SENATE BILL 499:
Boat Registration Fees/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Hoyle
Date:	June 1, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for Senate Bill 499 increases the application fees for identification numbers on boats. The fee for a one-year period is increased from $8.00 to $10.00 and the fee for a three-year period is increased from $20.00 to $25.00. If ownership of the boat changes, the new owner must file a new application and pay the corresponding increased fees. The new owner will receive a new certificate bearing the same number. At least $3.00 of each boat registration fee collected must be used for boating access area acquisition, development, and maintenance. The original bill added canoes and kayaks to the types of boats that must apply for an identification number and did not apply the fee increase to renewals of identification numbers.

CURRENT LAW: Under the North Carolina Boating Safety Act, most vessels on the waters of the State must have an identification number displayed on each side of the bow of the vessel. The owner of these vessels must apply for the identification number with the Wildlife Resources Commission. The application must be accompanied by an $8.00 fee for a one-year numbering period or a $20.00 fee for a three-year numbering period. The applicant has the option of selecting either numbering period. The fees collected go into the Boating Account within the Wildlife Resources Fund. Revenue in this Account is used by the Wildlife Resources Commission for the administration and enforcement of the Boating and Water Safety Act; for activities relating to boating and water safety including education and waterway marking and improvement; and for boating access area acquisition, development, and maintenance.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the proposed committee substitute clarifies that all vessels on the waters of this State must be numbered, except those specifically exempted. Under current law, the following vessels are exempt from the numbering requirements: (1) vessels required to be numbered under federal law or a federally approved numbering system of another state, (2) a foreign vessel temporarily using the State's waters, (3) a vessel owned by the U.S., a state, or a subdivision of a state, (4) a ship's lifeboat, (5) a vessel having a valid marine document issued by the U.S. Bureau of Customs, (6) a sailboat of not more than 14 feet on the load water line, and (7) a vessel with no means of propulsion other than drifting or manual paddling, poling, or rowing.

Section 2 increases the application fees for the identification number as follows:

Application	Current Fee	Proposed Fee
Certificate of number for 1-year period	$8.00	10.00
Certificate of number for 3-year period	$20.00	$25.00

Section 3 of the proposed committee substitute also applies the proposed fee increase when the ownership of the boat changes and the new owner applies for a new application.

Section 4 applies the proposed fee increases to renewals of the identification numbers. Each certificate of number must be renewed by the first day of the month following expiration of the number.

Section 5 provides that at least $3.00 of each fee collected under the numbering provisions in G.S. 75A-5 must be used for boating access area acquisition, development, and maintenance.

Effective Dates. Section 5 of the act becomes effective January 1, 2000 and applies to fees collected from each boat registration in effect on or after that date. The remaining sections become effective January 1, 2000.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 5 (boating access) of the act becomes effective January 1, 2000 and applies to fees collected from each boat registration in effect on or after that date. The remainder of the act becomes effective January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:

The bill increases the application and renewal fees for identification numbers on boats from $8 to $10 for a one year period and from $20 to $25 for a three year period. The same fee increase applies to the change in boat ownership. The bill mandates that at least $3 of the registration fee shall be used for boating access area acquisition, development, and maintenance.

BACKGROUND:

The Boating Account in the Wildlife Resources Fund received $2.6 million in revenue in FY 1997-98. Revenues deposited into the Account come from 1) fees from boat identification numbers and 2) gasoline excise tax credited to the account from the Highway Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

The Wildlife Resources Commission has a computerized vessel (boat) registration system that tracks the issuance and renewal of boat identification numbers. The number of three and one year registration renewals for the next five fiscal years (shown below) was obtained from this system. The agency could not project the growth in three year registrations, but it is clear that one year registrations are flat. Most boat owners are taking advantage of the discount for three year registration.

With a January 1, 2000 effective date, the FY 1999-00 revenue is half of the $502,676 projected for that year.

SENATE BILL 1112:
No Sales Tax Fee/Other Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Senator Kerr
Date:	June 2, 1999	Summary by:	Martha H. Harris & Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition S1112-CSRBX-6/1		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: Promotes electronic commerce by repealing the sales tax registration fee and makes other changes to the tax laws and related statutes.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 repeals the $15 sales tax registration fee effective January 1, 2000. This fee is payable at the time a person applies for and obtains a sales tax registration number. The elimination of the fee will better enable the Department to begin receiving sales and use tax reports electronically.

Section 2 provides that check cashers and pawnbrokers are subject to the same annual $750 privilege license tax as loan agencies, effective July 1, 1999. The tax must be paid for each location.

Sections 3 and 9 clarify the definition of a utility for sales tax purposes and move an exemption from the definition section to the exemption section. These sections become effective when they become law.

Sections 4 and 5 provide that all prescription drugs are exempt from sales tax, effective October 1, 1999. All of the drugs exempt from sales tax are placed in one statutory subdivision. Section 5 repeals one of the exemptions because it is incorporated into Section 4.

Section 6 deletes the language that a nonprofit corporation must be chartered or incorporated within North Carolina for two years before its sales are tax exempt. This restriction is constitutionally suspect because there appears to be no rational basis for the distinction. This section becomes effective October 1, 1999.

Section 7 repeals an unconstitutional sales tax exemption for the sale of paper, ink, and other tangible personal property to commercial printers and commercial publishers for use as component parts of free circulation publications that contain advertising of a general nature. The exemption applies primarily to publications such as "The Village Advocate". It does not apply to other free circulation publications, such as a real estate guide. To be constitutional, the exemption needs to be expanded to include all free circulation publications or it needs to be repealed. This section repeals it. This section becomes effective October 1, 1999.

Section 8 adds "governmental entity" as a donee in the sales tax exemption of tangible personal property that is purchased by a retailer for resale or is manufactured or purchased by a wholesale merchant for resale and then withdrawn from inventory and donated by the retailer or merchant to a nonprofit organization. This change would allow contributions to governmental entities such as schools to qualify for the sales tax exemption. This section becomes effective October 1, 1999.

Section 10 increases the percentage that may be added to a patron's bill as a tip without that amount being subject to sales tax, effective October 1, 1999. A service charge, or tip, imposed on a meal is subject to sales tax if it exceeds 15% of the amount charged for the meal. Some restaurants add a slightly higher gratuity to a meal served to large parties. This section increases the amount that may be added to a bill as a tip without being subject to sales tax from 15% to 20%.

Sections 11 and 13 provide that the Secretary of Revenue may waive the penalty for bad checks, effective October 1, 1999. The Secretary has the authority to waive all other tax penalties for good cause.

Section 12 rewrites the tax penalties for negligence, effective October 1, 1999. Currently, in the case of income tax, a 25% penalty applies if the taxpayer understates taxable income by an amount equal to or greater than ¼ of gross income. For other taxes, the 25% penalty applies if the taxpayer understates tax liability by an amount equal to or greater than ¼ of actual liability. Thus, the 25% penalty is harder to trigger for income taxes than for other taxes. This section would limit the trigger based on gross income to individual income taxes. Thus, corporate income taxes would trigger the 25% penalty if liability is understated by at least ¼, not just if taxable income is understated by at least ¼ of gross income.

Section 14 amends the tax secrecy statute to allow the Department to communicate with local law enforcement officers concerning administration of the unauthorized substances tax. This section is effective when it becomes law.

Section 15 amends G.S. 105-266(c)(1) to give taxpayers the same amount of time to request a refund that the Department has to make an assessment. The Department can currently assess for a longer period of time than a person can get a refund. Taxpayers voluntarily extend the time for the Department to assess in some circumstance, but this does not extend the time for getting refund if any overpayments are found. This amendment would automatically extend the time to request a refund when the taxpayers agrees to extend the time the Department can assess. This section becomes effective when it becomes law.

Sections 16, 17, and 20 address a problem of special mobile equipment and the motor fuel tax. Special mobile equipment is a vehicle that has a permanently attached crane, mill, ditch-digging apparatus, or similar apparatus. The vehicle is driven on the highway only to get to and from a non-highway job. It is not designed or used primarily for the transportation of persons or property. It should not be paying motor fuel tax on the fuel used for a non-highway purpose. However, under the current law, it cannot use dyed (untaxed) diesel fuel nor can it receive a refund of the motor fuel tax paid on clear (taxed) diesel fuel. Section 16 provides that dyed (untaxed) diesel fuel may be used in special mobile equipment, effective October 1, 1999. Section 17 allows a quarterly refund for tax paid on fuel used in special mobile equipment, effective for taxes paid on or after January 1, 1999. As a result of these changes, the motor fuel used in special mobile equipment will be subject to sales tax, which is credited to the General Fund, as opposed to the motor fuel tax, which is credited to the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund. Section 20 seeks to reduce the loss to the Highway Fund by increasing the registration fee for special mobile equipment from $20 to $40, effective January 1, 2000.

Section 18 repeals an unnecessary statute requiring certain fuel importers to register, effective when it becomes law.

Section 19 clarifies that vehicles leased to individuals who live in this State must be registered in this State, effective when this act becomes law.

Section 21 expands the maximum width of special mobile equipment from 96 inches to 102 inches, effective when this act becomes law.

Section 22 clarifies that vehicles towed by special mobile equipment may carry property that does not exceed the weight of the towed vehicle, effective when this act becomes law.

Section 23 allows the Department of Revenue to use information in the State Directory of New Hires for the purpose of administering the taxes it has a duty to collect. The State Directory of New Hires was established in 1997 to assist in the location of persons owing child support.. The Department of Health and Human Services maintains it. Every employer in the State must report to the Directory the hiring of every employee for whom a federal W-4 form is required to be completed. The report must contain the name, address, and social security number of the newly hired employee and the name, address, and federal and State tax ID number of the employer. This section becomes effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill amends various tax laws and related statutes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The following is a section by section analysis of SB 1112 PCS:

Section 1
This section repeals the $15 sales tax certificate of registration fee charged to new businesses. The number of registrations in recent years is as follows:

FY 1995-96	34,559
FY 1997-98	36,609

In 1998 and 1999, sales tax registrations are averaging approximately 3,000 a month. Assuming the continuation of the current registration rate, this section will eliminate the $15 fee for 36,000 businesses each year. The General Fund revenue loss will be $540,000 per year. The FY 1999-00 revenue loss will be $270,000 due to a January 1, 2000 effective date.

This section imposes an annual $750 privilege license tax on each location of a check cashing or pawnbroker business. As of May 28, 1999, there are 195 check cashing businesses in North Carolina with 975 locations. The number of check cashing businesses has grown tremendously since 1997 when the state approved SB 312 (1997 SL, chapter 391) regulating the industry and approving the delayed deposit of personal checks. The Consumer Finance Administrator at the Office of the Commissioner of Banks thinks the check cashing market has now reached a saturation point and receives only two or three applications per month for new locations. This fiscal note assumes the number of check cashing businesses will peak at 1,000 in FY 1999-00. The $750,000 in revenue from the $750 tax on 1,000 locations will be deposited in the General Fund. With the 1997 law scheduled to sunset on July 1, 2001, it is uncertain how many locations will exist in FY 2001-02 and beyond.

As for pawnbrokers, there is no exact data on the number of businesses in the state. Prior to 1997, pawnbrokers were subject to an annual privilege license tax of $275 (formerly GS 105-50). The Department of Revenue reports that the number of pawnbrokers paying the privilege tax declined from 584 in FY 1993-94 to 356 in FY 1996-97. The past chair of the NC Pawn Brokers Association estimates there are 450 pawnbrokers in the state. The Consumer Finance Administrator at the Office of the Commissioner of Banks found 500 pawnbrokers in an internet phone directory search in 1997. This fiscal note will assume 450 pawnbroker locations and no future growth. The $750 annual privilege tax will result in $337,500 in revenue to the General Fund each year.

Section 3
No fiscal impact – clarifies definition of utility.

Section 4
Section 4 repeals the remaining state and local sales tax on prescription drugs. Most prescription drugs are either exempt from State and local sales and use taxes or are refundable. Drugs purchased with a prescription, prescription drugs distributed free of charge by the manufacturer of the drugs, and prescription drugs purchased for use in the commercial production of animals are already exempt from sales tax. Most hospitals receive refunds of State and local sales and use taxes paid on prescription drugs acquired by the hospital. The only entities that pay tax on prescription drugs are 1) physicians and other medical professionals who buy the drugs to administer to patients in the course of their practice and 2) state hospitals, (other than the UNC hospitals), four state psychiatric hospitals, Alcohol and Drug Treatment Centers, and Mental Retardation Centers.

The Department of Revenue Sales and Use Tax Division estimates the state and local tax loss from this exemption to be $2.4 million in FY 1999-00. This estimate is considerably less than an estimate made in 1997 for SB 41 due to recent Tax Review Board decisions which held that physicians can be retail sellers of prescription drugs and therefore sales are exempt. The estimate is based on information obtained from sales and use tax audits of medical and dental practices and from an AMA survey. The number of medical professionals was obtained from the Census of Service Industries for North Carolina. The Department did not estimate any growth in the volume of prescription sales or in prescription drug prices. Data from State Employee Health Benefit Plan's self-insured indemnity program show that prescription drug prices increase 15% to 19% a year. This fiscal note uses a 17% inflation rate, the midpoint of this range. The October 1, 1999 effective date will reduce the FY 1999-00 revenue loss by one fourth.

No fiscal impact - incorporates the exemption of prescription drugs distributed free of charge by the drug manufacturer into the language in Section 4.

Section 6

This section deletes the requirement that a nonprofit corporation must be chartered or incorporated in North Carolina for two years before its sales are tax exempt. The Director of the Sales Tax Division of the Department of Revenue believes the fiscal impact of this section is negligible, because few nonprofits are rejected for tax exemption status.

Section 7

This section repeals a sales tax exemption for free circulation publications such as shoppers' guides. The Department of Revenue Sales and Use Tax Division reports that the state tax loss for this exemption is $2.5 million a year. Thus repeal of this exemption will provide a revenue gain of $2.5 million to the General Fund each year. The corresponding local sales tax gain will be $1.25 million each year. The October 1, 1999 effective date will reduce the FY 1999-00 revenue gain to $1,875,000 for the General Fund and $937,500 for local governments.

Section 8

This section allows a sales tax exemption for corporate contributions of inventory to governmental entities. There have been no taxpayer complaints about the existing law, but Department officials perceive this as a future problem. No fiscal estimate is available, but the Department of Revenue believes that the impact is insignificant.

Section 9

No fiscal impact – this existing language is being moved to the exemption section of the sales tax statutes.

Section 10
No fiscal impact – this increases the allowable service charge or tip on meals from 15% to 20%.

Sections 11 & 13
No estimate available – the language allowing the Secretary of Revenue to waive penalties for bad checks is permissive. If the Secretary of Revenue chooses to waive a substantial number of penalties, there will be a small revenue loss.

Section 12
No estimate available. The Department of Revenue assesses very few penalties for negligence. This section could produce a small revenue gain for the General Fund if penalties are easier to assess on corporate taxpayers.

Section 14
No fiscal impact – technical change.

Section 15
No estimate available. By extending the time a taxpayer can request a refund, this section might produce a small revenue loss. However, the Department of Revenue has received only a small number of complaints about the current refund policy.

Sections 16 & 17
No estimate available. These sections will produce a small revenue loss to the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund, but the Department of Revenue cannot provide the data needed to quantify the loss. Currently operators of special mobile equipment buy enough tax paid clear diesel fuel to cover their miles driven on the highway. For off highway use, the equipment operators use dyed, non-tax diesel fuel. If they request a refund for tax paid on clear fuel, their refunds are processed annually. By providing that dyed fuel may be used in special mobile equipment, this section codifies an administrative practice allowed by the Department of Revenue. However, the Highway Fund will lose the tax paid currently on diesel fuel for highway use. For those that apply for a refund, it will speed up the refund process and the state will lose interest on invested funds.

Section 18
No fiscal impact – according to Revenue, the statute requiring bonded fuel importers to register is unnecessary due to the lack of importers in this category.

Section 19
No fiscal impact - codifies the administrative practice used by the Division of Motor Vehicles to register vehicles leased out of state.

Section 20

The fee for special mobile equipment is doubled by section 20. As of January 1, 2000, the fee will increase from $20 a year to $40 on 2,058 pieces of special mobile equipment. This fee increase will produce a $41,160 revenue gain for the Highway Fund each year. It is difficult to project future year growth in the volume of vehicles registered, because there has been no consistent pattern of registration in the last five years. Equipment numbers have increased and declined in recent years.

Section 21

No fiscal impact – equipment operators now can apply for overweight or oversize permits for larger width.

Section 22

No estimate available – this section may reduce DMV revenue from penalties, but no data are available to quantify the amount.

Section 23

No fiscal impact – broadens access to information.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE CERTAIN MUNICIPALITIES TO CREATE SERVICE DISTRICTS TO FINANCE LIGHTING AT INTERSTATE HIGHWAY INTERCHANGES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 160A-536 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(3b) Lighting at interstate highway interchange ramps."

Section 2. This act applies only to towns that, at the time the district is created, have a population of between 2,000 and 2,500 and are located in a county that has a land area of more than 946 square miles according to the 1990 federal census.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 755:
Highway Lighting Service Districts

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Yongue
Date:	June 1, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	3rd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 755 authorizes certain towns to create a service district in order to finance, provide, or maintain for the district the following service: lighting at interstate highway interchange ramps. The bill applies only to towns that have a population of between 2,000 and 2,500 and are located in a county that has a land area of more than 946 square miles according to the 1990 federal census. The current version of the bill differs from the version that passed House Finance by adding the language "according to the 1990 federal census". The act is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: Article 23 of Chapter 160A sets out "The Municipal Service District Act of 1973". This Act allows a city council, by resolution, to define a service district upon finding that a proposed district is in need of one or more of the services, facilities or functions listed in the Act to a demonstrably greater extent than the remainder of the city. A service district may be established for the following purposes: (1) beach erosion control and flood and hurricane protection; (1a) certain services that preserve the character of an historic district; (2) downtown revitalization projects; (3) drainage projects; (4) off-street parking facilities; and (5) watershed improvement projects. A city may levy property taxes within defined service districts in addition to those levied throughout the city. The property taxes may not be in excess of a rate on each $100 value of property subject to taxation which, when added to the rate levied city wide, would exceed a maximum combined rate of $1.50 on the $100 appraised value of property subject to taxation. A city may also issue general obligation bonds to finance the services provided in a service district.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 755 adds "lighting at interstate highway interchange ramps" to the purposes for which a service district may be established. The bill applies only to towns that, at the time the district is created, have a population of between 2,000 and 2,500 and are located in a county that has a land area of more than 946 square miles according to the 1990 federal census.

"§ 116B-53. Presumptions of abandonment.

(a) Property is unclaimed if the apparent owner has not communicated in writing or by other means reflected in a contemporaneous record prepared by or on behalf of the holder, with the holder concerning the property or the account in which the property is held, and has not otherwise indicated an interest in the property. A communication with an owner by a person (other than the holder or its representative) who has not, in writing, identified the property to the owner is not an indication of interest in the property by the owner.

(b) An indication of an interest in property includes:

(1) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of a dividend or other distribution made with respect to an account or underlying stock or other interest in a business association or, in the case of a distribution made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the distribution has been received;

(2) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of interest made with respect to debt of a business association or, in the case of an interest payment made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the interest payment has been received;

(3) Owner-directed activity in the account in which the property is held, including a direction by the owner to increase, decrease, or change the amount or type of property held in the account;

(4) The making of a deposit to or withdrawal from an account in a financial organization;

(5) Owner activity in another account with the holder of a deposit described in subdivisions (c)(2) and (c)(6) of this section; and

(6) The payment of a premium with respect to a property interest in an insurance policy; but the application of an automatic premium loan provision or other nonforfeiture provision contained in an insurance policy does not prevent a policy from maturing or terminating if the insured has died or the insured or the beneficiary of the policy has otherwise become entitled to the proceeds before the depletion of the cash surrender value of a policy by the application of those provisions.

(c) Property is presumed abandoned if it is unclaimed by the apparent owner during the time set forth below for the particular property:

(1) Traveler's check, 15 years after issuance;

(2) Time deposit, including a deposit that is automatically renewable, 10 years after the later of initial maturity or the date of the last indication by the owner of interest in the property;

(3) Money order, cashier's check, teller's check, and certified check, seven years after issuance;

(4) Stock or other equity interest in a business association, including a security entitlement under Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code, Chapter 25 of the General Statutes, five years after the earlier of:

a. The date of a cash dividend or other cash distribution unclaimed by the apparent owner, or

b. The date of the second mailing of a stock certificate or other evidence of ownership, a statement of account, or other notification or communication which second mailing was returned as undeliverable or the date the holder discontinued mailings, notifications, or communications to the apparent owner;

(5) Debt of a business association, other than a bearer bond or an original issue discount bond, five years after the date of an interest payment unclaimed by the apparent owner;

(6) Demand or savings deposit, five years after the date of the last indication by the owner of interest in the property;

(7) Money or credits owed to a customer as a result of a retail business transaction, three years after the obligation accrued;

(8) Any gift certificate or electronic gift card bearing an expiration date and remaining unredeemed or dormant for more than three years after the gift certificate or electronic gift card was sold is deemed abandoned. The amount abandoned is deemed to be sixty percent (60%) of the unredeemed portion of the face value of the gift certificate or the electronic gift card;

(9) Amount owed by an insurer on a life or endowment insurance policy or an annuity that has matured or terminated, three years after the obligation to pay arose or, in the case of a policy or annuity payable upon proof of death, three years after the insured has attained, or would have attained if living, the limiting age under the mortality table on which the reserve is based;

(10) Property distributable by a business association in a course of dissolution, one year after the property becomes distributable;

(11) Property received by a court as proceeds of a class action, and not distributed pursuant to the judgment, one year after the distribution date;

(12) Property held by a court, government, governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality, one year after the property becomes distributable;

(13) Wages or other compensation for personal services, one year after the compensation becomes payable;

(14) Deposit or refund owed to a subscriber by a utility, one year after the deposit or refund becomes payable;

(15) Property in an individual retirement account, defined benefit plan, or other account or plan that is qualified for tax deferral under the income tax laws of the United States, three years after the earliest of the date of the distribution or attempted distribution of the property, the date of the required distribution as stated in the plan or trust agreement governing the plan, or the date, if determinable by the holder, specified in the income tax laws of the United States by which distribution of the property must begin in order to avoid a tax penalty; and

(16) All other property, five years after the owner's right to demand the property or after the obligation to pay or distribute the property arises, whichever first occurs.

(d) At the time that an interest in property is presumed abandoned under subsection (c) of this section, any other property right accrued or accruing to the owner as a result of the interest, and not previously presumed abandoned, is also presumed abandoned.

(e) Property is payable or distributable for purposes of this Chapter notwithstanding the owner's failure to make demand or present an instrument or document otherwise required to obtain payment or distribution.

"§ 116B-54. Exclusion for forfeited reservation deposits, certain gift certificates or electronic gift cards, prepaid calling cards, certain manufactured home buyer deposits, and certain credit balances.

(a) A forfeited reservation deposit is not abandoned property. For the purposes of this section, the term 'reservation deposit' means an amount of money paid to a business association to guarantee that the business association holds a specific service, such as a room accommodation at a hotel, seating at a restaurant, or an appointment with a doctor, for a specified date and place. The term 'reservation deposit' does not include an application fee, a utility deposit, or a deposit made toward the purchase of real property.

(b) A gift certificate or electronic gift card is not unclaimed or abandoned property when the gift certificate or electronic gift card:

(1) Conspicuously states that the gift certificate or electronic gift card does not expire;

(2) Bears no expiration date; or

(3) States that a date of expiration printed on the gift certificate or electronic gift card is not applicable in North Carolina.

(c) A prepaid calling card issued by a public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6. is not unclaimed or abandoned property.

(d) A buyer deposit that a dealer is authorized to retain under either G.S. 143-143.21A or G.S. 143-143.21B is not unclaimed or abandoned property and is not subject to this Article.

(e) Credit balances as shown on the records of a business association to or for the benefit of another business association, shall not constitute abandoned or unclaimed property. For purposes of this section, the term 'credit balances' means items such as overpayments or underpayments on the sale of goods or services.

"§ 116B-55. Contents of safe deposit box or other safekeeping depository.

Contents of a safe deposit box or other safekeeping depository held by a financial organization is presumed abandoned if the apparent owner has not claimed the property within the period established by G.S. 53-43.7 and shall be delivered to the Treasurer as provided by that section. If the contents include property described in G.S. 116B-53, the Treasurer shall hold the property for the remainder of the applicable period set forth in that section before the property is deemed to be received for purpose of sale under G.S. 116B-65.

"§ 116B-56. Rules for taking custody.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter or by other statute of this State, property that is presumed abandoned, whether located in this or another state, is subject to the custody of this State if:

(1) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in this State;

(2) The records of the holder do not reflect the identity of the person entitled to the property, and it is established that the last known address of the person entitled to the property is in this State;

(3) The records of the holder do not reflect the last known address of the apparent owner and it is established that:

a. The last known address of the person entitled to the property is in this State; or

b. The holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this

State and has not previously paid or delivered the property to the state of the last known address of the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property;

(4) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and the holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this State;

(5) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in a foreign country, and the holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this State;

(6) The transaction out of which the property arose occurred in this State, the holder is domiciled in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and the last known address of the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property is unknown or is in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property; or

(7) The property is a traveler's check or money order purchased in this State or the issuer of the traveler's check or money order has its principal place of business in this State and the issuer's records show that the instrument was purchased in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property or do not show the state in which the instrument was purchased.

(b) In the case of an amount payable under the terms of an annuity or insurance policy, the last known address of the person entitled to the property is presumed to be the same as the last known address of the insured or the principal, as shown on the records of the insurance company, if:

(1) A person other than the insured or the principal is entitled to the property; and

a. No address of the person is known to the insurance company; or

b. The records of the insurance company do not reflect the identity of the person.

"§ 116B-57. Dormancy charge.

A holder may deduct from property presumed abandoned a reasonable charge imposed by reason of the owner's failure to claim the property within a specified time only if there is a valid and enforceable written contract between the holder and the owner under which the holder may impose the charge and the holder regularly imposes the charge, which is not regularly reversed or otherwise canceled.

"§ 116B-58. Burden of proof as to property evidenced by record of check or draft.

A record of the issuance of a check, draft, or similar instrument is prima facie evidence of an obligation. In claiming property from a holder who is also the issuer, the Treasurer's burden of proof as to the existence and amount of the property and its abandonment is satisfied by showing issuance of the instrument and passage of the requisite period of abandonment. Defenses of payment, satisfaction, discharge, and want of consideration are affirmative defenses that must be established by the holder.

"§ 116B-59. Notice by holders to apparent owners.

(a) A holder of property presumed abandoned shall make a good faith effort to locate an apparent owner.

(b) The holder shall send written notice, by first-class mail, to the apparent owner, not more than 120 days or less than 60 days before filing the report required by G.S. 116B-60, to the last known address of the apparent owner as reflected in the holder's records, if the value of the property is fifty dollars ($50.00) or more.

(c) The notice must contain:

(1) A statement that, according to the records of the holder, property is being held to which the addressee appears entitled and the amount or description of the property;

(2) The name and address of the person holding the property and any necessary information regarding changes of name and address of the holder;

(3) A statement that, if satisfactory proof of claim is not presented by the owner to the holder by the following October 1 or, if the holder is an insurance company, by the following April 1, the property will be placed in the custody of the Treasurer, to whom all further claims shall be directed.

"§ 116B-60. Report of abandoned property; certification by holders with tax return.

(a) A holder of property presumed abandoned shall make a report to the Treasurer concerning the property.

(b) The report must be verified and must contain:

(1) A description of the property;

(2) Except with respect to a traveler's check or money order, the name, if known, and last known address, if any, and the social security number or taxpayer identification number, if readily ascertainable, of the apparent owner of property of the value of fifty dollars ($50.00) or more;

(3) An aggregated amount of items valued under fifty dollars ($50.00) each;

(4) In the case of an amount of fifty dollars ($50.00) or more held or owing under an annuity or a life or endowment insurance policy, the full name and last known address of the annuitant or insured and of the beneficiary;

(5) The date, if any, on which the property became payable, demandable, or returnable, and the date of the last transaction or communication with the apparent owner with respect to the property; and

(6) Other information that the Treasurer by rule prescribes as necessary for the administration of this Chapter.

(c) If a holder of property presumed abandoned is a successor to another person who previously held the property for the apparent owner or the holder has changed its name while holding the property, the holder shall file with the report its former names, if any, and the known names and addresses of all previous holders of the property.

(d) The report must be filed before November 1 of each year and cover the 12 months next preceding July 1 of that year, but a report with respect to a life insurance company must be filed before May 1 of each year for the calendar year next preceding.

(e) Before the date for filing the report, the holder of property presumed abandoned may request the Treasurer to extend the time for filing the report. A request for an extension for filing a report shall be accompanied by an extension processing fee of ten dollars ($10.00). The Treasurer may grant the extension for good cause. The holder, upon receipt of the extension, may make an interim payment on the amount the holder estimates will ultimately be due, which terminates the accrual of additional interest on the amount paid.

(f) The holder of property presumed abandoned shall file with the report an affidavit stating that the holder has complied with G.S. 116B-59.

(g) Every business association holding property presumed abandoned under this Chapter shall certify the holding in the income tax return required by Chapter 105 of the General Statutes. The certification shall be a part of the tax return with which it is filed. If the business association is not required to file an income tax return under Chapter 105, the certification shall be made in the form and manner required by the Secretary of Revenue. The information appearing on the certification is not privileged or confidential, and this information shall be furnished by the Secretary of Revenue to the Escheat Fund on October 1 of each year, or if this date shall fall on a weekend or holiday, on the next regular business day.

"§ 116B-61. Payment or delivery of abandoned property.

(a) Upon filing the report required by G.S. 116B-60, the holder of property presumed abandoned shall pay, deliver, or cause to be paid or delivered to the Treasurer the property described in the report, but if the property is an automatically renewable deposit, and a penalty or forfeiture in the payment of interest would result, the time for compliance is extended to the next filing and delivery date at which a penalty or forfeiture would no longer result.

(b) If the property reported to the Treasurer is a security or security entitlement under Article 8 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes, the Treasurer is an appropriate person to make an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order on behalf of the apparent owner to invoke the duty of the issuer or its transfer agent or the securities intermediary to transfer or dispose of the security or the security entitlement in accordance with Article 8 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes.

(c) If the holder of property reported to the Treasurer is the issuer of a certificated security, the Treasurer has the right to obtain a replacement certificate pursuant to G.S. 25-8-405, but an indemnity bond is not required.

(d) An issuer, the holder, and any transfer agent or other person acting pursuant to the instructions of and on behalf of the issuer or holder in accordance with this section is not liable to the apparent owner and must be indemnified against claims of any person in accordance with G.S. 116B-63.

"§ 116B-62. Preparation of list of owners by Treasurer.

(a) There shall be delivered to the clerk of superior court of each county prior to June 30 of each year a list prepared by the Treasurer of escheated and abandoned property reported to the Treasurer. The list shall contain:

(1) The names, if known, in alphabetical order of surname, and last known addresses, if any, of apparent owners of escheated and abandoned property;

(2) The names and addresses of the holders of the abandoned property; and

(3) A statement that claim and proof of legal entitlement to escheated or abandoned property shall be presented by the owner to the Treasurer, which statement shall set forth where further information may be obtained.

(b) At the time the lists are distributed to the clerks of superior court, the Treasurer shall cause to be published once each week for two consecutive weeks, in at least two newspapers having general circulation in this State, a notice stating the nature of the lists and that the lists are available for inspection at the offices of the respective clerks of superior court, together with any other information the Treasurer deems appropriate to appear in the notice.

(c) The Treasurer is not required to include in any list any item of a value, as determined by the Treasurer, in the Treasurer's discretion, of less than fifty dollars ($50.00), unless the Treasurer deems inclusion of items of lesser amounts to be in the public interest.

(d) The clerks of superior court shall retain the lists on permanent file in their offices and shall make them available for public inspection.

(e) The lists prepared by the Treasurer shall include only escheated and abandoned property reported for the current reporting date and are not required to be cumulative lists of escheated and abandoned property previously reported.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, the supporting data and lists of apparent owners of escheated and abandoned property may be confidential until six months after the notice to clerks of superior court required by subsection (b) of this section has been distributed. This subsection shall not apply to owners of reported property making inquiries about their property to the Escheat Fund.

"§ 116B-63. Custody by State; recovery by holder; defense of holder.

(a) In this section, payment or delivery is made in 'good faith' if:

(1) Payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this Chapter;

(2) The holder was not then in breach of a fiduciary obligation with respect to the property and had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known, that the property was presumed abandoned; and

(3) There is no showing that the records under which the payment or delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice.

(b) Upon payment or delivery of property to the Treasurer, the State assumes custody and responsibility for the safekeeping of the property. A holder who pays or delivers property to the Treasurer in good faith is relieved of all liability arising thereafter with respect to the property.

(c) A holder who has paid money to the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter may subsequently make payment to a person reasonably appearing to the holder to be entitled to payment. Upon a filing by the holder of proof of payment and proof that the payee was entitled to the payment, the Treasurer shall promptly reimburse the holder for the payment without imposing a fee or other charge. If reimbursement is sought for a payment made on a negotiable instrument, including a traveler's check or money order, the holder must be reimbursed upon filing proof that the instrument was duly presented and that payment was made to a person who reasonably appeared to be entitled to payment. The holder must be reimbursed for payment made even if the payment was made to a person whose claim was barred under G.S. 116B-71(a).

(d) A holder who has delivered property other than money to the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter may reclaim the property if it is still in the possession of the Treasurer,without paying any fee or other charge, upon filing proof that the apparent owner has claimed the property from the holder.

(e) The Treasurer may accept a holder's affidavit as sufficient proof of the holder's right to recover money and property under this section.

(f) If a holder pays or delivers property to the Treasurer in good faith and thereafter another person claims the property from the holder or another state claims the money or property under its laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the Treasurer, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any liability on the claim resulting from payment or delivery of the property to the Treasurer.

"§ 116B-64. Income or gain accruing after payment or delivery.

If property other than money is delivered to the Treasurer under this Chapter, the owner is entitled to receive from the Treasurer any income or gain realized or accruing on the property at or before liquidation or conversion of the property into money. If the property is interest-bearing or pays dividends, the interest or dividends shall be paid until the date on which the amount of the deposits, accounts, or funds, or the shares must be remitted or delivered to the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-61. Otherwise, when property is delivered or paid to the Treasurer, the Treasurer shall hold the property without liability for income or gain.

"§ 116B-65. Public sale of abandoned property.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the Treasurer, within three years after the receipt of abandoned property, shall sell it to the highest bidder at public sale at a location in the State which in the judgment of the Treasurer affords the most favorable market for the property. The Treasurer may decline the highest bid and reoffer the property for sale if the Treasurer considers the bid to be insufficient. The Treasurer need not offer the property for sale if the Treasurer considers that the probable cost of sale will exceed the proceeds of the sale. A sale held under this section must be preceded by a single publication of notice, at least three weeks before sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the property is to be sold. The Treasurer is not required to sell money unless it is a collector's species having value greater than the face value of the money as cash.

(b) Securities listed on an established stock exchange must be sold at prices prevailing on the exchange at the time of sale. Other securities may be sold over the counter at prices prevailing at the time of sale or by any reasonable method selected by the Treasurer. If securities are sold by the Treasurer before the expiration of three years after their delivery to the Treasurer, a person making a claim under this Chapter before the end of the three-year period is entitled to the proceeds of the sale of the securities or the market value of the securities at the time the claim is made, whichever is greater, less any deduction for expenses of sale. A person making a claim under this Chapter after the expiration of the three-year period is entitled to receive the securities delivered to the Treasurer by the holder, if they still remain in the custody of the Treasurer, or the net proceeds received from sale, and is not entitled to receive any appreciation in the value of the property occurring after delivery to the Treasurer, except in a case of intentional misconduct by the Treasurer.

(c) A purchaser of property at a sale conducted by the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter takes the property free of all claims of the owner or previous holder and of all persons claiming through or under them. The Treasurer shall execute all documents necessary to complete the transfer of ownership.

"§ 116B-66. Claim of another state to recover property.

(a) After property has been paid or delivered to the Treasurer under this Article, another state may recover the property if:

(1) The property was paid or delivered to the custody of this State because the records of the holder did not reflect a last known location of the apparent owner within the borders of the other state, and the other state establishes that the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property was last known to be located within the borders of that state and under the laws of that state the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(2) The property was paid or delivered to the custody of this State because the laws of the other state did not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and under the laws of that state subsequently enacted, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(3) The records of the holder were erroneous in that they did not accurately identify the owner of the property and the last known location of the owner within the borders of another state, and under the laws of that state the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(4) The property was subjected to custody by this State under G.S. 116B-56(6), and under the laws of the state of domicile of the holder, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state; or

(5) The property is a sum payable on a traveler's check, money order, or similar instrument that was purchased in the other state and delivered into the custody of this State under G.S. 116B-56(7), and under the laws of the other state, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state.

(b) A claim of another state to recover escheated or abandoned property must be presented in a form prescribed by the Treasurer, who shall decide the claim within 90 days after it is presented. The Treasurer shall allow the claim upon determining that the other state is entitled to the abandoned property under subsection (a) of this section.

(c) The Treasurer shall require another state, before recovering property under this section, to agree to indemnify this State and its officers and employees against any liability on a claim to the property.

"§ 116B-67. Claim for property paid or delivered to the Treasurer.

(a) A person, excluding another state, claiming property paid or delivered to the Treasurer may file a claim on a form prescribed by the Treasurer and verified by the claimant.

(b) At the discretion of the Treasurer, the claim shall be made to the holder or to the holder's successor. If the holder is satisfied that the claim is valid and that the claimant is the owner of the property, the holder shall so certify to the Treasurer by written statement attested by the holder under oath, or in the case of a corporation, by two principal officers, or one principal officer and an authorized employee of the corporation. The determination of the holder that the claimant is the owner shall, in the absence of fraud, be binding upon the Treasurer and upon receipt of the certificate of the holder to this effect, the Treasurer shall forthwith authorize and make payment of the claim or return of the property, or if the property has been sold, the amount received from the sale, to the owner, or to the holder in the event the owner has assigned the claim to the holder and the certificate of the holder is accompanied by an assignment. In the event the holder rejects the claim, the claimant may appeal to the Treasurer.

If the holder, or the holder's successor, is not available, the owner may file a claim with the Treasurer on a form prescribed by the Treasurer. In addition to any other information, the claim shall state the facts surrounding the unavailability of the holder and the lack of a successor.

(c) Within 90 days after a claim is filed, the Treasurer shall allow or deny the claim and give written notice of the decision to the claimant. If the claim is denied, the Treasurer shall inform the claimant of the reasons for the denial and specify what additional evidence is required before the claim will be allowed. The claimant may then file a new claim with the Treasurer or maintain an action under G.S. 116B-68.

(d) Within 30 days after a claim is allowed, the property or the net proceeds of a sale of the property must be delivered or paid by the Treasurer to the claimant.

(e) The claimant or claimants and the holder, if the holder either certifies that the claimant is the owner under subsection (b) of this section or recovers money and property from the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-63, shall agree to indemnify, save harmless, and defend the State, the Treasurer, and the Escheat Fund from any claim arising out of or in connection with refund of the property claimed. In like manner, the claimant shall also agree to indemnify, save harmless, and defend the holder, if the holder certifies the claim under subsection (b) of this section or pays or delivers property to the claimant under G.S. 116B-63.

"§ 116B-68. Action to establish claim.

A person aggrieved by a decision of the Treasurer or whose claim has not been acted upon within 90 days after its filing may maintain an original action to establish the claim in the Superior Court of Wake County, naming the Treasurer as a defendant.

"§ 116B-69. Election to take payment or delivery.

(a) The Treasurer may decline to receive property reported under this Chapter which the Treasurer considers to have a value less than the expenses of notice and sale.

(b) A holder, with the written consent of the Treasurer and upon conditions and terms prescribed by the Treasurer, may report and deliver property before the property is presumed abandoned. Property so delivered must be held by the Treasurer and is not presumed abandoned until it otherwise would be presumed abandoned under this Article.

"§ 116B-70. Destruction or disposition of property having no substantial commercial value; immunity from liability; property of historical significance.

(a) If the Treasurer determines after investigation that property delivered under this Chapter has no substantial commercial value, the Treasurer may destroy or otherwise dispose of the property at any time. An action or proceeding may not be maintained against the State or any officer, employee, or agent of the State, both past and present, in the person's individual and official capacity, or against the holder for or on account of an act of the Treasurer under this subsection, except for intentional misconduct.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 116B-65, the Treasurer may retain any tangible property delivered to the Treasurer, if the property has recognized historic significance. The historic significance shall be certified by the Treasurer, with the advice of the Secretary of Cultural Resources; and a statement of the appraised value of the property shall be filed with the certification. Historic property retained under this subsection may be stored and displayed at any suitable location.

"§ 116B-71. Periods of limitation.

(a) The expiration, before or after the effective date of this Article, of a period of limitation on the owner's right to receive or recover property, whether specified by contract, statute, or court order, does not preclude the property from being presumed abandoned or affect a duty of a holder to file a report or to pay or deliver or transfer property to the Treasurer as required by this Article.

(b) An action or proceeding may not be maintained by the Treasurer to enforce this Article in regard to the reporting, delivery, or payment of property more than 10 years after the holder filed a report with the Treasurer in which the holder specifically identified property, should have but failed to identify property, or gave express notice to the Treasurer of a dispute regarding property. In the absence of such a report or other express notice, the period of limitation is tolled. The period of limitation is also tolled by the filing of a report that is fraudulent.

"§ 116B-72. Requests for reports and examination of records.

(a) The Treasurer may require a person who has not filed a report, or a person who the Treasurer believes has filed an inaccurate, incomplete, or false report, to file a verified report in a form specified by the Treasurer. The report must state whether the person is holding property reportable under this Chapter, describe property not previously reported or as to which the Treasurer has made inquiry, and specifically identify and state the value of property that may be in issue.

(b) The Treasurer, at reasonable times and upon reasonable notice, may examine the records of any person to determine whether the person has complied with this Chapter. The Treasurer may conduct the examination even if the person believes it is not in possession of any property that must be reported, paid, or delivered under this Chapter. The Treasurer may contract with any other person to conduct the examination on behalf of the Treasurer.

(c) The Treasurer at reasonable times may examine the records of an agent, including a dividend disbursing agent or transfer agent, of a business association that is the holder of property presumed abandoned if the Treasurer has given the notice required by subsection (b) of this section to both the association and the agent at least 90 days before the examination.

(d) Documents and working papers obtained or compiled by the Treasurer, or the Treasurer's agents, employees, or designated representatives, in the course of conducting an examination are confidential, but the documents and papers may be:

(1) Used by the Treasurer in the course of an action to collect unclaimed property or otherwise enforce this Chapter;

(2) Used in joint examinations conducted with or pursuant to an agreement with another state, the federal government, or any other governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality;

(3) Produced pursuant to subpoena or court order; or

(4) Disclosed to the abandoned property office of another state for that state's use in circumstances equivalent to those described in this subsection, if the other state is bound to keep the documents and papers confidential.

(e) If an examination results in the disclosure of property reportable under this Chapter, the Treasurer may assess, against a holder who made a fraudulent report, the cost of the examination at the rate of two hundred dollars ($200.00) a day for each examiner, or a greater amount that is reasonable and was incurred, but the assessment may not exceed the value of the property found to be reportable. The cost of an examination made pursuant to subsection (c) of this section may be assessed only against the business association.

(f) If a holder does not maintain the records required by G.S. 116B-73 and the records of the holder available for the periods subject to this Chapter are insufficient to permit the preparation of a report, the Treasurer may require the holder to report and pay to the Treasurer the amount the Treasurer reasonably estimates, on the basis of any available records of the holder or by any other reasonable method of estimation, should have been, but was not reported.

"§ 116B-73. Retention of records.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of this section, a holder required to file a report under G.S. 116B-60 shall maintain the records containing the information required to be included in the report for 10 years after the holder files the report, unless a shorter period is provided by rule of the Treasurer.

(b) A business association that sells, issues, or provides to others for sale or issue in this State, traveler's checks, money orders, or similar instruments other than third-party bank checks, on which the business association is directly liable, shall maintain a record of the instruments while they remain outstanding, indicating the state and date of issue, for three years after the holder files the report.

"§ 116B-73.1. Discretionary precompliance review.

A holder may request the Treasurer to conduct a precompliance review of the holder's compliance program to educate the holder's employees on the unclaimed property laws and filing procedures and to recommend ways to facilitate the holder's compliance with the law. Subject to the availability of staff, the Treasurer may conduct a precompliance review upon request. The Treasurer may charge the holder a precompliance review fee of up to five hundred dollars ($500.00) per day for conducting this review.

"§ 116B-74. Enforcement.

(a) The Treasurer may maintain an action in this or another state to enforce this Chapter.

(b) The Treasurer may order a person required to report, pay, or deliver property under this Chapter, or an officer or employee of the person, or a person having possession, custody, care, or control of records relevant to the matter under inquiry, or any other person having knowledge of the property or records, to appear before the Treasurer, at a time and place named in the order, and to produce the records and to give such testimony under oath or affirmation relevant to the inquiry. For purposes of this subsection, the Treasurer may administer oaths or affirmations. If a person refuses to obey an order of the Treasurer, the Treasurer may apply to the Superior Court of Wake County for an order requiring the person to obey the order of the Treasurer. Failure to comply with the court order is punishable for contempt.

"§ 116B-75. Interstate agreements and cooperation; joint and reciprocal actions with other states.

(a) The Treasurer may enter into an agreement with another state to exchange information relating to abandoned property or its possible existence. The agreement may permit the other state, or another person acting on behalf of a state, to examine records as authorized in G.S. 116B-72. The Treasurer by rule may require the reporting of information needed to enable compliance with an agreement made under this section and prescribe the form.

(b) The Treasurer may join with another state to seek enforcement of this Chapter against any person who is or may be holding property reportable under this Chapter.

(c) At the request of another state, the Attorney General of this State may maintain an action on behalf of the other state to enforce, in this State, the unclaimed property laws of the other state against a holder of property subject to escheat or a claim of abandonment by the other state, if the other state has agreed to pay expenses incurred by the Attorney General in maintaining the action.

(d) The Treasurer may request that the attorney general of another state or another attorney commence an action in the other state on behalf of the Treasurer. With the approval of the Attorney General of this State, the Treasurer may retain any other attorney to commence an action in this State on behalf of the Treasurer. This State shall pay all expenses, including attorneys' fees, in maintaining an action under this subsection. With the Treasurer's approval, the expenses and attorneys' fees may be paid from money received under this Chapter. The Treasurer may agree to pay expenses and attorneys' fees based in whole or in part on a percentage of the value of any property recovered in the action. Any expenses or attorneys' fees paid under this subsection may not be deducted from the amount that is subject to the claim by the owner under this Chapter.

(e) The Treasurer is authorized to make such expenditures from the funds of the Escheat Fund as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of this section.

"§ 116B-76. Interest and penalties; waiver.

(a) A holder who fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the time prescribed by this Chapter shall pay to the Treasurer interest at the rate established pursuant to this subsection on the property or value of the property from the date the property should have been reported, paid, or delivered. On or before June 1 and December 1 of each year, the Treasurer shall establish the interest rate to be in effect during the six-month period beginning on the next succeeding July 1 and January 1, respectively, after giving due consideration to current market conditions. If no new rate is established, the rate in effect during the preceding six-month period shall continue in effect. The rate established by the Treasurer may not be less than five percent (5%) per year and may not exceed sixteen percent (16%) per year.

(b) A holder who willfully fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the time prescribed by this Chapter, or willfully fails to perform other duties imposed by this Chapter, shall pay to the Treasurer, in addition to interest as provided in subsection

(a) of this section , a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each day the report, payment, or delivery is withheld, or the duty is not performed, up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported.

(c) A holder who makes a fraudulent report shall pay to the Treasurer, in addition to interest as provided in subsection (a) of this section, a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each day from the date a report under this Chapter was due, up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported.

(d) The Treasurer for good cause may waive, in whole or in part, interest under subsection (a) of this section and penalties under subsection (b) of this section.

"§ 116B-77. Agreement to locate property.

(a) An agreement by an owner, the primary purpose of which is to locate, deliver, recover, or assist in the recovery of property that is presumed abandoned, is void and unenforceable if it was entered into during the period commencing on the date the property was presumed abandoned and extending to a time that is 24 months after the date the property is paid or delivered to the Treasurer. This subsection does not apply to an owner's agreement with an attorney to file a claim as to identified property or contest the Treasurer's denial of a claim.

(b) An agreement by an owner, the primary purpose of which is to locate, deliver, recover, or assist in the recovery of property, is enforceable only if the agreement is in writing, clearly sets forth the nature of the property and the services to be rendered, is signed by the owner, and states the value of the property before and after the fee or other compensation has been deducted.

(c) If an agreement covered by this section applies to mineral proceeds and the agreement contains a provision to pay compensation that includes a portion of the underlying minerals or any mineral proceeds not then presumed abandoned, the provision is void and unenforceable.

(d) An agreement covered by this section that provides for compensation in an amount greater than twenty-five percent (25%) of the actual value of the property recovered, or is otherwise unconscionable, is unenforceable except by the owner. An owner who has made an agreement to pay compensation that is unenforceable, or the Treasurer on behalf of the owner, may maintain an action to reduce the compensation. The court may award reasonable attorneys' fees to an owner who prevails in the action.

(e) This section does not preclude an owner from asserting that an agreement covered by this section is invalid on grounds other than as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(f) Any person who enters into an agreement covered by this section with an owner shall register annually with the Treasurer. The information to be required under this subsection shall include the person's name, address, telephone number, state of incorporation or residence, as applicable, and the person's federal identification number. A registration fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) shall be paid to the Treasurer at the time of the filing of the registration information. Fees received under this subsection shall be credited to the General Fund.

"§ 116B-78. Transitional provisions.

(a) An initial report filed under this Article for property that was not required to be reported before the effective date of this Article but which is subject to this Article must include all items of property that would have been presumed abandoned during the 10-year period next preceding the effective date of this Article as if this Article had been in effect during that period.

(b) This Article does not relieve a holder of a duty that arose before the effective date of this Article to report, pay, or deliver property. Except as otherwise provided in G.S 116B-71(b) and G.S. 116B-76(d), a holder who did not comply with the law in effect before the effective date of this Article is subject to the applicable provisions for enforcement and penalties which then existed, which are continued in effect for the purpose of this section.

"§ 116B-79. Rules.

The Treasurer may adopt rules necessary to carry out this Chapter."

Section 7. G.S. 44A-4(b)(1) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Notice and Hearings. --

(1) If the property upon which the lien is claimed is a motor vehicle that is required to be registered, the lienor following the expiration of the relevant time period provided by subsection (a) shall give notice to the Division of Motor Vehicles that a lien is asserted and sale is proposed and shall remit to the Division a fee of ten dollars ($10.00). The Division of Motor Vehicles shall issue notice by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the person having legal title to the property, if reasonably ascertainable, to the person with whom the lienor dealt if different, and to each secured party and other person claiming an interest in the property who is actually known to the Division or who can be reasonably ascertained. The notice shall state that a lien has been asserted against specific property and shall identify the lienor, the date that the lien arose, the general nature of the services performed and materials used or sold for which the lien is asserted, the amount of the lien, and that the lienor intends to sell the property in satisfaction of the lien. The notice shall inform the recipient that the recipient has the right to a judicial hearing at which time a determination will be made as to the validity of the lien prior to a sale taking place. The notice shall further state that the recipient has a period of 10 days from the date of receipt in which to notify the Division by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, that a hearing is desired and that if the recipient wishes to contest the sale of his property pursuant to such lien, the recipient should notify the Division that a hearing is desired. The notice shall state the required information in simplified terms and shall contain a form whereby the recipient may notify the Division that a hearing is desired by the return of such form to the Division. The Division shall notify the lienor whether such notice is timely received by the Division. In lieu of the notice by the lienor to the Division and the notices issued by the Division described above, the lienor may issue notice on a form approved by the Division pursuant to the notice requirements above. If notice is issued by the lienor, the recipient shall return the form requesting a hearing to the lienor, and not the Division, within 10 days from the date the recipient receives the notice if a judicial hearing is requested. Failure of the recipient to notify the Division or lienor, as specified in the notice, within 10 days of the receipt of such notice that a hearing is desired shall be deemed a waiver of the right to a hearing prior to the sale of the property against which the lien is asserted, and the lienor may proceed to enforce the lien by public or private sale as provided in this section and the Division shall transfer title to the property pursuant to such sale. If the Division or lienor, as specified in the notice, is notified within the 10-day period provided above that a hearing is desired prior to sale, the lien may be enforced by sale as provided in this section and the Division will transfer title only pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

If the registered or certified mail notice has been returned as undeliverable, or if the name of the person having legal title to the vehicle cannot reasonably be ascertained and the fair market value of the vehicle is less than eight hundred dollars ($800.00), the lienor may institute a special proceeding in the county where the vehicle is being held, for authorization to sell that vehicle. Market value shall be determined by the schedule of values adopted by the Commissioner under G.S. 105-187.3.

In such a proceeding a lienor may include more than one vehicle, but the proceeds of the sale of each shall be subject only to valid claims against that vehicle, and any excess proceeds of the sale shall ~~escheat to the State and~~ be paid immediately to the ~~treasurer~~ Treasurer for disposition pursuant to Chapter 116B of the General Statutes. ~~A vehicle owner or possessor claiming an interest in such proceeds shall have a right of action under G.S. 116B-38.~~

The application to the clerk in such a special proceeding shall contain the notice of sale information set out in subsection (f) hereof. If the application is in proper form the clerk shall enter an order authorizing the sale on a date not less than 14 days therefrom, and the lienor shall cause the application and order to be sent immediately by first-class mail pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5, to each person to whom notice was mailed pursuant to this subsection. Following the authorized sale the lienor shall file with the clerk a report in the form of an affidavit, stating that the lienor has complied with the public or private sale provisions of G.S. 44A-4, the name, address, and bid of the high bidder or person buying at a private sale, and a statement of the disposition of the sale proceeds. The clerk then shall enter an order directing the Division to transfer title accordingly.

If prior to the sale the owner or legal possessor contests the sale or lien in a writing filed with the clerk, the proceeding shall be handled in accordance with G.S. 1-399."

Section 8. G.S. 29-12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 29-12. Escheats.

If there is no person entitled to take under G.S. 29-14 or ~~29-15,~~ G.S. 29-15, or if in case of an illegitimate intestate, there is no one entitled to take under G.S. 29-21 or ~~29-22~~ G.S. 29-22 the net estate shall escheat as provided in ~~G.S. 116A-2.~~ G.S. 116B-2."

Section 9. G.S. 53-43.7(b)

"(b) Any property, including documents or writings of a private nature, which has little or no apparent value, need not be sold but may be destroyed ~~by the Treasurer or~~ by the ~~lessor, if retained by the lessor pursuant to a determination by the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-31(e).~~ lessor if the Treasurer declines to receive the property under G.S. 116B-69(a)."

Section 10. G.S. 53-43.7(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) The lessor shall submit to the Treasurer a verified inventory of all of the contents of the safe-deposit box upon delivery of the contents of the box or such part thereof as shall be required by the Treasurer under ~~G.S. 116B-31(e);~~ G.S. 116B-55; but the lessor may deduct from any cash of the lessee in the safe-deposit box an amount equal to accumulated charges for rental and shall submit to the Treasurer a verified statement of such charges and deduction. If there is no cash, or insufficient cash to pay accumulated charges, in the safe-deposit box, the lessor may submit to the Treasurer a verified statement of accumulated charges or balance of accumulated charges due, and the Treasurer shall remit to the lessor the charges or balance due, up to the value of the property in the safe-deposit box delivered to ~~him,~~ the Treasurer, less any costs or expenses of sale; but if the charges or balance due exceeds the value of such property, the Treasurer shall remit only the value of the property, less costs or expenses of sale. Any accumulated charges for safe-deposit box rental paid by the Treasurer to the lessor shall be deducted from the value of the property of the lessee delivered to the Treasurer."

Section 11. G.S. 53B-4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53B-4. Access to financial records.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no government authority may have access to a customer's financial record held by a financial institution unless the financial record is described with reasonable specificity and access is sought pursuant to:

(1) Customer authorization that meets the requirements of the Right to Financial Privacy Act § 1104, 12 U.S.C. § 3404, provided, however, a customer authorization received by a State agency or a county department of social services for the purpose of determining eligibility for the programs of public assistance under Chapter 108A of the General Statutes, or for purposes of a government inquiry concerning these same programs of public assistance, cannot be revoked and shall remain valid for 12 months unless a shorter period is specified in the authorization, or a customer authorization that is given by a licensed attorney with respect to an account in which the attorney holds funds as a fiduciary;

(2) Authorization under G.S. 105-251, 105-251.1, or 105-258;

(3) Search warrant as provided in Article 11 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes;

(4) Statutory authority of a supervisory agency to examine or have access to financial records in the exercise of its supervisory, regulatory, or monetary functions with respect to a financial institution;

(5) The authority granted under ~~G.S. 116B-39;~~ G.S. 116B-72 and G.S. 116B-74;

(6) Examination and review by the State Auditor or his authorized representative under G.S. 147-64.6(c)(9) or ~~147-64.7(a);~~ G.S. 147-64.7(a);

(7) Request by a government authority authorized to buy and sell student loan notes under Article 23 of Chapter 116 of the General Statutes for financial records relating to insured student loans;

(8) Pending litigation to which the government authority and the customer are parties;

(9) Subpoena or court order in connection with a grand jury proceeding;

(10) A writ of execution under Article 28 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes; or

(11) Other court order or administrative or judicial subpoena authorized by law if the requirements of G.S. 53B-5 are met.

As used in this section, the term 'reasonable specificity' means that degree of specificity reasonable under all the circumstances, ~~and~~ and, with respect to requests under G.S. 116B-72 and G.S. 116B-74, may include designation by general type or ~~class as authorized in G.S. 116B-39.~~ class."

Section 12. G.S. 116-209.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-209.3. Additional powers.

The Authority is authorized to develop and administer programs and perform all functions necessary or convenient to promote and facilitate the making and insuring of student loans and providing such other student loan assistance and services as the Authority shall deem necessary or desirable for carrying out the purposes of this Article and for qualifying for loans, grants, insurance and other benefits and assistance under any program of the United States now or hereafter authorized fostering student loans. There shall be established and maintained a trust fund which shall be designated 'State Education Assistance Authority Loan Fund' (the 'Loan Fund') which may be used by the Authority in making student loans directly or through agents or independent contractors, insuring student loans, acquiring, purchasing, endorsing or guaranteeing promissory notes, contracts, obligations or other legal instruments evidencing student loans made by banks, educational institutions, nonprofit corporations or other eligible lenders, and for defraying the expenses of operation and administration of the Authority for which other funds are not available to the Authority. There shall be deposited to the credit of such Loan Fund the proceeds (exclusive of accrued interest) derived from the sale of its revenue bonds by the Authority and any other moneys made available to the Authority for the making or insuring of student loans or the purchase of obligations. There shall also be deposited to the credit of the Loan Fund surplus funds from time to time transferred by the Authority from the sinking fund. In lieu of or in addition to the Loan Fund, the Authority may provide in any resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds or any trust agreement securing such bonds that any other trust funds or accounts may be established as may be deemed necessary or convenient for securing the bonds or for making student loans, acquiring obligations or otherwise carrying out its other powers under this Article, and there may be deposited to the credit of any such fund or account proceeds of bonds or other money available to the Authority for the purposes to be served by such fund or account."

Section 13. If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect the provisions or applications of this act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this act are severable.

Section 14. The Revisor of Statutes shall cause to be printed with this act all explanatory comments of the drafters of this act as the Revisor may deem appropriate.

Section 15. This act becomes effective January 1, 2000, and shall apply to property existing on or after that date. G.S. 116B-54(d), as enacted in Section 6 of this act, is intended to clarify and not change existing law.

"§ 116B-53. Presumptions of abandonment.

(a) Property is unclaimed if the apparent owner has not communicated in writing or by other means reflected in a contemporaneous record prepared by or on behalf of the holder, with the holder concerning the property or the account in which the property is held, and has not otherwise indicated an interest in the property. A communication with an owner by a person (other than the holder or its representative) who has not, in writing, identified the property to the owner is not an indication of interest in the property by the owner.

(b) An indication of an interest in property includes:

(1) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of a dividend or other distribution made with respect to an account or underlying stock or other interest in a business association or, in the case of a distribution made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the distribution has been received;

(2) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of interest made with respect to debt of a business association or, in the case of an interest payment made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the interest payment has been received;

(3) Owner-directed activity in the account in which the property is held, including a direction by the owner to increase, decrease, or change the amount or type of property held in the account;

(4) The making of a deposit to or withdrawal from an account in a financial organization;

(5) Owner activity in another account with the holder of a deposit described in subdivisions (c)(2) and (c)(6) of this section; and

(6) The payment of a premium with respect to a property interest in an insurance policy; but the application of an automatic premium loan provision or other nonforfeiture provision contained in an insurance policy does not prevent a policy from maturing or terminating if the insured has died or the insured or the beneficiary of the policy has otherwise become entitled to the proceeds before the depletion of the cash surrender value of a policy by the application of those provisions.

(c) Property is presumed abandoned if it is unclaimed by the apparent owner during the time set forth below for the particular property:

(1) Traveler's check, 15 years after issuance;

(2) Time deposit, including a deposit that is automatically renewable, 10 years after the later of initial maturity or the date of the last indication by the owner of interest in the property;

(3) Money order, cashier's check, teller's check, and certified check, seven years after issuance;

(4) Stock or other equity interest in a business association, including a security entitlement under Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code, Chapter 25 of the General Statutes, five years after the earlier of:

a. The date of a cash dividend or other cash distribution unclaimed by the apparent owner, or

b. The date of the second mailing of a stock certificate or other evidence of ownership, a statement of account, or other notification or communication which second mailing was returned as undeliverable or the date the holder discontinued mailings, notifications, or communications to the apparent owner;

(5) Debt of a business association, other than a bearer bond or an original issue discount bond, five years after the date of an interest payment unclaimed by the apparent owner;

(6) Demand or savings deposit, five years after the date of the last indication by the owner of interest in the property;

(7) Money or credits owed to a customer as a result of a retail business transaction, three years after the obligation accrued;

(8) Any gift certificate or electronic gift card bearing an expiration date and remaining unredeemed or dormant for more than three years after the gift certificate or electronic gift card was sold is deemed abandoned. The amount abandoned is deemed to be sixty percent (60%) of the unredeemed portion of the face value of the gift certificate or the electronic gift card;

(9) Amount owed by an insurer on a life or endowment insurance policy or an annuity that has matured or terminated, three years after the obligation to pay arose or, in the case of a policy or annuity payable upon proof of death, three years after the insured has attained, or would have attained if living, the limiting age under the mortality table on which the reserve is based;

(10) Property distributable by a business association in a course of dissolution, one year after the property becomes distributable;

(11) Property received by a court as proceeds of a class action, and not distributed pursuant to the judgment, one year after the distribution date;

(12) Property held by a court, government, governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality, one year after the property becomes distributable;

(13) Wages or other compensation for personal services, one year after the compensation becomes payable;

(14) Deposit or refund owed to a subscriber by a utility, one year after the deposit or refund becomes payable;

(15) Property in an individual retirement account, defined benefit plan, or other account or plan that is qualified for tax deferral under the income tax laws of the United States, three years after the earliest of the date of the distribution or attempted distribution of the property, the date of the required distribution as stated in the plan or trust agreement governing the plan, or the date, if determinable by the holder, specified in the income tax laws of the United States by which distribution of the property must begin in order to avoid a tax penalty; and

(16) All other property, five years after the owner's right to demand the property or after the obligation to pay or distribute the property arises, whichever first occurs.

(d) At the time that an interest in property is presumed abandoned under subsection (c) of this section, any other property right accrued or accruing to the owner as a result of the interest, and not previously presumed abandoned, is also presumed abandoned.

(e) Property is payable or distributable for purposes of this Chapter notwithstanding the owner's failure to make demand or present an instrument or document otherwise required to obtain payment or distribution.

"§ 116B-54. Exclusion for forfeited reservation deposits, certain gift certificates or electronic gift cards, prepaid calling cards, certain manufactured home buyer deposits, and certain credit balances.

(a) A forfeited reservation deposit is not abandoned property. For the purposes of this section, the term 'reservation deposit' means an amount of money paid to a business association to guarantee that the business association holds a specific service, such as a room accommodation at a hotel, seating at a restaurant, or an appointment with a doctor, for a specified date and place. The term 'reservation deposit' does not include an application fee, a utility deposit, or a deposit made toward the purchase of real property.

(b) A gift certificate or electronic gift card is not abandoned property when the gift certificate or electronic gift card:

(1) Conspicuously states that the gift certificate or electronic gift card does not expire;

(2) Bears no expiration date; or

(3) States that a date of expiration printed on the gift certificate or electronic gift card is not applicable in North Carolina.

(c) A prepaid calling card issued by a public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6. is not abandoned property.

(d) A buyer deposit that a dealer is authorized to retain under either G.S. 143-143.21A or G.S. 143-143.21B is not abandoned property and is not subject to this Article.

(e) Credit balances as shown on the records of a business association to or for the benefit of another business association, shall not constitute abandoned property. For purposes of this section, the term 'credit balances' means items such as overpayments or underpayments on the sale of goods or services.

"§ 116B-55. Contents of safe deposit box or other safekeeping depository.

Contents of a safe deposit box or other safekeeping depository held by a financial organization is presumed abandoned if the apparent owner has not claimed the property within the period established by G.S. 53-43.7 and shall be delivered to the Treasurer as provided by that section. If the contents include property described in G.S. 116B-53, the Treasurer shall hold the property for the remainder of the applicable period set forth in that section before the property is deemed to be received for purpose of sale under G.S. 116B-65.

"§ 116B-56. Rules for taking custody.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter or by other statute of this State, property that is presumed abandoned, whether located in this or another state, is subject to the custody of this State if:

(1) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in this State;

(2) The records of the holder do not reflect the identity of the person entitled to the property, and it is established that the last known address of the person entitled to the property is in this State;

(3) The records of the holder do not reflect the last known address of the apparent owner and it is established that:

a. The last known address of the person entitled to the property is in this State; or

b. The holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this

State and has not previously paid or delivered the property to the state of the last known address of the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property;

(4) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and the holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this State;

(5) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in a foreign country, and the holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this State;

(6) The transaction out of which the property arose occurred in this State, the holder is domiciled in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and the last known address of the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property is unknown or is in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property; or

(7) The property is a traveler's check or money order purchased in this State or the issuer of the traveler's check or money order has its principal place of business in this State and the issuer's records show that the instrument was purchased in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property or do not show the state in which the instrument was purchased.

(b) In the case of an amount payable under the terms of an annuity or insurance policy, the last known address of the person entitled to the property is presumed to be the same as the last known address of the insured or the principal, as shown on the records of the insurance company, if:

(1) A person other than the insured or the principal is entitled to the property; and

(2) Either:

a. No address of the person is known to the insurance company; or

b. The records of the insurance company do not reflect the identity of the person.

"§ 116B-57. Dormancy charge; other lawful charges.

(a) A holder may deduct from property presumed abandoned a reasonable charge imposed by reason of the owner's failure to claim the property within a specified time only if there is a valid and enforceable written contract between the holder and the owner under which the holder may impose the charge and the holder regularly imposes the charge, which is not regularly reversed or otherwise canceled.

(b) This Chapter does not prevent a holder from deducting from property presumed abandoned other lawful charges specifically authorized by statute or by a valid and enforceable contract.

"§ 116B-58. Burden of proof as to property evidenced by record of check or draft.

A record of the issuance of a check, draft, or similar instrument is prima facie evidence of an obligation. In claiming property from a holder who is also the issuer, the Treasurer's burden of proof as to the existence and amount of the property and its abandonment is satisfied by showing issuance of the instrument and passage of the requisite period of abandonment. Defenses of payment, satisfaction, discharge, and want of consideration are affirmative defenses that must be established by the holder.

"§ 116B-59. Notice by holders to apparent owners.

(a) A holder of property presumed abandoned shall make a good faith effort to locate an apparent owner.

(b) The holder shall send written notice, by first-class mail, to the apparent owner, not more than 120 days or less than 60 days before filing the report required by G.S. 116B-60, to the last known address of the apparent owner as reflected in the holder's records, if the value of the property is fifty dollars ($50.00) or more.

(c) The notice must contain:

(1) A statement that, according to the records of the holder, property is being held to which the addressee appears entitled and the amount or description of the property;

(2) The name and address of the person holding the property and any necessary information regarding changes of name and address of the holder;

(3) A statement that, if satisfactory proof of claim is not presented by the owner to the holder by the following October 1 or, if the holder is an insurance company, by the following April 1, the property will be placed in the custody of the Treasurer, to whom all further claims shall be directed.

"§ 116B-60. Report of abandoned property; certification by holders with tax return.

(a) A holder of property presumed abandoned shall make a report to the Treasurer concerning the property.

(b) The report must be verified and must contain:

(1) A description of the property;

(2) Except with respect to a traveler's check or money order, the name, if known, and last known address, if any, and the social security number or taxpayer identification number, if readily ascertainable, of the apparent owner of property of the value of fifty dollars ($50.00) or more;

(3) An aggregated amount of items valued under fifty dollars ($50.00) each;

(4) In the case of an amount of fifty dollars ($50.00) or more held or owing under an annuity or a life or endowment insurance policy, the full name and last known address of the annuitant or insured and of the beneficiary;

(5) The date, if any, on which the property became payable, demandable, or returnable, and the date of the last transaction or communication with the apparent owner with respect to the property; and

(6) Other information that the Treasurer by rule prescribes as necessary for the administration of this Chapter.

(c) If a holder of property presumed abandoned is a successor to another person who previously held the property for the apparent owner or the holder has changed its name while holding the property, the holder shall file with the report its former names, if any, and the known names and addresses of all previous holders of the property.

(d) The report must be filed before November 1 of each year and cover the 12 months next preceding July 1 of that year, but a report with respect to a life insurance company must be filed before May 1 of each year for the calendar year next preceding.

(e) Before the date for filing the report, the holder of property presumed abandoned may request the Treasurer to extend the time for filing the report. A request for an extension for filing a report shall be accompanied by an extension processing fee of ten dollars ($10.00). The Treasurer may grant the extension for good cause. The holder, upon receipt of the extension, may make an interim payment on the amount the holder estimates will ultimately be due, which terminates the accrual of additional interest on the amount paid.

(f) The holder of property presumed abandoned shall file with the report an affidavit stating that the holder has complied with G.S. 116B-59.

(g) Every business association holding property presumed abandoned under this Chapter shall certify the holding in the income tax return required by Chapter 105 of the General Statutes. The certification shall be a part of the tax return with which it is filed. If the business association is not required to file an income tax return under Chapter 105, the certification shall be made in the form and manner required by the Secretary of Revenue. The information appearing on the certification is not privileged or confidential, and this information shall be furnished by the Secretary of Revenue to the Escheat Fund on October 1 of each year, or if this date shall fall on a weekend or holiday, on the next regular business day.

"§ 116B-61. Payment or delivery of abandoned property.

(a) Upon filing the report required by G.S. 116B-60, the holder of property presumed abandoned shall pay, deliver, or cause to be paid or delivered to the Treasurer the property described in the report, but if the property is an automatically renewable deposit, and a penalty or forfeiture in the payment of interest would result, the time for compliance is extended to the next filing and delivery date at which a penalty or forfeiture would no longer result.

(b) If the property reported to the Treasurer is a security or security entitlement under Article 8 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes, the Treasurer is an appropriate person to make an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order on behalf of the apparent owner to invoke the duty of the issuer or its transfer agent or the securities intermediary to transfer or dispose of the security or the security entitlement in accordance with Article 8 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes.

(c) If the holder of property reported to the Treasurer is the issuer of a certificated security, the Treasurer has the right to obtain a replacement certificate pursuant to G.S. 25-8-405, but an indemnity bond is not required.

(d) An issuer, the holder, and any transfer agent or other person acting pursuant to the instructions of and on behalf of the issuer or holder in accordance with this section is not liable to the apparent owner and must be indemnified against claims of any person in accordance with G.S. 116B-63.

"§ 116B-62. Preparation of list of owners by Treasurer.

(a) There shall be delivered to the clerk of superior court of each county prior to June 30 of each year a list prepared by the Treasurer of escheated and abandoned property reported to the Treasurer. The list shall contain:

(1) The names, if known, in alphabetical order of surname, and last known addresses, if any, of apparent owners of escheated and abandoned property;

(2) The names and addresses of the holders of the abandoned property; and

(3) A statement that claim and proof of legal entitlement to escheated or abandoned property shall be presented by the owner to the Treasurer, which statement shall set forth where further information may be obtained.

(b) At the time the lists are distributed to the clerks of superior court, the Treasurer shall cause to be published once each week for two consecutive weeks, in at least two newspapers having general circulation in this State, a notice stating the nature of the lists and that the lists are available for inspection at the offices of the respective clerks of superior court, together with any other information the Treasurer deems appropriate to appear in the notice.

(c) The Treasurer is not required to include in any list any item of a value, as determined by the Treasurer, in the Treasurer's discretion, of less than fifty dollars ($50.00), unless the Treasurer deems inclusion of items of lesser amounts to be in the public interest.

(d) The clerks of superior court shall retain the lists on permanent file in their offices and shall make them available for public inspection.

(e) The lists prepared by the Treasurer shall include only escheated and abandoned property reported for the current reporting date and are not required to be cumulative lists of escheated and abandoned property previously reported.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, the supporting data and lists of apparent owners of escheated and abandoned property may be confidential until six months after the notice to clerks of superior court required by subsection (b) of this section has been distributed. This subsection shall not apply to owners of reported property making inquiries about their property to the Escheat Fund.

"§ 116B-63. Custody by State; recovery by holder; defense of holder.

(a) In this section, payment or delivery is made in 'good faith' if:

(1) Payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this Chapter;

(2) The holder was not then in breach of a fiduciary obligation with respect to the property and had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known, that the property was presumed abandoned; and

(3) There is no showing that the records under which the payment or delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice.

(b) Upon payment or delivery of property to the Treasurer, the State assumes custody and responsibility for the safekeeping of the property. A holder who pays or delivers property to the Treasurer in good faith is relieved of all liability arising thereafter with respect to the property.

(c) A holder who has paid money to the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter may subsequently make payment to a person reasonably appearing to the holder to be entitled to payment. Upon a filing by the holder of proof of payment and proof that the payee was entitled to the payment, the Treasurer shall promptly reimburse the holder for the payment without imposing a fee or other charge. If reimbursement is sought for a payment made on a negotiable instrument, including a traveler's check or money order, the holder must be reimbursed upon filing proof that the instrument was duly presented and that payment was made to a person who reasonably appeared to be entitled to payment. The holder must be reimbursed for payment made even if the payment was made to a person whose claim was barred under G.S. 116B-71(a).

(d) A holder who has delivered property other than money to the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter may reclaim the property if it is still in the possession of the Treasurer,without paying any fee or other charge, upon filing proof that the apparent owner has claimed the property from the holder.

(e) The Treasurer may accept a holder's affidavit as sufficient proof of the holder's right to recover money and property under this section.

(f) If a holder pays or delivers property to the Treasurer in good faith and thereafter another person claims the property from the holder or another state claims the money or property under its laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the Treasurer, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any liability on the claim resulting from payment or delivery of the property to the Treasurer.

"§ 116B-64. Income or gain accruing after payment or delivery.

If property other than money is delivered to the Treasurer under this Chapter, the owner is entitled to receive from the Treasurer any income or gain realized or accruing on the property at or before liquidation or conversion of the property into money. If the property is interest-bearing or pays dividends, the interest or dividends shall be paid until the date on which the amount of the deposits, accounts, or funds, or the shares must be remitted or delivered to the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-61. Otherwise, when property is delivered or paid to the Treasurer, the Treasurer shall hold the property without liability for income or gain.

"§ 116B-65. Public sale of abandoned property.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the Treasurer, within three years after the receipt of abandoned property, shall sell it to the highest bidder at public sale at a location in the State which in the judgment of the Treasurer affords the most favorable market for the property. The Treasurer may decline the highest bid and reoffer the property for sale if the Treasurer considers the bid to be insufficient. The Treasurer need not offer the property for sale if the Treasurer considers that the probable cost of sale will exceed the proceeds of the sale. A sale held under this section must be preceded by a single publication of notice, at least three weeks before sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the property is to be sold. The Treasurer is not required to sell money unless it is a collector's species having value greater than the face value of the money as cash.

(b) Securities listed on an established stock exchange must be sold at prices prevailing on the exchange at the time of sale. Other securities may be sold over the counter at prices prevailing at the time of sale or by any reasonable method selected by the Treasurer. If securities are sold by the Treasurer before the expiration of three years after their delivery to the Treasurer, a person making a claim under this Chapter before the end of the three-year period is entitled to the proceeds of the sale of the securities or the market value of the securities at the time the claim is made, whichever is greater, less any deduction for expenses of sale. A person making a claim under this Chapter after the expiration of the three-year period is entitled to receive the securities delivered to the Treasurer by the holder, if they still remain in the custody of the Treasurer, or the net proceeds received from sale, and is not entitled to receive any appreciation in the value of the property occurring after delivery to the Treasurer, except in a case of intentional misconduct by the Treasurer.

(c) A purchaser of property at a sale conducted by the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter takes the property free of all claims of the owner or previous holder and of all persons claiming through or under them. The Treasurer shall execute all documents necessary to complete the transfer of ownership.

"§ 116B-66. Claim of another state to recover property.

(a) After property has been paid or delivered to the Treasurer under this Article, another state may recover the property if:

(1) The property was paid or delivered to the custody of this State because the records of the holder did not reflect a last known location of the apparent owner within the borders of the other state, and the other state establishes that the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property was last known to be located within the borders of that state and under the laws of that state the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(2) The property was paid or delivered to the custody of this State because the laws of the other state did not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and under the laws of that state subsequently enacted, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(3) The records of the holder were erroneous in that they did not accurately identify the owner of the property and the last known location of the owner within the borders of another state, and under the laws of that state the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(4) The property was subjected to custody by this State under G.S. 116B-56(6), and under the laws of the state of domicile of the holder, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state; or

(5) The property is a sum payable on a traveler's check, money order, or similar instrument that was purchased in the other state and delivered into the custody of this State under G.S. 116B-56(7), and under the laws of the other state, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state.

(b) A claim of another state to recover escheated or abandoned property must be presented in a form prescribed by the Treasurer, who shall decide the claim within 90 days after it is presented. The Treasurer shall allow the claim upon determining that the other state is entitled to the abandoned property under subsection (a) of this section.

(c) The Treasurer shall require another state, before recovering property under this section, to agree to indemnify this State and its officers and employees against any liability on a claim to the property.

"§ 116B-67. Claim for property paid or delivered to the Treasurer.

(a) A person, excluding another state, claiming property paid or delivered to the Treasurer may file a claim on a form prescribed by the Treasurer and verified by the claimant.

(b) At the discretion of the Treasurer, the claim shall be made to the holder or to the holder's successor. If the holder is satisfied that the claim is valid and that the claimant is the owner of the property, the holder shall so certify to the Treasurer by written statement attested by the holder under oath, or in the case of a corporation, by two principal officers, or one principal officer and an authorized employee of the corporation. The determination of the holder that the claimant is the owner shall, in the absence of fraud, be binding upon the Treasurer and upon receipt of the certificate of the holder to this effect, the Treasurer shall forthwith authorize and make payment of the claim or return of the property, or if the property has been sold, the amount received from the sale, to the owner, or to the holder in the event the owner has assigned the claim to the holder and the certificate of the holder is accompanied by an assignment. In the event the holder rejects the claim, the claimant may appeal to the Treasurer.

If the holder, or the holder's successor, is not available, the owner may file a claim with the Treasurer on a form prescribed by the Treasurer. In addition to any other information, the claim shall state the facts surrounding the unavailability of the holder and the lack of a successor.

(c) Within 90 days after a claim is filed, the Treasurer shall allow or deny the claim and give written notice of the decision to the claimant. If the claim is denied, the Treasurer shall inform the claimant of the reasons for the denial and specify what additional evidence is required before the claim will be allowed. The claimant may then file a new claim with the Treasurer or maintain an action under G.S. 116B-68.

(d) Within 30 days after a claim is allowed, the property or the net proceeds of a sale of the property must be delivered or paid by the Treasurer to the claimant.

(e) The claimant or claimants and the holder, if the holder either certifies that the claimant is the owner under subsection (b) of this section or recovers money and property from the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-63, shall agree to indemnify, save harmless, and defend the State, the Treasurer, and the Escheat Fund from any claim arising out of or in connection with refund of the property claimed. In like manner, the claimant shall also agree to indemnify, save harmless, and defend the holder, if the holder certifies the claim under subsection (b) of this section or pays or delivers property to the claimant under G.S. 116B-63.

"§ 116B-68. Action to establish claim.

A person aggrieved by a decision of the Treasurer or whose claim has not been acted upon within 90 days after its filing may maintain an original action to establish the claim in the Superior Court of Wake County, naming the Treasurer as a defendant.

"§ 116B-69. Election to take payment or delivery.

(a) The Treasurer may decline to receive property reported under this Chapter which the Treasurer considers to have a value less than the expenses of notice and sale.

(b) A holder, with the written consent of the Treasurer and upon conditions and terms prescribed by the Treasurer, may report and deliver property before the property is presumed abandoned. Property so delivered must be held by the Treasurer and is not presumed abandoned until it otherwise would be presumed abandoned under this Article.

"§ 116B-70. Destruction or disposition of property having no substantial commercial value; immunity from liability; property of historical significance.

(a) If the Treasurer determines after investigation that property delivered under this Chapter has no substantial commercial value, the Treasurer may destroy or otherwise dispose of the property at any time. An action or proceeding may not be maintained against the State or any officer, employee, or agent of the State, both past and present, in the person's individual and official capacity, or against the holder for or on account of an act of the Treasurer under this subsection, except for intentional misconduct.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 116B-65, the Treasurer may retain any tangible property delivered to the Treasurer, if the property has recognized historic significance. The historic significance shall be certified by the Treasurer, with the advice of the Secretary of Cultural Resources; and a statement of the appraised value of the property shall be filed with the certification. Historic property retained under this subsection may be stored and displayed at any suitable location.

"§ 116B-71. Periods of limitation.

(a) The expiration, before or after the effective date of this Article, of a period of limitation on the owner's right to receive or recover property, whether specified by contract, statute, or court order, does not preclude the property from being presumed abandoned or affect a duty of a holder to file a report or to pay or deliver or transfer property to the Treasurer as required by this Article.

(b) An action or proceeding may not be maintained by the Treasurer to enforce this Article in regard to the reporting, delivery, or payment of property more than 10 years after the holder filed a report with the Treasurer in which the holder specifically identified property, should have but failed to identify property, or gave express notice to the Treasurer of a dispute regarding property. In the absence of such a report or other express notice, the period of limitation is tolled. The period of limitation is also tolled by the filing of a report that is fraudulent.

"§ 116B-72. Requests for reports and examination of records.

(a) The Treasurer may require a person who has not filed a report, or a person who the Treasurer believes has filed an inaccurate, incomplete, or false report, to file a verified report in a form specified by the Treasurer. The report must state whether the person is holding property reportable under this Chapter, describe property not previously reported or as to which the Treasurer has made inquiry, and specifically identify and state the value of property that may be in issue.

(b) The Treasurer, at reasonable times and upon reasonable notice, may examine the records of any person to determine whether the person has complied with this Chapter. The Treasurer may conduct the examination even if the person believes it is not in possession of any property that must be reported, paid, or delivered under this Chapter. The Treasurer may contract with any other person to conduct the examination on behalf of the Treasurer.

(c) The Treasurer at reasonable times may examine the records of an agent, including a dividend disbursing agent or transfer agent, of a business association that is the holder of property presumed abandoned if the Treasurer has given the notice required by subsection (b) of this section to both the association and the agent at least 90 days before the examination.

(d) Documents and working papers obtained or compiled by the Treasurer, or the Treasurer's agents, employees, or designated representatives, in the course of conducting an examination are confidential, but the documents and papers may be:

(1) Used by the Treasurer in the course of an action to collect unclaimed property or otherwise enforce this Chapter;

(2) Used in joint examinations conducted with or pursuant to an agreement with another state, the federal government, or any other governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality;

(3) Produced pursuant to subpoena or court order; or

(4) Disclosed to the abandoned property office of another state for that state's use in circumstances equivalent to those described in this subsection, if the other state is bound to keep the documents and papers confidential.

(e) If an examination results in the disclosure of property reportable under this Chapter, the Treasurer may assess, against a holder who made a fraudulent report, the cost of the examination at the rate of two hundred dollars ($200.00) a day for each examiner, or a greater amount that is reasonable and was incurred, but the assessment may not exceed the value of the property found to be reportable. The cost of an examination made pursuant to subsection (c) of this section may be assessed only against the business association.

(f) If a holder does not maintain the records required by G.S. 116B-73 and the records of the holder available for the periods subject to this Chapter are insufficient to permit the preparation of a report, the Treasurer may require the holder to report and pay to the Treasurer the amount the Treasurer reasonably estimates, on the basis of any available records of the holder or by any other reasonable method of estimation, should have been, but was not reported.

"§ 116B-73. Retention of records.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of this section, a holder required to file a report under G.S. 116B-60 shall maintain the records containing the information required to be included in the report for 10 years after the holder files the report, unless a shorter period is provided by rule of the Treasurer.

(b) A business association that sells, issues, or provides to others for sale or issue in this State, traveler's checks, money orders, or similar instruments other than third-party bank checks, on which the business association is directly liable, shall maintain a record of the instruments while they remain outstanding, indicating the state and date of issue, for three years after the holder files the report.

"§ 116B-73.1. Discretionary precompliance review.

A holder may request the Treasurer to conduct a precompliance review of the holder's compliance program to educate the holder's employees on the unclaimed property laws and filing procedures and to recommend ways to facilitate the holder's compliance with the law. Subject to the availability of staff, the Treasurer may conduct a precompliance review upon request. The Treasurer may charge the holder a precompliance review fee of up to five hundred dollars ($500.00) per day for conducting this review.

"§ 116B-74. Enforcement.

(a) The Treasurer may maintain an action in this or another state to enforce this Chapter.

(b) The Treasurer may order a person required to report, pay, or deliver property under this Chapter, or an officer or employee of the person, or a person having possession, custody, care, or control of records relevant to the matter under inquiry, or any other person having knowledge of the property or records, to appear before the Treasurer, at a time and place named in the order, and to produce the records and to give such testimony under oath or affirmation relevant to the inquiry. For purposes of this subsection, the Treasurer may administer oaths or affirmations. If a person refuses to obey an order of the Treasurer, the Treasurer may apply to the Superior Court of Wake County for an order requiring the person to obey the order of the Treasurer. Failure to comply with the court order is punishable for contempt.

"§ 116B-75. Interstate agreements and cooperation; joint and reciprocal actions with other states.

(a) The Treasurer may enter into an agreement with another state to exchange information relating to abandoned property or its possible existence. The agreement may permit the other state, or another person acting on behalf of a state, to examine records as authorized in G.S. 116B-72. The Treasurer by rule may require the reporting of information needed to enable compliance with an agreement made under this section and prescribe the form.

(b) The Treasurer may join with another state to seek enforcement of this Chapter against any person who is or may be holding property reportable under this Chapter.

(c) At the request of another state, the Attorney General of this State may maintain an action on behalf of the other state to enforce, in this State, the unclaimed property laws of the other state against a holder of property subject to escheat or a claim of abandonment by the other state, if the other state has agreed to pay expenses incurred by the Attorney General in maintaining the action.

(d) The Treasurer may request that the attorney general of another state or another attorney commence an action in the other state on behalf of the Treasurer. With the approval of the Attorney General of this State, the Treasurer may retain any other attorney to commence an action in this State on behalf of the Treasurer. This State shall pay all expenses, including attorneys' fees, in maintaining an action under this subsection. With the Treasurer's approval, the expenses and attorneys' fees may be paid from money received under this Chapter. The Treasurer may agree to pay expenses and attorneys' fees based in whole or in part on a percentage of the value of any property recovered in the action. Any expenses or attorneys' fees paid under this subsection may not be deducted from the amount that is subject to the claim by the owner under this Chapter.

(e) The Treasurer is authorized to make such expenditures from the funds of the Escheat Fund as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of this section.

"§ 116B-76. Interest and penalties; waiver.

(a) A holder who fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the time prescribed by this Chapter shall pay to the Treasurer interest at the rate established pursuant to this subsection on the property or value of the property from the date the property should have been reported, paid, or delivered. On or before June 1 and December 1 of each year, the Treasurer shall establish the interest rate to be in effect during the six-month period beginning on the next succeeding July 1 and January 1, respectively, after giving due consideration to current market conditions. If no new rate is established, the rate in effect during the preceding six-month period shall continue in effect. The rate established by the Treasurer may not be less than five percent (5%) per year and may not exceed sixteen percent (16%) per year.

(b) A holder who willfully fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the time prescribed by this Chapter, or willfully fails to perform other duties imposed by this Chapter, shall pay to the Treasurer, in addition to interest as provided in subsection

(a) of this section , a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each day the report, payment, or delivery is withheld, or the duty is not performed, up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported.

(c) A holder who makes a fraudulent report shall pay to the Treasurer, in addition to interest as provided in subsection (a) of this section, a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each day from the date a report under this Chapter was due, up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported.

(d) The Treasurer for good cause may waive, in whole or in part, interest under subsection (a) of this section and penalties under subsection (b) of this section.

"§ 116B-77. Agreement to locate property.

(a) An agreement by an owner, the primary purpose of which is to locate, deliver, recover, or assist in the recovery of property that is presumed abandoned, is void and unenforceable if it was entered into during the period commencing on the date the property was presumed abandoned and extending to a time that is 24 months after the date the property is paid or delivered to the Treasurer. This subsection does not apply to an owner's agreement with an attorney to file a claim as to identified property or contest the Treasurer's denial of a claim.

(b) An agreement by an owner, the primary purpose of which is to locate, deliver, recover, or assist in the recovery of property, is enforceable only if the agreement is in writing, clearly sets forth the nature of the property and the services to be rendered, is signed by the owner, and states the value of the property before and after the fee or other compensation has been deducted.

(c) If an agreement covered by this section applies to mineral proceeds and the agreement contains a provision to pay compensation that includes a portion of the underlying minerals or any mineral proceeds not then presumed abandoned, the provision is void and unenforceable.

(d) An agreement covered by this section that provides for compensation in an amount greater than twenty-five percent (25%) of the actual value of the property recovered, or is otherwise unconscionable, is unenforceable except by the owner. An owner who has made an agreement to pay compensation that is unenforceable, or the Treasurer on behalf of the owner, may maintain an action to reduce the compensation. The court may award reasonable attorneys' fees to an owner who prevails in the action.

(e) This section does not preclude an owner from asserting that an agreement covered by this section is invalid on grounds other than as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(f) Any person who enters into an agreement covered by this section with an owner shall register annually with the Treasurer. The information to be required under this subsection shall include the person's name, address, telephone number, state of incorporation or residence, as applicable, and the person's federal identification number. A registration fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) shall be paid to the Treasurer at the time of the filing of the registration information. Fees received under this subsection shall be credited to the General Fund.

"§ 116B-78. Transitional provisions.

(a) An initial report filed under this Article for property that was not required to be reported before the effective date of this Article but which is subject to this Article must include all items of property that would have been presumed abandoned during the 10-year period next preceding the effective date of this Article as if this Article had been in effect during that period.

(b) This Article does not relieve a holder of a duty that arose before the effective date of this Article to report, pay, or deliver property. Except as otherwise provided in G.S 116B-71(b) and G.S. 116B-76(d), a holder who did not comply with the law in effect before the effective date of this Article is subject to the applicable provisions for enforcement and penalties which then existed, which are continued in effect for the purpose of this section.

"§ 116B-79. Rules.

The Treasurer may adopt rules necessary to carry out this Chapter."

Section 7. G.S. 44A-4(b)(1) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Notice and Hearings. --

(1) If the property upon which the lien is claimed is a motor vehicle that is required to be registered, the lienor following the expiration of the relevant time period provided by subsection (a) shall give notice to the Division of Motor Vehicles that a lien is asserted and sale is proposed and shall remit to the Division a fee of ten dollars ($10.00). The Division of Motor Vehicles shall issue notice by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the person having legal title to the property, if reasonably ascertainable, to the person with whom the lienor dealt if different, and to each secured party and other person claiming an interest in the property who is actually known to the Division or who can be reasonably ascertained. The notice shall state that a lien has been asserted against specific property and shall identify the lienor, the date that the lien arose, the general nature of the services performed and materials used or sold for which the lien is asserted, the amount of the lien, and that the lienor intends to sell the property in satisfaction of the lien. The notice shall inform the recipient that the recipient has the right to a judicial hearing at which time a determination will be made as to the validity of the lien prior to a sale taking place. The notice shall further state that the recipient has a period of 10 days from the date of receipt in which to notify the Division by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, that a hearing is desired and that if the recipient wishes to contest the sale of his property pursuant to such lien, the recipient should notify the Division that a hearing is desired. The notice shall state the required information in simplified terms and shall contain a form whereby the recipient may notify the Division that a hearing is desired by the return of such form to the Division. The Division shall notify the lienor whether such notice is timely received by the Division. In lieu of the notice by the lienor to the Division and the notices issued by the Division described above, the lienor may issue notice on a form approved by the Division pursuant to the notice requirements above. If notice is issued by the lienor, the recipient shall return the form requesting a hearing to the lienor, and not the Division, within 10 days from the date the recipient receives the notice if a judicial hearing is requested. Failure of the recipient to notify the Division or lienor, as specified in the notice, within 10 days of the receipt of such notice that a hearing is desired shall be deemed a waiver of the right to a hearing prior to the sale of the property against which the lien is asserted, and the lienor may proceed to enforce the lien by public or private sale as provided in this section and the Division shall transfer title to the property pursuant to such sale. If the Division or lienor, as specified in the notice, is notified within the 10-day period provided above that a hearing is desired prior to sale, the lien may be enforced by sale as provided in this section and the Division will transfer title only pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

If the registered or certified mail notice has been returned as undeliverable, or if the name of the person having legal title to the vehicle cannot reasonably be ascertained and the fair market value of the vehicle is less than eight hundred dollars ($800.00), the lienor may institute a special proceeding in the county where the vehicle is being held, for authorization to sell that vehicle. Market value shall be determined by the schedule of values adopted by the Commissioner under G.S. 105-187.3.

