise Development and its allies have worked to curb the excesses in today's business incentives "arms race" among the states. We believe that most policymakers and opinion leaders have been convinced that tax incentives often are poor economic development tools – especially because they pit one state or locality against another, and from a national perspective, rarely result a net increase in jobs. Nonetheless, economic development tax incentives continue to proliferate despite growing skepticism about their efficacy for several reasons:

1. When a new or expanded facility receives a tax incentive, there is no way to demonstrate conclusively that the investment would have occurred without it.
2. One cannot undercut the logic that a tax incentive larger than one being offered by a competing jurisdiction will tip a location decision when "all other factors are equal."
3. A few corporate executives who say tax incentives swayed their decision to locate a plant in a particular jurisdiction will trump a hundred econometric studies that show no correlation between business' state and local tax liabilities and job growth.

What is needed to combat these "arguments" is a more accurate view of the overall role of taxes and incentives in a good business climate, along with efforts to design much more cost-effective, publically accountable, and transparent development incentives. However, before looking at what policymakers might do about these nefarious trends, let's step back and establish some better design principles for a development-enhancing fiscal system.

The Role of Taxes in Business Climate

For the traditional perspective on business climates, state and local tax systems are always a liability nad never an asset. Cost – the amount of taxes paid is always the issue and rarely are the benefits of a sound tax system measures and identified.

Indeed, according to this traditional point of view, taxes harm more than they help. But taxes are the means for financing government. But is government, and the services it provides, really the enemy of business?

Experience, common sense, and the facts suggest otherwise. While taxes do impose costs, they also finance the basic services that businesses need to thrive and that significantly bolster an area's quality of life. After all, school teachers, police officers, sanitation workers, road crews, and public healthy nurses cannot work for free. Publishers can't be expected to provide free textbooks and construction workers can't give away sewage treatment plants. Everything we as citizens call upon state and local governments to do – including expanding opportunity for people and places left out of the economic mainstream – ultimately requires a funding mechanism. Indeed, a well-balanced tax system can be an asset to a state's business climate, rather than a liability. And the real obstacle to achieving a better business climate is our outmoded tax systems. We need to understand that our revenue systems often:

- Are out-of-step with technological change, today's multi-national, information-based service economy and demographic trends.
- Impose tax burdens on an increasingly narrow slice of economic activity.
- Establish an unfair advantage for large businesses and out-of-state companies.
- Result in structural deficits in many states.

- Require the less affluent to shoulder more of the tax load.

Simply responding to pressure by tinkering with a state's tax codes will do little to improve the business climate. A better way requires that:

- Tax competitiveness becomes only one of a number of goals for a quality fiscal system.
- Tax reform is based on creating a better fit between a state's fiscal system and its changing economic base.
- Tax reform is comprehensive in scope (or at least holistic in conception), rather seeking to "just get by" the next challenge or crisis.
- States seek to cooperate with their neighbors on issues of tax uniformity, taxing multi-state corporations, and restraining the incentives "arms race."
- Most importantly, a tax system should offer lower rates, greater predictability, a broader base, more equity, and greater simplicity.

Although these points may appear to say to business that the key to a more positive business is to pay more taxes, this is not the intent. Instead, the link between a good environment for business and a state tax system can be summarized in three simple ideas:

- A good fiscal system should be one that produces adequate revenues in a predictable manner. It is stable. It is certain. And revenues are sufficient to support current costs and are structured to grow naturally.
- The tax system creates a level playing field among all types of businesses and among all types of households. Those that make the same income or profits should pay the same amount of taxes.
- Businesses must pay its fair share because government services like police and fire protection, education, and highways are benefits received and needed by companies. Taxes reflect the cost of these services.

The Case of North Carolina

Something like these guidelines also should guide North Carolina policymakers in thinking about how best to address its current $800 million budget gap. Rather than raiding its Rainy Day Fund during a growth period, or instituting an economically regressive and morally questionable lottery, its leadership should consider other avenues. How might changes in its business tax incentive policies change its funding picture? Is the state pursuing the right course in dealing with the challenges posed by electronic commerce and multi-state corporations, who are bent on creating more "nowhere income?" Likewise, many of the tax cuts enacted by the General Assembly, during the past few years, have favored the wealthy and business, not the less affluent citizenry. How might legislators best deal with these important equity considerations? And how might elected leadership use this crisis to improve its overall tax system and not just extricate the state from its current situation? What larger economic, technological, political, and demographic trends should shape a system that is much more equipped for the 21st century?

An Action Agenda

Just as it has taken several decades to build a robust movement of organizations and individuals committed to conserving and restoring the natural environment, it will require considerable effort to build a constituency to defend the "natural resources" that fuel state and local public services. We urge organizations and elected and appointed officials concerned about preserving a healthy state and local tax base to focus for the next decade on five sets of economic development-enhancing tax policies:

- Mandate public disclosure by corporations of their actual state and local tax liabilities, the value of the economic development tax incentives they receive, and their local economic activity. Policymakers and the public need this information if they are to evaluate (1) whether the cost of tax incentives is justified by the growth of payrolls and investment and the tax base itself, and (2) whether corporations benefiting from state and local services are paying their fair share of state and local taxes. Corporate tax disclosure is best pursued through a coordinated national campaign that seeks to enact legislation in numerous states simultaneously, since a single state seeking to adopt such a policy would be subject to corporate threats not to invest there.

- Implement state tax policies that ensure that multi-state corporations have state corporate income tax and sales tax liabilities similar to those faced by wholly in-state corporations. These policies include mandatory "combined reporting" (an accounting method that treats businesses comprised of a parent and subsidiaries as one corporation for state corporate tax purposes) and the assertion of taxing jurisdiction over out-of-state corporations to the limits permitted by federal law. Also seek long-term changes in federal law to permit states to tax all out-of-state corporations making substantial sales to their residents (including resident businesses).

- Draw on best practice and draft a model law that states and localities can use to enforce the accountability of economic development incentive deals through legally binding performance contracts. Seek laws to grant citizens legal standing to ensure compliance with these contracts and to ensure that the routine enforcement of the contracts is not the responsibility of the state and local economic development staff that originally marketed the jurisdiction and arranged the deal. Require economic development tax incentive programs by law to undergo a well-financed, professional, and independent sunset review every five years.

- Seek legislation requiring preparation of a unified development budget, which would examine simultaneously all on- and off-budget spending on economic development. This budget tool clarifies existing commitments and implicit priorities, enables policymakers to better weigh conflicting imperatives (such as K-12 class size reduction versus property tax abatements), and can help direct scarce public dollars into programs that generate better development returns for the state.
- Develop a "certified" cost-benefit methodology that sets minimum standards for a good assessment to be used in evaluating incentive programs and special deals. After such a model approach is developed, encourage all states and localities to use it when measuring net benefits and net costs per job for varied development incentives.

These reforms will not be easy to enact, but these are the right policies. Their only major difficulty is that they work best if all states are doing them. But we are encouraged by the organizing efforts now underway around these issues. If we can focus the degree of commitment and resources that this agenda demands, we can build broader coalitions that include small businesses, public employee unions, taxpayer watchdog groups, and low-income budget advocates. By doing so, this agenda will have realistic prospects for successful implementation.

HISTORY OF INTANGIBLES TAX

Prior to 1995: North Carolina levied an intangibles tax of 25 cents per $100 market value of stock and shares in mutual funds, with an exemption for the proportion of corporate stock equal to the percentage of the corporation's business that was conducted in North Carolina. Thus, stock of a corporation that did 55% of its business in North Carolina was 55% exempt from the intangibles tax. If a company conducted all of its business in North Carolina, the shares of stock would be totally exempt. This exemption was known as the "taxable percentage" deduction.

Fulton: Fulton Corporation challenged the intangibles tax on stock on the grounds that the tax violated the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution because it provided for a reduction of the tax in proportion to the issuing company's income taxed in North Carolina. The superior court upheld the tax as constitutional.

Court of Appeals: In 1993, the Court of Appeals reversed the superior court ruling, finding the taxable percentage deduction unconstitutional. The Court eliminated the deduction and ordered the intangibles tax on stock to be paid without any reduction based on income taxes paid to the State. It did not order a refund of taxes previously paid.

Supreme Court: In 1994, the North Carolina Supreme Court reversed the Court of Appeals, holding that the taxable percentage deduction did not violate the Commerce Clause.

Repeal of the Tax: In 1995, the General Assembly repealed the intangibles taxes on stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and accounts receivable.

USSC: In 1996, the United States Supreme Court reversed the North Carolina Supreme Court, agreeing with N. C. Court of Appeals that the taxable percentage deduction violated the Commerce Clause. It sent the case back to the North Carolina Supreme Court to "fashion a remedy".

Supreme Court: On February 10, 1997, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled that the part of the intangible tax on stock that the United States Supreme Court held unconstitutional, the taxable percentage deduction, should be severed from the statute and that the balance of the statute should be enforced. This left the intangible tax on stock to be enforced without any reduction for stock of corporations doing business in North Carolina. The Court also ruled that the tax applied retroactively. The Court's opinion made it possible for holders of North Carolina stock to be assessed by the Department of Revenue for tax due on the value of stock that was excluded from tax because of the unconstitutional deduction. Taxes could have been assessed for three back tax years for those who filed a return and for an indefinite period for those who did not file a return.

March 10, 1997: The Secretary of Revenue notified the General Assembly of a decision to comply with the N. C. Supreme Court ruling by directing the Department of Revenue to propose tax assessments against taxpayers who had not paid tax in certain prior years because of the taxable percentage deduction.

S.L. 1997-17: On April 9, 1997, the 1997 General Assembly passed a bill directing the Secretary of Revenue to take no action to assess or collect retroactive intangibles tax on stock from any taxpayer for liability arising solely from the taxpayer's use of the taxable percentage deduction. The enactment of the bill made the State liable for refunds to protesters for 1990-94.

Smith case: This is a class action lawsuit brought on behalf of both protesters and nonprotesters. The plaintiffs seek refunds of the stock tax for 1991 through 1994. On June 11, 1997, the court ordered refunds with interest to the protesters.

S.L. 1997-318: On July 21, 1997, the 1997 General Assembly passed a bill providing a refund of the intangibles tax on stock, with interest, to intangibles taxpayers who made a timely protest. The bill did not provide relief to nonprotesters.

Refunds: The principal amount of the stock tax for 1992-94 was refunded in September 1997 to protesters (both those who are part of the lawsuit and those who are not) and checks representing the interest due were mailed out in late-1997 to protesters after the Court determined attorneys' fees. These fees were deducted from the interest checks.

Nonprotesters: Several bills were introduced in 1997-98 to refund the intangibles tax on stock to nonprotesters, but none of the legislation passed.

Smith case: On December 4, 1998, the North Carolina Supreme Court ruled in favor of the nonprotesters. The ruling means that taxpayers who paid the intangibles tax on stock without protesting its payment will be entitled to a refund with interest. It is unclear what tax years the opinion covers: 1991 through 1994 ($354 million of refunds and interest) or 1990 through 1994.($458 million) The Court ruled that the intangible tax must be imposed uniformly under Article V, Section 2(2) of the North Carolina Constitution. The Court reasoned that when it severed the unconstitutional taxable percentage deduction in Fulton in February 1997, the tax was uniformly applicable and enforceable against all taxpayers. In response to this decision, the General Assembly forgave the tax liability for the group of taxpayers who benefited from the unconstitutional taxable percentage deduction for tax years 1990 through 1994 in S.L. 1997-17. It also granted a refund to taxpayers who protested the constitutional it the intangibles tax for tax years 1990-1994 in S.L. 1997-318. The Court ruled that these legislative actions violated the constitutional provisions relating to the uniformity of taxation.

Superior Court: The case has been remanded to the superior court to determine the details. The Court could rule that all of the refunds and interest must be paid in one year or could allow the State to pay over many years. Briefs and oral arguments to the Superior Court will probably be made over the next two or three months. Other issues to be resolved by the Court include certification of the class, notification of class members and attorney fees.

Governor's Budget: The Governor's recommended budget for the 1999-01 biennium listed the $354 million impact of the Court decision along with a number of other one-time funding issues that added up to $1.1 billion. This list includes $400 million of refunds and interest to public sector retirees resulting from another lawsuit. The budget summary did include a list of items that could be used to address the $1.1 billion of requirement. The option list added up to more than $1.1 billion but the Governor did not recommend which items should be used. The language in the summary suggested that the Governor is awaiting clarification on the timetable for paying refunds and interest before recommending a particular source of funding.

Toll Free Number: The Department of Revenue has a toll free number for intangible tax questions. It is 1-888-627-3386.

HISTORY OF INTANGIBLES TAX

Prior to 1995: North Carolina levied an intangibles tax of 25 cents per $100 market value of stock and shares in mutual funds, with an exemption for the proportion of corporate stock equal to the percentage of the corporation's business that was conducted in North Carolina. Thus, stock of a corporation that did 55% of its business in North Carolina was 55% exempt from the intangibles tax. If a company conducted all of its business in North Carolina, the shares of stock would be totally exempt. This exemption was known as the "taxable percentage" deduction.

Fulton: Fulton Corporation challenged the intangibles tax on stock on the grounds that the tax violated the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution because it provided for a reduction of the tax in proportion to the issuing company's income taxed in North Carolina. The superior court upheld the tax as constitutional.

Court of Appeals: In 1993, the Court of Appeals reversed the superior court ruling, finding the taxable percentage deduction unconstitutional. The Court eliminated the deduction and ordered the intangibles tax on stock to be paid without any reduction based on income taxes paid to the State. It did not order a refund of taxes previously paid.

Supreme Court: In 1994, the North Carolina Supreme Court reversed the Court of Appeals, holding that the taxable percentage deduction did not violate the Commerce Clause.

BAILEY SETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATION

STATUS REPORT

JANUARY 19, 1999

Details of the refund plan have now been determined and effort is underway to carry out the Court Ordered process.

Refunds will be calculated using the following:

The amount of over payment for each year will be the lesser of:

1) The actual taxes paid less credits (other than federal retiree credits), or

2) An amount determined by multiplying the total Government Retirement Benefits received, less the Government exclusion, by the Effective Tax Rate. The Effective Tax Rate is the tax paid to the State divided by the North Carolina taxable income.

The total overpayment amounts for all years, 1989-1997, is the principle amount due each NC State, Local Government or Federal (civil service or military) retiree.

The initial refund to State Retirees will be the overpayment amount reduced by the Court Ordered 15% Set Aside to cover all Costs and Fees, and the negotiated reduction to 95%. The resultant net refund of 80.75% of the taxes paid will constitute the first refund to NC State and Local Government Retirees.

The initial refund to Federal Retirees will be the overpayment amount reduced by the Court Ordered 15% Set Aside to cover all Costs and Fees, and the negotiated reduction to 70%. The resultant net refund of 59.5% of the taxes paid will constitute the first refund to Federal Retirees.

Claim Forms, with accompanying instructions, will start going out to State and Local Retirees in March 1999. Claim Forms for Federal Retirees will be delayed until late July, since the second of the two-part payment to the Settlement Fund by the NC General Assembly will not come before July 15, 1999.

The Instruction Packet, accompanying the Claim Form, will contain detailed information as to the procedures to be followed should you wish to dispute the amounts shown on your Claim Form. Also included with each packet is the information to guide you through the process of reopening an Estate.

If the calculations shown on your Claim Form are acceptable to you, then you need only sign, certifying your approval, and return the Claim Form. Your refund will be processed and a check returned to you as expeditiously as possible. If you had changes in filing status, however, you must provide information as to the type of changes (death, divorce, marriage, etc.) on the form provided for this purpose.

A second refund round will be sent out to all retirees late in the year 2000. This second refund, adjusted by the same percentages shown herein, will first cover any principal amount (overpayment amount) not yet recovered, and then interest amounts due you. The actual amounts you receive will depend on the remaining funds available. At such time as State Retirees reach a total of 80.75% of the total (principal and interest), any remaining funds will be utilized to bring the Federal Retirees up to the same level. Should there be additional funds remaining, both groups will be increased at the same rate from that point upward.

States Chafe as Web Shoppers Ignore Sales Taxes

By JOHN SIMONS
Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

What's the difference between a $3,000 personal computer purchased on the Internet and the same machine bought at a PC outlet and tucked in your trunk?

This isn't a joke, and states and municipalities hungry for sales-tax revenue aren't laughing. The answer, in Rhode Island at least, is $210.

That's the 7% the state loses every time a consumer points and clicks through an Internet retail site like Dell Computer Corp.'s and makes such a purchase—unless the buyer reads and heeds the fine print near the bottom of Dell's invoice: "The purchaser is responsible for remitting any additional taxes to the taxing authority."

Believe it or not, the burden is on you to calculate and pay the state and local taxes on what you buy. But if you're like the overwhelming majority of Internet shoppers, you're likely to leave that tax unpaid.

With the current law on Internet-sales taxation murky and a three-year moratorium on new rules in effect, state tax collectors are breathless at the revenue slipping through their fingers. It isn't hard to understand their chagrin; U.S. sales rung up on the Internet register last year totaled nearly $8 billion, and the Web-shopping surge is looking robust. It all spells a serious tax-compliance problem.

In 1996, well before Internet commerce took off, a handful of states began drafting rules to govern Web taxation. A few even considered adding Internet-only levies to existing sales taxes. But the White House, generally favoring a hands-off approach to regulation of the Net, objected to the introduction of any new taxes. In 1997, White House adviser Ira Magaziner suggested that Congress implement legislation temporarily prohibiting them.

It did. Last October, the Internet Tax Freedom Act was passed, placing the three-year ban on new Internet sales taxes. A five- or six-year moratorium had been discussed, and the shorter term was offered as a concession to groups like the National Governors Association and the National League of Cities. But the ban effectively inaugurated a tax-free Internet shopping spree.

The nation's governors and mayors had long worried that Web shopping would siphon much-needed revenues from their tax coffers. Then last Christmas's Internet sales hit $3.2 billion, tripling the previous year's holiday receipts—and the officials' displeasure. All but five states have sales taxes, from which they derive half their revenue.

In most states and municipalities, the buyer is required to pay sales tax, but the seller isn't required to collect the tax unless the business has a corporate office, warehouse or other physical presence—a "nexus"—in the state where the sale occurs. The same laws govern the $48 billion catalog-sales business, and states and municipalities have fought unsuccessfully for two decades to overturn them. Internet sales are growing faster than catalog sales, though, and are due to overtake them within the next few years.

The laws are nearly impossible to enforce, and consumers know it. Michael A. Pitlock, executive director of the Nevada Department of Taxation, likens the situation to "putting a speed-limit sign on the road that says, 'By the way, police don't patrol here, and they never will.' "

Mr. Pitlock is particularly sensitive to any drain on revenue. Nevada, which doesn't have an income tax, depends on the state's 6.5% sales tax. "Looking at the national numbers, [Internet commerce] is now a significant concern," he says. His solution to the quandary: "Put a requirement on vendors to collect taxes for all products they ship to each state."

Not surprisingly, most online sellers don't want to play tax collector in each of the country's 30,000 tax jurisdictions. "It puts additional cost and responsibility on us," says Cathie Hargett, a spokeswoman for Dell, of Round Rock, Texas.

Naomi Lefkovitz, deputy general counsel at Web-based music seller CDnow Inc., in Fort Washington, Pa., is blunter. "Consumers are supposed to pay the tax and report it, but we have no control over that," she says. "That's up to each person and their own honesty."

Most online entrepreneurs believe stricter sales-tax rules would slow the growth of digital commerce. Take away the bargain-basement aura of the Net, they say, and online buying loses some of its glow. University of Chicago economist Austan Goolsbee, who analyzed data on the buying decisions of some 25,000 Internet shoppers, says in a recent paper that applying existing sales taxes to Internet commerce "would reduce the number of online buyers by 25% and spending by more than 30%."

Under current tax law, Internet bookseller Amazon.com, Seattle, charges taxes only on purchases made by customers who give an address in the company's home state of Washington. Dell charges taxes only on Web sales made to consumers in Florida, Kentucky, Nevada and Texas, because it has warehouses, distribution centers or corporate offices there.

Amazon competitor Borders Group Inc., of Ann Arbor, Mich., set up Borders Online Inc. as a separate operation to handle Internet sales. As a result, although Borders Group operates bookstores in all but 10 states, Borders Online charges tax in only two: Tennessee, where it has a warehouse, and Michigan, where it shares a corporate base with Borders Group.

Microsoft Corp. is one of the few companies that regularly factor in state and local sales taxes. As consumers type their addresses on an electronic sales form, the Redmond, Wash., company's billing system calculates the tax for that location. "But I can't say with 100% certainty that we tax everybody appropriately," says Bruce Reid, Microsoft's state and local tax director. An online buyer might have software mailed to a friend in a state with no sales tax, he says.

From the consumer's point of view, sales-tax obligations can be baffling. University of Michigan graduate student Bob Geier estimates that he spent close to $4,000 shopping online last year. He was "vaguely aware" that he was eventually supposed to pay taxes on most of those purchases, he says, but "like every other human being in Michigan, I dutifully ignore" the requirement.

October's Internet Tax Freedom Act ordered that state and local officials and Internet entrepreneurs participate in an advisory panel to hash out a uniform Internet-tax policy. The panel, with options ranging from recommending extension of the moratorium to calling for creation of a national system for taxing Internet sales, would have 18 months to issue a report. The committee's makeup was to provide a balance of views.

Appointments were made in December; industry panelists include C. Michael Armstrong, chief executive of AT&T Corp.; Robert Pittman, chief operating officer of America Online Inc.; and Netscape Communications Corp. Chief Executive James Barksdale. But governors and state legislators complain that the panel is slanted toward industry, with nine business representatives and only seven state and local members. Congress is rethinking the board's balance and may expand membership to 22.

This month, seven groups, including the Council of State Governments and the U.S. Conference of Mayors, sent a letter to President Clinton and members of Congress urging them to redress the panel's imbalance. The letter asked them to ensure that the committee "does not serve as a mechanism to harm or create a bias against local retailers" or "serve as a tax haven to drain vital resources critical to education, health care and public safety."

States Chafe as Web Shoppers Ignore Sales Taxes

By JOHN SIMONS
Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

What's the difference between a $3,000 personal computer purchased on the Internet and the same machine bought at a PC outlet and tucked in your trunk?

This isn't a joke, and states and municipalities hungry for sales-tax revenue aren't laughing. The answer, in Rhode Island at least, is $210.

That's the 7% the state loses every time a consumer points and clicks through an Internet retail site like Dell Computer Corp.'s and makes such a purchase—unless the buyer reads and heeds the fine print near the bottom of Dell's invoice: "The purchaser is responsible for remitting any additional taxes to the taxing authority."

Believe it or not, the burden is on you to calculate and pay the state and local taxes on what you buy. But if you're like the overwhelming majority of Internet shoppers, you're likely to leave that tax unpaid.

With the current law on Internet-sales taxation murky and a three-year moratorium on new rules in effect, state tax collectors are breathless at the revenue slipping through their fingers. It isn't hard to understand their chagrin; U.S. sales rung up on the Internet register last year totaled duction of any new taxes. In 1997, White House adviser Ira Magaziner suggested that Congress implement legislation temporarily prohibiting them.

Key Elements

- "An excise tax ... is imposed on the storage, use, or consumption in this State of tangible personal property purchased inside or outside the State for storage, use, or consumption in the state." (G.S. 105-164.6(a).

- The purpose of the use tax is to impose the same burdens on out-of-state purchases as the sales tax imposes on purchases within the state. (Colonial Pipeline Co. v. Clayton, 1969).
- "The Secretary may enter into agreements with sellers pursuant to which the seller agrees to collect and remit on behalf of its customers" (G.S. 105-164.6A)

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REQUIRE CORPORATIONS THAT ARE REQUIRED TO PAY FEDERAL-ESTIMATED INCOME TAX BY ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER TO PAY STATE-ESTIMATED INCOME TAX BY ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER.

HOUSE BILL 62:
EFT of Corporate Estimated Income Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Gray
Date:	March 16, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 62 requires corporations that are required by the Internal Revenue Code to pay federal income tax estimated payments by electronic funds transfer (EFT) to pay State income tax estimated payments by EFT The change becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: In 1993, the General Assembly authorized the Department of Revenue to collect taxes by EFT. The average tax payment must be at least $20,000 a month before the tax payment must be submitted by EFT. The $20,000 threshold applies separately to each tax.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 62 creates a different rule for corporate estimated income tax payments in order to increase the efficiency of State tax collections and to conform the State's method of collecting corporate estimated income tax payments with federal law so that a taxpayer has only one set of rules to learn and follow.

For federal purposes, a corporation whose depository taxes exceed $50,000 in a twelve-month period must pay its corporate income tax estimated payments by EFT. The federal regulations list the different types of depository taxes. Examples of depository taxes include social security taxes, withheld income taxes, and corporate estimated income taxes. Section 1of the bill requires a corporation who must pay its federal estimated tax by EFT to pay its State estimated tax by EFT. This change in the law will eliminate thousands of returns, not payments, each year. It will enable the State to receive tax payments more quickly and thus gain three to five days of interest on the payments. Section 2 makes a conforming change in the State's current requirements for EFT to recognize the EFT requirements established in Section 1 for corporate estimated income tax payments.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: The effective date is for taxable years beginning on after January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill requires corporations that pay federal income tax estimated payments by electronic funds transfers (EFT) to also pay state income tax estimated payments by EFT.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Department of Revenue estimates an annual gain of $557,621 from the required electronic funds transfer (EFT) provision in this bill. By processing 15,707 transactions by EFT instead of paper based transactions, the state will earn an additional six days of interest on tax collections of $357.7 million each fiscal year. Using the State Treasurer's FY 1997-98 short-term interest rate of 5.51%, the additional interest is anticipated to be $537,543 per year. The remainder of the gain ($20,078) is from a reduction in printing, postage and processing of the coupon sized payment vouchers now used by corporate taxpayers. Due to a January 1, 2000 effective date, the first fiscal year savings will be half of the estimate. This assumes that the quarterly estimated tax payments are equal and that the April and June 2000 payments are made by EFT.

(c) Time and Contents of Advertisement. -- If the governing body orders the tax collector to advertise the tax liens, this subsection governs the advertisement. A tax collector's failure to comply with this subsection does not affect the validity of the taxes or tax liens. The municipal tax collector shall advertise municipal tax liens by posting a notice of the liens at the city or town hall and by publishing each lien at least one time in one or more newspapers having general circulation in the taxing unit. Advertisements of tax liens shall be made during the period March 1 through June 30. (3) In the event the list of tax liens has been divided for purposes of advertisement in more than one newspaper, a statement of the names of all newspapers in which advertisements will appear and the dates on which they will be published.

(4) A statement that the taxing unit may foreclose the tax liens and sell the real property subject to the liens in satisfaction of its claim for taxes.

~~Failure to comply with this subsection does not affect the validity of the taxes or tax liens.~~

(d) Costs. -- Each parcel of real property advertised pursuant to this section shall be assessed an advertising fee to cover the actual cost of the advertisement. Actual advertising costs per parcel shall be determined by the tax collector on any reasonable basis. (g) Wrongful Advertisement. -- Any tax collector or deputy tax collector who ~~shall willfully advertise~~ willfully advertises any tax lien knowing that the property is not subject to taxation or that the taxes advertised have been paid ~~shall be~~ is guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor, and shall be required to pay the injured party all damages sustained in consequence."

Section 2. Article 26 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-370. Notice of delinquent taxes.

If the governing body of a taxing unit decides not to advertise tax liens for a fiscal year, the tax collector must, at least 30 days before initiating any lien foreclosure action under G.S. 105-374, send a notice to the listing owner and the record owner of the affected parcel of property, as determined as of December 31 of the fiscal year for which the taxes are due. The notice must be sent to each owner's last known address by first-class mail. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the property and inform the owner that the lien may be foreclosed to enforce collection of those taxes. Failure to mail the notice required by this section to the correct listing owner or record owner does not affect the validity of the tax lien or of any foreclosure action."

Section 3. G.S. 105-375(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Docketing Certificate of Taxes as Judgment. -- In lieu of following the procedure set forth in G.S. 105-374, the governing body of any taxing unit may direct the tax collector to ~~file, no earlier than six months following the advertisement of tax liens, with the clerk of superior court~~ file with the clerk of superior court, no earlier than 30 days after the tax liens were advertised or May 6 following the delinquency date, whichever occurs first, a certificate showing the following: the name of the taxpayer listing real property on which the taxes are a lien, together with the amount of taxes, penalties, interest, and costs that are a lien thereon; the year or years for which the taxes are due; and a description of the property sufficient to permit its identification by parol testimony. The fees for docketing and indexing the certificate shall be payable to the clerk of superior court at the time the taxes are collected or the property is sold."

Section 4. G.S. 105-375(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Special Assessments. -- Street, sidewalk, and other special assessments may be included in any judgment for taxes taken under this ~~section; or such~~ section, or the special assessments may be included in a separate judgment docketed under this ~~section, which is hereby declared to be made available~~ section. The tax collector may use such a judgment as a method of foreclosing the lien of special assessments. When used to foreclose the lien of special assessments, the procedure may be instituted at any time after the assessment or installment falls due and remains unpaid; the ~~six months'~~ waiting period required by subsection ~~(b), above, shall~~ (b) of this section does not apply to the foreclosure of special assessments."

Section 5. Article 2 of Chapter 161 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 161-31. Tax certification.

The board of commissioners of a county may, by resolution, require the register of deeds not to accept any deed for registration unless the county tax collector has certified that no delinquent ad valorem county taxes, ad valorem municipal taxes, or taxes with which the collector is charged are a lien on the property described in the deed."

Section 6. This act becomes effective January 1, 2001.

(c) Time and Contents of Advertisement. -- If the governing body orders the tax collector to advertise the tax liens, this subsection governs the advertisement. A tax collector's failure to comply with this subsection does not affect the validity of the taxes or tax liens. The county tax collector shall advertise county tax liens by posting a notice of the liens at the county courthouse and by publishing each lien at least one time in one or more newspapers having general circulation in the taxing unit. The municipal tax collector shall advertise municipal tax liens by posting a notice of the liens at the city or town hall and by publishing each lien at least one time in one or more newspapers having general circulation in the taxing unit. Advertisements of tax liens shall be made during the period March 1 through June 30. The costs of newspaper advertising shall be paid by the taxing unit. ~~(If~~ If the taxes of two or more taxing units are collected by the same tax collector, the tax liens of each unit shall be advertised separately unless, under the provisions of a special act or contractual agreement between the taxing units, joint advertisement is ~~permitted.)~~ permitted.

The posted notice and newspaper advertisement shall set forth the following information:

(3) In the event the list of tax liens has been divided for purposes of advertisement in more than one newspaper, a statement of the names of all newspapers in which advertisements will appear and the dates on which they will be published.

(4) A statement that the taxing unit may foreclose the tax liens and sell the real property subject to the liens in satisfaction of its claim for taxes.

~~Failure to comply with this subsection does not affect the validity of the taxes or tax liens.~~

(d) Costs. -- Each parcel of real property advertised pursuant to this section shall be assessed an advertising fee to cover the actual cost of the advertisement. Actual advertising costs per parcel shall be determined by the tax collector on any reasonable basis. Advertising costs assessed pursuant to this ~~subdivision (d) shall be deemed to be~~ subsection are taxes.

(e) Payments during Advertising Period. -- At any time during the advertisement period, any parcel may be withdrawn from the list by payment of the taxes plus interest that has accrued to the time of payment and a proportionate part of the advertising fee to be determined by the tax collector. (f) Listing and Advertising in Wrong Name. -- No tax lien ~~shall be~~ is void because the real property to which the lien attached was listed or advertised in the name of a person other than the person in whose name the property should have been listed for taxation or because the record owner's name was omitted from the advertisement, if the property was in other respects correctly described on the abstract or in the advertisement.

(g) Wrongful Advertisement. -- Any tax collector or deputy tax collector who ~~shall willfully advertise~~ willfully advertises any tax lien knowing that the property is not subject to taxation or that the taxes advertised have been paid ~~shall be~~ is guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor, and shall be required to pay the injured party all damages sustained in consequence."

Section 2. Article 26 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-370. Notice of delinquent taxes.

If the governing body of a taxing unit decides not to advertise tax liens for a fiscal year, the tax collector must, at least 30 days before initiating any lien foreclosure action under G.S. 105-374, send a notice to the listing owner and the record owner of the affected parcel of property, as determined as of December 31 of the fiscal year for which the taxes are due. The notice must be sent to each owner's last known address by first-class mail. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the property and inform the owner that the lien may be foreclosed to enforce collection of those taxes. Failure to mail the notice required by this section to the correct listing owner or record owner does not affect the validity of the tax lien or of any foreclosure action."

Section 3. G.S. 105-375(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Docketing Certificate of Taxes as Judgment. -- In lieu of following the procedure set forth in G.S. 105-374, the governing body of any taxing unit may direct the tax collector to ~~file, no earlier than six months following the advertisement of tax liens, with the clerk of superior court~~ file with the clerk of superior court, no earlier than six months after the tax liens were advertised or May 6 following the delinquency date, whichever is later, a certificate showing the following: the name of the taxpayer listing real property on which the taxes are a lien, together with the amount of taxes, penalties, interest, and costs that are a lien thereon; the year or years for which the taxes are due; and a description of the property sufficient to permit its identification by parol testimony. The fees for docketing and indexing the certificate shall be payable to the clerk of superior court at the time the taxes are collected or the property is sold."

Section 4. G.S. 105-375(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Special Assessments. -- Street, sidewalk, and other special assessments may be included in any judgment for taxes taken under this ~~section; or such~~ section, or the special assessments may be included in a separate judgment docketed under this ~~section, which is hereby declared to be made available~~ section. The tax collector may use such a judgment as a method of foreclosing the lien of special assessments. When used to foreclose the lien of special assessments, the procedure may be instituted at any time after the assessment or installment falls due and remains unpaid; the ~~six months'~~ waiting period required by subsection ~~(b), above, shall~~ (b) of this section does not apply to the foreclosure of special assessments."

Section 5. Article 2 of Chapter 161 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 161-31. Tax certification.

The board of commissioners of a county may, by resolution, require the register of deeds not to accept any deed for registration unless the county tax collector has certified that no delinquent ad valorem county taxes, ad valorem municipal taxes, or taxes with which the collector is charged are a lien on the property described in the deed."

Section 6. This act becomes effective January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 120:
Tax Lien Advertisement and Collection

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Owens
Date:	March 16, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H120-PCS3132-RB		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for House Bill 120 would make three changes to the laws concerning property tax collection. The changes would become effective January 1, 2001. The proposed committee substitute changes the effective date from January 1, 2000, to January 1, 2001.

- It would require property tax collectors to notify both the listing owner and the record owner before advertising tax delinquencies in the newspaper.
- It would give counties the option to not advertise tax delinquencies before beginning tax foreclosure proceedings.
- It would allow counties to begin tax foreclosure proceedings sooner if the tax delinquency is advertised in the newspaper. (added in the PCS)
- It would authorize the board of county commissioners to adopt a resolution requiring delinquent taxes to be paid before a deed maybe accepted for registration in the county Register of Deeds.

CURRENT LAW: Property must be listed for property tax in January of each year. The listing owner is the taxpayer who owned the property as of January 1. The taxes become due in September and become delinquent on January 6 of the following year. Although most counties send tax listing notices and tax bills to the taxpayer, they are not required by law to do so. Property owners are charged with notice that they must list their property for taxes and pay the taxes; otherwise, enforcement measures will be taken against the property. The legal effect of this law is to prevent a taxpayer from using lack of notice as an excuse for not paying property taxes or as a defense to a collection remedy against the property. If property taxes remain unpaid, the tax collector is required by statute to advertise the tax liens in a local newspaper under the name of the listing owner. If the taxes remain unpaid for six months following the advertisement, the tax collector may begin a foreclosure proceeding against the property.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill removes the requirement that tax delinquencies be advertised in the newspaper. Under the bill, the advertising of tax delinquencies would be optional. The bill sets forth new standards for collecting the delinquent taxes through a tax foreclosure proceeding against the property if the county chooses not to advertise the tax delinquency. The tax collector may not initiate an in rem foreclosure proceeding until May 6, which is six months following the delinquency date of January 6. The tax collector must also send a notice to both the listing owner and the record owner as of December 31 if the record owner is different than the listing owner. The notice must be sent at least 30 days before initiating any foreclosure action. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the property and inform the owner that the lien may be foreclosed to enforce collection of those taxes. Failure to send the notice would not invalidate the tax lien or any foreclosure action.

For counties that continue to choose to advertise tax delinquencies in a local newspaper, the bill adds a requirement that local taxing units must notify both the listing owner and the record owner as of December 31, if the record owner is different than the listing owner, of the intent to advertise. The notice must state the principal amount of tax due and inform the persons that the tax delinquency will be advertised in a local newspaper under the name of the record owner, with a notation of the name of the listing owner. The notice must be sent by first class mail at least 30 days before the date the advertisement is to be published. If a county advertises, then it may begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding sooner than it could under current law. Under the current law, a county cannot begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding until six months following the date the tax liens were advertised. The earliest tax liens can be advertised is March; therefore, September is the earliest an in rem foreclosure proceeding may be initiated under current law. Under the bill, a county that advertises tax liens may begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding as early as 30 days after the tax liens were advertised. The earlier date allows counties to begin collection proceedings during the fiscal year in which the taxes are due.

Lastly, the bill gives all counties the authority to adopt a resolution requiring a certificate from the tax collector that all delinquent taxes for which the county is charged with collecting have been paid on the property described in a deed before the deed maybe accepted by the register of deeds for registration. Several local units of government have this authority through local legislation the General Assembly has enacted over the years: the counties of Alleghany, Ashe, Avery, and Mitchell, and the Towns of Banner Elk, Newland, and Spruce Pine.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: County Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill intends to improve the procedures for advertising tax liens on real property and for notifying delinquent taxpayers. The bill also gives counties the option to prohibit the registration of deeds if delinquent taxes are owed on the property.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: This bill may have a small one-time impact on the costs of county operations, primarily in the area of computer programming and data entry. Virtually all counties will have to change their computer software to enable the advertisement of both the January 1 and the December 31 owner of real property (if different). A majority of counties will need to make minor software changes to allow notices to be mailed to both the January 1 and December 31 property owner (if different).

When working on a similar bill in 1998, Fiscal Research Division staff interviewed a sample of county tax collectors, a professor in the Institute of Government, and the chairman of the North Carolina Association of Assessing Officers. It was found that approximately 75 counties lack a fully automated way to timely send deed transfer information between the Register of Deeds Office and the Tax Assessor's Office. The Registers of Deeds provide copies of deeds to the Tax Assessors in the form of paper, microfilm, microfiche, or CD. The tax professionals contacted in 1998 estimated that only 25 counties might incur one-time costs for computer programming in the first year of implementing HB 120. These 25 counties might expend an average of $800 each ($20,000) for computer vendors to program county databases for this data transfer.

Data entry was another cost identified by tax professionals interviewed in 1998. It was estimated that 25 county Tax Assessors might spend approximately $400 each ($10,000) for temporary clerks to do data entry on deed transfer files in order to update the county tax files. Small counties with few land transactions do not experience a backlog in deed transfer filings. It was suggested in 1998 that temporary clerks would be needed each year due to this bill, but this fiscal note assumes that keeping deed and tax files current should be standard operating procedure for the tax listing process and is not a new requirement on county governments.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT CONCERNING ANNEXATION OF CERTAIN PROPERTY BY THE TOWN OF CLAYTON.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 160A-58.1(b)(5) does not apply to the Town of Clayton for any noncontiguous annexation with the following area:

Lying and being situated in Wilder Township, Johnston County, containing 786.19 acres, more or less, and more particularly described as follows:

BEING all of that property as shown on the plats entitled "Survey for the Raleigh Rescue Mission, Inc., Wilder Township, Johnston County, North Carolina," dated August 1, 1990, prepared by Derward W. Baker and Associates P.A., Registered Land Surveyors, and recorded in Plat Book 35, Page 381, Johnston County Registry and "Property of Joseph M. Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

S33:
Clayton Satellite Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance Committee
Date: March 15, 1999
Version: 2

Introduced by: Senator Wellons
Summary by: Ed Rossi
Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate bill 33 exempts the town of Clayton from G.S. § 160A-58.1(b)(5). This allows the town to annex land that increases its total of "satellite" or non-contiguous land holdings to more than 10% of its primary corporate limits.

CURRENT LAW: State law sets out certain criteria that cities must meet before they can annex non-contiguous ("satellite") land:

1. The owners in the satellite must sign a petition requesting the annexation.
2. The nearest point in the satellite cannot be more than 3 miles from the primary (original) city limits.
3. The annexing city must be the closest city to the satellite.
4. The annexing city must provide the same services to the satellite that it provides to the rest of the city.
5. If the satellite includes subdivision, the entire subdivision must be part of the satellite.
6. When land in satellite to be annexed is added to the land in the existing satellites, the total land in all the satellites cannot be more than 10% of the land in the original city limits.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate bill 33 exempts the Town of Clayton from this last requirement. Presumably when the land described in the bill is added the other satellite parcels already annexed by the town, the total of the satellites will exceed 10% of the town's primary (original) corporate limits.

BACKGROUND: This bill is identical to House bill 21, which was introduced by Representative Creech. To date, 7 towns have been completely exempted from this 10% provision.[1] Thy are: Hickory, New Bern, Statesville, Kenly, Troy, Catawba, and Mooresville. [2] The Town of Clayton has received one prior exemption from this provision .[3]

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: March 15, 1999
Version: 2

Introduced by: Senator Dalton
Summary by: Ed Rossi
Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate bill 43 merges the Town of Alexander Mills into the Town of Forrest City. This merger is contingent on the approval of a referendum that is to be put before the qualified voters of the Town of Alexander Mills. If the merger is approved, the Town of Forrest City will acquire all the property, rights, obligations, and liabilities of the Town of Alexander Mills.

BACKGROUND: This bill as introduced was identical to House bill 44, which was introduced by Representative Dedmond. On February 25, 1999, the Senate Finance Committee adopted a committee substitute which made a technical amendment to Section 6, so that this section correctly referenced the Charter of the Town of Alexander Mills as being Chapter 5 of the Private Laws of 1925.

LEGISLATIVE FISCAL NOTE

BILL NUMBER: H.B. 56 (Second Version)

SHORT TITLE: Eliminate Stamps for Deed Tax DRAFT

EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Corporate, Excise and Insurance Division, Department of Revenue, County Register of Deeds Offices.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 1 becomes effective July 1, 2000. The remainder becomes effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill eliminates the use of Department of Revenue produced tax stamps in payment of the conveyance tax. This tax is also known as the excise tax on deeds. Under the bill, the taxes would still be due, but the counties would be responsible for supplying the materials to record the tax stamp. The bill also clarifies that the same penalties that apply to other taxes apply to the deed tax.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: According to the Department of Revenue, only 12 counties have purchased stamps from the Department in the last two years. However, because these purchases are made in mass quantities, the actual number of counties still using such a stamp may be higher. Based on information provided by the Register of Deeds Association members and key vendors, the Department of Revenue and Fiscal Research estimate that approximately 15-20 counties may be without a computerized stamp system. As such, as many as 15-20 counties may be dependent on the Department for deed stamps. Under the bill, these counties would now be responsible for obtaining their own stamps.

Approximately 80 to 85 counties already obtain their stamps, or some alternative, through other means. Most of these counties purchase or rent special computer equipment. Some of the largest counties have their deed stamp system integrated into a larger county government computer system.

No estimates are available at this time for potential cost savings to the Department. Also, no estimates are available for potential loss revenue from the lack of stamp sales. However, the Department expects the fiscal impact of these items is insignificant.

Unless the owner or owners of said land, or those claiming under them, shall make claim or demand in

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Representative Redwine
Date:	March 17, 1999	Summary by:	Ed Rossi
Version:	1st Ed.		Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 221 consolidates the charters of the towns of Yaupon Beach and Long Beach and creates the new consolidated Town of Oak Island. No referendum is required to effectuate this change. Under the provisions of the bill:

- The new town acquires all the property, rights, obligations, and liabilities of the former towns.
- A transitional government is created, with some members being appointed until 20001.
- A council – manager form of government is adopted and council members serve staggered 4 year terms
- The consolidation is effective July 1, 1999, at which time the ABC boards are also consolidated.

CURRENT LAW: State laws[1] provide a mechanism for the consolidation of towns. Where two or more towns share a continuous boundary, they may, by concurrent resolution, create a commission to study a consolidation of services. This commission may draft a plan to create a single government unit, and if authorized by the concurrent resolutions, may place the matter before the voters by way of a referendum. Article V of the North Carolina Constitution also addresses referendums in the context of government debt. It requires that a majority of voters approve the contracting of debt that is secured by a pledge of a local government's full faith and credit.[2]

BACKGROUND: The Town of Yaupon Beach has approximately 900 residents and a land area of 1 square mile. The Town of Long Beach has approximately 5,100 residents and a land area of 8 square miles. On or about October 1st of last year both towns began a process of open hearings that considered the consolidation issue.[3] That process culminated in March of this year with the introduction of this bill.[4] In preparation for the introduction of the bill, both towns retired their general obligation debt in order to avoid the cost of a referendum.[5]

BILL ANALYSIS: House bill 221 does not provide for a referendum on the proposed consolidation. The bill creates an appointed government – the majority of which remains in office until 2001. No provisions are made in charter for the recall of these appointed officials.

[5] Statement of the Long Beach Town Manager, Jerry Walters.

Under North Carolina law, population governs certain municipal powers (e.g. extraterritorial jurisdiction, and certain minimum housing standards)[6]. This bill would exempt the new Town of Oak Island from those population constraints. On page 2 line 6, the bill grants the new town the exercise of "all powers" that "are granted to municipal corporations." Thus presumably, this new municipality of approximately 6,000 people would have "all powers" that are granted to its larger brethren due to the size of their populations.

HB 56

No to offshore gambling

While we applaud our Tourism Development Bureau for its hugely successful efforts to bring visitors to the Crystal Coast, it's taking the wrong tack to oppose wise efforts banning floating gambling dens off our shores and to endorse casino gambling aboard cruise ships offshore North Carolina.

N.C. Rep. David Redwine, D-Brunswick, has introduced legislation that would ban cruise ships from leaving North Carolina's ports with passengers and going three miles offshore for gambling. Rep. Ronnie Smith, D-Carteret, supports Rep. Redwine's measure.

The TDB says if the anti-gambling proposal looks like it will win approval in Raleigh it will oppose the bill and will put something in writing showing it supports cruise ship casino gambling.

Reporting that since November Carteret County's tourist activity numbers have been up over Dare, Onslow and New Hanover counties, Carol Lohr, TDB executive director, says, "I feel we could benefit from it." TDB board member Jack Goldstein agrees, saying, "It might be a boost for the spring and fall — for the shoulder season."

These arguments miss the boat. Family vacationers have made the Crystal Coast the attraction it is. Not only is it short-sighted to risk killing the goose that lays golden eggs for the sake of wringing a few extra dollars out of tourists — it's risky.

Our tourism industry, like our business community, seek not only quantity but quality in those they serve. The type of characters gambling would attract is not what we need, and it certainly is not what our communities want.

It's glistening white beaches, clean water, fine seafood restaurants, quality accommodations, interesting shops and outstanding cultural attractions that draw vacationers to our shores. Equally important in making the Crystal Coast an ideal place for a family vacation is the absence of sleaze and the tawdry.

If we allow offshore gambling junkets, the glow of wholesomeness will fade on the Crystal Coast.

The TDB should reconsider its stance.

HOUSE BILL 19:
Gambling Boats Regulated

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Redwine
Date:	March 17, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 2nd Edition H19-PCS2126-RB		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 19 prohibits casino boat cruises to nowhere in North Carolina. North Carolina cannot prohibit gambling boat cruises that engage in interstate commerce by making at least one stop outside the State. However, the bill imposes the following requirements on gambling boat cruises that originate and end in North Carolina:

- A privilege license tax at the rate of $6.00 for each passenger.
- A requirement that the gambling boat operator deduct and withhold from a North Carolina resident's winnings individual income taxes equal to 7% of the winnings paid to the resident.
- If the gambling boat operator desires to sell alcoholic beverages on the voyage while it is within the State's boundaries, then the operator must obtain a gambling boat permit from the ABC Commission in order to get a malt beverage permit, an unfortified wine permit, a fortified wine permit, or a mixed beverage permit. The cost of the gambling boat permit is $10,000.

The proposed committee substitute corrects incorrect statutory cites, removes redundant language, establishes definitions, and makes stylistic, technical, and organizational changes to the original bill.

BACKGROUND: Gambling and the possession and use of gambling devices, such as slot machines, punchboards, and gaming tables, are illegal in North Carolina. However, because of changes in the federal law since 1992, it is legal to transport and possess gambling devices on US flagships within the boundaries of a state if the use of the devices occurs outside the boundaries of the state and the devices remain onboard the vessel while it is within the state's boundaries. The 1992 changes to the Johnson Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1175, were enacted in part to end the discrimination between US flagships and foreign flagships. This change in the federal law means that it would be permissible for a person in North Carolina to have a vessel equipped with gambling devices and to take passengers on voyages for the purpose of gambling, so long as the vessel travels outside the 3 mile territorial boundary of the State before initiating the gambling games. This type of voyage is commonly referred to as a "cruise to nowhere".

The Johnson Act does permit states to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere if the voyage begins and ends in the same state without making an intervening stop. To prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere, a state must pass legislation that bans the use of gambling devices outside the boundaries of the state on voyages that begin and end in the state without making an intervening stop. A South Carolina court case and a Georgia AG opinion, as well as legislative discussions in several other states, have concluded that to escape the effect of the 1992 amendments to the Johnson Act, a state must pass specific legislation to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere. North Carolina's current statutes prohibiting gambling and the possession of gambling devices are not sufficient to meet this "opt out" provision in the federal law. House Bill 19 provides the specific legislation necessary to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere in North Carolina.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the bill defines a "casino boat" as a vessel that leaves from and returns to a port in North Carolina for the purpose of gambling without making an intervening stop in another state or country. Although federal law does not define "an intervening stop", this bill does. It defines an "intervening stop" as a docking at a port outside the boundaries of North Carolina for a period of at least six hours where the passengers may disembark the vessel for sightseeing, shopping, or other similar tourism-related activities.

The bill makes it unlawful to operate a casino boat, to possess, use, or repair a gambling device on a casino boat, or to solicit people to embark on a casino boat. A person who violates this law is guilty of a Class A1 misdemeanor. A Class A1 misdemeanor is the most serious misdemeanor offense. It is punishable by community punishment, intermediate punishment, or active punishment. A monetary fine maybe imposed in the discretion of the court. Upon conviction, a person's vessel, along with all of its equipment, maybe seized, forfeited, and sold. If a law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that a violation of this law is occurring, the officer may seize the illegal gambling devices, seize any monies or property used in conjunction with or derived from the unlawful use of the illegal gambling devices, and seize the vessel upon which the illegal gambling devices are found. The bill clarifies that the law does not apply to vessels engaged in interstate commerce and that it does not prevent the prosecution for other gambling offenses.

North Carolina cannot prohibit gambling voyages that are allowed by federal law. Therefore, a person may offer gambling voyages that begin and end in North Carolina so long as the voyage makes an intervening stop in another state or country and all the gambling takes place beyond the 3 mile territorial boundary of the State. However, North Carolina can regulate these gambling boat voyages.

Sections 2 and 3 of the bill provide that an operator of a gambling boat voyage that wants to sell alcohol on the boat while it is in the territorial jurisdiction of North Carolina must obtain a gambling boat permit. A person must possess this permit before the person may obtain the necessary beer, wine, and mixed beverages permits. To obtain the gambling boat permit, a person must pay the fee of $10,000 and meet the following conditions:

- Serve meals on each voyage and have a dining area that will seat at least 36 people.
- Have gross receipts from food and nonalcoholic beverages that are greater than its gross receipts from alcohol.
- Have its home port in North Carolina and its passengers must embark on the voyage at the vessel's home port or at other ports listed on a preannounced itinerary.

Sections 4 through 10 of the bill create tax obligations for the gambling boat operator that do not exist under current law. A gambling boat operator is a person engaged in the business of operating a gambling boat voyage. A gambling boat voyage is defined for North Carolina tax purposes as a voyage that meets all of the following conditions:

- It transports passengers engaged in gambling aboard the vessel.
- Its passengers embark the vessel in this State.
- Its passengers disembark the vessel only in this State or a contiguous state.

This definition of "gambling boat voyage" eliminates the imposition of the tax obligations on cruise ships that travel and dock in noncontiguous states or another country.

Section 5 imposes a privilege license tax on gambling boat voyages at a rate equal to $6 per passenger. Section 8 requires a gambling boat operator who pays a resident of this State more than $600 in gambling winnings during a gambling boat voyage to deduct and withhold income tax from the resident's winnings. The federal government requires that taxes be withheld if the winnings exceed $5,000. The amount of State taxes to be withheld is 7% of the winnings paid to the resident. If the gambling boat operator does not withhold from any gambling winnings paid to an individual, the operator must obtain from the individual documentation proving that the individual is not a resident of North Carolina. The operator must remit the withheld tax payments to the State quarterly.

The following tax laws would also apply to businesses engaged in the gambling boat voyage business: State income tax and sales tax on any sales of tangible personal property that occur while the boat is in North Carolina's territorial boundaries. Also under current law, residents of North Carolina must pay tax on any income derived from gambling activities, whether they occur inside or outside the State's territorial boundaries.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law. The tax sections of this act become effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law.

EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue; Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 4 through 10 of this act are effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law. All other sections are effective when the bill becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:

The bill prohibits in North Carolina those casino equipped boats that take gambling cruises to nowhere in the Atlantic Ocean. Ships that embark passengers in North Carolina for "gambling boat voyages" to contiguous states must pay a privilege tax of $6 per passenger, obtain a $10,000 ABC license if it has a home port in the state, and withhold 7% of winnings from North Carolina residents. When traveling outside North Carolina's three-mile criminal jurisdictional limit, HB 19 requires a casino boat to make an intervening stop in another state or country for 6 hours and allow its passengers to disembark or country and embark passengers in North Carolina ports.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

There are no casino boats based in North Carolina nor are there casino boats in the contiguous states of Virginia and South Carolina that embark passengers in North Carolina for gambling boat voyages. There are two small cruise lines that have scheduled stops in North Carolina, but these ships do not offer gambling. Although North Carolina is visited infrequently by the major cruise lines that have casino operations onboard, these vessels are exempt from tax because they do not have home ports in the state and do not arrange cruises to contiguous states.

DRAFT

No information is available to estimate the potential for gambling boat voyages in the future. It is uncertain how prospective casino boat operators will react to the restrictions and taxes imposed in HB 19. Fiscal Research talked to the owner of the Stardancer, one of two casino boats based in Little River, South Carolina, and found that the owner had no intention of expanding his business into North Carolina. Furthermore, the intervening stop requirements of HB 19 may make travel to North Carolina impracticable and less profitable. The Stardancer casino boat has a cruise time of five hours (1 hour to reach the 3-mile limit, 3 hours to gamble, and 1 hour to return) and makes two trips a day. The six hour intervening stop requirement would prohibit the Stardancer casino boat from making two daily trips and would increase costs due to additional staff hours spent on board.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROHIBIT CERTAIN CASINO BOATS FROM OPERATING IN NORTH CAROLINA AND TO REGULATE CERTAIN CASINO BOATS THAT OPERATE IN NORTH CAROLINA PURSUANT TO FEDERAL LAW AND TO LEVY A PRIVILEGE TAX ON GAMBLING BOATS OPERATING IN NORTH CAROLINA AND TO REQUIRE WITHHOLDING FROM CERTAIN GAMBLING BOAT WINNINGS.

Whereas, North Carolina has a long history of outlawing gambling within the State; with gambling being illegal since 1891, allowing gambling in houses of public entertainment being illegal since 1799, and the possession of gambling devices outlawed in this State since 1791; and

Whereas, casino boats have started "gambling cruise to nowhere" operations in several states along the Atlantic Ocean, in an attempt to avoid the application of similar laws prohibiting gambling and the possession of gambling devices, with passengers embarking at ports within the State, passing beyond the three-mile State criminal jurisdictional limit where the gambling and use of the gambling devices actually take place, and then returning to the same port within the State where the passengers disembark; and

Whereas, the federal government has preempted regulation of the possession of gambling devices on certain casino boats that leave a port in one state, make at least one intervening stop in a second state, and then return to the same or another port in the first state as specified in 15 U.S.C. 1175(b)(2), commonly referred to as the Johnson Act Amendments of 1992; and

Whereas, it is the intent of the General Assembly to prohibit "gambling cruises to nowhere" in this State and to regulate, to the extent possible under federal law, all gambling cruises that originate and terminate in this State; Now, therefore, The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 37 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Part to read:

"Part 3. Casino Boats.

"§ 14-309.20. Short title.

(b) Interference with inspection. -- Refusal by a permittee or by any employee of a permittee to permit an alcohol law enforcement agent or employee of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission to board to make an inspection authorized by subsection (a) of this section shall be cause for revocation, suspension, or other action against the permit of the permittee as provided in G.S. 18B-104.

(b) Returns; due date. -- A gambling boat operator must file a return with the Secretary on a form prepared by the Secretary and must provide any information required by the Secretary. The return is due and the withheld taxes are payable by the last day of the first month after the end of each calendar quarter during which the gambling boat operator pays gambling winnings to a resident of this State. The Secretary may extend the time for filing the return or paying the tax as provided in G.S. 105-263.

(c) Annual statement. -- A gambling boat operator required to deduct and withhold from a resident's gambling winnings under this section must furnish to the resident duplicate copies of a written information statement. The statement is due by January 31 following the calendar year and must show the following:

(2) The resident's name, address, and taxpayer identification number.

(3) The total amount of gambling winnings paid during the calendar year.

(4) The total amount deducted and withheld under this section during the calendar year.

(5) Any other information required by the Secretary.

(d) Report to Secretary. -- Each gambling boat operator must file with the Secretary an annual report that compiles the information contained in each of the operator's statements to residents and any other information required by the Secretary. This report is due on the date prescribed by the Secretary and is in lieu of the information report required by G.S. 105-154.

(e) Records. -- If a gambling boat operator does not withhold from any gambling winnings paid to an individual, the operator must obtain from the individual documentation proving that he or she is not a resident of this State. The operator must retain this information with its records."

Section 9. G.S. 105-163.9 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-163.9. Refund of overpayment to withholding agent.

A withholding agent who pays the Secretary more under this Article than the Article requires the agent to pay may obtain a refund of the overpayment by filing an application for a refund with the Secretary. No refund is allowed, however, if the withholding agent withheld the amount of the overpayment from the ~~wages~~ wages, winnings, or compensation of the agent's ~~employees~~ employees, passengers, or contractors. A withholding agent must file an application for a refund within the time period set in G.S. 105-266. Interest accrues on a refund as provided in G.S. 105-266."

Section 10. G.S. 105-163.10 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-163.10. Withheld amounts credited to taxpayer for calendar year.

The amount deducted and withheld under this Article during any calendar year from the ~~wages~~ wages, winnings, or compensation of an individual ~~shall be~~ is allowed as a credit to that individual against the tax imposed by Article 4 of this Chapter for taxable years beginning in that calendar year. The amount deducted and withheld under this Article during any calendar year from the compensation of a nonresident entity ~~shall be~~ is allowed as a credit to that entity against the tax imposed by Article 4 of this Chapter for taxable years beginning in that calendar year. If the nonresident entity is a pass-through entity, the entity shall pass through and allocate to each owner the owner's share of the credit.

