A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PERMIT A CORPORATION TO TRANSFER ASSETS TO A WHOLLY OWNED UNINCORPORATED ENTITY, AS RECOMMENDED BY THE GENERAL STATUTES COMMISSION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 55-12-01 reads as rewritten:

"§ 55-12-01. Sale of assets in regular course of business and mortgage of assets.

(a) A mortgage of or other security interest in all or any part of the property of a corporation may be made by authority of the board of directors without approval of the shareholders, unless otherwise provided in the articles of incorporation or in bylaws adopted by the shareholders.

(b) Unless otherwise provided in the articles of incorporation or in bylaws adopted by the shareholders, a corporation may, on the terms and conditions and for the consideration determined by the board of directors, and without approval by the shareholders:

(1) Sell, lease, exchange, or otherwise dispose of all, or substantially all, of its property in the usual and regular course of business; or

(2) Transfer any or all of its property to a corporation or an unincorporated entity all the shares or ownership interests of which are owned by the corporation."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to transfers occurring on or after that date.

HOUSE BILL 168:
Corporate Asset Transfers

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Culpepper
Date:	February 27, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 168 (Corporate Asset Transfers) would permit the board of directors of a corporation to transfer corporate assets to a wholly owned unincorporated entity[1] without the approval of the shareholders. This act is effective when it becomes law and would apply to transfers occurring on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, the board of directors of a corporation may transfer corporate assets to a wholly owned corporation without the approval of the shareholders. Such a transfer may be prohibited by the articles of incorporation or the bylaws of the parent corporation.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 168 would expand the types of entities to which the board of directors of a corporation could transfer corporate assets without shareholder approval to include wholly owned unincorporated entities as well as wholly owned corporations. Such a transfer could still be prohibited by the articles of incorporation or the bylaws of the parent corporation.

BACKGROUND: Under certain circumstances, there may be tax advantages to transferring corporate assets to an unincorporated entity. The transfer of corporate assets to a wholly owned unincorporated entity is not a taxable event, whereas the transfer of assets to a wholly owned corporation may be a taxable event. Furthermore, a corporation is subject to taxation at both the corporate level and the shareholder level. An unincorporated entity such as a limited liability company may only be subject to taxation at the member level.

[1] An unincorporated entity is defined in G.S. 55-1-40 to include limited liability companies, limited partnerships, and other partnerships.

DATE: February 21, 2001

RE: House Bill 168 (Corporate Asset Transfers)

G.S. 55-12-01 currently permits a corporation to transfer property to a wholly owned corporation without shareholder approval. For tax reasons, however, it may be preferable to transfer property to a wholly owned subsidiary that is not a corporation (such as a limited liability company) in connection with certain financing transactions, including securitizations. House Bill 168 amends G.S. 55-12-01 to permit property transfers to a wholly owned unincorporated entity. An unincorporated entity is defined in Chapter 55 of the General Statutes to mean a domestic or foreign limited liability company, limited partnership, or other partnership. See N.C.Gen.Stat. § 55-1-40 (1999).

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE ANTI-LAPSE STATUTE TO PROVIDE THAT THE INTEREST OF A DECEASED CLASS MEMBER WHO LEAVES NO ISSUE DEVOLVES UPON THE REMAINING CLASS MEMBERS AND THE ISSUE OF OTHER DECEASED CLASS MEMBERS, AS RECOMMENDED BY THE GENERAL STATUTES COMMISSION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 31-42(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if a devisee predeceases the testator, whether before or after the execution of the will, and if the devisee is a grandparent of or a descendant of a grandparent of the testator, then the issue of the predeceased devisee shall take in place of the deceased devisee. The devisee's issue shall take the deceased devisee's share in the same manner that the issue would take as heirs of the deceased devisee under the intestacy provisions in effect at the time of the testator's death. The provisions of this section apply whether the devise is to an individual, to a class, or is a residuary devise. In the case of the class devise, the issue shall take whatever share the deceased devisee would have taken had the devisee survived the ~~testator.~~ testator; in the event the deceased class member leaves no issue, the devisee's share shall devolve upon the members of the class who survived the testator and the issue of any deceased members taking by substitution."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to estates of decedents dying on or after that date.

HOUSE BILL 182:
Amend Anti-Lapse Statute

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Culpepper
Date:	February 27, 2001	Summary by:	Robin S. Johnson
Version:	First		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: This bill would clarify that surviving class members take the share of a class member who has no descendents and who predeceases the testator (i.e., the person who makes the will).

The bill would take effect when it becomes law and would apply to estates of testators who die on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: It is unclear under current law who takes the share of a class member who has no descendents and who predeceases the testator. If a predeceased class member has descendents, then those descendents are entitled to the predeceased class member's share under the will.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend G.S. 31-42(a) to add express language providing that the surviving members of a class and the descendents of other predeceased members take the share of a class member who had no descendents and who predeceased the testator.

BACKGROUND: This bill is a recommendation of the General Statutes Commission and is intended to clarify an omission that apparently occurred as the result of the 1999 rewrite of this statute.

Generally, wills can make specific gifts of property to named persons or to a class (such as "to my sisters"). Wills also specify the disposition of "the remainder of the estate" – known as the residuary clause. Historically, a testamentary gift was ineffective if an intended donee died before the testator died.[1] If the intended donee died after the will was executed, the gift was said to lapse; if the intended donee died before the will was executed, the gift was void.[2] Later, anti-lapse statutes were introduced, which name substitute takers. Under current law, unless there is a contrary intent expressed in the will, these gifts do not "lapse" and are not "void." Instead, the contemplated gift goes to the descendents of the predeceased donee or is transferred under the will's residuary clause.

In 1999, the statute was amended to expand the substitute takers when an intended donee predeceases the testator. Before that time, there was express language in the statute to the effect that, in the absence of a contrary intent expressed in the will, if a predeceased class member has no descendents who can be substituted, then the predeceased class member's share went to the surviving class members and the descendents of other predeceased members. That language was omitted when the statute was rewritten.

§ 31-42. Failure of devises by lapse or otherwise; renunciation.

(a) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if a devisee predeceases the testator, whether before or after the execution of the will, and if the devisee is a grandparent of or a descendant of a grandparent of the testator, then the issue of the predeceased devisee shall take in place of the deceased devisee. The devisee's issue shall take the deceased devisee's share in the same manner that the issue would take as heirs of the deceased devisee under the intestacy provisions in effect at the time of the testator's death. The provisions of this section apply whether the devise is to an individual, to a class, or is a residuary devise. In the case of the class devise, the issue shall take whatever share the deceased devisee would have taken had the devisee survived the testator.

(b) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if the provisions of subsection (a) of this section do not apply to a devise to a devisee who predeceases the testator, or if a devise otherwise fails, the property shall pass to the residuary devisee or devisees in proportion to their share of the residue. If the devise is a residuary devise, it shall augment the shares of the other residuary devisees, including the shares of any substitute takers under subsection (a) of this section. If there are no residuary devisees, then the property shall pass by intestacy.

(c) Renunciation of a devise is as provided for in Chapter 31B of the General Statutes.

(d) As used in this section, "devisee" means any person entitled to take real or personal property under the provisions of a will.

MEMORANDUM

TO: House Judiciary II Committee

FROM: General Statutes Commission

RE: House Bill 182 (Amend Anti-Lapse Statute)

House Bill 182 amends G.S. 31-42 to clarify a perceived ambiguity. It reinserts a provision that was apparently inadvertently not brought forward when G.S. 31-42 was rewritten in 1999.

Generally speaking, when property is left by will to a person who predeceases the testator, and the will does not name a substitute taker, the devise "lapses." G.S. 31-42 has always provided for possible substitute takers in this event (hence, it is called the "anti-lapse" statute). The General Assembly rewrote G.S. 31-42 in 1999 to expand the number of possible substitute takers. At present, the statute names the predeceased beneficiary's descendants as substitute takers if the beneficiary was a grandparent or a descendant of a grandparent of the testator. If there are no such descendants, the property goes to the residuary beneficiary, if any, or else to whoever would take the property if the testator had died without a will.

The 1999 revision, however, did not bring forward a sentence from the earlier version of the statute that directed what happened when property is left by will to a class (a group) of beneficiaries, one or more members of the class die before the testator without having descendants who could qualify as substitute takers, and the will does not name a substitute taker. The sentence from the pre-1999 version of G.S. 31-42 explicitly provided that, in this event, the property was to be shared among the rest of the class rather than passing to the residuary beneficiary. As far as can be ascertained, it appears that the 1999 revision was not intended to change the law in this respect, and this bill reinserts an explicit provision to the same effect.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

March 6, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Tuesday, March 6, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 10:00 a.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Bowie, Culpepper, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Miller, and Sherrill. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and called for consideration of the following bills:

HB 385 Consolidate Business Provisions. Rep. Hall moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Culpepper, bill sponsor, to present the bill. Rep. Culpepper asked the chair to recognize Bly Hall of the General Statutes Commission to explain the bill. Rep. Sherrill noted that this bill provided no savings to the budget, and Rep. Decker noted that the legislation would make changes to the statute involving copies and electronic filing. There being no further discussion, Rep. Haire moved for a favorable report as to committee substitute bill, unfavorable as to original bill. Motion carried unanimously.

HB 274 Training School to Youth Academy. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Haire, bill sponsor, to explain the bill. The chair then recognized Secretary George Sweat of the Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention to comment on the bill. Sec. Sweat noted that this bill did not just represent a name change, but rather a new vision and a new tone for the department. Rep. Miller questioned the audience for the name change, and Sec. Sweat noted that the change is aimed at the students. Rep. Sherrill questioned whether additional needs will arise as a result of this change. Sec. Sweat noted that changing Training Schools to Youth Academies will not change personnel alignment. Following additional comments and questions from the committee, Rep. Hall suggested that the department consider a name other than academy for these institutions. No vote was taken.

The meeting adjourned at 10:35 a.m.

HOUSE BILL 385:
Consolidate Business Provisions.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Rep. Culpepper
Date:	March 6, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	PCS (H385-CSRH-3[v.1])		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute makes technical and clarifying changes to the original bill.

The PCS would create a new Chapter 55D in the General Statutes [Filings for Corporations, Nonprofit Corporations, Limited Liability Companies, Limited Partnerships, and Limited Liability Partnerships]. This would consolidate in one place the requirements that are applicable to the filing of business documents in the Secretary of State's Office. The bill also would make a number of conforming and clarifying changes.

The PCS would take effect October 1, 2001, and would apply to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, the filing requirements for each of these entities are found in Chapters 55 (NC Business Corporation Act), 55A (Nonprofit Corporation Act), 57C (NC Limited Liability Company Act), and 59 (Partners) of the General Statutes. The requirements are virtually identical.

BILL ANALYSIS: In addition to repealing and recodifying a number of repetitive statutes and consolidating them as a new Chapter, the PCS for House Bill 385 would eliminate the requirement that a copy of every filed document be submitted simultaneously with the Secretary of State. This would conform to current practice. It also would clarify that the signatures on filed documents can be facsimiles or electronic.

BACKGROUND: House Bill 385 is a recommendation of the General Statutes Commission. The PCS makes changes recommended by the Bar Association and endorsed by the Commission.

MEMORANDUM

To: House Judiciary II Committee

From: General Statutes Commission

Date: March 5, 2001

Re: House Bill 385 (Consolidate Business Provisions)

General Comments

House Bill 385 amends the General Statutes to centralize the requirements for filing documents with the Secretary of State under Chapters 55, 55A, 57C, and 59, relating to corporations, nonprofit corporations, limited liability companies, limited partnerships, and registered limited liability partnerships. The provisions for document filings in these chapters either duplicate or closely track each other, so that when an amendment is made in one place, the amendment must also be made in at least four other places in the General Statutes to keep these provisions standardized. Part I (Consolidation of Filing Requirements) creates a new Chapter 55D of the General Statutes, recodifies most of Part 2 of Article 1 of Chapter 55 into the new chapter, and makes the changes necessary to accommodate nonprofit corporations, limited liability companies, and partnerships. Part II makes conforming amendments to Chapters 55, 55A, 55B, 57C, and 59. Part II also makes a few miscellaneous amendments to these Chapters. Part III contains applicability and effective date provisions and authorization to transfer drafters' comments from the recodified sections of Chapter 55 to the equivalent sections in the new Chapter 55D.

Specific Comments

Part I.

Section 1. This section creates a new Chapter 55D of the General Statutes with one article and a definitions section. The terms in the definitions section are defined with reference to the definitions in Chapters 55, 55A, 57C, and 59.

Sections 2 and 3. Section 2 adds a second article to Chapter 55D, and Section 3 recodifies G.S. 55-1-22.1, 55-1-22.2, 55-1-23, 55-1-24, 55-1-25, 55-1-26, 55-1-27, 55-1-29, and most of G.S. 55-1-20 into this new article.

Section 4. This section amends the text of the recodified sections to include references to nonprofit corporations, limited liability companies, limited partnerships, and registered limited liability partnerships and conforming amendments and to make stylistic changes. Please note that the text being amended is the current text of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes. Other amendments include:

55D-10. The format of this section has been updated. No reference was added in new subdivision (b)(4) to certificates of existence for foreign limited partnerships because foreign limited partnerships are not required to submit these documents to be authorized to transact business in this State (instead, they include a different certification in their application for authorization). New subdivision (b)(3) is amended to include a specific reference to electronic filing. New subdivision (b)(8) removes the current requirement for submitting at least one copy along with the document to be filed, because the Department of the Secretary of State itself automatically generates a copy and no longer need to have copies submitted.

55D-12. To parallel the statutory treatment for expedited filings, the fee for advisory reviews is being moved from the substantive fee sections in Chapters 55, 55A, 57C, and 59 and inserted into this section.

Part II.

Section 5. This section amends the definition of "entity" in Chapters 55 and 55A of the General Statutes to make it clear that "entity" includes foreign business entities.

Section 6. This section rewrites G.S. 55-1-20, as amended in Part I, to contain a cross reference to the new Chapter 55D and to restate the requirements for execution of corporate documents. The section also repeals the advisory review fee in G.S. 55-1-22, which in Part I was inserted into new G.S. 55D-12.

Sections 7, 8, 9, and 10. These sections make essentially the same amendments to G.S. 55A-1-20, 55A-1-22, 57C-1-20, 57C-1-22, 59-73.7, 59-204, 59-206, and 59-1106 that Section 6 makes to the equivalent sections of Chapter 55. In addition, this section repeals the sections of Chapter 55A and 57C, Article 5 of Chapter 59, and those subsections of G.S. 59-73.7 that are essentially duplicates of the sections in new Chapter 55D.

Section 11. This section makes a conforming change to G.S. 55B-3.

HB 275 Infant Homicide Prevention Act. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Haire, bill sponsor, to present the bill. Rep. Haire explained the history behind the bill, and noted that this was an issue that was discussed during the last session of the General Assembly. A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO DECRIMINALIZE ABANDONMENT OF AN INFANT UNDER CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES AND TO MODIFY SOME PROCEDURES INVOLVING ABANDONED JUVENILES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 7B-302(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) When a report of abuse, neglect, or dependency is received, the director of the department of social services shall make a prompt and thorough investigation in order to ascertain the facts of the case, the extent of the abuse or neglect, and the risk of harm to the juvenile, in order to determine whether protective services should be provided or the complaint filed as a petition. When the report alleges abuse, the director shall immediately, but no later than 24 hours after receipt of the report, initiate the investigation. When the report alleges neglect or dependency, the director shall initiate the investigation within 72 hours following receipt of the report. Notwithstanding the previous sentence, when a report alleges abandonment, the director shall immediately initiate an investigation and shall take appropriate steps to assume temporary custody of the juvenile and to secure an order for nonsecure custody of the juvenile. The investigation and evaluation shall include a visit to the place where the juvenile resides. When the report alleges abandonment, the investigation shall include a request from the director to law enforcement officials to investigate through the North Carolina Center for Missing Persons and other national and State resources to ensure that the juvenile is not a missing child. All information received by the department of social services, including the identity of the reporter, shall be held in strictest confidence by the department."

SECTION 2. G.S. 7B-500 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-500. Taking a juvenile into temporary ~~custody.~~custody; civil and criminal immunity.

(a) Temporary custody means the taking of physical custody and providing personal care and supervision until a court order for nonsecure custody can be obtained. A juvenile may be taken into temporary custody without a court order by a law enforcement officer or a department of social services worker if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the juvenile is abused, neglected, or dependent and that the juvenile would be injured or could not be taken into custody if it were first necessary to obtain a court order. If a department of social services worker takes a juvenile into temporary custody under this section, the worker may arrange for the placement, care, supervision, and transportation of the juvenile.

(b) A law enforcement officer, a department of social services worker, a health care provider as defined in G.S. 90-21.11 at a hospital or local or district health department, or an emergency medical technician at a fire station shall, without a court order, take into temporary custody an infant under 15 days of age that is voluntarily delivered to the individual by the infant's parent who does not express an intent to return for the infant. An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under this subsection shall perform any act necessary to protect the physical health and well-being of the infant and shall immediately notify the department of social services. Any individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under this subsection may inquire as to the parents' identities and as to any relevant medical history, but the parent is not required to provide this information.

(c) Any adult may, without a court order, take into temporary custody an infant under 15 days of age that is voluntarily delivered to the individual by the infant's parent who does not express an intent to return for the infant. An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under this subsection shall perform any act necessary to protect the physical health and well-being of the infant and shall immediately notify the department of social services. An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under this subsection may inquire as to the parents' identities and as to any relevant medical history, but the parent is not required to provide this information.

(d) An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under subsection (b) or (c) of this section is immune from any civil or criminal liability that might otherwise be incurred or imposed as a result of any omission or action taken pursuant to the requirements of subsection (b) or (c) of this section so long as that individual was acting in good faith. The immunity established by this subsection does not extend to gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing that would otherwise be actionable."

SECTION 3. G.S. 7B-1111(a)(7) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The court may terminate the parental rights upon a finding of one or more of the following:

(7) The parent has willfully abandoned the juvenile for at least six consecutive months immediately preceding the filing of the petition or ~~motion.~~motion, or the parent has voluntarily abandoned an infant pursuant to G.S. 7B-500 for at least 60 consecutive days immediately preceding the filing of the petition or motion."

SECTION 4. G.S. 14-318.2 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) A parent who abandons an infant less than 15 days of age pursuant to G.S. 14-322.3 shall not be prosecuted under this section for any acts or omissions related to the care of that infant."

SECTION 5. G.S. 14-318.4 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) Abandonment of an infant less than 15 days of age pursuant to G.S. 14-322.3 may be treated as a mitigating factor in sentencing for a conviction under this section involving that infant."

SECTION 6. Article 40 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 14-322.3. Abandonment of an infant under 15 days of age.

No parent shall be prosecuted under G.S. 14-322 or G.S. 14-322.1 for abandonment of an infant less than 15 days of age when that parent voluntarily delivers the infant to one of the following individuals and does not express an intent to return for the infant:

(1) A health care provider, as defined under G.S. 90-21.11, at a hospital or at a local or district health department.

(2) A law enforcement officer at a police station or sheriff's department.

(3) A social services worker at a local department of social services.

(4) An emergency medical technician at a fire station.

(5) Any other adult of suitable discretion who willingly accepts the infant."

SECTION 7. The Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Public Health, shall develop a media campaign to inform the public of the provisions of this act. This media campaign shall contain information on responsible parenting in addition to information about the provisions of the act. This media campaign shall be targeted at adolescents and young adults. This media campaign shall be developed in consultation with law enforcement officials, local departments of social services, medical personnel, and school administrators.

SECTION 8. There is appropriated from the General Fund the sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the 2001-2002 fiscal year and the sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the 2002-2003 fiscal year to the Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Public Health, to implement the provisions of Section 7 of this act.

HB 275:
Infant Homicide Prevention Act.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Haire
Date:	March 13, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 275 decriminalizes the abandonment of an infant less than 15 days old under certain circumstances. The bill requires certain persons and authorizes others to receive the infant. The bill shields a good faith "receiver" of the infant from civil and criminal liability. The bill shortens the required waiting period to terminate parental rights from six months to 60 days in cases of voluntary abandonment of infants less than 15 days old. The bill would also appropriate $300,000 to the Department of Health and Human Services to develop an ad campaign to publicize the provisions of this act.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Abandoning an Infant Less than 15 Days of Age and Immunity from Prosecution.

Under current law, an abandoned juvenile may be taken into temporary custody by a law enforcement officer or a department of social services worker (G.S. 7B-500). In other words, the parent of a newborn infant who desires to abandon the infant could turn the infant over to an officer or to a department of social services worker. However, the parent is potentially subject to prosecution under the following statutes:

- G.S. 14-318.2 - Misdemeanor Child Abuse
- G.S. 14-318.4 - Felony Child Abuse
- G.S. 14-322 - Misdemeanor to refuse to provide child support
- G.S. 14-322.1 - Felony Abandonment

This bill would allow the parent of an infant less than 15 days of age to turn their child over to one of the following persons:

- A health care provider at a hospital or local health department,
- A law enforcement officer at a police station or sheriff's department,
- A department of social services worker at a local department of social services,
- An emergency medical technician at a fire station, or
- Any adult of suitable discretion who willingly accepts the infant.

In addition, the parent would not be subject to prosecution under G.S. 14-322, misdemeanor to refuse to provide child support, and G.S. 14-322.1, felony abandonment. The abandoning parent would not be subject to prosecution under G.S. 14-318.2, misdemeanor child abuse, for acts or omissions related to the care of the infant. Finally, abandoning parents who also commit felony child abuse could still be prosecuted under G.S. 14-318.4, but abandoning an infant according to the provisions of this bill would be treated as a mitigating factor in the sentencing of a conviction under G.S. 14-318.4.

Taking a Juvenile into Temporary Custody.

The following persons must take an infant less than 15 days old into temporary custody without a court order when the infant is voluntarily delivered to the individual by the infant's parent and the parent does not express an intent to return for the infant:

- A law enforcement officer,
- A department of social services worker,
- A health care provider at a hospital or local health department, or
- An emergency medical technician at a fire station.

In addition, any adult may, under the same circumstances described above, take an infant less than 15 days old into temporary custody.

Obligation of the Individual Taking Temporary Custody.

Individuals taking an infant into temporary custody under the provisions of this bill must protect the health and well-being of the infant and must immediately inform the department of social services.

Identity of the Parents.

The individual may inquire as to the parents' identities and medical history but the parent is not required to provide this information.

Civil and Criminal Immunity.

Individuals taking an infant into temporary custody under the provisons of this bill are immune from civil or criminal liability under the temporary custody provisions of this bill so long as the individual acted in good faith. However, the immunity does not extend to gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing that would otherwise be actionable.

Director of DSS to Initiate Investigation Immediately in Cases of Abandonment.

Under current law, when abuse of a juvenile is alleged, the Director of the Division of Social Services (DSS) must initiate an investigation within 24 hours. When neglect or dependency is alleged the Director must initiate the investigation within 72 hours (G.S. 7B-302(a)).

When abandonment is alleged (abandonment is considered a type of neglect), this bill would require the Director to initiate an investigation immediately, to take temporary custody of the juvenile, and to secure an order of nonsecure custody. The Director must also request that law enforcement investigate through the N.C. Center for Missing Persons and other resources as to whether or not the juvenile is a missing child.

Termination of Parental Rights (TPR).

Under current law, a court may terminate parental rights upon various grounds including that the parent has willfully abandoned the child for at least six consecutive months immediately preceding the filing of the TPR petition.

Under this bill, the court may terminate parental rights when a parent voluntarily abandons an infant less than 15 days old for at least 60 consecutive days immediately preceding the filing of the petition.

Media Campaign and Appropriation.

This bill requires the Division of Public Health of the Department of Health and Human Services, to develop a media campaign to inform the public of the provisions of the act, targeted at adolescents and young adults. The media campaign is to be developed in consultation with law enforcement officials, local departments of social services, medical personnel, and school administrators. This bill authorizes the appropriation of $150,000 for FY 2001-2002 and $150,000 for FY 2002-2003 to the Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Public Health, to implement the media campaign.

Effective Date.

The provision regarding development of the media campaign is effective July 1, 2000. The statutory changes become effective December 1, 2000, and apply to acts committed on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO DECRIMINALIZE ABANDONMENT OF AN INFANT UNDER CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES AND TO MODIFY SOME PROCEDURES INVOLVING ABANDONED JUVENILES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 7B-302(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) When a report of abuse, neglect, or dependency is received, the director of the department of social services shall make a prompt and thorough investigation in order to ascertain the facts of the case, the extent of the abuse or neglect, and the risk of harm to the juvenile, in order to determine whether protective services should be provided or the complaint filed as a petition. When the report alleges abuse, the director shall immediately, but no later than 24 hours after receipt of the report, initiate the investigation. When the report alleges neglect or dependency, the director shall initiate the investigation within 72 hours following receipt of the report. When the report alleges abandonment, the director shall immediately initiate an investigation, take appropriate steps to assume temporary custody of the juvenile, and take appropriate steps to secure an order for nonsecure custody of the juvenile. The investigation and evaluation shall include a visit to the place where the juvenile resides. When the report alleges abandonment, the investigation shall include a request from the director to law enforcement officials to investigate through the North Carolina Center for Missing Persons and other national and State resources whether the juvenile is a missing child. All information received by the department of social services, including the identity of the reporter, shall be held in strictest confidence by the department."

SECTION 2. G.S. 7B-500 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-500. Taking a juvenile into temporary ~~custody.~~custody; civil and criminal immunity.

(a) Temporary custody means the taking of physical custody and providing personal care and supervision until a court order for nonsecure custody can be obtained. A juvenile may be taken into temporary custody without a court order by a law enforcement officer or a department of social services worker if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the juvenile is abused, neglected, or dependent and that the juvenile would be injured or could not be taken into custody if it were first necessary to obtain a court order. If a department of social services worker takes a juvenile into temporary custody under this section, the worker may arrange for the placement, care, supervision, and transportation of the juvenile.

(b) The following individuals shall, without a court order, take into temporary custody an infant under 15 days of age that is voluntarily delivered to the individual by the infant's parent who does not express an intent to return for the infant:

(1) A health care provider, as defined under G.S. 90-21.11, who is on duty or at a hospital or at a local or district health department.

(2) A law enforcement officer who is on duty or at a police station or sheriff's department.

(3) A social services worker who is on duty or at a local department of social services.

(4) An emergency medical technician who is on duty or at a fire station.

(c) An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under subsection (b) of this section shall perform any act necessary to protect the physical health and well-being of the infant and shall immediately notify the department of social services or a local law enforcement agency. Any individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under subsection (b) of this section may inquire as to the parents' identities and as to any relevant medical history, but the parent is not required to provide this information.

(d) Any adult may, without a court order, take into temporary custody an infant under 15 days of age that is voluntarily delivered to the individual by the infant's parent who does not express an intent to return for the infant. Any individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under this section shall perform any act necessary to protect the physical health and well-being of the infant and shall immediately notify the department of social services or a local law enforcement agency. An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under this subsection may inquire as to the parents' identities and as to any relevant medical history, but the parent is not required to provide this information.

(e) An individual who takes an infant into temporary custody under subsection (b) or (d) of this section is immune from any civil or criminal liability that might otherwise be incurred or imposed as a result of any omission or action taken pursuant to the requirements of subsection (b), (c), or (d) of this section so long as that individual was acting in good faith. The immunity established by this subsection does not extend to gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing that would otherwise be actionable."

SECTION 3. G.S. 7B-1111(a)(7) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The court may terminate the parental rights upon a finding of one or more of the following:

(7) The parent has willfully abandoned the juvenile for at least six consecutive months immediately preceding the filing of the petition or ~~motion.~~motion, or the parent has voluntarily abandoned an infant pursuant to G.S. 7B-500 for at least 60 consecutive days immediately preceding the filing of the petition or motion."

SECTION 4. G.S. 14-318.2 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) A parent who abandons an infant less than 15 days of age pursuant to G.S. 14-322.3 shall not be prosecuted under this section for any acts or omissions related to the care of that infant."

SECTION 5. G.S. 14-318.4 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) Abandonment of an infant less than 15 days of age pursuant to G.S. 14-322.3 may be treated as a mitigating factor in sentencing for a conviction under this section involving that infant."

SECTION 6. Article 40 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 14-322.3. Abandonment of an infant under 15 days of age.

When a parent abandons an infant less than 15 days of age by voluntarily delivering the infant as provided in G.S. 7B-500(b) or G.S. 7B-500(d) and does not express an intent to return for the infant, that parent shall not be prosecuted under G.S. 14-322 or G.S. 14-322.1.

SECTION 7. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Infant Homicide Prevention Act.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Haire
Version:	H275-CSSk-7[v.3]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 275 decriminalizes the abandonment of an infant less than 15 days old under certain circumstances. The bill requires certain persons and authorizes others to receive the infant. The bill shields a good faith "receiver" of the infant from civil and criminal liability. The bill shortens the required waiting period to terminate parental rights from six months to 60 days in cases of voluntary abandonment of infants less than 15 days old.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Abandoning an Infant Less than 15 Days of Age and Immunity from Prosecution.

Under current law, an abandoned juvenile may be taken into temporary custody by a law enforcement officer or a department of social services worker (G.S. 7B-500). In other words, the parent of a newborn infant who desires to abandon the infant could turn the infant over to an officer or to a department of social services worker. However, the parent is potentially subject to prosecution under the following statutes:

- G.S. 14-318.2 - Misdemeanor Child Abuse
- G.S. 14-318.4 - Felony Child Abuse
- G.S. 14-322 - Misdemeanor to refuse to provide child support
- G.S. 14-322.1 - Felony Abandonment

This bill would allow the parent of an infant less than 15 days of age to turn their child over to one of the following persons:

- A health care provider who is on duty or at a hospital or local health department,
- A law enforcement officer who is on duty or at a police station or sheriff's department,
- A department of social services worker who is on duty or at a local department of social services,
- An emergency medical technician who is on duty or at a fire station, or
- Any adult of suitable discretion who willingly accepts the infant.

In addition, the parent would not be subject to prosecution under G.S. 14-322, misdemeanor to refuse to provide child support, and G.S. 14-322.1, felony abandonment. The abandoning parent would not be subject to prosecution under G.S. 14-318.2, misdemeanor child abuse, for acts or omissions related to the care of the infant. Finally, abandoning parents who also commit felony child abuse could still be prosecuted under G.S. 14-318.4, but abandoning an infant according to the provisions of this bill would be treated as a mitigating factor in the sentencing of a conviction under G.S. 14-318.4.

Taking a Juvenile into Temporary Custody.

The persons listed above must take an infant less than 15 of age into temporary custody without a court order when the infant is voluntarily delivered to the individual by the infant's parent and the parent does not express an intent to return for the infant. In addition, any adult may, under the same circumstances, take an infant less than 15 days old into temporary custody.

Obligation of the Individual Taking Temporary Custody.

Individuals taking an infant into temporary custody under the provisions of this bill must protect the health and well-being of the infant and must immediately inform the department of social services or a local law enforcement agency.

Identity of the Parents.

The individual may inquire as to the parents' identities and medical history but the parent is not required to provide this information.

Civil and Criminal Immunity.

Individuals taking an infant into temporary custody under the provisions of this bill are immune from civil or criminal liability under the temporary custody provisions of this bill so long as the individual acted in good faith. However, the immunity does not extend to gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing that would otherwise be actionable.

Director of DSS to Initiate Investigation Immediately in Cases of Abandonment.

Under current law, when abuse of a juvenile is alleged, the Director of the Division of Social Services (DSS) must initiate an investigation within 24 hours. When neglect or dependency is alleged the Director must initiate the investigation within 72 hours (G.S. 7B-302(a)).

When abandonment is alleged (abandonment is considered a type of neglect), this bill would require the Director to initiate an investigation immediately, to take temporary custody of the juvenile, and to secure an order of nonsecure custody. The Director must also request that law enforcement investigate through the N.C. Center for Missing Persons and other resources as to whether or not the juvenile is a missing child.

Termination of Parental Rights (TPR).

Under current law, a court may terminate parental rights upon various grounds including that the parent has willfully abandoned the child for at least six consecutive months immediately preceding the filing of the TPR petition.

Under this bill, the court may terminate parental rights when a parent voluntarily abandons an infant less than 15 days old for at least 60 consecutive days immediately preceding the filing of the petition.

Effective Date.

HOUSE BILL 495:
Left Turn on Red.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Reps. Hensley & Gulley
Date:	March 20, 2001	Summary by:	Robin S. Johnson
Version:	PCS: H495-SMRH-4[4]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The PCS for House Bill 495 makes technical changes to the original bill.

The bill would permit a left turn on red from the leftmost lane of travel on a one-way street to the leftmost lane of travel of an intersecting one-way street. The turning driver must first come to a complete stop and must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians and traffic using the intersection.

The bill would take effect December 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW: At present, a right turn on red is allowed in North Carolina, except where prohibited by a sign. Left turns on red are prohibited.

BACKGROUND: In 1999, the House passed a similar bill, which subsequently failed to pass in the Senate. At that time, it was reported that 44 states allowed some form of left turn on red.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

March 22, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Thursday, March 22, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 10:00 a.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Bowie, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and recognized the Pages. He then called for consideration of the following bills:

HB 495 Left on Red. Rep. Haire moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Robin Johnson and Rep. Hensley explained the changes. R. D. Watts spoke with regard to the blind pedestrian experience. Joseph Johnson of the Raleigh Transit Authority noted that this bill prohibits left on red when pedestrians are crossing. Following comments from Bill Waters, Division of Services for the Blind, Ruth Sappie of DMV, and members of the committee, Rep. Hall moved for a favorable report as to committee substitute bill, unfavorable as to original bill, and to make technical changes. Motion passed.

HB 689 Tennessee Valley Authority Officers' Authority. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Haire, bill sponsor, to explain the bill. Rep. Bowie moved for a favorable report. Motion passed unanimously.

HB 439 Civil Procedure Rule Changes. Rep. Haire moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. The chair then recognized Rep. Haire, bill sponsor, to provide a section by section review of the bill. Rep. Haire noted that the changes contained in the bill were the work of the Civil Litigation Study Commission. Rep. Pope also served on the study commission, and added his support to the bill. Eddie Caldwell of the Sheriff's Association asked that the first section of the bill allowing notary publics to serve papers be deleted. Sheriff Worth Hill of Durham County expressed his concern for the safety and training of these individuals. Rep. Justus noted that he would also like to see this section removed. Speaking as a notary public, Rep. Sherrill said that she would not want the responsibility of serving papers. Rep. Bowie questioned whether or not a notary public has to serve papers, and Rep. Haire noted that this gave them discretionary authority. Dick Taylor of the Academy of Trial Lawyers, presented another side of the argument. Questions and comments from the committee continued until the chair had to adjourn the meeting due to the hour. No vote was taken.

Left Turn on Red.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Reps. Hensley & Gulley
Date:	March 22, 2001	Summary by:	Robin S. Johnson
Version:	PCS: H495-CSRH-4[v.5]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The PCS for House Bill 495 makes technical changes to the original bill.

The bill would permit a left turn on red from the leftmost lane of travel on a one-way street to the leftmost lane of travel of an intersecting one-way street. The turning driver must first come to a complete stop and must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians and traffic using the intersection.

The bill would take effect December 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW: At present, a right turn on red is allowed in North Carolina, except where prohibited by a sign. Left turns on red are prohibited.

BACKGROUND: In 1999, the House passed a similar bill, which subsequently failed to pass in the Senate. At that time, it was reported that 44 states allowed some form of left turn on red.

HOUSE BILL 689:
TVA Officers' Authority.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Rep. Haire
Date:	March 22, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	One		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The bill would add Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) officers to the list of federal law enforcement officers who, when asked to assist State or local law enforcement agencies, acting within the scope of their subject matter and territorial jurisdiction, are empowered with the same authority and the same personal civil immunity as is given to North Carolina law enforcement officers.

The bill would take effect October 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, 13 different categories of law enforcement officers, employed full-time by the federal government, are given this authority and personal civil immunity.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend G.S. 15A-406(a) (see page 2) by adding TVA officers to the list of federal law enforcement officers who, currently, when asked to assist State or local law enforcement agencies, acting within the scope of their subject matter and territorial jurisdiction, are empowered with the same authority and the same personal civil immunity as is given to North Carolina law enforcement officers. While providing temporary assistance to State or local law enforcement agencies, the federal agent would not be considered an employee of any State or local agency, would still be acting within the scope of the agent's duties under the Federal Tort Claims Act, and would not have authority to initiate or conduct independent investigations of violations of State law.

BACKGROUND: The TVA is a federal corporation that is the nation's largest public power company, the steward of the Tennessee River system, and a regional economic development agency. There are seven states, including North Carolina, in TVA's power service area. In North Carolina, the TVA owns and operates four hydroelectric dams (Apalachia and Hiwassee in Cherokee County, Chatuge in Clay County, and Fontana in Swain and Graham Counties) and manages the recreational use of their reservoirs.

The TVA Police is a federally commissioned, internationally accredited law enforcement agency that provides protection for TVA properties and employees and for the users of the TVA's recreation facilities. Qualifications for officers include the following:

- At least 21 years old, U.S. citizen, with no criminal convictions or dishonorable discharge from military service.
- Associate's degree and two years of related law enforcement experience, or a bachelor's degree.
- Successful background investigation, completion of required tests, and basic computer skills.
- Recruits must successfully complete a 12-week federal training academy at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center and a 10-week field-training program.
- Recruits serve a one-year probationary period.

SECTION 3.1. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4(j1) reads as rewritten:

"(j1) Service by publication on party that cannot otherwise be served. – A party that cannot with due diligence be served by personal ~~delivery or~~ delivery, registered or certified ~~mail~~ mail, or by a designated delivery service authorized pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 7502(f)(2) may be served by publication. Except in actions involving jurisdiction in rem or quasi in rem as provided in section (k), service of process by publication shall consist of publishing a notice of service of process by publication once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper that is qualified for legal advertising in accordance with G.S. 1-597 and G.S. 1-598 and circulated in the area where the party to be served is believed by the serving party to be located, or if there is no reliable information concerning the location of the party then in a newspaper circulated in the county where the action is pending. If the party's post-office address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, there shall be mailed to the party at or immediately prior to the first publication a copy of the notice of service of process by publication. The mailing may be omitted if the post-office address cannot be ascertained with reasonable diligence. Upon completion of such service there shall be filed with the court an affidavit showing the publication and mailing in accordance with the requirements of G.S. 1-75.10(2), the circumstances warranting the use of service by publication, and information, if any, regarding the location of the party served.

The notice of service of process by publication shall (i) designate the court in which the action has been commenced and the title of the action, which title may be indicated sufficiently by the name of the first plaintiff and the first defendant; (ii) be directed to the defendant sought to be served; (iii) state either that a pleading seeking relief against the person to be served has been filed or has been required to be filed therein not later than a date specified in the notice; (iv) state the nature of the relief being sought; (v) require the defendant being so served to make defense to such pleading within 40 days after a date stated in the notice, exclusive of such date, which date so stated shall be the date of the first publication of notice, or the date when the complaint is required to be filed, whichever is later, and notify the defendant that upon his failure to do so the party seeking service of process by publication will apply to the court for the relief sought; (vi) in cases of attachment, state the information required by G.S. 1-440.14; (vii) be subscribed by the party seeking service or his attorney and give the post-office address of such party or his attorney; and (viii) be substantially in the following form:

NOTICE OF SERVICE OF PROCESS BY PUBLICATION

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA _____ COUNTY

IN THE _____ COURT

[Title of action or special proceeding] [To Person to be served]:

taking a deposition on oral examination, the proponent of the question shall complete the examination on all other matters before he adjourns the examination in order to apply for an order.

If the court denies the motion in whole or in part, it may make such protective order as it would have been empowered to make on a motion made pursuant to Rule 26(c).

(3) Evasive or Incomplete Answer. – For purposes of this subdivision an evasive or incomplete answer is to be treated as a failure to answer.

(4) Award of Expenses of Motion. – If the motion is granted, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion or the party advising such conduct or both of them to pay to the moving party the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining the order, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the opposition to the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is denied, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the moving party to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is granted in part and denied in part, the court may apportion the reasonable expenses incurred in relation to the motion among the parties and persons in a just manner."

PRESERVING EXCEPTIONS TO RULINGS (RULE 46)

SECTION 7. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 46 reads as rewritten:

"Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.

(a) Rulings on admissibility of evidence. –

(1) When there is objection to the admission of evidence on the ground that the witness is for a specified reason incompetent or not qualified or disqualified, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been made to any subsequent admission of evidence from the witness in question. Similarly, when there is objection to the admission of evidence involving a specified line of questioning, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been taken to any subsequent admission of evidence involving the same line of questioning.

(2) If there is proper objection to the admission of evidence and the objection is overruled, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party making the objection. If an objection to the admission of evidence is sustained or if the court for any reason excludes evidence offered by a party, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party offering the evidence.

(3) No objections are necessary with respect to questions propounded to a witness by the court or a juror but it shall be deemed that each such question has been properly objected to and that the objection has been overruled and that an exception has been taken to the ruling of the court by all parties to the action.

(b) ~~Rulings~~ Pretrial rulings, interlocutory orders, trial rulings, and other orders not directed to the admissibility of evidence. – With respect to ~~rulings~~pretrial rulings, interlocutory orders, trial rulings, and other orders of the court not directed to the admissibility of evidence, formal objections and exceptions are unnecessary. In order to preserve an exception to any such ruling or order or to the court's failure to make any such ruling or order, it shall be sufficient if a party, at the time the ruling or order is made or sought, makes known to the court ~~his~~ the party's objection to the action of the court or makes known the action ~~which he~~ that the party desires the court to take and ~~his ground therefor;~~ the party's grounds for its position. ~~and if~~ If a party has no opportunity to object or except to a ruling or order at the time it is made, the absence of an objection or exception does not thereafter prejudice ~~him.~~that party; however, in order to preserve exceptions to these rulings and orders for appellate review, a party shall promptly present to the court a request, objection, or motion that states the specific grounds for the ruling that the party desires the court to make upon having an opportunity to do so.

~~(c) Instruction. If there is error, either in the refusal of the judge to grant a prayer for instructions, or in granting a prayer, or in his instructions generally, the same is deemed excepted to without the filing of any formal objections.~~"

EXPAND CIRCUMSTANCES FOR SUBSTITUTION OF A JUDGE (RULE 63)

SECTION 8. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 63 reads as rewritten:

"Rule 63. Disability of a judge.

If by reason of death, ~~sickness,~~ sickness or other disability, resignation, retirement, expiration of term, removal from office, or other reason, a judge before whom an action has been tried or a hearing has been held is unable to perform the duties to be performed by the court under these rules after a verdict is returned or ~~findings of fact and conclusions of law are filed,~~ a trial or hearing is otherwise concluded, then those ~~duties~~ duties, including entry of judgment, may be performed:

(1) In actions in the superior court by the judge senior in point of continuous service on the superior court regularly holding the courts of the district. If ~~such~~ this judge is ~~himself~~ under a disability, then the resident judge of the district senior in point of service on the superior court may perform those duties. If a resident judge, while holding court in ~~his~~ the judge's own district suffers disability and there is no other resident judge of the district, such duties may be performed by a judge of the superior court designated by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

(2) In actions in the district court, by the chief judge of the district, or if the chief judge is disabled, by any judge of the district court designated by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

If the substituted judge is satisfied that he or she cannot perform those duties because ~~he~~ the judge did not preside at the trial or hearing or for any other reason, ~~he~~ the judge ~~may in his discretion~~ may, in the judge's discretion, grant a new ~~trial.~~ trial or hearing."

ENHANCED NOTICE FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER (RULE 65)

SECTION 9. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Temporary restraining order; notice; hearing; duration. – A temporary restraining order may be granted without written or oral notice to the adverse party or that party's attorney only if (i) it clearly appears from specific facts shown by affidavit or by verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result to the applicant before ~~notice can be served and a hearing had thereon.~~ the adverse party or that party's attorney can be heard in opposition, and (ii) the applicant's attorney certifies to the court in writing the efforts, if any, that have been made to give the notice and the reasons supporting the claim that notice should not be required. Every temporary restraining order granted without notice shall be endorsed with the date and hour of issuance; shall be filed forthwith in the clerk's office and entered of record; shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice; and shall expire by its terms within such time after entry, not to exceed 10 days, as the judge fixes, unless within the time so fixed the order, for good cause shown, is extended for a like period or unless the party against whom the order is directed consents that it may be extended for a longer period. The reasons for the extension shall be entered of record. In case a temporary restraining order is granted without notice and a motion for a preliminary injunction is made, it shall be set down for hearing at the earliest possible time and takes precedence over all matters except older matters of the same character; and when the motion comes on for hearing, the party who obtained the temporary restraining order shall proceed with a motion for a preliminary injunction, and, if he does not do so, the judge shall dissolve the temporary restraining order. On two days' notice to the party who obtained the temporary restraining order without notice or on such shorter notice to that party as the judge may prescribe, the adverse party may appear and move its dissolution or modification and in that event the judge shall proceed to hear and determine such motion as expeditiously as the ends of justice require. Damages may be awarded in an order for dissolution as provided in section (e)."

HOUSE BILL 439:
Civil Procedure Rule Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Judiciary II
Date: March 22, 2001
Version: First Edition

Introduced by: Representatives Haire and Pope
Summary by: Jeff Hudson
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 439 would amend Rules 4, 5(b), 28(c), 37(a), 46, 63, and 65(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure as recommended by the Civil Litigation Study Commission. This act would become effective October 1, 2001, and would apply to actions filed on or after that date.

RULE	CURRENT LAW	HOUSE BILL 439
Rule 4(a) Summons – Issuance, who may serve.	Current Rule 4(a) requires in-State service of a summons and complaint to be made by a sheriff or some other person duly authorized by law to serve summons.	Section 1 would amend Rule 4(a) to also allow in-State service of a summons and complaint to be made by a notary public commissioned in North Carolina.
Rule 4(c) Summons – Return.	Current Rule 4(c) requires service of summons to be made within 30 days after the issuance of the summons.	Section 2 would amend Rule 4(c) to require service of summons to be made within 60 days after the date of issuance of the summons.
Rule 4(j) Process – Manner of service to exercise personal jurisdiction.	Current Rule 4(j) provides that natural persons, governmental agencies, and most other entities can be served with a summons and complaint (i) by personal delivery to the person or the person's authorized agent or (ii) by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested.	Section 3 would amend Rule 4(j) to also allow service by a "designated delivery service." This term is defined in the Internal Revenue Code, which authorizes taxpayers to use delivery services designated by the United States Secretary of the Treasury. The designated delivery services that are currently authorized are: Airborne Express, DHL Worldwide Express, Federal Express, and United Parcel Service. Sections 3.1, 3.2 and 3.3 would make conforming changes to Rule 4(j1), Rule 4(j2), and G.S. 1-75.10 respectively.

Note: Trina Griffin, Co-Counsel to the Civil Litigation Study Commission, contributed to the preparation of this summary.

RULE	CURRENT LAW	HOUSE BILL 439
Rule 5(b) Service – How made.	Current Rule 5(b) provides that service can be made by delivering a copy of the pleadings or papers to the party or the party's attorney or by mailing it to the party's or attorney's last known address.	Section 4 would amend Rule 5(b) to also authorize service of pleadings and papers on the attorney by fax. The fax must be sent to the attorney's office for receipt by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on a regular business day, as evidenced by a fax receipt confirmation. If the fax is received after 5:00 p.m., service is deemed completed on the next business day.
Rule 37(a) Motion for order compelling discovery.	Current Rule 37(a) provides that when an opposing party fails to respond to discovery, the discovering party may apply to the court for an order compelling discovery.	Section 6 would amend Rule 37(a)(2) to require the moving party to certify that has in good faith conferred or attempted confer with the person failing to make discovery in an effort to secure the information or material without court action.
Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.	Current Rule 46(b) provides that a formal objection or exception to a ruling or order that is not directed to the admissibility of evidence is unnecessary. Current Rule 46(c) provides that no formal objection is required to preserve an exception to the judge's instructions or failure to instruct. Current Rule 46(c) is inconsistent with Rule 10(b)(2) of the Rules of Appellate Procedure, which requires a formal objection to jury instructions to preserve the exception on appeal.	Section 7 would amend Rule 46(b) to clarify that it applies not only to trial rulings, but also to pretrial rulings and interlocutory orders. Section 7 would further amend Rule 46(b) to provide that in order to preserve an exception on appeal, a party must, upon opportunity to do so, present an objection to the ruling or order. Section 7 would also delete Rule 46(c) in order to eliminate the conflict with Rule 10(b)(2) of the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

RULE	CURRENT LAW	HOUSE BILL 439
Rule 63. Disability of a judge.	Current Rule 63 authorizes certain judges to be substituted for a disabled or deceased judge before whom an action has been tried. The substitute judge may perform the duties remaining after a verdict has been returned or findings of fact and conclusions of law have been filed. Current Rule 63 does not provide for substitution in an event other than death, sickness, or disability.	Section 8 would amend Rule 63 to expand the situations in which a judge may be substituted to include resignation, retirement, expiration of term, removal from office, or any other reason why the judge is unable to perform his or her duties. Section 8 would also amend Rule 63 to authorize the substitute judge to perform any duties remaining after a verdict is returned or a trial or hearing is otherwise concluded, including entry of judgment.
Rule 65(b) Temporary restraining order; notice; hearing; duration.	Current Rule 65(b) allows a judge to grant a temporary restraining order (TRO) without notice to the adverse party if the party seeking the TRO can show that the party will suffer immediate and irreparable harm before notice could be issued and a hearing conducted.	Section 9 would amend Rule 65(b) to require the party seeking the TRO to also certify in writing what efforts, if any, it made to give notice to the adverse party and the reasons that it believes notice should not be required.

III. DECISIONS UNDER PRIOR LAW.

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former §§ 1-14, 1-88 and 1-89.

As to meaning of word "issue" in relation to summons as affecting commencement of actions, see Williams v. Bray, 273 N.C. 198, 159 S.E.2d 556 (1968), decided under former § 1-88.

The issuance of a summons is not a judicial act which must be performed by the clerk in person, but is rather a ministerial act which may be done in his name by a deputy. Beck v. Voncannon, 237 N.C. 707, 75 S.E.2d 895 (1953), decided under former § 1-89.

When Summons Sufficient to Confer Jurisdiction. — To confer jurisdiction, the process relied on must in fact issue from the court and show upon its face that it emanated therefrom and was intended to bring the defendant into court to answer the complaint of the plaintiff. And when this is clearly shown by evidence appearing on the face of the summons, ordinarily the writ will be deemed sufficient to meet the requirements of due process and bring the party served into court, and formal defects appearing on the face of the record will be treated as nonjurisdictional irregularities, subject to amendment. If, however, there is nothing upon the face of the paper which stamps upon it unmistakably an official character, it is not a defective summons, but no summons at all. Beck v. Voncannon, 237 N.C. 707, 75 S.E.2d 895 (1953), decided under former § 1-89.

If there has been no service of summons and no waiver by appearance, the court has no jurisdiction, and any judgment rendered would be void. B-W Acceptance Corp. v. Spencer, 268 N.C. 1, 149 S.E.2d 570 (1966), decided under former § 1-14.

But Personal Service, Acceptance of Service or Voluntary Appearance Gives Jurisdiction. — When the defendant has been duly served with summons personally within the State, or has accepted service, or has voluntarily appeared in court, jurisdiction over the person exists, and the court may proceed to render a personal judgment against the defendant. B-W Acceptance Corp. v. Spencer, 268 N.C. 1, 149 S.E.2d 570 (1966), decided under former § 1-14.

Conflict of Laws. — In an action in a United States district court in North Carolina for wrongful death under the Louisiana wrongful death statute, the procedural law of North Carolina and not the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure determined when the action was commenced. Rios v. Drennan, 209 F. Supp. 927 (E.D.N.C. 1962), decided under former § 1-14.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

In order for a court to revoke an irrevocable preneed contract a civil action must be initiated by the filing of a complaint with the necessary parties being the purchaser, the preneed funeral home license and, if other than the purchaser, the preneed funeral contract beneficiary. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. William R. Hoke, Attorney for the North Carolina State Board of Mortuary Science, — N.C.A.G. — (November 3, 1995).

Rule 4. Process.

(a) Summons — Issuance; who may serve. — Upon the filing of the complaint, summons shall be issued forthwith, and in any event within five days. The complaint and summons shall be delivered to some proper person for service. In this State, such proper person shall be the sheriff of the county where service is to be made or some other person duly authorized by law to serve summons. Outside this State, such proper person shall be anyone who is not a party and is not less than 21 years of age or anyone duly authorized to serve summons by the law of the place where service is to be made. Upon request of the plaintiff separate or additional summons shall be issued against any defendants. A summons is issued when, after being filled out and dated, it is signed by the officer having authority to do so. The date the summons bears shall be prima facie evidence of the date of issue.

(b) Summons — Contents. — The summons shall run in the name of the State and be dated and signed by the clerk, assistant clerk, or deputy clerk of the court in the county in which the action is commenced. It shall contain the title of the cause and the name of the court and county wherein the action has been commenced. It shall be directed to the defendant or defendants and shall notify each defendant to appear and answer within 30 days after its service

It shall set forth the name and address of plaintiff's attorney, or if there be none, the name and address of plaintiff. If a request for admission is served with the summons, the summons shall so state.

(c) Summons — Return. — Personal service or substituted personal service of summons as prescribed by Rule 4(j)(1) a and b must be made within 30 days after the date of the issuance of summons, except that in tax and assessment foreclosures under G.S. 47-108.25 or G.S. 105-374 the time allowed for service is 60 days. When a summons has been served upon every party named in the summons, it shall be returned immediately to the clerk who issued it, with notation thereon of its service.

Failure to make service within the time allowed or failure to return a summons to the clerk after it has been served on every party named in the summons shall not invalidate the summons. If the summons is not served within the time allowed upon every party named in the summons, it shall be returned immediately upon the expiration of such time by the officer to the clerk of the court who issued it with notation thereon of its nonservice and the reasons therefor as to every such party not served, but failure to comply with this requirement shall not invalidate the summons.

(d) Summons — Extension; endorsement, alias and pluries. — When any defendant in a civil action is not served within the time allowed for service, the action may be continued in existence as to such defendant by either of the following methods of extension:

(1) The plaintiff may secure an endorsement upon the original summons for an extension of time within which to complete service of process. Return of the summons so endorsed shall be in the same manner as the original process. Such endorsement may be secured within 90 days after the issuance of summons or the date of the last prior endorsement, or

(2) The plaintiff may sue out an alias or pluries summons returnable in the same manner as the original process. Such alias or pluries summons may be sued out at any time within 90 days after the date of issue of the last preceding summons in the chain of summonses or within 90 days of the last prior endorsement.

Provided, in tax and assessment foreclosures under G.S. 47-108.25 and G.S. 105-374, the first endorsement may be made at any time within two years after the issuance of the original summons, and subsequent endorsements may thereafter be made as in other actions; or an alias or pluries summons may be sued out at any time within two years after the issuance of the original summons, and after the issuance of such alias or pluries summons, the chain of summonses may be kept up as in any other action.

Provided, for service upon a defendant in a place not within the United States, the first endorsement may be made at any time within two years after the issuance of the original summons, and subsequent endorsements may thereafter be made at least once every two years; or an alias or pluries summons may be sued out at any time within two years after the issuance of the original summons, and after the issuance of such alias or pluries summons, the chain of summonses may be kept up as in any other action if sued out within two years of the last preceding summons in the chain of summonses or within two years of the last prior endorsement.

Provided, further, the methods of extension may be used interchangeably in any case and regardless of the form of the preceding extension.

(e) Summons — Discontinuance. — When there is neither endorsement by the clerk nor issuance of alias or pluries summons within the time specified in Rule 4(d), the action is discontinued as to any defendant not theretofore served with summons within the time allowed. Thereafter, alias or pluries summons may issue, or an extension be endorsed by the clerk, but, as to such defendant, the action shall be deemed to have commenced on the date of such issuance or endorsement.

(f) Summons — Date of multiple summonses. — If the plaintiff shall cause separate or additional summonses to be issued as provided in Rule 4(a), the date of issuance of such separate or additional summonses shall be considered the same as that of the original summons for purposes of endorsement or alias summons under Rule 4(d).

(g) Summons — Docketing by clerk. — The clerk shall keep a record in which he shall note the day and hour of issuance of every summons, whether original, alias, pluries, or endorsement thereon. When the summons is returned, the clerk shall note on the record the date of the return and the fact as to service or non-service.

(h) Summons — When proper officer not available. — If at any time there is not in a county a proper officer, capable of executing process, to whom summons or other process can be delivered for service, or if a proper officer refuses or neglects to execute such process, or if such officer is a party to or otherwise interested in the action or proceeding, the clerk of the issuing court, upon the facts being verified before him by written affidavit of the plaintiff or his agent or attorney, shall appoint some suitable person who, after he accepts such process for service, shall execute such process in the same manner, with like effect, and subject to the same liabilities, as if such person were a proper officer regularly serving process in that county.

(h1) Summons — When process returned unexecuted. — If a proper officer returns a summons or other process unexecuted, the plaintiff or his agent or attorney may cause service to be made by anyone who is not less than 21 years of age, who is not a party to the action, and who is not related by blood or marriage to a party to the action or to a person upon whom service is to be made. This subsection shall not apply to executions pursuant to Article 28 of Chapter 1 or summary ejectment pursuant to Article 3 of Chapter 42 of the General Statutes.

(i) Summons — Amendment. — At any time, before or after judgment, in its discretion and upon such terms as it deems just, the court may allow any process or proof of service thereof to be amended, unless it clearly appears that material prejudice would result to substantial rights of the party against whom the process issued.

(j) Process — Manner of service to exercise personal jurisdiction. — In any action commenced in a court of this State having jurisdiction of the subject matter and grounds for personal jurisdiction as provided in G.S. 1-75.4, the manner of service of process within or without the State shall be as follows:

(1) Natural Person. — Except as provided in subsection (2) below, upon a natural person:
   a. By delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to him or by leaving copies thereof at the defendant's dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein; or
   b. By delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to an agent authorized by appointment or by law to be served or to accept service of process or by serving process upon such agent or the party in a manner specified by any statute.
   c. By mailing a copy of the summons and of the complaint, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the party to be served, and delivering to the addressee.

(j) for service upon a natural person and, in addition, where required by paragraph a or b below, upon a person therein designated.

a. Where the person under disability is a minor, process shall be served separately in any manner prescribed for service upon a natural person upon a parent or guardian having custody of the child, or if there be none, upon any other person having the care and control of the child. If there is no parent, guardian, or other person having care and control of the child when service is made upon the child, then service of process must also be made upon a guardian ad litem who has been appointed pursuant to Rule 17.

b. If the plaintiff actually knows that a person under disability is under guardianship of any kind, process shall be served separately upon his guardian in any manner applicable and appropriate under this section (j). If the plaintiff does not actually know that a guardian has been appointed when service is made upon a person known to him to be incompetent to have charge of his affairs, then service of process must be made upon a guardian ad litem who has been appointed pursuant to Rule 17.

(3) The State. — Upon the State by personally delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to the Attorney General or to a deputy or assistant attorney general or by mailing a copy of the summons and of the complaint, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the Attorney General or to a deputy or assistant attorney general.

(4) An Agency of the State. —

a. Upon an agency of the State by personally delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to the process agent appointed by the agency in the manner hereinafter provided or by mailing a copy of the summons and of the complaint, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to said process agent.

b. Every agency of the State shall appoint a process agent by filing with the Attorney General the name and address of an agent upon whom process may be served.

c. If any agency of the State fails to comply with paragraph b above, then service upon such agency may be made by personally delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to the Attorney General or to a deputy or assistant attorney general or by mailing a copy of the summons and of the complaint, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the Attorney General, or to a deputy or assistant attorney general.

d. For purposes of this rule, the term "agency of the State" includes every agency, institution, board, commission, bureau, department, division, council, member of Council of State, or officer of the State government of the State of North Carolina, but does not include counties, cities, towns, villages, other municipal corporations or political subdivisions of the State, county or city boards of education, other local public districts, units, or bodies of any kind, or private corporations created by act of the General Assembly.

c. Upon any other political subdivision of the State, any county or city board of education, or other local public district, unit, or body of any kind (i) by personally delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to an officer or director thereof, or (ii) by personally delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to an agent or attorney-in-fact authorized by appointment or by statute to be served or to accept service in its behalf, or (iii) by mailing a copy of the summons and of the complaint, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the officer, director, agent, or attorney-in-fact as specified in (i) and (ii).

d. In any case where none of the officials, officers or directors specified in paragraphs a, b and c can, after due diligence, be found in the State, and that fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court, or a judge thereof, such court or judge may grant an order that service upon the party sought to be served may be made by personally delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to the Attorney General or any deputy or assistant attorney general of the State of North Carolina, or by mailing a copy of the summons and of the complaint, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the Attorney General or any deputy or assistant attorney general of the State of North Carolina.

(6) Domestic or Foreign Corporation. — Upon a domestic or foreign corporation:

(j1) Service by publication on party that cannot otherwise be served. — A party that cannot with due diligence be served by personal delivery or registered or certified mail may be served by publication. Except in actions involving jurisdiction in rem or quasi in rem as provided in section (k), service of process by publication shall consist of publishing a notice of service of process by publication once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper that is qualified for legal advertising in accordance with G.S. 1-597 and G.S. 1-598 and circulated in the area where the party to be served is believed by the serving party to be located, or if there is no reliable information concerning the location of the party then in a newspaper circulated in the county where the action is pending. If the party's post-office address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, there shall be mailed to the party at or immediately prior to the first publication a copy of the notice of service of process by publication. The mailing may be omitted if the post-office address cannot be ascertained with reasonable diligence. Upon completion of such service there shall be filed with the court an affidavit showing the publication and mailing in accordance with the requirements of G.S. 1-75.10(2), the circumstances warranting the use of service by publication, and information, if any, regarding the location of the party served.

The notice of service of process by publication shall (i) designate the court in which the action has been commenced and the title of the action, which title may be indicated sufficiently by the name of the first plaintiff and the first defendant; (ii) be directed to the defendant sought to be served; (iii) state either that a pleading seeking relief against the person to be served has been filed or has been required to be filed therein not later than a date specified in the notice; (iv) state the nature of the relief being sought; (v) require the defendant being so served to make defense to such pleading within 40 days after a date stated in the notice, exclusive of such date, which date so stated shall be the date of the first publication of notice, or the date when the complaint is required to be filed, whichever is later, and notify the defendant that upon his failure to do so the party seeking service of process by publication will apply to the court for the relief sought; (vi) in cases of attachment, state the information required by G.S. 1-440.14; (vii) be subscribed by the party seeking service or his attorney and give the post-office address of such party or his attorney; and (viii) be substantially in the following form:

(j2) Proof of service. — Proof of service of process shall be as follows:

(1) Personal Service. — Before judgment by default may be had on personal service, proof of service must be provided in accordance with the requirements of G.S. 1-75.10(1).

(2) Registered or Certified Mail. — Before judgment by default may be had on service by registered or certified mail, the serving party shall file an affidavit with the court showing proof of such service in accordance with the requirements of G.S. 1-75.10(4). This affidavit together with the return receipt signed by the person who received the mail if not the addressee raises a presumption that the person who received the mail and signed the receipt was an agent of the addressee authorized by appointment or by law to be served or to accept service of process or was a person of suitable age and discretion residing in the addressee's dwelling house or usual place of abode. In the event the presumption described in the preceding sentence is rebutted by proof that the person who received the receipt at the addressee's dwelling house or usual place of abode was not a person of suitable age and discretion residing therein, the statute of limitation may not be pleaded as a defense if the action was initially commenced within the period of limitation and service of process is completed within 60 days from the date the service is declared invalid. Service shall be complete on the day the summons and complaint are delivered to the address.

(3) Publication. — Before judgment by default may be had on service by publication, the serving party shall file an affidavit with the court showing the circumstances warranting the use of service by publication, information, if any, regarding the location of the party served which was used in determining the area in which service by publication was printed and proof of service in accordance with G.S. 1-75.10(2).

(j3) Service in a foreign country. — Unless otherwise provided by federal law, service upon a defendant, other than an infant or an incompetent person, may be effected in a place not within the United States:

(1) By any internationally agreed means reasonably calculated to give notice, such as those means authorized by the Hague Convention on the Service Abroad of Judicial and Extrajudicial Documents; or

(2) If there is no internationally agreed means of service or the applicable international agreement allows other means of service, provided that service is reasonably calculated to give notice:

2. Any form of mail requiring a signed receipt, to be addressed and dispatched by the clerk of the court to the party to be served; or

(3) By other means not prohibited by international agreement as may be directed by the court.

Service under subdivision (2)c.1. or (3) of this subsection may be made by any person authorized by subsection (a) of this Rule or who is designated by order of the court or by the foreign court.

On request, the clerk shall deliver the summons to the plaintiff for transmission to the person or the foreign court or officer who will make the service. Proof of service may be made as prescribed in G.S. 1-75.10, by the order of the court, or by the law of the foreign country.

Proof of service by mail shall include an affidavit or certificate of addressing and mailing by the clerk of court.

(j4) Process or judgment by default not to be attacked on certain grounds. — No party may attack service of process or a judgment of default on the basis that service should or could have been effected by personal service rather than service by registered or certified mail. No party that receives timely actual notice may attack a judgment by default on the basis that the statutory requirement of due diligence as a condition precedent to service by publication was not met.

(j5) Personal jurisdiction by acceptance of service. — Any party personally, or through the persons provided in Rule 4(j), may accept service of process by notation of acceptance of service together with the signature of the party accepting service and the date thereof on an original or copy of a summons, and such acceptance shall have the same force and effect as would exist had the process been served by delivery of copy and summons and complaint to the person signing said acceptance.

(k) Process — Manner of service to exercise jurisdiction in rem or quasi in rem. — In any action commenced in a court of this State having jurisdiction of the subject matter and grounds for the exercise of jurisdiction in rem or quasi in rem as provided in G.S. 1-75.8, the manner of service of process shall be as follows:

(1) Defendant Known. — If the defendant is known, he may be served in the appropriate manner prescribed for service of process in section (j), or, if otherwise appropriate section (j1); except that the requirement for service by publication in (j1) shall be satisfied if made in the county where the action is pending and proof of service is made in accordance with section (j2).
(2) Defendant Unknown. — If the defendant is unknown, he may be designated by description and process may be served by publication in the manner provided in section (j1), except that the requirement for service by publication in (j1) shall be satisfied if made in the county where the action is pending and proof of service is made in accordance with section (j2). (1967, c. 954, s. 1; 1969, c. 895, ss. 1-4; 1971, c. 962; c. 1156, s. 2; 1975, cc. 408, 609; 1977, c. 910, ss. 1-3; 1981, c. 384, s. 3; c. 540, ss. 1-8; 1983, c. 679, ss. 1, 2; 1989, c. 330; c. 575, ss. 1, 2; 1995, c. 275, s. 1; c. 389, ss. 2, 3; c. 509, s. 135.1(e), (f); 1997-469, s. 1; 1999-456, s. 59.)

CASE NOTES

Applied in Canterbury v. Monroe Lange Hardwood Imports, 48 N.C. App. 90, 268 S.E.2d 868 (1980).

§ 1-75.10. Proof of service of summons, defendant appearing in action.