In such a proceeding a lienor may include more than one vehicle, but the proceeds of the sale of each shall be subject only to valid claims against that vehicle, and any excess proceeds of the sale shall ~~escheat to the State and~~ be paid immediately to the ~~treasurer~~ Treasurer for disposition pursuant to Chapter 116B of the General Statutes. ~~A vehicle owner or possessor claiming an interest in such proceeds shall have a right of action under G.S. 116B-38.~~

The application to the clerk in such a special proceeding shall contain the notice of sale information set out in subsection (f) hereof. If the application is in proper form the clerk shall enter an order authorizing the sale on a date not less than 14 days therefrom, and the lienor shall cause the application and order to be sent immediately by first-class mail pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5, to each person to whom notice was mailed pursuant to this subsection. Following the authorized sale the lienor shall file with the clerk a report in the form of an affidavit, stating that the lienor has complied with the public or private sale provisions of G.S. 44A-4, the name, address, and bid of the high bidder or person buying at a private sale, and a statement of the disposition of the sale proceeds. The clerk then shall enter an order directing the Division to transfer title accordingly.

If prior to the sale the owner or legal possessor contests the sale or lien in a writing filed with the clerk, the proceeding shall be handled in accordance with G.S. 1-399."

Section 8. G.S. 29-12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 29-12. Escheats.

If there is no person entitled to take under G.S. 29-14 or ~~29-15,~~ G.S. 29-15, or if in case of an illegitimate intestate, there is no one entitled to take under G.S. 29-21 or ~~29-22~~ G.S. 29-22 the net estate shall escheat as provided in ~~G.S. 116A-2.~~ G.S. 116B-2."

Section 9. G.S. 53-43.7(b)

"(b) Any property, including documents or writings of a private nature, which has little or no apparent value, need not be sold but may be destroyed ~~by the Treasurer or~~ by the ~~lessor, if retained by the lessor pursuant to a determination by the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-31(e).~~ lessor if the Treasurer declines to receive the property under G.S. 116B-69(a)."

Section 10. G.S. 53-43.7(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) The lessor shall submit to the Treasurer a verified inventory of all of the contents of the safe-deposit box upon delivery of the contents of the box or such part thereof as shall be required by the Treasurer under ~~G.S. 116B-31(e);~~ G.S. 116B-55; but the lessor may deduct from any cash of the lessee in the safe-deposit box an amount equal to accumulated charges for rental and shall submit to the Treasurer a verified statement of such charges and deduction. If there is no cash, or insufficient cash to pay accumulated charges, in the safe-deposit box, the lessor may submit to the Treasurer a verified statement of accumulated charges or balance of accumulated charges due, and the Treasurer shall remit to the lessor the charges or balance due, up to the value of the property in the safe-deposit box delivered to ~~him,~~ the Treasurer, less any costs or expenses of sale; but if the charges or balance due exceeds the value of such property, the Treasurer shall remit only the value of the property, less costs or expenses of sale. Any accumulated charges for safe-deposit box rental paid by the Treasurer to the lessor shall be deducted from the value of the property of the lessee delivered to the Treasurer."

Section 11. G.S. 53B-4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53B-4. Access to financial records.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no government authority may have access to a customer's financial record held by a financial institution unless the financial record is described with reasonable specificity and access is sought pursuant to:

(1) Customer authorization that meets the requirements of the Right to Financial Privacy Act § 1104, 12 U.S.C. § 3404, provided, however, a customer authorization received by a State agency or a county department of social services for the purpose of determining eligibility for the programs of public assistance under Chapter 108A of the General Statutes, or for purposes of a government inquiry concerning these same programs of public assistance, cannot be revoked and shall remain valid for 12 months unless a shorter period is specified in the authorization, or a customer authorization that is given by a licensed attorney with respect to an account in which the attorney holds funds as a fiduciary;

(2) Authorization under G.S. 105-251, 105-251.1, or 105-258;

(3) Search warrant as provided in Article 11 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes;

(4) Statutory authority of a supervisory agency to examine or have access to financial records in the exercise of its supervisory, regulatory, or monetary functions with respect to a financial institution;

(5) The authority granted under ~~G.S. 116B-39;~~ G.S. 116B-72 and G.S. 116B-74;

(6) Examination and review by the State Auditor or his authorized representative under G.S. 147-64.6(c)(9) or ~~147-64.7(a);~~ G.S. 147-64.7(a);

(7) Request by a government authority authorized to buy and sell student loan notes under Article 23 of Chapter 116 of the General Statutes for financial records relating to insured student loans;

(8) Pending litigation to which the government authority and the customer are parties;

(9) Subpoena or court order in connection with a grand jury proceeding;

(10) A writ of execution under Article 28 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes; or

(11) Other court order or administrative or judicial subpoena authorized by law if the requirements of G.S. 53B-5 are met.

As used in this section, the term 'reasonable specificity' means that degree of specificity reasonable under all the circumstances, ~~and~~ and, with respect to requests under G.S. 116B-72 and G.S. 116B-74, may include designation by general type or ~~class as authorized in G.S. 116B-39.~~ class."

Section 12. G.S. 116-209.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-209.3. Additional powers.

The Authority is authorized to develop and administer programs and perform all functions necessary or convenient to promote and facilitate the making and insuring of student loans and providing such other student loan assistance and services as the Authority shall deem necessary or desirable for carrying out the purposes of this Article and for qualifying for loans, grants, insurance and other benefits and assistance under any program of the United States now or hereafter authorized fostering student loans. There shall be established and maintained a trust fund which shall be designated 'State Education Assistance Authority Loan Fund' (the 'Loan Fund') which may be used by the Authority in making student loans directly or through agents or independent contractors, insuring student loans, acquiring, purchasing, endorsing or guaranteeing promissory notes, contracts, obligations or other legal instruments evidencing student loans made by banks, educational institutions, nonprofit corporations or other eligible lenders, and for defraying the expenses of operation and administration of the Authority for which other funds are not available to the Authority. There shall be deposited to the credit of such Loan Fund the proceeds (exclusive of accrued interest) derived from the sale of its revenue bonds by the Authority and any other moneys made available to the Authority for the making or insuring of student loans or the purchase of obligations. There shall also be deposited to the credit of the Loan Fund surplus funds from time to time transferred by the Authority from the sinking fund. In lieu of or in addition to the Loan Fund, the Authority may provide in any resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds or any trust agreement securing such bonds that any other trust funds or accounts may be established as may be deemed necessary or convenient for securing the bonds or for making student loans, acquiring obligations or otherwise carrying out its other powers under this Article, and there may be deposited to the credit of any such fund or account proceeds of bonds or other money available to the Authority for the purposes to be served by such fund or account."

Section 13. If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect the provisions or applications of this act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this act are severable.

Section 14. The Revisor of Statutes shall cause to be printed with this act all explanatory comments of the drafters of this act as the Revisor may deem appropriate.

Section 15. This act becomes effective January 1, 2000, and shall apply to property existing on or after that date. G.S. 116B-54(d), as enacted in Section 6 of this act, is intended to clarify and not change existing law.

"§ 116B-4. Claim for escheated property.

Any escheated property or proceeds from the sale of escheated property held by the Escheat Fund pursuant to ~~G.S. 116B-27~~ G.S. 116B-5 may be claimed by an heir of the decedent or by a creditor of the decedent who is not barred from presenting a claim under the provisions of Article 19 of ~~Chapter 28A.~~ Chapter 28A of the General Statutes. ~~The claim shall be made on a form prescribed by the Treasurer and shall be presented to the Treasurer. "§ 116B-53. Presumptions of abandonment.

(a) Property is unclaimed if the apparent owner has not communicated in writing or by other means reflected in a contemporaneous record prepared by or on behalf of the holder, with the holder concerning the property or the account in which the property is held, and has not otherwise indicated an interest in the property. A communication with an owner by a person (other than the holder or its representative) who has not, in writing, identified the property to the owner is not an indication of interest in the property by the owner.

(b) An indication of an interest in property includes:

(1) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of a dividend or other distribution made with respect to an account or underlying stock or other interest in a business association or, in the case of a distribution made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the distribution has been received;

(2) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of interest made with respect to debt of a business association or, in the case of an interest payment made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the interest payment has been received;

(3) Owner-directed activity in the account in which the property is held, including a direction by the owner to increase, decrease, or change the amount or type of property held in the account;

(4) The making of a deposit to or withdrawal from an account in a financial organization;

(5) Owner activity in another account with the holder of a deposit described in subdivisions (c)(2) and (c)(6) of this section; and

(6) The payment of a premium with respect to a property interest in an insurance policy; but the application of an automatic premium loan provision or other nonforfeiture provision contained in an insurance policy does not prevent a policy from maturing or terminating if the insured has died or the insured or the beneficiary of the policy has otherwise become entitled to the proceeds before the depletion of the cash surrender value of a policy by the application of those provisions.

(c) Property is presumed abandoned if it is unclaimed by the apparent owner during the time set forth below for the particular property:

(1) Traveler's check, 15 years after issuance;

(2) Time deposit, including a deposit that is automatically renewable, 10 years after the later of initial maturity or the date of the last indication by the owner of interest in the property;

(3) Money order, cashier's check, teller's check, and certified check, seven years after issuance;

(4) Stock or other equity interest in a business association, including a security entitlement under Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code, Chapter 25 of the General Statutes, five years after the earlier of:

a. The date of a cash dividend or other cash distribution unclaimed by the apparent owner, or

b. The date of the second mailing of a stock certificate or other evidence of ownership, a statement of account, or other notification or communication which second mailing was returned as undeliverable or the date the holder discontinued mailings, notifications, or communications to the apparent owner;

(5) Debt of a business association, other than a bearer bond or an original issue discount bond, five years after the date of an interest payment unclaimed by the apparent owner;

(6) Demand or savings deposit, five years after the date of the last indication by the owner of interest in the property;

(7) Money or credits owed to a customer as a result of a retail business transaction, three years after the obligation accrued;

(8) Any gift certificate or electronic gift card bearing an expiration date and remaining unredeemed or dormant for more than three years after the gift certificate or electronic gift card was sold is deemed abandoned. The amount abandoned is deemed to be sixty percent (60%) of the unredeemed portion of the face value of the gift certificate or the electronic gift card;

(9) Amount owed by an insurer on a life or endowment insurance policy or an annuity that has matured or terminated, three years after the obligation to pay arose or, in the case of a policy or annuity payable upon proof of death, three years after the insured has attained, or would have attained if living, the limiting age under the mortality table on which the reserve is based;

(10) Property distributable by a business association in a course of dissolution, one year after the property becomes distributable;

(11) Property received by a court as proceeds of a class action, and not distributed pursuant to the judgment, one year after the distribution date;

(12) Property held by a court, government, governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality, one year after the property becomes distributable;

(13) Wages or other compensation for personal services, one year after the compensation becomes payable;

(14) Deposit or refund owed to a subscriber by a utility, one year after the deposit or refund becomes payable;

(15) Property in an individual retirement account, defined benefit plan, or other account or plan that is qualified for tax deferral under the income tax laws of the United States, three years after the earliest of the date of the distribution or attempted distribution of the property, the date of the required distribution as stated in the plan or trust agreement governing the plan, or the date, if determinable by the holder, specified in the income tax laws of the United States by which distribution of the property must begin in order to avoid a tax penalty; and

(16) All other property, five years after the owner's right to demand the property or after the obligation to pay or distribute the property arises, whichever first occurs.

(d) At the time that an interest in property is presumed abandoned under subsection (c) of this section, any other property right accrued or accruing to the owner as a result of the interest, and not previously presumed abandoned, is also presumed abandoned.

(e) Property is payable or distributable for purposes of this Chapter notwithstanding the owner's failure to make demand or present an instrument or document otherwise required to obtain payment or distribution.

"§ 116B-54. Exclusion for forfeited reservation deposits, certain gift certificates or electronic gift cards, prepaid calling cards, certain manufactured home buyer deposits, and certain credit balances.

(a) A forfeited reservation deposit is not abandoned property. For the purposes of this section, the term 'reservation deposit' means an amount of money paid to a business association to guarantee that the business association holds a specific service, such as a room accommodation at a hotel, seating at a restaurant, or an appointment with a doctor, for a specified date and place. The term 'reservation deposit' does not include an application fee, a utility deposit, or a deposit made toward the purchase of real property.

(b) A gift certificate or electronic gift card is not abandoned property when the gift certificate or electronic gift card:

(1) Conspicuously states that the gift certificate or electronic gift card does not expire;

(2) Bears no expiration date; or

(3) States that a date of expiration printed on the gift certificate or electronic gift card is not applicable in North Carolina.

(c) A prepaid calling card issued by a public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6. is not abandoned property.

(d) A buyer deposit that a dealer is authorized to retain under either G.S. 143-143.21A or G.S. 143-143.21B is not abandoned property and is not subject to this Article.

(e) Credit balances as shown on the records of a business association to or for the benefit of another business association, shall not constitute abandoned property. For purposes of this section, the term 'credit balances' means items such as overpayments or underpayments on the sale of goods or services.

"§ 116B-55. Contents of safe deposit box or other safekeeping depository.

Contents of a safe deposit box or other safekeeping depository held by a financial organization is presumed abandoned if the apparent owner has not claimed the property within the period established by G.S. 53-43.7 and shall be delivered to the Treasurer as provided by that section. If the contents include property described in G.S. 116B-53, the Treasurer shall hold the property for the remainder of the applicable period set forth in that section before the property is deemed to be received for purpose of sale under G.S. 116B-65.

"§ 116B-56. Rules for taking custody.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter or by other statute of this State, property that is presumed abandoned, whether located in this or another state, is subject to the custody of this State if:

(1) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in this State;

(2) The records of the holder do not reflect the identity of the person entitled to the property, and it is established that the last known address of the person entitled to the property is in this State;

(3) The records of the holder do not reflect the last known address of the apparent owner and it is established that:

a. The last known address of the person entitled to the property is in this State; or

b. The holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this

State and has not previously paid or delivered the property to the state of the last known address of the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property;

(4) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and the holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this State;

(5) The last known address of the apparent owner, as shown on the records of the holder, is in a foreign country, and the holder is domiciled in this State or is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of this State; or

(6) The property is a traveler's check or money order purchased in this State or the issuer of the traveler's check or money order has its principal place of business in this State and the issuer's records show that the instrument was purchased in a state that does not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property or do not show the state in which the instrument was purchased.

(b) In the case of an amount payable under the terms of an annuity or insurance policy, the last known address of the person entitled to the property is presumed to be the same as the last known address of the insured or the principal, as shown on the records of the insurance company, if:

(1) A person other than the insured or the principal is entitled to the property; and

(2) Either:

a. No address of the person is known to the insurance company; or

b. The records of the insurance company do not reflect the identity of the person.

"§ 116B-57. Dormancy charge; other lawful charges.

(a) A holder may deduct from property presumed abandoned a reasonable charge imposed by reason of the owner's failure to claim the property within a specified time only if there is a valid and enforceable written contract between the holder and the owner under which the holder may impose the charge and the holder regularly imposes the charge, which is not regularly reversed or otherwise canceled.

(b) This Chapter does not prevent a holder from deducting from property presumed abandoned other lawful charges specifically authorized by statute or by a valid and enforceable contract.

"§ 116B-58. Burden of proof as to property evidenced by record of check or draft.

A record of the issuance of a check, draft, or similar instrument is prima facie evidence of an obligation. In claiming property from a holder who is also the issuer, the Treasurer's burden of proof as to the existence and amount of the property and its abandonment is satisfied by showing issuance of the instrument and passage of the requisite period of abandonment. Defenses of payment, satisfaction, discharge, and want of consideration are affirmative defenses that must be established by the holder.

"§ 116B-59. Notice by holders to apparent owners.

(a) A holder of property presumed abandoned shall make a good faith effort to locate an apparent owner.

(b) The holder shall send written notice, by first-class mail, to the apparent owner, not more than 120 days or less than 60 days before filing the report required by G.S. 116B-60, to the last known address of the apparent owner as reflected in the holder's records, if the value of the property is fifty dollars ($50.00) or more.

(c) The notice must contain:

(1) A statement that, according to the records of the holder, property is being held to which the addressee appears entitled and the amount or description of the property;

(2) The name and address of the person holding the property and any necessary information regarding changes of name and address of the holder;

(3) A statement that, if satisfactory proof of claim is not presented by the owner to the holder by the following October 1 or, if the holder is an insurance company, by the following April 1, the property will be placed in the custody of the Treasurer, to whom all further claims shall be directed.

"§ 116B-60. Report of abandoned property; certification by holders with tax return.

(a) A holder of property presumed abandoned shall make a report to the Treasurer concerning the property.

(b) The report must be verified and must contain:

(1) A description of the property;

(2) Except with respect to a traveler's check or money order, the name, if known, and last known address, if any, and the social security number or taxpayer identification number, if readily ascertainable, of the apparent owner of property of the value of fifty dollars ($50.00) or more;

(3) An aggregated amount of items valued under fifty dollars ($50.00) each;

(4) In the case of an amount of fifty dollars ($50.00) or more held or owing under an annuity or a life or endowment insurance policy, the full name and last known address of the annuitant or insured and of the beneficiary;

(5) The date, if any, on which the property became payable, demandable, or returnable, and the date of the last transaction or communication with the apparent owner with respect to the property; and

(6) Other information that the Treasurer by rule prescribes as necessary for the administration of this Chapter.

(c) If a holder of property presumed abandoned is a successor to another person who previously held the property for the apparent owner or the holder has changed its name while holding the property, the holder shall file with the report its former names, if any, and the known names and addresses of all previous holders of the property.

(d) The report must be filed before November 1 of each year and cover the 12 months next preceding July 1 of that year, but a report with respect to a life insurance company must be filed before May 1 of each year for the calendar year next preceding.

(e) Before the date for filing the report, the holder of property presumed abandoned may request the Treasurer to extend the time for filing the report. A request for an extension for filing a report shall be accompanied by an extension processing fee of ten dollars ($10.00). The Treasurer may grant the extension for good cause. The holder, upon receipt of the extension, may make an interim payment on the amount the holder estimates will ultimately be due, which terminates the accrual of additional interest on the amount paid.

(f) The holder of property presumed abandoned shall file with the report an affidavit stating that the holder has complied with G.S. 116B-59.

(g) Every business association holding property presumed abandoned under this Chapter shall certify the holding in the income tax return required by Chapter 105 of the General Statutes. The certification shall be a part of the tax return with which it is filed. If the business association is not required to file an income tax return under Chapter 105, the certification shall be made in the form and manner required by the Secretary of Revenue. The information appearing on the certification is not privileged or confidential, and this information shall be furnished by the Secretary of Revenue to the Escheat Fund on October 1 of each year, or if this date shall fall on a weekend or holiday, on the next regular business day.

"§ 116B-61. Payment or delivery of abandoned property.

(a) Upon filing the report required by G.S. 116B-60, the holder of property presumed abandoned shall pay, deliver, or cause to be paid or delivered to the Treasurer the property described in the report, but if the property is an automatically renewable deposit, and a penalty or forfeiture in the payment of interest would result, the time for compliance is extended to the next filing and delivery date at which a penalty or forfeiture would no longer result.

(b) If the property reported to the Treasurer is a security or security entitlement under Article 8 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes, the Treasurer is an appropriate person to make an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order on behalf of the apparent owner to invoke the duty of the issuer or its transfer agent or the securities intermediary to transfer or dispose of the security or the security entitlement in accordance with Article 8 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes.

(c) If the holder of property reported to the Treasurer is the issuer of a certificated security, the Treasurer has the right to obtain a replacement certificate pursuant to G.S. 25-8-405, but an indemnity bond is not required.

(d) An issuer, the holder, and any transfer agent or other person acting pursuant to the instructions of and on behalf of the issuer or holder in accordance with this section is not liable to the apparent owner and must be indemnified against claims of any person in accordance with G.S. 116B-63.

"§ 116B-62. Preparation of list of owners by Treasurer.

(a) There shall be delivered to the clerk of superior court of each county prior to June 30 of each year a list prepared by the Treasurer of escheated and abandoned property reported to the Treasurer. The list shall contain:

(1) The names, if known, in alphabetical order of surname, and last known addresses, if any, of apparent owners of escheated and abandoned property;

(2) The names and addresses of the holders of the abandoned property; and

(3) A statement that claim and proof of legal entitlement to escheated or abandoned property shall be presented by the owner to the Treasurer, which statement shall set forth where further information may be obtained.

(b) At the time the lists are distributed to the clerks of superior court, the Treasurer shall cause to be published once each week for two consecutive weeks, in at least two newspapers having general circulation in this State, a notice stating the nature of the lists and that the lists are available for inspection at the offices of the respective clerks of superior court, together with any other information the Treasurer deems appropriate to appear in the notice.

(c) The Treasurer is not required to include in any list any item of a value, as determined by the Treasurer, in the Treasurer's discretion, of less than fifty dollars ($50.00), unless the Treasurer deems inclusion of items of lesser amounts to be in the public interest.

(d) The clerks of superior court shall retain the lists on permanent file in their offices and shall make them available for public inspection.

(e) The lists prepared by the Treasurer shall include only escheated and abandoned property reported for the current reporting date and are not required to be cumulative lists of escheated and abandoned property previously reported.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, the supporting data and lists of apparent owners of escheated and abandoned property may be confidential until six months after the notice to clerks of superior court required by subsection (b) of this section has been distributed. This subsection shall not apply to owners of reported property making inquiries about their property to the Escheat Fund.

"§ 116B-63. Custody by State; recovery by holder; defense of holder.

(a) In this section, payment or delivery is made in 'good faith' if:

(1) Payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this Chapter;

(2) The holder was not then in breach of a fiduciary obligation with respect to the property and had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known, that the property was presumed abandoned; and

(3) There is no showing that the records under which the payment or delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice.

(b) Upon payment or delivery of property to the Treasurer, the State assumes custody and responsibility for the safekeeping of the property. A holder who pays or delivers property to the Treasurer in good faith is relieved of all liability arising thereafter with respect to the property.

(c) A holder who has paid money to the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter may subsequently make payment to a person reasonably appearing to the holder to be entitled to payment. Upon a filing by the holder of proof of payment and proof that the payee was entitled to the payment, the Treasurer shall promptly reimburse the holder for the payment without imposing a fee or other charge. If reimbursement is sought for a payment made on a negotiable instrument, including a traveler's check or money order, the holder must be reimbursed upon filing proof that the instrument was duly presented and that payment was made to a person who reasonably appeared to be entitled to payment. The holder must be reimbursed for payment made even if the payment was made to a person whose claim was barred under G.S. 116B-71(a).

(d) A holder who has delivered property other than money to the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter may reclaim the property if it is still in the possession of the Treasurer,without paying any fee or other charge, upon filing proof that the apparent owner has claimed the property from the holder.

(e) The Treasurer may accept a holder's affidavit as sufficient proof of the holder's right to recover money and property under this section.

(f) If a holder pays or delivers property to the Treasurer in good faith and thereafter another person claims the property from the holder or another state claims the money or property under its laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the Treasurer, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any liability on the claim resulting from payment or delivery of the property to the Treasurer.

"§ 116B-64. Income or gain accruing after payment or delivery.

If property other than money is delivered to the Treasurer under this Chapter, the owner is entitled to receive from the Treasurer any income or gain realized or accruing on the property at or before liquidation or conversion of the property into money. If the property is interest-bearing or pays dividends, the interest or dividends shall be paid until the date on which the amount of the deposits, accounts, or funds, or the shares must be remitted or delivered to the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-61. Otherwise, when property is delivered or paid to the Treasurer, the Treasurer shall hold the property without liability for income or gain.

"§ 116B-65. Public sale of abandoned property.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the Treasurer, within three years after the receipt of abandoned property, shall sell it to the highest bidder at public sale at a location in the State which in the judgment of the Treasurer affords the most favorable market for the property. The Treasurer may decline the highest bid and reoffer the property for sale if the Treasurer considers the bid to be insufficient. The Treasurer need not offer the property for sale if the Treasurer considers that the probable cost of sale will exceed the proceeds of the sale. A sale held under this section must be preceded by a single publication of notice, at least three weeks before sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the property is to be sold. The Treasurer is not required to sell money unless it is a collector's species having value greater than the face value of the money as cash.

(b) Securities listed on an established stock exchange must be sold at prices prevailing on the exchange at the time of sale. Other securities may be sold over the counter at prices prevailing at the time of sale or by any reasonable method selected by the Treasurer. If securities are sold by the Treasurer before the expiration of three years after their delivery to the Treasurer, a person making a claim under this Chapter before the end of the three-year period is entitled to the proceeds of the sale of the securities or the market value of the securities at the time the claim is made, whichever is greater, less any deduction for expenses of sale. A person making a claim under this Chapter after the expiration of the three-year period is entitled to receive the securities delivered to the Treasurer by the holder, if they still remain in the custody of the Treasurer, or the net proceeds received from sale, and is not entitled to receive any appreciation in the value of the property occurring after delivery to the Treasurer, except in a case of intentional misconduct by the Treasurer.

(c) A purchaser of property at a sale conducted by the Treasurer pursuant to this Chapter takes the property free of all claims of the owner or previous holder and of all persons claiming through or under them. The Treasurer shall execute all documents necessary to complete the transfer of ownership.

"§ 116B-66. Claim of another state to recover property.

(a) After property has been paid or delivered to the Treasurer under this Article, another state may recover the property if:

(1) The property was paid or delivered to the custody of this State because the records of the holder did not reflect a last known location of the apparent owner within the borders of the other state, and the other state establishes that the apparent owner or other person entitled to the property was last known to be located within the borders of that state and under the laws of that state the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(2) The property was paid or delivered to the custody of this State because the laws of the other state did not provide for the escheat or custodial taking of the property, and under the laws of that state subsequently enacted, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(3) The records of the holder were erroneous in that they did not accurately identify the owner of the property and the last known location of the owner within the borders of another state, and under the laws of that state the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state;

(4) The property was subjected to custody by this State under G.S. 116B-56(6), and under the laws of the state of domicile of the holder, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state; or

(5) The property is a sum payable on a traveler's check, money order, or similar instrument that was purchased in the other state and delivered into the custody of this State under G.S. 116B-56(7), and under the laws of the other state, the property has escheated or become subject to a claim of abandonment by that state.

(b) A claim of another state to recover escheated or abandoned property must be presented in a form prescribed by the Treasurer, who shall decide the claim within 90 days after it is presented. The Treasurer shall allow the claim upon determining that the other state is entitled to the abandoned property under subsection (a) of this section.

(c) The Treasurer shall require another state, before recovering property under this section, to agree to indemnify this State and its officers and employees against any liability on a claim to the property.

"§ 116B-67. Claim for property paid or delivered to the Treasurer.

(a) A person, excluding another state, claiming property paid or delivered to the Treasurer may file a claim on a form prescribed by the Treasurer and verified by the claimant.

(b) At the discretion of the Treasurer, the claim shall be made to the holder or to the holder's successor. If the holder is satisfied that the claim is valid and that the claimant is the owner of the property, the holder shall so certify to the Treasurer by written statement attested by the holder under oath, or in the case of a corporation, by two principal officers, or one principal officer and an authorized employee of the corporation. The determination of the holder that the claimant is the owner shall, in the absence of fraud, be binding upon the Treasurer and upon receipt of the certificate of the holder to this effect, the Treasurer shall forthwith authorize and make payment of the claim or return of the property, or if the property has been sold, the amount received from the sale, to the owner, or to the holder in the event the owner has assigned the claim to the holder and the certificate of the holder is accompanied by an assignment. In the event the holder rejects the claim, the claimant may appeal to the Treasurer.

If the holder, or the holder's successor, is not available, the owner may file a claim with the Treasurer on a form prescribed by the Treasurer. In addition to any other information, the claim shall state the facts surrounding the unavailability of the holder and the lack of a successor.

(c) Within 90 days after a claim is filed, the Treasurer shall allow or deny the claim and give written notice of the decision to the claimant. If the claim is denied, the Treasurer shall inform the claimant of the reasons for the denial and specify what additional evidence is required before the claim will be allowed. The claimant may then file a new claim with the Treasurer or maintain an action under G.S. 116B-68.

(d) Within 30 days after a claim is allowed, the property or the net proceeds of a sale of the property must be delivered or paid by the Treasurer to the claimant.

(e) The claimant or claimants and the holder, if the holder either certifies that the claimant is the owner under subsection (b) of this section or recovers money and property from the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-63, shall agree to indemnify, save harmless, and defend the State, the Treasurer, and the Escheat Fund from any claim arising out of or in connection with refund of the property claimed. In like manner, the claimant shall also agree to indemnify, save harmless, and defend the holder, if the holder certifies the claim under subsection (b) of this section or pays or delivers property to the claimant under G.S. 116B-63.

"§ 116B-68. Action to establish claim.

A person aggrieved by a decision of the Treasurer or whose claim has not been acted upon within 90 days after its filing may maintain an original action to establish the claim in the Superior Court of Wake County, naming the Treasurer as a defendant.

"§ 116B-69. Election to take payment or delivery.

(a) The Treasurer may decline to receive property reported under this Chapter which the Treasurer considers to have a value less than the expenses of notice and sale.

(b) A holder, with the written consent of the Treasurer and upon conditions and terms prescribed by the Treasurer, may report and deliver property before the property is presumed abandoned. Property so delivered must be held by the Treasurer and is not presumed abandoned until it otherwise would be presumed abandoned under this Article.

"§ 116B-70. Destruction or disposition of property having no substantial commercial value; immunity from liability; property of historical significance.

(a) If the Treasurer determines after investigation that property delivered under this Chapter has no substantial commercial value, the Treasurer may destroy or otherwise dispose of the property at any time. An action or proceeding may not be maintained against the State or any officer, employee, or agent of the State, both past and present, in the person's individual and official capacity, or against the holder for or on account of an act of the Treasurer under this subsection, except for intentional misconduct.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 116B-65, the Treasurer may retain any tangible property delivered to the Treasurer, if the property has recognized historic significance. The historic significance shall be certified by the Treasurer, with the advice of the Secretary of Cultural Resources; and a statement of the appraised value of the property shall be filed with the certification. Historic property retained under this subsection may be stored and displayed at any suitable location.

"§ 116B-71. Periods of limitation.

(a) The expiration, before or after the effective date of this Article, of a period of limitation on the owner's right to receive or recover property, whether specified by contract, statute, or court order, does not preclude the property from being presumed abandoned or affect a duty of a holder to file a report or to pay or deliver or transfer property to the Treasurer as required by this Article.

(b) An action or proceeding may not be maintained by the Treasurer to enforce this Article in regard to the reporting, delivery, or payment of property more than 10 years after the holder filed a report with the Treasurer in which the holder specifically identified property, should have but failed to identify property, or gave express notice to the Treasurer of a dispute regarding property. In the absence of such a report or other express notice, the period of limitation is tolled. The period of limitation is also tolled by the filing of a report that is fraudulent.

"§ 116B-72. Requests for reports and examination of records.

(a) The Treasurer may require a person who has not filed a report, or a person who the Treasurer believes has filed an inaccurate, incomplete, or false report, to file a verified report in a form specified by the Treasurer. The report must state whether the person is holding property reportable under this Chapter, describe property not previously reported or as to which the Treasurer has made inquiry, and specifically identify and state the value of property that may be in issue.

(b) The Treasurer, at reasonable times and upon reasonable notice, may examine the records of any person to determine whether the person has complied with this Chapter. The Treasurer may conduct the examination even if the person believes it is not in possession of any property that must be reported, paid, or delivered under this Chapter. The Treasurer may contract with any other person to conduct the examination on behalf of the Treasurer.

(c) The Treasurer at reasonable times may examine the records of an agent, including a dividend disbursing agent or transfer agent, of a business association that is the holder of property presumed abandoned if the Treasurer has given the notice required by subsection (b) of this section to both the association and the agent at least 90 days before the examination.

(d) Documents and working papers obtained or compiled by the Treasurer, or the Treasurer's agents, employees, or designated representatives, in the course of conducting an examination are confidential, but the documents and papers may be:

(1) Used by the Treasurer in the course of an action to collect unclaimed property or otherwise enforce this Chapter;

(2) Used in joint examinations conducted with or pursuant to an agreement with another state, the federal government, or any other governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality;

(3) Produced pursuant to subpoena or court order; or

(4) Disclosed to the abandoned property office of another state for that state's use in circumstances equivalent to those described in this subsection, if the other state is bound to keep the documents and papers confidential.

(e) If an examination results in the disclosure of property reportable under this Chapter, the Treasurer may assess, against a holder who made a fraudulent report, the cost of the examination at the rate of two hundred dollars ($200.00) a day for each examiner, or a greater amount that is reasonable and was incurred, but the assessment may not exceed the value of the property found to be reportable. The cost of an examination made pursuant to subsection (c) of this section may be assessed only against the business association.

(f) If a holder does not maintain the records required by G.S. 116B-73 and the records of the holder available for the periods subject to this Chapter are insufficient to permit the preparation of a report, the Treasurer may require the holder to report and pay to the Treasurer the amount the Treasurer reasonably estimates, on the basis of any available records of the holder or by any other reasonable method of estimation, should have been, but was not reported.

"§ 116B-73. Retention of records.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of this section, a holder required to file a report under G.S. 116B-60 shall maintain the records containing the information required to be included in the report for 10 years after the holder files the report, unless a shorter period is provided by rule of the Treasurer.

(b) A business association that sells, issues, or provides to others for sale or issue in this State, traveler's checks, money orders, or similar instruments other than third-party bank checks, on which the business association is directly liable, shall maintain a record of the instruments while they remain outstanding, indicating the state and date of issue, for three years after the holder files the report.

"§ 116B-73.1. Discretionary precompliance review.

A holder may request the Treasurer to conduct a precompliance review of the holder's compliance program to educate the holder's employees on the unclaimed property laws and filing procedures and to recommend ways to facilitate the holder's compliance with the law. Subject to the availability of staff, the Treasurer may conduct a precompliance review upon request. The Treasurer may charge the holder a precompliance review fee of up to five hundred dollars ($500.00) per day for conducting this review.

"§ 116B-74. Enforcement.

(a) The Treasurer may maintain an action in this or another state to enforce this Chapter.

(b) The Treasurer may order a person required to report, pay, or deliver property under this Chapter, or an officer or employee of the person, or a person having possession, custody, care, or control of records relevant to the matter under inquiry, or any other person having knowledge of the property or records, to appear before the Treasurer, at a time and place named in the order, and to produce the records and to give such testimony under oath or affirmation relevant to the inquiry. For purposes of this subsection, the Treasurer may administer oaths or affirmations. If a person refuses to obey an order of the Treasurer, the Treasurer may apply to the Superior Court of Wake County for an order requiring the person to obey the order of the Treasurer. Failure to comply with the court order is punishable for contempt.

"§ 116B-75. Interstate agreements and cooperation; joint and reciprocal actions with other states.

(a) The Treasurer may enter into an agreement with another state to exchange information relating to abandoned property or its possible existence. The agreement may permit the other state, or another person acting on behalf of a state, to examine records as authorized in G.S. 116B-72. The Treasurer by rule may require the reporting of information needed to enable compliance with an agreement made under this section and prescribe the form.

(b) The Treasurer may join with another state to seek enforcement of this Chapter against any person who is or may be holding property reportable under this Chapter.

(c) At the request of another state, the Attorney General of this State may maintain an action on behalf of the other state to enforce, in this State, the unclaimed property laws of the other state against a holder of property subject to escheat or a claim of abandonment by the other state, if the other state has agreed to pay expenses incurred by the Attorney General in maintaining the action.

(d) The Treasurer may request that the attorney general of another state or another attorney commence an action in the other state on behalf of the Treasurer. With the approval of the Attorney General of this State, the Treasurer may retain any other attorney to commence an action in this State on behalf of the Treasurer. This State shall pay all expenses, including attorneys' fees, in maintaining an action under this subsection. With the Treasurer's approval, the expenses and attorneys' fees may be paid from money received under this Chapter. The Treasurer may agree to pay expenses and attorneys' fees based in whole or in part on a percentage of the value of any property recovered in the action. Any expenses or attorneys' fees paid under this subsection may not be deducted from the amount that is subject to the claim by the owner under this Chapter.

(e) The Treasurer is authorized to make such expenditures from the funds of the Escheat Fund as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of this section.

"§ 116B-76. Interest and penalties; waiver.

(a) A holder who fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the time prescribed by this Chapter shall pay to the Treasurer interest at the rate established pursuant to this subsection on the property or value of the property from the date the property should have been reported, paid, or delivered. On or before June 1 and December 1 of each year, the Treasurer shall establish the interest rate to be in effect during the six-month period beginning on the next succeeding July 1 and January 1, respectively, after giving due consideration to current market conditions. If no new rate is established, the rate in effect during the preceding six-month period shall continue in effect. The rate established by the Treasurer may not be less than five percent (5%) per year and may not exceed sixteen percent (16%) per year.

(b) A holder who willfully fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the time prescribed by this Chapter, or willfully fails to perform other duties imposed by this Chapter, shall pay to the Treasurer, in addition to interest as provided in subsection (a) of this section , a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each day the report, payment, or delivery is withheld, or the duty is not performed, up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported.

(c) A holder who makes a fraudulent report shall pay to the Treasurer, in addition to interest as provided in subsection (a) of this section, a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each day from the date a report under this Chapter was due, up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported.

(d) The Treasurer for good cause may waive, in whole or in part, interest under subsection (a) of this section and penalties under subsection (b) of this section.

"§ 116B-77. Agreement to locate property.

(a) An agreement by an owner, the primary purpose of which is to locate, deliver, recover, or assist in the recovery of property that is presumed abandoned, is void and unenforceable if it was entered into during the period commencing on the date the property was presumed abandoned and extending to a time that is 24 months after the date the property is paid or delivered to the Treasurer. This subsection does not apply to an owner's agreement with an attorney to file a claim as to identified property or contest the Treasurer's denial of a claim.

(b) An agreement by an owner, the primary purpose of which is to locate, deliver, recover, or assist in the recovery of property, is enforceable only if the agreement is in writing, clearly sets forth the nature of the property and the services to be rendered, is signed by the owner, and states the value of the property before and after the fee or other compensation has been deducted.

(c) If an agreement covered by this section applies to mineral proceeds and the agreement contains a provision to pay compensation that includes a portion of the underlying minerals or any mineral proceeds not then presumed abandoned, the provision is void and unenforceable.

(d) An agreement covered by this section that provides for compensation that is unconscionable is unenforceable except by the owner. An owner who has made an agreement to pay compensation that is unconscionable, or the Treasurer on behalf of the owner, may maintain an action to reduce the compensation to a conscionable amount. The court may award reasonable attorneys' fees to an owner who prevails in the action.

(e) This section does not preclude an owner from asserting that an agreement covered by this section is invalid on grounds other than as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(f) Any person who enters into an agreement covered by this section with an owner shall register annually with the Treasurer. The information to be required under this subsection shall include the person's name, address, telephone number, state of incorporation or residence, as applicable, and the person's federal identification number. A registration fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) shall be paid to the Treasurer at the time of the filing of the registration information. Fees received under this subsection shall be credited to the General Fund.

"§ 116B-78. Transitional provisions.

(a) An initial report filed under this Article for property that was not required to be reported before the effective date of this Article but which is subject to this Article must include all items of property that would have been presumed abandoned during the 10-year period next preceding the effective date of this Article as if this Article had been in effect during that period.

(b) This Article does not relieve a holder of a duty that arose before the effective date of this Article to report, pay, or deliver property. Except as otherwise provided in G.S 116B-71(b) and G.S. 116B-76(d), a holder who did not comply with the law in effect before the effective date of this Article is subject to the applicable provisions for enforcement and penalties which then existed, which are continued in effect for the purpose of this section.

"§ 116B-79. Rules.

The Treasurer may adopt rules necessary to carry out this Chapter."

Section 7. G.S. 44A-4(b)(1) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Notice and Hearings. --

(1) If the property upon which the lien is claimed is a motor vehicle that is required to be registered, the lienor following the expiration of the relevant time period provided by subsection (a) shall give notice to the Division of Motor Vehicles that a lien is asserted and sale is proposed and shall remit to the Division a fee of ten dollars ($10.00). The Division of Motor Vehicles shall issue notice by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the person having legal title to the property, if reasonably ascertainable, to the person with whom the lienor dealt if different, and to each secured party and other person claiming an interest in the property who is actually known to the Division or who can be reasonably ascertained. The notice shall state that a lien has been asserted against specific property and shall identify the lienor, the date that the lien arose, the general nature of the services performed and materials used or sold for which the lien is asserted, the amount of the lien, and that the lienor intends to sell the property in satisfaction of the lien. The notice shall inform the recipient that the recipient has the right to a judicial hearing at which time a determination will be made as to the validity of the lien prior to a sale taking place. The notice shall further state that the recipient has a period of 10 days from the date of receipt in which to notify the Division by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, that a hearing is desired and that if the recipient wishes to contest the sale of his property pursuant to such lien, the recipient should notify the Division that a hearing is desired. The notice shall state the required information in simplified terms and shall contain a form whereby the recipient may notify the Division that a hearing is desired by the return of such form to the Division. The Division shall notify the lienor whether such notice is timely received by the Division. In lieu of the notice by the lienor to the Division and the notices issued by the Division described above, the lienor may issue notice on a form approved by the Division pursuant to the notice requirements above. If notice is issued by the lienor, the recipient shall return the form requesting a hearing to the lienor, and not the Division, within 10 days from the date the recipient receives the notice if a judicial hearing is requested. Failure of the recipient to notify the Division or lienor, as specified in the notice, within 10 days of the receipt of such notice that a hearing is desired shall be deemed a waiver of the right to a hearing prior to the sale of the property against which the lien is asserted, and the lienor may proceed to enforce the lien by public or private sale as provided in this section and the Division shall transfer title to the property pursuant to such sale. If the Division or lienor, as specified in the notice, is notified within the 10-day period provided above that a hearing is desired prior to sale, the lien may be enforced by sale as provided in this section and the Division will transfer title only pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

If the registered or certified mail notice has been returned as undeliverable, or if the name of the person having legal title to the vehicle cannot reasonably be ascertained and the fair market value of the vehicle is less than eight hundred dollars ($800.00), the lienor may institute a special proceeding in the county where the vehicle is being held, for authorization to sell that vehicle. Market value shall be determined by the schedule of values adopted by the Commissioner under G.S. 105-187.3.

In such a proceeding a lienor may include more than one vehicle, but the proceeds of the sale of each shall be subject only to valid claims against that vehicle, and any excess proceeds of the sale shall ~~escheat to the State and~~ be paid immediately to the ~~treasurer~~ Treasurer for disposition pursuant to Chapter 116B of the General Statutes. ~~A vehicle owner or possessor claiming an interest in such proceeds shall have a right of action under G.S. 116B-38.~~

The application to the clerk in such a special proceeding shall contain the notice of sale information set out in subsection (f) hereof. If the application is in proper form the clerk shall enter an order authorizing the sale on a date not less than 14 days therefrom, and the lienor shall cause the application and order to be sent immediately by first-class mail pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5, to each person to whom notice was mailed pursuant to this subsection. Following the authorized sale the lienor shall file with the clerk a report in the form of an affidavit, stating that the lienor has complied with the public or private sale provisions of G.S. 44A-4, the name, address, and bid of the high bidder or person buying at a private sale, and a statement of the disposition of the sale proceeds. The clerk then shall enter an order directing the Division to transfer title accordingly.

If prior to the sale the owner or legal possessor contests the sale or lien in a writing filed with the clerk, the proceeding shall be handled in accordance with G.S. 1-399."

Section 8. G.S. 29-12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 29-12. Escheats.

If there is no person entitled to take under G.S. 29-14 or ~~29-15,~~ G.S. 29-15, or if in case of an illegitimate intestate, there is no one entitled to take under G.S. 29-21 or ~~29-22~~ G.S. 29-22 the net estate shall escheat as provided in ~~G.S. 116A-2.~~ G.S. 116B-2."

Section 9. G.S. 53-43.7(b)

"(b) Any property, including documents or writings of a private nature, which has little or no apparent value, need not be sold but may be destroyed ~~by the Treasurer or~~ by the ~~lessor, if retained by the lessor pursuant to a determination by the Treasurer under G.S. 116B-31(e).~~ lessor if the Treasurer declines to receive the property under G.S. 116B-69(a)."

Section 10. G.S. 53-43.7(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) The lessor shall submit to the Treasurer a verified inventory of all of the contents of the safe-deposit box upon delivery of the contents of the box or such part thereof as shall be required by the Treasurer under ~~G.S. 116B-31(e);~~ G.S. 116B-55; but the lessor may deduct from any cash of the lessee in the safe-deposit box an amount equal to accumulated charges for rental and shall submit to the Treasurer a verified statement of such charges and deduction. If there is no cash, or insufficient cash to pay accumulated charges, in the safe-deposit box, the lessor may submit to the Treasurer a verified statement of accumulated charges or balance of accumulated charges due, and the Treasurer shall remit to the lessor the charges or balance due, up to the value of the property in the safe-deposit box delivered to ~~him,~~ the Treasurer, less any costs or expenses of sale; but if the charges or balance due exceeds the value of such property, the Treasurer shall remit only the value of the property, less costs or expenses of sale. Any accumulated charges for safe-deposit box rental paid by the Treasurer to the lessor shall be deducted from the value of the property of the lessee delivered to the Treasurer."

Section 11. G.S. 53B-4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53B-4. Access to financial records.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no government authority may have access to a customer's financial record held by a financial institution unless the financial record is described with reasonable specificity and access is sought pursuant to:

(1) Customer authorization that meets the requirements of the Right to Financial Privacy Act § 1104, 12 U.S.C. § 3404, provided, however, a customer authorization received by a State agency or a county department of social services for the purpose of determining eligibility for the programs of public assistance under

Chapter 108A of the General Statutes, or for purposes of a government inquiry concerning these same programs of public assistance, cannot be revoked and shall remain valid for 12 months unless a shorter period is specified in the authorization, or a customer authorization that is given by a licensed attorney with respect to an account in which the attorney holds funds as a fiduciary;

(2) Authorization under G.S. 105-251, 105-251.1, or 105-258;

(3) Search warrant as provided in Article 11 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes;

(4) Statutory authority of a supervisory agency to examine or have access to financial records in the exercise of its supervisory, regulatory, or monetary functions with respect to a financial institution;

(5) The authority granted under ~~G.S. 116B-39;~~ G.S. 116B-72 and G.S. 116B-74;

(6) Examination and review by the State Auditor or his authorized representative under G.S. 147-64.6(c)(9) or ~~147-64.7(a);~~ G.S. 147-64.7(a);

(8) Pending litigation to which the government authority and the customer are parties;

(9) Subpoena or court order in connection with a grand jury proceeding;

(10) A writ of execution under Article 28 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes; or

(11) Other court order or administrative or judicial subpoena authorized by law if the requirements of G.S. 53B-5 are met.

As used in this section, the term 'reasonable specificity' means that degree of specificity reasonable under all the circumstances, ~~and~~ and, with respect to requests under G.S. 116B-72 and G.S. 116B-74, may include designation by general type or ~~class as authorized in G.S. 116B-39.~~ class."

Section 12. G.S. 116-209.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-209.3. Additional powers.

The Authority is authorized to develop and administer programs and perform all functions necessary or convenient to promote and facilitate the making and insuring of student loans and providing such other student loan assistance and services as the Authority shall deem necessary or desirable for carrying out the purposes of this Article and for qualifying for loans, grants, insurance and other benefits and assistance under any program of the United States now or hereafter authorized fostering student loans. There shall be established and maintained a trust fund which shall be designated 'State Education Assistance Authority Loan Fund' (the 'Loan Fund') which may be used by the Authority in making student loans directly or through agents or independent contractors, insuring student loans, acquiring, purchasing, endorsing or guaranteeing promissory notes, contracts, obligations or other legal instruments evidencing student loans made by banks, educational institutions, nonprofit corporations or other eligible lenders, and for defraying the expenses of operation and administration of the Authority for which other funds are not available to the Authority. There shall be deposited to the credit of such Loan Fund the proceeds (exclusive of accrued interest) derived from the sale of its revenue bonds by the Authority and any other moneys made available to the Authority for the making or insuring of student loans or the purchase of obligations. There shall also be deposited to the credit of the Loan Fund surplus funds from time to time transferred by the Authority from the sinking fund. In lieu of or in addition to the Loan Fund, the Authority may provide in any resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds or any trust agreement securing such bonds that any other trust funds or accounts may be established as may be deemed necessary or convenient for securing the bonds or for making student loans, acquiring obligations or otherwise carrying out its other powers under this Article, and there may be deposited to the credit of any such fund or account proceeds of bonds or other money available to the Authority for the purposes to be served by such fund or account."

Section 13. Section 14. The Revisor of Statutes shall cause to be printed with this act all explanatory comments of the drafters of this act as the Revisor may deem appropriate.

Section 15. This act becomes effective January 1, 2000, and shall apply to property existing on or after that date. G.S. 116B-54(d), as enacted in Section 6 of this act, is intended to clarify and not change existing law.

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 244 revises the current escheat and unclaimed property laws and adopts the Uniform Unclaimed Property Act as promulgated by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. The bill as originally introduced was a recommendation of the General Statutes Commission. The Second Edition of Senate Bill 244 was given a favorable report in Senate Judiciary I. The proposed committee substitute makes two changes recommended by the General Statutes Commission. The first change is the removal of unnecessary language in G.S. 116B –54, and the second change adds a provision to G.S. 116B-57 that was deleted in an earlier version. House Bill 263, a companion bill introduced by Representative Culpepper, is in House Judiciary IV.

The following is a section by section summary of the bill. This summary was prepared by the General Statutes Commission staff. The bold underlined language sets out the changes made in the second edition of Senate Bill 244. Senate Bill 244 is before the Senate Finance Committee because it adds three new fees to the Escheats and Abandoned Property Chapter. They are: (1) a $10.00 fee when a holder of abandoned property requests an extension of time to file a report with the Treasurer, (2) a $500 per day fee when the Treasurer conducts a precompliance review for a holder of abandoned property, and (3) a $100 registration fee for a person who agrees to assist others in locating abandoned property.

GENERAL COMMENTS: Senate Bill 244 amends Chapter 116B (Escheats and Abandoned Property) by repealing Article 2 (Abandoned Property), repealing Article 3 (Administration of Abandoned Property) except for certain sections that are recodified within Article 1 (Escheats), and adding a new Article 4 (NC Unclaimed Property Act). The new Article 4 is based on the Uniform Unclaimed Property Act (1995), promulgated by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws to update, modernize, and substantially improve the law governing abandoned property. The Article, however, varies in several respects from the Uniform Act.

Senate Bill 244, among other things, sets forth in a single section the various periods after which property is presumed abandoned and the owner activity that may rebut the presumption of abandonment. It closely follows the language of the United States Supreme Court opinion in Texas v. New Jersey, 379 U.S. 674, 85 S.Ct. 626, 13 L.Ed. 2d 596 (1965), in describing the general rules under which a state may take custody of abandoned property. The bill changes some of the holding periods established under the current law and includes some specific kinds of property not expressly addressed under the current law. Shorter holding periods increase the likelihood of locating the missing property owner. Like the current law, the owner, at any time, may make a claim to the State for restitution of property delivered into the State's custody. Please note that the property is and remains the property of the owner. The bill also makes conforming amendments to other sections of the General Statutes.

Section 1. This section amends G.S. 116B-4 to cross refer to the appropriate provisions of the new Article 4 for filing claims with the Treasurer. The section also deletes language that is no longer necessary because the subject matter is covered in the new Article 4.

Section 2. This section repeals Article 2 of Chapter 116B (Abandoned Property) because the subject matter is covered in the new Article 4.

Section 3. This section repeals Article 3 of Chapter 116B (Administration of Abandoned Property), except for some sections of the Article which are recodified in Article 1.

Section 4. This section updates language and internal statutory references and makes the statute gender neutral.

Section 5. This section makes the statute gender neutral and updates language. Senate Judiciary I added a provision that persons employed by the Treasurer to assist with determining the sources and amounts of unreported property are subject to the same policies, including confidentiality and ethics, as any employee of the Department of the State Treasurer who provides the same service. In addition, compensation paid on a contingency fee basis is limited to 10% of the final assessment.

Section 6. This section amends Chapter 116B by adding a new Article 4 (North Carolina Unclaimed Property Act) and consisting of Sections 116B-51 through 116B-79.

116B-51. This section provides that the Article may be cited as the "North Carolina Unclaimed Property Act".

116B-52. This section defines key terms used in the Article.

116B-53. This section combines all dormancy periods for categories of property in one section, whereas current law sets out in separate sections the dormancy periods for each category of property. The section also reduces some of the dormancy periods under current law and includes some specific categories of property not specifically addressed under current law (e.g. IRA's and unmatured debt).

Subsection (a) specifies when property is "unclaimed" for purposes of the applicable dormancy periods set forth in subsection (c). The presumption that the property is abandoned can be rebutted by contact between the apparent owner and the holder by means of a written communication from the owner to the holder, or by some other means memorialized in the records of the holder, or by other means whereby the owner indicates an interest in the property.

Subsection (b) sets forth a nonexclusive list of actions an owner can take to indicate interest in property. These actions include presentment of a check, making deposits and withdrawals from the account in which the property is held, paying a premium, or negotiating an instrument.

Subsection (c) provides that, on the expiration of the dormancy periods specified in subdivisions (1) through (16) of the subsection, unclaimed property is presumed abandoned. Senate Judiciary I added a provision that a gift certificate or an electronic card with an expiration date is presumed to be abandoned three years after it was sold, and 60% of the unredeemed portion of the face value is subject to escheat. The earlier version included gift certificates in the list of unclaimed property. The certificates were presumed abandoned three years after December 31 of the year sold. If the certificate was redeemable as merchandise only, the amount abandoned was deemed to be 60% of the certificate's face value.

Subsection (d) provides that when the underlying interest, e.g. stock, is presumed abandoned, all other property accruing to the owner as a result of that interest, e.g. dividends, is then also presumed abandoned. Subsection (d) eliminates the situation where underlying stock is presumed abandoned and delivered to the Treasurer but dividends issued on the stock within the last five years must be held by the holder because the dormancy period as to the dividends has not yet expired.

Subsection (e) provides that property is deemed payable or distributable even though the owner has not made a demand or presented an instrument or document that is required to obtain payment.

116B-54 This section brings forward current law on forfeited reservation deposits held by business associations. These deposits are not considered abandoned property. Senate Judiciary I added the following to property not considered abandoned property: (1) gift certificates or electronic gift cards which do not expire in North Carolina, (2) prepaid calling cards issued by a telephone company, (3) a manufactured home buyer's deposit the manufactured home dealer is authorized to retain, and (4) certain credit balances between business associations. The proposed committee substitute would delete the references to unclaimed property, because abandoned property is defined as unclaimed property in G.S. 116B-53(c).

116B-55. This section brings forward current law on taking custody of the contents of safe deposit boxes or other safekeeping depositories held by financial organizations. The contents of safe deposit boxes are presumed abandoned if the apparent owner has not claimed the property within the period established by G.S. 53-43.7. The contents are delivered to the Treasurer as provided by that statute. If the contents include property described in 116B-53, the Treasurer is required to hold the property for the remainder of the applicable dormancy period set forth in that section before the property is deemed to be received for purpose of public sale under 116B-65.

116B-56. This section describes the general rules under which this State may take custody of abandoned property.

116B-57. This section provides that dormancy charges imposed by holders for inactivity cannot be levied against property held unless there is a valid and enforceable written contract between the owner and the holder for assessing the charges. The amount of the charges must be reasonable. The proposed committee substitute would add a new subsection (b) to state that the Chapter does not prevent the deduction of other lawful charges if they are specifically authorized by statute or by a valid and enforceable contract. This language is in a current section of the Chapter that was deleted by the bill. The retailers would like to keep this language in the statute to clarify that lay away charges and liquidated damages under section 25-2-718 of the Uniform Commercial Code may be deducted.

116B-60. This section requires the holder of property presumed abandoned to file a report with the Treasurer and specifies the contents of the report. The report must be filed before November 1 of each year and must cover the 12 months next preceding July 1 of that year, except that a report with respect to a life insurance company must be filed before May 1 of each year and must cover the calendar year next preceding. Before the date for filing the report, the holder may request an extension of time for filing the report, and the Treasurer may grant the extension for good cause. Senate Judiciary I added language to require a $10.00 fee when a holder makes a request for an extension for filing a report. The section brings forward current law requiring a business association holding property presumed abandoned to certify the holding in its income tax return and requiring the Secretary of Revenue to furnish to the Escheat Fund the information appearing on the certification.

116B-61. Subsection (a) requires the holder to pay or deliver the property described in the report upon filing the report. However, if the property is an automatic renewal deposit and a penalty or forfeiture in the payment of interest would result, the time for compliance is extended to the next filing and delivery date at which a penalty or forfeiture would no longer result.

Subsection (b) provides that with respect to securities and security entitlements that have been reported as abandoned property, the Treasurer is an "appropriate person" to make an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order under Article 8 of Chapter 25. Accordingly, the Treasurer has the same rights under Article 8 as other persons who succeed by operation of law to securities or security entitlements, such as the executor or administrator of a decedent.

Where the holder is itself the issuer of a certificated security and does not have the original certificate to turn over to the Treasurer, subsection (c) allows the Treasurer to obtain a replacement certificate without giving an indemnity bond. G.S. 25-8-405 enables the owner of a certificated security to obtain a replacement of a lost, destroyed, or stolen certificate, provided that reasonable requirements are satisfied and a sufficient indemnity bond is supplied.

Subsection (d) indemnifies a person causing a replacement certificate to be issued to the Treasurer from any claims that the person acted wrongfully in so doing. This indemnification is desirable in that it eliminates any duty of the transferring authority to make an independent investigation into whether the listed owner of the security is in fact missing, or into other factors which might affect the Treasurer's right to obtain custody of the property.

116B-62. This section brings forward current law requiring the Treasurer to prepare a list of apparent owners to be delivered to the clerks of superior court and to publish notice of the list.

116B-63. Subsection (a) defines when property is paid or delivered to the Treasurer in "good faith". Subsection (b) relieves a holder of all liability for any property paid or delivered to the Treasurer in good faith. Subsection (c) requires the Treasurer to reimburse a holder who pays unclaimed money to the Treasurer and subsequently pays a person reasonably appearing to the holder to be entitled to the money. Subsection (d) allows a holder to reclaim property other than money upon filing proof that the apparent owner has claimed the property from the holder. Subsection (e) allows the Treasurer to accept a holder's affidavit as sufficient proof of the holder's right to recover money and property. Subsection (f) provides that if any person or another state makes a claim on a holder for property paid or delivered to the Treasurer, the Treasurer, upon written notice of the claim, is required to defend the holder and provide indemnification against any liability on the claim resulting from payment or delivery of the property in good faith to the Treasurer.

116B-64. This section provides that if property other than money is delivered to the Treasurer, the owner is entitled to receive from the Treasurer any income or gain realized or accruing on the property at or before liquidation or conversion of the property into money. If the property is interest-bearing or pays dividends, the interest or dividends must be paid until the property is delivered to the Treasurer.

116B-65. Subsection (a) requires the public sale of abandoned property, other than securities, within three years after receipt of the property. Subsection (b) governs the sale of securities. Subsection (c) provides that a purchaser takes the property free of all claims of the owner or previous holder and of all persons claiming through or under them.

116B-66. This section and 116B-56 (rules for taking custody) are designed to carry out the priority scheme enunciated in Texas v. New Jersey. In general the state in which the owner had his or her last known address is entitled to claim abandoned property. Where there is insufficient information to permit this assertion of custody, the state of the holder's domicile takes the property subject to a later claim by the owner's state.

116B-67. This section allows the owner to make a claim to the State for restitution of property delivered into the State's custody.

116B-68. This section provides that a person aggrieved by a decision of the Treasurer or whose claim has not been acted upon within 90 days after filing may commence an action to establish the claim in the Superior Court of Wake County.

116B-69. Subsection (a) allows the Treasurer to decline to receive property which the Treasurer considers to have a value less than the expenses of notice and sale. Subsection (b) allows the holder, with the consent of the Treasurer, to report and deliver property before the property is presumed abandoned; however, the Treasurer must hold the property until the dormancy period runs before the property would be subject to other provisions of Chapter 116B. This authority will enable the Treasurer to take possession of property when the holder is terminating business but the property is not yet reportable.

116B-70. Subsection (a) allows the Treasurer to destroy or otherwise dispose of property which has no substantial commercial value. The subsection provides immunity from liability, except for intentional misconduct. Subsection (b) brings forward current law in expressly providing for the retention of property having historic significance.

116B-71. Subsection (a) brings forward current law (G.S. 116B-34), providing that the expiration of a period of limitation on a claim by an owner does not relieve a holder of the duties imposed by this Article.

Subsection (b), which has no counterpart in current law, prohibits the Treasurer from commencing an enforcement action more than ten years after the holder filed a report in which the holder specifically identified property, should have but failed to identify property, or gave express notice of a dispute regarding property. The period of limitation is tolled if the report is not filed, the notice of dispute is not given, or the report is fraudulent.

116B-72. This section is designed to facilitate compliance with Chapter 116B. Subsection (a) authorizes the Treasurer to require a person who has not filed a report or who has filed an inaccurate, incomplete, or false report to file a verified report in a form specified by the Treasurer. Subsection (b) authorizes the Treasurer to examine or to contract with any other person to examine the records of any person to determine whether the person has complied with Chapter 116B. Subsection (c) authorizes the Treasurer to examine the records of an agent of a business association, e.g., a dividend disbursing agent or transfer agent, that is the holder of property presumed abandoned. Subsection (d) provides for th confidentiality of documents and working papers obtained or compiled in the course of an examinatio and lists the circumstances under which the documents and papers may be disclosed. If an examination results in the disclosure of reportable property, subsection (e) authorizes the Treasurer to assess against a holder who made a fraudulent report, the cost of the examination at the rate of $200 a day for each examiner, or a greater amount that is reasonable and was incurred, but the assessment may not exceed the value of the property found to be reportable. Senate Judiciary I deleted the language authorizing the Treasurer to assess the cost of an examination against a holder who willfully fails to file a report. Subsection (f) permits the use of estimates in instances where the holder has failed to report and deliver property and no longer has reasonably accessible records sufficient to prepare a specific report.

116B-73. Except as provided in subsection (b), subsection (a) requires a holder to maintain records containing information required to be included in a report for 10 years after the holder filed the report, unless a shorter period is provided by rule. Subsection (b) requires the issuer of travelers checks and money orders to maintain records of the instruments for three years after the holder filed the report.

116B-73.1. Senate Judiciary I added this new section to allow a holder to ask the Treasurer to conduct a precompliance review. A fee of $500.00 per day may be charged by the Treasurer for conducting this review. This program would educate the holder's employees on the unclaimed property laws and filing procedures and would recommend ways to facilitate the holder's compliance.

116B-74. Subsection (a) authorizes the Treasurer to commence an enforcement action in this or another state. Subsection (b) brings forward current law allowing the Treasurer to order persons required to report, pay, or deliver property to appear and to produce records and give testimony.

116B-75. This section deals with interstate cooperation and joint actions. Subsection (a) allows an exchange of information relating to abandoned property or its possible existence. Subsection (b) explicitly permits the Treasurer to join with another state to seek enforcement of Chapter 116B. Subsection (c) explicitly permits the Attorney General to commence an enforcement action on behalf of another state if the state agrees to pay the expenses incurred by the Attorney General. Subsection (d) explicitly permits the Treasurer to request that the attorney general of another state or another attorney commence an enforcement action in the other state on behalf of the Treasurer and also allows the Treasurer, with the approval of the Attorney General, to retain an outside attorney to commence an enforcement action in this State on behalf of the Treasurer. The Treasurer may agree to base the attorneys' fees upon a percentage of the value of the property recovered for the State. Subsection (e) continues the authorization of the Treasurer to make expenditures from the Escheat Fund as may be necessary to effectuate this section.

116B-76. This section requires a holder who fails to report, pay, or deliver property to pay interest on the property or value of the property from the date the property should have been reported, paid, or delivered. The section also provides civil penalties for willful failure to report, pay, or deliver property and for making a fraudulent report. A holder who willfully fails to report, pay, or deliver property within the prescribed time, or willfully fails to perform other duties under Chapter 116B must pay a penalty of $10.00 for each day the required act is withheld or the duty is not performed, up to a maximum of $25,000, plus 25% of the value of any property that should have been but was not reported. The penalty for making a fraudulent report is $1,000 for each day from the date a report was due, up to a maximum of $25,000, plus 25% of the value of property that was not reported. The Treasurer is expressly authorized to waive, in whole or in part, interest and penalties; however, this authorization does not include the penalty for fraudulent reporting. The current law imposes a civil penalty of $300 for each failure, neglect, refusal or false report, and an additional sum of $10.00 for each day of the period of default, or a sum equal to ½ of the value of the property, whichever is greater.

116B-77. This section governs agreements between owners and "unclaimed property locators" or "heir finders" to locate abandoned property and is intended to enhance the likelihood that the owner of the property will be located by the efforts of the Treasurer and will receive a return of the property without payment of a "finder's fee". Subsection (a) voids any unclaimed property locator's or heir finder's agreement with the apparent owner if it was entered into during the period commencing on the date the property was presumed abandoned and extending to a time that is 24 months after the date the property is paid or delivered to the Treasurer. Subsection (b) requires that the agreement be in writing, identify the property, state its value before and after deduction of the fee, and specify the services to be rendered. Subsection (c) voids a provision of an agreement that provides for compensation that includes a portion of the underlying minerals or the mineral proceeds not yet presumed abandoned. Subsection (d) limits the locator's compensation to an amount that is not greater than 25% of the actual value of the property recovered. An owner who has made an agreement to pay compensation that is unenforceable, or the Treasurer on behalf of the owner, may bring an action to reduce the compensation. The court may award attorneys' fees to an owner who prevails in the action. Subsections (b) and (d) apply to all agreements, regardless of when the agreement was made, including agreements with an owner as a result of a holder providing to private parties the holder's information regarding an inactive account. Subsection (e) provides that an owner is not precluded from asserting that an agreement is invalid on grounds other than as provided in subsection (d). Senate Judiciary I added a new subsection (f) to require a person who enters into an agreement to assist another in locating abandoned or unclaimed property to register with the Treasurer. The registration fee is set at $100.

116B-78. This section sets forth transitional provisions.

116B-79. This section authorizes Treasurer to adopt rules necessary to carry out Chapter 116B.

Sections 7 through 12. These sections make conforming amendments. The amendments update statutory cross references, delete language believed to be no longer necessary, and make provisions gender neutral.

Section 13. This section is a general severability clause.

Section 14. This section authorizes the printing of drafters' comments.

Section 15. This section provides a delayed effective date of January 1, 2000.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of State Treasurer – Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill rewrites the escheat and unclaimed property laws in North Carolina.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The following sections of SB 244 have a potential fiscal impact on the Escheat Fund:

Section 5 – G.S. 116B-8
This section has no fiscal impact. This section limits the compensation the State Treasurer pays companies to uncover unreported, escheatable property. The limit will be 10% of the final assessment of property escheated to the state. This provision will not affect the Treasurer's current contracts with two firms. The state contract with the National Abandoned Property Processing Corp. pays 10% of the recovered property. The state contract with the Unclaimed Property Clearinghouse pays 12% (6% for an audit and 6% for processing) for recovered property. This 12% is really for two separate functions that are paid as one fee. The provision would force the Treasurer to make two payments for these services.

Section 6 – G.S. 116B-53(c) & G.S. 116B-54(b)

Amending these statutes will produce a loss of revenue for the Escheat Fund by exempting gift certificates, manufactured home buyer's deposits, and credit balances between businesses from the definition of abandoned property. As for prepaid calling cards and electronic gift cards, there is no revenue loss because the Treasurer has never escheated these items. However, assuming that these items are eligible for escheat, there is a potential revenue loss that cannot be estimated at this time.

I. Gift Certificates

The Director of the Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program estimates that the Escheat Fund will lose $500,000 per year in unclaimed assets by eliminating gift certificates from escheat. Since the Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program does not record whether a gift certificate has an expiration date or not, this estimate assumes all unclaimed gift certificates are eligible to escheat. In 1998, the state received $117,522 from five companies that listed gift certificates as a specific property type. However, officials in the Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program believe that most gift certificates and gift cards are grouped together with other property types that are reported by businesses. The state collected $6.9 million in unclaimed property from businesses other than banks, insurance companies, and utilities in 1998. It is unknown what percentage of this amount is from gift certificates.

The Director of the Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program believes his agency has only begun discovering unclaimed gift certificates, phone cards, and electronic gift cards. The State Treasurer has six auditors and two contract audit firms that search for unclaimed property in North Carolina and in other states. A recent multi-state audit of a large retail chain found $1 million in unclaimed gift certificates in North Carolina. This $1 million will be remitted to the state over the next four years unless prohibited by SB 244.

To gauge whether North Carolina's estimate of escheated gift certificates was reasonable, unclaimed property programs in other states were surveyed by e-mail by legislative staff. Of the small number of states that responded, gift certificate collections in Indiana and Maine appear to validate the $500,000 estimate for North Carolina. An official with the Indiana Office of the Attorney General reported that $425,000 in gift certificates were escheated to the state in 1998. Indiana has a population of 5.8 million versus North Carolina's 7.4 million. Maine, state population 1.24 million, had $209,100 in gift certificates escheated in 1998. Some states reported that they grouped many classes of property together like North Carolina. Other states escheated gift certificates but admitted their low collections were due to noncompliance by retailers and the state's lack of aggressiveness in seeking unclaimed gift certificates.

II. Manufactured Home Buyers' Deposit

The Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program conducted an audit of a major mobile home manufacturer in North Carolina and found $1.2 million in unclaimed buyers' deposits. Passage of SB 244 would prevent the deposit of these funds into the Escheat Fund. There is also an annual revenue loss to the Escheat Fund from this exemption, but no estimate is available from the Treasurer's staff at this time.

III. Credit Balances

It is estimated that the Escheat Fund will lose $250,000 a year if credit balances between businesses are exempted from escheat. Since 1988, the Escheat Fund has received $1.46 million in unclaimed credit balances from in-state and out-of-state property holders. In the last four fiscal years, business to business credit balances have averaged $250,000 a year.

Section 6 – 116B-60

This section will generate annual revenue of $500 for the Escheat Fund. The Treasurer receives approximately 50 requests a year from property holders who request extensions for filing a report. Fifty requests times the $10 fee is $500.

Section 6 – 116B-72

No estimate available. The Escheat and Unclaimed Property Program did 57 record examinations in FY 97-98. This section would allow the Treasurer to charge $200 a day for an exam of a property holder who made a fraudulent report of unclaimed property. The Treasurer's staff does not think this power will be used often due to the difficulty of proving fraud.

Section 6 – 116B-73.1

No fiscal impact. This section states that the Treasurer may charge $500 per day for precompliance reviews. Heretofore, the Treasurer has provided five property holder seminars a year and offered free precompliance advice. The Treasurer's staff does not intend to charge for their compliance efforts.

Section 6 – 116B-76

No estimate available. This section will reduce the interest rate on holders who fail to report, pay, or deliver property in a prescribed time. The interest rate reduction from 12% to the market rate will reduce interest earnings for the Escheat Fund. No estimate is available for the increase in the civil penalty for fraudulent reporting because the Treasurer has not used this authority.

Section 6 – 116B-77

No fiscal impact. The $100 registration fee for third party tracers is not anticipated to be used because there are none presently operating in North Carolina.

SEAA

The interest from the Escheat Fund is deposited with the North Carolina State Education Assistance Authority (SEAA) to provide financial assistance to students in state supported schools of higher education. The interest on Escheat Fund investments in future years is calculated at 6% per year. This is the short-term investment rate recommended by the State Treasurer. It is assumed that the interest will accrue the year after the property is escheated. This interest would have been deposited with the State Education Assistance Authority to be used for student loans. The interest lost each year is as follows:

	Cumulative	Interest
FY 1999-00	$1,574,750
FY 2000-01	$2,324,250	$94,485
FY 2001-02	$3,073,750	$139,455
FY 2002-03	$3,823,250	$184,425
FY 2003-04	$4,572,750	$229,395

An application for a refund must be made in accordance with this Part.

(c) Special Mobile Equipment. -- A person who purchases and uses motor fuel to operate special mobile equipment off-highway may receive a quarterly refund, for the excise tax paid during the preceding quarter, at a rate equal to the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the variable cents-per-gallon rate in effect during the quarter for which the refund is claimed, less the amount of sales and use tax due on the fuel under this chapter as determined in accordance with G.S. 105-449.107(c). An application for a refund must be made in accordance with this Part."

Section 9. G.S. 20-140.5 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-140.5. Special mobile equipment may tow certain vehicles.

Special mobile equipment may ~~tow any of the following vehicles:~~ not tow any vehicle other than the following:

(1) A single passenger vehicle that can carry no more than nine ~~passengers and is not loaded, in whole or in part, with passengers or property.~~ passengers, is carrying no passengers, and is carrying no more than its registered weight in property.
(2) A single property-hauling vehicle that has a registered weight of 5,000 pounds or ~~less and is not loaded, in whole or in part, with passengers or property.~~ less, is carrying no passengers, and is carrying no more than its registered weight in property.

~~Special mobile equipment may not tow a vehicle that is not listed in this section.~~"

Section 10. G.S. 20-116(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The total outside width of any vehicle or the load thereon shall not exceed 96 inches, except as otherwise provided in this ~~section: Provided that when~~ section. When hogsheads of tobacco are being transported, a tolerance of six inches ~~shall be allowed and that when~~ is allowed. When sheet or bale tobacco is being transported the load ~~does~~ must not exceed a width of 114 inches at the top of the load and the bottom of the load at the truck bed ~~does~~ must not exceed the width of 102 inches inclusive of allowance for load shifting or settling. ~~Provided, further, that vehicles~~ Vehicles (other than passenger buses) ~~which~~ that do not exceed the overall width of 102 inches and otherwise provided in this section may be operated in accordance with G.S. 20-115.1(c), (f), and (g). Special mobile equipment is allowed a total outside width of 102 inches."

Section 11. G.S. 105-449.116 reads as rewritten:

"~~§ 105-449.116. Import confirmation number required for some imported motor fuel.~~

~~(a) Requirement. — A bonded importer or an occasional importer that acquires motor fuel for import by transport truck from a supplier that is not an elective supplier or a permissive supplier, and therefore will not be acting as trustee for the remittance of tax to the State on behalf of the importer, must obtain an import confirmation number from the Secretary before importing the motor fuel. The importer must write the import confirmation number on the shipping document issued for the fuel. The importer must obtain a separate import confirmation number for each transport truck delivery of motor fuel into this State.~~

~~(b) Penalty. — An importer that does not obtain an import confirmation number when required by this section is liable for a civil penalty. The civil penalty is payable to the Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, or the Department of Revenue and is payable by the person in whose name the transport truck is registered. The amount of the penalty depends on whether the person against whom the penalty is assessed has previously been assessed a penalty under this subsection. For a first assessment under this subsection, the penalty is the same as the amount for a first assessment under G.S. 105-449.115(f). For a second or subsequent assessment under this subsection, the penalty is the same as the amount for a second or subsequent assessment under G.S. 105-449.115(f). A penalty imposed under this subsection is in addition to any motor fuel tax assessed.~~"

Section 12. G.S. 105-122(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) After determining the proportion of its total capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as set out in subsection (c) of this section, which amount so determined shall in no case be less than ~~fifty-five percent (55%) of the appraised value as determined for ad valorem taxation of all the real and tangible personal property in this State of each such corporation plus the total appraised value of intangible property returned for taxation of intangible personal property as herein specified nor less than~~ its total actual investment in tangible property in this State, every corporation taxed under this section shall annually pay to the Secretary of Revenue, at the time the report and statement are due, a franchise or privilege tax, which is hereby levied at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of the total amount of capital stock, surplus and undivided profits as herein provided. The tax imposed in this section shall in no case be less than thirty-five dollars ($35.00) and shall be for the privilege of carrying on, doing business, and/or the continuance of articles of incorporation or domestication of each such corporation in this State. ~~Appraised value of tangible property including real estate shall be the ad valorem valuation for the calendar year next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return. Appraised value of intangible property shall be the total gross valuation required to be reported for intangible tax purposes on April 15 coincident with or next preceding the due date of the franchise tax return.~~ The term

'total actual investment in tangible property' as used in this section shall be construed to mean the total original purchase price or consideration to the reporting taxpayer of its tangible properties, including real estate, in this State plus additions and improvements thereto less reserve for depreciation as permitted for income tax ~~purposes, and also less any indebtedness incurred and existing by virtue of the purchase of any real estate and any permanent improvements made thereon.~~ purposes. In computing 'total actual investment in tangible personal property' there shall also be deducted reserves for the entire cost of any air-cleaning device or sewage or waste treatment plant, including waste lagoons, and pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed which reduces the amount of air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and industrial wastes or other polluting materials or substances into the outdoor atmosphere or into streams, lakes, or rivers, upon condition that the corporation claiming such deduction shall furnish to the Secretary a certificate from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources or from a local air pollution control program for air-cleaning devices located in an area where the Environmental Management Commission has certified a local air pollution control program pursuant to G.S. 143-215.112 certifying that said Department or local air pollution control program has found as a fact that the air-cleaning device, waste treatment plant or pollution abatement equipment purchased or constructed and installed as above described has actually been constructed and installed and that such device, plant or equipment complies with the requirements of the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program with respect to such devices, plants or equipment, that such device, plant or equipment is being effectively operated in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in the permit, certificate of approval, or other document of approval issued by the Environmental Management Commission or local air pollution control program and that the primary purpose thereof is to reduce air or water pollution resulting from the emission of air contaminants or the discharge of sewage and waste and not merely incidental to other purposes and functions. The cost of constructing facilities of any private or public utility built for the purpose of providing sewer service to residential and outlying areas shall be treated as deductible for the purposes of this section; the deductible liability allowed by this section shall apply only with respect to such pollution abatement plants or equipment constructed or installed on or after January 1, 1955."

Section 13. Section 1 of this act becomes effective January 1, 2000. Sections 2 through 4, 7, and 9 through 11 of this act become effective July 1, 1999. Section 5 of this act becomes effective October 1, 1999. Section 8 of this act is effective when it becomes law and applies to taxes paid on or after January 1, 1999. Section 12 of this act becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 1112:
No Sales Tax Fee/Other Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Senator Kerr
Date:	June 2, 1999	Summary by:	Martha H. Harris & Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition S1112-CSRBX-6/1		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: Promotes electronic commerce by repealing the sales tax registration fee and makes other changes to the tax laws and related statutes.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 repeals the $15 sales tax registration fee effective January 1, 2000. This fee is payable at the time a person applies for and obtains a sales tax registration number. The elimination of the fee will better enable the Department to begin receiving sales and use tax reports electronically.

Section 2 provides that check cashers and pawnbrokers are subject to the same annual $750 privilege license tax as loan agencies, effective July 1, 1999. The tax must be paid for each location.

Sections 3 and 9 clarify the definition of a utility for sales tax purposes and move an exemption from the definition section to the exemption section. These sections become effective when they become law.

Sections 4 and 5 provide that all prescription drugs are exempt from sales tax, effective October 1, 1999. All of the drugs exempt from sales tax are placed in one statutory subdivision. Section 5 repeals one of the exemptions because it is incorporated into Section 4.

Section 6 deletes the language that a nonprofit corporation must be chartered or incorporated within North Carolina for two years before its sales are tax exempt. This restriction is constitutionally suspect because there appears to be no rational basis for the distinction. This section becomes effective October 1, 1999.

Section 7 repeals an unconstitutional sales tax exemption for the sale of paper, ink, and other tangible personal property to commercial printers and commercial publishers for use as component parts of free circulation publications that contain advertising of a general nature. The exemption applies primarily to publications such as "The Village Advocate". It does not apply to other free circulation publications, such as a real estate guide. To be constitutional, the exemption needs to be expanded to include all free circulation publications or it needs to be repealed. This section repeals it. This section becomes effective October 1, 1999.

Section 8 adds "governmental entity" as a donee in the sales tax exemption of tangible personal property that is purchased by a retailer for resale or is manufactured or purchased by a wholesale merchant for resale and then withdrawn from inventory and donated by the retailer or merchant to a nonprofit organization. This change would allow contributions to governmental entities such as schools to qualify for the sales tax exemption. This section becomes effective October 1, 1999.

Section 10 increases the percentage that may be added to a patron's bill as a tip without that amount being subject to sales tax, effective October 1, 1999. A service charge, or tip, imposed on a meal is subject to sales tax if it exceeds 15% of the amount charged for the meal. Some restaurants add a slightly higher gratuity to a meal served to large parties. This section increases the amount that may be added to a bill as a tip without being subject to sales tax from 15% to 20%.

Sections 11 and 13 provide that the Secretary of Revenue may waive the penalty for bad checks, effective October 1, 1999. The Secretary has the authority to waive all other tax penalties for good cause.

Section 12 rewrites the tax penalties for negligence, effective October 1, 1999. Currently, in the case of income tax, a 25% penalty applies if the taxpayer understates taxable income by an amount equal to or greater than ¼ of gross income. For other taxes, the 25% penalty applies if the taxpayer understates tax liability by an amount equal to or greater than ¼ of actual liability. Thus, the 25% penalty is harder to trigger for income taxes than for other taxes. This section would limit the trigger based on gross income to individual income taxes. Thus, corporate income taxes would trigger the 25% penalty if liability is understated by at least ¼, not just if taxable income is understated by at least ¼ of gross income.

Section 14 amends the tax secrecy statute to allow the Department to communicate with local law enforcement officers concerning administration of the unauthorized substances tax. This section is effective when it becomes law.

Section 15 amends G.S. 105-266(c)(1) to give taxpayers the same amount of time to request a refund that the Department has to make an assessment. The Department can currently assess for a longer period of time than a person can get a refund. Taxpayers voluntarily extend the time for the Department to assess in some circumstance, but this does not extend the time for getting refund if any overpayments are found. This amendment would automatically extend the time to request a refund when the taxpayers agrees to extend the time the Department can assess. This section becomes effective when it becomes law.

Sections 16, 17, and 20 address a problem of special mobile equipment and the motor fuel tax. Special mobile equipment is a vehicle that has a permanently attached crane, mill, ditch-digging apparatus, or similar apparatus. The vehicle is driven on the highway only to get to and from a non-highway job. It is not designed or used primarily for the transportation of persons or property. It should not be paying motor fuel tax on the fuel used for a non-highway purpose. However, under the current law, it cannot use dyed (untaxed) diesel fuel nor can it receive a refund of the motor fuel tax paid on clear (taxed) diesel fuel. Section 16 provides that dyed (untaxed) diesel fuel may be used in special mobile equipment, effective October 1, 1999. Section 17 allows a quarterly refund for tax paid on fuel used in special mobile equipment, effective for taxes paid on or after January 1, 1999. As a result of these changes, the motor fuel used in special mobile equipment will be subject to sales tax, which is credited to the General Fund, as opposed to the motor fuel tax, which is credited to the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund. Section 20 seeks to reduce the loss to the Highway Fund by increasing the registration fee for special mobile equipment from $20 to $40, effective January 1, 2000.

Section 18 repeals an unnecessary statute requiring certain fuel importers to register, effective when it becomes law.

Section 19 clarifies that vehicles leased to individuals who live in this State must be registered in this State, effective when this act becomes law.

Section 21 expands the maximum width of special mobile equipment from 96 inches to 102 inches, effective when this act becomes law.

Section 22 clarifies that vehicles towed by special mobile equipment may carry property that does not exceed the weight of the towed vehicle, effective when this act becomes law.

Section 23 allows the Department of Revenue to use information in the State Directory of New Hires for the purpose of administering the taxes it has a duty to collect. The State Directory of New Hires was established in 1997 to assist in the location of persons owing child support.. The Department of Health and Human Services maintains it. Every employer in the State must report to the Directory the hiring of every employee for whom a federal W-4 form is required to be completed. The report must contain the name, address, and social security number of the newly hired employee and the name, address, and federal and State tax ID number of the employer. This section becomes effective when it becomes law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 (sales tax registration fee) and 20 (vehicle registration for special mobile equipment) of this act become effective January 1, 2000. Section 2 (check cashers & pawnbrokers) becomes effective July 1, 1999. Sections 4 and 5 (prescription drugs), sections 6 and 8 (nonprofit sales), section 10 (tips), section 11 & 13 (bad checks), section 12 (income tax penalty), and section 16 (fuel in special mobile equipment) become effective October 1, 1999. Section 17 (fuel tax refunds to special mobile equipment) applies to taxes paid on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill amends various tax laws and related statutes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The following is a section by section analysis of SB 1112 PCS:

Section 1
This section repeals the $15 sales tax certificate of registration fee charged to new businesses. The number of registrations in recent years is as follows:

FY 1995-96	34,559
FY 1996-97	38,193
FY 1997-98	36,609

In 1998 and 1999, sales tax registrations are averaging approximately 3,000 a month. Assuming the continuation of the current registration rate, this section will eliminate the $15 fee for 36,000 businesses each year. The General Fund revenue loss will be $540,000 per year. The FY 1999-00 revenue loss will be $270,000 due to a January 1, 2000 effective date.

Section 2
This section imposes an annual $750 privilege license tax on each location of a check cashing or pawnbroker business. As of May 28, 1999, there are 195 check cashing businesses in North Carolina with 975 locations. The number of check cashing businesses has grown tremendously since 1997 when the state approved SB 312 (1997 SL, chapter 391) regulating the industry and approving the delayed deposit of personal checks. The Consumer Finance Administrator at the Office of the Commissioner of Banks thinks the check cashing market has now reached a saturation point and receives only two or three applications per month for new locations. This fiscal note assumes the number of check cashing businesses will peak at 1,000 in FY 1999-00. The $750,000 in revenue from the $750 tax on 1,000 locations will be deposited in the General Fund. With the 1997 law scheduled to sunset on July 1, 2001, it is uncertain how many locations will exist in FY 2001-02 and beyond.

As for pawnbrokers, there is no exact data on the number of businesses in the state. Prior to 1997, pawnbrokers were subject to an annual privilege license tax of $275 (formerly GS 105-50). The Department of Revenue reports that the number of pawnbrokers paying the privilege tax declined from 584 in FY 1993-94 to 356 in FY 1996-97. The past chair of the NC Pawn Brokers Association estimates there are 450 pawnbrokers in the state. The Consumer Finance Administrator at the Office of the Commissioner of Banks found 500 pawnbrokers in an internet phone directory search in 1997. This fiscal note will assume 450 pawnbroker locations and no future growth. The $750 annual privilege tax will result in $337,500 in revenue to the General Fund each year.

Section 3
No fiscal impact – clarifies definition of utility.

Section 4
Section 4 repeals the remaining state and local sales tax on prescription drugs. Most prescription drugs are either exempt from State and local sales and use taxes or are refundable. Drugs purchased with a prescription, prescription drugs distributed free of charge by the manufacturer of the drugs, and prescription drugs purchased for use in the commercial production of animals are already exempt from sales tax. Most hospitals receive refunds of State and local sales and use taxes paid on prescription drugs acquired by the hospital. The only entities that pay tax on prescription drugs are 1) physicians and other medical professionals who buy the drugs to administer to patients in the course of their practice and 2) state hospitals, (other than the UNC hospitals), four state psychiatric hospitals, Alcohol and Drug Treatment Centers, and Mental Retardation Centers.

The Department of Revenue Sales and Use Tax Division estimates the state and local tax loss from this exemption to be $2.4 million in FY 1999-00. This estimate is considerably less than an estimate made in 1997 for SB 41 due to recent Tax Review Board decisions which held that physicians can be retail sellers of prescription drugs and therefore sales are exempt. The estimate is based on information obtained from sales and use tax audits of medical and dental practices and from an AMA survey. The number of medical professionals was obtained from the Census of Service Industries for North Carolina. The Department did not estimate any growth in the volume of prescription sales or in prescription drug prices. Data from State Employee Health Benefit Plan's self-insured indemnity program show that prescription drug prices increase 15% to 19% a year. This fiscal note uses a 17% inflation rate, the midpoint of this range. The October 1, 1999 effective date will reduce the FY 1999-00 revenue loss by one fourth.

Section 5

No fiscal impact - incorporates the exemption of prescription drugs distributed free of charge by the drug manufacturer into the language in Section 4.

Section 6

This section deletes the requirement that a nonprofit corporation must be chartered or incorporated in North Carolina for two years before its sales are tax exempt. The Director of the Sales Tax Division of the Department of Revenue believes the fiscal impact of this section is negligible, because few nonprofits are rejected for tax exemption status.

Section 7

This section repeals a sales tax exemption for free circulation publications such as shoppers' guides. The Department of Revenue Sales and Use Tax Division reports that the state tax loss for this exemption is $2.5 million a year. Thus repeal of this exemption will provide a revenue gain of $2.5 million to the General Fund each year. The corresponding local sales tax gain will be $1.25 million each year. The October 1, 1999 effective date will reduce the FY 1999-00 revenue gain to $1,875,000 for the General Fund and $937,500 for local governments.

Section 8

This section allows a sales tax exemption for corporate contributions of inventory to governmental entities. There have been no taxpayer complaints about the existing law, but Department officials perceive this as a future problem. No fiscal estimate is available, but the Department of Revenue believes that the impact is insignificant.

Section 9

No fiscal impact – this existing language is being moved to the exemption section of the sales tax statutes.

Section 10
No fiscal impact – this increases the allowable service charge or tip on meals from 15% to 20%.

Sections 11 & 13
No estimate available – the language allowing the Secretary of Revenue to waive penalties for bad checks is permissive. If the Secretary of Revenue chooses to waive a substantial number of penalties, there will be a small revenue loss.

Section 12
No estimate available. The Department of Revenue assesses very few penalties for negligence. This section could produce a small revenue gain for the General Fund if penalties are easier to assess on corporate taxpayers.

Section 14
No fiscal impact – technical change.

Section 15
No estimate available. By extending the time a taxpayer can request a refund, this section might produce a small revenue loss. However, the Department of Revenue has received only a small number of complaints about the current refund policy.

Sections 16 & 17
No estimate available. These sections will produce a small revenue loss to the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund, but the Department of Revenue cannot provide the data needed to quantify the loss. Currently operators of special mobile equipment buy enough tax paid clear diesel fuel to cover their miles driven on the highway. For off highway use, the equipment operators use dyed, non-tax diesel fuel. If they request a refund for tax paid on clear fuel, their refunds are processed annually. By providing that dyed fuel may be used in special mobile equipment, this section codifies an administrative practice allowed by the Department of Revenue. However, the Highway Fund will lose the tax paid currently on diesel fuel for highway use. For those that apply for a refund, it will speed up the refund process and the state will lose interest on invested funds.

Section 18
No fiscal impact – according to Revenue, the statute requiring bonded fuel importers to register is unnecessary due to the lack of importers in this category.

Section 19
No fiscal impact - codifies the administrative practice used by the Division of Motor Vehicles to register vehicles leased out of state.

Section 20

The fee for special mobile equipment is doubled by section 20. As of January 1, 2000, the fee will increase from $20 a year to $40 on 2,058 pieces of special mobile equipment. This fee increase will produce a $41,160 revenue gain for the Highway Fund each year. It is difficult to project future year growth in the volume of vehicles registered, because there has been no consistent pattern of registration in the last five years. Equipment numbers have increased and declined in recent years.

Section 21

No fiscal impact – equipment operators now can apply for overweight or oversize permits for larger width.

Section 22

No estimate available – this section may reduce DMV revenue from penalties, but no data are available to quantify the amount.

Section 23

No fiscal impact – broadens access to information.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division, and Local Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: This legislation exempts durable medical equipment and medical sundries, that are eligible for coverage under Medicare or Medicaid, from state and local sales tax. The exemption only applies to items purchased on prescription or by a Certificate of Medical Need. While the item must be eligible under Medicare or Medicaid, it can be purchased by anyone with a prescription. Therefore, the bill exempts Medicare, Medicaid, and some private pay purchases of certain durable medical equipment and medical sundries.

BACKGROUND: Durable Medical Equipment (DME) includes a variety of medical items such as wheelchairs, IV bag holders, and cane stands. Medical sundries are easily and frequently disposed of items like latex gloves, gauze, medical tape, and syringes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Under current law most drugs and medical equipment items are exempt from sales tax, particularly if they are purchased under a prescription or with a Medicaid Certificate of Medical Need.

According to the Department of Revenue, there are currently 49 items that are covered by Medicare that are taxable under North Carolina law. For the most part, these items are monitors, syringes, urinals, IV poles and hangers, latex gloves, dressings, and other related supplies. The Department determined that these items are taxable because they are not designed to "correct or alleviate a physical aliment" (G.S. 105 – 164.13(12) exempts items that correct or alleviate a physical aliment from sales tax). The tax applies to all 49 DME and sundry items, regardless of the form or type of payment. Therefore, the tax should be applied to all private pay, Medicare, and Medicaid sales.