If more than one taxable year begins in the calendar year during which the withholding occurred, the amount ~~shall be~~ is allowed as a credit against the tax for the last taxable year so beginning. To obtain the credit allowed in this section, the individual or nonresident entity must file with the Secretary one copy of the withholding statement required by G.S. ~~105-163.3 or G.S.~~ 105-163.3, 105-163.3A, or 105-163.7 and any other information the Secretary requires."

Section 11. This act is effective when it becomes law. Sections 4 through 10 of this act become effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law.

ADJOURNMENT OF MEETING

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Tuesday, March 23, 1999

The House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, March 23, 1999 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building at 8:30 a.m. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Luebke, Miller; Vice Chair Jarrell; Representatives Braswell, Bridgeman, Brown, Buchanan, Capps, Church, Cox, Creech, Cunningham, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Goodwin, Hackney, Hill, McComas, McCombs, Morris, Neely, Ramsey, Rayfield, Starnes, Tucker, Wilson, Womble. Staff including Cindy Avrette, Richard Bostic, Linda Millsaps, and Ed Rossi were in attendance. A Visitor Registration List is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Chair Allen called the meeting to order to consider the following bills:

Representative Jarrell was recognized to explain HB 259, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE LAPSE OF A HOME INSPECTOR'S LICENSE AND AN ASSOCIATE HOME INSPECTOR'S LICENSE UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS; TO ESTABLISH RECORD-KEEPING REQUIREMENTS FOR HOME INSPECTORS; AND TO AUTHORIZE THE HOME INSPECTOR LICENSURE BOARD TO ESTABLISH CONTINUING EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND CHARGE FEES FOR THOSE PROGRAMS. Rep. Jarrell made a motion to adopt the Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion purposes, and it passed. Rep. McComas sent forward an amendment. The Chair recognized Jim Hughes of the N.C. Homebuilders Association to answer questions for the members. The Chair recognized Mike Carpenter of the N.C. Homebuilders Association to answer questions for the members. Rep. McComas agreed to pull back his original amendment and substitute a clarifying amendment. The Chair recognized Henry Jones of the American Society of Home Inspectors to answer questions for the members. Rep McComas moved for adoption of his amendment and it failed after a roll call vote is taken: Seventeen votes against amendment and eight votes for amendment. Rep. Decker made a motion to give the Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report, unfavorable as to original bill. The motion passed. Copy of original bill, Committee Sub, amendments, bill analysis, and fiscal note included in the Minutes.

Representative Brown was recognized to explain HB 178, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF JONESVILLE TO CHARGE A FEE NOT TO EXCEED FIVE DOLLARS FOR UNCERTIFIED COPIES OF POLICE INCIDENT OR ACCIDENT REPORTS AND TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN TO GIVE ANNUAL NOTICE OF VIOLATION TO CHRONIC VIOLATORS OF THE CITY'S OVERGROWN VEGETATION ORDINANCE. Ed Rossi, a staff member, informed the committee that the bill was constitutionally suspect. The committee decided to go ahead and discuss the bill, leaving the matter of constitutionality to the courts. Rep. Decker made a motion to give the bill a favorable report. The motion passed. Copy of bill, bill analysis, and fiscal note included in the Minutes.

Representative Warren was recognized to explain HB 149, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REDUCE THE PISTOL PERMIT FEE IN PITT COUNTY FROM TWENTY DOLLARS TO FIVE DOLLARS. Rep. Luebke made a motion to give the bill a favorable report. The motion passed. Copy of bill, bill analysis, and fiscal note included in the Minutes.

Representative Decker was recognized to explain HB 375, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT ADDING CERTAIN DESCRIBED PROPERTY TO THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE TOWN OF OAK RIDGE. Rep. Decker informed the committee that in 1997, the House Finance Committee passed a bill to incorporate the town of Oak Ridge in Guilford Co. which was effective in November 1998. The reason for HB 375 is to incorporate the territories of people who wished to be in Oak Ridge, but were left out in the original bill. Rep. Jarrell asked Rep. Decker who are the supporters and opponents to the bill. Rep. Decker explained that HB 375 keeps the agreement regarding boundaries with Greensboro that was in the original bill. The agreement was that the permanent southern boundary of Oak Ridge is Hall River Rd. Rep. Decker stated that supporters of the 1997 original incorporation bill supported incorporation of Oak Ridge all the way to the county line and that is what this bill is doing. Those supporters were the county commissioners of Guilford Co., Greensboro, those people in Guilford Co. who live in Guilford the bill pertained to, all the senators from Forsyth County, most all the House members supported it, and most all the Guilford Co. senators. Rep. Womble asked why did Forsyth County oppose the 1997 original incorporation bill. Rep. Decker said that there is a garbage dump in Forsyth County that wishes to expand into Guilford County. Some people wanted to keep that territory out of the hands of the Oak Ridge Incorporation so that dump might eventually be expanded under the control of the town of Kernersville. There were other smaller reasons, but this was purported to be the major one, but this explanation regarding the garbage dump is an assumption on many peoples' parts. Rep. Womble asked if Forsyth County's concerns have been addressed. Rep. Decker replied that the town of Kernersville lies in Forsyth County that is 99% in Decker's district that holds to the opinion that Oak Ridge should not be allowed to have this territory in Guilford County. Rep. Decker believed that territory belongs to the people of Guilford County, and those citizens should have the right to exercise the choice to be in the Oak Ridge city limits. That's why these people have requested this legislation and have an overwhelming support for it. Rep. Capps asked that if it weren't for the moratorium placed on the bill, would Rep. Decker have to do this. Rep. Decker replied that if it weren't for the moratorium, he wouldn't be doing this. Rep. Capps asked why the moratorium was placed on the bill. Rep. Decker replied that the people who were left out of the incorporation were unable to get a negotiated settlement, so the moratorium was the best they could get, so they took it. HB 375 will straighten that situation out and give those people back the rightful place they'd like to be. Rep. Creech made a motion to give the bill a favorable report. The motion passed. Copy of bill and bill analysis included in the Minutes.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:35 a.m.

Respectfully submitted:

Representative Gordon Allen

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REDUCE THE PISTOL PERMIT FEE IN PITT COUNTY FROM TWENTY DOLLARS TO FIVE DOLLARS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 2 of Chapter 205 of the 1993 Session Laws reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 2. This act applies ~~only to Martin County and Pitt County.~~ to Martin County only."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Reduce Pitt Co. Pistol Fee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance Committee
Date: March 18, 1999
Version: 1st

Introduced by: Rep. Warren
Summary by: Ed Rossi
Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: House bill 149 reduces the pistol permit fee in Pitt County from $20.00 to $5.00

CURRENT LAW: – State law requires anyone wanting to purchase or receive a handgun to first obtain a permit for that handgun from the sheriff of the county that they reside in. After receiving the fee, the sheriff must perform a criminal background check, and generally satisfy herself as to the applicant's good moral character.

BACKGROUND: The statewide fee for a handgun permit is $5.00. In 1993, Representative Rogers introduced House bill 715. That bill raised the pistol permit fees in Martin and Pitt counties to $20.00. It was ratified on June 23, 1993, as Chapter 205 of the 1993 Session Laws. Representative Warren's bill repeals that 1993, law as it applies to Pitt County.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Pitt County Sheriff

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The pistol permit fee in Pitt County is reduced from $20 to $5.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Pitt County Finance Officer provided data on the number of pistol permits issued in Pitt County in the last five years. The chart below contains data on both new and renewed permits (permits expire 5 years after date of issuance), but does not include concealed weapons permits.

FY	Revenue	Approx. # of Permits
98-99 (thru 1/28/99)	$14,600	730
97-98	$26,110	1305
96-97	$28,397	1420
95-96	$35,558	1777
94-95	$35,120	1756

Assuming Pitt County issues 1,300 pistol permits each year, then the annual revenue loss from a $15 fee reduction is $19,500.

HOUSE BILL 178

Short Title: Jonesville Accident Reports/Weeds. (Local)

Sponsors: Representatives Brown; and Holmes.

Referred to: Local Government I, if favorable, Finance.

March 1, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF JONESVILLE TO CHARGE A FEE NOT TO EXCEED FIVE DOLLARS FOR UNCERTIFIED COPIES OF POLICE INCIDENT OR ACCIDENT REPORTS AND TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN TO GIVE ANNUAL NOTICE OF VIOLATION TO CHRONIC VIOLATORS OF THE CITY'S OVERGROWN VEGETATION ORDINANCE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 3 of S.L. 1998-108 reads as rewritten:

"Section 3. This act applies to the Towns of ~~Denton and Farmville~~ Denton, Farmville, and Jonesville and the City of Greenville only."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

H178:
Jonesville Accident Reports/Weeds

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Rep. Brown & Holmes
Date:	March 19, 1999	Summary by:	Ed Rossi
Version:	1st		Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: House bill 178 allows the Town of Jonesville to:

1. Charge a fee of up to $5.00 for uncertified copies of accident or incident reports.
2. Allows the town to place a lien on lands that allegedly violate the town's "vegetation ordinance."

The provision relating to the imposition of liens on property that violates a "vegetation ordinance" is constitutionally suspect as being violative of Article II Sec. 24(a) of the North Carolina Constitution which prohibits the General Assembly from enacting local acts that relate to the abatement of nuisances.

CURRENT LAW: Public Records – The State's public records law provides that public records, "are the property of the people." [1] The State's official policy is that people should be able be able to obtain copies of public records free of charge or at minimal cost, "unless otherwise specifically provided by law." [2] To date, there are over 60 specific local modifications to this law.

Constitutional Limitations on Local Acts -- Article II Sec. 24(a) of the North Carolina Constitution prohibits the General Assembly from enacting local acts that relate to the abatement of nuisances. Any legislation that is enacted in violation of this proscription is void.

BACKGROUND: In 1998, the General Assembly passed legislation that allowed 3 municipalities to (i) charge a fee of up to $5.00 for accident or incident reports; (ii) place a lien on the property of persons that allegedly violate a "vegetation ordinance." See p.2. This bill seeks to amend that legislation by adding Jonesville to the list of municipalities that the 1998 law applies to.

The Town of Jonesville seeks to enforce this act through a set of public nuisance ordinances. These ordinances provide: (i) that grass on private property may not grow in excess of 18 inches; (ii) if it does the town may go on to the property and cut the grass; (iii) the cost of town's mowing will become a lien on the property that violated the nuisance ordinance. See p.2.

BILL ANALYSIS: House bill 178 is a local bill that relates, in part, to the removal of overgrown grass and weeds – something that the implementing town ordinance declared to "a public nuisance." Article II Sec. 24(a) of the North Carolina Constitution would appear to prohibit this legislation, as it is a local act relating to the abatement of a nuisance .

[1] G.S. § 132-1(b)
[2] Id.

1998 Legislation (Session Law 1998-108)

Section 1. A municipality may charge a fee not to exceed five dollars ($5.00) for an uncertified copy of a police incident or accident report, except that the operator of a vehicle involved in an accident shall be entitled to one free copy of an uncertified copy. The fees collected shall be used for law enforcement purposes only.

Section 2. A municipality may notify a chronic violator of the municipality's overgrown vegetation ordinance that, if the violator's property is found to be in violation of the ordinance, the municipality shall, without further notice in the calendar year in which notice is given, take action to remedy the violation and the expense of the action shall become a lien upon the property and shall be collected as unpaid taxes. The notice shall be served by registered or certified mail. A chronic violator is a person who owns property whereupon, in the previous calendar year, the municipality took remedial action at least three times under the overgrown vegetation ordinance.

Section 3. This act applies to the Towns of Denton and Farmville and the City of Greenville only.

Jonesville Ordinances

Section 8-4001.Uncontrolled growth of weeds and accumulation of refuse are declared public nuisance.

The existence of any of the following conditions on any vacant lot or other parcel of land within the corporate limits is hereby declared to be dangerous and prejudicial to the public health or safety and to constitute a public nuisance:

(1) The uncontrolled growth of noxious weeds or grass to a height in excess of 18 inches causing or threatening to cause a hazard detrimental to the public health or safety....

Section 8-4005.Removal by town.
Upon the occurrence of either of the following conditions:

(1) A hearing is requested and hold under section 8-4004 above result- in either a final order with modifications or the reinstatement of the initial order as a final order, and the order is not complied with; or

(2) No hearing is requested or held, and the person having been ordered to abate the public nuisance fails, neglects or refuses to abate or remove the condition constituting the nuisance within 15 days from receipt of the order;

then the town clerk shall cause the condition to be removed or otherwise remedied by having employees of the town go upon the premises and remove or otherwise abate the nuisance under the supervision of an officer or employee designated by the town clerk. Any person who has boon finally ordered to abate a public nuisance may within the time allowed by this chapter request the town in writing to remove the condition, the cost of which shall be paid by the person making the request.

Section 8-4006. Cost incurred by owner..
The actual cost incurred by the town in removing or otherwise remedying a public nuisance shall be charged to the owner of the lot or parcel of land, and it shall be the duty of the tax collector to mail a statement of the charges to the owner or other person in possession of the premises with instructions that the charges are due and payable within 30 days from the receipt thereof.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Town of Jonesville.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill adds the Town of Jonesville to a list of towns given special authority for two actions. First, the bill authorizes Jonesville to charge a five dollar ($ 5.00) fee for an uncertified copy of police incident or accident report. The operator of a vehicle involved in an accident is entitled to one free uncertified copy of the report. The fees provide additional law enforcement funding. The second part of the bill addresses overgrown lots. The bill authorizes Jonesville to notify the owner of a chronically overgrown lot of the municipality's overgrown vegetation ordinance. The bill authorizes the town to "remedy" the violation, (mow, etc.) once the owner is notified and again found in violation. The cost associated with mowing becomes the equivalent of a tax lien against the property. Under the bill, notice must be given at least once during the calendar year. The bill defines a chronic violator as a person who owns property cited at least three times during the previous calendar year for overgrown vegetation.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: According to the town manager, Jonesville currently charges $4.00 for police accident and incident reports. They also report issuing approximately 200 such reports each year. Because the bill would allow Jonesville to charge an extra $1.00 per report, the town would likely see a $200.00 increase in revenues ($1.00 X 200 reports). As far as the weedy lot provision is concerned, the town manager believes the town will see some decrease in their postal expenses as a result of this provision. However, they expect the fiscal impact to be minimal.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE LAPSE OF A HOME INSPECTOR'S LICENSE AND AN ASSOCIATE HOME INSPECTOR'S LICENSE UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS; TO ESTABLISH RECORD-KEEPING REQUIREMENTS FOR HOME INSPECTORS; AND TO AUTHORIZE THE HOME INSPECTOR LICENSURE BOARD TO ESTABLISH CONTINUING EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND CHARGE FEES FOR THOSE PROGRAMS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 143-151.55 reads as rewritten:

"§ 143-151.55. Renewal of license; inactive ~~licenses.~~ licenses; lapsed licenses.

(a) Renewal. -- A license expires on September 30 of each year. A license may be renewed by filing an application for renewal with the Board and paying the required renewal fee. The Board must notify license holders at least 30 days before their licenses expire. The Board must renew the license of a person who files an application for renewal, pays the required renewal fee, has fulfilled the continuing education requirements set by the Board, and is not in violation of this Article when the application is filed. If the Board imposes a continuing education requirement as a condition of renewing a license, the Board must ensure that the courses needed to fulfill the requirement are available in all geographic areas of the State.

(b) Late Renewal. -- The Board may provide for the late renewal of a license upon the payment of a late fee, but no late renewal of a license may be granted more than five years after the license expires.

(c) Inactive License. -- A license holder may apply to the Board to be placed on inactive status. An applicant for inactive status must follow the procedure set by the Board. A license holder who is granted inactive status is not subject to the license renewal requirements during the period the license holder remains on inactive status.

A license holder whose application is granted and is placed on inactive status may apply to the Board to be reinstated to active status at any time. The Board may set conditions for reinstatement to active status. An individual who is on inactive status and applies to be reinstated to active status must comply with the conditions set by the Board.

(d) Lapsed License. -- The license of a licensed home inspector shall lapse if the licensee fails to continuously maintain minimum net assets or a bond as required by G.S. 143-151.58. The license of a licensed associate home inspector shall lapse if the licensee fails to continuously be employed by or affiliated with a licensed home inspector as required by G.S. 143-151.58."

Section 2. G.S. 143-151.57(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Maximum Fees. -- The Board may adopt fees that do not exceed the amounts set in the following table for administering this Article:

Item	Maximum Fee

Renewal of course approval	75.00
Course fee, per credit hour per licensee	5.00

Section 3. G.S. 143-151.58 reads as rewritten:

"§ 143-151.58. Duties of licensed home inspector or licensed associate home inspector.

(a) Home Inspection Report. -- A licensed home inspector or licensed associate home inspector must give to each person for whom the inspector performs a home inspection for compensation a written report of the home inspection. The inspector must give the person the report by the date set in a written agreement by the parties to the home inspection. If the parties to the home inspection did not agree on a date in a written agreement, the inspector must give the person the report within three business days after the inspection was performed.

(b) Bond Required. -- A licensed home inspector must continuously maintain minimum net assets or a bond as required in G.S. 143-151.51(3).

(c) Supervision. -- A licensed associate home inspector must be continuously employed by or affiliated with a licensed home inspector as required in G.S. 143-151.52(5).

(d) Record Keeping. -- All licensees under this Article shall make and keep full and accurate records of business done under their licenses. Records shall include the written, signed contract and the written report required by the standards of practice referred to in G.S. 143-151.49(a)(2) and any other information the Board requires by rule. Records shall be retained by licensees for not less than three years. Licensees shall furnish their records to the Board on demand."

Section 4. Article 9F of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-151.64. Continuing education requirements.

(a) Requirements. -- The Board may establish programs of continuing education for licensees under this Article. A licensee subject to a program under this section shall present evidence to the Board upon the license renewal following initial licensure, and every renewal thereafter, that during the 12 months preceding the annual license expiration date the person has completed the required number of classroom hours of instruction in courses approved by the Board. Annual continuing education hour requirements shall be determined by the Board, but shall not be more than 12 credit hours.

(b) Fees. -- The Board may establish a nonrefundable course application fee to be charged to a course sponsor for the review and approval of a proposed continuing education course. Approval of a continuing education course must be renewed annually. The Board may also require a course sponsor to pay a fee for each licensee completing an approved continuing education course conducted by the sponsor.

(c) Credit for Unapproved Course. -- The Board may award continuing education credit for an unapproved course or related educational activity. The Board may prescribe procedures for a licensee to submit information on an unapproved course or related educational activity for continuing education credit. The Board may charge a fee to the licensee for each course or activity submitted.

(d) Extension of Time. -- The Board may, for good cause shown, grant extensions of time to licensees to comply with these requirements. Any licensee who, after obtaining an extension under this subsection, offers evidence satisfactory to the Board that the licensee has satisfactorily completed the required continuing education courses, is in compliance with this section.

(e) Rules. -- The Board may adopt rules governing continuing education requirements, including rules that govern:

(1) The content and subject matter of continuing education courses.

(2) The criteria, standards, and procedures for the approval of courses, course sponsors, and course instructors.

(3) The methods of instruction.

(4) The computation of course credit.

(5) The ability to carry forward course credit from one year to another.

(6) The waiver of or variance from the continuing education requirement for hardship or other reasons.

(7) The procedures for compliance and sanctions for noncompliance."

HOUSE BILL 259:
Home Inspector Amendments/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Rep. Jarrell
Date:	March 23, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H259-CSRB-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 259 is an agency bill that proposes three changes to the home inspector licensure law:

- It provides that a home inspector's license will lapse if the licensee does not continuously maintain net assets or a bond as required by the Board. It provides that a licensed associate home inspector's license will lapse if the licensee is not employed by or affiliated with a licensed home inspector.
- It establishes record-keeping requirements.
- It authorizes the Board to establish and approve continuing education programs and to charge fees for those programs.

The bill becomes effective October 1, 1999, and applies to licenses applied for or renewed on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly created the Home Inspector Licensure Act in 1994. Under that act, a person must be licensed as a home inspector in order to perform a home inspection for pay. To be a home inspector, a person must have a high school diploma and have been engaged as a licensed associated home inspector for at least 1 year and have completed 100 home inspections. The North Carolina Home Inspector Licensure Board is composed of seven members and is established in the Department of Insurance.

BILL ANALYSIS: To be licensed as a home inspector, the statute requires that the applicant have minimum net assets or a bond in an amount determined by the Board. The amount may not be less than $5,000 nor more than $10,000. To be licensed as an associate home inspector, the statute requires that the applicant be employed by or affiliated with a licensed home inspector. The current statute does not provide that these conditions be continuously met. This bill addresses this problem in two ways. First, it makes it a duty to continuously meet these requirements. If a licensee fails to meet these requirements, the Board may suspend or revoke the licensee's license. (Section 3) Second, it provides that a license will automatically lapse if these conditions fail to be met. (Section 1)

The current law requires a licensee to give each person for whom the inspector performs a home inspection for compensation a written report of the home inspection. The bill creates a new requirement for licensees. Under section 3 of the bill, a licensee would need to make and keep full and accurate records of the business the licensee has completed. The records would need to include the written contracts for the work requested as well as the written home inspection reports. The licensee would need to maintain the records for at least three years.

Lastly, the bill gives the Board greater authority to establish a continuing education program and to charge fees for the program. Under current law, the Board has the general authority to require continuing education for licensure renewal. However, the Board does not have the authority to accredit continuing education programs or to charge fees for these programs. Section 4 of the bill gives the Board the specific authority to require licensees to complete no more than 12 hours of continuing education a year. The Board must approve the courses for which credit is awarded. Sections 2 and 4 of the bill allow the Board to charge the following fees:

• Application fee for course approval	$150.00
• Renewal fee for course approval	75.00
• A course fee paid per credit hour per licensee	5.00
• Fee for credit of an unapproved course	50.00

PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE: The proposed committee substitute places all the fee provisions in one statute, it clarifies when a license will lapse, it makes it a duty to continuously meet the licensure requirements of net assets and supervision, and it makes other stylistic and organizational changes. It also deletes a sentence concerning the reversion of fees because it is unnecessary. The home inspector licensure fees are credited to a special revenue fund. Monies in a special revenue fund do not revert to any other fund at the end of the fiscal year.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Home Inspector Licensure Board.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 1999, and applies licenses applied for or renewed on or after that date.

Monday, March 22, 1999

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several changes to the requirements for licensure as a home inspector. First, it clarifies that an inspector must continuously maintain a minimum bond, or net assets, as determined by the board. The required amount can not exceed $10,000 or fall below $5,000. (Current law only requires that inspectors have such a bond). Second, it requires that an inspector's license be considered lapsed when they do not pay the renewal fee or maintain the bond or asset base. It also requires that an associate inspector's license be considered lapsed when the associate does not pay the renewal fee or is not continuously employed by or affiliated with a licensed home inspector. Third, the bill requires that all licensees maintain full and accurate records. Fourth, it authorizes the Home Inspector Licensure Board to establish continuing education courses, and require that inspectors and associates complete a set number of credit hours each year. While the board will determine the number of hours, the annual requirement can not exceed 12 credit hours. Fifth, the bill authorizes the board to charge fees to a course sponsor to review and approve a suggested course, and renew the approval for that course. It also authorizes the board to charge a course sponsor up to $5.00 per credit hour for each licensee that completes an approved course, and allows them to charge licensees up to $50.00 to review an unapproved course or activity to determine if that activity meets the continuing education requirements. Sixth, the bill authorizes the board to adopt reasonable rules to carry out and enforce the continuing education program. Finally, the bill provides the board with the option to grant extensions to those who fail to meet the continuing education requirements.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill has two potential areas for fiscal impact: creating a lapsed category, and authorizing continuing education and a series of associated fees.

The Department of Insurance reports that there are currently 96 home inspectors and 29 associate home inspectors who have not yet paid their renewal fee. (This does not include the inspectors and associates who have become "inactive"). The renewal fee for home inspectors is $150. The renewal fee for associate home inspectors is $100. Payment is due by October 1 of each year. Under the bill, in future years, the licenses of these inspectors and associate inspectors would be considered "lapsed". If "lapsed" status encourages these inspectors and associates to renew their license, the Department could see a $17,300 increase in renewal fees. However, it is unclear if the "lapsed" standing would actually cause these inspectors and associates to renew their license. It is also unclear how many of these inspectors will eventually pay their delinquent fee, with our without the law. As such, no fiscal estimate on this portion of the bill is possible.

The second potential area for fiscal impact is related to the continuing education requirements. At this time, neither the Home Inspection Licensure Board nor the Department of Insurance (which staffs the Board) have made any determinations or recommendations as to the number of courses to be offered, or the number of courses to approve. No estimate on this portion of the bill is possible. Neither body has determined or recommended what fee should be charged, per student, for each credit hour completed. The Department of Insurance reports that there are 1079 home inspectors and 110 associate home inspectors with active licenses. Assuming each active inspector and associate completes 12 credit hours of training, and the Board charges the maximum fee of $5, the Board might see a revenue increase of $71,300 (1189 inspectors and associates X $60 each in fees). The Department reports that the current number of inspectors and associates is about average. No significant revenue growth is expected. All revenue from continuing education program is non-reverting.

Given the above information it appears that the Home Inspectors Licensing Board will see some increase in revenue. It is unclear how much the exact fiscal impact may be, primarily because the Board has yet to determine the number of courses offered and approved.

Oak Ridge Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Rep. Decker.
Date:	March 22, 1999	Summary by:	Ed Rossi
Version:	1st. Ed.		Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: House bill 375allows the Town to Oak Ridge to annex land as described in the bill.

BACKGROUND: In 1998, the General Assembly passed legislation (S.L. 1998-113) that permitted the incorporation of the Town Oak Ridge. A referendum was held pursuant to the 1998 act and 1,247 residents voted for incorporation and 62 voted against.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, [1] a town that wishes to annex land must follow an annexation procedure set out by the General Statutes. The 1998 act that allowed the incorporation of this town also provided that the annexation procedure did not apply for 20 years. This in effect created a 20 year moratorium on annexations by the town; thereby necessitating that the town come to the General Assembly in order to annex the land described by the act.

HOUSE BILL 53

Short Title: Rowan 1% Sales Tax/Schools. (Local)

Sponsors: Representatives McCombs and Gardner (Primary Sponsors).

Referred to: Finance.

February 10, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE ROWAN COUNTY TO LEVY A TEMPORARY, ONE-CENT LOCAL SALES TAX FOR PUBLIC SCHOOL CAPITAL OUTLAY, IF APPROVED BY THE VOTERS OF THE COUNTY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. This act applies only to Rowan County.

Section 2. Subchapter VIII of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 44.

"Second One-Cent (1¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax.

"§ 105-515. Short title.

This Article is the Second One-Cent (1¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax Act.

"§ 105-516. Purpose.

This Article gives the counties of this State an opportunity to obtain a temporary source of revenue with which to meet their public school construction needs. It provides all counties of the State that are subject to this Article with authority to levy one percent (1%) sales and use taxes.

"§ 105-517. Limitations.

This Article applies only to counties that levy the first one-cent (1¢) sales and use tax under Article 39 of this Chapter or under Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws, the first one-half cent (1/2¢) local sales and use tax under Article 40 of this Chapter, and the second one-half cent (1/2¢) local sales and use tax under Article 42 of this Chapter.

"§ 105-518. County election on adoption of tax.

(a) Resolution. -- The board of commissioners of a county may, by resolution, after 10 days' public notice and a public hearing on the question, direct the county board of elections to conduct an advisory referendum on the question of whether a temporary local sales and use tax at the rate of one percent (1%) will be levied in accordance with this Article. The election must be on a date jointly agreed upon by the two boards and must be held in accordance with the procedures of G.S. 163-287.

(b) Ballot Question. -- The question to be presented on a ballot for a special election concerning the levy of the taxes authorized by this Article must be in the following form:

temporary one percent (1%) local sales and use taxes, in addition to the current two percent (2%) local sales and use taxes, to be used only for public school capital projects.

"§ 105-519. Levy and collection of tax.

If the majority of those voting in a referendum held pursuant to this Article vote for the levy of the tax, the board of commissioners of the county may, by resolution, levy one percent (1%) local sales and use taxes in addition to any other State and local sales and use taxes levied pursuant to law. Except as provided in this Article, the adoption, levy, collection, administration, and repeal of these additional taxes shall be in accordance with Article 39 of this Chapter.

"§ 105-520. Distribution and use of tax.

(a) Distribution. -- The Secretary must, on a quarterly basis, distribute to each taxing county the net proceeds of the tax levied under this Article by that county. If the Secretary collects taxes under this Article in a month and the taxes cannot be identified as being attributable to a particular taxing county, the Secretary must allocate these taxes among the taxing counties in proportion to the amount of taxes collected in each county under this Article in that month and must include them in the quarterly distribution.

(b) Use. -- A county may use the proceeds of a tax levied under this Article only for public school capital outlay purposes as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f) or to retire any indebtedness incurred by the county for these purposes.

(c) Nonsupplant Restriction. -- It is the purpose of this Article for counties to appropriate funds generated under this Article to increase the level of county spending for public school capital outlay above the level of spending before the levy of the tax authorized in this Article. A county that levies a tax under this Article must continue to spend for public school capital outlay purposes in its local school administrative units the same amount of money it would have spent for those purposes if it had not levied the tax.

"§ 105-521. Expiration.

A tax levied under this Article expires seven years after the effective date of its levy. A county's authority to levy a tax under this Article expires seven years after the effective date of its levy of a tax under this Article. The expiration of a tax pursuant to this Article does not affect the rights or liabilities of the county, a taxpayer, or another person arising under the expired tax before the effective date of its expiration; nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that would otherwise have been available under the expired tax before the effective date of its expiration."

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Section 4. A tax levied under Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act, does not apply to construction materials purchased to fulfill a lump-sum or unit-price contract entered into or awarded before the effective date of the levy or entered into or awarded pursuant to a bid made before the effective date of the levy when the construction materials would otherwise be subject to the tax levied under Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

HOUSE BILL 53:
Rowan 1% Sales Tax/Schools

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: March 24, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. McCombs and Gardner
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 53 authorizes the Rowan County Board of Commissioners to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax within the county if approved by the voters of the county The net proceeds must be used for public school capital projects. The tax, if enacted, will expire seven years after the effective date of its levy.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 53 authorizes the Rowan County Board of Commissioners to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax within the county if aproved by the voters of the county. The board must pass a resolution directing the Board of Elections to hold a special election on whether the tax should be levied. If a majority of the voters approve, the board may levy the tax for a seven-year period. The tax would apply to all items that are currently in the local sales and use tax base.

Like the existing local sales taxes, the tax will be collected by the Department of Revenue. The net proceeds of the tax collected in the taxing county will be allocated to the county. This distribution is known as a point of collection or point of origin basis for distribution. The county may use the tax proceeds only for public school capital outlay purposes or to retire debt incurred by the county for these purposes..

The bill is effective when it becomes law. It is drafted so that other counties could be added on by amending Section 1 of the bill.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, all counties are authorized to levy a total of two cents local sales and use taxes. The net proceeds of the first one-cent tax are distributed to counties on a point of origin basis and the net proceeds of the two additional half-cent taxes are distributed to counties on a per capita basis. This per capita distribution is probably unconstitutional, although it has never been challenged in court. The amount distributed to each county is divided between the county and its municipalities, on either an ad valorem tax basis or a per capita basis, as chosen by the county. Local governments may use the first one-cent tax for any lawful purpose. Counties must use part of the proceeds of the two additional half-cent taxes for public school capital outlay. Public school capital outlay, as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f), is very broad. It includes expenditures for all of the following:

- Acquisition of real property for school purposes, including school sites, playgrounds, athletic fields, administrative headquarters, and garages.
- Acquisition, constructoin, reconstruction, enlargement, renovation, or replacement of buildings and other structures, such as classrooms, laboratories, libraries, auditoriums, gymnasiums, adminsitrative offices, storage, and vehicle maintenance.
- Acquisition or replacement of furniture, instructional apparatus, data-processing equipment, and business machines.
- Acquisition of school buses as additions to the fleet.
- Acquisition of activity buses and other motor vehicles.

The following chart summarizes the existing local option sales tax laws:

Tax	Date Authorized	Use	Distribution Method
1 cent	1967 for Mecklenburg & 1971 for all counties	Any lawful purpose	Point of collection
First ½ cent	1983	Part of county share earmarked for public school capital outlay. Part of city share formerly earmarked for water and sewer capital outlay	Per capita
Second ½ cent	1986	Part of county share earmarked for public school capital outlay. Part of city share formerly earmarked for water and sewer capital outlay	Per capita

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM (S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division, Rowan County Government, and Rowan County Schools.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes Rowan County, after appropriate pubic hearings, to conduct a referendum on levying a 1% local sales and use tax. If the voters approve the referendum, the County Commission may levy a 1% local sales and use tax. The proceeds of the new tax must be used for public school capital outlays as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f). The bill also requires that the county use the additional revenue for new projects, and continue the capital investment anticipated before the sales tax increase. The bill also instructs the Department of Revenue to administer the tax, and forward the net proceeds to the county on a quarterly basis. The Secretary of Revenue can deduct from the quarterly payment the costs associated with administering the tax. Special provisions are made for certain contracts entered into or awarded before the effective date of the law or levy. The authority to levy the tax expires seven years after the effective date of the levy.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Every county in the state currently levies a 1% point of origin sales tax. (The tax is point of origin because the money raised in a particular county is returned to that county, or its point of origin). Historical reports from the Department of Revenue indicate the amount of revenue returned to each county, by quarter, from this tax. These numbers suggest what an individual county would raise through their own local tax.

Rowan County, historically, has raised the following amounts through a 1% sales tax (excluding food):

1992-93	1993-94	1994-95	1995-96	1996-97
5,730,985	6,363,939	6,778,823	7,042,797	7,442,500

Assuming this revenue source continues to grow by 5% per year, income from the non-food portion of the tax will be as follows:

1992-93	1993-94	1994-95	1995-96	1996-97
8,043,574	8,445,753	8,868,040	9,311,442	9,777,015

The Department of Revenue reports distributing an additional $ 1,178,039 to Rowan County for the point of origin sales tax on food. This distribution was based on FY 1997-98 food sales. This is the first year for which this type of data is available. Assuming food sales grow at their historic rate of 3%, sales tax revenue, to Rowan County, from food will be:

1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
1,249,781	1,287,275	1,325,893	1,365,670	1,406,640

As such, the potential total new revenue generated from the bill is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
General	8,043,574	8,445,753	8,868,040	9,311,442	9,777,015
Food	1,249,781	1,287,275	1,325,893	1,365,670	1,406,640
TOTAL	9,293,355	9,733,027	10,193,933	10,677,112	11,183,654

This note assumes that Rowan County tax will not be collected until July 1, 1999. As such, the county will not see additional revenue until the second quarter of FY 1999-00. The actual amount shown as the fiscal estimate has been adjusted for this lag. The estimate makes no assumptions about how the revenue will be distributed inside the county. The estimate only reflects the total amount generated for countywide use. The note also assumes the voters approve the tax increase. If it is not, there is no fiscal impact, except the cost of the election.

NOTE: The bill instructs the Secretary of Revenue to deduct the cost associated with administering the tax from the proceeds of the tax. This cost, however, has not been deducted from the estimate. The Department of Revenue is not prepared to offer an estimated cost at this time.

NOTE: The definition of capital outlays for schools, as defined in G.S. 115C-426(f) is very broad. While construction is certainly included, it appears the definition also includes capital equipment, the purchase of school buses, business machines, furnishings, equipment, cars, administrative buildings, etc.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CATAWBA COUNTY TO LEVY A SALES AND USE TAX OF ONE PERCENT, SUBJECT TO APPROVAL BY THE VOTERS OF THE COUNTY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. This act applies only to Catawba County.

Section 2. Subchapter VIII of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 44.

"Second One-Cent (1¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax.

"§ 105-515. Short title.

This Article shall be known as the Second One-Cent (1¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax Act.

"§ 105-516. Purpose.

This Article gives the counties of this State an opportunity to obtain an additional source of revenue with which to meet their growing financial needs. It provides all counties of the State that are subject to this Article with authority to levy one percent (1%) sales and use taxes.

"§ 105-517. Limitations.

This Article applies only to counties that levy the first one-cent (1¢) sales and use tax under Article 39 of this Chapter or under Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws, the first one-half cent (1/2¢) local sales and use tax under Article 40 of this Chapter, and the second one-half cent (1/2¢) local sales and use tax under Article 42 of this Chapter.

"§ 105-518. Levy and administration of tax.

Subject to the conditions provided in G.S. 105-519, the board of commissioners of the county may, by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and a public hearing held pursuant thereto, levy one percent (1%) local sales and use taxes in addition to any other State and local sales and use taxes levied pursuant to law. Except as provided in this Article, the adoption, levy, collection, administration, and repeal of these additional taxes shall be in accordance with Article 39 of this Chapter.

A tax levied under this Article does not apply to the sales price of food that is not otherwise exempt from tax pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 but would be exempt from the State sales and use tax pursuant to G.S. 105-164.13 if it were purchased under the Food Stamp Program, 7 U.S.C. § 51.

"§ 105-519. County election on adoption of tax.

(a) Resolution. -- In order to levy the tax authorized by this Article, the board of commissioners of the county must hold a special election as provided in this section, either at a statewide general election before the effective date of the levy of the tax, or at the next statewide general election after the effective date of the levy of the tax. To hold the special election, the county must, by resolution, after 10 days' public notice and a public hearing on the question, direct the county board of elections to conduct a special election on the question of whether a local sales and use tax at the rate of one percent (1%) will be levied in accordance with this Article. The election must be held in accordance with the procedures of G.S. 163-287.

(b) Ballot Question. -- The question to be presented on a ballot for a special election concerning the levy of the taxes authorized by this Article must be in the following form:

[ ] FOR [ ] AGAINST

one percent (1%) local sales and use taxes, in addition to the current two percent (2%) local sales and use taxes, to be used for any public purpose.

(c) Effect of Special Election. -- If the majority of those voting in a special election held pursuant to this Article vote for the levy of the tax, the tax levy is authorized. If the majority of those voting in a special election held pursuant to this Article vote against the levy of the tax, the tax levy and the authority of the county to levy the tax are repealed effective on the first day of the first month following the election. If the county fails to hold a special election before or at the next statewide general election following the effective date of the levy of the tax, the tax is repealed effective on the first day of the first month following that general election.

Repeal of a tax pursuant to this Article does not affect the rights or liabilities of the county, a taxpayer, or another person arising under the repealed tax before the effective date of its repeal; nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that would otherwise have been available under the repealed tax before the effective date of its repeal.

If the Secretary receives a valid request for a refund of a tax levied under this Article after the tax has been repealed and the net proceeds have been distributed, the Secretary must draw the refund from the taxing county's share of the net proceeds of the tax it levies under Article 39 of this Chapter or under Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws, as applicable.

"§ 105-520. Distribution and use.

The Secretary must, on a quarterly basis, distribute to each taxing county the net proceeds of the tax levied under this Article by that county. If the Secretary collects taxes under this Article in a month and the taxes cannot be identified as being attributable to a particular taxing county, the Secretary must allocate these taxes among the taxing counties in proportion to the amount of taxes collected in each county under this Article in that month and must include them in the quarterly distribution. The proceeds of a tax levied under this Article may be used for any lawful public purpose."

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Section 4. A tax levied under Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act, does not apply to construction materials purchased to fulfill a lump-sum or unit-price contract entered into or awarded before the effective date of the levy or entered into or awarded pursuant to a bid made before the effective date of the levy when the construction materials would otherwise be subject to the tax levied under Article 44 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

HOUSE BILL 110:
Catawba 1% Local Sales Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Berry and Setzer
Date:	March 24, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H110-CSRB-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 110 authorizes the Catawba County Board of Commissioners to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax within the county, subject to a vote of the people. The net proceeds of the tax may be used for any public purpose. The proposed committee substitute adds a provision requiring a vote concerning the levy of the tax after it is adopted. If the people vote against the tax, then the tax levy and the authority of the county to levy the tax are repealed. The proposed committee substitute also exempts food from this 1% sales tax.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 110 authorizes the Catawba County Board of Commissioners to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax within the county to be used for any public purpose. The tax would apply to all items that are currently in the local sales and use tax base other than food that may be purchased with food stamps.

The board of county commissioners can levy the tax by adopting a resolution, after giving public notice of its intent to do so and holding a public hearing on the issue. However, after the levy of the tax, the board must direct the Board of Elections to hold a special election on whether the tax should be levied. The election must be held either at a statewide general election before the effective date of the levy of the tax or at the next statewide general election after the effective date of the levy of the tax. If the majority of the voters oppose the tax levy, then the tax levy and the authority of the county to levy the tax are repealed effective on the first day of the first month following the election. If the county fails to hold a special election, the tax is repealed effective on the first day of the first month following the next statewide general election after the effective date of the tax levy.

Like the existing local sales taxes, the tax will be collected by the Department of Revenue. The net proceeds of the tax collected in the taxing county will be allocated to the county. This distribution is known as a point of collection or point of origin basis for distribution.

The bill is effective when it becomes law. It is drafted so that other counties could be added on by amending Section 1 of the bill.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, all counties are authorized to levy a total of two cents local sales and use taxes. The net proceeds of the first one-cent tax are distributed to counties on a point of origin basis and the net proceeds of the two additional half-cent taxes are distributed to counties on a per capita basis. This per capita distribution is probably unconstitutional, although it has never been challenged in court. The amount distributed to each county is divided between the county and its municipalities, on either an ad valorem tax basis or a per capita basis, as chosen by the county. Local governments may use the first one-cent tax for any lawful purpose. Counties must use part of the proceeds of the two additional half-cent taxes for public school capital outlay. The following chart summarizes the existing local option sales tax laws:

Tax	Date Authorized	Use	Distribution Method
1 cent	1967 for Mecklenburg & 1971 for all counties	Any lawful purpose	Point of collection
First ½ cent	1983	Part of county share earmarked for public school capital outlay. Part of city share formerly earmarked for water and sewer capital outlay	Per capita
Second ½ cent	1986	Part of county share earmarked for public school capital outlay. Part of city share formerly earmarked for water and sewer capital outlay	Per capita

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Catawba County Commission to levy an additional 1% sales and use tax. Food is excluded from the tax. The Commission can approve such a tax levy through a resolution, once a public hearing is held. However, a countywide vote of the people is required at a statewide general election either directly before or after the tax is levied. If the vote fails, the tax is repealed. The bill also instructs the Department of Revenue to administer the tax, and forward the net proceeds to the county on a quarterly basis. The Secretary of Revenue can deduct from the quarterly payment the costs associated with administering the tax. Special provisions are made for certain contracts entered into or awarded before the effective date of the law or levy.

(The tax is point of origin because the money raised in a particular county is returned to that county, or its point of origin). Historical reports from the Department of Revenue indicate the amount of revenue returned to each county, by quarter, from this tax. Catawba County revenue from the 1% point of origin tax, less food tax revenues, have been as follows:

10,982,831	12,476,912	13,621,824	13,549,717	14,343,200

Assuming this revenue source continues to grow by 5% per year, income from the tax will be as follows:

1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
14,994,891	15,744,636	16,531,867	17,358,461	18,226,384

This note assumes that Catawba County tax will not be collected until July 1, 1999. As such, the county will not see additional revenue until the second quarter of FY 1999-00. The actual amount shown as the fiscal estimate has been adjusted for this lag. The estimate makes no assumptions about how the revenue will be distributed inside the county. The estimate only reflects the total amount generated for countywide use.

NOTE: The bill instructs the Secretary of Revenue to deduct the cost associated with administering the tax from the proceeds of the tax. This cost, however, has not been deducted from the estimate. The Department of Revenue is not prepared to offer an estimated cost at this time.

THE NEWSLETTER OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BUDGET & TAX CENTER VOL. 5 NO.5 MARCH 1999

IS THIS THE TIME FOR LOCAL SALES TAX INCREASES?

BY KIMBERLY CARTRON, POLICY ANALYST

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- The sales tax is regressive - that is, low income people pay more of their income in sales taxes than upper income people. An increase in the local sales tax would, therefore, disproportionately impact low income households. A recent study by the Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy shows that an increase in North Carolina's local sales tax would hit the least-affluent 20 percent of North Carolinians about three times as hard as the most-affluent 20 percent when viewed as a share of household income.[1]

- North Carolina local governments already receive more revenue from local sales tax than three quarters of states in the nation. North Carolina ranks twelfth in the nation in reliance on the sales tax for local government revenues.[2]

- North Carolina property taxes are not out of line - in fact they are low compared to other states. North Carolina ranks 41st in terms of property tax paid per capita.[3] In 1995-96, local taxpayers paid $789 per capita nationally in property tax while North Carolinians paid substantially less at $472 per capita. The property tax is less regressive (less burdensome on low income families) than the sales tax, though it still disproportionately impacts low income people.

- Property taxes are deductible from federal income taxes, but sales and use taxes are not. If local governments begin relying more heavily on sales tax instead of property taxes, they increase their residents' federal tax liability.

OVERVIEW

North Carolina's local governments are searching for ways to increase revenue to fund their needs. During this session of the General Assembly, local governments will lobby for the authority or option to increase local sales taxes. This BTC Reports analyzes the proposal to give local governments the option to increase sales tax in terms of its fairness and concludes that increasing local sales tax would place an undue burden on low income families.

HOW IS THE LOCAL SALES TAX STRUCTURED CURRENTLY?

North Carolina gives local governments the power to tax sales and use of items included under the state's 4 percent levy. Currently all counties impose the full 2 percent rate.[4] The state collects sales tax on behalf of local governments and returns the revenues to counties minus administrative expenses. The revenue from the first one percent is returned to the county from which the tax was levied. The revenue from the remaining one percent is allocated to counties on a per capita basis.[5] The latter allocation method helps to offset inequities in the amount of revenue counties generate through sales tax due to disparities in retail sales and is more in the nature of state revenue sharing.

To distribute the funds between county and its municipalities, county commissions choose one of two options. One method allocates the revenue per capita based on population of the county and municipalities. The other method allocates revenue in proportion to the property tax paid by each municipality and the county.[6]

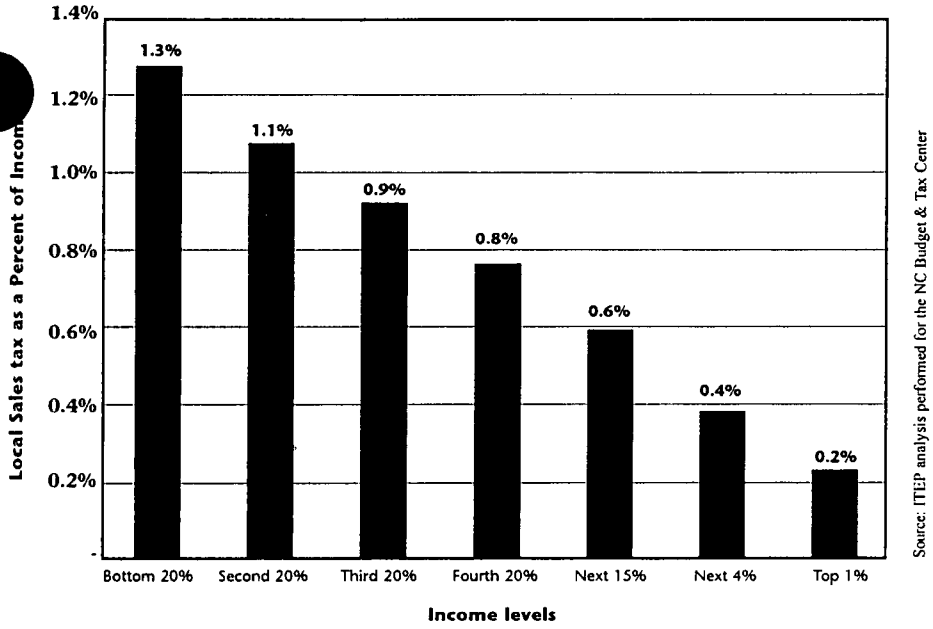
Incidence of NC Local Government Sales Tax, 1998



When the General Assembly voted to repeal the state sales tax on groceries in the last session (effective May 1, 1999), legislators did not vote to remove groceries from the base of local sales taxes. Therefore, the local option sales tax currently includes groceries - as would an increase of the local sales tax -- unless the General Assembly were to pass legislation to the contrary.

Which Taxpayers Would Feel the Hit of Increased Local Sales Tax?

Sales taxes are regressive - that is, they disproportionately impact low income people. While the government imposes the same rate on every taxpayer, the inequity lies in what is being taxed. Sales taxes apply to the purchase of retail goods, but not to most services purchased at retail. For instance, the sales tax does not apply to maid services, legal services, or even spa memberships. Because low income families purchase a much larger percentage of goods like food and clothing than services, the sales tax burdens them much more heavily. Conversely, families with a higher standard of living spend less of their income on goods and more on services. Maid services are a good example. The sales tax applies when you buy a vacuum cleaner but not when you hire someone to clean your house.[7] In addition, higher income households can more easily afford to save rather than consume, while low income families must use a larger portion of their income to meet their immediate needs.

A comparison of the incidence (burden on different income levels) of the property tax to the sales tax levels reveals that the sales tax indeed places a more disproportionate burden on low income families. The effect of the local sales tax can be seen more clearly in the chart above.

Because sales taxes are regressive, increasing local government reliance on them for revenue hits low income families harder. The Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy (ITEP) estimates that an increase in North Carolina's local sales tax would hit the least-affluent 20 percent of North Carolinians about three times as hard as the most-affluent 20 percent when viewed as a share of household income.[8]

If Food is Excluded, Would an Increase in Local Sales Tax, Be Less Regressive?

The same study by ITEP finds that removing food from the local option tax base would mitigate the impact on low income North Carolinians slightly. The tax would, however, still be more regressive than a property tax increase.[9] In the study, researchers modeled two versions of an increase in the local sales tax that would generate one billion dollars in revenue: one version with food included in the base and one version that did not. Removing food from the base does provide a 7.5 percent tax cut to those with incomes in the bottom 20 percent. However, the property tax burden is still distributed more equitably across income levels.

How Much do Local Governments Already Rely on Sales Tax for Revenue?

While North Carolina's reliance on sales taxes is about average at the state level, it is surprisingly high at the local level. In 1995-96, North Carolina ranked 12th in the percentage of local revenues derived from sales taxes.[10] Nationally, general sales taxes were 11 percent of total local government revenues compared to more than 19 percent in North Carolina, as shown by the chart at the top of page 3.[11] Local governments are already receiving a sizeable portion of the sales tax revenues. Increasing this amount would only exacerbate an imbalance in the tax structure.

North Carolina has lower per capita property tax collections than all but one of its bordering states. The state ranks 41st in per capita property tax collections and 30th in property tax as a percent of local revenue. The average per capita property tax for the nation is $789 compared to $472 in North Carolina, as shown in the chart at the bottom of page 3. This is 40 percent less than the national average.

It is also important to note that property tax rates have been declining in North Carolina in recent years. Generally, rates decreased between 1975 and 1988, increased over the period of 1988-94, and have dropped again between 1994-98, as shown at the top of page 5.[12] Therefore lower than average property tax rates are not only the product of failures to increase rates, but also political decisions to decrease rates.

Even compared to states in the Southeast, North Carolina has a relatively low local property tax and relatively high local sales tax. Were the state to adopt local option sales tax, North Carolina's balance of revenue sources might begin to mimic the heavy reliance on the sales tax of states like Alabama, Tennessee, and Louisiana where local governments have used their power to increase sales taxes.

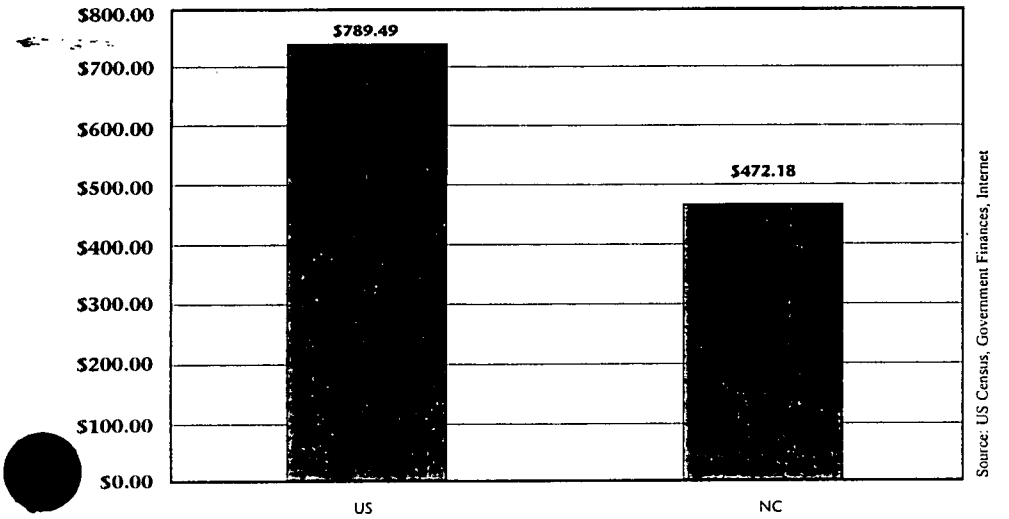
For instance, the combined state, county, and local sales tax rate is 9 percent in New Orleans, Louisiana, and Mobile, Alabama. Currently, cities and counties in North Carolina have the same combined state, county and local rate of 6 percent with the exception of Mecklenburg County which recently enacted an additional ½ cent sales tax earmarked for transit.[13] Alabama, Louisiana, and Tennessee are all on the "top ten list" of most regressive state and local tax systems.[14] Because, sales taxes disproportionately impact low income people, increasing North Carolina local governments' reliance on them will only increase the tax burden on the poor.

Overall, North Carolina taxes its citizens less heavily at the local level than the majority of other states. The state's local taxes rank 39th per capita, and 40th as a percent of income.[15] North Carolina maintains these rankings despite a heavier reliance on sales tax than local governments in most other states. Therefore, these low rankings are largely attributable to low property tax rates and absence of a local income tax - not low local sales tax rates.[16] Likewise, local tax cuts have not all been broadly shared.

Comparison of US vs. NC: Local Property Tax Per Capita, 1995-96



What is fiscal illusion and how does it affect taxpayers?

Sales tax (whether state or local) creates the "fiscal illusion" that the taxpayer is paying less because the amount paid is spread out over various purchases every day. States and localities across the country are shifting their tax systems increasingly toward sales because taxpayers are deceived by the sales tax structure. Though the dollars of sales taxes mount up, the taxpayer never receives an aggregate bill for the sales tax paid in a year. As a result, local governments insulate themselves from complaints like those made each year over income and property tax bills.

"Transparency" and "accountability" are two important qualities for all tax structures. Taxes should not be hidden; taxpayers should readily understand what they are paying in taxes and for what purposes to determine whether they are receiving appropriate government services. They should also know which politicians (federal, state or local) are accountable for changes in their tax policy so that they can communicate their feelings about the decisions. The sales tax fails on both counts: it is not transparent and it sidesteps accountability. The administration of the sales tax does not provide a taxpayer with adequate information to judge whether they are receiving their money's worth. Likewise, the manner in which lawmakers would vote for a local sales tax increase presents an opportunity for politicians to sidestep accountability. State lawmakers would argue that they voted merely to give local government the authority to increase taxes. Local lawmakers would argue that the state implied its consent for an increase when they gave local governments the power. In the end, taxpayers would not have a clear sense of who was responsible for the tax increase.[17]

Are there other policy considerations related to the local option sales tax?

Recently, the National Conference on State Legislatures (NCSL) prepared a report titled "Critical Issues in State and Local Finance: A Guide to the Local Option Taxes" which enumerates issues involved with adopting a local option tax.[18] In addition to their concerns about regressivity and imbalanced tax structures, NCSL identified other potential problems related to sales tax as an adequate revenue source. North Carolina lawmakers should think carefully about opening up the existing tax system to the potential problems NCSL identified:

1. Fiscal Inequities - Disparities in tax base among localities exist. Giving localities the authority to increase local sales tax opens the door to inequitable funding for local services. School funding is a familiar example of local tax base inequities and consequences for states. State governments have taken a larger role in education funding because some localities simply could not generate the revenue necessary from the local property tax base. North Carolina's state government, for instance, funds 67 percent of the K-12 education, compared with a national average of 48 percent.[19] Though the property taxes that fund education have received a great deal of attention, similar inequities exist in the revenues local sales taxes can generate. The revenues from counties with significant retail centers would dwarf what rural, agrarian counties could generate. As a result, local leaders would be forced to compete aggressively for retail business and make decisions that might not otherwise be in the public interest.

2. Limits state revenue options - Providing local governments with the option to increase sales taxes can mean that the state might forgo its option to increase taxes. In other words, when localities raise taxes, it raises the combined rate of state and local taxation, possibly limiting the state's ability to raise tax rates in the future. It can also restrict the state's ability to provide needed tax relief because local governments become reliant on the additional revenues. This was the case when North Carolina legislators agreed to repeal the state sales tax on food, but not the local portion of the tax.

3. Federal Refundability - While local sales tax is not deductible from federal income tax, local property taxes can be itemized. Lawmakers should consider this increase in federal tax liability for citizens if localities look to increase sales tax instead of property tax.

Conclusion and Options

Like the members of the General Assembly, local leaders in past years have been loath to increase taxes but willing to increase services and local government debt. In fact, local governments have reduced property tax rates over the last four years. When those factors converge, budget shortfalls are inevitable. With the pressure on local governments to pay for the increased demand for services, they are now looking to the most politically expedient but most unfair tax increase to solve their shortfall. The local option sales tax is questionable policy because it would not be equitable and makes government less accountable for the decision to raise taxes.

Lawmakers should look for ways to help local governments increase revenues while keeping the tax burden fairly distributed. Based on this analysis, it seems clear that an increase in the property tax could, in most counties, bring North Carolina up to levels consistent with its bordering states and would provide a more equitably distributed mix of taxes on the local level than an increase in local sales tax. The chart at bottom of page 5 shows how North Carolina compares to its neighbors. Broadening the sales tax base by closing certain loopholes might be another option to increase revenue for local governments if increasing property tax is politically infeasible.

If, however, local sales tax is increased, it will be important to provide low income individuals with some form of tax relief to compensate for the disproportionate share of taxes they are paying. A State Earned Income Tax Credit would provide the appropriate targeted relief to low income families. The State EITC would be funded by state resources and would, therefore, not drain resources away from the local governments that are in need of new revenue. In addition, the State could use excess welfare funds to pay for the refundable portion of the cost of a State EITC. In order to make fulltime work pay above the poverty threshold, the refundable EITC provides the taxpayer with the portion of the credit that exceeds tax liability as a refund. ❖

The General Assembly directed that some revenues from both of these ½ percent levies be directed to school construction and water and sewer projects for a period of years.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE PERMANENT REGISTRATION PLATES TO TRAILERS OWNED BY CHARITABLE ORGANIZATIONS AND USED ONLY IN PARADES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 20-84 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-84. Vehicles owned by State, municipalities or orphanages, etc.; certain vehicles operated by the local chapters of American National Red Cross.

The Division upon proper proof being filed with it that any motor vehicle for which registration is herein required is owned by the State or any department thereof, or by any county, township, city or town, or by any board of education, or by any orphanage or civil air patrol, or incorporated emergency rescue squad, or incorporated REACT ("Radio Emergency Association of Citizen Teams") Team, or for any motor vehicle involved exclusively in the support of a disaster relief effort, shall collect six dollars ($6.00) for the registration of such motor vehicles, but shall not collect any fee for application for certificate of title in the name of the State or any department thereof, or by any county, township, city or town, or by any board of education or orphanage: Provided, that the term "owned" shall be construed to mean that such motor vehicle is the actual property of the State or some department thereof or of the county, township, city or town, or of the board of education, and no motor vehicle which is the property of any officer or employee of any department named herein shall be construed as being "owned" by such department. Provided, that the above exemptions from registration fees shall also apply to any church-owned bus used exclusively for transporting children and parents to Sunday school and church services and for no other purpose.