Where the defendant appears in the action and challenges the service of the summons upon him, proof of the service of process shall be as follows:

(1) Personal Service or Substituted Personal Service. —
   a. If served by the sheriff of the county or the lawful process officer in this State where the defendant was found, by the officer's certificate thereof, showing place, time and manner of service; or
   b. If served by any other person, his affidavit thereof, showing place, time and manner of service; his qualifications to make service under Rule 4(a) or Rule 4(j3) of the Rules of Civil Procedure; that he knew the person served to be the party mentioned in the summons and delivered to and left with him a copy; and if the defendant was not personally served, he shall state in such affidavit when, where and with whom such copy was left. If such service is made outside this State, the proof thereof may in the alternative be made in accordance with the law of the place where such service is made.

(2) Service of Publication. — In the case of publication, by the affidavit of the publisher or printer, or his foreman or principal clerk, showing the same and specifying the date of the first and last publication, and an affidavit of mailing of a copy of the complaint or notice, as the case may require, made by the person who mailed the same.

(3) Written Admission of Defendant. — The written admission of the defendant, whose signature or the subscription of whose name to such admission shall be presumptive evidence of genuineness.

(4) Service by Registered or Certified Mail. — In the case of service by registered or certified mail, by affidavit of the serving party averring:
   a. That a copy of the summons and complaint was deposited in the post office for mailing by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested;
   b. That it was in fact received as evidenced by the attached registry receipt or other evidence satisfactory to the court of delivery to the addressee; and
   c. That the genuine receipt or other evidence of delivery is attached. (1967, c. 954, s. 2; 1969, c. 895, s. 14; 1973, c. 643; 1979, c. 525, s. 2; 1981, c. 540, ss. 9, 10.)

COMMENT

Paragraph b of subdivision (1) now provides that proof of service of process may, in the alternative, be made in accordance with the law of the place where service is effected. It is intended to prevent technical objections to a return of service prepared by a foreign process server in accordance with the practices and requirements of his own jurisdiction.

VII. DISCONTINUANCE AND EXTENSIONS.

The provisions relating to issuance of alias or pluries summonses did not apply where both individual defendants were served personally with the original summons; the provisions under subsection (d) of this rule for an endorsement on the original summons or issuance of an alias or pluries summons apply only when the original summons was not served, and their purpose is to keep the action alive until service can be made. Thomas v. Washington, — N.C. App. —, 525 S.E.2d 839, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 154 (2000).

Rule 5. Service and filing of pleadings and other papers.

(a) Service of orders, subsequent pleadings, discovery papers, written motions, written notices, and other similar papers — When required. — Every order required by its terms to be served, every pleading subsequent to the original complaint unless the court otherwise orders because of numerous defendants, every paper relating to discovery required to be served upon a party unless the court otherwise orders, every written motion other than one which may be heard ex parte, and every written notice, appearance, demand, offer of judgment and similar paper shall be served upon each of the parties, but no service need be made on parties in default for failure to appear except that pleadings asserting new or additional claims for relief against them shall be served upon them in the manner provided for service of summons in Rule 4.

(a1) Service of briefs or memoranda in support or opposition of certain dispositive motions. — In actions in superior court, every brief or memorandum in support of or in opposition to a motion to dismiss, a motion for judgment on the pleadings, a motion for summary judgment, or any other motion seeking a final determination of the rights of the parties as to one or more of the claims or parties in the action shall be served upon each of the parties at least two days before the hearing on the motion. If the brief or memorandum is not served on the other parties at least two days before the hearing on the motion, the court may continue the matter for a reasonable period to allow the responding party to prepare a response, proceed with the matter without considering the untimely served brief or memorandum, or take such other action as the ends of justice require. The parties may, by consent, alter the period of time for service. For the purpose of this two-day requirement only, service shall mean personal delivery, facsimile transmission, or other means such that the party actually receives the brief within the required time.

(b) Service — How made. — A pleading setting forth a counterclaim or cross claim shall be filed with the court and a copy thereof shall be served on the party against whom it is asserted or on his attorney of record. With respect to all pleadings subsequent to the original complaint and other papers required or permitted to be served, service with due return may be made in the manner provided for service and return of process in Rule 4 and may be made upon either the party or, unless service upon the party himself is ordered by the court, upon his attorney of record. With respect to such other pleadings and papers, service upon the attorney or upon a party may also be made by delivering a copy to him or by mailing it to him at his last known address or, if no address is known, by filing it with the clerk of court. Delivery of a copy within this rule means handing it to the attorney or to the party; or leaving it at the attorney's office with a partner or employee. Service by mail shall be complete upon deposit of the pleading or paper enclosed in a post-paid, properly addressed wrapper in a post office or official depository under the exclusive care and custody of the United States Postal Service.

(c) Service — Numerous defendants. — In any action in which there are unusually large numbers of defendants, the court, upon motion or of its own initiative, may order that service of the pleadings of the defendants and replies thereto need not be made as between the defendants and that any crossclaim, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense contained therein shall be deemed to be denied or avoided by all other parties and that the filing of any such pleading and service thereof upon the plaintiff constitutes due notice of it to the parties. A copy of every such order shall be served upon the parties in such manner and form as the court directs.

(d) Filing. — All pleadings subsequent to the complaint shall be filed with the court. All other papers required to be served upon a party, including requests for admissions, shall be filed with the court either before service or within five days thereafter, except that depositions, interrogatories, requests for documents, and answers and responses to those requests may not be filed unless ordered by the court or until used in the proceeding. The party taking a deposition or obtaining material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court if needed or so ordered. With respect to all pleadings and other papers as to which service and return has not been made in the manner provided in Rule 4, proof of service shall be made by filing with the court a certificate either by the attorney or the party that the paper was served in the manner prescribed by this rule, or a certificate of acceptance of service by the attorney or the party to be served. Such certificate shall show the date and method of service or the date of acceptance of service.

(e)(1) Filing with the court defined. — The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court as required by these rules shall be made by filing them with the clerk of the court, except that the judge may permit the papers to be filed with him, in which event he shall note thereon the filing date and forthwith transmit them to the office of the clerk.

(2) Filing by telefacsimile transmission. — If, pursuant to G.S. 7A-34 and G.S. 7A-343, the Supreme Court and the Administrative Officer of the Courts establish uniform rules, regulations, procedures and specifications for the filing of pleadings or other court papers by telefacsimile transmission, filing may be made by the transmission when, in the manner, and to the extent provided therein. (1967, c. 954, s. 1; 1971, c. 538; c. 1156, s. 2.5; 1975, c. 762, s. 1; 1983, c. 201, s. 1; 1985, c. 546; 1991, c. 168, s. 1; 2000-127, s. 1.)

COMMENT

Comment to the 2000 Amendment. — The rule does not require any party to submit a brief or memorandum; it only applies in certain instances in which a party intends to submit a brief or memorandum to the court. The rule would not preclude a party from providing the judge with copies of cases or statutes at a hearing.

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2000-127, s. 3, provides that the 2000 addition to the Official Comment shall only be for annotation purposes and shall not be construed to be the law.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-127, s. 1, effective October 1, 2000, and applicable to motions subject to the act and to briefs, memoranda, and affidavits subject to the act filed on or after that date, inserted "of orders, subsequent pleadings, discovery papers, written motions, written notices, and other similar papers" in the heading to subsection (a); and added subsection (a1).

CASE NOTES

Last Known Address. — Where plaintiff mailed notice of hearing on her motion for default to an address other than that provided on defendant's filed response, notice was ineffective. Barnett v. King, 134 N.C. App. 348, 517 S.E.2d 397 (1999).

Rule 28. Persons before whom depositions may be taken.

(a) Within the United States. — Within the United States or within a territory or insular possession subject to the dominion of the United States, depositions shall be taken before a person authorized to administer oaths by the laws of this State, of the United States or of the place where the examination is held, or before a person appointed by the court in which the action is pending. A person so appointed has power to administer oaths and take testimony.

(b) In foreign countries. — Depositions may be taken in a foreign country:

(1) Pursuant to any applicable treaty or convention;

(2) Pursuant to a letter of request, whether or not captioned a letter rogatory;

(3) On notice before a person authorized to administer oaths in the place where the examination is held, either by the law thereof or by the law of the United States; or

(4) Before a person commissioned by the court, and a person so commissioned shall have the power by virtue of his commission to administer any necessary oath and take testimony. A commission or a letter of request shall be issued on application and notice and on terms that are just and appropriate. It is not requisite to the issuance of a commission or a letter of request that the taking of the deposition in any other manner is impracticable or inconvenient; and both a commission and a letter of request may be issued in proper cases. A notice or commission may designate the person before whom the deposition is to be taken either by name or descriptive title. A letter of request may be addressed "To the Appropriate Authority in (here name the country)." When a letter of request or any other device is used pursuant to any applicable treaty or convention, it shall be captioned in the form prescribed by that treaty or convention. Evidence obtained in response to a letter of request need not be excluded merely because the testimony was not taken under oath, or any similar departure from the requirements for depositions taken within the United States under these rules.

(c) Disqualification for interest. — Unless the parties agree otherwise by stipulation as provided in Rule 29, no deposition shall be taken before a person who is any of the following:

(1) A relative, employee, or attorney of any of the parties;

(2) A relative or employee of an attorney of the parties;

(3) Financially interested in the action; or

(4) An independent contractor if the contractor or the contractor's principal is under a blanket contract for the court reporting services with an attorney of the parties, party to the action, or party having a financial interest in the action. Notwithstanding the disqualification under this rule, the party desiring to take the deposition under a stipulation shall disclose the disqualification in writing in a Rule 30(b) notice of deposition and shall inform all parties to the litigation on the record of the existence of the disqualification under this rule and of the proposed stipulation waiving the disqualification. Any party opposing the proposed stipulation as provided in the notice of deposition shall give timely written notice of his or her opposition to all parties.

For the purposes of this rule, a blanket contract means a contract to perform court reporting services over a fixed period of time or an indefinite period of time, rather than on a case by case basis, or any other contractual arrangement which compels, guarantees, regulates, or controls the use of particular court reporting services in future cases.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a person is prohibited from taking a deposition under any contractual agreement that requires transmission of the original transcript without the transcript having been certified as provided in Rule 30(f) by the person before whom the deposition was taken.

(d) Depositions to be used outside this State. —

(1) A person desiring to take depositions in this State to be used in proceedings pending in the courts of any other state or country may present to a judge of the superior or district court a commission, order, notice, consent, or other authority under which the deposition is to be taken, whereupon it shall be the duty of the judge to issue the necessary subpoenas pursuant to Rule 45. Orders of the character provided in Rules 30(b), 30(d), and 45(b) may be made upon proper application therefor by the person to whom such subpoena is directed. Failure by any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon him pursuant to this rule may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued.

(2) The commissioner herein provided for shall not proceed to act under and by virtue of his appointment until the party seeking to obtain such deposition has deposited with him a sufficient sum of money to cover all costs and charges incident to the taking of the deposition, including such witness fees as are allowed to witnesses in this State for attendance upon the superior court. From such deposit the commissioner shall retain whatever amount may be due him for services, pay the witness fees and other costs that may have been incurred by reason of taking such deposition, and if any balance remains in his hands, he shall pay the same to the party by whom it was advanced. (1967, c. 954, s. 1; 1975, c. 762, s. 2; 1995, c. 389, s. 4; 1999-264, s. 1.)

COMMENT

Comment to this Rule as Originally Enacted. — This rule is the same as the federal rule except that "of this State" has been inserted in section (a), and section (d) has been added.

Under section (a) depositions for use in North Carolina need not be taken within the State. They may be taken wherever the party taking the deposition desires, subject to the protective provisions of Rule 30(b). However, a subpoena to require a witness to attend the deposition will not run outside the State. Many states have statutes comparable to present § 8-84, making their subpoena power available to compel residents to appear for depositions to be used in foreign states.

Section (d) has no counterpart in the federal rules. It is designed to permit courts in this State to assist parties in proceedings in other states to take depositions in this State for use in such proceedings. North Carolina now has such a statute as indicated above. This rule also requires the party taking a deposition to make a deposit insuring the payment of all fees and costs incident to the taking of the deposition. This practice will be new.

Comment to the 1975 Amendment. — This section is amended slightly to conform to the federal rule, but its substance remains unchanged.

Rule 37. Failure to make discovery; sanctions.

(a) Motion for order compelling discovery. — A party, upon reasonable notice to other parties and all persons affected thereby, may apply for an order compelling discovery as follows:

(1) Appropriate Court. — An application for an order to a party or a deponent who is not a party may be made to a judge of the court in which the action is pending, or, on matters relating to a deposition where the deposition is being taken in this State, to a judge of the court in the county where the deposition is being taken, as defined by Rule 30(h).

(2) Motion. — If a deponent fails to answer a question propounded or submitted under Rules 30 or 31, or a corporation or other entity fails to make a designation under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a), or a party fails to answer an interrogatory submitted under Rule 33, or if a party, in response to a request for inspection submitted under Rule 34, fails to respond that inspection will be permitted as requested or fails to permit inspection as requested, the discovering party may move for an order compelling an answer, or a designation, or an order compelling inspection in accordance with the request. When taking a deposition on oral examination, the proponent of the question shall complete the examination on all other matters before he adjourns the examination in order to apply for an order.

If the court denies the motion in whole or in part, it may make such protective order as it would have been empowered to make on a motion made pursuant to Rule 26(c).

(3) Evasive or Incomplete Answer. — For purposes of this subdivision an evasive or incomplete answer is to be treated as a failure to answer.

(4) Award of Expenses of Motion. — If the motion is granted, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion or the party advising such conduct or both of them to pay to the moving party the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining the order, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the opposition to the motion was substantially justified or unjust.

tially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is denied, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the moving party to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is granted in part and denied in part, the court may apportion the reasonable expenses incurred in relation to the motion among the parties and persons in a just manner.

(b) Failure to comply with order. —

(1) Sanctions by Court in County Where Deposition Is Taken. — If a deponent fails to be sworn or to answer a question after being directed to do so by a judge of the court in the county in which the deposition is being taken, the failure may be considered a contempt of that court.

(2) Sanctions by Court in Which Action Is Pending. — If a party or an officer, director, or managing agent of a party or a person designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a) to testify on behalf of a party fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including an order made under section (a) of this rule or Rule 35, or if a party fails to obey an order entered under Rule 26(f) a judge of the court in which the action is pending may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just, and among others the following:

a. An order that the matters regarding which the order was made or any other designated facts shall be taken to be established for the purposes of the action in accordance with the claim of the party obtaining the order;

b. An order refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting him from introducing designated matters in evidence;

c. An order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying further proceedings until the order is obeyed, or dismissing the action or proceeding or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the disobedient party;

d. In lieu of any of the foregoing orders or in addition thereto, an order treating as a contempt of court the failure to obey any orders except an order to submit to a physical or mental examination;

e. Where a party has failed to comply with an order under Rule 35(a) requiring him to produce another for examination, such orders as are listed in subdivisions a, b, and c of this subsection, unless the party failing to comply shows that he is unable to produce such person for examination.

In lieu of any of the foregoing orders or in addition thereto, the court shall require the party failing to obey the order to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure, unless the court finds that the failure was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

(c) Expenses on failure to admit. — If a party fails to admit the genuineness of any document or the truth of any matter as requested under Rule 36, and if the party requesting the admissions thereafter proves the genuineness of the document or the truth of the matter, he may apply to the court for an order requiring the other party to pay him the reasonable expenses incurred in making that proof, including reasonable attorney's fees. The court shall make the order unless it finds that (i) the request was held objectionable pursuant to Rule 36(a), or (ii) the admission sought was of no substantial importance, or (iii) the party failing to admit had reasonable ground to believe that he might prevail on the matter, or (iv) there was other good reason for the failure to admit.

(d) Failure of party to attend at own deposition or serve answers to interrogatories or respond to request for inspection. — If a party or an officer, director, or managing agent of a party or a person designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a) to testify on behalf of a party fails (i) to appear before the person who is to take his deposition, after being served with a proper notice, or (ii) to serve answers or objections to interrogatories submitted under Rule 33, after proper service of the interrogatories, or (iii) to serve a written response to a request for inspection submitted under Rule 34, after proper service of the request, the court in which the action is pending on motion may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just, and among others it may take any action authorized under subdivisions a, b, and c of subsection (b)(2) of this rule. In lieu of any order or in addition thereto, the court shall require the party failing to act to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure, unless the court finds that the failure was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

The failure to act described in this section may not be excused on the ground that the discovery sought is objectionable unless the party failing to act has applied for a protective order as provided by Rule 26(c).

(e), (f) Reserved for future codification purposes.

(g) Failure to participate in the framing of a discovery plan. — If a party or his attorney fails to participate in good faith in the framing of a discovery plan by agreement as is required by Rule 26(f), the court may, after opportunity for hearing, require such party or his attorney to pay to any other party the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure. (1967, c. 954, s. 1; 1973, c. 827, s. 1; 1975, c. 762, s. 2; 1985, c. 603, ss. 5-7.)

COMMENT

Comment to this Rule as Originally Enacted. — Under § 8-78 and former §§ 1-568.18 and 1-568.19, sanctions against either a deponent or adverse party for failure to answer or to appear are provided for. Under § 8-78 a deponent may be committed to jail upon warrant of the commissioner before whom the deposition is taken. Under former §§ 1-568.18 and 1-568.19 sanctions could be applied only upon order of court issued either by the clerk of superior court in which the action was pending or the judge having jurisdiction.

Under this rule sanctions can be applied only for failure to comply with a court order. Hence, if discovery procedure requires a court order as under Rules 34 or 35, failure to obey the order can be punished immediately under section (b)(2). But where the discovery procedure is set in motion by the parties themselves, the party seeking discovery must first obtain a court order under section (a) requiring the recalcitrant party or witness to make discovery. The only exception to this is found in section (d), which permits an immediate sanction against parties, their officers, or managing agents for a willful failure to appear.

Comment to the 1975 Amendment. — Rule 37 provides generally for sanctions against parties or persons unjustifiably resisting discovery. Experience in the federal courts brought to light a number of the defects in the language of the rule as well as instances in which it was not serving the purposes for which it was designed. In addition, changes being made in other discovery rules require conforming amendments to Rule 37.

Rule 37 sometimes refers to a "failure" to afford discovery and at other times to a "refusal" to do so. Taking note of this dual terminology, federal courts imported into "refusal" a requirement of "willfullness." In Societe Internationale v. Rogers, 357 U.S. 197, 78 S. Ct. 1087, 2 L. Ed. 2d 1255 (1958), the United States Supreme Court concluded that the rather random use of these two terms in Rule 37 showed no design to use them with consistently distinctive meanings, that "refused" in Rule 37(b)(2) meant simply a failure to comply, and that willfulness was relevant only to the selection of sanctions, if any, to be imposed. Substitution of "failure" for "refusal" throughout Rule 37 should eliminate confusion.

CASE NOTES

Subpoenas are not available by statute until an action has been commenced. In re Superior Court Order Dated April 8, 1983, 70 N.C. App. 63, 318 S.E.2d 843 (1984), rev'd on other grounds, 315 N.C. 378, 338 S.E.2d 307 (1986).

At the investigatory stage there is insufficient evidence to support a finding of probable cause, and administrative or criminal search warrants cannot be used. Corporations have never possessed the kind of protection under U.S. Const., Amend. XIV accorded to persons and their homes. Corporations' special status as creatures of the state exposes them to exhaustive state scrutiny in exchange for the privilege of state recognition. Nothing in common law prohibits an order requiring production of bank records as part of an investigation of criminal activities of the bank's customers, and, if anything, the common law courts affirmatively possessed such power. By extension, then, the Superior Courts of North Carolina continue to possess such power where the interests of justice so require. In re Superior Court Order Dated April 8, 1983, 70 N.C. App. 63, 318 S.E.2d 843 (1984), rev'd on other grounds, 315 N.C. 378, 338 S.E.2d 307 (1986).

In order to compel the deposition testimony of a nonparty, a subpoena must be issued from the county in which the deposition is to be taken, and a proper subpoena should have been issued from the Clerk of Superior Court of Wake County directing a nonparty in a divorce case to appear in Wake County; therefore, nonparty and her attorney were substantially justified in opposing the discovery sought pursuant to the subpoena issued from Mecklenburg County, and the trial court's imposition of attorneys' fees under § 1A-1, Rule 37(a)(4) was error. Cochran v. Cochran, 93 N.C. App. 574, 378 S.E.2d 580 (1989).

Where it was evident that plaintiffs waited until the last minute to serve an extremely broad subpoena, the court properly found that the subpoena was unreasonable and oppressive and did not abuse its discretion in quashing it. Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.

(a) Rulings on admissibility of evidence. —

(1) When there is objection to the admission of evidence on the ground that the witness is for a specified reason incompetent or not qualified or disqualified, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been made to any subsequent admission of evidence from the witness in question. Similarly, when there is objection to the admission of evidence involving a specified line of questioning, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been taken to any subsequent admission of evidence involving the same line of questioning.

(2) If there is proper objection to the admission of evidence and the objection is overruled, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party making the objection. If an objection to the admission of evidence is sustained or if the court for any reason excludes evidence offered by a party, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party offering the evidence.

(3) No objections are necessary with respect to questions propounded to a witness by the court or a juror but it shall be deemed that each such question has been properly objected to and that the objection has been overruled and that an exception has been taken to the ruling of the court by all parties to the action.

(b) Rulings and orders not directed to the admissibility of evidence. — With respect to rulings and orders of the court not directed to the admissibility of evidence, formal objections and exceptions are unnecessary. In order to preserve an exception to any such ruling or order or to the court's failure to make any such ruling or order, it shall be sufficient if a party, at the time the ruling or order is made or sought, makes known to the court his objection to the action of the court or makes known the action which he desires the court to take and his ground therefor; and if a party has no opportunity to object or except to a ruling or order at the time it is made, the absence of an objection or exception does not thereafter prejudice him.

COMMENT

Section (a)(1) is aimed at situations where repeated objections in respect to the admission of evidence have been necessary in order to assure review. In Shelton v. Southern Ry., 193 N.C. 670, 139 S.E. 232 (1927), the court declared:

"It is thoroughly established in this State that, if incompetent evidence is admitted over objection, but the same evidence has theretofore or thereafter been given in other parts of the examination, the benefit of the exception is ordinarily lost."

This proposition has recently been reaffirmed in Dunes Club, Inc. v. Cherokee Ins. Co., 259 N.C. 293, 130 S.E.2d 625 (1963). Thus, apparently the only course of safety for counsel to follow under prior practice would be to object at every opportunity. It would seem that a single objection should suffice in either of the two situations specified in subsection (a)(1).

Section (a)(2) continues the present practice.

Section (a)(3) continues the present practice of making unnecessary objection or exception with respect to questions propounded by a juror or the judge. See former § 1-206(d).

Section (b), it will be noted, applies to all nonevidentiary rulings and orders. In this respect, it is new. However, the general principle of the section has been in North Carolina practice for some time in respect to rulings on motions for nonsuit. See former § 1-183.

Section (c) continues present practice. See former § 1-206, subsection (b), and the note to Rule 51.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Rule Inapplicable to Execution on Small Claim Judgment. — A judgment creditor is entitled as a matter of right to have execution issued on a small claim judgment irrespective of this rule, as since there is specific statutory authorization for issuance of execution, this rule is not applicable. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. James R. Sugg, 41 N.C.A.G. 368 (1971).

Rule 63. Disability of a judge.

If by reason of death, sickness, or other disability, a judge before whom an action has been tried is unable to perform the duties to be performed by the court under these rules after a verdict is returned or findings of fact and conclusions of law are filed, then those duties may be performed:

(1) In actions in the superior court by the judge senior in point of continuous service on the superior court regularly holding the courts of the district. If such judge is himself under a disability, then the resident judge of the district senior in point of service on the superior court may perform those duties. If a resident judge, while holding court in his own district suffers disability and there is no other resident judge of the district, such duties may be performed by a judge of the superior court designated by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

(2) In actions in the district court, by the chief judge of the district, or if the chief judge is disabled, by any judge of the district court designated by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

If the substituted judge is satisfied that he cannot perform those duties because he did not preside at the trial or for any other reason, he may in his discretion grant a new trial. (1967, c. 954, s. 1.)

COMMENT

Formerly, there was no statutory prescription in respect to the problem dealt with by this rule. It can be seen, however, that in particular cases where a verdict has already been returned or findings of fact and conclusions of law filed and then the trial judge is unable to continue to function, it will be highly useful to have some judge authorized to step into the breach.

CASE NOTES

Original Judge Need Not Have Become Incapacitated. — Trial court did not err in having their post-judgment motions ruled upon by another judge; this rule neither requires nor implies that before a different judge can rule on post-trial motions, the judge who heard the case must have become incapacitated. Borg-Warner Acceptance Corp. v. Johnston, 107 N.C. App. 174, 419 S.E.2d 195 (1992), cert. denied, 333 N.C. 254, 424 S.E.2d 918 (1993).

Substitute Judge to Function Only After Return of Verdict or Filing of Findings and Conclusions. — Under this rule an appropriate judge may substitute for a disabled or deceased judge before whom an action has been tried only with respect to duties remaining to be performed after a verdict has been returned or findings of fact and conclusions of law have been filed. Girard Trust Bank v. Easton, 12 N.C. App. 153, 182 S.E.2d 645, cert. denied, 279 N.C. 393, 183 S.E.2d 245 (1971).

So as to Effectuate Decision Already Made. — This rule does not contemplate that a substitute judge, who did not hear the witnesses and participate in the trial, may nevertheless participate in the decision making process; it contemplates only that he may perform such acts as are necessary under the rules of procedure to effectuate a decision already made. Girard Trust Bank v. Easton, 12 N.C. App. 153, 182 S.E.2d 645, cert. denied, 279 N.C. 393, 183 S.E.2d 245 (1971); In re Whisnant, 71 N.C. App. 439, 322 S.E.2d 434 (1984).

Judge's Oral Statements Held Insufficient to Support Entry of Judgment by Substitute. — Where, at the conclusion of the evidence in an action tried before the court without a jury, the trial judge orally indicated answers in favor of plaintiff to issues which had been prepared by counsel for defendant in anticipation of a jury trial, and instructed plaintiff's counsel to submit a proposed judgment containing appropriate findings of fact and conclusions of law, the issues and the court's answers thereto constituted neither a verdict nor findings of fact and conclusions of law which would permit a substitute judge to proceed under this rule to enter judgment in the case. Girard Trust Bank v. Easton, 12 N.C. App. 153, 182 S.E.2d 645, cert. denied, 279 N.C. 393, 183 S.E.2d 245 (1971).

Entry of judgment in open court by another district court judge without notice to the parties that the judgment was entered was error, but as the notice of appeal was timely filed, there was no prejudice. Brower v. Brower, 75 N.C. App. 425, 331 S.E.2d 170 (1985).

ARTICLE 8.

Miscellaneous.

Rule 64. Seizure of person or property.

At the commencement of and during the course of an action, all remedies providing for seizure of person or property for the purpose of securing satisfaction of the judgment ultimately to be entered in the action are available under the circumstances and in the manner provided by the law of this State. (1967, c. 954, s. 1.)

COMMENT

This rule seems to be self-explanatory.

Rule 65. Injunctions.

(a) Preliminary injunction; notice. — No preliminary injunction shall be issued without notice to the adverse party.

(b) Temporary restraining order; notice; hearing; duration. — A temporary restraining order may be granted without notice to the adverse party if it clearly appears from specific facts shown by affidavit or by verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result to the applicant before notice can be served and a hearing had thereon. Every temporary restraining order granted without notice shall be endorsed with the date and hour of issuance; shall be filed forthwith in the clerk's office and entered of record; shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice; and shall expire by its terms within such time after entry, not to exceed 10 days, as the judge fixes, unless within the time so fixed the order, for good cause shown, is extended for a like period or unless the party against whom the order is directed consents that it may be extended for a longer period. The reasons for the extension shall be entered of record. In case a temporary restraining order is granted without notice and a motion for a preliminary injunction is made, it shall be set down for hearing at the earliest possible time and takes precedence over all matters except older matters of the same character; and when the motion comes on for hearing, the party who obtained the temporary restraining order shall proceed with a motion for a preliminary injunction, and, if he does not do so, the judge shall dissolve the temporary restraining order. On two days' notice to the party who obtained the temporary restraining order without notice or on such shorter notice to that party as the judge may prescribe, the adverse party may appear and move its dissolution or modification and in that event the judge shall proceed to hear and determine such motion as expeditiously as the ends of justice require. Damages may be awarded in an order for dissolution as provided in section (e).

(c) Security. — No restraining order or preliminary injunction shall issue except upon the giving of security by the applicant, in such sum as the judge deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who is found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained. No such security shall be required of the State of North Carolina or of any county or municipality thereof, or any officer or agency thereof acting in an official capacity, but damages may be awarded against such party in accord with this rule. In suits between spouses relating to support, alimony, custody of children, separation, divorce from bed and board, and absolute divorce no such security shall be required of the plaintiff spouse as a condition precedent to the issuing of a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction enjoining the defendant spouse from interfering with, threatening, or in any way molesting the plaintiff spouse during pendency of the suit, until further order of the court, but damages may be awarded against such party in accord with this rule.

A surety upon a bond or undertaking under this rule submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court and irrevocably appoints the clerk of the court as his agent upon whom any papers affecting his liability on the bond or undertaking may be served. His liability may be enforced on motion without the necessity of an independent action. The motion and such notice of the motion as the court prescribes may be served on the clerk of the court, who shall forthwith mail copies to the persons giving the security and the sureties thereon if their addresses are known.

(d) Form and scope of injunction or restraining order. — Every order granting an injunction and every restraining order shall set forth the reasons for its issuance; shall be specific in terms; shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the complaint or other document, the act or acts enjoined or restrained; and is binding only upon the parties to the action, their officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys, and upon those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive actual notice in any manner of the order by personal service or otherwise.

(e) Damages on dissolution. — An order or judgment dissolving an injunction or restraining order may include an award of damages against the party procuring the injunction and the sureties on his undertaking without a showing of malice or want of probable cause in procuring the injunction. The damages may be determined by the judge, or he may direct that they be determined by a referee or jury. (1967, c. 954, s. 1.)

COMMENT

Practice Prior to Rule. — While a plaintiff may be entitled to legal and equitable relief in a civil action, the preliminary injunction continues to be an extraordinary and provisional remedy and will not be granted except where adequate relief cannot be had without it. Town of Clinton v. Ross, 226 N.C. 682, 40 S.E.2d 593 (1946).

When temporary injunction issued. — The form of relief may be a preliminary injunction or restraining order, which may be issued:

(1) To preserve the status quo pending the action. As a rule, a mandatory order or injunction will not be made as a preliminary injunction except when the injury is immediate, pressing, irreparable, and clearly established. Seaboard Air Line Ry. v. Atlantic Coast Line Ry., 237 N.C. 88, 74 S.E.2d 430 (1953).

(2) To protect the subject matter of the action.

(3) To prevent fraudulent transfer. See § 1-485.

Time of issuing. — The preliminary injunction may be granted at the time of commencing the action or at any time afterwards, before judgment. Requisites are (a) affidavits; (b) summons.

When notice required. — When the restraining order is asked for as a preliminary motion, notice is not required, but if the judge deems it proper that the other party should be heard, he may issue a show cause order, and the defendant may, in the meantime, be restrained. A restraining order cannot be granted by a judge for a longer time than twenty days, without notice. After the defendant has answered, an injunction will not be granted except upon

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH MEDIATED SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES IN DISTRICT COURT ACTIONS INVOLVING FAMILY FINANCIAL ISSUES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 7A-38.4 is repealed.

SECTION 2. Article 5 of Chapter 7A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 7A-38.4A. Settlement procedures in district court actions.

(a) The General Assembly finds that a system of settlement events should be established to facilitate the settlement of district court actions involving equitable distribution, alimony, or support and to make that litigation more economical, efficient, and satisfactory to the parties, their representatives, and the State. District courts should be able to require parties to those actions and their representatives to attend a pretrial mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure conducted under this section and rules adopted by the Supreme Court to implement this section.

(b) The definitions in G.S. 7A-38.1(b)(2) and (b)(3) apply in this section.

(c) Any chief district court judge in a judicial district may order a mediated settlement conference or another settlement procedure for any action pending in that district involving issues of equitable distribution, alimony, child or post separation support, or claims arising out of contracts between the parties under G.S. 52-10, G.S. 52-10.1, or Chapter 52B of the General Statutes. The chief district court judge may adopt local rules that order settlement procedures in all of the foregoing actions and designate other district court judges or administrative personnel to issue orders implementing those settlement procedures. However, local rules adopted by a chief district court judge shall not be inconsistent with any rules adopted by the Supreme Court.

settlement conference or other settlement procedure, unless the rules ordering the settlement procedure provide otherwise. No party or other participant in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure is required to make a settlement offer or demand that the party or participant deems contrary to that party's or participant's best interests. Parties who have been victims of domestic violence may be excused from physically attending or participating in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure.

(e) Any person required to attend a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure under this section who, without good cause fails to attend, is subject to any appropriate monetary sanction imposed by a district court judge, including the payment of attorneys' fees, mediator fees, and expenses incurred in attending the settlement procedure. If the court imposes sanctions, it shall do so, after notice and hearing, in a written order, making findings of fact and conclusions of law. An order imposing sanctions shall be reviewable upon appeal, and the entire record shall be reviewed to determine whether the order is supported by substantial evidence.

(f) The parties to a district court action in which a mediated settlement conference is to be held under this section shall have the right to designate a mediator. Upon failure of the parties to designate within the time established by the rules adopted by the Supreme Court, a mediator shall be appointed by a district court judge.

(g) A chief district court judge or that judge's designee, at the request of a party and with the consent of all parties, may order the parties to attend and participate in any other settlement procedure authorized by rules adopted by the Supreme Court or adopted by local district court rules, in lieu of attending a mediated settlement conference. Neutrals acting under this section shall be selected and compensated in accordance with rules adopted by the Supreme Court. Nothing herein shall prohibit the parties from participating in other dispute resolution procedures, including arbitration, to the extent authorized under State or federal law. Nothing herein shall prohibit the parties from participating in mediation at a community mediation center operating under G.S. 71-38.5.

(h) Mediators and other neutrals acting under this section shall have judicial immunity in the same manner and to the same extent as a judge of the General Court of Justice, except that mediators and other neutrals may be disciplined in accordance with enforcement procedures adopted by the Supreme Court under G.S. 7A-38.2.

(i) Costs of mediated settlement conferences and other settlement procedures shall be borne by the parties. Unless otherwise ordered by the court or agreed to by the parties, the mediator's fees shall be paid in equal shares by the parties. The rules adopted by the Supreme Court shall set out a method whereby a party found by the court to be unable to pay the costs of settlement procedures is afforded an opportunity to participate without cost to that party and without expenditure of State funds.

(j) Evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding conducted under this section shall not be subject to discovery and shall be inadmissible in any proceeding in the action or other actions on the same claim, except in proceedings for sanctions or proceedings to enforce a settlement of the action. No settlement proceeding conducted under this section shall be enforceable unless it has been reduced to writing and signed by the parties and in all other respects complies with the requirements of Chapter 50 of the General Statutes. No evidence otherwise discoverable shall be inadmissible merely because it is presented or discussed in a settlement proceeding.

No mediator, or other neutral conducting a settlement procedure under this section, shall be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made and conduct occurring in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure in any civil proceeding for any purpose, including proceedings to enforce a settlement of the action, except to attest to the signing of any of these agreements, and except proceedings for sanctions under this section, disciplinary hearings before the State Bar or any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators, and proceedings to enforce laws concerning juvenile or elder abuse.

(k) The Supreme Court may adopt standards for the certification and conduct of mediators and other neutrals who participate in settlement procedures conducted under this section. The standards may also regulate mediator training programs. The Supreme Court may adopt procedures for the enforcement of those standards. The administration of mediator certification, regulation of mediator conduct, and decertification shall be conducted through the Dispute Resolution Commission.

(l) An administrative fee not to exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) may be charged by the Administrative Office of the Courts to applicants for certification and annual renewal of certification for mediators and mediator training programs operating under this section. The fees collected may be used by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts to establish and maintain the operations of the Commission and its staff. The administrative fee shall be set by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts in consultation with the Dispute Resolution Commission.

(m) The Administrative Office of the Courts, in consultation with the Dispute Resolution Commission, may require the chief district court judge of any district to report statistical data about settlement procedures conducted under this section for administrative purposes.

(n) Nothing in this section or in rules adopted by the Supreme Court implementing this section shall restrict a party's right to a trial by jury.

(o) The Supreme Court may adopt rules to implement this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 7A-38.4A(o), as enacted by Section 2 of this act, becomes effective July 1, 2001. The remainder of this act becomes effective October 1, 2001.

District courts should be able to require parties to those actions and their representatives to attend a pretrial mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure conducted pursuant to this section and rules adopted by the Supreme Court to implement this section.

(b) The definitions in G.S. 7A-38.1(b)(2) and (b)(3) apply in this section.

(c) Any chief district court judge in a judicial district may order a mediated settlement conference or another settlement procedure for any action pending in that district involving issues of equitable distribution, alimony, child or post separation support, or claims arising out of contracts between the parties under G.S. 52-10, G.S. 52-10.1, or Chapter 52B of the General Statutes. The chief district court judge may adopt local rules that order settlement procedures in all of the foregoing actions and designate other district court judges or administrative personnel to issue orders implementing those settlement procedures. However, local rules adopted by a chief district court judge shall not be inconsistent with any rules adopted by the Supreme Court.

(d) The parties to a district court action where a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure is ordered, their attorneys, and other persons or entities with authority, by law or contract, to settle a party's claim, shall attend the mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure, unless the rules ordering the settlement procedure provide otherwise. No party or other participant in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure is required to make a settlement offer or demand that the party or participant deems contrary to that party's or participant's best interests. Parties who have been victims of domestic violence may be excused from physically attending or participating in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure.

(e) Any person required to attend a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure pursuant to this section who, without good cause fails to attend, is subject to any appropriate monetary sanction imposed by a district court judge, including the payment of attorneys' fees, mediator fees, and expenses incurred in attending the settlement procedure. If the court imposes sanctions, it shall do so, after notice and hearing, in a written order, making findings of fact and conclusions of law. An order imposing sanctions shall be reviewable upon appeal, and the entire record shall be reviewed to determine whether the order is supported by substantial evidence.

(f) The parties to a district court action in which a mediated settlement conference is to be held pursuant to this section shall have the right to designate a mediator. Upon failure of the parties to designate within the time established by the rules adopted by the Supreme Court, a mediator shall be appointed by a district court judge.

(g) A chief district court judge or that judge's designee, at the request of a party and with the consent of all parties, may order the parties to attend and participate in any other settlement procedure authorized by rules adopted by the Supreme Court or adopted by local district court rules, in lieu of attending a mediated settlement conference. Neutrals acting pursuant to this section shall be selected and compensated in accordance with rules adopted by the Supreme Court. Nothing herein shall prohibit the parties from participating in other dispute resolution procedures, including arbitration, to the extent authorized under State or federal law.

(h) Mediators and other neutrals acting pursuant to this section shall have judicial immunity in the same manner and to the same extent as a judge of the General Court of Justice, except that mediators and other neutrals may be disciplined in accordance with enforcement procedures adopted by the Supreme Court pursuant to G.S. 7A-38.2.

(i) Costs of mediated settlement conferences and other settlement procedures shall be borne by the parties. Unless otherwise ordered by the court or agreed to by the parties, the mediator's fees shall be paid in equal shares by the parties. The rules adopted by the Supreme Court shall set out a method whereby a party found by the court to be unable to pay the costs of settlement procedures is afforded an opportunity to participate without cost to that party and without expenditure of State funds.

(j) Evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding conducted pursuant to this section shall not be subject to discovery and shall be inadmissible in any proceeding in the action or other actions on the same claim, except in proceedings for sanctions or proceedings to enforce a settlement of the action. No settlement proceeding conducted pursuant to this section shall be enforceable unless it has been reduced to writing and signed by the parties and in all other respects complies with the requirements of Chapter 50 of the General Statutes. No evidence otherwise discoverable shall be inadmissible merely because it is presented or discussed in a settlement proceeding.

No mediator, or other neutral conducting a settlement procedure pursuant to this section, shall be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made and conduct occurring in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure in any civil proceeding for any purpose, including proceedings to enforce a settlement of the action, except to attest to the signing of any of these agreements, and except proceedings for sanctions under this section, disciplinary hearings before the State Bar or any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators, and proceedings to enforce laws concerning juvenile or elder abuse.

(k) The Supreme Court may adopt standards for the certification and conduct of mediators and other neutrals who participate in settlement procedures conducted pursuant to this section. The standards may also regulate mediator training programs. The Supreme Court may adopt procedures for the enforcement of those standards. The administration of mediator certification, regulation of mediator conduct, and decertification shall be conducted through the Dispute Resolution Commission.

(l) An administrative fee not to exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) may be charged by the Administrative Office of the Courts to applicants for certification and annual renewal of certification for mediators and mediator training programs operating under this section. The fees collected may be used by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts to establish and maintain the operations of the Commission and its staff. The administrative fee shall be set by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts in consultation with the Dispute Resolution Commission.

(m) The Administrative Office of the Courts, in consultation with the Dispute Resolution Commission, may require the chief district court judge of any participating district to report statistical data about settlement procedures conducted pursuant to this section for administrative purposes.

(n) Nothing in this section or in rules adopted by the Supreme Court implementing this section shall restrict a party's right to a trial by jury.

(o) The Supreme Court may adopt rules to implement this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 7A-38.4A(o), as enacted by Section 2 of this act, becomes effective July 1, 2001. The remainder of this act becomes effective October 1, 2001.

HOUSE BILL 668:
Settlement Procedures in Dist. Court Actions.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Rep. Baddour
Date:	March 27, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	First		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 668 would repeal a pilot program and make permanent the authorization for chief district court judges to order a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure for any pending action involving issues of equitable distribution, alimony, child or post-separation support, or claims arising out of contracts and releases between husband and wife, separation agreements, or premarital agreements.

Generally, the bill would take effect October 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW: There is no statutory authority to order mediation in cases involving equitable distribution, alimony, child or spousal support, or related financial claims between spouses. However, a pilot program has been in place since 1997. District court judges in participating districts have been allowed, subject to rules of the Supreme Court, to order mediated settlement conferences in these cases.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of House Bill 668 would repeal G.S. 7A-38.4, which established the pilot program.

Section 2 would create a new G.S. 7A-38.4A, establishing permanent authorization for mediated settlement procedures in any pending action in the district involving equitable distribution, alimony, child support, post-separation support, or claims arising out of contracts and releases between husband and wife, separation agreements, or premarital agreements.

(a) Sets out a legislative finding.

(b) Defines "mediation" as an informal process conducted by a mediator with the objective of helping parties voluntarily settle their dispute.

Defines "mediator" as a neutral person who acts to encourage and facilitate a resolution of a pending civil action. A mediator does not make an award or render a judgment as to the action's merits.

(c) Authorizes (but does not require) chief district court judges to order mediated settlement conferences in these pending actions.

Authorizes (but does not require) these judges to adopt local rules that order settlement procedures in these actions. These rules cannot be inconsistent with Supreme Court rules.

(d) Requires parties and their attorneys to attend an ordered settlement procedure, unless excused by the rules of the Supreme Court or by order of the chief district court judge.

Does not require any party or participant to make settlement offers or demands contrary to that person's best interests.

Parties who were victims of domestic violence may be excused from physically attending.

(e) Persons who fail to comply without just cause, if ordered to attend, are subject to a monetary sanction.

(f) Parties have the right to designate a mediator or one will be appointed.

(g) Allows the chief district court judge to order other settlement procedures, at a party's request and with the consent of all parties.

Requires "neutrals" to be selected and compensated in accordance with Supreme Court rules.

Does not prohibit parties from participating in other dispute resolution procedures, including arbitration.

(h) Provides judicial immunity to mediators and other neutrals acting under this law.

(i) Requires parties to bear the costs. Unless ordered by the court or agreed upon by the parties, the mediator's fees shall be shared equally.

Directs Supreme Court to adopt rules that set out a method for indigent parties to participate at no cost to themselves or the State.

(j) Specifies that evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding are not subject to discovery and are inadmissible in any proceeding in the action, except in proceedings for sanctions or enforcement of the settlement.

Provides that mediators or neutrals cannot be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made or conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding, except to attest to the signing of any agreements, and except for in certain specified proceedings.

Requires settlements to be in writing and signed by parties in order to be enforceable.

(k) Authorizes Supreme Court to adopt standards for, and directs the Dispute Resolution Commission (Commission) to administer, the certification, training, and conduct of mediators and other neutrals who participate in settlement procedures under this section.

(l) Allows the AOC to charge a fee not to exceed $200 annually to certify mediators and mediator training programs and to use fees to offset operating costs of the Commission.

(m) Authorizes the AOC, in consultation with the Commission, to require the chief district court judges to report statistical data about settlement procedures under this section.

(n) Specifies that this section and rules to implement it shall not restrict a party's right to a trial by jury.

(o) Authorizes the Supreme Court to adopt rules to implement this section, effective July 1, 2001.

BACKGROUND: In 1997, the General Assembly established a pilot program of mediated settlement conferences in district court actions involving equitable distribution, alimony, and support. The following organizations were involved in the planning and design phase: Conference of Chief District Court Judges, the AOC Child Custody Mediation Advisory Committee, the Court Ordered Arbitration Subcommittee on the Supreme Court's Dispute Resolution Committee, the NC Mediation Network, the NC Association of Professional Family Mediators, the NC Association of Clerks of Superior Court, the NC Association of Trial Court Administrators, the Family Law Section of the NC Bar Association, and the Dispute Resolution Section of the NC Bar Association.

The language in House Bill 668 is virtually identical to the statute that established the pilot program.

(i) Mediators and other neutrals acting pursuant to this section shall have judicial immunity in the same manner and to the same extent as a judge of the General Court of Justice, except that mediators and other neutrals may be disciplined in accordance with enforcement procedures adopted by the Supreme Court pursuant to G.S. 7A-38.2.
(j) Costs of mediated settlement conferences and other settlement procedures shall be borne by the parties. Unless otherwise ordered by the court or agreed to by the parties, the mediator's fees shall be paid in equal shares by the parties. The rules adopted by the Supreme Court implementing this section shall set out a method whereby parties found by the court to be unable to pay the costs of settlement procedures are afforded an opportunity to participate without cost to an indigent party and without expenditure of State funds.
(k) Evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding conducted pursuant to this section shall not be subject to discovery and shall be inadmissible in any proceeding in the action or other actions on the same claim, except in proceedings for sanctions or proceedings to enforce a settlement of the action. No such settlement shall be enforceable unless it has been reduced to writing and signed by the parties. No evidence otherwise discoverable shall be inadmissible merely because it is presented or discussed in a settlement proceeding.
No mediator, or other neutral conducting a settlement procedure pursuant to this section, shall be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made and conduct occurring in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement procedure in any civil proceeding for any purpose, including proceedings to enforce a settlement of the action, except to attest to the signing of any such agreements, and except proceedings for sanctions under this section, disciplinary hearings before the State Bar or any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators, and proceedings to enforce laws concerning juvenile or elder abuse.
(l) The Supreme Court may adopt standards for the certification and conduct of mediators and other neutrals who participate in settlement procedures conducted pursuant to this section. The standards may also regulate mediator training programs. The Supreme Court may adopt procedures for the enforcement of those standards. The administration of mediator certification, regulation of mediator conduct, and decertification shall be conducted through the Dispute Resolution Commission.
(m) An administrative fee not to exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) may be charged by the Administrative Office of the Courts to applicants for certification and annual renewal of certification for mediators and mediator training programs operation under this section. Except in actions involving jurisdiction in rem or quasi in rem as provided in section (k), service of process by publication shall consist of publishing a notice of service of process by publication once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper that is qualified for legal advertising in accordance with G.S. 1-597 and G.S. 1-598 and circulated in the area where the party to be served is believed by the serving party to be located, or if there is no reliable information concerning the location of the party then in a newspaper circulated in the county where the action is pending. If the party's post-office address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, there shall be mailed to the party at or immediately prior to the first publication a copy of the notice of service of process by publication. The mailing may be omitted if the post-office address cannot be ascertained with reasonable diligence. Upon completion of such service there shall be filed with the court an affidavit showing the publication and mailing in accordance with the requirements of G.S. 1-75.10(2), the circumstances warranting the use of service by publication, and information, if any, regarding the location of the party served.

The notice of service of process by publication shall (i) designate the court in which the action has been commenced and the title of the action, which title may be indicated sufficiently by the name of the first plaintiff and the first defendant; (ii) be directed to the defendant sought to be served; (iii) state either that a pleading seeking relief against the person to be served has been filed or has been required to be filed therein not later than a date specified in the notice; (iv) state the nature of the relief being sought; (v) require the defendant being so served to make defense to such pleading within 40 days after a date stated in the notice, exclusive of such date, which date so stated shall be the date of the first publication of notice, or the date when the complaint is required to be filed, whichever is later, and notify the defendant that upon his failure to do so the party seeking service of process by publication will apply to the court for the relief sought; (vi) in cases of attachment, state the information required by G.S. 1-440.14; (vii) be subscribed by the party seeking service or his attorney and give the post-office address of such party or his attorney; and (viii) be substantially in the following form:

This affidavit together with the return or delivery receipt signed by the person who received the mail or delivery if not the addressee raises a presumption that the person who received the mail or delivery and signed the receipt was an agent of the addressee authorized by appointment or by law to be served or to accept service of process or was a person of suitable age and discretion residing in the addressee's dwelling house or usual place of abode. In the event the presumption described in the preceding sentence is rebutted by proof that the person who received the receipt at the addressee's dwelling house or usual place of abode was not a person of suitable age and discretion residing therein, the statute of limitation may not be pleaded as a defense if the action was initially commenced within the period of limitation and service of process is completed within 60 days from the date the service is declared invalid. Service shall be complete on the day the summons and complaint are delivered to the address.

(3) Publication. – Before judgment by default may be had on service by publication, the serving party shall file an affidavit with the court showing the circumstances warranting the use of service by publication, information, if any, regarding the location of the party served which was used in determining the area in which service by publication was printed and proof of service in accordance with G.S. 1-75.10(2)."

If such service is made outside this State, the proof thereof may in the alternative be made in accordance with the law of the place where such service is made.

(2) Service of Publication. – In the case of publication, by the affidavit of the publisher or printer, or his foreman or principal clerk, showing the same and specifying the date of the first and last publication, and an affidavit of mailing of a copy of the complaint or notice, as the case may require, made by the person who mailed the same.

(3) Written Admission of Defendant. – The written admission of the defendant, whose signature or the subscription of whose name to such admission shall be presumptive evidence of genuineness.

ATTORNEY'S EMPLOYEE NOT DISQUALIFIED FOR VIDEOTAPE DEPOSITION (RULE 28(c))

SECTION 5. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 28(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) Disqualification for interest. – Unless the parties agree otherwise by stipulation as provided in Rule 29, no deposition shall be taken before a person who is any of the following:

(1) A relative, employee, or attorney of any of the parties;

(2) A relative or employee of an attorney of the parties;

(3) Financially interested in the action; or

(4) An independent contractor if the contractor or the contractor's principal is under a blanket contract for the court reporting services with an attorney of the parties, party to the action, or party having a financial interest in the action. Notwithstanding the disqualification under this rule, the party desiring to take the deposition under a stipulation shall disclose the disqualification in writing in a Rule 30(b) notice of deposition and shall inform all parties to the litigation on the record of the existence of the disqualification under this rule and of the proposed stipulation waiving the disqualification. Any party opposing the proposed stipulation as provided in the notice of deposition shall give timely written notice of his or her opposition to all parties.

For the purposes of this rule, a blanket contract means a contract to perform court reporting services over a fixed period of time or an indefinite period of time, rather than on a case by case basis, or any other contractual arrangement which compels, guarantees, regulates, or controls the use of particular court reporting services in future cases.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a person is prohibited from taking a deposition under any contractual agreement that requires transmission of the original transcript without the transcript having been certified as provided in Rule 30(f) by the person before whom the deposition was taken.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, a person otherwise disqualified from taking a deposition under this subsection may take a deposition provided that the deposition is taken by videotape in compliance with Rule 30(b)(4) and Rule 30(f), and the notice for the taking of the deposition states the name of the person before whom the deposition will be taken and that person's relationship, if any, to a party or a party's attorney, provided that the deposition is also recorded by stenographic means by a nondisqualified person."

MEDIATION OF DISCOVERY DISPUTES (RULE 37)

SECTION 6. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 37(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Motion for order compelling discovery. – A party, upon reasonable notice to other parties and all persons affected thereby, may apply for an order compelling discovery as follows:

(1) Appropriate Court. – An application for an order to a party or a deponent who is not a party may be made to a judge of the court in which the action is pending, or, on matters relating to a deposition where the deposition is being taken in this State, to a judge of the court in the county where the deposition is being taken, as defined by Rule 30(h).

(2) Motion. – If a deponent fails to answer a question propounded or submitted under Rules 30 or 31, or a corporation or other entity fails to make a designation under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a), or a party fails to answer an interrogatory submitted under Rule 33, or if a party, in response to a request for inspection submitted under Rule 34, fails to respond that inspection will be permitted as requested or fails to permit inspection as requested, the discovering party may move for an order compelling an answer, or a designation, or an order compelling inspection in accordance with the request. The motion must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person or party failing to make the discovery in an effort to secure the information or material without court action. When taking a deposition on oral examination, the proponent of the question shall complete the examination on all other matters before he adjourns the examination in order to apply for an order.

If the court denies the motion in whole or in part, it may make such protective order as it would have been empowered to make on a motion made pursuant to Rule 26(c).

(3) Evasive or Incomplete Answer. – For purposes of this subdivision an evasive or incomplete answer is to be treated as a failure to answer.

(4) Award of Expenses of Motion. – If the motion is granted, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion or the party advising such conduct or both of them to pay to the moving party the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining the order, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the opposition to the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is denied, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the moving party to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is granted in part and denied in part, the court may apportion the reasonable expenses incurred in relation to the motion among the parties and persons in a just manner."

PRESERVING EXCEPTIONS TO RULINGS (RULE 46)

SECTION 7. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 46 reads as rewritten:

"Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.

(a) Rulings on admissibility of evidence. –

(1) When there is objection to the admission of evidence on the ground that the witness is for a specified reason incompetent or not qualified or disqualified, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been made to any subsequent admission of evidence from the witness in question. Similarly, when there is objection to the admission of evidence involving a specified line of questioning, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been taken to any subsequent admission of evidence involving the same line of questioning.

(2) If there is proper objection to the admission of evidence and the objection is overruled, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party making the objection. If an objection to the admission of evidence is sustained or if the court for any reason excludes evidence offered by a party, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party offering the evidence.

(3) No objections are necessary with respect to questions propounded to a witness by the court or a juror but it shall be deemed that each such question has been properly objected to and that the objection has been overruled and that an exception has been taken to the ruling of the court by all parties to the action.

(b) ~~Rulings~~ Pretrial rulings, interlocutory orders, trial rulings, and other orders not directed to the admissibility of evidence. – With respect to ~~rulings~~pretrial rulings, interlocutory orders, trial rulings, and other orders of the court not directed to the admissibility of evidence, formal objections and exceptions are unnecessary. In order to preserve an exception to any such ruling or order or to the court's failure to make any such ruling or order, it shall be sufficient if a party, at the time the ruling or order is made or sought, makes known to the court ~~his~~ the party's objection to the action of the court or makes known the action ~~which he~~ that the party desires the court to take and ~~his ground therefor;~~ the party's grounds for its position. ~~and if~~ If a party has no opportunity to object or except to a ruling or order at the time it is made, the absence of an objection or exception does not thereafter prejudice ~~him.~~that party; however, in order to preserve exceptions to these rulings and orders for appellate review, a party shall promptly present to the court a request, objection, or motion that states the specific grounds for the ruling that the party desires the court to make upon having an opportunity to do so.

~~(c) Instruction. If there is error, either in the refusal of the judge to grant a prayer for instructions, or in granting a prayer, or in his instructions generally, the same is deemed excepted to without the filing of any formal objections.~~"

EXPAND CIRCUMSTANCES FOR SUBSTITUTION OF A JUDGE (RULE 63)

SECTION 8. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 63 reads as rewritten:

"Rule 63. Disability of a judge.

If by reason of death, ~~sickness,~~ sickness or other disability, resignation, retirement, expiration of term, removal from office, or other reason, a judge before whom an action has been tried or a hearing has been held is unable to perform the duties to be performed by the court under these rules after a verdict is returned or ~~findings of fact and conclusions of law are filed,~~ a trial or hearing is otherwise concluded, then those ~~duties~~ duties, including entry of judgment, may be performed:

ENHANCED NOTICE FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER (RULE 65)

SECTION 9. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Temporary restraining order; notice; hearing; duration. – A temporary restraining order may be granted without written or oral notice to the adverse party or that party's attorney only if (i) it clearly appears from specific facts shown by affidavit or by verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result to the applicant before ~~notice can be served and a hearing had thereon.~~ the adverse party or that party's attorney can be heard in opposition, and (ii) the applicant's attorney certifies to the court in writing the efforts, if any, that have been made to give the notice and the reasons supporting the claim that notice should not be required. Every temporary restraining order granted without notice shall be endorsed with the date and hour of issuance; shall be filed forthwith in the clerk's office and entered of record; shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice; and shall expire by its terms within such time after entry, not to exceed 10 days, as the judge fixes, unless within the time so fixed the order, for good cause shown, is extended for a like period or unless the party against whom the order is directed consents that it may be extended for a longer period. The reasons for the extension shall be entered of record. In case a temporary restraining order is granted without notice and a motion for a preliminary injunction is made, it shall be set down for hearing at the earliest possible time and takes precedence over all matters except older matters of the same character; and when the motion comes on for hearing, the party who obtained the temporary restraining order shall proceed with a motion for a preliminary injunction, and, if he does not do so, the judge shall dissolve the temporary restraining order. On two days' notice to the party who obtained the temporary restraining order without notice or on such shorter notice to that party as the judge may prescribe, the adverse party may appear and move its dissolution or modification and in that event the judge shall proceed to hear and determine such motion as expeditiously as the ends of justice require. HOUSE BILL 439:
Civil Procedure Rule Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Judiciary II
Date: March 22, 2001
Version: First Edition

Introduced by: Representatives Haire and Pope
Summary by: Jeff Hudson
Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 439 would amend Rules 4, 5(b), 28(c), 37(a), 46, 63, and 65(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure as recommended by the Civil Litigation Study Commission. This act would become effective October 1, 2001, and would apply to actions filed on or after that date.

RULE	CURRENT LAW	HOUSE BILL 439
Rule 4(a) Summons – Issuance, who may serve.	Current Rule 4(a) requires in-State service of a summons and complaint to be made by a sheriff or some other person duly authorized by law to serve summons.	Section 1 would amend Rule 4(a) to also allow in-State service of a summons and complaint to be made by a notary public commissioned in North Carolina.
Rule 4(c) Summons – Return.	Current Rule 4(c) requires service of summons to be made within 30 days after the issuance of the summons.	Section 2 would amend Rule 4(c) to require service of summons to be made within 60 days after the date of issuance of the summons.
Rule 4(j) Process – Manner of service to exercise personal jurisdiction.	Current Rule 4(j) provides that natural persons, governmental agencies, and most other entities can be served with a summons and complaint (i) by personal delivery to the person or the person's authorized agent or (ii) by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested.	Section 3 would amend Rule 4(j) to also allow service by a "designated delivery service." This term is defined in the Internal Revenue Code, which authorizes taxpayers to use delivery services designated by the United States Secretary of the Treasury. The designated delivery services that are currently authorized are: Airborne Express, DHL Worldwide Express, Federal Express, and United Parcel Service. Sections 3.1, 3.2 and 3.3 would make conforming changes to Rule 4(j1), Rule 4(j2), and G.S. 1-75.10 respectively.

RULE	CURRENT LAW	HOUSE BILL 439
Rule 5(b) Service – How made.	Current Rule 5(b) provides that service can be made by delivering a copy of the pleadings or papers to the party or the party's attorney or by mailing it to the party's or attorney's last known address.	Section 4 would amend Rule 5(b) to also authorize service of pleadings and papers on the attorney by fax. The fax must be sent to the attorney's office for receipt by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on a regular business day, as evidenced by a fax receipt confirmation. If the fax is received after 5:00 p.m., service is deemed completed on the next business day.
Rule 37(a) Motion for order compelling discovery.	Current Rule 37(a) provides that when an opposing party fails to respond to discovery, the discovering party may apply to the court for an order compelling discovery.	Section 6 would amend Rule 37(a)(2) to require the moving party to certify that it has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person failing to make discovery in an effort to secure the information or material without court action.
Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.	Current Rule 46(b) provides that a formal objection or exception to a ruling or order that is not directed to the admissibility of evidence is unnecessary. Current Rule 46(c) provides that no formal objection is required to preserve an exception to the judge's instructions or failure to instruct. Current Rule 46(c) is inconsistent with Rule 10(b)(2) of the Rules of Appellate Procedure, which requires a formal objection to jury instructions to preserve the exception on appeal.	Section 7 would amend Rule 46(b) to clarify that it applies not only to trial rulings, but also to pretrial rulings and interlocutory orders. Section 7 would further amend Rule 46(b) to provide that in order to preserve an exception on appeal, a party must, upon opportunity to do so, present an objection to the ruling or order. Section 7 would also delete Rule 46(c) in order to eliminate the conflict with Rule 10(b)(2) of the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

RULE	CURRENT LAW	HOUSE BILL 439
Rule 63. Disability of a judge.	Current Rule 63 authorizes certain judges to be substituted for a disabled or deceased judge before whom an action has been tried. The substitute judge may perform the duties remaining after a verdict has been returned or findings of fact and conclusions of law have been filed. Current Rule 63 does not provide for substitution in an event other than death, sickness, or disability.	Section 8 would amend Rule 63 to expand the situations in which a judge may be substituted to include resignation, retirement, expiration of term, removal from office, or any other reason why the judge is unable to perform his or her duties. Section 8 would also amend Rule 63 to authorize the substitute judge to perform any duties remaining after a verdict is returned or a trial or hearing is otherwise concluded, including entry of judgment.

successive weeks in a newspaper that is qualified for legal advertising in accordance with G.S. 1-597 and G.S. 1-598 and circulated in the area where the party to be served is believed by the serving party to be located, or if there is no reliable information concerning the location of the party then in a newspaper circulated in the county where the action is pending. If the party's post-office address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, there shall be mailed to the party at or immediately prior to the first publication a copy of the notice of service of process by publication. The mailing may be omitted if the post-office address cannot be ascertained with reasonable diligence. In the event the presumption described in the preceding sentence is rebutted by proof that the person who received the receipt at the addressee's dwelling house or usual place of abode was not a person of suitable age and discretion residing therein, the statute of limitation may not be pleaded as a defense if the action was initially commenced within the period of limitation and service of process is completed within 60 days from the date the service is declared invalid. (3) Publication. – Before judgment by default may be had on service by publication, the serving party shall file an affidavit with the court showing the circumstances warranting the use of service by publication, information, if any, regarding the location of the party served which was used in determining the area in which service by publication was printed and proof of service in accordance with G.S. 1-75.10(2)."

service under Rule 4(a) or Rule 4(j3) of the Rules of Civil Procedure; that he knew the person served to be the party mentioned in the summons and delivered to and left with him a copy; and if the defendant was not personally served, he shall state in such affidavit when, where and with whom such copy was left. If such service is made outside this State, the proof thereof may in the alternative be made in accordance with the law of the place where such service is made.

(2) Service of Publication. – In the case of publication, by the affidavit of the publisher or printer, or his foreman or principal clerk, showing the same and specifying the date of the first and last publication, and an affidavit of mailing of a copy of the complaint or notice, as the case may require, made by the person who mailed the same.

(3) Written Admission of Defendant. – The written admission of the defendant, whose signature or the subscription of whose name to such admission shall be presumptive evidence of genuineness.

(4) Service by Registered or Certified Mail. – In the case of service by registered or certified mail, by affidavit of the serving party averring:

"(b) Service – How made. – A pleading setting forth a counterclaim or cross claim shall be filed with the court and a copy thereof shall be served on the party against whom it is asserted or on ~~his~~ the party's attorney of record. With respect to all pleadings subsequent to the original complaint and other papers required or permitted to be served, service with due return may be made in the manner provided for service and return of process in Rule 4 and may be made upon either the party or, unless service upon the party ~~himself~~ personally is ordered by the court, upon ~~his~~ the party's attorney of record. With respect to such other pleadings and papers, service upon the attorney or upon a party may also be made by delivering a copy to ~~him~~ the party or by mailing it to ~~him~~ the party at ~~his~~ the party's last known address or, if no address is known, by filing it with the clerk of court. Delivery of a copy within this rule means handing it to the attorney or to the ~~party; or~~ party, leaving it at the attorney's office with a partner or ~~employee.~~ employee, or by sending it to the attorney's office by a confirmed telefacsimile transmittal for receipt by 5:00 P.M. ATTORNEY'S EMPLOYEE NOT DISQUALIFIED FOR VIDEOTAPE DEPOSITION (RULE 28(c))

SECTION 4. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 28(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) Disqualification for interest. – Unless the parties agree otherwise by stipulation as provided in Rule 29, no deposition shall be taken before a person who is any of the following:

(1) A relative, employee, or attorney of any of the parties;

(2) A relative or employee of an attorney of the parties;

(3) Financially interested in the action; or

(4) An independent contractor if the contractor or the contractor's principal is under a blanket contract for the court reporting services with an attorney of the parties, party to the action, or party having a financial interest in the action. Notwithstanding the disqualification under this rule, the party desiring to take the deposition under a stipulation shall disclose the disqualification in writing in a Rule 30(b) notice of deposition and shall inform all parties to the litigation on the record of the existence of the disqualification under this rule and of the proposed stipulation waiving the disqualification. Any party opposing the proposed stipulation as provided in the notice of deposition shall give timely written notice of his or her opposition to all parties.

For the purposes of this rule, a blanket contract means a contract to perform court reporting services over a fixed period of time or an indefinite period of time, rather than on a case by case basis, or any other contractual arrangement which compels, guarantees, regulates, or controls the use of particular court reporting services in future cases.

transcript without the transcript having been certified as provided in Rule 30(f) by the person before whom the deposition was taken.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, a person otherwise disqualified from taking a deposition under this subsection may take a deposition provided that the deposition is taken by videotape in compliance with Rule 30(b)(4) and Rule 30(f), and the notice for the taking of the deposition states the name of the person before whom the deposition will be taken and that person's relationship, if any, to a party or a party's attorney, provided that the deposition is also recorded by stenographic means by a nondisqualified person."

SECTION 5. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 37(a) reads as rewritten:

(1) Appropriate Court. – An application for an order to a party or a deponent who is not a party may be made to a judge of the court in which the action is pending, or, on matters relating to a deposition where the deposition is being taken in this State, to a judge of the court in the county where the deposition is being taken, as defined by Rule 30(h).

(2) Motion. – If a deponent fails to answer a question propounded or submitted under Rules 30 or 31, or a corporation or other entity fails to make a designation under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a), or a party fails to answer an interrogatory submitted under Rule 33, or if a party, in response to a request for inspection submitted under Rule 34, fails to respond that inspection will be permitted as requested or fails to permit inspection as requested, the discovering party may move for an order compelling an answer, or a designation, or an order compelling inspection in accordance with the request. The motion must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person or party failing to make the discovery in an effort to secure the information or material without court action. When taking a deposition on oral examination, the proponent of the question shall complete the examination on all other matters before he adjourns the examination in order to apply for an order.

If the court denies the motion in whole or in part, it may make such protective order as it would have been empowered to make on a motion made pursuant to Rule 26(c).

(3) Evasive or Incomplete Answer. – For purposes of this subdivision an evasive or incomplete answer is to be treated as a failure to answer.