The Department of Health and Human Services was asked to determine their annual expenditure on each on these 49 items through the Medicaid program. In total, in FY 1997-98 North Carolina's Medicaid program spent $3.6 million on taxable durable medical equipment and sundries. According to the Federal Health Care Finance Administration, Medicaid covered 14.6% of the nation's health expenditures in 1997. Using the 14.6% as a proxy for the proportion of durable medical equipment and supplies covered by Medicaid in North Carolina suggests that approximately $24.7 million is spent annually on these taxable items. (3.6 is 14.6% of 24.7). Assuming the six- percent tax rate applies to these purchases, the 1997 revenue loss would have been $1.47 million.

According to the Federal Health Care Financing Administration's Office of the Actuary, national health spending is expected to grow at a rate of 6.5% annually through 2001. Between 2001 and 2007 national health expenditures are expected to grow at 7.5% per year. In all years the growth in private sector expenditures is expected to outpace public sector growth. (The provisions of the Federal Balanced Budget Act are expected to slow growth in the public sector).

Using the above estimated growth rates, the potential annual revenue losses are as follows:

(Millions)

1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004
(1.47)	(1.57)	(1.67)	(1.78)	(1.89)	(2.03)	(2.19)	(2.35)

Once adjusted for the fiscal year basis, the state and local potential losses are as follows:

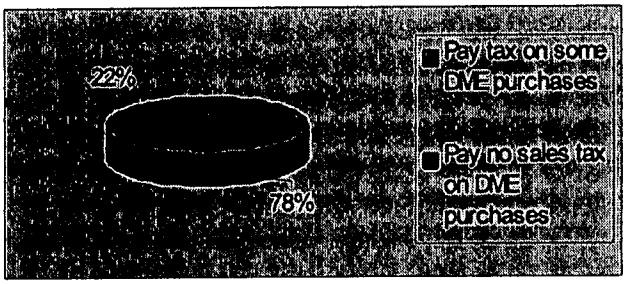
Local	(0.58)	(0.61)	(0.65)	(0.70)	(0.76)
Total	(1.73)	(1.84)	(1.96)	(2.11)	(2.27)

The above estimate assumes all taxpayers are paying the tax on durable medical equipment and supplies.

The Department of Revenue collects and enforces collection of this tax. Industry representatives believe many retailers are not paying the tax. These representatives suggest that many medical equipment and supply retailers may not realize they are liable for sales tax on these items. To determine what proportion of taxes are actually being paid the North Carolina Association of Medical Equipment Suppliers (NCAMES), in conjunction with the North Carolina Retail Merchants Association and Fiscal Research, conducted a survey of NCAMES 110 members.

Fifty-eight merchants responded, creating a 52.7% response rate. The survey asked NCAMES members if they remit sales tax on durable medical equipment sales. Of these respondents, 78% (45 respondents) said they remit sales tax on at least some of their DME sales. Assuming all 78% remit all the appropriate tax, the 1999-00 total revenue loss would be $1.35 million ($0.90 state and $0.45 local).



Total Liability	$1.73 million
- 22% not paying	-0.38 million
Total Potential Revenue Loss	$1.35 million
State Loss	$0.90 million
Local Loss	$0.45 million

However, only a small number (12% and 18% respectively) reported remitting sales tax on DME sales through Medicaid or Medicare. Assuming one-half of DME purchases are through Medicaid or Medicare, and a 15% collection rate applies (the mid-point between 12% and 18%), the actual loss associated with these purchases would be approximately $101,000. The actual loss associated with non-Medicare or Medicaid purchases would be $675,000 (1/2 of the 78% loss). As a result, the total potential loss indicated from the survey is $776,00.

Medicaid/Medicare ($1.35 million X 50% of total X 15% collections)	$101,000
Non Medicaid/Medicare ($1.35 million X 50% of total X 100% collections)	$675,000
Total Potential Loss from Survey	$776,000

Because the majority of NCAMES members are small, independent retailers these numbers may not accurately reflect the losses associated with large chain stores with sophisticated computer systems. Fiscal Research assumes these larger groups are complying with the law. A fiscal loss estimate of $900,000 is used to include the impact of large chain stores. Of this amount, 2/3 or $600,000 is the state loss and $300,000 is the local loss. The estimate assumes sales tax revenue from this source would have grown by the 6.5% and 7.5% rate the Federal Health Care Financing Administration's Office of the Actuary set as the expected growth figures for medical expenditures (see above). The fiscal loss associated with the bill is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
State	0.60	0.64	0.68	0.73	0.79
Local	0.30	0.32	0.34	0.37	0.39
Total	0.90	0.96	1.02	1.10	1.18

The actual amount in the fiscal estimate block reflects the adjustment for the October 1, 1999 effective date.

NOTE: According to the Federal Health Care Finance Administration, the reimbursement Medicare provides to businesses and individual subscribers includes state sales tax. As such, each Medicare reimbursement calculation should include the 6% sales tax. Because most Medicaid reimbursement rates are drawn from the Medicare charts, the 6% sales tax is included in many of those provider reimbursements. However, when the state develops its own reimbursement rate, sales tax is not included. Officials from the state employees' health plan also report that they pay the 6% sales tax, when it is charged to the provider.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: While this reflects the potential cost at this time, it is important to note that items are frequently added and removed from the Medicare and Medicaid lists. As such, this estimate provides only a snapshot of potential revenue losses. They are likely to change over time.

This penalty does not apply if the Secretary finds that, when the check was presented for payment, the drawer of the check had sufficient funds in an account at a financial institution in this State to pay the check and, by inadvertence, the drawer of the check failed to draw the check on the account that had sufficient funds. ~~The penalty imposed may not be waived or diminished by the Secretary.~~"

Section 14. G.S. 105-236(5) reads as rewritten:

Section 22. G.S. 20-87(10) reads as rewritten:

"(10) Special Mobile Equipment. -- The fee for special mobile equipment for the license year or any part of the license year is ~~the same as~~ two times the fee in subdivision (5) for a private passenger motor vehicle of not more than 15 passengers."

April 15, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO INCREASE THE FEES TO BE CHARGED TO PERSONS UNDERGOING SUBSTANCE ABUSE ASSESSMENTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 122C-142.1(f) reads as rewritten:

"(f) Fees. -- A person who has a substance abuse assessment conducted for the purpose of obtaining a certificate of completion shall pay to the assessing agency a fee of ~~fifty dollars ($50.00).~~ one hundred dollars ($100.00). Of this fee, the assessing agency shall retain ninety dollars ($90.00) to cover the costs of the standardized substance abuse assessment, the clinical interview, and costs incurred in the transfer of any client to a licensed facility located within or outside the State. The assessing agency shall forward ten dollars ($10.00) of each assessment fee, via agency check, to the Substance Abuse Services Section (SAS), Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services, Department of Health and Human Services, by the tenth of each month for the prior month's assessments. The portion paid to the SAS Section shall be used to:

(1) Develop a system to track offender compliance with the substance abuse assessment and education or treatment required for all persons convicted of a violation of G.S. 20-138.1 (DWI), G.S. 20-138.2 (Commercial DWI), or G.S. 20-138.3 (driving while less than 21 years old after consuming alcohol or drugs), and

(2) Establish a system by which licensed substance abuse facilities may be examined and granted the privilege to provide services to the offenders listed in subdivision (1) of this subsection.

Fees received by the SAS Section shall also be used to ensure that services being offered and delivered to the offenders listed in subdivision (1) of this subsection are in full compliance with applicable State law. A person shall pay to a treatment facility or school a fee of seventy-five dollars ($75.00). If the defendant is treated by an area mental health facility, G.S. 122C-146 applies after receipt of the seventy-five dollar ($75.00) fee.

A facility that provides to a person who is required to obtain a certificate of completion a substance abuse assessment, an ADET school, or a substance abuse treatment program may require the person to pay a fee required by this subsection before it issues a certificate of completion. As stated in G.S. 122C-146, however, an area facility may not deny a service to a person because the person is unable to pay.

An area facility shall remit to the Department five percent (5%) of each fee paid to the area facility under this subsection by a person who attends an ADET school conducted by the area facility. The Department may use amounts remitted to it under this subsection only to support, evaluate, and administer ADET schools."

Section 2. G.S. 122C-142.1(i) reads as rewritten:

"(i) Report. -- The Department shall submit an annual report on substance abuse assessments to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations. The report is due by February 1. Each facility that provides services needed by a person to obtain a certificate of completion shall file an annual report with the Department by ~~October 1~~ August 15 that contains the information for the preceding fiscal year which the Department needs in order to compile ~~the report~~ its report. ~~the Department is required to submit under this section.~~

The report submitted to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations shall include all of the following information and any other information requested by that Commission:

(1) The number of persons required to obtain a certificate of completion during the previous fiscal year as a condition of restoring the person's drivers license under G.S. 20-17.6.

(2) The number of substance abuse assessments conducted during the previous fiscal year for the purpose of obtaining a certificate of completion.

(3) Of the number of assessments reported under subdivision (2) of this subsection, the number recommending attendance at an ADET school, the number recommending treatment, and, for those recommending treatment, the level of treatment recommended.

(4) Of the number of persons recommended for an ADET school or treatment under subdivision (3) of this subsection, the number who completed the school or treatment.

(5) The number of substance abuse assessments conducted by each facility and, of these assessments, the number that recommended attendance at an ADET school and the number that recommended treatment.

(6) The fees paid to a facility for providing services for persons to obtain a certificate of completion and the facility's costs in providing those services.

(7) The progress on the efforts funded by the portion of each assessment fee sent to the Substance Abuse Services Section pursuant to subsection (f) of this section."

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 1006:
DWI Assessments

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Hoyle
Date:	June 1, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1006 increases the fee charged to a person undergoing substance abuse assessments from $50 to $100 and sets out how this fee will be used. Senate Bill 1006 also adds additional information that must be included in the annual report on substance abuse assessments submitted to Governmental Operations by the Department of Health and Human Services. The Bill is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: The Division of Motor Vehicles requires that certain persons have a substance abuse assessment and receive a certificate of completion before the Division will restore that person's license. This requirement applies to a person whose license was revoked as a result of a conviction of any of the following offenses:

- Driving while impaired
- Commercial DWI
- Driving while less than 21 after consuming alcohol or drugs.
- Driving a commercial vehicle with an alcohol concentration of greater than 0.00 and less than 0.04 if the person's license was revoked earlier for a second or subsequent offense of the same type.
- Driving a school bus, a school activity bus, or child care vehicle with an alcohol concentration of greater than 0.00, if the person's license was revoked earlier for the same offense.

The substance abuse assessment is conducted by one of the entities authorized by the Department of Health and Human Services. The assessment may be obtained from an area facility or a private facility. It may also me obtained from an agency located in another state if DHHS approves. The assessment consists of a standardized test to determine chemical dependency and a clinical interview with the client. Based on the assessment, the facility recommends the client attend either an alcohol and drug education traffic (ADET) school or obtain treatment. After the assessment and completion of school or treatment, the facility issues a certificate of completion and forwards the original to DHHS and then to DMV.

A fee of $50 is charged for the assessment. An additional $75 is charged by the treatment facility or school. An area facility must remit 5% of each fee paid by a person who attends the school conducted by the area facility. This money may be used only to support, evaluate, and administer ADET schools.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of Senate Bill 1006 increases the $50 fee for a substance abuse assessment to $100. The assessing agency will retain $90 of the fee to cover the costs of the standardized substance abuse assessment, the clinical interview, and costs of transferring any client to a licensed facility in or outside the State. The remaining $10 will be forwarded to the Substance Abuse Service (SAS) Section of the Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services. This remaining portion of the fee must be used by Substance Abuse Services Section to:

1. Develop a system to track offender compliance with the substance abuse assessment a education or treatment required for all persons convicted of DWI, Commercial DWI, driving while less than 21 after consuming alcohol or drugs, and
2. Establish a system by which licensed substance abuse facilities may be examined and granted the privilege to provide services to the above offenders.

Fees received by the SAS Section shall also be used to ensure that the services offered to the above offenders comply with State law.

Section 2 of the bill requires a facility, which provides services necessary to obtain a certificate of completion, to file a report with DHHS by August 15 (now October 1). This report must contain information for the preceding fiscal year needed by DHHS in order to compile its annual report to Governmental Operations. Section 2 of the bill requires that the report to Governmental Operations include the progress on the efforts funded by the portion of each assessment fee sent to the Substance Abuse Services Section.

POSITIONS: N/A

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services

EFFECTIVE DATE: When the bill becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: North Carolina statutes require an individual convicted of driving while intoxicated (DWI) to undergo a substance abuse assessment and other requirements if appropriate, prior to restoration of driving privileges (a certificate of completion must be issued by the assessing provider/agency). The statutes have set that fee at $50 for each assessment. Senate Bill 1006 amends G.S. 122C-142.1(f) to increase the substance abuse assessment fee from $50 to $100. The bill would increase the amount providers may charge by $40 per assessment. The bill also provides that $10 of every assessment fee be forwarded to the Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Abuse Services (DMH/DD/SAS) to cover the development cost of an offender compliance tracking system. Fees collected would also allow the Department to establish a system to monitor and privilege providers of assessment services.

The bill would also require the DHHS to report on its progress in complying with this section.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Data needed to provide fiscal projections are limited. Current law requires assessing providers/agencies to report on the number of assessments, fees, referrals for treatment, etc. However, providers only report on individuals who have completed the assessment process and other requirements needed to issue a certificate of completion (needed for license restoration). For example, during FY96/97 a total of 49,604 individuals were convicted of DWI and required to obtain assessments in order to have their license restored. However, only 8,734 certificates of completion were issued. The DMH/DD/SAS estimates that during 1998 approximately 41,000 individuals actually paid assessment fees in order to begin the license restoration process.

Given these caveats, the following assumptions are used:

1) Estimated number of assessments during FY99/00 is 26,250 (for 9 months);
2) The State will receive $10 per assessment (as per the bill); and
2) Assessments will increase by 5.7% each fiscal year.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: None.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE AN INCENTIVE FOR BUSINESSES TO FIND COMMERCIAL USES FOR TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPED BY CONSTITUENT INSTITUTIONS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-129.9 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.9. Credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

(a) ~~Credit.~~ General Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if it is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(a1) Technology Commercialization Credit. -- A taxpayer that is eligible for the credit allowed in this section and qualifies for one of the credits allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A may choose to take one of those credits instead of the credit allowed in this section. A taxpayer may take the credit allowed in this section or one of the credits allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A during a taxable year, but not more than one of these credits.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection."

Section 2. Article 3A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-129.9A. Technology commercialization credit.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer that is eligible for the credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.9 and qualifies for the twenty percent (20%) or fifteen percent (15%) credit under this section may choose instead of the credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.9 to take one of the credits under this section for which the taxpayer qualifies. The twenty percent (20%) credit is a credit equal to twenty percent (20%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold for the taxable year. The fifteen percent (15%) credit is a credit equal to fifteen percent (15%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold for the taxable year. Except as provided in this section, the provisions of G.S. 105-129.9 apply to the credits allowed under this section. A credit allowed under this section must be taken for the taxable year in which the machinery and equipment are placed in service. A taxpayer may take the twenty percent (20%) credit allowed under this section, the fifteen percent (15%) credit allowed under this section, or the credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9 during a taxable year, but not more than one of these credits.

(b) Twenty Percent Credit. -- A taxpayer qualifies for a twenty percent (20%) credit under this section if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The eligible machinery and equipment are directly related to production based on technology developed by and licensed from a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina, or are used to produce resources essential to the taxpayer's production based on technology developed by and licensed from a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina.

(2) The eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area.

(3) The eligible investment amount is at least ten million dollars ($10,000,000) for the taxable year.

(4) The Secretary of Commerce has certified that the taxpayer will invest at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) in eligible machinery and equipment in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area by the end of the fourth year after the year in which the taxpayer first places eligible machinery and equipment in service in the enterprise area.

(5) No more than nine years have passed since the first taxable year the taxpayer claimed a credit under this subsection or subsection (c) of this section with respect to the same location.

(c) Fifteen Percent Credit. -- A taxpayer qualifies for a fifteen percent (15%) credit under this section if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The eligible machinery and equipment are directly related to production based on technology developed by and licensed from a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina, or are used to produce resources essential to the taxpayer's production based on technology developed by and licensed from a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina.

(2) The eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area.

(3) The eligible investment amount is at least ten million dollars ($10,000,000) for the taxable year.

(4) The Secretary of Commerce has certified that the taxpayer will invest at least one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) in eligible machinery and equipment in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area by the end of the fourth year after the year in which the taxpayer first places eligible machinery and equipment in service in the enterprise area.

(5) No more than nine years have passed since the first taxable year the taxpayer claimed a credit under this subsection or subsection (c) of this section with respect to the same location."

Section 3. G.S. 105-129.4(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer forfeits the technology commercialization credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.9A if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment required by subsection (c) of that section within the required period or if the taxpayer fails to meet the terms of its licensing agreement with a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina or terminates the agreement. If a taxpayer claimed a twenty percent (20%) technology commercialization credit under G.S. 105-129.9A(b) and fails to make the level of investment required under that subsection within the required period, but does make the level of investment required under subsection (c) of that section within the required period, the taxpayer forfeits one-fourth of the twenty percent (20%) credit.

A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed."

Section 4. G.S. 105-129.5 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer may divide the technology commercialization credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A between the taxes against which it is allowed. The taxpayer must take all other credits allowed in this Article against only one of the taxes against which they are allowed. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment or with respect to the technology commercialization credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 5. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

(a) ~~Credit.~~ General Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to seven percent (7%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment is eligible if it is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and is not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that is not capitalized by the taxpayer is eligible if the taxpayer leases it from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which the equipment is placed in service.

(a1) Technology Commercialization Credit. -- If a taxpayer is eligible for the credit allowed in this section with respect to eligible machinery and equipment and qualifies for one of the credits allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A with respect to the same machinery and equipment, the taxpayer may choose to take one of those credits instead of the credit allowed in this section. A taxpayer may take the credit allowed in this section or one of the credits allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A during a taxable year with respect to eligible machinery and equipment, but may not take more than one of these credits with respect to the same machinery and equipment.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that is in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that was in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State. A taxpayer that claims a credit under this section must include with the application for certification required under G.S. 105-129.6(a) specific documentation supporting the taxpayer's calculation of the eligible investment amount under this subsection.

(c) Threshold. -- The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier of the area where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in more than one area during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service in each area. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	500,000
Tier Five	1,000,000

(d) Expiration. -- If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.5.

If, in one of the seven years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the machinery and equipment with respect to which the credit was claimed are moved to an area in a higher-numbered enterprise tier, or are moved from a development zone to an area that is not a development zone, the remaining installments of the credit are allowed only to the extent they would have been allowed if the machinery and equipment had been placed in service initially in the area to which they were moved.

(e) Planned Expansion. -- A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the two-year period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the two-year period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection."

Section 2. Article 3A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-129.9A. Technology commercialization credit.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer may qualify for a credit as provided in this section. If the taxpayer is also eligible for the credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.9 with respect to the eligible machinery and equipment, the taxpayer may choose instead of the credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.9 with respect to the machinery and equipment to take one of the credits under this section for which the taxpayer qualifies. The twenty percent (20%) credit is a credit equal to twenty percent (20%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold for the taxable year. The fifteen percent (15%) credit is a credit equal to fifteen percent (15%) of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold for the taxable year.

Except as provided in this section, the provisions of G.S. 105-129.9 apply to the credits allowed under this section. As used in this section, the term 'research university' means an institution of higher education classified as a Research I university or a Research II university in the most recent edition of 'A Classification of Institutions of Higher Education,' the official report of The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

A credit allowed under this section must be taken for the taxable year in which the machinery and equipment are placed in service. A taxpayer may take the twenty percent (20%) credit allowed under this section, the fifteen percent (15%) credit allowed under this section, or the credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9 during a taxable year with respect to eligible machinery and equipment, but may not take more than one of these credits with respect to the same machinery and equipment.

(b) Eligible Investment Amount. -- In calculating the eligible investment amount under this section, for the purpose of determining the taxpayer's machinery and equipment in service in this State during the taxable year and the three immediately preceding taxable years, the following exceptions apply:

(1) Machinery and equipment that were transferred to another taxpayer during the three-year period are considered the taxpayer's machinery and equipment if they are still in service in this State during the taxable year, and the taxpayer to whom they were transferred is not entitled to claim a new credit for the investment under this Article.

(2) Machinery and equipment that were taken out of service during the three-year period are considered the taxpayer's machinery and equipment in service if all of the following conditions are met:

a. The machinery and equipment were taken out of service by the taxpayer or by the person to whom the taxpayer transferred them.

b. The machinery and equipment were taken out of service at a site separate from any site with respect to which the taxpayer claims a credit under this section.

c. The machinery and equipment were used in a business that was not and is not competitive with any business with respect to which the taxpayer claimed a credit under this section. For the purpose of this subdivision, two businesses are not competitive if both of the following conditions are met:

1. Their products and services lack reasonable interchangeability of use by the customer, based on use but without regard to quality, price, condition, or availability.

2. Their products and services lack reasonable interchangeability of production in that the businesses could not readily switch production capabilities from one product or service to the other.

(c) Documentation. -- If the taxpayer claims the exception provided in subdivision (b)(2) of this section, the Secretary of Commerce must obtain an opinion of the Attorney General that the taxpayer meets all of the conditions of subdivision (b)(2) before the Secretary certifies the application under G.S. 105-129.6(a).

(d) Twenty Percent Credit. -- A taxpayer qualifies for a twenty percent (20%) credit under this section if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The eligible machinery and equipment are directly related to production based on technology developed by and licensed from a research university or are used to produce resources essential to the taxpayer's production based on technology developed by and licensed from a research university.

(2) The eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area.

(3) The eligible investment amount is at least ten million dollars ($10,000,000) for the taxable year.

(4) The Secretary of Commerce has certified that the taxpayer will invest at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) in eligible machinery and equipment in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area by the end of the fourth year after the year in which the taxpayer first places eligible machinery and equipment in service in the enterprise area.

(5) No more than nine years have passed since the first taxable year the taxpayer claimed a credit under this section with respect to the same location.

(e) Fifteen Percent Credit. -- A taxpayer qualifies for a fifteen percent (15%) credit under this section if it meets all of the following conditions:

(1) The eligible machinery and equipment are directly related to production based on technology developed by and licensed from a research university, or are used to produce resources essential to the taxpayer's production based on technology developed by and licensed from a research university.

(2) The eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area.

(3) The eligible investment amount is at least ten million dollars ($10,000,000) for the taxable year.

(4) The Secretary of Commerce has certified that the taxpayer will invest at least one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) in eligible machinery and equipment in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area by the end of the fourth year after the year in which the taxpayer first places eligible machinery and equipment in service in the enterprise area.

(5) No more than nine years have passed since the first taxable year the taxpayer claimed a credit under this section with respect to the same location."

Section 3. G.S. 105-129.4(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer forfeits a credit allowed under this Article if the taxpayer was not eligible for the credit at the time the taxpayer applied for the credit. In addition, a taxpayer forfeits a large investment enhancement of a tax credit if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment certified by the Secretary of Commerce under subsection (b1) of this section within the required two-year period. A taxpayer forfeits the technology commercialization credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.9A if the taxpayer fails to make the level of investment required by subsection (e) of that section within the required period or if the taxpayer fails to meet the terms of its licensing agreement with a research university. If a taxpayer claimed a twenty percent (20%) technology commercialization credit under G.S. 105-129.9A(d) and fails to make the level of investment required under that subsection within the required period, but does make the level of investment required under subsection (e) of that section within the required period, the taxpayer forfeits one-fourth of the twenty percent (20%) credit.

A taxpayer that forfeits a credit under this Article is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited; a taxpayer that fails to pay the past taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236. If a taxpayer forfeits the credit for creating jobs or the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the taxpayer also forfeits any credit for worker training claimed for the jobs for which the credit for creating jobs was claimed or the jobs at the location with respect to which the credit for investing in machinery and equipment was claimed."

"§ 105-129.5. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter and the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The credit for investing in central administrative office property provided in G.S. 105-129.12 is also allowed against the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer may divide the technology commercialization credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A between the taxes against which it is allowed. The taxpayer must take any other credit allowed in this Article against only one of the taxes against which it is allowed. The taxpayer shall elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- The credits allowed under this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which they are claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment or with respect to the technology commercialization credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

Section 5. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

SENATE BILL 1110:
Tech. Commercialization Credit

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Senator Rand
Date:	June 15, 1999	Analysis by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: Effective beginning with the 2000 tax year, this bill would provide an enhanced investment tax credit for taxpayers who make large investments in tier one, two, and three counties of machinery and equipment used in production based on technology licensed from a research university.

This bill would add a new investment tax credit to the Bill Lee Act. The credit, called the technology commercialization credit, would be an alternative to the existing 7% tax credit for investing in machinery and equipment. The technology commercialization credit applies only to investments in machinery and equipment used in production based on technology licensed from a research university. In addition, to qualify, the machinery and equipment must be located in a tier one, two, or three enterprise area. Finally, the taxpayer's investment must equal at least $10 million during the taxable year and must total at least $100 million over a five-year period. If the investment totals between $100 and $150 million over five years, the technology commercialization credit is equal to 15% of the amount invested. If the investment equals or exceeds $150 million over five years, the technology commercialization credit is equal to 20% of the amount invested. The technology commercialization credit remains available for 10 years of investments at a single location. The taxpayer's eligibility for the technology commercialization credit is based on the Secretary of Commerce's certification that the taxpayer will invest either $100 or $150 million over five years. If the taxpayer does not achieve the certified level of investment, the credit is forfeited.

The technology commercialization credit is more generous than the existing investment tax credit in several ways. The existing investment tax credit is 7% of the amount invested. The technology commercialization credit is 15% or 20% of the amount invested, depending upon the size of the investment.

The existing investment tax credit must be taken in seven annual installments beginning the year after the year the investment is placed in service. The technology commercialization credit may be taken in the year the investment is placed in service.

The existing investment tax credit applies only to the extent the new investment is not offset by the amount of machinery and equipment the taxpayer either sold or took out of service in the three-year period before the new investment was placed in service. This restriction limits the existing credit to net increases in North Carolina investment, and disallows it for investment that, in effect, is a replacement or relocation of pre-existing machinery and equipment. The technology commercialization credit is not required to be offset by machinery and equipment sold to another taxpayer if the new owner keeps the machinery and equipment in service in North Carolina. In addition, the technology commercialization credit is not required to be offset by machinery and equipment the taxpayer takes out of service if it was in service at a separate site and was used in a business that is not competitive with the technology commercialization business.

The existing investment tax credit, like all other Bill Lee Act credits, may be taken against the taxpayer's income tax or franchise tax, but not both. The technology commercialization credit may be taken against both income tax and franchise tax.

The existing investment tax credit, like all other Bill Lee Act credits, may be carried forward for five years unless the investment amount exceeds $150 million over a two-year period, in which case it may be carried forward for 20 years. The technology commercialization credit may be carried forward for 20 years.

BILL SUMMARY: Adds a new investment tax credit that would be an alternative to the targeted 7% credit under the Bill Lee Act. The credit would apply to investments in machinery and equipment that meet the following conditions:

(1) is used in production that is based on technology licensed from a research university.
(2) is located in a Tier 1, 2, or 3 county
(3) amounts to at least $10 million during the taxable year and at least $100 million over a 5-year period.

If the investment amount is $100-150 million during a 5-year period, the credit is equal to 15% of the amount invested. If the amount is at least $150 million, the credit is 20%. The credit is available for 10 years of investments at a single location. The credit is taken in the year the investment in placed in service and is not required to be offset by machinery and equipment sold to another taxpayer if the new owner keeps the machinery and equipment in service in North Carolina. In addition, the credit is not required to be offset by machinery and equipment the taxpayer takes out of service at a separate location and was used in a business that is not competitive with the technology commercialization business. The credit may be taken against the income tax, the franchise tax, or both and may be carried forward 20 years.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: A review was made of planned investment activity, state tax liability, and existing Bill Lee Act credit usage for a taxpayer planning a major project in a Tier 3 county in Southeastern North Carolina. Based on this date, the maximum SUMMARY: House Bill 283 amends the statutes governing the State Treasurer's investment authority to clarify that the Treasurer has investment authority over the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund, to allow the Treasurer to invest in time deposits of a financial institution that has a physical presence in the State, and to give the Treasurer investment authority over the Retiree Health Premium Reserve Account and the North Carolina National Guard Pension Fund. House Bill 283, in its current form, was given a favorable report by the House Ways & Means Committee.

BILL ANALYSIS:

References to the Highway Funds Although there are two highway funds, the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund, the State Treasurer's investment authority for these two Funds refers to a singular Highway Fund. House Bill 283 clarifies that the Treasurer has investment authority over the General Fund and both the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund.

Investment of Monies in the General Fund, Highway Fund, and Highway Trust Fund Currently, under G.S. 147-69.1(c)(5), the State Treasurer has the authority to invest funds from the General Fund and Highway Funds in savings certificates and certificates of deposit if they are issued by a financial institution organized under North Carolina law or having its principal office in North Carolina. House Bill 283 amends G.S. 147-69.1 (Investments authorized for General Fund and Highway Fund assets) so that the Treasurer can invest these monies in time deposits of a financial institution that merely has a physical presence in the State for the purpose of receiving commercial or retail deposits. This change in statutory language is generated by the emergence of interstate banking. The law will continue to require that any amount of these investments in excess of the amount insured by the federal government or agency of the government, be fully secured by surety bonds or fully collateralized.

Investment of Monies in the North Carolina National Guard Pension Fund and the Retiree Health Premium Reserve Account. House Bill 283 adds the North Carolina National Guard Pension Fund and the Retiree Health Premium Reserve Account to the list of special funds in G.S. 147-69.2. The statute lists the investments in which the State Treasurer may invest excess monies in these special funds. These investments include any investments authorized for the General Fund or Highway Funds; obligations of other states; obligations of North Carolina cities, counties and special districts; obligations of legal entities if the obligations bear one of the three highest ratings; notes secured by FHA mortgages or guaranteed by the VA; asset-backed securities; and common or preferred stock meeting certain requirements.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill amends the statutes to clarify the State Treasurer's investment authority in the Highway Fund, Highway Trust Fund, the Retiree Health Premium Reserve Account, and the NC National Guard Pension Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
This bill conforms the statutory investment authority of the State Treasurer to the fiduciary role of the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer has invested the Retiree Health Premium Reserve Account in a long term fixed income portfolio and has managed the assets of the North Carolina National Guard Pension Fund the same as other pension funds. The State Auditor cited both actions in 1998 as being out of compliance with the North Carolina General Statutes. Both investment strategies have resulted in the highest possible gains for the two funds. This bill will authorize the State Treasurer to continue to do what he has been doing. As for the Highway Trust Fund, this bill also conforms the statutes to the investment practice of the State Treasurer.

HOUSE BILL 237:
Boat Agent Fees/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: June 14, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Representative Gulley
Summary by: Martha K. Walston
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 237 amends the Boating Safety Act to increase the commission that authorized agents of the Wildlife Resources Commission may receive for handling various vessel transactions, assesses a penalty against agents who are late in remitting fees from vessel transactions, and makes other changes to the State boating laws to conform to changes in the U.S. Coast Guard regulations. House Bill 237 was given a favorable report in House Finance and Senate Agriculture.

CURRENT LAW: The Wildlife Resources Commission is charged with administering the Boating Safety Act under Chapter 75A of the General Statutes. As a part of those duties, the Commission issues identification numbers to most vessels on the waters of the State, renews vessel registrations, and handles transfers of ownerships. The following vessels are exempt from the numbering requirements: (1) vessels required to be numbered under federal law or a federally approved numbering system of another state, (2) a foreign vessel temporarily using the State's waters, (3) a vessel owned by the U.S., a state or a subdivision of a state, (4) a ship's lifeboat, (5) a vessel having a valid marine document issued by the U.S. Bureau of Customs, (6) a sailboat of not more than 14 feet on the load water line, and (7) a vessel with no means of propulsion other than drifting or manual paddling, poling, or rowing.

G.S. 75A-5 provides that the Wildlife Resources Commission may authorize persons to act on behalf of the Commission in handling these vessel transactions and issuing various documents and decals. As compensation for services, agents retain 50 cents per transaction.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 237 increases the amount of compensation that authorized agents of the Commission may receive according to the following schedule:

Vessel Transaction	Proposed Commission
Renewal of vessel registration	$1.25
Transfer of ownership and registration of a vessel	$3.00
Issuance of new certificate of vessel number and registration	$3.00
Issuance of duplicate vessel registration	$0.50
Issuance, transfer, duplication, or lien recordation of vessel title	$3.00

Section 2 of the bill rewrites the Commission's authority to establish administrative guidelines regarding agent qualifications, duties, methods to insure accountability, and security. The amendments also provide for a penalty of 25% of the issuing fee on all remittances made to the Commission after the 15th of the month following the month of the sale by the agent.

Section 3 of the bill increases the threshold for reporting a vessel accident from in excess of $100 to in excess of $500. This amendment is consistent with the changes in the Coast Guard regulations.

Section 4 of the bill repeals the requirement that a person file an application with the Commission for permission to hold regattas, boat races, exhibitions, and marine parades on waters of the State. This change is also made to align the State laws with Coast Guard regulations.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill increases the fee paid to agents of the Wildlife Resources Commission to title and register boats. The bill raises the reporting requirement for accidents involving boats from $100 in damages to $500 in damages. The bill also repeals the law requiring permits for regattas, races, marine parades, tournaments or exhibitions.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY
Four hundred small businesses across the state serve as vessel registration agents for the Wildlife Resources Commission. These agents are paid 50 cents per transaction; a rate unchanged since 1979 (Chapter 761, 1979 S.L.). With the recent installation of the computerized Customer Support System, vessel registration agents are required to do the data entry of boat title and registration information in the field. The Wildlife Resources Commission requested this bill to better compensate the vessel registration agents for their increased workload. The amended fees will decrease Wildlife Resources Commission receipts by $195,000 each year. (see chart on page 2) However, the Commission calculated that the cost of doing these transaction "in-house" would require 9.4 positions at a cost of $340,768. The total cost of agent transactions at the new rates is only $249,087.

HOUSE BILL 830
Committee Substitute Favorable 5/17/99

Short Title: Transylvania Room Tax Penalties. (Local)

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE PENALTIES FOR THE TRANSYLVANIA COUNTY ROOM OCCUPANCY TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 969 of the 1985 Session Laws, as it applies to Transylvania County, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Transylvania Occupancy Tax. (a) Authorization and Scope. The board of commissioners of ~~a county~~ Transylvania County may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or similar accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, or similar place within the county that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations.

(b) Administration. A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 153A-155. The penalties provided in G.S. 153A-155 apply to a tax levied under this section. ~~Collection. Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied under this act shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the county. The tax shall be added to~~

~~the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The county shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the county the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax.~~

~~(c) Administration. The county shall administer a tax levied under this act. A tax levied under this act is due and payable to the county finance officer in monthly installments on or before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the county. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied.~~

~~A return filed with the county finance officer under this act is not a public record as defined by G.S. 132-1 and may not be disclosed except as required by law.~~

~~(d) Penalties. A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return required by this act shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day's omission. In case of failure or refusal to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after the time required for filing the return or for paying the tax, there shall be an additional tax, as a penalty, of five percent (5%) of the tax due for each additional month or fraction thereof until the tax is paid.~~

~~Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade a tax imposed under this act or who willfully fails to pay the tax or make and file a return shall, in addition to all other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both. The board of commissioners may, for good cause shown, compromise or forgive the penalties imposed by this subsection.~~

(e) Use of Tax Revenue. ~~Except as provided in Section 2 of this act for Durham County, a taxing county~~ Transylvania County shall place revenue collected from a tax levied under this act in a special Travel and Tourism Fund. Revenue in this Fund may be used only to promote travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures in ~~the county.~~ Transylvania County.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Promote travel and tourism. -- To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in these activities.

(2) Tourism-related expenditures. -- Expenditures that, in the judgment of the governing authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, and convention facilities in a county by attracting tourists or business travelers to the county. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

~~(f) Effective Date of Levy. A tax levied under this act shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of~~

~~a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.~~

~~(g) Repeal. A tax levied under this act may be repealed by a resolution adopted by the board of commissioners of the county. Repeal of a tax levied under this act shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted. Repeal of a tax levied under this act does not affect a liability for a tax that attached before the effective date of the repeal, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal.~~"

Section 2. County Administrative Provisions. Section 3(b) of S.L. 1997-102, as amended by Section 2 of S.L. 1997-255, Section 2 of S.L. 1997-342, Section 3 of S.L. 1997-364, Section 6 of S.L. 1997-410, and Section 2 of S.L. 1998-14, reads as rewritten:

HOUSE BILL 830:
Transylvania Room Tax Penalties

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: June 14, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Representative Walend
Summary by: Martha K. Walston and Cindy Avrette, Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 830 modifies the current Transylvania occupancy tax law to conform with the uniform occupancy tax penalty provisions and other administrative provisions, and sets forth the definitions for the terms "promote travel and tourism" and "tourism-related expenditures". The current version of House Bill 830 was given a favorable report in House Finance.

HOUSE BILL 830: Under the current Transylvania occupancy tax law, the penalty for failure to file a return is $10 for each day's omission. In case of failure to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after it is due, the penalty is 5% of the tax due. House Bill 830 provides that the uniform penalties will apply. The uniform occupancy tax penalties in G.S. 153A-155 are the same as the penalties for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The uniform penalty for failure to file a return is 5% of the amount of tax due, not to exceed 25% or $5, whichever is greater. The uniform penalty for failure to pay the tax due is 10% of the tax due or $5, whichever is greater.

House Bill 830 also conforms the current session law governing Transylvania County occupancy taxes to the uniform occupancy tax provisions. Therefore, the levy, administration, collection, and repeal of the occupancy taxes must be done in accordance with G.S. 160A-215.

The General Assembly authorized a 3% room occupancy tax for Transylvania County in 1985. All of the revenue generated from the tax is used to promote travel and tourism. The County has a tourism development authority that the county created by local ordinance in 1986 to expend the proceeds of the occupancy tax. Although the TDA was not established by an act of the General Assembly, its membership and function are based upon those created by the General Assembly in other occupancy tax acts.

BACKGROUND: Since 1983, the General Assembly has authorized many units of local government to levy a room occupancy tax. In several instances, the General Assembly has authorized both a county and a city within that county to impose an occupancy tax. The rate of tax, the use of the tax proceeds, the administration of the tax, and the body with the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be spent vary considerably. Over the past several years, there has been a greater effort to make the occupancy taxes uniform. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted uniform municipal and county administrative provisions for occupancy tax legislation – G.S. 153A-155 and G.S. 160A-215. These provisions provide uniformity in the areas of levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties.

The North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition has a policy statement for legislation authorizing local occupancy taxes. These principals include:

- Rate – The county tax rate cannot exceed 6% and the city tax rate, when combined with the county rate, cannot exceed 6%.

- Use – Two-thirds of the proceeds must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism related purposes.
- Definitions – The term "net revenues", "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures" are defined terms.
- Administration – The net revenues must be administered by a local tourism promotion agency that has the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be used, is created by a local ordinance, and at least ¾ of the members must be currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the taxing district and 1/3 of the members must be affiliated with organizations that collect the tax.
- Costs of Collection – The taxing authority may retain from the revenues its actual costs of collection, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 collected each year plus 1% of the remainder collected each year.

SENATE BILL 941:
Manufactured Homes Law Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Senator Warren
Date:	June 8, 1999	Summary by:	Linwood Jones and Martha K. Walston, Staff Attorneys
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 941 makes several changes to the laws governing manufactured housing. The bill is before Senate Finance because it authorizes the North Carolina Manufactured Housing Board to establish continuing education requirements for licensees and to charge fees for the courses. Senate Bill 941 was reported favorably by Senate Commerce on April 27, 1999. The committee substitute differs from the original bill in that it rewrites G.S. 143-147 to state that the legal status of any structure built before the effective date of the National Manufactured Housing Construction and Safety Standards Act of 1974 is not affected by any changes made by the General Assembly to the Uniform Standards Code for Manufactured Homes. The committee substitute also requires the Board to keep 15% of its unexpended funds and to credit the remainder to the General Fund, exempts a manufactured home manufacturer or manufacturer from the continuing education requirements, and extends the effective date for the new language in the purchase agreements to January 1, 2000.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 makes the following amendments to the law regulating manufactured housing licensees. (A manufactured home The manufacturer, dealer, salesman and set-up contractor are required to be licensed by the North Carolina Manufactured Housing Board.)

143-143.8. References to "mobile homes" are changed to "manufactured homes".

143-143.9. Definitions are added for "license" and "licensee". "Setup" is redefined to eliminate a portion of the definition that defines what "setup" operations include and exclude.

143-143.10. A provision is added that "of the unexpended funds remaining at the end of the fiscal year, an amount equal to 15% of the Board's authorized budget for that fiscal year shall be retained in the fund and any excess shall be credited to the General Fund."

143-143.11. The provision, allowing a licensee whose license has lapsed to renew within one year by payment of the renewal fee with proof that he or she has not engaged in the manufactured housing business since the lapse and is otherwise eligible for registration, is amended to provide that the applicant must pay the renewal fee. The current fee for a license may not exceed $300.00

143-143.11A. This new section requires an applicant to inform the Board of a change of address within 10 days, and allows the Board to serve notice on a licensee personally or by first-class mail at the address provided by the licensee. Notice is deemed delivered four days after mailing.

143-143.11B. This new section allows the Board to require up to 8 hours of continuing education for licensees and charge course application fees not to exceed $150.00. The Board may charge the sponsor of an approved course a fee not to exceed $75.00 for the annual renewal of course approval. A course sponsor may also be required to pay a fee, not to exceed $5.00 per credit hour per licensee, for each licensee completing a course conducted by the sponsor. The Board may charge a licensee a fee not to exceed $50.00 for each course that has not been approved by the Board or for related educational activity that the licensee submits for credit. Failure to complete the continuing education requirements results in a lapse of the license. A manufactured home manufacturer or manufacturer is exempt from the requirements of the continuing education section.

143-143.13. This section is amended to allow the Board to revoke, suspend, or deny a license for failure to appear for a prehearing conference with the Board after proper notice. Failure to appear for the hearing after proper notice is already grounds for discipline.

143-143.14. This section adds language that if the Board finds an applicant has not met the requirements for licensure, the Board shall not issue a license and shall notify the applicant of the denial and the grounds for it. This section also allows the Board to adopt rules for hearings and prehearing conferences, including provisions on discovery, motions, sanctions, continuances, etc.

143-143.15. "Anchoring down" a manufactured home is changed to "setting up" the manufactured home.

143-143.17. This section eliminates the requirement that the Board forward to the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Insurance a copy of each warranty service complaint filed by consumers. (Note: The Board is housed within and staffed by the Department of Insurance.)

143-143.21A. This section provides that the following must be included in a manufactured home purchase agreement in addition to the information already required by law: amount of any payment made by the buyer towards purchase of the home or accessories (current law refers only to amount of the "deposit") and the buyer's and dealer's signatures. (Current law already requires the buyer's signature). This section also rewrites the required disclosure statement concerning buyer cancellation and refund rights.

Section 2 makes the following changes to the laws governing the standards code for manufactured home construction 143-145. Several definitions are deleted and several are added.

143-146. Several provisions authorizing the adoption of rules are deleted. The existing authority of the Commissioner to adopt rules to carry out this law is retained.

143-147. This section, relating to licenses to individuals or inspection departments to issue labels of HUD compliance to manufactured homes, is repealed. A grandfather provision is added. (The legal status of any structure built before the effective date of the National Manufactured Housing Construction and Safety Standards Act of 1974 is not affected by any changes made in the Article 9B, Uniform Standards Code for Manufactured Homes, by the General Assembly.

143-149. This section makes stylistic changes and moves the exemption date for the sale of manufactured homes without a HUD label of compliance from homes manufactured prior to September 1, 1971 to those manufactured prior to June 15, 1976.

143-151. This section adds language requiring the Commissioner, in assessing a civil penalty for a violation of these laws, to look at certain factors (such as the extent of harm caused and whether the violation was willful) in determining the amount of the penalty. The current law imposes a penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each violation. The maximum penalty may not exceed $1 million for any related series of violations occurring within one year after the date of the first violation. Any person who willfully violates the Act, the Article, or any rule that threatens the health or safety of a purchaser is guilty of a Class I felony (was Class 1 misdemeanor).

143-151.2. This section provides that the Commissioner shall (now "may") establish a monitoring inspection fee in the amount required by HUD. This fee is paid by each manufactured home manufacturer in this State for each manufactured home produced by the manufacturer in the State. This section also repeals language that purports to direct HUD on how to distribute the fee revenue.

Section 3 repeals Article 9D of Chapter 143. Article 9D is entitled "Enforcement of Building Code Insulation and Energy Standards".

Section 4 amends one of the general hearing laws of the Department of Insurance to include Article 9B of Chapter 143. This provision relates to the Commissioner designating staff members as hearing officers in contested cases and referring cases to OAH for a hearing.

Section 5 provides that structures built before the effective date of this bill are not affected by the bill's provisions.

Section 6 provides that the statute amending the language in the purchase agreements (G.S. 143-143.21A) will become effective January 1, 2000. This will give sellers time to have new agreements printed. The remainder of the act is effective when it becomes law.

EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Manufactured Housing Board, the Department of Insurance, and Corrections.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation makes several changes to the laws governing manufactured housing. First, it provides several updated definitions including manufactured home, license, licensee, and set up. Second, it allows the North Carolina Manufactured Housing Board to retain 15% of their unexpended funds at the end of the fiscal year. Currently all of their remaining funds revert to the general fund. Third, it provides that a licensee can renew a lapsed license within one year by paying the renewal fee and proving that they have not engaged in the industry during that time. Forth, it requires an applicant to inform the Board of a change of address in ten days, and offers other provisions for postal difficulties. Fifth, it authorizes the Board to require up to eight hours of continuing education, with fees not to exceed $150.00. The continuing education requirements do not apply to manufacturers. The Board may charge the sponsor of an approved course up to $75.00 for a course approval renewal. Sponsors may also be required to charge a fee of up to $5.00 per credit hour, per licensee. The Board can also charge a licensee fee not to exceed $50.00 for each unapproved course or related educational activity submitted for credit. Next the bill authorizes the Board to adopt rules for hearings and prehearing conferences. It adds a requirement that purchase agreements must include buyer and dealer signatures, and makes other changes to the purchasing agreement. The bill also several changes to the penalty and violation provisions. This includes increasing the penalty for a willing violation of the Act that threatens the health or safety of a purchaser from a Class 1 misdemeanor to a Class 1 felony.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: There are three items in the bill that could have a fiscal impact. First the bill provides that 15% of board's unexpended funds do not revert to the General Fund. In the past, all remaining fund balances have returned to the General Fund. Therefore, there is a potential General Fund loss. According to the Department of Insurance, that unit has both federal funds that are non-reverting and state funds that revert to the General Fund. As a result, the Department "spends down" the state money first. Therefore, they are unlikely to revert a large sum to the General Fund. In 1997-98 the Manufactured House Licensing Board collected $596,825 in licensing fees. The Department of Insurance, who administers the program, does not expect any significant changes in this revenue stream. However, neither Fiscal Research nor the Department of Insurance has information, at this time, on reversion amounts.

The second potential fiscal impact relates to the continuing education requirements. As noted previously, the bill authorizes the Board to require continuing education. (This provision does not apply to manufacturers). It also sets the maximum fees associated with that training. The Department of Insurance reports collecting for 7,251 licenses in 1997-98. The vast majority of these (4,566) were for salesman. The next largest group of licensees is dealers. At this point there is no estimate on the number of courses that will be offered, or the number of credit hours the Board will actually require. If the Board charged the $5.00 fee on each hour, and required eight hours of training, the Board would see approximately $290,040 of new revenue. This does not include revenue from charges to trainers. Because more detailed information is not yet available, no accurate fiscal estimate is possible.

Finally, the bill could impact the prison population. Under current law it is a Class 1 misdemeanor to violate the Manufactured Housing Act in a manner that threatens the health or safety of a purchaser. The legislation moves such a violation to a Class 1 felony. According to the Administrative Office of the Courts, "Data from the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) did not reveal the number of charges brought under this provision of the current law. Although the penalty enhancement is significant, AOC does not expect a substantial fiscal impact on the courts from this bill. They assume that the vast majority of the businesses being regulated will comply with the requirements of the law."

BILL ANALYSIS

Date:	June 22, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Third Edition		Committee Counsel

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 419 is a local act affecting the City of Mount Airy. The bill does two things:

1. It exempts Mount Airy from the voluntary satellite annexation requirement that the area proposed for annexation, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed 10% of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. The following requirements for voluntary satellite annexation would still apply:
    - The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than 3 miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
    - No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
    - The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.
    - If the area proposed for annexation is a subdivision, all of the subdivision must be included.
2. It removes certain property from the corporate limits of the City. This property is described in the bill.

The act is effective when it becomes law

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Medical Board, North Carolina Board of Pharmacy

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 2 through 5 of this act become effective July 1, 2000. The remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the North Carolina Medical Board and the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy to adopt rules to approve clinical pharmacist practitioners to practice drug therapy management pursuant to a drug therapy management agreement.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Based on the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy Census of Registrants, there are 6,405 active licensed pharmacists in North Carolina. The pharmacists are employed as follows:

Retail pharmacy	3,504
Hospital pharmacy	1,407
Sales and research	149
Nursing home pharmacy	134
Other	1,191

Dan Garrett, Executive Director of the North Carolina Association of Pharmacists, estimates 25% of hospital pharmacists and 5% of other pharmacists will apply for approval as clinical pharmacist practitioners the first year it is offered. That would equal 352 hospital pharmacists and 250 other pharmacists paying $100 in FY 2000-01. Over a five-year period, Mr. Garrett expects 50% of hospital pharmacists and 10% of other pharmacists to apply for approval with the North Carolina Medical Board. On an annualized basis that would mean approximately 88 hospital pharmacists and 62 other pharmacists will apply in years FY 2001-02 through FY 2004-05. The fees from the application and renewal are shown below.

	Application	Fee $100	Renewal	Fee $50	Total

HOUSE BILL 1095:
Clinical Pharmacist Practitioner

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen
Date:	June 21, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Fourth Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1095 would permit licensed pharmacists to be approved as clinical pharmacist practitioners in accordance with rules adopted by both the NC Medical Board and the Board of Pharmacy. Clinical pharmacist practitioners would be allowed to enter into drug therapy management agreements with a supervising physician to perform certain medical tasks. A pharmacist who uses the title "clinical pharmacist practitioner" or holds oneself out to be a clinical pharmacist practitioner without Board approval would be in violation of the Medical Practices Act. The part of the bill authorizing the Boards to develop rules becomes effective immediately. The parts of the bill governing clinical pharmacist practitioners become effective July 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law (G.S. 90-85.3(r)) a licensed pharmacist's scope of practice is limited to: "interpreting and evaluating drug orders, including prescription orders; compounding, dispensing, and labeling prescription drugs and devices; properly and safely storing drugs and devices; maintaining proper records; and controlling pharmacy goods and services". A pharmacist may also advise and educate patients and health care providers concerning drugs and devices. A pharmacist who has received special training may be authorized and permitted to administer drugs pursuant to a specific prescription order. While 90-18(c) provides that the practice of pharmacy does not constitute practicing medicine without a license, anything outside the pharmacist's scope of practice as defined above would constitute practicing medicine without a license.

BACKGROUND & OVERVIEW OF BILL: Currently, twenty-four states have either laws or rules governing "collaborative drug therapy management" (CDTM). CDTMs are voluntary written agreements between a specific physician and pharmacist that outline a plan for drug therapy management. (Source: NC Pharmaceutical Association). These collaborative drug therapy management agreements may include, for example, asthma management, diabetic management, diuretic therapy, and management of hypertension.

If enacted, House Bill 1095 would allow a clinical pharmacist practitioner to perform certain limited medical tasks that currently fall within a physician's scope of practice. These tasks would include the implementation of a predetermined drug therapy, modification of prescribed drug dosages, and ordering medical tests. These tasks would only be performed pursuant to a written agreement that is physician, patient, pharmacist, and disease specific.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would allow pharmacists to provide drug therapy management pursuant to a written agreement. It does so by addressing the issue in three different statutes in three slightly different ways:

1. It authorizes the NC Medical Board and the NC Board of Pharmacy to develop rules to govern the performance of medical acts by clinical pharmacist practitioners. It implies that a pharmacist will need to be approved by the Board to be a clinical pharmacist practitioner because it sets the maximum fee amounts the Board may charge for application for approval and renewal of approval. Secti[redacted] and 6 of the bill.

2. It provides an exception to the Medical Practices Act for a licensed pharmacist to provide drug therapy management pursuant to an agreement that is physician, pharmacist, patient, and disease specific when performed in accordance with rules developed by the NC Medical Board and the NC Board of Pharmacy. It then goes on to define "drug therapy management". Section 2 of the bill.
3. It makes it a violation of the Medical Practices Act for a pharmacist to use the title "clinical pharmacist practitioner" or for a pharmacist to hold oneself out to be a clinical pharmacist practitioner unless the pharmacist is approved as a clinical pharmacist practitioner. Section 3 of the bill.

Section 3 of the bill appears to give authorization to two different groups of potential clinical pharmacist practitioners. Subsection (b) addresses clinical pharmacist practitioners. Subsection (c) addresses clinical pharmacist practitioners that work in hospitals. As written in the bill, each group is given authority to do similar, but slightly different things, and the conditions under which each group can provide drug therapy management is slightly different.

Subsection (b) of G.S. 90-18.3, as proposed in Section 3 of the Bill, provides that clinical pharmacist practitioners may implement predetermined drug therapy, modify prescribed drug dosages, dosage forms, and dosage schedules, and order laboratory tests (the provisions for practitioners who work in a hospital refers to "medications and tests") under the following conditions:

- The NC Medical Board and the NC Board of Pharmacy have adopted rules governing the approval of individual clinical pharmacist practitioners to practice drug therapy management. "Drug therapy management" is defined in G.S. 90-18, but it is not defined in this statute. (The provisions relating [redacted] practitioners who work in hospitals use the phrase "order medications and tests".)
- The clinical pharmacist practitioner has approval from both boards. This statement is unclear. The bill provides that the NC Medical Board has responsibility for ensuring compliance with the rules. However, this provision appears to suggest that a pharmacist who wishes to be approved as a clinical pharmacist practitioner must be approved by the Medical Board and the Pharmacy Board.
- The NC Medical Board has assigned an identification number to the practitioner that is shown on written prescriptions written by the clinical pharmacist practitioner. (The provisions relating to practitioners who work in hospitals do not include this provision.)
- The drug therapy management agreement prohibits the substitution of a chemically dissimilar drug product by the pharmacist without the explicit consent of the physician. The physician must periodically review the drugs modified or changed. The provision does not address review by the physician of laboratory tests ordered. (The provisions relating to practitioners who work in hospitals do not include a provision explicitly prohibiting the substitution of chemically dissimilar drugs.)

Subsection (c) of G.S. 20-18.3, as proposed in Section 3 of the bill, provides that clinical pharmacist practitioners that work in a hospital or similar type of facility may order medications and tests (the provisions for other clinical pharmacist practitioners use the phrase "implement predetermined drug therapy, modify prescribed drug dosages, dosage forms, and dosage schedules, and order laboratory tests") under the following circumstances:

- The NC Medical Board and the NC Board of Pharmacy have adopted rules governing the approval of individual clinical pharmacist practitioners to order medications and test. (The provisions relating [redacted] clinical pharmacist practitioners use the phrase "to practice drug therapy management".)

- The clinical pharmacist practitioner has approval from both boards.
- The physician has provided to the clinical pharmacist practitioner written instructions for ordering, changing, or substituting drugs, or ordering tests and the physician reviews the orders within a reasonable time.
- The hospital or similar health facility has a written policy approved by the medical staff governing clinical pharmacist practitioners.
- Any drug therapy order or order for medications or test written by a clinical pharmacist practitioner is deemed to be authorized by the physician. (The provisions that appear to govern clinical pharmacist practitioners who work outside a hospital or similar type of health facility do not provide that drug therapy orders, orders for modification of drugs, or orders for tests written by a clinical pharmacist practitioner are deemed to have been authorized by the physician.

Sections 4 and 5 of the bill make conforming changes to the Pharmacy Practice Act.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ENACT THE UNIFORM TRANSFER ON DEATH (TOD) SECURITY REGISTRATION ACT AS RECOMMENDED BY THE GENERAL STATUTES COMMISSION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. The General Statutes are amended by rewriting the title of Chapter 41 to read "Estates and Interests in Property", and Chapter 41 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 4.

"The Uniform Transfer on Death (TOD) Security Registration Act.

"§ 41-40. Definitions.

In this Article, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) 'Beneficiary form' means a registration of a security which indicates the present owner of the security and the intention of the owner regarding the person who will become the owner of the security upon the death of the owner.

(2) 'Devisee' means any person designated in a will to receive a disposition of real or personal property.

(3) 'Heirs' means those persons, including the surviving spouse, who are entitled under Chapter 29 of the General Statutes or the statutes of intestate succession of other states to take the property of a decedent by intestate succession.

(4) 'Person' means an individual, a corporation, an organization, or other legal entity.

(5) 'Personal representative' includes executor, administrator, collector, successor personal representative, special administrator, and persons who perform substantially the same function under the law governing their status.

(6) 'Property' includes both real and personal property or any interest in real or personal property and means anything that may be the subject of ownership.

(7) 'Register', including its derivatives, means to issue a certificate showing the ownership of a certificated security or, in the case of an uncertificated security, to initiate or transfer an account showing ownership of securities.

(8) 'Registering entity' means a person who originates or transfers a security title by registration and includes a broker maintaining security accounts for customers and a transfer agent or other person acting for or as an issuer of securities.

(9) 'Security' means a share, participation, or other interest in property, in a business, or in an obligation of an enterprise or other issuer, and includes a certificated security, an uncertificated security, a security account, and a security entitlement as defined in G.S. 25-8-102.

(10) 'Security account' means (i) a reinvestment account associated with a security, a securities account with a broker, a cash balance in a brokerage account, cash, interest, earnings, or dividends earned or declared on a security in an account, a reinvestment account, or a brokerage account, whether or not credited to the account before the owner's death, or (ii) a cash balance or other property held for or due to the owner of a security as a replacement for or product of an account security, whether or not credited to the account before the owner's death.

(11) 'State' includes any state of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and any territory or possession subject to the legislative authority of the United States.

"§ 41-41. Registration in beneficiary form; sole or joint tenancy ownership.

Only individuals whose registration of a security shows sole ownership by one individual or multiple ownership by two or more individuals with right of survivorship, rather than as tenants in common, may obtain registration in beneficiary form. Multiple owners of a security registered in beneficiary form hold as joint tenants with right of survivorship, as tenants by the entireties, or as owners of community property held in survivorship form, and not as tenants in common.

"§ 41-42. Registration in beneficiary form; applicable law.

A security may be registered in beneficiary form if the form is authorized by this or a similar statute of the state of organization of the issuer or registering entity, the location of the registering entity's principal office, the office of its transfer agent or its office making the registration, or by this or a similar statute of the law of the state listed as the owner's address at the time of registration. A registration governed by the law of a jurisdiction in which this or similar legislation is not in force or was not in force when a registration in beneficiary form was made is nevertheless presumed to be valid and authorized as a matter of contract law.

"§ 41-43. Origination of registration in beneficiary form.

A security, whether evidenced by certificate or account, is registered in beneficiary form when the registration includes a designation of a beneficiary to take the ownership at the death of the owner or the deaths of all multiple owners.

"§ 41-44. Form of registration in beneficiary form.

Registration in beneficiary form may be shown by the words 'transfer on death' or the abbreviation 'TOD', or by the words 'pay on death' or the abbreviation 'POD', after the name of the registered owner or owners and before the name of a beneficiary.

"§ 41-45. Effect of registration in beneficiary form.

The designation of a TOD beneficiary on a registration in beneficiary form has no effect on ownership of the security until the owner's death. A registration of a security in beneficiary form may be cancelled or changed at any time by the sole owner or all then-surviving owners, without the consent of the beneficiary.

"§ 41-46. Ownership on death of owner.

On death of a sole owner or the last to die of all multiple owners, ownership of securities registered in beneficiary form passes to the beneficiary or beneficiaries who survive all owners. On proof of death of all owners and compliance with any applicable requirements of the registering entity, a security registered in beneficiary form may be reregistered in the name of the beneficiary or beneficiaries who survive the death of all owners. Until division of the security after the death of all owners, multiple beneficiaries surviving the death of all owners hold their interests as tenants in common. If no beneficiary survives the death of all owners, the security belongs to the estate of the deceased sole owner or the estate of the last to die of all multiple owners.

"§ 41-47. Protection of registering entity.

(a) A registering entity is not required to offer or to accept a request for security registration in beneficiary form. If a registration in beneficiary form is offered by a registering entity, the owner requesting registration in beneficiary form assents to the protections given to the registering entity by this Article.

(b) By accepting a request for registration of a security in beneficiary form, the registering entity agrees that the registration will be implemented on death of the deceased owner as provided in this Article.

(c) A registering entity is discharged from all claims to a security by the estate, creditors, heirs, or devisees of a deceased owner if it registers a transfer of a security in accordance with G.S. 41-46 and does so in good faith reliance (i) on the registration, (ii) on this Article, and (iii) on information provided to it by affidavit of the personal representative of the deceased owner, or by the surviving beneficiary or by the surviving beneficiary's representatives, or other information available to the registering entity. The protections of this Article do not extend to a reregistration or payment made after a registering entity has received written notice from any claimant to any interest in the security objecting to implementation of a registration in beneficiary form. No other notice or other information available to the registering entity affects its right to protection under this Article.

(d) The protection provided by this Article to the registering entity of a security does not affect the rights of beneficiaries in disputes between themselves and other claimants to ownership of the security transferred or its value or proceeds.

"§ 41-48. Nontestamentary transfer on death.

(a) A transfer on death resulting from a registration in beneficiary form is effective by reason of the contract regarding the registration between the owner and the registering entity and this Article and is not testamentary.

(b) The interest of a deceased owner when there are one or more surviving owners, remains liable for the debts of the decedent in the same manner as the personal property included in the decedent's estate, and recovery of that interest shall be made from the surviving owner or owners when the decedent's estate is insufficient to satisfy the debts. The interest of a deceased sole owner, or the last to die of several owners, remains liable for the debts of the decedent in the same manner as the personal property included in the decedent's estate, and recovery of that interest shall be made from the TOD beneficiary when the decedent's estate is insufficient to satisfy the debts.

(c) This Article does not repeal or modify any provision of law relating to estate or inheritance taxes.

"§ 41-49. Terms, conditions, and forms for registration.

(a) A registering entity offering to accept registrations in beneficiary form may establish the terms and conditions under which it will receive requests (i) for registrations in beneficiary form, and (ii) for implementation of registrations in beneficiary form, including requests for cancellation of previously registered TOD beneficiary designations and requests for reregistration to effect a change of beneficiary. The terms and conditions established may provide for proving death, avoiding or resolving any problems concerning fractional shares, and designating primary and contingent beneficiaries. Forms of identifying beneficiaries who are to take on one or more contingencies, and rules for providing proofs and assurances needed to satisfy reasonable concerns by registering entities regarding conditions and identities relevant to accurate implementation of registrations in beneficiary form, may be contained in a registering entity's terms and conditions.

(b) The following are illustrations of registrations in beneficiary form which a registering entity may authorize:

(1) Sole owner-sole beneficiary: 'John S. Brown TOD (or POD) John S. Brown, Jr.'

(2) Multiple owners-sole beneficiary: 'John S. Brown, Mary B. Brown JT TEN TOD John S. Brown, Jr.'

(3) Multiple owners-primary and secondary (substituted) beneficiaries: 'John S. Brown, Mary B. Brown JT TEN TOD John S. Brown, Jr. SUB BENE Peter Q. Brown'.

"§ 41-50. Short title; rules of construction.

(a) This Article shall be known as and may be cited as the 'Uniform TOD Security Registration Act'.

(b) This Article shall be applied and construed to effectuate its general purposes and to make uniform the laws with respect to the subject of this Article among states enacting it.

(c) This Article does not repeal G.S. 41-2.2.

"§ 41-51. Application of Article.

This Article applies to registrations of securities in beneficiary form made before, on, or after the effective date of this Article, by decedents dying on or after the effective date of this Article."

Section 2. G.S. 28A-15-10(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) When needed to satisfy claims against a decedent's estate, assets may be acquired by a personal representative or collector from the following sources:

(4) An interest in a security passing to a beneficiary pursuant to the provisions of Article 4 of Chapter 41 of the General Statutes.

Such assets shall be acquired solely for the purpose of satisfying such claims, however, and shall not be available for distribution to heirs or devisees."

Section 3. The Revisor of Statutes shall cause to be printed along with this act all relevant portions of the Official Commentary to the Uniform TOD Security Registration Act and all explanatory comments of the drafters of this act as the Revisor may deem appropriate.

Section 4. This act becomes effective October 1, 1999.

SUMMARY: House Bill 112 would amend Chapter 41 – Estates, to allow owners of securities to register their title in transfer-on-death (TOD) form. This would allow the transfer of securities, including stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and security accounts, to a beneficiary upon death based on a prior beneficiary designation by registration. The bill would rename the title of Chapter 41 as – Estate and Interests in Property. The bill would exempt the transfer of these securities from probate fees, but the securities would still be subject to estate tax and to creditors of the estate. The current version of House Bill 112 was given a favorable report in House Judiciary II and Senate Commerce. The bill is a recommendation of the General Statutes Commission and is modeled after the Uniform Transfer on Death (TOD) Securities Registration Act. The Uniform Act has been adopted in at least 44 other states.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of the bill would allow the owner of securities to designate a beneficiary of the securities to be received upon the death of the owner. The owner must be the sole owner of the securities or may be multiple owners if the ownership is with right of survivorship. The owner may revoke or modify this designation at any time up until death. Also this designation does not convey any right or interest in the beneficiary until the time of death. Title to the securities would be transferred as a matter of contract (like life insurance policies or individual retirement accounts), not as a testamentary bequest, and would therefore not be part of the probate estate. On the death of the sole owner or the last to die of all multiple owners, ownership of the securities registered in beneficiary form passes to the beneficiary or beneficiaries who survive the owners.

Reduction in probate fees. -- Because the transfer of these securities would not be part of the probate estate, there would be a reduction in the collection of probate fees by the clerks of court. Probate fees are collected on all personal property that passes through the probate estate. G.S. 7A-307 of the General Statutes imposes the following probate fees for administering an estate: the sum of $26.00 plus an additional forty cents per $100.00 of the gross estate, not to exceed $3,000. The term "gross estate" includes the fair market value of all personal property when received, and all proceeds from the sale of real property coming into the hands of the fiduciary. Gross estate does not include the value of real property.

Advantages of bill. – The bill appears: (1) to provide an alternative to joint ownership with right of survivorship, avoiding the complications and restrictions of dealing with a co-owner but effecting the same transfer upon death; (2) to avoid probate of and probate fees on the securities; and (3) to simplify the process of changing names on securities after death.

Securities are subject to claims of decedent's creditors and to estate tax. -- The bill makes it clear that this act does not affect claims of creditors, who can still claim these securities if necessary to satisfy claims against the decedent's estate in the same ways as with joint bank accounts with right of survivorship. The bill also makes it clear that this form of ownership does not affect estate or inheritance tax collection and that these securities would be counted as part of the taxable estate. These two clarifications are not found in the Uniform Act.

Section 2 of the bill makes a conforming change to the statute governing the rights of creditors to collect estate debts from assets passing outside the estate. This statute is only triggered when assets of the estate are insufficient to satisfy all claims.

Section 3 of the bill authorizes the Revisor of Statutes to include with the published statutes, the Official Comments to the Uniform Act from the Uniform Commissioners and the explanatory comments from the drafters of the bill.

The bill would become effective October 1, 1999, and would apply to persons dying on or after that date who had registered a designation on their securities at any time prior to their death. This will ratify the designations made by people before October 1, 1999, including people who may have made such designations under the laws of other states.

Robin S. Johnson, co-counsel to the House Judiciary II Committee, contributed substantially to this summary.

BILL SUMMARY:

TO ENACT THE UNIFORM TRANSFER ON DEATH (TOD) SECURITY REGISTRATION ACT. Changes the title of ch. 41 of the General Statutes to "Estates and Interests in Property" and enacts new art. 4, ch. 41, to provide for the transfer of securities on death of the owner. Provides for the registration of securities in beneficiary form, which means that in the registration the owner designates the person who will become the owner at his or her death. Registration in beneficiary form can only be done if the registration shows sole ownership or multiple ownership by two or more individuals with right of survivorship, such as joint tenants with right of survivorship, tenants by the entireties, or owners of community property held in survivorship form, but not as tenants in common. A security may be registered in beneficiary form if the form is authorized by this or a similar statute of the state of organization of the issuer or registering entity, the location of the registering entity's principal office, the office of its transfer agent or its office making the registration, or by this or a similar statute of the law of the state listed as the owner's address at the time of registration. A registering entity, which means a person who originates or transfers a security title, including brokers and transfer agents, is not required to offer or accept a request for security registration in beneficiary form. If it does accept such registration, it may place terms and conditions on the form of registration. On the death of the sole owner or the last to die of all multiple owners, ownership of securities registered in beneficiary form passes to the beneficiary or beneficiaries who survive the owners. Transfer on death is effective by virtue of the contract between the owner and the registering entity and this statute and is not testamentary. The interest of the decedent, however, remains liable for his or her debts in the same manner as personal property included in the decedent's estate. The act applies to registration of securities in beneficiary form made before, on, or after the effective date of the act, which is Oct. 1, 1999, by decedents dying on or after the effective date.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Department of Revenue

According to the department, the addition of a new article to Chapter 41 to allow a change in ownership of a security resulting from a "transfer on death" will not affect inheritance or estate taxes. The provisions of G. S. 105-2 (taxation of assets) and G. S. 105-24 (tax waiver requirements) are clear, and the new section G. S. 41-48 (c) preserves the requirements of the two provisions.

Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC)

Summary
This legislation would change the way some securities and security accounts are handled during the administration of estates. Specifically, it would allow the owner of a security or account to pass the security or account directly to the named beneficiary, without passing under the owner's will or under the laws of intestacy (applies when owner has no will). As a result, the value of the securities or accounts would not be included as part of the state for probate.

The principal court-related fiscal impact would be a reduction in revenues to the General Fund from the General Court of Justice Fees dealing with estates [G. S. 7A-307(a)(2)]. Currently, the clerk collects a flat $26 fee, other fees pursuant to G. S. 7A-307, and forty cents per $100 of the gross value of personal property in the estate (referred to as ad valorem fee), up to $3,000. The ad valorem fee would no longer be collected by clerks if securities were registered in accordance with this legislation.

Estimate
The Judicial Department does have limited information that indicates the fiscal impact may be fairly substantial and could be up to $9.5 million but would probably be less. It is not possible to determine the impact more accurately with currently available data. Fiscal Year 1997-98 data shows a total of 54,768 estate cases were filed statewide and $10.9 million was collected in estate costs. However, it is not possible for the judicial department to accurately identify how much of the $10.9 million in total estates costs are derived from each fee under G. S. 7A-307.

The department assumes the majority of these funds are collected from the basic $26 fee and the ad valorem fee. Thus, if the $26 fee were collected in all of those cases, approximately $1.4 million in estate costs could be attributed to this fee. This implies the remaining $9.5 million would include the ad valorem fee and other less significant estate fees. Some of the other fees included are a $17 fee collected for probate of a will without qualification of a personal representative and a $15 fee collected instead of the ad valorem fee for certain personal property received by a trust under a will. Even if the total $9.5 million was only ad valorem fees, the AOC does not have information on ad valorem fees collected due to the value of securities versus ad valorem fees collected on all other personal property.

The lack of separate information relating to the ad valorem fee and the ad valorem fee on securities in particular makes it very difficult to estimate the fiscal impact of this bill on general fund revenues. Subsequently, no reliable fiscal impact for the Judicial Department is available at this time.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

If the AOC could separately account for estate fees in the future with current resources, more accurate data would be available for fiscal impact estimates.

MEMORANDUM

RE: House Bill 112 (Securities Transfer on Death)

House Bill 112 enacts the Uniform TOD (Transfer on Death) Security Registration Act, which was adopted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws in 1989 and subsequently reviewed by the General Statutes Commission and its Trusts Drafting Committee. The Act permits the owner of an investment security (that is, stocks, bonds, mutual fund shares, security accounts, etc.) to designate another person to become owner of the security when the present owner dies, in a manner similar to insurance policies. The designation is completely revocable until the death of the owner, and it eliminates the need for probate of that particular security. Estate or inheritance tax liability is not affected. The Uniform Act is endorsed by the American Bar Association and the American Association of Retired Persons and has been enacted in at least 46 states, including every state that borders this State (Vermont and Georgia enacted the Uniform Act this year).

The Act offers owners of securities two significant advantages over the use of a joint tenancy when the owner wants nothing more than a nonprobate means of transferring ownership on death. The person named as TOD beneficiary has no ownership interest or right of control during the lifetime of the owner. Therefore, there are no income tax or gift tax consequences and the owner does not risk having the joint tenant cash the security and make off with the proceeds.

Please note that securities issuers and transfer agents with principal offices in states that have already enacted the Act are accepting securities registered in TOD form even from residents of states that have not enacted the Act.

Please note also the following specific points:

(1) Only a sole owner or multiple owners with right of survivorship can use the TOD registration process. The only type of multiple ownership with right of survivorship that can be created in a normal investment security under North Carolina law is a joint tenancy with right of survivorship, although other types can be created in other states. Tenants in common cannot use the TOD designation. This limitation is found in the Uniform Act itself and is designed to prevent conflicting or divided beneficiary designations.

(2) The designated beneficiary or beneficiaries "take" on the death of the sole owner or the last surviving joint tenant. Multiple beneficiaries "take" as tenants in common.

(3) An issuer or transfer agent is not required to accept TOD designations and may establish the terms and conditions under which it will receive TOD registrations.

(4) This bill differs from the Uniform Act in five respects. First, it includes in the definition of "heirs" a specific citation to North Carolina's intestate succession statutes. Second, it includes in § 41-48 two subsections, (b) and (c), not found in the Uniform Act that are designed to protect the interest of creditors and the Department of Revenue. These provisions are similar to other provisions dealing with nontestamentary transfers on death such as joint bank accounts. Third, it omits an illustration and supporting language from § 41-49 that would have defined a particular, commonly used legal term ("per stirpes") in a way different from the usual meaning in this State, thereby avoiding a trap for the unwary. Fourth, it includes in § 41-50 a subsection (c) stating that the Act does not repeal G.S. 41-2.2 to avoid any argument that that section was partially repealed by implication. Fifth, it includes in the definition of "security" in § 41-40(9) a specific reference to security entitlements as defined in the revised Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code, which was enacted by the General Assembly in 1997.

Section 2 of the bill makes a conforming change to G.S. 28A-15-10(a), dealing with rights of creditors, and Section 3 authorizes the printing of official and drafters' comments.

A security may be registered in beneficiary form if the form is authorized by this or a similar statute of the state of organization of the issuer or registering entity, the location of the registering entity's principal office, the office of its transfer agent or its office making the registration, or by this or a similar statute of the law of the state listed as the owner's address at the time of registration. ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Department of Revenue

According to the department, the addition of a new article to Chapter 41 to allow a change in ownership of a security resulting from a "transfer on death" will not affect inheritance or estate taxes. The provisions of G. S. 105-2 (taxation of assets) and G. S. 105-24 (tax waiver requirements) are clear, and the new section G. S. 41-48 (c) preserves the requirements of the two provisions.

Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC)

Summary
This legislation would change the way some securities and security accounts are handled during the administration of estates. Specifically, it would allow the owner of a security or account to pass the security or account directly to the named beneficiary, without passing under the owner's will or under the laws of intestacy (applies when owner has no will). As a result, the value of the securities or accounts would not be included as part of the state for probate.

The principal court-related fiscal impact would be a reduction in revenues to the General Fund from the General Court of Justice Fees dealing with estates [G. S. 7A-307(a)(2)]. Currently, the clerk collects a flat $26 fee, other fees pursuant to G. S. 7A-307, and forty cents per $100 of the gross value of personal property in the estate (referred to as ad valorem fee), up to $3,000. The ad valorem fee on securities would no longer be collected by clerks if the securities were registered in accordance with this legislation.

Revised Estimate Based on Brief AOC Research
The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) does have limited information that indicates the fiscal impact may NOT be substantial. While the clerks do collect and account for all the estate fees, they do not separately account for the types of personal property to which the ad valorem fee applies. Although an inventory is kept for each estate, it is not known how much of the ad valorem fee was applied to each type of property listed. Furthermore, the AOC does not keep a running total of the collections for each fee. Fiscal Year 1997-98 data shows a total of 54,768 estate cases were filed statewide and $10.9 million was collected in estate costs. However, it is not possible for the judicial department to accurately identify how much of the $10.9 million in total estates costs are derived from each fee under G. S. 7A-307.

Based on newly obtained, additional information from interviews with several clerks, it appears that few of the estate cases involve the ad valorem fee on securities. According to the AOC, approximately 17,000 estates, or about 30 percent, were probated with a will or required appointment of an administrator without a will in 1998 and therefore would be expected to have substantial assets which may include securities. Many of the estate cases that would pay the ad valorem fee instead qualify for exemption under the right of survivorship. There are indications from the clerks that property of all types has been set up as a survivorship more frequently in the past few years. Also, the ad valorem fee is capped at $3,000 for all types of personal property to which it applies. Therefore, the cap may be reached under current law before the fee is ever collected on any securities.

The AOC requested the Wake County clerk's office to research their most recent estate cases and provide their results within a week. While the results are inconclusive, they suggest that the collections on the ad valorem fee on securities may not be significant. Out of the 40 cases they had time to retrieve, 20 did not have securities, 15 had substantial securities, and 5 had some securities. Of the 15 cases with significant security values, most would not collect much, if any, of the ad valorem fee on securities because the $3,000 cap could be reached with the value of real property. The value of securities in the last 5 estates averaged about $20,000 which translates into $80 in ad valorem fees.

Even if the total amount of ad valorem fees collected on securities were known, it is unknown how many individuals who now would be paying the fee would take advantage of this bill. The Fiscal Research Division believes that based on the limited data available to the AOC, the amount collected in ad valorem fees on securities is minimal and would result in only a minor revenue loss to the General Fund. Neither the AOC, nor the Fiscal Research Division is able to calculate a precise amount or provide a reliable estimate.

Section 6. G.S. 116-198.35 reads as rewritten:

"§ 116-198.35. Issuance of bonds and bond anticipation notes.

The Board is hereby authorized to issue, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, at one time or from time to time, revenue bonds of the Board for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of acquiring, constructing, or providing any project or projects on the Centennial ~~Campus.~~ Campus or on the Horace Williams Campus. The bonds of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at such time or times not exceeding 40 years from their date or dates, shall bear interest at such rate or rates as may be determined by the Board, and may be redeemable before maturity, at the option of the Board, at such price or prices and under such terms and conditions as may be fixed by the Board prior to the issuance of the bonds. The Board shall determine the form and manner of execution of the bonds, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the bonds and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds, such signature or such facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if he had remained in office until such delivery. Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this Article or any recitals in any bonds issued under the provisions of this Article, all such bonds shall be deemed to be negotiable instruments under the laws of this State, subject only to the provisions for registration in any resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or any trust agreement securing the same. The bonds may be issued in coupon or registered form or both or as book-entry bonds, as the Board may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds of any bonds registered as to both principal and interest. The Board may sell such bonds in such manner, at public or private sale, and for such price, as it may determine to be for the best interests of the Board.

The proceeds of the bonds of each issue shall be used solely for the purpose for which such bonds shall have been authorized and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the Board may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or in the trust agreement hereinafter mentioned securing the same. Unless otherwise provided in the authorizing resolution or in the trust agreement securing such bonds, if the proceeds of such bonds, by error of estimates or otherwise, shall be less than such cost, additional bonds may in like manner be issued to provide the amount of such deficit and shall be deemed to be of the same issue and shall be entitled to payment from the same fund without preference or priority of the bonds first issued for the same purpose.

The resolution providing for the issuance of revenue bonds, and any trust agreement securing such bonds, may also contain such limitations upon the issuance of additional revenue bonds as the Board may deem proper, and such additional bonds shall be issued under such restrictions and limitations as may be prescribed by such resolution or trust agreement.

Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds, the Board may, under like restrictions, issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when such bonds shall have been executed and are available for delivery. The Board may also provide for the replacement of any bonds which shall become mutilated or be destroyed or lost.

Except as herein otherwise provided, bonds may be issued under this Article and other powers vested in the Board under this Article may be exercised by the Board without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by this Article.

The Board may enter into or negotiate a note with an acceptable bank or trust company in lieu of issuing bonds for the financing of projects covered under this section. The terms and conditions of any note of this nature shall be in accordance with the terms and conditions surrounding issuance of bonds.

The Board is hereby authorized to issue, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, at one time or from time to time, revenue bond anticipation notes of the Board in anticipation of the issuance of bonds authorized pursuant to the provisions of this Article. The principal of and the interest on such notes shall be payable solely from the proceeds of bonds or renewal notes, or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, any available revenues of the project or projects for which such bonds shall have been authorized. The notes of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at such time or times not exceeding two years from their date or dates, shall bear interest at such rate or rates as may be determined by the Board, and may be redeemable before maturity, at the option of the Board, at such price or prices and under such terms and conditions as may be fixed by the Board prior to the issuance of the notes. The Board shall determine the form and the manner of execution of the notes, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the notes and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any notes or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such notes, such signature or such facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if he had remained in office until such delivery. Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this Article or any recitals in any notes issued under the provisions of this Article, all such notes shall be deemed to be negotiable instruments under the laws of this State, subject only to the provisions for registration in any resolution authorizing the issuance of such notes or any trust agreement securing the bonds in anticipation of which such notes are being issued. The notes may be issued in coupon or registered form or both or as book entry notes, as the Board may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon notes as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon notes of any notes registered as to both principal and interest. The Board may sell such notes in such manner, at public or private sale, and for such price, as it may determine to be for the best interests of the Board.

The proceeds of the notes of each issue shall be used solely for the purpose for which the bonds in anticipation of which such notes are being issued shall have been authorized, and such note proceeds shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the Board may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of such notes or bonds or in the trust agreement securing such bonds.

The resolution providing for the issuance of notes, and any trust agreement securing the bonds in anticipation of which such notes are being authorized, may also contain such limitations upon the issuance of additional notes as the Board may deem proper, and such additional notes shall be issued under such restrictions and limitations as may be prescribed by such resolution or trust agreement. The Board may also provide for the replacement of any notes which shall become mutilated or be destroyed or lost.

Except as herein otherwise provided, notes may be issued under this Article and other powers vested in the Board under this Article may be exercised by the Board without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by this Article.

Unless the context shall otherwise indicate, the word "bonds" wherever used in this Article, shall be deemed and construed to include the words 'bond anticipation notes'."

Such pledge shall be valid and binding from the time when the pledge is made; the fees, rents, and charges and other revenues or other moneys so pledged and thereafter received by the Board shall immediately be subject to the lien of such pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act; and the lien of any such pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against the Board, irrespective of whether such parties have notice thereof. Neither the resolution nor any trust agreement by which a pledge is created need be filed or recorded except in the records of the Board. EXPENDITURES

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, UNC Board of Governors.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill has five primary effects. First, the legislation establishes the Horace Williams Campus Trust Fund. This fund is a special continuing, and nonreverting trust fund. Income placed in the Fund must be used for the development and operation of the Horace Williams Campus. Proceeds from the lease or rental of Horace Williams Campus property must be placed in the Fund. Second, the bill also authorizes the U.N.C. Board of Governors to issue revenue bonds to pay for campus facilities on the Horace Williams Campus. These bonds are to be paid out of fees, leases, rentals, and other sources. Taxes or the state's credit can not be pleaded for the bonds. Third, the bill defines the Horace Williams Campus as the real property left to the University by Mr. Williams, and all other real and incidental property the Board of Governors designates as a part of the campus. The properties do not have to be contiguous. Forth, it prohibits the collection of a service charge by the State Land Fund for the rental, lease, or easement of portions of the Horace Williams Campus. Fifth, it exempts the Horace Williams Campus from the state restriction on engaging directly or indirectly in the sale of goods. Finally, the bill makes conforming changes to create the same provisions for the U.N.C. Horace Williams Campus as are currently in effect for the Centennial Campus at North Carolina State University.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill creates a governing structure and operational restrictions for the Horace Williams Campus that are analogous to those of the Centennial Campus. As a result the bill has several potential area for fiscal impact.

Fund Creation
By creating a special Horace Williams Campus Fund the legislation moves potential revenue out of the normal University budgeting process. However, because the Fund is treated like an institutional trust fund (G.S. 116-198.33), it is subject to established review procedures. Moving this revenue stream off-budget will not impact University funding or the general fund. Monies deposited in the Fund will be drawn primarily from the leases and rental that are unlikely to occur without the legislation.

Revenue Bonds
The bill authorizes the Board of Governors to issue revenue bonds to pay for capital improvements to the Horace Williams Campus. Because neither tax money or state credit can be used to secure or pay off the bonds, there is no fiscal impact to the state.

Leases
The legislation authorizes the University officials to lease property to private developers with out the approval of the Council of State. This is the same provision used to develop the Centennial Campus and should have no revenue or general fund impact.

State Land Fund
Section 4 of the bill exempts the William Horace Campus from paying a service charge to the State Land Fund for each of its lease, rental, or easement transactions. There is no fiscal impact from this change, because the Campus has never paid any fees to the Fund.

Property Tax
The bill has the potential to remove additional land and structures from the property tax rolls in Orange County if the UNC Board of Governors uses the power granted in the bill to expand the Horace Williams Campus to noncontiguous land not currently owned by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. However, under current law, the county could recoup its tax loss in several ways. First, if the Campus land is leased at below market value to a private firm, then the leased land can be taxed. Second, if a private firm leases land from the campus at market value and builds its own building, then Wake county may levy property tax only on the building and its furnishings and equipment. Third, if a private firm leases the land and building from the Campus, then only the furnishings and equipment will be subject to property tax.

HOUSE BILL 1134:
UNC/ Horace Williams Campus

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Insko
Date:	June 21, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1134 establishes the Horace Williams Campus. This campus will be associated with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. It is similar to the Centennial Campus, which is associated with North Carolina State University. The bill would become effective July 1, 1999. House Bill 1134 was given a favorable report in House Finance on May 25, 1999. Senate Bill 826 is identical to this bill and was introduced by Senator Lee. Senate Bill 826 is in the Senate Committee on Education/Higher Education.

BILL ANALYSIS: The General Assembly created the Centennial Campus at NC State University in 1987. The Campus brings together business and industry academia. House Bill 1134 creates a similar campus at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill called the Horace Williams Campus. The Horace Williams Campus will consist of the property left to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill by the will of Henry Horace Williams. The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina may designate other properties as part of the Campus also.

The Board of Governors may issue revenue bonds to pay all or part of the cost of any project on the Campus. The projects may include administration buildings, libraries, research or instructional facilities, roads, water, sewer, parking, and any other facilities related to the operation of the Campus. The bonds are payable from revenues derived from leases, rentals, charges, and fees. Neither the faith and credit of the State nor the taxing power of the State is pledged to the payment of the bonds. The Board is given the power to establish and collect fees, rents, and charges for the use of and for the services furnished by any project on the Campus. Rental agreements for space in buildings on the Campus for 10 years or less do not require the approval of the Governor and Council of State but are subject to approval by the Board of Governors.

The proceeds from all moneys received through the development of the Horace Williams Campus must be credited to a special, nonreverting trust fund. The money in the fund may be used only for the development of the Horace Williams Campus.

Much of the revenue generated from the Horace Williams Campus will come from the lease of office space to private industry. As a general rule, it is unlawful under the Umstead Act for the State to lease space in a building owned by the State for the purpose of operating a business. Section 9 of the bill exempts the Horace Williams Campus from the Umstead Act so that it may provide services to businesses that are ordinarily and customarily rendered by private enterprises.

"ARTICLE 3D.

"Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credits.

"§ 105-129.35. Credit for rehabilitating ~~Income-Producing Historic Structure.~~ income-producing historic structure.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who is allowed a federal income tax credit under section 47 of the Code for making ~~qualifying~~ qualified rehabilitation expenditures for a certified historic structure located in this State is allowed a credit ~~against the tax~~

~~imposed by this Part. The amount of the credit is~~ equal to twenty percent (20%) of the expenditures that qualify for the federal credit.

(b) Allocation. -- Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-131.8 and G.S. 105-269.15, a pass-through entity that qualifies for the credit provided in this section may allocate the credit among any of its owners in its discretion as long as the amount of credit allocated to an owner does not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity, as determined under the Code, at the end of the taxable year in which the certified historic structure is placed in service. Owners to whom a credit is allocated are allowed the credit as if they had qualified for the credit directly. A pass-through entity and its owners must include with their tax returns for every taxable year in which an allocated credit is claimed a statement of the allocation made by the pass-through entity and the allocation that would have been required under G.S. 105-131.8 or G.S. 105-269.15.

(c) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Certified historic structure. -- Defined in section 47 of the Code.

(2) Pass-through entity. -- An entity or business, including a limited partnership, a general partnership, a joint venture, a Subchapter S Corporation, or a limited liability company, all of which is treated as owned by individuals or other entities under the federal tax laws, in which the owners report their share of the income, losses, and credits from the entity or business on their income tax returns filed with this State. For the purpose of this section, an owner of a pass-through entity is an individual or entity who is treated as an owner under the federal tax laws.

(3) Qualified rehabilitation expenditures. -- Defined in section 47 of the Code.

"§ 105-129.36. Credit for rehabilitating ~~Nonincome-Producing Historic Structure.~~ nonincome-producing historic structure.

(a) Credit. -- A taxpayer who is not allowed a federal income tax credit under section 47 of the Code and who makes rehabilitation expenses for a ~~certified~~ State-certified historic structure located in this State is allowed a credit ~~against the tax imposed by this Part. The amount of the credit is~~ equal to thirty percent (30%) of the rehabilitation expenses. To qualify for the credit, the taxpayer's rehabilitation expenses must exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) within a 24-month period. To claim the credit allowed by this subsection, the taxpayer must attach to the return a copy of the certification obtained from the State Historic Preservation Officer verifying that the historic structure has been rehabilitated in accordance with this subsection.

(b) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this ~~subsection.~~ section:

~~(1) Certified historic structure. -- A structure that is individually listed in the National Register of Historic Places or is certified by the State Historic Preservation Officer as contributing to the historic significance of a National Register Historic District or a locally~~

~~designated historic district certified by the United States Department of the Interior.~~

(2) Certified rehabilitation. -- Repairs or alterations consistent with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation and certified as such by the State Historic Preservation Officer prior to the commencement of the work. ~~The expenditures must, within a 24-month period, exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000). The North Carolina Historical Commission, in consultation with the State Historic Preservation Officer, may adopt rules needed to administer the certification process.~~

(3) Rehabilitation expenses. -- Expenses incurred in the certified rehabilitation of a certified historic structure and added to the property's basis. The term does not include the cost of acquiring the property, the cost attributable to the enlargement of an existing building, the cost of sitework expenditures, or the cost of personal property.

(3a) State-certified historic structure. -- A structure that is individually listed in the National Register of Historic Places or is certified by the State Historic Preservation Officer as contributing to the historic significance of a National Register Historic District or a locally designated historic district certified by the United States Department of the Interior.

(4) State Historic Preservation Officer. -- The Director of the Division of Archives and History or the Director's designee who acts to administer the historic preservation programs within the State.

(c) Rules. -- The North Carolina Historical Commission, in consultation with the State Historic Preservation Officer, may adopt rules needed to administer the certification process required by this section.

"§ 105-129.37. Tax credited; credit limitations.

(a) Tax Credited. -- The credits provided in this Article are allowed against the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter.

(b) Credit Limitations. -- The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years. ~~The~~ A credit allowed under this ~~section~~ Article may not exceed the amount of ~~tax imposed by this Part~~ the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowed, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer.

(c) Forfeiture for Disposition. -- A taxpayer who is required under section 50 of the Code to recapture all or part of the federal credit for rehabilitating an income-producing historic structure located in this State forfeits the corresponding part of the State credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.35 with respect to that historic structure. If the credit was allocated among the owners of a pass-through entity, the forfeiture applies to the owners in the same proportion that the credit was allocated.

(d) Forfeiture for Change in Ownership. -- If an owner of a pass-through entity that has qualified for the credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.35 disposes of all or a portion of the owner's interest in the pass-through entity within five years from the date the rehabilitated historic structure is placed in service and the owner's interest in the pass-through entity is reduced to less than two-thirds of the owner's interest in the pass-through entity at the time the historic structure was placed in service, the owner forfeits a portion of the credit. The amount forfeited is determined by multiplying the amount of credit by the percentage reduction in ownership and then multiplying that product by the forfeiture percentage. The forfeiture percentage equals the recapture percentage found in the table in section 50(a)(1)(B) of the Code. The remaining allowable credit is allocated equally among the five years in which the credit is claimed.

(e) Exceptions to Forfeiture. -- Forfeiture as provided in subsection (d) of this section is not required if the change in ownership is the result of any of the following:

(1) The death of the owner.

(2) A merger, consolidation, or similar transaction requiring approval by the shareholders, partners, or members of the taxpayer under applicable State law, to the extent the taxpayer does not receive cash or tangible property in the merger, consolidation, or other similar transaction.