In lieu of the annual six dollars ($6.00) registration provided for in this section, the Division may for the license year 1950 and thereafter provide for a permanent registration of the vehicles described in this section and issue permanent registration plates for such vehicles. The permanent registration plates issued pursuant to this paragraph shall be of a distinctive color and shall bear thereon the word "permanent." Such plates may be transferred as provided in G.S. 20-78 to a replacement vehicle of the same classification. For the permanent registration and issuance of permanent registration plates provided for in this paragraph, the Division shall collect a fee of six dollars ($6.00) for each vehicle so registered and licensed.

The provisions of this section are hereby made applicable to vehicles owned by a rural fire department, agency or association.

The Division of Motor Vehicles shall issue to the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, Incorporated, or any local chapter or association of said corporation, for a fee of six dollars ($6.00) for each plate a permanent registration plate which need not be thereafter renewed for each motor vehicle in the form of a mobile X-ray unit which is owned by said North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, Incorporated, or any local chapter or local association thereof and operated exclusively in this State for the purpose of diagnosis, treatment and discovery of tuberculosis. The initial six dollars ($6.00) fee required by this section and for this purpose shall be in full payment of the permanent registration plates issued for such vehicle operated as a mobile X-ray unit, and such plates need not thereafter be renewed, and such plates may be transferred as provided in G.S. 20-78 to replacement vehicles to be used for the purposes above described and for which the plates were originally issued.

The Division of Motor Vehicles shall issue to the American National Red Cross, upon application of any local chapter thereof and payment of a fee of six dollars ($6.00) for each plate, a permanent registration plate, which need not be thereafter renewed, for all disaster vans, bloodmobiles, handivans, and such sedans and station wagons as are used for emergency or disaster work, and operated by a local chapter in this State in the business of the American National Red Cross. Such plates may be transferred as provided in G.S. 20-78 to a replacement vehicle to be used for the purposes above described and for which the plates were originally issued. In the event of transfer of ownership to any other person, firm or corporation, or transfer or reassignment of any vehicle bearing such registration plate to any chapter or association of the American National Red Cross in any other state, territory or country, the registration plate assigned to such vehicle shall be surrendered to the Division of Motor Vehicles.

In lieu of all other registration requirements, the Commissioner shall each year assign to the State Highway Patrol, upon payment of six dollars ($6.00) per registration plate, a sufficient number of regular registration plates of the same letter prefix and in numerical sequence beginning with number 100 to meet the requirements of the State Highway Patrol for use on Division vehicles assigned to the State Highway Patrol. The commander of the Patrol shall, when such plates are assigned, issue to each member of the State Highway Patrol a registration plate for use upon the Division vehicle assigned to him pursuant to G.S. 20-190 and assign a registration plate to each Division service vehicle operated by the Patrol. An index of such assignments of registration plates shall be kept at each State Highway Patrol radio station and a copy thereof shall be furnished to the registration division of the Division. Information as to the individual assignments of such registration plates shall be made available to the public upon request to the same extent and in the same manner as regular registration information. The commander, when necessary, may reassign registration plates provided that such reassignment shall be made to appear upon the index required herein within 20 days after such reassignment.

The Division of Motor Vehicles shall, upon appropriate certification of financial responsibility, issue to sheltered workshops recognized or approved by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services and to public and nonprofit agencies or organizations which provide transportation for or operate programs subject to and approved in accordance with standards adopted by the Commission for Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services of the Department of Health and Human Services upon application and payment of a fee of six dollars ($6.00) for each plate, a permanent registration plate for vehicles registered to and operated by such agencies. The initial six dollars ($6.00) fee required by this section and for this purpose shall be in full payment of the permanent registration plate issued for such vehicle operated by a sheltered workshop and such plates need not thereafter be renewed, and such plates may be transferred as provided in G.S. 20-78 to a replacement vehicle to be used by the sheltered workshop designated on the registration card.

On and after January 1, 1972, permanent registration plates used on all vehicles owned by the State of North Carolina or a department thereof shall be of a distinctive color and design which shall be readily distinguishable from all other permanent registration plates issued pursuant to this section or G.S. 20-84.1. For the purpose of carrying out the intent of this paragraph, all vehicles owned by the State of North Carolina or a department thereof in operation as of October 1, 1971, and bearing a permanent registration shall be reregistered during the months of October, November and December, 1971, and upon reregistration, registration plates issued for such vehicles shall be of a distinctive color and design as provided for hereinabove.

The Division of Motor Vehicles shall issue to any nationally chartered charitable organization, upon application of any local North Carolina chapter of that organization and payment of a fee of six dollars ($6.00) for each plate, a permanent registration plate, which need not be renewed, for all trailers that are used only for parade floats and for transporting vehicles and structures used only in parades. These plates may be transferred as provided in G.S. 20-78 to a replacement vehicle to be used for the purposes above described and for which the plates were originally issued. In the event of transfer of ownership to any other person, firm, or corporation, or transfer or reassignment of any vehicle bearing the permanent registration plate to any chapter or association of the charitable organization in any other state, territory or country, the registration plate assigned to that vehicle shall be surrendered to the Division of Motor Vehicles."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 486:
Parade Trailers -- Permanent Plates

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: March 30, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Moore
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 486 would authorize the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a permanent registration plate for trailers owned by a nationally chartered charitable organization and used only for parade floats and for transporting vehicles and structures used only in parades. The cost of the plate would be six dollars ($6.00). The bill would become effective when the act becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: The registration fee for a trailer is $10.00. The fee is payable on or before January 1 of each year. The Division may issue a multiyear plate and registration card for a trailer for a fee of $75.00. The multiyear plate may not be transferred to a replacement vehicle.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 486 would authorize the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a permanent registration plate to a nationally chartered charitable organization for a trailer the organization owns and uses only for parade floats and for transporting vehicles and structures used only in parades. The Shriners appear to be the major organization that would benefit from this legislation. The cost of the permanent registration plate would be $6.00. The permanent plates could be transferred to another trailer that is bought to replace the one for which the plate was originally issued, so long as the use of the trailer is restricted to parades.

BACKGROUND: The Division is currently authorized to issue permanent registration plates to a variety of organizations. The cost of the plate is $6.00. The organizations entitled to a permanent $6.00 plate include:

- State and local governments.
- Orphanage.
- Civil air patrol.
- Incorporated emergency rescue squads.
- Incorporated Radio Emergency Association of Citizen Teams.
- Church owned buses used exclusively for transporting children and parents to Sunday school and church services.
- Rural fire departments.
- North Carolina Tuberculosis Association mobile X-ray units operated exclusively in this State for the purpose of diagnosis, treatment, and discovery of tuberculosis.

- American National Red Cross for disaster vans, bloodmobiles, handivans, and other vehicles used for emergency or disaster work.
- City buses and trackless trolleys.
- Sheltered workshops recognized or approved by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services and to public and nonprofit agencies or organizations that provide transportation for or operate programs subject to and approved in accordance with standards adopted by the Commission of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services of the Department of Health and Human Services.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The statute amended by the bill, G.S. 20-84, was originally written in 1937. It has been amended many times. Many of the paragraphs repeat the same general information, such as fee and transferability, for each entity entitled to a permanent plate. The statute could be rewritten to consolidate the general provisions and to list the entites entitled to a permanent plate.

BILL SUMMARY: DMV will make permanent registration plates available to nationally chartered charitable organizations, at a fee of $6.00, for all trailers that are used only for parade floats and for transporting vehicles and structures used only in parades.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Shriners appear to be the major organization that would be affected by this legislation and the three main Temples in North Carolina have a total of approximately 38 trailers that would qualify. For these trailers the annual fee of $10 would become a one time fee of $6. The loss in revenue would be $4 per trailer in the first year and $10 per trailer in subsequent years.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO INCREASE THE EXAMINATION FEES COLLECTED UNDER THE COSMETIC ART ACT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 88B-20(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The Board may charge examination fees as follows:

Section 2. This act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

SENATE BILL 29:
Cosmetology Fees

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: March 30, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Sen. Kerr
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 29 would increase the examination fees the Cosmetology Board may charge applicants who wish to become licensed as cosmetologists, apprentices, manicurist, estheticians, and teachers. The bill would become effective July 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: The North Carolina Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners has requested that the fees it may charge for examinations be increased because the expense of giving the examinations has become greater than the revenues generated by the examination fees. The increased fee amounts would bring the examination fees imposed by the Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners more in line with the examination fees collected by the State Board of Barber Examiners. That Board currently collects a $50 fee for examinations to become a registered barber or registered apprentice barber and $95 for the examination to become a barber school instructor.

The examination fees for cosmetologists and manicurists were last increased from $10 to $20 in 1995. The examination fee for a teacher was established in 1995 at $25. The fee increases proposed by Senate Bill 29 are as follows:

Examination	Current Fee	Proposed Fee
Cosmetologist	$20.00	$50.00
Apprentice	$5.00	$50.00
Manicurist	$15.00	$50.00
Esthetician	$20.00	$50.00
Teacher	$25.00	$50.00

BACKGROUND: Last year the General Assembly rewrote the Cosmetic Art Act. The major changes in the Act included the requirement for licensure of all manicurists and manicure shops, creation of a separate license for estheticians (persons licensed to practice skin care), setting out statutory standards for teachers, easing the requirements for obtaining a license when one is licensed in another state, and the application of late penalties to all licenses. SL 1998-230 did not increase the examination fees for cosmetologists, apprentices, manicurists, or teachers.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: NC Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The act increases the examination fees for cosmetologists, manicurists, estheticians, and teachers.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The NC Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners estimates that 6,200 exams are given each year. The chart below shows the number of exams per profession, current exam fees, proposed exam fees, and anticipated revenues.

	Annual Exams	Current Exam Fee	Current Estimated Revenue	Proposed Exam Fee	Proposed Estimated Revenue	Annual Revenue Gain
Cosmetologist	2,280	$20	$45,600	$50	$114,000	$68,400
Apprentice	1,320	$5	$6,600	$50	$66,000	$59,400
Manicurist	2,220	$15	$33,300	$50	$111,000	$77,700
Esthetician	200	$20	$4,000	$50	$10,000	$6,000
Teacher	180	$25	$4,500	$50	$9,000	$4,500
Total	6,200		$94,000		$310,000	$216,000

The Board proposes to increase each exam fee to $50. Based on the current volume of business, the increased exam fees will yield $216,000 in additional revenue each year. Also, there will be a revenue windfall in FY 1999-2000, because a statute change in 1998 requires 3,000 to 4,000 existing manicurists to be licensed in 1999. Assuming 3,500 manicurists take the exam this fall, the fee increase from $15 to $50 will generate $122,500 in FY 1999-2000.

Fund Balance

The Board provided the General Assembly's Fiscal Research Division its 1998 financial statement showing a June 30, 1998 fund balance of $458,802.70. The Board also provided a "Cash Balance Forecast" that predicts the following fund balances:

June 1999	$1,281,088
June 2000	$626,416
June 2001	-$72,280

The 1999 balance is high due to the renewal of cosmetology licenses in 1998-99. These licenses are $39 and are renewed every three years. The Board uses these fees, along with annual renewals for other professions, to fund its annual budget. Without the recommended exam fee increases, the Board projects that it will not be able to cover current expenses in 2001.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR CODE-ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS, TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF FUNDS FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE FUND FOR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF CODE-ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS, AND TO APPROPRIATE FUNDS FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE FUND FOR THAT PURPOSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 9C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-151.13A. Professional development program for officials.

(a) As used in this section, 'official' means a qualified Code-enforcement official, as defined in G.S. 143-151.8.

(b) The Board may establish professional development requirements for officials as a condition of the renewal or reactivation of their certificates. The purposes of these professional development requirements are to assist officials in maintaining professional competence in their enforcement of the Code and to assure the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of North Carolina. An official subject to this section shall present evidence to the Board at each certificate renewal after initial certification, that during the 12 months before the certificate expiration date, the official has completed the required number of credit hours in courses approved by the Board. Annual continuing education hour requirements shall be determined by the Board, but shall not be more than six credit hours.

(c) The Board may require an individual who earns a standard certificate under the prequalification program established in G.S. 143-151.13(d) to complete professional development courses, not to exceed six hours in each technical area of certification, within one year after that individual is first employed by a city or county inspection department.

(d) As a condition of reactivating a standard or limited certificate, the Board may require the completion of professional development courses within one year after reemployment as an official as follows:

(1) An individual who has been on inactive status for more than two years and who has not been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status shall complete professional development courses not to exceed 12 hours for each technical area in which the individual is certified.

(2) An individual who has been on inactive status for more than two years but who has been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status shall complete professional development courses not to exceed six hours for each technical area in which the individual is certified.

(3) An individual who has been on inactive status for two years or less and who has been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status shall complete professional development courses not to exceed four hours for each technical area in which the individual is certified.

(e) The Board may, for good cause shown, grant extensions of time to officials to comply with these requirements. An official who, after obtaining an extension under this subsection, offers evidence satisfactory to the Board that the official has satisfactorily completed the required professional development courses, is in compliance with this section.

(f) The Board may adopt rules to give purpose and effect to the professional development requirements, including rules that govern:

(1) The content and subject matter of professional development courses.

(2) The criteria, standards, and procedures for the approval of courses, course sponsors, and course instructors.

(3) The methods of instruction.

(4) The computation of course credit.

(5) The ability to carryforward course credit from one year to another.

(6) The waiver of or variance from the professional development requirement for hardship or other reasons.

(7) The procedures for compliance and sanctions for noncompliance."

Section 2. G.S. 58-6-25(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Use of Proceeds. -- The Insurance Regulatory Fund is created in the State treasury, under the control of the Office of State Budget and Management. The proceeds of the charge levied in this section and all fees collected under Articles 69 through 71 of this Chapter and under Articles 9 and 9C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes shall be credited to the Fund. The Fund shall be placed in an interest-bearing account and any interest or other income derived from the Fund shall be credited to the Fund. Moneys in the Fund may be spent only pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly and in accordance with the line item budget enacted by the General Assembly. The Fund is subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act, except that no unexpended surplus of the Fund shall revert to the General Fund. All money credited to the Fund shall be used to reimburse the General Fund for the following:

(1) Money appropriated to the Department of Insurance to pay its expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry and other industries in this State.

(2) Money appropriated to State agencies to pay the expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry, in certifying statewide data processors under Article 11A of Chapter 131E of the General Statutes, and in purchasing reports of patient data from statewide data processors certified under that Article.

(3) Money appropriated to the Department of Revenue to pay the expenses incurred in collecting and administering the taxes on insurance companies levied in Article 8B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(4) Money appropriated to the Department of Insurance for the Code-enforcement officials professional development requirements under G.S. 143-151.13A."

Section 3. There is appropriated from the Department of Insurance Fund, established in G.S. 58-6-25, to the Department of Insurance the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year for the Code Officials Qualification Board for the purpose of developing and implementing the Code officials professional development program established in G.S. 143-151.13A.

Section 4. Section 1 of this act applies to certificates issued or renewed on and after October 1, 1999. Section 3 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999. The appropriation in Section 3 of this act is contingent upon the implementation of the program by the Code Officials Qualification Board and may be used only for the purpose of developing and implementing the program. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 312

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR CODE-ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS AND FEES TO ADMINISTER THE PROGRAM, TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF FUNDS FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE FUND FOR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF CODE-ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS, AND TO APPROPRIATE FUNDS FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE FUND FOR THAT PURPOSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 9C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-151.13A. Professional development program for officials.

(a) As used in this section, 'official' means a qualified Code-enforcement official, as defined in G.S. 143-151.8.

(b) The Board may establish professional development requirements for officials as a condition of the renewal or reactivation of their certificates. The purposes of these professional development requirements are to assist officials in maintaining professional competence in their enforcement of the Code and to assure the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of North Carolina. An official subject to this section shall present evidence to the Board at each certificate renewal after initial certification, that during the 12 months before the certificate expiration date, the official has completed the required number of credit hours in courses approved by the Board. Annual continuing education hour requirements shall be determined by the Board, but shall not be more than six credit hours.

(c) The Board may establish nonrefundable fees not to exceed twenty-five dollars ($25.00) to be paid to the Board by officials who are required to comply with this section or by course vendors. The purpose of the fees is to offset the cost of additional staff and resources to administer the program authorized by this section. To assure continued and proper administration of the program, any unexpended revenue from the fees shall not revert to the General Fund.

(d) The Board may adopt rules to give purpose and effect to the professional development requirements, including rules that govern:

(1) The content and subject matter of professional development courses.

(2) The criteria, standards, and procedures for the approval of courses, course sponsors, and course instructors.

(3) The methods of instruction.

(4) The computation of course credit.

(5) The ability to carry forward course credit from one year to another.

(6) The waiver of or variance from the professional development requirement for hardship or other reasons.

(7) The procedures for compliance and sanctions for noncompliance.

(e) The certificate of any official who fails to comply with the professional development requirements under this section shall lapse. The Board may, for good cause shown, grant extensions of time to officials to comply with these requirements.

(f) Any official who, after obtaining an extension under subsection (d) of this section, offers evidence satisfactory to the Board that the official has satisfactorily completed the required professional development courses, is in compliance with this section.

(g) The Board may require an individual who earns a standard certificate under the prequalification program established in G.S. 143-151.13(d) to complete professional development courses, not to exceed six hours in each technical area of certification, within one year after that individual is first employed by a city or county inspection department.

(h) As a condition of reactivating a standard or limited certificate, the Board may require the completion of professional development courses within one year after reemployment as an official as follows:

(1) An individual who has been on inactive status for more than two years and who has not been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status shall complete professional development courses not to exceed 12 hours for each technical area in which the individual is certified.

(2) An individual who has been on inactive status for more than two years but who has been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status shall complete professional development courses not to exceed six hours for each technical area in which the individual is certified.

(3) An individual who has been on inactive status for two years or less and who has been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status shall complete professional development courses not to exceed four hours for each technical area in which the individual is certified."

Section 2. G.S. 58-6-25(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Use of Proceeds. -- The Insurance Regulatory Fund is created in the State treasury, under the control of the Office of State Budget and Management. The proceeds of the charge levied in this section and all fees collected under Articles 69 through 71 of this Chapter and under Articles 9 and 9C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes shall be credited to the Fund. The Fund shall be placed in an interest-bearing account and any interest or other income derived from the Fund shall be credited to the Fund. Moneys in the Fund may be spent only pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly and in accordance with the line item budget enacted by the General Assembly. The Fund is subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act, except that no unexpended surplus of the Fund shall revert to the General Fund. All money credited to the Fund shall be used to reimburse the General Fund for the following:

(1) Money appropriated to the Department of Insurance to pay its expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry and other industries in this State.

(2) Money appropriated to State agencies to pay the expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry, in certifying statewide data processors under Article 11A of Chapter 131E of the General Statutes, and in purchasing reports of patient data from statewide data processors certified under that Article.

(3) Money appropriated to the Department of Revenue to pay the expenses incurred in collecting and administering the taxes on insurance companies levied in Article 8B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(4) Money appropriated to the Department of Insurance for the Code-enforcement officials professional development requirements under G.S. 143-151.13A."

Section 3. The North Carolina Code Officials Qualification Board may adopt temporary rules to implement this act as a recent act of the General Assembly under G.S. 150B-21.1(a)(2).

Section 4. There is appropriated from the Department of Insurance Fund, established in G.S. 58-6-25, to the Department of Insurance the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year for the Code Officials Qualification Board for the purpose of developing and implementing the Code officials professional development program established in G.S. 143-151.13A.

Section 5. Section 5 of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999, only if the Code Officials Qualification Board establishes the program authorized in Section 1 of this act prior to the ratification date of an act of the General Assembly appropriating the funds. The remainder of this act becomes effective when it becomes law. Section 1 of this act applies to licenses applied for or renewed on or after October 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 312:
Code Officials Professionalism/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Gibson
Date:	April 1, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition		Committee Counsel
	H312-PCS2174-RB

SUMMARY: House Bill 312 would allow the North Carolina Code Officials Qualification Board to establish a program of continuing education for those people who are certified by the Board to enforce the North Carolina State Building Code. The proposed committee substitute removes the fee provisions. The bill becomes effective for certificates issued or renewed on and after October 1, 1999. The bill will need to be re-referred to appropriations.

CURRENT LAW: A person must be certified by the North Carolina Code Officials Qualification Board before the person may enforce the North Carolina Building Code. There are different certificates issued for various levels and classes of buildings and structures. Code enforcement includes examining and approving plans and specifications, inspecting construction, workmanship, and materials used in the construction of buildings, and enforcing the fire code regulations. Most, if not all, of these code officials are employed by city and county inspection departments. The fee to obtain a certificate may not exceed $20.00. The certificate must be renewed on or before July 1 of each year. To renew a certificate, a person must pay a renewal fee. The fee for renewal may not exceed $10.00. The revenue generated by the fees is credited to the Department of Insurance Fund.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 312 would establish continuing education courses as a prerequisite to certificate renewal. The Board would establish the number of credit hours needed to renew a certificate. The bill provides that the number of credit hours required each year could not exceed six hours.

The bill also allows the Board to require a person who earns a standard certificate under the prequalification program to complete up to six hours of courses in professional development, in each technical area of certification, within one year after the person is first employed by a city or county inspection department. The prequalification program allows a person who is newly hired or newly promoted to a position that requires a standard certification to perform the job without the standard certificate. The Board issues the person a probationary or temporary certificate. The Board may issue these certificates for a period up to three years and it may place whatever special conditions or requirements on the certificate that it deems necessary to protect the public safety and health.

Lastly, the bill allows the Board to require the completion of professional development courses as a condition of reactivating a standard or limited certificate. A person has one year to complete the courses after being reemployed as a Code official. The number of hours the person will need to complete varies depending upon how long the person has been on an inactive status and whether the person has been continuously employed by a city or county inspection department during the period of inactive status.

The Department of Insurance plans to finance the professional development program through appropriations from the Department of Insurance Fund. Section 2 of the bill authorizes money in the Fund to be used for this purpose. Section 3 of the bill appropriates $100,000 from the Department of Insurance Fund to the Department of Insurance for the 1999-2000 fiscal year to be used to develop and implement the Code officials professional development program. This section of the bill becomes effective July 1, 1999.

SENATE BILL 269:
Huntersville Satellite Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: April 1, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Sen. Odom
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 269 authorizes the Town of Huntersville to make certain voluntary satellite annexations that it would not otherwise be able to make. House Bill 377, the Senate's companion bill, is also in the House Finance Committee. Rep. Saunders introduced House Bill 377. It received a favorable report from the Local Government I Committee. The bill becomes effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 160A-58.1 governs the voluntary annexation of noncontiguous property. Property owners may petition a city for voluntary annexation of noncontiguous property if the property meets all of the following standards.

1. The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than 3 miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
2. No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
3. The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.
4. If the area proposed for annexation is a subdivision, all of the subdivision must be included.
5. The area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 269 modifies the first, second, and fourth standards for the Town of Huntersville so that it may annex property that meets the following standards:

1. The proposed area to be annexed may be more than 3 miles from the primary corporate limits of Huntersville if it is located within the same county as Huntersville and another city has agreed not to annex the area or has agreed to give Huntersville the right to annex.
2. The proposed area to be annexed may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the limits of Huntersville if either the other city has agreed not to annex the proposed area and the area is within the same county as Huntersville or the closer city is located entirely within another county than the proposed area being annexed.
3. If the proposed area to be annexed includes a subdivision or a portion of a subdivision, then only that portion of the subdivision located in the same county as Huntersville must be included in the annexation.

The bill does not release the proposed satellite annexation from meeting the other two standards listed in G.S. 160A-58.1(b).

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATION: The Town of Huntersville attorney requested that the bill be amended on Page 1, line 13, to limit the applicability of the bill to agreements between towns in Mecklenburg County. The House Local Government I Committee made this change in the House bill.

This summary was contributed to by Martha Walston.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF HUNTERSVILLE TO PROVIDE FOR VOLUNTARY ANNEXATION OF PROPERTY SUBJECT TO PRESENT-USE VALUE APPRAISAL.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 160A-31 is amended by adding new subsections to read:

"(e1) Notwithstanding subsection (e) of this section, an annexation becomes effective as to the property pursuant to subsection (e2) if an area described in the annexation petition and ordinance includes agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland, that on the effective date of annexation is:

(1) Land that is being taxed at present-use value pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4; or

(2) Land that:

a. Was on the date of the filing of the petition for annexation being used for actual production and is eligible for present-use value taxation under G.S. 105-277.4, but the land has not been in use for actual production for the required time under G.S. 105-277.3; and

b. The assessor for the county where the land subject to annexation is located has certified to the city that the land meets the requirements of this subdivision.

(e2) Annexation of property subject to annexation under subsection (e1) of this section shall become effective as to each tract of such property or such part thereof on the last day of the month in which that tract or part thereof becomes ineligible for classification pursuant to G.S. 105-227.4 and no longer meets the requirements of subdivision (e1)(2) of this section. Until annexation of a tract or a part of a tract becomes effective pursuant to this subsection, the tract or part of a tract is not subject to taxation by the city under Article 12 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, nor is the tract or part of the tract entitled to services provided by the city. When annexation becomes effective pursuant to this subsection as to a tract or part of a tract, the city shall provide all required services upon payment of city taxes.

(e3) The boundaries of the property prior to the effective date under subsection (e2) of this section shall be considered as primary corporate limits only (i) for the purpose of establishing city boundaries for additional annexations pursuant to this Article and (ii) for the exercise of city authority pursuant to Article 19 of this Chapter."

Section 2. This act applies to the Town of Huntersville only.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 270:
Huntersville Voluntary Annexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Odom
Date:	April 1, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	3rd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 270 would allow Huntersville to annex property subject to present use value classification upon a petition of the property owners. Unlike general law, this bill would allow the annexation to become effective at whatever point in time the property becomes ineligible for present use value classification. However, for purposes of the Town's extraterritorial jurisdiction and other annexing proceedings, the property would be considered part of the Town's primary corporate limits. The act becomes effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: The law provides that a municipality may annex by ordinance any area contiguous to its boundaries upon presentation to the governing board of a petition signed by the owners of all the real property located in the area. The annexation must become effective within six months from the date of the passage of the ordinance. From and after the effective date of the ordinance, the property becomes subject to municipal taxes and the municipality must offer the area the same privileges and benefits as other parts of the municipality receive.

A municipality may annex property that is not contiguous with its primary corporate limits if five different standards are met. Two of the five standards concern the proximity of the property proposed to be annexed to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. One of the five standards provides that the area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, does not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

A municipality may annex property involuntarily if several different requirements are met. One of the requirements concerns the location of the property in relationship to the municipality's existing corporate boundaries: the area proposed to be annexed must be adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries and at least 1/8 of the aggregate external boundaries of the area must coincide with the municipal boundary.

Article 19 of the Chapter 160A of the General Statutes allows a municipality to enact zoning restrictions within its corporate limits. In addition, any municipality may exercise these same powers within a defined area extending not more than one mile beyond its limits. This is commonly known as the municipality's extraterritorial jurisdiction (ETJ). With the approval of the board of county commissioners, a municipality with a population greater than 10,000 but less than 25,000 may expand its ETJ to two miles beyond its corporate limits; a municipality with a population of 25,000 or more may expand its ETJ to three miles beyond its corporate limits.

Article V, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution authorizes the General Assembly to classify property for taxation, so long as the classification is uniform throughout the State. In 1973, the General Assembly classified agricultural land, forestland, and horticultural land as a special class of property. To come within the classification, the property must meet certain ownership, usage, and income requirements. If the property comes within the classification, it is taxed on its present-use value as opposed to its true value. Present-use value is the value of the land in its current use as farmland.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 270 would change the current law concerning annexation by petition for the Town of Huntersville. Under the bill, the effective date of an annexation ordinance could be at an indeterminable point in time in the future, as opposed to within six months after the passage of the annexation ordinance. The property in the annexation petition would not be subject to municipal taxes nor would it be entitled to municipal service until the effective date of the annexation. However, the property would be considered part of the municipality's primary corporate limits as of the effective date of the ordinance for purposes of establishing the Town's boundaries for additional annexations and its ETJ.

To come within the exception created by this local act, the property must be one of two types of property:

1. It must be currently classified as farmland and taxed at its present-use value.
2. It must be land that, on the date of the filing of the annexation petition, is being used for farm purposes and is eligible for the present-use value taxation except that it has not been in use for actual production for the required statutory time. The county tax assessor must certify that the land meets this requirement.

Annexation of the present-use value property described above becomes effective on the last day of the month in which the property no longer meets the above descriptions. Prior to the effective date of annexation, the boundaries of this property would be considered in establishing the primary corporate limits of Huntersville for the purposes of additional annexations and the Town's ETJ limits.

If the property in the annexation ordinance was determined to be part of the Town's corporate limits for all purposes on the date the ordinance was adopted, then the bill would probably be considered unconstitutional because it is a local classification of property for purposes of taxation. Such local, non-uniform, classifications of property are prohibited by Article V, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution. The classification that would be created by the local act is the exemption from municipal property taxes in the Town of Huntersville of present-use value property. However, if the bill was seen as creating a condition precedent to annexation, then the bill would probably withstand constitutional challenge. The condition precedent to annexation established in the bill is the taxable status of certain land – when the property currently classified as farmland no longer meets that property tax classification.

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Thursday, April 8, 1999

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, April 8, 1999 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building at 8:30 a.m. The following members were present: Chairs Allen, Luebke, Miller; Vice Chair Jarrell; Representatives, Bridgeman, Brown, Buchanan, Capps, Church, Cox, Cunningham, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Goodwin, Gray, Hackney, Hill, McCombs, Morris, Mosley, Rayfield, Tucker, Womble. Staff including Cindy Avrette, Richard Bostic, and Linda Millsaps were in attendance. A Visitor Registration List is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Chair Luebke called the meeting to order to consider the following bills:

Senator Kerr was recognized to explain SB 29, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO INCREASE THE EXAMINATION FEES COLLECTED UNDER THE COSMETIC ART ACT. Rep. Womble expressed his concerns over the fee increase. The Chair recognized Mr. Doug Van Essen, the Director of the Cosmetology Board and Ms. Bernetta Smith, the Operations Officer for the Cosmetology Board. Mr. Van Essen and Ms. Smith supported the bill and responded to committee members' questions. Rep. Hill moved for a favorable report, but was not voted on. Rep. Cunningham sent forward an amendment which amended p.1, line 12 by deleting "July 1, 1999" and substituting "July 1, 2000". The amendment was accepted. Rep. Hill moved to roll the amendment into the Proposed Committee Substitute and report the Proposed Committee Substitute as favorable and unfavorable as to original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the original Bill, Committee Substitute, Cunningham's amendment, Bill Analysis, Fiscal Note, and Cosmetology Board handouts are included in the Minutes.

Representative Daughtry was recognized to explain HB 648, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REVISE AND CONSOLIDATE THE CHARTER OF THE TOWN OF BENSON. Rep. Daughtry stated the town manager and attorney of Benson were present and that he knew of no opposition to HB 648. Rep. Brown moved to give the Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report and unfavorable as to original bill. The motion passed. The Committee Substitute rewrites Article IX of Section 1 of the bill. Copies of the original Bill and Committee Substitute are included in the Minutes.

Representative Crawford was recognized to explain HB 105, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO CREATE THE BUTNER ADVISORY COUNCIL AND TO ALLOW CERTAIN FEES TO BE PLACED IN A SPECIAL FUND FOR THE BUTNER PUBLIC SAFETY DIVISION. Rep. Crawford explained the uniqueness of Butner, including that it is owned by the State of North Carolina and is controlled by the Department of Human Resources. It has sixteen institutions, including mental institutions and federal prisons. Butner has a population of about 5,000 people and 5,000 to 6,000 more people in the institutions. Cindy Avrette, of the Research Staff, explained that the Proposed Committee Substitute makes three substantive changes:

1. Repeals the appointed council when the elected council comes into being.

2. Clarifies that one of the powers of the board would be to submit names from which the town manager would be selected when there is a vacancy in that position.
3. In the part creating the special fund, the PCS clarified what tax is meant. It is a tax the General Assembly enacted in 1983 on the residents of Butner of twenty cents.

Rep. Allen made a motion for a favorable report, but not voted on. Rep. Womble asked what problems the United States Justice Department had with Butner's election of the Advisory Council in 1997? Rep. Luebke answered that staff said the legal point was that Granville County was under the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Therefore, any new electoral process in Granville County has to be precleared through the Justice Dept. This time Butner will get clearance from the Justice Dept, before Butner sets up an election. Rep. Womble pointed out that the bill analysis stated that the U.S. Dept. of Justice found that the 1995 method of at-large elections with staggered terms violated the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Cindy Avrette explained that in 1995 the election was seven at-large positions. Later the U.S. Justice Department said it felt that the at large electoral process violated the Voting Rights Act because of potential polarized voting patterns that occur in Granville County. However the people of Butner, including the current advisory committee, believe that with more information the Justice Dept. may come to a different conclusion. This information includes the true figures of the small population, because when the Justice Dept originally looked at this, the population figures it considered included the people in the institutions as well as the residents of Butner. Also, the fact that there are no towns in Granville County with districts, etc., may result in a different conclusion from the Justice Dept. The bill before the Committee specifies that there can be no election until this matter has been pre-cleared through the Justice Department. Cindy affirmatively confirmed to Rep. Womble's question that when this bill is passed, it would have to be cleared before the Justice Department. Rep. Crawford answered Rep. Jarrell's question regarding the organization of the Butner community. The Chair recognized Mr. Tom McGee, the Butner Town Manager, as supporting HB 105. Rep. Allen moved to report the Proposed Committee Substitute as favorable and the original bill as unfavorable. The motion passed. Copies of original Bill, Proposed Committee Substitute, and Bill Analysis are included in the Minutes.

Representative Culpepper was recognized to explain HB 301, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AMEND THE EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR AUCTIONEERS, APPRENTICE AUCTIONEERS, AND PRINCIPALS IN AN AUCTION FIRM. Rep. Buchanan moved to adopt the Proposed Committee Substitute for adoption. The motion passed. The Proposed Committee Substitute updates and rewords the Auctioneer Commission's powers and duties, allows the Auctioneer Commission to assess a civil penalty for prohibited acts, allows the Auctioneer Commission to conduct criminal history record check of applicants for licensure, changes the education requirements to require a high school diploma, rewords several sections, allows the Auctioneer Commission to require annual education requirements, increases the Fund's amount, and increases fees.

Rep. Hackney sent forward three amendments. The first amendment moved to amend the bill on page 3, lines 42-43 by rewriting the lines (see attached amendment #1). The second amendment moved to amend the bill on page 4, line 34 by adding a section (see attached amendment #2). The third amendment moved to amend the bill on page 11, line 32 (see attached amendment #3). The amendments were adopted. The Chair recognized Mr. Bill Forbes, the chairman of the North Carolina Auctioneers Association, who answered committee members' questions. The Chair recognized Jeff Gray, the attorney for the Auctioneers Licensing Board, who offered a definition of the term "moral turpitude" for the members. Rep. Goodwin moved to roll the amendments into a Committee Substitute and vote as favorable, and unfavorable as to original bill. Copies of the original Bill, Committee Substitute, Hackney's three amendments, Bill Analysis, Fiscal Note, and handout from the Auctioneers Association of North Carolina are included in the Minutes.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:50 a.m.

Respectfully submitted:

HOUSE BILL 105:
Butner Community Governance

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Crawford; and Allen
Date:	April 8, 1999	Summary by:	Mary Shuping, Research Asst.
Version:	Proposed Comm. Sub: H105-PCSSC-001		Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 105 establishes the Butner Advisory Council as an elected body. The Council will advise the Secretary of Health and Human Services on the operations of the Camp Butner reservation and the concerns of its residents. House Bill 105 also provides that the public safety fees currently assessed will be placed in a special fund to be used by the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety to fund the Butner Public Safety Division.

CURRENT LAW: Butner is a community located in parts of Granville and Durham Counties. Several State institutions under the Department of Health and Human Services are located in Butner. The Camp Butner reservation, as it is commonly known, is administered primarily by the Secretary of Health and Human Services. The Secretary has many of the powers given to cities and towns in Chapter 160A of the General Statutes. To give the residents of Butner a voice in the decision making process, the General Assembly created the Butner Planning Council. The council consists of seven members: 3 appointed by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and 4 appointed by the Granville County Board of Commissioners. The council advises the Secretary on the operations of Butner through the adoption of resolutions and recommends candidates to the Secretary for the position of Butner Town Manager. The council may only advise the Secretary.

The Secretary of Crime Control and Public Safety is authorized to employ special police officers for Butner, and also directed to establish an emergency management agency for Butner under the NC Emergency Management Act. To help pay for these services, the General Assembly created the Butner Police and Fire Protection District in 1983 and imposed a tax of 20 cents per $100.00 valuation of all real and personal property in the district. Durham and Granville Counties collect the tax and remit the proceeds to the State Treasurer, who credits the revenue to the General Fund. In 1987, the General Assembly authorized the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety to contract with industries in the vicinity of Butner to provide fire protection services. The contracts must provide for a payment equal to 20 cents per $100.00 assessed valuation. Through the appropriations process, money is appropriated to the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety to fund the Butner Public Safety Division.

BILL ANALYSIS AND BACKGROUND: House Bill 105 reestablishes the Butner Advisory Council as an elected body, as opposed to an appointed body. The 1995 General Assembly provided for the election of council members (SL 95-667). The election was held on November 5, 1996. In February of 1997, the U.S. Department of Justice found that the method of at-large elections with staggered terms violated the Voting Rights Act of 1965. The Department's objections were primarily based on what it felt was a pattern of racially polarized voting in Granville County. In 1997, the General Assembly reinstated the council as an appointed body (SL 97-59). The members appointed to the council were the people elected to serve on the council in 1996. This bill would reestablish the council as an elected body. Unlike the 1995 legislation, this legislation requires that the election may not be held until after the U.S. Department of Justice has approved the contents of this bill.

The proposed committee substitute provides for the repeal of the appointed council upon the elected members taking office and makes other organizational and stylistic changes. Following is a section-by-section analysis of the proposed committee substitute:

Section 1 sets out the findings of the General Assembly.

Section 2 repeals the existing appointed Butner Planning Council.

Section 3 sets out a new Part entitled "Butner Advisory Council". This Part provides that the Butner Advisory Council is to be elected by the residents of the Butner territorial district. The election is to be nonpartisan and held on a date set by the Granville County Board of Elections after clearance from the federal Department of Justice. The council will continue to consist of 7 members. Section 3 also provides for the terms of the initial council members and the election of a chair by the council members. The council continues to be only advisory in nature.

In addition, Section 3 also sets out the powers and duties of the council. These powers and duties are substantially the same as the powers and duties of the current council and include, advising the Secretary of Health and Human Services by resolution on the operations of Butner, and submitting the names of candidates for the position of Butner Town Manager to the Secretary.

Section 4 makes conforming changes to G.S. 122C-403. This section also reorganizes existing law regarding the Secretary's duty to act on resolutions adopted by the council and the Secretary's authority to appoint the Butner Town Manager.

Section 5 makes conforming changes to G.S. 122C-405.

Section 6 adds new G.S. 122C-411.2, Butner Public Safety Division fees. This section directs that the tax revenue collected in the Butner Police and Fire Protection District, created by S.L 83-830, and the fees collected under contracts for fire protection between industries in the vicinity of Butner and the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety, will be credited to a special fund to be used by the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety to fund the Butner Public Safety Division.

Section 7 continues the Study Commission on the Transfer of Butner Public Safety until December 31, 2001. (The Study Commission is charged with examining the transfer of the responsibility for Butner Public Safety from the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety to other State or local entities; determining the most appropriate way to meets the needs of State institutions and residents that would be affected by a transfer; and, determining the most cost effective means of accomplishing a transfer.)

Section 8 sets out the effective dates. Sections dealing with the election of the council and the establishment of a special fund for the Butner Public Safety Division are effective when they become law. Sections repealing the existing council and making conforming changes are effective when the elected council takes office.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CREATE THE BUTNER ADVISORY COUNCIL, AND TO ALLOW CERTAIN FEES TO BE PLACED IN A SPECIAL FUND FOR THE BUTNER PUBLIC SAFETY DIVISION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. The General Assembly finds that the Camp Butner reservation and the Community of Butner, as regulated by Article 6 of Chapter 122C of the General Statutes, is a unique State resource that is and should continue to be administered by the State of North Carolina through the Office of the Secretary of Health and Human Services. The General Assembly finds that there is a resident population in the Community of Butner that, because of the unique relationship between the State of North Carolina and cities and counties, as provided in G.S. 122C-410, does not have elected representation with respect to public services, such as police and fire protection, and the provision of water and sewers, that would normally be under the control of an elected city council or board of county commissioners. The General Assembly finds that the citizens of the Camp Butner reservation should be permitted to elect a representative body to act as the voice of the affected people of Butner in dealing with the State of North Carolina through the Department of Health and Human Services with regard to the provision of public services and planning for the future of the Camp Butner reservation.

Section 2. Part 1A of Article 6 of Chapter 122C of the General Statutes is repealed.

(b) Members of the Butner Advisory Council shall be elected at large, and the election shall be held in accordance with all applicable federal and State constitutional and statutory provisions, including the Voting Rights Act of 1965. For the purpose of elections under this Part, the jurisdiction shall be considered a city under Chapters 160A and 163 of the General Statutes. In accordance with North Carolina law, a candidate for the Butner Advisory Council must be a resident of the territorial jurisdiction established by G.S. 122C-408(a).

(2) If the election is held in an odd-numbered year, the four candidates receiving the highest numbers of votes shall be elected for terms of five years, and the three candidates receiving the next highest numbers of votes shall be elected for terms of three years.

A resolution adopted pursuant to this subsection shall be delivered to the Office of the Secretary of Health and Human Services who shall act on the resolution in accordance with G.S. 122C-403(8a).

The candidates shall meet the qualifications set by the State Personnel Commission for the position. The Butner Town Manager shall be selected by the Secretary of Health and Human Services pursuant to G.S. 122C-403(9a)."

The Secretary may ~~appoint~~ designate the Butner ~~Planning~~ Advisory Council to act like a Board of Adjustment to make recommendations to the Secretary concerning implementation of plans for the development of the reservation. A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CREATE THE BUTNER ADVISORY COUNCIL AND TO ENUMERATE ITS DUTIES.

Whereas, the 1995 General Assembly created a Study Commission on the Transfer of Butner Public Safety Division to review the costs and provision of public safety services to the residents and public agencies at the Camp Butner reservation located, for the most part, in Granville and Durham Counties; and

Whereas, the Study Commission held meetings at Butner, toured the residential areas and the State and federal facilities located there, and determined that the Camp Butner reservation is a unique State resource requiring a novel approach to its governance and operations; and

Whereas, the Study Commission determined that the residents of the Camp Butner reservation desire increased involvement and input into the provision of the "municipal" services and planning for the future of Camp Butner, and that the concentration of State and federal facilities located at Butner are currently receiving "municipal" services from the State of North Carolina; and

Whereas, under current statutes, the State of North Carolina provides "municipal" services through the Department of Health and Human Services; Now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. The General Assembly finds that the Camp Butner reservation and the Community of Butner, as regulated by Article 6 of Chapter 122C of the General Statutes, is a unique State resource that is and should continue to be administered by the State of North Carolina through the Office of the Secretary of Health and Human Services. (b) Members of the Butner Advisory Council shall be elected at large, and the election shall be held in accordance with all applicable federal and State constitutional and statutory provisions, including the Voting Rights Act of 1965. For the purpose of elections under this Part, the jurisdiction shall be considered a city under Chapters 160A and 163 of the General Statutes. In accordance with North Carolina law, a candidate for the Butner Advisory Council must be a resident of the territorial jurisdiction established by G.S. 122C-408(a).

(a) The Butner Advisory Council may advise the Secretary of Health and Human Services, through resolutions adopted by the council, on the operations of the Camp Butner reservation and the concerns of the residents of the Camp Butner reservation in connection with the exercise of the powers granted to the Secretary pursuant to G.S. 122C-403.

(b) When the council adopts a resolution relating to one of the specific powers referenced in G.S. 122C-403 and delivers the resolution to the Office of the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary may approve the resolution, and it shall be carried out by the Butner Town Manager. The Secretary shall have no more than 30 days during which to disapprove any recommendation of the council contained in the resolution. Any disapproval shall be in writing, stating the reasons for the disapproval, and shall be returned to the council. If the Secretary does not disapprove a recommendation of the council within the prescribed period, the recommendation shall be deemed approved by the Secretary and shall be carried out by the Butner Town Manager."

In exercising these powers the Secretary has the same authority and is subject to the same restrictions that the governing body of a city would have and would be subject to if the reservation was a city, unless this section provides to the contrary. In addition, the Secretary is not required to notify landowners of zoning classification actions under G.S. 160A-384, and the protest petition requirements in G.S. 160A-385, and 160A-386 do not apply. The Secretary may appoint the Butner ~~Planning~~ Advisory Council to act like a Board of Adjustment to make recommendations to the

AN ACT TO AMEND THE EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR AUCTIONEERS, APPRENTICE AUCTIONEERS, AND PRINCIPALS IN AN AUCTION FIRM, TO ALLOW THE AUCTIONEERS COMMISSION TO ASSESS A CIVIL PENALTY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES, TO INCREASE FEES, AND TO AUTHORIZE CRIMINAL HISTORY CHECKS FOR APPLICANTS FOR AN AUCTIONEER'S LICENSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 85B-3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-3. Auctioneers Commission.

(a) There shall be a five-member North Carolina Auctioneers Commission having the powers and responsibilities set out in this Chapter. The Governor shall appoint the members of the Commission, at least three of whom, and their successors, shall be from nominations submitted by the Auctioneers Association of North Carolina. The Auctioneers Association shall submit, within 45 days of when the vacancy occurs, at least three names for each position for which it is entitled to make a nomination. Of the initial five members of the Commission one shall be appointed for a one-year term, two shall be appointed for two-year terms and two for three-year terms; thereafter, each new member shall be appointed for a term of three years. Any vacancy shall be filled for the remainder of the unexpired term only. Each member shall continue in office until his successor is appointed and qualified. No member shall serve more than two complete consecutive terms.

(b) At least three members of the Commission shall be experienced auctioneers who are licensed under this Chapter. One member shall be a person who shall represent the public at large and shall not be licensed under this Chapter.

(c) The Commission shall employ an executive director and other employees as needed to carry out the duties of this Chapter. All employees shall serve at the pleasure of the Commission.

(d) Any action that may be taken by the Commission may be taken by vote of any three of its members.

(e) The members of the Commission shall elect from among themselves a chairman to serve a one-year term. No person shall serve more than two consecutive terms as chairman.

~~(f) The Commission shall receive and act upon applications for auctioneer licenses, issue and suspend and revoke licenses, adopt rules and regulations for auctioneers and auctions that are consistent with the provisions of this Chapter and the General Statutes, and issue declaratory rulings. The Commission may make and enforce reasonable rules and take other actions necessary to administer and enforce the provisions of this Chapter.~~

(g) Members of the Commission shall receive the compensation set for members of occupational licensing boards by G.S. 93B-5."

Section 2. Chapter 85B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 85B-3.1. Auctioneers Commission; powers and duties.

(a) The Commission shall have the following powers and duties:

(1) To receive and act upon applications for licenses.

(2) To issue licenses.

(3) To deny, suspend, and revoke licenses pursuant to G.S. 85B-8.

(3) To adopt rules for auctioneers and auctions that are consistent with the provisions of this Chapter and the General Statutes.

(4) To issue declaratory rulings.

(b) The Commission may assess a civil penalty not in excess of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for acts prohibited in G.S. 85B-8. All civil penalties collected by the Commission shall be remitted to the school fund of the county in which the violation occurred. Before imposing and assessing a civil penalty and fixing the amount thereof, the Commission shall, as a part of its deliberations, take into consideration the following factors:

(1) The nature, gravity, and persistence of the particular violation.

(2) The appropriateness of the imposition of a civil penalty when considered alone or in combination with other punishment.

(3) Whether the violation was willful.

(4) Any other factors that would tend to mitigate or aggravate the violations found to exist."

Section 3. Chapter 85B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 85B-3.2. Criminal history record checks of applicants for licensure.

(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions shall apply in this section:

(1) Applicant -- An applicant for initial licensure as an auctioneer.

(2) Criminal history -- A State or federal history of conviction of a crime, whether a misdemeanor or felony, that bears upon an applicant's fitness to be licensed as an auctioneer.

(b) The Commission shall ensure that the State criminal history of an applicant is checked. National criminal history checks are authorized for an applicant who has not resided in the State of North Carolina during the past five years. The Commission shall provide to the North Carolina Department of Justice the fingerprints of the applicant to be checked, a form signed by the applicant to be checked consenting to the check of the criminal history and to the use of fingerprints and other identifying information required by the State or National Repositories, and any additional information required by the Department of Justice.

(c) All releases of criminal history information to the Commission shall be subject to, and in compliance with, rules governing the dissemination of criminal history record checks as adopted by the North Carolina Division of Criminal Information. All of the information the Commission receives through the checking of the criminal history is for the exclusive use of the Commission and shall be kept confidential.

(d) If the applicant's verified criminal history record check reveals one or more convictions of a crime that is punishable as a felony offense, or the conviction of any crime involving fraud or moral turptitude, the Commission may deny the applicant's license. However, the conviction shall not automatically prohibit licensure, and the following factors shall be considered by the Commission in determining whether licensure shall be denied:

(2) The date of the crime.

(3) The age of the person at the time of the crime.

(6) The prison, jail, probation, parole, rehabilitation, and employment records of the applicant since the date the crime was committed.

(7) The subsequent commission by the person of a crime.

(e) The Commission may deny licensure to an applicant who refuses to consent to a criminal history record check or use of fingerprints or other identifying information required by the State or National Repositories of Criminal Histories.

(f) The Commission shall notify the applicant of the applicant's right to review the criminal history information, the procedure for challenging the accuracy of the criminal history, and the applicant's right to contest the Commission's denial of licensure."

Section 4. G.S. 85B-4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-4. Licenses required.

(a) No person who is not exempt under G.S. 85B-2, shall sell, or offer to sell, goods or real estate at auction in this State or perform any act for which an auction firm license is required unless the person holds a currently valid license issued under this Chapter.

(c1) Each apprentice auctioneer application and license shall name a licensed auctioneer to serve as the supervisor of the apprentice. No apprentice auctioneer may enter into an agreement to conduct an auction, or conduct an auction, without the express approval of his supervisor. The supervisor shall review all contracts before approving them and shall regularly review the records his apprentice is required to maintain under G.S. 85B-7 to see that they are accurate and current, and shall perform such other supervisory duties as may be required by the Commission.

(d) No person shall be licensed as an auctioneer unless the person has held an apprentice auctioneer license and served as an apprentice auctioneer for the two preceding years, accumulated sufficient knowledge and experience in such areas of the auctioneer profession as the Commission may deem appropriate, and has taken an examination approved by the Commission and performed on it to the satisfaction of the Commission. The examination shall test the applicant's understanding of the law relating to auctioneers and auctions, ethical practices for auctioneers, the mathematics applicable to the auctioneer business, and such other matters relating to auctions as the Commission considers appropriate. ~~Any person who has been in the auctioneer business in this State for at least two years prior to the effective date of this act [July 1, 1973], and who makes proper application to the Commission within one year after July 1, 1973, may be licensed as an auctioneer without holding an apprentice license and serving as an apprentice of two years, and without taking the examination required by this subsection.~~ Any person who has successfully completed the equivalent of at least 80 hours of classroom instruction in a course in auctioneering at an institution ~~approved by the Commission~~ whose curriculum and instructors meet the qualifications approved or established by the Commission may be licensed as an auctioneer without holding an apprentice license and serving as an apprentice for two years, but ~~must~~ shall take the examination required by this subsection and perform on it to the satisfaction of the Commission.

If the applicant is exempted from apprenticeship after completion of the equivalent of at least 80 hours of classroom instruction in auctioneering, the application shall contain a transcript of the applicant's course work in auctioneering. Each application shall be accompanied by statements of at least two residents of the community in which the applicant resides attesting to the applicant's good moral character. The Commission may require verification of any information included in an application for an auctioneer license and may request other information or verification of information provided to determine whether the applicant possesses the good moral character or other qualifications for licensure.

(e) Each license issued under this Chapter shall be valid from July 1 of the year issued, or from the date issued, whichever is later, to the following June 30 unless sooner revoked or suspended pursuant to this Chapter or a rule of the Commission. Where a license is issued to an auction firm, authority to transact business under the license is limited to the person or persons designated in the application and named in the license.

The designated person or persons, prior to being licensed, shall be required to take a written examination, approved by the Commission, and demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Commission a thorough understanding of the law relating to the conduct of the auction business and other matters the Commission deems appropriate. An individual who is licensed as an auctioneer and who is the designated person applying for an auction firm license is not required to take the auction firm examination. Any person or entity, on the effective date of this Chapter, duly licensed as an auction firm in good standing is not required to take any examination in order to maintain or to renew an auction firm license provided that the license does not otherwise expire or lapse and is not suspended or revoked by the Commission.

Sufficient liquidity shall be maintained to insure that funds will be available to satisfy claims processed through the Board. The Fund may be disbursed by a warrant drawn against the State Treasurer or by other method at the discretion of the State Treasurer.

(c) The Commission, in its discretion, may use contents of the Fund in excess of ~~one~~ two hundred thousand dollars ~~($100,000)~~ ($200,000) for the following purposes:

(1) To promote education and research in the auctioneer profession, in order to benefit persons licensed under this Chapter and to improve the efficiency of the ~~profession;~~ profession.

(2) To underwrite educational seminars, training centers, and other forms of educational projects for the use and benefit of ~~licensees;~~ licensees.

Auctioneers:
Application for license	~~50.00~~ 125.00
Examination	~~25.00~~ 75.00
Issuance or renewal of license	~~100.00~~ 250.00
Auction Firms:
Application for license	~~50.00~~ 125.00
Examination	~~25.00~~ 75.00
Issuance or renewal of license	~~100.00~~ 250.00
Reinstatement of License	~~25.00.~~ 75.00.

An application fee for a license and an examination fee are nonrefundable. The amount payable by a nonresident under G.S. 85B-5 to obtain a nonresident reciprocal auctioneer license is the greater of the amount set in the above table for an examination for and the issuance of an auctioneer's license and the amount the nonresident's state would charge a resident auctioneer of this State to obtain a comparable license from that state.

A reinstatement fee is payable when a person applies for renewal of a license after the license has lapsed for failure to renew it before it expired. The reinstatement of a lapsed license is not retroactive in effect and does not limit the authority of the courts or of the Commission to take disciplinary action against a person who engages in the auctioneer profession with a lapsed license."

issued under this Chapter shall file a written appeal with the Commission not later than 30 days following notice of denial.

(f) A person whose license has been denied, suspended, or revoked may not apply in that person's name or in any other manner within the period during which the order of denial, suspension, or revocation is in effect, and no firm, partnership, or corporation in which any person has a substantial interest or exercises management responsibility or control may be licensed during the period."

Section 8. G.S. 85B-9(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Any person, corporation or association of persons violating the provisions of G.S. 85B-4(a) shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. The Attorney General of North Carolina, or the Attorney General's designee, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the district attorneys of this State to prosecute violations of this Chapter."

Any vacancy shall be filled for the remainder of the unexpired term only. Each member shall continue in office until his successor is appointed and qualified. No member shall serve more than two complete consecutive terms.

(b) At least three members of the Commission shall be experienced auctioneers who are licensed under this Chapter. One member shall be a person who shall represent the public at large and shall not be licensed under this Chapter.

(c) The Commission shall employ an executive director and other employees as needed to carry out the duties of this Chapter. All employees shall serve at the pleasure of the Commission.

(d) Any action that may be taken by the Commission may be taken by vote of any three of its members.

(e) The members of the Commission shall elect from among themselves a chairman to serve a one-year term. No person shall serve more than two consecutive terms as chairman.

(f) The Commission shall (i) receive and act upon applications for auctioneer ~~licenses, issue and suspend~~ licenses; (ii) issue, suspend, and revoke ~~licenses,~~ licenses; (iii) set reasonable fines for violating the provisions of this Chapter; (iv) adopt rules and regulations for auctioneers and auctions that are consistent with the provisions of this Chapter and the General ~~Statutes,~~ Statutes; and (v) issue declaratory rulings. The Commission may make and enforce reasonable rules and take other actions necessary to administer and enforce the provisions of this Chapter.

(g) Members of the Commission shall receive the compensation set for members of occupational licensing boards by G.S. 93B-5."

Section 2. G.S. 85B-4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-4. Licenses required.

(a) No person who is not exempt under G.S. 85B-2, shall sell, or offer to sell, goods or real estate at auction in this State or perform any act for which an auction firm license is required unless the person holds a currently valid license issued under this Chapter.

(b) No person shall be licensed as an apprentice auctioneer, auctioneer, or receive an auction firm license if the person:

(1) Is under 18 years of ~~age;~~ age.

(1a) Is not a high school graduate or the equivalent.

(2) Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 751, s. 6.

(3) Has within the preceding five years pleaded guilty to, entered a plea of nolo contendere or been convicted of any felony, or committed or been convicted of any act involving fraud or moral ~~turpitude;~~ turpitude.

(4) Has had an auctioneer or apprentice auctioneer or auction firm license ~~revoked; or~~ revoked.

(5) Has, within the preceding five years, committed any act ~~which~~ that constitutes grounds for license suspension or revocation under this Chapter or a Commission rule.

(c) Each applicant for an apprentice auctioneer license shall submit a written application in a form approved by the Commission and containing at least two statements by residents of the community in which the applicant resides attesting to the applicant's good moral character.

(c1) Each apprentice auctioneer application and license shall name a licensed auctioneer to serve as the supervisor of the apprentice. No apprentice auctioneer may enter into an agreement to conduct an auction, or conduct an auction, without the express approval of his supervisor. The supervisor shall review all contracts before approving them and shall regularly review the records his apprentice is required to maintain under G.S. 85B-7 to see that they are accurate and current, and shall perform such other supervisory duties as may be required by the Commission.

(d) No person shall be licensed as an auctioneer unless the person has held an apprentice auctioneer license and served as an apprentice auctioneer for the two preceding years, accumulated sufficient knowledge and experience in such areas of the auctioneer profession as the Commission may deem appropriate, and has taken an examination approved by the Commission and performed on it to the satisfaction of the Commission. The examination shall test the applicant's understanding of the law relating to auctioneers and auctions, ethical practices for auctioneers, the mathematics applicable to the auctioneer business, and such other matters relating to auctions as the Commission considers appropriate. The examination shall be given at least twice each year in Raleigh, and at other times and places the Commission designates, but no person shall be allowed to take the examination within six months after having failed it a second time.

~~Any person who has been in the auctioneer business in this State for at least two years prior to the effective date of this act [July 1, 1973], and who makes proper application to the Commission within one year after July 1, 1973, may be licensed as an auctioneer without holding an apprentice license and serving as an apprentice of two years, and without taking the examination required by this subsection.~~ Any person who has successfully completed the equivalent of at least 80 hours of classroom instruction in a course in auctioneering at an institution ~~approved by the Commission~~ whose curriculum and instructors meet the qualifications approved or established by the Commission may be licensed as an auctioneer without holding an apprentice license and serving as an apprentice for two years, but ~~must~~ shall take the examination required by this subsection and perform on it to the satisfaction of the Commission.