(4) Award of Expenses of Motion. – If the motion is granted, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the party or deponent

If the motion is denied, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the moving party to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is granted in part and denied in part, the court may apportion the reasonable expenses incurred in relation to the motion among the parties and persons in a just manner."

PRESERVING EXCEPTIONS TO RULINGS (RULE 46)

SECTION 6. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 46 reads as rewritten:

"Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.

(a) Rulings on admissibility of evidence. –

(1) When there is objection to the admission of evidence on the ground that the witness is for a specified reason incompetent or not qualified or disqualified, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been made to any subsequent admission of evidence from the witness in question. Similarly, when there is objection to the admission of evidence involving a specified line of questioning, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been taken to any subsequent admission of evidence involving the same line of questioning.

(2) If there is proper objection to the admission of evidence and the objection is overruled, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party making the objection. If an objection to the admission of evidence is sustained or if the court for any reason excludes evidence offered by a party, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party offering the evidence.

(3) No objections are necessary with respect to questions propounded to a witness by the court or a juror but it shall be deemed that each such question has been properly objected to and that the objection has been overruled and that an exception has been taken to the ruling of the court by all parties to the action.

(b) ~~Rulings~~ Pretrial rulings, interlocutory orders, trial rulings, and other orders not directed to the admissibility of evidence. – With respect to ~~rulings~~pretrial rulings, interlocutory orders, trial rulings, and other orders of the court not directed to the admissibility of evidence, formal objections and exceptions are unnecessary. In order to preserve an exception to any such ruling or order or to the court's failure to make any such ruling or order, it shall be sufficient if a party, at the time the ruling or order is made or sought, makes known to the court ~~his~~ the party's objection to the action of the court or makes known the action ~~which he~~ that the party desires the court to take and ~~his ground therefor;~~ the party's grounds for its position. ~~and if~~ If a party has no opportunity to object or except to a ruling or order at the time it is made, the absence of an objection or exception does not thereafter prejudice ~~him.~~that party; however, in order to preserve exceptions to these rulings and orders for appellate review, a party shall promptly present to the court a request, objection, or motion that states the specific grounds for the ruling that the party desires the court to make upon having an opportunity to do so.

(3) Evasive or Incomplete Answer. – For purposes of this subdivision an evasive or incomplete answer is to be treated as a failure to answer.

(4) Award of Expenses of Motion. – If the motion is granted, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion or the party advising such conduct or both of them to pay to the moving party the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining the order, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the opposition to the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is denied, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the moving party to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

PRESERVING EXCEPTIONS TO RULINGS (RULE 46)

SECTION 7. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 46 reads as rewritten:

"Rule 46. Objections and exceptions.

(a) Rulings on admissibility of evidence. –

(1) When there is objection to the admission of evidence on the ground that the witness is for a specified reason incompetent or not qualified or disqualified, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been made to any subsequent admission of evidence from the witness in question. Similarly, when there is objection to the admission of evidence involving a specified line of questioning, it shall be deemed that a like objection has been taken to any subsequent admission of evidence involving the same line of questioning.

(2) If there is proper objection to the admission of evidence and the objection is overruled, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party making the objection. If an objection to the admission of evidence is sustained or if the court for any reason excludes evidence offered by a party, the ruling of the court shall be deemed excepted to by the party offering the evidence.

(3) No objections are necessary with respect to questions propounded to a witness by the court or a juror but it shall be deemed that each such question has been properly objected to and that the objection has been overruled and that an exception has been taken to the ruling of the court by all parties to the action.

In order to preserve an exception to any such ruling or order or to the court's failure to make any such ruling or order, it shall be sufficient if a party, at the time the ruling or order is made or sought, makes known to the court ~~his~~ the party's objection to the action of the court or makes known the action ~~which he~~ that the party desires the court to take and ~~his ground therefor;~~ the party's grounds for its position. ~~and if~~ If a party has no opportunity to object or except to a ruling or order at the time it is made, the absence of an objection or exception does not thereafter prejudice ~~him.~~ that party; however, in order to preserve exceptions to these rulings and orders for appellate review, a party shall promptly present to the court a request, objection, or motion that states the specific grounds for the ruling that the party desires the court to make upon having an opportunity to do so.

~~(c) Instruction. If there is error, either in the refusal of the judge to grant a prayer for instructions, or in granting a prayer, or in his instructions generally, the same is deemed excepted to without the filing of any formal objections.~~"

The holder of an inactive license may apply for an active license in the same category, and the Board shall issue an active license if the applicant has completed in North Carolina a total number of hours of accredited continuing education equal to five times the number of years the applicant held the inactive license. No application fee is required for the reinstatement of an active license pursuant to this subsection. (4) a. A person desiring to become a resident trainee shall apply to the Board on a form provided by the Board. The application shall state that the applicant is not less than 18 years of age, of good moral character, and is the graduate of a high school or the equivalent thereof, and shall indicate the licensee under whom the applicant expects to train. A person training to become an embalmer may serve under either a licensed embalmer or a funeral service licensee. A person training to become a funeral director may serve under either a licensed funeral director or a funeral service licensee. A person training to become a funeral service licensee shall serve under a funeral service licensee. The application must be sustained by oath of the applicant and be accompanied by the appropriate fee. When the Board is satisfied as to the qualifications of an applicant it shall instruct the secretary to issue a certificate of resident traineeship.

b. When a resident trainee leaves the proctorship of the licensee under whom the trainee has worked, the licensee shall file with the Board an affidavit showing the length of time served with the licensee by the trainee, and the affidavit shall be made a matter of record in the Board's office. The licensee shall deliver a copy of the affidavit to the trainee.

c. A person who has not completed the traineeship and wishes to do so under a licensee other than the one whose name appears on the original certificate may reapply to the Board for approval, without payment of an additional fee.

d. A certificate of resident traineeship shall be signed by the resident trainee and upon payment of the renewal fee shall be renewable one year after the date of original registration; but the certificate may not be renewed more than one time. The Board shall mail to each registered trainee at his last known address a notice that the renewal fee is due and that, if not paid within 30 days of the notice, the certificate will be canceled. A penalty, in addition to the renewal fee, shall be charged for a late renewal, but the renewal of the registration of any resident trainee who is engaged in the active military service of the United States at the time renewal is due may, at the discretion of the Board, be held in abeyance for the duration of that service without penalties. No credit shall be allowed for the 12-month period of resident traineeship that shall have been completed more than three years preceding the examination for a license.

e. All registered resident trainees shall report to the Board at least once every ~~three months~~ month during traineeship upon forms provided by the Board listing the work which has been completed during the preceding ~~three months~~ month of resident traineeship. The data contained in the reports shall be certified as correct by the licensee under whom the trainee has served during the period and by the licensed person who is managing the funeral service establishment. Each report shall list the following:

1. For funeral director trainees, the conduct of any funerals during the relevant time period,
2. For embalming trainees, the embalming of any bodies during the relevant time period,
3. For funeral service trainees, both of the activities named in 1 and 2 of this subsection, engaged in during the relevant time period.

f. To meet the resident traineeship requirements of G.S. 90-210.25(a)(1), G.S. 90-210.25(a)(2) and G.S. 90-210.25(a)(3) the following must be shown by the affidavit(s) of the licensee(s) under whom the trainee worked:
1. That the funeral director trainee has, under supervision, assisted in directing at least 25 funerals during the resident traineeship,
2. That the embalmer trainee has, under supervision, assisted in embalming at least 25 bodies during the resident traineeship,
3. That the funeral service trainee has, under supervision assisted in directing at least 25 funerals and, under supervision, assisted in embalming at least 25 bodies during the resident traineeship.

g. The Board may suspend or revoke a certificate of resident traineeship for violation of any provision of this Article.

h. Each sponsor for a registered resident trainee must during the period of sponsorship be actively employed with a funeral establishment. The traineeship shall be a primary vocation of the trainee.

i. Only one resident trainee may register and serve at any one time under any one person licensed under this Article.

j., k. Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 528, s. 4.

l. The Board shall register no more than one resident trainee at a funeral establishment that conducted 100 or fewer ~~funerals~~ families served during the 12 months immediately preceding the date of the application, and shall register no more than one resident trainee for each additional 100 ~~funerals conducted~~ families served at the funeral establishment during the 12 months immediately preceding the date of the application.

(5) The Board by regulation may recognize other examinations that the Board deems equivalent to its own.

All licenses shall be signed by the president and secretary of the Board and the seal of the Board affixed thereto. All licenses shall be issued, renewed or duplicated for a period not exceeding one year upon payment of the renewal fee, and all licenses, renewals or duplicates thereof shall expire and terminate the thirty-first day of December following the date of their issue unless sooner revoked and canceled; provided, that the date of expiration may be changed by unanimous consent of the Board and upon 90 days' written notice of such change to all persons licensed for the practice of funeral directing, embalming and funeral service in this State.

The holder of any license issued by the Board who shall fail to renew the same on or before January 31 of the calendar year for which the license is to be renewed shall have forfeited and surrendered the license as of that date. No license forfeited or surrendered pursuant to the preceding sentence shall be reinstated by the Board unless it is shown to the Board that the applicant has, throughout the period of forfeiture, engaged full time in another state of the United States or the District of Columbia in the practice to which his North Carolina license applies and has completed for each such year continuing education substantially equivalent in the opinion of the Board to that required of North Carolina licensees; or has completed in North Carolina a total number of hours of accredited continuing education computed by multiplying five times the number of years of forfeiture; or has passed the North Carolina examination for the forfeited license. No additional resident traineeship shall be required. The applicant shall be required to pay all delinquent annual renewal fees and a reinstatement fee. The Board may waive the provisions of this section for an applicant for a forfeiture which occurred during his service in the armed forces of the United States provided he applies within six months following severance therefrom.

All licensees now or hereafter licensed in North Carolina shall take courses of study in subjects relating to the practice of the profession for which they are licensed, to the end that new techniques, scientific and clinical advances, the achievements of research and the benefits of learning and reviewing skills will be utilized and applied to assure proper service to the public.

As a prerequisite to the annual renewal of a license, the licensee must complete, during the year immediately preceding renewal, at least five hours of continuing education courses, approved by the Board prior to enrollment. A licensee who completes more than five hours in a year may carry over a maximum of five hours as a credit to the following year's requirement. A licensee who is issued an initial license on or after July 1 does not have to satisfy the continuing education requirement for that year.

The Board shall not renew a license unless fulfillment of the continuing education requirement has been certified to it on a form provided by the Board, but the Board may waive this requirement for renewal in cases of certified illness or undue hardship or where the licensee lives outside of North Carolina and does not practice in North Carolina, and the Board shall waive the requirement for all licensees who have been licensed in North Carolina for a continuous period of 25 years or more, and for all licensees who are, at the time of renewal, members of the General Assembly. ~~The waiver for 25-year licensees shall apply only to those licensees who, before January 1, 1998, are licensed, begin a course of study in a mortuary science college or a trainee program, or make an application for a license.~~

The Board shall cause to be established and offered to the licensees, each calendar year, at least five hours of continuing education courses in subjects encompassing the license categories of embalming, funeral directing and funeral service. The Board may charge licensees attending these courses a reasonable registration fee in order to meet the expenses thereof and may also meet those expenses from other funds received under the provisions of this Article.

Any person who having been previously licensed by the Board as a funeral director or embalmer prior to July 1, 1975, shall not be required to satisfy the requirements herein for licensure as a funeral service licensee, but shall be entitled to have such license renewed upon making proper application therefor and upon payment of the renewal fee provided by the provisions of this Article. Persons previously licensed by the Board as a funeral director may engage in funeral directing, and persons previously licensed by the Board as an embalmer may engage in embalming. Any person having been previously licensed by the Board as both a funeral director and an embalmer may upon application therefor receive a license as a funeral service licensee.

(a1) Inactive Licenses. – Any person holding a license issued by the Board for funeral directing, for embalming, or for the practice of funeral service may apply for an inactive license in the same category as the active license held. The inactive license is renewable annually. Continuing education is not required for the renewal of an inactive license. The only activity that a holder of an inactive license may engage in is to vote pursuant to G.S. 90-210.18(c)(2). The holder of an inactive license may apply for an active license in the same category, and the Board shall issue an active license if the applicant has completed in North Carolina a total number of hours of accredited continuing education equal to five times the number of years the applicant held the inactive license. No application fee is required for the reinstatement of an active license pursuant to this subsection. The holder of an inactive license who returns to active status shall surrender the inactive license to the Board.

(b) Persons Licensed under the Laws of Other Jurisdictions. –

(1) The Board shall grant licenses to funeral directors, embalmers and funeral service licensees, licensed in other states, territories, the District of Columbia, and foreign countries, when it is shown that the applicant holds a valid license as a funeral director, embalmer or funeral service licensee issued by the other jurisdiction, has demonstrated knowledge of the laws and regulations governing the profession in North Carolina and has submitted proof of his good moral character; and either that the applicant has continuously practiced the profession in the other jurisdiction for at least three years immediately preceding his application, or the Board has determined that the licensing requirements for the other jurisdiction are substantially similar to those of North Carolina.

(2) The Board shall periodically review the mortuary science licensing requirements of other jurisdictions and shall determine which licensing requirements are substantially similar to the requirements of North Carolina.

(3) The Board may issue special permits, to be known as courtesy cards, permitting nonresident funeral directors, embalmers and funeral service licensees to remove bodies from and to arrange and direct funerals and embalm bodies in this State, but these privileges shall not include the right to establish a place of business in or engage generally in the business of funeral directing and embalming in this State. Except for special permits issued by the Board for teaching continuing education programs and for work in connection with disasters, no special permits may be issued to nonresident funeral directors, embalmers, and funeral service licensees from states that do not issue similar courtesy cards to persons licensed in North Carolina pursuant to this Article.

(c) Registration, Filing and Transportation. –

(1) The holder of any license granted by this State for those within the funeral service profession or renewal thereof provided for in this Article shall cause registration to be filed in the office of the board of health of the county or city in which he practices his profession, or if there be no board of health in such county or city, at the office of the clerk of the superior court of such county. All such licenses, certificates, duplicates and renewals thereof shall be displayed in a conspicuous place in the funeral establishment where the holder renders service.

(2) It shall be unlawful for any railway agent, express agency, baggage master, conductor or other person acting as such, to receive the dead body of any person for shipment or transportation by railway or other public conveyance, to a point outside of this State, unless said body be accompanied by a ~~removal or shipping~~ burial-transit permit.

(3) The "transportation or removal of a dead human body" shall mean the removal of a dead human body from the approximate location of the place of death or discovery of death or the transportation of such body to or from a medical facility, funeral establishment or facility, crematory or related holding facility, place of final disposition, or place designated by the Medical Examiner for examination or autopsy of the dead human body, for a fee.

(4) Any individual, not otherwise exempt as provided herein, shall apply for and receive a permit from the Board before engaging in the transportation or removal of a dead human body in this State. No corporation or other business entity shall engage in the transportation or removal of a dead human body unless it has in its employ at least one individual who holds a permit issued pursuant to this section. No individual permit holder shall engage in the transportation or removal of a dead human body for more than one person, firm, or corporation without first providing the Board with written notification of the name and physical address of each such employer; nothing herein prevents an individual permit holder from engaging in the transportation or removal of a dead human body for more than one person, firm, or corporation as an independent contractor. A permit issued pursuant to this section shall not authorize the holder thereof to engage in the practice of funeral service, and the holder of such permit shall only engage in the limited services which are necessarily incidental to the transportation or removal of a dead human body.

(5) Licensees under this Article and their employees, employees of common carriers, employees of the State and its agencies, employees of local governments and their agencies, and funeral directors licensed in another state and their employees shall be exempt from the permit requirements of this section but shall otherwise be subject to subdivision (8) of this subsection and any rules promulgated hereunder relating to the proper handling, care, removal, or transportation of a dead human body. Emergency medical technicians, rescue squad workers, volunteer and paid firemen, and law enforcement officers shall not be subject to any provision of this section. Employees of public or private hospitals, nursing homes, or long-term care facilities, while handling a dead human body within such facility or while acting within the scope of their employment, shall not be subject to any provision of this section. The transportation of cremated remains shall not be subject to any provision of this section. Any individual transporting or removing a dead human body of their immediate family or next of kin shall not be subject to any provision of this section.

(6) To be eligible to receive a permit pursuant to this section, an individual shall:

(a) Be at least 18 years of age;

(b) Possess and maintain a valid drivers license issued by this State and provide proof of all liability insurance required for the registration of any vehicle in which such person intends to engage in the business of the removal or transportation of a dead human body;

(c) Affirmatively state under oath that he has read and understands the statutes and rules relating to the removal and transportation of dead human bodies and any guidelines as may be adopted by the Board;

(d) Provide three written character references on a form prescribed by the Board, one of which must be from a licensed funeral director; and

(7) The permit issued pursuant to this section shall expire on December 31 of each year. The application fee for the individual permit shall not exceed one hundred twenty-five dollars ($125.00). A fine penalty, not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00), in addition to the renewal fee not to exceed seventy-five dollars ($75.00), shall be charged for any application for renewal received by the Board after February 1 of each year.

(8) No person shall transport a dead human body in the open cargo area or passenger area of a vehicle or in any vehicle in which the body may be viewed by the public. Any person removing or transporting a dead human body shall either cover the body, place it upon a stretcher designed for the purpose of transporting humans or dead human bodies in a vehicle, and secure such stretcher in the vehicle to be used for transportation, or shall enclose the body in a casket, cremation container, or container designed for common carrier transportation, and secure such container in the vehicle used for transportation. No person shall use profanity, indecent or obscene language in the presence of a dead human body or during the removal or transportation process.

(9) The Board may adopt rules pursuant to this section including application procedures and the proper procedures for the removal, handling and transportation of dead human bodies. The Board shall consult with the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner before initiating rule-making pursuant to this section and before adopting any rules pursuant to this section. Nothing in this section prohibits the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner from adopting policies and procedures regarding the removal, transportation, or handling of a dead human body under the jurisdiction of that office which are more stringent than the laws in this section or any rules promulgated hereunder. Any violation of this section or rules promulgated hereunder may be punished by the Board by a suspension or revocation of the permit or by a term of probation. Hearings of violations shall be conducted pursuant to the procedures set out in Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. The Board may, in lieu of any disciplinary measure, accept a compromise penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) per violation.

(10) Each applicant for a permit shall provide the Board with the applicant's home address, name and address of any corporation or business entity employing such individual for the removal or transportation of dead human bodies, and the make, year, model, and license plate number of any vehicle in which a dead human body is transported. A permittee shall provide written notification to the Board of any change, for whatever reason, in the information required to be provided to the Board by this section or by the application for a permit within 30 days after such change takes place.

(11) If any person shall engage in or hold himself out as engaging in the business of transportation or removal or a dead human body without first having received a permit pursuant to this section, he shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(12) The Board shall have the authority to inspect any place or premises in which the business of removing or transporting a dead human body is carried out and shall also have the right of inspection of any vehicle and equipment used by a permittee for the removal or transportation of a dead human body.

(d) Establishment Permit. –

(1) No person, firm or corporation shall conduct, maintain, manage or operate a funeral establishment unless a permit for that establishment has been issued by the Board and is conspicuously displayed in the establishment. Each funeral establishment at a specific location shall be deemed to be a separate entity and shall require a separate permit and compliance with the requirements of this Article.

(2) A permit shall be issued when:

a. It is shown that the funeral establishment has in charge a person, known as a manager, licensed for the practice of funeral directing or funeral service, who shall not be permitted to manage more than one funeral establishment.

b. The Board receives a list of the names of all part-time and full-time licensees employed by the establishment.

c. It is shown that the funeral establishment satisfies the requirements of G.S. 90-210.27A.

d. The Board receives payment of the permit fee.

(3) Applications for funeral establishment permits shall be made on forms provided by the Board and filed with the Board by the owner, a partner, a member of the limited liability company, or an officer of the corporation by January 1 of each year, and shall be accompanied by the application fee or renewal fee, as the case may be. All permits shall expire on December 31 of each year.

A penalty for late renewal, in addition to the regular renewal fee, shall be charged for renewal of registration coming after the first day of February.

(4) The Board may suspend or revoke a permit when an owner, partner, manager, member, operator, or officer of the funeral establishment violates any provision of this Article or any regulations of the Board, or when any agent or employee of the funeral establishment, with the consent of any person, firm or corporation operating the funeral establishment, violates any of those provisions, rules or regulations.

(5) Funeral establishment permits are not transferable. A new application for a permit shall be made to the Board within 30 days of a change of ownership of a funeral establishment.

(d1) Embalming Outside Establishment. – An embalmer who engages in embalming in a facility other than a funeral establishment or in the residence of the deceased person shall, no later than January 1 of each year, register the facility with the Board on forms provided by the Board.

(e) Revocation; Suspension; Compromise; Disclosure. –

(1) Whenever the Board finds that an applicant for a license or a person to whom a license has been issued by the Board is guilty of any of the following acts or omissions and the Board also finds that the person has thereby become unfit to practice, the Board may suspend or revoke the license or refuse to issue or renew the license, in accordance with the procedures set out in Chapter 150B:

a. Conviction of a felony or a crime involving fraud or moral turpitude.

b. Fraud or misrepresentation in obtaining or renewing a license or in the practice of funeral service.

c. False or misleading advertising as the holder of a license.

d. Solicitation of dead human bodies by the licensee, his agents, assistants, or employees; but this paragraph shall not be construed to prohibit general advertising by the licensee.

e. Employment directly or indirectly of any resident trainee agent, assistant or other person, on a part-time or full-time basis, or on commission, for the purpose of calling upon individuals or institutions by whose influence dead human bodies may be turned over to a particular licensee.

f. The direct or indirect giving of certificates of credit or the payment or offer of payment of a commission by the licensee, his agents, assistants or employees for the purpose of securing business.

g. Gross immorality, including being under the influence of alcohol or drugs while practicing funeral service.

h. Aiding or abetting an unlicensed person to perform services under this Article, including the use of a picture or name in connection with advertisements or other written material published or caused to be published by the licensee.

i. Using profane, indecent or obscene language in the presence of a dead human body, and within the immediate hearing of the family or relatives of a deceased, whose body has not yet been interred or otherwise disposed of.

j. Violating or cooperating with others to violate any of the provisions of this Article, the rules and regulations of the Board, or the standards set forth in Funeral Industry Practices, 16 C.F.R. 453 (1984), as amended from time to time.

k. Violation of any State law or municipal or county ordinance or regulation affecting the handling, custody, care or transportation of dead human bodies.

l. Refusing to surrender promptly the custody of a dead human body upon the express order of the person lawfully entitled to the custody thereof.

m. Knowingly making any false statement on a certificate of death.

n. Indecent exposure or exhibition of a dead human body while in the custody or control of a licensee.

In any case in which the Board is entitled to suspend, revoke or refuse to renew a license, the Board may accept from the licensee an offer in compromise to pay a penalty of not more than ~~one~~ five thousand dollars ~~($1,000).~~ ($5,000). The Board may either accept a compromise or revoke or refuse to renew a license, but not both.

(2) Where the Board finds that a licensee is guilty of one or more of the acts or omissions listed in subsection (e) (1) of this section but it is determined by the Board that the licensee has not thereby become unfit to practice, the Board may place the licensee on a term of probation in accordance with the procedures set out in Chapter 150B. In any case in which the Board is entitled to place a licensee on a term of probation, the Board may also impose a penalty of not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) in conjunction with the probation.

No person licensed under this Article shall remove or cause to be embalmed a dead human body when he has information indicating crime or violence of any sort in connection with the cause of death, nor shall a dead human body be cremated, until permission of the State or county medical examiner has first been obtained. However, nothing in this Article shall be construed to alter the duties and authority now vested in the office of the coroner.

No funeral service establishment shall accept a dead human body from any public officer (excluding the State or county medical examiner or his agent), or employee or from the official of any institution, hospital or nursing home, or from a physician or any person having a professional relationship with a decedent, without having first made due inquiry as to the desires of the persons who have the legal authority to direct the disposition of the decedent's body. If any persons are found, their authority and directions shall govern the disposal of the remains of the decedent. Any funeral service establishment receiving the remains in violation of this subsection shall make no charge for any service in connection with the remains prior to delivery of the remains as stipulated by the persons having legal authority to direct the disposition of the body. This section shall not prevent any funeral service establishment from charging and being reimbursed for services rendered in connection with the removal of the remains of any deceased person in case of accidental or violent death, and rendering necessary professional services required until the persons having legal authority to direct the disposition of the body have been notified.

When and where a licensee presents a selection of funeral merchandise to the public to be used in connection with the service to be provided by the licensee or an establishment as licensed under this Article, a card or brochure shall be directly associated with each item of merchandise setting forth the price of the service using said merchandise and listing the services and other merchandise included in the price, if any. When there are separate prices for the merchandise and services, such cards or brochures shall indicate the price of the merchandise and of the items separately priced.

At the time funeral arrangements are made and prior to the time of rendering the service and providing the merchandise, a funeral director or funeral service licensee shall give or cause to be given to the person or persons making such arrangements a written statement duly signed by a licensee of said funeral establishment showing the price of the service as selected and what services are included therein, the price of each of the supplemental items of services or merchandise requested, and the amounts involved for each of the items for which the funeral establishment will advance moneys as an accommodation to the person making arrangements, insofar as any of the above items can be specified at that time. The statement shall have printed, typed or stamped on the face thereof: "This statement of disclosure is provided pursuant to the requirements of North Carolina G.S. 90-210.25(e)."

(f) Unlawful Practices. – If any person shall practice or hold himself out as practicing the profession or art of embalming, funeral directing or practice of funeral service without having complied with the licensing provisions of this Article, he shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

Whenever it shall appear to the Board that any person, firm or corporation has violated, threatens to violate or is violating any provisions of this Article, the Board may apply to the courts of the State for a restraining order and injunction to restrain these practices. If upon application the court finds that any provision of this Article is being violated, or a violation is threatened, the court shall issue an order restraining and enjoining the violations, and this relief may be granted regardless of whether criminal prosecution is instituted under the provisions of this subsection. The venue for actions brought under this subsection shall be the superior court of any county in which the acts are alleged to have been committed or in the county where the defendant in the action resides. "

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representatives Weiss and Baddour
Version:	H440-CSSK-10[v.2]	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: This bill is recommended by the North Carolina Board of Mortuary Science. The bill clarifies that applicants seeking to be licensed for the practice of funeral directing or funeral service may attend a college approved by the Board of Mortuary Science or the American Board of Funeral Service Education. The bill sets out regulations regarding the transportation of dead human bodies. The bill increases, decreases, and creates new fees. The bill increases the penalty associated with the removal, suspension, or probationary status of a license to no more than $5000. The bill imposes requirements for the disposition of a preneed funeral fund and the wrapping up of a preneed trust. The bill also staggers the terms of the public members of the Board of Mortuary Science. Finally, the bill makes numerous technical and conforming changes. This act becomes effective July 1, 2001.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. Section 1 of the bill clarifies that licensed members of the Board of Mortuary Science (the Board) have full voting authority. This is the current practice. In addition, this section makes several technical changes.

Section 2. Section 2 changes the term "funeral service profession" to "funeral service" and makes several technical changes.

Section 3. Section 3 makes several technical changes and the following substantive changes:

- Clarifies that applicants seeking to be licensed for the practice of funeral directing or funeral service may attend a college approved by the Board OR a college approved by the American Board of Funeral Service Education.
- Changes the measurement used to determine how many resident trainees (persons training to become licensed in the practice of funeral directing, embalming, or funeral service) are permitted to be registered at a funeral establishment. The measurement is currently the number of funerals conducted by the funeral establishment and this bill allows the measurement to be the number of families served by the funeral establishment.
- Regulation of the Transportation of Dead Human Bodies. Currently, there are no regulations regarding the transportation of a dead human body (except the moving of the body from the funeral home to the burial site). This bill would require individuals not exempt from the statute to obtain a permit to transport and remove dead human bodies. The bill sets out the requirements and fees for obtaining a permit.

  Semi-Exempt Individuals. The following individuals are exempt from all statutory requirements regarding the transportation of human dead bodies except rule-based requirements and the requirements that they must (1) transport the body in a vehicle where the public cannot view the body, (2) cover the body and move the body on a stretcher or in a casket or container designed for common carrier transport, and (3) not use profanity, indecent, or obscene language in the presence of the body:

  Funeral directors, embalmers, and funeral service providers and their employees, common carrier employees, State employees, local government employees, and funeral directors licensed in another state and their employees.

Exempt Individuals. The following individuals are completely exempt from all statutory and rule-based requirements regarding the transportation of human dead bodies:

Emergency medical technicians, rescue squad workers, volunteer and paid firemen, law enforcement officers, employees of public or private hospitals, nursing homes, or long-term care facilities, State and county medical examiners and their investigators, individuals transporting cremated remains or removing a dead human body of their immediate family or next of kin.

Non-Exempt Individuals. All others not listed above (such a private, for-hire persons in the business of moving human dead bodies) must comply with all statutory and rule-based requirements regulating the transportation of dead humans bodies. Anyone who engages in the business of transportation of human dead bodies without a permit is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

The Board's Authority. This bill gives the Board rule-making authority with regard to the transportation of human dead bodies and allows the Board to take disciplinary action when the statutes or rules regarding the transportation of human dead bodies are violated. The Board can inspect vehicles and places used in the process of transporting dead human bodies.

- Under current law, where the Board is entitled to suspend, revoke, or renew a license for violation of the statutes or rules, the Board may accept a penalty of not more than $1000 in lieu of disciplinary action. This bill would increase the penalty to not more than $5000. The increase also applies to cases where the Board may place a licensee on probation. Section 11 of the bill also sets out the increase in penalty and provides a list of factors the Board must consider prior to determining the amount of the penalty.

Section 4. Public Health Laws and Rules. Currently, it is unclear whether funeral establishments are subject to the rules, for example, of their local county health departments. Section 4 clarifies that funeral establishments are subject to county health department rules and the Board's rules.

Section 5. Increase/Decrease Fees and Creation of New Fees. Section 5:

- Decreases an "establishment's annual renewal permit fee" from $175 to $150,
- Replaces the "reinspection fee" with the "establishment and embalming facility inspection fee",
- Decreases the "annual renewal fee for embalmers or funeral directors" from $50 to $40 ($60 if licenses for both are held by the same person),
- Decreases the "annual renewal fee for a funeral service license holder" from $100 to $60.
- Creates a new "inactive status" fee (set at $50), a new "change in supervisor" fee (set at $50), and a new "chapel registration late renewal" fee (set at $75).

Section 6. Section 6 repeals G.S. 90-210.29(b), which has become obsolete as it applies to student identification cards that are no longer utilized.

Section 7. Section 7 makes technical change only.

Section 8. Section 8 clarifies that the term "money" means cash only and not any other form of payment.

Section 9. Preneed Funeral Fund. Under current law, when the balance of a preneed funeral is payable to the estate of a deceased preneed funeral contract beneficiary and there is no representative of the estate, the balance due is paid to clerk of superior court. This bill would allow balances payable to the estate that are $100 or less to be paid directly to the beneficiaries of the estate instead of the clerk of superior court.

Preneed Contract. Section 9 also states the requirements that must be completed within 30 days of fulfilling the provisions of a preneed contract. These requirements include: (1) submitting a certificate of performance to the financial institution holding the trust and closing the account, (2) distributing the proceeds of the trust according to the provisions of the preneed contract, and (3) filing a certificate of performance with the Board.

Section 10. Section 10 repeals a portion of the statute used to facilitate the transfer of the preneed functions and oversight from the North Carolina Commissioner of Banks to the Board. The transition is complete and the language is no longer necessary.

Section 11. See Section 3 explanation above.

Section 12. Section 12 is uncodified language that creates staggered terms for the three public members of the Board.

The reference to the Assistant Director of the Intervention/Prevention Division would be changed to the Assistant Secretary of Intervention/Prevention. The reference to the Assistant Director of the Detention Division would be changed to the Assistant Secretary of Youth Development.

Section 7 would delete an obsolete reference to the Division of Youth Development in the statute that provided for the organization of the Department of Correction.

Section 8 would change a reference to the State Division of Youth Development to the Youth Development Division in the statute that regulates employment of prisoners.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE INDIAN TRIBES TO ELECT TO MAKE UNEMPLOYMENT PAYMENTS, IN LIEU OF CONTRIBUTIONS, TO REIMBURSE ACTUAL COMPENSATION PAID WITH RESPECT TO EMPLOYEES, AS REQUIRED BY FEDERAL LAW. .

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 96-8(5) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"§ 96-8. Definitions.

As used in this Chapter, unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

(5) "Employer" means:

s. Any Indian tribe as defined in the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, 26 U.S.C. § 3301 et seq."

SECTION 2. G.S. 96-8(6)i. reads as rewritten:

"i. ~~On and after January 1, 1978, the~~ The term "employment" includes service performed for any State and local governmental employing ~~unit. The services to which clause (d) of the preceding sentence applies include but are not limited to temporary emergency services compensated solely by a fixed payment for each emergency call answered whether or not provided for by prior agreement and training in preparation for such temporary emergency service whether or not compensated."

SECTION 3. G.S. 96-8(6)k.15. reads as rewritten:

"k. The term "employment" ~~shall~~ does not include:

SECTION 4. G.S. 96-9(a) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"§ 96-9. Contributions.

(a) Payment. –

(4a) Indian tribes may finance benefits paid to employees either by coming under the experience rating program provided in G.S. 96-9(b) or by coming into the program on a reimbursement basis in accordance with the provisions and conditions of G.S. 96-9(i). Any election made is binding on the tribe so electing for a period of three years."

SECTION 5. G.S. 96-9(g) reads as rewritten:

"(g) Nothing contained in subsections ~~(d) and (f)~~ (d), (f), and (i) of this section ~~shall be construed to prevent~~ prevents the Commission from providing any reimbursing employer with informational bills or lists of charges on a basis more frequent than yearly, if in its sole discretion, the Commission ~~deems~~ considers such action to be in the best interest of the Commission and the affected employer(s)."

SECTION 6. G.S. 96-9 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(i) Indian Tribes. – Benefits paid to employees of Indian tribe employing units shall be financed in accordance with the provisions of this subsection. For the purposes of this subsection, an 'Indian tribe employing unit' is an Indian tribe, a subdivision or subsidiary of an Indian tribe, or a business enterprise wholly owned by an Indian tribe.

(1) Election. –

a. An Indian tribe employing unit shall pay contributions under the provisions of this Chapter, unless it elects in accordance with this subsection to pay the Commission for the Unemployment Insurance Fund an amount equal to the amount of benefits paid that is attributable to service in the employ of the unit, to individuals for weeks of unemployment that begin within a benefit year established during the effective period of the election.

b. An Indian tribe employing unit may elect to become liable for payments in lieu of contributions for a period of not less than three calendar years by filing a written notice of its election with the Commission at least 30 days before the January 1 effective date of the election.

c. An Indian tribe employing unit that makes an election in accordance with this subsection will continue after the end of the three calendar years to be liable for payments in lieu of contributions until it files with the Commission a written notice terminating its election at least 30 days before the January 1 effective date of the termination.

d. The account of an Indian tribe employing unit that has been paying contributions under this Chapter for a period of at least three consecutive calendar years and that elects to change to a reimbursement basis shall be closed and shall not be used in any future computation of the unit's contribution rate in any manner except that the unit may be relieved of the requirement to pay one percent (1%) of taxable wages as required by subdivision (2) of this subsection to the following extent and upon the following conditions:

1. An Indian tribe employing unit that has, for the year the election will be effective, an experience rating of 1.7 or less, will have transferred from its experience rating account an amount equal to one percent (1%) of its payroll as reported for each of the four calendar quarters that constitute the election year.
2. An Indian tribe employing unit that has, for the year the election will be effective, an experience rating of less than 2.7 but more than 1.7, will have transferred from its experience rating account an amount equal to one-half of one percent (.5%) of its payroll as reported for each of the four calendar quarters that constitute the election year. These employing units shall make advance payments to the Commission quarterly, computed at one-half of one percent (.5%) of the taxable wages reported as provided in subdivision (2) of this subsection.
3. An Indian tribe employing unit that has, for the year the election will become effective, an experience rating of 2.7 or more, upon electing to change to a reimbursement basis, will meet all the requirements of subdivision (2) of this subsection, including making advance payments computed at one percent (1%) of taxable wages.

e. The Commission, in accordance with regulations it adopts, shall notify each Indian tribe employing unit of any determination of the effective date of any election it makes and of any termination of the election. These determinations shall be subject to reconsideration, appeal, and review.

(2) Procedure. – Indian tribe employing units' payments by reimbursement in lieu of contributions shall be made and processed as provided in this subdivision.

a. Quarterly contributions and wage reports and advance payments shall be submitted to the Commission quarterly under the same conditions and requirements of G.S. 96-9 and 96-10, except that the amount of advance payments shall be computed as one percent (1%) of taxable wages and entered on the reports, and except that the wage base shall be the same as that provided for in G.S. 96-9(a)(5). Collection of these advance payments shall be made as provided for the collection of contributions in G.S. 96-10.

Any Indian tribe employing unit paying by reimbursement having been, prior to July 1, under the reimbursement method of payment for the preceding calendar year, shall continue to file quarterly reports but shall make no payments with those reports.

b. The Commission shall establish a separate account for each Indian tribe employing unit paying by reimbursement. The account shall be credited and maintained as provided in G.S. 96-9(c)(1), except that advance payments shall be credited in full, and voluntary contributions are not applicable.

c. Benefits paid shall be allocated to the employer's account in accordance with G.S. 96-9(c)(2)a. but charged to the account without the application of any multiplier, and no benefits shall be noncharged except amounts of benefits paid through error.

d. As of July 31 of each year, and prior to January 1 of the succeeding year, the Commission shall determine the balance of each Indian tribe employing unit's account and shall furnish the unit with a statement of all charges and credits to the account.

As of August 1 of each year, there shall be refunded any credit balance remaining in the Indian tribe employing unit's account (after all applicable postings) in excess of one percent (1%) of taxable wages for the 12 months ending on June 30 preceding the computation date. The refund must be made before February 1 following the computation date.

If the balance in the account does not equal one percent (1%) of taxable wages, the Indian tribe employing unit must, upon notice and demand for payment mailed to its last known address, pay into the account an amount that will bring the balance to one percent (1%) of taxable wages. This amount becomes due on or before the 25th day after the notice and demand for payment is mailed. Any amount unpaid on the due date shall be collected in the same manner, including interest, as prescribed in G.S. 96-10.

Upon a change in election as to the method of payment from reimbursement to contributions, or upon termination of coverage and after all applicable benefits paid based on wages paid before the change in election or termination of coverage have been charged, any credit balance in the account shall be refunded to the Indian tribe employing unit.

If there is a debit balance in the account, the Indian tribe employing unit must, upon notice and demand for payment mailed to its last known address, pay into the account an amount necessary to bring the account to one percent (1%) of taxable wages. This amount becomes due on or before the 25th day after the notice and demand for payment is mailed. Any amount unpaid on the due date shall be collected in the same manner, including interest, as prescribed in G.S. 96-10.

e. Notices to Indian tribe employing units of payment and reporting delinquency must include information that failure to make full payment within the time prescribed will cause the unit to become liable for contributions under subsection (a) of this section, will cause the unit to lose the option of making payment by reimbursement in lieu of contributions, and could cause the unit to lose coverage under this Chapter for services performed for the unit.

(3) Forfeiture of option. – If an Indian tribe employing unit fails to make payments, including interest and penalties, required under this subsection within 90 days after receipt of the bill, the unit loses the option to make payments by reimbursement in lieu of contributions for the following calendar year unless payment in full is made before contribution rates for the following calendar year are computed. An Indian tribe that has lost the option to make payments by reimbursement in lieu of contributions for a calendar year regains that option for the following calendar year if it makes all contributions timely during the year for which the option was lost and no payments, penalties, or interest remain outstanding.

(4) Forfeiture of coverage. – If an Indian tribe employing unit fails to make payments, including interest and penalties, required under this subsection after all collection activities considered necessary by the Commission have been exhausted, services performed for that employing unit are no longer treated as 'employment' for the purpose of coverage under this Chapter. An Indian tribe employing unit that has lost coverage regains coverage under this Chapter for services performed for the employing unit if the Commission determines that all contributions, payments in lieu of contributions, penalties, and interest have been paid.

The Commission shall notify the Internal Revenue Service and the United States Department of Labor of any termination or reinstatement of coverage pursuant to this subdivision.

(5) Extended benefits. – Extended benefits paid that are attributable to service in the employ of an Indian tribe employing unit and not reimbursed by the federal government shall be financed in their entirety by the Indian tribe employing unit."

(1) Election. –

a. An Indian tribe employing unit shall pay contributions under the provisions of this Chapter, unless it elects in accordance with this subsection to pay the Commission for the Unemployment Insurance Fund an amount equal to the amount of benefits paid that is attributable to service in the employ of the unit, to individuals for weeks of unemployment that begin within a benefit year established during the effective period of the election.

b. An Indian tribe employing unit may elect to become liable for payments in lieu of contributions for a period of not less than four calendar years by filing a written notice of its election with the Commission at least 30 days before the January 1 effective date of the election.

3. An Indian tribe employing unit that has, for the year the election will become effective, an experience rating of 2.7 or more, upon electing to change to a reimbursement basis, will meet all the requirements of subdivision (2) of this subsection, including making advance payments computed at one percent (1%) of taxable wages.

e. The Commission, in accordance with regulations it adopts, shall notify each Indian tribe employing unit of any determination of the effective date of any election it makes and of any termination of the election. These determinations shall be subject to reconsideration, appeal, and review.

(2) Procedure. – Indian tribe employing units' payments by reimbursement in lieu of contributions shall be made and processed as provided in this subdivision.

a. Quarterly contributions and wage reports and advance payments shall be submitted to the Commission quarterly under the same conditions and requirements of G.S. 96-9 and 96-10, except that the amount of advance payments shall be computed as one percent (1%) of taxable wages and entered on the reports, and except that the wage base shall be the same as that provided for in G.S. 96-9(a)(5). Collection of these advance payments shall be made as provided for the collection of contributions in G.S. 96-10.

Any Indian tribe employing unit paying by reimbursement having been, prior to July 1, under the reimbursement method of payment for the preceding calendar year, shall continue to file quarterly reports but shall make no payments with those reports.

b. The Commission shall establish a separate account for each Indian tribe employing unit paying by reimbursement. The account shall be credited and maintained as provided in G.S. 96-9(c)(1), except that advance payments shall be credited in full, and voluntary contributions are not applicable.

d. As of July 31 of each year, and prior to January 1 of the succeeding year, the Commission shall determine the balance of each Indian tribe employing unit's account and shall furnish the unit with a statement of all charges and credits to the account.

This amount becomes due on or before the 25th day after the notice and demand for payment is mailed. Any amount unpaid on the due date shall be collected in the same manner, including interest, as prescribed in G.S. 96-10.

Upon a change in election as to the method of payment from reimbursement to contributions, or upon termination of coverage and after all applicable benefits paid based on wages paid before the change in election or termination of coverage have been charged, any credit balance in the account shall be refunded to the Indian tribe employing unit.

If there is a debit balance in the account, the Indian tribe employing unit must, upon notice and demand for payment mailed to its last known address, pay into the account an amount necessary to bring the account to one percent (1%) of taxable wages. This amount becomes due on or before the 25th day after the notice and demand for payment is mailed. Any amount unpaid on the due date shall be collected in the same manner, including interest, as prescribed in G.S. 96-10.

e. Notices to Indian tribe employing units of payment and reporting delinquency must include information that failure to make full payment within the time prescribed will cause the unit to become liable for contributions under subsection (a) of this section, will cause the unit to lose the option of making payment by reimbursement in lieu of contributions, and could cause the unit to lose coverage under this Chapter for services performed for the unit.

(3) Forfeiture of option. – If an Indian tribe employing unit fails to make payments, including interest and penalties, required under this subsection within 90 days after receipt of the bill, the unit loses the option to make payments by reimbursement in lieu of contributions for the following calendar year unless payment in full is made before contribution rates for the following calendar year are computed. An Indian tribe that has lost the option to make payments by reimbursement in lieu of contributions for a calendar year regains that option for the following calendar year if it makes all contributions timely during the year for which the option was lost and no payments, penalties, or interest remain outstanding.

(4) Forfeiture of coverage. – If an Indian tribe employing unit fails to make payments, including interest and penalties, required under this subsection after all collection activities considered necessary by the Commission have been exhausted, services performed for that employing unit are no longer treated as 'employment' for the purpose of coverage under this Chapter. An Indian tribe employing unit that has lost coverage regains coverage under this Chapter for services performed for the employing unit if the Commission determines that all contributions, payments in lieu of contributions, penalties, and interest have been paid.

The Commission shall notify the Internal Revenue Service and the United States Department of Labor of any termination or reinstatement of coverage pursuant to this subdivision.

(5) Extended benefits. – Extended benefits paid that are attributable to service in the employ of an Indian tribe employing unit and not reimbursed by the federal government shall be financed in their entirety by the Indian tribe employing unit."

SECTION 7. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 311:
Indian Tribe Unemployment Option - AB.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Reps. Redwine & Haire
Date:	April 3, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	H311-CSRH-11[v.1]		Committee Counsel

The PCS changes the period of election from four years to three years.

SUMMARY: House Bill 311 would allow federally recognized Indian tribes in North Carolina to elect whether they will be "reimbursable-based employers" or "experience-rated employers" for the purpose of making payments to the Unemployment Insurance Fund (Fund).

The bill would take effect when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, most employers in North Carolina, including Indian tribes, must pay quarterly taxes to the Employment Security Commission (ESC) for the Fund. These contributions are based on each employer's experience in unemployment. The greater their unemployment history, the greater their contributions. Government and nonprofit employers are reimbursable-based. They may elect to make payments to reimburse the ESC for actual unemployment payments made.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend various provisions in Article 2 of Chapter 96 of the General Statutes (Unemployment Insurance Division). It would allow a federally recognized Indian tribe to make an election, valid for at least three years, as to whether to be treated as a reimbursable-based employer or experience-rated employer for the purpose of making payments to the Fund.

If a tribe elects the reimbursement method and subsequently fails to make payments, it would lose its option to make payments by reimbursement rather than by contributions for the following year, and could cause the tribe to lose coverage under Chapter 96.unless it makes all payments timely during the year for which the option was lost. Also, if the tribe elects to make payments by reimbursement, it must have, on August 1 of each year, a credit balance equal to one percent of taxable wages for the 12 months ending on the previous June 30. If the tribe fails, within 25 days after notice and demand for payment is mailed, to pay into the account an amount that will bring the balance to one percent of taxable wages, interest will accrue (at a set yearly rate between 5-16%) and the tribe could be subject to a penalty in an amount equal to 10% of the amount due.

BACKGROUND: The bill is requested by the Employment Security Commission and is required to implement a recent federal law. The only federally recognized Indian tribe in North Carolina is the Eastern Band of the Cherokee of North Carolina.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Representatives Redwine and Haire

FROM: Adam Levinson, Fiscal Analyst, Fiscal Research Division

DATE: March 16, 2001

RE: Certification for House Bill 311 "Indian Tribe Unemployment Option - AB"

North Carolina General Statute (G.S.) 120-36.8 requires that any bill that proposes a change in law that is thought to be required to implement a federal law, or is needed to bring the State into compliance with federal law, or is needed in order to qualify for receipt of federal funds, must have attached to it a certification prepared by the Fiscal Research Division that identifies the federal law in question. House Bill 311 "Indian Tribe Unemployment Option - AB" is a bill attempting to bring the state in compliance with federal law. The following explanation identifies the federal law in question and explains why the federal law makes House Bill 311 necessary. This memorandum will serve as the certification required in G.S. 120-36.8.

SUMMARY OF FEDERAL LEGISLATION

The Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2001 (CAA) contains amendments to the Federal Unemployment Tax Act of 1970 (FUTA) that render the unemployment tax status of Indian tribes similar to that of state and local governments. The changes include:

- Adding a provision defining "Indian tribe"
- Adding "services performed in the employ of an Indian tribe" to the class of services currently exempted from the definition of "employment"
- Adding "Indian tribe" to the class of governmental entities that "may elect to pay (in lieu of contributions) into the State unemployment fund amounts equal to the amounts of compensation attributable under the State law to such service" (this is commonly known as the "reimbursement option")
- Adding a provision authorizing that "State law may require a tribe to post a payment bond or take other reasonable measures to assure the making of payments in lieu of contributions"

REQUIREMENTS OF FEDERAL LAW

Under the CAA-amended FUTA, American Indian tribes are to be treated similarly to state and local governments. This new status provides for the following:

- Services performed in the employ of tribes generally are no longer subject to the FUTA tax.
- As a condition of a state's participation in the Federal-State Unemployment Compensation (UC) program:
  - ⇒ Services performed in the employ of tribes are, with specified exceptions, required to be covered under State UC laws. Prior to the CAA amendments, coverage was at the option of the State.
  - ⇒ Tribes must be offered the reimbursement option. Prior to the CAA amendments, states were prohibited from offering the reimbursement option to Indian tribes.
- Extended Benefit payments based on services performed in the employ of a tribe no longer qualify for Federal sharing. All extended benefit payments will thus be at the option of and will be the full responsibility of the tribe.

All states with "Indian tribes" within their state boundaries must amend their laws immediately to reflect the above changes. As the Eastern Band of the Cherokee qualifies as an Indian tribe under the federal definition, North Carolina is one such state. Because the U.S. Department of Labor recognizes that states will need time to introduce and enact legislation, the Department will take no enforcement action prior to October 31, 2001.

FISCAL RESEARCH OPINION

It is the opinion of the Fiscal Research Division, after consultation with the Research and Bill Drafting Divisions and ESC, that House Bill 311 will bring the State into compliance with Federal Unemployment Compensation Law.

All licenses shall be issued, renewed or duplicated for a period not exceeding one year upon payment of the renewal fee, and all licenses, renewals or duplicates thereof shall expire and terminate the thirty-first day of December following the date of their issue unless sooner revoked and canceled; provided, that the date of expiration may be changed by unanimous consent of the Board and upon 90 days' written notice of such change to all persons licensed for the practice of funeral directing, embalming and funeral service in this State.

b. The holder of any license issued by the Board who shall fail to renew the same on or before January 31 of the calendar year for which the license is to be renewed shall have forfeited and surrendered the license as of that date. No license forfeited or surrendered pursuant to the preceding sentence shall be reinstated by the Board unless it is shown to the Board that the applicant has, throughout the period of forfeiture, engaged full time in another state of the United States or the District of Columbia in the practice to which his North Carolina license applies and has completed for each such year continuing education substantially equivalent in the opinion of the Board to that required of North Carolina licensees; or has completed in North Carolina a total number of hours of accredited continuing education computed by multiplying five times the number of years of forfeiture; or has passed the North Carolina examination for the forfeited license. No additional resident traineeship shall be required. The applicant shall be required to pay all delinquent annual renewal fees and a reinstatement fee. The Board may waive the provisions of this section for an applicant for a forfeiture which occurred during his service in the armed forces of the United States provided he applies within six months following severance therefrom.

c. All licensees now or hereafter licensed in North Carolina shall take courses of study in subjects relating to the practice of the profession for which they are licensed, to the end that new techniques, scientific and clinical advances, the achievements of research and the benefits of learning and reviewing skills will be utilized and applied to assure proper service to the public.

d. As a prerequisite to the annual renewal of a license, the licensee must complete, during the year immediately preceding renewal, at least five hours of continuing education courses, approved by the Board prior to enrollment. A licensee who completes more than five hours in a year may carry over a maximum of five hours as a credit to the following year's requirement. A licensee who is issued an initial license on or after July 1 does not have to satisfy the continuing education requirement for that year.

e. The Board shall not renew a license unless fulfillment of the continuing education requirement has been certified to it on a form provided by the Board, but the Board may waive this requirement for renewal in cases of certified illness or undue hardship or where the licensee lives outside of North Carolina and does not practice in North Carolina, and the Board shall waive the requirement for all licensees who have been licensed in North Carolina for a continuous period of 25 years or more, and for all licensees who are, at the time of renewal, members of the General Assembly. ~~The waiver for 25-year licensees shall apply only to those licensees who, before January 1, 1998, are licensed, begin a course of study in a mortuary science college or a trainee program, or make an application for a license.~~

f. The Board shall cause to be established and offered to the licensees, each calendar year, at least five hours of continuing education courses in subjects encompassing the license categories of embalming, funeral directing and funeral service. The Board may charge licensees attending these courses a reasonable registration fee in order to meet the expenses thereof and may also meet those expenses from other funds received under the provisions of this Article.

g. Any person who having been previously licensed by the Board as a funeral director or embalmer prior to July 1, 1975, shall not be required to satisfy the requirements herein for licensure as a funeral service licensee, but shall be entitled to have such license renewed upon making proper application therefor and upon payment of the renewal fee provided by the provisions of this Article. Persons previously licensed by the Board as a funeral director may engage in funeral directing, and persons previously licensed by the Board as an embalmer may engage in embalming. Any person having been previously licensed by the Board as both a funeral director and an embalmer may upon application therefor receive a license as a funeral service licensee.

The inactive license is renewable annually. Continuing education is not required for the renewal of an inactive license. The only activity that a holder of an inactive license may engage in is to vote pursuant to G.S. 90-210.18(c)(2). The holder of an inactive license may apply for an active license in the same category, and the Board shall issue an active license if the applicant has completed in North Carolina a total number of hours of accredited continuing education equal to five times the number of years the applicant held the inactive license. No application fee is required for the reinstatement of an active license pursuant to this subsection. The holder of an inactive license who returns to active status shall surrender the inactive license to the Board.

(b) Persons Licensed under the Laws of Other Jurisdictions. –

(1) The Board shall grant licenses to funeral directors, embalmers and funeral service licensees, licensed in other states, territories, the District of Columbia, and foreign countries, when it is shown that the applicant holds a valid license as a funeral director, embalmer or funeral service licensee issued by the other jurisdiction, has demonstrated knowledge of the laws and regulations governing the profession in North Carolina and has submitted proof of his good moral character; and either that the applicant has continuously practiced the profession in the other jurisdiction for at least three years immediately preceding his application, or the Board has determined that the licensing requirements for the other jurisdiction are substantially similar to those of North Carolina.

(2) The Board shall periodically review the mortuary science licensing requirements of other jurisdictions and shall determine which licensing requirements are substantially similar to the requirements of North Carolina.

(3) The Board may issue special permits, to be known as courtesy cards, permitting nonresident funeral directors, embalmers and funeral service licensees to remove bodies from and to arrange and direct funerals and embalm bodies in this State, but these privileges shall not include the right to establish a place of business in or engage generally in the business of funeral directing and embalming in this State. Except for special permits issued by the Board for teaching continuing education programs and for work in connection with disasters, no special permits may be issued to nonresident funeral directors, embalmers, and funeral service licensees from states that do not issue similar courtesy cards to persons licensed in North Carolina pursuant to this Article.

(c) Registration, Filing and Transportation. –

(1) The holder of any license granted by this State for those within the funeral service profession or renewal thereof provided for in this Article shall cause registration to be filed in the office of the board of health of the county or city in which he practices his profession, or if there be no board of health in such county or city, at the office of the clerk of the superior court of such county. (4) Any individual, not otherwise exempt from this subsection, shall apply for and receive a permit from the Board before engaging in the transportation or removal of a dead human body in this State. Unless otherwise exempt from this subsection, no corporation or other business entity shall engage in the transportation or removal of a dead human body unless it has in its employ at least one individual who holds a permit issued under this section. No individual permit holder shall engage in the transportation or removal of a dead human body for more than one person, firm, or corporation without first providing the Board with written notification of the name and physical address of each such employer.

No person licensed under this Article shall remove or cause to be embalmed a dead human body when he or she has information indicating crime or violence of any sort in connection with the cause of death, nor shall a dead human body be cremated, until permission of the State or county medical examiner has first been obtained. However, nothing in this Article shall be construed to alter the duties and authority now vested in the office of the coroner.

No funeral service establishment shall accept a dead human body from any public officer (excluding the State or county medical examiner or his agent), or employee or from the official of any institution, hospital or nursing home, or from a physician or any person having a professional relationship with a decedent, without having first made due inquiry as to the desires of the persons who have the legal authority to direct the disposition of the decedent's body. Any funeral service establishment receiving the remains in violation of this subsection shall make no charge for any service in connection with the remains prior to delivery of the remains as stipulated by the persons having legal authority to direct the disposition of the body. This section shall not prevent any funeral service establishment from charging and being reimbursed for services rendered in connection with the removal of the remains of any deceased person in case of accidental or violent death, and rendering necessary professional services required until the persons having legal authority to direct the disposition of the body have been notified.

When and where a licensee presents a selection of funeral merchandise to the public to be used in connection with the service to be provided by the licensee or an establishment as licensed under this Article, a card or brochure shall be directly associated with each item of merchandise setting forth the price of the service using said merchandise and listing the services and other merchandise included in the price, if any. When there are separate prices for the merchandise and services, such cards or brochures shall indicate the price of the merchandise and of the items separately priced.

At the time funeral arrangements are made and prior to the time of rendering the service and providing the merchandise, a funeral director or funeral service licensee shall give or cause to be given to the person or persons making such arrangements a written statement duly signed by a licensee of said funeral establishment showing the price of the service as selected and what services are included therein, the price of each of the supplemental items of services or merchandise requested, and the amounts involved for each of the items for which the funeral establishment will advance moneys as an accommodation to the person making arrangements, insofar as any of the above items can be specified at that time. The statement shall have printed, typed or stamped on the face thereof: "This statement of disclosure is provided ~~pursuant to~~ under the requirements of North Carolina G.S. 90-210.25(e)."

(f) Unlawful Practices. – If any person shall practice or hold himself out as practicing the profession or art of embalming, funeral directing or practice of funeral service without having complied with the licensing provisions of this Article, he shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(g) Whenever it shall appear to the Board that any person, firm or corporation has violated, threatens to violate or is violating any provisions of this Article, the Board may apply to the courts of the State for a restraining order and injunction to restrain these practices. If upon application the court finds that any provision of this Article is being violated, or a violation is threatened, the court shall issue an order restraining and enjoining the violations, and this relief may be granted regardless of whether criminal prosecution is instituted under the provisions of this subsection. The venue for actions brought under this subsection shall be the superior court of any county in which the acts are alleged to have been committed or in the county where the defendant in the action resides. "

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representatives Weiss and Baddour
Version:	H440-CSSK-10[v.5]	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: This bill is recommended by the North Carolina Board of Mortuary Science. The bill clarifies that applicants seeking to be licensed for the practice of funeral directing or funeral service may attend a college approved by the Board of Mortuary Science or the American Board of Funeral Service Education. The bill sets out regulations regarding the transportation of dead human bodies. The bill increases, decreases, and creates new fees. The bill increases the penalty associated with the removal, suspension, or probationary status of a license to no more than $5000. The bill imposes requirements for the disposition of a preneed funeral fund and the wrapping up of a preneed trust. The bill also staggers the terms of the public members of the Board of Mortuary Science. Finally, the bill makes numerous technical and conforming changes. This act becomes effective July 1, 2001.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. Section 1 of the bill clarifies that licensed members of the Board of Mortuary Science (the Board) have full voting authority. This is the current practice. In addition, this section makes several technical changes.

Section 2. Section 2 changes the term "funeral service profession" to "funeral service" and makes several technical changes.

Section 3. Section 3 makes several technical changes and the following substantive changes:

- Clarifies that applicants seeking to be licensed for the practice of funeral directing or funeral service may attend a college approved by the Board OR a college approved by the American Board of Funeral Service Education.
- Changes the measurement used to determine how many resident trainees (persons training to become licensed in the practice of funeral directing, embalming, or funeral service) are permitted to be registered at a funeral establishment. The measurement is currently the number of funerals conducted by the funeral establishment and this bill allows the measurement to be the number of families served by the funeral establishment.
- Regulation of the Transportation of Dead Human Bodies. Currently, there are no regulations regarding the transportation of a dead human body (except the moving of the body from the funeral home to the burial site). This bill would require for-hire transporters of human dead bodies to obtain a permit to transport and remove dead human bodies. The bill sets out the requirements and fees for obtaining a permit.
  Semi-Exempt Individuals. The following individuals are exempt from all statutory requirements regarding the transportation of human dead bodies except rule-based requirements and the requirements that they must (1) transport the body in a vehicle where the public cannot view the body, (2) cover the body and move the body on a stretcher or in a casket or container designed for common carrier transport, (3) not use profanity, indecent, or obscene language in the presence of the body, and (4) not take photographs or video recordings of the body without the consent of a family member:

Funeral directors, embalmers, and funeral service providers and their employees, common carrier employees, State employees, local government employees, and funeral directors licensed in another state and their employees.

Exempt Individuals. The following individuals are completely exempt from all statutory and rule-based requirements regarding the transportation of human dead bodies:

Emergency medical technicians, rescue squad workers, volunteer and paid firemen, law enforcement officers, employees of public or private hospitals, nursing homes, or long-term care facilities, State and county medical examiners and their investigators, individuals transporting cremated remains or removing a dead human body of their immediate family or next of kin, and any individual who has exhibited special care and concern for the decedent.

Non-Exempt Individuals. All others not listed above (such a private, for-hire persons in the business of moving human dead bodies) must comply with all statutory and rule-based requirements regulating the transportation of dead humans bodies. Anyone who engages in the business of transportation of human dead bodies without a permit is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

The Board's Authority. This bill gives the Board rule-making authority with regard to the transportation of human dead bodies and allows the Board to take disciplinary action when the statutes or rules regarding the transportation of human dead bodies are violated. The Board can inspect vehicles and places used in the process of transporting dead human bodies.

- Under current law, where the Board is entitled to suspend, revoke, or renew a license for violation of the statutes or rules, the Board may accept a penalty of not more than $1000 in lieu of disciplinary action. This bill would increase the penalty to not more than $5000. The increase also applies to cases where the Board may place a licensee on probation. Section 11 of the bill also sets out the increase in penalty and provides a list of factors the Board must consider prior to determining the amount of the penalty.

Section 4. Public Health Laws and Rules. Currently, it is unclear whether funeral establishments are subject to the rules, for example, of their local county health departments. Section 4 clarifies that funeral establishments are subject to county health department rules and the Board's rules.

Section 5. Increase/Decrease Fees and Creation of New Fees. Section 5:

- Decreases an "establishment's annual renewal permit fee" from $175 to $150,
- Replaces the "reinspection fee" with the "establishment and embalming facility inspection fee",
- Decreases the "annual renewal fee for embalmers or funeral directors" from $50 to $40 ($60 if licenses for both are held by the same person),
- Decreases the "annual renewal fee for a funeral service license holder" from $100 to $60.
- Creates a new "inactive status" fee (set at $50), a new "change in supervisor" fee (set at $50), and a new "chapel registration late renewal" fee (set at $75).

Section 6. Section 6 repeals G.S. 90-210.29(b), which has become obsolete as it applies to student identification cards that are no longer utilized.

Section 7. Section 7 makes technical change only.

Section 8. Section 8 clarifies that the term "money" means cash only and not any other form of payment.

Section 9. Preneed Funeral Fund. Under current law, when the balance of a preneed funeral is payable to the estate of a deceased preneed funeral contract beneficiary and there is no representative of the estate, the balance due is paid to clerk of superior court. This bill would allow balances payable to the estate that are $100 or less to be paid directly to the beneficiary or beneficiaries of the estate instead of the clerk of superior court.

Preneed Contract. Section 9 also states the requirements that must be completed within 30 days of fulfilling the provisions of a preneed contract. These requirements include: (1) submitting a certificate of performance to the financial institution holding the trust and closing the account, (2) distributing the proceeds of the trust according to the provisions of the preneed contract, and (3) filing a certificate of performance with the Board.

Section 10. Section 10 repeals a portion of the statute used to facilitate the transfer of the preneed functions and oversight from the North Carolina Commissioner of Banks to the Board. The transition is complete and the language is no longer necessary.

Section 11. See Section 3 explanation above.

Section 12. Section 12 is uncodified language that creates staggered terms for the three public members of the Board.

(b1) Any traffic control photographic system installed on a street or highway must be identified by appropriate advance warning signs conspicuously posted not more than 300 feet from the location of the traffic control photographic system. All advance warning signs shall be consistent with a statewide standard adopted by the Department of Transportation in conjunction with local governments authorized to install traffic control photographic systems.

(c) Municipalities may adopt ordinances for the civil enforcement of G.S. 20-158 by means of a traffic control photographic system, as described in subsection (a) of this section. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 20-176, in the event that a municipality adopts an ordinance pursuant to this section, a violation of G.S. 20-158 at a location at which a traffic control photographic system is in operation shall not be an infraction. An ordinance authorized by this subsection shall provide that:

(1) The owner of a vehicle shall be responsible for a violation unless the owner can furnish evidence that the vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person. The owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation if the owner of the vehicle, within 21 days after notification of the violation, furnishes the officials or agents of the municipality which issued the citation:
   a. The name and address of the person or company who leased, rented, or otherwise had the care, custody, and control of the vehicle; or
   b. An affidavit stating that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen or in the care, custody, or control of some person who did not have permission of the owner to use the vehicle.

(2) A violation detected by a traffic control photographic system shall be deemed a noncriminal violation for which a civil penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be assessed, and for which no points authorized by G.S. 20-16(c) shall be assigned to the owner or driver of the vehicle nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65.

(3) The owner of the vehicle shall be issued a citation which shall clearly state the manner in which the violation may be challenged, and the owner shall comply with the directions on the citation. The citation shall be processed by officials or agents of the municipality and shall be forwarded by personal service or first-class mail to the address given on the motor vehicle registration. If the owner fails to pay the civil penalty or to respond to the citation within the time period specified on the citation, the owner shall have waived the right to contest responsibility for the violation, and shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00). The municipality may establish procedures for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt.

(4) The municipality shall institute a nonjudicial administrative hearing to review objections to citations or penalties issued or assessed under this section.

(d) This act applies to the Cities of Charlotte, Fayetteville, Greensboro, High Point, Rocky Mount, Wilmington, Greenville, and Lumberton, and the Towns of Chapel Hill, Cornelius, Huntersville, Matthews, and Pineville only. Smile, Red-Light Runners . . . You're on Automated Camera

Randy Jay Harrington

The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety estimates that more than 800 deaths occur annually as a result of red-light running (RLR).[1] Further, the Insurance Institute reports that the number of fatal crashes at intersections with traffic signals (signalized intersections) increased by 24 percent from 1992 to 1997. A 1990–91 study of urban police reports indicated that 22 percent of all urban crashes resulted from the drivers' running traffic controls. Of these, 24 percent involved their running red lights.[2]

With police resources declining in relation to the number of vehicles on the road, local officials around the country have begun exploring the use of cameras to detect traffic signal violators.[3] In 1993, New York City became the first U.S. jurisdiction to place cameras at selected intersections in order to reduce RLR. Now, close to fifty cities in ten states operate 250 cameras in programs enforcing the requirement that drivers stop at red lights (red-light photo enforcement programs, for short). Camera suppliers predict that the number of operating cameras will double annually.[4]

Arizona and California are the only states that regard the camera-caught red-light violation as a criminal moving violation, subject to fines and license and insurance points. For points to be assessed, which could lead to revocation of a person's license and higher insurance rates, cities in Arizona and California must clearly identify the driver. Therefore they must produce a frontal photo of the driver and identify the license plate.

At a SafeLight intersection in Charlotte, a camera mounted atop a 15-foot pole is activated when a vehicle runs a red light.