(f) Liability From Forfeiture. -- A taxpayer or an owner of a pass-through entity that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited. A taxpayer or owner of a pass-through entity that fails to pay the taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

Section 6. G.S. 105-151.23(a) is recodified as G.S. 105-129.35; G.S. 105-151.23(b) is recodified as G.S. 105-129.36; and G.S. 105-151.23(c) is recodified as G.S. 105-129.37. Article 3D of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, as amended by this act, incorporates both G.S. 105-130.42 and G.S. 105-151.23.

Section 7. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. G.S. 105-129.35(b), as amended by this act, is repealed effective January 1, 2002, for property placed in service on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 251:
Modify Historic Rehabilitation Credit

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Senator Horton
Date:	June 21, 1999	Summary by:	Martha H. Harris and Martha K. Walston, staff attorneys
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for Senate Bill 251 modifies the tax credit for rehabilitating income-producing historic property. It allows a pass-through entity, such as a Subchapter S corporation, to allocate the credit among any of the entity's owners, as long as the credit does not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity. The original bill allocated the credit amount among any of the pass-through entity's owners, in the entity's discretion. The proposed committee substitute also adds provisions to recapture the credit if the taxpayer is required to recapture the credit under the Code or if a partner or owner disposes of its interest in the pass-through entity. Finally, the proposed committee substitute sunsets the allocation provision in three years. Under current law, the credits must be allocated in the same proportion as other income items allocated to the owners under the Code. The North Carolina credits are currently duplicated in two separate statutes in the individual and corporate parts of the income tax Article in Chapter 105. The bill recodifies the credits into a new Article of their own. The act becomes effective beginning with the 1999 tax year.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, taxpayers are allowed an income tax credit of 20% of the expenses of rehabilitating an income-producing historic structure and a credit of 30% of the expenses of rehabilitating an historic structure that is not income-producing. The credit for income-producing structures is lower because federal law also allows a 20% credit for those expenses, yielding a combined credit of 40%. The 20% credit is allowed only if the taxpayer qualifies for the federal credit and the 30% credit is allowed only if the taxpayer does not qualify for the federal credit. The credit may not be taken for the tax year the property is placed in service but must be taken in installments over five years after the historic structure is placed in service. Any unused portion of a credit may be carried forward for a five-year period.

Under current law, a pass-through entity may qualify for the rehabilitation credits and pass the credits on to its owners. A pass-through entity is an entity, such as a partnership, a limited liability company, or a Subchapter S corporation, that is treated as owned by individuals or other entities under federal tax law and whose income, losses, and credits are reported by the owners on their State income tax returns. Under G.S. 105-131.8 and G.S. 105-269.15, the pass-through entity is required to allocate a tax credit among its owners in the same proportion that other items, such as the federal rehabilitation credit, are allocated under the Code.

Under the Code, tax credits are allocated among S corporation shareholders in accordance with their pro rata share of the corporation, which is determined on the basis of stock ownership, and tax credits are allocated among partners in a partnership in accordance with the partnership agreement. The allocation made by the partnership agreement must have a substantial economic effect, which means that the allocation agreement must reflect the economic interest of the partners in the partnership and cannot be based solely on tax consequences. Therefor, the allocation agreement of partners cannot give one partn 100% of the income, loss, or credits of the partnership.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Sections 1 through Section 4 of the bill creates a new article for the historic rehabilitation tax credits. The current statutes for these tax credits are recodified as part of the new article.

In putting together an investment group for an income-producing historic rehabilitation project, the project sponsors may find some investors that can benefit from only the federal credit because they have little or no North Carolina tax liability, and other investors than can benefit from both the federal and the North Carolina credit because they have both types of tax liability.

Section 5 of the bill allows a pass-through entity to allocate the credit for rehabilitating an income-producing historic structure among any of its owners, as long as the amount of the allocated credit does not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the entity, as determined under the Code. The adjusted basis is determined at the end of the taxable year in which the historic structure is placed in service. Each year an allocated credit is claimed, the pass-through entity and its owners must include a statement with their tax return that shows both the allocation made and the allocation that would have been required under G.S. 105-131.8 and G.S. 105-269.15. G.S. 105-131.8 provides that the tax credit allowed a shareholder in a Subchapter S corporation is based on the percentage of stock held by the shareholder in the corporation. G.S. 105-269.15 provides that the tax credit allowed a partner is based on the partnership agreement, which must have substantial economic effect.

Section 5 of the bill also requires forfeiture of all or part of the credit for an income-producing historic structure when the following occurs:

- Forfeiture for Disposition. When a taxpayer is required by the Code to recapture part or all of the federal credit, then the taxpayer must forfeit the corresponding part of the State credit. Under the Code, the recapture does not apply if the property is disposed of because of the death of the taxpayer, a mere change in form of doing business, or a transfer between spouses or incident to a divorce
- Forfeiture for Change in Ownership. If an owner of a pass-through entity that qualified for the credit disposes of all or a portion of the owner's interest in the pass-through entity within 5 years from the date the structure was placed in service so that the owner's interest is reduced to less than 2/3 of its interest at the time the structure was placed in service, the owner must forfeit a portion of the credit. This recapture does not apply if the change in ownership is due to the death of the owner or to a merger or consolidation requiring approval of the members of the taxpayer pass-through entity to the extent the entity does not receive cash or property.

The Department of Revenue's example of the result if there is a forfeiture for change in ownership pursuant to G.S. 105-129.37(d) of bill.

Taxpayer Partnership A invests $1 million to rehabilitate an income-producing historic structure. The structure is placed in service on July 1, 1999. The partnership qualifies for a $200,000 credit. It allocates the credit to Owner John Doe, who is a five percent partner and has a basis in the partnership of $200,000. Mr. Doe claims a credit of $40,000 on the 1999 and 2000 tax returns. On May 25, 2001, Mr. Doe's ownership interest is reduced to two percent, a sixty percent decrease. The forfeiture amount is $96,000, calculated as follows:

Credit ($200,000) X percentage reduction in ownership (60%) X forfeiture percentage (80% because the reduction occurred after one year but before two years after property placed in service).

The remaining allowable credit is $104,000, and $20,800 may be claimed in each year. Therefore, Mr. Doe must reduce the credit claimed on the 1999 and 2000 returns and pay to the State tax of $19,200 for each of the two years (assuming he had enough tax in those years to have claimed the entire installment of the original amount of credit. The $19,200 amount is the forfeiture amount of $96,000 X the twenty percent credit.

If a taxpayer or owner of a pass-through entity forfeits the credit, then the taxpayer or owner is liable for all past taxes avoided plus interest. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the credit is forfeited.

Section 6 of the bill explains the recodification.

Section 7 of the bill provides that the act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The allocation provision of the act sunsets January 1, 2002, but this sunset applies only to property placed in service on or after that date.

BACKGROUND: In 1993, the General Assembly enacted a 5% income tax credit for qualifying expenditures to rehabilitate a certified historic structure, if the expenses qualified for the federal 20% credit. In 1997, the General Assembly raised the North Carolina credit from 5% to 20%, added the 30% credit for expenditures that did not qualify for the federal credit because the structure was not income-producing, and required both credits to be taken in installments. The federal credit is limited to structures that are used in connection with a trade or business or held for the production of income, including both residential rental buildings and nonresidential buildings. Expenditures to rehabilitate a taxpayer's personal residence would qualify for the 30% North Carolina credit but not the federal credit, because the building is not income-producing.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Department of Cultural Resources.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999 and expires effective January 1, 2002 for property placed in service on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY:

The bill modifies the existing historic rehabilitation income tax credit to allow a pass through organization to allocate the credits among project owners. It requires that the amount of the credit be limited to the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity. It also allows for the recapture of the credit if the taxpayer is required to recapture the credit under the Code or if the taxpayer disposes of his interest in the pass-through entity. It requires the pass through organization and the property owners to include an allocation statement with their annual tax returns. It also recodifies the existing historic rehabilitation credit language in a single Article, and makes conforming changes.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Federal law provides a federal income tax credit equal to 20% of qualified rehabilitation expenditures for certified historic structures that are used in connection with a trade or business or held for the production of income. This credit is available for both residential rental buildings and nonresidential buildings. In order to qualify, the property itself must be either listed in the National Register, or located in a registered historic district and be certified as being of historic significance.

Since 1993, North Carolina investors eligible for the Federal Rehabilitation Investment Tax Credit have been allowed a state income tax credit equal to one-fourth of the federal amount (5%). The 1997 General Assembly expanded the State income tax credit from 5% to 20% for rehabilitating an income-producing historic structure, effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 1998. (S.L. 1997-139) The credits may not be taken in one year, but must be spread out in installments over five years after the historic structure is placed in service. Any unused portion of a credit may be carried forward for a five-year period.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
By allowing a pass through entity to reallocate the tax credits, the bill effectively authorizes rehabilitation property owners to transfer all of the North Carolina tax credits to North Carolina residents and businesses with tax liability. Currently, if foreign investors are involved in a qualifying rehabilitation project, their tax credits can not be redistributed. For example, if there are five equal investors, but only four of them are North Carolinians, only 80% of the available North Carolina tax credits are used.

Previous fiscal notes assumed taxpayers would use 100% of their allotted credit taken over a required five-year period. Once the bills enacting the rehab credit were passed (the original enacting legislation and SB 323 which expanded the credit in 1997), the resulting revenue losses were included in future year base budget projections. The fiscal note for SB 323 assumed the number of completed federal projects each year would range from 35 projects valued at $17,500,000 in 1998 up to 60 projects valued at $30 million in 2002. However, the program has proven more popular than was originally projected. (see note below)

Under the existing law, the actual experience is that 100% of the rehab credit will probably not be used due to out-of-state investors without North Carolina income tax liability or North Carolina investors without state income tax liability. According to the Department of Cultural Resources, two of the 69 projects reviewed in 1998 had out-of-state investors. Due to the confidentiality of tax information, it is unknown if these out-of-state investors can utilize all of the rehab credits. It is also impossible to determine how many projects had in-state investors with no state tax liability.

In 1998, the Executive Director of the Historic Preservation Foundation of North Carolina, Myrick Howard, saw the pass - through issue as a technical correction. It allows rehab project managers to fully utilize the credits as envisioned in the 1997 legislation and accompanying fiscal note. On the other hand, officials from the Department of Revenue believe the credit could encourage more out of state investment. However, there is no way to quantify what that additional investment might be.

NOTE: January 1999 data from the State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO) indicate that the historic rehabilitation credit has received far more interest than expected. As an example, SHPO and Fiscal Research estimated there would be 35 projects with a total value of $17.5 million in 1998. This estimate was based on other states' experiences. In reality, the SHPO received 89 applications for rehabilitation work valued at $106 million. If all the projects are completed and all credits are utilized, project owners will recoup $21.2 million in income tax credits over five years. This is six times the $3.5 million originally estimated.

This surcharge, and long distance revenues collected under subsection (f) of this section, are not includable in gross receipts subject to the franchise tax levied under G.S. 105-120 or the sales tax levied under G.S. 105-164.4.

(c) ~~Initiating Petition.~~ Specification of Surcharge. -- ~~Not later than February 1, 1990, the~~ The Department of Health and Human Services shall initiate a ~~dual party relay system~~ telecommunications relay service by filing a petition with the Commission requesting the ~~system~~ service and detailing initial projected required funding. The Commission shall, after giving notice and an opportunity to be heard to other interested parties, set the initial monthly surcharge based upon the amount of funding necessary to implement and operate the ~~system,~~ service, including a reasonable margin for a reserve. The surcharge shall be identified on customer bills as a special surcharge for provision of a ~~dual party relay system.~~ telecommunications relay service for hearing impaired and speech impaired persons. Senate Bill 547 - Telecommunications Relay Service
Sponsored by Senator David Hoyle

[This additional information was prepared by the Public Staff - North Carolina Utilities Commission.]

What is Telecommunications Equipment Distribution Program (TEDP)?

Telecommunications Equipment Distribution Program provides telecommunication devices for the Deaf (TTYs), flashing light phone ring signalers, volume amplifiers, loud ringers, TTYs with Large Visual Displays or any other equipment which fits the individual's telecommunication needs. A teletypewriter (TTY), also called a telephone device for the deaf (TDD), enables you to type a message, and your message appears on the other person's TTY. Some TTYs have "voice over" capability, so that a speech-impaired person hears the caller's voice. Some TTYs have speech synthesizers for calling persons with normal hearing.

Who would be eligible?

Any North Carolina resident who is Deaf, Hard of Hearing, Deaf-Blind, Speech-disabled and has phone service in his/her home. Hearing or speech impairment would be verified by a doctor or audiologist. Proof of income would be needed to meet the means test established by the Utilities Commission.

How would one get equipment through this program?

By contacting the Equipment Distribution Program which would be administered through the Telecommunications Relay Service, a Division of the Department of Health and Human Services.

How would the program be paid for and accounted for?

The Utilities Commission would use up to four cents of the existing TRS surcharge for this purpose. This compares to fifteen cents charged by the Florida and California, and fifteen cents is being recommended now in New York. Guidelines for the Program would be established by the Utilities Commission. The Utilities Commission and the Public Staff would have the same authority to monitor and audit the program as it has over any other public utility.

What are other states doing about equipment distribution programs?

Approximately 35 states have equipment distribution programs, and most pay for the program through a telephone surcharge. Most states apply the surcharge to regular phones and cellular phones. North Carolina has not applied the surcharge to cellular phones to date. North Carolina has one of the lowest surcharges in the country.

Why have an equipment distribution program?

To allow hearing/speech impaired or deaf persons access to the telecommunications system if they have had no access up until now because they could not afford the equipment. In addition, most states believe that such a program is necessary to meet the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the Telecommunications Act of 1996.

Statistics

- 8.6% of the population has a hearing loss of some degree; 645,000 in North Carolina.*
- Only 20% of those people who need a hearing aid have one.
- The prevalence of hearing impairment at all ages decreases as family income increases.*
- The prevalence of hearing impairment is greater at all ages among the population in rural areas.*
- Persons 65 years and older are eight times more likely to have hearing impairment than ages 18-34 (i.e., 3.4 percent of the population ages 188-34 have hearing impairment, compared to 29.1 percent of the population 65 and older.)*
- Of the estimated 20 million deaf and hard of hearing persons in the U.S., approximately 3 out of 4 persons had onset of hearing loss after age 18.*

SENATE BILL 547:
Telecommunications Relay Service/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Hoyle
Date:	June 21, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 547 amends G.S. 62-157 of the General Statutes to replace the reference to a "dual party relay system" with "telecommunications relay service". The bill clarifies that statewide telecommunications relay service for telephone service will be provided to hearing impaired or speech impaired persons and to such persons who are also visually impaired. The Bill authorizes the Utilities Commission to allow the Department of Health and Human Services to use a portion of the surcharge collected by local providers to provide telecommunications devices for persons with the above described impairments. The surcharge is currently imposed on all residential and business local exchange access facilities and is used to fund a statewide system for hearing impaired or speech impaired persons. Senate Bill 547 is an agency bill.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, G.S. 62-157 provides access to public telecommunications services to persons who are hearing impaired or speech impaired. This access system is funded through a monthly surcharge that is imposed on all residential and business local exchange access facilities. The surcharge is identified on a customer's bill and may not exceed 25 cents per month. The surcharges collected by local service providers are maintained in an interest-bearing, nonreverting account with the State Treasurer. Revenues from this fund are available only to the Department of Health and Human Service and used to administer the statewide access system.

The users of the access system are also charged the surcharge.

The surcharge is not included in the gross receipts subject to the State franchise or sales tax.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 547 amends G.S. 62-157 by replacing references to the "dual party relay system" with references to "telecommunications relay service". The bill also clarifies that this service is provided to persons who or hearing impaired or speech impaired and to such persons who are also visually impaired. The bill also authorizes the Utilities Commission to allow DHHS to use up to four cents of each monthly surcharge imposed per access line for the purpose of providing telecommunications devices for persons with the above impairments. The bill directs the Utilities Commission to prepare guidelines for distributing the devices. Both the Commission and the Public Staff may audit the telecommunications relay service program, including the distribution of the devices. Only DHHS may distribute the devices that are paid for with surcharge revenues.

The Utilities Commission indicates that different equipment is needed for persons who are both hearing impaired and visually impaired, and that many people cannot afford the needed equipment. The distribution of the equipment will be based upon financial need.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: The Utilities Commission, the State Treasurer, and the Department of Health and Human Services.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation modifies the law controlling public telecommunications services for the hearing impaired. Currently the Utilities Commission is authorized to charge a surcharge of up to $0.25 per month. The bill establishes a telecommunications relay service to assist deaf and hearing-impaired persons, including those who are also visually impaired. The bill authorizes the Utility Commission to allow the Department of Health and Human Services to use up to four cents ($0.04) of the surcharge amount to provide special equipment to the hearing impaired, as well as the visually and speech impaired, to assist with telephone communication. The Commission is authorized to develop guidelines for distribution of the equipment.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: According to the Public Staff of the Utilities Commission, the current surcharge amount is $0.07 per month. The latest revenue report indicates that the surcharge generated approximately $1,516,000 in six months ending December 31, 1998, or $3,032,000 per year. Given the $0.07 rate, these numbers suggest the surcharge raised approximately $433,000 per penny. If the Commission increases the surcharge by the full $0.04 allowed by the bill, the bill could raise approximately $1,732,000. The Public Staff estimates that this amount would never exceed $2,000,000.

At this point there is no accurate estimate of the equipment needs. The Public Staff reports that the equipment cost can range from a few hundred dollars to several thousands of dollars, depending on the needs of the user. At this point the exact needs of individual program recipients is unknown. Therefore, no expenditure estimate is possible.

While the Utilities Commission will set distribution guidelines and control how revenue is transferred from telephone companies to the Treasurer, the Department of Health and Human Services will administer the program itself.

"ARTICLE 2.

"Security Interest Bonds for Financing Capital Facilities for The University of North Carolina.

"§ 116D-5. Short title.

This Article may be cited as the University Improvement Security Interest Bonds Finance Act.

"§ 116D-6. Findings and purpose.

The General Assembly finds that:

(1) Article IX of the North Carolina Constitution requires the General Assembly to maintain a public system of higher education comprising The University of North Carolina, that the benefits of the University, as far as practicable, be extended to the people of North Carolina without expense.

(2) Recent studies have shown that billions of dollars will be necessary to repair and renovate the current facilities of the University, to expand the facilities to meet future enrollment demands, to modernize existing facilities of the University in order for the University to continue to provide excellent educational opportunities for the people of North Carolina, and to meet the challenges of changing technologies and globalization of economies.

(3) The University is one of the most valuable assets of the State, and the State cannot afford to permit the quality of the University to decline due to failure to maintain, expand, and modernize the facilities of the University. The failure to expend the required amounts to maintain, modernize, and expand the University will have a significant negative impact upon the continuing quality of the University. Such a negative impact is unacceptable to the citizens of the State.

(4) The University's capital facilities have been and will continue to be provided from University funds on hand, direct appropriations by the State, the proceeds of University self-liquidating debt obligations, and the proceeds of State general obligation bonds secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State. There is a need, however, for the use of alternative financing methods to facilitate funding capital facilities when circumstances and conditions warrant the use of financing methods other than those currently used.

(5) The use of State of North Carolina University Improvement Security Interest Bonds, secured by a lien on or security interest in University property acquired, constructed, or improved with the bond proceeds, with the payments of principal and interest appropriated by the General Assembly, will provide flexibility to the State in the financing of facilities for the University and will permit the State to take advantage of changing financial and economic environments.

"§ 116D-7. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Bonds. -- Bonds authorized to be issued under this Article, including refunding bonds.

(2) Notes. -- Notes issued under this Article.

(3) University improvement security interest bonds. -- Bonds authorized to be issued under this Article, including refunding bonds.

"§ 116D-8. Authorization of bonds and notes.

The State Treasurer may, by and with the consent of the Council of State, issue and sell, at one time or from time to time, university improvement security interest bonds of the State to be designated 'State of North Carolina University Improvement Security Interest Bonds', with any additional designations as may be determined to indicate the issuance of bonds from time to time, or notes of the State. Except as otherwise provided by this Article, the aggregate amount of bonds and notes issued pursuant to this Article shall not exceed two billion seven hundred million dollars ($2,700,000,000). The bonds and notes shall be issued in the following years up to the following amounts:

Fiscal Year	Aggregate Amount
1999-2000	$240,000,000
2000-2001	480,000,000
2001-2002	700,000,000
2002-2003	640,000,000
2003-2004	640,000,000

If less than the aggregate amount of bonds or notes authorized to be issued in a fiscal year is issued in that fiscal year, the balance for that fiscal year may be issued in any subsequent fiscal year. Refunding bonds and notes issued pursuant to G.S. 116D-11(f) shall not be included in the limitation on the aggregate amount of bonds and notes that may be issued pursuant to this Article.

The proceeds of bonds or notes issued under this Article shall be applied to finance the cost of improvement, construction, and acquisition of capital facilities for the University or to refund any outstanding bonds or notes issued under this Article. The capital facilities to be improved, constructed, or acquired with the proceeds of bonds or notes shall be determined as provided in G.S. 116D-9.

"§ 116D-9. Designation of capital facilities and preconditions to bond issuance.

The capital facilities to be financed in whole or in part with the proceeds of university improvement security interest bonds shall be set forth in legislation enacted from time to time by the General Assembly. The proceeds of university improvement security interest bonds shall not be expended to pay the costs of any capital facilities other than those set forth in that legislation.

"§ 116D-10. Security; other requirements.

(a) Security. -- To secure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or notes issued under this Article, the State may create a lien on or a security interest in one or more of the following:

(1) In all or any part of the capital facilities to be financed by the bonds or notes.

(2) In the case of construction of improvements on real property, in all or some portion of the land on which the improvements are to be located or in all or part of the improvements.

(3) In the case of renovations or improvements to or the installation of fixtures in existing facilities, in all or some portion of the existing facilities, or in all or part of the renovations or improvements.

Chapter 146 of the General Statutes does not apply to any transfer of the State's interest in property authorized by this Article, whether to a deed of trust trustee or other secured party as security for university improvement security interest bonds, or to a purchaser of property in connection with a foreclosure or similar conveyance of property to realize upon the security for university improvement security interest bonds following the State's default on its obligations under the bonds or notes or any trust agreement or other instrument securing payment of the bonds or notes. The security for an issue of bonds shall be set forth in general terms in the resolution of the Council of State authorizing the issuance of the bonds. The property that will be the subject of a lien, deed of trust, or security interest to secure the bonds need not bear any particular relationship to the principal amount of the bonds or notes. The State may grant multiple liens or security interests in a capital facility to the extent not otherwise limited by the terms of other issues of bonds or notes.

(b) Default. -- If university improvement security interest bonds are secured by a lien, deed of trust, or security interest in multiple items of property, the mortgage, deed of trust, or security agreement or other instrument creating the lien, deed of trust, or security interest shall provide that if the State defaults on its obligations with respect to university improvement security interest bonds, the Board of Governors, on behalf of the State, shall determine the order in which the property comprising the security shall be sold or otherwise conveyed to satisfy the obligations of the State. In carrying out the provisions of this subsection, the Board of Governors shall endeavor to select for sale or conveyance to satisfy the obligations of the State those items of property that, in the judgment of the Board of Governors, if sold, would result in the least amount of interruption to the operations of the University as a whole and its ability to carry out its mission. Any determination made by the Board of Governors in carrying out this endeavor shall be conclusive. Nothing in this subsection prohibits the sale or conveyance of up to all of the property securing university improvement security interest bonds to the extent necessary to satisfy the obligations of the State under the bonds.

(c) Governor's Budget. -- Documentation relating to any bonds or notes may include provisions requiring the Governor to submit in the Governor's budget proposal, or in any amendments or supplements to the budget proposal, appropriations necessary to make the payments required to pay the bonds or notes.

(d) Appropriations. -- Amounts payable by the State in respect of an issue of bonds or notes during any fiscal period shall be limited to funds appropriated for that purpose by the General Assembly in its discretion.

(e) State Liability. -- No deficiency judgment may be rendered against the State in any action for breach of any obligation contained in an issue of bonds or notes or any trust agreement or other instrument securing payment of the bonds or notes. The taxing power of the State is not and may not be pledged directly or indirectly to secure any moneys due under an issue of bonds or notes. In the event that the State fails to pay any payments required under or with respect to an issue of bonds or notes, whether on account of a failure by the General Assembly to appropriate sufficient funds for the payment or for some other reason, the net proceeds received from the sale or other disposition of the capital facilities subject to the lien or security interest securing the bonds or notes shall be applied to satisfy the payment obligations in accordance with the deed of trust, security agreement, or other documentation relating to the lien or security interest, and the net proceeds are hereby appropriated for the purpose of making those payments. Any net proceeds in excess of the amount required to satisfy the obligations of the State under an issue of bonds or notes shall be paid to the State Treasurer for deposit to the General Fund.

(f) Nonsubstitution Clause. -- No documentation relating to an issue of bonds or notes may contain a nonsubstitution clause that restricts the right of the State to (i) continue to provide a service or conduct an activity or (ii) replace or provide a substitute for any capital facility financed or purchased by the bonds or notes.

(g) Terms Protecting Lender. -- The documentation relating to an issue of bonds or notes may contain provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the owners of the bonds or notes that are reasonable and proper and not in violation of law. It may include covenants setting forth the duties of the State in respect of the purposes to which the proceeds of the bonds or notes may be applied, the disposition and application of any appropriations of the State, and the duties of the State with respect to the capital facilities financed, including, without limitation, the payment of the costs of insurance and maintenance of the capital facilities, the terms under which the collateral securing the bonds may be released or substitute collateral may be delivered, the terms and conditions of the issuance of additional bonds or notes similarly secured, and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of all moneys.

(h) Statement on Face of Bonds. -- Bonds issued under this Article shall contain on their face a statement to the effect that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or of any political subdivision or instrumentality of the State is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on the bonds.

"§ 116D-11. Issuance of bonds and notes.

(a) Terms and Conditions. -- Bonds or notes may bear any dates, may be serial or term bonds or notes, or any combination of these, may mature in any amounts and at any times, not exceeding 25 years from their dates, may be payable at any places, either within or without the United States, in any coin or currency of the United States that at the time of payment is legal tender for payment of public and private debts, may bear interest at any rates, which may vary from time to time, and may be made redeemable before maturity, at the option of the State or otherwise as may be provided by the State, at any prices, including a price greater than the face amount of the bonds or notes, and under any terms and conditions, all as may be determined by the State Treasurer, by and with the consent of the Council of State.

(b) Signatures; Form and Denomination; Registration. -- Bonds or notes may be issued in certificated or uncertificated form. If issued in certificated form, bonds or notes shall be signed on behalf of the State by the Governor or shall bear the Governor's facsimile signature, shall be signed by the State Treasurer or shall bear the State Treasurer's facsimile signature, and shall bear the Great Seal of the State or a facsimile of the Seal impressed or imprinted on them. If bonds or notes bear the facsimile signatures of the Governor and the State Treasurer, the bonds or notes shall also bear a manual signature which may be that of a bond registrar, trustee, paying agent, or designated assistant of the State Treasurer. The form and denomination of bonds or notes, including the provisions with respect to registration of the bonds or notes and any system for their registration, shall be as the State Treasurer may determine in conformity with this Article.

(c) Manner of Sale; Expenses. -- Subject to the approval by the Council of State as to the manner in which bonds or notes shall be offered for sale, whether at public or private sale, whether within or without the United States, and whether by publishing notices in certain newspapers and financial journals, mailing notices, inviting bids by correspondence, negotiating contracts of purchase or otherwise, the State Treasurer is authorized to sell bonds or notes at one time or from time to time at any rates of interest, which may vary from time to time, and at any prices, including a price less than the face amount of the bonds or notes, as the State Treasurer may determine. All expenses incurred in the preparation, sale, and issuance of bonds or notes shall be paid by the State Treasurer from the proceeds of bonds or notes or other available moneys.

(d) Application of Proceeds. -- The proceeds of any bonds or notes shall be used solely for the purposes for which the bonds or notes were issued and shall be disbursed in the manner and under the restrictions, if any, that the Council of State may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or in any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

Any additional moneys which may be received by means of a grant or grants from the United States or any agency or department thereof or from any other source to aid in financing the cost of a capital facility may be disbursed, to the extent permitted by the terms of the grant or grants, without regard to any limitations imposed by this Article.

(e) Notes; Repayment. -- By and with the consent of the Council of State, the State Treasurer is authorized to borrow money and to execute and issue notes of the State for the same, but only in the following circumstances and under the following conditions:

(1) For anticipating the sale of bonds, the issuance of which the Council of State has approved, if the State Treasurer considers it advisable to postpone the issuance of the bonds.

(2) For the payment of interest on or any installment of principal of any bonds then outstanding, if there are not sufficient funds in the State treasury with which to pay the interest or installment or principal as they respectively become due.

(3) For the renewal of any loan evidenced by notes authorized in this Article.

(4) For the purposes authorized in this Article.

(5) For refunding bonds or notes as authorized in this Article.

Funds derived from the sale of bonds or notes may be used in the payment of any bond anticipation notes issued under this Article. Funds provided by the General Assembly for the payment of interest on or principal of bonds shall be used in paying the interest on or principal of any notes and any renewals thereof, the proceeds of which have been used in paying interest on or principal of the bonds.

(f) Refunding Bonds and Notes. -- By and with the consent of the Council of State, the State Treasurer is authorized to issue and sell refunding bonds and notes for the purpose of refunding bonds or notes issued pursuant to this Article and to pay the cost of issuance of the refunding bonds or notes. The refunding bonds and notes may be combined with any other issues of State bonds and notes similarly secured. Refunding bonds or notes may be issued at any time prior to the final maturity of the debt or obligation to be refunded. The proceeds from the sale of any refunding bonds or notes shall be applied to the immediate payment and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded or, if not required for the immediate payment of the bonds or notes being refunded, the proceeds shall be deposited in trust to provide for the payment and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded and to pay any expenses incurred in connection with the refunding. Money in a trust fund may be invested in (i) direct obligations of the United States government, (ii) obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by the United States government, (iii) obligations of any agency or instrumentality of the United States government if the timely payment of principal and interest on the obligations is unconditionally guaranteed by the United States government, or (iv) certificates of deposit issued by a bank or trust company located in the State if the certificates are secured by a pledge of any of the obligations described in (i), (ii), or (iii) above having an aggregate market value, exclusive of accrued interest, equal at least to the principal amount of the certificates so secured. This section does not limit the duration of any deposit in trust for the retirement of bonds or notes being refunded but that have not matured and are not presently redeemable, or if presently redeemable, have not been called for redemption.

(g) Trust Agreement. -- In the discretion of the State Treasurer, any bonds and notes issued under the provisions of this Article may be secured by a trust agreement or similar instrument by and between the State and a corporate trustee or by a resolution of the Council of State providing for the appointment of a corporate trustee. The corporate trustee may be, in either case, any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. The trust agreement or resolution may provide for security, and pledges and assignments with respect to the security, as permitted under this Article and may provide for the granting of a lien or security interest in the property as authorized in G.S. 116D-10. The trust agreement or resolution may contain provisions for the terms and conditions of the issuance of additional bonds and notes, and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of all moneys. All bonds and notes issued under this Article shall be equally and ratably secured as provided in the trust agreement or resolution, without priority by reasons of number, or dates of bonds or notes, execution, or delivery, in accordance with the provisions of this Article and of the trust agreement or resolution. The trust agreement or resolution may, however, provide that the bonds or notes shall, to the extent and in the manner prescribed in the trust agreement or resolution, be subordinated and junior in standing, with respect to the payment of principal and interest and to the security thereof, to any other bonds or notes. It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company that may act as depositary of the proceeds of bonds or notes, revenues, or any other money under this Article to furnish any indemnifying bonds or to pledge any securities as may be required by the State Treasurer. Any trust agreement or resolution may set out the rights and remedies of the owners of any bonds or notes and of any trustee, and may restrict the individual rights of action by the owners. In addition to the foregoing, any trust agreement or resolution may contain other provisions that the State Treasurer considers reasonable and proper for the security of the owners of any bonds or notes. Expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of any trust agreement or resolution may be treated as a part of the cost of any capital facility or as an administrative charge and may be paid from the proceeds of the bonds or notes or from any other available funds.

"§ 116D-12. Variable rate demand bonds and notes.

(a) In fixing the details of bonds and notes, the State Treasurer may provide that the bonds and notes may:

(1) Be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner, if a credit facility supports the bonds or notes, unless the State Treasurer specifically determines that a credit facility is not required upon a finding and determination by the State Treasurer that the absence of a credit facility will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the State and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the State.

(2) Be additionally supported by a credit facility.

(3) Be made subject to redemption or a mandatory tender for purchase prior to maturity.

(4) Bear interest at rates that may vary from any periods of time, as may be provided in the proceedings providing for the issuance of the bonds or notes, including, without limitation, any variations as may be permitted pursuant to a par formula.

(5) Be made the subject of a remarketing agreement whereby an attempt is made to remarket bonds or notes to new purchasers prior to their presentment for payment to the provider of the credit facility or to the State.

(b) If the aggregate principal amount payable by the State under a credit facility is in excess of the aggregate principal amount of bonds or notes secured by the credit facility, whether as a result of the inclusion in the credit facility of a provision for the payment of interest for a limited period of time or the payment of a redemption premium, or for any other reason, then the amount of authorized but unissued bonds or notes during the term of the credit facility shall not be less than the amount of the excess, unless the payment of the excess is otherwise provided for by agreement of the State executed by the State Treasurer.

"§ 116D-13. Other agreements.

The State Treasurer may authorize, execute, obtain, or otherwise provide for bond insurance, investment contracts, credit and liquidity facilities, interest rate swap agreements and other derivative products, and any other related instruments and matters the State Treasurer determines are desirable in connection with the issuance of bonds or notes. The State Treasurer is authorized to employ and designate any financial consultants, underwriters, and bond attorneys to be associated with any bond issue under this Article as the State Treasurer considers necessary.

"ARTICLE 3.

"Special Obligation Bonds for Improvements to the Facilities of The University of North Carolina.

"§ 116D-21. Purpose.

The purpose of this Article is to authorize the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina to issue special obligation bonds, payable from obligated resources, but with no pledge of taxes or the faith and credit of the State or any agency or political subdivision of the State, to pay the cost, in whole or in part, of improvements to the facilities of the University.

"§ 116D-22. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Existing facilities. -- Buildings and facilities then existing that generate income or receipts to the Board of Governors that are pledged, under the provisions of a resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds under this Article, to the payment of the bonds.

(2) Institution. -- Each of the institutions enumerated in G.S. 116-2, and any affiliated institutions of the University, including, without limitation, the University of North Carolina Center for Public Television, the University of North Carolina Health Care System, the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics, and the North Carolina Arboretum.

(3) Obligated resources. -- Any sources of income or receipts of the Board of Governors or the institution at which a special obligation bond project is or will be located that are designated by the Board as the security and source of payment for bonds issued under this Article to finance a special obligation bond project, including, without limitation, any of the following:

a. Rents, charges, or fees to be derived by the Board of Governors or the institution from any activities conducted at the institution.

b. Earnings on the investment of the endowment fund of the institution at which a special obligation project will be located, to the extent that the use of the earnings will not violate any lawful condition placed by the donor upon the part of the endowment fund that generates the investment earnings.

c. Funds to be received under a contract or a grant agreement, including 'overhead costs reimbursement' under a grant agreement, entered into by the Board of Governors or the institution to the extent the use of the funds is not restricted by the terms of the contract or grant agreement or the use of the funds as provided in this Article does not violate the restriction.

Obligated resources do not include funds appropriated to the Board of Governors or the institution from the General Fund by the General Assembly from funds derived from general tax and other revenues of the State, and obligated resources do not include tuition payment by students.

(4) Special obligation bonds. -- Bonds issued under this Article to finance the cost of a special obligation project, which bonds are secured by and payable from obligated resources designated by the Board of Governors at the time the issuance of the bonds is authorized in accordance with this Article.

(5) Special obligation bond project. -- Any capital facilities located or to be located at an institution for the purpose of carrying out the mission of that institution and designated specifically by the Board of Governors as a 'special obligation bond project' for purposes of this Article. A special obligation bond project need not necessarily consist of buildings or facilities that are expected to generate 'self-liquidating revenues' to the Board of Governors or the institution from direct rentals, charges, or fees from the services provided by the building or facility, and may include facilities such as classroom buildings, administration buildings, research facilities, libraries, and equipment that do not produce direct, or indirect, income to the Board of Governors or the institution.

"§ 116D-23. Credit and taxing power of State not pledged; statement on face of bonds.

Special obligation bonds issued under this Article shall not constitute a debt or liability of the State or any political subdivision of the State or a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or of any political subdivision of the State. Special obligation bonds shall be secured solely by the obligated resources pledged to their payment. All of the special obligation bonds shall contain on their face a statement to the effect that neither the State nor the Board of Governors is obligated to pay the bonds or the interest on the bonds except from the obligated resources pledged for payment and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or of any political subdivision or instrumentality of the State is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on the bonds. The issuance of special obligation bonds under this Article does not directly or indirectly or contingently obligate the State or any political subdivision of the State to levy or to pledge any taxes for the bonds.

"§ 116D-24. General powers of Board of Governors.

The Board of Governors is authorized, subject to the requirements of this Article, to do all of the following:

(1) Determine the location and character of any special obligation bond project, to acquire, construct, and provide the project, and to maintain, repair, and operate and enter into contracts for the management, lease, use, or operation of all or any portion of any special obligation bond project and any existing facilities.

(2) Issue special obligation bonds to pay all or any part of the cost of a special obligation bond project, and to fund or refund any bonds previously issued by the Board of Governors to finance facilities designated as a special obligation bond project.

"§ 116D-25. Consultation with the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations.

Whenever this Article requires the approval of the Director of the Budget of an action, the Director of the Budget may consult with the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations before giving approval.

"§ 116D-26. Issuance of special obligation bonds and bond anticipation notes.

(a) Authority. -- The Board of Governors may issue, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, at one time or from time to time, special obligation bonds of the Board of Governors for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of acquiring, constructing, or providing a special obligation project. Before issuing special obligation bonds, the Board of Governors shall first adopt a resolution (i) setting forth the designation by the Board of Governors that the buildings or facilities to be financed by the bond issue are the special obligation bond project being financed and (ii) designating the obligated resources that will secure and be the source of payment of the special obligation bonds to be issued. The Board of Governors shall not issue any special obligation bonds unless the Board of Governors finds that sufficient obligated resources are reasonably expected to be available (i) to pay the principal and interest on the special obligation bonds proposed to be issued, (ii) to create and maintain any reserves for the payment of the special obligation bonds, to the extent the Board of Governors is required to maintain reserves for this purpose by the terms of the trust agreement or resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds, and (iii) to provide for the maintenance and operation of the facilities that are to generate the obligated resources to the extent the Board of Governors is required to maintain those facilities by the terms of the trust agreement or resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Article, the proceeds of special obligation bonds to be secured by obligated resources derived from the operation of or activities at one institution may not be applied to finance a special obligation project to be located at another institution.

(b) Approval Required. -- The Board of Governors shall not issue any special obligation bonds for a project at an institution unless the board of trustees of that institution has approved the issuance of bonds for that project. The Board of Governors shall not issue special obligation bonds under this Article until the effective date of legislation enacted by the General Assembly authorizing the undertaking of the special obligation bond project to be financed and fixing the maximum aggregate principal amount of special obligation bonds that shall be issued for that purpose. In submitting proposed special obligation bond projects to the General Assembly for approval, the Board of Governors shall submit information on the need for each project, project costs, estimates of increased operating costs upon completion, estimated debt service requirements, and the sources and amounts of obligated resources to be pledged for the repayment of the bonds. If the obligated resources to repay the bonds or to operate the proposed project potentially involve increased costs to students or to the General Fund, these costs shall be identified in the Board of Governors' submission.

Except as provided in this Article, special obligation bond projects may be undertaken, special obligation bonds may be issued, and other powers vested in the Board of Governors under this Article may be exercised by the Board without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things other than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by this Article.

(c) Term; Form. -- The special obligation bonds of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at any times not exceeding 25 years from their dates, shall bear interest at any rates as may be determined by the Board of Governors, and may be redeemable before maturity at the option of the Board, at any prices and under any terms and conditions as may be fixed by the Board prior to the issuance of the special obligation bonds. The Board of Governors shall determine the form and manner of execution of the special obligation bonds and shall fix the denominations of the special obligation bonds and the places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this Article or any recitals in any special obligation bonds issued under the provisions of this Article, all special obligation bonds shall be negotiable instruments under the laws of this State, subject only to the provisions for registration in a resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds or a trust agreement securing the bonds. The Board of Governors may sell the special obligation bonds in any manner, at public or private sale, and for any price, as it may determine to be for its best interests.

(d) Proceeds; Additional Bonds. -- The proceeds of the special obligation bonds of each issue shall be used solely for the purpose for which the bonds have been authorized and shall be disbursed in the manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the Board of Governors may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bonds or in the trust agreement securing them. Unless otherwise provided in the authorizing resolution or in the trust agreement securing the special obligation bonds, if the proceeds of the special obligation bonds, by error of estimates or otherwise, are less than the cost of the special obligation bond project, additional bonds may in like manner be issued to provide the amount of the deficit and shall be deemed to be of the same issue and shall be entitled to payment from the same fund without preference or priority of the bonds first issued for the same purpose.

The resolution providing for the issuance of special obligation bonds, and any trust agreement securing them, may also contain limitations upon the issuance of additional special obligation bonds as the Board of Governors considers proper, and the additional special obligation bonds must be issued under the restrictions and limitations prescribed by the resolution or trust agreement.

(e) Temporary Bonds; Notes. -- Before preparing definitive bonds, the Board of Governors may, under like restrictions, issue interim receipts or temporary bonds exchangeable for definitive bonds when the bonds have been executed and are available for delivery. The Board may also provide for the replacement of any bonds which become mutilated, destroyed, or lost.

The Board of Governors may enter into or negotiate a note with an acceptable bank or trust company in lieu of issuing special obligation bonds for the financing of special obligation bond projects covered under this Article. The terms and conditions of any note of this nature shall be in accordance with the terms and conditions surrounding issuance of the special obligation bonds.

(f) Bond Anticipation Notes. -- The Board of Governors may issue, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, at one time or from time to time, bond anticipation notes of the Board of Governors in anticipation of the issuance of special obligation bonds authorized by this Article. The principal of and the interest on these notes shall be payable solely from the proceeds of special obligation bonds or renewal notes or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, from the obligated resources designated for their payment. The notes of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at any times not exceeding two years from their dates, shall bear interest at any rates as may be determined by the Board of Governors, and may be redeemable before maturity, at the option of the Board of Governors, at any prices and under any terms and conditions as may be fixed by the Board of Governors prior to the issuance of the notes. The Board shall determine the form and the manner of execution of the notes and shall fix the denominations of the notes and the places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this Article or any recitals in any notes issued under the provisions of this Article, all notes shall be negotiable instruments under the laws of this State, subject only to the provisions for registration in a resolution authorizing the issuance of the notes or any trust agreement securing the bonds in anticipation of which the notes are being issued. The Board of Governors may sell the notes in any manner, at public or private sale, and for any price, as it may determine to be for its best interests.

The proceeds of the notes of each issue shall be used solely for the purpose for which the special obligation bonds in anticipation of which the notes are being issued have been authorized, and the note proceeds shall be disbursed in any manner and under any restrictions as the Board of Governors may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of the notes or bonds or in the trust agreement securing the special obligation bonds.

The resolution providing for the issuance of notes, and any trust agreement securing the special obligation bonds in anticipation of which the notes are being authorized, may also contain limitations upon the issuance of additional notes as the Board of Governors considers proper, and such additional notes shall be issued under the restrictions and limitations prescribed by the resolution or trust agreement. The Board may also provide for the replacement of any notes which shall become mutilated, destroyed, or lost.

Except as provided in this Article, notes may be issued under this Article and other powers vested in the Board of Governors under this Article may be exercised by the Board without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by this Article.

Unless the context indicates otherwise, the word 'bonds', wherever used in this Article, include the words 'bond anticipation notes'.

"§ 116D-27. Trust agreement; money received deemed trust funds; insurance; remedies.

(a) Trust Agreement Securing Bonds. -- In the discretion of the Board of Governors and subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, any special obligation bonds issued under this Article may be secured by a trust agreement by and between the Board of Governors and a corporate trustee, which may be any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. The trust agreement or the resolution providing for the issuance of special obligation bonds may pledge or assign the obligated resources designated as security for the special obligation bonds, but shall not convey or mortgage any property of the institution. The trust agreement or resolution providing for the issuance of special obligation bonds may contain provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the holders of the special obligation bonds that are reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including covenants setting forth the duties of the Board of Governors in relation to the acquisition, construction, or provision of any of the charging and collecting of any rates, fees, or charges that have been designated as obligated resources, the maintenance, repair, operation, and insurance of any property of the institution, and the custody, safeguarding, and application of all moneys. It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the State which may act as depositary of the proceeds of special obligation bonds or funds securing special obligation bonds to furnish any indemnifying bonds or to pledge any securities as may be required by the Board of Governors. A trust agreement or resolution may set forth the rights and remedies of the holders of the special obligation bonds and the rights, remedies, and immunities of the trustee or trustees, if any, and may restrict the individual right of action by the holders. In addition to the foregoing, a trust agreement or resolution may contain other provisions the Board of Governors considers reasonable and proper for the security of the holders. All expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of the trust agreement or resolution may be treated as a part of the cost of the special obligation bond projects for which the special obligation bonds are issued or as an expense of operation of the special obligation bond project.

(b) Trust Funds. -- All moneys received pursuant to the authority of this Article, whether as proceeds from the sale of bonds, or as obligated resources, are trust funds to be held and applied solely as provided in this Article. The Board of Governors may provide for the payment of all or part of the proceeds of the sale of the special obligation bonds and the obligated resources to any officer, board, or depositary that it may designate for their custody, and may provide for their method of disbursement, with any safeguards and restrictions it may determine. Any officer with whom, or any bank or trust company with which, moneys are deposited shall act as trustee of the moneys and shall hold and apply them for the purposes of this Article, subject to any requirements provided in this Article and in the resolution or trust agreement, authorizing or securing the special obligation bonds.

(c) Insurance. -- Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the Board of Governors may carry insurance on any special obligation bond projects and any existing facilities in any amounts and covering any risks it considers advisable.

(d) Remedies. -- Any holder of special obligation bonds issued under this Article and the trustees under a trust agreement, except to the extent the rights given in this section may be restricted by the trust agreement or the resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds, may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceedings, protect and enforce any and all rights under the laws of the State or granted under this Article or under the trust agreement or resolution, and may enforce and compel the performance of all duties required by this Article or by the trust agreement or resolution to be performed by the Board of Governors or by any of its officers, including the fixing, charging, and collecting of obligated resources.

"§ 116D-28. Fixing and collecting obligated resources.

(a) Board to Provide Sufficient Resources. -- For the purpose of aiding in the financing of a special obligation bond project and to provide security to the owners of the special obligation bonds issued to finance the special obligation bond project, the Board of Governors is authorized, to the extent the generation of the obligated resources is in the control of the Board, to fix, revise from time to time, charge, and collect the rents, charges, fees, or other revenues constituting the obligated resources. Fees and other revenue sources constituting obligated resources may be imposed or increased only with the approval of the Board of Governors. As long as any special obligation bonds issued under this Article and payable from those obligated resources are outstanding, the obligated resources, to the extent within the control of the Board of Governors, shall be so fixed and adjusted, with relation to other funds available, as to provide funds pursuant to the requirements of the resolution or trust agreement authorizing or securing the special obligation bonds and at least sufficient to pay the principal of and the interest on the special obligation bonds as they become due and payable, to assure the continued collection of the obligated resources, and to create and maintain reserves for these purposes. A sufficient amount of the obligated resources, except any part that may be necessary to pay the cost of maintenance, repair, and operation, and to provide reserves for these purposes and for renewals, replacements, extensions, enlargements, and improvements as may be provided for in the resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds or in the trust agreement securing the same, shall be set aside at regular intervals as may be provided in the resolution or trust agreement authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds in a sinking fund which is hereby pledged to, and charged with, the payment of the principal of and the interest on the special obligation bonds as they become due and the redemption price or the purchase price of special obligation bonds retired by call or purchase as provided in the resolution or trust agreement. This pledge shall be valid and binding from the time it is made, the obligated resources so pledged and thereafter received by the Board of Governors shall immediately be subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery of the pledge or further act, and the lien of the pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against the Board of Governors, irrespective of whether the parties have notice of the pledge. Neither the resolution nor any trust agreement by which a pledge is created need be filed or recorded except in the records of the Board of Governors. The use and disposition of moneys to the credit of the sinking fund shall be subject to the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of the special obligation bonds or of the trust agreement securing the bonds.

(b) State Pledge. -- The State pledges to, and agrees with, the holders of any special obligation bonds or notes issued by the Board of Governors pursuant to this Article that as long as any of the special obligation bonds or notes are outstanding and unpaid, the State will not limit or alter the rights vested in the Board of Governors at the time of issuance of the special obligation bonds or notes to set the terms and conditions of the special obligation bonds or notes and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the bondholders or noteholders. The State shall in no way impair the rights and remedies of the bondholders or noteholders until the special obligation bonds or notes and all costs and expenses in connection with any action or proceedings by or on behalf of the bondholders or noteholders are fully paid, met, and discharged.

"§ 116D-29. Vesting powers in committee.

The Board of Governors may authorize its budget and finance committee to sell any special obligation bonds which the Board has, with the approval of the Director of the Budget, authorized to be issued under this Article in any manner and under any limitations or conditions as the Board prescribes and to perform other functions under this Article the Board determines.

"§ 116D-30. Refunding bonds.

The Board of Governors may, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, issue from time to time refunding bonds for the purpose of refunding any bonds by the Board under this Article or under any Article of Chapter 116 of the General Statutes, including the payment of any redemption premium on them and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption of the bonds refunded. The Board of Governors is further authorized, subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget, to issue from time to time refunding bonds for the combined purpose of (i) refunding any bonds issued by the Board under this Article or under any Article of Chapter 116 of the General Statutes, including the payment of any redemption premium on them and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption of the bonds, and (ii) paying all or any part of the cost of acquiring or constructing any additional special obligation bond projects.

This Article, as applicable, governs the issuance of refunding bonds, their maturities and other details, the rights and remedies of their holders, and the rights, powers, privileges, duties, and obligations of the Board of Governors with respect to them.

"§ 116D-31. Additional and alternative method.

This Article provides an additional and alternative method for the doing of the things authorized and is supplemental and additional to powers conferred by other laws, including G.S. 116-175 to G.S. 116-185, inclusive and G.S. 116-197 and G.S. 116-198, and is not in derogation of or repealing any powers now existing under any other law, whether general, special, or local. The issuance of special obligation bonds or refunding bonds under this Article, however, need not comply with the requirements of any other law applicable to the issuance of bonds.

"ARTICLE 4.

"Community Colleges Facilities Security Interest Finance Act.

"§ 116D-40. Short title.

This Article may be cited as the Community College Facilities Security Interest Finance Act.

"§ 116D-41. Findings and purpose.

The General Assembly finds as follows:

(1) There is a continuing need for capital facilities for the State's community colleges, many of which will continue to be provided from current appropriations by counties, proceeds of various types of indebtedness incurred by counties for community college purposes, appropriations by the State, and the proceeds of State general obligation bonds secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State. There is a need, however, for the use of alternative financing methods such as authorized in this Article to facilitate the providing of capital facilities when circumstances and conditions warrant the providing of capital facilities through a financing method other than those previously used.

(2) The use of State of North Carolina Community College Security Interest Bonds, secured by a lien on or security interest in the community college property acquired, constructed, or improved with the bond proceeds, and the payment of principal and interest on which are subject to appropriation at the discretion of the General Assembly, will provide financing flexibility to counties and the State and permit the counties and the State to take advantage of changing financial and economic environments.

"§ 116D-42. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Bonds. -- Bonds authorized to be issued under this Article, including refunding bonds.

(2) Community college. -- Defined in G.S. 115D-2.

(3) Community college security interest bonds. -- Bonds authorized to be issued under this Article, including refunding bonds.

(4) Community Colleges System Office. -- The North Carolina Community Colleges System Office, created by Article 1 of Chapter 115D of the General Statutes, or if the Community Colleges System Office is abolished or otherwise divested of its functions under this Article, the public body succeeding it in its principal functions, or upon which are conferred by law the rights, powers, and duties given by this Article to the Community Colleges System Office.

(5) Notes. -- Notes issued under this Article.

"§ 116D-43. Authorization of bonds and notes.

Upon the application of the Community Colleges System Office, the State Treasurer may, by and with the consent of the Council of State, issue and sell, at one time or from time to time, community college security interest bonds of the State to be designated 'State of North Carolina Community College Security Interest Bonds', with any additional designations as may be determined to indicate the issuance of bonds from time to time, or notes of the State. Except as otherwise provided by this Article, the aggregate amount of bonds and notes issued pursuant to this Article shall not exceed three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000). Refunding bonds and notes issued pursuant to G.S. 116D-46(f) shall not be included in the limitation on the aggregate amount of bonds and notes that may be issued pursuant to this Article.

The proceeds of bonds or notes issued under this Article shall be applied to finance the cost of grants to be made by the State to community colleges to finance the cost of capital facilities for the community college or to refund any outstanding bonds or notes issued under this Article. The capital facilities to be improved, constructed, or acquired with the proceeds of bonds or notes shall be determined as provided in G.S. 116D-44.

"§ 116D-44. Designation of capital facilities and preconditions to bond issuance.

The capital facilities to be financed in whole or in part with the proceeds of community college security interest bonds shall be described in legislation enacted from time to time by the General Assembly. The proceeds of community college security interest bonds shall not be expended to pay the costs of any capital facilities other than those described in that legislation.

"§ 116D-45. Security; other requirements.

(a) Security. -- To secure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or notes issued under this Article, each community college that receives a grant pursuant to this Article, and each county to the extent it owns the capital facilities to be acquired or improved by a grant from the State pursuant to this Article, may create a lien on or a security interest in one or more of the following:

(1) In all or any part of the capital facilities to be financed by the bonds or notes.

(2) In the case of construction of improvements on real property, in all or some portion of the land on which the improvements are to be located or in all or part of the improvements.

(3) In the case of renovations or improvements to or the installation of fixtures in existing facilities, in all or some portion of the existing facilities or in all or part of the renovations or improvements.

The security for an issue of bonds shall be set forth in general terms in the resolution of the Council of State authorizing the issuance of the bonds. The property that will be the subject of a lien, deed of trust, or security interest to secure the bonds need not bear any particular relationship to the principal amount of the bonds or notes. A community college or county may grant multiple liens or security interests in a capital facility to the extent not otherwise limited by the terms of other issues of bonds or notes.

(b) Default. -- If community college security interest bonds are secured by a lien, deed of trust, or security interest in multiple items of property, the mortgage, deed of trust, or security agreement or other instrument creating the lien, deed of trust, or security interest shall provide that if the State defaults on its obligations with respect to community college security interest bonds, the Community Colleges System Office, on behalf of the State, shall determine the order in which the property comprising the security shall be sold or otherwise conveyed to satisfy the obligations of the State. In carrying out the provisions of this subsection, the Community Colleges System Office shall endeavor to select for sale or conveyance to satisfy the obligations of the State those items of property that, in the judgment of the Community Colleges System Office, if sold, would result in the least amount of interruption to the operations of the State's community college system as a whole and its ability to carry out its mission. Any determination made by the Community Colleges System Office in carrying out this endeavor shall be conclusive. Nothing in this subsection prohibits the sale or conveyance of up to all of the property securing community college security interest bonds to the extent necessary to satisfy the obligations of the State under the bonds.

(c) Governor's Budget. -- Documentation relating to any bonds or notes may include provisions requiring the Governor to submit in the Governor's budget proposal, or in any amendments or supplements to the budget proposal, appropriations necessary to make the payments required to pay the bonds or notes.

(d) Appropriations. -- Amounts payable by the State in respect of an issue of bonds or notes during any fiscal period shall be limited to funds appropriated for that purpose by the General Assembly in its discretion.

(e) State Liability. -- No deficiency judgment may be rendered against the State in any action for breach of any obligation contained in an issue of bonds or notes. The taxing power of the State is not and may not be pledged directly or indirectly to secure any moneys due under an issue of bonds or notes. In the event that the State fails to pay any payments required under or with respect to an issue of bonds or notes, whether on account of a failure by the General Assembly to appropriate sufficient funds for the payment or for some other reason, the net proceeds received from the sale or other disposition of the capital facilities subject to the lien or security interest securing the bonds or notes shall be applied to satisfy the payment obligations in accordance with the deed of trust, security agreement, or other documentation relating to the lien or security interest, and the net proceeds are hereby appropriated for the purpose of making those payments. Any net proceeds in excess of the amount required to satisfy the obligations of the State under an issue of bonds or notes shall be paid to the State Treasurer for deposit to the General Fund.

(f) Nonsubstitution Clause. -- No documentation relating to an issue of bonds or notes may contain a nonsubstitution clause that restricts the right of the State, a community college, or a county to (i) continue to provide a service or conduct an activity or (ii) replace or provide a substitute for any capital facility financed or purchased by the bonds or notes.

(g) Terms Protecting Lender. -- The documentation relating to an issue of bonds or notes, or relating to the security for an issue of bonds or notes, may contain provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the owners of the bonds or notes that are reasonable and proper and not in violation of law. The documentation may include covenants setting forth the duties of the State or a community college in respect of the purposes to which the proceeds of the bonds or notes may be applied, the disposition and application of any appropriations of the State, and the duties of the State or a community college with respect to the capital facilities financed, including, without limitation, the payment of the costs of insurance and maintenance of the capital facilities, the terms under which the collateral securing the bonds may be released or substitute collateral may be delivered, the terms and conditions of the issuance of additional bonds or notes similarly secured, and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of all moneys.

(h) Statement on Face of Bonds. -- Bonds issued under this Article shall contain on their face a statement to the effect that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or of any political subdivision or instrumentality of the State is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on the bonds.

"§ 116D-46. Issuance of bonds and notes.

(a) Terms and Conditions. -- Bonds or notes may bear any dates, may be serial or term bonds or notes, or any combination of these, may mature in any amounts and at any times, not exceeding 25 years from their dates, may be payable at any places, either within or without the United States, in any coin or currency of the United States that at the time of payment is legal tender for payment of public and private debts, may bear interest at any rates, which may vary from time to time, and may be made redeemable before maturity, at the option of the State or otherwise as may be provided by the State, at any prices, including a price greater than the face amount of the bonds or notes, and under any terms and conditions, all as may be determined by the State Treasurer, by and with the consent of the Council of State.

(b) Signatures; Form and Denomination; Registration. -- Bonds or notes may be issued in certificated or uncertificated form. If issued in certificated form, bonds or notes shall be signed on behalf of the State by the Governor or shall bear the Governor's facsimile signature, shall be signed by the State Treasurer or shall bear the State Treasurer's facsimile signature, and shall bear the Great Seal of the State or a facsimile of the Seal impressed or imprinted on them. If bonds or notes bear the facsimile signatures of the Governor and the State Treasurer, the bonds or notes shall also bear a manual signature which may be that of a bond registrar, trustee, paying agent, or designated assistant of the State Treasurer. The form and denomination of bonds or notes, including the provisions with respect to registration of the bonds or notes and any system for their registration, shall be as the State Treasurer may determine in conformity with this Article.

(c) Manner of Sale; Expenses. -- Subject to the approval by the Council of State as to the manner in which bonds or notes shall be offered for sale, whether at public or private sale, whether within or without the United States, and whether by publishing notices in certain newspapers and financial journals, mailing notices, inviting bids by correspondence, negotiating contracts of purchase or otherwise, the State Treasurer is authorized to sell bonds or notes at one time or from time to time at any rates of interest, which may vary from time to time, and at any prices, including a price less than the face amount of the bonds or notes, as the State Treasurer may determine. All expenses incurred in the preparation, sale, and issuance of bonds or notes shall be paid by the State Treasurer from the proceeds of bonds or notes or other available moneys.

(d) Application of Proceeds. -- The proceeds of any bonds or notes shall be used solely for the purposes for which the bonds or notes were issued and shall be disbursed in the manner and under the restrictions, if any, that the Council of State may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or in any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

Any additional moneys which may be received by means of a grant or grants from the United States or any agency or department thereof or from any other source to aid in financing the cost of a capital facility may be disbursed, to the extent permitted by the terms of the grant or grants, without regard to any limitations imposed by this Article.

(e) Notes; Repayment. -- By and with the consent of the Council of State, the State Treasurer is authorized to borrow money and to execute and issue notes of the State for the same, but only in the following circumstances and under the following conditions:

(1) For anticipating the sale of bonds the issuance of which the Council of State has approved, if the State Treasurer considers it advisable to postpone the issuance of the bonds.

(2) For the payment of interest on or any installment of principal of any bonds then outstanding, if there are not sufficient funds in the State treasury with which to pay the interest or installment or principal as they respectively become due.

(3) For the renewal of any loan evidenced by notes authorized in this Article.

(4) For the purposes authorized in this Article.

(5) For refunding bonds or notes as authorized in this Article.

Funds derived from the sale of bonds or notes may be used in the payment of any bond anticipation notes issued under this Article. Funds provided by the General Assembly for the payment of interest on or principal of bonds shall be used in paying the interest on or principal of any notes and any renewals thereof, the proceeds of which have been used in paying interest on or principal of the bonds.

(f) Refunding Bonds and Notes. -- By and with the consent of the Council of State, the State Treasurer is authorized to issue and sell refunding bonds and notes for the purpose of refunding bonds or notes issued pursuant to this Article and to pay the cost of issuance of the refunding bonds or notes. The refunding bonds and notes may be combined with any other issues of State bonds and notes similarly secured. Refunding bonds or notes may be issued at any time prior to the final maturity of the debt or obligation to be refunded. The proceeds from the sale of any refunding bonds or notes shall be applied to the immediate payment and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded or, if not required for the immediate payment of the bonds or notes being refunded, the proceeds shall be deposited in trust to provide for the payment and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded and to pay any expenses incurred in connection with the refunding. Money in a trust fund may be invested in (i) direct obligations of the United States government, (ii) obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by the United States government, (iii) obligations of any agency or instrumentality of the United States government if the timely payment of principal and interest on the obligations is unconditionally guaranteed by the United States government, or (iv) certificates of deposit issued by a bank or trust company located in the State if the certificates are secured by a pledge of any of the obligations described in (i), (ii), or (iii) above having an aggregate market value, exclusive of accrued interest, equal at least to the principal amount of the certificates so secured. This section does not limit the duration of any deposit in trust for the retirement of bonds or notes being refunded but that have not matured and are not presently redeemable, or if presently redeemable, have not been called for redemption.

(g) Trust Agreement. -- In the discretion of the State Treasurer, any bonds and notes issued under the provisions of this Article may be secured by a trust agreement or similar instrument by and between the State and a corporate trustee or by a resolution of the Council of State providing for the appointment of a corporate trustee. The corporate trustee may be, in either case, any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. The trust agreement or resolution may provide for security and pledges and assignments with respect to the security, as permitted under this Article, and may provide for the granting of a lien or security interest in the property as authorized in G.S. 116D-10. The trust agreement or resolution may contain provisions for the terms and conditions of the issuance of additional bonds and notes, and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of all moneys. All bonds and notes issued under this Article shall be equally and ratably secured as provided in the trust agreement or resolution, without priority by reasons of number, or dates of bonds or notes, execution, or delivery, in accordance with the provisions of this Article and of the trust agreement or resolution. The trust agreement or resolution may, however, provide that the bonds or notes shall, to the extent and in the manner prescribed in the trust agreement or resolution, be subordinated and junior in standing, with respect to the payment of principal and interest and to the security thereof, to any other bonds or notes. It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company that may act as depositary of the proceeds of bonds or notes, revenues, or any other money under this Article to furnish any indemnifying bonds or to pledge any securities as may be required by the State Treasurer. Any trust agreement or resolution may set out the rights and remedies of the owners of any bonds or notes and of any trustee, and may restrict the individual rights of action by the owners. In addition to the foregoing, any trust agreement or resolution may contain other provisions that the State Treasurer considers reasonable and proper for the security of the owners of any bonds or notes. Expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of any trust agreement or resolution may be treated as a part of the cost of any capital facility or as an administrative charge and may be paid from the proceeds of the bonds or notes or from any other available funds.

"§ 116D-47. Variable rate demand bonds and notes.

(a) In fixing the details of bonds and notes, the State Treasurer may provide that the bonds and notes may:

(1) Be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner, if a credit facility supports the bonds or notes, unless the State Treasurer specifically determines that a credit facility is not required upon a finding and determination by the State Treasurer that the absence of a credit facility will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the State and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the State.

(2) Be additionally supported by a credit facility.

(3) Be made subject to redemption or a mandatory tender for purchase prior to maturity.

(4) Bear interest at rates that may vary from any periods of time, as may be provided in the proceedings providing for the issuance of the bonds or notes, including, without limitation, any variations as may be permitted pursuant to a par formula.

(5) Be made the subject of a remarketing agreement whereby an attempt is made to remarket bonds or notes to new purchasers prior to their presentment for payment to the provider of the credit facility or to the State.

(b) If the aggregate principal amount payable by the State under a credit facility is in excess of the aggregate principal amount of bonds or notes secured by the credit facility, whether as a result of the inclusion in the credit facility of a provision for the payment of interest for a limited period of time or the payment of a redemption premium, or for any other reason, then the amount of authorized but unissued bonds or notes during the term of the credit facility shall not be less than the amount of the excess, unless the payment of the excess is otherwise provided for by agreement of the State executed by the State Treasurer.

"§ 116D-48. Other agreements.

The State Treasurer may authorize, execute, obtain, or otherwise provide for bond insurance, investment contracts, credit and liquidity facilities, interest rate swap agreements and other derivative products, and any other related instruments and matters the State Treasurer determines are desirable in connection with the issuance of bonds or notes. The State Treasurer is authorized to employ and designate any financial consultants, underwriters, and bond attorneys to be associated with any bond issue under this Article as the State Treasurer considers necessary.

"§ 116D-49. Procurement of capital facilities.

Any laws, rules, or regulations of the State that relate to the acquisition and construction of capital facilities shall apply to the capital facilities financed pursuant to this Article."

Section 2.(b) The Director of the Budget is empowered, when the Director of the Budget determines it is in the best interest of the State and the University to do so, and if the cost of a particular capital facility is less than the amount allocated for it, to use the excess funds to meet increased cost of other capital facilities itemized in this section and located at the same institution. The Director of the Budget shall report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations on changes made under this subsection. In addition, any capital facility and the amount of the allocation for it set forth above may be changed from time to time as the General Assembly may decide, except that the General Assembly may not delete or remove from funding any capital improvement that has been pledged as security for university improvement security interest bonds that have been issued if such a change would impair the security of the owners of the university improvement security interest bonds. The provisions of G.S. 116-11(9) with respect to appropriations to the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina shall not apply to proceeds of university improvement security interest bonds and notes issued pursuant to Article 2 of Chapter 116D of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act.

Section 2.(c) Allocations to the costs of a capital improvement or undertaking in each case may include allocations to pay the costs set forth in this act in connection with the issuance of university improvement security interest bonds for that capital improvement or undertaking.

Section 2.(d) The proceeds of two hundred eighty-two million six hundred forty-eight thousand two hundred twelve dollars ($282,648,212) university improvement security interest bonds authorized by this act and allocated in subsection (a) of this section for matching gift incentive program projects shall be allocated and expended for particular projects as provided in this subsection. The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina shall employ a private consultant to develop a list of capital facilities which are to be funded jointly from these bonds and private donations. The Board of Governors shall submit this list of recommended projects, including the proposed matching requirements by the University or its constituent or affiliated institutions, to the General Assembly by April 1, 2000. The matching requirements must be based on analyses of the fund-raising capabilities of each institution as determined by a private consultant in order to maximize private fund-raising for capital projects. The proceeds of these bonds or notes shall not be issued or allocated until the General Assembly authorizes the issuance of some or all of these bonds or notes and appropriates the proceeds for specific projects by separate legislative action at any subsequent session.

Section 2.(e) The validity of university improvement security interest bonds and notes issued under Article 2 of Chapter 116D of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act, is not affected by any subsequent adjustment of allocations, or by any failure to comply with the reporting requirements provided in this act.

Section 3. Proceeds of Community College Security Interest Bonds. -- (a) The proceeds of community college security interest bonds and notes, including any premium thereon, except the proceeds of community college security interest bonds the issuance of which has been anticipated by bond anticipation notes or the proceeds of refunding bonds or notes, shall be allocated and expended for paying the cost of community college capital facilities, to the extent and as provided in Article 4 of Chapter 116D of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act and subject to change as provided in this act, to be located at the following community colleges:

Section 3.(b) Except as provided in subsection (d) of this section, a community college may use the bond proceeds allocated in subsection (a) of this section only in accordance with the State Board of Community Colleges' consultant's report on the capital allocation and repairs and renovations funding formula. Funds allocated for repair and renovations must be used in accordance with exhibit 5-6 of the Funding Formula Study: Phase 3 Report, submitted May 15, 1998. Funds allocated for new construction must be used in accordance with exhibits 15 and 16 of the Funding Formula Study: Phase 4 Report, submitted February 4, 1999. New construction funds allocated by the report to a specific site may not be allocated to another site. Each community college shall submit to the State Board of Community Colleges a statement (i) proposing the capital facilities to be financed with the proceeds of community college security interest bonds allocated to that community college, (ii) certifying that the proposed site is included in the consultant's report referred to in this section, (iii) certifying that the community college is prepared to proceed with the construction, acquisition, or improvement of the proposed capital facilities, and (iv) demonstrating that the applicable matching requirements have been or will be met.

Upon receipt by the State Board of Community Colleges of the information set forth above, the Board shall add the proposed capital facilities to the next application of the Community Colleges System Office to the State Treasurer to issue bonds pursuant to G.S. 116D-43.

The board of trustees of an individual community college may use funds allocated for new construction either for new construction or for repair and renovations. The board of trustees of a community college may use funds allocated for repair and renovations only for repair and renovations, and not for new construction.

The projected allocations set forth above may be changed from time to time as the General Assembly may decide, except that the General Assembly may not delete or remove from funding any capital improvement that has been pledged as security for community college security interest bonds that have been issued if such a change would impair the security of the owners of the university improvement security interest bonds.

Section 3.(c) Community colleges are not required to match bond proceeds allocated in this section for repair and renovations. The match requirements of Chapter 115D of the General Statutes apply to bond proceeds allocated for new construction except as provided in this subsection. The consultant hired by the State Board of Community Colleges to determine funding formulas for the community college system developed an index to measure each county's ability to pay. The consultant found that some counties are unable to meet their local match requirement under Chapter 115D of the General Statutes because of inability to pay. Accordingly, community colleges are required to match bond proceeds allocated for new construction in subsection (a) or (d) of this section only as follows: Community colleges assigned a matching rate of less than forty percent (40%) in the "adjusted matching requirements" contained in exhibit 14 of the State Board of Community Colleges' consultant's Funding Formula Study: Phase 4 Report, submitted February 4, 1999, are not required to match, and community colleges assigned a matching rate of forty percent (40%) or more in the adjusted matching requirements are required to match only at the assigned rate.

Section 3.(d) Each community college that was not allocated funds for new construction in the State Board of Community Colleges' consultant's report on the capital allocation funding formula may receive the bond proceeds allocated to it for new construction in subsection (a) of this section only to the extent that it can document to the State Board of Community Colleges its actual need for funds for new construction, or its actual need for funds for repair and renovations in excess of the amount allocated to it for repair and renovations in subsection (a) of this section. If any community college is unable to document to the State Board of Community Colleges by January 1, 2001, these needs in the amount of its entire allocation for new construction under subsection (a) of this section, the State Board shall reallocate the excess of the allocation over the amount the college was able to document among the remaining community colleges to the extent they can document actual needs in excess of their allocations in subsection (a) of this section for new construction, repair, and renovations, or both.

Section 3.(e) The validity of community college security interest bonds and notes issued under Article 4 of Chapter 116D of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act, is not affected by any subsequent adjustment of allocations or matching requirements provided in this act, or by any failure to comply with matching requirements or reporting requirements provided in this act.

Section 4. Interpretation of Act. (a) Additional Method. -- This act provides an additional and alternative method for the doing of the things authorized by this act and shall be regarded as supplemental and additional to powers conferred by other laws. Except where expressly provided, this act shall not be regarded as in derogation of any powers now existing. The authority granted in this act is in addition to other laws now or hereinafter enacted authorizing The University of North Carolina to issue self-liquidating debt or other debt secured by designated sources of funds.

Section 4.(b) Statutory References. -- References in this act to specific sections or Chapters of the General Statutes are intended to be references to those sections or Chapters as they may be amended from time to time by the General Assembly.

Section 4.(c) Liberal Construction. -- This act, being necessary for the health and welfare of the people of the State, shall be liberally construed to effect its purposes.

Section 4.(d) Severability. -- If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, that invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this act are severable.

Section 5. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1481/SENATE BILL 912: Bonds for Higher Education

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House and Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Miller/Sen. Rand
Date:	June 29, 1999	Analysis by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute for First Edition		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: This bill would create a new Chapter 116D of the General Statutes to establish the following mechanisms for debt financing of higher education facilities:

1. It authorizes the State to issue security interest bonds to finance $2.7 billion of capital facilities for the University of North Carolina and $300 million of capital facilities for community colleges. The bonds would be secured by a security interest in the capital facilities being financed.
2. It authorizes the UNC Board of Governors to issue special obligation bonds to finance capital facilities for the University. The bonds would be secured by the University's receipts, other than tuition or appropriations from the General Fund.

Security Interest Bonds. Article 2 of the new Chapter 116D created by this bill would authorize the State to issue university improvement security interest bonds secured by a lien on or security interest in University property acquired, constructed, or improved with the bond proceeds. Article 4 of the new Chapter 116D would authorize the State to issue community college security interest bonds secured by a lien on or security interest in community college property acquired, constructed, or improved with the bond proceeds. These security interest bonds would be repaid from the General Fund. The maximum maturity on the bonds would be 25 years.

The university improvement security interest bonds would be used for construction, improvement, and acquisition of capital facilities for constituent and affiliated institutions of The University of North Carolina, including the Center for Public Television, the UNC Health Care System, the School of Science and Mathematics, and the North Carolina Arboretum. Similarly, the community college security interest bonds would be used for grants to community colleges for construction, improvement, and acquisition of their capital facilities. The bill specifically defines capital facilities as buildings, utilities, structures, and other facilities and property developments, including streets, landscaping, equipment and furnishings in connection with a building project, and land acquisition. The facilities may include sports facilities, housing, and administrative offices as well as educational buildings.

The security interest bonds would be issuable by the Treasurer only to fund allocations established by the General Assembly; those allocations are set out in Sections 2 and 3 of this bill. The bill limits the amount of community college security interest bonds that may be issued to $300 million and limits the amount of university improvement security interest bonds that may be issued each year over five years as follows:

Fiscal Year	Aggregate Amount
1999-2000	$240,000,000
2000-2001	480,000,000
2001-2002	700,000,000
2002-2003	640,000,000

2003-2004 640,000,000

The proposed security interest bonds are not general obligation bonds and thus are not required to be approved by the voters. They are not secured by the full faith and credit or the taxing power of the State; a statement to this effect would appear on the face of the bonds. The State could choose not to appropriate funds to pay the bonds, but such a decision would have negative consequences for the State's credit rating.

The security interest bonds would be secured by a lien or security interest in all or any part of the capital facilities to be financed, including all or part of any land on which improvements are to be constructed. If the project is a renovation, the entire existing facility as well as the improvement could serve as security. In the case of community college bonds, although the bonds are issued by the State, the community college or county that owns the property would give the security interest. No deficiency judgment could be rendered against the State if the bonds were not paid. The property securing the bonds would be sold and the net proceeds would be applied to pay the bonds.

Section 2 of the bill sets out the specific projects for which university improvement security interest bonds would be issued. If the cost of a project changed, the Board of Governors could reallocate funds from one project to another, but only between projects at the same institution.

Section 2 also allocates nearly $300 million of the university improvement security interest bonds for matching gift incentive program projects. The bill directs the Board of Governors to employ a private consultant to develop a list of capital facilities to be funded jointly from the bonds and private donations. The list would include matching requirements based on each institution's fund-raising capabilities. The Board of Governors must submit the list to the General Assembly by April 1, 2000. The bonds for these projects can be issued only after the General Assembly enacts legislation allocating the proceeds for the specific projects.

Section 3 of the bill sets out the amount allocated to each community college for new construction and for repairs and renovations and requires that the allocations must be used in accordance with the State Board of Community Colleges' consultant's report, which establishes the funding formula for new construction needs and repair and renovation needs at each campus. A community college could not reallocate to another campus funds that the consultant's report allocates to a specific campus. Bond proceeds allocated for repair and renovations could be used only for repair and renovations, but bond proceeds allocated for new construction could be used either for new construction or for repair and renovations.

There are some community colleges that did not have an allocation for new construction in the consultant's report, but that do have an allocation of bond proceeds for new construction in the bill. The bill provides that these community colleges may receive their new construction allocation only to the extent they can document to the State Board of Community Colleges their actual needs for new construction, or their actual needs for repair and renovations in excess of the amount allocated in the bill for repairs of renovations. If any bond proceeds could not be used because of a community college's failure to document these needs, those amounts would be pooled and reallocated by the State Board to other community colleges that were able to document actual needs in excess of the amounts already allocated for those needs in the bill.

Under general law, community colleges are required to match State capital funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis. This bill provides three limited exceptions to this requirement for the bond proceeds. First, bond proceeds allocated for repair and renovations need not be matched. Second, community colleges which the consultant's report determined had a matching ability of 40% or less, based on ability to pay, need not trends and revenue streams for obligated resources. The State Treasurer would be required to report annually, and upon each issuance of university improvement security interest bonds and community college security interest bonds, on debt service requirements for the bonds. Finally, the Community Colleges System Office would be required to report quarterly to the Joint Legislative Education Oversight Committee on projects funded from community college security interest bonds, including total project costs, the amount funded by bonds, expenditures to date, and progress to completion.

President Friday:

In response to your request for information yesterday, please note the following:

1. Bonds for Higher Education – The packet includes the legislation (SB 912) and supporting information. The projects are listed in the bill and also in a supplemental schedule. The projects for North Carolina School of the Arts total $42.5 million as noted on the clipped page.

2. Aid to Private Colleges Programs – A schedule shows the Program budgets and the House and Senate Expansion budgets. As you know, the Conferees are at work to settle the differences.

3. 1999-2000 Tuition Rates – A schedule shows the tuition rate increases approved by the Board of Governors in March and the rates are incorporated into both the House and Senate budget bills. The Senate special provision related to possible increases of up to $250 in 2000-01 and up to $250 more in 2001-02 would be on top of these tuition rates for 1999-2000 shown in the schedule.

4. The Lost Colony Operating Funds – There is $260,000 in recurring funds included in the Senate's budget bill; I found no comparable item in the House's budget. Of course, this is a difference for the Conferees to settle. A copy of the supporting Senate Appropriation Committee report item is highlighted and attached.

A Firm Foundation: A Plan for Building UNC's Future

Molly Corbett Broad - President

The University of North Carolina

UNC Capital Equity/Adequacy Study

"The Board of Governors of . . . shall study the relative equity and adequacy of the physical facilities of its constituent institutions. The study shall consider the condition of the facilities, whether or not facilities are comparable among the campuses given the different missions of the institutions, comparable adequacy of the physical facilities given the size and projected growth of the school, and such other factors deemed appropriate by the Board of Governors."

1997 Session, Senate Bill 352, Section 10.1(b)

The University of North Carolina

UNC Capital Equity/Adequacy Study

"The Board of Governors shall contract with a private consulting firm with expertise in higher education matters to assess the additional capital needs of the constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina. The needs assessment shall project the needs for capital funding for a 10-year period, and shall include a detailed plan for making funding allocations based on the priorities of needs.

The plan shall provide a detailed capital spending plan for the next 10 years to assist the General Assembly in making funding decisions relating to [UNC], as the State plans for major increases in enrollment in higher education and prepares its citizens to compete in a global economy."

1998 Session, Senate Bill 1366, Section 11.4(c)

UNC Capital Equity/Adequacy Study

Findings — Current Capacity

- UNC has enough capacity system wide to meet current enrollment levels; however
  - Not all capacity is where it is needed
  - Six institutions have current capacity needs
- 10 institutions have some underutilized space, but also have needs for specific types of space
- Laboratories and study space are in short supply
- Classrooms and offices are not in short supply

UNC Capital Equity/Adequacy Study

Findings — Condition and Quality

- Quality is a greater problem than capacity
- Cost to meet quality standards is approximately $3 billion
- Non-appropriated buildings are in better physical condition than appropriated ones
- Current resources do not address repair backlog
- Major renovations must become greater priority
- Of amount estimated for major renovations, $652 million would retrofit science laboratories

A Firm Foundation: Proposed Capital Financing Legislation for the University of North Carolina

BACKGROUND:

In April 1999 the UNC Board of Governors approved Building for the New Millennium, the report emerging from a comprehensive study--called for in a 1997 special provision--of the relative equity and adequacy of capital facilities on the 16 University of North Carolina campuses. As required by a follow-up provision enacted in the 1998 short session, the report also included a ten-year capital spending plan for UNC.

Prepared by higher education consultant Eva Klein, the report documented woefully outmoded buildings, mounting deferred maintenance, and a looming shortage of critical science, technology, and study facilities. For every modern building in good condition, Klein found scores with bad wiring, leaks, outdated essential equipment, and inadequate infrastructure. The report identified capital needs totaling $6.9 billion.

The report proposed that UNC's capital needs be financed through increased funding from the General Assembly, coupled with new University-based funding, private-sector development, and increased private giving. In addition, Klein concluded that the state's traditional pay-as-you-go approach to capital funding would fall far short of the amount needed to repair, modernize, and expand UNC facilities and that alternative financing--principally bond financing--was needed to effectively implement the ten-year capital plan.

Under the direction of State Treasurer Harlan Boyles, bond counsel have prepared draft legislation for consideration by the General Assembly that would enable the state and UNC to use well-established methods of capital financing to address the University's staggering needs. Given anticipated enrollment growth and the lengthy lead time required to construct new state buildings and modernize old ones, it is critical that such legislation be passed during this legislative session.

THE PROBLEM:

Over two centuries, North Carolina taxpayers, the University, and its students have built one of the best public university systems in the world. UNC campuses belong to the people of North Carolina, and these important state assets have many buildings that are now outmoded, inadequate, and falling apart.

- UNC expects to enroll some 48,000 additional students over the next decade. Six campuses, including the four largest, have space shortages today. By 2008, ten campuses will be at or beyond their physical capacity.
- As documented in the Klein report, nearly 800 UNC buildings need significant repairs or modernization, with the greatest deficiencies found in science and technology labs. Building rehabilitation is by far the largest component of UNC's ten-year capital plan.
- Prior to 1993, the state did not provide a steady source of funds for the repair and renovation of state-owned buildings. Over the past five years, UNC's annual share of the Reserve for Repairs and Renovations has provided roughly 2.5% of estimated replacement costs toward the upkeep of campus buildings, but these critical funds fail to address decades of deferred maintenance and the need to modernize antiquated buildings.

- Over the years, the General Assembly has been generous to UNC when capital funds were available. Since 1989, the state has appropriated an average of $86.7 million per year for UNC projects. But because of the state's traditional pay-as-you-go approach, capital funding to UNC has fluctuated widely, ranging from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997. This practice also has favored new construction over renovations.
- The cost of new construction is escalating. While inflation is averaging less than 3% annually, the State Construction Office estimates a construction inflation factor of 5%. Deferred maintenance costs are rising at a similar rate.

THE SOLUTION:

Over the past 75 years, more than 40% of capital construction on UNC campuses has been funded with non-appropriated dollars. Given the authority, UNC is committed to do even more to tap all available resources (University bonds, private sector development, private giving) to supplement and leverage state funding.

In her report, Klein strongly recommended that the state and UNC explore alternatives to North Carolina's traditional method of pay-as-you-go financing for University construction. Other states have demonstrated that various revenue streams can be earmarked for capital financing without draining funds from other needs, lowering the state's bond rating, or raising taxes. These states have gained the ability to spend more than ten times their current revenues for repairs, modernization, and construction. Many states that once followed that pay-as-you-go philosophy have earmarked revenues to retire outstanding bond debt. In the current market, annual debt service in the amount of $125 million--UNC's 1997 appropriation--would support more than $1.5 billion in needed repairs, modernization, and new construction.

In coming weeks, we will ask legislators to consider legislation that would provide new mechanisms for financing UNC's capital needs:

Proposed University Capital Facilities Finance Act. This legislation would permit the state to issue "limited obligation" bonds to finance capital improvements for the University. These bonds would not obligate the tax authority of the state, but essentially would create a moral obligation to repay. The financed projects would be pledged as security for the debt. The indebtedness would be repaid from state appropriations over a specified period of years. Bond financing would--for the first time--provide a predictable revenue stream of sufficient size to meet UNC's long-term capital needs.

Proposed Special Obligation Bonds for Improvements to Facilities of the University of North Carolina. This legislation would authorize the UNC Board of Governors to issue bonds to be repaid from "obligated" resources, defined sources of income available to the campus carrying out a given capital project. Available income sources would include rents, charges or fees collected by the institution, investments earnings on endowment funds, and overhead receipts. The board would not issue bonds by pledging state appropriations or tuition receipts.

UNC Report on Capital Equity/Adequacy: Major Findings and Conclusions

FINDINGS: CONDITION AND QUALITY

- Quality is a greater problem than capacity
- Cost to meet quality standards is approximately $3 billion
- Non-appropriated buildings are in better physical condition that appropriated ones
- Current resources do not address repair backlog
- Major renovations must become greater priority
- Of amount estimates for major renovations, $653 million would retrofit science labs

FINDINGS: CURRENT CAPACITY

- UNC has enough capacity systemwide to meet current enrollment levels; however,
  - > Not all capacity is where it is needed
  - > Six campuses have current capacity needs
- Ten campuses have some underutilized space, but also have needs for specific types of space
- Laboratories and study space are in short supply
- Classrooms and offices are not in short supply

FINDINGS: PRELIMINARY TEN-YEAR CAPITAL NEEDS

• Rehabilitation	$3.00 billion
• Current Capacity	$0.45 billion
• Future Capacity	$1.15 billion
• Other/Special	$2.30 billion	TOTAL NEEDS = $6.90 BILLION

FINDINGS: TOTAL UNC CAPITAL FUNDING BY SOURCE, 1925-1997

• Appropriated from state funds	58%
• Non-appropriated	42%

CONCLUSIONS: OVERVIEW OF FUNDING ISSUES

- Competitive posture will require continued investments in renewal and expansion
- Annual "pie" is too small for identified needs
- Pay-as-you-go overemphasizes new construction
- Pay-as you-go is not explicit capital development policy
- Insufficient emphasis on private fundraising

A FIRM FOUNDATION: A PLAN FOR BUILDING UNC'S FUTURE

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Doesn't financing by debt obligate resources that will limit the flexibility of future sessions of the General Assembly?

The University is an ongoing obligation of the State, one that is now facing a huge backlog of deferred maintenance and unprecedented enrollment increases. If the General Assembly continues its pay-as-you-go approach, it will pass on to future legislatures a problem greater than the $6.9-billion capital challenge it faces today. UNC campuses are among the most important assets of the State, and they must be maintained. The "limited obligation" bonds proposed by Treasurer Boyles would make the State's financial response to the problem more predictable and manageable. As the Treasurer explains, the General Assembly would be transforming real but unfunded obligations into securitized, bonded ones.

Will this financing legislation constitute UNC's total capital request for the next five years?

The resources generated by the bonds would provide financing for the University's major construction and renovation needs over the next five years. However, the annual Repair and Renovation funds (R&R) provided pursuant to statute would be expected to continue. If UNC did not continue to receive R&R for routine maintenance and repair, we would not only compound UNC's existing deferred maintenance problems, but create new ones as well.

Is there accountability for how the bond funds will be used?

The final form of the legislation authorizing bond financing is not clear, but there certainly would be oversight by and accountability to the General Assembly. We expect that for new construction, the University would submit a capital plan to the General Assembly for approval each year; whereas for major modernization and renovation projects, the process might require approval by the Government Operations Committee (not unlike the process currently in place for our Repair and Renovations request).

How would the projects to be financed with bond funds be selected?

The Board of Governors has approved a five-year capital plan prepared under the direction of Eva Klein & Associates in collaboration with the 16 campuses. Priorities will be determined by the General Assembly, with the recommendations of the Board of Governors.

What kinds of University revenues could be used for the "special obligation" bonds?

Currently, UNC campuses have authority to use student fees, user fees, and room and board charges to service debt for statutorily specified facilities. In addition to these historic sources for debt service, the proposed "special obligation" bond legislation would permit use of other campus-based revenues such as overhead receipts and interest earnings on endowment funds. Campuses would not be permitted to use tuition receipts or State appropriations to service debt on the "special obligation" bonds.

Do the "special obligation" or university bonds offer any advantages to the smaller campuses?

Yes. Even today, every UNC campus builds some facilities on a "self-liquidating" basis, and such projects would be financed in the future with "special obligation" bonds. The University's capital funding plan contemplates that as a whole, UNC will continue its historic pattern of providing approximately 40% of the funds for capital facilities. But the ability of campuses to support special obligation bonds varies. By necessity, the smaller campuses will depend more heavily on State-issued bonds. The ability of the larger campuses to take greater advantage of the special obligation bonds should reduce pressure on the State resources—to the benefit of smaller campuses.

Why should the State issue these new "limited obligation" bonds instead of "general obligation" bonds, which would be subject to a vote of the people?

Authorizing the use of "limited obligation" bonds is entirely consistent with the powers granted to the General Assembly in the Constitution. Local governments in North Carolina have successfully used financing mechanisms similar to "limited obligation" bonds for many years. The obligations created by these bonds are "limited" as opposed to "general" because the taxing power of the State is not pledged. Only in that latter case is a vote required by the State Constitution.

As a practical matter, the use of "limited obligation" bonds provides more flexibility to the General Assembly and the University with respect to future projects. In the case of general obligation bonds, all funds typically must be committed to specified projects before bonds are authorized. In the case of "limited obligation" bonds, the State could authorize the bonds and specify highest priority projects now, while retaining the flexibility to select, design, and schedule future projects as campus needs and enrollment levels change.

Finally, with the decline in interest rates in recent years, the differential in interest rates between general obligation bonds and limited obligation bonds or other kinds of special debt has narrowed substantially.

Why should the State commit to UNC bonds when the public schools and community colleges have such dire needs, as well?

The University is committed to a strong educational system at all levels and is doing everything within its power to help strengthen the public schools and increase collaboration with the community colleges.
The General Assembly called for an independent study of the University's capital needs, which has produced one of the most comprehensive, documented assessments of higher education facilities in the nation. The real needs of the State's other education sectors do not negate the fact that UNC buildings are State obligations and that the pay-as-you-go approach has allowed these valuable State assets to deteriorate.

UNC is acknowledged as one of the best public university systems in the nation. How can it possibly have capital needs of this magnitude if the quality is so high?

UNC buildings have been constructed over two centuries, and as they age, facilities inevitably become outdated or require structural repairs. In decades past, it was sometimes possible to use stop-gap approaches to modify old laboratories or equipment to serve modern functions. But the accelerating pace of scientific and technological change has made such attempts increasingly futile. Nothing short of major retrofits or renovations can adapt antiquated laboratories to accommodate 21st century science, for example.

UNC faculty have continued to teach in such inadequate facilities largely because of the University's national stature and out of loyalty to specific campuses. They also have drawn hope from the State's demonstrated commitment to address the University's huge backlog of capital needs, as evidenced by a queue of partially funded buildings that would require in excess of $400 million to complete.

Finally, a significant portion of the funding needs relate directly to the capacity of our campuses to meet current and future demand. We must be ready to accommodate some 48,000 additional new students by 2008. Six of the 16 campuses are at or beyond their physical capacity now and cannot admit significant numbers of new students without capital investment. The other campuses also have needs relating to enrollment growth.

Message #1: Over two centuries, North Carolina has built one of the finest public university systems in the world. UNC campuses belong to the people of North Carolina, and these important state assets have many buildings that are now outmoded, inadequate, and falling apart. Given UNC's critical role in ensuring the state's economic and social future, North Carolina must act now to meet UNC's staggering capital needs.

- UNC is responding to the proactive initiative of the General Assembly, which in 1997 called for a comprehensive study of the relative equity and adequacy of capital facilities on UNC campuses. As required by an amendment to the provision enacted in the 1998 short session, the report by outside consultant Eva Klein also included a ten-year capital spending plan for UNC.

- As documented by Klein, nearly 800 UNC buildings need significant repairs or modernization, with the greatest deficiencies found in science and technology labs. Message #2: The cost of delay is escalating, and we cannot postpone the arrival of the nearly 50,000 additional students already in the educational pipeline.

- UNC campuses need a substantial infusion of capital funding now because it generally takes several years to finance, design, and build new facilities. Major renovations also require significant lead time and logistical planning.

- Time is money. While inflation is averaging less than 3% annually, the State Construction Office estimates a construction inflation factor of 5%. Deferred maintenance costs are rising at a similar rate, and our buildings are deteriorating faster because of UNC's immense backlog of overdue repairs.

- UNC is maximizing resources to minimize costs. To lessen the need for new space, UNC has adopted the most stringent space-utilization standards of any public university system in the nation. Our classrooms are to be used for more hours of the day and night on more days of the week. In planning for enrollment growth, the University plans to use existing capacity to the fullest extent possible and to promote economies of scale.