Each applicant for an auctioneer license shall submit a written application in a form approved by the Commission. If the applicant has been previously licensed as an apprentice auctioneer, the application shall contain an evaluation by the applicant's supervisor of the applicant's performance as an apprentice auctioneer and the applicant's performance in specific areas as required by the Commission. If the applicant is exempted from apprenticeship after completion of the equivalent of at least 80 hours of classroom instruction in auctioneering, the application shall contain a transcript of the applicant's course work in auctioneering. Each application shall be accompanied by statements of at least two residents of the community in which the applicant resides attesting to the applicant's good moral character. The Commission may require verification of any information included in an application for an auctioneer license and may request other information or verification of information provided to determine whether the applicant possesses the good moral character or other qualifications for licensure.

(e) Each license issued under this Chapter shall be valid from July 1 of the year issued, or from the date issued, whichever is later, to the following June 30 unless sooner revoked or suspended pursuant to this Chapter or a rule of the Commission. A license may be renewed for one year at a time, except an apprentice auctioneer license may not be renewed for more than three times. No examination shall be required for renewal of an auctioneer license if the application for renewal is made within 24 months of the expiration of the previous license.

(e1) The Commission may require licensees to complete annually not more than six hours of Commission-approved continuing education courses prior to license renewal. The Commission may impose different continuing education requirements, including no such requirements, upon the classes of licensees under this Chapter. The Commission may waive any or all continuing education requirements in cases of hardship, disability, or illness, or under other circumstances as the Commission deems appropriate.

(f) No person shall be issued an auctioneer or apprentice auctioneer license until the person has made the contribution to the Fund as required by G.S. 85B-4.1.

(g) An auction firm must be licensed by the Board even though no owner or officer of the firm acts as an auctioneer. To be licensed an auction firm must make the contribution to the Fund as required by G.S. 85B-4.1 and must pay the proper fees as set out in G.S. 85B-6. Auction firms are covered by the provisions of G.S. 85B-8.

An auction firm license issued by the Commission is restricted to the persons named in the license and does not inure to the benefit of any other person. Where a license is issued to an auction firm, authority to transact business under the license is limited to the person or persons designated in the application and named in the license.

The designated person or persons, prior to being licensed, shall be required to take a written examination, approved by the Commission, and demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Commission a thorough understanding of the law relating to the conduct of the auction business and other matters the Commission deems appropriate. An individual who is licensed as an auctioneer and who is the designated person applying for an auction firm license is not required to take the auction firm examination. Licensed real estate brokers and real estate firms may be exempt from the auction firm examination provided they employ or associate themselves with a licensed auctioneer to handle those aspects of the transactions peculiar to the auctioneer profession. Any person or entity, on the effective date of this Chapter, duly licensed as an auction firm in good standing is not required to take any examination in order to maintain or to renew an auction firm license provided that the license does not otherwise expire or lapse and is not suspended or revoked by the Commission.

(h) The Commission shall publish at least once a year a list of names and addresses of all persons, sole proprietorships, partnerships and corporations holding valid apprentice auctioneer, auctioneer, or auction firm licenses.

(i) The Commission may investigate as it deems necessary the ethical background of any applicant for licensure under this Chapter."

Section 3. G.S. 85B-4.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-4.1. Auctioneer Recovery Fund.

(a) In addition to license fees, upon application for a license or renewal of a license, the Commission may charge the applicant or licensee up to fifty dollars ($50.00) per year to be included in the Fund.

(b) The Commission shall maintain at least ~~one~~ two hundred thousand dollars ~~($100,000)~~ ($200,000) in the Fund for use as provided in this Chapter. The Fund may be invested by the State Treasurer in interest bearing accounts, and any interest accrued shall be added to the Fund. Sufficient liquidity shall be maintained to insure that funds will be available to satisfy claims processed through the Board. The Fund may be disbursed by a warrant drawn against the State Treasurer or by other method at the discretion of the State Treasurer.

(c) The Commission, in its discretion, may use contents of the Fund in excess of ~~one~~ two hundred thousand dollars ~~($100,000)~~ ($200,000) for the following purposes:

(1) To promote education and research in the auctioneer profession, in order to benefit persons licensed under this Chapter and to improve the efficiency of the ~~profession;~~ profession.

(2) To underwrite educational seminars, training centers, and other forms of educational projects for the use and benefit of ~~licensees;~~ licensees.

(3) To sponsor, contract for, or underwrite education and research projects in order to advance the auctioneer profession in ~~North Carolina; and~~ North Carolina.

(4) To cooperate with associations of auctioneers, or other groups, in order to promote the enlightenment and advancement of the auctioneer profession in North Carolina."

Section 4. G.S. 85B-6(a) reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-6. Fees; local governments not to charge fees or require licenses.

(a) The Commission shall collect and remit to the State Treasurer fees in an amount not to exceed the following:

Item	Maximum Fee
Apprentice Auctioneers:
Application for license	~~$50.00~~	$125.00
Issuance or renewal of license	~~50.00~~	125.00
Auctioneers:
Application for license	~~50.00~~	125.00
Examination	~~25.00~~	75.00
Issuance or renewal of license	~~100.00~~	250.00
Auction Firms:
Application for license	~~50.00~~	125.00
Examination	~~25.00~~	75.00
Issuance or renewal of license	~~100.00~~	250.00
Reinstatement of License	~~25.00.~~	75.00.

An application fee for a license and an examination fee are nonrefundable. The amount payable by a nonresident under G.S. 85B-5 to obtain a nonresident reciprocal auctioneer license is the greater of the amount set in the above table for an examination for and the issuance of an auctioneer's license and the amount the nonresident's state would charge a resident auctioneer of this State to obtain a comparable license from that state.

A reinstatement fee is payable when a person applies for renewal of a license after the license has lapsed for failure to renew it before it expired. The reinstatement of a lapsed license is not retroactive in effect and does not limit the authority of the courts or of the Commission to take disciplinary action against a person who engages in the auctioneer profession with a lapsed license."

Section 5. G.S. 85B-8 reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-8. Prohibited acts; imposition of fine; denial, suspension, or revocation of license.

(a) The following shall be grounds for the imposition of a fine or the denial, suspension, or revocation of an auctioneer, auctioneer apprentice, or auction firm license:

(1) Any violation of this Chapter or any violation of a rule or regulation duly adopted by the ~~Commission;~~ Commission.

(2) A continued and flagrant course of misrepresentation or making false promises, either by the licensee, an employee of the licensee, or by someone acting on behalf of and with the licensee's ~~consent;~~ consent.

(3) Any failure to account for or to pay over within a reasonable time, not to exceed 30 days, funds belonging to another which have come into the licensee's possession through an auction ~~sale;~~ sale.

(4) Any false, misleading, or untruthful ~~advertising;~~ advertising.

(5) Any act of conduct in connection with a sales transaction which demonstrates bad faith or ~~dishonesty;~~ dishonesty.

(6) Knowingly using false bidders, ~~cappers~~ cappers, or pullers, or knowingly making a material false statement or ~~representation;~~ representation.

(7) Commingling the funds or property of a client with the licensee's own or failing to maintain and deposit in a trust or escrow account in an insured bank or savings and loan association located in North Carolina funds received for another person through sale at ~~auction;~~ auction.

(8) Failure to make the required contribution to the ~~Fund;~~ Fund.

(9) The commission or conviction of a crime that is punishable as a felony offense under the laws of North Carolina or the laws of the jurisdiction where committed or convicted, or the commission of any act involving fraud or moral ~~turpitude;~~ turpitude.

(10) Failure to properly make any disclosures or to provide documents or information required by this Chapter or by the ~~Commission;~~ Commission.

(11) A demonstrated lack of financial responsibility.

(b) to (d) Repealed by Session Laws 1973, c. 1195, s. 5.

(e) The Commission may upon its own motion or upon the complaint in writing of any person, provided the complaint and any evidence presented with it establishes a prima facie case, hold a hearing and investigate the actions of any auctioneer, apprentice auctioneer, or auction firm, or any person who holds himself or herself out as an auctioneer or apprentice auctioneer, and shall have the power to impose a fine on any licensee, suspend or revoke any license issued under the provisions of this Chapter, or to reprimand or censure any licensee. In all proceedings for the imposition of a fine or the denial, suspension, or revocation of licenses, the provisions of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes including provisions relating to summary suspension shall be applicable. Any person who desires to appeal the denial of an application for any license authorized to be issued under this Chapter shall file a written appeal with the Commission not later than 30 days following notice of denial.

(f) A person whose license has been denied, suspended, or revoked may not apply in that person's name or in any other manner within the period during which the order of denial, suspension, or revocation is in effect, and no firm, partnership, or corporation in which any person has a substantial interest or exercises management responsibility or control may be licensed during the period."

Section 6. G.S. 85B-9 reads as rewritten:

"§ 85B-9. Penalties and enforcement.

(a) Any person, corporation or association of persons violating the provisions of G.S. 85B-4(a) shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. The Attorney General of North Carolina, or the Attorney General's designee, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the district attorneys of this State to prosecute violations of this Chapter.

(b) The Commission may in its own name seek injunctive relief in the General Court of Justice to restrain any violation or anticipated violation of the provisions of G.S. 85B-4(a) or any violation of this Chapter.

(c) The Commission shall be entitled to the services of the Attorney General of North Carolina in enforcing the provisions of this Chapter or may employ an attorney to assist and represent it in enforcement of specific matters."

Section 7. Article 4 of Chapter 114 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 114-19.8. Criminal record checks of applicants for auctioneer license.

The Department of Justice may provide to the North Carolina Auctioneers Commission from the State and National Repositories of Criminal Histories the criminal history of any applicant for an auctioneer's license under Chapter 85B of the General Statutes. Along with the request, the Commission shall provide to the Department of Justice the fingerprints of the applicant, a form signed by the applicant consenting to the criminal record check and the use of fingerprints and other identifying information required by the State or National Repositories, and any additional information required by the Department of Justice. The applicant's fingerprints shall be forwarded to the State Bureau of Investigation for a check of the State's criminal history record file, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward a set of fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal history record check. The Commission shall keep all information obtained pursuant to this section privileged. The Department of Justice shall charge a reasonable fee for conducting the check of the national criminal history records authorized by this section."

Section 8. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 301:
Auctioneer Amendments

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Culpepper
Date:	April 8, 1999	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	Proposed Comm. Sub: H301-PCSSC-001		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: House Bill 301 will allow the Auctioneers Commission to assess a civil penalty for certain violations, allow the Commission to conduct criminal history checks on applicants for initial licensure as an auctioneer, and authorize the Commission to require continuing education. House Bill 301 also raises the amount of money that must be maintained in the Auctioneer Recovery Fund and increases the fees charged to applicants for licensure.

CURRENT LAW: The Auctioneers Commission is made up of five members appointed by the Governor. Three of the members are nominated by the Auctioneers Association of NC, at least 3 must be experienced auctioneers, and one member must be from the public at large and not a licensed auctioneer. The Commission has the authority to license apprentice auctioneers, auctioneers, and auctioneer firms. The Commission may also deny, suspend or revoke licenses for certain violations. The Commission also administers the Auctioneers Recovery Fund for compensation to persons who have suffered a monetary loss as a direct result of the conversion of funds or property, or other fraudulent act or conduct by a licensed auctioneer, apprentice auctioneer, or auction firm. Finally, the Commission may also charge fees for licensure and an additional fee to be deposited in the Auctioneers Recovery Fund.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 301 authorizes the Commission to charge a civil penalty for certain violations, conduct criminal history checks, require continuing education and raises the fees for applicants and the amount of money that must be maintained in the Auctioneers Recovery Fund. The proposed committee substitute caps the civil penalty at $2,000 and directs that those penalties be deposited in the appropriate school fund, adds additional language requiring the criminal history checks, and makes stylistic and conforming changes to the statutes. Following is a section-by-section analysis of the bill:

Section 1 deletes the powers and duties of the Auctioneers Commission and recodifies those powers and duties in new G.S. 85B-3.1 (see Section 2).

Section 2 reorganizes the powers and duties of the Commission in a separate section and adds the power to assess a civil penalty. The civil penalty is capped at $2,000, and must be remitted to the school fund of the county in which the violation occurred. Section 2 also establishes guidelines the Commission must use in assessing civil penalties.

Section 3 establishes the criminal history checks in G.S. 85B-3.2. Criminal history checks will be conducted only on applicants for initial licensure as an auctioneer. This section will not apply to applicants for relicensure as an auctioneer, apprentice auctioneers, and auction firms. This section defines "criminal history" and directs the Commission to conduct State criminal history checks on applicants and requires national criminal history checks on applicants who have not resided in NC during the past 5 years.

This section directs the Commission to provide to the Department of Justice the fingerprints of the applicant, a form signed by the applicant consenting to the check and to the use of fingerprints and other identifying information as required by the State or National Repositories, and any additional information required by the Department of Justice. All information the Commission receives through the checks must be kept confidential.

Section 3 also provides that a criminal history will not automatically prohibit licensure and gives guidelines that must be used by the Commission in determining whether a license will be denied. Licensure may, however, be denied to an applicant who refuses to consent to the criminal history check. Finally, the Commission must notify the applicant of the applicant's right to review the criminal history information, the procedure for challenging the accuracy of the criminal history, and the applicant's right to contest the Commission's denial of licensure.

Section 4 provides that no person shall be licensed as an auctioneer, apprentice auctioneer, or receive an auction firm license unless that person is a high school graduate or equivalent.

Section 4 also authorizes the Commission to require not more than 6 hours of continuing education. It also permits the Commission to impose different or no continuing education requirements on different classes of licensees. The Commission may also waive continuing education requirements for hardship, disability, illness, or under other circumstances as the Commission deems appropriate.

Section 4 also clarifies that an applicant for initial licensure must comply with the criminal history checks in G.S. 85B-3.2.

Finally, Section 4 also makes stylistic changes and repeals obsolete law.

Section 5 increases the amount of money the Commission must maintain in the Auctioneers Recovery Fund from $100,000 to $200,000. Funds in excess of $200,000 may continue to be used to promote education about the profession, to underwrite educational projects for licensees and to advance the auctioneer profession, and to work with auctioneers' associations to promote the auctioneer profession in NC.

Section 6 increases the fees for auctioneers, apprentice auctioneers, and auction firms.

Type of Fee	Current	Proposed Fee
Apprentice Auctioneers
Application for license	$50.00	$125.00
Issuance or renewal of license	$50.00	$125.00
Auctioneers
Application for license	$50.00	$125.00
Examination	$25.00	$75.00
Issuance or renewal of license	$100.00	$250.00
Auction Firms
Application for license	$50.00	$125.00
Examination	$25.00	$75.00
Issuance or renewal of license	$100.00	$250.00
Reinstatement of license	$25.00	$75.00

Section 7 provides that, in addition to the denial, suspension, or revocation of licenses, the Commission may also assess a civil penalty in accordance with G.S. 85B-3.1(b) for the prohibited acts enumerated in G.S. 85B-8.

Section 8 clarifies that the Attorney General's Office has concurrent jurisdiction with the district attorneys in the State to prosecute violations of this Chapter.

Section 9 adds conforming language to the Department of Justice statutes which permits the DOJ to release information from the criminal history checks to the Commission. The Department of Justice may charge a fee to offset the cost incurred by it to conduct a criminal history check. The fee may not exceed the actual cost of locating, editing, researching, and retrieving the information. The current cost for conducting a State criminal history check is $14.00. The current cost of conducting a national criminal history check is $24.00.

Section 10 makes this act effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Auctioneer Licensing Board, North Carolina Auctioneers Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The act makes several changes in Chapter 85B of the General Statutes concerning auctioneers. Sections 1, 2 and 7 of the bill allow the North Carolina Auctioneers Commission to assess civil penalties up to $2,000 for violations detailed in G.S. 85B-8. Section three establishes the procedures for doing a state criminal record check. Section four requires auctioneer licensees to have a high school diploma or its equivalent. This section also gives the North Carolina Auctioneers Commission the power to require licensees to complete 6 hours of continuing education courses each year for license renewal. Section five requires a minimum balance of $200,000 in the Auctioneer Recovery Fund. Section six increases the maximum fee that the Board can charge for licenses and exams. Section eight authorizes the Attorney General to prosecute anyone acting as an auctioneer without a license. Section nine allows the Department of Justice to do federal criminal record checks for the North Carolina Auctioneers Commission.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

FINES/PENALTIES

The North Carolina Auctioneer Licensing Board receives approximately 80 complaints a year from the public. The Board's interim Executive Director believes that as many as 50 cases a year will be subject to a civil penalty. The bill authorizes a penalty of up to $2,000, but the Executive Director believes the Board will follow the example of other states and charge between $500 and $1,000 per violation. Based on this estimate, between $25,000 and $50,000 each year will be deposited into the school fund of the county in which the violation occurred.

CRIMINAL RECORD CHECKS

This bill allows the Department of Justice to charge a reasonable fee for conducting state and national criminal-history record checks. Presently, the Federal Bureau of Investigation charges $24 for each criminal record check and the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation charges $14. In 1998-99, the North Carolina Auctioneer Licensing Board had 131 applicants for licensure. The Board currently receives a criminal record check from the home county of the applicant. The Board's Executive Director estimates that the Board will ask for a state and national criminal record check for only 5% of applicants. In 1998-99, five percent of the caseload would have been seven record checks. The Board will pay the $266 in record check fees to the Department of Justice.

EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

Section 4 of the bill requires that applicants for an auctioneer license be a high school graduate or have an equivalent degree. From July 1, 1997 to April 1, 1999, licenses were issued to 18 persons without a high school diploma. Since it is unknown whether this requirement will discourage application for licensing or encourage potential applicants to obtain their GEDs, no revenue estimate is available.

Another part of section 4 allows the N. C. Auctioneer Licensing Board to impose a continuing education requirement of up to 6 hours of courses on auctioneers seeking to renew their licenses. Although these courses are offered free to auctioneers twice a year at conventions of the Auctioneers Association of North Carolina, the Board's Executive Director feels the requirement could discourage part-time auctioneers from renewing their license and thus reduce revenue for the Board's Special Revenue Fund. An unofficial estimate by the Board's Executive Director projects the loss could be one fourth of current licensees. Since the language in HB 301 is permissive, this fiscal note assumes the Commission will not implement the continuing ed requirements within the next five years and thus no change in revenues.

AUCTIONEER RECOVERY FUND

Section 5 of the bill increases the minimum balance in the Auctioneer Recovery Fund from $100,000 to $200,000. The Fund is used to compensate persons who have suffered monetary losses from the fraudulent acts of auctioneers. In effect, this change puts into the statutes a practice that the Board has deemed prudent and sound fiscal policy for several years. In 1995, the fund balance in the Auctioneer Recovery Fund was $220,837. In 1996, the balance dipped to $188,977 primarily due to $30,521 in claims paid that year. The Board has the authority to assess all auctioneers a fee to insure the Fund has a sufficient balance and did so in FY 1998-99. With the $141,400 in fees assessed in 1998-99, the balance in the Auctioneer Recovery Fund is now $294,343.

FEES

Section 6 of the bill increases the maximum fee the Board can charge for licenses and exams for deposit into the Board's Special Revenue Fund for its operating budget. The Board has not increased the statutory maximum license fee since 1973, but did add exam and application fees in 1993. The Board raised fees to their maximum amount on September 1, 1998. When the fee increase was discussed in 1997 and 1998, the Board's previous Executive Director said the fee increase would provide sufficient revenue for Board operations for the next five years. The Board has stated again in an April 7 fax to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly that "it is not the Board's intention to raise fees in the near future". The chart below shows the fiscal impact of raising all fees to the maximum with the authority under HB 301.

	FY 1998-99	Current Fee	Current Revenue	HB 301 Maximum Fee	HB 301 Maximum Revenue

NC Auctioneer Law - Why It Needs Amending

By: Bill Forbes, CAI
Chairman, NC Auctioneers Commission
Past President, Auctioneers Association of North Carolina

During the 1973 Session of the North Carolina General Assembly, Chapter 85B of the NC General Statutes was enacted. This law was known as the NC Auctioneer Licensing Act and provided for the licensing of auctioneers statewide. This law became a model for other states that soon began enacting similar auctioneer licensing laws. These laws had several objectives, all of which were designed to "protect the public."

1. The law required auctioneers to be licensed and bonded to assure sellers would be paid for property they sold at auction.

2. By licensing auctioneers statewide, this law gave much more uniformity in auction law and its enforcement.

3. By requiring auction school education or an apprenticeship prior to licensing, this law required persons who held themselves out to the public as auctioneers to demonstrate the knowledge necessary to be entrusted with the control of the sale of the public's property at auction.

   A. Item number three above is the most important provision to the protection of the public. An unqualified auctioneer or dishonest auctioneer is one of the greatest threats to the public of any profession. When most auctioneers are hired, they are often entrusted with the total control and sale of almost all of someone's assets. There are several auctioneers in NC who have written checks from their escrow accounts to a seller for over a million dollars. Many more have written checks in the tens and hundreds of thousands of dollars. Regardless of the amount, or whether the auction was an estate auction, a farmer retiring or a business liquidation, the proceeds of the auction represented what the seller worked a lifetime to accumulate.

   In all of the situations outlined above, the sellers should have confidence that the person they hire has at least some minimum educational requirements on a continuing basis to be entrusted with their property. The auction profession is like any other profession in America. We must be able to adapt to change. Auction markets like all other markets are not the same as they were in 1973. It's time for an upgrade. HB 301 is supported by the Auctioneers Association of North Carolina.

B. Continuing Education is important to NC Auctioneers for another reason. Currently, North Carolina has auctioneer license reciprocity with 13 states. Of these thirteen, six currently require continuing education for license renewal. These six states are as follows: Alabama - 8 hours every two years; Georgia - 6 hours per year; Indiana - 12 hours every 24 months; Kentucky - 6 hours per year; South Carolina - 4 hours per year; and West Virginia - 3 hours per year. The other states that reciprocate with North Carolina are: Florida, Louisiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas and Virginia. It is just a matter of time before some of these states will require continuing education for license renewal. If other states have continuing education requirements for license renewal and NC does not, NC auctioneers could be in danger of losing their reciprocal licenses in those states. This would put NC auctioneer as a comparative economic advantage with auctioneers in adjoining states.

Fifteen NC counties border SC. Three border GA. Ten border Tennessee and 17 border Virginia for a total of forty five NC counties bordering an adjoining state. That is nearly half. When you consider how many counties are just inside these counties, there are probably seventy five percent of NC Counties that are 50 miles or less from an adjoining state border Many of the auctioneers in these counties have reciprocal licenses with adjoining states and depend on doing business in those states as well as NC.

If continuing education passes in NC, it will not put any undue burden on these auctioneers, because currently the seminars that are sponsored by the Auctioneers Association of NC are recognized by those states. That same seminar will count as well for NC continuing education. Auctioneers who sell automobiles (At Dealer Only Auto Auctions), livestock and tobacco are exempt from the NC Auctioneer Licensing Act. However, these auctioneers are not exempt from the licensing law in the states of South Carolina and Kentucky and are currently required to do continuing education to renew their licenses in those states. Passing continuing education will not create any new hardships for most full time auctioneers in NC.

NC currently has reciprocity with 13 states. Of these 13 states, 6 currently require continuing education to renew an auctioneer license.

AL - 8 hours every 2 years
GA - 6 hours every year
IN - 12 hours every 24 months
KY - 6 hours per year
SC - 4 hours per year
WV - 3 hours per year

Tennessee will require 6 hours per year effective 1/1/00. The remaining states do not require continuing education. (FL, LA, OH, PA, TX, VA)

Other Important Provisions In NC House Bill 301

1. Requires a high school diploma or equivalent.

2. Raises the statutory limit for fees the NC Auctioneers Commission may charge. All Fees are at their current statutory limit. The statutory limits have not been raised in twenty five years. No business or government agency can operate at the same costs as they did twenty five years ago.

3. Gives the NC Auctioneers Commission jurisdiction over minimum requirements of auction school curriculum and instructors.

4. Raises the amount of money required to be in the Recovery Fund to $200,000.00

5. Provides for the NC Auctioneers Commission to have the authority to levy fines. The purpose of this provision is to attempt to make punishments better fit the offenses. Many times license suspension is too much and just a letter of reprimand is not enough. Fines collected will go into the general fund. Like all other punishments levied by the commission, levying of fines will be subject to appeal to Superior Court and the Due Process Provisions provided in GS150B.

6. Gives the NC Attorney General or his designee concurrent jurisdiction over violations of this law.

7. Allows the NC Auctioneers Commission access to criminal records checks from the State and National Repositories of Criminal Histories.

"THE CHARTER OF THE TOWN OF BENSON.

"ARTICLE I. INCORPORATION, CORPORATE POWERS, AND BOUNDARIES.

"Section 1.1. Incorporation. The Town of Benson, North Carolina, in Johnston County and the inhabitants thereof shall continue to be a municipal body politic and corporate, under the name of the 'Town of Benson', hereinafter at times referred to as the 'Town'.

"Section 1.2. Powers. The Town shall have and may exercise all of the powers, duties, rights, privileges, and immunities conferred upon the Town of Benson specifically by this Charter or upon municipal corporations by general law. The term 'general law' is employed herein as defined in G.S. 160A-1.

"Section 1.3. Corporate Boundaries. The corporate boundaries shall be those existing at the time of ratification of this Charter, as set forth on the official map of the Town and as they may be altered from time to time in accordance with law. An official map of the Town, showing the current municipal boundaries, shall be maintained permanently in the office of the Town Clerk and shall be available for public inspection. Upon alteration of the corporate limits pursuant to law, the appropriate changes to the official map shall be made and copies shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, the Johnston County Register of Deeds, and the appropriate board of elections.

"ARTICLE II. GOVERNING BODY.

"Section 2.1. Town Governing Body; Composition. The Board of Commissioners, hereinafter referred to as the 'Board', and the Mayor shall be the governing body of the Town.

"Section 2.2. Town Board; Composition; Terms of Office. The Board shall be composed of six members to be elected in the manner provided in Article III for terms of four years, or until their successors are elected and qualified.

"Section 2.3. Mayor; Duties. The Mayor shall be elected by and from the qualified voters of the Town voting at large in the manner provided in Article III for a term of two years or until his or her successor is elected and qualified. The Mayor shall be the official head of the Town government and shall preside at meetings of the Board. Where there is an equal division upon any question, or upon the appointment of officers, the Mayor shall determine the matter by his or her vote, but he or she shall vote in no other case. The Mayor shall exercise such powers and perform such duties as are or may be conferred upon him or her by the general laws of North Carolina, by this Charter, and by the ordinances of the Town.

"Section 2.4. Mayor Pro Tempore. The Board shall choose one of its members to act as Mayor Pro Tempore, and he or she shall perform the duties of the Mayor in the Mayor's absence or disability. The Mayor Pro Tempore as such shall have no fixed term of office, but shall serve in such capacity at the pleasure of the remaining members of the Board.

"Section 2.5. Meetings; Quorum. In accordance with general law, the Board shall establish a suitable time and place for its regular meetings. Special and emergency meetings may be held as provided by general law. The quorum provisions of G.S. 160A-74 shall apply.

All other matters to be voted upon shall be decided by a majority vote of those present and voting.

"Section 2.7. Ordinances and Resolutions. The adoption, amendment, repeal, pleading, or proving of ordinances shall be in accordance with the applicable provisions of the general laws not inconsistent with this Charter. Elections shall be conducted on a nonpartisan basis and the results determined using the nonpartisan plurality election method as provided in G.S. 163-279(a)(1) and G.S. 163-292.

"Section 3.2. Election of Mayor. A Mayor shall be elected in each regular municipal election.

"Section 3.3. Election of Commissioners. The Commissioners serving on the date of ratification of this Charter shall serve until the expiration of their terms or until their successors are elected and qualified. In the 1999 election and every four years thereafter, three Commissioners shall be elected, one each for Districts 1, 2, and 3 as the same are described in Section 3.5 of this Article. Only voters residing in a district may vote for the Commissioner for that district. In the 2001 election and every four years thereafter, three Commissioners shall be elected by the voters of the entire Town.

"Section 3.4. Voting. In each election, each voter shall be entitled to vote for one candidate for Mayor. In each election in which Commissioners for Districts 1, 2, and 3 are being chosen, each voter shall be entitled to vote for one candidate for Commissioner for the district in which the voter resides. In each election in which the three Commissioners to be elected by the entire Town are being chosen, the names of all candidates for those offices shall be placed on a single ballot and each voter shall be entitled to vote for one candidate only.

"Section 3.5. District Boundaries. The Districts for the election of Commissioners are:

"Section 4.6. Town Attorney. The Board shall appoint a Town Attorney licensed to practice law in North Carolina. It shall be the duty of the Town Attorney to represent the Town, advise Town officials, and perform other duties required by law or as the Board may direct. The Town Attorney shall serve at the pleasure of the Board and shall receive such compensation as the Board shall determine.

"Section 4.7. Other Administrative Officers and Employees. The Board may authorize other positions to be filled by appointment by the Town Manager, and may organize the Town government as deemed appropriate, subject to the requirements of general law.

"ARTICLE V. REGULATORY JURISDICTION.

"Section 5.1. Effect of Ordinances on Town Property. All applicable ordinances of the Town shall have full force and effect upon and within all property, rights-of-way, and facilities owned or leased by the Town, whether located within or outside the corporate limits.

"ARTICLE VI. POLICE.

"Section 6.1. Jurisdiction Extended. In addition to their authority within the corporate limits, Town police shall have all the powers invested in law-enforcement officers by statute or common law within one and one-half miles of the corporate limits of the Town, and on all property owned by or leased to the Town wherever located.

"ARTICLE VII. STREETS AND SIDEWALKS.

"Section 7.1. Assessments for Street Improvements. In addition to any authority that is now or may hereafter be granted by general law for making street improvements, the Board is authorized to order to be made or to make street improvements according to the standards and specifications of the Town and to assess the total costs, or a portion thereof, against abutting property owners in accordance with the provisions of this Article.

"Section 7.2. When Petition Unnecessary. The Board may order street improvements and assess the total costs or a portion thereof, exclusive of the costs incurred at street intersections, against the abutting property owners according to one or more of the assessment bases set forth in Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, without the necessity of a petition, upon the finding by the Board of one of the following:

(1) That such street or part thereof is unsafe for vehicular traffic and it is in the public interest to make such improvement.

(2) That it is in the public interest to connect two streets or portions of a street already improved.

(3) That it is in the public interest to widen a street, or part thereof, that is already improved, except that assessments for widening any street or portion of a street without petition shall be limited to the cost of widening and otherwise improving the street in accordance with the street classification and improvement standards established by the Town's thoroughfare or major street plan for the particular street or part thereof to be widened and improved under the authority granted by this Article.

"Section 7.3. Street Improvement Defined. 'Street improvement' shall include grading, regrading, surfacing, resurfacing, widening, paving, and repaving streets, the acquisition of rights-of-way, and the construction or reconstruction of curbs, gutters, and street drainage facilities.

"Section 7.4. Sidewalk Improvements. In addition to any authority that is now or may hereafter be granted by general law for making sidewalk improvements, the Board is authorized to order to be made or to make sidewalk improvements or repairs according to the standards and specifications of the Town, and to assess the total costs, or a portion thereof, against abutting property owners according to one or more of the assessment bases set forth in Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, except that the Board may order the cost of sidewalk improvements made only on one side of a street to be assessed against property owners abutting both sides of the street.

"Section 7.5. Assessment Procedure. In ordering street or sidewalk improvements without a petition and assessing the cost thereof under authority of this Article, the Board shall comply with the procedure provided by Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, except those provisions relating to the petition of property owners and the sufficiency thereof.

"Section 7.6. Effect of Assessments. The effect of the act of levying assessments under authority of this Article shall for all purposes be the same as if the assessments were levied under authority of Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.

"Section 7.7. Acceptance of Conveyance in Satisfaction of Assessments. The Town Tax Collector or other official or employee of the Town having charge of the collection of special assessments, shall have the right, power, and authority, by and with the approval of the Board first had and obtained, to receive and accept a fee simple conveyance to the Town of any lot or parcel of land in the Town, free and clear of other encumbrances, in full settlement and satisfaction of any street or sidewalk assessments outstanding and unpaid against the property. Such right, power, and authority shall be limited to conveyance of the whole of the lot or parcel of land against which the particular assessments involved were levied. No lot or tract of land may be divided and such right, power, and authority exercised as to a part of the property originally embraced in and covered by the assessments. In the case of such conveyance, it shall not be necessary that the street or sidewalk assessments against the property be foreclosed, but the Town, upon the receipt of any such conveyance, shall become and be the absolute fee simple owner of the property as fully to all intents and purposes as if purchased in and through foreclosure proceedings for the enforcement of such street or sidewalk assessments.

"ARTICLE VIII. WATER AND SEWER.

"Section 8.1. Corner Lot Exemptions. The Board is hereby authorized to establish, by ordinance or resolution, schedules of exemptions for assessments for water and sewer line extensions for corner lots when water or sewer lines, or both, are installed along both sides of such lots and when the cost of such installation along both sides were or are financed in whole or in part by assessments. The schedules of exemptions may be classified as to land uses (residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, or agricultural) and shall be uniform for each such classification used, except that no schedule of exemptions may provide for exemption of more than fifty percent (50%) of the frontage on any side of a corner lot, or 150 feet, whichever is greater.

"Section 8.2. Alternative Method of Assessment. In addition to, and as an alternative, to the methods provided in G.S. 160A-218 for assessing the costs of water and sewer lines and laterals, the Board, if in its opinion it would be more equitable to do so, is hereby authorized in its discretion to levy any such assessments according to either of the following methods: (1) equally against each of the lots capable of being served by the lines, or (2) on the basis of the footage of land upon a public street by an equal rate per foot of such frontage.

Instead of assessing the total cost of a particular project as herein provided, the Board may annually, between the first days of January and July of each year, determine the average cost of installing water and sewer mains or lines and on the basis of the determination may make assessments of the average cost during the following fiscal year beginning July 1. The average cost of the installation shall include the cost of the particular size and material of lines completed during the preceding calendar year. It may also include the anticipated increase in labor and material costs based upon the average of such increases during the preceding five calendar years. The assessment of the average cost of the line shall not be made until after the particular assessment project has been completed. The purpose of this section is to: (1) distribute more equitably the cost of the installation of water and sewer lines throughout the Town; (2) permit a property owner to know in advance what the cost of installation of water and sewer lines benefiting his or her property will be; and (3) permit the most expeditious assessment of cost against property after completion of the installation of the lines. The actual cost of acquisition of rights-of-way may also be assessed as part of the cost of an individual project. If the right-of-way costs have not been determined and assessed with the assessment of the average installation costs at the time of the completion of the project, the costs may be assessed separately when they are determined.

"ARTICLE IX. WATER AND SEWER LINE CHARGES.

"Section 9.1. Water and Sewer Line Charges. The authority of the Town to impose water and sewer line charges shall continue as authorized by S.L. 1989-477.

"ARTICLE X. CLAIMS AGAINST THE TOWN.

"Section 10.1. Settlement of Claims by Town Manager. The Board may authorize the Town Manager to settle claims against the Town for: (1) personal injuries or damages to property when the amount involved does not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) and does not exceed the actual loss sustained, including loss of time, medical expenses, and any other expenses actually incurred, and (2) the taking of small portions of private property that are needed for the rounding of corners at intersections of streets when the amount involved in any such settlement does not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) and does not exceed the actual loss sustained. Settlement of a claim by the Town Manager pursuant to this section shall constitute a complete release of the Town from any and all damages sustained by the person involved in the settlement in any manner arising out of the incident, occasion, or taking complained of. All such settlements and all such releases shall be approved by the Town Attorney.

"ARTICLE XI. EXTRATERRITORIAL JURISDICTION.

"Section 11.1. Jurisdiction Extended. The area over which the Town exercises its extraterritorial jurisdiction may be extended pursuant to Chapter 804 of the 1986 Session Laws, any subsequent local acts, and any applicable general laws."

Section 2. The purpose of this act is to revise the Charter of the Town of Benson and to consolidate certain acts concerning the property, affairs, and government of the Town. It is intended to continue without interruption those provisions of prior acts that are expressly consolidated into this act so that all rights and liabilities that have accrued are preserved and may be enforced.

Section 3. This act does not repeal or affect any acts concerning the property, affairs, or government of public schools or any acts validating official actions, proceedings, contracts, or obligations of any kind.

Section 4. The provisions of Article III of this act are intended to codify and continue, without change, the terms of the election plan ordered by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina on November 22, 1988, in Johnson v. Town of Benson, No. 88-240.CIV-5.

Section 5. The following acts, having served the purposes for which they were enacted or having been consolidated into this act, are expressly repealed:

Chapter 623 of the 1971 Session Laws, except Section 4.

Chapter 71 of the 1989 Session Laws.

Section 6. The Mayor and Board serving on the date of ratification of this act shall serve until the expiration of their terms or until their successors are elected and qualified.

Section 7. This act does not affect any rights or interests that arose under any provisions repealed by this act.

Section 8. All existing ordinances, resolutions, and other provisions of the Town of Benson not inconsistent with the provisions of this act shall continue in effect until repealed or amended.

Section 9. No action or proceeding pending on the effect date of this act by or against the Town or any of its departments or agencies shall be abated or otherwise affected by this act.

Section 10. If any provision of this act or application thereof is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of this act that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this act are declared to be severable.

Section 11. Whenever a reference is made in this act to a particular provision of the General Statutes and such provision is later amended, superseded, or recodified, the reference shall be deemed amended to refer to the amended General Statute, or to the General Statute that most clearly corresponds to the statutory provision that is superseded or recodified.

Section 12. This act is effective when it becomes law.

"Section 3.4. Voting. In each election, each voter shall be entitled to vote for one candidate for Mayor. In each election in which Commissioners for Districts 1, 2, and 3 are being chosen, each voter shall be entitled to vote for one candidate for Commissioner for the district in which the voter resides. In each election in which the three Commissioners to be elected by the entire Town are being chosen, the names of all candidates for those offices shall be placed on a single ballot and each voter shall be entitled to vote for one candidate only.

"Section 3.5. District Boundaries. The Districts for the election of Commissioners are:

District 1. "Section 3.6. Special Elections and Referenda. Special elections and referenda may be held only as provided by general law or applicable local acts of the General Assembly.

"ARTICLE IV. ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION.

"Section 4.1. Form of Government. The Town shall operate under the council-manager form of government, in accordance with Part 2 of Article 7 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.

"Section 4.2. Town Manager; Appointment; Powers and Duties. The Board shall appoint a Town Manager who shall be responsible for the administration of all departments of the Town government. The Town Manager shall have all the powers and duties conferred by general law, except as expressly limited by the provisions of this Charter, and the additional powers and duties conferred by the Board, so far as authorized by general law.

"Section 4.3. Town Clerk. The Board shall appoint a Town Clerk to keep a journal of the proceedings of the Board, to maintain official records and documents, to give notice of meetings, and to perform such other duties required by law or as the Board may direct.

"Section 4.4. Finance Director. The Board shall appoint a Finance Director to perform the duties designated in G.S. 159-25 and such other duties as may be prescribed by law or assigned by the Board.

"Section 4.5. Tax Collector. The Board shall appoint a Tax Collector pursuant to G.S. 105-349 to collect all taxes owed to the Town, subject to general law, this Charter, and Town ordinances.

"Section 4.6. Town Attorney. The Board shall appoint a Town Attorney licensed to practice law in North Carolina. It shall be the duty of the Town Attorney to represent the Town, advise Town officials, and perform other duties required by law or as the Board may direct. The Town Attorney shall serve at the pleasure of the Board and shall receive such compensation as the Board shall determine.

"Section 4.7. Other Administrative Officers and Employees. The Board may authorize other positions to be filled by appointment by the Town Manager, and may organize the Town government as deemed appropriate, subject to the requirements of general law.

"ARTICLE V. REGULATORY JURISDICTION.

"Section 5.1. Effect of Ordinances on Town Property. All applicable ordinances of the Town shall have full force and effect upon and within all property, rights-of-way, and facilities owned or leased by the Town, whether located within or outside the corporate limits.

"ARTICLE VI. POLICE.

"Section 6.1. Jurisdiction Extended. In addition to their authority within the corporate limits, Town police shall have all the powers invested in law-enforcement officers by statute or common law within one and one-half miles of the corporate limits of the Town, and on all property owned by or leased to the Town wherever located.

"ARTICLE VII. STREETS AND SIDEWALKS.

"Section 7.1. Assessments for Street Improvements. In addition to any authority that is now or may hereafter be granted by general law for making street improvements, the Board is authorized to order to be made or to make street improvements according to the standards and specifications of the Town and to assess the total costs, or a portion thereof, against abutting property owners in accordance with the provisions of this Article.

"Section 7.2. When Petition Unnecessary. The Board may order street improvements and assess the total costs or a portion thereof, exclusive of the costs incurred at street intersections, against the abutting property owners according to one or more of the assessment bases set forth in Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, without the necessity of a petition, upon the finding by the Board of one of the following:

(1) That such street or part thereof is unsafe for vehicular traffic and it is in the public interest to make such improvement.

(2) That it is in the public interest to connect two streets or portions of a street already improved.

(3) That it is in the public interest to widen a street, or part thereof, that is already improved, except that assessments for widening any street or portion of a street without petition shall be limited to the cost of widening and otherwise improving the street in accordance with the street classification and improvement standards established by the Town's thoroughfare or major street plan for the particular street or part thereof to be widened and improved under the authority granted by this Article.

"Section 7.3. Street Improvement Defined. 'Street improvement' shall include grading, regrading, surfacing, resurfacing, widening, paving, and repaving streets, the acquisition of rights-of-way, and the construction or reconstruction of curbs, gutters, and street drainage facilities.

"Section 7.4. Sidewalk Improvements. In addition to any authority that is now or may hereafter be granted by general law for making sidewalk improvements, the Board is authorized to order to be made or to make sidewalk improvements or repairs according to the standards and specifications of the Town, and to assess the total costs, or a portion thereof, against abutting property owners according to one or more of the assessment bases set forth in Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, except that the Board may order the cost of sidewalk improvements made only on one side of a street to be assessed against property owners abutting both sides of the street.

"Section 7.5. Assessment Procedure. In ordering street or sidewalk improvements without a petition and assessing the cost thereof under authority of this Article, the Board shall comply with the procedure provided by Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, except those provisions relating to the petition of property owners and the sufficiency thereof.

"Section 7.6. Effect of Assessments. The effect of the act of levying assessments under authority of this Article shall for all purposes be the same as if the assessments were levied under authority of Article 10 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.

"Section 7.7. Acceptance of Conveyance in Satisfaction of Assessments. The Town Tax Collector or other official or employee of the Town having charge of the collection of special assessments, shall have the right, power, and authority, by and with the approval of the Board first had and obtained, to receive and accept a fee simple conveyance to the Town of any lot or parcel of land in the Town, free and clear of other encumbrances, in full settlement and satisfaction of any street or sidewalk assessments outstanding and unpaid against the property. Such right, power, and authority shall be limited to conveyance of the whole of the lot or parcel of land against which the particular assessments involved were levied. No lot or tract of land may be divided and such right, power, and authority exercised as to a part of the property originally embraced in and covered by the assessments. In the case of such conveyance, it shall not be necessary that the street or sidewalk assessments against the property be foreclosed, but the Town, upon the receipt of any such conveyance, shall become and be the absolute fee simple owner of the property as fully to all intents and purposes as if purchased in and through foreclosure proceedings for the enforcement of such street or sidewalk assessments.

"ARTICLE VIII. WATER AND SEWER.

"Section 8.1. Corner Lot Exemptions. The Board is hereby authorized to establish, by ordinance or resolution, schedules of exemptions for assessments for water and sewer line extensions for corner lots when water or sewer lines, or both, are installed along both sides of such lots and when the cost of such installation along both sides were or are financed in whole or in part by assessments. The schedules of exemptions may be classified as to land uses (residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, or agricultural) and shall be uniform for each such classification used, except that no schedule of exemptions may provide for exemption of more than fifty percent (50%) of the frontage on any side of a corner lot, or 150 feet, whichever is greater.

"Section 8.2. Alternative Method of Assessment. In addition to, and as an alternative, to the methods provided in G.S. 160A-218 for assessing the costs of water and sewer lines and laterals, the Board, if in its opinion it would be more equitable to do so, is hereby authorized in its discretion to levy any such assessments according to either of the following methods: (1) equally against each of the lots capable of being served by the lines, or (2) on the basis of the footage of land upon a public street by an equal rate per foot of such frontage.

Instead of assessing the total cost of a particular project as herein provided, the Board may annually, between the first days of January and July of each year determine the average cost of installing water and sewer mains or lines and on the basis of the determination may make assessments of the average cost during the following fiscal year beginning July 1. The average cost of the installation shall include the cost of the particular size and material of lines completed during the preceding calendar year. It may also include the anticipated increase in labor and material costs based upon the average of such increases during the preceding five calendar years. The assessment of the average cost of the line shall not be made until after the particular assessment project has been completed. The purpose of this section is to: (1) distribute more equitably the cost of the installation of water and sewer lines throughout the Town; (2) permit a property owner to know in advance what the cost of installation of water and sewer lines benefiting his or her property will be; and (3) permit the most expeditious assessment of cost against property after completion of the installation of the lines. The actual cost of acquisition of rights-of-way may also be assessed as part of the cost of an individual project. If the right-of-way costs have not been determined and assessed with the assessment of the average installation costs at the time of the completion of the project, the costs may be assessed separately when they are determined.

"ARTICLE IX. WATER AND SEWER LINE CAPACITY CHARGES.

"Section 9.1. Definitions. The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Capital costs. -- Costs spent for upgrading, expanding, and developing water and sewer lines intended to serve the customers of the Town's water and sewer treatment system.

(2) Developer. -- An individual, corporation, partnership, organization, association, firm, political subdivision, or other legal entity constructing or creating new construction.

(3) New construction. -- Any new development, construction, or installation that results in the use of the Town's water and sewer lines and includes current users of that system that require additional capacity from the lines.

(4) Capacity charge. -- The charge imposed upon new construction as defined herein pursuant to the grant of regulatory authority contained herein.

"Section 9.2. Imposition of Capacity Charge. Subject to the conditions set forth in this Article, the Board may adopt ordinances imposing and collecting a capacity charge on developers of all new construction, and may enact such other ordinances, resolutions, rules, and regulations that are necessary or expedient to implement such charges.

"Section 9.3. Basis of Capacity Charge. The amount of each capacity charge imposed and collected shall be based upon reasonable and uniform consideration of capital costs ultimately to be incurred by the Town as a result of the new construction, but the charge may differ from line to line. The capacity charge must bear a direct relationship to the additional or expanded capital costs incurred or ultimately to be incurred for the upgrading, expanding, or developing of water and sewer lines. The amount of each capacity charge shall be based on qualified needs and specific classifications and rates, which shall be uniformly applied to all members of a class, but the Town may vary the charges from line to line.

"Section 9.4. Procedure. Before adopting or amending any capacity charge ordinance authorized by this Article, the Board shall hold a public hearing. A notice of the public hearing shall be given so as to conform with G.S. 160A-364, as it may be amended from time to time. No capacity charge ordinance shall be adopted or amended without first giving the planning board a reasonable opportunity to make comments and recommendations to the Board.

"Section 9.5. Use of Capacity Charges. Monies collected as capacity charges from a developer shall be placed in a separate trust fund. All such revenues shall be spent for the capital facilities for which they were collected.

"ARTICLE X. CLAIMS AGAINST THE TOWN.

"Section 10.1. Settlement of Claims by Town Manager. The Board may authorize the Town Manager to settle claims against the Town for: (1) personal injuries or damages to property when the amount involved does not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) and does not exceed the actual loss sustained, including loss of time, medical expenses, and any other expenses actually incurred, and (2) the taking of small portions of private property that are needed for the rounding of corners at intersections of streets when the amount involved in any such settlement does not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) and does not exceed the actual loss sustained. Settlement of a claim by the Town Manager pursuant to this section shall constitute a complete release of the Town from any and all damages sustained by the person involved in the settlement in any manner arising out of the incident, occasion, or taking complained of. All such settlements and all such releases shall be approved by the Town Attorney.

"ARTICLE XI. EXTRATERRITORIAL JURISDICTION.

"Section 11.1. Jurisdiction Extended. The area over which the Town exercises its extraterritorial jurisdiction may be extended pursuant to Chapter 804 of the 1986 Session Laws, any subsequent local acts, and any applicable general laws."

Section 2. The purpose of this act is to revise the Charter of the Town of Benson and to consolidate certain acts concerning the property, affairs, and government of the Town. It is intended to continue without interruption those provisions of prior acts that are expressly consolidated into this act so that all rights and liabilities that have accrued are preserved and may be enforced.

Section 3. This act does not repeal or affect any acts concerning the property, affairs, or government of public schools or any acts validating official actions, proceedings, contracts, or obligations of any kind.

Section 4. The provisions of Article III of this act are intended to codify and continue, without change, the terms of the election plan ordered by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina on November 22, 1988, in Johnson v. Town of Benson, No. 88-240.CIV-5.

Section 5. The following acts, having served the purposes for which they were enacted or having been consolidated into this act, are expressly repealed:

Chapter 623 of the 1971 Session Laws, except Section 4.

Chapter 71 of the 1989 Session Laws.
Chapter 477 of the 1989 Session Laws.

Section 6. The Mayor and Board serving on the date of ratification of this act shall serve until the expiration of their terms or until their successors are elected and qualified.

Section 7. This act does not affect any rights or interests that arose under any provisions repealed by this act.

Section 8. All existing ordinances, resolutions, and other provisions of the Town of Benson not inconsistent with the provisions of this act shall continue in effect until repealed or amended.

Section 9. No action or proceeding pending on the effect date of this act by or against the Town or any of its departments or agencies shall be abated or otherwise affected by this act.

Section 10. If any provision of this act or application thereof is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of this act that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this act are declared to be severable.

Section 11. Whenever a reference is made in this act to a particular provision of the General Statutes and such provision is later amended, superseded, or recodified, the reference shall be deemed amended to refer to the amended General Statute, or to the General Statute that most clearly corresponds to the statutory provision that is superseded or recodified.

Section 12. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 29:
Cosmetology Fees

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: March 30, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Sen. Kerr
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 29 would increase the examination fees the Cosmetology Board may charge applicants who wish to become licensed as cosmetologists, apprentices, manicurist, estheticians, and teachers. The bill would become effective July 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: The North Carolina Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners has requested that the fees it may charge for examinations be increased because the expense of giving the examinations has become greater than the revenues generated by the examination fees. The increased fee amounts would bring the examination fees imposed by the Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners more in line with the examination fees collected by the State Board of Barber Examiners. That Board currently collects a $50 fee for examinations to become a registered barber or registered apprentice barber and $95 for the examination to become a barber school instructor.

The examination fees for cosmetologists and manicurists were last increased from $10 to $20 in 1995. The examination fee for a teacher was established in 1995 at $25. The fee increases proposed by Senate Bill 29 are as follows:

Examination	Current Fee	Proposed Fee
Cosmetologist	$20.00	$50.00
Apprentice	$5.00	$50.00
Manicurist	$15.00	$50.00
Esthetician	$20.00	$50.00
Teacher	$25.00	$50.00

BACKGROUND: Last year the General Assembly rewrote the Cosmetic Art Act. The major changes in the Act included the requirement for licensure of all manicurists and manicure shops, creation of a separate license for estheticians (persons licensed to practice skin care), setting out statutory standards for teachers, easing the requirements for obtaining a license when one is licensed in another state, and the application of late penalties to all licenses. SL 1998-230 did not increase the examination fees for cosmetologists, apprentices, manicurists, or teachers.

POSITIONS:	To be determined by the Board

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: NC Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The act increases the examination fees for cosmetologists, manicurists, estheticians, and teachers.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The NC Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners estimates that 6,200 exams are given each year. The chart below shows the number of exams per profession, current exam fees, proposed exam fees, and anticipated revenues.

	Annual Exams	Current Exam Fee	Current Estimated Revenue	Proposed Exam Fee	Proposed Estimated Revenue	Annual Revenue Gain
Cosmetologi		$20	$45,600	$50	$114,000	$68,400

st	2,280
Apprentice		$5	$6,600	$50	$66,000	$59,400
	1,320
Manicurist		$15	$33,300	$50	$111,000	$77,700
	2,220
Esthetician		$20	$4,000	$50	$10,000	$6,000
	200
Teacher		$25	$4,500	$50	$9,000	$4,500
	180
	6,200					0

The Board proposes to increase each exam fee to $50. Based on the current volume of business, the increased exam fees will yield $216,000 in additional revenue each year. Also, there will be a revenue windfall in FY 1999-2000, because a statute change in 1998 requires 3,000 to 4,000 existing manicurists to be licensed in 1999. Assuming 3,500 manicurists take the exam this fall, the fee increase from $15 to $50 will generate $122,500 in FY 1999-2000.

Fund Balance

The Board provided the General Assembly's Fiscal Research Division its 1998 financial statement showing a June 30, 1998 fund balance of $458,802.70. The Board also provided a "Cash Balance Forecast" that predicts the following fund balances:

June 1999	$1,281,088
June 2001	-$72,280

The 1999 balance is high due to the renewal of cosmetology licenses in 1998-99. These licenses are $39 and are renewed every three years. The Board uses these fees, along with annual renewals for other professions, to fund its annual budget. Without the recommended exam fee increases, the Board projects that it will not be able to cover current expenses in 2001.

Average monthly income received per applicant: $\frac{$7,500}{500} = $15$

Actual costs incurred: $51.98 expense - $15 income = $36.98 loss per exam

The per exam loss is made up through licensing fees. The licensing funds are needed to increase the inspections staff based on the anticipated increase in manicuring and esthetic (skin care) salons, which were required by law to become licensed last year. We cannot continue to operate the exams program at a loss indefinitely. Students need to pay for the exam on an "at cost basis".

Requested Fee Increase

Passing the State Board Exam is required for an individual to become licensed in the profession. Once licensed, the licensee is not required to retake the exam as a condition for normal license renewal. The same costs are incurred by the Board no matter what type of exam is conducted. Therefore, we request an increase in exam fees to $50 per exam. Based on the cost of each individual exam, we feel this increase is reasonable and just to meet the direct costs of the Board.

We anticipate absolutely no proposed increase in individual or shop licensing fees, which are as follows:

cosmetologist:	$39 every 3 years
apprentice	$10 per year
esthetician	$10 per year
manicurist	$10 per year
teacher	$10 every 2 years
cosmetic art shop	$ 3 per active booth per year

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAW GOVERNING PROPERTY TRANSFERS BETWEEN COMMUNITY COLLEGE BOARDS OF TRUSTEES AND COUNTIES FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGE PURPOSES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 8 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 153A-158.2. Acquisition and improvement of community college property.

(a) Acquisition. -- A county may acquire, by any lawful method, any interest in real or personal property for use by a community college within the county. In exercising the power of eminent domain for real property, a county shall use the procedures of Chapter 40A of the General Statutes.

(b) Construction; Disposition. -- A county may construct, equip, expand, improve, renovate, repair, or otherwise make available property for use by a community college within the county and may lease, sell, or otherwise dispose of property for use by a community college within the county for any price and on any terms negotiated by the board of county commissioners and the board of trustees of the community college.

(c) Public Hearing. -- A county may use its authority under this section to acquire an interest in real or personal property for use by a community college within the county only upon request of the board of trustees of the community college for which property is to be made available. The board of county commissioners shall hold a public hearing prior to final action. A notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once at least 10 days before the date fixed for the hearing."

Section 2. Article 2 of Chapter 115D of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 115D-15.1. Disposition, acquisition, and construction of property by community college.

(a) Disposition. -- Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 115D-14, 115D-15, and 160A-274, the board of trustees of a community college may, in connection with additions, improvements, renovations, or repairs to all or part of its property, lease, sell, or otherwise dispose of any of its property to the county in which the property is located for any price and on any terms negotiated between the board of trustees of the community college and the board of county commissioners.

(b) Transfer. -- An agreement under subsection (a) of this section shall require the county to transfer the property back to the board of trustees of the community college when any financing agreement entered into by the county to finance the additions, improvements, renovations, and repairs has been satisfied. If the county did not enter into a financing agreement, the agreement under subsection (a) of this section shall require the county to transfer the property back to the board of trustees of the community college upon the completion of the additions, improvements, renovations, and repairs.

(c) Acquisition and Construction. -- Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 115D-14 and G.S. 115D-20(3), the board of trustees of a community college may acquire, by any lawful method, any interest in real or personal property from the county in which the community college is located for use by the board of trustees and may contract for the construction, equipping, expansion, improvement, renovation, repair, or otherwise making available for use by the board of trustees of the community college of all or part of the property upon any terms negotiated between the board of trustees of the community college and the board of county commissioners.

(d) Approval. -- The actions of a board of trustees of a community college taken pursuant to this section are subject to the approval of the State Board of Community Colleges.

(e) Contract Responsibility. -- A county's obligations under a financing contract entered into by the county to finance improvements to real or personal property pursuant to this section shall be the responsibility of the county and not the responsibility of the board of trustees of the community college."

Section 3. The following laws are repealed:

(1) Chapter 613 of the 1993 Session Laws

(2) Section 3 of Chapter 154 of the 1995 Session Laws

HOUSE BILL 239:
Community College Transfers/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: April 12, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Representative Haire
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 239 makes several changes to the law in order to facilitate installment financings entered into by counties to make improvements to community college property. Gaston, Green, Halifax, Harnett, Montgomery, Nash, Sampson, and Wilson Counties currently have this authority through local acts passed by the General Assembly since 1993. Seventy-five counties also have similar authority for public school construction and renovation. The bill received a favorable report from the Ways and Means Committee on April 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill makes the following changes concerning the acquisition and financing of community college facilities:

1. It authorizes counties to acquire real or personal property for use by a community college within the county when requested to do so by the board of trustees for the college and after a public hearing is held on the issue. Under general law, a county is authorized to acquire real or personal property only on behalf of the county or an agency of the county and a community college is not an agency of the county. (G.S. §160A-274)
2. It authorizes the community colleges' boards of trustees to contract with the county for the erection, improvement, renovation, or repair of buildings located on property owned by the county. Under general law, local boards of trustees of community colleges are required to hold title to all community college property that was donated to the college or acquired with tax revenue and therefore have no authority to make contracts concerning the construction or repair of buildings located on sites not owned by them. (G.S. §115D-14)
3. It authorizes the community college's board of trustees to transfer to the county property on which a community college building in need of renovation or repair is located for any price agreed to by the board of trustees and the county. Under general law, a board of trustees may not transfer property unless it is undesirable or unnecessary for the purposes of the community college. (G.S. §115D-15)

The effect of these changes is twofold:

- To allow certain installment financing to be used for community college construction or renovation.
- To allow a sales tax refund to counties on materials and supplies. Community colleges are not entitled to a refund of sales and use taxes paid.

The installment financing that can be used is an installment contract secured by a security interest in the building constructed or renovated. This type of financing is available to counties but is not generally available to community colleges. One type of installment financing is the issuance of certificates of participation. A certificate of participation is a document setting out the share of a local unit's debt that is owed to that person. In practice, the holder of the certificate receives interest and principal payments in a manner similar to interest and principal payments on a bond issued by the borrowing unit. Unlike the issuance of a bond, however, the issuance of a certificate of participation is not subject to a vote of the people.

RE: HB 239 (Comm. Sub. Favorable 4/1/99)
Community College Property Transfers/AB

FISCAL IMPACT

Yes ( ) No ( ) No Estimate Available (X)

BILL SUMMARY: Allows any county to acquire an interest in real or personal property for use by a community college and to construct, equip, expand, improve, renovate, repair or otherwise make available property for use by a community college. Once these activities are completed, the county must transfer the property back to the college. This authority is currently allowed in 8 counties under local legislation. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

The practical effect is to allow the county to use installment purchase arrangements or certificates of participation to finance community college capital outlay. A secondary negative impact on State and local sales tax revenue will occur if a county not having this authority under current law uses the financing. The impact results from a refund of taxes paid on materials and supplies. Under current law a county is eligible for a refund but a community colleges is not.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: According to the Community College System, North Carolina Community Colleges and Center for Applied Textile Technology paid $6.0 million in sales and use taxes in FY 1997-98. Assuming a 5% annual growth rate the projected community college sales tax liability for the 1999-00 fiscal year is $6.6 million (State portion would be $4.4 million and the local amount is $2.2 million).