Other states, including North Carolina, authorize municipalities to impose a civil penalty only, with no assessment of driver's license points. Therefore they require photographic verification of the license plate only, usually from the rear of the vehicle. In North Carolina a civil penalty citation is issued to the vehicle's registered owner. If it is not paid, the municipality issuing the citation may institute a civil action to collect the penalty.

This article summarizes the experience of Charlotte, North Carolina, in establishing and operating a red-light photo enforcement program, which it calls *Safe*Light Charlotte. The program appears to have reduced the number of RLR violations and associated crashes at *Safe*Light intersections.[5] The city also has gained revenue from increased enforcement of red-light violations.

At each of Charlotte's intersections using red-light photo enforcement, called *Safe*Light intersections, there are at least two electric-wire loops per lane of travel buried in the pavement, a 35-millimeter camera atop a 15-foot pole, and a control box near the sidewalk that coordinates the traffic light with the loops and the camera. When the light turns red and after a .03-second grace period, the system becomes active. Once it does, a vehicle traveling more than 15 miles per hour triggers the loops (located directly in front of the painted, white stop bar).[6] This causes the camera to take a rear photograph of the vehicle showing the light in its red phase and verifying that the light turned red before the vehicle entered the intersection. A second rear photograph then captures the vehicle in the intersection during the red phase.[7]

The automated camera takes two photos of the vehicle and the light, one before the vehicle enters the intersection, and one after. Above, the second photo, with relevant data superimposed: "17 04" is the time of the violation; "28-08-98," the date it occurred; "0.67," the elapsed time between the two photos; "R 0.57," the total elapsed time of the red phase at the time of the second photo (here, .57 seconds); "014," the violation number on the camera film; and "V = 30," the vehicle speed.

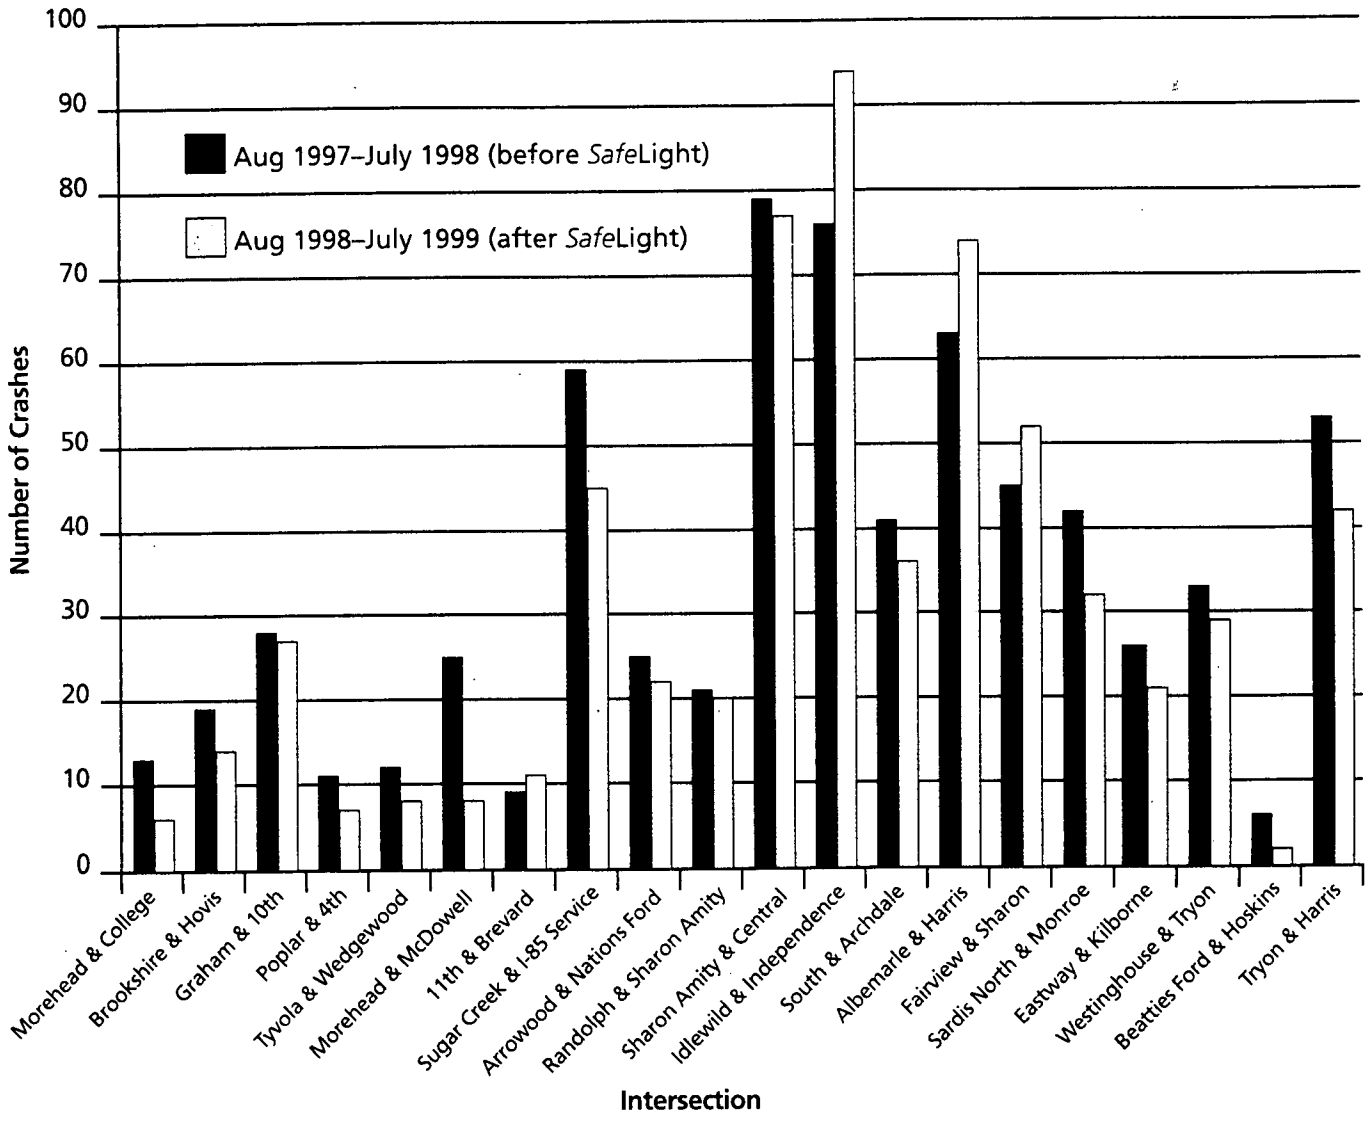
Charlotte's ranking among North Carolina urban jurisdictions for number of vehicle crashes rose from eighteenth in 1996 to first in 1998.[8] In 1996, 34 percent of Charlotte's vehicle crashes were attributed to RLR.[9] Further, 49 percent of the crashes at the 179 signalized intersections on Charlotte's 1998 list of high-accident locations (HAL)[10] resulted from RLR.[11]

Citizen concern matched crash statistics. Seventy-six percent of the city's residents believed RLR to be a major safety hazard,[12] and the media reported alarming incidences of RLR in the city.[13] RLR even became a frequent topic on morning radio.

The statistics and the public concern drew the attention of Charlotte's city council, police department, and department of transportation. Led by the latter, these groups determined that photo enforcement offered the most effective and easiest method for reducing RLR and RLR–associated crashes.

How did Charlotte obtain authorization for its plan?



Before engaging in red-light photo enforcement, jurisdictions must obtain enabling legislation from both the General Assembly and their local governing bodies. In 1997 the General Assembly passed Section 160A-300.1 of the North Carolina General Statutes (hereinafter G.S.). The initial version of the statute applied to Charlotte only, authorizing the city to engage in this form of enforcement activity if the activity also was authorized by local ordinance and complied with the requirements set forth in the statute (described later). Since then, the statute has been amended to extend this authority to several more cities and towns, as well as to clarify the requirements for use of the technique.[14]

To obtain state and local authorization, Charlotte took seven steps. First, managers in the Charlotte Department of Transportation (CDOT) obtained the approval of their department head. Second, CDOT secured approval of the city manager. Third, CDOT presented the city council with statistics and information about the need for red-light photo enforcement. The council unanimously supported the idea and authorized CDOT to pursue state approval. Fourth, before approaching the legislature, CDOT worked with AAA Carolinas and local media to educate the public on the reasons for pursuing red-light photo enforcement (as opposed to increasing traditional enforcement). Fifth, CDOT took the proposal to Mecklenburg County's state legislative delegation. Sixth, the delegation presented the proposal to the General Assembly, which approved it through enactment of G.S. 160A-300.1. Finally, the city council enacted an ordinance establishing the *Safe*Light program. Two years elapsed from inception of the idea to operation of the first camera.

What concerns were expressed about red-light photo enforcement?

Several issues framed the debate about red-light photo enforcement. Most notably, critics argued that the cameras would invade people's privacy. Concerns about rising RLR violations overrode this argument,[15] although the legislature included a requirement that signs be posted at all camera-equipped intersections notifying approaching motorists of the cameras.

Critics also argued that government should not penalize the vehicle's owner and assess insurance points against him or her without proof that the owner was driving the vehicle. In response, the legislature classified an RLR violation detected by photographic means as a civil nonmoving offense, punishable by a $50 penalty only. In contrast, if RLR is detected by a law enforcement officer, it is a moving violation, carrying a $25 fine, $90 in court costs, and an assessment of points against the driver's license. A vehicle's owner may avoid liability for the civil nonmoving violation by signing an affidavit identifying the actual driver at the time of the violation.

In North Carolina, criminal motor vehicle fines go to the schools.[16] However, because camera-caught RLR is characterized as a civil offense, the *Safe*Light program is able to retain all the resulting revenue.[17] In response to the concerns of some citizens that the program was simply a government money-making scheme, Charlotte officials emphasized that the program's goal was to reduce the number of crashes and deaths at intersections, thus making Charlotte a safer community. The monetary penalties were to serve as a mechanism for altering people's driving habits.[18] Charlotte officials also emphasized that the police did not possess the resources to increase traditional enforcement at Charlotte intersections. Cameras, in contrast, could monitor intersections twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.

Charlotte contracted out the daily operations and management of the *Safe*Light program, and some critics argued that the involvement of a private, for-profit company created a conflict of interest. Camera proponents countered that the public-private partnership had the benefit of imposing no new tax burden while producing additional local government revenue. Proponents also argued that any potential abuses would be held in check by a neutral, third-party appeal process.[19]

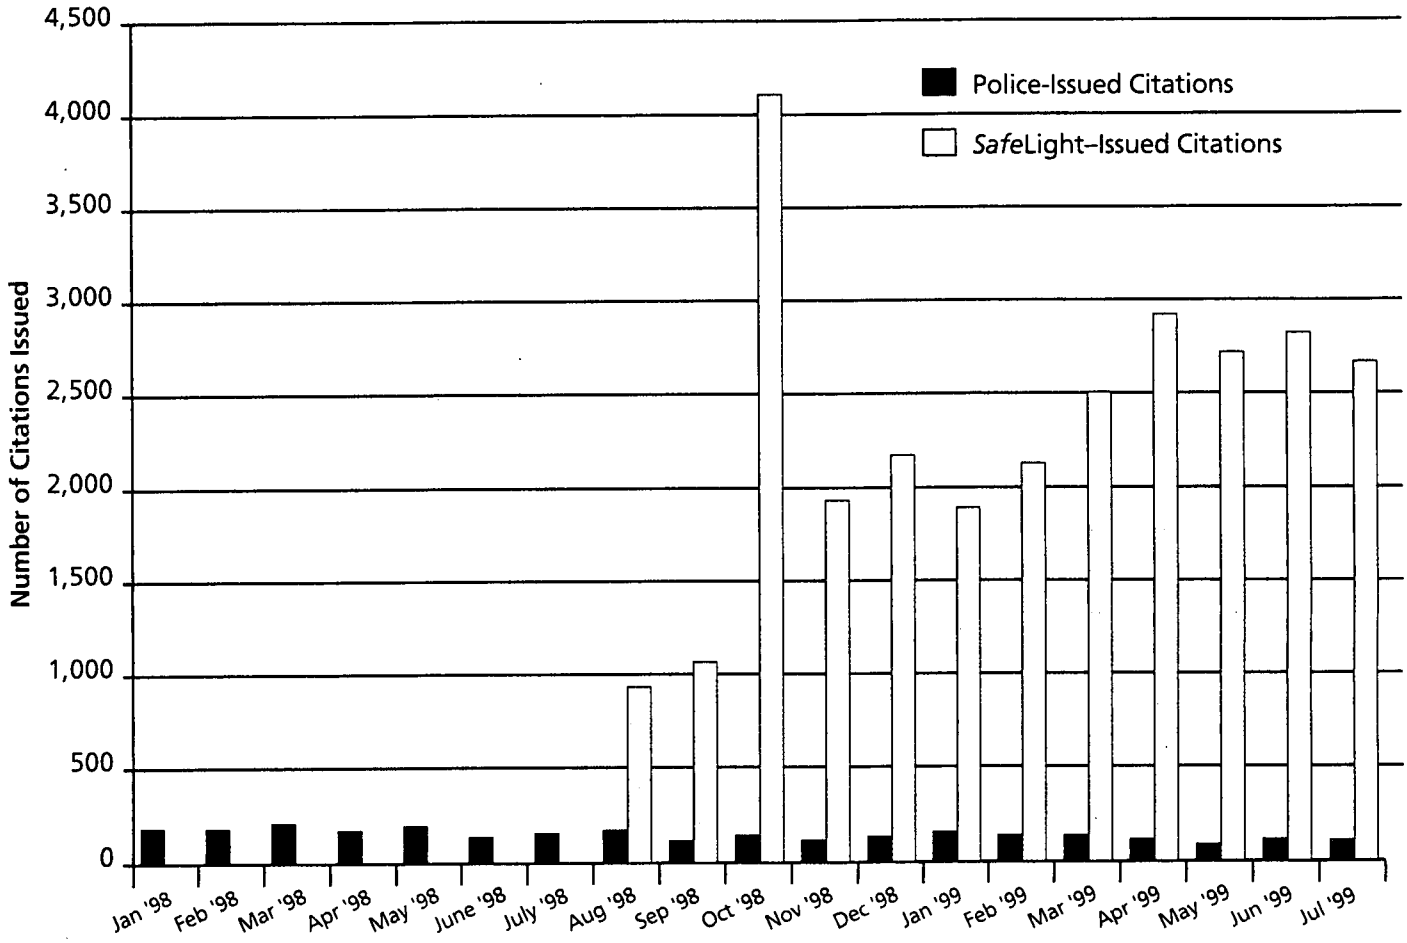
How has Charlotte implemented the SafeLight program?

Lockheed Martin IMS (IMS) operates the *Safe*Light program under a contractual arrangement. One city employee oversees the program and conducts its public relations. IMS employs nine people full-time and two people part-time to operate the project.[20] Technicians service the cameras daily and remove the used film. The film is then scanned into a computer and analyzed to verify picture integrity and license plate numbers. A verified license plate number is then checked against North Carolina Division of Motor Vehicle (DMV) records to identify the vehicle's owner.[21] After IMS obtains a positive DMV verification, it mails a citation to the owner. The citation includes an explanation of the violation, a description of the location of the intersection, a photo of the vehicle's license plate, and a photo of the vehicle in the intersection during the light's red phase.



The steps just described occur within forty-eight hours of the violation. If the violator fails to respond, IMS issues a Failure to Comply notice. If the violator still fails to respond, IMS turns the citation over to a collection agency, and an attorney sends a notice to the vehicle's owner.

What have been the results?

*Safe*Light began issuing citations in August 1998. By October 1998 the number of *Safe*Light intersections had grown from 2 to 22. By April 2000, 32—now 30 because of removal of two cameras during road construction—of Charlotte's 572 intersections were equipped to use cameras. Twenty intersections have permanent cameras, while two cameras rotate among the remaining 10 intersections. *Safe*Light reports the following results for August 1997 through July 1999 (except as noted):[22]

- Citywide, the number of crashes increased 5.7 percent.
- *Safe*Light intersections experienced a 9.1 percent decrease in the number of crashes (see Figure 1).
- The number of crashes on approaches toward the camera decreased 27.1 percent.

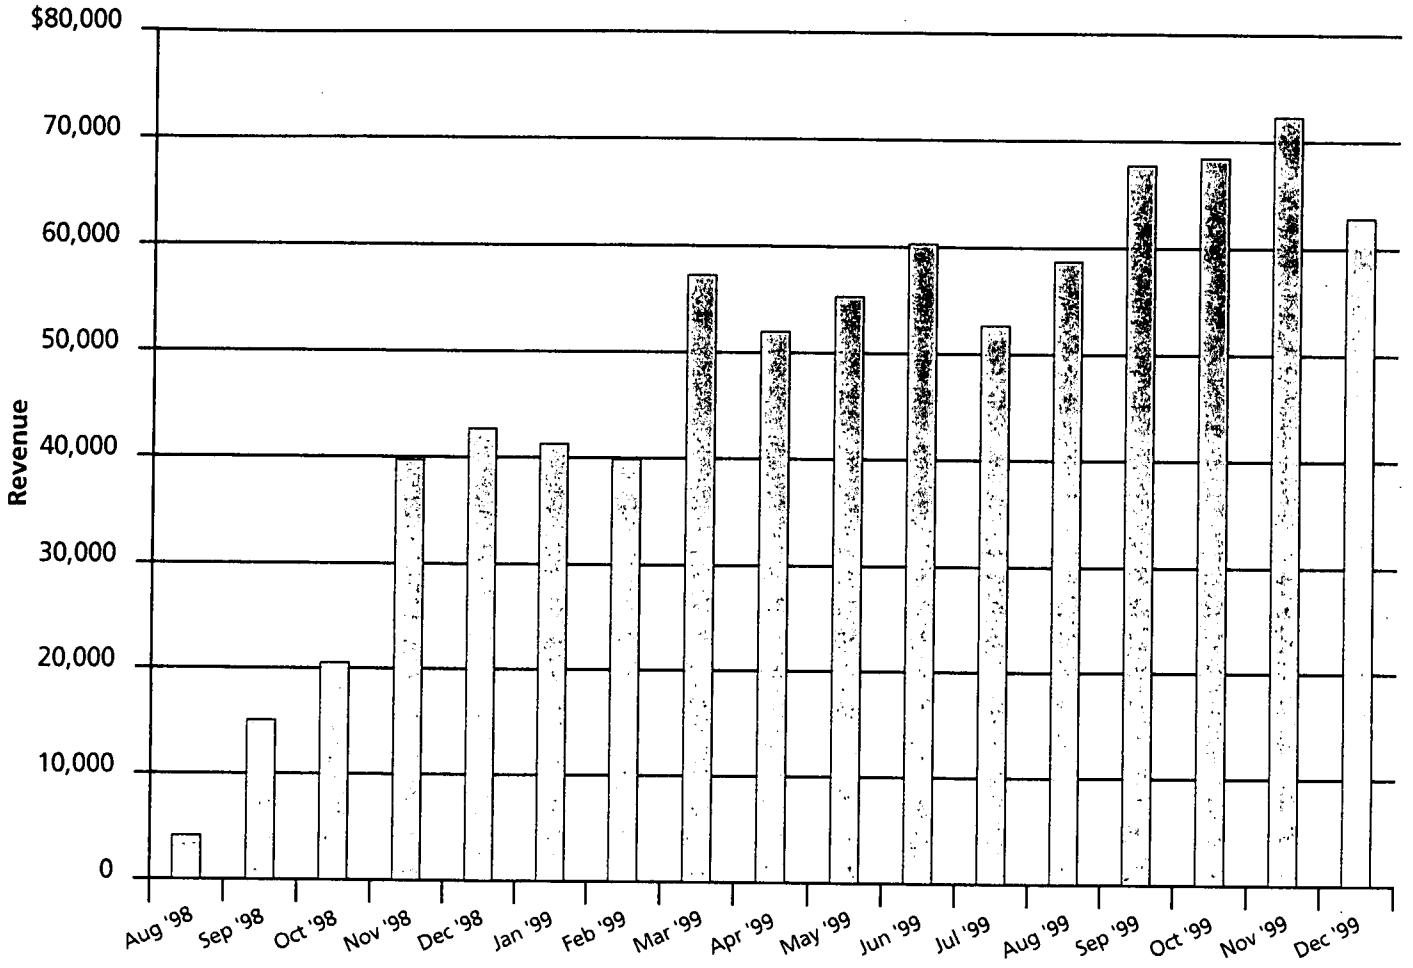
Source: Data for police-issued citations from Personal Interview with Capt. Larry Blydenburgh, Head of Highway Interdiction and Traffic Safety, Charlotte Police Dep't (Jan. 21, 2000); data for *Safe*Light–issued citations from CHARLOTTE DEP'T OF TRANSP., SAFELIGHT FIRST-YEAR REPORT 5 (Charlotte, N.C.: *Safe*Light Program, CDOT, Fall 1999).

- The number of RLR–associated crashes decreased 19.3 percent at *Safe*Light intersections (see Figure 2, page 43).
- Severity per crash decreased 27.1 percent at *Safe*Light intersections.[23]
- At eight *Safe*Light intersections studied in August 1999, RLR decreased 93.0 percent.[24]

Spillover effects on non–*Safe*Light intersections have not been determined. However, examination of statistics on a random sample of three *Safe*Light and three non–*Safe*Light intersections suggests that Charlotte has yet to experience a reduction in RLR–associated crashes at non–*Safe*Light intersections.



*Safe*Light has produced a far higher number of citations than has traditional enforcement. In 1999 the city processed 1,420 citations issued in the traditional manner. In *Safe*Light's first year of operation (August 1998–July 1999), it issued 27,870 citations (see Figure 3). The recipients of 369 of these citations filed for an administrative hearing, and 62 (17 percent) had their citations dismissed. In the second year of operation, 46,199 citations were issued. Four hundred thirty-four recipients filed for an administrative hearing, and of those, 68 (16 percent) had their citations dismissed.

According to the Charlotte Police Department's traffic unit director, it takes an officer twelve to thirteen minutes to apprehend a red-light violator and issue an RLR citation.[25] At *Safe*Light intersections alone, the decrease in the number of crashes allowed the Charlotte police to save, or reallocate, approximately fifty-nine enforcement hours during the program's first year. A Charlotte police official predicts that, in the long run, fewer intersection crashes will reduce workloads and allow officers to address other police needs.[26]

The *Safe*Light program is financed entirely by citation revenue. Under the contractual arrangement, Charlotte receives $22 (44 percent) of each $50 RLR citation.[27] The rest goes to the contractor, IMS. During *Safe*Light's first year, penalties totaled $1.39 million. IMS collected $1.06 million of that. It received $611,522, Charlotte $447,835. *Safe*Light collected $2.1 million in penalties during the 1999–2000 operating year.[28] Of this amount, $889,108 went to Charlotte, $1.2 million to IMS. After boosting the number of cameras from two to twenty-two in October 1998, Charlotte's first-year monthly revenue averaged $52,787 (see Figure 4).

The capital costs to implement the *Safe*Light program are considerable but are borne by the contractor. (It would be incorrect, however, to say that there were no costs to Charlotte to implement the *Safe*Light program. Significant staff time was required from CDOT and the City Attorney's Office to get the program established and operating.) According to IMS, the equipment and installation costs per intersection in Charlotte average $72,000, which includes a $50,000 camera. IMS also spent approximately $55,000 in *Safe*Light's first year to mail notices to violators. IMS's mailing costs rose to approximately $86,000 in fiscal year 1999–2000 because of an increase in the volume of citations. Additionally, personnel, data center, and other administrative expenses exceed $1 million annually.[29]

According to IMS's project manager of municipal services in Charlotte, the company has yet to turn a profit. But considering that it received $611,522 in its first year of operation (1998–99) and $1.2 million in its second year, and it estimates receipts of $1.6 million in 2000–2001,[30] the project manager expects *Safe*Light to become profitable within the next couple of years.[31]

Other red-light photo enforcement programs in the United States have experienced similar reductions in RLR and associated crashes.[32] The U.S. Federal Highway Administration predicts that RLR camera programs will result in a reduction in RLR violations of 20 to 60 percent.[33]

However, caution is in order when interpreting violation and crash results. First, the number of violations may or may not be related to the number and the severity of collisions. Second, the results cited may or may not be the result of controlled, scientific studies.[34] Although initial results are promising, concrete findings require additional data and analysis over longer periods of time.

What recommendations do research and experience suggest for other local governments?

The literature on RLR and interviews with CDOT officials, IMS personnel, and the Mecklenburg County legislative delegation suggest that photo enforcement can reduce RLR violations and associated crashes. Following are eight recommendations for optimizing red-light photo enforcement programs:

1. Impose a civil penalty only. Imposing driver's license points on drivers who run red lights requires positive driver identification and thus the need for an additional, frontal camera. Sun visors and rear-view mirrors, sun glare, and the wearing of sunglasses and hats hamper positive driver identification. Research indicates that RLR citation rates (the number of citations issued to violators in relation to the total number of recorded violations on film) vary from 13 to 30 percent in jurisdictions that classify RLR as a moving violation.[35] Such low rates reduce a program's ability to achieve its goals and support itself financially.[36] Therefore, North Carolina's enabling legislation, which authorizes local governments to impose only a civil penalty for RLR violations detected by camera, appears to be the most prudent course.

In the first year of operation, Charlotte's SafeLight intersections experienced a 9.1 percent reduction in the number of crashes overall, a 19.3 percent reduction in the number of RLR–associated crashes, and a 27.1 percent reduction in the number of crashes on the camera approach.

2. Conduct a public information and education campaign. An effective campaign is critical to obtaining support for a red-light photo enforcement program and for the program's continued success. In fact, the U.S. Federal Highway Administration identifies this as the most critical issue.[37] Citizen support can be garnered through early and frequent dissemination of information regarding the need for automated enforcement and the results of automated camera use. Media support also can be pursued as a means of gaining citizen support. As a program's first camera-equipped intersections begin operation, an element of the public information and education campaign might be a period of one or two months during which only warning tickets are issued.

3. Consider contracting out program operation. I was not able to determine as part of my study whether contracting out the *Safe*Light program has been wiser financially for Charlotte than operating it in-house. Clearly, though, the public-private partnership has produced revenue for Charlotte. Contractual arrangements have two major benefits. First, contractors specializing in this field enjoy technological advantages over most local government staffs. Second, contracting simplifies abandonment should the program fail to achieve expected results.[38]

4. Choose appropriate intersections. Initially, Charlotte placed all its cameras at HAL (high-accident location) intersections. However, Charlotte learned that HAL intersections are not necessarily intersections that experience high numbers of red-light runners. In fact, research only tentatively supports using HAL intersections as camera locations; more definitive research is needed. Other factors to consider when choosing a red-light camera intersection include number of right-angle crashes, police reports, citizen complaints, number of RLR violations, and specific intersection studies. Also, planners should keep in mind that RLR problems may be the result of poorly designed intersections, poor sight lines to the traffic light, or poor timing of traffic-light phases. Interestingly, research warns against relying on traffic volume to determine camera locations. Instead, potential camera locations should be chosen on the basis of the estimated or actual number of RLR violations occurring at particular intersections.[39]

5. Use more than the legally required number of roadway signs to notify the public of red-light photo enforcement. Although Charlotte's cameras monitor only one approach to an intersection, all four approaches at a *Safe*Light intersection display warning signs within 300 feet of the intersection. This is mandated by the statute authorizing red-light photo enforcement.[40] Additionally, Charlotte posts warning signs on major roadways at the city limits. Howard County, Maryland, posts warning signs on freeways and other major highways leading into the county but not at specific intersections. New York City posts no warning signs. Charlotte's and Howard County's approach of posting signs at the city and county limits would seem to increase the visibility of the program and to encourage safe driving habits at all intersections, rather than at the camera-equipped intersections alone. North Carolina cities and towns should post warning signs according to the requirements of G.S. 160A-300.1 and consider posting additional signs at major streets leading into the city or the town, to increase the program's visibility and its spin-off value in reducing RLR violations and associated crashes at noncamera intersections.

6. Prepare for success. Charlotte administrators recommend performing extra homework, including site visits to other operating programs, to learn about camera technology and its record of success and failure. Elected officials, citizens, and city supervisors are more apt to support a red-light photo enforcement program when time is taken to inform them of the requirements and the potential results of such a tool.[41]

7. Budget time wisely. There will be significant time requirements in three areas. First, some time will have to be spent at the state legislature: legislative approval is not pro forma. Second, marketing the idea to the media and the public should be a continuing effort. Third, sufficient time should be allowed for the process of requesting proposals from potential contractors. Charlotte's process took nine months and proved challenging. The process should allow extra time for planners to understand and evaluate the proposals and for prospective contractors to demonstrate their experience in operating a fully functioning system.

8. Consider using digital cameras. Digital cameras offer significant benefits over 35-millimeter cameras. They capture higher resolution photos and allow photos to be sent electronically from the intersection's camera directly to the program's main computers. This eliminates the need for film removal and developing, and that in turn reduces time and personnel needs.

Conclusion

Since the introduction of red-light photo enforcement in the United States in 1993, the technology has shown promising results in reducing the number of RLR violations and associated crashes. Additionally, jurisdictions have gained valuable experience operating successful programs. In the first year of operation, Charlotte's *Safe*Light intersections experienced a 9.1 percent reduction in the number of crashes overall, a 19.3 percent reduction in the number of RLR–associated crashes, and a 27.1 percent reduction in the number of crashes on the camera approach. A study of eight *Safe*Light intersections revealed an RLR reduction of 93 percent. Without reliance on additional taxpayer support, Charlotte received $447,835 in new revenue from penalties assessed during the program's first year. Initial results suggest that the *Safe*Light program is achieving its goal of creating a safer Charlotte by improving highway safety at signalized intersections.[42]

The pretest determined that motorists ran red lights 875 times. A test conducted after camera installation revealed that the number of violations at the same eight intersections decreased to 58 over a twenty-four-hour period.

25. Court appearance time and other forms of down time were excluded from the calculation. Traditional enforcement by a single officer also can be difficult and dangerous. The officer must be able to see the vehicle, the stop bar, and the traffic signal clearly at the same time. In apprehending a red-light violator, the officer may have to pursue the violator through the red phase, thus endangering himself or herself, other motorists, and pedestrians. Karl A. Passetti, Use of Automated Enforcement for Red Light Violations, in COMPENDIUM: GRADUATE STUDENT PAPERS ON ADVANCED SURFACE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS, at J-5 through J-6 (College Station: Texas Transp. Inst., Aug. 1997).

26. Captain Larry Blydenburgh, head of Highway Interdiction and Traffic Safety for the Charlotte Police Department, estimated that an officer spends one hour performing professional duties at a typical RLR crash scene and filing subsequent paperwork. Personal Interview with Capt. Larry Blydenburgh, Head of Highway Interdiction and Traffic Safety, Charlotte Police Dep't (Jan. 21, 2000). This article does not examine the monetary costs associated with traditional red-light enforcement in Charlotte. However, a 1997 report found that in Howard County, Maryland, traditional, team-oriented red-light enforcement cost $25.40 per citation. Passetti, Use of Automated Enforcement, at J-30.

27. If it issues fewer than 35,000 citations per year, IMS receives $28 of each $50 citation. If it issues more than 35,000 but fewer than 60,000 citations per year, it receives an extra $4 per citation (applicable only to the number between 35,000 and 60,000). If it issues more than 60,000 citations per year, it earns an extra $1.50 per citation (applicable only to the number over 60,000). If the penalty is not paid or appealed within twenty-one days, a $50 late penalty is charged. IMS collects $23 of each $50 late penalty, CDOT $27. However, if a violator does not pay until a third notice is sent, IMS receives $76 of the total $100 charge, and CDOT $24.

31. Personal Interview with Johnnie Fogg, Project Manager of Mun. Serv., Lockheed Martin IMS (Dec. 16, 1999). According to John Veneziano, Director of Public Works for Fairfax, Virginia, the city's three-camera Photo Red Light Program returned a profit after fifteen months. As of December 1999, Fairfax had paid $831,380.00 in total contractual costs, and the city's net revenue totaled $131,819.70. Fairfax contracts out the intersection installation, camera maintenance, and film developing. The police department reviews the photo violations, mails the citations, handles customer service, and supports the appeals process. Personal Interview with Veneziano (Jan. 24, 2000). I did not audit IMS's cost figures. However, the approximate $50,000 purchase price for each of Charlotte's Gatsometer 35-millimeter cameras is consistent with prices charged for such high-speed/high-resolution cameras. Research by Hummer et al. found that in Howard County, Maryland, installation of the pavement loops and the poles for the camera cost between $3,000 and $7,000. Significant price differences can exist among types of cameras (35-millimeter and digital) and types of vehicle detectors (air tubes, inductive loops, earth magnetic loops, piezoelectric strips, video loops, and laser). HUMMER ET AL., TRAFFIC SIGNAL ENFORCEMENT INNOVATIONS FOR NORTH CAROLINA 24 (Report submitted to the North Carolina Governor's Highway Safety Program, Raleigh: North Carolina State Univ., Oct. 29, 1999).

32. Fairfax, Virginia's violation rate across camera and noncamera intersections had decreased by approximately 40 percent one year after photo enforcement began. Richard A. Retting et al., Evaluation of Red Light Camera Enforcement in Fairfax, Va., USA, ITE [INSTITUTE OF TRAFFIC ENGINEERS] JOURNAL, Aug. 1999, at 30. In Oxnard, California, the violation rate across camera and noncamera intersections decreased by approximately 42 percent. Richard A. UNITED STATES DEP'T OF TRANSP., SYNTHESIS AND EVALUATION OF RED LIGHT RUNNING AUTOMATED ENFORCEMENT PROGRAMS IN THE UNITED STATES, FHWA-IF-00-004 at 17 (Washington, D.C.: Federal Highway Admin., Sept. 1999). San Francisco experienced a 42 percent reduction in violation rates during a six-month pilot program. Preliminary crash data suggested that the cameras in San Francisco reduced citywide crashes and injuries by red-light runners. HUMMER ET AL., TRAFFIC SIGNAL, at 24. Howard County, Maryland, experienced a 23 percent reduction in the number of RLR violations. Passetti, Use of Automated Enforcement, at J-30.

36. Brett Vines (current *Safe*Light director) and Randy Jones (former manager of public service for CDOT) both posit that categorizing an automated enforcement RLR violation as a civil nonmoving violation produces just as good results (in reductions in RLR violations and associated crashes), if not better, than making the offense a (more punishable) moving violation. SECTION 1. G.S. 160A-300.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-300.1. Use of traffic control photographic systems.

(a) A traffic control photographic system is an electronic system consisting of a photographic, video, or electronic camera and a vehicle sensor installed to work in conjunction with an official traffic control device to automatically produce photographs, video, or digital images of each vehicle violating a standard traffic control statute or ordinance.

(b) Any traffic control photographic system or any device which is a part of that system, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, installed on a street or highway which is a part of the State highway system shall meet requirements established by the North Carolina Department of Transportation. Any traffic control system installed on a municipal street shall meet standards established by the municipality and shall be consistent with any standards set by the Department of Transportation.

All advance warning signs shall be consistent with a statewide standard adopted by the Department of Transportation in conjunction with local governments authorized to install traffic control photographic systems.

(c) Municipalities may adopt ordinances for the civil enforcement of G.S. 20-158 by means of a traffic control photographic system, as described in subsection (a) of this section. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 20-176, in the event that a municipality adopts an ordinance pursuant to this section, a violation of G.S. 20-158 at a location at which a traffic control photographic system is in operation shall not be an infraction. An ordinance authorized by this subsection shall provide that:

(1) The owner of a vehicle shall be responsible for a violation unless the owner can furnish evidence that the vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person. The owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation if the owner of the vehicle, within 21 days after receiving notification of the violation, furnishes the ~~officials or agents~~ office of the mayor of the municipality which issued the citation:

   b. An affidavit stating that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen or in the care, custody, or control of some person who did not have permission of the owner to use the vehicle.

by G.S. 20-16(c) shall be assigned to the owner or driver of the vehicle nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65.

(3) The owner of the vehicle shall be issued a citation ~~which~~ that shall be attached to photographic evidence of the violation and identifying the vehicle involved, and that shall clearly state the manner in which the violation may be challenged, and the owner shall comply with the directions on the citation. The citation shall be processed by officials or agents of the municipality and shall be forwarded by personal service or first-class mail to the address given on the motor vehicle registration. If the owner fails to pay the civil penalty or to respond to the citation within the time period specified on the citation, the owner shall have waived the right to contest responsibility for the violation, and shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00). The municipality may establish procedures for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt.

(4) The municipality shall institute a nonjudicial administrative hearing to review objections to citations or penalties issued or assessed under this ~~section.~~section with the final decision on any objections to be made by the mayor of the municipality.

(d) ~~This act applies to the Cities of Charlotte, Fayetteville, Greensboro, High Point, Rocky Mount, Wilmington, Greenville, and Lumberton, and the Towns of Chapel Hill, Cornelius, Huntersville, Matthews, and Pineville only.~~Municipalities having populations under 50,000 may use traffic control photographic systems at no more than two intersections within the municipality. Municipalities having populations of 50,000 and over may use traffic control photographic systems at no more than two intersections within the municipality, and at one additional intersection for every additional 50,000 persons living in the municipality.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and then called for consideration of the following bills:

Red Light Cameras. Rep. Baddour asked the members of the committee for input on this issue. He set forth the bills and the options before the committee. The use of funds raised by red light camera ticketing was discussed, as was the benefits of the model that has previously been established in Charlotte. Rep. Ellis discussed his proposal for Wake County that would allow for mayoral review and would use the revenue for education. After much discussion and debate from the committee, Rep. Haire suggested that all those cities that would like to follow the Charlotte model be included in one bill, all of the Wake County cities be included in one bill, and that a bill establishing a statewide model also be created. Rep. Pope suggested that a study committee be established to look into this issue. The committee heard remarks from David Lawrence of the Institute of Government and Andy Romanet of the League of Municipalities. Comments from the committee continued, and no action was taken.

SENATE BILL 243:
Red Light Cameras/Certain Municipalities

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Plyler
Version:	S243-CSRH-22[v.0]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: This proposed committee substitute would allow the Cities of Albemarle, Concord, and Durham, the Town of Cary, and all of the municipalities in Union County (which include Monroe, Marshville, Mineral Springs, Stallings, and others) to use traffic control photographic systems under G.S. 160A-300.1

CURRENT LAW:

Under current law (G.S. 160A-300.1), certain municipalities are permitted to adopt a local ordinance to enforce traffic offenses such as running a red light through the use of a "traffic control photographic system". A traffic control photographic system is an electronic system consisting of a photographic, video, or electronic camera and a vehicle sensor that works in conjunction with a traffic control device to automatically produce photographs, video, or digital images of vehicles violating these types of statutes or ordinances. In addition, a sign identifying each traffic control photographic system must be placed not more than 300 feet from the intersection where a photographic system is in use.

The owner of a vehicle photographed is responsible for the violation unless they can furnish evidence that, at the time of the offense, the vehicle was under the care, custody, or control of another person. The violation is non-criminal and a $50 civil penalty is assessed against the owner/driver of the vehicle. In addition, no license or insurance points are assigned to the owner or the driver of the vehicle. The citation is mailed to the owner with no personal service required. If the owner fails to respond to the citation or pay the civil penalty the owner waives their right to contest responsibility and is then subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $100. The cities must institute a nonjudicial administrative hearing to review objections to citations or penalties issued.

Currently, there exists a dispute regarding whether the monies collected under G.S. 160A-300.1 belong to the cities or the school boards under the North Carolina Constitution, Article IX, Section 7.

S243-SMRH-001: Esther Manheimer, Committee Counsel, substantially contributed to this summary.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH COMMISSION TO STUDY ISSUES RELATED TO THE USE OF TRAFFIC CONTROL PHOTOGRAPHIC SYSTEMS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. The Legislative Research Commission may study traffic control photographic systems and report its findings, together with any recommended legislation, to the 2002 Regular Session of the 2001 General Assembly. If this study is undertaken, the Commission shall study the following issues:

(1) Whether the use of traffic control photographic systems should be a statewide option available to all municipalities of the State.

(2) Whether the penalties for running a red light should be the same, regardless of whether detected by a traffic control photographic system or identified by a law enforcement officer.

(3) The time and procedure for notifying the owner of a vehicle of a violation detected by a traffic control photographic system, including whether the owner should receive a copy of the photograph.

(4) Whether a person should be exempt from responsibility for a violation detected by a traffic control photographic system when that person is not the owner or the driver of the vehicle in question or when that person was not driving the vehicle at the time and location designated in the citation.

(5) Whether the number of traffic control photographic systems that a municipality may use should be limited.

(6) The procedure for objecting to citations or penalties for violations detected by traffic control photographic systems, and whether there should be a final right of appeal to the mayor.

(7) Whether the municipality or the local school board should receive the clear proceeds of penalties collected for violations detected by a traffic control photographic system.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE MUNICIPALITIES OF WAKE COUNTY, EXCEPT FOR THE TOWN OF CARY, TO USE RED LIGHT CAMERAS FOR SAFETY, FOR SCHOOLS, BUT NOT FOR PROFIT. .

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 160A of Article 15 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section G.S. 160A-300.2 to read:

"§ 160A-300.2. Use of traffic control photographic systems.

(a) A traffic control photographic system is an electronic system consisting of a photographic, video, or electronic camera and a vehicle sensor installed to work in conjunction with an official traffic control device to automatically produce photographs, video, or digital images of each vehicle violating a standard traffic control statute or ordinance.

(b) Any traffic control photographic system or any device which is a part of that system, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, installed on a street or highway which is a part of the State highway system shall meet requirements established by the North Carolina Department of Transportation. Any traffic control system installed on a municipal street shall meet standards established by the municipality and shall be consistent with any standards set by the Department of Transportation.

(b1) Any traffic control photographic system installed on a street or highway shall be identified by appropriate advance warning signs conspicuously posted not more than 300 feet from the location of the traffic control photographic system. All advance warning signs shall be consistent with a statewide standard adopted by the Department of Transportation in conjunction with local governments authorized to install traffic control photographic systems.

(c) Municipalities may adopt ordinances for the civil enforcement of G.S. 20-158 by means of a traffic control photographic system, as described in subsection (a) of this section. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 20-176, in the event that a municipality adopts an ordinance pursuant to this section, a violation of G.S. 20-158 at a location at which a traffic control photographic system is in operation shall not be an infraction. An ordinance authorized by this subsection shall provide that:

(1) The owner of a vehicle shall be responsible for a violation unless the owner can furnish evidence that the vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person. The owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation if the owner of the vehicle, within 21 days after receiving notification of the violation, furnishes the office of the mayor of the municipality that issued the citation:

a. The name and address of the person or company who leased, rented, or otherwise had the care, custody, and control of the vehicle; or

c. A statement that the person who received the citation is not the owner or driver of the vehicle, or that the person who received the citation was not driving a vehicle at the time and location designated in the citation.

(2) A violation detected by a traffic control photographic system shall be deemed a noncriminal violation for which a civil penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be assessed, and for which no points authorized by G.S. 20-16(c) shall be assigned to the owner or driver of the vehicle nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65.

(3) The owner of the vehicle shall be issued a citation that shall be attached to photographic evidence of the violation and identifying the vehicle involved, and that shall clearly state the manner in which the violation may be challenged, and the owner shall comply with the directions on the citation. The citation shall be processed by officials or agents of the municipality and shall be forwarded by personal service or first-class mail to the address given on the motor vehicle registration. If the owner fails to pay the civil penalty or to respond to the citation within the time period specified on the citation, the owner shall have waived the right to contest responsibility for the violation, and shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00). The municipality may establish procedures for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt.

(4) The municipality shall establish a nonjudicial administrative hearing process to review objections to citations or penalties issued or assessed under this section. The municipality may establish an appeals panel composed of municipal employees to review objections. Decisions of the appeals panel may be appealed to the mayor of the municipality for a final decision. If the municipality does not establish an appeals panel, the mayor of the municipality shall review and make a final decision on all objections.

(d) Municipalities having populations under 50,000 may use traffic control photographic systems at no more than two intersections within the municipality. Municipalities having populations of 50,000 and over may use traffic control photographic systems at no more than two intersections within the municipality, and at one additional intersection for every additional 50,000 persons living in the municipality.

(e) The duration of the yellow light change interval at intersections where traffic control photographic systems are in use shall be no less than the yellow light change interval duration specified in the Signals and Geometrics Section of the North Carolina Department of Transportation's Design Manual.

(f) A municipality enacting an ordinance implementing a traffic control photographic system may enter into a single 60-month contract with a contractor for the lease, lease-purchase, or purchase of the system and for the system's operation. After that period, the system shall either be the property of the municipality or the system shall be removed and returned to the contractor.

(g) The clear proceeds from the citations issued pursuant to the ordinance authorized by this section shall be paid to the county school fund. The clear proceeds from the citations shall mean the funds remaining after paying the contractor for operating the system and/or paying for the lease, lease-purchase, or purchase of the system.

(h) This section applies to all of the municipalities of Wake County, except for the Town of Cary."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF CARY TO USE TRAFFIC CONTROL PHOTOGRAPHIC SYSTEMS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 160A-300.1(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) This act applies to the Cities of Charlotte, Fayetteville, Greensboro, High Point, Rocky Mount, Wilmington, Greenville, and Lumberton, and the Towns of Cary, Chapel Hill, Cornelius, Huntersville, Matthews, and Pineville only."

HB 567:
Wake County Red Light Cameras

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Ellis
Date:	April 12, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	H567-CSSB-18[v.1]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 567 (H567-CSSB-17[v.4]) would create a new statute, G.S. 160A-300.2, that authorizes all municipalities in Wake County, except for the Town of Cary, to use traffic control photographic systems. Municipalities that are currently authorized to use traffic control photographic systems under G.S. 160A-300.1 would continue to do so under that statute. The act is effective when it becomes law.

Differences between G.S. 160A-300.1, the current red light statute, and G.S. 160-300.2.

- Under G.S. 160A-300.1, officials or agents of the municipality handle issues of incorrect citations and appeals. Under G.S. 160A-300.2, the mayor and the mayor's office handle issues of incorrect citations and appeals.
- G.S. 160A-300.2 provides an additional ground for appeal of a citation. A person who receives a citation is not responsible for it if the person provides a statement that the person is not the owner or driver of the vehicle or that the person was not driving a vehicle at the time and location designated in the citation.
- G.S. 160A-300.2 provides that a citation must be attached to photographic evidence of the violation and must identify the vehicle involved.
- G.S. 160A-300.2 limits the number of intersections at which a municipality may use traffic control photographic systems.
- G.S. 160A-300.2 provides for the duration of the yellow light at intersections where traffic control photographic systems are used.
- G.S. 160A-300.2 specifies certain requirements regarding the contract between the municipality and the provider of the traffic control photographic system.
- G.S. 160A-300.2 provides that the proceeds from citations must be paid to the county school fund.

HOUSE BILL 7:
Amend Worthless Check Program.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Hill
Date:	April 17, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute H7-CSSB-10[v.6]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 7 would broaden the scope of programs established by district attorneys for collection in worthless check cases to include Class I felony and Class 1 misdemeanor cases as well as Class 2 misdemeanor cases.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, the district attorneys of Brunswick, Bladen, Columbus, Cumberland, Durham, Edgecombe, Nash, New Hanover, Onslow, Pender, Rockingham, Wake, and Wilson Counties may establish a program for collection in worthless check cases that would be punishable as Class 2 misdemeanors. Under current law:

- If the amount of the worthless check is more than $2,000, the violation is punishable as a Class I felony.
- If the amount of the worthless check is $2,000 or less and the check is drawn upon a nonexistent account or the check is drawn upon an account the drawer knows to be closed, the violation is punishable as a Class 1 misdemeanor.
- In other cases where the amount of the worthless check is $2,000 or less, the violation is punishable as a Class 2 misdemeanor.

A district attorney may not prosecute a worthless check case if the check passer participates in a worthless check collection program by paying a $50 fee to the Collection of Worthless Checks Fund and by providing restitution to the check taker for: (1) the amount of the worthless check, (2) any service charge imposed on the check taker by a bank for processing the dishonored check, and (3) a processing fee imposed by the check taker of up to $25.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 7, as introduced, would broaden the scope of worthless check collection programs to include Class I felony cases as well as Class 2 misdemeanor cases. The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 7 would also allow inclusion of Class 1 misdemeanor cases. Furthermore, the proposed committee substitute provides that a district attorney may establish a program for misdemeanor cases, felony cases, or both. Finally, the proposed committee substitute makes a number of technical changes to the worthless check program statute and the statute that requires the Administrative Office of the Courts to report to legislative committees regarding the worthless check collection programs.

BACKGROUND: The worthless check collection program statute had its origin as an uncodified pilot program enacted in the 1997 Budget Bill. The initial pilot program included only Columbus, Durham, and Rockingham Counties. Wake County was added in 1998; Bladen, Brunswick, New Hanover, and Pender Counties were added in 1999; and Cumberland, Edgecombe, Nash, Onslow, and Wilson Counties were added in 2000. In 2000, the uncodified program was codified as G.S. 14-107.2 at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MAKE CLARIFYING AND OTHER CHANGES TO THE GENERAL STATUTES PERTAINING TO CHILD SUPPORT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 50-13.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 50-13.4. Action for support of minor child.

(a) Any parent, or any person, agency, organization or institution having custody of a minor child, or bringing an action or proceeding for the custody of such child, or a minor child by his guardian may institute an action for the support of such child as hereinafter provided.

(b) In the absence of pleading and proof that the circumstances otherwise warrant, the father and mother shall be primarily liable for the support of a minor child. In the absence of pleading and proof that the circumstances otherwise warrant, parents of a minor, unemancipated child who is the custodial or noncustodial parent of a child shall share this primary liability for their grandchild's support with the minor parent, the court determining the proper share, until the minor parent reaches the age of 18 or becomes emancipated. If both the parents of the child requiring support were unemancipated minors at the time of the child's conception, the parents of both minor parents share primary liability for their grandchild's support until both minor parents reach the age of 18 or become emancipated. If only one parent of the child requiring support was an unemancipated minor at the time of the child's conception, the parents of both parents are liable for any arrearages in child support owed by the adult or emancipated parent until the other parent reaches the age of 18 or becomes emancipated. In the absence of pleading and proof that the circumstances otherwise warrant, any other person, agency, organization or institution standing in loco parentis shall be secondarily liable for such support. Such other circumstances may include, but shall not be limited to, the relative ability of all the above-mentioned parties to provide support or the inability of one or more of them to provide support, and the needs and estate of the child. The judge may enter an order requiring any one or more of the above-mentioned parties to provide for the support of the child as may be appropriate in the particular case, and if appropriate the court may authorize the application of any separate estate of the child to his support. However, the judge may not order support to be paid by a person who is not the child's parent or an agency, organization or institution standing in loco parentis absent evidence and a finding that such person, agency, organization or institution has voluntarily assumed the obligation of support in writing. The preceding sentence shall not be construed to prevent any court from ordering the support of a child by an agency of the State or county which agency may be responsible under law for such support.

The judge may order responsible parents in a IV-D establishment case to perform a job search, if the responsible parent is not incapacitated. This includes IV-D cases in which the responsible parent is a noncustodial mother or a noncustodial father whose affidavit of parentage has been filed with the court or when paternity is not at issue for the child. The court may further order the responsible parent to participate in work activities, as defined in 42 U.S.C. § 607, as the court deems appropriate.

(c) Payments ordered for the support of a minor child shall be in such amount as to meet the reasonable needs of the child for health, education, and maintenance, having due regard to the estates, earnings, conditions, accustomed standard of living of the child and the parties, the child care and homemaker contributions of each party, and other facts of the particular case. Payments ordered for the support of a minor child shall be on a monthly basis, due and payable on the first day of each month. The requirement that orders be established on a monthly basis does not affect the availability of garnishment of disposable earnings based on an obligor's pay period.

The court shall determine the amount of child support payments by applying the presumptive guidelines established pursuant to subsection ~~(e1).~~(c1) of this section. However, upon request of any party, the Court shall hear evidence, and from the evidence, find the facts relating to the reasonable needs of the child for support and the relative ability of each parent to provide support. If, after considering the evidence, the Court finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the application of the guidelines would not meet or would exceed the reasonable needs of the child considering the relative ability of each parent to provide support or would be otherwise unjust or inappropriate the Court may vary from the guidelines. If the court orders an amount other than the amount determined by application of the presumptive guidelines, the court shall make findings of fact as to the criteria that justify varying from the guidelines and the basis for the amount ordered.

Payments ordered for the support of a child shall terminate when the child reaches the age of 18 except:

(1) If the child is otherwise emancipated, payments shall terminate at that time;

(2) If the child is still in primary or secondary school when the child reaches age 18, support payments shall continue until the child graduates, otherwise ceases to attend school on a regular basis, fails to make satisfactory academic progress towards graduation, or reaches age 20, whichever comes first, unless the court in its discretion orders that payments cease at age 18 or prior to high school graduation.

In the case of graduation, or attaining age 20, payments shall terminate without order by the court, subject to the right of the party receiving support to show, upon motion and with notice to the opposing party, that the child has not graduated or attained the age of 20.

(c1) Effective July 1, 1990, the Conference of Chief District Judges shall prescribe uniform statewide presumptive guidelines for the computation of child support obligations of each parent as provided in Chapter 50 or elsewhere in the General Statutes and shall develop criteria for determining when, in a particular case, application of the guidelines would be unjust or inappropriate. Prior to May 1, 1990 these guidelines and criteria shall be reported to the General Assembly by the Administrative Office of the Courts by delivering copies to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The purpose of the guidelines and criteria shall be to ensure that payments ordered for the support of a minor child are in such amount as to meet the reasonable needs of the child for health, education, and maintenance, having due regard to the estates, earnings, conditions, accustomed standard of living of the child and the parties, the child care and homemaker contributions of each party, and other facts of the particular case. The guidelines shall include a procedure for setting child support, if any, in a joint or shared custody arrangement which shall reflect the other statutory requirements herein.

Periodically, but at least once every four years, the Conference of Chief District Judges shall review the guidelines to determine whether their application results in appropriate child support award amounts. The Conference may modify the guidelines accordingly. The Conference shall give the Department of Health and Human Services, the Administrative Office of the Courts, and the general public an opportunity to provide the Conference with information relevant to the development and review of the guidelines. Any modifications of the guidelines or criteria shall be reported to the General Assembly by the Administrative Office of the Courts before they become effective by delivering copies to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The guidelines, when adopted or modified, shall be provided to the Department of Health and Human Services and the Administrative Office of the Courts, which shall disseminate them to the public through local IV-D offices, clerks of court, and the media.

Until July 1, 1990, the advisory guidelines adopted by the Conference of Chief District Judges pursuant to this subsection as formerly written shall operate as presumptive guidelines and the factors adopted by the Conference of Chief District Judges pursuant to this subsection as formerly written shall constitute criteria for varying from the amount of support determined by the guidelines.

(d) In non-IV-D cases, payments for the support of a minor child shall be ordered to be paid to the person having custody of the child or any other proper person, agency, organization or institution, or to the State Child Support Collection and Disbursement Unit, for the benefit of the child. In IV-D cases, payments for the support of a minor child shall be ordered to be paid to the State Child Support Collection and Disbursement Unit for the benefit of the child.

(e) Payment for the support of a minor child shall be paid by lump sum payment, periodic payments, or by transfer of title or possession of personal property of any interest therein, or a security interest in or possession of real property, as the court may order. The court may order the transfer of title to real property solely owned by the obligor in payment of arrearages of child support so long as the net value of the interest in the property being transferred does not exceed the amount of the arrearage being satisfied. In every case in which payment for the support of a minor child is ordered and alimony or postseparation support is also ordered, the order shall separately state and identify each allowance.

(e1) In IV-D cases, the order for child support shall provide that the clerk shall transfer the case to another jurisdiction in this State if the IV-D agency requests the transfer on the basis that the obligor, the custodian of the child, and the child do not reside in the jurisdiction in which the order was issued. The IV-D agency shall provide notice of the transfer to the obligor by delivery of written notice in accordance with the notice requirements of Chapter 1A-1, Rule 5(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure. The clerk shall transfer the case to the jurisdiction requested by the IV-D agency, which shall be a jurisdiction in which the obligor, the custodian of the child, or the child resides. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent a party from contesting the transfer.

(f) Remedies for enforcement of support of minor children shall be available as herein provided.

(1) The court may require the person ordered to make payments for the support of a minor child to secure the same by means of a bond, mortgage or deed of trust, or any other means ordinarily used to secure an obligation to pay money or transfer property, or by requiring the execution of an assignment of wages, salary or other income due or to become due.

(2) If the court requires the transfer of real or personal property or an interest therein as provided in subsection (e) as a part of an order for payment of support for a minor child, or for the securing thereof, the court may also enter an order which shall transfer title as provided in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 70 and G.S. 1-228.

(3) The remedy of arrest and bail, as provided in Article 34 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, shall be available in actions for child-support payments as in other cases.

(4) The remedies of attachment and garnishment, as provided in Article 35 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, shall be available in an action for child-support payments as in other cases, and for such purposes the child or person bringing an action for child support shall be deemed a creditor of the defendant. Additionally, in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 110-136, a continuing wage garnishment proceeding for wages due or to become due may be instituted by motion in the original child support proceeding or by independent action through the filing of a petition.

(5) The remedy of injunction, as provided in Article 37 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes and G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65, shall be available in actions for child support as in other cases.

(6) Receivers, as provided in Article 38 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, may be appointed in action for child support as in other cases.

(7) A minor child or other person for whose benefit an order for the payment of child support has been entered shall be a creditor within the meaning of Article 3A of Chapter 39 of the General Statutes pertaining to fraudulent conveyances.

(8) Except as provided in Article 15 of Chapter 44 of the General Statutes, a judgment for child support shall not be a lien against real property unless the judgment expressly so provides, sets out the amount of the lien in a sum certain, and adequately describes the real property affected; but past due periodic payments may by motion in the cause or by a separate action be reduced to judgment which shall be a lien as other ~~judgments.~~ judgments, and may include provisions for periodic payments.

(9) An order for the periodic payments of child support or a child support judgment that provides for periodic payments is enforceable by proceedings for civil contempt, and ~~its~~ disobedience may be punished by proceedings for criminal contempt, as provided in Chapter 5A of the General Statutes.

Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 1-294, an order for the payment of child support which has been appealed to the appellate division is enforceable in the trial court by proceedings for civil contempt during the pendency of the appeal. Upon motion of an aggrieved party, the court of the appellate division in which the appeal is pending may stay any order for civil contempt entered for child support until the appeal is decided, if justice requires.

(10) The remedies provided by Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, Article 28, Execution; Article 29B, Execution Sales; and Article 31, Supplemental Proceedings, shall be available for the enforcement of judgments for child support as in other cases, but amounts so payable shall not constitute a debt as to which property is exempt from execution as provided in Article 16 of Chapter 1C of the General Statutes.

(11) The specific enumeration of remedies in this section shall not constitute a bar to remedies otherwise available.

(g) An individual who brings an action or motion in the cause for the support of a minor child, and the individual who defends the action, shall provide to the clerk of the court in which the action is brought or the order is issued, the individual's social security number. The child support order shall contain the social security number of the parties as evidenced in the support proceeding.

(h) Child support orders initially entered or modified on and after October 1, 1998, shall contain the name of each of the parties, the date of birth of each party, the social security number of each party, and the court docket number. The Administrative Office of the Courts shall transmit to the Department of Health and Human Services, Child Support Enforcement Program, on a timely basis, the information required to be included on orders under this subsection."

SECTION 2. G.S. 110-132 reads as rewritten:

"§ 110-132. ~~Acknowledgment of paternity~~Affidavit of parentage and agreement to support.

(a) In lieu of or in conclusion of any legal proceeding instituted to establish paternity, the written ~~acknowledgment of paternity~~affidavits of parentage executed by the putative father ~~of the dependent child when accompanied by a written affirmation of paternity executed and sworn to by~~and the mother of the dependent child shall constitute an admission of paternity and shall have the same legal effect as a judgment of paternity for the purpose of establishing a child support obligation, subject to the right of either signatory to rescind within the earlier of:

(1) 60 days of the date the document is executed, or

(2) The date of entry of an order establishing paternity or an order for the payment of child support.

In order to rescind, a challenger must request the district court to order the ~~recision~~rescission and to include in the order specific findings of fact that the request for ~~recision~~rescission was filed with the clerk of court within 60 days of the signing of the document. The court must also find that all parties, including the child support enforcement agency, if appropriate, have been served in accordance with Rule 4 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure. In the event the court orders ~~recision~~rescission and the putative father is thereafter found not to be the father of the child, then the clerk of court shall send a copy of the order of ~~recision~~rescission to the State Registrar of Vital Statistics. Upon receipt of an order of ~~recision,~~rescission, the State Registrar shall remove the putative father's name from the birth certificate. In the event that the putative father defaults or fails to present or prosecute the issue of paternity, the trial court shall find the putative father to be the biological father as a matter of law.

After 60 days have elapsed, execution of the document may be challenged in court only upon the basis of fraud, duress, mistake, or excusable neglect. The burden of proof shall be on the challenging party, and the legal responsibilities, including child support obligations, of any signatory arising from the executed documents may not be suspended during the challenge except for good cause shown.

birth of the child, accrued maintenance and reasonable expense of prosecution of the paternity action, when acknowledged as provided herein, filed with, and approved by a judge of the district court at any time, shall have the same force and effect as an order of support entered by that court, and shall be enforceable and subject to modification in the same manner as is provided by law for orders of the court in such cases. The written ~~affirmation~~affidavit shall contain the social security number of the person executing the ~~affirmation, and the written acknowledgment shall contain the social security number of the person executing the acknowledgment.~~affidavit. Voluntary agreements to support shall contain the social security number of each of the parties to the agreement. The written ~~affirmations, acknowledgments~~affidavits and agreements to support shall be sworn to before a certifying officer or notary public or the equivalent or corresponding person of the state, territory, or foreign country where the affirmation, acknowledgment, or agreement is made, and shall be binding on the person executing the same whether the person is an adult or a minor. The child support enforcement agency shall ensure that the mother and putative father are given oral and written notice of the legal consequences and responsibilities arising from the signing of an ~~acknowledgement of paternity,~~affidavit of parentage, and of any alternatives to the execution of an ~~acknowledgment or affirmation of paternity.~~affidavit of parentage. The mother shall not be excused from making the ~~affirmation~~ affidavit on the grounds that it may tend to disgrace or incriminate her; nor shall she thereafter be prosecuted for any criminal act involved in the conception of the child as to whose paternity she ~~makes affirmation.~~attests.

(b) At any time after the filing with the district court of an ~~acknowledgment of paternity,~~affidavit of parentage, upon the application of any interested party, the court or any judge thereof shall cause a summons signed by him or by the clerk or assistant clerk of superior court, to be issued, requiring the putative father to appear in court at a time and place named therein, to show cause, if any he has, why the court should not enter an order for the support of the child by periodic payments, which order may include provision for reimbursement for medical expenses incident to the pregnancy and the birth of the child, accrued maintenance and reasonable expense of the action under this subsection on the ~~acknowledgment of paternity~~affidavit of parentage previously filed with said court. The court may order the responsible parents in a IV-D establishment case to perform a job search, if the responsible parent is not incapacitated. This includes IV-D cases in which the responsible parent is a noncustodial mother or a noncustodial father whose affidavit of parentage has been filed with the court or when paternity is not at issue for the child. The court may further order the responsible parent to participate in the work activities, as defined in 42 U.S.C. § 607, as the court deems appropriate. The amount of child support payments so ordered shall be determined as provided in G.S. 50-13.4(c). The prior judgment as to paternity shall be res judicata as to that issue and shall not be reconsidered by the court."

SECTION 3. G.S. 110-134 reads as rewritten:

"§ 110-134. Filing of ~~affirmations, acknowledgments,~~ affidavits, agreements and orders; fees.

SECTION 4. G.S. 110-136.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 110-136.4. Implementation of withholding in IV-D cases.

(a) Withholding based on arrearages or obligor's request.

(1) Advance notice of withholding. When an obligor in a IV-D case becomes subject to income withholding, the obligee shall, after verifying the obligor's current employer or other payor, wages or other disposable income, and mailing address, serve the obligor with advance notice of withholding in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4, Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Contents of advance notice. The advance notice to the obligor shall contain, at a minimum, the following information:

a. Whether the proposed withholding is based on the obligor's failure to make legally obligated child support, alimony or postseparation support payments on the obligor's request for withholding, on the obligee's request for withholding, or on the obligor's eligibility for withholding under G.S. 110-136.3(b)(3);

b. The amount of overdue child support, overdue alimony or postseparation support payments, the total amount to be withheld, and when the withholding will occur;

c. The name of each child or person for whose benefit the child support, alimony or postseparation support payments are due and information sufficient to identify the court order under which the obligor has a duty to support the child, spouse, or former spouse;

d. The amount and sources of disposable income;

e. That the withholding will apply to the obligor's wages or other sources of disposable income from current payors and all subsequent payors once the procedures under this section are invoked;

f. An explanation of the obligor's rights and responsibilities pursuant to this section;

g. That withholding will be continued until terminated pursuant to G.S. 110-136.10.

(3) Contested withholding. The obligor may contest the withholding only on the basis of a mistake of fact, except that G.S. 110-129(10)(a) is not applicable if withholding is based on the obligor's or obligee's request for withholding. To contest the withholding, the obligor must, within 10 days of receipt of the advance notice of withholding, request a hearing in the county where the support order was entered before the district court and give notice to the obligee specifying the mistake of fact upon which the hearing request is based. If the asserted mistake of fact can be resolved by agreement between the obligee and the obligor, no hearing shall occur. Otherwise, a hearing shall be held and a determination made, within 30 days of the obligor's receipt of the advance notice of withholding, as to whether the asserted mistake of fact is valid. No withholding shall occur pending the hearing decision. The failure to hold a hearing within 30 days shall not invalidate an otherwise properly entered order. If it is determined that a mistake of fact exists, no withholding shall occur. Otherwise, within 45 days of the obligor's receipt of the advance notice of withholding, the obligee shall serve the payor, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, with notice of his obligation to withhold, and shall mail a copy of such notice to the obligor and file a copy with the clerk. In the event of appeal, withholding shall not be stayed. If the appeal is concluded in favor of the obligor, the obligee shall promptly repay sums wrongfully withheld and notify the payor to cease withholding.

(4) Uncontested withholding. If the obligor does not contest the withholding within the 10-day response period, the obligee shall serve the payor, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, with notice of his obligation to withhold, and shall mail a copy of such notice to the obligor and file a copy with the clerk.

(5) Payment not a defense to withholding. The payment of overdue support shall not be a basis for terminating or not implementing withholding.

(6) Inability to implement withholding. When an obligor is subject to withholding, but withholding under this section cannot be implemented because the obligor's location is unknown, because the extent and source of his disposable income cannot be determined, or for any other reason, the obligee shall either request the clerk of superior court to initiate enforcement proceedings under G.S. 15A-1344.1(d) or G.S. 50-13.9(d) or take other appropriate available measures to enforce the support obligation.

(b) Immediate income withholding. When a new or modified child support order is entered, the district court judge shall, after hearing evidence regarding the obligor's disposable income, place the obligor under an order for immediate income withholding. The IV-D agency shall serve the payor pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, with a notice of his obligation to withhold, and shall mail a copy of such notice to the obligor and file a copy with the clerk. If information is unavailable regarding an obligor's disposable income, or the obligor is unemployed, or an agreement is reached between both parties which provides for an alternative arrangement, immediate income withholding shall not apply. The obligor, however, is subject to income withholding pursuant to G.S. 110-136.4(a).