Message #3: As graphically depicted in Klein's report, North Carolina's traditional pay-as-you-go approach to capital funding will fall far short of the amount needed to repair, modernize, and expand UNC facilities. Two pieces of proposed legislation drafted under the direction of State Treasurer Harlan Boyles would provide well-established financing alternatives that would enable UNC to implement its ten-year capital plan. Given anticipated enrollment growth and the lengthy lead time required to construct new state buildings and modernize old ones, it is critical than such legislation be passed during this legislative session.

- Over the years, the General Assembly has been generous to UNC when capital funds were available. Since 1989, the state has appropriated roughly $87 million per year for UNC projects. But because of the state's traditional pay-as-you-go approach, capital funding has fluctuated widely, ranging from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997. These states have gained the ability to spend more than ten times their current revenues for repairs to retire outstanding bond debt. Many states that once followed that pay-as-you-go philosophy have earmarked revenues to retire outstanding bond debt.

- In the current market, annual debt service in the amount of $125 million—UNC's 1997 appropriation—would support more than $1.5 billion in needed repairs, modernization, and new construction.

- Following the advice of Treasurer Boyles, the UNC Board of Governors has unanimously endorsed in concept proposed legislation that would provide new and expanded mechanisms for financing UNC's capital needs:

⇒State Bonds. This proposed legislation would permit the state to issue "limited obligation" bonds to finance capital improvements for the University. These bonds would not obligate the taxing authority of the state, but essentially would create a moral obligation to repay. The financed projects would be pledged as security for the debt. The indebtedness would be repaid from state appropriations over a specified period of years. ⇒ University Bonds. This proposed legislation would authorize the UNC Board of Governors to issue bonds to be repaid from "obligated" resources, defined sources of income available to the campus carrying out a given capital project. Available income sources would include rents, charges or fees collected by the institution, investments earning on endowment funds, and overhead receipts. The board would not issue bonds by pledging state appropriations or tuition receipts.

SUMMARY OF LEGISLATIVE PROPOSALS

University Capital Facilities Finance Act (State Bonds)

- The Act provides for the issuance of "limited obligation" bonds to finance capital facilities for the University. Limited obligation bonds do not require a vote of the people.
- In essence, the General Assembly would have a moral obligation to provide for the repayment of the bonds.
- The bonds would be secured by a lien on or a security interest in University property.
- The proceeds of the bonds would be applied to finance the cost of improvement, construction, and acquisition of capital facilities as determined by the Board of Governors.
- Amounts payable by the State are "limited to funds appropriated for such purpose by the General Assembly." During an interim period, bonds could be issued if the Director of the Budget filed a certificate with the State Treasurer stating that sufficient funds are available to make debt service payments.

Special Obligation Bonds for Improvements to the Facilities of the University of North Carolina (University Bonds)

- Authorizes the Board of Governors to issue bonds, payable from "obligated" resources, but with no pledge of taxes or the faith and credit of the State.
- Obligated resources shall mean any sources of income or receipts of the Board or the institution at which a special obligation bond project is located including, without limitation, rents, charges or fees to be derived by the Board or the institution from any activities conducted at the institution, earnings on the investment of the endowment fund of the institution, and overhead receipts. Obligated resources do not include appropriations by the General Assembly and do not include tuition payments by students.
- "The Board of Governors is authorized to determine the location and character of any special obligation bond project and to acquire, construct and provide the same to maintain, repair and operate and enter into contracts for the management, lease, use or operation of all or any portion of any special obligation bond project and any existing facilities."
- Under the draft legislation, bonds issued are approved by the Director of the Budget. The Director of the Budget may consult with the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations.

Section 11.4. Section 10.1 of S.L. 1997-443 reads as rewritten:
"Section 10.1. (a) The funds appropriated to the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina for equity funds are to address relative inequities in State operating funding revealed through a study of the constituent institutions in the university system. The General Assembly notes that the study dealt with equity based upon current funding from State appropriations and tuition for operations and did not consider historical equity in funding for physical facilities or funding from non-State sources. Therefore, in making this appropriation, the General Assembly does not conclude that the total funding of any institution, including specifically the historically black universities, is adequate in light of all considerations.
(b) Based on findings of the Legislative Study Commission on the Status of Education at The University of North Carolina, the General Assembly is still concerned about perceived differences in the quality of capital facilities on the different campuses, which may impact the ability of some campuses to attract students and faculty. Since the Board of Governors has recently completed studies of equity of funding for operating costs among the constituent institutions and of the Board of Governors' capital improvements request process, it is timely that the question of equity of facilities be addressed.

The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina shall study the relative equity and adequacy of the physical facilities of its constituent institutions. The study shall consider the condition of the facilities, whether or not facilities are comparable among the campuses given the different missions of the institutions, comparable adequacy of the physical facilities given the size and projected growth of the school, and such other factors deemed appropriate by the Board of Governors. The study shall include all facilities contributing to the accomplishment of the campuses' missions. First, the Board of Governors shall study those facilities considered central to the academic missions of the campuses that are generally supported from General Fund appropriations. Secondly, the Board of Governors shall study those facilities that contribute to the overall missions of the campuses, including residential, dining, research, and other facilities regardless of the sources of funding. The Board of Governors shall consider its policies on funding of self-liquidating projects and whether those policies contribute to any inequities among the campuses, including the overall costs to the students.
(c) The Board of Governors shall contract with a private consulting firm with expertise in higher education matters to assess the additional capital needs of the constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina. The needs assessment shall project the needs for capital funding for a 10-year period, and shall include a detailed plan for making funding allocations based on the priorities of needs.

The plan shall provide a detailed capital spending plan for the next 10 years to assist the General Assembly in making funding decisions relating to The University of North Carolina, as the State plans for major increases in enrollment in higher education and prepares its citizens to compete in a global economy. The plan shall include considerations of the costs and changes in capital needs caused by new technologies and alternative systems for delivery of higher education services.

The consultant shall visit each campus in The University of North Carolina system to understand the needs of each campus based on their assigned missions, physical needs, and plans.

The Board and its consultant shall provide interim progress reports to the General Assembly on a periodic basis. The Board of Governors shall report to the General Assembly by April 15, 1999, with the results of its study and plan.

Of the funds appropriated to the Board of Governors for fiscal year 1998-99, up to two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) may be reallocated for the purposes of this section, including funds that would normally revert to the General Fund at the end of the fiscal year.

This Special Provision represents an historic milestone in that, to the best of our knowledge, it is the first comprehensive, systematic review of UNC's capital needs ever conducted.

RECOGNIZE COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRS PRESENT

[Representatives Luebke, Allen, and Miller; Senators Hoyle and Kerr]

- Good morning, and thank you for the opportunity to share with you the University of North Carolina's response to the capital financing plan proposed in Senate Bill 912 and House Bill 1481.
- I appear before you this morning with the sadness of one who lost a dear colleague during the night. As you may have heard on the news, Chancellor Michael Hooker passed away during the night. When I left Carmen Hooker at 5:00 this morning, her ~~last~~ parting words to me were words of encouraging support to come to this hearing armed with the support of Michael Hooker as well as the many strong supporter of this University here in this room this morning. N.B.: Lyn Scott, Hackney, President Friday.
- Among the 50 states, North Carolina stands alone in her strong and historic support of higher education. This state has in large part defined itself by the character of its great university -- yesterday, today and it is my hope, tomorrow. This state has invested generously in the University of North Carolina for more than two centuries now. And the return on that investment has been nothing short of remarkable. Today our 16-campus University is acknowledged not just as the oldest, but as one of the very best public university systems in this country and one of this my friends + colleagues

state's greatest assets. This is a tribute, first and foremost, to the sustained commitment and leadership of the General Assembly. Yet the passage of time has taken a serious toll on the physical condition of our campuses.

- The General Assembly acknowledged the pressing capital needs of the University some two years ago, when you called for a comprehensive, independent study of the equity and adequacy of all University facilities, as well as for the development of a detailed capital plan to address identified shortcomings.

- Over the past 18 months, consultant Eva Klein has engaged the Board of Governors in one of the most thorough, well-documented assessments of capital facilities ever conducted by a university system. Like you, we were at first stunned by the magnitude and seriousness of the problems identified: a crushing backlog of deferred maintenance; the imperative to renovate and retrofit outmoded science facilities and other buildings for modern uses; and the need for new and updated facilities to manage projected enrollment growth of nearly 50,000 students.

- So as we approached the completion of the assignment given to the Unviersity by the General Assembly, we asked Eva to help us forge a rigorous capital plan that was in proper alignment with the University's enrollment planning and the academic missions of each campus. We believe the Phase I five-year plan ratified by the Board of Governors and transmitted to the legislature accomplishes this goal. To lessen the need for new space, UNC has adopted the most stringent space-utilization standards of any public university system in the nation, and in planning for enrollment growth, we will use existing capacity to the fullest extent possible and promote economies of scale.

- Over the years, the General Assembly has been generous to UNC when capital funds were available. But as so starkly revealed by Eva's report, North Carolina's traditional pay-as-you-go approach to capital funding will fall far short of the amount needed to repair, modernize, and expand UNC facilities. We are grateful that Treasurer Boyles brought his vast experience and expertise to the problem and helped devise a sound, fiscally responsible solution. And we are equally grateful that this proposed financing strategy has been embraced by President Pro Tem Basnight, Speaker Black, Governor Hunt, and many others business and government leaders. The Chancellors of our campuses and their staffs have worked intensively to provide the detailed information about facility needs and building condition.

- The General Assembly's approval of the financing legislation advanced in Senate Bill 912 and House Bill 1481 would provide a rare opportunity for us to recapitalize—to rebuild—the University of North Carolina for a stronger future. Such investment now is absolutely essential if we are to prepare for unprecedented enrollment growth; to prepare our campuses to take advantage of technological change and to be more productive and competitive in research and technology transfer. Never before in the history of America has a university education been more important. ~~Ear~~ We are witnessing the transition to a knowledge-based economy in which our greatest competitive advantage is our people and the skills, innovation, and know-how they bring to the table.

- For more than two centuries, the fortunes and future of UNC and the state of North Carolina have been inextricably linked. Our forefathers had the vision, the faith, and the courage to create the first public university in America. Today we ask for that same sort of vision. I ask you to make an investment in an institution that is a proven income-generator for our state. I urge you to invest in the University in the spirit of your forebears—in the certainly that this is an investment in our future.

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORIZATION OF NON-VOTED PUBLIC DEBT IN NORTH CAROLINA

The Constitution of North Carolina authorizes the General Assembly to empower The University of North Carolina to borrow money and issue bonds for its repayment with or without a vote of the people of the State, as the General Assembly determines to be in the best interest of the State.

In 1967, the Supreme Court of North Carolina in the case of Vance County v. Royster, 271 N.C. 53, had occasion to interpret Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution as it then read:

> "Sec. 6. No debt or loan except by a majority of voters. No county, city, town, or other municipal corporation shall contract any debt, pledge its faith or loan its credit, nor shall any tax be levied or collected by any of the officers of the same except for the necessary expenses thereof, unless approved by a majority of those who shall vote thereon in any election held for such purpose."

The specific issue before the Court was whether a contract entered into by Vance County to pay the federal government $1,250 a year for 25 years for the use of land for a public airport constituted a "debt" that required the approval of the voters of the county to be valid.

The Supreme Court concluded that the lease did constitute a "debt" that required voter approval under the Constitution--and that any enforceable contractual obligation except revenue bonds required a popular vote of approval. The result was a substantial restraint on what had generally been thought by local government lawyers to be the ability of local (and state) governments to borrow money without a vote of the people so long as the faith and credit of the borrowing unit were not pledged to its repayment.

The General Assembly of 1967 created the Local Goverment Study Commission to make a thorough study of the structure, organization, powers, and financing of local government in North Carolina. In its report, filed with the 1969 General Assembly, that Commission recommended, among other matters, that "[t]he General Assembly should have authority to determine what contracts other than contracts creating general obligation debt must be submitted to popular vote." [Report of the Local Government Study Commission, 1968, p. 7.] One stated intent of the Commission was to overrule the Vance County decision.

Pursuant to that recommendation and others, the Study Commission proposed a general revision of the constituitonal provisions with respect to public finance, especially Article

V, the finance article. That Commission's recommendation was endorsed by the North Carolina State Constitution Study Commission (1968). It was enacted with minor revisions by the 1969 General Assembly, ratified by the qualified voters of the State in 1970, and took effect by its own terms in 1973. [N. C. Sess. Laws 1969, ch. 1200.] (The delayed effective date was to allow time for the enactment of implementing legislation.) The provisions of the Constitution relevant to the proposed bond issue date from that amendment.

The pertinent provisions of the Constitution with respect to state and local government borrowing are closely similar in language and in legal effect. Thus most court interpretations of the provisions with respect to local government apply as well to state government borrowing.

Article V, Section 3, of the Constitution now reads in part:

> "The General Assembly shall have no power to contract debts secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State, unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the State who vote thereon, except for . . . [several narrowly defined purposes, such as suppressing riots, or] for any other lawful purpose, to the extent of two-thirds of the amount by which the State's outstanding indebtedness shall have been reduced during the next preceding biennium." [Emphasis supplied.]

Article V, Section 4, contains a virtually identical provision with respect to the contracting of debt by local governments. That provision the Supreme Court was called upon to interpret in 1991 in Wayne County Citizens Association v. Wayne County Board of Commissioners, 328 N.C. 24. The county had entered into an installment purchase contract with a financial institution whereby the county contracted to make annual payments to the institution for a specified period in return for the erection of court, jail, and office buildings for the use of the county. The county by its contract expressly denied that it was making a pledge of its faith and credit to pay the lender; its security was limited to a security interest in the land on which the buildings stood. While it was anticipated that the annual payments would be made by the county from tax funds, the contract expressly provided that such payments would be discretionaryon the part of the county. And in the event of foreclosure by the creditor, a deficiency judgment against the county was contractually prohibited.

The Supreme Court found that the contact was not a violation of Article V, Section 4, despite the lack of a provision for a public vote on the issuance of debt, because there was no pledge of the faith and credit of the borrowing county--that is, no commitment of the taxing power of the county--to secure repayment. On that point, the Supreme Court wrote:

> "Plaintiffs argue that . . . [the authorizing statute] is unconstitutional because the statute allows the County to enter into an agreement pursuant to which the County may expend tax revenues in future years without a vote of the people. We find no merit in this argument. What is being pledged as security is the constitutionally significant factor. Unlike general obligation bonds, wherein the taxing power of the governmental unit is pledged, in installment purchase contracts, only the property improved is pledged. The possibility that appropriations which might include income from tax revenues will be used to repay the indebtedness under the contact is not a constitutionally significant factor." [Emphasis supplied.] 328 NC. at 31.

Thus it is clear that the Constitution of North Carolina, as interpreted by our State Supreme Court, empowers the General Assembly to authorize The University of North Carolina to issue the proposed university improvement security interest bonds without a pledge of the faith and credit of the State being given for their redemption, and as no pledge of the faith and credit of the State is to be given, no vote of the people of the State is required to authorize the bonds.

OUR VIEW

Critical needs for the UNC System

Remember the muffler commercial that warned: "Pay me now or pay me later."

The UNC System's Board of Governors is facing such a situation, but in reality, the governors have no choice. They need $7 billion now to prop up the infrastructure of this state's most important resource, its university system.

That is the price tag placed on the capital needs of the 16-member university system. It's a lot of money for a state that is cutting taxes, but state Treasurer Harlan Boyles has a plan to raise it. What the plan needs is the signature of our General Assembly.

The UNC system has traditionally taken a pay-as-you-go approach to capital needs for its member institutions. That approach has been much more favorable to the more prestigious universities, such as the ones in Chapel Hill and Raleigh, than it has to minority universities, such as the one in Pembroke.

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is hoping that the current legislative session delivers money for a regional center. A new science building is also on UNCP's most-needed list.

Boyles' plan would provide enough cash that both of UNCP's needs could be met, and would also help assure that none of our universities would have to settle for the shortest stick.

Boyles proposes that the General Assembly approve the sale of two new kinds of bonds. The state would repay one set of bonds with money that it has used annually to met the UNC System's capital needs. The universities themselves would pay off the second set of bonds with revenue that is generated through dormitory and parking receipts, athletic events, fees and other such sources.

The plan has the support of the governors. Boyles told them earlier this month: "To rely on the pay-as-you-go-system would mean we would be getting further and further behind. And in the eyes of a business person, that would not be good."

Boyles even went so far as to call the funding needs a "moral obligation" that the state must meet. Our lawmakers would be wise to listen to Boyles and move quickly to douse this threat to a state treasure.

residence, improved walkways, a bicycle lane and land purchases. The plan also mentions five demolition projects and sets aside money for a pedestrian mall on Laurel Street with a bell tower to provide a distinctive image to the university."

Fort said, "We have a need for a modernization of the entrance to our campus so it presents a look as a university should."

But one of the largest single expenses is a central cooling plant. The price tag is $26.25 million.

The other big-ticket projects include $29.47 million for a classroom and laboratory complex, $21.8 million for Hines Hall's replacement, and $10.7 million for renovations to Carver Hall.

There's also $6.3 million to buy land. "That's something we've been seeking for years," Fort said.

Klein told the committee some chancellors seem worried that the second half of this 10-year plan won't happen. Neither Sullivan nor Fort is among those worried chancellors.

Sullivan said she is convinced that if UNC uses money wisely and shows what it can do for students, faculty and the university system, the General Assembly will provide the funding that the Klein report indicates the system needs.

If the state legislators weren't serious, Fort asked, "Why would they have instructed the system to commission such a study?"

Although the projects in this draft "cover substantially the things that seem to be the most pressing needs on each campus," Klein said, this represents the first half of a 10-year plan.

"I have to tell you," she said, "there will still be needs at the end of the day when this project is over."

system, according to the version the committee saw Monday. N.C. State would get $300 million, the second-highest total.

[redacted]eport recommends that UNCG and A&T each receive $150 million, which is money Klein said Greensboro's campuses desperately need.

"That's mainly corrective work for a campus that is just about falling down," Klein said of UNCG. "The same is true of A&T."

"Greensboro has buildings going back 90 years with only a paint job," Klein said. "There is a huge, huge, inventory of aged and crumbling space on those campuses dating back to the 19th century."

UNCG would get money for three new buildings, the renovation and modernization of six others, and improvements in road, heating, water, electrical and sewer systems. The campus also would get $10 million to buy more land.

The draft calls for $36.4 million for a new science building, $5.25 million for new research space and $21.6 million for a replacement for the McIver [redacted]ilding.

"If we had our druthers," Sullivan said, "McIver would be our first priority. ... In order to do a new McIver we have to get the land."

McIver was originally on the list as a renovation project, but Sullivan said renovating the building would be more expensive than replacing it. The Board of Governors may consider a renovation project under those circumstances if the building has historical significance, Sullivan said, but "that's not a historic building. ... It's a building in very bad shape."

The new science building was in the works before Klein's study began. "They're designing it now," Sullivan said.

UNCG's Petty Science Building is on a list with A&T's Hines Hall and a science building at N.C. Central University that Klein is particularly adamant about replacing.

A&T also would get money for two new buildings, 12 building renovations, a new chancellor's

UNC is refining its building plan

Greensboro's university chancellors are happy about UNC's tentative building plan.

"I'm very pleased," UNCG Chancellor Patricia Sullivan said. "I'm really pleased if we can get this."

N.C. A&T Chancellor Edward Fort said he is pleased because it acknowledges a consultant's findings that A&T and UNCG are among the neediest campuses in the UNC system and sets to do something about that.

At the General Assembly's request, the UNC Board of Governors has developed a 10-year plan for construction, renovation and modernization on UNC campuses. The board hired Eva Klein & Associates to evaluate UNC's buildings and infrastructure and to determine what needs to be done so they can accommodate the system's needs through 2008. After 18 months, the firm produced a plan with a $6.9 billion price tag.

On Monday, Klein presented the board's Committee on Budget and Finance with a more detailed 5-year plan, one that names specific projects on specific campuses. "It is important that you realize this is a draft," Klein told the committee.

Today, the university chancellors will get a chance to share their opinions of that draft with Klein, UNC President Molly Broad and UNC general administration staff.

The report officially will be presented to the full Board of Governors on Thursday.

UNC-Chapel Hill would get $400 million over five years, more than any other campus in the UNC

EDITORIAL

N.C. university system needs funds to shore up facilities

UNC President Molly Broad's first couple of years in North Carolina have brought some pleasant surprises and some major challenges.

Broad was delighted by the "love affair" between North Carolinians and their university system, she said, but dismayed to find the degree to which the 16-campus system is micro-managed by state legislators and regulations.

Broad and the UNC Board of Governors were more than dismayed, they were "astonished" she said, when an independent consultant they hired at the direction of the General Assembly reported on the university system's capital fund needs.

"The university is unbelievably undercapitalized for our current mission," she said, "Much less for the challenges we face."

More than 800 buildings system-wide are in serious need of repair. Some are in such bad condition the consultant recommended they be torn down and replaced. The cost to do maintenance that has been too long deferred and to retrofit 1950s buildings for teaching 21st-century science and technology: $3 billion. The cost to meet the challenge of providing services for an increased enrollment of 50,000 students expected in the next 10 years: $3.9 billion. Total capital needs: $6.9 billion.

Two factors are primarily responsible for the sad state of many of the university system's buildings. First, the state has always funded its capital fund needs on a pay-as-you-go basis. Legislators have been generous to the university when funds were available, but funds weren't always available. Moreover, the way legislators have been lobbied for specific buildings for specific campuses has favored new construction over maintenance or renovation of old buildings. Second, before 1993, the state didn't provide a steady source of maintenance funds. The amount the university system has received since then has not been nearly enough to address the need for maintenance too long deferred and the need to modernize antiquated buildings.

Broad and her team have worked closely with state treasurer Harlan Boyles to come up with a plan for addressing UNC's desperate capital fund needs. They've put together two pieces of proposed legislation that would allow the system to begin solving the problem.

The first would permit the state to issue limited obligation bonds to finance capital needs. Tax dollars would not be legally obligated to pay for projects funded this way. The projects themselves would be pledged as security on the debt. But the state would, of course, have a moral obligation to pay for the projects from state appropriations over a specified number of years. One big advantage is that the bond money would create a predictable revenue stream.

The second piece of legislation would permit the UNC Board of Governors to issue bonds to be repaid from revenue it receives on rents, fees, investment earnings on endowment funds, etc. The university would not be allowed to issue bonds pledging to repay them with state appropriations or with tuition receipts.

About 60 percent of the total capital needs would be paid for with state bonds and about 40 percent with the university bonds. That's consistent with the fact that over the past 75 years, more than 40 percent of capital construction on UNC campuses has been funded with money from private giving or other money not appropriated by the General Assembly.

Broad insists that one of the primary goals those designing these proposals had in mind was to avoid the need for significant increases in in-state tuition.

Treasurer Boyle's office has prepared two pieces of draft legislation and they've been discussed with the leadership in the state House and Senate. They proposed legislation is currently under review by legislative staff. Broad's hope is that the legislation will be introduced and approved during the current session. Otherwise, the university will, in all likelihood, get very little capital funding during the current year. That would be a tragedy given the extent of the need and the crush of students on their way.

North Carolina has one of the oldest and best university systems in the country. It is one of the state's most valuable assets and one of its proudest treasures. It's an investment we must protect and enhance.

Q&A: UNC President Molly Broad charts future

Editor's note: University of North Carolina President Molly Broad recently met with the Asheville Citizen-Times Editorial Board. Following are her comments and her responses to questions from the board.

Broad: One of the major priorities for the University of North Carolina over the coming years will be to serve an unprecedented increase in projected enrollment – something like 50,000 more students over the course of the next 10 years. Part of how we have been addressing preparation for that enrollment growth has included evaluating the condition of our physical facilities and determining what physical changes we will need to accommodate that growth.

We were encouraged in doing that by the Legislature that wrote a special provision that mandated that the university hire an independent outside consulting service and build a 10-year capital plan for all 16 campuses...

The staggering conclusion of that analysis is that the university is dramatically undercapitalized and the estimated cost of that recapitalization of the university is $6.9 billion over 10 years. Three billion of it – nearly half of the entire amount – is for rehabilitation and modernization of existing facilities. There are some 800 buildings across the 16 campuses that comprise the universi[redacted]at will require major repa[redacted]renovation. And that is w[redacted]ead the $3 billion worth of [redacted]nization costs ...

We have a proposal that 60 percent of this $6.9 billion over 10 years would be funded by the state and 40 percent by the university.

We have been operating the university in a pay-as-you-go way, a phrase that does not accurately depict what is meant, because what we have really been doing is, as a state, putting money into a capital budget from year to year on the basis of what is left over.

So the state has been providing money on whatever is left over after the operating budget has been funded and some years it has been very little; other years it has been seemingly quite generous. The last two years that has averaged $120 million. Over the last 10 years we have received $87 million on average per year in capital. But it has been wholly inadequate to the needs of what is now a huge university and one that is very important to the future of the state. And so the conclusion was that this method of financing capital was inadequate to the current and future needs of the state. And that we needed to find some way [redacted]fusing additional capital.

We w[redacted]very closely with the state treasurer who has been the architect for gaining the triple A bond rating – the only state in the country, I believe, that has this high bond rating – by engaging in fiscally prudent actions on the part of the state. So that was the first place that we turned to in seeking advice and help because although our needs are great, it seemed essential that we find a fiscally prudent strategy for addressing those needs. And so we've worked closely with (state Treasurer) Harlan Boyles in the design in the development of a legislative initiative that would authorize two kinds of bonds, one on the state's balance sheet and the other on the university's balance sheet to simply define the differences between the two kinds of instruments.

The state bonds would be issued in the name of the university with some kind of property lien, some building that would be pledged against the bonds for the bond-holders, but coupled with an expression of legislative intent to fund on an annual basis the debt service to repay those bonds.

But other revenues, whether it is from residents halls, parking fees, earnings on endowment, athletic fees, research grants and contracts, all of the other sources of revenue would be pledged by the university to support those bonds. If you look at what the rating agencies say about the state of North Carolina, Moody's or Standard and Poors [redacted]have given us this triple A [redacted]you would find quite intere[redacted]

"I will not be at all surprised if we see a quite significant escalation in post baccalaureate education (in Western North Carolina) and everywhere around the state. Whether that post baccalaureate education will in all cases lead to what you and I see as a master's degree or Ph.D., I think is less clear."

ingly that the investment of this state in its universities is viewed as one of the major factors for the economic strength of North Carolina. And the investment of prior generations in creating such a strong university is viewed as an important part with a significant return on that investment.

So why would Harlan Boyles recommend as strongly as he is recommending and supporting these instruments? In part it is explained by what the rating agency says about the underlying economic strength of North Carolina. And in part it is that the university of North Carolina is an asset of the state. It is owned by the state, it is one of the most important assets of this state and failure to invest in and maintain these facilities, not only will escalate the cost over the long haul but diminish the effectiveness of the university – which after all is a major contributor to the growth and prosperity of the state.

And so the state treasurer is actively supporting this initiative. We are seeking authorization from the General Assembly, hopefully during this session of the legislature. Otherwise it appears we may not have any capital budget in this session of the General Assembly. We would like to get at implementation of the plan.

Question: Most of us are familiar with the bonds that are authorized via referenda. These would not be authorized that way. Talk about the importance of those bonds in the context of how you have framed them, without going to the people.

Broad: I think there are several important reasons for doing it the way Harlan has proposed. One of those is that this will be a plan that evolves from year to year on the basis of what enrollment growth we actually realize.... We have laid out a plan that would fully utilize each of the campuses and as you know some of our campuses are small. They don't achieve the economies of scale and our plan anticipates that those campuses would grow more rapidly than the large campuses.

Question: Including UNCA?

Broad: Except UNC Asheville, where the mission is being an undergraduate liberal arts program with small classes. UNCA and the School of the Arts would be the exception to the general notion. Now, if our assumptions aren't realized and some of those small campuses like North Carolina A&T, Elizabeth City State University, Western Carolina, etc., if they don't grow as we plan, we are going to adapt this plan accordingly from year to year. General obligation bonds, in that sense, are a very blunt instrument. You get to write one proposition that goes on the ballot. You typically have to spell out each and every project, and it just didn't seem as if was going to work for what is clearly a dynamic and changing set of circumstances. And we also felt it was important for the General Assembly to evaluate the effectiveness of implementation from construction management and cost accountability and planning ...

Question: Is there the risk that

Citizen-Times

JUN 5 1999

tuition might have to be raised somewhere down the road to help repay the university's portion of that? Meaning that while tuition itself couldn't necessarily be used, by raising tuition, you could free up money from some other source, endowments or some other source?

Broad: That is quite explicitly not the intention ...

Question: Who is going to set the priorities for which buildings should be funded and will this alleviate some of the politics?

Broad: The procedure will be as it has been. That is, each campus will build its capital plan and capital priorities. That plan will be reviewed by the Board of Governors. I would say we are so much better informed today than the university was, say 10 years ago, about what our needs are. I think our priorities are going to be clearer, cleaner, stronger. But it will go to the General Assembly. And the General Assembly then will approve a capital plan and capital expenditures for each new capital construction project. What is different is where the financing source will come from.

Question: Here in Asheville just a mile from where we sit right now, the dropout rate of African-American male students is almost 60 percent. Do you have a concern that unless something is done by the university system or by the public that underwrites secondary education in Asheville and throughout our state that the university system – particularly the top-rated schools, like UNC-Chapel Hill – could become a university for the elite, for those who are white, whose families and communities support them and help them get through school?

Broad: Such an outcome would be inconsistent with all the history and the ideals of this university from its very earliest conception – more than 200 years ago, and would be inconsistent with the pattern right up to today.

From the university's perspective, I believe the greater problem is the college-going rate. It isn't the character or the diversity or the openness of the university. It's that not enough North Carolinians try to come to the university. Our educational attainment is below the national average ... So one of the strategies that we're embarking upon is a program we call Pathways that would begin with youngsters in the seventh grade and with their parents to talk to them about career options, to lay out what they need to take in high school in order to be admissible to the university and to help their parents plan for the cost of the university education....

Question: Do you have any specific ways or suggestions for high schools to do a better job preparing students for college.

Broad: Well, we are giving some serious thought to utilizing new approaches that are described as portfolio evaluation as a part of admission to the university, and I think, by extension, requirements for high school graduation. One of the main thrusts of these portfolios is for students to demonstrate, not just in a test score but to actually demonstrate through their own work what they know and can do.

"I have begun to gather a group of people who are willing to help to frame an approach and a strategy to assist the university in getting freed up from the regulatory red tape."

Citizen Times

JU[redacted]5 1999

Question: Western North Carolinians claim that they don't have opportunities for graduate education here. I wonder if you acknowledge that as a real need and if there are plans to enhance those offerings?

Broad: ...I will not be at all surprised if we see a quite significant escalation in post baccalaureate education here and everywhere around the state. Whether that post baccalaureate education will in all cases lead to what you and I see as a master's degree or Ph.D., I think is less clear. Some of these may be intensive post baccalaureate experiences that lead to a variety of kinds of certificates, but I believe that graduate level education will be and must be expanded...

Question: You have been here about a year and a half. What has been a surprise?

Broad: Most of the surprises have been very positive. This state has a deep and abiding belief in its university in a way you do not find most places in this country. It is a belief that is rooted to the history of this state in which the university was launched within days after becoming a state and has been sustained over the years. And the university has received support from this state when other parts of the state budget have suffered. It has been amazing truly remarkable sustained commitment to the values of a great university, and the belief on the part of citizens who may have never stepped foot on a university campus.... It is almost a love affair that this state has with its university.

Perhaps the biggest surprise on the negative side might even be the flip side of the coin. Mainly that the state regulates this university, instructs it, micromanages it. These words all have different charges but the essence of it is that the state is intimately involved in guiding the course of the university that in this day and time has resulted in a bureaucracy that makes it very difficult for a university to be nimble. And in a time of great change these campuses have to be nimble, they have to be able to change directions, to start something new, to move quickly and it is very hard to move quickly.

Question: What would it take to change that?

Broad: It's a great challenge to me. But I have begun to talk with wise people who don't have a selfinterest. It's very hard because I have such an abiding self-interest in achieving this. I'm trying to find other people who don't have an ax to grind, who don't have a self-interest.... I have begun to gather a group of people who are willing to help to frame an approach and a strategy to assist the university in getting freed up from the regulatory red tape.

Question: Can you give us one example?

Broad: The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill engaged in a competitive process for who would provide these computers to their incoming students. And they got an incredible deal from IBM. Appalachian State University would like to piggyback onto the terms of that contract. Makes sense, huh?

I signed off on it, said what a great idea. But no dice. The State Office of Procurement wouldn't let us do it. Now I am sure I don't understand all of the laws that they face and for which they need to stand accountable, so I am not being critical. I have not walked in their shoes. But from where I sit, the public purpose has been served. There has been open competition – the lowest price was awarded the contract. A small campus who couldn't leverage that market on their own could be the beneficiary. The vendor was willing. The logic of it is hard for me from where I set to understand, why this doesn't make enormous good sense.

Question: Sometimes we ask visitors who are in positions of authority and responsibility to give themselves a letter grade. So what's the letter grade for your performance?

Broad: Well, we have just spoken about the area where I think my performance is inadequate to the important goal, namely to achieve streamlining of the organization and make it possible for those campuses to be nimble. In other areas of the university, I feel very good about where we're heading and our ability to achieve the goals that we have. So I guess I give myself a B.

Daily News

In-Depth Study Needed Along With Full Truth

It is shocking news to hear that at the University of North Carolina we have some 700 buildings of one type or another which need renovating. But beyond the number of buildings is the estimated cost of repairing those buildings. We read that it will require more than $7 billion to do the complete job as it should be done.

The news about the university property takes on added significance when we read that Harlan Boyles, North Carolina treasurer, has come up with a plan which will bring a good measure of relief. In fact, some UNC leaders are already offering support for the Boyles plan. Molly Broad, president of the Greater University, seems to be enthusiastic about the plan.

Mr. Boyles is well-known as a man who does not believe in spending money foolishly. He is a true conservative, and when he recognizes that North Carolina must do something now about this situation, it seems to be time for all of us to sit up and take notice.

Under the plan as presented and as we understand the state would issue $2 billion in bonds and the university would issue $1.5 billion in bonds. The idea of the university issuing bonds is a new concept for this state to consider. Insofar as we know or believe, state universities have not in past years issued bonds.

Each session of our legislature appropriates money for university use in building repair or renovation. According to Dr. Broad, the money appropriated will just about equal the payments on the bonds on the annual basis.

We look at the proposition and frankly we doubt that there is any newspaper editor in North Carolina who can give a learned opinion on what to do. However, many of us realize the urgent needs and when we look at the Boyles plan, we cannot say that it offers the best answer. But we can and do say that this plan ought to be given in-depth study. We did not realize that we had as many as 700 buildings in need of attention.

Now some of these buildings are dormitories; some are classrooms; some are for special use; all play a part in the overall scheme of educating our young people.

There is one question which people over the state will be asking. Suppose the university cannot pay the annual bill and interest on bonds issued by the university — who pays then? We must suppose that the state of North Carolina must come to the rescue. Still, there are many other questions which will be asked and many answers yet to be given.

This is a huge matter and one which cannot and must not be taken lightly. The university system has been told to prepare to admit some 40,000 more students over the next 20 years.

And while we are dealing the educational cards, never allow us to forget the community college system.

Bonds a creative solution to university needs

As a principle, pay-as-you-go has a lot to recommend it. But it's not always practical.

If we all followed the principle, for instance, most of us wouldn't have houses or cars or other big-ticket items because we'd have to save up the full amount of the cost before we made our purchase.

That's the same way the North Carolina university system has built its buildings and done its repairs and renovations. University administrators ask the General Assembly each year for money to build or renovate certain buildings and the work isn't done until the funds are appropriated by legislators.

But, especially given the state's current growth mode, that isn't working anymore.

A consultant says the 16 university campuses will need about $7 billion (yes, billion) in construction to cope with 800 buildings in need of renovation and repair and to provide enough additional space to care for an anticipated enrollment growth of 48,000 students over the next decade.

There is no way pay-as-you-go can solve that crisis.

So the UNC Board of Governors is asking the General Assembly for legal authority to issue $3.5 billion in bonds. Of that, $2 billion would be repaid by the legislature over the next 20 years.

The other $1.5 billion would be university system bonds that would be repaid from student fees, dormitory rents, research grant overhead, endowment earnings and other non-tuition revenue the universities collect.

UNC President Molly Broad makes a strong case for the "limited obligation" and "special obligation" bonds. Many states and even local governments have used this approach to try to catch up with serious backlogs. So it is not something new — just new for the university system.

We feel particularly optimistic about the wisdom of adopting the bonding program because it is suggested by State Treasurer Harlan Boyles, a very conservative guardian of North Carolina's dollars.

Boyles said Friday, "We're here to help because it's a good investment and the needs are critical. You need an infusion of funds immediately so you can head off some of the deteriorating circumstances you now see."

Senate President Pro Tem Marc Basnight is an enthusiastic backer of Broad's proposal — an important ally in getting the necessary legislation passed.

One problem that could arise is that the General Assembly would stop appropriating building funds during the years it is paying debt service on the bonds. That would be a foolish mistake because it would be creating an additional backlog of expensive building repair and renovation that future legislators would be forced to deal with.

Serious problems require innovative and creative solutions. Legislators should honor the Boyles-Broad plan and give quick approval to bills permitting the $3.5 billion in bonds.

Some ideas we could do without Pssst. Can I interest you in a crummy idea? How about six of them from the General Assembly, which has been meeting since January in Raleigh?

Now don't get me wrong. The legislature has been doing many worthwhile things during the session. But I don't count playing loan shark, sugar daddy, bookie and gate keeper among those worthwhile things. Here are six crummy ideas being debated in the legislature:

Rob Christensen

CRUMMY IDEA ONE: Let's call it the loan-sharking enabling act. The finance companies want the legislature to give them authority to jack up interest rates — in some instances as high as 36 percent. This is at a time when most interest rates are near historic lows.

This could cost the state's waitresses, janitors, maids and other working stiffs up to $40 million per year. Many of these finance companies are not mom-and-pop operations but are subsidiaries of such banking giants as First Union and Bank of America.

Two bills affecting different parts of the industry have already passed either the House or the Senate. What's next, a bill, enabling finance companies to hire somebody to break your knee caps if you don't pay on time?

CRUMMY IDEA TWO: More sweetheart deals for big business. The state has been involved in a bidding war with other states to provide taxpayer incentives to companies that create jobs.

I'm not a hard-liner here. I can see giving money for a Nucor or a Wisconsin Tissue to open big plants in poor rural counties. But since when is go-go Charlotte an impoverished area? The Senate last week passed a bill that would allow financial incentives for US Airways and for TIAA-CREF, a New York-based pension-fund manager, both of which are planning new facilities in Charlotte. The bill also extends the incentives program, called the Bill Lee Act, from 2002 until 2007 even though studies have yet to prove that incentives are worth all the money.

CRUMMY IDEA THREE: The lottery. Turns the state into a bookie, promotes gambling and is a notoriously unreliable source of money for the state. Other than that, it's a great idea. Bills are pending in the Senate and House.

CRUMMY IDEA FOUR: Incumbents lining their own pockets. The House has been considering a bill to provide longevity pay for lawmakers — ranging from an extra $669 after five years to an extra $2,008 after 20 years. Companies award longevity pay to valuable long-term employees to reward their loyalty and to help keep them from changing jobs. Tell me again, why we should reward legislators who stick around 20 years?

CRUMMY IDEA FIVE: The Dark Ages are back. The legislature last week made Bermuda Run, a gated golf course community near Winston-Salem, an incorporated town. This idea was very popular in the Middle Ages, when cities built walls around them to keep away raiding Normans or Vikings. I can see Bermuda Run having trouble with turf grass, but Visigoths?

CRUMMY IDEA SIX: The UNC Board of Governors wants authority to borrow $3.5 billion for university construction without submitting the bonds to the voters in the form of a referendum. I'm not saying repairs and new buildings aren't needed. But whatever happened to faith in the citizens who built one the country's great university systems? I bet the finance companies would be willing to loan UNC the money, if Molly Broad doesn't mind paying a 36 percent vigorish.

UNC system seeks loans for renovations

Pay as you go method can't keep up with 791 buildings

By ERIC FERRERI
The Herald-Sun

DURHAM — Until recently, the UNC system's method of paying for renovations to its buildings was simple.

Need some repairs? No problem, as long as there's cash available. No cash? Then the project gets stuck on the back burner until money is freed.

That system, referred in financing circles as the "pay as you go" method, works relatively well for any single building renovation project. But when you have 791 buildings in need of large-scale improvements, there's no way to find enough cash.

The UNC system's Board of Governors took a dramatic step toward solving that problem Friday, endorsing a plan set forth by State Treasurer Harlan Boyles that would let the state borrow the money to get the work started immediately.

Under two proposed pieces of legislation, bonds would be sold to raise about half of the estimated $6.9 billion the system will need during the next decade to fix and improve decaying laboratories, inadequate classrooms and undersized offices at UNC's 16 universities across the state.

The legislation would provide $3.5 billion that would be spent during the next five years and would take roughly 15 to 20 years to pay back.

For too many years, the UNC system has relied on the shortsighted pay-as-you-go method of financing. Boyles told board members who met Friday at N.C. Central.

"Pay as you go is dependent on resources available at the time," he said. "If there's no money, there's no improvements. We've relied upon, too heavily, a pay as you go system that relied on cash at hand."

And university officials say they don't have time to wait.

Across the system, officials are preparing for an influx of students during the next decade that will surely stretch the boundaries of some campuses. About 48,000 additional students are expected to arrive on UNC campuses in the next 10 years.

This enrollment surge necessitates new residence halls and academic buildings, as well as renovations to existing facilities. Thus, the bonding proposal is all the more vital, Boyles said.

"We face a critically important challenge in accommodating the influx of enrollment we anticipate," said Molly Broad, president of the UNC system.

"If we fail to meet that need, our economy and quality of life in North Carolina will suffer. From our point of view, this [legislation] is an imperative. There are [about] 50,000 students coming our way, and we can't postpone when they arrive at our door."

There are two pieces of legislation that will go to the General Assembly for approval. One is for the sale of limited obligation bonds, which will be sold by the state. As new buildings are built or existing buildings are renovated, those buildings will be used as collateral against the bonds used to pay for the work.

The second type would be special obligation bonds, issued by the university. They will be issued for specific, revenue-producing projects such as a residence hall that brings in student fees or a parking deck that collects parking fees. In those cases, the anticipated revenues will be pledged as collateral.

These funding models, while foreign to UNC, are common at other universities as well as on a smaller scale in many North Carolina cities and counties, officials say.

For many university officials, the money can't come fast enough. Many UNC campuses have found themselves handcuffed by a lack of money to do wide-scale improvements.

A recent higher education consultant's report on the state of disrepair of so many buildings made many officials take notice.

"The university is one of the most important assets of this state, yet we find that asset is in significantly diminished condition," Broad said.

"Buildings have deteriorated. Buildings that no longer serve the research function of a major university."

On the UNC Chapel Hill campus, officials have long advocated for an alternative to the pay-as-you-go method of financing, said James Ramsey, Carolina's vice chancellor for finance and administration.

"It's the way to go," he said of the bonding proposal. "We've been promoting debt financing for six to nine months because of the needs on our campus. We think it's critical."

Of the 791 buildings in need of repair, officials have found 19 that may be demolished because the cost of renovating them would be more than simply replacing them. But officials still must evaluate whether those buildings can be converted for other uses. And some of those buildings also may hold historical significance that would necessitate their preservation.

Many legislators were caught by surprise two months ago when officials first started talking dollar figures in relation to capital repairs. But by now, UNC officials say they're confident legislators have gotten past the sticker shock and understand the need for sweeping improvements.

"We're asking for things that are a dire necessity, to protect our investment," said Ben Ruffin, chairman of the Board of Governors. "They understand that."

Rob Lamme, a spokesman for N.C. Senate President Pro Tempore Marc Basnight, said Friday that Basnight is convinced the bond issuance is the best way to pay the overwhelming costs.

"The UNC system has been an engine for our state's economic development through this entire century, and he wants to make sure that remains true in the next one," Lamme said.

UNC will seek power to issue bonds

DURHAM — The UNC Board of Governors agreed Friday to ask the legislature for new laws that would allow the state and the university to borrow billions of dollars for campus construction.

University leaders hope to secure at least $3.5 billion through bonds to move ahead quickly on an estimated $6.9 billion in overdue renovations and new buildings. They have said they need extensive improvements to be able to accommodate an extra 48,000 students in the next decade as the college-age population swells.

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles, who has advised UNC President Molly Broad on financing options, presented the plan to the board Friday at N.C. Central University.

"As the state's banker, I am here to say we want to be of help," Boyles told the governing board. "We're here to be of help because it's a good investment and the needs are critical. You need an infusion of funds immediately so you can head off some of the deteriorating circumstances you now see."

The board unanimously endorsed Boyles' suggestion for bonds — to be issued by the state and the university.

In the coming weeks, legislators will debate bills that would authorize two types of bonds, neither of which would require voter approval.

One bill would permit the state to issue "limited obligation" bonds, which would essentially create a moral obligation — but not a legal one — on the state to repay the debt. UNC leaders hope to secure $2 billion through this method — to be repaid over 20 years by annual appropriations from the legislature.

The other bill would allow the UNC board to issue "special obligation" bonds to be repaid from defined sources of income — dorm rents, student fees, endowment earnings and overhead receipts from research grants. Tuition could not be used. UNC leaders hope to raise $1.5 billion through this type of bond, which is very similar to revenue bonds already used routinely to build parking decks and residence halls.

UNC Board member Jim Phillips Jr. said he was optimistic about the plan's chances in the legislature. It already has received strong support from Senate President Pro Tem Marc Basnight.

UNC System President Molly Broad and State Treasurer Harlan Boyles will unveil a plan Friday that would use bonds to help pay for billions of dollars in renovation and construction needs at the system's 16 campuses.

A consultant has warned UNC system leaders it will take up to $6.9 billion to refurbish and expand campuses to accommodate an anticipated enrollment growth of 48,000 students in the next decade.

Broad and Boyles hope bonds can pay that bill. The bonds would not need voter approval, even though some of them would be repaid through tax dollars. The legislature would set the amount to be borrowed, although it's unlikely they would agree to the full $6.9 billion.

If the legislature signs onto the plan, it would mark a departure from the state's usual pay-as-you-go strategy for such building needs — a strategy that has delayed many campus projects since ready money tends to be scarce.

"We have 50,000 more students who will be heading our way in 10 years," Broad said Wednesday. "Since we can't postpone their arrival, we can't wait to update these facilities."

While Broad has already enlisted the support of legislative leaders, some legislators are wary when they hear the word "bond."

"It's easy to say, 'Let's go out and get bonds,'" said N.C. Sen. Bob Rucho, R-Mecklenburg. "Bonds are no panacea. . . . That's just not the answer to all the questions."

Rucho admits, though, that number crunchers have thrown some startling figures at the UNC system this year.

Eva Klein, a consultant hired by the state to assess the condition of all 16 universities, found $6.9 billion in needed improvements and new construction. She urged legislators to fund that bill by looking beyond their annual budget allotments.

In a separate study, university leaders have predicted the system's 16 schools must absorb 48,000 more students in the next decade to handle the state's growth.

Finding the money to handle all of that is the big problem.

Traditionally, the state annually provides the system money for new building and renovation needs, but the amount is inconsistent. While it has averaged $86.7 million since 1989, it has ranged from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997.

"This (plan) will begin the public dialogue. It's a conversation that could go on for some time."

MOLLY BROAD
UNC SYSTEM PRESIDENT

Still, it's never been enough to do all the work that needs to be done, Broad said.

Now, with Klein's sobering billion-dollar figures, Broad and state treasurer Boyles are calling on the state to provide more money up front through bonds.

Under the plan she and Boyles have penned and will present to the Board of Governors Friday:

- The state would be asked to issue limited obligation bonds. To pay them off, the state would redirect the UNC system's annual capital budget to debt relief.

For example, rather than give the system $200 million next year to fix and build facilities, the legislature would use that money to pay off the bonds.

That way, Broad says, the system would get its capital funding up front in a lump sum without the legislature "breaking the bank."

- The Board of Governors would have authority to issue bonds for campuses needing the money. The campuses would then repay their debt through money collected from such things as dorm rents, food receipts and parking fees — but not tuition.

Broad hopes for legislative approval this session. If she gets it, the bonds could be issued within six months and the system could completely finance partially-funded projects, renovate the most desperate facilities and build new ones to accommodate growth at the system's burgeoning campuses, like UNC Charlotte.

UNC system board endorses bonds for its capital needs

The board that governs North Carolina's university system endorsed a plan Friday to seek billions of dollars in bonds to pay for extensive renovations and build new facilities at the 16 UNC campuses.

UNC System President Molly Broad and State Treasurer Harlan Boyles have drafted two pieces of legislation that would help pay for $6.9 billion in rehab and construction costs recently identified by a consultant.

One piece of legislation would permit the state to issue "limited obligation" bonds that would be repaid with capital funding the state usually gives the UNC system annually.

The second piece would give the Board of Governors power to issue "special obligation" bonds to campuses. The campuses would repay the bonds with money raised through such means as parking, student fees or dorm rents.

The proposal gives the UNC system the money to make critical repairs up front, rather than forcing it wait for the money piecemeal in its annual budget. The plan now goes to the General Assembly to seek sponsors.

Broad hopes to see legislative action this session.

Moral obligations

Funding proposal for UNC's critical needs makes sense

Jaws dropped and eyes popped when an education consultant told the University of North Carolina board of governors that the 16-campus system had capital needs approaching $7 billion. How could the state keep up with repairs and renovations, let alone provide space for an expected 48,000 additional students, at a time when lawmakers were merrily cutting taxes and limiting choices?

Boyles

Here's how, says state Treasurer Harlan Boyles: Create two new kinds of bonds that will allow the university to jump-start its capital needs response with more than $3 billion in spending for renovations and new facilities, and pay the money back over 20 years. Mr. Boyles, one of the nation's tightest-fisted state financial officers, has developed bond proposals that he says other states have used to deal with similar problems. "It's a good investment and the needs are critical," he added.

His proposal would work this way: The legislature would create and the state would issue limited obligation bonds that would be repaid through annual legislative appropriations equal to about what the legislature has allocated to the university for capital spending over the past decade. The General Assembly would also create special obligation bonds to be issued by the UNC board of governors and repaid through revenue streams available on the campuses — dormitory and parking receipts, athletic proceeds, research overhead and other sources of cash.

This would represent a starkly different approach to funding capital needs on UNC campuses — but it also represents the most promising approach. New tax sources seem out of the question, and the legislature faces tough choices this year thanks to tax cuts and having to repay taxpayers for levies that have been ruled unconstitutional. The old pay-as-you-go method is inadequate at a time when there are so many construction needs and when so many new students will arrive on university campuses in the next decade.

"To rely on the pay-as-you-go-system would mean we would be getting further and further behind," Mr. Boyles told the board of governors Friday. "And in the eyes of any business person, that would not be good."

Mr. Boyles' proposal, developed in conjunction with university leaders, makes sense. Key legislators are beginning to recognize that, and are warming to the idea. Some lawmakers think it's such a good idea, in fact, that they are proposing the community colleges piggyback on the plan, too.

But that might limit the effectiveness of the bonds in several significant ways, hamstringing the state's ability to provide needed facilities on UNC campuses. The university system, after all, is the brightest gem and most important asset of the state, while community colleges are the crown jewels of the counties. They have significant needs as well, and deserve adequate funding in separate legislation.

UNC President Molly Broad and Treasurer Boyles deserve credit for developing the proposals and building public and legislative support for them. As Mr. Boyles puts it, the funding needs are not so much a legal obligation as "a moral obligation" of the state. The bond plan would turn these unfunded obligations into long-lasting state assets that would contribute to continued progress and economic prosperity. The General Assembly should listen — and approve the UNC bonds package.

Official: Proposed UNC construction bonds could benefit ECU

■ UNC President Molly Broad and state Treasurer Harlan Boyles will unveil a plan to fund up to $6.9 billion to refurbish and expand the system's 16 campuses.

Staff, wire reports

A plan to use bonds for billions in UNC system construction needs would greatly benefit ECU, one school official said.

University of North Carolina President Molly Broad and state Treasurer Harlan Boyles will unveil a plan today to fund up to $6.9 billion to refurbish and expand the system's 16 campuses to accommodate an anticipated enrollment growth of 48,000 students in the next decade.

The state's General Assembly, which has always appropriated capital funds on a year-to-year basis, will have to approve the plan.

"This would be a major impact to East Carolina if there would be a bond issue and it were to pass," said Richard Ringeisen, ECU vice chancellor for academic affairs.

A bond issue would be an improvement over the pay-as-you-go practice used by universities, including ECU, Ringeisen said.

"ECU could plan when we could construct our buildings as opposed to asking each year for funds from the legislature," he said.

He noted that the more than $30 million in renovations to Joyner Library were funded through state bonds.

A consultant has warned UNC leaders that it will take up to $6.9 billion to prepare for the expected enrollment boom.

"We have 50,000 more students who will be heading our way in 10 years," Ms. Broad said Wednesday. "Since we can't postpone their arrival, we can't wait to update these facilities."

That influx of students will be felt by ECU, triggering the need for more classrooms and laboratories, especially with Chancellor Richard Eakin's goal of increasing enrollment by about 9,000 students in the next 10 years.

Topping ECU's list of building priorities is a science and technology center. The school has asked the state legislature for $53 million to construct the facility.

However, Ringeisen said a bond issue probably will not materialize in time to pay for the center.

"We still hope to have the science and technology building funded (this legislative session), because the bond issue is a relatively long process," he said.

Site preparation is expected to begin this summer using $3 million provided by the state legislature.

If lawmakers are unable to find money for the project this year, bonds "would give us assurance it could be funded in the distant future," Ringeisen said.

"We must have it," he said of the new facility.

The bonds would not need voter approval, even though some of them would be repaid through tax dollars.

The Legislature would set the amount to be borrowed, but it's unlikely that lawmakers would agree to the full $6.9 billion. Boyles has been working with UNC administrators on a borrowing plan legislators can accept.

If the Legislature signs onto the plan, it would mark a departure from the state's usual pay-as-you-go strategy for such building needs — a strategy that has delayed many campus projects.

Traditionally, the state annually provides the UNC system money for new building and renovation needs, but the amount is inconsistent. While it has averaged $86.7 million since 1989, it has ranged from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997.

Still, it's never been enough to do all the work that needs to be done, Broad said.

Now, Ms. Broad and Boyles are calling on the state to provide more money up front through bonds.

Today, Boyles will brief the UNC Board of Governors on two bills. One would authorize limited obligation bonds, the other would allow special obligation bonds.

Boyles compared limited obligation bonds to a home mortgage. They would be secured by liens on university property and paid for through annual appropriations from the General Assembly.

If the General Assembly were to take $200 million and apply that money to debt payment instead of capital projects, UNC could sell $2 billion to $2.5 billion in bonds, roughly a third of what the system needs over the next decade, Boyles said. It would take 15 to 20 years to pay those bonds off, Boyles said. If the whole $6.9 billion were funded that way, the annual debt payment would be about $700 million.

Special obligation bonds would be paid with what Boyles called "unencumbered resources the campuses would generate," for example, various fees charged to students.

The financing proposals are likely to occupy a good deal of the Board of Governors' time this week, beginning with today's meeting of the Committee on Budget and Finance.

"This will begin the public dialogue," Ms. Broad said. "It's a conversation that could go on for some time.

UNC CAPITAL NEEDS

System ditches pay-as-you-go

The UNC system Board of Governors has taken prudent steps to prepare the system's 16 universities for the next century. The board has approved a plan allowing universities to borrow money to pay for critical improvements and renovations.

State lawmakers would be wise to give this timely legislation full consideration when it comes before them. Allowing universities to borrow money by way of general obligation bonds is an idea whose time is past due. The system has traditionally relied on the outdated pay-as-you-go method to pay for its new buildings and renovations.

But the problem with pay-as-you go is that sorely needed capital improvements are often delayed because there is no money on hand to pay for them. And while pay-as-you-go is fiscally prudent in the short term, it could prove to be a long-term liability if buildings on the system's 16 campuses are allowed to further deteriorate. System officials say 791 buildings need repair and that 19 of them may have to be demolished because renovation would be too costly.

The funding plan recommended by State Treasurer Harlan Boyles on Friday calls for $6.9 billion in bonds to be issued over the next 10 years. The money would be used to make badly needed repairs to laboratories, classrooms and offices. Roughly half of that amount, $3.5 billion, would be spent over the next five years.

The plan will come in two parts for state lawmaker's consideration: One would authorize the sale of general obligation bonds by the state. The new buildings would be used as collateral against the bonds to pay for the work. The other would permit universities to issue special obligation bonds. These bonds would be tied to specific revenue-producing projects like residence halls. Fees collected would be pledged as collateral.

The General Assembly's approval of this proposal couldn't come soon enough for a university system expecting 48,000 additional students to flood its 16 campuses over the next 10 years. New dormitories, new academic buildings and major renovations to existing facilities will be in demand before the signatures dry on the documents authorizing the bonds.

"If we fail to meet that need, our economy and quality of life in North Carolina will suffer," says Molly Broad, president of the UNC system. "From our point of view, this is an imperative."

It certainly is.

UNC wants construction bonds

Campuses suffering from decades of neglect

BY JANE STANCILL
STAFF WRITER

The University of North Carolina system, facing a $6.9 billion construction and renovation tab, wants permission from the legislature to borrow $3.5 billion and begin construction immediately.

According to a plan drawn up under the direction of state Treasurer Harlan Boyles, the university system wants new laws that would allow both the state and the university to issue bonds to pay for capital improvements on the public campuses. UNC leaders want the state to issue bonds for $2 billion and the campuses to issue bonds for $1.5 billion over the next five years. The debt would be paid over 20 years.

'Do we continue to sweep the circumstances under the rug or move forward ... ?'

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles

If UNC is successful, the money would transform its 16 campuses into modern universities with high-tech classrooms and sophisticated laboratories. The scheme would also be a major departure from the way the university system historically has paid for new buildings — by relying on inconsistent annual appropriations from the state.

That pay-as-you-go system simply hasn't worked, Boyles said Wednesday. Now the university has little choice but to borrow money to catch up on a huge backlog of facility repairs.

"The university has a serious problem," he said. "The dollar amounts are quite staggering. The question is: Do we continue to sweep the circumstances under the rug or move forward with a very positive strategy for dealing with the needs?"

According to a recent report by a higher education consultant, the state's campuses are in deplorable condition after decades of neglect. The state has dedicated regular money for repairs only since 1993, and about 800 buildings are due for significant renovation. Rapid improvements are needed if the campuses are to accommodate 48,000 extra students by 2008, UNC officials say.

Boyles will present the financing plan Friday to the UNC Board of Governors. Already, discussions are under way between top UNC officials and the legislative leadership.

Rep. Leo Daughtry of Smithfield was skeptical of the idea.

"It's not a new thing," said Daughtry, who recently stepped down as Republican caucus leader in the House to prepare for a campaign for governor. "It's a question of how much debt the state can handle." He said the legislature also needs to keep in mind the needs of the community college system.

If legislators approve the bond proposal, the UNC system could borrow billions of dollars almost immediately — kick-starting a construction boom but also saddling the state and the universities with long-term debt.

The state would pay off the debt annually for two decades — but the payments wouldn't be much more than what the state already spends on UNC construction, Boyles and UNC President Molly Broad said.

Instead of appropriating an annual capital budget for the universities, the legislature would have to commit the money to debt service payments each year until the debt was paid off. Last year, the General Assembly appropriated $125 million to the UNC system; if the state paid annual debt service at the same level, it could support more than $1.5 billion in construction, UNC officials say.

The campuses would pay off their loans using receipts from dormitory rent, student fees, endowment income and overhead receipts from a burgeoning research enterprise. According to the draft legislation, the universities would not be allowed to use tuition receipts or annual operating money from the state to pay debt.

Broad on Wednesday noted that most public universities sell bonds to pay for capital improvements.

"The advantage for us is that we would receive a significant infusion of capital at a time when we're preparing for unprecedented enrollment growth," she said.

The State University of New York received $2 billion recently from state-issued bonds, and the University of Connecticut has a $1.2 billion bond-financed building spree under way, she said.

Boyles said the state-issued bonds, called "limited obligation bonds," are the type used successfully by counties and cities for almost two decades. Those bonds, which do not require voter approval, have been used to finance schools, courthouses and recreational facilities.

The university-issued bonds, called "special obligation bonds," would require the campuses to identify defined revenue streams to borrow for specific projects.

If the scheme works, the university system would likely be given the green light to expand its use of bonds in the future, Boyles said.

The question is whether the General Assembly will be willing to push the debt onto future legislatures.

Broad said she was optimistic.

"I think they're beginning to feel a little more comfortable with the feasibility of this."

Expensive catch-up

The University of North Carolina system looks to bonds as an alternative to 'pay as you go' as a means of financing building improvements. The needs are plain, and the proposal deserves careful study.

It would be a radical change in a state that has always taken a conservative approach to finances. But the University of North Carolina system's leaders believe they face a crisis with worn-out and outdated buildings, at a time when enrollments are expected to soar. Rather than pay for renovation projects as money becomes available from the General Assembly, university leaders want the state, and the university, to issue bonds totalling $3.5 billion — in effect providing borrowed money that would be available for use over the next five years and be paid back over the next 20 years. The state would issue $2 billion worth of bonds, and the university $1.5 billion.

President Molly Broad of the UNC system accurately characterizes the difference as that between paying cash up front — meaning that a relatively modest amount of work could be done in a given year — and paying for buildings as one would pay for a house. That approach enables one to move in immediately and then repay a loan over time.

Broad makes a credible case that the money is, in fact, needed right now. She cites a consultant's finding that 800 buildings are due for renovation and that repairs have been significantly neglected. (The consultant's estimate for all the system's renovation and construction needs to cope with an anticipated enrollment boom within 10 years is nearly $7 billion.)

Broad's argument is supported by State Treasurer Harlan Boyles, the guardian of North Carolina's top-flight credit rating and a man not known to be reckless with a public buck. Boyles is to present the financing proposal to UNC's Board of Governor's today.

At a time when education dollars are stretched thinly over the university system, the community college system and the public schools, a means of financing UNC's needs other than the traditional one of "pay as you go" is attractive.

Obviously, the idea needs a painstaking look from the General Assembly, where legislators will doubtless have many questions. But it does deserve that look, and not a dismissal as too much of a departure from the familiar way of doing business. (And though it may be different for North Carolina, bond issues for universities' capital projects have been used by other states.)

The UNC system, with its 16 campuses, is indeed an economic and cultural jewel that it is in the state's profound interest to nurture and protect. The community college system is also an asset whose value is growing steadily. And the public schools have long been underfunded and under-appreciated. Reconciling the various needs of public education with the available funding, or despite a shortage of funds, is a puzzle that can be solved only with creative thinking. The university's proposition is one such creative and plausible idea, one of a number of alternatives that the legislature should, and must, explore.

UNC bond issue sought

By Jane Stancill

DURHAM — The UNC Board of Governors agreed Friday to ask the legislature for new laws that would allow the state and the university to borrow billions of dollars for campus construction.

University leaders hope to secure at least $3.5 billion through bonds to move ahead quickly on an estimated $6.9 billion in overdue renovations and new buildings. They have said they need extensive improvements to be able to accommodate an extra 48,000 students in the next decade as the college-age population swells.

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles, who has advised UNC President Molly Broad on financing options, presented the plan to the board Friday at N.C. Central University.

"As the state's banker, I am here to say we want to be of help," Boyles told the governing board. "We're here to be of help because it's a good investment and the needs are critical. You need an infusion of funds immediately so you can head off some of the deteriorating circumstances you now see."

The board unanimously endorsed Boyles' suggestion for bonds — to be issued by the state and the university.

In the coming weeks, legislators will debate bills that would authorize two types of bonds, neither of which would require voter approval.

One bill would permit the state to issue "limited obligation" bonds, which would essentially create a moral obligation — but not a legal one — on the state to repay the debt. UNC leaders hope to secure $2 billion through this method — to be repaid over 20 years by annual appropriations from the legislature.

The other bill would allow the UNC board to issue "special obligation" bonds to be repaid from defined sources of income — dorm rents, student fees, endowment earnings and overhead receipts from research grants. Tuition could not be used. UNC leaders hope to raise $1.5 billion through this type of bond, which is very similar to revenue bonds already used routinely to build parking decks and residence halls.

UNC Board member Jim Phillips Jr. said he was optimistic about the plan's chances in the legislature. It already has received strong support from Senate President Pro Tem Marc Basnight.

Many states already use both types of bonds, as have counties and municipalities in North Carolina, Phillips said. He predicts the legislature will accept the idea.

"The question becomes how much debt are you going to incur," he said. "I don't know where that number will end up — how much money they'll feel comfortable committing."

If the legislation passes and the bonds are issued, the General Assembly likely would not appropriate annual building funds for the university during years of heavy debt service payments. But Broad said she hoped the university would still be eligible for money from the state's annual repair and renovation budget — even during the debt payoff. "If not, in 10 years we will find ourselves having repaired the old problems and created a whole set of new ones," she said.

Last month, a higher education consultant told UNC leaders that some 800 aging buildings on the state's campuses need significant renovation — after decades of neglect. The state did not allocate regular renovation funds to universities until 1993. New building projects have always been funded by the state on a cash-in-hand basis.

"It's clear that pay-as-you-go wasn't working," said Marye Anne Fox, the N.C. State chancellor. "This is the most reasonable option. It requires a vote of faith, but I think the university has earned this faith."

UNC board may renounce old pay-as-you-go tradition

The UNC Board of Governors is considering legislation that would authorize borrowing for buildings.

BY TIM THORNTON
Staff Writer

It may be the first nail in the coffin of North Carolina's pay-as-you-go tradition.

When the UNC Board of Governors meeting adjourns on Friday, the board will have discussed, considered and perhaps endorsed legislation that would allow the UNC system to finance at least part of its $6.9 billion building campaign by selling bonds.

"It's unrealistic to think that the General Assembly can do much with that without borrowing money," state Treasurer Harlan Boyles said. He has been working, along with UNC general administration staff, on a borrowing plan legislators can accept.

On Friday, Boyles will brief the board on two bills that have come from that work. One would authorize limited obligation bonds, the other would allow special obligation bonds.

Boyles compared limited obligation bonds to a home mortgage. They would be secured by liens on university property and paid for through annual appropriations from the General Assembly. If the General Assembly were to take the $200 million it has traditionally devoted to capital projects, Boyles said, and apply that money to debt payment instead, UNC could sell $2 billion to $2.5 billion in bonds, roughly a third of what the system needs over the next decade. It would take 15 to 20 years to pay those bonds off, Boyles said. If the whole $6.9 billion were funded that way, the annual debt payment would be about $700 million.

Special obligation bonds would be paid with what Boyles called "unencumbered resources the campuses would generate," for example, various fees charged to students.

Boyles said two other UNC financing bills have been considered. One would deal with student housing, the other with the university hospital system. "We haven't made much progress on the second two except for jaw-boning," Boyles said.

This drastic change in financing is being considered because of a report the Board of Governors sent to the General Assembly last month. The plan, "Building for the New Millennium," is the result of a yearlong study by Eva Klein and Associates Ltd., an education consultant from northern Virginia.

"The pay-as-you-go policy is not working," Klein told the board at its April meeting. "It's not working for Pembroke and it's not working for Chapel Hill. If you have a policy that's not working for your small institutions and not working for your large institutions, you should take a look at it."

UNC President Molly Broad has echoed Klein's assessment. Broad told a group of Triad civic, business and government leaders assembled at the Greensboro Hilton last month that pay-as-you-go "is not going to be adequate. It hasn't been adequate, or we wouldn't be in the position we find ourselves in now."

Boyles will take his versions of the financing bills to the meeting Friday and said he assumes members of the board will have their versions, too. The essence of the proposals will be the same, he said.

Boyles said Wednesday afternoon he thought UNC General Administration had the most current drafts. General Administration said the most up-to-date version was in the treasurer's office.

"It's very fluid," Boyles said.

The financing proposals are likely to occupy a good deal of the Board of Governors' time this week.

Discussions will begin today when the Committee on Budget and Finance addresses the issues raised in a letter from committee member Ray Farris. Farris's main concern is that the board stay deeply involved in decisions.

"This is not staff decision-making material," he said.

The Committee on Public Affairs will discuss the legislation needed to implement the Klein report's recommendations just before Boyles makes his presentation about that legislation to the full board Friday.

Committee chairman Jim Phillips, a Greensboro attorney, said, "I'm not exactly sure how they're going to play this whole thing" but "I'm excited and optimistic that we've got a chance to deal with this problem sooner rather than later."

OUR VIEWS

A sensible way to build UNC

If the University of North Carolina's 16 campuses are to have the buildings their students will need in coming years, there seems only one logical way to pay for them: borrow the money.

That would be a departure for the state, which traditionally has paid for university improvements in cash.

But thanks to reckless tax cuts and a couple of expensive legal setbacks, the state doesn't have that kind of cash these days. Even if it did, it probably wouldn't have enough to meet the needs of the university system.

It's growing at a rapid rate as new students pour in and older North Carolinians go back to school to improve their job skills, change careers and enrich their intellectual lives.

To make matters worse, a consultant has concluded that many existing buildings need to be renovated and modernized.

The bill for all this is put at a hair-raising $6.9 billion.

It should ease the anxieties of knowledgeable North Carolinians to learn that the borrowing plan to finance this project comes from Harlan Boyles, the super-cautious state treasurer.

With the approval of that respected authority on government spending, the university will ask the General Assembly for permission to quickly issue $3.5 billion in bonds. It says its yearly loan payments over 20 years would be close to what it now spends to put up buildings on a pay-as-you go basis.

The figures are huge, of course, but so are the figures you swallow when you get a mortgage to buy a home. That's what the university would be doing – getting a mortgage to build homes for its universities.

Unless the Honorables can come up with a better way to get that kind of money, they ought to agree to the university's request.

It makes sense.

UNC plan would use bonds to help pay for campus construction

Proposal departs from system's usual pay-as-you-go approach to building needs

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHAPEL HILL

The University of North Carolina board of governors is being asked to consider a proposal that would authorize borrowing for building needs and end the state's pay-as-you-go tradition.

UNC President Molly Broad and state Treasurer Harlan Boyles will introduce a plan today to use bonds to help pay for billions of dollars in construction needs at the system's 16 campuses.

A consultant has warned UNC leaders that it will take up to $6.9 billion to refurbish and expand campuses to accommodate a enrollment growth of 48,000 students in the next 10 years.

"We have 50,000 more students who will be heading our way in 10 years," Broad said Wednesday.

"Since we can't postpone their arrival, we can't wait to update these facilities."

The bonds would not need voter approval, even though some of them would be repaid through tax dollars.

The General Assembly would set the amount to be borrowed, but it is unlikely that legislators would agree to the full $6.9 billion.

Boyles has been working with UNC administrators on a borrowing plan that legislators might find acceptable.

If the legislature signs onto the plan, it would be a departure from the state's usual pay-as-you-go strategy for building needs — a strategy that has delayed many campus projects.

Traditionally, the state provides the UNC system money each year for new building and renovation needs, but the amount is inconsistent.

Although it has averaged $86.7 million since 1989, it has ranged from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997.

It has never been enough to do all the work that needs to be done, Broad said.

Broad and Boyles are calling on the state to provide more money up front through bonds.

Boyles will brief the board of governors today on two proposals.

One would authorize limited-obligation bonds, the other would allow special-obligation bonds.

Boyles compared limited-obligation bonds to a home mortgage.

They would be secured by liens on university property and paid for through annual appropriations from the General Assembly.

If the General Assembly were to take $200 million and apply that money to debt payment instead of capital projects, UNC could sell $2 billion to $2.5 billion in bonds, roughly a third of what the system needs over the next decade, Boyles said.

It would take 15 to 20 years to pay off those bonds.

If the whole $6.9 billion were financed that way, the annual debt payment would be about $700 million.

Special-obligation bonds would be paid with what Boyles called "unencumbered resources the campuses would generate," for example, various fees charged to students.

"This will begin the public dialogue," Broad said.

"It's a conversation that could go on for some time."

UNC told it must hasten repairs

■ State treasurer says system needs infusion of cash; board of governors approves a proposal for bond bills

By William L. Holmes
JOURNAL REPORTER

DURHAM

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles told leaders of the University of North Carolina system that they need to have the power to finance their building projects or they risk letting the system continue its slide into disrepair.

"We've relied too heavily on a pay-as-you-go system that relied on . . . cash on hand," Boyles told the UNC board of governors at its monthly meeting yesterday. "You need an infusion of cash immediately so you can head off some of the deterioration."

A consultant recently estimated that the system needs $6.9 billion for expansion and repairs to accommodate an expected growth of nearly 60,000 students during the next 10 years.

HARLAN BOYLES

Boyles and Molly Broad, the system's president, have prepared some legislation that would allow the university to use two kinds of bonds to pay for its building projects.

Limited obligation bonds would allow the university to use the building as collateral for the bonds, similar to a home mortgage.

Special obligation bonds would allow a university to pledge its future receipts of rent, fees or other money as payment for the project.

Some cities and counties in North Carolina have used similar bonds to pay for courthouses, social-services buildings and schools.

Several other states allow the issuance of bonds for construction.

But the UNC system has always paid for its buildings with cash appropriated by the General Assembly. The legislation would end that tradition.

The board of governors voted unanimously to support the bills, although they have not been introduced.

"These are drafts, and the likelihood is great that they will be changed before they are introduced and after they are introduced," said Jim Phillips, a Greensboro lawyer who is the chairman of the board's public-affairs committee.

The university could issue the bonds as soon as six months after the bills are approved by the General Assembly, Phillips said. The General Assembly would determine how much the system can borrow, and it is unlikely that legislators would approve $6.9 billion worth of bonds at once.

Buildings that have been partially supported by the

UNC BONDS

General Assembly would receive the first money collected by the sale of the bonds.

The bonds would not be subject to public vote, although they would be paid with tax money.

Robert F. Warwick, another member of the board, questioned whether the state would want to commit to paying off debt yearly for building projects.

The General Assembly has given the university an average of $86.7 million for building projects since 1989, ranging from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997. The system could pay off $2 billion in bonds with annual payments of about $200 million for 15 or 20 years, Boyles said.

The system would continue to seek money for repairs and upkeep beyond what it commits for debt, Broad said.

Otherwise, the 16 public universities in the state may face the same backlog of problems in 10 years.

Ben Ruffin, the chairman of the board of governors, said he expects the General Assembly to approve the bills.

"It's not a situation that we invented," he said.

"We are asking them for things that are a dire necessity to protect the investment."

Tough Choices for UNC

Over the next decade, the University of North Carolina system's 16 campuses will be expected to accommodate 48,000 more students than are currently enrolled. Undoubtedly, that will require the expansion of university facilities, which will require money.

But the numbers being bounced around in Raleigh and Chapel Hill are high enough to cause some pretty intense sticker shock.

MOLLY BROAD

An outside consultant hired by the UNC system to assess the situation warns that it will take up to $6.9 billion to refurbish and expand campuses to accommodate the anticipated growth in enrollment — far more than the General Assembly could be expected to provide in the time frame the money will be needed.

Facing up to that reality, UNC President Molly Broad and State Treasurer Harlan Boyles broke with tradition Friday and unveiled a plan to the UNC Board of Governors to use bonds to help pay for the billions of dollars in construction.

Throughout the history of the UNC system, expansion has been paid for through appropriations, student fees and tuition.

This pay-as-you-go tradition has allowed the UNC system to be free of massive debt, but it has also caused delays in many campus projects.

The General Assembly annually provides the UNC system money for new building and renovation needs, but the amount has been inconsistent. While it has averaged $86.7 million since 1989, it has ranged from $1.6 million in 1990 to $125 million in 1997.

Still, that's never been enough money to do all the work that's needed, system administrators say, and buildings on some campuses, especially the smaller ones with historically minority enrollment, have slipped into disrepair.

Though it's doubtful that state legislators and the UNC board will approve borrowing the full $6.9 billion, it is clear that the system needs money, a lot of it, now.

If the General Assembly were to take $200 million and apply that money to debt payment instead of capital projects, UNC could sell $2 billion to $2.5 billion in bonds, roughly a third of what the system needs over the next decade, Boyles said Friday.

It would take 15 to 20 years to pay those bonds off.

If the whole $6.9 billion were provided that way, the annual debt payment would be about $700 million. Even though some of these massive bonds would be repaid through tax dollars, they would not require voter approval.

The citizens of North Carolina have always made our public universities, recognized as among the best in the nation, a priority, and generous appropriations of tax dollars have kept tuition relatively low.

But our state's growing population and the ever increasing percentage of students seeking a college education are about to force some tough choices. As unappealing as it will be to put the UNC system and the state in hock for billions, bonds may have to be part of that hard reality.

An Equal Opportunity/ Affirmative Action Employer

Dear Legislative Friend of Education, June 24, 1999

The Council of UNC Alumni Association Presidents was formed ten years ago to support the UNC System in improving the margins of excellence for which the system has traditionally been known. We represent over 750,000 University Alumni, the great majority of whom live, work, and vote in North Carolina.

We are writing and will be contacting you in your home district in support of the two bills on University Capital Facilities Finance and Special Obligation Bonds for Improvements to the Facilities of the University of North Carolina. You have already been contacted by many obvious supporters of the University including Administrators, Chancellors, and Trustees who have provided you with compelling information from the Eva Klein consultant's report on repair, modernization, and construction needs as well as State Treasurer Harlan Boyles' innovative financial recommendations. Given the surprising defeat of the Wake county education bonds and the possible delay in Charlotte, we believe it even more important that you and the NC Legislature act with courage and dispatch on the subject bills.

The Council represents an independent and pervasive voice seeking your support based solely on our long term commitment to excellence in the University specifically and Education in general. We are already on record as offering thousands of mentoring volunteers for GEAR UP North Carolina, a grant application for 7-8th grade student intervention as well as offering even larger volunteer support for Governor Hunt's "First in America by 2010" challenge. The Council has previously geared up for a state-wide promotion of University Bonds which the Legislature supported five years ago.

In summary, the Council supports education initiatives from Smart Start to post graduate studies. We believe education provides the primary fuel for the economic and cultural engine of North Carolina. We applaud the Governor's "First in America" initiative; the State Treasurer's financing alternatives initiative; and the Legislature's Community College financing initiative as well as originating the Klein study. We wish to further applaud you for passing these two important capital financing bills.

We are asking for your help. You can ask us for our help as well. Please contact us at (919) 557-1259 with any questions.

Joint House-Senate Finance Committee Hearing Room 544 Legislative Office Building
June 29, 1999

RECOGNIZE COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRS PRESENT

[Representatives Luebke, Allen, and Miller; Senators Hoyle and Kerr]

- Good morning, and thank you for the opportunity to share with you the University of North Carolina's response to the capital financing plan proposed in Senate Bill 912 and House Bill 1481.
- I appear before you this morning with the sadness of one who lost a dear colleague during the night. As you may have heard on the news, Chancellor Michael Hooker passed away during the night. When I left Carmen Hooker at 5:00 this morning, her ~~last~~ parting words to me were words of encouraging support to come to this hearing armed with the support of Michael Hooker as well as the many strong supporter of this University here in this room this morning. N.B: Dr Scott, Hackney, President Friday.

- Among the 50 states, North Carolina stands alone in her strong and historic support of higher education. This state has in large part defined itself by the character of its great university -- yesterday, today and it is my hope, tomorrow. This state has invested generously in the University of North Carolina for more than two centuries now. And the return on that investment has been nothing short of remarkable. Today our 16-campus University is acknowledged not just as the oldest, but as one of the very best public university systems in this country and one of this state's greatest assets. This is a tribute, first and foremost, to the sustained commitment and leadership of the General Assembly. Yet the passage of time has taken a serious toll on the physical condition of our campuses.

- The General Assembly acknowledged the pressing capital needs of the University some two years ago, when you called for a comprehensive, independent study of the equity and adequacy of all University facilities, as well as for the development of a detailed capital plan to address identified shortcomings.

- Over the past 18 months, consultant Eva Klein has engaged the Board of Governors in one of the most thorough, well-documented assessments of capital facilities ever conducted by a university system. Like you, we were at first stunned by the magnitude and seriousness of the problems identified: a crushing backlog of deferred maintenance; the imperative to renovate and retrofit outmoded science facilities and other buildings for modern uses; and the need for new and updated facilities to manage projected enrollment growth of nearly 50,000 students.

- So as we approached the completion of the assignment given to the Unviersity by the General Assembly, we asked Eva to help us forge a rigorous capital plan that was in proper alignment with the University's enrollment planning and the academic missions of each campus. We believe the Phase I five-year plan ratified by the Board of Governors and transmitted to the legislature accomplishes this goal. To lessen the need for new space, UNC has adopted the most stringent space-utilization standards of any public university system in the nation, and in planning for enrollment growth, we will use existing capacity to the fullest extent possible and promote economies of scale.

- Over the years, the General Assembly has been generous to UNC when capital funds were available. But as so starkly revealed by Eva's report, North Carolina's traditional pay-as-you-go approach to capital funding will fall far short of the amount needed to repair, modernize, and expand UNC facilities. We are grateful that Treasurer Boyles brought his vast experience and expertise to the problem and helped devise a sound, fiscally responsible solution. And we are equally grateful that this proposed financing strategy has been embraced by President Pro Tem Basnight, Speaker Black, Governor Hunt, and many others business and government leaders. The Chancellors of our campuses and their staffs have worked intensively to provide the detailed information about facility needs and building condition.

- The General Assembly's approval of the financing legislation advanced in Senate Bill 912 and House Bill 1481 would provide a rare opportunity for us to recapitalize—to rebuild—the University of North Carolina for a stronger future. Such investment now is absolutely essential if we are to prepare for unprecedented enrollment growth; to prepare our campuses to take advantage of technological change and to be more productive and competitive in research and technology transfer. Never before in the history of America has a university education been more important. ~~For~~ We are witnessing the transition to a knowledge-based economy in which our greatest competitive advantage is our people and the skills, innovation, and know-how they bring to the table.

- For more than two centuries, the fortunes and future of UNC and the state of North Carolina have been inextricably linked. Our forefathers had the vision, the faith, and the courage to create the first public university in America. Today we ask for that same sort of vision. I ask you to make an investment in an institution that is a proven income-generator for our state. I urge you to invest in the University in the spirit of your forebears—in the certainly that this is an investment in our future.

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORIZATION OF NON-VOTED PUBLIC DEBT IN NORTH CAROLINA

The Constitution of North Carolina authorizes the General Assembly to empower The University of North Carolina to borrow money and issue bonds for its repayment with or without a vote of the people of the State, as the General Assembly determines to be in the best interest of the State.

In 1967, the Supreme Court of North Carolina in the case of Vance County v. Royster, 271 N.C. 53, had occasion to interpret Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution as it then read:

> "Sec. 6. No debt or loan except by a majority of voters. No county, city, town, or other municipal corporation shall contract any debt, pledge its faith or loan its credit, nor shall any tax be levied or collected by any of the officers of the same except for the necessary expenses thereof, unless approved by a majority of those who shall vote thereon in any election held for such purpose."

The specific issue before the Court was whether a contract entered into by Vance County to pay the federal government $1,250 a year for 25 years for the use of land for a public airport constituted a "debt" that required the approval of the voters of the county to be valid.

The Supreme Court concluded that the lease did constitute a "debt" that required voter approval under the Constitution--and that any enforceable contractual obligation except revenue bonds required a popular vote of approval. The result was a substantial restraint on what had generally been thought by local government lawyers to be the ability of local (and state) governments to borrow money without a vote of the people so long as the faith and credit of the borrowing unit were not pledged to its repayment.

The General Assembly of 1967 created the Local Goverment Study Commission to make a thorough study of the structure, organization, powers, and financing of local government in North Carolina. In its report, filed with the 1969 General Assembly, that Commission recommended, among other matters, that "[t]he General Assembly should have authority to determine what contracts other than contracts creating general obligation debt must be submitted to popular vote." [Report of the Local Government Study Commission, 1968, p. 7.] One stated intent of the Commission was to overrule the Vance County decision.

Pursuant to that recommendation and others, the Study Commission proposed a general revision of the constituitonal provisions with respect to public finance, especially Article

V, the finance article. That Commission's recommendation was endorsed by the North Carolina State Constitution Study Commission (1968). It was enacted with minor revisions by the 1969 General Assembly, ratified by the qualified voters of the State in 1970, and took effect by its own terms in 1973. [N. C. Sess. Laws 1969, ch. 1200.] (The delayed effective date was to allow time for the enactment of implementing legislation.) The provisions of the Constitution relevant to the proposed bond issue date from that amendment.

The pertinent provisions of the Constitution with respect to state and local government borrowing are closely similar in language and in legal effect. Thus most court interpretations of the provisions with respect to local government apply as well to state government borrowing.

Article V, Section 3, of the Constitution now reads in part:

> "The General Assembly shall have no power to contract debts secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State, unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the State who vote thereon, except for . . . [several narrowly defined purposes, such as suppressing riots, or] for any other lawful purpose, to the extent of two-thirds of the amount by which the State's outstanding indebtedness shall have been reduced during the next preceding biennium." [Emphasis supplied.]

Article V, Section 4, contains a virtually identical provision with respect to the contracting of debt by local governments. That provision the Supreme Court was called upon to interpret in 1991 in Wayne County Citizens Association v. Wayne County Board of Commissioners, 328 N.C. 24. The county had entered into an installment purchase contract with a financial institution whereby the county contracted to make annual payments to the institution for a specified period in return for the erection of court, jail, and office buildings for the use of the county. The county by its contract expressly denied that it was making a pledge of its faith and credit to pay the lender; its security was limited to a security interest in the land on which the buildings stood. While it was anticipated that the annual payments would be made by the county from tax funds, the contract expressly provided that such payments would be discretionary on the part of the county. And in the event of foreclosure by the creditor, a deficiency judgment against the county was contractually prohibited.

The Supreme Court found that the contact was not a violation of Article V, Section 4, despite the lack of a provision for a public vote on the issuance of debt, because there was no pledge of the faith and credit of the borrowing county--that is, no commitment of the taxing power of the county--to secure repayment. On that point, the Supreme Court wrote:

> "Plaintiffs argue that . . . [the authorizing statute] is unconstitutional because the statute allows the County to enter into an agreement pursuant to which the County may expend tax revenues in future years without a vote of the people. We find no merit in this argument. What is being pledged as security is the constitutionally significant factor. Unlike general obligation bonds, wherein the taxing power of the governmental unit is pledged, in installment purchase contracts, only the property improved is pledged. The possibility that appropriations which might include income from tax revenues will be used to repay the indebtedness under the contact is not a constitutionally significant factor." [Emphasis supplied.] 328 NC. at 31.

Thus it is clear that the Constitution of North Carolina, as interpreted by our State Supreme Court, empowers the General Assembly to authorize The University of North Carolina to issue the proposed university improvement security interest bonds without a pledge of the faith and credit of the State being given for their redemption, and as no pledge of the faith and credit of the State is to be given, no vote of the people of the State is required to authorize the bonds.

TESTIMONY OF CHARLES F. FULLER

DIRECTOR, NORTH CAROLINA CITIZENS FOR A SOUND ECONOMY

before the

HOUSE and SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEES of the

NORTH CAROLINA GENERAL ASSEMBLY

June 29, 1999

Good morning. Mr. Chairman and members of both the House and Senate Finance Committees, I come to you today on behalf of North Carolina Citizens for a Sound Economy. North Carolina CSE is an affiliate of Citizens for a Sound Economy, a 250,000-member non-profit organization advocating free market solutions to public policy problems. The 6,000-strong North Carolina Chapter established an office this year to bring a common sense message of limited government, lower taxes, and reduced regulation to the people of North Carolina.

Historically, the citizens of North Carolina have had the opportunity to vote on bond proposals for the university system. However, the General Assembly is considering a five billion dollar bond issue that bypasses the public's traditional role in approving the state's education bond issues. North Carolina CSE is concerned that such a move would put the state's consumers at risk for higher taxes. It was reported today in the News & Observer that bypassing the people's right to vote on the University Bond Issue will cost taxpayers 39 million dollars.

Let me detail for you 10 reasons why you should let the people vote:

Reason number one why you should let the people vote!

- Approving billions of dollars in spending for the University system, without a vote of the people, does not address the underlying problems. Much of the consultant's report detailing the university system's needs is an indictment of poor management of our physical buildings and facilities. Before approving new bonds and placing the state billions of dollars more in debt, inefficient management practices in the university system should be eliminated. Let the people vote.

Reason number two why you should let the people vote!

- Although the new bonds are said to be targeted toward urgent spending needs, a number of the planned expenditures are far from urgent, including a six million dollar indoor tennis and volleyball center, a ten million dollar music and theater complex, and one million dollars in landscaping at the School of Arts. All totaled, the plan includes more than one hundred million dollars for sports and arts projects. Let the people vote.

Reason number three why you should let the people vote!

- Any one of you here today, if you saved the State of North Carolina 39 million dollars, you would rightfully be hailed a hero. So why would the leadership of the General Assembly bypass the voters, put them in debt billions of dollars, risk higher taxes down the road, and make the taxpayers pay 39 million dollars for the privilege? I say again, let the people vote and save the taxpayers 39 million dollars!

Reason number four why you should let the people vote!

- The voters have chosen wisely in the past. North Carolina's consumers have allowed for the creation of a university system that has a national reputation. We are all proud of our university system. If the case can be made regarding needs, voters will respond. Let the people vote.

Reason number five why you should let the people vote!

- Placing the state an additional five billion dollars in debt could raise taxes. According to our state treasurer it will. In fact, Treasurer Harlan Boyles had this to say last year, "Unless the state's spending philosophy changes, which of late includes mountains of borrowed money, the next governor of North Carolina will face the largest tax increases or the largest budget reductions ever experienced in our history." Voters should be allowed to vote, especially when their taxes may go up to pay the bill. This is another good reason to let the people vote!

Reason number six why you should let the people vote!

- The budget just approved by both houses does not include repayment of the illegal intangibles tax collected by the state between 1991 and 1994. Why should the state be allowed to borrow more money when taxpayers that are owed a refund from an illegal tax have not been repaid? This just does not make sense. Let the people vote!

Reason number seven why you should let the people vote!

- Debt obligates future generations and taxpayers to pay the bills. Citizens should be encouraged to vote, especially when it is obligating their children and grandchildren to pay the bill. Let the people vote!

Reason number eight why you should let the people vote!

- The proposal to increase university spending requires a more thorough evaluation. A private consultant spent two years surveying close to 800 buildings in the university system in order to determine the needs of the system. Now the General Assembly is rushing through a massive spending plan without proper time for lawmakers or the public to review the proposal. Maybe that is why the Greensboro News & Record reported last week that Representative George Miller said their decisions are made in the back room. Two years to review and only two days to decide on spending almost five billion dollars? Let the people vote!

Reason number nine why you should let the people vote!

- As I understand, the University system will not ask for any additional building funds for 10 years if this bond package is approved. Does anyone in this room really believe that will be the case? Another good reason why we should place these issues on the ballot and let the people vote!

Reason number ten why you should let the people vote!

- It's the right thing to do! Let the people vote and save them 39 million dollars!

There indeed may be some real building needs in the University system, but it was built by the people, paid for by the people, and the people deserve a right to vote because they are the ones that will be making payments on this debt for many years to come.

Let the people vote!

Mr. Chairman, thank you for your time and I request a copy of my remarks be placed in the minutes to this meeting.

Dear Legislative Friend of Education, June 24, 1999

The Council of UNC Alumni Association Presidents was formed ten years ago to support the UNC System in improving the margins of excellence for which the system has traditionally been known. We represent over 750,000 University Alumni, the great majority of whom live, work, and vote in North Carolina.

We are writing and will be contacting you in your home district in support of the two bills on University Capital Facilities Finance and Special Obligation Bonds for Improvements to the Facilities of the University of North Carolina. You have already been contacted by many obvious supporters of the University including Administrators, Chancellors, and Trustees who have provided you with compelling information from the Eva Klein consultant's report on repair, modernization, and construction needs as well as State Treasurer Harlan Boyles' innovative financial recommendations. Given the surprising defeat of the Wake county education bonds and the possible delay in Charlotte, we believe it even more important that you and the NC Legislature act with courage and dispatch on the subject bills.

The Council represents an independent and pervasive voice seeking your support based solely on our long term commitment to excellence in the University specifically and Education in general. We are already on record as offering thousands of mentoring volunteers for GEAR UP North Carolina, a grant application for 7-8th grade student intervention as well as offering even larger volunteer support for Governor Hunt's "First in America by 2010" challenge. The Council has previously geared up for a state-wide promotion of University Bonds which the Legislature supported five years ago.

In summary, the Council supports education initiatives from Smart Start to post graduate studies. We believe education provides the primary fuel for the economic and cultural engine of North Carolina. We applaud the Governor's "First in America" initiative; the State Treasurer's financing alternatives initiative; and the Legislature's Community College financing initiative as well as originating the Klein study. We wish to further applaud you for passing these two important capital financing bills.

We are asking for your help. You can ask us for our help as well. Please contact us at (919) 557-1259 with any questions.

Sincerely,

Limited Obligation Bonds for UNC Improvements

- Limited obligation bonds are not secured by a pledge by the State of its taxing power to secure their payment and, as authorized by the voters in an amendment to the Constitution in 1970, the use of limited obligation bonds is within the discretionary powers granted to the General Assembly by the people of North Carolina.