These numbers represent a maximum potential. The actual impact will be much lower due to the fact that some counties already have the authority, some counties may be receiving refunds through in interlocal agreement with a community college, and the fact the not all counties will use the financing tools.

HOUSE BILL 275:
Zero ESC Tax Rate for More/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: H-Finance
Date: April 13, 1999
Version: 2

Introduced by: Rep. Redwine
Summary by: Mary Shuping
Research Assistant

SUMMARY: Based on the current Experience Rating Formula table, employers who have a credit ratio of 5% and over have a 0% rate schedule. House Bill 275 would amend the ratio of employers who are granted a zero tax rate by changing the ratio to 4%.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, employers having a 5% or greater credit ratio pay the zero unemployment insurance tax rate.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 275 would grant a zero unemployment insurance tax rate to employers with a credit ratio of 4% or greater rather than the credit ratio of 5% or greater required by current law. The credit ratio is the ratio of an employer's credit balance in the Unemployment Insurance (UI) Fund relative to the employer's payroll. The UI Fund is maintained by the U.S. Treasury and funded by the State unemployment insurance tax.

House Bill 275 would amend G.S. 96-9(b)d3 to provide that, beginning with respect to calendar quarters beginning on or after April 1, 1999, employers who have a credit ratio of 4% or greater would be granted a zero tax rate.

This bill was given a favorable report by the House Ways and Means Committee on April 1, 1999.

BACKGROUND: According to information provided by the ESC, this change is recommended due to the solvency of North Carolina's UI Fund and the increasing stability of labor markets. ESC estimates this change would impact over 10,000 employers, with a tax savings to employers of over $1,000,000 in the first year.

Legislative History: Since 1992, the General Assembly has enacted the following legislation to reduce the amount of money in the Unemployment Insurance Fund:

- 1992 - suspended the 20% surcharge on unemployment taxes.
- 1993 - cut unemployment taxes for positive rated employers by an average of 30% for any calendar year in which the balance in the Fund equals or exceeds $800,000,000.
- 1994 - cut the unemployment taxes for positive rated employers by an average of 38.7% and cut the unemployment taxes for new employers by 20%.
- 1995 - cut the unemployment taxes for positive rated employers by an average of 23%, set a zero rate for employers with credit ratios of 5.0 or over, and reduced from 60% to 50% the percentage of annual average wages used to calculate the taxable wage base.
- 1996 - reduced unemployment taxes in three ways by (1) assigning a one-year zero unemployment insurance tax rate for all positive rated employers, (2) giving overdrawn employers additional time to make contributions to their accounts so that they may qualify for the zero tax rate in 1996, and (3) permanently reducing the tax rate for new employers from 1.8% to 1.2%.

EFFECTIVE DATE: House Bill 275 is effective with respect to calendar quarters beginning on or after April 1, 1999.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Employment Security Commission (ESC)

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective with respect to calendar quarters beginning on or after April 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill will grant a zero unemployment insurance tax rate to employers with a credit ratio of 4% or greater. Currently, those employers with a 5% or greater credit ratio pay the zero tax rate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
As of January 31, 1999, the balance in the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund stood at $1,257,077,160. Due to the Fund's solvency and North Carolina's low unemployment rate, the Employment Security Commission (ESC) recommends a zero tax rate for an additional group of employers with a credit ratio. A credit ratio means that an employer has paid in more money to the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund than has been deducted from its account for UI benefits paid to employees. ESC estimates that this bill will reduce unemployment insurance taxes for 10,000 employers with a 4% credit ratio in 1999. With an additional 6,400 employers reaching the 4% credit ratio each year, ESC estimates that 38,000 employers will benefit from this zero tax rate by 2004.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW BRUNSWICK COUNTY TO ASSESS A FIRE PROTECTION FEE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Fee-supported fire districts.

Section 1.(a) Request for Fee-Supported District. -- A county may create a fee-supported fire district for insurance grading purposes if it receives one of the following:

(1) A written request to create the district signed by at least two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of a fire department that contracts with the county to provide fire protection within an area of the county.

(2) A petition requesting creation of a district signed by fifteen percent (15%) of the resident freeholders living in an area in the county. The petition must describe the area to be designated as the district.

Section 1.(b) Creation of Fee-Supported District. -- Upon receipt of a request as provided in subsection (a), the county may adopt a resolution establishing a fee-supported fire district and imposing annual fees for the provision of fire protection services within the district. The fee may be established or changed only after the county board of commissioners has received the recommendations of the committee for that district, established under subsection (b1) of this section. The district may not include any area that is within (i) a tax-supported fire district established under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes; (ii) a county service district established under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes for fire protection purposes; or (iii) another fee-supported fire district. The district may not include any area that is within the corporate limits of a municipality unless the governing body of the municipality agrees to the inclusion. However, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of a municipality if the municipality has not levied a tax, performed any official act, nor held any elections within a period of 10 years preceding the adoption of the resolution including the area within the district.

Section 1.(b1) Committee for District. -- Each district shall have a committee to allow local control over the fee-setting process. In each district that does not include any territory in a participating municipality, the committee shall consist of five members as follows: The Fire Chief, the member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the district lies, a community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors, a community member chosen by the board of county commissioners, and the Fire Marshal. In each district that does include any territory in a participating municipality, the committee shall consist of members as follows: The Fire Chief, the mayor of each participating municipality in the district, the member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the district lies, a community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors, a community member chosen by the board of county commissioners, and the Fire Marshal. In either type of district, the Fire Marshal shall chair the committee, but may vote only to break a tie. The committee shall conduct an inquiry into the amount of funds required by the district to meet its needs, and shall make findings on the issue. The committee will communicate these findings to the board of county commissioners and recommend a fee. The board of county commissioners will then set the fee. The same process shall be used for changes to the fee once established.

Section 1.(c) Fees. -- The fees imposed by the county may not exceed the cost of providing fire protection services within the district and may be imposed on owners of all real property that benefits from the availability of fire protection and on owners of all manufactured or mobile homes that benefit from the availability of fire protection. For the purpose of this section, the term 'fire protection' includes furnishing emergency medical, rescue, and ambulance services to protect persons in the district from injury or death. The county shall establish a schedule of fees for different classes of property and the fee for each class of property shall be proportional to the estimated cost of providing fire protection services to that class of property. The schedule of fees shall include the following classes of property and the fee on each class of property shall not exceed the following maximums:

(1) A single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home, and appurtenant structures, plus up to five acres of surrounding land. The fee on this class of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per site per year.

(2) Unimproved land other than the five acres of land classified as part of a single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home. The county may establish a maximum fee for unimproved land of not more than five dollars ($5.00) per year.

(3) An animal production or horticultural operation. The fee on this class of property may not exceed ten dollars ($10.00) per site per year.

(4) A commercial facility other than an animal production or horticultural operation. The fee on this class of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per site per year for commercial facilities with structures encompassing less than 5,000 square feet and one hundred dollars ($100.00) per site per year for commercial facilities with structures encompassing 5,000 square feet or more.

(5) A multiple-family dwelling. Each unit in a multiple-family dwelling shall be treated as a single-family dwelling under subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(6) Any other class of property selected by the county. The fee on these classes of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per year.

Section 1.(d) Billing of Fees. -- The county may include a fee imposed under this section on the property tax bill for the real property, or the manufactured or mobile home, on which the fee is imposed.

Section 1.(e) Use of Fees. -- The county shall credit the fees collected within the district to a separate fund to be used only to furnish fire protection in the district. The board of commissioners shall administer the fund to provide fire protection by one or more of the following methods:

(1) Contracting with any municipality, any incorporated nonprofit volunteer or community fire department, or the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

(2) Furnishing fire protection itself if it maintains an organized fire department.

(3) Establishing a fire department in the district.

Section 1.(f) Audit of Fire Department. -- If the county contracts with a fire department to provide fire protection services in a fee-supported fire district, the fire department shall prepare an annual budget based on anticipated revenues and shall submit the budget to the county for processing and approval through the county's regular budget procedure. Upon request of the county, the fire department shall make quarterly or semiannual reports to the county detailing its revenues, expenditures, and activities. The county may audit the fire department's financial records upon reasonable notice to the fire department.

Section 1.(g) Extension of Area of District. -- The county may by resolution annex to any fee-supported fire district any territory that it could include in a new district under subsection (c) of this section, upon finding that:

(1) The area to be annexed is contiguous to the district, with at least one-eighth of the area's aggregate external boundary coincident with the existing boundary of the district; and

(2) The area to be annexed requires the services of the district.

The county may also by resolution annex to any fee-supported fire district any territory it could include in a new district under subsection (c) of this section if one hundred percent (100%) of the real property owners in the territory to be annexed have petitioned the board of commissioners for annexation to the service district.

The area of any fee-supported fire district may be increased by including within the boundaries of the district any adjoining territory lying within a municipality if the territory is not already included in another fire protection district, and both the municipal governing body and the county commissioners of the county in which the district is located agree by resolution to the inclusion. However, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of a municipality if the municipality has not levied a tax, performed any official act, nor held any elections within a period of 10 years preceding the adoption of the resolution including the area within the district.

Section 1.(h) Annexation of District. -- When any portion of a fee-supported fire district has been annexed by a municipality furnishing fire protection to its citizens, and the municipality has not agreed to allow territory within it to be in the district, then the portion of the district annexed is no longer part of a fee-supported district. For the purposes of this section and regardless of the actual effective date of annexation, the date of annexation shall be considered to be a date in the month of June.

Section 1.(i) Abolition of District. -- Upon finding that there is no longer a need for a given fee-supported fire district, the board of commissioners may repeal the resolution establishing the district and thus abolish the district."

Section 2. This act applies to Brunswick County only.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Brunswick County Commissioners

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill allows Brunswick County to create fee-supported fire districts if it receives either 1) a written request to create a district by at least 2/3 of the members of a fire department's board of directors or 2) a petition requesting creation of a district signed by 15% of the residents living in the proposed district area.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The twenty-one fire departments in Brunswick County have requested the creation of fire districts. However, the anticipated revenue per fire district has not been calculated. There are approximately 100,000 parcels of property detailed on 1,400 tax maps in Brunswick County. The County Tax Assessor estimates that it will take five to six months for his staff to manually match parcels to fire districts. No work has begun on the proposed fire districts, because all tax office resources are now directed toward a revaluation process and its resulting appeals. The Tax Assessor believes the first fire district tax would not be collected until FY 2000-01.

Although individual fire district revenues can't be determined, the tax revenue for all 21 fire districts can be estimated as follows:

Single-family dwelling	35,000 parcels	X $25 per parcel	$875,000
Commercial property	2,000 parcels	X $50 per parcel	$100,000
Vacant property	63,000 parcels	X $2.50 per parcel	$157,500
			$1,132,500

The County Tax Assessor provided the breakdown of parcels by property type. The tax values per parcel are those used in preliminary staff projections reviewed by the Brunswick County Commissioners. The estimate assumes all 21 fire districts choose to impose a tax.

Tuesday, April 20, 1999

The House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, April 20, 1999 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building at 8:30 a.m. The following members were present: Chairs Allen, Luebke, Miller; Vice Chair Jarrell; Representatives Braswell, Bridgeman, Brown, Buchanan, Capps, Cox, Cunningham, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Goodwin, Hackney, Hill, McComas, McCombs, Morris, Mosley, Ramsey, Rayfield, Starnes, Tucker, Wilson, Womble. Staff including Cindy Avrette, Richard Bostic, Linda Millsaps, Charles Perusse, Mary Shuping, and Elisa Wolper were in attendance. A Visitor Registration List is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Chair Allen called the meeting to order to consider the following bills:

Representative Buchanan was recognized to explain HB 852, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT CONCERNING ANNEXATION OF NONCONTIGUOUS AREAS BY THE CITY OF HICKORY AND ANNEXATION OF CERTAIN DESCRIBED PROPERTY BY THE TOWN OF MOCKSVILLE. The Chair recognized Mayor Bill McDonald of Hickory who supported the bill. Rep. Brown moved for a favorable report, but was not voted on. Rep. Starnes said he had received mailings opposing the bill and mentioning a lawsuit against Hickory. Mayor Bill McDonald replied that the lawsuit in question pertained to property that had already been annexed previously and which had nothing to do with HB 852. Rep. McComas asked if there was any opposition to the bill and whether the delegation was agreed on the bill, and Rep. Buchanan replied that there was no opposition that he was aware of and the delegation supported the bill. Rep Brown's motion was to give a favorable report to the Proposed Committee Substitute and an unfavorable report to the original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the original Bill and Committee Substitute are included in the Minutes.

Representative Yongue was recognized to explain HB755, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CERTAIN MUNICIPALITIES TO CREATE SERVICE DISTRICTS TO FINANCE LIGHTING AT INTERSTATE HIGHWAY INTERCHANGES. Rep. Yongue said this bill was at the request of the town of St. Pauls'. Rep. Hill made a motion to give the Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report and an unfavorable as to original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the original Bill, Committee Substitute, and Fiscal Note are included in the Minutes.

Representative Mitchell was recognized to explain HB 222, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO STRENGTHEN THE LITTERING LAW BY INCREASING THE MINIMUM AND MAXIMUM FINES AND BY REQUIRING COMMUNITY SERVICE IN THOSE INSTANCES WHERE IT IS CURRENTLY PERMISSIVE. Rep. Mitchell explained the differences between the current law and the bill, which mainly involved the fine amounts. The Proposed Committee Substitute made clarifying and technical changes to the bill. Rep. Cox made a motion to adopt the Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. The motion passed. Rep. Miller asked if there was information on the number of citations and convictions under the present law. Charles Perusse of the Fiscal Research Staff responded by referring to the fiscal note which included information on the fines collected and the projected fines to be collected if the law is adopted. Rep. Mosley requested the Chair to recognize Ms. Louise Nixon, Director of the Wake County chapter of Keep America Beautiful. The Chair recognized Ms. Nixon, who stated that her organization had been researching litter problems and they found that law enforcement finds the current litter laws difficult to enforce. Ms. Nixon also answered representatives' questions. Rep. Mosley sent forward an amendment and explained that it will strengthen Rep. Mitchell's bill and make it more enforceable. Rep. Braswell expressed his concerns on the bill that the large fine will encourage judges to ignore the fine and assign community service instead. Rep. Hackney stated that he was concerned with page 1, lines 10-16 of the Amendment, "If any litter disposed of in violation of subsection (d) or (e) of this section is identified as having last belonged to been in the possession of, sent to, received by, or been the property of a person, this identification is prima facie evidence that this person violated this section." He said he doesn't think it's fair for somebody to be hauled into court under investigation and charged with a serious littering offense, just because a letter addressed to that person was found at the site of the dumping. Rep. Miller also commented to this concern, and asked if there is a better way to deal with the penalty provision. Rep. Brown spoke against the amendment, and asked other members' for their opposition to the amendment. Rep. Mosley said that the amendment came from Keep America Beautiful's 3 year study, and she would like Ms. Nixon to speak on the amendment. Ms. Nixon explained why the amendment was needed. Rep. Hackney said that page 1, lines 10-16 went too far. Ms. Nixon said that revising it to correctly reflect the concern with punishing the dumpers would be fine. The Chair took a vote on the Amendment, which failed. Rep. McCombs moved for a favorable report on the Proposed Committee Substitute and an unfavorable as to the original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the original Bill, Committee Substitute, Mosley's amendment, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in these minutes.

Representative Cole was recognized to explain HB 280, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO MAKE TECHNICAL, CLARIFYING, AND OTHER CHANGES TO THE MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS. Rep. Brown moved to adopt the Proposed Committee Substitute for purposes of discussion. Rep. Cole explained that the changes in the Proposed Committee Substitute correct some red-lining errors and clarify some sections with rewording. The Chair recognized Carolyn Howard, Director of Vehicle Registration with the Department of Motor Vehicles, to answer an insurance coverage question from Rep. Dedmon. Rep. Hackney sent forward an amendment. Research staffperson Cindy Avrette read the amendment. Hackney's amendment inserts a new Section 5, which reads GS 20-11, (e)(2)(a), is amended by deleting the words 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. and substituting 5 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and by amending the effective date to make it effective July 1, 1999. Rep. Hackney moved for adoption of his amendment. The motion passed and amendment adopted. Rep. Goodwin expressed his concern for Section 20, which did not list peaches as one of the specified products not subject to light traffic road limitations. The Chair recognized Ruth Sappie, legislative liaison for the Department of Transportation and Captain Ziegler of DMV Enforcement. They consider peaches to be included under the current law exemption for agricultural products. Rep. Miller moved for favorable report with the incorporation of the amendment into the Proposed Committee Substitute and unfavorable for original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the original Bill, Committee Substitute, Hackney's amendment, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in these Minutes.

Representative Preston was recognized to explain HB 504, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT RELATING TO THE ADOPTION OF PLANNING, ZONING, AND SUBDIVISION ORDINANCES IN CARTERET COUNTY. Rep. Preston said the delegation and county commissioners supported the bill. Rep. Dedmon moved for a favorable report. Rep. Cox asked if there have been public inputs on the bill and Rep. Preston said there was no opposition. Rep. Dedmon's motion for a favorable report passed. Copies of the original Bill are included in these Minutes.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:50 a.m.

Respectfully submitted:

(6) "Watercraft" means any boat or vessel used for transportation across the water.

(j) It shall be the duty of all law enforcement officers to enforce the provisions of this section.

(k) This section does not limit the authority of any State or local agency to enforce other laws, rules or ordinances relating to litter or solid waste management."

Section 1.1. The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is directed to include at least one question relating to littering on the next drivers license examination prepared by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

HOUSE BILL 222:
Strengthen Littering Law

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: April 20, 1999
Version: H222-PCSSC-001
PCS for 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Representative Mitchell
Summary by: Mary Shuping
Research Assistant

SUMMARY: House Bill 222, Strengthen Littering Law, will increase the minimum and maximum fines for discarding litter in any amount and also require community service.

CURRENT LAW: Current law requires the following:

Amount of Litter Discarded	Classification	Fine	Community Service
15 lbs. or less; not for commercial purposes – 1st offense	Class 3 Misdemeanor	$100 - $500	May require 8 – 24 hours of picking up litter or other labor commensurate with the offense
15 lbs. or less; not for commercial purposes – 2nd or subsequent offense committed within 3 years	Class 3 Misdemeanor	$100 - $1,000	May require 16 - 50 hours of picking up litter or other labor commensurate with the offense
15 lbs. – 500 lbs.; not for commercial purposes	Class 3 Misdemeanor	$100 - $1,000	Shall require 24 – 100 hours of picking up litter or other labor commensurate with the offense.
> 500 lbs. ; or for commercial purposes; or hazardous waste	Class I Felony	Discretion of the court	May order the violator to remove or render harmless the litter; repair, restore, or pay for any property damage; or perform community service.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 222 would increase the fines for littering and make community service mandatory as follows:

Amount of Litter Discarded	Classification	Fine	Community Service
15 lbs. or less; not for commercial purposes – 1st offense	Class 3 Misdemeanor	$250 – $1,000	Shall require 8 – 24 hours of picking up litter or other labor commensurate with the offense
15 lbs. or less; not for commercial purposes – 2nd or subsequent offense committed within 3 years	Class 3 Misdemeanor	$500 – $2,000	Shall require 15 - 50 hours of picking up litter or other labor commensurate with the offense
15 lbs. – 500 lbs.; not for commercial purposes	Class 3 Misdemeanor	$500 – $2,000	(Required under current law)
> 500 lbs.; or for commercial purposes; or hazardous waste	Class I Felony	Discretion of the court	Shall order the violator to remove or render harmless the litter; repair, restore, or pay for any property damage; or perform community service.

"Commercial purposes" is used throughout existing law, but was not defined. The PCS for House Bill 222 clarifies the definition of "commercial purposes" added by the House Judiciary III Committee and removes the definition of "commercial vehicle" since the term was not used in this section.

EFFECTIVE DATE: House Bill 222 would become effective December 1, 1999, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 1, 1999

BILL SUMMARY: H 222. STRENGTHEN LITTERING LAW. TO STRENGTHEN THE LITTERING LAW BY INCREASING THE MINIMUM AND MAXIMUM FINES, BY REQUIRING COMMUNITY SERVICE IN THOSE INSTANCES WHERE IT IS CURRENTLY PERMISSIVE, AND BY AUTHORIZING AN INSURANCE PREMIUM SURCHARGE AND ASSESSMENT OF POINTS PURSUANT TO G.S. 58-30.4 FOR PERSONS CONVICTED OF LITTERING. Amends GS 14-399 (basic prohibition against littering) to raise the minimum and maximum fines for each kind (first or subsequent offense, size of litter) of offense and to require community service (picking up litter, if feasible) where it is now discretionary. For amounts exceeding 500 pounds or for commercial purposes or hazardous waste, the court must (now, may) order removal and repair and community service relating to removal of litter and repair of damaged areas. Bill also removes provision specifying that no insurance premium surcharge or assessment of points may be made for a finding of guilt for littering . Defines "commercial purposes" as an offense committed by a business, corporation, association, partnership, sole proprietorship, or any other entity conducting business for economic gain, or by an employee or agent of such entity.

Also directs DMV to include at least one question on littering on next drivers license exam.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

I. Fine Increase

This bill does not affect the criminal penalty for littering (Class 3 Misdemeanor for quantities through 500 pounds; Class I Felony for higher quantities, commercial or hazardous) but raises the fines for the misdemeanor penalty. The statute specifies the minimum and maximum fine for each violation but the judge has some discretion in setting the exact amount. The amounts are changed as follows:

Not exceeding 15 pounds/1st offense	raise minimum from $100 to $250 Maximum from $500 to $1000
Not exceeding 15 pounds/subse offense	minimum from $100 to $500 Maximum from $1000 to $2000
Exceeding 15 pounds Not exceeding 500 pounds/1st offense	mimimum from $100 to $500 Maximum from $1000 to $2000

In Calendar Year 1998, there were 3,229 charges for misdemeanor littering and 1,944 convictions. The Administrative Office of the Courts does not keep data broken down by specific criminal fines so we do not know the total amount of fine collected.

1,851 of the convictions were for amounts not exceeding 15 pounds. Assuming judges have on average used the midpoint of the range of possible fines, the average fine will increase from $300 to $625. Assuming all 1,851 convictions were first offenses, this increases fines levied by $601,575 (=1851*325).

An additional 93 convictions were for amounts from 15 pounds-500 pounds. Again assuming the midpoint of the range of fines, the average fine will increase from $550 to $1250, increasing total fines levied by $65,100.

The total increase in fines	$601,575
	$666,675

To the extent that more of the CY 1998 convictions were subsequent offenses or that judges levy fines closer to the maximum, this figure will increase. (If judges have been and continue levying the maximum fine, the total increase would be $1.02 Million. If they choose the minimum fines, increase would be $314,850)

II. Community Service Work Requirement

Current statute allows the judge to order community service for all categories of the offense, specifying the range of possible hours and that the service shall be picking up litter if feasible. The Community Service Work Program reports that they currently have only a handful of offenders sentenced for littering. Based on 1,994 convictions and assuming judges will use the midpoint of the range of possible hours, this section would increase total community service work hours as follows:

Amounts less than 15#/1st offense	@ 16 hours:	29,616
Amounts greater than 15#	@ 33 hours:	3,069
Over 500 or commercial	hours not specified
Total Increase in Hours		32,685

(If judges choose the minimum hours, increase would be 17,040; if they choose the maximum it will be 53,724)

In 1997-98, hours worked in the Community Service Work Program totalled 2.35 Million. Increases in the number of offenders and hours can be absorbed by the Department within current resources.

III. License Exam

Because the statute specifies a question on littering shall be included in the next examination, there is no fiscal impact of this section. The new question will be added at the time of next redesign/reprinting of the exams.

IV. Administrative Office of the Courts

The higher fines and mandatory community service requirement may cause defendants to mount a more vigorous defense which would increase the workload in the court system. However, no data is available to estimate this impact.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS

Most offenders sentenced to Community Service must pay a $100 fee which goes to the General Fund. The statutes governing different aspects (for DWI offenders, for parolees, etc) of the Community Service program specify this fee. Since GS 14-399 does not specify the fee, littering offenders would not be obligated to pay it unless the judge specifically includes it in their order. If all littering offenders sentenced to Community Service paid the fee, it would generate an additional $194,400 .

"(12a) Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR). -- The value specified by the manufacturer as the maximum loaded weight of a vehicle. The GVWR of a combination vehicle is the GVWR of the power unit plus the GVWR of the towed unit or units. When a vehicle is determined by an enforcement officer to be structurally altered from the manufacturer's original design, the license weight or the total weight of the vehicle or combination of vehicles may be deemed as the GVWR for the purpose of enforcing this Chapter."

Section 3. G.S. 20-4.01(33b) reads as rewritten:

"(33b) Reportable ~~Accident.~~ Crash. -- ~~An accident or collision~~ A crash involving a motor vehicle that results in ~~either~~ one or more of the following:

Until a license issued under this subdivision expires or is revoked, the license continues in force as long as the licensee presents to the Division ~~one year from the date of issuance of such license and at yearly intervals thereafter a certificate in the form prescribed in subdivision (2), provided the Commissioner may require the submission of such certificate at six-month intervals where in his opinion public safety demands.~~ a certificate in the form prescribed in subdivision (2) of this subsection at the intervals determined by the Division to be in the best interests of public safety."

Section 5. G.S. 20-11(k) reads as rewritten:

The hearing shall be conducted in the district court district as defined in G.S. 7A-133 wherein the licensee resides. Hearings shall be rotated among all the counties within that district if the district contains more than one county unless the Division and the licensee agree that such hearing may be held in some other district, and such notice shall contain the provisions of this section printed thereon.~~ suspended. Probation shall mean any written agreement between the suspended driver and a duly authorized representative of the Division and such period of probation shall not exceed one year, and any violation of the probation agreement during the probation period shall result in a suspension for the unexpired remainder of the suspension period. The authorized agents of the Division shall have the same powers in connection with a preliminary hearing prior to suspension as this subsection provided in connection with hearings held after suspension. Section 17. G.S. 20-309(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Upon termination by cancellation or otherwise of an insurance policy provided in subsection (b) of this section, the insurer shall notify the Division of ~~such termination;~~ the termination within 10 business days; provided, no cancellation notice is required if the same insurer issues a ~~new~~ replacement insurance policy complying with this Article at the same time the insurer cancels or otherwise terminates the old policy, no lapse in coverage results, and the insurer sends the certificate of insurance form for the new policy to the Division. The insurer shall notify the Division of any new policy for insurance within 10 working days of its issuance unless the new coverage is a replacement insurance policy for a policy terminated by the same insurer. Any insurance company with twenty-five million dollars ($25,000,000) or more in annual vehicle insurance premium volume must submit the notices required under this section by electronic means. All other insurance companies may submit the notices required under this section by either paper or electronic means.

The Division, upon receiving notice of ~~cancellation or termination of an owner's financial responsibility as required by this Article,~~ a lapse in insurance coverage, shall notify ~~such~~ the owner of ~~such cancellation or termination,~~ the lapse in coverage, and ~~such~~ the owner shall, to retain the registration plate for the vehicle registered or required to be registered, within 10 days from date of notice given by the Division either:

(1) Certify to the Division that he had financial responsibility effective on or prior to the date of such termination; or
(2) In the case of a lapse in financial responsibility, pay a fifty dollar ($50.00) civil penalty; and certify to the Division that he now has financial responsibility effective on the date of certification, that he did not operate the vehicle in question during the period of no financial responsibility with the knowledge that there was no financial responsibility, and that the vehicle in question was not involved in a motor vehicle ~~accident~~ crash during the period of no financial responsibility.

Failure of the owner to certify that he has financial responsibility as herein required shall be prima facie evidence that no financial responsibility exists with regard to the vehicle concerned and unless the owner's registration plate has on or prior to the date of termination of insurance been surrendered to the Division by surrender to an agent or representative of the Division designated by the Commissioner, or depositing the same in the United States mail, addressed to the Division of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh, North Carolina, the Division shall revoke the vehicle's registration for 30 days.

In no case shall any vehicle, the registration of which has been revoked for failure to have financial responsibility, be reregistered in the name of the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner within less than 30 days after the date of receipt of the registration plate by the Division of Motor Vehicles, except that a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner may register such vehicle immediately in such spouse's name. Additionally, as a condition precedent to the reregistration of the vehicle by the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner, except a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner, the payment of a restoration fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) and the appropriate fee for a new registration plate is required. Any person, firm or corporation failing to give notice of termination shall be subject to a civil penalty of two hundred dollars ($200.00) to be assessed by the Commissioner of Insurance upon a finding by the Commissioner of Insurance that good cause is not shown for such failure to give notice of termination to the Division."

"§ 20-376. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Federal safety and hazardous materials regulations. -- The federal motor carrier safety regulations contained in 49 C.F.R. Parts ~~170 through 190,~~ 171 through 180, 382, and 390 through 398.

In no case shall any vehicle, the registration of which has been revoked for failure to have financial responsibility, be reregistered in the name of the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner within less than 30 days after the date of receipt of the registration plate by the Division of Motor Vehicles, except that a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner may register such vehicle immediately in such spouse's name. Additionally, as a condition precedent to the reregistration of the vehicle by the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner, except a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner, the payment of a restoration fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) and the appropriate fee for a new registration plate is required. Any person, firm or corporation failing to give notice of termination shall be subject to a civil penalty of two hundred dollars ($200.00) to be assessed by the Commissioner of Insurance upon a finding by the Commissioner of Insurance that good cause is not shown for such failure to give notice of termination to the Division.

HOUSE BILL 280:
Motor Vehicle Technical Amendments/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Cole
Date:	April 20, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 2nd Edition H280-CSRB-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 280 several changes to the motor vehicle laws. It makes two changes that require it to come before the House Finance Committee: it would require 1,000 applications for a special plate before DMV could issue the plate and it authorizes DMV to issue U-Drive-It plates for small daily rental trucks. The 2nd edition of the bill received a favorable report from the House Transportation Committee. The proposed committee substitute clarifies the number of special plates that must be requested before DMV may issue one, lists the statutes in numerical order, and makes a couple of technical changes. Except for sections 5, 12, and 17, this act becomes effective October 1, 1999.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 280 makes the following changes to the motor vehicle laws:

- Section 1 adds a definition for the term "crash" to Chapter 20. Sections 3 and 16 delete the term "accident" and substitute it with the newly defined term "crash".
- Sections 2, 18, and 19 make changes in the North Carolina law so that it will be consistent with the federal safety regulations governing the operation of commercial vehicles. Section 2 amends the definition of "Gross Vehicle Weight Rating" to allow DMV enforcement officers to use the license weight or total weight of a structurally altered vehicle when enforcing motor carrier safety regulations, and when determining if the driver requires a CDL. Sections 18 and 19 cross-reference definitions in the federal law.
- Section 4 authorizes DMV to require a disabled person with a drivers license to present a medical certificate at an interval deemed appropriate by the Division, instead of every year, as required under current law.
- Section 5 allows a Level 1 and Level 2 driver under the graduated drivers license system to have more than two supervising drivers and it requires only one of the supervising drivers to sign the driver's application for a permit or license. A supervising driver must still be a licensed driver who has been licensed for at least five years and the supervising driver must be a parent or guardian of the driver or a responsible person approved by the parent, guardian, or Division. This section becomes effective July 1, 1999.
- Section 6 requires DMV to offer a hearing within 60 days to a person whose license is suspended without a preliminary hearing. Under current law, the hearing must be held within 30 days. DMV notifies a driver before it suspends the driver's license. The driver may request a preliminary hearing. If the driver does not request a preliminary hearing, the suspension goes into effect on the given day. At that point, the driver may request a hearing if one has not already been heard. With the increase in the number of post-suspension hearing requested, DMV needs more time for its 22 hearing officers to prepare for and schedule hearings.

- Section 6 also removes the requirement that the hearing be held in the county in which the licensee resides. DMV requests this change to help it better schedules the hearings its hearing officers must conduct. The change does not affect the "refusal" hearings under G.S. 20-16.2 for refusing to consent to a chemical analysis. These hearings will continue to be scheduled in the county in which the licensee resides.
- Sections 7 and 8 correct an incorrect statutory reference.
- Section 9 prohibits covering numbers and stickers on license plates with any material that makes the number or sticker illegible. A violation of this offense would be punishable as a Class 2 misdemeanor.
- Section 10 allows DMV to accept electronic applications for registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title and to collect fees and penalties electronically. Processing transactions and collecting fees electronically may allow the Division to offer customers additional service options. DMV currently has a pilot program to allow automobile dealers to enter information for DMV through a third party service provider. The pilot program is working well with one dealer and the Division plans to expand the pilot to nine other dealers in the next few weeks. Lending institutions have also indicated that they are ready to process liens electronically.
- Section 11 requires DMV to maintain title records for 20 years. After 20 years, DMV would only be required to maintain a record of the last two owners. Under current law, title records are maintained for the life of a vehicle. The storage costs of these records are high. Since less than 2% of the inquiries received are for vehicles over 15 years old, the 20-year retention schedule should be adequate to address the publics needs.
- Section 12 would require DMV to receive 1,000 applications for a special plate before issuing the special plate, effective January 1, 2000. The change in the number of plates is requested for two reasons: The vast number of special registration plates is becoming an inventory concern for the Division. Second, and of more concern, is the potential impact of the special plates on the State's unique numbering system. Under that system, no two plates have the same alphanumeric combination. With the increasing number of special plates, there may be multiple plates on the road with the same alphanumeric combination. This means that there may be an ABC123 regular license plate and an ABC123 special license plate. Under current law, the requirement is 300 applications. The plates that must receive at least 300 applications before the Division can issue the plate are: American Legion, Civic Clubs, Combat Veterans, County Commissioners, 82nd Airborne Division, Future Farmers of America, Military Retirees, Professional Sports Fans, Square Dance Clubs, Street Rod owners, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Vietnam Veterans, Collegiate Insignia, Historical Attraction, Girl Scouts, Eagle Scouts, Special Olympics, State Attraction, Wildlife Resources, Olympic Games, March of Dimes, School Technology, Scenic Rivers, and Soil and Water Conservation.
- Section 13 removes the requirement that the Division must receive 300 applications for a military retiree plate before it can issue one. The effect of this section would be to require DMV to issue a retired Coast Guard plate even though the Division has only 60 applications for the plate.
- Section 14 changes the vehicle registration category for small daily rental trucks. Currently, small daily rental trucks are issued a "for-hire" plate. The cost of a "for-hire" plate is determined under G.S.

20-88 based upon its weight. The plate is required to be issued annually. A "for-hire" vehicle is also required to carry a higher insurance liability amount Other daily rental vehicles are issued "u-drive-it plate" and are only required to have minimum insurance coverage. The cost of a "u-drive-it" plate for an automobile is $41.00. To standardize the treatment of daily rental cars and small trucks, this section establishes a "u-drive-it" category and fee schedule for small trucks that ranges from $41.50 to $61. As a "u-drive-it" vehicle, the registration plate costs would be higher; however, the insurance costs would be greatly reduced since the insurance classification for small daily rental trucks would change so they could be insured under a minimum liability policy.

- Section 15 authorizes a law enforcement officer to seize and detain property hauling vehicles that are found to be overweight until the penalties are paid and property hauling vehicles that do not have proper registration plates until the proper registration plates are obtained and the penalties are paid. Under current law, a law enforcement officer can seize and detain property-hauling vehicles owned by a person who owes any overweight penalties or unpaid motor fuels taxes or penalties until the taxes and penalties are paid. A law enforcement officer may also detain property hauling vehicles that are overweight until the overload is reduced. The clarifying changes in this section are requested by the Attorney General's office.
- Section 17 requires insurance companies to notify DMV when they terminate policies and issue new ones within 10 working days. Under current law, an insurer must notify DMV when it cancels a policy, but it does not notify DMV when it issues a policy. The section also provides that a company does not have to notify DMV if the company is issuing a replacement policy. The changes in this section of the bill will hopefully reduce by 50% the number of vehicle owners contacted by DMV who have not experienced a lapse in coverage but have only "shopped around" for a lower premium.
- Section 17 also would require companies with $25,000,000 or more in annual vehicle insurance premium volume to submit the notifications electronically. This section becomes effective October 1, 2000.
- Section 20 replaces the term "recyclable" with the defined term "recyclable material".
- Section 21 requires DMV to develop a plan to improve the collection and maintenance of proof of financial responsibility for newly licensed drivers classified as inexperienced operators and to submit the plan to the Joint Legislative Transportation Oversight Committee by December 1, 1999.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 5 (graduated drivers license change) becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 17 (notification of terminated insurance policies) becomes effective October 1, 2000. The remainder of the act becomes effective October 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes numerous changes to the motor vehicle laws found in Chapter 20 of the North Carolina General Statutes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REVENUES

Section 14 of the bill has a direct fiscal impact on the Highway Fund. Small daily rental trucks are now issued a "for-hire" plate that is renewed annually. This "for-hire" status requires the vehicle owner to carry a high insurance liability policy. The proposal is to classify small daily rental trucks as U-drive-it passenger vehicles, a category that now includes cars and buses. These daily rentals will require lower insurance liability policies, but will pay higher fees for the privilege.

The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) estimates that 2,500 small trucks are licensed each year as daily rentals. The chart below shows the estimated number of trucks by weight class. The chart also shows the current and proposed fees. The first year revenue gain is reduced by one fourth due to an October 1, 1999 starting date. DMV estimates that the number of trucks licensed in future years will grow by 2% annually.

Truck Weight	# of Trucks	Current Fees	Current Revenue	Proposed Fees	Proposed Revenue	Net Gain
4,000 lbs	1000	$21.50	$21,500	$41.50	$41,500	$20,000
5,000 lbs	1000	$40.75	$40,750	$51.00	$51,000	$10,250
6,000 lbs	500	$47.00	$23,500	$61.00	$30,500	$7,000
	2,500		$85,750		$123,000	$37,250

Section 10 has the potential to both lose revenues and to decrease expenditures. The section allows DMV "to accept electronic applications for the issuance of registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title, and to electronically collect fees and penalties". Currently registration renewal can be done by mail or by a visit to a contract tag agent. Renewal by mail requires the payment of a $1 processing fee in addition to the registration renewal fee. There were 1.2 million mail-in renewals last year and thus $1.2 million in administrative fees paid to the Highway Fund. If vehicle owners that now renew by mail are allowed to renew over the internet, then DMV will lose a portion of this revenue. To be revenue neutral, the bill must be amended to allow DMV to charge a $1 processing fee to use this electronic service. However, electronic renewal is a moot point since DMV does not have the authority to accept credit cards for payment and it is uncertain when this approval will be granted.

EXPENDITURES

As mentioned above, Section 10 also has the potential to reduce expenditures. A 1995 study by the NCDOT Productivity Management unit reported that registration renewals performed by DMV were less expensive than those completed by contract tag agents. In 1995, DMV paid $1.73 for renewals by contract agents and spent $1.44 for in-house processing. Most of the cost for contract agents was the $1.20 transaction fee (now $1.35). If a vehicle owner that now uses a tag agent chooses to renew electronically, then DMV saves 29 cents per transaction. With the increase in internet commerce, it is likely that consumers will choose on-line payment versus a trip to a tag agent for simple transactions. The problem is that registration renewals are the easiest and most profitable transactions for branch agents. The smaller volume contract agents unable to absorb the lost revenue may have to close. Again, the General Assembly has to give DMV the authority to use credit cards for payment. In turn, the General Assembly must decide the role of contract tag agents under electronic commerce.

Section 17 requires insurance companies to notify DMV when they terminate policies and issue new ones within 10 days. This section will reduce the number of vehicle owners contacted by DMV who have not experienced a lapse in coverage, but have only "shopped around" for lower premiums. DMV estimates that 400,000 unnecessary letters will be eliminated due to this change in policy. At a pre-sort postage rate of 26.1 cents per letter, this will create annual savings of $104,400. The section is effective beginning October 1, 2000, thus first year savings in FY 2000-01 are for nine months. No postal rate increases are included in this note.

Section 11 requires DMV to maintain records for 20 years instead of the life of the vehicle. This could save DMV computer storage space, but no savings have been estimated for this item.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Thursday, April 22, 1999

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, April 22, 1999 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building at 8:30 a.m. The following members were present: Chairs Allen, Luebke, Miller; Vice Chair Jarrell; Representatives Braswell, Bridgeman, Brown, Buchanan, Capps, Church, Cox, Creech, Cunningham, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Goodwin, Gray, Hackney, Hill, McComas, McCombs, Miner, Mosley, Pope, Ramsey, Rayfield, Starnes, Tucker, Wilson, Womble. Staff including Cindy Avrette, Richard Bostic, and Linda Millsaps were in attendance. A Visitor Registration List is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Chair Luebke called the meeting to order to consider the following bills:

Representative Church, chairman of the subcommittee which studied HB 120, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO IMPROVE THE PROCEDURES FOR NOTIFYING OWNERS AND ADVERTISING TAX LIENS ON REAL PROPERTY AND TO AUTHORIZE COUNTIES TO PROHIBIT REGISTRATION OF DEEDS IF DELINQUENT TAXES ARE OWED ON THE PROPERTY, presented the subcommittee report. The subcommittee removed the section of the bill requiring delinquent taxes to be paid before the deed could be recorded. Rep. Owens, the sponsor of HB 120 briefly explained the bill. Rep. Brown moved to give the Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report, and unfavorable report to the original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the original Bill, Committee Substitute, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in these minutes.

Representative Owens was recognized to explain HB 665, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO MODIFY THE CURRITUCK COUNTY ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX. The Chair stated that the chairs had decided that all bills dealing with occupancy tax are to be referred to a subcommittee for review and which will be chaired by Rep. Jarrell.

Rep. Gibson was recognized to explain HB 672 – A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE VARIOUS COUNTIES AND TOWNS TO LEVY ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAXES. Rep. Gibson briefly explained the bill.

Rep. Setzer was recognized to explain HB 764, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF MOORESVILLE TO LEVY AN ADDITIONAL ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX. Rep. Setzer declined to speak on the bill in reference to the brevity of time for the committee meeting.

Rep. Dedmon asked when to send forward an amendment to Rep. Gibson's HB 672, and the Chair stated to send that forward in the subcommittee meeting. Rep. Walend could not attend the meeting, but HB 830 will also be sent to the subcommittee. The Chair stated that HB 830, 764, 672, 665 will be sent to Rep. Jarrell's subcommittee. Rep. Gibson moved to send HB 665, 672, 764, 830 to the subcommittee chaired by Rep. Jarrell. The motion passed. Copies of the bills are included in the Minutes.

Representative Edwards was recognized to explain HB 450, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REMOVE THE HIGHWAY USE TAX LOOPHOLE FOR LUXURY AUTOMOBILES. Rep. Buchanan moved to adopt the Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. The motion passed. The Chair asked staff if there is a use tax obligation for when someone makes a vehicle purchase in South Carolina and then returns the vehicle purchase to North Carolina. Cindy Avrette stated there is a use tax obligation. Rep. Edwards presented a letter from the North Carolina Automobile Dealers which stated they have no objection to the bill since the committee substitute will phase in the tax (original bill had no phase-in). The Chair recognized Cindy Avrette of the Research Division to comment on the changes from the original bill to the committee substitute. Cindy explained that this committee substitute phases out the cap over three years and the revenue generated from this is credited to the General Fund instead of the Highway Trust Fund. The Chair recognized Richard Bostic of the Fiscal Research Division. Richard explained that other vehicles besides luxury automobiles are covered by this bill, and that members need to examine that regarding their communities. Rep. Creech asked if just the additional money or is all of the tax going to the General Fund. Cindy Avrette stated it is just the money generated by the increase, as written on page 2, lines 19-22, which specifies exactly what amounts will be transferred to the General Fund. Rep. Allen sent forward an amendment and moved for its adoption. Cindy explained the amendment leaves ambulances and buses (public, school) subject to the $1,500 cap as they currently are. The Allen amendment (#1 attachment) was adopted. Rep. Creech sent forward an amendment to transfer the generated money to the Highway Trust Fund instead of the General Fund. Rep. Creech moved for adoption of his amendment. The motion passed and the Creech amendment was adopted (#2 attachment). Rep. Decker made a statement opposing the bill. Rep. Pope sent forward an amendment which moved to amend the bill as amended by amendment #1 (Allen) by rewriting line 4 of amendment #1(#3 attachment). Rep. Pope moved for adoption of the amendment(#3). The motion passed and the Pope amendment adopted(#3 attachment).

Rep. Pope requested that the ayes/nays votes be recorded when bill will be voted on. Rep. Edwards moved for favorable adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute as amended, unfavorable to original bill. Kristen Crosson, the Finance Committee Assistant called the roll for the aye/nay vote. The roll call vote sheet is attachment #4. The recorded vote was ayes=10 and nays=16. The motion for favorable report fails. Rep. Pope moved for an unfavorable report to the bill. Rep. Pope called division. The Chair called for those in favor of the motion for an unfavorable report for HB 450 to raise their hands. The Chair called for those not in favor of the motion for an unfavorable report for HB 450 to raise their hands. The Chair stated that the motion passed 14 to 12 to give the PCS for HB 450 an unfavorable report.

Rep. Thomas was recognized to explain HB 812 - A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REMOVE THE SUNSET ON A REQUIREMENT THAT PART OF CERTAIN CRAVEN COUNTY PROCEEDS BE USED FOR A CONVENTION CENTER AND A TOURIST CENTER. Rep. Thomas stated that all parties involved (Tourism Development Authority, City of Havelock, and Craven County) supported the bill. Rep. Dedmon moved for a favorable report. Rep. Ramsey asked if the bill would have any effect on the way other counties operated. Cindy Avrette stated that this bill covered only Craven County and would not affect any other counties. Rep. Dedmon's motion for a favorable report passed. A copy of the bill is included in these minutes.

Representative Buchanan was recognized to explain HB 251, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REQUIRE PAYMENT OF DELINQUENT TAXES FOR THE TOWN OF BAKERSVILLE BEFORE RECORDING DEEDS CONVEYING PROPERTY SUBJECT TO THE DELINQUENT TAXES. Rep. Womble asked if all the parties were in support of the bill. Rep. Buchanan replied that everyone supported the bill. Cindy Avrette commented on the substance of the bill. She stated the bill requires delinquent taxes to be paid before the deed can be recorded, and the General Assembly has given this similar type of local legislation to other counties and towns. Rep. Goodwin asked about the effective date of the bill. Rep. Buchanan replied that the new budget must be in effect by June 30 and the town wants this in effect by June 1 so they can implement this for fiscal year beginning July 1, 1999. Rep. Womble moved for a favorable report on HB 251. The motion passed.

Representative Melton was recognized to explain HB 765, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT AMENDING THE BOUNDARIES OF THE VILLAGE OF WESLEY CHAPEL. Rep. Goodwin moved for a favorable report. The motion passed. Copies of the bill and map are included in these Minutes.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:50 a.m.

Respectfully submitted:

The notice must be sent to each owner's last known address by first-class mail at least 30 days before the date the advertisement is to be published. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the parcel to be advertised and inform the owner that the names of the listing owner and the record owner will appear in a newspaper advertisement of delinquent taxes if the taxes are not paid before the publication date.

(c) Time and Contents of Advertisement. -- If the governing body orders the tax collector to advertise the tax liens, this subsection governs the advertisement. A tax collector's failure to comply with this subsection does not affect the validity of the taxes or tax liens. The county tax collector shall advertise county tax liens by posting a notice of the liens at the county courthouse and by publishing each lien at least one time in one or more newspapers having general circulation in the taxing unit. The municipal tax collector shall advertise municipal tax liens by posting a notice of the liens at the city or town hall and by publishing each lien at least one time in one or more newspapers having general circulation in the taxing unit. Advertisements of tax liens shall be made during the period March 1 through June 30. The costs of newspaper advertising shall be paid by the taxing unit. ~~(If~~ If the taxes of two or more taxing units are collected by the same tax collector, the tax liens of each unit shall be advertised separately unless, under the provisions of a special act or contractual agreement between the taxing units, joint advertisement is ~~permitted.)~~ permitted.

The posted notice and newspaper advertisement shall set forth the following information:

(2) A statement that the amounts advertised will be increased by interest and costs and that the omission of interest and costs from the amounts advertised will not constitute waiver of the taxing unit's claim for those items.

(3) In the event the list of tax liens has been divided for purposes of advertisement in more than one newspaper, a statement of the names of all newspapers in which advertisements will appear and the dates on which they will be published.

Section 2. Article 26 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-370. Notice of delinquent taxes.

If the governing body of a taxing unit decides not to advertise tax liens for a fiscal year, the tax collector must, at least 30 days before initiating any lien foreclosure action under G.S. 105-374, send a notice to the listing owner and the record owner of the affected parcel of property, as determined as of December 31 of the fiscal year for which the taxes are due. The notice must be sent to each owner's last known address by first-class mail. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the property and inform the owner that the lien may be foreclosed to enforce collection of those taxes. HOUSE BILL 120:
Tax Lien Advertisement and Collection

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Owens
Date:	April 22, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H120-PCS1220-RB

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for House Bill 120 would make three changes to the laws concerning property tax collection. The changes would become effective January 1, 2001.

- It would require property tax collectors to notify both the listing owner and the record owner before advertising tax delinquencies in the newspaper.
- It would give counties the option to not advertise tax delinquencies before beginning tax foreclosure proceedings.
- It would allow counties to begin tax foreclosure proceedings sooner if the tax delinquency is advertised in the newspaper.

BACKGROUND: The House Finance Committee heard this bill on March 16, 1999. The Committee expressed concern over the part of the bill that would authorize the board of county commissioners to adopt a resolution requiring delinquent taxes to be paid before a deed maybe accepted for registration in the county Register of Deeds. The bill was sent to a subcommittee chaired by Representative Church and composed of Representatives Bridgeman, Braswell, and McComas. The subcommittee recommends the proposed committee substitute which removes the section from the bill that would require delinquent taxes to be paid before a deed could be recorded. Several local units of government have this authority through local legislation the General Assembly has enacted over the years: the counties of Alleghany, Ashe, Avery, and Mitchell, and the Towns of Banner Elk, Newland, and Spruce Pine.

CURRENT LAW: Property must be listed for property tax in January of each year. The listing owner is the taxpayer who owned the property as of January 1. The taxes become due in September and become delinquent on January 6 of the following year. Although most counties send tax listing notices and tax bills to the taxpayer, they are not required by law to do so. Property owners are charged with notice that they must list their property for taxes and pay the taxes; otherwise, enforcement measures will be taken against the property. The legal effect of this law is to prevent a taxpayer from using lack of notice as an excuse for not paying property taxes or as a defense to a collection remedy against the property. If property taxes remain unpaid, the tax collector is required by statute to advertise the tax liens in a local newspaper under the name of the listing owner. If the taxes remain unpaid for six months following the advertisement, the tax collector may begin a foreclosure proceeding against the property.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill removes the requirement that tax delinquencies be advertised in the newspaper. Under the bill, the advertising of tax delinquencies would be optional. The bill sets forth new standards for collecting the delinquent taxes through a tax foreclosure proceeding against the property if the county chooses not to advertise the tax delinquency. The tax collector may not initiate an in rem foreclosure proceeding until May 6, which is six months following the delinquency date of January 6. The tax collector must also send a notice to both the listing owner and the record owner as of December 31 if the record owner is different than the listing owner. The notice must be sent at least 30 days before initiating any foreclosure action. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the property and inform the owner that the lien may be foreclosed to enforce collection of those taxes. Failure to send the notice would not invalidate the tax lien or any foreclosure action.

For counties that continue to choose to advertise tax delinquencies in a local newspaper, the bill adds a requirement that local taxing units must notify both the listing owner and the record owner as of December 31, if the record owner is different than the listing owner, of the intent to advertise. The notice must state the principal amount of tax due and inform the persons that the tax delinquency will be advertised in a local newspaper under the name of the record owner, with a notation of the name of the listing owner. The notice must be sent by first class mail at least 30 days before the date the advertisement is to be published. If a county advertises, then it may begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding sooner than it could under current law. Under the current law, a county cannot begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding until six months following the date the tax liens were advertised. The earliest tax liens can be advertised is March; therefore, September is the earliest an in rem foreclosure proceeding may be initiated under current law. Under the bill, a county that advertises tax liens may begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding as early as 30 days after the tax liens were advertised. The earlier date allows counties to begin collection proceedings during the fiscal year in which the taxes are due.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill intends to improve the procedures for advertising tax liens on real property and for notifying delinquent taxpayers.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: This bill may have a small one-time impact on the costs of county operations, primarily in the area of computer programming and data entry. Virtually all counties will have to change their computer software to enable the advertisement of both the January 1 and the December 31 owner of real property (if different). A majority of counties will need to make minor software changes to allow notices to be mailed to both the January 1 and December 31 property owner (if different).

When working on a similar bill in 1998, Fiscal Research Division staff interviewed a sample of county tax collectors, a professor in the Institute of Government, and the chairman of the North Carolina Association of Assessing Officers. It was found that approximately 75 counties lack a fully automated way to send deed transfer information between the Register of Deeds Office and the Tax Assessor's Office, in a timely manner. The Registers of Deeds provide copies of deeds to the Tax Assessors in the form of paper, microfilm, microfiche, or CD. The tax professionals contacted in 1998 estimated that only 25 counties might incur one-time costs for computer programming in the first year of implementing HB 120. These 25 counties might expend an average of $800 each ($20,000) for computer vendors to program county databases for this data transfer.

Data entry was another cost identified by tax professionals interviewed in 1998. It was estimated that 25 county Tax Assessors might spend approximately $400 each ($10,000) for temporary clerks to do data entry on deed transfer files in order to update the county tax files. Small counties with few land transactions do not experience a backlog in deed transfer filings. It was suggested in 1998 that temporary clerks would be needed each year due to this bill, but this fiscal note assumes that keeping deed and tax files current should be standard operating procedure for the tax listing process and is not a new requirement on county governments.

HOUSE BILL 450:
Make Car Tax Progressive

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Edwards
Date:	April 21, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H450-PCS8111-LC		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 450 phases out the $1,500 maximum highway use tax over a three year period and transfers the resulting revenue gain to the General Fund. The phase out begins for certificates of titles issued on or after July 1, 1999. The original bill eliminated the maximum tax effective July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly enacted the highway use tax in 1989 as part of the Highway Trust Fund legislation to provide revenue for that Fund. The highway use tax is payable when a certificate of title is issued for a motor vehicle. The highway use tax is 3% of the retail value of a motor vehicle, subject to a maximum tax of $1,500 for automobiles and other vehicles that weigh no more than 26,000 pounds and of $1,000 for Class A or Class B commercial vehicles that weigh more than 26,000 pounds. In general, the commercial vehicles subject to the $1,000 maximum tax are truck tractors and large trucks and, to drive them, a person must have the appropriate class of commercial driver's license. The maximum tax of $1,500 on all other motor vehicles means that a vehicle valued at an amount over $50,000 does not pay the highway use tax at a full 3% rate because the cap is reached once the vehicle's value reaches $50,000. The General Assembly repealed the $40 minimum highway use tax in 1995, effective July 1, 1996. The highway use tax is in addition to the $35.00 fee that is charged for the issuance of a title and the $10.00 or $20.00 fee that is charged for the transfer or issuance of a license plate.

The highway use tax replaced the former sales tax on motor vehicles. Sales tax revenue is credited to the General Fund. Revenue from the highway use tax is credited to the Highway Trust Fund. Each year, $170 million is transferred from the Highway Trust Fund to the General Fund. This amount was chosen by the General Assembly in 1989 because it was the amount of sales tax revenue the General Fund received from the sale of motor vehicles before the repeal of the sales tax on motor vehicles.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 450 phases out the $1,500 maximum highway use tax as follows:

Year	Maximum Tax Amount	Vehicle Value at which The Cap is Reached
Prior to July 1, 1999	$1,500	$50,000
July 1, 1999 – July 1, 2000	$1,950	$65,000
July 1, 2000 – July 1, 2001	$2,400	$80,000
After July 1, 2001	No cap	No limit

Section 3 of the bill provides that the revenue generated from the removal of the cap on the tax rate is credited to the General Fund as opposed to the Highway Trust Fund. To accomplish this, the bill increases the amount of money that must be transferred from the Highway Trust Fund to the General Fund each year. The chart below shows the amount of money that would be transferred each year from the Highway Trust Fund to the General Fund under this bill:

Year	Amount Transferred to General Fund From Highway Trust Fund
1998-1999	$170,000,000
1999-2000	$170,350,000
2000-2001	$170,750,000
Each Fiscal Year Thereafter	$171,100,000

The transfer of funds from the Highway Trust Fund to the General Fund may be made in one of two ways:

1. By transferring one-fourth of the amount at the end of each quarter in the fiscal year.
2. By transferring the full amount on July 1 of each fiscal year, subject to the availability of revenue.

The General Assembly provided for the possibility of a one-time transfer at the beginning of a fiscal year so that the General Fund would be the beneficiary of any interest earned on the money to be transferred. At the time this change was made in 1993, the General Assembly also enacted an uncodified provision stating that the interest earned on the $170,000,000 to be transferred to the General Fund would be credited to the General Fund. SL 1993-321, § 164(b) The General Assembly enacted this provision so that the General Fund is the beneficiary of the interest income on quarterly transfers as well as one-time transfers. The proposed committee substitute codifies this provision since the amount to be transferred annually exceeds the $170,000,000 amount specifically stated in the 1993 Session Law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 2 of the bill (remove cap) becomes effective July 1, 2001, and applies to certificates of title issued on or after that date. The remainder of the bill becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 1 of the bill applies to certificates of title issued on or after July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill proposes a three year phase out of the $1,500 limit on the highway use tax paid on Class C motor vehicles. The resulting revenue gain is transferred each year to the General Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) keeps a computerized listing of vehicles by body style, make, series, and the amount of highway use tax paid. In 1997-98, the Division of Motor Vehicles reported that owners of 3,051 vehicles paid the maximum highway use tax of $1,500 (equal to a 3% tax on a vehicle valued at $50,000 or more). Table 1 lists the types of vehicles taxed at $1,500 in 1997-98. Table 1 shows that vehicles other than luxury automobiles are subject to the $1,500 maximum highway use tax.

Table 2, provided by DMV, shows the distribution of vehicles by tax bracket for 1997-98.

Number of Vehicles by Tax Bracket (1997-98)

Maximum Tax	Maximum Value	Number of vehicles
$100	$3,333	806,945
$200	$6,667	326,370

$1,300	$43,333	2,341
$1,400	$46,667	1,498
$1,500	$50,000	894

Since DMV does not collect data on the sales price of vehicles valued at $50,000 or more, a statistical method must be used to estimate vehicle values. It is assumed that the distribution of the 3,051 vehicles with unknown values will decline at a constant rate from 894, the number of vehicles in the $1,400 to $1,500 tax bracket of Table 2, down to zero. In order to accomplish this result, the number of vehicles in each tax bracket has to decline by 22.65%. This is the only number that gives a constant rate of decline and accounts for all 3051 vehicles. This assumed distribution phases out at a vehicle value of $140,000. (See Chart 1) While there are vehicles whose value is greater than $140,000, the results would not be affected significantly.

Because the number of vehicles in each tax bracket decreases as the tax brackets increase, the average tax paid is something less than the midpoint of the bracket. That is, in each bracket it is assumed that most of the vehicles are clustered toward the lower end. It is assumed that in each bracket the average vehicle will have a tax due of $30 more than the minimum of the bracket, e.g. it is assumed that vehicles in the $1500 to $1600 bracket will have a tax due of $1530. With only 3,051 vehicles involved, changing this assumption by $10 would have an impact of only about $30,000, or less than three percent of the estimated total fiscal impact.