(c) Subsequent payors. If the obligor changes employment or source of disposable income, notice to subsequent payors of their obligation to withhold shall be served as required by G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure. Copies of such notice shall be filed with the clerk of court and served upon the obligor by first class mail.

(d) Multiple withholdings. The obligor must notify the obligee if the obligor is currently subject to another withholding for child support. In the case of two or more withholdings against one obligor, the obligee or obligees shall attempt to resolve any conflict between the orders in a manner that is fair and equitable to all parties and within the limits specified by G.S. 110-136.6. If the conflict cannot be so resolved, an injured party, upon request, shall be granted a hearing in accordance with the procedure specified in G.S. 110-136.4(c). The conflict between the withholding orders shall be resolved in accordance with G.S. 110-136.7.

(e) Modification of withholding. When an order for withholding has been entered under this section, the obligee may modify the withholding based on changed circumstances. The obligee shall proceed as is provided in this section.

(f) Applicability of section. The provisions of this section apply to IV-D cases only."

SECTION 5. G.S. 110-136.3(d1) is recodified as G.S. 110-139(c1).

SECTION 6. G.S. 110-139(c1) reads as rewritten:

"(c1) Employment verifications. – For the purpose of ~~establishing~~ establishing, enforcing, or modifying a child support order, the amount of the obligor's gross income may be established by a written statement signed by the obligor's employer or the employer's designee or an Employee Verification form produced by the Automated Collections and Tracking System that has been completed and signed by the obligor's employer or the employer's designee. A written statement signed by the employer of the obligor or the employer's designee that sets forth an obligor's gross income, as well as an Employee Verification form signed by the obligor's employer or the employer's designee is admissible evidence in any action ~~establishing~~ establishing, enforcing, or modifying a child support order."

SECTION 7. G.S. 50-13.9(b1) reads as rewritten:

"§ 50-13.9. Procedure to insure payment of child support.

"(b1) In a IV-D case:

(1) The designated child support enforcement agency shall have the sole responsibility and authority for monitoring the obligor's compliance with all child support orders in the case and for initiating any enforcement procedures that it considers appropriate.

(2) The clerk of court shall maintain all official records in the case.

(3) The designated child support enforcement agency shall maintain any other records needed to monitor the obligor's compliance with or to enforce the child support orders in the case, including records showing the amount of each payment of child support received from or on behalf of the obligor, along with the dates on which each payment was received. The payment records maintained by the designated child support enforcement agency shall be admissible evidence and may be authenticated by the designated representative in any action establishing, enforcing or modifying a child support order."

SECTION 8. Article 9 of Chapter 110 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 110-136.11 National Medical Support Notice Required.

(a) Notice Required. The National Medical Support Notice shall be used to notify employers and health insurers or health care plan administrators of an order entered pursuant to G.S. 50-13.11 for dependant health benefit plan coverage in a IV-D case. For purposes of this section and G.S. 110-136.12 through G.S. 110-136.14, the terms 'health benefit plan' and 'health insurer' are as defined in G.S. 108A-69(a).

(b) Exception. The National Medical Support Notice shall not be used in cases where the court has ordered non-employment-based health benefit plan coverage or where the parties have stipulated to non-employment-based health benefit plan coverage."

SECTION 9. Article 9 of Chapter 110 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 110-136.12. IV-D Agency Responsibilities.

(a) Within five business days after the order for dependent health benefit plan coverage has been filed in a IV-D case the IV-D agency shall serve, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, the National Medical Support Notice on the employer, if known to the agency, of the non-custodial parent.

(b) In cases where the obligor is a newly hired employee, the agency shall serve, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, the National Medical Support Notice, along with the income withholding notice pursuant to G.S. 110-136.8, on the employer within two business days after the date of entry of an obligor in the State Directory of New Hires.

(c) The IV-D agency shall promptly notify the employer when there is no longer a current order for medical support for which the agency is responsible.

(d) In cases where the health insurer or health care plan administrator reports that there is more than one health care option available under the health benefit plan, the IV-D agency, in consultation with the custodian, may within twenty business days of the date the insurer or administrator informed the agency of the option, select an option and inform the health insurer or health care plan administrator of the option selected."

SECTION 10. Article 9 of Chapter 110 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 110-136.13. Employer Responsibilities.

(a) For purposes of this section, G.S. 110-136.11, G.S. 110-136.12, and G.S. 110-14, the term 'employer' means employer as is defined at 29 USC § 203(d) in the Fair Labor Standards Act.

(b) Within 20 business days after the date of the National Medical Support Notice, the employer shall transfer the Notice to the health insurer or health care plan administrator that provides health benefit plan coverage for which the child is eligible unless one of following applies:

(1) The employer does not maintain or contribute to plans providing dependent or family health insurance.

(2) The employee is among a class of employees that are not eligible for family health benefit plan coverage under any group health plan maintained by the employer or to which the employer contributes.

(3) Health benefit plan coverage is not available because the employee is no longer employed by this employer.

(4) State or federal withholding limitations prevent the withholding from the obligor's income of the amount required to obtain insurance under the terms of the plan.

(c) If the employer is not required to transfer the Notice under subsection (b) of this section, then the employer shall, within the 20 business days after the date of the Notice, inform the agency in writing of the reason or reasons the Notice was not transferred.

(d) Upon receipt from the health insurer or health care plan administrator of the cost of dependent coverage, the employer shall withhold this amount from the obligor's wages and transfer this amount directly to the insurer or plan administrator.

(e) In the event the health insurer or health care plan administrator informs the employer that the Notice is not a qualified medical child support order (QMCSO), the employer shall notify the agency in writing.

(f) In the event the health insurer or health care plan administrator informs the employer of a waiting period for enrollment, the employer shall inform the insurer or administrator when the employee is eligible to be enrolled in the plan.

(g) An employer obligated to provide health benefit plan coverage pursuant to this section shall inform the IV-D agency upon termination of the non-custodial parent's employment within ten business days. The notice shall be in writing to the agency and shall include the obligor's last known address and the name and address of the new employer, if known.

(h) In the event the employee contests the withholding order, the employer shall initiate and continue the withholding until the employer receives notice that the contested case is resolved.

(i) An employer shall not discharge from employment, refuse to employ, or otherwise take disciplinary action against any obligor solely because of the withholding.

(j) If a court finds that an employer has failed to comply with this section, the employer is liable as a payor pursuant to G.S. 110-136.8(e). Additionally, an employer who violates this section is liable in a civil action for reasonable damages."

SECTION 11. Article 9 of Chapter 110 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 110-136.14 Health Insurer or Health Care Plan Administrator Responsibilities.

(a) Upon receipt of the National Medical Support Notice from the employer, and within forty business days after the date of the Notice, a health care plan administrator shall determine if the Notice is a "qualified medical child support order" (QMCSO), as defined under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) or the Child Support Performance and Incentive Act (CSPIA). If the Notice is not a qualified medical support order, the plan administrator shall inform the employer within the time set forth in this subsection.

(b) Upon receipt of the Notice in a non-qualified ERISA plan, or upon a finding that the Notice constitutes a qualified medical child support order, the health insurer or plan administrator shall enroll the dependant child or children in a health benefit plan, determine the cost of the coverage, and inform the employer of the amount of the employee contribution to be withheld from the obligor's wages if appropriate. If the child or children are already enrolled in a health benefit plan, the employer shall be so notified. The employer shall also be notified of any applicable enrollment waiting periods.

(c) If there is more than one health benefit plan in which the dependent child or children may be enrolled, the insurer or plan administrator shall so inform the custodian within the time specified in this subsection. If no plan has been selected within twenty days from the date the insurer or administrator informed the agency of the option, the insurer or administrator may enroll the child or children in the insurer's or administrator's default option.

(d) If the obligor is subject to a waiting period for enrollment, the insurer or administrator shall inform the agency, the employer, the obligor and the custodial parent. Upon the completion of the waiting period, the enrollment shall be instituted.

(e) When a court finds that a health insurer or health care plan administrator has failed to comply with this section, the employer is liable as a payor pursuant to G.S. 110-136.10(e). Additionally, a health insurer or health care plan administrator who violates this section is liable in a civil action for reasonable damages."

SECTION 12. Sections 9, 10, and 11 of this act become effective October 1, 2001. Section 11 of this act becomes- effective July 1, 2002. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO MAKE CLARIFYING AND OTHER CHANGES TO THE GENERAL STATUTES PERTAINING TO CHILD SUPPORT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 50-13.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 50-13.4. Action for support of minor child.

(a) Any parent, or any person, agency, organization or institution having custody of a minor child, or bringing an action or proceeding for the custody of such child, or a minor child by his guardian may institute an action for the support of such child as hereinafter provided.

(b) In the absence of pleading and proof that the circumstances otherwise warrant, the father and mother shall be primarily liable for the support of a minor child. In the absence of pleading and proof that the circumstances otherwise warrant, parents of a minor, unemancipated child who is the custodial or noncustodial parent of a child shall share this primary liability for their grandchild's support with the minor parent, the court determining the proper share, until the minor parent reaches the age of 18 or becomes emancipated. If both the parents of the child requiring support were unemancipated minors at the time of the child's conception, the parents of both minor parents share primary liability for their grandchild's support until both minor parents reach the age of 18 or become emancipated. If only one parent of the child requiring support was an unemancipated minor at the time of the child's conception, the parents of both parents are liable for any arrearages in child support owed by the adult or emancipated parent until the other parent reaches the age of 18 or becomes emancipated. In the absence of pleading and proof that the circumstances otherwise warrant, any other person, agency, organization or institution standing in loco parentis shall be secondarily liable for such support. Such other circumstances may include, but shall not be limited to, the relative ability of all the above-mentioned parties to provide support or the inability of one or more of them to provide support, and the needs and estate of the child. The judge may enter an order requiring any one or more of the above-mentioned parties to provide for the support of the child as may be appropriate in the particular case, and if appropriate the court may authorize the application of any separate estate of the child to his support. However, the judge may not order support to be paid by a person who is not the child's parent or an agency, organization or institution standing in loco parentis absent evidence and a finding that such person, agency, organization or institution has voluntarily assumed the obligation of support in writing. The preceding sentence shall not be construed to prevent any court from ordering the support of a child by an agency of the State or county which agency may be responsible under law for such support.

Responsible parents in a IV-D establishment case may be ordered by the judge to perform a job search, if the responsible parent is not incapacitated. This includes IV-D cases in which the responsible parent is a noncustodial mother or a noncustodial father whose affidavit of parentage has been filed with the court or when paternity is not at issue for the child. The court may further order the responsible parent to participate in work activities, as defined in 42 U.S.C. § 607, as the court deems appropriate.

(c) Payments ordered for the support of a minor child shall be in such amount as to meet the reasonable needs of the child for health, education, and maintenance, having due regard to the estates, earnings, conditions, accustomed standard of living of the child and the parties, the child care and homemaker contributions of each party, and other facts of the particular case. Payments ordered for the support of a minor child shall be on a monthly basis, due and payable on the first day of each month. The requirement that orders be established on a monthly basis does not affect the availability of garnishment of disposable earnings based on an obligor's pay period.

The court shall determine the amount of child support payments by applying the presumptive guidelines established pursuant to subsection (c1). However, upon request of any party, the Court shall hear evidence, and from the evidence, find the facts relating to the reasonable needs of the child for support and the relative ability of each parent to provide support. If, after considering the evidence, the Court finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the application of the guidelines would not meet or would exceed the reasonable needs of the child considering the relative ability of each parent to provide support or would be otherwise unjust or inappropriate the Court may vary from the guidelines. If the court orders an amount other than the amount determined by application of the presumptive guidelines, the court shall make findings of fact as to the criteria that justify varying from the guidelines and the basis for the amount ordered.

Payments ordered for the support of a child shall terminate when the child reaches the age of 18 except:

(1) If the child is otherwise emancipated, payments shall terminate at that time;

(2) If the child is still in primary or secondary school when the child reaches age 18, support payments shall continue until the child graduates, otherwise ceases to attend school on a regular basis, fails to make satisfactory academic progress towards graduation, or reaches age 20, whichever comes first, unless the court in its discretion orders that payments cease at age 18 or prior to high school graduation.

In the case of graduation, or attaining age 20, payments shall terminate without order by the court, subject to the right of the party receiving support to show, upon motion and with notice to the opposing party, that the child has not graduated or attained the age of 20.

(c1) Effective July 1, 1990, the Conference of Chief District Judges shall prescribe uniform statewide presumptive guidelines for the computation of child support obligations of each parent as provided in Chapter 50 or elsewhere in the General Statutes and shall develop criteria for determining when, in a particular case, application of the guidelines would be unjust or inappropriate. Prior to May 1, 1990 these guidelines and criteria shall be reported to the General Assembly by the Administrative Office of the Courts by delivering copies to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The purpose of the guidelines and criteria shall be to ensure that payments ordered for the support of a minor child are in such amount as to meet the reasonable needs of the child for health, education, and maintenance, having due regard to the estates, earnings, conditions, accustomed standard of living of the child and the parties, the child care and homemaker contributions of each party, and other facts of the particular case. The guidelines shall include a procedure for setting child support, if any, in a joint or shared custody arrangement which shall reflect the other statutory requirements herein.

Periodically, but at least once every four years, the Conference of Chief District Judges shall review the guidelines to determine whether their application results in appropriate child support award amounts. The Conference may modify the guidelines accordingly. The Conference shall give the Department of Health and Human Services, the Administrative Office of the Courts, and the general public an opportunity to provide the Conference with information relevant to the development and review of the guidelines. Any modifications of the guidelines or criteria shall be reported to the General Assembly by the Administrative Office of the Courts before they become effective by delivering copies to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The guidelines, when adopted or modified, shall be provided to the Department of Health and Human Services and the Administrative Office of the Courts, which shall disseminate them to the public through local IV-D offices, clerks of court, and the media.

Until July 1, 1990, the advisory guidelines adopted by the Conference of Chief District Judges pursuant to this subsection as formerly written shall operate as presumptive guidelines and the factors adopted by the Conference of Chief District Judges pursuant to this subsection as formerly written shall constitute criteria for varying from the amount of support determined by the guidelines.

(d) In non-IV-D cases, payments for the support of a minor child shall be ordered to be paid to the person having custody of the child or any other proper person, agency, organization or institution, or to the State Child Support Collection and Disbursement Unit, for the benefit of the child. In IV-D cases, payments for the support of a minor child shall be ordered to be paid to the State Child Support Collection and Disbursement Unit for the benefit of the child.

(e) Payment for the support of a minor child shall be paid by lump sum payment, periodic payments, or by transfer of title or possession of personal property of any interest therein, or a security interest in or possession of real property, as the court may order. The court may order the transfer of title to real property solely owned by the obligor in payment of arrearages of child support so long as the net value of the interest in the property being transferred does not exceed the amount of the arrearage being satisfied. In every case in which payment for the support of a minor child is ordered and alimony or postseparation support is also ordered, the order shall separately state and identify each allowance.

(e1) In IV-D cases, the order for child support shall provide that the clerk shall transfer the case to another jurisdiction in this State if the IV-D agency requests the transfer on the basis that the obligor, the custodian of the child, and the child do not reside in the jurisdiction in which the order was issued. The IV-D agency shall provide notice of the transfer to the obligor by delivery of written notice in accordance with the notice requirements of Chapter 1A-1, Rule 5(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure. The clerk shall transfer the case to the jurisdiction requested by the IV-D agency, which shall be a jurisdiction in which the obligor, the custodian of the child, or the child resides. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent a party from contesting the transfer.

(f) Remedies for enforcement of support of minor children shall be available as herein provided.

(1) The court may require the person ordered to make payments for the support of a minor child to secure the same by means of a bond, mortgage or deed of trust, or any other means ordinarily used to secure an obligation to pay money or transfer property, or by requiring the execution of an assignment of wages, salary or other income due or to become due.

(2) If the court requires the transfer of real or personal property or an interest therein as provided in subsection (e) as a part of an order for payment of support for a minor child, or for the securing thereof, the court may also enter an order which shall transfer title as provided in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 70 and G.S. 1-228.

(3) The remedy of arrest and bail, as provided in Article 34 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, shall be available in actions for child-support payments as in other cases.

(4) The remedies of attachment and garnishment, as provided in Article 35 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, shall be available in an action for child-support payments as in other cases, and for such purposes the child or person bringing an action for child support shall be deemed a creditor of the defendant. Additionally, in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 110-136, a continuing wage garnishment proceeding for wages due or to become due may be instituted by motion in the original child support proceeding or by independent action through the filing of a petition.

(5) The remedy of injunction, as provided in Article 37 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes and G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65, shall be available in actions for child support as in other cases.

(6) Receivers, as provided in Article 38 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, may be appointed in action for child support as in other cases.

(7) A minor child or other person for whose benefit an order for the payment of child support has been entered shall be a creditor within the meaning of Article 3A of Chapter 39 of the General Statutes pertaining to fraudulent conveyances.

(8) Except as provided in Article 15 of Chapter 44 of the General Statutes, a judgment for child support shall not be a lien against real property unless the judgment expressly so provides, sets out the amount of the lien in a sum certain, and adequately describes the real property affected; but past due periodic payments may by motion in the cause or by a separate action be reduced to judgment which shall be a lien as other judgments. Additionally, the trial court may order periodic payments on child support judgments as an available enforcement remedy.

(9) An order for the periodic payments of child support is enforceable by proceedings for civil contempt, and its disobedience may be punished by proceedings for criminal contempt, as provided in Chapter 5A of the General Statutes.

Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 1-294, an order for the payment of child support which has been appealed to the appellate division is enforceable in the trial court by proceedings for civil contempt during the pendency of the appeal. Upon motion of an aggrieved party, the court of the appellate division in which the appeal is pending may stay any order for civil contempt entered for child support until the appeal is decided, if justice requires.

(10) The remedies provided by Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, Article 28, Execution; Article 29B, Execution Sales; and Article 31, Supplemental Proceedings, shall be available for the enforcement of judgments for child support as in other cases, but amounts so payable shall not constitute a debt as to which property is exempt from execution as provided in Article 16 of Chapter 1C of the General Statutes.

(11) The specific enumeration of remedies in this section shall not constitute a bar to remedies otherwise available.

(g) An individual who brings an action or motion in the cause for the support of a minor child, and the individual who defends the action, shall provide to the clerk of the court in which the action is brought or the order is issued, the individual's social security number. The child support order shall contain the social security number of the parties as evidenced in the support proceeding.

(h) Child support orders initially entered or modified on and after October 1, 1998, shall contain the name of each of the parties, the date of birth of each party, the social security number of each party, and the court docket number. The Administrative Office of the Courts shall transmit to the Department of Health and Human Services, Child Support Enforcement Program, on a timely basis, the information required to be included on orders under this subsection."

SECTION 2. G.S. 110-132 reads as rewritten:

"§ 110-132. ~~Acknowledgment of paternity~~Affidavit of parentage and agreement to support.

(a) In lieu of or in conclusion of any legal proceeding instituted to establish paternity, the written ~~acknowledgment of paternity~~affidavits of parentage executed by the putative father ~~of the dependent child when accompanied by a written affirmation of paternity executed and sworn to by~~and the mother of the dependent child shall constitute an admission of paternity and shall have the same legal effect as a judgment of paternity for the purpose of establishing a child support obligation, subject to the right of either signatory to rescind within the earlier of:

(1) 60 days of the date the document is executed, or

(2) The date of entry of an order establishing paternity or an order for the payment of child support.

In order to rescind, a challenger must request the district court to order the ~~recision~~rescission and to include in the order specific findings of fact that the request for ~~recision~~rescission was filed with the clerk of court within 60 days of the signing of the document. The court must also find that all parties, including the child support enforcement agency, if appropriate, have been served in accordance with Rule 4 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure. In the event the court orders ~~recision~~rescission and the putative father is thereafter found not to be the father of the child, then the clerk of court shall send a copy of the order of ~~recision~~rescission to the State Registrar of Vital Statistics. Upon receipt of an order of ~~recision,~~rescission, the State Registrar shall remove the putative father's name from the birth certificate. In the event that the putative father defaults or fails to present or prosecute the issue of paternity, the trial court shall find the putative father to be the biological father as a matter of law.

After 60 days have elapsed, execution of the document may be challenged in court only upon the basis of fraud, duress, mistake, or excusable neglect. The burden of proof shall be on the challenging party, and the legal responsibilities, including child support obligations, of any signatory arising from the executed documents may not be suspended during the challenge except for good cause shown.

A written agreement to support the child by periodic payments, which may include provision for reimbursement for medical expenses incident to the pregnancy and the birth of the child, accrued maintenance and reasonable expense of prosecution of the paternity action, when acknowledged as provided herein, filed with, and approved by a judge of the district court at any time, shall have the same force and effect as an order of support entered by that court, and shall be enforceable and subject to modification in the same manner as is provided by law for orders of the court in such cases. The written ~~affirmation~~affidavit shall contain the social security number of the person executing the ~~affirmation, and the written acknowledgment shall contain the social security number of the person executing the acknowledgment.~~affidavit. Voluntary agreements to support shall contain the social security number of each of the parties to the agreement. The written ~~affirmations, acknowledgments~~affidavits and agreements to support shall be sworn to before a certifying officer or notary public or the equivalent or corresponding person of the state, territory, or foreign country where the affirmation, acknowledgment, or agreement is made, and shall be binding on the person executing the same whether the person is an adult or a minor. The child support enforcement agency shall ensure that the mother and putative father are given oral and written notice of the legal consequences and responsibilities arising from the signing of an ~~acknowledgement of paternity,~~affidavit of parentage, and of any alternatives to the execution of an ~~acknowledgment or affirmation of paternity.~~affidavit of parentage. The mother shall not be excused from making the ~~affirmation~~ affidavit on the grounds that it may tend to disgrace or incriminate her; nor shall she thereafter be prosecuted for any criminal act involved in the conception of the child as to whose paternity she ~~makes affirmation.~~attests.

(b) At any time after the filing with the district court of an ~~acknowledgment of paternity,~~affidavit of parentage, upon the application of any interested party, the court or any judge thereof shall cause a summons signed by him or by the clerk or assistant clerk of superior court, to be issued, requiring the putative father to appear in court at a time and place named therein, to show cause, if any he has, why the court should not enter an order for the support of the child by periodic payments, which order may include provision for reimbursement for medical expenses incident to the pregnancy and the birth of the child, accrued maintenance and reasonable expense of the action under this subsection on the ~~acknowledgment of paternity~~affidavit of parentage previously filed with said court. The court may order the responsible parents in a IV-D establishment case to perform a job search, if the responsible parent is not incapacitated. This includes IV-D cases in which the responsible parent is a noncustodial mother or a noncustodial father whose affidavit of parentage has been filed with the court or when paternity is not at issue for the child. The court may further order the responsible parent to participate in the work activities, as defined in 42 U.S.C. § 607, as the court deems appropriate. The amount of child support payments so ordered shall be determined as provided in G.S. 50-13.4(c). The prior judgment as to paternity shall be res judicata as to that issue and shall not be reconsidered by the court."

SECTION 3. G.S. 110-134 reads as rewritten:

"§ 110-134. Filing of affirmations, acknowledgments, agreements and orders; fees.

All ~~affirmations, acknowledgments, agreements~~affidavits, agreements, and resulting orders entered into under the provisions of G.S. 110-132 and G.S. 110- 133 shall be filed by the clerk of superior court in the county in which they are entered. The filing fee for the institution of an action through the entry of an order under either of these provisions shall be four dollars ($4.00)."

SECTION 4. G.S. 110-136.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 110-136.4. Implementation of withholding in IV-D cases.

(a) Withholding based on arrearages or obligor's request.

(1) Advance notice of withholding. When an obligor in a IV-D case becomes subject to income withholding, the obligee shall, after verifying the obligor's current employer or other payor, wages or other disposable income, and mailing address, serve the obligor with advance notice of withholding in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4, Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Contents of advance notice. The advance notice to the obligor shall contain, at a minimum, the following information:

a. Whether the proposed withholding is based on the obligor's failure to make legally obligated child support, alimony or postseparation support payments on the obligor's request for withholding, on the obligee's request for withholding, or on the obligor's eligibility for withholding under G.S. 110-136.3(b)(3);

b. The amount of overdue child support, overdue alimony or postseparation support payments, the total amount to be withheld, and when the withholding will occur;

c. The name of each child or person for whose benefit the child support, alimony or postseparation support payments are due and information sufficient to identify the court order under which the obligor has a duty to support the child, spouse, or former spouse;

d. The amount and sources of disposable income;

e. That the withholding will apply to the obligor's wages or other sources of disposable income from current payors and all subsequent payors once the procedures under this section are invoked;

f. An explanation of the obligor's rights and responsibilities pursuant to this section;

g. That withholding will be continued until terminated pursuant to G.S. 110-136.10.

(3) Contested withholding. The obligor may contest the withholding only on the basis of a mistake of fact, except that G.S. 110-129(10)(a) is not applicable if withholding is based on the obligor's or obligee's request for withholding. To contest the withholding, the obligor must, within 10 days of receipt of the advance notice of withholding, request a hearing in the county where the support order was entered before the district court and give notice to the obligee specifying the mistake of fact upon which the hearing request is based. If the asserted mistake of fact can be resolved by agreement between the obligee and the obligor, no hearing shall occur. Otherwise, a hearing shall be held and a determination made, within 30 days of the obligor's receipt of the advance notice of withholding, as to whether the asserted mistake of fact is valid. No withholding shall occur pending the hearing decision. The failure to hold a hearing within 30 days shall not invalidate an otherwise properly entered order. If it is determined that a mistake of fact exists, no withholding shall occur. Otherwise, within 45 days of the obligor's receipt of the advance notice of withholding, the obligee shall serve the payor, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, with notice of his obligation to withhold, and shall mail a copy of such notice to the obligor and file a copy with the clerk. In the event of appeal, withholding shall not be stayed. If the appeal is concluded in favor of the obligor, the obligee shall promptly repay sums wrongfully withheld and notify the payor to cease withholding.

(4) Uncontested withholding. If the obligor does not contest the withholding within the 10-day response period, the obligee shall serve the payor, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, with notice of his obligation to withhold, and shall mail a copy of such notice to the obligor and file a copy with the clerk.

(5) Payment not a defense to withholding. The payment of overdue support shall not be a basis for terminating or not implementing withholding.

(6) Inability to implement withholding. When an obligor is subject to withholding, but withholding under this section cannot be implemented because the obligor's location is unknown, because the extent and source of his disposable income cannot be determined, or for any other reason, the obligee shall either request the clerk of superior court to initiate enforcement proceedings under G.S. 15A-1344.1(d) or G.S. 50-13.9(d) or take other appropriate available measures to enforce the support obligation.

(b) Immediate income withholding. When a new or modified child support order is entered, the district court judge shall, after hearing evidence regarding the obligor's disposable income, place the obligor under an order for immediate income withholding. The IV-D agency shall serve the payor pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure, with a notice of his obligation to withhold, and shall mail a copy of such notice to the obligor and file a copy with the clerk. If information is unavailable regarding an obligor's disposable income, or the obligor is unemployed, or an agreement is reached between both parties which provides for an alternative arrangement, immediate income withholding shall not apply. The obligor, however, is subject to income withholding pursuant to G.S. 110-136.4(a).

(c) Subsequent payors. If the obligor changes employment or source of disposable income, notice to subsequent payors of their obligation to withhold shall be served as required by G.S. 1A-1, ~~Rule 4,~~Rule 5, Rules of Civil Procedure. Copies of such notice shall be filed with the clerk of court and served upon the obligor by first class mail.

(d) Multiple withholdings. The obligor must notify the obligee if the obligor is currently subject to another withholding for child support. In the case of two or more withholdings against one obligor, the obligee or obligees shall attempt to resolve any conflict between the orders in a manner that is fair and equitable to all parties and within the limits specified by G.S. 110-136.6. If the conflict cannot be so resolved, an injured party, upon request, shall be granted a hearing in accordance with the procedure specified in G.S. 110-136.4(c). The conflict between the withholding orders shall be resolved in accordance with G.S. 110-136.7.

(e) Modification of withholding. When an order for withholding has been entered under this section, the obligee may modify the withholding based on changed circumstances. The obligee shall proceed as is provided in this section.

(f) Applicability of section. The provisions of this section apply to IV-D cases only."

SECTION 5. The introductory language of Section 16 of S.L. 1999-293 reads as rewritten:

"Section 16. ~~G.S. 110-36.3~~G.S. 110-139 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:".

SECTION 6. G.S. 110-139(d1) is recodified as G.S. 110-139(c1).

SECTION 7. G.S. 110-139(c1) reads as rewritten:

"(c1) Employment verifications. – For the purpose of ~~establishing~~ establishing, enforcing, or modifying a child support order, the amount of the obligor's gross income may be established by a written statement signed by the obligor's employer or the employer's designee or an Employee Verification form produced by the Automated Collections and Tracking System that has been completed and signed by the obligor's employer or the employer's designee. A written statement signed by the employer of the obligor or the employer's designee that sets forth an obligor's gross income, as well as an Employee Verification form signed by the obligor's employer or the employer's designee is admissible evidence in any action ~~establishing~~ establishing, enforcing, or modifying a child support order."

SECTION 8. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 377:
DSS Changes 2-AB.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Culpepper
Date:	April 17, 2001	Summary by:	R. Erika Churchill
Version:	HB377-CSST-13v.5		Staff Counsel

*SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute would make various changes to statutes pertaining to child support. The proposed committee substitute differs from the bill as introduced by adding several sections implementing federal regulations regarding National Medical Support Notices.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would make clarifying and other substantive changes to statutes pertaining to child support. The following is a summary of the changes, organized by broad category and referenced to the bill section.

CLARIFYING AND TECHNICAL CHANGES.

- Changes the name of the forms used to acknowledge paternity to an "Affidavit of Parentage." Sections 2 and 3, pages 6-8. Currently, the form signed by the father is referred to as the 'Acknowledgement of Paternity' and the form signed by the mother is referred to as the 'Affirmation of Paternity.' These sections would combine the forms, and rename it an "Affidavit of Parentage," thereby updating the language to that used in the federal statutes. Section 2 also corrects a spelling error. Effective when it becomes law.
- Technical Corrections. Sections 5 and 6, page 10. During the 1999 Session of the General Assembly, an incorrect citation was used in language enacting a new subsection. Sections 5 and 6 correct the citation, and recodify the new subsection in the appropriate place in the section. Section 7 then amends the new subsection to include the ability to admit into evidence the Employee Verification during a hearing to enforce a child support order. Effective when it becomes law.
- Admissibility of Payment Records. Section 7, pages 10-11. The bill would clarify that the payment record maintained by the Centralized Collections Office is admissible in a child support action, and that the IV-D agent is qualified to authenticate this record for the court. Effective when it becomes law.

SUBSTANTIVE CHANGES.

- Require responsible parents to perform a job search. Sections 1 and 2, pages 1-7. Currently, a judge may require that an unemployed responsible parent conduct a job search or participate in work activities, such as community service, when enforcing a child support order. Sections 1 and 2 would provide the ability for the court to require the same job search or participation in work activities when the court is establishing an order for child support. Effective when it becomes law.
- Allow for periodic payments on child support judgments. Section 1, page 5. Currently, an arrearage owed for failure to pay child support may be reduced to a civil judgment, and enforced as any other civil judgment. The bill would allow the court to set periodic payment provisions on that civil judgment, and failure to comply with the periodic payment provisions as ordered by the court could be enforced by action for civil or criminal contempt. Effective when it becomes law.

- Change of Service Method. Section 4, pages 8-10. Currently, a IV-D agency is required to follow Rule 4 of the Rules of Civil Procedure when serving a notice of income wage withholding on an employer. Rule 4 generally covers service of the summons in an action. Typically, the IV-D agency uses certified mail for this service. The bill would allow the notice to implement income wage withholding to be served in accordance with Rule 5 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, which would allow service to be completed by placing the notice to implement income wage withholding in a properly addressed wrapper in a post office or official depository under exclusive care and custody of the United States Postal Service. Effective when it becomes law.

- National Medical Support Notice. Sections 8 through 11, pages 11-13. These sections would carry out the federal requirements under the final regulations implementing the 1988 changes to the Social Security Act with respect to Child Support. P.L. 105-200. The bill would add four new statutes setting forth the requirements of the National Medical Support Notice. The National Medical Support Notice is a federally required form that the IV-D agency must serve on the employer of a non-custodial parent when the non-custodial parent is court ordered to provide health insurance for the child or children covered under the child support order. 42 USC 1396g-1 and 29 CFR Part 2590. Upon receiving the Notice, the employer is required to transfer the Notice to the health insurer or health care plan administrator unless:
    - The employer does not maintain or contribute to plans providing dependent or family health insurance.
    - The employee is not eligible for a family health insurance plan maintained by the employer or to which the employer contributes.
    - The employer no longer employs the employee.
    - Withholding limitations prevent the employer from withholding the amount required to obtain insurance.

  Effective October 1, 2001.

  Once the Notice is transferred to the health insurer or health care plan administrator, the health insurer or health care plan administrator must enroll the child or children, notify the employer of the amount to withhold, and notify the employer of any applicable enrollment waiting periods. Effective July 1, 2002.

  If either the employer, the health insurer, or the health care plan administrator does not comply with the provisions, they can be held liable for a civil penalty and are subject to a civil suit for reasonable damages.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW LETTERS OF CREDIT TO SUBSTITUTE FOR SURETY BONDS TO MEET CERTAIN STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 1-339.25 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-339.25. Public sale; upset bid on real property; compliance bond.

(a) An upset bid is an advanced, increased or raised bid in a public sale by auction whereby a person offers to purchase real property theretofore sold for an amount exceeding the reported sale price by a minimum of five percent (5%) thereof, but in any event with a minimum increase of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00). An upset bid shall be made by delivering to the clerk of superior court, with whom the report of the sale was filed, a deposit in cash or by certified check or cashier's check satisfactory to the clerk in an amount greater than or equal to five percent (5%) of the amount of the upset bid but in no event less than seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00). The deposit required by this section shall be filed with the clerk of the superior court, with whom the report of sale was filed, by the close of normal business hours on the tenth day after the filing of the report of sale, and if the tenth day shall fall upon a Sunday or legal holiday or upon a day in which the office of the clerk is not open for the regular dispatch of its business, the deposit may be made on the day following when the office is open for the regular dispatch of its business. An upset bid need not be in writing, and the timely deposit with the clerk of the required amount, together with an indication to the clerk as to the sale to which it is applicable, is sufficient to constitute the upset bid, subject to the provisions of subsection (b) of this section.

(b) The clerk of the superior court may require a person submitting an upset bid also to deposit a cash bond, or, in lieu thereof at the option of the bidder, a surety bond or letter of credit, approved by the clerk, conditioned on compliance with the upset bid. The letter of credit shall be an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The amount of such bond or letter of credit shall not exceed the amount of the upset bid less the amount of the required deposit.

(c) The clerk of the superior court may in the order of resale require the highest bidder at a resale had pursuant to an upset bid to deposit with the clerk a cash bond, or, in lieu thereof at the option of the bidder, a surety bond or letter of credit, approved by the clerk, conditioned on compliance with his bid. The letter of credit shall be an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The bond shall be in such amount as the clerk deems adequate, but in no case greater than the amount of the bid of the person being required to furnish the bond.

(d) A compliance bond or letter of credit, such as is provided for by subsections (b) and (c), shall be payable to the State of North Carolina for the use of the parties in interest and shall be conditioned on the principal obligor's compliance with his bid.

(e) The provisions of this section do not apply to public sales of timber by sealed bid."

SECTION 2. G.S. 1-339.64 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-339.64. Upset bid on real property; compliance bond.

(a) An upset bid is an advanced, increased or raised bid whereby a person offers to purchase real property theretofore sold for an amount exceeding the reported sale price by a minimum of five percent (5%) thereof, but in any event with a minimum increase of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00). An upset bid shall be made by delivering to the clerk of superior court, with whom the report of sale was filed, a deposit in cash or by certified check or cashier's check satisfactory to the clerk in an amount greater than or equal to five percent (5%) of the amount of the upset bid but in no event less than seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00). The deposit required by this section shall be filed with the clerk of the superior court, with whom the report of sale was filed, by the close of normal business hours on the tenth day after the filing of the report of sale, and if the tenth day shall fall upon a Sunday or legal holiday or upon a day in which the office of the clerk is not open for the regular dispatch of its business, the deposit may be made and the upset bid filed on the day following when said office is open for the regular dispatch of its business. An upset bid need not be in writing, and the timely deposit with the clerk of the required amount, together with an indication to the clerk as to the sale to which it is applicable, is sufficient to constitute the upset bid, subject to the provisions of subsection (b).

(b) The clerk of the superior court may require the person submitting an upset bid also to deposit a cash bond, or, in lieu thereof at the option of the bidder, a surety bond or letter of credit, approved by the clerk, conditioned on compliance with the upset bid. The amount of such bond or letter of credit shall not exceed the amount of the upset bid less the amount of the required deposit. The letter of credit shall be an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

the clerk, conditioned on compliance with his bid. The bond or letter of credit shall be in such amount as the clerk deems adequate but in no case greater than the amount of the bid of the person being required to furnish the ~~bond.~~ bond or letter of credit. (d) A compliance bond, such as is provided for by subsections (b) and (c), shall be payable to the State of North Carolina for the use of the parties in interest and shall be conditioned on the principal obligor's compliance with his bid."

SECTION 3. G.S. 20-288(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Each applicant approved by the Division for license as a motor vehicle dealer, manufacturer, factory branch, distributor, distributor branch, or wholesaler shall furnish a corporate surety ~~bond~~ bond, letter of credit, ~~or~~ cash bond or fixed value equivalent of the bond. The amount of the bond or letter of credit for an applicant for a motor vehicle dealer's license is twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for one established salesroom of the applicant and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each of the applicant's additional established salesrooms. The amount of the bond or letter of credit for other applicants required to furnish a bond is twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for one place of business of the applicant and ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each of the applicant's additional places of business.

A corporate surety bond or letter of credit shall be approved by the Commissioner as to form and shall be conditioned that the obligor will faithfully conform to and abide by the provisions of this Article and Article 15. A cash bond or fixed value equivalent thereof shall be approved by the Commissioner as to form and terms of deposits as will secure the ultimate beneficiaries of the bond; and such bond shall not be available for delivery to any person contrary to the rules of the Commissioner. The letter of credit shall be an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Any purchaser of a motor vehicle who shall have suffered any loss or damage by any act of a license holder subject to this subsection that constitutes a violation of this Article or Article 15 shall have the right to institute an action to recover against the license holder and the surety. Every license holder against whom an action is instituted shall notify the Commissioner of the action within 10 days after served with process. A corporate surety bond or letter of credit shall remain in force and effect and may not be canceled by the surety unless the bonded person stops engaging in business or the person's license is denied, suspended, or revoked under G.S. 20-294. Such cancellation may be had only upon 30 days' written notice to the Commissioner and shall not affect any liability incurred or accrued prior to the termination of such 30-day period. This subsection does not apply to a license holder who deals only in trailers having an empty weight of 4,000 pounds or less. This subsection does not apply to manufacturers of, or dealers in, mobile or manufactured homes who furnish a corporate surety bond, cash bond, or fixed value equivalent thereof, pursuant to G.S. 143-143.12."

SECTION 4. G.S. 20-361 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-361. Application for permit and permit fee.

Application for a permit to move a structure must be made to the division or district engineer having jurisdiction at least two days prior to the date of the move. For good cause shown, this time may be waived by the district or division engineer. A travel plan and a permit application fee of twenty dollars ($20.00) shall accompany the application. Division or district engineers are authorized to issue permits for individual moves of a structure or building whose width does not exceed 36 feet. The travel plan will show the proposed route, the time estimated for each segment of the move, a plan to handle traffic so that no one delay to other highway users shall exceed 20 minutes. The division or district engineers shall review the travel plan and if the route cannot accommodate the move due to roadway weight limits, bridge size or weight limits, or will cause undue interruption of traffic flow, the permit shall not be issued. The applicant may submit alternate plans if desired until an acceptable route is determined. If the width of the building or structure to be relocated is more than 36 feet, or if no acceptable travel plan has been filed, and the denial of the permit would cause a hardship, the application and travel plan may be submitted to the Department on appeal. After reviewing the route and travel plan, the Department may in its discretion issue the permit after considering the practical physical limitations of the route, the nature and purpose of the move, the size and weight of the structure, the distance the structure is to be moved, and the safety and convenience of the traveling public. A surety bond or irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in an amount to cover the cost of any damage to the pavement, structures, bridges, roadway or other damages that may occur can be required if deemed necessary by the Department."

SECTION 5. G.S. 34-9 reads as rewritten:

"§ 34-9. Qualifications of guardian; surety bond.

Before making an appointment under the provisions of this Chapter the court shall be satisfied that the guardian whose appointment is sought is a fit and proper person to be appointed. Upon the appointment being made the guardian shall execute and file a surety bond or irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to be approved by the court in an amount not less than the sum then due and estimated to become payable during the ensuing year. The said bond or letter of credit shall be in the form and be conditioned as required of guardians appointed under the guardianship laws of this State. The court shall have power from time to time to require the guardian to file an additional bond or letter of credit.

No bond or letter of credit shall be required of the banks and trust companies licensed to do trust business in North Carolina."

SECTION 6. G.S. 44A-16(6) reads as rewritten:

"(6) Whenever a corporate surety bond or irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in a sum equal to one and one-fourth times the amount of the lien or liens claimed and conditioned upon the payment of the amount finally determined to be due in satisfaction of said lien or liens, is deposited with the clerk of court, whereupon the clerk of superior court shall cancel the lien or liens of record."

SECTION 7. G.S. 45-21.17A(g) reads as rewritten:

"(g) Action for Damages from Foreclosure Sale for Failure to Comply. – A person entitled to notice of sale by virtue of this section shall not bring any action for damages resulting from the sale on grounds that he was not mailed the notice unless such action is brought within six months of the date of the filing of the final report and account as provided in G.S. 45-21.33. The party bringing such an action shall also deposit with the clerk a cash or surety bond or irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation approved by the clerk and in such amount as the clerk deems adequate to secure the party defending the action for such costs, expenses, and reasonable attorneys' fees to be incurred in the action."

SECTION 8. G.S. 45-21.27 reads as rewritten:

"§ 45-21.27. Upset bid on real property; compliance bonds.

(a) An upset bid is an advanced, increased, or raised bid whereby any person offers to purchase real property theretofore sold, for an amount exceeding the reported sale price or last upset bid by a minimum of five percent (5%) thereof, but in any event with a minimum increase of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00). Subject to the provisions of subsection (b) of this section, an upset bid shall be made by delivering to the clerk of superior court, with whom the report of sale or last notice of upset bid was filed, a deposit in cash or by certified check or cashier's check satisfactory to the clerk in an amount greater than or equal to five percent (5%) of the amount of the upset bid but in no event less than seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00). The deposit required by this section shall be filed with the clerk of the superior court, with whom the report of the sale or the last notice of upset bid was filed by the close of normal business hours on the tenth day after the filing of the report of the sale or the last notice of upset bid, and if the tenth day shall fall upon a Sunday or legal holiday, or upon a day in which the office of the clerk is not open for the regular dispatch of its business, the deposit may be made and the notice of upset bid filed on the day following when said office is open for the regular dispatch of its business. Subject to the provisions of G.S. 45-21.30, there shall be no resales; rather, there may be successive upset bids each of which shall be followed by a period of 10 days for a further upset bid. When an upset bid is not filed following a sale, resale, or prior upset bid within the time specified, the rights of the parties to the sale or resale become fixed.

(b) The clerk of the superior court may require an upset bidder or the highest bidder at a resale held pursuant to G.S. 45-21.30 also to deposit with the clerk a cash bond, or, in lieu thereof at the option of the bidder, a surety bond or irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, approved by the clerk. The compliance bond or letter of credit shall be in such amount as the clerk deems adequate, but in no case greater than the amount of the bid of the person being required to furnish the bond or letter of credit, less the amount of any required deposit. The compliance bond or letter of credit shall be payable to the State of North Carolina for the use of the parties in interest and shall be conditioned on the principal obligor's compliance with the bid.

(c), (d) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 305, s. 16.

(e) At the same time that an upset bid on real property is submitted to the court as provided for in subsection (a) above, together with a compliance bond or letter of credit if one is required, the upset bidder shall simultaneously file with the clerk a notice of upset bid. The notice of upset bid shall:

(1) State the name, address, and telephone number of the upset bidder;

(2) Specify the amount of the upset bid;

(3) Provide that the sale shall remain open for a period of 10 days after the date on which the notice of upset bid is filed for the filing of additional upset bids as permitted by law; and

(4) Be signed by the upset bidder or the attorney or the agent of the upset bidder.

(e1) When an upset bid is made as provided in this section, the clerk shall notify the trustee or mortgagee who shall thereafter mail a written notice of upset bid by first-class mail to the last known address of the last prior bidder and the current record owner(s) of the property.

(f) When an upset bid is made as provided in this section, the last prior bidder, regardless of how the bid was made, shall be released from any further obligation on account of the bid and any ~~deposit~~ deposit, letter of credit, or bond provided by him shall be released.

(g) Any person offering to purchase real property by upset bid as permitted in this Article shall be subject to and bound by the terms of the original notice of sale except as modified by court order or the provisions of this Article.

(h) The clerk of superior court shall make all such orders as may be just and necessary to safeguard the interests of all parties, and shall have the authority to fix and determine all necessary procedural details with respect to upset bids in all instances in which this Article fails to make definite provisions as to that procedure."

SECTION 9. G.S. 66-94.1(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The provisions of Article 19 shall not apply to the sale or lease of any products, equipment, supplies or services where:

(3) The sale results in an improvement to realty owned or leased by the purchaser which enables the purchaser to receive goods on consignment from the seller or its affiliate. An "improvement to realty" occurs when a building or other structure is constructed or when significant improvements to an existing building or structure are made; and

(4) The seller has either a net worth on a consolidated basis, according to its most recent audited financial statement, of not less than five million dollars ($5,000,000) or has obtained a surety bond from a surety company authorized to do business in this State or an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in an amount equal to or greater than the gross revenues received from the sale or lease of products, equipment, supplies or services in this State during the preceding 12-month period which enabled the purchaser to start a business."

The amount of the ~~bond~~ bond, letter of credit, or trust account shall be an amount not less than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000). Any person who is damaged by any violation of this Article, or by the seller's breach of the contract for the business opportunity sale or of any obligation arising therefrom may bring an action against the bond or trust account to recover damages suffered; provided, however, that the aggregate liability of the ~~surety~~ surety, letter of credit, or trustee shall be only for actual damages and in no event shall exceed the amount of the ~~bond~~ bond, letter of credit, or trust account."

(1) The names and addresses of all athletes for whom the athlete agent is providing professional services as an athlete agent for compensation at the time of the renewal; and

(2) The names and addresses of all athletes not currently represented by the athlete agent for whom the athlete agent has performed professional services as an athlete agent for compensation during the three years preceding the date of the application.

(f) The fee for issuing a certificate of registration or renewing a registration is two hundred dollars ($200.00). The fee is payable when an application for a certificate or the renewal of a certificate is filed and is not refundable to the applicant if the certificate or renewal is denied. No fee is imposed for a temporary certificate of registration.

(g) When an application for registration or renewal is made and the registration process has not been completed, the Secretary of State may issue a temporary or provisional registration certificate that is valid for no more than 90 days.

(h) Before the issuance or renewal of a certificate of registration, an athlete agent that enters into a financial services contract with an athlete must deposit with the Secretary of State a surety bond or an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), payable to the State and conditioned that the person applying for the registration will comply with this Article, will pay all amounts due any individual or group of individuals when the person or the person's representative or agent has received those amounts, and will pay all damages caused to any athlete by reason of the intentional misrepresentation, fraud, deceit, or any unlawful or negligent act or omission by the registered athlete agent or the agent's representative or employee while acting within the scope of the financial services contract. The athlete agent shall maintain the bond or letter of credit until two years after the date on which the athlete agent ceases to engage in the provision of financial services for an athlete. This subsection does not limit the recovery of damages to the amount of the surety bond.

(i) If an athlete agent that has entered into a financial services contract with an athlete fails to file a new bond or letter of credit with the Secretary of State not later than the 30th day after date of receipt of a notice of cancellation issued by the surety of the ~~bond,~~ bond or the issuer of the letter of credit, the Secretary of State shall suspend the certificate of registration issued to that athlete agent under the bond or letter of credit until the athlete agent files a new surety bond with the Secretary of State.

(j) An athlete agent that enters into an agent contract only is not required to meet the bond requirements of this section.

(k) The registration requirements of this section do not apply to a North Carolina licensed and resident attorney who:

(1) Neither advertises directly for, nor solicits, any athlete by representing to any person that he has special experience or qualifications with regard to representing athletes; and

(2) Represents no more than two athletes."

SECTION 15. G.S. 97-170(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Every applicant shall execute and file with the Commissioner an agreement, as part of the application, in which the applicant agrees to deposit with the Commissioner cash, acceptable securities, an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, or a surety bond issued by a corporate surety that will guarantee the applicant's compliance with this Article and the Act pursuant to G.S. 97-185."

SECTION 16. G.S. 143-129(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Advertisement of the letting of such contracts shall be as follows:

Where the contract is to be let by a board or governing body of the State government, or of a State institution, as distinguished from a board or governing body of a subdivision of the State, proposals shall be invited by advertisement at least one week before the time specified for the opening of said proposals in a newspaper having general circulation in the State of North Carolina. Provided that the advertisements for bidders required by this section shall be published at such a time that at least seven full days shall lapse between the date of publication of notice and the date of the opening of bids.

Where the contract is to be let by a county, city, town or other subdivision of the State, proposals shall be invited by advertisement at least one week before the time specified for the opening of said proposals in a newspaper having general circulation in such county, city, town or other subdivision.

Such advertisement shall state the time and place where plans and specifications of proposed work or a complete description of the apparatus, supplies, materials or equipment may be had, and the time and place for opening of the proposals, and shall reserve to said board or governing body the right to reject any or all such proposals.

Proposals shall not be rejected for the purpose of evading the provisions of this Article. No board or governing body of the State or subdivision thereof shall assume responsibility for construction or purchase contracts, or guarantee the payments of labor or materials therefor except under provisions of this Article.

All proposals shall be opened in public and shall be recorded on the minutes of the board or governing body and the award shall be made to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, taking into consideration quality, performance and the time specified in the proposals for the performance of the contract. In the event the lowest responsible bids are in excess of the funds available for the project, the responsible board or governing body is authorized to enter into negotiations with the lowest responsible bidder above mentioned, making reasonable changes in the plans and specifications as may be necessary to bring the contract price within the funds available, and may award a contract to such bidder upon recommendation of the Department of Administration in the case of the State government or of a State institution or agency, or upon recommendation of the responsible commission, council or board in the case of a subdivision of the State, if such bidder will agree to perform the work at the negotiated price within the funds available therefor. If a contract cannot be let under the above conditions, the board or governing body is authorized to readvertise, as herein provided, after having made such changes in plans and specifications as may be necessary to bring the cost of the project within the funds available therefor. The procedure above specified may be repeated if necessary in order to secure an acceptable contract within the funds available therefor.

No proposal shall be considered or accepted by said board or governing body unless at the time of its filing the same shall be accompanied by a deposit with said board or governing body of cash or a cashier's check, or a certified check on some bank or trust company insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in an amount equal to not less than five percent (5%) of the proposal. In lieu of making the cash deposit as above provided, such bidder may file a bid bond executed by a corporate surety licensed under the laws of North Carolina to execute such bonds, or an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, conditioned that the surety will upon demand forthwith make payment to the obligee upon said bond or letter of credit if the bidder fails to execute the contract in accordance with the bid bond. This deposit shall be retained if the successful bidder fails to execute the contract within 10 days after the award or fails to give satisfactory surety as required herein. In the case of proposals for the purchase of apparatus, supplies, materials, or equipment, the board or governing body may waive the requirement for a bid ~~bond~~ bond, letter or credit, or other deposit.

Bids shall be sealed and the opening of an envelope or package with knowledge that it contains a bid or the disclosure or exhibition of the contents of any bid by anyone without the permission of the bidder prior to the time set for opening in the invitation to bid shall constitute a Class 1 misdemeanor."

SECTION 17. G.S. 143-139.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 143-139.1. Certification of manufactured buildings, structures or components by recognized independent testing laboratory.

The State Building Code may provide, in circumstances deemed appropriate by the Building Code Council, for testing, evaluation, inspection, and certification of buildings, structures or components manufactured off the site on which they are to be erected, by a recognized independent testing laboratory having follow-up inspection services approved by the Building Code Council. Approval of such buildings, structures or components shall be evidenced by labels or seals acceptable to the Council. All building units, structures or components bearing such labels or seals shall be deemed to meet the requirements of the State Building Code and this Article without further inspection or payment of fees, except as may be required for the enforcement of the Code relative to the connection of units and components and enforcement of local ordinances governing zoning, utility connections, and foundations permits. The Building Code Council shall adopt and may amend from time to time such reasonable and appropriate rules and regulations as it deems necessary for approval of agencies offering such testing, evaluation, inspection, and certification services and for overseeing their operations. Such rules and regulations shall include provisions to insure that such agencies are independent and free of any potential conflicts of interest which might influence their judgment in exercising their functions under the Code. Such rules and regulations may include a schedule of reasonable fees to cover administrative expenses in approving and overseeing operations of such agencies and may require the posting of a bond or other security satisfactory to the Council guaranteeing faithful performance of duties under the Code.

The Building Code Council may also adopt rules to insure that any person that is not licensed, in accordance with G.S. 87-1, and that undertakes to erect a North Carolina labeled manufactured modular building, meets the manufacturer's installation instructions and applicable provisions of the State Building Code. Any such person, before securing a permit to erect a modular building, shall provide the code enforcement official proof that he has in force for each modular building to be erected a $5,000 surety bond or an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank or savings institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insuring compliance with the regulations of the State Building Code governing installation of modular buildings."

HOUSE BILL 1053

Short Title:	Action on Construction Payment Bond.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Representatives Baddour, McMahan, Gibson, and Cox (Primary Sponsors).
Referred to:	Judiciary II.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO SHORTEN THE TIME PERIOD IN WHICH A CLAIMANT MAY BRING AN ACTION ON A PAYMENT BOND WHEN THE CLAIMANT HAS A DIRECT CONTRACTUAL RELATIONSHIP WITH A SUBCONTRACTOR IN CONNECTION WITH A CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT BUT NO CONTRACTUAL RELATIONSHIP WITH THE CONTRACTOR.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 44A-27(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Any claimant who has a direct contractual relationship with any subcontractor but has no contractual relationship, express or implied, with the contractor may bring an action on the payment bond only if he has given written notice to the contractor within ~~180~~ 120 days from the date on which the claimant performed the last of the labor or furnished the last of the materials for which he claims payment, stating with substantial accuracy the amount claimed and the name of the person for whom the work was performed or to whom the material was furnished."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective October 1, 2001, and applies to actions on payment bonds filed on or after that date.

HB 1053:
Action on Construction Payment Bond

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Baddour
Date:	April 17, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

BILL ANALYSIS: Under current law, lower-tiered subcontractors that have a contractual relationship with a subcontractor but no contractual relationship with the prime contractor may bring an action on a payment bond posted by the prime contractor for the recovery of monies owed the lower-tiered subcontractor by the subcontractor. However, to have the right to bring the action, the lower-tiered subcontractor must give notice to the prime contractor as to the amount claimed within 180 days after the lower-tiered subcontractor finishes his or her work for the subcontractor. This bill would change the number of days the lower-tiered subcontractor has to notify the prime contractor of the claim against the bond from 180 days to 120 days.

This bill is effective October 1, 2001, and applies to actions on payment bonds on or after that date.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Representative Culpepper, Bill Sponsor
Representative Baddour, Chair, House Judiciary II Committee

FROM: R. Erika Churchill, Staff Attorney, Research Division
Jim Johnson, Director, Fiscal Research Division

RE: Certificate for House Bill 377 – DSS Changes 2-AB.

DATE: April 23, 2001

North Carolina G.S. 120-36.8 requires the attachment of a certification prepared by the Fiscal Research Division to any bill proposing a change in law that purports to:

1. Be required to implement a federal law;
2. Bring the State into compliance with federal law; or
3. Be necessary in order for the State to qualify for receipt of federal funds.

House Bill 377, as amended in the proposed committee substitute approved by the House Judiciary II Committee, purports to bring North Carolina into compliance with federal law and regulation in order to continue receiving federal funds. This memorandum will serve as the certificate as required in G.S. 120-36.8.

SUMMARY OF FEDERAL LEGISLATION.

In June 1998, the President signed the Child Support Performance and Incentive Act of 1998 (the Act) into law. P.L. 105-200. As a part of the Act, the Secretaries of the Departments of Health and Human Services and Labor were required to design and implement a standardized medical support notice. In turn, all State child support enforcement agencies are required to use this standardized form to communicate the issuance of a medical support order to continue receiving federal funds under the Act. Additionally, employers are required to accept the form as a "qualified medical support order" under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA). Regulations implementing these provisions of the Act were published in December 2000, requiring States to adopt laws regarding the procedures set forth in the regulations. The final regulations require States to begin using the National Medical Support Notice (Notice) by October 1, 2001.

HOUSE BILL 377.

Sections 8 through 11 of the proposed committee substitute as adopted by the Committee would carry out the federal requirements under the final regulations implementing the Act. The bill would add four new statutes setting forth the requirements of the Notice. The National Medical Support Notice is the federally required form, developed by the Secretaries of the Departments of Health and Human Services and Labor, that a IV-D agency must serve on the employer of a non-custodial parent when the non-custodial parent is court ordered to provide health insurance for the child or children covered under the child support order. 42 USC 1396g-1 and 29 CFR Part 2590.

As required by the final implementing regulations, effective October 1, 2001 the employer, upon receipt, is required to transfer the Notice to the health insurer or health care plan administrator within 20 business days unless:

- The employer does not maintain or contribute to plans providing dependent or family health insurance.
- The employee is not eligible for a family health insurance plan maintained by the employer or to which the employer contributes.
- The employer no longer employs the employee.
- Withholding limitations prevent the employer from withholding the amount required to obtain insurance.

Once the Notice is transferred to the health insurer or health care plan administrator, the health insurer or health care plan administrator must enroll the child or children, notify the employer of the amount to withhold, and notify the employer of any applicable enrollment waiting periods. If the employer, the health insurer, or the health care plan administrator does not comply with the provisions, they can be held liable for a civil penalty and are subject to a civil suit for reasonable damages.

FISCAL RESEARCH OPINION.

It is the opinion of the Fiscal Research Division, after consultation with the Research Division, that House Bill 377 will bring the State into compliance with the final regulations implementing P.L. 105-200 regarding the National Medical Support Notice.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA TO PROVIDE FOR GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENT OF JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT AND JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND TO PROVIDE FOR RETENTION BY VOTE OF THE PEOPLE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Section 16 of Article IV of the North Carolina Constitution reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 16. ~~Terms of office and election of Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and Judges of the Superior Court.~~ Selection and tenure of Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Court of Appeals; election of Judges of the Superior Court.

(1) Election of judges of the Superior Court. ~~Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and regular~~ Judges of the Superior Court ~~shall be elected by the qualified voters and~~ shall hold office for terms of eight years and until their successors are elected and qualified. ~~Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Court of Appeals shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State.~~ Regular Judges of the Superior Court ~~may~~ shall be elected by the qualified voters of ~~the State or by the voters of~~ their respective ~~districts, as the General Assembly may prescribe.~~ districts.

(2) Appointment, retention election, and terms of justices and judges of the Appellate Division. On and after January 1, 2003, when a vacancy occurs in the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division, the Governor shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy. For the purposes of this section, creation of a new judgeship within the Appellate Division creates a vacancy. Prior to appointment, such nominations by the Governor shall be subject to confirmation of the General Assembly by a simple majority of the members of each house present and voting. Each house of the General Assembly shall vote on confirmation within 60 calendar days of the date of nomination, except that no day shall be included within that calculation if it is:

(a) Between sine die adjournment of one regular session and convening of the next regular session; or

(b) During any period when the General Assembly has adjourned a regular session for more than 30 days jointly as provided under Section 20 of Article II of this Constitution.

If a nomination is made during either of the periods listed in subdivision (a) or (b) of this subsection, the Governor may convene the General Assembly in extra session for the purpose of considering confirmation of the nomination. No action of that extra session shall be valid after the second calendar day of that session, and that extra session may not consider any matters other than rules for the extra session, confirmation of the nomination, and adjournment sine die. The nomination may not be confirmed in any extra session other than one called under this subsection.

The term of office by appointment as Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division extends through December 31 after the next statewide election for members of the General Assembly that is held more than 60 months after the appointment. At that election, a person holding by appointment the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division who desires to continue in office shall be subject to approval by nonpartisan ballot, by a majority of the votes cast on the issue of the Justice's or Judge's retention. A Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division then approved for retention serves a regular term.

The regular term of office of the Chief Justice, Associate Justices, and Judges of the Appellate Division is eight years and expires on December 31.

A Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division who desires to continue in office shall be subject to approval by nonpartisan ballot, by a majority of the votes cast on the issue of the Justice's or Judge's retention during the next general election preceding December 31 of the year that the Justice's or Judge's eight-year term would expire.

If the voters fail to approve the retention in office of a Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division serving an appointed or regular term, the office shall become vacant at the end of the term of office, and it shall be filled by appointment as prescribed in this section.

Voting in a retention election on the Chief Justice, Associate Justices, and Judges of the Appellate Division shall be the qualified voters of the whole State.

(3) Transition provisions. A person elected before January 1, 2003, to the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division for a term which extends beyond January 1, 2003, and who is in office on January 1, 2003, may continue to serve for the remainder of the term. That person may stand for retention in the office for a succeeding regular term as provided in this section, subject to the provisions of G.S. 7A-4.20. If the person continues to serve for the remainder of the term but does not stand for retention election, a vacancy is created in the office upon expiration of the term, and this vacancy shall be filled by appointment as provided in this section.

The term of office of a person who has been appointed before January 1, 2003, to the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division for a term which extends beyond January 1, 2003, and who is in office on January 1, 2003, shall end on December 31, 2004. If the person so appointed wishes to continue to serve an additional term, that person shall provide written notice to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than 5:00 p.m. on April 30, 2004, and shall be reappointed subject to confirmation by the General Assembly as provided herein. The term of office by reappointment of the person, if so confirmed, shall be the same as the term of office when the Governor makes an appointment and the appointment is confirmed by the General Assembly, as provided herein. The term of office for the person will begin January 1, 2005.

Upon the death, resignation, removal, or retirement of any incumbent Justice or Judge on or after January 1, 2003, and before the expiration of the Justice's or Judge's term of office, the resulting vacancy shall be filled by appointment as provided in this section.

Vacancies in judicial offices in the Appellate Division occurring before January 1, 2003, and not filled by that date shall be filled by appointment as provided in this section.

From the date any incumbent described in this subsection is continued in office by retention vote for a term next succeeding the term in progress on January 1, 2003, or is succeeded in office by another person, the office is held subject to the provisions of this section.

(4) The General Assembly may implement this section by general law."

SECTION 2. The amendment set out in Section 1 of this act shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the general election in November 2002, which election shall be conducted under the laws then governing elections in the State. Ballots, voting systems, or both may be used in accordance with Chapter 163 of the General Statutes.

"[ ] FOR [ ] AGAINST

Constitutional amendment to replace the present practice of partisan election of justices and judges of the Appellate Division with a method by which justices and judges of the Appellate Division will be appointed by the Governor, confirmed by the General Assembly, and then serve for limited terms after which the question of the justice's or judge's retention in office is regularly submitted for approval or disapproval by nonpartisan vote of the people at general elections."

SECTION 3. If a majority of votes cast on the question are in favor of the amendment set out in Section 1 of this act, the State Board of Elections shall certify the amendment to the Secretary of State. The amendment becomes effective upon this certification. The Secretary of State shall enroll the amendment so certified among the permanent records of that office.

SECTION 3.1. Chapter 7A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"§ 7A-4.2. Confirmation procedures.

(a) A legislative committee to which the issue of confirmation is referred may conduct an investigation of the nominee. The investigation may include an evaluation of the nominee's ethical conduct, the nominee's knowledge of and application of the law, the nominee's management of the courts over which he or she has presided, the nominee's work habits, the nominee's health, and the nominee's judicial demeanor. The nominee shall be given an opportunity to present to the committee any information that the nominee determines to be appropriate.

(b) The committee shall be allowed to inspect the files of the Judicial Standards Commission by request of the chair of the committee. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 7A-377, the files of the Judicial Standards Commission shall be made available to the committee. Every person duly nominated by the Governor as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, or Judge of the Court of Appeals and duly confirmed by the General Assembly shall be appointed by the Governor and shall procure from the Governor a commission attesting that fact, which the Governor shall issue upon receipt of a certification by the Secretary of State of the joint resolution of confirmation.

When a judge is retained in office by vote of the people, the Governor shall issue a commission attesting that fact, which the Governor shall issue upon receipt of a certification by the Secretary of State of the results of the election.

"§ 7A-4.4. No elections in 2003.

No partisan election as previously provided by law for Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, or Judge of the Court of Appeals shall be held in 2003 or thereafter.

(a) As provided by Section 16 of Article IV of the North Carolina Constitution, a Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court or Judge of the Court of Appeals desiring to continue in office shall be subject to approval by nonpartisan ballot, by a majority of votes cast on the issue of the justice's or judge's retention.

(b) A person subject to subsection (a) of this section shall indicate the desire to continue in office by filing a notice to that effect with the State Board of Elections no later than 12:00 noon on the first business day of July in the year of the election. The notice shall be on a form approved by the State Board of Elections. Notice can be withdrawn at any time prior to the deadline for filing notice under this subsection.

(c) Retention elections shall be conducted and canvassed in accordance with rules of the State Board of Elections in the same general manner as general elections under Chapter 163 of the General Statutes, except that the retention election is nonpartisan. The form of the ballot shall be determined by the State Board of Elections.

(d) Retention elections shall be placed at the top of the ballot above all other elections or matters for decision, whether partisan, nonpartisan, or otherwise.

(e) If a person who has filed a notice calling a retention election dies or is removed from office prior to the time that the ballots are printed, the retention election is cancelled. If a person who has filed a notice calling a retention election dies or is removed from office after the ballots are printed, the State Board of Elections may cancel the election if it determines that the ballots can be reprinted without significant expense. If the ballots cannot be reprinted, then the results of the election shall be ineffective.

For the purposes of this section, creation of a new judgeship within the Appellate Division creates a vacancy. Prior to appointment, such nominations by the Governor shall be subject to confirmation of the General Assembly by a simple majority of the members of each house present and voting. Each house of the General Assembly shall vote on confirmation within 60 calendar days of the date of nomination, except that no day shall be included within that calculation if it is:

(a) Between sine die adjournment of one regular session and convening of the next regular session; or

If a nomination is made during either of the periods listed in subdivision (a) or (b) of this subsection, the Governor may convene the General Assembly in extra session for the purpose of considering confirmation of the nomination. No action of that extra session shall be valid after the second calendar day of that session, and that extra session may not consider any matters other than rules for the extra session, confirmation of the nomination, and adjournment sine die. The nomination may not be confirmed in any extra session other than one called under this subsection.

The term of office by appointment as Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division extends through December 31 after the next statewide election for members of the General Assembly that is held more than 60 months after the appointment. At that election, a person holding by appointment the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division who desires to continue in office shall be subject to approval by nonpartisan ballot, by a majority of the votes cast on the issue of the Justice's or Judge's retention. A Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division then approved for retention serves a regular term.