- General obligation bonds are secured by a pledge by the State of its taxing power to secure their payment and, when such pledge is made, voter approval is usually required. However, the General Assembly has authorized and the State has issued $147 million of non-voted 2/3 bonds since 1987, while additional bonds totaling some $4.5 billion have been submitted to and approved by the voters since 1993

- Since a pledge of the taxing power usually requires a bond referendum, it is often necessary to determine and identify the projects to be funded very early in the process. The ability to change those projects is limited. Limited obligation bonds offer greater flexibility in determining and planning what projects will be funded.

- The proposed plan of finance calls for financing the required improvements immediately, then using projected "pay as you go" funding and applying those monies to debt service rather than capital funding.

Impact Of The Proposed University Bonds Upon The State's Credit Rating

At the beginning of this century, Governor Charles Aycock saw in North Carolina's children a bright new future for our State, if only we would educate them and give them the tools to improve their standing in the bold new century that awaited them.

Today, we stand on the brink of a new century and face a similar challenge. Those who assess our credit worthiness factor into their ratings how we meet our present and future obligations. They will be more impressed, I believe, to know that we recognize the importance of continuing to support and build one of the best higher education systems in the nation than if they saw we had fallen short of that challenge.

There's no question that we can afford to borrow these funds for the University. We cannot afford to do otherwise. It's simply a question of priorities. The use of borrowed funds, with an obligation to repay the debt incurred over a period of years, serves to reinforce the notion that the physical properties of our University system would be placed among the highest claim on the future resources of our State's general fund. And, no longer would these needs be considered as an "after-thought" to all other governmental requests.

Does the State have the capacity to borrow $3 billion without jeopardizing its credit worthiness?

Certainly, the State of North Carolina has the capacity to borrow this amount without adversely affecting its credit worthiness. The decision to borrow has more to do with the purposes for which the proceeds will be spent than any other factor. In this instance maintenance and preservation of the University's ability to serve its people in the excellent tradition of the past two hundred years are paramount.

Why advocate the use of Limited Obligation Bonds as opposed to General Obligation Bonds?

The Constitution recognizes that under our representative form of government, broad authority is given to the elected members of the General Assembly. While the Constitution of North Carolina clearly prohibits the issuance of General Obligation Bonds without a specific vote of approval by the people, no such prohibition exists for Limited Obligation Bonds. It should be noted that Limited Obligation Bonds do not pledge the State's taxing power as do the issuance of General Obligation Bonds and that is a very important difference, both for taxpayers and for bond holders. The lending public has come to accept indebtedness when secured by the assets of the borrowers.

Will Limited Obligation Bonds require a higher rate of interest than General Obligation Bonds?

Yes. We have been advised by the rating agencies that these Limited Obligation Bonds likely will be rated one notch below the State's Triple A credit rating at AA+. Using this analysis, the additional cost will be approximately 1/8 of one percent greater than for Triple A rated bonds.

Short Title: Motor Oil ADF/Used Oil Program. (Public)

Sponsors: Senator Odom.

Referred to: Finance.

April 15, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO IMPOSE AN ADVANCE DISPOSAL FEE UPON MOTOR OIL AT THE POINT OF FIRST SALE AND TO ESTABLISH THE USED OIL COLLECTION PROGRAM TO ENCOURAGE THE PROPER MANAGEMENT OF USED OIL GENERATED BY PRIVATE CITIZENS WHO CHANGE THEIR OWN OIL.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"ARTICLE 2E.

"Motor Oil Advance Disposal Fee.

"§ 105-113.120. Definitions.

The following definitions apply to this Article:

(1) Distributor. -- A person who does any of the following:

a. Manufactures or produces motor oil.

b. Acquires motor oil for sale to a wholesale dealer or a retail dealer.

c. Imports motor oil into this State for use by that person.

(2) Motor oil. -- Any oil or similar lubricant classified for use in an internal combustion engine, crankcase, transmission, gearbox, or differential.

(3) Retail dealer. -- A person who sells motor oil to the ultimate consumer of the motor oil.

(4) Sale. -- A transfer, a trade, an exchange, or a barter, in any manner or by any means, with or without consideration.
(5) Secretary. -- The Secretary of Revenue.
(6) Wholesale dealer. -- A person who sells motor oil to another for resale.

"§ 105-113.121. Advanced disposal fee imposed.

An advance disposal fee is imposed on motor oil at the rate of two cents (2¢) per quart.

"§ 105-113.122. Motor oil license required.

(a) Distributors and Wholesale Dealers. -- Distributors and wholesale dealers shall obtain a continuing motor oil license for each place of business for which an advance disposal fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) shall be paid. For the purpose of this subsection, 'place of business' means any place where a distributor manufactures or produces motor oil or any place where a distributor or a wholesale dealer receives or stores non-fee-paid motor oil.

(b) Retail Dealers. -- Retail dealers shall obtain for each place of business a continuing motor oil license for which an advance disposal fee of five dollars ($5.00) shall be paid. For the purpose of this subsection, 'place of business' means any place where a retail dealer receives non-fee-paid motor oil or manufactures or produces motor oil.

"§ 105-113.123. Liability for advance disposal fee; payment.

(a) Primary Liability. -- The distributor, wholesale dealer, or retail dealer who first distributes, sells, or otherwise handles motor oil in this State is liable for the advance disposal fee imposed by this Article. A distributor, wholesale dealer, or retail dealer who brings into this State motor oil made outside the State is the first person to handle the motor oil in this State. A distributor, wholesale dealer, or retail dealer who is the original consignee of motor oil that is made outside the State and is shipped into the State is the first person to handle the motor oil in this State.

(b) Secondary Liability. -- A retail dealer who acquires non-fee-paid motor oil from a distributor or a wholesale dealer is liable for any advance disposal fee due on the motor oil.

(c) Reporting Periods. -- Except for fees on a designated sale under G.S. 105-113.126, the fees levied by this Article are payable when a report is required to be filed. A report is due on a monthly or a quarterly basis. A monthly report covers sales and other activities occurring in a calendar month and is due within 15 days after the end of the month covered by the report. A quarterly report covers sales and other activities occurring in a calendar quarter and is due within 15 days after the end of the quarter covered by the report. A report shall be filed on a form provided by the Secretary and shall contain the information required by the Secretary.

A person who is consistently liable for less than fifty dollars ($50.00) of advance disposal fees a month may, with the approval of the Secretary, file a report on a quarterly basis. All others who are liable for the advance disposal fee imposed by this Article must file a report on a monthly basis. The amount of advance disposal fee payable by a person for a reporting period is the amount payable by all places of business owned or operated by that person.

"§ 105-113.124. Advance disposal fee discount.

A distributor, a wholesale dealer, or a retail dealer who is liable for the advance disposal fees on motor oil and who files a timely report under G.S. 105-113.123 may deduct from the amount due with the report a discount of two percent (2%).

"§ 105-113.125. Exemptions.

The advance disposal fee imposed by G.S. 105-113.121 on motor oil does not apply to the following:

(1) Motor oil sold outside the State.

(2) Motor oil required to operate industrial machinery and sold for that purpose.

"§ 105-113.126. Designation of exempt sale.

(a) A distributor or a wholesale dealer who sells motor oil to a person who has notified the distributor or wholesale dealer in writing that the person intends to resell the motor oil in a transaction that is exempt from an advance disposal fee under G.S. 105-113.125 may, when filing a report under G.S. 105-113.123, designate the quantity of motor oil sold to the person for resale. A distributor or a wholesale dealer shall report a designated sale on a form provided by the Secretary.

(b) A distributor or a wholesale dealer is not required to pay an advance disposal fee on a designated sale when filing a report. The distributor or the wholesale dealer shall pay the advance disposal fees due on all other sales in accordance with this section. A distributor, a wholesale dealer, or a customer of a distributor shall not delay payment of the advance disposal fees due on motor oil by failing to pay advance disposal fees on a sale that is not a designated sale or by overstating the quantity of motor oil that will be resold in a transaction exempt under G.S. 105-113.125.

(c) A person who does not sell motor oil in a transaction that is exempt under G.S. 105-113.125 is liable for the advance disposal fees and any penalties and interest due on the designated sale when the distributor or wholesale dealer has failed to pay the advance disposal fees due on the sale of the motor oil to that person in reliance on that person's written notification of intent to resell the motor oil. If the Secretary determines that motor oil reported as a designated sale is not sold as reported, the Secretary shall assess the person who notified the distributor or the wholesale dealer of an intention to resell the motor oil in an exempt transaction for the advance disposal fees due on the sale and any applicable penalties and interest. A distributor or a wholesale dealer who does not pay advance disposal fees on motor oil in reliance on a person's written notification of intent to resell the motor oil in an exempt transaction is not liable for any advance disposal fees assessed on the motor oil.

"§ 105-113.127. Use of advance disposal fee proceeds.

The Secretary shall credit five percent (5%) of the advance disposal fees collected under this Article to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund. The Secretary shall credit the remaining ninety-five percent (95%) of the advance disposal fees collected under this Article to the Used Oil Collection Fund to be used in accordance with the provisions of Part 2E of Article 9 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes."

Section 2. Article 9 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Part to read:

"Part 2E. Used Oil Collection Program.

"§ 130A-309.90. Findings; intent.

(a) The General Assembly finds that used oil is a valuable resource that can be used as an environmentally acceptable source of energy or as a rerefined product. Despite its potential value, a significant amount of used motor oil is improperly disposed of, resulting in a significant environmental problem and a waste of a valuable energy resource.

(b) The General Assembly finds that, although there is an existing system for the collection and recycling of used oil generated by business and industry, private citizens who change their own motor oil have only limited access to that system and often dispose of their used oil on land or in landfills, sewers, drainage systems, septic tanks, surface or ground waters, and elsewhere.

(c) It is the intent of the General Assembly to reduce the amount of improperly disposed used oil by providing incentives to encourage the establishment of more certified used oil collection centers and to expand curbside collection programs to receive used oil from Do-It-Yourselfers.

"§ 130A-309.91. Definitions.

As used in this Part, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) 'Do-It-Yourselfer (DIYer)' means an individual who removes used oil from any internal combustion engine that is owned or operated by that individual.

(2) 'Motor oil' has the same meaning as in G.S. 105-113.120.

(3) 'Reclaim' means to use methods, other than those used in rerefining, to purify used oil primarily to remove insoluble contaminants, making the oil suitable for further use. The methods used may include settling, heating, dehydration, filtration, or centrifuging.

(4) 'Recycle oil' means to prepare, in a safe, legal, and environmentally sound manner, used oil for reuse as a petroleum product by reclaiming, reprocesssing, energy recovery, rerefining, or another means.

(5) 'Rerefine' means to process used oil to produce high-quality base stocks for lubricants or other petroleum products. Rerefine may include distillation, hydrotreating, or treatments employing acid, caustic, solvent, clay, or other chemicals, or other physical treatments other than those used in reclaiming.

(6) 'Retail dealer' has the same meaning as in G.S. 105-113.120.

(7) 'Used oil' means any oil which has been refined from crude oil or synthetic oil and, as a result of use, storage, or handling, has become unsuitable for its original purpose due to the presence of impurities or loss of original properties, but which may be suitable for further use and is economically recyclable. As used in this Article, used oil does not include an oil filter that has been drained of free-flowing used oil or an oil-contaminated material.

(8) 'Used oil collection center' means a facility, including a fixed location, tank, truck, or container, that serves as a centralized collection center that accepts used motor oil from DIYers.

"§ 130A-309.92. Used Oil Collection Fund.

(a) The Used Oil Collection Fund is created as a nonreverting fund within the Department. The Used Oil Collection Fund consists of:

(1) The proceeds of the motor oil advance disposal fees imposed under Article 2E of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(2) Any contributions and grants from public or private sources.

(b) The Used Oil Collection Fund may be used for:

(1) Grants to public or private entities to establish certified used oil collection centers.

(2) Grants to units of local government or private collectors that offer or include, as part of municipal solid waste collection services, curbside collection of used oil from households, including grants for the reasonable costs of household containers, truck retrofitting, tanks, and similar costs associated with the curbside collection of used oil.

(3) Grants for advertising, training, and other programs to promote the collection and recycling of used oil from the public.

(4) Grants for public education programs concerning the proper handling and recycling of used oil.

(5) Incentives pursuant to G.S. 130A-309.99 to encourage individuals who change their own oil to return the oil to used oil collection centers.

(6) Grants to indemnify a used oil collection center for the costs arising out of used oil collected from the public that is unsuitable for reuse or recycling, results from spills or contamination, or results from the additional liability associated with the operation of the used oil collection center.

(7) The costs that the Department directly incurs in developing and administering the Used Oil Collection Program under this Part, not to exceed seven percent (7%) of the Fund.

"§ 130A-309.93. Used Oil Collection Program; duties of the Department.

For the purpose of this subsection, 'place of business' means any place where a distributor manufactures or produces motor oil or any place where a distributor or a wholesale dealer receives or stores non-fee-paid motor oil.

(b) Retail Dealers. -- Retail dealers shall obtain for each place of business a continuing motor oil license for which an advance disposal fee of five dollars ($5.00) shall be paid. For the purpose of this subsection, 'place of business' means any place where a retail dealer receives non-fee-paid motor oil or manufactures or produces motor oil.

"§ 105-113.123. Liability for advance disposal fee; payment.

(a) Primary Liability. -- The distributor, wholesale dealer, or retail dealer who first distributes, sells, or otherwise handles motor oil in this State is liable for the advance disposal fee imposed by this Article. The quarterly return shall cover sales and other activities occurring in a calendar quarter and is due within 15 days after the end of the quarter covered by the return. A return shall be filed on a form provided by the Secretary and shall contain the information required by the Secretary. "§ 105-113.124. Advance disposal fee discount.

A distributor, a wholesale dealer, or a retail dealer who is liable for the advance disposal fees on motor oil and who files a timely return under G.S. 105-113.123 may deduct from the amount due with the return a discount of two percent (2%).

"§ 105-113.125. Exemptions.

The advance disposal fee imposed by G.S. 105-113.121 on motor oil does not apply to the following:

(1) Motor oil sold outside the State.

"§ 105-113.126. Designation of exempt sale.

(a) A distributor or a wholesale dealer who sells motor oil to a person who has notified the distributor or wholesale dealer in writing that the person intends to resell the motor oil in a transaction that is exempt from an advance disposal fee under G.S. 105-113.125 may, when filing a return under G.S. 105-113.123, designate the quantity of motor oil sold to the person for resale. A distributor or a wholesale dealer shall report a designated sale on a form provided by the Secretary.

(b) A distributor or a wholesale dealer is not required to pay an advance disposal fee on a designated sale when filing a return. The distributor or the wholesale dealer shall pay the advance disposal fees due on all other sales in accordance with this section. A distributor, a wholesale dealer, or a customer of a distributor shall not delay payment of the advance disposal fees due on motor oil by failing to pay advance disposal fees on a sale that is not a designated sale or by overstating the quantity of motor oil that will be resold in a transaction exempt under G.S. 105-113.125.

(c) A person who does not sell motor oil in a transaction that is exempt under G.S. 105-113.125 is liable for the advance disposal fees and any penalties and interest due on the designated sale when the distributor or wholesale dealer has failed to pay the advance disposal fees due on the sale of the motor oil to that person in reliance on that person's written notification of intent to resell the motor oil. If the Secretary determines that motor oil reported as a designated sale is not sold as reported, the Secretary shall assess the person who notified the distributor or the wholesale dealer of an intention to resell the motor oil in an exempt transaction for the advance disposal fees due on the sale and any applicable penalties and interest. A distributor or a wholesale dealer who does not pay advance disposal fees on motor oil in reliance on a person's written notification of intent to resell the motor oil in an exempt transaction is not liable for any advance disposal fees assessed on the motor oil.

"§ 105-113.127. Use of advance disposal fee proceeds.

At the end of each quarter of the fiscal year, the Secretary shall credit five percent (5%) of the advance disposal fees collected under this Article to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund and shall credit the remaining ninety-five percent (95%) of the advance disposal fees collected under this Article to the Used Oil Collection Fund to be used in accordance with the provisions of Part 2E of Article 9 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes."

Section 2. Article 9 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Part to read:

"Part 2E. Used Oil Collection Program.

"§ 130A-309.90. Findings; intent.

(a) The General Assembly finds that used oil is a valuable resource that can be used as an environmentally acceptable source of energy or as a rerefined product. Despite its potential value, a significant amount of used motor oil is improperly disposed of, resulting in a significant environmental problem and a waste of a valuable energy resource.

(b) The General Assembly finds that, although there is an existing system for the collection and recycling of used oil generated by business and industry, private citizens who change their own motor oil have only limited access to that system and often dispose of their used oil on land or in landfills, sewers, drainage systems, septic tanks, surface or ground waters, and elsewhere.

(c) It is the intent of the General Assembly to reduce the amount of improperly disposed used oil by providing incentives to encourage the establishment of more used oil collection centers and to expand curbside collection programs to receive used oil from Do-It-Yourselfers.

"§ 130A-309.91. Definitions.

As used in this Part, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) 'Do-It-Yourselfer (DIYer)' has the same meaning as household 'do-it-yourselfer' used oil generator in 40 Code of Federal Regulations § 279.1 (July 1, 1998 Edition).

(2) 'Motor oil' has the same meaning as in G.S. 105-113.120.

(3) 'Reclaim' means to use methods, other than those used in rerefining, to purify used oil primarily to remove insoluble contaminants, making the oil suitable for further use. The methods used may include settling, heating, dehydration, filtration, or centrifuging.

(4) 'Recycle oil' means to prepare, in a safe, legal, and environmentally sound manner, used oil for reuse as a petroleum product by reclaiming, reprocesssing, energy recovery, rerefining, or another means.

(5) 'Rerefine' means to process used oil to produce high-quality base stocks for lubricants or other petroleum products. Rerefine may include distillation, hydrotreating, or treatments employing acid, caustic, solvent, clay, or other chemicals, or other physical treatments other than those used in reclaiming.

(6) 'Retail dealer' has the same meaning as in G.S. 105-113.120.

(7) 'Used oil' has the same meaning as in 40 Code of Federal Regulations § 279.1 (July 1, 1998 Edition).

SENATE BILL 1000:
Motor Oil ADF/Used Oil Program

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Odom
Date:	June 28, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1000 adds a new Article 2E, Motor Oil Advance Disposal Fee, to the Chapter on Taxation and creates a Used Oil Collection Program in the Solid Waste Management Article of Chapter 130A.. The advance disposal fee is imposed on motor oil at the rate of 2 cents per quart. The fee goes into the Used Oil Collection Program to be administered by DENR.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the Bill adds a new article to Chapter 105 on Taxation. This Article, entitled "Motor Oil Advance Disposal Fee", sets out the following new statutes:

G.S. 105-113.120 defines the terms, "distributor", "motor oil", "retail dealer", "sale", "secretary", and "wholesale dealer". It is unclear whether the definition of "motor oil" includes grease or recycled oil.

G.S. 105-113.121 imposes an "advance disposal fee on motor oil at the rate of 2 cents per gallon. This fee appears to be an excise tax, similar to other taxes that raise funds for environmental clean-up.

G.S. 105-113.122 requires distributors and wholesale dealers, who are liable for advance disposal fee, to obtain a $25 continuing motor oil license for each place of business. Retail dealers, who are liable for advance disposal fees, are required to obtain a $5 continuing motor oil license for each place of business.

G.S. 105-113.123 provides that a distributor, wholesale dealer, or retail dealer who first distributes, sells, or handles motor oil in the State is primarily liable for the advance disposal fee. A retail dealer who acquires non-fee-paid motor oil from a distributor or wholesale dealer is secondarily liable for any advance disposal fee.

Payment of fees – The fees are payable when a report is required to be filed. A quarterly report may be filed, if the person is consistently liable for less than $50 of advance disposal fees a month and if the Secretary of Revenue approves. All other persons liable for advance disposal fees must file a monthly report.

G.S. 105-113.124 allows a distributor, wholesale dealer, or retail dealer, who is liable for the advance disposal fees and who files a timely report, to deduct 2% from the amount due. It is not clear that the tax must be remitted along with a timely filed report before the discount is allowed.

G.S. 105-113.125 provides that the advance disposal fee does not apply to motor oil sold outside the State, or to motor oil required to operate industrial machinery and sold for that purpose. It is not clear what is included in the term "industrial machinery".

G.S. 105-113.126 authorizes a distributor or wholesale dealer, who sells motor oil to a person who has notified him or her in writing that the person intends to resell the motor oil in an exempt transaction, to designate in his or her report the quantity of motor oil sold to the person. The distributor or wholesale dealer is not required to pay the fee on the designated sale when filing the report.

G.S. 105-113.127 directs the Secretary of Revenue to credit 5% of the advance disposal fees to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund. The remaining 95% is credited to the new Used Oil Collection Fund. The frequency of the disbursement to the Fund is not indicated in the bill.

Section 2 of the bill adds a new Part 2E (Used Oil Collection Program) to the Solid Waste Management Article in Chapter 130A of the General Statutes.

G.S. 130A-309.90 sets out the findings and intent of the new Used Oil Collection Program

G.S. 130A-309.91 sets out definitions applicable to the Program.

G.S. 130A-309.92 creates the Used Oil Collection Fund as a nonreverting fund within the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR). The Fund consists of proceeds of the motor oil advance disposal fees and any public or private contributions and grants. The statute also sets out the allowed uses of the Fund.

G.S. 130A-309.93 requires DENR to develop and administer a used oil collection program to encourage the proper disposal of used oil generated by individuals who remove used oil from engines owned or operated by that individual. DENR is to develop criteria for selecting recipients and select the recipients of the grants payable under the Fund. DENR is to establish a toll-free number to disseminate information regarding locations and phone numbers of used oil collection centers, curbside collection, and locations that accept commercial used oil.

G.S. 130A-309.94 requires DENR to submit a report to the Environmental Review Commission on the Used Oil Program by March 1 of each year.

G.S. 130A-309.95 requires the Secretary of DENR to appoint an advisory committee for the Used Oil Collection Program. The seven members will serve at the pleasure of the Secretary. The committee is to recommend criteria for selecting recipients of the grants and also recommend recipients.

G.S. 130A-309.96 requires that used oil collection centers be certified by DENR.

G.S. 130A-309.97 describes what the owner, operator, or lessor of a used oil center must do when there is release of used oil to the environment at the center.

G.S. 130A-309.98 limits liability of an owner, operator, or lessor of a certified used oil collection center.

G.S. 130A-309.103 sets out the procedure for disposal of used oil filters.

G.S. 130A-309.104 requires a retail owner who is not a used oil collection center to post a sign informing the public of the importance of proper collection and disposal of used oil and the State toll-free number for information of used oil centers.

Sections 3 repeals sections dealing with public used oil collection centers, grants to local governments for collection and disposal of used oil, and certification of used oil transporters.

Sections 4 and 5 recodify existing sections into the new Part 2E set out in Section 2 of the bill.

Section 6 requires the following persons to register annually with DENR:

- Any person who transports over public highways more than 500 gallons of used oil per week or more than 55 gallons at any time. (Now required if transporting more than 500 gallons per week.)
- Any person who maintains a collection facility that accepts more than 6,000 gallons of used oil annually from generators other than Do-It-Yourselfers. (Is a clarification of the existing law)

- Any facility that recycles used oil (Now any facility that recycles more than 10,000 gallons of used oil annually.)

Section 7 is a recodification.

Section 8 Under current law the Department of Transportation is required to develop a certification program for transporters of used oil and to issue, deny, or revoke certifications authorizing the holder to transport used oil. The Department is also required to adopt rules governing certification. The bill adds that these rules must require that equipment in the vehicle be in good mechanical condition and suitable for transportation of used oil, and that the transporter maintain documentation that indicates to whom the used oil is delivered.

The act is effective January 1, 2000.

OVERVIEW

According to the American Petroleum Institute (API), each motor vehicle in North Carolina is responsible for the sale of an average of four gallons of lubricating oil per year.[1] With nearly six million industrial, commercial, and passenger vehicles registered with the state Division of Motor Vehicles, more than 21 million gallons of oil were sold in North Carolina in 1997. Despite the 1990 ban on oil disposal in North Carolina landfills, only 68 percent of all used oil generated in 1997 was recovered. After accounting for unrecoverable oil due to leakage or engine consumption, more than four million gallons of used oil are either being disposed improperly throughout the state or are unaccounted for in the 1997 data.

Opportunities to recover this "lost" oil exist. According to oil recycling companies in the Southeast, the two markets for used oil — re-processing into fuel and re-refining into lubricant — show strong growth potential during the next five years. More significantly, experts indicate that the current supply of re-processed fuel from used oil already lags behind demand, thus creating an immediate opportunity to improve used oil recovery and marketing.

In addition, contamination from improperly disposed oil presents a threat to the state's environment and natural resources. In its research on the potential impacts of used oil, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has identified several environmental risks posed by improper disposal methods. For example, the EPA estimates that one gallon of used oil can pollute more than one million gallons of drinking water. Small amounts of used oil that accumulate on water bodies also can prevent oxygen and sunlight from entering the water, thus reducing the plant and animal life in lakes, ponds, and rivers. Additionally, used oil dumped in drains often accumulates in very small concentrations in water treatment plants and inhibits sewage treatment processes.[2]

This report analyzes the relationship between the supply and demand for used oil in North Carolina. The analysis focuses primarily on identifying the sources of used oil with the greatest potential for increased recovery and with the most accessible markets for re-refining and re-processing.

The definition of used oil is taken from the California Public Resources Code and includes any oil that was used in an internal combustion engine crankcase, transmission, gearbox, or differential in an automobile, bus, truck, vessel, plane, train, heavy equipment, or other machinery powered by an internal combustion engine."[3]

SUPPLY

Generation

Data were lacking on used oil generation and consumption in North Carolina. For this reason, generation is calculated in three steps. The first step involves estimating the amount of oil sold in North Carolina during 1997. Second, the consumption of oil is allocated to different types of oil consumer groups. Finally, the amount of oil allocated to each consumer category is then reduced by a factor that accounts for non-recoverable oil because of burning, leaking, and other influences.

Step One: Oil Sales

To estimate the amount of used oil sold, the number of vehicles registered by the Division of Motor Vehicles for 1997 was multiplied by the average gallons of oil used annually per vehicle from the API study.[4] To estimate gallons sold in North Carolina, 5.8 million vehicles was multiplied by 3.677 gallons per vehicle per year to yield an estimate of more than 21 million gallons of oil sold for use in motor vehicles in 1997 (Figure 1).[5]

Step Two: Consumer Groups

The two main categories of oil consumption from motor vehicle sources are do-it-yourself (DIY) oil changers and all other motor vehicle (OMV) consumers. DIY generators consist primarily of people who change their own oil at residences and; thus, are responsible for disposing their used oil. OMV generators constitute a broad class of consumers including people who bring their automobiles to quick oil change facilities, dealerships, or service stations. In addition, the OMV category includes used oil generated from commercial and government fleets, rental car operations, and other establishments that generate used oil.

As indicated previously in API studies, DIY oil changers constitute approximately 50 percent of the motor vehicles and used motor oil generated in North Carolina. This assumption is based on a national average and may underestimate the percentage of DIY oil changers in North Carolina. The state exhibits three characteristics that make a higher portion of DIY changers likely: 1) a more rurally based population, 2) a warm climate, and 3) a younger population (older Americans are less likely to change their own oil).[6] However, because of the increasing urban population and continued expansion of quick oil change outlets, the percentage of DIY oil changers is expected to decrease two to five percent per year in the short term future.[7] The estimations for 2002 in this report reflect a two-percent annual decrease in the percent of DIY consumers.[8]

Calculations for the total used motor oil sold in North Carolina in 1997 are based on the average per vehicle oil sales estimates from API's National Used Oil Collection Study in 1996. As demonstrated in Figure 1, the used oil sales from motor vehicle sources increased from 19 million gallons in 1993 to more than 21 million gallons in 1997. This increase is attributable to an increase in population of the North Carolina and an increase in vehicles per capita since 1993.

Step Three: Recoverable Used Oil

As illustrated in Figure 2, an oil recovery factor is incorporated to account for unrecoverable oil. This factor is applied to the total gallons sold to account for leaking, burning, unused oil left in bottles, and residue left in filters. As a result, only 60 percent of oil sales to DIY oil changers is available for recovery. It is estimated that 65 percent of oil sales to OMV are available for recovery due to newer vehicles in commercial fleets and stronger standards for filter drainage.[9] Accounting for unrecoverable oil from both DIY and OMV sources, more than 13 million gallons of used oil were generated in North Carolina in 1997.

Recovery

Available data indicate that 67.8 percent of recoverable motor vehicle used oil was collected in North Carolina in 1997 (Figure 3). A majority of the nine million gallons of used oil recovered from motor vehicles was collected from private sector sources. In fact, used oil from commercial fleets, quick oil change outlets, and auto parts stores accounted for more than seven million gallons of used oil recovery in 1997. Local governments accounted for an additional 575,859 gallons. Approximately four million gallons of used oil remain unaccounted for and were possibly disposed of illegally.

To discover the potential sources of unrecovered used oil, it is necessary to analyze the recovery to OMV and DIY oil streams separately. As noted in Figure 3, the future of the used oil recovery level should increase as the industry continues to shift from DIY changers to quick-change outlets.

Other-Motor-Vehicle Sector

Based on information gathered from North Carolina's four largest private sector recovery sources, the used oil recovery from OMV sources occurs almost exclusively through private sector channels. For example, while the state government recovered almost 250,000 gallons of used oil from government fleets in 1997, private sector channels recovered more than 6.6 million gallons. In combination, the recovery rate for used oil from all OMV sources reached 98 percent of generation in 1997 (Figure 4).

Do-It-Yourself Sector

Despite the same amount of used oil generated as the OMV sector, the DIY sector achieved a 35-percent recovery rate in 1997. Local government collection of used oil, which is almost exclusively DIY oil recovered at landfill collection sites, increased from 500,000 gallons in 1996 to more than 575,000 gallons recovered in 1997. While local government recovery at landfill sites was more than 575,000 gallons, private sector recovery also accounted for roughly 1.58 million gallons of used oil from DIY sources. While some private sector recovery of DIY oil may not be included in this report, the data reveal that the DIY sector was responsible for more than four million gallons of unaccounted for used oil in 1997 (Figure 5). Because of increased accessibility of quick oil change outlets, industry experts estimate that the DIY share of the consumer market will decline by two to five percent per year in the near future.[10] By 2002, the quantity of oil generated by DIY oil changers will decrease to five million gallons as their market share decreases from 50 to 40 percent.

In addition to conventional used oil calculations, approximately 3.5 to eight ounces of used oil is contained in oil filters, depending on drainage practices. Assuming that the best possible drainage practices are employed, more than 270,000 gallons of used oil was disposed in North Carolina landfills along with approximately 10 million used oil filters in 1997.[11] Moreover, an average of 0.8 ounces of oil is trapped in every discarded one-quart bottle of oil used for motor vehicle lubrication purposes. In other words, an additional 270,000 gallons of oil was disposed in North Carolina landfills because of the residual oil left in oil bottles from DIY oil changes.[12]

Source Reduction

Fewer oil changes means less waste oil released into the environment. Because of improvements in the design of motors during the past 10 years, most of the major automobile manufacturing companies have decreased the recommended frequency of oil changes. For example, Ford Motor Company has increased the minimum mileage between oil changes from 3,000 miles to a minimum of 5,000 miles. Similarly, Toyota now suggests that owners change their motor oil every 7,500 miles, except under severe driving conditions.[13] If vehicle owners followed the lowest of the new standards for less frequent oil changes (Ford's 5,000 miles), there could be a significant reduction in the generation of used oil in the state of North Carolina. More specifically, an increase in the minimum distances between oil changes of 2,000 miles (to 3,000 - 5,000) could result in as much as a 30-percent reduction in the generation of used oil, or roughly four million gallons in 1997.

Increasing Recovery

Many states have initiated used oil recycling programs based on the API Model Bill. This model bill establishes the guidelines for a state-used oil fund supported by a fee on oil sales (usually two cents per quart). The fund normally is used to provide grant funding for cities and towns that wish to establish and publicize used oil drop-off centers or curbside collection programs. In addition, many states use the funds to support a toll-free telephone information center and state sponsored promotions. South Carolina uses some of its state funds to provide a multi-media advertising campaign, which includes print materials, a school curriculum, and television and radio advertisements with NASCAR celebrities. Many of the state's educational programs are focused on raising the awareness of DIY oil changers.

To better focus the South Carolina recycling campaign, the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of South Carolina conducted a survey of DIY oil changers in 1993. The survey revealed that approximately 49 percent of the market consisted of DIY oil changers. The research also indicated that individuals with the greatest tendency to illegally dispose used oil were generally between 18 and 45 years old, had a lower educational level than the state average, and had family incomes below the state average. These findings helped in the siting of collection centers and influenced the content of the educational campaigns.

North Carolina has established the need for used oil recycling programs in state statute. In General Statute Act 309.16, the state proposed to support a public education program regarding used oil collection and recycling through the provision of financial and technical resources. In General Statute Acts 309.21 and 22, the state also committed to provide funding and expertise necessary to initiate an incentive program for individuals who change their own oil. In addition, the Statute proposed supporting a grants program to encourage new local government curbside collection initiatives and the establishment of additional private used oil collection centers. Funding was never appropriated for these programs, therefore they were never implemented.

Another way to increase oil recovery is to target "hidden" sources. For example, an average of 0.8 ounces of oil is trapped in every one-quart bottle of oil sold. In other words, in 1997, approximately 270,000 gallons of oil was disposed in North Carolina landfills because of residual oil left in bottles after oil changes. Similarly, assuming that best possible drainage practices were employed in 1997, more than 270,000 gallons of used oil were still disposed along with 10 million used filters in 1997. By addressing these hidden sources, North Carolina could dramatically decrease the amount of used oil disposed in landfills.

* Based on survey conducted by API, May 1996.

DEMAND

This section focuses primarily on the demand for used oil from North Carolina's two largest end users: re-processing fuel and re-refining lubricants. API defines re-processing as cleaning used oil so it can be reused as a fuel to produce electricity. Re-refining, on the other hand, requires additional treatment so that spent oil can be used again as petroleum based oil. Re-processed used oil is not of sufficient quality to be used for lubrication purposes.[14] According to the National Used Oil Collection Study conducted by API, roughly 72 percent of the used oil generated nationally is re-processed into fuel (see Figure 6). API also reports that space heaters consume roughly 17 percent of used oil, particularly in northern states with severe winters. In addition, API estimated that 3.5 percent of used oil was re-refined into lubricating oil.[15]

Fuel Oil Markets

A majority of used oil in North Carolina is used to produce fuel oil for industry. In most oil recycling and fuel production operations, used oil is re-processed by removing contaminants and adding virgin oil to produce oil suitable for burning in industrial boilers.

Noble Oil Services maintains an oil recovery and processing facility in Sanford, North Carolina. Currently, the plant produces more than 100,000 gallons of fuel per day. In 1997, Noble Oil accounted for more than six million gallons of used oil recovery in North Carolina. More importantly, Noble Oil perceives that the demand for fuel from used oil has the potential to match a large increase in supply of recovered used oil. Noble Oil Services anticipates that it could increase its consumption of used oil 100 to 200 percent if used oil recovery were to increase in the future.[16] Holston Group Inc. also produces fuel from used oil in North Carolina and expects similar growth in end-use market demand.

Lubricant Markets

Safety Kleen is the largest re-refined lubricant producer in the nation. Safety Kleen collects used oil from North Carolina and other parts of the United States and re-refines it into lubricant at its processing facility in Chicago, Illinois. The amount of used oil processed at the Chicago plant has increased from 75 million gallons in 1994 to more than 100 million gallons in 1997. Roughly 90 percent of the re-refined oil is resold as recycled lubricating oil for industrial, railroad, government, and passenger motor oil purposes. The remaining 10 percent enters the fuel market. While the national sales of all lubricating oils have remained fairly constant for the past three years, Safety Kleen estimates that the re-refined motor oil market has enormous growth potential. The company estimates sales could double during the next five years because of continued growth in the industrial and railroad markets, the emergence of closed loop oil management systems for government sector contracts, and increasing "buy recycled" customer awareness programs in the DIY market. While Safety Kleen's recycled motor oil has traditionally sold to industrial and railroad consumers, its recent contracts with federal, state, and local governments have increased the acceptance of re-refined oil as a viable market with growth potential. Currently, Safety Kleen estimates that re-refined lubricant oil constitutes three percent of the total lubricant market sales.[17]

SUPPLY / DEMAND RELATIONSHIP

The demand for recycled used oil products is heavily influenced by the price and demand trends in the virgin crude oil market. For instance, fluctuations in the price of crude oil directly impact the price competitiveness and demand for used oil products. The price of crude oil fluctuates according to international political and economic events and oil producers' strategic decisions regarding supply. During the past three years, the market for used oil has become increasingly competitive because of virgin crude oil glut in the world market. When virgin oil prices peaked in 1996, producers responded by increasing crude oil supplies to realize greater profits. The market soon experienced a glut of oil, thus driving crude oil prices back down. As the price of crude oil has continued to decrease since 1997, the market for used oil has become increasingly competitive.[18]

Some key differences are evident between the markets for recycled fuel oil and re-refined lubricant oil. In the fuel oil market, for example, re-processing used oil requires less energy than refining virgin crude oil. As a result, used fuel oil has traditionally provided competitive prices relative to crude-based fuel oil products. Therefore, despite the decrease in price of crude oil in the world market, recycled fuel oil has maintained a relatively stable demand structure. In contrast, the process of producing re-refined lubricating oil does not provide significant cost savings relative to crude oil products. Consequently, for more than the past two years, the demand for re-refined lubricating oil has become increasingly competitive. In response to this increased competitiveness, Safety Kleen has shifted its emphasis from strictly base stock lubricant production to higher quality lubricant products, which require more processing and are less vulnerable to the price cutting trends in the crude oil market.[19]

Based on market analyses from processors of re-refined lubricant oil and especially from recycled fuel oil producers in North Carolina, there appears to be a strong potential for an increase in the short-term demand for used oil. More specifically, processors of fuel oil in North Carolina indicate the demand for fuel oil already exceeds current supply levels.[20] Similarly, as Safety Kleen continues to realize growth in the industrial, rail, and government sectors, the demand for re-refined lubricant oil should also increase in the near future. Based on this information, it appears that the current and future demand for used oil provide the potential to absorb significant increases in the supply of used oil from both the DIY and OMV sectors.

Based on current data, the total recovered used oil from motor vehicle sources was more than nine million gallons in 1997. Given the significant amount of used oil that is not collected from DIY sources, this recovery rate can be characterized as below the potential supply capacity. In fact, with more than four million gallons of uncollected used oil from DIY sources, there appears to be significant potential for an increase in supply. In summary, it appears that the potential demand for fuel oil is more than adequate to absorb a significant proportion of the more than four million gallons of unrecovered used oil from DIY sources.

CONCLUSION

Based on the current indications of strong demand for used oil as a fuel product, North Carolina has an opportunity to recover much of its remaining used oil. In particular, the state should focus on increasing the recovery of used oil from the DIY generation sources. In addition, by increasing public awareness of higher oil change intervals, the amount of used oil generated could decrease significantly. Moreover, with projections of continued population growth in North Carolina during the next few decades, the issue of proper oil management and treatment will become increasingly important for preserving the integrity of North Carolina's natural resources.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations are based on the study of generation, recovery, and markets for used oil presented in this section.

- North Carolina should research its locations, characteristics, and disposal behavior patterns of DIY oil changers.
- The state should support an education campaign to raise the awareness of proper oil disposal methods and to increase the proliferation and visibility of public and private drop-off collection sites.
- State and local governments also should seek opportunities to link used oil bottle collection efforts with used oil and oil filter recycling programs.
- State and local governments also should educate citizens on the possibility of decreasing the frequency of oil changes through higher oil change intervals. This campaign should target both DIY changers and other vehicle owners equally.
- To measure the effectiveness of oil recycling efforts, a data collection system should be established to monitor the quantity of oil sold and the amount of used oil recovered.
- To recover a portion of the DIY oil stored at rural households and farms, local governments should sponsor rural oil collection events. While the actual quantity of used oil generated from rural sources is currently unknown, several rural collection events have resulted in significant collection quantities. For example, more than 1,500 gallons of used oil was collected on a rural collection day outside Greensboro in the early 1990s.
- To demonstrate leadership and bolster the demand for re-refined used oil, the state should use only re-refined used oil in its motor vehicle fleets. Local governments should be encouraged to follow this example.
- Finally, because of tremendous need for public education efforts to improve the recovery rate of used oil from DIY sources, the state should seek to fulfill the responsibilities established in the North Carolina General Statutes 130A-309.16 and 309.21-22.

MARKETS ASSESSMENT 1998

OVERVIEW

According to the Filter Manufacturers Council (FMC), each motor vehicle in North Carolina generates an average of two used oil filters per year.[1] With nearly six million industrial, commercial, and passenger vehicles registered with the state Division of Motor Vehicles in 1997, more than 11.7 million light duty oil filters were generated in North Carolina. Moreover, because restrictions for disposing filters in landfills are lacking, only 20 percent of used oil filters were recovered in North Carolina in 1997.

Currently, North Carolina law exempts all non-terne plated oil filters from hazardous waste regulations if the filter has been hot drained through one of the following methods: 1) punctured through its dome or anti-drain back, 2) crushed, 3) dismantled, or 4) drained via any other equivalent hot-draining method that removes the used oil.[2, 3] Before draining, a used oil filter can contain as much as 16 ounces of used oil. After hot draining, a filter can still contain between 3.5 and eight ounces of used oil.[4]

Contamination from residual oil in oil filters presents a threat to the state's environment and natural resources. In its research on the potential impacts of used oil, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has identified several environmental risks posed by improper disposal methods. Specifically, the EPA estimates that one gallon of used oil can pollute more than one million gallons of drinking water. Small amounts of used oil that accumulate on water bodies also can prevent oxygen and sunlight from entering the water, thus reducing plant and animal life in lakes, ponds, and rivers. Additionally, used oil dumped in drains often accumulates in small concentrations in water treatment plants and creates a severe detriment to sewage treatment processes.[5]

This report focuses on the recycling opportunities represented by the 3,800 tons of steel and at least 250,000 gallons of used oil contained in the more than nine million filters that currently may be disposed in North Carolina.[6] This report assesses the relationship between the supply and demand for used oil filters in North Carolina. Toward this end, the report focuses primarily on analyzing the market areas with the largest amount of uncollected filters and with the greatest potential for recovery and recycling. According to feedback from recycling companies in the Southeast region, there are sufficient markets for all three components of used oil filters: the steel shell, the paper filter media, and the residual used oil.

SUPPLY

Generation

Data were lacking on used oil filter generation and consumption in North Carolina. For this reason, generation is calculated in two steps. The first step involves estimating the amount of oil filters sold in North Carolina in 1997. Second, the consumption of filters is allocated to the two main types of oil filter consumer groups.

Step One: Oil Sales

To estimate the amount of used oil filters generated in North Carolina, this analysis references data from a study conducted by FMC in 1996.[7] To estimate the number of filters sold in 1997, the average number of oil filters sold per vehicle was multiplied by the number of vehicles registered in North Carolina that year. With an average of 1.99 filters sold per vehicle and 5.8 million registered vehicles, approximately 11.7 million light duty filters were sold in North Carolina in 1997 (see Figure 1).

Step Two: Consumer Groups

The two main consumer categories of oil filters from motor vehicle sources are do-it-yourself (DIY) oil changers and all other motor vehicle (OMV) consumers. DIY generators consist primarily of people who change their own oil at residences and are then responsible for disposing of the used oil and filters. OMV generators constitute a broad class of consumers, including people who bring their automobiles to quick oil change facilities, dealerships, or service stations. In addition, the OMV category includes used oil generated from commercial and government fleets, rental car operations, and other establishments that generate used oil.

Based on previous research, the American Petroleum Institute (API) estimates that DIY oil changers constitute approximately 50 percent of the motor vehicles and used oil filters generated in North Carolina. This assumption is based on a national average and may underestimate the percentage of DIY oil changers in North Carolina. The state exhibits three characteristics that make a higher portion of DIY changers likely: 1) a more rurally based population, 2) a warm climate, and 3) a younger population (older Americans are less likely to change their own oil).[8] Given the warm climate and the relatively balanced rural and urban population, it is estimated that DIY sources are responsible for roughly 50 percent of used oil filters in North Carolina (Figure 1). However, because of an increasing urban population base and the rapid expansion of quick oil change outlets, the percentage of DIY oil changers is expected to decrease two to five percent per year in the short term future.[9] Estimates in this analysis reflect a two-percent average annual decrease in DIY consumers from 1997 to 2002. Because of the decreasing percentage of DIY consumers by 2002 more than eight million filters will be generated by OMV sources.

Recovery

Based on a survey of recycling businesses in 1998, 20 percent of used oil filters from all motor vehicle sources were recovered in North Carolina in 1997 (Figure 2). A majority of the 2.3 million used oil filters recovered from motor vehicles were collected from commercial fleets, quick oil change outlets, and auto parts stores. As a result, approximately nine million filters remain unaccounted for and may be discarded in landfills throughout the state.

To discover the potential sources of unrecovered used oil filters, it is necessary to analyze the recovery of OMV and DIY oil streams separately.

Other-Motor-Vehicle Sector

Based on information gathered from a survey conducted by the North Carolina Division of Pollution Prevention and Environmental Assistance (DPPEA) in 1997, the recovery of used oil filters from the OMV sources (quick oil changers, private fleets, rental cars, and state government vehicles) occurs almost exclusively through private sector channels. For example, while only six local governments collected oil filters in 1997, private businesses collected more than two million filters. The recovery rate for used oil filters from all OMV sources reached 36 percent of generation in 1997 (Figure 3). Assuming a constant recovery rate for the next five years, more than five million oil filters from quick oil change outlets, private fleets, rental cars, and government sources will be discarded into landfills in 2002. Moreover, because of the 3.5 ounces of residual oil contained in each of the 3.7 million used oil filters from OMVs, more than 102,000 gallons of used oil were disposed in landfills in 1997.[10]

Do-It-Yourself (DIY) Sector

With only 215,000 filters recovered from DIY generators in 1997, the recovery rate for this sector is approximately four percent. Local government collection efforts were limited to six localities in 1997. While there may be some small sources of private sector recovery of DIY oil filters not included in this report, existing data reveal the DIY sector is responsible for more than five million unaccounted filters in 1997 (Figure 4).

Even when DIY generators employ the state mandated best drainage practices, as much as 3.5 ounces of oil remain in each of the five million used filters that are unaccounted for from these sources. Cumulatively, the five million filters could have resulted in 154,000 gallons of used oil being discharged into North Carolina's landfills in 1997.[11] Combining DIY and OMV sources results in about 256,000 total gallons of residual oil contained in filters.

Source Reduction

Fewer oil changes means less waste oil released into the environment. Because of improvements in the design of motors during the past 10 years, most major automobile manufacturing companies have decreased the recommended frequency of oil changes. (See the Used Oil Commodity Profile for more information.) An increase in the minimum distances between oil changes of just 2,000 miles could result in as much as a 30 percent reduction in the generation of used oil filters.

By-pass filters are another important source reduction option. Preliminary studies indicate the average oil life used in combination with a by-pass filter is 130,000 miles.[12] The state could demonstrate leadership in this area by installing by-pass filters in all state government vehicles. Local governments also could be encouraged to install by-pass filters on fleets.

Increasing Filter Recovery

Many states have initiated used oil recycling programs based on the API Model Bill. This model bill establishes guidelines for a state-used oil fund supported by a fee on oil sales (usually two cents per quart). The fund normally is used to provide grant funding for cities and towns wishing to establish or publicize new oil and filter drop-off centers or curbside collection programs. In addition, many states use the funds to support a toll-free telephone information center and state-sponsored promotions. South Carolina uses some of its state funds for a multi-media advertising campaign, which includes print material, a school curriculum, and television and radio advertisements with NASCAR celebrities. Many of the state's educational programs are focused on raising the awareness of DIY oil changers.

North Carolina has established the need for used oil and filter recycling programs in state statutes. In General Statute Act 309.16, the state proposed to support a public education program regarding used oil collection and recycling through the provision of financial and technical resources. In General Statute Acts 309.21 and 22, the state also committed to providing the funding and expertise necessary to initiate an incentive program for individuals who change their own oil. In addition, the Statute proposed supporting a grants program to encourage new local government curbside collection initiatives and the establishment of additional private used oil collection centers. Funding was never appropriated for these programs, therefore they were never implemented.

Increasing Oil Recovery

Data suggest that, because of residual oil contained in used oil filters, the state cannot consider the landfill ban for used oil complete until used oil filters are also banned from disposal. Recent studies have revealed that the amount of used oil contained in oil filters varies from 3.5 to eight ounces depending on drainage practices. Assuming the best possible drainage practices were employed in 1997, more than 256,000 gallons of used oil were still disposed along with the 10 million filters. This significant amount of used oil entering landfills clearly violates the intention of the law banning used oil disposal. Banning the disposal of filters would reduce the potential environmental hazards and bolster the developing filter recycling infrastructure.

While a more detailed cost/benefit analysis is necessary for further consideration of an oil filter ban, initial calculations reveal that collection and recycling of the nine million currently disposed filters would cost generators approximately $2.2 million in additional hauling charges.[13] This cost would be offset partially by the average retail purchase expenditure of $6.50 from each individual who returns filters to an auto parts retail outlet.[14] For example, if 25 percent of the 5,639,445 unaccounted for filters from DIY oil changes were collected at auto parts retail outlets, nearly $9.2 million dollars in additional sales would occur. In addition, the growth of North Carolina's steel recycling economy (in revenue and employees) would also offset the increased hauling costs of mandatory filter recycling.

While the state bears responsibility to protect the natural resources of the larger environment, local governments also can take initiative to respond to potential threats to their watersheds and groundwater, drinking, and recreational water supplies by banning the disposal of used oil filters in their local landfills.

DEMAND

Because of the relatively recent emergence of the oil filter recycling industry, limited quantitative information exists on the demand for filters from North Carolina. The following demand analysis is based on communications with firms that collect, transport, or process used oil filters from North Carolina.

Used oil filters contain three recyclable elements: used oil, a paper filter media, and a steel shell. The steel shell is the most marketable element. The two primary end users for used oil filters are steel mills and scrap metal recovery operations. While North Carolina has very strong markets for used oil and recycled steel, currently, there is only one major end user of paper filters in the state.

Steel

Filtech Filtration Products, located in Monroe, North Carolina, is the oldest and largest processor of used oil filters in the region. In 1997, Filtech processed approximately three million filters, mostly from North Carolina sources. Because of their high volume shredding technology, the plant currently has the capacity to process approximately 10 million used oil filters, or the equivalent of all of North Carolina's unaccounted for filters. Moreover, Filtech processes, separates, and markets all three components of used oil filters: the scrap steel, used oil, and paper filter media.

In addition to selling recycled steel to one of three large steel mills in the region, Filtech also sells approximately 100,000 gallons of used oil to Noble Oil Services for reprocessing and resale. Three regional mills currently consuming the largest percentage of recycled steel from oil filter processors are Charlotte Pipe and Foundry (North Carolina), Nucor (South Carolina), and SMI (South Carolina). Because of extremely large volumes of steel raw material purchases, recycled oil filter steel make up less than one percent of the input for any of the mills. While the high quality of steel in oil filters is attractive to steel production, mills do not accept recycled steel contaminated by the paper filter media. Although small amounts of residual oil can be consumed in furnaces, paper media is prone to floating when incinerated and has the potential to create a fire hazard. Massive quantities of recycled steel demanded by regional steel mills provide sufficient future demand to absorb significant increases in the recovery rate of used oil filters.[15]

Used Oil

As mentioned in the report on used oil, there is tremendous demand for used oil from North Carolina. Specifically, the majority of used oil in the state is used to produce fuel oil for industry. In most oil recycling operations, used oil is processed by removing contaminants and adding some virgin oil to produce oil suitable for burning in industrial boilers. For information on specific end users, refer to the Used Oil Commodity Profile.

Paper Filter Media

Currently, Giant Resource Recovery is the largest end user of the paper media in used oil filters. The company uses the paper media as a fuel in its cement kilns. While Giant Resource Recovery currently consumes most of the paper media recovered in the state, other fuel-to-energy end users could be identified if recovery levels increase in the future.

SUPPLY / DEMAND RELATIONSHIP

The demand for recycled filter products is influenced by the price and demand for competing products derived from virgin materials. In the case of used oil filters, markets for virgin steel and crude oil heavily influence the demand for steel scrap and used oil.

Based on information from transporters, processors, and end users of used oil filters, the demand for recycled steel from used filters currently exceeds the supply in the region. More specifically, steel mills have such large demand structures that a 50-percent increase in oil filter recovery would provide a nominal amount of recycled steel relative to their total raw material needs. As a result of high quality steel in oil filters, it appears the demand for recycled steel in the region is more than sufficient to absorb potential increases in used oil filter supplies.

Similarly, processors of used oil in North Carolina acknowledge the demand for fuel oil is already well above the current supply.[16] In addition, the demand for re-refined motor oil is expected to double within five years. While the supply of paper media currently is being absorbed by one primary end user, industry experts expect additional fuel-to-energy uses to emerge as the supply of paper filter media increases.[17] Therefore, through a combination of the three end uses, it appears that current and future demand for recycled steel, used oil, and paper fuel provide the potential to absorb significant increases in the supply of used oil filters from both the DIY and OMV sectors.

Given the significant amount of filters not collected from DIY and OMV sources, the current supply of used oil filters can be characterized as well below the potential demand. In fact, with more than nine million uncollected filters from motor vehicle sources, there appears to be significant potential to increase in supply.

CONCLUSION

More than 256,000 gallons of residual oil from oil filters may have entered North Carolina landfills in 1997. With projections of continued population growth in North Carolina during the next few decades, the issues of proper oil and filter management will become increasingly critical to preserving the integrity of the state's environment and natural resources.

First and foremost, efforts should be made to increase public awareness of higher oil change intervals, which would greatly reduce the amount of used oil and filters generated. Additionally, given the projection of a steady decrease in future DIY oil changers, increased attention should focus on the quick-change or installation sector of the OMV sector where most used oil and filters will be concentrated.

According to feedback from recycling companies in the southeast region, there are sufficient markets for all three components of used oil filters: the steel shell, paper filter media, and residual used oil. Given the potential environmental threat, the expanding collection infrastructure and the growing demand for recycled steel and used oil, there appears to be sufficient rationale for a statewide ban on disposal of used oil filters in landfills.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations are based on the study of generation, recovery, and markets for used oil filters presented in this section.

- The state should promote the use of by-pass filters as a means of maintaining cleaner oil in engines and decreasing the frequency of oil changes. Local governments should be encouraged to provide similar leadership.
- The state should ban disposal of used oil filters. Because of residual oil contained in these filters, the state should not consider the ban on used oil from landfills complete until used oil filters are also banned from disposal.
- In addition to state consideration of a ban on the disposal of filters, local governments should consider implementing local bans on used oil filters.
- The state should support an education campaign to raise awareness of proper filter management methods and to increase the proliferation and visibility of public and private drop-off collection sites.
- State and local governments should seek opportunities to link used oil bottle collection efforts with used oil and oil filter recycling programs.

Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR)
Department of Transportation (DOT)

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective January 1, 2000

BILL SUMMARY:

This bill imposes a two cents per quart advance disposal fee on each quart of oil sold in North Carolina. The oil distributor or wholesale dealer collects this fee and remits it to the Department of Revenue, minus a 2% merchant discount, either monthly or quarterly depending on the volume of tax. A motor oil license is required of distributors ($25) and for retailers that buy non-tax paid motor oil ($5). Revenue from the fee and license is deposited into the Used Oil Collection Fund (95%) and the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund (5%). The Department of Environment and Natural Resources will administer the Used Oil Collection Fund and a new Used Oil Collection Program. The Used Oil Collection Fund will be used to make grants for 1) establishing certified used oil collection centers, 2) promoting the collection and recycling of used oil, 3) establishing curbside collection of oil, 4) educating the public about oil recycling, and 5) encouraging "do-it-yourselfers" to return oil to used oil collection centers.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REVENUE

The major source of revenue for the new Used Oil Collection Fund is a 2 cents per quart of oil advance disposal fee. There are no statistics on motor oil sales in North Carolina, so an estimate must be derived from vehicle registrations and average motor oil usage per vehicle. On February 15, 1999, the Division of Motor Vehicles reported 5,919,523 vehicles registered in North Carolina. The vehicles registered include autos, trucks, motorcycles, buses, tractor trucks and recreational vehicles, but excludes trailers. Cars and light trucks make up 97.5% of the registered vehicles. The number of vehicles will grow at the same rate as population or 1% a year. The Used Oil Program Coordinator for the American Petroleum Institute estimates that the average vehicle in the US will use 3.3 gallons of oil each year based on oil changes every 3,000 miles and 12,000 miles traveled each year. Based on these assumptions, North Carolina's 5.9 million vehicles are expected to use 19.5 million gallons or 78.1 million quarts of motor oil in 1999.

The chart below shows the calculation of the revenue from the two cents per quart fee. Annual vehicle registrations have been converted into fiscal year estimates by simply taking half of one calendar year plus half of the next calendar year. With a January 1, 2000 start-up date, FY 1999-00 will realize only half of the revenue shown below.

	NC Vehicles	Annual Gallons per vehicle	Total NC Gallons	Convert to Quarts	2 cents per quart
FY 99-00	5,949,121	3.3	19,632,098	78,528,392	$1,570,568
FY 00-01	6,008,612	3.3	19,828,419	79,313,676	$1,586,274
FY 01-02	6,068,698	3.3	20,026,703	80,106,813	$1,602,136
FY 02-03	6,129,385	3.3	20,226,970	80,907,881	$1,618,158
FY 03-04	6,190,679	3.3	20,429,240	81,716,960	$1,634,339

Before the revenues from the advance disposal fee are reported to the Department of Revenue, the wholesale dealer, distributor, or retail dealer will deduct 2% of the proceeds for administrative expenses. The Department of Revenue will deposit 95% of the remaining funds into the new Used Oil Collection Fund and 5% into the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund.

	Estimated Revenue	2% Merchant Discount	Net deposit	Used Oil Fund 95%	Solid Waste Fund 5%
FY 99-00	$785,284	$15,706	$769,578	$731,099	$38,479
FY 00-01	$1,586,274	$31,725	$1,554,548	$1,476,821	$77,727
FY 01-02	$1,602,136	$32,043	$1,570,094	$1,491,589	$78,505
FY 02-03	$1,618,158	$32,363	$1,585,794	$1,506,505	$79,290
FY 03-04	$1,634,339	$32,687	$1,601,652	$1,521,570	$80,083

Another component of the advance disposal fee is a continuing motor oil license that is charged to wholesale distributors ($25) and retailers ($5). This note assumes it is one-time fee per business location. There are thousands of gas stations, drug stores, convenience marts, and other retailers that sell motor oil. For example, there are 7,629 gas stations in 1999 monitored by the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. However, this advance disposal fee will likely be collected at the wholesale level. The North Carolina Petroleum Marketers Association estimates there are 350 wholesale distributors of motor oil in North Carolina. This number is consistent with Department of Revenue data for privilege licenses sold to wholesale distributors of motor oil prior to the license repeal in 1997. From 1993 to 1995, the number of privilege licenses for wholesale oil distributors averaged 361. The revenue from 350 wholesale motor oil licenses will be $8,750 in FY 1999-00 and will be deposited into the two funds mentioned above.

EXPENDITURES

The Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) will receive 7% of the Used Oil Collection Fund for administrative expenses or approximately $105,000 a year. However, this amount is insufficient to cover the expenses projected by the Department to develop and administer the Used Oil Collection Program. The Program includes grant-making, technical assistance, and toll-free telephone information. The Department's fiscal estimate for SB 1000 is shown below.

* 1999-00 reflects a half year because act takes effect January 1, 2000.

The Department of Revenue will have expenses related to the collection of the advance disposal fee, but there is no compensation for the Department in the bill. The Department has enumerated the following administrative tasks it will undertake to comply with SB 1000:

- Add a new tax type to computer program and change accounting systems
- Develop, print and mail notices and booklets to taxpayers
- Process tax forms submitted by taxpayers
- Answer phone calls about new fee
- Mail delinquent notices
- Audit and hold hearings on new fee

The Department is reimbursed for its expenses in collecting the white goods disposal tax and the scrap tire disposal tax. In FY 1997-98, the Department received $164,154 to administer the white goods tax and $193,485 to administer the scrap tire disposal tax. The Department provided no details of its projected costs to collect the advance disposal fee, but estimated that it would be in the range of the scrap tires and white goods taxes. This note will assume the average of those two collection expenses or $180,000 per year. For FY 1999-00, the mid year starting date will reduce some operating expenses, but the full $180,000 is used due to the up-front costs of programming, printing, and postage.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

A bill analysis of SB 1000 by the Department of Revenue on May 6, 1999 noted the following technical errors:

- The bill appears to have been drafted such that if recycled motor oil is blended to create motor fuel, the the oil is then subject to both the advance disposal fee and the motor fuel excise tax -- is this the intent?
- The advance disposal fee should be referred to as an excise tax so general tax collection and administrative provisions in the North Carolina General Statutes will apply.
- Motor oil is not defined clearly. If greases are considered motor oil, then the advance disposal fee must also be levied by weight.
- The Department of Revenue prefers that the reference to monthly and quarterly reports in the bill be renamed returns. For example, a taxpayer remitting sales tax proceeds files a sales tax return according to GS 105-164.16. Another example is GS 105-163.6 that requires employers to file returns to pay withheld income taxes.
- The Department is uncertain what should be included in the term "industrial machinery".
- Does the bill sponsor understand that blending recycled motor oil to create motor fuel makes the oil subject to the advance disposal fee and the motor fuel excise tax?
- The bill does not specify how often the proceeds are to be distributed.

FISCAL RESEARCH DIVISION 733-4910
PREPARED BY: Richard Bostic

APPROVED BY: Tom Covington

Summary PROPOSED COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE
SB 1000

PCS SB 1000. MOTOR OIL ADF/USED OIL PROGRAM. TO IMPOSE AN ADVANCE DISPOSAL FEE UPON MOTOR OIL AT THE POINT OF FIRST SALE AND TO ESTABLISH THE USED OIL COLLECTION PROGRAM TO ENCOURAGE THE PROPER MANAGEMENT OF USED OIL GENERATED BY PRIVATE CITIZENS WHO CHANGE THEIR OWN OIL, TO BAN THE DISPOSAL OF USED OIL FILTERS AS OF JANUARY 1,2004, AND TO PROVIDE A SUNSET FOR THE ADVANCE DISPOSAL FEE UPON MOTOR OIL.

Requires distributors and wholesale or retail dealers who first handle motor oil coming into the State to pay an advance disposal fee of two cents per quart and to file quarterly returns with the Secretary of Revenue on motor oil sales and fee collections. Motor oil is defined to not include greases and recycled motor oil that is blended to create motor fuel. The fee does not apply to motor oil sold outside the State or required to operate industrial machinery and sold for that purpose. On a quarterly basis, the Secretary of Revenue shall credit five percent of the fees generated to the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund and shall credit the remaining 95% to a new, nonreverting Used Oil Collection Fund. The Used Oil Collection Fund, administered by the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, will be used primarily for grants to assist and market used oil collection centers and other used oil collection and recycling programs. Collection centers serve as collection points for do-it-yourself oil changers and receive limited liability for releases and mischaracterization of used oil provided conditions in the bill are met. Requires certain pre-disposal handling of used oil filters. Retailers of motor oil must inform the public of the importance of proper motor oil collection and disposal and of the DENR toll-fee customer service center number for information concerning used oil collection centers. Expands registration of persons transporting, collecting or recycling used oil to include anyone transporting more than 55 gallons of used oil over public highways at any one time. Expands DOT certification requirements for used oil transporters. Effective Jan. 1, 2000. Advance disposal fee sunsets December 31, 2005. Effective January 1, 2004, the landfill disposal and the disposal by incineration of used oil filters are banned and the procedure for preparing a used oil filter for disposal in a landfill is repealed.

Kings Mountain ETJ

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Horn
Date:	June 29, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 855 is a local bill that expands the extraterritorial jurisdiction authority of the Town of Kings Mountain. The bill was given a favorable report in House Local Government II.

CURRENT LAW: Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes allows a city to enact zoning restrictions within its corporate limits. In addition, any city may exercise these same powers within a defined area extending not more than one mile beyond its limits. This is commonly known as the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction (ETJ). If the board of county commissioners approves, a city with a population greater than 10,000 but less than 25,000 may expand its ETJ to two miles beyond its corporate limits, and a city with a population of 25,000 or more may expand its ETJ to three miles beyond its corporate limits.

Article 19 of Chapter 160A also requires that when a city extends its jurisdiction to include an area currently regulated by the county, then the county's regulations remain in effect until the city has adopted regulations or 60 days after annexation, whichever is sooner.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 855 authorizes the Town of Kings Mountain , with the approval of the Cleveland and Gaston County Boards of Commissioners, to exercise its zoning powers within a defined area and within Cleveland and Gaston County for a distance of not more than 2 miles beyond the Town's corporate limits.

HOUSE BILL 764
Committee Substitute Favorable 5/25/99

Short Title: Raise Mooresville Room Tax. (Local)

Sponsors:

Referred to:

March 31, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF MOORESVILLE TO LEVY AN ADDITIONAL ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Section 1 of Chapter 296 of the 1991 Session Laws, as amended by Section 4 of Chapter 577 of the 1991 Session Laws, reads as rewritten:

"Section 1. Occupancy tax. (a) Authorization and scope. The Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy tax of up to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the town that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations.

(a1) Authorization of additional tax. In addition to the tax authorized by subsection (a) of this section, the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners may levy an additional room occupancy tax of up to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of accommodations taxable under subsection (a). The total rate of tax levied under subsections (a) and (a1) of this section, when combined with the rate of room occupancy tax levied by Iredell County, may not exceed six percent (6%). The levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the tax authorized by this subsection shall be in accordance with the provisions of this section. The Town of Mooresville may not levy a tax under this subsection unless it also levies the tax authorized under subsection (a) of this section.

(b) Administration. A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

~~Collection. Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied under this section shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the town. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The town shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the town the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax.~~

~~(c) Administration. The town shall administer a tax levied under this section. A tax levied under this section is due and payable to the town finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the town. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied.~~

~~A return filed with the town finance officer under this section is not a public record as defined by G.S. 132-1 and may not be disclosed except as required by law.~~

~~(d) Penalties. A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return required by this section shall pay a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day's omission. In case of failure or refusal to file the return or pay the tax for a period of 30 days after the time required for filing the return or for paying the tax, there shall be an additional tax, as a penalty, of five percent (5%) of the tax due in addition to any other penalty, with an additional tax of five percent (5%) for each additional month or fraction thereof until the tax is paid. The board of commissioners may, for good cause shown, compromise or forgive the additional tax penalties imposed by this subsection.~~

~~Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade a tax imposed under this section or who willfully fails to pay the tax or make and file a return shall, in addition to all other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both.~~

(e) Disposition of tax proceeds. The Town of Mooresville ~~shall set aside in a special account fifty percent (50%) of the net proceeds of the occupancy tax and shall spend these funds to promote travel and tourism. The Town of Mooresville shall remit the remaining proceeds of the tax to its general fund and may use these funds for any lawful purpose. As used in this subsection, "net proceeds" means gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as~~

~~determined by the finance officer.~~ shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to the Mooresville Travel and Tourism Authority. The Authority shall use at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to promote travel and tourism in Mooresville and shall use the remainder for tourism-related expenditures.

(f) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Net proceeds. -- Gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(2) Promote travel and tourism. -- To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(3) Tourism-related expenditures. -- Expenditures that, in the judgment of the Authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, or convention facilities in a town or to attract tourists or business travelers to the town. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

~~Effective date of levy. A tax levied under this section shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the month after the date the resolution is adopted.~~

~~(g) Repeal. A tax levied under this section may be repealed by a resolution adopted by the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners. Repeal of a tax levied under this section shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted. Repeal of a tax levied under this section does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal.~~"

Section 2. Section 2 of Chapter 296 of the 1991 Session Laws reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 2. Travel and Tourism Authority. (a) Appointment and membership. HOUSE BILL 764:
Raise Mooresville Room Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: June 28, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Setzer
Summary by: Martha K. Walston
Committee Staff

SUMMARY: House Bill 764 would permit the Mooresville Town Board of Commissioners to levy an additional room occupancy tax of up to 2%. House Bill 764 would also conform the current room occupancy tax session law for Mooresville to the uniform occupancy tax provisions. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in House Finance on May 25, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, Mooresville may levy a room occupancy tax of up to 2%. Fifty percent (50%) of this tax is set aside for the promotion of travel and tourism. The remaining 50% is placed in the town's general fund and may be used for any lawful purpose. There is also a Travel and Tourism Authority which promotes travel, tourism, and conventions in the Greater Mooresville area; sponsors tourism-related events and activities; and finances tourism related capital projects with the travel and tourism portion of the tax.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 764 would allow the Town of Mooresville to levy an additional occupancy tax of up to 2%. However, the tax must be levied in addition to the tax authorized in current law, and the total occupancy tax rate for Mooresville, when combined with the Iredell County occupancy tax, cannot exceed 6%. (Iredell County is authorized to levy an occupancy tax of up to 3%.)

House Bill 764 conforms the current session law governing Mooresville occupancy taxes with the uniform occupancy tax provisions. Therefore, the levy, administration, collection, and repeal of the occupancy taxes must be done in accordance with G.S. 160A-215. These provisions are substantially the same as the ones in the current session law. Also, the penalties for the refusal to file or pay an occupancy tax are those set out in G.S. 105-236 for the failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use tax. Finally, the conforming changes provide that the Town must submit the net proceeds of the tax to the Mooresville Travel and Tourism Authority. The Authority must use 75% of the revenues to promote travel and tourism and the remainder for tourism-related expenditures. The bill defines the terms "net proceeds", "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures".

BACKGROUND: Since 1983, the General Assembly has authorized many units of local government to levy a room occupancy tax. In several instances, the General Assembly has authorized both a county and a city within that county to impose an occupancy tax. The rate of tax, the use of the tax proceeds, the administration of the tax, and the body with the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be spent vary considerably. Over the past several years, there has been a greater effort to make the occupancy taxes uniform. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted uniform municipal and county administrative provisions for occupancy tax legislation – G.S. 153A-155 and G.S. 160A-215. These provisions provide uniformity in the areas of levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties.

The North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition has a policy statement for legislation authorizing local occupancy taxes. These principals include:

- Rate. – The county tax rate cannot exceed 6% and the city tax rate, when combined with the county rate, cannot exceed 6%.
- Use. – Two-thirds of the proceeds must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism-related purposes.
- Definitions. – The terms "net revenues" "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures" are defined terms.
- Administration. – The net revenues must be administered by a local tourism promotion agency that has the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be used, is created by a local ordinance, and at least ¾ of the members must be currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the taxing district and 1/3 of the members must be affiliated with organizations that collect the tax.
- Costs of Collection. – The taxing authority may retain from the revenues it actual costs of collection, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 collected each year plus 1% of the remainder collected each year.

HOUSE BILL 738:
Greenville Satellite Annexations

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: June 29, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Rogers
Summary by: Martha K. Walston
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 738 authorizes the Town of Greenville to make certain voluntary annexations that it would not otherwise be able to make. The bill was given a favorable report in the House Committee on Local Government I and House Finance.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 160A-58.1 governs the voluntary annexation of noncontiguous property. Property owners may petition a city for voluntary annexation of noncontiguous property if the property meets all of the following standards:

1. The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than 3 miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
2. No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
3. The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.
4. If the area proposed for annexation is a subdivision, all of the subdivision must be included.
5. The area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 738 modifies standard 2 above by allowing Greenville to voluntarily annex a noncontiguous area that is closer to another city than to Greenville, if the other city has entered into an agreement with Greenville that states the other city will not annex the property.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Local Governments and the Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 3 becomes effective for taxable yeas beginning on or after July 1, 2000. The remainder of the bill is effective on July 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill exempts from property tax vehicles that are termed short-term leased vehicles. These vehicles are leased for 365 days or less. This includes rental cars, sports utility vehicles, cargo vans, trucks, trailers and small semi-trailers. The bill also requires that counties and cities impose a one- percent (1-%) privilege license tax on the vehicle rental business.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill has the potential to impact both property and privilege license taxes.

Property Tax: The bill addresses two types of rental vehicles, passenger and non-passenger. Currently there is no state or local system that tracks the number of vehicles leased for 365 days or less. However, the Department of Motor Vehicles can estimate the number of rental cars that are leased for 30 days or less. These cars are given a special tag and are tracked by both the counties and the state. The Division of Motor Vehicles can estimate the number of these vehicles in North Carolina. The DMV estimates that there are approximately 40,000 u-drive-it passenger vehicles in the state. A u-drive-it passenger vehicle is defined as a passenger vehicle that is leased or rented under a 30-day (or less) contract by the retailer. In short, they are rental cars.

Industry analysts suggest that approximately 70% - 80% of all rental cars are located near major airports. A Fiscal Research survey of the seven counties near large airports (Wake, Mecklenburg, Forsyth, Nash, Guilford, New Hanover, and Buncombe) revealed that 31,397 rental vehicles are listed in these counties. Assuming there are 40,000 U-Drive-It vehicles, this represents 78.5% of the total North Carolina market.

These seven counties report a total u-drive-it tax value of $424,077,070. The property taxes associate with these vehicles is $4.187 million. This creates an average vehicle value of $13,507. Assuming the average value applies to the cars in other counties (the remaining 21.5%), the total value of the outstanding vehicles is $ 116,200,116. Assuming the average vehicle tax from the reporting counties ($133.36) applies to the remain counties, the property tax losses associated with the bill are as follows:

County	Number of Rental Cars	Percent of All U-Drive-It	Property Tax Loss	Value
Mecklenburg	10,000	25.0%	1,700,000	130,000,000
Wake	13,700	34.3%	1,515,997	177,309,611
Forsyth	1,018	2.5%	159,351	12,846,860
Nash	1,850	4.6%	157,386	23,846,390
Guilford	2,500	6.3%	400,000	51,000,000
New Hanover	1,129	2.8%	109,553	16,474,209
Buncombe	1,200	3.0%	144,900	12,600,000
Others	8,603	21.5%	1,147,319	116,200,116
TOTAL	40,000	100.0%	5,334,506	540,277,186

The Division of Motor Vehicles can not determine the number of non-passenger, short-term rental vehicles in the state. Most counties in the state are not able to determine from their records how many of these vehicles are in the county. Some indicated that at least a portion of the trucks may be included in the above passenger vehicle estimate. Neither group can report how many vehicles are leased for between 31 and 365 days.

Because of the lack of firm data, the $5.3 figure is used as a minimum local government loss. The actually loss could be much greater.

Privilege License Tax: The bill also requires that counties and cities levy a one-percent privilege license tax on short-term rental vehicles. However, no accurate fiscal information is available from the rental car or truck industry on their gross receipts for 365 day or less rentals. An earlier Fiscal Research survey of the eight major car rental companies indicated a 1-% gross receipts tax on 30-day automobile rentals would generate $5.0 million in local revenue. However because this represents only a subset of the vehicles impacted by the bill this is a minimum potential impact.

While the note provides a minimum revenue change numbers, Fiscal Research feels that these numbers represent such a small portion of the actual impact of the bill that these estimates could not be considered an accurate and reliable estimate. Therefore, no official fiscal estimate is possible on the bill.

Note: While the statewide numbers suggest a potential net gain for counties that levy the 1% privilege license tax, at least one county assessor has indicated to Fiscal Research that they believe their county will lose money under the proposal. The North Carolina Association of Assessing Officials indicates those counties with a property tax rate of more than approximately $0.60 could loose revenue even if the 1-% gross receipts tax was levied. They do note these numbers are the result of limited data. Also, one major truck rental company has provided data to Fiscal Research. This data indicates that this particular company would pay more under the bill. However, because this is only one company, the data can not be considered an adequate sample at this time.

SENATE BILL 1076:
Reform Local Tax on Rental Cars

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Cooper
Date:	June 29, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1076 repeals the property tax on a vehicle that is offered for short-term lease or rental by an entity engaged in the leasing or renting of vehicles to the general public for short-term lease or rental. This tax revenue is replaced with a local option privilege license tax on gross receipts of short-term rentals or leases.

BILL ANALYSIS: Under current law property taxes are levied or leased on rented vehicles.

Section 1 of the bill exempts from property tax a vehicle that is offered at retail for short-term lease or rental, if the vehicle is owned or leased by an entity engaged in the business of leasing vehicles to the general public for short-term lease or rental. "Short-term lease or rental" means a lease or rental for less than 365 continuous days. The repeal of this property tax is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000.

Sections 2 and 3 of the bill authorize a county or city to levy a privilege license tax at a rate not to exceed 1% on the gross receipts from the short-term lease or rental of vehicles at retail to the general public. This tax is in lieu of the property tax.

The privilege license tax may be imposed on the following vehicles leased or rented for less than 365 continuous days:

A motor vehicle

a. Of the private passenger type, including a passenger van, minivan, or sport utility vehicle; or

b. Of the cargo type including cargo van, pickup truck, or truck with a gross vehicle weight of 25,000 pounds or less used in the transportation of property other than commercial freight and that does not require the operator to possess a commercial drivers license; or

c. A trailer or semitrailer with a gross vehicle weight of 6,000 pounds or less.

If a county or city enacts the privilege license tax, then any entity that is subject to the tax must include a provision in their lease or rental agreement that an additional 1% tax of the total lease price, excluding sales tax, is being charged by the county or city and collected as a privilege tax on gross receipts.

The collection and use of this tax are not subject to sales tax nor included in the gross receipts of the entity. The tax is collected by the city or county at the time of lease or rental and placed in a segregated account until remitted to the city or county.

Section 2 and 3 of the bill become effective July 1, 2000.

Section 2. Article 26 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-370. Notice of delinquent taxes.

If the governing body of a taxing unit decides not to advertise tax liens for a fiscal year, the tax collector must, at least 30 days before initiating any lien foreclosure action under G.S. 105-374, send a notice to the listing owner and the record owner of the affected parcel of property, as determined as of December 31 of the fiscal year for which the taxes are due. The notice must be sent to each owner's last known address by first-class mail. The notice must state the principal amount of unpaid taxes that are a lien on the property and inform the owner that the lien may be foreclosed to enforce collection of those taxes. Failure to mail the notice required by this section to the correct listing owner or record owner does not affect the validity of the tax lien or of any foreclosure action."

Section 3. G.S. 105-375(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Docketing Certificate of Taxes as Judgment. -- In lieu of following the procedure set forth in G.S. 105-374, the governing body of any taxing unit may direct the tax collector to ~~file, no earlier than six months following the advertisement of tax liens, with the clerk of superior court~~ file with the clerk of superior court, no earlier than 30 days after the tax liens were advertised or May 6 following the delinquency date, whichever occurs first, a certificate showing the following: the name of the taxpayer listing real property on which the taxes are a lien, together with the amount of taxes, penalties, interest, and costs that are a lien thereon; the year or years for which the taxes are due; and a description of the property sufficient to permit its identification by parol testimony. The fees for docketing and indexing the certificate shall be payable to the clerk of superior court at the time the taxes are collected or the property is sold."

Section 4. G.S. 105-375(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Special Assessments. -- Street, sidewalk, and other special assessments may be included in any judgment for taxes taken under this ~~section, or such~~ section, or the special assessments may be included in a separate judgment docketed under this ~~section, which is hereby declared to be made available~~ section. The tax collector may use such a judgment as a method of foreclosing the lien of special assessments. When used to foreclose the lien of special assessments, the procedure may be instituted at any time after the assessment or installment falls due and remains unpaid; the ~~six months'~~ waiting period required by subsection ~~(b), above, shall~~ (b) of this section does not apply to the foreclosure of special assessments."

Section 5. This act becomes effective January 1, 2001.

HOUSE BILL 120:
Tax Lien Advertisement and Collection

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Owens
Date:	June 30, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 120 differs from the 2nd Edition of House Bill 120 in that it requires both advertisement and notification before beginning tax foreclosure proceedings. The earlier version gave counties the option to advertise tax delinquencies before beginning tax foreclosure proceedings. The PCS also differs from the earlier version in that it only requires that the listing owner's name be published in a newspaper. Both the listing owner and the record owner will receive notification by first class mail. Both the earlier version and the PCS enable the tax collector to collect the taxes in the fiscal year in which they are due, by allowing the county to begin an in rem foreclosure proceeding as early as 30 days after the tax liens were advertised.

CURRENT LAW: Property must be listed for property tax in January of each year. The listing owner is the taxpayer who owned the property as of January 1. The taxes become due in September and become delinquent on January 6 of the following year. Although most counties send tax listing notices and tax bills to the taxpayer, they are not required by law to do so. Property owners are charged with notice that they must list their property for taxes and pay the taxes; otherwise, enforcement measures will be taken against the property. The legal effect of this law is to prevent a taxpayer from using lack of notice as an excuse for not paying property taxes or as a defense to a collection remedy against the property. If property taxes remain unpaid, the tax collector is required by statute to advertise the tax liens in a local newspaper under the name of the listing owner. If the taxes remain unpaid for six months following the advertisement, the tax collector may begin a foreclosure proceeding against the property. The earliest tax liens can be advertised is March; therefor, September is the earliest an in rem foreclosure proceeding may be initiated. Since a local government's fiscal year begins July 1, the collection of property taxes through an in rem foreclosure proceeding cannot begin until the succeeding fiscal year after the taxes are due.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill requires the tax collector to send a notice to both the listing owner and the record owner as of December 31 if the record owner is different than the listing owner. The notice must be sent by first-class mail at least 30 days before the advertisement is published. The required advertisement shall list only the listing owner's name. (The earlier version required that the optional advertisement list both the listing owner and the record owner.) The bill allows the tax collector to initiate an in rem foreclosure proceeding as early as 30 days after the tax liens were advertised. This provision enables collectors to collect the taxes in the fiscal year in which they are due.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: County Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective January 1, 2001.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill intends to improve the procedures for advertising tax liens on real property and for notifying delinquent taxpayers.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: This bill may have a small one-time impact on the costs of county operations, primarily in the area of computer programming and data entry. Virtually all counties will have to change their computer software to enable the advertisement of both the January 1 and the December 31 owner of real property (if different). A majority of counties will need to make minor software changes to allow notices to be mailed to both the January 1 and December 31 property owner (if different).

When working on a similar bill in 1998, Fiscal Research Division staff interviewed a sample of county tax collectors, a professor in the Institute of Government, and the chairman of the North Carolina Association of Assessing Officers. It was found that approximately 75 counties lack a fully automated way to send deed transfer information between the Register of Deeds Office and the Tax Assessor's Office, in a timely manner. The Registers of Deeds provide copies of deeds to the Tax Assessors in the form of paper, microfilm, microfiche, or CD. The tax professionals contacted in 1998 estimated that only 25 counties might incur one-time costs for computer programming in the first year of implementing HB 120. These 25 counties might expend an average of $800 each ($20,000) for computer vendors to program county databases for this data transfer.

Data entry was another cost identified by tax professionals interviewed in 1998. It was estimated that 25 county Tax Assessors might spend approximately $400 each ($10,000) for temporary clerks to do data entry on deed transfer files in order to update the county tax files. Small counties with few land transactions do not experience a backlog in deed transfer filings. It was suggested in 1998 that temporary clerks would be needed each year due to this bill, but this fiscal note assumes that keeping deed and tax files current should be standard operating procedure for the tax listing process and is not a new requirement on county governments.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE AN INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF FIRE FIGHTERS SPECIAL REGISTRATION PLATE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 20-79.4(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Types. -- The Division shall issue the following types of special registration plates:

(19a) International Association of Fire Fighters. -- Issuable to a member of the International Association of Fire Fighters. The plate shall bear the logo of the International Association of Fire Fighters. The Division may not issue the plate authorized by this subdivision unless it receives at least 300 applications for the plate."

Section 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1090:
I.A.F.F. Registration Plate

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Moore
Date:	June 28, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1090 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special registration plate to members of the International Association of Fire Fighters. The Division must receive at least 300 applications for this plate before it can issue the plate. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional $10. The bill is effective when it becomes law. The original version provided that the special registration plate was issuable to the registered owner of a motor vehicle. The current version was given a favorable report in House Finance and clarifies that only members of the Association of International Fire Fighters are entitled to the special registration plate.

CURRENT LAW: Upon request, the Division of Motor Vehicles may issue special registration plates. There are currently more than 54 special registration plates. The cost of a special registration plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional fee of at least $10. The first $10 of every additional fee amount is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. The remainder of the additional fee, if any, is transferred quarterly to the appropriate organization named in the statute. After deducting the costs of the plates from the Special Registration Plate Account, the money in the Account is distributed as follows:

AMOUNT	PURPOSE
$525,000 distributed annually	Operating assistance for certain Visitor Centers
33% distributed quarterly	Department of Commerce for advertising the promotion of travel and industrial development in the State
50% distributed quarterly	Department of Transportation for beautification of highways
17% distributed quarterly	Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons.

This uniform system of fees has been in place since 1991 when a study commission recommended that the special registration plate system be simplified through a uniform fee schedule. The only exceptions to the general rule are for plates issued to a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, a 100% disabled veterans, an ex-prisoner of war, an active member of the National Guard, and a recipient of the Purple Heart award.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1090 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to develop a special license plate bearing the logo of the International Association of Fire Fighters. The Division may issue the plate to a member of the International Association of Fire Fighters. It must receive at least 300 applications for the special plate before it can issue the plate. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional $10.

The International Association of Fire Fighters is a tax exempt, non-profit organization composed of professional fire fighters. The Association has 27 affiliates and approximately 2,000 members in North Carolina. It has more than 2,500 affiliates and approximately 230,000 members in the United States and Canada.

Cindy Avrette, committee counsel to House Finance, contributed substantially to this summary.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue an International Association of Fire Fighters special registration plate. DMV must receive 300 applications before issuing the plate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for an International Association of Fire Fighters (IAFF) special registration plate will pay $10. This $10 is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account. Although the IAFF claims 2,000 members in North Carolina, this fiscal note assumes only the minimum 300 applicants needed to qualify for the plate. At $10 a plate, this will generate $3,000 a year for the Special Registration Plate Account. There is no increase in the Highway Fund since the $20 vehicle registration fee is paid for regular and special plates.

According to the DMV and the Department of Corrections, there is a one-time cost of $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of $2.52 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. The total production cost for 300 plates is $856.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Sales Tax Division, and Local Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 2 of this act is effective when it becomes law. The remainder of this act becomes effective August 1,1999, and applies to sales made on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill lowers the sales tax to 1% on many of the chemicals, test kits, and supplies used in laboratory testing. To qualify for the exemption the business must be certified by the federal Health Care Finance Administration (HCFA) as a moderate or highly complex laboratory. The lab must also be "primarily engaged in providing medical, analytic or diagnostic services, including bodily fluid analysis, generally to the medical profession or to employers, or to patients on referral from a medical professional or employer". The bill defines this type of business as a medical laboratory testing company. The revenue from the 1% tax is retained by the state. The entire 2% local sales tax on laboratory testing supplies.

BACKGROUND: The legislation lowers to 1% the sales tax charged on the following items that are used or consumed in the clinical laboratory testing business: medical products, medical accessories, reagents, chemicals, test kits, consumable lab supplies, and other similar tangible personal property not including machinery and equipment.

The special tax treatment only applies to companies that met both of two sets of qualifications. First, they must be certified by HCFA as a moderately or highly complex laboratory. Second, laboratory services, as defined in the bill, must be their primary business. Both the bill drafting attorney and industry representatives believe this definition includes only those companies that are laboratory service companies.

According to HCFA, there are 1,506 laboratories in North Carolina that are certified as moderately or highly complex. Most of these laboratories are in hospitals or a doctor's office. Because the primary business of these facilities (hospitals and doctors offices) is not laboratory testing, they would not qualify for the special tax treatment in the bill. Based on a list of all 1506 HCFA certified laboratories, Fiscal Research identified 80 facilities that may be stand alone laboratory testing businesses. These laboratories appear to be operated by approximately 44 companies. Fiscal Research, in conjunction with KPMG Accounting in Greensboro, surveyed these facilities to determine if they met the qualifications listed in the bill. Companies that qualified were asked to supply information about their medical supply and equipment expenditures. Of those surveyed, 15 responded or 34%. Two of these respondents indicated that they did not meet the qualifying criteria in the bill.

One of the responding companies the Laboratory Corporation of America or LabCorp, provided extensive information about their expenditures, purchases, and the company as a whole. According to the organization's filings with the Security and Exchange Commission, LabCorp is the largest independent clinical laboratory company in the United States, based on 1998 net revenue. The company is headquartered in Burlington, NC, and offers more than 2,000 different clinical laboratory tests. LabCorp current maintains 25 regional testing facilities. The company reports 1998 net sales of $1.6126 billion, with a gross profit of $563.4 million, and net earnings of $68.8 million. Because of the level of detail provided by LabCorp, and their dominant market share, much of the analysis is based on their information.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Because of the unique structure of laboratory data, the estimates in this note are divided into three parts that reflect the three data segments available. Section 1 reflects the data provided by LabCorp, while Section 2 includes the estimates associated with the 12 other companies that responded to the survey and qualified for the exemption. Section 3 provides total loss estimates, including assumed losses associated with companies who did not respond to the survey. The data included in the note reflects only information provided by laboratory companies directly. No data from the Department of Revenue is used in this analysis.

Section 1: LabCorp Information:

According to documents provided by LabCorp, the organization's North Carolina laboratories spent $50.67 million and $46.89 million on reagents and other chemicals in 1997 and 1998. This estimate assumes that 90% of all laboratory supply expenses were associated with reagents and other chemicals. LabCorp officials believe a 5% growth rate in this type of expenditure is appropriate. When questioned about using a 5% growth rate in light of the increased output anticipated by the bill, company representatives stated that "this additional work is not expected to greatly increase lab supply costs." They cite more favorable contracts with vendors, reducing waste, increased efficiency (by the company manufacturing its own reagents), and the low per unit cost associated with many of the more routine tests which will be handled by the North Carolina facilities.

Assuming the 5% growth rate is appropriate, reagent and chemical purchases by the North Carolina portions of LabCorp will be:

	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004
Reagents & Other Chemicals	42,733,800	44,870,490	47,114,015	49,469,715	51,943,201	54,540,361

Under current law a 6% sales tax applies to these purchases. The tax liability associated with these estimates, once adjusted for the fiscal year basis are:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Reagents & Other Chemicals	43,802,145	45,992,252	48,291,865	50,706,458	53,241,781
Sales Tax (6%)	2,628,129	2,759,535	2,897,512	3,042,387	3,194,507

The bill repeals the 2% local tax. It also reduces the state tax from 4% to 1%. The fiscal loss associated with these changes and LabCorp's purchases is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
State Loss	(1,314,065)	(1,379,768)	(1,448,756)	(1,521,194)	(1,597,254)
Local Loss	(876,043)	(919,845)	(965,837)	(1,014,129)	(1,064,836)

Section 2: Other Laboratory Companies:

The 12 non-LabCorp companies that responded to the survey reported annual laboratory supply purchases of $20,348,831. Assuming the 6% sales tax currently applies, the total revenue associated with these purchases is $1,220,930. Under the bill, the 2% local tax is repealed and the 4% state tax is reduced to 3%. Assuming supply purchases grow by 5%, the potential revenue impact is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
State Loss	$610,465	$640,988	$673,038	$706,690	$742,024
Local Loss	$406,977	$427,326	$448,692	$471,126	$494,683

Section 3: Total Losses

As mentioned previously, survey respondents are assumed to account for 87.5% of the qualifying market. Assuming the survey results apply to the remaining 12.5%, the fiscal loss associated with this portion of the bill is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
State Loss
LabCorp	(1,314,065)	(1,379,768)	(1,448,756)	(1,521,194)	(1,597,254)
Survey Respondents	($610,465)	($640,988)	($673,038)	($706,690)	($742,024)
Others	(274,933)	(288,679)	(303,113)	(318,269)	(334,183)
TOTAL STATE LOSS	(2,199,462)	(2,309,435)	(2,424,907)	(2,546,152)	(2,673,460)
Local Loss
LabCorp	(876,043)	(919,845)	(965,837)	(1,014,129)	(1,064,836)
Survey Respondents	(406,977)	(427,326)	(448,692)	(471,126)	(494,683)
Others	(183,289)	(192,453)	(202,076)	(212,179)	(222,788)
TOTAL LOCAL LOSS	(1,466,308)	(1,539,623)	(1,616,605)	(1,697,435)	(1,782,307)

The fiscal loss shown in the chart on page one reflects the adjustment needed for the August 1, 1999 effective date.

Note: Because doctor offices would not qualify for the special tax treatment they are not included in the fiscal estimate. However, some physicians may create a separate subsidiary business to take advantage of the tax treatment afforded laboratory-testing companies. Therefore, the actual cost associated with the bill may increase in future years. In addition, some hospitals may also decide to create separate structures for their laboratory business. Because non-profit hospitals already receive a sales tax refund, the only loss associated with the transformation of the hospital laboratories would be the interest the state receives on the sales tax money before it is refunded to the hospitals. Thus, any potential loss in this area would be insignificant.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The bill currently has an August 1, 1999 effective date. Because of the notification and paperwork changes required Fiscal Research would suggest that the effective date be delayed at least three months.

SENATE BILL 864:
Lab Testing Facility Sales Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Senator Gulley
Date:	June 29, 1999	Analysis by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	PCS for First Edition		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: Reduces sales tax rate from 6% to 1% for sales of medical supplies and non-capital laboratory equipment to complex medical laboratory testing companies, effective July 1, 2000.