Using this methodology, the average value of the vehicles that are now taxed at the $1,500 maximum is $62,296. The owners of these vehicles would have paid additional highway use tax averaging $369 in 1997-98 if this law were in effect. The total revenue increase to the Highway Trust Fund is approximately $1.1 million per year.

The proposed House Committee Substitute for HB 450 raises the highway use tax cap for two years, then repeals the cap altogether on July 1, 2001. When the highway use tax cap is increased to $1,950 (3% tax on vehicle value of $65,000) in FY 99-00, the Highway Trust Fund will gain $350,000 in additional revenue. There will be approximately 2,084 vehicles purchased in FY 1999-00 with values between $50,000 and $65,000. Increasing the tax cap to $2,400 in FY 2000-01 will generate Highway Trust Fund revenue of $750,000. There will be an estimated 2,750 vehicles with values between $50,000 and $80,000 in FY 2000-01.

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE CURRITUCK COUNTY ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 209 of the 1987 Session Laws, as amended by Chapter 155 of the 1991 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Occupancy tax. (a) Authorization and scope. The Currituck County Board of Commissioners may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or similar accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, or similar place within the county that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3), or from the rental of a campsite within the county. This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. Sponsors: Representative Setzer.

Referred to: Finance.

March 31, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF MOORESVILLE TO LEVY AN ADDITIONAL ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 296 of the 1991 Session Laws, as amended by Section 4 of Chapter 577 of the 1991 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Occupancy tax. (a) Authorization and scope. The Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of up to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the town that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations.

(a1) Authorization of Additional Tax. In addition to the tax authorized by subsection (a) of this section, the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners may levy an additional room occupancy tax of up to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of accommodations taxable under subsection (a). The total rate of tax levied under subsections (a) and (a1) of this section, when combined with the rate of room occupancy tax levied by Iredell County, may not exceed six percent (6%). The levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the tax authorized by this subsection shall be in accordance with the provisions of this section. The Town of Mooresville may not levy a tax under this subsection unless it also levies the tax authorized under subsection (a) of this section.

(b) Administration. A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

~~Collection. Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied under this section shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the town. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The town shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the town the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax.~~

~~(c) Administration. The town shall administer a tax levied under this section. A tax levied under this section is due and payable to the town finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the town. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied.~~

~~A return filed with the town finance officer under this section is not a public record as defined by G.S. 132-1 and may not be disclosed except as required by law.~~

~~(d) Penalties. A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return required by this section shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day's omission. In case of failure or refusal to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after the time required for filing the return or for paying the tax, there shall be an additional tax, as a penalty, of five percent (5%) of the tax due in addition to any other penalty, with an additional tax of five percent (5%) for each additional month or fraction thereof until the tax is paid. The board of commissioners may, for good cause shown, compromise or forgive the additional tax penalties imposed by this subsection.~~

~~Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade a tax imposed under this section or who willfully fails to pay the tax or make and file a return shall, in addition to all other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both.~~

(e) Disposition of tax proceeds. The Town of Mooresville shall set aside in a special account fifty percent (50%) of the net proceeds of the occupancy tax levied under subsection (a) of this section and one hundred percent (100%) of the net proceeds of the tax levied under subsection (a1) of this section and shall spend these funds to promote travel and tourism. The Town of Mooresville shall remit the remaining proceeds of the tax levied under subsection (a) of this section to its general fund and may use these funds for any lawful purpose. ~~As used in this subsection, "net proceeds" means gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer.~~

(f) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Net proceeds. -- Gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(2) Promote travel and tourism. -- To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

~~Effective date of levy. A tax levied under this section shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the month after the date the resolution is adopted.~~

~~(g) Repeal. A tax levied under this section may be repealed by a resolution adopted by the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners. Repeal of a tax levied under this section shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted. Repeal of a tax levied under this section does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal.~~ "

Section 2. Section 2 of Chapter 296 of the 1991 Session Laws reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 2. Travel and Tourism Authority. (a) Appointment and membership. After the Town of Mooresville adopts a resolution levying an occupancy tax under this act, it shall also adopt a resolution creating a Travel and Tourism Authority, which shall be a public authority under the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act. The membership of the Authority shall consist of: two members representing the Mooresville-South Iredell Chamber of Commerce; two members representing the motel or travel and tourism industry; and one member of the Mooresville Town Board. The resolution shall provide for terms of office, and for the filling of vacancies on the Authority. The Mooresville Town Board shall designate one member of the Authority as chair and shall determine the compensation, if any, to be paid to members of the Authority. Members shall serve at the pleasure of the Mooresville Town Board.

The Authority shall meet at the call of the chair and shall adopt rules of procedure to govern its meetings. The Finance Officer for the Town of Mooresville shall be the ex officio finance officer of the Authority.

(b) Duties. The Authority shall promote travel, tourism, and conventions in the Greater Mooresville area; sponsor tourism related events and activities; and finance tourism related capital projects in the Greater Mooresville area with the ~~fifty percent (50%) of the net proceeds~~ proceeds of the taxes levied under Section 1 of this act, set aside by the Town of ~~Mooresville,~~ Mooresville for this purpose, all disbursements from which shall be subject to approval by the Mooresville Town Board.

(c) Reports. The Authority shall report at the close of the fiscal year to the Mooresville Town Board, or more often if required by said Board, on its receipts and expenditures for the preceding year in such detail as the Board may require."

Section 3. Section 3 of S.L. 1997-410, as amended by Section 2 of S.L. 1997-447 and Section 4 of S.L. 1998-112, reads as rewritten:

"Section 3. Municipal Administrative Provisions. G.S. 160A-215, as enacted by S.L. 1997-361 and S.L. 1997-364, applies to the Cities of Goldsboro, Lumberton, Mount Airy, Shelby, and Statesville, to the ~~Town of St. Pauls~~ Towns of Mooresville and St. Pauls, and to the municipalities in Brunswick County."

Section 4. This act is effective when it becomes law.

~~"Sec. 2. Rate of Tax. The room occupancy and tourism development~~ tax ~~that may be levied under Section 1 of this act shall be~~ at the rate of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or similar accommodation furnished by any hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or other similar enterprise within the county now subject to the three percent (3%) sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any local sales tax.

"Sec. 2.1. Additional Occupancy Tax. -- In addition to the tax authorized by Section 1 of this act, the Craven County Board of Commissioners may levy a room occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any accommodations taxable under Section 1 of this act. The levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the tax authorized by this section shall be in accordance with the provisions of this act. Craven County may not levy a tax under this section unless it also levies the tax under Section 1 of this act.

"Sec. 3. -- Exemptions. The tax authorized by this act does not apply to gross receipts derived by the following entities from accommodations furnished by them:

SUMMARY: House Bills 665, 672, 764, 812, and 830 are all of the room occupancy tax bills in the House Finance Committee at this time. Some of the localities represented in the bills currently have an occupancy tax and others seek to create one. Following is a chart summarizing the bills in the committee:

House Bill 665	Rep. Owens	Currituck County	Modify penalty provisions
House Bill 672	Rep. Gibson	Towns of Biscoe, Norwood, Troy, and Wadesboro Anson and Montgomery Counties,	Authorize a 5% occupancy tax in Norwood; authorize a 3% occupancy tax in all of the other localities
House Bill 764	Rep. Setzer	Mooresville	Authorize an additional 2% occupancy tax; currently has a 2% occupancy tax
House Bill 812	Rep. Thomas	Craven County	Modify the use of the tax proceeds
House Bill 830	Rep. Walend	Transylvania County	Modify penalty provisions

BACKGROUND: Since 1983, the General Assembly has authorized many units of local government to levy a room occupancy tax. In several instances, the General Assembly has authorized both a county and a city within that county to impose an occupancy tax. Attached you will find a map and a chart indicating the counties and cities that currently have the authority to levy and collect an occupancy tax.

The rate of tax, the use of the tax proceeds, the administration of the tax, and the body with the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be spent vary considerably. Over the past several years, there has been a greater effort to make the occupancy taxes uniform. In 1993, a House Finance Committee subcommittee on occupancy taxes established several principles that have been applied to most of the occupancy tax bills in the House since that time. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted uniform municipal and county administrative provisions for occupancy tax legislation – G.S. 153A-155 and G.S. 160A-215. These provisions provide uniformity in the areas of levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties.

The North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition has a policy statement for legislation authorizing local occupancy taxes. Many of the principles contained in its statement are similar to the ones established by the House Finance subcommittee in 1993. Those principles include:

- Rate. – The county tax rate cannot exceed 6% and the city tax rate, when combined with the county rate, cannot exceed 6%.
- Use. – Two-thirds of the proceeds must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism-related purposes.
- Definitions. – The terms "net revenues" "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures" are defined terms.
- Administration. – The net revenues must be administered by a local tourism promotion agency that has the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be used, is created by a local ordinance, and at least ¾ of the members must be currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the taxing district and 1/3 of the members must be affiliated with organizations that collect the tax.
- Costs of Collection. – The taxing authority may retain from the revenues it actual costs of collection, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 collected each year plus 1% of the remainder collected each year.

There is a 32-page chart detailing the occupancy taxes authorized in North Carolina. The chart can be accessed on the North Carolina General Assembly's web page under "Latest Staff Reports". There is also a chart detailing the amount of occupancy tax revenue collected by the various localities. This chart can be accessed on the North Carolina General Assembly's Intranet web page under "Information Center", "Fiscal Research Division".

Nationally, state or local governments in every state impose an occupancy tax. The taxes are usually earmarked for tourist-related activities. The taxes are usually levied in addition to the general rate of sales tax. The combined state and local occupancy taxes average more than 10%.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE STATE BOARD OF COMMUNITY COLLEGES TO ASSESS MONETARY PENALTIES AGAINST PROPRIETARY SCHOOLS THAT OPERATE WITHOUT A LICENSE OR OPERATE OUTSIDE THE SCOPE OF THEIR LICENSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 8 of Chapter 115D of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 115D-93.1. Operation without a license or outside scope of license; penalty.

The State Board may assess a civil penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) against any person who owns or operates a proprietary school before receiving a license from the State Board. The State Board also may assess a civil penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) against any person who owns or operates a proprietary school that offers programs of instruction, courses, or subjects that were not specifically indicated in the proprietary school's application for a license. A civil penalty assessed under this section may be in addition to any other penalties or sanctions the State Board may impose for violation of this Article. This section shall be subject to Articles 3 and 4 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. The clear proceeds of civil penalties assessed under this section shall be remitted to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund in accordance with G.S. 115C-457.2."

Section 2. G.S. 115D-87 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(3a) 'Proprietary school' means a correspondence school, a proprietary business school, a proprietary trade school, or a proprietary technical school as defined in this section."

Section 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 1999, and applies to offenses occurring on or after that date.

HOUSE BILL 293:
Proprietary Sch./Civil Penalties/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: April 27, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Bridgeman
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 293 is an agency bill that authorizes the State Board of Community Colleges to assess a penalty of up to $5,000 against any person who owns or operates a proprietary school prior to being issued a license. The State Board would also be able to assess a fine against any person who owns or operates a proprietary school that offers instruction or courses not included in the school's application for its license. The bill becomes effective October 1, 1999, and applies to offenses occurring on or after that date

CURRENT LAW: The State Board of Community Colleges is charged with licensing all proprietary business schools, proprietary trade schools, proprietary technical schools, and correspondence schools. These are private institutions operated for a profit and do not include established universities, colleges, or private schools operating under Chapter 115C. The State Board must formulate the criteria and the standards for approving proprietary schools based upon the course or courses of study that will be offered. G.S. 115D-90(a) provides that no person shall operate a proprietary school until the State Board has issued a license for its operation. G.S. 115D-90(d) provides that a license is restricted to the programs, courses, and subjects included in the proprietary school's application, and the holder of the license must submit a supplementary application if it intends to expand its program of instruction.

The State Board may suspend, revoke, or refuse to issue or renew a license under specified circumstances. These circumstances include failure to comply with applicable laws and rules, providing false or misleading information on the license application, committing fraud in advertising, failing to maintain the school premises in a safe condition, employing teachers who have not been approved by the State Board, and failing to obtain and maintain a guaranty bond or its equivalent.

If a school offers courses or subjects that were not specifically indicated in the school's application for license, the State Board may suspend, revoke, or refuse to renew its license. If a school does not obtain the necessary license, the only course of action the State Board has is to prevail upon a district attorney to prosecute the owner of the school on a Class 3 misdemeanor offense.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 293 gives the State Board another enforcement tool. It authorizes the State Board to assess fines of up to $5,000 against a person who owns or operates a proprietary school before receiving a license. The State Board could also assess a fine of up to $5,000 against a person who owns or operates a proprietary school that expands its program of instruction beyond the scope of the school's existing license. This authority would be in addition to the other penalties and sanctions described above. Both the contested case provisions and the judicial review provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act would apply to the State Board's actions.

Pursuant to Article IX, Section 7 of the Constitution, and Article 31A of Chapter 115C, the clear proceeds of any fine would be remitted to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund. These funds are then transferred to the School Technology Trust fund and allocated to local school administrative units on the basis of average daily membership.

The bill also defines the term "proprietary school" in the Article governing proprietary schools. The term is defined as "a correspondence school, a proprietary business school, a proprietary trade school, or a proprietary technical school." All of those terms are currently defined in that article.

Kory Goldsmith, Research Division staff to the House Education Committee, contributed to this summary.

HOUSE BILL 315:
Motor Vehicle Tax Value

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Connie Wilson
Date:	April 27, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H315-CSLC-3/5		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 315 provides that the value of a classified motor vehicle for property tax purposes would be its true value or its wholesale value, whichever is less. The bill is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly classified motor vehicles registered with the Division of Motor Vehicles as a special class of property in 1991. Classified vehicles are taxed on a revolving, year-round schedule. Every month, DMV provides each county a list of the motor vehicles in the county for which registration was renewed or obtained two months earlier. The county lists and appraises the vehicles and send the vehicle owners a bill for the county, city, and special district taxes due. If the owner does not pay the taxes due on a classified, registered vehicle, DMV will refuse to renew the vehicle registration the following year unless the owner obtains a receipt showing that the taxes have been paid.

For classified motor vehicles, the ownership, situs, and taxability of the vehicle is determined annually as of the day on which a new registration is applied for or the day on which the current vehicle registration is renewed. However, the value of the vehicle is determined annually as of Janaury 1 preceding the date the new registration is applied for or the current registration expires. Therefore, property tax bills that a taxpayer receives in January through April of each year are based on the value of the vehicle as of the preceding Janaury.

The value of a vehicle, like all other tangible personal property, is based upon it true value in money as prescribed by G.S. 105-283. The words "true value in money" mean the price at which the property would change hands between a willing and financially able buyer and a willing seller. To determine "true value", counties use a pricing guide. Most counties use a pricing guide developed by Tax Equity Consultants. The pricing guides used by counties reflect the average retail prices paid for motor vehicles. In determining retail prices, all costs that are necessary to acquire and operate a motor vehicle are considered. A taxpayer who disagrees with the appraised value of a vehicle has 30 days after the date the tax notice was prepared to appeal the value. Counties will adjust an appraised value for reasons such as the vehicle's condition or excessive mileage.

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for HB 315 provides that a classified motor vehicle's property tax value may not exceed its wholesale value. The wholesale value is presumed to be the value of the vehicle set in a schedule of vehicle values adopted by the Department of Revenue. The schedule of values may not exceed the wholesale values of motor vehicles published in a recognized automotive reference manual. The proposed committee substitute differs from the original bill in that its reference to wholesale values is more generic. The original bill provided that the value of a classified motor vehicle could not exceed the applicable retail trade-in value determined under the National Automobile Dealers Association Official Used Car Guide.

BACKGROUND: The General Assembly enacted the classification to improve the collection rate for property taxes on motor vehicles. Millions of dollars in property tax revenue was being lost each year because of noncompliance with the requirement to list motor vehicles for property taxes. By tying the listing of most motor vehicles to the registration of the vehicles, the 1991 act eliminated most of the opportunity for noncompliance.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: County and City Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: Currently the law states that vehicles, as well as other forms of property, must be assesses at their true value. It also states that "true value shall be interpreted as meaning market value" (G.S. 105-283). This bill redefines true value for automobiles as either the market value or the wholesale value, whichever is less.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: At present one data company, TEC Data Systems, provides vehicle tax values to all county assessors statewide. This information is generally used to determine the value for property tax purposes, and reflects a value that is equivalent to or slightly less than retail. This is the amount most counties use to determine the "market value" of a vehicle.

The total statewide value of all vehicles, as reported to the Department of Revenue, for fiscal years 1995-96 through 1998-99 is as follows:

	1995-96	1996-97	1997-98	1998-99*
Vehicle Value	33,430,604,088	37,563,953,946	45,081,633,555	45,456,523,592

 Indicates this is preliminary data, with only 95 of 100 counties reporting.*

While growth in this sector has been very strong, it is expected to level off in the next few years. As such, this note assumes a 7% growth rate.

The 1997-98 weighted average property tax rate for all governmental jurisdictions in the state (cities and counties) was $0.968 per $100.00 of assessed value. The rate has varied from in the past ten years from a low of $0.938 per $100.00 (1988-89) to a high of $0.994 per $100.00 (1993-94 and 1994-95). Because of increasing pressures to build schools and provide other services, this note assumes a rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessed value for the five year period of the note.

Assuming 7% annual growth in the motor vehicle tax base, and a flat weighted average tax rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessed value, the expected property tax revenue from motor vehicles is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Vehicle Value	$51,613,962,257	$55,226,939,615	$59,092,825,388	$63,229,323,165	$67,655,375,787
Property Tax	$516,139,623	$552,269,396	$590,928,254	$632,293,232	$676,553,758

TEC Data Systems also provides a value estimate to the Division of Motor Vehicles. The estimated values given to the Division of Motor Vehicles are considered to be representations of "wholesale" value. According to TEC Data Systems, those wholesale numbers are, on average, 20% lower than the market value numbers delivered to the county assessors. As such, changing to wholesale values would reduce the motor vehicle tax base by approximately 20%.

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Total Wholesale Value	$41,291,169,806	$44,181,551,692	$47,274,260,311	$50,583,458,532	$54,124,300,630
Property Tax	$ 412,911,698	$ 441,815,517	$ 472,742,603	$ 505,834,585	$ 541,243,006

The net loss per fiscal year would be as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Property Tax Loss	($103,227,925)	($110,453,879)	($118,185,651)	($126,458,646)	($135,310,752)

The fiscal impact for FY 1999-00 would actually be slightly less than the above number to account for the lag in tax payments.

Suggested retail represents the price a dealership might ask for this make and model vehicle. This represents a fully reconditioned vehicle in excellent condition with a clean title history. This retail price is not a trade-in or private-party value, but rather assumes that a dealer has absorbed the cost of making the vehicle ready for sale, reconditioning, advertising, sales commissions, arranging for financing and insurance and standing behind the vehicle for any mechanical or safety problems. Many late model vehicles at this price have passed an inspection program or carry a warranty. Actual dealer selling price may vary from this price.

Consumer Rated Condition: Excellent

An "excellent" vehicle rating means that the vehicle looks excellent, is in excellent mechanical condition and needs no reconditioning. It should pass a smog inspection. The engine compartment should be clean, with no fluid leaks. The paint is glossy and the paint, body and interior are free of any wear or visible defects. There is no rust. The tires are new or nearly new. A clean title history is assumed.

Trade-In Value (Excellent) $16,635

Trade-in value represents what you might expect to receive from a dealer for this consumer owned vehicle. Keep in mind that the dealer must then absorb the cost of making the vehicle ready for sale, advertising, sales commissions, arranging financing and insurance and standing behind the vehicle for any mechanical or safety problems.

HOUSE BILL 358:
Fair Automobile Property Taxes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: April 27, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Allred
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 358 changes the property tax law concerning motor vehicles in two ways. It provides that the value of a classified motor vehicle for property tax purposes would be its true value or its retail trade-in value determined under the National Automobile Dealers Association Official Used Car Guide, whichever is less. It also extends the time a taxpayer has to appeal the appraised value of a motor vehicle. The bill is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly classified motor vehicles registered with the Division of Motor Vehicles as a special class of property in 1991. Classified vehicles are taxed on a revolving, year-round schedule. Every month, DMV provides each county a list of the motor vehicles in the county for which registration was renewed or obtained two months earlier. The county lists and appraises the vehicles and sends the vehicle owners a bill for the county, city, and special district taxes due. Taxes on registered motor vehicles are due four months after the registration is obtained or renewed. If the taxes on a registered vehicle are not paid within four months after they become due, the county includes the motor vehicle on a list that is sent to DMV and DMV cannot renew the vehicle's registration the following year unless the taxpayer obtains a receipt showing that the previous year's taxes have been paid

For classified motor vehicles, the ownership, situs, and taxability of the vehicle is determined annually as of the day on which a new registration is applied for or the day on which the current vehicle registration is renewed. However, the value of the vehicle is determined annually as of January 1 preceding the date the new registration is applied for or the current registration expires. Therefore, property tax bills that a taxpayer receives in January through April of each year are based on the value of the vehicle as of the preceding January.

The value of a vehicle, like all other tangible personal property, is based upon it true value in money as prescribed by G.S. 105-283. The words "true value in money" mean the price at which the property would change hands between a willing and financially able buyer and a willing seller. To determine "true value", counties use a pricing guide. Most counties use a pricing guide developed by Tax Equity Consultants. The pricing guides used by counties reflect the average retail prices paid for motor vehicles. In determining retail prices, all costs that are necessary to acquire and operate a motor vehicle are considered. A taxpayer who disagrees with the appraised value of a vehicle has 30 days after the date the tax notice was prepared to appeal the value. Counties will adjust an appraised value for reasons such as the vehicle's condition or excessive mileage.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 358 provides that a classified motor vehicle's property tax value may not exceed the applicable retail trade-in value determined under the National Automobile Dealers Association Official Used Car Guide. It also gives a taxpayer additional time to appeal the appraised value of a motor vehicle by extending the time for appeal from 30 days after the date the tax notice is prepared until the date the tax on the vehicle is due.

BACKGROUND: The General Assembly enacted the classification to improve the collection rate for property taxes on motor vehicles. Millions of dollars in property tax revenue was being lost each year because of noncompliance with the requirement to list motor vehicles for property taxes. By tying the listing of most motor vehicles to the registration of the vehicles, the 1991 act eliminated most of the opportunity for noncompliance.

SUMMARY: House Bill 1237 removes the $450 maximum limit on the examination fee the North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects may impose and replaces it with language that will allow the Board to recover its actual examination costs. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: In North Carolina, a person may not engage in landscape architecture unless the person is licensed to be a landscape architect by the North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects. Landscape architecture is the preparation of plans and specifications for, and the supervision of, projects involving the arranging of land and the elements used on it for drainage, soil conservation, grading and planting plans, and erosion control. To be licensed as a landscape architect by the Board, a person must meet all of the following conditions:

- Be at least 18 years old.
- Be of good moral character.
- Be a graduate of a Landscape Architect's Accreditation Board accredited collegiate curriculum in landscape architecture and have at least four years experience in landscape architecture. OR Have a minimum of 10 years of education and experience in landscape architecture.
- Pass a Board examination.

The license must be renewed annually. The current application fee is $100. The current examination fee is $450. The current renewal fee is $100.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill removes the $450 maximum limit on the examination fee and replaces it with language that will allow the Board to recover its actual examination costs. The Board uses a testing service for the preparation, administration, and grading of its examinations. The current cost of this service is $560 per exam. This cost does not include the Board's administrative costs.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects to charge applicants for licensure the actual cost of examination services.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Board of Landscape Architects purchases a national exam from the Council of Landscape Architectural Registration Boards for $560 per exam. The current statute only allows the Board to charge exam applicants $450 for the test. The Board is attempting to recover the $110 additional cost of the exam. The Board may also recoup the cost of administering the exam, but this decision has not yet been decided.

The exam has six sections. Applicants may take the entire exam or may take sections of the exam. Approximately 20 applicants take the entire exam each year and 40 applicants take an average of three exam sections. The price of the exam is prorated based on the number of exam sections taken. The 20 applicants paying $560 for the total exam will produce an additional $2200 in revenue for the Board. The 40 applicants taking 3 sections of the exam and paying $280 will also produce $2200 in additional revenue for the Board.

HOUSE BILL 1308:
Government Sales Tax Exemption

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen
Date:	April 27, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1308-PCSRB-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1308 would phase-in a State and local sales and use tax exemption for the following governmental purchases:

- Effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2001, local school administrative units and community colleges.
- Effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2002, counties.
- Effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2003, cities.

The proposed committee substitute adds community colleges to the list of governmental entities that may obtain an annual refund of the State and local sales and use taxes paid by them, effective July 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW: Counties, cities, and local school administrative units may obtain an annual refund of the State and local sales and use taxes paid by them. The General Assembly authorized local school administrative units to obtain a refund in 1998, effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 1998. To obtain a sales and use tax refund, the entities must request the refund in writing within six months after the end of the unit's fiscal year. Community colleges are not entitled to either an exemption from sales and use tax or a refund of sales and use tax under the current law. The State is allowed quarterly refunds of local sales and use taxes paid by it. The General Assembly enacted this refund provision in 1991.

BACKGROUND: Until 1961, a sales tax exemption was allowed to the State, counties, cities, rural fire protection districts, and nonprofit fire protection corporations. The exemption also applied to contractors' purchases of building materials to be used for construction or repair on behalf of an exempt entity. In 1961, the exemption was converted to a refund limited to counties and cities and contractors purchasing building materials on their behalf. The rationale for this change was that the exemption could be easily abused by someone making purchases for private use but misrepresenting the purchases as being by or for an exempt entity. The State had no effective way of verifying that retailers were exempting only purchases that actually qualified for the exemption.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1308 has safeguards that were not part of the pre-1961 law in order to prevent abuse of the exemption. The bill limits the exemption to tangible personal property purchased:

1. Directly by the local government unit.
2. With a local government unit check or credit account; and
3. With a local government exemption certificate signed by the finance officer of the unit.

The bill defines a local government unit as a local school administrative unit, a community college, a county, or a city. The city exemption is limited to cities as defined in G.S. 160A-1. Under this statute, a city is an incorporated city, town, or village that either was incorporated before 1945 or is regularly electing officers, levying and collecting property taxes at more than a minimal rate, and adopting an annual budget.

A local government unit that wishes to obtain the local government exemption certificates must register with the Department of Revenue. Each exemption certificate used to purchase property must contain the local government's registration number and a description of the property purchased. This information will be retained by retailers to enable the Department of Revenue's auditors to verify that the exemption is not allowed improperly. If all of these conditions are met, a retailer who honors a local government exemption certificate is not liable for any tax subsequently determined to be due. The local government finance officer would be liable under the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act for misusing an exemption certificate. Existing criminal and civil penalties would apply as well to any person who violates the tax law.

For those purchases that do not qualify for the tax exemption, a city, county, or local school administrative unit may receive a sales tax refund under existing law. Section 2 of the bill gives community colleges the same ability to request a refund of State and local sales and use taxes paid by it on purchases that do not qualify for the exemption granted in this bill. Under the refund statute, certain government entities are entitled to receive an annual sales tax refund for their purchases of tangible personal property, including purchases on their behalf by contractors of building materials and other items that become part of a local government building being built or repaired by the contractor for the local government. The local government entity keeps records of its purchases and files for the refund each year. Refunds of local sales taxes are deducted from distributions to the taxing county.

Converting the refund to an exemption for certain purchases will reduce the State's interest earnings on the General Fund because the State sales taxes paid by local government taxes under current law are held for a year or so before being refunded.

2003-04 -$43.5 mill.

Expenditures: Due to the delayed implementation, there should be no additional mailing costs to the Department of Revenue as notice of the proposed change could be included in the normal annual mailing to merchants and other interested parties.

BILL SUMMARY: (1) Replaces the annual refund of state and local sales taxes allowed counties, cities, and school boards with an exemption, phased-in according to the following schedule:

School Boards	Purchases made on or after July 1, 2001
Counties	Purchases made on or after July 1, 2002
Cities	Purchases made on or after July 1, 2003

To be eligible the local unit must register with the Department of Revenue, make the purchase by the unit's check or credit account, and provide the seller with the exemption certificate. In addition, the finance officer of the unit shall have the duties of registering for the exemption, signing the exemption certificate, and verifying that all property purchased with the exemption is for use by the unit. In addition, the bill sets out penalties for misuse of a local government exemption certificate.

(2) Exempts community college purchases from state and local sales tax, effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2001.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Local Government Tax Refund:

The shift from a refund to an exemption would reduce interest income for the State and add to investment earnings of local units. The reason has to do with the fact that refunds are paid the year after the purchase is made. A review of the refunds paid by month for a recent fiscal year indicates that the average refund to local units is paid in November of the fiscal year following the purchase of taxable personal property. In analyzing the cost of the exemption, it was assumed that exempt purchases would be made at an even rate through the fiscal year. Thus, the "average purchase" is made around January 1. This meant that a sales tax exemption for local units would accelerate sales tax relief from November back to January, a period of 11 months. The assumed interest rate used for the calculation of the interest income loss to the State (and gain to local units) was 6%, based on a recent estimate by the Office of State Treasurer for the 1999-00 fiscal year. This means that the effective interest loss is equal to 5.5% (6% for 11 months) times the exemption amount.

The actual refunds paid to local units during the 1997-98 fiscal year were $52.4 million, according to the Department of Revenue. This amount was grown by 6% for 1998-99 and 5% for future years. The refund amount was then moved back one year to obtain an estimate of the exemption dollars.

For public school purchases, the 1997 session model developed to cost out the new refund for public school was used. This model separately estimated the refunds for current expense purchases and capital outlay. The capital number was adjusted upward to account for the $1.8 billion state school bond authorization. For capital purchases, it was assumed that 50% of the cost was for taxable purchases of tangible personal property (versus exempt labor charges). In addition, the 1997 analysis assumed that for each of the $450 million installments of the $1.8 billion school bond authorization, 30% of the proceed would be spend in the first year after the bonds were sold, 40% the next year, and 30% the following year.

Community College Exemption. The Department of Community Colleges has indicated that a review of their accounting records shows state and local sales tax of $6.0 million paid on purchases during the 1997-98 fiscal year. This amount was grown by 5% per year to come up with cost estimates for future years.

One Time Impact:
The state general fund budget is prepared on a cash basis and under current law refunds to local units are made in the year after the actual purchases. These two factors mean that for the first year of the change to an exemption, the State General Fund would see reduced sales tax revenue stemming from the combination of an exemption plus the refunds to local units for purchases made the prior year. The phased-in implementation of the change means that the one-time negative impact on the General Fund budget will occur over a 3-year period. The affects the budget availability for capital improvements and one-time expenditures such as employee bonuses and litigation costs. Since most counties and cities count the potential refund as a "receivable" in the year of the purchase, there should be no one-time gain or loss to local units.

HOUSE BILL 708*

Short Title: Sanford-Lee Airport Authority Refunds. (Local)

Sponsors: Representative Cox.

Referred to: Local Government II.

March 30, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE SANFORD-LEE REGIONAL AIRPORT AUTHORITY TO RECEIVE SALES TAX REFUNDS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 3(a) of Chapter 903 of the 1991 Session Laws is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"Sec. 3. (a) The authority shall, in addition to the powers conferred in Chapter 63 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, have the following powers:

(11) To receive refunds of sales and use taxes under G.S. 105-164.14(c)."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 708:
Sanford-Lee Airport Authority Refunds

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: May 4, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Cox
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 708 allows the Sanford-Lee regional airport authority to receive an annual refund of State and local sales taxes paid by it. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: A local airport authority created by the General Assembly is entitled to an annual refund of State and local sales taxes paid by it if it has at least one of the following characteristics:

- It has all of the rights of a municipality.
- A local act of the General Assembly declares it to be a municipality.
- A local act of the General Assembly specifically authorizes it to receive a refund.

The refunds apply to direct purchases of tangible personal property. They also apply to sales and use tax liability indirectly incurred by a local regional airport authority on building materials, supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of any building that is owned or leased by the authority and is being built, altered, or repaired for use by the authority. To obtain a sales and use tax refund, an authority must request the refund in writing within six months after the end of its fiscal year. The request must include any information and documentation required by the Secretary of Revenue.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 708 amends the local act that created the Sanford-Lee regional airport authority in 1991 to specify that it may receive refunds of sales and use taxes paid under G.S. 105-164.14(c). Under this statute, 25 types of governmental entities, including local regional airport authorities that meet one of the conditions listed above, may receive a sales tax refund of the taxes paid on items they purchased subject to sales and use tax, other than sales of electricity, piped natural gas, and telecommunications services. There are approximately 35 local regional airport authorities. At least half of those are entitled to an annual sales tax refund.

BACKGROUND: Prior to 1961, the State granted sales and use tax exemptions to State and local governmental entities, including public schools, and nonprofit entities. Because of the number of abuses involving the exemption and the difficulty of auditing these transactions, the legislature changed the law in 1961 to allow refunds as opposed to outright exemptions. The statute lists those entities that are entitled to a refund. Nonprofit educational institutions, as well as most other nonprofit entities, are entitled to a semiannual refund of State and local sales and use tax.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division, and Sanford-Lee Airport Authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: Under G.S. 105-164.14(c), certain government entities are eligible for refund of the sales taxes they paid on purchases in the previous fiscal year. This refund is issued annually. The types of government organizations that are currently eligible for the refund include city and county governments, municipal sewer districts, water and sewer authorities, public health authorities, a council of government, schools, and regional pubic transportation authorities. The law also states that local airport authorities, created by the General Assembly, may be eligible for the refund if the authority meets at least one of the following criteria: it has all the rights of a municipality, a local act of the General Assembly declares it to be a municipality, or a local act of the General Assembly specifically authorizes it to receive the refund. This bill is a local act that would specifically authorize the Sanford – Lee Airport Authority to receive the sales tax refund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Prior to FY 1995-96 the Sanford – Lee Airport Authority has been receiving a sales tax refund. Airport officials estimate that this refund was approximately $500 - $700 per year. In 1996 the Sales Tax Division of the Department of Revenue notified the Sanford – Lee Airport Authority that they were ineligible to receive the refund. The Airport Authority has not received a refund since that time.

According to the Sanford Director of Finance, who maintains the authority's financial records, in FY 1997-98 the Authority made taxable purchases of $12,185. As such, the total sales tax charged was $731 ($12,185 X 6%). While the Authority has only paid $578 in sales taxes this year, this number is expected to return to near $750. (The airport authority is in the process of closing their existing facility, and opening a new airport. As such, it appears they are delaying many of their taxable purchases until the new facility is open. The construction costs are being funded primarily through federal grants and are handled as a federal government purchase. As such, a change in the status of the airport authority will have no impact on construction related purchases).

Assuming the authority continues to make approximately $12,500 to $15,000 in taxable purchases each year, total lost tax revenue would be approximately $750 to $900 per year. Two-thirds of this revenue loss ($500 to $600) will be to the State and one-third ($250 to $300) will be to local governments. The larger number in the range in used for estimate purposes.

Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1308-PCSRB-2		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1308 would phase-in a State and local sales and use tax exemption for the following governmental purchases:

- Effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2001, local school administrative units and community colleges.
- Effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2002, counties.
- Effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2003, cities.

The proposed committee substitute adds community colleges to the list of governmental entities that may obtain an annual refund of the State and local sales and use taxes paid by them, effective July 1, 2001, and it simplifies the exemption process.

CURRENT LAW: Counties, cities, and local school administrative units may obtain an annual refund of the State and local sales and use taxes paid by them. The General Assembly authorized local school administrative units to obtain a refund in 1998, effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 1998. To obtain a sales and use tax refund, the entities must request the refund in writing within six months after the end of the unit's fiscal year. Community colleges are not entitled to either an exemption from sales and use tax or a refund of sales and use tax under the current law. The State is allowed quarterly refunds of local sales and use taxes paid by it. The General Assembly enacted this refund provision in 1991 to benefit the General Fund.

BACKGROUND: Until 1961, the State granted sales and use tax exemptions to State and local governmental entities, including counties, cities, public schools, and nonprofit entities. The exemption applied to contractors' purchases of building materials to be used for construction or repair on behalf of an exempt entity. In 1961, the exemption was converted to a refund limited to counties and cities and contractors purchasing building materials on their behalf. The rationale for this change was that the exemption could be easily abused by someone making purchases for private use but misrepresenting the purchases as being by or for an exempt entity. The State had no effective way of verifying that retailers were exempting only purchases that actually qualified for the exemption.

Today, 25 types of governmental entities are entitled to an annual refund of sales and use taxes. Nonprofit educational institutions, as well as charitable nonprofit entities, are entitled to a semiannual refund. The list of governmental entities entitled to a refund is mostly limited to local governmental entities. The General Assembly did not include State agencies in the list of entities because the refund process would not benefit the General Fund, from which the agencies receive their appropriations, and would create unnecessary paperwork for the agencies. The only State agencies entitled to an annual refund are:

- The constituent institutions of the University of North Carolina, but only with respect to sales and use tax paid by them for tangible personal property acquired by them through the expenditure of contract and grant funds.
- The University of North Carolina Hospitals at Chapel Hill

Since 1986, sales to the Department of Transportation have been exempt from State and local sales and use taxes. The effect of the Department's exemption was to increase the Highway Fund at the expense of the General Fund. To offset the General Fund loss due to the Department's sales tax exemption, the 1991 General Assembly provided for a quarterly transfer from the Highway Fund to the General Fund of an amount equal to the amount of sales and use taxes the Department would have paid to the General Fund had its purchases not been exempt. The transfers have the same fiscal effect on the State as repealing the tax exemption, but do not place on the Department the administrative and accounting burden it predicted would result from repeal of the exemption.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1308 grants a sales and use tax exemption for counties, cities, local school administrative units, and community colleges. The first three governmental entities are currently receiving an annual sales tax refund. Converting the refund to an exemption for certain purchases will reduce the State's interest earnings on the General Fund because the State sales taxes paid by local government units under current law are held for a year or so before being refunded.

House Bill 1308 has safeguards that were not part of the pre-1961 law in order to prevent abuse of the exemption. The bill limits the exemption to items purchased subject to sales and use tax, other than sales of electricity, piped natural gas, and telecommunications services. The items for which a local government unit may receive an exemption mirror those for which it can receive a refund under current law. The bill also provides the following safeguards:

1. The items must be purchased directly by the local government unit for its use.
2. The items must be purchased with a check, credit card, procurement card, or credit account of the local government unit.
3. The items must be purchased with a signed purchase order that contains the unit's exemption number and a description of the property to be purchased.

The bill defines a local government unit as a local school administrative unit, a community college, a county, or a city. The city exemption is limited to cities as defined in G.S. 160A-1. Under this statute, a city is an incorporated city, town, or village that either was incorporated before 1945 or is regularly electing officers, levying and collecting property taxes at more than a minimal rate, and adopting an annual budget.

A local government unit must obtain a sales tax exemption number from the Department of Revenue. That exemption number must be included on the purchase order before a retailer can exempt the purchases from sales tax. If the conditions of the exemption are met, the retailer is not liable for any tax subsequently determined to be due. If the conditions of the exemption are not met, then the retailer is liable for the tax due, interest, and any applicable penalties. If the property purchased with the local government unit's exemption number is used by someone other than the local government unit, then the local government unit is liable for the tax due, as well as interest from the date the tax would otherwise have been paid. The proposed committee substitute does not provide for a penalty against the purchaser if the exemption is misused. The Department of Revenue asked that this provision be deleted from the bill, and in its place, the Department is authorized to seek the tax due, plus interest, from the local government unit. The unit may seek redress from the person who misused the exemption.

For those purchases that do not qualify for the tax exemption, a city, county, or local school administrative unit may receive a sales tax refund under existing law. Section 2 amends the law to give a community college the same ability to receive a sales tax refund as a city, county, and local school administrative unit have under current law. Under the refund statute, these governmental entities are entitled to receive an annual sales tax refund for the taxes paid by them on their purchases of items that are subject to a sales tax, other than sales of electricity, piped natural gas, and telecommunications services. To receive the refund, an entity must keep records of their purchases and file for the refund each year. Refunds of local sales taxes are deducted from distributions to the taxing county.

BILL SUMMARY: (1) Replaces the annual refund of state and local sales taxes allowed counties, cities, and school boards with an exemption, phased-in according to the following schedule:

School Boards	Purchases made on or after July 1, 2001
Counties	Purchases made on or after July 1, 2002
Cities	Purchases made on or after July 1, 2003

To be eligible the local unit must register with the Department of Revenue, make the purchase by the unit's check or credit account, and provide the seller with the exemption certificate. In addition, the finance officer of the unit shall have the duties of registering for the exemption, signing the exemption certificate, and verifying that all property purchased with the exemption is for use by the unit. In addition, the bill sets out penalties for misuse of a local government exemption certificate.

(2) Exempts community college purchases from state and local sales tax, effective for purchases made on or after July 1, 2001.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Local Government Tax Refund:

The shift from a refund to an exemption would reduce interest income for the State and add to investment earnings of local units. The reason has to do with the fact that refunds are paid the year after the purchase is made. A review of the refunds paid by month for a recent fiscal year indicates that the average refund to local units is paid in November of the fiscal year following the purchase of taxable personal property. In analyzing the cost of the exemption, it was assumed that exempt purchases would be made at an even rate through the fiscal year. Thus, the "average purchase" is made around January 1. This meant that a sales tax exemption for local units would accelerate sales tax relief from November back to January, a period of 11 months. The assumed interest rate used for the calculation of the interest income loss to the State (and gain to local units) was 6%, based on a recent estimate by the Office of State Treasurer for the 1999-00 fiscal year. This means that the effective interest loss is equal to 5.5% (6% for 11 months) times the exemption amount.

The actual refunds paid to local units during the 1997-98 fiscal year were $52.4 million, according to the Department of Revenue. This amount was grown by 6% for 1998-99 and 5% for future years. The refund amount was then moved back one year to obtain an estimate of the exemption dollars.

For public school purchases, the 1997 session model developed to cost out the new refund for public school was used. This model separately estimated the refunds for current expense purchases and capital outlay. The capital number was adjusted upward to account for the $1.8 billion state school bond authorization. For capital purchases, it was assumed that 50% of the cost was for taxable purchases of tangible personal property (versus exempt labor charges). In addition, the 1997 analysis assumed that for each of the $450 million installments of the $1.8 billion school bond authorization, 30% of the proceed would be spend in the first year after the bonds were sold, 40% the next year, and 30% the following year.

Community College Exemption. The Department of Community Colleges has indicated that a review of their accounting records shows state and local sales tax of $6.0 million paid on purchases during the 1997-98 fiscal year. This amount was grown by 5% per year to come up with cost estimates for future years.

One Time Impact:
The state general fund budget is prepared on a cash basis and under current law refunds to local units are made in the year after the actual purchases. These two factors mean that for the first year of the change to an exemption, the State General Fund would see reduced sales tax revenue stemming from the combination of an exemption plus the refunds to local units for purchases made the prior year. The phased-in implementation of the change means that the one-time negative impact on the General Fund budget will occur over a 3-year period. The affects the budget availability for capital improvements and one-time expenditures such as employee bonuses and litigation costs. Since most counties and cities count the potential refund as a "receivable" in the year of the purchase, there should be no one-time gain or loss to local units.

ADJOURNMENT OF MEETING

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Thursday, May 6, 1999

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, May 6, 1999 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building at 8:30 a.m. The following members were present: Chairs Allen, Luebke, Miller; Vice Chairs Jarrell and Wood; Representatives Bridgeman, Brown, Buchanan, Capps, Church, Cunningham, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Goodwin, Gray, Hackney, Hill, McCombs, Morris, Pope, Ramsey, Rayfield, Starnes, Tucker, and Womble. Staff including Cindy Avrette, Richard Bostic, Mary Shuping, Linda Millsaps, and Sam Byrd were in attendance. A Visitor Registration List is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Chair Luebke called the meeting to order to consider the following bills:

Representative Sherrill was recognized to explain HB 678, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR EQUAL TREATMENT FOR ACUPUNCTURISTS WITH RESPECT TO INSURANCE REIMBURSEMENT AND TO INCREASE THE LATE RENEWAL FEE FOR AN ACUPUNCTURIST LICENSE. Rep. Jarrell commented on the insurance coverage of acupuncturists. Rep. Jarrell moved for a favorable report. Richard Bostic explained the fiscal impact of the bill. The Chair recognized Joe Fister, a licensed acupuncturist from Durham, who spoke on the insurance coverage, training requirements, and benefits of acupuncture. Rep. Gray inquired about the health benefits and Joe Fister responded. Rep. Gray inquired about the fiscal impact stated in the actuarial note. There was confusion as the actuarial note was for the first edition of the bill and the bill in this Finance committee was the third edition. Sam Byrd, the writer of the actuarial note, stated that the third edition of the bill, which was the committee substitute from the Insurance Committee, incurred no fiscal impact on the state health plan. The Chair recognized Steve Keane of the Medical Society who commented on the benefits of acupuncture and directed attention to pg. 2, lines 20-27 of the bill. Rep. Cunningham commented on the reimbursement aspects of the bill. Rep. Jarrell's motion to give HB 678 a favorable report was passed. The bill, Bill Summary, and original bill's Actuarial note are included in these minutes.

Senator Lee was recognized to explain SB 18, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REVISE AND CONSOLIDATE THE CHARTER OF THE TOWN OF CARTHAGE. Jerry Cohen, a staff member, explained Senator Lee's amendment to the bill. Rep. Buchanan moved for for adoption of amendment #1a. The amendment carried. Rep. Brown moved for a favorable report of SB 18 as amended and that it be rolled into a Committee Substitute and unfavorable to original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the bill, amendment, and Bill Summary are included in these minutes.

Representative Hill was recognized to explain HB 1009, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH BY INCREASING THE ASSESSMENT ON FERTILIZER, COMMERCIAL FEED, OR THEIR INGREDIENTS. The Chair recognized Keith Oakley, Executive Director of the N.C. Agricultural Foundation, who stated his organization supported the bill. Keith Oakley stated his organization consulted farmers, the N.C. State Grange, and the Farm Bureau about this bill. Rep. McCombs moved for a favorable report on the bill. The motion passed. The bill, Bill Summary, Fiscal Note, and handout from N.C. State are included in these minutes.

Representative Hill was recognized to explain HB 1096, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF DOCUMENTS RECORDED IN THE OFFICE OF THE REGISTER OF DEEDS. The Chair recognized Ann Shaw, the Register of Deeds for Randolph County, who explained the content and purpose of the bill. Rep. Buchanan moved for adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion purposes. The motion passed. Rep. Brown moved for a favorable report to the Proposed Committee Substitute and unfavorable to the original bill. The motion passed. Copies of the bill, Proposed Committee Substitute, Bill Summary, and Fiscal Note are included in these minutes.

Representative Hill was recognized to explain SB 44, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ANNEX CERTAIN DESCRIBED TERRITORY TO THE TOWN OF LAKE WACCAMAW. Rep. Hill explained that this bill had come up in a previous session, but unfortunately it did not annex part of the town of Lake Waccamaw. The bill corrects that problem. Rep. Buchanan moved for a favorable report. The motion passed. A copy of the bill is included in these minutes.

Representative Hunter was recognized to explain HB 900, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT ALLOWING GATES COUNTY TO IMPOSE FEES FOR FIRE PROTECTION SERVICES. Rep. Womble moved for a favorable report. The motion passed. The bill, Bill Summary, and Fiscal Note are included in these minutes.

Senator Foxx was recognized to explain SB 59, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AMEND THE PHARMACY PRACTICE ACT TO PERMIT CERTAIN NONPROFIT CORPORATIONS TO OPERATE MOBILE PHARMACIES AND TO ALLOW SUCH PHARMACIES TO REGISTER ANNUALLY WITH THE BOARD OF PHARMACY. Sen. Foxx explained that the Proposed Committee Substitute clarifies parts of the original bill. Rep. Buchanan moved for adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. The motion passed. Mary Shuping, a staff researcher, explained the impact and need for the bill. Mary Shuping stated that the bill clarified that mobile pharmacies may only be charged the pharmacy registration fee once a year. Currently, mobile pharmacies are charged the registration fee for each stop. Rep. Womble moved for a favorable report for the Proposed Committee Substitute and an unfavorable report for original bill. Rep. Rayfield questioned how the pharmacists determine eligibility for mobile pharmacy services. Sen. Foxx answered that low-income persons are eligible for these services and this eligibility is determined through income tax statements and other previous certifications. Rep. Jarrell questioned the need for a licensed pharmacist on the mobile pharmacies. Sen. Foxx answered that since mobile pharmacies are classified as pharmacies, the law requires a licensed pharmacist be present. Rep. Womble's motion for a favorable report for the Proposed Committee Substitute and an unfavorable report for original bill passed. Copies of the bill, Proposed Committee Substitute, Bill Summary, and Fiscal Note are included in these minutes.

Senator Clodfelter was recognized to explain SB 313, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ALLOW MECKLENBURG COUNTY TO CONTINUE TO LEVY STORMWATER FEES IF REVENUE BONDS HAVE BEEN ISSUED AND ARE OUTSTANDING. Rep. Bridgeman moved for a favorable report. Rep. Capps questioned whether the fee would be used for outstanding bonds. Sen. Clodfelter answered that the fee would be levied to pay the current outstanding bonds. Rep. Bridgeman's motion for a favorable report passed. Copies of the bill and Bill Summary are included in these minutes.

Senator Cochrane was recognized to explain SB 691 – A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO INCORPORATE THE TOWN OF BERMUDA RUN AND TO SIMULTANEOUSLY DISSOLVE THE BERMUDA CENTER SANITARY DISTRICT. Rep. Brown moved for a favorable report. Rep. Rayfield questioned whether the sanitary district had any outstanding bills. Sen. Cochrane answered the sanitary district does have outstanding bills, but that these will be absorbed by the Incorporation which will take responsibility. Rep. Jarrell questioned what services would be provided by the Incorporation. Sen. Cochrane answered that services would be contracted, such as police protection. Currently the town's fire protection is provided by volunteer departments which are supported by a fire tax paid to the county. Rep. Tucker questioned whether the fire tax would continue to be paid to the county once the Incorporation occurred. Sen. Cochrane was unsure. Staff stated they would research that issue before the bill went to the House Floor. Rep. Brown's motion for a favorable report passed. A copy of the bill is included in these minutes.

Rep. Jarrell announced the Occupancy Tax Bills subcommittee would meet in Rm. 612 after Session today. Chair Luebke announced that Secretary Rick Carlisle of the N.C. Commerce Department and Professor Mike Luger would discuss and present the effectiveness of the Bill Lee Act tax incentives at the House Finance meeting Tuesday, May 11, 1999. Rep. Miller announced that the President of the New York Stock Exchange would give a presentation on Friday, May 7, 1999 at 9:30 a.m. in Rm. 544.
Senator Albertson pulled SB 249 and will reschedule.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:45 a.m.

Section 2. G.S. 58-65-1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 58-65-1. (Effective July 1, 1999) Regulation and definitions; application of other laws; profit and foreign corporations prohibited.

(a) Any corporation heretofore or hereafter organized under the general corporation laws of the State of North Carolina for the purpose of maintaining and operating a nonprofit hospital and/or medical and/or dental service plan whereby hospital care and/or medical and/or dental service may be provided in whole or in part by said corporation or by hospitals and/or physicians and/or dentists participating in such plan, or plans, shall be governed by this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter and shall be exempt from all other provisions of the insurance laws of this State, heretofore enacted, unless specifically designated herein, and no laws hereafter enacted shall apply to them unless they be expressly designated therein.

The term "hospital service plan" as used in this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter includes the contracting for certain fees for, or furnishing of, hospital care, laboratory facilities, X-ray facilities, drugs, appliances, anesthesia, nursing care, operating and obstetrical equipment, accommodations and/or any and all other services authorized or permitted to be furnished by a hospital under the laws of the State of North Carolina and approved by the North Carolina Hospital Association and/or the American Medical Association.

The term "medical service plan" as used in this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter includes the contracting for the payment of fees toward, or furnishing of, medical, obstetrical, surgical and/or any other professional services authorized or permitted to be furnished by a duly licensed physician, except that in any plan in any policy of insurance governed by this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter that includes services which are within the scope of practice of a duly licensed optometrist, a duly licensed chiropractor, a duly licensed psychologist, a duly licensed pharmacist, an advanced practice registered nurse, a duly certified clinical social worker, a duly licensed acupuncturist, and a duly licensed physician, then the insured or beneficiary shall have the right to choose the provider of the care or service, and shall be entitled to payment of or reimbursement for such care or service, whether the provider be a duly licensed optometrist, a duly licensed chiropractor, a duly licensed psychologist, a duly licensed pharmacist, an advanced practice registered nurse, a duly certified clinical social worker, a duly licensed acupuncturist, or a duly licensed physician notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in such policy. (3) The service is not performed while the nurse is a regular employee in an office of a licensed physician;

(4) The service is not performed while the registered nurse is employed by a nursing facility (including a hospital, skilled nursing facility, intermediate care facility, or home care agency); and

(5) Nothing in this section is intended to authorize payment to more than one provider for the same service.

No lack of signature, referral, or employment by any other health care provider may be asserted to deny benefits under this provision.

(b1) Payment or reimbursement is required by this section for a service performed by a duly licensed pharmacist only when:

(1) The service performed is within the lawful scope of practice of the pharmacist;
(2) The service performed is not initial counseling services required under State or federal law or regulation of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy;
(3) The policy currently provides reimbursement for identical services performed by other licensed health care providers; and
(4) The service is identified as a separate service that is performed by other licensed health care providers and is reimbursed by identical payment methods.

Nothing in this subsection authorizes payment to more than one provider for the same service.

(c) For purposes of this section, an "advanced practice registered nurse" means only a registered nurse who is duly licensed or certified as a nurse practitioner, clinical specialist in psychiatric and mental health nursing, or nurse midwife.

For the purposes of this section, a "duly certified clinical social worker" is a "certified clinical social worker" as defined in G.S. 90B-3(2) and certified by the North Carolina Certification Board for Social Work pursuant to Chapter 90B of the General Statutes.

For the purposes of this section, a "duly licensed psychologist" shall be defined only to include a psychologist who is duly licensed in the State of North Carolina and has a doctorate degree in psychology and at least two years clinical experience in a recognized health setting, or has met the standards of the National Register of Health Providers in Psychology. After January 1, 1995, a duly licensed psychologist shall be defined as a licensed psychologist who holds permanent licensure and certification as a health services provider psychologist issued by the North Carolina Psychology Board.

For purposes of this section, a "duly licensed acupuncturist" means an acupuncturist licensed by the Acupuncture Licensing Board pursuant to Article 30 of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes.

The term "dental service plan" as used in this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter includes contracting for the payment of fees toward, or furnishing of dental and/or any other professional services authorized or permitted to be furnished by a duly licensed dentist.

The insured or beneficiary of every "medical service plan" and of every "dental service plan," as those terms are used in this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter, or of any policy of insurance issued thereunder, that includes services which are within the scope of practice of both a duly licensed physician and a duly licensed dentist shall have the right to choose the provider of such care or service, and shall be entitled to payment of or reimbursement for such care or service, whether the provider be a duly licensed physician or a duly licensed dentist notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in any such plan or policy.

The term "hospital service corporation" as used in this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter is intended to mean any nonprofit corporation operating a hospital and/or medical and/or dental service plan, as herein defined. Any corporation heretofore or hereafter organized and coming within the provisions of this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter, the certificate of incorporation of which authorizes the operation of either a hospital or medical and/or dental service plan, or any or all of them, may, with the approval of the Commissioner of Insurance, issue subscribers' contracts or certificates approved by the Commissioner of Insurance, for the payment of either hospital or medical and/or dental fees, or the furnishing of such services, or any or all of them, and may enter into contracts with hospitals for physicians and/or dentists, or any or all of them, for the furnishing of fees or services respectively under a hospital or medical and/or dental service plan, or any or all of them.

The term "preferred provider" as used in this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter with respect to contracts, organizations, policies or otherwise means a health care service provider who has agreed to accept, from a corporation organized for the purposes authorized by this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter or other applicable law, special reimbursement terms in exchange for providing services to beneficiaries of a plan administered pursuant to this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter. Except to the extent prohibited either by G.S. 58-65-140 or by regulations promulgated by the Department of Insurance not inconsistent with this Article and Article 66 of this Chapter, the contractual terms and conditions for special reimbursement shall be those which the corporation and preferred provider find to be mutually agreeable.

(d) No foreign or alien hospital or medical and/or dental service corporation as herein defined shall be authorized to do business in this State."

Section 3. Article 30 of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section:

"§ 90-460. Free choice by patient guaranteed.

No agency of the State, county, or municipality, nor any commission or clinic, nor any board administering relief, social security, health insurance, or health service under the laws of the State of North Carolina shall deny to the recipients or beneficiaries of their aid or services the freedom to choose a duly licensed acupuncturist as the provider of care or services which are within the scope of practice of the profession of acupuncture as defined in this Article."

Section 4. G.S. 90-459 is repealed.

Section 5. G.S. 135-40.6(8) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"u. Acupuncture: Allowable charges for the treatment of pain and the production of regional anesthesia when performed by a medical doctor or an acupuncturist licensed or certified in the state in which he or she practices."

Section 5.1. G.S. 90-457 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-457. Fees.

The Board may establish fees, not to exceed the following amounts, to cover the cost of services rendered:

(1) For an application and an examination, one hundred dollars ($100.00).

(2) For issuance of a license, five hundred dollars ($500.00).
(3) For renewal of a license, three hundred dollars ($300.00).
(4) For the late renewal of a license, an additional late fee of ~~seventy-five dollars ($75.00).~~ one hundred dollars ($100.00)."

Section 6. This act becomes effective January 1, 2000. Sections 1, 2, and 3 apply to plans issued, amended, or renewed on or after that date. Section 5 applies to treatment and services provided on or after January 1, 2000.

HB 678:
Acupuncturist Reimbursement

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Sherrill
Date:	April 27, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	3rd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 678 provides that insurance companies must reimburse acupuncturists to the same extent they would reimburse physicians for the same service. It also increases the additional fee imposed for a late renewal by $25. The bill becomes effective January 1, 2000.

BILL ANALYSIS: Sections 1 and 2 of House Bill 678 add acupuncturists to the list of providers under the anti-discrimination laws. The anti-discrimination laws prohibit insurance companies and service corporations from refusing to reimburse the listed providers when they perform a service for which a physician would be reimbursed under the insurance plan. These changes would not require health insurance plans to cover acupuncture. However, if a health insurance plan does cover an acupuncture service performed by a physician, the plan would also be required to cover the same acupuncture service when performed by a licensed acupuncturist. Section 1 applies to commercial insurance companies, and Section 2 applies to service corporations (Blue Cross). By virtue of G.S. 58-50-56, these changes would also apply to preferred provider plans offered by insurance companies or service corporations. In addition, if an insurance plan does cover acupuncture services, any restrictions it places on that treatment must be the same for physicians as it is for acupuncturists.

Section 3 of the bill provides that governmental health plans cannot deny to their beneficiaries the right to choose an acupuncturist as the provider of care or services within the scope of practice of acupuncture.

Section 4 of the bill repeals a provision in the acupuncture licensing law that says that nothing in the acupuncture licensing law requires third-party reimbursement of acupuncturists.

Section 5 requires the Teachers and State Employees Health Plan to cover acupuncture in two instances: (1) when used to treat pain or (2) when used to produce a regional anesthesia. If the acupuncture service falls within one of these two categories, then it is to be covered by the State Health Plan whether provided by a medical doctor or by a licensed acupuncturist.