The regular term of office of the Chief Justice, Associate Justices, and Judges of the Appellate Division is eight years and expires on December 31.

A Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division who desires to continue in office shall be subject to approval by nonpartisan ballot, by a majority of the votes cast on the issue of the Justice's or Judge's retention during the next general election preceding December 31 of the year that the Justice's or Judge's eight-year term would expire.

If the voters fail to approve the retention in office of a Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division serving an appointed or regular term, the office shall become vacant at the end of the term of office, and it shall be filled by appointment as prescribed in this section.

Voting in a retention election on the Chief Justice, Associate Justices, and Judges of the Appellate Division shall be the qualified voters of the whole State.

(3) Transition provisions. A person elected before January 1, 2003, to the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division for a term which extends beyond January 1, 2003, and who is in office on January 1, 2003, may continue to serve for the remainder of the term. That person may stand for retention in the office for a succeeding regular term as provided in this section, subject to the provisions of G.S. 7A-4.20. If the person continues to serve for the remainder of the term but does not stand for retention election, a vacancy is created in the office upon expiration of the term, and this vacancy shall be filled by appointment as provided in this section.

The term of office of a person who has been appointed before January 1, 2003, to the office of Chief Justice, Associate Justice, or Judge of the Appellate Division for a term which extends beyond January 1, 2003, and who is in office on January 1, 2003, shall end on December 31, 2004. If the person so appointed wishes to continue to serve an additional term, that person shall provide written notice to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than 5:00 p.m. on April 30, 2004, and shall be reappointed subject to confirmation by the General Assembly as provided herein. The term of office by reappointment of the person, if so confirmed, shall be the same as the term of office when the Governor makes an appointment and the appointment is confirmed by the General Assembly, as provided herein. The term of office for the person will begin January 1, 2005.

Upon the death, resignation, removal, or retirement of any incumbent Justice or Judge on or after January 1, 2003, and before the expiration of the Justice's or Judge's term of office, the resulting vacancy shall be filled by appointment as provided in this section.

Vacancies in judicial offices in the Appellate Division occurring before January 1, 2003, and not filled by that date shall be filled by appointment as provided in this section.

From the date any incumbent described in this subsection is continued in office by retention vote for a term next succeeding the term in progress on January 1, 2003, or is succeeded in office by another person, the office is held subject to the provisions of this section.

SECTION 3. If a majority of votes cast on the question are in favor of the amendment set out in Section 1 of this act, the State Board of Elections shall certify the amendment to the Secretary of State. HB 989:
Judicial App./Voter Retention

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representatives Michaux, Sutton, and Barefoot
Date:	April 17, 2001
Version:	H989-CSSK-22[v.2]	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer Committee Counsel

BILL SUMMARY: This bill provides for the appointment, confirmation, and retention election of Appeals Court and Supreme Court Judges.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Constitutional Amendment: This bill would require a referendum on a constitutional amendment at the general election in November of 2002. The amendments to the North Carolina Constitution, if approved by the voters, are as follows.

- Provide for the Appointment of Appeals Court and Supreme Court Judges. Under the North Carolina Constitution, North Carolina Appeals Court and Supreme Court judges are elected by the people. These judges are appointed by the governor only when a vacancy occurs. This bill would require a statewide referendum on a constitutional amendment authorizing the governor to appoint all Appeals Court and Supreme Court judges. The appointment must be confirmed by the General Assembly. Appointed judges will serve an initial term that expires on December 31st after the next statewide election for General Assembly members that is held more than 60 months after the appointment. In other words, the term could last a minimum of five years to a maximum of almost seven years depending on when the statewide election is held. If the 2002 referendum passes, the first appointments may take place to fill vacancies occurring on or after January 1, 2003 or vacancies in existence on January 1, 2003.
- 60 Days to Confirm and Special Session. The General Assembly has 60 days from the date of the nomination to vote on the confirmation of a judge. However, this does not include the period between sessions. The Governor may call an extra session to consider a nomination. The General Assembly must take action within the first two days of the extra session.
- Retention Election. If, after a judge's first term, the judge desires to continue serving on the bench, he or she must run in a retention election. The election is nonpartisan. If the judge fails to retain their seat, then the governor fills the vacancy. Judges elected before January 1, 2003 and in office on January 1, 2003 may serve the remainder of their term and then must run in a retention election to retain their seat. Judges appointed before January 1, 2003 and in office on January 1, 2003 (this would only apply to judges appointed less than 60 days before the November 2003 election), may be reappointed, subject to confirmation by the General Assembly.
- Superior Court Judges. Under the North Carolina Constitution, the General Assembly determines whether Regular Superior Court Judges are elected "by the qualified voters of the State or by the voters of their respective district." (Section 16 of Art. IV of the NC Const.) This bill would require Regular Superior Court Judges to be elected by the voters of their district.

Statutory Changes: Subject to the passage of the constitutional amendment, this bill makes a number of technical and conforming changes to existing statutes. The bill also creates a new Article 1A of Chapter 7A. The new article states the requirements for the appointment, confirmation and retention election of Appeals Court and Supreme Court Judges. These requirements include:

- Legislative hearing procedures for the confirmation of judges.
- The requirement that the governor must issue commissions to nominees confirmed by the Legislature
- That no partisan elections for judges shall be held in 2003.
- That those running in a retention election must file by the first working day of July before the election, and that retention elections must be placed at the top of the ballot.
- That the filing fee for running in a retention election is equal to 1% of the annual salary of the office sought, and the circumstances under which this filing fee may be refunded (death, removal from office, etc.).

EFFECTIVE DATE: The sections amending the statutory provisions are effective only if the constitutional amendment is approved by the voters and the remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

BACKGROUND: House Judiciary IV heard a similar bill, SB 12, in 1999. SB 12 differed from this bill in some aspects, including that it did not require the legislature to confirm appointments.

STRENGTHEN COUNTERFEITING LAWS AND REGULATE CHECK PRODUCING SOFTWARE

The Background

Over the past two years, the number of fraudulent checks passed to retailers in North Carolina has increased dramatically. Although stolen checks still account for some of the losses, counterfeit checks now makeup the majority of fraudulent checks passed in North Carolina. The majority of these checks are bogus checks that are created to look like a legitimate check from a legitimate company. The most common counterfeit check is made using a product called "Versacheck." Versacheck is a software product, intended to be used by legitimate businesses to print payroll checks at a reduced cost. However, the primary user of Versacheck has changed from small business to counterfeiters. One retailer estimates that over 70% of all Versachecks tendered in North Carolina are fraudulent checks.

The process begins when a legitimate check belonging to a business or consumer is obtained by a counterfeiter. The counterfeiter uses check producing software to create a check the same size and color as the original. The routing number from the legitimate check is printed on the counterfeit check with magnetic ink. The counterfeiter scans in the company logo and signature and prints out the counterfeit check. He thereby creates a check that is in every way indistinguishable from the check belonging to the business or consumer. Using fake ID's the "frontmen" for these counterfeit rings drop tens of thousands of dollars in our state leaving retailers, banks and average citizens to suffer huge losses.

The Problem

The current North Carolina laws for counterfeiting and forgery have not kept up with technology. The definition of the elements of counterfeiting and forgery still remain in common law and are not present in the General Statutes, which makes District Attorneys less willing to prosecute people committing these crimes. The manufacturers of Versacheck and similar products continue to distribute their product even though innocent parties are consistently being harmed and the cost of goods is driven up due to losses attributable to their use.

The Solution

The elements of the crimes of counterfeiting and forgery should be modernized and placed in the General Statutes. The penalties should be increased to a Class H felony and require a person convicted of such a crime to pay civil damages to those injured by the commission of these crimes. Finally, any software that allows a purchaser to produce checks should be inoperable until the purchaser unlocks the software by registering with the manufacturer and any checks printed with this type of software must bear a registration number attributable to the purchaser.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 9(j) reads as rewritten:

(2) The pleading specifically asserts that the medical care has been reviewed by a person that the complainant will seek to have qualified as an expert witness by motion under Rule 702(e) of the Rules of Evidence and who is willing to testify that the medical care did not comply with the applicable standard of care, and the motion is filed with the complaint; or

HOUSE BILL 434: Amend Rule 9(j)

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representatives Haire and Pope
Date:	April 18, 2001
Version:	First Edition	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 434 would amend Rule 9(j) to provide that a resident judge of the superior court for the judicial district in which venue for a medical malpractice cause of action is appropriate under G.S. 1-82 or, if no resident judge for that judicial district is physically present in that judicial district, otherwise available, or able or willing to consider the motion, then any presiding judge of the superior court for that judicial district may allow a motion to extend the statute of limitations for a period not to exceed 120 days to file a complaint in a medical malpractice action.

CURRENT LAW: Current Rule 9(j) provides that a resident judge of the superior court of the county in which a medical malpractice cause of action arose may allow a motion to extend the statute of limitations for a period not to exceed 120 days to file a complaint in a medical malpractice action.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 434 is a recommendation of the Civil Litigation Study Commission. It would amend Rule 9(j) to provide that a resident judge of the superior court for the judicial district in which venue for a medical malpractice cause of action is appropriate under G.S. 1-82 or, if no resident judge for that judicial district is physically present in that judicial district, otherwise available, or able or willing to consider the motion, then any presiding judge of the superior court for that judicial district may allow a motion to extend the statute of limitations for a period not to exceed 120 days to file a complaint in a medical malpractice action.

BACKGROUND: G.S. 1-82 (Venue in all other cases) generally provides that an action must be tried in the county in which the plaintiff or the defendant resides at the commencement of the suit.

EFFECTIVE DATE: House Bill 434 would become effective October 1, 2001, and apply to actions filed on or after that date.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

April 19, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Thursday, April 19, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 10:00 a.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Culpepper, Decker, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Miner, Pope, and Sherrill. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and recognized the Pages. He then called for consideration of the following bills:

HB 1118 Fraud Against Financial Institutions. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Church, bill sponsor, to explain the bill. The committee raised a few questions with regard to the practical implications of this bill. The chair recognized Paul Stock of the North Carolina Bankers Association to express his support for the bill. Rep. Justus moved that the bill receive a favorable report. Motion passed unanimously.

HB 1174 Increase Penalty/Drug Sales @ Parks. The chair recognized Rep. Miller, bill sponsor to explain the bill. Rep. Sherrill questioned why the bill was limited to those 21 years or older. Rep. Miller explained that the idea was to target older adults who were preying on younger children. Rep. Hall moved that the bill be given a favorable report. Motion passed.

HB 1314 County Appeal of Juvenile Orders. Rep. Haire presided as Rep. Baddour, bill sponsor, explained the bill. Rep. Justus questioned the need for the bill, and Rep. Decker questioned whether or not this bill allowed counties to appeal the type of treatment ordered by the court. Patrice Rossler of the Association of County Commissioners stated that the bill came about because judges were directing a juvenile to a particular facility rather than assigning them to a particular form of treatment. There being further questions and comments from the committee, the bill was displaced.

The meeting adjourned at 10:45 a.m.

HOUSE BILL 1174

Short Title:	Increase Penalty/Drug Sales @ Parks.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Representative Miller.
Referred to:	Judiciary II.

April 12, 2001

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO INCREASE THE CRIMINAL PENALTY FOR THE SALE OF DRUGS IN PUBLIC PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 90-95(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) The prescribed punishment and degree of any offense under this Article shall be subject to the following conditions, but the punishment for an offense may be increased only by the maximum authorized under any one of the applicable conditions:

(1), (2) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 760, s. 5.

(3) If any person commits a Class 1 misdemeanor under this Article and if he has previously been convicted for one or more offenses under any law of North Carolina or any law of the United States or any other state, which offenses are punishable under any provision of this Article, he shall be punished as a Class I felon. The prior conviction used to raise the current offense to a Class I felony shall not be used to calculate the prior record level.

(4) If any person commits a Class 2 misdemeanor, and if he has previously been convicted for one or more offenses under any law of North Carolina or any law of the United States or any other state, which offenses are punishable under any provision of this Article, he shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. The prior conviction used to raise the current offense to a Class 1 misdemeanor shall not be used to calculate the prior conviction level.

(5) Any person 18 years of age or over who violates G.S. 90-95(a)(1) by selling or delivering a controlled substance to a person under 16 years of age but more than 13 years of age or a pregnant female shall be punished as a Class D felon. Any person 18 years of age or over who violates G.S. 90-95(a)(1) by selling or delivering a controlled substance to a person who is 13 years of age or younger shall be punished as a Class C felon. Mistake of age is not a defense to a prosecution under this section. It shall not be a defense that the defendant did not know that the recipient was pregnant.

(6) For the purpose of increasing punishment under G.S. 90-95(e)(3) and (e)(4), previous convictions for offenses shall be counted by the number of separate trials at which final convictions were obtained and not by the number of charges at a single trial.

(7) If any person commits an offense under this Article for which the prescribed punishment requires that any sentence of imprisonment be suspended, and if he has previously been convicted for one or more offenses under any law of North Carolina or any law of the United States or any other state, which offenses are punishable under any provision of this Article, he shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(8) Any person 21 years of age or older who commits an offense under G.S. 90-95(a)(1) on property used for an elementary or secondary school or within 300 feet of the boundary of real property used for an elementary or secondary school shall be punished as a Class E felon. For purposes of this subdivision, the transfer of less than five grams of marijuana for no remuneration shall not constitute a delivery in violation of G.S. 90-95(a)(1).

(9) Any person who violates G.S. 90-95(a)(3) on the premises of a penal institution or local confinement facility shall be guilty of a Class H felony.

(10) Any person 21 years of age or older who commits an offense under G.S. 90-95(a)(1) on property that is a playground in a public park or within 300 feet of the boundary of real property that is a playground in a public park shall be punished as a Class E felon. For purposes of this subdivision, the transfer of less than five grams of marijuana for no remuneration shall not constitute a delivery in violation of G.S. 90-95(a)(1). For purposes of this subdivision the term "playground" means any outdoor facility (including any parking lot appurtenant thereto) intended for recreation open to the public, and with any portion thereof containing three or more separate apparatuses intended for the recreation of children including, but not limited to, sliding boards, swingsets, and teeterboards."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective December 1, 2001, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

HOUSE BILL 1174:
Increase Penalty/Drug Sales at Parks

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Miller
Date:	April 19, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1174 would provide that any person 21 years of age or older who manufactures, sells, or delivers or who possesses with intent to manufacture, sell, or deliver a controlled substance on or within 300 feet of a playground in a public park will be punished as a Class E felon.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, except as authorized under the Controlled Substances Act, it is unlawful for any person to manufacture, sell, or deliver, or possess with intent to manufacture, sell, or deliver a controlled substance. The penalties for violation of this prohibition depend on the type and amount of controlled substance involved and generally range from a Class I felony to a Class C felony. The higher-level felonies (Class C and D) are reserved for very large quantities of particular controlled substances.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1174 would provide that any person 21 years of age or older who manufactures, sells, or delivers or who possesses with intent to manufacture, sell, or deliver a controlled substance on or within 300 feet of a playground in a public park will be punished as a Class E felon. This provision would not apply to the transfer of less than five grams of marijuana for no payment. "Playground" is defined as any outdoor facility, including any parking lot serving the facility, intended for recreation, open to the public, and containing three or more separate apparatuses intended for the recreation of children.

EFFECTIVE DATE: House Bill 1174 would become effective December 1, 2001, and would apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

April 19, 2001 – 1:00 p.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Thursday, April 19, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 1:00 p.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairmen Phil Haire and Toby Fitch, Representatives Bowie, Culpepper, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Miller, Miner, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and then called for consideration of the following bill:

HB 1284 Openness of Court Records & Proceedings. Rep. Culpepper moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Weiss, bill sponsor, to explain the bill. Rep. Weiss provided a section by section review of the bill for the committee. Rep. Fitch questioned why the financial aspect was eliminated. Dick Taylor with the Academy of Trial Lawyers pointed out that this legislation was similar to that of other states, and the monetary amount was not disclosed because it was not related to the public interest. Jennie Buckner, editor of the Charlotte Observer, spoke in support of the bill. Rep. Pope and Rep. Fitch question how the bill complies with Rule 5. Jeff Hunt with the Conference of D.A.s suggested that the criminal aspect be removed from the bill, and that the bill deal solely with civil court. John Bussian of the North Carolina Press Association spoke in support of the bill, and stated that it simply codifies a constitutionally required safeguard. Following much discussion and debate from the committee, Rep. Fitch moves to amend the portion of the bill dealing with the Supreme Court. Motion passed unanimously. No further action was taken.

The meeting adjourned at 1:50 p.m.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Weiss
Version:	H1284-CSSK-24		Committee Counsel

BILL ANALYSIS: This bill would create a presumption that court records and proceeding are open as to all civil actions, contested administrative cases, criminal cases, motions to alter or vacate an order to close a trial or hearing that is conducted as a closed trial or hearing. The bill provides procedures for sealing a court record or closing a trial or hearing. Records may be sealed and trials and hearings may be closed only if:

(1) A specific, serious, and substantial interest exists that outweighs any likely adverse effect that sealing the record or conducting a closed trial or hearing would have upon the public interest, public health, or public safety.

(2) There is no less restrictive means than sealing the court record or conducting a closed trial or hearing to adequately and effectively protect the interest under (1).

Definition of 'court record' for purposes of this bill means:

(1) Any pleading, order of the court, or any other paper that is filed with the court under Rule 5.

(2) With the exception of references in a settlement agreement to money damages to be paid for personal injuries, settlement agreements not filed of record that concern actions alleging personal injury, wrongful death, monetary or property damages caused by a defective product, an environmental hazard, or a financial fraud.

Effective Date: This act becomes effective October 1, 2001, and applies to all court records subject to this act that are filed on or after that date, applies to all civil actions, contested administrative cases, and criminal cases commenced or pending on or after that date, and applies to all motions to alter or vacate a trial or hearing that is conducted as a closed trial or hearing on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A PRESUMPTION THAT COURT RECORDS FOR CIVIL, ADMINISTRATIVE, AND CRIMINAL CASES ARE OPEN, TO PROVIDE THE PROCEDURE TO OBTAIN AN ORDER TO SEAL A COURT RECORD, TO ESTABLISH A PRESUMPTION THAT THE HEARINGS, PROCEEDINGS, AND TRIALS FOR CIVIL, ADMINISTRATIVE, AND CRIMINAL CASES ARE OPEN, AND TO PROVIDE THE PROCEDURE TO OBTAIN AN ORDER TO CONDUCT A CLOSED HEARING, PROCEEDING, OR TRIAL.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(f) No pleadings and no other papers filed with the court under this rule shall be removed from the court files unless specifically provided by statute or court rule."

SECTION 2. Article 2 of Chapter 1A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Rule to read:

"Rule 5.1. Openness of court records.

(a) Standard. – No court record shall be sealed except as provided in this section. Court records are presumed to be open. The presumption under this section may be rebutted by the party seeking to seal a court record upon a showing of all of the following:

(1) A specific, serious, and substantial interest exists that outweighs any likely adverse effect that sealing the record would have upon the public interest, public health, or public safety.

(2) There is no less restrictive means than sealing the court record to adequately and effectively protect the interest alleged under subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(b) Motion to Seal Court Record. – Upon the written motion of a party, the court may order a court record to be sealed. The moving party shall post a public notice where notices for meetings of county government are required to be posted in the county where the action was brought. This notice shall contain a statement that shall substantially comply with the following: 'A hearing will be held in open court on a motion to seal one or more court records in (case name). Any person may intervene and be heard concerning the sealing of the court records.' The notice also shall include the time and place of hearing the motion to seal the court records, the type and number of the action, a brief description of both the nature of the case and the court record that the moving party seeks to have sealed, and the name of the moving party. The moving party shall also file a verified copy of the notice under this subsection under Rule 5 and with the Clerk of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

(c) Hearing on Motion. – A hearing shall be held in open court on the motion under subsection (b) of this section as soon as practicable, but not less than three days after the public notice was posted under subsection (b) of this section. The order shall state: the type and number of the case; the findings of fact and the conclusions of law to support the order; the specific court records that are to be sealed and the time period for which the sealed court records are to be sealed. The order under this subsection is severed from the action, shall not be included in any judgment on the rights of the parties or any other order in the action, and shall be a separate order in the action. Failure to comply with this subsection does affect an appeal of the order on the motion to seal a court record.

(e) Appeal. – Any order under this section may be appealed before the judgment on the rights of the parties is entered and may be appealed by any party or intervener who participated in the hearing on the motion to seal a court record. Upon appeal, the court may order the trial court to give further public notice, hold further hearings, or make additional findings.

(f) Continuing Jurisdiction. – Any person may intervene as a matter of right at any time before or after the order on the motion to seal a court record is entered. A court that issues an order to seal court records retains continuing jurisdiction to enforce, alter, or vacate that order. An order on the motion to seal a court record shall not be reconsidered on the motion of any party or intervener who had actual notice of the hearing on the motion to seal a court record, unless the party or intervener is able to show changed circumstances that materially affect the order. Such changed circumstances need not be related to the action in which the order was issued.

(g) Definition. – As used in this section, 'court record' means:

(1) Any pleading, order of the court, or any other paper that is filed with the court under Rule 5.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A PRESUMPTION THAT COURT RECORDS FOR CIVIL AND ADMINISTRATIVE CASES ARE OPEN, TO PROVIDE THE PROCEDURE TO OBTAIN AN ORDER TO SEAL A COURT RECORD, TO ESTABLISH A PRESUMPTION THAT THE HEARINGS, PROCEEDINGS, AND TRIALS FOR CIVIL AND ADMINISTRATIVE CASES ARE OPEN, AND TO PROVIDE THE PROCEDURE TO OBTAIN AN ORDER TO CONDUCT A CLOSED HEARING, PROCEEDING, OR TRIAL.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(f) No pleadings and no other papers filed with the court under this rule shall be removed from the court files unless specifically provided by statute or court rule."

SECTION 2. Article 2 of Chapter 1A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Rule to read:

"Rule 5.1. Openness of court records.

(a) Standard. – No court record shall be sealed except as provided in this section or otherwise provided by law. This section does not apply to the court records of juvenile proceedings held under Chapter 7B of the General Statutes. Court records are presumed to be open. The presumption under this section may be rebutted by the party seeking to seal a court record upon a showing of all of the following:

(1) A specific, serious, and substantial interest exists that outweighs any likely adverse effect that sealing the record would have upon the public interest, public health, or public safety.

(2) There is no less restrictive means than sealing the court record to adequately and effectively protect the interest alleged under subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(b) Motion to Seal Court Record. – Upon the written motion of a party, the court may order a court record to be sealed. The moving party shall post a public notice where notices for meetings of county government are required to be posted in the county where the action was brought. This notice shall contain a statement that shall substantially comply with the following: 'A hearing will be held in open court on a motion to seal one or more court records in (case name). Any person may intervene and be heard concerning the sealing of the court records.' The notice also shall include the time and place of hearing the motion to seal the court records, the type and number of the action, a brief description of both the nature of the case and the court record that the moving party seeks to have sealed, and the name of the moving party. The moving party shall also file a verified copy of the notice under this subsection under Rule 5.

(c) Hearing on Motion. – A hearing shall be held in open court on the motion under subsection (b) of this section as soon as practicable, but not less than three days after the public notice was posted under subsection (b) of this section. Any party may participate in the hearing of the motion. Upon filing a motion to intervene, a nonparty may intervene for the limited purpose of participating in the hearing on the motion to seal a court record. The court may inspect any court record in camera that the court determines necessary to inspect.

(d) Order. – The court's ruling on the motion to seal a court record shall be a written order and shall be open to the public. The order shall state: the type and number of the case; the findings of fact and the conclusions of law to support the order; a reference to the specific court records that are to be sealed and the time period for which the sealed court records are to be sealed. The order under this subsection is severed from the action, shall not be included in any judgment on the rights of the parties or any other order in the action, and shall be a separate order in the action.

(e) Appeal. – Any order under this section may be appealed before the judgment on the rights of the parties is entered and may be appealed by any party or intervener who participated in the hearing on the motion to seal a court record.

(f) Continuing Jurisdiction. – A court that issues an order to seal court records retains continuing jurisdiction to enforce, alter, or vacate that order. An order on the motion to seal a court record shall not be reconsidered on the motion of any party or intervener who had actual notice of the hearing on the motion to seal a court record, unless the party or intervener is able to show changed circumstances that materially affect the order. Such changed circumstances need not be related to the action in which the order was issued.

(g) Definition. – As used in this section, 'court record' means:

(1) Any pleading, order of the court, or any other paper that is filed with the court under Rule 5 except documents that are reviewed by the court in camera and excluded from the trial or hearing.

(2) With the exception of references in a settlement agreement to money damages to be paid for personal injuries, settlement agreements not filed of record that concern actions alleging personal injury, wrongful death, monetary or property damages caused by a defective product, an environmental hazard, or a financial fraud."

SECTION 3. Article 8 of Chapter 1A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Rule to read:

"Rule 85. Openness of court proceedings.

(a) Standard. – Trials and court hearings are presumed to be open except as otherwise provided by law. This section does not apply to juvenile proceedings held under Chapter 7B of the General Statutes. The presumption under this section may be rebutted by the party seeking to have the trial or hearing conducted as a closed trial or hearing upon a showing of all of the following:

(1) A specific, serious, and substantial interest exists that outweighs any likely adverse effect that conducting a closed trial or hearing would have upon the public interest, public health, or public safety.

(2) There is no less restrictive means than conducting a closed trial or hearing to adequately and effectively protect the interest alleged under subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(b) Motion to Conduct a Closed Trial or Hearing. – Upon the written motion of a party, the court may order a trial or hearing to be conducted as a closed trial or hearing. The moving party shall post a public notice where notices for meetings of county government are required to be posted in the county in which the action was brought. This notice shall contain a statement that shall substantially comply with the following: 'A hearing will be held in open court on a motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing in (case name). Any person may intervene and be heard concerning whether to conduct a closed trial or hearing.' The notice also shall include the time and place of the hearing on the motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing, the type and number of the action, a brief description of both the nature of the case and the trial or hearing that the moving party seeks to have conducted as a closed trial or hearing, and the name of the moving party. The moving party shall also file a verified copy of the notice under this subsection under Rule 5.

(c) Hearing on Motion. – A hearing shall be held in open court on the motion under subsection (b) of this section as soon as practicable, but not less than three days after the public notice was posted under subsection (b) of this section. Any party may participate in the hearing of the motion. Upon filing a motion to intervene, a nonparty may intervene for the limited purpose of participating in the hearing on the motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing.

(d) Order. – The court's ruling on the motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing shall be a written order and shall be open to the public. The order shall state: the type and number of the case; the findings of fact and the conclusions of law to support the order; a reference to the matters to be decided at the trial or hearing that the moving party seeks to have conducted as a closed trial or hearing. The order under this subsection is severed from the action and shall not be included in any judgment on the rights of the parties or any other order in the action, but shall be a separate order in the action.

(e) Appeal. – Any order under this section may be appealed before the judgment on the rights of the parties is entered and may be appealed by any party or intervener who participated in the hearing on the motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing.

(f) Continuing Jurisdiction. – A court that issues an order to conduct a closed trial or hearing retains continuing jurisdiction to enforce, alter, or vacate that order. An order on the motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing shall not be reconsidered on the motion of any party or intervener who had actual notice of the hearing on the motion to conduct a closed trial or hearing, unless the party or intervener is able to show changed circumstances that materially affect the order. Such changed circumstances need not be related to the action in which the order was issued."

SECTION 4. G.S. 150B-25 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(e) The hearing of a case under this section is subject to Rule 85 of the Rules of Civil Procedure."

SECTION 5. G.S. 150B-37 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d) The official record of a contested case is subject to Rule 5.1 of the Rules of Civil Procedure."

SECTION 6. This act becomes effective October 1, 2001, and applies to all court records subject to this act that are filed on or after that date, applies to all civil actions and contested administrative cases commenced or pending on or after that date, and applies to all motions to alter or vacate a trial or hearing that is conducted as a closed trial or hearing on or after that date.

Talking Points:
HB 442: "Concealed Handguns/Reciprocity"

- A large number of North Carolinians who live here but work in Virginia, South Carolina and elsewhere need to be able to protect themselves with the concealed handgun permits they have earned.

- At present, they are unable to protect themselves in other states because most states (e.g. Virginia and South Carolina) require reciprocal arrangements, and North Carolina has no reciprocity provision in its concealed handgun statute.

- A concealed handgun reciprocity bill similar to HB 442 (HB 1065) passed overwhelmingly through the North Carolina House in the 1999-2000 session of the General Assembly. Similarly, 57 members of the North Carolina House have signed on as sponsors of HB 442.

- North Carolina's concealed handgun law works. Only .4% of concealed handgun permits have been revoked for any reason, and the vast majority of these were for offenses unrelated to firearms. A study of our law by Freedom Newspapers revealed only one case in which a permit-holder was arrested for gun-related crime. Even North Carolinians Against Gun Violence has repeatedly stated that their fears about the law have not been realized.

- This bill is non-controversial: it changes nothing in North Carolina law except to provide the same right-to-carry to residents of other states who have gone through similar background checks and training to obtain their concealed handgun permit.

- Thirty-two states have concealed handgun laws. In none of those states have traffic light shootings and crimes by concealed handgun permit-holders been a problem - despite doomsday predictions by gun control organizations.

- A controlled, multi-variate study of all 3,054 counties in the United States by John Lott of Yale University reveals that concealed handgun laws deter rape, murder, and aggravated assault. Indeed, states which have adopted such laws experience drops of 8.5% in homicide, 5% in rape, and 7% in aggravated assault.

Grass Roots North Carolina strongly urges you to support HB 442: "Concealed Handguns/Reciprocity."

HOUSE BILL 1245:
NCDL/Selective Service Registration

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Baddour
Date:	April 23, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1245 would provide that any male United States citizen or immigrant who is at least 18 years of age but less than 26 years of age must be registered with the Selective Service System when applying for the issuance, renewal, or duplication of a drivers license, a commercial drivers license, or an identification card.

CURRENT LAW: Under current federal law, it is the duty of every male citizen of and immigrant to the United States who is between the ages of eighteen and twenty-six to register with the Selective Service System. Also under federal law, failure to comply with this requirement may affect eligibility for federal student aid, job training, federal employment, and citizenship, if an immigrant.

Under current State law, there is no provision that links obtaining a drivers license or identification card with registration with the Selective Service System. However, under State law, failure to comply with the federal Selective Service System registration requirement may affect eligibility for State-supported scholarship and financial assistance programs for postsecondary education as well as employment by the State and its political subdivisions.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1245 would provide that any male United States citizen or immigrant who is at least 18 years of age but less than 26 years of age must be registered with the Selective Service System when applying for the issuance, renewal, or duplication of a drivers license, a commercial drivers license, or an identification card. House Bill 1245 would also provide that the Division of Motor Vehicles will electronically forward the personal information necessary to register with the Selective Service System when a person required to be registered applies for a license or identification card. Application for a license or identification card indicates that the applicant has already complied with the registration requirements or that he authorizes the Division to forward the necessary information to the Selective Service for registration. The Division must notify the applicant on the application that the submission of an application for a drivers license or identification card serves as his consent to be registered.

NOTE: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1245 would rewrite the notification provision so that it would not specify how the Division notifies an applicant that the application serves as consent to be registered.

EFFECTIVE DATE: House Bill 1245 would become effective October 1, 2001.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

April 24, 2001 – 9:30 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Tuesday, April 24, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 9:30 a.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Bowie, Culpepper, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and recognized the Pages. He then called for consideration of the following bills:

HB 1270 Eastern Band of Cherokees Full Faith & Credit. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Sherrill to present the bill in Rep. Haire's absence. Rep. Sherrill moved to adopt a technical amendment to the bill, motion passed. Robin Johnson explained the bill. Rep. Haire explained how the tribal court operates. After questions concerning how existing laws apply to Indian territories, Rep. Decker expressed his concern with regard to how punishments are levied on those who inhabit Indian territories. Rep. Hall moved that the amendment be rolled into a committee substitute bill, and that the committee substitute bill be given a favorable report, unfavorable as to original bill. Motion passed.

HB 1117 DA Discretion. Rep. Bowie moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Rep. Haire presided while Rep. Baddour, bill sponsor, presented the bill. Rep. Baddour explained that the bill was supported by the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers, the Appellate Defenders, the District Attorneys, and the Prosecutorial Defenders. The chair recognized Branny Vickory, District Attorney from the 8th Judicial District, to comment on the bill. Mr. Vickory explained that currently in a 1st degree murder case, the DA must seek the death penalty and allowing the DA discretion in these cases will save resources and manpower. Rep. Decker expressed his concern that dollars and cents were driving this bill. Colon Willoughby, District Attorney from Wake County, informed the committee that North Carolina is the only state with the death penalty that does not allow the DA discretion in these cases. Rep. Pope spoke in support of the bill, but wondered if it raised any constitutional questions. Mr. Willoughby said that the constitutional issues have been resolved. Michael Lands, District Attorney from Gastonia, noted that currently if a DA does not believe that they can obtain the death penalty, they have to drop down to 2nd degree murder. Rep. Sherrill spoke in support of the bill. Bill Ferrell of the Attorney General's Office believed that the bill would survive a constitutional challenge because the federal courts have ruled that it is not unconstitutional. Jim Ferguson, President of the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers spoke in support of the bill, citing its fairness and rationality. Rep. Hall moved that the proposed committee substitute be given a favorable report, unfavorable as to the original bill. Motion passed.

The meeting adjourned at 10:45 a.m.

HOUSE BILL 1270:
East. Band of Cherokees' Full Faith & Credit.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Rep. Haire
Date:	April 23, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	First		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The bill would direct the State's courts to give full faith and credit to judgments, decrees, and orders of the Cherokee Tribal Court, so long as that Court gives full faith and credit to judgments, decrees, and orders of the State's courts.

The bill would take effect when it becomes law.

BACKGROUND: The U.S. Constitution requires states to give full faith and credit to the laws, public records, and judicial decisions of other states. (Congress recently extended this to territories. There is a question as to whether territories include Indian tribes.) This means a law or judgment of record has the same faith, credit, conclusive effect, and obligatory force in other states as it has by law in the state from whence it comes.

The Eastern Band of Cherokees (Cherokees) has established a tribal court system and has adopted a Judicial Code under which it operates. There is one Supreme Court, one Trial Court, and other courts of special jurisdiction. All justices and judges must be licensed members in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar and the practicing bar of the Cherokees.

The Trial Court has original jurisdiction over all criminal and civil cases and controversies arising within its jurisdiction and under the Cherokees' Charter, laws, customs, and traditions. It does not have jurisdiction over matters where prohibited by a binding decision of the U.S. Supreme Court or the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, or by federal law. In deciding cases and controversies, the Court will first look to the Cherokees' law, customs, traditions, and precedents. If none, it will look next to federal law, then to NC law, and finally to the law of other jurisdictions. NC's Rules of Civil Procedure, Rules of Evidence, and Rules of Appellate Procedure govern the proceedings. The Judicial Code states that the Cherokees' courts will give full faith and credit to the judicial decisions of state and federal courts.

Other states have enacted legislation granting full faith and credit to acts and judgments of Indian tribes located in those states. Many of these laws have been enacted in the past decade. Some give full faith and credit (i.e., covering legislative acts, records, and judgments); others limit the full faith and credit to judicial decisions; and others limit the full faith and credit to particular judicial decisions –such as those involving children. It also appears as if federal law requires full faith and credit for certain decisions – primarily those involving children.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY HAS DISCRETION AS TO WHETHER TO SEEK THE DEATH PENALTY FOR A CAPITAL CASE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 15A-2000(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Separate Proceedings on Issue of Penalty. –

(1) ~~Upon~~ Except as provided in G.S. 15A-2004, upon conviction or adjudication of guilt of a defendant of a capital ~~felony,~~ felony in which the State has given notice of its intent to seek the death penalty, the court shall conduct a separate sentencing proceeding to determine whether the defendant should be sentenced to death or life imprisonment. A capital felony is one which may be punishable by death.

(2) The proceeding shall be conducted by the trial judge before the trial jury as soon as practicable after the guilty verdict is returned. If prior to the time that the trial jury begins its deliberations on the issue of penalty, any juror dies, becomes incapacitated or disqualified, or is discharged for any reason, an alternate juror shall become a part of the jury and serve in all respects as those selected on the regular trial panel. An alternate juror shall become a part of the jury in the order in which he was selected. If the trial jury is unable to reconvene for a hearing on the issue of penalty after having determined the guilt of the accused, the trial judge shall impanel a new jury to determine the issue of the punishment. If the defendant pleads guilty, the sentencing proceeding shall be conducted before a jury impaneled for that purpose. A jury selected for the purpose of determining punishment in a capital case shall be selected in the same manner as juries are selected for the trial of capital cases.

(3) In the proceeding there shall not be any requirement to resubmit evidence presented during the guilt determination phase of the case, unless a new jury is impaneled, but all such evidence is competent for the jury's consideration in passing on punishment. Evidence may be presented as to any matter that the court deems relevant to sentence, and may include matters relating to any of the aggravating or mitigating circumstances enumerated in subsections (e) and (f) of this section. Any evidence which the court deems to have probative value may be received.

(4) The State and the defendant or his counsel shall be permitted to present argument for or against sentence of death. The defendant or defendant's counsel shall have the right to the last argument."

SECTION 2. G.S. 15A-2001 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-2001. Capital offenses; plea of guilty.

(a) Any ~~person~~ defendant who has been indicted for an offense punishable by death may enter a plea of guilty at any time after ~~his indictment, and~~ the indictment.

(b) If the defendant enters a guilty plea to first degree murder and the State has not given notice of intent to seek the death penalty as provided in G.S. 15A-2004 or the State has agreed to accept a sentence of life imprisonment where it initially gave notice of intent to seek the death penalty, then the court shall sentence the person to life imprisonment. The defendant may plead guilty to first degree murder and the State may agree to accept a sentence of life imprisonment, even if evidence of an aggravating circumstance exists.

(c) If the defendant enters a guilty plea to first degree murder and the State has given notice of its intent to seek the death penalty, then the ~~judge of the superior~~ court ~~having jurisdiction~~ may sentence ~~such person~~ the defendant to life imprisonment or to death pursuant to the procedures of G.S. 15A-2000. Before sentencing the ~~defendant.~~ defendant in a case in which the State has given notice of its intent to seek the death penalty, the presiding judge shall impanel a jury for the limited purpose of hearing evidence and determining a sentence recommendation as to the appropriate sentence pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000. The jury's sentence recommendation in cases where the defendant pleads guilty and the State has given notice of its intent to seek the death penalty shall be determined under the same procedure of G.S. 15A-2000 applicable to defendants who have been tried and found guilty by a jury."

SECTION 3. Article 100 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-2004. Prosecutorial discretion.

(a) The State, in its discretion, may elect to try a defendant capitally or noncapitally for first degree murder, even if evidence of an aggravating circumstance exists. The State may agree to accept a sentence of life imprisonment for a defendant at any point in the prosecution of a capital felony, even if evidence of an aggravating circumstance exists.

(b) A sentence of death may not be imposed upon a defendant convicted of a capital felony unless the State has given notice of its intent to seek the death penalty. Notice of intent to seek the death penalty shall be given to the defendant and filed with the court on or before the date of the pretrial conference in capital cases required by Rule 24 of the General Rules of Practice for the Superior and District Courts, or the arraignment, whichever is later.

(c) If the State has not given notice of its intent to seek the death penalty prior to trial, the trial shall be conducted as a noncapital proceeding, and the court, upon adjudication of the defendant's guilt of first degree murder, shall impose a sentence of life imprisonment.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of Article 100 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes, the State may agree to accept a sentence of life imprisonment for a defendant upon remand from the Supreme Court of North Carolina of a capital case for resentencing or upon an order of resentencing by a court in a State or federal post-conviction proceeding. If the State exercises its discretion and does agree to accept a sentence of life imprisonment for the defendant, then the court shall impose a sentence of life imprisonment."

SECTION 4. This act becomes effective July 1, 2001, and applies to pending and future cases, except that the provisions of this act regarding the State's notice of intent to seek the death penalty do not apply to defendants indicted in capital cases before the effective date of this act.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

April 24, 2001 – 2:00 p.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Tuesday, April 24, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 2:00 p.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairmen Phil Haire and Toby Fitch, Representatives Bowie, Culpepper, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Miner, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and recognized the Pages. He then called for consideration of the following bill:

HB 1129 Grandparent Visitation. Rep. Decker moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Rep. Baddour recognized Rep. Decker, bill sponsor, to present the bill. Rep. Decker explained that this bill originated in a study committee, and that it follows an Alabama statute. Rep. Baddour noted that the main change would be to allow grandparents of intact families to come to court to gain visitation. Rep. Decker pointed out that if a spouse dies then this legislation would allow visitation to a grandparent. Louise McIntyre, a grandmother who has not seen her grandchildren since 1991, spoke in support of the bill. Kathy Hartkopf, a parent of an intact family, spoke in opposition to the bill and outlined a number of groups who were also opposed to the bill. Anne Winner of NC NOW stated her opposition to the bill, as did Bill Brooks of the North Carolina Family Policy Council. Speaking as a grandparent, Rep. Sherrill said that she believed that this bill would create division among families and that she could not support the bill. Rep. Bowie, a grandmother, believed that this was an issue that needed to be worked out between the family and that going to court could make the situation worse. Blandy Privette, a grandfather whose son passed away, spoke in support of the bill citing that everyone deserves their day in court. Rep. Gulley, a grandfather, argued that this issue should not be legislated. Rep. Decker moved that the committee substitute be given a favorable report, unfavorable as to the original bill. Motion failed.

The meeting adjourned at 2:45 p.m.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT CLARIFYING CERTAIN PROVISIONS UNDER THE LAWS RELATING TO GRANDPARENT VISITATION AND REQUIRING A COURT TO REVIEW SEVERAL FACTORS PRIOR TO AWARDING GRANDPARENT VISITATION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 50-13.2A reads as rewritten:

"§ 50-13.2A. Action for visitation ~~of an adopted grandchild.~~by grandparent.

A biological grandparent may institute an action or proceeding for visitation rights with a ~~child adopted by a stepparent or a relative of the child where a substantial relationship exists between the grandparent and the child.~~child under the provisions of this section. Under no circumstances shall a biological grandparent of a child adopted by adoptive parents, neither of whom is related to the child and where parental rights of both biological parents have been terminated, be entitled to visitation rights. In awarding grandparent visitation, the court may determine the time, place, and circumstances of visitation. For purposes of this section, visitation shall not include custody. A court may award visitation rights only if it determines that visitation is in the best interest of the child. An order awarding visitation rights shall contain findings of fact ~~which~~that support the determination by the judge of the best interest of the child. In determining the best interest of the child, the court shall consider the following:

(1) Whether there is a preexisting relationship between the grandparent and the child, or the willingness of the grandparent to encourage a close relationship between the child and the parent.

(2) The willingness of the child to develop a relationship with the grandparent, if the court determines that the child is of sufficient maturity to make that decision.

(3) The reasonableness or lack of reasonableness of the custodial parent in allowing, restricting, or denying visitation to the grandparent in the past.

(4) The mental and physical health of the child.

(5) The mental and physical health of the grandparent.
(6) Whether the circumstances and amount of visitation will substantially interfere with the right of the parent to make decisions concerning the care, custody, and control of their children.
(7) Any other relevant factors the court deems necessary in determining the best interest of the child.

There is a rebuttable presumption that visitation by a grandparent is not in the best interest of the child if the child's biological parents agree that the grandparent should not be awarded visitation rights. Procedure, venue, and jurisdiction shall be the same as in an action for custody."

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Decker
Date:	April 24, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer
Version:	H1129-CSSK-30[v.1]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: This bill allows grandparents to bring an action for visitation rights with a grandchild if the court deems it to be in the best interest of the child. This act is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW*:

The North Carolina General Statutes contain four separate causes of action, which a grandparent could utilize in a civil lawsuit for custody or visitation with their grandchild. The four statutes, and a brief description, are stated below.

1. G.S. 50-13.2(b1). This statute provides that a court order for visitation with a child may provide for visitation with the grandparents as the Court deems appropriate. This section would allow grandparents to intervene in an ongoing custody dispute and request visitations with the grandchild.
2. G.S. 50-13.5(j). This statute provides that any action where custody of a minor child has been determined, the grandparents are entitled to visitation, as the court deems appropriate, upon filing a motion in the cause AND proving changed circumstances. In other words, the grandparents can petition the court to amend the visitation due to changed circumstances when there has been a previous action to determine custody.
3. G.S. 50-13.2A. This statute allows a biological grandparent to petition for visitation when a stepparent or relative of the child has adopted the grandchild, where there is a substantial relationship between the grandparent and the grandchild.
4. G.S. 50-13.1(a). This statute permits any parent or relative claiming the right to custody of a minor child to institute a legal action for visitation or custody. Prior case law in North Carolina has fleshed this out, stating that grandparents do NOT have standing to sue for visitation when the natural parents have legal custody of the grandchild and are living with the minor child as an intact family. Further North Carolina case law has determined that a single parent residing with the child is an intact family.

*The above section was written by Erika Churchill, Attorney, Research Division.

BILL ANALYSIS: This would allow grandparents to institute an action for visitation rights of a child. Under current law, the court may only award visitation if it is the best interest of the child. This bill continues that requirement but provides the following factors to be considered by the court when determining the best interests of the child:

1. Whether there is a preexisting relationship with the child or the willingness of the grandparent to encourage a relationship with the child.
2. The willingness of the child to develop a relationship with the grandparent (if the court determines that the child is sufficiently mature to make this decision).
3. The reasonableness or lack of reasonableness of the parent in allowing, restricting, or denying visitation to the grandparent in the past.
4. The mental and physical health of the child and the grandparent.

5. Whether the circumstances and amount of visitation will substantially interfere with the right of the parent to make decisions concerning the care, custody, and control of their children.
6. And any other relevant factors necessary in determining the best interest of the child.

Finally, where the child's biological parents agree that the grandparent should not be awarded visitation rights there is a rebuttable presumption that grandparent visitation is not in the best interest of the child.

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

The Supreme Court of the United States recently held Washington state's third-party visitation statute unconstitutional in Troxel v. Granville, 530 U.S. ___ (2000). In Toxel, grandparents sought visitation of their grandchildren after one parent committed suicide. The parents had never married. In finding that the Washington statute was unconstitutional, the Court held that a parent has the fundamental right to "make decisions concerning the care, custody, and control of their children." Id. at p. 8. They took issue with the Washington statute in that it "contain[ed] no requirement that a court accord the parent's decision any presumption of validity or any weight whatsoever. Instead, the Washington statute plac[ed] the best-interest determination solely in the hands of the judge." Id. at p. 8. The Court was also concerned that: "The Superior Court's order was not founded on any special factors that might justify the State's interference with [the parent's] fundamental right to make decisions concerning the rearing of her two daughters." Id. at p. 9. Finally, the Court stated that "if a fit parent's decision [regarding third party visitation] becomes subject to judicial review, the court must accord at least some special weight to the parent's own determination." Id. at p. 12. The Court did not distinguish between the rights of single parents versus married parents.

As Troxel indicates a constitutional state statute must mandate, this bill does create presumption that visitation by a grandparent is not in the best interest of the child where the biological parents agree that the grandparents should not be awarded visitation rights. However, this bill seems to require both parents to agree regarding the grandparent's visitation. Since Troxel does not distinguish as to the parenting situation, this requirement may be contrary to the Court's decision in Troxel.

This bill also provides a number of factors a court must consider when determining the best interest of the child, and this too seems to be another requirement of the Troxel Court. However, it is unknown how the particular factors to be considered listed in this bill would stand up to a legal challenge.

West Virginia Code

CHAPTER 48. DOMESTIC RELATIONS. Passed On March 13, 1998

ARTICLE 2B. GRANDPARENT VISITATION.

§48-2B-1. Legislative findings; intent.

The Legislature finds that circumstances arise where it is appropriate for circuit courts of this state to order that grandparents of minor children may exercise visitation with their grandchildren. The Legislature further finds that in such situations, as in all situations involving children, the best interests of the child or children are the paramount consideration. It is the express intent of the Legislature that the provisions for grandparent visitation that are set forth in this article are exclusive.

§48-2B-2. Definitions.

For purposes of this article:

(1) "Child" means a person under the age of eighteen years who has not been married or otherwise emancipated.

(2) "Grandparent" means a biological grandparent, a person married or previously married to a biological grandparent, or a person who has previously been granted custody of the parent of a minor child with whom visitation is sought.

§48-2B-3. Visitation for grandparents.

A grandparent of a child residing in this state may, by motion or petition, make application to the circuit court of the county in which that child resides for an order granting visitation with his or her grandchild.

§48-2B-4. Proceedings for visitation for grandparents.

(a) The provisions of this subsection apply to all proceedings for divorce, custody, legal separation, annulment or establishment of paternity. After the commencement of the proceeding, a grandparent seeking visitation with his or her grandchild may, by motion, apply to the circuit court for an order granting visitation. A grandparent moving for an order of visitation will not be afforded party status, but may be called as a witness by the court, and will be subject to cross-examination by the parties.

(b) The provisions of this subsection apply when no proceeding for divorce, custody, legal separation, annulment or establishment of paternity is pending. A grandparent may petition the circuit court for an order granting visitation with his or her grandchild, regardless of whether the parents of the child are married. If the grandparent filed a motion for visitation in a previous proceeding for divorce, custody, legal separation, annulment or establishment of paternity, and a decree or final order has issued in that earlier action, the grandparent may petition for visitation if the circumstances have materially changed since the entry of the earlier order or decree.

(c) When a petition under subsection (b) of this section is filed, the matter shall be styled "In re grandparent visitation of [petitioner's(s') name(s)]."

(d) The court, on its own motion or upon the motion of a party or grandparent, may appoint a guardian ad litem for the child to assist the court in determining the best interests of the child regarding grandparent visitation.

modify or terminate such rights as dictated by the best interests of the minor child.

(b) A circuit court shall, based upon a petition brought by an interested person, terminate any grant of the right of grandparent visitation upon presentation of a preponderance of the evidence that a grandparent granted visitation has materially violated the terms and conditions of the order of visitation.

§48-2B-11. Attorney's fees; reasonable costs.

In an action brought under the provisions of this article, a circuit court may order payment of reasonable attorney's fees and costs based upon the equities of the positions asserted by the parties to pay such fees and costs.

§48-2B-12. Penalties for violation of order of visitation.

Any grandparent who knowingly allows contact between the minor grandchild and a parent or other person who has been precluded visitation rights with the child by court order shall, in addition to any other remedy under section seven of this article, be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be confined in the county jail not more than thirty days or fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars.

Section 30-3-4.1

Grandparent visitation. THIS SECTION HAS BEEN ASSIGNED BY THE CODE COMMISSIONER. THIS SECTION HAS NOT BEEN CODIFIED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA.

(a) For the purposes of this section, the term "grandparent" means the parent of a parent of a minor child, the parent of a minor child's parent who has died, or the parent of a minor child's parent whose parental rights have been terminated when the child has been adopted pursuant to Section 26-10A-27, 26-10A-28, or 26-10A-30, dealing with stepparent and relative adoption.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this section, any grandparent may file an original action for visitation rights to a minor child if it is in the best interest of the minor child and one of the following conditions exist:

(1) When one or both parents of the child are deceased.

(2) When the marriage of the parents of the child has been dissolved.

(3) When a parent of the child has abandoned the minor.

(4) When the child was born out of wedlock.

(5) When the child is living with both biological parents, who are still married to each other, whether or not there is a broken relationship between either or both parents of the minor, and the grandparent and either or both parents have used their parental authority to prohibit a relationship between the child and the grandparent.

(c) Any grandparent may intervene in and seek to obtain visitation rights in any action when any court in this state has before it any question concerning the custody of a minor child, a divorce proceeding of the parents or a parent of the minor child, or a termination of the parental rights proceeding of either parent of the minor child, provided the termination of parental rights is for the purpose of adoption pursuant to Sections 26-10A-27, 26-10A-28, or 26-10A-30, dealing with stepparent or relative adoption.

(d) Upon the filing of an original action or upon intervention in an existing proceeding pursuant to subsections (b) and (c), the court shall grant any grandparent of the child reasonable visitation rights if the court finds that the best interests of the child would be served by the visitation. In determining the best interest of the child, the court shall consider the following:

(1) The willingness of the grandparent or grandparents to encourage a close relationship between the child and the parent or parents.

(2) The preference of the child, if the child is determined to be of sufficient maturity to express a preference.

(3) The mental and physical health of the child.

(4) The mental and physical health of the grandparent or grandparents.

(5) Evidence of domestic violence inflicted by one parent upon the other parent or the child. If the court determines that evidence of domestic violence exists, visitation provisions shall be made in a manner protecting the child or children, parents, or grandparents from further abuse.

(6) Other relevant factors in the particular circumstances.

(e) The court shall make specific written findings of fact in support of its rulings. There shall be a rebuttable presumption in favor of visitation by any grandparent. An original action requesting visitation rights shall not be filed by any grandparent more than once during any two-year period and shall not be filed during any year in which another custody action has been filed concerning the child. After visitation rights have been granted to any grandparent, the legal custodian, guardian, or parent of the child may petition the court for revocation or amendment of the visitation rights, for good cause shown, which the court, in its discretion, may grant or deny. Unless evidence of abuse is alleged or other exceptional circumstances a petition shall not be filed more than once in any two-year period.

(f) If the court finds that the grandparent or grandparents can bear the cost without unreasonable financial hardship, the court, at the sole expense of the petitioning grandparent or grandparents, may appoint a guardian ad litem for the minor child.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLE 9 OF THE UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE TO GIVE THE SECRETARY OF STATE THE AUTHORITY TO PREVENT FRAUDULENT FILINGS AND TO MAKE CLARIFYING CHANGES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

PART I. PREVENT FRAUDULENT FILINGS.

SECTION 1. G.S. 25-9-516(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Refusal to accept record; filing does not occur. – Filing does not occur with respect to a record that a filing office refuses to accept because:

(1) The record is not communicated by a method or medium of communication authorized by the filing office;

(2) An amount equal to or greater than the applicable filing fee is not tendered;

(3) The filing office is unable to index the record because:

a. In the case of an initial financing statement, the record does not provide a name for the debtor;

b. In the case of an amendment or correction statement, the record:

1. Does not identify the initial financing statement as required by G.S. 25-9-512 or G.S. 25-9-518, as applicable; or

2. Identifies an initial financing statement whose effectiveness has lapsed under G.S. 25-9-515;

c. In the case of an initial financing statement that provides the name of a debtor identified as an individual or an amendment that provides a name of a debtor identified as an individual which was not previously provided in the financing statement to which the record relates, the record does not identify the debtor's last name; or

d. In the case of a record filed in the filing office described in G.S. 25-9-501(a)(1), the record does not provide a sufficient description of the real property to which it relates;

(4) In the case of an initial financing statement or an amendment that adds a secured party of record, the record does not provide a name and mailing address for the secured party of record;

(5) In the case of an initial financing statement or an amendment that provides a name of a debtor which was not previously provided in the financing statement to which the amendment relates, the record does not:

a. Provide a mailing address for the debtor;

b. Indicate whether the debtor is an individual or an organization; or

c. If the financing statement indicates that the debtor is an organization, provide:

1. A type of organization for the debtor;

2. A jurisdiction of organization for the debtor; or

SENATE BILL 257:
UCC Article 9 Amendments.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Hartsell
Date:	May 1, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer
Version:	Second Edititon		Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 257 would authorize the Secretary of State to refuse to file, or remove from the public record, bogus UCC financing statements filed with the Secretary of State as recommended by the Secretary of State. This bill would also clarify the process for amending pre-effective-date financing statements and what financing statements can be filed with the registers of deeds after July 1, 2001, as recommended by the General Statutes Commission.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, the Secretary of State and the registers of deeds have the authority under certain circumstances to refuse to file certain UCC financing statements. Effective July 1, 2001, the Revised Article 9, as enacted in 2000, will become effective. The Revised Article 9 does not continue the existing authority to refuse to file these financing statements. Additionally, the Revised Article 9 is not clear as to where amendments to financing statements filed prior to July 1, 2001 are to be filed after July 1, and to what financing statements still need to be filed with the registers of deeds.

BILL ANALYSIS: Part I of the bill, Sections 1 through 4, is recommended by the Secretary of State. Section 1 provides that a UCC financing statement is not to be filed by the Secretary of State where the Secretary determines that the filing is not created pursuant to the provisions of the UCC or is intended only to hinder, harass, or interfere with any person. Section 2 provides a method for the filing to be put on record when the Secretary believes it to be bogus by a sworn statement by the debtor that the filing is accurate. Section 3 provides a method to remove from the public record a bogus filing that should have never been permitted to be filed. Section 4 establishes a process to appeal the refusal to file by the Secretary by permitting a direct appeal to Superior Court in Wake County for immediate hearing without having to otherwise comply with the administrative procedures hearing process under the Administrative Procedures Act in Chapter 150 of the General Statutes. Section 5 makes it a Class 2 misdemeanor to file a bogus UCC financing statement.

Part II of the bill. See General Statutes Commission's attached summary.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective July 1, 2001, the same date that the remainder of Revised Article 9 becomes effective. Section 5 becomes effective December 1, 2001, and applies to documents presented for filing on or after that date. The bogus filing provisions, Sections 1-4 apply to documents filed on or after July 1, 2001.

MEMORANDUM

TO: House Judiciary II Committee

FROM: General Statutes Commission

RE: Part II of Senate Bill 257 (UCC Article 9 Amendments)

Part II of Senate Bill 257 amends two transitional provisions in Revised Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code (Secured Transactions). Revised Article 9, which becomes effective July 1, 2001, provides a comprehensive scheme for the regulation of security interests in personal property and fixtures.

G.S. 25-9-707 addresses post-effective-date amendments to pre-effective-date financing statements. The amendment to this section avoids potential conflict of law issues.

G.S. 25-9-710 is a special transitional provision for maintaining and searching records relating to financing statements that were filed in a register of deeds' office before July 1, 2001. The amendment to this section clarifies that the register of deeds' office must continue to accept fixture filings and other land-related filings after June 30, 2001. Otherwise, the register of deeds' office need not continue to accept UCC filings after that date. Other provisions of G.S. 25-9-710 requiring maintenance of records and responses to requests and allowing purging of files apply equally to all filings.

The amendments are to become effective July 1, 2001, the effective date of Revised Article 9.

§ 25-9-518. (Effective July 1, 2001) Claim concerning inaccurate or wrongfully filed record.

(a) Correction statement. - A person may file in the filing office a correction statement with respect to a record indexed there under the person's name if the person believes that the record is inaccurate or was wrongfully filed.

(b) Sufficiency of correction statement. - A correction statement must:

(1) Identify the record to which it relates by the file number assigned to the initial financing statement to which the record relates;

(2) Indicate that it is a correction statement; and

(3) Provide the basis for the person's belief that the record is inaccurate and indicate the manner in which the person believes the record should be amended to cure any inaccuracy or provide the basis for the person's belief that the record was wrongfully filed.

(c) Record not affected by correction statement. - The filing of a correction statement does not affect the effectiveness of an initial financing statement or other filed record.

OFFICIAL COMMENT

1. Source. New.

2. Correction Statements. Former article 9 did not afford a nonjudicial means for a debtor to correct a financing statement or other record that was inaccurate or wrongfully filed. Subsection (a) affords the debtor the right to file a correction statement. Among other requirements, the correction statement must provide the basis for the debtor's belief that the public record should be corrected. See subsection (b). These provisions, which resemble the analogous remedy in the Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. section 1681i, afford an aggrieved person the opportunity to state its position on the public record. They do not permit an aggrieved person to change the legal effect of the public record. Thus, although a filed correction statement becomes part of the "financing statement," as defined in section 9-102, the filing does not affect the effectiveness of the initial financing statement or any other filed record. See subsection (c).

This section does not displace other provisions of this article that impose liability for making unauthorized filings or failing to file or send a termination statement (see section 9-625(e)), nor does it displace any available judicial remedies.

3. Resort to Other Law. This article cannot provide a satisfactory or complete solution to problems caused by misuse of the public records. The problem of "bogus" filings is not limited to the UCC filing system but extends to the real property records, as well. A summary judicial procedure for correcting the public record and criminal penalties for those who misuse the filing and recording systems are likely to be more effective and put less strain on the filing system than provisions authorizing or requiring action by filing and recording offices.

§ 25-9-516. (Effective July 1, 2001) What constitutes filing; effectiveness of filing.

(a) What constitutes filing. - Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of this section, communication of a record to a filing office and tender of the filing fee or acceptance of the record by the filing office constitutes filing.

(b) Refusal to accept record; filing does not occur. - Filing does not occur with respect to a record that a filing office refuses to accept because:

(1) The record is not communicated by a method or medium of communication authorized by the filing office;

(2) An amount equal to or greater than the applicable filing fee is not tendered;

(3) The filing office is unable to index the record because:

a. In the case of an initial financing statement, the record does not provide a name for the debtor;

b. In the case of an amendment or correction statement, the record:

1. Does not identify the initial financing statement as required by G.S. 25-9-512 or G.S. 25-9-518, as applicable; or

2. Identifies an initial financing statement whose effectiveness has lapsed under G.S. 25-9-515;

c. In the case of an initial financing statement that provides the name of a debtor identified as an individual or an amendment that provides a name of a debtor identified as an individual which was not previously provided in the financing statement to which the record relates, the record does not identify the debtor's last name; or

d. In the case of a record filed in the filing office described in G.S. 25-9-501(a)(1), the record does not provide a sufficient description of the real property to which it relates;

(4) In the case of an initial financing statement or an amendment that adds a secured party of record, the record does not provide a name and mailing address for the secured party of record;

(5) In the case of an initial financing statement or an amendment that provides a name of a debtor which was not previously provided in the financing statement to which the amendment relates, the record does not:

a. Provide a mailing address for the debtor;

b. Indicate whether the debtor is an individual or an organization; or

c. If the financing statement indicates that the debtor is an organization, provide:

© 2001 Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the Lexis-Nexis® Group. All rights reserved.

1. A type of organization for the debtor;

2. A jurisdiction of organization for the debtor; or

3. An organizational identification number for the debtor or indicate that the debtor has none;

(6) In the case of an assignment reflected in an initial financing statement under G.S. 25-9-514(a) or an amendment filed under G.S. 25-9-514(b), the record does not provide a name and mailing address for the assignee; or

(7) In the case of a continuation statement, the record is not filed within the six-month period prescribed by G.S. 25-9-515(d).

(c) Rules applicable to subsection (b). - For purposes of subsection (b) of this section:

(1) A record does not provide information if the filing office is unable to read or decipher the information; and

(2) A record that does not indicate that it is an amendment or identify an initial financing statement to which it relates, as required by G.S. 25-9-512, 25-9-514, or 25-9-518, is an initial financing statement.

(d) Refusal to accept record; record effective as filed record. - A record that is communicated to the filing office with tender of the filing fee, but which the filing office refuses to accept for a reason other than one set forth in subsection (b) of this section, is effective as a filed record except as against a purchaser of the collateral which gives value in reasonable reliance upon the absence of the record from the files.

OFFICIAL COMMENT

1. Source. Subsection (a): Former section 9-403(1); the remainder is new.

2. What Constitutes Filing. Subsection (a) deals generically with what constitutes filing of a record, including an initial financing statement and amendments of all kinds (e.g., assignments, termination statements, and continuation statements). It follows former section 9-403(1), under which either acceptance of a record by the filing office or presentation of the record and tender of the filing fee constitutes filing.

3. Effectiveness of Rejected Record. Subsection (b) provides an exclusive list of grounds upon which the filing office may reject a record. See section 9-520(a). Although some of these grounds would also be grounds for rendering a filed record ineffective (e.g., an initial financing statement does not provide a name for the debtor), many others would not be (e.g., an initial financing statement does not provide a mailing address for the debtor or secured party of record). Neither this section nor section 9-520 requires or authorizes the filing office to determine, or even consider, the accuracy of information provided in a record. For example, the State A filing office may not reject under subsection (b)(5)(C) an initial financing statement indicating that the debtor is a State A corporation and providing a three-digit organizational identification number, even if all State A organizational identification numbers contain at least five digits and two letters.

A financing statement or other record that is communicated to the filing office but which the filing office refuses to accept provides no public notice, regardless of the reason for the rejection. However, this section distinguishes between records that the filing office rightfully rejects and those that it wrongfully rejects. A filer is able to prevent a rightful rejection by complying with the requirements of subsection (b). No purpose is served by giving effect to records that justifiably never find their way into the system, and subsection (b) so provides.

Subsection (d) deals with the filing office's unjustified refusal to accept a record. Here, the filer is in no position to prevent the rejection and as a general matter should not be prejudiced by it. Although wrongfully rejected records generally are effective, subsection (d) contains a special rule to protect a third-party purchaser of the collateral (e.g., a buyer or competing secured party) who gives value in reliance upon the apparent absence of the record from the files. As against a person who searches the public record and reasonably relies on what the public record shows, subsection (d) imposes upon the filer the risk that a record failed to make its way into the filing system because of the filing office's wrongful rejection of it. (Compare section 9-517, under which a mis-indexed financing statement is fully effective.) This risk is likely to be small, particularly when a record is presented electronically, and the filer can guard against this risk by conducting a post-filing search of the records. Moreover, section 9-520(b) requires the filing office to give prompt notice of its refusal to accept a record for filing.

4. Method or Medium of Communication. Rejection pursuant to subsection (b)(1) for failure to communicate a record properly should be understood to mean noncompliance with procedures relating to security, authentication, or other communication-related requirements that the filing office may impose. Subsection (b)(1) does not authorize a filing office to impose additional substantive requirements. See section 9-520, comment 2.

5. Address for Secured Party of Record. Under subsection (b)(4) and section 9-520(a), the lack of a mailing address for the secured party of record requires the filing office to reject an initial financing statement. The failure to include an address for the secured party of record no longer renders a financing statement ineffective. See section 9-502(a). The function of the address is not to identify the secured party of record but rather to provide an address to which others can send required notifications, e.g., of a purchase-money security interest in inventory or of the disposition of collateral. Inasmuch as the address shown on a filed financing statement is an "address that is reasonable under the circumstances," a person required to send a notification to the secured party may satisfy the requirement by sending a notification to that address, even if the address is or becomes incorrect. See section 9-102 (definition of "send"). Similarly, because the address is "held out by (the secured party) as the place for receipt of such communications (i.e., communications relating to security interests)," the secured party is deemed to have received a notification delivered to that address. See section 1-201(26).

6. Uncertainty Concerning Individual Debtor's Last Name. Subsection (b)(3)(C) requires the filing office to reject an initial financing statement or amendment adding an individual debtor if the office cannot index the record because it does not identify the debtor's last name (e.g., it is unclear whether the debtor's name is Elton John or John Elton).

7. Inability of Filing Office to Read or Decipher Information. Under subsection (c)(1), if the filing office cannot read or decipher information, the information is not provided by a record for purposes of subsection (b).

© 2001 Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the Lexis-Nexis® Group. All rights reserved.

8. Classification of Records. For purposes of subsection (b), a record that does not indicate it is an amendment or identify an initial financing statement to which it relates is deemed to be an initial financing statement. See subsection (c)(2).

9. Effectiveness of Rejectable But Unrejected Record. Section 9-520(a) requires the filing office to refuse to accept an initial financing statement for a reason set forth in subsection (b). However, if the filing office accepts such a financing statement nevertheless, the financing statement generally is effective if it complies with the requirements of section 9-502(a) and (b). See section 9-520(c). Similarly, an otherwise effective financing statement generally remains so even though the information in the financing statement becomes incorrect. See section 9-507(b). (Note that if the information required by subsection (b)(5) is incorrect when the financing statement is filed, section 9-338 applies.)