Businesses whose services and products are exempt from sales tax are required to pay sales tax on their purchases of supplies and equipment used in the business. The general sales tax rate is 4% State and 2% local (2.5% in Mecklenburg County). This bill would provide a 1% State sales tax and a 0% local sales tax rate for certain supplies and equipment used by complex medical laboratory testing companies, even though the services provided by those companies are also exempt from sales tax. The sales tax reduction proposed in the bill would benefit laboratories primarily engaged in providing medical analytic or diagnostic services generally to the medical profession or to employers, or to patients upon referral from a medical professional or employer. To qualify for the sale tax reduction, the laboratory must be certified as a highly or moderately complex laboratory by the United States Health Care Financing Administration. The sales tax reduction would cover the following items used or consumed by the laboratory in its medical testing business (but not including property capitalized by the laboratory or machinery and equipment): medical products, medical accessories, reagents, chemicals, test kits, consumable lab supplies, and other similar tangible personal property.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects to charge applicants for licensure the actual cost of examination services.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Board of Landscape Architects purchases a national exam from the Council of Landscape Architectural Registration Boards for $560 per exam. The current statute only allows the Board to charge exam applicants $450 for the test. The Board is attempting to recover the $110 additional cost of the exam. The Board may also recoup the cost of administering the exam, but this decision has not yet been decided.

The exam has six sections. Applicants may take the entire exam or may take sections of the exam. Approximately 20 applicants take the entire exam each year and 40 applicants take an average of three exam sections. The price of the exam is prorated based on the number of exam sections taken. The 20 applicants paying $560 for the total exam will produce an additional $2200 in revenue for the Board. The 40 applicants taking 3 sections of the exam and paying $280 will also produce $2200 in additional revenue for the Board.

Landscape Architects Exam Fee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: June 28, 1999
Version: 1st Edition

Introduced by: Rep. McMahan
Summary by: Martha K. Walston
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1237 removes the $450 maximum limit on the examination fee the North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects may impose and replaces it with language that will allow the Board to recover its actual examination costs. The bill is effective when it becomes law. House Bill 1237 was given a favorable report in House Finance on April 27, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: In North Carolina, a person may not engage in landscape architecture unless the person is licensed to be a landscape architect by the North Carolina Board of Landscape Architects. Landscape architecture is the preparation of plans and specifications for, and the supervision of, projects involving the arranging of land and the elements used on it for drainage, soil conservation, grading and planting plans, and erosion control. To be licensed as a landscape architect by the Board, a person must meet all of the following conditions:

- Be at least 18 years old.
- Be of good moral character.
- Be a graduate of a Landscape Architect's Accreditation Board accredited collegiate curriculum in landscape architecture and have at least four years experience in landscape architecture. OR Have a minimum of 10 years of education and experience in landscape architecture.
- Pass a Board examination.

The license must be renewed annually. The current application fee is $100. The current examination fee is $450. The current renewal fee is $100.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill removes the $450 maximum limit on the examination fee and replaces it with language that will allow the Board to recover its actual examination costs. The Board uses a testing service for the preparation, administration, and grading of its examinations. The current cost of this service is $560 per exam. This cost does not include the Board's administrative costs.

such probationary employment; (v) separations made disqualifying under G.S. 96-14(2b) and (6a); ~~or~~ (vi) separation due to leaving for disability or health ~~condition~~ condition; or (vii) separation of claimant solely for a bona fide inability to do the work for which the claimant was hired, but only where the claimant in the last calendar quarter preceding the quarter in which the claimant was paid wages by the employer was a recipient of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) assistance by an agency of the State and the claimant's period of employment was 100 days or less, shall not be charged to the account of the employer by whom the claimant was employed at the time of such separation; provided, however, said employer promptly furnishes the Commission with such notices regarding any separation of the individual from work as are or may be required by the regulations of the Commission.

HOUSE BILL 278:
Work First Separation Noncharged/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Representative Redwine
Date:	June 29, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 278 provides that an employer's account will not be charged for unemployment benefits paid to a claimant when the claimant was discharged for a bona fide inability to do the work for which he or she was hired if (1) the claimant was a recipient of Work First Program Assistance by an agency of the State and (2) the claimant's period of employment was 100 days or less. An earlier version of the bill was given a favorable report in House Ways & Means.

The proposed committee substitute replaces the reference to recipients of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) with a reference to recipients of the State's Work First Program. This change was made because the State law refers to the Work First Program rather than TANF. The proposed committee substitute also moves the effective date from July 1 to August 1.

CURRENT LAW: An employer's account will not be charged for unemployment benefit payments paid to a claimant when the claimant was discharged for a bona fide inability to do the work and the claimant was hired pursuant to a job order placed with a local office of the Commission for referral to probationary employment. For this exemption to apply, the probationary period must be no longer than 100 days.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 278 would extend this 100 day non-charge to Work First Program recipients who are separated from employment for a bona fide inability to do the work whether or not the claimant was referred by the Employment Security Commission. For this exemption to apply, the claimant must have received Work First Program assistance in the last calendar quarter preceding the quarter in which the claimant was paid wages by the employer.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Employment Security Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill is effective August 1, 1999 and applies to unemployment insurance claims filed on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill amends the Employment Security laws to provide that participants in North Carolina's Work First Program that are separated from work for a bona fide reason within the first 100 days of employment, will not be charged to an employer's experience rating.

BACKGROUND:
The North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services reports that 3,000 Work First participants have found jobs through the Employment Security Commission. These participants were involved in the First Step Employment Assistance Program where they were screened for job readiness and referred to Community Colleges for additional training.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The Employment Security Commission (ESC) states that this bill will have no fiscal impact on the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. In an analysis of Work First participants from February 1998 to the present, ESC found the Trust Fund impact to be statistically insignificant. Approximately 90% of the job separations for this group occur within the first 30 days of employment. Employees that surpass the 100 day threshold usually remain in their jobs.

The Division may, however, conditionally restore the person's license after it has been revoked for at least three years under this subsection if he provides the Division with satisfactory proof that:

(1) In the three years immediately preceding the person's application for a restored license, he has not been convicted in North Carolina or in any other state or federal court of a motor vehicle offense, an alcohol beverage control law offense, a drug law offense, or any criminal offense involving the consumption of alcohol or drugs; and

(2) He is not currently an excessive user of alcohol or drugs.

Failure of the owner to certify that he has financial responsibility as herein required shall be prima facie evidence that no financial responsibility exists with regard to the vehicle concerned and unless the owner's registration plate has on or prior to the date of termination of insurance been surrendered to the Division by surrender to an agent or representative of the Division designated by the Commissioner, or depositing the same in the United States mail, addressed to the Division of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh, North Carolina, the Division shall revoke the vehicle's registration for 30 days.

In no case shall any vehicle, the registration of which has been revoked for failure to have financial responsibility, be reregistered in the name of the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner within less than 30 days after the date of receipt of the registration plate by the Division of Motor Vehicles, except that a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner may register such vehicle immediately in such spouse's name. Additionally, as a condition precedent to the reregistration of the vehicle by the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner, except a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner, the payment of a restoration fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) and the appropriate fee for a new registration plate is required. Any person, firm or corporation failing to give notice of termination shall be subject to a civil penalty of two hundred dollars ($200.00) to be assessed by the Commissioner of Insurance upon a finding by the Commissioner of Insurance that good cause is not shown for such failure to give notice of termination to the Division."

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation – Division of Motor Vehicles

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 5 (graduated drivers license change) becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 17 (notification of terminated insurance policies) becomes effective October 1, 2000. The remainder of the act becomes effective October 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes numerous changes to the motor vehicle laws found in Chapter 20 of the North Carolina General Statutes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REVENUES

Section 14 of the bill has a direct fiscal impact on the Highway Fund. Small daily rental trucks are now issued a "for-hire" plate that is renewed annually. This "for-hire" status requires the vehicle owner to carry a high insurance liability policy. The proposal is to classify small daily rental trucks as U-drive-it passenger vehicles, a category that now includes cars and buses. These daily rentals will require lower insurance liability policies, but will pay higher fees for the privilege.

The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) estimates that 2,500 small trucks are licensed each year as daily rentals. The chart below shows the estimated number of trucks by weight class. The chart also shows the current and proposed fees. The first year revenue gain is reduced by one fourth due to an October 1, 1999 starting date. DMV estimates that the number of trucks licensed in future years will grow by 2% annually.

Truck Weight	# of Trucks	Current Fees	Current Revenue	Proposed Fees	Proposed Revenue	Net Gain
4,000 lbs	1000	$21.50	$21,500	$41.50	$41,500	$20,000
5,000 lbs	1000	$40.75	$40,750	$51.00	$51,000	$10,250
6,000 lbs	500	$47.00	$23,500	$61.00	$30,500	$7,000
	2,500		$85,750		$123,000	$37,250

Section 10 has the potential to both lose revenues and to decrease expenditures. The section allows DMV "to accept electronic applications for the issuance of registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title, and to electronically collect fees and penalties". Currently registration renewal can be done by mail or by a visit to a contract tag agent. Renewal by mail requires the payment of a $1 processing fee in addition to the registration renewal fee. There were 1.2 million mail-in renewals last year and thus $1.2 million in administrative fees paid to the Highway Fund. If vehicle owners that now renew by mail are allowed to renew over the internet, then DMV will lose a portion of this revenue. To be revenue neutral, the bill must be amended to allow DMV to charge a $1 processing fee to use this electronic service. However, electronic renewal is a moot point since DMV does not have the authority to accept credit cards for payment and it is uncertain when this approval will be granted.

EXPENDITURES

As mentioned above, Section 10 also has the potential to reduce expenditures. A 1995 study by the NCDOT Productivity Management unit reported that registration renewals performed by DMV were less expensive than those completed by contract tag agents. In 1995, DMV paid $1.73 for renewals by contract agents and spent $1.44 for in-house processing. Most of the cost for contract agents was the $1.20 transaction fee (now $1.35). If a vehicle owner that now uses a tag agent chooses to renew electronically, then DMV saves 29 cents per transaction. With the increase in internet commerce, it is likely that consumers will choose on-line payment versus a trip to a tag agent for simple transactions. The problem is that registration renewals are the easiest and most profitable transactions for branch agents. The smaller volume contract agents unable to absorb the lost revenue may have to close. Again, the General Assembly has to give DMV the authority to use credit cards for payment. In turn, the General Assembly must decide the role of contract tag agents under electronic commerce.

Section 17 requires insurance companies to notify DMV when they terminate policies and issue new ones within 10 days. This section will reduce the number of vehicle owners contacted by DMV who have not experienced a lapse in coverage, but have only "shopped around" for lower premiums. DMV estimates that 400,000 unnecessary letters will be eliminated due to this change in policy. At a pre-sort postage rate of 26.1 cents per letter, this will create annual savings of $104,400. The section is effective beginning October 1, 2000, thus first year savings in FY 2000-01 are for nine months. No postal rate increases are included in this note.

Section 11 requires DMV to maintain records for 20 years instead of the life of the vehicle. This could save DMV computer storage space, but no savings have been estimated for this item.

(1) Philip Morris, Inc., Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corporation, Lorillard Tobacco Company, and R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company (hereinafter, the "tobacco companies") have proposed to create a National Tobacco Grower Settlement Trust under which the tobacco companies will pay, during a 12-year period, a base amount of approximately five billion one hundred fifty million dollars ($5,150,000,000) into a trust to provide payments to tobacco growers and allotment holders in 14 grower states, including North Carolina, for the purposes of ameliorating potential adverse economic consequences of likely changes in the tobacco market on grower states.

(2) The tobacco companies desire that the money paid into the trust be divided among tobacco producers and allotment holders in accordance with a plan designed and approved by a certification entity in each state.

(3) The tobacco companies desire that in larger grower states, including North Carolina, the certification entity be a nonprofit corporation governed by a board of directors consisting of the following public officials and persons appointed by public officials: the Governor, who shall serve as chair of the board of directors; the Commissioner of Agriculture, who shall serve as vice-chair; the Attorney General, who shall serve as secretary; a State Senator appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate; a State Representative appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; two members of the North Carolina congressional delegation selected by the delegation; and four to seven citizens appointed by the Governor.

(4) It is in the public interest that these officials and citizens serve on the board of directors and determine the distribution of these private trust funds to tobacco producers and allotment holders in North Carolina.

Section 1.(b) The Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate are authorized to appoint members of the board of directors of the certification entity as provided in Section 1.(a)(3), and the public officials referred to in Section 1.(a)(3) are authorized to serve on that board.

Section 1.(c) No member of the certification entity for the National Tobacco Grower Trust Fund is subject to civil liability for any act or omission arising out of the performance of the member's duties as a member or officer of the certification entity. This section does not apply to liability arising from willful or wanton misconduct, intentional wrongdoing, or the operation of a motor vehicle.

Section 2. G.S. 105-130.5(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) The following deductions from federal taxable income shall be made in determining State net income:

(18) Interest, investment earnings, and gains of a trust, the settlors of which are two or more manufacturers that signed a settlement agreement with this State to settle existing and potential claims of the State against the manufacturers for damages attributable to a product of the manufacturers, if the trust meets all of the following conditions:

a. The purpose of the trust is to address adverse economic consequences resulting from a decline in demand of the manufactured product potentially expected to occur because of market restrictions and other provisions in the settlement agreement.

b. A court of this State approves and retains jurisdiction over the trust.

c. Certain portions of the distributions from the trust are made in accordance with certifications that meet the criteria in the agreement creating the trust and are provided by a nonprofit entity, the governing board of which includes State officials."

Section 3. G.S. 105-134.6(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) Deductions. -- The following deductions from taxable income shall be made in calculating North Carolina taxable income, to the extent each item is included in taxable income:

(15) Interest, investment earnings, and gains of a trust, the settlors of which are two or more manufacturers that signed a settlement agreement with this State to settle existing and potential claims of the State against the manufacturers for damages attributable to a product of the manufacturers, if the trust meets all of the following conditions:

a. The purpose of the trust is to address adverse economic consequences resulting from a decline in demand of the manufactured product potentially expected to occur because of market restrictions and other provisions in the settlement agreement.

b. A court of this State approves and retains jurisdiction over the trust.

c. Certain portions of the distributions from the trust are made in accordance with certifications that meet the criteria in the agreement creating the trust and are provided by a nonprofit entity, the governing board of which includes State officials."

Section 4. Part 1 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read as follows:

"§ 105-130.45. Credit for manufacturing cigarettes for exportation.

The amount of credit allowed is as follows:

(c) Cap. -- The credit allowed under this section may not exceed the lesser of six million dollars ($6,000,000) or fifty percent (50%) of the amount of tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all other credits allowable, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of the credit allowed in any tax year, including carry forwards claimed by the taxpayer under this section for previous tax years. Any unused portion of a credit allowed in this section may be carried forward for the next succeeding five years.

(d) Documentation of Credit. -- A corporation that claims the credit under this section must include the following with its tax return:

(1) A statement of the base year exportation volume.

(2) A statement of the exportation volume on which the credit is based.

Section 6. Part 1 of Article 2A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-113.4B. Reasons why the Secretary can cancel a license.

(a) Reasons. -- The Secretary may cancel a license issued under this Article upon the written request of the license holder. The Secretary may summarily cancel the license of a license holder when the Secretary finds that the license holder is incurring liability for the tax imposed under this Article after failing to pay a tax when due under this Article. The Secretary must give a person whose license may be cancelled after a hearing at least 10 days' written notice of the date, time, and place of the hearing. A notice of a summary license cancellation and a notice of hearing must be sent by registered mail to the last known address of the license holder."

Section 7. G.S. 105-113.16 is repealed.

Section 8. G.S. 105-164.29(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Revocation. -- Whenever a license holder fails to comply with this ~~Article,~~ Article or violates G.S. 14-400.18, the Secretary, upon hearing, after giving the license holder 10 days' notice in writing, specifying the time and place of hearing and requiring the license holder to show cause why the license should not be revoked, may revoke or suspend the license. The notice may be served personally or by registered mail directed to the last known address of the license holder. All provisions with respect to review and appeals of the Secretary's decisions as provided by G.S. 105-241.2, 105-241.3, and 105-241.4 apply to this section.

Any wholesale merchant or retailer who engages in business as a seller in this State without a license or after the license has been suspended or revoked, and each officer of any corporation that so engages in business shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor and only subject to a fine of up to five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each offense."

Section 9. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

Section 10. Sections 2, 3, and 4 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. Sections 5 through 8 of this act become effective December 1, 1999, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law. Section 4 of this act is repealed effective for cigarettes exported on or after January 1, 2005.

HOUSE BILL 74:
Phase II Funds/Immunity/Tax-Exempt

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Baker
Date:	July 1, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	PCS for 3rd Edition H74-CSRB-6/30		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 74 does the following:

- It authorizes the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate to appoint members to the board of directors of the nonprofit corporation that will serve as the certification entity for the National Tobacco Grower Trust Fund under the Phase II agreement between the states and the tobacco manufacturers. (contained in HB 74, 3rd edition)
- It provides immunity to the board of directors for any act or omission arising out of the performance of the member's duties as a member of the entity. (contained in HB 74, 3rd edition)
- It provides a corporate and trust income tax exemption for the interest, investment earnings, and gains of a trust that is established to compensate those who suffer economic loss as a result of a settlement agreement between North Carolina and one or more manufacturers to settle claims of the states against the manufacturers for damages arising from a product of the manufacturers. (contained in HB 74, 3rd edition)
- It creates a corporate income tax credit for manufacturers who produce cigarettes for exportation to a foreign country. The credit amount varies depending upon the amount of cigarettes exported in the tax year compared to the amount exported in 1998. The credit will sunset for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005. (Senate addition to HB 74, 3rd edition)
- It makes it unlawful to sell in North Carolina cigarettes that were originally manufactured for export. (Senate addition to HB 74, 3rd edition)

BACKGROUND: Several states and tobacco manufacturers are parties to a Master Settlement Agreement dated November 23, 1998, that settled existing and potential claims of the states against the manufacturers for damages arising from the tobacco products of the manufacturers. The settlement agreement contains provisions, such as market restrictions, that are expected to result in a decline in demand for the tobacco products. As part of the consideration for settling the claims, the MSA obligates the parties to the agreement to address these economic concerns of the tobacco growers and tobacco quota holders.

To meet this requirement, the parties have agreed to establish a trust called the National Tobacco Grower Settlement Trust. The manufacturers have agreed to pay up to $5.15 billion over the next 12 years into the trust. Proceeds from the trust will be allocated directly to tobacco growers and tobacco allotment holders based on a state plan developed by a nonprofit corporation composed of government leaders and public members. The funds will not be paid to the state for disbursement. The Superior Court of Wake County must approve the trust and the payments made under it. A banking entity will serve as the trustee.

The trust is designed to be a qualified settlement fund under the Internal Revenue Code. As such, it is taxable as a corporate taxpayer at the rate of a trust. The primary benefit of being a qualified settlement fund is that the manufacturers who contribute the principal to the fund may claim a tax deduction on the contributions when they are paid into the fund. If it is determined that the trust does not meet the requirements of a qualified settlement fund, its taxation does not change because contributions to a trust are not included in its gross income. However, the manufacturers would not be able to claim a deduction on their contributions until the money is distributed to the growers and quota holders.

For federal and state tax purposes, the contributions to the trust are tax exempt. To calculate North Carolina taxable income for both corporations and trusts, one begins with federal taxable income. Since the contributions are not included in income for federal tax purposes, they are not included in income for State tax purposes. However, the interest, investment earnings, and gains, of both a qualified settlement fund and a trust are taxable for federal and State purposes. Some states exempt qualified settlement funds from state income tax. To maximize the amount of funds distributed to those who suffer economic loss because of the Master Settlement Agreement, it is desirable to locate the settlement fund in a state that does not tax it. Because of the State's role in producing the economic loss, and the desire to have the settlement fund be located in North Carolina, this bill exempts the interest, investment earnings, and gains of the settlement fund from State income tax.

BIL ANALYSIS:

SECTION 1: APPOINTMENT OF MEMBERS TO CERTIFICATION ENTITY/IMMUNITY OF BOARD MEMEBERS

Section 1 authorizes the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate President Pro Tempore, and the Governor to make appointments to the Phase II certification board. It also provides limited immunity from liability for the officials serving on the Phase II certification board while performing their duties on behalf of the board. This is the board that will determine how the Phase II funds are to be distributed to North Carolina tobacco farmers and allotment holders. Immunity is not provided for intentional wrongdoing, willful or wanton misconduct, or motor vehicle accidents. (The board will be a private board, not a State agency, and its members would not be covered by the liability insurance coverage the State obtains for its officers and employees).

SECTIONS 2 AND 3: EXEMPT INTEREST, INVESTMENT EARNINGS, AND GAINS OF THE TOBACCO GROWERS SETTLEMENT TRUST

Section 2 of the bill provides a corporate tax deduction from federal taxable income on the interest, investment earnings, and gains earned on funds in a qualified settlement fund that meets the following conditions:

1. The settlors of the fund are two or more manufacturers that signed a settlement agreement with North Carolina to settle existing and potential claims of the State against the manufacturers for damages attributable to a product of the manufacturers.

2. The purpose of the fund is to address potential adverse economic consequences resulting from a decline in demand of the manufactured product expected to occur because of market restrictions and other provisions in the settlement agreement.
3. A court of North Carolina approves and retains jurisdiction over the fund.
4. Certain portions of the distributions from the fund are made in accordance with certifications that meet the criteria in the settlement agreement and are provided by a nonprofit entity, the governing board of which includes State officials.

Section 3 of the bill provides a similar tax deduction for trusts. The provision is put in both the corporate and trust tax laws in case it is determined that the trust does not meet the requirements of a qualified settlement fund.

SECTION 4: INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR MANUFACTURING CIGARETTES FOR EXPORTATION

Section 4 of this bill would allow a corporate income tax credit for tobacco manufacturers who export cigarettes to foreign countries, effective beginning with the 1999 taxable year, and sunset effective January 1, 2005. The credit is a dollar amount per cigarette exported for those manufacturers who export at least 50% as many cigarettes in the taxable year as they did in calendar year 1998. The dollar amount ranges from 40¢ to 20¢ per 1,000 cigarettes exported. The credit is capped at $6,000,000 per year or 50% of the manufacturer's corporate tax liability for any given year.

SECTIONS 5 – 8 : UNLAWFUL TO SELL IN NORTH CAROLINA CIGARETTES MANUFACTURED FOR EXPORT

Section 5 of the bill prohibits the sale in North Carolina of the following cigarettes:

- Those whose package differs from the labeling requirements of federal law, is labeled "For Export Only", or violates federal trademark or copyright law.
- Those whose import into the United States is prohibited by federal law.

A violation of this law is a Class 1 misdemeanor and an unfair trade practice. A package of cigarettes that violates this law is considered contraband and may be seized by a law enforcement officer. Sections 6 and 8 authorize the Secretary of Revenue to cancel the license or the certificate of registration, whichever is applicable, of a person who violates this law. Section 7 repeals a statute included in Section 6.

ANALYSIS OF HB 1069

Definitions. HB 1069 clarifies that the practice of clinical social work and social work includes treatment by whatever means of communication, and clarifies that the practice of social work includes performing services by whatever means of communication.

Production of Records Concerning the Practice of Social Work. The bill adds a new subsection (i) to allow the Board to order the production of records concerning the practice of social work that are relevant to a complaint, inquiry, or investigation.

Fees. This section lists all fees that may be charged by the Board, as outlined above. This section of the bill also:

- Authorizes the Board to establish a graduated fee schedule for renewals that is based upon the applicant's level of certification or licensure. Fees may not exceed the maximum set by statute.
- Authorizes the Board to establish fees for the actual cost of duplication services, materials, and returned bank items.
- Provides that all fees derived from services provided by the Board are nonrefundable and requires the Board to maintain accounts of all receipts.

Qualifications for Certified Social Workers. Current law provides that an applicant is qualified to be a Certified Social Worker if the applicant:

- Has a bachelor's degree in a social work program that is accredited or admitted to candidacy for accreditation by the Council on Social Work Education for undergraduate curricula; OR
- Has a bachelor's degree in a subject area related to human services and has completed a minimum of 18 semester hours of social work training in an accredited social work program.

House Bill 1069 allows only those applicants who have a bachelor's degree in social work from an accredited college or university to become a Certified Social Worker.

Reciprocity. Current law permits the Board to grant a certificate to an applicant who is certified, registered, or licensed as a social worker in another country, state, or territory if the standards under which the person was certified, registered, or licensed are substantially the same as required by NC law.

House Bill 1069 adds the requirement that the applicant must have passed an exam in the country, state, or territory where the applicant is certified, registered, or licensed that is equivalent to the exam required for the level or certification or licensure in NC.

Temporary Licenses. This section of the bill authorizes the Board to issue a temporary license to a nonresident clinical social worker who is certified, registered, or licensed in another jurisdiction provided that the standards for certification, registration, or licensure were substantially the same as or higher than those in NC. However, a nonresident clinical social worker who is certified, registered, or licensed in another state will not be prohibited from rendering professional services in NC for a period of not more than 5 days in a calendar year. Finally, this section ensures that individuals granted a temporary license must comply with the supervision requirements of the Board.

Renewal/Suspension of Certificate or License for Failure to Renew. Current law provides that all certificates and licenses expire on the second June 30 after issuance. This section of the bill automatically suspends a certificate or license for failure to renew for a period of more than 60 days after the renewal date. The Board may reinstate the certificate or license upon payment of the reinstatement fee and may require the applicant to provide further information.

Inactive Status. This section clarifies that an individual who is certified or licensed who temporarily retires from the practice of social work is not required to pay renewal fees while temporarily retired. In order to reinstate a certificate or license, the individual must make a request for reinstatement and pay the reinstatement fee.

Disciplinary Procedures. This section authorizes the Board to deny, suspend, or revoke a certificate or license if an individual enters a plea of guilty or no contest to a misdemeanor or felony. (Currently, the individual must be convicted of the misdemeanor or felony.)

Alternatives to Denying, Suspending, or Revoking a Certificate or License. This section authorizes the Board to take one or more of the following actions if an individual has committed a prohibited act in G.S. 90B-11(a):

1. Issue a reprimand or censure.
2. Order probation with conditions deemed appropriate by the Board.
3. Require examination, remediation, or rehabilitation, including care, counseling, or treatment by a professional with the cost borne by the individual.
4. Require supervision by a certified or licensed social worker with the cost borne by the individual.
5. Limit the practice of social work provided by the individual with respect to the extent, nature, or location of the services provided.

These alternative disciplinary procedures are substantially the same as those in the Psychology Practice Act.

Probation/Restrictions After Suspension. This section authorizes the Board to impose conditions of probation or restrictions on practice after a period of suspension or as a requirement for the restoration of a revoked or suspended certificate or license. It also allows the Board to enter into a consent order with an individual instead of or in connection with a disciplinary proceeding or investigation. The consent order may be relative to a discipline supervision, probation, remediation, rehabilitation, or practice limitation. These provisions are substantially the same as those in the Psychology Practice Act.

Competence to Practice Social Work. This section authorizes the Board to require an applicant, certificate holder, or licensee to submit to a mental or physical examination when the Board is considering whether the individual is mentally or physically capable of practicing social work with reasonable skill or safety. This section does not require the Board to petition the court to order the individual to undergo the examination(s). These provisions are substantially the same as those in the Medical Practice Act.

Opportunity for Hearing. This section requires the Board to provide the opportunity for a hearing to an individual whose certificate or license has been subjected to disciplinary action, or prior to any disciplinary action. It also provides that if an individual waives the opportunity for a hearing, the Board's disciplinary action is final. Finally, there is no entitlement to a hearing for failure to pass an exam. This section is substantially the same as the Psychology Practice Act.

Records. This section allows the Board to withhold the identity of any client who has not consented to public disclosure in Board proceedings against an applicant, certificate holder, or licensee. The Board would also be authorized to close hearings to the public if necessary to protect the rights of a client. Furthermore, documents containing information complied by on or behalf of the Board as a result of an investigation, inquiry, or interview conducted in connection with certification, licensure, or a disciplinary matter are not considered public records. However, notices, statements of charges, notices of hearing, decisions rendered in connection with a hearing, and all other information compiled by or on behalf of the Board, except for information identifying a client who has not consented to public disclosure, are public records. These requirements are substantially the same as those in the Psychology Practice Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Certification Board for Social Workers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation makes several changes to the fee schedule and clarifies disciplinary procedures for social workers. It reclassifies certified clinical social workers as licensed clinical social workers. It also modifies the existing social work licensure fee schedule, and introduces new fees.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The North Carolina certification program for social workers, and the associated fees, was established in 1982. The fees have not changed since that time. In 1993 certification became mandatory for clinical social workers. Previously certification was voluntary. According to Board members, this change dramatically increased the workload of the Board. In 1996-97 the Board provided 570 clinical social work renewal certifications (CCSW). In the following fiscal year the Board offered 1630 clinical social work renewal certifications. These certifications, as well as all other certifications offered by the board, must be renewed every two years. The board charges the maximum fee of $50.00. Previous renewal revenue for clinical social workers is as follows:

Year	Clinical Social Worker Cert.	Revenue
1996-97	576	28,800
1997-98	1639	81,950

Based on the last four fiscal years, the Board believes 10% is a reasonable growth rate for the number of clinical social workers over the next five fiscal years. The legislation authorizes the Board to increase the fee to a maximum of $200.00 for this group. However, they anticipate moving gradually to that level. They expect to charge approximately $100.00 for clinical renewals in FY 1999-00, and $125.00 in FY 00-01. No Board decision has been made about fees in the out years. Assuming the board charges $100.00 in FY 1999-00, $125.00 in FY 2000-01, and the maximum of $200 in future years, the expected revenue from clinical renewals is as follows:

Year	Clinical Social Worker Cert.	Revenue @ $50	New Revenue Levels	Change
1999-00	1803	90,145	180,290	90,145
2000-01	697	34,848	87,120	52,272
2001-02	1983	99,160	396,638	297,479
2002-03	767	38,333	153,331	114,998
2003-04	2182	109,075	436,302	327,226

(Note: These estimates, and the historical figures, assume both the clinical and provisional clinical social work certifications are raised to the levels indicated above).

The Board also certifies several other related types of social work professionals like social work managers and clinical workers with Masters' degrees. The bill also authorizes an increase in these fees. These certifications must also be renewed every two years. The board currently charges approximately $50.00 for each of these certifications. The Board anticipates increasing these fees to between $55 and $100 in FY 1999-00, and between $60 and $125 in FY 2000-01. In 1996-97 there were 177 individuals in these categories combined. In 1997-98 that number increased to 310. The board anticipates there will be 245 individuals in these categories in FY 1999-00, and 243 in FY 2000-01. The number of each type of certificate, the anticipated fee, and the associated revenue increase, is as follows:

	FY 1999-00				FY 2000-01
	Certif.	New Fee	Revenue	Increase	Certif.	New Fee	Revenue	Increase
Social Work Managers	28	100	$ 2,800	1,400	23	125	$ 2,875	1,725
Master Social Work	83	65	$ 5,395	1,245	79	75	$ 5,925	1,975
Social Worker	134	55	$ 7,370	670	141	60	$ 8,460	1,410
TOTAL	245	220	15565	3,315	243	260	17260	5,110

Fiscal Research assumes these numbers will increase by 10% in the out years. (Because of the cyclical nature of certification the increase is staggered). The five-year revenue estimate for this portion of the bill is as follows:

	Revenue Increase
FY 1999-00	3,315
FY 2000-01	5,110
FY 2001-02	3,647
FY 2002-03	5,621
FY 2003-04	4,011

The bill also authorizes a fee increase for initial applications. Currently the board charges $50.00. Under the legislation the board can increase the fee to as much as $200.00. The Board believes they will charge $100 for the first two years. Last year the board drew approximately $28,125 from initial application fees. If the fee were increased to $100, the Board would see an additional $28,125 in annual revenue. If the board charges the maximum in the out years they would see an increase of approximately $85,000 annually.

The legislation also lowers the administrative fee associated with the national written exam. Under current law the board charges $50.00 plus the actual cost of the test instrument. The bill lowers that amount to $40.00, plus test cost. The Board believes this reduction more accurately reflects the actual administrative expense. In 1997-98, 241 individuals paid an examination fee. No significant change is expected in the number of tests given. Therefore, the board will loose approximately $2,410 as a result of this provision.

The bill establishes a $25.00 fee for temporary and duplicate licenses and certificates, and a $200.00 fee for reinstatement. The Board expects the revenue from these changes to be insignificant, but feels such provisions are necessary to clarify the law. This fiscal note assumes $1,000 in revenue from these provisions.

According to Board members, the revenue from increased fees will be used to establish an office with a professionally trained director and support staff. They note that full time staff is needed to provide professional training and support for social workers and appropriate record keeping. They believe the renewal fees in the bill are in line with those charged by similar professional boards in North Carolina.

The total net change in revenue as a result of the bill is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02*	2002-03*	2003-04*
CCSW Renewals	90,145	52,272	297,479	114,998	327,226
Other Renewals	3,315	5,110	3,647	5,621	4,011
Initial Applications	28,125	28,125	85,000	85,000	85,000
Exams	(2,410)	(2,410)	(2,410)	(2,410)	(2,410)
Other Provisions	1,000	1,000	1,000	1,000	1,000
TOTAL	120,175	84,097	384,715	204,209	414,828

* Because the Board has yet to determine the fee levels for FY 2001-02 and later years, the note assumes they charge the maximum allowed in the out years.

NOTE: While certification is required for all clinical social workers, this requirement was temporarily waived for government employees. The waiver expired on January 1, 1999. As a result, some of the renewal costs may be transferred to county governments that pay for their employees' certification. However, Board representatives believe this number will be small. Neither the Board nor Fiscal Research is aware of any state payment for employee certification. If the state does not pay for its employees' certification renewals, there is no general fund impact.

Section 2. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"ARTICLE 3B.

"Business ~~Tax Credit.~~ and Energy Tax Credits.

"§ 105-129.15. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Business property. -- Tangible personal property that is used by the taxpayer in connection with a business or for the production of income and is capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code. The term does not include, however, a luxury passenger automobile taxable under section 4001 of the Code or a watercraft used principally for entertainment and pleasure outings for which no admission is charged.

(2) Cost. -- In the case of property owned by the taxpayer, cost is determined pursuant to regulations adopted under section 1012 of the Code, subject to the limitation on cost provided in section 179 of the Code. In the case of property the taxpayer leases from another, cost is value as determined pursuant to G.S. 105-130.4(j)(2).

~~(3) Purchase. -- Defined in section 179 of the Code.~~

(3) Hydroelectric generator. -- A machine that produces electricity by water power or by the friction of water or steam.

(4) Purchase. -- Defined in section 179 of the Code.

(5) Renewable biomass resources. -- Organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, aquatic crops, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.

(6) Renewable energy property. -- Any of the following machinery and equipment or real property:

a. Biomass equipment that uses renewable biomass resources for biofuel production of ethanol, methanol, and biodiesel; anaerobic biogas production of methane utilizing agricultural and animal waste or garbage; or commercial thermal or electrical generation from renewable energy crops or wood waste materials. The term also includes related devices for converting, conditioning, and storing the liquid fuels, gas, and electricity produced with biomass equipment.

b. Hydroelectric generators located at existing dams or in free-flowing waterways, and related devices for water supply and control, and converting, conditioning, and storing the electricity generated.

c. Solar energy equipment that uses solar radiation as a substitute for traditional energy for water heating, active space heating and cooling, passive heating, daylighting, generating electricity, distillation, desalination, detoxification, or the production of industrial or commercial process heat. The term also includes related devices necessary for collecting, storing, exchanging, conditioning, or converting solar energy to other useful forms of energy.

d. Wind equipment required to capture and convert wind energy into electricity or mechanical power, and related devices for converting, conditioning, and storing the electricity produced.

"§ 105-129.16. Credit for investing in business property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased business property places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to four and one-half percent (4.5%) of the cost of the property. The maximum credit allowed a taxpayer for property placed in service during a taxable year is four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500). The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service.

(b) Expiration. -- If, in one of the five years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the business property with respect to which the credit was claimed is disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(c) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims the credit allowed under Article 3A of this Chapter with respect to business property may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same property. A taxpayer may not take the credit allowed in this section for business property the taxpayer leases from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not capitalize the property for tax purposes under the Code and the lessor will not claim the credit allowed in this section with respect to the property.

"§ 105-129.16A. Credit for investing in renewable energy property.

(a) Credit. -- If a taxpayer that has constructed, purchased, or leased renewable energy property places it in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to thirty-five percent (35%) of the cost of the property. In the case of renewable energy property that serves a single-family dwelling, the credit must be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. For all other renewable energy property, the entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service.

(b) Expiration. -- If, in one of the years in which the installment of a credit accrues, the renewable energy property with respect to which the credit was claimed is disposed of, taken out of service, or moved out of State, the credit expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17. No credit is allowed under this section to the extent the cost of the renewable energy property was provided by public funds.

(c) Ceilings. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the applicable ceilings provided in this subsection.

(1) Nonresidential Property. -- A ceiling of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per installation applies to renewable energy property placed in service for any purpose other than residential.

(2) Residential Property. -- The following ceilings apply to renewable energy property placed in service for residential purposes:

a. One thousand four hundred dollars ($1,400) per dwelling unit for solar energy equipment for domestic water heating.

b. Three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) per dwelling unit for solar energy equipment for active space heating, combined active space and domestic hot water systems, and passive space heating.

c. Ten thousand five hundred dollars ($10,500) per installation for any other renewable energy property for residential purposes.

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to renewable energy property may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same property. A taxpayer may not take the credit allowed in this section for renewable energy property the taxpayer leases from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not claim a credit under this Chapter with respect to the property.

"§ 105-129.17. Tax election; cap.

(a) Tax Election. -- The ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article ~~is~~ are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter or the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. The taxpayer must elect the tax against which the credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of ~~the~~ a credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(b) Cap. -- ~~The~~ A credit allowed in this Article may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowed against that tax, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this Article against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

"§ 105-129.18. Substantiation.

To claim ~~the~~ a credit allowed by this Article, the taxpayer must provide any information required by the Secretary of Revenue. Every taxpayer claiming a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection by the Secretary of Revenue any records the Secretary considers necessary to determine and verify the amount of the credit to which the taxpayer is entitled. The burden of proving eligibility for ~~the~~ a credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer, and no credit may be allowed to a taxpayer that fails to maintain adequate records or to make them available for inspection.

"§ 105-129.19. Reports.

The Department of Revenue shall report to the Legislative Research Commission and to the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of taxpayers that claimed the ~~credit~~ credits allowed in this Article.

(2) The cost of business property and renewable energy property with respect to which credits were claimed.

(3) The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed."

Section 3. This act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person arising under a statute repealed by this act before the effective date of its repeal, nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that accrued under the repealed statute before the effective date of its repeal.

Section 4. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 1472:
Simplify Renewable Energy Credits

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hackney
Date:	July 2, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1472 repeals 8 corporate and individual income energy tax credits and replaces them with a tax credit for investing in renewable energy property. The credit is equal to 35% of the cost of the property. In the case of renewable energy property that serves a single-family dwelling, the credit must be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. For all other renewable energy property, the credit must be taken in five equal installments, beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. The credit has different caps, depending on the type of property. The bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in House Finance and deletes the whereas language in the original bill.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly enacted several individual and corporate income tax credits in the 1980s to encourage the use of energy saving devices:

- Solar energy equipment.
- Conversion of industrial boilers to wood fuel.
- Peat facility.
- Olivine brick facility.
- Methane gas facility.
- Wind energy device.
- Solar energy equipment for the production of heat or electricity.
- Hydroelectric generator.

Of these credits, there is no evidence that the ones for peat, wind energy, olivine bricks, and methane have ever been used. The amount of the credit, the credit ceiling, and the credit carry-forward differ for each credit. (See the attached chart)

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1472 repeals the 8 energy tax credits listed above and replaces them with an energy tax credit that may be claimed against the franchise tax or the individual or corporate income tax. The bill provides a tax credit for investing in renewable energy property that the taxpayer places in service in this State during the taxable year. Renewable energy property is defined as any of the following machinery and equipment or real property:

- Biomass equipment that uses renewable biomass resources for biofuel production of ethanol, methanol, and biodiesel. Renewable biomass resources are organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.
- Hydroelectric generators.
- Solar energy equipment.
- Wind equipment.

The amount of the credit is 35% of the cost of the property placed in service. In the case of renewable energy property that serves a single-family dwelling, the credit must be taken for the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. For all other renewable energy property, the credit must be taken in five equal installments, beginning with the taxable year in which the property is placed in service. The credit may not exceed the following amounts:

Type of Property	Ceiling Amount
Nonresidential Property	$250,000 per installation
Residential Property – Solar energy equipment for domestic water heating	$1,400 per dwelling unit
Residential Property – Solar energy equipment for active space heating, combined active space and domestic hot water systems, and passive space heating	$3,500 per dwelling unit
Residential Property – All other renewable energy property for residential purposes	$10,000 per installation

The credit is patterned after the business tax credit. Like the business tax credit, the energy tax credit created in this bill has the following limitations and conditions:

- The energy tax credit may not exceed 50% of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.
- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed with respect to renewable energy property may not take this energy tax credit with respect to the same property.
- A taxpayer may not take this energy tax credit if the taxpayer leases the property from another unless the taxpayer obtains the lessor's written certification that the lessor will not claim a credit with respect to this property.
- The Department of Revenue must report each year on the number of taxpayers claiming the credits, the cost of the property for which the credits were claimed, and the total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed.
- The Article allowing the business tax credit and, consequently the energy tax credit, is repealed effective January 1, 2002.

Cindy Avrette, counsel to the House Finance Committee, contributed substantially to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill repeals a number of energy related corporate and individual income tax credits and creates a new income tax credit for investing in renewable energy property. The credit is equal to 35% of the cost of the property and must be taken over 5 years in equal installments (one year if residential). The credit has a maximum of $250,000 for nonresidential and $10,500 for residential. The credit cannot be taken if any other renewable energy credit is taken on the project.

BACKGROUND:

The following credits are repealed by this act:

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

The elimination of the credits for peat, wind energy, olivine bricks, and methane will have no fiscal impact on the General Fund. Based on Department of Revenue data from the 1980's and on interviews with the Energy Division in the Department of Commerce, the tax credits for peat, wind energy, olivine bricks, and methane have never been used. The Department of Revenue reported zero use of these credits from 1981 to 1987. (Unfortunately, the Department of Revenue has not tracked these energy credits since 1987.) The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) reported in 1995 that no electricity was purchased by North Carolina utilities from nonutility facilities using geothermal, wind, solar, or non-wood biomass sources. DOE did report electricity purchases from conventional hydroelectric, wood/wood waste, and municipal waste facilities.

The fiscal impact for the new renewable energy tax credit cannot be estimated. The energy credits that have been most commonly used in North Carolina are for solar energy and for conversion of industrial boilers to wood fuel. Hydroelectric power is prevalent in the state, but it is not known whether these companies have taken the existing state tax credit for hydroelectric generators. The North Carolina Solar Energy Association estimates that 50 to 100 residential solar tax credits are taken each year, but the Department of Revenue has no data to confirm this estimate. Solar advocates believe the number of solar credits will increase due to the Million Solar Roofs Initiative that DOE began in 1997 to install a million solar energy systems on one million U.S. buildings by the year 2010. However, it is uncertain how effective this initiative will be since it did not come with federal tax credits that previously accompanied energy legislation in the late 1970's and early 1980's. North Carolina taxpayers used $224,004 in tax credits solar hot water heating in FY 1982-83 when a federal tax credit was available. After the federal tax credit ended in 1985, no taxpayer applied for a state residential solar credit in FY 1987-88. At a minimum, if the current trend of 50 to 100 residential solar projects each year continues, the cost of the program could increase approximately $100,000 to $200,000 because the maximum credit amount per dwelling increases from $1500 to $3500 under this bill.

It is also uncertain whether industrial and nonresidential users will take advantage of the new energy tax credit given that the price per kilowatt hour of electricity produced by alternative energy sources far exceeds the price of electricity produced by conventional sources. In a July 1998 report to the Legislative Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina, the Research Triangle Institute reported the average price per kilowatt hour in North Carolina for commercial customers was 6.45 cents and for industrial customers was 4.79 cents. On the other hand, DOE reported in "Renewable Energy 1998:Issues and Trends" that in 1995 U.S. electric utilities paid the following prices for electricity generated by alternative sources:

Solar	15.80 cents per kilowatt hour
Biomass other than wood	12.31 cents per kilowatt hour
Geothermal	11.77 cents per kilowatt hour
Wind	11.64 cents per kilowatt hour
Wood/ Wood Waste	9.67 cents per kilowatt hour

In addition to price considerations, some companies may have less corporate income tax liability against which to take a tax credit. The North Carolina corporate income tax rate has been reduced from 7.75% to 6.9 % in the last four years. In addition, many companies have reduced their tax liability by taking advantage of income tax credits provided by the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act.

Information Sheet on

H 1472 - An act to Simplify and Modernize Tax Credits for Investing in Renewable Energy Sources

Renewable energy support is popular in NC and in the NC Legislature.

The October 1998 NC Poll done by the UNC School of Journalism shows overwhelming support and willingness to pay for clean, renewable energy. H 1472 passed the North Carolina House 110 - 0 and is now before the Senate for consideration.

Why is H 1472 necessary?

H 1472 replaces 14 existing, outdated renewable energy tax credit laws and reduces them to an easily understood and administered revision of existing Statute 105-129, the Business Tax Credit. The 14 original laws, enacted in the 1980's and early 1990's, no longer reflect either current costs or existing technologies (such as newer technologies for high temperature solar which is being developed in North Carolina or photovoltaic - PV- electricity). H 1472 will eliminate existing discrimination by using the same percentage credit for all technologies while providing appropriate credit limits according to each technology's cost.

Why are renewable tax credits necessary?

The renewable energy technologies - biomass, small hydro, solar and wind - are North Carolina's only indigenous energy resources. Developing these renewable energy resources creates benefits of a cleaner, healthier environment and will create high quality jobs and businesses in North Carolina. Renewable energy has low or no fuel cost, very low or no emissions and often high up front investment costs. For the purchaser, there is a trade off of high initial cost for low or no future fuel cost and clean energy. To get private investments to capture the benefits of these technologies, North Carolina needs to help reduce the initial cost. Competing sources of energy, particularly nuclear and fossil fuels, enjoy numerous government subsidies from extensive R&D funding, accelerated depreciation, depletion allowances and the passing on of pollution costs to individuals and the general public.

How much will it cost?

The cost of the existing renewable energy tax credits has not been tracked by the Department of Revenue. The North Carolina Solar Energy Association believes that only credits for the installation of residential solar hot water and the construction of passive solar buildings have been used in recent years. The commercial and industrial credit has rarely, if ever, been used to our knowledge. Combining fairness to the North Carolina Treasury and increasing renewable energy use, H 1472 proposes to lower some existing credits (residential solar) and raise others (biomass, hydro and wind) and give some new technologies, such as photovoltaic electricity (PV) and animal waste digesters, an incentive. New limits are included such as a 5 year installment and a 50% tax reduction limit on the commercial / industrial credit. (See estimate of the Finance Committee Staff.)

Who will benefit from revised renewable energy tax credits?

1) The public and the environment from clean energy production and increased energy efficiency. Smog, and acid rain causing emissions are mostly eliminated by renewables.

2) Tax payers will get an incentive for installing clean, renewable energy equipment.

3) Non profit organizations would gain incentives not currently available to them.

4) North Carolina electrical and plumbing contractors are entering a new line of business, the installation and maintenance of renewable energy equipment. New high tech industries will be created or recruited to North Carolina to satisfy the demand for equipment .

5) Because of the North Carolina Solar Center and the North Carolina Solar Energy Association, North Carolina is already one of handful of states leading in solar energy. This legislation will extend our leadership position to include all renewable energy technologies.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MODIFY THE INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN RENEWABLE ENERGY EQUIPMENT AND TO SUNSET THE CREDIT FOR COSTS INCURRED DURING TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING ON OR AFTER JANUARY 1, 2002.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-130.28 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-130.28. Credit against corporate income tax for construction of a ~~photovoltaic~~ renewable energy equipment facility.

(a) ~~Any~~ Credit. -- A corporation that constructs in North Carolina a facility for the ~~production of photovoltaic~~ manufacture of renewable energy equipment is allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this Part equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. The entire credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the costs are paid but must be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the costs are paid.

No credit is allowed, however, to the extent that any of the costs of the equipment were provided by federal, State, or local grants. To secure the credit allowed by this section, the taxpayer must own or control the facility at the time of construction. ~~The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer.~~

(b) ~~As used in this section, "photovoltaic equipment" means those products designed, manufactured, and produced to convert sunlight directly into electricity.~~ Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Biomass equipment. -- Products designed to use renewable biomass resources for biofuel production of ethanol, methanol, and biodiesel; anaerobic biogas production of methane utilizing agricultural and animal waste or garbage; or commercial thermal or electrical generation from renewable energy crops or wood waste materials. The term also includes related devices for converting, conditioning, and storing the liquid fuels, gas, and electricity produced with biomass equipment.

(2) Renewable biomass resources. -- Organic matter produced by terrestrial and aquatic plants and animals, such as standing vegetation, aquatic crops, forestry and agricultural residues, landfill wastes, and animal wastes.

(3) Renewable energy equipment. -- Biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment.

(4) Solar electric or thermal equipment. -- Products designed to convert sunlight into electricity or heat.

(5) Wind energy equipment. -- Products designed to capture and convert wind energy into electricity or mechanical power.

(c) Carryforward. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 10 years. ~~The amount of credit allowed under this section may be carried over for the next succeeding five years.~~

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to construction of a facility for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same facility."

Section 2. G.S. 105-130.28, as amended by this act, is repealed effective for costs incurred during taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

Section 3. This act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person arising under the statute repealed by this act before the effective date of its repeal, nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that accrued under the repealed statute before the effective date of its repeal.

Section 4. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

HOUSE BILL 1473:
Renewable Energy Manufacturers Credit

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Hackney
Date:	July 2, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston Committee Counsel
Version:	2nd Edition

SUMMARY: House Bill 1473 expands the current corporate tax credit for a corporation that constructs a facility for the production of photovoltaic equipment to include the construction of other types of renewable energy equipment. The bill provides that the credit must be taken in five equal installments and extends the carry forward from 5 years to 10 years. The current version of the bill, which was given a favorable report in House Finance, removes the whereas clauses in the original bill and sunsets the credit for costs incurred during taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002. The bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

CURRENT LAW: A corporation that constructs a facility for the production of photovoltaic equipment is allowed a credit equal to 25% of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. The amount of the credit may not exceed the amount of tax owed; any unused credit may be carried forward for five years. Photovoltaic equipment means products designed, manufactured, and produced to convert sunlight directly into electricity. The credit is not allowed to the extent that federal, State, or local grants provide any of the costs of the equipment. To secure the credit, the taxpayer must own or control the facility at the time of construction.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1473 would allow a corporation that constructed a facility in North Carolina for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment to receive a corporate income tax credit equal to 25% of the installation and equipment costs of construction paid during the taxable year. Renewable energy equipment is defined by the bill as biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment. This broad definition encompasses the current definition of photovoltaic equipment. The credit allowed under this bill differs from the current credit in the following ways:

- The credit could not be taken for the taxable year in which the costs are paid, but would be taken in five equal installments beginning with the taxable year in which the costs are paid.
- Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for 10 years instead of 5 years.
- A taxpayer that claims any other credit with respect to the construction of a facility to manufacture renewable energy equipment may not take this credit with respect to the same facility.

Cindy Avrette, committee counsel to House Finance, contributed substantially to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY:
HB 1473 replaces the corporate tax credit for constructing a photovoltaic (PV) equipment facility with a corporate tax credit for constructing a renewable energy equipment facility. The tax credit is taken in five equal installments over five years. Unused tax credits have a 10 year carryforward. No taxpayer may receive more than one tax credit for this type of facility.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
The current corporate income tax credit for constructing photovoltaic manufacturing facilities has not been used since it was created in 1981. The Department of Revenue reported no usage of the credit from 1981 to 1987. After 1987, no separate accounting was done for each energy credit. Officials with the North Carolina Solar Center and the North Carolina Solar Energy Association do not recall this credit ever being used. These solar energy advocates believe the existing law's 5-year carry forward period is too short for new companies to show a profit and benefit from the tax incentive. The credit in HB 1473 lengthens the carry forward period from 5 to 10 years and expands credit eligibility to include biomass and wind energy equipment.

This fiscal note cannot predict the number of firms that will apply for this revised corporate tax credit nor the amount of credit to be requested. However, if only one firm applies for the credit, there will be a General Fund revenue loss due to the absence of applicants for the current tax credit program. The Chief of the Renewable Energy Branch of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) believes North Carolina is a good candidate for a small photovoltaic (PV) company using specialized technology and for a biomass equipment company working with the wood products industry. An example of a small PV company is Atlantis Energy, which built a $1.5 million plant in Cape Charles Virginia in 1995 to produce custom designed PV modules. A biomass equipment plant might be attracted to the North Carolina wood products industry that produced 1,730 million kilowatt hours of energy from wood and wood waste in 1995. (DOE/Energy Information Administration)

The Chief of the DOE Renewable Energy Branch believes that manufacturers of photovoltaic (PV) and biomass equipment will expand production capacity over the next five years. The Million Solar Roofs Initiative that DOE began in 1997 aims to install a million solar energy systems on one million U.S. buildings by the year 2010. Since 64% of the shipments from the nation's 24 manufacturers of PV cells and modules (DOE 1995 estimate) are exported, an increase in domestic demand should prompt an expansion of PV plant capacity.

"Section 3. G.S. 105-116.1 reads as rewritten:
'§ 105-116.1. Distribution of gross receipts taxes to cities.
(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:
(1) Freeze deduction. -- The amount by which the percentage distribution amount of a city was required to be reduced in fiscal year 1995-96 in determining the amount to distribute to the city.
(2) Percentage distribution amount. -- Three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of the gross receipts derived by an electric power company and a telephone company from sales within a city that are taxable under G.S. 105-116 or G.S. 105-120.
(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the taxes collected under this Article on electric power companies and telephone companies. Each city's share for a calendar quarter is the percentage distribution amount for that city for that quarter minus one-fourth of the city's hold-back amount and one-fourth of the city's proportionate share of the annual cost to the Department of administering the distribution. The Secretary must make the distribution within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter.

(c) Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year but at least sixty percent (60%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1995-96 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(2) Compare the adjusted 1995-96 amount with the city's 1990-91 distribution.

(3) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is less than or equal to the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is zero.

(4) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is more than the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is the city's freeze deduction minus the difference between the city's 1990-91 distribution and the city's 1995-96 distribution.

(c1) Additional Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than sixty percent (60%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1998-99 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(d) Allocation of Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(3) Renewable energy equipment. -- Biomass equipment, solar electric or thermal equipment, and wind energy equipment.

(4) Solar electric or thermal equipment. -- Products designed to convert sunlight into electricity or heat.

(5) Wind energy equipment. -- Products designed to capture and convert wind energy into electricity or mechanical power.

(c) Carryforward. -- The credit allowed by this section may not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this Part for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except payments of tax made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 10 years. ~~The amount of credit allowed under this section may be carried over for the next succeeding five years.~~

(d) No Double Credit. -- A taxpayer that claims any other credit allowed under this Chapter with respect to construction of a facility for the manufacture of renewable energy equipment may not take the credit allowed in this section with respect to the same facility."

Section 2. G.S. 105-130.28, as amended by this act, is repealed effective for costs incurred during taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

Section 3. G.S. 105-116.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-116.1. Distribution of gross receipts taxes to cities.

(a) Definitions. -- The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Freeze deduction. -- The amount by which the percentage distribution amount of a city was required to be reduced in fiscal year 1995-96 in determining the amount to distribute to the city.

(2) Percentage distribution amount. -- Three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of the gross receipts derived by an electric power company and a telephone company from sales within a city that are taxable under G.S. 105-116 or G.S. 105-120.

(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the taxes collected under this Article on electric power companies and telephone companies. Each city's share for a calendar quarter is the percentage distribution amount for that city for that quarter minus one-fourth of the city's hold-back amount and one-fourth of the city's proportionate share of the annual cost to the Department of administering the distribution. The Secretary must make the distribution within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter.

(c) Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year but at least sixty percent (60%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1995-96 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(2) Compare the adjusted 1995-96 amount with the city's 1990-91 distribution.

(3) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is less than or equal to the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is zero.

(4) If the adjusted 1995-96 amount is more than the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is the city's freeze deduction minus the difference between the city's 1990-91 distribution and the city's 1995-96 distribution.

(c1) Additional Limited Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes less than sixty percent (60%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Adjust the city's 1998-99 distribution by adding the city's freeze deduction to the amount distributed to the city for that year.

(2) Compare the adjusted 1998-99 amount with the city's 1990-91 distribution.

(3) If the adjusted 1998-99 amount is less than or equal to the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is zero.

(4) If the adjusted 1998-99 amount is more than the city's 1990-91 distribution, the hold-back amount for the city is the city's freeze deduction minus the difference between the city's 1990-91 distribution and the city's 1998-99 distribution.

(d) Allocation of Hold-Harmless Adjustment. -- The hold-back amount for a city that, in the 1995-96 fiscal year, received from gross receipts taxes at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the amount it received in the 1990-91 fiscal year is the amount determined by the following calculation:

(1) Determine the amount by which the freeze deduction is reduced for all cities whose hold-back amount is determined under ~~subsection (c)~~ subsections (c) and (c1) of this section. This amount is the total hold-harmless adjustment.

(2) Determine the amount of gross receipts taxes that would be distributed for the quarter to cities whose hold-back amount is determined under this subsection if these cities received their percentage distribution amount minus one-fourth of their freeze deduction.

(3) For each city included in the calculation in subdivision (2) of this subsection, determine that city's percentage share of the amount determined under that subdivision.

(4) Add to the city's freeze deduction an amount equal to the city's percentage share under subdivision (3) of this subsection multiplied by the total hold-harmless adjustment."

Section 4. If a city's hold-back amount calculated under G.S. 105-116.1(c1), as enacted by this act, is less than the amount deducted from the city's 1995-96 franchise tax distribution, the Secretary must distribute four times the amount of the difference, less any distributions made to the city under Section 5 of S.L. 1997-118, to the city by October 15, 1999. This distribution is made to adjust retroactively the city's 1995-96, 1996-97, 1997-98, and 1998-99 franchise tax distributions. The amount needed to make the distribution required by this section shall be drawn from the amount of gross receipts taxes distributed to the cities that do not receive a distribution under this section in proportion to the amount received.

Section 5. This act does not affect the rights or liabilities of the State, a taxpayer, or another person arising under the statute repealed by this act before the effective date of its repeal, nor does it affect the right to any refund or credit of a tax that accrued under the repealed statute before the effective date of its repeal.

Section 6. Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

Information Sheet on

H 1473 an act to Modify the Income Tax Credit for Manufacturers of Certain Renewable Energy Equipment

Renewable energy support is popular in NC and in the NC Legislature.

The October 1998 NC Poll done by the UNC School of Journalism shows overwhelming support and willingness to pay for clean, renewable energy. H 147 passed the North Carolina House 108 - 0 and is now before the Senate for consideration.

Why is H 1473 necessary?

This bill revises G.S. 105-130.28, a tax credit for manufacturers of photovoltaic (PV) equipment. (PV equipment produces electricity directly from sunlight. This technology is growing 40% per year, exports 70% of its production and is a $1 billion business per year world wide.) The current credit has NOT been used and the revision corrects the problems found in the existing legislation by recruiters. In trying to recruit a PV manufacturing facility the NC Solar Center at NC State and the Industrial Extension Service found that the 5 year carry forward limitation was too short a time period for companies they were recruiting to benefit from the incentive. The revision extends the carry forward provision to 10 years and eliminates the discrimination against other renewable technologies by extending the credit to manufacturers of other renewable energy equipment such as : biomass equipment which generates methane gas and/or electricity from hog, poultry waste or land fill gas; and solar thermal equipment which captures high temperature heat for manufacturing processes, generating electricity or heating and cooling large buildings or campuses.

Why is a renewable energy manufacturer's tax credits necessary?

H 1473 is an incentive for manufacturers to locate their facilities in NC. The industries involved are new high tech firms that invent, design, build and sell renewable energy equipment. They are creative enterprises producing new products which involves the high risk of doing something new but, also, potentially high rewards of a new, fast growing market place for clean energy. These incentives will encourage North Carolina based investments in R&D, industrial plants and jobs and enable our industrial recruiters to compete with other states and foreign countries for these facilities. Two years ago we lost a PV manufacturing plant to Virginia because they had a better incentive, however these companies want to locate close to the demand for their product and with this new legislation NC will look very attractive.

How much will it cost?

We do not know of any use of the existing credit. It is difficult to estimate how many times the new credit will be used. (Please see estimate of the Finance Committee Staff)

Who will benefit from the revised credit?

1) Businesses will get an incentive for being pioneers and manufacturing renewable energy equipment.

2) New jobs and companies will be created and recruited to North Carolina to satisfy the demand created by the credit energy equipment credit (H 1472) and DOE's Million Solar Roofs Initiative. Currently, two PV companies and at least one biomass (animal waste) equipment manufacturer are possible prospects for locating in NC.

3) North Carolina's reputation as a national leader in business creation and innovator will be enhanced. Because of the North Carolina Solar Center and the North Carolina Solar Energy Association, North Carolina is already one of handful of states leading in solar energy (The others are California, Florida and New Mexico) . This legislation will expand our leadership position to include all renewable energy technologies.

Why extend the sunset provision in the House passed bill from 2 to 5 years?

While NCSEA agrees it is prudent to include a sunset provision in all tax credit bills, the bill must first serve the purpose of an incentive to promote the creation of new, renewable energy companies and for them to come to North Carolina. A 2 year sunset does not allow enough time for the incentive to have the desired effect because of the long time span it takes for companies to be recruited and for this type of project to be planned and built. In addition, the current legislation which Bill 1473 is replacing has no sunset provision and has already proved to be difficult to use. To help in our goal of becoming a national leader in renewable energy we need a minimum 5 year sunset provision.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE STATE BOARD OF COMMUNITY COLLEGES TO ASSESS MONETARY PENALTIES AGAINST PROPRIETARY SCHOOLS THAT OPERATE WITHOUT A LICENSE OR OPERATE OUTSIDE THE SCOPE OF THEIR LICENSE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article 8 of Chapter 115D of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 115D-93.1. Operation without a license or outside scope of license; penalty.

Upon its determination that a person is in violation of this Article, the State Board shall immediately notify the person and may assess a civil penalty not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) against that person. In determining the amount of this penalty, the State Board shall consider the degree and extent of harm or potential harm caused by the violation. In addition, beginning on the thirtieth day following the date the Board makes this determination and sends the required notification, the person is liable for a civil penalty of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each day the person continues to be in violation of this Article. A person is in violation of this Article if the person owns or operates a proprietary school (i) that is operating in the State without a license as required under this Article or (ii) that is offering a program of instruction, course, or subject that is not specifically indicated in the school's application for a license under this Article. Civil penalties assessed under this section may be in addition to any other penalties or sanctions the State Board may impose for violation of this Article. This section is subject to Articles 3 and 4 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. The clear proceeds of civil penalties assessed under this section shall be remitted to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund in accordance with G.S. 115C-457.2."

Section 2. G.S. 115D-87 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(3a) 'Proprietary school' means a correspondence school, a proprietary business school, a proprietary trade school, or a proprietary technical school as defined in this section."

Section 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 1999, and applies to offenses occurring on or after that date.

HOUSE BILL 293:
Proprietary Sch./Civil Penalties/AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Representative Bridgeman
Date:	July 5, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Third Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 293 would authorize the State Board of Community Colleges to assess a civil penalty up to $1,000 against any person the Board determines is in violation of the law requiring proprietary schools to be licensed. The bill also would require the Board to notify the person immediately of its violation. It would assess a penalty of $100.00 per day against any person who continues to be in violation of this law beginning on the thirtieth day following the Board's notification.

A person would be in violation of the licensing law if it owns or operates a correspondence school, proprietary business school, proprietary trade school, or proprietary technical school (i) without a license, or (ii) that is offering a program of instruction, course, or subject that is not specifically authorized in its license.

The bill changes the penalty (the original bill would have authorized the Board to assess a penalty not to exceed $5,000) and adds language to direct the Board to consider the degree and extent of harm or potential harm when it is determining the amount of the initial penalty.

The State Board of Community Colleges requested the original bill.

The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in Senate Education/Higher Education. The bill has also been through the House Committee on Education and the House Finance Committee.

CURRENT LAW: The State Board of Community Colleges is charged with licensing all proprietary business schools, proprietary trade schools, proprietary technical schools, and correspondence schools. These are private institutions operated for a profit and do not include established universities, colleges, or private schools operating under Chapter 115C of the General Statutes. The State Board must formulate the criteria and the standards for approving proprietary schools based upon the course or courses of study that will be offered. The law specifically prohibits a person from operating a proprietary school until the State Board grants a license for its operation. Licenses are restricted to the programs, courses, and subjects included in each proprietary school's application and may be expanded to additional programs of instruction if the Board approves a supplementary application, which must be submitted by the license holder.

The State Board may suspend, revoke, or refuse to issue or renew a license under specified circumstances. These circumstances include failure to comply with applicable laws and rules, providing false or misleading information on the license application, committing fraud in advertising, failing to maintain the school premises in a safe condition, employing teachers who have not been approved by the State Board, and failing to obtain and maintain a guaranty bond or its equivalent. Furthermore, it is a Class 3 misdemeanor to open and conduct a propriety school without first obtaining a license and the required bond. A Class 3 misdemeanor, assuming no prior convictions, is punishable with a maximum fine of $200, 1-10 days community punishment, or both.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 293 would create a new section, G.S. 115D-93.1, authorizing the State Board to make a determination that a person is in violation of the licensing law. If it makes the determination, the Board must immediately notify that person and may assess a civil penalty not to exceed $1,000 against that person. In determining the amount of this initial penalty, the bill would require the State Board to consider the degree and extent of harm or potential harm caused by the violation. In addition, any person who continues to be in violation of the law would be liable for a penalty of $100.00 per day, beginning on the thirtieth day after the Board sends its notice.

These civil penalties would be in addition to the other penalties and sanctions described above. Both the contested case provisions and the judicial review provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act would apply to the State Board's actions. Pursuant to Article IX, Section 7 of the Constitution, and Article 31A of Chapter 115C, the clear proceeds of any penalty would be remitted to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund. These funds are then transferred to the School Technology Trust fund and allocated to local school administrative units on the basis of average daily membership.

Section 2 of the bill would amend the definition section of the Article governing proprietary schools. This amendment, which is technical, would create a new definition, "proprietary school", which would include the existing definitions of correspondence school, proprietary business school, proprietary trade school, and proprietary technical school.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would take effect October 1, 1999, and would apply to offenses occurring on or after that date.

Kory Goldsmith and Robin Johnson, Committee Counse to Education, substantially contributed to this summary.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION AUTHORITY ACT CONCERNING JURISDICTION OF THE ENTIRE AREA OF THE COUNTY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES AND MEMBERSHIP OF THE AUTHORITY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 160A-634(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The territorial jurisdiction and service area of the Authority shall be as determined by the Board of Trustees consistent with its purpose, but shall initially consist of those areas included within the Metropolitan Planning Organization boundaries. With the consent by resolution of the affected board of county commissioners, the jurisdiction and area may be expanded to include contiguous areas, but the total jurisdiction and service area shall not exceed part or all of 12 counties. (3) The chair of each Metropolitan Planning Organization in the territorial jurisdiction.

(4) The chair of the board of commissioners of any county within the territorial jurisdiction or a member of the board of commissioners designated by the board to serve in the absence of the chair, but only if the Board of Trustees by resolution has expanded the Board of Trustees to include the chair of the board of commissioners of that county and the board of commissioners of that county has consented by resolution.

(5) The chair of the principal airport authority or airport commission of each of the two most populous counties within the territorial jurisdiction, as determined by the most recent decennial federal census. The chair of the airport authority or airport commission may appoint a designee. The designee is not required to be a member of the airport authority or airport commission."

Regional Transportation Authority Amend

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Gray
Date:	July 5, 1999	Analysis by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	Finance CS for Third Edition		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: This bill would make the following three changes affecting Regional Transportation Authorities. The third change is added by the proposed Finance committee substitute. The original bill and the proposed committee substitute are roll call under the Constitution. The bill was not roll called in the House, so it must be roll called upon concurrence or adoption of a conference report by the House.

1. It expands the jurisdiction of a regional transportation authority (Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation) to include the entire area of any county that has a member of its board of commissioners serving on the authority's board of trustees.
2. It expands the board of trustees of a regional transportation authority (Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation) to include the chair of the airport authorities of the two most populous counties within the authority's jurisdiction.
3. It provides that a regional transit authority (either the Triangle Transit Authority or the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation) may create special tax districts consisting of one or more entire counties within the authority's jurisdiction and may levy their taxes within the special districts to the extent the taxes have not already been levied throughout the entire jurisdiction of the authority.

Background. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted S.L. 1997-417, which authorized a regional transit authority to levy a gross receipts tax of up to 5% on retailers within the region engaged in the business of renting passenger motor vehicles and motorcycles. The tax applies only to short-term rentals, i.e., rentals for a period of less than one year. The tax is collected by the authority but is otherwise administered in the same way as the optional highway use tax on gross receipts from vehicle rentals. This optional highway use tax is 8% on short-term rentals, so the combined tax within the jurisdiction of the authority would be 13% if the authority levies the full 5%. Each authority may use the proceeds of the tax for its public transportation purposes. Before levying or increasing the tax, the authority must obtain approval from each county in the region.

A regional transit authority is a regional public transportation authority created under Article 26 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or a regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes. The authority created under Article 26 is the Triangle Transit Authority for Wake, Durham, and Orange Counties. The Authority created under Article 27 is the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation, which serves Forsyth, Guilford, Randolph, Davidson, and Alamance Counties.

The 1997 law also authorized the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation and any multi-county public transportation authorities organized under current law to levy a $5 vehicle registration tax identical to the tax already authorized for, and levied by, the existing Triangle Transit Authority. A public transportation authority is an entity created by one or more local government entities under Article 25 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes to provide public transportation. There are three multi-county public transportation authorities. The Choanoke Public Transportation Authority consists of Bertie, Halifax, Hertford, and Northampton Counties. The Kerr Area Transportation Authority consists of Franklin, Granville, Person, Vance, and Warren Counties. The Inter-County Public Transportation Authority consists of Camden, Chowan, Currituck, Pasquotank, and Perquimans Counties.

An authority must obtain the approval of each county within its jurisdiction before it can levy the $5 vehicle registration tax. The Division of Motor Vehicles will collect the tax in counties that are entirely located within the authority's jurisdiction. If the authority's jurisdiction includes just a part of one or more counties, the authority will collect the registration tax in those parts of counties. The authority may contract with local governments to collect this tax.

Jurisdiction of Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation. Under current law, the jurisdiction of a regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes includes all or part of five contiguous counties whose boards of commissioners have representatives on the board of trustees, and may include parts of other contiguous counties with the consent of the affected counties. The authority's board of trustees may choose to add a member of the affected county's board of commissioners to the board of trustees. Section 1 of this bill provides that if a member of an affected county's board of commissioners has been added to the authority's board of trustees, the authority's jurisdiction includes the entire area of the county. By expanding the jurisdiction of an authority, this change expands the authority's taxing power. Thus, the change must be read on three separate days in each house, under the Constitution. The bill did not receive the required separate readings when it passed the House of Representatives, so the separate readings in the House must occur when the bill returns from the Senate.

Membership of Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation. Section 2 of the bill expands the membership of a regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes to include the chair of the principal airport authority or airport commission of each of the two most populous counties within the authority's jurisdiction. In the case of the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation, this would mean the chair of the Forsyth County Airport Commission and the chair of the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority.

Special Tax Districts. Under current law, a regional transit authority (either the Triangle Transit Authority or the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation) may levy within its jurisdiction the vehicle rental tax of up to 5% and the vehicle registration tax of up to $5, as described above. Sections 3 and 4 of this bill would provide that if the authority has not levied either tax up to the maximum rate, it may create a special tax district within its jurisdiction consisting of the entire area of one or more counties. The authority may levy within the special tax district the balance of either or both taxes, up to their maximum rates. The proceeds of a tax levied within a special tax district may be used only for public transportation purposes for the benefit of the special district. The levy and administration of a tax within a special district is the same as for a tax within the entire jurisdiction of the authority. Thus, it may not be levied unless there is a public hearing and each county in the special district has approved the tax.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: The Piedmont Regional Transportation Authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several technical changes to the Regional Transportation Authority Act. First, it expands the area that may be included in the territorial jurisdiction and service area of the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation. Next, it adds to the Piedmont Authority board representatives of the two airport authorities or commissions serving the largest communities in the area. Third, it provides that a regional transit authority, including the Triangle Transit Authority or the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation, can create a special tax district. This district can include one or more entire counties within the authority's jurisdiction, and may levy taxes. These taxes must be used for public transportation.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Only the special tax district portion of the bill has a potential fiscal impact. Under current law a regional transit authority, such as Triangle Transit or the Piedmont Authority, may levy within its jurisdiction a vehicle rental tax of up to 5% and a vehicle registration tax of up to $5.00 to fund public transportation. This provision only applies if the authority has not yet levied either tax up to the maximum rate. If the authority has not yet levied the maximum rate, then the authority can create a special tax district within the authority jurisdiction, and collect the tax in that more limited area. The Triangle Transit Authority already levies the $5.00 and 5% taxes, so the bill will only impact have a fiscal impact on the Piedmont Authority.

Because the bill is permissive, Fiscal Research can not determine which if any of the five counties that participate in the Piedmont Authority will participate. Therefore, no accurate fiscal estimate is possible. The five counties that are included, at least in part, in the Piedmont Authority are Guilford, Forsyth, Davidson, Randolph, and Alamance.

The chair of the airport authority or airport commission may appoint a designee. The designee is not required to be a member of the airport authority or airport commission."

Section 3. G.S. 105-551 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-551. Tax on gross receipts authorized.

(a) Tax. -- The board of trustees of an Authority may levy a privilege tax on a retailer who is engaged in the business of leasing or renting U-drive-it passenger vehicles or motorcycles based on the gross receipts derived by the retailer from the short-term lease or rental of these vehicles. The tax rate must be a percentage and may not exceed five percent (5%). A tax levied under this section applies to short-term leases or rentals made by a retailer whose place of business or inventory is located within the territorial jurisdiction of the Authority. This tax is in addition to all other taxes.

(b) Restrictions. -- The board of trustees of an Authority may not levy a tax under this section or increase the tax rate of a tax levied under this section until all of the following requirements have been met:

(1) The board of trustees has held a public hearing on the tax or the increase in the tax rate after giving at least 10 days' notice of the hearing.
(2) If the Authority has a special tax board, the special tax board has adopted a resolution approving the levy of the tax or the increase in the tax rate.
(3) The board of commissioners of each county included in the territorial jurisdiction of the Authority has adopted a resolution approving the levy of the tax or the increase in the tax rate.

(c) Special Tax District. -- If a regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes has not levied the tax under this section or has levied the tax at a rate of less than five percent (5%), it may create a special district that consists of the entire area of one or more counties within its territorial jurisdiction and may levy on behalf of the special district the tax authorized in this section. The rate of tax levied within the special district may not, when combined with the rate levied within the entire territorial jurisdiction of the authority, exceed five percent (5%). The regional transportation authority may not levy or increase a tax within the special district unless the board of commissioners of each county in the special district has adopted a resolution approving the levy or increase.

A special district created pursuant to this subsection is a body corporate and politic and has the power to carry out the purposes of this subsection. The board of trustees of the regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes shall serve, ex officio, as the governing body of a special district it creates pursuant to this subsection. The proceeds of a tax levied under this subsection may be used only for the benefit of the special district and only for the purposes provided in G.S. 105-554. Except as provided in this subsection, a tax levied under this subsection is governed by the provisions of this Article."

Section 4. G.S. 105-561 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-561. Authority registration tax authorized.

(a) Tax Authorized. -- The board of trustees of an Authority may, by resolution, levy an annual license tax in accordance with this Article upon any motor vehicle with a tax situs within its territorial jurisdiction. The purpose of the tax levied under this Article is to raise revenue for capital and operating expenses of an Authority in providing public transportation systems. The rate of tax levied under this Article must be a full dollar amount, but may not exceed five dollars ($5.00) a year.

(b) Restrictions. -- The board of trustees of an Authority may not levy a tax under this Article or increase the tax rate until all of the following requirements have been met:

(1) The board of trustees has held a public hearing on the tax or the increase in the tax rate after giving at least 10 days' notice of the hearing.

(2) If the Authority has a special tax board, the special tax board has adopted a resolution approving the levy of the tax or the increase in the tax rate.

(3) Except where the levy or increase in tax is necessary for debt service on bonds or notes that each of the boards of county commissioners had previously approved under G.S. 159-51, the board of commissioners of each county included in the territorial jurisdiction of the Authority has adopted a resolution approving the levy of the tax or the increase in the tax rate.

(c) Resolutions. -- The board of trustees and the board of county commissioners, upon adoption of a resolution pursuant to this section, shall cause a certified copy of the resolution to be delivered immediately to the Authority and to the Division of Motor Vehicles.

(d) Special Tax District. -- If a regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes has not levied the tax under this section or has levied the tax at a rate of less than five dollars ($5.00) it may create a special district that consists of the entire area of one or more counties within its territorial jurisdiction and may levy on behalf of the special district the tax authorized in this section. The rate of tax levied within the special district may not, when combined with the rate levied within the entire territorial jurisdiction of the authority, exceed five dollars ($5.00). The regional transportation authority may not levy or increase a tax within the special district unless the board of commissioners of each county in the special district has adopted a resolution approving the levy or increase.

A special district created pursuant to this subsection is a body corporate and politic and has the power to carry out the purposes of this subsection. The board of trustees of the regional transportation authority created under Article 27 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes shall serve, ex officio, as the governing body of a special district it creates pursuant to this subsection. The proceeds of a tax levied under this subsection may be used only for the benefit of the special district and only for the purposes provided in G.S. 105-564. Except as provided in this subsection, a tax levied under this subsection is governed by the provisions of this Article."

SENATE BILL 876:
Clarify Natural Gas Funds

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. John Kerr
Date:	July 2, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 876 is a technical bill that makes a clarifying change to G.S. 62-159 (Additional funding for natural gas expansion). The act is effective when it becomes law. The proposed committee substitute only corrects a redlining error in the original version.

BILL ANALYSIS: In 1998, the General Assembly enacted the Clean Water and Natural Gas Critical Needs Bond Act of 1998. This Act authorized the issuance of general obligation bonds in the amount of $1 billion. The issuance of these bonds, $800 million for water and sewer bonds and $200 million for natural gas bonds, was approved by a majority of the voters in the November, 1998 election. The $200 million of natural gas bonds are to be used for the purpose of providing grants, loans, or other financing to natural gas local distribution companies, a person awarded a new natural gas franchise, or a gas district in unserved areas of the State. The money is to be used for the construction of natural gas facilities that it otherwise would not be economically feasible for the company, person, or gas district to construct.

Senate Bill 876 makes a technical correction to G.S. 62-159, which was part of the 1998 Act. The current statute erroneously implies that gas districts have natural gas franchises, which they do not. The bill clarifies that only persons are awarded natural gas franchises. "Person" is defined in the Public Utilities Chapter to mean "a corporation, individual, copartnership, company, association, or any combination of individuals or organizations doing business as a unit, and includes any trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative thereof."

SENATE BILL 968
Commerce Committee Substitute Adopted 6/23/99

Short Title: Waiver of Competitive Bidding Modified. (Public)

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAW REGARDING THE WAIVER OF COMPETITIVE BIDDING AND TO REQUIRE BID PROTESTS INVOLVING CONTRACTS OVER A CERTAIN AMOUNT TO BE HANDLED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 143-53(a)(1) reads as rewritten:

"(1) Prescribing the routine and procedures to be followed in canvassing bids and awarding contracts, and for reviewing decisions made pursuant thereto, and the decision of the reviewing body shall be the final administrative review. The Division of Purchase and Contract shall review and decide a protest on a contract valued at twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) or more. The Secretary shall adopt rules or criteria governing the review of and decision on a protest on a contract of less than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) by the agency that awarded the contract."

Section 2. G.S. 143-53(a)(5) reads as rewritten:

"(5) Prescribing conditions under which purchases and contracts for the purchase, rental or lease of equipment, materials, supplies or services may be entered into by means other than competitive bidding. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, any waiver of competition for the purchase, rental, or lease of equipment, materials, supplies, or services is subject to prior review by the Secretary, if the expenditure exceeds ten thousand dollars ($10,000). The Division may levy a fee, not to exceed one dollar ($1.00), for review of each waiver application."

Section 3. G.S. 143-57 reads as rewritten:

"§ 143-57. Purchases of articles in certain emergencies.

In case of any emergency or pressing need arising from unforeseen causes including but not limited to delay by contractors, delay in transportation, breakdown in machinery, or unanticipated volume of work, the Secretary of Administration shall have power to obtain or authorize obtaining in the open market any necessary supplies, materials, equipment, printing or services for immediate delivery to any department, institution or agency of the State government. A report on the circumstances of such emergency or need and the transactions thereunder shall be made a matter of record promptly thereafter. If the expenditure exceeds ten thousand dollars ($10,000), the report shall also be made promptly thereafter to the Division of Purchase and Contract."

Section 3.1. This act does not apply to an agency, board, department, institution, or commission that is exempt from Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes or from the provisions of that Article that require certain contracts to be awarded by the Department of Administration.

Section 4. This act becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 1 applies to bid protests filed on or after that date. Sections 2 and 3 of this act apply to contracts awarded on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 968:
Waiver of Competitive Bidding Modified

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Larry Shaw
Date:	July 2, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Waslton
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 968 amends the law regarding the waiver of competitive bidding and requires bid protests involving contracts over a certain amount to be handled by the Department of Administration. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in Senate Commerce on June 23, 1999. The bill is before the Senate Finance Committee because it allows the Secretary of Administration to levy a fee, not to exceed $1.00 for reviewing each waiver application.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of the bill provides that bid protests on State procurement contracts of $25,000 or more will be handled by the Division of Purchase and Contract. Currently, those protests are being handled by the agency that awarded the contract. Bid protests on contracts awarded by agencies under $25,000 would continue to be handled by the respective agencies, subject to rules adopted by the Secretary of Administration.

Section 2 provides that if an agency wants to waive competitive sealed bidding on a purchase that costs more than $10,000, the waiver is subject to prior review by the Secretary of Administration. A $1.00 fee is imposed for review of the waiver.

Section 3 provides that if the Secretary of Administration obtains goods or services pursuant to the emergency purchasing statute (G.S. 143-57), any such purchases over $10,000 must be reported to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations promptly thereafter. The current law already requires the Secretary to note in the public record the justification for an emergency purchase.

Section 3.1 provides that agencies that are not subject to Article 3 of Chapter 143 (the laws governing the State's purchasing program) or whose contracts are not subject to that Article are exempt from this act.

The act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

Linwood Jones, committee counsel to Senate Commerce, contributed substantially to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Administration - Division of Purchase and Contract

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill amends the law regarding the waivers of competitive bidding for expenditures over $10,000 and requires bid protests involving contracts over $25,000 to be handled by the Department of Administration.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
Although the Division of Purchase and Contract anticipates reviewing 1000 additional requests for bid waivers, the current staff can absorb this workload. By September 1999, all agencies will be online with the Division's Interactive Purchasing System (IPS). These agencies will be able to electronically send requisitions and bid waiver requests to the Division of Purchase and Contract. Division staff can review the request on the computer screen and then approve or deny a bid waiver by electronic mail. There will be no additional revenue because the Division does not plan to impose the $1 fee authorized in the bill.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REMOVE THE SUNSET ON A REQUIREMENT THAT PART OF CERTAIN CRAVEN COUNTY PROCEEDS BE USED FOR A CONVENTION CENTER AND A TOURIST CENTER.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Chapter 980 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended by Chapter 710 of the 1985 Session Laws and Chapter 721 of the 1995 Session Laws, reenacted by Chapter 20 of the 1996 Second Extra Session, reads as rewritten:

"AN ACT TO ALLOW CRAVEN COUNTY TO LEVY A ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

"Section 1. Levy of Tax. -- (a) The Board of Commissioners of Craven County may ~~by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto,~~ levy a room occupancy and tourism development ~~tax.~~

~~(b) Collection of the tax, and liability therefor, shall begin and continue only on and after the first day of a calendar month set by the board of county commissioners in the resolution levying the tax, which in no case may be earlier than the first day of the second succeeding calendar month after the date of adoption of the resolution.~~

~~"Sec. 2. Rate of Tax. The room occupancy and tourism development~~ tax ~~that may be levied under Section 1 of this act shall be~~ at the rate of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or similar accommodation furnished by any hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or other similar enterprise within the county now subject to the three percent (3%) sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any local sales tax.

"Sec. 2.1. Additional Occupancy Tax. -- In addition to the tax authorized by Section 1 of this act, the Craven County Board of Commissioners may levy a room occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any accommodations taxable under Section 1 of this act. The levy, collection, administration, and repeal of the tax authorized by this section shall be in accordance with the provisions of this act. Craven County may not levy a tax under this section unless it also levies the tax under Section 1 of this act.

"Sec. 3. -- Exemptions. The tax authorized by this act does not apply to gross receipts derived by the following entities from accommodations furnished by them:

(1) religious organizations;
(2) a business that offers to rent fewer than five units;
(3) educational organizations; and
(4) summer camps.

"Sec. 4. Administration of Tax. -- A tax levied under this act shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 153A-155. The penalties provided in G.S. 153A-155 apply to a tax levied under this section. Any repeal of the tax authorized in Section 2.1 of this act may not become effective before June 30, 2018.

~~(a) Returns. -- Any tax levied under this act is due and payable to the county in monthly installments on or before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by Craven County. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. An operator of a business who collects the occupancy tax levied under this act may deduct from the amount remitted to the county a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.~~

~~The county shall design, print, and furnish to all affected businesses in Craven County the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the collection of the tax. A return filed with the county tax collector under this act is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.~~

~~(b) Penalties. -- A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file the return or pay the tax required by this act is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The Craven County Board of Commissioners has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.~~

~~"Sec. 5. Collection of Tax. -- Every operator of a business subject to the tax levied by this act shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. This tax shall be collected as part of the charge for the furnishing of any taxable accommodations. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records, and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of Craven County. The tax levied pursuant to this act shall be~~

~~added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business.~~

"Sec. 6. Disposition of Taxes Collected. -- (a) 'Net Proceeds' Defined. -- As used in this act, the term 'net proceeds' means gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the gross proceeds of the tax.

(a1) Tax Levied Under Section 1. -- Craven County shall remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax levied under Section 1 of this act to the Craven County Tourism Development Authority. The County Tourism Development Authority shall allocate the occupancy tax revenue remitted to it for the following purposes:

(2) Marketing and promotions expenses, including test market programs, consultant fees, entertainment, housing expenses, travel expenses, and registration fees;

(4) Salaries, benefits, and expenses for Visitor Information Center personnel; and

(5) Other expenses that aid and encourage visitor promotions, conventions, or tourism.

~~Effective until June 30, 2013, thirty-five~~ Thirty-five percent (35%) of the net proceeds in excess of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) remitted to the Authority pursuant to this subsection in a fiscal year shall be allocated to the Room Tax Trust Fund created pursuant to subsection (c) of this section.

(b) Authority May Contract. -- The County Tourism Development Authority may contract with appropriate organizations or agencies to assist it in carrying out the purposes provided in this section.

(c) Tax Levied Under Section 2.1. -- Craven County shall credit the net proceeds of the tax levied under Section 2.1 of this act to a separate Room Tax Trust Fund. Monies in the Room Tax Trust Fund may be used only to construct, maintain, operate, or market a convention or meeting facility in New Bern and a tourist center in Havelock. Any monies distributed to the City of New Bern or the City of Havelock from the Room Tax Trust Fund shall be maintained in and disbursed from a separate trust fund within the respective city's organizational chart of accounts.

"Sec. 7. Appointment, Duties of Tourism Development Authority. -- (a) When the board of county commissioners adopts a resolution levying a room occupancy tax pursuant to this act, it shall also adopt a resolution creating a County Tourism Development Authority, which shall be a public authority under the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act and shall be composed of the following members:

(1) One county commissioner appointed by the Board of Commissioners of Craven County;

(3) Members appointed pursuant to subdivisions (a)(5) and (a)(6) shall serve a three-year term.

(c) A member appointed under subdivision (a)(2) shall serve his full term, regardless whether, during a 12-month period of his term, the percentage of the gross proceeds of the occupancy tax that are collected from the municipality he represents is less than ten percent (10%).

(d) Members may serve no more than two consecutive three-year terms. The members shall elect a ~~chairman,~~ chair, who shall serve for a term established in the bylaws of the Authority. HOUSE BILL 812:
Remove Sunset/Craven Proceeds Use

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Thomas
Date:	July 6, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 812 modifies the use of the Craven County room occupancy and tourism development tax. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in House Local Government I and House Finance.

CURRENT LAW: Craven County is authorized to levy a room occupancy tax at the rate of 3% . The County is also authorized to levy an additional room occupancy tax of 3% The 3% occupancy tax is remitted to the Craven County Tourism Development Authority.

Until June 30, 2013, thirty-five percent of the net proceeds in excess of $100,000 remitted to the Authority in a fiscal year are to be allocated to the Room Tax Trust Fund.. The monies in this Fund may be used only to construct, maintain, operate, or market a convention or meeting facility in New Bern and a tourist center in Havelock The 3% additional occupancy tax proceeds also go to the Room Tax Trust Fund.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 812 provides that the uniform penalties will apply. The uniform occupancy tax penalties in G.S. 153A-155 are the same as the penalties for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The uniform penalty for failure to file a return is 5% of the amount of tax due, not to exceed 25% or $5, whichever is greater. The uniform penalty for failure to pay the tax due is 10% of the tax due or $5, whichever is greater.

House Bill 812 also conforms the current session law governing Craven County occupancy taxes to the uniform occupancy tax provisions. Therefore, the levy, administration, collection, and repeal of the occupancy taxes must be done in accordance with G.S. 160A-215. These provisions are substantially the the same as the ones in the current session law.

House Bill 812 removes the sunset on the distribution of 35% of the 3% occupancy tax proceeds in excess of $100,000.

HOUSE BILL 315:
Motor Vehicle Tax Value/E & R Board

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Connie Wilson
Date:	July 6, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute H315-PCS8153-LA		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Section 1 of House Bill 315 provides that the value of a classified motor vehicle for property tax purposes would be determined as of January 1 preceding the due date of the tax. Section 2 of House Bill 315 amends G.S. 105-322(e) to allow the Stokes County Board of Equalization and Review to continue meeting after it has carried out its duties to examine and review the county's tax list for the current year and to hear a request from a taxpayer regarding the taxpayer's property appraisal or listing. Section 1 of this bill was given a favorable report by House Finance.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly classified motor vehicles registered with the Division of Motor Vehicles as a special class of property in 1991. Classified vehicles are taxed on a revolving, year-round schedule. Every month, DMV provides each county a list of the motor vehicles in the county for which registration was renewed or obtained two months earlier. The county lists and appraises the vehicles and sends the vehicle owners a bill for the county, city, and special district taxes due. If the owner does not pay the taxes due on a classified, registered vehicle, DMV will refuse to renew the vehicle registration the following year unless the owner obtains a receipt showing that the taxes have been paid.

For classified motor vehicles, the ownership, situs, and taxability of the vehicle is determined annually as of the day on which a new registration is applied for or the day on which the current vehicle registration is renewed. However, the value of the vehicle is determined annually as of January 1 preceding the date the new registration is applied for or the current registration expires. Therefore, property tax bills that a taxpayer receives in January through April of each year are based on the value of the vehicle as of the preceding January.

The value of a vehicle, like all other tangible personal property, is based upon it true value in money as prescribed by G.S. 105-283. The words "true value in money" mean the price at which the property would change hands between a willing and financially able buyer and a willing seller. To determine "true value", counties use a pricing guide. Most counties use a pricing guide developed by Tax Equity Consultants. The pricing guides used by counties reflect the average retail prices paid for motor vehicles. In determining retail prices, all costs that are necessary to acquire and operate a motor vehicle are considered. A taxpayer who disagrees with the appraised value of a vehicle has 30 days after the date the tax notice was prepared to appeal the value. Counties will adjust an appraised value for reasons such as the vehicle's condition or excessive mileage.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the proposed committee substitute for HB 315 provides that a classified motor vehicle's property tax value would be determined on January 1 of the year the taxes are due.

As background, the General Assembly enacted the classification to improve the collection rate f property taxes on motor vehicles. Millions of dollars in property tax revenue was being lost each ye because of noncompliance with the requirement to list motor vehicles for property taxes. By tying the listing of most motor vehicles to the registration of the vehicles, the 1991 act eliminated most of the opportunity for noncompliance.

Section 2 of the bill amends G.S. 105-322 (County board of equalization and review) to authorize the Stokes County Board of E & R to continue meeting after they have performed their duties to examine and review the tax lists for the current year and to hear requests from taxpayers. The Board will continue to meet to carry out the following:

1. To hear and decide appeals relating to discovered property.
2. To hear and decide appeals regarding classified motor vehicles.
3. To hear and decide appeals relating to audits of property classified at present-use value and property exempted or excluded from taxation.

Section 3 of the bill states that Section 2 applies only to Stokes County.

EFFECTIVE DATES: Section 1 is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000. Section 2 and 3 are effective when they become law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT (S) & PROGRAM (S) AFFECTED: County and City Governments and the Stokes County Board of Equalization and Review.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2000.