Section 5.1 increases the maximum late renewal fee for an acupuncturist license from $75 to $100.

Section 6 makes this act effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to policies issued, renewed, or amended on or after that date or to treatment or services provided under the State Health Plan on or after that date.

Linwood Jones, Counsel to the House Rules Committee and the House Insurance Committee, contributed to this summary.

LEGISLATIVE ACTUARIAL NOTE

BILL NUMBER: House Bill 678, Sections 5 & 6 Acupuncturist Reimbursement

SHORT TITLE: Acupuncturist Reimbursement

SPONSOR(S): Rep. Wilma Sherrill & Rep. Paul Luebke

SYSTEM OR PROGRAM AFFECTED: Teachers' and State Employees' Comprehensive Major Medical Plan.

FUNDS AFFECTED: State General Fund, State Highway Fund, Other State Employer Receipts, Premium Payments for Dependents by Active and Retired Teachers and State Employees, and Premium Payments for Coverages Selected by Eligible Former Teachers and State Employees.

BILL SUMMARY: Sections 5 and 6 of the bill provide coverage under the Plan's self-insured indemnity program for acupuncture when the practice of acupuncture is performed by a doctor of medicine or an acupuncturist licensed by the North Carolina Acupuncture Licensing Board. The Plan's nine health maintenance organization (HMO) alternatives to the indemnity program do not however appear to be covered by the bill.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2000.

ESTIMATED IMPACT ON STATE: Based upon information supplied by the Teachers' and State Employees' Comprehensive Major Medical Plan, the consulting actuary for the Plan, Aon Consulting, estimates the additional cost to the Plan's indemnity program to be $349,000 for fiscal year 1999-2000 and $1,152,000 for fiscal year 2000-2001. Based upon the same information, the consulting actuary for the General Assembly's Fiscal Research Division, Hartman & Associates, estimates the additional cost to the Plan's indemnity program to be $420,000 for fiscal year 1999-2000 and $1,565,000 for fiscal year 2000-2001. A combined estimate from the two actuaries would be an additional cost to the Plan's indemnity program of $385,000 for fiscal year 1999-2000 and $1,359,000 for fiscal year 2000-2001. This combined estimate for the Plan's indemnity program would be financed as follows:

Source of Funds	1999-2000	2000-2001
General Fund	$ 242,600	$ 856,200
Highway Fund	19,300	68,000
Other Employer Funds	38,400	135,800
Total Employer Funds	$ 300,300	$1,060,000
Employee Paid Funds	80,900	285,400
Former Employee Funds	3,800	13,600
Total	$ 385,000	$1,359,000

The estimated additional costs for the Plan's indemnity program for outlying years are $1,699,000 for fiscal year 2001-2002, $2,124,000 for fiscal year 2002-2003, and $2,655,000 for fiscal year 2003-2004

Including the same amount of 1999-2001 increased employer costs for employees and retired employees covered in the nine health maintenance organizations (HMOs) would result in revised employer-funded costs as follows:

Source of Funds	1999-2000	2000-2001
General Fund	$ 315,400	$1,113,100
Highway Fund	25,100	88,400
Other Employer Funds	49,900	176,500
Total Employer Funds	$ 390,400	$1,378,000

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Comprehensive Major Medical Plan for Teachers and State Employees is divided into two programs. From October, 1982, through June, 1986, the Plan had only a self-funded indemnity type of program which covered all employees, retired employees, eligible dependents of employees and retired employees, and eligible former employees and their eligible dependents authorized to continue coverage past a termination of employment other than for retirement or disability purposes. A prepaid program of coverage by health maintenance organizations (HMOs) was offered in July, 1986, as an alternative to the Plan's self-insured indemnity program. The benefits of the self-insured indemnity type of program are spelled out in Part 3 of Article 3 of Chapter 135 of the North Carolina General Statutes (i.e., $250 annual deductible, 20% coinsurance up to $1,000 annually, etc. paid by the program's members). HMOs are required to offer benefits that are comparable to those provided by the self-insured indemnity program. Employer-paid non-contributory premiums are only authorized for the indemnity program's coverage for employees and retired employees. Whenever employees and office holders first employed or taking office on and after October 1, 1995 become eligible for health benefits as retired employees, the amount of premium paid by the State for individual coverage will be based upon the retiree's amount of retirement service credit at the time of retirement. Only retired employees with 20 or more years of service credit at retirement will be eligible for non-contributory health benefit premiums. Retirees with 10 or more years of service credit at retirement will be eligible for 50% partially contributory health benefit premiums. Retired employees with 5 or more year of service credit at retirement will be eligible to continue their health benefits on a fully contributory basis. All other types of premium in the indemnity program are fully contributory. Premiums paid by employers to HMOs are limited to like amounts paid to the indemnity program with employees and retired employees paying any HMO amounts above the indemnity program's non-contributory rates. Both types of coverage continue to be available in the Plan with nine HMOs currently covering about 25% of the Plan's total population in 66 of the State's 100 counties. The Plan's employees and retired employees select the type of program that they wish for themselves and their dependents during the months of August and September of each year for coverage beginning in October. The demographics of the Plan as of December 31, 1998, include:

Assumptions for the Self-Insured Indemnity Program: For the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1998, the self-insured program started its operations with a beginning cash balance of $334.1 million. Receipts for the year are estimated to be $590 million from premium collections, $20 million from investment earnings, and $15 million in risk adjustment and administrative fees from HMOs, for a total of $625 million in receipts for the year. Disbursements from the self-insured program are expected to be $720 million in claim payments and $19 million in administration and claims processing expenses for a total of $739 million for the year beginning July 1, 1998. For the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1999, the self-insured indemnity program is expected to have an operating cash balance of over $220 million with a net operating loss of $185 million for the 1999-2000 fiscal year. For the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2000, the self-insured indemnity program is expected to have an operating cash balance of $35 million with a net operating loss of $270 million for the 2000-2001 fiscal year. The self-insured indemnity program is consequently assumed to be unable to carry out its operations for the 1999-2001 biennium without increases in its current premium rates or a reduction in existing benefits or both. This assumption is further predicated upon the fact that the program's cost containment strategies (hospital DRG reimbursements, pre-admission hospital testing, pre-admission hospital inpatient certification with length-of-stay approval, hospital bill audits, required second surgical opinions, mental health case management, coordination of benefits with other payers, Medicare benefit "carve-outs", cost reduction contracts with participating physicians and other providers, prescription drug manufacturer rebates from voluntary formularies, and fraud detection) are maintained and improved where possible. Current non-contributory premium rates are $110.08 monthly for employees whose primary payer of health benefits is Medicare and $144.60 month for employees whose primary payer of health benefits is not Medicare. Fully contributory premium amounts for employee and child(ren) contracts are $68.50 monthly for children whose primary payer of health benefits is Medicare and $90.12 monthly for other covered children, and $164.30 per month for family contracts whose dependents have Medicare as the primary payer of health benefits and $216.18 per month for other family contract dependents. Claim cost trends are expected to increase 8-10% annually. Total enrollment in the program is expected to decrease about one percent (1.0%) annually due to competition from alternative HMOs. The number of enrolled active employees is expected to show a 1-2% loss annually, whereas the growth in the number of retired employees is assumed to be 4% per year. The program is expected to lose about 2-3% of its number of active employee dependents each year, whereas the number of enrolled retiree dependents is assumed to grow 1-2% from year to year. Investment earnings are based upon a 5-6% monthly return on available cash balances. The self-insured indemnity program maintains a claim stabilization reserve for claim cost fluctuations equal to 7.5% of annual claim payments without reserving additional funds for incurred but unreported claims.

Assumptions for the Self-Insured Indemnity Program's Acupuncture Claims and Use of Licensed Acupuncturists: Under Article 30 of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, the North Carolina Acupuncture Licensing Board is empowered to establish parameters for the general and specialty practice of acupuncture in North Carolina and to adopt rules under the State's Administrative Procedures Act to implement these parameters. Chapter 21-1 of the North Carolina Administrative Code consequently requires acupuncturists to practice within the scope of training offered by a college accredited, or in the process of being accredited, by the National Accreditation Commission for Schools and Colleges of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine. According to the Commission, there are some 35 programs nationwide that are either accredited or in the process of being accredited. Chapter 21-1 of the Administrative Code also specifies that the parameters for the diagnosis and treatment of patients include the five elements and eight principles of acupuncture and oriental medicine, the Yin Yang theory, the channel theory, the Zang Fu organ theory, and the six stages and four aspects of disease progression. Under these parameters, treatment modalities include acupuncture, moxibustion, cupping, Gua Sha, massage therapy, herbal therapy, and dietary interventions. Some of the conditions treated by these modalities include: accidental injuries, acne vulgaris, acute sprains, adnexitis, agitation, alcohol addiction, allergies, amenorrhea, anal fissures, angina pectoris, ankle joint pain, anxiety, arthrosis of jaw joint, asthma, bacillary dysentery, back pain, Bell's Palsy, biliary colic, biliary dyskinsea, bladder problems, bronchitis, cardiac arrhythmia, cardiac neurosis, cardiovascular disorders, carpal tunnel syndrome, cataracts, cervicobrachial syndrome, chemotherapy nausea, childbirth analgesia, cholangitis, cholecystitis, colitis, collapse, common cold, conjunctivitis, constipation, coronary heart disease, coxarthritis, coxarthrosis, cystitis, deafness, depression, diarrhea, digestive problems, dizziness, drug addiction, duodenal ulcers, Dupuytren's contraction, dysmenorrhea, dysphagia, eczema, emergencies, enuresis, epicondylitis, epilepsy, epileptic seizures, esophagatis, fainting, fatigue, fibromyalgia, frozen shoulder, gastric hyperacidity, gastric ulcers, gastritis, gastroenteritis, gastroenterological disorders, gastroptosis, gingivitis, glandular exhaustion, glandular swelling, glaucoma simplex, gonarthrosis, grand mal, gum problems, gynecological disorders, gynecological tumors, hand pain, headaches, heart palpitations, hemiparesis, hemorrhoids, hepatitis, herpes simplex, herpes zoster, high blood pressure, hives, hyperemesis gravidarum, hypertension, hypotension, immune system deficiency, impotence, infertility, insomnia, intercostal neuralgia, irritable bowel disease, kidney problems, knee joint pain, labyrinthitis, lactation deficiency, laryngitis, leg ulcers, locomotor disorders, lumbar pain, male infertility, Meniere's syndrome, menopausal syndrome, menstral cramps, mental disturbances, mental illness, migraines, motion sickness, myofascial pain,myopia,neck pain, nervous tension, neuralgia, neurodermitis, neurogenic bladder dysfunction, neurological disorders, nicotine addiction, oesophagus spasms, painful menses, paralysis, paralytic ileus, neuropathies, pharyngitis, poliomyelitis sequelae, post-extraction tooth pain, post-operative dental pain, post-operative nausea, post-operative pain, pregnancy nausea, pre-mentstrual syndrome, prostatitis, pruritus vulvae, psoriasis, renal colic, respiratory disorders, retinitis, rheumatoid arthritis, rhinitis, salpingitis, schizophrenia, sciatica, sexual disturbances, shingles, sinusitis, skin disorders, skin scars, sleep disturbances, smoking cessation, spondylitis (ankylosing), spondylitis (cervical), sports disorders, sprains, strains, stress, stroke pareses, stroke rehabilitation,tennis elbow, thorax trauma, tinnitus, TMJ, toe pain, tonsillitis, torticollis, trigeminal neuralgia,uncontrolled urination, urological disorders, urological psychogenic, visual deficiencies, weight reduction, whiplash, wrist joint pain, zoster neuralgia. At the end of March, 1999, the North Carolina Acupuncture Licensing Board had licensed 119 acupuncturists; 95 practicing within the State and 24 practicing outside of the State. Of those practicing within the State, 73% reside in Buncombe, Durham, Mecklenburg, New Hanover, Orange, and Wake Counties. Approximately 23% of the indemnity program's members reside in these six counties. Licensed acupuncturists at the end of March resided in only 22 of the State's 100 counties. Four years earlier, the Board had licensed only 53 acupuncturists; 46 practicing within the State and 5 practicing outside of the State.

In contrast, the Plan's indemnity program has covered acupuncture only when performed by a doctor of medicine for the treatment of pain and for producing regional anesthesia. For fiscal year 1997-98, the program paid $30,401 on behalf of 261 patients. For fiscal year 1996-97, the program paid $10,077 on behalf of 109 patients. For fiscal year 1995-96, the program paid $3,386 on behalf of 74 patients.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA

SESSION 1999

H

HOUSE BILL 900

Short Title: Gates County Fire Protection. (Local)

Sponsors: Representative Hunter.

Referred to: Local Government II.

April 1, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT ALLOWING GATES COUNTY TO IMPOSE FEES FOR FIRE PROTECTION SERVICES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 11 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 153A-236.1. County fire protection fees.

(a) The board of county commissioners of a county may by ordinance impose a fee for the availability and use of fire protection services within the county. The fee imposed by the county shall not exceed the cost of providing the fire protection services.

(b) A county may adopt an ordinance providing that any fee imposed under subsection (a) of this section may be billed with property taxes, may be payable in the same manner as property taxes, and, in the case of nonpayment, may be collected in any manner by which delinquent personal or real property taxes can be collected. If an ordinance states that delinquent fees can be collected in the same manner as delinquent real property taxes, the fees are a lien on the real property described on the bill that includes the fee."

Section 2. This act applies to Gates County only.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 900:
Gates County Fire Protection

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hunter
Date:	May 6, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 900 authorizes Gates County to impose a fee for the availability and use of fire protection services within the county. The bill would become effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: Fire protection in areas outside cities is provided through the establishment of fire protection districts. The statutes provide for the creation of three types of rural fire districts:

- Insurance districts. G.S. 153A-233 authorizes counties to designate fire districts and prescribe their boundaries for insurance-grading purposes. To pay for this protection, the county is authorized to appropriate funds "not otherwise limited as to use by law."
- Tax-supported fire districts. Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes authorizes tax-supported fire districts. They are created by a petition and an election. To pay for this protection, a special tax is levied and collected on all taxable property in the district at a rate not exceeding 15¢ on the $100 valuation of property.
- County service districts for fire protection. Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes authorizes the county commissioners to define service districts for fire protection after a public hearing. To pay for this protection, a county may levy an additional property tax within the district for the purpose of financing fire protection services. The county may also use revenues whose use is not otherwise restricted by law and it may issue general obligation bonds.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 900 establishes a fourth mechanism for Gates County – a fire protection fee. Under the legislation, the Gates County Commissioners could, by ordinance, impose a fee for the availability and use of fire protection services within the county. The amount of the fees may not exceed the cost of providing the service. The fee may be included on the property owner's property tax bill.

The General Assembly has enacted similar legislation for Union County in 1992, Halifax County in 1993, and Richmond County in 1995. The House Finance passed a similar bill for Brunswick County last month. All of the bills mentioned above differ from House Bill 900 in the following respects:

- They allow the county to create districts. House Bill 900 appears to be countywide. It does not allow for the creation of different fire districts within the county.
- They provide for a schedule of fees that vary depending upon the estimated cost of providing fire protection services to that class of property. House Bill 900 provides that the fee cannot exceed the cost of providing the fire protection services. Arguably, this language may give the county the authority to create a fee schedule.

- They establish a maximum fee amount.
- They restrict the use of the fee revenue to fire protection in that district.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

 If enacted by County Comissioners at the rate expected by county manager (see Assumptions, below)

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation authorizes the Gates County Commission to establish a fire protection fee. The fees, in total, can not exceed the cost of providing fire protection services for the county. This fee can be billed with property taxes and, in the case of nonpayment, can be collected in the same manner as delinquent personal or real property taxes. It also authorizes the commission to adopt an ordinance to place a lien on the property for delinquent fire fees.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Gates County Manager anticipates that the county will levy an annual fire fee of approximately $40.00 per household. They expect the fee to generate about $160,000 per year for fire protection services.

HOUSE BILL 1009*

April 13, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH BY INCREASING THE ASSESSMENT ON FERTILIZER, COMMERCIAL FEED, OR THEIR INGREDIENTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 106-568.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 106-568.2. Policy as to referendum and assessment.

It is declared to be in the public interest and highly advantageous to the economic development of the State that farmers, producers, and growers of agricultural commodities using commercial feed and/or fertilizers or their ingredients be permitted by referendum held among themselves to levy upon themselves an assessment of ~~ten cents (10¢)~~ fifteen cents (15¢) per ton on mixed fertilizers, commercial feed, and their ingredients (except lime and land plaster) to provide funds through the Agricultural Foundation to supplement the established program of agricultural research and dissemination of research facts.

It is further declared to be in the public interest and highly advantageous to the economic development of the State that tobacco producers be permitted by referendum to levy upon themselves an assessment not to exceed ten cents (10¢) per hundred pounds of tobacco marketed to provide funds through the North Carolina Tobacco Research Commission for research and dissemination of research facts concerning tobacco."

Section 2. G.S. 106-568.8(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Fertilizer and feed assessments. In the event two-thirds or more of the eligible farmers and producers participating in said referendum vote in favor of such assessment, then said assessment shall be collected for a period of six years under rules, regulations, and methods as provided for in this Article. The assessments shall be added to the wholesale purchase price of each ton of fertilizer, commercial feed, and/or their ingredients (except lime and land plaster) by the manufacturer of said fertilizer and feed. The assessment so collected shall be paid by the manufacturer into the hands of the North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture on the same tonnage and at the same time and in the same manner as prescribed for the reporting of the inspection tax on commercial feeds and fertilizers as prescribed by G.S. 106-284.40 and 106-671. The Commissioner shall then remit ~~said ten cents (10¢) per ton~~ the assessment for the total tonnage as reported by all manufacturers of commercial feeds, fertilizers, and their ingredients to the treasurer of the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc., who shall disburse such funds for the purposes herein enumerated and not inconsistent with provisions contained in the charter and bylaws of the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc. Signed copies of the receipts for such remittances made by the Commissioner to the treasurer of the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc., shall be furnished the Commissioner of Agriculture, the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, and the North Carolina State Grange. The treasurer of the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc., shall make an annual report at each annual meeting of the Foundation directors of total receipts and disbursements for the year and shall file a copy of said report with the Commissioner of Agriculture and shall make available a copy of said report for publication.

It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Agriculture to audit and check the remittances of ~~ten cents (10¢) per ton~~ the assessment by the manufacturer to the Commissioner in the same manner and at the same time as audits and checks are made of remittances of the inspection tax on commercial feeds and fertilizers.

Any commercial feed excluded from the payment of the inspection fee required by G.S. 106-284.40 shall nevertheless be subject to the assessment provided for by this Article and to quarterly tonnage reports to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services as provided for in G.S. 106-284.40(c)."

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law; however, the increased assessment of five cents (5¢) per ton under G.S. 106-568.2, as amended by Section 1 of this act, shall not be levied nor collected before January 1, 2001.

HOUSE BILL 1009:
Funds for Agriculture Research

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hill
Date:	May 6, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1009 would allow farmers to vote on whether to levy an assessment of fifteen cents (15¢) per ton on mixed fertilizers, commercial fee, and their ingredients. This assessment would be a five cent (5¢) increase over the current assessment amount. The proceeds of the assessment would be used by the Agricultural Foundation for agricultural research and dissemination of research facts. The bill becomes effective when it becomes law; however, the increased assessment of five cents (5¢) per ton could not be levied before January 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW AND BILL ANAYSIS: In 1951, the General Assembly gave North Carolina farmers the ability to levy upon themselves as assessment on mixed fertilizers, commercial feed, and their ingredients, except lime and land plaster. The purpose of the assessment is to provide funds for agricultural research and dissemination of research facts through the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation. For the assessment to be levied, two thirds or more of the farmers voting in the referendum must vote in favor of the levying and collection of the assessment. If two thirds of the farmers vote in favor of the assessment, the assessment is levied annually for the next six years. A new referendum may be called and conducted during the sixth year on the question of whether or not the assessment shall be continued for the next ensuing six years. The sixth year period ends this year. In the past, the assessment has been supported by a 90% vote in favor of the assessment. The current assessment amount is ten cents (10¢). House Bill 1009 would increase the assessment amount five cents (5¢), from ten cents (10¢) to fifteen cents (15¢). This amount has not been increased since 1951.

The governing boards of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, the North Carolina State Grange, and the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc., arrange for and manage the referendum. They must publicly announce in each county the date, hours, and polling places in that county for voting in the referendum at least 60 days before the date the referendum will be held. They must also disclose the amount of the proposed assessment and the general purposes for which the funds collected will be used.

The manufacturer of the fertilizer and feed adds the assessment to the wholesale purchase price of each ton of fertilizer, commercial feed, and their ingredients. The manufacturer collects the assessment amount and remits it to the North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture on the same tonnage and at the same time and in the same manner as prescribed for the reporting of the inspection tax on commercial feed. The inspection tax is due by the last day of January, April, July, and October of each year. The Commissioner then remits the assessment to the treasurer of the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc. If a farmer does not want to pay the assessment, the farmer may request a refund in writing from the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation. The refund must be requested within 30 days from the date the assessment is paid.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: N.C. Department of Agriculture, N.C. Agricultural Foundation, North Carolina State University.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law. The increased assessment shall not be levied nor collected before January 1, 2001.

BILL SUMMARY: Currently farmers, producers, and growers of agricultural commodities pay a $0.10 assessment on each ton of mixed fertilizers, commercial feed, and the ingredients for feed and fertilizer. This assessment is added to the wholesale purchase price. Lime and land plasters are exempt from the assessment. The assessment was levied after a required referendum vote of eligible farmers and producers. The levy must be renewed by referendum every six years. The proceeds of the assessment are collected by the Department of Agriculture and deposited in the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation. The bill increases the assessment on these items to $0.15 per ton.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Funds from the assessment are deposited with the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc. The Agricultural Foundation is a non-profit, charitable and educational corporation as defined in Internal Revenue Service code 501(c) 3. The Agricultural Foundation was formed in 1944 "to aid and promote, by financial assistance and otherwise, all types of education and research in agriculture at or through the North Carolina State University at Raleigh." North Carolina State University administers the program.

According to documents from N.C. State University, total cash receipts for the Foundation were approximately $9.5 million in 1998. This was a significant increase from the $6.2 million experienced the previous year. Approximately $700,000 - $775,000 of this amount came from the $0.10 assessment on mixed fertilizers and commercial feed. This assessment is generally referred to in the agricultural community as "nickels for know how".

Officials at N.C. State University expect "nickels for know how" income to continue to hover at the $700,000 - $775,000 range for the next five years. Assuming the farmers approve the fifty-percent increase (from $0.10 to $0.15 per ton), the added revenue generated by the bill will be approximately $375,000.

Under current law farmers must vote on the "nickels for know now" funding every six years. The next referendum must be held in 1999. Generally voting is done in October or November. For the new rate, or any rate, to apply the measure must pass with a 2/3-majority vote. N.C. State reports that the referendum has always been endorsed by at least 90% of those voting. Therefore, Fiscal Research assumes, for the purposes of the note, that this measure will also be approved. The 2000-01 fiscal impact has been adjusted to account for the January 1 effective date.

☐ Committee Substitute for
H.B. 1096 A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF DOCUMENTS RECORDED IN THE OFFICE OF THE REGISTER OF DEEDS.

History and Current Information on the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc. and the "Nickels for Know-How" Program

AG FOUNDATION HISTORY

The North Carolina Agricultural Foundation, Inc. was incorporated on November 24, 1944 in Raleigh, NC as a means of supporting agricultural research, extension, and teaching activities in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at NC State University. Some of the names associated with the creation on the Foundation were: L. Y. Ballentine (President), A. G. Floyd (Secretary), R. J. Reynolds, W. H. Belk, T. B. Upchurch, Clarence Poe, W. Kerr Scott, Harry B. Caldwell, Thomas J. Pearsall, and J. M. Brougton.

CURRENT AG FOUNDATION INFORMATIO

The Foundation is currently directed by a 148 membe. Board of Directors. There is a representative from every county in North Carolina and 48 agribusiness members. (See the back page of this brochure for a current list of Ag Foundation officers.) Mr. Sam Brake, Jr., a farmer from Beaufort, North Carolina, is the President, and Dr. Paul Dew, Retired Executive Vice President of the North Carolina Agribusiness Council, serves as Vice President. Ms. Jan Dorsey, Executive Director of the NC Egg Association, is the Secretary.

AG FOUNDATION FINANCIAL HISTORY

Over the past ten years, assets in the Ag Foundation have grown from $5.0 million in 1988 to over $16.5 million in 1997. At the same time, total revenues (contributions, "Nickels" income, investment income and other income) have grown from $1.36 million in 1988 to $6.76 million in 1997.

In addition to support from "Nickels," the Ag Foundation receives support from private individuals (alumni and friends), corporations, and commodity and other organizations including philanthropic foundations. These donors support a variety of efforts in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, including student scholarships and fellowships, faculty support and professorships, and specific research and/or extension activities in the College. The increase in private support over the past ten years reflects the confidence and affinity supporters have for the College. In today's climate of decreasing federal and state support, these private dolla are more important to the College's support of agriculture in North Carolina than at any time in our history. This funding provides the College with a "competitive edge" that is invaluable.

"NICKELS FOR KNOW-HOW" HISTORY

The "Nickels for Know-How" program was created on November 19, 1951 as a $.05 voluntary collection on every ton of feed and fertilizer produced in North Carolina. It was stated in the first minutes of the Foundation that "Nickels" was not to serve as a substitute, but rather as a supplement, to state appropriations for agricultural programs in the College. In the first full year of the "Nickels" program, ending August 31, 1952, $105,368.37 was collected through the program. In today's dollars, that $105,368.37 would be equivalent to $657,149 for one and $1,314,298 under the current two nickels ed by the NC Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

"NICKELS FOR KNOW-HOW" REFERENDUM

Every six years since 1951 there has been a state-wide referendum on "Nickels," as required by state law. The "Nickels" referendum has always passed by more than a 90% favorable vote. "Nickels" is a voluntary program; however, there has never been a refund of "Nickels" contributions since it was created in 1951.

1999 "NICKELS" REFERENDUM

The next referendum for "Nickels" is scheduled for late fall 1999. At that time, all of the producers or users of feed or fertilizer in North Carolina will again vote as to whether to continue the "Nickels" program. A proposal to consider increasing the number of "Nickels" collected has been approved by the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation. This proposal is being shared with leaders of the agricultural community in North Carolina for their feedback and input.

"NICKELS FOR KNOW-HOW" REVENUES

Over the past five years, contributions to "Nickels" have been as follows:

Year	Total "Nickels" Support
1994	$608,328.44
1995	$638,926.43
1996	$657,242.80
1997	$704,710.43
1998	$797,766.43

HOUSE BILL 1096:
Register of Deeds Amends.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hill
Date:	May 6, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1096 requires the establishment of uniform recording standards for land records and imposes a $30 additional recording fee for documents that do not meet the uniform standard. It also clarifies that a register of deeds cannot record a document until the statutory requirements for registration have been met. The proposed committee substitute makes technical and clarifying changes to the bill.

MINIMAL RECORDING STANDARDS: Over the past several years, the number of documents recorded has increased significantly. Registers of deeds have become dependent on technology to help them keep up with the increasing number of documents being recorded. Current law provides for the uniform indexing and recording of land records; however , it does not provide uniform recording standards for land records. It is oftentimes difficult and time-consuming to use the computer scanning technologies for registration if certain minimal document standards are not met.

The National Association of County Recorders, Election Officials, and Clerks and the International Association of Clerks, Recorders, Election Oficials and Treasurers have organized a Property Records Industry Joint Task Force to study issues related to property records. One of its committees is recommending uniform standards for real estate document formatting. The items included in its document formatting recommendations include the following: legibility, paper specificiations, margins, document specifications, print specifications, and administrative content.

To help achieve minimal recording standards in North Carolina, Sections 1 and 2 of the bill require the Secretary of State, in cooperation with the Secretary of Cultural Resources , the North Carolina Association of Registers of Deeds, Inc., and the Real Property Section of the North Carolina Bar Association, to establish rules providing for minimal recording standards for land records. Section 4 of the bill repeals the recording standards contained in G.S. 161-14(b). The standards of G.S. 161-14(b) may be included in the rules established by the Secretary of State.

Effective January 1, 2000, Section 3 of the bill imposes an additional $30 recording fee on a land records document that does not meet the minimal recording standards established by rule. The purpose for the increased fee is twofold: To encourage document preparers to conform to the minimal recording standards and to help offset the costs involved in the increased time it takes to record and preserve a document that does not meet the minimal recording standards. The $30 fee would be deposited into the county's general fund.

REGISTRATION OF INSTRUMENTS: Section 4 of the bill clarifies that a register of deeds cannot record a doucment until all the statutory and local law prerequisites for registration have been met. The statutes and certain local laws require the following conditions to be met before a register of deeds can register or record a document:

- Acknowledgement of grantor, lessor, or the person executing the instrument. G.S. 47-17
- Certification of acknowledgement. G.S. 47-14
- Name of the person who drafted the instrument. G.S. 47-17.1
- Payment of the excise tax on conveyances. G.S. 105-228.30
- Payment of recording fees. G.S.. 161-10
- Payment of applicable local transfer taxes. S.L. 85-670, S.L. 89-393 (Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans, and Washington Counties)

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Secretary of State, County Registers of Deeds

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 3 of this act becomes effective January 1, 2000. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:
This bill directs the Secretary of State to establish minimum standards for recording land records and creates a $30 fee for registering land documents that do not comply with these minimum recording standards.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
Section 1 requires the Secretary of State to establish minimum standards for recording land records. Given the existing resources in the Secretary of State's Office, this requirement will not impose any additional cost on the agency. However, there is a proposed reduction in personnel in the Land Records Management Section that could delay the writing of standards. The Joint Appropriations Committee on General Government is considering the elimination of the position that will work on this standard. Since this action has not been enacted, this fiscal note assumes the status quo and thus no impact from the requirement of HB 1096.

Section 3 creates a new fee for registering non-standard land records documents. This $30 fee is a recommendation of the North Carolina Association of Registers of Deeds in their attempt to discourage the filing of non-standard documents. Discussion with Registers of Deeds in Columbus, Randolph, and Wake counties revealed that as many as one-third of the deeds of trust recorded by Registers of Deeds are non-standard. Unfortunately there is no source of data on the number of standard or non-standard documents filed each year with Registers of Deeds.

To gauge the potential impact of this bill, this note examines the workload of the Randolph County Register of Deeds Office and applies the results to the other 99 counties. Of the 30,000 documents recorded in Randolph County in 1998, approximately 40% or 12,000 were deeds of trusts. Dividing the 12,000 deeds of trusts by the Randolph County population of 119,306 (1997 estimate), Randolph County had .10058 deeds of trust for each resident. Applying this per capita amount to the state population of 7,436,690 (1997 estimate), yields 747,982 deeds of trusts issued in 1998 statewide. Assuming that one-third of deeds of trusts are recorded in a nonstandard format, then there were 246,834 non-standard deeds of trusts filed in the state in 1998. If lenders continue to submit non-standard deeds of trusts after the passage of HB 1096, then county revenues could increase $7.4 million each year as follows:

246,834 non-standard deeds of trusts X $30 = $7,405,020

This $7.4 million in county revenue will be realized if lenders choose not to comply with the standardized format. Lenders may choose to do business as usual and pass this fee on to the consumer.

"Section 4.3. Settlement of Claims by Town Manager. The Council may authorize the Town Manager to settle claims against the Town for (i) personal injuries or damages to property when the amount involved does not exceed the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) and does not exceed the actual loss sustained, including loss of time, medical expenses, and any other expenses actually incurred; and (ii) the taking of small portions of private property which are needed for the rounding of corners at intersections of streets, when the amount involved in any such settlement does not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) and does not exceed the actual loss sustained. Settlement of a claim by the Town Manager pursuant to this section shall constitute a complete release of the Town from any and all damages sustained by the person involved in such settlement in any manner arising out of the incident, occasion, or taking complained of. All such settlements and all such releases shall be approved in advance by the Town Attorney.

"ARTICLE V. ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES.

"Section 5.4. Other Administrative Officers and Employees. The Council may authorize other positions to be filled by appointment by the Town Manager, and may organize the Town government as deemed appropriate, subject to the requirements of general law.

"Section 5.5. Manager's Authority; Role of Elected Officials. As chief administrator, the Town Manager shall have the power to appoint, suspend, and remove all nonelected officers, department heads, and employees of the Town, except the Town Attorney, who shall be appointed as provided in Section 5.1 of this Charter. Neither the Mayor nor the Council nor any of its committees or members shall take part in the appointment or removal of officers, department heads, and employees in the administrative service of the Town, except as provided by this Charter. Except for the purpose of inquiry, or for consultation with the Town Attorney, the Mayor and the Council and its members shall deal with officers and employees in the administrative service only through the Manager, Acting Manager, or Interim Manager, and neither the Mayor nor the Council nor any of its members shall give orders or directions to any subordinate of the Manager, Acting Manager, or Interim Manager, either publicly or privately.

"ARTICLE VI. REMOVAL OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

"Section 6.1. Liens for Removal of Motor Vehicles. Pursuant to the authority granted by G.S. 160A-303 and G.S. 160A-303.2 and Chapter 451 of the Session Laws of 1987, the Council may establish reasonable towing fees for the cost of removing junked motor vehicles from private property. When the town causes the removal of a junked motor vehicle from private property pursuant to the authority granted by G.S. 160A-303 and G.S. 160A-303.2 and Chapter 451 of the Session Laws of 1987, and the owner of the vehicle fails to pay the towing fee within 30 days after it becomes due, the towing fee shall become a lien against the real property from which the vehicle was removed provided the owner of the real property from which the vehicle was removed was also the owner of the junked motor vehicle; said cost shall be placed upon the Town's tax books against the property and may be collected and foreclosed in the same manner as taxes are collected and foreclosed, or by suit, as the Town may determine.

"ARTICLE VII. EXTRATERRITORIAL POWERS.

"Section 7.1. Extraterritorial Jurisdiction. The Town shall have and may exercise all of the powers granted by Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes within an extraterritorial area which it shall define. Despite the contrary provisions of G.S. 160A-360, the Town may, with the approval of the board of county commissioners, extend its extraterritorial area up to two miles outside the corporate limits.

Section 2. The purpose of this act is to revise the Charter of the Town of Carthage and to consolidate certain acts concerning the property, affairs, and government of the Town. It is intended to continue without interruption those provisions of prior acts which are expressly consolidated into this act, so that all rights and liabilities which have accrued are preserved and may be enforced.

Section 3. This act does not repeal or affect any acts concerning the property, affairs, or government of public schools, or any acts validating official actions, proceedings, contracts, or obligations of any kind.

SENATE BILL 18:
Carthage Charter Consolidation (2nd Edition)

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: May 6, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Sen. Lee
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 18 consolidates the charter of the Town of Carthage and reflects the changes in governance that have already taken place. In addition, the bill:

- Allows the Council to authorize the Town Manager to settle claims of not more than $2,500.
- Allows the Town Manager to appoint the Town Attorney, Town, Clerk, and Tax Collector.
- Allows the Town to impose liens on real property that cover the cost of the reasonable towing fees for the removal of junked vehicles from the property. The lien may be imposed only if the owner of the property is also the owner of the vehicle.
- With the approval of the County Commissioners, allows the Town to extend its extraterritorial jurisdiction up to two miles from its corporate limits.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Form of Government – Chapter 160A of the General Statutes gives local governments the authority to change their form of government. In 1997, the Town of Carthage amended its charter to provide for a four-year term for its mayor and staggered four-year terms for its council members. In 1998, it adopted a Council-Manager form of government. This bill reflects those changes.

Vehicle Towing – Towns do not ordinarily have the authority to remove vehicles from private property. In 1987, the General Assembly authorized Moore County and by extension Carthage, to go on private property to remove junked motor vehicles. The 1987 law sets out a procedure that affords a hearing to the vehicle owner and also allows the municipality to sell the vehicle to recover its "reasonable towing fees". This bill allows a lien to be placed on the land when the vehicle was towed from the vehicle owner's land.

Extraterritorial Jurisdiction – Chapter 160A of the General Statutes gives towns with populations of more than 10,000 but less than 25,000 the authority to exercise extraterritorial jurisdiction within two miles of their corporate borders. Carthage, with a population of approximately 1,460, does not meet those criteria. The bill waives the population criteria and allows Carthage to exercise extraterritorial jurisdiction up to two miles from its corporate limits if it has approval from the county commissioners.

Mobile Pharmacies

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Foxx
Date:	May 6, 1999	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	PCS for 3rd Edition S59-PCSSC-001		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 59 permits the operation of certain nonprofit mobile pharmacies and requires those pharmacies to register with and pay the fee to the Board of Pharmacy in accordance with the requirements for other pharmacies.

BACKGROUND: Under current law, all pharmacies must register annually with the Board of Pharmacy and pay an initial registration fee of $350 and $175 annually thereafter. This law has been interpreted by the Board to require a mobile pharmacy to pay a separate fee for each location where the mobile pharmacy dispenses drugs. This interpretation was applied by the Board to a nonprofit mobile pharmacy that distributes prescription drugs to persons whose family income is less than 200% of the federal poverty level and who do not receive governmental or private reimbursement for these medications. The mobile pharmacy made between 9 and 10 stops and was charged the registration fee for each location.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 90-85.21 requires all pharmacies to register annually with the Board, and G.S. 90-85.24 authorizes the Board to charge a $350 initial registration fee and a $175 annual renewal fee. "Pharmacy" is defined as "any place where prescription drugs are dispensed or compounded." Current law does not distinguish between mobile pharmacies and other pharmacies.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of the bill adds a definition of "mobile pharmacy" to the Pharmacy Practice Act. The definition provides that mobile pharmacies are those operated by nonprofit corporations that provide prescription drugs to individuals whose family incomes are less than 200% of the federal poverty level and who do not receive any public or private reimbursement for the prescriptions. Finally, the definition clarifies that each mobile unit is a single pharmacy.

Section 2 of the bill amends G.S. 90-85.21, Pharmacy permit, to add a new subsection to provide for the separate registration of mobile pharmacies. Mobile pharmacies must register with the Board in accordance with the registration procedures for other pharmacies, including the payment of the registration fee. This section also clarifies that a mobile pharmacy will not be required to pay a separate registration fee for each location. In addition, the mobile pharmacy must provide the Board with the address of every location from which prescription drugs will be dispensed.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Board of Pharmacy.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill defines a mobile pharmacy and declares that each mobile pharmacy unit must be considered a single pharmacy. It requires a mobile pharmacy to register annually with the Board of Pharmacy, providing a list of all the mobile pharmacy stops. The bill also prohibits the Board of Pharmacy from charging a registration fee for each mobile pharmacy stop. The prohibition applies only to mobile pharmacies operated by non-profit corporations that dispense prescription drugs at no charge or at a reduced charge to persons who met certain income requirements but are not covered by another insurance system.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Board of Pharmacy currently charges pharmacies a $350 initial registration fee and a $175 renewal fee. The Board also collects fees from pharmacists, durable medical equipment (DME), and medical devise providers. They also collect money from exam fees, law books, pharmacy lists and labels, pharmacist lists and labels, investments, property use, and reciprocity. In total, between September 1996 and September 1997 the Board of Pharmacy collected $1,231,169. During the same period they reported expenditures of $1,082,010. This created a net excess of revenue over expenditures of $149,159. Adding this to the previous fund balance of $347,142 created a new fund balance of $496,301 on September 30, 1997. No more recent data is available at this time.

At present the Board is charging mobile pharmacies a $175 renewal fee for each stop they make to dispense medicine. Fiscal Research believes there is one mobile pharmacy organization that will be impacted by the bill. This non-profit organization provides medicines to lower income individuals that are not covered by Medicare, Medicaid, private pay insurance, or a similar unit of governments (state employees health plan, for example). They receive some of the medication as donations from the manufacturers. The balance is purchased through cash donations. This mobile pharmacy currently stops at nine or ten locations. The Board of Pharmacy is currently charging them for each stop, requiring total renewal fees of $1750 (assuming ten stops). Under the bill the board could only charge an annual fee of $175. Thus the Board of Pharmacy would see a revenue loss of $1575.

SENATE BILL 313

Short Title: Mecklenburg Stormwater Fees. (Local)

March 11, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW MECKLENBURG COUNTY TO CONTINUE TO LEVY STORMWATER FEES IF REVENUE BONDS HAVE BEEN ISSUED AND ARE OUTSTANDING.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 153A-277(a1) reads as rewritten:

"(a1) Before it establishes or revises a schedule of rates, fees, charges, or penalties for structural and natural stormwater and drainage systems under this section, the board of commissioners shall hold a public hearing on the matter. A notice of the hearing shall be given at least once in a newspaper having general circulation in the area, not less than seven days before the public hearing. The hearing may be held concurrently with the public hearing on the proposed budget ordinance.

The fees established under this subsection must be made applicable throughout the area of the county outside municipalities. Schedules of rates, fees, charges, and penalties for providing structural and natural stormwater and drainage system service may vary according to whether the property served is residential, commercial, or industrial property, the property's use, the size of the property, the area of impervious surfaces on the property, the quantity and quality of the runoff from the property, the characteristics of the watershed into which stormwater from the property drains, and other factors that affect the stormwater drainage system. Rates, fees, and charges imposed under this subsection may not exceed the county's cost of providing a stormwater and drainage system.

No stormwater utility fee may be levied under this subsection whenever two or more units of local government operate separate structural and natural stormwater and drainage system services in the same area within a ~~county.~~ county, except that a unit of local government that has issued revenue bonds, including revenue bonds issued to refund prior revenue bonds, for which stormwater utility fees have been pledged under Article 5 of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes may continue to levy a stormwater utility fee under this subsection for the sole purpose of (i) paying principal, interest, or redemption premiums in accordance with the terms of the revenue bonds, (ii) funding any reserve requirements or similar obligations imposed by any documents, instruments, or agreements pursuant to which the revenue bonds are authorized or issued or securing the same or any related credit facility, liquidity facility, derivative agreement, or any other similar agreement, and (iii) paying any related cost, fees, and expenses until the revenue bonds have been retired. However, two or more units of local government may allocate among themselves the functions, duties, powers, and responsibilities for jointly operating a single structural and natural stormwater and drainage system service in the same area within a county, provided that only one unit may levy a fee for the service within the joint service area. For purposes of this subsection, a unit of local government shall include a regional authority providing structural and natural stormwater and drainage system services."

Section 2. This act applies to Mecklenburg County only.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 313:
Mecklenburg Stormwater Fees

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: May 6, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Senator Clodfelter
Summary by: Cindy Avrette
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 313 is a local bill that allows Mecklenburg County to continue to levy stormwater utility fees to pay off issued and outstanding revenue bonds, even if two or more units of local government are operating separate structural and natural stormwater and drainage system services in the same area within the County. This exception applies only when the stormwater fees have been pledged as a funding source for repayment of the revenue bonds. Senate Bill 313 is identical to House Bill 597. House Bill 596, introduced by Rep. Alexander, was given a favorable report in House Local Government I and is also in House Finance.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 153A-277 authorizes a county to establish and revise rates and fees for services furnished by a public enterprise such as a structural and natural stormwater and drainage system. These fees may vary according to factors that affect the stormwater drainage system such as the type of property, the use of the property, and the size of the property. No stormwater fee may be levied when two or more units of local government operate separate structural and natural stormwater and drainage system services in the same area within a county. The units of local government, however may agree to allocate the responsibilities of operating such a system as long as only one unit levies a fee for the service.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 313 authorizes Mecklenburg County to continue to levy a stormwater utility fee, even though two or more units of local government are operating separate stormwater and drainage system services in the same area within the County. The stormwater utility fee may be levied only for the following purposes:

- To pay principal, interest, or redemption premiums under the terms of the revenue bonds,
- To fund any reserve requirements or obligations imposed by any documents, instruments, or agreements pursuant to which the revenue bonds are authorized or issued or securing the same or related credit facility, liquidity facility, derivative agreement, or other similar agreement.
- To pay any related cost, fees, and expenses until the revenue bonds have been retired.

BACKGROUND: During the 1997 Session, the General Assembly enacted similar legislation authorizing the City of Charlotte to continue to levy stormwater fees for issued and outstanding revenue bonds.

William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act

- First enacted in 1996 to stimulate the North Carolina economy – particularly in economically distressed areas
- Amended in 1997 and 1998 to enhance its practicality, effectiveness and accountability.
- Provides tax credits for five types of activities:
  - Job creation
  - Investment in machinery and equipment
  - Research and development expenditures
  - Worker training costs
  - Expansion of central administrative office property
- Offers a sliding scale of these credits depending upon a county's enterprise tier designation, which is determined by a formula comprised of population growth, unemployment rates, and per capita income.

1999 Tier Report of the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act

A 1997 amendment to the William S. Lee Act directed the Department of Commerce to examine the enterprise tier formula. The directive included consideration for alternative measures for more equitable treatment of counties in similar economic circumstances and consideration of whether the assignment of tiers and the applicable thresholds are equitable for smaller counties.

A seven-member task force studied the tier system and in its 1999 Tier Study Report:

- Found no variation in the enterprise tier formula significantly improved the tier designation system
- Recommended that the General Assembly keep the current tier formula in place while allowing some type of special provision for smaller counties

1999 Progress Report of the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act

The William S. Lee Act was developed to:

- Help existing firms maintain and improve competitiveness through investment in new technologies
- Encourage new investment in North Carolina's economy from both existing and new industries
- Ensure that economic growth is reaching all people in all parts of the state, particularly rural counties and high-poverty urban areas

The 1997 amendment to the William S. Lee Act also directed the Department of Commerce to review economic indicators to determine that the Act was fulfilling its original intent. Based on a review of job creation and investment numbers, the utilization of tax credits, and the financial impact of these credits, the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act 1999 Progress Report found that since the passage of the Act:

- Existing businesses take advantage of more tax credit opportunities than new firms
- Overall, job creation and capital investment increased in North Carolina
- Overall, the industries eligible for the tax credits under the Lee Act created more jobs and generated more new investment
- Industrial recruitment and expansion in the most distressed counties (Tiers 1 and 2) compares favorably to the rest of the state on a per capita basis

The Cost of the Lee Act

Based on the tax returns available for analysis, the total amount of foregone revenue from the Act in 1997 was $10,787,894, distributed among the credits as follows:

Type of credit	Amount of credits utilized in 1997	Amount of activity reported	Dollars of credit per activity unit
Jobs	$ 801,539	3,983 jobs	$ 201 per job claimed
Machinery & Equipment	$ 4,097,382	$ 789, 300,000	$ 5 per $1000 expenditure
Research & Development	$ 5,888,973	$ 723,700,000	$ 8 per $1000 expenditure

* Worker training and central office omitted due to insufficient data.

Conclusions

- The current tier formula is working as well as any formula can and should be maintained. The tier system could be more successful with a special provision for smaller counties. (This provision has been proposed in the Widely Shared Prosperity Act (HB 1303; SB 1115.)
- The William S. Lee Act is effective in
  - Helping existing firms invest in and compete with new technologies
  - Encouraging new investment by North Carolina's existing industries as well as new businesses
  - Ensuring that prosperity is indeed widely shared by targeting rural and urban distressed areas. The Act can be strengthened to extend its reach with provisions included in the Widely Shared Prosperity Act (HB 1303; SB 1115.)

HISTORY OF ENTERPRISE TIERS UNDER THE WILLIAM S. LEE ACT

In 1996, the General Assembly enacted the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act which provided for a modest expansion of North Carolina's incentives programs. The Act expanded an existing job creation tax credit to all 100 counties in the state and significantly expanded the amount available in the most distressed counties. The Act also established several new incentives including an investment tax credit, a research and development tax credit, and a worker training credit. All of these credits are available to every county in the state, although the amount of the credit and any applicable eligibility thresholds depend on the county's assigned "enterprise tier." (Note: Five enterprise tiers were established by the General Assembly to assign levels of economic and community distress for all 100 North Carolina counties. The ten poorest counties are in tier one; the next fifteen counties are in tier two; with the remaining 75 counties divided evenly among tiers three, four, and five.)

The next year, 1997, the General Assembly amended the Act mainly to enhance its usefulness and address some of the constituent's concerns after having the Act in place for a year. In doing so, they also directed the Department of Commerce to reexamine the formula used to define enterprise tiers and report the results of this reexamination to the General Assembly in 1999 (G.S.§ 105-129.19) (See Appendix A for actual legislation).

THE STUDY PROCESS

Reexamining the enterprise tier formula provided the Department of Commerce with an excellent opportunity to assess the practicality of the current formula and to consider the feedback and experiential information received by the department about the tiers since the formula's inception in 1996. (While the formula defining "distress" counties eligible for the Job Creation Tax Credit originated in 1987, division of all counties into 5 tiers began in 1996.) Recognizing the benefits of such a study, the Department assembled a task force to provide outside input and expert assistance throughout the study process. The advisory panel was made up of seven members with various business, academic, and economic development backgrounds (See Appendix B for list of task force members).

ENTERPRISE TIER FORMULA

The practice of ranking North Carolina's counties for the allocation of funds or determination of need is not new. For example, the state uses a county-ranking system to determine the level of critical needs, relative to ability to pay, for some "critical needs" school finance funds. However, the rankings and "tiering" of the states 100 counties for business incentive tax credit purposes has its own history.

HISTORY OF RANKING/ENTERPRISE TIER FORMULA FOR BUSINESS INCENTIVE TAX CREDITS

The following information provides a brief review of the history behind the enterprise tier formula for use with North Carolina's income tax credits for new and expanding business.

- In 1987, the General Assembly enacted income tax credits for corporations that created jobs in severely distressed counties. A severely distressed county was defined as a county whose combined unemployment, per capita income, and population growth rankings were among the twenty worst in the State and that had an unemployment rate of 7 percent or higher.
- In 1989, the General Assembly removed the requirement that a county must have an unemployment rate of 7 percent or higher to be designated a severely distressed county (1989 Session Laws, Chapter 111: HB 198, Representative Al Lineberry).
- Also in 1989, the General Assembly increased the number of severely distressed counties from 20 to 25 (1989 Session Laws, Chapter 753: SB 740, Senator Howard Bryan).
- In 1991, the General Assembly increased the number of severely distressed counties from 25 to 33.
- In 1993, the General Assembly increased the number of severely distressed counties from 33 to 50.
- In 1996, the General Assembly expanded the income tax credits to include all 100 counties but divided the counties into five "enterprise tiers" based on per capita income, unemployment rate, and population growth. The ten poorest counties are in tier one; the next fifteen counties are in tier two, with the remaining 75 counties divided evenly among tiers three, four, and five (1996 Session Laws, Chapter 13: HB 18, Representative Gray).
- In 1997, the General Assembly changed the factors in the formula for determining a county's ranking and subsequent enterprise tier. This involved changing the unemployment and per capita income components from a one-year standing to a standing based on the average of the most recent three years. Also, once designated a tier one county, a county was guaranteed this designation for at least two years (1997 Session Laws, Chapter 277: SB 316, Senator Kerr).

DEBATE

As with any program that uses rankings to evaluate and compare different entities, the state's enterprise tier formula hasn't escaped its share of critical observation and debate. Most often this debate centers around the significance of population growth in determining economic well-being, the disparities associated with per capita income statistics, and the notion that some sort of tax base measure needs to be included in the formula.

Relatively high population growth often indicates a healthy local economy, as people tend to migrate to areas of economic prosperity. However, population growth can occur for reasons not directly related to local economic conditions. For example, an influx of retirees who are relatively well off can raise the population of an otherwise 'distressed' county.

Income is an important definition of economic welfare. However, per capita income can be biased by the presence of a small number of high-income individuals. On the other hand, wage measures can also be biased as they measure income by place of work rather than place of residence. For example, a county may have a low per capita income but a higher wage rate if it is a regional employment center; Durham County illustrates this difference. (Note: Similar disparities i.e., income/wage by place of residence versus place of work, were also apparent in the Act's wage test which was later amended to account for counties that are regional employment centers or have a dominant employer).

Tax base measures can indicate a county government's ability to provide public services. However, the tax base measures available (property tax per capita and retail sales tax per capita) have some of the same bias problems as other measures. For example, since state law only requires that property valuations be completed every eight years, some county reevaluations may lag behind other counties, making comparisons unfair. Also, if property values are changing rapidly, the data may over or under estimate a county's true fiscal capacity. While retail sales taxes per capita are available annually, sales taxes account for less than half as much county tax revenue as property taxes. Finally, sales taxes per capita can also be biased if the county is a regional shopping area. For example, people may travel to another county for shopping and entertainment increasing the sales tax revenues for that county but also increasing the need for road maintenance and other services, which create more expenses for the county.

The Department considered these observations and suggestions in reviewing the formula. In any case, with any changes in the formula and with each new year of rankings, there are going to be counties that are somehow placed at a relative disadvantage.

ANALYSIS

As directed by the General Assembly in G.S. 105–129.19 (4) the Department reexamined the formula in G.S. 105-129.3 (See Appendix C) used to define enterprise tiers. This reexamination included a review of the literature on economic indicators, other states' legislation and programs for measuring economic performance (See Appendix D), considering the characteristics of a "good" indicator (i.e., annual data availability), and taking into account the feedback and comments received from local economic developers and legislators. With the above considerations at hand, the Department chose many different alternative formulas as options for study and comparison.

OPTIONS

After an extensive analysis of these various enterprise tier formula options the Department, with the aid of the W.S. Lee Act Study Taskforce, narrowed the number of options to those that seemed the most appropriate in light of the aforementioned considerations. The analysis of the options included a rank order correlation (Note: Rank order correlation measures the closeness of the relationship between two sets of rankings.) This analysis revealed that there is very little difference in the rankings of counties under most methods. With this in mind, the taskforce chose the current method and three others as described below (See Appendix E for specific formula component definitions) for more in-depth analysis.

ENTERPRISE TIER FORMULA COMPONENTS

Option 1

- Population Growth (1990-1997)
- Unemployment Rate (36 Month Average: July 1995-June 1998)
- Per Capita Income (3 Year Average: 1995-1998)

Note: This is the method currently used.

Option 2

- Unemployment Rate (36 Month Average: July 1995-June 1998)
- Net Earnings per Capita (1996)
- Food Stamp Recipiency Rate (1997)

Note: This substitutes two measures correlated with poverty rates for population growth and per capita income measures.

Option 3

- Unemployment Rate (36 Month Average: July 1995-June 1998)
- Average Annual Private Insured Wage (1996)
- Food Stamp Recipiency Rate (1997)

Note: This substitutes a poverty measure for population growth and a measure of wages for per capita income.

Option 4

- Unemployment Rate (36 Month Average: July 1995-June 1998)
- Net Earnings per Capita (1996)
- Food Stamp Recipiency Rate (1997)
- Property Valuation per Capita (1997)

Note: This adds a measure of tax base and substitutes two measures correlated with poverty rates for population growth and per capita income measures.

As with the current methodology each option assigns individual rankings to the various formula components and ranks them from 1 to 100 with 1 being assigned to the least distressed county and 100 being assigned to the most distressed county (See Appendix F for a county listing and ranking of each formula component). Then each ranking in the formula is totaled to assign each county an "enterprise factor". Then the counties are ranked again using the total enterprise factor with 1 being assigned to the most distressed county (i.e., the county with the largest enterprise factor) and 100 being assigned to the least distressed county (See Appendix G for a county listing/ranking of each option).

Tier Option Comparison

As expected there were some changes in the tiers of some counties for each of the options. Comparing options 2, 3, and 4 with the current formula (option 1) showed that 15 counties moved up a tier and 15 counties moved down a tier while 70 remained the same between options 1 and 2. Between options 1 and 3, 21 counties moved up a tier and 19 counties moved down a tier while 60 remained the same. Finally, between options 1 and 4, 18 counties moved up a tier, 16 moved down a tier and 66 stayed the same. These results confirm that with any adjustments in the enterprise tier formula there are going to be upward as well as downward changes among the counties and tiers, placing some at a perceived disadvantage.

There were a few counties that did see some more dramatic changes (i.e., more than one tier) in their tier assignment between some of the options. For example, Hoke County was ranked 42nd (Tier 3) under option 1 and decreased to a rank of 8th (Tier 1) under option 4. On the other hand, Martin County was ranked 7th (Tier 1) under option 1 and increased to a rank of 39th under option 3. Onslow and Alleghany counties also experienced a substantial change going from Tier 2 to Tier 4 between options 1 and 2 and options 1 and 4 respectively.

Small County "Tests"

In addition to reexamining the enterprise tier formula, and pursuant to the direction of the General Assembly, the Department also considered whether the assignment of tiers and the applicable thresholds are equitable for smaller counties, for example those under 50,000 and 20,000 population (See Appendix H for a list of these counties). The Department devised several "tests" that could be used to take into account the sometimes special situations that occur in smaller counties (e.g., one dominant employer, regional employment center, large retirement population, etc). After reviewing these tests, the Department, with the aid of the taskforce, chose two such tests that might be used to give special consideration (e.g., the county would receive some sort of special provision in terms of its ranking, associated tier, and eligibility under programs that use the enterprise tiers) to the state's smaller and/or rural counties.

These tests include:

Poverty Rate Test

- County's poverty rate is 150% of the state rate.

Food Stamp Recipiency Rate Test

- County's food stamp recipiency rate is 150% of the state rate.

(See Appendix I for a county listing of these "tests" and which counties meet the criteria).

Summary of Results

Using the poverty rate test, 21 (of 54) counties with populations less than 50,000 and 8 (of 20) counties with populations less than 20,000 have poverty rates that are at least 150 percent of the state rate. Of all the counties that fall under the criteria of the poverty rate test, 8 are currently in Tier 1; 6 are in Tier 2; 4 are in Tier 3; and 1 is in Tier 4.

Using the food stamp recipiency rate test, 20 (of 54) counties with populations less than 50,000 and 7 (of 20) counties with populations less than 20,000 have food stamp recipiency rates that are at least 150 percent of the state rate. Of all the counties that fall under the criteria of the food stamp recipiency rate test, 7 are currently in Tier 1, 7 are in Tier 2, and 6 are in Tier 3.

Development Zone Opportunity

Another possibility for giving consideration to the state's smaller counties would be to extend the state's development zone program to these counties. This option includes only those counties with less than 25,000 population, with no city greater than 5,000 population, and at least one census tract with a poverty rate of greater than 20 percent (See Appendix J for counties that meet these criteria).

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Department of Commerce submits this report to the General Assembly as an educational and informational tool for the legislature to use in considering any changes to the current enterprise tier formula. With this in mind, the options presented don't come as specific recommendations from the Department. The Department will work with the General Assembly to decide, based on this report and any other additional information the Department can provide, whether adjusting the formula will be practical and beneficial for North Carolina's 100 counties and to the state's economic development strategies.

The William S. Lee Act Study Task Force recommends that the General Assembly keep the current option (Option 1) in place while allowing some sort of special provision for smaller counties. As such, the task force proposes that tier 4 and 5 counties with less than 50,000 population receive the benefits of a one tier lower status (i.e., Tier 4 Counties under 50,000 would have the same tax credit and threshold amounts as a Tier 3 County, also making them eligible for Industrial Development Funding and increased job funding under the Community Development Block Grant Program). Additional consideration could be given to granting Tier 3 counties a Tier 2 status, although the task force did not recommend this option.

105-129.19 Section 4 W. S. Lee Act Study Legislation

a) The Department of Commerce shall study the effectiveness of the tax incentives provided in the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act, codified as Article 3A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, on tax equity. This study shall include the following:

   1) Reexamining the formula in G.S. 105-129.3(b) used to define enterprise tiers, to include consideration of alternative measures for more equitable treatment of counties in similar economic circumstances.
   2) Considering whether the assignment of tiers and the applicable thresholds are equitable for smaller counties, for example those under 50,000 population.