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REQUIRE RESCISSION OFFERS TO BE FILED WITH THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 78A-56(g)(3) reads as rewritten:

"(3) Offers shall be in the form and contain the information the Administrator by rule prescribes. Every offer under subsection (g) of this section shall be delivered to the offeree or sent by certified mail addressed to ~~him~~ the offeree at ~~his~~the offeree's last known address. The person making the offer shall file a copy of the rescission offer with the Administrator at least 10 days before delivering the offer to the offeree. If an offer is not performed in accordance with its terms, suit by the offeree under this section shall be permitted without regard to this subsection."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective October 1, 2001, and applies to rescission offers made on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 258:
Rescission Offer Filing Procedure.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Hartsell
Date:	May 1, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson, Committee Counsel
Version:	First Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 258 would require a person seeking to avoid civil liability for untrue statements made in connection with the sale of securities by offering a rescission of the sale and a repurchase or refund of the consideration paid plus interest to file a copy of the rescission offer with the Secretary of State at least 10 days prior to the time the offer is extended. This bill was requested by the Secretary of State's Office.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 78A-56(g) (copy attached) prohibits a person from suing the other party to a securities transaction based on untrue statements or the failure to make the proper disclosures where, prior to suit, the offending party offers to buy back the securities purchased at the price paid plus interest at the lawful rate (currently 8% as set forth in G.S. 24-1) or offers to return the securities plus any earnings or offers to pay damages, in the form of a written rescission offer and the offeree fails to accept the offer within 30 days. These rescission offers must be in the form and contain the information required by the Secretary of State's Office.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 258 would add to the requirement of complying with the form and content requirements of the Secretary of State's Office a requirement that the offeror of the rescission file a copy of the proposed rescission offer with the Secretary of State at least 10 days prior to the date the rescission offer is made to the offeree. These types of filings with the Secretary of State's Office are matters of public record.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective on October 1, 2001 and would apply to rescission offers made on or after that date.

Note: Walker Reagan, Committee Counsel for the Senate Judiciary I Committee, contributed to the preparation of this summary.

§ 78A-56. Civil liabilities.

(a) Any person who:

(1) Offers or sells a security in violation of G.S. 78A-8(1), 78A-8(3), 78A-10(b), 78A-12, 78A-24, or 78A-36(a), or of any rule or order under G.S. 78A-49(d) which requires the affirmative approval of sales literature before it is used, or of any condition imposed under G.S. 78A-27(d) or 78A-28(g), or

(2) Offers or sells a security by means of any untrue statement of a material fact or any omission to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading (the purchaser not knowing of the untruth or omission), and who does not sustain the burden of proof that he did not know, and in the exercise of reasonable care could not have known, of the untruth or omission, is liable to the person purchasing the security from him, who may sue either at law or in equity to recover the consideration paid for the security, together with interest at the legal rate from the date of payment, costs, and reasonable attorneys' fees, less the amount of any income received on the security, upon the tender of the security, or for damages if he no longer owns the security. Damages are the amount that would be recoverable upon a tender less the value of the security when the purchaser disposed of it and interest at the legal rate as provided by G.S. 24-1 from the date of disposition.

(b) Any person who purchases a security by means of any untrue statement of a material fact or any omission to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading (the seller not knowing of the untruth or omission), and who does not sustain the burden of proof that he did not know, and in the exercise of reasonable care could not have known, of the untruth or omission, shall be liable to the person selling the security to him, who may sue either at law or in equity to recover the security, plus any income received by the purchaser thereon, upon tender of the consideration received, or for damages if the purchaser no longer owns the security. Damages are the excess of the value of the security when the purchaser disposed of it, plus interest at the legal rate from the date of disposition, over the consideration paid for the security.

(c) Every person who directly or indirectly controls a person liable under subsection (a) or (b), every partner, officer, or director of such a person, every person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions, every employee of such a person who materially aids in the act or transaction, and every dealer or salesman who materially aids in the sale are also liable jointly and severally with and to the same extent as such person, unless the person who is so liable sustains the burden of proof that he did not know, and in the exercise of reasonable care should not have known, of the existence of the facts by reason of which the liability is alleged to exist. There is contribution as in cases of contract among the several persons so liable.

(d) Any tender specified in this section may be made at any time before entry of judgment. Tender shall require only notice of willingness to exchange the security for the amount specified. Any notice may be given by service as in civil actions or by certified mail addressed to the last known address of the person liable.

(e) Every cause of action under this statute survives the death of any person who might have been a plaintiff or defendant.

(f) No person may sue under this section more than two years after the sale or contract of sale.

(g) (1) No purchaser may sue under this section if, before suit is commenced, the purchaser has received a written offer stating the respect in which liability under this section may have arisen and fairly advising the purchaser of his rights; offering to repurchase the security for cash payable on delivery of the security equal to the consideration paid, together with interest at the legal rate as provided by G.S. 24-1 from the date of payment, less the amount of any income received on the security or, if the purchaser no longer owns the security, offering to pay the purchaser upon acceptance of the offer an amount in cash equal to the damages computed in accordance with subsection (a); and stating that the offer may be accepted by the purchaser at any time within 30 days of its receipt; and the purchaser has failed to accept such offer in writing within the specified period.

(2) No seller may sue under this section if, before suit is commenced, the seller has received a written offer stating the respect in which liability under this section may have arisen and fairly advising the seller of his rights; offering to return the security plus the amount of any income received thereon upon payment of the consideration received, or, if the purchaser no longer owns the security, offering to pay the seller upon acceptance of the offer an amount in cash equal to the damages computed in accordance with subsection (b); and providing that the offer may be accepted by the seller at any time within 30 days of its receipt; and the seller has failed to accept such offer in writing within the specified period.

(3) Offers shall be in the form and contain the information the Administrator by rule prescribes. Every offer under subsection (g) shall be delivered to the offeree or sent by certified mail addressed to him at his last known address. If an offer is not performed in accordance with its terms, suit by the offeree under this section shall be permitted without regard to this subsection.

(h) No person who has made or engaged in the performance of any contract in violation of any provision of this Chapter or any rule or order hereunder, or who has acquired any purported right under any such contract with knowledge of the facts by reason of which its making or performance was in violation, may base any suit on the contract.

(i) Any condition, stipulation, or provision binding any person acquiring any security to waive compliance with any provision of this Chapter or any rule or order hereunder is void.

(j) The rights and remedies provided by this Chapter are in addition to any other rights or remedies that may exist at law or in equity, but this Chapter does not create any cause of action not specified in this section or G.S. 78A-37(d).

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE SECURITIES DEALER REGISTRATION STATUTES TO ABOLISH THE CHURCH BOND DEALER RESTRICTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 78A-36(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) It is unlawful for any person to transact business in this State as a dealer or salesman unless he is registered under this Chapter. No dealer shall be eligible for registration under this Chapter, or for renewal of registration hereunder, unless such dealer is at the time registered as a dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Securities Exchange Act of ~~1934; any dealer specializing in church securities may be registered to offer or sell only those securities which are issued by churches located within this State.~~ 1934."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 259:
Abolish Church Bond Dealer Restriction.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Hartsell
Date:	May 1, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 259 would eliminate the restrictions on registered securities dealers who specialize in church securities from only offering for sale securities of churches located in North Carolina.

This bill was requested by the Secretary of State's Office.

The bill would take effect when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: Current law provides that any securities dealer specializing in church securities (such as church bonds) may be registered to sell only securities issued by churches located in the State. Securities dealers of church securities have to be registered and meet all the qualifications of any securities dealer, and securities dealers of church securities are not restricted in other types of securities they can sell.

BILL ANALYSIS: This bill would amend G.S. 78A-36, which requires persons to register as a securities dealer or salesman. It would eliminate the distinction in the statute between securities dealers specializing in church securities and other securities dealers, and would eliminate any question as to whether a North Carolina securities dealer is permitted by NC law to legally sell church securities in another state, if permitted to do so under the other state's law.

BACKGROUND: The Secretary of State's office does not keep any separate records to identify securities dealers that specialize in church securities.

S259-SMRH-001: O. Walker Reagan, Committee Counsel for Senate Judiciary I, substantially contributed to this summary.

SENATE BILL 277:
Community Development Exemption - AB.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Hartsell
Date:	May 1, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	Second		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: In order to qualify for an exemption from securities registration for the sale of stock by a community development corporation, Senate Bill 277 would add a requirement that the corporation must be organized and operated primarily to promote some community, industrial, or agricultural development that confers a public benefit.

The Secretary of State's Office requested this bill.

CURRENT LAW: Currently in NC, G.S. 78A-24 (attached) requires that all sales of securities in the State must be registered and the prospectus of the sale filed in accordance with NC law unless the transaction is exempt from State law or the security is covered by federal law. Current law exempts the sale of a corporation's own securities if (i) the corporation is organized to promote community, agricultural, or industrial development in the area where the principal office of the corporation is located; (ii) the county commissioners and the governing body of the municipality, if applicable, have approved the sale of the securities; and (iii) no commission is paid directly or indirectly for soliciting prospective buyers of the security.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 277 would add to the conditions necessary to qualify for the exemption as a community development corporation that the corporation be both organized and operated in a way that principally promotes community, industrial, or agricultural development that confers a public benefit and that the corporation not be organized and operated principally to generate a profit.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective October 1, 2001 and apply to the sale of securities on or after that date.

S277-SMRH-001: O. Walker Reagan, Counsel for Senate Judiciary I, contributed to this summary.

§ 78A-24. Registration requirement.

It is unlawful for any person to offer or sell any security in this State unless (i) it is registered under this Chapter, (ii) the security or transaction is exempted under G.S. 78A-16 or 78A-17 and such exemption has not been denied or revoked under G.S. 78A-18, or (iii) it is a security covered under federal law.
(1925, c. 190, s. 6; 1927, c. 149, s. 6; 1955, c. 436, s. 4; 1973, c. 1380; 1997-419, ss. 6, 7.)

§ 78A-49. Rules, forms, orders, and hearings.

(a) The Administrator may from time to time make, amend, and rescind such rules, forms, and orders as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this Chapter, including rules and forms governing registration statements, applications, and reports, and defining any terms, whether or not used in this Chapter, insofar as the definitions are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter. For the purpose of rules and forms the Administrator may classify securities, persons, and matters within his jurisdiction, and prescribe different requirements for different classes.

(b) No rule, form, or order may be made, amended, or rescinded unless the Administrator finds that the action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consistent with the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of this Chapter. In prescribing rules and forms the Administrator may cooperate with the securities administrators of the other states and the Securities and Exchange Commission with a view to effectuating the policy of this statute to achieve maximum uniformity in the form and content of registration statements, applications, and reports wherever practicable.

(c) The Administrator may by rule or order prescribe (i) the form and content of financial statements required under this Chapter, (ii) the circumstances under which consolidated financial statements shall be filed, and (iii) whether any required financial statements shall be certified by independent or certified public accountants. All financial statements shall be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting practices.

(d) The Administrator may by rule or order require the filing of any prospectus, pamphlet, circular, form letter, advertisement, or other sales literature or advertising communication addressed or intended for distribution to prospective investors, unless the security or transaction is exempted by G.S. 78A-16 or 78A-17 (except 78A-17(9), (17)) and such exemption has not been denied or revoked under G.S. 78A-18 or the security is a security covered under federal law or the transaction is with respect to a security covered under federal law.

(e) All rules and forms of the Administrator shall be published.

(f) No provision of this Chapter imposing any liability applies to any act done or omitted in good faith in conformity with any rule, form, or order of the Administrator, notwithstanding that the rule, form, or order may later be amended or rescinded or be determined by judicial or other authority to be invalid for any reason.

(g) Every hearing in an administrative proceeding shall be public unless the Administrator in his discretion grants a request joined in by all the respondents that the hearing be conducted privately.

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

May 8, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Tuesday, May 8, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 10:00 a.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Bowie, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and called for consideration of the following bill:

SB 499 Amend Adoption Laws. Rep. Hall moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for the purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Sen. Hartsell, bill sponsor, was recognized to present the bill. He pointed out that this bill was the product of those involved in adoptions on a practical basis. Sen. Hartsell noted that the major change to current law was the length of the revocation period for consent or relinquishment, presently it is 21 days and this bill would change that to 7 days. Steve Shaber, Chairman of the General Statutes Commission that made changes to the state's adoption laws in 1995, presented the problems that have come to light since 1995. Rep. Decker stated that he believed that this bill represented a step in the right direction. Rep. Miller asked for the percentage of parents who change their mind after they decide to give their child up for adoption. Mr. Shaber noted that it was less than 10%. Esther High with the Division of Social Services said that they have mothers who often change their mind, approximately ¼. The committee raised some concerns with regard to the sharing of information between the parties involved, Rep. Earle told the committee that she would not like to see substantive changes made to the bill in its current form. Rep. Hall voiced his concern with the limitation that the bill placed on advertising. Mr. Shaber and Sharnese Ransom, DSS, said that since advertising was something new, they made the decision not to open it up to broadcast. Parker Herring, Friends of Adoption, advised that advertising has a positive impact on adoptions as a whole. There being further questions and concerns to come before the committee, no action was taken.

The meeting adjourned at 10:55 a.m.

SECTION 9. G.S. 48-3-307 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) A prospective adoptive parent shall file or cause to be filed a certificate indicating that the prospective adoptive parent has delivered a copy of the assessment to the parent or guardian who placed the minor for adoption."

SECTION 10. G.S. 48-3-608 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-608. Revocation of consent.

(a) ~~A consent to the adoption of an infant who is in utero or is three months old or less at the time the consent is given may be revoked within 21 days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays.~~A consent to the adoption of any ~~other~~infant who is in utero or any minor may be revoked within seven days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays. If the final day of the revocation period falls on a weekend or North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the consent may revoke by giving written notice to the person specified in the consent. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent.

(b) In a direct placement, if:

(1) A preplacement assessment is required, and

(2) Placement occurs before the preplacement assessment is given to the parent or guardian who is placing the minor,

then that individual's time under subsection (a) of this section to revoke any consent previously given shall be either five business days after the date the individual receives the preplacement assessment or the remainder of the time provided in subsection (a) of this section, whichever is longer. The date of receipt is the earlier of the date of actual receipt or the date established pursuant to G.S. 48-3-307.

(c) If a person who has physical custody places the minor with the prospective adoptive parent and thereafter revokes a consent pursuant to this section, the prospective adoptive parent shall, immediately upon request, return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who placed the minor and divests the prospective adoptive parent of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court shall award reasonable attorneys' fees to the person who revoked if the prospective adoptive parent fails upon request to return the minor.

(d) If a person other than a person described in subsection (c) of this section revokes a consent pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the adoption cannot proceed until another consent is obtained or the person's parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked consent is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor. If the minor whose consent is required revokes consent, the county department of social services shall be notified for appropriate action.

(e) A second consent to adoption by the same adoptive parents is irrevocable."

SECTION 11. G.S. 48-3-706 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-706. Revocation of relinquishments.

(a) ~~A relinquishment of an infant who is in utero or is three months old or less at the time the relinquishment is executed may be revoked within 21 days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays.~~ A relinquishment of any ~~other~~infant who is in utero or any minor may be revoked within seven days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays. If the final day of the period falls on a weekend or a North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the relinquishment may revoke by giving written notice to the agency to which the relinquishment was given. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment.

(b) If a person who has physical custody relinquishes a minor and thereafter revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section, the agency shall upon request return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who relinquished the minor and divests the agency of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court may award the person who revoked reasonable attorneys' fees from a prospective adoptive parent with whom the minor was placed who refuses to return the minor and from the agency if the agency fails to cooperate in securing the minor's return.

(c) If a person other than a person described in subsection (b) of this section revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the agency may not give consent for the adoption and the adoption cannot proceed until another relinquishment or a consent is obtained or parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked the relinquishment is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor.

(d) A second relinquishment for placement with the same adoptive parent selected by the agency and agreed upon by the person executing the relinquishment, or a second general relinquishment for placement by the agency with any adoptive parent selected by the agency, is irrevocable."

SECTION 12. G.S. 48-9-104 reads as rewritten:

SECTION 13. G.S. 48-9-109 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-9-109. Certain disclosures authorized.

SECTION 10. G.S. 48-3-608 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-608. Revocation of consent.

(a) ~~A consent to the adoption of an infant who is in utero or is three months old or less at the time the consent is given may be revoked within 21 days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays.~~A consent to the adoption of any ~~other~~minor may be revoked within seven days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays. If the final day of the revocation period falls on a weekend or North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the consent may revoke by giving written notice to the person specified in the consent. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent.

(b) In a direct placement, if:

(1) A preplacement assessment is required, and
(2) Placement occurs before the preplacement assessment is given to the parent or guardian who is placing the minor,

then that individual's time under subsection (a) of this section to revoke any consent previously given shall be either five business days after the date the individual receives the preplacement assessment or the remainder of the time provided in subsection (a) of this section, whichever is longer. The date of receipt is the earlier of the date of actual receipt or the date established pursuant to G.S. 48-3-307.

(c) If a person who has physical custody places the minor with the prospective adoptive parent and thereafter revokes a consent pursuant to this section, the prospective adoptive parent shall, immediately upon request, return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who placed the minor and divests the prospective adoptive parent of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court shall award reasonable attorneys' fees to the person who revoked if the prospective adoptive parent fails upon request to return the minor.

(d) If a person other than a person described in subsection (c) of this section revokes a consent pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the adoption cannot proceed until another consent is obtained or the person's parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked consent is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor. (e) A second consent to adoption by the same adoptive parents is irrevocable."

SECTION 11. G.S. 48-3-706 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-706. Revocation of relinquishments.

If the final day of the period falls on a weekend or a North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the relinquishment may revoke by giving written notice to the agency to which the relinquishment was given. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment.

(b) If a person who has physical custody relinquishes a minor and thereafter revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section, the agency shall upon request return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who relinquished the minor and divests the agency of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court may award the person who revoked reasonable attorneys' fees from a prospective adoptive parent with whom the minor was placed who refuses to return the minor and from the agency if the agency fails to cooperate in securing the minor's return.

(c) If a person other than a person described in subsection (b) of this section revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the agency may not give consent for the adoption and the adoption cannot proceed until another relinquishment or a consent is obtained or parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked the relinquishment is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor.

(d) A second relinquishment for placement with the same adoptive parent selected by the agency and agreed upon by the person executing the relinquishment, or a second general relinquishment for placement by the agency with any adoptive parent selected by the agency, is irrevocable."

SECTION 12. G.S. 48-9-104 reads as rewritten:

SENATE BILL 499:
Amend Adoption Laws

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Sens. Hartsell & Soles
Date:	May 8, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	S499-CSRH-35[v.5]		Committee Counsel

PCS CHANGES: The PCS inserts "infant who is in utero" in Sections 10 & 11, changes the effective date and its applicability, extends the provision dealing with advertising to advertising on the Internet, and makes a few technical or clarifying changes.

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 499 would: (1) shorten from 21 days to seven days for birth parents of children no older than three months to revoke their "consent" to the direct adoption of their child or to revoke the "relinquishment" of their child to an adoption agency; (2) permit, but not require, birth parents and adopting parents who use an adoption agency to share information among themselves to the same extent they could do so in a private adoption without an agency; (3) permit prospective adoptive parents who have a favorable home study ("preplacement assessment") to publish this fact in newspapers and periodicals or on the Internet; (4) explicitly permit adoption agencies to notify known birth parents and known possible birth parents of pending adoption proceedings so that they can, if they wish, appear at the adoption proceeding to protect their paternal rights instead of requiring agencies to file separate termination of parental rights cases against such known parents; and (5) make other technical and stylistic changes.

CURRENT LAW: Current law provides that: (1) birth parents of children three months of age and younger have 21 days to revoke their consent to adopt or relinquishment to an agency, while parents of children older than three months have seven days; (2) in private adoptions where there is no adoption agency, the birth parents and adopting parents must exchange identifying information (birth parents receive the adopting parents' preplacement assessment and adopting parents receive the birth parents' consent), but in agency adoptions the birth parents and adopting parents cannot learn each other's identities even if they all want to do so; (3) no one except adoption agencies may advertise in public media in any way; and (4) before an adoption can proceed the agencies must file separate termination of parental rights actions in cases of unknown parents and unknown possible parents, and it is commonly interpreted that agencies are to do likewise as to known parents and possible parents.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS: This bill addresses issues that have arisen since the adoption law was completely revised in 1995.

Section 1 defines an "agency identified adoption". The term is used in Section 7 to amend G.S. 48-3-203 to allow, not require, agencies to give birth parents greater say in selecting adopting parents from among potential adopting parents approved by the agency.

Section 2 corrects the number of months required for the completion or updating of a required preplacement assessment.

Section 3 amends G.S. 48-2-305, which specifies the documents that are to be attached to an adoption petition and filed with the court. The change will require that the petition have attached to it a "certificate of service" proving that the birth parents received a copy of the preplacement assessment in a private adoption (see Sections 5 & 9), and proof of the consent to release identifying information prior to an agency adoption (see Section 7, 12 & 13). Other changes affect punctuation.

Section 4 amends G.S. 48-2-402, which governs the service of the notice that an adoption petition has been filed. Existing law says that in agency adoptions, where there is an "unknown parent or possible parent," the agency must take the extra step of terminating that person's parental rights in a separate court proceeding before the adoption can proceed. The point of the law is to be especially cautious in cases where a parent's identity is allegedly not known. The amendment clarifies existing law, making it clear that where the parent or possible parent is actually known, that known parent or possible parent can be given notice of the adoption and required to defend his or her parental rights, if there are any, directly in the adoption proceeding itself.

Section 5 corrects punctuation, and requires the court to find in its adoption order that a certificate of service has been filed in the case proving that, in a private adoption, the adopting parents gave the birth parents a copy of the preplacement assessment.

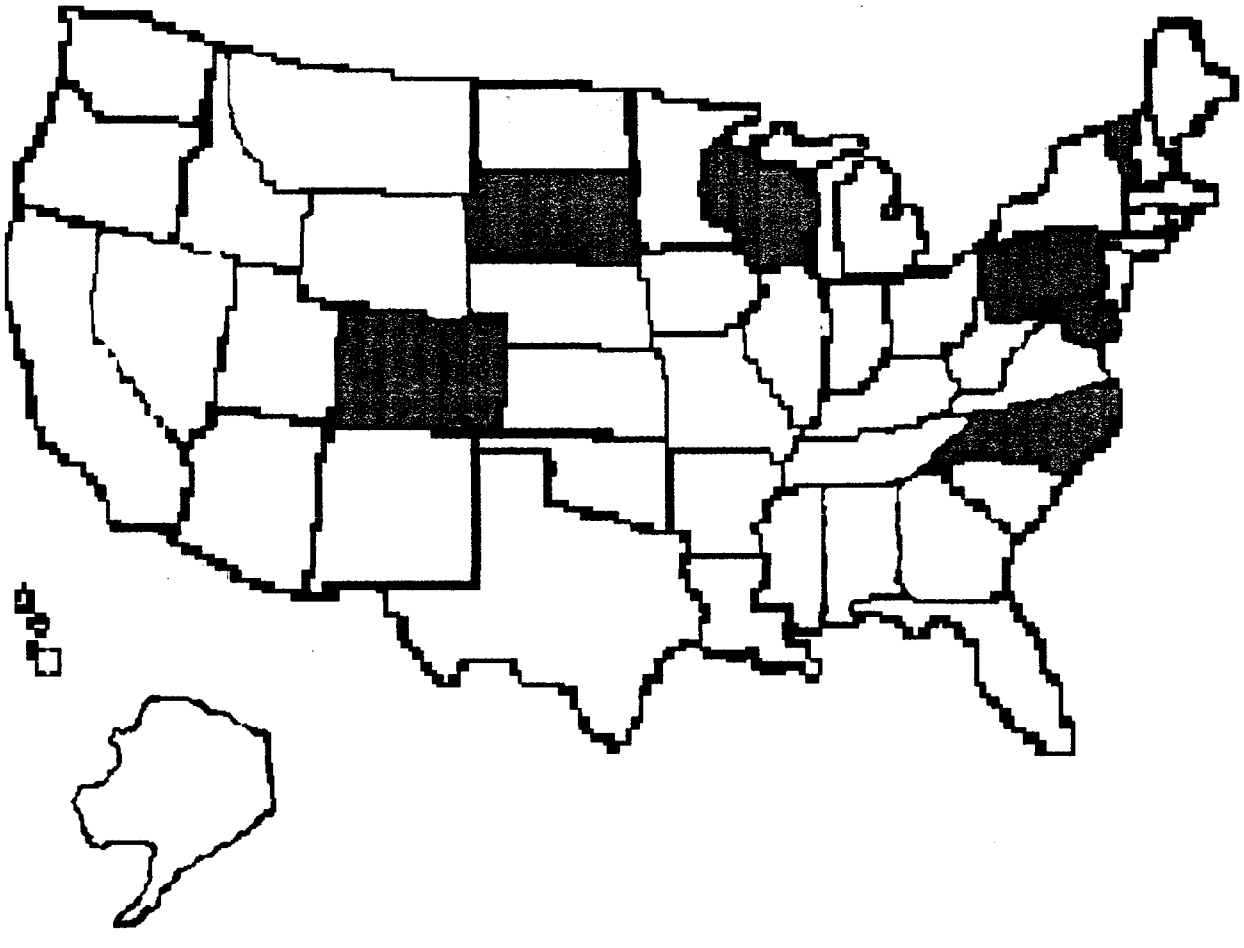
Sections 6 & 8 allow, but do not require, the agency preparing a preplacement assessment to delete from the assessment detailed financial information and private information concerning extended family members.

Section 7 requires adoption agencies to explain to birth parents and adopting parents agency procedures, if any, for sharing information between adopting parents and birth parents and for giving birth parents a voice in selecting adopting parents. This section also requires agencies, which have agreed to place the child with prospective adoptive parents selected by the birth parents, to place the child with those adoptive parents when a favorable preplacement assessment has been prepared.

Section 9 requires the adopting parents to file with the court a certificate of service certifying that they gave the birth parents a preplacement assessment.

Section 10 makes the period to revoke consent to adoption seven days in all cases.

Section 11 changes the period to seven days in all cases for revoking a relinquishment to an adoption agency.



Sections 12 & 13 would allow for the release of identifying information between birth parents and adopting parents in an agency adoption. This is comparable to what is currently allowed in a private adoption. Note that Section 12 keeps all other adoption records sealed, including specifically all government records. The information can ONLY be shared if the parties agree to do so before the adoption.

Section 14 allows a prospective adopting parent to advertise in a periodical or newspaper, or on the Internet, the fact that the person desires to adopt. This section applies only to persons who received favorable preplacement assessments. Currently, this is punishable as a Class 1 misdemeanor.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would take effect November 1, 2001. Section 4 would apply to adoptions in which the petition is pending or filed on or after that date. Sections 3, 5, 7, 9, 12, and 13 would apply to adoptions in which the petition is filed on or after that date. Sections 6 and 8 would apply to preplacement assessments prepared on or after that date. Sections 10 & 11 would apply to consents and relinquishments executed on or after that date. Section 14 would apply to advertising published on or after that date.

Subject: Birth mothers

To whom it may concern,
My name is Haley . On March 19, 2001 I gave birth to a beautiful little boy. As I am typing I can imagine him in the arms of his new mom and dad and the wonderful life he will receive from them. You see, I chose a better lifestyle for him than I could provide. He now has a mom and a dad who can care for him physically, emotionally, and financially. Although this decision was not an easy one, I knew that it was what was right, as well as, best for me and the baby. I think that every mother wants what is best for their child. In cases like mine it was the realization that I was not the best thing for him that was difficult. However, this realization was made early on and only reaffirmed throughout the pregnancy. I moved here, to North Carolina, to provide this baby a better life. My family members, other than my mom, are not aware of this pregnancy. I knew that adoption was what I wanted as well as needed to do. I moved eleven hours away from family and friends to carry this decision out. One of the reasons I was so sure was that on March 19,1998 I gave birth to a beautiful girl. She was also placed for adoption. During that pregnancy I received counseling and went through many workbooks helping me to make the choice that was best for me concerning this child. Although the two adoptions were completely different, the first through an agency (closed adoption) in Mississippi and the second through a facilitator (open adoption) in North Carolina, I was very grateful for both, It was the foundation laid by the workers and agency in Mississippi that allowed me to follow through with this second placement with such certainty. One of the main differences between these two adoptions was the revocation periods. In Mississippi the law gives you five days and in North Carolina it gives you 21. Five days was a perfect amount of time for me to realize that I had in fact made the right decision. I returned home from the hospital and had some time to think about the decision that I had made as well as those papers that I was going to be signing that would make this plan irreversible. As scared as I was that I could be making a mistake, I chose to take an extra day before signing those forms and walked out of the office with no regrets.
I knew what I was doing this second time. I knew what was best. I had no doubts or fears about the decision I was making. (especially after meeting the couple) All this to say that I knew what I wanted. However, 21 days is a long time to think about "what ifs". No matter how certain you are of your decision, the 21 days is too long to wait to have closure and begin to take charge of a new beginning. It is for this reason that I believe that girls who are of sound mind should have the right to waive their 21 days. I do believe that this should apply to those who are 18 or older and have received counseling from an adoption counselor either throughout the pregnancy or before signing any legal documentation. For some of these girls, a new beginning is what they are hoping to gain after a situation such as placing their child for adoption. I think that prolonging that opportunity for 21 days is very difficult for any birth mother to wait for. Please consider reducing the revocation period or at least letting the birth mother decide to waive her waiting 21 days to have closure and begin a fresh beginning. Thank you,

Haley

Subject: Re: Proposed Changes to NC Adoption Law

It would have made it easier for me if the period was 7 days. I wanted everyone to be able to get on with their new lives after the birth of "our" daughter. It was, to me, an unnecessary burden for them financially and for me mentally knowing that I had given birth to this beautiful human being and she was being cramped in a hotel room for 21 days. I would of rather them been able to leave after 7 days to get used to the new parenthood aspect of life and that's hard to do being 17 hours away from home. I'm sure that my reasoning for this may differ from alot because I knew that my adoptive parents were very open with my having a relationship with my daughter and set no boundaries for me. I knew that I could call them, write them, etc. to see how my daughter was and how she was growing, etc. My adoptive parents were advised not to be there for the birth and I would like to see that changed. Had they listened they would have missed out on the greatest experience of their lives. But fortunately they didn't and we were all together when our daughter was born. They have pics from the very beginning until now (there is no end) as I do. They send me photos and videos about once a month and we still talk daily via email. Okay I'm blabbing now but I hope I answered your question. So I would vote for the 7 days instead of 21. Feel free to contact me anytime. Thanks, Glenda

Dear Sirs:

I gave birth to a baby boy in June 2000 and made an adoption plan for my son. I chose a couple to adopt my son and we have an open adoption. I receive pictures of my son and periodic updates on how he's doing. Although it is difficult and not a day goes by that I don't think about him, I realize that I made the right decision. I am glad that I chose an open adoption rather than going through an agency. I would hate to have all communication between me and my son's parents go through an adoption agency and to not know where my son was.

I also support changing the revocation period to seven days. That shorter period time gives birthmothers time to consider their decision and change their minds if they want to. The longer period gives too much time. That time was very difficult for me. I knew I had made the right choice, but I still had periods of doubt that caused me a lot emotional pain. Knowing that I could still change my mind made it worse. I would have preferred to have a shorter time and have been able to let go and begin healing sooner.

Another reason I support the shorter time is because the adoptive parents chose to place the baby in foster care during the 21 days in case I changed my mind. Although I understood and supported that decision, I hated knowing that they were not able to take him home from the hospital and that they lost that time with the baby.

Sincerely,

Courtney T.

To Whom It May Concern:

I agree with the proposed bill. I think that 7 days is long enough, because the longer you have to sit and think about your decision the harder it becomes.
The 7 days would help bring immediate closure to the situation. In my case, the only thing I wish I had done differently is to arrange for a more open adoption. At the time, I needed to have some distance at first in order to deal with the whole situation, but now I wish I knew more about my child's parents.
I haven't for one day regretted my decision of adoption but I have regretted some of the options I chose. I firmly believe that 7 days is long enough and that in situations when counseling is readily available, the mother should be able to make a decision that is irrevocable after she signs. If the mother is not certain and has concerns the seven days are there for her protection.
Adoption should involve the birth mother and the adoptive parents. So many times people forget that the adoptive family has also made a conscious decision to raise a child and their rights are not as flexible. The birth mother has the option to change her mind and the adoptive parents are left to deal with it.
I can't imagine the horror of bonding with a child and welcoming it home to only have the child taken from you with no form of recourse. I know the emotions that I felt, but I can't imagine if I had taken Hannah home and then had her taken from me. I hope my opinion has helped or will be helpful. Please let me know if there is anything else I can do, because I strongly believe in this bill. Thank you for everything you do for children

Subject: Proposed Change to Adoption Law

Elaine, I hope this helps.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am a birthmother who placed my son for adoption in November, 2000. I am writing this letter in support of the proposed changes to adoption laws in North Carolina.

I was lucky enough to be able to choose adoptive parents for my son and to have a completely open adoption. I am able to call and visit my son and his parents and to be a part of his extended family. I was completely comfortable with my decision and would have gladly chosen to waive the revocation period and sign an irrevocable consent.

I believe that the current 21-day revocation period is not fair to either the birthmother or the adoptive parents. The birthmother should be able to make her decision, sign the necessary papers, and then move on with her life and begin the healing process. The adoptive parents should be able to carry their baby home and be secure with the situation so they can begin to bond with their child, rather than spending that precious time in fear that the birthmother might change her mind.

I believe that more girls would choose adoption over abortion or over raising the child themselves if they knew they could meet the adoptive parents and develop a relationship with them and be able to see first hand that their child is being loved and cherished, rather than having to rely on pictures and letters screened by an adoption agency.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAWS RELATING TO ADOPTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 48-1-101 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-1-101. Definitions.

In this Chapter, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Adoptee" means an individual who is adopted, is placed for adoption, or is the subject of a petition for adoption properly filed with the court.

(2) "Adoption" means the creation by law of the relationship of parent and child between two individuals.

(3a) "Adoption facilitator" means an individual or a nonprofit entity that assists biological parents in locating and evaluating prospective adoptive parents without charge.

(4) "Agency" means a public or private association, corporation, institution, or other person or entity that is licensed or otherwise authorized by the law of the jurisdiction where it operates to place minors for adoption. "Agency" also means a county department of social services in this State.

(4a) "Agency identified adoption" means a placement where an agency has agreed to place the minor with a prospective adoptive parent selected by the parent or guardian.

(5) "Child" means a son or daughter, whether by birth or adoption.

(5a) "Criminal history" means a county, State, or federal criminal history of conviction or a pending indictment of a crime, whether a misdemeanor or a felony, that bears upon an individual's fitness to have responsibility for the safety and well-being of children, including the following North Carolina crimes contained in any of the following Articles of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes: Article 6, Homicide; Article 7A, Rape and Kindred Offenses; Article 8, Assaults; Article 10, Kidnapping and Abduction; Article 13, Malicious Injury or Damage by Use of Explosive or Incendiary Device or Material; Article 26, Offenses Against Public Morality and Decency; Article 27, Prostitution; Article 39, Protection of Minors; Article 40, Protection of the Family; and Article 59, Public Intoxication. This statement ~~must~~shall include a schedule of any fee or expenses charged or required to be paid by the agency and a summary of the provisions of this Chapter that pertain to the requirements and consequences of a relinquishment and to the selection of a prospective adoptive parent.

(c) An agency may notify the parent when a placement has occurred and when an adoption decree is issued.

(d) ~~The selection of a prospective adoptive parent for a minor shall be made by the agency on the basis of a preplacement assessment.~~An agency may place a minor for adoption only with an individual for whom a favorable preplacement assessment has been prepared. Placement shall be made as follows:

(1) If the agency has agreed to place the minor with the prospective adoptive parent selected by the parent or guardian, the minor shall be placed with the individual selected by the parent or guardian.

(2) If the agency has not agreed to place the minor with the prospective adoptive parent selected by the parent or guardian, the minor shall be placed with the prospective adoptive parent selected by the agency on the basis of the preplacement assessment. (d1) A minor who is in the custody or placement responsibility of a county department of social services shall not be placed with a selected prospective adoptive parent prior to the completion of an investigation of the individual's criminal history pursuant to G.S. 48-3-309 or G.S. 131D-10.3A and, based on the criminal history, a determination as to the individual's fitness to have responsibility for the safety and well-being of children.

(e) In addition to the authority granted in G.S. 131D-10.5, the Social Services Commission may adopt rules for placements by agencies consistent with the purposes of this Chapter.

(f) An agency may release identifying information as provided in G.S. 48-9-104."

SECTION 8. G.S. 48-3-303(c) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(c) The preplacement assessment ~~must~~,shall, after a reasonable investigation, report on the following about the individual being assessed:

...

(12) The agency preparing the preplacement assessment may redact from the preplacement assessment provided to a placing parent or guardian detailed information reflecting the prospective adoptive parent's financial account balances and detailed information about the prospective adoptive parent's extended family members, including surnames, names of employers, names of schools attended, social security numbers, telephone numbers and addresses, and other similarly detailed information about extended family members obtained under subsections (b) and (c) of this section."

SECTION 9. G.S. 48-3-307 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) A prospective adoptive parent shall file or cause to be filed a certificate indicating that the prospective adoptive parent has delivered a copy of the assessment to the parent or guardian who placed the minor for adoption."

SECTION 10. G.S. 48-3-608 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-608. Revocation of consent.

(a) ~~A consent to the adoption of an infant who is in utero or is three months old or less at the time the consent is given may be revoked within 21 days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays.~~A consent to the adoption of any ~~other~~infant who is in utero or any minor may be revoked within seven days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays. If the final day of the revocation period falls on a weekend or North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the consent may revoke by giving written notice to the person specified in the consent. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent.

(b) In a direct placement, if:

(1) A preplacement assessment is required, and

(2) Placement occurs before the preplacement assessment is given to the parent or guardian who is placing the minor,

then that individual's time under subsection (a) of this section to revoke any consent previously given shall be either five business days after the date the individual receives the preplacement assessment or the remainder of the time provided in subsection (a) of this section, whichever is longer. The date of receipt is the earlier of the date of actual receipt or the date established pursuant to G.S. 48-3-307.

(c) If a person who has physical custody places the minor with the prospective adoptive parent and thereafter revokes a consent pursuant to this section, the prospective adoptive parent shall, immediately upon request, return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who placed the minor and divests the prospective adoptive parent of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court shall award reasonable attorneys' fees to the person who revoked if the prospective adoptive parent fails upon request to return the minor.

(d) If a person other than a person described in subsection (c) of this section revokes a consent pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the adoption cannot proceed until another consent is obtained or the person's parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked consent is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor. If the minor whose consent is required revokes consent, the county department of social services shall be notified for appropriate action.

(e) A second consent to adoption by the same adoptive parents is irrevocable."

SECTION 11. G.S. 48-3-706 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-706. Revocation of relinquishments.

If the final day of the period falls on a weekend or a North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the relinquishment may revoke by giving written notice to the agency to which the relinquishment was given. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment.

(b) If a person who has physical custody relinquishes a minor and thereafter revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section, the agency shall upon request return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who relinquished the minor and divests the agency of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court may award the person who revoked reasonable attorneys' fees from a prospective adoptive parent with whom the minor was placed who refuses to return the minor and from the agency if the agency fails to cooperate in securing the minor's return.

(c) If a person other than a person described in subsection (b) of this section revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the agency may not give consent for the adoption and the adoption cannot proceed until another relinquishment or a consent is obtained or parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked the relinquishment is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor.

SECTION 10. G.S. 48-3-608 reads as rewritten:

"§ 48-3-608. Revocation of consent.

(a) ~~A consent to the adoption of an infant who is in utero or is three months old or less at the time the consent is given may be revoked within 21 days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays.~~A consent to the adoption of any ~~other~~infant who is in utero or any minor may be revoked within seven days following the day on which it is executed, inclusive of weekends and holidays. If the final day of the revocation period falls on a weekend or North Carolina or federal holiday, then the revocation period extends to the next business day. The individual who gave the consent may revoke by giving written notice to the person specified in the consent. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the person to whom consent was given at the address specified in the consent. The date of receipt is the earlier of the date of actual receipt or the date established pursuant to G.S. 48-3-307.

(c) If a person who has physical custody places the minor with the prospective adoptive parent and thereafter revokes a consent pursuant to this section, the prospective adoptive parent shall, immediately upon request, return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who placed the minor and divests the prospective adoptive parent of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court shall award reasonable attorneys' fees to the person who revoked if the prospective adoptive parent fails upon request to return the minor.

(d) If a person other than a person described in subsection (c) of this section revokes a consent pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the adoption cannot proceed until another consent is obtained or the person's parental rights are terminated. Notice may be given by personal delivery, overnight delivery service, or registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. If notice is given by mail, notice is deemed complete when it is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment. If notice is given by overnight delivery service, notice is deemed complete on the date it is deposited with the service as shown by the receipt from the service, with delivery charges paid by the sender, addressed to the agency at the agency's address as given in the relinquishment.

(b) If a person who has physical custody relinquishes a minor and thereafter revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section, the agency shall upon request return the minor to that person. The revocation restores the right to physical custody and any right to legal custody to the person who relinquished the minor and divests the agency of any right to legal or physical custody and any further responsibility for the care and support of the minor. In any subsequent proceeding, the court may award the person who revoked reasonable attorneys' fees from a prospective adoptive parent with whom the minor was placed who refuses to return the minor and from the agency if the agency fails to cooperate in securing the minor's return.

(c) If a person other than a person described in subsection (b) of this section revokes a relinquishment pursuant to this section and this person's consent is required, the agency may not give consent for the adoption and the adoption cannot proceed until another relinquishment or a consent is obtained or parental rights are terminated. The person who revoked the relinquishment is not thereby entitled to physical custody of the minor.

These special police officers may arrest persons outside the territory of the Cherry Hospital but within the confines of Wayne County, when the person arrested has committed a criminal offense within the territory of the Cherry Hospital, for which the officers could have arrested the person within that territory, and the arrest is made during the person's immediate and continuous flight from that territory."

SENATE BILL 370:
State Mental Health Joint Security Force

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Kerr
Date:	May 10, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 370 would grant the Secretary of Health and Human Services the power to designate one or more special police officers at Cherry Hospital and Dorothea Dix Hospital. Within the territory of the hospital, these officers would have the same power as sheriffs. Within the county in which the hospital is located, they would have the power to retrieve clients and return them to the hospital and to arrest a person who commits a criminal offense within the territory of the hospital if the arrest is made during the person's immediate and continuous flight from the territory of the hospital.

BACKGROUND AND ANALYSIS: The directors of State facilities such as Cherry Hospital and Dorothea Dix Hospital currently have the authority to appoint special police officers that have the powers of city police officers within the territory of the facility. Because the powers of the special police officers are limited to the territory of the facility, if a client escapes from the territory of such a facility, the county sheriff or municipal police must typically locate and return the client to the facility. Senate Bill 370 would allow special police officers appointed by the Secretary to carry out this recovery within the county in which the facility is located -- in the case of Cherry Hospital, Wayne County, and in the case of Dorothea Dix Hospital, Wake County. Senate Bill 370 would also authorize the special police officers to arrest a person outside the territory of the facility but within the county if the person commits a criminal offense within the territory of the hospital and the arrest is made during the person's immediate and continuous flight from the territory of the hospital. The Secretary already has the authority to appoint special police officers with similar powers for the Black Mountain Center, the Alcohol Rehabilitation Center, and the Juvenile Evaluation Center, all in Buncombe County, and Broughton Hospital, the North Carolina School for the Deaf, the Western Regional Vocational Rehabilitation Facility, and the Western Carolina Center, all in Burke County.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Senate Bill 370 would become effective when it becomes law.

§ 143-116.7. Motor vehicle laws applicable to streets, alleys and driveways on the grounds of Department of Health and Human Services institutions; traffic regulations; registration and regulation of motor vehicles.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, all the provisions of Chapter 20 of the General Statutes relating to the use of the highways of the State and the operation of motor vehicles thereon are made applicable to the streets, alleys, roads and driveways on the grounds of all State institutions under the jurisdiction of the Department of Health and Human Services. Any person violating any of the provisions of the Chapter in or on such streets, alleys, roads or driveways shall, upon conviction be punished as prescribed in this section. (b) The Secretary of Health and Human Services may adopt rules consistent with the provisions of Chapter 20 of the General Statutes, with respect to the use of the streets, alleys, and driveways of institutions of the Department of Health and Human Services. (h) Any fees or civil penalties collected pursuant to this section shall be deposited in the General Fund Budget Code of the institution where the fees or civil penalties are collected and shall only be used to support the cost of administration of this section. Infraction penalties shall be disbursed as provided in G.S. 14-3.1(a). This term shall not be construed, however, to include streets that are a part of the State highway system. Any person violating any of the provisions of Chapter 20 hereby made applicable in the State parks and forests road system shall, upon conviction, be punished in accordance with Chapter 20. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as in any way interfering with the ownership and control of the State parks and forests road system by the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

(b)(1) It shall be unlawful for a person to operate a vehicle in the State parks and forests road system at a speed in excess of twenty-five miles per hour (25 mph). When the Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources determines that this speed is greater than reasonable and safe under the conditions found to exist in the State parks and forests road system, the Secretary may establish a lower reasonable and safe speed limit. No speed limit established by the Secretary pursuant to this provision shall be effective until posted in the part of the system sought to be affected.

(2) Any person convicted of violating this subsection by operating a vehicle on the State parks and forests road system while fleeing or attempting to elude arrest or apprehension by a law enforcement officer with authority to enforce the motor vehicle laws, shall be punished as provided in G.S. 20-141.5.

(3) For the purposes of enforcement and administration of Chapter 20, the speed limits stated and authorized to be adopted by this section are speed limits under Chapter 20.

It shall be a violation of G.S. 20-165.1 for any person to willfully drive or operate any vehicle on any part of the State parks and forests road system so designated except in the direction indicated.

(5) The Secretary shall have power, equal to the power of local authorities under G.S. 20-158 and G.S. 20-158.1, to place vehicle control signs and signals and yield-right-of-way signs in the State parks and forests road system; the Secretary also shall have power to post such other signs and markers and mark the roads in accordance with Chapter 20 as the Secretary may determine appropriate for highway safety and traffic control. Law enforcement agencies who are notified of a client's escape or breach of conditional release shall be notified of the client's return by the responsible 24-hour facility. Under the circumstances described in this section, the initial notification by the 24-hour facility of the client's escape or breach of conditional release shall be given by telephone communication to the appropriate law enforcement agency or agencies and, if available and appropriate, by Division of Criminal Information (DCI) message to any law enforcement agency in or out of state and by entry into the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) telecommunications system. As soon as reasonably possible following notification, written authorization to take the client into custody shall also be issued by the 24-hour facility. Under this section, law enforcement officers shall have the authority to take a client into custody upon receipt of the telephone notification or Division of Criminal Information message prior to receiving written authorization. The notification of a law enforcement agency does not, in and of itself, render this information public information within the purview of Chapter 132 of the General Statutes. However, the responsible law enforcement agency shall determine the extent of disclosure of personal identifying and background information reasonably necessary, under the circumstances, in order to assure the expeditious return of a client to the 24-hour facility involved and to protect the general public and is authorized to make such disclosure. The responsible law enforcement agency may also place any appropriate message or entry into either the Division of Criminal Information System or National Crime Information System, or both, as appropriate.

(d) In the situations described in subsections (a) and (b) of this section, the responsible professional shall also notify or cause to be notified as soon as practicable:

(1) The next of kin of the client or legally responsible person for the client;
(2) The clerk of superior court of the county of commitment of the client;
(3) The area authority of the county of residence of the client, if appropriate;
(4) The physician or eligible psychologist who performed the first examination for a commitment of the client, if appropriate; and
(5) Any official who has placed a detainer on a client as described in subdivision (a)(5) of this section of the escape or breach of condition of the client's release upon occurrence of either action and of his subsequent return to the facility. SENATE BILL 397:

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Ballance
Date:	May 15, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	S397-CSRH-40[v.1]		Committee Counsel

The PCS makes clarifying changes.

SUMMARY: The bill would allow misdemeanants who are housed in a local correctional facility and who participate in a general education development diploma program (GED program) or other education, rehabilitation, or training program to receive up to four days off their sentence for each month of incarceration. The act would be effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 148-13 (attached) directs the Secretary of Correction (Secretary) to adopt rules to specify the rates and circumstances under which earned time authorized under another statute may be earned or forfeited by an individual serving an active prison sentence for a misdemeanor conviction. That other statute, G.S. 15A-1340.20(d) (attached), allows this individual to receive earned time credit under rules adopted by the Secretary and in combination with a third statute. The third statute, G.S. 162-60, which the bill is amending, applies only to this individual when housed in a local confinement facility and only provides for a sentence reduction for time worked on public projects. This earned time credit is limited to no more than four days per month of incarceration.

The Department of Correction (DOC) has adopted policies governing the method of computing sentence reduction credits. These policies define Earned Time as a sentence reduction credit awarded to inmates for participation in work and program activities and is applicable to inmates sentenced under the Structured Sentencing Act. Inmates are allowed sentence reduction credits for work performed or for participation in training, education, or rehabilitation programs. The sentence reduction credits cannot exceed four days per month of incarceration for misdemeanants. The amount of time deducted from the sentence is pro-rated based upon the number of hours the inmate spends in the approved activity per day. For example, inmates who perform work assignments or who participate in training programs that require a minimum of six hours participation per day for the number of days per month assigned to participate, shall receive four days per month deducted from the inmate's sentence.

The GED program is a national diploma program that provides an alternative route for individuals who have not earned a traditional high school diploma. It consists of classes and a series of tests.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend G.S. 162-60 by adding a new subsection (b) to clearly authorize a sentence reduction for a prisoner who is convicted of a misdemeanor offense and in a local confinement facility and who participates in a GED program or other education, rehabilitation, or training program. The sentence reduction would be limited to four days for every 30 days of participation in the program.

S397-SMRH-001: Kory Goldsmith, Senate Judiciary II Counsel, substantially contributed to this summary

§ 148-13. Regulations as to custody grades, privileges, gain time credit, etc.

(a) The Secretary of Correction may issue regulations regarding the grades of custody in which State prisoners are kept, the privileges and restrictions applicable to each custody grade, and the amount of cash, clothing, etc., to be awarded to State prisoners after their discharge or parole. The amount of cash awarded to a prisoner upon discharge or parole after being incarcerated for two years or longer shall be at least forty-five dollars ($45.00).

(a1) The Secretary of Correction shall adopt rules to specify the rates at, and circumstances under, which earned time authorized by G.S. 15A-1340.13(d) and G.S. 15A-1340.20(d) may be earned or forfeited by persons serving activated sentences of imprisonment for felony or misdemeanor convictions.

(b) With respect to prisoners who are serving prison or jail terms for impaired driving offenses under G.S. 20-138.1, the Secretary of Correction may, in his discretion, issue regulations regarding deductions of time from the terms of such prisoners for good behavior, meritorious conduct, work or study, participation in rehabilitation programs, and the like.

(c), (d) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 538, s. 32, effective January 1, 1995.

(e) The Secretary's regulations concerning earned time credits authorized by this section shall be distributed to and followed by local jail administrators with regard to sentenced jail prisoners.

(f) The provisions of this section do not apply to persons sentenced to a term of special probation under G.S. 15A-1344(e) or G.S. 15A-1351(a).

§ 15A-1340.20. Procedure and incidents of sentence of imprisonment for misdemeanors.

(a) Application to Misdemeanors Only. – This Part applies to sentences imposed for misdemeanor convictions.

(b) Procedure Generally; Term of Imprisonment. – A sentence imposed for a misdemeanor shall contain a sentence disposition specified for the class of offense and prior conviction level, and any sentence of imprisonment shall be within the range specified for the class of offense and prior conviction level, unless applicable statutes require otherwise. The kinds of sentence dispositions are active punishment, intermediate punishment, and community punishment. Except for the work and earned time credits authorized by G.S. 162-60, or earned time credits authorized by G.S. 15A-1355(c), if applicable, an offender whose sentence of imprisonment is activated shall serve each day of the term imposed.

(c) Suspension of Sentence. – Unless otherwise provided, the court shall suspend a sentence of imprisonment if the class of offense and prior conviction level requires community or intermediate punishment as a sentence disposition.

(c1) Active Punishment Exception. – The court may impose an active punishment for a class of offense and prior conviction level that does not otherwise authorize the imposition of an active punishment if the term of imprisonment is equal to or less than the total amount of time the offender has already spent committed to or in confinement in any State or local correctional, mental, or other institution as a result of the charge that culminated in the sentence.

(d) Earned Time Authorization. – An offender sentenced to a term of imprisonment that is activated is eligible to receive earned time credit for misdemeanant offenders awarded by the Department of Correction or the custodian of a local confinement facility, pursuant to rules adopted in accordance with law and pursuant to G.S. 162-60. These rules and statute combined shall not award misdemeanant offenders more than four days of earned time credit per month of incarceration.

(2) A parent or guardian acting on behalf of a minor when the minor resides with the victim.

The program will: (i) allow State and local agencies to respond to requests for public records without disclosing the location of the victims; (ii) enable interagency cooperation in providing address confidentiality for the victims; (iii) enable State and local agencies to accept a program participant's use of an address designated by the Secretary of State's Office as a substitute address; and (iv) allow newly relocated victims to keep their addresses confidential from abusive individuals.

Applicants shall be certified for four years following the date of filing unless the certification is withdrawn or canceled prior to the end of the four-year period. A program participant may withdraw the certification by filing a request for withdrawal acknowledged before a notary with the Secretary. (b) The provisions of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes shall not apply to any cancellation by the Secretary pursuant to subsection (a) of this section.

HB 1402:
Address Confidentiality Program/Funds.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Jeffus
Date:	May 15, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer
Version:	H1402-CSSK-33[v.2]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: HB 1402 creates an address confidentiality program to be operated by the Secretary of State (Secretary) for persons who are victims of actual or threatened domestic violence, victims of sexual offenses, or victims of stalking. The program would allow these persons to have their first-class mail and service of process received by the Secretary and then forwarded to them by the Secretary. The victim's true mailing address would not be a public record. The act is effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, the Crime Victims' Rights Act is contained in G.S. 15A-830 through G.S. 15A-841. The Act imposes duties on the investigating police department or agency, the District Attorney's office, and the custodial agency or department to inform the victim when the defendant is arrested, escapes, or is put on trial. Any change in the defendant's status requires the government official in charge at the time to inform the victim. The Crime Victims' Rights Act covers all of the victims mentioned in this bill. However, the Crime Victims' Rights Act does not speak to the issue of keeping a victim's home address from being a public record.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Secretary to Assign an Address. This bill would allow the following persons to apply to the Secretary of State (Secretary) to have the Secretary designate an address to serve as that person's mailing address for first-class mail and service of process (the person's true mailing address and telephone number would not be a public record):

(1) An adult who resides in NC and is a victim of domestic violence, a victim of a sexual offense, or a victim of stalking.
(2) A parent acting on behalf of a minor when the minor resides with the victim.
(3) A guardian acting on behalf of an incapacitated person who is a victim of domestic violence, a victim of a sexual offense, or a victim of stalking.

The Application for an Address. Person's seeking an address designated by the Secretary must submit an application to the Secretary that includes a recommendation by an application assistant that the applicant receive an address designated by the Secretary and contains the following:

(1) A statement that the applicant is a victim of a crime listed above.
(2) A designation of the Secretary as an agent for purposes of service of process and receiving first-class mail.
(3) The applicant's true mailing address and phone number (so that the Secretary may contact the applicant).

(4) The mailing address to be kept confidential, and a statement that disclosure of the address would endanger the applicant or the applicant's child.

Maintaining a Confidential Address. Applicants assigned an address by the Secretary are first certified as program participants. Participants may retain their assigned address for four years and may renew their certification as a program participant by filing a new application 30 days before expiration of the four years. The applicant may, at any time, request withdrawal from the program. Participants will be dropped from the program for failing to provide the Secretary of a name, address, or phone number change; mail forwarded to the participant is returned as undeliverable; or the participant falsifies information on their application.

Violations of this Act. The Attorney General will investigate applicants that falsify information in their application and persons found to be falsifying information would be assessed a civil penalty not to exceed $500. Persons who disclose information deemed confidential by this bill (such as the addresses and phone numbers of victims) would be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor and fined not more that $500. However, the confidential address and phone number of a participant may be disclosed to a law enforcement agency for official use or when required by a court order.

Miscellaneous Provisions.

- This bill states that the Secretary is not liable for persons injured or harmed under the provisions of the bill.
- The Secretary may adopt rules to carry out the provisions of the bill.
- When a program participant receives service of a notice or other paper via the Secretary and the notice requires the participant to act within ten or less, the participant has five additional days added to the prescribed period in which to act.

Appropriation. This bill appropriates from the General Fund to the Secretary $115,000 for the 2001-2002 fiscal year and $86,550 for the 2002-2003 fiscal year to implement the provisions of this bill.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

May 17, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Thursday, May 17, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 10:00 a.m. The following members were present: Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Bowie, Culpepper, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet indicates visitors present and is attached for the record.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and called for consideration of the following bills:

SB 397 GED Credits for Inmates. Rep. Miller moved that the committee reconsider the vote by which the House committee substitute passed. Motion passed. Rep. Pope moved that the new proposed committee substitute be adopted for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. Sen. Ballance, bill sponsor, was recognized to explain the changes. Rep. Pope moved that the House committee substitute be given a favorable report, unfavorable as to Senate committee substitute. Motion passed unanimously.

HB 241 Family Drug Treatment Court Program. Rep. Bowie moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for consideration, and the motion passed. Rep. Warner, bill sponsor was recognized to present the bill. He noted that the bill came out of the Study Committee on Children & Youth. Randy Monchick with the Administrative Office of the Courts explained that the bill clarifies the current statute. He also informed the committee that there was a pilot program in existence in Charlotte. Reps. Bowie and Sherrill raised concern with regard to the composition of the local drug treatment court management committees. Rep. Bowie noted that the bill required an appropriation of $600,000. Rep. Warner pointed out that this was a bare bones budget, and the goal was simply to expand the language so that the program could be expanded in the future. Rep. Miller questioned the success of the program that they have in Durham County. There being further questions and concerns to come before the committee, no action on this bill was taken.

The meeting adjourned at 10:50 a.m.

For purposes of this section, the person having custody of the prisoner is the sheriff, except that when the prisoner is confined in a district confinement facility the person having custody of the prisoner is the jail administrator."

SECTION 2. G.S. 162-60 reads as rewritten:

SENATE BILL 397:
GED and Other Credit for Inmates.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Ballance
Date:	May 17, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	S397-CSRH-40[v.2]		Committee Counsel

The PCS adds a new section 1 and makes clarifying changes.

SUMMARY: The bill would authorize persons who have custody of prisoners convicted of misdemeanor offenses who are housed in a local correctional facility to approve the prisoners' participation in a general education development diploma program (GED program) or other education, rehabilitation, or training program. The bill also would allow these prisoners to receive up to four days off their sentence for each month of incarceration. The act would be effective when it becomes law.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 148-13 (attached) directs the Secretary of Correction (Secretary) to adopt rules to specify the rates and circumstances under which earned time authorized under another statute may be earned or forfeited by an individual serving an active prison sentence for a misdemeanor conviction. That other statute, G.S. 15A-1340.20(d) (attached), allows this individual to receive earned time credit under rules adopted by the Secretary and in combination with a third statute. The third statute, G.S. 162-60, which the bill is amending, applies only to this individual when housed in a local confinement facility and only provides for a sentence reduction for time worked on public projects. This earned time credit is limited to no more than four days per month of incarceration.

The Department of Correction (DOC) has adopted policies governing the method of computing sentence reduction credits. These policies define Earned Time as a sentence reduction credit awarded to inmates for participation in work and program activities and is applicable to inmates sentenced under the Structured Sentencing Act. Inmates are allowed sentence reduction credits for work performed or for participation in training, education, or rehabilitation programs. The sentence reduction credits cannot exceed four days per month of incarceration for misdemeanants. The amount of time deducted from the sentence is pro-rated based upon the number of hours the inmate spends in the approved activity per day. For example, inmates who perform work assignments or who participate in training programs that require a minimum of six hours participation per day for the number of days per month assigned to participate, shall receive four days per month deducted from the inmate's sentence.

The GED program is a national diploma program that provides an alternative route for individuals who have not earned a traditional high school diploma. It consists of classes and a series of tests.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would create a new G.S. 162-159.1 by authorizing the person who has custody of a prisoner convicted of a misdemeanor offense and housed in a local confinement facility to approve that prisoner's participation in a GED program or other education, rehabilitation, or training program. The person having custody must base this approval on the prisoner's record of violence, past criminal convictions, and current sentence. The person may revoke this approval at any time. The bill also would amend G.S. 162-60 by adding a new subsection (b) to clearly authorize a sentence reduction for this prisoner's participation in a GED program or other education, rehabilitation, or training program. The sentence reduction would be limited to four days for every 30 days of participation in the program.

S397-SMRH-002: Kory Goldsmith, Senate Judiciary II Counsel, substantially contributed to this summary

§ 148-13. Regulations as to custody grades, privileges, gain time credit, etc.

(a) The Secretary of Correction may issue regulations regarding the grades of custody in which State prisoners are kept, the privileges and restrictions applicable to each custody grade, and the amount of cash, clothing, etc., to be awarded to State prisoners after their discharge or parole. The amount of cash awarded to a prisoner upon discharge or parole after being incarcerated for two years or longer shall be at least forty-five dollars ($45.00).

(a1) The Secretary of Correction shall adopt rules to specify the rates at, and circumstances under, which earned time authorized by G.S. 15A-1340.13(d) and G.S. 15A-1340.20(d) may be earned or forfeited by persons serving activated sentences of imprisonment for felony or misdemeanor convictions.

HOUSE BILL 241:
Family/Juvenile Drug Treatment Court Program

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Warner
Date:	May 15, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute H241-CSSB-32 [v.3]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 241 would broaden the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Act to authorize the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to develop family drug treatment court programs and juvenile drug treatment court programs within the existing framework of the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Program in order to reduce incidents of child abuse and neglect caused by substance abuse or drug or alcohol addiction and incidents of juvenile delinquency. The proposed committee substitute would also appropriate six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000) to the AOC for the development, implementation, and evaluation of one or more local family drug treatment court programs. The act would become effective October 1, 2001.

NOTE: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 241 adds authorization for the development of juvenile drug treatment court programs, while the Second Edition of House Bill 241 only contained authorization for the development of family drug treatment court programs.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 would expand the stated purpose of the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Act (hereinafter "the Act") to include reduction of delinquent acts and incidents of child abuse and neglect resulting from substance abuse and addiction.

Section 2 would broaden the goals of the Act to include:

- Reduction of substance abuse and addiction among juvenile offenders and respondents in juvenile petitions for abuse, neglect, or both;
- Reduction of delinquent recidivism and the incidence of child abuse and neglect;
- Reduction of alcohol-related court workload;
- Increased accountability of juvenile offenders and respondents in juvenile petitions for abuse, neglect or both;
- Promotion of interaction and resource sharing among criminal and juvenile justice personnel, child protective services, and community agencies.

Section 3 would specifically allow for family drug treatment court programs and juvenile drug treatment court programs to be developed locally, as stand-alone programs, or part of larger drug treatment court programs.

Section 4 would require that the juvenile justice and child protective services communities be broadly represented on the State Drug Treatment Court Advisory Committee.

Section 5 would require that each local drug treatment court management committee appropriately represents the parties and entities involved in the type or types of drug court program operations to be conducted, provide that the chief district court judge concur in the senior resident superior court judge's committee membership selection, and mandate that each committee membership be selected from the list provided, to which would be added:

- A department of social services attorney;
- A guardian ad litem representative;
- An attorney who represents parents and caretakers in department of social services juvenile matters;
- A county department of social services director or child welfare services division member
- The chief juvenile court counselor for the district
- A local school representative; and
- A mental health agency representative.

Sections 6 and 7 would make conforming changes to the statutes governing right to treatment and payment of treatment costs.

Section 8 would appropriate $600,000 from the General Fund to AOC to develop, implement, and evaluate one or more local family drug treatment court programs.

Section 9 would make the act effective October 1, 2001.

BACKGROUND: House Bill 241 and its companion bill, Senate Bill 279, were recommended by the Legislative Study Commission on Children and Youth. Senate Bill 279 is currently in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Act was enacted in 1995. It established the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Program, which addresses substance abuse as the source of crime. As a derivative or part of its local drug court treatment program, Mecklenburg County has implemented a family drug treatment court program, which addresses substance abuse problems that lead to child abuse and neglect that ultimately requires removal of children from the custody of the substance abuser. The family substance abuse treatment court program is part of a therapeutic court concept being explored nationwide.

Note: Frank Folger and Wendy Graf, attorneys in the Research Division, contributed to the preparation of this summary.

HOUSE BILL 241:
Family/Juvenile Drug Treatment Court Program

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Representative Warner
Date:	May 15, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute H241-CSSB-32 [v.3]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 241 would broaden the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Act to authorize the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to develop family drug treatment court programs and juvenile drug treatment court programs within the existing framework of the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Program in order to reduce incidents of child abuse and neglect caused by substance abuse or drug or alcohol addiction and incidents of juvenile delinquency. The proposed committee substitute would also appropriate six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000) to the AOC for the development, implementation, and evaluation of one or more local family drug treatment court programs. The act would become effective October 1, 2001.

NOTE: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 241 adds authorization for the development of juvenile drug treatment court programs, while the Second Edition of House Bill 241 only contained authorization for the development of family drug treatment court programs.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 would expand the stated purpose of the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Act (hereinafter "the Act") to include reduction of delinquent acts and incidents of child abuse and neglect resulting from substance abuse and addiction.

Section 2 would broaden the goals of the Act to include:

- Reduction of substance abuse and addiction among juvenile offenders and respondents in juvenile petitions for abuse, neglect, or both;
- Reduction of delinquent recidivism and the incidence of child abuse and neglect;
- Reduction of alcohol-related court workload;
- Increased accountability of juvenile offenders and respondents in juvenile petitions for abuse, neglect or both;
- Promotion of interaction and resource sharing among criminal and juvenile justice personnel, child protective services, and community agencies.

Section 3 would specifically allow for family drug treatment court programs and juvenile drug treatment court programs to be developed locally, as stand-alone programs, or part of larger drug treatment court programs.

Section 4 would require that the juvenile justice and child protective services communities be broadly represented on the State Drug Treatment Court Advisory Committee.

Section 5 would require that each local drug treatment court management committee appropriately represents the parties and entities involved in the type or types of drug court program operations to be conducted, provide that the chief district court judge concur in the senior resident superior court judge's committee membership selection, and mandate that each committee membership be selected from the list provided, to which would be added:

- A department of social services attorney;
- A guardian ad litem representative;
- An attorney who represents parents and caretakers in department of social services juvenile matters;
- A county department of social services director or child welfare services division member
- The chief juvenile court counselor for the district
- A local school representative; and
- A mental health agency representative.

Sections 6 and 7 would make conforming changes to the statutes governing right to treatment and payment of treatment costs.

Section 8 would appropriate $600,000 from the General Fund to AOC to develop, implement, and evaluate one or more local family drug treatment court programs.

Section 9 would make the act effective October 1, 2001.