BILL SUMMARY: Currently all vehicles are valued as of January in the year in which the registration is due. The taxes are due three months after the registration. Section 1 of the bill requires the assessors to value the vehicle as of the January proceeding the due date of the tax. The registration date is no longer a factor in determining tax value. Section 2 of the bill authorizes the Stokes County Board of Equalization and Review to meet after their formal adjournment for specific purposes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Under the current system, vehicles can now be valued for property tax purposes on the January proceeding registration. This means that the property tax assessment can reflect values as old as 16 months. The bill effectively changes the vehicle tax bills due in the last four months of the year to reflect the value on the most recent January. For example, an automobile is purchased in the fall. The vehicle registration is due in November 1998. The taxes on that vehicle are due three months later in March 1999. Under current law, the tax is based on the vehicle's value on January 1, 1998. With this legislation the vehicle will be taxed on its value as of January 1, 1999.

The total statewide value of all vehicles, as reported to the Department of Revenue, for fiscal years 1995-96 through 1998-99 is as follows:

	1995-96	1996-97	1997-98	1998-99*
Vehicle Value	33,430,604,088	37,563,953,946	45,081,633,555	45,456,523,592

 Indicates this is preliminary data, with only 95 of 100 counties reporting.*

While growth in this sector has been very strong, it is expected to level off in the next few years. As such, this note assumes a 7% growth rate.

The 1997-98 weighted average property tax rate for all governmental jurisdictions in the state (cities and counties) was $0.968 per $100.00 of assessed value. The rate has varied from in the past ten years from a low of $0.938 per $100.00 (1988-89) to a high of $0.994 per $100.00 (1993-94 and 1994-95). Because of increasing pressures to build schools and provide other services, this note assumes a rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessed value for the five year period of the note.

Assuming 7% annual growth in the motor vehicle tax base, and a flat weighted average tax rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessed value, the expected property tax revenue from motor vehicles is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Vehicle Value	$51,613,962,257	$55,226,939,615	$59,092,825,388	$63,229,323,165	$67,655,375,787
Property Tax	$516,139,623	$552,269,396	$590,928,254	$632,293,232	$676,553,758

A statewide survey of county assessors indicates that most responding assessors expect to loose between 5% and 6% of the motor vehicle property tax base as a result of this proposal. No county reported a potential loss or gain outside of this range. Assuming 5% of the vehicle base is lost, the actual statewide county revenue loss is as follows:

	1999-00	2000-01	2001-02	2002-03	2003-04
Change	($25,806,981.15)	($27,613,469.80)	($29,546,412.70)	($31,614,661.60)	($33,827,687.90)

Because the bill does not become effective until July 1, 2000 the loss does not take effect until the FY 2000-01 fiscal year. This shift for the effective date is reflected in the chart.

No fiscal impact is expected as a result of Section 2 of the bill.

HOUSE BILL 1476:
Code Update/Criminal Deadline/Research

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Miller
Date:	July 6, 1999	Analysis by:	Martha H. Harris
Version:	Senate PCS for 3rd Edition		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: House Bill 1476 would make the following three changes. The second change was added by the House Committee Substitute and the third is added by this proposed Senate Committee Substitute:

1. It rewrites the definition of the Internal Revenue Code used in State tax statutes to change the reference date from September 1, 1998 to June 1, 1999. Updating the Internal Revenue Code reference makes recent amendments to the Code applicable to the State to the extent that State tax law previously tracked federal law.
2. It incorporates House Bill 1197, introduced by Rep. Miller. House Bill 1197 conforms the State statute of limitations, with respect to the willful failure to comply with the State's tax laws, to the federal statute of limitations.
3. It earmarks part of the revenue generated by this act to pay for four new tax research positions for the Department of Revenue, as recommended by the Revenue Laws Study Committee.

1. UPDATE CODE REFERENCE: Since the General Assembly updated the State's reference to the Internal Revenue Code to September 1, 1998, Congress has enacted two bills that affect the Internal Revenue Code. On October 21, 1998, the President signed into law Public Law 105-277, which includes the Tax and Trade Relief Extension Act of 1998. On April 19, 1999, the President signed into law Public Law 106-21, which extends the tax benefits available with respect to services performed in a combat zone to services performed in the Kosovo area.

Public Law 105-277: This act extended the research and development credit, created or extended tax breaks aimed particularly at individuals, small businesses, and farmers, narrowed some tax exemptions, and made many technical changes. The following is a summary of the some of the more significant provisions:

- It extends the research and development credit through June 30, 1999. North Carolina's credit for research and development is based upon this federal credit.
- It accelerates the deduction for health insurance costs of self-employed individuals. Self-employed individuals are entitled to deduct a portion of the amount paid for health insurance for the self-employed individual and the individual's spouse and dependents. Under prior law, the amount that could be deducted was increasing from 45% in 1998 to 100% in 2007. The legislation passed last year accelerated the amount that could be deducted to 60% for tax years beginning in 1999 through 2001, to 70% for tax years beginning in 2002, and to 100% for tax years beginning in 2003 and thereafter. An employee may exclude from income 100% of employer-provided health insurance.
- It provides a five-year net operating loss carryback for farmers, effective for NOLs arising in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1997. A NOL is the amount by which business deductions exceed business gross income. Generally, a NOL may be carried back two years and forward 20 years to offset taxable income in such years. The act created an exception for farming losses. A farming loss is defined as the amount of any net operating loss attributable to the income and deductions of a farming business.

- It permanently extends the income averaging provision for farmers. An individual engaged in a farming business may elect to compute current year tax liability by averaging, over the prior three-year period, all or a portion of the taxable income that is attributable to the farming business. Prior to this act, this provision would have expired for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2001.
- It allows a taxpayer that wins a contest, lottery, jackpot, etc. and elects to take the payment as an annuity to claim the prize winnings as income at the time they are received. Prior to the enactment of this act, a person who had the option of receiving either a lump-sum distribution or an annuity was required to include the value of the award in gross income in the year in which the prize was won, even if the annuity option was exercised.
- It permanently extends the charitable market-value deduction for contributions of qualified appreciated stock to private foundations.
- It limits specified liability losses to product liability losses and amounts allowable as a deduction that are in satisfaction of a liability under a federal or state law requiring the reclamation of land, decommissioning of a nuclear power plant, dismantlement of a drilling platform, remediation of environmental contamination, or a payment under any workers compensation act. A specified liability loss may be carried back 10 years rather than being limited to the general two-year carryback period. Prior to the enactment of this act, a specified liability loss included other liabilities that arose under federal or state law or out of any tort of the taxpayer.
- It requires certain deductible liquidating distributions of a regulated investment company or real estate investment trust to an 80% corporate owner to be included in the corporation's income.

Public Law 106-21: This act extends the tax benefits available under the Internal Revenue Code for services performed in a combat zone to members of the armed forces for services performed in the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, Albania, the Adriatic Sea, and the northern Ionian Sea.

Under the Code, all or most of military personnel's combat pay is exempt from income tax. Since North Carolina begins its calculation of taxable income with federal taxable income, the pay is also exempt from State income tax.

The Code also extends the time military personnel and those serving in support of the military personnel have to file and pay their taxes. The extension applies to those individuals within the "qualified hazardous duty area" and to those individuals supporting Operation Allied Force who are away from their permanent duty stations but are not within the designated combat zone. The extension lasts until 180 days after taxpayers leave the combat zone or their supporting operation, plus the number of days they were there during the tax filing season after the air strikes began on March 24, 1999. The tax relief provisions also apply during any period of hospitalization resulting from injuries or illness incurred while serving in the combat zone. During the extension, affected taxpayers will not accrue any interest or penalty charges and the IRS will not pursue any tax enforcement action. Likewise, G.S. 105-249.2 prohibits the Secretary of Revenue from assessing interest or a penalty against a taxpayer for any period that is disregarded for federal income tax purposes.

2. CONFORM CRIMINAL DEADLINE TO FEDERAL: The House committee substitute incorporates House Bill 1197. It is a Class 1 misdemeanor to willfully fail to collect, withhold, or pay over taxes or to willfully fail to file a return or pay the tax due. Under North Carolina law, the State has three years from the date of the violation to prosecute the taxpayer that violated the tax law. Under federal law, the IRS has six years from the date of the prosecution to pursue the violation. Sections 2 and 3 conform the State statute of limitations to the federal statute of limitations by extending the time the State has to pursue a violation of the tax laws from three years to six years. This change becomes effective December 1, 1999, for cases where the three-year statute of limitations has not already expired.

3. TAX RESEARCH POSITIONS. Section 4 of this bill would authorize the Secretary of Revenue to draw funds from the revenues generated by Section 1 of this bill to fund four tax research positions in the Department of Revenue, effective January 1, 2000, as recommended by the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The Revenue Laws Study Committee determined that there is a need for in-depth tax research that cannot be met by the current three-person staff. Adding four new tax analyst positions would provide a tax research resource capable of serving the needs of the legislative and executive branches for analyses of various tax proposals and of the effect of changes in the economy on the tax base.

The Tax Research Division compiles and publishes statistical and descriptive information on State and local taxes, analyzes the impact of proposed changes in the tax laws, and answers inquiries from other State agencies and the public about the tax laws. In recent years, the General Assembly had made additional demands on the Division for reports and estimates, and this trend will undoubtedly continue. With additional tax analysts, the Tax Research Division could develop tax databases and models to provide quick estimates of various tax proposals as they arise. There are many important issues facing the General Assembly at this time and extensive tax research will be required to provide the information necessary to evaluate these issues. Examples of these issues are:

- The effect on the current tax structure of the change from a manufacturing and farming economy to a service economy
- The effectiveness and cost of tax incentives
- The impact that utility deregulation will have on State and local taxes
- The effect of allowing combined or consolidated corporate income tax returns, rather than the current single-entity returns
- The effect on revenues and on various taxpayers groups of changing the three-factor corporate apportionment formula to a single-factor formula
- Whether to adopt the Multistate Tax Commission's uniform apportionment formula for financial institutions in place of the current single-factor formula
- How to simplify the formulas for distribution of State-shared revenues

The Department of Revenue surveyed other states to determine the number of tax research personnel each employs in its executive branch. The following table shows the number of tax research employees for twenty states, ranked by size of state population. For those states that have positions devoted partly to tax research and partly to other duties, the number represents the portion of staff time dedicated to forecasting.

BACKGROUND: Since the State corporate income tax was changed to a percentage of federal taxable income in 1967, the reference date to the Internal Revenue Code has been updated periodically. In discussing bills to update the Code reference, the question frequently arises as to why the statutes refer to the Code on a particular date instead of referring to the Code and any future amendments to it, thereby eliminating the necessity of bills like this one. The answer to the question lies in both a policy decision and a potential legal restraint.

First, the policy reason for specifying a particular date is that, in light of the many changes made in federal tax law from year to year, the State may not want to adopt automatically federal changes, particularly when these changes result in large revenue losses. By pinning references to the Code to a certain date, the State ensures that it can examine any federal changes before making the changes effective for the State.

Secondly, and more importantly, however, the North Carolina Constitution imposes an obstacle to a statute that automatically adopts any changes in federal tax law. Article V, Section 2(1) of the Constitution provides in pertinent part that the "power of taxation ... shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away." Relying on this provision, the North Carolina court decisions on delegation of legislative power to administrative agencies, and an analysis of the few federal cases on this issue, the Attorney General's Office concluded in a memorandum issued in 1977 to the Director of the Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue that a "statute which adopts by reference future amendments to the Internal Revenue Code would ... be invalidated as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power.

In 1997, the Revenue Laws Study Committee explored the possibility of legislation that would automatically adopt federal changes to the Code each year, with legislative review and approval required in the succeeding legislative session. It was hoped that this approach would avoid the practical difficulties that occur when Code changes go into effect many months before the General Assembly has a chance to pass legislation adopting the changes. The Attorney General's Office reviewed the relevant case law in this State and other states before concluding that this approach would be unlikely to withstand a constitutional challenge.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 2 and 3 of this bill are effective December 1, 1999, and apply to prosecutions brought on or after that date. The positions in section 4 are effective January 1, 2000. The remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:

Section 1 of the bill changes the reference to the Internal Revenue Code used in defining and determining certain state income tax provisions from September 1, 1998 to June 1, 1999. Sections 2 and 3 conform the state statute of limitations for willful failure to comply with the state's tax laws, to the federal statute of limitations. Section 4 allows the Department of Revenue to fund four tax analyst positions in its Tax Research Division from revenue gained in this bill.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Section 1

Since the General Assembly last updated its reference to the Internal Revenue Code, Congress passed the Tax and Trade Relief Extension Act of 1998 (P.L. 105-277) and a proposal relating to tax relief for personnel in the Kosovo conflict (P.L. 106-21). The chart on the next page lists the major items that impact the North Carolina income tax code. The Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation estimated the fiscal impact of these bills on the US Treasury. North Carolina's share of the revenue loss was determined by dividing N. C. actual tax collections by national tax collections.

Sections 2 & 3

These sections extend the statute of limitations for criminal violations from three years to six years for 1) willful failure to collect, withhold, or pay over tax and 2) willful failure to file return, supply information, or pay tax. These sections conform North Carolina statutes to the Internal Revenue Code. These sections also bring North Carolina law into line with other southeastern states such as South Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee. The Department of Revenue does not anticipate an increase in the number of criminal prosecutions due to this change, but will increase the number of criminal charges per case. No additional revenue is anticipated from this change.

Section 4

This section allows funding for four Tax Analyst positions in the Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue. These positions were recommended by the Revenue Laws Study Committee and are included in SB 74 and HB 55. The Tax Research Division compiles and publishes statistical and descriptive information on state and local taxes, analyzes the impact of proposed changes in the tax laws, and answers inquiries from the General Assembly, other state agencies, and the public about the tax laws. The four additional personnel will enable the Department to do the research and analysis needed to meet reporting requirements imposed by the General Assembly.

Each position is a Tax Analyst, grade 79, budgeted at an annual salary of $57,590. The estimated budget for these positions is shown below. The salaries are not adjusted for any potential pay increases in future years. Salaries and benefits, telephone service, and general office supplies are half of the annual amount needed due to a January 1, 2000 effective date. The furniture, computers, and office equipment are one-time costs.

NOTES:

North Carolina estimates are based on a percentage of the federal estimate calculated by the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation. The percentage used is N.C. actual tax collections divided by national tax collections. (Individual = .723% Corporate = .542%)

[1] Based on previous federal extensions of this tax credit, the General Fund revenue forecast assumes the renewal of this credit.

3] The provision applies with respect to any qualified prize to which a person first becomes entitled after the date of enactment. In addition, the provision also applies to any qualified prize to which a person became entitled on or before the date of enactment if the person has an option to receive a lump-sum payment only during some portion of the 18 month period beginning on 7/1/99. The national data is not useful in estimating North Carolina impact due to the lack of a state lottery or other games that provide large prizes.

[4] Under present law, the self-employed health insurance deduction rates are 45% in 1998 and 1999, 50% in 2000 and 2001, 60% in, 80% in 2003 through 2005, 90% in 2006, and 100% in 2007 and thereafter,

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR INDIVIDUALS TO PAY THEIR ANNUAL USE TAX WITH THEIR INCOME TAX FORMS, TO PROMOTE ELECTRONIC FILING, AND TO IMPROVE TAX COLLECTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 105-164.16(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Use Tax on Out-of-State Purchases. -- ~~Notwithstanding subsection (b),~~ Use tax payable by an individual who purchases tangible personal property outside the State for a nonbusiness purpose ~~shall file a use tax return~~ is due on an annual basis. ~~The~~ For an individual who is not required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter, the annual reporting period ends on the last day of the calendar ~~year. The return is due by the due date, including any approved extensions, for filing the individual's income tax return.~~ year and a use tax return is due by the following April 15. For an individual who is required to file an individual income tax return, the annual reporting period ends on the last day of the individual's income tax year, and the use tax must be paid on the income tax return as provided in G.S. 105-269.14."

Section 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-269.14. Payment of use tax with individual income tax.

(a) Requirement. -- An individual who owes use tax that is payable on an annual basis pursuant to G.S. 105-164.16(d) and who is required to file an individual income tax return under Part 2 of Article 4 of this Chapter must pay the use tax with the individual income tax return for the taxable year. The Secretary must provide appropriate space and information on the individual income tax form and instructions. The information must include the following:

(1) An explanation of an individual's obligation to pay use tax on items purchased from mail order, Internet, or other sellers that do not collect State and local sales and use taxes on the items.

(2) A method to help an individual determine the amount of use tax the individual owes. The method must list categories of items, such as personal computers and clothing, that are commonly sold by mail order or Internet and must include a table that gives the average amounts of use tax payable by taxpayers in various income ranges.

(b) Distribution. -- The Secretary must distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds collected under this section to counties and cities in proportion to their total distributions under Articles 39, 40, and 42 of this Chapter and Chapter 1096 of the 1967 Session Laws for the most recent period for which data is available. The provisions of G.S. 105-472, 105-486, and 105-501 do not apply to tax proceeds distributed under this section."

Section 3. To pay for the costs of programming, form revision, and resources for taxpayer assistance to implement Sections 1 and 2 of this act, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 4. During the 1999-2000 fiscal year, the Secretary of Revenue shall implement a program to allow those taxpayers required under G.S. 105-164.16 to report and pay sales and use taxes on a semimonthly basis to file the semimonthly return electronically. To pay for this program, the Secretary may draw up to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 5.(a) The Secretary of Revenue shall contract during the 1999-2001 fiscal biennium for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. To implement this section, the Secretary may draw funds for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act. The Secretary of Revenue shall report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee on its collections pursuant to this contract during the biennium.

Section 5.(b) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Delinquent tax debt. -- The amount of tax due as stated in a final notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer by the Secretary of Revenue when the taxpayer no longer has a right to contest the debt.

(2) Foreign entity. -- A foreign corporation as defined in G.S. 55-1-40, a foreign limited liability company as defined in G.S. 57C-1-03, a foreign limited partnership as defined in G.S. 59-102, or a general partnership formed under the laws of a jurisdiction other than this State.

Section 6. The Department of Revenue shall conduct a study to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including using electronic commerce and other technology to increase efficiency. The study shall include an analysis of the most efficient tax collection methods used in other states. The State Controller shall cooperate with the Department of Revenue in this study. The Department shall report the results of its study, including findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains of each recommendation, to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000. To implement this section, the Secretary of Revenue may draw up to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the 1999-2000 fiscal year from net collections that would otherwise be credited to the General Fund under G.S. 105-269.14, enacted by Section 2 of this act.

Section 7. Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-59.1. Contracts with certain foreign vendors.

The Secretary of Administration and other entities to which this Article applies shall not contract for goods or services with a vendor if the vendor or an affiliate of the vendor meets one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuses to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes on its sales delivered to North Carolina. The Secretary of Revenue shall provide the Secretary of Administration periodically with a list of vendors to which this section applies. For the purpose of this section, the term 'affiliate' has the meaning provided in G.S. 105-163.010."

Section 8. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding two new subdivisions to read:

"(22) To provide the Secretary of Administration pursuant to G.S. 143-59.1 a list of vendors and their affiliates who meet one or more of the conditions of G.S. 105-164.8(b) but refuse to collect the use tax levied under Article 5 of this Chapter on their sales delivered to North Carolina.

(23) To provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes under Article 5 of this Chapter to a retailer because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department of Revenue."

Section 9. Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

HOUSE BILL 1433:
Use Tax Payment/Other Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miller
Date:	July 6, 1999	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: House Bill 1433 simplifies use tax collection and seeks to improve tax collections in several ways:

- It provides that an individual who owes use tax to the State can pay the tax with the individual's income tax.
- It promotes the electronic filing of semimonthly sales tax reports.
- It directs the Secretary of Revenue to contract for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities.
- It directs the Department of Revenue and the State Controller to study the feasibility of a central collection operation.
- It prohibits the State agencies from contracting with a vendor who is required under G.S. 105-164.8(b) to collect State sales and use tax but refuses to do so.

The first part of the bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of the bill becomes effective July 1, 1999.

CURRENT LAW: North Carolina has a 6% sales and use tax. The sales tax is paid on purchases made in this State. The tax is collected by the retailer and remitted to the State. The use tax complements the sales tax by taxing transactions that are not subject to the sales tax because of movement in interstate commerce. Like the sales tax, the use tax is imposed on the purchaser. Unlike the sales tax, the responsibility for remitting the tax to the Department of Revenue is also on the purchaser.

Last biennium, the General Assembly sought to make the remittance of use tax by the taxpayer to the State less burdensome by providing that use tax on goods purchased out-of-state for a non-business purpose may be filed on an annual basis. The return and the tax are due at the same time as the personal income tax return.

BILL ANALYSIS: Sections 1 and 2 of House Bill 1433 provide that the use tax will be paid on the taxpayers' income tax returns. The bill provides that a taxpayer who owes use tax and who must remit a State tax return must pay the use tax owed with the tax return. The tax return will have space on it to indicate the amount of use tax owed. By placing the use tax on the individual income tax return, as opposed to a separate return sent to the taxpayer with the tax return, it is hoped that taxpayers' awareness of their responsibility to pay the tax will increase since taxpayers must affirm that the information on the return is true and complete by signing the return.

The bill requires the Secretary of Revenue to provide information on the individual income tax form and instructions to explain a person's obligation to pay use tax on items purchased from mail order, Internet, or other sellers that do not collect State sales tax on the items. The Secretary must also provide a method to help an individual determine the amount of use tax owed. The method must list categories of items that are commonly sold by mail order or Internet and must include a table that gives the average amounts of use tax payable by taxpayers in various income ranges.

Seven states provide a line on the individual income tax return for the collection of use tax. Another 7 states provide a use tax return with the individual income tax return and provide that the use tax return is due at the same time as the income tax return. Of the seven states that provide a line on the return for the collection of use tax, only Maine provides for an estimated amount of tax due.

The bill allows the Department to use some of the additional use tax revenue collected under this bill to promote tax collections:

- The Department may use $150,000 to pay for the costs of programming, form revision, and resources for taxpayer assistance in connection with the new use tax collection method.
- The Department may use $500,000 to implement a program to allow semimonthly sales and use taxpayers to file their returns electronically.
- The Department may use some of the revenue to contract for the collection of delinquent tax debts owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. A delinquent tax debt is the amount of tax due as stated in a final notice of assessment issued to the taxpayer when the taxpayer no longer has a right to contest the debt. The Department must report on its collections pursuant to this contract to the Revenue Laws Study Committee.
- The Department may use up to $50,000 to conduct a study, in cooperation with the State Controller, to identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes. The Department must report its findings, recommendations, and estimated revenue gains to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1, 2000.

The bill prohibits the State from contracting with a vendor for goods or services if the vendor is required by G.S. 105-164.8(b) to collect use tax for the State but refuses to do so. G.S. 105-164.8 requires a retailer who is engaged in business in this State to collect use tax on a mail order sale. G.S. 105-164.8(b) provides that a retailer who makes a mail order sale is engaged in business in this State if the retailer meets one or more of the following conditions:

- Is a corporation engaged in business under the laws of this State.
- Maintains offices in this State.
- Has representatives in this State who solicit business or transact business on behalf of the retailer.
- Is purposefully or systematically exploiting the market in this State by any media-assisted, media-facilitated, or media-solicited means, including direct mail advertising, distribution of catalogs, computer-assisted shopping, etc.
- Resides in a jurisdiction that has a compact or reciprocity with North Carolina to support North Carolina's taxing power.
- Consents to the imposition of the collection of the tax.

Lastly, the bill amends the tax secrecy provisions to allow the Secretary of Revenue to do two things:

- Provide the Secretary of Administration with a list of vendors who refuse to collect the State's use tax even though they are required to do so under G.S. 105-164.8.
- Provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use tax because of an exemption or because they are authorized to pay the tax directly to the Department.

BACKGROUND: In the 1980s, states around the country became increasing aware of the revenue loss associated with taxpayer avoidance of the use tax. The potential increase in State and local revenue for North Carolina, if full taxpayer compliance were achieved, would exceed $100 million.

The most cost-effective manner to collect the tax, from a state's point-of-view, is to require the out-of-state retailers to collect and remit the use tax. However, in 1967, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Bellas Hess that a state could not require an out-of-state retailer to collect its use tax unless the retailer has enough contacts with the state to subject it to the state's taxing jurisdiction. The Supreme Court reaffirmed this decision in 1992 in Quill Company v. North Dakota.

States have negotiated with direct marketers on at least two occasions to craft a voluntary collection agreement where marketers would collect the tax and states would simplify their reporting requirements. Both of these efforts were unsuccessful.

There are three efforts currently under way to address the issue of out-of-state purchases:

- The National Tax Association Communications and Electronic project is focusing on simplification issues and some policy principles to apply to remote commerce.
- The Advisory Commission on Electronic Commerce was established by the Internet Tax Freedom Act. It has 18 months to study electronic commerce issues and to make a report to Congress.
- The Multistate Tax Commission Tax Simplification Project is comprised of representatives of business and state and local governments who are focusing on ways to simplify the sales and use tax in the areas of uniformity and reporting. Sections 4 and 8 of this bill are two of the recommendations of the group working in North Carolina.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Department of Administration, all other state agencies have purchasing authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999. The remainder of this act becomes effective July 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes several changes to the policies and procedures surrounding North Carolina's use tax, income tax, and state purchasing. Sections 1 and 2 require individuals who file an income tax return to include with that return a use tax payment for purchases made by retailers that do not charge sales tax. The tax shall be calculated at a standard rate of 6%. If the taxpayer does not know the amount due, the taxpayer may pay the tax actually due on purchases of $1000 or more, and an estimated amount on purchases of less than $1000. The estimated amount due for the small purchases is either 0.06% of the individual's North Carolina taxable income or the equivalent amount provided in a table calculated by the Secretary of Revenue. Individuals who do not file an income tax return are still required to submit a use tax report. These sections also direct the Department of Revenue to provide appropriate space and information on the use tax requirements on the state's income tax materials. Section 2 also directs to the Secretary of Revenue to distribute one-third of the net use tax proceeds to the cities and counties.

Section 3 allows the Secretary of Revenue to draw up to $150,000 in FY 1999-00 to provide taxpayer assistance related to the use tax. Section 4 requires that the Department of Revenue implement a program to allow businesses that are required to file sales and use taxes twice a month to file their sales tax returns electronically. It allows the Secretary to draw up to $500,000 in FY 1999-00 from net sales tax collections to pay for the program. Section 5 directs the Department to contract for collection of delinquent taxes owed by nonresidents and foreign entities. Funding for the contract shall be drawn from use tax proceeds. The results must be reported annually to Revenue Laws. Section 6 directs the Department of Revenue to conduct a study, and identify and evaluate proposals for more efficient collection of taxes, including the use of electronic commerce and other technologies. The State Controller is directed to assist with the study. This section also authorizes the Secretary to draw up to $50,000 for the 1999-00 fiscal year to fund the study. A report with recommendations must be made to Revenue Laws by May 1, 2000. Section 7 bars the Secretary of Administration and all other state purchasing entities from contracting with vendors if that vendor (or its affiliate) refuses to collect the use tax on sales delivered to North Carolina. It directs the Department of Revenue to supply the Secretary of Administration with a list of such vendors. Section 8 directs the Secretary of Revenue to provide public access to a database containing the names and account numbers of taxpayers who are not required to pay sales and use taxes because they are either exempt or are authorized to pay the Department directly.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill makes several changes to tax collection and government purchasing procedures.

Sections 1& 2: These sections of the bill direct the Department of Revenue to alter their procedures for assessing and collecting individual use tax payments. The bill directs the Department to include specific space on the individual income tax return to report use tax payments, and provide a table to assist taxpayers in calculating their potential use tax liability.

Currently the Department of Revenue includes a form for individual use tax payments in the income tax instructions. However, the Department believes placing a special line for use tax payments on the individual income tax form will be much more effective and result in higher use tax payments. Based on a recent Department conducted survey, the Department of Revenue believes that at least seven other states now have a line item on their individual income tax form for use tax payments. Two of the states with a line on the form are Maine and Connecticut. Maine indicated to the North Carolina Department of Revenue that they collected $1.7 million in use taxes on individual income tax returns filed for 1997. Of the 576,000 returns filed, Maine reports that approximately 95,000 paid some use taxes. The North Carolina Department of Revenue receives approximately 3,000,000 returns annually. Based on this information and the data from Maine, the Sales Tax Division estimates that North Carolina will see a revenue increase of approximately $5,000,000. This amount is increase by 5% each year to reflect future growth. Because this revenue would be divided between the state and local governments, the actual fiscal impact is as follows:

	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
State	3,333,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Local	1,666,667	1,750,000	1,837,500	1,929,375	2,025,844
Total	5,000,000	5,250,000	5,512,500	5,788,125	6,077,531

Section 3: This section allows the Secretary of Revenue to deduct up to $150,000 from use tax proceeds to fund taxpayer assistance. This is amount is shown in the chart as a loss to the potential revenue stream created by the bill.

Section 4: This section authorizes the Secretary of Revenue to deduct up to $500,000 from use tax proceeds to fund electronic filing of semi-monthly sales tax returns. Under the bill businesses are not required to file electronically, they are merely given the option. This may increase revenues, as the Department may be able to draw more interest on the "float". However, because the electronic filing language is permissive, allowing retailers to decide if they will file electronically, no reliable estimate of the potential revenue change is possible. The note does assume that the Secretary will draw the $500,000. This amount is shown as a loss to the potential revenue stream.

Section 5: This section directs the Department to contract out the collection of out of state delinquent taxes. Because no contract has been negotiated, no accurate cost estimate is possible. It handled appropriately, contracting out should increase collections. However, no estimate is available on the potential gains. Since this information is not available no estimate is possible on the net potential revenue gain from this section of the Bill.

Section 6: This section directs the Department and the State Controller to study more efficient ways to collect taxes, and report their findings and recommendations to Revenue Laws. The note assumes the Secretary will draw the full $50,000 allowed for the study. No other fiscal impact is expected.

Section 7: This section of the bill bars the Department of Administration and other state purchasing entities from contracting with an out of state vendor that refuses to collect use tax on purchases delivered to North Carolina. Fiscal Research appropriations staff members do not believe this will have a fiscal impact on the Department of Administration or other organizations. There will be cost associated with Revenue compiling the list of barred vendors. However, the Department believes they can administer this portion of the bill without additional appropriations.

Section 8: This section directs the Department to create a public access database of those not required to pay sales taxes to vendors. While there may be some cost associated with this section of the bill, the Department should be able to fund this change through existing resources and those committed elsewhere in the bill.

Total Impact: Given the revenue increase created in Sections 1 and 2, and the expenses in the remainder of the bill, the net revenue gain as a result of the legislation is as follows:

	FY 1999-00	FY 2000-01	FY 2001-02	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04
State
Revenue Gain	3,333,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Less Expend.	(700,000)	-	-	-	-
Net Change	2,633,333	3,500,000	3,675,000	3,858,750	4,051,688
Local
Net Change	1,666,667	1,750,000	1,837,500	1,929,375	2,025,844

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The bill requires a fairly significant change in the state purchasing process. As a result, the Departments of Revenue and Administration may require some time to transition their systems and inform all appropriate entities. Therefore, Fiscal Research suggests the effective date be delayed at least three months to allow for a smooth transition.

HOUSE BILL 651
Committee Substitute Favorable 4/19/99

Short Title: Brunswick Fire Fees. (Local)

Sponsors:

Referred to:

March 29, 1999

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW BRUNSWICK COUNTY TO ASSESS A FIRE PROTECTION FEE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Fee-supported fire districts.

Section 1.(a) Request for Fee-Supported District. -- A county may create a fee-supported fire district for insurance grading purposes if it receives one of the following:

(1) A written request to create the district signed by at least two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of a fire department that contracts with the county to provide fire protection within an area of the county.

(2) A petition requesting creation of a district signed by fifteen percent (15%) of the resident freeholders living in an area in the county. The petition must describe the area to be designated as the district.

Section 1.(b) Creation of Fee-Supported District. -- Upon receipt of a request as provided in subsection (a), the county may adopt a resolution establishing a fee-supported fire district and imposing annual fees for the provision of fire protection services within the district. The fee may be established or changed only after the county board of commissioners has received the recommendations of the committee for that district, established under subsection (b1) of this section. The district may not include any area that is within (i) a tax-supported fire district established under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes; (ii) a county service district established under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes for fire protection purposes; or (iii) another fee-supported fire district. The district may not include any area that is within the corporate limits of a municipality unless the governing body of the municipality agrees to the inclusion. However, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of a municipality if the municipality has not levied a tax, performed any official act, nor held any elections within a period of 10 years preceding the adoption of the resolution including the area within the district.

Section 1.(b1) Committee for District. -- Each district shall have a committee to allow local control over the fee-setting process. In each district that does not include any territory in a participating municipality, the committee shall consist of five members as follows: The Fire Chief, the member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the district lies, a community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors, a community member chosen by the board of county commissioners, and the Fire Marshal. In each district that does include any territory in a participating municipality, the committee shall consist of members as follows: The Fire Chief, the mayor of each participating municipality in the district, the member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the district lies, a community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors, a community member chosen by the board of county commissioners, and the Fire Marshal. In either type of district, the Fire Marshal shall chair the committee, but may vote only to break a tie. The committee shall conduct an inquiry into the amount of funds required by the district to meet its needs, and shall make findings on the issue. The committee will communicate these findings to the board of county commissioners and recommend a fee. The board of county commissioners will then set the fee. The same process shall be used for changes to the fee once established.

Section 1.(c) Fees. -- The fees imposed by the county may not exceed the cost of providing fire protection services within the district and may be imposed on owners of all real property that benefits from the availability of fire protection and on owners of all manufactured or mobile homes that benefit from the availability of fire protection. For the purpose of this section, the term 'fire protection' includes furnishing emergency medical, rescue, and ambulance services to protect persons in the district from injury or death. The county shall establish a schedule of fees for different classes of property and the fee for each class of property shall be proportional to the estimated cost of providing fire protection services to that class of property. The schedule of fees shall include the following classes of property and the fee on each class of property shall not exceed the following maximums:

(1) A single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home, and appurtenant structures, plus up to five acres of surrounding land. The fee on this class of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per site per year.

(2) Unimproved land other than the five acres of land classified as part of a single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home. The county may establish a maximum fee for unimproved land of not more than five dollars ($5.00) per year.

(3) An animal production or horticultural operation. The fee on this class of property may not exceed ten dollars ($10.00) per site per year.

(4) A commercial facility other than an animal production or horticultural operation. The fee on this class of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per site per year for commercial facilities with structures encompassing less than 5,000 square feet and one hundred dollars ($100.00) per site per year for commercial facilities with structures encompassing 5,000 square feet or more.

(5) A multiple-family dwelling. Each unit in a multiple-family dwelling shall be treated as a single-family dwelling under subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(6) Any other class of property selected by the county. The fee on these classes of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per year.

Section 1.(d) Billing of Fees. -- The county may include a fee imposed under this section on the property tax bill for the real property, or the manufactured or mobile home, on which the fee is imposed.

Section 1.(e) Use of Fees. -- The county shall credit the fees collected within the district to a separate fund to be used only to furnish fire protection in the district. The board of commissioners shall administer the fund to provide fire protection by one or more of the following methods:

(1) Contracting with any municipality, any incorporated nonprofit volunteer or community fire department, or the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

(2) Furnishing fire protection itself if it maintains an organized fire department.

(3) Establishing a fire department in the district.

Section 1.(f) Audit of Fire Department. -- If the county contracts with a fire department to provide fire protection services in a fee-supported fire district, the fire department shall prepare an annual budget based on anticipated revenues and shall submit the budget to the county for processing and approval through the county's regular budget procedure. Upon request of the county, the fire department shall make quarterly or semiannual reports to the county detailing its revenues, expenditures, and activities. The county may audit the fire department's financial records upon reasonable notice to the fire department.

Section 1.(g) Extension of Area of District. -- The county may by resolution annex to any fee-supported fire district any territory that it could include in a new district under subsection (c) of this section, upon finding that:

(1) The area to be annexed is contiguous to the district, with at least one-eighth of the area's aggregate external boundary coincident with the existing boundary of the district; and

(2) The area to be annexed requires the services of the district.

The county may also by resolution annex to any fee-supported fire district any territory it could include in a new district under subsection (c) of this section if one hundred percent (100%) of the real property owners in the territory to be annexed have petitioned the board of commissioners for annexation to the service district.

The area of any fee-supported fire district may be increased by including within the boundaries of the district any adjoining territory lying within a municipality if the territory is not already included in another fire protection district, and both the municipal governing body and the county commissioners of the county in which the district is located agree by resolution to the inclusion. However, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of a municipality if the municipality has not levied a tax, performed any official act, nor held any elections within a period of 10 years preceding the adoption of the resolution including the area within the district.

Section 1.(h) Annexation of District. -- When any portion of a fee-supported fire district has been annexed by a municipality furnishing fire protection to its citizens, and the municipality has not agreed to allow territory within it to be in the district, then the portion of the district annexed is no longer part of a fee-supported district. For the purposes of this section and regardless of the actual effective date of annexation, the date of annexation shall be considered to be a date in the month of June.

Section 1.(i) Abolition of District. -- Upon finding that there is no longer a need for a given fee-supported fire district, the board of commissioners may repeal the resolution establishing the district and thus abolish the district."

Section 2. This act applies to Brunswick County only.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 651:
Brunswick Fire Fees

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: July 7, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Redwine
Summary by: Cindy Avrette and Martha Walston, Staff Attorneys

SUMMARY: House Bill 651 authorizes Brunswick County to create a fee-supported fire district and to impose annual fees for the provision of fire protection services within the district. The bill would become effective when it becomes law. The General Assembly passed similar legislation for Union County in 1992. The current version only makes clarifying changes to the original bill and was given a favorable report in House Finance.

CURRENT LAW: Fire protection in areas outside cities is provided through the establishment of fire protection districts. The statutes provide for the creation of three types of rural fire districts:

- Insurance districts. G.S. 153A-233 authorizes counties to designate fire districts and prescribe their boundaries for insurance-grading purposes. To pay for this protection, the county is authorized to appropriate funds "not otherwise limited as to use by law."
- Tax-supported fire districts. Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes authorizes tax-supported fire districts. They are created by a petition and an election. To pay for this protection, a special tax is levied and collected on all taxable property in the district at a rate not exceeding 15¢ on the $100 valuation of property.
- County service districts for fire protection. Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes authorizes the county commissioners to define service districts for fire protection after a public hearing. To pay for this protection, a county may levy an additional property tax within the district for the purpose of financing fire protection services. The county may also use revenues whose use is not otherwise restricted by law and it may issue general obligation bonds.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 651 establishes a fourth type of fire district for Brunswick County: a fee supported fire district. Under the legislation, Brunswick County may create a fee supported fire district if the board of commissioners receive one of the following requests:

- A written request to create the district signed by at least 2/3 of the members of the board of directors of a fire department that contracts with the county to provide fire protection within an area of the county.
- A petition requesting a district signed by 15% of the residents living in an area in the county.

Upon receipt of a proper request, the county may adopt a resolution establishing a fee-supported f district and imposing annual fees for the provision of fire protection services within the district.

The amount of the fees may not exceed the cost of providing the service. It is imposed on all real property and all manufactured or mobile homes that benefit from the availability of fire protection. The county may establish a fee schedule for different classes of property and the fee for each class of property must be proportional to the estimated cost of providing fire protection services to that class of property. The bill creates six classes of property and establishes a maximum fee amount for each class:

Class of Property	Maximum Fee Amount
Single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home, plus up to 5 acres of surrounding land	$50.00
Unimproved land	$5.00
An animal production nor horticultural operation	$10.00
Any other commercial facility	$50.00
Multiple-family dwelling	Each unit treated as single-family dwelling
Any other class of property	$50.00

The fee may be established or changed only after the county board of commissioners has received a recommended fee schedule from a committee created to give the people in the district some control over the fee-setting process. In a district that does not include any area within a participating municipality, the committee must consist of five members:

1. The Fire Chief.
2. The member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than 50% of the land are of the district lies.
3. A community member chosen by the board of county commissioners.
4. A community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors.
5. The Fire Marshal.

If the district includes areas within a participating municipality, then the committee must include the mayor of the municipality.

The fee may be included on the property owner's property tax bill. The revenue generated by the fees must be credited to a separate fund and used only to furnish fire protection services in the district. The board of commissioners will administer the fund. The board may provide fire protection to the district by contracting for the services with someone else or by providing the service itself if it maintains or create an organized fire department in the district.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Brunswick County Commissioners

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill allows Brunswick County to create fee-supported fire districts if it receives either 1) a written request to create a district by at least 2/3 of the members of a fire department's board of directors or 2) a petition requesting creation of a district signed by 15% of the residents living in the proposed district area.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The twenty-one fire departments in Brunswick County have requested the creation of fire districts. However, the anticipated revenue per fire district has not been calculated. There are approximately 100,000 parcels of property detailed on 1,400 tax maps in Brunswick County. The County Tax Assessor estimates that it will take five to six months for his staff to manually match parcels to fire districts. No work has begun on the proposed fire districts, because all tax office resources are now directed toward a revaluation process and its resulting appeals. The Tax Assessor believes the first fire district tax would not be collected until FY 2000-01.

Although individual fire district revenues can't be determined, the tax revenue for all 21 fire districts can be estimated as follows:

Single-family dwelling	35,000 parcels	X $25 per parcel	$875,000
Commercial property	2,000 parcels	X $50 per parcel	$100,000
Vacant property	63,000 parcels	X $2.50 per parcel	$157,500
			$1,132,500

The County Tax Assessor provided the breakdown of parcels by property type. The tax values per parcel are those used in preliminary staff projections reviewed by the Brunswick County Commissioners. The estimate assumes all 21 fire districts choose to impose a tax.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW BRUNSWICK COUNTY TO ASSESS A FIRE PROTECTION FEE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Fee-supported fire districts.

Section 1.(a) Request for Fee-Supported District. -- A county may create a fee-supported fire district for insurance grading purposes if it receives one of the following:

(1) A written request to create the district signed by at least two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of a fire department that contracts with the county to provide fire protection within an area of the county.

(2) A petition requesting creation of a district signed by fifteen percent (15%) of the resident freeholders living in an area in the county. The petition must describe the area to be designated as the district.

Section 1.(b) Creation of Fee-Supported District. -- Upon receipt of a request as provided in subsection (a), the county may adopt a resolution establishing a fee-supported fire district and imposing annual fees for the provision of fire protection services within the district. The fee may be established or changed only after the county board of commissioners has received the recommendations of the committee for that district, established under subsection (b1) of this section. The district may not include any area that is within (i) a tax-supported fire district established under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes; (ii) a county service district established under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes for fire protection purposes; or (iii) another fee-supported fire district. The district may not include any area that is within the corporate limits of a municipality unless the governing body of the municipality agrees to the inclusion. However, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of a municipality if the municipality has not levied a tax, performed any official act, nor held any elections within a period of 10 years preceding the adoption of the resolution including the area within the district.

Section 1.(b1) Committee for District. -- Each district shall have a committee to allow local control over the fee-setting process. In each district that does not include any territory in a participating municipality, the committee shall consist of five members as follows: The Fire Chief, the member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the district lies, a community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors, a community member chosen by the board of county commissioners, and the Fire Marshal. In each district that does include any territory in a participating municipality, the committee shall consist of members as follows: The Fire Chief, the mayor of each participating municipality in the district, the member of the board of county commissioners in whose electoral district more than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the district lies, a community member chosen by the Fire Department Board of Directors, a community member chosen by the board of county commissioners, and the Fire Marshal. In either type of district, the Fire Marshal shall chair the committee, but may vote only to break a tie. The committee shall conduct an inquiry into the amount of funds required by the district to meet its needs, and shall make findings on the issue. The committee will communicate these findings to the board of county commissioners and recommend a fee. The board of county commissioners will then set the fee. The same process shall be used for changes to the fee once established.

Section 1.(c) Fees. -- The fees imposed by the county may not exceed the cost of providing fire protection services within the district and may be imposed on owners of all real property that benefits from the availability of fire protection and on owners of all manufactured or mobile homes that benefit from the availability of fire protection. For the purpose of this section, the term 'fire protection' includes furnishing emergency medical, rescue, and ambulance services to protect persons in the district from injury or death. The county shall establish a schedule of fees for different classes of property and the fee for each class of property shall be proportional to the estimated cost of providing fire protection services to that class of property. The schedule of fees shall include the following classes of property and the fee on each class of property shall not exceed the following maximums:

(1) A single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home, and appurtenant structures, plus up to five acres of surrounding land. The fee on this class of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per site per year.

(2) Unimproved land other than the five acres of land classified as part of a single-family dwelling or manufactured or mobile home. The county may establish a maximum fee for unimproved land of not more than five dollars ($5.00) per year.

(3) An animal production or horticultural operation. The fee on this class of property may not exceed ten dollars ($10.00) per site per year.

(4) A commercial facility other than an animal production or horticultural operation. The fee on this class of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per site per year for commercial facilities with structures encompassing less than 5,000 square feet and one hundred dollars ($100.00) per site per year for commercial facilities with structures encompassing 5,000 square feet or more.

(5) A multiple-family dwelling. Each unit in a multiple-family dwelling shall be treated as a single-family dwelling under subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(6) Any other class of property selected by the county. The fee on these classes of property may not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per year.

Section 1.(d) Billing of Fees. -- The county may include a fee imposed under this section on the property tax bill for the real property, or the manufactured or mobile home, on which the fee is imposed.

Section 1.(e) Use of Fees. -- The county shall credit the fees collected within the district to a separate fund to be used only to furnish fire protection in the district. The board of commissioners shall administer the fund to provide fire protection by one or more of the following methods:

(1) Contracting with any municipality, any incorporated nonprofit volunteer or community fire department, or the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

(2) Furnishing fire protection itself if it maintains an organized fire department.

(3) Establishing a fire department in the district.

Section 1.(f) Audit of Fire Department. -- If the county contracts with a fire department to provide fire protection services in a fee-supported fire district, the fire department shall prepare an annual budget based on anticipated revenues and shall submit the budget to the county for processing and approval through the county's regular budget procedure. Upon request of the county, the fire department shall make quarterly or semiannual reports to the county detailing its revenues, expenditures, and activities. The county may audit the fire department's financial records upon reasonable notice to the fire department.

Section 1.(g) Extension of Area of District. -- The county may by resolution annex to any fee-supported fire district any territory that it could include in a new district under subsection (c) of this section, upon finding that:

(1) The area to be annexed is contiguous to the district, with at least one-eighth of the area's aggregate external boundary coincident with the existing boundary of the district; and

(2) The area to be annexed requires the services of the district.

The county may also by resolution annex to any fee-supported fire district any territory it could include in a new district under subsection (c) of this section if seventy-five percent (75%) of the real property owners in the territory to be annexed have petitioned the board of commissioners for annexation to the service district.

The area of any fee-supported fire district may be increased by including within the boundaries of the district any adjoining territory lying within a municipality if the territory is not already included in another fire protection district, and both the municipal governing body and the county commissioners of the county in which the district is located agree by resolution to the inclusion. However, it is not necessary to obtain the consent of a municipality if the municipality has not levied a tax, performed any official act, nor held any elections within a period of 10 years preceding the adoption of the resolution including the area within the district.

Section 1.(h) Annexation of District. -- When any portion of a fee-supported fire district has been annexed by a municipality furnishing fire protection to its citizens, and the municipality has not agreed to allow territory within it to be in the district, then the portion of the district annexed is no longer part of a fee-supported district. For the purposes of this section and regardless of the actual effective date of annexation, the date of annexation shall be considered to be a date in the month of June.

Section 1.(i) Abolition of District. -- Upon finding that there is no longer a need for a given fee-supported fire district, the board of commissioners may repeal the resolution establishing the district and thus abolish the district.

Section 2. This act applies to Brunswick County only.

Section 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Section 10. This act is effective when it becomes law. Sections 2 through 8 of this act become effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 19:
Gambling Boats Regulated

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: July 6, 1999
Version: Fourth Edition

Introduced by: Rep. Redwine
Summary by: Martha K. Walston
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 19 prohibits casino boat cruises to nowhere in North Carolina. North Carolina cannot prohibit gambling boat cruises that engage in interstate commerce by making at least one stop outside the State. However, the bill imposes the following requirements on gambling boat cruises that originate and end in North Carolina:

- A privilege license tax at the rate of $6.00 for each passenger.
- A requirement that the gambling boat operator deduct and withhold from a North Carolina resident's winnings individual income taxes equal to 7% of the winnings paid to the resident.

An earlier version of the bill imposed a annual gambling boat permit of $10,000, if the gambling boat operator desired to sell alcoholic beverages on the voyage while it was within the State's boundaries.

House Bill 19 has been in House Judiciary I, House Finance, and Senate Commerce.

BACKGROUND: Gambling and the possession and use of gambling devices, such as slot machines, punchboards, and gaming tables, are illegal in North Carolina. However, because of changes in the federal law since 1992, it is legal to transport and possess gambling devices on US flagships within the boundaries of a state if the use of the devices occurs outside the boundaries of the state and the devices remain onboard the vessel while it is within the state's boundaries. The 1992 changes to the Johnson Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1175, were enacted in part to end the discrimination between US flagships and foreign flagships. This change in the federal law means that it would be permissible for a person in North Carolina to have a vessel equipped with gambling devices and to take passengers on voyages for the purpose of gambling, so long as the vessel travels outside the 3 mile territorial boundary of the State before initiating the gambling games. This type of voyage is commonly referred to as a "cruise to nowhere".

The Johnson Act does permit states to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere if the voyage begins and ends in the same state without making an intervening stop. To prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere, a state must pass legislation that bans the use of gambling devices outside the boundaries of the state on voyages that begin and end in the state without making an intervening stop. A South Carolina court case and a Georgia AG opinion, as well as legislative discussions in several other states, have concluded that to escape the effect of the 1992 amendments to the Johnson Act, a state must pass specific legislation to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere. North Carolina's current statutes prohibiting gambling and the possession of gambling devices are not sufficient to meet this "opt out" provision in the federal law.

House Bill 19 provides the specific legislation necessary to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere in North Carolina.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the bill defines a "casino boat" as a vessel that leaves from and returns to a port in North Carolina for the purpose of gambling without making an intervening stop in another state or country. Although federal law does not define "an intervening stop", this bill does. It defines an "intervening stop" as a docking at a port outside the boundaries of North Carolina for a period of at least six hours where the passengers may disembark the vessel for sightseeing, shopping, or other similar tourism-related activities.

The bill makes it unlawful to operate a casino boat, to possess, use, or repair a gambling device on a casino boat, or to solicit people to embark on a casino boat. A person who violates this law is guilty of a Class A1 misdemeanor. A Class A1 misdemeanor is the most serious misdemeanor offense. It is punishable by community punishment, intermediate punishment, or active punishment. A monetary fine maybe imposed in the discretion of the court. Upon conviction, a person's vessel, along with all of its equipment, maybe seized, forfeited, and sold. If a law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that a violation of this law is occurring, the officer may seize the illegal gambling devices, seize any monies or property used in conjunction with or derived from the unlawful use of the illegal gambling devices, and seize the vessel upon which the illegal gambling devices are found. The bill clarifies that the law does not apply to vessels engaged in interstate commerce and that it does not prevent the prosecution for other gambling offenses. (An earlier version of the bill allowed the seizure of any means conveyance to and from an illegally used vessel.)

North Carolina cannot prohibit gambling voyages that are allowed by federal law. Therefore, a person may offer gambling voyages that begin and end in North Carolina so long as the voyage makes an intervening stop in another state or country and all the gambling takes place beyond the 3 mile territorial boundary of the State. However, North Carolina can regulate these gambling boat voyages.

Section 1 of the bill provides that the vessel must met the Safety of Life at Sea (SOLAS) standards and requirements normally applicable in international waters. SOLAS ensures that, with regard to the passengers' safety, the vessel is fit for service. Vessels are inspected by the U.S. Coast Guard. It also provides that all of the vessel's passengers must be at least 21 years of age.

Section 2 of the bill defines a gambling boat voyage for North Carolina tax purposes as a voyage that meets all of the following conditions:

- It transports passengers engaged in gambling aboard the vessel.
- Its passengers embark the vessel in this State.
- Its passengers disembark the vessel only in this State or a contiguous state.

This definition of "gambling boat voyage" eliminates the imposition of the tax obligations on cruise ship that travel and dock in noncontiguous states or another country.

The remainder of the bill creates tax obligations for the gambling boat operator that do not exist under current law. A gambling boat operator is a person engaged in the business of operating a gambling boat voyage. Section 3 imposes a privilege license tax on gambling boat voyages at a rate equal to $6 per passenger. Section 6 requires a gambling boat operator who pays a resident of this State more than $600 in gambling winnings during a gambling boat voyage to deduct and withhold income tax from the resident's winnings. The federal government requires that taxes be withheld if the winnings exceed $5,000. The amount of State taxes to be withheld is 7% of the winnings paid to the resident. If the gambling boat operator does not withhold from any gambling winnings paid to an individual, the operator must obtain from the individual documentation proving that the individual is not a resident of North Carolina. The operator must remit the withheld tax payments to the State quarterly.

The following tax laws would also apply to businesses engaged in the gambling boat voyage business: State income tax and sales tax on any sales of tangible personal property that occur while the boat is in North Carolina's territorial boundaries. Also under current law, residents of North Carolina must pay tax on any income derived from gambling activities, whether they occur inside or outside the State's territorial boundaries.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law. The tax sections of this act become effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 2 through 8 of this act are effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law. All other sections are effective when the bill becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:

The bill prohibits in North Carolina those casino equipped boats that take gambling cruises to nowhere in the Atlantic Ocean. Ships that embark passengers in North Carolina for "gambling boat voyages" to contiguous states must pay a privilege tax of $6 per passenger, obtain a $10,000 ABC license if it has a home port in the state, and withhold 7% of winnings from North Carolina residents. When traveling outside North Carolina's three-mile criminal jurisdictional limit, HB 19 requires a casino boat to make an intervening stop in another state or country for 6 hours and allow its passengers to disembark or country and embark passengers in North Carolina ports.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

There are no casino boats based in North Carolina nor are there casino boats in the contiguous states of Virginia and South Carolina that embark passengers in North Carolina for gambling boat voyages. There are two small cruise lines that have scheduled stops in North Carolina, but these ships do not offer gambling. Although North Carolina is visited infrequently by the major cruise lines that have casino operations onboard, these vessels are exempt from tax because they do not have home ports in the state and do not arrange cruises to contiguous states.

No information is available to estimate the potential for gambling boat voyages in the future. It is uncertain how prospective casino boat operators will react to the restrictions and taxes imposed in HB 19. Fiscal Research talked to the owner of the Stardancer, one of two casino boats based in Little River, South Carolina, and found that the owner had no intention of expanding his business into North Carolina. Furthermore, the intervening stop requirements of HB 19 may make travel to North Carolina impracticable and less profitable. The Stardancer casino boat has a cruise time of five hours (1 hour to reach the 3-mile limit, 3 hours to gamble, and 1 hour to return) and makes two trips a day. The six hour intervening stop requirement would prohibit the Stardancer casino boat from making two daily trips and would increase costs due to additional staff hours spent on board.

Failure of the owner to certify that he has financial responsibility as herein required shall be prima facie evidence that no financial responsibility exists with regard to the vehicle concerned and unless the owner's registration plate has on or prior to the date of termination of insurance been surrendered to the Division by surrender to an agent or representative of the Division designated by the Commissioner, or depositing the same in the United States mail, addressed to the Division of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh, North Carolina, the Division shall revoke the vehicle's registration for 30 days.

In no case shall any vehicle, the registration of which has been revoked for failure to have financial responsibility, be reregistered in the name of the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner within less than 30 days after the date of receipt of the registration plate by the Division of Motor Vehicles, except that a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner may register such vehicle immediately in such spouse's name. Additionally, as a condition precedent to the reregistration of the vehicle by the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner, except a spouse living separate and apart from the registered owner, the payment of a restoration fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) and the appropriate fee for a new registration plate is required. Any person, firm or corporation failing to give notice of termination shall be subject to a civil penalty of two hundred dollars ($200.00) to be assessed by the Commissioner of Insurance upon a finding by the Commissioner of Insurance that good cause is not shown for such failure to give notice of termination to the Division."

Failure of the owner to certify that he has financial responsibility as herein required shall be prima facie evidence that no financial responsibility exists with regard to the vehicle concerned and unless the owner's registration plate has on or prior to the date of termination of insurance been surrendered to the Division by surrender to an agent or representative of the Division designated by the Commissioner, or depositing the same in the United States mail, addressed to the Division of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh, North Carolina, the Division shall revoke the vehicle's registration for 30 days.

In no case shall any vehicle, the registration of which has been revoked for failure to have financial responsibility, be reregistered in the name of the registered owner, spouse, or any child of the spouse, or any child of such owner within less than 30

A tax levied under this Article must be paid to the Authority that levied the tax by the date an optional gross receipts tax would be payable to the Secretary of Revenue under G.S. 105-187.5 if the retailer who leases or rents the U-drive-it ~~passenger~~ vehicle or motorcycle had elected to pay the optional gross receipts tax."

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation – Division of Motor Vehicles

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 5 (graduated drivers license change) becomes effective July 1, 1999. Section 17 (notification of terminated insurance policies) becomes effective October 1, 2000. The remainder of the act becomes effective October 1, 1999.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill makes numerous changes to the motor vehicle laws found in Chapter 20 of the North Carolina General Statutes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

REVENUES

Section 14 of the bill has a direct fiscal impact on the Highway Fund. Small daily rental trucks are now issued a "for-hire" plate that is renewed annually. This "for-hire" status requires the vehicle owner to carry a high insurance liability policy. The proposal is to classify small daily rental trucks as U-drive-it passenger vehicles, a category that now includes cars and buses. These daily rentals will require lower insurance liability policies, but will pay higher fees for the privilege.

The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) estimates that 2,500 small trucks are licensed each year as daily rentals. The chart below shows the estimated number of trucks by weight class. The chart also shows the current and proposed fees. The first year revenue gain is reduced by one fourth due to an October 1, 1999 starting date. DMV estimates that the number of trucks licensed in future years will grow by 2% annually.

Truck Weight	# of Trucks	Current Fees	Current Revenue	Proposed Fees	Proposed Revenue	Net Gain
4,000 lbs	1000	$21.50	$21,500	$41.50	$41,500	$20,000
5,000 lbs	1000	$40.75	$40,750	$51.00	$51,000	$10,250
6,000 lbs	500	$47.00	$23,500	$61.00	$30,500	$7,000
	2,500		$85,750		$123,000	$37,250

Section 10 has the potential to both lose revenues and to decrease expenditures. The section allows DMV "to accept electronic applications for the issuance of registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title, and to electronically collect fees and penalties". Currently registration renewal can be done by mail or by a visit to a contract tag agent. Renewal by mail requires the payment of a $1 processing fee in addition to the registration renewal fee. There were 1.2 million mail-in renewals last year and thus $1.2 million in administrative fees paid to the Highway Fund. If vehicle owners that now renew by mail are allowed to renew over the internet, then DMV will lose a portion of this revenue. To be revenue neutral, the bill must be amended to allow DMV to charge a $1 processing fee to use this electronic service. However, electronic renewal is a moot point since DMV does not have the authority to accept credit cards for payment and it is uncertain when this approval will be granted.

EXPENDITURES

As mentioned above, Section 10 also has the potential to reduce expenditures. A 1995 study by the NCDOT Productivity Management unit reported that registration renewals performed by DMV were less expensive than those completed by contract tag agents. In 1995, DMV paid $1.73 for renewals by contract agents and spent $1.44 for in-house processing. Most of the cost for contract agents was the $1.20 transaction fee (now $1.35). If a vehicle owner that now uses a tag agent chooses to renew electronically, then DMV saves 29 cents per transaction. With the increase in internet commerce, it is likely that consumers will choose on-line payment versus a trip to a tag agent for simple transactions. The problem is that registration renewals are the easiest and most profitable transactions for branch agents. The smaller volume contract agents unable to absorb the lost revenue may have to close. Again, the General Assembly has to give DMV the authority to use credit cards for payment. In turn, the General Assembly must decide the role of contract tag agents under electronic commerce.

Section 17 requires insurance companies to notify DMV when they terminate policies and issue new ones within 10 days. This section will reduce the number of vehicle owners contacted by DMV who have not experienced a lapse in coverage, but have only "shopped around" for lower premiums. DMV estimates that 400,000 unnecessary letters will be eliminated due to this change in policy. At a pre-sort postage rate of 26.1 cents per letter, this will create annual savings of $104,400. The section is effective beginning October 1, 2000, thus first year savings in FY 2000-01 are for nine months. No postal rate increases are included in this note.

Section 11 requires DMV to maintain records for 20 years instead of the life of the vehicle. This could save DMV computer storage space, but no savings have been estimated for this item.

(a) Spay/Neuter Fund. -- The Spay/Neuter Fund is established in the Animal Welfare Section of the Animal Health Division of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services as a nonreverting special revenue account consisting of funds credited to the Fund under G.S. 130A-190 or any other provision of law. The money in the Fund shall be used for the following purposes:

(1) Up to twenty percent (20%) of the money in the Fund may be used by the Department to educate the public on the benefits of having pets spayed and neutered.

(2) The remainder of the money in the Fund shall be distributed at the end of each fiscal year to units of local government eligible to receive a distribution from the Fund under the provisions of subsection (c) of this section.

(b) Statewide Education Program. -- The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall establish a statewide education program to educate the public on the benefits of having dogs and cats spayed and neutered. The Department may use up to twenty percent (20%) of the money in the Fund to defray the costs of providing staff to the program and may employ outside consultants to assist with the program. The Department may work cooperatively on the program with the North Carolina School of Veterinary Medicine at Raleigh, with other departments of State government, with municipal health and animal control departments, and with statewide and local humane organizations.

(c) Spay/Neuter Programs. -- To receive a distribution of money from the Spay/Neuter Fund, a unit of local government must apply to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services by April 1 of each year. To be eligible for a distribution from the Fund, the applicant must levy an animal tax on dogs and cats under either G.S. 153A-153 or G.S. 160A-212 and the amount of the tax levied on a dog or cat that has not been spayed or neutered must be at least three times higher than the amount of the tax levied on a dog or cat that has been spayed or neutered. (5) Subvention of the costs of spaying and neutering costs incurred by persons who adopt a pet from an animal shelter operated by or under contract with the applicant.

The Department shall distribute the money in the Fund to the eligible applicants in proportion to the number of dogs and cats that have received a rabies vaccination during the preceding fiscal year in that unit of local government as compared to the number of dogs and cats that have received a rabies vaccination during the preceding fiscal year by all of the eligible applicants. A unit of local government receiving a distribution from the Spay/Neuter Fund may spend the money only on programs that lower the cost of spaying and neutering dogs and cats.

(d) Definition. -- For the purposes of this section, the term "unit of local government" means a city as defined in G.S. 160A-1 or a county as defined in G.S. 153A-1.

"§ 106-363.6. Fee on rabies vaccination.

The fee is payable to the licensed veterinarian or certified rabies vaccinator that administers the rabies vaccination. The licensed veterinarian or certified rabies vaccinator must submit the fees collected under this subsection to the Animal Welfare Section of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services within 30 days after the end of each calendar quarter. The Department shall credit these payments to the Spay/Neuter Fund established in G.S. 106-363.5.

(b) Exception. -- The fee in subsection (a) of this section does not apply to rabies vaccinations administered at a countywide rabies vaccination clinic where the fee charged for the rabies vaccination is set by the county board of commissioners under G.S. 130A-188.

"§ 106-363.7. Report by Veterinary Public Health Director.

The Veterinary Public Health Director in the Department of Health and Human Services shall report to the Director of the Animal Welfare Section of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services on the number of rabies vaccination tags sold to licensed veterinarians and certified rabies vaccinators."

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED:

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2000 and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill creates a new "safety profession" and provides that only those individuals who are certified as either a Certified Safety Professional or an Associate Safety Professional may present themselves as safety professionals in North Carolina. The national, private Board of Certified Safety Professionals must certify these individuals. The bill defines the terms "Associate Safety Professional", "Board of Certified Safety Professionals", and "Certified Safety Professional". Under the bill, representing that someone is a safety professional without having the appropriate certification will be considered an unfair and deceptive trade practice. The bill exempts from these requirement professionals who are licensed in another field and are engaged in the practice of that profession. Persons who practice in the field of safety, injury or illness prevention and who do not use titles, engineers, architects, and those under the supervision of architects are also exempt. Finally, the bill requires the Board to file with the Secretary of State the name, address, telephone number and date of certification of all certified and associate safety professionals. This listing must be accompanied by $35.00 for each certification.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The only potential fiscal impact of the bill relates to the fee. Information from the Board of Certified Safety Professionals indicates that there were 200 certified safety professionals practicing in North Carolina in 1997. No more recent information is available. Assuming the number of Certified Safety Professionals increases to 225 in 2000, the potential revenue is $7875 (225 certifications * $35 each). This amount would likely decrease significantly once the initial information was transferred. These funds are deposited with the Secretary of State, with the balance reverting to the General Fund at the end of the fiscal year.

The Secretary of State's Office indicates that they expect to hire one part time person (Pay grade 59) to input and manage the initial data entry. They also expect to incur about $5,000 in programming and related costs. The total expected on time cost to the Secretary of State is estimated to be approximately $19,000.

NOTE: Neither the revenue nor expenditures associated with this bill have been included in the state budget.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: Senate Finance
Date: July 6, 1999
Version: 2nd Edition

Introduced by: Senator Dalton
Summary by: Martha K. Walston
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 897 would create a new Article 37 "Safety Profession" in Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, which governs medicine and allied occupations, to provide that only those persons certified by the private Board of Certified Safety Professionals as either a Certified Safety Professional or an Associate Safety Professional may represent themselves as certified safety professionals. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in Senate Judiciary I. The bill is before Senate Finance because it requires that a $35.00 filing fee be paid to the Secretary of State for each associate safety professional and safety professional certification.

CURRENT LAW: Current law does not provide for certification of safety professionals as defined in the bill nor does the law restrict the use of the name safety professional.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the bill creates four new statutory sections. G.S. 90-646 defines "Associate Safety Professional", "Board of Certified Safety Professionals", and Certified Safety Professional". An Associate or Certified Safety Professional is defined as a person who has met the education, experience and examination requirements established by the Board for that classification.

G.S. 90-467 would make it an unfair and deceptive trade practice for a person to represent themselves as a Certified Safety Professional or an Associate Safety Professional unless the person is certified by the Board of Certified Safety Professionals. This section would authorize a court to impose a civil penalty and injunctive relief for violations of this section.

G.S. 90-468 exempts from the application of this new Article persons who are licensed as other professionals and are engaged in the practice of that profession, persons who practice within the scope of safety, injury, or illness prevention and who do not use specific titles, a person licensed as an architect and any person working under the supervision of a licensed architect. This section also makes it clear that this Article does not permit the practice of engineering except by licensed engineers.

G.S. 90-649 requires the Board to file with the Secretary of State the name, address, telephone number and the date of certification of all associate safety professionals and certified safety professionals and to pay a $35 filing fee. This fee will be used by the Secretary to pay the cost incurred in administering and enforcing the Safety Profession Article. The Secretary of State is required to keep a registry of safety professionals.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill becomes effective January 1, 2000 and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

O. Walker Reagan, committee counsel to Senate Judicary I, contributed substantially to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Secretary of State.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2000 and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill creates a new "safety profession" and provides that only those individuals who are certified as either a Certified Safety Professional or an Associate Safety Professional may present themselves as safety professionals in North Carolina. The national, private Board of Certified Safety Professionals must certify these individuals. The bill defines the terms "Associate Safety Professional", "Board of Certified Safety Professionals", and "Certified Safety Professional". Under the bill, representing that someone is a safety professional without having the appropriate certification will be considered an unfair and deceptive trade practice. Finally, the bill requires the Board to file with the Secretary of State the name, address, telephone number and date of certification of all certified and associate safety professionals. This listing must be accompanied by $35.00 for each certification.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The only potential fiscal impact of the bill relates to the fee. The Board of Certified Safety Professionals indicates that there are currently 275 certified safety professionals practicing in North Carolina. The potential revenue is $9,625 (275 certifications * $35 each) for the first fiscal year.

Fiscal Research expects that the revenue generated will decrease significantly in the out years. The Board indicates that they would be able to provide an updated list of professionals via computer disc or e-mail on whatever timetable the Secretary of State and the law deems appropriate. The Board reports that the number of certified professionals in North Carolina has increased from 200 in 1997 to 275 in 1999. Assuming the approximately 38 new professionals are added each year, the potential revenue stream from changes only would be approximately $1,330.

The Secretary of State's Office indicates that they expect to hire one part time temporary person (Pay grade 59), to manage data and consumer inquires. Therefore, the Secretary of State estimates cost of approximately $9,000 - $10,000 to implement the bill. Fiscal Research staff believes this is a reasonable initial request, however one year's experience with the bill can used to determine future resource requirements.

Any remaining revenue from this bill, less expenses, will revert to the general fund.

NOTE: Neither the revenue nor expenditures associated with this bill have been included in the state budget. Also, the Board indicates that the names of certified professionals, as well as their city and state are frequently released to the public. However, they believe that forwarding the addresses and telephone numbers as suggested by the bill would take a either a vote of the Board of Directors or the approval of the certified professional.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: As mentioned previously, the bill is unclear about how often the listing will be updated once the initial database is installed. Additional language may be needed to clarify this issue.

HOUSE BILL 1246:
Animal Lovers Special Plate

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Clary
Date:	July 7, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1246 authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special license plate depicting a picture of a dog and cat and the phrase "I Care" for an additional $20 fee. Ten dollars ($10.00) of the additional fee will go to the Department of Health and Human Services to be used to create a statewide program to promote spaying and neutering of dogs and cats. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in House Finance and makes only technical changes to the original bill.

CURRENT LAW: Upon request, the Division of Motor Vehicles may issue special registration plates. There are currently more than 54 special registration plates. The cost of a special registration plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional fee of at least $10. The first $10 of every additional fee amount is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. The remainder of the additional fee, if any, is transferred quarterly to the appropriate organization named in the statute. After deducting the costs of the plates from the Special Registration Plate Account, the money in the Account is distributed as follows:

AMOUNT	PURPOSE
$525,000 distributed annually	Operating assistance for certain Visitor Centers
33% distributed quarterly	Department of Commerce for advertising the promotion of travel and industrial development in the State
50% distributed quarterly	Department of Transportation for beautification of highways
17% distributed quarterly	Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons.

This uniform system of fees has been in place since 1991 when a study commission recommended that the special registration plate system be simplified through a uniform fee schedule. The only exceptions to the general rule are for plates issued to a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, a 100% disabled veterans, an ex-prisoner of war, an active member of the National Guard, and a recipient of the Purple Heart award.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1246 authorizes the Division to develop a special license plate bearing the phrase "I Care" and a picture of a dog and cat. The Division must receive at least 300 applications for this special plate before it can be issued. The cost of the plate is the regular registration fee plus an additional $20. The first $10 of the additional fee would be credited to the Special Registration Plate Fund. The remaining $10 of the additional fee would go to the Collegiate and Cultural Attraction Plate Account and be transferred quarterly to the Department of Health and Human Services. The Department would use the money it receives from the special license plate to create a statewide program to promote spaying and neutering of dogs and cats.

Cindy Avrette, committee counsel to House Finance, contributed substantially to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, and Department of Health and Human Services.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The legislation authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue animal lovers special registration plates. It instructs the Department to develop the plate only after 300 or more applications for the plate are received. A special fee of $20.00 (in addition to the regular motor vehicle registration fee) is also authorized. Ten dollars of this amount goes to the Special Registration Plate Account, and ten dollars will be deposited in the Collegiate and Cultural Attractions Plate Account (CCAPA). The proceeds from the plate deposited in the CCAPA are transferred quarterly to the Department of Health and Human Services to create a statewide program to promote spaying and neutering of dogs and cats.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20.00 registration fee every owner of a private passenger vehicle pays, there is a $20.00 fee for each specialized animal lover plate. Because there is no way to determine how many of the plates will be requested, this fiscal note assumes the issuance of the minimum 300 license plates in FY 1999-00. As a result, the bill raises a total of $6,000 ($20 X 300 plates). Three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) of this amount goes to the SRPA. Three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) is deposited in the CCAPA. However, at the end of each quarter the funds deposited in the CCAPA are transferred to the Department of Health and Human Services. Therefore, the Department of Health and Human Services actually gains $3,000.00. The note also assumes that those plates will be renewed in the following years.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Corrections, there is a one-time cost of $100 to design the new plate. There is also a production cost of $2.52 per plate (This assumes a basic one color design. If the design is more complex, or requires more color, the per plate cost increases). The total production cost for 300 basic plates is $856.00.

SENATE BILL 562:
Insurance Fee Repeals and Increases

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Miller
Date:	July 6, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 562 repeals the schedule of fees paid to the Commissioner of Insurance and the HMO annual report fees; increases certain insurance company license renewal fees collected by the Department; and clarifies an examination law providing for reimbursement for Departmental expenses.

BILL ANALYSIS: The following is a section by section analysis of the bill:

Section 1 repeals the statute setting out the schedule of fees paid to the Commissioner of Insurance

Section 2 increase the annual license fee from $500 to $1,000 that the following insurance companies must pay: all insurance companies except each domestic farmer's mutual assessment fire insurance company, each fraternal order, and mutual burial associations taxed under G.S. 105-121.1. Section 2 adds that all fees and charges collected by the Commissioner are nonrefundable.

Section 3 increases the risk retention group renewal for registration with the Commissioner from $500 to $1,000.

Section 4 increases the registration renewal fee for a domestic land mortgage company, or title company, wishing to do business under Article 27 (Title Insurance Companies and Land Mortgage Companies Issuing Collateral Loan Certificates) from $500 to $1,000. The license fee remains at $500.

Section 5 increases the annual fee from $500 to $1,000 for the issuance of a certificate of authority or license to a corporation organized for the purpose of operating a nonprofit hospital and/or medical and/or dental service plan.

Section 6 increases the fee for license renewal of an HMO from $500 to $1000 and repeals the $100 fee for filing an annual report. The current law refers to application for a certificate of authority.

Section 7 amends G.S. 58-2-134. This statute sets out the cost of the examination required by the Commissioner before any person is licensed to write insurance in the State. The Commissioner is required to conduct at a minimum an examination of every domestic insurer not less frequently than once every five years. If the insurer is a foreign or alien insurer licensed in this State, the Commissioner may accept an examination report prepared by the insurer's domiciliary insurance regulator. The amount an insurer pays for an examination of records or assets may not exceed $100,000 unless a higher amount is agreed upon. The funds received under this section are deposited in the Insurance Regulatory Fund in the State treasury, under the control of the Office of State Budget and Management.

Section 7 adds language that Funds received under G.S. 58-2-134 shall be used by the Department for offsetting the actual expenses incurred by the Department for examinations under this section.

Current law provides that moneys in the Fund may be spent only pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly and in accordance with the line item budget. All moneys credited to the Fund are to be used to reimburse the General Fund for the following:

1. Money appropriated to the Department of Insurance to pay its expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry and other industries in this State.
2. Money appropriated to State agencies to pay the expenses incurred in regulating the insurance industry, in certifying statewide data processors under Article 11A of Chapter 131E, and in purchasing reports of patient data from statewide data processors certified under that Article.
3. Money appropriated to the Department of Revenue to pay the expenses incurred in collecting and administering the taxes on insurance companies levied in Article 8B of Chapter 105.

Current law also provides that no unexpended surplus of the Fund shall revert to the General Fund.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE PUBLIC HOSPITALS TO ENGAGE IN INSTALLMENT PURCHASE FINANCING AND TO ISSUE REVENUE ANTICIPATION NOTES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. G.S. 160A-20(h) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(h) As used in this section, the term 'unit of local government' means any of the following:

(12) A nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital as defined in G.S. 159-39."

Section 2. G.S. 160A-20 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(e1) A nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital may only enter into a contract pursuant to this section if the nonprofit corporation or association will have an ownership interest in the property being financed, including a leasehold interest, and the security interest granted in such property being financed shall only be to the extent of such property interest. In addition, any contract entered into by a nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital pursuant to this section is subject to the approval of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority which owns such hospital. Approval of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority may be withheld only under one or more of the following circumstances:

(1) The contract would cause the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority to breach or violate any covenant in an existing financing instrument entered into by such entity.

(2) The contract would restrict the ability of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority to incur anticipated bank eligible indebtedness under federal tax laws.

(3) The entering into of the contract would have a material adverse impact on the credit ratings of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority or otherwise materially interfere with an anticipated financing by such entity."

Section 3. G.S. 159-170 reads as rewritten:

"§ 159-170. Revenue anticipation notes.

(a) Authorization; Term. -- A unit of local government or a nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital as defined in G.S. 159-39, is authorized to borrow money for the purpose of paying appropriations made or expenses budgeted or incurred for the current fiscal year in anticipation of the receipt of revenues, other than taxes, estimated in its budget to be realized or collected in cash during the fiscal year, and to issue its negotiable notes in evidence thereof. A nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital may only borrow money pursuant to this section if it is legally entitled to collect and pledge such revenues to the payment of the noted as provided in this section. A revenue anticipation note shall mature not later than 30 days after the close of the fiscal year in which it is issued, and may not be renewed beyond that time.

(b) Limit on Amount; Disclosure. -- No revenue anticipation loan shall be made if the amount thereof, together with the amount of all revenue anticipation notes authorized or outstanding on the date the loan is authorized, would exceed eighty percent (80%) of the revenues of the issuing ~~unit,~~ unit or the nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital, other than taxes, estimated in its budget to be realized or collected in cash during the fiscal year. Each revenue anticipation note shall bear on its face a statement to the effect that it is payable solely from budgeted nontax revenues of the issuing unit ~~and~~ or the nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital and that the faith and credit of the issuing unit or, in the case of revenue anticipation notes issued by a nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital, the local government unit that owns the public hospital are not pledged for the payment of the ~~note, and~~ note. Each note shall also bear on its face or reverse the following certificate signed by the finance officer: 'This note and all other revenue anticipation notes of ~~(issuing unit)~~ (issuer) authorized or outstanding as of (date) amount to eighty percent (80%) or less of the budgeted nontax revenues for the current fiscal year as of the above date.' No revenue anticipation note shall be valid without this certificate.

(c) Faith and Credit Not Pledged. -- Revenue anticipation notes issued under this section shall be special obligations of the issuing ~~unit.~~ unit or the nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital. Neither the credit nor the taxing power of the issuing ~~unit~~ unit or, in the case of revenue anticipation notes issued by a nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital, the local government unit that owns the public hospital may be pledged for the payment of revenue anticipation ~~notes, and no~~ notes. No holder of a revenue anticipation note shall have the right to compel the exercise of the taxing power by the issuing unit or, in the case of revenue anticipation notes issued by a nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital, the local government unit that owns the public hospital or the forfeiture of any of its property in connection with any default thereon.

(d) Any revenue anticipation notes issued by a nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital pursuant to this section are subject to the approval of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority which owns the hospital. Approval of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority may be withheld only under one or more of the following circumstances:

(1) The contract would cause the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority to breach or violate any covenant in an existing financing instrument entered into by such entity.

(2) The contract would restrict the ability of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority to incur anticipated bank eligible indebtedness under federal tax laws.

(3) The entering into of the contract would have a material adverse impact on the credit ratings of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority or otherwise materially interfere with an anticipated financing by such entity."

Section 4. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1120:
Authorize Public Hospital Debt

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Wright
Date:	July 7, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1120 authorizes public hospitals to engage in installment purchase financing and to issue revenue anticipation bonds. The bill becomes effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: A public hospital is a hospital that meets one of the following conditions:

- Is operated by a county, city, hospital district, or hospital authority.
- Is owned by a county, city, hospital district, or hospital authority and operated by a nonprofit corporation or association, a majority of whose board of directors or trustees are appointed by the governing body of a county, city, hospital district, or hospital authority.
- Is a hospital on whose behalf a county or city has issued and has outstanding general obligation or revenue bonds, or to which a county or city makes current appropriations.

A public hospital has exclusive control of its own budgeting and accounting, without supervision from the county, city, or the Local Government Commission (LGC). However, financing capital debt is more restricted. Public hospitals may issue revenue bonds, subject to the approval and conditions of the LGC. Counties and cities may issue general obligation bonds to provide hospital facilities and services.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1120 authorizes two additional forms of capital financing for public hospitals: installment purchase financing and revenue anticipation bonds.

Sections 1 and 2 of the bill expand the use of installment purchase financing to public hospitals. The public hospitals hope that installment financing will enable them to respond more rapidly to their capital financing needs, such as equipment, land, and facilities. Section 1 expands the definition of "unit of local government" to include "public hospitals". As a unit of local government, public hospitals will be able to finance the purchase of real or personal property by installment contracts that create in the property purchased a security interest to secure payment of the purchase price to the person or entity financing the purchase. One type of installment financing is certificates of participation. A certificate of participation is similar to a bond, but is less costly than holding a bond referendum and issuing bonds. Section 2 requires the county or city that owns the hospital to approve any installment financing contract that a public hospital signs. The county or city must approve the contract unless it determines that the contract would adversely affect its credit worthiness, an anticipated bond issuance, or an existing bond order.

Section 3 would allow public hospitals to issue revenue anticipation bonds. A revenue anticipation bond would allow a public hospital to borrow money to pay expenses in the current fiscal year, to be repaid from the receipt of nontax revenues to be collected later in the fiscal year. A public hospital may not issue revenue anticipation bonds unless the local government unit that owns the facility and the LGC approve the issuance. The public hospitals desire this legislation as a means of obtaining a line of credit from financial institutions to secure a means of revenue in case insurers or the hospital cannot process claims in the year 2000.

Cindy Avrette, committee counsel to House Finance, contributed substantially to this summary.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Public Hospitals and Local Governments that lease or contract for public hospital services.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: G.S. 160A-20(h) allows counties, cities and specifically named local authorities to use installment financing for capital projects. The bill adds non-profit corporations or associations that are operating or leasing a public hospital to this list. It also authorizes pubic hospitals and the non-profit corporations or associations that operate or lease public hospitals to issue revenue anticipation notes. The bill requires that the unit of local government that owns the hospital approve these contracts and notes. The legislation also outlines under what circumstances the local government can reject the request.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Under G.S. 160A-20, units of local government have the ability to finance the purchase of property through installment contracts. The term "local unit of government," as defined in subpart (h), currently includes counties, cities, water and sewer authorities, certain airport authorities, area mental health and substance abuse authorities, and certain school districts with independent taxing authority. The bill adds nonprofit corporations or associations operating or leasing a public hospital to the list. There is no direct impact on state or local revenues from these additions because the bill only gives them an additional financing tool.

Under G.S. 159-170 units of local government are authorized to borrow money to pay current year expenses. The notes are held in anticipation of future revenues. The legislation authorizes nonprofit organizations or associations that operate or lease public hospitals to take advantage of this financing option, under certain circumstances. There is no direct impact on state or local revenues from these additions because the bill only gives them an additional financing tool.

HOUSE BILL 19:
Gambling Boats Regulated

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Redwine
Date:	July 6, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	Fourth Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 19 prohibits casino boat cruises to nowhere in North Carolina. North Carolina cannot prohibit gambling boat cruises that engage in interstate commerce by making at least one stop outside the State. However, the bill imposes the following requirements on gambling boat cruises that originate and end in North Carolina:

- A privilege license tax at the rate of $6.00 for each passenger.
- A requirement that the gambling boat operator deduct and withhold from a North Carolina resident's winnings individual income taxes equal to 7% of the winnings paid to the resident.

An earlier version of the bill imposed a annual gambling boat permit of $10,000, if the gambling boat operator desired to sell alcoholic beverages on the voyage while it was within the State's boundaries.

House Bill 19 has been in House Judiciary I, House Finance, and Senate Commerce.

BACKGROUND: Gambling and the possession and use of gambling devices, such as slot machines, punchboards, and gaming tables, are illegal in North Carolina. However, because of changes in the federal law since 1992, it is legal to transport and possess gambling devices on US flagships within the boundaries of a state if the use of the devices occurs outside the boundaries of the state and the devices remain onboard the vessel while it is within the state's boundaries. The 1992 changes to the Johnson Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1175, were enacted in part to end the discrimination between US flagships and foreign flagships. This change in the federal law means that it would be permissible for a person in North Carolina to have a vessel equipped with gambling devices and to take passengers on voyages for the purpose of gambling, so long as the vessel travels outside the 3 mile territorial boundary of the State before initiating the gambling games. This type of voyage is commonly referred to as a "cruise to nowhere".

The Johnson Act does permit states to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere if the voyage begins and ends in the same state without making an intervening stop. To prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere, a state must pass legislation that bans the use of gambling devices outside the boundaries of the state on voyages that begin and end in the state without making an intervening stop. A South Carolina court case and a Georgia AG opinion, as well as legislative discussions in several other states, have concluded that to escape the effect of the 1992 amendments to the Johnson Act, a state must pass specific legislation to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere. North Carolina's current statutes prohibiting gambling and the possession of gambling devices are not sufficient to meet this "opt out" provision in the federal law.

House Bill 19 provides the specific legislation necessary to prohibit casino boat cruises to nowhere in North Carolina.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the bill defines a "casino boat" as a vessel that leaves from and returns to a port in North Carolina for the purpose of gambling without making an intervening stop in another state or country. Although federal law does not define "an intervening stop", this bill does. It defines an "intervening stop" as a docking at a port outside the boundaries of North Carolina for a period of at least six hours where the passengers may disembark the vessel for sightseeing, shopping, or other similar tourism-related activities.

The bill makes it unlawful to operate a casino boat, to possess, use, or repair a gambling device on a casino boat, or to solicit people to embark on a casino boat. A person who violates this law is guilty of a Class A1 misdemeanor. A Class A1 misdemeanor is the most serious misdemeanor offense. It is punishable by community punishment, intermediate punishment, or active punishment. A monetary fine maybe imposed in the discretion of the court. Upon conviction, a person's vessel, along with all of its equipment, maybe seized, forfeited, and sold. If a law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that a violation of this law is occurring, the officer may seize the illegal gambling devices, seize any monies or property used in conjunction with or derived from the unlawful use of the illegal gambling devices, and seize the vessel upon which the illegal gambling devices are found. The bill clarifies that the law does not apply to vessels engaged in interstate commerce and that it does not prevent the prosecution for other gambling offenses. (An earlier version of the bill allowed the seizure of any means of conveyance to and from an illegally used vessel.)

North Carolina cannot prohibit gambling voyages that are allowed by federal law. Therefore, a person may offer gambling voyages that begin and end in North Carolina so long as the voyage makes an intervening stop in another state or country and all the gambling takes place beyond the 3 mile territorial boundary of the State. However, North Carolina can regulate these gambling boat voyages.

Section 1 of the bill provides that the vessel must met the Safety of Life at Sea (SOLAS) standards and requirements normally applicable in international waters. SOLAS ensures that, with regard to the passengers' safety, the vessel is fit for service. Vessels are inspected by the U.S. Coast Guard. It also provides that all of the vessel's passengers must be at least 21 years of age.

Section 2 of the bill defines a gambling boat voyage for North Carolina tax purposes as a voyage that meets all of the following conditions:

- It transports passengers engaged in gambling aboard the vessel.
- Its passengers embark the vessel in this State.
- Its passengers disembark the vessel only in this State or a contiguous state.

This definition of "gambling boat voyage" eliminates the imposition of the tax obligations on cruise s that travel and dock in noncontiguous states or another country.

The remainder of the bill creates tax obligations for the gambling boat operator that do not exist under current law. A gambling boat operator is a person engaged in the business of operating a gambling boat voyage. Section 3 imposes a privilege license tax on gambling boat voyages at a rate equal to $6 per passenger. Section 6 requires a gambling boat operator who pays a resident of this State more than $600 in gambling winnings during a gambling boat voyage to deduct and withhold income tax from the resident's winnings. The federal government requires that taxes be withheld if the winnings exceed $5,000. The amount of State taxes to be withheld is 7% of the winnings paid to the resident. If the gambling boat operator does not withhold from any gambling winnings paid to an individual, the operator must obtain from the individual documentation proving that the individual is not a resident of North Carolina. The operator must remit the withheld tax payments to the State quarterly.

The following tax laws would also apply to businesses engaged in the gambling boat voyage business: State income tax and sales tax on any sales of tangible personal property that occur while the boat is in North Carolina's territorial boundaries. Also under current law, residents of North Carolina must pay tax on any income derived from gambling activities, whether they occur inside or outside the State's territorial boundaries.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law. The tax sections of this act become effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 2 through 8 of this act are effective on the first day of the third calendar month after this act becomes law. All other sections are effective when the bill becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:
The bill prohibits in North Carolina those casino equipped boats that take gambling cruises to nowhere in the Atlantic Ocean. Ships that embark passengers in North Carolina for "gambling boat voyages" to contiguous states must pay a privilege tax of $6 per passenger, obtain a $10,000 ABC license if it has a home port in the state, and withhold 7% of winnings from North Carolina residents. When traveling outside North Carolina's three-mile criminal jurisdictional limit, HB 19 requires a casino boat to make an intervening stop in another state or country for 6 hours and allow its passengers to disembark or country and embark passengers in North Carolina ports.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
There are no casino boats based in North Carolina nor are there casino boats in the contiguous states of Virginia and South Carolina that embark passengers in North Carolina for gambling boat voyages. There are two small cruise lines that have scheduled stops in North Carolina, but these ships do not offer gambling. Although North Carolina is visited infrequently by the major cruise lines that have casino operations onboard, these vessels are exempt from tax because they do not have home ports in the state and do not arrange cruises to contiguous states.

No information is available to estimate the potential for gambling boat voyages in the future. It is uncertain how prospective casino boat operators will react to the restrictions and taxes imposed in HB 19. Fiscal Research talked to the owner of the Stardancer, one of two casino boats based in Little River, South Carolina, and found that the owner had no intention of expanding his business into North Carolina. Furthermore, the intervening stop requirements of HB 19 may make travel to North Carolina impracticable and less profitable. The Stardancer casino boat has a cruise time of five hours (1 hour to reach the 3-mile limit, 3 hours to gamble, and 1 hour to return) and makes two trips a day. The six hour intervening stop requirement would prohibit the Stardancer casino boat from making two daily trips and would increase costs due to additional staff hours spent on board.

HOUSE BILL 1186:
Unearned Premium Reserves

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Miner
Date:	July 7, 1999	Summary by:	Martha K. Walston
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1186 revises the method for calculating the unearned premium reserve required for title insurance companies. The current version of the bill was given a favorable report in House Insurance.

CURRENT LAW: Currently title insurance companies reserve 10% of the original risk premium on each title insurance policy it issues less reductions each year ($1/20^{th}$ each year) as the policy matures. Premiums received for reinsurance are considered unearned if substantially all of the liability under the policies and reinsurance agreements are reinsured.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1186 revises this language to provide that the unearned premium reserve is calculated as 10% of the aggregate of direct written premiums and reinsurance that is assumed (less reinsurance that is ceded). This aggregate is then reduced annually according to the following schedule: 20% the first year, 10% for the second and third years, 5% for the fourth through the tenth years, 3% for the eleventh through fifteenth years, and 2% for the sixteenth through twentieth years.

House Bill 1186 provides that the entire amount of the unearned premium reserve held as of December 31, 1998 (now January 1, 1974), shall be released from the reserve and restored to net profits according to the above percentages.

House Bill 1186 also provides that a supplemental reserve must be established if necessary to cover the company's liabilities, claims and loss adjustment expenses. In addition, each title insurer must file with its annual statement a certification of a member in good standing of the American Academy of Actuaries. The actuarial certification must conform to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) requirements.

The bill becomes effective October 1, 1999.

NORTH CAROLINA DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE

MEMORANDUM

TO: Bill Hale, Legislative Counsel

FROM: Ray Martinez, Chief Financial Examiner

DATE: July 9, 1999

Re: HB 1186 – Title Insurance Reserves

Insurance companies are required to reserve money to guarantee payments of claims. Reserves have to be in the amounts representing actual or potential liabilities to cover debts to policyholders. Insurance companies are also required to maintain minimum amounts of surplus. Surplus is the amount by which assets exceed liabilities.

The current reserve requirements for North Carolina title insurers are extremely conservative, resulting in a competitive disadvantage for our domestic companies. The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) adopted a model act on title insurance about three years ago, which, among other things, established reserving methodologies for title insurers. We feel that the model methodology is somewhat too liberal, so we agreed with our domestic companies to change our methodology at approximately one-half of the NAIC rate. This will not cause any solvency concerns.

Under the current law, 10% of each premium dollar received by the title insurance company is reserved. Over the next twenty years, each year 5% of the reserved premium is transferred to the company's surplus. Under H.B. 1186, 10% of each premium dollar would still be reserved, but the rate of reserves being transferred to surplus would be quicker: 20% in the first year, 10% each year in the second and third years, 5% each year in the fourth through the tenth years, 3% in the eleventh through fifteenth years, and 2% in the sixteenth through twentieth years. The bottom line is that the reserves are transferred to surplus more quickly, which increases the company's surplus.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Senator John Kerr

FROM: Elizabeth ("Beth") P. Bryan

RE: North Carolina Statutory Premium Reserve

DATE: July 9, 1999

As requested, I am writing a synopsis of the reasons for the proposed legislative changes to North Carolina General Statute Section 58-26-25 concerning calculation of the Unearned Premium Reserve for domestic title insurance companies.

The purpose of the proposed legislation is as follows:

In April of 1996, The National Association of Insurance Commissioners ("NAIC") adopted the Title Insurers Model Act. The primary purpose of this Act is to provide for the effective regulation and supervision of title insurance and licensed title insurers and to create uniformity with respect to legislation among the states.