§ 105-129.3 Enterprise Tier Designation

a) Tiers Defined - - An enterprise tier one area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the 10 highest in the State. An enterprise tier two area in a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 15 highest in the State. An enterprise tier three area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 25 highest in the State. An enterprise tier four area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 25 in the State. An enterprise tier five area is an area that is not in a lower numbered enterprise tier.

b) Annual Designation--Each year, on or before December 31, the Secretary of Commerce shall assign to each county in the State an enterprise factor that is the sum of the following:

(1) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by average rate of unemployment from lowest to highest, for the preceding three years.

(2) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by average per capita income from highest to lowest, for the preceding three years

(3) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by percentage growth in population from highest to lowest.

The Secretary of Commerce shall then rank all the counties within the State according to their enterprise factor from highest to lowest, identify all the areas of the State by enterprise tier, and provide this information to the Secretary of Revenue. An enterprise tier designation is effective only for the calendar year following the designation.

In measuring rates of unemployment and per capita income, the Secretary shall use the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data. In measuring population growth, the Secretary shall use the most recent estimates of population certified by the State Planning Officer.

a) Exception for Enterprise Tier One Areas. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, an enterprise tier one area may not be redesignated as a higher- numbered enterprise tier area until is has been an enterprise tier one area for at least two consecutive years.

Appendix D

Other State's Definitions of "Tiers" or Economic Distress Formulas

A review of other states that have similar systems of ranking counties or assigning a distress status indicates that virtually all of the programs use some combination of unemployment, poverty rate, and income in their formulas. Note this review does not include the states' enterprise zone definition (if applicable) or states that have only enterprise zone (i.e., sub-county) programs.

Georgia: A combination of the highest unemployment rate for the most recent 36 month period; lowest per capita income for the most recent 36 month period; highest percentage of residents whose incomes are below the poverty level according to the most recent data available; and average weekly manufacturing wage according to the most recent data available. These factors are all given a weight of 30 percent except for the average weekly manufacturing wage, which is given a weight of 10 percent.

Kentucky: Counties with unemployment rates higher than the state average in each of the five preceding calendar years qualify for the state's KREDA (Kentucky Rural Economic Development Act) program

Massachusetts: "Distress factor", a fraction, the numerator of which is the sum of (1) the city or town's unemployment rate for the most recent three years divided by the commonwealth's unemployment rate for the same period and (2) the commonwealth's per capita personal income divided by the city or town's per capita personal income, and the denominator of which is two.

Mississippi: The twenty-eight (28) counties in this state having a combination of the highest unemployment rate and lowest per capita income for the most recent thirty-six (36) month period, with equal weight being given to each category, are designated less developed areas. The twenty-seven (27) counties in the state with a combination of the next highest unemployment rate and next lowest per capita income for the most recent thirty-six (36) month period, with equal weight being given to each category, are designated moderately developed areas. The twenty-seven (27) counties in the state with a combination of the lowest unemployment rate and the highest per capita income for the most recent thirty-six (36) month period, with equal weight being given to each category, are designated developed areas.

Ohio: A county that qualifies as a "Distressed area" has (a) an average rate of unemployment, during the most recent five-year period for which data are available, equal to at least one hundred twenty-five per cent of the average rate of unemployment for the United States for the same period; (b) a per capita income equal to or below eighty per cent of the median county per capita income of the United States as determined by the most recently available figures from the United equal to or below eighty per cent of the median county per capita income of the United States as determined by the most recently available figures from the United States census bureau; (c) in intercensal years, has a ratio of transfer payment income to total county income equal to or greater than twenty-five per cent.

Oklahoma: Distressed counties (in their entirety) these are those counties that have a population loss of 10% or greater from 1980 to 1990).

South Carolina: (1) The twelve counties with a combination of the highest unemployment rate and lowest per capita income are designated least developed counties; (2) The twelve counties with a combination of the next highest unemployment rate and next lowest per capita income are designated under developed counties; (3) The eleven counties with a combination of the next highest unemployment rate and the next lowest per capita income are designated moderately developed counties; (4) The eleven counties with a combination of the lowest unemployment rate and the highest per capita income are designated developed counties. The designation by the department is effective for corporate taxable years, which begin after the date of designation.

Tennessee: Economically Distressed Counties are those with an average unemployment rate over 12% over the last 10 years; or counties with a per capita income less than 75% of the median per capita income for all counties.

Virginia: A county qualifies as economically distressed if its unemployment rate for the preceding year is at least 0.5 percent higher than the average statewide unemployment rate for such year.

Washington: "Distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the preceding three years exceeds the average state employment for those years by twenty percent. Another definition of a distressed county that is used for a different program is (a) county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which an application is filed under this chapter exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent; (b) a county that has a median household income that is less than seventy-five percent of the state median household income for the previous three years.

Appalachian Regional Commission: The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has four categories or economic levels for counties. These categories are distressed, transitional, competitive, and attainment. The Commission's definition of a distressed county is one with a three year average unemployment rate of 8.6% or more (or 150% of US average), a per capita income of $12,934 or less (or 67% of the US per capita income), and a poverty rate of 19.7% or more (or 150% of US rate). A county that meets all three of these requirements or has a poverty rate that is two times (200%) of the US and any one other of these requirements is a distressed county. The following table shows the indicator requirements for distressed counties and the other categories as well.

Classification	1994-1996 Three Year Average Unemployment Rate	1995 Per Capita Income	1990 Census Poverty Rate
Distressed	8.6% or more (150% of US 5.7%)	$12,934 or less (67% of US $19,305)	19.7% or more (150% of US 13.1%)
Transitional	All counties not in other classes. Individual indicators may vary.
Competitive	5.7% or less (100% of US average)	$15,444 - $19,304 ($15,444 = 80% of US)	13.1% or less (100% of US)
Attainment	5.7% or less (100% of US average)	$19,305 or more (100% of US)	13.1% or less (100% of US)

Data Definitions/Notes

Population Growth/Change: The population growth/change statistics were determined using years 1990 and 1997 from the Office of State Planning as reported on LINC.

Unemployment Rate: The unemployment rate statistics were calculated using the average rate of the 36-month period between July 1995 and June 1998. The monthly figures are from the Employment Security Commission Labor Market Information Division's Civilian Labor Force statistics. Note that the rates are not seasonally adjusted; seasonally adjusted rates are not available on the sub-state level.

Per Capita Income: Per capita income of a county is defined as the income received by, or on behalf of all county residents divided by the total county population (total personal income divided by total population). It includes income from all sources: labor income, proprietor's income, government transfer payments (those due to poverty and those which are age-related such as social security), and dividends, interest, and rent. The per capita income statistics are the three year average from 1994-1996 as provided by the US Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA).

Per Capita Net Earnings: Per capita net earnings is defined as per capita wages and salaries, other labor income, and proprietor's income. The per capita net earnings statistics are from 1996, the latest data available, as provided by the US Bureau of Economic Analysis' Regional Economic Information System database.

Average Annual Private Insured Wage: The average annual private insured wage is defined as the total wages and salaries paid for all insured workers divided by number of insured workers. Wages and salaries include all reported income, including gross wages and salaries, bonuses, tips and other gratuities. Wages and salaries do not include employer contributions to old age, survivors' and disability insurance (OASDI), health insurance, unemployment insurance, workers' compensation, and private pension and welfare funds. The wage statistics are from 1996, the latest available, as provided by the Employment Security Commission Labor Market Information Division. Note that the private wage was used to stay consistent with the method used to calculate the wage standard under William S. Lee Act.

Property Valuation per Capita: County property valuation divided by the 1997 certified population estimates. The property valuation data is from the Department of Revenue Ad Valorem Tax Division. The population estimates are from the Office of State Planning. Note that not all counties have updated valuation information, as the state only requires the counties to undergo the revaluation process every 8 years.

Discussion

What makes a good indicator?

Annual availability: Because the enterprise tier formula is updated every year so that it will reflect changes in economic conditions, and indicator data must be available on an annual basis.

Timeliness: The lag time between data collection and data reporting is an important consideration in choosing economic indicators. For example, if the indicator data is outdated but is the only data available, the economic situation might have changed the data was originally published (e.g., the poverty rate is only available every 10 years in the decennial census).

Accuracy: While jobs data might be more timely than income data, income data is a more complete and accurate measure of economic performance. For example, simply counting jobs created or lost ignores the fact that those jobs might not be high-paying or income increasing.

Even Coverage: Don't want to double count or overlap two indicators that essentially measure the same thing

Simplicity: Easy to understand

Geographic Availability: The data indicator should be available at the county level otherwise, a county's economic situation may be misrepresented. For example, some data/indicators are available at the MSA (Metropolitan Statistical Area) level but not at the county level. Assigning MSA data to each county in that MSA would suggest that all counties in that MSA have the same experience or situation.

What do the various indicators communicate about a county's economic situation?

Population: Population growth is an indirect proxy for county economic conditions. Presumably, people will migrate from areas of economic decline to areas of economic prosperity. Hence relatively high population growth should indicate local economic prosperity. However, population growth can occur for reasons not directly related to local economic conditions. For example, an influx of retirees who are relatively well off can raise the population of an otherwise 'distressed' county.

Unemployment Rate: A county's unemployment rate reflects the economic condition of that county by indicating what percent of the county's labor force is currently out of work and therefore without an income. A high unemployment rate in any one year may be the result of a plant closing, while chronically high unemployment may mean that there is a greater need for job development.

Per Capita Income: Income is an important definition of economic welfare. Since per capita income is an average measure, it can be biased upward by the presence of a small number of high-income individuals. If this is the case, then an average income measure will not reflect the economic situation of the typical person in the county. In this situation, the median income is a better description of the typical resident's income. The median income is the income at which half of the county resident's incomes are above it and half are below it. This criticism is valid in theory. However, there is no meaningful measure of county median income (or median wages) that is available on an annual basis. Since, some type of average income measure should continue to be used in the distress formula.

Net Earnings per Capita: Unlike Per Capita Income, Per Capita Net Earnings reflects only that income that is based on earned income (e.g., wages, salaries, other labor income, etc.) and therefore does not present the upward bias that Per Capita Income does if there are higher incomes in the county due to a large retirement population. However, Net Earnings per Capita still involves the possibility of a skewed income measure if the county has a small number of individuals with large salaries.

Average Annual Private Insured Wage: The Average Annual Private Insured Wage is much like the Net Earnings per Capita measure in that is only represents wage and salary income. However, rather than being a per capita measure (which includes all the people in the county), Average Annual Private Insured Wage only represents the average wage based on privately insured workers. In other words, it would not include state employees' wages, county government wages, etc. In counties that have a significant number of state employees (e.g., Wake, Orange) the Average Annual Private Insured Wage might not represent the actual economic situation in that county.

Poverty: The Poverty Rate is indicator of the number and proportion of people with inadequate family incomes for needed consumption of food and other goods and services. Poverty is a key indicator of difficult economic conditions. Unfortunately, the percentage of the population in each county which is below the poverty line is only available as part of the decennial census. A 10-year interval is not acceptable for data to be used in a formula that is revised annually. It would 'lock in' conditions in one year for 10 years, thereby imposing inequities as conditions in the real world change.

Food Stamp Recipiency Rate: Eligibility for food stamp payments is based on some type of personal economic distress criteria. Therefore, the food stamp recipiency rate is alternative poverty measure. The Food Stamp Recipiency Rate is also a better indicator than the poverty rate because it is available on an annual basis.

Property Valuation per Capita: Property Valuation per Capita provides an indication of a county government's ability to provide public services. The bulk of county tax revenues come from property taxes (approximately 2/3 of county tax revenues are derived from property taxes). Property taxes are based on the assessed valuation of real property, personal property, and public service company property (railroads, electric power companies, telephone companies, etc.). Using a per capita basis to measure property valuation allows for a more meaningful comparison across counties. Also without a per capita basis, there is no consideration of the amount of people the government has to provide services for. This would result in highly misleading distress indicators. While annual total property valuation is available for each county, state law only requires that these valuations be updated at least every 8 years. Thus some county re-valuations may lag behind other county's re-valuations. If this occurs during a period when actual property values are changing rapidly, then the property valuation data will under or over estimate the 'true' county fiscal capacity.

Notes:

- The Food Stamp Recipiency Rate (1997) is equal to the average number of monthly food stamp recipients for the state fiscal year 96-97 divided by total population (in 000s) in 1997. The food stamp recipients data is from the Department of Health and Human Resources. The population data is from the Office of State Planning's certified population estimates. Note that when representing annual data, the agency lists the information by the ending year although it may be for the fiscal year. Also, the 1997 population data (rather than 1996) was used to remain consistent with how the state calculates per capita statistics in other areas.
- Shaded counties are those with a Food Stamp Recipiency Rate at 150% of the state rate (83.7%).

The North Carolina Response

The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act

The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act

... first enacted in 1996 to stimulate the North Carolina economy-- particularly in economically distressed areas, the Act was amended in 1997 and 1998 to enhance its practicality, effectiveness and accountability.

...provides credits for five types of activities:

- job creation
- investment in machinery and equipment
- research and development expenditures
- worker training costs
- expansion of central administrative office property

The amount of the credit and applicable thresholds depend on the county's assigned enterprise tier and/or State Development Zone designation

Legislative Mandate

The 1997 amendment to the William S. Lee Act directed the Department of Commerce to:

Reexamine the enterprise tier formula, including consideration for alternative measures for more equitable treatment of counties in similar economic circumstances, and consideration whether the assignment of tiers and the applicable thresholds are equitable for smaller counties.

Study the economic and business recruitment effectiveness of the William S. Lee Act.

- Property Valuation Per Capita (1997)

Task Force Findings

- The Task Force found no variation in the Enterprise Tier Formula significantly improved the formula in a manner satisfactory to all.
- The Task Force recommends that the General Assembly keep the current tier formula in place while allowing some sort of special provision for smaller counties.

1999 Progress Report

North Carolina Department of Commerce

Legislative Mandate

In addition to the tier formula report, the 1997 amendment to the William S. Lee Act directed the Department of Commerce to:

- Study the distribution of tax incentives across new and expanding industries.
- Examine data on economic recruitment for the period 1994 through 1998 by county, by industry type, by size of investment, and by number of jobs, and other relevant information to determine the pattern of business locations and expansions before and after the enactment of the William S. Lee Act incentives.
- Measure the direct costs and benefits of the tax incentives.
- Compile any available data on whether expanding North Carolina businesses receive fewer benefits than out-of-state businesses that locate in North Carolina.
- Compile available information on the current use of incentives by other states and whether that use is increasing or declining.

Foregone State Revenue per $1000 New Investment

Other States' Use of Incentives

The use of incentives by states is on the rise. According to a 1996 survey conducted by the Council of State Governments:

- More than 40 states offered tax incentives to industry for job creation, machinery and equipment, goods in transition, raw materials in manufacturing, and research and development, etc.
- Thirty-five states indicated that their use of business incentives had increased over the past five years.

More detailed information on incentives offered by other states is forthcoming from researchers at UNC-Chapel Hill.

The Evidence Indicates...

The William States Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act has been an effective tool in achieving the intended objectives at a reasonable cost to the state of North Carolina...

- ✓ Help existing firms invest in and compete with new technologies
- ✓ Help encourage new investment by North Carolina's existing industries and those new to our state.
- ✓ Ensure that prosperity is indeed widely shared by targeting our rural and urban distressed areas.

Conclusions...

We cannot definitively state from this data how much of the reported business activity (i.e., job creation, capital investment) is directly due to the tax incentives. But we are able to make some concluding observations...

Conclusions...

Following the passage of the William S. Lee Act...

- ✓ Expanding North Carolina companies have taken advantage of the William S. Lee Act to a greater extent than new firms.
- ✓ Overall job creation and capital investment has increased in North Carolina and the number of recruitment and expansion projects between $75 million and $200 million increased substantially.
- ✓ Overall, the industries eligible for the tax credits under the Lee Act have created more jobs and generated more new investment.
- ✓ Industrial recruitment and expansion in the most distressed counties (Tiers 1 and 2) improved compared to the rest of the state on a per capita basis.
- ✓ The cost per new job and investment dollar is modest compared to other states.

Next Steps...

To date, the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act has served to benefit the North Carolina economy.

However, we feel we can improve upon the success of the past two years... particularly to increase prosperity in our rural and urban distressed areas...

Extend Bill Lee Act Sunset. The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act was enacted in 1996, effective beginning with the 1996 tax year with a sunset effective in 2003. The Act required the Department of Commerce to report annually on the credits allowed by the Act. Before 1996, North Carolina had made little use of tax incentives to lure businesses to the State. Even without incentives, North Carolina was consistently one of the top states in attracting industry. The array of credits authorized by the William S. Lee Act was viewed as an experiment, to be evaluated in five years to determine whether the incentives were cost effective and actually affected behavior, or merely provided tax reductions to businesses that would have located or expanded in any case. Section 1 of this bill would extend the 2002 sunset for an additional three years, to 2005.

Incentives for Interstate Passenger Air Carrier Hubs. This bill would provide three incentives for interstate passenger air carriers with hubs in this State. A hub is defined in Section 6 of the bill as the airport where the carrier has allocated at least 60% of its aircraft property tax value and at which the majority of its boarding passengers are connecting from other airports, not originating at that airport. The only carrier that meets this definition in North Carolina at this time is U.S. Airways, whose hub is in Charlotte.

The first incentive provided in the bill is to allow the existing credit for central administrative offices to apply to centralized training offices at an air carrier's hub, effective beginning with the 1999 tax year. The credit is allowed to taxpayers who purchase or lease real property to be used as central administrative office property with 40 or more employees. The amount of the credit is equal to 7% of the eligible investment amount and may not exceed $500,000. The credit is taken in seven equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the property is first used as a central administrative office.

The second incentive for passenger air carriers is a sales tax exemption for the carrier's purchases of aircraft lubricants, parts, and accessories for use at its hub, effective beginning May 1, 1999. These purchases would otherwise be subject to sales tax at 6%, but interstate air carriers are allowed a partial refund of the tax under G.S. 105-164.14(a). In 1998, the General Assembly enacted a similar exemption for air couriers (Federal Express), effective January 1, 2001.

The third incentive for passenger air carriers is a sales tax reduction from 6% to 1% with an $80 cap, for purchases of aircraft simulators for pilot training for use at the hub, effective beginning May 1, 1999. The tax reduction would also apply to interstate air couriers. U.S. Airways plans to establish a pilot training center at its Charlotte hub, where it would use aircraft simulators.

Incentive for Nonprofit Insurance Companies. Section 5 of this bill would provide a sales tax refund to certain nonprofit insurance companies for State and local taxes they pay on building materials, supplies, fixtures, and equipment that become a part of their real property. The refund would apply to taxes paid between January 1, 2000, and January 1, 2005. To qualify for this refund, the insurance company must be operated for the exclusive purpose of providing insurance products to nonprofit charitable organizations and their employees. In addition, the Secretary of Commerce must have certified that the insurance company will invest at least $10 million in this State. TIAA, which has announced plans to build an office in Mecklenburg County, fits this description.[1] If TIAA fails to make the $10 million investment within five years after it first receives a refund, it forfeits all refunds it received as a result of this incentive.

Incentives for Enterprise Tiers One and Two. The bill would provide two incentives for development in enterprise tier one and two counties, which are the counties considered most in need of economic development based on high unemployment, low per capita income, and low population growth.[2] The first incentive extends all of the Bill Lee Act credits to certain customer service centers located in an enterprise tier one or two county. An eligible customer service center is a subdivision of a telecommunications or financial services company that provides support services to the company's customers by telephone to support the company's products and services. To qualify, at least 60% of the center's calls must be incoming. This requirement will prevent telemarketing operations from qualifying. The credits allowed under the Bill Lee Act are the credit for creating jobs, the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, the credit for worker training, and the credit for investing in central administrative office property.

The second incentive reduces the sales tax from 6% to 1% with an $80 cap on all machinery and equipment sold to a taxpayer engaged in one of the businesses eligible for Bill Lee Act credits, for use in an enterprise tier one or two county. In addition to tier one and two customer service centers discussed above, the following businesses are eligible for Bill Lee Act credits: air courier services, central administrative office (with at least 40 new jobs), data processing, manufacturing, warehousing, and wholesale trade.

[1] There may be one or more other nonprofit insurance companies that could qualify, but only if they make a $10 million investment.

[2] The following 13 counties are in tier one: Bertie, Edgecombe, Graham, Halifax, Hertford, Hyde, Martin, Northampton, Richmond, Swain, Tyrrell, Warren, and Washington. The following 15 counties are in tier two: Alleghany, Anson, Ashe, Beaufort, Cherokee, Columbus, Mitchell, Montgomery, Onslow, Perquimans, Robeson, Rutherford, Scotland, Vance, and Yancey.

Incentives for Small Counties. This bill would allow certain counties to qualify for a lower enterprise tier designation. Under the Bill Lee Act, all counties are divided into five enterprise tiers, ranked by economic distress as measured by a formula that combines unemployment, per capita income, and population growth. Those counties in lower-numbered tiers receive more favorable incentives than those in higher tiers. This bill changes the rules for assigning enterprise tier designations to provide that the tier number that would otherwise be assigned by the formula is reduced by one for counties that have a population of less than 20,000 and also have more than 18% of their residents below the federal poverty level. Under this provision, Alleghany and Perquimans Counties would move from tier two to tier one, Jones and Pamlico Counties would move from tier three to tier two, and Greene County would move from tier four to tier three.

Close Development Zone Loopholes. In 1998, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to provide additional incentives for businesses that locate or expand in development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within municipalities. The statutory conditions for qualifying as a development zone were designed to target only these relatively small, economically distressed areas. The statutory conditions contained loopholes, however, that allowed large areas outside of municipalities to qualify, even if they were not economically distressed throughout. This bill would close those loopholes, effective for development zone designations made on or after January 1, 2000.

The 1998 legislation defined a development zone as an area that meets all of the following conditions: (1) consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, and (3) is located at least partly in a municipality with a population over 5,000. This bill closes the loopholes in this definition by requiring that:

- Every census tract and census block group in the zone must be located in whole or in part in the municipality.
- Every census tract and census block group in the zone must have more than 10% of its population below the poverty level, or must be immediately adjacent to a tract or group that has more than 20% of its population below the poverty level.
- None of the census tracts or census bock groups may be located in another development zone.

This bill would also shorten the period during which designation as a development zone is effective, from four years to two years, and require zone applications to be filed annually by September 1 preceding the January 1 designation. Finally, it would require applicants to notify every municipality in which part of the proposed zone would be located.

The following enhanced incentives apply in development zones: If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for tier one counties - slightly lower than the standard for other counties. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

Credit for Development Zone Projects. This bill would create a new tax credit for taxpayers that contribute cash or property to certain nonprofit agencies to be used for an improvement project in a development zone. An improvement project is a project to construct or improve residential, commercial, or public real property. The new credit would become effective beginning with the 2000 tax year.

The credit allowed is 25% of the amount contributed by the taxpayer. The total amount of credits that may be allowed in a taxable year is capped at $4 million. Taxpayers are required to apply to the Secretary of Revenue for these credits. If the total amount applied for in a year exceeds $4 million, the Secretary will reduce each applicant's credit proportionally.

The credit is allowed for contributions to a development zone agency, defined as a community development corporation, a community development financial institution, or a local housing authority. To qualify for the credit, all of the following conditions must be met:

- The agency must contract in writing to use the contribution for an improvement project in a development zone and to repay the taxpayer with interest if the contribution is not so used.
- The Department of Commerce must certify that the agency will undertake an improvement project in a development zone.[3]
- The taxpayer must be unrelated to the agency and must not control, be controlled by, or be under common control with the agency.
- The taxpayer must not receive anything of value for the contribution.

A taxpayer forfeits the tax credit for a contribution to the extent the development zone agency uses the contribution for anything other than an improvement project in a zone. Development zone agencies are required to file with the Department of Commerce annual, audited financial statements. If the Department of Commerce finds that any part of a contribution was used for a purpose other than an improvement project, it must notify the Department of Revenue of the resulting forfeiture.

Affordable Housing Tax Credit. Section 11 of the bill would create a new tax credit for rehabilitating or constructing low-income housing, effective beginning with the 2000 tax year. The credit is equal to 25% of the amount of the taxpayer's federal credit for low-income housing with respect to North Carolina low-income housing that either:

- Is located in an enterprise tier one or two area or in a development zone, or
- Has at least 40% of its residential units that are rent-restricted and are occupied by individuals whose income is 35% or less of area median gross income.

[3] The Secretary of Commerce may not certify a development zone agency if it, any of its officers or directors, or any partner of the agency has ever used part of an improvement project contribution for any purpose other than the improvement project.

The credit is not taken in one year but is spread out over five years beginning when the federal credit is first claimed for the building. The federal credit is first claimed either when the building is placed in service, or the next year, at the taxpayer's election. The federal credit is taken over ten years.

The federal credit requires that either (1) at least 20% of the residential units are rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is 50% or less of area median gross income or (2) at least 40% of the residential units are rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is 60% or less of area gross income. By limiting the State credit to projects that are either in distressed areas or serve lower-income residents, the bill is designed to steer investments toward these projects.

The federal credit requires that the low-income housing be used for that purpose for at least 30 years. If this requirement is not met, all or part of the taxpayer's credit is recaptured. Under the proposed State credit, if federal recapture is required, the taxpayer forfeits the North Carolina credit to the same extent.

Under federal law, a limited amount of credit is allowed to each state each year, and these credits are allocated among applicants based on selection criteria designed to reward projects that will serve the lowest income tenants for the longest periods. At least 10% of the credits each year must be set aside for projects sponsored by nonprofits. The amount of federal credit allocated to North Carolina will be $9.2 million for the 2000 through 2002 tax years and is expected to increase to $13 million for the 2003 and 2004 tax years. By limiting the State credit to 25% of the federal credit, the bill automatically caps the potential revenue loss to the State.

Extend Bill Lee Act Credits to Insurance Company Administrative Offices. This bill would allow all the Bill Lee Act credits to be taken against gross premiums tax, effective beginning in the 1998 tax year[4]. Currently, only the real property credit for central administrative offices may be taken against gross premiums tax.

In 1997, the General Assembly (1) extended the Bill Lee Act credits to central administrative offices that created at least 40 new jobs and (2) created a new tax credit for taxpayers who purchase or lease real property to be used as central administrative office property. In 1998, the General Assembly allowed the real property credit for central administrative offices to be taken against the gross premiums tax as well as against the income tax and the corporate franchise tax. Insurance companies pay gross premiums tax in lieu of income tax. The 1998 legislation did not change the rule that the other Bill Lee Act credits could be taken against only income tax and corporate franchise tax. The 1998 change created a situation in which insurance companies and other businesses are treated differently with respect to central administrative offices. A business, other than an insurance company, that builds a central administrative office can take against income tax not only the real property credit for that office, but also the jobs credit, the investment tax credit, and the worker training credit. An insurance company can take against gross premiums tax only the real property credit, but not the jobs credit, the investment tax credit, or the worker training credit. By extending the other Bill Lee Act credits to gross premiums tax, this bill would provide uniform treatment for insurance companies and other businesses that build central administrative offices.

[4] This effective date is a mistake – it should be 1999

Quality Jobs Assurance. The purpose of the original William S. Lee Act was to provide incentives for "high quality jobs." Accordingly, under current law, only certain industries qualify for the Bill Lee Act credits and a taxpayer must meet a wage standard with respect to the jobs at the locations for which it claims a credit. This bill would add three additional standards to assure that credits are allowed only with respect to high quality jobs. First, the taxpayer would be required to pay at least 50% of basic health insurance coverage for the full-time positions for which it takes a credit. Second, the taxpayer would be required to obtain a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that the business location with respect to which it claims a credit has not had and will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment. Third, the taxpayer would be required to obtain a certification from the Department of Labor that the taxpayer has established a health and safety program at the business location with respect to which it claims a credit.

Application and Fee Changes. A taxpayer that wishes to claim a Bill Lee Act credit must apply to the Department of Commerce for certification that it meets the eligibility requirements for the credit. The application must include information to enable the Department of Commerce to determine the applicants eligibility, and be accompanied by a $75 fee to defray part of the costs of administering the program. This bill would require applicants to include information necessary to enable the Department of Commerce to provide data required in its periodic reports to the General Assembly. This data will assist the General Assembly in evaluating the cost effectiveness of the Bill Lee Act credits. The bill would also eliminate the $75 fee for credits claimed with respect to enterprise tier one and two counties. For other credits, the fee is increased to $500 per credit claimed, not to exceed $1,500 per taxpayer. The Department of Commerce would retain ¼ of the fee proceeds for the costs of administering the program, and remit the remaining proceeds to the Department of Revenue for its use in administering and auditing the Bill Lee Act credits.

Clarify Business Definitions and Refunds. This bill would clarify the statutory definitions of the types of businesses that are eligible for the Bill Lee Act credits. In 1998, the General Assembly changed the statutory references from the Standard Industrial Classifications (SIC) to the North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) to conform to the federal system adopted effective January 1, 1999. This system is used to classify most of the data available about industries or kinds of business in the economy. Upon review of the NAICS system, it was discovered that further terminology changes were needed to the Bill Lee Act definitions to assure that the credits would be available to the types of businesses covered by the prior law definitions.

Section 9 of this bill would clarify that interstate air carriers are allowed a partial refund of sales taxes paid on fuel. This clarification will not change the way the law is currently administered.

Industrial Development Fund Environmental Certification. Section 17 of this act would require, as a condition for funding from the Industrial Development Fund (Building Renovation Fund), that a project receive certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that it will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment. This change would become effective July 1, 1999.

If the amount of sales or use tax so paid is less than the amount of the use tax due the taxing county under this section, the purchaser shall pay to the Secretary ~~of Revenue or to the taxing county, as appropriate,~~ an amount equal to the difference between the amount so paid in the other taxing county or jurisdiction and the amount due in the taxing county. The Secretary ~~of Revenue or the taxing county, as appropriate,~~ may require such proof of payment in another taxing county or jurisdiction as is deemed to be necessary. The use tax levied under this Article is not subject to credit for payment of any State sales or use tax not imposed for the benefit and use of counties and municipalities. No credit shall be given under this section for sales or use taxes paid in a taxing jurisdiction outside this State if that taxing jurisdiction does not grant similar credit for sales taxes paid under this Article."

"§ 105-129.3. Enterprise tier designation.

(a) Tiers Defined. -- An enterprise tier one area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the 10 highest in the State. An enterprise tier two area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 15 highest in the State. An enterprise tier three area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 25 highest in the State. An enterprise tier four area is a county whose enterprise factor is one of the next 25 highest in the State. An enterprise tier five area is any area that is not in a lower-numbered enterprise tier.

(b) Annual Designation. -- Each year, on or before December 31, the Secretary of Commerce shall assign to each county in the State an enterprise factor that is the sum of the following:

(1) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by rate of unemployment from lowest to highest.

(2) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by per capita income from highest to lowest.

(3) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by percentage growth in population from highest to lowest.

The Secretary of Commerce shall then rank all the counties within the State according to their enterprise factor from highest to lowest, identify all the areas of the State by enterprise tier, and provide this information to the Secretary of Revenue. An enterprise tier designation is effective only for the calendar year following the designation.

In measuring rates of unemployment and per capita income, the Secretary shall use the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data. In measuring population growth, the Secretary shall use the most recent estimates of population certified by the State Planning Officer.

"§ 105-129.4. Eligibility; forfeiture.

(a) Type of Business. -- A taxpayer is eligible for a credit allowed by this Article if the taxpayer engages in manufacturing or processing, warehousing or distributing, or data processing, and the jobs with respect to which a credit is claimed are created in that business, the machinery and equipment with respect to which a credit is claimed are used in that business, and the research and development for which a credit is claimed are carried out as part of that business.

(b) Wage Standard. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if the jobs for which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment or the credit for research and development if the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meet the wage standard at the time the taxpayer applies for the credit. Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least ten percent (10%) above the average weekly wage paid in the county in which the jobs will be located. In calculating the average weekly wage of jobs, positions that pay a wage or salary at a rate that exceeds one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) a year shall be excluded. For the purpose of this subsection, the average wage in a county is the average wage for all insured industries in the county as computed by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available.

(c) Worker Training. -- A taxpayer is eligible for the tax credit for worker training only for training workers who occupy jobs for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for creating jobs or which are full-time positions at a location with respect to which the taxpayer is eligible to claim an installment of the credit for investing in machinery and equipment for the taxable year.

The credit for worker training is allowed only with respect to employees in positions not classified as exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1) and for expenditures for training that would be eligible for expenditure or reimbursement under the Department of Community Colleges' New and Expanding Industry Program, as determined by guidelines adopted by the State Board of Community Colleges. To establish eligibility, the taxpayer must obtain as part of the application process under G.S. 105-129.6 the certification of the Department of Community Colleges that the taxpayer's planned worker training would satisfy the requirements of this paragraph. A taxpayer shall apply to the Department of Community Colleges for this certification. The application must be on a form provided by the Department of Community Colleges, must provide a detailed plan of the worker training to be provided, and must contain any information required by the Department of Community Colleges to determine whether the requirements of this paragraph will be satisfied. If the Department of Community Colleges determines that the planned worker training meets the requirements of this paragraph, the Department of Community Colleges shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed and stating that the planned worker training meets the requirements of this paragraph. The State Board of Community Colleges may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out its responsibilities under this paragraph.

(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed.

(e) Change in Ownership of Business. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any other transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to credits for which the predecessor was not eligible under this Article. A successor business may, however, take any installment of or carried-over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had a tax liability.

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the application for the credit. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax elected in the application.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.6. Application; reports.

(a) Application. -- To claim the credits allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide with the tax return the certification of the Secretary of Commerce that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to each credit. A taxpayer shall apply to the Secretary of Commerce for certification of eligibility. The application must be on a form provided by the Secretary of Commerce, must specify the credit and the tax against which it will be claimed, and must contain any information necessary for the Secretary of Commerce to determine whether the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary determines that the taxpayer meets all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to a credit, the Secretary shall issue a certificate describing the location with respect to which the credit is claimed, specifying the tax against which the credit will be claimed, outlining the eligibility requirements for the credit, and stating that the taxpayer meets the eligibility requirements. If the Secretary determines that the taxpayer does not meet all of the eligibility requirements of G.S. 105-129.4 with respect to a credit, the Secretary must advise the taxpayer in writing of the eligibility requirements the taxpayer fails to meet. The Secretary of Commerce may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes that are needed to carry out the Secretary of Commerce's responsibilities under this section.

(b) Reports. -- The Department of Commerce shall report to the Department of Revenue and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of applications for each credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The number and enterprise tier area of new jobs with respect to which credits were applied for.

(3) The cost of machinery and equipment with respect to which credits were applied for.

"§ 105-129.7. Substantiation.

To claim a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit shall rest upon the taxpayer, and no credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.8. Credit for creating ~~jobs in severely distressed county.~~ jobs.

(a) Credit. -- A ~~corporation that (i) for at least 40 weeks during the year has at least nine employees and (ii) is located, for part or all of its taxable year, in a severely distressed county~~ taxpayer that meets the eligibility requirements set out in G.S. 105-129.4, has five or more employees for at least 40 weeks during the taxable year, ~~may qualify for a credit against the tax imposed by this Division by creating new full-time jobs with the corporation in the severely distressed county during that year. A corporation~~ and ~~that~~ hires an additional full-time employee during that year to fill a position located in ~~a severely distressed county~~ this State is allowed a credit ~~of two thousand eight hundred dollars ($2,800) for the additional employee.~~ for creating a new full-time job. The amount of the credit for each new full-time job created is set out in the table below and is based on the enterprise tier of the area in which the position is located:

Area Enterprise Tier	Amount of Credit
Tier One	$12,500
Tier Two	4,000
Tier Three	3,000
Tier Four	1,000
Tier Five	500

A position is located in ~~a county~~ an area if ~~(i) at least~~ more than fifty percent (50%) of the employee's duties are performed in the ~~county, or (ii) the employee is a resident of the county.~~ area. The credit may not be taken in the ~~income~~ taxable year in which the additional employee is hired. Instead, the credit shall be taken in equal installments over the four years following the ~~income~~ taxable year in which the additional employee was hired and shall be conditioned on the continued employment by the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer of the number of full-time employees the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer had upon hiring the employee that caused the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer to qualify for the credit. ~~If,~~

If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the number of the ~~corporation's~~ taxpayer's full-time employees falls below the number of full-time employees the ~~company~~ taxpayer had in the year in which the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer qualified for the ~~credit or the position filled by the employee is moved to another county,~~ credit, the credit expires and the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The ~~corporation~~ taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under ~~subsection (c) of this section.~~ G.S. 105-129.5.

Jobs transferred from one area in the State to another area in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. If, in one of the four years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the position filled by the employee is moved to an area in a higher- or lower-numbered enterprise tier, the remaining installments of the credit shall be calculated as if the position had been created initially in the area to which it was moved.

~~For the purposes of this section, a full-time job is a position that requires at least 1,600 hours of work per year and is intended to be held by one employee during the entire year. A full-time employee is an employee who holds a full-time job.~~

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 111, s. 1.

~~(b1) Eligibility. -- A corporation is eligible for the tax credit allowed by this section only if it obtained a credit under this section for taxable year 1988 or the Department of Commerce determines that it engages in the manufacturing of goods, or that it engages in an industrial activity such as the processing of foods, raw materials, chemicals and process agents, goods in process, or finished products.~~

~~(c) County Designation. -- A severely distressed county is a county designated as severely distressed by the Secretary of Commerce. Each year, on or before December 31, the Secretary of Commerce shall designate which counties are considered severely distressed, and shall provide that information to the Secretary of Revenue. A county is considered severely distressed if its distress factor is one of the fifty highest in the State.~~

~~The Secretary shall assign to each county in the State a distress factor that is the sum of the following:~~

~~(1) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by rate of unemployment from lowest to highest.~~

~~(2) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by per capita income from highest to lowest.~~

~~(3) The county's rank in a ranking of counties by percentage growth in population from lowest to highest.~~

~~In measuring rates of unemployment and per capita income, the Secretary shall use the latest available data published by a State or federal agency generally recognized as having expertise concerning the data. In measuring population growth, the Secretary shall use the most recent estimates of population certified by the State Planning Officer. A designation as a severely distressed county is effective only for the calendar year following the designation.~~

(d) Planned Expansion. -- A ~~corporation that, during the year in which a county is designated as a severely distressed county,~~ taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in ~~that distressed county~~ a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. The credit shall be available in the ~~income~~ taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if ~~such~~ the hirings are within the two-year commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the ~~county is no longer designated a severely distressed county~~ area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is ~~still available.~~ allowed based on the area's enterprise tier for the year the letter was signed. If the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer does not hire the employees within the two-year period, the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the ~~corporation~~ taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, ~~it~~ the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection.

~~(e) Limitations. -- The sale, merger, acquisition, or bankruptcy of a business, or any other transaction by which an existing business reformulates itself as another business, does not create new eligibility in a succeeding business with respect to jobs for which the predecessor was not eligible under this section. A successor~~

~~corporation may, however, take any installment of or carried over portion of a credit that its predecessor could have taken if it had taxable income.~~

~~Jobs transferred from one county in the State to another county in the State shall not be considered new jobs for purposes of this section. A credit taken under this section may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax imposed by this Division for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed under this Division, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the corporation. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.~~

~~(f) Substantiation. — Every corporation claiming the credit provided in subsection (a) shall maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue or his agent such records as may be necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which it is entitled. (a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that has purchased machinery and equipment and places it in service in this State during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the machinery and equipment placed in service in each area.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-

The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

A taxpayer that claims for the taxable year a federal income tax credit under section 41 of the Code for increasing research activities is allowed a credit equal to five percent (5%) of the State's apportioned share of the taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities. The State's apportioned share of a taxpayer's expenditures for increasing research activities is the excess of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses for the taxable year over the base amount, as determined under section 41 of the Code, multiplied by a percentage equal to the ratio of the taxpayer's qualified research expenses in this State for the taxable year to the taxpayer's total qualified research expenses for the taxable year. As used in this section, the terms 'qualified research expenses' and 'base amount' have the meaning provided in section 41 of the Code.

Sec. 3.11. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-129.10, as enacted by this act, if a taxpayer relocates an employee to this State during 1996, any in-house research expenses the taxpayer incurs with respect to that employee during 1996, either before or after the employee is relocated to this State, are considered in-house research expenses in this State for the purposes of G.S. 105-129.10. Notwithstanding the definition of "Code" in G.S. 105-228.90, if the federal tax credit for increasing research activities that was formerly allowed under section 41 of the Code is reenacted, the credit for research and development allowed in Article 3A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act, becomes effective for the same taxable year for which the reenacted federal credit becomes effective.

Sec. 3.12. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 3B.
"Business Tax Credit.

"§ 105-129.15. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Business property. -- Tangible personal property that is used by the taxpayer in connection with a business or for the production of income and is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code. The term does not include, however, a luxury passenger automobile taxable under section 4001 of the Code or a watercraft used principally for entertainment and pleasure outings for which no admission is charged.

(2) Cost. -- Defined in section 179 of the Code.

(3) Purchase. -- Defined in section 179 of the Code.

"§ 105-129.16. Credit for investing in business property.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that has purchased business property and places it in service in this State during the taxable year is allowed a credit equal to four and one-half percent (4.5%) of the cost of the property. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer for property placed in service during a taxable year is four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service.

(b) Expiration. -- If, in one of the five years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the business property with respect to which the credit was claimed is sold or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(c) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the credit allowed under Article 3A of this Chapter with respect to business property may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same property.

"§ 105-129.17. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credit allowed in this Article is allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter or the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The taxpayer must elect the tax against which the credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credit allowed in this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim the credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for the credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

The Department of Revenue shall report to the Legislative Research Commission and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of taxpayers that claimed the credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The cost of business property with respect to which credits were claimed.

(3) The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed."

Sec. 5.1. Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-164.12B. Bundled transactions.

(a) Bundled Transaction Defined. -- A bundled transaction is a transaction in which all of the following conditions are met:

(1) A seller transfers an item of tangible personal property to a consumer on the condition that the consumer enter into an agreement to purchase services on an ongoing basis for a minimum period of at least six months.

(2) The agreement requires the consumer to pay a cancellation fee to the service provider if the consumer cancels the contract for services within the minimum period.

(3) For the item transferred, the seller:

a. Does not charge the consumer; or

b. Charges the consumer a price that, after any discount or rebate the seller gives the consumer, is below the cost price the seller paid for the item.

(b) Bundled Transaction Is a Sale; Sales Price. -- If a seller transfers an item of tangible personal property as part of a bundled transaction, a sale has occurred, and the sales price of the item is presumed to be the retail price at which the item would sell if no agreement for services were entered into. Part of this price may be paid by the consumer at the time of the transfer; the remainder of the price is considered paid as part of the price to be paid for the services contracted for. Sales tax is due on any part of the price paid by the consumer at the time of the transfer.

(c) No Additional Sales Tax if Services Taxed. -- If the services for which the consumer was required to contract are subject to services taxes at a combined rate equal to or greater than the combined State and local general rate of sales and use tax, then no additional sales tax is due on the transfer. However, if the consumer cancels the contract for services before the expiration of the minimum period, sales tax applies to the cancellation fee paid by the consumer.

(d) Additional Sales Tax if Services Not Taxed. -- If the services for which the consumer was required to contract are not subject to services taxes at a combined rate equal to or greater than the combined State and local general rate of sales and use tax, then sales tax is due at the time of the transfer on the remainder of the sales price not paid at that time.

(e) Services Taxes Defined. -- For the purpose of this section, the term 'services taxes' means any combination of State franchise tax on gross receipts, State sales tax, or local sales tax levied on the sale of or gross receipts from the services.

(f) Determination of Cost Price. -- For the purpose of this section, the cost price a seller paid for an item is presumed to be no greater than the price the seller paid for the same model within 12 months before the bundled transaction, as shown on the seller's invoices."

PART VI. REDUCE INHERITANCE AND GIFT TAXES

Sec. 6.1. G.S. 105-4(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) An inheritance tax credit ~~in the amount specified in the following table~~ of thirty-three thousand one hundred fifty dollars ($33,150) is allowed against the tax imposed by this Article on the transfer of property to a Class A beneficiary.

Sec. 6.2. G.S. 105-3 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(11) Property transferred to a spouse when the transfer of the property is exempt from federal estate and gift taxes under section 2056(b)(7) of the Code because it is considered qualified terminable interest property."

Sec. 6.3. G.S. 105-188 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(j) The tax does not apply to property transferred to a spouse when the transfer of the property is exempt from federal estate and gift taxes under section 2523(f) of the Code because it is considered qualified terminable interest property."

Sec. 6.4. G.S. 105-2(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) A tax shall be and is hereby imposed upon the transfer of any property, real or personal, or of any interest therein or income therefrom, in trust or otherwise, to persons or corporations, in the following cases:

(1) When the transfer is from a person who dies seized of the property while a resident of the State and it is made:
   a. By will or by intestacy;
   b. Pursuant to a final judgment entered in a proceeding to caveat a will; or
   c. Pursuant to a settlement agreement, to which the personal representative is a party, that, in the determination of the Secretary of Revenue in his sole discretion based on evidence presented by the personal representative, reflects the good faith, arm's-length compromise of an actual dispute between beneficiaries, heirs, or personal representatives and does not have the primary purpose of avoiding inheritance tax.

(2) When the transfer is by will or intestate laws of this or any other state of real property or goods, wares, and merchandise within this State, or of any property, real, personal, or mixed, tangible or intangible, over which the State of North Carolina has a taxing jurisdiction, including State and municipal bonds, and the decedent was a resident of the State at the time of death; when the transfer is of real property or tangible personal property within the State, or intangible personal property that has acquired a situs in this State, and the decedent was a nonresident of the State at the time of death.

(3) When the transfer of property made by a resident, or nonresident, is of real property within this State, or of goods, wares and merchandise within this State, or of any other property, real, personal, or mixed, tangible or intangible, over which the State of North Carolina has taxing jurisdiction, including State and municipal bonds, by deed, grant, bargain, sale, or gift made in contemplation of the death of the grantor, vendor, or donor, or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after such death, including a transfer under which the transferor has retained for his life or any period not ending before his death (i) the possession or enjoyment of, or the income from, the property or (ii) the right to designate the persons who shall possess or enjoy the property or the income therefrom. The aggregate value exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000) of transfers to any one donee within a tax year by deed, grant, bargain, sale, gift, or combination thereof, made within three years prior to the death of the grantor, vendor, or donor, without an adequate valuable consideration, shall be presumed, subject to rebuttal, to have been made in contemplation of death within the meaning of this section; the first ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in value shall be deemed not made in contemplation of death.

(4) When any person or corporation comes into possession or enjoyment, by a transfer from a resident, or from a nonresident decedent when such nonresident decedent's property consists of real property within this State or tangible personal property within the State, or intangible personal property that has acquired a situs in this State, of an estate in expectancy of any kind or character which is contingent or defeasible, transferred by any instrument taking effect after March 24, 1939.

(5) a. For purposes of this Article, the term 'general power of appointment' means a power which is exercisable in favor of the decedent, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate; except that:

1. A power to consume, invade or appropriate property for the benefit of the decedent which is limited by an ascertainable standard relating to the health, education, support or maintenance of the decedent shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.
2. A power of appointment which is exercisable by the decedent only in conjunction with another person:
   I. If the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with the creator of the power, such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment.
   II. If the power is not exercisable by the decedent except in conjunction with a person having a substantial interest in the property, subject to the power, which is adverse to exercise of the power in favor of the decedent, such power shall not be deemed a general power of appointment. For the purposes of this clause a person who, after the death of the decedent, may be possessed of a power of appointment (with respect to the property subject to the decedent's power) which he may exercise in his own favor shall be deemed as having an interest in the property and such interest shall be deemed adverse to such exercise of the decedent's power.

III. If (after the application of clauses I and II) the power is a general power of appointment and is exercisable in favor of such other person, such power shall be deemed a general power of appointment only in respect of a fractional part of the property subject to such power, such part to be determined by dividing the value of such property by the number of such persons (including the decedent) in favor of whom such power is exercisable.

IV. For purposes of clauses II and III, a power shall be deemed to be exercisable in favor of a person if it is exercisable in favor of such person, his estate, his creditors, or the creditors of his estate.

b. Whenever any person shall have a general power of appointment with respect to any interest in property, such person shall, for the purposes of this Article, be deemed the owner of such interest and accordingly:

1. If in connection with any transfer of property taxable under this Article the transferor shall give to any person a general power of appointment with respect to any interest in such property, the transferor shall be deemed to have given such interest in such property to such person.

2. If any person holding a general power of appointment with respect to any interest in property shall exercise such power in favor of any other person or persons, either by will or by an appointment made in contemplation of the death of such person, or by an appointment intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after such death, he shall be deemed to have made a transfer of such interest to such person or persons.

3. If any person holding a general power of appointment with respect to any interest in property shall relinquish such power by any action taken in contemplation of death or intended to take effect at or after his death, or shall die without fully exercising such power, he shall be deemed, to the extent of such relinquishment or nonexercise, to have made a transfer of such interest to the person or persons who shall benefit thereby.

(6) Neither the exercise nor the relinquishment of a special power of appointment (which shall mean any power other than a general power) with respect to an interest in property shall be deemed to constitute a transfer of such interest within the meaning of this Article. If in connection with any transfer taxable under this Article the transferor shall give to any person a special power of appointment with respect to any interest in property, he shall be deemed, for the purpose of computing the tax applicable thereto, to have given such interest in equal shares to those persons, not more than two, among the possible appointees and takers in default of appointment whom the transferor's executor or administrator may designate as transferees in the inheritance tax return, except that:

a. If a gift tax return is filed with respect to such transfer, the persons designated therein shall also be designated in the inheritance tax return, and

b. The tax shall be computed according to the relationship of the donee of the power to the persons designated if the possible appointees and takers in default of appointment include any persons more closely related to the donee of the power than to the donor, and if such computation would produce a higher tax.

(7), (7a) Repealed by Session Laws, 1985, c. 656, s. 1.

(8) Where the proceeds of life insurance policies are payable as provided in G.S. 105-13.

(9) Whenever any person or corporation comes into possession or enjoyment of any real or personal property, including bonds of the United States and bonds of a state or subdivision or agency thereof, at or after the death of an individual and by reason of said individual's having entered into a contract or other arrangement with the United States, a state or any person or corporation to pay, transfer or deliver said real or personal property, including bonds of the United States and bonds of a state, to the person or corporation receiving the same, whether said person or corporation is named in the contract or other arrangement or not: Provided, that no tax shall be due or collected on that portion of the real or personal property received under the conditions outlined herein which the person or corporation receiving the same purchased or otherwise acquired by funds or property of the person or corporation receiving the same, or had acquired by a completed inter vivos gift.

Nothing in subdivision (9) shall apply to the proceeds of life insurance policies.

(10) Upon the death of a spouse who had a qualifying income interest for life in qualified terminable interest property whose previous transfer was exempt from inheritance or gift taxes under G.S. 105-3(11) or G.S. 105-188(j), the qualified terminable interest property that was previously exempt is considered to pass from the spouse to the person who is entitled to the property upon the termination of the spouse's qualifying income interest for life.

However, nothing in this Article shall be construed as imposing a tax upon any transfer of intangibles not having a commercial or business situs in this State, by a person, or by reason of the death of a person, who was not a resident of this State at the time of his death, and, if held or transferred in trust, such intangibles shall not be deemed to have a commercial or business situs in this State merely because the trustee is a resident or, if a corporation, is doing business in this State, unless the same be employed in or held or used in connection with some business carried on in whole or in part in this State."

Sec. 6.5. G.S. 105-9(8) reads as rewritten:

"(8) Costs of ~~administration, including~~ administration not claimed as a deduction on the federal income tax return filed under the Code by the fiduciary for the decedent's estate. Costs of administration include reasonable attorneys' fees."

Sec. 6.6. Article 1 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

A personal representative who elects under section 6166 of the Code to make installment payments of federal estate tax may elect to make installment payments of the tax imposed by this Article. An election under this section extends the time for payment of the tax due in accordance with the extension elected under section 6166 of the Code. Payments of tax are due under this section at the same time and in the same proportion to the total amount of tax due as payments of federal tax under section 6166 of the Code. Acceleration of payments under section 6166 of the Code accelerates the payments due under this section."

PART VII. NONITEMIZER CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTION TAX CREDIT

Sec. 7.1. Division II of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-151.26. Credit for charitable contributions by nonitemizers.

A taxpayer who elects the standard deduction under section 63 of the Code for federal tax purposes is allowed as a credit against the tax imposed by this Division an amount equal to two and three-fourths percent (2.75%) of the taxpayer's excess charitable contributions. The taxpayer's excess charitable contributions are the amount by which the taxpayer's charitable contributions for the taxable year that would have been deductible under section 170 of the Code if the taxpayer had not elected the standard deduction exceed two percent (2%) of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income as calculated under the Code.

No credit shall be allowed under this section for amounts deducted from gross income in calculating taxable income under the Code or for contributions for which a credit was claimed under G.S. 105-151.12 or G.S. 105-151.14. A nonresident or part-year resident who claims the credit allowed by this section shall reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. The credit allowed under this section may not exceed the amount of tax imposed by this Division for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowed, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer."

PART VIII. EXCLUDE CERTAIN SEVERANCE PAY FROM INCOME TAX

Sec. 8.1. G.S. 105-134.6(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(11) The amount paid to the taxpayer as severance wages as the result of the permanent closure of a manufacturing or processing plant, not to exceed a maximum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) for the taxable year."

Sec. 8.2. G.S. 105-134.1 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(15a) Manufacturing and processing. -- Defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual issued by the United States Bureau of the Census."

PART IX. REDUCE SALES TAX ON FARM AND INDUSTRY FUEL

a. Sales of electricity and piped natural gas to farmers to be used by them for any farm purposes other than preparing food, heating dwellings, and other household purposes. The quantity of electricity or gas purchased or used at any one time shall not be a determinative factor as to whether its sale or use is or is not subject to the rate of tax provided in this subdivision.

b. Sales of electricity and piped natural gas to manufacturing industries and manufacturing plants for use in connection with the operation of the industries and plants other than sales of electricity and gas to be used for residential heating purposes. A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE PENALTIES FOR THE TRANSYLVANIA COUNTY ROOM OCCUPANCY TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 969 of the 1985 Session Laws, as it applies to Transylvania County, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Transylvania Occupancy Tax. (a) Authorization and Scope. The board of commissioners of ~~a county~~ Transylvania County may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or similar accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, or similar place within the county that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations.

(b) Administration. A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S.

153A-155. The penalties provided in G.S. 153A-155 apply to a tax levied under this section. ~~Collection. Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied under this act shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the county. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The county shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the county the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax.~~

~~(c) Administration. The county shall administer a tax levied under this act. A tax levied under this act is due and payable to the county finance officer in monthly installments on or before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the county. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied.~~

~~A return filed with the county finance officer under this act is not a public record as defined by G.S. 132-1 and may not be disclosed except as required by law.~~

~~(d) Penalties. A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return required by this act shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day's omission. In case of failure or refusal to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after the time required for filing the return or for paying the tax, there shall be an additional tax, as a penalty, of five percent (5%) of the tax due for each additional month or fraction thereof until the tax is paid.~~

~~Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade a tax imposed under this act or who willfully fails to pay the tax or make and file a return shall, in addition to all other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both. The board of commissioners may, for good cause shown, compromise or forgive the penalties imposed by this subsection.~~

(e) Use of Tax Revenue. ~~Except as provided in Section 2 of this act for Durham County, a taxing county~~ Transylvania County shall place revenue collected from a tax levied under this act in a special Travel and Tourism Fund. Revenue in this Fund may be used only to promote travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures in ~~the county.~~ Transylvania County.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Promote travel and tourism. -- To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in these activities.

(2) Tourism-related expenditures. -- Expenditures that, in the judgment of the governing authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, and convention facilities in a county by attracting tourists or business travelers to the county. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

~~(f) Effective Date of Levy. A tax levied under this act shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.~~

~~(g) Repeal. A tax levied under this act may be repealed by a resolution adopted by the board of commissioners of the county. Repeal of a tax levied under this act shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted. Repeal of a tax levied under this act does not affect a liability for a tax that attached before the effective date of the repeal, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal.~~"

Section 2. County Administrative Provisions. Section 3(b) of S.L. 1997-102, as amended by Section 2 of S.L. 1997-255, Section 2 of S.L. 1997-342, Section 3 of S.L. 1997-364, Section 6 of S.L. 1997-410, and Section 2 of S.L. 1998-14, reads as rewritten:

HOUSE BILL 830:
Transylvania Room Tax Penalties

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Walend
Date:	May 13, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H830-PCSSC-001		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Last month, the following bills were referred to a House Finance Subcommittee on Occupancy Taxes: House Bills 665, 672, 764, and 830. Representative Jarrell chaired the Subcommittee. Representatives Dedmon, Gibson, and C. Wilson were members of the subcommittee. The subcommittee considered the bills in light of uniformity in the areas of administration, rate, use of proceeds, definitions, and the creation of a Tourism Development Authority. The subcommittee recommends that the Committee give a favorable report to one of the bills that complies with the uniform provisions: House Bill 830. The Subcommittee plans to meet later today to give further consideration to the remaining occupancy tax bills.

HOUSE BILL 830: House Bill 830 simply modifies the penalties in the current Transylvania occupancy tax law to conform with the uniform occupancy tax penalty provisions. The proposed committee substitute conforms the remaining administrative provisions to the uniform provisions in G.S. 153A-155 and it sets forth the definitions for the terms "promote travel and tourism" and "tourism-related expenditures".

Under the current Transylvania occupancy tax law, the penalty for failure to file a return is $10 for each day's omission. In case of failure to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after it is due, the penalty is 5% of the tax due. The uniform occupancy tax penalties in G.S. 153A-155 are the same as the penalties for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The uniform penalty for failure to file a return is 5% of the amount of tax due, not to exceed 25% or $5, whichever is greater. The uniform penalty for failure to pay the tax due is 10% of the tax due or $5, whichever is greater.

The General Assembly authorized a 3% room occupancy tax for Transylvania County in 1985. All of the revenue generated from the tax is used to promote travel and tourism. The county has a tourism development authority that the county created by local ordinance in 1986 to expend the proceeds of the occupancy tax. Although the TDA was not established by an act of the General Assembly, its membership and function is based upon those created by the General Assembly in other occupancy tax acts.

UNIFORM PROVISIONS: Over the past several years, there has been a greater effort to make the occupancy taxes uniform. In 1993, a House Finance Committee subcommittee on occupancy taxes established several principles that have been applied to most of the occupancy tax bills in the House since that time. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted uniform municipal and county administrative provisions for occupancy tax legislation – G.S. 153A-155 and G.S. 160A-215. These provisions provide uniformity in the areas of levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties. The North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition has a policy statement for legislation authorizing local occupancy taxes.

Many of the principles contained in its statement are similar to the ones established by the House Finan subcommittee in 1993.

Based upon the work detailed above, the Subcommittee looked for the inclusion of the following uniform provisions in the occupancy tax bills its considered:

- Rate. – The county tax rate cannot exceed 6% and the city tax rate, when combined with the county rate, cannot exceed 6%.
- Use. – Two-thirds of the proceeds must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism-related purposes.
- Definitions. – The terms "net revenues" "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures" are defined terms.
- Administration. – The net revenues must be administered by a local tourism promotion agency that has the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be used, is created by a local ordinance, and at least ¾ of the members must be currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the taxing district and 1/3 of the members must be affiliated with organizations that collect the tax.
- Costs of Collection. – The taxing authority may retain from the revenues it actual costs of collection, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 collected each year plus 1% of the remainder collected each year.