BACKGROUND: House Bill 241 and its companion bill, Senate Bill 279, were recommended by the Legislative Study Commission on Children and Youth. Senate Bill 279 is currently in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Act was enacted in 1995. It established the North Carolina Drug Treatment Court Program, which addresses substance abuse as the source of crime. As a derivative or part of its local drug court treatment program, Mecklenburg County has implemented a family drug treatment court program, which addresses substance abuse problems that lead to child abuse and neglect that ultimately requires removal of children from the custody of the substance abuser. The family substance abuse treatment court program is part of a therapeutic court concept being explored nationwide.

SECTION 2. Except for the section of the General Statutes amended in this act, the Revisor of Statutes shall substitute the term "Joint Legislative Corrections, Crime Control, and Juvenile Justice Oversight Committee" for the term "Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee" everywhere that term appears in the General Statutes.

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective July 1, 2001.

SENATE BILL 67:
Juvenile Justice Under Corrections Oversight

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Jordan
Date:	May 22, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer*
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 67 expands the oversight responsibility of the Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee to include the study of issues related to the Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention and the juvenile justice system, and to change the name of the committee to the Joint Legislative Corrections, Crime Control, and Juvenile Justice Oversight Committee. This bill is effective July 1, 2001.

BACKGROUND AND BILL ANALYSIS:

Senate Bill 67 is a recommendation of the Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee.

The Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention was established in July, 2000 to take over the powers and duties of the Office of Juvenile Justice which had been housed in the Governor's Office. Senate Bill 67 would provide for legislative oversight of the newly created department and examination of the overall effectiveness and efficiency of the juvenile justice system. The bill would also change the name of the Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee to reflect the addition of the Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention to its purview.

The Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee is comprised of 16 legislators appointed for two-year terms, eight Senators appointed by the President Pro Tempore, of which two must be of the minority party, and eight Representatives appointed by the Speaker, of which three must be of the minority party.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY II

May 24, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

The House Committee on Judiciary II met on Thursday, May 24, 2001, in Room 421 LOB at 10:00 a.m. The following members were present: Chairman Phil Baddour, Vice Chairman Phil Haire, Representatives Bowie, Decker, Gulley, Hall, Jeffus, Justus, Miller, Pope, Sherrill, and Weiss. Robin Johnson, Esther Manheimer, Jeff Hudson, Staff Attorneys, were also present.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and recognized the Pages. He then called for consideration of the following bills:

SB 829 Government Security Interests Clarified. In Sen. Rand's absence, Rep. Baddour handled the bill. William McBride was recognized to explain the bill. Following brief comments from the committee, Rep. Sherrill moved that the bill be given a favorable report. Motion passed.

SB 352 Extend Lien for Public Health Nuisance. Sen. Kerr, bill sponsor, was recognized to present the bill. He noted that the need for this bill was brought to his attention by the Goldsboro City Council. Sen. Kerr explained that the bill extended the scope of collection for liens, but it excluded an individual's principal residence. Rep. Miller voiced his desire to expand the bill to include an individual's primary residence. The committee exchanged several comments on this issue, and then Rep. Sherrill moved that the bill be given a favorable report. Motion passed.

SB 257 UCC Article 9 Amendments-AB. Rep. Hall moved that the committee reconsider the vote by which the committee substitute received a favorable report. Motion passed. Rep. Baddour explained that the change that needed to be made to the bill was technical in nature. Rep. Bowie moved that the technical amendment be adopted. Motion passed. Rep. Bowie moved that the amendment be rolled into a new committee substitute bill, and that the House committee substitute bill be given a favorable report, unfavorable as to Senate committee substitute bill. Motion passed.

SB 912 Penalty for Filing False Statutory Lien. Rep. Jeffus moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee for purposes of discussion, and without objection, the PCS was before the committee. In Sen. Rand's absence, Rep. Baddour handled the bill. Tom Andrews from the Administrative Office of the Courts explained the bill. Rep. Bowie questioned the need for the legislation, and Mr. Andrews noted that it was not currently in the statutes. The committee raised concerns with regard to the process of stamping a document as filed when there is no intention of docketing the item. With questions remaining before the committee on this issue, no vote was taken.

The meeting adjourned at 10:50 a.m.

SECTION 2. G.S. 25-9-109 reads as rewritten:

"§ 25-9-109. Scope.

SENATE BILL 829:
Government Security Interests Clarified

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Sen. Rand
Date:	May 24, 2001	Summary by:	Esther Manheimer*
Version:	Second Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 829 provides that most governmental security interests are not subject to Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code. The bill becomes effective July 1, 2001.

CURRENT LAW: Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code governs the creation, perfection, priority, and enforcement of a security interest. It provides that security interests created by a governmental entity are not subject to Article 9 to the extent that another statute expressly governs the creation, perfection, priority, and enforcement of the security interests. Currently, some security interests created by governmental entities are subject to Article 9, some are questionable, and some are not.

Also, the term "governmental unit", as defined by Article 9 of the UCC does not encompass every type of conduit agency financing, which is a method of financing the General Assembly expanded last session for special purpose projects, such as water systems and facilities, public transportation systems, and recreational facilities. In a conduit financing, a governmental entity issues its bonds to finance facilities for itself through a separate entity or for a private party, with the payments on the bonds made by the party for which the facilities are financed. In those instances, the security interests created are often those of the nongovernmental entity.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 expands the definition of governmental unit to include separate entities created and controlled by local governments for the purpose of facilitating the financing of a governmental project. This change in the definition recognizes the increasing use of "conduit" financings, where the owner of the facility financed grants a security interest in various collateral to secure its obligations to the governmental unit incurred in connection with the financing transaction.

Sections 2, 3, and 5 create uniformity in the Article's application to governmental units. Section 2 expressly provides that Article 9 does not apply to the creation, perfection, priority, or enforcement of a security interest unless the security interest is created in equipment or fixtures. Sections 3 and 5 repeal statutes that provide otherwise so that all governmental security interests are treated the same. The bill only affects security interests created by governmental units. It does not change the filing or other requirements of Article 9 for security interests created by nongovernmental entities in connection with governmental financing transactions.

Several different statutes allow governmental units to borrow money, such as the Local Government Bond Act and the Capital Facilities Financing Act, as well as more narrowly tailored bonds for the Global Transpark and the Medical Care Commission. These statutes generally provide that a first lien on the pledged revenues and the right to receive them is created at the time the pledge is made and that no other action is necessary to perfect the pledge. However, the statutes providing for security interests in equipment and fixtures do not generally have specific statutory provisions addressing the procedures for the creation, perfection, priority, and enforcement of the security interest created. Therefore, these security interests will continue to be governed by Article 9.

Section 4 clarifies that governmental security interests created prior to July 1, 2001, in compliance with current law remain effective.

SENATE BILL 352:
Extend Lien for Public Health Nuisance.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Kerr
Date:	May 24, 2001	Summary by:	Jeff Hudson,
Version:	Second Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 352 broadens a city's lien authority to cover additional real property owned by a person who fails to pay the expense for abating or removing a public nuisance. The additional real property may not be the person's primary residence.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. Under current G.S. 160A-193, a city may abate a public nuisance within the city or within one mile of the city limits and, if the owner of the property where the nuisance occurred does not pay for the expense of the abatement, the expense is a lien on the property.

Section 1 amends G.S. 160A-193 to authorize a city to place a lien, not only on the land where the public nuisance occurred, but also on any other real property owned by the person who fails to pay for the abatement of the public nuisance on the person's property. This additional real property must be located within the city or within one mile of the city limits and may not be the person's primary residence.

Section 2. Under current G.S. 160A-432, a city may remove or demolish a nonresidential building or structure in a community development target area if the building or structure has been declared unsafe and the cost of the removal or demolition shall be a lien against the real property upon which the cost was incurred. A nonresidential building or structure may be declared "unsafe" if it appears to be vacant or abandoned, and it is so dilapidated as to cause blight, disease, vagrancy, fire or safety hazard, to be a danger to children, to attract criminals, or to otherwise constitute a public nuisance.

Section 2 amends G.S. 160A-432 to authorize a city to place a lien, not only on the property from which the unsafe building or structure was removed, but also on any other real property owned by the owner of the unsafe building or structure. This additional real property must be located within the city or within one mile of the city limits and may not be the person's primary residence.

Section 3. Under current G.S. 160A-443, a city or county may adopt an ordinance for the repair, closing, or demolition of a dwelling that is unfit for human habitation. The cost of the repair, closing, or demolition shall be a lien on the real property upon which the cost was incurred. A dwelling is "unfit for human habitation" if the public officer finds that conditions exist in the dwelling that render it dangerous or injurious to the health, safety, or morals of the city.

Section 3 amends G.S. 160A-443(6) to provide that if the real property upon which the cost was incurred is in an incorporated city, then the city may also place a lien on the other real property owned by the owner of building or structure. This additional real property must be located within the city or within one mile of the city limits and may not be the person's primary residence.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLE 9 OF THE UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE TO GIVE THE SECRETARY OF STATE THE AUTHORITY TO PREVENT FRAUDULENT FILINGS AND TO MAKE CLARIFYING CHANGES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

PART I. PREVENT FRAUDULENT FILINGS.

SECTION 1. G.S. 25-9-516(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Refusal to accept record; filing does not occur. – Filing does not occur with respect to a record that a filing office refuses to accept because:

(1) The record is not communicated by a method or medium of communication authorized by the filing ~~office;~~office.

(2) An amount equal to or greater than the applicable filing fee is not ~~tendered;~~tendered.

(3) The filing office is unable to index the record because:

a. In the case of an initial financing statement, the record does not provide a name for the debtor;

b. In the case of an amendment or correction statement, the record:

1. Does not identify the initial financing statement as required by G.S. 25-9-512 or G.S. 25-9-518, as applicable; or

2. Identifies an initial financing statement whose effectiveness has lapsed under G.S. 25-9-515;

c. In the case of an initial financing statement that provides the name of a debtor identified as an individual or an amendment that provides a name of a debtor identified as an individual which was not previously provided in the financing statement to which the record relates, the record does not identify the debtor's last name; or

d. In the case of a record filed in the filing office described in G.S. 25-9-501(a)(1), the record does not provide a sufficient description of the real property to which it ~~relates;~~relates.

(4) In the case of an initial financing statement or an amendment that adds a secured party of record, the record does not provide a name and mailing address for the secured party of ~~record;~~record.

(5) In the case of an initial financing statement or an amendment that provides a name of a debtor which was not previously provided in the financing statement to which the amendment relates, the record does not:

a. Provide a mailing address for the debtor;

b. Indicate whether the debtor is an individual or an organization; or

c. If the financing statement indicates that the debtor is an organization, provide:

1. A type of organization for the debtor;

2. A jurisdiction of organization for the debtor; or

3. An organizational identification number for the debtor or indicate that the debtor has ~~none;~~none.

(6) In the case of an assignment reflected in an initial financing statement under G.S. 25-9-514(a) or an amendment filed under G.S. 25-9-514(b), the record does not provide a name and mailing address for the ~~assignee; or~~assignee.

(7) In the case of a continuation statement, the record is not filed within the six-month period prescribed by G.S. 25-9-515(d).

(8) In the case of a record presented for filing at the Department of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of State determines that the record is not created pursuant to this Chapter or is otherwise intended for an improper purpose, such as to hinder, harass, or otherwise wrongfully interfere with any person."

SECTION 2. G.S. 25-9-518(b)(3) reads as rewritten:

"(3) Provide the basis for the person's belief that the record is inaccurate and indicate the manner in which the person believes the record should be amended to cure any inaccuracy or provide the basis for the person's belief that the record was wrongfully filed. A correction statement that is subject to the provisions of subsection (b1) of this section shall include a written certification, under oath, by the person that the contents of the correction statement are true and accurate to the best of the person's knowledge."

SECTION 3. G.S. 25-9-518 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(b1) In the case of a correction statement alleging that a previously filed record was wrongfully filed and that it should have been rejected under G.S. 25-9-516(b)(8), the Secretary of State shall, without undue delay, determine whether the contested record was wrongfully filed and should have been rejected. In order to determine whether the record was wrongfully filed, the Secretary of State may require the person filing the correction statement and the secured party to provide any additional relevant information requested by the Secretary of State, including an original or a copy of any security agreement that is related to the record. If the Secretary of State finds that the record was wrongfully filed and should have been rejected under G.S. 25-9-516(b)(8), the Secretary of State shall cancel the record and it shall be void and of no effect."

SECTION 4. G.S. 25-9-520 reads as rewritten:

"§ 25-9-520. ~~Acceptance and refusal to accept record.~~Acceptance, refusal to accept record, and cancellation of record.

(a) Mandatory refusal to accept record. – A filing office shall refuse to accept a record for filing for a reason set forth in G.S. 25-9-516(b) and may refuse to accept a record for filing only for a reason set forth in G.S. 25-9-516(b).

(b) Communication concerning refusal. – If a filing office refuses to accept a record for ~~filing,~~ filing or cancels a record under G.S. 25-9-518(b1), it shall communicate to the person that presented the record the fact of and reason for the refusal or cancellation and the date and time the record would have been filed had the filing office accepted it. The communication must be made at the time and in the manner prescribed by filing-office rule but in no event more than three business days after the filing office receives or cancels the record.

(c) When filed financing statement effective. – A filed financing statement satisfying G.S. 25-9-502(a) and (b) is effective, even if the filing office is required to refuse to accept it for filing under subsection (a) of this section. However, G.S. 25-9-338 applies to a filed financing statement providing information described in G.S. 25-9-516(b)(5) which is incorrect at the time the financing statement is filed.

(d) Separate application to multiple debtors. – If a record communicated to a filing office provides information that relates to more than one debtor, this Part applies as to each debtor separately.

(e) Appeal.

(1) If the Secretary of State refuses to accept a record for filing pursuant to G.S. 25-9-516(b)(8) or cancels a wrongfully filed record pursuant to G.S. 25-9-518(b1), the secured party may file an appeal within 30 days after the refusal or cancellation in the Superior Court of Wake County. Filing a petition requesting to be allowed to file the document commences the appeal. The petition shall be filed with the court and with the Secretary of State and shall have the record attached to it. Upon the commencement of an appeal, it shall be set for hearing at the earliest possible time and shall take precedence over all matters except older matters of the same character. The appeal to the Superior Court is not governed by Article 3, 3A, or 4 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes and shall be determined upon such further notice and opportunity to be heard, if any, as the court may deem appropriate under the circumstances. The court shall permit the joinder of any interested party that would be allowed under the Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Upon consideration of the petition and other appropriate pleadings, the court may order the Secretary of State to file the record or take other action the court considers appropriate, including the entry of orders affirming, reversing, or otherwise modifying the decision of the Secretary of State. The court may order any other relief, including equitable relief, as may be appropriate.

(3) The court's final decision may be appealed as in other civil proceedings."

SECTION 5. Article 52 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or any other association of persons in this State, under whatever name styled, to present a record for filing under the provisions of Article 9 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes with knowledge that the record is not related to a valid security agreement or with the intention that the record be filed for an improper purpose, such as to hinder, harass, or otherwise wrongfully interfere with any person. A violation of this section shall be a Class 2 misdemeanor."

PART II. CLARIFY PROVISIONS OF ARTICLE 9 OF THE UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE, AS RECOMMENDED BY THE GENERAL STATUTES COMMISSION.

SECTION 6. G.S. 25-9-707 reads as rewritten:

"§ 25-9-707. Amendment of pre-effective-date financing statement.

(a) 'Pre-effective-date financing statement'. – In this section, 'pre-effective-date financing statement' means a financing statement filed before July 1, 2001.

(b) Applicable law. – After July 1, 2001, a person may add or delete collateral covered by, continue or terminate the effectiveness of, or otherwise amend the information provided in, a pre-effective-date financing statement only in accordance with the law of the jurisdiction governing perfection as provided in Part 3 of this Article. However, the effectiveness of a pre-effective-date financing statement also may be terminated in accordance with the law of the jurisdiction in which the financing statement is filed.

(c) Method of amending: general rule. – Except as otherwise provided in subsection (d) of this section, if the law of this State governs perfection of a security interest, the information in a pre-effective-date financing statement may be amended after July 1, 2001 only if:

(1) The pre-effective-date financing statement and an amendment are filed in the office specified in G.S. 25-9-501;

(2) An amendment is filed in the office specified in G.S. 25-9-501 concurrently with, or after the filing in that office of, an initial financing statement that satisfies G.S. 25-9-706(c); or

(d) Method of amending: continuation. – If the law of this State governs perfection of a security interest, the effectiveness of a pre-effective-date financing statement may be continued only under G.S. 25-9-705(d) and (f) or G.S. 25-9-706.

(e) Method of amending: additional termination rule. – Whether or not the law of this State governs perfection of a security interest, the effectiveness of a pre-effective-date financing statement filed in this State may be terminated after July 1, 2001, by filing a termination statement in the office in which the pre-effective-date financing statement is filed, unless an initial financing statement that satisfies G.S. 25-9-706(c) has been filed in the office specified by the law of the jurisdiction governing perfection as provided in Part 3 of this Article as the office in which to file a financing statement. However, a termination statement shall not be filed under this section in the register of deeds office unless it is the office specified in G.S. 25-9-501.

(f) ~~Method of amending: termination. If the law of this State governs perfection of a security interest, the effectiveness of a pre-effective-date financing statement may be terminated after July 1, 2001 only if:~~

~~(1) The pre-effective-date financing statement and a termination statement are filed in the office specified in G.S. 25-9-501; or~~

~~(2) A termination statement is filed in the office specified in G.S. 25-9-501 concurrently with the filing in that office of an initial financing statement that satisfies G.S. 25-9-706(c). Under this subsection, no separate fee shall be charged for the filing or indexing of the termination statement.~~

No additional fee. – No separate fee shall be charged for the filing or indexing of a concurrently filed termination statement under subdivision (c)(2) of this section."

SECTION 7. G.S. 25-9-710 reads as rewritten:

"§ 25-9-710. Special transitional provision for maintaining and searching local-filing office records.

(a) In this section:

(1) 'Former-Article-9 records' means:

a. Financing statements and other records that have been filed in the local-filing office before July 1, 2001, and that are, or upon processing and indexing will be, reflected in the index maintained, as of June 30, 2001, by the local-filing office for financing statements and other records filed in the local-filing office before July 1, 2001; and

b. The index as of June 30, 2001.

The term does not include records presented to a local-filing office for filing after June 30, 2001, whether or not the records relate to financing statements filed in the local-filing office before July 1, 2001.

(2) 'Local-filing office' means a filing office, other than the office of the Secretary of State, that is designated as the proper place to file a financing statement under G.S. 25-9-401(1) of former Article 9. The term applies only with respect to a record that covers a type of collateral as to which the filing office is designated in that section as the proper place to file.

A ~~former Article 9~~ former-Article-9 record that is not reflected on the index maintained at June 30, 2001, by the local-filing office must be processed and indexed, and reflected on the index as of June 30, 2001, as soon as practicable but in any event no later than July 30, 2001.

(d) Until at least June 30, 2008, each local-filing office must respond to requests for information with respect to ~~former Article 9~~ former-Article-9 records relating to a debtor and issue certificates, in accordance with former Article 9. The fees charged for responding to requests for information relating to a debtor and issuing certificates with respect to former-Article-9 records must be the fees in effect under former Article 9 on June 30, 2001.

(e) After June 30, 2008, each local-filing office may remove and destroy, in accordance with any then applicable record retention law of this State, all former-Article-9 records, including the related index.

~~(f) This section does not apply, with respect to financing statements and other records, to a filing office in which mortgages or records of mortgages on real property are required to be filed or recorded, if:~~

~~(1) The collateral is timber to be cut or as-extracted collateral, or~~

~~(2) The record is or relates to a financing statement filed as a fixture and the collateral is goods that are or are to become fixtures.~~"

PART III. EFFECTIVE DATE.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Rand
Date:	May 24, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	S912-CSRH-42[1]		Committee Counsel

The PCS corrects the statute number being created and makes technical changes.

SUMMARY: The bill would prohibit the clerk of superior court or register of deed from indexing, docketing, or recording an unauthorized claim of lien. A person who causes or attempts to file a claim knowing the filing is not authorized or with an improper intent is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

The bill would take effect December 1, 2001, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend Article 2 of Chapter 44A of the General Statutes (Statutory Liens on Real Property) by creating a new G.S. 44A-12.1. This new section would specifically prohibit the clerk of superior court or register of deed from indexing, docketing, or recording a claim of lien or other document that purports to claim or assert a lien on real property in a way that would affect the title to any real property unless the filing is authorized by statute and the document on its face appears to contain the required information.

Generally, a claim of lien against real property must be filed with the clerk of the superior court in the county where the property is located. In addition to other required information, a claim must include: the name and address of the person claiming the lien, the name and address of the record owner of the property claimed to be subject to the lien, and a description of the property. When the claim is filed, the clerk records the claim on the judgment docket, indexes it under the name of the record owner of the property, and (when requested by an interested party) certifies the claim to the register of deeds. The register of deeds then records notice of the lien on the record copy of the certificate of title, which creates a valid encumbrance on the property. After the lien is filed, an action to enforce it may be instituted.

The bill also would make it a Class 1 misdemeanor for any person who files or attempts to file a lien with knowledge that it is not authorized by statute, or when the filing is made for an improper purpose, such as to hinder, harass, or otherwise wrongfully interfere with any person. Conviction of a Class 1 misdemeanor, assuming no prior convictions, is punishable by 1-45 days of community punishment, a fine in an amount in the discretion of the court, or both.

MEMORANDUM

TO: House Judiciary II Committee

FROM: General Statutes Commission

RE: Senate Bill 220 (Define Time Stock Abandoned for Escheats)

Senate Bill 220 amends subdivision 116B-53(c)(4) of the North Carolina Unclaimed Property Act. The Act generally provides that property held by someone other than the owner that is unclaimed, or dormant, for a certain period of time must be turned over to the State (the State then holds either the property or its value for the owner should this person ever appear and claim it). Subdivision 116B-53(c)(4) sets the dormancy period under the Act at five years for stock and other equity interests in a business association and lists the events that trigger the running of the period. Senate Bill 220 deletes language currently in subdivision 116B-53(c)(4) that allows a business association to start the period running by discontinuing mailings to an apparent owner and otherwise clarifies that two returned mailings must be consecutive and that the second mailing need not be a second mailing of the same item.

§ 116B-53. Presumptions of abandonment.

(a) Property is unclaimed if the apparent owner has not communicated in writing or by other means reflected in a contemporaneous record prepared by or on behalf of the holder, with the holder concerning the property or the account in which the property is held, and has not otherwise indicated an interest in the property. A communication with an owner by a person (other than the holder or its representative) who has not, in writing, identified the property to the owner is not an indication of interest in the property by the owner.

(b) An indication of an interest in property includes:

(1) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of a dividend or other distribution made with respect to an account or underlying stock or other interest in a business association or, in the case of a distribution made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the distribution has been received;

(2) The presentment of a check or other instrument of payment of interest made with respect to debt of a business association or, in the case of an interest payment made by electronic or similar means, evidence that the interest payment has been received;

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROHIBIT THE INDEXING, DOCKETING, OR RECORDING OF UNAUTHORIZED CLAIMS OF LIEN AND TO PROVIDE FOR PENALTIES FOR FILING UNAUTHORIZED STATUTORY LIENS. .

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 2 of Chapter 44A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 44A-12.1. No docketing of lien unless authorized by statute.

(a) The clerk of superior court or the register of deeds shall not index, docket, or record a claim of lien or other document purporting to claim or assert a lien on real property in such a way as to affect the title to any real property unless the document:

(1) Is offered for filing under this Article or another statute that provides for indexing and docketing of claims of lien on real property; and

(2) Appears on its face to contain all of the information required by the statute under which it is offered for filing.

(b) The clerk may accept, for filing only, any document that does not meet the criteria established for indexing, docketing, or recording under subsection (a) of this section. If the clerk does accept this document, the clerk shall inform the person offering the document that it will not be indexed, docketed, or recorded in any way as to affect the title to any real property.

(c) Any person who causes or attempts to cause a claim of lien or other document to be filed, knowing that the filing is not authorized by statute, or with the intent that the filing is made for an improper purpose such as to hinder, harass, or otherwise wrongfully interfere with any person, shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective December 1, 2001, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 912:
Penalty for Filing False Statutory Lien.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Rand
Date:	May 29, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	S912-CSRH-42[3]		Committee Counsel

The PCS corrects the statute number being created and makes technical changes. It also adds language directing the clerk to inform a person when the clerk accepts a document for filing only.

SUMMARY: The bill would prohibit the clerk of superior court or register of deed from indexing, docketing, or recording an unauthorized claim of lien. A person who causes or attempts to file a claim knowing the filing is not authorized or with an improper intent is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

The bill would take effect December 1, 2001, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend Article 2 of Chapter 44A of the General Statutes (Statutory Liens on Real Property) by creating a new G.S. 44A-12.1. This new section would specifically prohibit the clerk of superior court or register of deed from indexing, docketing, or recording a claim of lien or other document that purports to claim or assert a lien on real property in a way that would affect the title to any real property unless the filing is authorized by statute and the document on its face appears to contain the required information. The clerk may accept this document for filing only, but then the clerk must inform the person offering the document that it will not be indexed, docketed, or recorded.

Generally, a claim of lien against real property must be filed with the clerk of the superior court in the county where the property is located. In addition to other required information, a claim must include: the name and address of the person claiming the lien, the name and address of the record owner of the property claimed to be subject to the lien, and a description of the property. When the claim is filed, the clerk records the claim on the judgment docket, indexes it under the name of the record owner of the property, and (when requested by an interested party) certifies the claim to the register of deeds. The register of deeds then records notice of the lien on the record copy of the certificate of title, which creates a valid encumbrance on the property. After the lien is filed, an action to enforce it may be instituted.

The bill also would make it a Class 1 misdemeanor for any person who files or attempts to file a lien with knowledge that it is not authorized by statute, or when the filing is made for an improper purpose, such as to hinder, harass, or otherwise wrongfully interfere with any person. Conviction of a Class 1 misdemeanor, assuming no prior convictions, is punishable by 1-45 days of community punishment, a fine in an amount in the discretion of the court, or both.

S912-SMRH-002: Wendy Graf, Committee Counsel for Senate Judiciary I, contributed to this summary.

"§ 7B-1701. Preliminary inquiry.

When a complaint is received, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall make a preliminary determination as to whether the juvenile is within the jurisdiction of the court as a delinquent or undisciplined juvenile. If the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor finds that the facts contained in the complaint do not state a case within the jurisdiction of the court, that legal sufficiency has not been established, or that the matters alleged are frivolous, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, without further inquiry, shall refuse authorization to file the complaint as a petition.

When requested by the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, the prosecutor shall assist in determining the sufficiency of evidence as it affects the quantum of proof and the elements of offenses.

The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, without further inquiry, shall authorize the complaint to be filed as a petition if the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor finds reasonable grounds to believe that the juvenile has committed one of the following nondivertible offenses:

(1) Murder;
(2) First-degree rape or second degree rape;
(3) First-degree sexual offense or second degree sexual offense;
(4) Arson;
(5) Any violation of Article 5, Chapter 90 of the General Statutes that would constitute a felony if committed by an adult;

SECTION 2.5. G.S. 7B-1702 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1702. Evaluation.

Upon a finding of legal sufficiency, except in cases involving nondivertible offenses set out in G.S. 7B-1701, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall determine whether a complaint should be filed as a petition, the juvenile diverted pursuant to G.S. 7B-1706, or the case resolved without further action. In making the decision, the counselor shall consider criteria provided by the Department. The intake process shall include the following steps if practicable:

(1) Interviews with the complainant and the victim if someone other than the complainant;
(2) Interviews with the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian;
(3) Interviews with persons known to have relevant information about the juvenile or the juvenile's family.

(a) The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall complete evaluation of a complaint within 15 days of receipt of the complaint, with an extension for a maximum of 15 additional days at the discretion of the chief court counselor. The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall decide within this time period whether a complaint shall be filed as a juvenile petition.

(b) Except as provided in G.S. 7B-1706, if the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor determines that a complaint should be filed as a petition, the counselor shall file the petition as soon as practicable, but in any event within 15 days after the complaint is received, with an extension for a maximum of 15 additional days at the discretion of the chief court counselor. The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall assist the complainant when necessary with the preparation and filing of the petition, shall include on it the date and the words "Approved for Filing", shall sign it, and shall transmit it to the clerk of superior court.

(c) If the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor determines that a petition should not be filed, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall notify the complainant immediately in writing with reasons for the decision and shall include notice of the complainant's right to have the decision reviewed by the prosecutor. The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall sign the complaint after indicating on it:

(1) The date of the determination;

(2) The words "Not Approved for Filing"; and

(3) Whether the matter is "Closed" or "Diverted and Retained".

Except as provided in G.S. 7B-1706, any complaint not approved for filing as a juvenile petition shall be destroyed by the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor after holding the complaint for a temporary period to allow review as provided in G.S. 7B-1705."

SECTION 2.7. G.S. 7B-1704 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1704. Request for review by prosecutor.

The complainant has five calendar days, from receipt of the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor's decision not to approve the filing of a petition, to request review by the prosecutor. The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall notify the prosecutor immediately of such request and shall transmit to the prosecutor a copy of the complaint. The prosecutor shall notify the complainant and the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor of the time and place for the review."

SECTION 2.8. G.S. 7B-1705 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1705. Review of determination that petition should not be filed.

No later than 20 days after the complainant is notified, the prosecutor shall review the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor's determination that a juvenile petition should not be filed. Review shall include conferences with the complainant and the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor. At the conclusion of the review, the prosecutor shall: (i) affirm the decision of the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor or direct the filing of a petition and (ii) notify the complainant of the prosecutor's action."

SECTION 2.9. G.S. 7B-1706 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1706. Diversion plans and referral.

(a) Unless the offense is one in which a petition is required by G.S. 7B-1701, upon a finding of legal sufficiency the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor may divert the juvenile pursuant to a diversion plan, which may include referring the juvenile to any of the following resources:

(1) An appropriate public or private resource;
(2) Restitution;
(3) Community service;
(4) Victim-offender mediation;
(5) Regimented physical training;
(6) Counseling;
(7) A teen court program, as set forth in subsection (c) of this section.

As part of a diversion plan, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor may enter into a diversion contract with the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian.

(b) Unless the offense is one in which a petition is required by G.S. 7B-1701, upon a finding of legal sufficiency the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor may enter into a diversion contract with the juvenile and the parent, guardian, or custodian; provided, a diversion contract requires the consent of the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian. A diversion contract shall:

(1) State conditions by which the juvenile agrees to abide and any actions the juvenile agrees to take;
(2) State conditions by which the parent, guardian, or custodian agrees to abide and any actions the parent, guardian, or custodian agrees to take;
(3) Describe the role of the juvenile court counselor in relation to the juvenile and the parent, guardian, or custodian;
(4) Specify the length of the contract, which shall not exceed six months;
(5) Indicate that all parties understand and agree that:
    a. The juvenile's violation of the contract may result in the filing of the complaint as a petition; and
    b. The juvenile's successful completion of the contract shall preclude the filing of a petition.

After a diversion contract is signed by the parties, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall provide copies of the contract to the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian. The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall notify any agency or other resource from which the juvenile or the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian will be seeking services or treatment pursuant to the terms of the contract. At any time during the term of the contract if the juvenile court counselor determines that the juvenile has failed to comply substantially with the terms of the contract, the juvenile court counselor may file the complaint as a petition. Unless the juvenile court counselor has filed the complaint as a petition, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall close the juvenile's file in regard to the diverted matter within six months after the date of the contract.

(c) If a teen court program has been established in the district, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, upon a finding of legal sufficiency, may refer to a teen court program, any case in which a juvenile has allegedly committed an offense that would be an infraction or misdemeanor if committed by an adult. However, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall not refer a case to a teen court program (i) if the juvenile has been referred to a teen court program previously, or (ii) if the juvenile is alleged to have committed any of the following offenses:

(1) Driving while impaired under G.S. 20-138.1, 20-138.2, 20-138.3, 20-138.5, or 20-138.7, or any other motor vehicle violation;
(2) A Class A1 misdemeanor;
(3) An assault in which a weapon is used; or
(4) A controlled substance offense under Article 5 of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, other than simple possession of a Schedule VI drug or alcohol.

(d) The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall maintain diversion plans and contracts entered into pursuant to this section to allow ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselors to determine when a juvenile has had a complaint diverted previously. Diversion plans and contracts are not public records under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, shall not be included in the clerk's record pursuant to G.S. 7B-3000, and shall be withheld from public inspection or examination. Diversion plans and contracts shall be destroyed when the juvenile reaches the age of 18 years or when the juvenile is no longer under the jurisdiction of the court, whichever is longer.

(e) No later than 60 days after the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor diverts a juvenile, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall determine whether the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian have complied with the terms of the diversion plan or contract. In making this determination, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall contact any referral resources to determine whether the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian complied with any recommendations for treatment or services made by the resource. If the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian have not complied, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall reconsider the decision to divert and may authorize the filing of the complaint as a petition within 10 days after making the determination. If the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor does not file a petition, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor may continue to monitor the case for up to six months from the date of the diversion plan or contract. At any point during that time period if the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian fail to comply, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall reconsider the decision to divert and may authorize the filing of the complaint as a petition. After six months, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall close the diversion plan or contract file."

SECTION 2.10. G.S. 7B-1802 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1802. Petition.

The petition shall contain the name, date of birth, and address of the juvenile and the name and last known address of the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian. The petition shall allege the facts that invoke jurisdiction over the juvenile. The petition shall not contain information on more than one juvenile.

A petition in which delinquency is alleged shall contain a plain and concise statement, without allegations of an evidentiary nature, asserting facts supporting every element of a criminal offense and the juvenile's commission thereof with sufficient precision clearly to apprise the juvenile of the conduct which is the subject of the allegation.

Sufficient copies of the petition shall be prepared so that copies will be available for the juvenile, for each parent if living separate and apart, for the guardian or custodian if any, for the juvenile court counselor, for the prosecutor, and for any person determined by the court to be a necessary party."

SECTION 2.11. G.S. 7B-1803 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1803. Receipt of complaints; filing of petition.

(a) All complaints concerning a juvenile alleged to be delinquent or undisciplined shall be referred to the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor for screening and evaluation. Thereafter, if the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor determines that a petition should be filed, the petition shall be drawn by the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor or the clerk, signed by the complainant, and verified before an official authorized to administer oaths. If the circumstances indicate a need for immediate attachment of jurisdiction and if the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor is out of the county or otherwise unavailable to receive a complaint and to draw a petition when it is needed, the clerk shall assist the complainant in communicating the complaint to the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor by telephone and, with the approval of the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, shall draw a petition and file it when signed and verified. A copy of the complaint and petition shall be transmitted to the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor. Procedures for receiving delinquency and undisciplined complaints and drawing petitions thereon, consistent with this Article and Article 17 of this Chapter, shall be established by administrative order of the chief judge in each judicial district.

(b) If review is requested pursuant to G.S. 7B-1704, the prosecutor shall review a complaint and any decision of the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor not to authorize that the complaint be filed as a petition. If the prosecutor, after review, authorizes a complaint to be filed as a petition, the prosecutor shall prepare the complaint to be filed by the clerk as a petition, recording the day of filing."

SECTION 2.12. G.S. 7B-1804(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) When the office of the clerk is closed and ~~an intake~~ the juvenile court counselor requests a petition alleging a juvenile to be delinquent or undisciplined, a magistrate may draw and verify the petition and accept it for filing, which acceptance shall constitute filing. The magistrate's authority under this subsection is limited to emergency situations when a petition is required in order to obtain a secure or nonsecure custody order. Any petition accepted for filing under this subsection shall be delivered to the clerk's office for processing as soon as that office is open for business."

SECTION 2.13. G.S. 7B-1900 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-1900. Taking a juvenile into temporary custody.

Temporary custody means the taking of physical custody and providing personal care and supervision until a court order for secure or nonsecure custody can be obtained.

A juvenile may be taken into temporary custody without a court order under the following circumstances:

(1) By a law enforcement officer if grounds exist for the arrest of an adult in identical circumstances under G.S. 15A-401(b).

(2) By a law enforcement officer or a juvenile court counselor if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the juvenile is an undisciplined juvenile.

(3) By a law enforcement officer, by a juvenile court counselor, by a member of the Black Mountain Center, Alcohol Rehabilitation Center, and Juvenile Evaluation Center Joint Security Force established pursuant to G.S. 122C-421, or by personnel of the Department if there are reasonable grounds to believe the juvenile is an absconder from any residential facility operated by the Department or from an approved detention facility."

SECTION 2.14. G.S. 7B-1901(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) A person who takes a juvenile into custody without a court order under G.S. 7B-1900(1) or (2) shall proceed as follows:

(1) Notify the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian that the juvenile has been taken into temporary custody and advise the parent, guardian, or custodian of the right to be present with the juvenile until a determination is made as to the need for secure or nonsecure custody. Failure to notify the parent, guardian, or custodian that the juvenile is in custody shall not be grounds for release of the juvenile.

(2) Release the juvenile to the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian if the person having the juvenile in temporary custody decides that continued custody is unnecessary. In the case of a juvenile unlawfully absent from school, if continued custody is unnecessary, the person having temporary custody may deliver the juvenile to the juvenile's school or, if the local city or county government and the local school board adopt a policy, to a place in the local school administrative unit.

(3) If the juvenile is not released, request that a petition be drawn pursuant to G.S. 7B-1803 or G.S. 7B-1804. Once the petition has been drawn and verified, the person shall communicate with the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor. If the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor approves the filing of the petition, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall contact the judge or the person delegated authority pursuant to G.S. 7B-1902 if other than the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, for a determination of the need for continued custody."

SECTION 2.15. G.S. 7B-1905(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) A juvenile who has allegedly committed an offense that would be a Class A, B1, B2, C, D, or E felony if committed by an adult may be detained in secure custody in a holdover facility up to 72 hours, if the court, based on information provided by the juvenile court counselor, determines that no acceptable alternative placement is available and the protection of the public requires the juvenile be housed in a holdover facility."

SECTION 2.16. G.S. 7B-2102(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) If a juvenile is fingerprinted and photographed pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, the custodian of records shall destroy all fingerprints and photographs at the earlier of the following:

(1) The ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor or prosecutor does not file a petition against the juvenile within one year of fingerprinting and photographing the juvenile pursuant to subsection (a) of this section;

(2) The court does not find probable cause pursuant to G.S. 7B-2202; or

(3) The juvenile is not adjudicated delinquent of any offense that would be a felony or a misdemeanor if committed by an adult.

The chief court counselor shall notify the local custodian of records, and the local custodian of records shall notify any other record-holding agencies, when a decision is made not to file a petition, the court does not find probable cause, or the court does not adjudicate the juvenile delinquent."

SECTION 2.17. G.S. 7B-2408 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-2408. Rules of evidence.

If the juvenile denies the allegations of the petition, the court shall proceed in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable to criminal cases. In addition, no statement made by a juvenile to the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor during the preliminary inquiry and evaluation process shall be admissible prior to the dispositional hearing."

SECTION 2.18. G.S. 7B-2413 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-2413. Predisposition investigation and report.

The court shall proceed to the dispositional hearing upon receipt of the predisposition report. A risk and needs assessment, containing information regarding the juvenile's social, medical, psychiatric, psychological, and educational history, as well as any factors indicating the probability of the juvenile committing further delinquent acts, shall be conducted for the juvenile and shall be attached to the predisposition report. In cases where no predisposition report is available and the court makes a written finding that a report is not needed, the court may proceed with the dispositional hearing. No predisposition report or risk and needs assessment of any child alleged to be delinquent or undisciplined shall be made prior to an adjudication that the juvenile is within the juvenile jurisdiction of the court unless the juvenile, the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian, or the juvenile's attorney files a written statement with the juvenile court counselor granting permission and giving consent to the predisposition report or risk and needs assessment. No predisposition report shall be submitted to or considered by the court prior to the completion of the adjudicatory hearing. The court shall permit the juvenile to inspect any predisposition report, including any attached risk and needs assessment, to be considered by the court in making the disposition unless the court determines that disclosure would seriously harm the juvenile's treatment or rehabilitation or would violate a promise of confidentiality. Opportunity to offer evidence in rebuttal shall be afforded the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian at the dispositional hearing. The court may order counsel not to disclose parts of the report to the juvenile or the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian if the court finds that disclosure would seriously harm the treatment or rehabilitation of the juvenile or would violate a promise of confidentiality given to a source of information."

SECTION 2.19. G.S. 7B-2503 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-2503. Dispositional alternatives for undisciplined juveniles.

The following alternatives for disposition shall be available to the court exercising jurisdiction over a juvenile who has been adjudicated undisciplined. The court may combine any of the applicable alternatives when the court finds it to be in the best interests of the juvenile:

(1) In the case of any juvenile who needs more adequate care or supervision or who needs placement, the judge may:

a. Require that the juvenile be supervised in the juvenile's own home by a department of social services in the juvenile's county of residence, a juvenile court counselor, or other personnel as may be available to the court, subject to conditions applicable to the parent, guardian, or custodian or the juvenile as the judge may specify; or

b. Place the juvenile in the custody of a parent, guardian, custodian, relative, private agency offering placement services, or some other suitable person; or

c. Place the juvenile in the custody of a department of social services in the county of the juvenile's residence, or in the case of a juvenile who has legal residence outside the State, in the physical custody of a department of social services in the county where the juvenile is found so that agency may return the juvenile to the responsible authorities in the juvenile's home state. The director may, unless otherwise ordered by the judge, arrange for, provide, or consent to, needed routine or emergency medical or surgical care or treatment. In the case where the parent is unknown, unavailable, or unable to act on behalf of the juvenile or juveniles, the director may, unless otherwise ordered by the judge, arrange for, provide or consent to any psychiatric, psychological, educational, or other remedial evaluations or treatment for the juvenile placed by a judge or the judge's designee in the custody or physical custody of a county department of social services under the authority of this or any other Chapter of the General Statutes. Prior to exercising this authority, the director shall make reasonable efforts to obtain consent from a parent, guardian, or custodian of the affected juvenile. If the director cannot obtain consent, the director shall promptly notify the parent, guardian, or custodian that care or treatment has been provided and shall give the parent, guardian, or custodian frequent status reports on the circumstances of the juvenile. Upon request of a parent, guardian, or custodian of the affected juvenile, the results or records of the aforementioned evaluations, findings, or treatment shall be made available to the parent, guardian, or custodian by the director unless prohibited by G.S. 122C-53(d).

(2) Place the juvenile under the protective supervision of a juvenile court counselor for a period of up to three months, with an extension of an additional three months in the discretion of the court.

(3) Excuse the juvenile from compliance with the compulsory school attendance law when the court finds that suitable alternative plans can be arranged by the family through other community resources for one of the following:

a. An education related to the needs or abilities of the juvenile including vocational education or special education;

b. A suitable plan of supervision or placement; or

c. Some other plan that the court finds to be in the best interests of the juvenile."

SECTION 2.20. G.S. 7B-2504 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-2504. Conditions of protective supervision for undisciplined juveniles.

The court may place a juvenile on protective supervision pursuant to G.S. 7B-2503 so that the juvenile court counselor may (i) assist the juvenile in securing social, medical, and educational services and (ii) visit and work with the family as a unit to ensure the juvenile is provided proper supervision and care. The court may impose any combination of the following conditions of protective supervision that are related to the needs of the juvenile, including:

(1) That the juvenile shall remain on good behavior and not violate any laws;

(2) That the juvenile attend school regularly;

(3) That the juvenile maintain passing grades in up to four courses during each grading period and meet with the juvenile court counselor and a representative of the school to make a plan for how to maintain those passing grades;

(4) That the juvenile not associate with specified persons or be in specified places;

(5) That the juvenile abide by a prescribed curfew;

(6) That the juvenile report to a juvenile court counselor as often as required by a juvenile court counselor;

(7) That the juvenile be employed regularly if not attending school; and

(8) That the juvenile satisfy any other conditions determined appropriate by the court."

SECTION 2.21. G.S. 7B-2505 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-2505. Contempt of court for undisciplined juveniles.

Upon motion of the juvenile court counselor or on the court's own motion, the court may issue an order directing a juvenile who has been adjudicated undisciplined to appear and show cause why the juvenile should not be held in contempt for willfully failing to comply with an order of the court. The first time the juvenile is held in contempt, the court may order the juvenile confined in an approved detention facility for a period not to exceed 24 hours. The second time the juvenile is held in contempt, the court may order the juvenile confined in an approved detention facility for a period not to exceed three days. The third time and all subsequent times the juvenile is held in contempt, the court may order the juvenile confined in an approved detention facility for a period not to exceed five days. The timing of any confinement under this section shall be determined by the court in its discretion. In no event shall a juvenile held in contempt pursuant to this section be confined for more than 14 days in one 12-month period."

SECTION 2.22. G.S. 7B-2506 reads as rewritten:

"§ 7B-2506. Dispositional alternatives for delinquent juveniles.

The court exercising jurisdiction over a juvenile who has been adjudicated delinquent may use the following alternatives in accordance with the dispositional structure set forth in G.S. 7B-2508:

(1) In the case of any juvenile who needs more adequate care or supervision or who needs placement, the judge may:

a. Require that a juvenile be supervised in the juvenile's own home by the department of social services in the juvenile's county, a juvenile court counselor, or other personnel as may be available to the court, subject to conditions applicable to the parent, guardian, or custodian or the juvenile as the judge may specify; or

b. Place the juvenile in the custody of a parent, guardian, custodian, relative, private agency offering placement services, or some other suitable person; or

c. Place the juvenile in the custody of the department of social services in the county of his residence, or in the case of a juvenile who has legal residence outside the State, in the physical custody of a department of social services in the county where the juvenile is found so that agency may return the juvenile to the responsible authorities in the juvenile's home state. The director may, unless otherwise ordered by the judge, arrange for, provide, or consent to, needed routine or emergency medical or surgical care or treatment. In the case where the parent is unknown, unavailable, or unable to act on behalf of the juvenile or juveniles, the director may, unless otherwise ordered by the judge, arrange for, provide, or consent to any psychiatric, psychological, educational, or other remedial evaluations or treatment for the juvenile placed by a judge or his designee in the custody or physical custody of a county department of social services under the authority of this or any other Chapter of the General Statutes. Prior to exercising this authority, the director shall make reasonable efforts to obtain consent from a parent, guardian, or custodian of the affected juvenile. If the director cannot obtain consent, the director shall promptly notify the parent, guardian, or custodian that care or treatment has been provided and shall give the parent, guardian, or custodian frequent status reports on the circumstances of the juvenile. Upon request of a parent, guardian, or custodian of the affected juvenile, the results or records of the aforementioned evaluations, findings, or treatment shall be made available to the parent, guardian, or custodian by the director unless prohibited by G.S. 122C-53(d).

(8) Place the juvenile on probation under the supervision of a juvenile court counselor, as specified in G.S. 7B-2510.

(2) That the juvenile shall not violate any laws.
(3) That the juvenile shall not violate any reasonable and lawful rules of a parent, guardian, or custodian.

At the end of or at any time during probation, the court may terminate probation by written order upon finding that there is no further need for supervision. SECTION 2.26. G.S. 7B-2513(h) reads as rewritten:

SECTION 2.27. G.S. 7B-2514(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The Department shall be responsible for evaluation of the progress of each juvenile at least once every six months as long as the juvenile remains in the care of the Department. (5) Indicate that all parties understand and agree that:

b. The juvenile's successful completion of the contract shall preclude the filing of a petition.

After a diversion contract is signed by the parties, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall provide copies of the contract to the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian. Unless the juvenile court counselor has filed the complaint as a petition, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall close the juvenile's file in regard to the diverted matter within six months after the date of the contract.

In making this determination, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall contact any referral resources to determine whether the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian complied with any recommendations for treatment or services made by the resource. If the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian have not complied, the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor shall reconsider the decision to divert and may authorize the filing of the complaint as a petition within 10 days after making the determination. A petition in which delinquency is alleged shall contain a plain and concise statement, without allegations of an evidentiary nature, asserting facts supporting every element of a criminal offense and the juvenile's commission thereof with sufficient precision clearly to apprise the juvenile of the conduct which is the subject of the allegation.

Sufficient copies of the petition shall be prepared so that copies will be available for the juvenile, for each parent if living separate and apart, for the guardian or custodian if

If the circumstances indicate a need for immediate attachment of jurisdiction and if the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor is out of the county or otherwise unavailable to receive a complaint and to draw a petition when it is needed, the clerk shall assist the complainant in communicating the complaint to the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor by telephone and, with the approval of the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor, shall draw a petition and file it when signed and verified. A copy of the complaint and petition shall be transmitted to the ~~intake~~ juvenile court counselor. (1) Notify the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian that the juvenile has been taken into temporary custody and advise the parent, guardian, or custodian of the right to be present with the juvenile until a determination is made as to the need for secure or nonsecure custody. Failure to notify the parent, guardian, or custodian that the juvenile is in custody shall not be grounds for release of the juvenile.

(2) Release the juvenile to the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian if the person having the juvenile in temporary custody decides that continued custody is unnecessary. In the case of a juvenile unlawfully absent from school, if continued custody is unnecessary, the person having temporary custody may deliver the juvenile to the juvenile's school or, if the local city or county government and the local school board adopt a policy, to a place in the local school administrative unit.

(3) If the juvenile is not released, request that a petition be drawn pursuant to G.S. 7B-1803 or G.S. 7B-1804. No predisposition report or risk and needs assessment of any child alleged to be delinquent or undisciplined shall be made prior to an adjudication that the juvenile is within the juvenile jurisdiction of the court unless the juvenile, the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian, or the juvenile's attorney files a written statement with the juvenile court counselor granting permission and giving consent to the predisposition report or risk and needs assessment. No predisposition report shall be submitted to or considered by the court prior to the completion of the adjudicatory hearing. The court shall permit the juvenile to inspect any predisposition report, including any attached risk and needs assessment, to be considered by the court in making the disposition unless the court determines that disclosure would seriously harm the juvenile's treatment or rehabilitation or would violate a promise of confidentiality. Opportunity to offer evidence in rebuttal shall be afforded the juvenile and the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian at the dispositional hearing. The court may order counsel not to disclose parts of the report to the juvenile or the juvenile's parent, guardian, or custodian if the court finds that disclosure would seriously harm the treatment or rehabilitation of the juvenile or would violate a promise of confidentiality given to a source of information."

a. An education related to the needs or abilities of the juvenile including vocational education or special education;

b. A suitable plan of supervision or placement; or

c. Some other plan that the court finds to be in the best interests of the juvenile."

The first time the juvenile is held in contempt, the court may order the juvenile confined in an approved detention facility for a period not to exceed 24 hours. The second time the juvenile is held in contempt, the court may order the juvenile confined in an approved detention facility for a period not to exceed three days. The third time and all subsequent times the juvenile is held in contempt, the court may order the juvenile confined in an approved detention facility for a period not to exceed five days. The timing of any confinement under this section shall be determined by the court in its discretion. In the case where the parent is unknown, unavailable, or unable to act on behalf of the juvenile or juveniles, the director may, unless otherwise ordered by the judge, arrange for, provide, or consent to any psychiatric, psychological, educational, or other remedial evaluations or treatment for the juvenile placed by a judge or his designee in the custody or physical custody of a county department of social services under the authority of this or any other Chapter of the General Statutes. Prior to exercising this authority, the director shall make reasonable efforts to obtain consent from a parent, guardian, or custodian of the affected juvenile. If the director cannot obtain consent, the director shall promptly notify the parent, guardian, or custodian that care or treatment has been provided and shall give the parent, guardian, or custodian frequent status reports on the circumstances of the juvenile. Upon request of a parent, guardian, or custodian of the affected juvenile, the results or records of the aforementioned evaluations, findings, or treatment shall be made available to the parent, guardian, or custodian by the director unless prohibited by G.S. 122C-53(d).

(a) Any criminal justice officer who the Commission determines does not comply with the provisions of this Chapter or any rules promulgated hereunder shall not be authorized to exercise the powers of a criminal justice officer and shall not be authorized to exercise the power of arrest unless such certification or deficiency has been waived by the Commission. The Commission shall enforce the provisions of this section by the entry of appropriate orders effective upon service on either the criminal justice agency or the criminal justice officer.

(b) Any person who desires to appeal the proposed denial, suspension, or revocation of any certification authorized to be issued by the Commission shall file a written appeal with the Commission not later than 30 days following notice of denial, suspension, or revocation.

A single act of performance of a criminal justice officer function by an officer or individual who is performing such function in violation of this Chapter is sufficient, if shown, to invoke the injunctive relief of this section."

SENATE BILL 68:
Criminal Justice Standards Commission Change.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Judiciary II	Introduced by:	Senator Jordan
Date:	June 5, 2001	Summary by:	Robin Johnson
Version:	S68-CSRh-41[v.4]		Committee Counsel

The PCS reinstates the original bill's recommendations concerning who is to be appointed to the Commission, but changes the appointing authorities, and makes conforming changes to a number of statutes the bill affects.

SUMMARY: The first part of this bill, recommended by the Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee, increases the membership of the Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission (Commission), clarifies the Commission's enforcement powers, and repeals legislation from the 2000 Session that would remove (effective June 30, 2001) the Department of Correction (DOC) and its officers from the Commission and its standards.

Part II of the bill makes conforming changes for the Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (DJJDP) as requested by that Department.

The bill would become effective June 30, 2001.

BILL ANALYSIS

PART I. CHANGES TO THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE EDUCATION AND TRAINING STANDARDS COMMISSION

BACKGROUND: The Commission is charged with setting and enforcing the minimum educational and training standards for employment and retention as a State or local criminal justice officer. Generally, DOC officers, law enforcement officers, and State youth services officers are subject to these standards. The Commission consists of 26 members; however, the only DOC representative is the Secretary of Correction or the Secretary's designee, even though approximately 43% of the officers subject to the standards are DOC officers.

For several years, there has been some disagreement between the Commission and DOC over DOC's lack of sufficient representation on the Commission and the rigor of its standards. Last year, the budget bill included a provision (see attached) that would remove DOC, effective June 30, 2001, from the Commission and its standards if a new system was recommended to the General Assembly at the beginning of this year's Session. This bill, while not recommending a new system, is a response.

Last summer, the Commission adopted new administrative rules setting standards. The Commission also agreed to pursue legislation to add five new members, all of whom would be DOC representatives, to the Commission. One of these new members was to be appointed by the Speaker; one by the President Pro Tempore, two by the Governor, and one by the Secretary of Correction. The Commission asked the Joint Legislative Corrections and Crime Control Oversight Committee to endorse this request. In addition, DJJDP asked that Committee to add juvenile court counselors to the officers subject to the Commission's standards.

Part I of the PCS represents the recommendations of the Corrections Oversight Committee. In the bill's original version, these recommendations included the Commission's requests and the DJJDP's requests, plus the repeal of last year's budget provision. (The fourth edition of the bill, as received from the Senate amended the bill to add six new members to the Commission, only two of whom would represent DOC, but all of them appointed by the Speaker or the President Pro Tempore.)

The PCS adds the five members from the original version. Two are to be appointed by the Speaker, two by the President Pro Tempore, and one by the Governor. With other appointments, the result is the Governor, Speaker, and President Pro Tempore would each have a total of three appointments to this Commission.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS: Sec. 1.1 would amend G.S. 17C-2(3) to revise the types of officers subject to the Commission's minimum education and training standards by (1) deleting revenue law enforcement officers {who are covered as State law enforcement officers}; (2) reinstating the correctional and probation/parole officers, including surveillance officers (these will be removed if last year's budget provision takes effect); and (3) adding juvenile justice officers, chief court counselors, and juvenile court counselors.

Sec. 1.2 would add five members to the Commission, bringing the total to 31. The PCS would add four correctional officers and one Departmental employee. The officers would be appointed as follows: two by the Speaker, two by the President Pro Tempore, and one by the Governor.

In order to give the Commission enforcement powers comparable to the Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission, Sec. 1.3 would clarify that the Commission's enforcement powers would include orders forbidding criminal justice officers who fail to comply with or meet the education and training standards from exercising their powers, including the power of arrest, unless the Commission waives that certification or deficiency. Persons who wish to appeal a proposed denial, suspension, or revocation of a certification, may file a written appeal with the Commission within 30 days following notice of the denial, suspension, or revocation. This section also specifies that Commission orders are upon service on either the criminal justice agency or the criminal justice officer. The intent of this section is to prevent someone from attempting to evade service. Sec. 1.4 makes parallel the comparable statute that applies to the Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission statute.

Sec. 1.5 would repeal last year's budget bill provision (Section 17.3 of S.L. 2000-67).

PART II. CONFORMING CHANGES TO LAWS GOVERNING UNDISCIPLINED AND DELINQUENT JUVENILES

This part of the bill, added in the Senate at the request of DJJDP and amended by the PCS, amends a number of statutes by deleting the terms "intake counselor" and "court counselor" and substituting the term "juvenile court counselor"; expanding juvenile court counselors' duties to include both intake and supervision services; and granting to the Secretary the power to designate persons as juvenile justice officers.

S68-SMRH-003: Al Andrews, Committee Counsel for Senate Judiciary I, contributed to this summary.

S.L.2000-67, Section 17.3 (Repealed by Section 1.5 of the bill.

CERTIFICATION OF DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTION EMPLOYEES

Nothing in this section shall be construed (i) to confer upon the clerk any authority to regulate or supervise the actions of a trustee except to the extent that the trustee's actions are inconsistent with the provisions of the governing instrument or of State law, or (ii) to confer upon any interested person any additional right, remedy, or cause of action not otherwise conferred by law.

(c) Nothing in this section affects the right of a person to file an action for declaratory relief under the provisions of Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes.

(2) The usual place of business or residence of any of the cotrustees.

"~~§ 36A-25. Parties; hearing; successor appointed.~~

~~Upon the filing of the petition, the clerk shall docket the cause as a special proceeding, with the trustee as plaintiff and the beneficiaries as defendants, and shall issue the summons for the defendants. Proceedings under this section are subject to Article 33 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. A beneficiary, creditor, or other person interested in the trust estate has the right to answer the petition and to offer evidence why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. The clerk shall then proceed to hear and determine the matter. If it appears to the clerk that the best interests of the creditors and the beneficiaries demand that the resignation of the trustee be accepted or if it appears to the clerk that sufficient reasons exist for allowing the resignation and that the resignation can be allowed without prejudice to the rights of creditors or the beneficiaries, the clerk may, in the exercise of the clerk's discretion, allow the applicant to resign. The clerk shall appoint the successor of the petitioner in the manner provided in this Article.~~

"§ 36A-25.1. Trust proceedings; dismissal of matters relating to foreign trusts.

The clerk of superior court shall not, over the objection of a party, entertain proceedings under G.S. 36A-23.1 involving a trust having its principal place of administration in another state, except:

"§ 36A-26.1. Trust proceedings; necessary parties.

Proceedings under G.S. 36A-23.1 are initiated by filing a petition or complaint in the office of the clerk of superior court. Upon the filing of the petition, the clerk shall docket the cause as an estate matter. All known beneficiaries, trustees, or cotrustees not joined as petitioners shall be joined as respondents. The clerk shall issue the summons for the respondents. The clerk may order notification of additional persons. An order is valid as to all persons who are given notice of the proceeding even if all interested persons are not notified. The beneficiaries, creditors, or any other persons interested in the trust estate have the right to answer the petition and to offer evidence against granting the petition. The clerk shall then proceed to hear and determine the matter as provided for in G.S. 1-301.3.

"§ 36A-26.2. Waiver of notice.

An interested person, or a person representing an interested person as provided in G.S. 36A-26.3, may waive notice by a writing signed by the person or the person's attorney and filed in the proceeding.

"§ 36A-26.3. When parties represented by others.

In proceedings involving trusts, the following rules apply:

(1) Interests to be affected shall be described in pleadings that give reasonable information to interested persons by name or class, by reference to the instrument creating the interests, or in some other appropriate manner.

(2) Interested persons shall be represented by others in the following cases:

a. The sole holder or all coholders of a power of revocation or a presently exercisable general power of appointment, including one in the form of a power of amendment, shall represent other persons to the extent that their interests, as objects, takers in default, or otherwise, are subject to the power.

b. If the clerk finds that there is no conflict of interest between the interested person and the person representing the interested person, or among persons represented, a guardian of the estate shall represent the person whose estate the guardian controls; a guardian of the person shall represent the ward if no guardian of the ward's estate has been appointed; a trustee shall represent beneficiaries of the trust in proceedings to probate a will establishing or adding to the trust, to review the acts or accounts of a prior fiduciary, and in other proceedings involving creditors or other third parties; and a personal representative shall represent persons interested in the undistributed assets of the decedent's estate in actions or proceedings by or against the estate. If there is no conflict of interest and no guardian of the estate or guardian of the person has been appointed, a parent shall represent a minor child.

c. If the clerk finds that another party has an interest in the proceeding substantially identical to the interest of an unborn or unascertained person who is not otherwise represented, that party shall represent the unborn or unascertained person.

d. At any point in a proceeding, a clerk shall allow an attorney-in-fact to represent the attorney-in-fact's principal, provided that, if the principal is incapacitated, the power of attorney is durable as defined in G.S. 32A-8, and provided that the power of attorney grants to the attorney-in-fact either (i) the authority to do, execute, or perform any act that the principal might or could do or otherwise evidences the principal's intent to give the attorney-in-fact full power to handle the principal's affairs or deal with the principal's property; (ii) the powers described under G.S. 32A-2(2) and G.S. 32A-2(8) and, if interests in real property are affected, the powers described in G.S. 32A-2(1); or (iii) other direct or indirect authority the clerk deems sufficient in the clerk's discretion.

(3) At any point in the proceeding, the clerk may appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the interest of a minor, an incapacitated, unborn, or unascertained person, or a person whose identity is unknown, if the clerk determines that representation of the interest otherwise would be inadequate. If not precluded by a conflict of interest, a guardian ad litem may be appointed to represent several persons or interests. The clerk shall set forth the clerk's reasons for appointing a guardian ad litem as a part of the record of the proceedings.

Nothing in this section authorizes the disbursement of funds distributable to an interested person to a person authorized to represent that person under this section.

"§ 36A-27. ~~Appeal; stay effected by appeal.~~ Appeal.

Any party in interest may appeal from the decision of the clerk to ~~the judge at chambers, and in such event the procedure for appeal is governed by Article 27A of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. ~~No~~ If the trustee is required to account to the clerk of superior court, then unless the terms of the governing instrument provide otherwise, no trustee shall be ~~allowed or~~ permitted to resign ~~his trust~~ as trustee until ~~he shall first file with the court his~~ a final account of the trust ~~estate,~~ estate is filed with the clerk, and until the court shall be satisfied that the ~~said~~ account is true and correct.

~~§ 36A-30. Resignation effective on settlement with successor.~~

~~In case the resignation of the trustee is accepted by the court, the resignation shall not release or discharge the trustee from liability, until he shall have filed an account acceptable to his successor in full for all moneys, securities, property, or other assets or things of value in his possession or under his control or which should be in his possession or under his control belonging to the trust estate, and such account has been approved by the court.~~

"§ 36A-31. ~~Court to appoint successor; when~~ When bond required.

~~If the court shall allow any trustee to resign his trust upon compliance with the provisions of this Article, it shall be the duty of the court to proceed to appoint some fit and suitable person as the successor of such trustee; and the court shall require the person so appointed to give bond with sufficient surety, approved by the court,~~ A trustee need not provide bond to secure performance of the trustee's duties unless required by the terms of the governing instrument, reasonably requested by a beneficiary, or found by the clerk to be necessary to protect the interests of beneficiaries who are not able to protect themselves and whose interests otherwise are not adequately represented. However, in no event shall bond be required if the governing instrument directs otherwise. On petition of the trustee or other interested person, the clerk may excuse a requirement of bond, reduce the amount of the bond, release the surety, or permit the substitution of another bond with the same or different sureties. If the governing instrument is silent as to the requirement of a bond and the clerk finds that no bond is necessary, or if the clerk excuses or reduces the bond requirement, the clerk's decision must be approved by a superior court judge unless all beneficiaries have been notified of the decision. If bond is required, it shall be in a sum double the value of the personal property to come into ~~his~~ the trustee's hands when bond is executed by a personal ~~surety~~ surety, and in an amount not less than one and one-fourth times the value of all personal property of the ~~decedent~~ trust estate when the bond is secured by a suretyship bond executed by a corporate surety company authorized by the Commissioner of Insurance to do business in this State, provided that the clerk of superior court, when the value of the personal property exceeds one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), may accept bond in an amount equal to the value of the personal property plus ten percent (10%) thereof, conditioned upon the faithful performance of ~~his~~ the trustee's duties ~~as such trustee~~ and for the payment to the persons entitled to receive ~~the same of~~ all moneys, assets, or other things of value which may come into ~~his hands; provided, that where by the terms of the creating instrument the trustee who has resigned was not required to give bond and did not give bond and an intent is expressed in the creating instrument that a successor trustee shall serve without bond, or where the clerk, upon due investigation finds that bond is not necessary for the protection of the estate, the clerk, with the approval of the judge, upon the petition of any party in interest, may waive the requirement of a bond for the successor trustee and permit said successor trustee to serve without bond.~~ the trustee's hands. All bonds executed under the provisions of this Article shall be filed with the clerk.

"§ 36A-32. Rights and duties devolve on successor.

A beneficiary, creditor, or other person interested in the trust estate has the right to answer the petition and to offer evidence why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. After hearing the matter, the clerk may appoint the person named in the petition or some other fit and suitable person or corporation to act as the successor of the deceased or incapacitated trustee. The clerk shall require the person so appointed to give bond as required in G.S. 36A-31. If the instrument under which the deceased or incapacitated trustee claimed, however, does not require the trustee to give bond and expresses an intent that a successor trustee serve without bond, or if the clerk upon due investigation, finds that bond is not necessary for the protection of the estate, the requirement of a bond for the successor trustee may be waived as provided in G.S. 36A-31. Any party in interest may appeal from the order or judgment of the clerk as provided in Article 27A of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes.~~

~~Nothing~~ Unless the governing instrument provides otherwise, if the trustee is required to account to the clerk of court, nothing in this ~~section~~ Article shall be construed to limit the authority of the clerk ~~of superior court~~ to appoint a successor trustee to a deceased or incapacitated trustee upon the clerk's own motion.

"~~§ 36A-34. Testamentary trustee may renounce.~~

~~(a) Any person or corporation named as trustee in any will admitted to probate in this State, or any substitute trustee, may at any time prior to qualifying as required by G.S. 36A-107 or taking any action as trustee if such qualification is not required, and whether or not such person or corporation is entitled to so qualify or act, renounce such trusteeship by a writing filed with the clerk of superior court of the county in which the will is admitted to probate. If the will does not name or identify a substitute trustee, but contains provisions regarding the selection of a substitute trustee, such provisions shall be complied with unless the clerk determines that such provisions would result in the selection of an unfit or unsuitable trustee. A substitute trustee so appointed shall succeed to the office of trustee upon the date of the order of appointment unless the will provides otherwise.~~

~~(d) A substitute trustee shall, upon succeeding to the office of trustee, unless the will provides otherwise, have such powers and duties and be vested with the title to the property included in the trust, as if the substitute trustee had been originally named in the will.~~

All known beneficiaries, trustees, or cotrustees not joined as plaintiffs shall be joined as defendants. Upon proper notice and hearing, the clerk may, in the exercise of his discretion, order the removal of the trustee or cotrustee and proceed to appoint a successor. The procedure for notice, hearing, appeals, and the effective date of the order, shall be in accord with that provided for in the case of a resignation of a trustee and the appointment of a successor in G.S. 36A-24 through 36A-32.~~

~~Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of the clerk of superior court to remove a trustee or cotrustee for failure to comply with the~~
